Flag raisings, silent salutes, right words

We remember

By The Associated Press

In the year of the nation's Bicentennial, America paused today to remember the 700,000 people who died in its battles from Lexington and Concord to the streets of Saigon.

At Arlington National Cemetery, tourists assembled as the honor guard marched its slow steps in front of the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier. As with so many presidents before him, the schedule called for Gerald Ford to lay a wreath at that tomb today.

In his prepared remarks, Ford warned Americans not to repeat the errors of others by weakening in the pursuit of liberty.

"A nation born of a faith and carried forward by action requires from each of us a commitment to advance individual liberty and to maintain our guard against those who threaten our freedom," he said.

"Although we thank God that no Americans are dying in battle today, we must renew our resolve to use both our moral leadership and our material strength to keep the peace."

Around the county, there were ceremonies at other cemeteries — flag raisings, silent salutes and appropriate words. There were other, more private, remembrances — flowers and silent tears.

It was also a holiday, the windup of the three-day weekend traditionally celebrated as the opening of summer. Rain and cloudy weather across much of the nation kept some people at home, but the highway death toll stood at 308 at midmorning today.

The National Safety Council had predicted that 340 to 400 persons would die on the highways during the holiday. Last year, 425 traffic fatalities were reported.

A Memorial Day weekend tradition drew an estimated 400,000 people Sunday to the Indianapolis 500. They saw Johnny Rutherford win the rain-shortened auto race. Rutherford had traveled only 255 miles — 103 of a scheduled 200 laps — when the race was halted by rain.

Two hundred years ago today, a large British fleet approached Charleston, S.C. Another British ship was docked today in Jersey City, N.J., carrying an oversized replica of the Liberty Bell which Queen Elizabeth will present at ceremonies in Philadelphia on July 6.

Those ceremonies will celebrate the final result of the first war fought by a fledgling nation, a war that took 4,435 lives in battle. The War of 1812 added 2,200 names to the rolls; 1,700 died in the Mexican War of the 1840s; 273,000 on both sides in the Civil War, and 385 in the Spanish-American War.

In this century, 53,000 American men and women died in World War I, 291,000 in World War II, and 33,000 in Korea. One unidentified body from each of those three wars is buried at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier.

A similar crypt was built to receive the body of an unknown American killed in Vietnam. Fifty-six thousand Americans died there, but not one was brought home unidentified, and the tomb is empty.

Nine persons injured

Amtrak passenger train hits truck, jumps rail

JOSHUA, Tex. (AP)- A collision with a heavy truck caused an Amtrak passenger train, the Lone Star Limited, to jump the track Sunday. Nine persons were injured, none seriously.

There were about 60 persons aboard as the train, northbound from Houston to Chicago, hit a semi-tractor trailer rig carrying 20 tons of foundation steel at a crossing near here in North Central Texas. Joshua is 20 miles south of Fort Worth.

Both locomotives and six of the seven cars in the Limited left the rails but all remained upright.

Ambulances from Fort Worth and other points carried nine persons eight miles south to Johnson County Memorial Hospital in Cleburne, but attendants there said none was admitted.

An Amtrak spokesman in Washington, Brian Duff, said the southbound Lone Star Limited was waiting before the pileup for the northbound train to pass. Since the derailment blocked the track, the second train turned around to proceed toward Chicago with the northbound passengers. Those headed south finished their trips by bus.

'Without funds and without friends'

Martha Mitchell dies

NEW YORK (AP) — Martha Mitchell, a saucy defender of the Nixon administration who turned on it during the Watergate scandal, died today of a rare type of cancer of the bone marrow. She was 57.

Mrs. Mitchell, the estranged wife of former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell, had been admitted to Sloan-Kettering Memorial Cancer Center here Sunday.

Funeral arrangements were incomplete, but a spokesman for the Frank E. Campbell Funeral Chapel here said the funeral will be in Pine Bluff, Ark., her home town.

She had been under treatment for the disease, multiple myeloma, for several months, and was hospitalized after suffering heavy internal bleeding, her doctor said.

The physician, Dr. Klaus Mayer, said earlier in the evening that the former attorney general had been notified of the seriousness of her condition. The Mitchells separated in 1973.

A hospital spokesman said Mitchell did not visit the hospital.

She had been released from the hospital in January after treatment for the illness. On May 18, she was described in court papers as "desperately ill, without funds and without friends."

The papers were filed in her successful effort to win $36,000 in back alimony from her husband.

Mrs. Mitchell became so well-known as a caustically outspoken Cabinet wife during Richard M. Nixon's first presidential term that merely to say her first name evoked instant recognition.

"Give 'em hell, Martha," Nixon once said after one of her many extreme defenses of his policies.

Mrs. Mitchell, a small-town girl from Arkansas, was heard on everything: Vietnam, school busing, Supreme Court nominations, Communist China.

In an administration full of soft-spoken, diplomatic officials and their wives, she became the Harry Truman of the day, not waiting for reporters to call her, but waking a selected few at home late at night.

"I don't have any friends here (in Washington) but the press," she said in 1970 at the peak of her popularity. "They are the only people I really know. I get so lonesome I call my old friends in New York whenever I can."

Her husband, the former attorney general, was convicted Jan. 1, 1975, for his part in the Watergate cover-up.

Ex-race driver shootout victim

TERRE HAUTE, Ind. (AP) — Elmer George, 47, former Indianapolis 500 race driver and son-in-law of Indianapolis Motor Speedway president Anton "Tony" Hulman, was killed today in a shootout near Hulman's estate here, authorities said.

George was found dead at the residence of the caretaker of Hulman's estate, Vigo County Sheriff's deputies said. He had been shot five times with a rifle and fired at least two shots himself, police said.

The caretaker, Guy M. Trolinger, 34, was arrested on a preliminary charge of assault and battery with intent to kill, police said.

George was married to Hulman's only daughter, Mari, 18 years ago. The couple had four children. Mrs. George had filed for divorce on May 3, according to county court records. The divorce suit was pending at the time of George's death.

Says she feels fine after return

Ambassador's daughter ransomed for $408,000

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The Belgian ambassador's 16-year-old daughter, ransomed for $408,000, said she feels fine but during her four-day kidnaping "the feeling of being closed in bothered me."

Nadine Chaval was released late Saturday night by leftist guerrillas who took her from her father's limousine Tuesday as a chauffeur was driving her to school. The kidnapers apparently had planned to kidnap the ambassador, but he was not in the car that morning.

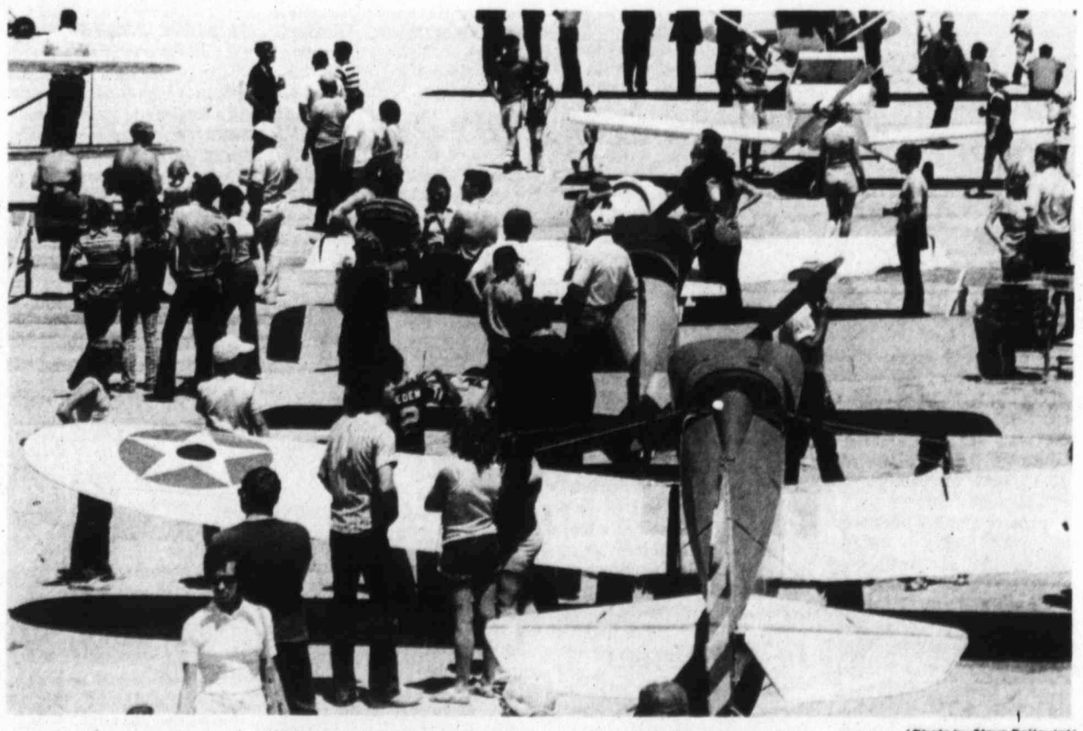

"Nadine Chaval is fine. She slept very well last night, and right now she's enjoying a glass of milk," said the girl, pretending to be an employe at the Embassy when a reporter called Sunday. After admitting her identity, she said of her ordeal:

"I got to eat and drink, and I was alright, but what got to me most was the feeling of being closed in there, in that place.... It was a medium-sized place, but the feeling of being closed in bothered me."

Ambassador Andre Chaval's doctor said Chaval had a nervous breakdown when his daughter was abducted and was still in bed Sunday, but the doctor said his condition was not serious.

The kidnapers said they were members of the 23rd of September Communist League, which the police blame for 20 assassinations and several bank robberies in the past four years. The police say the group has 40 to 60 hard-core members in their early 20s, including a dozen women.

The kidnapers at first demanded $800,000 but accepted $408,000 when Nadine's mother in a television broadcast said that was all they could raise in contributions from friends and organizations. It was not disclosed how the money was delivered to the guerrillas.

PLANE DISPLAY — In between sky contests and acts, spectators milled around the planes at Howard County Airport Sunday where the maximum number of aircraft were tied down on display for visitors to the show. There were a lot of different types of planes, most of which had bright and colorful paint jobs.

Focalpoint

Action/reaction: Who pays?

Q. I am the parent of a son who received a parchment from Cong. Omar Burleson on which was printed The American's Creed. My question is this: Who pays for these things, the taxpayers? It's apparent that every senior in a congressman's district gets one of these and that could amount to a lot of money.

A. Cong. Burleson was asked about this and offered this explanation: "You indicate that readers (mainly parents of graduating seniors) have inquired about communications to graduates, such as The American's Creed, and how they are budgeted. This type of communication is budgeted to a Constituent Communication's Account. This is one of the allowances which can be used for this purpose and is, of course, from public funds.... P.S. I would be interested to know the number of parents and their reaction to this gesture of sending our graduates The American's Creed."

Offbeat: Hit $17,031 jackpot

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Finally, after the couple fed an incredible number of nickels into a slot machine, four sevens came up on the center row and the machine kicked out $17,031.

Normally, that size payoff wouldn't be noteworthy. But Max Key and his wife worked for it. They plied the machine with coins round the clock, in 12-hour shifts — for 36 straight days.

For sheer perserverance, the Las Vegas couple must have the record. The Keys started on April 9 and hit on May 15, the MGM Grand Hotel said

There was no indication how many nickels the Keys put in the machine before the sevens came up, but the hotel said they hit several small jackpots along the way and wound up winners.

Paper cutting pilots entertain crowd here

By MARJ CARPENTER

The small plane climbed high while 1500 persons looked upward. Finally, it dropped out two rolls of toilet tissue and began see-sawing across the sky cutting the paper in half.

After eight swipes at the falling tissue which the plane successfully cut seven times, the tissue reached the 500 foot level where no more cuts were allowed.

The small plane, piloted by Marcus Bates of Odessa, landed so that another pilot could compete at the first annual Jaycee Air Show Sunday afternoon.

The crowd had already seen the best of the paper cutters, with the very first pilot. But the high score made the contest interesting as pilot after pilot did all kinds of didos trying to beat the magic figure seven. Any number of them came up with six.

The aerobatic team of Leonard Haack and Dan Burgess gave the crowd a lot of thrills with solo acts, a dual act and a surprise drunk act.

The air balloon, owned by Fred Stella of Midland, was on display but failed to go up due to a combination of heat and wind. The Civil Air Patrol reported to the hangars before dawn, actually camping out the night before in order to greet early arrivals at the show.

Their chaplain held an early morning prayer service for the pilots. The patrol was on hand during the day to help with registration and other duties while the Jaycee-Ettes manned the concession stand.

In pre-show activities, Johnny Rister piloted the plane that won the flour bombing when his 19-year-old son, Johnny chunked nearest the target with his bag of flour, coming within 40 inches of the oil drum. Both father and son are pilots.

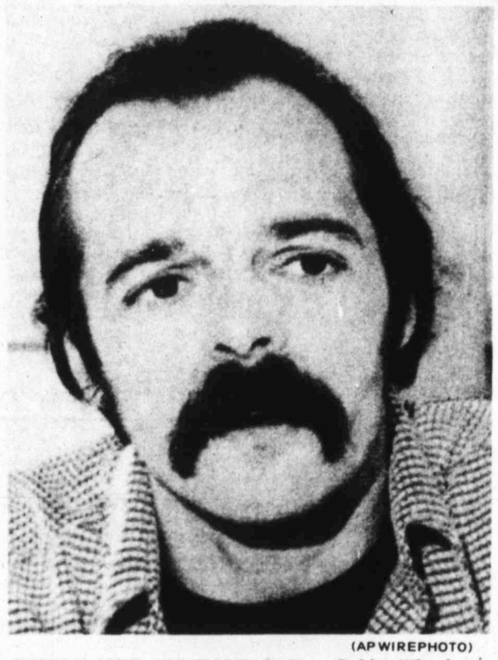

Pilots came from Midland, Odessa, Fort Stockton, Lubbock, Shallowater, Sweetwater, Andrews and San Antonio. Big Spring's Connie Edwards displayed the largest plane.

Among the group were such Air Show dignitaries as Dr. Bill McCullough, U.S. national judge and national champion in the sportsman event.

Neal Roberts, Jaycee president, expressed appreciation to those who helped with the show. "We were trying to get the area to know what an Air Show is with this first one," he stated. "We were very pleased with the number of planes and high class of pilots that came for the event and hope they will return."

Then he added, "Financially, I'm sure we'll go into the hole a little bit this first year, due to the high cost of obtaining a good aerobatic team and the cost of insurance and other items. But we are well pleased."

Ken Johnson, show chairman, added, "We accomplsihed our purpose. We attracted good pilots and a good crowd and have possibly caught the eye of the public. Air Shows are exciting and the air buffs who follow them are grand people."

Okie twister proves fatal

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — A tornado caused a fatal turnpike crash and an estimated 600 Tulsa families were forced from their homes by flash flooding as violent weather raked Northeast Oklahoma Sunday night, authorities said.

Turbulent weather also injured two persons, destroyed one home and damaged several residences and mobile homes in Broken Arrow, about five miles southeast of Tulsa.

The Oklahoma Highway Patrol said a 67-year-old California woman was killed when a twister dipped down on the Turner Turnpike in Creek County, lifted up a motor home and set it back down in the opposite lane of traffic.

The patrol said the dead woman was a passenger in the recreation vehicle. The driver of the motor home was injured.

Name of the dead woman was not learned at once.

Officials said about 400 mobile homes were flooded on Mingo Creek in far east Tulsa. An apartment complex several miles south of there was flooded on the first floor.

The east section of the large Ford Glass Co. plant between Tulsa and Broken Arrow caved in shortly before midnight. No injuries were reported.

Area hospitals reported only one injury because of the Tulsa flooding. Two victims of the Broken Arrow tornado were admitted at St. Francis Hospital in Tulsa with apparent minor injuries.

The tornado hit the Oak Creek section east of Broken Arrow about 9:30 p.m. about three hours after flooding occurred in the Tulsa area.

A highway patrol damage report listed one house destroyed, eight to 10 homes with moderate to heavy damage, 12 mobile homes damaged and one vehicle overturned.

Program is increased

HOUSTON — The Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo has announded a 50 per cent increase in its four-year college scholarship program.

Show President N. W. "Dick" Freeman reported the association would have 134 students on scholarship this fall. The scholarships, 93 of which are four-year, $4,000 awards, represent a commitment of $421,750.

Addressing the show's annual membership meeting in the Astrohall, Freeman said the increased scholarship program is needed to help meet the production demands being put upon American agriculture. He said the program's expansion was made possible by the show's continued success — a direct result of public support.

Freeman, re-elected president by the association's board of directors, reported the 1976 show had set records in nearly all categories. He cited the all-time attendance records: 451,510 for the rodeo and 695,230 for general attendance. Six world's record auction prices were established for champion animals in the junior show auctions.

Dr. R. C. Potts, associate dean of agriculture at Texas A&M University, and Ronald Lastovica, a sophomore scholarship student and class president at A&M, praised the association for its scholarship program and general support of the agricultural industry. Potts explained the importance of the show's research program — currently sponsoring 19 research grants at seven Texas universities.

Officials promised the 1977 show, Feb. 23 through March 6, will be even bigger and better. The association already has lined up 15 breed cattle sales, three horse sales and will host the National Brahman Show, the International Brangus Show and a Register of Merit Hereford Show.

Firms trying to tempt consumers with 'fads'

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

Manufacturers trying to tempt consumers with new foods and fads have come up with some unusual twists on familiar favorites.

Take the hot dog, for example. According to the American Meat Institute, manufacturers produced 1.6 billion pounds of federally inspected franks and wieners in 1975. On a per capita basis, assuming 10 hot dogs to the pound, that works out to 76 franks and weiners for every man, woman and child in the country.

For years, frankfurter manufacturers have been turning out five-inch hot dogs. Bakers, meanwhile, have been turning out six-inch rolls. No one is sure why.

Swift & Co. has decided to change all that. It's producing a premium-priced, seven-inch hot dog. Now the meat can stick out from the roll. "The first mouthful and the last mouthful is going to be meat," said a spokesman, explaining that children seem to like it that way.

There will be eight of the seven-inch hot dogs in a one-pound package — another move to match the bakers who usually put eight rolls in their packages while the meat processors have been marketing 10 franks to the pound.

A pound of long hot dogs, displayed at a recent convention of the Super Market Institute in Dallas, will cost about 10 cents more than a pound of short hot dogs. That's because of improved packaging and a "different formulation," said a Swift spokesman.

The content of both varieties will be basically the same — beef and pork — but the longer hot dog will have a "mild flavor" more popular with children, said the Swift spokesman.

Some people, of course, prefer their hot dogs on regular bread and there's another new product just for them. It's a kitchen utensil that slices a hot dog so it curls into a circle during cooking. You can put the finished product on a round bun or a square slice.

Also on display at the supermarket meeting was a hot dog made from turkey meat, billed as "the leaner wiener." It will sell for less than regular frankfurters and joins chicken and fish hot dogs already on the market.

There is nothing to prevent manufacturers from making hot dogs from just about any meat they want. There are restrictions, however, on what they can call their products and different names mean very different things.

As a result of a 1971 court ruling, manufacturers cannot refer to hot dogs as "pure," "100 per cent" or "all" if there are any additives, including seasoning. Starting July 1, the standard applies to other meat and poultry products as well.

U.S. Department of Agriculture regulations require that frankfurters contain no more than 30 per cent fat, 10 per cent added water and 2 per cent corn syrup by weight.

In addition, frankfurters which contain by-products such as lips, tongue and snout, must be clearly labeled as "frankfurter with by-products or variety meat" and may not include more than 15 per cent poultry meat. Other additions such as soy protein or dried milk also must be listed on the label.

Ron Rhodes prexy of UW

LAMESA — Ron Rhodes was elected president for this year's United Way campaign during a board meeting last week.

Rick Smith, general campaign chairman this year, was named vice president and Dale Newberry was re-elected treasurer.

Agency hearings have been scheduled for July 21. July 15 is the deadline for written requested financial information from participating agencies.

Junior workers to be greeted Orientation for all junior volunteers will be held at the Big Spring State Hospital at 9:30 a.m. Tuesday.

The volunteer work program is open to all young people who are at least 14 years of age. There are still openings left for the dozen positions available this summer.

The volunteers will meet with unit supervisors and be conducted on a tour of the hospital.

Actual work will begin Wednesday.

Blood donors are listed

When the red lights are flashing and the sirens are wailing, it is too late to give blood. The blood an injured person needs must already be on the hospital shelf, tested, processed and labeled.

But blood cannot be synthesized. It cannot be reproduced on a factory production line.

The only source of blood is the donor willing to give the "gift of life." At last week's regular donor day in Big Spring at the Community Blood Center, these people showed they cared:

Ann Patterson, Billy Jo Cox, Pauline Lancaster, Sherrill Easterling, Suzanne Blassingame and Terry Sims.

The ten donors from the previous week were:

Aubrey Finely, Penny Vinyard, Billie Smith, David Virden, Michael Prouse, Thomas Orenban, Rose Davis, Richard Carmichael, Mike Scarbrough and Wally Slate.

Apartment house hit by burglars again

Another burglary at the Coronado Apartment complex, 801 Marcy was reported Sunday.

Thomas F. Conway lost a coin collection to housebreakers who entered through an open window on the south side of his apartment. According to reports, the burglary took place sometime Friday or Saturday night.

Among the collection were 30 silver dollars, 50 Mercury head dimes, 10 Indian head nickels and a variety of other coins. Total value was estimated at $175.

This was the fifth burglary last week in the closely situated Coronado, Park Hill Terrace and Barcelona Apartments. Over the weekend, the offices of both the Barcelona and Park Hill Terrace complexes were ransacked. Ironically, a coin collection was also stolen from a resident of Barcelona Apartments earlier in the week.

In another burglary Saturday night, four TVs were stolen from Big Spring Television Service, 603 E. 3rd.

After kicking open the rear door to the business, burglars absconded with two color and two black and white televisions. Total value was estimated at $450. It is suspected that the crime occurred between 4 and 10 p.m. Saturday.

Burglars broke into the car of Rollo M. Casey, Howard House Motel, 400 E. 4th., and took two .22 cal. rifles Sunday.

According to reports, the burglary occurred between 8 and 8:30 p.m. Sunday. Value of the rifles was not estimated.

Also at the Howard House Motel, Officer Tony Lujan discovered a stolen car.

Noticing that the car did not have 1976 license plates, Lujan called in a description, Sunday, and learned that the auto had been reported stolen in Texarkana. The matter is now under investigation.

Victor Y. Garcia, 1406 Bluebird, reported that thieves removed an axle and two wheels from his trailer over the weekend.

The theft is thought to have taken place between 5:30 p.m. Saturday and 5:30 p.m. Sunday, while the trailer was parked on the North Service Road of IS 20. Value was estimated at $250.

A juvenile was arrested in City Park by Officer Ron Newby for carrying a prohibited weapon.

The juvenile was stopped, 11:30 p.m. Saturday, in connection with a fight that had occurred earlier in the park. Frisking the youth, Newby found a .25 cal. pistol in a right pants pocket.

Following a motorcycle accident Sunday, two Big Springers were treated and released from Malone and Hogan Hospital.

Charles Michael Bennett, 2705 Clanton, and a passenger, Richard James Fannin, 3905 Hamilton, were slightly injured when the cycle they were riding toppled over after striking a rock on City Park Road. The accident occurred 2:27 p.m. Sunday.

Several other mishaps were reported over the weekend:

9:59 p.m. Sunday, parking lot of the Shamrock Service Station, Hwy 87 South, Luis A. Alcantar, 819 W. 6th, and Carl J. Sandt, Sterling City Rt.

11:59 p.m. Sunday, parking lot of College Park Shopping Center, Asghar Bagheri, Webb AFB, Walter Burton, 3904 Hamilton.

5:34 p.m. Sunday, City Park, Shelly Patterson, 1200 Dixie, Victor D. Knoth, Sterling City Route.

10:33 p.m. Saturday, 3rd and Birdwell, Hershel Johnson, 1414 Tucson, Kim Denton, Sterling City Route.

Military

Money bill faces filibuster

WASHINGTON (AP) — When Congress returns from a long Memorial Day weekend, the focus of attention will be a multibillion-dollar military aid bill that faces a filibuster in the Senate over whether funds should go for some southern African nations.

The House returns to session on Tuesday while the Senate isn't scheduled back until Wednesday.

Both chambers have the arms aid measure on their schedules for Wednesday. The House expects to complete action on that day, but the Senate almost certainly will not because of the filibuster possibility.

The House version proposes funding of about $7 billion for two years, the Senate $6.7 billion.

The Senate bill, however, contains a controversial $25 million item related to commitments that Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger made during his recent African trip.

Opponents, contending the funds would compound the difficulties faced by the white-dominated government of Rhodesia, plan a floor fight.

Another controversial item facing prolonged Senate debate is a bill that would strengthen antitrust laws, give the Justice Department additional investigative powers, make it easier to block mergers and provide that states could file suits on behalf of consumers.

A cloture vote is scheduled for Thursday.

The House is scheduled to vote on a measure to extend the life of the Federal Energy Administration through September 1979. An amendment will be offered to let the agency die and distribute its functions to other government units.

Two ceremonial events will interrupt the legislative routine.

On Wednesday, King Juan Carlos I of Spain addresses a joint meeting of Congress. On Thursday, the Magna Carta document lent by Britain for the Bicentennial will formally be received from a British delegation and put on display.

The House ethics committee meets Wednesday to decide how to proceed on allegations that Rep. Wayne L. Hays, D-Ohio, put Elizabeth Ray on a committee payroll to provide him sexual favors rather than to work for the government.

Hays has admitted he had a "personal relationship" with Miss Ray but has insisted the employment was genuine. He and a group of 28 members have filed separate requests for an ethics committee investigation.

Grants available for some veterans

Certain seriously disabled veterans may be eligible for a little-known Veterans Administration grant of up to $25,000 for specially adapted "wheelchair homes," Jack Coker, VA Regional Office Director in Waco, has announced.

The grant can be applied toward a new home or used to remodel an existing dwelling, Coker said, or it can be used to help pay off the balance owing on a home the veteran has modified at his own expense.

Under the law, eligible veterans may receive a VA grant of not more than 50 per cent of the cost of a specially adapted home up to the maximum of $25,000.

Only those veterans are eligible who have suffered permanent and total service-connected disability due to the loss (or loss of use) of both legs; blindness, plus loss of use of one leg; or other injury which prevents them from moving from place to place without the aid of a wheelchair, braces, crutches or canes.

Disabled veterans should consult their nearest VA office for more detailed eligibility requirements, Coker cautioned.

The law governing the wheelchair homes specifies that the veteran must be able to afford purchase of the housing unit, with the grant assistance, and it must be medically feasible for the veteran to reside there.

To qualify for the grant, the housing unit must have at least two wheelchair ramps located so as to avoid fire hazards, doorways at least 36 inches wide, hallways of at least 48 inches width, specially equipped bathrooms, specially located electric switches and outlets, an automatic smoke detector, and other features.

VA specialists in the field are available to assist eligible veterans in such steps as choosing a suitable lot for the housing unit, obtaining the services of an architect, obtaining construction bids and arranging necessary financing.

Coker reminded interested veterans that some states provide special tax relief for owners of the so-called wheelchair home and that up to $30,000 life insurance is available to most veterans who receive the special housing grant to pay off the mortgage on such a home if the veteran died.

Dispute with Iceland

Britain orders ships out of cod waters

LONDON (AP) — Britain and Iceland have agreed in principle on a six-month truce in their cod war over Iceland's prohibition against foreign fishermen within 200 miles of her coast, Norwegian sources report.

British Foreign Secretary Anthony Crosland was to meet in Oslo today with Iceland's Foreign Minister Einar Agustsson and Fisheries Minister Matthias Bjarnason. A spokesman for the British Foreign Office said there was "a good prospect for agreement."

The Norwegian sources said 24 British trawlers would be allowed to fish to within 20 miles of the Icelandic coast in certain areas. The agreement would run until Nov. 30. Meanwhile, the two governments would negotiate for a longer-term agreement.

To improve the atmosphere for the meeting today, the British government ordered the six Royal Navy frigates and four civilian tugs that have been guarding British trawlers in the disputed waters to withdraw to just outside the 200-mile limit.

The British government also asked the 42 British trawlers in the area to stop fishing but told them to remain where they were.

British fishermen accused the government of selling them out, and left-wingers in the Icelandic parliament called for rejection of any agreement allowing any British fishing inside the 200-mile limit.

Some London papers pointed out that Britain is in a delicate position because of its own claim to the North Sea oil deposits off the east coast of Scotland.

Iceland unilaterally proclaimed the 200-mile limit last October, taking in waters where British trawlers have fished for generations. Iceland said the ban on foreign fishermen was necessary to preserve fish stocks vital for the island republic's economic survival.

Britain refused to recognize the new limit. Iceland broke off diplomatic relations in February after the British sent frigates to protect the trawlers from Icelandic gunboats cutting their nets.

Iceland also threatened to close the North Atlantic Treaty Organization's base at Keflavik, from which the United States and other allies monitor Soviet traffic in the North Atlantic.

Other NATO countries have been trying to get the two angry members of the alliance together. Crosland met informally last week with Prime Minister Geir Hallgrimsson of Iceland and his foreign minister during the NATO ministerial meeting in Oslo.

Consider authorizing the First National Bank, Stanton, to withdraw securities in the "joint safekeeping account."

Talk with Herb Sorley of the Jaycees about municipal improvement projects.

And open bids for "U. R. lots."

The council will convene at 7:30 p.m. both days.

Sports figures raise money

CHICAGO (AP) — World heavyweight boxing champ Muhammad Ali headed a list of entertainers and sports figures who gathered for an 85th birthday benefit to raise funds to pay hospital bills for veteran black entertainer Stepin Fetchit.

Fetchit, still hospitalized from a stroke that paralyzed his right arm, made his first public appearance at the benefit Sunday night since suffering the stroke April 21.

Among those who joined Ali were actor and Broadway star Ben Vereen, comedian Henny Youngman and Bob Love, a forward for the Chicago Bulls of the National Basketball Association.

Fetchit, whose real name is Theodore Lincoln Perry, starred in 26 films between 1929 and 1935. Officials at Michael Reese Hospital said Sunday he is in fair condition and is "improving."

United Stated handed double UNCTAD defeat

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — The fourth United Nations Conference on Trade and Development (UNCTAD) ended early today with a double defeat for the United States and agreements for numerous investigations and negotiations to improve the economic situation of the Third World.

After a month of debate and negotations, the conference:

—Rejected Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger's proposal for an international resources bank by a vote of 33-31 with 44 abstentions and 45 absent.

—Authorized negotiations to begin by next March to establish a $6 billion common fund to finance price-stabilizing stockpiles of 10 essential raw materials. The United States and other industrial nations oppose the plan.

—Urged quick and favorable review by lending nations of the debts of some 20 very poor countries facing bankruptcy. The rich nations said they would consider over-all guidelines for debt talk but rejected a Third World proposal for a global conference to arrange debt cancelations and deferments.

—Authorized further studies of ways to smooth inflationary cycles, adjust currency exchange rates and stimulate trade and aid.

—Called for patent reforms and technology centers to help the underdeveloped nations, tariff concessions to poor nations and stiff controls on operations of multinational companies in Third World countries.

'I am so achingly sad'

White marble cross bears name of reporter's brother

By AL DIEFFENBACH
The Seattle Times

MARGRATEN, The Netherlands (AP) — It is a sobering experience to stand among 8,301 headstones of men who died in World War II. Especially sobering when one white marble cross bears the family name: "Rudolph A. Dieffenbach, Sgt. 16 Inf., 1 Div., New Jersey, Mar 30, 1945."

Hello again, big Brother Rudy.

It's been 34 years since you went to war. You were killed 40 days before the war in Europe ended, and I know inside me that it broke Mother's heart. She died months later at age 53.

I am so achingly sad, so impressed and so proud that I HAVE to let the tears fall on the impeccable lawn of the burial area, a hauntingly beautiful place, but too little for the sacrifices that were the price of admission.

"In memory of the valor and the sacrifices which hallow this soil," are words chiseled among the inscriptions on the wall of the Margraten memorial tower and chapel.

It must have taken valor, and dedication and forbearance to travel as a warrior, oldest of seven children, from North Africa to Sicily, to D-Day, through Normandy and across the Rhine as a member of the 1st Division, America's famous "Big Red 1."

The aide in the visitors' building, a 24-year Army veteran himself, pulled an old sheet of green record paper from a file cabinet:

"Infantry. Purple heart. Battle field promotion. Bazooka man. Machine-gun squad leader. Oak Leaf Cluster ..."

For my big brother, six years older? For a guy who wasn't a star athlete, nor very big, nor a street fighter? Who never liked guns? Who would rather have worked on an old automobile? Who was an apprentice with a lower New York printing firm?

Two years after you left, I was delivering telegrams for Western Union. Lots had a purple star, signifying that somebody's brother, or son, or husband, or father was wounded or missing. Fewer, but still too many, had two stars. The message inside was "killed in action."

The first one we got had one star. The second lay unopened for four hours on the mantelpiece until Daddy came home from work and Mother's fears were borne out.

Forty days before the end of the war in Europe. Two and a half years after induction, with never an hour's visit home in between. During actions described as "merely mopping-up operations" as the shattered German army fled eastward.

The fateful action, the cemetery aide said, was near the village of Mengeringhausen, across the Rhine, pretty close to Essen, Germany, from where, we were told, our paternal grandfather had come.

It was beginning to rain, and I had been there long enough, drenched in emotion, humility and pride, and angry at my loss and at the ultimacy of the price that you and your comrades paid.

Many still remember, and are more sad than angry now. But mankind in general has a poor memory and a monstrous selfishness that will not yet allow it, like you, to rest in peace.

Keeping costs within range

A house that costs $36,400 today may cost as much as $62,500 in 1985.

But don't worry. The family with an income of $14,916 today will be grossing $36,400 in 1985.

JEFF BROWN

SO EVEN THOUGH the cost of housing may double in the next 10 years, incomes will too, keeping the one-family home within the range of Texas families.

These figures come from the Texas Real Estate Research Center, and they represent what is probably the best guess on the future of real estate in Texas.

The research center prepared a report for the Texas Association of Realtors Long-Range Planning Committee, chaired by Big Spring Realtor Jeff Brown.

Brown said the planning committee assembled 25 questions about the future of real estate for the research center to investigate. These questions ranged from the population in Texas to the future of condominiums by 1985.

The research center answered the Realtors' questions in a report dated April 3. It contains some interesting points:

—Population in Texas will be at 14.1 million, an increase of three million or 20.7 per cent above 1970. The Houston and Dallas areas will grow 38 and 36 per cents respectively, but the report also predicts a 32.9 per cent growth rate for the Permian Basin, of which Big Spring is a part.

—The number of single family housing units will go from 3.1 million in 1970 to a figure somewhere between 3.8 and 4.5 million in 1975. Apartment units will cimb from .6 million to somewhere between 1.2 and 1.3 million units.

—With inflation driving home prices up at an annual rate of 18.8 since 1972, the research center assumed quite safely that prices will continue to rise. An 8 per cent annual figure was used. The average price of a home from 1968 to 1975 in Dallas went up 7.2 per cent a year, while in Houston this figure was 10.9 per cent. Using an 8 per cent inflation rate, a 1985 home will cost perhaps 80 per cent more than its 1975 level. However, the center, predicted that smaller families will hasten the trend to smaller homes and lessen this somewhat.

—DESPITE INFLATION, the average family will have a 2.67 per cent increase in real income. If a family can afford to pay only twice its annual gross income to purchase a home and if the medium family income is $36,400 this family can afford a $72,800 home, or almost $10,000 more than today's $36,400 home is estimated to cost in 1985.

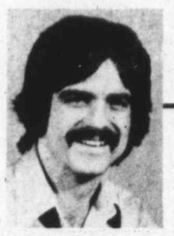

—The price of farm and ranch land is expected to continue going up by 10 per cent each year. The average acre will cost $850 in 1985.

— The average size of a new home will drop from 1650 square feet in 1975 to 1,500 square feet in 1985 as Americans slowly learn to think smaller.

— Money will be available for mortgages, but probably at more than 10 per cent. More people will accept the variable rate mortgage where the interest is not fixed but rises and falls with the market.

The Texas Real Estate Research Center's report is basically an optimistic picture. It reflects an underlying assumption that this nation can learn to live with a fairly high annual inflation rate.

Not to win friends

Around the rim

Danny Reagan

See this page. It is an editorial page. It is mainly used in a newspaper for editorializing, giving one's opinion and breaking away from lead graph, meat graph and closing graph.

SEE J. TOM'S CORNER over there to my left. He uses that to give his thoughts on events that happen around him. See Robert Novak right underneath him. He gives his views on political issues. And Dr. Thosteson down there in the middle of the page, he tells you what he thinks is the best way to handle athlete's feet, body odor or a host of other ills.

And the editorial cartoon right above him . . . the artist is merely drawing the world that he sees. Jack Anderson below me there . . . he sees the events of the world about him through sharp-focused glasses. Sometimes, letters to the editor appear, just people like you and me, blowing off steam and-or handing out plaudits as they see fit.

This is the page where the writers don't have to say who did what, what who said, and what became of whom. It is the page where most of the routine is left behind.

But you know an interesting fact, this is the page that the majority of the people react to adversely. (This of course, is my opinion.)

Letters to the editor seem to hit the most vulnerable spots, and the newspaper has nothing to do with the composition of them — no matter what some of the more paranoid of you may feel. Almost everyone can take a little criticism once in a while, but sometimes the authors of the letters strike some fairly low blows.

If some of the things I've read about other people had been written about me, I would be mad as where snowballs cannot exist. And believe me, there have been a number of people who would like to see the paper get the snowcone concession down there.

The paper is not to fault, though. What would you have us do, print only the epistles that smell like Estee' Lauder Body Satinee'? "You have to take the good with the bad." — W. Finley '07

I EMPATHIZE with the police. Boy, does everyone love them and appreciate their efforts when they are out stopping drunken drivers, breaking fights and arresting felons. But Ow! once they give you a ticket for speeding or running a red light, they suddenly turn into "pigs."

But the job of the police is not to make friends, it's to stop lawbreaking . . . and when you run a red light, as hard as it is to believe, you are breaking the law.

Well the paper's job is not to win friends either, it's to report the news and serve the people. Some of the services may make certain people mad from time to time, but that's the way the print fits. There now, aren't you ashamed of yourself?

One journalist some time ago said, "If you make people mad then you're doing your job." In a sense that's true and in a sense it's not. The key word is impartiality. If you report the news objectively and supply the people of the community impartially with items of interest that come across the desk, then someone is sure to get mad. That's life.

Most of us were meant for a love-hate relationship anyway, so if any of you out there get mad at me, good, that's your right, but I think it's fair to say that I start out trying to make no one mad . . . and on the other side of the coin, who needs everyone loving me anyway.

Is Carter stoppable?

Robert Novak

WASHINGTON — The mere fact that Joe Crangle, canny New York political pro, quietly took up residence in the Hay-Adams Hotel here on Monday — before Carter's very bad day Tuesday — reveals much about the aspirations he and other anti-Carterites still have for heading Carter off with Hubert H. Humphrey.

Carter's near-disaster in Tuesday's Michigan primary thus came as an unexpected lift for Crangle. He arrived here from Buffalo, where he is Democratic chairman of Erie County, armed with a plan to form an "independent committee" to promote Sen. Humphrey for the presidential nomination.

ON THE HEELS of Carter's razor-edge win over Rep. Morris Udall in Michigan, the state where Carter had everything on paper going his way, plus his smashing 12-point loss to Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. in Maryland, Joe Crangle's mission suddenly looked slightly less than impossible. Indeed, Carter's tumbles and near-tumbles in New York, Wisconsin, Connecticut, Nebraska, Michigan and Maryland have led some Democratic politicians to find incongruous — but dangerous — vulnerabilities in the former governor of Georgia.

On paper, Carter still seems all but unstoppable with at least 1,000 delegates before he even arrives at the Madison Square Garden convention. But on paper, backed by the powerful United Auto Workers, by the popular black Mayor Coleman Young of Detroit and by the party's most recent gubernatorial nominee, Carter seemed assured of a big win over Udall in Michigan. Politics is psychology as well as numbers, and Carter's poor showings Tuesday seem to prove, as one party official told us, "that a helluva lot of Democrats just don't want to vote for Jimmy Carter."

CRANGLE'S "independent committee" will probably be headed by Illinois Rep. Paul Simon, a longtime Humphrey booster. It will differ radically from an earlier version which Humphrey himself aborted on April 29, following Carter's impressive victory in Pennsylvania.

The new committee, which will permit legal fund-raising and formation of a Humphrey-for-President organization, will shun visible connection with the Senator's political base in Minnesota. It was that connection, Crangle and Simon believe, which enabled Humphrey to veto the post-Pennsylvania effort.

Indeed, Crangle, Simon and other stop-Carter Democratic leaders were livid over Humphrey's damaging decision to hold a massive press conference on April 29 to announce his refusal "to authorize any committee" to promote his candidacy. The statement along with its dramatic setting was such overkill that a pro-Humphrey letter to 17,000 party officeholders signed by Simon never even got mailed. Now a similar letter is in the works.

There is not a particle of doubt that Humphrey, who turns 65 next week, covets the nomination. Humphrey is bitter that Robert Strauss, Democratic national chairman, and other party big wheels, made clear after Pennsylvania that they felt Carter had the nomination locked up.

"Y'know sumpthin', fella . . . there just ain't room enough in this here calendar for the both of us!"

Baby's ears target of infection

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My son is 10 months old and has had four ear infections in five months, apparently from a cold and congestion from teething. He has been given antibiotics each time and I was told the infection had cleared up.

Why are the ears subject to repeated infection? Why isn't the medicine permanently curing the problem? — G. M. C.

Head colds often lead to ear infection in the first few years of life.

In infants the slant of the Eustachian tubes makes it easier for infection to get into the ears. Those are the tubes leading from the back of the throat to the ears. If the adenoids or tonsils become infected then ear infection becomes more likely.

Teething adds to the problem. An infant's "resistance" can be lower during this period because of loss of sleep and appetite.

Usually as the child gets older the problem goes away. If the infections continue to recur, become more serious, or linger, then the tonsils and adenoids must be looked at. Removal might be considered if they are greatly enlarged.

Antibiotics will have no effect on the cold virus itself. They will help control secondary infections which may result from all the congestion in the area. And they won't prevent recurrence of the colds.

Ear symptoms in infants always require prompt attention. Older youngsters are able to tell you where "it hurts." Infants resort to long crying session, usually with piercing shrieks and rubbing of the ears. Your pediatrician can prescribe mild ear drops for this. They shouldn't (repeat shouldn't) be used if there is discharge from the ears, however.

Often, a hearing loss follows such an infection, but it usually returns in a few days. Longer periods of loss should be investigated.

As long as your child's infections are being treated promptly I doubt you have anything to worry about.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What do the initials "E.S.R." mean on a medical report? Would "E.S.R. 10" be good or bad? — A. R.

It's shorthand for a certain blood test that helps a doctor measure how well an infection is clearing up.

The letters actually stand for "erythrocyte sedimentation rate." Erythrocytes (eth-RITH-ro-sites) are red blood cells. Sedimentation means a settling. The E.S.R. test tells how fast red blood cells settle down in a tube of whole blood, leaving the plasma at the top.

The "10" indicates that the cells settle downward at a rate of 10 millimeters an hour in the test you had. But there are different kinds of E.S.R. tests depending on the tube used.

In one method the high normal is 6.5 mm. Thus, the 10 would, of course be high. In another, where the high normal is 15 mm., 10 would be acceptable. The rate for women is normally higher.

The rate is higher with infection because the red cells clump together more readily and thus settle down more quickly.

The test is used most often to keep track of infections in long-lasting diseases. A single test usually doesn't mean too much.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: How can I gain weight without raising my cholesterol count? I am about 5-foot-6 and weigh 101 pounds. I'm down 15 pounds in the last year. I am 75 years old. — E. H. B.

At 75, you don't have to worry about cholesterol. If you have been dieting to avoid cholesterol that could account for your weight loss (because of a low fat intake).

Being sure you have good nourishment is more important at your age than the cholesterol. That reaches a peak at about 50 or 60, and tends to decrease after that.

Ink paintings

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — An exhibit of 37 Japanese ink paintings from American collections will be shown at The Art Museum, Princeton University, through June 13. The show brings together for the first time in this country a group of ink paintings dating from the 14th through the 16th centuries.

$4 billion treasury

Jack Anderson, Les Whitten

WASHINGTON — For more than 40 years, the Treasury Dept. has had its own private $4 billion kitty to spend for almost whatever it pleases.

This huge collection of cash, formally called the Exchange Stabilization Fund, is virtually free of the control that Congress is supposed to exercise over the government green.

From this exclusive hoard, money has been used to pay for a number of strange activities — from financing secret gold shipments to paying the salaries of four CIA agents detailed to the Treasury.

THE FUND was established by Congress in 1934 to stabilize the international value of the dollar, a function that has now been taken over largely by the Federal Reserve Bank in New York City. Yet the Treasury has continued to operate the fund, dishing out millions without clearing the expenditures with Congress.

A startled Rep. Sam Gibbons, D.-Fla., who heads a task force on tax expenditures, discovered the loose $4 billion in the Treasury's custody. He found, incredibly, that Treasury officials determine how the money will be spent and that only administrative expenses are subject to a General Accounting Office audit.

Part of the $4 billion is invested, with the resulting income going back into the fund. The net earnings during the 1974-75 period were $114 million.

It should be pointed out that the special fund is entirely legal. At least in general terms, Congress gave the Treasury Department approval to spend money from the fund for "currency stabilization" and "related activities." But this is tantamount to handing Treasury officials a blank check.

GIBBONS CONDUCTED an investigation to find out how the Treasury officials have been using the blank check. Here are the main findings:

—The fund is administered by a staff of 500, who are hired directly by the Treasury. A cool $10 million was used to pay their salaries, another $5 million for administrative expenses during fiscal 1975. By 1977, the Treasury estimates it will cost $20 million to pay all the expenses.

—Another $100,000 was earmarked in 1975 to pay the salaries of four CIA agents, who are supposed to advise the Secretary of the Treasury on "intelligence matters."

—Back in 1968, the fund financed the secret shipment of $750 million worth of gold from the United States and Canada to the Bank of England.

The staff spent over $1 million from the fund in 1975 to pay their travel expenses. During the same year, about $500,000 went to reimburse the Army and Air Force for hauling Treasury officials to overseas meetings.

—DURING 1974, $40,000 was paid to the Pentagon to inspect international conference sites to make sure it was safe for the Secretary of the Treasury to attend.

—A quiet $300 million "stabilization agreement" was reached with Mexico, an arrangement to supplement the funds the Mexican government receives from the International Monetary Fund.

Assistant Treasury Secretary Gerald L. Parsky assured our reporter, Julia Rose, that the Treasury keeps "maximum control" of the fund. The expenditures are audited by Treasury personnel outside the fund, an annual report is submitted to Congress and the books are "open" to the General Accounting Office, he said.

WASHINGTON WIREPULLING: Arthur Sampson, who ran the General Services Administration during the Nixon era, is relieved to get back in the business world.

"It feels good to get up in the morning, go to work and not have to read the Washington Post," he recently wrote to Commerce Secretary Elliot Richardson.

Sampson would rather not read this story, for example, about his attempt to use his Washington connections to secure federal financing for the San-Vel Concrete Corporation.

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: We all have problems, and we all try in one way or another to find solutions for them. Some say to let the problems "incubate" in the subconscious. Others say that God gave us the gift of reason, and that each person has the capacity to solve his own problems. What is your way? — F.H.J.

DEAR F.H.J.: With our work now represented on five continents, and with a continual financial need, we have many problems. There are some problems that come to us which, because of their complexity, have no human solution. When I confront one of these seemingly "insoluble" questions, I use our Lord's advice. "Ask, and it shall be given you; seek, and ye shall find; knock, and it shall be opened unto you" (Matthew 7:7). I find that the Lord never allows a problem for which He does not provide an answer.

Sometimes we are so overwhelmed by the problem itself that we lose the capacity to seek and find the solution He always gives. My advice is: When you have a problem that defies human solution, sit down, lie down, or kneel down, and say something like, "Dear Lord, this problem is beyond me. But I know it is not beyond you because you are all-wise. And I know you are as concerned as I about this problem (or maybe even more). So, I come asking you for a solution. Thank you in advance for giving it to me." Time after time the answer, and a good answer, will come. God has no problems, only plans.

The Bible says, "Casting all your care upon him, for he careth for you" (1 Peter 5:7). Try it! You'll find He really does.

Shelling in Beirut kills nearly 300 persons

Renegades attack two towns

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — President-elect Elias Sarkis arranged a temporary pause today in the shelling in Beirut. In northern Lebanon, a renegade Moslem army officer attacking two Christian towns gave them 24 hours to surrender unconditionally.

Police spokesmen estimated that nearly 300 persons were killed and nearly 700 wounded by shelling in Beirut in the past 48 hours. But they said the situation was "very much confused, and there is no way of arriving at accurate figures yet."

The death toll in the 14-month-old civil war is estimated now at 26,000.

Sarkis, contacting leaders of the warring Christian and Moslem militias to stop the shelling in Beirut, warned them: "Unless random shelling, food blockades and all other forms of fighting in the civil war are quickly stopped, Lebanon runs a real risk of being occupied."

Radio Damascus announced that Syrian President Hafez Assad discussed "future moves the people of Lebanon expect from Syria to end the crisis" with his defense minister, army chief of staff, air force commander and the head of the pro-Syrian Lebanese Baath Socialist party.

Christian leaders in the besieged north Lebanese towns of Qibyat and Andket, which have a population of 30,000, appealed to Assad "to intervene immediately to prevent our annihilation."

Tank and armored forces led by Moslem Maj. Ahmed Maameiry have been shelling the two towns for four days. Casualties are not known, but Christian sources said at least 190 houses were destroyed.

Maameiry, a renegade army officer, said he agreed to hold his fire at Syria's request to "arrange for a peaceful but unconditional surrender within 24 hours. Otherwise I shall take the towns by force."

Jumblatt joined other Lebanese and Palestinian leaders in condemning the attack, but Maameiry told reporters at his headquarters in north Lebanon: "I don't take orders from Jumblatt. I am doing the fighting on the ground, not him."

Beirut was rocked by continuous artillery duels and indiscriminate shelling Saturday night and Sunday following Christian shelling of a Palestinian refugee camp Saturday. Palestinian officials said 23 persons in the camp were killed and more than 100 were wounded.

Street combat and mortar exchanges raged all along the front line between the two halves of the city. More than 50 shells hit the Beirut airport, but flight operations continued.

The escalation of fighting around the country was another setback to Sarkis' attempts to set up a roundtable conference of the leaders of all the warring factions.

CLEVELAND (AP) — Comedian Bob Hope has been awarded an honorary doctor of humane letters degree from John Carroll University, the 34th honorary collegiate degree the entertainer has received.

Name is changed

ST. LOUIS — Stockholders of Mississippi River Corporation at the annual meeting have voted to change the company's name to "Missouri Pacific Corporation." The new name reflects the company's major commitment to the railroad industry through its principal subsidiary, the Missouri Pacific Railroad System.

Joseph H. Bascom, W. Ashley Gray Jr., Douglas Grymes and Downing B. Jenks were reelected as directors of the company for three-year terms. The remaining directors are in classes whose terms do not expire until 1977 and 1978.

The stockholders approved the previously announced offer to exchange newly issued shares of the company for the publicly held shares of Missouri Pacific Railroad Company, the Texas and Pacific Railway Company and Chicago and Eastern Illinois Railroad Company. The company's authorized common stock was increased to 20,000,000 shares.

The board of directors met after the annual meeting and declared the exchange offer effective on May 27, 1976. The exchange is scheduled to be completed June 25, 1976.

The regular quarterly dividend of 35 cents per share on the common stock was declared, payable June 30, 1976 to stockholders of record at the close of business on June 8, 1976.

D. B. Jenks was reelected chairman of the board and chief executive officer and Thomas H. O'Leary was reelected president.

Four Democrats huntin votes to help put them in White House

GOP presidential candidates plan relaxing day

By The Associated Press

Most of the nation, including the two Republican presidential candidates, planned a relaxing Memorial Day, but four Democratss sought votes they hope will help put them in the White House.

Front-runner Jimmy Carter, Idaho Sen. Frank Church and Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. of California all scheduled at least part of the day in Rhode Island, which along with South Dakota and Montana holds a primary Tuesday.

Rep. Morris K. Udall of Arizona, meanwhile, headed from South Dakota to New Jersey. That state, with California and Ohio, holds its primary June 8 in a series of contests that overshadows Tuesday's voting.

The Republicans, meanwhile, took it easy.

President Ford, who spent the weekend in Washington, planned to lay a wreath at Arlington National Cemetery today. The challenger, Ronald Reagan, remained at home in Southern California before resuming his quest on Tuesday for votes in the 167-delegate winner-take-all California Republican primary.

Ford leads the GOP delegate race 777-643 with 1,130 needed for the nomination. Vice President Nelson A. Rockefeller predicted Sunday that Ford will go to the party's convention in Kansas City with exactly 1,102 and win the nomination on the first ballot. Rockefeller said he had arrived at that specific figure with information from sources he did not divulge.

There are 56 Democratic delegates at stake in Tuesday's three primaries and 59 up for grabs on the Republican side. That compares to 540 Democratic delegates and 331 Republican ones on June 8.

Most of the campaigning last week was aimed at getting votes in the June 8 states. Democrats are interested in this week's race in Rhode Island, which pits Carter against Church and Brown.

Church beat Carter, the former Georgia governor, in Nebraska and Oregon, and Brown defeated him in Maryland. They're at the center of the stop-Carter movement, which has had some psychological impact, but hasn't really stopped the leader's accumulation of delegates. Carter now has 883 to 301.5 for Udall, his nearest competitor.

Carter picked up support Sunday from Edward F. Burke, cochairman of Hubert Humphrey's Rhode Island campaigns in 1968 and 1972 and head of the Minnesota senator's committee there this year. Burke said the stop-Carter movement "is the kind of negative politics that could spell disaster for the Democratic party in November."

Time Magazine, meanwhile, said Carter had been talking with Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace and that Wallace would release his delegates just before or just after voting on the first ballot at the Democratic convention. Wallace now has 169 delegates.

But spokesmen for Carter and Wallace denied the report. Carter's press secretary, Jody Powell, said Carter sought delegates only from candidates who had dropped from the race. And Wallace's press aide, Billy Joe Camp, said, "This is not the time to be thinking about that."

Wallace has maintained that, despite money problems, he will continue as a candidate to the convention in New York City.

Reagan, apparently convinced that he can spare the time from his campaign in California, has decided to spend next weekend seeking votes in the Ohio presidential primary election, his national campaign manager, John P. Sears, said today.

Sears said Reagan would go to Ohio in an effort to capitalize on support that "has been increasing steadily" in the campaign there.

In other political developments:

—Former Treasury Secretary and Texas Gov. John B. Connally said his name might come up as a potential vice presidential nominee if Ford believes he needs a candidate who could carry the South and Southwest.

—While the candidates still are working on this year's primaries, New Hampshire already has moved to protect its leadoff primary four years from now.

Gov. Meldrim Thomson signed a bill Sunday that says New Hampshire will hold its 1980 presidential primary one week before any other primary in the country.

New Hampshire has held the leadoff presidential primary each election year since its first primary in 1952.

—Supporters of U.S. Rep. Louis Stokes in Cleveland's 21st Congressional District were reported to be launching an effort against Carter.

Stokes is running a favorite son slate in his district and had asked other Democratic candidates to stay out. Carter is the only one who ignored the request and entered a slate in the 21st.

Early voting due to end

Tuesday is the last day Democrats may vote absentee in the county clerk's office in the runoff between candidates for two state offices.

The runoff election is slated Saturday for candidates for the Texas Railroad Commission and Texas Court of Criminal Appeals. Mailed absentee ballots will be counted if they arrive back at the office by 1 p.m. election day.

The county clerk's office is closed for Memorial Day.

Neglected wife has daytime liaisons

DEAR ABBY: I am not trying to justify my getting involved with another man, but maybe if you knew what my husband was like, you wouldn't blame me.

I have been married less than five years, and my husband stopped paying attention to me about two years ago. His whole life is sports and running with his unmarried pals. We have one preschool child.

I became so lonely and frustrated that I took up with a man I met while he was demonstrating something in a nearby shopping center (don't say where). Anyway, this new man in my life has been coming to my home during the daytime while my husband is at work, and I've never been happier!

He's single and wants me to leave my husband for him. Abby, I'm only 25 and have my whole life before me. What should I do?

CONSIDERING A CHANGE

DEAR CONSIDERING: First try to improve your marriage through professional counseling. The new man in your life may provide some temporary excitement, but all you really know about him is that he spends his afternoons with married women while their husbands work. Is THAT the kind of man you want for a husband? Think it over.

DEAR ABBY: Three cheers for the city of Duluth, Minn.!

Persons caught shoplifting used to be sentenced to clean the cages of the Duluth zoo. Last winter they started something new: Instead of cleaning cages, shoplifters were sentenced to 40 hours of shoveling snow outside the residences of elderly citizens and the infirm.

Now the city gets free labor by putting the law violators to work doing something useful.

DIZZY IZZY IN DULUTH

DEAR DIZZY: Great idea! And in the summer, let 'em rake leaves. (Personally I'd prefer shoveling and raking to cleaning cages in a zoo.)

DEAR ABBY: I work in a two-girl office with a woman who is very pleasant, but she talks too much. Every morning she regales me with stories about what her daughter's boyfriend said or the details concerning her husband's stop-smoking clinic. She talks endlessly about her relatives and neighbors I've never met, and it's all very boring.

I've tried to act interested, but I am bored stiff and resent being kept from my work. I work with figures, and it's not easy to concentrate when I'm interrupted by something she just thought of and has to tell me.

So, how do I get the idea across to her that she shouldn't talk so much? I'm not very good at telling people off.

NO TOWN, PLEASE

DEAR NO TOWN: You don't have to tell her OFF; just tell her that you feel guilty "chatting" when you're being paid to work, so to please save the conversation for before or after office hours. She'll get the message. And if she doesn't, keep repeating it until she does.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Melons sign of price fall

COLLEGE STATION — Texas-grown honeydew melons reflect increasing supplies and lower prices in grocery stores across the state — along with cantaloupe and watermelons.

A 50 per cent supply increase is predicted for the Texas honeydew melon crop this year — with prices on the Texas melons more attractive then on those from the West Coast, Mrs. Gwendolyne Clyatt reports.

"Consumers can recognize a mature, ripe honeydew by its creamy-white appearance and its pronounced honeydew aroma," she said.

Mrs. Clyatt is a consumer marketing information specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M uNiversity System.

Other economical fruit choices include strawberries, bananas, oranges, and pineapples, while "first-of-the-season" peaches are on the market with relatively high prices, the specialist added.

Vegetable supplies also show signs of increase as gardens and crops from local truck farms come into production, and if this trend continues prices will decrease as supplies increase, Mrs. Clyatt explained.

"Vegetables to consider are snap beans, carrots, cabbage and corn — along with cucumbers, yellow squash, dry yellow onions, radishes and green onions."

On the dairy scene, milk production is near its seasonal "peak," so consumer dollars used for milk and dairy products are "well spent," the specialist said.

"At beef counters, supplies continue 'large,' so it's a good time to buy extra family favorite cuts and freeze them for later.

"Specials, generally, appear on chuck roasts and steaks, round steaks, ground beef and liver."

At poultry counters, fryer chicken prices are about the same — to slightly higher.

"As predicted, prices will go higher with increased demand for family cookouts and picnics."

"Consider turkey parts as a budget stretcher, because the supply is adequate and often a featured item in markets," Mrs. Clyatt said.

Main-dish convenience foods are sometimes a lot more expensive than homemade versions.

Alcoholism reaction

Alcoholism among middle-class women is often a reaction to stressful family life, a physician reported recently at a meeting of the National Alcoholism Forum.

Dr. Albert N. Browne-Mayers, of the New York Hospital-Cornell Medical Center, White Plains, N.Y., said that family stresses such as marital disharmony, disappointment with husband or wife, divorce and conflicts with parents and children were the essential problems of 45 of 62 middle-class alcoholic women patients.

Other causes of stress he cited were isolation and loneliness, death of a loved one, aging, sexual conflicts, psychiatric and physical illness, and job problems.

Most of the patients ranged in age from 25 to 73, were well-educated, and married to high-powered business executives or to professionals.

Simple advice

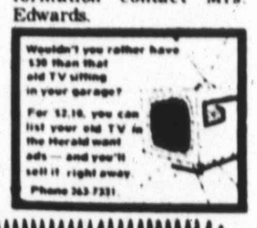

A simple formula for staying solvent was developed in the 18th century by Dr. Samuel Johnson. He said, "Whatever you have, spend less." He wasn't advocating a miserly life though, because he also advised, "It is better to live rich than to die rich," Mrs. Lillian Chenoweth, a family resource management specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System reports.

Council will sponsor September show

The Big Spring Council of Garden Clubs will sponsor a flower show Sept. 20-26 in conjunction with the Howard County Fair.

The show will be conducted in the HC fairbarn. Mrs. L. B. Edwards is general chairman of the show.

There are many divisions slated to be included in the show. Some of these are potted plants, hanging baskets, dish gardens and terraniums. There will also be artistic divisions. The horticulture division is open to the public. For more information contact Mrs. Edwards.

Sex scandal

Rep. Hays faces grand jury quiz

BELMONT, Ohio (AP) — Rep. Wayne Hays scheduled a round of Memorial Day appearances today in his eastern Ohio home district before returning to Washington, where he faces investigations of charges he put Elizabeth Ray on his congressional committee staff to be his mistress.

Hays spent Sunday relaxing at his big Red Gate farm with his 35-year-old wife, Pat, and was unavailable to reporters.

The 65-year-old Democratic congreesman has said his attorneys advised him not to make any public statements about the case.

The lawyers are gathering documentation to back up his contention that the buxom 33-year-old Miss Ray did clerical work on his House Administration Committee staff for her $14,000-a-year salary.

Hays has admitted a personal relationship with Miss Ray but denies she received her salary just to be his mistress.

A source close to a Justice Department inquiry in Washington said federal investigators have found enough evidence to consider asking Hays to testify before a grand jury. The source said the Justice Department has not decided yet whether to call Hays but added that Hays would be called only if he agreed to testify.

Sources say a federal grand jury already has begun hearing testimony to consider whether Hays' relationship with Miss Ray might have involved violation of federal laws covering conspiracies to defraud the government or to convert tax funds to personal use.

Miss Ray's attorney, Albert Ahern, said federal prosecutors have agreed to grant her immunity from prosecution "if she testifies truthfully" before the grand jury. The attorney said Miss Ray is in seclusion and has not yet appeared before the panel.

Miss Ray has told FBI agents she knows of six other women whose federal jobs involved providing sex to congressmen or their constituents, informed sources say. A friend of Miss Ray's says: "She's right.... The girl's telling the truth."

The sources said the six women are present or former employes of the government, most of them on House staffs.

Hays' appearances here, his first since the scandal broke a week ago, come one week before the Ohio primary in which the dean of the state's congressional delegation is expected to win by a landslide despite his public admission of the affair with Miss Ray.

Hays has only token opposition in the primary from a little-known Steubenville court bailiff, Nick Karnick, 56, who has unsuccessfully opposed Hays in primaries since 1968. Karnick's best showing has been 20 per cent of the vote in Hays' nine-county district.

10 inches of rain soak tulsa

By The Associated Press

There was severe weather during the night from the southern Plains into the Ohio valley as thunderstorms rolled eastward across the area, bringing tornadoes, high winds, hail and heavy rain.

Fourteen tornadoes were reported Sunday night, including eight in Texas, three in Oklahoma and one each in Illinois, Missouri and Nebraska.

Damaging winds hit Jonesboro and Wane in southern Illinois, Jackson in southeastern Missouri and Hereford in western Texas. Wind gusts to 70 miles per hour hit parts of Amarillo, Tex.

Heavy rain brought flash flooding to some urban areas in the storm area.

Parts of Tulsa, Okla., were believed to have had 10 or more inches of rainfall from thunderstorms Sunday evening.

Flash-flood warnings were issued for part of north-central Texas and a flash-flood watch was in effect in southeastern Kansas.

Bicentennial town crier

Cooperation is the name of the game in a celebration as concentrated as the Bicentennial weekend staged by our neighbors in Borden County. Co-chaired by Jim Burkett, county judge, and Ernest Kiker, county agent, the event included everything from soup to nuts. Dedicated helpers include Slick Sneed, parade chairman; Ralph Miller, Wild West Show; Bonnie Sneed, program chairman; Dorothy Dennis, arts and crafts and country store; and Sid Long, head of the parks committee that is planning a long-term project.

Sid is Ag teacher at Borden County High school and did most of the mobilizing of manpower (and girlpower) from the ranks of high school students. He also designed the attractive commemorative county medallions. Roland Key will be pressed into service when Sid moves to another position later in the year.

A tip of the hat to Wanda Smith, secretary to Jim Burkett, for keeping us informed, and congratulations to all the Borden County citizens who took part. Involvement was clearly widespread!

***

Hold on to your hats! Frank Wentz has announced a special feature of the Starlight Specials Gospel Sing. To commemorate the 200th birthday of the U.S., a mass choir will be formed consisting of all performing church groups in the show. The Bicentennial Gospel Singers will be under the direction of Wentz, and will also be open to singers who are not affiliated with any church group. Interested singers can call him at 263-6285 or 263-7641 for rehearsal information. In addition to the Bicentennial Gospel Singers, ten choirs will be spotlighted singing hymns of our heritage, interspersed with audience participation. General chairman of the week of events is Joe Dunn.

***

They're making them smarter these days! A pleasant half hour in the classroom of Mrs. Charlotte Irwin impressed us with her English students' ability. Bicentennial workbooks were kept throughout the school year and we spotted some that were outstanding. A red, white and blue salute to Desiree Wagner, Jan Holley, Tammy Lewis, and Sean Grathwol for their superior work!

***

Malcolm Patterson, parade chairman for this year's rodeo (June 23-26) is sending up a flare! Floats are needed for the parade — and those with a heritage theme would be especially welcome in this birthday year. Substantial prizes will be awarded, so call Malcolm at the Patterson Agency and enter your club's float.

***

Some things get done in spite of our ineptness! We are delighted with the copies of "Glimpses," a book of local history put together by the sophomore English students of Mrs. Elizabeth Johanson. The book is the result of three years of class efforts, and fulfills one of our ambitions: a book about Big Spring published in our Bicentennial year! Thanks, students, for doing what we couldn't seem to get done.

***

Letters, we get letters — and many are invitations to fun affairs. The latest two are to a Bicentennial Tea in honor of the Home Demonstration Women of Howard County, and to the Americanism program of the D.A.V. Auxiliary on June 7. We welcome the opportunities!

***

Richly deserved Bicentennial Commission Certificates were awarded to several school organizations at year-end assemblies. Again, we count the schools among our staunchest supporters!

Death toll from violence mounts slowly in Texas

By The Associated Press

Deaths from violent causes mounted slowly in Texas during the fore part of the extended Memorial Day weekend.

The Associated Press tally, started at 6 p.m. Friday, reached 26 early today, including 14 traffic fatalities. There also were five drownings, four homicides and one each for a horseback rider, a rodeo cowboy and a boating participant. The count continues until 12 a.m. Tuesday.

These were among the victims:

Gunfire which broke out during at argument at a bar shortly before midnight Sunday in Wichita Falls killed Abelardo Villa, 18, and Johnny Acosta, 21, both of Wichita Falls. Police said they sought a man believed to be a Mexican national who gassed his car and fled.

Errol J. White, 20, a rodeo cowboy from Liberty, died at a Beaumont hospital of injuries suffered when a bull gored him in a rodeo at the Big Three arena near China.

Tory Lynn Sessums, 18, drowned late Sunday in a stock tank near his home in Weatherford.

Margaret Thomason, 34, of Brownfield was kiled Sunday evening as two cars collided east of Post on U.S. 80. Her husband, Clinton J. Thomason, 33, suffered serious injuries and their three children minor injuries.

Janie Lucille Melton, 76, of Wichita Falls was killed in a four-car accident there Sunday. Three other persons suffered minor injuries.

A boating accident Sunday afternoon at Lake Travis near Austin claimed the life of Pat Kelley, 21. Witnesses said he fell off an inner tube while being towed by a boat and was struck by its propeller.

Wendell R. Rutledge, 22, of Beaumont died near the west edge of that city early Sunday when his car ran off a road into a fresh water canal.

Army Pvt. Gladys Martilla, 19, stationed at Ft. Sam Houston in San Antonio, died Saturday after being dragged by a runaway horse on a bridle path in Breckenridge Park.

James C. Gunter was killed late Saturday when his car ran off a road and crashed through a fence and overturned twice just south of Conway in Carson County.

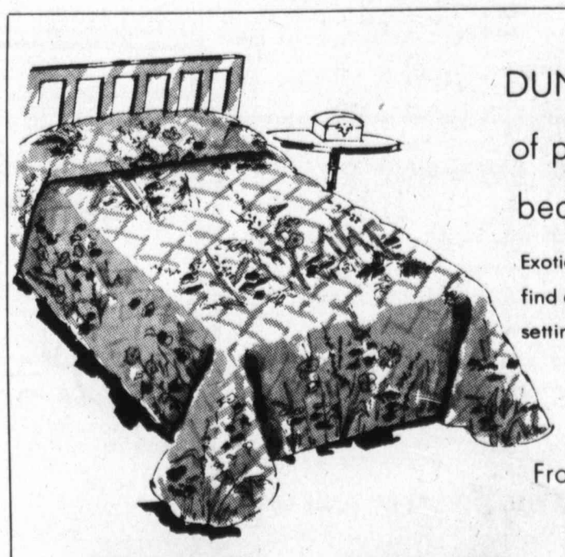

Two young brothers from Brownsville drowned while swimming on South Padre Island Saturday night. A Cameron County sheriff's deputy was summoned to the beach and found the body of Ruben Garza, 11. A few hundred yards away lay the body of Humberto Garza, 8. They were the sons of Maria Teresa Jackson.

Two persons died Sunday afternoon in a three-car pileup five miles west of Sabine Pass on Texas 87. They were identified as Joan K. Skillman, 25, of Webster and James Lloyd Lawson, 33, of Beaumont.

A man who attacked three persons, including two police officers, was shot to death Saturday near a Dallas hardware store. Police were summoned to the store by employes who believed the man was wanted for check forgery.

Indian 3rd-base coach Garcia, fires a Blank

By The Associated Press

For those of you who thought baseball was a game of inches, think again.

"I was kind of surprised when they sent him in. That's baseball, I guess ... a game of surprises," Milwaukee second baseman Tim Johnson said after his relay to the plate nailed Cleveland's Larvell Blanks trying to stretch his leadoff triple in the ninth inning and preserved the Brewers' 5-4 victory over the Indians.

"I was surprised because I was tired," Blanks said after third base coach Dave Garcia waved him home.

Gorman Thomas' two-run single in the eighth inning on the first pitch from reliever Stan Thomas put the Brewers in front after two-out singles by George Scott and Bill Sharp and a walk to Bob Hansen filled the bases.

Blanks opened the Indians' ninth with a triple and tried to score when the carom off the wall eluded left fielder Sharp.

"I made a mental error," said Coach Garcia. "I thought he could make it, but with no one out I should have held him at third. That's all I have to say, and I wish I didn't have to say it."

Yankees 4, Tigers 0

Detroit's Bill Laxton matched May's scoreless pitching until the Yankees scored all their runs in the sixth on a walk to Fred Stanley, Mickey Rivers' bunt single and consecutive home runs by Roy White and Thurman Munson.

Red Sox 3, Orioles 1

Rick Burleson accounted for Boston's first two runs in the fifth inning when he singled, stole second and came around on throwing errors by catcher Dave Duncan and center fielder Paul Blair. Then he drilled his third homer of the season in the seventh. The Red Sox picked up an insurance run in the eighth on Fred Lynn's single and Carl Yastremski's double.

Meanwhile, Rick Wise blanked the Orioles until Bobby Grich's ninth-inning homer.

Royals 3, Angels 2

Kansas City scored the winning run against Dick Drago in the 14th inning on a walk to Bob Stinson and singles by Cookie Rojas and Amos Otis. California starter Don Kirkwood carried a 1-0 lead into the eighth when an error by left fielder Joe Lahoud permitted the Royals to score two runs. The Angels tied it in the bottom of the eighth on singles by Jerry Remy, Bob Jones and Bruce Bochte.

White Sox 4, A's 3

Jack Brohamer doubled to score Chet Lemon with two out in the 12th after Lemon drew a walk from Oakland relief ace Rollie Fingers and stole second. Jorge Orta homered for Chicago, Billy Williams for the A's.

THE WINNER AND NUMBER TWO — Johnny Rutherford, right, and A. J. Foyt chat during rain-delay in Sunday's Indianapolis 500-mile race. Rutherford was later declared the winner when the rain continued, and it became apparent the race could not be resumed. A. J. Foyt was second. Only 102 laps were completed in the 500-mile Memorial Day classic.

Maltbie's 'miracle'

Memorial finish

DUBLIN, Ohio (AP) — Roger Maltbie's approach was a once-in-a-lifetime.

His four-iron hooked left, struck a gallery post and caromed back on the green 20 feet from the hole, the third in a tense playoff duel Sunday with Hale Irwin. The dramatic turnaround enabled him to match Irwin's par four.

"Imagine," marveled Maltbie, "think of the size of that pole from 170 yards. It was destiny."

One hole later, the carefree 25-year-old bachelor sank an 18-foot birdie putt for the $40,000 first prize in Jack Nicklaus' inaugural $200,000 Memorial Golf Tournament.

A shaken Irwin, who won $22,800, was bitter. "It looked like I had a chance to win when his ball was in the air. It was dead. He would have had a difficult time making par.

"I laugh now. I'll cry later. It's unbelievable the way things can turn around," added the 1974 U.S. Open champion.

Irwin conceded Maltbie's luck may have had an effect on the decisive next hole, the difficult 437-yard 18th. Irwin's tee shot was next to a tree, his second in deep rough, his third in a bunker and his fourth 12 feet past the hole.

Maybe history was in Maltbie's favor, considering the Memorial backers were honoring the late Bobby Jones in the inaugural event. Jones skimmed a shot off a lily pad on his way to the Grand Slam in 1930. 3

Irwin closed with a three-under-par 69 to Maltbie's 76. Their par 288s over the tree-lined, lake-studded 7,072 yards of Muirfield Village were, by seven shots, the highest totals of this season.

ROGER MALTBIE

It was destiny

Actually Maltbie, the 1975 Rookie of the Year, was the only man in the invitational field of nearly 100 to dip under par on the two-year-old monster. And you have to count his two birdies in the four extra holes to accomplish that.

The game's greatest shotmakers struggled to 126 double bogeys in the last two rounds. "It's the first time I can remember over half of the field failing to break 300," said Dom Mirandi, the tour's official scorer for 13 years.

Jack Nicklaus, despite a 292 that left him in an eighth-place tie, was proud of his creation. "This was better than any I have won," said the champion of an unprecedented 16 majors.

Don Bies, the first-round leader, lipped a birdie putt that would have made it a three-way playoff. Instead, Bies' 75 gave him third place at 289.

Jerry Pate and Jerry McGee tied for fourth, Pate shooting 73 and McGee 74 on the warm, partly cloudy day. Lou Graham, the U.S. Open champion, shared sixth with Tom Kite. Graham matched par of 72. Kite had 73.

Rod Funseth and Nicklaus were next, Funseth finishing with a 77.

Pearson eats crow for victory feast

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — David Pearson, winner of the $249,155 World 600 stock car race, ate some crow Sunday after Janet Guthrie finished 15th in the grueling 600-mile race which attracted a record 103,000 spectators.

"I think she suprised everybody," said the smiling Mercury driver who had just beaten Richard Petty's Dodge as the 17th annual race ended under caution. Pearson said Tuesday he didn't think she would make the 40-car field.

Miss Guthrie, who started 27th, finished 21 laps behind Pearson and completed 379 of the 400-lap event to win $3,555 at the 1.5-mile Charlotte Motor Speedway.

Reporters in the press box also voted her winner of the Curtis Turner Memorial Driver Achievement Award.

"I felt like she wouldn't last 600 miles. She suprised me the way she was driving all week," Pearson said of the 38-year-old New York physicist, who failed to qualify for the Indianapolis 500 a week ago because of engine problems.

Early leader Cale Yarborough finished third in a Chevrolet, one lap behind Pearson and Petty. Bobby Allison's Mercury was fourth and the Chevrolet of Benny Parsons was fifth, two laps down.

"I knew I could go all the way somewhere after two and a half to three hours," said Miss Guthrie, praising Ralph Moody, who prepared her Chevrolet, Cale Yarborough, Donnie Allison and other drivers who helped her during the week.

"My strategy was to run as hard as I could as traffic permitted, and I think I did that fairly well," she said, adding that the 130-degree temperature of the track didn't bother her very much.

Admitting it wasn't "very diplomatic," she said she would have rather been in the Indy 500 because of the prestige. She said she had no plans to run another Grand National race, but would like to.

Pearson, who has won five races in nine starts this season, pocketed the second highest payoff in NASCAR history — $49,990, including $12,000 in lap money and $11,000 for winning the pole position. Petty won $22,465 and Yarborough took home $19,220.

Foyt, mores the pit(y)

Rutherford has timing

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)- "If you hang around long enough, things eventually come back your way," said Johnny Rutherford. But A.J. Foyt must be starting to wonder.

Rutherford, washed out of a shot at a second straight Indianapolis 500 triumph last year, was swept into victory Sunday by the same kind of Midwestern thunderstorm that had left him swimming in second place in 1975.

And Foyt, a veteran of 19 of these Memorial Day classics, came up short once again in his bid for an unprecedented fourth Indy championship.

Last year, Rutherford made an untimely pit stop that dropped him behind winner Bobby Unser. It happened only minutes before rain swept the sprawling Indianapolis Motor Speedway and turned the Indy 500 into the Indy 435.

This time, it was Foyt who choose to pull into the pits at the wrong time. After going nose-to-nose with Rutherford through the 78th lap, he pulled in for a tire change during the 79th. By the time he came out, he was a full 36 seconds behind Rutherford.

Standing on the pedal all the way, he shaved that margin to only a few seconds. Then the rains came.

And when they did, this Indy 500 was marked down to a bargain-basement figure. It was the Indy 255, a 102-lap race that made it the shortest in the 60-year history this spectacle has been held.

"There's a hell of lot of ways to lose a race," Foyt fumed as he stomped through the puddles of Gasoline Alley, "and I've dammed near found just about all of them."

Rutherford acknowledged that as the clouds swooped in and darkened the skies, he was determined not to make the same mistake he had made a year ago.

"I saw the rain was coming and decided to hang on as long as I could so I'd be ahead if the race had to be stopped," he said. "I was very conscious of the fact that we were just about passing the halfway point and it was about to become an official race. I remembered what I did last year and I guess I sort of said to myself, 'Not this time.'".

So Rutherford, who disdained a fifth pit stop while Foyt took his, held on to win by a slim 15 seconds over A.J. with an average speed of 148.724 miles per hour. Foyt was clocked at barely one-half a mile per hour slower — and when the official winnings are announced tonight, it will probably leave him about $100,000 poorer than he might have been if he'd kept up that wheel-to-wheel duel with Rutherford.

Foyt said more than just bad timing contributed to his defeat. He accused Rutherford of improperly widening his lead during the yellow caution flag that preceeded the rain delay.

Foyt said he was running second by a couple of seconds, a lot fewer than the final 15-second margin. "Rutherford and I are friends," Foyt said, "but right is right and wrong is wrong."

Texas wind calms down the Sooners

ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP) — It was an ill wind that did Oklahoma no good Sunday night.

Leading 5-3 in the top of the eighth inning and well on its way to the College Baseball World Series, winds gusting to 40 miles an hour hit Arlington Stadium.

About that time Texas' Mickey Reichenbach strolled to the plate and hit one of the longest home runs ever seen in the stadium. It carried well over 400 feet into the center field seats and with a mate aboard tied the game 5-5.

Then the rains struck in the top of the ninth inning and the games was suspended until this afternoon.

Oklahoma needs only to win the suspended game to advance to NCAA championship series in Omaha, Neb. However, should Texas take the suspended game then the Longhorns and Sooners will play a second game at 7:30 p.m. for the NCAA South Central Regional title.

The Sooners have already beaten Texas once, 3-2, in the double elimination tournament and it appeared they were going to oust the defending national champions Sunday night.

Three times Oklahoma jumped into the lead only to see Texas rally to knot the game each time.

Roger LaFrancoin stole home at the tag end of a double steal to put Oklahoma ahead 1-0 in the third but Texas tied it on Rocky Thompson's run-scoring double in the fifth inning.

Oklahoma tagged 'Horn starter Tony Brizzelara in the sixth inning on Kelly Raider's towering two-run homer over the right field wall.

Texas rallied again to Sooner starter Gary Brackeen to the showers in the seventh inning. Catcher Doug Duncan homered and Thompson delivered with yet another run-scoring double.

Twin Goltz talks turkey, knocks Texas from roost

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (AP) — While Bert Blyleven is talking contract, teammate Dave Goltz is talking turkey and rapidly becoming the ace of the Minnesota Twins pitching staff.

Goltz knocked Texas out of a first-place tie with Kansas City in the American League West with a 5-1 victory over the Rangers Sunday—his fifth straight win since May 14. In addition, Goltz recorded his fifth consecutive complete game (Blyleven has three all year) and fanned a career-high nine hitters to run his season total to 51.

Meanwhile, Blyleven, who is playing out his option and reportedly asking for a four-year contract calling for $1.2 million, spent part of the day in the Twins clubhouse talking to Texas owner Brad Corbett and Rangers General Manager Danny O'Brien.

Lyman Bostock's triple scored Bobby Randall to tie the game in the seventh inning and Ranger relief ace Steve Foucault wild pitched Bostock home with the winning run.

"It was a two-strike pitch and I was just trying to get it on the outside corner," said Foucault, 4-2. "There is nothing I can do about it. Things like this happen in baseball."

Jeff Burroughs smashed his eighth homer of the year in the top of the sixth inning scoring Toby Harrah and giving the Rangers a 3-1 lead off Goltz, who lost twice in April. The RBI gave Burroughs a leagueleading 36.

"I'm learning to control the situation more," Goltz said. "And (Butch) Wynegar is real good behind the plate. He's a fast learner and knows what to call."

It was a single by the rookie Wynegar in the sixth that cut the Ranger advantage to 3-2.

"A broken bat hit," sighed Foucault, who came into the game with a 0.89 earned run average and left with it just under 2.00.

Carew singled in Minnesota's first run while Tom Grieve accounted for the initial Ranger run with a second inning single.

Ranger starter Gaylord Perry pitched five innings before leaving.

Behind the scenes, Minnesota owner Calvin Griffith said Blyleven may be too expensive for the Rangers.

"I gave them permission to talk with Blyleven, but I don't think they can't satisfy him either with the amount of money he's asking," Griffith said. "Their people told me he was a little too rich for their blood."

Astros rip Braves in record fashion

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Jerry DaVanon, a well-traveled utility infielder who has averaged under six runs batted in per season in the major leagues, almost hit his average in one game Sunday.

The 30-year-old Houston infielder drove in five runs with a pair of singles and a basesloaded triple to propel the Astros to a 16-5 victory over the Atlanta Braves in the nightcap of a doubleheader. Houston also won the opener 5-2 behind the strong relief pitching of Tom Griffin and Ken Forsch.

Houston unleashed a club record 25 hits in the nightcap, erasing the previous mark of 23 set against St. Louis in 1967.

DaVanon, who has been involved in eight club changes since he signed with St. Louis in 1966, had only two hits and one RBI before he got his first start of the season in the second game.

"That's the first time I've ever had five in the big leagues, but I did it several times in the minors," he said. "But that's not the same."

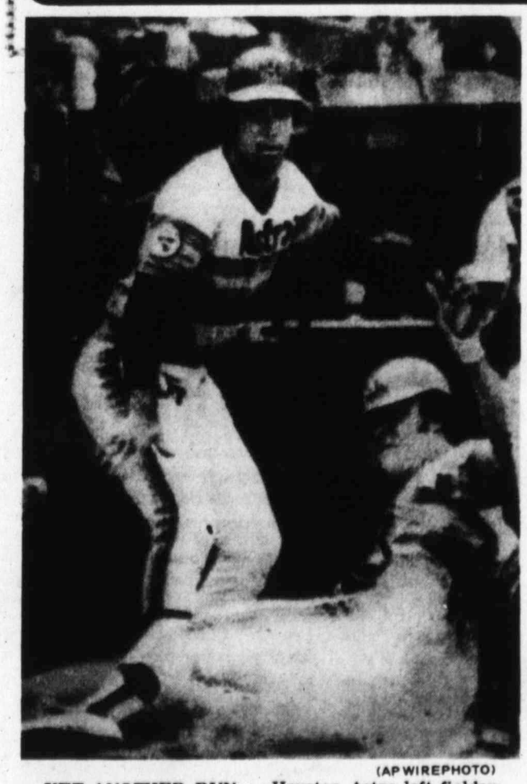

A sweep of the three-game set with the Braves enabled Houston to snap a six-game losing streak and return home to face Cincinnati with a 5-6 road trip record.

"It was just our day," said Astros Manager Bill Virdon. "It seemed like when they (Atlanta) did hit the ball, they hit it right at us."

The second game was never in doubt after Houston jumped on Roger Moret, 1-1, for five runs and six hits in the opening inning. The Astros added three more in the third, keyed by Cesar Cedeno's two-run single, just added to the slaughter with a four-run sixth, and closed it on DeVanon's bases-loaded triple to left center in the ninth.

The struggle came in the first game. Houston took a 3-0 lead off Andy Messersmith, 2-5, in the first inning but got only two unearned runs the rest of the way.

The two defeats left Atlanta with the worst record in the major leagues, 16-29.

Montreal popped off

Pop, pop, pop-Bam, Bowa

By The Associated Press

When Larry Bowa popped out, the Montreal Expos popped off.

"How many times are you going to pop out in a game?" they chided the Philadelphia Phillies' shortstop.

Bowa burned.

"I was just mad at myself for popping up," said Bowa, who did it three straight times.

Then came his sweet moment. With the bases loaded in the seventh inning, Bowa hit a line drive instead of a weak fly ball. The result was a three-run triple and the Phillies were on their way to a 7-1 victory Sunday.

Standing triumphantly on third base, Bowa glared into the abusive Montreal dugout.

"I told them that was their fourth popup," Bowa said, savoring his revenge. "I don't think it was the players who were needling me. It was the coaches."

Before he smashed his tie-breaking hit, Bowa didn't get any respect from Montreal reliever Dale Murray, either. He issued intentional walks to two batters to load the bases before facing the Philadelphia shortstop.

"The walks didn't bother me," Bowa said. "The popups did."

The hit helped unbeaten Jim Lonborg to his eighth victory this year and 10th straight dating back to last year.

JIM LONBORG

Records 8th win without a loss.

The victory was the third straight and 28th in 35 games for the hot National League East leaders.

The second-place Pittsburgh Pirates remained 6½ games behind the Phillies with a 4-2 decision over the Chicago Cubs.

Pirates 4, Cubs 2

Manny Sanguillen's tie-breaking single with two out in the seventh inning and a two-run flurry in the ninth gave Pittsburgh its victory over Chicago. Al Oliver opened the seventh with a single and two outs later, Bill Robinson singled Oliver to third before Sanguillen drilled his single to left field.

The Pirates added two runs in the ninth on singles by Bob Robertson and Richie Zisk, a sacrifice, an error and a pinch sacrifice fly by Tommy Helms. Jim Rooker, 6-1, scattered nine hits, including George Mitterwald's solo homer in the ninth.

Dodgers 6-2, Reds 5-7

Ron Cey belted five hits, including three doubles, and scored from first on Joe Ferguson's ninth-inning single to lift Los Angeles over Cincinnati in the first game.

The Reds won the nightcap as Tony Perez, Cesar Geronimo and Bill Plummer hit home runs for unbeaten rookie Santo Alcala. Alcala, 5-0, scattered five hits in six innings while giving up two runs, one unearned.

Cardinals 6, Mets 5

Don Kessinger drove in the tying run with a two-out single in St. Louis' three-run ninth and then delivered the winner with a sacrifice fly in the 11th, giving the Cardinals their triumph over New York.

4 Padres 4, Giants 3

Willis Davis singled home the winning run with two out in the 10th inning, giving San Diego its victory over San Francisco. The decision made Randy Jones baseball's first 10-game winner this year.

Pettigrew pulls away

As if the West Texas wind wasn't bad enough Webb Air Force Base's Tom Pettigrew threatens to blow the field away as he stormed through his home course with an electrifying 68 to give him a two-day total of 142 and a seven-stroke lead in the championship flight of the City Golf Tournament.

Pettigrew's 74 was low Saturday on the Country Club course so he has a chance to sweep the trio of local courses with a low round at Muny today in the tourney finale. However, even a so-so round should insure Pettigrew the championship.

FAIR OR FOUL? — Alvan Adams, Phoenix Suns' rookie of the year, makes a layup as the referee calls a foul during Sunday's National Basketball Association playoff game with the Boston Celtics in Phoenix. The Suns won, 105-98.

Celtics out-finessed

Sunday was Sun day

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — According to Phoenix's Alvan Adams, a mere babe in arms, the Suns rapidly are becoming a mature team. According to Boston Coach Tom Heinsohn, a veteran of the heated, tense world of pro basketball, the Suns "are getting away with murder."

Adams, a 21-year-old rookie, typified the Suns' maturity Sunday. He poured in 33 points, grabbed 14 rebounds and guided the young, inexperienced Phoenix team to a 105-98 victory over the Celtics in Game Three of the National Basketball Association's championship series.

The fiery Heinsohn, a former Celtics star and the team's coach for the past six years, was seething after the game, which pulled the Suns within 2-1 of the best-of-seven nationally televised series. His anger was directed at the Suns and officials Richie Powers and Paul Mihalak.

He charged that the Suns were "actors and not very good ones," and said the officials were "taking the press away from us.

"I got tired of seeing Westy (Paul Westphal) and Van (Dick Van Arsdale) falling down all the time," the angry Heinsohn said. "Every time we pressed them, they belted us with their elbows, then fell over. One time, Westy just bulled over Jimmy Ard and it was a foul on Ard."

Heinsohn said he felt the officials "overreacted" to a column by a Phoenix sports writer that said the Celtics had been overly aggressive in the first two games of the series — 98-87 and 105-90 Boston victories.

"I get tired of hearing that we beat people to death physically," said the infuriated Heinsohn. "That's an unfair criticism. We're not bully boys. We play aggressive basketball. We're a finesse team."

Defending champs eliminate Bobcats, Pecos in regionals

PECOS — Righthander Linvel Mosby struck out 22 batters in two games as Pecos beat Canyon 15-0 and 4-1 here Saturday for the bi-district baseball title.

Pecos, 18-13, advanced into the Class AAA regional baseball round against Brownfield from 3-AAA.

Earlier in the year, Pecos suffered two of its losses at the hands of the Big Spring baseball team. Pecos pitcher Mosby has only had three losses this season, again, two of them to the Big Spring squad.

SAN ANGELO — San Angelo Central's last-ditch rally fell short by the narrowest of margins Friday afternoon, as Duncanville's Panthers escaped with a 3-2 decision and the deciding contest in a Class 4A regional baseball series at San Angelo Stadium.

Harvey Reeves' Bobcats, picked sixth in the District 5-4A pre-season poll more than two months ago, extended their season an extra three weeks and six games before finally seeing a two-out, seventh inning rally end after the potential tying run had reached second.

The hosts' 21-7 season lived on "hustle" — and ended the same day as Jerry Barr was picked off second for the final out. After pushing in the second run of the game with a single, and moving up on another hit by Mitch Freeman, Barr got too far off the bag — and was a victim of a pickoff by relief hurler Keith Creel.

It was a case of the state's defending champions barely holding on for both wins. Duncanville won the Class 4A crown in 1976, and the Panthers now advance into regional competition with a 24-7 mark.

Odessa tennis champions for 2nd straight year

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. (AP) — Second-seeded Beeyong Sison paced Odessa, Tex., to its second straight National Junior College Athletic Association tennis championship in a tournament undecided until the final match.

Sison edged third-seeded Steve Rogul of Miami-Dade South, Fla., 6-2, 4-6, 7-6 (5-2), for the singles title Saturday to pull Odessa even with Jefferson State of Birmingham, Ala.

Sison then teamed with Perfecto Alina for a 6-4, 7-6 (5-4) victory over the top-seeded doubles team of Robert Cox and Ray Anders of Tyler, Tex.

Odessa, first with 25 points, was trailed in final standings by Jefferson with 24, Midland, Tex., 23; Miami Dade South 21; Tyler, Tex. and Central, Tex. 16 each; Palm Beach of Lakeland, Fla., Cowley County of Arkansas City, Kan., and Navarro of Corsicanna, Tex., 13 each; and Seminole of Sanford, Fla., 12.

"It's the first time I can remember the tournament coming down to the final match said Odessa Coach Virginia Brown, NJCAA coach of the year. "We played very well under pressure."

Alina was seeded first in singles and Sison second. Both Filipinos, they were seeded fourth as a doubles team.

"I'm surprised we won in straight sets," admitted Sison. "We lost three times this year to Midland, and these guys beat Midland.

"But the tournament was on the line for us, and I think that helped."

Alina won the singles crown last year and Sison teamed with Paul Fineman, now of Arizona State University, to win the doubles crown.

Kilowatts avoid Carriers

In a shocker, the Texas Electric Kilowatts of the Miss Softball America League inoculated the Carriers, 27-16, in a hitting spree.

Sherry Byrd was the winning pitcher and Sue Hodge was charged with the loss for the Carriers.

The Kilowatts had numerous hits. Arleda McClintock, hitting three for three, had one home run. Her teammate, Denise Smith, hit four for four. Sherry Byrd hit three for six, and Lisa Anguiano went four for four.

"Bruisin' Brynn" Ziman was injured in the first inning and had to be taken out of the game, but she still managed to score one run for the Kilowatts.

Christine Garcia and Sandy Puga had home runs for the Phillies, and Donna Anderson and Lori Calhoun had round-trippers for the Misfits.

NEWSPAPER CARRIERS... A TRADITION OF SERVICE

HE NEEDS TO BE PAID ON TIME, TOO
"PLEASE, PAY BEFORE THE 5th OF THE MONTH"
The young girls and boys who deliver your newspaper today are carrying on a fine tradition established more than 150 years ago during the days of the Penny Press. They are also learning to manage their own businesses in the tradition of free enterprise, a valuable experience for their future.
Your newspaper carrier is in business for himself. He buys his newspaper at wholesale and sells them at retail. The difference is his profit. He pays for his newspapers every month, so it's important that he collect from his customers each month.
Why not set aside his money so it will be ready when he calls! That way, it will be helpful to him and convenient for you.

CLASSIFIED ADS
THE PLACE TO LOOK

Your Daily HOROSCOPE
from the CARROLL RIGHTER INSTITUTE

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Improve conditions at your residence by showing more awareness of what your family would like you to do. Establish greater rapport and mutual understanding. Good for shopping for food, apparel.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Study new interest that has the germ of big success in it. Avoid one who gives you big trouble all the time.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Know what partners are expecting of you and try to please them more. Good day for having meetings with others.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Use your money wisely so you do not get any further into debt and clear up whatever accounts you can.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Put through plan to attain your aims more readily. Out to the social affairs that mean the most to you.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Consider what you want of a confidential nature and formulate a plan secretly that will soon bring you close to your gainful goals.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Look to some good friend who can help you gain a desire. Contact other friends also whom you haven't seen in a long while.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Get in touch with a bigwig you know and gain the support you need at this time. Get assets and disbursements well organized.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Find new right interests. Some new contact should be cultivated and made into a good friend. Show you understand this person.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Show more consideration for your mate for excellent response. Handle responsibilities well. Avoid one who is a troublemaker and gossipmonger.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Understand better how to cooperate more intelligently with associates. Solve that problem that arises with one who opposes you and use tact for best results.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Find a better system for handling your routines. Find the right clothing to impress others more favorably. Avoid a double-crosser.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) By going back to the amusements that were satisfactory in the past, you can have a delightful time now. Show mate more love.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY . . . he or she will quickly understand the ideas and actions of others, so slant the education along lines that will mean working with the masses, as in politics, organizational work, big business, personnel, etc. Make the environment and training such that the innate feeling of martyrdom will be dispelled early. Give good spiritual training.

Aware of the impact

with Marj Carpenter

Until March of this year, Big Spring had always taken Webb Air Force base more or less for granted. Oh, there had been many rumors for years that Webb would close, but the announcement that came in March appeared to be full of big sharp teeth.

It did one thing. It made Big Spring really aware of the impact of that base. Out at the farewell dinner for Col. and Mrs. Robert A. Owens Thursday night at the Big Spring Country Club, the Century Club really laid out the carpet.

Of course they always do upon the leaving of a base commander. Before there was a club, the base-community council did the honors.

However, the group out there had a lot of optimism about them Thursday night as they talked about what they would do at the next similar occasion "two years from now."

It was kind of heartening to hear, really. Jimmy Taylor, acting as the M.C. introduced the honored couple, along with Mrs. Harry Spannaus, wife of the incoming base commander; and a number of other military dignitaries — including Col. and Mrs. Robert Meisenheimer, Col. and Mrs. Roy Dayton, Col. and Mrs. Robert F. Brodman, Col. Selectees and their wives, Stanley Hanson and Jerry Grimes and Lt. Col. and Mrs. Don Tokar. Chaplain (Lt. Col.) Jimmie Baggett gave a special invocation.

If you know these people, they each have a personality of their own and when you read the list you can see their faces. If you don't know them, they're just a list, like any other list.

We ran lots of lists this week — lists of graduation, for instance. As the proof reader looked at the thankless job of proofing the spelling of all those names, she quipped, "Who in the world will read them?"

"Oh," I answered, "Parents, grandparents, neighbors, friends, acquaintances, and people who just want to see whose kid graduated."

But back to the military — Taylor quoted the late Bob Whipkey at that dinner saying, "The best part about having an Air Base in town is getting to know the folks who run it and the worst part is the sadness when you have to watch them go."

That is true. People who think of military simply as military and not people sure miss the old boat. People sometimes are inclined to do the same with law enforcement personnel. There are some folks who even refuse to think of coaches as people.

We're all people and fortunately for Big Spring, the average Big Springer has some friends from the base. It gives us all a broader outlook to know people from other parts of our country and from other countries.

It gives us a better feeling about military everywhere to know them personally. Big Spring is either lucky, or the majority of them are great.

Because, believe you me, this bunch out here right now are great.

Hail and farewell both. Sure hate to see Bob and Carvel leave. Sure glad Harry and Mary are taking over. They're colonels. And they're people. And they're great.

Sorry to get out of the pasture and out along the Webb fence, but I kind of felt like it — this week when I was ridin' fence.

Passengers angered over delays

Court impounds plane

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — A chartered airliner's passengers, angered by delays in a flight from London, went to court and got the World Airways DC8 jet impounded in Jackson.

A number of the flight's 248 passengers acted Sunday, a few hours after they landed, on behalf of themselves and their fellow passengers. They complained they were caught in the middle of a labor dispute that stretched their London-to-Jackson trip to nearly 24 hours.

The passengers said they would seek damages of $1,000 each, and they got a writ from the Rankin County Chancery Court to have the DC8 held for payment of any damages that are granted.

Lawyers said World Airways could retrieve its jet by submitting to jurisdiction of the chancery court.

The labor dispute was connected with a four-day-old strike by 750 union members against World Airways, which is based in Oakland, Calif., and specializes in charter flights.

The passengers, mostly from Mississippi, were on a nine-day visit to England when the strike began. The airline and unions agreed to allow the plane to return its passengers to Jackson.

However, passengers said union-management bickering forced them to sit for nearly five hours at the London airport and for more than two hours at Bangor, Maine, where they stopped to clear customs on the way home.

World Airways spokesmen said the delay at London came when the company tried to replace a union stewardess with a management official and the flight crew threatened to walk out. The stewardess stayed aboard.

The Bangor delay reportedly developed when several crewmen wanted to return to Oakland rather than take motel rooms in Jackson.

"It was a real strain on a lot of people," said W.F. Minor of Jackson, one of the passengers.

The passengers' complaint said that when the plane was in London, officials told the passengers at first that the delay resulted from problems in loading baggage.

"They kept us sitting on the ground for five hours, knowing all the while that what they later described as an industrial dispute was going on," Minor said.

"All of this resulted in a number of older people, including some heart patients, being kept on their feet or sitting immobile for several hours," he said.

"Toward the end of the flight, everybody was getting pretty edgy, wondering how tired the crew and pilots were," Minor said.

High Plains economy boosted by payments

County by county figures from the Texas state office of USDA's Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service reveal that $42,621,291 have been fed into the High Plains economy by the disaster provisions of the 1973 Farm Act, compensating farmers for weather-induced losses on 1975 crops.

The total includes payments to producers in the 25 Lubbock area counties represented by Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. PCG is the organization which in 1973 initiated and built support for a section in the farm law which would reimburse farmers for some of the losses resulting from unavoidable crop failures.

The disaster program authorizes payments to producers of cotton, wheat and feed grains when weather prevents them from planting crops or reduces yields to abnormally low levels. Payments in the 25 counties on 1974 crops came to $78,732,600, bringing the two-year total of the program to over $121 million.

A review of the benefits stemming from the program was prompted by a recent speech against disaster payments by Representative Paul Findley of Illinois, plus continuing opposition to the program from the current Administration in Washington. Congress was convinced of the need and put disaster protection into the current law over the strong objections of Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz, and USDA opposition has not abated.

The Administration now proposes to repeal the disaster section of the law, saying its functions can be replaced by the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation (FCIC), an approach which producers think is totally impractical.

PCG President W. B. Criswell of Idalou contends that today's high cost of producing agricultural commodities makes it imperative that farmers have the protection afforded by the disaster program.

A arm of Congress which studies such things, the General Accounting Office, recently reported that the Administration's plan to provide crop loss protection through FCIC instead of the disaster program has "considerable merit," but added it also has some "shortcomings."

These shortcomings, according to incomplete information on the report, include failure to allow reduced premium rates in high-risk growing areas such as the Plains and the lack of insurance coverage for farmers who are prevented from planting because of floods, droughts or other natural causes.

FLOAT EMPHASIZES LOVE OF FREEDOM

Two planning for meeting

The Big Spring Detoxification Center will be represented by two people at the annual Institute of Alcohol Studies in Austin June 6-9.

They are Mrs. Myrtle Tatum, executive director, and Leroy Richhart, assistant director.

Also expected to be present are Vic Rhoads, alcoholism coordinator for the Permian Basin Regional Planning Commission, (PBRPC) and Mrs. Loyce Chapman, administrative assistant for the PBRPC.

The institute is sponsored by the Texas Commission on Alcoholism in cooperation with the University of Texas Division of Extension.

Speakers will include Texas Attorney General John L. Hill, a medical psychology professor from the University of California at San Francisco and a representative of the Hogg Foundation of Mental Health.

Float constructed by Gail FFA Chapter

The Gail FFA Chapter participated in the Borden County Bicentennial activities this week by constructing this float emphasizing the love of freedom that all Americans possess. This love of freedom was responsible for the events that took place in the Alamo when Texans were fighting for their independence.

The float is attached to an 8-foot by 18-foot steel, four-wheel trailor that the Gail FFA Chapter built from an old car and scrap steel.

This picture and article supplements the picture and article that appeared in the Herald, May 23, which listed and portrayed several students on the project who were not members of the Gail FFA Chapter and did not work any on the float.

Golda Meir speaks out

NEW YORK (AP) — Former Prime Minister Golda Meir says Israel will not take part in any peace conference which includes the Palestine Liberation Organization.

Israel, she added, would be willing to meet in Geneva with American, Soviet, Egyptian, Syrian and Jordanian leaders.

John Banta sworn in

LAMESA — John Banta is the incoming president of the Dawson County Pioneers' Reunion Association, replacing Dewey Covington. New vice president is Roy Bearden.

Mrs. Blaine Wiggins is the new secretary and Mrs. Alton Addison, treasurer of the organization. The reunion next year will again be held on the traditional last Saturday in May in the Dawson County Community Building.

Mrs. W. M. (Emma) Norris, at 88 was presented a $25 savings bond as the oldest woman pioneer present and C. W. Duke Jr., 84, was the oldest man.

Mrs. Gladys Terral, who had lived in Dawson County since 1902, had made her home there the longest. Clyde Barron, also 84 and a few months younger than Duke, was from the largest family group represented at the celebration. Mrs. F. Tankersley had come from Washington State and had traveled the longest distance. Jeff Barron, at age 12, was named the youngest participant.

The Dawson County Pioneers' Quartet, including Owen Taylor, A. J. McDaniel, Tom Barron of Plains and Essie Moore of Austin, sang some of the old songs, accompanied by Jo Beckham. Both Taylor and McDaniel are retired postmasters in Lamesa.

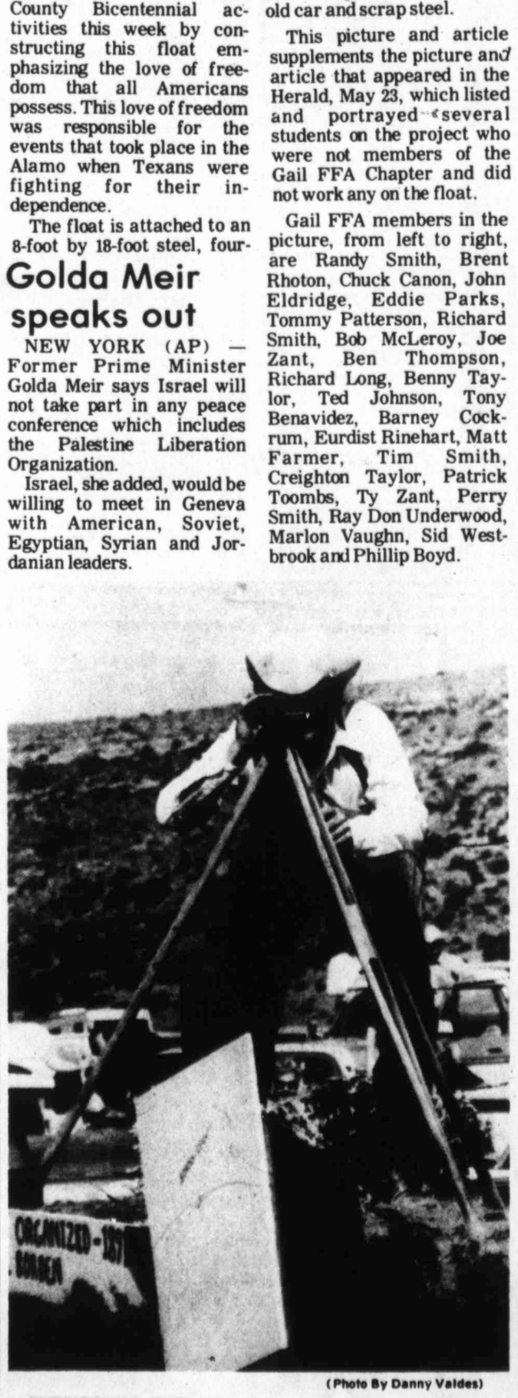

Speakers included R. B. Snell, District Judge George Hansard and Mayor Lloyd Cline.

SURVEYING THE CROWD — Jerry Stone, who was on a float depicting the survey of the Old West probably had the best spot to survey the crowd at the big parade in Gail Saturday which opened a two-day Bicentennial celebration for the county that is 100 years old this year.
