Mayor Delmar R. Hiller pointed out that Aransas county and the State Highway Department "are doing a tremendous amount of work in this area to relieve drainage problems, and the city is doing everything it can do to its share to carry out the area program."

He pointed out that the Highway Department is doing a lot of work along Highway 35; also that northwest of the city the county has dug new ditches to drain water into the Concho Street ditch. In addition, he said, "the county is doing a good job south of the (continued on page 8)

The Connie Hagar Wildlife Sanctuary, paralleling Highway 35 through most of Rockport, is a never-ending source of entertainment to residents of this busy little coastal town and to hundreds of tourists. Thousands of waterfowl and shore birds make this their winter home here and seem to pay no attention to the people who come to look at and photograph them.

The narrow strip of land and water, starting at the southern city limits of Rockport and extending to include Fulton Harbor, was designated a sanctuary by the Texas Legislature in 1939, largely through the efforts of Mrs. Connie Hagar and other interested persons. At that time it was designated the Rockport Wildlife Sanctuary.

In 1967, an amendment was introduced and passed which re-named the sanctuary to honor (continued on page 8)

City Delivery Service To Be Extended

Postmaster Maynard Rowan announced today that final approval for extension of motorized curbside delivery service to the postal patrons along West Market Street to Sunset Boulevard in Lazy Acres Subdivision and to the residents of West Terrace and Oak Terrace Subdivisions. The tentative date for establishment of this service is Saturday, March 9.

Patrons presently receiving mail on Star Route 1 in boxes 459 thru 501 will be converted to City delivery service; therefore it will be necessary that these patrons obtain their proper street address and letter it on their mail boxes in place of their present box number. This information can be obtained at the post office.

The conversion to city delivery service will provide delivery of parcel post packages, C.O.D.s, and special delivery mail directly to residences, and delivery of special delivery mail and perishable articles on Sundays and holidays. Each Star Route patron affected will receive a letter of information within the next several days.

All eligible patrons are urged to apply for this delivery service since the authority for additional vehicle, carrier, delivery service, and expenditure of funds is contingent upon a large percentage of eligible patrons taking advantage of this service.

Present city delivery patrons living along Market Street from the city limits east to the bay are requested to begin using "East" Market Street in their address in order to facilitate delivery of mail to patrons west of the city limits on Market Street.

Aransas County Business Population Increases 7.9%

The business population of Aransas County increased 7.9 percent during 1967, according to statistics released by Walter L. Frazer, district manager of the San Antonio office of Dun & Bradstreet, Inc.

Basing his facts on a physical count of the January, 1968 edition of the Dun & Bradstreet Reference Book, Frazer reports that in 1967 a total of 138 businesses were listed in Aransas County and today 149 businesses are listed.

Frazer noted that this month Dun & Bradstreet, Inc. is sending requests for financial statements to almost three million businesses listed in the Reference Book.

These statements are essential to the credit reports issued by the business information agency. The requests are sent to all businesses regardless of size, from the corner grocery to the million dollar manufacturer.

Because of the constant flux in the American business community, nearly 5,000 changes are now occurring daily in Reference Book data. Thus the multi-volume book must be re-issued every two months to keep up-to-date credit facts in the hands of manufacturers and wholesalers.

The credit report which stands behind each entry in the Reference Book contains such information as the firm's current payment record, history, ownership, operation, financial stability.

Any workers wishing to turn money in now, can do so by calling SO 4-2928, and someone will come by your home for the envelope. Give . . . so more will live.

New School Bus Ordinance Explained

Chief of Police Bob Hewes advised the Pilot that after approximately 10 days of warnings on the newly adopted school bus ordinance he has found that most drivers did not know they had to stop when meeting a school bus loading or unloading children.

He explained that the ordinance states that when overtaking or passing a school bus from either direction while the school bus is stopped to take on or discharge passengers all vehicles must stop and then may proceed past the bus at a speed not exceeding 10 miles per hour.

Chief Hewes advised that it is better to slow down whenever you see a school bus even if it does not have its blinker lights on so that you can stop in time if the bus makes a stop. The bus drivers will give warning in plenty of time so motorists can stop if they are not driving too fast.

Hewes stated that strict enforcement of the School Bus Ordinance and of the speed zones in the school area will be enforced. He further explained that the fine for violating the School Bus Ordinance is a fine not exceeding $200.00.

A $54,000 federal matching grant has been approved for development of outdoor recreation facilities at Goose Island State Park, 12 miles north of Rockport, according to Will Odom, chairman of the Parks and Wildlife Commission.

These funds will be matched by appropriations made earlier by the State Legislature in a $108,000 development project at the 307-acre state park.

Facilities to be included in the project are restrooms, tent camping units, trailer camping units, shelters, roads, parking areas and utilities. The project also includes design, layout, site preparation and landscaping.

The park was acquired in 1935 and is surrounded by waters from St. Charles and Aransas Bays on the Texas Gulf Coast. A 2,000-year-old live oak tree, believed to be the oldest and largest of its kind in the world, is one of the main attractions at the park.

Aransas Wildlife Refuge, wintering grounds for the whooping crane, is just across St. Charles Bay.

Odom said this project marks the 19th approval of funds for state park development from the Federal Land and Water Conservation Act funds. The Federal Land and Water Conservation fund program is administered on the federal level by the Bureau of Outdoor Recreation, U. S. Department of the Interior.

TOM SHULTS BUSIEST MAN IN TOWN

Tom Shults was the busiest man in town this past week and had more headaches than any one man needs.

A rain that totaled about three inches hit the already water-logged area, with the result that practically everything everywhere overflowed, flooded or went out of kilter.

That he did a fine job of trouble shooting was evident all over town where he and his crew could be seen hard at work installing drainage ditches, culverts, pumping water from low places, and otherwise repairing the damage done by unprecedented rains.

EDITOR'S VIEWPOINTS

WHO NEEDS TO?

A spokesman for one of the American Medical Association's departments brings up a brand new dilemma: "Almost every state has a statute saying when a man's heart stops beating, he is legally dead.

With the perfection of a mechanical heart in sight, what will be a man's legal status when the day comes that his heart stops beating and he goes on with a substitute.

Obviously, it wouldn't be fair to deprive this citizen of his voting rights. But since they are broadening the franchise anyway, wouldn't it be fair to give a vote to the machine as well?

Of course the machine can't read—but who needs to?—Manchester (N.H.) Union-Leader.

SEASON TO TASTE—AND SPRAY!

Reading the newspapers (as we have remarked before) is a fascinating pastime. Consider the story a few days ago in which a Florida fisheries expert announced his discovery that fish don't like the smell of people any better than people like the smell of fish.

The expert, a Mr. John Woods, went even further. He suggested a cure for smelly fishermen whose odor has been scaring the fish away from the bait. He suggested mixing two ounces of bourbon whiskey with sugar and salt, mixing well, placing the solution in an atomizer and spraying yourself with it. (It isn't—he says—that the fish love the smell of whiskey, just that it covers up the smell of the fisherman.)

Maybe the Woods-Bourbon method will catch fish; we wouldn't know about that. But we know what's going to happen to the fisherman who tries it when he gets home.

Can you imagine facing the angry-eyed little woman, after such a bourbon bath, and explaining: "Honestly, dear, I've just been fishing!"—Washington (Ia.) Journal.

A LONG SLOW PROCESS

Give some people an inch and they'll take 2.54 centimeters, or even 25.4 millimeters. A lot of people would like to anyway, if only the United States would get in step with the 90 per cent of the world that uses the metric system of weights and measures.

Among those who think it is the time to discard the inherited and awkward English measurements (they can hardly be dignified as a system), which were originally based on the length of some king's forearm or the distance somebody's ox could pull a plow without getting winded, is Rep. George P. Miller, D-Calif. For years he has introduced bills in Congress to authorize a study by the National Bureau of Standards of just what would be involved in converting to the metric system, which he calls "the unique and universal language of science and technology."—St. Thomas (Ont.) Times Journal.

HOW SPAIN HANDLES THE BEATNIKS

We wouldn't care to live under the iron-fisted rule of Franco's Spain. Still, his dictatorial government has a way of treating beatniks which we find appealing.

FORMER MOVIE MEN MEET HERE

OLDTIME MOVIE MEN MEET—James Ash (left) and H. C. Gantz recently met for the first time in the Rockport Chamber of Commerce building and discovered that both were in the movie business in Hollywood at the same time in the 1920's. Ash, from Saugus, Calif., now vacationing in the Rockport area, was a stunt man and assistant director in crime movies, and Gantz, now living here, was a movie cameraman. Also shown in the photo is Mrs. Ash.

Two men recently came to the Chamber of Commerce building, about a minute apart, to get information about the area.

While receiving brochures, maps and other material, they got to visiting and quickly discovered that in the 1920's both were in the motion picture business in Hollywood at the same time. They had never met, but they knew many of the same actors, producers, directors and technicians that both had worked with.

One of the men was James Ash of Saugus, Calif., who with his wife is living in a travel trailer at Fulton Trailer Park while vacationing here. Ash used to be a stunt man and assistant director for crime movies. He well remembers one movie starring Richard Arlen, one of the most popular actors for many years. The film centered around auto racing, and Ash drove the race car which gave Arlen tough competition before Arlen finally crossed the finish line in first place.

The other man was H. C. Gantz who with his wife is now living here. Gantz is a World War I veteran and former Hollywood cameraman for silent pictures. He was cameraman for the original "Hunchback of Notre Dame" in which Lon Chaney starred.

Gantz also was a cameraman for educational and industrial motion picture made in the Middle West. He made the first sound motion picture of the birth of a baby. He made a series of training films for doctors and nurses on obstetrics for Dr. Joseph E. DeLee.

A former pilot, Gantz soloed in 1919 in a Jenny. He made aerial mapping photographs and designed and built special cameras and equipment for animated movies. At one time, he was technical editor for Compton's Picture Encyclopedia, and also has been a newspaper writer, feature writer, cartoonist and seascope artist.

During World War II he was on General Arnold's staff and was responsible for maintenance of all photographic equipment in the Air Corps. Later he was in command of the training academy at Hal Roach Studios in Culver City, Calif., training cameramen for combat movie work.

Gantz also is an artist and currently has paintings on display at Rockport School and Gallery of Fine Arts and has one, titled "South Pacific," on display at Corky's Restaurant.

Brief Articles On the Draft Law And Regulations

(Editor's note: This is one of a series of 10 short articles on the draft law and its rules and regulations.)

The rights of men registered with a draft board are guarded by appeal regulations, appeals from local board decisions being heard by four Texas appeal boards and one appeal board panel.

Both the national and state directors of Selective Service may appeal from the determination of a draft board at any time, and government appeal agents may appeal at any time before a man is mailed an induction order.

A man registered with a board, any person who claims to be his dependent, his employer under certain circumstances, and others may appeal to the appeal board from any classification.

The registered man and the others named above, in most cases, are allowed 30 days from date a notice of classification is mailed to file the appeal. Regulations allow a longer period, 60 days, when the man is outside certain U.S. territories and foreign countries, or is on the high seas.

A draft board may allow appeals beyond these time limits if it is satisfied that the failure of the person to appeal within the period was due to the lack of understanding or to some cause beyond his control.

The person who desires to appeal must file written notice with the local board. The notice need not be in any particular form, but must state the registered man's name and the identity of the person appealing.

When an appeal involves occupational deferment, and the place of employment is outside the local appeal board area, the person appealing may request appeal to the appeal board having jurisdiction over the place of employment. Current residence outside the area also permits transfer of appeal.

When a man has been classified by an appeal board, and there is a dissenting vote, he and certain others may appeal to the President of the United States by filing a request with the local board.

Mrs. Minta Lancaster was in Lake Charles, La. last week-end to attend the wedding of her granddaughter, Cynthia Lancaster to Francis Riley, last Saturday in that city. She returned home Sunday.

Cure Toothaches Before They Start

In bygone days, some people believed that kissing a donkey would cure a toothache. Others believed that a sprig of parsley hung around the neck would prevent a toothache. While modern dentistry has dispelled odd superstitions, there are still misconceptions about dental health.

During the week of Feb. 4 through 10, the nation will observe the 20th anniversary of National Children's Dental Health Week. Its purpose is to provide sound dental health information to children and parents, and to remove misconceptions about dental health.

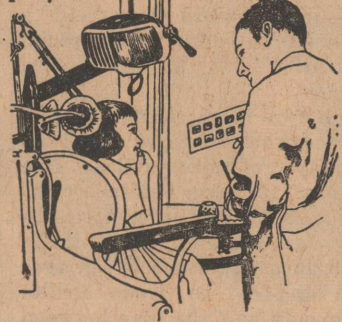

Today, people don't go around kissing donkeys, but some still believe that dental caries (decay)—the cause of a toothache—can be cured. It can't. Dental decay can be removed from a tooth and the tooth filled. And, with proper care—by cleaning the teeth after meals and by cutting down on sweets—the decay possibly won't recur.

Decay can be prevented—not by parsley, but by fluoridation. Countless studies of children in fluoridated communities have proved that fluoride in the water prevents decay by about 65 per cent. And, if fluoride is not in the water, the dentist can either paint a child's teeth with a fluoride substance, or he can prescribe dietary fluorides. The American Dental Association says some fluoride toothpastes are recognized as effective in decay-prevention.

Here are some important facts about dental health:

—Baby (primary) teeth are important. They save the proper eruption space for permanent teeth and are necessary for chewing, speech and appearance.

—Milk does not prevent decay, it helps the teeth form properly.

—Sweets are a causative factor in decay and their consumption should be limited, probably to meal times.

—A great proportion of children have some type of gum disease. If untreated, the disorders will become more serious as the child grows. Gum disease is the greatest cause of adult tooth loss.

—Destroyed tooth enamel cannot be repaired. If a tooth stops aching, this means the pulp has been infected—an indication of real trouble.

Very few people are "immune" to dental decay. Approximately 98 per cent of the population suffers from caries. But regular toothbrushing, fluoridation and routine dental care will greatly reduce decay. 4-68

Asks for One Shell, Receives Box Full

Carmen Carrillo, 7th grader in Del Rio, wrote to the Rockport Chamber of Commerce and asked for information about the area for an essay.

The Chamber sent detailed information including brochures, industrial profile, maps, data about Aransas National Wildlife Refuge, Goose Island and other interesting places, and facts about why Rockport is such a fine place to live and to visit.

Carmen wrote back and said: "I really enjoyed the information which you sent me. So far I have been one of those who has gotten some of the most information. I took a long time reading and seeing it and when I don't have anything to do I look at it over and over."

"You probably think I am kind of funny because I am writing you back to thank you, but it's only because I really liked the information. One thing which really fascinated me was the shell collecting because I love shells."

"So one last thing I am asking for—at least one small shell."

The Chamber of Commerce sent Carmen a box full of beautiful, polished shells representing many varieties.

Easter Seal Letters Being Delivered

Easter Seal Appeal letters are to be delivered this week in Aransas County according to Henry Patton, the Easter Seal representative of the Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults of Texas.

As representative, Patton serves as contact representative for disabled persons needing Easter Seal rehabilitation services and also serves as treasurer of the Easter Seal Appeal in Aransas County.

The Easter Seal Society offers physical and occupational therapy, speech and hearing programs and special equipment loans to enable disabled persons to make the best use of their abilities to overcome handicaps. These services are financed by the annual Easter Seal Appeal.

The Society also provides for research into the causes and cures of crippling conditions, finances public education programs, and provides scholarships for training of professional personnel to staff rehabilitation centers.

Patton pointed out that all these programs are important if Texas is going to continue to provide the best in rehabilitation services for its own disabled citizens.

During 1967, the Texas Easter Seal Society provided treatment and services to 17,622 children and adults who were in need of rehabilitation services. These services are available to any disabled person who can benefit from help provided by the Easter Seal Society, Patton added.

The Easter Seal Campaign will run through Easter Sunday, April 14.

Mrs. R. O. Thomas of Little Rock, Ark. visited in the home of her niece, Mrs. D. M. Tate, of Fulton for two weeks.

Ladies Address Lamar Club

A bright red cherry tree in the center of the table and flags waving in red gum drops marking the birthday of George Washington presented the theme for the February meeting of the Lamar Woman's Club at Sea Gun Sports Inn. Invocation was given by Mrs. J. B. Greeson followed by a delicious baked ham dinner with cherry pie.

The president, Mrs. Edward Hall, called the meeting to order, introducing and welcoming each of the guests and then asking for the reading of the minutes, two thank you cards and the report of committee chairmen.

After a brief business meeting the program was turned over to Mrs. Walter Heldenfels who in turn introduced the guest speakers, Mrs. J. H. Mills and Mrs. A. E. Sparks. As George Washington was known as the founder of our country, Mrs. J. H. Mills and her late husband, J. H. Mills, were known as the founders of the St. Charles Bay Hunting Club in Lamar.

Mrs. Mills gave a delightful talk on the Mills family move from Lake Medina to Lamar in June 1923. As there were no paved roads or the causeway, the move had to be made by boat from Rockport to a pier on the Lamar Peninsula and then by truck to the club house over sand trails and ruts. When they arrived on Lamar there were only two other families living here, the R. S. Johnson family and Mrs. McCrear and her daughter.

The Hunting Club was opened the following winter with 30 hunters arriving by car to Rockport and then by boat to Lamar. The present day hunter would be surprised to learn that the limit of ducks then was 25 a day and a limit of 75 ducks a week to take home. Also the club could serve duck on the table so most hunters gave their first kill to the club, allowing them more shots.

The guides, the Mills sons, took the hunters out with two bottles of water, a packed lunch and would put out decoys, call the ducks and then wade out to pick up the kill. They would clean the ducks for a nickle a piece.

Mrs. Mills also related several amusing incidents with the whole family and the hired help involved, also some of the hardships they had to endure as there was no plumbing in the club house and each room had to have a fresh pitcher of water every morning that had to be pumped by hand from the well.

Pictures of the club house, the weeks kill of ducks and the family were shown. Mr. and Mrs. Mills operated the club for nine years and then built Mills' Wharf and moved their family there to operate a fishing and hunting club with a motel added later.

Then Mrs. Mills introduced Mrs. A. E. Sparks as the first school teacher in Lamar for the four Mills and four Johnson children. Mrs. Sparks, then Emma Bracht, fresh out of college and her first teaching position, taught the first through the eighth grades in a one room school. Her salary was $60 a month out of which she paid $15.00 a month to the Johnson family for her room and board.

She remembers how each afternoon she would see Mrs. Mills driving down the sand ruts to have coffee with Mrs. Johnson and how she and all the children would be shooed out of the room so the ladies could visit and even today how they still have that afternoon coffee.

After much reminiscing and questions and answers the meeting came to a close. Hostesses for the occasion were Mrs. Robert Fleming and Mrs. John Luker, who was unable to attend due to a fall in her Houston home resulting in a broken shoulder.

Guests were Mrs. Maggie Shropshire, Gonzales; Mrs. C. E. Frenzel, Corpus Christi; Mrs. Flowers, Lockhart; and the guest speaker, Mrs. J. H. Mills, Rockport, and Mrs. A. E. Sparks, Corpus Christi. Sixteen members attended. The table decorations were furnished by Gayna of the Flowers by Gayna shop.

Advice on Income Tax Returns

Taxpayers who kept good financial records last year should have no trouble preparing their 1967 Federal income tax return, Asa L. Crow, administrative officer of the Corpus Christi office of Internal Revenue Service, stressed today.

Complete records are especially important, the IRS spokesman said, to taxpayers who elect to itemize deductions in filing.

Accurate expense records are essential if a taxpayer's return is selected for audit, and all records should be retained for as long as they may become material in the administration of any internal revenue law.

Another advantage, he declared, is that taxpayers with good records can complete and mail their Federal tax returns as soon as they receive their W-2 withholding tax certificates, thus eliminating last-minute searches for such papers as the April 15 filing deadline draws near.

He also suggested that, through 1968, records and receipts should be accumulated to ease the tax filing job for 1969. A final tip: A copy of the previous year's return is one of the best guides for preparing the current return.

Parsley grows well in any good soil.

Brownie Girl Scout News

Troop 431 and Troop 11 Troop 431 went to the Post Office. Mr. Rowan welcomed the girls and took them through the Post Office. He started from where the mail came in, showed how the mail was put up, and the mail was put in the boxes.

He told the girls how their letters were put in order of each state and sent out. Then he told how important the zip code was in mailing their letters. He gave the girls who didn't know their zip code a card with the zip code on it. He also showed the girls the award that the Rockport Post Office received.

The girls wrote Thank You letters to Mr. Rowan for being very nice and showing them the Post Office.

I want to thank Mrs. Nelson, Mrs. Ogle, Mrs. Armstrong and Mrs. Green for helping out with the trip. We were sorry that Mrs. Rice was sick and could not go.

Troop 11 did not have their meeting last week due to bad weather. We hope to finish our aprons so we can start on our trips to the fire station and other places. I would like all mothers to know that camp registration will begin April 1. Thank you.

—Troop Leader, Mrs. Floyd Coole.

New Social Security Protection For The Younger Worker

By H. M. Cleveland
District Manager

New protection for the disabled young worker and his family stands out among the new provisions in the social security law signed by President Johnson on Jan. 2 of this year.

A new change in the disability benefit provisions helps young workers who became disabled before they had a chance to work under social security for at least five years.

Before this change a disabled worker needed social security credits for at least five out of 10 years before becoming disabled in order to qualify for benefits. Now, if he becomes disabled between ages 28 and 31, he needs credits for only half the time between age 21 and the time he becomes unable to work. If disabled before age 24, he needs only 1½ years of work under social security out of a three-year period ending when his disability began.

Benefits under this new provision are first payable for the month of February, 1968.

The new law could mean benefits even for some people who have recovered from their disabling condition, or if they were denied benefits previously because they lacked enough work credits. Get in touch with your social security office at 1802 South Staples in Corpus Christi if you think you qualify.

JR. G.I. FORUM

The Junior G.I. Forum members went to George West on Feb. 20 to attend the Forum's District 7 meeting. The alternate ambassador to the United Nations, Dr. Hector R. WHERE TO FISH IN THIS AREA DURING SPRING

By DAN KLEPPER
San Antonio
News Outdoor Editor

Editor's Note: This is the first of a two-part series of columns on good spring fishing spots in the Rockport-Fulton-Lamar area of the Texas Coast.

Spring fishing in the Rockport area of the Texas coast is about as uncomplicated as a fisherman could want it.

Fred Christilles, long-time charter boatman in the Rockport region, revealed the all-important key to successful angling when he said:

"In the winter I fish the west side, in the summer, the east side."

The reason is simple. It's a matter of wind.

Note that Christilles didn't include the spring in his condensed version of how and when to fish the waters with which he is so familiar.

That's because springs in Texas can be tricky. The weather can run hot and cold from one week to the next.

When winds from Pacific or Arctic cold fronts whip in from the north and northwest, the angler can catch his fish by staying on the mainland sides of the shallow bays in the area.

Then, as the warm prevailing winds from the southwest become dominant, the fisherman can move to the island side to find protected, clear waters.

Pinpointing a decent fishing spot is just about as easy as telling which side of the bay to fish when the wind is blowing.

The bays around Rockport — Copano, Port, Aransas, Mesquite, St. Charles, San Antonio and Hynes—are heavily congested with fish-producing reefs.

For example, almost all the small reefs in Little Mesquite Bay — and there are a lot of them — attract fish. Most of the party boats don't bother to go all the way to Mesquite Bay, however. The fishing generally is just as good closer to home.

Long Reef is a favorite. The reef is located between five and six miles northeast of Rockport, where a chain of bars stretches from the intracoastal canal east to St. Joseph's Island.

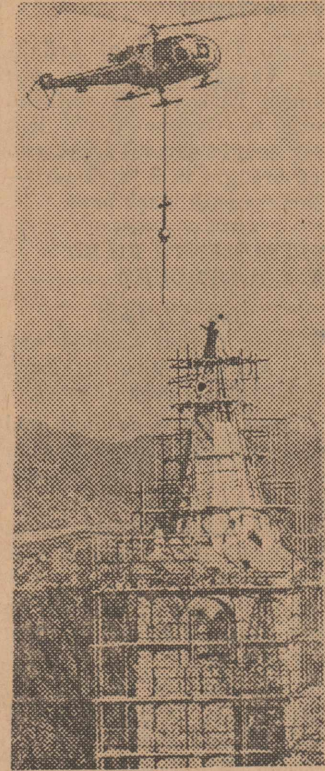

There is 8 to 12 feet of water all the way from Rockport to Fulton to Long Reef, and the charter boatmen can make good running time with a load of paying fishermen.

Anglers will take more speckled trout than any other species off Long Reef.

"We get a duke's mixture, mostly trout with a few redfish, drum and flounder," said Christilles. "Most of the fishermen I take out want action, so we go for trout."

If the prevailing southeast wind gets a little stiff, the angler still can fish Long Reef by moving toward the island to Paul's Mott.

Or he can move across Aransas Bay into Copano where he will find plenty of protection from southeast winds, especially in the Rattlesnake Point area near the mouth of Port Bay. Copano Reef on the bank side of Copano Bay is another good place for trout.

NEW CROSS for old Swiss church tower posed a problem in engineering until benefactor in helicopter made the installation in 65 seconds.

A hot spot during the spring migrations of fish is the natural cut that separates Matagorda from St. Joseph's Islands.

The cut, called Cedar Bayou, is a dedicated fish pass that runs from the Gulf into Mesquite Bay.

Fishing generally is best on an incoming tide, and an angler can expect to tangle with trout, reds, flounders and various other species.

Another top flounder gigging spot is on the back side of Mud Island about five miles south of Rockport, where the fish move out of the Lydia Ann Channel area to the shallow flats.

CLAIMING STANDARD DEDUCTION VS. ITEMIZING DEDUCTIONS

Should you claim the Standard Deduction, or itemize your deductions? This is something each taxpayer has to decide for himself, says Asa L. Crow, administrative officer of Internal Revenue for Corpus Christi.

If a tax payer is a homeowner paying interest and taxes, and if he made unusually large contributions, paid large medical expenses, or had a theft or other casualty loss, his tax will ordinarily be less if he itemizes deductions. However, if the total of his deductions is less than either the 10 percent standard or the minimum standard deduction, then it will probably be better to take the standard deduction.

Where married persons file separate returns both husband and wife either itemize deductions or claim the same type standard deduction. A husband can't itemize while his wife takes the standard deduction.

The appropriate tax table, shown in the instructions, is used to determine the tax on incomes under $5,000 when either the 10 per cent or minimum standard deduction is claimed.

Most taxpayers can prepare their own returns by closely following the instructions provided with the forms.

Bonds Offered As Refund Option

Savings Bond chairman for Aransas County, Fred Bracht today reminded taxpayers that the Treasury Department will once again offer them the opportunity of taking income tax refunds in United States Savings Bonds.

The savings option, introduced in 1963, is in addition to the two standard options of taking tax refunds in cash or applying them to next year's tax.

"When a taxpayer elects to take his refund in Series E Bonds," Bracht said, "his money goes to work immediately on two jobs. It begins to build his financial security. At the same time, it contributes to our country's economic strength. Those who elect the U. S. Savings Bond option join millions of Americans who are investing in their country's future in this way."

"When you check the Savings Bond line on your 1967 tax form," he continued, "you automatically assure yourself of two advantages: You provide yourself with an easy method of holding on to your tax refund dollars and a sure way of making it grow one-third larger at maturity. When your mark is made, the rest is automatic. For example, if you're entitled to a refund of $42, you'll get a $50 face value Series E Bond (cost $37.50), plus a check for $4.50.

Bracht said "choosing Bonds is the surest way I know of to make your tax refund really mean something to you."

city bringing water into the city, and the city is taking it to the bay."

Other actions at the Council meeting included:

—Miss Lorna Hamilton, representing Simon G. Michael, said the Rockport School of Fine Arts and Gallery, would like to have city sewer service. The city will check the grade to extend the nearest sewer line and also the cost.

—Council passed an ordinance amending the city zoning map to conform with recent actions giving Hubert Johnson permission to erect rental cottages in the Mathis division. This meant changing the area from R-2 residential to B-1 business classification.

—Passed an ordinance amending the drilling ordinance. The amendment pertains to drilling oil or gas wells in the bay areas within the city limits and emphasizes that the City will make such requirements as are necessary to protect the health and safety of the residents and the beauty of the area. The requirements will cover where the production facilities will be located, type of well head, etc.

—To assist mailmen in delivering mail to homes west of the city, the Council voted to designate streets, such as Market, as east on the bay side of Fuqua and west on the west side of Fuqua. People wanting to put up street address numbers within the corporate limits of the city may find out what the numbers are by calling the City Hall.

—On the recommendation of Chief of Police Bob Hewes, the Council voted to put up "Yield" signs at the intersection of Picton Lane and Fulton Beach Road, and Glass Avenue and Fulton Beach Road.

talents and their new home-making department at an Open House, Friday night, Mar. 8. (The Open House will be held immediately following the band concert.)

The new home-making department, which opened in December, consists of a clothing room, foods laboratory, laundry laboratory, dining-living room and a film classroom. The major appliances in the foods laboratory were donated by Central Power and Light Co. and Aransas Natural Gas Co.

One hundred girls are enrolled in the home-making program this year. These girls will be displaying garments they have made, home projects, special sewing skills and techniques. Also, the Home-making II girls are serving refreshments they have prepared as part of their class requirement. Their menu includes:

Petit Fours
Cherry Slices, Date Cookies
Molded Mints, Bon-Bons
Lime Punch

The FHA members will give flower favors to all visitors. Senior physics students at Rockport-Fulton High School will demonstrate the use of new physics equipment in Room 3, Friday night, Mar. 8, after the band and choir concert.

Room 3 is the physics lab. It is located in the new science wing and was first opened to physics in January of this year.

The new lab is furnished with six stations which enable the students to perform experiments in groups of two. Each station has ample counter space for setting up such apparatus as a steam boiler or linear expansion apparatus.

The thirteen members of the class have not only used the above mentioned equipment in experiments, but have also calibrated a thermometer, studied the use of a photometer in the calculation of the intensity of an unknown light source, and studied the effect of added pressure on the boiling point of water.

In conjunction with Public Schools Week, the new building which houses the Business Department will be open after the band concert Friday evening, March 8.

Representative students in the various business classes will be working on daily projects in Room A-2 as follows:

Bookkeeping students will be journalizing and posting entries in their Practice Sets. Shorthand students will be transcribing their notes on the typewriter. Typing I students will be typing business reports and Typing II students will be typing legal documents.

Board of Realtors
Holds Meeting

The Aransas-San Patricio County Board of Realtors met Feb. 21 for their regular meeting at Ingleside.

The guest speaker, Dick Jones, supervisor of sales and marketing, Del Mar College, who discussed "Psychology of Real Estate Salesmanship."

Attending from Rockport were Mrs. Anna Wishert, R. L. Irwin, Nan Irwin, M. W. Cochran, Mrs. "Pepper" Everett, Mrs. Gladys Nelson, Jay Maston and Port Little.

Fulton Teachers
Attend Meeting

Mrs. Dixie Roe and Mrs. Billy Griffith, members of the George Fulton Elementary faculty, were interested visitors at the meeting on Feb. 23 of the South Texas Council of the Texas Association for Children with Learning Disabilities. They were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Freeborn.

The program consisted of a round table discussion with a psychologist, a speech therapist, a testing program director, and a remedial teacher and parents.

This group is attempting to interest parents, teachers and others in this new organization. It attempts to help those students with a correctable problem. These problems are new but recent psychological developments have identified some of them and provided some answers to the problem.

Their next meeting will be on March 29 at Munds Hall in Corpus Christi.

SICKLER CHILDREN
COMPLETE VISIT

Mrs. Zelda Christian and four children of Saint Paul Park, Minn., and Terri Sickler and Joni Ryan of Minneapolis, Minn., left for their homes Saturday after spending 12 enjoyable days with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Sickler.

While here they took a tour into Old Mexico which they enjoyed a lot. The highlights of their visit in this area was their trip on the M/V Whooping Crane vessel which carried them very close to the cranes at the Wildlife Refuge. They were able to obtain many good pictures.

Mrs. Christian is employed by the Federal Government. Miss Sickler is employed at the University of Minnesota where Miss Ryan is attending school.

WILDLIFE SANCTUARY—

Mrs. Hagar.

Mrs. Hagar recently made an inspection tour of the sanctuary with Mr. Tom D. Moore, Regional Director of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department to examine the new signs erected by the department. These signs are built of heavy 2-inch lumber with deeply carved lettering and are designed to withstand the ravaging effects of salt water and hurricane winds.

A world-renowned amateur ornithologist, Mrs. Hagar is still active in bird watching circles. She spends much of her time lecturing to civic groups and schools and edits an outdoor column for the local newspaper. As a recognized expert in her field, she is in constant communication with ornithologists all over the world.

TEXAS TRAVEL HANDBOOK ISSUED

Austin—An expanded edition of the popular Texas Travel Handbook has been released by the Texas Highway Department.

First issued last year as an aid to pleasure travel in Texas, the enlarged second edition now lists nearly 400 cities and towns, and includes more than 2,500 individual items of interest. The 208-page handbook also contains 112 photographs which provide travelers with previews of such attractions as the aerial tramway in El Paso, and Presidio La Bahia near Goliad.

Handbook subjects are as varied as the state itself, ranging from the melancholy Empty Saddle Monument in Dalhart to the humerus Popeye statue in Crystal City.

With the Texas Travel Handbook as a guide, travelers may discover dinosaur tracks, Indian pictographs and buried cities. They will learn the locations of little-known ghost towns, and follow specific directions to the most popular attractions of modern Texas cities.

Special sections are devoted to recreational facilities in Texas national state forests, and in more than 55 state parks. Summaries of Texas hunting and fishing regulations are provided, as well as information on visiting Mexico.

Like all Highway Department travel literature, the handbook is free. Since its initial publication last year, the guide has become a major item among more than four million pieces of travel material distributed annually by the Texas Highway Department.

The guide is available to three-quarters of a million visitors who stop at Highway Department Tourist Bureaus

Mr. and Mrs. George F. Kiger of Momence, Ill., were named "Tourists of the Week" in the Chamber of Commerce hospitality program.

After having been in the Valley, they stopped in Rockport on the recommendation of Kiger's brother who lives in Dallas but considers Rockport an ideal vacation area.

Kiger is president of the Kiger Lumber Co. of Momence and is active in the Momence Chamber of Commerce and the Illinois State Chamber of Commerce. He said he thought the "Tourist of the Week" project was an "excellent idea for many reasons and when I get home I intend to tell my fellow members at the Momence Chamber of Commerce about it."

"Tourist of the Week" prizes made available to Mr. and Mrs. Kiger by local members of the Chamber of Commerce included:

Night's lodging at Sandollar Motel; gift certificate, H.E.B. Family Center; gift certificate, Hobby Workshop; corsage, "A" Blossom Shop; floating key chain holder, Marineland; two fishing trips or birdwatching trips on the "Whooping Crane" motor vessel, Sea Gun Sports Inn; and gift certificate, Johnson's Rexall Drug Store.

SURVIVORS

Survivors of Pvt. Alfred Medina, 19, who was killed in Vietnam, are his father, Alfredo Medina; his stepmother and two sisters, Olivia and Marie; and his grandparents, Joe Medina, and Mr. and Mrs. Guadalupe Ramirez of Waco.

INTERNAL REVENUE SERVICE Question and Answer Column

This column of questions and answers on Federal tax matters is provided by the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q—I want to deduct my medical insurance premiums but can't find the place to do this on the tax form. Where do they go?

A—Enter your medical insurance premiums on Page 2 of Form 1040. Use the first and fifth lines of Part IV, Itemized Deductions.

The premiums can't be deducted on Form 1040A. That form can only be used by taxpayers who don't itemize deductions.

Q—Is income from a scholarship taxable?

A—Scholarships and fellowship grants are tax free within certain limitations. For more details, send a post card to your District Director and ask for Document No. 5575, "Scholarships and Fellowships."

General tax information for students is contained in the new publication, "Tax Information for Students and Parents," Document No. 5972. Both are free.

Q—I'm in a car pool and drive over 40 miles to work and back. Can we take a 10¢ a mile deduction for business travel?

A—No. Tax law considers commuting to work a personal expense and therefore no deduction is allowed. A deduc-tion is allowed, however, for state and local gas taxes if you itemize. This is explained on Page 9 of the 1040 instructions.

Q—I have a pension from my company as well as Social Security benefits. I know Social Security is not taxable but how about the company pension?

A—If the company paid the entire cost of the pension, the amounts you received will be fully taxable. If you paid part of the cost, only a portion of your pension benefits will be taxed.

If you will recover the total amount of your contribution within three years after you receive the first payment, your pension will not be taxed until you have recovered your cost. If you will not recover the amount of your contributions within the three years, a portion of the pension will be taxable each year.

Additional information on this subject may be found in IRS Document No. 5018, "Retirement Income and Credit." This document can be obtained by dropping a post card to your local IRS office.

Q—I paid off my home mortgage early and was charged a pre-payment penalty. Is that deductible?

A—Yes, it is deductible as interest if you itemize.

Q—I got a short form in the mail but I might have to file the regular Form 1040 this year. Where can I get a copy of it and the instructions?

A—Tax forms are available at many banks and post offices as well as at local offices of the IRS.

Q—My wife is visiting her family for a few weeks. If we file a joint return do I really need her signature? Our return is all set to go and I want to get the refund as soon as possible.

A—On joint returns, the signatures of both husband and wife are required. If signatures are missing any refund due you may be delayed.

Q—Our daughter started work last fall but my wife and I still support her. Can we claim her as a dependent?

A—It depends on several factors. To be eligible to claim her as a dependent you must have provided more than half her support for the year. However, if she earned $600 or more during the year then she must either be under 19 at the end of the year or a full-time student during five months of the year for her to still qualify as a dependent.

Q—Under what conditions can a person 65 or over sell a house and not have to pay any tax on the profits?

A—There will be no tax to pay if:

1. You were 65 or older before the date of the sale.
2. The adjusted sale price was $20,000 or less.
3. You owned and occupied the house as your principal residence for at least five of the eight years preceding the sale.

If the adjusted sales price was over $20,000 and the other conditions are met, then only a portion of the profit will be taxable. Details on this and other benefits are contained in the booklet, "Tax Benefits for Older Americans," Document No. 5569. For a free copy, drop a post card to your IRS district director.
