WITNESS SAYS $500 MURDER OFFER MADE

So This Is Texas

By H. N. Fitzgerald

Here to Stay—
A Tribute to Kemp—
Help From Neff—
Coming Projects

IRRIGATION has come to stay in Texas, and the conservation of flood waters for irrigation purposes is marking time everywhere in the southwest. Joseph A. Kemp, of Wichita Falls, was re-elected president of the Texas Conservation association at the 9th annual meeting held at Brownwood. This was most fitting as Joseph A. Kemp has been on the firing line for flood control, conservation of storm waters and the impounding of the same for irrigation purposes for 30 years. Indeed, he is the father of irrigation in Texas.

* * *

RESOLUTIONS were passed by this convention commending the work of both the State Board of Water Engineer and the State Reclamation Engineer, asking the legislature to appropriate $100,000 a year for two years to be used by the reclamation engineer in topographic work and $100,000 a year for hydrographic service to be used by the board of water engineer. It was recommended that these appropriations be made in addition to the regular appropriations for maintenance for the two departments.

* * *

PAT MORRIS NEFF, as governor, threw all his influence on the side of flood conservation and land reclamation legislation, and signed every bill presented to him by the legislature looking to the control of flood waters for storing purposes to be used in drouth years as well as for the reclamation of semi-arid land everywhere under Texas skies that brain and brawn, aided by money were pledged adding to the tillable acres of the state and the assessed value or wealth of the state.

* * *

THEN came the Ferguson administration and those who read are fimiliar with the attitude of the powers that be (no, the powers that were) as to the importance of land reclamation through scientific flood control. All the speakers, including the federal government engineers, declared the principle source of regret is the lack of legislative apropriation for continuing the work of guaging stream flows.

* * *

A CONSIDERABLE number of important stream guaging stations, established under state appropriation of $600,000 when Neff was governor, have been abandoned owing to lack of funds. It was asserted by John A. Norris, that stream guaging is probably the most important phase of the water survey of the state.

* * *

HE APPEALED to the association for properly carrying on the work and Federal Engineer C. E. Ellsworth, concurred with Engineer Norris' assertion as to the importance of the work. Through the phase of their activity these engineers were able to learn among other things that a considerable amount of the flow of the Rio Grande between Eagle Pass and Laredo and of the Nueces in two different localities goes into the earth instead of down the stream bed.

* * *

AS ONE result of the work made possible by the $600,000 appropriation when Neff was governor, the state board of water engineers was able to report to the legislature that the total flow of Texas streams amounts to approximately 41,000 acre feet second, and this stream flow is sufficient to cover 170,000,000 acres of land in Texas to a depth of two inches. Its value, if judicially placed on East Texas farming land, is estimated by the engineers at $600,000,000 and on West Texas lands at $3,500,000,000.

* * *

FURTHERMORE, the two inches of rainfall that goes down the stream is capable, if it were possible to use it all, of irrigating between 10,000,000 and 15,000,000 acres.

These figures are by Engineer Norris. In addition to the stream guaging work, the state board of water engineers have topographic surveys, of 4,500,000 acres of land in the last three years, much of the work being done in co-operation with the state reclamation engineering department and the United States geological survey.

* * *

IT WAS announced that water projects coming under the observation of the state board, if carried to completion will involve approximately $75,000,000 and these projects reach from the Rio Grande river to the Sabine river and from the Canadian river to the Gulf of Mexico.

* * *

IT WAS announced that 80 per cent of the Trinity river reclamation projects have been successful from the start, but that a few have failed in the past through lack of competent engineering and legal counsel. There's a big Dallas project ready to go over, which calls for the spending of $6,000,000 in reclaiming 11,500 acres of river bottom land highly valuable for industrial sites and in straightening the channel of the Trinity river, which will forever prevent flood overflow in that section.

THESE are some of the achievements of the champions of land reclamation by flood control and the use of flood water in Texas.

D. M. PUCKETT TESTIFIES AT ROAD HEARING

Declares Commissioners Paid Loftin for Seeking New Road Designation

SAYS HE WAS "WARNED"

Asserts Contractor Threatened to "Get His Job" For Making a Portest

AUSTIN, Nov. 10. (AP)—D. M. Puckett, former Clay county highway engineer, testified before the house investigating committee Wednesday that the Clay county commissioners court had paid Rubin Loftin of Henrietta $250 to come before the state highway commission and seek a state highway designated from Jacksboro to Henrietta. Loftin was employed "because he was so close to Jim Ferguson," Puckett said.

Puckett, who now lives in Wichita Falls, said Clay County had 50 miles of state designated highways but that four construction jobs were underway during the time L. E. Whitham had the maintenance contract, so that Whitham had only about 15 miles to maintain. The construction companies were required to maintain the roads they were working on.

Says Whitham Paid $8,600.

Whitham was paid $8,600 to maintain the roads, Puckett said.

Puckett said that though the Clay county commissioners court was paying his salary and was well satisfied with his work, he received November 12, 1925, a letter from Eugene Smith, at that time secretary of the highway commission, that he was relieved of his duties. Smith's letter was ignored, but several months later he resigned after the highway commission informed the county commissioners Clay county would receive no more state aid unless Puckett was relieved.

"I insisted on the contractors living up strictly to their contract specifications," Puckett said. "One contractor told me he'd get my job after I had protested his using defective piling."

Puckett said he understood Loftin had not been able to get the highway designation, though he had exhibited a telegram to the Clay county commissioners court to the effect a designation had been granted from Antelope through Henrietta to the Red river. "I undestand the telegram was signed by Jim Ferguson," Puckett said.

Kansas City To Dedicate Its Great War Memorial In Great Style Today

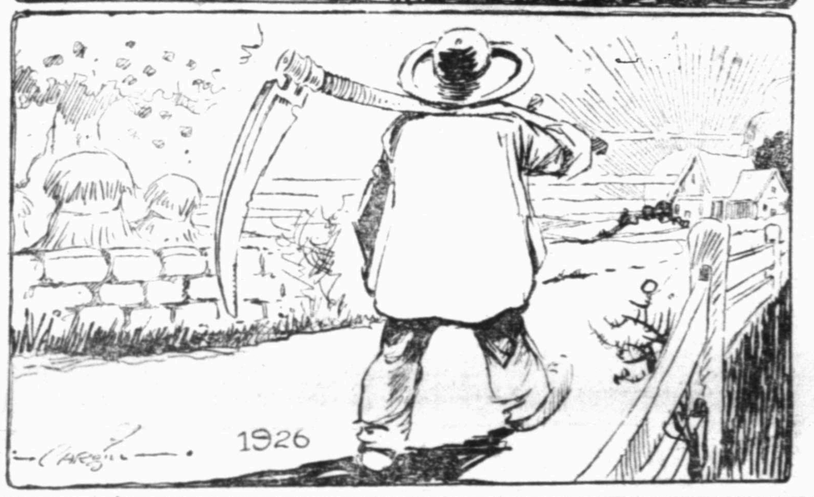

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 10. (AP)—A giant limestone shaft, thrusting heavenward, a huge bowl of perpetual fire will be the gathering place of a mighty throng tomorrow when the shaft and stone buildings that flank it are dedicated to the memory of the city's heroic veterans—dead and living—of the World war.

A tribute from the humble and the rich is the ode in stone that will be dedicated by President Coolidge who, with Mrs. Coolidge and party, will arrive from the national capital on a special train tomorrow morning. The idea for the memorial was conceived six days after the signing of the armistice, terminating history's greatest war. This impulse, born of a throbbing, vibrant desire to express the gratitude of a grateful people, took root in the minds of young and old and within a year more than $7,000 persons had contributed more than $2,000,000 to the construction of the memorial.

Atop memorial hill, opposite union station the shaft pierces the sky and commands a vista of the city and a portion of the Missouri valley. The buildings that flank the shaft will be used for a war museum and a memorial hall for the American Legion.

JURY IS TOLD MARSHALL WAS TO HAVE PAID

Lindley Unfolds Alleged Hold-Up and Death Plot Details

FIRST STATE WITNESS

Murder Trial of Henry Marshall Starts in 89th District Court

Testifying that Henry Marshall had offered him $500 to help in the slaying of Charlie Marshall, killed on the night of July 17, last, J. F. Lindley, charged jointly with Henry Marshall for Charlie Marshall's death, took the stand in the 89th district court Wednesday as the first important state witness in the Marshall murder case. The trial opened Thursday morning. A jury was selected without much difficulty and Lindley was put on the stand by the state to tell of alleged conferences and arrangements made between himself and the two Marshalls.

Lindley testified he had met Charles Marshall, the dead man, several weeks prior to the shooting and had had several conversations with him over watch trade. Later, the witness said, he was accosted by Henry Marshall who introduced himself on the street one day for no apparent reason. He sat in a poker game with Henry Marshall once, he said, and a few days prior to the killing of Charlie Marshall, was invited by Henry to go for an automobile ride.

Plan Is Unfolded.

On the ride, Lindley said, Henry unfolded his plan for "bumping off" Charlie Marshall. Lindley said he agreed to it and was assured by Marshall he would be paid $500 for it. An agreement was reached, he testified, whereby he was to seek to induce Charlie Marshall to go with him to the Henry Marshall garage and there stage a holdup of the latter. Lindley said Charlie Marshall agreed to this and accordingly the two went to the Henry Marshall home on Polk street on the night of July 17. They secreted themselves in the garage Lindley said, and when Henry Marshall and his wife drove up, they stepped out in front of the car.

Lindley said that almost immediately shots began coming from the automobile and that, so far as he knew, no shots were fired either by himself or Charlie Marshall on the ground.

According to Lindley's testimony he was a willing accomplice of Henry Marshall up to the time the first shots were fired, but that when the shooting began he saw at once that Henry Marshall was shooting at him (Lindley) as well as at Charlie Marshall.

Sought To Save Him.

Thereupon, the witness said, he seized Charlie Marshall and tried to drag him to safety. Although shot through the right hand and forearm, Lindley said he carried Charlie Marshall a few feet and was then forced to drop him and flee. He said he left that night for Seymour where his wife's relatives lived and remained there until his arrest a few days after the shooting. He has been in the county jail ever since.

Charlie Marshall's body was found on the yard near the shooting the morning after the affair. Henry Marshall reported immediately to the police, saying he had shot it out with two men whom he believed to be hi-jackers attempting to hold him up in the rear of his home. He was not taken in custody for some time, but later he and Lindley were both indicted by a grand jury for murder. Marshall perfected a $10,000 bond.

Considerable wrangling between counsel developed during the testimony, the defense seeking to make a matter of record the alleged statement that charges pending against Lindley would be dropped if he would testify in the case. Judge P. A. Martin however, ruled this point was immaterial at the present time.

Testimony Completed.

Lindley's testimony was completed at the adjournment of court Wednesday and it was evidently a surprise. State and defense attorneys said they did not know who would be called when court opened Thursday morning.

Jury selection was not so formidable a task as had been anticipated. Less than half the venire was exhausted in picking the 12 men, who are as follows:

Dove Of Peace Settles Again Over Queen's Train As More Guests Leave

QUEEN MARIE'S TRAIN AT DENVER, Nov. 10. (AP)—Harmony settled over Queen Marie's train again today.

While the royal party was enjoying a hearty reception by Denver residents the Lois Fuller party which had become involved in much controversy aboard the special left for New York.

Miss Fuller, war time friend of the queen left on her own accord, with the understanding that she could remain with the party as long as she wished as a guest of the queen and Colonel John H. Carroll, host to her majesty.

With her went Miss May Birkhead, a press agent, and Miss Gabrielle Bloch, a secretary. The women were given a special car to take them to New York as guests of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, of which Colonel Carroll is general manager.

The Fuller party which joined the entourage at Spokane on the westward journey as guests of Samuel Hill, whose Maryhill museum was dedicated by Marie became identified with the quarrel between Hill and Major Stanley Washburn, special aide to the queen. The dispute concerned the question of command and although Mr. Hill left the train at Seattle, the queen found herself still between two groups of friends who declared they were worrying in her interest but, through opposing channels.

D. M. PUCKETT TESTIFIES AT ROAD HEARING

Declares Commissioners Paid Loftin for Seeking New Road Designation

SAYS HE WAS "WARNED"

Asserts Contractor Threatened to "Get His Job" For Making a Portest

AUSTIN, Nov. 10. (AP)—D. M. Puckett, former Clay county highway engineer, testified before the house investigating committee Wednesday that the Clay county commissioners court had paid Rubin Loftin of Henrietta $250 to come before the state highway commission and seek a state highway designated from Jacksboro to Henrietta. Loftin was employed "because he was so close to Jim Ferguson," Puckett said.

Puckett, who now lives in Wichita Falls, said Clay County had 50 miles of state designated highways but that four construction jobs were underway during the time L. E. Whitham had the maintenance contract, so that Whitham had only about 15 miles to maintain. The construction companies were required to maintain the roads they were working on.

Says Whitham Paid $8,600.

Whitham was paid $8,600 to maintain the roads, Puckett said.

Puckett said that though the Clay county commissioners court was paying his salary and was well satisfied with his work, he received November 13, 1925, a letter from Eugene Smith, at that time secretary of the highway commission, that he was relieved of his duties. Smith's letter was ignored, but several months later he resigned after the highway commission informed the county commissioners Clay county would receive no more state aid unless Puckett was relieved.

"I insisted on the contractors living up strictly to their contract specifications," Puckett said. "One contractor told me he'd get my job, after I had protested his using defective piling."

Puckett said he understood Loftin had not been able to get the highway designation, though he had exhibited a telegram to the Clay county commissioners court to the effect a designation had been granted from Antelope through Henrietta to the Red river. "I undestand the telegram was signed by Jim Ferguson," Puckett said.

JURY IS TOLD MARSHALL WAS TO HAVE PAID

Lindley Unfolds Alleged Hold-Up and Death Plot Details

FIRST STATE WITNESS

Murder Trial of Henry Marshall Starts in 89th District Court

Testifying that Henry Marshall had offered him $500 to help in the slaying of Charlie Marshall, killed on the night of July 17, last, J. F. Lindley, charged jointly with Henry Marshall for Charlie Marshall's death, took the stand in the 89th district court Wednesday as the first important state witness in the Marshall murder case. The trial opened Thursday morning. A jury was selected without much difficulty and Lindley was put on the stand by the state to tell of alleged conferences and arrangements made between himself and the two Marshalls.

Lindley testified he had met Charles Marshall, the dead man, several weeks prior to the shooting and had had several conversations with him over a watch trade. Later, the witness said, he was accosted by Henry Marshall who introduced himself on the street one day for no apparent reason. He sat in a poker game with Henry Marshall once, he said, and a few days prior to the killing of Charlie Marshall, was invited by Henry to go for an automobile ride.

Plan Is Unfolded.

On the ride, Lindley said, Henry unfolded his plan for "bumping off" Charlie Marshall. Lindley said he agreed to it and was assured by Marshall he would be paid $500 for it. An agreement was reached, he testified, whereby he was to seek to induce Charlie Marshall to go with him to the Henry Marshall garage and there stage a holdup of the latter. Lindley said Charlie Marshall agreed to this and accordingly the two went to the Henry Marshall home on Polk street on the night of July 17. They secreted themselves in the garage. Lindley said, and when Henry Marshall and his wife drove up, they stepped out in front of the car.

Lindley said that almost immediately shots began coming from the automobile and that, so far as he knew, no shots were fired either by himself or Charlie Marshall on the ground.

According to Lindley's testimony he was a willing accomplice of Henry Marshall up to the time the first shots were fired, but that when the shooting began he saw at once that Henry Marshall was shooting at him (Lindley) as well as at Charlie Marshall.

Sought To Save Him.

Thereupon, the witness said, he seized Charlie Marshall and tried to drag him to safety. Although shot through the right hand and forearm, Lindley said he carried Charlie Marshall a few feet and was then forced to drop him and flee. He said he left that night for Seymour where his wife's relatives lived and remained there until his arrest a few days after the shooting. He has been in the county jail ever since.

Charlie Marshall's body was found on the yard near the shooting the morning after the affair. Henry Marshall reported immediately to the police, saying he had shot it out with two men whom he believed to be hi-jackers attempting to hold him up in the rear of his home. He was not taken in custody for some time, but later he and Lindley were both indicted by a grand jury for murder. Marshall perfected a $10,000 bond.

Considerable wrangling between counsel developed during the testimony, the defense seeking to make a matter of record the alleged statement that charges pending against Lindley would be dropped if he would testify in the case. Judge F. A. Martin however, ruled this point was immaterial at the present time.

Testimony Completed.

Lindley's testimony was completed at the adjournment of court Wednesday and it was evidently a surprise. State and defense attorneys said they did not know who would be called when court opened Thursday morning.

Jury selection was not so formidable a task as had been anticipated. Less than half the venire was exhausted in picking the 12 men, who are as follows:

Kansas City To Dedicate Its Great War Memorial In Great Style Today

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 10. (AP)—A giant limestone shaft, thrusting heavenward, a huge bowl of perpetual fire will be the gathering place of a mighty throng tomorrow when the shaft and stone buildings that flank it are dedicated to the memory of the city's heroic veterans—dead and living—of the World war.

A tribute from the humble and the rich is the ode in stone that will be dedicated by President Coolidge who, with Mrs. Coolidge and party, will arrive from the national capital on a special train tomorrow morning. The idea for the memorial was conceived six days after the signing of the armistice, terminating history's greatest war. This impulse, born of a throbbing, vibrant desire to express the gratitude of a great people, took root in the minds of young and old, and within a year more than $7,000 persons had contributed more than $2,000,000 to the construction of the memorial.

Atop memorial hill, opposite union station the shaft pierces the sky and commands a vista of the city and a portion of the Missouri valley. The buildings that flank the shaft will be used for a war museum and a memorial hall for the American Legion.

Dove Of Peace Settles Again Over Queen's Train As More Guests Leave

QUEEN MARIE'S TRAIN AT DENVER, Nov. 10. (AP)—Harmony settled over Queen Marie's train again today.

While the royal party was enjoying a hearty reception by Denver residents the Lois Fuller party which had become involved in much controversy aboard the special left for New York.

Miss Fuller, war time friend of the queen left on her own accord, with the understanding that she could remain with the party as long as she wished as a guest of the queen and Colonel John H. Carroll, host to her majesty.

With her went Miss May Birkhead, a press agent, and Miss Gabrielle Bloch, a secretary. The women were given a special car to take them to New York as guests of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, of which Colonel Carroll is general manager.

The Fuller party which joined the entourage at Spokane on the westward journey as guests of Samuel Hill, whose Maryhill museum was dedicated by Marie became identified with the quarrel between Hill and Major Stanley Washburn, special aide to the queen. The dispute concerned the question of command and although Mr. Hill left the train at Seattle, the queen found herself still between two groups of friends who declared they were worrying in her interest but through opposing channels.

SHUT-DOWN IS MAKING GOOD

Operators Praise Enforcement of Court Order In Seminole Field

TULSA, Okla., Nov. 10.—The Seminole shut-down is making good, and while the total number of producers there continue to gain, the output is kept down to the actual ability of the pipe lines and producers to care for the daily production.

Only praise is heard from the 15 producers and the hundreds of royalty owners at the fairness of the Seminole umpire, Ray M. Collins, in rigidly enforcing the shut-down rules.

The shut-down continues until November 25, when the pipe lines are expected to have increased their facilities materially and many of the producers have gotten storage tanks up. All of this activity is under way, but an unbiased survey indicates that little real relief can have been furnished by November 25.

It is the view of oil men that the shut-down should be prolonged for an indefinite period, and not only prolong the life of the Seminole field, but also help to stabilize the Oklahoma and Mid-Continent oil market. The great increase in Oklahoma output the week just ended would actually show a decline, but for Seminole. Therefore it would be not only wisdom, but a patriotic duty for the Seminole operators when they meet again to agree that the shut-down should be continued indefinitely.

Armistice Day!

ON November 11th, 1918, the shout of "Peace" was joyfully echoed around the world. Arms were stacked, armies began their homeward march, the tramp of the victorious was heard in every allied country.

Those who returned were met with open arms and joyous greeting, but those brave ones who made the supreme sacrifice were resting on the battlefields where they gave all that we might enjoy the prosperity and happiness that now is ours.

Let us pause today in silent tribute and reverence to those brave souls whose memory is dear in the heart of every American and whose valor will always be imbedded in the minds of our children.

"I like to see a man who can attend business and have time to go to prayer meeting. I like an all-round man," he said. He pointed out the ethics of the service club and compared them with the church, showing that each stands for sound business methods, a high standard of morals and the sanctity of the home.

Today marks the eighth anniversary of signing the armistice that ended the World War.

Eight years ago the World was in the throes of the greatest and bloodiest war of history. But today we are enjoying peace, happiness, prosperity and universal liberty.

Let us pause in memory of those noble heroes, who at Chateau Thierry, Argonne, the Marne and throughout the entire great war fought and died for our Liberty.

WHAT FARMERS EAT

VARIOUS interesting conclusions have been drawn from a recent study of food consumption by farm families made by the bureau of home economics of the United States department of agriculture. This study was part of a standard of living study for which figures were collected from 1,331 farm families in four states—Kansas, Ohio, Missouri, and Kentucky.

Kentucky and Missouri led in the consumption of pork, bacon, lard, molasses, and corn meal—foods which usually play an important part in the southern diet. Beef, potatoes, dried fruits, beans, and peas were used in larger quantities on the farms of Kansas and Ohio. Milk, cream, eggs and poultry were consumed in larger quantities in Missouri and Kansas. Ohio and Missouri led in the consumption of purchased bread, but when bread is expressed as equivalent to flour, the wheat consumption in the four states was similar. Fresh vegetables and fruits were consumed in larger quantities in Missouri and Ohio than in Kansas and Kentucky. On the whole, the diet of the farm families studied was nourishing and abundant. The chief lack was in the proportion of fruits and vegetables to other important foods.

Foods furnished by the farm were valued at a fair price, somewhat between what would have been received had they been sold and what would have been paid had they been purchased locally. On this basis it was found that 40 per cent of the average value of all the farm family's living was represented by food, one-third of which was purchased. The total cost of food per man per year varied in the different states. It averaged $147 per adult-male unit in the states studied. This means the cost of food consumed by the average moderately active man. The proportions spent for the various food groups are: Twenty-eight per cent for meat, eggs, and cheese; 19 per cent for milk and cream; 12 per cent for fatty foods; 19 per cent for fruits and vegetables; 10 per cent for cereals and 12 per cent for other foods. The largest proportion of purchased food was in Ohio, 39 per cent. In Kansas it was 36 per cent, in Kentucky 29, and in Missouri 27 per cent. Food furnished by the farm thus amounted to 60 or 65 per cent of all food consumed.

A more wide-spread investigation of the subject would be interesting. Diet plays a much larger part in the welfare of a people than is usually considered.

FALL

THE period of four months which we call the season of "Autumn" or "Fall" really consists of two seasons, well marked off from each other; the former the season of harvest and vintage, the latter the season of the dying of the year, of the fall of the leaf. It is suggested that "Autumn" (from a Sanscrit root which signifies "abundance" or "the harvest") would be the proper designation for the former; and "Fall" for the latter.

The literature of autumn (the "Autumn" of our new division) is meager; in contrast to the literature of the fall of the year, which is sufficiently rich in several languages, especially the Chinese. Why the contrast? Why should the literature of fall be richer than that of autumn? Because it is the season of sadness, and sadness is much more potent to inspire song than gladness. "Nothing's so dainty sweet as lovely melancholy," says old John Fletcher. And better yet, Shelley: "The sweetest songs are those that tell of saddest thought."

The greatest of fall poems is that by Ou-yang Hsiu (flourished about 1,000 A. D.) which describes the sudden coming of fall. We quite, in part. Mr. Waley's translation, but substitutes "Fall" for Waley's "Autumn."

"Master Ou-yang was reading his books at night when he heard a strange sound coming from the northwest. He paused and listened intently, saying to himself: 'How strange, how strange!' First there was a pattering and rustling; but suddenly this broke into a great churning and crashing like the noise of waves that wake the traveler at night, when wind and rain suddenly come; and where they lash the ship, there is a jangling and clanging as of metal against metal. I called to my boy, bidding him go out and see what noise this could be. The boy said: 'The moon and stars are shining; the milky way glitters in the sky. Nowhere is there any noise of men. The noise must be in the trees.'—'I-hsi! alas!' I said, 'this must be the sound of fall. Oh, why has fall come? Her colors are mournful and pale; her breath is shivering and raw, pricking men's skin and bones; her thoughts are desolate;—her whisperings are sorrowful and cold, but her shouts are wild and angry. Pleasant grasses grew soft and green. air trees, and their boughs were stripped.—She is called 'the Doom-Spirit of Heaven and Earth;' for her thoughts are bent on stern destruction.'"

The only thing in English which gives us anything like the same feeling of of that sudden change from autumn to fall is the opening stanza of Shelley's Ode to the West Wind. No, there's a passage in Mathew Arnold's "Tristram and Iseult" in like sort. Look it up reader, and be on the alert for that phenomenon so vividly described by Ou-yang Hsiu.

SECRETS OF THE DUST

"FOR out of it thou wast taken," which is to say that Mother Earth. And the Good Books say that you will live "till thou return to the ground."

Some soils support beautiful flowers, others the deadly upas tree and the poison ivy. But what bewildering possibilities "common earth" must have, to fabricate the millions of types of men, women and children?

What rare earth made George Washington, what kind fashioned the golden voice of Sarah Bernhardt?

Unriddle the secrets of the dust. Check up and dispose of the various earths, in proportion as each endows a man with the spirit of a lion, a mouse, a rabbit.

There is a special earth for wheat, another for violets, another for wild grapes, still another kind in which diamonds are found, and there only, search the wide world over. Also there is the crystalized earth in which to seek gold.

What kind of clay were you made of?

In man's material fabrications, one sort of clay makes good, useful, yellow bowls; other clay thin shiny porcelain, rather more for vanity and pride than for human nature's daily needs.

But each class of clay has its serviceable importance, for the world is wide, the demands are many, and no two men think or act alike.

And it is well.

In the days of the alchemists the supreme test be it mineral, beast, fish, man, was to reduce the object, if possible, by fire, then poke in the ashes to find the liberated spirit which the alchemists eagerly sought. They never found it.

Let us see, today.

After the cremation of a man's body, the urn holds a few handfuls of coarse black sand. The fire has released the restless spirit, has purified the dust, which alone remains of all that was called a man.

Now then, look in the sand in the urn for the suffering, the hating, loving, patience in pain, charity, mercy, redemption. Is it the dust of a great queen, a poor little grisette, a mighty king, or a miserable beggar?

The dust keeps its secret to the end.

At that, it's probably cheaper to call it a man's hat at $7.50, even if it only contains 75 cents worth of material than to call the same thing millinery and pay $19.98 for it.

200 Delegates In Childress As Methodist Conference Is Opened

Special to Record News

CHILDRESS, Texas, Nov. 10.—With more than 200 delegates and visitors already present and more arriving on every train, the Northwest Texas Methodist conference was formally opened for a five-day session here Wednesday morning. The visitors are being met at the train by cars provided by a committee headed by C. V. Jones, working in co-operation with the chamber of commerce and are taken to the registration booth at the First Methodist church where the meetings will be held.

The mornings will be devoted to business sessions while the afternoons will be taken up with business.

The conference was informally opened Tuesday night when Dr. C. C. Selecman of Dallas, president of S. M. U. addressed the delegates and visitors at the First Methodist church auditorium on the subject, "The Church." In his discourse the speaker stresses the fact that the church is divine, permanent, and victorious. He also expressed the belief that the kingdom of God will some day rule the world.

Dr. Selecman talked to the high school students Wednesday morning.

Cotton Aid Plan Started By Women's Chamber Of Commerce

Special to The Record News.

FREDERICK, Okla., Nov. 10. This is "Buy-a-Smock" week in Frederick—meaning that the campaign recently inaugurated by the Woman's Chamber of Commerce of this city to get the women of this community to buy and wear cotton smocks about their work, as a means of stimulating the consumption of cotton and therefore its price, is formally on.

The movement was started a few nights ago at a banquet given by the Women's Chamber of Commerce, when 100 ladies present pledged themselves to give this concrete and practical proof of their loyalty to the cotton raisers of the south.

The chairman of the meeting, in urging inauguration of the movement, said that there was reason to hope other communities, in Oklahoma, Texas and other cotton producing states, would take it up and thus the demand for cotton products would be considerably aided.

Already in the stores and homes of Frederick women are going about their daily tasks wearing attractive cotton smocks. They declare that they like the garments, as they are not only good looking, but afford protection for their dresses.

CUTS ACREAGE

Haskell Farmer Says He Will Reduce Cotton Crop.

Special to The Record News.

HASKELL, Nov. 10.—J. F. Pinkerton, a pioneer stock and ranch man, and who in late years has a number of farms over the county and owns and operates a dairy, stated Tuesday that he was cutting his cotton acreage considerably, that he had between five and six hundred acres sowed to wheat and oats now and would have all of his present cotton crop gathered within a few days and would put in some more grain. Mr. Pinkerton will run his dairy cattle on this grain. Haskell county cotton will be largely gathered within the next two weeks and the largest acreage put in grain and reserved for feed stuffs that has even been the case in the past.

Lyrics of Life

By Douglas Malloch.

OUR FRONT STAIRS

It's 18 steps up our front stairs
I've counted them, and know
But in the morning no one cares
About a step or so.
I counted them late, late one night
When I went up to bed,
I wonder that I got it right,
For I was nearly dead.

In fact I think a lot of times
That wasn't right at all,
Because the stairs a fellow climbs
At night are twice as tall.
It's 18 steps when I come down
To eat my egg and toast;
At night, of all the steps in town
I know ours are the most.

So counting doesn't mean a thing,
This one, two, three and four:
It's when you cry or when you sing
That makes them less or more
It's being tired that makes it far,
Lots farther than you dream:
Things aren't what they really are
They're what they really seem.

THE CURSE OF DRINK.

(A Fun Shop Movie.)
By W. T. Pentress.

Reel 1

(Scene: Headquarters of a Temperance Association. The secretary is talking to two of his workers.)

Secretary: "It would be very useful if we could find some aged man who has never taken a drop of liquor all his life. It would make excellent publicity material."

First Worker: "I'll scout around and see what I can uncover."

Second Worker: "And so will I."

Reel 2

Scene: The Same. The Secretary is at his desk. (Enter the Two Workers).

First Worker: "We've found a man who is 90 years old and who never took a drink of anything alcoholic in all his life."

Secretary: "Where is he?"

First Worker: "He's bedridden and can't leave his home. We'll have to go there."

Reel 3.

(Scene: Bedroom of 90-year-old teetotaler. Enter Secretary, Two Workers, Three Ministers, and Two Reporters.)

Secretary: "Is it true that you have never taken a drink?"

Old Man (in a weak voice): "Yes, it's true. Never a drop."

(There is a terrific commotion in the next room.)

Secretary: "What on earth is that noise?"

Old Man: "I guess it's just papa coming home drunk again."

THE BIG PARADE.

Four weeks ago I was a spinster. I had been invited to spend the week-end at the home of Miss R. L. another spinster.

At the last moment, I caught my best dress on a nail and tore it. By the time I could change to another, it was too late for me to catch the train.

So I stayed at home.

That night a burglar entered my house.

Oh, man!

THAT was my lucky day!

Please pardon my writing, as I am writing with my left hand.

The other night I had a date with my sweetie. On my way home from work an automobile skidded into me and broke my right arm.

Naturally, I was unable to keep the date. That was what seemed more tragic to me than a broken arm.

The next morning she called me up and said, "I'm SO sorry you couldn't come over last night. Papa had a nice surprise all fixed up for us. We all went to the concert."

Lucky?

THAT was MY lucky day, believe me brother!

"Why not?" asked Walt.

"Because," answered Old Reuben, "stagnation is something that stands still, and women could never stand, still."—Peter Folkemer.

WASHING AWAY

Sable Island, which belongs to Canada and stands far out in the Atlantic, is a sand bank that stands well above the ocean level and is not sinking but is rapidly wearing away. When first discovered three centuries ago it was very much larger. It is computed that in a few thousand years Sable Island will disappear completely, plouged away by wind and wave. Heligoland, so strategically located on the little bit of Atlantic coast that Germany possesses, is also wearing away, and the swift channel currents are washing the cliffs of chalk of England and France and pulling them down. In a little while England and France will be so much further off that everybody in Europe and America, in the year 4000, will not be quite so anxious to try to swim the Channel.

Now what do you know about that?

Answers to yesterday's questions:

1. Insulation is the protection of an electric current by surrounding it with non-conductive substances.
2. Short circuit is an escape of electrical current before it reaches eally all underground the danger is negligible.
4. A feather bed is probably a its proper destination.
5. It is dangerous to telephone in an electric storm especially in the country and suburbs, but in a city where wires are all or practi- slight protection from electricity, but as anyone inside a house, with the doors and windows closed is personally safe, hiding the head under pillows is a foolish procedure.
5. All lightning does not necessarily strike the earth.
6. It is decidedly dangerous to stand under a tree in an electric storm, as electricity often skims down the trunks of trees, or knocks trees over; the open is preferable, but the best refuge is a house or cave.

WARNER LANDS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10. (AP) Assistant Secretary Warner, in charge of the navy department's aviation activities, flew from Washington to Norfolk today on a test flight, landing safely there early this afternoon.

"I'M THE GINK"

I'm the gink who has a daughter who sings. At least I am sure she does. When I have a visitor at my home I insist on her singing for her or him. I know she sings well because I pay for the lessons. My daughter may not want to perform but I insist. I know nothing about voice, but I am sure my daughter has a good one, and if the visitor fails to exclaim over it and tell me that she has a grand opera voice I don't like it a bit. I think everyone is interested because I am. They just must hear her sing.

LIVES ON FARM IN OKLAHOMA

Happy Woman Praises Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

In a sunny pasture in Oklahoma, a herd of sleek cows was grazing.

They made a pretty picture. But the thin woman in the blue checked apron sighed as she looked at them. She was tired of cows, tired of her tedious work in the dairy. She was tired of cooking for a houseful of boarders, besides caring for her own family. The burdens of life seemed too heavy for her failing health. She had lost confidence in herself.

One day she began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and her general health began to improve. She took it faithfully. Now she can do her work without any trouble, sleeps well and is no longer blue and tired.

This woman, Mrs. Cora Short, R. R. 9, Box 396, Oklahoma City, Okla., writes: "Everybody now says: 'Mrs. Short, what are you doing to yourself?' I weigh 135 and my weight before I took it was 115. I have taken seven bottles of the Vegetable Compound."

EVER TRAGEDY

The tragedy is ever-present.

Just a week ago an aged minister of an Oklahoma community grown old in long and faithful service of the church, came to Wichita Falls for the annual Methodist conference. His day of other service, perhaps, was done. But he planned on, looked forward to, prepared for those few days in this Texas community when he would again drink of the inspiration that comes with such a conference. It was the big thing for him in all the year. He counted on it for fresh invigoration.

He came and for a few days the world was all roses; pneumonia developed; hospital attention was necessary, yet with all that medical science could do, he died.

It is not an unusual thing when old men die. Yet death is always tragic to someone. Rev. Thomas, of course, suffers less than any. He was prepared to meet his Master. A life-time spent in service was also a life-time spent in personal preparation. The grim reaper held no terror for him.

Yet to those who knew him; those who admired and respected him for his worth, his passing under the circumstances comes as real grief. It seems ironical that he should be called away in the very middle of the day in which he found his greatest enjoyment. It is ironical, perhaps, but irony, grief and bewilderment must be included in the world's make-up just as prominently as is joy and contentment.

THE DIVIDING LINE

Will Rogers, as was expected, kept his audience at the Junior college Tuesday night in high hilarity. He has attained his present greatness through his consistent ability to just that. For several years now he has seldom failed to draw a laugh from the most critical audience and the fact that he can produce the goods on all occasions and under all conditions is the principal reason for the great demand for his high priced services.

Yet, after all, once he is heard, his process seems ridiculously simple. What he says and what he does are not so radically different from the funny thrusts we hear every day. And after we have heard him we can't help but laugh and then say: "Now why hadn't I thought of that before?"

The reason "I" hadn't thought of it before is because the knack was lacking and because there was no social occasion to think. Not many people in this world aside from Will Rogers have the happy faculty of seeing the humorous side of everything, not because they are inferior mentally but because they don't make it a business. And they don't make a business of it, no doubt, because they'd fail if they did.

All of which goes to show that the dividing line between genius and mediocrity isn't so wide, after all.

Armistice Day To Be Observed By Many Neighboring Communities

Special to Record News

Armistice Day, Thursday, November 11, will be celebrated widely throughout north Texas and southern Oklahoma. American Legion posts in practically all communities have prepared for celebrations of some sort, these ranging from mere informal meetings to elaborate parades, banquets, addresses and dances.

Some of the plans are as follows:

OLNEY—Special memorial services will be held Thursday at 11 o'clock in the First Methodist church, with Rev. M. D. Council, delivering the principal address. Preceding the church services, the newly organized American Legion post will hold its first annual meeting, at which time officers will be elected and a name for the post selected.

MEMPHIS—This city will close up tight for Armistice Day, observances Thursday. At 10:30 a big parade will be staged in the downtown section, which will include the American Legion, school children and townsmen. A program will be given at 11 o'clock on the courthouse lawn with Attorney Allen Grundy and County Attorney John Beaver delivering the principal addresses.

The entire program is under the direction of the American Legion.

GRANDFIELD.—This city will observe a quiet Armistice Day program with ex-service men of the World War in charge.

VERNON.—The Albert E. Robinson Post of the American Legion will conduct Armistice Day services here Thursday. Pastors of various churches have been asked to make short talks at the commemoration program which will be held in the American Legion hall.

ALTUS.—Special Armistice Day services will be observed here Thursday morning at 11 o'clock, with ex-service men in charge. Suitable addresses will be made and special music will be provided.

BOWIE.—Ex-service men of Bowie will be in charge of memorial services to be held here Thursday morning. Addresses and music will be given a 11 o'clock, commemorating the end of the World War.

CLARENDON—Two committtes composed of the Clarendon Lions club and chamber of commerce men canvassed the merchants of the town this afternoon and found a hundred per cent response to Mayor Taylor's proclamation to close for the Armistice program of the city on Thursday.

The largest parade that this town has ever seen is being arranged to march through the main streets of the town ending up with an open air celebration on an improvised platform where a short pageant arranged for the occasion will be given.

Platonic Love Dangerous If Allowed To Endure

Can a Friendship Between a Married Man Remain Beautiful or Should it be Broken Off?

DOROTHY DIX

Dear Dorothy Dix:

The object of my devotion is a married man of 31. He is moral, honest, refined, good-natured and generous. I am 25 years of age and single. We are both employed by the same firm and have been acquainted nearly four years, but it has been only within the last four months that we have really known that we loved each other.

Our love has been innocent and beautiful. Every evening my friend waits for me and escorts me to my train and on Saturday afternoons we take long walks in the park together. That is all, but our happiness glorifies the world for us and has made a changed man of my friend. Previously he was very sedate and quiet. Now he is always jolly. He has shown more enthusiasm in his work and has received an increase in salary, for all of which he says I am responsible. I have learned also that his home life is much happier that he is more attentive to his wife, bringing her candy and flowers and often taking her out to dinner or the theatre.

I, too, am much happier than I ever was in my life before, and my friend is of the opinion that since every one seems to be benefited by our friendship there is no reason to break it up.

Nevertheless, I think it best to end it, but the question is how can I do so without hurting him? Is there not something I could do that would make our friendship unpossible?

If he were not married I would do anything rather than give him up, but as it is I must do what is right regardless of my feelings but I want to hurt him as gently as possible.

Answer:

As long as you can keep your friendship on the platonic lines on which it seems to be running at present and as long as it is bringing added happiness to the three persons vitally concerned, there seems to be no reason why it should be broken up.

Just how much a man and woman who are not free to marry may safely care for each other is a matter of individual temperament. There are men and women who never know anything but a physical love. There are other men and women capable of a deep spiritual love and who can give to each other sort of glorified friendship that enriches the lives of both and makes no one the poorer.

Yours appears to be such a case as this. You give the man the companionship he craves, you inspire him, you make him better to his wife, and so you rob her of nothing. But the danger lies in passing over the platonic line and turning the friendship into the kind of love that is a sin.

Perhaps the danger that you fear is imminent and that it is safest to break off your friendship while it is still pure and undefiled. In that case, you are right to bring an end to it swiftly. But there is no way in which you can do it without hurting the man. You cannot break hearts without pain.

Don't try to disillusion the man about yourself. Leave him at least his love-dream unmarred as a comfort. And don't imagine that you can put a bar between you in marrying some one yourself for whom you don't care. The only thing that you can do is to leave the place where you are working and where you see him daily, and give him a chance to forget. Time and absence do work a cure at last.

—DOROTHY DIX.

Get a 10-cent box now.

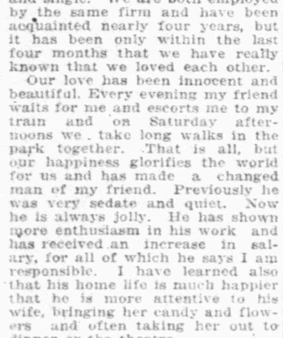

You're bilious! You have a throbbing sensation in your head, a bad taste in your mouth, your eyes burn, your skin is yellow, with dark rings under your eyes, your lips are parched. No wonder you feel ugly, mean and ill-tempered. Your system is full of bile not properly passed off, and what you need is a cleaning up inside. Don't continue being a bilious nuisance to yourself and those who love you, and don't resort to harsh physics that irritate and injure. Remember that most disorders of the stomach, liver and bowels are cured by morning with gentle, thorough Cascarets—they work while you sleep. A 10-cent box from your druggist will keep your liver and bowels clean; stomach sweet, and your head clear for months. Savex

Poor abused hands!—red, roughened and coarsened! But it isn't the work that ruins them, it's hard water and ineffective soap.

Savex not only does its work well as a soap, a water softener and a bleach—all in one—but it protects your hands, keeping them firm and white. And of course if Savex won't hurt your hands it won't hurt delicate fabrics.

Use Savex in washing machine without soaking and rubbing. Use it in washtub or basin and soak and rub only badly soiled things. Moreover, boiling and bluing are unnecessary with Savex, for it is a mild, safe bleach. SPORTING NEWS — THE RECORD NEWS — FIRST ACCURATE COMPLETE

FAST-STEPPING GRANDFIELD OUTFIT ATTACKS INDIANS AT SPUD PARK THIS AFTERNOON

Chambers Brings Club Twice Victor Over Coyotes And With But One Loss This Season.

Junior College versus Grandfield is the Amristice Day program in sports for this afternoon when these two fast elevens clash on Supdder park gridiron at 3:30. The game should be an exceptionally interesting one from the spectator's standpoint as both teams get off their plays in clean snappy fashion and as both teams use the open passing and running style of play a great deal.

Last week's contest between the college boys and Cameron Agricultural college demonstrated to the people of Wichita Falls that Coach Ludgate has molded his group of relatively green youngsters into a team of real playing ability. Today's contest will be the second opportunity the fans of the city will have to see the Indians in action since their long series away from home. Since the Tarleton game has been definitely decided for Stephensville, the game this afternoon will be the last time the Indians are to appear at Wichita Falls until the Decatur Baptist encounter here Thanksgiving.

Grandfield brings an exceptionally fast end-running and passing eleven for this contest. Coach Chambers' lads have yet to taste defeat, having won five games and tied two and scoring 143 points to opponents 26. Their opposition was not of the set-up variety either, including some of the best high school teams in the Southwest Oklahoma conference, as well as Texas teams. In their first game they swamped the Iowa Park Hawks 46-0. Then followed a 13-13 tie with Frederick. Walters next found them in an off-day, but Grandfield won 6-0. Wichita Falls high school was next overcome 16-6. Temple high school was beaten 13-7 and Comanche was fought to a 0-0 draw. Last week-end the Grandfield power turned into an avalanche which swamped the strong Ryan high school for a 49-0 count. Ryan will be remembered as throwing a scare into the Coyotes of Leo Baldwin's day and any team that rolls over Ryan like a juggernaut has the right to be called powerful.

Beat Coyotes.

Since Grandfield sprung a surprising 20-0 victory on Wichita Falls high school last year and again won pretty decisively over the local team this year, it will remain for the team of the Junior college to uphold the honor of the Texas side against this crew of plucky little battlers. Hence, the game is attracting a bit of attention from high school sport followers, too. Another drawing card of interest besides the festive nature of the day will be the fact that Coach McCallum is resting his team this week to allow recuperation of injuries from the Lion conflict. This afternoon's game, therefore, will be the city's solo grid contest of the week-end. And it may be the only one for some time if the high school has to go away for its district encounter.

Grandfield boasts a versatile backfield in Captain Hosch, passer and runner, Clemmer, hard plunger, punter and passer of unusual ability for a high school player, and Eversole, the best plunging back who has appeared on Spudder gridiron this year. This backfield is also not a bit slouchy on the defensive, the diminutive Hosch especially seeming to have his eye on every possible opening to pull down opposing gains. The Grandfield lines has demonstrated much ability in its games thus far, although probably out-classed by the college forward wall if that aggregation plays up to its usual excellence this afternoon. The two backfields will be evenly matched with the edge going to Grandfield for versatility.

Many Reserves.

Coach Chambers has announced that he will bring as reserves Lawson, fullback; Riley and Vale, ends; Maricle and McClain, linemen. Injuries have somewhat cut down Coach Ludgate's supply of line substitutes. Boyd's play be especially hard to replace if he can't make the go. Starting for Wichita Falls will be Harvey, quarter; McAninch, fullback; Stephenson and Rugeley, halves; Scoggin and Thompson, ends; Gilchrist and Burks, tackles; Bland and Ficks, guard; Patterson, center.

Coach Chambers announced his probable line-up as Hosch, quarter; Speckman, fullback; Eversole and Clemmer, halves; Dudenhoeffer, and Shelton, ends; Jones and Smart, tackles; Williams and Caldwell, guards; Gilbreath, center.

Defeat Lurks For Eastern Leaders

Tough Games Billed Over Week-End for Seven Teams

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.(AP)—Football prophets of the east today for the first time this year saw defeat lurking on Saturday for virtually every leading team in the Atlantic coast section.

Predictions were not to be made lightly either, for into the crucible of conflict this week-end will be poured the aspirations of four leaders in the fight for gridiron supremacy—Army, Notre Dame, Navy and Brown—records of three other unbeaten teams, New York university, Boston college and Haskell Indians.

Dull and faltering pencils, their output gleaned largely from the season's performance, nevertheless, checked off Princeton as having the call over Yale, Army over Notre Dame, Navy over Georgetown, Pennsylvania over Columbia, Brown over Harvard and New York university over Davis-Elkins.

Four Toss Ups.

At least four other games appear as toss-ups. They are Cornell and Dartmouth, Colgate and Syracuse, Boston college and Haskell Indians, Pittsburgh and Washington-Jefferson.

Critics base their confidence in Army on the Cadets decisive victory over Rockne's eleven of 1925, pointing to the fact that the soldier team will have virtually the same stars with additional seasoning that won so easily a year ago. Trapnell, fleet Army ball carrier injured in the Syracuse game, will be back in the lineup. Furthermore the team is considered to have been strengthened by the addition of Cagle and Murrell to the backfield.

Yale Weakened.

Anticipated loss of Kline, veteran Yale back, as a result of the death of his mother, would weaken the Blue's hope of stopping Princeton's march to its second "big three" title, observers believe. But they pointed out that Coach Tad Jones has spared his regulars from rigorous play the last two weeks in order to send his most formidable array against Slagle and company.

Navy's impressive string of victories over Purdue, Drake, Princeton, Colgate and Michigan, is accepted as justifying prediction of another triumph Saturday against Georgetown but critics see a serious threat to the Middies' record in the hill toppers unexpected triumph last week over Syracuse.

Records of the two teams give Brown a distinct edge over Harvard.

Sooners Meet Kansas Today

Jayhawks Rate as Under Dog But May Kick Over Dope

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 10.(AP)—Missouri Valley football fans who find relish in seeing the under dog stage a rally and wage a victorious battle will turn their eyes upon Lawrence tomorrow where the University of Kansas football team beaten so far this season by every Valley foe, will strive to turn the tide of reverses when it hooks up with Benny Owen's university of Oklahoma warriors.

Few there who will concede the Jayhawks a chance with Oklahoma's formidable squad, which last week put a damper on the championship hopes of Missouri by defeating the Tigers but the Kansans in the past five years have beaten the Sooners, barring last year when the teams battled to a scoreless tie.

Tomorrow's game at Lawrence is a prelude to the regular conference struggles Saturday the most important of which sees the undefeated Kansas Aggies engaging Nebraska at Lincoln. If the Aggies can beat the Corn Huskers they virtually will own title to the valley championship this year.

Missouri's unexpected defeat by Oklahoma last week may imbue the Tigers with such vengeance that Washington would be in for a tough time when the two teams hook up at Columbia. Drake and Ames meet on Ames field with a hard fight in prospect.

Grinnell and the Oklahoma Aggies both undefeated in valley games meet at Stillwater each with victories last Saturday to their credit over Kansas and Washington respectively.

13 FIGURES PROMINENTLY

The mystic number "13" figures prominently in the coming Army-Notre Dame clash. The 13th meeting of the potential national champions will be held on November 13 with Charlie Born, crack Cadet end, sporting the figure 13 on the back of his jersey. In three of their annual games to date 13 has been one team's score.

The starting line-up of Minnesota in a recent game was composed of all Minnesotans with the exception of two, Dutch Arendsee, who is a near native, having come from Aberdeen, S. D and Pasco Barnhart, from Washington.

Pirates Hope To Kill Jinx Today

AUSTIN, Nov. 10, (AP)—The Pirates from Southwestern university invade the stronghold of the Texas Longhorns at Memorial Stadium tomorrow afternoon. The game will begin at 2:30 o'clock.

The marauder team led by Coach Lefty Edens, will be there in an effort to throw off the Longhorn jinx that has hovered over them for the past 18 years. They have not won a football game from Texas since 1908, while the Steers have been running almost ruthlessly over them throughout the intervening years.

However, despite the fact that they are reported to be prepared to make their most determined stand of all time tomorrow, it is indeed likely that they will again be forced to accept the meager end of the tally.

The Longhorns have had a bad year so far this season—and the team is considered a bit weaker than usual. Nevertheless, according to all the non-partisan dope of the dopesters, they should prove equal to the occasion of once again turning back the team from Georgetown.

Coe college, Cedar Rapids, Ia., was a rendezvous for mosquitoes for three weeks, and helped condition the Coe college football squad by teaching how to use their hands and to move quickly.

St. Mary's "Galloping Gaels," Uncrowned Coast Champions

OAKLAND, Cal. Nov. 12.—The "Four Horsemen" put Notre Dame on the football map a few years back—and the "Galloping Gaels" plus the same for little St. Mary's college here, with a Notre Dame star of other years instilling a westernized Notre Dame system that so far is bowling over the entire west.

For years it has been the dream of St. Mary's to enter the Pacific Coast conference, with Oregon, Washington, California, Stanford and teams of that caliber. But the Saints were considered too small fry, and had to content themselves with cleaning up a smaller conference each year.

With "Slip Madigan, ex-Notre Dame center as coach, St. Mary's has built up a formidable machine this season that is running all opponents so ragged there is clamor for another east-west game, with St. Mary's representing the west.

A light team but an exceptional shifty, brainy, speedy team is the result of Madigan's effort. His "Galloping Gaels" are the four captains—Collins, Rooney, Watkins and Underhill—who alternate in directing play, and keep things humming with clever kicking, lengthy end runs and and uncanny ability to sense and take advantage of fumbles. This aggregation of Celts kicks the resistence of a team to pieces—and then, if the crowd appears to be showing signs of ennui, "Cowboy" Smith is called in to bring on added thrills.

"The Cowboy" is a short-legged, lithe little cuss, with speed to burn. He stretches the 25 to 40-yard runs of his teammates into from 55 to 80-yard sprints for a touchdown, and shows uncanny ability in open field running. Playing California, Smith handled the ball seven times for a total yardage of 172, or nearly 25 yards every time his signal was called.

Beach Carries Pups To Victory

Wichita Falls Juniors Beat Fairview Eleven By 20-0 Score

Wichita Falls Junior high school ran its way through Fairview high school for a 20-0 victory in a game played at Spudder park Wednesday afternoon. Beach, playing right half, scored all three touchdowns for the Coyote Pups, and all three scores came as the result of long runs around Fairview ends.

Junior high scored twice in the first quarter but Fairview held in the second period, the half ending 13-0 for the Pups. Early in the third quarter Coach Smith's lads came back strong and by a series of runs, passes, and plunges took the ball to the Junior high 10-yard line, where the Junior Coyotes held the visitors for downs and took the ball. Soon after, Beach scored the third marker and there the scoring ended.

The two teams will play a return game at Fairview a week from Friday.

The starting lineups:

Junior High	Position	Fairview
Ray	Quarter	Lyons
Bains	Left Half	Hill
Beach	Right Half	Dodd
Anders	Fullback	Counter
Beaty	Center	Richardson
Hutchinson	Left Guard	O. Dodd
Moss	Left Tackle	Gideon
Williams	Left End	Bunstine
T. Saye	Right Guard	Lowe
Dulaney	Right End	Ruyle

Substitutions—Wichita Falls, Wilson, Winthrow, Bell, West. Fairview, Turnbow for Lowe. Officials: Kay, referee; Falls, umpire; Lyon, head linesman.

KEY LOST TO PONY CAUSE

Powerful Mustang End Not Eligible for Baylor Contest

DALLAS, Nov. 10. (AP)—Southern Methodist university players, students and supporters were staggered here Wednesday when it was announced that Earl "Ox," Key one of the best ends the Mustangs ever developed, had been ruled ineligible and will not appear against the Baylor University Bears here Saturday. Scholastic standing of the player was made the basis of the ruling, it was stated.

Realizing the import of the situation, the Ponies have hurled themselves into the breach in practice and are endeavoring by fight and energy to make up part of their loss in his great defensive and offensive ability.

The eligibility of another first-string player is also in question, but officials would not disclose his identity. This player is to be given a regular scholastic examination Thursday or Friday in an effort to raise his grades to meet requirements.

The nearest substitute to Key the Mustangs have found is Alex Hooks. He has participated in games against the Aggies, and Rice Owls, displaying marked ability. Coach Ray Morrison may shift Cortemeglia to left end on defensive, however, to stop the Bears' big threat—Sam Coates.

The Mustangs went through a stiff workout Wednesday, running signals, dummy scrimmage, and attacking Baylor plays.

Another invitation was received by the Geneva college football team. This was to play the winner of the Rocky Mountain conference on December 4, at Denver, Col. No action has been taken on the offer nor on the one from the University of Florida for a battle at Jacksonville New Year's day.

Grip Beats Yaqui In Riotous Melee

Joe Whips Self; Kopecky Pins Miller Two Out Of Three

After giving Charley Grip an exceptionally boisterous battle over the better part of an hour and 23 minutes of torrid tiffing Wednesday night in the Majestic ring, Yaqui Joe with a slip of a foot and trip of a heel saw victory slither from his clutches.

The Sonora savage surprised a dubious multitude by scrapping the Buffalo bruteman on practically even terms all the way, the advantage shifting back and forth. The grapplers had split falls and were struggling along in the twenty-sixth minute of the final return when Joe hoisted his opponent on high with a crotch and neck hold, headed for the ropes to slam him overboard, then pivoted at the referee's command back toward the center of the mat, lost balance and flopped the wrong way with Grip's body landing full force on the aborigine's chest. The jolt put Joe out temporarily. Grip twisted over and pinned his shoulders.

Grip Tricky.

Yaqui startled everybody, including Grip, in the opening encounter by outmaneuvering the easterner and earning what would have been a decision on points had not the veteran bullet-head, feigned grogginess from a series of headlocks, then suddenly shifted to a body slam and followed with application of a head scissors that put Joe down for the count.

The going became exceedingly rough on the comeback, Yaqui scoring heavily with a two-fisted attack that overshadowed Grip's attempts at using the Savat. A flying mare at the 42-minute mark knocked Grip cuckoo and won the fall for the Indian.

The battle for the deciding fall was just as spirited. Both assimilated a host of punishment. Grip got away with a brace of crab holds and a couple of leg splits that each time appeared on the verge of ringing down the curtain for Sonora. Sharp use of the leg scissors and headlock kept Grip in trouble toward the close of the melee and it appeared for a while Yaqui would be returned the victor.

Kopecky Socks.

Joe Kopecky out-wrestled and out-socked Charlie Miller, the coast middle weight, winning two falls in three. Kopecky enjoyed all the better of the initial argument, copping in 33 minutes with a double toe hold. Miller conceded the fall. But Charley got his sea legs under him on the return and beat Joe to the punch time and again, scoring neatly with clouts to the mush in the clinches. Yes, this was a wrestling match, too. Kopecky gave way to a hammer lock in 15 minutes. Kopecky pulled the groggy gag on the comeback then suddenly uncorked a shove to the face, bowling over his bewildered opponent, and pounced on him for a pin fall. The fall came in five minutes.

Sandy Patterson, ex-middleweight champion of the British Isles, refereed the main event. Joe Ward, Pacific coast athletic instructor, served as arbiter in the opening bout.

Penn State's prospect for the coming season in basket ball look brighter since Mike Hammas, star forward has returned to college. He suffered a physical collapse last season. Hammas looks like his old self and will no doubt be the mainstay in the quintet this winter.

"Babe" Hollingsberry, coach at Washington State, has a great help-mate. His wife drives the "cripple" car which follows the squad on their hikes, and picks up the athletes when they become tired.

Upheaval In Texas League

* * *

Dunn Could Have Won Eight Straight

* * *

Might Have Beat Toronto With Walker

It is more hazardous to fire than to hire in baseball. A manager may hire a player who doesn't make good, but the fans don't razz him for that. But let him fire a man who makes good elsewhere and every fan makes him a target.

There was quite an upheaval down in the Texas league this year. It reverberated in such volume that the fans of Baltimore heard it very distinctly.

The Dallas club beat Fort Worth a club like the Orioles of Baltimore, considered the perpetual champions. In beating Fort Worth the Dallas club called in a veteran Fred Brainard, who had failed as manager at Wichita Falls. It was Brainard who added the punch necessary to beat Fort Worth. He was a big star.

* * *

And if Brainard had remained with the Baltimore Orioles at second base Jack Dunn probably would have made it eight straight flags instead of being beaten by Toronto—and Fort Worth might have kept its winning streak intact also.

* * *

If Buffalo had held onto Submarine Fisher, a great pitcher, that club, instead of Toronto, might have been the International league winner, for Fisher was the big noise of the Toronto club in its dash for the pennant during the last half of the season.

And had Baltimore held on to Tillie Walker, veteran outfielder and home run star, it might still have beaten out Toronto.

* * *

But both Fisher and Walker were fired and they went to star on a pennant winning club.

So did Fred Brainard.

So did Alexander the Great, at St. Louis.

And Billy Southworth.

* * *

With Alexander the Cubs might have won that flag themselves.

And with Southworth playing as he did at St. Louis the Giants might have figured in the chase.

* * *

Firing a ball player is a real bogaboo among the managers. They dread it. For you never can tell when the player will return in deeds to show up the judgment of his former boss.

Baseball history is filled with such incidents. And many more will bob up in the seasons to come.

NOTHING TO IT, SAYS HORNSBY

Card Manager Declares No Trade to Giants For Him

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 10. (AP)—Denying rumors that he would be traded to the Giants because of friction known to have existed between him and President Sam Breadon of the world's champion St. Louis Cardinals, Manager Rogers Hornsby said Wednesday he would rather play in St. Louis than any other city.

"The question of Mr. Breadon and I conferring on our terms for next year is our private business," he said. "I can only say that I would rather play in St. Louis than in any other city in the country. I do not want to play in New York or Chicago or any other city. There are certain things about the ball club that I want to discuss with Mr. Breadon. I have invested heavily in the club. I am the second largest stockholder. Mr. Breadon is the only man who owns more stock in the Cardinals than I do. Naturally being interested financially to such an extent I am interested in protecting my investment."

Hornsby has never signed a manager's contract. His player's contract expired this year. Although he has made no public statement, it is known that he will ask Breadon for a free hand in managing the Cardinals without interference from Branch Rickey, former manager and now vice president of the club, whose activities among the players Hornsby is known to have resented. Hornsby is expected to request a substantial increase in salary.

Breadon, who is in Bradentown, Fla., said over the long distance telephone that he would confer with Hornsby when he returned to St. Louis early in December and he was confident "everything will be ironed out."

WOLVERINES HEAD FOR OHIO STATE IN CONFIDENT SPIRIT

Buckeyes Cautioned By Wilce Not To Be Too Sure, Maroons Hope To Hold Purple.

CHICAGO, Nov. 10. (AP)—Outdoors again after a day of partial idleness caused by a snow storm, Big Ten teams galloped through the week's last scrimmage tonight on icy gridirons and announced themselves ready for Saturday's combats.

Michigan's squad entrained for Ohio State with conservative confidence, feeling in the best condition of the season but aware that the Buckeye backfield is as good as its own and that the fight for the conference title will require the best football of the year to win. Ohio state, whose team has met more formidable opponents than the Wolverines was cautioned against over-confidence while Wilce drilled his men on a defense against the air game.

Northwestern wound up its training for Chicago and vowed to break the string of Maroon victories which have been consecutive since Paddy Driscoll's day at the Wildcat school. Stagg told his team that if it played as much better football this week as it did a week ago against Illinois, Northwestern could be held scoreless. The Maroons have played defensive football all season and Saturday is to witness no deviation from this program.

Iowa took its last workout for the Wisconsin game at Madison polishing plays with which it hopes to win. Both schools have had dismal seasons and want to win Saturday's engagement as much as though they were still undefeated.

Rockne set out for New York with the Notre Dame team, chafing at his failure to get in a strenuous scrimmage last night before departure. The coach appeared to be on the verge of predicting defeat at the Army's hands and Notre Dame follows though if Knute would only say his team would lose it would be sure to win. But Rockne made no predictions. His team is in good shape but the coach professes no notion of what it may do or fail to do against the strong Cadets.

Illinois, Purdue and Minnesota squads will get a general workout in Saturday's respective tilts with Wabash, Franklin and Butler. Illinois, is working secretly for Ohio State, Purdue for Indiana and Minnesota for Michigan, all of whom will be met a week hence.

Indiana preparing to play host to Mississippi A. & M., went through a stiff scrimmage and spent two hours in the freezing temperature, Page believing his men will have an advantage over the southerners if the day is unreasonably cold.

NO NUPTIALS FOR RED, YET

Harold "Red" Grange just can't seem to keep free from reports of entangling alliances. Today he rises to deny that he is engaged to Marv McAllister, the actress, who starred with him in the movies. Grange said: "I get engaged to everybody every once in a while without knowing anything to say about it. I know Miss McAllister very well, but as far as getting engaged is concerned I haven't even a prospect."

Coach Stagg's footballers plunge into a tank filled with chunks of ice after finishing their practice to harden themselves.

BOWIE ELEVEN INVADES BURK

Olney Plays at Archer City; Frederick Tackles Electra Team

Although no titles will be at stake in class-A, several hard-fought grid encounters loom this afternoon here and there in Wichita Falls territory.

The Junior College Indians clash with the smart and aggressive Grandfield eleven at Spudder park. Ludgate's warriors may find Chambers' men pretty tough pickin's.

Over at Electra, Jim Reese's Tigers tangle with the scrappy Frederick team in a non-conference affair.

Burkburnett legionaires are sponsoring a battle between the Burk Bulldogs and Bowie on the Burkburnett gridiron. Coach Eaton's eleven expects real competition from Bowie. The Bulldogs are in pretty good shape and are on their mettle. The game should prove a thriller.

The Olney cubs invade Archer City to do battle with W. S. Wilson's powerful Wildcats who have not lost a game to date.

All games are scheduled to begin at 3 o'clock.

ELECTRA SQUAD IN GOOD SHAPE

ELECTRA, Nov. 10.—The Electra Tigers come into the limelight Thursday afternoon when they buck the Frederick eleven, an undefeated team, so far this year.

The game will be played on the local athletic field and the pep squad, band and other side line features are to be present with screaming colors. The team is in splendid condition.

All first-line players are in condition to be in the game, Budley Avens, Captain of the team announces.

The game is called for 3 o'clock.

MANY TO SEE OLNEY BATTLE

OLNEY, Nov. 10.—The Olney high school Cubs are all set to go against the strong Archer City eleven at the Archer county capital Thursday afternoon, according to last minute announcements by Coach O. P. Herm.

The friendly rivalry that exists between the two schools has been tempered to a white heat, and hundreds of fans from here are planning to witness the game.

The Cubs have lost one out of six games played this year. Archer City has not been defeated.

BURKBURNETT, Nov. 10. — Coach Eaton's Bulldogs are prepared to battle to the finish Armistice day against Bowie. A heavy turn-out of fans is expected.

Parrish Out Of Razorback Tiff

Frog Halfback May Depart Grid and Rest For Basketball

FORT WORTH, Nov. 10.(AP) The Horned Frogs of Texas Christian university will take their final workout before boarding an interurban for Dallas from where they will journey to Fayetteville, Ark., to tackle the Arkansas University Razorbacks Saturday.

Lowell Parrish, halfback, will not make the trip because of a bad shoulder which he injured two weeks ago and hurt again this week in practice. He probably will not be able to get into the Southern Methodist university game either, but intends to get into shape for the basketball season. Parrish was one of Bell's mainstays on the basketball squad last year.

Jack Williams, one of the most promising linemen to wear a Frog uniform in many a day, still is ineligible and will not be taken on the Arkansas trip.

Bell has not decided definitely on his starting line-up against the Porkers.

A NEW ANGLE TO IT

"Light Horse" Harry Wilson, ace of the Army backfield, and Mike Wilson, Lafayette's galloping sophomore, who are making a family affair of the race for high point scoring honors in the east with Harry six points in the lead so far, are due to stack individual talents against each other next season. As an added feature of the slated meeting of Lafayette and Army in 1927 Cadet Wilson probably will be captain of his team and Lafayette may have the prestige of a 1926 season without defeat.

News note: The cage season nears.

And as Doc Landon coyly words it, or similarly so, with it comes the oratory season. They argue on the sidelines. They argue on the court. They argue the next day, all the time and everywhere. In the bulk of instances the debate has to do with some all-important matter such as did he chunk the goal intentionally or did it slip off his fingers and flop in?

Solemnly remarking, "Any man with a head shaped like that is bound to be dumb," one A. Ross and an Indian nomered Yaqui Joe neatly trimmed a frat brother out of a cold hundred in greenbacks yesterday.

• • •

Well, maybe he wasn't "trimmed." There are exacting libel laws in the state of Texas. Nonetheless, Yaqui Joe is that much the richer, Charley Grip the same the poorer.

• • •

HEAVY THINKERS.

All a question of weight and a trick agreement. Grip deposited $100 with Ross a week ago to insure his making 145 pounds at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon for his match with Joe last night. Grip came up two pounds over weight but Yaqui REFUSED to weigh in. Perhaps he packed excess poundage, too, but he had made no agreement, albeit Grip probably took such for granted. Smart Indian, is Joe. Although it was past banking hours he had the check cashed in three shakes, converted into cold coin almost before Grip descended from the scales.

Coyotes May See Bear-Pony Scrap

McCallum Wages War On Staleness As Team Awaits Game

With the long wait ahead before further district competition becomes available, the Coyotes will have to combat that old enemy of football teams that have reached a peek of good form, namely staleness. A little scrimmage, plenty of running around the field, signal drill, punting, passing and tackling were on the program yesterday afternoon. Coach Brown (Box) McCallum at the helm, kept in mind the process of brushing up on all departments to keep from running down too much in the interval. The team is highly satisfied that a week's rest is its share as many have not yet straightened out from the hard Lion argument of last week.

McCallum is figuring on giving the boys some experience in another way and some pointers from the big show. There is a good probability that the team in a body will make the trip to Dallas next Saturday to see the all-important Southern conference battle between Baylor and S. M. U. Yesterday afternoon when Coach Mac presented the proposition of playing Polytechnic or of going to Dallas the bunch errupted with an almost riotous yea to the latter version of the question. If the trip is made, it should prove indeed a treat that many will envy the Packmen.

Rogers Autographs Football For Use In Grandfield Game

A football autographed by Will Rogers, premier American humorist, is to be the reward of the first Indian player to block a Grandfield punt in the Armistice day game this afternoon at Spudder park, Coach Ludgate announced to his men in practice yesterday. This morning the noted missive may be seen on display in the Landon-Hill window.

Contestants may submit as many different solutions as they desire provided a payment of one of the amounts designated in the prize list shall accompany each solution. NO SOLUTION UN-ACCOMPANIED BY A SUBSCRIPTION PAYMENT WILL BE REGISTERED.

The Record News offers these prizes for individual effort. While it is proper for members of one household to work together or several friends, it is not permissible for more than one of those working in unison to send a solution of the puzzle. When in the judgment of the contest manager more than one member of the same family, or more than one of any number of persons he believes have worked together send in a solution of the puzzle, he reserves the right to refund subscriptions and return the solutions he believes have been submitted contrary to the foregoing rule. In the event of ties on this puzzle, as many prizes will be reserved as there are contestants tied, before any prizes are awarded for a less correct solution. For instance, if five people were tied on the best solution, the first five prizes will be reserved for them, and they would be awarded the prizes in accordance with the standing of their solutions of the second puzzle. That is, the one submitting the best solution of the second puzzle would receive the first prize; the one submitting the next best, the second, and so on.

Subscriptions may be NEW or RENEWALS. Both count the same.

Closing Date

The Great Elephant Puzzle Contest Will Close at Nine P. M. Wednesday, December 1, 1926.

The earlier you send in your solution the longer time you will have to go over your figures, AND SEND IN ANOTHER SOLUTION, if you find you can do better. Additional charts may be secured at any time by calling at the address below or sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope for mailing them. NO SOLUTION CAN BE CHANGED AFTER IT HAS BEEN ONCE REGISTERED.

Important Facts to Remember

While the amount you pay with a solution of the puzzle does not have any effect on your winning a prize, it does affect the amount you will receive, should you win one of the first nine prizes, as the value of these prizes is determined by what the winners pay. This is explained in the prize list, which you should study carefully before sending in your solution.

The time a solution is received has no bearing upon its winning a prize. Accuracy is what counts. Not more than one prize will be awarded to any one person

ARMISTICE DAY

Peace and Prosperity

Eight years ago today the mammoth guns along the battle front ceased to belch forth their missils of death and the bloodiest war in all history had come to an end. A war-ridden world gave itself up to a delirium of joy and our country looked forward hopefully to a glorious day of peace and brotherhood.

Each year our devotion grows for those who in the very bloom of youth made the supreme sacrifice.

The world finds it difficult to celebrate the end of the war in other than a dignified and respectful review of their deeds and daring.

And now let us recall that those who died in this great cause for us deserve a most sacred memory. Let us pause, then, this day and do them honor.

NATION'S CROPS SHOW INCREASE OVER THOSE OF PAST YEAR

GAIN JUMPS OVER MARKS FOR 5 YEARS

October Weather Found Favorable for All Agriculture

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.(AP)—With the harvest practically all made, the department of agriculture summing up the season's results today in its November crop report, announced that total production of all crops now appears to be 2.9 per cent greater than last year and 7.3 per cent above the average production during the last five years.

For the country as a whole, October weather was favorable for late crops and as a result corn, cotton, apples, potatoes and tobacco are all running somewhat above earlier expectations. Corn gained 14,000,000 bushels during the month and a crop of 2,693,930,000 bushels was announced as the preliminary estimate. That was 211,000,000 bushels, or seven per cent less than last year.

The total farm supply of corn, including both the 1926 crop and the 181,000,000 bushel carry-over from last year's crop was approximately three per cent less than a year ago. The quality of this year's crop was low, only 72.6 per cent being of merchantable quality. This was ascribed to too much rain in some states, drouth in the western portion of the belt and some frost damage.

Production of potatoes was somewhat above indications a month ago, but the crop was a small one with 360,727,000 bushels, due chiefly to the smallest acreage in 20 years, with the single exception of last season.

Apples also improved during October and a crop of 244,262,000 bushels was announced. That is the second largest production on record being exceeded only by that of 1914.

Cotton

NEW ORLEANS COTTON.

NEW ORLEANS Nov. 10.(AP)—The cotton market was very quiet today with extremely narrow fluctuations. Traders were indisposed to enter upon new commitments in advance of the holiday here tomorrow, particularly as the northern market will remain open as usual. Prices after an easy opening due to poor cables and good weather in the belt, declined a little further in the early trading on a favorable weekly weather report, reaching levels eight points under the close of yesterday. Later in the morning prices rallied six to seven points on some trade and investment buying and thereafter ruled quiet fluctuating within the earlier range. In the late trading prices rallied slightly on short covering making new highs seven to 10 points abov the lows but finally closed at net losses for the day of one to four points.

Liverpool being slightly lower than due first trades here showed losses of five to six points and prices soon eased off further on a favorable weekly weather report to 12.35 for December, 12.38 for January and 12.55 for March or eight points under the previous close.

Later in the morning prices rallied on trade buying, recovering to 12.41 for December, 12.45 for January and 12.61 for March. After fluctuating narrowly during the afternoon prices rallied in the late trading, making new highs at 12.42 for December, 12.48 for January and 12.64 for March, or seven to 10 points up from the lows but eased off a shade in the end.

Exports for the day totaled 45,759 bales.

NEW YORK COTTON.

NEW YORK, Nov. 10(AP)—The cotton market was comparatively quiet again today, prices holding generally steady after a small early decline. The price of January contracts fluctuated from 12.27 to 12.45, and closed at 12.39 compared with 12.45 at the close of the previous day. The general market closed quiet at a net decline of two to seven points.

The market opened barely steady at declines of two to eight points, active months showing net losses of seven to nine points in early trading under southern hedging, combined with local and Wall Street selling which may have been inspired by relatively easy Liverpool cables.

The weekly report of the weather bureau emphasized unfavorable conditions for picking during the week and a private crop report placed the yield at only 16,488,000 bales. Those figures were so far below the official indication last Monday that they seemed to attract comparatively little attention while the influence of bullish features in the weekly report of the weather bureau was offset by talk of prospects for better weather for picking and ginning.

The market turned steadier after initial offerings had been absorbed, however, prices working up six or seven points from the lowest during mid-day on trade buying and covering. December advanced from 12.27 to 12.34, while March worked up from 12.60 to 12.67, but demand seemed to taper off on the bulges and last prices were a few points off from the best under renewed realizing combined with a little southern selling.

Some December liquidation during the forenoon seemed to be absorbed by buying to undo old straddle accounts between months, or between New York and New Orleans and December closed within 10 points of January, compared with 11 points at the close yesterday.

Reports of a high basis on the better grades of spot cotton in the south were mentioned in connection with the midday advance, but evidently failed to create much buying interest.

Exports today 46,759, making 2,960,208 so far this season. Port receipts today 72,093; U. S. port stocks 2,586,399 bales.

CHICAGO GRAIN REVIEW.

CHICAGO, Nov. 10.(AP)—With world stock of wheat showing material enlargement, wheat values took a downward swing today whereas the corn market construed as bearish, however, as to corn, the official estimate of the 1926 yield of corn being 14,000,000 bushels in excess of the forecast a month ago.

Wheat closed unsteady, one cent to 1⅜c net lower, corn unchanged to ¼c up, oats at a shade to ¼c off and provisions the same as yesterday's finish to 20c down.

Today's corn market averaged higher, owing to good deal to further buying of corn against sales of wheat. Oats largely followed corn.

Provisions were easier in line with hog values.

N. Y. Stocks

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.(AP)—Reactionary tendencies in today's stock market reflected speculative disappointment over the relatively small increase in the October unfilled orders of the United States Steel corporation and the failure of the directors of the Rock Island railroad to declare a dividend on the common stock at today's meeting. Profit taking was rather general and energetic bear selling took place in spots with the result that many issues closed one to 2½ points lower on the day.

The steel corporation which was expected in many quarters to show a gain of 150,000 to 200,000 tons in orders actually reported an increase of only 90,122 tons. Steel common closed 1½ points lower at 146½ after having fluctuated between 148⅝ and 144¾. Rock Island common sold down as low as 65¾, but intimations by directors that dividend action would be taken in December sent the stock up to 66⅝, where it was off only ¾ on the day.

In view of the recent sharp advances in many issues and the reported reduction of the short interest, today's selling was regarded in some quarters as a natural correction of a temporarily weakened technical condition. Pools in several issues continued to mark up their favorites on the theory that the bullish possibilities of lower money rates and reduced income taxes, coupled with prospects of special developments in those issues had not been exhausted.

General Motors, dividend action on which is due after the close tomorrow showed a net loss of 1⅞ at 148½ after fluctuating erratically between 147¾ and 151⅛.

Rubbers were strong despite reports from Akron of an early cut in tire prices. U. S. Rubber showed an extreme gain of over three points by touching 64½, closing near the top. New 1926 highs were registered by Kapplation, Utah and Green Cananea Coppers, Montana Power, Commercial Solvents "B," Safety Cable, Virginia Iron, Coal and Coke and Penn-Mary Baking "B."

Call money renewed at 4½ per cent and held steady at that figure all day with plenty of funds available. Time money and commercial paper rates were unchanged.

A sharp rally in French francs, much of which was lost, featured the dull trading in the foreign exchanges, the demand rate on Paris closing just above 3.20 cents. Demand sterling was slightly easier around 4.84 while other European rates showed only nominal changes.

HAVE KIDNEYS EXAMINED BY YOUR DOCTOR

Drink Water Freely and Often If Back Hurts Or Bladder Bothers

Flush your kidneys by drinking a quart of water each day, also take salts occasionally, says a noted authority, who tells us that too much rich food forms acids which almost paralyze the kidneys in their efforts to expel it from the blood. They become sluggish and weaken; then you may suffer with a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sours, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine gets cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get sore and irritated, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night.

To help neutralize these irritating acids, to help cleanse the kidneys and flush off the body's urinous waste, get four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy here; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days, and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help flush and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize the acids in the system so they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; can not injure and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink. —Adv.

"HONEY LOU" By Beatrice Burton

AUTHOR OF "LOVE BOUND," "HER MAN," ETC.

READ THIS FIRST:

HONEY LOU HUNTLEY is private secretary to old GRUMPY WALLACK, head of the Wallack Fabrics Mills. Honey Lou likes everyone at the mills except JOE MEADOWS, the shipping clerk, who makes love to her again her will.

JACK WALLACK, who comes to his father's mills to learn the business, falls in love with Honey Lou the minute he sees her. Brought up by an old-fashioned mother, Honey Lou is a mixture of flapper and clinging vine.

ANGELA ALLEN pretends to be a friend of Honey Lou and tells her not to take Jack seriously. Jack is very jealous of DR. STEVE MAYHEW, a friend of MARGRET, Honey Lou's sister.

Hnoey Lou goes to work with Margret in the office of Holy Cross hospital. One day she goes to tea with the wily Angela and meets Jack's mother, whom Jack calls "THE HEAD, because she manages everything at home She tells Honey Lou that Grumpy is not satisfied with his new secretary, ANN LUDLOW, the office vamp. Jack asks Honey Lou to work for his father, who is at home sick with lumbago, and Honey Lou promises that she will.

Honey Lou meets Angela, who tells her that Jack Wallack is taking her out to dance that evening. Honey Lou calls up Tim Donegal, determined to have him take her to the same place.

Honey Lou goes with Tim to the restaurant and he has been drinking. The place is raided by dry agents and Honey Lou escapes with Jack Wallack. Jack tells Honey Lou that he thought she tricking him and ends by telling her that he loves her and wants her to marry him.

Honey Lou tells her mother that she is to marry Jack Wallack the next day, but her mother asks her to wait and have a wedding. Honey Lou's engagement is announced and plans are made for the wedding.

She meets Angela down town and she persuades her to open a charge account under the name of Mrs. Jack Wallack Jr., and to p... the shoes she is buying along with some lingerie, on the account. But at home with Margret, who sees through Angela, she decides to take back the lingerie and Margaret pays for the shoes for a wedding gift. Steve does not come to wish the bride happiness.

The day of the wedding is rainy. Jack came in the morning to bring Honey Lou her engagement ring and his gift of a dressing case, all of which are bad luck signs, according to Mrs. Huntley. The wedding and supper over, and Jack and Honey Lou, now man and wife, are started on their honeymoon. Honey Lou receives a special delivery letter from Ann Ludlow, just as she is leaving, and slips it in her bag unopened.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

Margret and Stephen Mayhew.

CHAPTER XXX.

It was not until two weeks later than Honey Lou thought of Ann Ludlow's letter arrived.

Then she came upon it at the bottom of her handkerchief case where Margret had tucked it on her wedding day.

She tore open the envelope and read it, sitting on her cot in the tent beside Lake Tamay where she and Jack were spending their honeymoon.

It had been his idea to come to this lonely and beautiful spot, where they were hidden from everyone, and "rought it."

"I want you all to myself for these two blessed weeks," he had told her when they made their honeymoon plans. "I think it's Athenis' to moon around hotels where people would be sure to stare and whisper 'Newlyweds' behind our backs! This is more fun anyway, hiding ourselves away from the maddening crowd and get acquainted with each other, in private."

Honey Lou agreed with him.

She loved the chill sunshiny days on the lonely shore of the lake, the woodsy smell ,the blue nights when she slept in Jack's arms on a bed of pine boughs out under the stars and listened to the lapping of water in her b...en dreams.

"If you'd asked me to honeymoon at the North Pole, I'd have gone with you and cheerfully frozen to death," she told him, "but I truly love this place, and I'm having the time of my wee-lid young life."

Every morning they rowed across the lake for groceries. They swam in the icy water

WICHITA FALLS READY FOR BIG ARMISTICE DAY CELEBRATION

CITY PAUSES THURSDAY TO HONOR PEACE

Armistice Day Observance To Be General and In All Sections

Flying flags, patriotic programs in public schools and organizations and observance in general will feature the Wichita Falls celebration today of the eighth anniversary of the signing of the armistice between the allies and Germany in 1918. Memories of war days will be refreshed to hundreds of ex-service men in the Armistic day program to be given at the Kemp hotel at 7:30 o'clock this evening. School children too young to remember the day and its significant meaning will participate in programs designed to teach them the contribution America made to the world in her part of the great war.

There will be no parade or firing of guns to celebrate the day and business will go on as usual with the exception of closing of the court house offices, the public library and the banks. But veterans of the World war, including hundreds of ex-service men and members of the American Legion, will meet in the Kemp for the banquet tonight.

Carrigan and Kemp to Talk.

Principal speakers will be Judge A. H. Carrigan, one of the gold star fathers, and J. A. Kemp. Musical numbers and other entertainment will be included in the program which will be followed by a ball.

At Temple Israel a program will be given starting at 8 o'clock with C. C. McDonald as the principal speaker.

City schools have planned a fitting celebration for Armistice day, flag raising ceremonies, patriotic songs, patriotic addresses and talks.

At Junior High school, Judge Guy Rogers will speak to the pupils of the seventh grade and Judge Edgar Scurry for the students in the eighth. The other part of the program is as follows:

"Star Spangled Banner;" silent prayer; Kipling's "Recessional," Henry Helgerson; tribute to the soldiers, an original poem written and read by Ona Sweet; orchestra numbers; patriotic address.

The following program has been planned for the Alamo school: Patriotic songs, leading with "America," invocation, Miss Margaret Morgan; "Taps," piano solo, "Stars and Stripes Forever," J. S. Pitman; flag memory verse and salute, Miss Minadele Davis, first grade room; war songs; address, E. R. Surles; "Flag Etiquette," by eight boys; "Star Spangled Banner."

At Barwise School.

The program at the Barwise school will open with the flag salute, talks on "What Armistice Day Means" and "What Our Flag Means to Us," followed by the singing of "America" and the "Star Spangled Banner," and reading of a group of war poems.

At 11 o'clock all the clubs of the Austin school will meet to present their programs which will be based on the theme of Armistice day. Patriotic songs and poems with short talks on patriotic subjects will be the order of each of the programs.

J. S. Dickey will address the student assembly at Sam Houston school. After the raising of the flag, "Taps" will be played and a silence will follow. Harold Riney will give a reading, "In Flanders Fields," after which the entire student body will sing "Star Spangled Banner." Following Judge Dickey's address, the students will sing a group of war songs.

Patriotic songs, a flag drill and an address by Bert King, will comprise the program at San Jacinto school.

The various rooms of Fannin, Huey, Travis and Carrigan schools will present short patriotic programs, it has been announced by the principals. The Junior college had planned a patriotic program for student assembly.

Flying of flags in celebration of the international day will be featured over the city. An offer is made by V. L. Pistocco, owner of the Vendope company, to lend flags for the occasion in order that all flag poles in the city may flaunt the Stars and Stripes. The flags may be borrowed from the company and returned, he said.

Dec. 1 To Be Red Letter Day When Elephant Contest Prizes Distributed

December 1 will be a red-letter day in the southwest.

On that date the Record News will give away $1,000 in cash. What would you do for $500? What would you give to share in 25 prizes?

Here's the easiest way of getting $1,000 in cold hard cash you have ever heard of. The Record News elephant contest, now running each day in the paper offers you a proposition which can't be beat for returns, genuine entertainment and mental exercise.

Just turn to the ad and take a good slant at the elephant, whose hide is adorned with hundreds of figures running from 2 to 9. Take an hour or maybe two and add up these figures. What do you get? Your total will be the weight of the elephant and if you add a little salesmanship to this or even send in your own subscription with the cash payments set forth in the rules, you will then be in the contest.

December 1 will be a red-letter day for 25 residents of Texas and Oklahoma. On that day they will share in the $1,000 and the winner of the first prize will be handed $500 in cash. If you don't think that's a pip, we eat our editorial hat and go back to China.

Just add up the elephant's figures and you'll have his weight. Then take a little more time off and figure what $500 would do for you. It will make the first substantial payment on that lot or house. Maybe it would buy a piano, an automobile or furniture.

Be sure to follow the rules of the contest. There is positively no catch in them. They are written in plain English and tell just how to go about winning these prizes.

Every one is invited to get acquainted with the Record News elephant. The contest manager will give any other information desired.

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stops the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist.—Adv.
