Federal Government To Clean Up Debris

President Nixon Declares Coast Disaster Area

161 MPH Wind Sets New Record For Coast

Herman Johnson, Civil Defense Director, on Thursday released official information which will be of great interest to all persons in Aransas County whose properties are littered with debris dumped there by Hurricane Celia. He said the City Council at a special meeting Wednesday passed a resolution authorizing the Office of Emergency Planning to enter into contract, through the U.S. Corps of Engineers, to remove all debris from public and private property in the city. Aransas County Commissioners Court took the same action Wednesday, Johnson said.

This means that the Federal government is going to "pick up the tab" for the cost of removing tree limbs, boards, sections of sheet metal and other objects blasted from houses and buildings and scattered throughout the area.

Johnson said this action will necessitate each individual desiring to have debris removed from his property to sign a form authorizing the right of entry of representatives of the U.S. government upon the property from which debris is to be removed.

President Richard Nixon Tuesday declared the Texas Gulf Coast area a natural disaster area, thus releasing federal funds for relief operations. Disaster specialists considered the presidential response unusually fast.

Even before the declaration, however, the cumbersome federal machinery of different agencies and private organizations meshed gears in a united and coordinated effort to effect quick disaster relief along the Gulf Coast.

George Hastings, the nation's top hurricane recovery expert, led a nine-man team into the disaster area Tuesday morning. He had there helicopters at his disposal, borrowed from the Fourth Army at Fort Sam Houston in San Antonio.

The emergency Preparedness Office, which coordinates the relief efforts from its underground command post in Denton, kept the President informed through an elaborate radio hook-up.

Tuesday morning, before the presidential declaration, the Small Business Administration announced it would make emergency long term, low interest loans to repair businesses and homes. An SBA official said the loans are payable after 30 years.

The Farmers Home Administration made similar loan provisions for residents of the rural area.

The Department of Agriculture Tuesday diverted 3.4 million pounds of surplus food to the disaster area, to be distributed from warehouses still standing in Corpus Christi and Victoria.

Registration For Live Oak School

Students who were not enrolled in Live Oak Elementary School during the 1969-70 school year and did not register before school closed this past year are to come to the principal's office from 8:30 a.m. until 3:30 p.m., starting Aug. 10, 1970 to register.

It is necessary to bring birth certificates and immunization records for students entering school for the first time. Students who have attended other schools and will be entering Live Oak Elementary this year, need their report card or transcript of school work and their immunization record from the school they attended last year.

Students wishing to register before the above mentioned date should call the principal's office for an appointment.

Hurricane Celia, the deadliest to ever hit this area (some old timers may disagree) struck the Rockport area Monday afternoon about 3 p.m. with winds reaching a maximum of 161 miles an hour, according to gauges at International Airport in Corpus Christi, the highest ever recorded there.

Residents had been warned to leave the area since Sunday. Many were reluctant to leave, but as the hour of expected arrival of Celia drew near, the stream of cars leaving Aransas County increased until by 1:30 p.m. Monday cars were bumper to bumper on all highways leading out of the area.

However, many persons decided to "ride her out" and stay home. And quite a ride it was for many. Miraculously, there were no fatalities and very few accidents. There are 12 known dead in Texas, with Corpus Christi reporting property damage in excess of $230 million dollars. Five lost their lives in and 14 in Florida, bringing the total to 31. Five of the Texas deaths occurred in Corpus Christi, including three heart attacks and two attributed to the storm.

One estimate of the damage to Rockport was $1 million.

Lack of high water from rising tides and excessive rain kept the damage down to what it was. The excessive high winds were responsible for the damage as rainfall was relatively light.

Reported damage to area cities was very high, ranging as much as 90% in Aransas Pass, Port Aransas, Ingleside and Portland. It is estimated damage to Gregory, Taft and Sinton reached 75%. Damage to Rockport and surrounding subdivisions ranged approximately as high as 90%. Key Allegro, Palm Harbor and others suffered severe damage with those on waterfront having the greatest property damage. Even seemingly did not suffer as much as during Hurricane Beulah when a tornado did excessive damage, although many houses and buildings did sustain considerable damage.

It was apparent that trailer houses suffered the most. Some appeared to completely "blow up" with hardly any recognizable portions around. Much of the aluminum siding of the trailers was blown over large areas. Many buildings of galvanized sheet metal were completely destroyed, with flying sheets of metal doing great damage to other property that possibly would otherwise have escaped damage.

Almost all motels sustained damage, ranging from minor to heavy, with the waterfront ones being the brunt of the damage. One motel operator was looking for the roof of one of his apartments Wednesday. The section lost was about 100 x 40 feet.

Along S. Water Street the debris was piled high on each side of the street. Many streets running to the bay were washed out and closed to traffic.

Hardly a business house on Austin Street was spared. Probably the Western Auto Associate Store, owned by Glen Wagner, suffered the most damage. His building collapsed and he estimated damage in excess of $60,000. The roof of the Basin Drive-In Grocery was off and damage ran as high as $30,000, according to the owner.

It is a modest statement to say that every business house was damaged, some running into thousands of dollars.

Damage to residences is hard to estimate. Some homes, such as one belonging to Miss Katie Lee Clarke, was completely demolished. It is hard to list those that suffered the most. However, it was apparent that residences belonging to A. R. Griffith and Charles Roe, Sr., were among the most severely damaged. Many trailers were blown away and the names of the owners were not immediately known.

It was impossible to get the names of all owners of homes damaged. Those who were spared this should take a moment to meditate and give thanks to a Supreme Being who saw fit to spare them.

Requirements Announced For High School Registrations

All new students who are planning on attending Rockport-Fulton High School, grades nine through 12, should register in the principal's office of the high school from Aug. 3 through Aug. 14.

The office will be open from 8 a.m. to 12 and from 1 to 4:30 p.m. New students are those students who did NOT attend any of the Aransas County Public Schools; such as Rockport-Fulton Junior High or Rockport-Fulton High School.

Those students who satisfied requirements for promotion by completing work in summer school should register at the time specified for new students if they have not already done so.

Students who attended Rockport-Fulton High School last year and did not receive their report cards because of non-payment of fees should pay these fees on the dates listed above in order to be properly registered.

New students should bring their report cards, book card, and health record showing proof of having immunization for smallpox, tetanus, and diphtheria.

Male students are reminded of the school district's policy concerning the proper length and style of hair. The hair is considered to be proper length and style when:

1. The hair remains above the eyebrows when combed or styled.
2. The hair remains out of the eyes when combed forward.
3. The hair does not cover the ears.
4. The back of the hair is shingled and does not touch the collar.

5. The sideburns do not go past the bottom of the ear cavity.

Beards and mustaches are not acceptable.

Female students are reminded of the school district's policy concerning proper dress and hem length of the dress or skirt. The suggested hem length of the dress and skirt should not be more than three inches above the center of the kneecap when the student stands erectly. Short skirts or skirts shorter than the accepted local style for fashion at the present time is not acceptable school wear.

Student schedules will be ready for distribution to all students on Tuesday, Aug. 25. They may be picked up in the high school principal's office.

All new students should be enrolled before Aug. 31, 1970, as school will begin Aug. 31, 1970, and pupils should be prepared to meet all their classes the first day of school.

Most Churches Survive Celia

With the exception of the First Baptist Church in Rockport, most of the some 18 churches in Aransas County came through Hurricane Celia with surprisingly small damage.

Every church suffered some damage, some minor and others more extensive.

However, the First Baptist Church lost most of its roof and extensive damage was apparently done to the inside of the structure.

The entire county is proud of its many fine churches. Most of these structures were erected in the last few years.

WATER, SEWER SERVICE WILL BE RESTORED

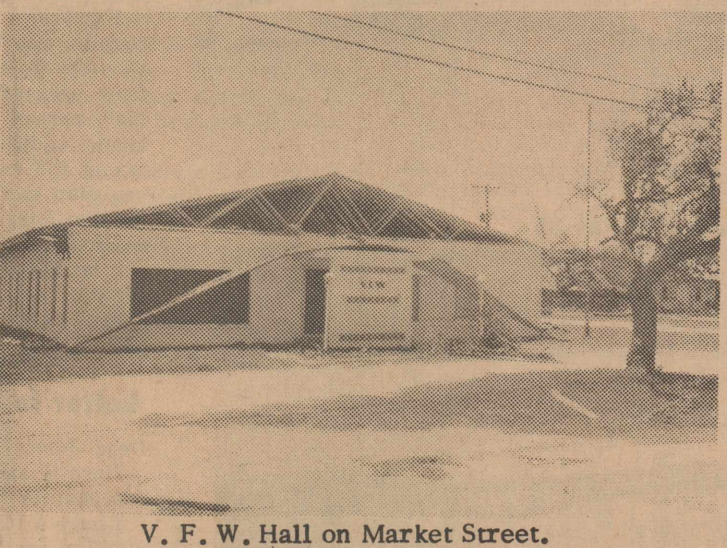

The City has seven emergency generators in operation and has more on order in attempting to supply residents with water and in trying to get the sewer lift stations in operation. Civil Defense Director Herman Johnson declared Thursday.

"We are doing the best we can," he said, "and we ask the residents to please bear with us."

BEWARE OF SNAKES

Local authorities warned residents of this area to be especially cautious and on the lookout for snakes as the aftermath of Hurricane Celia. The tremendous blasts of wind uprooted trees, plowed through brush and caused snakes to seek new hiding places, one official pointed out.

Utilities Work To Restore Services

With Central Power and Light Company and Southwestern Bell Telephone Company working practically around the clock to put utilities back into operation, we regret that we are unable to print this copy of The Pilot in our local plant.

We have tried to do our best to report to you in the best possible way the events of this week. We have decided to give you a pictorial view of some of the results of a very unpleasant lady, Celia.

About 50% of the telephone service has been restored, it is reported. (However, we have no service at home or at the office as yet).

Representatives of Central Power and Light Company have estimated that service will be in full force by the end of the week.

Water supply will be increased as electrical power is added.

WARNING ISSUED REGARDING WATER

Herman Johnson, Civil Defense Director, on Thursday issued the following warning about drinking-water:

"All water consumed by residents of Aransas County, whether the source is from water lines of the city or Aransas County Conservation and Reclamation District, should be boiled before drinking."

The same warning applies to water from water wells.

County Will Consider Ski Basin Patrol Boat

Aransas County has been requested by the Key Allegro Association to consider participating in the purchase of a patrol boat for the Ski Basin or furnishing a patrolman for this water area.

The request was made following the recent death of a youth in a water skiing accident in the Ski Basin. At its meeting last Friday the County Commissioners took no specific action, but stated that the request will be considered.

In other actions, the Commissioners:

--Gave the City "blanket permission" to install water connections across county roads.

--Announced that mosquito spraying will be resumed in those areas of the county where it is needed.

State To Supply Clean-Up Workers

Ross Freeman, Corpus Christi, representative of the Texas Employment Commission, announced Thursday that "We are setting up a temporary office in the Aransas Pass City to furnish employees to employers for clean-up and repair work.

"Anyone looking for work or needing workers is urged to contact us there," Freeman said. He stated that his personnel will attempt to locate workers in Aransas Pass, Rockport, Aransas and Ingleside.

Taxpayers Ask IRS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q) I read that if you add a front porch to your house the cost is deductible? Is that right?

A) No, the cost is not deductible. The cost, however, can be added to the basis of your house and taken into account in determining your gain or loss on any future sale.

Ordinarily and routine maintenance costs around the house, such as painting and repairs are not deductible. Only when the expense adds to the value of the house or increases its life do tax considerations arise.

Q) I filed my return three months ago and my refund still hasn't come. What should I do?

A) Write your regional IRS service center or call your local IRS office. Be sure to give your Social Security number, name, address, and when your return was filed. This information is needed to trace your return.

Most refund claims have already been processed and the checks mailed out.

Q) I was married last month and plan to continue working for another year or so. Should I make any change in my tax withholding?

A) You may want to file a new withholding certificate with your employer claiming married status. This will reduce your withholding.

However, many married couples who both are employed elect to have tax withheld from each of them as a "single" person to avoid owing large additional amount of tax at the end of the year. If you plan to file a joint return for the year as most couples do, your final tax liability will not be affected regardless of whether you or your husband claims your personal exemption.

Letter to the Editor

Dear John:

Here is another snake story for you for what it is worth.

I have a fifteen-year-old boy working for me, Richard Chavez, son of Luiz Chavez, who works for Jackson Seafood Industries.

Last week, Richard was raking leaves in the back yard with a wire grass rake and encountered a snake. It turned out to be nearly 4½ feet—and a copperhead. The snake met its demise.

I suspected its mate would be nearby, but we couldn't find it.

We had been trimming trees and throwing the trimmings over the fence so as to haul them off to the dump the next day. The next day, we loaded all this trash in the trailer and proceeded to the Fulton dump. This time, Richard had an iron rake and was pulling from the rear while I was pushing aft from the front.

Underneath all this trash appeared what I would assume to be the other snake's mate, but about a foot smaller—and very much alive! (Incidentally, I know the difference between a copperhead and a chicken snake.)

Anyway, Richard jumped into that trailer and he and that snake had quite a time. I told Richard to get out of the trailer, but he must not have heard. At any rate, he came out victor—and unbitten.

Since then, I have dubbed him "Manolo"; I think I told you I knew Ernest Hemingway who was a great friend of the famous bullfighter Manolete and "Manolo" was the affectionate nickname close friends gave him. He was apparently absolutely fearless, according to Papa Hemingway. My Ricardo seems to be possessed of much of the same kind of courage.

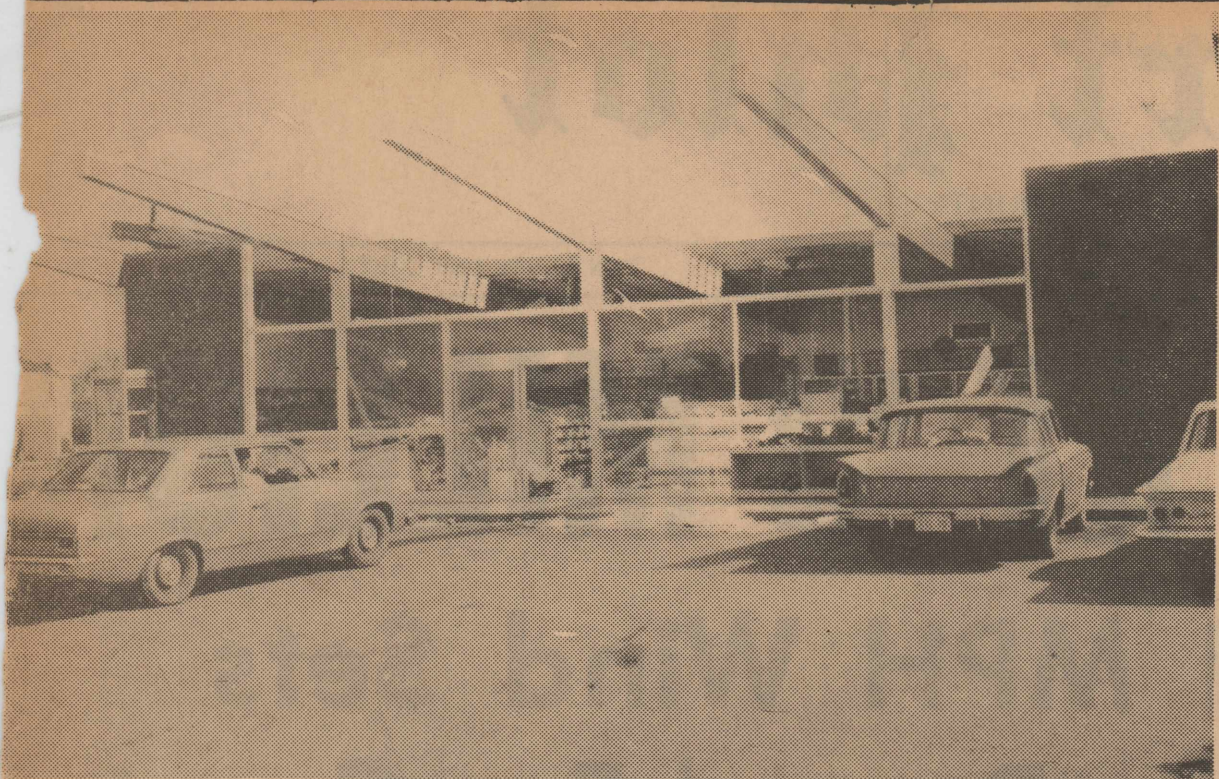

I have another snake story that occurred with a cottonmouth water moccasin over in Louisiana earlier this year, but it is rather long winded and I'll relate it to you the next time I see you. While I had hold of him, I wasn't frightened—I was simply "BUSY"! When I got shed of him, I was trembling like an aspen. As the Cajuns are wont to say, "Hoo, boy!"

All of the best all of the time.

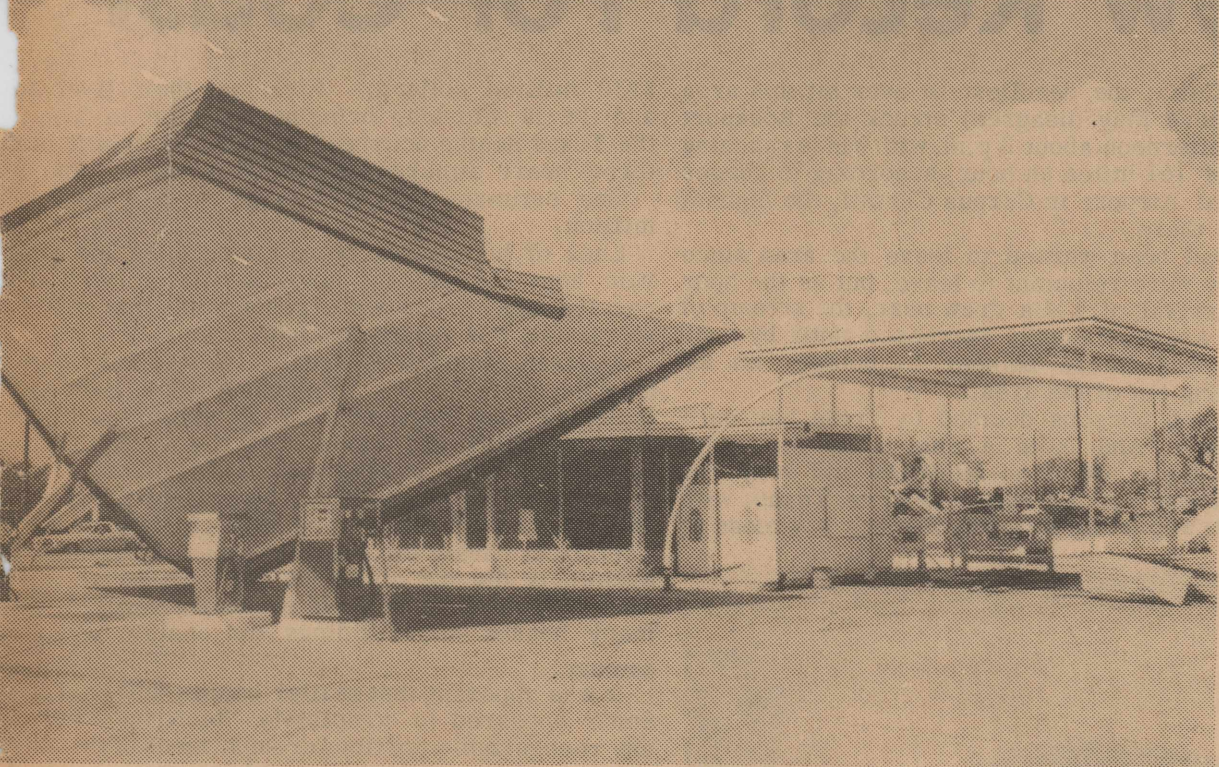

Sincerely,
James M. Furlong

Sec. 2. The foregoing constitutional amendment shall be submitted to a vote of the qualified electors of this state at an election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1970, at which election the ballots shall be printed to provide for voting for or against the proposition:

PUBLIC NOTICE

Proposed CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT NUMBER ONE ON THE BALLOT (HJR30) General Election Nov. 3, 1970

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF TEXAS:

Section 1. That Subsections (5), (6), (7), (8), (9), (11), (12), and (13), Section 1-a, Article V, Constitution of the State of Texas, be amended to read as follows:

"(5) The Commission may hold its meetings, hearings and other proceedings at such times and places as it shall determine but shall meet at Austin at least once each year. It shall annually select one of its members as Chairman. A quorum shall consist of five (5) members. Proceedings shall be by majority vote of those present, except that recommendations for retirement, censure, or removal of any person holding an office named in Paragraph A of Subsection (6) of this Section shall be by affirmative vote of at least five (5) members.

"(6) A. Any Justice or Judge of the Appellate Courts and District and Criminal District Courts, any County Judge, and any Judge of a County Court at Law, a Court of Domestic Relations, a Juvenile Court, a Probate Court, or a Corporation or Municipal Court, and any Justice of the Peace, and any Judge or presiding officer of any special court created by the Legislature as provided in Section 1, Article V, of this Constitution, may, subject to the other provisions hereof, be removed from office for willful or persistent conduct, which is clearly inconsistent with the proper performance of his said duties or casts public discredit upon the judiciary or administration of justice; or any person holding such office may be censured, in lieu of removal from office, under procedures provided for by the Legislature.

"B. Any person holding an office named in Paragraph A of this subsection who is eligible for retirement benefits under the laws of this state providing for judicial retirement may be involuntarily retired, and any person holding an office named in that paragraph who is not eligible for retirement benefits under such laws may be removed from office, for disability seriously interfering with the performance of his duties, which is, or is likely to become, permanent in nature.

"(7) The Commission shall keep itself informed as fully as may be of circumstances relating to the misconduct or disability of particular persons holding an office named in Paragraph A of Subsection (6) of this Section, receive complaints or reports, formal or informal, from any source in this behalf and make such preliminary investigations as it may determine. Its orders for the attendance or testimony of witnesses or for the production of documents at any hearing or investigation shall be enforceable by contempt proceedings in the District Court.

"(8) After such investigation as it deems necessary, the Commission may in its discretion issue a private reprimand, or if the Commission determines that the situation merits such action, it may order a hearing to be held before it concerning the removal, or retirement of a person holding an office named in Paragraph A of Subsection (6) of this Section, or it may in its discretion request the Supreme Court to appoint an active or retired District Judge or Justice of a Court of Civil Appeals as a Master to hear and take evidence in any such matter, and to report thereon to the Commission. If, after hearing, or after considering the record and report of a Master, the Commission finds good cause therefor, it shall issue an order of public censure or it shall recommend to the Supreme Court the removal, or retirement, as the case may be, of the person in question holding an office named in Paragraph A of Subsection (6) of this Section and shall thereupon file with the Clerk of the Supreme Court the entire record before the Commission.

"(9) The Supreme Court shall review the record of the proceedings on the law and facts and in its discretion may, for good cause shown, permit the introduction of additional evidence and shall order public censure, retirement or removal, as it finds just and proper, or wholly reject the recommendation. Upon an order for involuntary retirement for disability or an order for removal, the office in question shall become vacant. The rights of an incumbent so retired to retirement benefits shall be the same as if his retirement had been voluntary."

"(11) The Supreme Court shall by rule provide for the procedure before the Commission, Masters and the Supreme Court. Such rule shall afford to any person holding an office named in Paragraph A of Subsection (6) of this Section, against whom a proceeding is instituted to cause his retirement or removal, due process of law for the procedure before the Commission, Masters and the Supreme Court in the same manner that any person whose property rights are in jeopardy in an adjudicatory proceeding is entitled to due process of law, regardless of whether or not the interest of the person holding an office named in Paragraph A of Subsection (6) of this Section in remaining in active status is considered to be a right or a privilege. Due process shall include the right to notice, counsel, hearing, confrontation of his accusers, and all such other incidents of due process as are ordinarily available in proceedings whether or not misfeasance is charged, upon proof of which a penalty may be imposed.

"(12) No person holding an office named in Paragraph A of Subsection (6) of this Section shall sit as a member of the Commission or Supreme Court in any proceeding involving his own retirement or removal.

Fish and Shellfish For Breakfast

AUSTIN — Rinin' to go! That's how you'll feel after a hearty breakfast of fish and shellfish. There'll be no mid-morning lethargy to slow your working pace. Children will be more alert and attentive in school, workers will attack their jobs with more vigor, and weight watchers will find it much easier to stick to their diets, if the start the day with a good breakfast.

Seafood for a morning meal may seem unusual, but in this day of individualism, the unique and the exciting are to be searched out and enjoyed. There isn't a more enjoyable way to break a tire breakfast routine than to serve fish and shellfish. Not only does seafood provide a generous amount of protein, but it is tasty and lends itself to a variety of quick preparation methods and serving ideas.

When nutritionists recommend that one-fourth to one-third of our daily requirement should be eaten at the morning meal, we say there is no better way than to start the day with fish and shellfish.

We're Working Around the Clock To Complete Storm Repairs

All line crews, service personnel and hundreds of other employees have been working long hours to restore service as quickly as possible. Additional line crews from unaffected parts of our service are have been rushed in to help complete repairs.

Our power plants, transmission lines and substations mostly weathered the storm in good condition, and were important factors in restoring most service quickly.

We appreciate the patience of our customers and are grateful to the hundreds of our own employees who have worked beyond the call of duty to see that no customer would be without electric service any longer than absolutely necessary.

Letter to the Editor

July 30, 1970
I wish to state for the rec- ord that after I submitted my resignation as Corporation Court Judge to Mayor Delmar R. Hiller and the City Coun- cil, in a letter dated July 8, 1970, I was contacted by May- or Hiller on the phone two different times asking me to reconsider my decision, but I was not asked by the mayor to appear before the City Council at a regular meeting to explain the reasons for my resignation. I did not have the opportunity to explain my reasons at anytime after the telephone conversations with Mayor Hiller. I feel that I feel that I should have been invited to appear before the Council.

That's Tricky!

Have you noticed how sharply competitive beer advertising is getting these days? For instance, one brand claims that if you don't have their beer, you don't have any beer at all. That's tricky. It could mean that all the others went first. But, just in case it means that nobody else brews a real premium beer, that's wrong. Lone Star does. A darn good one. It was the first premium beer ever brewed in the Southwest. Lone Star. And there's nothing tricky about it.

C OF C DISCUSSES CAUSEWAY

One of the area's greatest assets—Aransas National Wildlife Refuge—is practically wasted as far as this county is concerned because of lack of convenient access roads, Chamber of Commerce directors stated.

The suggested remedy for the situation was a causeway from the eastern tip of Goose Island State Park, across the mouth of St. Charles to the southern tip of Blackjack Peninsula on which the 47,000-acre refuge is located.

There the causeway could tie in with an extension of the present Indian Head Point road leading to the sanctuary headquarters.

MOST OF SINTON SUFFERS DAMAGE

The major portion of Sinton was damaged by Hurricane Celia Monday. As a matter of fact, evidence of the destructive force of the old girl was evident as far north as Beeville, on Highway 181.

Many buildings in Sinton, were smashed, an estimated 125 houses were destroyed and lesser damage occurred to most structures.

No deaths or injuries were reported, however. Electric power was cut off and most of the city's telephones were out of order.

On enterprising service station manager hooked up a gasoline-operated lawn mower to his gas pump and was doing a land office business.

Others eventually got wise and cut in on his bonanza.

Due to debris and fallen trees, almost half of the city streets were impassable early Tuesday.

Every downtown business suffered some damage. One of the major ones was the Buick agency, where the roof collapsed on many new cars on display. By Wednesday most merchants had the situation well in hand and business was starting to go along as usual.

A dozen shrimp boats were left with their bows wedged atop the seawall at Conn Brown Harbor in Aransas Pass.

Precautionary measures taken by Rockport fishermen probably was the reason for the manner in which most of the boats weathered the storm, which was considerably better than during Beulah when boat losses soared.

At Ingleside on the Bay, with many summer homes built on pilings, the scene was one of almost utter devastation. The same situation prevailed at City by the Sea, just north of Aransas Pass.

Eye Centered At Ingleside

Ingleside appeared to be at about the center of the eye of Hurricane Celia.

Winds out of the northeast suddenly stilled at about 4 p.m. The sun came out, and flocks of sea gulls flew lazily in the calm air. The lull lasted for about 45 minutes.

Then the great wind returned, now out of the southeast, blowing even a bit stronger than before the calm.

"According to the Veterans Affairs Commission the monetary gains for Aransas County for the first six months of 1970 were $242,429.00.

Mrs. Juanita Wagley, president of the Chamber of Commerce, issued the following statement Thursday morning regarding Hurricane Celia:

"We are grateful that there was no loss of life or serious injury. As long as we have our health, we can dig out of anything."

VITAL MESSAGE HANDLED BY HAM OPERATORS

"Ham" radio operators are on the job at the City Hall, sending out and receiving vital messages that can not be dispatched by telephone due to slowed down service resulting from Hurricane Celia.

Anyone requiring vital communication to be sent from Rockport (such as deaths, serious illness, etc.) is advised to go to the City Hall to receive assistance from a "ham" operator on duty 24 hours a day.

MENTAL HEALTH MATTERS

Stanley F. Yoles, M.D.
Director
National Institute of Mental Health

QUACKERY AND YOU

At this very minute, someone somewhere in the United States, perhaps not far from you, is being victimized by medical and health quackery.

He or she is spending hard-earned money, maybe hundreds or even thousands of dollars, for some useless gimmick, gadget, phoney treatment, or merely consultation and advice.

Heartbreakingly, whatever it is quackery offers, you in its promises, in its reality it brings shattered hopes at the least and actual physical or mental damage at the most.

Mental and emotional illnesses are a particularly rich territory for today's quacks. Mental health quackery is vastly profitable and may be rising, despite efforts of the American Medical Association, our Institute, and many other organizations.

No accurate figures are available on the precise or total costs of mental health quackery or of medical-health hoaxes in general. But it is widely accepted by health and medical authorities that each year billions are spent uselessly or, in many instances harmfully, for the person concerned.

Mental health quackery, of course, is often difficult to define. Many people with mental illness may get better or recover completely whether they get treatment, no treatment, poor treatment, or quack treatment.

Sometimes quackery can be spotted by almost any abjective person. But this may not prevent victimizing.

There is no "cure" for mental retardation, for example, nor any way to regenerate dead or damaged brain cells or parts of the brain. Yet parents of mentally retarded children have been reported as paying $1,000 to have their afflicted child injected with a "special serum."

What can you do to protect yourself against quackery?

There is no one sure-fire way. But you'll find that it pays to go slowly and investigate before committing your money or your health—or that of loved ones—to anything or anyone promising easy mental health.

Consult your local or state medical society, health department, mental hospital, clergy, better business association. One thing quackery can't stand up to is objective investigation.

Accent on Health

P. E. PEAVY, M. D.
Commissioner of Health

For thousands of Texas Texas youngsters, summer vacation will soon be over. And many thousands more will be enrolling in school for the first time. Last fall more than a quarter-million children entered school for the first time, and most needed a certified copy of his or her birth certificate, and proof of vaccination against smallpox and other diseases.

Statistics may seem like a bore to a lot of people, but to the Texas State Department of Health its Records and Statistics Section is an active and very necessary part of its services to the people of Texas. The Bureau of Vital Statistics is the one place for storing the vast numbers of records of Texas births, deaths, marriages, divorces, adoptions, and other matters.

In earlier times the fact that you were alive and breathing was enough to satisfy any inquiry about your birth. But now most schools require a birth certificate for children entering the first grade. A birth certificate is the best proof of citizenship for your passport. You may later need it to satisfy military requirements, to satisfy the Internal Revenue as to your dependents, to satisfy Veteran Administration, or other claims against the government, or to apply for social security. But one of the biggest demands each year is from parents wishing certified copies of their children's birth certificates to meet school enrollment requirements.

With over 250,000 children entering the first grade each year, the demand for certification is great. Many times these records can be obtained in the counties or cities of birth, or they may be obtained from the Austin office of the State Health Department for a $1.50 fee. Searching for records—on request—can be a time consuming process. The quantity alone makes the task a tremendous one. The "searching" branch of the Vital Statistics division last year conducted 307,000 searches of the files upon request. A total of 200,000 certifications and verifications were made. Parents are urged to obtain copies of birth certificates now before the volume of requests causes delay.

Every certificate must be checked for omissions or errors to make certain they meet statutory requirements. Mistakes could result in a lot of problems later on. Last year more than half a million current records went into the files. By the end of 1970, total vital records on file will reach the 17 million mark.
