Allied Leaders Seek To Avert Atom War

HST, Dewey Start Swings Into Midwest

(By The Associated Press)

GOVERNOR Dewey and President Truman head for the hills and prairies of the Midwest again tonight, shuttling about on their special trains three weeks ahead of the presidential election.

Each will appear in Illinois, Indiana and Minnesota, among other states. Dewey's Republican drive will take him as far southwest as Oklahoma.

Mr. Truman, after carrying his Democratic campaign through Delaware, Pennsylvania, New Jersey and upstate New York, hurried back to Washington Saturday to meet Secretary of State Marshall, who flew in from Paris in the President's own plane.

Truman Abandons Plan

Mr. Truman held two conferences with Marshall. He said the secretary gave him a picture of what had been happening at the United Nations meeting in Paris and that the talks had been gratifying to him.

The President announced that he had decided on the advice of Marshall to abandon a plan to send Chief Justice Fred M. Vinson to Moscow to discuss with the Kremlin the feelings of the American people on the atomic problem.

Washington had been buzzing with reports that the President had been considering sending Vinson on a special peace mission to Moscow.

Dewey To Pittsburgh

Dewey's first major speech this week will be at Pittsburgh Monday night, after a day of backplatform appearances through Pennsylvania. On the same night Mr. Truman talks at Akron, Ohio.

Henry A. Wallace, the Progressive party nominee, was to talk in Minneapolis tonight, flying in from the Pacific Northwest where he has been stumping Washington state.

Gov. J. Strom Thurmond, the States' Rights Democratic candidate, scheduled a talk at Green-

Five Killed In Plane Crashes

ABILENE, Oct. 9 (AP)—Three persons, tentatively identified as Don Wood of Fort Worth, Joe Evelyn Clarkson of Texarkana, Tex., and Virginia Harmon of Dallas were killed when a 1947 Stinson plane crashed three miles south of Goldsboro in northwestern Coleman county about noon today.

The CAA control tower in Fort Worth told The Reporter-News this afternoon that a plane bearing the same number as those on the crashed plane was logged for a return flight from San Angelo to Fort Worth today.

Bodies Badly Burned

Eyewitnesses said the plane crashed and caught fire when both gasoline tanks exploded. Bodies of the three were badly burned.

Haskell Clevinger, farmer near Goldsboro, said he heard the plane circling as a three and one-half inch rain was falling. "The motor was cutting out. I saw it hit. It sounded like a bombshell and then burst into flames."

The bodies were taken to the Stevens funeral home, Coleman.

At Fort Worth, it was said that Wood, 46, was head of an oil firm in Fort Worth. Miss Clarkson and Miss Harmon were iden-

Two Lubbock Persons Hurt In Car, Pickup Truck Crash

Two people were injured about 2:25 p. m. Saturday in the collision of an automobile and pickup truck in the 3000-block of Nineteenth, The Texas Highway patrol here said.

Injured were Myrs Brooks, 20, and Lloyd Brooks, 18, both of them passengers in the truck driven by their brother, Claude Eugene Brooks, 22, of 2201 Ave. H.

The truck struck the side of a 1948 Frazer sedan driven by Anton Max Williams, 18, of Meadow, while the latter vehicle was allegedly stopped after having directed out in the path.

Miss Brooks suffered cuts facial lacerations, but her 18-year-old brother was being treated at Lubbock Memorial hospital for a fractured vertebrae. Investigation into the accident was continuing, the highway patrol said.

Fire Damages Clothing Shop

A transformer which caught fire from an overload of electricity when a neon sign outside was short-circuited was believed last night to have been the cause of a blaze which broke out about 5:10 p. m. Saturday in an upstairs storeroom of the Jo Ann Shop at 911 Broadway, city firemen said.

While crowds of curious onlookers stood in the drizzling rain outside, fire-fighting equipment was set up and city firemen entered the smoke-filled building to get at the source of the fire.

Damage Undetermined

Center of the blaze was said to have been over the east show window of the shop, firemen said, and was quickly extinguished. However, firemen were at the scene of the fire until after 7 p. m., clearing the building of smoke.

No immediate estimate of damages in the blaze was available, store officials and insurance men said last night, but unofficial estimates ran from several hundred to several thousand dollars, depending upon the smoke damage.

Miss Pauline Myers, manager of the shop, said that extent of the damage could not be determined until a more comprehensive inventory was possible. Damage from fire and water was slight, she said, but indicated that smoke damage could reach a high figure. Inventory of goods in the shop is maintained at close to $100,000 most of the time, she said.

New Blazes Sweep East Texas Woods

LUFKIN, Oct. 9 (AP) — A new outbreak of forest fires today swept over an estimated 15,000 acres of rich East Texas timberland. Sixteen fires were guelled during the day but at nightfall at least 33 still burned.

Rains the last few days had arrested the blazes. But they have broke out anew in the blackened Woodville and Conroe districts and flared up in the Kirbyville and Lufkin areas.

Texas Forest service assistant chief Bill Hartman said "the lid popped off" yesterday afternoon when a series of new fires were reported and winds fanned burning debris into green woodlands.

Agricultural, Industrial Leaders To Meet

Cotton Meeting To Open Here Thursday

By A. B. SLAGLE
Avalanche-Journal Staff Writer

CALLED one of America's most significant meetings, which will bring to this area many of the nation's top flight industrial and agricultural leaders, the second annual Beltwide Cotton Mechanization conference, sponsored by the National Cotton Council, is to open a three-day session here next Thursday.

A cotton council representative has said that the goal of this and succeeding conferences, set last year at Stoneville, Miss., is to increase the income of cotton belt farm workers through the mechanization of cotton and related crops.

Many Groups Co-operate

Co-operating with the council in sponsoring the conference are the Farm Equipment Institute, U. S. Department of Agriculture, land grant colleges, vocational agriculture, and major farm organizations.

Official hosts at the meeting are the Texas Agricultural Experiment station, Texas Extension service, the Texas Statewide Cotton committee, and the Plains Ginners association.

Council representatives have said of the meeting that "you will hear top economists tell of the effects of oncoming mechanization on the 15,000,000 members of the cotton industry, both economically and socially. You will gain front line information on new things and things to come in cotton mechanization direct from experiment station engineers and the research and development staffs of farm equipment manufacturers."

City Gets Publicity

The council's publicity on the conference, which has gone throughout the nation, and will continue to attract national attention during and long after the conference, points to Lubbock as the center of the great High Plains cotton producing area.

Headquarters for the conference will be at Hotel Lubbock, where the Council has maintained an office for several days with a staff working with a local as-

Lubbock Man Is Shot To Death

The body of Joseph T. Willoughby, 37, of 1617-A Eighth street, was found in a parked car with a bullet wound in the head about 10 miles south of Lubbock on Tahoka highway shortly after 5 p.m. Saturday.

The discovery was reported to the sheriff's department here about 5:30 p. m. by W. M. Wallace, a passenger, who stopped to investigate the parked car. Wallace George Eubank and Texas Ranger W. E. Renfrow that he first noticed the car, a 1946 Nash sedan, about 8 a. m. Saturday while on his way to his farm.

Victim In Car

He was returning toward Lubbock late in the day when he sighted the car in the same place, and noticed that the parking lights were on. Investigating, he saw the blood-stained face of the victim, and went directly to the authorities.

Eubank said that he and Renfrow found Willoughby slumped in the seat of the car, his head resting against the left door. A bullet wound was found in the right side of the head, and a .38 caliber Colt revolver was in his right hand. He had been dead for some time, it was believed.

Justice of the Peace C. E. Lynn, who went to the scene of the shooting, said last night that he was carrying on an inquest into the case, but that a verdict might not be forthcoming until Monday.

PROGRAM SET FOR WEEKEND

Largest Attendance In History Expected For Clothing Market

By W. L. KEEFER
Avalanche-Journal Staff Writer

THE largest attendance in history is indicated for the semi-annual wholesale clothing market to be resumed here Saturday, Sunday and Monday after a 5 1/2 year interruption because of the war, Newton S. Walton, president of the market association, reported Saturday.

Invitations have been sent to 2,600 retailers in West Texas, which is 1,100 more than to any of the 23 previous markets, he said. The responses indicate a larger percentage will attend than at any previous market, he added.

Reservation spaces have been allotted to 74 wholesalers and manufacturers to exhibit merchandise, Walton reported, representing every important style and fashion center from coast to coast and from Canada to the Gulf of Mexico. Requests have exceeded 100, but the space has not been available. Preference in accepting reservations has been given exhibitors in previous markets, he explained.

Most of the exhibits will be in the Lubbock hotel, the scene of previous markets, where two floors and the mezzanine have

Soviets Study UN Efforts To Settle Crisis

By EDWARD CURTIS
Associated Press Staff Writer

PARIS, Oct. 9.—Efforts of the Security Council's "neutral six" to settle the Berlin clash and dodge a veto were reported tonight under scrutiny in the Kremlin.

United Nations sources said proposals on Berlin by the six members were transmitted to Moscow by Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky. Their nature was not disclosed. Earlier reports said it involved lifting the Soviet blockade while the four-power foreign ministers council attempts a German settlement.

Some sources said the need to await a Kremlin reply caused the six members to favor delaying until Tuesday or later the next council meeting on the Berlin issue.

"No Veto" Formula Sought

Juan A. Bramuglia of Argentina, temporary council president for the Berlin debate, met today with representatives of the other five smaller nations — Belgium, China, Columbia, Syria, and Canada. Western power spokesmen call them neutrals on the Berlin issue.

Bramuglia, who is spearheading the search for a "no veto" formula, met secretly yesterday with Vishinsky. Bramuglia has not approached any American officials since then.

Syria's Fares El Khouri reported "some progress' by Bramuglia, the Argentine foreign minister. El Khouri said the conversations will continue over the weekend.

Marshall Talks With HST

Charles E. Bohlen, one of the U. S. State department's top advisors on Germany and Russia, cancelled plans for a trip out of Paris tomorrow. Thus he would be available here for any conversations with the six representatives.

In Washington, President Truman disclosed he had considered, but rejected on the advice of Secretary of State Marshall, sending

France Warned On 'Rebellion'

PARIS, Oct. 9. (AP)—Premier Henri Queuille told the French people tonight Communist-led strike agitation was assuming the character of rebellion and the government would use all necessary means to halt it.

He spoke over the radio to a nation harrassed by a six-day coal walkout and facing a general railroad strike. The mine strike has cost the nation 1,000,000 tons of coal. The Communists were believed aiming at wrecking the European recovery program and toppling the Queuille government.

Communists Busy

Communist labor bosses were increasingly busy organizing strike votes among France's 400,000 railroad workers. Some stoppages have already occurred, but the full brunt of a rail tieup was not expected before next week.

"The right to strike is a sacred right," Queuille told the French nation. "The right of a nation to

Marshall Hints Reds Lacking Atom Bomb

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9 (AP)—Secretary of State Marshall appeared tonight to be convinced that Russia does not have an atomic bomb.

This came out at his news conference explaining why President Truman was interested, for a time, in the idea of sending Chief Justice Vinson on a special mission to Moscow. Marshall said that Mr. Truman was worried over Soviet unwillingness to agree with the atomic control plan voted by a majority of the members of the United Nations Security Council.

He said that Mr. Truman has a "very special position in the matter." When asked what he meant by that he said that the President's position is unique in all the world.

His hearers in the news conference clearly understood that he meant that President Truman is the only human being who has the final control of an atomic bomb.

Four Persons Injured When Car Crashes Into Truck Here

Four persons were injured, none apparently seriously, when the late model two-door Chevrolet in which they were riding crashed into the back of a parked truck in 2400 block Avenue H about one o'clock this morning.

Treated for cuts and lacerations and bruises at West Texas Hospital were Louis Tisdale, 18, of 2161 Thirteenth, driver of the car; Bill Kitts, Polly Scott and Naomi Cardwell. They were taken to the hospital in Plains ambulance.

Churchill Warns Berlin Crisis May Precipitate New Struggle

By ED CAMPBELL
Associated Press Staff Writer

LLANDUDNO, Wales, Oct. 9.—Winston Churchill declared today the Berlin deadlock "may at any time precipitate a hideous world struggle." He again urged a showdown with Russia before she gets the atom bomb.

The British wartime prime minister said the United States would be "murdering human freedom and committing suicide" if it surrendered its store of atom bombs, which he described as the one asset guarding the progress of mankind.

He called for an end to the "stupidity" of war crimes trials of Nazis.

Given one of the biggest ovations of his career when he addressed the 4,000 delegates at the annual Conservative party convention here, Churchill said that if the Russians wish to see the military use of atomic energy outlawed "they must reassure the world by actions which speak louder than words."

"Let them release their grip upon the satellite states of Europe," he declared.

"Let them retire to their own country which is one-sixth of the land surface of the globe.

"Let them liberate by their departure the 11 ancient capitals of eastern Europe which they now hold in their claws. Let them go back to the Cur-

GRAIN OUTLOOK BOOSTED

Slow Rains Bring Moisture To Most Of South Plains

MURKY weather continued over the South Plains late Saturday night after rainfall over the area throughout most of the day ranged from very light sprinkles up to almost two inches, with an average of about one-half inch. Most of the fall came in slow showers, a survey of South Plains towns indicated, with no excessive winds or lightning or thunder.

Lamesa held the record with an unofficial two inches, starting about 6 a.m. Saturday. O'Donnell reported "somewhere around one inch," also unofficial, and Tahoka's total was 1.24 inches. All reported fairly consistent showers all day. Brownfield had an unofficial total of one to one and one-half inches, where a slow drizzle was reported to have begun about 5 a.m. Saturday and continued throughout the day.

Ralls and Lorenzo reported slow, all-day showers which brought around one inch of moisture, and Crosbyton reported a drizzle most of the day that left about .75 inch of moisture.

More Showers Seen

A "good shower" was reported at Lockney, where rainfall was estimated at about .25 inch. Rainfall began there about 10 a.m. and lasted intermittantly until about 3 p.m. Saturday.

Rainfall at the U. S. Weather Bureau station north of Lubbock shortly after midnight totaled .71 for the day. Indications were that continued light drizzles would continue throughout the night.

The Weather bureau's forecast for Lubbock and the South Plains calls for mostly cloudy skies today and Monday, with occasional light rains this morning.

Fair Is Rained Out

About one-half inch of rain fell in Matador, just enough to rain out the last day of the county fair there. Rainfall there was very slow, it was reported. The rain was fairly general over Motley county, it was indicated.

Floydada reported a rainfall of .42 inches up to 5:15 p.m. Saturday.

Lubbock Vet Turns Hobby Into Grip On Life, Business

By BILL CLARK
Avalanche-Journal Staff Writer

Jack T. Boles, who two years ago faced a life in bed with a service-connected heart ailment, today has turned a hobby into a profitable business which he thoroughly enjoys.

And although his work in leathercraft will never mend the scarred tissues of his heart, his spirits and morale have been restored by the work that he took up to work on 15 minutes a day in the beginning.

Boles, now 37, was a man who never took things easy. Before the war he had travelled for a paint concern. Then he worked in an explosives plant as a foreman, a job hardly calculated to offer peace of mind.

Suffers Acute Attack

He joined the Navy and served two years.

While in the Navy, Boles suffered his first heart attack. It occurred during a period of calisthenics so familiar to World War II veterans. He was kept in bed for a few days and then returned to duty.

Then in July, 1946, after he had been discharged, Boles suffered an acute attack. As a result, he was hospitalized here, then in the Veterans

Truman Drops Vinson's Trip To Moscow

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—President Truman disclosed today that he had considered—and rejected on the advice of Secretary of State Marshall—an extraordinary mission by Chief Justice Vinson to tell Moscow how the American people feel about the atomic problem."

Vinson was to have undertaken a personal attempt to straighten the Russian leaders out on this grave matter, Mr. Truman said in a statement.

The plan was dropped, he said, because of the general situation as reported by Marshall and because of the "possibilities of misunderstanding" which might grow out of a single-handed action by the United States.

Report Of Split Denied

Marshall, in a late day news conference, noted that he had seen reports of "a split between the President and the secretary of state." He added emphatically: "There is no foundation for this."

Marshall flew home from the Paris meeting of the United Nations this morning to give Mr. Truman his views; the President himself cut short his political campaigning to talk things over with his secretary of state.

They met amid published reports of a projected-and-abandoned mission to Moscow by Vinson. These reports went unconfirmed and undenied up to the late day White House statement.

Reds Attitude Discussed

Then, after two White House conferences in which Marshall and Undersecretary of State Robert Lovett sat in, the White House released Mr. Truman's explanation of what he had proposed and why he had dropped it.

The facts, said Mr. Truman, are as follows:

"On last Tuesday, when I communicated with Secretary Marshall, I told him of my continuing great desire to see peace firmly established in the world, and of my particular concern at this time

Cotton Escapes Severe Damage

The South Plains cotton crop narrowly escaped severe damage as result of the chill weather during the past week, according to the report Saturday of K. N. Clapp, area representative for Anderson, Clayton & Co., Houston cotton merchants.

Clapp made no changes in his forecast a week previously of a 395,000-bale crop in the 19 cotton growing counties above the Cappock. He made the estimate with the comments that he would not "bet a thin dime" on its accuracy and that forecasts this year are the most uncertain during his more than 25 years on the South Plains.

Classing Report Given

Temperatures as low as 23 degrees south of Lubbock and 32 degrees in eight northern counties, he reported, caused some defoliation. Complete defoliation, he said, would permit the immediate stripping or sledding of dryland cotton, where yield will be low, before the staple is blown out of the bolls.

A freeze last week, he commented, would have been the earliest on record. The earliest freeze day now recorded was Oct. 19, the average is about Nov. 4 and the "normal" about Nov. 11.

Clapp made the following reports on the 71,199 bales of the 1948 crop which have been classed:

White staple grade—good middling, 1 percent; strict middling, 4.4; middling, 28.9; strict low middling, 12.4; low middling, 3. Spotted staple, good middling, 2.0 per cent; strict middling, 46; middling, 13.4; strict low middling, 4; and low middling, 1.

Staple length—under ¾ inch, 4.6 per cent; 13/16, 25.2; 29/32, 9.7; 15/16, 12.5; 31/32, 3.9; 1 inch, 5.2; 1 1/32, 1.9; and 1 1/16, .2.

Outcome Of Critical China Civil War May Be Decided In 60 Days

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The author of the following dispatch on China's war situation is a veteran AP correspondent and also a trained military man. He has traveled widely in China, covering the conflict for the past three years.)

By HAROLD K. MILKS
Associated Press Staff Writer

NANKING, Oct. 9. —China's civil war has reached a critical stage.

Its ultimate outcome—far in the distant future though that may be—could be strongly indicated by whatever happens before mid-December clamps a chill and muddy hand on major operations.

Nationalist China tomorrow observes the 37th anniversary of the republic—the overthrow of the Manchu empire—and looks to Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek for a statement which may give a clue to his plans for solving the Communist crisis.

At present the Communists having more military than political success, particularly in their efforts to win central China.

Huge Area At Stake

Competent neutral observers in this government capital are agreed, however, that a genuine battlefield victory by either side in the near future would be of vital significance, no matter how long afterward the war might drag on.

Eventual control of all China north of the Yangtze river would be the prize.

Both sides are capable of such a Sunday punch. For the Chiang government it could crack the myth of Communists superiority and restore the confidence the national armies so badly need.

Government forces are still numerically superior to the Communists everywhere except in Manchuria.

For the Communists, a victory could shift that numerical balance through casualties and defections and might bring political strength as well.

People Distrust Reds

As an example of the Communists' problem, Gen. Liu Po-Cheng has roved central China for many months, vainly seeking a base to establish a local Communist government. His overtures to the inhabitants, particularly in the Honan-Hupeh region, have met a frigid reception, according to all neutral reports.

Despite their evident disgust with the continued war, the people there have distrusted Communism for many years. Liu is still trying, and a military victory would help.

The Communists could have more political luck in Shantung province.

Their capture of Tsinan, the provincial capital, on Sept. 24 had a tremendous effect. They since have broadcast financial and governmental regulations indicating they intend to stay.

Tsinan would be a logical place for a central Communist administration. It would have reasonably easy supply routes with other Red holdings, by land in North China and by river and sea with Manchuria. This despite blockade attempts by the government's new navy.

Tsinan's loss brought home to the government the fact that it was losing the war.

Suchow Reinforced

Chiang has just returned from an 11-day trip through the north. Foreigners are watching closely for some sharp change in tactics as a result. They wonder if he has finally decided to abandon his fixed defensive strategy and go over to offensive maneuvers.

The government's main remaining base in north central China is at Suchow, 170 miles south of Tsinan. Suchow is known to have been heavily reinforced since Tsinan fell. It still is not certain whether this foretokens an offensive northward or merely indicates fear that the Communists will attack southward.

Foreign advisers, who long have chafed at Chiang's reluctance to move out of walled cities, look to Manchuria for better hints of his intentions.

When Chiang visited beleaguered Mukden in the past week, there were reports that he still was determined to hang onto his slender Manchurian salient at all costs.

The Speech Clinic, sponsored and conducted by the speech department of Texas Technological college, will begin its fifteenth year of operation with the weekly meeting Thursday afternoon in the speech building on the campus.

Any child or adult in the Lubbock area with problems arising from stuttering, delayed speech, lisping, faulty articulation, cleft palate or speech difficulties resulting from hearing disabilities is eligible to receive free advice or treatment.

Appointments for consultation on Thursday afternoon may be made by telephone before that date, Miss Helen Lindell, clinic director announced.

Government Officials Prepare Handbook On Civil Defense

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9. (AP)—Government officials have prepared a civil defense war manual covering such things as evacuation of disaster-hit cities and quick relief measures.

Disclosing this today, civil defense director Russell J. Hopley said the manual now is in the hands of Defense Secretary Forrestal and will be made public within a few weeks.

Hopley told about it in an address to the American Trucking Associations, Inc., convention.

HIGHWAY PATROL REPORT GRIM

19 Killed In Area Automobile Accidents During September

Nineteen persons were killed in 12 fatal accidents reported over the Lubbock district of the state highway patrol in September, increasing the death total in that area to 66 for the year.

The announcement was made Saturday by Capt. E. L. Posey, commanding officer.

(Taking in a somewhat wider area immediately on the edges of the South Plains, a total of 24 persons were killed in traffic accidents since Aug. 29, a survey of traffic mishaps by the Avalanche-Journal shows. However, some of these accidents were not in the district of the state highway patrol and thus were not included in the figures above.)

82 Mishaps Investigated

Capt. Posey said 82 accidents were investigated by the patrol in September. Thirty-eight persons were injured, and property damage totaled $37,405.

The officer said the patrol in the first nine months of the year had investigated 507 mishaps outside incorporated cities of the district. Four hundred seven persons had been injured and, of the 66 persons killed, 18 of them died on highways inside Lubbock county. Property damage was estimated "conservatively" at $281,165.86.

The death toll for 1948 is six ahead of the total for the first nine months of 1947, Capt. Posey said.

Eight of those killed in September wrecks were in Hale county, six in Lubbock, three in Gaines and one each in Dickens and Martin counties.

Lubbock Leads District

Lubbock county's 33 accidents led the other counties of the district. Lamb was second with nine.

"Slow down at sundown."

That was the advice of the patrol in its traffic safety campaign this month, emphasizing night traffic accidents usually are on the increase, officials said. As the days get shorter and darkness encroaches more and more on the average persons's working day, officials urge those who drive cars to make allowance for the lessening visibility, be more cautious and drive more slowly.

"Look out when it's dark out."

Capt. Posey said the speed limit, for highways outside city limits, is reduced by law from the daytime limit of 60 mph to 55 mph for night driving, but added that "even this may be too high for safe conditions in bad weather or in heavy traffic."

PICTURE STORY OF UNIQUE DINNER—"The Ole Schoolmates" of Hale Center, who attended classes in one-teacher schools in Central Hale county 55 years ago, meet each year for a basket dinner in the elm-shaded city park of Hale Center to swap stories of their three-R experiences and to look at early day pictures. This fall, there were only 15 of the former schoolmates present for the dinner. With them, however, were about the same number of special guests, husbands and wives of the schoolmates, and pioneer friends. Left picture shows, from left to right, Mrs. Silas Maggard, who attended the first school in Hale Center in 1893; her husband, Mr. Maggard, who, in 1892, attended school at Hale City, a pioneer community that was later combined with a neighboring town of Epworth, to make Hale Center; Mrs. L. A. Knight, now of Plainview, who attended classes under the old Quaker pioneer, Horatio Graves, who established Epworth, and at whose home the first child was born in Hale county, the first church services were held, the first school was held, the first store was operated and the first post office was established in the county; Mrs. Lula Allen Doran, now of Lubbock, who attended at Hale Center; Walter Lemond, early Hale Center student; Mrs. Minnie Hooper, of Plainview, who attended with Mr. Maggard at Hale City in '92; Mrs. J. E. Cox and Mrs. Sally Lemond, who both attended at Hale Center. Right picture shows a later group of classmates of Hale Center, who attended the school just before the turn of the century, but were not in the school its first year. Left to right they are: Mrs. Eunice Coffey Maier, Mrs. Lucy Humber Hand, Plainview; Mrs. Ethel Williams, Mrs. Ola Benson Moody; Mrs. Leota Johnson Parks, now of Crosbyton; Mrs. Celia Johnson Lemond, present Lubbock resident; Miss Geraldine Marrs, Plainview; Mrs. Gilla Wallen Ritchey, one of the few men who could attend, Marion Sitton, Plainview. Demo National Committee Turns To 'Book' In Effort To Boost Truman For Election

By FREDERIC TUTTLE
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9 — The Democratic National committee turned to the "comic book" medium today to intensify President Truman's election campaign.

Decision to take the President's story to the people by a four color, 16-page "pictorial booklet," which is in every way similar to the "comics," was announced by the committee. It produced for inspection the booklet, depicting Mr. Truman's life from farm to White House.

The committee, without mention of GOP presidential candidate Dewey or the other parties, pointed out that this marks the first time that the "comic book" method ever was used "in a national campaign."

HST On Cover

Mr. Truman dominates the cover, beneath the caption "Story of Harry S. Truman." His face is determined, with the faintest trace of a grim smile. He is hailed as "farm boy, soldier, statesman, President." The cutlines continue:

"He made the awesome decision to use the atom bomb and thus saved untold thousands of American lives.

"In the postwar years, the most critical period in world history, he is a world leader for lasting peace. This is the thrilling story of out thirty-third president . . . Harry S. Truman."

At the outset, the book pictures the war at its grimest in April 1945, and news of the late President Roosevelt's death being flashed to the world. A radio family is asking:

"Oh, what will happen to us? How can anyone ever take his place?"

The answer is Harry S. Truman. Mr. Truman is shown taking the oath at the White House, Mrs. Truman by his side.

Then the pictures go back into the 19th century. They show the Truman ancestors going in covered wagons to western Missouri where "his forefathers . . . settled."

First glimpse of young Truman shows him as a bespectacled farm boy pitching hay, milking and washing up. Two old farmers watch him. One says, via the "comic book" conversation "balloon":

"That boy Harry sure plows a straight furrow."

The president's career as a Kansas City bank clerk, back again on the farm, and during his courtship of the first lady follow. The book explains that a "certain person" in Mr. Truman's life was "Bess Wallace, a high school sweetheart."

Mr. Truman is shown as a battery captain in France during the first World War. He plods ahead of horse-drawn artillery while a German shell up front explodes red and orange in the mud.

The first reference to the President's political career comes after the pictures show his failure in the haberdashery business. The President is hanging up his hat and saying to Mrs. Truman:

"Bess, the boys at the Legion meeting tonight were talking about having me run for county judge as a Democrat."

The "picture" story of the president ends on a campaign note with a family blaming the GOP for high living costs.

Lives of miners entrapped underground may be saved by a radio communication system, using low-frequency waves. The human voice was successfully transmitted through ground strata alone, and also by way of trolley installations.

Thomas Says Progressives' Drive Is For 'Dictatorship'

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 9 (AP) — The Progressive party campaign is a "drive for dictatorship," says Socialist Norman Thomas, adding that Henry Wallace is a "Johnny-come-lately" in the field of racial equality.

Thomas, presidential candidate on the Socialist party ticket, told a meeting yesterday at the Westinghouse Electric corporation plant "I don't expect to be elected, but every Socialist vote will register the desire of the people for a new party."

Of Wallace, the 66-year-old Socialist said:

"When Wallace was Secretary of Agriculture, he did not practice the racial equality he preaches now. When we were organizing agricultural workers in the south at that time, we were met on occasions, not with eggs but with guns."

Annual Lubbock Lions Club Jubilee Minstrels To Start Monday For Three Nights At High School Auditorium

Aided by one professional minstrel man, two or three others who have had professional experience, and several described as semi-professional, along with an entire cast that has had one or two years previous experience, the third annual Lions club Jubilee Minstrels will be presented at the high school auditorium Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday nights.

Final plans were being shaped up yesterday by Lions club and minstrel leaders, who said the show, a benefit performance on behalf of the club's interest in Girl Scouts and the Lubbock Boys club, will be an entirely new show throughout.

Costumes, Settings New

Costumes and stage settings are all new, and lighting effects have been revised and added to, the announcement said.

It was emphasized that the Monday night performance is not for the general public. That performance, starting at 8:15 o'clock, as do both succeeding performances, is for college and public school students, and admission will be by special student ticket.

Full cooperation is being given by the college for the Monday night performance, through the college chamber of commerce, and funds derived from the show that night go to the college chamber of commerce fund for a building project on the campus to house that and other general civic activities.

Tickets Available

It was announced yesterday that Monday night tickets also will be available to high school and junior high school students who wish to attend, but the announcement did not say where the tickets would be available, except at the box office prior to the show.

Tickets for the Tuesday and Wednesday night performances are available at a booth in the lobby of the Hilton hotel. The booth is to be open this afternoon from 1 to 5 o'clock, primarily to handle the exchange tickets members of the club have been selling during the week, but tickets will be available to anyone desiring them between those hours. The booth is to be open Monday and each show date until 6 o'clock, then tickets moved to the box office.

The entire high school auditorium, balcony and all, will be on a reserved seat basis, with no general admission tickets. Tickets on the choice part of the first floor are $1.80, and those on and under the balcony are $1.20.

ABC Group To Attend

At its Friday luncheon, the American Business club voted unanimously to show full cooperation with the Lions by purchasing tickets. An entire section of the first floor was allotted to the club for the Tuesday night performance, and the ABC group will sit in a body, it was announced by Wayne (Mickey) Henly, Lions club president.

Dr. Clyde C. Craig is director of the show, and also is one of the six end men. He has had considerable minstrel experience, and is among those classed as professional. George Dale, who also helped with the show last year, is assistant to Craig as director, and is to direct the chorus.

A fully professional aspect will be given the show by Jimmie Allard of Dallas, long time minstrel performer and producer. Allard is listed as producer of the show, and appears in some of the acts.

Professor To Appear

Dr. Doyle D. Jackson, the highly adaptable professor of education at Texas Tech college, gained a wide reputation last year as interlocutor of the minstrel proper, and will take his antics into that place again.

End men in addition to Craig are Dallas Whaley, who rates as a semi-professional and has assisted with a number of shows in recent months; Floyd (Cotton) Thompson, A. B. Reese, W. D. (Dub) Rogers, and Dr. Fred G. Harbaugh, whose "dead pan" pantomime always clicks with the audience. Former professionals, now resident here or in nearby cities, include several who will do specialty acts apart from the minstrel proper or in cooperation with it.

Professionals Named

These include Art Allan, who is to appear in both acts—minstrel proper and its preceding build-up act—with his tenor banjo which he has used on his professional tour in the United States and Canada; Richard Crawley of Lamesa, with a trumpet specialty, as he appeared with top notch bands during and since the war, and with the Cincinnati Symphony; Bill Tinnin of Ralls, with a buck and wing specialty number; and Jack Stirman, who appears with Leete Jackson, jr., in a soft shoe dance.

The show is the third annual presentation by the civic club with a minstrel that has drawn requests for performances from many parts of this area. It has been announced, however, that outside engagements probably will be at a minimum this year, because a larger stage and auditorium than most of those available in the area will be necessary.

The show will make its annual presentation at Ruidoso, N. M., however, at a date yet to be decided.

NEW YORK, Oct. 9. (INS)—A nervous gunman staged today the first holdup ever perpetrated at LaGuardia field and escaped with $3,365 from a Pan American airways cashier.

Carl Nelson, 50, of Brooklyn, the cashier who was bound and gagged by the bandit, said afterwards: "His hand was shaking so much I was afraid the gun would go off."

The bandit cleaned out the cash box but overlooked one compartment holding several thousand dollars more.

Jail Should Be Warm; Most Of Winter Now That Pete Is Back

BELLEVILLE, Ill., Oct. 9 (U.P.)—Authorities at the county jail had begun to scout around for an inmate who could take care of the furnace. The job usually was handled by Pete Logue, who had served about 50 sentences for vagrancy and drunkenness, but he had been at liberty all summer.

The problem was solved when Pete made a timely reappearance. He's in for six months this time, so the jail should be warm most of the winter.

If Stomach Gas or Sour Food Taste Robs You of Sleep

Here's How You May Help, Whether You Eat 500 Pounds or 2000 Pounds of Food In a Year

You can't feel cheerful, be happy and sleep well, if your stomach is always upset. As age advances the "old stomach" needs more help. The reason is this:

Everytime food enters the stomach a vital gastric juice must flow normally to break-up certain food particles; else the food may ferment. Sour food, acid indigestion and gas frequently cause a morbid, touchy, fretful, peevish, nervous condition, loss of appetite, underweight, restless sleep, weakness.

To get real relief you must increase the flow of this vital gastric juice. Medical authorities, in independent laboratory tests on human stomachs, have by positive proof shown that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in increasing this flow when it is too little or scanty due to a non-organic stomach disturbance. This is due to the SSS Tonic formula which contains very special and potent activating ingredients.

Also, SSS Tonic helps build-up non-organic, weak, watery blood in nutritional anemia—so with a good flow of this gastric digestive juice, plus rich red-blood you should eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better.

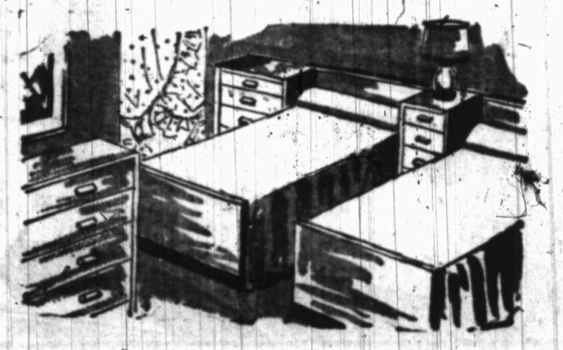

Avoid punishing yourself with overdoses of soda and other alkalisers to counteract gas and bloating when what you so dearly need is SSS Tonic to help you digest food for body strength and repair. Don't wait! Join the host of happy people SSS Tonic has helped. Millions of bottles sold. Get a bottle of SSS Tonic from your drug store today. SSS Tonic helps Build Sturdy Health.

THREE LABOR GROUPS NAMED

30 To 40 Union Members Face Contempt Of Congress Charges

By RAYMOND WILCOVE
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—Rep. Hartley (R-N. J.) announced today that 30 to 40 officers and members of three CIO unions will be cited for contempt of Congress by the House Labor committee.

The committee chairman stated that the citations will accuse them of failure to testify, most of them for refusal to say whether they are members of the Communist party.

Record Number Of Citations

Hartley told newsmen that the citations—the largest number in the history of Congress—will be directed against officials and members of three unions; International Fur and Leather Workers union, the United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers of America and department store unions in New York City.

The congressman said the citations were an outgrowth of the committee's investigation of Communism in labor organizations, which is still underway.

Public hearings were held this year by subcommittees in Washington, D. C., Schnectady, N. Y., and New York City in which numerous witnesses balked at answering the question: "Are you now or have you ever been a member of the Communist party?"

Hartley added that some of the witnesses were also "sassy."

Several Failed To Appear

In New York, several failed to appear for questioning, although subpoenaed.

The congressman, co-sponsor of the Taft-Hartley labor law, said his committee will act on the citations next month. Conviction by a jury carries with it maximum penalties of one year imprisonment and a $1,000 fine.

If the committee approves the citations, they will be placed in the hands of House Speaker Martin (R-Mass.) for his signature, and then forwarded to the U. S. attorney in Washington for grand jury action. They will not be acted upon by the House, as Congress is not scheduled to meet again until December 31.

Others Face Action

Hartley stated that the committee may also cite for contempt members of a United Electrical Workers union in Evansville, Ind., who declined at a hearing last year to say whether they were Communists.

He added however that this action was still in doubt as "some of them have asked for the opportunity to purge themselves of contempt by answering the questions." Hartley said they would be given an opportunity to do so.

The labor committee's citations will be separate from those being drawn up by the House Un-American activities committee.

The latter committee is preparing to cite at least four witnesses and perhaps others for failure to answer questions growing out of its investigation of Communist and Soviet spy activities.

Witnesses refusing to say whether they were Communists declined to testify on the ground that under the fifth amendment of the Constitution they were not required to do so. They claimed immunity from possible self incrimination.

Eisenhower To Take Over Formally As Columbia President

NEW YORK, Oct. 9 (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower will be installed as President of Columbia university Tuesday at a colorful ceremony expected to attract 20,000 persons.

Representatives of 310 American colleges and universities will be present, as well as delegates from 36 foreign institutions and 34 learned societies.

It will be the first such ceremony at Columbia in 46 years. Eisenhower's predecessor, the late Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, was installed April 19, 1902.

The general, who will be 58 Thursday, took over as president of the 194-year-old Columbia last June without ceremony. The traditional academic pompt was reserved for the installation.

Two of Eisenhower's brothers will march in the academic procession to be held as part of the ceremony. Scholastic notables wearing robes of varied hues will be in the line of march.

The brothers are Milton Eisenhower, president of Kansas State college at Manhattan, Kas., and Edgar M. Eisenhower, a Tacoma, Wash., lawyer, who will be the delegate of the College of Puget Sound.

Two other brothers, Arthur, a Kansas City, Mo., banker, and Earl, a Chareroi, Pa., businessman, will attend, as will the general's son, Capt. John S. D. Eisenhower, and his wife.

Solons To Probe Charges Reds Active In Alaskan Area

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9 (AP)—Chairman Fred A. Hartley announced today that the House Labor committee will investigate charges that Communists have infiltrated some Alaskan labor unions.

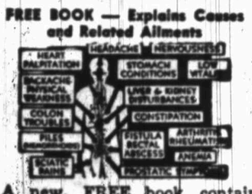

"We believe this to be an extremely serious problem that may involve the security of the United States," Hartley said.

He declined to reveal the names of the unions that will be investigated.

The New Jersey Republican said the investigation will be conducted by a subcommittee consisting of Reps. Charles Kersten, R., Wis., and O. C. Fisher, D., Tex. He said the two legislators will base their operations at Anchorage.

Moore Files Denial To Trading Charge

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9. (AP)—A general denial that he has violated commodity trading regulations has been made by Ralph W. Moore to the Agriculture department.

Moore, of Texas and Washington, filed his denial yesterday. Last May the Commodity Exchange authority brought charges against Moore. It said he made more than $350,000 profit in commodity trading in 1946 and 1947.

The authority charged, among other things, that Moore circulated a "false and misleading" report designed to increase the price of lard. Moore specifically denied circulating anything "knowingly or otherwise inaccurate."

The case is before the secretary of agriculture. The possible penalty for violations such as Moore is accused of is denial of trading privileges on commodity markets for a period of time which the secretary of agriculture might determine.

MANY DEMOS CONCEDE DEFEAT

GOP Leaders Claim Dewey May Win In Near Landslide Vote

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—The Republican high command is convinced today that Gov. Thomas E. Dewey will win the presidency in November by a victory now approaching a landslide.

GOP leaders count 331 electoral votes as certain in Dewey's column, when only 266 are needed to win. They believe his total in November may be close to 400 electoral votes.

Many Democratic chieftains are now privately conceding the defeat of President Truman. They may differ on the outcome in particular states but not on the overall result. The Democrats now seem to be concentrating on the election of a Democratic Senate and possibly a Democratic House.

Warren Adds Strength

The outlook for a Dewey victory is generally confirmed by International News service observers across the nation. One note running through most of their observations is that while Dewey is a sure winner, the Democrats may pick up many a surprising victory at lower levels.

The GOP high command says Dewey will ride into the White House on a wave of victories from New England to Illinois, topped by a landslide west of the Mississippi river. They declare Dewey's running-mate, Gov. Earl Warren, of California, will help bring back many a western state into the Republican fold.

Republican strategists concede only Arkansas to Mr. Truman west of the Mississippi. They agree that the President is favored in Texas, Oklahoma and Arizona but refuse to concede the states. They admit too that Minnesota and Missouri are battlegrounds but insist Dewey can carry both.

GOP States Reviewed

The Republicans put Louisiana in the States' Rights Democratic column of Gov. Strom Thurmond, of South Carolina.

Democratic chieftains however insist Nevada and New Mexico will go for Mr. Truman along with Minnesota, Missouri, Texas, Oklahoma and Arizona. But even Democratic claims do not envisage a Truman victory in the west.

Here are the states the GOP high command say are "in the bag" for Dewey:

New England: Maine, Vermont, New Hampshire, Massachusetts and Connecticut. Total, 36 electoral votes. Rhode Island is described as a battleground which can be won by Dewey.

Central north: New York, New Jersey, Delaware, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan and Wisconsin. Total, 198 electoral votes.

West of Mississippi: Iowa, North Dakota, South Dakota, Nebraska, Kansas, Montana, Wyoming, Colorado, New Mexico, Idaho, Utah, Nevada, Washington, Oregon and California. Total, 97 electoral votes.

The GOP also lists the border states of Maryland, West Virginia, Kentucky and Tennessee as battlegrounds. They feel Dewey is favored in Maryland and West Virginia. To this, Senator Taft, for one, adds Virginia, North Carolina and Florida as sure to land in the Dewey column.

The Truman Democrats also face enemy claims from the States' Rights Democrats, led by Gov. Thurmond. The South Carolinian says he will carry Mississippi, South Carolina, Alabama, Louisiana, four of Florida's eight and three of Tennessee's 12 electors. This would give Thurmond a total of 45 electoral votes. Thurmond adds he has chances of winning also in Texas, Georgia, North Carolina, Florida and Kentucky.

Against the Dewey and Thurmond claims of certain victory, Mr. Truman would be left with 155 electoral votes—if he carried every battleground state.

On the whole, the outlook is gloomy for Mr. Truman. He is meanwhile waging a never-say-die campaign. It is apparent that he has recovered some of the political ground lost since the start of the year. He has three more weeks of October campaigning ahead.

But it was Jim Farley who once said: "No votes are changed in October."

Campaign Chiefs Say November Vote To Be Smaller Than 1944

By DAVE CHEAVENS
Associated Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, Oct. 9—Fewer Texans will turn out to vote in November than in the general election of 1944, campaign chiefs of the four major parties believe.

The average estimate of the four brings a figure of 1,100,000. In 1944, total ballots cast in the general election were 1,150,331.

If they are right, the general election itself will see about the same turnout of voters who flocked to the polls for the first Democratic primary in July.

Predictions Given

Here is what they had to say:

Wright Morrow, Democratic national committeeman: vote will be between 1,150,000—the 1944 figure—and 1,250,000.

Henry Zweifel, state Republican executive committee chairman—1,000,000 votes, divided as follows: Wallace, 50,000; Thurmond 200,000 or more; Dewey 400,000; Truman 350,000.

Robert W. Milner, jr., state campaign director for the States Rights party—total should be around 1,200,000.

Herman Wright, state Progressive party chairman—"Somewhere in excess of 1,000,000."

John C. Calhoun, state Democratic executive committee chairman, was unwilling to give exact figures or percentages, but said he thought the total will be more than average.

Campaigns Strenuous

Calhoun and Wright both noted that all four parties were putting on strenuous campaigns from the precinct level on up, and were of the opinion this should result in a larger turn-out than might otherwise be expected in the general election this year.

Milner and Wright both remarked that this general election would be without the big drawing card in the name of Franklin D. Roosevelt.

The state comptroller has estimated that 2,250,333 Texans are eligible to vote. This is based on paid poll taxes and estimates of those holding exemptions. Most political professionals consider the figure a little high.

Navy Develops New Sea-Going Rocket Testing Laboratory

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9 (AP)—The Navy disclosed today it has a sea-going rocket laboratory from which 14 ton V-2 missiles can be sent aloft.

The vessel, the converted seaplane tender Norton Sound, left Norfolk, Va., yesterday bound for the Pacific test range.

The Norton Sound is the first Navy ship, specifically equipped for the main purpose of firing big rockets. Besides handling the German V-2, she can fire the Aerobee, an experimental American rocket for high-altitude research, and launch balloons for upper atmosphere cosmic ray research.

The Norton Sound is not a fighting ship, the Navy stressed, but a floating laboratory for the use of the Army and Air Force as well.

Scientists at White Sands, New Mexico, where nearly all the V-2 firings have been held, have wanted a longer, uninhabited range to see what distance they can get.

Because of neighboring communities, they have had to fire the V-2's straight up to altitudes of 114 miles. They would like to gain additional information shooting them horizontally.

Whether the Norton Sound was developed at their request for this purpose was not disclosed.

U. S. Judge Considers Texan's Plea For Arrest Protection

BOSTON, Oct. 9 (AP)—Federal Judge Charles Wyzanski, jr., has taken under advisement a petition by Louis B. Conley, 27, of Amarillo to protect him against arrest by Massachusetts authorities. Conley recently was ordered by Texas authorities to return to Boston to face federal charges of unlawful flight.

He is charged with leaving Massachusetts last year with his two-year-old daughter, Lynette, who had been living at the Brockton home of his mother-in-law. Police said he took the child to Amarillo.

Conference To Standardize U. S., British, Canadian Machinery To Be Held In Capital

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9—Some day before long every British bolt will fit the threads of an American nut.

If you like you can say, "who cares?" But it happens that a lot of important people do care. Manufacturers, and even diplomats and military strategists.

Fifty years ago it didn't make much difference what fit what in the nut and bolt department. At that time the world's workshop was located in Britain. America, to be sure, was hitting her stride but she was concerned mostly with the home market for plow shares and wagon wheels.

Time marched "a fur piece," as they used to say out west, and today the problem of standardization is a vital one. Especially American machinery is important to Britain's industrial comeback after the war. Implements of combat come into the picture too. And that's where the diplomatic and military angle comes in.

Now, something that should have been done years ago, at long last is in the works.

And what agency do you suppose is coming to the rescue? The Natural Bureau of Standards. The outfit which gave us better toothpaste, longer wear on the seat of our pants, better luggage, and kiss-proof lipstick and a stay-in curl for the hair of our women folks.

The bureau some time in the next three months will rap a gavel for a nut and bolt convention the likes of which the world has never seen. It will be attended by the best minds of Birtain, Canada and the United States.

This meeting will be unique in several respects. There will be no striped pants and swallow-tailed coats. The great industrial minds of the three countries will shuck their dignity and roll up their sleeves. They'll also talk plain talk. Politics will go beggin'.

The guiding genius behind the nut and bot hoe-down will be the unsung heroes of the bureau of standards — the test-tube folks, or the scientists.

Problem of a unified screw thread standard is an old headache to the experts. In 1918, Congress authorized a national screw thread commission, with the director of the bureau as chairman.

A year later, the commission met with British and French engineers to see what could be done. Nothing was.

Another attempt was made in 1926 in a meeting with the British. Tempers held the upper hand over common sense.

A little progress was made in 1943, and again in 1945.

In July of this year, a small group of British engineers came over with their slide rules and blue prints and finally got together with our folks on a tentative basic mathematical formula.

There are some rough spots in the screw threads yet, but they'll be ironed out at the forthcoming nut and bolt conference.

And when the wrinkles are smoothed, industry says, it will be a great comfort to almost everybody.

Morton Negro To Face Trial

Trial of J. G. Golden, 62, a Morton negro, will be called at 10 a. m. Monday by Judge Dan Blair of the 72nd judicial district in Cochran county.

Golden is charged with shooting Pete Russell, a negro about 62, April 4 in Morton. Russell, officials were informed, was shot once in the head from a distance of a yard or less. Golden is a grocer. He waived a special venire, District Attorney Lloyd Croslin said.

Jury Will Report

A petit jury will report at 10 a. m. Monday to Judge G. V. Pardue of the 99th district of Lubbock county for trial of six civil cases.

Set are these actions:

V. E. Goodwin against E. Powell McWhirter, suit in debt and attachment; Aron Gustafson, doing business as Johnson and Gustafson, against Marvin Collier, suit in debt; Pat Briggs and Alton Briggs, doing business as Ellwood Service station, against The City of Lubbock and others, injunction action; Charlie Hoover against G. K. Horton, suit in damages; Bernie C. Edwards against J. Bryan Edwards and E. Holland Edwards, suit for dissolution of partnership; L. M. Blair against William J. Powell, suit in damages.

TWO PLEAD GUILTY OF FELONY CHARGES

Two persons charged with burglary pleaded guilty Saturday morning before Judge G. V. Pardue of the 99th district court, after waiving juries.

Charles William Short, 18, of Denton, was placed under five-year probation for the Sept. 30 burglary of the Lester O. White service station at Sixteenth and Ave. Q.

William Johnson, 18, a negro, was sentenced to three years in the penitentiary for the Aug. 29 burglary of Lubbock Tailoring company at 1213 Ave. K.

Judge Pardue provided that the sentence must run cumulatively with a five-year sentence Judge Dan Blair of the 72nd district had imposed for burglary of the same establishment April 16 but had suspended during good behavior. Judge Blair is expected to set aside his suspension, which would mean the negro would be required to serve eight years in prison.

R. L. Howle, 60, Dies After Short Illness

R. L. Howle, 60, of 1901 Thirtieth, who operated an automotive supply business here 19 years, died at 6 p. m. Saturday in West Texas hospital after a short illness.

Arrangements for funeral services are incomplete, Sanders Funeral home reported.

Mr. Howle came here from Little Rock, Ark., in 1925 and retired in 1944 when he sold his 555 auto service store.

Survivors include the widow, a daughter, Mrs. Nelson G. Terry of Lubbock; two brothers, Walter and Elmer Howle, both of Clovis, N. M.; two sisters, Mrs. Charles Melton and Mrs. William White, both of Albuquerque, N. M.; his mother, Mrs. Walter Howle, sr., of Albuquerque; and two grandchildren.

Report On Caves Near O'Donnell To Be Made At Austin Meeting

A report of an advanced class in archeology at Texas Technological college on the findings in Fingerprint Caves, eight miles southeast of O'Donnell, will be a highlight of the Oct. 23 meeting in Austin of the Texas Archeological and Paleontological society.

The archeology class, under the leadership of Dr. W. C. Holden, head of the Department of Anthropology at Tech, uncovered evidence in the caves of a prehistoric culture, which before had been thought to exist only in the Big Bend area.

The caves were named for the large number of negative handprints found preserved on the ceilings.

The date of the society's meeting, originally scheduled for Oct. 29-30, was changed to avoid conflict with the Texas-SMU football game.

Ernest Wallace, assistant dean of arts and sciences at Tech, is secretary-treasurer of the society. Dr. Holden is editor of the annual bulletin published by the society, the only publication devoted to Texas archeology, and which has a large international circulation in Europe and South America.

Present estimated endurance of an automobile tire is about three years.

Variety Of Cases Occupy Officers

A variety of cases occupied attention of law enforcement authorities Saturday as the weekend opened, including theft of vehicles, building material and clothing.

Included in vehicle thefts were: A red three-bale cotton trailer from Petersburg, a black 1938 Ford four-door sedan from Levelland, and a 1936 Chevrolet bobtail truck reported stolen from Howard Tanner of 1602 Third street in Lubbock.

Theft of 80 feet of building material, valued at 20 cents per foot, was reported stolen from M. M. Burkett of 1512 Ave. X. The theft was from 3501 Twentieth street.

Mexican Is Held

A 20-year-old Woodrow Mexican was held by police in connection with investigation into theft of a $49.50 topcoat from a clothing store in 1,000-block of Broadway.

A 35-year-old man from Post was arrested in 600-block of College avenue and will be charged with drunk driving, police reports indicated.

B. Estill Cleere, 34, was charged with swindling by worthless $70 check upon oath of Lillian Edwards. D. W. Robertson, justice of peace, set bond of $1,000 in binding the woman over to grand jury investigation. Robertson also set bond of $1,000 returnable Nov. 9 on a fugitive warrant sued out upon affidavit of Dep. Sheriff Earl Horton, who claimed the woman was charged Sept. 8 in New Mexico with obtaining money under false pretense. Both bonds were posted.

A 52-year-old Lubbock man was arrested by Santa Fe railway agents for investigation into misdemeanor theft of grain.

Negroes Are Arrested

Nine negroes arrested by city and county officers were charged with vagrancy, seven others with gambling and one with drunkenness. All had been arrested early Saturday at 1206 East Thirty-first. Four of those charged with vagrancy pleaded guilty before C. E. Lynn, justice of peace, and were fined $10 and costs, making a total of $23.15 each. Five others pleaded innocent before Robertson and bond of $250 each was required for trial appearance. The gamblers were fined $1 and costs each, Robertson said. Lynn fined the drunk a similar amount, $18.15 including costs.

A young Lubbock woman, Mrs. W. L. Musteen, was fined $1 and costs of county court for check law violation. A similar fine was levied against Wilson R. Wagoner in a similar charge.

Two Youths Fined

In corporation court, two persons were fined $50 each on charges of racing motor vehicles.

They, Joe Dean Beesinger, 19, of Lubbock and Alton Orvin Allridge, 17, of Lubbock route 6, were caught after a chase from 1300- to 2600-block Ave. H, police said.

Police used their radio to intercept one of the cars, they said. One of the racers was described as a "hot rod."

A woman said there had been an attempt to break into her residence at 2400-block Ave. T, but that nothing apparently had been taken from the place after a bedroom screen had been removed and the window raised.

A $5 fine was assessed by police after a motorist had failed to yield the right of way to an emergency vehicle, a Rix ambulance, at Main and Ave. H early Saturday morning. The ambulance struck a truck, but was not badly damaged. None was injured.

Parrott Baby shop, at Main and Ave. L, reported theft of five pairs of rubber pants, two hand sacks.

R. M. Dodson of 1413 Nineteenth reported theft of a female cocker spaniel valued at $150. Police said Dodson told them the animal has three pups and that they are "hungry."

Attend Grid Game

Wood and Misses Clarkson and Harmon, and Mrs. Janie Brewster, an art teacher at AHHS, went by plane to San Angelo Friday afternoon to witness the Arlington Heights-San Angelo football game that night. Mrs. Wood, wife of the man killed, went by auto to take a load of high school students.

They all had breakfast together in San Angelo and after Wood obtained weather clearance took off for Fort Worth with the two teachers. Mrs. Brewster decided to return by auto.

Mrs. Wood said she saw the plane pass overhead when they were near Coleman.

She was told of the crash when she arrived home this afternoon.

Miss Clarkson's home was in Texarkana, while Miss Harmon was from Dallas. They had taught here at least two years.

TWO PERSONS KILLED IN CRASH IN NEW MEXICO

DEMING, N. M., Oct. 9 (AP)—A light plane grazed a Southern Pacific railroad locomotive today and crashed, killing two of three persons aboard the plane.

State Policeman Al Hathaway identified the dead as Walter Johnson of Deming, the pilot, and Lon Ables, formerly of Detroit.

Tom Flowers of Hot Springs was taken to Deming with minor injuries.

Hathaway and rail officials told this story of the accident:

Johnson gave Ables and Flowers, cotton pickers, a ride in his car near Deming and invited them on a flight in his plane to the scene of a rail wreck near Gage, 20 miles west of Deming.

The plane flew low over the wreckage at 1:15 p. m. just as SP locomotive 3502 and a string of freight cars passed on a spur track.

The wing of the plane scraped the locomotive, the tip striking Engineer Gordon Vaughn on the arm. The plane then hit a telegraph line, knocked over a telegraph post, crashed and burst afire.

Police Hesitate At Call For Pickup Of Strayed Skunk

Dr. Olan Key of 2303 Eighteenth called the police Saturday and asked if they would assist him in picking up a pet skunk that had strayed from his premises.

There was a silence on the other end of the line. Then—

"Tell you what we'll do, Doctor, if we see it we'll call you. You wouldn't mind making the pickup yourself, would you—just this once?"

Dr. Key explained that the skunk had been "operated on" and would be harmless.

Whether the police felt reassured wasn't borne out in their official records — there had been no report hours later of the skunk's "arrest."

Beltwide Cotton Meet

rangements committee in rounding up a myriad of details necessary in connection with a meeting of such major proportions.

Seeking to make things convenient for the 75 or more representatives of daily newspapers and farm journals throughout the nation who are to be here, Room 210, off the mezzanine floor of the hotel has been set up as a press room, where typewriters, copy paper, carbon, and other supplies will be available.

Press Arrangements Made

In addition the hotel's Pine room, also on the second floor, has been set up as a press and radio conference room. It will be available to press and radio personnel throughout the conference for use in transcribing programs, for interviews, etc., and as the point of origin of two or three network radio broadcasts in connection with the conference.

Also a large press table is being set up in the main ballroom of the hotel, where general sessions will be held, and O. J. (Bo) Sexton, manager of the local office of Western Union, has assured conference officials that special service and facilities will be made available to handle the large volume of press copy expected to flow from the conference.

It would depend on the personal viewpoint as to what would be high points in a conference of such magnitude and representing the views of such a wide cross-section of the various phases of the industry.

Demonstrations Planned

Out-of-hotel activities include two demonstrations, one at the experiment station east of the city, where currently-used cotton harvesting equipment is to be demonstrated to visitors; and the other at the Fortenberry gin at Monroe, showing ginning of both mechanically stripped, and hand snapped cotton.

The experiment station demonstration is to be from 2:30 to 5 p. m. Thursday, opening day of the conference. This is designed to acquaint equipment manufacturers and research specialists with the inadequacy of mechanical equipment now available to this high-producing cotton area. Don Jones, station superintendent, who will be in charge of the demonstrations, has said that it will not be an implement show, that no new equipment will be used. It will include cultivation, as well as harvest machinery.

Banquet Is Slated

The ginning demonstration at Monroe is scheduled from 3:30 to 5:30 p. m. Friday, second day of the conference, and will be followed by a barbecue on the grounds courtesy of W. O. Fortenberry, big scale farmer, ginman, and president of the Plains Ginners association, one of the conference host organizations. Special buses are to be provided locally for conference delegates and the press, to and from both functions.

Another program high spot will be the Thursday night banquet in hotel Lubbock ballroom, with probably 400 expected to attend. Banquet attendance will be by invitation only, primarily for conference delegates. The banquet is compliments of the Plains Ginners association and the Lubbock Cotton Oil Co.

Harold A. Young, president of the National Cotton Council, is to be master of ceremonies, and the speaker is to be Frank Ahlgren, editor of the Memphis (Tenn.) Commercial Appeal.

Other notables among the 400 to 500 or more visitors expected, and for whom hotel reservations have been made, include:

W. C. Lasseter, editor of Progressive Farmer, Memphis, Tenn., who will be moderator in a round table discussion of challenges in the mechanization of cotton and related crops.

Notables To Speak

P. H. Noland, chairman of the executive committee, Farm Equipment Institute and president of B. F. Avery and Sons company, who is to talk on "The Farm Equipment Industry's Interest in Educational and Research Facilities."

W. A. Roberts, executive vice president, Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing company, whose subject is "The Farm Equipment Industry Looks at the Cotton Belt."

H. H. Williamson, assistant director of the Extension service, U. S. Department of Agriculture, who is to preside at one session discussing "Mechanization — The Future."

Horace Hayden, executive vice president, National Cotton Ginners association, who will discuss "The Impacts of Mechanization on Ginning and Associated Processes."

R. C. Archer, vice president International Harvestor Co., who discusses "Progress in Mechanical Picking of Cotton."

L. B. Neighbours, manager product research of Deere and Company, who talks on "Progress in Mechanical Stripping of Cotton."

Harry G. Thompson, president, National Cotton Ginners association, who presides at a session "Progress and Problems Across the Belt."

M. V. Bailey, director of agricultural research, American Cyanamid Company, on "Future of Cotton Defoliation."

Others To Come As Observers

J. D. Wooten, chairman agricultural committee, American Petroleum Institute, who speaks on challenges to the petroleum industry by cotton mechanization.

Chester C. Davis, president of the Federal Reserve bank, who talks on challenges to farm credit by cotton mechanization.

Dr. Russell Coleman, director Mississippi Agricultural Experiment station, who presides at a session discussing challenges to various industries.

Ranson E. Aldrich, chairman Production and Marketing committee of the National Cotton Council, and president of the Mississippi Farm Bureau Federation, who discusses "Cotton Looks Ahead."

There are dozens of others, many of them on the program and others coming as observers, some from research industries, some from educational circles, and others from agricultural extension and experiment agencies, but all apparently coming with the intention of being of assistance in the rapidly-growing mechanization picture of cotton, one of this section's primary money crops.

Members of the local arrangements committee and advance representatives of the National Cotton council here, have joined in asking the general public to use discretion and courtesy in efforts to attend any or all the sessions, indoors or afield, in order to assure that visitors may be cared for in the best manner possible.

They point out that while they do not want to bar local people from the sessions, that they are welcome as far as space and accommodations will permit, they have asked full co-operation of the public.

Miners' Reaction To Lewis' Blasts At President Awaited

CINCINNATI, Oct. 9 (AP)—The answer as to whether John L. Lewis' constant barrage against President Truman will affect the vote in major coal-producing states appeared today to rest with 3,000 puzzled convention delegates.

Many delegates, visibly moved by their leader's blasts against the President for prosecuting him and the union in recent strikes, were at a loss to convey his argument to the 600,000 local union members back home.

Dewey Not Endorsed

Lewis has not formally endorsed Republican Thomas E. Dewey. He heaped criticism on both major political parties, but a political action resolution adopted yesterday, with his okay, pointedly gave Dewey a clean bill for at least not ever having attacked Lewis or the union.

One district leader said that if all the union members had heard Lewis' speeches to the convention, very few would vote for Mr. Truman.

Much depends on how the delegates explain Lewis' views to their locals, he said. In many states, the union is backing Democratic senatorial and other candidates. If they din't vote for a presidential candidate, the advantage will be Dewey's because Mr. Truman will be losing a ballot which he might have received if the fiery UMW chief had not opposed him so harshly.

Some delegates think Lewis may have more to say on Dewey before the convention adjourns next Tuesday or Wednesday. It was in recess today.

No Doubt Of Feelings

Mr. Truman will visit Cincinnati for a political breakfast Monday. He'll have one of two so-called presidential suites in a downtown hotel. The other suite, directly above, is occupied by Lewis.

There was no mistaking Lewis' hatred for the President, whom he accused of pressing injunctions against him in 1946 and 1948.

"If there is any man in this convention or any man in this organization that wants to trade me off for a Truman, let him trade and be damned to him," Lewis roared in a speech yesterday.

This was reminiscent of Lewis' stand in the 1940 presidential contest, when he promised to—and later did—step down as head of the CIO if the late Franklin D. Roosevelt was re-elected. Lewis supported Republican Wendell L. Willkie.

There was no threat to quit the mine union presidency over this election, however.

live is not less sacred. The first duty of the government is to assure the life of the nation. It is not going to fail."

The premier did not mention Communists by name, but asked if the origin of the strikers could not be found in the "political preoccupation of certain persons." He added:

"It is inadmissible that anyone should ask the workers to take part in action against the generous aid given us by the United States of America, and that the right to strike should serve to exercise on the foreign affairs of a nation an intolerable pressure."

He said the government will use "the necessary means to halt agitation which is taking on an insurrectional character."

United Nations Day Observance Set

Prominent Men Renew Pleas For Faith In Efforts Of UN

NEW YORK, Oct 9. (INS)—Prominent statesmen, labor, business and religious leaders tonight hailed United Nations Day as an occasion for all Americans to reaffirm their faith in the world organization.

President Truman, on September 9, proclaimed Oct. 24th, the anniversary of the coming into force of the UN charter, as United Nations Day.

Earl O. Shreve, president of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce declared that world affairs today "emphasize the need for an international organization designed to maintain peace and security among the nations of the world."

Holds Hope Of World

He asserted that the "United Nations organization is the present instrumentality for meeting that need . . . It is a beginning of possible world accord; and it holds the hope of mankind."

Former Secretary of State James F. Byrnes, who was active in the formation of the UN, called upon all Americans to "support the UN and the rule of law in the world veto or no veto." He added:

"We must press forward with our rearmament program. Our moral strength in the forum of world opinion is not diminished by our readiness and ability to uphold the law with our material and military strength.

"But, we must not let our high purposes become blurred and obscured. Our military strength should not be organized on the theory that we want to make war on Soviet Communism. It should be organized to keep the peace, not to start a war."

AFL To Take Part

President William Green of the American Federation of Labor urged all AFL locals to participate in "appropriate observances" of United Nations day, while Eric Johnston, president of the Motion Picture Association of America, asked that Oct. 24 be set aside as "a day of faith — faith in the United Nations and faith in the peace."

Ralph F. Gates, governor of Indiana, in a statement, said that the success of the UN "depends in great measure upon the force of public opinion." He declared "in order that United States participation in the United Nations will be effective, we all agree that a strong, well-informed citizenry be built."

The governor of Kentucky, Earle C. Clements, asserted that the observance of United Nations day in every community "in these times of troubled world affairs . . . would, without doubt, have a salutary effect in improvements of our relations with the other nations throughout the world."

hospital at Amarillo for six weeks.

He was told that gristle, or scar tissue, had formed on his heart and that he would have to take it easy for the rest of his life. He lay in bed at home, facing the prospect of a life of inactivity. Naturally his spirits dropped.

Buys Leather Shop

Then, at the suggestion of George A. Heath, a Veterans administration employe, Boles took up leathercraft in February, 1947.

Working 15 minutes a day, he became mildly interested, then gradually more so. He made belts, watch bands, purses, billfolds.

Gradually he increased his working periods, first to 30 minutes a day, then an hour a day. Gradually he found he could work a half a day at a time.

In September, 1947, he took an opportunity to buy the leathershop at 1220 Broadway from M. E. Carver. That started him in the leather business in earnest, and today his shop is full of leather goods of all descriptions, ranging from leather shoes for hunting dogs to handmade watch bands and personalized belts.

His orders come from as far away as Utah, California and New York.

And now, with prospects of ever-increasing business, Boles is looking for disabled war veterans and others to learn leathercraft and help him in his business.

At present another veteran, Clyde Edwards, works with him, having started to learn the craft at about the same time Boles did.

Their work is original. They use no set patterns, developing designs as they go, giving each piece a distinctive quality.

Saturday Boles was working on a leather notebook for his 13-year-old son, Don Thomas. Mrs. Boles frequently comes down to help her husband wait on customers and take care of the shop.

Today Boles still can't work a full day. He takes it easy, and avoids exercise. But he is happy in the new vocation he has made for himself.

porter, had been working for the Kyle B. Ratisseau Insurance Claims service for about four months, it was learned. He had served in the Army overseas during the war, Ratisseau said, and a membership card of the Disabled American Veterans which was found in his possession indicated that he had been wounded in service.

Funeral services had not been arranged late last night at Plains Funeral home where the body was taken, but it was believed that they would be held in Seymour, Willoughby's place of birth.

Survivors include his mother, Mrs. Ben A. Bartram, 1617-A Eighth street here, and a brother, John Willoughby of Stamford. A 10-year-old daughter is in California.

Clothing Market

been reserved for exhibitors. The Hilton Hotel will accommodate the overflow.

Estimates are that the market will attract close to 5,000 visitors to Lubbock during the three days if weather is favorable and that business transacted will exceed $2,000,000. Estimates as to the business volume invariably are uncertain due to the reluctance of many exhibitors to report their total sales for competitive and other reasons.

Walton emphasized that the schedule for the market will be one of "strictly business." The purpose of organizing the Western Wholesale Market association under chamber of commerce sponsorship, he explained, was to provide a convenient meeting place in Lubbock for retailers of the large territory served with wholesalers and manufacturers from all parts of the nation.

Extensive Exhibits Planned

Registrations are to begin Saturday morning in the Lubbock lobby, but most of the displays will be in place Friday night. They are to remain in place until 6 p. m. Monday.

Exhibits will include men's and women's wear of all kinds, knit goods, sport and play wear; gifts, linens, home decorations and furnishings, handbags, novelty jewelry, belts, boots and shoes, neckwear, handkerchiefs, notions, infants' and childrens wear, piece goods, specialties, novelties, flowers, buttons, gloves, hosiery, hats and caps, leather and woolen goods, robes, lingeries, housecoats, undergarments, toys, millinery and men's sportswear.

More of the merchandise will be available for immediate delivery than at any market since 1939, officials said.

Many Cities Represented

Cities represented by the visitors will include New York, Boston and Atlanta, on the Atlanta seaboard; Los Angeles, San Francisco and Seattle, on the Pacafic; New Orleans and Houston, on the gulf, and Chicago and Milwaukee in the Great Lakes area. Also represented will be such inland centers as St. Louis, Kansas City, Cincinnati, Memphis, Indianapolis, Minneapolis, Oklahoma City, Tulsa, Dallas, Fort Worth and San Antonio.

Retailers are expected to be in Lubbock from as far away as 500 miles.

The market, which is non-profit and usually shows a small deficit in its operations, enables retailers to replenish their store stocks without time-taking and expensive trips to distant markets. The exhibitors are saved the expense of extensive travel to call upon individual prospects.

Walton asked retailers in Lubbock and the immediate area to try to arrange their visits to the market on Saturday and Monday, thus reserving Sunday largely for those who have traveled from more distant points.

California Governor Earl Warren, who has been criss-crossing the nation advocating unity and the election of his running mate, Dewey, headed for Nebraska and Wyoming. The Democratic vice presidential nominee, Senator Barkley of Kentucky, was due for a rest in San Francisco today after his airborne campaign through Idaho and Washington.

GOP Record Scored

As the interval before the election narrowed down to hardly more than 500 hours, the Democrats were urging the Republican standard bearers to get specific. Mr. Truman told his Buffalo audience that the Republicans have concluded that "their record is so bad on the important issues of the day that they can't even discuss them."

Dewey, mapping his campaign strategy his own way, ignored the thrust. His secretary, however, announced that the GOP nominee will outline "a forward-looking" labor program in his speech at Pittsburgh tomorrow night. The secretary, Paul Lockwood, said Dewey will "propose essential protections and benefits" for working men and women "so that they can go forward in a world of peace."

Like the President, Dewey was keeping up-to-date on international developments, studying fresh reports from John Foster Dulles, his adviser on foreign affairs.

Socialist Hits Wallace

Wallace and Thurmond, in their separate campaigns, whacked away at Dewey, the President, and each other. Wallace criticized the Taft-Hartley law, "war scares," and the House un-American Activities committee.

Socialist candidate Norman Thomas called Wallace a "Johnny-come-lately" in the field of racial equality. Thurmond declared that Dewey, Wallace and Mr. Truman all were committed to an "unconstitutional and un-American" civil rights program.

Party organizations stepped up their efforts as the voting time drew close.

Herbert Brownell, jr., Dewey-Warren campaign manager, announced the completion of a field organization of Republican veterans headed by Harry W. Colmery and reaching into every state.

The Labor Committee for Truman and Barkley announced $2,000 in prizes for the best job done by a labor organization in getting out the vote.

The Democratic national committee announced nationwide distribution of a 16-page, four-color pictorial booklet describing the career of President Truman. The committee said 3,000,000 copies are being distributed in the first shipment.

zon line (in Poland) as was agreed upon in the days when we were fighting as comrades together.

End To Barrier Urged

"Let them set free the million or more German and Japanese prisoners they now hold as slaves. Let them cease to oppress, torment and exploit the immense parts of Germany and Austria which are now in their hands. . .

"Let them cease to distract Malaya and Indonesia. Let them liberate the Communist-held portion of Korea. Let them cease to foment the hideous civil war in China.

"Above all, let them throw open their vast regions on equal terms to the ordinary travel and traffic of mankind. Let them give others the chance to breathe freely and let them breathe freely themselves."

The 73-year-old Churchill asked:

"What will happen when they get the atomic bomb themselves and have accumulated a large store?

"You can judge for yourself what will happen then by what is happening now."

"No one in his senses can believe that we have a limitless period of time before us," he continued. "We ought to bring matters to a head and make a final settlement, we ought not to go jogging along, improvident, incompetent, waiting for something to turn up, by which I mean waiting for something bad to turn up for us."

Churchill said his party must support the Labor government in its rearmament program, but he chided it for advocating "half measures."

UN Efforts Studied

U. S. Chief Justice Vinson to Moscow to explain the feelings of the American people on "the atomic problem."

Soviet Plan Rapped

A British delegation source in Paris said such a move sending Vinson to Moscow "would have rocked and could have wrecked the United Nations." This source added it would have by-passed the Security Council without the knowledge of Britain and France.

The United Nations Assembly pushed its work in committees during the day.

Sir Hartley Shawcross of Britain, described as "humbug" the Soviet proposal to reduce armament of the big powers by one-third and abolish atomic weapons. He spoke before the political committee.

The problem of atomic control was being dealt with in a subcommittee which considered a Canadian request to recommend that the UN put its Atomic Energy Control commission back to work soon or drop the problem until a year from now.

Others present were Jack Bell, Dale Hoover, J. C. Sherrod, Elmer Atwood, and Morris Heinz.

Another meeting will be held Oct. 23, at which time the group's constitution will be set up.

Truman Cancels Vinson's Mission

Plan Is Canceled

"I said that I was wondering whether their attitude did not reflect a misunderstanding in the minds of the Soviet leaders so serious, from the standpoint of world peace in general, that we would be remiss if we left undone anything that might conceivably serve to dispel it. I asked the secretary whether he felt that a useful purpose would be served by sending to Moscow Chief Justice Vinson, in an effort to make the Soviet leaders understand the seriousness and sincereity of the feelings of the people of the United States about these matters.

"Secretary Marshall described to me the situation which he faced in Paris, and, in the light of his report and the possibilities of misunderstanding to which any unilateral action, however desirable otherwise, could lead at present, I decided not to take this step."

Russians Show Interest

International control of atomic energy has been one of the major problems of the UN meeting in Paris, although the Russian blockade of Berlin has provided the most serious immediate concern.

Marshall at his news conference —which was timed right after the White House statement—said that the United States stands ready to enter any negotiations with Russia in the council of foreign ministers—provided that first the Berlin blockade is lifted.

The Russians have shown an interest in the idea of talks on the foreign ministers level covering the whole problem of Germany.

As for agreement with Russia on international control of atomic energy in a way that would satisfy the western powers, Marshall said this would be highly unlikely without what he called a peaceful intent.

Delegations Excited

Marshall said he had heard from abroad that the United Nations delegations are all keyed up by the publication of the Vinson-to-Moscow proposal. Publication of this, he said, has served only to muddy the waters.

He expressed hope that Mr. Truman's statement today, explaining his idea, would calm European apprehension about a possible one-nation approach to Russia by the U. S., in contrast with the established policy of joint action with other countries.

A week ago Andrei Vishinsky, Russia's deputy foreign minister, surprised the political committee of the United Nations with a resolution calling for the UN Atomic Energy commission to continue work.

Vishinsky suggested that the assembly call for a treaty banning atomic weapons and a second treaty setting up effective controls. Both would be effective simultaneously.

State Department Worried

Warren R. Austin, of the United States delegation to the UN, challenged Russia to say if she is ready to agree to effective world-wide control of atomic energy.

Russians' remarks in debate, he declared, indicated that they are not ready for such control.

"There is a chasm that must be bridged in their debate and their resolution," Austin said.

Throughout the speculation over the Vinson reports it was apparent that State department officials were concerned over the effect of such a proposal on American prestige and leadership at the present critical stage of world affairs.

In addition to discussing the now-abandoned assignment for Vinson, Mr. Truman was given a fill-in by Marshall on the current UN meetings in Paris.

Bipartisan Policy Involved

Of this section of Marshall's report, Mr. Truman said in his statement:

"I was glad to hear his report of the unity which has prevailed between ourselves and the French and British representatives in Paris in all phases of the handling of the Berlin crisis, and of the earnest efforts being made by the Security Council and the General Assembly of the United Nations to find solutions to many of the other problems which have been troubling people everywhere. I was glad to be able to assure him of the determination with which people in this country are supporting our efforts to find the road to peace."

American bi-partisan foreign policy is also involved in the situation. In this connection, Marshall said that Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich), chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations committee, was with him and Undersecretary of State Lovett at luncheon, today.

To Return To Paris

Earlier from Paris had come reports that the diplomatic representatives of many nations attending the UN assembly there were upset by what appeared to them to be a division of opinion between the President and his secretary of state over the best way to deal with the Soviet Union on the Berlin crisis.

Marshall has followed the policy of acting only in conjunction with Britain and France on this issue and only in a manner assured of bi-partisan political support in this country.

Marshall said he was uncertain about his plans for tomorrow but had no further engagements to confer with President Truman.

He declared he probably would take off for Paris tomorrow night because there are many urgent problems there which require his attention.

Other Problems Talked

Reporting generally on his almost three hours of conversation with Mr. Truman today, Marshall told his news conference they had discussed Palestine, the Spanish question, atomic energy problems and every other aspect of the work going on in the Paris sessions, including the Berlin crisis.

They did not, he declared, talk about the problem of American military aid for the western European nations. Asked to explain American policy toward Spain, Marshall stated that the United States does not think the 1946 UN resolution establishing a partial political boycott of the Franco regime has a proper application to the present situation.

To Follow UN Policy

But so long as it exists, he said, the United States will observe it and has no plan to take the lead in altering it. Under the resolution the United States has not had an ambassador in Spain for years.

"I did not know until I got off the plane this morning about the statements in the press and radio about Justice Vinson . . . and the proposal to send him to visit Generalissimo Stalin," Marshall said.

He was asked about the fact that the White House had made arrangements for radio time for a major broadcast Tuesday night and then had cancelled the reservation. Marshall said he did not think that the President knew anything about the matter of the arrangements—that those had been made by others in the White House without specific consultation with the President.

Western European Defense Along Rhine Seen As Task Of Council

By KINGSBURY SMITH
European General Manager INS

PARIS, Oct. 9 — The first major strategic planning task of the newly-created Western European union's defense council will be to determine how, if war comes, to hold the Rhine river line until American armies arrive.

This was disclosed by informed western military sources as speculation developed over how the new five-power defense high command will function under the leadership of British Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery.

Forces Are Small

Drafting of a plan for the joint use of the western European union's small land and air forces to defend the Rhine barrier is considered to be the most important and urgent job facing Montgomery and his new inter-allied staff.

What Montgomery and his staff must decide is where to put and how to maneuver the combined British, French, Belgian, Dutch and Luxembourg forces should war come suddenly.

Western European general staff officers are hopeful that if Montgomery ever has to put his plan or plans into operation, it will not be until the present western European union's forces have been greatly strengthened.

Would Face Heavy Odds

Compared with what the Russian high command could throw against Western Europe if war came in the near future, Montgomery's men would be like Lilliputians in the face of a wide-awake, heavily armed and savage giant.

Nevertheless, the No. 1 strategic objective of Montgomery's joint planning board must be the defense of Western Europe. And the defense of Western Europe means holding the Rhine as long as possible.

This plan will, in the opinion of some Western Allied officers, be drafted with little confidence that it will prove effective if it has to be put into operation during the next six to twelve months.

Plan No. 2 is actually considered to be far more important. That will take in the strategy to be followed in the event of a Soviet break-through on the Western Front.

Involved in this plan will be the basic issue of whether what there is of the French army is to fight a last ditch stand in metropolitan France or withdraw somewhere to fight another day.

Last-Ditch Fight Seen

It is considered logical that Montgomery will wish to see a last-ditch plan adopted. The longer the French army fights in France the less will be the danger of any major invasion of the British Isles.

On the American military side, there is understood to be a strong tendency in some quarters to consider Spain as the logical country which should be held as a potential base of operations if the Russian armies should start to overrun western Europe.

The view is known to prevail in some high American military circles that the Pyrenees would form an excellent natural defense barrier and if held by strong forces, it might be possible to keep the Soviet armies out of Spain for at least six months or a year.

The French general staff favors strategic withdrawal of the bulk of the French armies to North Africa if it should be found impossible to hold the Rhine.

In the light of these conflicting views on what the Western European union's defense strategy should be in the event of war, Montgomery is not expected to have an easy time drafting his plans.

Doctor Says Toothbrush Here To Stay Despite Medical Magic

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9. (INS)—Dr. C. R. Wells, former president of the American Dental Association, said today that despite medical magic in denistry the tooth brush is here to stay.

Wells lauded achievements of sodium fluoride, the wonder drug which is combatting tooth decay. But, he said, teeth must be scrubbed three times a day religiously.

Otherwise, Wells said, you're liable to wind up with a set of plastic gum-chewers.

The prominent dentist expressed those views in an American Legion medical advisors manual, made public today.

Wells, however, cautioned that although fluorine is highly beneficial it is a deadly drug. He urged those who would use it to have the treatment applied by dentists or physicians. He said:

"Sodium fluoride is the lethal ingredient of commercial rat poisons. Need more be said? It should not be distributed to lay people to apply to teeth because it is a lethal poison.

"It should not be added to water or water supplies except on the advice of medical or dental authorities."

A 24-year-old woman arrested with Daener and Jourden at the Greyhound bus terminal early Friday was released by police Friday afternoon.

Israeli, Egyptian Forces Engage In Sharp Fighting

TEL AVIV, Israel, Oct. 9. (AP)—Israeli and Egyptian forces battled today in the area of the disputed Negev in what a Jewish army spokesman said was the biggest scale fighting of the Palestine truce.

The spokesman declined comment on speculation whether the army considered the fighting the start of a full scale war on the southern desert front.

The spokesman said Egyptian planes bombed Dorot settlement twice and Ruhama, Niram and Gal once each. Egyptian artillery shelled Neba and Beer Tuvia, Gan Yavne, Beit Darras and Barka settlements near Isdud, he reported.

Addition Of 'Fourth R' To School Study Urged By Texan

DETROIT, Oct. 9. (U.P.)—John Ben Shepperd of Gladewater, Texas, was on record here today as favoring the addition of a "fourth R" to the school curriculum.

"Responsibility—for good government" should be added to the traditional "readin' writin' and 'rithmetic'" the past president of the national Junior Chamber of Commerce told 1,600 Michigan school teachers yesterday.

Shepperd said that we teach our youth little during their formative years to prepare them to assume the responsibilities of citizenship.

"The result is an alarming indifference toward their government," the ex-Jaycee chief declared.

Grain Storage Leases Signed

Leases have been completed for more than 150,000 square feet of the South Plains Air Field near Lubbock for emergency grain storage use, it was announced this week by Duncan D. Myers, who is in charge of the storage program for the War Assets Administration, Grand Prairie regional office.

All buildings adaptable to bulk grain storage at the field have now been leased, he said. Available remaining buildings have wood flooring and could be pressed into service on an emergency basis for sacked grain, Myers declared.

The War Assets Administration undertook sponsorship of storage through use of government surplus buildings at the behest of Congressman George Mahon. Following appeals by Mahon and other congressmen, buildings at the South Plains Field, at the Pantex Ordnance Works near Amarillo, and at other installations in the southwest, were made available in September by the WAA.

Twelve buildings at the Lubbock field have been leased in the program. They will be used for storage of grain sorghum by the following firms: Wayne George of Anton, Lubbock Grain & Storage company and the Herman Dawson company.

Myers said he understood the Commodity Credit Corporation approved the flat storage leasing arrangement for all of the structures.

Record 81,897 Fans See Gromek Perform

Boston Has Back To Wall As Indians Take 3-1 Lead; Sain Loses Thriller

CLEVELAND, Oct. 9. (AP)—Steve Gromek stood the hapless Boston Braves on their collective heads today as the Cleveland Indians took a virtual stranglehold on the world baseball championship with a 2-1 victory over the National leaguers. A series record 81,897 fans saw the game.

Gromek gave the Indians a 3-1 advantage in games, putting them in a position to close out the series tomorrow behind Bob Feller. Larry Doby's third-inning homer, the first of the series, provided Gromek his margin of victory.

Tomorrow, Bob Feller will pitch for Cleveland and Nelson Potter for Boston.

The only score the Braves made was a well-tagged home run in the seventh by Marv Rickert, the minor league outfielder who got in the playoffs at the last minute because of an injury to Jeff Heath.

Today's vast crowd, although slightly under the major league record 82,781 which saw a mid-season Cleveland - Philadelphia doubleheader in the vast Municipal stadium here, paid $370,775.03, also a new series mark. The old series attendance record was 74,065 set in Yankee stadium last year.

CLEVELAND, Oct. 9. (AP) For Sunday's fifth World Series game, the last to be played here, the forecast is: "Fair weather, windy and mild temperatures."

Tomorrow's maximum temperature is expected to be 62 degrees, about the same as today.

The Indians today beat the fellow who licked them in the Boston opener, Johnny Sain.

All Gromek Needed

They clipped him for only five hits. But one of their blows was a double by Boudreau with an underling on base in the first inning. And another was a home run smash by the negro outfielder, Larry Doby, in the third.

That was all Gromek needed as he sneaked a weird assortment of curves and screwballs past the bewildered Bostons. In all, he gave up seven hits.

Rickert's round-tripper broke a string of 23 scoreless innings for the Braves, starting in the second game of the series.

Today's throng raised its blood pressure only twice—when Doby socked the winning hit, and when Boudreau was called out at third by umpire Bill Stewart, Cleveland's favorite villian, after delivering his timely double in the first inning.

Dale Mitchell, Tribe leftfielder, inaugurated the contest with a sharp single through the box. Doby was an infield out, and then Boudreau poled a long one down the right field line.

It was a double easily, and Mitchell raced across by miles, but for some reason Lou, who also is one of the slowest pilots in the business, decided to stretch it.

Stewart Has Trouble

Tommy Holmes whipped the ball in to Al Dark, Boston shortstop, and Al in turn relayed to Bob Elliot, who was squatting over third. Boudreau slid, Elliott planted the ball on him, and Stewart said the Cleveland leader was a casualty.

It finally was necessary for rotund Bill Summers, who was working the second base precinct, to trundle over and pull Boudreau and coach Bill McKechnie off the harried arbiter. From there on the record crowd missed no opportunity to vent its wrath on Stewart.

It all went back, of course, to the opening game in Boston, when Stewart ruled Phil Masi of the Braves safe on the celebrated and vital pick-off play at second base, which enabled the Boston catcher to score the game's winning run a moment later. Another close decision by Stewart at first base led to Boston's only run of the second contest.

Tribe Third Sacker Says Sain Is Tough

By KEN KELTNER
Cleveland Indians Third Baseman
(As told to Ade Ponikvar, International News Service Sports Writer.)

CLEVELAND, Oct. 9 (INS) — The way we started out hitting Johnny Sain today I thought we would get him out of there. But his curve ball kept him going.

After the first seven men on our side all hit the ball solidly in the first two innings, we figured we'd sock him all over the lot.

But he proved one thing to us. We had heard that you had to reach Sain early in the game because he got tougher as it went along. That's just what happened and we needed those two early runs today to win by 2 to 1.

We saw more curve balls today and in all this series than we saw during the whole season in our league. These National league pitchers seem to specialize on curve balls.

I had a lot of good balls tossed up to me but for some reason or other I couldn't seem to connect solidly. Whenever Sain did come in with a fast ball, our boys would slap it out a mile.

Larry Doby, however, picked on a change-up curve ball to blast Sain's pitch way out of the park. That was the hardest hit smash of the series and really a big run for us.

LSU Wins 14-13 As Aggies Falter

BATON ROUGE, La., Oct. 9. (AP)—Louisiana State squirmed past a surprisingly tough Texas A. and M. football team tonight, 14-13, but not before the Aggies flashed a hard-running attack headed by Bobby Goff and Bob Goode.

The estimated crowd of 35,000 who witnessed LSU's first home game was kept on edge by the Texans sustained drives. The slim one-point margin looked hardly enough in the closing minutes as the Aggies' Jim Cashion filled the air with passes.

Texas A. and M. struck first and last, with the Tiger scores sandwiched in between. Both Aggie tallies came on sustained drives that started around middlefield in the first and third periods. It was Goff and Goode all the way, with a few Cashion passes mixed in.

LSU's first quarter touchdown was on a pass from Quarterback Charlie Pevey to Al Heroman who went over upright. Just before halftime, Evert Van Buren hit the line hard but fumbled. Speedy Ken Konz picked up the ball and scampered 36 yards to score. Carroll Griffith place kicked both LSU extra points.

The Aggies threatening pass attack fizzled in the final period when two heaves were intercepted.

Arizona's Wildcats Beat Cowboys, 20-14

TUCSON, Ariz., Oct. 9. (AP)—The University of Arizona Wildcats stunned Border Conference football circles by downing the highly-regarded Hardin-Simmons Cowboys 20-14 before 14,500 partisan fans here tonight.

Bill Peterson climaxed a 49-yard Arizona fourth period drive by scoring the winning touchdown with 50 seconds of playing time remaining.

It was the first Border Conference game of the season for both teams, and Arizona's first victory over the Cowboys in four seasons.

Tigers Upset SMU, 20-14; Walker Stars

COLUMBIA, Mo., Oct. 9 (AP)—Riding a destructive ground attack, the University of Missouri Tigers smashed over three touchdowns in the second half for a fully earned 20 to 14 victory over favored Southern Methodist university's Mustangs today.

An all-time Missouri home record crowd of 30,892 fans saw the Tigers spot Southern Methodist a seven-point lead in the second period, then steam back to hand the Mustangs their first defeat since their loss to Arkansas in 1946.

Doak Walker, SMU's All-America back, played the full sixty minutes and played brilliantly but the two touchdowns he made and his two conversions weren't enough to overcome the power of Missouri's running attack.

Walker put SMU in front early in the second quarter when he intercepted a pass to stop a Missouri drive, then engineered a fifty-yard scoring drive that saw the great back go over from one-yard out. He kicked the point.

Missouri scored following the second half kickoff, the drive moving seventy yards. Quarterback Bus Entsminger went the last seven yards through tackle. Bob Dawson kicked the point to tie the score, 7-7.

The Mustangs got a tough break when Fullback Win Carter recovered Dick McKissack's fumble on the Missouri ten-yard line.

From the ten, Entsminger broke loose and ran all the way to the Mustangs' thirty-one. The ball was on the four-yard line where the third quarter ended.

Missouri failed to score when Bonnet was stopped a yard short but the Tigers came right back three minutes later. A few plays later Braznell swept around end for a score. Dawson again converted and Missouri was in front, 14-7.

The Tigers got themselves another touchdown with four minutes remaining. This time a fifty-seven yard march with substitute Halfback John Gloroiso going the last two yards did the trick. Dawson missed the try for extra point.

Walker wasn't through, however. With the Mustangs back on their 26-yard line following the kickoff, Gil Johnson threw a long pass to Walker. He caught it at the Missouri forty-five and outran the Tigers' secondary. Walker kicked the point to end scoring for the day.

TCU Frogs Best Indiana, 7 To 6

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., Oct. 9 (AP)—Texas Christian university waited until the last three minutes to uncork its passing attack against Indiana today, but then aerials bubbled over to give the Horned Frogs a 7-6 victory over the previously undefeated Hoosiers.

Lindy Berry, 19-year-old backfield sensation for the Frogs, set up TCU's only touchdown threat and then climaxed the 59-yard march with a dancing eight-yard run around right end for the score.

The Texans, fighting back after Indiana had gone ahead with a third quarter touchdown, had been on the offensive most of the afternoon. But a stout Hoosier line had prevented a sustained drive until Berry began connecting.

After Homer Ludiker had come in to boot the extra point that won the game, Indiana could not come back. Tailback George Taliaferro, who matched Berry's performance for the Hoosiers, tried to wing Indiana back into the game. A TCU pass interception on the Texans' 10 yard line ended his efforts.

It was Taliaferro who had passed Indiana to its six point lead shortly after the second half opened. The Gary, Ind., negro took a TCU punt on the midfield stripe and raced to the TCU 29. Two plays later, he heaved a long ball across the field and almost into the hands of Jimmy Hunt, Frog defensive back.

Hunt batted the ball into the air and into the arms of Indiana End Joe Bartkiewicz.

LUBBOCK MEETS BORGER FRIDAY

Conference Clashes Dominate Weekend Area Grid Schedule

Conference clashes dominate the South Plains grid schedule this weekend, with 10 title battles slated in Districts 3-A, 4-A and 5-A, and a single championship tussle in 1-AA.

Lubbock High's Westerners, winners over Childress last week, blast the lid off the tough 1-AA conference race here Friday night at Jones stadium against the veteran Borger Bulldogs. The Lubbock schoolboys will be bidding for their third victory of the season in the loop encounter, and will also attempt to end Borger's three-year victory streak over the Westerners.

Borger, which dropped participation in football during the war, defeated Lubbock by two points in 1945, took another two-point victory in 1946, then edged the Lubbock eleven on penetrations last year at Borger. The Bulldogs feature 11 lettermen on their '48 roster and boast more experience than any other team in the district. Borger has won two games and lost two in four starts this season.

Other District 1-AA teams close out their non-conference schedule this weekend. Amarillo's powerful Golden Sandies journey to Dallas to tangle with the Woodrow Wilson eleven, Plainview plays host to highly-rated Sweetwater and Brownfield will entertain the Big Spring Steers of 3-AA to complete the slate.

Three title encounters hold the spotlight in 3-A, where Lockney battles Spur in the feature tilt. Lockney is one of the top fav-

BURK TOO MUCH FOR RAZORBACKS

Baylor's Raging Bears Give Arkansas 23 To 7 Drubbing

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Oct. 9 (AP) — Baylor's heads-up Bears maintained a long-standing hex over the Arkansas Razorbacks as they carved out a stunning 23-7 victory here today.

An awed crowd of 16,000 watched the Bruins move through the air with the greatest of ease and take advantage of the Razorbacks' mistakes to come from behind for the triumph.

For the favored Razorbacks, it was a case of too little of their own Clyde Scott and too much of Baylor's Adrian Burk. Scott, the day's leading ground gainer with 113 yards, missed most of the second and third quarters because of a stomach injury. Without him Arkansas' offense was impotent.

Scott and Fullback Leon Campbell sparked a 76-yard Razorback scoring drive after the opening kickoff. Scott went over from the one and Jim Reichert kicked the extra point.

Burk's passes carried the Bears to the Arkansas 10 and he tossed to end Jasper Flanakin for a touchdown.

Dickerson's try for point was no good, but Baylor put the game on ice early in the second quarter when he booted his field goal after George Sims' 35-yard runback of an intercepted Scott pass and a 10-yard toss from Burk to Frank McKinney.

Baylor scored again in the third stanza when Ens. Harold Riley recovered Ross Pritchard's fumble on the Arkansas 13 and took a pass from Burk in the end zone on the next play.

Midway of the fourth period, Gordon Long of Arkansas fumbled behind his own goal line and Bear Tackle Rupert Wright recovered for a touchdown. Dickerson kicked the points after both of the last two touchdowns.

Guard Paul Burris Paces Offensive

DALLAS, Oct. 9 (AP)—Oklahoma broke its drouth of Texas football victories today with a blistering running game that swept down the Longhorns 20-14 in one of the wildest offensive battles between these deep intersectional rivals. 67,000 saw the game — the largest in Southwest football history.

It was the first victory by the Sooners in nine years and was justly earned although Texas roared back for two touchdowns in the final period and had Oklahoma on the defensive much of the last half.

The great Oklahoma line, piloted by the raging Paul Burris, one of the finest guards the Cotton Bowl ever has seen, led the harsh-running Sooner backs — Darrell Royal, George Thomas, Leon Heath and Jack Mitchell — to 338 yards rushing.

Heath was the game's leading ground-gainer. The 192-pound fullback banged out 137 yards in 17 tries. Thomas was next with 77.

Leading ball-carrier for Texas was Billy Pyle, who ran up 52 yards in nine tries.

The Oklahomans got only 32 yards in the air where Texas again was supreme. Paul Campbell pitched for 111 yards but the Longhorns could gain only 135 on the ground.

The Sooner defense was led behind the line by Myrle Greathouse, who also did some fancy running at times.

SOONERS STAGE CELEBRATION

Oklahomans Wait Nine Years For Victory Over Longhorns

DALLAS, Oct. 9 (AP) — Oklahomans by the thousands screamed "pour it on, you Oakies, pour it on" as the Sooners walloped the University of Texas in a 20-14 revenge victory here today.

"Nine years, I've been waiting," one silver-haired Oklahoma rooter exclaimed. "Nine years I've been slinking back over that Red river. I'm going back this time with the bit in my teeth."

The remodeled Cotton Bowl, jammed to the hilt with close to 70,000 spectators, was the scene of the biggest after-game celebration in years.

Victory-starved Oklahomans swarmed down over the field. Pretty girls kissed players, parents, and practically anybody who was handy.

Swarms of student-aged fans pulled the pipe goal posts from their cement holdings.

The huge throng that witnessed the annual renewal of the Texas-Oklahoma classic was good-natured and happy. Even die-hard Texans took defeat in good spirits.

Most of the fans were a little awed at the giant, double-decked Cotton Bowl.

"Got lost three times before I could find the right ramp," one Sooner rooter said.

A Texas partisan next to him grunted:

"You ain't by yourself, brother."

The concrete still looked wet on parts of the Cotton Bowl at kick-off time. Hard-pressed workmen had put the finishing touches to the stadium only a couple of hours before the fans piled into it.

SKELLEY STADIUM, Tulsa, Oct. 9.—A raging, fighting Texas Tech football team spotted the powerful Tulsa Golden Hurricanes two touchdowns before turning loose a last half offensive that snowed the home town favorites under a 41-20 defeat before only 11,226 disgusted fans.

Long runs sparked the Tech offensive, with Charley Reynolds scoring three of the touchdowns on romps of 65 yards, 62 yards and 84 yards. J. L. Gulley took a 35-yard pass from Ernest Hawkins for one score and J. W. Thompson pranced 42 yards through the Hurricane for the final score. The only short touchdown came on Cal Steveson's two-yard plunge.

Tulsa Scores First

Tulsa opened the offensive early today and it looked as though Tech were going to be buried under an avalanche of scores. Jim Fink's known more as a passer, handed off to Joe McGraw, who romped eight yards through the Tech line in the first three minutes for the first Tulsa score and Paul Barry plunged two yards for their second score after only one minute of the second period.

Then Tech began to roll, getting over a severe case of fumblitis that had thrice halted potential offensives. Steveson's plunge brought the Techsans within six points of the Hurricanes and, with only 35 seconds remaining in the first half, Reynolds took a punt and sprinted 65 yards down the side lines to knot the count. The slim halfback fell back and booted the second of his five successful conversions to hand the Red Raiders a 14-13 halftime lead.

The backs gained the spotlight here today, but the line was doing a great piece of blocking, especially downfield, where they mowed the white - shirted Tulsa backs down like so many bowling pins. In all, the long scoring runs were the result of fine blocking, although the backs also turned in a good day on pass defense.

Tulsa was tackling viciously today and aiming for the ball, causing the Raiders to fumble three times early in the game. The Raider machine appeared sluggish and never seemed to function on all six until Bobby Williams recovered a Tulsa fumble on the Hurricane 40. That fumble set up the first score, Steveson taking a pitchout from Rathbone and going to the 28. Rathbone picked out Glenn Lewis on the 14 and hit him with a pass, Lewis going to the eight. Earl Jackson went over the center and Reynolds converted. The Raiders kicked off and, after holding Tulsa for three plays, Jake Haller booted from his 29 to Reynolds on the Tech 35. Reynolds came back up the middle, cut to the far side lines and with perfect blocking, raced 65 yards for the touchdown. His conversion sent Tech into the lead.

The Raiders were held on the Tulsa four for four downs early in the third quater, and finally broke up the Tulsa ensuing offensive on the Tech 40, when Joe McGraw fumbled and Keith Bulter recovered. Hawkins opened a passing attack, hitting Luke Thompson for a first down on the 50, and again down to the Tulsa 45, before hitting J. W. Thompson to the Tulsa 37.

Thompson carried for two and on second down, Hawkins heaved straight down the field to J. L. Gulley, who got behind the Tulsa defender in the end zone. Reynolds converted.

The fourth Raider score came after 5½ minutes in the final quarter, when Rathbone pitched out to Reynolds on the Tech 42. Reynolds broke for the sidelines and, behind beautiful blocking, sped all the way to make the score 33-20. Tim Hatch failed to convert.

Denver Grigsby set up the final Tulsa score, taking the kickoff back to the Tulsa 41. Finks passed to S. J. Whitman on the Tech 41 and he outran the Tech backfield to cross the line on a 59-yard pass play. But Reynolds got the score right back for Tech. He took the kickoff on his own 16, fumbled forward to the 25, picked up the ball and raced down the middle for an additional 75 yards and the touchdown. The play covered 84 yards. Tech's final score came with 35 seconds remaining, when J. W. Thompson raced 42 yards through the entire Tulsa team on a beautiful piece of broken field running. Reynolds converted and that was the ball game.

The statistics failed to show a tremendous advantage for Tech, Tulsa making 17 first downs to the Raider's six. But Tech gained 218 yards on the ground to 189 for Tulsa. The Hurricanes held a wide edge in passing completing 15 for 203 yards, while Tech completed five for 88. But the story of the game is found in the broken field running of the Tech backs.

Zac Henderson was hurt in the first half and taken to a local hospital, but returned at the half. He suffered a slight head injury and is not expected to be lost to the team.

The victory was Tech's third this year against one loss and also indicated an even battle with Baylor next week. Baylor licked the Hurricanes 42-19.

Trojans Defeat Rice Owls, 7-0

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 9. (AP)—Southern California's Trojans put on one scoring march of 80 yards today and then spent the rest of the afternoon fighting to hold off a scrapping Rice Owl eleven that drove inside the five yard line three times in the fading minutes.

The score: Southern California 7; Rice 0.

The last minute of the game left 49,531 onlookers slightly limp, as Rice fought to at least match their last year's 7-7 tie with the Trojans.

The Trojans, again sluggish on offense but strong in the defensive clinches, racked up seven points early in the second quarter.

Quarterback George Murphy steered the Troy's 80 yards in 12 plays, Half Back Don Doll reeling off the last 28 yards for the tally. The extra point was kicked.

The game excitement did not come until the last quarter. Gordon Wyatt, from Austin skittered 37 yards down the side lines to the Trojan eight. But the Trojans held and took over on their two.

A moment later Wyatt dashed back 57 yards on a punt return to the Trojan 23. Little Huey Keeney, Bobby Lantrip and Harold Riley went on to the four, but again S. C. held and took over on downs on their three.

Michigan Downs Purdue; Irish Triumph

Wolverines Stomp Boilermakers, 40-0

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Oct. 9 (INS)—Michigan truly looked like "Champions of the West" today as it romped to a ridiculously easy 40 to 0 triumph over a thoroughly disorganized and bewildered Purdue team today before a homecoming throng of 45,596.

A couple of sophomores, Chuck Ortmann and Leo Koceski, about whom the Big Nine will be hearing plenty, paced the Wolverines to their startling win.

While the sturdy Michigan forward wall completely bottled up the Boilermakers running game—holding them to 36 yards from rushing — the spinning, whirling Wolverine backs ran and passed their way to six touchdowns.

They warmed up with two tallies in the first period, added one each in the second and third periods, and then cashed in with two more in the final period.

The Boilermakers, seemingly feeling the effects of consecutive battles with tough Notre Dame and Northwestern teams, fell completely apart before the dazzling Michigan attack.

Its blocking, tackling and general play was far below the form it showed in holding Notre Dame to a one-point victory two weeks ago and in standing off Northwestern for most of the game last week.

They threatened only once, in second quarter. But Michigan held on the three and after that it was a rout.

SHALLOWATER ANGLERS DO ALL RIGHT—More than 200 pounds of fish were caught by the four Shallowater men, pictured above, on a trip to the Rio Grande last week. The largest fish they caught was the big catfish shown in the picture, which weighed 85 pounds. The other three fish ranged in size from 20 pounds to 35 pounds. The fish were caught near Langtry. Houston University Defeats Louisiana Tech Eleven, 40-33

HOUSTON, Oct. 9 (AP)—The University of Houston scored three rapid touchdowns in the final period today to come from behind and hand Louisiana Tech its first defeat of the season, 40 to 33.

Louisiana's Bulldogs, with only a 13-13 tie with Auburn blemishing their record, entered the game strong favorites and ran up a 14-0 score at the half and was within striking distance, 20-26, at the end of the third period.

Mississippi Downs Vanderbilt, 20-7

OXFORD, Miss., Oct. 9 (AP) — Outplayed in the first half and trailing by one point, the Mississippi Rebels flashed to a 20-7 last quarter victory over the Vanderbilt Commodores in a thrill-packed Southeastern Conference football game here today.

The Rebels, conference champions last year, kept their 1948 record intact with two touchdowns in the last period, one of them in the final seconds of play.

Unbeaten Tar Heels Whip Wake Forest

WAKE FOREST, N. C., Oct. 9 (AP)—Unbeaten North Carolina whipped Wake Forest, 28-6, today for its third straight victory as the Tar Heels rolled to a pair of touchdowns in the first quarter and added two more in the final period.

Four backs had a hand in the Tar Heel scoring as flashy Tailback Charlie Justice and a tremendous fullback, Hosea Rodgers, were joined in the point making by sub backs Bob Kennedy and Billy Maceyko.

Notre Dame Whips Spartans, 26 To 7

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Oct. 9. (INS)—Notre Dame picked up momentum after a faltering start today to crush Michigan State 26 to 7 at South Bend and run its undefeated streak to 21 games.

The underdog invaders startled a crowd of 58,126 by scoring first after intercepting a Frank Tripucka pass on the Notre Dame 20. The Spartans took it over the final marker in just three plays.

After that, however, Notre Dame began to roll.

The first Irish tally came on a five-yard pass from Tripuka to Leon Hart. Mike Swistowicz went 12 yards for the second.

Terry Brennan chalked up the third six-pointer from the one to climax a 68-yard drive.

The Irish tallied their final touchdown in the fourth quarter after Bill Gay had intercepted a George Guerre pass and returned it to Michigan State's 16-yard line. Emil Sitko carried it over from the 14.

Lane Named General Manager Of Chicago White Sox Nine

Lane succeeds Leslie O'Connor, but will not take over his new duties until Nov. 15, when OConnor's contract expires.

Reports have it that O'Connor will eventually succeed Lane as president of the American association.

Between The Lines. . .

By Joe Kelly

Bill Chick of Abilene, official West Texas-New Mexico League statistician, wound up his duties in Abilene recently by publishing the official records for the 1948 season just concluded. As might be suspected, Lubbock Hubber players figured in many of them.

But with increased rumors that the local club may change hands before another ball season, it is interesting to look first at the attendance figures for the year. As a whole, the league showed attendance for all eight cubs as 599,911 for 1948, compared to 619,901 for 1947, a loss of 19,990. Was this loss general, or only in two or three cities? Surprisingly enough, despite a tight race, the loss was carried by five clubs, with three showing gains. Albuquerque, the first place winner, did not show the largest gain, as might be expected. They were outdrawn by Pampa, which finished fourth.

Pampa drew 71,677 persons, an increase of 15,415 fans, 108 more persons than the 116,930 fans that watched the Dukes perform. The other increase was shown at Clovis, where 48,736 fans watched the Pioneers play, better than the 1947 total by 4,134. All the other clubs dropped in attendance, with Lamesa showing the most decided and most severe loss. There the Loboes drew only 34,363 fans for the year, compared to 66,232 in 1947. That 31,869 drop is serious, serious enough to cause trouble for the owners.

But Lubbock, which had a more successful year financially in 1948, drew 15,276 less fans than in 1947, when they set a new league record for admissions of 117,621. Other losses were not so severe, although marked. Abilene was third with 4,378 less fans in 1948, Amarillo was next with 2,911 less spectators and Borger fared least badly with 412 less fans. But three clubs, Albuquerque, Amarillo and Lubbock, for the second successive year, went over the 100,000 mark. Even Class A baseball teams figure that they can operate successfully—and make money—if they draw over 100,000 fans.

No inspection of the records would be complete without a word about the hitters. A total of 35 men finished with marks above the .300 average, with four of that number hitting better than .400. Herschel Martin of Albuquerque topped the league at .425 and came within a hair of winning the organized ball batting crown. Other .400 hitters included Tony Fiarito of Lamesa, .411; Ed Carnett of Borger, .409; and Bob Crues of Amarillo, .404.

And a look at the marks wouldn't be completed without mentioning Crues again. He tied Joe Hauser of Minneapolis for the greatest number of home runs in a season, 69, Hauser's mark being set in 154 games in 1933, while Crues got his in 140 games. Crues also set a new league record in home runs, runs batted in, runs scored and total bases on his hits. Len Attyd of Albuquerque set a new league mark for triples at 22, while Buck Fawsett of Amarillo and Ron Bowen of Albuquerque wiped out the former hit mark with 234 apiece.

Frank Shone (21-7) led the regular hurlers in his earned run mark, 3.854, although it was not a record. Other hurlers in the 20 victory circle included Joe Budny of Amarillo (21-10), Avon Driggers of Pampa (20-6) and Jimmy Heller of Amarillo (20-9). But Royce Mills of Lubbock, who turned in the best pitching average of 16-3 for .842, stole part of the show with that mark. He also was tagged "The Waxahachie Workhorse" and lived up to it, hurling in 45 games, more than any other hurler, but Heller pitched the most innings, 251.

Thirty shutouts were recorded in the WT-NM loop this year and a fifth of them were turned in by Lubbock hurlers. Bob Clodfelter led with two, while Roy Larue, Roland Miller, Bobby Layne and Red Ramsey each had one. In return, Lubbock was whitewashed three times, once by Tex Coapland of Abilene, once by George Payte of Pampa and, once by Sid Jamison of Borger. Coapland was the

Nevada Beats NTSTC, 48-7

RENO, Nev., Oct. 9 (AP) — The powerful University of Nevada Wolfpack rolled to a 48 to 7 victory today over North Texas State Teachers, their opponents in the Salad Bowl game at Phoenix last New Year's. A crowd of 8,600 saw Nevada score freely in every period.

Stan Heath, Nevada's great passer, hit nine times in 13 tries for 114 yards, but the Nevadans surprised by concentrating largely on a powerful running attack. A number of fleet backs, led by Tommy Kalmanir and Sherman Howard, ran up 270 yards net on the ground.

North Texas, which held Nevada to a 13-6 win in the Salad Bowl, was outclassed completely today.

The visiting Eagles managed one drive of 43 yards in the third quarter, started by Frank Smith's 52-yard kickoff return. But otherwise they never penetrated inside the Nevada 30.

Wildcats Down Gophers, 19-16

Northwestern In Great Comeback

EVANSTON, Ill., Oct. 9 (AP)—Northwestern's undefeated Wildcats, roaring back from a 16-0 deficit in the first nine minutes of play, passed over Minnesota's brawny line for a 19-16 triumph today.

The victory was Northwestern's third consecutive and its second Big-Nine triumph. The defeat was Minnesota's first after non-conference wins over Washington and Nebraska.

All of the scoring was concentrated in the first half.

Minnesota hammered across a safety and two touchdowns for a 16-0 lead before the careless Wildcats realized they had a tough assignment against the hulking Gopher line.

But the Wildcats rallied courageously for a touchdown late in the first period, and two more in the second.

When Northwestern's heralded running attack ran into serious trouble, Quarterback Burson took to the air effectively. His sharp-shooting sparked a 73-yard march for Northwestern's first touchdown. This came on a one-yard sprint around end by Frank Aschenbrenner.

In the second period, Burson rifled a 26-yard payoff pass to end Charles Hagmann. A few minutes later he sewed up the game with a nine-yard touchdown shot to Tom Worthington.

Thereafter the Wildcats waged a terrific defensive battle to protect their slim lead.

Southwest Texas Tops Howard Payne, 10-7

BROWNWOOD, Oct. 9 (AP) — George Mabe kicked a 15-yard field goal with three minutes to go tonight to bring Southwest Texas State a 10-7 victory over Howard Payne.

Franklin Bless scored a touchdown for Southwest Texas in the first period on a one-yard plunge over center and Mabe kicked the extra point. Howard Payne came back in the second period to drive to a touchdown, made by Paul Stewart from the one-yard line and Charles Olson converted.

Publinx Ladies Golf Club Holds Monthly Meet At Mackenzie Park

Seventeen members attended the monthly luncheon of the Meadowbrook Ladies Publinx Golf club which was held at the Party House in Mackenzie State Park Wednesday at noon.

Most of the members also participated in the "two club" tournament which was held earlier in the morning. Each participant was allowed to choose any two clubs from her set and play nine holes. Winners in each of four flights were awarded a new golf ball. These winners were: Mary Simms, Vena Gilbert, Oma Lee Gilmore and Ethel Herriage.

A business meeting was held prior to the luncheon at which Ethel Herriage, president, presided. A report was given on the results of the sale of sandwiches, lemonade and accuracy contest at the men's tournament held several weeks ago.

Plans were made for having a box supper at the regular monthly social meeting in November. The husbands of the members are to be invited.

It was learned that Ethel Herriage, Kathryn Trammel and Johnnie Trammel plan to participate in the Odessa Tournament beginning Monday.

Lubbock Man Sees Herman Perform

Trained Fish In Florida Adds New Angle To Angler's Stories

Paul Cates has a remarkable fish story to tell, quite a bit different from the usual run of fish stories.

In the first place, the Lubbock exploration and drilling contractor, of 2110 Twenty-third, has a colored 16-millimeter motion picture to prove it.

His business requires him to go to Florida about once a month and on his last trip, from which he has just returned, he went to Wakulla Springs, near Tallahassee, where he watched Herman "the trained fish" perform, and took pictures of it.

Herman is a 40-pound catfish which performs acrobatics over a log straddling two ledges 150 feet below the surface of the crystal-clear water. The keeper of the springs swears that Herman comes when called, and performs his leaps and bounds over the log at beck and call of boatmen who navigate the glass-bottomed boats on the water.

Fortunately for Herman, his tricks can be seen plainly since the spring water is so clear that one can see bottom at 185 feet. But Cates, who calls himself a rank amateur at motion-picture photography, managed to get clear pictures of the antics of Herman after many other photographers had tried and failed, people at the springs told him.

Cates has to do a lot of traveling in connection with his business, which includes drilling operations in such places as Louisiana, Alabama and Mississippi, as well as Wyoming and New Mexico.

But he usually manages to get in a few days of fishing or hunting. On this last trip to Florida he went down to Orange Lake, south of Tallahassee, and caught a record-breaking 8¾-pound black bass.

Crucial Junior Game Scheduled

Championship of the South Plains Junior High football league will probably be determined here Thursday night at Chapman field when the loop's two undefeated and untied elevens—O. L. Slaton and Carroll Thompson of Lubbock—clash in a feature setto.

Coach Bennie McWilliams powerful O. L. Slaton crew has chalked up four triumphs in league competition, while Mentor Finis Vaughn's 'gridders have won three tilts in as many starts. The O. L. Slaton team is rated as a better offensive unit, but the Thompson squad boasts a tougher defense.

Lamesa Tests Littlefield

Three other conference tilts will be unreeled, with Lamesa invading Littlefield, strong Levelland journeying to Seminole and Plainview going to Brownfield.

J. T. Hutchinson of Lubbock is idle this week, but the Hutchinson Ranchers — seventh and eighth graders—will go to Post for a Thursday night double bill with the Post juniors. First game will get underway at 7:30 o'clock, officials reported.

Sports Study

By Earl Scudday

Yes, we admit that we were wrong on the Odessa-Amarillo football game Friday night. We sincerely thought that Coach Joe Coleman's Broncos would take the Sandies in stride for the fourth consecutive year. But the Sandies lived up to their ranking as the No. 2 team in the state and gave the Red Hosses their worst defeat since about 1943 or '44. The game did prove, however, that the Sandies deserve the favorite's spot in the District 1-AA title race. On the basis of comparative scores, the Sandies will be a four or five touchdown favorite over the Westerners, and a three-touchdown favorite over the Pampa Harvesters.

Most Westerner fans were well-pleased with the Lubbock victory over Childress Friday night, and especially with the offensive play. The Westerners exhibited the best Lubbock ground attack in several years and proved that they can strike through the air when necessary. The Hub city gridders were thrown off balance on defense by the tricky Childress spread formation, but there was nothing wrong that a few days of special drills won't cure.

And here's some important news for Lubbock grid fans. Lubbock High officials will have to go back to the "locked gate" drill sessions starting Monday afternoon. In recent weeks fans have been allowed in the stands at the practice sessions, but it has definitely been proven that scouts connected with opposing teams have looked the Westerners over carefully several times during the last 10 days. Since it is impossible to know exactly which persons are enemy scouts and which ones are just interested Lubbock fans, the only solution is to bar everyone from the field and the stands. The coaches and officials hate to take such a drastic measure, but they are sure fans will realize the importance of keeping new offensive and defensive plays and formations from opposing teams.

The area games this weekend followed the "dope sheet," as favorites came through with easy wins. Monahans and Seminole continued their march to the district 5-A championship, while Post moved out in front in the south half 4-A title race. In the north half 4-A loop, it still looks like Levelland's Lobos, with Littlefield as the strongest contender.

We talked with the Seminole mentor, Gordon Wood, the other night and he reported that he had moved Richard Lindley, speedy halfback, from the Junior High team to the High school squad. Then Friday night Lindley tallied one of Seminole's touchdowns against Fort Stockton on an end sweep. This is the same Lindley that ran an opening kickoff back 90 yards for a touchdown against the J. T. Hutchinson Junior High gridders of Lubbock in the first junior tilt of the season here. Wood says that Lindley is a fine prospect and, if he continues to develop, may be a regular for the Indians by next year.

Huskies Trample Bruins, 27 To 6

SEATTLE, Wash., Oct. 9 (INS)—An alert band of Washington Huskies scored a smashing upset today by drubbing U.C.L.A., 27 to 6, before 28,500 fans on an Indian summer day in Washington stadium.

Greater speed and alertness in the line plus pass interceptions were decisive factors in the Washington victory. The Huskies were half a jump ahead of U. C. L. A. almost all the time.

Washington scored its first touchdown six minutes after the opening kick-off when quarterback Ansel McCullough passed from the Bruins' 21-yard line to Halfback Gordon Hungar. Jim Rosenzweig's kick was good.

In the second quarter Larry Hatch, Washington halfback, recovered a U. C. L. A. fumble on the Bruins' 32. Halfback Roland Kirkby cut over right tackle to the shadow of the goal posts and a few moments later left Half Marshall Dallas carried the ball over. Rosenzweig's kick was no good.

U. C. L. A. came out for the second half with blood in its collective eye and scored with only two minutes gone in the third quarter.

Golden Bears Drop Wisconsin, 40-14; Iowa Downs Ohio State

California Regains Prestige For Coast

MEMORIAL STADIUM, Berkeley, Cal., Oct. 9. (INS)—California played a Rose Bowl brand of football today in whipping Wisconsin 40 to 14.

And in so doing the Golden Bears recaptured a bit of prestige for Pacific coast football.

Four times previously this season west coast teams have been administered scoreless defeats by members of the rugged Big Nine Conference.

California, of course, was favored to win today over the Badgers who are one of the weaker teams of the Big Nine.

But none of the 66,000 in memorial stadium at Berkeley for today's intersectional tilt expected the Bears would win so handily. As a matter of fact, if Pappy Waldorf had kept his first and second stringers in the game all afternoon, there's no telling what the score might have been.

SERIES BETTING ODDS

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 9 (INS)—James J. Carroll, St. Louis betting commissioner, today made the Cleveland Indians, with Bob Feller pitching, 7-to-20 favorites to beat Boston's Braves and win the World Series at Cleveland tomorrow. The Braves were quoted at 11-to-5, with either Nelson Potter or Warren Spahn pitching.

AT FORT WORTH

Texas Oil Men To Pick Best Golfer

FT. WORTH, Oct. 9.—The best golfers and top-notch shot-gun wielders among Texas oil men will be decided in Fort Worth, October 15, the Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas association announced today.

Play in the association's annual golf tournament will begin at River Crest Country club at 1 p. m., W. A. Moncrief, jr., tourney chairman said. Low net score wins one year possession of the Hamilton trophy, donated by W. B. Hamilton, Wichita Falls; prizes are also posted for low net runner-up and winner and runner-up of low gross in the 18-holes of medal play.

Oil men in several cities are organizing teams with the hopes of deposing last year's team champions from Tyler.

The skeet shoot at the Fort Worth Gun and Skeet club will see shooting start at 1 p. m. in contests for individual and team prizes, J. M. Loffland, jr., tourney chairman announced.

Ohio's Conference Bubble Smashed

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 9. (INS)—Iowa's Hawkeyes, more distinguished for doggedness than for brilliance, smashed Ohio State's Western Conference bubble, 14 to 7, at Columbus today.

Before a crowd of 63,394, the Hawkeyes scored two touchdowns within a five-minute stretch in the second quarter and made the margin stick throughout the remainder of a blustery afternoon.

The defeat was Ohio's first in three games and started last year's Conference cellar dweller off in the same direction.

Iowa spotted the Bucks a score in the opening quarter when Quarterback Pete Perini recovered a Hawkeye fumble on the 19. Fullback Joe Whisler pecked his way over in four succeeding plunges.

Kickoff plays set up both Iowa scores in quick succession a few minutes later. Fullback John Tedore plowed over for the first touchdown after Quarterback Al Dimarco, the Hawks' offensive standout, had run a boot back 67 yards.

On the next kickoff, the crazily-bounding ball trickled away from Whisler and was recovered by Tedore on the Buckeye 24. Left End Bob McKenzie fell on teammate Jerry Faske's fumble in the end zone a couple of minutes later.

The Bucks plugged away throughout the remainder of the game but fumbled away their real chance after reaching the enemy one-yard stripe.

Iowa outgained the Bucks, 184 yards to 155, but had only nine first downs to Ohio's ten.

only hurler to pitch more than two shutouts and he had three. Chris Haskins had one, but he was not with Lubbock at the time.

Five Hubbers were selected to the All-Star game, one of them as a replacement, and all took a part in the 10-8 victory for the South. Chick Fowler, the replacement, slammed a two-run homer to give the Rebels the edge. Other Hubbers chosen were Manager Jackie Sullivan, Virgil Richardson, Don Moore and Mills. Haskins was the winning pitcher, but wore Lamesa livery at the time.

Among the miscellaneous items, the Hubbers set a fielding mark for the year to end up in first place, but placed second to the Dukes in double plays, although both teams erased the former twin killing record of 147. And of two triple plays, the Hubbers were the victims in one, that by Amarillo at Rosenthal Field on July 29. John Kelly (no relation) of Abilene walked 205 men to establish a new record, while the Abilene Blue Sox stole the most bases. Only three players participated in all 140 games, all of them Gold Sox. They were Doug Lewis, Jerry Folkman and Crues.

And the all-star team chosen by the official scorers around the loop ended up with only two Hubbers on it, Richardson and Sullivan. The latter was one of three repeat choices. The team, by positions, included Richardson, first base; Wilbur Dixon, Albuquerque, second base; Fausett, third base; Tony Range, Pampa, and Frank Okrie, Albuquerque, shortstop (tie); Sullivan, utility infielder; Carnett, Crues and Martin, outfielders; Paul Halter, Amarillo, utility outfielder; John Bottarini, Clovis-Pampa, catcher; Shone, righthanded pitcher; Driggers, lefthanded pitcher; and Fausett and Martin, managers. The latter drew an equal number of votes.

THE BEST DEER RIFLE?—For some years now deer and varmint hunters have been discussing merits of the Winchester .220 Swift rifle for all-around killing power. The Swift tosses a 46-grain bullet at a speed of 4150 second feet at the muzzle. The hunter shown above using the Swift, evidently found it to be a good gun. However, other hunters say that the Swift is not much good beyond 200 yards, and stick up for the .30-30 or the .300 Savage as the best deer rifle.

Deer Hunters Say Winchester .220 Swift Is Fine Gun Except For Its Short Range

By HART STILWELL
Special Correspondent

Several years before the shooting started in Europe to launch World War II, Winchester came out with a rifle called the .220 Swift.

Ever since then gun bugs and rifle experts and just plain hunters have been trying to decide whether this is a first rate deer gun or a freak weapon, whether it points the way toward an entirely new day in the world of the man who hunts game that runs on four feet.

I've shot the .220 Swift off and on since it first made its appearance. And I've been around other hunters who used it — some swear by it, claiming it is the best deer gun of them all. Some become disgusted with it and abandon it in favor of something that throws more lead.

I have no intention of trying to settle the question of whether the Swift is an ideal deer gun. But I would like to tell you about some of the things the gun has done—both good and bad.

The Swift tosses a 46-grain bullet at a speed of 4150 second feet at the muzzle. Up to two hundred yards, it has the flattest trajectory of any rifle, a drop of around an inch and a half. Beyond two hundred yards the little bullet begins to grow weary of bucking the wind and falls away fast, so that at 300 yards the Swift doesn't have much killing power.

There are two things the Swift does that set it aside in a class by itself. First, the Swift bullet blows up if it so much as touches something while it still has most of its kick — that is, up to 200 yards and slightly beyond.

And, second, the Swift has a shocking power that has caused gun experts to shake their heads in wonder. They think it is likely this little bullet may revolutionize most of the theories of firearms—theories about those big, slow, heavy slugs being needed to stop big game. But, of course, before we move into the field of big game, it will be necessary to develop a slightly larger bullet and still retain the speed of the Swift. This may come from some cartridge on the order of the wildcat .240 Wotkyns, or some of the other extremely interesting wildcats developed the past few years. Most of these are in the .24 calibre range.

Fantastic things have been done with and by the Swift.

For instance, a huge shark was shot with a .30-06, the bullet passing entirely through his body, and he continued swimming along as though nothing had happened. He might have died eventually, but he gave no evidence of even being sick.

Then the same shark was shot with a Swift. He stiffened out as though a powerful electric shock had gone through him.

The same thing has happened in the case of elephants. One shot from a Swift dropped a huge elephant — a tame one that had gone sour on the world — as though a dynamite charge had exploded inside the beast. But, of course, nobody in his right mind is yet advocating the Swift as an elephant gun — I'm just telling you about some things that have happened.

Gun men are positive that a man shot in the chest with a Swift at a range of a hundred yards would drop dead instantly, even if the slug didn't touch an artery or the heart. Yet a man shot through the chest with a .30-06 at the same range will usually recover unless the bullet strikes an artery or the heart.

Yet the Swift is not a good army rifle because of its limited range. What it is doing, however, is to point the way toward a compromise gun. In fact, the U. S. Army was actually planning back in the middle Thirties, on switching to the .270 calibre rifle when war clouds began gathering and stopped the plans. There wasn't time.

All this sounds tremendously impressive.

But let's look at both sides of the picture. I've seen a buck hit in

Army Eleven Defeats Illinois; Duke Rolls Over Midshipmen

Long Drives Hand Cadets 26-21 Win

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Oct. 9 (AP)—Army's brute force, generated by a two-unit substitution system, ground out four long touchdown drives today as the unbeaten Cadets defeated Illinois, 26-21 before a sell-out throng of 71,119.

The great Army outfit, rolling to its third straight 1948 triumph scored in every quarter but the last and piled up a 26-0 margin before the Illini caught fire in the third period.

Illinois, suffering its second loss in three starts, was pitifully outmanned and completely overwhelmed until Bernie Krueger, junior quarterback from Hammond, Ind., finally began making his passes count. But by that time it was too late. Although Illinois scored once in the third and twice in the finale, Army was on its one yard stripe with a first down as the gun ended the game.

RECORD SLICE

Each Tribe Player To Receive $6,772

CLEVELAND, Oct. 9. (AP)—If the Cleveland Indians win the World Series from the Boston Braves, each member of the Tribe will receive $6,772, an all time record slice, according to unofficial figures.

Although the Indians have not given details of how they divided the money, they split up 34 shares.

The total players pool for the first four games, the only contests in which the players share, was $548,214. Of that 70 per cent or $383,749, goes to the basis of 60 per cent to the winners and 40 per cent to the losers.

Duke Blue Devils Sink Navy, 28-7

DURHAM, N. C., Oct. 9 (AP)—Duke found the scoring punch it has been looking for all season and rolled over Navy 28-7 today for its first victory.

The spark that set the Blue Devils off to victory after ties in their first two games came from the heels of a pair of speedsters who kept the Middies in confusion most of the day.

Fred Folger, Jr., the old reliable of the Duke backfield for the past two seasons, pulled the crowd of 25,000 to its feet when the game was less than two minutes old by intercepting a pass and dashing 50 yards to set up Duke's first score. Paul Stephanz rammed the ball over from the five in the first try.

Navy scored in the third period, marching from a kick-off for their lone touchdown on a drive that started from Navy's 35. Bill Hawkins zoomed over from one yard out for the score. Jim Wells converted.

Final Plans Underway For Two-Day Area Meeting Of High School, College English Teachers Here

By ROGER SOUTHALL
Avalanche-Journal Staff Writer

Final preparations are being made for the two-day English workshop-conference of District IV of the Texas State Teachers' association, to be held in Lubbock Oct. 22-23 for high school and college English teachers in the district.

Hosts for the conference are English teachers in Lubbock Senior High school and Texas Technological college. Sessions are to be held at the high school, in Memorial auditorium of the Agriculture building on the Texas Tech campus, and the Texas Tech cafeteria.

Good Attendance Seen

Miss Glenys Honey, general chairman of the District IV committee, said Saturday that English departments throughout the district, including a number in high schools located a considerable distance from Lubbock, have indicated their intentions to send representatives to the conference. She added that no registrations have been received yet from several of the larger high schools, including several in the immediate Lubbock area.

She emphasized the importance of early registration on the part of those English departments who have not already indicated their intention to be represented. The membership fee is $1, payment of which entitles a department to send as many teachers to the conference as may be desired. However, registration immediately before or during the sessions is urged for any department unable to notify the committee before the conference.

Registrations may be made with Miss Quanah Lewis of the Texas Technological college English department.

To Arrange Accomodations

A special "rooms committee" has been named for the conference, whose duty it will be to list rooms available to those teachers attending who do not have hotel reservations or other accomodations. Kline Nall of the Texas Tech English department, is head of the committee.

The general committee, headed by Miss Honey, has suggested to the superintendents of county schools, especially those located a considerable distance from Lubbock, that at least one teacher be sent to the conference to represent all of the various English departments of that county, so that representatives from each of the 27 counties in District IV be present at the conference.

Program Is Announced

Dr. Alan M. F. Gunn of the Texas Tech English department, program chairman of the District IV committee, has announced the program of the forthcoming conference:

Registrations of attending teachers will be held Friday, Oct. 22, from 1:15 p. m. until 2 p. m. in the main entrance hall of the Senior High school.

At 2 p. m., the first session of the conference will open in the Senior High school auditorium, with Miss Honey, general chairman of the committee, presiding. A welcome to attending teachers will be given by Floyd Honey, principal of Lubbock Senior High school. Immediately following the welcome, Dr. Gunn will briefly review the "integration program" of the TSTA, with a statement of purposes and procedures of the conference.

At 2:20 p. m., the conference will get underway with a discussion of the theme, including such points as number, frequency, topics, length, and organization. Discussion leaders will be Dr. Alan L. Strout of the Texas Tech English department, and Mrs. J. B. Caldwell of the Slaton Senior High school English department.

Discussions Are Slated

Following an intermission from 3:30 until 3:40 p. m., the workshop conference will continue with a panel discussion and correction of college English themes. Co-chairmen of the session are to be Mrs. Nils Akeson, head of the English department of Howard County Junior college, Big Spring.

Theme reader will be Miss Irene Armes, Lubbock Senior High school; Miss Lola Beth Green, Texas Tech college; and Mrs. D. J. Neill, Slaton Senior High school.

An informal dinner for attending teachers has been planned for 6:45 p. m. Friday at the Texas Tech college cafeteria. Chairman for the event will be Dean James G. Allen of the Tech faculty, and main speaker will be Dr. E. N. Jones, vice president of the college.

The dinner will be $1.50 per person. Advance mail reservations are requested.

Second Day Plans Given

The second session of the conference has been scheduled for 8 p. m. Friday in Memorial auditorium of the Tech Agriculture building.

The first topic at this session will be "Problems of the English Teacher in the Smaller High School." Mrs. Lenore Tunnell, of Tahoka, superintendent of schools in Lynn county, will be discussion leader.

The second topic is "The Teaching of Literature and of Reading Comprehension." Dr. W. B. Gates of the Texas Tech English department will be chairman, and discussion will be led by Miss Grace Padley of the Lubbock city schools, and Mrs. B. H. Warren, head of the English department, Wayland college, Plainview.

A third session is scheduled from 9 a. m. until 12 noon in room 252 of the Senior High school.

From 9 until 10:15 a. m., the topic "Problems in the Teaching of Mechanics: Spelling, Punctuation, Grammar," will be reviewed. Co-chairmen will be Dr. T. W. Camp of the Texas Tech English department, and Mrs. Ruth Dykes, head of the English department, Brownfield Senior High school.

Dr. Camp will present a report on "Deficiencies in Mechanics Observed in College Freshman English Themes." Miss Marie Miles, also of the college English department, will discuss "Deficiencies Observed in (Sophomore) Engineering English Themes." Other special reports also are planned for this meeting.

An intermission, from 10:15 until 10:30 a. m., will be followed by the session topic, "Standards of English Teaching in District IV: Problems of Grading, Examinations, Remedial Courses." Dr. Gunn will be chairman, and a panel discussion will be presented by Miss Ione McAlister, Big Spring Senior High school; Mrs. Grace Wellborn, Texas Tech English department; and Mrs. Jack Razor, Frenship Senior High school.

From 11:30 a. m. until 12 noon a report will be made by the committee on recommendations.

Dr. Gunn, in announcing the program, emphasized that opportunity for general discussion of topics and reports will be provided by the chairmen of each session. Specific outlines for each part of the workshop-conference are now being prepared, he added, and will be distributed a week or so in advance of the conference to all chairmen and participants. If possible, these outlines will also be mailed to all departments enrolled in the "Integration program" in advance of the Oct. 22-23 meeting.

Reds Report Seizure Of Coal, Food Stocks

BERLIN, Oct. 9 (AP)—The Soviet-controlled ADN news agency reported seizure of "great quantities" of coal and food in a crackdown on truck traffic in the Soviet sector of Berlin today. The agency said the cargo was unauthorized by Soviet authorities.

The special drive, ordered by Soviet Commander Alexander Kotikov on all vehicular freight, was carried out by Germans working for the Soviet food and economics offices.

ADN said that 77 seized trucks lacked proper papers for their freight. The agency charged the cargoes were intended for the illegal supply of blockaded western Berlin from the Russian sector. The truck owners were not identified, but they presumably were Germans.

Heavy ground fog stopped the Anglo-American air lift supplying western Berlin for four hours this morning but it was resumed before noon.

the shoulder with a Swift bullet bound on off as though nothing had touched him. The bullet blew up when it touched the bone. Still a buck hit in the ham at a range of 200 yards or less is usually venison in the bag.

I've seen deer carry off a tremendous load of lead from such guns as the .30-30, or the .30 Remington, or even the .300 Savage. These are all deer guns. But unless a slug from one of them hits a deer in a vital spot, he's likely to move into a different county. Yet I saw a tiny .46 grain bullet from a Swift hit a buck high and far back in the back and drop him as though he had been poleaxed. If this little bullet ever gets through the outer protection of bone, its shocking power is terrific.

I saw one deer shot in the heart with a Swift. The buck died in the air. He was hit at the top of a leap, and he folded in the air. His heart and lungs were a bloody mass.

Yet many hunters have hit deer at close range with the Swift, only to have the deer bound on away as though nothing had happened. The Swift definitely does freak tricks.

And because of this fact, most hunters are inclined to look on it with disfavor even as a deer gun for the relatively small whitetail deer.

I'm not the one to try to give an answer. Where game is plentiful and the hunter is an expert and the country fairly open, it is possible there are few better deer guns than the Swift at a range of 200 yards or less. I know that many of the deer taken on the King Ranch are killed with Swifts.

Yet on an adjoining ranch where I have hunted, the owner gave up using a Swift on deer. He hunted in brushy country, and said he lost two many deer that he would have nailed with a bigger gun.

One thing I can tell you for certain.

In hunting for coyotes and hawks and jackrabbits and other varmints, there is probably no finer gun than the Swift unless it's the .257 Roberts, and then the latter has the advantage only because of range.

And even on varmints the Swift does strange things. I shot a hawk at close range once and discovered the Swift bullet, exploding inside him, had literally cleaned him. There was nothing left but skin and feathers and bones. Then I saw a jackrabbit killed stone dead one day when the bullet, in its original form, never touched him. It hit a twig nearby and blew up, finishing off the jackrabbit.

It's a strange gun, all rght. Worth watching and experimenting with.

Gerald Smith's Endorsement Rejected By Colorado Solon

DENVER, Oct. 9. (INS)—U. S. Senator Ed C. Johnson (D-Colo) has an endorsement for reelection today from a well-known national figure, but Johnson is vigorously repudiating the endorsement.

The support, which the senator rejected, came from Gerald L. K. Smith, national director of the Christian Nationalist crusade.

Smith said that "Senator Johnson, who votes right on most things, is worthy of our support whether he likes it or not?"

Said Sen. Johnson:

"I most emphatically repudiate the endorsement of my candidacy by Gerald L. K. Smith, and the group which he heads. I do not want such an endorsement and would rather lose this election than win with the help of such groups."

Fort Worth School Board Bans Orange Drink Sale In Cafeterias

FORT WORTH, Oct. 9 (U.P.) — The Fort Worth School board voted today to ban in school cafeterias the sale of an orange drink which has been the subject of a lengthy controversy.

The meeting, which started early Friday evening and ran past midnight, was attended by milk dealers and their representatives. They sought the re-establishment of the sale of chocolate milk, which was banned earlier as containing Grade B milk.

A board statement said sale of the orange drink was being suspended because the concern making the orange concentrate had moved and the city health department had not inspected the new premises nor had any record of the location of the firm.

Dr. Dudley Reekie, city health officer, said a state law was being violated because the orange drink was being bottled by hand in the cafeterias.

Dancer Pardoned In Cuba For Murder, Returns To Ohio Home

TOLEDO, O., Oct. 9. (AP)—Patricia (Satira) Schmidt, exotic dancer pardoned after serving a year and a half in jail for slaying her lover in Havana harbor, was back home today to "rest and recuperate."

"Oh, daddy, daddy! I'm so glad to be home—so glad!" she told her father, John Schmidt, a druggist, as she arrived here by plane last night.

She was granted a pardon by Cuban President Ramon Grau San Martin in the fatal shooting of John Lester Mee, Chicago naval veteran, aboard the victim's yacht, a judge had sentenced her to 15 years.

"All I want to do for a while is just rest and recuperate," she told reporters. She said she had scarcely slept since Sept. 30 when she learned she was to be freed.

Still wearing her hair coiled high on her head, the dancer declared she had been offered a "number of contracts," but had no immediate plans.

"I only pray that some day I might be able to help others as I have been helped and I say that sincerely," she added.

STEADY PRICE FOOTING

NEW YORK, Oct. 9 (AP) — The stock market found a steady price footing today after a wobbly start.

Trading was unusually slow even for a Saturday session. Several large blocks of stocks changed hands but most of the time the ticker tape loafed. Many issues failed to open at all.

Turnover for the two-hour day was in the neighborhood of 300,000 shares, which would compare with 330,000 a week ago.

The possibility that decisive news regarding the Berlin blockade might be forthcoming over the weekend tended to brake activity. Many traders too were simply away on a long weekend.

Houston Brothers Ask $206,500 Damages For Accident Injuries

HOUSTON, Oct. 9. (U.P.)—Two brothers asked $206,500 today from the Southern Pacific Transfer company for injuries they allegedly received last Feb. 10 in a collision in the Houston city limits.

Separate suits were filed by Terrell T. Rushing and Everett C. Rushing for $95,500 and $111,000, respectively. They charged a truck owned by the transfer firm was traveling on the wrong side of the street when it struck the Rushing car.

Thermon Rushing, another brother, filed against the firm last March for injuries received in the same accident. He asked for $120,000 damages.

Rayburn Speaks For Demos In Oklahoma

DURANT, Okla., Oct. 9 (AP)—Rep. Sam Rayburn (D-Tex.) urged the statewide support of the Truman-Barkley ticket and Robert S. Kerr, nominee for Senate, in a speech here today.

He spoke before a crowd estimated at more than 250 in the first of three Oklahoma speeches. The others will be at Hugo and McAlester. Here, Rayburn praised the present Democratic administration.

The Texan said Kerr's election would "replace a medium Republican with a high-type Democrat in the United States Senate."

Introduced By Governor

Rayburn, introduced by Gov. Roy J. Turner, lauded the farm record of the Democratic administration.

"In 1931," he said, "I sold 1,000 bushels of oats for $90. Today I could sell them for $1,250. The new Democratic administration put support under farm prices in 1933. Cotton started up from four and a half cents a pound to more than 30 cents."

Rayburn added:

"Some people say we need a change. What do you want to charge to? Do you want to return to the same kind of administration which brought soup kitchens and bread lines?"

Rayburn said the present administration is doing "everything humanly possible for peace."

Man Wanted In Forgery Case In Abilene Held In Florida

MIAMI, Fla., Oct. 9 (AP)—Detective C. W. Huddleston said today that a man identified as Edward Rice Lumpkin, Jr., 34, wanted by Abilene police, is under arrest here.

The detective said Lumpkin, a resident of Abilene, was picked up here at the request of the Abilene police department.

(At Abilene, police said Lumpkin is charged with forgery.)

Huddleston said no charges were filed against the suspect here. At the time of his arrest, Huddleston said, Lumpkin was with a girl identified by the detective as only "a manicurist."

The Miami detective said Lumpkin waived extradition and that Abilene police are on their way to Miami to take the suspect in custody.

Tech Prepares For Homecoming

With a record 6,000 visitors expected, Texas Technological college this week was preparing for the largest annual Homecoming of its 23-year history.

The Oct. 30 Homecoming program will include a giant parade, a luncheon, an afternoon football game between Tech's Red Raiders and Rice Institute Owls, and a dance.

Ordinarily only two sections of Tech's stadium are required at Homecoming to handle ex-students, but officials said three sections were reserved this year and these are sold out.

25,000 May See Game

Only about 2,000 general admission seats remain to be sold, and indications are that nearly 25,000 persons, the largest crowd in Tech history, will witness the game. Rice will be making its first visit to Lubbock, the five previous meetings between the Raiders and the Owls having taken place in Houston.

All clubs on the Tech campus have been asked to enter floats in the 10 a. m. parade. Judges will award prizes to the most beautiful, most comical and most descriptive float.

Tech exes have been invited to attend the buffet luncheon in the college gymnasium, an annual event sponsored by the Lubbock Bus company and the Texas, New Mexico and Oklahoma Motor Coaches.

Political Leader Urges Revolt On Eve Of Honduras Election

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras, Oct. 9 (AP)—Angel Zuniga Heute, opposition political leader, issued a call for revolt tonight on the eve of Honduras' first presidential election in 16 years.

A statement issuing the call for revolt was brought to correspondents from Zuniga Huete's hideout in Tegucigalpa. It bore the political leader's signature.

Zuniga Huete, who withdrew as Liberal party presidential candidate two weeks ago, was hiding out in the Honduran capital. Earlier reports had said he slipped out of Tegucigalpa today in order to "avoid incidents."

As the people prepared to vote, only one candidate was in the field. He was Juan Manual Galvez, nominee of the Natioanl (government) party.

Changes In Method Of Naming Supreme Court Judges Studied

By JOE BELDEN
Director, The Texas Poll

AUSTIN, Oct. 9—Democracy is almost blind when it comes to electing judges of the Supreme Court of Texas.

A large majority of the voters don't even know the names of the men who run for high judicial office, let alone the qualifications of the candidates. They cast their ballots by hunch and accident. Having no solid facts upon which to base their choice, they are often lured into voting for a man by nothing more than the look and sound of his name.

A number of leading lawyers are advocating an end to this hit-and-miss system of electing high court judges in Texas. They are backing a plan which calls for a non-political commission to nominate the judges, the governor to appoint them, and the voters to decide periodically which ones if any ought to re removed.

What are the prospects for such a change?

Amendment Is Needed

Only by constitutional amendment approved by the voters will it be possible to change the system of electing judges. Most voters will admit they don't know much about judges, but they are not ready to give up their right to elect members of the Supreme Court. It will take a lot of campaigning to persuade a majority of the voters that a system of non-political appointment is better.

On July 24, more than a million Texas Democratic voters took part in nominating four men to serve on the Supreme Court. Three weeks later, a statewide survey by The Texas Poll showed that only 30 per cent of the qualified voters and only 35 per cent of the persons who actually voted could recall by name one or more of the winning candidates.

It was not that most voters forgot the names of the judges. The fact is that they never learned them. A statewide survey of qualified voters three weeks before the July 24 election showed at that time only 16 per cent could recall by name one or more of the men who were running for Supreme Court.

Many Voted Blindly

Comparison of the two surveys indicates that the publicity which attended the election helped to acquaint a good many voters with the names of the principal candidates. But it was not enough to inform a bare majority. It seems clear that the great majority voted blindly when they marked their ballots for Supreme Court judges.

The post-election survey showed that Judge James P. Hart, who conducted the most vigorous campaign in recent court history, became the best known among the winning candidates. Judge Few Brewster, who was unopposed and therefore did not conduct a publicity campaign, was the least known.

The Texas Poll made its post-election measurement with this question, which was put to a statewide cross section of 1,000 qualified voters:

"Four judges were elected to the Supreme Court of Texas in July. Which ones can you recall by name?"

Correctly named	Qualified Voters	Actual Voters
James P. Hart	21%	24%
J. E. Hickman	13	16
W. St. John Garwood	12	15
Few Brewster	9	12

The results above indicate that persons who actually voted on July 24 were only slightly better informed as a group than the qualified electorate as a whole. Interviewing for this survey was conducted August 9-15.

To find out how much sentiment exists for changing the present system of electing judges, The Texas Poll asked these two questions:

"Do you think judges of the Supreme Court of Texas should be elected by the people, or do you think they should be chosen in some other way?"

	Qualified Voters	Actual Voters
Favor election	76%	76%
Favor some other way	15	17
No opinion	9	7
	100%	100%

"How do you think they (Supreme Court judges) should be chosen?" (Asked only of those who said they thought judges should be chosen in some other way besides election.)

	Qualified Voters	Actual Voters
Favor appointment by non-political board	5.3%	6.3%
Favor appointment by governor	4.7	5.3
Favor appointment by State Bar	2.0	2.1
Favor appointment by legislature or attorney general	0.7	0.6
Favor no particular method	2.6	3.1

Shell Files $3,360,000 Suit Against Striking Oil Workers

MARTINEZ, Calif., Oct. 9. (AP)—A suit for $3,360,000 damages was filed against the striking CIO oil workers union today by the Shell Oil Co.

The suit also asked $35,000 per day as long as the strike continues, and an injunction to halt alleged violence.

The complaint was in the nature of a supplemental action for an injunction and damages. The superior court last Sept. 14 denied an injunction on the company's contention that there was violence at the local refinery. The strike against major oil companies is in it's 36th day.

More and more farmers are finding that selective cutting of woodland means better quality timber and more income from the farm.

Levelling Of State Revenue Is Noted

AUSTIN, Oct. 9. (AP)—Signs that flush state revenues are beginning to level off were seen today by State Comptroller George H. Sheppard.

Net or corrected revenue receipts for September showed a gain of four million dollars, or 12 per cent over September revenues a year ago.

This, Sheppard explained, was two per cent below the average gain for the last fiscal year over the previous year "and indicates a final levelling off of state receipts."

September's revenue of $33,000,000 was the smallest for any one month since September, 1947.

Sheppard's report predicted that the general revenue fund's balance would stay somewhere between 70 and 80 million dollars until collections of franchise taxes and insurance company occupation taxes begin to roll in next April and May.

He also noted that the financing of public schools got off to a good start in September. Educational payments totalled $13,941,062, compared with $3,911,564 the same month last year. This included large allocations to rural aid schools.

ONE MAN'S HOBBY

"PLEASE have Henry ship one Mercedes wheel today to J. W. Maples. Firestone, Akron. Love, Pop."

That's the wire James Melton sent to his wife in Westport, Conn., shortly before he left Lubbock Friday morning for Amarillo where he was looking forward to a visit to the Tri-State fair and to his Saturday concert with the Philharmonic orchestra. He appeared in Lubbock Thursday night on the Tech Artist course program.

While this husky, hearty, handsome Irishman dispenses tenor arias for a living, he collects antique automobiles for a hobby and his interest in them becomes contagious when he talks about them.

"If you're ever in Norwalk, Conn., you'll want to come by our museum and see the collection," he mused. "Those ancient automobiles, which are in perfect running condition draw the interest of about 3,000 visitors a week. They pay seventy-five cents a piece for the privilege. Not bad, eh?"

The hobby, started years ago, has really grown into a full-size business which employs a crew of full-time mechanics.

MELTON, despite his fame in the music world, is one of the most down-to-earth human beings imaginable.

He expressed sincere interest in the Lubbock Symphony and said he wished it all the success in the world. "Texas certainly has it's symphony orchestras, doesn't it? he asked. "It seems to me there is one in almost every town."

TECH Artist Course committee has been trying to sign Milton for an appearance for the last three years but his schedules are dated so far ahead this fall was the earliest time. He said Friday he was tremendously impressed about that. "I like to sing in a place that shows that much interest in me and I'd like to come back again, although Lord only knows when that will be. Look at my list of concert tours."

We looked at the typed sheet and it resembled a radio log it was so filled with days and hours and places.

We doubt if many in the audience, aside from voice teachers and voice students know that Melton was not in full voice when he began his concert Thursday night. He said he had eaten something earlier in the afternoon that disagreed with him and he was uncomfortable and unhappy when the curtain went up. However, he got ahold of himself shortly before intermission and finished his numbers in grand style and with all the vocal talent he possessed.

Howdy Folks—

These crispy mornings make me look around for a nice, warm, pleasant spot to toast my shins and I know of no better place than Broadway & N—especially when Old Man Winter gets rough—behind those Coral Doors there is always a pleasant good morning—new, interesting things to see and a good fire to sit by. Those gals are always planning new tables that, even minus the food, whet my appetite. Taking home that good appetite really pleases Mama. 'Cause Mama is like all housewives—when she prepares a good meal and sets a pretty table she wants both admirers of the beauty and a hungry family to enjoy it.

Fredda is trying to find time to make a flying trip to market just to assure us of plenty of interesting merchandise between now and Xmas. Lubbock's growing population and air service are making greater demands on all businesses and believe me Decorators Studio is getting their share, for they are servicing jobs from El Paso to Dallas . . . other towns are growing too, with new fine homes and office buildings.

Anne is still writing daily . . . is enjoying New York and her school work but thinks she is having her most fun when Fredda wires her to buy something special for a job—which is almost every day.

Everybody was so busy I couldn't get much information but I saw a lot of boxes and crates in the back yard so I've a feeling I'll go back Monday morning and see what's new. Meet you same time, same place next week — Decorators Studio, Broadway & N. Grandpa Nosey.

P. S. Reminding you this is the last week special offer on Coronado (twirl) Pottery. See ad.

HALLOWE'EN PARTY — One of the favorite times for entertaining is the orange and black season which culminates in Hallowe'en night and which this year falls on Sunday. We just hope the youngsters don't tear up the town on Saturday!

The setting for a ghost party may be the backyard, a recreation room or the family living room and the boys and girls have lots of fun planning the games and making decorations. Simple-to-make decorations such as jack-o-lanterns, black cats, balloons and orange and black crepe paper streamers make a fine background for the gathering of ghosts and goblins.

Refreshments for the Hallowe'en party can be very simple. Taffy apples, popcorn and doughnuts can be made in advance or bought ready to serve. The beverage may be spiced apple juice or hot chocolate.

Prolific Young Artist Studying At Tech Has Developed Own Individual Technique

John McKaughan from Tahoka, one of the more prolific young artists studying at Texas Technological college, has developed his technique "to the point where you can look at a picture and tell it is his," said one of his instructors.

The boy, a second semester junior commercial art student, contributed paintings ot the Tech group in the art exhibits at the Panhandle-South Plains fair. A group of his oils, watercolors and pastels will be on display this week in a window at Lattimore's, 1708 Broadway.

Painted Many Pictures

He has painted dozens of pictures, using most of his spare time in painting pictures in addition to the work he does in commercial art class. Most of the work has been done in the three and one-half years since he entered Tech.

"We think his work is quite original,' said Mrs. Bill Sasser, instructor in architecture. She described his work as "free and modern."

Most of his work he classifies under modern conventionalism. His favorite medium is water color.

His signature used on pictures is "Kaughan."

Met Heroic Tenor Plans Big Game Hunt In 1949

A humdrum existence most certainly is not the lot of Lauritz Melchior, the Met's heroic tenor who sings here Oct. 21-22 with the Lubbock Symphony orchestra. Hunting is a favorite yearly sport of his and his next expedition is slated for early 1949, when he goes to Africa to hunt big game.

TO REHEARSE TODAY

Lubbock Symphony orchestra will have a rehearsal of the entire orchestra this afternoon at 5 o'clock in the First Methodist church parlor. There will not be a Monday night rehearsal, according to William G. Harred, conductor.

With outstanding achievements in five separate careers — opera, concert, motion pictures, radio and records, Melchior is one man of music whose magnificent voice has thrilled audiences not only in opera houses in large cities, but also in the auditoriums of small communities throughout the country. Last year in addition to ten Met performances in New York and seven guest appearance on top radio shows, he sang 54 concerts in 29 states, plus British Columbia, all within eight weeks time! This was possible only because such matters as time and space do not bother the huge singer, who is 6 feet 4 inches tall and weighs 230 pounds. He conquers them by traveling by plane.

Holders of season tickets are to attend the first night's concert and individual tickets for the second night go on sale Monday at Adair's and South Plains Music stores and at the Tech Varsity. Seats are $3, $2.80, $2.40 and $1.80.

A few season tickets are still available at the Adair Music store.

Miss America "Just Growed"

Few beauty aids . . .

Wholesome home life . . .

HOPKINS, Minn., — Has Miss America for 1948 any beauty secrets to pass along? None whatever, she says, and furthermore she loves to eat.

Bebe Shopp, 18, selected Miss America at Atlantic City Sept. 11, doesn't have to "make herself beautiful." Her chores before the mirror are simple.

Her ligh tbrown hair receives the traditional 50 strokes daily. She uses home permanents and takes care of her hair herself. She uses plain soap and water for washing her face.

Bebe uses makeup sparingly—just a little lipstick and a dash of face powder to set off her natural youthful coloring.

Miss Shopp, a tall girl—five feet, nine inches and 138 pounds—is not afraid of food. She wears a size 16 dress and a 9-A shoe.

A typical breakfast, she says, is a glass of orange juice, a glass of milk, a sweet roll and a dish of wheat cereal.

The new Miss America is an active girl. She helps with the housework around her modest, white-shingled home and in her parents' four-acre garden. She bakes, sews, keeps up her vibraharp music and will enter a Minneapolis music school this fall to study the piano.

Marriage? Bebe, christened Beatrice Bella Shopp, has told her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward R. Shopp, and others that wedding bells are still "six or seven years off."

The lucky man, she says, will have to be one who loves music, is a good American and "leads a wholesome life in the Christian way."

Thayer "the glamour name in juvenile products", builds for smart young mothers who want a Hi-Chair worthy of any room in the house! This wing-type upholstered model is handsome indeed . . . and it's also the safest Hi-Chair ever built. A bar of polished aluminum protects baby when tray is removed. Low center of gravity makes it impossible for a baby to tip. Tray is of Tha-lite, the chip-proof, cold-resistant, easily washable Tenite plastic, with extra-deep lip for dish protection. Converts to low play chair and table.

Paintings Of Lubbock Man Will Be Put On Exhibition At Tech

A one-man exhibition of oil paintings by Knox T. Thomas, president of the First Federal Savings and Loan association, will be hung in the West Texas museum on the campus of Texas Technological college from Oct. 15 until Nov. 1, F. A. Kleinschmidt, director of the Texas Tech Art Institute, announced Saturday.

Opening the exhibit will be an open house from 7 until 10 o'clock Friday night, honoring Mr. Thomas, and members of the Institute and his friends are invited to attend, Kleinschmidt said.

Second Of Season

The Thomas show is the second of the 1948-49 season for the institute.

Thirty-one paintings by Thomas are catalogued for the exhibition. They have been painted by Thomas during the past quarter-century. Born in Wise county, near Decatur, Thomas atended school at Wellington, where he took private lessons in oils at the age of 8 years. He attended West Texas State Teachers college at Canyon from 1921 to 1925 and moved to Lubbock in 1925 as an employe of the Lubbock National bank. He organized the savings and loan association in 1934.

Thomas has studied under the late Carl Redin of Albuquerque, N. M., Arthur J. Hammond of Rockport, Mass., Natt Piper of Long Beach, Calif., and has received numerous criticisms from artists at the Taos, N. M., art colony.

He spends his vacations sketching in various sections of the U. S., and at the Taos colony. Last year he was with Hammond at Rockport, Mass., and the past July he spent at Carmel-by-the-Sea, Calif.

Thomas had never exhibited any of his paintings until this year. Two paintings were accepted in the National Invitational exhibit at Indiana, Pa., and one painting is on the 1948-49 circuit of the Texas Fine Arts association, of which is a member.

His ambition is to devote his full time to painting when he retires from the business world.

The paintings to be exhibited include local, West Texas, New Mexico, Colorado, California, Mexican and Massachusetts scenes.

SIZE OF WORLD'S LARGEST BOMBER GETS YOU

Newspaperman Decides Big Airplane Has Not Shrunk An Inch After Short Hop Over Texas

By WILLIAM C. BARNARD
Associated Press Staff Writer

FORT WORTH, Oct. 9—When you ride in the B-36, the world's biggest bomber, the size of the thing is what gets you.

Like the czrewman said: "It's like walking in your home and flying it away."

But it's as big as three five-room houses. You could stick it down on a football field and its 163-foot length would be across both sidelines. And those great wings, stretching 230 feet toward both goalposts, would leave just enough room at each end to make a first down.

And your mouth drys out when those six engines whip up a roar—the way they roared yesterday at Carswell field when newspapermen got their first ride.

Parachute Bounces

Your parachute bounces against your legs when you crawl up the ladder and stumble into the tail compartment. Already the combat veterans in this section, four gunners, are on the job, peering out of the plastic blisters at the pusher engines, alert for trouble.

It's 110 degrees hot and it won't cool off till you're in the air.

Sweat trickles down the neck of Staff Sgt. Robert J. Redmon, Denison, Tex. "It's big," says he, "but it lands like a Piper cub. This is my fourth trip. I'm getting used to it."

"All of us was leary at first," M. A. Whitley of Menard, Tex., drawls. Whitley and Redmon had 25 missions over Germany. "The B-17 was queen of my heart," says Whitley, "but this is a good ship and I have a parachute."

Throttles Advanced

Far up front, the flight engineer advances the throttles on the final test and the whole tail section dances a shimmy in the hurricane. Then the pilot, Col. Ellery D. Preston of Rockland, Me., takes over and pushes his set of throttles all the way forward and releases the brakes. The bomber leaps at the runway yardage and begins eating it up. It's red-headed Preston's first takeoff and a lot of spare pilots are hanging around him, greatly interested in how he will do.

He does fine. First the ship's long nose comes up and then the speed indicator clocks 110 miles per hour and the 36 lurches off the ground. It swallows all its wheels and you're really flying.

The sky is blue and the clouds are fleecy. Fort Worth and then Dallas drop behind.

Looks At Compartment

You take a look at the tail compartment. It's roomy, with three tiers of bunks for those 10,000-mile flights. On a mezanine above the bunks swinging chairs are placed so gunners can watch comfortably through the blisters in the top of the cigar-shaped fuselage. One look through these blisters and your mouth is dry again. The tip of the nose is a couple of pullman car lengths in front of you and 20 feet behind you is the 67-foot tail, high as a four-story building. And the horizontal control surface on the tail is about as long as the whole wingspan of a B-24 Liberator bomber.

You ride the scooter through the tunnel from the tail compartment to the pilot's room. It's a stomach scooter, like one of those things mechanics use to scoot under your automobile. This one runs on rails. You lie on your stomach or your back and pull yourself along by means of a cable. It's an 85-foot ride, lonely and black. Underneath you is the vast bomb bay that totes upwards of 70,000 pounds of bombs.

The pilots have a fine view. Right behind them, the flight engineer sees nothing but a trillion instruments. This is the guy who really does the work and you let him alone.

Down a stairs from the pilot's room a couple of officers are lounging in luxury in the bombardier's compartment. They are Maj. Walter E. Eisenbrown, Jamaica, Long Island, N. Y., a navigator, radar operator and bombardier and Lt. John Boyd of Sacramento, Calif., bombardier and radar man.

Blue-eyed Eisenbrown flew 50 missions over Germany, 20 in the Pacific. He remembered the cramped B29's. "This is a wonderful improvement," he grinned. "Plenty of room for everybody."

"The difference between a lizzie and a limousine," Boyd, veteran of North Africa bombings, agreed.

Fly Over Denton

Speed, 270 miles per hour. The 36 will do better than 350. Sherman and Denison, Tex., roll underneath and then the shadow of the great wings slips over Denton. Those wings have a 9-foot "give" at the tops and now and then they flap a little bit like the wings of a lazy buzzard. They say you get used to it.

Nearing Fort Worth, your 36 pulls into formation with three others, the biggest formation of 36's ever assembled. Then down you go for the airfield with Capt. Harvey Trewitt of Dallas at the controls. Trewitt brings her in at 95 per, one hour and 20 minutes after the takeoff. Trewitt reverses the propellors and slows the 36 to a trot after 6,500 feet of runway slides under the bombardier's window.

You climb out for a last look at the B36. It hasn't shrunk an inch.

He Was Determined On A Navy Career

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Oct. 9. (U.P.)—The navy turned down the enlistment of Willard Witham, 17, last March because he weighed 265 pounds. Witham went on a rigid diet.

On June 9, he returned to the recruiting office for another try. His weight was 209, but the recruiting officer told him the limit was 176 for his age and height—68 inches.

Today, young Witham weighs a mere 174 pounds and is a full-fledged sailor. He learned how to take off those last 37 pounds.

"I just went to work setting pins in a bowling alley," he confided. "That bending; that exercise; that heat. That did it. Besides, I got nine and 10 cents a line for setting 'em up."

Teenagers Die When Auto Runs Into Bus

MILWAUKEE, Oct. 9. (U.P.)—Four teenagers on their way home from a high school football game were killed shortly before midnight last night when their car crashed head-on into a bus.

Four other youths in the car were injured, two critically. Ten passengers in the bus received minor cuts and bruises.

The dead were identified as Salvadore Baudo, the driver, and Joseph Zappia, both, 17, and James Knith and Carroll De Grand, both 18.

WOULD HEAT UP LOOP

CHICAGO (U.P.)—A Chicago company is asking a franchise to operate a $45,000,000 central heating plant to supply heat to the city's towering Loop buildings. The company said it would "reduce smoke and truck traffic downtown and sharply reduce the amount of water needed for air conditioning."

Arizona Representative Will Wed Former Follies Performer

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 9 (U.P.)—Rep. Richard Fielding Harless, D., Ariz., and Miss Meredith Howard, a former Ziegfeld follies performer, will be married here tomorrow.

Miss Howard's father, Samuel James Howard, Tulsa, plans to fly to Knoxville for the ceremony.

Miss Howard appeared in the follies in the early 1930's. Since then she has been in radio and television work in Washington, D. C.

The marriage will be Miss Howard's second and Rep. Harless' third.

Can you pick the juvenile delinquent?

Joe

Eddie

Paul

Carl

STUDY the faces of these boys. Look at their eyes, the set of their lips, their general expressions. Can you pick the one who looks as though he might be in trouble with the law—not just for a bit of mischief, but for a serious crime?

Frankly, we doubt if you—or anyone—can tell a delinquent by looking at him. Because you can't see the things that make a boy or girl a delinquent.

You can't see the bickering parents that made his home unlovable. You can't see the dingy street that was his playground. You can't see the older, evil gang leader who showed him the ways of crime and told him to "get smart."

These are the real causes of juvenile delinquency—the causes that your Community Chest dollars are fighting. These dollars stand behind Red Feather services that offer family counsel, treatment of physical and mental illness, child guidance, family rehabilitation. And these are the dollars so sorely needed to provide places where youngsters can let off steam . . . gyms, hobby shops, camps, neighborhood clubs.

If you really want to fight juvenile delinquency instead of just sympathetically shaking your head when you read of some horrible example, won't you give—and give generously—to our Community Chest?

Remember—one pledge covers many Red Feather services. Because we have a well-managed Community Chest uniting many appeals, you are called on only once a year for all of them. So when you give, GIVE ENOUGH . . . enough for ALL Red Feather services . . . enough for a FULL year.

Everybody benefits . . . Everybody gives

From The Lubbock Album... PARKING space was plentiful when the above picture was made, showing some of the early day buildings on what is now 900-block Broadway and the broad vacant space fronting the structures. Some of the buildings shown are Nicolett hotel, John Robinson real estate office, Western Windmill and Hardware Co., W. D. Benson law office, Palace Pharmacy, Lubbock Mercantile Co. and a grocery store. The vacant space covers part of what is now the courthouse square and also parts of what now are Texas avenue and Broadway. The photograph is owned by C. E. Hunt, who owned a grocery store in the building later constructed to house Lubbock Mercantile Co., which was located where Montgomery Ward & Co. now stands, the grocery store and office space on the second floor.

Rock Stroud, a former star guard for the University of South Caroline Gamecocks, is coaching the freshman squad.

Headless Valley Tale Debunked

EDMONTON, Canada, Oct. 9. (U.P.)—The fabulous northland legend of the Headless or Nahanni Valley has received another debunking.

The fabled valley is 700 airmiles from here and starts at the junction of the British Columbia, Yukon and Northwest Territories boundaries.

Three American adventurers from Albuquerque, N. M., Kim Murphy, Leonard Prehn and Norman Thomas, arrived in this Alberta capital from the far north. All agreed that there really is nothing mysterious about the legandery valley about which so much has been written, and so many tales told.

Murphy reports he found no headless bodies in the Nahanni Valley. He says the fatalities reported there through the years were due to either starvation or accident. A total of 13 traders, explorers, prospectors and trappers are known to have died there.

Strange tales have been told through the years of the headless bodies of men found with gold nuggets or gold dust beside them, victims of the wrath of fierce Indians protecting their sacred gold. Other yarns tell of the wondrous tropical valley which blooms the year round.

Kim Murphy says he and his friends encountered warm springs in the Nahanni Valley, but deny the existence of a tropical valley, or any signs of lush growth.

Big Collection Of Rare Dolls Will Be Sold To Settle Estate

BRYN MAWR, Pa., Oct. 9, (U.P.)—A collection of more than 2,000 dolls will be sold to settle the estate of Mrs. Maude S. Yerkes.

Her collection was valued at $5,151 in her will filed for probate. Friends of Mrs. Yerkes said it was unlikely she would have accepted $100,000 for the collection while she lived.

Some were her childhood toys. The collection also contained some of the rarest examples of doll craft, including more than 100 "church dolls" or figurines contributed in the Middle Ages to church representations of the Nativity.

Queen Mary Crowned Champion Knitter For Elizabeth's Baby

By RICHARD D. McMILLAN
United Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Oct. 9—Aged Queen Mary is generally recognized to have won the crown as knitting champion of the royal family. The knitting contest, of course, has been in honor of the forthcoming prince or princess, Elizabeth's baby.

All the royal ladies have been knitting furiously but all attempts to outspeed the 82-year-old Queen Mother have failed.

The other knitters have been Queen Elizabeth, the Duchess of Gloucester and the Duchess of Kent. Princess Elizabeth has knitted a few articles, although most of her time has been taken up with making fine dresses for the baby. She is using crepe de chine material of exquisite fineness which she received as a wedding present, part of the fabulous treasures which were poured upon her from all parts of the world.

Flood Of Presents

As the royal family were embarassed by the tremendous avalanche of presents which came from everywhere to Philip and Elizabeth, their majesties are anxious that it should be known that no gifts for the new baby are being accepted from persons unknown to the royal family or from any commercial organizations.

The Queen Mother has knitted some beautiful woolies of fine Shetland wool and she has provided wool stocks in abundance for every woman visitor to join her in knitting for the new babe.

Queen Mary always has had a reputation for being one of the fastest and most industrious knitters. During the war she spent much of her time at the Duke of Beaufort's country home in Gloucestershire, where she was safe from bombing after the Luftwaffe hit Buckingham Palace.

There she organized a knitting circle for comforts for troops and every visitor received a big ball of wool and was set to work to help the good cause. It is the same today: all must join in to knit "bundles for baby."

The old Queen was such a knitter that she even taught her son, the Duke of Windsor, and it was a form of distraction he often enjoyed during the period of strain when he was going through the ordeal of abdication over his romance with Mrs. Wally Simpson.

All the various women of the royal family have taken on some particular duty in connection with the forthcoming event. Princess Margaret is particularly interested in child welfare and has made repeated inspections of the modern hospital in Buckingham Palace where the birth will occur should there be any complications.

Authorities estimate that about 44,000 lightning storms occur daily throughout the world.

Australians Afraid Japan May Regain Pre-War Strength

SYDNEY, Australia, Oct. 9. (U.P.) Australia's deep-seated skepticism over American policy is illustrated in the Australian film industry's first commentary on Japan.

Titled "Searchlight on Japan," the two-reel, 20-minute documentary voices virtual universal Australian fear of a strong Japan.

"It's doubtful whether all Gen. MacArthur is doing in Japan has the full approbation of all the democratic peoples," the newly-released commentary is telling millions of Australian theatergoers.

"'A strong Japan,' says MacArthur voicing American policy, 'is a bastion of democracy.

"But there are Pacific peoples, including Australians, who have reason Australians, who have reason to fear a strong Japan," the picture says.

Risk Too Great

"Neither we, nor the American people beside whom we fought in the Pacific, can afford to have short memories.

"The cost in lives and money of subduing a strong Japan was too great to be risked again. Obviously neither MacArthur nor the American people want that risk. But the best controlled systems can, with time, get out of hand. A rehabilitated and strong Japan might easily be a pyrrhic victory for the democracies."

Cinesound Productions, aggressive newsreal company, sent an Australian cameraman, Geoffrey Thompson, to Japan to shoot the picture. It is the first Australian attempt to emulate the "March of Time" formula.

No Proposals Made

"Searchlight on Japan" as a commentary accurately catches the attitude of the average Australian toward American occupation policy. But in a studied attempt to be objective, it also is showing Australia how the Americans are trying to democratize Japan. Although critical of Allied policy, it offers no alternatives. To the film's Matsuno-san, the occupation "does not seem to rest too heavily." He's a civilian "of good type and a family man. He's a farmer working the plot of ground his ancestors worked and he has a degree from the Tokyo University. And in that he is not unique for many working landowners have degrees too.

"What goes on in his mind? Has democracy really sunk beneath his skin—in a few short years . . . does he philosophically accept the fact as the inevitable result of war . . . or does he think of the day when Japan may rise again?

"Who knows?" the picture asks, and that's what all Australians ask.

Some Questians Asked

Glimpsing Japan's resurgent industry, the picture says Japan "is assuming her pre-war industrial importance and soon at least portions of the world will be again seeing the once familiar slogan 'Made in Japan.'"

The documentary praises many occupation activities, such as the development of labor unions, freedom of speech, and the new deal for women. It also praises MacArthur, who "has won the respect of the Japanese."

U. S. Official In Germany Arrives For Lubbock Visit

Mr. and Mrs. William C. (Bill) Jones and their four-month-old daughter arrived in Lubbock early this morning for a visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Jones, 1814 Ave. J.

Jones is U. S. consul in Germany and has been stationed at Munich since January, 1946. He is on a three-month leave of absence and the family arrived in the U. S. on September 19. They have been visiting with Mrs. Jones' parents in Nyack, N. Y. They will return to Germany later this year.

A graduate of Lubbock high school, Jones attended Texas Tech two years before entering the U. S. Military academy where he graduated in 1944. He saw military service in Germany during World War II. Early in 1946 he entered the U. S. consulate service and has been stationed in Germany since that time.

Frightened Kansas Wife Finds Husband Passed Out, Not Away

TOPEKA, Kan., Oct. 9 (U.P.) — The woman's fears were unjustified. Her husband had passed out, not away.

Police who investigated his still form on the grass were able to reassure her.

The frightened wife had seen her husband prostrate near two men digging a hole. She jumped to the conclusion they had killed and were digging a place to dump the body.

Officers learned the two men had hired the husband to do the digging but that drinking on the job had caught up with him. They decided to finish the excavation themselves and let their employe sleep it off.

Pennsylvania leads the nation in 50 major industries, yet has a billion-dollar farm industry.

Believe It Or Not: Plenty Of Houses At Reasonable Prices

BREMERTON, Wash., Oct. 9 (U.P.)—This Puget Sound city of 32,000 comfortably-housed citizens is a paradise for apartment hunters.

The housing shortage is a No. 1 problem to most cities from coast to coast. But Bremerton has modern furnished and unfurnished apartments and houses for rent by the score.

The reason is that more than 25,000 persons have left Bremerton since the end of the war curtailed work in the huge navy yard.

Instead of searching in vain for weeks for a place to live, the newcomer here may spend days making a leisurely choice of available apartments and houses.

He can turn to the classified advertising sections of Bremerton's daily newspaper, the Sun, where he will find from one to two columns of apartments and houses for rent.

Random samples from a typical day's column of classified advertisements in the Sun read like this:

"Eight room furnished modern house, automatic oil heat, fireplace, grand piano, double plumbing, $100."

"Six rooms, two bedrooms, recreation room, marine view, newly decorated throughout, gardening service, completely furnished, $75"

"Attractive studio apartment; electric kitchenette; full bath, marine view; utilities included, $30."

All For $60

"Living room, kitchen, bedroom, bath, garage, beautiful view Puget Sound, close in, all utilities paid. $60."

"Ultra-modern three bedrooms, two bathrooms, kitchen and living room, furnished. Walking distance. $90 per month."

"Will rent $45 one-bedroom apartment for $39. Clean, electric refrigerator, washing machine, mangle, oil range."

The Bremerton newspaper rarely gets more than two or three "wanted to rent" classified advertisements per day ,and local citizens believe those must come from uninitiated newcomers.

Giant Rally To Open Dixiecrat Campaign In South Plains Area

In preparation for a giant rally, to be held here on Oct. 21, when Gov. Ben Laney of Arkansas is scheduled to be principal speaker, States Rights Democrats of the South Plains area have announced perfection of an organization to push a vigorous campaign during the next three weeks.

Former Lieutenant Governor John Lee Smith, now a Lubbock attorney, was named chairman of the group, and he announced yesterday that plans were going forward to organize clubs in all neighboring towns.

Radio Drive Planned

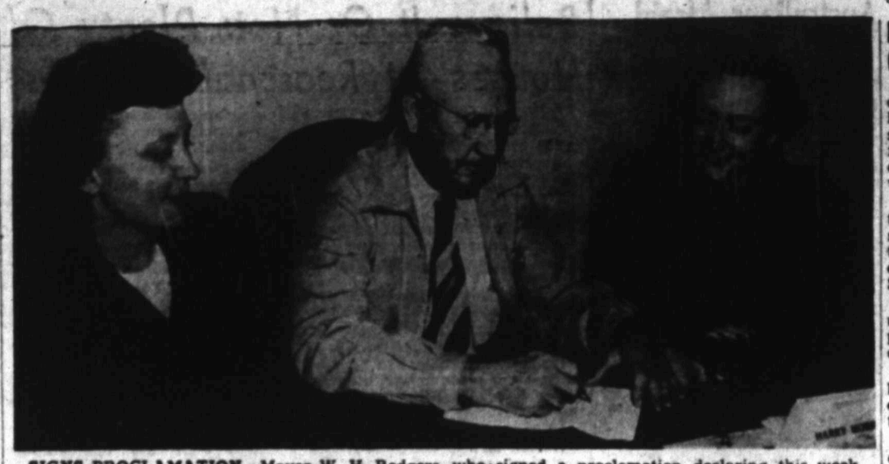

Smith said also that "in carrying the fight to the enemy," preparations are underway for an intensive radio campaign during the last two weeks before the election.

Lashing out at "the hybrid group formed by Beauford Jester and the former Wallace admirer, Bob Calvert," Smith lashed the so-called regular Democratic organization in Texas "the nearest approach to carpet-baggers . . . seen since the Civil war."

He assailed the "incompetent administration" of President Truman, charging that "Communists have been allowed to worm their way into some of the most important posts of our government, and yet the Truman administration, with all the millions at its disposal, has not convicted a single one of these commies for their treasonable betrayal of this government."

He flayed Gov. Dewey for "his pronounced stand in favor of the so-called Civil Rights bill," and continues that "we cannot forget how he fought the interests of the South in upholding high freight rates for this section."

Smith announced that a meeting of State Righters will be held at the courthouse here Tuesday night at 8 o'clock, and invited anyone interested in the group's aims to attend. Plans are to be furthered for the area rally to be held Thursday, Oct. 21.

SIGNS PROCLAMATION—Mayor W. H. Rodgers, who signed a proclamation declaring this week Business Women's week in Lubbock, is shown in the center. Poll Indicates Home Building Costs To Climb In Big Cities

CHICAGO, Oct. 9 (U.P.)—The cost of building new homes may have started to level off in the smaller towns and cities, but a further price climb in the big cities was indicated by a nation-wide poll.

Building costs have not yet run the full course of the inflation spiral, according to 72 per cent of the savings and loan association executives polled by the United States Savings and Loan League.

That opinion was virtually unanimous among the executives polled in the large metropolitan centers.

The remaining 28 per cent, who believed building costs have started to stabilize, were mainly from the smaller cities and towns.

The survey also indicated a decrease in building costs may be in the offing sooner in the far western sections of the country than in other parts.

Mullie Lenoir, halfback on the University of Alabama's 1920 team, still holds the Crimson Tide's individual scoring record with 144 points on 24 touchdowns.

Ten Actresses Who Look Best In A Suit Picked By Designer

By PATRICIA CLARY
United Press Staff Writer

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 9. — The standard way to get your name in the paper in movieland is to make a list.

There have been lists of the 10 best-dressed women, and the 10 worst-dressed women, and the 10 best-undressed. Experts list the 10 most beautiful, the 10 with the most beautiful eyes, with the most beautiful legs, with the most beautiful feet, etc. etc.

Now Edith Small, designer, picks the 10 actresses who, she says, are best-dressed in a suit.

Miss Small's list is headed by glamorous Susan Hayward and Lucille Ball.

"They cling to the suits, rather than vice versa," Miss Small explained. (That makes everything clear.)

Irene Dunne and Loretta Young wear suits in what Miss Small calls "a contradictory manner."

"Miss Dunne and Miss Young never let you forget that they are ladies," she said, "but their suits remind you that they have that certain feminine appeal."

Ava Gardner and Betty Grable have Hollwood's most perfect figures. What more can a suit designer ask in a suit.

"Men look twice when Ann Sheridan and Jane Wyman walk by," she said. That is because they have "intimate implications" in a suit.

Miss Small's list also includes Dorothy Lamour and, far from least, Jane Rusell.

"Miss Lamour wears a suit in much the same manenr she wears a sarong," she said. "And Miss Rusell does to a tailored suit what she does to a sweater. It's appealing and revealing."

"I always say," she said, "that a suit, perfectly molded to the figure, is more revealing than a bathing suit."

Jellied Gas, Developed In War, Being Used In Oil Experiments

By MAX B. SKELTON
Associated Press Staff Writer

HOUSTON, Oct. 9—World War II continues to make its scientific contributions to the petroleum industry.

Jellied gasoline, developed for fire bombing during the war, now is being used in experiments designed to increase the yield of oil reservoirs.

The wartime by-product, pumped into a well under high pressure, "cracks" rock formations which hinder easy flow of oil into the well-hole.

The process, which also can utilize jellied light crude oil, was developed by Stanolind Oil & Gas Co., whose research engineer, is J. B. Clark.

Old Battle Breaks

Middle East.

The old battle over Middle East steel and domestic shortages broke out at the Dallas meeting of the petroleum division of the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers.

Said John R. Suman, director of Standard Oil (New Jersey):

"If the Middle East does not provide most of the oil needed our hemisphere will, but only at the expense of restriction on the use of oil products here."

Replied D. Harold Byrd, Dallas, president of the Independent Petroleum Association of Texas:

Not Enough Steel

". . . What Mr. Suman failed to say is that there is not enough steel available even to develop the Middle East and American reserves at the same time . . . our best guarantee for plenty of oil in event of war with Russia is to develop our home reserves."

Synthetic fuel.

Congress may have new proposals for synthetic fuel legislation on its hands next year.

Frank A. Howard, New York engineering consultant, suggests legislation establishing a national fuels policy which "should always favor coal, either as a direct substitute for oil or as a source of oil."

Howard, former head of research activities for Standard Oil (New Jersey), said current conditions indicate the western hemisphere "will as a whole produce less crude oil than it consumes" within 15 years or less.

Production Rallies

Domestic crude production, however, continues to rally following its setback during the early days of the west coast refinery strike which began September 4.

American Petroleum institute figures place daily production averages for the week ending October 2 at 5,452,750 barrels, an increase of 109,656 over the previous week but back within striking distance of the all-time high of 5,531,450 barrels daily set the week prior to the strike.

Here and there.

Seventy-one companies operating crude oil and feined products pipelines delivered 2,474,339,745 barrels last year, an increase of 9.4 percent over 1946 and 75.8 per cent over 1940, Interstate Commerce commission figures indicate . . . The Texas Railroad commission estimates the state's July gas production at 267,535,387,000 cubic feet(excluding unreported gas flared at oil wells. Its disposition: 44.89 percent into pipelines, 19.22 percent to carbon black manufacture, and the remainder for lease operations, line or flare loss . . . Contracts totaling $2,000,000 have been signed by Lion Oil for construction of sulphuric acid and ammonium sulphate units at its El Dorado, Ark., chemical plant.

Town Wants To Keep Teachers In School, Not In Coal Mine

POTTSVILLE, Pa., Oct. 9 (AP)—Blythe township wants to keep its teachers in the classrooms, not in a coal mine.

Supervising Principal James B. Nash says the state of Pennsylvania will provide $12,000. This money plus enough local tax collections will enable the township to pay seven resigned teachers for six months work to Sept. 1, Nash added.

The teachers quit Monday because the school district hadn't paid them a cent of salary since March. They offered to go into the mining business to help build up the district's school payroll fund.

Pennsylvania's coke output is 31 per cent of the national total and tops that of either Great Britain or Russia.

Rangy, Amiable Judy Weis Is Sunday Punch In GOP Campaign To Capture Women's Vote

By MARTHA KEARNEY
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—Rangy, amiable "Judy" Weis is the Sunday punch in Gov. Thomas E. Dewey's campaign to capture the women's vote in next months' presidential election.

The energetic, breezy Rochester, N. Y., matron and mother of three children is the first woman of any political party ever to serve as associate campaign manager in a presidential race.

Her status is particularly unique because she helps plan the strategy and conduct of the campaign in men's activities, as well as women's.

Everyone Says "Judy"

Although she is known socially as Mrs. Charles W. Weis, jr., and signs herself Jessica McCullough Weis, no one ever thinks of calling her anything but "Judy."

Judy Weis is very tall and very thin. Her curly gray hair is a striking frame for a youthful face with unusually attractive gentian blue eyes.

She considers her main claim to fame "A large and attractive family—a husband and three wonderful children." Her son Charles is 25-years old while daughters Judy and Joan are 21 and 18 respectively.

The gala, pro-Dewey giveaway jamboree that highlighted the Republican convention in Philadelphia last summer was a Judy Weis production.

Million Attend Event

Over a million visitors nibbled the refreshments, watched the television, danced, collected Dewey buttons and picked up door prizes ranging from nylons to deep freezes in the Bellevue-Stratford ballroom.

As far as Washington is concerned, Republican Associate Campaign Manager Weis is the life of the party.

Petite Frances Dewey is probably the busiest Republican campaign worker in the nation.

She doesn't mind, though, because it's a labor of love.

Takes Care Of Wardrobe

In addition to travelling with the New York governor and appearing with him when he speaks, Mrs. Dewey assumes the responsibility for both their wardrobes on the long, difficult train trips.

Every day she carefully marks and clips stories she believes will interest him in all the available newspapers. She also sits in on all speech conferences and expresses her opinion of the ideas developed there.

Hum Of Machinery Is Luring Women Back Into Factories

DECATUR, Ill., Oct. 9 (AP) — The hum of machinery is luring wartime "Rosie the riveters" back to the factory.

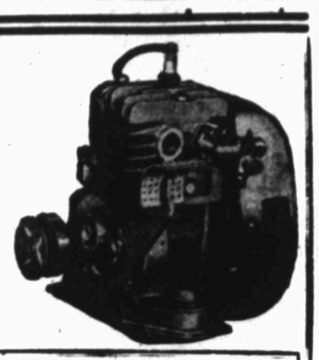

The Decatur Illinois state employment service office said today that more women are coming back into the labor market. But, it added, comparatively few seek jobs as clerks, office workers, waitresses or maids.

Most are applying for factory jobs. Interviewers quote the wartime feminine welders and lathe operators as saying they don't want to settle down at desks.

Fire-safe ceramic tile floor and walls around the stone reduce kitchen fire hazards, according to fire safety experts.

Heart Of Plains Kennel Club Will Hold All Breed Match

The second all breed sanctioned match of the Heart of the Plains Kennel club is to be held at fair park on East Broadway here Sunday, Oct. 24, and tonight at midnight is deadline for entries, it was announced yesterday by Mrs. Harold Ball, secretary-treasurer of the club.

Joe S. Horn, show secretary, is to be present at the monthly meeting of the club this afternoon at the Party House in Mackenzie park to assist in filing entries. Today's meeting, to be held at 2:30 o'clock, was moved to the park from a downtown hotel, and members were invited to bring dogs and practice for the show. Leete Jackson, jr., chairman of the Bench Show committee, is to be in charge of the meeting.

Show Organization Complete

W. C. Boyd is president of the sponsoring club, and vice presidents are Dr. W. T. Rogers and Cecil Paschal. The board of directors is composed of Carol Cobb, William F. Mills, Leete Jackson, Dr. Walter J. Williams, Leete Jackson, jr., and Mrs. J. C. Turner.

Organization has been completed for the show, and in addition to Jackson as chairman and Horn as secretary, includes Leete Jackson, sr., as show-hall chairman, M. O. Bynum as publicity chairman, W. C. Boyd as hospitality chairman, and Mrs. L. O. Sparks to handle trophy and catalog advertising.

Official veterinarians are to be Dr. N. A. Cox and Dr. W. T. Rogers, Ring stewards are James G. Baker, J. C. Sanders, Wm. F. Mills and Bob Meiser. Judges, each to have a certain group, are H. A. Allen of Sudan, Clifford Jackson of Dallas, and Ralph Morrison of Amarillo.

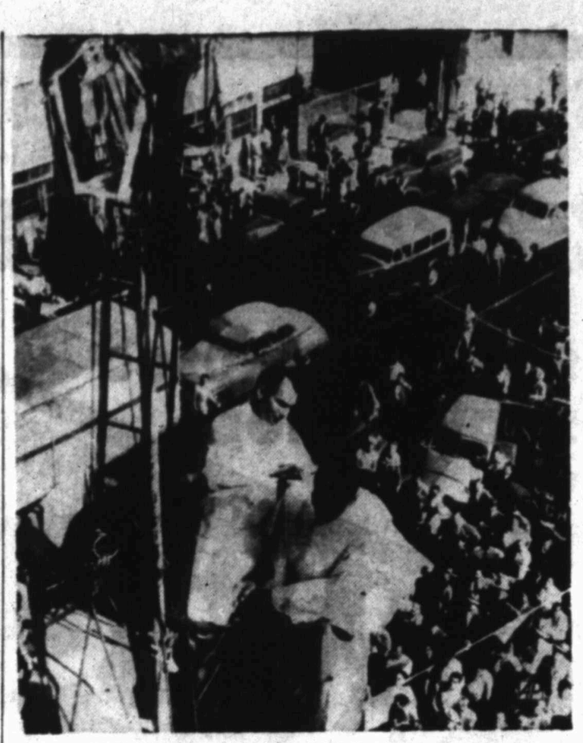

Classes To Be Shown

Entry fee is $2 per dog. Any pure bred dog over six months of age may be entered. Classes to be shown are puppy class (by sex) six to nine months, and nine to 12 months, and adult dogs, divided by sex, in both novice and open. The novice class is for dogs not shown before, and the open is for any dog over six months of age. Wins at sanctioned matches carry no American Kennel club championship points.

Prizes consist of first, second, third and fourth place ribbons for all classes, rosettes and trophies for the six group winners, and a large trophy and basket of flowers for best in show.

Winner in the children's handling class is to receive a box of candy. Each dog handled must be entered in a regular class in the show. This class, divided in ages from six to 10 years, and from 10 to 16, will be judged on showmanship alone, and child does not necessarily have to be owner of the dog.

One of the neatest tricks in auto gadgetry is a transparent battery vent cap that displays the words, "add water," when the supply is too low.

FLAGPOLE SITTING CHAMP GETS TRIMMED—Milton (Shipwreck) Van Nolan gets a haircut before descending the 50-foot pole atop of which he sat on a saddle for 70 days, 23 hours and 33 minutes in San Francisco, Calif. 24-Year-Old Houston Worker Confesses 30 Or 40 Thefts

HOUSTON, Oct. 9 (AP)—Houston's roster of unsolved burglaries was trimmed considerably today when a 24-year-old man admitted between 30 and 40 thefts over a seven-month period.

Robert Thomas Ford, whom police charged yesterday with breaking in a tourist cabin and assaulting a young woman occupant, said he had indulged in some 30 or 40 burglaries from April through October 1.

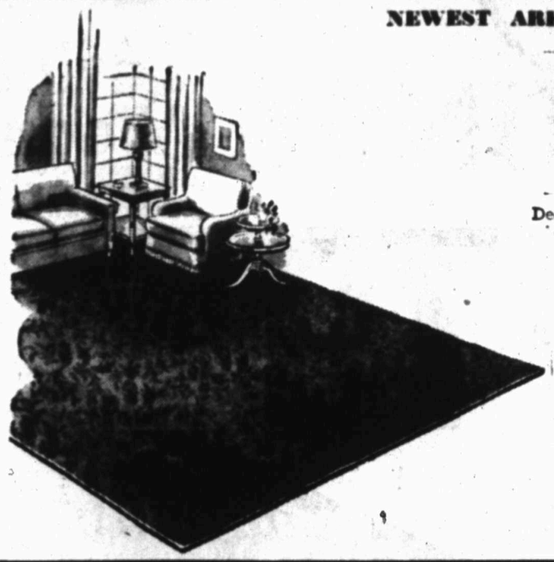

In all, Ford admitted, his forays netted him only about $200. He told detectives he started stealing last winter when he couldn't get work because of bad weather. Ford is a construction worker.

"I got pretty low and started drinking," Ford said.

Filed against him were five charges of burglary and theft and one of criminal assault.

Blonde Swiss Refugee Has Parlayed Ball Of American Knitting Into Big Enterprise

By INEZ ROBB
INS Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—This is a new type Horatio Alger story.

It does not have a hero. Its central character is a delicate blonde addicted to driving racing cars, to hand painting on canvas, and to knitting.

Even in this post-war world, such heroines are not exactly a dime a dozen, especially when the heroine is Swiss and has parayed a ball of American knitting yarn into an international business.

If this seems involved, it is. So meet Erica De Meuron, slim, blonde and pretty as a picture, who has just sold her latest collection of American hand-knitted clothes to the galleries Lafayette, Paris's famous department store.

And, as we all know, selling American clothes in Paris is like selling a dinner jacket to a penguin.

When Erica De Meuron arrived in New York as a refugee in 1940 after the fall of France, she had her knitting needles in her hands.

She and her American husband, the well known bibliophile, Edward W. Titus, had been driven out of their beautiful home in France by the Germans and her husband had abandoned his Paris publishing offices.

Miss De Meuron had never visited America before. But she knew that "this was a wonderful big country where everyone worked."

On board ship, she made up her mind that she, too, was going to work. Well, there is no money for lady automobile racing drivers in America, especially for the fashionable amateurs such as Miss De Meuron. And she did not fancy starving in a garret with her paints.

But the knitting needles—ah! She literally walked off the ship and into a newspaper, there to advertise for expert knitters. Then, with her own needles, she set about fashioning the first beautiful models that were to entrance American women and cost their respective husbands no more than a new oil burner or an eight-cylinder convertible.

"At first I did not make any money," she said. "But at the end of six months, I got a break. A famous sports shop owner came to look at my clothes and bought them all."

Since then, it has been smooth sailing, with the lady's knitted clothes selling in practically every expensive shop in America. From that pair of knitting needles with which Miss De Meuron landed has grown a business that now employes 150 expert knitters.

Irish Knitters Best

Two Dutch, a Viennese and a French refugee are among the knitters. But Miss De Meuron has made the interesting discovery that the best knitters in the nation are native-born citizens of Irish descent. She said.

"They knit like angels!"

When Miss De Meuron and her husband returned to France last summer for eight weeks in their house over-looking the Mediterranean, the delicious blonde wore her own knitted wardrobe.

The Rue De La Paix looked and lapped it up. The galleries Lafayette got to her doorstep first with a pen and a dotted line, proving that international fashion is a two-way stretch.

French Shop Planned

Before long, French women with enough wampum will be wearing the super elegant street and sports costumes designed by Miss De Meuron.

Now that the French have taken to these typically American knitted clothes, designed by a Swiss, as enthusiastically as her U. S. clientele, Miss De Meuron is planning to open a knitting establishment in France.

But Miss De Meuron, who lives in New York, will continue to design here, no matter how much knitting she does in Paris.

And will she have to change the American models for French figures?

"Well, no," said Miss De Meuron tactfully. "For the French, I shall select the models that are more 'roundish.' You see, French women are more 'roundish' than American ladies, who have what it requires for the straight skirt."

Only six seniors are listed on the University of Alabama's 46-man football squad. Twenty-six are sophomores and 14 are juniors.

Lubbock Veterans To Discuss Bonus Question At Meeting

A proposal for a constitutional amendment in Texas that would provide for payment of a bonus to veterans of World war II is to be discussed at a meeting of veterans at 8 o'clock Monday night at the American Legion hall, 910 Texas Ave., it was announced yesterday.

Officials of the Legion post said the session is not a "boom-the-bonus" meeting, but an effort to obtain the majority opinion of veterans concerning a state bonus.

All war veterans, whether members of the Legion or not, were urged to attend and express their views.

Canada Farmers Have More To Celebrate On Thanksgiving Day

By ROBERT BUNNELLE
Associated Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, Oct. 9 — Canada is celebrating October 16 this year as its day of Thanksgiving for a bountiful harvest. But generally farmers are figured to have more to be thankful for than consumers.

The Canadian wheat crop this year is estimated at 391,000,000 bushels and there'll be perhaps 90,000,000 bushels left over after fulfillment of British contracts to sell on the world market.

There is plenty of practically every other farm product to use and to sell with the single exception of butter. Canada will import upwards of 9,000,000 pounds of butter from New Zealand and Denmark to make up shortages created generally by concentration on production of beef rather than dairying.

Demand Is Keen

Canada's department of agriculture experts say demand is continuing keen for all agricultural products. Prices generally are high and housewives and buyers are complaining. About the only bargains for the consumer these days are tomatoes and pickling vegetables which came on the market with a glutting rush so they are unusually cheap.

Unlike Thanksgiving day in the United States, Canada's thanksgiving is set from year to year by government proclamation. Usually it is set for a Monday in October so Canadians can have a last long weekend before the winter sets in.

The first Canadian Thanksgiving day was observed in what was then the English portion of lower Canada on Jan. 10, 1799 in recognition of Britain's victory over France in the Napoleonic wars.

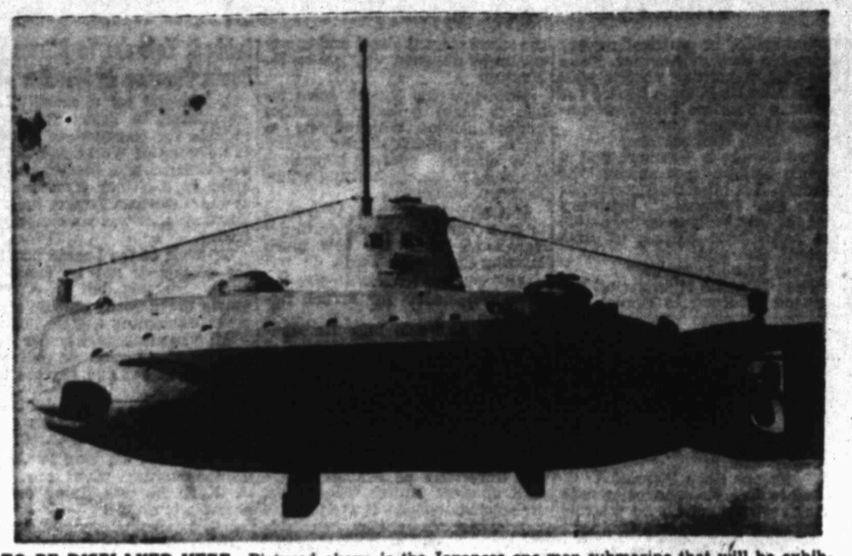

Canadians celebrated April 6, 1815 as a thanksgiving for the end of the war with the United States and restoration of the blessings of peace after the war of 1812.

Days of thanksgiving were held on various occasions over the years for various reasons then until 1919. That year the government decided to declare a day of thanksgiving annually to celebrate the harvest.

Few Canadians eat turkey on Canadian Thanksgiving day because the turkey crop isn't ready for market that soon. Most Canadian turkey flocks aren't sold until late November. However there is about 2,000,000 pounds of turkey in cold storage for those who want this fancy bird at 59 cents a pound.

Chicken is the main Thanksgiving dish and there'll be plenty of that for about 55 cents a pound. But a lot of Canadians will eat roast pork and pickles, preceded perhaps by bowls of robust pea soup. They go for pumpkin pie for dessert just as people do in the United States. But there isn't any traditional menu like the American turkey tradition.

In rural areas it used to be the custom to decorate the Thanksgiving day dinner table with the fruits of the harvest — little sheaves of grain and the like. But the custom isn't general any more.

Navy Club To Show One-Man Japanese Sub In Demonstration Of War Weapons In City

The Japanese one-man submarine, known in Japan as Koryu, or Water-Dragon, will be one of the chief exhibits of the mobile unit of the Navy Club of USA when it makes its appearance Saturday, Oct. 16 at Texas Ave. and Broadway. The display will be open to the public from 9:30 a. m. to 9:30 p. m.

The 20-foot, single place submarine carried 1,800 pounds of explosives in its bow. This miniature ship was launched from its mother ship anywhere within a 150-mile range of the enemy, and the suicide pilot rammed it into enemy ships, at the same time ramming himself into close range communication with his proverbial, if not honorable, ancestors. The deadly little missile was used extensively in the naval campaign by the Japanese from Okinawa until the close of the war, and is now being toured nationally by the Navy Club of USA, a strictly non-profit organization incorporated by Act of Congress in 1940.

There will be no admission to the exhibit, but donations will be accepted to help the Navy Club carry on its welfare and rehabilitation program.

Among other items shown is the famous belt of a thousand stitches which was worn by the Japanese marines. The particular belt on display has 999 stitches, each representing a prayer for his safety by his mother, wife, or sweetheart. There is also a complete assortment of Allied and Nazi makes of rifles used in the war.

Sailors, Marine, Navy Reserve members, Coast guardsmen, Marine corps reserve members, Waves, Spars, Women Marines, and all ex-members of these organizations are requested to register on the log after viewing the exhibit.

Farm Field Day Will Be Staged

BROWNFIELD, Oct. 9 (Special)—A farm field day and educational tour, sponsored by agricultural agencies in Terry county, is to be held here next Friday, starting at 1:45 o'clock at the courthouse lawn.

Jay Barret, chairman of the district board of soil conservation supervisors, and H. R. Winston, county judge, are to speak to the group briefly before the tour starts. The tour is to cover stops at revegetation plantings, deep tillage tests, fertilizer tests, different kinds of crops, and other matters of interest in the general soil conservation and farm ipmrovement program.

To give Explanation

Much of the time is to be spent at the Brownfield experiment station, where Hugh G. Porterfield, station superintendent, will be in charge. He is to explain the different crops planted, the varying cultivation methods and other practices followed there, and other things of interest to farmers and business men, and agricultural students, particularly those in heavy sand areas.

The station is located 11 miles west and one-half mile north of Brownfield. A sign on the Brownfield-Plains highway will direct visitors to it.

Workers Discover Remains Of Giant Mastadon Near El Paso

EL PASO, Oct. 9. (AP)—Remains of a giant mastadon have been found within ten miles of El Paso by workers excavating sand.

Geology students under the supervision of W. S. Strain, curator of the Texas College of Mines museum, removed a pelvis, ribs, vertebrae, leg bones, both shoulder blades, and feet.

Strain estimates that with the removal of the skull this week end the recovery will be 90 per cent complete.

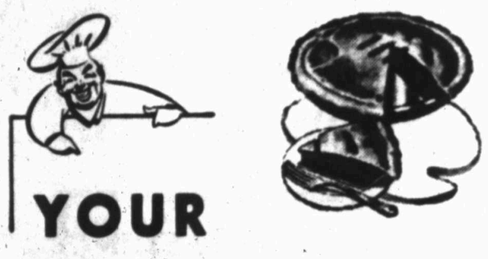

No rule of thumb methods here — no guessing! We correct "shimmy" with the latest BEAR scientific equipment which we know how to use. The work is done right the first time.

Increase In Birth Rate Bulging Japan's Already Big Population

By HOWARD HANDLEMAN
INS Staff Correspondent

TOKYO, Oct. 9 — A "baby boom" is bulging Japan's already huge population, and it is not making the U. S. occupation job any easier.

For population is the thing the Americans have to beat in planning food production, food imports, jobs, clothing rationing, a housing program, coal production and all the other measures they are taking to make Japan self-sufficient.

The "baby boom" started in October of 1946, when for the first time since the early war months births exceeded deaths in Japan by more than 100,000. Since then, with one exception, the natural increase in population has exceeded 100,000 each month.

Result of Repatriation

American statisticians say the "baby boom" was the result of the repatriation of three million soldiers in early 1946. The absence of these men overseas during the war years had contributed to a population decline in the final year of the war. Their return to their families was a major factor in boosting the birth rate higher than it had ever been before.

In one month, January of 1948 births exceeded deaths by more than 200,000. Average months show a population increase of 120,000 to 150,000.

Controls Being Taught

Efforts are being made to popularize birth control. "Mothers' Clinics" have been established in many parts of the country to give birth control education to those who want it.

Many women visit the clinics. But Japanese authorities say most of the women come to get advice on how to have babies.

Vestiges of the old pre-war drive to increase the population remain.

A popular vaudevillian gets roars of applause from his audience with a routine that satirizes the American idea of equality of the sexes, and then turns somber with the advice:

Somber Advice Given

"One thing we men must do, though. We must be more courteous and thoughtful of women who are going to have babies, for those babies are the ones who will have to hold Japan on their shoulders in the future."

The popular Japanese idea that emigration will solve the problem of over-population is rejected by both American and Japanese population experts.

Dr. Allen Buchanan, chief population expert for Gen. Douglas MacArthur, said recently:

"Even if other countries were willing to accept Japanese as immigrants, which they certainly are not, where would the Japanese get the shipping space to carry that many people out of the country every month?"

Jurist Hits Tactics Investigators Used

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 9 (AP)—Some "un-American" tactics were employed by U. S. civilian investigators to wring confessions from German prisoners, says a Pennsylvania jurist who recently reviewed 139 Dachau death sentences and recommended 29 be commuted.

Judge E. Leroy Van Roden, president judge of the Delaware county orphans court, said army investigation showed that mock trials and solitary confinement were used to obtain signed confessions.

"A lot of times the investigators would march the prisoners to a small room in which the investigators would dress up as army officers. They would hold a mock court and convict these people. Then, they would sentence them to death and obtain written confessions."

Van Roden reviewed the death sentences with Justice Gordon Simpson of the Texas supreme court. The two jurists made the trip to Germany at the request of Army Secretary Royall.

NEW YORK, Oct. 9 (AP)—The National Lead Co. has raised its price on antimony to 38½ cents a pound at Laredo, Tex., a boost of 3½ cents a pound. The company said it was caused by increased labor and materials costs.

CAME TO STEPHENS CHIROPRACTIC CLINIC

After trying various health methods before coming to the Stephens Chiropractic Clinic without results he came here for an examination. X-Ray pictures were made of his spine which showed that the vertebrae were distorted out of alignment with one another. The Neurocalograph (a product of General Electric) — electrically and automatically charted his nerve pattern and located the degree of pinching on the nerves leading to his affected regions.

WHAT SPECIFIC CHIROPRACTIC HAS DONE FOR HIM

During the series of Health Service delivered at the Stephens Chiropractic Clinic this case reports that he has never felt better until he came to the right place to get well. He says, "It is really scientific the way you do things here, I'm so glad that I came to get the cause of my trouble corrected instead of just treating the effects of my pains —I wouldn't take anything for what you have done."

U. S. Takes Off Its Gloves In Propaganda Battle With Russia

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press Staff Writer

Did you read that speech by Assistant Secretary of State Charles E. Saltzman at the University of New Hampshire in which he employed the language of shirt-sleeve diplomacy in dealing with Russia?

If you didn't read it you missed an important development. Saltzman declared that "the eyes of the American people should now be fully opened." He said the real aim of the Russians "is world domination through the instrumentality of Communism," and that "they will stoop to any stratagem of coercion, subterfuge, duplicity or double dealing that serves their purpose."

Security Threatened

He maintained that the aims and methods of the Soviet rulers "are a direct threat to the national security of the United States." The United States seeks peace with Russia, and the State department will proceed "on the assumption that it is possible" to avoid war, although it "may not be possible."

John Hightower, AP diplomatic expert, cites this speech as one evidence that the United States appears to be casting aside the last restraint in its propaganda war with Russia. He also points out that Undersecretary of State Robert A. Lovett has revealed the receipt of orders from Paris (where the United Nations meeting is being held) to "debunk" the latest Russian proposal for dealing with atomic energy. These orders, says Hightower, presumably were given by Secretary of State Marshall himself.

Marshall Makes Speech

Meantime General Marshall was making a two-fisted speech before the American club of Paris. He said bluntly that the Russian blockade of Berlin "is a threat to the peace of the world if there ever was one short of shooting cannon."

So the kid gloves finally are off. Well, that's all to the good because, strange though it seem, there are many well-meaning folk in the United States and in the other democracies, who don't yet realize that the Bolshevists are out to destroy our way of life and substitute Communism. In order to achieve this they will resort to any methods, as witness this quotation from the sayings of Lenin himself, repeated by Marshal Stalin:

Lenin Quoted

"A Communist must be prepared to make every sacrifice and, if necessary, even resort to all sorts of schemes and strategems, employ illegitimate methods, conceal the truth, in order to get into the trade unions stay there, and conduct the revolutionary work within . . . " "We say that our morality is entirely subordinated to the interest of the class struggle of the proletariat."

Every day this creed is typified by Communist activities in all countries. For example, the French Communists activities in all countries. For example, the French Communists have given warning that they will oppose France's war effort in event of conflict with Russia. Said the party's political bureau:

"The French people will never wage war against the Soviet Union."

Same Old Story

There we have the old, old story: A Communist, no matter what his birth-right, is a citizen of Red Russia. His orders come from the Kremlin. This is just as true of the United States as it is, say, of France or Italy. The difference is that in those European states Communism is more powerful and they lie within the forward areas of the cold war.

So a debunking policy would be rendering a vast service to democracy. An ounce of debunking now may be worth a ton of high explosive later on.

Army Plans Decontamination Resurvey Of Camp Bowie Area

BROWNWOOD, Oct. 9. (AP) — Sale of the Camp Bowie maneuver area was delayed yesterday until the Army makes a decontamination resurvey.

The land, which exceeds 87,000 acres, was appraised at $2,000,000 by the Houston federal land bank.

John Sharp, manager of the Camp Bowie surplus land disposal office, said 23,000 acres of Bowie land previously cleared by the Army has already been sold.

Hearing On Proposed Increase In Electric Rates Scheduled

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9. (AP) — Another hearing on a proposal by the Brazos river conservation and reclamation district to increase rates on electricity from Morris Sheppard dam in Texas will begin here next Thursday.

The power commission ordered the hearing yesterday. It had held one in August on the district's appeal from a commission ruling against the increase.

Involved are sales to the Brazos River Transmision Co-Operative, inc., of Mineral Wells, Texas.

New Jersey Hiking Club Plots Detour When Nudists Establish Camp In Middle Of Trail

ELIZABETH, N. J., Oct. 9.(AP)—A new Jersey hiking club plotted a mile-and-a-half detour on the old Appalachian trial today to cut around a newly established nudist colony now baring the way to hikers unless they come through unclothed.

Dr. Lewis Rosenberg, president of the Union County Hiking club, said the organization would take to the woods with axes and matches to cut out the new path rather than hike completely undressed along the portion of the historical trail owned now by the nudists.

Dr. Rosenberg said his club was a member of the Federal Appalachian Trail conference and held the responsibility for maintenance of 8.6 miles of the trail in Sussex county.

Path Blocked Off

But part of the path was blocked off now by the nudist colony which purchased the old farm property between upper Greenwood Lake and Lake Wawayanda. The nudists set up their camp right in the middle of the Appalachian trail.

The hikers said they were told they still could use the old trail—but would be required to pay a $1 annual fee for crossing the land and would have to pass through completely nude.

Dr. Rosenberg said the club decided instead on the detour.

Employe At Kansas University Takes Pay In Cancelled Stamps

LAWRENCE, Kas., Oct. 9. (U.P.)—Frank Long takes his pay in cancelled postage stamps.

He bales waste paper and cleans up trash rooms at the University of Kansas for the privilege of collecting postage stamps found in the debris.

A stamp collector for 54 years, the elderly Kansan has a hobby of covering the figures and designs of various posters with stamps.

His latest effort is a map of the United States, 19 by 33 inches, filled with 836 cancelled U. S. stamps. Different colors are used for the various states.

His biggest stamp-covered poster was one showing a huge peacock. Long placed 13,000 stamps on it.

Farm Bureau Federation Plans District Meet Here Wednesday

Committed to "a workable, long range farm program that will provide for adequate price supports for farm commodities," the Texas Farm Bureau Federation is to hold a district meeting here Wednesday, one of a series already held or scheduled throughout the state during the month, according to announcement by J. Walter Hammond, state president.

J. WALTER HAMMOND

The meeting, to start at 10 o'clock, is to be held at Hotel Lubbuck, with W. R. Tilson of Meadow, district director, to preside.

The session is one of a series of 13 in all parts of the state described by Hammond as an effort to bring farmers and ranchers first-hand information on the immediate agricultural situation, the economic conditions in the nation as a whole, and to get the view of actual producers with reference to agricultural matters.

Farm Prices Drop

Hammond's announcement of the meeting set out that "farm prices have dropped 30 per cent in the past nine months and farmers' buying power has been reduced 19 per cent," and he believes that "only through a workable, long range farm program that will provide for adequate price supports for farm commodities can this enjoy a balanced economy and avoid another depression such as that experienced in the early thirties."

Hammond charged that the long range farm bill hastily passed during the closing days of the last session of congress will not adequately safeguard the interests of agriculture, and that "it will take a strong organization of farmers in this nation to secure necessary amendments to this bill at the next session."

To Select Queen

One feature of the meeting will be selection of a district Farm Bureau queen who will participate in the state queen contest to be held during the state convention at San Antonio. Candidates for district queen are expected from a number of counties in the area. The winner is to get a $65 wrist watch and an expense-paid trip to the San Antonion convention.

Other business includes discussion of plans for the bureau's fall membership round-up designed to meet the goal of 60,000 members in the state.

Other similar meetings in the area are to be held at Snyder Thursday, at the high school auditorium, and at the Herring hotel on Friday.

Brother Of Late Chief Justice Of U. S. Supreme Court Claimed

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 9. (AP) — Lauson Stone, president and board chairman of Follansbee Steel corp., and a brother of the late Supreme Court Chief Justice Harlan F. Stone, is dead at 65.

Stone died last night in West Penn hospital. He was stricken while at his desk in the afternoon.

Probable Surplus In Housing Is Predicted

DALLAS, Oct. 9. (U.P.)—An official of the Prudential Insurance Company of America was on record here today as believing that "a housing surplus probably will exist in some cities when units now under construction are completed."

Charles G. Fleetwood, vice-president of Prudential in charge of mortgage loan operations, was here yesterday to address 180 company representatives from Texas, Oklahoma and sections of Louisiana and Tennessee.

The insurance official said anticipated construction of an estimated 1,000,000 new homes this year will take the edge off the national housing shortage.

He stated that the real difficulty in construction was the acute shortage of skilled labor and a scarcity of some esential materials.

"A city the size of Dallas or Houston (each over 400,000) could be completely housed, starting anew, with the amount of money Prudential has approved in new mortgages throughout the nation in the past 12 months," Fleetwood said.

FIRE LOSS HEAVY

DURHAM, N. C., Oct. 9 (U.P.)—Officials of the Colonial Stores grocery chain estimated today that a huge warehouse fire here yesterday destroyed more than $3,000,000 worth of food and supplies.

FLIGHTS SUSPENDED

NANKING, Oct. 9 (U.P.)—Central News today said that Clare Chennault's civil air transport airline had suspended flights between Mukden and Tsingtao because of Soviet fighter interference.

Harvest Hands Are Required In County

Cotton production in Lubbock county probably will be close to 90,000 bales this year, but yields vary widely and dry land farmers in particular are having difficulty getting harvest hands, it is set out in the weekly crop condition report yesterday by County Agent D. W. Sherrill.

The grain sorghum harvest is "progressing nicely, with quite a bit going into the government loan," but the report did not set out any indicated grain yield.

Surface and subsoil moisture was described as poor except in irrigated land, where it was shown as fair. Some wheat is up in parts of the county, but needs rain, and some patches are still being planted, apparently mainly for cover crop or winter grazing.

A general upward trend in the number of livestock was noted, probably reflecting a greater abundance of feed than in recent past years. Many farmers are planting small pastures to mixed grasses in localities where irrigation water is available.

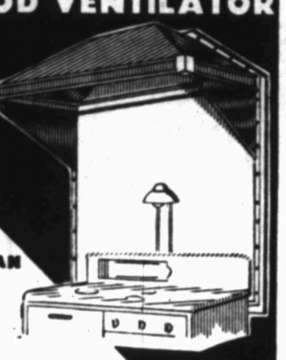

Harvest of the carrot crop had started, and lettuce harvest probably will start next week, the report said, but yields were not indicated.

TURN IN PASSPORTS

NANKING, Oct. 9 (U.P.)—About 1,000 White Russians who became Soviet citizens after the war were turning in their passports at Shanghai, Tientsin and Tsingtao, thus abandoning their citizenship, the Social Welfare Daily said today.

Animal fats were used as lubricants before the petroleum industry was developed.

Good Roads Meeting To Be Held Here Tuesday; Many Will Attend

A good roads meeting, to be attended by representatives from each county in the 30th senatorial district, is to be held at the courthouse here Tuesday at 2 o'clock, it was announced Saturday by W. C. Foote, of Petersburg, a director of the Texas Rural Roads association.

Walter Davies, county judge of Lubbock county, is to preside, and large attendance is expected. Those primarily interested, the announcement said, are county judges, county commisioners, chamber of commerce representatives, farmers, rural schools officials and teachers, mail carriers, and others.

The sponsoring association was formed through efforts of the County Judges and Commissioners association, the Texas Rural Letter Carriers association, and representatives from other interested groups.

Purpose Is Explained

Officers of the statewide association include J. C. Cantrell of McKinney as president, and C. S. McClellan of Eagle Lake as executive secretary.

Foote explained that purpose of the organization is promotion of a long range plan of rural roads improvement, with special attention to school bus and mail route roads. He said legislation is to be introduced at the next sesson of the legislature, and "it promises to be one of the most important issues to confront the law making body."

He said the association has gone on record as opposing repeal of the law granting refunds to farmers on tractor and other farm use gasoline.

Speakers at the Tuesday session here include McClellan, the association's executive officer; Kilmer B. Corbin, of Lamesa, state senator-elect from this district, state Representatives Preston E. Smith, of Lubbock and I. B. Holt of Olton; and A. B. Tarwater of Running Water, Hale county, former state representative from that district.

Anyone interested in rural road improvement was invited to attend.

Corsicana Commission Okays Increase In Telephone Rates

CORSICANA, Oct. 9. (AP)—The Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. was granted a rate increase of from fifty cents to $1.50 per month per instrument by the city commisison here last night.

The commission voted 3-2 to allow the increase until June 1, 1951, when rates will revert to the present level.

The new rates for business phones are $6.50 per month compared to $5 and $3 for residential phones compared to $2.50.

RECEIVING DRIVER INSTRUCTION—Indicative of the instruction in driving being given to 60 junior and senior students of Senior High school, John Golding, 15, at the driver's wheel, is receiving instruction in parallel parking from J. W. Reid, director of safety in Lubbock public schools, while four students in the back seat look on and listen. The students in the back seat, left to right, are Jimmie Willbanks, Dale Wooley, Bobby Mitchell and William McWilliams. (Staff Photo).

Driving Course Proves Popular

The driving experience course being offered this year in Senior High school for the first time apparently is meeting approval of students and parents and also of the policemen sent to investigate the car going around and around on a vacant lot.

An oval-shaped track has been worn on the vacant lot at Twentieth and Ave. S, where the course is taught. One of the neighbors seemed to think the track was being used as a race track by a mysterious car, judging from her report to the police.

Sent to investigate, two policemen learned the youthful students were learning how to drive and the spokesman expressed his approval of such instruction in the schools.

Five Taught At Time

Five students are taught at one time, taking turns at the driver's wheel while J. W. Reid, director of safety in the schools, sits to the right of the driver. The car has dual controls, Reid having a clutch and brake available on his side. The 12 five-member groups each report for one period each week.

Reid said most of the beginners were found to know the mechanics of starting and stopping a car.

When those in the class are able to get driver's licenses, they will leave and make room for some of the others seeking to take the course. A large number of sophomores is on the waiting list, said Reid.

Students obtain parent's permission before taking the course.

The cars used in the course will be furnished by Lubbock New Car Dealers association. Fenner Tubbs Co., is the first dealer to provide a car.

Missouri Woman Objects To Mate's Arrest, Lands In Jail

POPLAR BLUFF, Mo., Oct. 9. (AP)—Police were arresting a man for investigation. His wife insisted that she be allowed to go along to see that he was not mistreated.

Police Chief N. H. Massie objected. She made a grab for him. So he opened the door and took her along.

The man was released when it was found there was insufficient evidence.

His wife was released the following day but only after she paid a fine of $20.50 for molesting an officer.

Scientific Film, 'God Of The Atom,' To Be Shown Here Tuesday

Said to show proof that atomic energy is not too technical to understand or too dangerous to talk, the natural-color scientific film "God of the Atom" is to be shown at 8 p. m. Tuesday at the 42nd Street Baptist church here, it was announced by Rev. Robert Joseph Evans, pastor, yesterday.

The pastor announced that there is no admission charge, and the public is invited to attend.

The same film will be shown at 7:30 o'clock Thursday night at Grace chapel at Sixteenth and Ave. N and will be free to the public.

The film, approved by the American Scientific Affiliation and commended by the Atomic Energy commission, includes actual photographs of the Nagasaki and Bikini explosions, as well as scientific apparatus used in atomic reseach.

Drawn Much Attention

Naration is by preacher- scientist Irwin A. Moon, noted for his "Sermons from Science" demonstrations during World war. II.

"God of the Atom" has been shown to church and school audiences averaging more than 85,000 a month since its release last September. It is one of a series, including "Voice of the Deep," and "The God of Creation" produced by the Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.

With the film will be Percy A. Bagge, Moody film representative. Appearing in the film is Larry Johnston, young physicist who aided in atomic development at Los Alamos and photopraghed all three wartime bombs as they exploded.

In an exclusive sequence are photographs of the giant 184-inch cyclotron at the University of California. Concrete walls have since been built around the cylotron, which has been rendered dangerously radioactive.

The film concludes with a summary of the world crisis caused by the discovery of atomic power, and offers a unique solution to the problem.

Those planing to attend were urged to be on time.

The members of Redeemer use this day to bring a special offering for the cause of world missions, in addition to their regular budget contributions. We extend a cordial invitation to all to enjoy these services with us," he added.

REBEL QUEEN MAKES RAIDS ATOP WHITE HORSE

Burmese Police Hunt Woman Bandit Leader Hailed By Communists As A "Joan Of Arc"

By FRED DOERFLINGER
INS Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Oct. 9.—Burmese police are hunting diligently for a young woman whom native Communists hail as a Joan of Arc but authorities term a ruthless criminal.

A "female Robin Hood" is another name for this young Burmese woman who rides dramatically atop a pure white horse at the head of a band of anti-government rebels, including women as tough as herself.

The 25-year-old woman is Ma Khin Nyunt, brown - skinned, stockily-built, with an abundant mane of coal black hair. The Communists are capitalizing in every way possible on the allure of this "bandit queen" in getting followers.

Has 500 Rebels

Ma Khin leads a band of nearly 500 rebels. In the past few months she and her crew have attacked police posts, bridges and railway stations in the interior of South Burma.

She has ambushed heavily-armed government convoys and looted local treasuries. On some occasions she has emptied jails and destroyed police records.

For the hard-pressed Burmese government, Ma Khin Nyunt is a source of growing irritation.

In one recent exploit she showed up at the home of the prime minister of Burma, Thakin Uu, at Moumeingen, between Rangoon and Mandalay.

She met the aged father of the premier and advised him:

"Send for your son and cane him."

Raided Burma Village

Ma Khin Nyunt is a dacoit, that is a type of bandit peculiar to India and Burma. Like other dacoits, Ma Khin hunts in a band. But her banditry now has political overtones.

Early this year she swooped down on one village and in true Pancho Villa fashion robbed the local treasury of $25,000 and emptied the jails. She told those released:

"If you commit a crime against the masses you will die."

The Burmese government helplessly admits her prowess. In one battle almost a year ago an official communique said government troops defeated a strong rebel force under Ma Khin Nyunt.

As always, astride her white charger, Ma Khin led her troops into battle in an attack on government forces encamped near the village of Toungoo.

Escaped Government Army

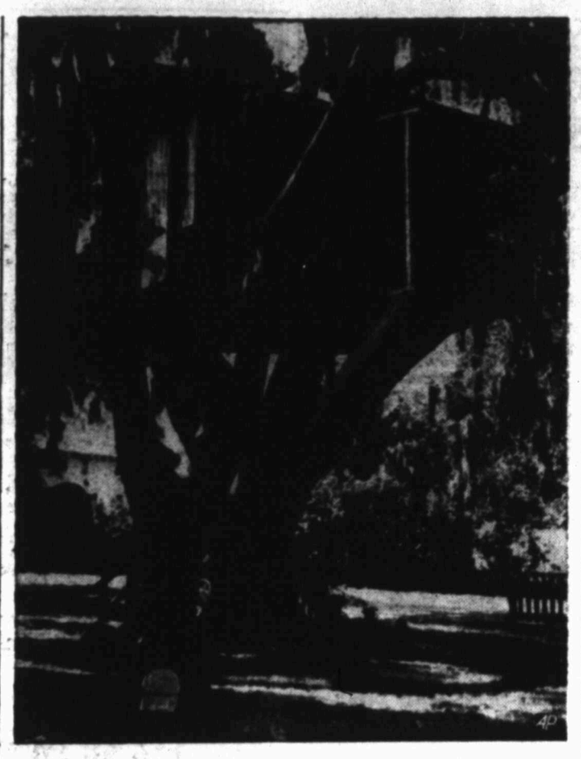

The battle was fierce for four hours. Then government reinforcements arrived to scatted Ma Khin's soldiers. The communique said the village was burned and the rebels left 90 dead behind them.

But Ma Khin escaped.

The young woman's background is shadowy. She first came to public notice about two years ago when the Burmese government began its campaign to wipe out the guerrillas.

Reports say that she operates in the steaming teak forests of the Burmese interior. From here she leads sudden forays — sometimes composed entirely of a female amazon army—to harass government troops or obtain money or provisions for her people.

The government would give almost any reward for her capture. But with each new escape Ma Khin builds the legend about her —adding to her stature as an anti-government force in Burma.

BIRD OF A HOUSE BUILT IN A TREE—No squirrels need apply—but here's a house you can rent right in the midst of the housing shortage. It's up a tree at Bradenton, Fla., has electric lights and running water. It was built in 1927 by Dr. E. E. Moore, who lived in it with his family until he died. Then L. R. Hamilton bought the property and now he wants to rent the tree house, because he lives in a house on the ground.

Shopkeepers Hurt By New Chinese Reforms

SHANGHAI, Oct. 9. (AP)—Small shopkeepers have nearly been put out of business by China's new economic reforms.

People, apparently afraid of Chiang Kai-Shek's new gold yuan currency, went on a wild buying spree right after the reforms were started. They bought out most of the merchandise on the shelves and new merchandise has not taken its place. As a result many shelves are empty.

What stocks merchants have in reserve are being kept out of sight because merchants do not want to sell at frozen prices.

One big Shanghai store advertised the start of its winter hours today—the store will be open from 10 a. m., until noon and 2 until 4 p. m.

"We just can't keep selling and not replacing," the manager said.

While prices have been frozen officially, unofficially they are up 100 to 200 per cent.

In desperation the government ordered rationing of essential commodities this week but failed to create machinery to implement its latest decree. Now, if you go into a silk store to buy a half yard of silk your residence certificate is chopped and you can't buy any more silk for six months. The official ration is eight yards but the shops make no distinction in the amount purchased.

The story is the same in other parts of China. Most of the shops in Peiping's famed Chien Men and Tungan Bazaars are closed. Wild buying cleaned out many of the shops.

Prices in Peiping were high—flour $10 U. S. a bag, American cigarettes $1.30 a package.

Deadlocked Jury Dismissed In Suit Against Mae West

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 9 (AP) — They may start all over again in the $100,000 plagiarism suit against actress Mae West.

Immediately after a deadlocked superior court jury was dismissed last night, counsel for the complaining writers, Michael Kane and Edward O'Brien, said he hoped for a re-trial at once. Miss West's lawyer said he was ready.

The trial lasted six weeks. The jurors deliberated four days. Kane and O'Brien alleged that Miss West used their material in her stage play, "Catherine Was Great."

Boys Get Judge To Suspend Mother's Prison Sentence

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 9 (AP) — "Don't send my mom to jail," two boys—one 12, the other 7—cried in unison as their 52-year-old mother was led from a courtroom.

Judge Henry Ellenbogen reconsidered. He suspended, pending an investigation, a three-month prison sentence for Mrs. Nellie Thomas accused of illegally receiving public relief funds.

The woman was charged yesterday with accepting $578 in relief while employed as a $16-a-week charwoman two years ago.

Still Confident, Monty Assumes Diplomatic Role In New European Military Command

By ALEX H. SINGLETON
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON Oct. 9 — Western Europe has picked a military brain, a black beret and a batch of medals to boss a tough job of common defense planning.

They add up to "Monty"—Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery, the cocky commander who led Britain's Tommies from Africa's El Alamein into the heart of Hitler's Germany.

Montgomery is stepping out as chief of the British imperial general staff after two years of master-minding a globe circling plan for coordinating the defenses of Britain and its commonwealth.

He is stepping into the new post as permanent military chairman of the defense council of the seven-month-old western European alliance of Britain, France, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg.

New Job Tougher

Montgomery has the task of welding the land, sea and air forces of the five countries into a smoothly meshed fighting force, ready for quick action if any one of the partners is attacked.

At 61, it may prove for Montgomery the most difficult assignment of a long and brilliant career.

His record has been built upon his acknowledged ability as a field commander, upon the elusive quality of inspiring troops to feats of high courage.

His new duties will involve a large amount of desk work, long range planning—and a great deal of patience tolerance and kid-glove diplomacy.

Montgomery will face the military men of five nationalities, each jealous of his traditions. His task is much like that of General Eisenhower in the early 40's, but with one important difference. He will lack the transendent pressure of war to impel men of many nations to work together.

Fought Troop Economies

In the last 27 months, as chief of the imperial general staff, Montgomery has demonstrated increasingly the qualities of a diplomat as well as of a soldier. He'll need both in his new post.

Since war's end, he's had a similar dual role. Until recently, "Monty" has had to use all the strategies of a wily politician to prevent government economies from reducing the army, navy and air force to a position pitifully weak.

He concentrated upon preserving top-raters for a skeleton organization around which could be wrapped Britain's fighting manpower in an emergency. He parted only under protest with military technicians. He worked at strengthening the air arm even at the expense of the other services. He hammered home the necessity for a blank check for scientific development of new weapons. And he, perhaps more than any other Briton, was responsible for a new government drive to increase the territorials — equivalent of the United States National guard—to a strength of 150,000 as soon as possible.

Simultaneously, he served as military missionary to the British commonwealth. "Monty's" black beret—the jaunty headgear which became a wartime symbol of confident leadership for the British troops—bobbed up around the world. Australia. New Zealand. South Africa. Canada. With trips in between to the United States, Trieste, Germany, Austria, Czechoslovakia, Palestine, the Near East and Moscow.

His journeys since the end of the war haven't held the drama of his arrival in North Africa in 1942 when the British were on the defensive, his curt command to tear up plans for retreat, his subsequent campaign which outfoxed Rommel, Germany's Desert Fox." Nor the poignancy of his "good hunting" message to his men when they crossed the Rhine.

But they have had an almost equally important effect on Britain's future through strengthening military ties with friendly countries.

The British commonwealth since the war has taught him to recognize the other fellow's viewpoint, plus the practical values of conciliation and compromise.

His personal appearance and his habits have changed little since the war. Short, sharp-nosed, soft-spoken a non-smoking teetotaler, he bears little resemblance to the public conception of a fighting man.

Few men have won more honors for military feats. Montgomery is entitled to wear 31 decorations even on state occasions, he doesn't.

He brought to the job of chief of the imperial general staff—just as he probably will take it to his new post—the rule he applied when the chips were down on the battlefront.

"I am not a bit anxious about my battles," he once said. "If I am anxious, I don't fight them. I wait until I am ready and then there is no doubt."

Alcohol Issue Buried By Many Resolutions

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 9 (AP) — Do alcoholic beverages, like beer and whisky, have a bad effect on church members if used by clergymen?

That question popped up—very briefly—at the 16th biennial convention of the United Lutheran church in America.

A few pros and cons swapped verbal blows yesterday but mealtime halted the discussion. It never reached the floor again.

Attorney Edward Rinderkneck of Toledo, Ohio, told the delegates he liked a glass of beer "in hot weather" and sometimes sipped the brew with ministers.

Dr. P. D. Brown, Salisbury, N. C., said the church should make a "strong" statement on the drinking (alcoholic, that is) problem.

P. George Grover, Arlington, Va., took no stand on the issue. He urged, however, that the topic be dropped.

Discussion started, incidentally, over a recommendation asking church members "to give consideration to the effects of their own use of alcoholic beverages, even in moderation, in their own lives and on those less disciplined than themselves."

Thousands Are Quake Victims

MOSCOW, Oct. 9. (U.P.)—Thousands of persons were killed or injured last Tuesday in the disastrous earthquake that struck Ashkhabad, capital of the Turkmen republic near the Iranian border, the Tass agency reported today.

Tass said the city was more than half destroyed. At least 120 transport planes have been pressed into service to fly drugs, doctors, pre-fabricated houses and tents to the town, the agency said.

Corpses Evacuated

Special sanitary trains still are evacuating corpses and carrying injured victims to neighboring cities for treatment. The injured are being taken to Tashkent, Baku, Bukhara and Samarkand, Tass said. Among those evacuated were at least 600 orphans.

The rescue planes are flying around the clock, Tass said. Another report said 6,000 injured were evacuated by air.

A report from the institute of the Academy of Sciences said the shock struck near midnight without warning, catching its victims in bed.

Force Very Great

The force was so great that surface displacement in Moscow, 1,500 miles away, reached 4 millimeters, this report said.

Ashkhabad was reported to have been about 50 miles from the epicenter, which was in northern Iran. Tass said the quake was the most disastrous in the city's history.

More than 1,000 doctors, nurses and other medical aides were flown in from Moscow and other cities in the Turkmen area. They included the chief officer of the Russian health service and the chief surgeon of the Soviet army.

About 47 per cent of U. S. families have savings deposited, a survey has found.

Staking Of Locations For Wildcat Projects In East-Central Motley And Southwest Terry Counties Top Oil Developments

HIGHLIGHTS of the petroleum exploration activity on the South Plains during the past seven days has been the staking of locations for wildcat projects in East-Central Motley county and in Southwest Terry county.

The second well in a new area in Central-West Gaines county has been officially completed as a commercial producer and a new drillsite for the Landon-Strawn field in South-Central Cochran county has been reported for immediate drilling.

Amount Of Free Oil

A prospector in Northeast Terry county developed a small amount of free oil, and smaller quantities of salt water, in a deep lime formation, and it is drilling ahead.

Humble Oil & Refining company No. 1-H Matador Land & Cattle company is to be a 9,000-foot wildcat in East-Central Motley county. It will test the Ellenburger for petroleum production.

The location of this venture is 660 feet from south and east lines of section 128, block M, Matador Cattle company survey. This places it about 16 miles east of the town of Matador. Drilling is to start at once.

Humble has the oil and gas leases on several thousand acres of Matador Land & Cattle company property in Motley and adjoining counties. This concern has already drilled several deep wildcats in that region, but none of them have developed any commercial oil or gas production.

Application Submitted

Coline Oil company has submitted an application with the Railroad Commission of Texas, requesting a permit to start operation by October 10 at its No. 1 Oil Development company fee, as a 5,800-foot wildcat in Southwest Terry county.

This venture will be located 330 feet from south and east lines of section 56, block DD, John H. Gibson survey, or about four miles northeast of Seagraves.

Rotary tools will be used. A test of the producing ability of the San Andres-Permian above 5,800 feet is the objective.

Cities Service Oil Company and The Atlantic Refining Company No. 2 Procton, stepout from the discovery for flowing production from the San Andres-Permian, to open the West Seminole field in Central-West Gaines county, has been officially completed for a 24-hour flowing potential of 473 barrels of oil, plus two per cent drilling water.

Official Test Taken

This new well is ten miles west of Seminole, and 1,980 feet from north and east lines of section 355, block G, CCSD&RGNG survey.

The official test was taken through a 28/64th inch tubing choke. The open hole section between the bottom of the 5½-inch casing cemented at 5,055 feet, and the plugged back total depth of 5,179 feet, had been treated with 3,000 gallons of acid.

The gas-oil ratio was 3,180-1, and gravity was 3,780-1. The top of the pay was at 5,038 feet. The prospector drilled to a total depth of 7,660 feet into the lower Permian.

There was no show of petroleum between 5,179 feet and 7,660 feet, and the lower section was plugged off with cement.

Seaboard Oil Company of Delaware No. 1 E. M. Hinson, Northeast Terry county deep prospector, 10 miles northeast of Brownfield, and 660 feet from north and west lines of section 91, block 4-X, psl survey, took a two hour drillstem test at 11,131-148 feet.

Gas Showed At Surface

Gas showed at the surface in 63 minutes. The volume was not gauged or estimated.

Recovery was 300 feet of clean oil, 70 feet of mud and oil plus 100 feet of salt water.

The project is drilling ahead below 11,194 feet in lime. No shows of petroleum have been logged since the section at 11,131-148 feet was drilled through.

This exploration took a previous test at 11,112-130 feet. The tool was open two hours. Gas showed at the surface in 16 minutes. Recovery was 1,200 feet of clean oil, 100 feet of heavily oil and gas cut drilling mud, and 150 feet of salt water.

The section showing the oil, and the small amounts of salt water is an unidentified lime. Some observers think it is possibly Ellenburger. Others are inclined to believe that it might be Mississippian.

Stanolind Oil & Gas Company No. 1 C. L. Adams is to be an extension effort for the Landon-Strawn field, in Central-South Cochran County, 2½ miles southwest of Lehman.

The prospector is located 1,063 feet from west and 457 feet from north lines of the south half of the south half of section 13, block L, psl survey.

Drilling with rotary tools is to start by October 5. The project will attempt to develop production from the Strawn lime zone of the Pennsylvanian.

There are two producers from that horizon in the Landon-Strawn field. That area also has three small wells from the San Andres-Permian at around 5,100 feet.

Childress Royalty Company No. 1 Scanlon, Northwest Dawson County wildcat, 467 feet from south and east lines of section 89, block M, EL&RR survey, drilled to a total depth of 4,978 feet in dry San Andres-Permian lime. It has been plugged and abandoned.

Operations To Start

Two Dawson County wildcats which were announced recently are still reported as locations, but operations are slated to start on each of them soon.

One of these is the Snowden, et al, No. 1 Williams located at the center of the northeast corner of the southeast quarter of section 108, block M, EL&RR survey. This places it two miles east of the west line of the county.

The other is the Tide Water No. 1 Turner located 660 feet from north and east lines of the south half of section 2, block C-39, psl survey, about a mile and one-half northwest of Welch. It is to be a 5,200-foot, rotary venture.

In Southeast Dawson, Seaboard Oil Company of Delaware No. 2 Lee, 440 feet from north and east lines of section 47, block 34, T-5-N, T&P survey, 15 miles southeast of the town of Lamesa, was continuing from 9,148 feet in lime and shale toward 10,000 feet, contract depth.

Argo Oil Corporation has set 7-inch casing at 11,205 feet on its No. 1-N Jones, prospective discovery in Northeast Gaines County. Operator was waiting on cement to cure and was then to perforate and test. This examination is to be primarily a check to see if water producing formation had been sucessfully shutoff.

It is about 10 miles southwest of Denver City, and 1,980 feet from west and 660 feet from north lines of section 496, block G, CCSD&RGNG survey.

Well Being Deepened

About three-quarters of a mile northwest, Argo was continuing to deepen its No. 1-C Jones, 660 feet from south and west lines of the north three-quarters of section 32, block AX, psl survey. Last report had it beyond 4,359 feet, penetrating redbeds and anhydrite.

Argo 1-B Jones, a mile west and one-half south of the No. 1-N Jones, and 465 feet from south and west lines of the north half of the south half of section 31, block AX, psl survey, was making hole from 5,020 feet through dolomite. Contract depth is 11,500 feet.

Five miles southeast of Brownfield, in Central Terry County, Southern Minerals Corporation and Honolulu Oil Corporation No. 1 Y. M. Newsome was boring ahead past 4,175 feet in lime.

It is approximately 12 miles northeast of the Adair pool, and 660 feet from north and 1,980 feet from east lines of section 47, block T, D&W Ry survey.

Lubbock Well Deepened

In the southwest portion of Lubbock County, ten miles southwest of the city of Lubbock, Honolulu was deepening its No. 1 Ratliff from 5,062 feet in lime.

This 3,800-foot wildcat is 660 feet from north and east lines of section 10, block AK, EL&RR survey.

Phillips Petroleum Company No. 1 Kary, wildcat venture to 11,000 feet in North-Central Lubbock County, was under 3,460 feet, drilling anhydrite and lime. It is northeast of the town of Monroe one mile, and 608 feet from west and 645 feet from south lines of the northwest quarter of section 25, block D-7, EL&RR survey.

Amerada Petroleum Company was deepening its Lubbock wildcat, the No. 1 Stribling, located 1,980 feet from north and 660 feet from east lines of section 9, block D-7, psl survey. It is the northeast sector of the county.

Last report had it boring ahead from 6,370 feet in lime and shale.

Test Will Be Made

Four miles northeast of the town of Spur, in South-Central Dickens County, Magnolia Petroleum Company No. 1 Wiley, 660 feet from west and north lines of section 305, H&GN survey, was going ahead below 3,082 feet through anhydrite and shale toward 8,200 feet, where it is slated to test into the Ellenburger.

Swabbing tests were continuing at Woodley Petroleum Company No. 1 J. J. Anderson, et al, discovery in East-Central Hockley County, 660 feet from north and west lines of section 10, block A, R. M. Thompson survey.

Operator acidized at 5,885-913 feet with 5,000 gallons and swabbed 342 barrels of fluid, cut 20 per cent water, in 77 hours. Another 5,000-gallon acid treatment was used at 5,825-79 feet, and swabbing from that formation produced 451 barrels of fluid, which was 30 per cent water and 2½ per cent basic sediment.

It is to clean out and complete.

Two-inch tubing had been run into the pay above plugged-back total depth of 6,619 feet, at Honolulu Oil Corporation No. 2-A-13 Ellwood, flanking the Glorieta discovery by the same company in East-Central Hockley County. It was installing a pump. Completion test was to be started shortly.

This semi-wildcat is 660 feet from west and 1,980 feet from north lines of section 13, block A, R. M. Thomson survey.

Amerada Drills Ahead

About six miles north of Levelland, in the central part of the county, Amerada Petroleum Corporation was drilling ahead on its new prospector, the No. 1 Griffiths-Lawhon, 550 feet from north and 330 feet from east lines of labor 5, league 730, State Capitol Lands survey. Last report had it under 4,633 feet in lime.

Cooperative Refinery Association No. 1 Ellwood estate, a one-mile offset to the new West Smyer field discovery of Southeast Hockley, had reached 5,254 feet and was penetrating lime. Contract depth is 6,000 feet.

It is 1,980 feet from north and 660 feet from west lines of section 12, block A, R. M. Thompson survey.

The lone Parmer County wildcat, Sunray Oil Corporation and Skelly Oil Company No. 1 Kimbrough, was going in to core from total depth 9,416 feet in granite wash and shale. It is slated to continue to solid granite.

Location is 330 feet from north and 990 feet from east lines of section 12, Doud & Keefer Subdivision, in the southeast portion of the county. The town of Muleshoe lies about 15 miles south.

Drilling In Hard Lime

Sun Oil Company No. 1 A. L. Haberer, Castro County's only wildcat, 660 feet from north and east lines of section 8, block 2, W. E. Halsell subdivision, was making hole beyond 7,900 feet through hard lime.

Humble Oil & Refining Company's No. 2 T. E. Lutrick, flanker to small Cisco lime production in South-Central Hale County, was past 5,994 feet, penetrating dolomite and lime.

It is 660 feet from north and 1,980 feet from east lines of section 17, block D-8, EL&RR survey.

About three miles north of the town of Petersburg, in the Arick field of extreme Southeast Hale County, General American Oil Company No. 1 Carmickle, bottomed at 5,931 feet in lime, had cemented 5½ inch casing to 5,931 feet, drilled out cement to 5,901 feet, then perforated at 5,816-25 feet, 5,832-45 feet, and at 5,851-59 feet.

Treated With Acid

Operator treated with 3,000 gallons of acid. The acid load and residue was swabbed out, and the project swabbed oil at the rate of nine barrels per hour.

Perforations were next shot at 5,804-16 feet. That section, as well as all the lower perforations, was acidized with 5,000 gallons.

Swabbing was continuing in an effort to clean out, test, and try to make an oil well. On last report, the prospect was recovering about 12 barrels of oil per hour with very little acid residue. Operator plans to install a pump and complete for commercial production during the next seven days.

Producers Completed

Six new producing oil wells have been completed by the Stanolind Oil & Gas Company in Southeastern Hale County's Anton-Irish field. The Pure Oil Company has obtained another, which makes a total of seven new producers in the past seven days for this area.

Stanolind's No. 3 C. A. Rice, which is located 660 feet from the north and west lines of the lease in section 19, block DT., EL&RR survey, pumped 105.31 barrels of oil on a 24 hour potential test. This 28 degree gravity oil had a gas-oil ratio of 258-1 and was accompanied by one per cent water.

The pay zone was between 5,537-6,100 feet and was treated with 18,000 gallons of acid.

No. 5-R-A-B Rollingsford's Saving Bank, also completed by Stanolind, produced 65.46 barrels of 29 degree gravity oil in 24 hours of pumping. The gas-oil ratio was placed at 196-1 and 12 per cent water was present. The pay section was between 5,469 and 6,050 feet and was acidized with 1,800 gallons.

The location of this well is 660 feet from the north and 1,980 feet from the east lines of the southeast quarter of section 17, block DT, EL&RR survey and an elevation of 3,416 feet was reported.

A third completion to Stanolind was its No. 8 G. W. Blackman, which is located 660 feet from the north and west lines of the south half of section 13, block OT, HE&WT survey.

The pay zone, after receiving 18,000 gallons of acid, produced 194.35 barrels of 31 degree gravity oil in a pumped, 24-hour test. It lies between 5,315 and 6,071 feet. The gas-oil ratio was defined as 208-1 and no water present.

Stanolind's No. 4-B J. B. Snead also became a producer last week and gave 259 barrels of 31 degree gravity oil in 24 hours of pumping. The gas-oil ratio was calculated at 233-1, and there was no show of water. Nine thousand gallons of acid was used on the pay section, which is between 5,356 and 5,968 feet in depth.

The location of this well is 660 feet from the south and from the east lines of lease, section 17, block OT, of the EL&RR survey.

The last of Stanolind Oil & Gas Company's completions for the past week was the No. 4 Thomas Wyatt, located 660 feet from the north and from the west lines of lease in section 14, block DT, HE&WT survey. This well produced 206.37 barrels of oil in a 24 hour pumping test from a pay zone which lies between 5,341-6,000 feet in depth. This section was treated with 16,000 gallons of acid. The oil had a gravity of 30 degrees and a gas-oil ratio of 178-1 No water was reported.

The Pure Oil Company's No. 9 Preston in the Anton-Irish field was also completed in the past week. This well is located 1,980 feet from the west and 660 feet from the south lines of the lease in section 12 block DT HE&WT survey, and produced 254.1 barrels of 31 degree gravity oil in 24 hours of pumping. A gas-oil ratio of 226-1 was arrived at, and no water was present.

The pay section was between 5,610 and 6,300 feet and had to be treated with 25,000 gallons of acid to obtain production.

Only one intention to drill was filed for the portion of the Anton-Irish field in Hale County in the past seven days. Gulf Oil Corporation submitted an application to drill 660 feet from the east and 2,190 feet from the north lines of section 16, block DT, HE&WT survey. Rotary tools will be used and a depth of 6,050 feet was projected. Operations were slated to start October 5.

Magnolia has presented an amended application to deepen its No. 1-DD Elton Blackmon located 660 feet from the east and south lines of the southwest quarter of section 7, block D-T of the HE&WT survey. The new depth will be 6,200 feet and rotary tools will be used. October 6 was the date set to begin this operation.

Active Anton-Irish field projects and their progress:

Pure No. 8 Preston reported a total depth of 5,592 feet, and was installing a reverse rig to drill in.

Stanolind No. 6-A Lee Irish was drilling at 1,530 feet in anhydrite.

Stanolind No. 6-B Lee Irish was drilling ahead in dolomite at 5,660 feet.

Stanolind No. 4 Arnold had reached a total depth of 6,100 feet and was running surveys.

Stanolind No. 4-A Harral was deepening from 5,596 feet in dolomite.

Stanolind No. 4-B Harral had obtained a total depth of 4,246 feet and was shut down for repairs.

Jury Says Stomach Upset Worth $450

DETROIT, Oct. 9 (AP) — A jury in common pleas court decided yesterday that Curtis W. Spuhler's stomach ache was worth $450.

Spuhler was given that judgment against a restaurant which served him scallops last March 18.

Instead of bowling that night in the American Bowling Congress tournament, Spuhler said he spent the time at a hospital with a "very upset stomach" and lost a chance at prize money.

Only he in a group of six bowlers ate the scallops, Spuhler said. He came from Akron, Ohio, to bowl and sued for $1,500.

"Little Old New York" Does Not Exist Any More As City Continues To Become Modern

BY HAL BOYLE
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 9—This is the city that is never through building.

A man who spends his entire life in New York City never dies in the same city in which he was born. He has to search in his old age to find the remnants of the town of his boyhood.

They're tearing down the old New York every day. This saddens many an old-timer, but the same thing has been going on for more than three hundred years.

When the Flatiron building was erected on a triangular plot at 23rd and Broadway in 1902 to inaugurate the skyscraper era, it quickly became a tourist mecca.

Madison Square Popular

At that time its Madison square site was the most fashionable in town. Gay blades hung out at the windy corner to ogle petticoats whipped into view by the breezes. Cops shooed them away, and there is a theory that this explains the phrase "twenty-three skiddoo," popular in grandpa's day.

Today the Flatiron building is passed unnoticed. It isn't even on the list of the 40 tallest structures here. And the 60-story Terra Cotta Woolworth building, hailed as a cathedral of commerce in 1913, is topped by five other business towers.

Fifty years or more ago the glamor shopping lane stretched along Broadway from 14th to 23rd streets. Then it moved over to Fifth avenue and began steadily marching up toward Central park, crowding out the mansions of the wealthy.

Today the red stone palace in which Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt entertained international society is gone—torn down to make way for an office building. The only holdout along Fifth avenue is the old Jay Gould home, and it's been turned into an antique shop.

One change being made in the ever-changing face of Manhattan that will bring few tears from sentimentalists is the gradual destruction of the lower east side slums. They are being replaced by gigantic modern housing projects for lower and middle income people, giving these classes the benefits of skyscraper residential life.

Project Proposed

No, "little old New York" just doesn't exist any more. And this year the city planning commission, created a decade ago to give some direction to the city's growth, has just proposed that the city spend $317,056,203 next year to modernize itself still more.

This is only one item in "little old New York's" billion-dollar budget. In 1890 Benjamin Harrison spent only $318,041,000 to run the entire United States.

31-Year-Old Mother Arrested Because Of Romance With Boy

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 9 (AP) — "We just fell in love—is that a crime?" A 31-year-old mother asked police, who arrested her, they said, because of her romance with a lad about half her age.

Mrs. Fay Brody Kahn, mother of two sons and whose husband, Barry Kahn, 37, a carnival worker, sued for divorce Sept. 16, was arrested yesterday on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

The youth, Ronald Simrin, Venice, Calif., was held by juvenile authorities for investigation.

Kahn, who is caring for his two children, Kenneth, 7, and Rickey, 3, alleged cruelty in his divorce complaint. He said they separated Aug. 29 after being married 10 years.

Hollywood On The Loose...

Filmtown Facts And Fancies

By ERSKINE JOHNSON
NEA Staff Writer

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 9.—Bob Mitchum's career is following a crazy course since his arrest on marijuana charges. In New York, people are standing in line to see his latest picture, "Rachel and the Stranger." In Hollywood, I just discovered, he was yanked out of a Rosalind Russell picture at Columbia the day following his arrest . . . Janis Paige and Warner Bros. are going round and round. She's yelling that Doris Day is getting all the good roles and she wants out of her contract.

Johnson

Super Films, Inc., an outfit that distributes foreign films in the U. S., is about to sue Columbia over "The Loves of Carmen." The company claims Columbia bought the distribution rights to the French version of Carmen in 1947 and then put the picture on the shelf . . . Julie Wilson, star of many Copacabana shows for Monte Prosser, is in Hollywood listening to film offers.

Hollywood plastic surgeon Dr. Robert Alan Franklyn is still gasping. A radio give-away program called him with the idea of adding a free face-lift to its giant jackpot.

David Rose and June Lester, niece of comedian Jerry Lester, have discovered each other . . . Producer Andy Stone is preparing a documentary on the recent Olympic games, using available newsreel clips to complement the story.

DINAH SHORE canceled a sightseeing trip to Switzerland for additional GI camp shows in Germany . . . Here's how fights start: Designer Edith Small says Susan Hayward is the only actress in Hollywood with the perfect figure and poise for the wearing of suits.

Sight of the week: Jimmy Durante falling overboard while trying to land an eight-pound bass off the Flamingo Hotel's cruiser on Lake Mead . . . Wonderful gag between Jack Carson and Joan Crawford in "Two Guys and a Gal." Joan, playing herself in a quick scene, gives Jack a tongue lashing for trying to wreck her life and then slaps him. "Why did you do that?" asks Carson. "Oh," says Crawford, "I do that in all my pictures."

Hollywood's economy wave just hit the executive dining room at M-G-M. The menu is down to a blue plate special which falls in line with the studio policy of "no waste."

COLLEGE COMEDY

DONALD O'CONNOR will star in a UI comedy about an ex-GI who returns to college . . . It's definite now that the sequel to "The Jolson Story" will be titled, "Jolson Sings Again." Larry Parks and Columbia buried the hatchet and Larry will be Jolson again . . . The new average cost of pictures in Hollywood is down to $862,000, compared to the million average during the war . . . Rosalind Russell's next will be what she's been yelling for, a comedy. The title: "You Can't Judge a Lady."

Hollywood's newest cycle is post-Civil War films. Ten million dollars already is tied up in such films either in preparation, on the sound stages or ready for release. Glenn Langan and 20th Century-Fox have called it a day. He just arrived in Rome to star in the independent film, "Rapture." . . . Lynn Bari returns to the screen next month following the birth of a seven-pound son . . . Maureen O'Hara's husband, Will Price, makes his debut as a full-fledged director at RKO. He's been a dialog director for 11 years . . . Ann Blyth gets a new contract at UI and the lead opposite Bing Crosby in "Diamond in the Haystack."

Gary Is Content With Acting Now

By PARTICIA CLARY
United Press Staff Writer

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 9.—Nearly every actor wants to be a producer, but after they've tried it most of them flee back to acting.

It's enough, the stars discover, to worry about the movie all day on the set. The producer has to worry about it at night too.

GARY COOPER

Gary Cooper, who took two turns at producing, now says he's content to be an actor.

"Producing a picture is a pretty tough job, particularly the way the world is today," Cooper said. "To my way of thinking at the moment, I think I'll let the producers do the producing and I'll do the acting."

Henry Blanke, who's been producing Warner Bros. pictures for close to a quarter of a century, is producing Cooper's current epic, "The Fountainhead."

To producer Cooper, producer Blake's work looks good.

"Being on the producing end was a mighty interesting experience," Cooper said, "but it ties you down a whole lot, especially when you're acting, too."

To Film Jackson's Life

When he finishes "The Fountainhead," Cooper is going to do some serious work on his pet project, a picture about the life of President Andrew Jackson. A writer is sorting through a mountain of data now.

"Jackson was one of the most colorful figures in American history," Cooper said "I think his life would make a fine picture. Maybe there's too much story for one picture, but that's what I'm going to find out."

The fact that he's doing all the research, he added, doesn't mean that he's going to produce the picture himself. He wants to get someone else to.

Cooper's co-star in "The Fountainhead," in a part a half dozen top actresses were begging for, is a newcomer, Patricia Neal. She won't even be seen on the screen until next year.

"Anybody who doesn't want to see newcomers like her make good," said Cooper, "should have someone look at his head. They're the lifeblood of the industry.

"The more people we get with real talent the better off the business is. All of us were newcomers at one time."

Cooper never forgets that his start in Hollywood was one of the lowest. He was an extra when a roving-eyed director picked him out of the crowd.

California May Get More Seats In House

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9 (AP) — Unless the moving away fever hits a lot of Californians before 1950 the sunshine state stands to pick up seven extra seats in the House of Representatives.

The House Civil Service committee made this estimate yesterday after studying the census bureau's latest population survey.

Under present law there will be an automatic reapportionment of the 435 house seats after the 1950 census is made.

If there is no further population shift, the committee said, indications are that seven states will gain one or more house seats, with 12 states losing one or more.

Here's how the committee figured the likely changes:

Gainers—California, 7; Florida, Indiana, Michigan, Oregon, Texas, and Washington, 1 each.

Losers—New York, 2; Alabama, Arkansas, Colorado, Georgia, Kentucky, Mississippi, Missouri, North Carolina, Oklahoma, Pennsylvania and Tennessee, 1 each.

Friendship Of Rita Hayworth, Ali Khan Flowers In Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 9 (AP) — The friendship of film actress Rita Hayworth and Ali Khan, which began on the French Riviera a few months ago, is flowering in Hollywood today.

Miss Hayworth confirmed that Ali Khan, English-educated sportsman son of the wealthy Aga Khan of India, has taken a home here, to stay for some time, and that "we plan to see each other a lot."

They met at a party at Cap Antibes given by Elsa Maxwell. Then they toured Spain and Portugal last summer. He is separated from his wife. Miss Hayworth's divorce from Orson Welles becomes final Nov. 12.

NO SALE

NORTH SMITHFIELD, R. I. (AP) —Two burglars rang up a "No Sale" when they tried to rob a tavern here. The owner, John Pivo, 32, who was sleeping in his room above, was awakened by the ringing of the cash register. He grabbed a pistol, ran downstairs and held the pair until police arrived.

Columbia Seeking Story For Rita Hayworth After Casting Susan Hayward In Picture

By RUTH BRIGHAM
INS Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 9.—Columbia pictures is dying for a story for Rita Hayworth! They had bought "Anna Lucasta," allegedly for their glamorous star, but, as anyone knows, that role calls for acting of a different sort. So Susan Hayward gets the spot. So, what to do with Rita, is Columbia's problem? Every Hollywood writer is scratching his head for the answer. Have you got any ideas, any story ideas?

Italians Want Reception

Alida Valli leaves for her home—Rome—at the end of the month. Valli, as we call the beautiful Italian in this country, will spend three weeks with her mother before going to Vienna to co-star with Joe Cotten in "The Third Man."

Valli has a problem. She wants to spend three weeks quietly with her family. No fanfare. But the Italian governments wants to roll out the red carpet and dress up at a reception for their favorite daughter.

And David O. Selznick is behind the Italian government—because he wants all the fanfare he can get at that time. "The Paradine Case" is premiering in Rome—coincidentally with Valli's return.

Morris Takes Out Uniform

Reginald Denny is setting a fine example on Nov. 12, when he emcee's a benefit show at the Ford stadium in San Diego. Denny lost his only daughter, Barbara Simmons, last month, a victim of polio. The actor was broken-hearted over Barbara's death, but he's forgetting his own sorrow long enough to help other victims of the same disease. All proceeds from the show will be used to buy respirators for polio sufferers.

While a lot of veterans of World War two kid about getting into their old uniforms, Wayne Morris is really going to do it. Morris, who distinguished himself as a naval combat flier in the Pacific, goes into "Task Force" with Gary Cooper, playing the role of a naval flier! "Task Force" is a Jerry Wald production. Wald is the producer who made so many good war pictures during the war. And Morris will wear his same uniform—girth permitting.

Flynns Jamaica Bound

When Virginia Mayo and Hubby O'Shea were touring Colorado and New Mexico this summer, little did they dream she'd be going back to the same spots to make a picture. But that's what she's doing today, for production of "Colorado Territory." And the O'Sheas are also renewing their friendship with New Mexico's affable governor.

Everything is lovely with the Errol Flynns, who plane out shortly for his island spot at Jamaica. They'll spend Christmas there, having their two children and the nurse join them later. Flynn's parents are over from Ireland and have settled in Jamaica.

Dick Powell called to say that he and June are afraid of losing the baby, which they recently adopted from a Tennessee children's home, if the divorce rumors are not quieted. It was June who gave rise to the rumors while Dick was in New York. Then when he planed back to Hollywood, she planed out to New York.

Woman Declares She Can Not Manage On $1,000 Per Month

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 9 (AP) — With living costs up, she just can't manage on $1,000 a month temporary alimony, Elizabeth Cook Gordon, 29, former actress, testified. She said she needs at least $2,500.

Through her attorney, the estranged wife of songwriter Mack Gordon said yesterday she wants only a modest little Beverly Hills home at $500 a month with a simple little swimming pool. She said she needed some place for her son, Roger, 6, to play.

The court ruled that the woman for whom Gordon wrote "Looky, Looky, Looky! Here Comes Cooky" must manage somehow on $1,000 monthly until Oct. 14, when Gordon promised to show the court his financial status.

The couple separated last July 20, after nine years together.

Acquittal At Trial Seen By Tokyo Rose

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 9 (AP) — Los Angeles-born Iva Toguri (Tokyo Rose) D'Aquino, indicted for treason for her wartime radio work for Japan, says she believes she will be acquitted at her trial.

Eight overt acts of treason were charged to the 32-year-old UCLA graduate by the federal grand jury's indictment yesterday. The only U. S. citizen among the half dozen women known to American GI's as "Tokyo Rose," she was charged with giving aid and comfort to the enemy by trying to lower the Americans' morale and hinder this country's war effort.

She called the indictment "a grave disappointment" and declared if "government attorneys had been interested they could have produced before the grand jury a number of material witnesses who could have cleared me of any suspicion of wrongdoing."

She will be arraigned at 10 a. m. Monday.

Sky-Writing At Night Planned By California Radio Station

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 9 (AP) — Here's something new under southern California's tropical moon—sky-writing at night.

Radio station KMPC announced today that a Van Nuys scientist has developed a liquid which is energized to glow as it shoots through a plane's jets.

The station said it has first option on the novel sky-writing process, which will go into use next month.

RICH CATS DISAPPEAR

BELMAR, N. J., Oct. 9 (U.P.) — Attorney Thomas C. Madigan said today that nine cats which were to share a house and $1,200 a year under the will of their late mistress, Mrs. Amina Tantum, had disappeared since the will was filed Tuesday.

Prisoners In California Send Flowers To Sheriff's Funeral

COLUSA, Calif., Oct. 9 (AP) — At the funeral for Sheriff George Houx of Colusa county the biggest, hand-fashioned wreath bore the inscription:

Indonesia Reds Hold Oil Center

BATAVIA, Oct. 9. (AP) — The Dutch army said today the see-saw battle between Indonesian forces and Communist rebels for the vital Tjepoe oil center has caused an "extremely critical" situation.

Some 1,000 casualties have been reported, is said, and 3,000 refugees are streaming from the area.

Military reports said Tjepoe which has changed hands at least three times since the fight began, now is held by Communist rebels and that "murder, looting and arson have occurred on a large scale."

Mill Is Aflame

The reports said a mill in the town is aflame and a large storage tank is burning.

Indonesian troops are attempting to drive out the rebels with artillery fire.

Republican authorities fear the town and the surrounding area will be put to the torch.

Most of the refugees are streaming toward the town of Bodjonegoro, about 17 miles east of Tjepoe. This town now is threatened by Communist forces closing in from two directions, and is running low on food, the Dutch reported.

The Dutch army report said the Republican commander in east Java has requested Indonesian authorities to postpone the advance on Communist-held Purwodadi and concentrate on Blora to the west where heavy fires are raging.

Red Leader Flees

Latest reports say Communist Leader Musso, who led the initial revolt last week has fled with his followers to Kandangan in the Wilis mountains southeast of Madioen. Amir SJarifudden, who also took part in the revolt, is reported to be in Patjitan, Communist center on the south coast.

The Indonesian news agency Antara said Thursday that Tjepoe was in the hands of the government which was trying to run refineries under military control. It said the Communists were driven off after they had been prevented from blowing up the refineries.

It is believed, however, that the Dutch army reports are more recent, because of poor communi-

Cotton Meeting Here Is Important; Marshall Is Turned Down On Franco

AREA AFFECTED

A Noteworthy Step

FEW cities have been privileged to be host to meetings of more potential importance than the Beltwide Cotton Mechanization conference to be held in Lubbock Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

It is of concern to everyone connected in any way with the cotton industry as grower, seller, or manufacturer. Its importance is attested by the planned attendance of leaders of international repute. It is doubtful whether as many men of major importance in the cotton business ever before have gathered in one place as will be in Lubbock for this meeting.

It seems peculiarly appropriate that this conference, which will be concerned primarily with the possibility of adapting mechanical and scientific methods to the producing and processing of cotton, should be held on the South Plains. This has become one of the nation's leading cotton production areas, and the potentialities for further expansion are enormous. No place upon earth is better adapted to the application of mechanical methods in the harvesting, the largest single item of cost in cotton production, than this area.

IF HARVESTING costs can be substantially reduced by mechanical methods, cotton can be produced profitably for low-priced markets—and few cotton men are so optimistic as to believe that 30-cent cotton will continue indefinitely. If new uses for the staple can be developed, the demand and probable price will be increased proportionately.

The conference here will strive for progress toward these objectives. The participants will be spurred by the realistic knowledge that the objectives must be attained if prosperity in the cotton business is to be established upon an enduring foundation. One of many spurs to their efforts is that increasing production in nations like Brazil, where growing costs are a minor item, are threatening to drive American cotton out of foreign markets. If the United States cannot meet that competition by reducing costs and by developing new uses for the staple, the outlook for the American cotton business will be dark indeed.

But conferences like the one to be held here are evidence that cotton men recognize their problems. They are trying to do something about them. The indications are most encouraging that their efforts have resulted in greater progress than generally is realized. It is to be hoped—and can be predicted with confidence—that the Lubbock conference will mark another noteworthy step toward the objectives sought.

It's A Good Idea

THE widespread public dislike of John L. Lewis as an individual should not be allowed to blind anyone to the merits of ideas he proposes. He appears to "have something" in the share-the-work stabilization plan he outlined for soft coal miners the other day.

Under this program, the miners will share equally whatever work is available in the event of a depression. It will not be a case of some working all the time and the others going on relief. The obvious protection that the plan will afford the miners is that a surplus of men will not be competing for available jobs, thus forcing wages down.

A similar plan might be applied to a great many types of work, more in the effort to insure that all can share in some degree in whatever is available than to maintain wages and costs at boom-time levels.

Mr. Lewis' plan looks like the kind of foresight for coal miners which might be adopted as an example in a great many industries. The fact that Mr. Lewis proposed it is no excuse for failure to recognize and capitalize upon whatever merits it may contain.

The average person will always string along with the one who holds the purse strings.

One thing may be said in favor of the little red school house. It turned out few Reds.

Dewey Holds Edge In West North Central States

By GEORGE GALLUP, Director
American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 9 —The Dewey-Warren ticket today leads the Democratic opposition in six of the eight states of the West North Central section of the country.

Missouri, President Truman's home state, today gives him a good margin, and neither party organization, as a political advantage in Minnesota. Governor Dewey is in the lead in Iowa, Kansas, Nebraska, North Dakota, South Dakota and Wisconsin, all of which he won in 1944 against Roosevelt.

GALLUP

The Institute's first national survey giving presidential standings state-by-state has now covered 24 states in areas where Republicans usually poll their greatest strength. Of the 24, Governor Dewey, as of the first week in October, leads in all but three. President Truman is ahead in two, while one is currently in the "doubtful" column.

Political sentiment as shown by Institute polls in the Southern and Western states where Democratic strength is traditionally the greatest will be reported this week. The series of articles will conclude next Friday with a 48 state summary, the first complete round-up of presidential standings. Other round-ups will be made by the Institute prior to Election Day, based on continuing polls being made of representative voters across the country.

Minnesota is the only state in the West North Central section where the Henry A. Wallace candidacy has a bearing on the standing of the two major party nominees. If it were not for Wallace, President Truman probably would be ahead in the state despite recent Republican gains there. As of this writing Wallace is not on the ballot in Nebraska.

"If the presidential election were being held today how would you vote—for Truman, for Dewey, or for Wallace?"

Looking At Life

WORDS are pictures.

When Shakespeare says
"The weary sun hath made a golden set,
And, by the bright track of his fiery car,
Gives signal of a goodly day tomorrow,"

you see that sunset over your own home. You hope for a goodly day for yourself and yours tomorrow.

Don't you get the lilt of life, and think of those wonderful spring years of your own, when you read this verse by Charles Swinburne?

"If love were what the rose is,
And I were like the leaf,
Our lives would grow together
In sad or singing weather,
Blown fields or flowerful closes,
Green pleasure or grey grief."

Words can also be weapons.

No need to explain that. One word "Moscow" does that for you—Moscow, or any diplomatic gathering where words are being used to fight the wars of lies and hypocrisy that eventually lead to the wars of arms.

But words can be still something else.

Words can be the messengers of ignorance, intolerance, snobbishness.

Let me give you an example.

In my newspaper today there is a story about a musician who, by the magic of music, has been restored from insanity to what the press dispatches call "respectability," and who has been discharged from the institution that confines madmen to the other institution called the "outside world" where so many madmen run around unconfined.

• • •

THERE was that one word which, to me, had all the earmarks of ignorance, intolerance and snobbishness.

"Respectability."

This poor chap, high-strung, frustrated, discouraged, had taken to drink.

He had become an outcast of our oh so noble society and finally they had to put him in an institution.

Then a director of musical therapy worked with this fellow patiently and intelligently, and six months later had him composing music.

It wasn't that poor drunk who was disrepectable.

It was our own society, our own social set-up that drove him to insanity, by denying him the chance to show what he could do.

I don't excuse drunkenness. I don't excuse any kind of vice.

But neither do I excuse a social system that drives people to drunkennness and vice and then holds up its hands in righteous indignation and condemns the poor human wreck that has fallen.

Yes, words are pictures. For instance, to quote from Matthew, Chapter 23, Verse 28: "Even so ye also outwardly appear righteous unto men, but within ye are full of hypocrisy and iniquity."

Jap Psychopathic Patient Dies After Swallowing Paper Wads

CHICAGO, Oct. 9 (AP) — Hertero Goto, 64-year-old Japanese patient at the Psychopathic hospital, died yesterday after swallowing wads of newspapers.

Examination revealed a quantity of paper in his throat and stomach.

A son, Takaji, said he had placed his father in the hospital for hysteria and a brain disease on doctor's orders.

WASHINGTON — Real inside on Secretary Marshall's Paris talks about recognizing Spain is that the French and British foreign ministers turned him down with a reverberating thud. They were adamant and categoric that they would not ask the United Nations for recognition of Dictator Franco.

PEARSON

The House of Commons and the British labor party, Foreign Minister Bevin told Marshall, would raise cain.

Foreign Minister Schuman was even more emphatic. He said that France had excellent economic relations with Spain, kept the border open, ran an airline down there, and did a lot of business. However, Franco was a symbol—and a very distasteful symbol—of Fascism. The average Frenchman, said Schuman, wanted no part of him.

On the other hand, Bevin and Schuman indicated to Marshall that if the United States wanted to move for Franco's recognition, it was free to do so. France and Britain would vote against it, they said, but the Latin-American countries would probably help the United States get a two-thirds vote.

NOTE—The British general staff is even more vigorous than the U. S. joint chiefs of staff about recognizing Franco. They claim Spain has great strategic advantages in time of war, that the Western Allies could take refuge behind the Pyrennes if Russia sweeps across the continent.

Falling White House Plaster

The decrepit interior of the White House is a constant worry to presidential aides, who fear that a "plaster slide" or falling chandelier may some day injure the President or his family.

Joking about it the other day, Truman related how his daughter, Margaret, had a scare while playing the piano.

"Margaret was playing in the red room, when the floor suddenly started creaking," he said. "We thought for a minute that Margaret and the piano might land on the floor below."

"I wonder if the trouble could be caused by Republican termites," mused District Commissioner Guy Mason, with a wink.

"Could be," grinned Truman. "It certainly looks like they are trying to undermine me. I never know when I take a bath any more whether I'll wind up in the kitchen."

SEN. WAYNE MORSE, Oregon maverick Republican, motoring through Wyoming with a trailer and his favorite riding horse, stopped for dinner in Cheyenne. Opening up the Cheyenne Eagle, he noticed headlines regarding a big speech by his Democratic friend, Sen. Joe O'Mahoney of Wyoming. O'Mahoney was opposing G. O. P. Senator Robertson, now in a desperate race for re-election.

"Say," he exclaimed to a friend, "Joe is certainly pouring it on. What a speech!"

There was a burst of laughter behind him. Morse turned round to see O'Mahoney himself, reading the paper over his shoulder.

"What are you doing here?" asked O'Mahoney. "Trying to help out Robertson?"

Morse assured him he was not, added that Robertson had a record that didn't deserve help. However, Morse has now become the most popular member of the Republican party with other G. O. P. senators. Once cussed out over the Taft-Hartley bill, Morse's one-time critics are now frantically wiring him for help.

Morse was in Kentucky last week speaking for beleaguered Senator John Cooper, Republican, when he got an appeal from Senator Saltonstall in Massachusetts to make four speeches for him. Saltonstall figures that Morse—the one Republican who fought for amendments to the Taft-Hartley act—is about the only man who can help him out.

Brass Hatism Creeps Back

Despite Secretary for Air Symington's boast that he has a Democratic Air Force, a lot of brasshatism takes place right under his nose. For instance, here is the latest promotion list, showing how the brass favor themselves:

Of 1,130 pre-war regulars up for promotion to lieutenant colonel, 893 were approved. On the other hand, out of 2,863 newly integrated officers eligible to become lieutenant colonels, only 362 were approved.

In addition, it was significant to see how the West Pointers fared. Out of 253 West Pointers on the list, 223 got promoted.

THE real estate-building lobby is trying hard to woo back one of its members — Harold Keats, commander of the Amvets, who recently resigned from the National Association of Home Builders with reverberations echoing throughout the building industry.

Keats charged that the lobby was not "playing straight" with the veterans or with the American public.

Since then, lobby leaders have been blowing kisses in his direction, and almost getting down on their knees to persuade the Amvet commander to rejoin the home builders association.

Frank W. Cortright, home builders executive vice-president, has written a soothing letter urging Keats to reinstate his N. A. H. B. membership and to "sit down and discuss the current accomplishments of this industry."

O. G. Powell of Des Moines, Iowa, a N. A. H. B. regional vice-president, has written a letter to Ed Corry, another Amvet leader, saying "I admit that we have not yet been able to solve the (housing) problem for the lowest income groups, but we are striving every day to do something about it.

"Ed," the letter continued, "I wish you would discuss this matter with Commander Keats and try to calm him down a bit."

The other night another big wheel in the real estate jobby, Edward R. Carr, former N. A. H. B. president, collared Keats in the Shoreham hotel here and urged him to "get together and iron things out."

"You were plenty rough on us," said Carr. "Are you sure you're doing the right thing?"

"I see no reason to retract," replied Keats. "Speaking as a former member of your organization, I'm disgusted with the whole outfit, especially Frank Cortright. You can't solve the low-cost housing shortage with pretty phrases. Yes, I'll be glad to sit down and talk with you fellows when you convince me that you have more than that to offer. Otherwise, we are both wasting our time."

It is said the human body is about 70 per cent water. Maybe that is why so many people have ideas that are all wet.

A man who wouldn't think of sitting through a double-feature is the one who wouldn't miss a double-header at the ball park.

"HENRY DAVID THOREAU"

Krutch Makes Careful Estimate

"HENRY DAVID THOREAU," by Joseph Wood Krutch; (Sloan).

WHEN Thoreau died in 1862, at 44 years of age, his home town of Concord thought of him as a maker of lead pencils and a peddler of them, a schoolmaster, handyman for Ralph Waldo Emerson, gardener for Nathaniel Hawthorne, surveyor, and eccentric who lived for two years in a cottage beside a pond.

Now he is the author of "Walden." To some contemporary readers with an inclination for the primitive, he is solely a man who believed in going back to nature; to the radical, he is the man who defied the law by refusing to pay taxes and went to jail for it, or who complained of the factory system, saying of the manufacture of clothes that its "principal object is, not that mankind may be well and honestly clad, but, unquestionably, that the corporations may be enriched;" to others, he is a representative mystic.

Paints Endearing Picture

Out of this confusion of interpretations by people with an ax to grind, Krutch, who has none, paints an endearing picture of one of our really original creative writers, a happy man who had as many friends among the fishes, birds and animals of Concord's woods and streams as among the people in its beautiful old houses. The contradictions in his views and their rich complexity, are defined with a nicety that gives this study authority and with a sympathy that makes it very readable.

Thoreau was not so dependent on Emerson and Transcendentalism as has often been supposed; he was not a hermit; he was not in the usual sense a scientist; he was not a "respectable," church-going Christian; he did not consistently evade social responsibilities, but in so far as he was a crusader, for John Brown or Emancipation, he was a "reluctant" one.

This careful estimate of the man who could cry joyfully: "The stones are happy, Concord river is happy, and I am happy too," inaugurates auspiciously the "American Men of Letters" series of which some 20 volumes are in preparation.

Frank Story

"THE WINE OF ASTONISHMENT," by Martha Gellhorn; (Scribner's).

AN American officer, his jeep driver and two women they meet in Luxembourg are the chief characters in this novel, and though the action takes place as the war thunders to its close, it is not soldiering which matters most to us, but people.

Their uniforms serve merely to place them, and anyway they come off quickly enough in this frank story about the affair of Lt. Col. John Smithers with Dorothy Brock of the Red Cross and the love of Pfc. Jacob Levy for Kathe Limpert. Miss Gellhorn leads us into a couple of stirring battles, and the talk about wartime problems and the dreams of home and peace are entertaining or nostalgic, but mostly we worry about John and Jacob.

There is a Jew, but no Jewish problem. There are officers, but they are not the cowards, bullies or cheats who have furnished a moral for other recent novelists. Except for the ending, which seems contrived, there is drama, but no melodrama. This is a thoroughly enjoyable romance.

Significant Novel

"CHILDREN OF THEIR TIME," by F. C. Weiskopf; (Knopf).

AN OLD man dies in Prague, his greedy next-of-kin impatiently endure the burial so that they can hear the terms of his will, and learn incredulously that he has omitted them and, skipping a generation, named his grandchildren as heirs.

It was in the closing years of World War I, when time and events moved at breakneck speed. The trio of young people were as well prepared for their prospective roles as the disgruntled elders they displaced, though that is not saying much. Wally was trying out one man after another in a somewhat haphazard search for a husband; Adrienne was in Geneva falling in love with Dushan and his Socialist convictions; Franz Ferdinand Rankl was doing his best to keep from doing his bit in uniform.

The novel is a good, sound achievement, not exciting though it moves forward steadily, not hilarious but witty, not essential but significant.

"Herself Surprised"

"HERSELF SURPRISED," by Joyce Cary; (Harper).

SARA MONDAY, or Sara Jimson, for it was almost Wilcher, too, and at least as much Wilcher as Jimson, was a good-hearted girl, a good cook, a good friend, a good everything, and yet she got herself into more trouble than would be expected of a whole family of Jezebels. On the first page of this novel a judge, accusing her of lack of moral character, sends her to jail for 18 months. The judge was right, the worried girl feared, and she tells the absorbing, picaresque story of her adventures, explaining with a rare combination of boldness and humility how she yielded out of sympathy, how love was too natural to deny, how indeed she meant too well.

Cook for the widowed Mrs. Monday, she falls under the hungry eye of her employer's son Matt, and out of sorrow no less than love for a man dominated shamefully by mother and sister, she runs away to marry him. Mistress of a large house and staff of servants, she makes the most of her fortune, and if she seeks happiness for herself, she also seeks and finds it for Matt. But she doesn't know where to stop. She can't separate Mr. Hickson's helpful, friendly advances from his sly advances; she can't promise a generous commission to artist Gulley Himson without seeming to promise something more . . . and she's too good to go back on her promises.

The amazing incidents of her career multiply; she has her ups and downs, her encounters with Nina and Rozzie Balmforth, her stay with Miss Slaughter, her experiences with numerous Wilchers, and always she moons over romantic old tales and does somehow manage to contribute to the support of a fellow who appears to be a worthy though irresponsible artist.

If Mr. Wilcher "went so far with the girls that it came to the police, then he could not help it and ought to be pitied or, if mad, locked up, or married." The same can be said, and sensibly too as Cary says it, of Sara herself. It would take more than her large share of native wit and much more than her small bit of education to decide just where a girl with so active a conscience and such noble intentions strayed from the straight and narrow path. She is a rash, poisonous yet toothsome heroine, and her merry story, which moves fast and ends all too soon, is very slight and very important, too.

"Anything But Love"

"ANYTHING BUT LOVE," by Elise Beth Hawes; (Rinehart).

IT'S practically a miracle, this author has decided, if American women have any sense at all. Miss Hawes has been reading and listening to advice dished out to many millions of them a dozen times over in magazines, books and by radio, and out of the contradictions and absurdities has fashioned this book. Some of it is in fictional form, some in essays, all of it spoofing, written with tongue in cheek and fingers crossed, amounting to a loud Bronx jeer.

Some of this advice is not only nonsensical but harmful, and when Miss Hawes really gets into form, as in jibes at re-doing furniture or at some sex information, she does as much damage to the glib advisers as they do to their innumerable lady readers. But the book should not have been quite so dull; it needed more ha-hawes.

Lubbock First Church Of The Nazarene To Join In Fortieth Anniversary Program

The Lubbock First Church of the Nazarene, Fourteenth and Ave. Q, today will join in a church-wide celebration of the Fortieth anniversary of the organization of the Church of the Nazarene as a Protestant denomination.

The union of separate groups from the West, the East, and the South, took place at Pilot Point, Texas, in 1908 under the leadership of Dr. P. F. Bresee of Los Angeles, Calif., Rev. Howard Hoople of New York City, and Rev. C. B. Jernigan of Texas.

Steady Progress Noted

At the time of the organization in 1908, there were 10,000 members scattered widely in 228 churches with a few missionaries in a half-dozen foreign areas. At that time, the Sunday school department had an enrollment slightly in excess of 6,000, and the total giving of the church was $140,000.

Today, 40 years later, the Church of the Nazarene has grown until its membership has reached 210,000, representing 3,350 churches in the United States, Canada and the British Isles, with 200 missionaries in 28 foreign areas. The Sunday school enrollment has advanced to 400,000 and the total giving for all purposes during 1947 was more than $44,000,000, making the per capita for the year $90.28.

The Church of the Nazarene, which maintains its International headquarters in Kansas City, Mo., supports six major colleges in the United States, one in Canada, and one in the British Isles and the Nazarene Theological seminary, graduate school for ministers and missionaries. In addition, "Showers of Blessings," radio voice for the Church of the Nazarene, is heard over 150 radio stations and by short wave around the world.

Organized In 1909

The local church of the Nazarene was organized in 1909, according to Rev. Albert F. Laing, pastor of the congregation, who has served in the Lubbock pastorate eight years.

A second Nazarene church was organized in Lubbock July 21, 1946. The church, Williams Memorial Church of the Nazarene, is located at the corner of Jefferson Ave., and North Fifth street, and was organized with 17 charter members by Rev. Laing, pastor of the First church.

The church's first building was erected on the back part of two lots in September of 1946, and now serves as a parsonage. In May, 1947, the first services were held in the present church structure. Rev. A. D. Lambert was first pastor, serving from July, 1946, until this past August. He supervised the building of both church and parsonage. The present pastor, Rev. J. Lewis Ingle, came to the church from Erick, Okla.

The summit of Mt. Washington in New Hampshire is 6,293 feet above sea level.
