Thomas Trial Set Monday In Lamesa Court

(Special To The Avalanche-Journal)

LAMESA, Jan. 6.—Jim Thomas, 50, will go to trial at 10 o'clock Monday morning in 106th district court in Lamesa, for the Oct. 26, 1943, murder of Dr. Roy E. Hunt at Littlefield.

On a former trial, he was assessed the death penalty, Aug. 30 at Plainview. But 64th District Judge C. D. Russell, at a subsequent hearing, found there had been irregularity in the jury room, that jurors, contrary to his instructions, had discussed Thomas' former record as a convict. Judge Russell had no alternative but order a new trial. He transferred venue on his own motion to Dawson county.

Special Venire Called

Dr. and Mrs. Hunt were slain and their bodies trussed together in their bedroom. Dr. Hunt was shot in the head, Mrs. Hunt fatally beaten about the head. Thomas was not indicted in connection with Mrs. Hunt's slaying.

One hundred special veniremen have been summoned to report when court is convened by special Judge J. E. Garland.

The state will be represented in prosecution by 64th District Attorney Harold M. LaFont of Plainview, 106th District Attorney W. C. Huffaker, jr., of Tahoka, Carl Rountree of Lamesa and George W. Dupree of Lubbock. Defense counsel will be Curtis Douglass of Pampa, George McCarthy of Amarillo, and John B. McNamara and Schufert Farmer, both of Waco.

Large Crowd Indicated

Numerous witnesses have been subpoenaed by both sides.

A check of hotels and rooming houses here indicated that a large crowd probably would attend the trial. Numerous reservations had been made at hotels and, the Dawson County Courier said last week, "it is believed that living quarters will be unobtainable for some who wish to be in the city throughout the trial unless rooms in private homes are made available."

So crowded will accommodations be, in fact, that persons having rooms were asked to telephone a central agency and say whether they would make those accommodations available during the trial.

SLATON, Jan. 6. (Special) — M. F. Klattenhoff, 77, native of Germany, and resident of Lubbock county for 34 years, died at 11:15 o'clock this morning at his home three and a half miles northwest of Slaton on the Lubbock highway.

Funeral services will be conducted at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon at the Lutheran church at Posey. Rev. F. T. Sager, pastor, will officiate.

War-Confident FDR Wants National Service Law And Universal Training

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—President Roosevelt called anew today for national service legislation during the war and universal military training afterward.

In a message to Congress which bespoke a confident hope for enduring peace, the Chief Executive declared that while great problems lie ahead, "this New Year of 1945 can be the greatest year of achievement in human history."

Making the nearest thing to a prediction on the end of the war which he has thus far essayed, the President said this year "can see the final ending of the Nazi-Facist reign of terror in Europe," as well as the closing in of the forces of retribution about the center of the malignant power of imperialistic Japan."

Most important of all, he added, "1945 can and must see the substantial beginning of the organization of world peace."

It was a message on the State of the Union looking back over the course of the whole war and particularly over the past year, which Mr. Roosevelt said had been marked on the whole by substantial progress toward victory. It looked toward the future, too, and rang with notes of confidence.

The message was read to Congress after the counting of the electoral votes that gave him a fourth term in the White House.

"In the field of foreign policy," the Chief Executive told the legislators, "we propose to stand together with the United Nations not for the war alone but for the victory for which the war is fought.

"It is not only a common danger which unites us but a common hope. Our's is an association not of governments but of peoples—and the peoples' hope is peace."

He renewed a demand for "unconditional surrender," but applied it only to "the armies of our enemies."

That, he said, is the first, but only the first step toward the peace we long for.

The Chief Executive accorded recognition to differences which have arisen to plague the Allies, and he pleaded for understanding.

The nearer we come to vanquishing the enemies, he said, the more we inevitably become conscious of differences among the victors.

Assailing any use of power politics in the future world, Mr. Roosevelt declared that it "must not be a controlling factor in international relations."

While some cries have arisen in this country that England and Russia already are applying power politics to Europe, the President made no specific cases.

But he did appear to be answering to some extent recent British carping against American foreign policy, or an asserted lack of one.

There's "No One-Way Street"

Differences between the Allies, he said, must not be allowed to "divide us and blind us to our more important common and continuing interests in winning the war and building the peace. International cooperation on which enduring peace must be based is not a one-way street.

"Nations like individuals do not always see alike or think alike and international cooperation and progress are not helped by any nation assuming that it has a monopoly of wisdom or of virtue."

Mr. Roosevelt spoke of strenuous days of war ahead and of needs for a wide assortment of weapons with which to fight on to victory.

Manpower shortages, he said, are hampering seriously many critical production programs.

Accordingly, he repeated a recommendation of a year ago that Congress adopt "a National Service act as the most efficient and democratic way of insuring full production for our war requirements."

He urged this be done "at the earliest possible moment," declaring it was not too late in the war.

This time, however, he did not link his demand with other portions of a legislative program, as he did in 1944.

The President set forth what he termed three basic arguments for a national service law:

"First—It would assure that we have the right numbers of workers in the right places at the right times.

"Second — It would provide supreme proof to all our fighting men that we are giving them what they are entitled to, which is nothing less than our total effort.

"And—third—It would be the final unequivocal answer to the hopes of the Nazis and the Japanese that we may become halfhearted about this war and that they can get from us a negotiated peace."

Congress Cold To Suggestion

Congress all along has shown little inclination to accept national service.

On the subject of universal service in peace time, Mr. Roosevelt said he would send the legislators a special message later. But he said he was clear in his own mind that it was "an essential factor in the maintenance of peace in the future."

For Americans at home, Mr Roosevelt outlined a program which mirrored in many respects the doctrines of his fourth term campaign.

These were some of his points:

A tax system geeared to war requirements must be revised for peace time to encourage private demand.

After the war, we must reduce or eliminate taxes which bear too heavily on consumption.

Congress should be prepared to modify taxes at the end of the European war so as to encourage investment in new enterprises

Job Skippers Are Ordered Called Up

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6. (AP) — National Selective Service tonight ordered the induction of occupationally deferred men, including those below general Army physical standards, who quit their essential jobs without draft board approval.

The action followed swiftly on President Roosevelt's message to Congress recommending sweeping new job controls. He urged national service legislation, action to make more effective use of 4-F's, and a draft of nurses for the armed forces.

Affects Five Million

Designed to halt 'job-skipping" once a deferment has been obtained, the order makes five million men aged 18 through 37 subject to military duty under Selective Service calls "drastically lower" physical standards.

The Army will fix special draft quotas for this group, and such inductees will be assigned to other than regular Army duties.

Men who left the jobs for which they were deferred and took less essential work were ordered reclassified recently, but the new action plugs a loophole by covering those registrants whose physical impairment gave the government no hold over them.

Classes Covered

Thus the new regulation covers men classed as 2AL, and 2-BL, who would be eligible for limited service if not deferred, and 2-AF and 2-BF, who would be classed 4-F if not deferred, in addition to those listed as 2-A and 2-B (engaged in essential work or direct war production).

"Local boards of the Selective Service system have been instructed" the headquarters announcement said "promptly to reclassify men who change jobs without satisfying their local boards that the change will result in a greater

Surprise Canadian Blow Divides Nazis

ROME, Jan. 6 (AP)—Canadian tanks and infantry have split German forces by a surprise blow near Italy's east coast and are chasing the enemy along the southern shores of a huge inland lagoon 31 miles south of the Po river, the Allied command announced today.

The left flank of the Dominion troops, who overran Sant' Alberto in a thrust eight miles north of Ravenna, was secured by a victory of British and Canadian forces over powerful German armor east of Alfonsine. Alfonsine is six miles southwest of Sant' Alberto.

Ten miles southwest of Alfonsine the last German was routed from a Senio river bridgehead near Cotignola, and thus the British Eighth Army won almost undisputed control over the east bank of the stream from the Apennine foothills 31 miles northeastward to the lagoon.

The lagoon is the Valli Di Comacchio. Canadians sighted its waters as a climax to a week of struggle northward across the canals and waterways of the Po valley.

King Zog Approves Regency For Albania

Germany Convinced Allies United To Crush Their Spine

LONDON, Jan. 6 (AP)—In the first German reaction to President Roosevelt's message to Congress, the Berlin radio tonight said "one thing is obvious: The Allies are united in their aim to break Germany's spine and with it the spine of Europe."

The broadcast, quoting the German DNB agency, said, "important problems of peace and reconstruction were not mentioned by the President."

The German broadcast said "the main impression from President Roosevelt's message to Congress is that he tries hard to minimize Allied disunity about methods of warfare and war aims."

Bradley Rites Held Saturday

Funeral services for Greoge W. Bradley, 77, a member of the thinning ranks of colorful West Texas cattleman and pioneers, were conducted here Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the chapel of Rix Funeral home.

Interment followed in Lubbock cemetery, at the side of his wife who died in December of 1937.

Five generations of West Texas were in attendance to pay final homage to Mr. Bradley, who as cowpuncher and later as a ranch owner had been identified with the cattle business in this section for 52 years.

Mr. Bradley, who was known to friends for many years as "Uncle George", died at 12:52 a. m. Saturday in St. Mary's hospital. Death was attributed to a heart attack suffered Monday.

Born In California

He came to West Texas from California while a young man and first worked as a cowboy for the old Spur ranch. In 1898 he homesteaded ranch land lying northeast of Post and later bought adjoining grassland from the state.

Mr. Bradley owned and operated the Garza county ranch for 47 years and was actively engaged in its operation until his recent illness. He was a member of the Masonic lodge for 40 years.

When his three children were all at home the Bradleys divided their time between the ranch, Post and Lubbock.

Three Daughters Survive

Survivors are three daughters, Mrs. H. L. (Bud) Johnston, formerly of Lubbock and now living at the ranch; Mrs. Gray Browne of Abilene, Mrs. William H. Evans; four grandchildren, Betty Johnston, Madge Johnston Mikelson, Bonnie Blue Browne and Jettie Evans. The Evans family, now living in Childress where Maj. Evans is attached to Childress Air Field, are permanent residents of Lubbock where he is in the practice of law.

Rev. Dr. Jack M. Lewis, pastor of First Presbyterian church, was in charge of services and read the same passages of Scripture he read in the funeral services for Mrs. Bradley.

Pallbearers were William F. Dean, Ross Edwards, S/Sgt. Sam West, Nell H. Wright, Sam B. Bardwell and Chas. A. Guy, all of Lubbock; George Herd, of Houston and Post; and Doug Morrow, of Post

The following Texans are included:

S/Sgt. Joe. E. Coulston, son of Mrs. Lucy M. Coulston of Sudan; Pfc. James W. Flowers, whose wife, Mrs. Eusyne F. Flowers, lives at O'Donnell; and Pvt. Sidney A. Johnson, son of Mrs. Vera M. Johnson of Slaton.

Enemy Supply Line Neared In U. S. Drive

By EDWARD KENNEDY
Associated Press Staff Writer

PARIS, Sunday, Jan. 7.—American troops of Field Marshal Montgomery's Allied offensive against the northern flank of the Germans' Belgian bulge yesterday captured Fraiture, less than one-half mile from an important enemy supply route.

Other U. S. units advanced almost one mile and a half in a new attack launched south of Stavelot.

British forces pressed their main drive between Marche and Hotten at the western end of the northern flank although enemy tanks, at the risk of disaster, pushed them back nearly a mile at Bure, ten miles southwest of Marche.

Spearhead Reduced

To the southeast, field reports said the German spearhead north of Strasbourg not only was contained but had been reduced by U. S. Seventh Army attacks. The Germans who had crossed the Rhine north of the Alsatian capital were being hemmed back into a narrow shelf along the west bank of the river.

Doughboys of the Seventh compressed the Nazis into the town of Gambsheim, nine miles north of Strasbourg. Other Germans were cleared from villages they had seized in driving 15 miles westward from the Rhine. In blunting the drive, the Seventh cleared the Germans from Rohrwiller and Herrlisheim in the interior as well as from Offendorf and Stattmatten along the Rhine bank.

82nd Leads Assault

The American First Army, in the new drive on the northern flank of the Germans' Belgian bulge, was paced by the 82nd Airborne division, which jumped off this morning and drove down the west bank of the Salm river southwest of Stavelot. The 30th Infantry pushed south on the 82nd's west flank against slight opposition. A few miles west heavy

Mixed Reactions Meet Proposals

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6. (AP)—Congress received President Roosevelt's recommendations for national service legislation today with mixed reaction, although there was apparent general approval of his proposal to draft nurses and 4 F's into the war effort.

The President's call for postwar universal military training met some skepticism as well as support.

Senator Fulbright (D-Ark), questioned whether national service legislation could be enacted now.

"I wish we had had it in the beginning" he added.

On compulsory peacetime military training, the Arkansan commented: "I'm getting a lot of letters from church people and others opposing it."

Rayburn's Promise

Speaker Rayburn promised that "every suggestion" the President made "will have the prompt and serious consideration of the committees of Congress."

Rayburn added "the President's message as to the prosecution of the war along with our Allies and the ultimate erection of international peace machinery was wise and pertinent. These are the two gigantic objectives which we face. No minor division over lesser questions must obscure our vision or halt our purpose."

NURSE DRAFT WOULD BE FIRST IN HISTORY

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6. (AP) — If nurses are drafted into the Army, it will be the first time in this country's history that women have been inducted under Selective Service legislation.

President Roosevelt said today in his message to Congress that 20,000 nurses — 18,000 for the Army; 2, 000 for the Navy — are urgently needed, and asked for legislation providing for their induction.

Selective Service sources said there never has been "a draft of women in our history."

SHAEF Denies Command 'Sack'

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, AEF, Paris, Jan. 6. (AP)—Correspondents were told today that there would be no sacking of any Allied Army generals as an aftermath of the German breakthrough in the Ardennes.

On the contrary, it was made known that Gen. Eisenhower himself regards the commanders involved in stemming the first impetus of the German onrush and the commanders now cracking down on Field Marshal Karl von Rundstedt's salient as having turned in a remarkable military job.

Wrong Guess Admitted

Admittedly, somewhere the Allied command guessed wrong. Correspondents were told a counterattack, was expected, but not a counter-offensive.

It had not been thought by Army officers, considering the forces at von Rundstedt's disposal, that he would take as great a gamble as that.

Instead of trying to put a finger on where the fault might be in that wrong guess, the Allied supreme command was represented as much more inclined to wait a few weeks and see whether von Rundstedt may have made an even more costly guess.

It was Lt. Gen. Courtney H. Hodges' veteran First Army that

Toll Heavy In Carrier Blow

Another Isalnd Taken In Carolines And B-29s Lash Omura's Industries

By MORRIE LANDSBERG

U. S. PACIFIC FLEET HEADQUARTERS, Pearl Harbor, Jan. 6—A two-day bag of 331 Japanese planes and 83 ships in carrier plane assaults on Formosa and Okinawa, three naval bombardments extending to within 615 miles of Tokyo and a new island invasion in the western Carolines were reported today by the Navy.

The warships shelled Iwo Jima in the Volcano islands, Chichi and Haha in the Bonins.

The carrier planes, in addition to air and shipping damage, spread havoc among railway shipping stock, fuel, ammunition and communications on Formosa.

Accelerated Action

Adm. Chester W. Nimitz issued two communiques today, an unusual procedure at his headquarters, emphasizing the accelerated Pacific action.

The second communique disclosed the bombardment of Iwo and the latest in a series of invasions in the western Carolines which have bypassed Japan's once formidable fortress of Truk.

It also reported the 29th straight day of air raids on Iwo, one of the enemy bases which has been sending planes against the Superfortress airfields on Saipan.

Bonins Also Shelled

The communique followed another today which reported warship shellings of Haha and Chichi in the Bonin islands.

These fast-breaking developments, which the enemy radio repeatedly claims is protecting mammoth invasion convoys of Gen. Douglas MacArthur moving on Luzon island in the Philippines, were spread over four days beginning with carrier plane assaults Tuesday against Formosa and Okinawa.

Japs Say Luzon Landing Likely

(By The Associated Press)

The Tokyo radio said today "the Americans may have landed on Luzon."

This statement was recorded in London after Tokyo had reported a big American armada with landing craft and transports off Luzon, the main island of the Philippines.

Similar Japanese broadcasts were heard in the United States.

RAIL LINES, BRIDGES BATTERED IN SOUTH

GENERAL MacARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Philippines, Sunday, Jan. 7. (AP) — Mitchell bombers and fighter bombers continued their strikes against southern Luzon, main Philippine island, Jan. 4 and 5, Gen. Douglas MacArthur announced today.

A locomotive and 100 freight cars were destroyed and three railroad bridges torn down or damaged.

Liberators blasted the airdrome on Palawan island southwest of American-held Mindoro island with 93 tons of bombs.

Little Letup In Attacks

The bombing of Luzon has continued with little letup since the Americans landed on Mindoro, 150 miles from Manila, Dec. 15, suggesting preparations for an even more direct attack on the concentrated Japanese strength there.

Today's communique, however, gave no hint as to plans for American landings on Luzon, although the Japanese radio a few hours previously said the Yanks "may have landed" on that island.

American airmen gave the Japanese at Halmahera and Ceram between New Guinea and the Philippines, a 90-ton bombing. They also dropped 84 tons in the Bismarck-Solomons area and 83 tons on Japanese-held Dutch Celebes, on Jan. 3 and 4, hitting airdromes and supply areas.

In 12 Miles Of Luzon

American ground forces are actually within 12 miles of Luzon, having established themselves on Marinduque island, which with Mindoro guards the southern approaches to the main islands of the archipelago.

Besides reporting the possibility of a Yank landing on Luzon itself the Japanese radio said three groups of American transports and carriers were in Philippine waters, one of them of about 100 landing craft in the region of Lingayen, 110 miles north of Manila.

None of these enemy reports have been confirmed by American authorities.

Yank troops seized Marinduque Wednesday, giving them, "direct contact with the southern Luzon coast," Gen. Douglas MacArthur said yesterday.

Athens Is Quiet For First Time In Months

ATHENS, Jan. 6. (AP)—The capital city of Greece was quiet today for the first time in months of bloody civil war after an abrupt withdrawal of ELAS fighting forces.

Reds Beat Down Violent Attacks

LONDON, Sunday, Jan. 7.—The Red Army repulsed gigantic German counterattacks northwest and west of Budapest yesterday in violent fighting that often was hand-to-hand, the Soviet communique announced, while another 173 square blocks of the Hungarian capital itself fell to the Russians.

Enemy accounts contended the German drive had reached within 17 miles of embattled Budapest at two points.

Battle Still Raging

While a Soviet military commentator said these efforts to relieve the city had "failed," an early morning supplement to the regular nightly Moscow communique indicated the tremendous battle still was in progress after five days and said the enemy was in numerically superior force.

In one sector on the south bank of the Danube river northwest of Budapest, the Germans attacked early yesterday morning with an Elite guard armored division, two infantry divisions and parachutists, the supplement said. In a five-hour battle, the enemy suffered tremendous losses and had to turn back, but renewed the battle later.

As violent an engagement occured west of Bicske, which is 17 miles west of Budapest, and there again the enemy was thrown back, leaving behind more than 1,000 of his dead, 40 cannon, five armored cars and 11 armored troop carriers.

Influx Of War Work Applicants Follows Byrnes Order; Other Causes Also Cited

(By The Associated Press)

LAST week found United States Employment service offices over the state busy with an influx of applicants and applications for war jobs and referrals from non-essential to war-needed employment.

The increase came upon the heels of a proposal by War Mobilization Director James F. Byrnes that would draft 4-F's in non-war jobs for military service. But some employment officials attributed their stepped-up trade to the serious turn on the battlefronts as well as fear of tightening manpower controls.

War manpower headquarters at Austin — with reports on hand from Houston, Dallas, Fort Worth, Waco and San Antonio — said traffic in USES offices jumped 40 per cent following the Byrnes announcement. Reports from all areas of the state, however, had not been received.

State War Manpower Commission Director C. E. Belk said cumulative incentives brought about the upsurge. He said he believed an urgent appeal from Gov. Coke R. Stevenson, the war situation and local campaigns, as well as the Byrnes suggestion, had prompted more Texans to seek war jobs.

W. L. Ezell, USES official at Beaumont, reporting a "noticeable" increase in war-work applications, said he considered it a "case of patriotism in some instances and a fear of more stringent manpower controls in others."

"It is reasonable to believe, however," Ezell said, "that having been shown the need for more war workers here, the men of the community . . . are responding."

At Lubbock, USES Manager M. W. Waldron said the office had been swamped by farm-deferred workers, 4-F's and non-essential workers since the Byrnes proposal. And the Lubbock draft board reported that should the war mobilizer's proposal turn into a directive about 750 Lubbock county 4-F's—excluding those disabled and in essential industry — would be swept into the draft.

Traffic through the Wichita Falls USES office increased with the majority of applicants wanting transfers to war jobs. Manager R. E. Favre said more persons sought help at the office last week than at any other period since last July when the referral program became effective.

City's Chances For Airline Route Enhanced By Hearing Re-Opening

Lubbock's long-time efforts for transcontinental airline service appeared a little nearer realization the past week with announcement by the Civil Aeronautics board the hearing for applications of American airlines and Continental Airlines for service through Lubbock would be re-opened Jan. 15 in Washington.

Hearing on the original applications was held in Washington last February and on Nov. 13, CAB announced granting of a permit to American Airlines for a route from Oklahoma City to El Paso but denying stops at Wichita Falls and Lubbock. Two members of the board, Harlee Branch and Oswald Ryan, wrote dissenting opinions, maintaining that the two cities should be served by the route.

Given Another Opportunity

Action of the board in re-opening the hearing gives Lubbock and Wichita Falls an opportunity to present additional briefs and data and indicates the likelihood of service being granted through Lubbock; otherwise, officials of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce point out, there would be no reason for re-opening the hearing.

The Oklahoma City-El Paso permit granted American Airlines provides the company with a route which will cut distance and time of schedules between the East and West coasts and will undoubtedly be the company's major transcontinental route in the future.

Would Give Direct Connections

Approval of a stop here would give Lubbock direct one-line air connections with 22 metropolitan business and industrial centers of the nation and in the judgment of local business men will be more beneficial to Lubbock than any other line which has a likelihood of being granted service here.

Although American already has been granted the permit, re-opening of the hearing must of necessity allow Continental Airlines to present its case again.

Two airlines have already been granted permits to operate through Lubbock but chamber of commerce officials regard them as more or less of local or "feeder" types of service.

Landing Rights Held Up

Essair, Inc., of Dallas, was granted a permit in December, 1943, for a route from Houston to Amarillo via Austin, San Angelo, Abilene was granted a permit last May for a line from Dallas to Denver, via Fort Worth, Lubbock, Amarillo, Pueblo and Colorado Springs.

Two reasons have been given by the two companies for failure to begin service on the two permits; one is the equipment hasn't been available and the other is that landing rights and airways have not been secured.

Essair has two planes ready for service on its line but landing rights permission have not been secured. The company hopes to start regular schedules by March 1, officials have informed the chamber of commerce.

Training In Area Important

The Civil Aeronautics authority, on Dec. 29, advised the chamber that the interpartmental air traffic control board so far has not granted the use of either of the two local army air fields for landings for commercial planes; the reason being given that the training in the Lubbock area right at the present is of so much importance that they feel that other flying activities would interfere.

The establishment of airways (radio signal beams) is also being held up for the same reason, it was said.

Plans are that immediately a decision is handed down in American and Continental cases, every effort will be made to secure Army approval for the landing rights and airways.

Lubbock will have a delegation in Washington to present additional data at the Jan. 15 hearing. One reason for an optimistic outlook for Lubbock's chances for approval of a stop on the American route is the fact that CAB officials termed Lubbock's original brief "the best community brief ever presented to the board."

Another delegation will go to Fort Worth, Jan. 31, when hearings are scheduled on 47 feederline applications in Texas and Oklahoma. Some 15 of these applicants propose, if granted permits, to serve Lubbock and the South Plains. C. of C. briefs are being prepared for this hearing.

Among these 15 applicants is the Great Plains Airways, composed of Lubbock, Amarillo citizens and Braniff Airways officials, under a "trade area system" of operation. The Great Plains Airways is incorporated for $500,000 of which $100,000 in stock has been issued and $10,000 paid in with citizens of Lubbock and Amarillo holding 37½ per cent of the stock and Braniff 25 per cent.

W. T. Hanes Resigns At Tahoka To Accept Position In Cameron

TAHOKA, Jan. 6. (Special)—W. T. Hanes, for the past seven years superintendent of the Tahoka schools, has resigned to accept the superintendency of the Cameron public schools. He has signed a three-year contract with the Cameron schools.

And the problem of electing his successor confronts the Tahoka trustees. Under Hanes' leadership, rapid strides have been made in the local system. He came to Tahoka from Hermleigh and had previously been superintendent at Whitharral and principal at Littlefield.

Hanes' resignation also leaves a vacancy in the ranks of Tahoka's civic leaders. He is a past president of the Tahoka Rotary club and a vice president of the Tahoka Chamber of Commerce. He has served as secretary of the West Texas Teachers association six years.

He is married and has one son, William Travis, jr.

Dogs Find Illinois Car Tags 'Good Eating'

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Jan. 6 (AP)—The dog that found out that Illinois wartime automobile license plates are good to eat apparently is letting the rest of dogdom in on his discovery.

Police said they had received complaints from several auto owners that their license tags — made of soybeans—are being chewed off their machines, evidently choice canine food.

CIO Council To Press 14-Point Program In Texas Legislature

BY DAVE CHEAVENS
Associated Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, Jan. 6 (AP) — The Texas State Industrial Union council (CIO) is taking a well-planned plunge into Texas legislative waters with a 14-point program calling among other things for abolition of the poll tax as a pre-requisite to voting and for the repeal of both the Manford labor union regulation act and the O'Daniel anti-strike law.

While the Congress of Industrial Organization has been sporadically active in past legislatures, the 49th meeting here Tuesday will be the first to face a full-time CIO organization plugging also for a liberalized old age pension law, for a state Wagner act or labor relations law, and a state wage-hour law.

"Fair" Salaries Urged

Illustrative of the breadth of the industrial union council's legislative program is one point calling for "fair and just" salaries for legislators, and another for "fair and livable salaries" for school teachers.

For many years, the American Federation of Labor and the railroad brotherhoods have maintained legislative representatives in the state capital. This will be the CIO's initial sustained effort in that direction. The industrial union council has opened offices here under the direction of W. M. Aikin, executive secretary.

Aikin announced that a conference of representatives of CIO unions will be held to discuss the legislative program and make plans to effectuate it. The conference will include speeches by Archbishop R. E. Lucey of San Antonio, Attorney General Grover Sellers and other state officials, and a talk by C. A. McPeak, of Dallas, regional Political Action committee director.

This burst of activity on the part of the CIO gave considerable weight to current capitol talk that the 49th legislature would seethe with labor legislation controversy. The industrial union council has issued circulars declaring that among such issues would be a proposed constitutional amendment prohibiting closed shop contracts and the so-called check off.

Legislators Take Cautious Views

BY WILLIAM E. KEYS
Associated Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, Jan. 6—Caution is the keyword of members of the 49th legislature approaching the general session beginning Jan. 9.

It is laced through pre-session discussions of the state's financial condition which is the best in history.

The condition is this: The general revenue fund, barometer of state finances, is out of the red and has a cash balance for the first time in years. The comptroller estimates that about $105,000,000 will become available to the fund in the next two years. This means appropriations can be increased without new taxes.

Greater Spending Needed

Veteran House and Senate members among early arrivals generally agree that greater spending is needed for efficient operation of government but each sounds a note against hog wild spending just because more money is in sight.

Senators R. C. Lanning of Jacksboro, Fred Mauritz of Ganado and G. C. Morris of Greenville, all members of the finance committee in the 48th legislature, concur in this theme.

Said Lanning, chairman of the finance group (to be replaced by a new one when the 49th convenes):

"I hope the estimates of increased revenue are correct. It is going to take more money to run the state government but we should proceed cautiously."

Too Many State Employes

Mauritz declared:

"This is the first time in my 10 years in the legislature that we have started a session without a big deficit in the general revenue fund. We will have to guard against any inclination to spend foolishly, just because we have it. I still think there are too many state employes and too few good ones."

Morris asserted:

"There is no doubt that we are going to have to increase salaries if we are going to continue to have a state government. That naturally will bring increased appropriations and perhaps increased efficiency."

Rep. W. A. Bundy of Wichita Falls said:

"We need to hold the line of economy with no new taxes. The right leadership in House committees will prevent a spending spree."

TO EXPLAIN POLICY

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 6. (AP) — Mexico's foreign policy will be explained in detail Sunday night by Foreign Minister Ezequiel Padilla over the radio network of the interior department ("Hora Nacional"), a government press bulletin said.

Warsaw, Once Among Great Capitals Of Europe, In Ruins

By HENRY SHAPIRO
United Press War Writer

LUBLIN, Poland, Jan. 6. — Warsaw is a city of desolate ruins, stretching mile upon mile in every direction, but in its eastern districts are poised several mighty Soviet and Polish armies ready to strike across the frozen Vistula in what may be the decisive winter offensive of the eastern front.

I have just returned from Warsaw, where I saw those armies and the rubble of what once was one of the greatest capitals in Europe. Soldiers under the Soviet and Polish banners were massed in Praga, on the east bank of the Vistula and as much an integral part of Warsaw as Brooklyn is of New York City.

From the east side of the Vistula, just below one of Warsaw's four bridges and only 300 yards from the German lines, I looked across the wreckage left by Germans, then Soviet bombs and shells since that fateful Sept. 1, 1939.

No Signs Of Life

The naked frame of a 15-story building dominated the skyline like a macabre skeleton. For miles behind the long lines of German trenches, pillboxes and artillery emplacements, there was no sign of any living thing. Even powerful binoculars failed to reveal signs of life.

But invisible Germans were entrenched underground and behind the vestiges of tenements broke the Monotony of the winter day with bullets and artillery shells, which screamed overhead.

As we stood on the edge of no man's land — more properly no man's river — Colonel Prosk, the conducting officer, said that this was a "quiet day" — the same quiet day that German shells killed or wounded more than 70 civilians in Praga.

The mayor of Warsaw pointed to what used to be the most imposing section of the capital. He said it was the focal point of the ill-fated insurrection in August.

Few Survivors Remain

"Not a single soul remained there to tell the tale," he said. "Of a population of more than 700,000, only a handful of survivors managed to cross the Vistula and now are in Praga. Every one of the others either was killed or taken to Germany."

Only approximately 120,000 Poles remain in Praga of Warsaw's 1,800,000. In basements, dugouts, and roofless, unheated ruins, I saw these women and children carrying on with the same spirit I once saw among the people of besieged Leningrad.

Primitive factories were arising from the ruins. The Polish army was growing daily.

There was a little cemetery at almost every corner. Victims of the war were buried immediately almost where they fell.

Nazis Show Fullest Respect For "Hatchet Men" Of Scrapping 84th

WITH THE U. S. FIFTH ARMY, Jan. 6 (AP)—The Germans have nicknamed the 84th (Rail-Splitter) Infantry division the "Hatchet Men" after seeing their divisional insignia and how they sliced through pillboxes.

Most of the men of the 84th are from California, Arkansas, Georgia, Texas, and Louisiana. Their divisional insignia is an axe stuck on a rail. They got their third crack at the Germans in the American counteroffensive which began four days ago in the Nazis' Belgian salient.

Started at Geilenkirchen

The 84th, which cut its battle teeth with the capture of Geilenkirchen in a four-hour fight on the U. S. Ninth Army front last November, was hacking away at the Siegfried line when the German breakthrough called for its services farther south.

Its commander, Brig. Gen. Alexander R. Bolling, led the way, blandly motoring through a little town he did not know was held by the Germans. Near the western tips of the German penetration of Belgium the division went into defense of Marche and Rochefort.

(The 84th was reactivated at Camp Howze, Tex., Oct. 14, 1942. It trained there until August, 1943, when it moved into Louisiana maneuvers. From Nov. 1943, until Sept. 1944, it was at Camp Caliborne, La.)

The men of the 84th, in defensive fighting around Marche and Rochefort, faced Germans on a rampage reminiscent of 1940. They were like orphans in a storm, with nobody on the left, nobody on the right, but they stuck.

And Field Marshal Karl von Rundstedt failed to get through to the road centers which would have given him a springboard to the Meuse river.

TEXAN-LED ARMOR UNIT JOIN HOTTON DEFENSE

WITH THE U. S. THIRD ARMORED DIVISION, In Belgium, Jan. 6 (AP)—Texan-led tasks forces of the Third Armored division joined strength with two others in checking the Nazi advance in the Hotton sector of the Belgian bulge.

Armored combat teams under command of Lt. Col. Samuel Hogan of Pharr, Tex., and Lt. Col. Walter Richardson of Beaumont, Tex., combined with forces under Lt. Col. William R. Orr, Green Mountain, Colo., and Lt. Col. Matthew W. Kane of Des Moines, Iowa, to halt a German advance after the bulk of the Third's strength had been shifted to the Hotton sector from the Laggieze pocket west of Stavelot.

Impromptu Task Force

Defense of Hotton itself from a series of enemy armored attacks was in the hands of an impromptu task force under Maj. Jack W. Pickessen of Waco, Tex. The forces included cooks, bakers, mechanics, signalmen, engineers, MPs and headquarters personnel.

Before relief arrived on Christmas day this combine had accounted for nine tanks and killed several score of Germans in a four-day period.

Meanwhile Hogan's force, cut off at Marcouray with only a few tanks left and all supplies desperately low, was ordered to destroy their equipment and make their way back to the lines on foot.

GOP Solon Assails Party Leadership

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6. (AP) — Rep. Clare Hoffman (R-Mich) in a summation of republican election reverses, concluded today that when a team has been consistently in the league cellar for 16 years there may be something wrong about the way it's handling the ball.

The Michigan member wrote each of his Republican colleagues a 1,200-word letter, headed "what's cooking?" and saying some sharp things about politics and party leadership.

"One thing strikes the casual observer," Hoffman said. "That is, either the new deal is safe, sound and advantageous, or the Republican opposition has been weak and misdirected."

Hoffman accused party old-timers of grabbing the choice house committee assignments and suppressing initiative in younger members.

Nips' Third Largest City Fired By B-29s

HEADQUARTERS 21st BOMBER COMMAND, Guam, Jan. 6. (Via Navy Radio). (U.P.) — Smoke from B-29 ignited fires blotted out almost one third of Nagoka in photographs taken during the midafternoon raid on Jan. 3, Guam headquarters disclosed today.

The fires were still blazing throughout the city's industrial area after nightfall, Jan. 3, bearing out reports that Japan's third largest city — which has never had its 300,000 highly inflammable building cleared out by earthquakes or fires as Tokyo and other large cities have — presents Nippon with her greatest fire hazards.

SPAAF Bond Sales Top Million In '44

Civilian and military personnel at South Plains Army Air field backed the men on the world's fighting fronts with a total of almost a million dollars in war bonds during the past year, war bond office officials at the glider pilot training center announced Saturday.

Civilian workers and soldiers at the post invested a highly commendable total of $966,000 in bonds for the past twelve months through pay allotments and cash purchases. Civilians and military personnel backed the fourth, fifth and sixth war loan campaigns to the limit with investments which far surpassed the quotas for each of the drives.

Of the total for 1944, slightly more than $204,000 were purchased during the sixth war loan drive. This means that SPAAF more than doubled its quota for the second time in three war loans. In the fourth campaign field personnel bought $212,000 in bonds. In the fifth, personnel at the field invested a total of $192,000 in bonds. In each of the campaigns the total for the big glider pilot training center was $100,000 in bonds or more.

During the recently completed drive, allotment purchases by enlisted men, officers and civilians totaled $137,780 and cash purchases $66,675, for a total of $204,455.

FDR Solidly Behind General Eisenhower

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6. (AP) — President Roosevelt told Congress today that General Dwight D. Eisenhower "has my complete confidence."

In his first formal comment on the German breakthrough the American lines in Belgium — a break which brought criticism of the Allied command both here and in Britain, Mr. Roosevelt said:

"The speed with which we recovered from this savage attack was largely possibly because we have one supreme commander in complete control of all the Allied armies in France.

"General Eisenhower has faced this period of trial with admirable calm and resolution and with steadily increasing success. He has my complete confidence."

Mrs. Howard Sues Simmons Estate

TULSA, Jan. 6. (U.P.)—Mrs. Ella B. Howard claimed in an amended petition on file in district court here today that the late T. Karl Simmons orally agreed to pay her $19,380 to cover the Fort Worth woman's expenses in fighting manslaughter charges after the fatal shooting of Simmons' wife.

Mrs. Howard said Simmons promised the payment when he met her in Dallas June 14, 1943, a few months prior to his death. She is suing the oil man's estate for that amount.

The oral agreement, Mrs. Howard stated, was made in the presence of three Dallas residents whom she identified as Mrs. Fay Johnson, J. J. Scott and Jim Cox.

Mrs. Howard was acquitted of the manslaughter charges, filed after Mrs. Simmons was killed during a scuffle in a fashionable Tulsa hotel March 25, 1943.

The money was to be paid on consideration of her releasing Simmons from any claims she might have had "by reason of his wrongful acts and conduct committed in connection" with the criminal prosecution of Mrs. Howard, the petition stated.

Aircraft Firm Faces Negligence Charges

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Jan. 6. (AP) —The county grand jury will confer Monday with the district attorney on a coroner's jury verdict which held Consolidated-Vultee aircraft corp guilty of gross negligence in connection with the crash of a Navy-type Liberator bomber last November 22.

Six civilian fliers were killed in the crash, which was attributed by inquest witnesses yesterday to the absence of almost 100 bolts from the outer wing panel, which sheered away during the takeoff and caused the plane to plunge out of control.

District attorney Thomas Whelan said that despite the verdict, which stated any criminal negligence would rest with the company, he would seek involuntary manslaugher complaints against those believed responsible. The company in a statement denied its inspection methods were as described by the jury—lax and haphazard.

Orders For Aluminum Are Banned By WPB

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Jan. 6. (AP) —To head off a "crisis" in aluminum sheet supplies, the War Production board has instructed the Aluminum Co. of America to close its order books on that product for the first four months of 1945, a WPB official announced today.

"Unless manpower is immediately obtained, the national demand for aluminum sheet in 1945 will present the most serious aluminum crisis of the whole war," said T. E. Covel, deputy director of WPB's aluminum and magnesium division.

Belgian Urges Western European Economic Group To Aid Harmony

By ROBERT L. FREY
United Press War Writer

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6. — Paul van Zeeland, former Belgian prime minister, believes the simplest and soundest first step in laying the foundation for postwar restoration of Europe and the structure for peace should be the creation of close economic cooperation among Britain, Belgium, Holland and France.

He proposed a western European economic group as an intermediate step between pre-war nationalistic exclusivity and a universal organization among nations.

Return to the prewar condition, he said, would be suicide, while to try to achieve a workable universal organization at one stroke would be biting off more than the nations at present show evidence of being able to digest.

Not 'Exclusive' Association

"This economic association," he said in an exclusive interview, "would not be exclusive nor would it be 'against' anybody. On the contrary, any nation that wanted to join would be welcome, and the group would seek to increase and expand relations with other groups or states.

"It would be built on a series of agreements or contracts between the nations, leading to a customs union, mutually beneficial credit policies, and eventually a common monetary unit. The idea is to create an economic area in which every favorable condition would be established to encourage trade, development of industrial techniques and every phase of activity concerned with rebuilding and carrying on in our countries after the war.

"The economic approach to international understanding and good relations is, in my opinion, more realistic and probably easier than the political or ideological approach. Industry and commerce fed, clothe and house people, and international good will based thereon can have no firmer foundation or good soil in which to grow.

"In these agreements the individual states would have to be respected as such. The question of surrendering any part of their sovereignty, which has been so bothersome in recent international talks, never should arise. Relations between nations would be governed by voluntary made agreements. Whatever they 'gave up' under these reciprocal agreements would be in fair exchange for relative advantage obtained from the other parties. This is no surrendering but is making good use of one's sovereignty.

Would Fit General Picture

"This regional setup would fit into the general European picture and look forward to signing agreements with similar groups in other parts of the world. Of course, there would be social and political consequences following on the economic agreements and these would be faced and solved as they arose. If the economic basis is soundly laid, and there is no reason why it should not be, these other problems which now loom as such obstacles, when we see them alone, could be worked out. We would have the powerful incentive of having learned meanwhile how beneficial cooperation could be."

Van Zeeland was paying a short visit to Washington in connection with problems relating to repatriation of prisoners of war and displaced persons of all kinds. In London a few days ago he signed a repatriation agreement with Holland. Belgium is caring for thousands of Dutch refugees now. After the war it is expected that hundreds of thousands coming out of Germany will have to cross both Belgium and Holland.

New Artillery Weapon Spreads Devastation

LONDON, Jan. 6. (U.P.)—A new American artillery weapon developed by the United States Navy is being used on the Germans with "remarkable" effectiveness in the battle of the Ardennes, front dispatches reported today.

The appearance of the secret weapon was disclsed by the Daily Mail's front correspondent Noel Monks, who said it broke up a German counter attack on Beffe within an hour early yesterday morning.

Monks reported that the weapon spread devastation through the German ranks and forced the Nazis to withdraw after taking "terrific punishment."

There were no details on the new device which Monks and other reporters said littered the battlefield with enemy dead.

36th Division Veteran Spends Furlough Here

First Sergeant Robert J. Ritchie, 3420 Ave. R, will return tomorrow t Fort Sam Houston after spending a 30-day recuperation furlough witht his wife. He has been overseas for 21 months.

An artilleryman with the famous 36th "Texas" division, Sgt. Ritchie saw action in Africa, Italy and France and participated in the invasion of Salerno, Cassino, Southern France and Germany. At the time he was furloughed home, the division was 12 miles from the German border, he said.

With him in the division are Bud W. Meyrs of Lubbock and Maj. Ross Ayers, former high school teacher here and a Tech football captain. He has been awarded the silver star.

Besides his theater ribbons and invasion stars, Sgt. Ritchie holds the Bronze Star and the Good Conduct medal.

"The French people helped us splendidly," he told the Avalanche-Journal. "They are good fighters and really saved a lot of our boys. They thoroughly dislike the Germans. They want to be their own boss."

The sergeant stressed the importance of mail to the men on the fighting fronts. "They'd rather get letters than a new box of C-rations, any day. Mail is the most important thing to them out there."

CIO Hears Poll Tax Called 'Iniquitous'

AUSTIN, Jan. 6. (AP) — Archbishop Robert E. Lucey of San Antonio today told a Texas State Industrial Union council (CIO) legislative conference that the poll tax is an "inquitous thing," and urged a strong organization "to stop anti-labor legislation."

The archbishop spoke at the morning session of a two-day meeting of representatives of CIO unions throughout the state to study a 14-point legislative program urged by the industrial union council.

The council will represent CIO unions before the legislature. It is urging, among other things, enactment of state wage-hour and labor relations laws. Repeal of the anti-strike law passed by the 47th legislature, and the labor union regulation act of the 48th legislature, will also be sought.

Archbishop Lucey told the union representative that he favored the point in their program seeking abolition of the poll tax as a prerequisite to voting, commenting that the tax was basically political, rather than financial. He said the money could be collected without involving it with the right to vote.

He also urged an additional legislative point of increased aid to dependent children.

Germans Begin Exporting Funds

By KENNETH L. DIXON
Associated Press Staff Writer

WITH AMERICAN FORCES IN Belgium, Jan. 6. (AP)—German industrialists have begun exporting funds for safekeeping and arranging for development of new weapons for another war, according to information available here today.

Both moves are said to have been taken surreptitiously at the instigation of the Nazi party as part of its program to remain secretly in power after Germany's defeat.

Previously the party has rigorously banned export of funds out of the Reich. Now the Nazis are said to be encouraging and assigning industrialists to get out as much money as possible with the dual aim of saving themselves and advancing their postwar aims.

Simultaneously the Nazis are declared requiring large German factories to set up small "technical offices" or "research bureaus" having no obvious connection with their sponsors. Their existence is to be known only by a few key persons.

Operating as "scientific research bureaus," a secret corps of technicians is said to have been given the task of safeguarding all plans and drawings concerning new weapons as well as materials required for their production.

Belgian Bulge May Become 'Ring Of Death' For Big German Force

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

The vast and growing battle which is raging across the rugged, snow-covered terrain of the Belgian bulge is the test of General Eisenhower's belief, as voiced in his historic order of the day to his armies after the German counter-offensive started, that "by rushing out from his fixed defenses the enemy may give us the chance to turn his great gamble into his worst defeat."

The conflict still is young and its precise developments are unpredictable, but we can see the broad possibilities.

Marshal Von Rundstedt, the Nazi commander, thus far has been unable to break through to Liege, or any other supply center. Had he done so it would have been an Allied catastrophe. Not only has he failed in this, but he has been stopped and thrown back at many points about the perimeter of the bulge.

Danger Not Past

This doesn't mean, though, that all danger of a German breakthrough of the perimeter is past. Von Rundstedt still may have another fling at this ambitious project, or he may develop the new offensive which he has started in the Bitche sector of the Allied southern flank.

The Nazi marshal has two other courses. One is to stand and fight within the Belgian bulge, which may become a ring of death. The other is to try to withdraw his men and armor back into his Rhineland defenses.

Good Chance For Allies

It's not unlikely that Eisenhower would prefer that his enemy fight it out in the bulge, especially since Von Rundstedt appears to have committed much of his reserve to his operation. This would give the Allied commander his best chance of annihilating much of the German force.

If Eisenhower smashes Von Rundstedt in the bulge, the Allies will have achieved what they hoped to do in their disrupted winter offensive. If the Nazis retreat they will have gained time, but their chances on the Cologne plain will be worse than before their counter offensive. The conclusion is that while Von Rundstedt still may do much damage, his success is a passing one that will leave him in the red.

Switzerland is one of the most highly industrialized states of Europe.

Seagraves Showing Business Gains; Bank Deposits Set Record

BY STAFF WRITER

SEAGRAVES, Jan. 6 — Seagraves, bustling little Gaines county oil town, is on the boom again.

Retail business was greater the past fall than any year in history; not a single building is vacant on Main street and houses are at a premium with no rent houses available despite the construction of several during the past year.

Two carbon black plants are under construction near here which will add two large payrolls to the oil industry in this section.

Bank deposits swelled to an all-time high, the report of the Seagraves State bank at the close of business on Dec. 30 revealed. Deposits now stand at $828,793.61, an increase of nearly $200,000 over the 1943 report. Deposits totaled $620,350.49 on Dec. 31, 1943.

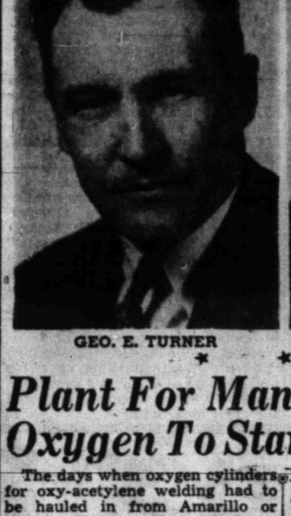

Loans and discounts are $84,022.61 compared to $18,341.14 in 1943 and U. S. bonds held by the bank increased from $257,657 in 1943 to $576,499.07 on Dec. 30.

J. F. Matchett is president of the bank and C. E. Neely is vice president and cashier. Directors are: J. R. Martin, chairman; R. M. Barron, E. C. Roberts, Matchett and Neely.

CAMERON, Tex., Jan. 6. (U.P.)—An investigation was revealed to be underway today into the poisoning of 38 prize head of Hereford cattle, owned by Hubert Atkinson and H. L. Yager, on a ranch 12 miles from Cameron about two weeks ago.

One source reported that sheriff's deputies were looking for a demented woman, a suspect in the poisoning.

Plant For Manufacture Of Oxygen To Start Here Soon

The days when oxygen cylinders for oxy-acetylene welding had to be hauled in from Amarillo or Wichita Falls or Fort Worth or El Paso are nearing an end.

Completion of a 4,400 square foot building at 2607 Ave. H, in which machinery for making oxygen here will soon be installed, was announced Saturday by West Texas Oxygen company.

Announcement was by George E. Turner, who with W. D. Hord of Fort Worth will be partners in the enterprise. He said production possibly would commence Feb. 10; that the War Production board had given its approval for all requirements of the plant; that initial employment would be "10 or 12 men"; that the plant would produce 11,000 cubic feet of oxygen an hour and supply this section with oxygen cylinders, each containing 244 cubic feet of gas.

Turner, of 2208 Twenty-third, said the plant would also supply hydrogen for aluminum welding, liquid oxygen that is used in carbon black plants and that nitrogen would be available.

Oxygen will be prepared by liquification of air, under freezing "far below zero."

Halsey Credited With Invasion Of Leyte

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6. (AP) — President Roosevelt today credited Admiral William F. Halsey, Jr., with initiating the last-minute change of Philippine invasion plans which boldly sent American forces into Leyte island, catching the Japanese off-guard.

It had been planned, Mr. Roosevelt told Congress, to approach the Philippines by stages "taking islands which we may call A, C, and E." Halsey was in charge of American naval forces in Philippine waters and he reported, Mr. Roosevelt said, "that a direct attack on Leyte appeared feasible."

"When General MacArthur received the reports from Admiral Halsey's task forces he also concluded that it might be possible to attack the Japanese in the Philippines directly — by-passing islands A, C, and E."

Admiral Nimitz was informed and offered MacArthur several units which had been scheduled for the intermediate operations. MacArthur informed the joint chiefs of staff here of the proposed change of plans and within 24 hours of Halsey's suggestion there was accomplished, the President said, "a change which saved lives which would have been expended in the capture of islands which are now neutralized far behind our lines."

Meeting Of Texas War Vets Planned

DALLAS, Jan. 6. (U.P.) — T. Gordon Mason of Dallas said today that a letter had been sent to the executive secretary of American Veterans of World War II in Washington asking that a definite date be set for a conference of Texas war veterans in Dallas.

Mason, a bottling company executive who has been active in making arrangements for a meeting of state veterans, said that many inquiries have come from all part of the state requesting a conference as soon as possible.

He explained that the delay in calling the meeting was the result of the "birth pangs" which the "embryo" national organization is now coming through, but he thought every effort was being made in Washington to get local organizations started.

There will be no regular convention of present war veterans, Mason said, until the majority of men are out of the armed services and can make their own concrete plans. But he added that there was a need to make preparation now for the future.

Divisions In First Army Drive Listed

WITH THE U. S. FIRST ARMY, Jan. 6. (AP)—Censorship was lifted today on the following American divisions in the U. S. First army's current assault against the north flank of the German's Belgian salient:

The 82nd Airborne, the Second and Third Armored, the 30th, 83rd, 84th and part of 75th Infantry.

The 82nd's parachute and glider troops are operating under command of the 18th Airborne corps, which is headed by Maj. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgeway. Ridgeway was commander of the 82nd from Aug. 15, 1942, until he took over the corps command Aug. 10, 1944. The Seventh corps, commanded by Maj. Gen. J. Lawton Collins, and the Fifth corps also are in action.

'Lady Of The Pub' Is Credited With Halting Nazi Tanks

CELLES, Belgium, Jan. 6 (AP)—Belgians credit the "lady of the pub" with stopping some German tanks penetrating west from Celles at the height of Field Marshal von Rundstedt's plunge Dec. 24.

She was watching a German tank go west on the road before her saloon when it blew up, apparently because of motor trouble.

Shortly another Nazi tank came along and the officer demanded:

"Did that tank blow up on a mine?"

"Yes," the woman replied. "More then 2,000 Americans have been laying mines on this road all the way to the Meuse for the last two days."

The officer ordered the tank turned around and never did go farther west.

The woman had lied gallantly. The Americans had not mined the road.

More Benefits For War Victims Asked

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6. (AP) — Measures to extend benefits to dependent relatives of men killed in action in the war will be introduced by Senator Wheeler (D-Mont).

The senator said one bill would amend acts authorizing the payment of six months death grautity to a widow, child or other dependent relative, so as to provide for minimum payments of not less than $1,000 in any case.

Other bills would permit the settlement of accounts of servicemen without administration of estates and require the government to furnish headstones to mark the honorary burial places of service men buried at sea, in foreign lands, or at unknown places.

Texans Buy Record Total Of War Bonds

DALLAS, Jan. 6. (U.P.)—Texans bought a record total of $1,822,138,931 worth of war bonds in 1944, exclusive of purchases by banking instiutions, Chairman Nathan Adams of the Texas war finance committee announced today.

The calculation was made after final tabulations of the recently ended Sixth War Loan drive sales were completed. This revealed that Texas' "little" investors set a percentage record in E-bond buying.

Texas' overall quota was $414,000,000 for the Sixth War Loan drive and bond sales totaled $591,821,215, Adams said. Of this, the E-bond sales aggregated $126,499,414 to the quota of $150,000,000. Individual quota was $225,000,000 and sales amount to $272,234,684.

"Without the untiring work of these patriotic Texans, the state's great record of war bond purchases would not have been possible," Adams said.

"January quota for Texas is $32,100,00," Adams said. "Only by continuing effort on the part of war loan workers and by regular bond purchases of all of us can we in small measure repay the viliant men who are fighting and dying for us."

Nickel, chromium molybdenum, and vanadium are used in a number of alloy steels to make them stronger and tougher.

British Armor Lauded For Stopping Nazis

BURE, Belgium, Jan. 5. (Delayed). (AP) — It now can be disclosed that a gallant British armored formation halted one spearhead of Field Marshal Karl von Rundstedt's counter-offensive westward when it reached a point about three miles from the Meuse river.

The Germans were headed for the Dinant bridge.

By continuous slashing and hammering, British armor subsequently drove the Germans back yard by yard, over the snow-covered Ardennes hills, eight to 12 miles.

Up to today the part British armor played in stopping the German counter-offensive was kept secret for security reasons.

Adm. Munroe Given Legion Of Merit

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6. (AP) — Vice Admiral William R. Monroe has been awarded the Legion of Merit for leadership when commandant of the Third Naval district, New York, the Navy announced today.

Vice Admiral Munroe is now in command of the Fourth fleet. His usual address is Waco, Tex. Mrs. Munroe now lives at Santa Monica, Calif.

The U. S. Army has its own navy, largest fleet of small craft in the world. There are 15,000 bottoms in this fleet, many made of steel, and they cruise in costal and island waters in most parts of the world.

Cop Is Charged With Assaulting Woman

HOUSTON, Jan. 6. (U.P.)—An attractive 36-year-old Houston dress shop buyer charged today that a city policeman mauled and criminally assaulted her New Year's eve after arresting her and her husband, a former Galveston hotel owner, on a charge of drunkeness.

The woman and her husband will appear before the Harris county grand jury Monday to testify against the policeman, a 38-year-old member of the force for only two months.

The couple, in a complaint filed with District Attorney A. C. Winborn, said they were arrested New Year's eve after running a red light. Two policemen stopped them and took them to the police station, they said. Later they were charged with being drunk and released on five dollars bond.

The woman charged that her husband was taken into the station and that one of the arresting officers remained with her in their automobile behind the station.

"Something hit me on the head and I lost consciousness," she said.

When she revived, she said, she found herself in a cell and learned that she had been raped. She began screaming and both she and her husband were released a short time later.

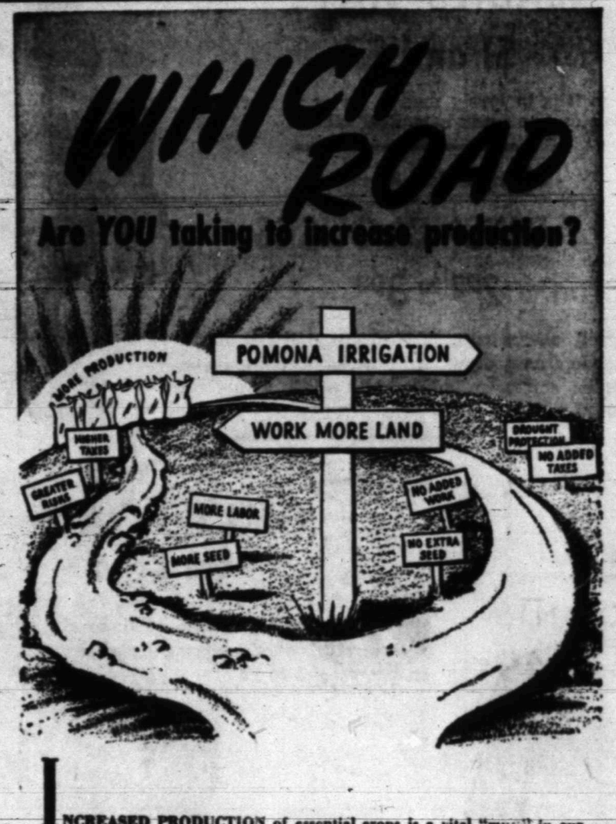

The woman said a doctor's examination verified the fact she had been assaulted.

INCREASED PRODUCTION of essential crops is a vital "must" in our war program. Government figures prove there are two ways you can boost crop production—(1) Plant, cultivate and work more land...or (2) Irrigate the land you are now working.

AVERAGE YIELD PER ACRE	CALIFORNIA	ARIZONA
Beans
Irrigated	14.0*	3.5*
Non-Irrigated	7.3*	2.0*
One irrigated acre equals the unirrigated production of	1.92 acres	2.75 acres
*100-pound bags
Oats
Irrigated	41.7 bu.	34.9 bu.
Non-Irrigated	27.3 bu.	12.4 bu.
One irrigated acre equals the unirrigated production of	1.49 acres	2.82 acres

Official Govt. Figures, 1940 Census.

In the chart above compare the production of irrigated and non-irrigated lands when planted to typical crops. Note how irrigation boosts production far above the per-acre yield of non-irrigated lands. You plant no more seed, work no more land, require no more manpower—yet you substantially increase your production over the same land, unirrigated.

And by taking the Pomona road to increased crop production, you not only conserve seed and manpower, but you also gain a priceless advantage that will insure your crops for years to come... protection from crop loss through drought!

Stalled But Still Dangerous Nazi Drive May Rule Duration Of War

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press War Analyst

The battle in Belgium, going into its third week as a major Allied offensive instead of a stalled but still dangerous Nazi counter attack, centered attention at the week end because of tremendous effect it could have upon the duration of the war in Europe.

SIMPSON

British and American troops were disclosed belatedly as fighting shoulder to shoulder on the north rim of the bulge under overall British field command to match the hard-driving American Third Army thrust from the south.

Snow and freezing cold, added to natural terrain barriers, rendered any estimate of the time it would take for the conflict to reach its crisis merest guesswork. There seemed no question that the foe had elected to accept the Allied challenge and fight it out on some selected line in Belgium.

Soviet Winter Drive

There were German intimations, ununconfirmed from Moscow, that the long expected main Red Army winter offensive stroke was about to be launched in Poland.

While the nature of Russian-Allied interchanges of military information since the Teheran conference are unrevealed, there has been much to indicate that London and Washington have been largely in the dark as to Russian plans. Certainly the timing of attacks now in progress or impending in the east, west or south could not have been decided at Teheran. Nor is the forthcoming new meeting between President Roosevelt, Prime Minister Churchill and Marshal Stalin set for such a time as to have any relation to the immediate military situation on European fronts.

There has been some speculation that the Russian attack in Poland was waiting on Russian capture of Budapest and investment of the Danube gap approach to central Germany. To some military students, also, the Russian campaign in Hungary has looked like a further diversion effort to draw off Nazi forces form the Polish front just as the Allied invasion of France aided the Russian drive to the Vistula. If so, the German counter attack down the Danube corridor for the relief of Budapest, now besieged by the Russians, is serving Russian purposes. Moscow said the German troops and armor involved were drawn from reserves in central Germany.

Beyond the Pacific, Japanese evacuation of northern Burma was further advanced with close British approach to Mandalay and capture of Akyab, the northern Bay of Bengal anchorage of the Nipponese deployment in Burma. That ended the last Japanese threat to India. It could prove a stepping stone to aggressive Allied action in the southeastern Asia command theater.

By every criterion, however, the most immediate and gravest threat confronting Japanese war lords was in the Philippines.

Two Airmen Killed In Midland Accident

MIDLAND, Jan. 6. (AP) — Two Midland Army Air field fliers were killed in the crash of a twin-engine training plane early Friday near the field.

They were Capt. Robert B. Bickerstaff, the pilot, whose parents live at Columbus, Ga., and Lt. James Westcoff Foster, whose father lives at Providence, R. I.

Foster's widow resides at Midland. He was a veteran of 50 combat missions in North Africa and wore the Air Medal, the Purple Heart, and the Distinguished Unit badge. Bickerstaff had completed 30 combat missions in the European theater and had been awarded the Air Medal and three oak leaf clusters.

Golden Gloves To Have Big Season

Golden Gloves fight shows throughout the country are coming to the front, and prospects are bright everywhere for the meets to be the biggest and best of the war year shows.

This same picture is reflected in the Avalanche-Journal Golden Gloves tournament, scheduled for the Texas Tech gym for three big nights, Feb. 1-2-3.

Indications are many that the fighters from both Army Air fields of this area will join forces with the local fighters in making the local Golden Gloves tournament the greatest since the call to the armed services began to drain off the familiar faces of pre-war tournaments.

Novice, Open Divisions

The tournament this season will have two divisions, it was announced by Tournament Director Morley Jennings. There will be the championship and novice divisions, which will afford better chances for all fight minded boys to get into their own class.

Winners in all weight divisions will be given prizes, with the open championship fighters having the added prize for the winners of the all expense trip to Fort Worth to fight in the state Golden Glove tournament there.

Trunks for the winners, and orders given on local merchants for clothing, will be the prizes for first, second and third place winners in both novice and open

Robes and jackets, as given in pre-war years, are impossible to get during war time conditions, so are counted out of the prize lists. In their places will be the choice of clothing up to certain value for the winners.

Tahoka Sets Dates

A number of fighters in this area have already started training for the three big nights, and a tournament has been scheduled for Tahoka on the nights of Jan. 22-23 as a warmup tournament for the Golden Gloves battles here.

Many of the fighters over this area will take advantage of this tournament to pick up some added experience before the local cards.

Another big team is expected to enter from Petersburg, but there has been no reports from there regarding starting of workouts. There has been reports that Littlefield plans a number of entries for the tournament here.

Entry blanks are carried elsewhere on this page, and should be filled out by contestants and mailed to Morley Jennings, athletic office, Texas Tech college.

Poi Bowl Game Carded Today

HONOLULU, Jan. 6. (AP)—Football fans scanning the names of civilian-days gridiron stars who will play in tomorrow's Army-Navy Pacific Ocean areas championship game have decided that the best way to make a pre-game winner selection is to toss a coin.

Neither coach—Capt. Ed Hennig of the Army Air Force team and Lt. Comdr. Tex Oliver for Navy—has made any predictions as they drilled their topnotch aggregations for the meeting on Furlong field.

Oliver said one of his biggest chores is determining which of his veteran performers to put on the starting lineup for the kickoff.

On the basis of college stars, the Army has the edge. Its roster includes the following:

Glenn Dobbs, whose quarterbacking at Tulsa university put him on the Associated Press 1943 All-America team and the 1944 service second team; Harold Newman, 210-pound Alabama end; Richard Barwegan, Purdue guard; Joe Williams, Ohio halfback; John Kimbrough, Texas A&M All-America halfback; Jack Jacobs, Oklahoma halfback and a selection for the 1944 second service team, and Jimmy Nelson, Alabama halfback.

If professional football experience could decide the contest, then Navy would be the favorite.

Andy Uram, fullback, Charles Schultz, tackle, and Russ Letlow, guard, all are alumni of the Green Bay Packers. Letlow was an Associated Press 1944 All-America choice.

Also on the Navy side are Lloyd Cheatham, Auburn, halfback; Bob Morrow, Illinois Wesleyan, quarterback, and Steve Lach, Duke, halfback, all of whom used to wear the Chicago Cardinals' colors.

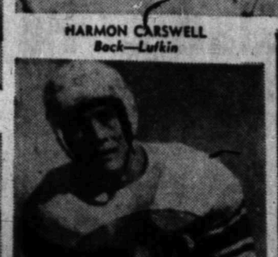

Ki Aldrich, Texas Christian center, will be in sailor uniform, along with Lou Rymkus, tackle, formerly Notre Dame and Washington Redskins; Dewey Proctor halfback, Bainbridge and Brooklyn Dodgers; Al Matuza, center, Georgetown and Chicago Bears, and Bob Suffridge, guard, Tennessee and Philadelphia Eagles.

Navy will enter the game with a 205-pound average lineup against Army's 204.

Owls Win Over Aggies In Debut

COLLEGE STATION, Tex., Jan. 6. (AP)—With towering Bill Henry setting a dizzy scoring pace the Rice Owls made their 1944 Southwest Conference basketball debut by defeating Texas A and M 53-22. Henry scored 30 points.

Henry scored nine points in the first half and 21 in the second half.

The Owls jumped into a six-point lead at the start of the game but when half of the first period was over the Aggies had the score tied at 10-all. From then on, however, the Owls pulled away.

Milton Cherno was top for the Aggies with 13 points. Foley of Rice scored 11 points.

The Aggies committed 20 fouls during the game but the Owls missed 16 of their free tosses. The Owls fouled 14 times and the Aggies missed nine chances.

Mustangs Swarm To Win Over Longhorns

DALLAS, Jan. 6. (AP)—Southern Methodist's towering Mustangs swarmed over the Texas Longhorns 58-41 tonight to open the Southwest Conference basketball race with a convincing victory.

Never behind, the Mustangs kept their smaller opponents away from the basket and the Longhorns long shots landed too far between. In the meantime Kelly Avery was pouring in 24 points to pace the Methodists to a comparatively easy triumph.

A crowd of 2,000 watched the Longhorns battle gallantly but in the latter stages the Methodists forged slowly but steadily away.

The Mustangs held a 29-20 lead at halftime.

Bauman Only 1-AA Star To Make AP All-State Club

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Editor

DALLAS, Jan. 6. (AP)—One of the most powerful lines in Texas schoolboy history carried Port Arthur's Yellow Jackets to the state championship. Appropriately enough two members of that great forward wall — Tackle Dan Rogas and Guard A. J. Dugas — landed on the Associaed Press All-State team.

Port Arthur was the only school to place more than one man on the All-Star selection made by the Associated Press through the assistance of coaches, college scouts, sports writers and officials the length and breadth of the state.

The team includes ten schools, nine of which were district champions.

Bauman At End

Rudy Bauman of Amarillo and James Williams of Waco are the ends; Carl McClendon of Austin, who played guard on offense and tackle on defense, teams with Rogas at the tackle positions; George Hughes, the very consistent San Angelo star, and A. J. Dugas, the power in the middle of the Port Arthur line, are the guards, while Dick Harris, tall, brilliant Wichita Falls standout, gets the center call.

In the backfield we have Harmon Carswell, Lufkin's great passer; Doak Walker, Highland Park's all-around star; Byron Gillory, the streak of fire from Marshall, and Preston Smith, the versatile Bryan performer.

Smith is the only player on the team who made it without getting outside his district. A boy must be truly great to do that as their feats are too often forgotten during the all-important state play-off.

The second team is good enough that any coach would be quite pleased to have it. Charles Davidson of Port Arthur and Harold Clark, Highland Park giant are the ends; Howard Tucker of Sherman and Frank Meisell of Sunset (Dallas) are the tackles; Jack Price, brilliant Greenville center, is shifted to a guard position opposite Ernest Lord of Lufkin, and big Ben Procter of Austin is the center. In the backfield are Perry Samuels, Jefferson (San Antonio) speedster; Ike Neumann, Port Arthur's power back; J. B. Mahler, Temple's fine ball-carrier, and George Graham, the mighty defensive star of San Angelo.

For a third team we have Jack Ivy, Lufkin's pass-catcher, and Bill Lambert of Brownwood at ends; Curtis Marable of Waco and Bobby Tenison of Highland Park at tackles; Donald Mouser, Vernon tackle, is shifted to guard along with Richard Rowan, Breckenridge center, and Vernon Vick of Port Arthur is the center. Billy Engle of Greenville, Sammy Pierce of Vernon, H. J. Shands of Lufkin and Campbell of Port Arthur make up the backfield.

There were plenty more standouts but the above were considered the top 33 men.

The teams are representative; every section was given consideration through competent observers, and all selections were on the basis of ability against strong competition.

FDR Speech Dims Sports Outlook

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6. (AP) — President Roosevelt today appeared to have put the blinkers on the green light he issued to sports three years ago this month.

As a result of the President's address to Congress urging the enactment of legislation making all 4-F's available in "whatever capacity is best for the war effort," sports faces a dreary future.

Only three days ago, Jan. 3, horse and dog tracks were closed at the request of Byrnes.

Pro sports are studded with many men rejected by the Army and Navy doctors for physical disabilities. Major league baseball, with 281 of its 400 players in 4-F, will be hardest hit. With spring training only two months off, club owners are at a loss as to what to do. Despite the insistence of Will Harridge, president of the American league and Ford C. Frick, National loop prexy, that baseball "will continue as long as we have nine men on the field," it is an even money bet the parks will not open, especially if the Army lowers its physical standards as already hinted by sources close to Washington.

Football, with more than half its personnel either in 4-F or Army and Navy dischargees, is not too alarmed as it has several added months in which to mark time and hope for something to happen as the year lengthens to change the picture.

Golf and boxing will also be hard hit, with such link stars as Byron Nelson and Jug McSpaden, two of the leading money winners of 1944, in the 4-F group. Boxers either in 4-F or discharged from the services include Willie Pep, featherweight champion, Sugar Ray Robinson, Bobby Ruffin, Jimmy Bivins and Ken Overlin.

College athletics, supported in the main by pre-draft age athletes and Naval trainees would be affected to some degree by the loss of 4-F's or the universal service act, asked by the President.

MEET NO CONVENTION

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6. (AP)—A basketball tournament is not a convention, and high school meets are not expected to come under government proposed voluntary ban on meetings of 50 or more persons.

That news came today from the Office of Defense Transportation following War Mobilization Director Byrnes' request for cancellation of conventions and trade shows.

Red Raiders Nip Cowboys, 45-22

Texas Tech's Red Raiders made it two in a row over the Hardin-Simmons Cowboys Saturday night at the Tech gym, winning the finale of the series by a 45 to 22 margin.

The Cowboys played a much improved brand of ball Saturday night than they showed in the opener, but were unable to cope with the fast scoring Red Raiders after the Techsans started moving in the second quarter.

Grove Top Scorer

Again it was big Don Grove, the Tech center, who set the pace for the Red Raiders. Grove dropped in six field goals and one donation shot for a total of 13 points, the best for the night.

Ernest Hawkins, Lamesa freshman, found the range on the basket Saturday night, and fired in ten points for the second best scoring mark of the evening, closely followed by Jiggs Jackson, who counted eight times.

Sorrell Shines Again

Sorrell, who has been an outstanding performer for the Cowboys on both nights, paced the visitors with eight points, followed by Wright, who dropped in six points.

The game started slowly with the Red Raiders moving out into the lead, and were never behind at any time in the ball game. The Red Raiders held a two to four point lead for the first five minutes, then began to pull away from the Cowboys.

The Cowboys stampeded late in the first quarter, and with a flurry of shots moved within three points of the Red Raiders at a 12-9 score, but the Red Raiders smothered this rally, and pulled away again to hold a 26 to 13 advantage at the halftime.

The win gives the Red Raiders a record of four wins for the season, compared to seven losses.

LAAF Defeats Sheppard Field

Playing some brilliant defensive basketball, the Lubbock Army Air field Fliers made it ten wins in twelve starts Saturday night at the LAAF gym by handing the Sheppard Field five from Wichita Falls its second defeat in as many nights, 38-30.

The Fliers were forced to come from behind to win the game in the second half of the game, after trailing the Wichita Falls club until far into the final half.

Bruce Prior, LAAF star, boosted his season's total to 181 points, dropping nine field goals through the net, and four free tosses, for a total of 22 points for scoring honors of the night.

Gerald McCarty, Prior's running mate, came through with nine more points, and boosted his own season's total to 140 points.

The LAAF defnse muffled the Sheppard Field attack, with the exception of two stars on the club, and after gaining the lead midway in the last half, they were never headed off. The Fliers piled up 20 points in the last half, while holding the visitors to only eight

Slater, former New York university star, and Lother Stephenson, were the only ones able to slip through the airtight defense of the Fliers, and this pair accounted for 28 of the 30 points made by Sheppard Field. Stephenson set the pace with 17 points and Salter counted for 11 more.

The vistors led throughout the first half, holding a 22 to 18 advantage in the scoring at halftime. In the second half, LAAF took a lead of 26-25, and were never headed after that.

Fliers Face Three Battles This Week

The LAAF Fliers, winners of ten out of twelve games, are looking forward to a busy week and possible revenge against the Amarillo Sky Giants, who handed them their first defeat of the season.

Before the Fliers can get to the Sky Giants on Wednesday night, however, they will also have to meet a good Clovis Army Air field team on Tuesday night, and win or lose in those two games they still have to play the powerful Big Spring Bombardiers at the Big Spring Air base on Friday night. The Fliers handed Big Spring one of their few defeats of the season 43-33 at LAAF on Dec. 15.

The hustling basketeers from the west base face this ambitious week's schedule with considerable confidence, however, after their 38-30 victory over Sheppard Field Saturday night, and since Pvt. Harry Krasner, regular guard, will be back from furlough to hold down his end of the court.

The Fliers also received several reinforcements during the past week when three flying officers reported to LAAF as instructors in the new instrument school. These three are Lt. George W. Schleifer, who played his basketball with Butler University in Indiana, Lt. William R. Lamborn from St. Joseph, Mo., and Lt. Robert F. Avis, who not only played with Fresno State and the University of California, but also has been a star with Merced, Cal., AAF basketball team. In addition, Lt. Maurice E. John, coach, seems to have solved his center problem with Pvt. Moss Bergwall. Bergwall has seen some action in the last three games as a forward, but clicked Saturday night in the pivot position. His height, 6'2", is badly needed by the Fliers, who recently lost their regular center.

MATTY BELL PROMOTED

ATHENS, Ga., Jan. 6. (AP) — Madison (Matty) Bell, former football coach at Southern Methodist university and presently athletic director for the Georgia Navy Pre-Flight school here, has been advanced to a full commander in the Naval reserve.

First fruit trees were sent to Quebec in 1608.

SPAAF Five Books Busy Cage Session

A full week of basketball with three games on their home court will keep the Winged Commandos of South Plains Army Field busy defending their cage laurels during the next seven days.

The Commandos gained prestige last Friday night when they pasted a 53-46 defeat on the highly regarded Sheppard Field team. The win over the Wichita Falls quintet gave the Commandos three out of five win for the season so far.

Monday night at 8 o'clock SPAAF takes on Childress Army Air Field, a basketball team which was rated high nationally last year. The Commandos will be out for revenge since the Childress squad dealt the Commandos one of their five losses last season in a game played on the Childress court. A scheduled return game was never played, hence this is the first chance SPAAF has had to avenge the defeat.

SPAAF makes another attempt to gain a measure of revenge for previous athletic defeat when the Commandos play Amarillo Army Air Field in the SPAAF Recreation hall at 8 o'clock Wednesday night. The Amarilloans defeated the SPAAF football team 53-14 this fall. Both fields had fine basketball teams last season, but could not get together for a game although negotiations were begun for a contest between the two to boost the sale of war bonds. Amarillo this season has another red-hot five and boosts a fine record.

The Commandos end up the week playing Carlsbad, N. M., Army Air Field at 8 o'clock Saturday night in the post Rec. hall.

Highlight of the season as far as SPAAF fans are concerned will be the game with the national champion Phillips 66 Oilers next Monday night.

The 31-year-old Zivic, a 5 to 1 underdog, gained an upset eight round decision over his 18-year-old opponent last night as Promoter Mike Jacobs opened the 1945 season at Madison Square Garden before 16,923 who contributed to a gross gate of $57,576. Jacobs started the wheels to arrange a return go sometime in February.

Daniel Lair and Jack Barnes set the pace for the Meadow boys in the finale, each accounting for 12 points, while Leland Terry chipped in with ten more. White paced the losers with eight points.

In the boys B game, Max Williams set the pace for the locals with 14 points as Snodgrass paced the losers with ten points.

Cooper Juniors Nose Out Cowboy Whites

The Cooper High school juniors came back strong in the last half Friday afternoon at Cooper, and nosed out the Cowboys White team from Lubbock Junior High school, 15-14.

The Lubbock five took the lead early in the ball game, and eased under the halfway wire with a 12-9 lead, but in a ding-dong finish the home club spurted ahead.

Thompson kept the Cooper club in the ball game in the first half, getting eight of the points, and added another two-pointer in the last half to cop scoring honors with 10 points. Tatum paced the Lubbock club with eight points.

SUNDOWN, Jan.6. (Special).—Sundown High school cagers showed plenty of form here Friday in sweeping three straight games over the scrappy Ropes High school teams, the A team boys winning 37 to 23 in the feature game of the card.

The Sundown B team nosed out a 23 to 18 victory in the opener, and Sundown's girls team won a 14 to 10 decision in the second battle.

Rites Held Saturday For Baseball Great

Gentlemen Ben, a great third baseman in his playing days before the turn of the century, was on teams at Galveston, Houston, Corsicana, Temple, and Dallas. He managed Cleburne, Temple, Galveston, Houson and Waco. In 1902, while playing with Corsicana, he figured in a world's record for consecutive victories—27.

Bank Deposits Set All-Time High Here; Other Gains Spectacular

By R. C. HANKINS
Avalanche-Journal Staff Writer

Lubbock bank deposits in 1944 shot up to an all-time record and showed a spectacular increase for the national bank call of Dec. 30, 1944, as compared with a year ago, when the previous record level was established. And increases among the banks were well distributed.

The call revealed deposits of $48,319,579.97 in the three banks here—the First National, Citizens National and Lubbock National—as compared with $40,182,034.19 a year ago. That is a 20 per cent increase.

Cash Resources High

Of possibly more significance, their cash resources are $45,066,614.07, which means they are 94 per cent liquid. That further means that 94 per cent of their depositors could be paid in full, on instant notice, without having to call a single loan.

Further study of the banks' statements of conditions shows that if the other 6 per cent of the depositors were to withdraw accounts another $1,520,867.06 is available in capital accounts, which would leave only $1,732,098.84 in outstanding loans, which are secured at far beyond that amount.

"It is almost unheard of, the healthful condition of our banks here," a banker said. "Public confidence never was higher."

Slaton Deposits Up

Citizens State bank of Slaton had increased its deposits a half-million dollars in a year, and was almost 96 per cent liquid. Its deposits, said J. S. Edwards, president, H. T. Swanner, vice president, and William R. Sewell, cashier, stood at $2,528,531.80, its cash resources at $2,479,024.95, its capital accounts at $79,900, its loans and discounts at $123,000. It had $315,000 in U. S. war bonds.

Slaton bank loans, like those of numerous banking institutions, remain low, at near the figure of a year ago and, like other county banks, its cash reserves remain at a close ratio with deposits.

A twentieth semi-annual statement of First Federal Savings and Loan association of Lubbock, of which K. T. Thomas is executive vice president, shows savings and investment accounts as of Dec. 30 totaled $1,652,093.68, as compared with $1,349,531.46 a year earlier; borrower's trust funds, $15,296.71, compared with $19,088.68; commitment loans, $10,778.08, compared with 17,848.25; reserve for dividends, $14,982.83, compared with $18,982.80; other reserves, $3,861.57, compared with $5,742.95; general reserves, $75,837.88, compared with $70,613.18; undivided profits, $19,393.65, compared with $9,580.69.

More War Bonds Listed

War bonds listed in assets of First Federal Savings and Loan association as $541,436.63 are $326,263.10 higher than a year ago.

When the $17,808,059.76 in war bonds deposited in the three national banks here—which is higher by $5,415,958.23 than a year ago—is added to the amount held by First Federal Savings and Loan association, it is found that in Lubbock alone there is $18,349,496.39 in war bonds on deposit.

Counting bonds in the Citizens bank of Slaton, the Lubbock county deposit of war bonds is $18,664,496.39.

The following table shows at a glance condition of the three national banks here, as compared with a year ago:

Deposits	$48,319,579.97	$40,182,034.19
Cash Resources	45,066,514.07	38,101,861.76
Capital Accounts	1,520,867.06	1,366,346.78
Loans, Discounts	4,412,387.84	2,908,998.15
U. S. Gov't Bonds	17,808,059.76	13,302,101.83

Simultaneous to the national bank call, the Federal Deposit Insurance corporation issued a call for the condition of all insured banks as of the same date. The State Banking commission at Austin did likewise. All Lubbock county banks were affected.

The increase in war bond purchases and deposits were noteworthy, and went back into the banks. Christmas purchases were unusually heavy and the cash from the stores was deposited. Corporations had accumulated funds for payment of taxes and the end of the year, and the tax offices likewise deposited these funds.

Overall, there was indication that persons are putting away money for after-the-war purchases of new homes, new autos, refrigerators and radios.

Federal Operation Of Union Suggested

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6 (AP)—Stanley E. Hubbard, Minneapolis radio executive, suggested today to WLB Chairman William H. Davis that the government take over James C. Petrillo's American Federation of Musicians (AFL) as it has some business firms.

Emerging from a conference with Davis, Hubbard told newsmen that Davis and the War Labor board "appeared to be afraid of Petrillo."

Hubbard, president and general manager of station KSTP, said he had suggested to Davis that the WLB take over Petrillo's headquarters and that the Army operate the union as it has in the Montgomery Ward company plant for non-compliance with WLB orders. Davis replied that such a request was "ridiculous," Hubbard told reporters.

Hubbard said the musicians union has refused to obey directives of the national and Chicago regional war labor boards that musicians, who walked out eight months ago, return to work.

For the last eight months, he asserted, Petrillo has declined to allow union members to work at his Minneapolis studio unless a minimum staff of eight musicians and three record turners are employed at a minimum of $52.50 a week for a 22-hour week.

Ward's Says Workers Threatened By Army

CHICAGO, Jan. 6 (AP)—Montgomery Ward and company, charging the Army threatened the immediate draft of its employes who refused to obey commands after government seizure of its properties in seven cities, today awaited court action Monday in its fight to regain control of its facilities.

Terming the presidential seizure order of Dec. 28 "unlawful," the company filed in U. S. District court yesterday an answer, with 21 affidavits, to the government's petition for a declaratory judgment upholding legality of the seizure and an injunction against the mail order house from interfering with the Army.

Ward's in its answer charged that the government is trying, by threat and intimidation, to force company officials into "involuntary service," and accused army officers of threatening criminal action against executives and employes who refused to work for the government, "well knowing that such officers and employes have committed no offense."

AP Writers To Tell Of War Front Action

NEW YORK, Jan. 6 (AP)—Front line action in Europe and the Pacific will be described by Associated Press war correspondents in a broadcast of the radio program, "Vox Pop" Monday night.

Norman Lodge, who covered the campaigns of Guadalcanal, Bougainville and other south Pacific fighting, and William Allen, Italian and African campaign cameraman.

The story of how the AP gathers and distributes the news to more than 2,000 newspapers and radio stations will be told by Paul R. Mickelson, general news editor of the AP.

Even OPA Can't Get Blood Out Of Turnip

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 6 (AP)—OPA agents were stumped today in their efforts to penalize Victor Bellone, convicted of speeding, by taking up his gasoline ration tickets.

"I haven't even got an A book," said Bellone. "I burn a mixture of coal oil and cleaning fluid in my automobile."

"Buy A War Bond TODAY"

Sale Of Australian Wheat Is Scheduled

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6 (AP)—The Commodity Credit corporation expects to sell within the next 60 days 700,000 bushels of Australian wheat stored on a concrete platform at Los Angeles, Calif.

William McArthur, directr of the grain division of the Commodity Credit corporation, said today the wheat is the remainder of 1,800,000 bushels contracted for last year when domestic livestock feed supplies were short.

Much of the grain, which was designed for livestock feeding, was late in arriving. Some did not reach this country, McArthur said, until after the 1944 domestic harvests had replenished feed supplies in the California area, making immediate sale of the imported grain difficult.

McArthur said, however, that feed supplies in that area were again becoming tight and that the CCC expected no difficulty in selling this grain as ground livestock feed between now and the middle of March. He predicted that little if any would go to waste.

Some old photographic lenses have a slightly corroded surface which gives them higher transmission of light than new ones of a similar type.

County Has About 740 Men Affected By New Draft Plan

Approximately 740 men could be placed in the hands of Uncle Sam by Lubbock County Selective Service boards if and when Congress gets ready to draft 4-F's into military or war-supporting activities, a check revealed Saturday.

Of draft board No. 2's estimated 832 4-F's, about 35 per cent is permanently disabled or is engaged in essential industry.

Chief clerk of draft board No. 1 etsimates that they have 400 men, 18 to 38, classified as 4-F's. Of that number about 67 per cent is permanently disabled or engaged in essential jobs.

On the basis of estimated 4-F's in the county, and by discounting those either permanently disabled or engaged in war production, it is estimated that about 740 men would be affected in case Congress decides to draft them for either a uniform or a war job.

Enterprising Agenda Set Up By Rep. Preston E. Smith For 49th Legislative Session

Preston E. Smith, Lubbock theater owner and representative-elect from the 119the Texas representative district, today will leave for Austin and Tuesday's convening of the 49th legislature.

The representative of Lubbock, Lynn, Dawson, Gaines, Yoakum, Terry, Hockley, Crosby and Cochran counties, has outlined an enterprising agenda of what he hopes to accomplish, "some of it admittedly different."

Sums Up His Aims

Primarily, he sums his aims as influencing educational advantages, redistricting the state for legislative purposes, more state appropriations for Texas Tech and easing of problems to the farmer, rancher and small business man.

Parrish In Austin

State Senator-elect Sterling J. Parrish of Lubbock left a week ago for Austin to attend the 49th legislature, which opens Tuesday. He was not available for comment Saturday.

The redistricting problem is all too familiar, in a negative sort of history. Nothing has been done about it for many years, despite a constitutional requirement for redistricting for legislative purposes after each 10-year federal census. As may be expected before each new session of the legislature, there is a welter of rumors of bills that once more would take up the cudgel for redistricting. Some would seek a change in congressional, some in state senatorial and some in state representative districts, but admittedly it would be difficult to make a grouping that could muster a majority of votes. Too many of the legislators, as in other years, hope for future office holding—and might find it impossible, were redistricted tailoring done on Texas' map.

Would Advance Redistricting

It is the old hue and cry based on a fight to balance the voting strength of the big city and that of the rural areas, with plenty of opposition shaping.

But Representative-elect Smith doesn't look backward for solution. He recognizes that South and West Texas are going forward, North and East Texas backward; that the trend of population shifts particularly favor West Texas, and that West Texas is not represented numerically proportionate to the continuing influx of population.

To avoid petty politics of the present, he would attain legislative redistricting by having the 49th legislature pass a redistricting bill that would go into effect four years hence.

Effective Four Years Hence

Direct, Smith put his plan thus: "Four years hence few of the representatives would want re-election. There'll probably be no war, and our soldiers would have returned. They will be the ones seeking election to the legislature. So if we redistrict now and make it effective four years hence, none of those now in office, or comparatively few of them, probably would be affected.

To Seek Larger Tech Funds

Smith is equally to the point in his interest in other legislation. Take the matter of increased appropriations for Tech.

"I would seek to get support for larger appropriations for Tech. If that could not be realized in the usual procedure, I would seek to get it done another way. There is a huge endowment fund under control of the University of Texas, which mushroomed from oil from West Texas lands. Texas A. & M. college dealt herself in by virtue of legislation resulting from her claims she was a division of the state university, and got a third of the endowment.

"I would introduce a bill seeking to cut in every state college on the endowment — and you know how many there are. Of course, the bill might not pass, but the boards of directors of all state colleges and the editors of papers in towns of those college sections would get a chance to see what legislators supported the bill."

Favors Educational Plan

Smith, hitting only the high spots of his plans, told The Avalanche-Journal he would favor legislation providing for two tuition-free years for all students in state colleges upon their graduation from high school.

"Children just out of high school face economic problems that can be translated by only a small percentage of them into definite plans for entering college," he said. "The percentage of parents who didn't attend college likewise is small. Therefore, the parent, who perhaps hasn't learned the full value of a college education, and the child, who is not too immature to know, may perhaps agree that going to work without further schooling is to advantage.

Wouldn't Turn Down Bargain

"If, on the other hand, two more years of education were provided without tuition costs, the percentage of those who would spurn further education would be negligible. It isn't natural to turn down a bargain.

"It is logical to me that taxpayers in general should contribute to help those who eventually would contribute more to society."

Smith was not ready to go into detail in regard to another piece of legislation he keenly favors.

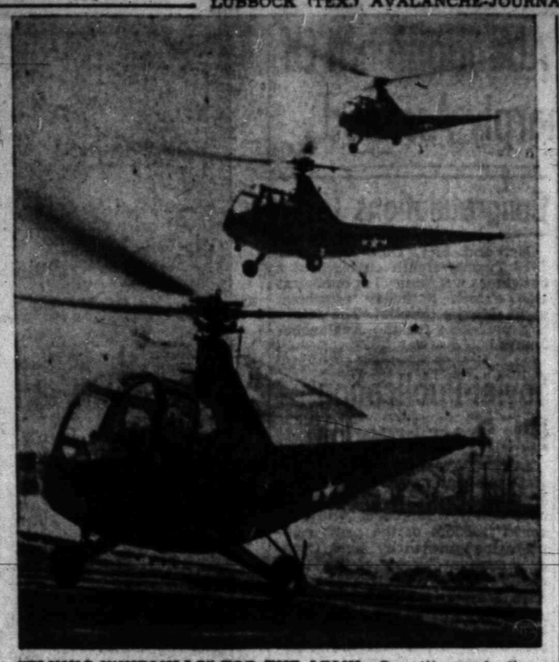

"Say in this way," he said. "I favor legislation giving orphans of veterans killed in action, or who died of service-connected disabilities, increased educational opportunities. Similar laws are now in effect in 38 other states of our nation."

He said further explanation of that piece of legislation would be announced after the bill is drawn.

Texas Building Is Back To Prewar Level

AUSTIN, Jan. 6. (U.P.) — Texas construction awards for 1944 were back to prewar level, the "Texas contractor," construction news weekly announced in the current issue here.

Awards of all types were computed at $152,795,810. Non-residential work lead with $55,801,377; war construction was second with $45,668,532; residential jobs decreased to $23,283,100 and engineering projects were lower than usual with $28,042,809.

Bill Will Favor Old Age Pensioners

AUSTIN, Jan. 6. (AP)—Rep. Ennis Favors of Pampa said today he will sponsor in the 49th Legislature a constitutional amendment exempting old age assistance recipients from payment of city, school, county and state property taxes.

Favors said he knew of instances wherein aged persons receiving a few dollars a year assistance were required to pay county property taxes on and old automobile on which they depended for transportation.

U. S. Third Armored Division At Front

WITH U. S. THIRD ARMORED DIVISION in Belgium, Jan. 6. (AP)—The Third armored division, which was the first division to cross the German border and the first to take a German town, is out in front again in the new offensive aimed at breaking the back of the enemy's Ardennes salient.

The commander is Maj. Gen. Maurice Rose of Denver, Colo.

Side by side with the Second armored division, Gen. Rose's tanks and armored infantrymen are snaking forward over icy roads. They fought yesterday into the outskirts of Lier Neux.

In the early stages of the German penetration one of the Third's combat commands under Brig. Gen. Doyle O. Hickey, Camden, Ark., helped clean up enemy parachutists dropped south of Monschau while the other combat command under Brig. Gen. Truman Boudinot of Beverly Hills, Calif., operated with the 30th Infantry division. This combination accounted for the wholesale bag of German tanks and other material in the Laggieze pocket west of Stavelot.

From there the bulk of the division's strength was shifted to the Hotton sector, where valuable work in halting the Nazi advance was done by task forces under Lt. Col. Samuel Hogan, Pharr, Tex., Lt. Col. William R. Orr, Green Mountain, Colo., Lt. Col Matthew W. Kane, Des Moines, Iowa, and Lt. Col. Walter Richardson, Beaumont, Tex.

About 7000 miles of coaxial cables will form a network stretching from Boston to Los Angeles to be used to carry up to 480 different telephone channels simultaneously, as well as television pictures, after the war.

Wheeler Plea For Abandonment Of Surrender Plan Sharply Assailed

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6. (AP) — The demand by Senator Wheeler (D-Mont) for an end to the policy of "unconditional surrender" for Germany stirred up a sharp row in the capital today, with Secretary of State Stettinius calling it "profoundly regrettable."

Wheeler replied in a Senate speech that the policy was "asinine" and urged that the administration declare that peace could be made if the Germans would "get rid of Hitler and set up a democratic government."

The Montana senator's original call for abandonment of the policy of unconditional surrender was made last night in a nationally broadcast radio address.

Speaks For "Discredited Few"

Denouncing it today, Stettinius said Wheeler spoke only "for a discredited few whose views have been overwhelmingly rejected."

The secretary of state added that whatever Wheeler's intention the latter's statement will be understood by Germany and Japan as meaning that if they can resist long enough and kill enough American soldiers, the will of the American people to achieve a complete victory will be broken and a negotiated peace can be secured.

Lashing back, Wheeler said he did not know for whom Stettinius spoke unless it was for "those few wealthy with whom he formerly was associated."

"Certainly he does not speak for the mothers and fathers of America," the Montanan continued.

Not For Whole People

"No, I don't speak for the American people but I dare say I speak for more people than does Mr. Stettinius."

Wheeler recalled the plan, attributed to Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau, to impose a peace that would reduce Germany to basically an agricultural country.

"I say now that the statement attributed to Mr. Morgenthau has cost the lives of many, many American boys," he continued.

"Mr. Stettinius knows that we are in a position where we must submit to the dictates of Russia on the one hand and Britain on the other.

"I have never urged a negotiated peace. If we laid down the terms for peace and the German people accepted them, that would not be a negotiated peace but a dictated peace."

Soviet Publication Hits Press Freedom

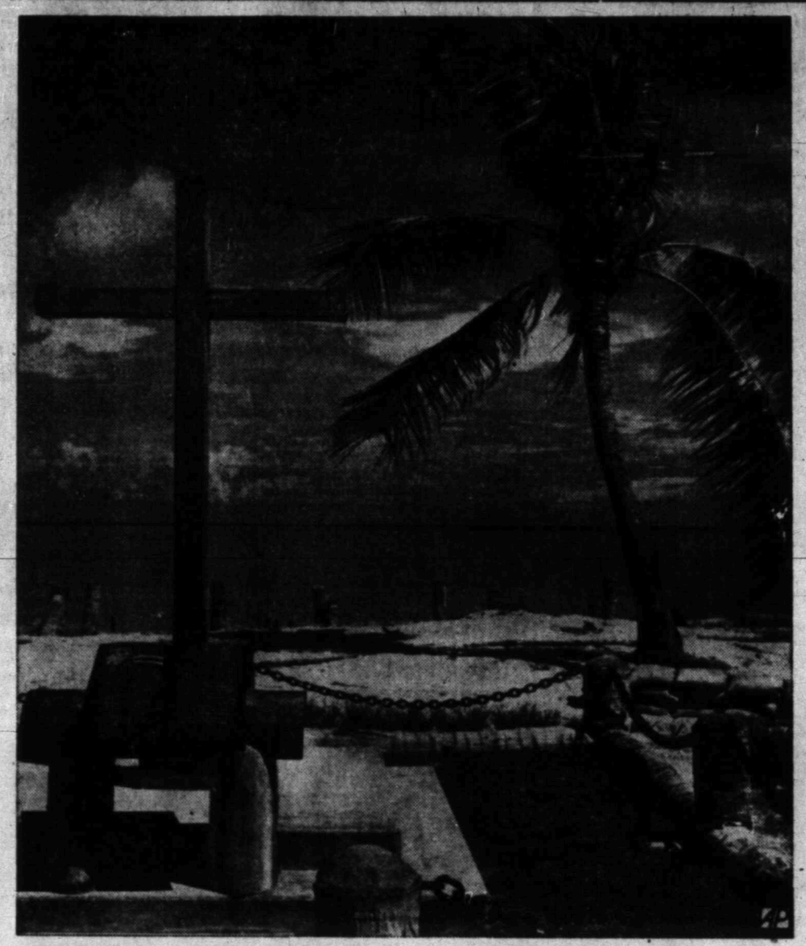

LONDON, Jan. 6. (AP)—The Soviet publication, War and the Working Class, has published an open letter disagreeing with the world freedom of the press campaign inaugurated by Kent Cooper executive director of the Associated Press, a CBS broadcast from Moscow said today.

George Moorad of CBS, in a broadcast heard by the Soviet monitor, reported that the magazine's letter to Cooper said, in effect, "you mind your own business and we will mind ours."

The magazine took the position, Moorad said, that the Russians "do not insist upon their type of press in the bourgeois countries, and they do not expect our ideas on freedom to be thrust upon Russia."

Cooper has been campaigning to insure free access to news at its sources throughout the world, together with equal transmission rates for all, as a means of promoting international understanding and averting future wars.

He has proposed, also, that free press clauses be written into the coming peace treaties, with the same aims in view.

Service Journal Asks For Russia To Strike

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6 (AP) — The Army and Navy Journal, recalling Marshal Stalin's 1942 call for a second front in western Europe, asserted today that "now that we are struggling with a strong counter-offensive it would be helpful for the Red armies to strike through Poland."

The unofficial service publication said:

"If nothing be done until Budapest is occupied and safeguard, Hitler will be free to reinforce Rundstedt and thus delay our invasion of the reich.

"Dispersion of troops in pursuit of special interests always has been disapproved by our government."

FDR Tax Plan Hits Responsive Chord

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6 (AP) — President Roosevelt hit a responsive chord in Congress today with his expressed determination to hold taut the tax line until Germany is beaten.

His proposal to modify business taxes to encourage enterprise and employment after the war in Europe ends is exactly what congressional tax experts have been working on for months.

The joint committee on taxation and revenue—composed of members of the Senate and House—will meet shortly to develop details of the modification inferred by the President in today's message.

Many Men Get First Train Ride In Army

FORT SILL, Okla., Jan. 6. (AP)—"Join the Army and take your first train ride."

The troop movement division at Fort Sill's field artillery replacement training center said approximately 65 per cent of the men who have entered the Army there recently had never been aboard a train until Uncle Sam started moving them around.

contribution to the war effort.

"The boards were informed that Army physical standards to be applied to these men will be drastically lower and those under which men are inducted for general military service."

Local boards will be directed henceforth to call up for induction not only specified numbers of registrants for general service, but at the same time "specified numbers of men who do not meet the physical standards for general service but who are acceptable for military service under the lower standards because they left the jobs for which they were deferred without local board permission," it was stated.

"Men in the 18 through 37 age group are equally liable for service in the armed forces," the announcement stated. "Deferments are granted not for the benefit of the individual, but in the interest of the nation as a whole.

"National welfare demands strict interpretation of the provisions of the act that no deferment shall continue when the reason for the deferment ceases to exist."

Leaving Employment

Local boards were instructed to classify as 1-A, 1-A-O or 4-E any class-2 registrant who voluntarily leaves the employment for which he was deferred, unless it has been determined in advance that the change is in the best interest of the war effort or that there are adequate personal or family reasons justifying the transfer.

The provisions were not made binding upon veterans honorably discharged form the Army or Navy, and provision was made for other registrants whose job transfer could be justified for special reasons.

The local boards were instructed that they could accept a United States Employment service referral card as evidence that a job switch would be in the interest of the war effort.

Selective Service estimated there were approximately 4,256,000 registrants in classes 2-A and 2-B, and about 847,000 persons in classes 2-AL, 2-AF, 2-BL and 2-BF.

Only After "Skippers"

It was understood that draft boards would not be required to fill these special quotas if "job-skippers" were not available; in other words, if the action produces the desired deterrent effect, few men will be inducted under it.

It also was disclosed unofficially that the Army would not take men with defects which obviously disqualify them for any form of military service.

The Army announced that physically sub-standard men who are inducted under tonight's order will be "placed in assignments best suited to their physical condition." Presumably this would include work battalions, clerical posts, K. P., etc.

Meantime Chairman May (D-Ky) introduced for the House Military committee a "work or fight" measure aimed at all men between 18 and 45.

Cops Don't Like Army Officer's Booby Trap

SAN ANTONIO, Jan. 6 (UP) — Booby traps, with dynamite for the explosive, were set for prowlers by a young Army lieutenant, who was so pleased with his handiwork he informed the police of it. The police told the lieutenant that he could not play war so realistically.

The lieutenant replied: "Aw, they wouldn't hurt much. They were just little pieces of dynamite."

Sharp Gains Are Scored In West

fighting raged inside Lierneux, two miles from one of the Germans' two lateral [illegible]

In the Bastogne area, the U. S. Third Army broke up [illegible] ed German counterattack by artillery fire. The Third earlier made a two-mile gain in north Luxembourg east of Bastogne.

Nazis Lose 100,000

Supreme headquarters announced that the Germans had lost at least 100,000 soldiers killed, wounded or captured since they launched their offensive Dec. 16, and said that Allied losses—mostly Americans—were nowhere near as heavy.

At least 865 of the 900 tanks with which the Germans drove into Belgium and Luxembourg have been knocked out and 22,000 prisoners have been captured, headquarters said.

Field Marshal Karl von Rundstedt's bold shift of armor into the deepest recesses of his Belgian positions apparently weakened the roof, for front dispatches said the U. S. First Army struck soft spots among the hard cores of resistance on the north and made gains of more than a mile.

Armor Reaches Crossroads

While von Rundstedt was driving the British from Bure, five miles south of Rochefort, the U. S. Third Armored division—one of the authors of the St. Lo breakthrough—pounded up to a crossroads near Fraiture, 25 miles northeast of Bure.

Fraiture is only a half-mile from the northernmost of two main east-west highways on which the Germans must rely for the bulk of their reinforcements and supply.

(Late German broadcasts reported that the Americans had punched breaches in the lines along the northern flank.)

Northern Front Alive

Eight miles west of Fraiture, another St. Lo veteran outfit, the U. S. Second Armored division mopped up Devantave, four miles north of the enemy road center of La Roche. Here the Germans threw in strong armored forces.

All along the northern front the U. S. First Army was on the move in the snow, cold and fog which denied it air support, striking with at least six divisions and part of a seventh.

Five miles west of Lierneux, the doughboys captured Odiegna, also two miles from the highway.

The British were running into the stoutest opposition, but the Germans also were throwing in countless smaller counter-attacks against the First Army.

Von Rundstedt's decision to commit his armor in the deepest portion of the bulge at a time when the Allies were drawing the lines tighter at the 12-mile wide waist was a puzzler and a high Army officer declared tonight it was "both unmilitary and unlike von Rundstedt."

Uncommitted Reserves

However, the skilled German marshal was known to have reserves as yet uncommitted although 30 divisions have been identified.

The U. S. Third Army, stalled in an attempt to close the pincers north of Bastogne, lashed out both east and west of Bastogne after belting back six more counter-blows yesterday.

Thirteen miles east of Bastogne the 80th division crossed the Sure river and in a two-mile advance captured Goesdorf and pressed on into Dahl, two miles south of the northern Luxembourg strongpoint of Wiltz.

Thirteen miles west of Bastogne, other Third army troops cut a lateral road and reached a point but two miles east of St. Hubert, at the southwestern corner of von Rundstedt's Belgian positions.

Better In Northeast

The situation in northeastern France, critical yesterday, turned better today as front dispatches said the rallying Seventh Army had cut off the tip of the German push at Wingen, nine and a half miles south of the Maginot line stronghold of Bitche.

There, where the Germans had punched to within 12 miles of the vital Saverne gap, 500 of the enemy were trapped in a ring of steel, Associated Press correspondent Robert Wilson said.

(German broadcasts, on the contrary, claimed a maximum penetration of 12½ miles south of Bitche, which would put them only eight and a half miles from Saverne.)

Force Disposed Of

Supreme headquarters in its communique said this force had been "virtually disposed of."

Fighting still raged in Gambsheim, eight miles north of Strasbourg, and at Offendorf, two miles farther north, where the Germans had crossed the Rhine in battalion strength.

A number of west bank Rhine villages overrun by the Germans in this sector were recaptured, indicating the Americans were trying to cut in behind the Germans in the two towns.

A force of 400 Germans was hemmed in and mopped up only five miles north of Strasbourg.

Seventh Lashes Back

The Seventh, lashing against the flanks of the Bitche breakthrough, captured bitterly-defended Philippsbourg, eight miles southeast of Bitche. Eastward to the Rhine only small enemy patrol action was reported.

It was disclosed that the 18th Airborne corps and the U. S. Fifth and the Seventh corps were now in action in Belgium.

Divisions identified with the First Army were the Second and Third Armored, the 82nd Airborne, the 13th, 83rd, 84th and part of the 75th Infantry. The 84th, composed mostly of men from California, Arkansas, Georgia, Texas and Louisiana was with the U. S. Ninth Army and with the British at the capture of Geilenkirchen.

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 5. (AP) — With all forms of racing now banned, 2,711 customers wagered $44,279 on the jai alai games to set a new season's high, the previous high was $36,295.

News Briefs

An automobile was stolen Saturday night from the used car lot of Scoggin-Dickey Motor company, 1009 Ave. J, police were informed. The car is of gun-metal color and bears Texas license 968-014. The lot is located immediately north of the company's building.

The parents of a three-year-old Lubbock girl Saturday night asked press cooperation in expressing appreciation to two unknown men who assisted in taking the little girl to West Texas hospital after she was hit by a car and knocked to the pavement Saturday afternoon at Texas Ave. and Broadway. The child, Mary DeShazo, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. DeShazo of 2612 Twenty-fifth, received only minor bruises and cuts and was able to return to her home after receiving emergency treatment. The mother said the youngster was hit by a car driven by a Mrs. Bob Rogers, whose address was not known. The men picked up the child and put her in Mrs. Rogers' car in which she was taken to the hospital. Mary had dashed into the street before her mother could grasp her.

cars, the supplemental bulletin said. On that battlefront Friday the enemy lost 60 tanks, the regular communique said, making a total of 240 knocked out since the German counteroffensive began on that front. On all fronts Friday the Germans lost 130 tanks, Moscow said.

In flaming Budapest itself, the communique reported capture by the Russians of another 173 blocks Saturday and said prisoners taken Friday numbered 1,630.

Police Training School Planned

A police training school for members of the Lubbock police department, other local law enforcement officers and peace officers of other sections of the South Plains will be conducted here beginning Thursday, it was announced Saturday by Chief of Police Don Reeder.

The school, which will be held two days a week for six weeks, will be operated in conjunction with the Dallas bureau of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. Instructors will be Dean R. Morley, special agent in charge of the Dallas office, and FBI agents from Washington, Reeder said.

Subjects Offered

The following subjects will be offered:

Defensive tactics and mechanics of arrest; jurisdiction of state and federal agencies; fingerprints; casting; introduction to laboratory; testifying in court; firearms training, demonstration; Texas laws of arrest, search and seizure; traffic law enforcement; public relations; evidence; juvenile control; confessions and signed statements; burglary investigations.

"The school will include the usual lecture type of teaching but there will be a concentration on practical demonstrations and actual practice on the part of those officers in attendance," Reeder said.

Part of Texas Program

Reeder pointed out that the school would be a part of the program of training being carried on in Texas by chiefs of police and sheriffs with the cooperation of the FBI. "These training schools have available the benefits of the experience of the FBI National Policy academy, whichis operated in Washington for the training of police executives and instructors."

Classes will be held in the corporation courtroom of the police station.

64 Jap Planes Shot Down Over China

CHUNGKING, Jan. 6. (AP) — Three missions over central and south China yesterday netted 64 Japanese aircraft destroyed, eight probably destroyed and 24 damaged by aircraft of the U. S. 14th air force, a communique said today.

The bulk of these were accounted for by fighters of the Chinese-American wing. They destroyed 10 in aerial combat during attacks on airfields at Hankow and Wuchang, the communique said, and 29 enemy fighters and 10 bombers parked on the fields.

On Hainan island fighters destroyed 10 enemy planes.

Extra School Money Must Be Used 1944-45

AUSTIN, Jan. 6 (UP)—The extra $4 voted as a per capita scholastic grant to school districts by the State Board of Education last summer must be included in the 1944-45 budget of school districts, the attorney general's department today advised Lavaca county.

The county received the money last August and expended it before beginning of the 1944-45 school term.

The $4 was paid in addition to the usual $25 per scholastic grant when it was found the available school fund was sufficient for the addition.

that will provide jobs.

The administration policy is to rely on private enterprise as much as possible to provide jobs, and, he said, close to 60,000,000 jobs will be needed.

Business must operate without "the stifling presence of monopolies and cartels."

Small enterprises must have adequate peace time opportunities.

The government should assume responsibility for part of any special risk in financing new peace time productive capacity.

Resources of other great river basins should be harnessed as have those of the Tennessee Valley.

Thousands of airports must be constructed and a national highway system overhauled.

The provision of a "decent home for every family is a national necessity."

Expanded Social Security

An expanded social security setup and adequate health and education projects must play essential roles in a program designed to support individual productivity and mass purchasing power.

As he had said he would do, Mr. Roosevelt dealt with aid for French fighting forces, asserting that "we are now about to equip large new French forces with the most modern weapons for combat duty."

Calling the renaissance of the French people and the rise of the French nation one of the year's most heartening events, Mr. Roosevelt said her liberation means that her great influence "will again be available in meeting the problems of peace."

But he gave no hint whether France might be invited to sit in on the prospective meeting he plans with Prime Minister Churchill and Premier Stalin. He has said this meeting will take place after his inauguration Jan. 20.

Foreign Policy Plan

In one field of foreign policy, Mr. Roosevelt made a direct commitment. America, he said, shall not hesitate to use its influence and use it now "to secure so far as is humanly possible the fulfillment of the principles of the Atlantic Charter."

"We have not shrunk from the military responsibilities brought on by this war," he declared. "We cannot and will not shrink from the political responsibilities which follow in the wake of battle."

Diplomats sought to appraise these words in the light of a feeling in some quarters that Russia and Britain have winked at provisions of the charter calling for self-determination of peoples.

Mr. Roosevelt himself said he would not be frank if he did not admit concern about many situations, the Greek and Polish, for example.

Not Simple Problems

"But those situations," he said, "are not as easy or as simple to deal with as some spokesmen, whose sincerity I do not question, would have us believe. We have obligations, not necessarily legal, to the exiled governments, to the underground leaders and to our major allies who came much nearer the shadows than we did.

"We and our allies have declared that it is our purpose to respect the right of all peoples to choose the form of government under which they will live and to see sovereign rights and self-government restored to those who have been forcibly deprived of them. But with internal dissention, with many citizens of liberated countries still prisoners of war or forced to labor in Germany, it is difficult to guess the kind of self-government the people really want."

Poland And Greece

In what may have been a guarded call for eventual plebiscites in both Poland and Greece, the President went on to say that during the interim period this country and the Allies have a duty "to use our influence to the end that no temporary or provisional authorities in the liberated countries block the eventual exercise of the peoples' right freely to choose the government and institutions, under which as free men, they are to live."

The task, he said, isn't helped by stubborn partisanship by opposing internal factions.

Declaring that many of the problems of peace are upon us even while the war continues, the President asserted that the United Nations will go forward vigorously and resolutely in creating a nintegrated world security system.

"The aroused conscience of humanity," he said, "will not permit failure in this supreme endeavor."

Selective Service Change

Coupled with the presidential demand for a Universal Service law was another for amendment of the Selective Service act providing "for the induction of nurses into the armed forces."

Volunteering, Mr. Roosevelt said, has not produced the number of nurses needed. Nurses for the armed services are overworked, he said, yet care and treatment of the sick and wounded have been the best known to medical science.

At least 18,000 more nurses must be obtained for the Army and 2,000 for the Navy, whereas active recruiting has produced only 2,000 volunteers for the Army Nurse corps in eight months.

Urging continued devotion to the tasks of turning out new and old weapons, Mr. Roosevelt declared that "this nation must pay for all those who leave their essential jobs" with the "life's blood of our sons."

This is no time to quit or change to less essential jobs, he said, adding:

"There is an old and true saying that the Lord hates a quitter."

Discussing new armament, the President disclosed that the Army has developed a new tank with a gun more powerful than any yet mounted on a fast vehicle. Thousands will be needed in 1945, he said.

Critical Production

Many critcal production programs with sharply rising needs even now are hampered by a scarcity of manpower, he said. As the Army's most important needs he listed artillery, ammunition, cotton duck, bombs, tires, tanks, heavy trucks and B-29s. Present production of all these is behind requirements, he asserted.

Labor shortages, the President said, also have hampered navy production of bombardment ammunition, rockets, cruisers, carriers and certain types of planes.

A shortage of repair workers and parts, he said, is delaying return of damaged fighting ships to the fleet.

Thus, he went on, national service legislation is needed to assure certain action in meeting manpower needs. He said it would only be used to the extent required by military necessity and that it should provide against loss of retirement and seniority rights and benefits and against any reduction in wages.

Others Join In Appeal

Mr. Roosevelt incorporated in his message a joint letter from War Secretary Stimson and Navy Secretary Forrestal, reinforcing his plea.

They cited the congressional resolutions declaring war on the Axis as pledging all the country's resources to bringing the conflict to a successful conclusion.

"In our considered judgment, which is supported by General marshall and Admiral King," they said, "this requires total mobilization of our manpower by the passage of a National War Service law. The armed forces need this legislation to hasten the day of final victory, and to keep to a minimum the cost in lives."

Mr. Roosevelt gave over a lengthy section of his message to a report on the Allied progress toward ultimate victory.

German Offensive

He took notice of the year-end German offensive in Belgium and noted that "further desperate attempts may well be made to break our lines." The mistake must never be made, he said, of assuming that the Germans are beaten before the last Nazi has surrendered.

Voicing "complete confidence" in Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, the President attributed the speedy recovery against the German counterattack to the fact that a supreme commander completely controls all Allied armies in France.

The history of the generalship of the entire war, he said later on, has been one of "team work and cooperation, of skill and daring."

Yet in all the far flung operations of the armed forces, the Commander-in-chief declared, "the final job, the toughest job, has been performed by the average, easy-going hard-fighting young American who carries the weight of battle on his own shoulders."

To Resume Attack

In Europe, he promised, the attack will be resumed and continued relentlessly until Germany is whipped completely. And as the 79th Congress meets "we have reached the most critical phase of the war."

The President took occasion to correct any misconception about the importance of the Italian front. Some people have underrated it, he said. But valiant forces in Italy are keeping some 20 first-line German divisions and support troops under constant pressure. The pressure, he said, will continue.

At one point, Mr. Roosevelt commented on the success of the Battle of the Atlantic, but said Nazi U-boat activity recently has increased.

of B-29's bombed other industrial and military targets in the area

One Superfortress failed to return and is presumed lost, the announcement said, adding that preliminary reports showed one enemy fighter destroyed, five probably destroyed and three damaged. Fighter and anti-aircraft opposition was "moderate," the communique said.

Bombing of the aircraft plant was by instrument and results could not be observed.

Earlier in the day, a Japanese broadcast had reported that 70 or 80 Superfortresses hit Kyushu in what the enemy described as "blind bombing," with "extremely light" damage done.

SMALL CAROLINE ISLAND IS TAKEN OVER BY YANKS

U. S. PACIFIC FLEET HEADQUARTERS, Pearl Harbor, Jan. 6. (AP)—Another American landing in the Pacific, on tiny Fais island in the western Carolinas on Jan. 2, was announced by Pacific fleet headquarters today.

The Carolinas have long since been by-passed in the westward surge of American forces and the invasion, merely mentioned in today's communique, was a mopping up operation.

Fais island, a mile and a half long, is some 35 to 55 miles east of American held Ulithi atoll and 170 miles east of Yap island.

The communique said the invasion by Army infantry met slight resistance. Eight Japanese were killed and six captured. Three Americans were killed and six wounded.

After his conviction at Plainview he was removed to the penitentiary. His parole was revoked the day after the Hunt murders, after he had been arrested at Galveston.

His conviction at Plainview was strictly on circumstantial evidence. Only one witness placed him in Littlefield the night of the slayings, but several said he had been in Amarillo the day before and late the morning afterward, and said he had borrowed and returned an Amarilloan's automobile at times that could have made it possible for him to have gone to Littlefield.

Abilene Woman Shot To Death

CHINO, Calif., Jan. 6. (AP) — A formal inquest will be held Tuesday in the death of Mrs. Eleanor Schmid of Abilene, Tex., who was found shot to death at the home of Dr. and Mrs. F. M. Brennan here.

Mrs. Schmid, 23, was the wife of Dr. Carl Schmid, now with the U. S. army in Belgium. Her body was found yesterday, shot through the temple.

Dr. Brennan is a Chino veterinarian. Coroner R. E. White said that Dr. Richard W. Winters of Fort Worth, Tex., told him he flew with Mrs. Schmid from Texas to Chino Dec. 31 for a visit with Dr. Brennan, friend of Mrs. Schmid since college days. White said Dr. Winters also had known Dr. Brennan for years.

Bullet Hole In Temple

White said Dr. Winters told him he and Dr. Brennan had been to nearby Fontana. They returned home early yesterday morning, Dr. Winters said, and shortly afterwards heard a shot. They rushed into a bedroom to find Mrs. Schmid seated in a chair, a bullet hole in her temple, White reported them as saying.

In Abilene, Mrs. Eleanor DeVoll, Mrs. Schmid's mother, said her daughter had telephoned her Thursday night saying she planned to start home yesterday. Mrs. Devoll said money for her return trip was telegraphed to Mrs. Schimd by an Abilene bank. She said her daughter had left her home in Abilene last Friday night.

Former TSCW Student

Mrs. Schmid is a former student at Texas State College for Women at Denton and McMurry college at Abilene. She married Capt. Schmid Nov. 13, 1941. Survivors include her husband and mother and two children, Gay, 2, and Carlene, eight months, and her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Young of Abilene.

Dr. Winters is laboratory director of the Texas State Livestock Sanitary commission and lives in Fort Worth. He has been with the commission since Nov. 15, transferring from the State Health department where he had been employed since his graduation from Texas A. and M. college in 1944. Unmarried, he is a former resident of Brady, Tex., where his parents live.

WOMAN MADE TRIP TO BOOST MOTHER'S MUSIC

FORT WORTH, Jan. 6. (AP) — Mrs. Eleanor Schmid of Abilene had gone to California to try to get some of her mother's music played by "big name" bands, the mother, Mrs. Eleanor DeVoll of Abilene, told the Star-Telegram today.

Mrs. DeVoll said four tunes had been turned over to Harry James' orchestra several months ago and the daughter had intended to see the band leader while on the trip to see the Rose Bowl football game.

Mrs. Schmid said she had some "good news" when she called Mrs. DeVoll Thursday night to say she had been delayed and would fly home Sunday.

Mrs. DeVoll was divorced in September from Cal Devoll, musician at radio station KGKO here and composer of several published songs.

Arabian King Joins Pan-Arab Movement

CAIRO, Jan. 6. (AP)—Ibn Saud, the king of Saudi Arabia, has reversed his previous position and agreed to participate actively with other Moslem nations in an effort to organize a pan-Arab federation, high Egyptian political quarters said today.

The alignment of Saudi Arabia with the other Arab nations would give a powerful impetus to the pan-Arab movement, which seeks to formulate a common policy for all Moslem areas.

War Job No Draft Bar For Germans

PARIS, Jan. 6 (AP)—Employment in an essential industry evidently is no grounds today for draft deferment in Germany.

Some German prisoners captured yesterday in the battle in the Belgian bulge said they were aircraft inspectors in Messerschmitt plants only a few weeks ago.

New U. S. Tank Gun Most Powerful Made

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6 (UP) — The American Army now has developed a new tank with a gun more powerful than any yet mounted on a fast-moving vehicle, President Roosevelt revealed in his state of the nation message today.

The President said the Army "will need many thousands of these new tanks," in 1945.

Mangrum Ties At Top In Los Angeles Open

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 6 (AP) — Slim Ray Mangrum, Los Angeles pro out of the big time golf tournament picture of late, and Defending Champion Harold McSpaden, were deadlocked for first place at the end of 36 holes today in the 72-hole Los Angeles Open. They posted two round totals of 140, two under par at the halfway mark.

Crack shot Sam Snead, tournament favorite, had an excellent chance to jump to the forefront. He blew it on the back nine, finished with a par 71 for a total of 142.

In the first round, when McSpaden tied with Sam Byrd, Detroit, he had a 34-36. He reversed the figures today. Byrd, incidentally, dropped back to a 72 and a tie with Snead, Leland Gibson, of Randolph Field, Tex., and George Schneiter, Salt Lake City.

PROFIT CASHING STALLS CLIMB

NEW YORK, Jan. 6 (AP)—The stock market today finished one of its rare weeks in several years on a slightly sour profit cashing note.

While scattered favorites contested the trend successfully, the general direction was downward from the start, the closing losses of fractions to a point or more predominated.

Today Omnibus Corp. and Fajardo Sugar were up 1 and 3 points, respectively, both in the "new high" division. Modest improvement was shown for American Telephone, N. Y. Central, Southern Railway, Chrysler, Kennecott and Texas Co. A loss of 3¾ points was recorded for Allied Chemical. Lesser casualties were Southern Pacific, Northern Pacific, U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, Westinghouse, U. S. Rubber, Eastman Kodak, Douglas Aircraft, Sears Roebuck and Standard Oil (NJ).

Among curb advances were Ashland Oil, Sonotone, Cities Service and United Cigar-Whelan. The aggregate here was 229,730 shares versus 260,280 a week ago.

Farm Census To Begin January 15 In Seven-County Lubbock Area

The 1945 census of agriculture, which will provide the first complete statistical picture of the changes in agriculture throughout the nation brought about by the war, will get under way in Lubbock and six other counties immediately following a school for enumerators to be held here Thursday, Friday and Saturday, it has been announced by Wilburn S. Patrick, supervisor of this work in the 19th congressional district.

The school will be held from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. each day in room 128 of the Agricultural building at Texas Technological college, Patrick said, and workers from Lubbock, Cochran, Crosby, Hockley, Lynn, Terry and Yoakum counties will attend. Other schools being conducted in the district are at Plainview, Aspermont and Lamesa. William C. Sparks of Tyler, area supervisor, will be here for at least part of the school.

Trained In Methods

Enumerators, who will be trained in methods of gathering census data by the Bureau of Census of the U. S. Department of Commerce, will set out Jan. 15 to visit every farm and ranch in the seven counties. The Bureau of Census hopes to complete the enumeration in January and February.

Farmers and ranchers are urged to be ready to answer enumerators' questions. Those who may feel hesitant about answering some of the census questions can be assured that the information they give will be used for no other purpose than the census compilations. Only sworn census employes will see the records for any individual farm, and these employes will be liable to fine or imprisonment if they tell a neighbor or anyone else about a farmer's operations. The record for a farm cannot be used for tax purposes, to regulate a farmer, or to investigate him, Patrick said, adding that the law forbids it.

Census questions have been prepared by the Department of Commerce, through the help of farm organizations and the Department of Agriculture.

Questions Described

Questions the enumerator will ask will be about the owner, the operator, the acreage of the farm and the value of the land and buildings, and the use of the land in 1944. There will be questions about the number of each type of livestock on the farm on Jan. 1, 1945, and the value of livestock products sold last year. Other questions will concern the cost of feed bought in 1944, the value of products consumed by households of the farm on which they were produced, the number of boys and girls under 14 and the number of people over 14 living on the farm; also the number of family workers and hired laborers and the total cash paid in 1944 for farm labor.

Certain questions should give a good picture of the need for farm-home improvements that will be available after the war. The enumerators will ask whether the farm home has electricity, running water, a radio and a telephone, how far the home is from an electric line, how far it is from an all-weather road, how many motor trucks, tractors and automobiles there are on the farm and the value of farm implements and machinery.

Also there will be questions relating to the acreage, production and value of crops.

Data Will Help Farmer

The farmer might ask, "what good will all this do?"

The information obtained by the enumerators will help the farmer eventually. He may never study any of the statistical data that will be made up from the answers to the census questions, but they will be the basis for a lot of the agricultural information he will read and hear on the radio or get from the county agricultural sources, Patrick pointed out.

Some trade associations and farm organizations distribute national, state and county census figures to their members or use them to make business forecasts of local markets. The individual farmer can use the census to locate such items as seed supplies. Old and new farmers alike can use the figures to judge the desirability of moving to a certain community.

More Information Expected

Patrick added that the 1945 census will provide more information than ever before on the people who live and work on farms. It will present a more complete picture, too, of part-time farming and of the trend in the size of individual farming units and the extent to which they are operated by machinery.

Workers will be paid on the basis of the number of farms they enumerate. They must agree to enumerate every farm in their assigned district and may not combine this with other work.

Enumerators must furnish their own cars and car expense, but gasoline coupons will be made available for them.

Persons who wish to apply for enumeration work may contact Patrick or Carlos Reynolds, assistant supervisor, by writing the Bureau of Census, agricultural building, Texas Technological college, or by calling 2-1751.

ON SECOND FRONT—Sgt. Eugene Walters, of Mansfield, Ohio, armor crew chief on a B-24 bomber, knows how badly the services need equipment, so when he recently got a 15-day furlough from March Field, Calif., he spent a week of it riveting engine mounts for the new Douglas A-26 attack bomber, at Westinghouse Electric's Mansfield, Ohio, plant. Enlisting a year before Pearl Harbor, Sgt. Walters served in the China-Burma-India theater and invasions of North Africa and Sicily. He has previously spent his Army leaves working in a West Coast airplane plant and a steel mill.

Regrouping Seen As Temporary

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6. (AP)—Belief that regrouping of the northern armies in western Europe under British Field Marshal Montgomery is a temporary arrangement was expressed here today by informed military students.

They agreed, however, that it was possible the operation might prove sufficiently satisfactory to be made permanent.

Their view was that Montgomery was first given the command because the Allied leaders, at that time, feared the Germans would slash to the channel and split our forces.

Feared Isolation

In retrospect, some Washington military men described the situation thusly:

A German smash to the channel would have isolated the Canadian First, the British Second, the American Ninth and the bulk of the American First army from the remainder of the Allied expeditionary force in the south.

The Allied command decided a separate army group under a single commander should be established.

Lt. Gen. Omar Bradley, commanding the 12th army group which embraced the First and Ninth armies, had no assurance that he could maintain direct communication with or could go to his northern armies.

The regrouping appeared to be entirely for the purpose of coordination and control and should not be considered as a reprimand for Bradley, military men said.

The Woman's Angle
By Margaret Turner

A prominent divorce judge recently confided that his years of experience prove one fact: most divorces are caused by women succumbing to what the males claim is our most serious error—talking too much. A slip of the lip can do more than sink a ship!

FUN WITH BOOKS — The Saturday Review of Literature really started something when it printed a parody on Joyce Kilmer's poem about trees. Jan Struther, author of "Mrs. Miniver," wrote it, and this is what she said:

"I'll never see, where'er I roam
A tree as lovely as a pome.
A tree is just a thing that growed—
But only man can make an ode."

QUITE properly Betty Smith, author of "A Tree Grows in Brooklyn," which was a Literary Guild selection last year and is being made into a movie this year, replied in kind:

"I'd rather say I hated fleas
Than be like youse what runs down trees
Where'd I be, I'd like to know
If e'er in Brooklyn no tree did grow!"

LT. "STOOKIE" ALLEN

A talented former cartoonist and staff artist on the Los Angeles Herald-Express, the player who started the unchanged tradition that Texas A. and M. can't win from the Texas Longhorns in the latter's stadium, Lt. Ben Dave (Stookie) Allen, Texan, has won recent acclaim for his vivid sketches of battle field scenes in Europe where he is serving with the 1106th Combat Engineers. Word of the Texan's success is especially gratifying to his Lubbock friends and to his aunt, Mrs. S. C. Simon, 1701 Thirty-second, whom Stookie visited during many summer vacations.

Lt. Allen has sent samples of his work to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Allen, of Corsicana. Several of the sketches already have been reproduced in newspapers and others will illustrate articles on the artist's life to appear soon in national magazines.

The former football player, artist and cartoonist is a grandson of C. C. Shirley, pioneer stock farmer of Crosby county, and he attended Lorenzo public schools for a short time. His wife is Gladys Parker, originator of the Flapper Fanny cartoon and now a dress designer in Hollywood.

In 1924, Stookie, a "third-stringer" on the Texas football team, caught a batted pass and ran for the only score of the game, enabling the Longhorns to establish a tradition that has not been upset since. Twenty years ago, however, he was better known for his artistry with a pencil than on the gridiron.

TRIP TO MEXICO

A number of Texas clubwomen will go to Mexico City the latter part of this month and during February on a goodwill trip, which Mrs. Volney Taylor, Brownsville, chairman of the sponsoring committee, TFWC department of International Relations, terms will "build a better understanding, a unity of purpose that may be the basis for peace and postwar plans for our countries."

A check has failed to uncover the names of any Lubbock or South Plains clubwomen who will make the trip which, according to a daily calendar outlined in the current Federation News, will consist of various social events, the most outstanding being a luncheon on the Hotel Majestic roof garden with women of Mexico City as hostesses. During the nine days side trips will be made to the Pyramids, Cholula, Puebla, Toluca, Taxco and other places of interest.

How delightful it will be for the women to make this excursion to the landmarks of Mexico's dramatic past, but even as we read of the arrangements we were asking ourself "Is that trip really necessary?"

Promotion of hemispheric solidarity, one of the purposes of the pilgrimage, is well and good but an all-out effort to help our servicemen and their Allies to win in this world conflict is much more important. Sightseeing trips can come later.

Texas clubwomen have postwar planning committee projects outlined in full on another page of the magazine. But they have overlooked one major item: the war must first be won. It seems to The Woman's Angle they could do well to arouse women to the urgent need for their active participation in war work. Unless we are victors in this war, those plans aren't going to be worth a dime.

Office of Defense Transportation has all but begged people while on bended knees to stay at home, hotels find it impossible to accommodate travelers on necessary journeys and preparation of institutional meals is a great worry. Clubwomen can help by staying at home and tending to their Red Cross knitting and helping to promote a better understanding between temporary residents and native Texans.

Let's go to Mexico, sure but let's go when times are normal and when we can afford to offer hospitality in return to our Mexican neighbors.

"Buy A War Bond TODAY"

Howdy Folks:

Well I really had a surprise when I visited the Decorators Studio Friday. I thought we were through with Christmas but when I looked in the back door I saw so many packages that I decided it was just now time for it. After inquiring, however, I found that they were mostly wedding gifts—there were a few birthday gifts and even some belated Christmas gifts. Ruth had spent two full days doing nothing but wrapping.

Josie Lee had gone to Louisiana for a visit, Jean was ill and the only ones, I could find were Ruth, Fredda, Alma and H. A. They wouldn't pay me much attention and about all I could find out about activities at the Studio were tha many people are aking my advise and begininng on those spring changes of draperies, slip covers, wall paper and carpets. The Straw Boss told me Aunt Todda (Fredda) is busy figuring and doesn't want to be disturbed—I found out seh was figuring new decoration jobs coming up and her Mommie was trying to balance her books which is always a pleasant job.

Captain and Mrs. John Hunt are the proud parents of a son. You will remember her as the former Ruth Taylor who worked at the Studio several years. Congratulations to the Hunts.

No complaints come from Captain Nathan B. Eubank who is now over-sea but he still like the good old American ways of living. Red is seeing all there is to see and at same time we are sure he is doing a splendid work in the capacity he is now serving.

We know of a druggist from down south who played a darn good game of golf last Thursday. He sort of took one of his New Mexico friends by surprise and we also know of a certain Lubbock business man who couldn't play a lick last Sunday. He had better quit working so hard and brush up on his golf.

Next week I'll give you the low down on the Studio. Till then,

So long,

A Vital Message To Men Who Feel Old

Why not regain the vim and vitality you once enjoyed?

If life apparently has lost its zest, you again may be able to enjoy life as you did in your youth. If added years have slowed down your vim, vitality and youthful pleasures, here is a simple method that may change your whole outlook on life. Just ask your druggist for CASELLA stimulating tablets. Take as directed on label. Don't feel old and worn out at 40, 60 or more. Take these tablets regularly until you feel that you have regained the pleasure of living you once enjoyed. Why be discouraged? Why not try CASELLA tablets and regain the verve and zest of a much younger man? There is nothing harmful in these tablets. They contain Celery seed, Thiamin Chloride, Passion Flower, Iron. Ask your doctor or druggist about this formula. Adv

Lubbock Leads State In Cotton

Lubbock county continues to lead the state of Texas in number of bales ginned from the 1944 cotton crop, according to a U. S. Department of Commerce report issued through the Bureau of Census showing number of bales ginned in the state prior to Dec. 13.

Lubbock county, said the report, had ginned 70,876 bales, 12 per cent less than at the same period in 1943. Lynn county still maintained a firm grip on second place with a total of 63,578 bales, 6.7 per cent below that county's total in 1943.

Agricultural authorities express doubt that the 1944 crop will top that of 1943 in Lubbock county, but agree that it should total more than 80,000. One observer said that if all the cotton in the county could be harvested the crop would run better than 90,000 bales, well over the 1943 total of 84,602, but since farmers have begun sledding much of the cotton is lost. Too, some farmers have abandoned all efforts to harvest the remainder of their crops due to the labor shortage.

Area Total 388,647 Bales

A total of 388,647 bales had been ginned from the 1944 crop in the 15 South Plains counties. This total is 17.2 per cent less than the 1943 total of 469,048. The state total of 2,156,952 bales was 17.7 per cent under the 2,620,417 total in 1943.

Four of the South Plains counties have shown increases over 1943, the report showed. Terry county, with 29,510 bales, showed an increase of 11.3 per cent over the 1943 total of 26,181; Bailey county, with 17,956, showed an increase of 7.9 per cent over the 16,540 total in 1943; Cochran county, 13,096, an increase of 27.3 per cent over 9,523 in 1943; Gaines county, 5,136, an ingrease of 16.6 per cent over 4,286 in 1943.

The following tabulation shows ginnings prior to Dec. 13, 1944 and 1943 in 15 South Plains counties and the percentage of increase or decrease.

"Buy A War Bond TODAY"

DEAR Louella: Ex-Westerners visiting high school recently were Cpl. Tom Lokey, Bobby Campbell, U. S. Navy, and Joe L. Thompson, Navy fireman 1/c. Bobby is home from San Francisco and Joe L. is stationed in Crane, Ind. . . . Sgt. L. A. Kerr, jr., a technician stationed in a hospital in England, wrote his mother, Mrs. L. A. Kerr, sr., of Lubbock to buy an engagement ring for him to give Lt. Helen Reed of Wheeling, W. Va., who is stationed in the same hospital as an Army nurse. L. A., who was a pre-med student at Tech before the war, and Helen sailed on the same boat in Sept., 1943. They plan to marry after the war. . . . Pfc. Willie Joe James, U. S. Marine Corps, is here visiting Kirby John Steadman and the two have been having a "plenty good time." Willie Joe has been stationed in Port Corvallis, Ore. He lived here before entering the service.

For New Year's, Anna Jo Stringer received a corsage of 10 pink roses from Pvt. Wyle Bullock who is stationed in Germany. Wyle is a former Tech student. . . . Lewis Willeford is wearing a new wedding band and we understand he obtained it in Fort Worth during the Holidays. . . . Marshall Rhea called Jean Peeler long distance three times and wrote her two letters during the holidays. She explained that he was lonesome. . . . Mary Wells and Pat Blount reported a very wonderful time when they returned to school from Oklahoma City. Mary spent Christmas and New Years with Pat and his parents. . . . T. M. Cox, Jay Kerr and Fred "Jiggs" Jackson have been talking about their rip-roaring time in Oklahoma City while the Red Raiders were there for the basketball games. . . . Bill Quinn says his knees are still shaking because he came so close to getting engaged while he was home. He said "she almost talked me into it."

Here And There

Raymond Swafford, U. S. Navy, stationed in Norman, Okla. was here for a few days to visit with his folks. Sarah Scroggins, his fiancee, was very happy those days he was home. . . . Earlyne Reid wasn't ready for classes to begin again since she had so much fun in Big Spring during the college vacation. Lt. Charles Hogue brought her back to school. . . . The sparkler on Edy Hill's third finger, left hand, is naturally from Bill Barnett. The wedding is to take place soon after Edy graduates. . . . Dorothy Nell Swanson is another Tech co-ed to return to school with the "all important" diamond ring. Her ring is from a lieutenant called "Moe," in Lincoln, Nebr. . . . Jane "Dodo" Domingo has finally said "yes" to the lieutenant she has been keeping in suspense. The wedding is scheduled for February. . . . Mary Alice "Snookie" Bell was entertaining her very nice looking boyfriend, Cpl. Taylor Dameron of Rankin. Taylor was enroute to Lincoln, Nebr. . . . Ens. Billy Boston, ex-Wrangler, has been visiting the campus and keeping Billie Grace Webb busy with many dates. . . . For the second time, someone has taken the lock off of the main door of Women's Dormitory No. 2. . . . Jane Charlotte Weddington greeted her most recent caller, a lieutenant, as if he were a long lost friend.

DORTHA MOORE is so proud of the beautiful pearls sent her by her "one and only," Dick Clardy . . . Ex-engineer, Al Pierce, who was stationed on Tech campus, is expected to arrive soon for a visit with Alice Bell . . . Sharon "Sherry" McIver received a very special call from Hobbs, Friday . . . Glynna Ross is so happy when she is talking about her trip to San Diego, Calif. to see former Techsan and Socii, Ted White. Ted's mother accompanied her. When Glynna and Ted were at the Pacific Square, dancing to Harry James and his orchestra they ran into the former Wanda Fuller and her husband. Wanda was a Ko Shari and attended school the first part of this fall semester . . . Jimmy Peden and R. L. Heith seemed pleased to get back to school. Maybe because they missed Johnny Belcher and Peggy Lewis.

Frances Cloninger, beautiful Las Chap pledge, has an engagement ring from her home town boyfriend . . . We understand Cliff Young and Dorothy Clifton have marriage plans in mind . . . Residents of both Women's dormitories were eager to get their hands on their two week mail supply which accumulated in their absence. A few girls who hit the "jackpot" were Marne Parrott, Billie Harp, Marion Johnson, Jadene "Bunny" Patterson and Ruth Anthony. Ruth received a number of letters from Richard Storey, former Techsan, and included in Billie's letters was a pair of nylon hose . . . Nathan Morris and Jack Waldrop, ex-Centaurs, came to Lubbock in time for the Centaur's formal dance Saturday night. "Pug" Hammon, another ex-Centaur member, has been visiting the campus . . . All Tech students can't seem to forget that Dead Week begins Monday and then finals the next Monday.

Love,
Lou.

At The USO

Following such a big round of entertainments at the local United Service organization center during the holiday season, everything seems quiet, according to hostesses and canteen workers.

The Iceland ball given New Year's Eve was a huge success. Confetti, horns, paper hats, etc., added to the dance. The orchestra leader was rather surprised when several soldiers got so enthusiastic over his trumpet solo that they almost drowned him out with their own toy horns.

Thanks to Mattie Lou Christian who came to the USO's rescue when it was time to decorate for the Iceland ball. She and her assistants did a fine job of decorating the center as Iceland.

Make This Home Recipe To Take Off Ugly Fat

It's simple. It's amazing, how quickly one may lose pounds of bulky, unsightly fat right in your own home. Make this recipe yourself. It's easy—no trouble at all and costs little. It contains nothing harmful. Just go to your druggist and ask for four ounces of liquid Barcel Concentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill bottle. Then take two tablespoonsful twice a day. That's all there is to it.

If the very first bottle doesn't show you the simple, easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender, more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't just seem to disappear almost like magic from neck, chin, arms, bust, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles, just return the empty bottle for your money back. Follow the easy way endorsed by many who have tried this plan and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly bloat disappears—how much better you feel. More alive, youthful appearing and active. Adv.

Foreign Policy Gun-Jumping Hit

By JACK BELL
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—Senator Connally (D-Tex) has urged Democratic members of the Senate to refrain from making commitments on foreign policy proposals until a new international security conference can be held.

Connally, chairman of the Senate foreign relations committee, arose in the midst of the routine reelection of party officials by the Democratic caucus to voice a plea that members keep an open mind on controversial international questions.

His speech, behind closed doors of the caucus room, was unscheduled.

Questioned about it later, the Texas senator told a reporter he had advised his colleagues "not to run off across the field after a rabbit while the fox is going down the road."

Aimed At Resolution

Although he did not say so, Connally's remarks obviously were directed at efforts now under way by a group of senators to enlist support for a proposed resolution. This would put the Senate on record as favoring immediate organization of a United Nations council to deal with such problems as boundary disputes.

The group, headed by Senators Ball (R-Min) and Hatch (D-NM), both supporters of a presidential fourth term, previously had sought Connally's aid for their proposal.

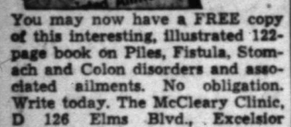

Action Believed Impractical

The committee chairman was reported to have replied that he believed it impractical at this time to seek senatorial action in advance of a forthcoming meeting of the United Nations. Final agreements will be sought at that meeting on the international security organization for which a framework was built at Dumbarton Oaks.

Connally's advice against action at this time was reported to reflect the views of Secretary of State Stettinius, with whom the foreign relations chairman had conferred. On the other hand, there was evidence that Ball and Hatch had received from President Roosevelt at a recent White House conference what they thought was a signal to go ahead with a resolution.

By Majority Vote In House And Senate:

Public Favors New Method Of OK-ing Peace Treaties

By GEORGE GALLUP
American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J., Jan. 6—Majority public opinion in the United States is ready to accept a major reform in the method of ratifying peace treaties, judging by the evidence of a survey just completed by the Institute.

At present the ratification of a formal peace treaty requires a two - thirds vote in the United States Senate. Approval by the House of Representatives is not required. The reform, which is approved by approximately three voters in every five polled, would make peace treaties ratifiable by a simple majority vote of both the Senate and the House.

GALLUP

This idea has, as a matter of fact, been acceptable to the public for a good many months past. Two previous surveys, one published in October, 1943, and the other in May, 1944, both found substantial majorities in favor of the change.

There is a strong likelihood that the issue will be raised for debate in the new session of Congress. Fuller discussion of it may possibly alter the public's present attitude. That remains to be seen. The current opinion is shown by response to the following question:

"When the war is over, it will be necessary for the Allies to decide on peace terms for the Axis. Which one of these three ways would you, personally, favor as the best way to have peace treaties approved after the war?"

The three alternatives given the voters were approval by the President only, approval by the President and a majority of the whole Congress, or approval by the President and two-thirds of the Senate, which is the present method.

The trend of opinion follows:

	Oct. 1943	May 1944	Today
Pres. only	7%	7%	8%
Pres. and maj. of whole Congress	54	60	58
Pres. and two-thirds of Senate	25	19	22
Don't know	14	14	12

The poll was conducted by the same scientific sampling methods used in forecasting President Roosevelt's victory in this year's presidential election with an error of only 1.8 per cent on the national civilian vote.

Education A Factor

Of special interest to students of public opinion are the results of today's study when analyzed according to degree of education of the voters questioned.

People who have had college training and high school training are substantially more in favor of adopting the plan of ratification by the whole Congress than is the case among people who have had only a grade school education. In short, the better informed the voter, the more likely he is to favor this change.

The vote by education levels is as follows:

DEGREE OF EDUCATION	Coll.	High School	Grade School
Pres. only	3%	5%	12%
Pres. and maj. of whole Congress	65	64	52
Pres. and two-thirds of Senate	29	25	19
Don't know	3	6	17

As a further test, the Institute made a separate tabulation of all persons who are correctly informed as to the present method of ratifying treaties — in short people who know that approval by the President and two-thirds of the Senate only is required.

It was found that the correctly-informed group vote a little more in favor of the reform than the average for the whole country. The percentage among the informed is 60 per cent for changing to approval by the President and a majority of both houses of Congress, as compared to 58 per cent for all groups combined.

Gas Rationing Will Go On To War's End

DALLAS, Jan. 6 (U.P.)—District headquarters of the Office of Price administration said today that gasoline rationing would continue for at least two more years, and there would be no removal of restrictions until hostilities have ceased.

According to a bulletin quoting Q. W. Rogestein, Washington chief of the OPA gasoline branch, the United States is the only Allied nation allowing gasoline for civilian use. The military leaders have indicated there will be no reduction of their demand for gasoline at the end of the European war. Increased activiies in the Pacific will use up any slack brought about by the ending of the war in Europe.

Ancient Greek philosophers believed that there was only one chemical element, but didn't agree as to what it was.

South Plains Oil Development Activities . . .

Locations Staked For Wildcats In Lubbock, Borden And Bailey Counties; Cravens Tests For Production

STARTING off the first week of 1945 with a rush the oil exploration activity on the South Plains reported locations for new wildcats in north-central Lubbock, northeast Borden and in west Bailey county.

Another exploration in Lubbock county was testing for possible production, and a petroleum prospector in southeast Gaines county was plugged and abandoned.

The Norwalk company No. 1 W. D. MacMillan, four miles north of Lubbock is slated as a test for pay in the lower Permian. It is located at the center of the northeast quarter of the southeast quarter of section 12, block D-2, and will drill to around 6,300 feet, or possibly deeper.

South of Cravens Test

It is about ten miles south of the Seaboard Oil company of Delaware and Stanolind Oil & Gas company No. 1 Cravens, now swabbing to clean out and test for production above the plugged-back total depth at 6,170 feet, in lime.

The operators expect the section from that level, back up to about 6,000 feet to show its oil producing possibilities in a few days. At the end of the week it was swabbing drilling fluid, about 1,200 feet off bottom, and was getting some slight shows of oil and some puffs of gas. No water had developed at the last report.

Almost on the Borden-Scurry county line, and in the north end of that area, Richfield Oil corporation is moving in rotary rig, and preparing to drill water wells, for No. 1 J. O. Dodson, to be a 3,500 foot wildcat.

Has 9,500-Acre Block

The test will be 660 feet from the east and 1,980 feet from the north lines of section 579, block 97, H&TC survey.

The company has a block of about 9,500 acres in that section, and the location for the wildcat is near the center of the acreage. Humble Oil and Refining company has a block to the east of the Richfield tract and Magnolia Petroleum company has a spread to the west.

El Paso Natural Gas company No. 1 West Texas Mortgage & Loan company, to be 694 feet from the south and 650 feet from the west lines of section 55, block A, MB & B survey, in West Bailey County is proposed as a prospector to at least 7,000 feet.

Has 72,851 Acres In Block

The operator has a block of 72,851 acres surrounding the drillsite, and it is understood that several companies have taken spreads in the tract.

There is geological support for the theory that there is some sort of a sub-surface structure in the area.

Humble Oil and Refining company No. 1 Jackson, southeast Lamb county discovery, in section 119 block A, Thompson survey, has been officially completed as a producer, and reported a 24-hour pumping potential for the Railroad Commission of 248 barrels of oil, plus 98 barrels of water, with gas-oil ratio of 160:1, and gravity of 29 degrees. The oil is from the lower Permian section between 5,348 feet and 6,006 feet.

Swabs 132 Barrels

The Texas company No. 1 Montgomery, central Hockley county discovery, in labor 19, league 70, Val Verde county school land survey, five miles north of production in the Slaughter pool, and about the same distance west of Levelland, continues to test, with the total depth a 4,890 feet in the Permian lime.

The section from 4,744 feet to the total depth had been treated with the second injection of acid. which was 2,000 gallons, after a previous treatment of 4,000 gallons, and on the last production test reported the well swabbed a total of 132 barrels of fluid, of which about 105 barrels was oil, and the remainder was water.

The project has been tested sufficiently to almost prove that it will make a commercial producer, despite the water intrusion. The water has not shown any marked increase and the oil recovery has been holding rather steady in the tests which have so far been made.

Progess In Other Tests

Texas Pacific Coal & Oil company No. 1 Rucker, labor 15, league 43, Rains county school land survey, on the north side of the Slaughter field, and which was dry in the San Andres-Permian, was making hole below 6,589 feet in dry lime. It is headed for around 7,500 feet, unless production is found above that level.

Woodley Petroleum company No. 1 Ellwood, east Hockley county exploration in section 26, block A, Thomason survey, one mile west and one quarter of a mile north of the three wells in the Smyer field, had made hole under 3,581 feet, in anhydrite, and was drilling ahead.

Stanolind Oil & Gas company No. 1 Slaughter, central Cochran county wildcat, in labor 49, league 101, Jeff Davis County school land survey, had progressed below 8,767 feet, and was drilling ahead in lime.

Shut Down For Repairs

Honolulu Oil corporation No. 1-5 Hudson, southeast Cochran county semi-wildcat, in section 5, block P, psl survey, about one mile southwest of Slaughter field production, had penetrated to 500 feet, and was temporarily shut down for machinery repairs, at last report.

Honolulu No. 1 McLane, section 324, block D, John H. Gibson survey, in northeast Yoakum county, had progressed below 7,258 feet, lime, and was drilling ahead.

George P. Livermore, Inc., and Malco Refineries, Inc., No. 1 S. E. Cone, is scheduled as a 5,400-foot exploration, in east Yoakum county—on the northwest side of the proven area in the Ownby field.

The location is 660 feet from the south and east lines of section 488, block D, John H. Gibson survey. It will drill with combination tools and is to start immmediately.

The Plymouth Oil company No. 1 Ruth Bennett, one location north of production on the extreme north side of the Wasson field, in central Yoakum county, and in section 614, block D, John H. Gibson survey, had swabbed for about ten barrels of oil per day natural from pay section at 5,230-80 feet.

Operator was treating that zone with 7,000 gallons of acid in an effort to increase the oil yield.

Rowan Drilling company No. 1 Schumacher, in southeast Gaines county, in labor 2, league 298, Reagan county school land survey, has been plugged and abandoned on a total depth of 5,555 feet, in San Andres-Permian lime.

The test found no indications of oil in any zone.

Shell Oil company, Inc., No. 1 Coombes, section 492, block G, CCSD and RGNG survey, in northwest Gaines county, and a quarter of a mile west of the closest production on the northwest side of the Russell field, was on a total depth of 7,775 feet, in lower Permian lime, and was swabbing to clean out and test, after treating the saturated section with acid.

Swabs 201 Barrels

On last gauge reported the well swabbed 201 barrels of oil in 24 hours, with only five per cent basic sediment, and it was not completely cleaned out at that time.

Humble and Shell No. 1 Fee, southwest Gaines wildcat to 7,500 feet, for pay in the lower Permian, had made hole below 4,508 feet in lime. The project is in section 10, block A-24, psl survey.

Sinclair Prairie Oil company No. 1 Johnson, section 16, block A-28, psl survey, in extreme southwest Gaines, was drilling past 4,256 feet, in lime.

Amerada Petroleum corporation No. 1-A Jones, section 3, block A-6, psl survey, in extreme northwest Gaines, and slated to at least 8,000 feet, had penetrated below 4,271 feet, and was continuing in anhydrite and lime shells.

Bay Petroleum Corporation No. 1 Humble-Cox, in West-Central Gaines, and in section 468, block G, CCSD and RGNG survey, was bottomed at 5,730 feet, in lime, and was temporarily shutdown. It was due to resume operations shortly, and to drill to at least 7,000 feet.

The Texas company No. 1 Higginbotham, labor 16, league 479, Hutchinson county school land survey, in west Dawson county, had reached 3,865 feet, in anhydrite and shale, and was shutdown to make motor repairs.

Texaco No. 1 Johnson, southwest Borden county wildcat, in section 41, block 42, TP survey, T-4-N, had plugged back from total depth reached of 7,510 feet, in lime, to a new bottom at 6,245 feet, and was to take a drillstem test. No shows of oil have been reported anywhere between the bottom and the present level.

Blackwell Oil and Gas company No. 1 House, in northwest Kent county, in section 4, block B, psl survey, had reached 7,774 feet, in lime and chert, and was continuing to make new hole.

Honolulu and Devonian Oil company No. 1 Hitt, section 2, block 1, HE & WT survey, in Northwest Garza County, had progressed below 3,487 feet, in lime, and was drilling ahead.

D. D. Feldman, No. 1 Edwards, northwest Lynn county wildcat, in section 132, block 3, EL survey, had penetrated under 6,760 feet, in shale, and was continuing.

Texaco No. 1 Edwards, in section 158, GT survey, also in northwest Lynn, had reached 5,487 feet, in lime and chert, and was drilling ahead.

The Norwalk company No. 1 Nislar, southwest Lubbock county wildcat to the lower Permian, in section 23, block AK, psl survey, had drilled below 5,950 feet, in dry lime, and was still boring.

Magnolia Petroleum company No. 1 Johnston, east-central Lubbock county exploration, in section 22, block C, D&W survey, was drilling ahead past 9,532 feet, in lime and shale.

'Father' Of Fighting Seabees Says Organization Dates Back To 1917

By WILLIAM C. BARNARD
Associated Press Staff Writer

HOUSTON, Jan. 6. — The Seabees have taken part in every invasion in every theater of U. S. war. They go with the first landing parties to repair, to build and to fight. They are the "can do, will do—did" boys of the Navy.

Officially, the Seabees are a little more than three years old. Actually, they date back to 1917 when a public works company was organized under Rear Admiral Norman Murray Smith at the Great Lakes Naval Training Station.

Admiral Smith, 61, stocky of build and blue of eye, now is area superintendent of civil engineers. In a short time—perhaps a week or two—the Navy will release him to assume the presidency of the University of South Carolina, to which he was elected last month.

"Father Of Seabees"

Meanwhile, he took time out one day recently to recall the days when he became, unofficially at least, the father of the Seabees.

"Early in the last war," he said, "while I was public works officer at Great Lakes, it was necessary to design and build housing and facilities for thousands of men and officers.

"Civilian assistance was not available. Speed was essential. The officers and men of the entire station were canvassed and around 600 well-qualified and experienced men and officers were formed into a public works company.

"This organization handled the design, engineering, accounting, inspection and supervision of material purchased and the construction of four camps at the station: Camps Decatur, Farragut, Dewey and Ross. Camp Paul Jones was actually constructed by enlisted men under this organization.

"In the fall of 1917 this public works company organization was turned over to Capt. George McKay and later operated under the late Capt. W. H. Allen. During the middle 1930's, while I was chief of the bureau of yards and docks, I assigned Captain Allen to the bureau's divisions for Civil Engineer corps reserve officers and war planes; also as the bureau's representative on the Navy department's war plans board.

Planned Wartime Organization

"It was during this time that Captain Allen and I worked up a proposed organization that could be developed and trained for the construction and maintenance of Navy advance bases in time of war such an organization would be known as construction battalions, patterned on the public works company as developed at Great Lakes but with sufficient and appropriate officers and artisans to handle all prospective problems. This was approved by the department war plans board.

"Additional officers were commissioned in the Civil Engineer corps. A correspondence training course was established, so that many reserve officers were well prepared and on active duty when December 7, 1941, came.

"The part I played has been small indeed. From necessity in 1917 a public works company had to be formed to carry out our objective. From this there was born in 1934 or 1935 the idea of Construction Battalions for overseas war works. It was something that had to be.

"Only a small beginning had been made when the Japs struck. But this small beginning, under the Guidance of Admiral Ben Morell, his personnel officer, Commodore John Perry, and others, burst into sudden activity. The total force has now reached 262,000 with at least 115,000 overseas."

The admiral, a serious man who chooses his words carefully, says the fighting the Seabees have done "is remarkable when you consider that many Seabees are getting on in years.

"On Los Negros island, Seabees were in hand-to-hand combat with the Japs while building a vital airfield. They stopped three Japanese attacks cold. Nineteen-year-old Edward O'Brien, carpenter's mate third class, killed 16 of the enemy single handed. Then he organized a 10-man Seabee patrol that held a portion of our line for five hours. A total of 320 Japs was slaughtered. Yet, the Seabees prepared Los Negros airfield for use in seven days, two days under schedule. One officer and nine men were killed and an officer and 44 men were wounded.

"In the Mediterranean theater, the 54th Construction battalion, under heavy enemy fire, ran 875 feet of six-inch water line across a navigable channel to provide water for our landing parties.

"At Tarawa, Seabees exposed themselves to Jap fire by working under lights at night in order to do their vital work as quickly as possible.

"During a so-called 'vacation' of three and one-half months, Chief Petty Officer Richard Wood and a detail of the 20th Construction battalion installed intricate electrical units on old destroyers, assisted in repairing two squadrons of P-T boats, helped to repair battle damage on 30 destroyers and aided in converting two destroyers to minelayers. Some vacation!"

Never Lack For Ingenuity

The admiral took a deep breath, smiled, and leaned back in his chair.

"That," he said, "will give you a rough idea of the drive, the energy and the spirit of the Seabees. Every man of them is a volunteer and they work and fight like volunteers.

He asserted that Seabees never lack for ingenuity.

"During roadbuilding through the hills on a volcanic island, a unit of Seabees found drilling for blasting purposes slow, tedious blasting purposes slow, tedious work. So they brought up a General Sherman tank and used the tank's 75 millimeter gun to shoot holes in the Hills for the placing of dynamite. The six man crew formerly had taken 12 hours to blast away enough material to keep one steamshovel busy 20 hours. Using the tank, they blasted in four and one-half hours enough material to keep three steamshovels employed 24 hours."

News Briefs

Rat and prairie dog poison was distributed to members of the Roosevelt junior 4-H club Thursday at their meeting. The boys are participating in the county campaign to reduce effectively the number of harmful rodents. Club shirts were also distributed.

Prisoner Exchange With Nazis Arranged

OTTAWA, Jan. 6 (AP)—Britain and Canada have reached an agreement with Germany for a further exchange of prisoners of war, it was learned today from an authoritative source.

The source said that it was expected that between 70 and 80 Canadians would be among 1,756 British subjects the Germans have agreed to release.

The United States also has agreed with Germany on an exchange of prisoners, it was said, but the number was not given. The German prisoners from Canada and the United States will sail from New York aboard the Gripsholm and the Canadian hospital ship Letitia within a few days.

Output Of Carbon Black Spurred

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6 (AP) — Military demands for heavy duty tires is necessitating a step-up in the production of carbon black, an ingredient of synthetic rubber.

W. F. Twombly, director of the War Production board's compounded chemicals division, announced that expanded facilities for the production of an additional 175,000,000 pounds annually are now being constructed and that contracts for another 175,000,000 pounds a year will be awarded as sources are located.

Area To Supply Increase

Twombly said the expanded production will come principally from the Pampa, Texas, area and other locations in Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico where large supplies of natural gas are readily available.

The War Production board, he added, is investigating possible sources for the increased carbon black production and will begin soon to let contracts little by little until the total needed production is reached.

The urgent need, Twombly said, is for the type of carbon black used in tire tread, rather than for tire sidewall rubber.

The War Production board did not estimate the cost of the carbon black expansion program or disclose figures on the present production of the substance.

Grand Coulee dam is 500 feet thick at its base.

Third Oak Leaf To Air Medal Awarded Sgt. Avon B. Shaw

AN EIGHTH AIR FORCE BOMBER STATION, England — Technical Sergeant Avon B. Shaw, 30, son of Mrs. M. N. Reed, Lubbock, Tex., has won a third Oak Leaf Cluster to his Air Medal for "meritorious achievement . . . coolness, courage and skill" during Eighth Air Force bombing attacks on military and industrial targets in Germany and Nazi occupied Europe.

SHAW

The B-17 Flying Fortress engineer and top turret gunner is a veteran of many heavy bombardment missions in the European Theater of Operations, ranging from attacks on enemy airfields and aircraft plants to oil refineries and front line positions.

"Our toughest one to date," Sgt. Shaw said, "was directed at the robot plane factories at Kiel. The sky was black with flak and the fuselage of our aircraft accumulated a total of 78 holes."

The top turrent gunner remarked that the assault on the ordnance depot at Berlin was the source for the most personal satisfaction. "We hit our target hard," he said, "and since it was located in the capital of Nazidom that was especially good."

Sgt. Shaw is a member of the 34th Bomb. Group, a unit of the Third Bombardment Division, the division cited by the President for its now historic England-Africa shuttle bombing of Messerschmitt plants at Regensburg, Germany.

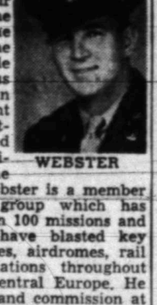

The sergeant's wife, Mrs. Marilyn Shaw, lives at Mobile, Ala. A graduate of Greenville, Tex., High school, he was a draftsman before entering the AAF.

SOMEWHERE IN THE PACIFIC (Delayed) — Marine Private First Class Lenuil E. McCrary, 19, of Brownfield, Texas, was awarded the Purple Heart Medal here in a mass ceremony during which 400 wounded men of his regiment won similar decorations for wounds received in action in the Marianas last summer. The awards were presented by Brigadier General Franklin A. Hart, assistant division commander of the Fourth Marine Division, which was recently awarded the Presidential citation for assault landings on Saipan and Tinian. He is a member of the Marine regiment whose officers and men are veterans of three major landings under Japanese fire in six months. The outfit occupied Roi airfield, major objective of the Marshalls campaign, and on the bloody beach at Charon-Kanoa on Saipan were among the first troops to occupy a Japanese town. McCrary was struck by shrapnel in the right knee when a Jap mortar barrage scored an almost direct hit on his squad in the first bitterly-fought hours on the Saipan beachhead June 15. Now fully recovered, he is back with his unit.

McCRARY

Later in the day, the planes of the group made a return trip over the same coast, but this time towing gliders laden-ed with airborned troops and equipment. The gliders were released over designated landing zones. Both missions were performed at an altitude of less than 1000 feet, despite some enemy ack-ack and ground fire. Those duties were distributed here and there over the country—Deming having been his 16th station. In order, he has been at Brooks and Kelly fields, Fort Sam Houston, Houston, Waco, Boca Raton, Fla., Lake Charles, La., Bakersfield, Calif., Salem, Ore., Fresno Calif., Santa Rosa, Calif., San Francisco, De Ridder, La., El Paso and thence to Deming. A former caddy at Meadowbrook Golf course, Ford plans entering a chiropractic institute after the war. Unmarried, he said he planned to practice chiropractic after his graduation and invite his mother to live with him. Training pigeons as carriers, he explained, is an interesting study that has been developed into a fine art. In later stages of training the birds are tossed out of speeding planes. To prevent prop wash from breaking their wings, the birds are placed in paper sacks, slit sufficiently to let the birds fight their way out after a few seconds.

These two highly skilled mechanics used as a guide a factory-made hydraulic mock-up of an A-20 hydraulic system and incorporated the test stand idea into their model for the C-47. With this instrument, pilots, crew-chiefs, and other mechanics can see the actual operation of units as they function under flying conditions. Hydraulic equipment which is giving trouble can be removed and installed on the board, where it can be checked for proper operation. Malfunctioning units can be instantly detected. Sgt. Drerup, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Drerup of Amarillo, entered the service in June of 1942 and was assigned to active duty with the AAF late in 1942. He has been overseas one year and is serving in Australia. His wife, Mrs. Patricia Lee Drerup who resides in Portland, is a former Texas Tech student. Sgt. "Limited Partnership" Is Taking Care Of Soldier's Business

When Pfc. Harold D. Boston, 31, went off to war he left his candy and tobacco route customers to his wife. Mrs. Boston attempted as well as she could to drive his truck and make deliveries, but you know how it is . . . There were the two children, Jo Bess, 5, and Nancy Sue, 2, and the housework.

BOSTON

But Pfc. Boston didn't have to worry much about whether he would have his same customers when he is mustered out. Two brothers-in-law, M. M. and J. H. Donley, formed a "limited partnership" and dealt Boston in. They added his route to theirs —one making it one week, the other the next—and the wife and children of the soldier got 50 per cent of the proceeds on each collection.

Pfc. Boston relaxed as much as one can relax when he is shifted around with such fighting outfits as the Third Army, then to the Ninth Army. He was a partner, albeit a rather "silent" partner, in a business that would supplement the allotment sidetracked to them from his Army pay. As much attention is given to his route as to those of the Donley brothers.

That apparently made everybody happy until a letter arrived the other day. Pfc. Boston had been wounded. In Paris he wrote a letter, which never arrived. But on Dec. 12 he wrote from a hospital bed in England a letter that was received here two days before Christmas: "I guess you think I'm a traveling man. I wrote you yesterday from Paris, and here I am today, propped up in bed in an English hospital, listening to the radio." He did not explain his injuries, but the government, Dec. 18 in a standard notification, said he had been "slightly" hurt, on Dec. 6. Pfc. Boston is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben A. Boston of 1502 Ave. J. His wife, formerly Marion Chisholm, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Chisholm of Brownfield, lives in Brownfield.

The soldier got to England in time to buy what few Christmas cards he could round up—and he sent them to his customers.

Ulcerated Stomach
Case History No. 1694. Man, age 59, who had had ulcerated stomach for 30 years. He also was very nervous, and an uncomfortable sensation at the base of his brain. He had tried almost everything he know of with no results.

He is greatly improved and is so satisfied with his results that he is bringing his daughter and several friends in for Chiropractic services. Name upon request.

Dizziness and Headache
Case History No. 1718. Man age 65 who had dizzy spells, headaches, and very nervous. He came to me as a last resort. The cause of his trouble was located and corrected. This man is on the natural road to health and wouldn't take anything for what Chiropractic has done for him.

Chiropractic Principles
Down from the brain, through the spine and into every nook and cranny of the human body, runs a delicate mass of sensitive nerves. Like a complicated electrical system they are constantly distributing vital energy from the brain generator to each and every part of the human body. These nerves issue from between each vertebrae of the spine. When the nerve door between two vertebrae is normally open the mental impulses pass unmolested to their destination and as a result the organ or part supplied by these nerves is healthy and vigorous. If the nerve door between two vertebrae is partially closed because of misplaced vertebrae the vital nerve energy from the brain generator is partially cut off. Before you can have perfect, natural health all these nerves must function freely. Have your spine checked by a competent chiropractor and see if you have a cause to be sick.

Richard Dix Is Still Film Star

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 6—For a fellow who five times has been "washed up" in the movies, Richard Dix, we are happy to report today, is still doing all right.

"The Jaw" patted some brown powder on his face yesterday and started his 22nd year as a star—a record in this town of elusive fame and overnight obscurity.

DIX

"And I've still got my hair," The Jaw grinned.

Five times the Hollywood wise guys have called Dix a has-been. And five times he has proved them wrong. The most notable time was a few years back when Paramount fired him along with director Gregory LaCava and producer William LeBaron. The three has-beens started making B pictures at RKO.

"Cimarron" Greatest Hit

One day LeBaron asked Dick to read a script. "This is it," LeBaron said.

Dix read the script and three days later went to work in the picture. It was "Cimarron," his greatest hit.

"Making movies is a business," The Jaw said. "Sure, some of the pictures stink. But you gotta play ball with the producers. You gotta work in the stinkers. That's where a lot of youngsters make their mistake. One good picture puts you back on top of the pile."

Hollywood figured Dix was washed up again a year ago. Then Columbia starred him in a film based on the radio show "The Whistler." The picture was a hit. Columbia gave him a long term contract. Dix is now starring in the third "Whistler" picture, "Until Tomorrow."

Ten-Year Contract Is Signed By Bob Hope

CHICAGO, Jan. 6 (AP) — Bob Hope, one of radio's top comedians, has signed a new 10 year contract with his first and only sponsor, Charles Luckman, president of the Pepsodent division of Lever Brothers company, announced today.

Luckman did not disclose the total sum agreed on but a spokesman said the new agreement represented a "considerable" increase in Hope's earnings and was "understood to be for nearly as many millions as years." He described the contract as involving what was believed to be the largest total sum ever negotiated in a single deal for radio talent.

Pat O'Brien Has Roughest, Toughest Role In New Film

By HAZEL HARTZOG
United Press Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 6. — If they gave out Academy Oscars in Hollywood for variety of characters portrayed by an actor, Pat O'Brien would be top man on the list.

In 13 years on the screen, O'Brien has played men of more than 35 different callings, from circus clowns to clergymen, and done repeat engagements on many of them.

But, his latest role in Columbia's "Pilebuck" is a new character for him and it's the roughest and toughest of them all.

Plays A Pilebuck

O'Brien plays a pilebuck, which is a combination rigger, pile-driver, rough carpenter and 90 per cent mule. This occupation of pilebucking is so tough that insurance companies usually won't have anything to do with the men who follow it. Luckily for O'Brien he only does this sort of thing in front of a camera and not for a living.

He started his career as a reporter in "The Front Page" and has since played a similar role twice and a columnist and an editor once, each.

In Uniform 10 Times

Ten times he's donned a uniform — army, navy and marines. In "Marine Raiders" he was a major and in "Submarine D-1," an ordinary seaman.

His three biographical roles were Father Duffy in "The Fighting 69th," Knute Rockne in the film of the same name, and recently Frank Cavanaugh in "The Iron Major." And he's frequently been a representative of the law — as detective and just plain cop.

Played Clown Once

"One shot" roles added to the variety — the circus clown in "Night of Nights" for example.

O'Brien figures he's learned a lot of trades and callings for just one guy. But he hopes he'll never have to use some of these experiences—especially piledriving.

Going over the list, O'Brien added another film to the list.

"Don't forget 'Boy Meets Girl'."

"What did you play in that one?"

"A jerk . . . and I do mean JERK."

Bleak Outlook For Cotton Is Seen

NEW YORK, Jan. 6 (AP)—The outlook for any general improvement in cotton production "is bleak," Dr. C. T. Murchison, president of the Cotton-Textile institute, said today.

"Facilities are in excess of the labor to man them and raw cotton is in plentiful supply but numbers employed in the mills continue to dwindle," he said in an address prepared for the annual meeting of the House dress institute.

Murchison said labor turnover is running as high as 8 per cent a month and total employment "has fallen from the peak of 510,000 in 1942 to 424,000 in October, 1944."

"Over the next six months at least consumer or civilian cotton goods will be scarcer than at any time within the memory of textile or garment manufacturers," he said.

Murchison added cotton textile production declined from the peak of 11,200,000,000 linear yards in 1942 to 10,700,000,000 in 1943 and 9,900,000,000 (estimated) in 1944.

The first attempt to establish a water system in Chicago was made in 1834, when the board of trustees of the town paid $95 to have a well dug.

Odessa Marine Is Presented Diploma

ODESSA, Tex., Jan. 6 (AP) — Marine Private J. T. Rutherford, jr., has been declared a 1945 graduate of Odessa High school on the basis of his "education" during 23 months action in the South Pacific.

School Superintendent Murry H. Fly made the announcement at a special student assembly Friday afternoon.

When Rutherford left Odessa High in 1941 to enter service, he lacked only three-fourths of a credit to graduate.

Fly said he felt justified in allowing the marine one-fourth unit for physical training and three-fourths for physical geography, adding:

Rutherford, holder of the Purple Heart, is home on leave, but a member of his family probably will receive his diploma for him at spring graduation exercises.

More lives were lost because of tuberculosis in the United tSates between 1937 and 1940 than in all the wars of history up to World War II.

New Instrument To Make Flying Safer

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Jan. 6 (AP) —Development of a flight control indicator designed to make airplanes of the future easier to fly was reported today by research engineers of the Consolidated-Vultee Aircraft Corp.

Consolidated said the new instrument registers correctly the forces required to move controls of an airplane and, if these forces are excessive, suitable alterations can be made in the control system.

Manpower Probe Is Needed; Enemy Sabotage Inside U.S. Anticipated

Public Doubts Shortage

Kilgore Charges Call For Action

RECENTLY, the nation has been told by President Roosevelt; his "assistant President" in charge of the home front, James F. Byrnes; by War Manpower Commissioner Paul V. McNutt, and others, that the U. S. is plagued, at this crucial point in the war, by serious manpower shortages both in the armed services and on the home front.

But American citizens with eyes in their heads and first hand reports from relatives or close friends in the armed services are asking themselves:

"Are we plagued by a manpower shortage in the Army and Navy and on the home front, or are our troubles mainly due to misuse of the manpower in both categories?"

As far as the situation in the armed services is concerned, U. S. Sen. Harvey Kilgore, of West Virginia, says neither the Army nor the Navy is putting to best use the manpower it now has. Senator Kilgore, who is a Democrat by the way, and who has specialized in the Senate's investigation of manpower, charges that both the Army and the Navy are guilty of "flagrant misuse" of manpower and has sounded the tocsin in Washington for action to improve the situation.

Senator Kilgore's remarks should be taken to heart by official Washington, which, in turn, should force both Army and Navy "top-sides" to halt all waste of manpower. American residing adjacent to domestic Army and Navy stations know the West Virginian is more right than wrong in his statements and while they realize that criticism in itself is not the answer, they also realize that only by public criticism are existing conditions likely to be bettered.

The West Virginian offers several suggestions which he says would, if carried out, save a present wastage of somewhere near 1,000,000 men. If our manpower troubles are as acute as high officialdom claims, certainly Senator Kilgore's ideas are worth microscopic study and observation on the part of proper authorities. Even if such study resulted in eliminating only one-tenth of the wastage the senator claims exists, it would be worthwhile.

A government which has been notorious for profligacy in use of public funds in peacetime is suspected of being equally profligate with wartime manpower. Therefore, a full and honest investigation is in order.

The Kettle Is Black, Too

THIS is neither to defend nor condone those few American Army officers and men found guilty of theft and diversion of U. S. supplies from their comrades in arms to black market racketeers in France. Such action cannot be condoned, or defended and must result in stiff punishment for offenders, those of the American military and of the French civilian population ,as well.

Yet as we condemn all the miscreants found engaged in nefarious operations overseas, let us remember, too, that the home front's record in this regard is far from spotless. Not only have black marketeers flourished from time to time in all parts of this country, but many otherwise estimable citizens also have co-operated with the racketeers by patronizing them. If the pot in France is black, so the kettle too frequently has been on this side of the Atlantic.

There are among us here at home a very few individuals who can look at themselves in the mirror and, without flinching, say:

"I have played the game; I have violated, actually or morally, no regulation aimed at furthering the war effort."

The cold, hard truth of the matter is that the old American custom of "wangling" special rights and privileges has been applied millions of times to regulations governing rationing, price ceilings, wage-and-hour operations and the wage-and-salary freeze—all of them aimed at holding back inflation; giving everyone a fair chance at his share of essential commodities, and otherwise furthering the prosecution of the war here at home. Too many of us smugly have assumed that war regulations apply only to the "other fellow," and if we can disobey the regulations, and "get by with it," it's "perfectly all right."

The citizen who roars with righteous indignation over reports from France that cigarets and foodstuffs running into the hundreds of thousands of dollars have been diverted from their channels to the French black market, is inconsistent unless he, himself, has given every support to home front regulations. If he has so much as "borrowed" a gasoline coupon from a friend; or used his influence to get more than his ration of canned goods; if he has ever chiseled a pair of shoes without a stamp, or if he has given his shoe stamp to someone outside his family, then he is as morally guilty of wrongdoing as the soldier who sold a case of canned peas to a French thug for $150, or who stole from an Army truck a carton of cigarets which were supposed to go to a service exchange.

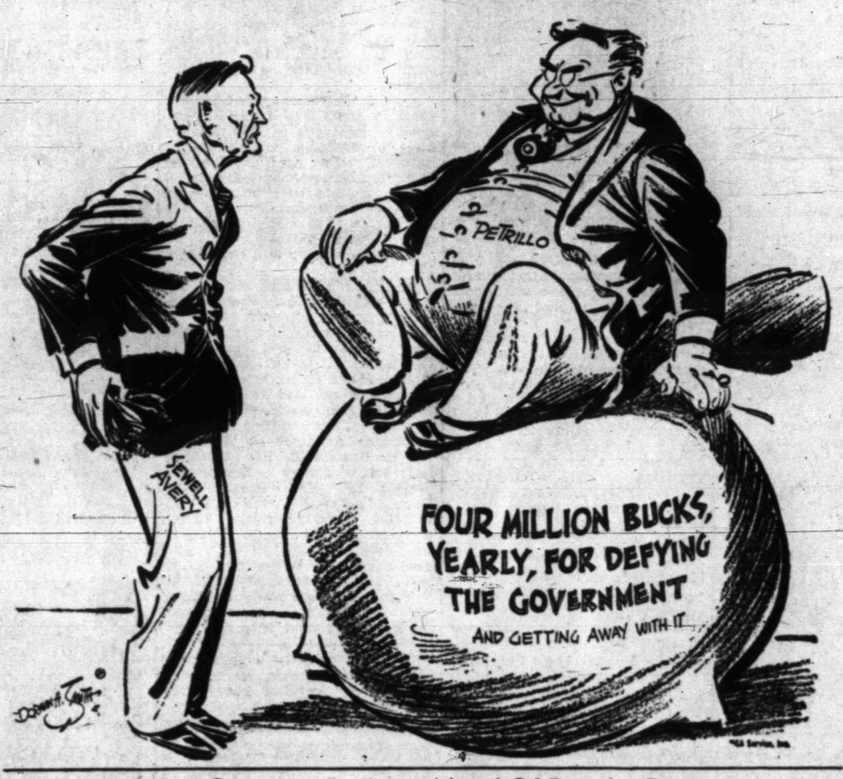

The officers and men guilty of theft and wrongdoing in France have nothing coming to them but their just deserts. But meanwhile, let us home fronters remember the passage from St. John, which reads: "He that is without sin among you, let him first cast a stone. . . ."

"Whadda You Got That I Haven't Got, Caesar?"

He Admits New Congress Reflects Mood Of People, But:

Stokes Unhappy Over Extension Of Dies Committee

BY THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON — The opening of a new Congress is always an occasion, even if you have watched it for more than 20 years.

It gives you a lift inside, too, even while you are exchanging cynical wisecracks with your neighbors in the press gallery, waspish remarks about veteran figures whose every idiosyncracy you know, for they all live in a gold-fish bowl.

All in all, they are a representative cross-section of our people, filled with the same hopes and aspirations, endowed with the same prejudices, but basically earnest as they come here to do their job in the government of a democracy.

It gives you confidence and a sense of our history to see our democracy still functioning as regularly as the seasons, just as it has for 150-odd years, despite a world in the midst of catastrophe.

Reflects Nation's Mood

The opening of the new congress was celebrated as usual by the presence of a good gallery, special visitors for the day as well as sightseers, wives, children, relatives, friends of members.

But this 79th Congress got down to its business in a sober way, without the usual spirit of frivolity and backslapping.

It is here for serious business.

It is here for serious business.

It reflects the nation's rude shock at the setback of our armies along the German border, just when victory seemed to be in our grasp. And it reflects the confusion here over the political maneuverings of Great Britain and Russia in the liberated countries to extend spheres of influence even before the war is won. While, as a matter of fact, it is in its most desperate stage.

IT is a nervous, anxious Congress. It is a Congress conscious of the necessity of tightening the belt for the final pull.

Even before it got its annual message from President Roosevelt, it had a program, reflecting the necessities of the times, outlined in two serious preachments, one by War Mobilization Director Byrnes, the other by Speaker of the House Rayburn.

Mr. Byrnes pointed to the tasks to be done—tightening up the draft, giving the War Manpower commission statutory authority; a new venture for this nation but necessary in a ruthless world. And he pointed to things for the future—tax revision to give business a chance to expand to take up the slack in the postwar period, legislation to keep our giant merchant fleet on the seas, so that it won't be abandoned, as it was after the last war. And a warning against raising tariff barriers; other nations must sell here to pay their debts and build up their own economies. This, too, to avert the mistake after the last war.

Rayburn Speaks Seriously

And Speaker Rayburn, speaking solemnly to a hushed House, reflected the serious task ahead in the war and proclaimed boldly the mandate of the election that sent this Congress here. This is to guarantee peace as far as possible hereafter by an international organization with all the force necessary to check aggression—and he emphasized the necessity of force.

Then the dedicatory spirit of the opening of Congress was spoiled by one of those actions bespeaking the prejudices among us that seem to come boiling to the top in time of war, in action directly contrary to another apparent mandate to Congress.

THIS was when Rep. Rankin (D., Miss.,) shoved through a change in rules which will perpetuate the Dies committee as a regular standing committee of the House. It was done despite the defeat of three members of the old committee, in elections in which the issue was raised, and the voluntary retirement of Rep. Martin Dies, himself; despite an apparent agreement among leaders not to revive the committee, and despite public reaction against the character-smearing of that committee. It did some constructive work which, however, can be done, as the House was reminded, by other agencies of the government charged with ferretig out un-American activities.

Looking At Life - - - - - - By Erich Brandeis

WHAT a happy marriage this must have been!

A New York radio executive has just sued his wife for divorce on the following grounds:

She was unfaithful to him.

She refused to be a wife to him in anything but name.

She hit him with a poker.

She slapped him with a wet towel while he was asleep.

She hit him over the head with the Manhattan telephone book weighing more than two pounds.

She chased him out of their apartment when he refused to give her $150.

She threatened him with a butcher knife.

There were several other allegations which, however, are too juicy to print in a family newspaper such as this.

I have been married more than 20 years, and you probably have been married quite a few yourself.

You probably know, just as I do, that no marriage runs smoothly all the time, but you also know that it can run with reasonable success only if you both behave like human beings.

I have never been able to understand why two people who are well brought up and who know the ordinary rules of courtesy change so completely toward the one they promised to love, honor and obey.

You have probably seen it with your own eyes. I know I have. A man who is the epitome of politeness and courtesy toward perfect strangers or business associates, becomes a complete cad in his relations with his wife.

And I have heard women who are paragons of charm and social graces in public, talk to their husbands in tones and words that no handy man or delivery boy or servant girl would tolerate.

THE other day I saw a cartoon by Jimmy Hatlo in which he showed a fellow before he was married, almost frantic with concern when his darling tripped over a rug. "And then they got married." In the next panel she was loaded down with bundles, and she was falling down a whole flight of stairs.

He was sitting in his easy chair in shirt sleeves and stocking feet without necktie, his hair dishevelled, reading his paper.

As she fell, the bundles clattering out of her arms, he looked over his newspaper and said, with an annoyed expression: "Why in heck don't you look where you walk?"

Is that marriage? Is marriage the breaking of all promises and vows? Is it carelessness, neglect, disillusionment, drudgery, monotony?

I always thought that marriage meant companionship, devotion, love and going down the long road together, down to a peaceful, happy, contented old age.

The whole thing is so simple. Just forget that you are married and own each other. Just treat your wife or your husband as if you were friends.

And don't believe the old saw that marriage makes two people one. It doesn't. Every husband and every wife wants to remain an individual with his or her own mind, with the privilege of privacy, independence of thought, freedom of action and without chains.

Jap Balloons Studied

(Washington Merry-Go-Round)

By DREW PEARSON
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON.—There have now been a total of three mysterious Japanese balloons found in the Northwestern states. It is still a matter of guesswork as to what motive the Japs have in launching them, but the best guess is they are aiming sabotage against Grand Coulee or Bonneville.

If either could be blown up, not only would there be terrific loss of life through flood, but vital war industries in Washington and Oregon would shut down for lack of power.

PEARSON

J. Edgar Hoover's alert G-Men in studying the balloons, have come to the conclusion they were launched from Jap submarines prowling close to the Pacific Coast and that they can carry about 800 pounds.

Probably they carried a couple of agents plus high explosives.

The agents are more likely to be Germans, since they could mingle with Americans more easily than Japs.

The balloons carried a contrivance for burning them after hitting the ground, but apparently whoever was in them was so anxious to make a getaway they did not stop to do any burning.

All this, plus the landing of two Nazi saboteurs in Maine indicates the enemy is still thinking in terms of internal U. S. sabotage.

NOTE—After the two Nazi agents were arrested in New York they told how after their submarine had lain all day on the ocean bottom just off Bar Harbor while a fishing boat fished over them. The fisherman remained there throughout the day making it impossible for the sub to move for about eight hours.

GALLUP'S POLL STUDIES

THE political pollsters got quite a going-over when Princeton's George Gallup appeared before the House Campaign Expenditures committee.

Down-to-earth Clarence Brown of Ohio, hard-hitting Republican member of the committee, questioned Gallup closely about the Ohio election.

"You figured Dewey to carry Ohio by over 130,000 votes," Brown said, "but he actually carried it by only about 11,000. From a politician's point of view, that's a mighty dangerous error."

One question Gallup couldn't answer was Brown's query as to how the scientific poll of Emil Hurja, publisher for Pennsylvania's GOP Boss Joe Pew, went so far off in his prediction.

"All these polls look to me to be hit or miss," Brown said. "If they hit, they're scientific; if they miss, it's the uncertainty of politics."

Congressman Anderson of New Mexico remarked that Hurja had paid off for his poor doping (to the tune of about $15,000). Recalling his algebra, Anderson added: "Hurja apparently used political pi—he multiplied the Dewey vote by 3.1416."

U. S. ROBOT BOMBS

THE fact that the U. S. Army will soon have robot bombs to operate against the Nazis in France is due to the perserverance of just one man. He is assistant Secretary of War for Aviation, Bob Lovett.

Almost no one else in the Army or the War department wanted to manufacture the buzz bombs. They claimed they could never compete with airplane bombing. Lovett's own brass hats in the Air Forces were especially obstinate. They felt Lovett was being a traitor to the air forces.

But he stuck to his guns. He had spent part of last summer in London, where he couldn't sleep because of the buzz bombs and where he had seen the terrific damage they created. He felt they were an important weapon and that the United States would be foolish not to develop and manufacture buzz bombs of its own. So finally the brass hats gave in.

Today, the buzz bombs have become one of the most important weapons the Germans have. It was partly responsible for their initial success in the counter-offensive. It has two great advantages over bombing by airplane: (1) it can operate in any kind of weather, and (2) it doesn't waste manpower. No pilots or airplane crews are lost.

Their chief defect is they cannot be aimed except at a general area. However, if they come down any place behind Allied lines always packed with troops, field kitchens, munitions and stores, they can do terrific damage. Their effect on morale is even more devastating.

Now, thanks to Lovett, we have developed a replica of the Nazi's robots.

NOTE—The robot or buzz bomb is not to be confused with the rocket bomb or V-2. This is a giant rocket, working on the principle of a skyrocket, but weighing about six tons which the Germans have been firing at England. However, they use so much weight in fuel and bury themselves so deep in the ground when they land that they have not been too effective. Undoubtedly the Nazis will give them some new and fiendish perfections in the future.

O'DWYER VS. TOM DEWEY?

KEEP an eye on Brig. Gen. William O'Dwyer, former Brooklyn prosecutor, as the man who will run against Tom Dewey for governor of New York.

Without fanfare, O'Dwyer has become one of the closest men to Roosevelt in recent weeks. And while the talk to outsiders is that he will run against La Guardia for mayor of New York, actually that is not going to be the case. First of all O'Dwyer says bluntly he will not run against La Guardia. Secondly, the President is not anxious to stir up opposition against an old friend who four times has helped him carry New York.

On the other hand, Roosevelt has been quietly looking for someone to run against Dewey and O'Dwyer is considered a natural.

Born in Ireland, he began life as a Brooklyn cop. Pulling himself up by his bootstraps, O'Dwyer became district attorney of Brooklyn where he prosecuted the anti-Semitic Christian Front. Today he is one of the few men who could carry the Jewish vote and the Catholic vote in New York state.

HAS ITALIAN SUPPORT

MORE recently O'Dwyer added another big bloc of New York voters by going to bat strong for the rehabilitation of Italy.

He has been special White House adviser on Italy and had a lot to do with the stand the President has taken to send more food to the Italian people. As a result, Itale-Americans would vote for O'Dwyer almost to a man.

Finally, O'Dwyer has the political advantage of having a war record. Though 50 years old and despite a sick wife, he entered the Army shortly after Pearl Harbor, and has been promoted to the rank of brigadier general. Keep an eye on his political star. He will go places in New York.

NOTE — Most likely Democratic candidate against La Guardia for mayor is New York Supreme Court Justice Ferdinand Pecora, who conducted the famous Senate Banking investigation in 1933, which led to establishment of the Securities and Exchange commission.

Probably many a case of claustrophobia results from trying to read the morning paper in a breakfast nook.

"Cannery Row" Is New Book By Steinbeck

Literary Deftness Permeates Story Of Worthless Bunch

OF ALL contemporary writers only John Steinbeck can look into the souls of little, mean people and find a shred of beauty in their barren lives. He did it very well indeed in "Tortilla Flat" and in "The Grapes of Wrath." Now he does it again in "Cannery Row" (Viking), the story of the people who live, in their own way, in the wrong section of Monterey, in California.

They were, for the most part, a pretty worthless bunch. There was Doc, who ran the marine laboratory, played classical music on his victrola, and entertained young women with his blinds pulled down. There was Lee Chong, the inscrutable grocer who knew when to shut off a man's credit and when not to. Close by was the Palace Flophouse and Grill, a nondescript where Mack and his buddies lived in hobo splendor. And finally there was Dora, the orange-haired madam who ran a disorderly house in an orderly fashion and was a better friend to Cannery Row than most folks knew.

STEINBECK

Although he didn't realize it, or if he did, he didn't care, Doc was the first citizen of Cannery Row. He was the one who nursed the sick, who could dish out advice or a couple of bills with equal facility. He was the guy everyone took for granted but leaned upon when times got tough.

And the trouble all started when Mack and the boys decided to throw Doc a party just because he was such a helluva fine guy. It was not really their fault that Doc did not get home in time to take part in the celebration, or that they wrecked his laboratory in their fun-making. And they didn't realize just how angry he could be and later how penitent and sorry that his temper had got the better of him.

Here is a simple story told in the old Steinbeck manner—warm, human, believable. Here are characters that live and breathe, that point up the axiom that there's a little good and a little bad in each of us. It is told with humor and understanding and with literary deftness. "Cannery Row" may not be Steinbeck's best effort, but it is top-drawer stuff.

Sad Sack's Biography

THE drooping little figure you see pictured in this column is threatening to become the greatest hero of this war. He is the Sad Sack, and despite all appearance to the contrary, a very important personage. His sagging likeness decorates planes and tanks on every battlefront, and is pinned up on many a bulletin board at home. The Sad Sack is the little guy in the Army, the small potato who is always getting K.P. and clean-up assignments, who misses out in chow line and can't even shave without getting into trouble. Sergeants are forever barking at the Sack, and whenever he has a chance at glory, something goes wrong. He is, as Sergeant Marion E. Hargrove says, "the military cycle caught in a cartoon." As such "The Sad Sack" by Sgt. George Baker (Simon and Schuster, which is his biography in 115 cartoons with apeal to civilians and servicemen alike.

Since his first appearance some two years ago in the pages of Yank, The Army magazine, the Sad Sack has suffered all the slings and arrows of Army life. Sometimes the Sack rebels. Sometimes he propositions a girl — to press his pants. Sometimes he gets smart. On one memorable occasion, it dawns on him that the higher the rank of an officer, the bigger the stomach. So, the Sack stuffs a pillow in his trousers, and demands that he be made at least a Private First Class. But the Commanding Officer doesn't see rank quite that way, and throws the Sad Sack out.

The Sad Sack's admirers have only complaint which they voice in vociferous letters to Sgt. Baker, his creator. They feel their hero should get his stripes. "Why should he get a promotion," Sgt. Baker storms. "There are a lot of guys in the Army who deserve a raise more than he does. Look at me. I've been a buck sergeant myself for two years now!" But after all, that's two steps ahead of buck private.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

On a war map of the South Pacific, the little red-white-and-blue pins march steadily westward.

Tarawa . . . Makin . . . the Marshalls . . . Saipan . . . and each move brings the pins closer to Tokyo.

Each move is mighty expensive business. The cost is high in dollars . . . the cost is high in men.

To plant the Stars and Stripes on Saipan cost the lives of more than 2000 American boys . . . plus some 12,000 wounded and missing.

Naturally, these losses cannot be summed up in dollars and cents . . . there is not enough money in the world to bring back 2000 dead Americans.

But in guns, ammunition, and other equipment, it is estimated that Saipan cost us many millions of dollars. Each of the many steppingstones remaining between our forces and Tokyo may cost as much or more.

Where is the money coming from?

It's coming from you, and millions of Americans like you . . . from the taxes you pay, and from the War Bonds you buy.

And while it may pinch a little, buying those Bonds is the smartest thing you ever did.

For the dollars you put in Bonds not only help win the war. They come back to you later—and bring more dollars with them.

In this postwar world we're going to build, they'll be the most valuable dollars anybody ever owned.

Get all you can of them—now!

Court Says Fussing And Nagging Don't Justify Divorce

DALLAS, Tex., Jan. 6 (AP)—Fussing and nagging are insufficient allegations on which to base a divorce in Texas, the Fifth Court of Civil Appeals ruled today in reversing and rendering judgment in a divorce decree granted Evelyn Finn of Dallas against her husband, Edward.

The opinion written by Chief Justice Joel R. Bond said that "acts of cruelty must be specifically stated, otherwise general allegations are mere conclusions of the pleader."

Finn contested the divorce suit when it was tried before Judge Paine L. Bush in district court and in his appeal raised the issue of fundamental error in pleadings and proof.

Mrs. Finn testified in the district court trial that her husband frequently came home intoxicated and when in such condition was always fussing and nagging at her.

Judge Bond's opinion said "the validity of the marriage relationship is the sub-structure upon which the peace, happiness and perpetuity of society depends. The courts are not at liberty to permit sympathy for the unhappy condition in which a couple become engulfed, because of the imperfections of temper or difference in religious views, to control their judgment."

Sheriff Acquitted By Galveston Grand Jury

GALVESTON, Jan. 6 (U.P.)—Galveston county sheriff Frank L. Biagne stood acquitted today of a grand jury indictment which charged he "negligently permitted the escape of a prisoner from county jail."

A district court jury deliberated only eight minutes last night before reaching a verdict of not guilty. Biagne entered a plea of innocence when his trial opened yesterday morning.

The October grand jury charged that Sheriff Biagne "negligently permitted" August K. Toman, serving an 18-months jail sentence for aggravated assault, to leave the county jail on several occasions without a guard escort.

It was charged that Biagne allowed Toman to leave the confines of the jail to cut grass in the sheriff's yard and to run errands to a nearby store.

Private Pilots Group To Draft Regulations

AUSTIN, Jan. 6 (U.P.)—Members of the Texas Private Pilots association will meet here Wednesday to draft a proposed bill for state regulation of flying, former Sen. Karl Lovelady, Meridian, said today. R. S. Bowen, Fort Worth, and D. Harold Byrd, Dallas have arranged for the meeting, Lovelady said.

Tentative plans call for creation of a separate state aviation commission and for use of tax on aviation gasoline to regulate flying and establish airports. Tax on gasoline used for aviation now is refunded.

Lovelady said the preliminary plans have general approval of flying groups other than commercial airlines from which an expression has not been received.

Wheeler Urges Easier Peace

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6 (AP) — Senator Wheeler (D-Mont) today called on the American people to demand that the Allies abandon "the brutal and costly slogan of unconditional surrender."

The Montanan, in an address prepared for an NBC broadcast, also asked:

1. Creation of a United Nations political council "to see that the present series of disgraceful unilateral peace settlements now taking place in Europe stops." He said that "only in this way can the inevitable conflict arising out of the creation of two spheres of influence in Europe be averted."

2. Steps to create a United States of Europe as "the only basic cure for her ancient ills."

"America today," he asserted "faces a grave crisis in this war and an impasse in international diplomacy. Since no real agreement could be reached among the 'big three' about the future United Nations organization contemplated in the Moscow declaration and advocated by the United States, Dumbarton Oaks is a grim hoax. No nation today trusts the other nations sufficiently to warrant a single gesture towards risking its security on the success of an international organization."

Wheeler earlier in the week filed a resolution to commit the Senate to the "uncompromised principles of the Atlantic Charter."

In his speech, he declared that until the "unconditional surrender" slogan is withdrawn "we shall go on blowing Europe and our boys to bits without rhyme or reason, still ignorant of why we fight."

Power Network In Area Talked

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6 (AP)—Development of a vast postwar network of hydroelectric powerlines throughout Texas, Oklahoma and Arkansas, controlled by the Southwest Power administration, was discussed today by SPA and Interior department officials.

Meeting with Undersecretary of the Interior Abe Fortas were Douglas Wright of Tulsa, Okla., SPA administrator, and Lee Simmons of Sherman, Tex., in charge of the power division at the big Red River dam on the Oklahoma-Texas line near Denison, Tex.

Citing that additional power projects in the Southwest were authorized in the recently approved postwar flood control bill, Wright declared studies would have to be made regarding distribution of that potential energy along with the power from the existing dams under SPA supervision.

Three Dams Involved

The power output at Grand river dam in Oklahoma and the Norfolk dam on the north fork of the White river in Arkansas, as well as at Denison, is handled by the SPA.

A provision of the flood control act authorities the Interior secretary to construct power lines to distribute energy of the existing and proposed dams if no other facilities are available, Wright said, adding that he would take data concerning this matter back to Tulsa for study.

Wright stated that unlimited postwar manufacture of electrical appliances and probable continued expansion of rural electriciation lines should create a market for all the energy that can be generated throughout the Southwest.

To Step Up Capacity

Denison dam now has a generating capacity of 30,000 kilowatts, Simmons said, which will be stepped up to as much as 145,000 kilowatts when the newly created lake behind the dam is filled.

Grand river dam, with the operation of a fifth generating unit now being installed, will produce 75,000 kilowatts. The generating capacity of Norfolk dam is 145,000 kilowatts, with an annual output rate of 200,000,000 kilowatt hours.

Questioned about the likelihood of an authority in Texas similar to the Tennessee Valley authority, Wright said that the SPA itself could be expanded to operate power projects on rivers throughout Texas and that some arrangement could be worked out with such existing state agencies as the Brazos river conservation and reclamation district and the lower Colorado river authority. Those bodies already operate power dams on the Brazos and Colorado rivers.

Under the flood control act, municipalities and cooperatives would have first call upon power generated at SPA-handled power projects and distributed through lines built by the Interior department. Wright noted that the present output of Denison dam is going to the Texas Power and Light company to help meet that private utility's heavy demands.

Adulterating Gasoline With Red Ink Charged

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 6 (AP) — The OPA filed injunction suits today against 10 service station operators in the Los Angeles area, charging they had been adding red ink into ordinary grades of gasoline and selling it as high octane fuel.

H. Eugene Breitenbuch, district enforcement attorney, said that although only 10 operators had been charged with violations of OPA regulations in today's suits, "there are more than 2,500 stations in California engaging in illicit practices in one form or another."

He Has Faults, But She Wants Him Back

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 6 (AP) — A Columbus, O., woman today asked Miami police to find her husband and send him home.

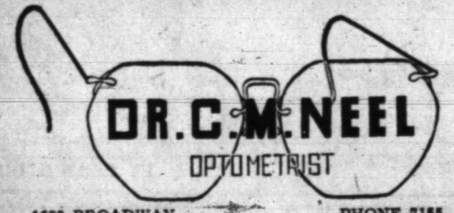

"He will drink any kind of liquor and has a nasty, bad temper and is a good liar, and he thinks he is good looking," she wrote. "He won't keep a job and won't do right by anything or anybody and will steal anything."
