40 Licenseless Drivers Report

In the wake of the announced crackdown on drivers without operators licenses, approximately 40 applicants appeared before Patrolman John Martin Tuesday, March 14, to take their written drivers tests.

The group was so large, in fact, that Martin had to tell part of them to return at his next date here, Tuesday, March 28.

While most of the group was teen agers, there were also several adults present. All parts of the county were represented. A few of the teen aged had recently completed the class-room section of the drivers education course in the Wellington schools.

C-C Brochure Will Advertise This City

A brochure presenting in concise form Wellington's advantages to those seeking industrial locations or for other purposes, will be issued by the Collingsworth Chamber of Commerce, directors voted in a meeting Monday night, Mar. 6.

Highlighting the same meeting was the re-election of Dr. Chas. B. Jones as superintendent of the Collingsworth County Free Fair. This will be his fourth year in that capacity.

The advertising brochure will be handled by Henry Sullivan, chairman of the C-C industrial committee, and will carry a large number of pictures as well as information in brief form. These will be of the "eye-catcher" type, and are designed to be followed up with detailed information concerning the city and county, Sullivan explained to the board.

N. M. Higdon, manager, announced that Fred Husbands, executive vice president of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, will be in Wellington to meet with business people March 23 at 3 p.m. He will explain the WTCC program of work.

HIGHWAY IMPROVEMENTS

Two major highway improvements were completed during the winter months, the new Highway Department office at the southeast corner of town and the Farm to Market Road 1056, from Abra to Marella, which includes this bridge over Salt Fork. That road connected existing pavement, then new construction started again at Quail and extended south east to Buck Creek, where it joined FM 1442. Offices of Clyde Drake, resident engineer, and the engineering staff are in the new building, shown at top. The Salt Fork Bridge, 9 miles north of Quail, is 1080 feet long, and approximately 19 feet from bridge to river bed.

Commissioners Back Road Project for Kelley Area

The Collingsworth County Commissioners Court in a unanimous vote Monday, March 13, went on record as backing construction of proposed farm to market roads into the Kelley and Bean Hill communities ahead of another proposed road from Quail to Memphis or any other road that would come out of the county's farm to market road program.

It further voted to take this position before the State Highway Department in Austin if necessary.

The action came after representatives from the Dodson community and the chamber of commerce met with the court and firmly requested that it take action.

Palmer Massey, district highway engineer, contacted during the session, agreed to meet with the commissioners and representatives from Dodson and the chamber of commerce Wednesday at 2 p.m. to discuss the road further.

The road controversy arose ten days ago when Dodson men learned that if the Memphis road is approved by the state highway department, it will be built out of Collingsworth county FM road program funds, although this stretch of road itself will serve only eight families.

Moreover, it will be built ahead of the Kelley project, designated by the commissioners court in September 1960.

"I want to go on record to stop the Memphis road and get something done on this," Alfred Knoll, Precinct 2 commissioner declared. "I'd like to have some more road in my precinct, Woody (Wood) would like some and so would Mr. Emmert." Knoll was referring to the fact that both the 1959 and 1960 FM road programs were in the west part of the county.

W. R. Breeding, commissioner of Precinct 4 urged that the Memphis road be ignored completely and the court simply ask that the Kelley road and one three miles north from the LaHue corner be built first.

"They are going to build the Memphis road anyway," he said.

On this point Floyd Teutsch, spokesman for the Dodson delegation, told the court, "If you are going to fight something, call it by name so everyone will know what you are fighting."

The Dodson group asked that the commissioners urge expansion of the road program to include not only the 5½ miles west from Kelley toward Wellington, but three miles south into Dodson. This with the LaHue road would be about equal in length of the proposed Memphis road and over considerably better terrain.

The resolution as finally passed was a compromise with the highway department to designate the exact routing of

Election Called on 30¢ Ad Valorem Tax

An election to determine if the county will continue the 30¢ ad valorem tax will be held at the time of the senatorial run-off election in early May, and the commissioners court Monday, March 13, authorized First Southwest Company of Abilene to go ahead with the necessary proceedings to hold the election.

This action came after County Attorney R. L. Templeton reported to the court that in a telephone conversation with the Attorney General's office he was told that the tax was legal for the four years it was voted, but now that the period has expired, it will have to be approved by the voters again if it is to be continued.

The tax period expired at the end of 1960.

The commissioners court, in making up the 1961 county budget last fall, included the anticipated revenue from this tax.

A written opinion Judge Templeton requested had not been received from the attorney general, he told the court.

In other business, the court awarded a contract to re-roof the Court House to J. M. Sturdevant Co. of Altus on a low bid of $1,356. The job is guaranteed for 10 years, the court was told.

The commissioners approved their own trip to the West Texas Commissioners Association meeting at Odessa.

Turning to finances, the court transferred $100 from the unseen emergency fund to insurance in the Road and Bridge fund; and transferred $10,000 from the general fund to the officer salary fund.

Time warrants in the amount of $3,079.13 were issued to take care of current claims on the road disaster program.

War on Waste

Vice Adm. Hyman G. Rickover never tires of warning his fellow Americans against the waste of our most precious national resources. He is a scientist, the father of the atomic submarine. He is not worrying, however, about a shortage of materials with which to build warships or planes or rockets. He is concerned about the supply of American brain power. That is our most valuable possession. It is our only hope of overcoming the huge numerical advantage of the Soviet Union and Communist China. Yet Rickover is convinced that we are letting far too much of it waste away in our schools.

"We desperately need well-educated youngsters to face the future," he asserts. But education in Rickover's terms is not a question merely of keeping boys and girls in a classroom until they reach a certain physical age. It is a matter of using our schools to develop every latent grain of ability in the minds of young Americans.

The admiral notes that the talented child is often apt to be neglected in a large class, where the average ability is far below his level. He understands that even the smartest child needs steady encouragement and even pressure. "Left to his own devices," he observes, "a potentially talented child may squander his best learning years on easy subjects."

Such waste is a double tragedy. The bright individual who is allowed to loaf through school misses his only chance to develop his full potential, to realize his personal destiny. And his country loses the unlimited contribution that one trained mind can make.

CROSSROADS REPORT

Dear Editor:

I see where several big company executives got trapped by the anti-trust laws and had to spend a while in jail.

Which my commercial refugee neighbor says proves that the business management line of work has got more hazards than just ulcers, hypertension and office politics.

Says hereafter, in order to get a job as an executive, a young fellow will likely have to show the usual superior ability and family connections, plus some jail experience.

I see where the plan for a Peace Corps is getting lots of applications from youngsters eager to go forth about the world and tell foreigners how to run their business.

My us-first neighbor says this shows a very noble attitude—these people wishing to give all benighted countries the benefit of their fresh, unused intellects.

Says maybe in appreciation the youth of nations like Japan, Korea, etc., will not crusade to the U.S. and teach us how to run our government, aid overthrow common sense, by student riots.

I see where there is considerable worry that self-running machines may get so numerous they will throw everybody out of work.

My non-automatic neighbor says this would also upset the country's balance of power, unless labor leaders order a law passed that these machines can't work without a union card.

Says it could be mighty awesome, though, some day watching a picket line of old electric

I note that it is considerable of a fad these days for people to take up dieting, exercise, anti-fat drinks etc., so they won't take up so much space.

My narrow neighbor says this will let the population explosion go on somewhat longer before the standing room is all occupied.

Says reducing dimensions may also help a man to ward off the internal revenues, who are apt to start thinking if he can buy enough groceries to get fat on, at today's prices, he must be cheating on his income tax.

Bethany College Choir to Sing Here March 23

The A Cappella Choir of the Bethany Nazarene College from Bethany, Okla., will appear on Thursday, March 23 in a concert of sacred music at Wellington Church of the Nazarene at 7:30 o'clock.

The concert here is one of 14 for the choir in its annual tour which this year will take them 2,500 miles for appearances in Oklahoma, Texas, Louisiana and Arkansas.

The choir is composed of 36 voices singing a cappella and from memory. The program of 16 numbers includes sacred classics, negro spirituals and gospel songs.

Members of the choir are chosen in tryouts each year from the student body of the college.

The choir has given over 350 concerts and traveled 35,000 miles in the past 14 years. They have sung at the International General Assembly of the Church of the Nazarene in each of the last four quadrennial meetings at Kansas City and St. Louis.

Bethany Nazarene College is a four year, fully accredited college at Bethany, Okla., a suburb of Oklahoma City. The school was organized in 1899, and is one of six colleges in the United States operated by the Church of the Nazarene. The yearly enrollment numbers 1100, principally from seven southwestern states.

Dr. Roy H. Cantrell, president of the college for the past 15 years, is traveling with the choir, and will be speaking in the concert program.

The choir director, Lester L. Dunn, was awarded the esteemed "Fellow" award in vocal teaching by the American Institute of Vocal Pedagogy in December 1960. A graduate of Bethany, he received his Master's Degree in Music with a major in voice from the University of Oklahoma in 1941. He has done further study at the Cincinnati Conservatory, the University of Oklahoma, and in Europe.

The gospel songs in the choir's repertoire have been arranged by Professor Dunn, several with eight-part harmony.

He said concerning the work of the group, "The sole purpose of the choir is to present a program of sacred music with distinction, backed by vital Christian experience."

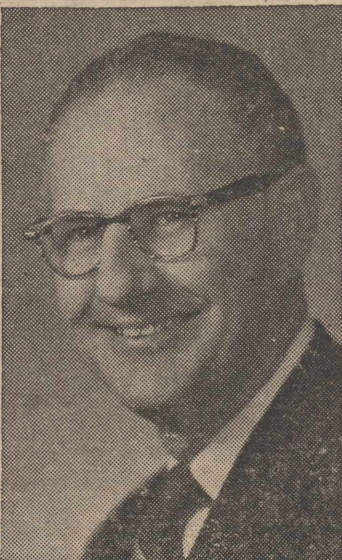

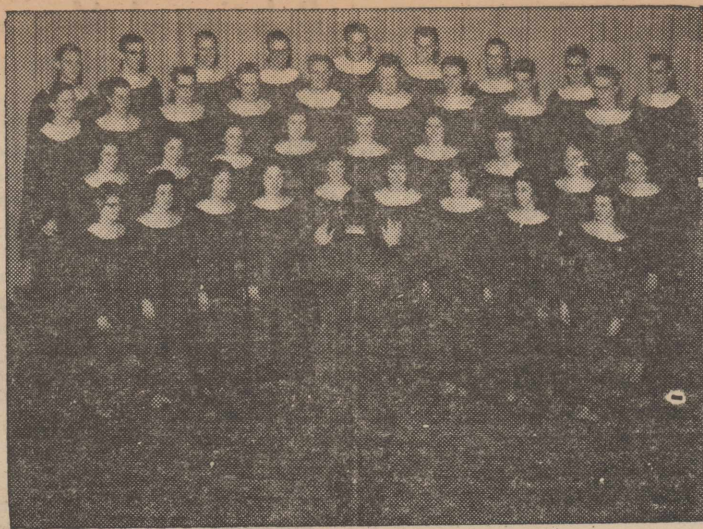

Rev. Kendall S. White, pastor of the Church of the Nazarene, announced that the public is welcome to the concert. There is no admission charge.

Dodson Coleen Candidate

Jerry Merle Whitfield was chosen to represent Dodson high school in the St. Patrick's Day parade at Shamrock this year.

She was elected by the student body Tuesday, Feb. 28.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Hickey of Mt. Ida, Ark., are here visiting in the home of their son, the Rev. and Mrs. Glenn Hickey and son.

COLLEGE SINGERS

Camp Fire Girls Plan Full Week of Celebration Here

More than a hundred Wellington girls will celebrate the golden anniversary of Camp Fire during the week of March 19 to 25, Mrs. J. B. King, member of the Wellington Camp Fire Council has announced.

A complete week of activities has been planned and these are outlined below by Mrs. King.

Founders Day for Camp Fire Girls is March 17, 1910, so this date begins the fifty-first year. From November 1960 through March 1961 it celebrates Golden Jubilee with emphasis put on the Birthday Week, March 19 to 25, 1961. Several activities are scheduled for the Wellington Camp Fire Council, Bobo Castleberry, president, announced.

Plans are to welcome any baby girl born here on the Founders Day, March 17, as a future 1968 Blue Bird girl.

March 19 will be In Church Day, with groups of girls attending church in a body with their leaders. Pastors will be advised of this date, putting emphasis on the first part of the Camp Fire Law, "Worship God."

Sunday afternoon, March 19, there will be a Camp Fire Silver Tea from 3:00 to 5:00 p.m. in the Community building. This is to raise money to use in fixing up the Camp Fire Girls building that was recently given them by the West Texas Utilities Company. The building is upstairs where once was the City Hall, and later used by Mr. and Mrs. V. H. Lindsey. The West Texas Utilities Company has done some work on this building, but the painting will be left up to the Council. Sullivan Hardware has given several pieces of furniture, but there are other pieces to be bought.

At the Silver Tea there will be displays of each group's work.

Monday night, March 20, at 7:00 the Golden Jubilee Banquet will be held in the Community Building, with each group of Blue Birds and Camp Fire Girls taking part on the program. Two groups of Blue Bird girls will put on a Flying-Up ceremony into Camp Fire. These groups have Mmes. Herbert Bearden, John Rainey, Donald Nunneley, and Wesley Wauer for their leaders.

Special guests at the banquet will be representatives of West Texas Utilities Company here and from Childress, from Sullivan Hardware, and from the 1924 Study Club. The Club recently gave money to the Council to buy needed books for a Camp Fire Library.

Tuesday, March 21, is at School Day, when all members of the organization will wear uniforms to school.

Wednesday, March 22, at At Home Day, with girls performing services from morning until night to help in the home, such as baby sitting, cleaning up rooms, helping with the meals, etc.

Thursday, March 23, is Community Day, and plans may be made to clean up some areas in town. There will be window displays around the square of work done by the girls.

Friday, March 24, is Fun Day, the last day of the activities, and some groups plan to have a picnic and fun day after school, and also theatre parties after school.

McIlhany Explains Two Proposed Bills

Representative Grainger W. McIlhany stopped in Wellington for a short time Friday, March 3, to discuss two bills which he introduced and which have passed the House and are now in the Senate.

HB59 exempts farm trailers from registration and license fee requirements and would apply to cotton trailers used in this section.

"In the past, this fee has not been collected in most cases, but under our present laws, trailers over 4,000 pounds come within the license provisions," McIlhany said.

"The need for this exemption comes from the fact that these trailers are used mostly on a seasonal basis and will not travel many miles on the highways during the year."

The other, HB96, brings up to date the Texas laws in regard to the quality of commercial fertilizer sold in the state.

"The purpose of this act is to guarantee to the user of commercial fertilizer that he is actually receiving the quality of product that he is paying for," the Wheeler legislator pointed out.

"Accurate and full labeling is required and detailed testing procedures are set up. The enforcement of this act is under the supervision of Texas A&M College."

McIlhany was en route to his home at Wheeler for the week end, and was accompanied by his four-year-old son, Tom.

Half Million Now

Camp Fire First Girls Organization

On March 17, 1910, the Camp Fire Girls was founded by Dr. and Mrs. Luther Halsey Gulick as the first non-sectarian youth organization in the United States serving girls seven years old through high school age. It is a program designed to encourage individuality as well as adjustment to a group, so groups may have from six to 20 members.

By 1912 some 200 Camp Fire groups were in existence in 42 states, Hawaii and Alaska.

Right now there are a half million girls in all the 50 states, as well as Canada, Japan, Siam, England, West Indies, Panama, Scotland, Holland, and Spain.

The service costume has been changed quite a bit since the beginning, but the present day uniform was recommended in 1944, with use still made of tan khaki dress patterned after the design the American Indian women used since the first for ceremonies.

The junior group of Camp Fire, called Blue Birds was organized in 1913 and serves girls from age seven until 10 years old. By 1925 the first nationwide camping program for girls was introduced, and during both world wars the girls rendered service and war relief for children overseas.

The Horizon Club, which is for girls of high school age, was launched in 1941. From November 1960 through March 1961, Golden Jubilee Celebrations have been held, with emphasis on Birthday Week, Mar. 19-25, 1961, in local councils.

On Nov. 1, 1960 the first Camp Fire Girls Commemorative Stamp went on sale in post offices across the country in honor of their history of service and contribution to the communities during the past 50 years.

The Camp Fire Law places emphasis on all phases of the program. The Law is "Worship God, Seek Beauty, Give Service, Pursue Knowledge, Be Trustworthy, Hold on to Health, Glorify Work, Be Happy."

Quail Girls 4-H Meets

Quail Girls 4-H Club met Tuesday, March 7, with Miss Kathryn Potter, home demonstration agent, explaining the types of material that are becoming to the members.

Plans were made for the garments each girl will make as a project.

Camp Fire Work 11 Years Old in City

The local Camp Fire began in 1950 with Mrs. Clyde Drake as leader of about eight girls who wanted to learn to sew and cook within a group. Other groups began soon after, so the mothers of these groups organized themselves as a leaders' association under Camp Fire. The first council for the county, called the Collingsworth County Camp Fire Council, became registered as a council in 1954 with Donald

Deck's DIDACTICS

—By Deskins Wells

Something different in the way of motion pictures is coming to Wellington. The film of The Royal Ballet will show at the Ritz Thursday April 6. It is sponsored by the Business and Professional Womens Club of Wellington. It is an artistic triumph such as you seldom have a chance to see.

Senator William Blakley will be the principal speaker at the National Guard Armory in Shamrock Thursday evening at 7:30. It is a pre-St. Patrick's Day affair. Wellington people desiring tickets may obtain them through Dr. Chas. B. Jones, I think. At least he asked me to put this notice in the paper for him.

Blakley and Will Wilson are out in front for the Democratic candidates according to the Belden Poll which has been pretty accurate in past elections. John Tower, the lone Republican, is out in front of everybody, according to the same poll. Eighteen per cent of the voters have not decided on any candidate.

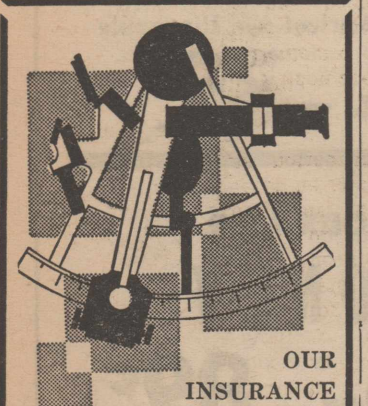

The Texas Wildlife Commission is now making a study of the explosion in quail population such as this and other areas had in 1959. It is followed by a drastic reduction in numbers such as we had in 1960. Nature has a way of thinning them out when they become too numerous and the same is the case with rabbits. That is why it does not hurt to hunt quail when they are numerous.

A&M recommends taking the temperature of the ground before planting. I do not know how you do this, but I suppose Bob Lynch could tell you. A ground temperature of from 68 to 70 degrees is suggested before planting cotton. Tests have shown that poor germinating untreated seed are more likely to be responsible for sickly early cotton than cold damp weather. It takes a ground temperature of 80 degrees to get a stand on untreated seed of poor quality.

Spearman went to the finals in girls basketball and it might just as well have been Wellington. Wellington and Buna were the only two teams that defeated Spearman in conference play this season. I guess I am just a poor loser and see things the way I want them to be instead of as they are. Coach Clement says the officiating at the final game was fair, but that is about all a coach can say after the game is over.

Start watering your lawn now if you want to have a lot of bird visitors. It is getting pretty dusty and dry on top although there is a lot of moisture underground.

Lone Star Gas Co. Promotes McKinney

Doyle C. McKinney, district manager of Lone Star Gas Co. and former manager in Wellington, has been promoted to manager of the Grand Prairie District, effective April 1.

The announcement of McKinney's promotion was made by A. P. Rowland, vice president in charge of the Fort Worth division of distribution. His successor has not been named.

A 27-year employee of Lone Star, McKinney was manager of the Wellington office from 1952 to 1954, when he was promoted to his present position. Here he was president of Wellington Rotary Club and was active in many other phases of community life.

He was born near Van Alstyne in Grayson county Oct. 26, 1912 and is a graduate of Pilot Grove high schools. He began his career with Lone Star in 1934 at Sherman in the customer service department. Transferred to Greenville in 1938 where he remained until entering the United States Air Forces in 1942. He resumed his work with Lone Star following his discharge in 1945.

In 1949, McKinney was assigned to Clarksville as district foreman in the company's gas service and maintenance department. He received his initial managerial appointment at Wellington.

At the time of his new promotion, McKinney was chairman of the board of managers of the Childress General Hospital, chairman of the industrial committee of the Childress chamber of commerce and board of city development, drive chairman of the Childress county United Fund, and a member of the state board of directors of the Texas United Fund, director of Civil Defense for the City of Childress, a director of Region 3 of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, and active in Boy Scout work and the Masonic Lodge.

He is a past chairman of the official board of First Methodist Church in Childress, and a past president of the Childress chamber of commerce and Rotary Club.

Mrs. McKinney, the former Fay E. Lester of Clinton, Mo., is active in work of the Methodist Church and in the civic life of Childress.

The Chamber of Commerce has been approached by the Texas-Oklahoma Express, a motor freight line operating as TOX, relative to including Wellington on its schedule.

Trucks from this company pass through Wellington en route from Shamrock to Childress, but do not stop. The line originates in Kansas City and operates as far south as Dallas. Higdon pointed out it would give another supply line from the Dallas-Fort Worth area and an especially convenient connection from Oklahoma City. Several local merchants receive considerable freight from Kansas City, it was also brought out.

L. B. Bratten, president, announced continued work toward securing bus service for Wellington.

John Coleman, legislative chairman, reported on the TV translator system and on the WTCC legislative meeting in Wichita Falls, which he and Higdon attended recently.

Driver School

County Safety Council. The classes will be conducted on April 7, 14, 21 and 28, and will be under the direction of instructors from the Texas Department of Public Safety.

"The purpose of this course is to learn how to promote the safe, effective use of our highways," Higdon said.

"However, first let's take a look at our problem. For too long a time we have relied upon and blamed the car, the roadway, the external controls, and not the driver, with his own 'built-in' control for reducing our traffic problem. It is the 'driver'—not the car, the roadway nor the external controls—who is to be blamed for the lack of knowledge as to what constitutes good driving and poor attitude toward compliance with known good driving practices.

"The present and the future demands an expansion of effort in all approaches to work out traffic problems and especially in driver education. It is this approach that has the primary challenge of improving our attitudes as drivers toward driving and fellow highway users, to improve our self-enforcement, to make correct traffic situations analyses, to increase our knowledge as drivers of natural and man-made laws, and to assist us as drivers in developing driving habits," Higdon continued.

"As our driving behavior is improved through the above stated goals, driver education becomes a force for helping our citizens:

"1. To learn to live democratically on our highways.

"2. To improve our critical thinking in real life problems.

"3. To grow in social maturity and responsibility.

"4. To increase our power of self-discipline.

"5. To have real respect for natural and man-made laws.

"Driver education helps to develop the attitudes that are basic to safe, efficient movement of traffic. They are the same attitudes that enrich the lives of our citizens of Wellington."
