Avalanche-Journal Staff Writer

TERMED the greatest racing event in the world, Lubbock's second annual Soap Box Derby will be staged on a segment of U. S. Highway 87, just northeast of Lubbock's city limits Monday.

Starting promptly at 10 a.m., the tiny gravity-propelled racing cars will start rolling down the floor-smooth track three at a time until more than 225 youngsters have tested their speed and driving skill in determining the 1949 Soap Box champion of the South Plains.

The big race is co-sponsored by the Lubbock Exchange club, The Avalanche-Journal and Kuykendall Chevrolet company.

More than 100 heats will be required to determine the winner, who will represent Lubbock in the All-American Soap Box finals at Akron, O., and a chance to win a $5,000 four-year college scholarship.

A crowd of more than 20,000 is expected to look on during the five or six hours required to run the race and from Saturday afternoon's preview of the Derby, they're sure to see plenty of action.

It was anybody's guess as to who will be the champion. There are all sorts of cars entered in the race and the fact that there is no way of determining in advance the likely winner adds to the competitive spirit of the occasion.

11 Area Towns Represented

Two youngsters appear to be favorites as far as names go. They are Joe Hastey, route 3, and Robert Dale Early, 525 Fortieth. (Get it: Hastey and Early, Ha!)

Eleven South Plains towns are represented in the entry list, but the majority of the youngsters live in Lubbock. Other towns represented are: Ralls, Spur, Abernathy, New Deal, Wilson, Tahoka, Slaton, Post, and Ropesville.

FACTS ABOUT THE DERBY

South Plains Residents Set For July Fourth Observance

By ROGER SOUTHALL
Avalanche-Journal Staff Writer

FOURTH of July celebrations and and observances in Lubbock and elsewhere over the South Plains, which got underway Saturday, will continue in full force today and reach climatic heights Monday.

For many, today will be a day of travel, since most offices and business houses will not open again until Tuesday morning, numerous Lubbock and South Plains residents have departed by automobile, bus, train, or plane for points in other parts of Texas and and surrounding states.

For many other residents, the long weekend will be an occasion of celebration at home or in neighboring communities. The agenda of activities in the South Plains area includes rodeo performances this afternoon and Monday at Levelland and a July Fourth homecoming celebration at Hale Center Monday.

Weekend Holiday Forecast

The Weather bureau said late Saturday night that warm weather would continue today and Monday, with a possibility of scattered thundershowers over the area late this afternoon and Monday afternoon.

Topmost in the minds of thousands of Lubbock and South Plains grownups and youngsters is Lubbock's second annual Soap Box derby, which gets underway at 10 a.m. Monday on a segement of U. S. Highway 87 northeast of the city.

For approximately 240 South Plains boys who are to take part in the derby, today will undoubtedly be one of eager, albeit slightly

Union Prepares For Steel Strike July 16

PITTSBURGH, July 2. (INS) — The CIO United Steelworkers issued today instructions to members to prepare for a strike against United States Steel corporation on July 16.

A nine-page bulletin called for all locals to prepare for full-scale shutdowns. It incuded directions for setting up strike committees, securing food for strikers and soliciting funds for relief, picketing and arranging bail bonds. It warned against violence.

The steel workers can quit work July 16 under their contract and the Taft-Hartley act.

Pensions and social insurance benefits asked by the union would cost U.S. Steel more than 80 million dollars a year. The union previously estimated the cost of its insurance program alone at 8.4 cents an hour per employe. Today it revealed that pensions would boost the total to 20 cents.

PARADE OPENS DAY-LONG EVENT

6,500 Gather For Abernathy's 40th Anniversary Celebration

By EDWARD WELSH
Avalanche-Journal Staff Writer

ABERNATHY, July 2. — More than 6,500 people gathered at Abernathy Saturday to mark the 40th anniversary of the town's founding. The celebration covered the entire day and went far into the night.

The ceremonies began promptly at 10:30 a. m. with a street parade. For the occasion several blocks of Highway 87 were roped off to permit the marchers, riders, floats and wagons to wend their way through the entire business section.

Only one of the two surviving founders of Abernathy was able to be present during the day. He was Monroe G. Abernathy for whom the town was named. Dr. M. C. Overton was unable to come because of a large amount of work in Lubbock hospitals. The third founder was the late Carl Roberds who was memorialized in the parade by a riderless mount.

Following the colors of the United States and Texas was the Abernathy high school band; floats representing the various study and home economics clubs and business; 200 gaily attired rid-

River Project To Be Pushed By Officials

By H. I. KIEFER
Avalanche-Journal Staff Writer

PLAINVIEW, July 2. — Plans for a large scale Washington invasion to urge construction of a dam and water supply system on the Canadian river took definite shape at an all-day meeting of representatives of interested cities in the Hilton hotel here today.

As a result of the meeting, all the cities are expected to send spokesman to Washington next Friday for a hearing before subcommittee of the House Public Lands committee on the proposed $85,000,000 project.

The delegation will urge the subcommittee to report the project favorably to the Public Lands committee as a whole. If this is done, the next effort will be to try to obtain a favorable report by the entire committee to the U.S. House of Representatives.

Hearing Is Major Hurdle

But the immediate hurdle is Friday's hearing. An unfavorable report by the subcommittee would be highly injurious, if not fatal, to prospects for approval of the project. It virtually would remove hope of approval of an appropriation for the undertaking during the present session of Congress.

The meeting in Plainview today concentrated, therefore upon the effort to insure that an impressive representative delegation will be present in the national capital for the hearing.

The gathering produced the assurance that Amarillo, Lubbock, Borger and Pampa will be represented by delegations. Plainview, Tahoka, Littlefield, Lamesa, O'Donnell, Levelland and Slaton are expected to send at least one representative each or, at worse, to designate someone as their spokesman to urge approval of the project.

The governing bodies of each of the communities also is being urged to adopt a resolution at once declaring their interest in the undertaking and their intent to buy

Amarillo Slaying Clue Uncovered

LOS ANGELES, July 2 (AP)—A 27-year-old Temple City nightwatchman today gave sheriff's officers a possibly vital clue in the solution of the slaying last week in Amarillo of W. A. (Tex) Thornton.

The watchman, Jack Layton, formerly of Indianapolis, said a companion stole his suitcase and clothing from an Albuquerque, N. M., hotel room on June 21. A pair of trousers, identified by Layton as among the clothing stolen from him, figures in the search for Thornton's slayer.

Watchman Questioned

Sheriff's Lt. Vic England questioned and absolved Layton today, saying "he's completely in the clear, for we have checked out his story and found it to be true in all particulars."

England said Layton identified photographs of a man arrested in Los Angeles in Jan. 1948 as the man who stole the clothing from him. England said the man was released, rearrested in February, 1948, and extradited to Texas on a check passing warrant. England said the man was arrested at Albuquerque and taken to Amarillo for questioning in the Thornton case.

Ford Workers Vote To Back Wage Demands With Walkout

DETROIT, July 2. (AP)—Defiant members of the UAW-CIO's largest local voted overwhelming approval today for a strike against the Ford Motor company in the event the international union decides this action is necessary to back current contract demands.

Results of the secret ballot at the Rouge plant, announced by UAW Ford director Kenneth Bannon, showed 2,902 in favor of a strike and 172 opposed.

However, there seemed little likelihood of an immediate walkout by Ford's 106,000 employes.

The tension was eased yesterday after the company and union agreed to extend the current contract on a day-to-day basis after it expires July 15. Strike votes in Ford's 49 plants will proceed, nevertheless, under direction of the international union.

Plan To 'Spot' Tornadoes Seen

(By The Associated Press)

STILLWATER, Okla., July 2 — Some Oklahoma scientists have their fingers crossed, but they hope they've found a way to predict tornadoes with pinpoint accuracy.

They measure lightning with an electronic yardstick.

If the bolts reach a certain unusual size, that suggests a tornadic storm is in the offing. Electrical engineers have worked on the theory for two years at Oklahoma A&M college here, and now they see progress.

If it works, it's some of the best news the central and southern states have had in years.

Storm Loss Hits $25,000

(By The Associated Press)

GALVESTON counted more than $25,000 in damage Saturday, toll of a raging thundersquall which raked the island area with 75-mile winds.

The storm, Friday, swept an 18-year-old youth off a raft, causing his death by drowning.

As Galveston took inventory of its damages, a large squally area formed off the Texas and Louisiana coasts Saturday, southeast of Houston and southwest of New Orleans.

A "hurricane hunter" plane which went 100 to 200 miles south of the mouth of the Mississippi river found an "area of suspicion" but said it contained little but showers and mild winds. The plane reported no tropical storm had developed in the area.

Heat Blamed

Local squalls, however, were predicted for the upper coast of Texas.

The Dallas weather bureau said that holiday vacationists, motoring over the Lone Star State, would find hot, humid, sultry weather, mixed with occasional thundershowers.

And the weather bureau at Galveston said that Friday's storm was due to "very sudden overheating—with powerful drafts of rising hot air."

Just before the storm the temperature had soared to 98 degrees.

Truman Studies Economic Report On Potomac Cruise

WASHINGTON, July 2 (AP) — President Truman studied the nation's unemployment and general economic index today as he cruised leisurely on the Potomac river on the presidential yacht.

He took along a bulging report from his economic advisory council when he embarked on the Williamsburg at the Navy yard for a three-day holiday.

White House officials said his mid-year economic report to Congress, expected to embody suggestions for keeping employment at a steady level, will be ready in ten days or two weeks.

One To Two Million Bale Crop Forecast

By BILL CLARK
Avalanche-Journal Staff Writer

AN all-time record South plains cotton crop for 1949 is indicated by an annual acreage report issued Saturday by K. N. Clapp, Lubbock representative of Anderson, Clayton & Co.

"With the excellent subsoil moisture present and a fourth of the large acreage irrigated, it would take catastrophic conditions to produce less than a million bales," Mr. Clapp's survey indicated.

"Good conditions should produce a million and a half bales, with two million possible, but not probable, under excellent conditions."

Irrigation Is Boosted

Previous record crops have been 959,000 in 1937 and 944,000 in 1947.

Twenty South Plains counties have 2,830,000 acres in cotton, an increase of 26 percent over June 21 of last year, when 2,244,000 acres were in cotton, it was estimated.

Of that total, 744,000 acres are irrigated, an 83 percent increase over last year's 462,000 acres. Dryland cotton totals 2,086,000 acres, 17 percent over the 1,782,000 of dryland cotton last year.

Twelve so-called "cotton counties" have 63 percent of all cultivated acreage in cotton. Lubbock county leads with 85 percent in cotton, Dawson is second with 83 percent in cotton and Garza third with 80 percent in cotton.

Good Chance For Record

For Lubbock county, a minimum of 215,000 bales was predicted. Good growing conditions may result in a 300,000-bale crop and excellent conditions would make possible, but not probable, 365,000 bales.

The previous Lubbock county record is 181,000 bales in 1947. Clapp foresaw a good chance for Lubbock, again to lead the state and place high nationally in cotton production.

Farm Proposals Swamp Congress

WASHINGTON, July 2 (AP)—A bumper crop of farm proposals confronted Congress today with the danger of another frenzied end-of-the-session dispute over the best way to keep farmers prosperous.

The issue is pointed up by declining farm prices and income, the prospect of burdensome surpluses in some crops, and the political tussle for farm state votes in next year's congressional elections.

The administration is plugging hard for the adoption of the new Brannan plan, with its two-way goal of lower food prices for consumers and profitable operating income—subsidized if necessary—for the farmers.

Some Favor Compromise

Another group of lawmakers interested in farm problems wants to allow the delayed-action Aiken law, already on the books, to take effect January 1 as scheduled. It would provide flexible price supports for major crops, rather than

145 Persons Killed; Texas Has 14 Dead

Traffic Accidents Take Heaviest Toll; Drownings Second As Count Continues

(By The Associated Press)

AT LEAST 145 persons who started out on a carefree Fourth of July weekend will never see another holiday. At least that many persons were dead by late Saturday night as death rode the highways, stalked the beaches, towns and cities of the nation where holiday crowds thronged.

The toll continued to mount through the night and many more were expected to be claimed in another gruesome weekend over the nation before the holiday seekers end their traveling late Monday night.

Texas was leading all other states in the nation early today with 14 dead as reports of additional fatalities poured in.

Nine Injured In Accidents

A RASH of wrecks in Lubbock and over the area Saturday night resulted in injuries to three persons in collisions in the city and six Post residents in an accident near Baird. At least two of the Post residents were seriously hurt.

At least five wrecks were reported in the Lubbock and South Plains area by early today and although only three persons were injured in them, damage to cars involved in the mishaps was extensive.

The accidents came on the heels of heavy weekend holiday traffic in the city and over the South Plains. Texas Highway officials and other law enforcement agencies late Saturday urged extreme caution on the part of all drivers today and Monday to avert additional wrecks and casualties.

Two of the five accidents in the Lubbock vicinity occurred within the city limits while three were reported on highways leading into the city.

Most seriously hurt in the wreck here was W. M. Ledbetter of Ropesville, who was riding with two companions in one of two trucks involved in a collision at Ave. H and Texas Avenue about 9:10 p. m.

Ledbetter was taken to Lubbock Memorial hospital by Rix

Auto Mishaps Lead Toll

As vacationers took to the highways and beaches, death followed. Traffic fatalities mounted to 83 over the nation Saturday; 48 drownings were reported, and 14 persons died in miscellaneous accidents.

Since the weekend began officially at 6 p. m. Friday, 14 Texans have died violently. Traffic accidents, as usual, took the heaviest toll in the state with 11 deaths.

Two accidents accounted for seven traffic deaths. Four persons were killed in a headon auto crash early Saturday six miles south of Jasper, which is 70 miles north of Beaumont. The third victim of a Friday night headon crash 15 miles east of San Angelo in West Texas died early Saturday.

More Face Death

The toll in Texas was far below the Texas Safety Association's advance estimate of the state's holiday weekend violent deaths. The Association had predicted 79 Texans would die violently—27 in auto accidents, 12 by drowning, 25 by suicide or murder and 15 in miscellaneous ways.

Killed in the Jasper accident were Earnest E. Yancey, 24, Beaumont; James C. Billingsley, 25, Brookland; Earl L. Killen, about 26, Choice, Tex., and Dock Johnson, about 25, Choice. Sheriff R. C. Pace said the two cars apparently collided in the middle of the highway.

Those killed in the San Angelo accident were D. G. Boone, 74, San Angelo; his wife, and Carolyn Jean Woodard, 5. All were in one car, returning from Miles, Tex., to San Angelo.

INNOCENT PEOPLE MAY BE HURT

Attorney Gen. Clark Explains Why Coplon FBI File Opened

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, July 2—An old problem has arisen again: what to do about clearing innocent people whose names are publicly listed as being in FBI files?

Attorney General Clark has walked carefully in trying to handle it. He did that yesterday in a statement about the FBI records made public at Judith Coplon's trial.

The trial judge several weeks ago had ordered those files thrown open because, directly or indirectly, they were connected with the coplon case. The files, not the people.

Many People Indignant

Out tumbled the names of many well-known people, although their being in the files might, or might not, have meant they had done something wrong. It didn't necessarily mean they did.

Information about them, true or false, had been pumped into the files from FBI informants. All of it, screwy or true, went into the files for future reference—if needed. This could happen to you.

Clark could have refused to open the files but that would have meant dropping the Coplon case. He didn't want that. So out came the files. And Miss Coplon was convicted this week.

But opening the files had brought indignant outbursts from fair-minded people who feared innocent persons might have been listed in the files and, because of the exposure, were smeared and damaged.

Status Not Cleared

At the time Clark was asked for comment by newsmen but he kept quiet until yesterday, when the trial and sentencing of Miss Coplon were finished.

When in a written statement he explained why he had thought it necessary to open up the secret files with their load of strange information. But—

He did not touch directly on one point: what about the status of some of those people named in the files?

If he had flatly listed some of the people, by name, as innocent, this would have left the public to conclude that those not so singled out were guilty.

The problem must have troubled Clark, for he seems to have tried to handle it obliquely, in this way:

He said "I regret that it became necessary, . . . for the reports to be admitted in evidence. I say this for the reason so aptly stated by Justice Jackson."

Then Clark quoted this opinion from Jackson when he was attorney general in 1941 and refused to let a congressional committee see certain FBI reports:

"Disclosure of information contained in the reports might also be the grossest kind of injustice to innocent individuals. Investigative reports include leads and suspicions, and sometimes even the statements of malicious and misinformed people. Even though later and more complete reports exonerate the individuals, the use of particular or selected reports might constitute the grossest injustice, and we all know that a correction never catches up with an accusation."

Maybe that was Clark's way of saying some of those listed in the FBI reports in the Coplon case were innocent. But he didn't say so flatly.

House Investigators Claim Reds Set For Underground Move

By SAM FOGG
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, July 2 — House spy probers declared today there is evidence that American Communists have completed plans to go underground if their 12 party leaders are convicted in the New York conspiracy trial.

An Un-American Activities committee member asserted that staff investigators are uncovering mounting proof that a complete blueprint has been drawn for disbanding the party and operating on a "secret cell" basis.

The committee member said that if the government proves the party leaders conspired to overthrow the government by force and violence, the Communists would abandon all pretense of being a legal political party and operate in underground secrecy to escape further prosecution.

He said if the party leaders are found guilty, the party probably would dissolve itself in the following manner:

Members would destroy their membership cards. Records at party headquarters would be concealed for safekeeping by a trusted area leader.

Cells Would Form

Under orders, which committee investigators feel may already have been issued, rank and file members would form small, highly secret cells consisting of four or five members.

The cells would meet at irregular intervals to receive party orders issued from above. The cells would operate independently and would have no knowledge of the activities of other similar groups.

Publications, such as the Daily Worker, probably would continue operations with the argument that they had legally disassociated themselves from the Communist party.

A good deal of activity would be carried on through the medium of new Communist-front organizations which would be established.

Slovak Peasants Armed With Pitchforks And Clubs Reported Guarding Catholic Priests

PRAGUE, July 2. (AP)—Slovak peasants armed with scythes, pitchforks and clubs stand guard around their Roman Catholic priests to shield them from Communist police.

This was the picture given tonight by Slovak sources to church circles and diplomats as this nation, torn by state-church conflict, embarked on a long weekend of religious holidays.

Travel Bans Imposed

It was difficult, if not impossible, for westerners to go to the intensely Catholic eastern province to look at the situation. Travel restrictions suddenly were announced by the Red government. These restrictions sealed off troubled Slovakia with a little iron curtain.

Sources in Slovakia reported villagers up in arms, however, to prevent a repetition of the riotous scenes of last weekend.

Enraged Slovaks clashed with police at that time when they attempted to intimidate and arrest priests loyal to Archbishop Josef Beran, the nation's primate.

Two Policemen Killed

At least two policemen were fatally beaten and an undetermined number of persons were injured.

Every indication was that the uprising in defense of the priests was spontaneous.

Some diplomats cautioned against exaggeration of past incidents but said they had reports of continuing unrest in Slovakia.

The diplomats would have to get "prior permission to travel" in Slovakia. Diplomatic travel there, the ministry declared, would be considered an act "against the Czechoslovak government and a gross interference with the internal affairs of Czechoslovakia."

Protest Rejected

The foreign ministry rejected the protest of Msgr. Gennaro Verolino, the Vatican's charge d'affaires, at being forcibly accosted by police in Slovakia.

Police forced him to drive to their headquarters in an attempt to question him.

Both the state and the church are promoting the pilgrimages, and Czechs were flocking to religious shrines in droves.

The holidays last through Tuesday.

The government - sponsored Catholic Action movement announced an imposing list of speakers for the events. They are headed by Prime Minister Antonin Zapotocky.

Communist district leaders were sponsoring organized pilgrimages.

Red Leader Of Bulgaria Dies

SOFIA, Bulgaria, July 2. (AP)—The death of Premier Georgi Dimitrov, internationally known Red leader, was noted tonight by Communists the world over.

The Bulgarian Communist party announced tonight the death in a sanatorium near Moscow. Dimitrov, 67, had been under treatment for diabetes and liver ailments since April.

The communique asserted Dimitrov's death was a "heavy and indispensable loss for the party, nation and people's republic." It called him an "outstanding fighter against fascism and imperialism."

Only a few people had heard the Moscow announcement hours before. There was no immediate mass demonstration of mourning. The people took the news calmly. They had been warned to expect his death.

The Kremlin, however, set the pace in expressing grief at the death. The body was removed from Bordikha sanatorium, where death came soon after 3 a.m., to lie in state.

The Moscow radio, in a broadcast heard in London, said Prime Minister Stalin was a member of the honor guard. Other members included leaders of the Russian Communist party and Soviet government and three top members of the Bulgarian Communist party.

Was Revolutionary

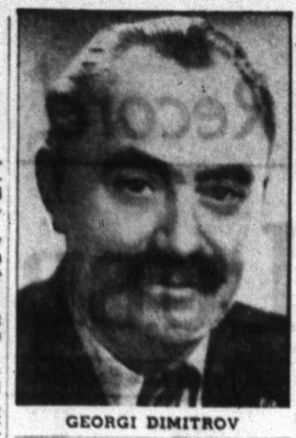

His death ended the action-packed career of a man who was reputed to have been the most influential Communist outside the borders of the Soviet Union. He was a close and trusted friend of Josef Stalin for 30 years. Like Stalin, he had clung to the Communist line since the hectic days of the Russian revolution.

He rose from the role of a young trade union organizer to premier of Bulgaria in 45 years of revolutionary struggle.

He remained an obscure figure until 1933 when the Hitler clique in Germany accused him of engineering the Reichstag fire conspiracy. From then on he was known to the world.

After the trial Dimitrov went to Russia from Germany.

There he became general secretary of the Comintern, the Communist international organization from 1935 until it was formally disbanded in 1943.

A MEMORY BOOK OF PROGRESS OF LUBBOCK AND THE SOUTH PLAINS
1873 — 1949

The teeming herds of buffalo gave the first proof to the early-day visitors to the South Plains that the greatest resources of the region was its soil.

The enormous size of those herds is beyond the grasp of any imagination. Among those who actually saw them was the late Rollie Burns, one of the founders of present-day Lubbock.

Mr. Burns told of one particular herd in the book, "Rollie Burns," written by Dr. W. C. Holden, dean and head of the Department of History of Texas Technological college and Curator of West Texas Museum.

It was in 1873, Mr. Burns narrated, while he was encamped with a party when the buffalo came in sight. For two days the animals moved past the camp in an almost unbroken stream. He later estimated their number at not fewer than 1,000,000—and he estimated with the skill of many years of experience in judging cattle herds. It was a strange twist of fate that, some 12 years later, Mr. Burns shot what he believed to have been the last wild buffalo killed on the South Plains. In the intervening period, the American buffalo was reduced almost to extinction by the hide hunters.

But, to Mr. Burns and other pioneers, the buffalo proved that the South Plains should become one of the greatest "cattle countries" upon earth.

FRENCH FEAR EASING POLICY

Schuman Warns Against Change In Western Stand Toward Russia

By KINGSBURY SMITH
INS Staff Correspondent

PARIS, July 2.—French Foreign Minister Schuman warned tonight against any change in the Western policy of standing firm towards Russia and restoring Western economic and military power.

In the only exclusive statement granted an American newsman since he became foreign minister, Schuman discussed the limited big four Paris agreements on Germany and Austria.

Schuman said these could be implemented successfully only if the Western powers stuck to their policy pursued towards Russia for the past year.

West Is Warned

"If this is done," he said, "there will be a continuation of the present relaxation of tension."

This correspondent is in a position to state that Schuman's warning is intended to apply in two directions:

1. To caution against any Western complacency resulting from the easing of tension following the Berlin blockade-lifting and the foreign ministers conference.

2. To reply to Soviet Foreign Minister Vishinsky's statement two days ago in which the Russian negotiator called for "mutual concessions."

French Fear Complacency

The French government is seriously concerned lest relaxed tension will weaken American support for the Western European rearmament program.

Schuman also wants Vishinsky to understand that the Western allies cannot be expected to make concessions which sacrifice fundamental principles.

It was with these thoughts in mind that Schuman said conclusion of the accords begun in Paris "cannot be sought in a direction opposite to the policy on which the Western powers have been engaged for a year."

Tension Eased

Schuman was asked what significance he attached to the Paris agreements in terms of peace or war, and he said:

"The first result of the accords has been to confirm and sustain the easing of tension which already had started a few weeks previously with the lifting of the Berlin blockade.

"In my opinion that is the essential result of the conference.

"It lessened the risks of conflict and sanctioned a resumption of direct conversations between the four ministers which had been interrupted since December, 1947.

"This result, however important it may be, would be only partial and precarious if it were not accompanied by constructive accords.

Treaty Needed

"From this point of view the communique published at the end of the conference in Paris is in the nature to assure continuation of the present relaxation of tension by paving the way to a rapid conclusion of a treaty of state with Austria and sanctioning a modus vivendi (temporary mode of living) on Germany.

"On the basis of these agreements the negotiations started in Paris can and must be carried through during the coming months.

"It goes without saying, however, that the conclusion of these accords cannot be sought in a direction opposite to the policy on which the Western powers have been engaged for a year.

"This policy is not directed against any state and aims only at establishment of a democratic, peaceful Europe."

Judge Agrees With Landlady; Bathtubs, Lobsters Don't Mix

BALTIMORE, July 2 (AP)—Live lobsters in the boarding house bathtub?

That is just positively, finally and completely too much.

So said the landlady, Mrs. Philip J. Padovan, today.

She told police judge James Cadden that she was mad enough when 52-year-old Perce J. Spence insisted on keeping a pigeon, several dogs and at least one cat in his room.

Then came the lobster, which she found swimming around in the bathtub.

Floating on the water were a lot of orange peels—presumably lobster food.

Judge Cadden fined Spense $50 on the ground he was responsible for the ruckus which developed in the rooming house last night.

Spence told the judge he was a lover of birds and animals.

And the lobster?

"Oh, I was going to eat that."

DELAYED REUNION—Wartime transportation, scholastic duties and the urgency or remaining on the job combined to keep two brothers and their sister from seeing each other from 1941, when war broke out, until Saturday, when the boys arrived here. Above from left, they are shown—Lewis Earl McKean, 14, Merry Marsh, 16, and Vernon Wayne McKean, 19—talking away and making up for lost time. The boys must be back in Austin Tuesday morning, where the older is employed as an automobile upholsterer and the younger is a student. Merry, a junior in high school is the adopted daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl W Marsh of 2507 Twenty-ninth. The brothers will visit another sister, Patricia Lee, at Avoca before their return home. The bill must be approved on third reading in the House and then goes to the Senate.

Youth Found Guilty Of Slaying Girl

ROANOKE, Va., July 2. (INS)—An all-male jury found Lee "Buddy" Scott guilty of first degree murder today and set his sentence for slaying pretty 16-year-old Dana Marie Weaver at 99 years imprisonment.

The Roanoke jury reached its decision in two hours and 10 minutes.

Defense Attorney T. Warren Messick announced that he would appear before Judge Dirk A. Kuyk next Wednesday to request that the verdict be set aside.

Under Virginia law the jury sets punishment, and Messick's action amounts to an appeal for a new trial.

Formal sentencing of the youth was withheld pending outcome of Messick's appeal. If a new trial is refused, he will probably be given the automatic 99-year sentence shortly thereafter.

Rankin Woman Still Unconscious 167 Days After Auto Accident

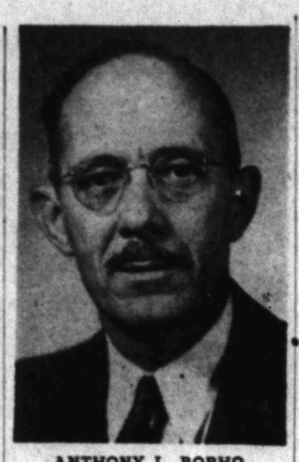

DALLAS, July 2 (AP)—Joan Edwards, 24, of Rankin, Texas remained unconscious today, 167 days after she received a brain injury in an automobile accident.

Attendants at Methodist hospital reported her condition as "unchanged."

Miss Edwards, a Texas Tech graduate and an employe of The Midland Reporter-Telegram, was injured in an automobile smash-up near Odessa Jan. 17. Since then, she has been unconscious. Sights, sounds and thoughts fail to register on her injured brain.

The girl was brought to Dallas eight days ago from an Odessa hospital.

British Deny Damaged Sloop Released By Chinese Reds

SHANGHAI, July 2. (AP)—Responsible British sources denied today the British sloop Amethyst has been released from the Yangtze river by the Chinese Communists.

A reliable source in Hong Kong said the ship, hit by Red shore batteries between Shanghai and Nanking in April, was proceeding down the river. Three other British warships who tried to aid the Amethyst also were fired upon by the Reds.

A spokesman for the British consulate here said he could not confirm the Hong Kong report.

Negotiations for the Amethyst's release were reported in a "delicate stage" but going more satisfactorily than at any time in the past two months.

WHAT DOES INDEPENDENCE MEAN?

To the hard-bitten American colonist of 1776, it meant the glorious end of a bloody Revolution. To the American of 1949, on the Fourth of July eve, independence rings with the freedom to go the places we want, and do the things we like. You will find independence at work wherever you travel this summer. It persists in the free borders between our states, in the magnificent forests, in the bustling cities. It rears its staunch head high in the banking institutions of the land. Independence is expressed at the American State Bank in the voluntary entrustment of your savings to our keeping, and in the unusual facilities available to you. Reach out for financial independence . . save at American State.

Insect Control Explained By County Agent At Cooper Meet

COOPER, July 2 (Special)—In an effort to keep a step ahead of the cotton insect infestation this year 20 men met with County Agent D. W. Sherrill at Cooper Friday afternoon. The principal purpose of the meeting was to familiarize the cotton growers with the different types of insects.

A 220 acre cotton field belonging to Hubert and James E. Whatley, southwest of Cooper, was chosen for the study. Sherrill first made several insect discoveries and showed the men how to identify each one. Some of the insects were young and some were in adult stage.

Some Insects Beneficial

The varieties included fleahoppers, thrips, aphids, and careless worms. There were also a number of insects that are considered beneficial because they do not feed on cotton plants and help to destroy other bugs.

When the men became confident of their ability to recognize the different bugs they were divided into teams of two and assigned to a row of cotton plants. Taking ten stalks to each team the men counted the number of insects discovered per terminal.

Some found only one bug in ten stalks. Others found two, three and even four. The average was about 20 per cent. Sherrill said this percentage was considered borderline. If the number should increase in seven days an insecticide should be applied, he said.

Cotton Generally Good

The cotton plants on the Whatley place are up to a good stand with plenty of squares. The plants are close together and should produce an extra high yield per acre. A few of the plants, especially those along the edge of the field, show perforations in leaves. Most of these holes are due to wind and blowing sand.

Charlie Boyd, a Cooper grower, said that in general he found the cotton good in that area. Some, he admitted, had been stunted by the excessive rains.

E. R. Slater, another Cooper grower with about 100 acres, said his crop looks fair. Too much rain, he said, had defoliated some of his plants but he felt they would all come back.

So far Slater has not had to irrigate. He found a few random plants dead at the roots but was unable to explain the cause. There were not many, he added.

Average Is Important

In closing the meeting Sherrill suggested that each grower go over his own crop and make a survey of the insect population.

"Be sure and check spots in a widely scattered pattern," the county agent advised. "If you stick to one corner of the field you cannot get an accurate census. You have to average the count."

Sherrill explained that often a high count could be obtained near the borders of a field but few insects could be found farther into the field. The average is the important thing, Sherrill asserted, in determining what type of dust or spray to use and how heavy a dosage to apply. Information on insecticides and their application can be obtained from the county agent's office, 1320 Avenue Q.

BUG HUNTERS—A group of 20 interested farmers from the Cooper community gather around County Agent Dave Sherrill (upper) to learn how to identify and count harmful cotton insects. The field class took place on the farm of Hubert and James E. Whatley, southwest of Cooper. In the lower picture, one of the two-men teams composed of E. R. Slater, left, and Charlie Boyd, right, both of Cooper, is shown making a count of thrips and fleahoppers. When all teams reported their count it was found that the infestation was light. Reports from counties to the south indicate a serious threat from insects this year. (Staff photos by Edward Welsh).

Auto Builders See Excellent Market For Many Months

By DAVID J. WILKIE
Associated Press Staff Writer

DETROIT, July 2.—How many passenger autos a year will an all-out buyers' market absorb?

The answer, of course, is tied in closely with over-all buying power. But with normal purchasing capacity, the motoring public undoubtedly will buy up to 4,000,000 cars a year for many years to come.

That may sound like a lot of automobiles, but the nation's transport system needs many more cars than have been built in the last four years. Since the war's end about 10,000,000 passenger cars have been delivered in the United States. (There was no civilian production from Feb. 10, 1942, until July 1, 1945.)

Many Are Pre-War

The cars turned out since the war represent considerably less than one-third of all the passenger vehicles now being driven. Thus, with a bit of simple mathematics you can conjure up a huge potential replacement market for automobiles.

You can figure, for instance, that of the cars now in use about 25,000,000 were built before the war. That means they are eight years of age and older and getting closer to the scrap heap each day.

So the car industry isn't worrying about its future market. In fact, so far as is outwardly apparent, the industry isn't worrying about anything, unless it be the possibility of something that would affect buying power.

Profits May "Level"

That alone, the industry chiefs say, could upset their expectations of "good" business for many months to come.

One of the things the industry heads have been trying hardest to emphasize is that the return of normal operations in the automotive business doesn't mean the coming of evil days for the car builder and retailer.

Of course, profits of both may level off somewhat. Nevertheless, every company now building automobiles expects to make money in a competitive market.

Buyers' Market Arrives

"And," they tell you, "we-re in the long-predicted buyers' market right now."

That certainly is the conviction of car makers outside the Chevrolet-Ford-Plymouth price field. In many sections even the lower priced models are available on short notice. That situation has to result when the factories roll out cars at a rate of more than 25 a minute for every working shift.

But even at this record-breaking production pace field stocks of cars aren't piling up too heavily right now. The industry's merchandising division is putting forth a lot of selling effort and field stocks aren't likely to increase substantially for several months.

Floydada Lions To Install New Officers

FLOYDADA, July 2. (Special)—Judge Charles Dean of Plainview, who is the former district governor of the Lions International, will be the principal speaker at the installation of officers at the regular meeting of the Floydada Lions club Thursday night.

New officers will include Enos T. Jones, president; W. E. Garrett, first vice president; Parnell Powell, second vice president; Earl Crow will begin his second year as secretary and treasurer; James A. Currie, Lion tamer and Coach L. F. Gresham, tail twister. Directors for the new year named were Edd Johnson, Russell King, J. G. Wood, Everett Perry, L. D. Britton and W. H. Tanner.

Judge Dean will present awards on behalf of the club as follows: W. E. Grimes, Edd Johnson, Parnell Powell, Jake Watson, Olin M. Watson, jr., and James H. Word, all for perfect attendance in 1948-49; Edd Johnson, five year perfect attendance record; A. E. Baker a key for new members; W. G. Collins, E. L. Orman, O. M. Watson, J. M. Willson and J. G. Wood, will receive 20 year charter chevrons; Edd Johnson will receive a 10-year charter chevron and the past president's button will go to James H. Word.

The theme for 1949-50 will be to teach that organization, co-operation and reciprocity are better [illegible] strife and destructive competition.

Texas Tech Ex-Student Group Issues First Annual Honor Roll Of Loyalty Fund Donors

By JERRY HALL
Avalanche-Journal Staff Writer

The first annual honor roll issued by the Ex-Students association at Texas Technological college naming the Tech exes who have contributed to the ex-student Loyalty fund has been announced by the executive secretary of the association, D. M. McElroy.

In 1948 it was decided to create the Loyalty fund to supply financial assistance to the ex-student association instead of the regular method of paying dues to the organization. Any ex-student of Texas Tech may contribute to the fund in any amount which he desires.

Donation Required

By sending in his donation the ex automatically becomes eligible for the honor roll which was published in booklet form for the first time this year. McElroy said in the more than 40,000 ex-students who have enrolled at Tech for as much as one semester could have a part in operating the ex-student association. Each year an honor roll of those exes participating in the Loyalty fund will be published.

In the first issue there is a complete breakdown of all contributors by states, districts, and total amount given. No individual totals are revealed. At the first of the booklet are two short messages, one from Tech's president, Dr. D. M. Wiggins, and the other from the new vice president, Dr. E. N. Jones.

President Commends Exes

Dr. Wiggins says, "the few months I have been permitted to spend on the campus have very definitely proven to me that no group is contributing more to the life of Texas Technological college than our ex-students."

Dr. Jones goes on to commend the excellent work being done by the ex-student association and says, "the Loyalty fund is an admirably conceived method to put our exes at the forefront in building the Tech of today into the college of our dreams for tomorrow."

A breakdown of contributions by amounts shows there were 123 persons who gave the smallest amount, $1, while seven individuals presented the fund with $100 each. Going a little farther the chart indicates five members of the class of 1926 donated to the fund while the class showing the largest amount of contributors was in 1947 with 105 donations.

Special Roll Listed

A special honor roll of those exes whose gifts of time, energy and money made the reorganization possible is also listed. There are 152 persons on that list, most of whom are from Lubbock.

Almost 1,000 persons are listed on the honor roll for the Loyalty fund. That number represents persons who live in 32 states, the District of Columbia and seven foreign countries. Many of the persons who sent in donations also expressed their approval and well wishes toward the plan. McElroy has quoted them at various places in the book.

A copy of the honor roll was sent to each ex-student along with a pamphlet showing little known facts about the tremendous growth Tech since its opening in 1925. The pamphlet, "Tall Tale from West Texas," tells of how the college has grown to the third largest state supported school in Texas.

Growth Cited

When the college opened Oct. 1, 1925 there were only six major buildings on the 320 acre campus and 910 students. Today there are more than five times that many major buildings and seven times the original number of students.

The pamphlet also quotes an item from the first college catalogue which says "Tech is located in Lubbock, a rapidly growing little city of approximately 15,000 inhabitants." It goes on to note that Lubbock, like Tech, has also grown in the past 23 years, now registering a population of around 70,000.

Trustees for the new Loyalty fund are Hurley Carpenter, Ed A. McCullough, Wayne Sellers, Fred Rollings, Veteal Askew, O. R. (Chick) McElya, George Langford, Guy Carter, Floyd Woolridge, Kenneth Leftwich and D. M. McElroy.

Back Trouble, Side Pains and Arm Sore

Case History No. 2070; Man; Age 45; Symptoms: Severe back trouble where it was difficult for him to move without excruciating pain. Upon moving his side ached terrible and he had a distressing feeling in his arm.

History of Accidents

A few years ago he sprained his knee and had to stay in bed one week. Also, he sprained his spine in lifting. From then on he had trouble with his back, side and arm until he had to quit work.

Came to Stephens Chiropractic Clinic

After trying different forms of treatment without results he came to the STEPHENS CHIROPRACTIC CLINIC, "Where the so-called Hopeless DO get Well."

The X-Ray examination of his spine revealed that the vertebrae in his neck were badly misaligned. Also, there was a curvature in his spine in the dorsal region. Both the Neurocalometer (a product of the Palmer School of Chiropractic) and the Neurocalograph (a product of General Electric) determined the degree of Nerve Pressure which produced a Nerve Interference between the Brain as one part and his affected regions of his body as the other part. These two nerve tests accurately located bad nerves leading to his spine, his arm, and his side.

Upon further questions he told us of a fall he had one time that broke his leg. This further proved that if a fall or sprain was great enough to break his leg or injure his spine it was also great enough to knock the vertebrae in his back out of place.

What Specific Chiropractic Has Done For Him

After a series of Scientific Chiropractic Service this case is now feeling as tho he were a new man. His back does not hurt anymore; his arm and side are feeling fine; he is able to do more work than he has in several years; and, he has put on weight. He says, "I wouldn't take anything for what Chiropractic has done for me."

Why should I buy a burial Estate before the need arises? By being thoughtful now I may avoid a hasty decision, added grief, and possibly financial embarrassment.

As the head of a family, can I afford to leave this vital obligation undone until a misfortune arises? Certainly, "I can not." I must arrange all my business in the best way possible, for the sake of my family and for the peace of mind it will afford me.

Let us arrange to explain our plan to you. Everyone can be included, regardless, of their circumstances.

Important Experiment In Allied Naval Cooperation Now Underway

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press Staff Writer

England's historic Penzance bay is the scene of a naval experiment which is calculated to result in the creation of a united western European fleet for defense against aggression.

British, French and Dutch men-of-war are massed in the bay, while smaller Belgian warships are engaged in separate maneuvers with British vessels in neighboring waters.

It is the beginning of an effort to coordinate the widely varying methods of these fleets so that they can work as one.

Language Is Barrier

That's far from being as easy as it sounds. These navies are as individualistic as are the men who sail and fight them. Their various customs and methods of operation are developments of many centuries. The different language in themselves are a hazard for coordination.

The very idea of such a submerging of identities probably would have brought shudders to that great sea-master, Admiral Lord Nelson, whose spirit paces the deck of every British naval ship unto this day. Yet the four navies are setting about the job in deadly earnest.

Of course this isn't the first time that British, French and Dutch warships have operated together (fashion a fashion), for they joined with American ships to form the allied eastern fleet based on Ceylon during the late war. However, this association served to emphasize the differences and consequent difficulties of combined operations. Even their all-important inter-communications at times got so gummed up, because of the difference of language and customs, as to be most disconcerting.

Problems Are Recalled

My colleague Charles Grumich, who is an old sea-dog by virtue of having been with the allied navy in the Far East during the war, tells me the consensus of naval officers concerned was that there were a good many rough spots in the operations of the combined fleets. By way of illustration Grumich says:

"This fleet made a series of 'club runs,' as they called them, going out once a month to lay barrages and carrier air-strikes on the Andaman and Nicobar islands and Sumatra and Java.

"Arrivl of the U. S. Saratoga, a rather ungainly old carrier from the Pacific, led to a lot of celebrating. The British were so happy that they changed over to American signal flags, not knowing that the Saratoga had changed over to British signal flags. They had a helluva time making signals for a while.

"The real snafu came when the French battle-wagon Richelieu joined the fleet. Saratoga signaled over, asking if there was anything Richelieu needed. The French came back with a request for 1,000 brassieres and the American gobs were just about to swim over to see why when a French linquist discovered that's what the French call life-jackets."

Well, that's a page out of the past. Penzance bay may well be seeing the beginning of a new era in allied naval coordination.

Girl About Same Age To Break Tragic News

Victim Of Boat Accident Unaware Legs Amputated

RENO, Nev., July 2. (U.P.)—Norma Carothers, 14, headed here today for a heart-to-heart talk with Imogene Wittsche, 13, to convince her she can live a happy, normal life although her legs have been amputated.

The girls are strangers, but Norma was confident she would be convincing. She has lost both her legs, too, but dances, swims, plays ball and rides her bicycle with the aid of artificial legs.

Thinks Legs In Cast

Norma first will break the news to Imogene that she lost her legs. Imogene lies in the Washoe General hospital still thinking her legs are in casts. They were amputated below the knee last Monday after she was hit by a speedboat in Lake Tahoe.

Norma, whose home is in Topeka, Kan., was en route to Reno from Long Beach, Calif., where she has been vacatioing.

Neither doctors nor Imogene's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Wittsche, had the heart to tell the pretty youngster that her feet were chopped off when the boat ran over her on Lake Tahoe as she swam last Monday.

In the heavy casts, she had no idea that her feet were gone. She thought they had been "sewed back on" and the condition of her severed nerves were such that doctors said she might even believe she could "wiggle" toes that were no longer there.

Doctors Agree To Idea

"She hasn't said anything about the accident since she came to the hospital," her mother said. "I don't believe she realizes yet what happened."

Norma, visiting in Long Beach, Calif., with her mother, offered to break the news to Imogene. Experts believed it might be a good idea to let someone her own age who had suffered the same experience tell her of her loss.

Norma lost her legs in an auto accident two years ago.

"Perhaps," Norma said, "it might help coming from me. I'm willing to give up my vacation to help her."

Mrs. James W. Carothers, Norma's mother, said her daughter has been able to lead an almost normal life since she became accustomed to the artificial legs with which she was fitted after the auto crash.

McCarthy Sells Shell Building In Houston For $2,500,000

HOUSTON, July 2. (U.P.) — Millionaire oilman Glenn H. McCarthy has sold the 23-story Shell building in downhown Houston for $2,500,000, it was revealed today.

The buyer was the M. D. Anderson foundation. The building, on the southeast corner of Texas and Fannin streets, was bought by the McCarthy interests in September, 1943, for $2,225,000.

Ten floors of the building are occupied by the Shell Oil company. The McCarthy Oil and Gas company has one floor, and the remainder of the space is leased to individuals and smaller firms.

McCarthy said he will erect a new office building, possibly six of eight stories high, on Main street opposite his new $20,000,000 Shamrock hotel. The new structure will house the McCarthy Oil and Gas co., the oilman's radio station, KXYZ, and other enterprises.

Mrs. Margaret Babcock Davis Dies At Fort Worth Rest Home

FORT WORTH, July 2 (AP) — Mrs. Margaret Babcock Davis, 89, Fort Worth resident for 40 years and member of the family which built the Texas state capitol, died at a rest home here this morning.

She was the daughter of Amos Babcock and the sister-in-law of Abner Taylor, Chicago financiers who secured British backing and built the Texas state house in exchange for 3,000,000 acres in the Panhandle, later known as the XIT ranch.

Mrs. Davis came to Texas for the capitol's cornerstone-laying on Texas Independence day in 1885, and later moved here to live. She and an only surviving brother, Pitt Babcock of Plainview, still have XIT holdings.

Services were scheduled at 4 p. m. today.

Marine Reserves Slate Maneuvers

By GERALD B. HEALEY
INS Staff Correspondent

CHICAGO, July 2. — Flying leathernecks of the United States Marine Air reserve squadrons throughout the country are squaring off today for the largest scale summer maneuvers in Marine history.

Thousands of civilians from every walk of life and occupations are putting the finishing touches to another full year's training as "weekend warriors" in preparation for two weeks' active duty.

Strenuous Work Slated

These men are readying themselves at 22 U. S. Naval Air stations from coast to coast. They will be set for active duty under realistically simulated battle conditions starting July 16 and ending Aug. 27.

Ahead of them, during the maneuvers, are two weeks of service as strenuous as actual combat. The only thing lacking will be an enemy shooting back.

This year the Marine Air reserves come up to the maneuvers at the greatest strength since the Marine corps established the training program in April, 1946. The command now totals 1,575 officers and 5,459 enlisted men.

Ready For Emergency

This training program has proved that Marine Air reserve squadrons can be quickly mobilized and moved to action station in any part of the country; that Marine Air reserve pilots, ground officers and enlisted men, through constant training under simulated combat conditions, are ready for front-line operations in any emergency.

From home stations, 27 Marine reserve fighting squadrons and four Marine reserve ground control intercept (radar) squadrons will converge on maneuver points.

These squadrons will be composed of 5,200 Marine Air reserve officers and men, and more than 500 Marine and Navy fighter and transport planes, combat-ready and combat-equipped.

Fourteen fighting squadrons and two ground control intercept squadrons based at stations east of the Mississippi river, will maneuver from July 16 to July 30 at Marine Corps Air Station, El Toro, Santa Ana, California.

Pilots will concentrate on precision flying, gunnery, rocket-firing and bombing in order to release support fire with pin-point accuracy in front of Marine infantrymen.

DRUGS FROM TOADS

The Chinese discovered the meicinal value of the toad ages ago. For centuries, they have prepared drugs from its skin. Its gland secretions are very unpleasant to the taste; the toad uses them to discourage animals which seek to devour him.

Paraguay has returned its oil industry to private ownership, ending State monopoly.

New License Tests For Drivers In Accidents Backed In Survey

By GEORGE GALLUP, Director
American Institute Of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J. July 2.—If you're doing much driving on this Fourth of July weekend, which promises the customary harvest of smash-ups and death, tear this out and paste it in your hat:

The driver of every third car you pass on the road has had an automobile accident while he was at the wheel—anything from a smashed fender to a major crack-up.

This is revealed in a survey in which licensed drivers in all parts of the country were questioned by the American Institute of Public Opinion.

The survey found that most people put the blame for accidents on the human factor— the carelessness or recklessness of drivers —and overlook two other factors which experts call of major importance in accidents. These are the condition of the automobile, and the nature or condition of the highway, that is, whether it is poorly laid out and full of dangerous curves or blind corners.

Those questioned in the poll expressed overwhelming support for a proposal which was introduced at this year's session of the New York State legislature.

The proposal was that all drivers who are involved in three accidents in any 18-month period be required to take a special driving examination to determine their competency to continue driving.

More than eight in every 10 persons questioned in the poll favored the adoption of this idea in their own states.

The poll asked a series of questions as follows among all persons who said they have a driver's license:

"About how many miles would you say you drove your car last week?"

Average estimate of men drivers	166 miles
Average estimate of women drivers	52 miles

"Have you ever had an accident while driving?"

	Yes	No
Men drivers	43%	57%
Women drivers	19	81
All drivers	34	66

The relative skill of men and women drivers has been a moot question for years among highway safety experts. If you happen to believe in the supremacy of the male, you can find evidence from the above tables that, in terms of car miles driven, men are less likely to have accidents than women.

On the other hand, it is a well-known fact that women drivers are far less prone to be involved in accidents that are fatal. Perhaps one reason for this is the high proportion of fatal accidents which occur late at night, when men are more likely to be at the wheel than women.

All persons questioned, whether they have a driver's license, or not, were then asked:

"What did you consider the biggest cause of automobile accidents?"

Carelessness, negligence	45%
Too much drinking, drunk drivers	29
Speeding	23
Incompetent drivers	3
Drivers too young	3
Cars too old	2
Miscellaneous	7
Don't know	3
	115%

(The table adds to more than 100 per cent because some named more than one factor as responsible for accidents.)

To the list given by the voters, trafic experts would, as already mentioned, add the factors of defective automobile and bad highway.

The next question in the poll was:

"It has been suggested that if an automobile driver is at fault in three accidents in a period of two years or less, he should be required to take a special driving examination and apply for a new driver's license. Would you favor or oppose adopting this idea in this state?"

Favor	85%
Oppose	9
No opinion	6

The final question in the survey was:

"Would you rather ride in a car driven by a man or a woman?"

With a man	49%
With a woman	5
Makes no difference	43
No opinion	3

The automobile accident toll is down somewhat as compared to a few years ago, but some 32,000 people were killed last year, one every sixteen minutes, and approximately 1,000,000 were injured.

Local Officials Responsible For Stopping Gamblers, Mabry Says

SANTA FE, July 2 (INS)—Governor Thomas Mabry has again stressed that it's up to local officials to stop gambling in New Mexico.

The governor was asked about recent reports of gambling at the Lincoln county resort town of Ruidoso.

He said, "I was glad to hear local and district officers say commercial gambling will be stopped."

He added, "We don't like to assume a collapse of local law enforcement and move in on our own, but unless there is a big improvement in some of these spots quickly, we might come in even without the invitation."

He said that New Mexico would only get real law enforcement "when local communities want it, self imposed."

New Mexico Professor Reported Missing; Last Seen On June 26

ALBUQUERQUE, July 2 (INS)—Charles Cuma, 43, assistant professor of engineering at New Mexico University in Albuquerque, has been missing from his home since June 25.

He was last seen walking by the rapids along Bright Angel trail in Grand Canyon, June 26, according to word received by university authorities.

Cuma was first missed by his wife last Sunday when she returned from church. Investigation revealed he had bought tickets to Grand Canyon.

A check by authorities showed that a man matching Cuma's description was seen along Bright Angel trail.

Cuma was an engineer with the Chrysler corporation before retiring to Florida. He was brought out of retirement to teach at the university last February.

Blue, Green Means Rough Red Rash For English School Boy

ECCLESALL, Eng., July 2 (AP)—Ian Rodgers, 11, wanted a school with colors he could cheer for, but not break out in a rash over.

When he gets too close to the colors blue or green he does just that—break out into a rough red rash. And four of the six schools in his area have those hues in their ties and blazers.

So he was happy today when Nether Edge grammar school—colors brown and black—accepted his entrance examination.

Teachers at Ian's elementary school must seat him well away from girls in blue or green dresses and his home features paintwork and decorations from the opposite end of the spectrum.

Doctors say Ian may get over the allergy when he's 14.

At the dinner, Starling, who is district superintendent for the pipeline company, received a button for 20 years of efficient service. The award was presented by T. L. McGrew, division superintendent.

Starling has resided in Seminole for the past nine years.

Alabama Minister Warned He Was Next On 'Whipping List'

BIRMINGHAM, July 2 (AP)—A Methodist minister who uncovered a series of east Alabama floggings said today he had been warned he was on the "whipping list."

He is the Rev. Luther Brown, pastor of the Millersville Methodist church 80 miles east of here. He told the state officers the warning was given him last night at prayer meeting there.

Bankhead Bates, director of the state patrol, assigned men to investigate the threat.

Brown said he was told "You are pretty close to the top of the whipping list."

He and another Methodist minister, the Rev. Frank Ledford of Ashland, revealed a series of acts of mob violence by robed and hooded men in Clay county after a private investigation.

The Rev. Ledford announced his sermon topic tomorrow would be "Christ or the Klan."

Ku Klux Klan officials have repeatedly denied that any of their members have been involved in floggings or other law violations.

New Hockley County Red Cross Directors Meet For First Time

LEVELLAND, July 2. (Special) — A meeting of the board of directors of the Hockley county chapter of the American Red Cross was held Thursday night in the Cactus room of Wayne's cafe.

The meeting was the first gathering of the new board of directors, which includes members from all parts of Hockley county. H. D. Richmond, county chairman, was in charge.

Plans are being made by the group to make the office of executive secretary a full-time job again. Mrs. Mary Barron, who recently was named executive secretary of the Red Cross chapter, has thus far been serving only part-time.

Judith Coplon's Passport Lifted

NEW YORK, July 2. (AP)—Airlines and other travel outlets were told today Judith Coplon's passport has been lifted.

Overseas airlines officials at first interpreted this as an alert to prevent her from fleeing from the United States. Lincoln White, State department press officers, said in Washington that passports of persons convicted of a crime always are taken up.

International travel firms are notified of the lifting as a matter of course.

Rests In Brooklyn

Miss Coplon was convicted Thursday of spying for Russia. The 28-year-old brunette is reported spending the weekend with friends near her mother's Brooklyn home, resting after her 10-week trial in Washington, she is preparing for a second trial scheduled here July 11.

The one-time Justice department analyst was tired and pale on her arrival from Washington last night.

The Justice department said it had issued no orders for a special Coplon watch.

The former government worker was convicted in Washington of stealing U.S. secrets with intent to turn them over to a foreign power. She was sentenced to 40 months to 10 years.

U.S. May Ask Delay

In the case here, the government will try to prove Miss Coplon and her alleged Russia accomplice, Valentin A. Gubitchev, conspired to send information to the Soviet Union.

The government may seek a month's delay in the New York trial. Miss Coplon faces a maximum sentence of 35 years in this case.

Miss Coplon is under $20,000 bail each in the Washington conviction and the New York indictment.

Gubitchev, a suspended United Nations employe, is free under $100,000 bail. He told reporters last month he had "no intention" of trying to leave the United States before his trial.

Nation's Holiday Death Toll Soars; Traffic Mishaps Lead

ed Saturday trying to jump on the fender of a city dump truck. His foot slipped and he fell under the right rear wheel of the truck.

Chester McCluskey, 45, Breckenridge truck driver, was killed Saturday in a two-truck collision 15 miles north of Breckenridge. Oil pipe casings in his truck slid forward crushing him, when his truck and a truck ahead of him collided.

Leroy Bushers, 18, Galveston, drowned when a surprise thundersquall swept him off his raft in Galveston Bay Friday.

Charles Kilpatrick, 68, Humble, was killed in a traffic accident near Houston Friday.

Woman Falls To Death

A woman, identified as Mrs. Velma Dunn, 46, Dallas, plunged to death from the twelfth floor of a downtown office building in Houston Saturday.

The body of a five-year-old boy was found in an El Paso hotel room. His throat was slashed and he had been bludgeoned. Found unconscious beside her dead son was Mrs. Julia Carvajal de Meza, 36. Officers said they found a note the woman had written. They said she would recover.

Curtis Thomas, about 45, Wichita Falls negro, was killed when his auto and a truck were in collision at a bridge on highway 73, three miles north of McKinney Saturday night.

His son, Henry Lee Thomas, about 20, was in a serious condition in a McKinney hospital.

Phil Flint of Sherman, driver of the truck, suffered minor hurts.

Crash Kills Four

Four persons died in a single traffic accident in New Haven, Conn., and another highway crash took four lives in Texas.

The National Safety Council has estimated that the traffic toll for the weekend will reach 290. It figured that some 33,000,000 automobiles will carry vacationers to beaches and resorts.

Last year's three-day Fourth of July weekend took more than 500 lives, of which almost 300 were traffic fatalities.

Slaying Clue

had asked England to question Layton about the trousers.

Charges Filed

Layton, who had reported his clothing and suitcase stolen, had written to Albuquerque officers.

At Amarillo Gaither said the man held there looked "something like" descriptions of Leach. But he said none of the witnesses in the case could identify him as Leach.

Went To Lubbock

Sheriff Gaither said Amarillo officers and the FBI were continuing to question the man held at Amarillo.

The man had denied any knowledge of Layton's clothing and suitcase.

Sheriff Gaither said he told this story:

He left Albuquerque the day before the Thornton slaying on a bus with a friend. He went to Odessa, then Lubbock. At Lubbock he ordered flowers for a friend's funeral in Corsicana. He arrived in Amarillo Wednesday night on a bus with a friend.

Gaither said a check showed a Lubbock florist had received an order—by telephone—for the flowers. But he said officers hadn't been able to establish whether the call was local or long distance; or whether the man held here personally gave the order.

Study Of Tornadoes

can turn a town into a little Hiroshima in 30 seconds. A hurricane covers more ground, but its big wind is only a hot-foot compared to a tornado's 500-mile-an-hour supercharged hell.

About 250 persons die in an average 150 tornadoes every year. But one really bad tornado can kill almost that many in three minutes.

That's why a warning service is such a desperate need in twister country. The weather bureau has a good understanding of tornadoes, but it has never had enough faith in its own tornado predictions to issue warnings and possibly cause needless panic.

Photograph Static

Dr. H. L. Jones, professor of electrical engineering at the college hopes to do better than that. He and his assistants think they will be able to spot potential twisters as far as 250 miles away.

Their instruments are a gadget called an oscilloscope and a movie camera.

The oscilloscope, used a lot by radio amateurs, takes a radio signal and turns it into a picture. It is something like television, but instead of a real picture you get a set of wave forms —jumpy lines that look like a flickering fever chart.

Lightning Studied

They discovered two kinds of lightning. One small wave was very common. The other was a king-size wave, and rather rare.

The engineers now believe—after two years of study—that the little waves are ordinary everyday lightning, and that the big waves are the lightning surges of tornadic storms.

"We hope to pick up a tornado when it is about a mile above ground," Dr. Jones said. "Once we know it's a tornado, we'll switch to radar to follow its course and possible location.

UNDERGOES SURGERY

ambulance where he remained under observation following treatment for numerous lacerations, abrasions and contusions about the face. Another passenger in the truck, T. L. Davis, of 404 East Wabash, was released after treatment for minor lacerations and bruises about the face.

Freeman Foster, of 2302 Ninth, driver of the pickup truck escaped without injury. Ledbetter and Davis also were in the pickup.

According to police records, the pickup truck was going north on Ave. H as a truck owned by Texas Pumice Block company and driven by Lonnie Northam, of Lubbock approached traveling south. The pickup attempted a left turn onto Texas Ave. and was in collision with the Pumice company truck on the left front fender. The impact threw Davis and Ledbetter from the cab of the pickup to the ground.

Three passengers in the larger truck were uninjured. They were identified as Dwain Dotson, 910 Ave. R, Charlotte Alexander, 1520 Tenth, and Miss Jackie Jackson, 910 Ave. R.

The six Post residents were injured Saturday night when their car was involved in a three-car mishap on a narrow bridge spanning Deep creek eight miles east of Baird in Callahan county.

Injured were Mr. and Mrs. Roy Stevens and their 16-year-old daughter, La Rue, and Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Davies and their 15-year-old daughter, El Wanda, all of Post.

Most seriously hurt was Stevens. He was treated for lacerations about the face and head, as was Mrs. Davies and Mrs. Stevens. Davies' injuries also were serious and painful, but not thought to be extremely serious. He suffered several broken ribs.

Only Stevens and Davies were required to remain in the hospital at Baird. The others were given first aid treatment and released. El Wanda Davies lost three front teeth and suffered scratches and bruises about the body.

The injured were treated at Callahan county hospital in Baird, 22 miles east of Abilene.

The accident occured when the Stevens car, a 1949 Ford driven by Stevens, was involved first with the truck, en route to Abilene. A chevrolet driven by O. F. Webb of Las Cruces, N. M. also was involved.

Stevens car and the truck, a Sunset Motor Lines van, collided first. The Webb car was following immediately behind the Stevens car and piled into the car and truck after the collision. The Stevens car was demolished.

Stevens and the Davies families were enroute to Santa in Palo Pinto county for a Young family reunion Sunday. Mrs. Stevens and Mrs. Davies are sisters.

Texas Highway patrolmen investigated three other accidents on highways leading out of Lubbock.

A car and a truck were in collision an Highway 87 at a point just south of Wolfforth at about 7 p. m., records of the Highway Patrol showed.

Patrolmen who investigated the accident said a car driven by William D. Lyon, 24, of Pampa, was in collision with a truck driven by Cecil D. Hobbs, of Louisiana, when the truck attempted a left turn at an intersection as the car was passing.

Four Lubbock youths escaped injury in another accident, when the late model Studebaker in which they were riding struck the traffic circle on the Tahoka highway. Patrolmen were unable immediately to determine identity of the driver or the occupants of the car. The car was approaching Lubbock.

Cars driven by Margurite Smith, 18, of 515 Ave. Q, and Wardell Harvey, 21, of 420 Ave. M., collided as Harvey attempted a turn on Highway 62, approximately two and one-half miles east of Lubbock. Both cars were traveling east at the time of the accident. No one was injured.

The latest accident happened about 1 a.m. today.

A man identified as Leslie Boyd Fox, about 30, of 619 Avenue V, suffered an injury to his left leg when the car in which he was a passenger was in collision with a truck on the north Avenue H highway intersection.

Fox was in West Texas hospital early today for treatment after being brought in by a Plains ambulance.

Police were continuing their investigation. The name of the driver of the truck was not immedly learned but he was not believed injured.

PICKUP IN SMASHUP—A pickup truck and a heavier truck were damaged about 9:10 p.m. last night in a headon collision at the intersection of Ave. H and Texas avenue. The pickup, shown above, was the most heavily damaged in the wreck, one of a series which were reported over the area as the South Plains' holiday weekend got underway. Hearing Plans Made water from a Canadian reservoir if available at a price they can pay and if it is of a quality suitable for domestic and industrial use.

Heading the delegation will be Clarence Whiteside, Lubbock city commission and chairman of the embryo Canadian water development project.

Whiteside, who presided at the meeting today, plans to leave by airliner for Washington Wednesday.

He will establish headquarters in the Mayflower hotel, where reservations have been made for most of the Panhandle-South Plains delegation. Some of the group, however, will be quartered in the Statler hotel. These will include the group from Amarillo, headed by Mayor Gene Klein.

Two Hours Allowed

Only two hours have been allowed for the hearing during which the interested communities will present evidence to urge the approval of the project.

According to the tentative schedule, Mayor Klein will be the spokesman for Amarillo and Plainview. A. A. Meredith, Borger city manager, will speak for that city and Pampa. Steve Matthews, Lubbock city manager, or J. D. Willson, Lamesa city manager, will be spokesman for the communities of the South Plains. John McCarty, of Amarillo, president of the Panhandle Water Conservation association, will summarize the reasons why the project should be built.

Reps. George Mahon and Gene Worley, congressmen from the areas interested in the undertaking, will be present to assist as they can in the presentation.

Eight Towns Represented

Localities represented at the meeting today were Lubbock, Amarillo, Pampa, Borger, Plainview, Tahoka, Littlefield, and Lamesa.

Interested in the project, but not represented in the suddenly arranged meeting were O'Donnell, Levelland and Slaton.

Without exception, the representatives of the communities represented were of the opinion that their municipal governing bodies would adopt resolutions urging construction of the giant system and expressing their intent to buy water from a Canadian reservoir if available at a price they can pay.

Information to the meeting was that the three localities not represented will adopt similar resolutions.

Whiteside emphasized that it is of utmost importance that action be taken on such resolutions at once so that they will be available for presentation to the subcommittee.

Urges Immediate Action

He would prefer, he said, that they be adopted in time for him to take them to Washington when he leaves Wednesday. If not available by that time, he asked that they be airmailed in care of the Mayflower Hotel.

A demonstrated interest in the building of the project, he said, might carry considerable weight with the subcommittee in its consideration of the matter.

Today's meeting was held in an atmosphere of complete harmony and complete agreement that every reasonable effort should be made to secure approval of the project. The entire day was devoted to discussions of how approval might be obtained and of what would be the most effective methods of presenting the evidence to justify the undertaking.

Suggestions as to the type of information the subcommittee is most likely to want were made by Rex Reed, of Amarillo, planning engineer for the Reclamation Service, and T. R. Cantine, also of Amarillo, chief of reports and progress, of the same service.

Proposes Questions

Reed suggested a list of questions which should be answered for every community in time for submission to the hearing. The gist of the questions is that the interested cities are finding it increasingly expensive—approaching the prohibitive in many cases —to rely upon water wells as a source of supply.

The questions also will supply the means of bringing out that the lack of a large surface water supply is retarding industrial development in most, if not all, of the interested communities. They will tell, also, that cities now are using in increasing quantities water which could be used for irrigation if domestic supplies were available from the proposed reservoir.

The plans for the project, as prepared by the Reclamation Service, call for a dam and reservoir on the Canadian near Sanford, about 40 miles northeast of Amarillo. From the reservoir, pipelines would be built to the interested cities.

Costs Are Rising

The Reclamation Service estimated the whole project would cost about $85,000,000, of which about $80,000,000 would have to be liquidated by the sales of water for domestic and industrial purposes within 55 years.

The service estimated the production cost of the water, at the gates of the cities taking it, would be about 7½ cents per 1,000 gallons—slightly more than the present average production cost for the area as a whole.

But, it was acknowledged, the water costs to the cities would be higher than 7½ cents—possibly as much as 13½ cents—if interests had to be paid on money advanced for the construction.

Some localities on the southern South Plains have a higher production cost than that now. The cost in all is rising—in some instances, including Lubbock, at an alarming rate—as they are forced to reach further for their supplies.

Present at today's hearing were:

Amarillo—Mayor Klein, Chamber of Commerce Manager Rex Baxter, J. E. Cunningham, member of the project steering committee, City Manager N. V. Moss, and McCarty; Lubbock—Whiteside, City Commissioner E. K. Hufstedler, Assistant Chamber of Commerce manager Jim Crook and Matthews; Plainview—Mayor Winfield Holbrook, City Councilman E. M. Osborne and Ray Pritchett and H. S. Hilburn, publisher of the Plainview Herald; Pampa—Mayor C. A. Huff and City Manager Dick Pepin; Borger—City Manager Meredith and Chamber of Commerce Manager Joe Cooley; Lamesa—City Manager Willson; Littlefield—Ralph W. Douglas, city engineer; and Tahoka, R. H. Dodson, assistant city water superintendent.

Housing Project

with low roofs and overhanging cornices. Each building will be distinctive and different, to avoid the impression of a stereotyped housing project.

To Include Some Furnishings

Asbestos roofing and asbestos shingle exterior walls will be employed. Landscaping will be done by the corporation.

The interior floors will be of Bruce block, and steel kitchen cabinets will be installed throughout. Stoves, refrigerators and venetian blinds will be furnished. Payne forced-air heating units will be installed in each apartment. Interior walls will be of gypsum board, painted.

Sixteen laundry buildings will be constructed.

Business services will be made available through construction of a nine-store shopping and community center at Forty-second street and Adams avenue. Included will be a supermarket, helpy-selfy laundry, tailor shop and service station.

Final plans are being completed by Butler-Brasher company, Lubbock architects, and Chas. E. Armstrong of Fort Worth. The Lubbock engineering firm of Parkhill, Smith and Cooper has prepared street and utility construction plans.

Alleys and parking areas will be paved.

4,500 Turn Out For Rodeo At Levelland

LEVELLAND, July 2. (Special) The first performance of this year's annual Levelland rodeo was presented here tonight before an estimated 4,500 spectators.

The second performance will be presented at 2 p.m. Sunday. Other performances are scheduled for 2 p.m. and 8 p.m. Monday.

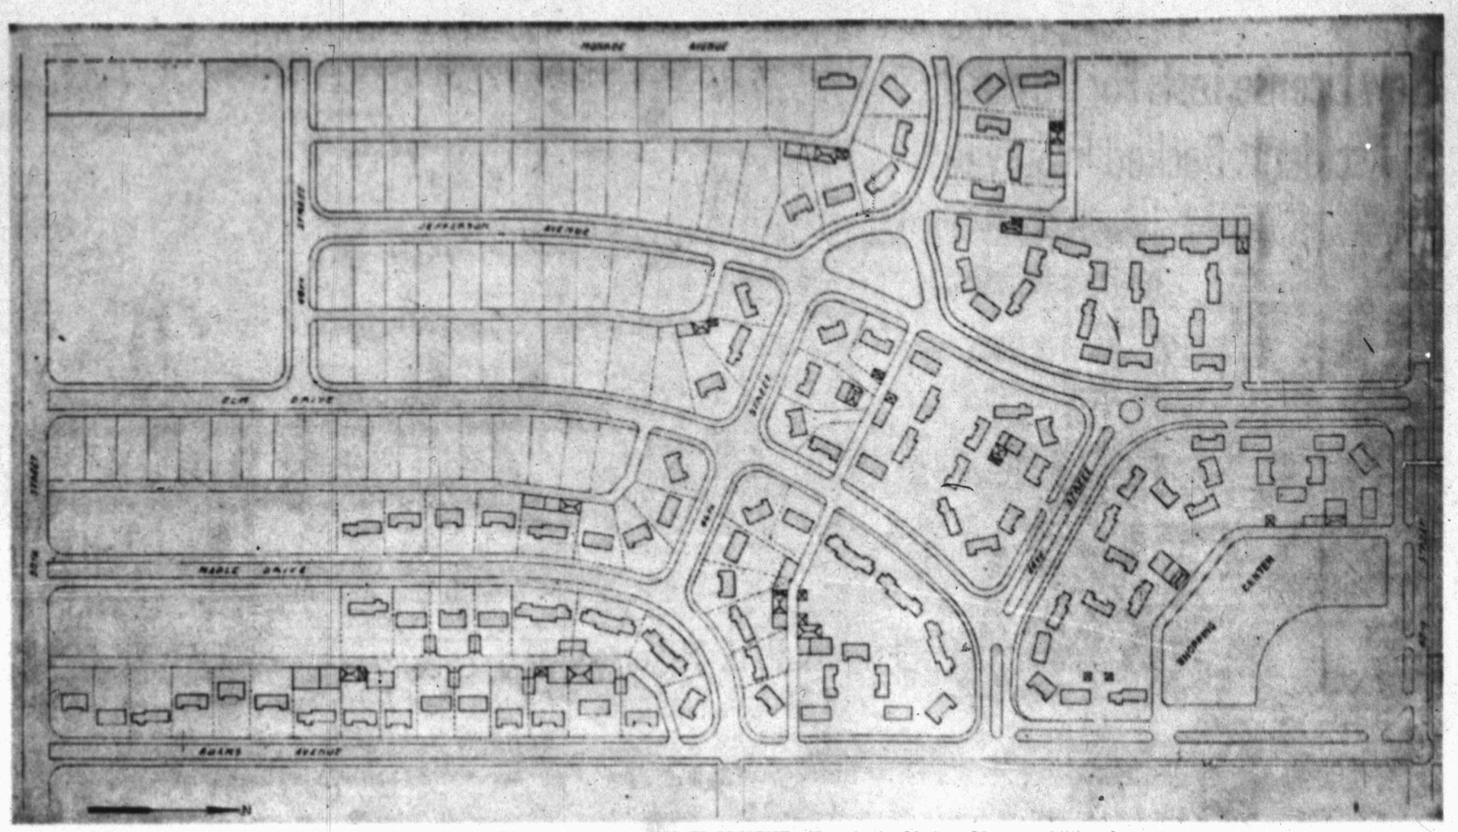

Star of this year's show is Tim Holt, star of scores of western movies, who with Joe Jennings of Oklahoma is furnishing stock for the rodeo.

Winners Listed

Winners in the various events included Buzz Garner of Camanche, Okla., saddle bronc riding; Bill Williams, calf roping; Andy Curtis, dogging; Bobby Furgeson of Oklahoma City, bareback bronc riding; and Todd Whatley, bull riding. Miss Donna McKelvey of San Angelo was winner in the girls' barrel race.

Times on the various winners were not available late tonight.

Tonight's show had only one casualty. Sonny Hightower of Sundown suffered a broken leg while participating in the saddle bronc riding contest.

SITE OF $2,300,000 RENTAL HOUSING DEVELOPMENT—Here is the Modern Manors addition, between Forty-second and Fiftieth streets, Adams and Monroe avenues, where Modern Manors, Inc., will erect 130 buildings containing 293 apartments. It is hoped that work will start this month. The Federal Housing authority Friday committed to insure the loan on the immense project, which will provide badly needed rental housing for Lubbock. The corporation consists of Robert E. Maxey, president, who will be general contractor on the project, Homer G. Maxey, Lee Fields and Harold Blank. This layout was made by Parkhill, Smith and Cooper, Lubbock engineers. Note the shopping center in the lower right hand corner, at Adams and Forty-second, which will contain nine business buildings. The curving streets and building arrangements were made to provide best ventilation and beauty.

$120,000,000 Cotton Crop Is Forecast For Area As Vast Acreage Gets Good Growing Conditions

crop would be from $120,000,000 to $240,000,000, basing the estimate for the whole crop on an average price of 24 cents or $120 per bale. The higher figure is not probable, Clapp emphasized.

The dollar value of the Lubbock county crop alone would be from $26,000,000 minimum to $44,000,000 top, under extraordinary conditions.

Weather Unusually Wet

An 83 percent increase in irrigated cotton acreage over last year was one of the most remarkable facts brought out by the report. With 744,000 acres irrigated as against 462,000 acres last year, Clapp estimates 12,693 irrigation wells in the area this year, a 26 percent increase over the 10,055 wells in operation last year.

Lubbock county is estimated to have 2,000 wells, a 33 percent increase over 1948; Hockley county 1,000 wells, a 67 percent increase over last year; and Lynn county, 380 wells, a 90 percent increase over last year.

The effect of unusually wet weather is seen in planting data. Intentions to plant April 15 totaled 3,016,000 acres. First plantings totaled 3,124,000 acres, and 964,000 acres were replanted from one to five times after heavy rains. A total of 294,000 acres was replanted from cotton to grain.

Much Acreage Late

Forty-two percent of the acreage is on time, with 43 percent one to two weeks late and 15 percent three to five weeks late. Seven counties report growing conditions as excellent, 11 counties report good conditions and one county reports fair conditions.

A weekly crop letter issued by Clapp simultaneously with the acreage report showed condition of crop as good. Weather in the area was dry and hot, with temperatures in the high 90's the first half of the week and in the low 90's the last half. Scattered showers occurred on Monday with a flash flood washing out 10,000 to 15,000 acres in Lubbock county.

Progress of the crop was described as good and doing well with the warm weather. There was some complaint of hot winds hurting some of the late plantings. The plant is in all stages of growth from 10 inches high to "just hatched."

Most of the weedy fields have been cultivated and all should be clean by the middle of next week if dry weather continues.

A little planting to cotton continues even to this late date.

Sufficient farm labor is available in the area.

Grasshoppers are being poisoned and are under control. Fleahoppers are increasing and farmers are beginning to poison them. Thrip continue light.

All counties in the area are holding insect meetings, both indoors and in the field, teaching identification and when and how to poison. Farmer attendance is good.

Farm Proposals

the rigid formula in effect under the now applicable law.

In between, there is strong sentiment for a compromise, or welding together some features of both programs.

Last year, when Republicans controlled Congress, the House wanted to continue high post-war farm price supports through this year. The Senate stuck to a long-range program that aimed at lowering government price props if supplies got large.

A compromise at the very close of the session allowed the high-level price props to operate this year with the long-range flexible program to become effective January 1, 1950. The compromise is known as the Aiken law.

A few months ago, Secretary of Agriculture Brannan stepped up with an entirely new proposal. He wants to let the prices of meat, milk, butter, eggs and other so-called perishables find their level on the open market. In many cases, prices paid by consumers would be expected to drop. But to keep the farmers from losing money, the government—which is to say the taxpayers—would pay them subsidies to make up the difference between what they got and a previously determined fair income level.

Cope, 1505 Twenty-sixth.

Two cousins, Gene and Thomas Holeman, route 1, will also be competing against each other in the Derby.

Back for the second time with hopes of gaining the top prize, an all-expense trip to Akron and other awards is Willie A. Nieman, second place winner in last year's race. Mickey Ham, fourth place winner, is also a contestant again this year.

Race officials, headed by A. C. (Stumpy) Hamilton, city recreation superintendent, general chairman; and Wayne Sullivan and Dr. Jim Reynolds, track directors, are anticipating trouble from the crowd and will make an effort to keep spectators back off the highway completely so that the race may be run in an orderly fashion.

All cars must be parked back from the race course at a designated parking area and no parking for spectators will be allowed on or near the hillsides flanking the 1,000-foot race course.

The hillsides lining the course offer an excellent view for spectators and if they bring blankets or tarps, they may sit down and see the race in comfort.

Spectators are warned that they cannot get on the railroad overpass above the track as Santa Fe trains will be passing over there during the day.

Plenty of refreshments and sandwiches will be available for sale at concession stands operated by Exchange club managers at convenient points along the track. Boy Scouts will also hawk concessions among the spectators.

As there are many rocks near the highway, spectators are warned not to kick or throw rocks on the track so that a boy's racer might be endangered if a wheel strikes them.

A Red Cross first aid tent will be available near the track so that first aid may be administered in case of injuries to contestants or spectators. Dr. Lee Hale of the West Texas Hospital staff is director of first aid.

Starting at 9 a.m., bus schedules will be run to the race every 30 minutes by the Lubbock bus company, and continue until the race is concluded.

Holiday Celebration

nervous, anticipation for the Big Day ahead.

Final inspection of the racers was held Saturday afternoon, when contestants made practice runs and were assigned to three-car heat groups.

All in all, the varied and numerous events and celebrations over the weekend combine to make this Fourth of July one of the biggest in recent years.

A crowd estimated at more than 6,500 persons gathered in Abernathy to celebrate the 40th anniversary of the founding of the town.

Hale Center Homecoming Set

The first performance of the annual Levelland rodeo was presented in the new rodeo arena there Saturday night before a capacity crowd. Other performances, all of which feature Tim Holt, star of western movies, are to be held at 2 p.m. today, and 2 p.m. and 8 p.m. Monday.

A Fourth of July parade, sponsored by the Levelland Jaycees, is planned for 12:30 p.m. Monday through the downtown section of Levelland. Prizes are to be awarded to the best floats in the parade.

Hale Center residents today are making final preparations for their sixth annual July Fourth Homecoming event Monday. Some 10,000 persons are expected to attend the celebration, many of whom are pioneer residents of that area who have since moved away to other parts of the state and nation.

The Hale Center Lions club and American Legion post are cosponsors of the Independence Day program.

Pickners To Be Active

The Lubbock City Recreation department has scheduled no special activities at the various city parks, since it is felt that most youngsters will spend the holiday with their parents. Large number of picnickers are expected in the small city parks, as well as in Mackenzie State park.

Recreation department officials said Saturday that swimming classes will not be held at the swimming pool Monday morning. The pool will be opened to the public at 12:30 p.m. Monday.

Entertainment at Buffalo Lakes today will include motorcycle races this afternoon, in addition to swimming, fishing, and picnicing. Junk car races are planned for Monday afternoon. Large crowds are expected to be at the lakes both days.

Neither Lubbock American Legion nor Veterans of Foreign Wars posts have planned special Independence Day celebrations, officials of the two organizations said.

Baseball Games Carded

For baseball-minded holidayers, a game between Lubbock and Borger of the West Texas-New Mexico league will be played at Rosenthal Field at 5 p.m. today. The two teams will meet in a doubleheader here at 7:30 p.m. Monday.

Four Oil Belt league games are scheduled for this afternoon, including Tahoka at Denver City, Sundown at Brownfield, Levelland at Slaton, and Post at Seagraves.

Starting times on the Oil Belt games are varied, with some set for 2 p.m., and others at 2:30 p.m. The games originally were scheduled for July 4, and recently moved up one day.

A flag tourney Monday will highlight July Fourth activities at Lubbock Country club.

Capt. E. L. Posey, head of the Lubbock district of the Texas Highway patrol, said Saturday that a full patrol will be on duty over the weekend to cover the highways and heavily-traveled roads as closely as possible. Twenty-one area counties are within the jurisdiction of the Lubbock district.

Capt. Posey and other highway patrol officers have warned drivers against driving with excess speed, since highways are expected to be jammed with traffic. They urged motorists to drive with more than the usual caution, and have asked local drivers to do their casual late evening driving off highways and main thoroughfares in order to facilitate dispersal of out-of-town traffic.

DECREASE IS NOT ALARMING

Bank Deposits In Four Lubbock Banks Show Decline From 1948

Deposits in Lubbock's four banks declined $6,164,343.06 from a year ago at this time and $18,407,418.33 from the first of the year, statements of condition revealed Saturday.

Deposits on hand as of close of business Thursday totaled $73,068,037.95 in the four institutions. As of Dec. 31, 1948, the total was $91,475,456.28, and last June 30 the figure was $79,232,381.01.

Drop Not Unusual

Lubbock bankers were not alarmed, however. Most of the decline, they explained was due to a drop in deposits at correspondent small banks of the area.

One banker pointed out that last year's relatively poor crop conditions, a slowdown in building activity and general decrease in business activity may be partly responsible for the decline from last year at this time.

The mid-year statements invariably show a sharp decline from the Jan. 1 statements, since the farmers and agriculturists in general are laying out money rather than bringing in harvest funds.

Figures Are Compared

The trend was not so noticeable during the war and immediately following, because the government was spending large sums of money in this area.

Adding deposits of $3,850,191.96 now on hand in First Federal Savings and Loan association savings and investment accounts, total deposits for Lubbock are $76,918,229.91. Last year's total for the five institutions on June 30 was $82,573,615.41.

Loans and discounts showed a four and one-half million dollar increase during the past year. Loans and discounts as of June 30 this year totaled $22,292,548.01 in the four institutions, as compared with only $17,958,892.91 June 30, 1948.

Lubbock's newest bank, American State bank, showed continued growth, with a $235,000 gain in deposits since the last bank call April 11, and a $620,000 gain since the Dec. 31, 1948 call.

DIVIDENDS ARE DECLARED BY FIRST FEDERAL SAVINGS

Dividends totaling $44,707.61 were declared and paid Friday, the 29th semi-annual statement of the Federal Savings and Loan association disclosed Saturday.

The semi-annual dividend was at the rate of two and one-half per cent per annum.

The association's statement showed assets and liabilities totaling $4,235,127.69.

Assets were as follows: first mortgage loans, $3,824,480.67; other loans, $36,345.93; stock in Federal Home Loan bank, $36,345.93; investments and securities, $156,280.47; cash on hand and in banks, $175,678.62; furniture and fixtures, $4,700; deferred charges, $2,642.

Liabilities were listed as follows: savings and investment accounts, $3,850,191.96; loans in process, $5,752.05; borrowers' trust funds, $60,688.52; other liabilities, $4,598.57; specific reserves, $158.40; dividends declared, $44,707.61; general reserves and undivided profits, $269,030.58.

Abernathy Observes

ers and three old time wagons. Practically all of the men had some type of beard or whiskers and many of the ladies were dressed in outfits which were 'high fashion' in 1900.

Prize Winners Named

The town square took on a carnival atmosphere. With hundreds of people milling around a ferris wheel, bingo games, a flying swing, baseball targets and a 'duck the boy.' The parade band under the direction of Clyde Haden provided music throughout the day playing such tunes as "Little Brown Jug," "Bicycle Built For Two" and many others.

Prizes for floats went to Country Garden club, first; Home Builders club, second; As You Like It club, third.

Winners in the individual riders event, George Burnett, first; John Harral, second; Erbie Rhodes, third.

Doubles riders, Joy Garvin and Otis Shadden, first; Billie Watts and Wayne Rogers, second; Jo Ann Evans and J. L. Irish, third.

Three small boys on ponies representing the Caudle gin of Hale Center won all three prizes in the junior division.

Judges for the parade events were Travis White, Joe Baldridge and Roy Boyd, all of the Lubbock Lions club.

All stores and business houses in Abernathy were closed down for the day and many did not intend to open again until next Tuesday. A few indicated by signs on their closed doors that they would open for a few hours Saturday night to handle any emergency trade.

As the end of the parade trailed past the final turn around the square out-of-state highways traffic that had fallen in behind followed the marchers and got off the trail. Local police and state highway patrolmen soon got them straightened out.

W. A. Richter, Abernathy postmaster and general chairman of the anniversary celebration, kept everything moving in a business like fashion. The parade was one of the best staged on the Plains in recent months. It was well organized and very colorful. The whole community entered into the spirit of the celebration.

One cart carried a couple completely garbed in costumes of the turn of the century. On the back of the cart was a sign 'just marmarried.' With bashful glances and flirtatious waves of her fan the 'bride' drew applause from the crowd. The "As You Like It Club" depicted washing and ironing in the early days. One woman slaved over an old fashioned kettle and another wielded a 25-pound iron. On the wash line were two suits of ancient underwear.

At noon the Abernathy Lions club accomplished the mountainous task of feeding all the visitors and guests. Four lines of barbecue hungry people queued up and wound their serpentine way back and forth across the square until all had been served.

Beef, beans, bread, cakes and onions were served by the bushel. More than 15 milk cans of coffee were ladled out. The food was bought and paid for by donations from local merchants and individuals.

McCarty Is Speaker

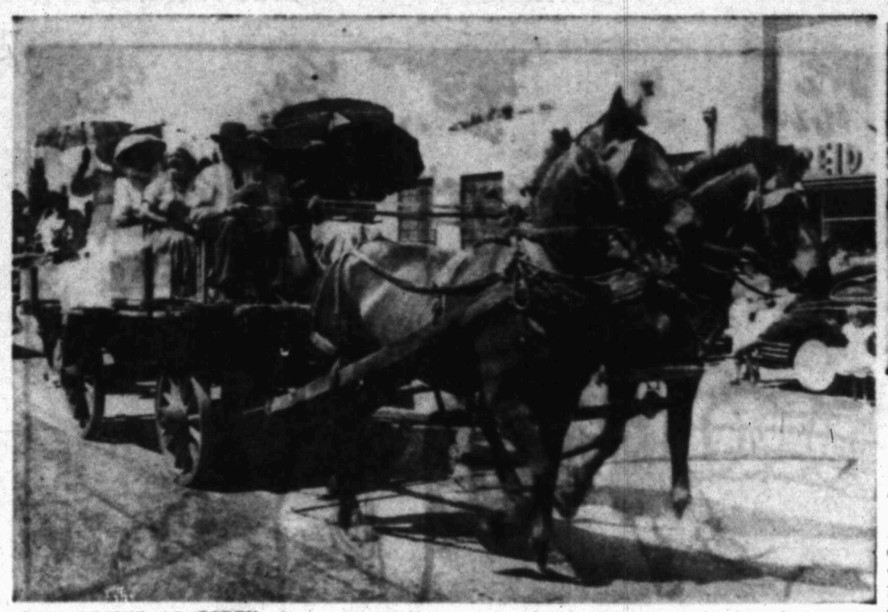

Richter, and Buford Davenport, editor of the Abernathy Weekly Review, said that the crowd exceeded their most optimistic forecasts. Many visitors came from as far away as Clovis, Portales, Amarillo and Lubbock.

At 2:30 p. m. the visitors were the guests of the First Methodist church where John L. McCarty, former Abernathy boy and now an Amarillo public relations man, was the principal speaker. McCarty told of his boyhood days in Abernathy and said that he always had time to think about his old home town. The master of ceremonies was George W. Ragland.

McCarty spoke again at 4:30 p. m. in the First Baptist church to the many who could not attend the earlier meeting. An afternoon softball game between the Abernathy Legion and McCoy, and a donkey ball game of the Legion versus Tuco drew big crowds.

Matched roping was held at the rodeo arena west of town. Two dances climaxed the day's celebration. One was sponsored by the Abernathy Junior Chamber of Commerce at the football stadium. It was devoted to square dancing. During the day many dances were begged or promised as old friends met again or carried on a conversation in the shade of the park trees.

A ballroom dance was staged at 9 p. m. in the American Legion hall with music played by Conley Colburn and his orchestra.

LIFE BEGINS AT FORTY—Abernathy residents are convinced of the truth in that statement. They see a big future for their town and they marked its 40th anniversary with a full day of celebrating. The buckboard full of 'gay ninety' ladies was one of many colorful entries in the long street parade. Scores of riders, floats and marchers followed the colors through the streets of Abernathy as several thousand visitors lined the curbs. (Staff Photo.)

LET'S EAT—The Abernathy Lions Club had their hands full when it came time to feed the 6,500 people that dropped in to offer their respects and congratulations to this 40-year-old community. Most hopeful estimates were far below this figure but the Lions managed the job and no one went hungry. The new school head is a former superintendent of the Blair, Neb., school system. Only a short time prior to his election to the superintendency, he had been named high school principal.

Other school officials recently elected include Jerry R. Kirk as high school principal, who succeeds H. A. Owens; and Troy Perkins, who was named to succeed Kirk as grade school principal.

Labor Opens Attack On Solons Who Opposed T-H Act Revision

By STERLING GREEN
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, July 2.—Organized labor today sharpened its political knife for senators who voted for the Taft labor proposals this week—and whose terms expire next year.

CIO President Philip Murray called on his 6,000,000 claimed members to start a campaign of political action now to "remove the obstructionists."

The administration's bill to repeal the Taft-Hartley act was wiped out when the Senate adopted a series of amendments offered by Senator Taft (R-Ohio).

AFL Group To Meet

In a letter front-paged by the weekly CIO News, Murray declared CIO's "scorn, contempt and unalterable opposition" to the "cynical and short-sighted men" in Congress who, he declared, defied what he termed the voters' mandate to repeal the Taft-Hartley act.

At AFL headquarters, a spokesman called attention to a conference opening July 27 of AFL's political arm, Labor's League for Political Education. It will talk 1950 strategy, he said, adding:

"We won't talk about individuals yet. But it should be pretty clear what our move will be."

In earlier statements, Murray and AFL President William Green indicated they have yielded all hope of salvaging President Truman's labor program this year. Both said they will take the issue directly to the voters.

13 Solons Listed

A tally of senators "for labor" and "against labor" was carried by The Machinist, organ of the International Association of Machinists, independent. Thirteen of the "againsts" had asterisks by their names—

The 13 are:

Fulbright (D-Ark.), Millikin (R-Colo.), Baldwin (R-Conn.), George (D-Ga.), Capehart (D-Ind.), Hickenlooper (R-Iowa), Reed (R-Kan.), Tydings (D-Md.), Donnell (R-Mo.), Hoey (D-N.C.), Young (R-N.D.), Taft (R-Ohio), and Gurney (R-S.D.).

Baldwin is leaving the Senate in December, however, to accept a judicial appointment in Connecticut.

"From this score card you can tell your friends from your enemies," The Machinist told IAM's 600,000 members.

Senate Foes Hit

The machinists' politically-minded new president, Al Hayes, was quoted as follows:

"Today labor is only five votes short of a majority in the Senate. Of those who voted against labor in the Senate, 13 will have to stand for re-election next year if they wish to continue in the Senate.

"Next year's election gives us another opportunity. If we can do as well next year as we did in November, we can have every confidence that we will win this fight to repeal the un-American Taft-Hartley act."

Murray told his CIO followers that a "reactionary bi-partisan coalition" has "snatched" from the people last November's election victory.

"In the present situation there can be only one answer—a full exercise by the people of their Democratic rights at the polls in November, 1950," Murray said.

"Apparently the peoples' victory in 1948 was not decisive enough," he concluded.

Couple's Five Children Are Stricken With Polio At Same Time; Hospital Overcrowded

DENTON, July 2 (U.P.)—Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Meeker prayed today for their five children, all of whom were stricken with infantile paralysis at the same time.

The fearful parents were preparing for daily trips over the 30-mile distance to Fort Worth and Dallas where the children were fighting for their lives in hospitals.

The eldest, James, 15, was doing "fairly well" at a Dallas hospital where he was taken Wednesday.

Hospital Overcrowded

The other four children, Virgie 13, Willena 11, Nora Marie 9, and Floyd Wayne 3, were admitted to a hospital in Fort Worth Thursday. The family tried Parkland hospital in Dallas but it was overcrowded.

Of the four younger children, Virgia suffered the most serious attack but was reported early today in "fairly good" shape.

The couple has one other child, an 18-year-old married daughter.

James was the first struck down by the disease. When first hit two weeks ago, he was thought to have malaria fever.

His aunt, Mrs. F. A. Edmiston, said "he dragged around for a few days" before doctors diagnosed his disease as poliomyelitis.

The eighth-grader was rushed to Parkland in Dallas, where 13 other polio patients were being treated today.

Parents Torn Up

Early this week, the other four youngsters began running high temperatures.

The Meekers applied at Parkland's polio ward for their admission but lack of room forced them to to turn to city-county hospital in Fort Worth. Twenty polio victims are undergoing treatment there now.

Mrs. Meeker, a 35-year-old housewife, spent the night in Fort Worth with relatives. She planned to visit the hospital first thing this morning, then journey 33 miles to Dallas.

The father, 37-year-old trucker and commercial fisherman at Lake Dallas, stayed in Denton. He expected to visit both hospitals today.

The Meekers have lived for the last 12 years in a rural area near Denton.

"They're awfully torn up," said Mrs. Edmiston, Meeker's sister, "this awful thing has taken away almost all of their children at once."

Woman Believes 'Wild Man' May Be Missing Air Force Husband

SAN FRANCISCO, July 2. (U.P.)—The wife of a missing Air Force colonel wondered today if a red-bearded "wild man" seen eating chicken feed in farmer's yards in Humboldt and Mendicino counties might be her husband.

Air Force Col. Archibald Y. Smith disappeared April 21 on a flight to Portland, Ore.

Mrs. Evelyn Smith feared a plane crash injury might have caused her husband to believe he once again is a German prisoner of war, dodging his captors and existing on cracked corn.

Col. Smith, when he returned home from the German prison camp, said his diet had consisted mainly of cracked corn. He expressed astonishment that a man could keep alive so long on it.

The Air Force colonel, with Army Col. Walter W. Hodge and M-Sgt. H. E. Fluga, disappeared on a B-26 flight from Hamilton Field, Calif., to Portland. A widespread search failed to find the plane's wreckage.

Mrs. Smith told Sheriff Charles Raab of Humboldt county that descriptions of the elusive "wild man" tally with the appearance of her husband.

Lew Ayres, Star Of 'Johnny Belinda,' Will Return To Warner's Lot To Make 'Sugarfoot'

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS
INS Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, July 2.—Lew Ayres' first movie on the Warner lot since "Johnny Belinda" has been chosen. Jack Warner approved the script of "Sugarfoot," the story for Lew.

I can tell you now that Jane Wyman will not be his co-star even if someone should get the bright idea of reuniting the stars who were both nominated for Oscars in "Johnny Belinda." At one time, I think Jane was sincerely in love with Lew, but that's over. Other belles, who have loved Lew, have found it difficult to put up with his moodiness and indifference.

"Sugarfoot" is a post-civil war story about a young southern aristocrat who loses everything in the war and his struggle to adjust himself.

Agar Makes Good

John Agar had to be good on the screen to get anywhere. Being Shirley Temple's husband would get him a start in his first picture, but after that, that wouldn't have been worth a nickel. He'd have to be on his own, both he and Shirley knew that.

Well, John has done all right for himself. He's just finished "I Married a Communist" at RKO, and now Republic has signed him for one of the important roles in "Sands of Iwo Jima."

Over 3,000 people were present when Irene Dunne received the Laetare medal at Notre Dame. I regret that I was unable to accept Irene's invitation, and that I was not there to hear her fine speech.

In accepting this honor, Irene said:

"The Laetare medal not only honors womanhood, but also pays tribute to a profession I love, and which has been inseparable from my life. Like other professions, it has occasional failures, but these are inherent in human nature rather than in the industry itself."

Health Department Reports Rise In Diarrhea, Dysentery

AUSTIN, July 2 (AP) — Diarrhea and dysentery cases over the state continued to increase last week, the State Health department reported today.

For the week ending June 25, 761 cases were reported—a 57 per cent increase over the seven-year average.

The Health department said the chief causes of diarrhea in infants include impure milk, water, contaminated foods, overheating, too much sugar or cream in the diet, overfeeding and underfeeding.

So far this year 10,934 cases of diarrhea and dysentry have been reported.

Incidence of measles was dropping with the coming of summer weather.

Measles leads the list of communicable disease in Texas so far this year with 56,835 reported cases.

Bill May Lift Political Activity Ban From Firemen, Policemen

AUSTIN, July 2 (U.P.) — A bill permitting firemen and policemen working under civil service to engage in political activities other than city elections was passed today by the House and returned to the Senate for concurrence in changes.

The measure, sponsored by Sen. Kyle Vick of Waco, passed the House by a vote of 86-22.

Rep. Doyle Willis of Fort Worth said the measure applied only to cities which already have civil service. The local option provisions were retained.

An amendment was also added limiting to 35 the age at which firemen and policemen may enter civil service.

Solons Call For Cut In Spending

By JACK BELL
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, July 2 — Senators George (D-Ga) and Taft (R-Ohio) agreed today the government's $1,811,000,000 deficit makes it essential that Congress crack down on Federal spending.

George, chairman of the Senate Finance committee, told reporters the excess of government outgo over income in the year ending last Thursday puts Congress squarely up against some unpleasant monetary facts.

Spending Cut Urged

"If we are not going to be indifferent to fiscal realities this deficit constitutes the strongest possible reason for reductions in the appropriations Congress is making for the new year," George said.

In a separate interview, Taft said the red-inked Treasury report "reemphasizes the necessity for economy in government expenditures."

George, who has opposed new taxes, said he favors a five per cent cut in spending.

He said the best opportunity to get any such result seems to lie in cutting the $3,568,000,000 voted by the House for the Economic Cooperation administration and in reducing the $15,900,000,000 it approved for the armed services.

Arms Plan Hit

Chairman McKellar (D-Tenn) of the Senate Appropriations committee already has proposed that $800,000,000 be sliced off the ECA funds. The committee has completed hearings on the military bill but has not yet begun its item-by-item check on the measure.

George said he thinks the deficit will make it difficult for Congress to vote additional funds for the proposed $1,450,000,000 foreign arms program.

He said that $1,130,000,000 of this amount, to be earmarked for aid to North Atlantic security treaty signers, was not covered in President Truman's budget for the new year and thus would increase the prospective deficit for the 12 months ending next June 30.

Taft, who has opposed the foreign arms program, indicated that he believes the deficit may kill this proposal, at least for this session of Congress.

George and Taft both said the Treasury's drop in revenue could be traced directly to a decline in receipts from withholding taxes. They attributed this to growing unemployment.

LUBBOCK AVALANCHE-JOURNAL
Sports
Lubbock, Texas, Sunday, July 3, 1949

LOOK WHAT HOME HAS TO OFFER THIS SUMMER—As soon as it gets hot, some people think that they have to go rushing off to the mountains for entertainment. But right here in Lubbock we have just as much opportunity for player participation sports and also spectator sports. In addition, the chances are pretty good that both will be safer and more interesting than somewhere else. A few of the inducements to stay home this summer are shown above. In the upper right picture four young Lubbock lasses are shown playing croquet, found at most city parks. Left to right they are Pat Harkleroad, June Franklin, Iris Ann Brunson and Hariet Henderson. Buffalo Lakes offers fishing and boating and K. W. Dunn of Laden is shown angling for bass in the lo wer right picture. Andre Bennett of Lubbock knows how to beat the heat. She's shown in the middle picture in the Municipal pool at Mackenzie State Park. Tennis is a popular summer sport and Kay Smith, left, and Marian Gill, shown at lower left, are almost daily opponents. And golf unquestionably is the largest player sport in the summer. The unidentified golfer is shown driving from a tee at Meadowbrook Publinx Golf club. The background picture shows a typical crowd at Rosenthal Field watching the Hubbers in action, while the same crowd often can be seen at Jumbo Webster Field watching softball. Stay home this summer and explore Lubbock sports. You'll get just as good a tan, the climate is as rare as the mountains. Enjoy your home city. (Staff Photos By Tyler Curtis.)

Austin Options Stenborg To Hubs

Walter A. Stenborg, a big left-hander, has been sent to the Lubbock Hubbers on option from the Austin Pioneers of the Big State League.

Stenborg, who is a two-year man in Organized Ball and consequently limited service, reported to Lubbock Saturday and may work this afternoon's game, or appear in one of the games Monday.

George Schepps, Hubber general manager, wrote about Stenborg that "this big fellow should be the extra added touch to help make the Hubbers at least a second place club, if not a pennant winner."

The new addition to the Hubber hurling staff broke into baseball in 1948 with St. Cloud of the Northern League. In 50 games, he batted 77 times, scored 16 runs on 23 hits, of which five were doubles, two were triples and two were homers for 38 total bases. He drew 17 walks, had 10 strikeouts, drove in 10 runs and had a batting average of .299.

His fielding average was .900 on three putouts, 33 assists, four errors and two double plays in 23 games. In 23 games on the mound he had nine complete games. Stenborg allowed 107 hits good good for 66 runs, of which 62 were earned. He walked 109, fanned 147, hit five men, committed three wild pitches and won nine, lost six.

This year with Austin he has won five and lost three. He is 22 years old, six feet, four and a half inches tall and weighs 240 pounds. He throws and bats left.

Rightfielder Ray Taylor scored the winning run for Lamesa. He walked, stole second, and came all the way home as the Midland catcher threw into centerfield.

Both teams collected only four singles each, but 12 errors were committed, seven by Lamesa.

Between the Lines by Joe Kelly

Paul Dean, who is the manager of the Clovis Pioneers and a somewhat irate individual on occasion, was talking about the West Texas-New Mexico League. It was before the 12-0 lacing handed his ball club by the Hubbers Thursday night. The Pioneers were lolling in the Clovis dugout and Paul was sitting on the steps. We commented on the series of articles he had written for a newspaper in this area recently. Most of the articles tore down a lot of dreams that maybe some people had built up.

"Told the truth, didn't I?" Paul demanded with a show of teeth. "Why, these ball parks are a disgrace to baseball. Only a couple of 'em any good, this one and Pampa. Even the Clovis park is a disgrace. Soon as we get some money, we're going to do some real work on it. But Amarillo—." Here he spat with obvious disdain. "If I drew over 100,000 customers a year the way Bob Seeds and Buck Fausett, damned if I wouldn't have a ball park that represented some pride. That's the worst park in the league. And what's more, it's even worse than it looks. Tell you what, the All-Star game ought to be played right here every year."

How did he like Rosenthal Field? "It's all right. The fences are a little too close, but not as bad as Borger or Lamesa, or almost any of the others, outside of Albuquerque. The infield is good. It was rough at the start of the season, but it's in good shape now. The outfield is still hard and the ball takes some bad hops, but it's better than most of them." How about that protest in Clovis that was upheld, Paul? "Why, what could they do? One umpire says one thing, the other says another. And nobody heard either one of them say much of anything. I tell you, this umpiring here in this league is the worst I've ever seen."

So much for Manager Dean's dissertation, in brief, on baseball as she is played in the WT-NM loop. His protest at Clovis was upheld by Milton E. Price, league president, one of the few times that a protest has been upheld. We can't remember any last year and that's the first this year. At the same time, we agree with KFYO's Wes Youngblood. Wes asserted that if a player had reached Class C ball and didn't know the rules yet, there wasn't anything wrong with the league, something was wrong with the ball players. If men are on first and second, the infield fly rule is in effect. They advance at their own risk. Clovis runners advanced, but one left the bag at third when the runner—and coach—thought he had been forced. Not very intelligent coaching or baserunning and possibly an answer to why Clovis is last.

Bill Henderson is working hard to stay in tip top condition for his fight against Freddy Maes in Plainview July 15. He came back from his 10-round decision over Rocky Lucero in Tucson, Ariz., in good shape. He absorbed some punishment, but Bill said he wasn't in danger. At the same time, Rocky gave him a good, hard fight and forced him to go the limit. Bill said that he never did get a chance to let him have it on the chin, that he thought Lucero would have gone down and out if he had. He's curious about Maes, a fighter about whom he knows nothing. It should be a good main event for the Jaycee fight card, but it may be an anti-climax to the fight between LaVern Roach and Howell Steen.

Seldom does a club, no matter how strong, manage to land six players and a manager on the All-Star team in the WT-NM league. Usually there are enough outstanding players on even the weaker clubs to force their way onto the select group. Selection of six Hubbers meant that only 10 other players made the grade, a high percentage. In some ways it isn't surprising. The Hubbers suddenly have come to life and are now within one game of Albuquerque. They've been hitting hard and fielding well. Development of a double play combination in which any one of three combinations works has been a vital asset. And the pitching has come out of the wilderness into its own.

Selection yesterday of Joe DiMaggio for the American League's All-Star team was a lead pipe cinch. DiMag couldn't be ignored. His loud bat spoke too plainly in three games against the Red Sox. It indicated that while he might

Dukes And Gold Sox Furnish Hitters For Lethal Punch

Crowd, Estimated At 3,300, Watches Jim Reynolds Hurl Win For North

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., July 2. (AP)—The heavy hitters of Amarillo and Albuquerque supplied the big punch tonight as the North turned on the South for a 15 to 3 triumph in the West Texas-New Mexico league's annual All-Star game.

It was only the second victory for the North in seven such contests. The South had won the last four in a row.

Jim Reynolds, Amarillo, was the winning pitcher. A crowd estimated at 3300 saw the game at Albuquerque's Tingley Field.

Displaying power to burn, the Yankees actually sacked things up in the first frame. Paul Halter drove in two tallies with an inside-the-park homer, and got another just like it in the sixth inning good for two more runs.

Still in the last half of the first, Allan Maul, Albuquerque first sacker drave in another run with a triple, and himself scored when Les Mulcahy, bulky Albuquerque catcher, poled one over the left field wall.

All the South's counters crossed the plate in the third frame. Nelson Davis, Lubbock shortstop, walked and came home after successive singles by Roberto Fernandez of Abilene and Jim Prince of Lubbock. A double by Pampa's Stan Surma brought in Fernandez and Prince came home on a long fly by Mike Dooley of Lubbock, who appeared at both second base and catcher.

Other big innings for the North were the fifth, in which five more runs crossed the plate, and the sixth, which produced three.

They were produced in the fifth by singles off the bats of Halter and Maul, Mulcahy's triple, an error by South rightfielder Frank Calo of Lamesa, a double by by Frank Okrie of Albuquerque, a fly by Jess Jacinto of Clovis and a wild pitch by Rene Vega of Abilene.

Lamesa's Stan Grzywacz was the victim when he took the mound for the Rebels in the sixth. Halter's homer was the big blow.

ALBUQUERQUE, July 2. (AP)—The inning play in the West Texas-New Mexico League All-Star game:

First Inning (South)

Duarte walked on four straight pitches and Davis worked Shone for a three two count before he also walked. Fernandez singled only to be thrown out on double play, Moore to Gilchrist to Attyd to Okrie, which also caught Davis. Miller was thrown out on a weak tap down the third base line. No runs, one hit, no errors, one left on base.

First Inning (North)

Gilchrist lofted to Fernandez. Attyd walked. Halter then punched an inside the park homer through a hole in second base, bringing the north half to 2 to 0. Carnett doubled. Maul tripled past D. C. Miller, bringing Carnett home. Mulcahy then homered over the left field fence.

Late Homers Give Dodgers 13-8 Victory Over New York Giants

Phils Cop 3 To 2 Win From Braves

NEW YORK, July 2. (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers and the New York Giants belted eight home runs today with the Dodgers socking in the late innings to come from behind and beat the Giants, 13-8.

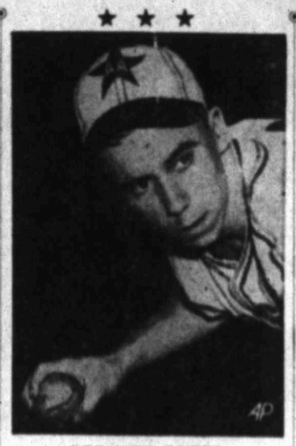

Gene Hermanski homered with two out and the bases loaded in the sixth inning to enable the Dodgers to tie the score at 8-8. Pee Wee Reese snapped the deadlock in the eighth with his tenth homer of the season. Carl Furillo hit an inside-the-park homer in the top of the ninth and Reese followed with his second of the game with two mates aboard to clinch the game for the Brooks.

Spain's power shortage grows worse.

Loboes Buy Mitchell From Wichita Falls

LAMESA, July 2. (Special)—The Lamesa Loboes of the West Texas-New Mexico league, currently in fourth place, made another move today to strengthen their chances for a playoff berth.

Leon Mitchell, husky lefthand hitting first baseman, has been purchased outright from Wichita Falls of the Big State circuit, Lobo official Travis Tarter announced.

Mitchell, who played with Borger's Gassers the past two seasons, is a limited service player. Purchase price was not disclosed but was rumored to be approximately $1,500. Mitchell is slated to join Lamesa immediately. He has been riding the bench with an injury recently but is reported ready for regular duty now.

A member of the Seabees in the past war, Mitchell played his rookie season with Borger in 1947, hitting .287 and clouting 30 homers. Last year he boosted his mark to .341 in 119 games with the Gassers, and smacked 24 circuit drives. He also collected six triples and 39 doubles. His fielding average was .982.

Presumably Manager Jay Haney, who has been playing first base for Lamesa, will, now return to the Lobo outfield.

ALMOST LIKE DAFFY—This isn't a scene in the WT-NM league, although it might be. In this case it's Umpire Johnny Stevens restraining Al Evans, Washington catcher. Evans was going to join a melee during a Cleveland-Washington game, which followed Nat Pitcher Walt Masterson's hitting Joe Gordon of the Tribe in the back with a wild pitch. No one was hurt and the incident died down.

Qualifying Underway For Club Tournament

Qualifications began yesterday at Lubbock Country club for the annual club golf championship and will continue through Saturday, July 9.

Only eight golfers turned in their qualification scores the first day, but several times that many are expected to qualify today. Johnny Powers turned in a 73, and none of the other scores was below 80.

Another annual event, the flag tourney, will be held Monday at the club. In this event the golfer has par for the course, 71, added to the handicap and shoots until the total number of strokes are used. Then the flag is put down at the place where the ball comes to rest, the person winning whose flag is the farthest around the course.

Following the end of qualification, match play will begin Sunday, July 10, with 32 persons in the championship flight and 16 in other flights. Losers in first round play will go into the flight below them, and no consolation flight will be held.

Tournament chairman is Jimmy Goldman, tourney winner in 1946, and Chick Trout, and Lofton Burnette won in 1947.

The medalist will be decided from the qualifiers July 9. Others qualifying yesterday were John Raley, 80; J. A. Raley, jr., 80; Paul Pugh, 82; Wilkie Talbert, 84; Dr. David Haymes, 86; Orville Stewart, 89; and Lester Grimes, 90.

Amarillo Sox Buy Al Carr

AMARILLO, July 2 (Special)—Amarillo's Gold Sox have taken a step toward strengthening the sagging ball club with the acquisition of two players, it was announced here today.

Al Carr, who hit .336 for the Lubbock Hubbers in 1946, has been bought outright from Tyler of the East Texas League. And Lyle Christensen, a rookie, has been obtained on option from San Diego. Carr reported today and Christensen is expected to report at Lamesa Sunday.

Cowser To Tyler

In the same deal in which they obtained Carr, the Gold Sox shipped Catcher Morris Cowser to Tyler. According to the latest West Texas-New Mexico League averages, Cowser was hitting .311.

Carr was a colorful player for the Hubbers, besides wielding a mean stick at the plate. In August of 1946, Dallas bought the Lubbock player and he finished the season with a .411 mark in the Texas League. He failed to develop the following season and was sold to Tyler, then in the Lone Star League.

Carr Hitting .350

For the past two seasons with Tyler, Carr has hit between .350 and .360. He will replace Doug Lewis at first base, probably for the rest of the season. Lewis fractured an ankle in a game against Abilene and will be out for at least five weeks, possibly the season. If he should return, he will be moved to the outfield.

Christensen comes highly recommended by the San Diego club of the Pacific Coast League. Ralph Reed, San Diego scout, watched Christensen during his years of stardom on the top St. Mary's college team. During that period, Christensen was an outstanding shortstop in a top collegiate loop, and he plastered the ball at better than a .500 clip for the two seasons.

Austin Hot Check Artists To Be Charged After Only One Notice

AUSTIN, July 2.(INS) — Hot check artists in Austin will have only one chance to make the checks good before facing the judge.

Travis county Attorney Perry Jones has announced a tougher policy on hot check writers. In the past, they received two letters before charges were filed, the first being a "sweet" one and the next one "nasty."

Now Jones says his office will write one "semi-sweet, semi-nasty" letter and if nothing happens in a week, charges will be filed.

And as a kicker, the new-style letter ends with this reminder: "This is your first and only notice."

Fourth Inning (North)

The South made a three-way switch in its lineup. Parker moved to right field, Fernandes took over left field in place of Miller and Rene Vega went into pitch. Okrie and Reynolds both grounded out. Gilchrist worked Vega for a three-two count then walked. Attyd grounded out. No runs, no hits, no errors, one left.

Fifth Inning (South)

Vega grounded out to Gilchrist. Prince grounded to Okrie. Burma went down swinging. No runs, no hits, no errors, one left.

Maul singled through the box sending Halter to third. Mulcahy tripped to right centerfield, scoring Halter and Maul. Moore was safe at first when Calo dropped his fly in left field for the first error of the game, Mulcahy scoring on the play. Okrie doubled, sending Moore to third. Jess Jacinto of Clovis, batting for Reynolds, filed to left field, but Moore scored and Okrie advanced to third. Then Vega uncorked a wild pitch, letting Okrie across the plate. Gilchrist fanned to end the inning. Five runs, five hits, one error, none out.

Sixth Inning (South)

The North changed batteries, sending Virgil Butler of Albuquerque to the mound and putting Ken Sears of Borger behind the plate. Butler set the next three men down in short order—Dooley and Calo on called third strikes, Parker going down swinging. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

Sixth Inning (North)

Stan Grzywacz, Lamesa, came out to pitch for the South. Attyd walked and Halter hit an inside the park home run scoring Attyd. Martin filed to Jay Haney, who went in at center field for the South. Maul singled to right field and went to second on a wild pitch. Sears was out on a tap to Grzywacz. Moore singled to right field scoring Maul and then went out himself trying to steal second on a peg from Dooley to Calo. Three runs, three hits, no errors, none left.

McCloy Succeeds General Clay As Top U. S. Official In Germany

BERLIN, July 2. (AP)—John J. McCloy said today he hopes to see Berlin and Germany united during his term as American high commissioner.

McCloy officially took over the job once held by Gen. Lucius D. Clay upon his arrival in Berlin by air this morning.

The pink-cheeked former world bank president told his news conference he had just taken off his hat and had to learn the answers to many questions.

How to accomplish German unity remains to be worked out, McCloy said. He did not know how long it would take and said he has no opinion now how long Germany should be occupied.

McCloy will serve as military governor until the Bonn Federal Republic takes shape next autumn. Then he will be the first civilian high commissioner. McCloy said there would be "no radical changes" in the American set-up at this time.

have a sore heel, there was nothing wrong with his eyes or his power. And if Charlie Keller hits any more pinch hit triples and home runs, he'll make it too. Those two players must be putting the fear of something into the rest of the Junior Circuit. If the Yankees could win without them on hand, what will they do with them? And even the loss of dependable Tommy Henrich for a few days because of a torn muscle will cause barely a ripple of comment.

Among the things we can't understand is why more people don't go out to Rosenthal Field these nights (and Sunday afternoons). We can understand why the crowds would be thin when the team is losing. No one wants to watch a loser in action. Fans, after all, go to games to see good ball and when a team is losing, they seldom play good ball. But now the Hubbers are both winning and playing good ball. They're getting good pitching. They're playing the way a winning ball club should play. Why there aren't 3,000 or more fans out each night is the $64 question. In the meantime, the steady 1,400 to 1,600 faithful go each night and are rewarded by good baseball. Come on out.

One of the biggest gold tournaments in West Texas got underway Friday at Abilene with an almost record number of 244 players in the 23rd Annual Abilene Invitational Golf tournament. Championship competition started yesterday and the meet runs through the grand and glorious Fourth. An indication of what is in store for the golf fans watching the tournament came Friday, when Billy Maxwell of Odessa, former Abilene resident, fired a seven-under-par 64 for medalist honors. Lubbock linksmen didn't fare badly. Dick Jennings and Ross Mitchell both shot 68s, three under par, while Jack Williams of Plainview fired a 67. Chick Trout of Lubbock slipped to a 73.

Joltin' Joe Again Leads Yankees To Victory, Beat Senators 10-2

A's, Browns And Tigers Also Win

WASHINGTON July 2. (AP) — Joe DiMaggio celebrated his appointment to the American league's All-Star team by driving home four runs on a pair of singles today to feature the New York Yankees' 10-2 blitz of the Washington Senators.

DiMaggio has slammed home 13 runs in five games and has hit safely in 18 straight games over a two year span.

The Clipper, named to the dream team by Cleveland Manager Lou Boudreau, All-Star pilot, singled across two mates in the first to spark a three run rally. He drove in two more in the eighth.

Gerry Coleman and Gene Woodling led the Yanks' 15-hit attack with three safeties apiece.

The Senators scored both of their runs in the third inning after two were out on Sam Dente's single, a walk and Sam Mele's triple.

Miller Is WT-NM Batting Leader

ABILENE, July 2. (UP)—Husky D.C. Miller, Lamesa's hard-hitting outfielder, hasn't been at bat as many times as some of the so-called "regulars," but his big bat has earned him the right to be called the league-leader with a terrific .450 average.

The awkward-looking fly-chaser has powered out 67 hits in 149 times at bat and was leading the league in home runs with 22 and ranked fourth in RBI's with 64, only six less than Jim Prince of Lubbock, the leader.

Davis Has Most TB

Prince's .399 average ranked closest to Miller's among the regulars, followed by Verdon Gilchrist of Borger at .397, Roberto Fernandez of Abilene at .386 and Cliff McClain of Albuquerque at .384.

McClain led the league in doubles (28), Fernandez in hits (108), Allan Maul of Albuquerque in runs (71) and triples (9), Nelson Davis of Lubbock in total bases (165) and Len Attvd of Albuquerque in stolen bases (18).

Hubs Tops in Hits

Borger's .313 average still gave them an edge over the field, but loop-leading Albuquerque moved up from fourth to second at .306. Borger led in RBI's (451) and home runs (78), Albuquerque in doubles (172) triples (46), stolen bases (65) and shared the run-making lead with Lubbock (499). Lubbock led in hits (730) and total bases (1168).

Frank Shone's 8-1 record with Albuquerque led the pitchers, while Stan Grzywacz of Lamesa had won the most games (11) and pitched the most complete games (12) and the most innings (138).

Roy Parker of Pampa had 92 strikeouts and 94 bases on balls to set the pace in those departments.

Federation Wants Better Game Laws

AUSTIN, July 2 (AP) — The president of the Texas Wildlife Federation said today the group would continue to work for broader powers for the Game, Fish and Oyster Commission.

The Federation this year sponsored a bill permitting the Commission to regulate hunting and fishing. This, Dr. Frederick H. Weston of San Antonio, said, would eliminate all the herds of local game and fish laws up at each session of the legislature.

The bill failed to pass, but Dr. Weston said they'd try again in 1951.

"Progressive conservationists," he said, "have proved beyond doubt that regulatory authority for the Game, Fish and Oyster Commission is urgent.

"Open seasons and bag limits should be set on the basis of scientific facts, not votes. It stands to reason that the trained and experienced biologists who are on the ground are better prepared to say whether Cherokee county needs a new squirrel season than are the elected representatives who, in a great many cases, don't know the difference between a gray squirrel and a fox squirrel."

Betsy Rawls In Golf Finals

LINCOLN, Neb., July 2. (AP)—Deliberate par-busting Marjorie Lindsay of Decatur, Ill., and Betsy Rawls, smiling little Austin, Texas, girl, will play for the Women's Trans-Mississippi Golf championship here tomorrow.

Miss Lindsay withstood a brilliant rally by Betty MacKinnon of Mt. Pleasant, Texas, 2-up to gain the finals and Miss Rawls dropped Polly Riley, Fort Worth, two-time champion, 2 and 1. Lindsay and Rawls have never met before in a tourney.

Tomorrow's finals will be over the 36 hole route, with the morning round starting at 9 a.m. (CST) and the afternoon round at 2 p.m.

The Lindsay-MacKinnon match, old timers said, brought some of the best golf they had ever watched on the 6,300-yard Lincoln Country Club course. Miss Lindsay played her 18 holes in 74, five under women's par which gave her a record under par for 80 holes of play in this tourney.

The Decatur girl has never been over par for any round in the tourney.

Today it was her unfailing ability to meet or better par that saved the match for her in the face of a rally by Miss MacKinnon that was as hot as the 96-degree temperature.

Miss Rawls duplicated a previous victory earlier this year over Polly Riley, who has held the Trans title for the last two years.

Mexican Jumper, Max Lanier Rejoins St. Louis Cardinals

ST. LOUIS, July 2 (AP) — Max Lanier, who stirred the baseball world by jumping to the Mexican league when he was the National league's leading pitcher three years ago, rejoined the St. Louis Cardinals today.

Lanier was the third Mexican jumper to rejoin the Cardinals since baseball Commissioner A. B. Chandler recently lifted the five-year suspension placed on all players who deserted organized baseball for the Mexican league. The others are infielder Lou Klein and pitcher Fred Martin.

ALLEN BROTHERS TOPS GROUP 3

Spur, O'Donnell Clinch Lead In American Legion Baseball

Games are still on schedule this week in District 2 of the American Legion Junior baseball program, but it is all over except the shouting as far as determination of the four group leaders is concerned.

In three of the groups of the league, the leaders won every game of their first five to take the group title without any difficulty, but in Group 1 it was a different story.

Spur, Ralls, and Idalou battled on even terms the first week, each team having won one and lost one, but the stretch drive saw Spur cinch the lead Friday with a victory over Ralls. Ralls would have had a chance to tie Spur had the game gone the other way, but Spur had too much power. Two more games are scheduled in this group, but the results will not endanger Spur's standing.

O'Donnell Tops Group 2

O'Donnell has turned in five convincing victories to head Group 2, and a game this week will not change the status of the clubs. Brownfield is in second place with two victories and three setbacks, and Tahoka has four losses. Should Tahoka win both games scheduled this week, one with Brownfield and the other with O'Donnell, she club would tie Brownfield for the runner-up spot.

Allen Bros. Legion team is the champion of Group 3, and in second place at present is Slaton, with Lubbock Auto Legion and Plainview trailing in that order.

The champs have won five straight; Slaton has won three and dropped two; Lubbock Auto has two victories and three defeats; and Plainview is in the cellar with five dropped decisions. Plainview will have a chance this week to break their loss streak against Lubbock Auto.

Levelland Enters Top Group

The last team to enter the championship bracket is Levelland, having won all its games, and Morton and Muleshoe have been knocking each other out—winning one game each. Morton has dropped three and Muleshoe was on the short end of four games.

THIS WEEK'S SCHEDULE

Tuesday—Idalou at Spur; Tahoka at O'Donnell; Slaton at Allen Bros.; Lubbock Auto at Plainview; and Morton at Levelland.

Wednesday—Brownfield at Tahoka.

Thursday—Ralls at Idalou, and Muleshoe at Morton.

Catcher Mickey Owens Bought By Cubs For Waiver Price

CHICAGO, July 2 (AP) — Catcher Arnold (Mickey) Owens, the "forgiven" jumper to the Mexican league, was purchased by the Chicago Cubs today from Brooklyn for the $10,000 waiver price.

Owens, 32, was a highly rated defensive catcher before he fled the Dodgers for the Mexican league in 1946. He set a record of 511 consecutive chances without an error in 1941 and appeared in two All-Star games and one world series.

Wayland Sets Cage Tourney

PLAINVIEW, July 2 (Special)—The first annual high school basketball tournament at Wayland College is being planned for next fall, Athletic Director Harley Redin announced today.

He has informed 18 top notch basketball schools from the surrounding area of the general plans for the tournament and has asked them to express ideas of their own to be incorporated in the tournament so that the eight teams who accept tournament bids will be getting the experience they need most.

Dates for the tournament are December 16 and 17. Redin stated that in an early season tournament such as this he believes the participants will want the strongest competition available. The tournament will be planned with this idea as a guide.

The eight entries will be announced and final plans made within a few days, he announced. Several schools have already expressed a desire to enter the tournament.

Coach Redin stated that this tournament will give each entrant a chance to be in competition with top teams from different sections of the area surrounding Plainview.

Schools that have been written in regard to this tournament are Childress, Memphis, Hollis, Oklahoma, Lubbock, Dimmitt, Sudan, Plainview, Big Springs, Gruver, Phillips, Abernathy, Lamesa, Tulia, Pampa, Canyon, Carey, Tucumcari, New Mexico and Clovis, New Mexico.

City Tennis Tourney Will Start July 18

The fifth annual City Wide Tennis tournament, sponsored by the City Recreation department, will get underway July 18, and trophies will be awarded winners in each of divisions.

There is no entry fee, and entries must be mailed to Curtis Barrett at the City Hall, or phoned in to 9346 not later than July 15.

Even if you have never entered a tournament before there is a good chance of taking a prize in the city tourney, since competition will be for novices and experienced netters.

The divisions include men's singles and doubles in the open division for players who have won a previous tournament anywhere; novice men's singles and doubles; women's singles and doubles; mixed doubles for adults; boys' and girls' singles and doubles; and junior boys' and girls' singles and doubles.

Tech students are eligible to participate.

Barbers Continue To Pace City Loop

No major changes in the City Softball standings occurred the past week, but in the Comemrcial league The Avalanche-Journal dropped one game, its second of the season.

Games will continue as scheduled this week, except those marked for Monday, July 4. All Fourth of July contests have been postponed. This applies to all leagues in the City program.

Continuing its streak in the City league, Barber college has won nine and lost none to maintain its firm grip on the lead in that league, and Sanders Motor has half-a-game edge on Bennett Motor for the runner-up spot. Asbury Methodist is still looking for its first victory.

Pacing the Major league competitors is Bluebonnet Laundry with a nine and one record, and Cloverlake, Thomas Tinkers and VFW trail in that order.

POST NINE TO MEET SEAGRAVES

Four Doubleheaders Scheduled In Oil Belt Baseball Today

Doubleheaders will be the main bill of fare in the Oil Belt Baseball league today, with four scheduled for loop teams.

Starting time for the games will vary, with some teams starting play at 2 p.m. and others at 2:30 p.m.

Contests today send Tahoka to Denver City, Sundown to Brownfield, Levelland to Slaton, and Post to Seagraves. Originally all the twin-bills were set for July 4, but it was deemed necessary to have the games on Sunday due to other plans set aside for the big Monday.

In games the past week Post defeated Seagraves, 7-5; Slaton tripped Tahoka, 6-3; Sundown defeated Brownfield, 8-3; and Denver City thumped Levelland, 23-13 in a marathon.

Post gained on Seagraves by virtue of the midweek victory, and the doubleheader today will be crucial for each team. A double victory by either team would bolster the position in the standings. But if Seagraves should lose both games, or even split, the result might be all that was needed to give Denver City a clear path at the league title.

Denver City and Tahoka games should have an important bearing on the records of the circuit since Denver City is seeking to go way out in front over Seagraves, having gained the past week. (Unofficial standings give Denver City 12 wins and three losses and Seagraves 11 wins and four defeats, all reports not having been received.)

The double for Denver City today will be the second twin-bill in as many weeks. Against Levelland the team took both games in a homestand last Sunday.

Brownfield seems to have come to life in recent weeks although the team has had a scoring punch all year. Pitching has been the main trouble, and the opposing team has been able to always collect more runs. Brownfield's lone victory was June 23 over Post.

St. Paul's Lutheran Of Wilson Wins Lynn County Softball Game

TAHOKA, July 2. (Special)—St. Paul Lutheran of Wilson kept its lead in the Lynn County Softball league here Friday night when the Davis-Humphries nine conceded after seven innings of play. At that time the score was 25-8.

Dean Kieschnick hurled the victory, allowing three hits and fanning 10 men. H. Teinert was the catcher. Barrington and McClintock were the batteries for the losers, Barrington giving up 14 hits and whiffing five.

Barrington was the leading hitter for the losers with two hits in four trips, while M. Wuensche paced the winners on four hits in five trips.

SOX SPEND MONEY

CHICAGO, July 2. (INS)—The talent-hungry Chicago White Sox bought two more bonus rookies today, both of them Californians. They are Joseph Karrene, 17-year-old third baseman from Sacramento, and Bill Offield, 18-year-old pitcher from Burlingame. Both will report to the White Sox' Waterloo, Iowa, farm team for spring training next year.

HENRICH OUT OF ACTION

Tennis Tourney Set At Odessa

ODESSA, July 2 (Special)—The Ector County Tennis tournament will be held here on July 23 and 24 in connection with the Ector County Invitational Tennis tournament for high school and junior high school girls and boys.

The two school events will be held July 20 through July 22, with Texas Interscholastic League rules applying. Awards will be made to winners and runners-up in each event.

In the high school division, July 20 through July 22, there will be competition in singles and doubles for both senior boys and girls and junior boys and girls.

The men's and women's division, July 23 and 24, will consist of singles and doubles. An entry fee of $1 will be charged for everyone entering men's singles and men's doubles, with an additional dollar for a partner. The same rates apply to the women's division.

In the boys division a $1 charge will be made if the entrant goes into both singles and doubles, or fifty cents for each event. The same will be true in the junior singles and doubles, girls singles and doubles and junior girls singles and doubles.

All entries must be made not later than July 18. Send check or money order to Bob Clark, Box 2811, Odessa.

Clark stated that some of the matches might be played at night. Lights currently are being installed for the tennis courts and are expected to be ready in time for the tourney.

Game Halted Due To Swarm Of Mosquitoes

SAN ANTONIO, July 2 (AP)—The mosquitoes won this one, but with loud protests.

At Kelly Air Force base Friday night saftball teams of the 210-3rd air weather group and the 180-3rd airways and air communication service group were locked in combat.

At the end of five innings the A.A.C.S team led, 6-4. Then the game was called by mutual consent of team captains and umpires. The mosquitoes were so thick the pitcher couldn't pitch, the catcher couldn't catch and the batter couldn't bat.

According to Lt. Mel Edwards public relations officer at the field and who was playing second base for the airways group, the mosquitoes evidently had been driven from near by fields by recent DDT spraying in the campaign against polio.

Uruguay is concerned over dropping prices of meat, its second largest export item.

DiMag Chosen To All-Stars

CHICAGO, July 2. (INS) — Joe DiMaggio will be on the American league All-Star team!

That unprecedented bow to one of the greatest baseball players of all time came at the order of Lou Boudreau, who will manage the American league All-Stars, and was announced today through the American league office in Chicago.

The eight starters for each league, exclusive of pitchers, were determined through the vote of more than four and a half million fans. DiMaggio was not involved in this voting, for he had no record at all this season. He played for the first time this week.

It was up to Boudreau, however, to pick the pitchers and the balance of the 25-player A.L. squad, whose complete personnel will be announced early next week.

It may be said, today, that Joltin' Joe is among 'em.

Never before has a player who rode the bench for the first 65 games of the season won his way into the mid-season classic, which this year will be held at Brooklyn July 12.

When DiMag did break into the lineup, coming off his seriously injured heel, he smote four home runs in a three-game series against the Boston Red Sox. The DiMag-powered Yankees swept the series to put a hammerlock hold on the American league lead.

But Boudreau, who got to manage the American league All-Stars by virtue of piloting the Cleveland Indians to the league and world championship last season, picked Joltin' Joe before he played a game.

Methodist Men Win Boys Club Tussle

Methodist Men copped a 14 to 13 victory over the Exchange Club nine in the Junior league baseball game at Lubbock Boys Club Friday afternoon.

John Glover led the Men, with a triple and two singles in three times before the plate George Guy was the next heaviest hitter, with a triple and single in four. Charles Moore led the Exchangers, with a triple and two singles in four times up. Dean Fawcett got a double and single in three for the losers.

The Dodgers beat the Red Sox, 16 to 15, in the Pee Wee league game. Nelson Starr got three singles in four times up for the winners. Ronald Burns was the star of the game, with a triple in the last of the seventh with one man out. The triple drove in three runs, among them the tying and winning runs. For the Red Sox, Henry Houser tripled an i singled.

In the Pygmy league game, Red Sox gained a 15 to 14 triumph over the Dodgers. Buddy Shirley and Jerry Thomas each had two for two for the winners. Buddy Robertson led the losers with two doubles and a single in three times before the plate.

All loops will discontinue play until Tuesday afternoon.

CARLEN, JOHNSON IN PRELIM

Choose Up Tag Team Match Will Feature Wrestling Wednesday

Wrestling Wednesday night at Sled Allen's arena will be in the form of a choose up tag team match, with two events and a semi-final event preceding the tag team match.

Slated to go against each other in the first event are Johnny Carlen and Gust Johnson for one fall or a 20-minute limit, and in the second preliminary Tex Reiley will match holds with George Bruckman.

Reiley returns to the local wars against an opponent who has the same type of attitude toward the rules of the game—win by any method. And it appears likely that this bout will be one of the roughest seen in some weeks.

Matched in the semi-final event are Ray "Big Train" Clements and George Curtis. Clements is from Corpus Christi and Curtis is a meany from Vicksburg, Miss.

Curtis has an ambition to knock the "Big Train" off the track and thereby gaining prestige for himself.

Winner of the semi-final event will be captain of and have first choice of a partner from the four remaining wrestlers on the card for the tag team match, and the loser of this bout will have second choice of the remaining men. The teams will have three on each side.

The semi-final event will be one fall with a 30-minute limit, and in the tag team match the length will be the usual two out of three falls with an hour time limit.

Matches start at 8:30 p.m., and tickets will be on advance at Wylies Wednesday until 5 p.m.

Age No Handicap In Amarillo Golf Meet

AMARILLO July 2. (AP) — The annual Tri-State Senior Golf tournament fill be held here July 26-30, drawing competitors from at least seven Western states. Players will come from as far as California.

At Austin, E. B. (Red) Gober, who used to play third base in the Pacific Coast League and compete with Willie Hoppe in billiards, is sharpening up to try for his fifth championship. He's 63.

J. O. Dudley of Floydada, 59 and the Southwest Skeet champion, has had some hot rounds and will be ready.

Harry Althaus, 52, of Fort Bayard, N.M., will be shooting at all the bigwigs this time. He missed the title flight last year then riddled par in every first flight match.

W. B. White, who used to catch for the New York Giants, is polishing his strokes at Lamesa. He's 54.

The granddaddy of them all, Elmer Winn, 85, of Plainview, is playing nearly every day and scoring in the low 40's for nine holes.

Rotary Defeats Kiwanis, 15-9 Behind Trigg's Two Hit Hurling

In games at Jumbo Webster field Friday in the Junior baseball league, Rotary defeated Kiwanis, 15-9, behind the two-hit hurling of Richard Triggs, who received poor support from his teammates as nine errors were committed.

Rotary connected for nine hits, however, to take the game, and four Kiwanis miscues aided the victory.

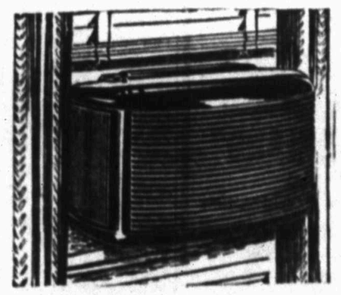

An upset marked the second contest as the Optimists defeated the Lions, 15-6. The loss was the first for the Lions, and the Optimists gained their first victory of the season. Billy Tucker, on the mound the first time, allowed only two hits to Lion batters, and his mates hit 16 safe blows. Battery for the Lions was Wooley and Wooley.

Mrs. Heart, Who Was Given Year To Live, Better Since Making Peace With World

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 2. (AP)—Mrs. Heart—another chapter in the life of . . .

Well, you'll be glad to know she's feeling better—physically better and mentally better.

And — and most important — Mrs. Heart thinks maybe her other doctors were wrong after all.

"I'm not as excited now as I was," this woman identified only as Mrs. Heart says. "And I do feel better, much better."

You remember her, of course. She's the middle-aged retired Oklahoma city businesswoman—a widow and moderately wealthy—who asked you for an assist in answering this question which was too big for her:

"Doctors have told me I'll die from a heart ailment in a year. I have $10,000 to spend in the next 12 months. How can I get the most enjoyment out of the money I've set aside?"

Many Letters Selfish

Well, that was three months ago. Lots has happened to her since then. These paragraphs will bring you up to date.

To begin with, Mrs. Heart went away from here. Not permanently, you understand. She just had to get away from all the excitement her request provoked.

Because it brought answers — 25,000 of them—from over the world after it was published in newspapers in several countries. Some of the advice was sincere. But mostly it was selfish.

They did, though, have their affect on this woman who says she never learned how to enjoy her money. She decided to see some more doctors. She didn't know if it would help her. She was willing to give it a try.

"I'm under medical care again," Mrs. Heart says, "but I can't say what they tell me—not now. But I will say this—maybe my other doctors were wrong about me just having a year to live."

Identity Kept Secret

Well, she returned here only last week. Some personal business, she says, brought her back for several weeks. Then she'll return to her out of state retreat.

"None of my friends have guessed my identity," she says.

"Neither has my daughter."

The daughter lives in California. She—and several charities—have been provided for in Mrs. Heart's will. The $10,000 you'll remember, was what she allotted herself for the year that's supposed to be her last.

Mrs. Heart, who first said hers was "a reckless kind of feeling," doesn't mention the three months that already have passed.

"Mine is a peaceful feeling now," she says, "and feeling peaceful is a wonderful feeling.

"Perhaps peace is what I wanted—what I needed—after all.

"And I have found it . . . "

Two Texas Tech Students Are Attending Camp In New Jersey

FORT MONMOUTH, N. J., July 1 (Special)—Two Texas Tech students from Lubbock are among 600 Signal corps cadets currently attending summer camp at Fort Monmouth, N. J.

William L. Adair, 2018 Twentieth, and Graham D. Bogel, 3024 Twenty-second, are attending the summer session, which ends July 30.

'Civilian Hecklers' Kill National Guard Officer Boarding Train

NEW YORK, July 2. (AP)—A National Guard warrant officer, marching with 900 other guardsmen to board a train, was knocked out of ranks and fatally injured last night by two men described by police as "civilian hecklers."

With bands playing, the troops marched on, as the warrant officer, Alexander J. Taras, 34, lay dying on the pavement. The assailants fled.

Police said several guardsmen started to give chase, but their commanding officers—momentarily unaware of what had happened—ordered them back into ranks.

The guardsmen, members of the 955th Field Artillery regiment, were marching from an armory along Eighth avenue in Brooklyn on their way to entrain for summer camp at Pine Camp, N. Y., when the attack occurred.

Texas Construction Awards Fall To New Low For Year

AUSTIN, July 2. (AP)—Construction awards in Texas this week totaled the lowest for any one week so far this year.

The total reported by the Texas Contractor for the week ending July 1 was $5,828,200. This was more than $7,000,000 below the $12,902,599 total for the week before.

Non-residential building last week totaled $3,810,729; residential $1,310,250; engineering, $707,221.

Four New Courses At Tech Announced

Four new courses, two in the agriculture economics department and two in the animal husbandry department, will be offered by the agricultural division at Texas Technological college when the fall semester opens.

Legal problems and practices affecting agriculture will be taught in the farm law course being offered in the agriculture economics department. Relations of employers and employes, farm owners and neighbors, farm operators and commission men, farm real estate and lenders and borrowers are among the problems which will be studied in this course.

The other new course in agriculture economics will be a detailed study of advanced agricultural statistics.

In the animal husbandry department both of the new courses will be on a graduate level. One course, which will include all phases of handling and testing eggs as well as financial market responsibility, will teach students the marketing of eggs.

The other animal husbandry course will deal with the techniques of artificial breeding to build up individual dairy cattle herds.

Harlingen Insists On Foot Path Even If Railroad Fence Is In Way

HARLINGEN, July 2. (AP)—City fathers asked the Missouri Pacific railway for right-of-way for a foot path across railroad tracks along a main Harlingen street.

The railroad refused to allow it.

So R. J. Brule, city manager, took a crew of men out and cut down the railroad's fence, to open a path.

About ten days later, on June 27, railroad workers restored the fence, again cutting off the footpath.

Brule ordered his crew out—and the fense was cut again.

And city officials said they'll cut it down—every time it goes up.

But a spokesman for the railroad replied that the railroad had not ordered the fence repaired in the first place. A crew of repairmen just happened along, he explained, saw that the fence was down, and repaired it.

More than 2,250,000 trees were planted in Nebraska this spring, 3 per cent above last year's plantings.

House And Senate Move Into New Quarters As Workmen Prepare To Remodel Capitol

By ROSE McKEE
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, July 2 — Congress learns this week something of what it means to be a displaced person.

Both the Senate and House were ousted Friday from their regular quarters by construction crews, who have seized possession of the capitol to replace the sagging, 99-year-old roofs on the two chambers.

Workmen are due to have finished carting furniture about by Tuesday. The Senate will assemble that day in the cramped but historically rich old Supreme Court building in the center of the capitol.

To Be Somewhat Crowded

The plan is for the Senate to finish the session in this semi-circular little room but the banging of sledge hammers and the screams of power machinery may prove to be too stiff competition for senatorial lungs.

In that event, the Senate will flee to the marble caucus room of its own nearby office building.

The House initially gets as far from the forthcoming noise as possible, like President Truman, who left the executive mansion for Blair-Lee house in the face of major White House repairs, the lower chamber is entirely vacating the capitol.

It will assemble Tuesday and finish the session in the elegant Ways and Means committeeroom of the old House office building. Although the room is large enough to handle most crowds, it can hardly house 435 members and still leave any space for customary arm-waving.

Used Building Before

The Senate in moving to the old Supreme Court room, returns to the scene of its young and lusty days. It met in the historic room from 1810 to 1859. It was there that the brilliant actors, Calhoun, Clay and Webster, played out their roles.

The Supreme court took over the room in 1860 and worked there until 1935 despite complaints of the justices that it was too small.

The Senate returned to this old stand for six weeks in 1940 while steel supports were put up to bolster the upper chamber's roof.

But unlike today, the Senate had only minor bills to consider during its 1940 camping out. Now, with the major part of 1949 legislative program yet to be acted upon, the facilities will get a real test.

Senatorial pomp and privacy have been thrown overboard in the moving. The highly-polished red desks senators use on the floor will go into storage. Only majority leader Lucas and minority leader Wherry will have desks in the new quarters. However, desks are to be moved in for Sens. Connally and Vandenberg when they open momentous Atlantic Pact debate.

To get to their new quarters, Senators will walk through an improvised press gallery in the corridor, which will be closed to general traffic.

The public will be barred for lack of space from the new quarters but constituents will be permitted to interview senators around what former Vice President Garner once called the "nation's cuspidor."

This is a two-story well under the capitol's dome, well within earshot of workmen who will be replacing old skylights with new steel and concrete reinforced roofs and installing indirect lighting in the two chambers.

Children Liked Christmas Tree So Madison Woman Still Has It

MADISON, Wis., July 2. (AP)—A brightly decorated Christmas tree in the house — Mrs. A. L. Lehr says — "does have a cooling effect in July."

But, she added today, "We won't keep it up this long next year."

It all started when her children, Ronnie, 3, and Bobbie, 5, objected to taking down the tree last January.

"The weeks passed, and after a while, I just decided to see how long it would last. It still hasn't shed its needles, although this week's spell of 90 degree heat made it somewhat brown."

VA Head Opposes Proposals Made By Hoover Commission

WASHINGTON, July 2. (AP)—Veterans administrator Carl R. Gray, jr., told Congress today reorganization recommendations of the Hoover commission threaten hospital facilities of thousands of war veterans.

Gray made a strong plea for retaining the present separate system of VA medical activities in a letter to Rep. Rankin (D-Miss), chairman of the House Veterans committee.

It supplemented an earlier report in which Gray criticized certain Hoover commission proposals as "unsound" and "ill considered."

The commission, in its reorganization proposals for VA, charged overlap of inefficiency in government medical activities — including VA activities — and proposed their consolidation into a united medical administration.

Claims Policy Hit

Gray said today this recommendation "runs counter to the historic policy of our government to treat its veterans as a class, deserving of special consideration, through one agency charged with the responsibility . . . of administering all the various benefit programs."

"It would open the doors of hospitals established by the government for the care, treatment, and rehabilitation of our disabled veterans to additional categories, principally armed forces personnel and their dependents and merchant seamen," Gray said.

Fears Restrictions

But Gray maintained that "what really disturbs the Veterans administration" most is the commission's critical attitude toward hospitalization for veterans suffering ailments not incurred in service.

The Hoover commission report noted that hospital facilities for about 100,0000 beds have been built or authorized "which serve no purpose except to make beds available for non-service connected cases."

This, Gray said, "clearly leads one to the conclusion that some new and more restrictive definition of entitlement to hospitalization — to be prescribed by Congress — is suggested, if not recommended."

LONG RANGE PLANNING NEEDED

Governor Expected To Use Veto In Emergency Budget Balancing

By DAVE CHEAVENS
Associated Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, July 2 — Indications grew today that the governor's veto would be used as a stop-gap way out of the state's money muddle.

It was widely believed Gov. Beauford H. Jester would blue-pencil the money voted eleemosynary instituations by the Legislature for the second year of the next fiscal biennium. It would give the institutions operating funds for the fiscal year starting next Sept. 1.

Comptroller Robert S. Calvert today certified that the Senate has enough money to pay for the judiciary, departmental and eleemosynary appropriations.

New Taxes Possible

These bills went to the governor, leaving the road open for his expected veto of enough money in one of them—probably the eleemosynary—to bring the budget in immediate balance until the Legislature can meet again to grapple with the fiscal problem on a long-range basis.

There was growing belief also that any such-long-range solution would include new taxes or force sharp curtailment of future state services.

Jester said today he would take no action on the money bills sent him with the comptroller's okay until Monday. The comptroller said he would not act on the last big bill before him—that for state colleges — until Tuesday. That would give Jester his opportunity to chop one of the certified bills down to fit revenue, and permit certification of the money for colleges.

Session Ends Wednesday

The estimated deficit is around 17 million dollars.

Chief development today in the legislature was House action to keep alive a bill seeking to provide some money for building state hospitals.

There was no quorum in the Senate and it voted to adjourn until Wednesday at 10 a.m. after a brief token session. The House had trouble maintaining a quorum and it also quit until Tuesday.

The session—already a record-breaker for duration—will finally adjourn at noon Wednesday.

Resolution Passed

Approved in the House was a resolution which would allow it to consider the eleemosynary building either Tuesday or Wednesday. The Senate would have to agree under rules limiting what may be considered in the last hours of a session.

The House passed finally and sent to the Senate a bill designed to strengthen the civil service law for firemen and policemen. It had been passed by the Senate, but the House amended it and that forced reconsideration. It applies only to cities which already have established civil service systems under a law passed two years ago.

Oklahoma Youth And Fiancee Kill Bandit After Wild Struggle

LOS ANGELES, July 2 (U.P.)—A stalwart Oklahoma City youth and his fiancee fought off a lovers' lane holdup man last night in a life-and-death struggle in which the bandit was killed.

Alwyn (Sonny) Ivers, 19-year-old hero of the battle, was wounded seriously defending his sweetheart.

He arrived here yesterday to marry pretty blonde Betty Bowen, 16, in a ceremony set for tomorrow.

Bandit Attacked

The young couple was parked in a little-used lane in the Baldwin Hills when a man, his face masked by a bandana handkerchief, suddenly pointed a .38 caliber revolver through the car window.

"Get out and give me your money," he ordered Ivers.

The youth complied.

"Now go out in back of the car and stay there," the gunman said. "I'm going to get your girl."

Ivers knocked the bandit down and grabbed for the gun, which fired three times as they scuffled on the ground. One bullet struck the gunman in the head, another pierced Ivers' cheek and lodged in his neck, and a third went wild.

Girl Couldn't Drive

The sobbing girl jumped from the car, grabbed the gun and hit the holdup man on the head again and again. Then she realized he was no longer moving.

"I tugged at Sonny until I got him in the car," Betty told police. "I didn't know how to drive, but I knew I just had to get help."

She managed to back out of the parking place, the car's wheel passing over the bandit's body. Then she coasted down the hill to a gas station and, unable to stop, crashed into the attendant's parked car. The attendant called police.

The hysterical girl led officers back to the gunman's body. He was about 23 years old, wearing khaki trousers and a blue denim jacket, and carried no identification.

Yugoslavia Cut Off From Red Military Aid, Army Officer Says

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, July 2 (AP) — A military spokesman said today that Yugoslavia has been cut off from all military supplies from the Cominform countries. He defiantly expressed confidence in the Yugoslav army's ability to defend itself against all comers.

The veteran army man, Col. Gen. Ivan Goshnjak, pulled no punches in accusing Russia of promoting Cominform attacks against the Tito regime for its own selfish reasons. Goshnjak is second only to Tito in master-minding the country's defenses.

His speech seemed in contrast to the last major speech of Marshal Tito, who declared the Western nations cannot depend on Yugoslavia to join in "war plans" against the Soviet Union despite his break with the other Cominform nations.

SOME STORAGE SPACE UNFILLED

Survey Indicates Texas Wheat Crop To Fall Below Estimates

Texas has much less wheat than it thought it had.

Much of the wheat it does have is not high quality.

Some wheat storage space—for which farmers were crying as the harvest began—actually is standing empty.

Those assertions came Saturday in an Associated Press roundup as the big Texas wheat harvest neared an end.

Some were denied, in part, by a panhandle wheat leader.

Santa Fe Gives Estimate

The federal government's last estimate placed the Texas wheat crop at 123,216,000 bushels—a very good crop. The estimate was published June 10 and was based on June 1 conditions.

But now the Santa Fe railroad and some grain experts say deterioration has cut the crop down drastically. The Santa Fe, in its monthly summary, estimated the Texas crop at 87,500,000 bushels, or almost 36,000,000 below the government estimate.

Dallas and Fort Worth grain dealers thought the railroad was right in thinking the crop had deteriorated, but doubted it had been hurt that bad.

Much Poor Wheat Reported

The Santa Fe estimate "is about in line with the views of most Texas grain men," G. E. Blewett, veteran Fort Worth grain man, said.

"Informed grain men have felt for weeks that the government estimate of over 123,000,000 bushels was far out of line," said Blewett, who is secretary-treasurer of the Texas Grain and Feed Dealers association.

"More light test wheat, grain weighing under 58 pounds to the bushel, and more smutty wheat is reaching the Fort Worth market this year than in the last ten years.

"Telephone calls to grain men in most of the wheat counties this week developed the fact that some wheat will weigh under 50 pounds to the bushel and will not be eligible for government loans. Of course, such grain will find its only use as stock feed."

Storage Space Unfilled

Blewett also asserted that there is more unfilled storage space on farms than ever before, and less grain piled in the open this year than usual.

"Wheat growers overbuilt their storage in many cases and now have no use for it," the Fort Worth grain man said. "On the other hand, railroads strained a point and made many cars available for grain—far more than ordinary. In Hansford county, for instance, there is very little wheat piled on the ground while last year hundreds of thousands of bushels could be stored no other way."

A Dallas grain man, Clarence E. Lee of the J. C. Crouch company, said grain men believe the crop has been hurt badly but not as badly as the Santa Fe predicts.

"We think the Texas crop will run 90,000,000 to 100,000,000 bushels," Lee said.

Heavy Rain, Hail Hurt

"The wheat is pretty good in the Panhandle though not up to early expectations," the Dallas grain man said. "It's filled out pretty well, and has good test weight.

"It's below the Cap—in the South Plains—that yields are low because the kernels are shriveled and small. All those heavy rains, along with stem diseases and root rot, prevented the kernels from filling out. And there has been a lot of hail, especially in the Panhandle."

Lee, however, said most of the deterioration occurred after the June 10 government estimate.

A Panhandle wheat spokesman, Horace Lindley of Tulia, saw no reason to believe Texas is not winding up the largest of a bumper crop.

Harvest Nears Completion

Lindley is president of the Panhandle Feed and Grain Dealers association.

The harvest is not complete in 12 Panhandle counties, Lindley said, but production in the South Plains has about lived up to earlier estimates.

This is especially true in Briscoe, Swisher and Castro counties, he said.

"Our estimate of 120,000,000 bushels six weeks ago may be scaled down," the Tulia man said. "We can't say for sure, however, until all North Plains wheat is cut."

The harvest, meanwhile, is finished in 50 West Texas and Panhandle counties. Operations are moving rapidly in the 12 remaining Panhandle counties. The Texas Employment commission office at Amarillo predicts 90 per cent of all Texas wheat will be cut by the middle of the week.

E. N. Caskey, Crosby Resident, Is Claimed

CROSBYTON, July 2. (Special)—Funeral arrangements are pending for Edward Newton Caskey, 69, who died at his home here about 9 p.m. Saturday night.

Caskey had been a resident of Crosby county since 1916. He was born in Bell county, Texas. For the past few months he had been helping a son in a service station here but before that he had been a farmer near Crosbyton. He became ill at his home Saturday afternoon and died following a heart attack Saturday night.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Lillie Caskey; two sons, R. L. and Olan, both of Crosbyton; three daughters, Mrs. Charley Artley of Crosbyton, Mrs. Bill Tirey of Littlefield and Mrs. J. Q. Wallace of Morton. There were also 12 grandchildren.

The body is at the King funeral home in Crosbyton.

Newly Organized Church Holds Wagner Park Family Gathering

Members of the recently-organized Forrest Heights Methodist church attended a Family Night gathering recently at Wagner park. Approximately 60 persons attended.

Games and contests were featured. Ice cream and cold drinks were served.

Mrs. R. L. Ellison, Mrs. Roscoe Fort, and Mrs. Roger Poff were members of a committee in charge of arrangements. Roger Poff acted as master of ceremonies.

Landlady Believes Dead Man May Have Left Large Estate

DENVER, July 2 (AP) — A man buried recently in Idaho as a pauper often talked about a large estate he possessed—possibly as much as $100,000—his former landlady said today.

Mrs. Catherine O'Sullivan said that Carl Medley succumbed last month only two days after moving from her house to go to a lower altitude. He died at Pocatello, Idaho.

She identified Medley as a former restaurant and cook man and said she believed he was about 72 years of age.

He referred both to cash and real estate, Mrs. O'Sullivan said, and she gained the impression that it might run to $100,000.

She said she believes a niece in Texas survives him.

Yoakum County Will Observe Occupancy Of New Courthouse

PLAINS, July 2 (Special)—Residents of Plains and Yoakum county will stage a "double celebration" Monday.

In addition to their observance of Independence Day, they also will hold a celebration in connection with the completion and occupancy of the new Yoakum county courthouse here.

The new structure, which cost an estimated $300,000, exclusive of fixtures and other furnishings, will be opened to the public for inspection Monday. A basket picnic will be held on the courthouse grounds at 5 p. m. Residents of the county and of the surrounding area have been invited to attend.

The new three-story and basement structure will enable county offices to expand as is necessary, providing adequate and safe storage for county records and documents.

On the first floor are offices for the county secretary, attorney, judge, sheriff, tax collector, treasurer, auditor, and clerk. Storage facilities are provided in the basement for these offices.

On the second floor is the district courtroom, which measures 50 by 60 feet, and which is paneled in matched maple. Also on that floor are jury rooms, complete with sleeping quarters for jurymen on long cases; and a stenographers' room.

On the third floor, which features a "penthouse" are apartments for the district judge, district attorney, and district clerk.

B.M.F.P. Construction company of Lubbock was general contractor for the building. Final work on the building was completed a few days ago.

C. C. Lovelace is chairman of the committee in charge of the courthouse celebration. Other committee members are W. L. Inman and Ray Lackey.

Chemists Search For New Gas To Destroy Foe's Will To Fight

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON, July 2. — Army chemists today are developing a weapon "more valuable than the atomic bomb"—a gas that would temporarily destroy an enemy's will to fight.

The report of the chemists' activities came in a House speech by Rep. Sikes (D-Fla).

He said the chemical corps' aim is to produce a "painless war" that will turn an aggressor into a herd of flower-whiffing Ferdinands and save the landscape from ugly bomb scars.

He disclosed sketchy details of the new gas in a house speech lauding the chemical corps. He said the service is "not far" from perfection of the new weapon.

According to Sikes, the gas would have no harmful aftereffects but would "make short shrift of an aggressor and render his defenses impotent."

Along with work on the new gas, Sikes said, the corps is "working feverishly" to perfect defenses against gas and bacteriological warfare

TREAD LIGHTLY—Robert Timmerman (left) examines tire marks on the back of his two-year-old son Robert in Washington Sanitarium after the family automobile ran over him. The father said Robert, Jr., apparently released the emergency brake of the family car and then fell under a front wheel as the auto rolled down a slope. X-ray examinations disclosed no broken bones or internal injuries—just "tire marks on the back" and bruises. (AP Wirephoto).

New officers include Otis Harris, worshipful master; Paul Boggan, senior warden; Sherman Inman, junior warden; Charles Wells, treasurer; Elvin R. Moore, secretary; and Ben Moore jr., tiler.

At the installation ceremony, Ollie D. Harris of Lamesa, a past master of the O'Donnell lodge, was in charge. Otis Harris, the new worshipful master, is his brother.

FORMER NEWSMAN CLAIMED

FORT WORTH, July 2. (AP) — James Thomas Smith, 70, war correspondent with Teddy Roosevelt's rough riders, died last night. During the 1900 Galveston flood, Smith spent three days in a boat pulling survivors from tops of trees and houses. "The exposure gave him rheumatism that crippled him completely in the last 20 years of his life," a son, Homer L. Smith, said.

MAN LEAPS TO DEATH

SAN FRANCISCO, July 2. (INS) Police tentatively identified a man who apparently committed suicide by leaping from his San Francisco hotel room early today as W. L. Egler, 55, a Cleveland seaman. He left a note to the manager, indicating lack of employment was the cause of his action.

WINTERS MAN CLAIMED

WINTERS, July 2. (AP)—J. W. Tanner, 86, retired stock farmer and business man, died today. He had been an invalid two years. Tanner was born at Granbury before Hood county was organized. He lived in Arizona, New Mexico, Colorado and Oklahoma before coming here in 1919. Survivors include three sisters and a brother.

DEFENSE MAY PLEAD COMPULSION

Tokyo Rose Trial Set Tuesday On Charge She Betrayed U. S.

By KATHERINE PINKHAM
Associated Press Press Writer

SAN FRANCISCO, July 2.—For nine months a slim, slant-eyed girl called Tokyo Rose has waited in jail here to find out whether the country of her birth will brand her traitor, or set her free as a victim of circumstances.

Iva Ikuko Toguri D'Aquino (her real name) is charged with treason, punishable by death. The lightest sentence she could get if convicted is five years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

Her trial starts Tuesday before Federal Judge Michael J. Roche. It is expected to last six to eight weeks.

Monday, the Fourth of July, is her 33rd birthday. Jail attendants say she is nervous and apprehensive. Her skin seems to stretch tightly over the bones of her face and rather sharp features.

Was Familiar Voice

To many thousands of service men in the Pacific her voice was a familiar one, coming over the air on the "zero hour" program from Radio Tokyo.

"Hello, boneheads, this is Orphan Anne, your favorite enemy—"

Much of it was entertaining stuff, with a lot of music. Uncle Sam's weary, bored fighters listened. Even Adm. Chester Nimitz got a grim smile when he learned she had beamed at sweating Sea-Bees hewing an airfield out of South Pacific island jungle:

"Look out boys, your strip is showing!"

But it's no joke now. The government—in the persons of special Washington prosecutors Tom De Wolfe, late of Seattle, and John B. Hogan, ex-Philadelphian, aided by FBI investigators—aims to prove that Mrs. D'Aquino betrayed the Stars and Stripes that flew protectingly above the little Los Angeles home where she was born.

Eight Acts Charged

The prosecution has assembled 71 witnesses, a score of whom were flown from Japan. It says it will prove that she was an effective participant in propaganda radio programs designed, says the indictment "to undermine American and allied military morale, create nostalgia in the minds of the armed forces, create war weariness, impair the capacity of the United States to wage war against its enemies."

She did this "intentionally and traitorously," while owing allegiance to the United States, the charge continues. Eight overt acts, between March, 1944, and July, 1945, are charged. Each states that she discussed radio programs, broadcast over the air, or prepared script. Under the constitution, each overt act must be testified to by two corroborating witnesses.

Defense Refutes Charge

The defense, headed by Wayne Collins, will produce some 15 to 20 witnesses, plus the written records of sworn testimony taken from some 30 persons in Japan, seeking to refute the treason charge.

Collins says this charge never should have been brought. He argues:

(1) Mrs. D'Aquino isn't an American citizen. Because she is the wife of Felipe J. D'Aquino, a Portuguese national of three-quarters Japanese ancestry, and (2) to try her now would be double jeopardy, since she was held in jail more than a year in Japan and then released by the U. S. Army.

The prosecution countered, largely through preliminary motions, that (1) under the Cable act women no longer lose their U. S. citizenship through marriage unless they expatriate themselves in certain, specified, formal ways. (2) As for double jeopardy, she has not been tried before.

Accuses Others

A chief plea of the defense is expected to be that of compulsion—that Tokyo Rose had no more choice to refuse to broadcast than did prisoners of war assigned to various tasks. She was in Japan to visit a sick aunt when the war broke out.

In an interview shortly after the Japanese surrender, Mrs. D'Aquino was quoted as saying that Maj. Charles Cousens of the Australian army and Capt. Wallace Ince of the U. S. Army wrote many of the scripts she broadcast.

Ince has been subpoenaed as a defense witness and has engaged a special attorney. Cousens, now a Sydney radio announcer, came voluntarily to testify. Another voluntary defense witness will be K. G. Parkyns of Liverpool, New South Wales, ex-sergeant in the Royal Australian Air force.

Depositions Collected

The defense has no power to subpoena witnesses outside the country. The prosecution does. The defense complaines, too, that it must furnish bonds to immigration officials for alien defense witnesses here from abroad. This requirement has been waived for those who will testify for the government.

Collins tried to get the government to pay for bringing defense witnesses here, saying his client is penniless. Judge Roche didn't permit this, but he did authorize expenses for defense attorney Theodore Tamba to go to the orient and collect more than 30 depositions.

Iva D'Aquino probably knows that not every country would give her the breaks she has had. The daughter of a Japanese immigrant grocer, she grew into an attractive co-ed at the University of California at Los Angeles, she took part in sports and activities, drove a good car, wore pretty clothes and considered herself very much an American.

No Racial Prejudice

"I never felt any racial prejudice while in school," she answered a recent query. "Racial prejudice never was discussed at home. I was never aware of the existence of it."

Collins said he will be alert to any hint of it Tuesday, when the trial begins. A jury panel of 110 has been summoned. Spectators are to be excluded from the courtroom until the jury is chosen.

Senators To Propose New Policy In China

WASHINGTON, July 2. (AP)—A group of senators today planned to challenge the State department's China policy with a multi-million dollar program of military and economic aid to the Nationalist forces in China.

Sen. Knowland (R-Calif) told a reporter a "large number" of Democrats—will support this new move to fight Communism in Asia. The precise amount of aid to be asked has not been determent.

Secretary of State Acheson has said it would be disastrous for the United States to become involved in any large-scale effort to salvage the battered Nationalist government.

But Knowland, Sen. Bridges sharply.

Knowland said the group will fight for an amendment to the foreign aid bill or some other appropriation measure to give Nationalist China the money, food, supplies and arms to continue the fight against the Red armies.

The tentative plan also calls for an American military mission similar to one sent to Greece to help in the fight against the Communist guerrillas.

MARKET Reports

Wall Street

MARKET CONTINUES RALLY

NEW YORK, July 2. (AP)—The stock market stayed on the recovery trail this week. The going was rocky.

The market on average ended higher.

The advance was notably lacking in enthusiasm. On two days the volume of business dropped below 600,000 shares.

The satisfaction a rising price curve gave bullish Wall Streeters was badly marred by the failure of the market to attract general public support. A summer advance is possible, some market analysts say, but it will not get very far unless wider investor support can be whipped up.

The week got off to a poor start, with the market on Tuesday taking the worst spill in two weeks. The drop was caused in part by a long decline in the London stock exchange. Late demand picked up, which was attributed to the complete failure of the administration's plans to get the Taft-Hartley law off the books.

For the next three days the market was upward.

Business news was not entirely gloomy.

Weekly changes for a sampling of leading stocks included:

Bethlehem Steel up 75 cents at $24.87. General Motors up $1.50 at $56.75. J. I. Case up $2.13 at $34.12. American Telephone up $1.25 at $140.12. Consolidated Natural Gas up 75 cents at $40.50. Anaconda Copper up 12 cents at $26.75. General Electric up 50 cents at $35.25. Du Pont down 50 cents at $45.50. American Woolen down 12 cents at $25.75. American Tobacco up $1.37 at $69.25. Santa Fe down 62 cents at $82.50, and Standard Oil (NJ) down $1 at $62.75.

Higher in the curb were American Natural gas 12 cents at $23.12. Electric Bond & Share 12 cents at $13.75, and Cities Service 62 cents at $43.87.

Grain

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, July 2 (AP) — A mild amount of hedging pressure sent wheat slightly lower on the board of trade today. The bread grain also was influenced by declines of 1 or 2 cents for cash wheat at major terminals. Local traders were inclined to get out of the market over the holiday.

Wheat drew some support at one time on trade reports that the Commodity Credit corporation had bought wheat in southern Illinois yesterday. It was said the purchases were made at 13 cents a bushel over the July Chicago future for delivery at Gulf of Mexico ports.

Other grains held up well in slow dealings, not being subjected to the hedging pressure noticeable in wheat. Some buying came into oats on reports of disappointing yields.

Wheat closed ¾-1¼ lower, July $1.94¾-1.94, corn was ⅝ lower to ¼ higher, July $1.35½-⅝, oats were ¼ lower to ¼ higher, July 80¾.

Miss Louise Leftwich And Homer Lawson Are To Marry July 25

Betrothal Revealed At Tea

Announcement of the engagement and approaching marriage of Miss Louise Leftwich, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Leftwich, 3313 Nineteenth, and Homer Lawson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry G. Lawson, 1604 Ave. X, was the occasion of a beautifully appointed tea given Friday afternoon in the Leftwich's spacious new home.

Two hundred fifty guests were received between 3 and 5 o'clock.

Mrs. Douglas Witt greeted guests at the door, while Mrs. J. R. Leftwich and the honoree received in the drawing room, assisted by Mrs. Henry Lawson, Mrs. Don Slaughter, Mrs. Doyle McLeod, Mrs. Gormley Holman, Miss Brentie Sue Thompson and Miss Joan Lee.

The rooms were decorated with bouquets of shasta daisies, gladioli and roses, making a colorful midsummer setting for the young women who assisted in hospitalities. These were Misses Judy Pierce, Margaret Fariss, Carolyn Lockhart, Martha Lee Adams, Eugenia Luker, Delight Hardin, Paula Fix, Jeanetta Lewis, Jo Ann Simmons and Jane Loflin.

Feature Bride-Elect's Colors

Mrs. Raymond Erp, Mrs. Joe Nislar, Mrs. A. M. Leftwich, jr., and Mrs. George Thompson ushered guests into the dining room where a unique bridal table centerpiece was arranged on an imported linen and lace hand embroidered cloth. Garlands of yellow and aqua flowers, the bride-elect's chosen colors, placed amid misty fern leaves, formed the base of an arrangement featuring a tiny winding stairway mounting toward a miniature church set among fluffy iridescent clouds. On the lower step a tiny bridal doll was placed beneath a lily of the valley tree, while the miniature bridegroom waited among the clouds near the church. The topmost step bore the wedding date, July 25, and a herald held a trumpet and banner with the names "Louise and Homer."

Mrs. J. D. Leftwich and Mrs. George Slaughter of Roswell, N. M., served refreshments.

Mrs. K. D. Leftwich presided at the guest book.

A number of parties has been planned for Miss Leftwich, who is a popular member of Lubbock's younger set.

DOUBLE RING RITES

Miss Sturges Is Wed To Cecil W. Daniels

Miss Alma Lou Sturges, daughter of Mrs. Minnie Sturges of 1621 Sixteenth, became the bride of Cecil W. Daniels of Albuquerque, N. M., son of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Daniels of Roswell, N. M., in a candlelight ceremony read Saturday at eight p. m. at the First Presbyterian church in Albuquerque. Rev. Willis E. Plapp performed the double ring ceremony.

White gladioli and greenery formed the background.

Mrs. Willis Plapp played an organ prelude of wedding selections, including Chopin's Prelude in A and Clair de Lune and traditional wedding marches. She also accompanied Alex Macurak of Albuquerque who sang "I Love You Truly" and "Because."

The bride wore an afternoon dress of white shadow organdy over white slipper satin fashioned with a double bertha collar and tiny covered buttons to the waistline. Her bonnet was of white horsehair braid. She carried a white Bible topped with a corsage of American Beauty roses and stephanotis.

Sister Is Attendant

Miss Lessie Sturges of Lubbock, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Her frock was of blue organdy over satin and fashioned in lines similar to that of the bride's. She wore a corsage of white camelias.

Joe Willis of Melrose, N. M., was best man, and Quinton Heimerman and Henry Fraser, both of Albuquerque, served as ushers.

A reception was held at the Alvarado hotel following the wedding. Sweetpeas decorated the twin serving tables. The couple was assisted in receiving by the bride's mother and Mrs. W. J. Sturges of Albuquerque. Mrs. Joe W. Brooks, sister of the bride, of Estancia, N. M., presided at the punch bowl, and Mrs. Charles Sturges of Lubbock was at the bride's book.

The couple will be at home in Albuquerque where the bridegroom is sports director of the city recreation program.

The bride is a graduate of Lubbock High school and of Texas Technological college where she was a member of Alpha Chi, scholastic honorary society, Sigma Delta Pi, honorary Spanish society, Capa y Espada, and IRC. She is a member of Beta Sigma Phi, business sorority and the Order of Eastern Star. She taught last year at Estancia.

Mr. Daniels has attended Texas Technological college and the University of New Mexico. He served four years with the Army Air Force during the war, and is a member of the Roswell chapter of DAV.

Party Is For Bride-Elect

First of a series of parties for Miss Geane Martin, who is to marry Kenneth King, was given Thursday night in the home of Mrs. F. A. Kleinschmidt, 2324 Broadway. Assistant hostesses were Mesdames C. C. Perkins, C. R. DeArmond, J. E. Jeffreys, T. L. Vannoy and J. L. Benton, jr.

The entertainment was in the nature of an informal reception and miscellaneous shower.

Maroon And Pink Used

Eighty-six persons called or sent gifts. Mrs. Kleinschmidt presented guests to the honoree, her mother, Mrs. T. K. Martin, and her sister, Miss Vicki Martin. Mesdames Perkins, J. C. Martin and J. L. Watson were at the bride's book and Mesdames T. L. Vannoy, Benton, Perkins and DeArmond served guests.

The refreshment table was covered with an heirloom lace cloth over pink and centered with pink and maroon daisies, fern and baby's breath. Pink tapers burned in crystal holders. "Geane and Kirby" was lettered in maroon on pink napkins.

Miss Francis Dalmasso sang a number of selections, accompanied by Mrs. Mary A. Ware and Mrs. Quincy Haney played piano solos.

The hostess gift was a carving set in the bride-elect's sterling pattern.

IN STAPLETON HOME

Friendly Menders club will meet at 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon with Mrs. S. A. Stapleton, 1314 Thirty-second.

Through The Coral Doors

Just a note to wish you all a happy, poppin' 4th. I stuck my head through those coral doors late Friday, and that was about as far as I got—All the folks gave me a big, friendly hello, followed up with statements of "no time to talk today—too busy." I realized then that the Studio was closing Saturday and Monday for the holidays and everyone was rushing getting their work in line.

'Course I still felt mighty neglected and am simply dying of curosity to know how Bee's trip to Midland turned out this week, and why Josie and Fredda made such a dashing trip to Odessa, and the latest news of our European travelers—but sorry folks—you'll have to wait until next week to find out the news when I make my weekly trip through that coral door—same place—Broadway and N.

Be seeing ya,

Grandpa Nosey.

P. S. Hope to see you all out at the exciting Soap Box Derby, 10:00 a. m. the 4th. adv.

AT THE

HILTON

Town Talk

MR. AND MRS. O. B. RATLIFF, 2205 Thirtieth, and children, Almeida and Alan, left Saturday morning on an extended vacation trip by automobile through eastern and southern states.

The family will go first to Dallas to visit Mr. Raliff's aunt Sunday night, and then drive through Arkansas, Tennessee, Kentucky, Virginia, Washington, D. C., Pennsylvania and on to New York, where they will stop at the Roosevelt hotel.

While there Mr. Ratliff will visit an old schoolmate, John English of Rochester, an Eastman Kodak engineer, and the family will make the round of the current stage shows, and visit museums and art galleries. Mr. English and his wife will accompany the Lubbockites to Niagara Falls for a few days stay.

After they leave New York the traveling family has no definite plans, but will either visit the Great Lakes region or drive down the Atlantic coast into Florida and back to Texas by way of New Orleans.

Mrs. Ratliff attended Grand Central School of Art in New York City formerly, and when she returns to the eastern city she hopes to see one of her old art professors, Arthur Woelfle. He was a fellow artist with her father in 1890, and the two traveled in Europe and studied together there.

The Lubbock artist, who paints only for her own pleasure, plans to spend most of her time in art galleries whenever she can during the trip.

Holiday guests in the home of Miss Ruth E. Ford, 1707 Sixteenth, are her brother-in-law and sister, Lt. and Mrs. Robert M. Smiley, Mrs. Sam Harvey of Jacksonville, Fla., Mr. and Mrs. H. V. Tull, jr., of Amarillo; and Dr. J. L. Guest of Plainview.

The Smileys, who have just returned from three years in Vienna and Linz, Austria, have been visiting his mother in Wilkinsonville, Mass. Lt. Smiley will be stationed in Seattle, Wash.

Mr. and Mrs. Wright Kerr, 2207 Thirtieth, who are pictured on the first Society page today, are holidaying in Cowles, N. M., over the Fourth. When the picture was taken they were on their way to Buffalo lakes to get their other daughter, Karen, before leaving on the trip.

All four of the little girls, Dinah and Gingah, the twin twosome, and Karen and Jan, love horses and riding and were looking forward to being at the Olan Keys' guest ranch at Cowles.

Misses Eugenia McClure and Minnie Schneider are spending two weeks vacation in Hot Springs, N. M.

Home from summer vacation are Mesdames Vera Chapman, Allie M. Dyer and Lottie Hilton.

The trio of travelers went first to Gallup, N. M., to spend the night and were surprised to find Robert Taylor on location there for the forthcoming movie, "Ambush." They went on by way of the Painted Desert and Grand canyon to Kingman, Ariz. for a visit before going to Los Angeles.

Some of the highlights of their stay in LA were lunching at the Biltmore, Earl Carrol's and Ken Murray's, going to the Cocoanut Grove for dinner, visiting two Brown Derby restaurants, seeing Jimmy Durante and making an excursion to Catalina island.

They returned to Texas by way of Las Vegas, Nev., and Boulder dam.

Weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Thomas are their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Orr, of Fort Worth and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Blake of Long Beach, Calif.

Mrs. Orr is the former Miss Juanita Thomas.

In roasting meat, rub it well with salt and freshly-ground pepper before putting it in the oven. If desired, garlic salt may substitute for some of the plain salt. Paprika may also be added.

Many modern cooks like to use low temperatures in roasting duck—a 325 defrees F. (slow) oven, allowing 30 or 35 minutes per pound. It is not necessary to prick the skin.

Ralls Couple Honored With Farewell Party

Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Littlefield who moved Friday from Midway to Ralls were honored at a surprise farewell party given at their home Thursday night.

They were presented a gift of hand forged aluminum.

The bell shaped wedding cake was decorated with a spray of roses and a miniature bride and bridegroom and surrounded by a pink net ruffle.

Out-of-town guests were from Baytown, Fort Worth, Colorado City, Dallas and Abilene.

For a wedding trip to Ruidoso and Dallas, the bride is wearing a blue suit with gray accessories and an orchid corsage. She is a graduate of Lubbock High school and is employed by Southwestern Bell Telephone company.

MRS. W. W. ROBERTS

From Lou... To Louella

DEAR LOUELLA: "Eddie Nahigan" is a name being heard frequently in Lubbock since Charlotte Scoggin came home from George Pepperdine in California, for before long the pretty Lubbockite will adopt the name for her own. Her fiance, Eddie, is 24 years old and a native of Los Angeles.

A good looking fellow with dark hair, dark complexion and green eyes, he is five feet seven inches tall and weighs about 155 pounds. He attended the University of Southern California before transferring to Pepperdine, where he graduated from the business department in June of 1948. At present he is working with a job analysis company for new car agencies.

Staying at the beach is his first love, in the way of sports, but he also likes football.

Charlotte and Eddie have been a twosome since her freshman year at Pepperdine. A year ago last November they were pinned, and she received her ring on May 7. It, by the way, has a central brilliant-cut diamond set in platinum with a baguette diamond on each side.

REAL BASEBALL FANS

In spite of the weather, win or lose, early of late in the season, afternoon or night games, the Lubbock Hubbers always have one group of ardent fans — their wives. One and all, the girls love baseball next best to their husbands and families, and are either cheering from the sidelines or by their radio whenever the Hubbers play ball, (and an attractive group of spectators they are).

HASKINS

Mrs. Chris Haskins, a quiet and reserved young woman, is five feet five inches tall, and her two principle claims to beauty are her flawless complexion and expressive eyes. Her light brown hair is worn in bangs and pageboy style.

She especially likes cooking, as far as the housekeeping department is concerned, and in the field of out-of-door sports, attractive Naomi chooses horseback riding as her favorite. Most of her time is devoted to her two-year-old son Jimmy, and Daddy Chris is already bringing the young fellow up "in the way he should go" by teaching him to play baseball.

Although the Haskins family formerly lived in Heavener, Okla., they plan to make their permanent home in Lubbock and are building a new home at 3513 Twenty-fourth. Naomi planned the house herself, and can hardly wait for the few more days, before they move in, to pass.

SULLIVAN

Mrs. Jackie Sullivan, 1922 Thirty-second, is a five feet four inch tall blonde with sky blue eyes and a light complexion. Pretty Lea is learning to sew and enjoys it immensely.

The Sullivan's seven-year-old daughter, Sandra, is outstanding in her scholastic work at school and is unusually talented in drawing for a child of her age.

Mr. Sullivan and his wife are from McKinney.

DOOLEY

Mike Dooley's wife is named Mary, and is a very attractive young woman with long brown hair. She is "five feet two with eyes of blue," and her pride and joy is their two-year-old daughter, Linda.

The remaining baseball players' wives will be described in Wednesday's letter.

Problems Are Easy When Undertaken In Class

Home Project Classes Interest Forty-One Adults, Students

By ERNESTINE WHEELOCK
Of The Woman's Staff

After spending six weeks in summer homemaking courses, participants will enjoy the fruits of their work during the remainder of the summer. Forty-one high school students and adults are enrolled in two credit home project classes, one non-credit house beautiful class, and one non-credit wardrobe improvement class being offered at O. L. Slaton Junior High school as a part of the regular Lubbock Public school summer program. Mrs. Riley V. Carlton and Mrs. Archie Sullivan direct the courses which are to be concluded Tuesday July 12.

During the final week of Mrs. Sullivan's house beautiful course, the women enrolled will complete their various projects. Slip covers are being made by Mesdames Ed Thompson, Leo Saffell, Dossie Alexander and C. C. Corbell. Mrs. W. O. McCrary is upholstering two chairs, Mrs. H. A. Allen is redoing one chair, Mrs. Corbell is upholstering some of her furniture in plastic and Mrs. Thompson and Mrs. H. P. Stewart are working on pieces of their furniture. Draperies and curtains being made by Mrs. H. J. McCade are to be hung in her living room, bathroom and kitchen. Mrs. Stewart and Mrs. McCrary are making living room draperies, also.

Lamp shade making is another popular occupation of the women in the class. Mrs. McCrary is covering a shade for a 25-year-old lamp which had belonged to her mother. She is using the original frame. Mrs. Frank Moss has covered three shades and Mrs. Stewart has done two.

Discusses Colors, Materials

Mrs. Sullivan opened the course with a discussion on the choice of colors and materials for various articles in the home. Since then she has given demonstrations on the making of slip covers, draperies, curtains, picture frames and lamp shades. Lessons on selection of pictures, selection of carpets and on upholstering have been given. Mrs. Sullivan also taught the women how to launder slip covers without having to iron them, the basic principles are as follows: wash covers, let dry slightly and stretch back on piece of furniture. Pleats may be ironed, but it is not necessary since they will fall back in place in a short time.

In order to display their work, the women are inviting their husbands to a party to be given at the school Friday night at 8 o'clock.

Eleven persons are enrolled in Mrs. Carlton's wardrobe improvement class. Mrs. W. E. McCoy who has completed more garments than any other member of the class has made two dresses, a pair of pajamas and a housecoat. Miss Lotta Dagley who spends a great deal of time sewing at school and at home has made a dress, pajamas, shorts and a blouse. This summer, she is also redoing a bedroom suit, decorating it with Pennsylvania Dutch designs. Other class members are making dresses, blouses and skirts.

To Offer Second Course

Another wardrobe improvement class is being offered at O. L. Slaton school next six weeks. Miss Gertrude Watson, coordinator of home economics in Lubbock Public schools, is to teach.

High school girls enrolled in the home project classes are required to work 60 hours at school this six weeks and 40 hours at home. They have both school and home projects, at home they work on home improvement or on some kind of construction and at school they are making 72 nile green linen place mats and napkins to be given to the three junior high school homemaking departments in Lubbock. Mrs. Carlton and Mrs Sullivan supervise the home projects by making afternoon visits to the girls.

Betty Baynes, a member of Mrs. Carlton's home project class, has made a set of glasses from bottles. She is also painting bottles to use as vases and ornaments.

Girls who are working on their summer wardrobes as home projects are Wanda Curry, Rogene Thomas, Lavinia Dale Bearden, Oleta Watkins and LaJuana McWhorter. They are making sunback dresses, play suits, skirts and blouses. Pat Mansell is preparing her wardrobe for a trip to New York.

Jeanette Hackney is refinishing the floor in her room and is painting the walls and woodwork. Summer cooking is the project of Peggy Thurman; she is serving her family's evening meal each day.

In Mrs. Sullivan's project class, Betty Jo Tisdale is helping her mother with house work and is assisting with the care of her baby sister. Jean Evelyn Lane stays part of each day with a woman who is recuperating from an operation and keeps house at her aunt's home while she is on vacation.

Joyce Davis, Beverly Noble and Jonanne McWhorter are continuing their sewing as home projects. Both Jonanne and Joyce have made four garments each, including sun-back dresses and play clothes. Jonanne has also made a white organdy afternoon dress.

The girls are to display their work on "Achievement Day" to be held from 9 until 11 a. m. Friday. Mothers of the group are invited to attend.

CLUB HEAD—Mrs. O. P. Harlan, above, has been installed as the 26th president of Lubbock Business and Professional Women's club. She has been an active member of the club for many years and has served on various committees. During the 1948-49 club year, she was a member of the membership committee. Mrs. Harlan works with her husband who is divisional manager of Mutual Benefit Health and Accident Association and United Benefit Life Insurance company of Lubbock.

The Woman's Angle

By Margaret Turner

STRESSING the overall fashion picture of women's styles for the coming fall and winter seasons will be unusual collars, cuffs, pockets and fluid skirt treatments.

An outline of the market-wide trends was given to the writer Friday by Mrs. Vera Maxey, buying manager of ready-to-wear at Hemphill-Wells, who has just returned from New York. This season marks Mrs. Maxey's twenty-first year in going to Eastern markets.

"Pockets are the big talking point of the season," Mrs. Maxey noted. "Their news lies in their size, their number and their placement. In size they range from the enormous, deeply flapped ones to smaller, neater types in flap and slit versions, used in a straight line or slanted. I noticed pockets on coats were placed high, starting just below the shoulders and continuing in a line in groups of four or six. The news of pockets will be welcomed by women who have always liked them as trimmings and also for their utility."

WE like pockets, too, but we interrupted Mrs. Maxey to ask about skirt lengths, since rumors always are flying about hemlines. With regards to lengths in daytime clothes, stylists feel that approximately 13 inches from the floor looks new and right, the buyer said. Although there is a feeling for a shorter look in daytime clothes, designers believe that the most becoming length is the right length.

Mrs. Maxey maintains that a woman should stand in front of a full length mirror and determine which length is most becoming to her and then stay with it.

The wide, football uniform type of padded shoulders that was favored by American women for many years is definitely out, it was brought out in fashion showings last week. Shoulders are rounded and narrow and follow the gentle curve of the wearer's own natural outline. Where pads are used they are small and shell-like and hardly give the appearance of pads at all.

WAISTLINES are well defined. Flowing skirt treatments, jutting pockets and rounded hip treatments all contribute to a tiny waisted look and by the way the pencil-trim line is one main item in the silhouette for fall. Withal the skirts have mobile, fluid lines and there is news in flying panels or panel-like treatments that give a look of movement. These skirts will be eye-catching Mrs. Maxey believes because they are flattering to many figures.

Visits to the eastern style showings reveal that "texture interest" is going to play a big role in this fall's fabrics. Milady will go in more for dress up clothes than in past several seasons. She will choose her wardrobe from materials that appear to have come from a treasure chest, Mrs. Maxey believes. There will be velvets and velveteens metalasses, satins, taffetas and jacquards. The new velvets (rayon, silk or nylon) are crease and crush-resistant. Taffetas, both pure silk and rayon, in plain and jacquard effects, are not as stiff as they once were but fall in graceful, figure flattering lines. The metallic materials are both beautiful and expensive and the patterened laces will be popular in formal clothes.

There is also news in fabric combinations: velvet and velveteen accents will be on crepe or wool. Nylon, which was found rather warm for summer wear, will appear in fall suits and dresses. Plaids round out the picture with the small scaled, darker toned plaids heading the list. Blach watch, that combines dark navy and green, will be a leading pattern.

OTHER findings:

Color—In crepes black will be the number one color. It is closely followed with browns from beige through toast or rust browns and taupe browns to darker true browns. Slate blue will be popular and teal blue will stage a comeback after an absence from the scene for many years. However, it will be subtle and flattering and not the harsh blue-green shade we used to wear.

In wools the brights include berry reds, clear or slate blues, greens, tawny rust and autumn navy. Gold is to be a good basic color, stepping up from its long-time place as an accent tone.

The most important neutral is the camel tone, in camel hair or in camel color. Mauves and purples are in the picture in a limited way; their news lying in their use as an accent color in tweeds and fancies.

Trimmings—Velvet, braid and buttons are leading accents. Costume jewelry will be as popular as ever; scatter pins and bracelets being "musts."

Necklines — Important jutting collars, high wide revers, pointed front collars that diminish to nothing in the back. In casual or daytime dresses open necklines are popular.

Basic Suit—The one and only basic suit silhouette for fall is slim. All of the important fall suits, both tailored and dress, belted and unbelted, are translated via slim, graceful lines.

Methodist Church Is Scene Of Cooley-Bumpass Vows

St. John's Methodist church was scene of the wedding of Miss Patsy Bumpass, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Bumpass of route 3, and J. H. Cooley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jube Cooley of route 3, which took place at 7:30 o'clock Wednesday night. Rev. John S. Rankin, minister of Monroe Baptist church, performed a double ring ceremony.

The church was decorated with baskets of pink and white gladioli, western fern leaves, palms and candelabra. Pink and white gladioli, tied with matching satin ribbons, marked the candle-lighted aisles.

A program of wedding music was offered by Mrs. Earl Hobbs, organist, and Jerry Medley, soloist, who sang Because and a wedding prayer, How I Love Thee was played during the ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore sheer marquisette gown, fashioned with a fitted basque, off-the-shoulder yoke outlined with lace insertion and ruffle trimmed. Her long sleeves ended in points over the hands and her full skirt, made with a bustle back, extended into a full length train. Her fingertip veil of bridal illusion fell from a halo of pearls and she carried a bouquet of stephanotis, white roses, white feathered carnations and a pale orchid topping a white Bible.

Attendants of the bride were Miss Marybelle Rowell, maid of honor, Miss Rose Kveton and Miss Jonnie Brunson. They wore dresses fashioned alike of sheer marquisette. The maid of honor wore pale green and carried a semi-colonial bouquet of pink roses and wore a tiara of them. The bridesmaids also carried semi-colonial bouquets of Talisman roses and wore them in their hair.

The candles were lighted by Rita Kay Bumpass, sister of the bride, and A. J. Marcy, a cousin. Jimmy Dale Marcy was ring bearer and Jan Karnes was flower girl. They, too, were the bride's cousins.

John Lanham was best man and ushers were Marlin Bumpass, brother of the bride, and Jack Gailey.

At the reception given in the home of Mrs. Zed Marcy following the ceremony, the bride's table was laid with a Quaker lace cloth and bore a four-tiered wedding cake and punch bowl, lighted with white tapers.

For a wedding trip to Colorado Springs, Mrs. Cooley wore a light beige suit with brown and white accessories and an orchid corsage. They will be at home on a farm near Monroe.

Miss Reid To Marry

At a dinner given in the home of Mrs. F. B. Malone, 2435 Twenty-first, Friday night, the engagement and approaching marriage of Miss Norma Grace Reid and Vernon L. Odom was announced. Miss Reid is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Reid of 2505 Thirty-third and Mr. Odom is son of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Odom of Kermit.

An arrangement of daisies and lemon leaf centered the dinner table and each place was marked with a hand painted daisy booklet inscribed on the inside with "Norma Grace and Vernon, August 12"

Covers were laid for the honoree, her mother, the hostess, and Mesdames J. A. Atwood, Lattimore Ewing, Rex Webster, E. C. Smith, Vester Wolber, M. E. Witt, J. Ralph Grant, Lester Jones, W. E. Jones, Joe Nislar, Fred Brown, Vernice Ford, L. O. White and Miss Ruby Atwood.

The Odom-Reid wedding will be performed at First Baptist church at 8:30 o'clock in the morning on Friday, August 12.

Tint Hair In Subtle Color

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

Touch-up those gray hairs if your job, ego or good looks demand it.

No one shouts "hussy" at a rinse or dye job anymore. You're more likely to rate a chorus of admiring "oh's" and "ah's."

General acceptance is in order nowadays—old-time toxic dyes have been wiped out by strong government action. Violent platinums, brassy reds and royals have been frightened off by public opinion.

What remain as hair-color possibilities are subtle shades of brown, black, blonde and white achieved by using harmless rinses and dyes.

Dyes and tints are permanent hair colorings. Rinses, usually vegetable extracts, are temporary colorings which wash or fade away in short order.

Either way, rinse or tint, the trend is definitely toward natural-looking hair. You can even be eased back to your "old" hair color by successive tinting. And a wise idea, that, if your husband and children have to be sold by degrees on a younger-looking "mom."

There are some few cautions: A patch test is a must before any permanent hair coloring application. Peroxide and ammonia, the usual home bleach, are unstable in amateur hands. And the very best operator you can afford will be the cheapest in the long run.

No need to let grayed locks age you before your time, when there's a beauty salon on every corner ready to help you win your fight against nature.

Club Talk Is Based On Fitting Dresses

Fifteen members, including one new member, Mrs. Robert Elbert, and three guests, Misses Elizabeth Elliott and Karen Gearhart and Mrs. W. C. Neill, attended a Friday afternoon meeting of East Side Home Demonstration club in the home of Mrs. R. C. Wiley.

Miss Clara Pratt, county home demonstration agent, who spoke, told the women that a properly fitted dress is comfortable when the wearer stands, sits or moves around. "It is snug where fashion demands, but never feels tight or strained," she said.

Each person answered roll call with a point she had learned in making a dress. Mrs. N. B. Kelso and Mrs. Wiley led a recreation period.

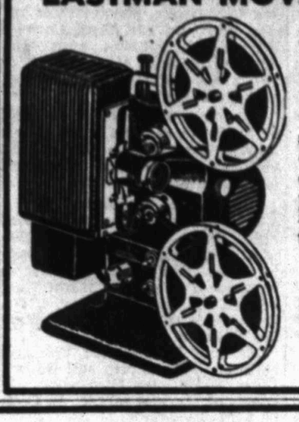

The club will study the making of aluminum and copper trays July 15 at Mrs. Guy B. Hilton's.

The Steep Rock mines in Ontario, Canada, have produced 3,500,000 tons of iron ore in the past three years.

Grated cheese is good mixed with sweet pickle relish and a little mayonnaise or mayonnaise-type salad dressing and used for a sandwich spread.

Hot kidney bean salad is delicious served with frankfurters. Add carrot sticks and celery wedges to the menu for good flavor and texture contrast.

ROMANTIC ANGLE NOT INVOLVED

Romeo Swindler Facing Charge Brought By California Victim

CHICAGO, July 2. (AP)—Sigmund (Sam) Engel, the swindling Romeo who's in jail on a charge of bilking a Chicago woman and is wanted in other cities on similar charges, appeared headed for a new bit of trouble today.

There was no romance or marriage involved in the latest swindle reportedly perpetrated by the little, 73 year old internationally known confidence man.

Attorney Daniel D. Carmell disclosed the newest victim of Engel's smooth talk relating to money matters. It was a straight confidence game with no courting, Carmell said, with Engel posing as a Secret Service agent and prominent broker.

Victim Fears Publicity

A San Francisco woman lost $16,000 to Engel, Carmell said, after he disappeared with the funds she gave him when he promised to bring her aged mother and relatives out of Hungary.

Carmell identified the woman as Mrs. Irene Grimes, 49, of 1950 Gouge street, San Francisco, who came here earlier this week after seeing Engel's picture in newspapers. At first she identified herself to Carmell and Capt. Daniel A. Gilbert of the state's attorney's office as "Mrs. Mary Ford," as she wanted to avoid publicity.

Carmell said he advised Mrs. Grimes to return to San Francisco and file a complaint against Engel. The attorney, in relating her account, said Mrs. Grimes told him that she met Engel in a San Francisco department store last April 13.

After she told him she was Hungarian, Mrs. Grimes was quoted by Carmell as saying, Engel spoke to her in Hungarian and "won my confidence in 10 minutes."

She told of her trouble to get her 81 year old mother and other relatives out of Budapest. Engel, using the name of Paul Berger, said he was a Secret Service agent and would be able to bring them to this country.

"He said he'd have them out in two weeks and that he would bring them to his ranch near Los Angeles," Mrs. Grimes' account related. "I was so happy."

On April 23, Mrs. Grimes said, she sold some stocks for $16,000 and turned the money over to Engel after he assured her he had a seat on the Los Angeles stock exchange and would buy U. S. Steel preferred stock for her.

Wouldn't Take Check

"He didn't want a check so I cashed it and gave him the bills," Mrs. Grimes said. "The next day when he didn't call me at the regular time I knew what happened."

"I wasn't a bit interested in him romantically," Mrs. Grimes told a reporter. "In fact, I don't see what all those other women saw in him. Why he's an old man, half dead."

The dapper Engel was arraigned in criminal court yesterday on a charge of swindling Mrs. Reseda Corrigan, 39 year old Chicago widow, of $8,700. His trial on a charge of operating a confidence game was set for Sept. 12. The hearing on his attorney's pleas for a reduction in his $50,000 bond was continued until next Tuesday.

Engel, returning to his county jail cell, told reporters:

"All the cases against me will collapse."

Graham bread took its name from Sylvester Graham, an American lecturer on temperance and food reform, who advocated bread made of wheat flour in which all the wheat except the husk is used.

Dear Buck,

Boy am I tired? I've been helping decorate the Larrymore Dance Studio. We are through with the remodeling and are in the middle of decorating it. I want you to come by and see what we are doing. We are working nite and day trying to finish before Rozanas, the famous acrobatic teacher, gets here. You know he will be here in two weeks to give that wonderful course. The interest is sure growing in his course. New students are coming in every day and starting to work out to get in shape. We are not charging these students anything for their acrobatic lessons.

I'll have a surprise for you next Sunday.

Sixty to 75 members of the Arnett family are expected to attend a reunion at the Spade ranch home of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. (Tom) Arnett this afternoon.

Drillsite of Sinclair No. 1 Ruth Reynolds, the other outpost, is 660 feet from south and 1,980 feet from west lines of section 33, block 32, T-6-N, EL&RR survey, which puts it one and one-half miles north and slightly west of the pay opener.

With rotary tools, the ventures are starting immediately. The pay formation is expected above 10,100 feet.

Well Is Plugged

In this same area, Caraway Drilling company has plugged and abandoned its No. 1 Cantrell, wildcat, after making water in a Pennsylvania reef, possible of Canyon age, in drilling to 8,747 feet.

The dry hole is 660 feet from north and east lines of section 22, block 32, T-6-N, TP survey.

Second producer in the Good field of south-central Borden county has been completed at Seaboard Oil company of Delaware and Pan American Production company No. 2 Good, outpost to the same companies' discovery from the Canyon lime of the Pennsylvanian to open the field.

From the Canyon pay at 7,909-8,005 feet, the new well made a 24-hour potential of 489 barrels of oil, flowing through a 14-64-inch choke. Gas-oil ratio was 959-1. No water was present.

It is located at the center of the northwest quarter of the southwest quarter of section 37, block 33, T-4-N, TP survey.

Also flanking this pool, Seaboard and Pan American were shutdown, trying to free stuck core barrel, with their No. 3 Good, located at the center of the southeast quarter of the northeast quarter of section 37, block 33, T-4-N, TP survey.

Shown For Production

It has already shown for Canyon production on cores and drillstem tests. It is scheduled to core ahead to water.

Details of the potential test, which has been reported just finished, were not available at the time this report was prepared.

Preceding the initial production gauge, the well had flowed at the hour and 15 minutes through perrate of 16 barrels of oil in one forations at 7,153-7,208 feet, which had been acidized with a total of 7,500 gallons.

Total depth was 10,530 feet, where water developed in the Devonian. Operator plugged back to complete from the Clear Fork.

Location is 631 feet from north and 610 feet from west lines of section 12, block A-23, psl survey.

THE QUESTION
Of what value is the Soap Box derby to a boy?

THE ANSWERS

C. W. McMILLAN, 1713 Twenty-third, owner of Lubbock News agency:

"It keeps the boys occupied for two or three months during their vacation period when they have leisure time on their minds. it's constructive for the boys in mechanics—in construction of different things. I know some men who can't drive a straight nail."

CHARLES R. DUNCAN, 1906 Eighteenth, rural mail carrier: "More reasons than one: Ambitions for the prize: energetic ambition in building their own vehicle, and then competition, too. It is one of the boys' greatest desires to win over others boys in some contest."

BOYD P. MILLSAP, 2102 Eighth, public accountant: "It takes a lot of those things to accumulate and take up a boy's time. There is the value of it. It keeps him out of meanness. There is the other side of it. You can't let boys play all the time. They have to have responsibilities and grow with those responsibilities. The Soap Box derby comes under the heading of play and also a good training program in a mechanical way. If someone doesn't find something for a boy to do, he'll find it himself and it's usually the wrong thing. The Soap Box derby, I would say, is something that's supervised, good, clean sport and it occupies a boy's time over a period of time."

A. L. FERGUSON, 2420 Taylor, owner of Ferguson Auto Supply Co.: "It might keep them out of meanness while they work on the soap box. It is good to leave the tools they borrow from the neighbors out in the rain and get them messed up."

JOE MOISE, 3315 Twenty-first, owner of Excel Frontier store: "It gives him some incentive to build something constructive instead of destructive. It keeps his mind busy in something that will keep him out of mischief. It is good pastime. It might develop a profession, if he sees he can do it capably."

CURTIS L. BOYD, 2910 Twenty-first, owner of C. L. Boyd gin: "It'll teach them to figure out their own ideas. A boy has to build his own machine. My boy has tried to build it like these new model cars. He surprised me."

BRUNETTE IN BOTTLE

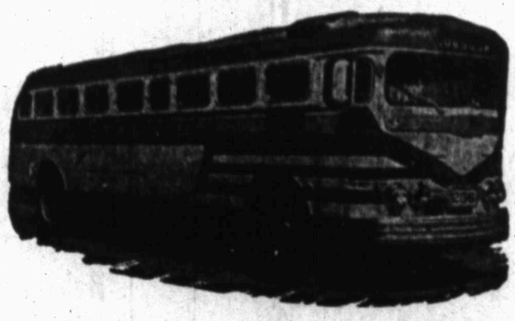

WASHINGTON, July 2 (AP) — Looking in one Washington shop's store window you'll think you see a pretty brunette in a perfume bottle. "It's done with diminishing lens," explains the brunette, Mona McHenry, a Baltimore model.

She stands inside a human-size transparent container which only looks like a regulation perfume bottle through the lens. The rest of the show window is blacked out.

ROAMING The CAP ROCK

by Edward Welsh

QUITE a few cotton growers in the Becton area caught hail last week. Among them were Ross Ayers, Clyde Garten, E. J. King and Bill and Mack Becton. Ayers said that at least 25,000 acres northeast of Idalou received 40 to 100 per cent damage. The sections that were completely destroyed are being replanted to maize but where damage is about 50 per cent or less the growers are letting it stand to make a decimated crop.

Expect Biggest Season

"All five Idalou gins are ready or are getting ready for the biggest season we have ever had," Bill Knutson said this week. "We have gotten our machinery in first class shape with some over-hauling and replacements. Other gins here in Idalou have been doing the same thing."

Motley County Agent J. R. Emmons is getting prepared for the worst grasshopper infestation in more than a decade. A 'mixing station' has been set up to distribute a compound of bran and poison. C. O. Middlebrook is in charge of the mixing station. He said that more than 40,000 pounds of the mixture was distributed in the past ten days.

Vic Streetman, manager of the Littlefield airport, made a mercy flight to San Antonio last week to pick up 14-year-old George White, jr., who was stricken recently by polio. Streetman flew the boy to Abilene where he will undergo special treatment. George is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George White, sr., Littlefield.

ACTIVITY has been brisk around the Littlefield airport this week. Jack Brooks and Alvin Mills both received their commercial pilots certificates and will now try for their instructor's ratings.

Insects Are Bombarded

Joe and Ed Walters, Littlefield druggists and flying enthusiasts, have put their two Aeronca Champions to work dusting vegetables and cotton in the Lamb county area. They cover a tremendous amount of acreage in a day in their bombardment of destructive insects.

Dove shooting ought to be better than usual this year. A drive along any highway about twilight stirs up hundreds of fat birds that should get fatter after feeding in the combined fields. The birds were most numerous along the Littlefield-Spring Lake road last week.

Joe Nix, a young agriculture student at Texas Tech, may never go into the poultry business but if he does he will be armed with an encyclopaedia of facts. Joe was in last week seeking details and statistics. After giving him what information we had we referred him to Jack Creel and County Agent Dave Shearrill. Joe is impressed with the fact that Lubbock consumes some 25,000 fryers and 11,000 cases of eggs each week 90 per cent of which is shipped in from South and East Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas.

THE problems that plagued the wheat men of Texas only a few days ago have shifted to South Dakota. Most of the harvest in Texas has been completed and the men and machines are moving northward. Oklahoma reports a surplus of men and equipment.

It might pay all grain producers to check with Walter Wells of the PMA about loans for storage bin construction. The proposition of an 85 per cent loan looks especially good as insurance and an investment for the future.

Cotton farmers requiring choppers should contact the Lubbock office of the Texas Employment Commission. It would also be wise at the same time to make arrangements for pickers. On the other hand any individuals or crews wanting to maintain steady employment should contact Vernon O'Farrell at the TEC. O'Farrell has scores of jobs listed.

AFRICAN HUNT TROPHIES ARRIVE—Trophies of an African safari made by Mr. and Mrs. W. G. McMillan and their son, Wm., jr., two years ago, arrived this week and the problem of getting an elephant head into the McMillan home's den on the Levelland road had to be solved. But McMillan, Lubbock contractor, had made provision for that when he built his home several years ago. A triple window was provided on the west side of the room so that the head could be moved in handily. Top left picture shows the head being moved in and top right shows it as it looks in place. The head is ten feet from tip to tip of ears and ten feet from the wall to tip of tusks. Hollowed out and filled with a paper maiche skull, the head weighs 600 pounds. Tusks were made of plaster paris to duplicate the real ivory, too heavy to be mounted on the wall. The real tusks are mounted on standards in the den. In the bottom picture, Mr. and Mrs. McMillan are shown standing behind a mounted lion, killed by their son, with other trophies of the hunt, cape buffalo, a rhino and a mounted leopard on the walls in the background. The trophies were hung in the den, now almost filled with trophies from all over the world, just 45 days short of two years from the time McMillan felled the big 14,000-pound elephant. The hunt was the climax of a 39-year boyish dream. (Staff Photos).

Televised Gambling Is Problem To Cops

LOS ANGELES, July 2 (AP)—A new racket is plaguing the beleaguered Los Angeles police force and its new chief, Maj. Gen. W. A. Worton of the U. S. Marines.

It is baseball gambling by television. Casinos are springing up in various sections of the city. Coupiers stand behind green tables and sing out frequently changing odds on plays of the game being televised.

Will the batter fly out, single, strike out? Will the runner go on the next pitch? There's betting action on every move, and of course, it's against the law.

Worton succeeds C. B. Horrall, who retired during a grand jury investigation of the police vice squad and underworld activities.

Belgian Premier To Seek Return Of King

BRUSSELS, Belgium, July 2 (AP)—The Social Christians, largest but not majority, party in Belgium, are trying to form a government which would call King Leopold back from exile.

Premier-Designate Paul Van Zeeland said yesterday he hopes to form a cabinet which will be able to call both houses of Parliament into session to decide whether to end the regency of Prince Charles, Leopold's brother.

Van Zeeland has been negotiating with both Socialists and Liberals.

The Socialists have said they will never permit the return of the king who is accused of being overfriendly with the Germans during World War II. The Liberals have not stated their position definitely.

During last week's elections the Social Christians campaigned for an aboslute majority which would have enabled them to bring back the king. Although they won most of the parliamentary seats they fell short of the desired goal.

AMARILLO GIRL SAILS

NEW YORK, July 2 (AP)—Eighteen-year-old Nancy Nichols, Girl Scout from Amarillo, Tex., was one of four Girl Scouts who sailed for Europe yesterday. They are winners of the Juliette Low world friendship awards.

Corn cobs, ground and sieved to a fineness comparable to corn meal, can be used instead of corn in making abrasive soaps, says the United State Department of Agriculture.

The whiskers of cats are special organs of touch. The base of each whisker is surrounded by many nerves, and the cat can feel the slightest pressure on the ends of the whiskers.

Labor Camps Not Put Under Federal Setup

WASHINGTON, July 2 (Special) None of the labor camps in Texas, built and occupied by migratory farm workers, will be put under the federal housing authority for operation, the House voted today, in killing a proposal to that effect by a vote of 158 to 99.

Camps in Texas are located at Harlingen, Lamesa, McAllen, Princeton, Raymondville, Robstown, Sinton and Weslaco.

All at present are let out by the Agriculture department to local housing or farm groups under use permits with the exception of the camp at Princeton which has been sold to the local housing authority.

Rep. W. R. Poage, 11th district, Waco, arose when Rep. Harold Coolley, D., N. C., was attacking the proposal to put these camps under supervision of the federal housing authority.

"Texas' name has been mentioned here as one place where these camps are located," said Poage. "I am sure that every community where these camps are located in Texas would like to have these camps turned over to the local authority and not go to some kind of rural slum authority."

The automotive industry now produces as many vehicles in a day —23,000—as it produced in the entire year of 1904.

Heiress Beulah Louise Overell Marries Los Angeles Policeman

NORTH HOLLYWOOD, July 2 (AP)—Beulah Louise Overell, 26-year-old heiress acquitted of murder in the yacht blast death of her parents, is honeymooning at home today with Robert Cannon, Los Angeles policeman.

They were married yesterday in First Christian Church. Louise entered the church on the arm of her uncle, Fred Jungquist. Another uncle, Emmanuel Jungquist, who appeared as a prosecution witness in the 1947 trial, was not present.

Louise and her former sweetheart, George Gollum, were freed on charges of killing Financier and Mrs. Walter E. Overell at Newport Harbor in 1947.

It was Cannon's third marriage. Their honeymoon trip was deferred until his vacation in a few weeks.

"Captive" Boy Shuns Mother

BOSTON, July 2 — Boston's "captive" boy was in the country today with other kids in preference to joining his mother.

Gerald Sullivan, 14, who was hidden from the world most of his life because of his illegitimacy, declined yesterday to join his mother.

Released from state custody after her lawyer, Daniel J. O'Connell, posted $10,000, the boy refused to go to his 45-year-old mother, Mrs. Anna Sullivan.

"I don't want to go with you," the boy protested as he was turned over to the lawyer. "I don't want to live with my mother. Let me stay here."

Gerald was found barefooted in tattered girl's clothing his long hair streaming over his shoulders four months ago near the Sullivan home.

Lawyers Take Boy

He told police he had been held in the family tenement most of his life with no association with the outside world. Mrs. Sullivan was quoted by authorities as saying she kept the boy indoors because of the "shame" of his illegitimacy. He was born while Mrs. Sullivan was separated from her husband.

O'Connell persuaded the boy to go with him after promising not to take him to his mother. The lawyer told him he would take him "for a visit in the country with other boys" and assured him a good time.

The attorney did not disclose their destination, however.

Gerald, who has been living in a convalescent home, had twice previously shunned his mother.

Mrs. Sullivan, free in $2,000 bail after being sentenced to the women's reformatory for an indefinite term for neglect of the child, was not with O'Connell when he took the boy away. She remained in seclusion at her home.

She has appealed the reformatory sentence.

Lubbock Public School Students Will Be Given Holiday Monday

All classes in the Lubbock Public school's free summer session will receive a holiday on Monday, July 4, according to Supt. R. W. Matthews. Classes will be resumed at the regular time on Tuesday, July 5, Matthews said.

Work for the first semester of summer school will be concluded on Tuesday, July 12, Matthews said, with enrollment for the second semester scheduled for Wednesday, July 13.

Faculty and classes for the second semester as announced by Miss Dorothy Lomax, director of secondary education, are as follows: Senior High, Floyd Honey, principal; Paul Branom, band; Pat Farriss, Bert Locke and Joe Bob Foster, recreation; D. M. Howell, Summer Playhouse; Mrs. Mary McDaniel, personal typing; and Miss Gertrude Watson, homemaking; Junior High, Jay Gordon, principal; Dewitt Alexander, recreation; and Lanne Hope, band and orchestra.

Across a 350-miles stretch of wilderness in Labrador there is believed to be a solid trough of iron ore running anywhere from 10 to 60 miles wide.

Arguments Over Baby's Looks Result In Chicago Divorce

CHICAGO, July 2 (AP) — The main argument at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Brantl involved the looks of their year old son, Thomas, the mother testified in a divorce action in circuit court yesterday.

Mrs. Brantl, 24 year old secretary, said since birth of her son, life has been a continuous quarrel as to whether the boy looked more like his father, also 24, or his mother.

She was granted a divorce by Judge Julius H. Miner.

College Student Recovering In Hospital After Being Lost Four Days In Yosemite

YOSEMITE, Calif., July 2 (AP) —Joan Thompson, 19-year-old Mills college student from Palo Alto, was recovering in Yosemite hospital today from the rigors of four days and nights spent while lost in one of the wildest sections of Yosemite national park.

Except for cuts, scratches and bruises Joan apparently was none the worse for her experience when three volunteer searchers found her at 1:30 p. m. yesterday.

She was able to accompany them out unassisted to the place where the park's patrol wagon picked her up. She reached park headquarters here at 7:30 p. m. and was placed in the hospital for rest and observation.

Already in the hospital with a brokne ankle was her 22-year-old sister, Patti, who had lain injured, alone and in pain, on a rock ledge for three days before rangers found her Thursday.

The girls, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Thompson, went for a hike Monday without saying where they were going. When Patti was injured, Joan struck out for help and became lost.

The girls have been working at a restaurant in the park during summer vacation.

"MONTE CARLO" SYSTEM STUDIED

Science To "Out-Guess" Atom By New Mathematical Methods

LOS ANGELES, July 2 (AP) — Your bomb shelter in any future atomic war may be safer as a result of a conference this week between mathematicians and physicists.

"The problem of how to shield civilians from radiation in an atomic explosion may be nearer solution because of this symposium on the Monte Carlo method," Dr. J. H. Curtiss, chief of the Applied Mathematics division of the National Bureau of Standards, said.

The "Monte Carlo method," details of which were top secret during the war, is a new way of solving mathematical equations. It recognizes that there are certain elements of chance in figuring where a high-speed missil — or a particle from an exploded atom will go.

Radiation Studied

If you were a worker in an atomic bomb factory, you'd have to be shielded from certain tiny but deadly particles of radiation. If scientists can determine in advance where these particles are most likely to hit, they can give you better protection.

The trouble is, these particles don't follow any known pattern but move about at random. By using new electronic computing machines, however, scientists hope to "out-guess" the wild particles and predict the paths most of them are likely to take.

If they can do this, the protective shields in atomic energy plants — or in bomb shelters of the future — will be more effective.

"In a sense," Dr. Curtis said yesterday, "Monte Carlo is the story of roulette and atomic energy. Games of chance, like roulette or dice, can be analyzed statistically in accordance with the laws of probability. So, we hope, can the trajectories of radiation particles and other moving objects.

Play Fantastic Game

"In complicated cases, the solution of such problems requires extensive computations, and this is why the advent of automatic electronic computers is so important to the Monte Carlo method.

"Here we have a numbers racket to end all numbers rackets: one in which scientists and mathematicians join to play a fantastic game."

Attending the symposium were representatives of a business-machine corporation, the Atomic energy commission, the Bureau of Standards, and the Rand corporation. The Rand corporation, mere existence of which once was a military secret, is a privately-financed research group currently devoted to government projects. The three-day conference, which ended yesterday, was held on the University of Calofornia's Los Angeles campus.

Many countries hold national elections on Sunday because on that day business will be least interfered with and the most voters are free to come to the poles.

EXPECT 40,000 BOYS IN RACES

Soap Box Derby Races To Be Held In 150 Cities; Finals On Aug. 14

(See Pictures Pages 3, 4, 5, 6, 8)

The twelfth annual All-American Soap Box Derby, a thrilling sports event for boys which each year increases in size and national importance, will be held this year in 150 American communities, with the final championship race in Akron, O., August 14.

The Derby is a downhill race for boys from 11 to 15 years of age, who compete in gravity-powered cars which they build themselves. It is believed that more than 40,000 boys will participate in the 150 local races this year, and that an estimated 4,000,000 persons will witness one of the many phases of the Derby activity.

From Villages To Cities

The communities where an official Derby will be held this year, co-sponsored by the Chevrolet Motor Division, a local newspaper, and a local civic group, range in size from large cities like Philadelphia and Los Angeles to small towns like Woodstock, Ill. and Opelika, Ala. In addition to those in the continental United States, there are two in Canada, one in Alaska and one in Panama.

"Chevrolet is proud of the Soap Box Derby," said T. H. Keating, general sales manager of the Chevrolet Motor Division. "It is the most outstanding racing event for boys in the country. Furthermore, we believe that its growing popularity among boys is a reflection of the wholesome good it does in promoting true American sportsmanship. The Derby builds boys, and in so doing, helps to build America."

The Derby is planned and executed with the interest of the boy participants always uppermost in the minds of the sponsors. Furthermore, every boy has an equal opportunity to emerge from the thrilling competition as the national champion, with nationally-recognized honors and the grand prize, a four-year college scholarship. The runner-up receives a Chevrolet sedan.

Uniform rules govern the Derby in every local race and in the national finals, and these rules outlaw professionalism of any kind. Furthering the aim of keeping the event exclusively for boys, participation by parents in the construction of the miniature racing cars is outlawed. To insure democracy in the race, no car may cost more than $6 plus the price of steering gear and the commercially-built wheel-and-axle set.

Testify To Boys' Ingenuity

Constructing the cars requires designing ability and mechanical dexterity, and these facets of the modern boys' make-up are sharpened by the stiff Derby competition. The cars they build often feature astonishingly new elements of design and fine details of craftsmanship, testifying to the ingenuity of the American boy.

The 1949 rules, fixed by the National Derby Rules Committee, open the race more fully to boys of average mechanical ability by eliminating fancy, super-streamlined designs and forbidding the use of power tools. The 1949 Derby car will resemble more closely the prototype cars of 1934, when the Derby was started. There will be no windshields, no closed cockpits, and the steering wheel must be so arranged that the driver will look over the top of the car.

Safety Is Stressed

As always, the rules stress safety both for drivers and spectators, and the careful construction of steering mechanism, brakes, axle mountings, frame and body.

The Rules Committee, which annually sets the pace for the Derby, is compsed of the National Derby Contest Board and the Newspaper Advisory Committee. The main body of the rules is unchanged from year to year, though changes in the past two years are more significant than heretofore. These uniform rules cover Derby race, from the smallest to the largest, including the national finals.

Conducted Under National Rules

Supervision over the broad general program of the Derby is thus maintained by these national committees, and by Chevrolet, but the newspaper at each sponsoring point conducts its own race under the national rules.

To enter the local, newspaper-sponsored Soap Box Derby, a boy must apply to his local Chevrolet dealer with at least one of his parents. There he signs registration forms, receives a copy of the new, fully illustrated rule book, and is ready to begin the building of his racing car.

In each locality, the champion and many of the place-winners are awarded trophies and handsome prizes. First place trophy in each community, the handsome W. F. Armstrong award, is given by Chevrolet. It is named in honor of the general manager of the Chevrolet Motor Division, an enthusiastic Derby sponsor. It is a three-dimensional plaque showing a miniature racing car being flagged across the finish line in front of a giant Derby emblem. It is done in silver and enameled colors on a background of highly-polished birch.

Many Prizes Offered

Chevrolet also gives two sets of gold, silver and bronze tie-clasps as place awards for local race finalists in two classes. In addition, the local newspaper and local merchants give trophies of valuable merchandist awards.

The most thrilling prize going to the local champion from each community is a trip to Akron to compete in the national finals, as representative of his home town. He is the guest of his sponsoring newspaper on the trip, and of Chevrolet during a four-day week end at Akron.

Champions Honored Guests

During the national Derby week end, the 150 local champions will stay at "Derbytown," a camp outside the city of Akron, where planned recreation will be afforded them at all times. They will be honored guests of the city and of various Akron industrial firms for special events, plant tours, and outings. They also will have an opportunity for a trial run down the track at Derby Downs before the race, and for completely checking their cars to put them in top condition for the big event, which takes place on Sunday, August 14.

Spectators come from all parts of the country to see boydom's greatest classic. For the past several years the track has been flanked on Derby Day with nearly 75,000 people. They are accommodated in grandstands and in standing room along the beautiful, downhill racecourse which has been especially constructed for the Derby and which, today is the most modern and efficient racing plant of its kind in the world.

Champions Banquet Held

After the race, the local champions all are guests of honor at the Champions' Banquet, where they sit at the largest speakers' table in the world. The national champion is honored with prizes and trophies, as are all five top-place winners in the national event.

But each local champion also receives a wrist watch and diploma as prize for winning his own race, and every boy emerges from the banquet still a champion.

In addition to the place-winners' prizes, special awards are given in the local and national races for the best-designed car, the best-upholstered car, the best-constructed car the car with the best brakes and the car which ran the fastest heat in the finals.

Ohio Boy Won In 1948

The 1948 winner was Donnie Strub, a 14-year-old boy from Warren, O., who previously had won the local race sponsored by the Akron Beacon-Journal. This was the local race nearest Donnie's home town. Young Strub's victory was a thriller. In a sleek car of autstanding design and workmanship he fought his way to victory over tough competition in every one of the heats in which he raced.

Since the first national Derby in 1934, eleven other national champions have been tested in gruelling competition and emerged triumphant. The Derby was not run during the war years.

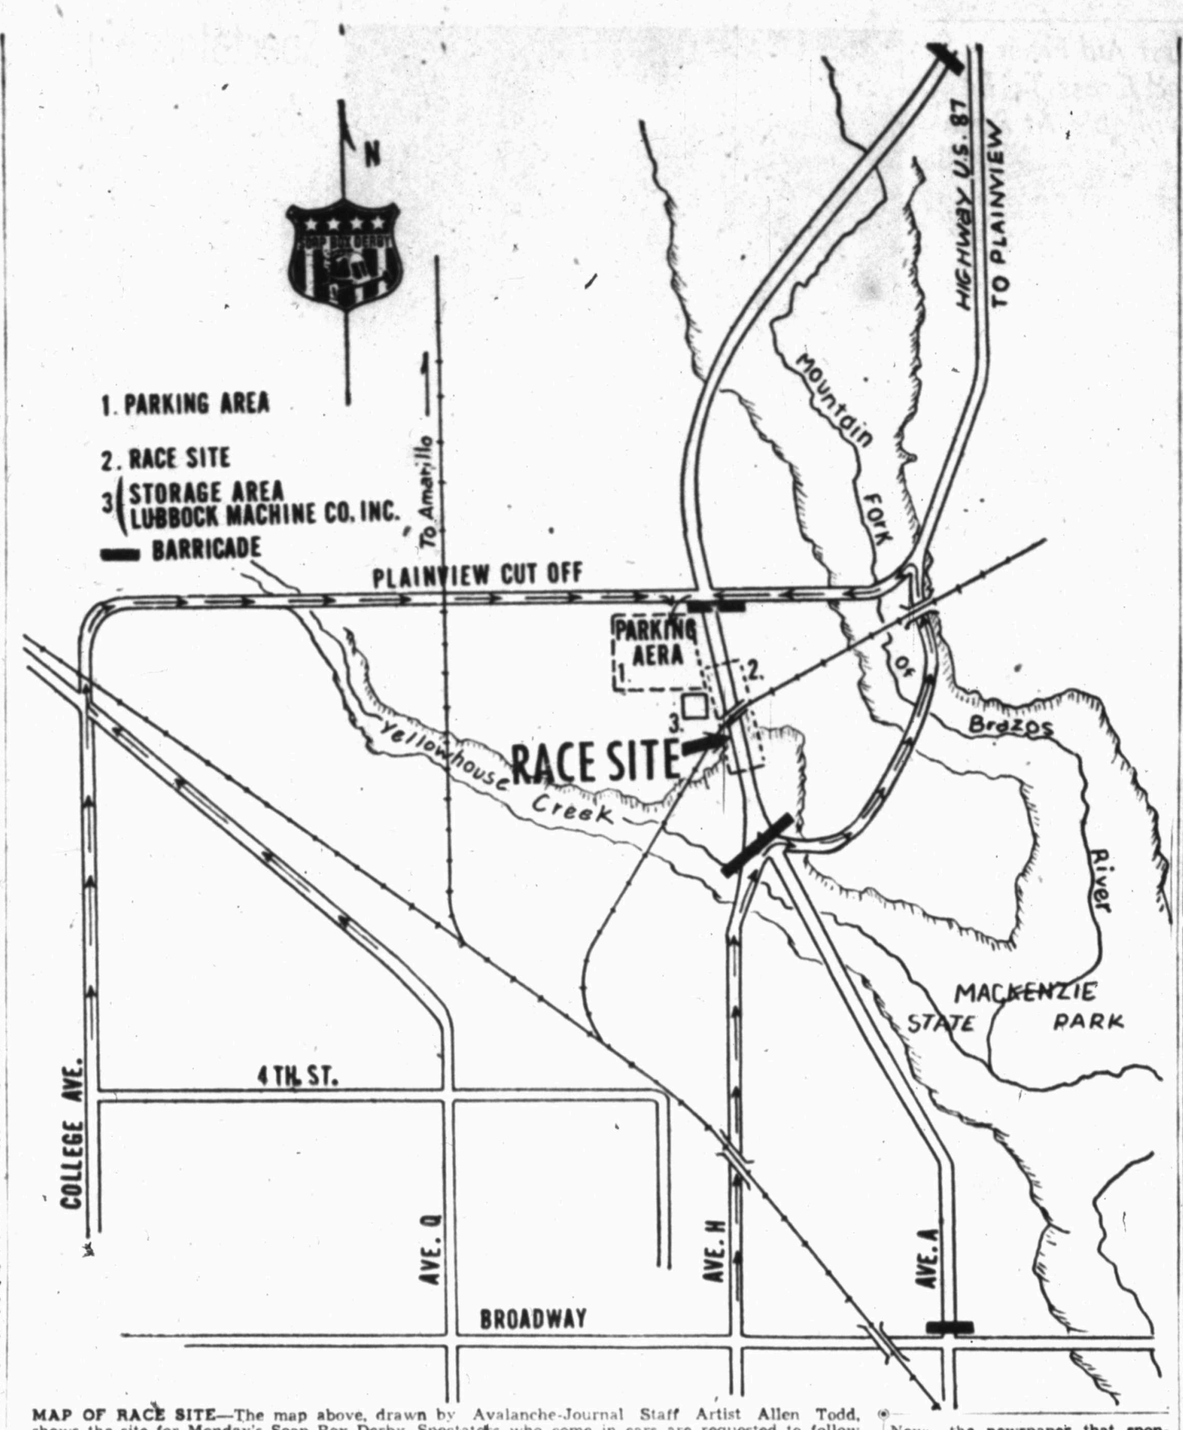

Indiana Boy Was First Winner

The first winner, in 1934, was Robert Turner, of Muncie, Ind., who is now in business in that city. Maurice E. Bale, jr., of Anderson, Ind., the 1935 champion, served in the Air Forces, is married and a father, and graduates from Purdue university this year. Herbert E. Muench, jr., who won in 1936, was in the Army, is married and now lives in his native St. Louis where he is employed.

Robert L. Ballard, who lived in White Plains, N. Y., when he won the 1937 Derby, is to complete an engineering course at Worcester Polytechnical Institute in 1949. The 1938 champion, Robert L. Berger, of Nebraska City, Neb., is married and a father, and is studying medicine. Clifton W. Hardesty, jr., who won the race in 1939, also lived in White Plains, N. Y. He is in the Army. The 1940 champion, Thomas D. Fisher, of Detroit, is a student at Wayne University and wants to be a newspaperman. He worked last summer for the Detroit News, the newspaper that sponsored the Derby which he won. The 1941 champion, Claude Smith, of Akron, served in the Army and returned to study at Hiram college, Hiram, O. He is married.

The first postwar Derby in 1946 was won by Gilbert Klecan, of San Diego, who is to graduate from high school in 1949. He plans to study medicine. Kenneth Holmboe, the 1947 champion, of MAP OF RACE SITE—The map above, drawn by Avalanche-Journal Staff Artist Allen Todd, shows the site for Monday's Soap Box Derby. Spectators who come in cars are requested to follow the arrows for traffic as drawn on the map. There will be plenty of parking space for several thousand cars as sketched on the map. Hillsides on each side of the race course will provide ample view of the race for spectators. Spectators may bring old quilts, blankets or tarps along and sit down. Plenty of refreshments and hotdogs will be available at stands operated by Lubbock Exchange club members at several points adjoining the race course. Exchange club members will "hawk" cold drinks and sandwiches among the race crowd throughout the day also. The parking area, marked by the numeral 1, is being donated free by E. P. McAdams, Lubbock landowner. McAdams owns considerable industrial and wholesale acreage in the area.

Youth Watches Police Search For His Body In Miami River

MIDDLETOWN, O., July 2 (AP)—Thirteen-year-old Ovo Kakaris hid in some weeds along the great Miami river yesterday and watched police search for his body.

His brother, Edward, 7, had notified his parents Ova disappeared in the river while trying to rescue his pet dog.

An onlooker noticed movement in the weeds. Police investigated and found Ova. He was naked.

"I was ashamed to come out," the lad said.

Gordon Graves Ready For Derby With Speedy Silver Streak Racer

Weighing in at 100 pounds and with typical boyish enthusiasm, Gordon Graves, son of Mr. and Mrs. Holland Graves, 3303 26th street, is completing the finishing touches to his racer and anxiously awaits the starter's gun of the Soap Box Derby scheduled for July 4.

Young Graves is in the sixth grade at Roscoe Wilson School. When studies are completed his interest turns to various hobbies. During the winter months he interests himself in leather work and has made many articles for his parents, relatives and friends His stamp collection is large and complete.

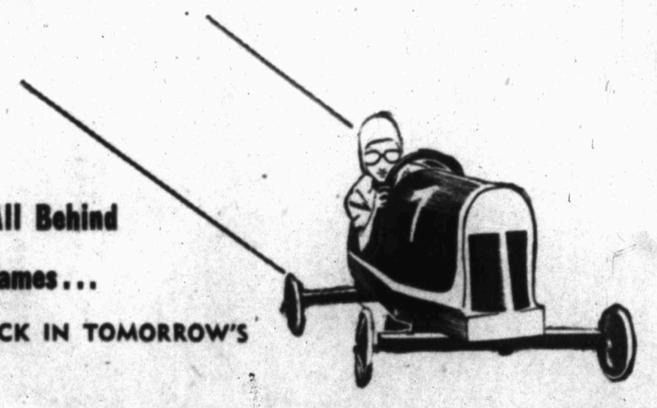

Like his father, who is service manager at Kuykendall Chevrolet company, Gordon is handy with tools, and this is evident in the sleek look of his Soap Box racer which he has built entirely by himself according to plans and specifications furnished by Derby officials. His racer is silver aluminum with red, white and blue trims. Even the driver's seat has a touch of modernism as it is covered with blue plaid straw upholstery fashioned like seat covers for an automobile.

Gordon, being only eleven years old, will be an entrant in the Class B division of the Soap Box Derby. He confidently states, "This is my first year to enter the race, and this one will be for experience, for I know it will take me a couple of years to learn how to properly build the racer that will win. That's when the boys better look out for me."

This is the second year of this classic event and Baldridge Bakery sponsors young Graves in this year's races. adv.

Ability To Drive Straight Course Is Important In Derby, Shaw Says

BY WILBUR SHAW
President, Indianapolis Motor Speedway
Referee, All-American Soap Box Derby

One of the parallels between Soap Box Derby racing and driving a fast motor car on a speedway is the ability of the driver to steer a straight course.

Time and again in the Soap Box Derby it has been proved that the boy who can steer his car along Derby Downs straight as an arrow is the boy who wins. Past champions have established this, and the 1949 champion will undoubtedly prove to be no exception.

But before you can steer a straight course, boys, your steering apparatus must be in perfect condition. It must be firm and rigid; it must be built to last. Only with such steering gear can you race with perfect safety to yourself and to other contenders, or can you win.

I always have admired the careful inspection that is given to every car in the race, with special attention to safety features. This means attention to steering gear and to the brake. Boy drivers must learn not only to steer straight, but to slow down gradually at the end of the run. Sudden stops often make the car swerve and are dangerous. If the brake is not exactly centered at the rear of the car, it also may cause accidents. These factors can greatly be minimized by the combination of thorough inspection and careful driving.

The Derby, too, is a great teacher of good sportsmanship. No boy, whether he is a losing entrant in a local race or wins the National Finals, can emerge from Derby competition without learning a good lesson in sportsmanship. He learns to think of the other fellow as well as of himself, and learns to congratulate the winner and console the loser.

In short, boys, drive straight, stop slowly and be a good sport.

These are the axioms of good Derby practice.

Lt. SPECIAL RACE — These two boys pictured above Billy Mack Whorton, left, and Thurmon Lee Pryor, right, had the misfortune of being declared ineligible to run in the Soap Box Derby because they turned 16 since registering in the Derby. They will run in a special race along with any other boys who are disqualified for one reason or another. The rule clearly states that no boys who are 16 before Aug. 14 may run in the Derby. Standard Milling Co. sponsored Whorton and Newsome Paint & Supply Co. is sponsor for Pryor.

Tennessee Open-Air Court House Yields To Progress

SELMER, Tenn., July 2. (U.P.)—McNairy County residents have built a new court house. It was not because the old one wore out but because it was a traffic hazard.

The old structure was built in 1891, in the days before automobiles. When cars came along, motorists approaching the court house sometimes came over a steep hill too fast and the highway seemed to go right through the court house. When doors at each end of the building were open, it looked like an underpass. Every now and then a hasty motorist would drive right into the court house.

First Aid From Red Cross To Be Available At Race

Red Cross First Aid will be on the job Monday at the Soap Box Derby.

Four Red Cross first aid instructors, Mose Hood, Dick Crandall, Bob Edwards and Mrs. Marion Lee Rowe, will be on hand at a Red Cross tent at the track to administer first aid.

Dr. Lee Hale will supervise the unit and four Boy Scouts will be on hand to deliver messages.

Supplies including splints, medicines and bandages, will be furnished by the Red Cross.

Shanghai Startled As American Woman Breaks Barricade

SHANGHAI, July 2 (AP)—Pretty Mrs. Randall Gould, the way the Communist press told it today, is five feet one inch of something like dynamite.

It seems, according to the Chinese newspapers, she got tired of being barricaded in the Gould apartment yesterday by workers of her editor-husband's Shanghai Post and Mercury.

Workers Banged-Up

The workers had besieged the apartment in an attempt to get Gould to resume publication of the American-owned English-language paper. He suspended it last week, saying it was apparent he could no longer exercise editorial control under the Red regime.

The Chinese papers didn't see eye to eye on what happened. But the general idea was that she forced her way out of the apartment, leaving some banged-up Chinese workers behind.

The workers had control of the hallway outside the Gould apartment when Mrs. Gould started operation exit. She shoved open the kitchen door. In the hallway she encountered resistance.

Couple Gets Out

What happened next wasn't made clear by the papers. One said two of the workers were slightly injured and a third was taken to a hospital.

There was agreement on one thing though: Very shortly, Mrs. Gould walked out the front entrance of the apartment house.

And Mr. Gould? Well, he finally got out, too. Communist authorities broke up the rhubarb at the apartment because they feared violence. He and the workers went to his office downtown. They're still arguing there.

Traffic Problem Is Solved By Construction Of Tunnel

SALEM, Ore., July 2. (U.P.)—The state has started a tunnel under Court Street from the capitol to its new office building rising across the way.

Gov. Douglas McKay said the tunnel stands to pay its way and more in time saved in needed travel from the capitol to the $2,000,000 office building.

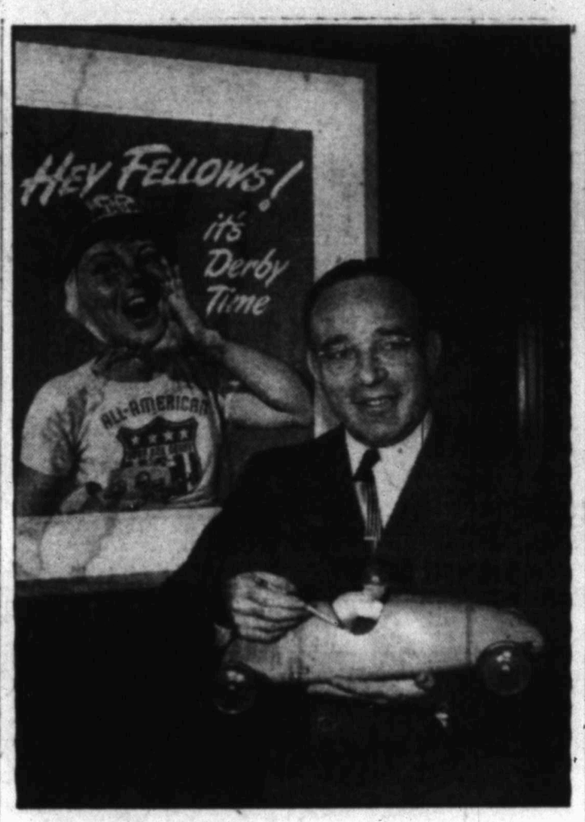

Court Street takes the Pacific highway, which knifes unbroken from British Columbia to Mexico, through the center of Salem, and traffic past the state house is something to see. Thanks to the tunnel, Court Street traffic will move unmolested by state employe pedestrians. And state employe pedestrians will move from structure to structure unmolested by Court Street traffic.

U. S. Must Guard Dwindling Resources, Professor Warns

SAN FRANCISCO, July 2. (U.P.)—Even if atomic power ultimately is applied to civilian needs, the United States still must maintain strict guard over its dwindling natural resources, according to Dr. Siegfried V. Wantrup of the University of California.

Speaking before a forum here on "Man and the Atomic Age," Dr. Wantrup said inadequate conservation laws are responsible for the depletion of the country's land, forest, animal and water resources.

"Natural resources," Dr. Wantrup said, "frequently are used wastefully, not because of population pressure, technological backwardness or anti-social attitudes, but because resource users cannot help it under existing social institutions."

TEXAS AND SOUTH HARDEST HIT

Polio Shows Rapid Increases; Could Signify Worst Year Yet

BY ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, July 2—The polio virus is striking farther and faster so far this year than last.

By the third week of June, 37 states had more cases than a year ago. The number of new cases each week was running about 10 per cent higher over the nation.

This could signal the worst year yet for polio. Last year was the second worst in the country's history, with 27,894 new cases.

But there's no way to predict what will happen in the next few months, the most dangerous ones for epidemics. The rate might keep going faster and higher, or change suddenly.

Hangover Cases Reported

The Public Health service reported 2,309 cases by June 19, or 36 per cent more than last year at that time. But more than 900 of this year's cases were really hangovers from 1948. They came from epidemics that began late last year, and which didn't die down until early this year.

One danger signal is that the virus is so widespread this year, said Dr. Hart E. Van Riper, medical director of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

That means it may be spread easily to people who haven't been exposed to it in the last few years. The best medical guess is that it spreads by person to person contact.

An encouraging fact is that no statewide epidemics had appeared yet, such as swept North Carolina in 1948.

The picture in late June, Dr. Van Riper said, pointed to two potential danger areas.

South Hard Hit

One is a circle of southern states—Texas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Arkansas and Oklahoma. The rate this year is higher in all of them, and all but Texas escaped severe outbreaks last year.

Texas was one of the hard-hit states in 1948, with the epidemic centering along the Rio Grande Valley. This year, most of the Texas cases so far are in Tom Green county and other areas some 200 miles to the northwest.

Texas had 555 cases by the third week in June, compared with 501 at that time last year. Louisiana had 44, against 29; Mississippi 56 against nine; Arkansas 56 against 13, and Oklahoma 99 against 14.

The second potential danger area is the northeastern states, including New England. The rate is up in all those states except New York and New Hampshire.

The states in this region are densely populated, and haven't had bad epidemics recently. New England has escaped really severe outbreaks since 1935. If an epidemic started in the northeast, it might travel quickly and easily because of the crowded population.

Polio Rates Rising

There was no sign yet of any epidemic in this region, Dr. Van Riper said. Massachusetts and Maine had localized outbreaks, but they hadn't spread outward to other areas.

Massachuetts had 28 cases by June 19, compared with three a year before; Maine 10 against zero; Connecticut seven against one; Rhode Island one against zero; Vermont three against one, and New Hampshire zero, the same as last year.

New Hampshire was the only state in the union without a single case of polio at that date. Virginia was even with last year, with 12. The states reporting fewer cases than last year were Idaho, Indiana, Iowa, Montana, Nebraska, New York, North Carolina, Ohio and Pennsylvania.

ARTIFICIAL GEM TRADE

Rhinestones and other artificial gems, the product of expert Tyrolese craftsmen, are being exported by Austria in increasing quantities, Vienna reports.

Spectators Must Abide By Rules

The boys who enter the Soap Box Derby, their parents and the spectators along the track, all must be willing to abide by the rules of the race so that it will be the colorful, thrilling spectacle, devoid of accidents, that official races always have been.

For the competitors, it behooves them to drive a straight course, to have their car under control at all times, and to observe both the letter and spirit of the regulations.

Track Must Be Clear

To parents and spectators, the primary word of warning is to help keep the track absolutely clear at all times.

The men who operate the race take every precaution possible to insure safety of contestants and spectators alike. It is up to participants and spectators to cooperate with them in achieving the same goal.

Most Derby race courses are flanked by fencing or roped off. Unless all spectators stay behind these fences, either sitting quietly in the grandstands or standing at some vantage point along the track, the safety of some youthful driver may be imperiled.

Finish Line Important

A clear track at all times is essential. In the 1948 Akron local race, a dog running across the track was hit by one of the cars as it raced down the hill. Fortunately, neither dog nor driver was hurt, but it was a case in point to show the dangers of obstacles on the track.

The finish line is perhaps the most essential point to keep clear. It is impossible for the judges in a local race to determine the winner unless they have absolutely free vision.

One of the most crucial times is before and after the final heat, when excitement runs high. At this time spectators seem to be drawn, as if by a huge unseen magnet, on to the track. They must be kept back at all costs, and spectators must not object to police restrictions at this time.

Seneca Indian Tribes Demand Cut Of Niagara Falls Wampum

SALAMANCA, N. Y., July 2. (U.P.)—The Seneca Indian Nation is demanding a share of New York State's income from the Niagara River.

John Snyder of Quaker Bridge, N. Y., discloses that the Senecas are planning to file a claim with the U. S. Indian claims commission for money allegedly due them. Snyder recently appeared before a congressional committee in Washington to oppose a bill extending the state's civil jurisdiction over Indians within the state.

One of the Indians' contentions, Snyder said, was that New York State has received more than $1,000,000 for water rentals from the Niagara Falls Power Company. The claimants maintain these rentals rightfully belong to the Indians because the state has granted patents to land to which it had no legal title.

Basis for the claim, Snyder explained, was the Hartford Agreement between New York and Massachusetts in 1786, whereby western New York was involved in division of pre-emption rights of territory belonging to the Seneca Nation.

TEEN-AGE MOVIE MAKERS

ST. CLOUD, Minn., July 2. (AP)—Hollywood's movie makers could take lessons in economy from teen-agers at the St. Cloud Riverview Junior high school. An all-student movie, entitled "Minnesota Memories," was produced on a total budget of $16.

Elmira, N. Y., was named for the daughter of an early settler, whose name is supposed to have echoed through the valley when her mother called her.

The use of protective goggles in navy and other shipyards during the war is reported to have reduced eye injuries about 75 per cent.

Each Year A Few New Rules Are Added And Others Changed In Derby; Basic Rule Says Tiny Racers Must Be Built By Youngsters

Each year a few new rules are added to the official All-American Soap Box Derby rule book, and others are changed, so it is important for boys who are entering the Derby competition to study the rule book carefully.

The book, circulated through Chevrolet dealers, contains the official rules and illustrations which help Derby contestants to interpret the rules and to follow the text. Every applicant receives a rule book when he signs up to enter the Derby.

The National Rules Committee of the Derby is made up of representatives of certain sponsoring newspapers and of the group that is in charge of the operation of the National Final race. Every year this committee goes over the rules in an all-day meeting and makes changes that are thought to be necessary.

Safety Is Chief Aim

"Most of the changes are to make it easier for all boys to compete in the race on an equal basis," said Charles J. French, executive director of the Derby and advertising manager of the Chevrolet Motor Division, national co-sponsor of the race. "The changes of the past two years have stressed this point particularly, and also are aimed at making the race even safer than it has been in the past."

Changes for the 1948 race eliminated transparent windshields. Some boys had been taking advantage of this feature, and making their cars look like "submarines on wheels" by using transparent material all along the entire cowling. Hand brakes were eliminated because it had been discovered that foot-operated brakes were the only safe type.

Power Tools Eliminated

This year, the Committee decided to eliminate the use of power tools in Derby racing car construction and finishing.

"We feel that this rule will tend even more to give all boys an equal chance in the race," said French. "It means that boys who do not have access to power tools will be on the same basis as those who used to have the advantage of power tools.

"Most cars in the past were made with hand tools, and the boys did splendid work on these cars. We expect that the 1949 cars, all made exclusively with hand tools, will be just as fine."

Boy Must Build Car

There is one basic rule which boys must never forget: every car must be built only by the boy who enters the race. This means no help from parents, friends or any adults.

Other rule changes are:

The weight allowance has been changed, with the only restriction being 250 pounds on the car and boy together. The 150-pound limit on the car itself has been dropped.

The steering wheel may extend above the 28-inch heighth of the car. Another rule provides that the steering wheel must be no less than eight inches in diameter, and that there must be a two-inch clearance between the rim of the wheel and any part of the car or driver's body.

The prohibition against transparent material of any kind is continued, and a new rule provides for a cockpit opening on each side of the car. The lowest part of this opening must be no more than 10 inches from the floor of the car.

Cost Limit $6

The cost limit remains the same, at $6 plus the cost of wheels and commercially-made steering devices.

At the Akron Finals, it is provided in the rules that the National Contest Board may, at its own option, remove the wheels from all competing cars in the championship race Aug. 14, and furnish all contestants with new wheels, free of charge. Such wheels would have been broken in equally, and would be used to give all the competing champions an equal chance at the national championship.

Shell Oil Company To Have Lubricant Lift Here For Derby

Shell Oil company, one of the participants in the All-American Soap Box Derby, is sending two representatives to Lubbock to aid in the running of Lubbock's second Derby, despite the fact that Shell does not distribute its products in this area.

H. F. Mulvaney, director of public relations for Shell at Houston, has notified local Derby officials that besides furnishing cans of Shell lubricant for the boys in the race and offering an X-Acto Tool Master Chest for the best constructed car in the race, the company will also have a lubricant lift here for the race Monday.

Each boy's car will be raised on the lift and lubricated before it goes onto the starting ramp at the starting line.

Harry Ellis, public relations representative of the company, from Tulsa, arrived here Saturday and began making preparations for participation in Monday's race.

Royal Mansion Trailer Will Be Used By Race Officials

Race officials will have a spacious and comfortable Royal Mansion trailer at their disposal at the Soap Box Derby Monday through courtesy of M. D. Brooks of the Brooks Trailer Sales, 2411 Texas avenue.

The trailer, with three rooms, will be available for public inspection during the Derby also.

Charleston, W. Va., is a high school student and a good athlete. He hopes to study engineering in college.

Myron E. Scott, national Derby director, was a newspaper photogrpapher in Dayton, Ohio, when he originated the idea of the Derby in 1933. Scott today is assistant advertising manager of the Chevrolet Motor Division. C. J. French, advertising manager of Chevrolet, is executive director of the Derby.

Cameraman Had Idea

While on an assignment for the Dayton News, Scott came across a group of small boys scooting down a Dayton hill in homemade miniature cars. In the "roving cameraman" tradition, Scott snapped a few shots of the boys racing and on his way back to the office found his imagination fired by the lads' enthusiasm. He reported the incident so graphically to his managing editor that the latter agreed to sponsor a "soap box" race. The Dayton Daily News thus became the pioneer of the All-American Soap Box Derby, and that newspaper is one of the co-sponsors of the 1949 race.

Scott and Chevrolet went to work early in 1934, and in that first year, enrolled 34 newspapers as co-sponsors for the first Soap Box Derby to be run on a national scale. The first national finals were held that year in Dayton. Huge crowds turned out to watch all the local races as well as the Dayton finals, confirming the sponsors' belief that they had a "natural."

Each successive year interest in the Derby has mounted. Each year improvements have been made with an eye to bettering the local races and the national finals in crowd appeal and excitement, with fairness in competition and good sportsmanship on the part of the contestants always uppermost in the minds of the sponsors.

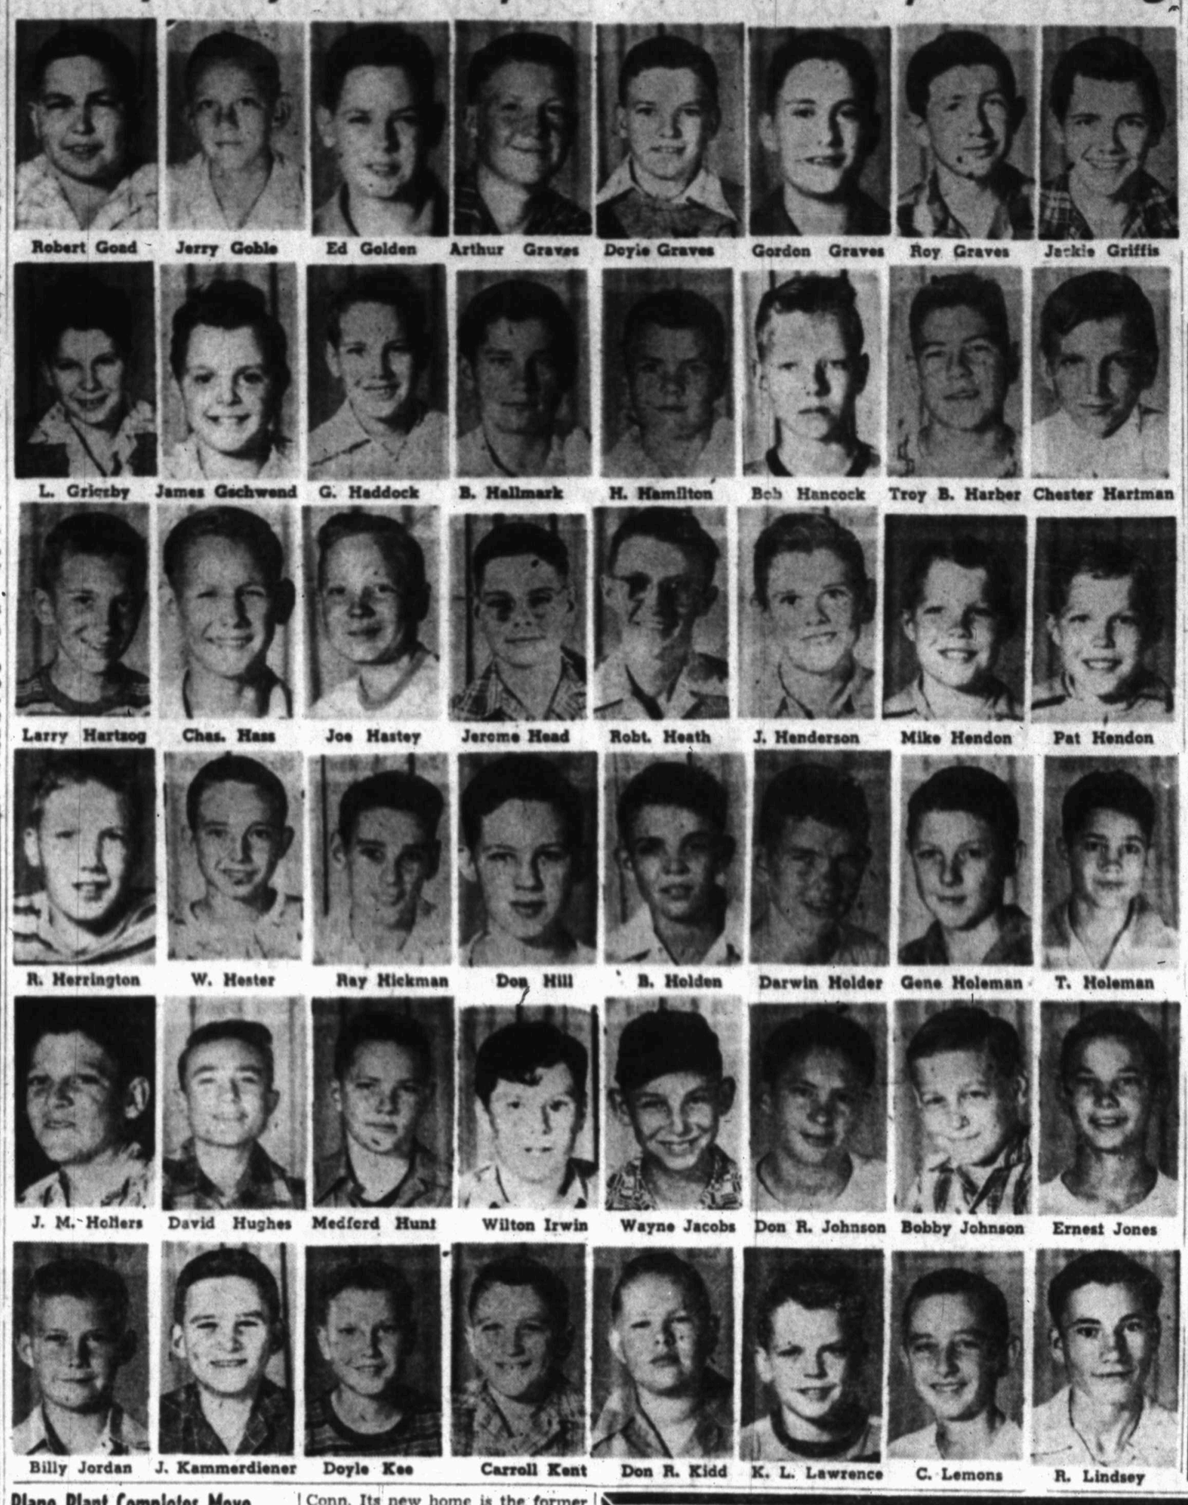

Visitors To Mackenzie Park Slightly More Than Year Ago

Mackenzie State park was visited by 144,970 persons during June, and 50,142 cars entered the park, according to figures released by S. C. Rawlings, park patrolman.

Of the total number of cars visiting the park, 306 were from out of state in June.

The June figure brought to 673,971 the number of visitors to the park since last September. Attendance is four per cent above last year, when 1,010,618 visitors were counted, or 39 per cent of the total attendance at all state parks.

Measure Giving Pay Hikes To Most Firemen, Police Signed

AUSTIN, July 2 (AP) — A bill giving approximately 10 per cent salary raises to most firemen and policemen in Texas was signed yesterday by Gov. Beauford Jester.

The bill, by Senator Walter Tynan of San Antonio, provides minimum wages ranging from $220 month in cities of more than 75,000 to $165 for cities in the ,000 to 40,000 bracket.

Woman Charges Husband Forced Her To Work As A Field Hand

AUBURN, Ind., July 2 (AP) — Mrs. Grace Pooler, 59, sued 69-year-old Ola Pooler for divorce yesterday because, she said, he forced her to work as a field hand all 42 years of their marriage.

She added in her suit that he kept all the proceeds from the 80-acre farm they own jointly.

Mrs. Pooler, now working as a cook at Pokagon state park, also asked an injunction to prevent her husband from selling this year's wheat crop from their farm.

Derby Deterrent To Youth Delinquency, Says T. H. Keating

By T. H. KEATING
General Sales Manager
Chevrolet Motor Division

The twelfth annual All-American Soap Box Derby this year is expected to set a series of new high records in the number of boy contestants, the number of sponsoring cities and the number of pople participating in some way or another in this great youth activity.

Mr. Keating

Since its inception in 1934, the Derby has grown steadily until it is recognized as the "greatest amateur racing event in the world," as an important activity for boys and a deterrent to juvenile delinquency.

Chevrolet is proud of its role in this important activity, and is proud to share with an ever-increasing number of sponsoring newspapers the important task of promoting the great race.

When the eager boy competitors, all champions, from their home towns, come to Akron every year from Alaska or Panama, Maine or California, the sponsors know that the Soap Box Derby surely is playing an important part in the lives of tens of thousands of young Americans.

The Derby teaches handicraft as do few other activities. It trains youths to understand the meaning of good sportsmanship, and to practice it not only in the Derby activity but in all their daily lives.

The national champion receives a four-year college scholarship, and the other top winners receive handsome trophies and valuable prizes, including a Chevrolet car to the second place boy.

But all the contestants, whether they place first or lose in their first heat, are winners of a valuable experience which they will cherish for life. The Derby will have provided a valuable outlet for creative talents and a stirring lesson in good sportsmanship. Thus, no boy loses in the Soap Box Derby.

FIREMEN ROUT BEES

NEWPORT, R. I. (U.P.)—Authorities used a novel method to get rid of a swarm of 2,000 bees that settled on a hedge in front of Miss Ruth C. White's grocery store. They called the fire department, which laid hose lines and drove off the bees with streams of water.

The average adult male brain weighs 49 ounces and the average adult female brain weighs 44 ounces.

Italians Attack Red Persecution

MILAN, Italy, July 2 (AP)—Alfredo Ildefonso Cardinal Schuster, archbishop of Milan, today announced that prayers will be said Sunday, July 10, "for the persecuted church."

Cardinal Schuster told his diocese that "we do not know if ancient persecution against the Christians could surpass in cruelty that being suffered today by the church in eastern Europe."

The cardinal said terror, torture and repressive laws were being used to "destroy the fundamental stones of all the Christian structure."

"This violent persecution, today as in ancient times, has its martyr, its confessors, its heroes," Cardinal Schuster concluded.

Party Issues Protest

Meanwhile directors of Premier Alcide De Gasperi's Christian Democratic party issued a "unanimous protest for the persecutions perpetrated against Czechoslovakian Catholics."

The protest charged that the persecutions "signify a negation and betrayal of all the elementary rights of liberty and human dignity."

"The direction expresses the fraternal solidarity of Italian Christian Democrats with all the persecuted who resist, with self-denial and heroism, against the oppression and violence of a government and a regime which one party has imposed on the Czech people outside and against popular suffrage."

The protest was published today on the front page of the party's organ "Il Popolo."

THE W. F. ARMSTRONG AWARD is given to every local champion in honor of Mr. Armstrong, general manager of the Chevrolet Motor Division, co-sponsor of the All-American Soap Box Derby with leading newspapers.

Jimmy Stewart, Screen Star, Makes Derby "Must" Every Year; He Visits With Champs

"One of my 'musts' every year is the All-American Soap Box Derby," said Jimmy Stewart, motion picture star who has found in the Derby "just the kind of project I'm interested in."

"The Soap Box Derby has been developed by its sponsors into a national institution, and it is one with which I am proud to be associated," Stewart continued. "Every year the thousands of boys who participate in this great event accomplish something wonderful. They demonstrate a great will to win against stiff competition, fair and square. They learn how to be true sportsmen."

Attended Past Two Years

Stewart attended the Derby in 1947 and 1948, and plans to be in Akron for the big race on August 14 of this year, when 150 champions from all over North America will compete in the National and International Finals.

In his previous visits Stewart arrived a day or two before the race, and spent every possible minute with the boys, taking part in their activities and sharing their interests. He was grand marshal of the pre-race parade on Derby Day, and rode down the track in a Chevrolet convertible, gaily waving to the crowds.

Lived With Boys

Stewart last year spent a good deal of time at Derbytown, the summer camp outside Akron where the champions all live during their Derby week end. There he ate his meals, took part with the boys in their games and sports and gladly posed for pictures with them.

The boys all grew to love Stewart during his stay with them, and he became their idol. When the week end was over, among the highlights the boys took home were memories of a swell time with "a great guy," Jimmy Stewart.

Uniform Costumes For All Contestants Is Rule Of Derby

All contestants in the local and national Soap Box Derby races must wear uniform costumes and must conform to reglations in this respect, it has been ruled at Soap Bob Derby headquarters.

In local races, the costume must consist of the official Soap Box Derby racing helmet, shirt, trousers and shoes. The helmet this year is bright red, and is similar in design to that worn in the 1948 races. It is of sturdy fibre construction designed with a visor and a chin strap that keeps the helmet firmly on the driver's head. The decal on front features the Derby emblem and an eagle.

In the final races at Akron August 14, every contestant must wear the same costume, consisting of shoes, white duck trousers, a special racing shirt and a de luxe type helmet distributed to the champs especially for the championships. The helmet and shirt are gifts to the champs from the Chevrolet Motor Division, national co-sponsor of the Derby.

In neither local nor national races may the contestants wear abbreviated costumes such as bathing trunks, shorts or stocking feet. Neither may the contestants set aside shoes nor other items of apparel when they are weighing in.

American engineers are installing equipment in Chile's big new steel plant at Huachipato, which they hope to have in operation late this year.

Parking Area For Derby Is Donated By E. P. McAdams

An expansive parking area covering several blocks was donated free for the Soap Box Derby by E. P. McAdams, Lubbock man.

McAdams said he was glad to be able to donate the parking area for the Derby's use.

McAdams owns considerable industrial and commercial property in the area which may be leased or purchased as desired.

The parking area may be reached by Ave. H or College avenue via the Plainview cutoff road. Traffic over this route will not interfere in any manner with the race which will be run during the day.

"CORPSE" COMES TO LIFE

DIBRUGARH, India. (U.P.) — Grave diggers had just started shoveling earth over the body of a tea estate laborer when the "corpse" gasped and clutched feebly at the air. Hurried back to a hospital, he lived another 15 days.

Onion gives a tangy flavor to salad dressings and is particularly good with spring vegetable combinations. Just add half a small peeled onion to the container of French dressing, cover tightly again, and allow to stand overnight. Remove the onion the next day.

Prizes In Soap Box Derby Range From Plaques To College Education

The W. F. Armstrong Trophy, a handsome plaque depicting a Derby racer flashing across the finish line, is the top award given to the winner of all local Soap Box Derby races by the Chevrolet Motor Division, co-sponsor of the Derby.

The trophy is similar to that awarded by Chevrolet to local champions in the past two years, but it has been renamed in honor of the new general manager of the Chevrolet Motor Division. It is three-dimensional, with the miniature racing car, driver and finish-line flagman resting on a platform. The background is of highly polished birch, and the Derby emblem affixed to it is red, white and blue enameled on metal.

Trip To Akron

The local champion receives many other prizes and awards, chief of which is a trip to Akron to represent his home town in the All-American Soap Box Derby August 14.

At the Champions' Banquet following the big race every champion also receives, as a gift from Chevrolet, a handsome wrist watch and a beautiful diploma, symbolic of his victory in the local race.

Scholarship Grand Prize

The grand prize awarded to the national championship at Akron is a $5,000 four-year scholarship to the college of his choice. The second place winner will receive a new 1949 Chevrolet sedan. Third and fourth place winners also receive valuable merchandise prizes. All of the first four place-winners receive exquisitely designed trophies.

There are four special prizes and trophies awarded at the national race, and many of these have local-race counterparts. A Chevrolet trophy goes to the builder of the best brakes and to the boy whose car runs the fastest heat. The builder of the best-designed car wins the C. F. Kettering Trophy, and to the maker the best-upholstered car goes the Collins and Aikman Award. The Shell Oil Co. awards a handsome prize to the boy whose car is adjudged the best-constructed.

To the newspapers who sponsor the cars that win the first four places also go handsome plaques, given by the Chevrolet Motor Division.

City Makes Mountain Out Of A "Molehill"

MOLEHILL, W. Va., July 2 (U.P.)—This town's 93 residents made a mountain out of a molehill today.

They dragged down the sign from in front of the postoffice that read Molehill, W. Va., for the last 92 years and nailed Mountain, W. Va., in its place. Some 2,000 mountaineers from as far as the Ohio river 20 miles away trooped here over the hills in their sun bonnets and Sunday shoes.

There was a traffic jam in front of Haymond's general store that sent chickens, cows and children in all directions.

Molehill's last day was the biggest it had ever seen.

Molehill was written off the maps with oratory, a carnival, square dancing and fireworks that spelled out "Mountain" with a burst of rockets on the hillside.

The whole thing started three months ago when a couple of idea men for the Columbia Broadcasting company radio show "County Fair" were thumbing through the postal guide and found the name Molehill. The local people liked the idea of a change. The farmwomen's club headed by Mrs. Florence Haymond put it over.

BACHELOR SENTENCED

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, July 2 (U.P.)—Dermidio Ruben Diaz, a 29-year-old bachelor, began a six-month jail sentence today for slashing women's skirts and blouses in a crowded bus. A sanity commission held that he was legally sane.

Sportsmanship Is Derby Keynote

The boy who becomes champion in the All-American Soap Box Derby, or in any of the local races, is the boy who has built well, driven a straight race and has exhibited the finest kind of sportsmanship.

Nothing short of the top in all these three fields will enable a boy to attain the Derby crown.

Thus, the Derby champion must have a degree of manual dexterity, to enable him to build a fine racing car. He must have a keen eye and good judgment so that he may guide that car down the track and win over all the other boys. He must have a high regard for the finest sort of keen competition and be a "good sport" in all things to enable him to accept either victory or defeat.

Builder Of Youth

The Chevrolet Motor Division and this newspaper, co-sponsors of the All-American Soap Box Derby, hope above all things that this great race will continue to be a builder of youth and a maker of men.

The Derby has attained its present high standing in popularity because the eyes of all—sponsors and contestants alike—have been alert to the finest principles of good, clean competition.

There is an old saying that the more you put into an effort, the more you get out of it.

So, boys, put all you have into driving a clean race, observing always the rules and the spirit of good sportsmanship, and you will come out of your Derby competition a finer boy, richer for a great experience in true Americanism.

Pineapple Ambrosia is a quickly made and delectable dessert. Peel, core, and cube a fresh pineapple; sprinkle with sugar and mix well. Just before serving place a layer of the pineapple in individual sauce dishes or sherbet glasses, then sprinkle with coconut and repeat the layers once more. Garnish with fresh or maraschino cherries.

Toledo Scale Co. Furnishes Scales For Derby Entries

Weight is important to Soap Box Derby entrants, so that's one of the reasons why the Toledo Seale company is cooperating in the Derby throughout the United States.

The company is furnishing a special set of scales for weighing in every Derby entrant in the U. S. to be sure that the boys get Toledo. "No Springs - Honest Weight."

R. L. Kinney, Lubbock distributor; and Walton Scott, representative of the Toledo Scale company, gave impartial weight to boys in the Derby in the two inspections and will do again Monday at the track.

Model 31-1821 Portable scale, the same type used in the Derby finals at Akron, O., is being used here.

"The Toledo Scale company is proud to be one of the organizations that annually cooperate to make the Soap Box Derby—The Greatest Amateur Racing Even in the World," Kinney said Saturday.

Former "Queen Of Buchenwald" Faces Trial On New Charges

HAMBERG, Germany, July 2 (AP)—German police will arrest Ilsa Koch, one-time "queen of Buchenwald," as soon as American authorities release her, German officials said today.

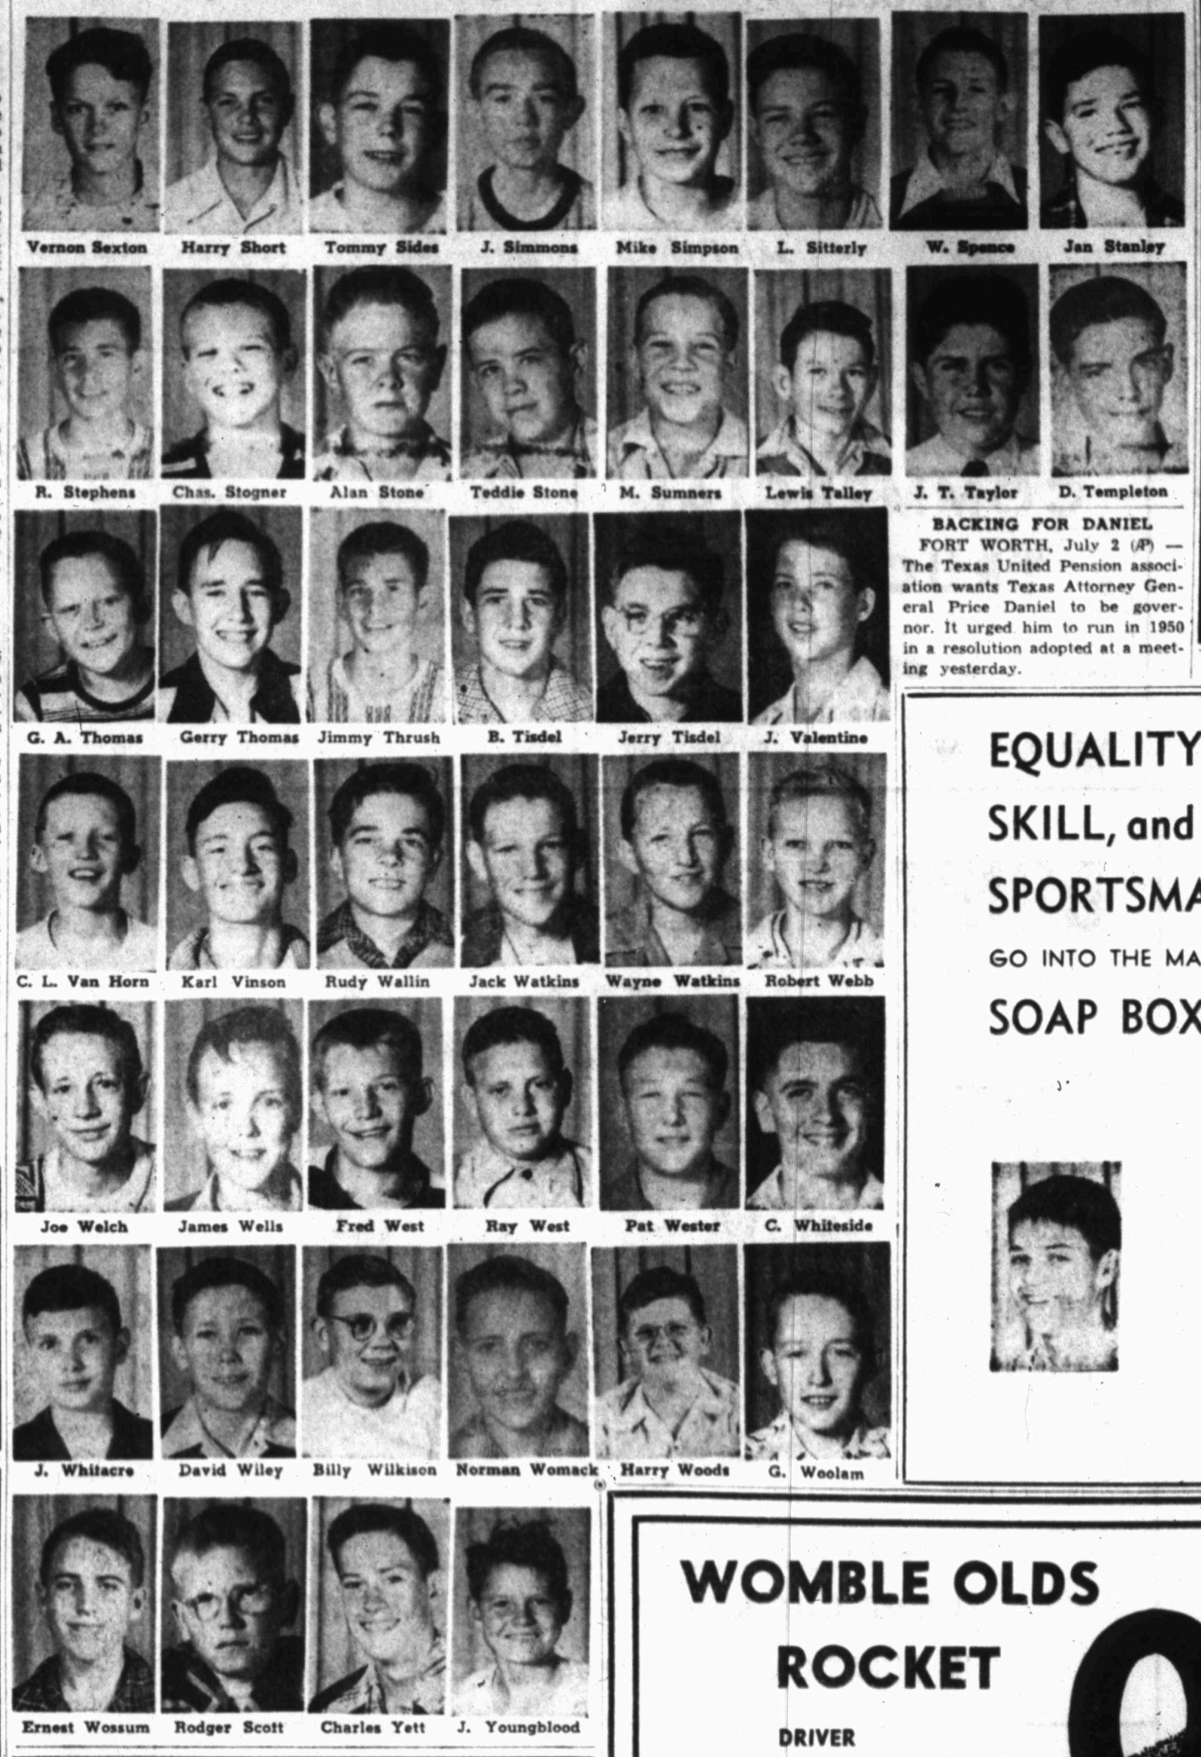

Dr. Johann Ilkow, German state prosecutor, said new charges against Frau Koch will be completed before she is released Oct. 18 from the Landsbuerg prison where American-convicted war crimintls are kept.

He said she will be arrested immediately on release for a quick trial in a German court on charges of maltreating German concentration camp inmates.

A world-wide storm of protest broke last year when American authorities cut Frau Koch's life sentence to four years. She is the widow of the former commandant of the Buchenwald concentration camp.

High soprano voices are the most difficult of any to broadcast, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

WHERE CHAMPIONS ARE FETED—The main entrance to Derbytown, the summer camp beside a lake near Akron, where the 150 Derby champions stay during the four-day week-end, which is climaxed by the big race on Aug. 14.

Local Champions To Spend Four Days At Fine Summer Camp

One of the finest camping experiences in his life is in store for every local Soap Box Derby champion when he arrives in Akron, Ohio, to participate in the national and international race August 14.

The champs all will spend the four-day Derby week end at "Derbytown," a fully-equipped camp a dozen miles from Akron. Here the 150 boys will have the two-fold advantage of real summer camp life and the unique experience of being feted as one of a group of real heroes for winning their hometown Soap Box Derby race.

Camp Turned Over To Boys

Camp Y-Noah, a YMCA camp, is taken over entirely for the Soap Box Derby champions during their time in Akron, and its every facility is devoted to the comfort and entertainment of the young champions. In Akron the boys are the guests of the Chevrolet Motor division, national co-sponsor of the Derby.

Situated in a rolling, wooded section beside a cool, little lake, "Derbytown" provides every possible form of outlet for youthful enthusiasm and energy. Supervision of the boys by a large group of trained counselors, and provision for food prepared by cooks experienced in the likes and dislikes of growing boys add up to a perfect four-day camping week end.

Activities Are Varied

On the lake the boys, under supervision, can swim, boat and fish. Horseback riding was one of the favorite sports of the 1948 champions, with shooting, archery, baseball and tennis closely following in popularity. There are facilities for crafts and hobbies, and for inside games in a huge recreation hall which is equipped with a stage.

The boys sleep in groups of 10 in modern cabins, with a counselor in each, and organized games are frequently a part of their gay week end of fun and play in and about Akron.

Champions Given Welcome

As always, the champions will be met upon arrival by train, rail or automobile, and will be whisked with a motorcycle escort to registration headquarters at the Hotel Mayflower. Then they will be taken to "Derbytown," their home for the week end. On their calendar will be tours of rubber company laboratories; and "Akron Day," when the city's industrial and civic leaders entertain the boys.

Then, too, there is the business of the week end; trial runs with their racers on Derby Downs; for a complete tune-up of the cars; participation in the giant parade that precedes the race at Derby Downs; the thrilling race itself; and the champions' banquet. At the banquet every contestant receives prizes and symbols of his local victory, and leaves Akron with the knowledge that no matter who has won the national crown, he is still champion in his home town.

U. S. Aid Needed To Save Korean Nation

WASHINGTON, July 2 (AP) — Secretary of State Acheson has told Congress that the Korean republic will fall "within two or three months" unless it gets prompt American aid.

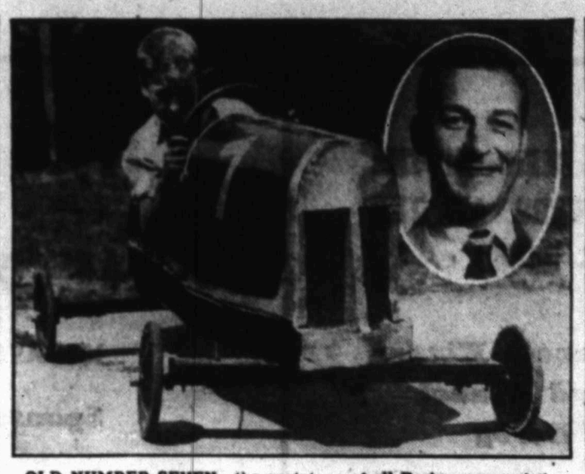

The House foreign affairs committee made the disclosure yesterday in a report urging early congressional action on $150,000,000 to help Korean recovery.

Acheson told the committee at a closed session, the report showed, that:

"There is complete assurance that Korea will go in two or three months if you do not do this." (Make money available.)

He could not, however, he said, offer assurance that the Korean recovery plan would succeed. But he called the program a "very limited commitment" and added:

"If you do not take this step, it seems to me that it is a public declaration that we are not going to do anything in the Far East, and I think you will get a shiver of fear all through the Philippines, all through Southeast Asia, India and all other parts of the Far East, which would be quite unjustified, because we are not taking that attitude toward those areas."

OLD NUMBER SEVEN—the prototype of all Derby cars, and the car which is used as a symbol on the official Derby emblem, is shown here as driven by its builder, Robert Gravett, of Dayton, O., in the 1933 race. Gravett, a Dayton businessman, is shown in inset as he is today.

Wages and salaries normally account for at least half of the total costs of retailing, according to the Twentieth Century Fund.

A HOLLYWOOD Column

By ERSKINE JOHNSON

HOLLYWOOD, July 2—There's an amusing coincidence to the remake of Milton Berle's only successful movie, "Tall, Dark and Handsome' just as he's returning to star in a Warner film.

Johnson

The remake is "Turned Up Toes," with Paul Douglas, Keenan Wynn and Jean Peters.

Ever since Berle clicked on television, Keenan's father, veteran comedian Ed Wynn, has been screaming that Berle stole his style. Now, in the remake, Keenan is playing the role Berle created in the original.

J. CARROL NAISH'S version of how Jack Warner "discovered" Humphrey Bogart has the town in stitches. Bogart, according to Naish, was working for a Los Angeles rodent exterminator company and was called to Warner's home, which was infested with rats.

Warner spied Bogart in the basement working an exterminator gun, immediately visualized him with a machine gun in his hand and hired him on the spot to play a gangster.

The prettier they are, the more they want to be mussed up on the screen, Jean Peters would like to do "Carmen" as the dirty, unkept gypsy that she was. Gene Tierney is telling Fox she wants to play another role like she had in "Tobacco Road."

Dotty Lamour Reverses Cheese-Cake Ogling By Choosing Best-Built Guys In Hollywood

By FRANK NEILL
INS Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, July 2—Dorothy Lamour, the beauteous babe who chucked the word "sorong" into the household language of America, today put reverse English on the matter by selecting the ten best-built guys in Hollywood.

DOROTHY

Miss Lamour, although admitting that maybe it is sarong thing to do in tabbing the best male movie physiques, listed the following gents:

John Payne, Victor Mature, Errol Flynn, Alan Ladd, Kirk Douglas, Sterling Hayden, Philip Reed, Lex Barker, Cornell Wilde and John Wayne.

Dottie hastened to explain that she picked each actor for a different reason.

Vic's Face Mature

"John Payne was my first choice," she said, "because, to me, he represents the typical American young man. For years he has been cast as a song and dance fellow and only recently was given parts to display his ability in action roles."

Payne completed his initial western a few fortni'ts ago. Fan mail response was terrific, cash customers demanding that he perform in more fast-moving flickers. Producers William Pine and William Thomas, a couple of ex-newspaper guys, promptly placed Payne into the lead of "Captain China," a slambang epic of the sea.

Dorothy tabbed Vic Mature for second position because: "He has a powerful face to go with his powerful build." Mature, of course, before he matured as an actor of stellar caliber, was once known as "The Gorgeous Hunk of Man."

Voice Aids Ladd

Erroll Flynn copped show-money for "his dashing appearance, which goes with his screen roles."

Kirk Douglas got kudos for a physique that "doesn't have an over-done appearance." Miss Lamour added:

"Many men over-develop their bodies to a point where their physiques look like an over-padded suit coat."

Ladd nabbed fifth place with the explanation that "a man's voice can add much strength to his appearance."

Wilde No Bully

Lex Barker, the screen's newest Tarzan, is a choice for making like an outdoor jungle character and "because he looks like a young man who has lived a clean outdoor life."

The sarong sweetie put Cornel Wilde on her list because he is "very gentle in manner, and he doesn't let his build put him in the 'bully' class."

Phil Reed made the grade, according to Miss Lamour, by virtue of being one of Hollywood's best-dressed men, and because "he does not exaggerate the tailoring of his suits to show off his physique."

Wayne, who used to be a football star at the University of Southern California when his name was Duke Morrison, was selected because "he has the perfect build for a cowboy."

In some automotive parts, accuracy must be so great that an error of one ten-thousandth of an inch—about one thirtieth the thicknes sof a human hair-cannot be tolerated.

$75,000. As a hit play, the bidding is up to $600,000.

Bogart, Tracy and Dana Andrews all want to star in the movie version.

Fontaine Entertains With Exhibitions Of Palmistry

BY BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Staff Writer

HOLLYWOOD, July 2—If Joan Fontaine ever tires of the movies, she can always tie a bandana on her head and open a palmistry tent.

The actress is an amateur palmist and entertains at parties with her readings. She told me a few things about this old paw on the "Bed of Roses" set, all quite flattering, of course.

"It's all in fun, naturally," she said, "but there is a certain intuition." She became interested in the craft after three unusual events happened to her.

Three Events Cited

1. "A palmist told me I should change my name to one that ended in an E. My name was De Havilland then and I just couldn't get a break. So I adopted my stepfather's name, Fontaine. Immediately, I got a job and began to be a success."

2. "The second time I talked to a palmist, she told me I would marry the host of a dinner party Olivia and I were going to that night. I didn't even know him. But a few weeks later I was Mrs. Brian Aherne."

3. "I was told before my last marriage I would marry a businessman and have a little girl within the year. That's exactly what happened."

But, she added, "There was the woman who told me I would marry five times!"

Dreamed Up Name

Speaking of names brings us to Vera-Ellen, who declares her name is "Vera dash Ellen." "Sounds better than "hyphen," says she. The handle came to her mother in a dream—dash and all." The dancer signs her checks thusly: Vera-Ellen (Rohe), the latter being her last name.

JOAN FONTAINE

The gal rose from hoofing with the Rockettes at Radio City Music hall to dancing with Gene Kelly in "On The Town" and next with Fred Astaire in "Three Little Words." She likes the movies best, because of the free evenings. But that doesn't mean the work is easy.

"I was in the hospital for three weeks after the 'slaughter' number in 'Words and Music'," she relates. "If my mother could have seen how bruised I was, she would have whisked me back to Cincinnati."

Charles Dickens visited the United States in 1842.

Trial Of Young Girl On Murder Charge Scheduled For Sept. 6

ELGIN, Ill., July 2 (AP)—Diana Allen's trial on a charge of murder in the drowning of her seven year old playmate has been set for Sept. 6 in circuit court.

Without emotion, Diana, 13, pleaded innocent to the charge when arraigned yesterday before Judge James W. Bartley. She will be held in the Will county jail until her trial. A special matron has been hired to watch her.

Diana admitted to authorities she drowned Charles Johnson last April 30 in a shallow creek near his home. She insisted she had no motive but was impelled by a sudden urge to do "something" to the boy.

Mississippi Hospital-Clinic Presented To Lutheran League

HOLLYWOOD, July 2 (AP) — A Presbyterian surgeon and his two assistants have given their hospital and clinic in Vicksburg, Miss., to the Lutheran Laymen's league, meeting here in its 37th annual convention.

The formal proposal of transfer of the $750,000 institution was made before the League's resolutions committee yesterday by Dr. W. H. Parsons, one of the co-owners.

The 100-room hospital served 3300 patients from 189 cities and 17 states last year. Associated with Dr. Parsons are Dr. I. C. Knox and W. K. Purks.

Dr. Walter A. Maier, conductor of the Lutheran radio hour, told the delegates yesterday that the gift would greatly enhance the missionary work being conducted in Mississippi, Louisiana, Arkansas, Tennessee and Alabama.

According to men in the field, more salesmen earn $10,000 or more a year than do members of any other profession.

She Has To Be In Filmland, So Hates It

Actress Wishes Hollywood Would Move To New York

By PATRICIA CLARY
United Press Staff Writer

HOLLYWOOD, July 2 — Janis Carter just hates Hollywood She wishes the movies would pick up and move to New York.

Or Boston. Or Baltimore. Or any place but way out west.

JANIS

Miss Carter likes movies. She loves New York and she hates Hollywood.

"I don't know why, I just do," she said. "Why do you hate anything? I guess I mostly hate it because I have to be here, and it isn't New York."

The statuesque blonde never wanted to come to Hollywood anyway. She wanted to go to New York. For years and years in her small town in the midwest, she worked at her singing when the rest of the kids were picnicking or sitting around the soda fountain.

"My one hope," she said, "was that if I practiced every day, someday I could live in New York."

Well, she did live in New York, briefly. Did a show or two, took an apartment, got married.

Hollywood Beckons

"I used to walk out on the New York streets," she said, "and say to myself that at last I was where I always wanted to be and nothing—absolutely nothing — would ever get me away from it."

Then Hollywood beckoned, waving a big fat check. Columbia promised she could work every day—as she has been doing for nearly seven years—and it promised that when the seven years was up she could retire and live anywhere she wanted.

So Miss Carter has made dozens of movies, some in Rome, Italy. Now she's working on "And Baby Makes Three" for Santana Productions The seven years is almost up and she has a choice to make.

"I can either pick New York, and no pictures," she sighed, "or pictures—and no New York."

She afraid she knows what the choice will be. Even after seven years under contract, a girl has to work.

"I just wish," she complained, "the movies had never come to California."

The keeping quality of Long Island cauliflower was improved by spraying the crop with hormones, or growth-regulating substances, two weeks before harvest.

It's Time For Workers To Take Inventory; "Inside Boys" Put On Spot

BOOM DAYS GONE

Jobs Grow Scarcer

THE MAN, or the woman, who has a job today will be wise to take stock of the degree of his importance to his employer and if the degree of his importance isn't high, he'd better get it high. Otherwise, he may find himself looking for another job, in a field already crowded with jobhunters.

Indications are that there will be 6,000,000 unemployed in the U. S. by the end of 1949. If so, the figure will not be seriously high by normal yardsticks. In fact, it will be below the norm. But, never-the-less, the situation will not be good for those who are without jobs and who actually need jobs. They'll have trouble finding other berths and in nearly all cases will find poorer paying and less desirable ones than they have now.

The "employes' market" of the boom days is gone. It is an "employers' market" now, which means the employer can again pick and choose his help and can easily replace those in his employ who are not giving value received.

The day when a worker could thumb his nose at the boss and get just as good a job across the street has gone, at least for awhile. The day when the employe serves his own best interests—as well as the boss' — by giving a fair day's work for a fair day's pay is with us again. In fact, it never left us. A few misguided souls just thought it did.

As American business again approaches the normal, it behooves the worker to remember that production is the key to sound business and as a part of production he can best safeguard his economic position by producing the best he can and all he can.

The hardworking, responsible employe will be the last to go when an employer is cutting his payrolls and his costs and has a choice in the matter. The more hardworking responsible employes there are in American business in the months to come the better production there will be—the fewer layoffs there will be in all lines.

Upon occasion, employes, like employers, should take inventory and consolidate their positions.

This is one of those occasions.

Warning! Danger!

WE ARE well into what the safety organizations call "the long Fourth of July Week-end"—a period beginning in the big cities at 5 p. m. last Friday and extending to the resumption of work next Tuesday morning.

The Fourth of July being a principal American holiday, and being further coupled this year with a week-end, this period is expected to hit the Summer's high in holiday-making. It also is expected to hit the Summer's high in accidents.

Countless hundreds of Lubbock and South Plains citizens will join with other Americans today and tomorrow in various activities usually attendant upon July Fourth and often attendant upon Summer week-ends. The highways will be crowded. So will the swimming, fishing and boating places. People will "let their hair down" in various ways, seeking fun and relaxation. Add to this recipe for tragedy some fireworks and cannon crackers and the table is set for mishap.

We do not think these printed words will prevent readers from taking chances, one way or another, or from being careless. We expect this week-end to bring sudden death, injury and destruction to this area, along with all other areas of the nation.

But by calling public attention to the hazards of the period, we may very possibly cause some one, or some few, readers, to remember to be careful. As a result of their being careful, we may help cut the toll at least a fraction.

At any rate, we hope so—and we advise:

Be careful! Take no chances! Don't become a vital statistic!

In a Dublin court Mrs. Mary O'Neill, 24, was found not guilty by a jury on all 14 charges of embezzlement and falsifying accounts, the charges involving $30.

COMPROMISE ON MEASURE SO UGHT BY REP. COMBS

Texas Solon Says Minimum Wage Bill To Be Okayed

By SARAH McCLENDON
(Avalanche-Journal Washington Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, July 2. — The minimum wage bill is going to pass at this session of Congress, and the South might just as well recognize the fact and adjust to it. Rep. J. M. Combs, Beaumont, who has been working on minimum wage compromise legislation, said here this week.

Combs' bill to insert many exemptions by groups is one of those measures which House Education and Labor committee has been considering of late. With one bill providing for minimum wage still before the House Rules committee and stalled there, the committee has been talking a different bill in another form. It failed in the attempt to substitue the present wage and hour bill with a 75-cent minimum.

The North and East say they fear competition of cheap labor from the South and thus want the minimum wage applicable to the entire nation, and some sections of the West and the South say they cannot stay in business in many fields if they have to pay a 75-cent minimum wage. Therefore, says Combs, "let's compromise."

Plan Is Offered

He proposes that on those industries that produce goods that sell interstate, let's have minimum wage levels but on other products and services that are strictly intra-state in scope, let's have exemptions from the act.

Combs would exempt farm operations, farm processing plants, cotton gins, packing sheds, rural telephone systems, small sawmills employing less than 16 people which sell their products wholly locally or to final processors within the state. He would also exempt weekly and semi-weekly newspapers where more than 50 percent of the circulation is within the state of publication. He would exempt that part of sawmilling operations which have to go with the growing and harvesting of timber. He would exempt local transportation systems on the theory that their rates are set by municipal franchise, therefore their intake must be limited.

"The contemplated law seriously affects small businesses and industries," he said. "There is a marginal type of industry in this country in almost every locale which is important and yet has little impact on the industries of other states. Existence of these small businesses in industry is important not only to those who own and operate them but also as affording employment to many people who for one reason or another cannot qualify for or obtain employment in the higher wage industry; such as overage and handicapped people."

Minimum wage may be the next big headache of the House.

Backing For Daniel Seen

A LOYAL friend of Attorney General Price Daniel of Texas was in Washington recently sounding out sentiment and public officials on the tidelands controversy. Earle B. Mayfield, jr., was the emissary.

Whether sent by Daniel or whether he came voluntarily is not known.

Mayfield made it clear however that Daniel has no intention of backing down on the tidelands issue. He also indicated that Daniel believes his chances of winning the governorship may hinge on this controversy. Daniel is still getting mail from many sections of the voting citizens, indicating strongly that they admire his stand. Some observers felt, however, that Mayfield might be scouting for Daniel, so the attorney general could plot his future course at the next tidelands compromise table. Among others, Mayfield conferred while here with Speaker of the House Sam Rayburn.

Secretary of Defense Louis Johnson recently assured Rep. Ken Regan, 16th district, that he has no intention of changing the status of the U. S. Marine Corps. Regan had inquired about the matter at the request of H. L. McCune, El Paso.

Johnson in his letter to Regan said: "1. Under the law, this cannot be done; 2. Such a move has not been under contemplation; and 3. There are no such studies being carried on in the National Military Establishment.

"Before any step of this kind would be seriously considered, I would ask permission to discuss the matter before the Committee of both houses of Congress.

Looking At Life - - - - - By Erich Brandeis

IF I WERE an otherwise beautiful girl but had an ugly wart on my nose I would have that wart removed.

If there are ugly warts on an otherwise beautiful life, it is a writer's duty to do what he can to remove them.

Life to me is beautiful.

BRANDEIS

I have tried for several years to point out its beauties to you, my readers and friends, and to have you share my enjoyment of it with me.

But today I received a letter which made me wonder.

"You used to help us appreciate the world as it is" he writes, "but of late you seem to put more stress on what it ought to be."

I read over a number of my recent columns, and I find that the writer is correct.

But I shall continue to mix the pleasant with the unpleasant and to make you conscious of the warts on our national life.

I shall do so because, in my opinion, America is not a land of morons or of little children.

America is a country of intelligence and of courage.

To be an' American does not mean to be a complacent softie. We have grown by daring and by faith, by hard work and intelligent enterprise.

At this time of the year, all over the country, lovely flowers are in bloom.

Those flowers first were seeds.

The seeds had to be planted, watered, cultivated, carefully nurtured.

Wherever there are flowers there are also weeds.

Unless those weeds are torn out by the roots they will destroy the flowers.

If you want to enjoy the beauties of your garden, you must pull out the ugly weeds.

SPEAKING of gardens, let me give you a little story I read this morning.

It illustrates something I wrote the other day about making circuses out of charity drives. I shall omit names and places. They don't matter.

A hospital needed money and started a drive for funds. The funds were slow coming in, although thousands of people in the community benefit by the institution's existence.

So someone had an idea.

"Let us have a garden tour, charge admission and give the money thus raised to the hospital."

There are thousands of lovely

PLUSH JOBS PROBED

Cases Are Exposed

By DREW PEARSON
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON—While the congressional probe of the five percenters has been getting the headlines, another Senate investigation has been quietly delving into certain gentlemen who make much more than 5 per cent.

PEARSON

Five percenters are lobbyists who expedite government contracts — through influence—in return for a commission of 5 per cent. But Senator Bill Fulbright of Arkansas is spotlighting a much more significant practice whereby certain government officials, after aiding private firms, then resign to take jobs with those firms.

Two cases of this recently exposed by this column are:

1. John Hagerty former manager of the RFC's Boston office, recommended a government loan to the Waltham Watch company. After the loan was granted, Hagerty was hired as general manager at $30,000 per year, and took with him his RFC assistant, William H. Morrow.

2. Sterling J. Foster, former chief of the RFC loan division, helped process a $2,500,000 loan for the Plywood Plastic Corp. of Hampton, S. C., later went to work for the company at a starting salary of $18,000—plus a percentage of the company's net earnings Hagerty and Foster made $10,330 with the RFC.

To cure this practice, Senator Fulbright drafted a bill forbidding firms, borrowing from the government, from employing RFC officials for at least two years. Fulbright also called hearings of his Senate banking subcommittee, with the first witness RFC Director Harvey Gunderson.

Blind RFC Director

You are familiar with the recent criticism which to a great extent gave rise to this bill?" Fulbright began.

"I am aware of criticism contained in the Drew Pearson column," replied Gunderson. "That is the only criticism I have seen."

When the questioning got around to Hagerty who had denied recommending the Waltham loan, Fulbright read a United Press dispatch giving Hagerty's denial, and demanded: "Is that an accurate statement?"

"I believe it is, senator," replied Gunderson.

"Hagerty recommended a $9,000,000 loan and you cut it to $6,000,000," shot back Fulbright, incredulously. "Therefore, you do not think that is a recommendation of the $6,000,000 loan?"

"That is right," agreed Gunderson, lamely.

"To me that is a very odd distinction," puzzled Fulbright. "If you recommend more than you gave, you say that is not a recommendation of the loan."

Snapping his fingers, the senator from Arkansas called for the RFC files on the Waltham loan.

"I think you will find," he addressed the RFC director, "that there is language (in Hagerty's report) which recommends that a loan be made. It is true that some of the details were changed. For example, he recommended they pay him $40,000 and they ended up only paying him $30,000, so they cut his salary some."

Fullbright referred to a 25-page report containing Hagerty's original recommendations to Washington. In this report, Hagerty repeatedly stressed the need for a "competent" manager who, he suggested, should be paid $40,000,000 per year. It turned out that he had himself in mind for the job. His opinion of himself is also indicated in one passage in which he states the qualifications essential for the job.

"We cannot emphasize too strenuously," he wrote, "the importance of having a hard-boiled, realistic businessman who understands the importance of integrated control, a merchandizing program, and the practice of economy in this business . . ."

MORE FICTION THAN TRUTH

"Elephant Walk" Is Elephantasy

"ELEPHANT WALK," by Robert Standish; (Macmillan).

DOWN under on Ceylon, and up over the island's highlands, coffe-and-tea tycoon Tom Carey, rich and powerful thanks to his vast plantation, builds a Big Bungalow of teakwood, with many rooms for weekend guests and an army of servants to take care of them.

Other Englishmen in this outpost draw a distinct color line everywhere except at the bedroom door, but Tom draws it even there, and goes back home to marry. With his wife dead, his son George comes to follow in his revered father's footsteps in business, and in marriage, too. His lady is Ruth. Brought up in England on her widowed mother's small income, she is shocked by the lush life, the uninvited crowds, the hordes of servants, the banquets which take the place of meals and the glassfuls of whisky which take the place of snifters.

Ruth Is Easy Prey

What George doesn't want to change, because of habits acquired from his prodigal father, who departs this life and this novel at the end of the prologue, Ruth wants to change because of habits acquired in her home. George wins. Thus frustrated, Ruth is easy prey for Geoffrey Wilding, her husband's bachelor aide, who has benefited by a little extra European spit and polish. Appuhamy, George's servant, suspects the worst; he tries to divert Wilding's affections from Ruth to Rayna, a Rodiya girl, wholly dressed, half dressed or not dressed at all, and pictured as a very magnetic divertimento.

The title comes from the old elephant path across which Big Bungalow stands. Every now and then Standish pauses in his story about these isolated English people to bring in a bull elephant which trumpets, shakes a ragged ear and waves its trunk alarmingly at the invaders.

Standish implies that there is more truth than fiction in this novel. He couldn't write it before, evidently, for fear of hurting some one's feelings, either Ruth's, or George's, or Wilding's, or perhaps the elephant's, for it is the elephant which never forgets. It seemed there was almost too much fiction here, and not enough truth. Perhaps it's neither novel nor biography, but elephantasy.

Good Collaboration

"TOMORROW WE REAP," by James Street and James Childers; (Dial).

THE Dabneys are at it again, behaving nobly or misbehaving lustily, guarding their storied Lebanon in Mississippi, struggling to keep to the old ways in a new world, falling in and out of love.

With the aid of a collaborator, Street has moved his Dabney chronicle down to the years just before our war with Spain. Bruce and his loyal clan face a fight with the Peninsula Lumber company. Can old timers with ox teams and primitive methods survive the competition of northern money and 20th century techniques? Bruce's son Mingo wants to run the store and sell the timber; Sans, Mingo's cousin but brought up like a brother, hates the intruders, who slash so recklessly through his beloved woodlands.

Arrayed On Two Sides

Arrayed on Sans' side are the Woodwards, including pretty Louisa; Ruth Trumbull, a Northerner; storekeeper Charlie Owens; the Negro Gar Rivers, the logging crews and others. Peninsula hasn't entered Mississippi for the love of the South, however, but to make money. Determined to own a right of way through Sans' virgin timber, it buys able legal talent and a local election. Northern aggressiveness, hitching unscrupulous southern elements to the plow, sows what "tomorrow we reap."

But it isn't all about feuds and sawmills and timber, and the boys don't take walks in the woods for business only. Their affections are divided among Louisa, Ruth and Rafaela Galban y Torres, a Cuban who comes unexpectedly into the story as a revolutionary but proves more dangerous as a senorita. You'll like unhappy Mingo, and Sans Dabney, sans peur and sans reproche, an appealing figure cut out of a familiar romantic pattern but touched up refreshingly.

A graph of the interest aroused by this novel would be curiously, high at the ends and low in the middle, but it reads fast and the Street-Childers teamwork will earn your approval.

Tragedy In Four Days

"THE TRACK OF THE CAT," by Walter van Tilburg Clark; (Random House).

WHEN it starts snowing in a novel, all concerned had better take care. Things are almost sure to get worse from that point on, with the author rarely able to stop short of creating the worst blizzard in a century, and plunging his characters into all the miseries the villainous snow can bring.

In "The Track of the Cat," by Walter van Tilburg Clark, a poverty-ridden, warring family named Bridges, huddled in a crude house in Nevada some 40 years ago during an unseasonable October storm not only has to battle the storm but a vicious panther, part real and part myth. They also have an aged, partly mad Indian on their hands, to say nothing of a full breasted young neighbor woman, fiancee of their 19-year-old son, Harold.

Snows And Snows

At hopeless odds in various ways are the 71-year-old father; a work-worn, loveless, Bible reading mother; two more sons—Arthur, 40, and Curtis, 37; and an old-maid sister, Grace.

Their tragedy is played out in four days, during which the father stys impressively drunk, two of the brothers are killed, the panther stalks and kills, and it snows and snows and snows.

As in his highly succesful "Oxbow Incident" author Clark writes a compelling kind of psychological and emotional story. If he had trimmed "The Track of the Cat" to a length nearer that of his earlier book it might have carried more of its dramatic impact.

Boundless Theme

"THE ROCK CRIED OUT," by Edward Stanley; (Duell, Sloan & Pearce).

THE fascination of the United States in the making is irresistible to novelists, with the slow westward movements of pioneers a boundless theme as they battled wilderness, Indians, themselves and confused heritage. Margaret Blennerhassett, her sluggish husband, their family and their friends — including the volatile Aaron Burr — are sent into the Ohio Valley, Natchez and New Orleans by Edward Stanley in "The Rock Cried Out." The result is a novel which improves as it goes along.

The time spans the close of George Washington's administration, through John Adams' and Thomas Jefferson's. Margaret, a beauty, marries Harmon Blennerhassett, her uncle, and they flee to America to escape family exile. They proceed to Marietta, and live uneventfully until Margaret plunges them in Burr's "conspiracy" to seize Mexico.

A good deal of stock situation gets into "The Rock Cried Out," with a handsome wilderness man, dashing young bloods, a scheming servant, drunken militia, escaping slaves, and Margaret luxuriating in hot baths, but the book definitely escapes the swords and sex derring-do and smoky torch formulae slavishly followed by many similar works.

The average length of life in the United States jumped from 49.24 years at the beginning of the Century to 66.69 years in 1946, an increase of about 17½ years.

New $39,000 Methodist Church At Anton To Hold Open House

ANTON, July 2 (Special)—Open house for the new $39,000 First Methodist church will be held Sunday between 3 p. m. and 6 p. m., Rev. J. R. Wood, pastor of the church, announced Saturday.

Final touches were applied to the tile and stucco structure this week. It is in readiness to receive the 280 members of the congregation and the large number of visitors who are expected to call and view the new church building.

The church is built in the shape of an ell and measures 104 feet by 66 feet. The main auditorium is 36 feet by 70 feet and has a seating capacity of 300. In addition to the auditorium there are six Sunday School class rooms, a nursery with built-in cribs for infants, a large and completely furnished kitchen, and a recreation room.

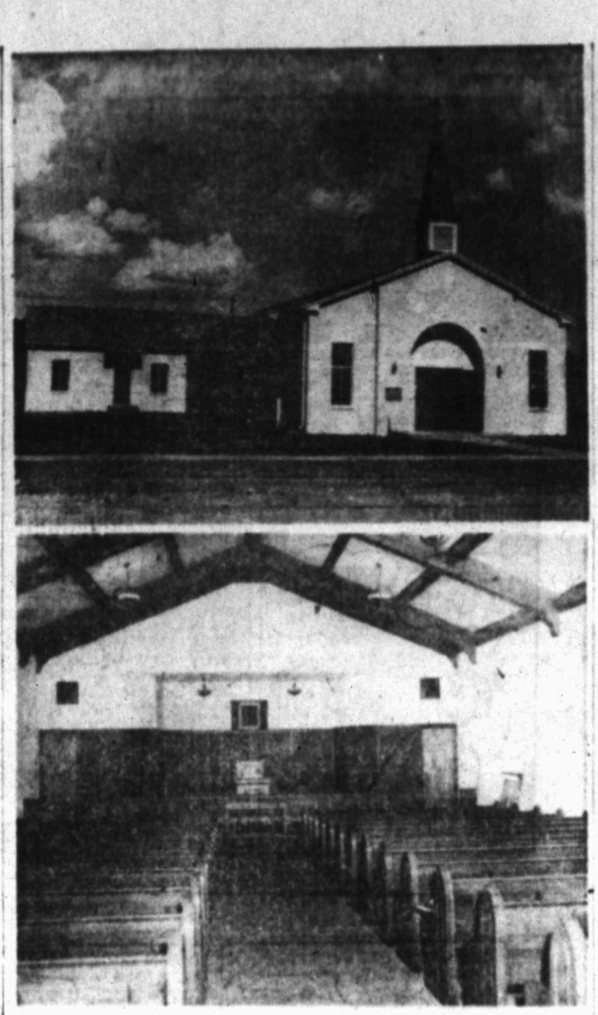

"We have looked forward with eagerness to the opening of our new church ever since work first started in March," Rev. Wood said. "Our congregation has worked hard to achieve this beautiful and dignified house of worship. We feel justly proud of it."

The interior of the building is finished in light pastel shades to reflect a maximum of light without glare. The study rooms are finished in green, blue or cream color. Oak is used throughout for trim, pews and flooring.

The exterior of the church is finished in a light cream color. Topping the gable end of the chapel above the main entrance is a tall, thin spire of copper.

The church is located at the corner of Fourth and Igoe streets directly across from the wooden structure that has served for a meeting place for more than 20 years.

Until 1927 the Anton Methodists met with the Baptists and members of the First Christian church. In that year they organized and obtained their own church. The first pastor of the Anton Methodist church was Dr. R. F. Dunn, father of Dr. Sam G. Dunn, Lubbock.

NEW ANTON CHURCH—The upper picture shows the new $39,000 Anton Methodist church which will hold open house today. The lower photograph shows the interior of the auditorium as seen from the entrance and looking toward the pulpit. The chapel has a seating capacity of 300 persons. (Staff photos by Edward Welsh).

Would Return Flags

Congressman Regan is now awaiting a reply from the U. S. State department regarding his request that if possible the Mexican flags captured in the U. S.-Mexican war of 1847 be returned to Mexico in exchange for the U. S. flags captured by Mexico. This hands-across-the-border move was initiated by General Candido Aguilar in Mexico City recently and then given whole-hearted endorsement by Editor Bill Hooten of the Times. Texas congressmen have assured Regan of their support of the move.

REP. JOHN LYLE, Corpus Christi, member of the House Rules committee, says a Texas congressman, Rep. W. R. Poage, Waco, is the only congressman at this session to bring a bill before the Congress to place money in the federal treasury. All the others would take money out of the treasury. Over 5,000 bills have been introduced at this session.

Poage's bill would pay back into the treasury $189,000,000 of the government's own money which it loaned the federal land bank system in 1933 and which the banks have on hand now as surplus.

Mrs. Ruth Bryan Rohde, former congresswoman and former minister to Denmark, likes Texas very much, she said here recently. This is one reason why she returns to the state more than once usually during a lecture season. She has made many personal friends there. Mrs. Rohde who is devoting her time now to creating better understanding in the U. S. about the United Nations seldom goes out on a lecture tour before first coming to her old friend and colleague in the House, Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas, to chat about national affairs, and get his slant on events.

Capitolites have been enjoying this story recently about Senator Leverett Saltonstall of Massachusetts. It seems he was coming back from Detroit on an airliner with 85 other passengers. There was one stewardess whereas normally there are three, and one helper. Senator Saltonstall, identity unknown, got up to help with the trays at meal time. The stewardess' helper, not too happy to have a novice at this job, hinted that he was in the way. Senator Saltonstall did not flinch. He just kept on helping. George Ready, Washington radio columnist, was the only one on deck who knew the senator. "Say, Buddy," he said to the helper, after he bawled Saltonstall out, "We have to pay mighty high for help like that in Washington."

Finally, when it came time to serve trays, the senator helped pass them out. By that time he was really getting a kick out of it. And as the ship proved to be scarce on rations, and portions were being whittled down, it looked as if the stewardess and her helpers would miss their lunch. The co-pilot came to help out. He suggested that one tray left go to the passenger-helper. About that time, a fat man who was none too complimentary of the service, bawled out that he had not been served. There went Senator Saltonstall's tray. The senator, uncomplaining, went without lunch.

Commission Plans Evangelism Program For Southwest Area

AUSTIN, July 2 (Special)—The Staff Planning board of the Commission on Evangelism met here recently in St. Martin Lutheran church for the purpose of planning an evangelism program in this area, including Texas, Arkansas, Louisiana, Oklahoma, and New Mexico.

Rev. C. P. Rasmussen, executive secretary of the Commission on Evangelism, heads the entire program, which is set up by the National Lutheran council. All Lutheran church bodies will cooperate in the program. Lutheran churches to take part include the American Lutheran church, the United Lutheran Church of America, the Evangelical Lutheran church, the Augustana Synod, the Danish Synod.

Program Explained

Rev. D. Lechleitner, of Columbus, O., executive secretary of the board of missions, is director of Region No. 2, which includes the Southwest. At the recent meeting in Austin, he organized and explained the program to 14 representatives of the five participating church bodies, pointing out that some 10,000 congregations will take part in the campaign.

The Southwest region was organized into nine areas, and area chairmen will, in turn, have from two to five institutes within his jurisdiction. In these institutes, trained seminar speakers will address pastors and laymen.

Conferences To Be Held

Meanwhile, separate conferences will be held with the pastors so that they will thoroughly understand the program before work is begun within the congregations.

Officers who were elected were Rev. A. L. Pfenning, Galveston, chairman; Rev. N. H. Kern, Houston, secretary; Rev. F. G. Rofsener, Austin, publicity.

The above officers constitute the executive committee. In addition, eight area chairman were named, whose areas outline their jurisdiction.

Board Responsible

Rev. C. F. Schulte, pastor of the American Lutheran church of Littlefield, was appointed chairman of area No. 6. His jurisdiction includes the following counties: El Paso, Hudspeth, Culberson, Jeff Davis, Presidio, Reaves, Ward, Crane, Upton, Reagan, Irion, Tom Green, Concho, Coleman, Shackelford, Throckmorton, Young, Archer, Wichita, Wilbarger, and Hardeman, in addition to all west and north of the above counties, including the Panhandle.

The planning board will carry full responsibility for the success of the program, and has therefore decided to have not only pastoral area meetings, but to conduct in addition some 31 institutes before end of October.

But for the tour they picked the estates of six of the wealthiest people.

And, as a special attraction, they promised a visit to "the African game room" of one of the multi-millionaries.

I understand that already a large number of people—almost entirely women—have signed up.

Undoubtedly many will be dressed in their finest. And many will now be able to say that they visited Mr. Soandso and Mr. Thisandthat.

Charter Membership Drive For New Church To End Here Today

Today will mark the close of the period for charter membership in the newly organized Lubbock View Christian church, officials have announced.

Some 90 members are now listed on the church roles. The new church is an outgrowth of First Christian church, and was organized this year after the city missions committee, with O. B. Ratliff as chairman, submitted a study of various sections of the city and recommended a new Christian church for southwest Lubbock.

A call was issued to members living in that section of the city, and on May 1 the new congregation began meeting as a separate body in the educational building of First Christian church. Temporary committees were formed with D. N. Leaverton, jr., as chairman of the congregation.

Building To Be Ready

In cooperation with First Christian church, two and one-half acres of land were purchased in the 3300-block on Thirty-fourth street as a permanent church site. A building now located on the property is currently being remodeled for temporary use. A parsonage also will be constructed.

Rev. Harry Purviance, who is to receive his bachelor of divinity degree from Texas Christian university, Fort Worth, in August, has been named minister of the new church. He is now serving in the pastorate on weekends and will move to Lubbock in September.

The congregation expects to move to its new location about August 15. At a business meeting of the congregation this past week, a constitution and by-laws were adopted by the membership. A business meeting has been called today for the election of an official board to carry on the business management of the church.

JUST WANTED TO PLAY

WASHINGTON, July 2 (AP)—Norman Harris, 37, who left the army in 1945, was charged with wearing a uniform without authority. He donned it to get into Fort Belvoir for a game of cards with the boys, he told U. S. Commissioner Stanley King. He still has to go to court.
