Navy Chief Reduces McKeon's Sentence

Victims' Kin Not 'Satisfied'

PARRIS ISLAND, S.C., Oct. 6 (AP)—Matthew C. McKeon, calm and relieved after a reduction in his punishment for leading a march on which six Marines drowned, predicted sadly today that, "I'll never command troops again."

The former drill sergeant from Worcester, Mass., said he considered his revised sentence of a month in the brig and reduction to private "very just and very fair."

His lawyer at the sensational court-martial here in July and August, Emile Zola Berman of New York City, said, "This sentence meets the needs of the case."

The Marine Corps League sent McKeon "sincere best wishes for the future."

But the mother of one of the drowned recruits was "not a bit satisfied" with Secretary of the Navy Thomas' decision to let McKeon, 31, stay in the Corps.

Thomas overruled the bad conduct discharge ordered by the court-martial Aug. 3. He reduced the confinement period from nine months to three and set aside a $270 fine. Thomas noted that McKeon's reduction in rank to private would cost him much more than the fine.

McKeon will be in the brig only one month because he has been "in the status of arrest" since he was convicted of negligent homicide and drinking on duty.

A bitter complaint about the outcome of the case came from Mrs. Maggie Lucile Meeks of Savannah, Ga. She is the mother of Thomas Curtis Hardeman, one of the 74 recruits McKeon led into a tidal stream the night of April 8.

Lt. Gen. Randolph McC. Pate, commandant of the Corps, and Maj. Gen. Joseph C. Burger, former commander at Parris Island, "handed us mothers a pretty dirty deal," Mrs. Meeks said. "They promised to see that new orders for safer recruit training at Parris Island were started, but you know as well as I that it hasn't been done."

The six recruits "are gone, but he—McKeon—got his sentence reduced," she declared. "We American citizens have got no legal rights."

The sister of another victim of the night march, Mrs. Frank Bond of Clyde, N.Y., would not discuss the reduction in sentence. She said she felt "the case was closed when they held the court-martial." Her brother was Pvt. Charles Reilly, 18.

Williams Derderian, national commandant of the Marine Corps League, wired Thomas "The treatment of this unfortunate accident as just that provides for continuation of the type of Marine training so vital to the defense of our country."

Reunited With Baby

Mrs. Lois Bucher, 21, cuddles her month-old son, Ronald Joseph, after police recovered the child unharmed in a Chicago, Ill., Southwest Side home. Police found the baby with Mrs. Gladys Bynum, 24, in a basement apartment she shares with her husband, Charles. Unidentified neighbor children look on. Mrs. Bucher told police the baby was taken from her home by a woman she had befriended.

BIZARRE CASE

Woman Charged With Kidnaping

CHICAGO, Oct. 6 (AP) — A woman who padded herself with blankets to appear pregnant, and then stole an infant to make it appear she gave birth, has been charged with kidnaping.

The month-old baby boy was returned unharmed Friday to his mother, Lois Bucher, 21, 14 hours after being taken by Mrs. Gladys Bynam, 24. The attendant publicity disclosed that the child's father, Tom, had deserted his first wife and their five children.

After photographs appeared in newspapers of the father and mother of the abducted baby, another woman told authorities that Tom Bucher was really her husband, Thomas Paterimos, 31, and that he had deserted her and their five children 22 months ago.

He admitted the accusations and also admitted he had never legally married Mrs. Bucher. He was charged with nonsupport, adultery and child abandonment.

Authorities said Mrs. Bynum, who has been charged with kidnaping Ronald Bucher, started telling neighbors and friends a month ago that she was going to have a baby.

Her husband of five years, Charles, a bus driver, was quoted by police as saying he didn't know whether his wife was pregnant.

Police said Mrs. Bucher Thursday left Mrs. Bynum alone in the Bucher home with her baby. When she returned, Mrs. Bynum and the infant were missing.

Some 400 police canvassed the area yesterday and found Norbert Kowalski, who reported a woman carrying an infant had asked him for a ride to her home. He led police to the Bynum home, about four miles from the Bucher home, and found the infant with Mrs. Bynum.

Texas Skies Clear, Warm

By The Associated Press

Skies were clear and warm over all of Texas Saturday, except in the Panhandle, where a weak cool front lowered temperatures somewhat.

The front Saturday night extended from Ardmore, Okla., to Wichita Falls and Lubbock. It was moving slowly in a southeasterly direction, and was expected to bring slightly cooler temperatures to north portions of the state Sunday.

Reviewing The

Big Spring Week

With Joe Pickle

Football enthusiasm didn't get much higher in championship days than was the case after Friday evening's game with Sweetwater. The team that had looked like all thumbs and frustration for three games suddenly got off the mat and looked like a seasoned, rugged ball club. No Steer squad in recent history has had defensive end play to equal that exhibited in the second half. The rest of the line caught fire while backs banged away brutally, and quarterbacking kept Sweetwater off balance.

Off-Street Parking To Be Discussed

A meeting of the Chamber of Commerce Merchants Committee has been called for Wednesday for a discussion of possibilities for providing additional downtown parking space.

J. H. Greene, Chamber manager, will report on his study of off-street parking facilities at Abilene last week. He also is expected to suggest some possibilities for additional parking areas here.

The session is set for 10 a.m. Wednesday in the Chamber of Commerce offices, Permian Building.

'Permanent' Polio Vaccine Announced

CINCINNATI, Oct. 6 (AP)—A University of Cincinnati scientist today announced he has developed a new polio vaccine to be taken by mouth which is expected to produce long-term—perhaps lifetime—immunity against the dread disease.

Dr. Albert B. Sabin, professor of research pediatrics in the College of Medicine, made the report to a select group of scientists meeting in Cincinnati. The Cincinnati Times-Star carried it today in an exclusive, copyrighted story.

Dr. Sabin said a single dose of the new vaccine will produce immunity against all three major strains of polio virus. He said the vaccine has proven safe after extensive tests on animals and humans and is now ready for mass testing on an international basis.

Worldwide tests of the new vaccine will begin next year in four foreign countries as well as in the United States.

Dr. Sabin said the vaccine is the first effective oral preventive against polio. He said it works in persons who have already received Salk vaccine.

Dr. Sabin's report indicated arrangements have already been made with a leading pharmaceutical house to produce the vaccine in a pilot plant. Production, the report said, will be cheap—the vaccine itse lf costing less than the cherry syrup vehicle by which it is administered.

Dr. Thomas M. Rivers, newly appointed medical director of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, said in New York, "They can't stop him—Sabin—from putting on worldwide tests." But he added the foundation has "nothing to do with it—the tests."

Rivers said also the Vaccine Advisory Committee of the foundation has not met since last spring and that committee would have to study the new information on Sabin's work before they could back mass tests.

Rivers said he knows of no plans for mass tests in the near future.

Another foundation spokesman said the foundation has poured one million dollars into Sabin's work so far, including money to make tests at the Chillicothe Reformatory, where inmates volunteered for tests.

Because only very small amounts of the vaccine are required to produce immunity, the scientists estimated that 20 liters of the substance will be sufficient to vaccinate two million persons.

New Chapter In Long Race Fight Drafted

TYLER, Oct. 6 (AP) — Another chapter in the American Negro's fight for equal standing with white citizens is being drafted in a state district court here.

The final revision probably will be written by the U.S. Supreme Court.

The five-day-old hearing on a temporary restraining order the state obtained against NAACP operations in Texas has been minus the bitterness and violence that has marked many struggles for equal civil rights in the South.

Calmness and moderation have prevailed.

The second weekend recess will end at 9 a.m. Monday with the state still presenting its case before Dist. Judge Otis Dunagan, a slow talking native East Texan. The defense has not yet been heard except in objections and cross examinations.

The issue is:

Will the NAACP be able to continue its present methods of breaking down the color line in Texas, particularly in the filing of public school integration suits?

Atty. Gen. John Ben Shepperd and his corps of young, ambitious assistants contend the organization, which claims more than 16,000 Texas members, has gone beyond what he calls the limits of "propriety and law" in its efforts.

In obtaining the restraining order, which Shepperd is trying to make permanent, he contended the NAACP is not legally organized and that it has illegally solicited persons to file integration suits.

The NAACP has countered with the claim that the state's questioning of persons named in integration suits violates constitutional rights and is an effort to intimidate parties to federal integration suits.

The defense is headed by Thurgood Marshall, a national spokesman for his race and the attorney who almost singlehanded won the U.S. Supreme Court decision for school integration. He is backed by a group of Southwest and Texas Negro lawyers who have been handling NAACP cases for many years.

Attorneys of both sides often toss quips across the broad table around which they all sit—particularly about Marshall's missing the World Series, However, there is a feeling throughout the courtroom that all the tedious procedure and the tongue twisting legal phrases are in deadly seriousness.

Both sides say readily out of court that they expect the final decision to lie with the Supreme Court.

The state has introduced more than 170 exhibits. The defense has filed objections to almost every one, then asked to be allowed a bill of exceptions when the objections were overruled.

The courtroom crowd, usually consisting of about 100 Negroes with maybe a dozen white persons sitting on a separate bench, is somber and quiet. If there is so much as a snicker at an attorney's jibe, the judge quickly raps for order.

Spectators know history is being made and they don't want to miss a word of it.

Chinese Reds Enter Hong Kong During Chase Of Fugitives

HONG KONG, Oct. 6 (AP)—More than 60 Communist frontier troops raced into British territory tonight with guns blazing in pursuit of about 30 Chinese fleeing Red China.

They shot one dead and seriously wounded three.

The Hong Kong government in a brief statement said the Reds withdrew with an undetermined number of fugutives after running 50 yards into British territory.

They pulled back when British border police arrived.

Ike, Adlai Open Up Big Political Guns

'Feudalism,' Draft Topics For Debate

By The Associated Press

President Eisenhower Saturday accused Adlai E. Stevenson of hurting U.S. defense interests abroad, while the Democratic presidential candidate charged the Eisenhower administration offers a danger of "industrial feudalism."

Speaking in Washington, Eisenhower charged Stevenson has hurt "America's security interests throughout the world" by "loose talk" about ending the draft soon. Meanwhile, Stevenson, speaking in Springfield, Mass., called for the defeat of the Eisenhower administration on the grounds it offers "too little presidential leadership" and the danger of "industrial feudalism."

A presidential statement issued at the White House did not mention Stevenson by name but was obviously aimed at him. It said that to end Selective Service now would greatly weaken U. S. defenses and added:

"We must not by weakness invite another war."

"To call the draft wasteful and to term it a Maginot Line," Eisenhower said, "evidences either ignorance of our military needs or a willingness to take a chance with our nation's security."

Eisenhower said that the chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff and the military chiefs of the services, whom he termed "our greatest experts in these matters," have specifically supported the need for continuing the draft law.

Making a pitch for Massachusetts' 16 electoral votes in a tour of industrial New England where textile industry losses, mergers and small business failures have created problems, the Democratic presidential nominee declared:

"The Republican managers see America as a big, well-oiled corporation controlled by men who, because they run the big corporations, ought to run the country, too."

Just as "the big boss is nice at Christmas," Stevenson said, "so the Republicans put on a big smile around election time."

"Left alone," he continued, "they will lead us into a new age of industrial feudalism, where small enterprise disappears and every one works for the giant corporations."

Earlier, before an enthusiastic noonday crowd of about 8,000 at Providence, R. I., Stevenson accused the administration of "political cynicism" and an "unfeeling attitude toward the troubles of the textile industry."

'THE CAT' COPS SPARKLER; PIN TO 'MATADOR'

Felix (The Cat) Rosser, Abilene, picked up the Shrine diamond ring Saturday afternoon during the initiation of Novices at the closing session of the Suez Temple ceremonial in City Auditorium.

To George W. (Mad Matador) Bair of Big Spring, the only other candidate for the ring, went a Shrine pin.

Rosser and Bair conducted a heated campaign for the ring which is presented to a Novice at each of the ceremonials. The winner was named by popular vote.

During the politicking, Rosser was costumed as a cat, armed with a brace of insecticide dusters. Bair, attired as a bullfighter, brandished a giant oriental knife.

About 50 Novices were inducted into the Shrine's Suez Temple during the closing ceremonies.

8 Brink's Robbers Due Sentencing

BOSTON, Oct. 6 (AP)—Eight middle-aged men, who sat in silence through a two-months' trial that ended in their conviction for the $1,219,000 Brink's, Inc. robbery of 1950, waited in jail today for their next court appearance on Tuesday.

Then they will be sentenced—the maximum penalty is life imprisonment—for their part in the nation's biggest cash holdup.

While their wives and other relatives sobbed openly as the verdict was read in a hushed courtroom shortly before 2 a.m., the stolid prisoners showed no more outward concern than when their onetime friend, Joseph J. (Specs) O'Keefe, 48, pointed them out as fellow brigands.

It was the story of O'Keefe—who already had confessed to the crime—that forged the prosecution's strongest link of evidence.

Not one of the defendants spoke out in court to deny it.

They are: Joseph F. McGinnis, 52; Anthony Pino, 49; James I. Faherty, 45; Thomas F. Richardson, 49; Adolph (Jazz) Maffie, 45; Henry Baker, 47; Michael V. Geagan, 48, and Vincent Costa, 42.

O'Keefe, who will be sentenced later, placed them all at Brink's headquarters during the robbery except McGinnis. He remained at his Roxbury liquor store as alibi insurance. O'Keefe testified. But the jury convicted McGinnis of being an accessory before the fact—a crime equally punishable as the actual robbery.

Homecoming Queen

Valjean LaCroix, whose 17th birthday is today, was crowned queen of the 1956 Big Spring High School homecoming during Friday night's football game between Big Spring and Sweetwater. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. LaCroix, she is a junior in Big Spring High where she is in the a capella choir, the Tri-Hi-Y, serves as a cheer leader and is a member of the student council. On the side, she is a piano and voice student and plans to major in music at Baylor University after graduation from high school. Valjean is "Faith" in the Order of the Rainbow for Girls and is active in both the Sunday School and training union at the First Baptist Church.

Ex-Students Mix Old With The New

Shades of 1906, '07 and every year since were paraded before a large crowd of former Big Spring High School students Saturday night as the exes wound up their 1956 homecoming.

Old stories and ancient costumes were mingled with modern music and the current crop of students on the platform in the high school auditorium.

Supt. Floyd Parsons, a newcomer, welcomed the ex-students to their old school. Joe Pickle responded. Principal Roy Worley presided.

Clyde E. Thomas, who served as principal back in 1906-07, started things off by recalling that the first football team and the first annual were put out by the school during his tenure.

It also developed, during Thomas' remarks, that he subsequently married one of his former pupils, Miss Reba Coffee. She copped the award for the former student with the most children — nine.

Mrs. Wayne Orsman, the former Mary Margaret Williams, won the prize for the person traveling the greatest distance to the homecoming. She came from Wichita, Kan.

UF DAY PROCLAIMED

The United Fund of Big Spring and Howard County deserves the support of everyone.

It is through gifts of all our citizens, regardless of station of employment, that the work of worthy welfare and youth guidance agencies is carried on. Our community is a better place to live as a result of the effective work of these agencies—and they are effective only in the extent that they have our support.

No less than ten agencies are aided through one gift to the United Fund, and this coordinated system of fund-raising is our most practicable method of aiding all these causes.

This is the week that our support for the United Fund is tested. Volunteers are asked to help, everybody is asked to give. Tuesday is the day when concentrated effort will be made to put our United Fund "over the top."

In full confidence that Big Spring will respond nobly, generouly and promptly to this annual community-wide appeal, I hereby declare the Week of October 7 as UNITED FUND WEEK, and TUESDAY, OCTOBER 8, AS UNITED FUND DAY;

I request that employers be as helpful as possible in permitting volunteer workers to give special time in solicitation on that day;

And I urge every citizen to be prepared to do his fair share in this great cause.

GEORGE W. DABNEY, Mayor
City of Big Spring

United Fund's 'Big Push' Is Slated For This Week

This is the week. Tuesday is the day.

It's the time of the all-out push for the United Fund of Big Spring and Howard County, which, with an army of volunteer workers, goes out to meet a goal of $87,550 to finance the work of 10 welfare and youth agencies for another year.

Tuesday has been proclaimed by Mayor G. W. Dabney as "United Fund Day," and he especially urged employers to allow employes special time for a whirlwind solicitation, and complete the drive in record time.

The big drive is preceded by a "kick-off" dinner Monday evening. This event, to be at the Settles Hotel at 7 p.m., is due to be attended by at least 200 workers, giving their time and effort in several divisions of solicitation.

At the meeting, materials will be distributed, teams organized for work, and the crowd will hear an inspirational talk by Wayne B. (Red) Smith of Plainview, who soon is to become manager of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce. United Fund President Champ Rainwater will preside at the meeting, and Campaign Chairman D. M. McKinney will introduce various division leaders.

These leaders, in turn, were reporting Saturday that they were meeting fine acceptance from volunteers, and were counting on full attendance of workers Monday night.

"RED" SMITH
. . . To address UF Workers

A special effort is being made this year, McKinney said, to make a concentrated canvass on Tuesday, so as to minimize time requirements on solicitors, and to finish the campaign in record time.

The drive was going strong on several fronts. The advance gift division had worked this past week, and while no definite amount was tabulated, favorable reports were had by Co-Chairmen Truman Jones and R. T. Piner.

In fields of special organization—such as Webb Air Force Base, the VA Hospital, at Cosden and the T&P and in the organized labor groups — much groundwork had been done, and some money colected.

Divisions which will at the dinner Monday night and which take the field Tuesday include:

Special Gifts, W. A. Hunt, chairman; Employe Gifts, J. B. Wiginton, chairman; General Gifts, John Taylor, chairman; Area Gifts, M. M. Hines, chairman. The women's division, under Mrs. Clyde Thomas Jr., goes to work later in the month.

The UF's goal this year is no larger than last, but agencies are receiving larger allotments, because the drive is being conducted this year without professional help, thus cutting administrative costs. Rainwater and McKinney have been hammering at this fact, stressing that the demand for active volunteer help is greater than in past years.

Agencies sharing in the United Fund are the Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, YMCA, Salvation Army, Red Cross, Milk & Ice Fund, American Cancer Society, Servicemen's Center, West Side Recreation Center, and Summer Recreation Program.

The Reserve Champion

Jimmy Cagle, Big Spring 4-H Club boy, poses with his 175-pound pig, reserve champion of the annual Howard County 4-H and FFA Swine Show, and the purchaser of the animal, M. H. Boatler. Boatler, representing Cosden Petroleum Corporation, bought the pig for $1.10 per pound at the auction following the swine show.

Concert Member Response 'Good'

The City Auditorium is filling steadily, if figuratively, with memberships in the Big Spring Concert Association.

Officials of the association will meet early this week to launch the clean-up phase of the membership enlistment. They have a good response to a letter asking members to renew, and there has been an unprecedented response to appeals for new memberships.

On every hand, said Mrs. Clyde Angel, association president, there has been warm praise for the season's selections — Mantovani and his 45-piece orchestra, the Chicago Opera and its orchestra, and the famous First Piano Quartet.

With only about a month remaining before Mantovani opens the series, Mrs. Floyd Mays, campaign chairman, and volunteer workers are taking steps to complete the membership roll.

No single admissions will be sold for any of the programs, thus those who wish to attend must secure their season memberships now.

Mrs. Mays urged those who have been soliciting memberships to report promptly to her at 603 W. 16th or to Mrs. Vic Alexander at Alexander's Jewelry.

Memberships may be had by telephoning either of the two.

Based on the number of new members, plus the number of previous members who are expected to renew, Mrs. Angel said that the auditorium was filling figuratively at a steady and most encouraging pace.

When renewals have been completed, the seating capacity may be more than 75 per cent committed, which means that others should respond promptly in order to get in on the series, said Mrs. Angel.

Soil District Has New Cooperators

Farmers who have recently become New cooperators with the Martin-Howard Soil Conservation District are Fred Stamps, Coahoma; John Couch, Mrs. E. N. Phippe, J. E. Underwood and Eugene Riddle, Luther Community; Walter H. Ross and Lyman Greer, Big Spring, and J. D. Henderson and Lyman Greer, Lomax.

A range check was made recently by range conservationist Roland Willis on the ranch of R. E. Martin, Coahoma. Assistance was given the following farmers in planning conservation treatment for their land by conservationist Edward I. Bigham: W. H. Forrest, Aubry Weaver, Luther Reddell, A. J. Pirkle, and J. F. Sellers, all located northeast of Big Spring.

Waterways were checked for completion recently by T. R. Morris. Waterways such as the one constructed on Dr. Lee O. Rogers' farm north of Big Spring serve to escort flood waters that run off other farms safely through the farm without damaging the farm. On some farms waterways must be installed before terraces can be constructed. The Soil Conservation Service assists in the design and checking for completions of such waterways when the need arises.

Report Scheduled On AF Utilities

A report on the Air Force housing unit water and sewer lines will be the principal item on the city commission agenda Tuesday night.

City and Air Force engineers are working on the project, and Herbert Whitney, city manager, said he would report on the status of the work at the meeting. The regular session will start at 5:30 p.m.

Whitney said the zoning board had approved two plats and they will be presented to the commission for final approval.

Police Get Serious With New Radar

Big Springers will be seeing a lot of the police department's new radar unit next week, and as a result, many will be seeing the corporation court judge about tickets.

Police Chief C. L. Rogers said Saturday that the department will start issuing tickets this week for speed violations indicated by the radar unit. The radar set arrived two weeks ago, but the department has used it only to warn speeders.

Rogers said that he thought enough publicity had been given to start issuing tickets. Last week, anyone caught violating speed regulations received only a warning.

And there were many speeding, Rogers added.

From now on, however, the warnings will be accompanied by a ticket and the matter will be taken up with the court judge.

Rogers said the department was using the radar to try to cut down on the number of accidents in the city and not as a means of collecting revenue. The city commission said the same thing when it was ordered last summer.

The unit will be used on residential streets as well as on highways, Rogers indicated, because as many motorists exceed the speed limit there as on main highways.

Also, many persons do not heed the slower speeds in school zones, he said. "Here the reason for driving slowly is evident. And we're going to do our best to see that drivers stay within the limit."

Eagle Scares Away Pigeons

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — "Old Baldy" is a bluff, but a very effective bluff.

The pigeons at Memorial Hall stay away from him like poison. They don't care if he is only a stuffed American eagle. Stuffed or not, Old Baldy is not exactly friendly looking with his giant wings spread and a fierce glare in his steely eyes.

Attendants put Old Baldy on the front of the building when the pigeons were claiming it for their own. The bird had been in retirement for years, possibly since Civil War days.

"He's doing a good job," said a janitor. "When the pigeons see him, they don't land. If they land before they see him, they take off like jets."

Copter, Harvester To Take Pecan Crop

ALBANY, Ga. (AP)—A helicopter and a harvester will be used in a tree-shaking, pecan-picking experiment.

The helicopter will blow the nuts from the trees, then the harvester will move along the ground and suck up the pecans.

That's the idea. Whether it will work will be determined Wednesday.

Lewis Scott, a Savannah crop duster, will pilot the whirlybird. Arthur O. Sandison of Albany, manager of a pecan processing company, will supervise ground operations at an orchard south of Albany.

If the two machines do what they're supposed ot do, the experiment may bring about a considerable reduction in pecan harvesting time.

Fliers Break Speed Mark

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Oct. 6 (AP)—Three Navy pilots streaked across the continent and back in an elapsed time of 10 hours, 49 minutes for the 4,924 miles and refueling stops Friday in Navy F9F8 Cougar jets.

Cmdr. G. A. Robinson, 38, and Cmdr. Donald Michie, 35, and Ens. Ronald K. Hess, 24, bettered the previous record of 11 hours, 27 minutes for the cross-continent round trip.

It was set May 22, 1955, by Lt. John Conroy of the California Air National Guard. He flew an F86A Sabre Jet 5,085 miles from Los Angeles to New York and return.

Robinson and his Fighter Squadron 144 fellow pilots flew from their base at Miramar Naval Air Station, San Diego, to Bethpage, Long Island, N.Y., and return with refueling stops there and each way at Olathe, Kan.

Scouts' Good Turn Is For United Fund

A patrol from Boy Scout troop No. 9 did a good turn Saturday for the United Fund.

The boys, headed by Scoutmaster Charles Rathmell, distributed several hundred posters to business houses in the downtown area as well as to neighborhood stores and shopping centers. Helping were Ronnie Hamby, Jerry Gilmore, Joe V. Kitchens, Larry Moore and Leahman Bryant.

Ballots Due To Be Ready For Absentee Vote Period

Printer's proof of the official ballot to be used in Howard County on Nov. 6 should be in the office of Mrs. Pauline Petty, county clerk, before the weekend.

After the proof has been checked and agreement reached on where the four candidates for district court clerk shall be listed, the approved copy will be rushed to the printer. With good luck the ballots should be on hand in time for the start of the absentee voting period on Oct. 17.

The names on the ballot as they are now listed, in addition to those of the candidates for president and vice president, governor and lieutenant-governor, and the digest summaries of eight proposed constitutional amendments, will include:

For Associate Justice, Court of Civil Appeals, 11th Supreme Judicial District Milburn S. Long of Taylor Coutny; for Congressman, 19th Congressional District: George Mahon of Lubbock County; For Member, State Board of Education, 19th District, E. H. Boatler, Lubbock County; For District Attorney, 118th Judicial District, Guilford Jones; For State Representative, 101st Representative District, J. Gordon Bristow of Howard County.

For Sheriff: Miller Harris; for County Attorney, Harvey C. Hooser Jr.; for Tax Assessor-Collector, Viola Robinson; For Commissioner Precinct No. 1, P. O. Hughes; for Justice of Peace, Precinct 1, Place 1, Walter Grice; For Commissioner Precinct No. 3, R. H. (Hudson) Landers; For Constable, Precinct No. 1, J. W. (Wes) Patton; For County Democratic Chairman, Frank Hardesty.

All of these names will appear in the Democratic column on the ballot.

In the independent column will be listed the four candidates for the post of Howard County District Court Clerk. They are Wade Choate, R. C. Thomas, Denver Dunn and James R. Norton.

The Democratic candidates in in the brackets of local interests are unopposed and their election is a formality.

Under the ruling of the attorney general, the "independent" who receives a majority of the votes will be elected to the unexpired two year term of the late George Choate, district court clerk.

Uncle Ray:

Sky Has Provided Optical Illusions

By RAMON COFFMAN

There is an old saying that "seeing is believing," and it surely is correct in many cases. On the other hand there are times when our eyes are fooled. We think we see a certain thing, but actually it is something else.

A letter from Mrs. R. H. Menke says:

"When last you wrote about astronomy, it made me think that I should tell you about something I saw in the sky many years ago. I have talked about it to people, but they tell me would be impossible.

"What I saw (or seemed to see) was the crescent moon with a bright star inside the crescent. Is it possible that I am wrong after believing for so long that I saw the moon and star exactly as I have seen it in pictures, or jewelry made like that?

That event took place 38 or 40 years ago. My father and brother saw it, too. Next day the newspaper said that the moon and star appeared in this position only once in 40 years. In that case it is about time to see it again. It was a beautiful sight, and I will be grateful for any information you can give about it."

I missed that sight, but I have heard that thousands of persons supposed they saw a star inside the crescent.

A similar sight was reported 12 years ago, and I received letters about it from several persons. In their honest belief, a star had been inside the crescent. The same idea came to a large number of others, and some of them telephoned to newspapers to ask about it.

A Texas reader was the first to write me of the event. If he had read a Dallas newspaper the next day, he would have seen his error. A photograph showed that the star had been near one end of the crescent, just outside what would have been the edge of the dark part of the moon.

Doctors Slate Discussion On School Health

The Permian Basin Medical Society, which is pioneering on a closer working relationship between school administrators and physicians regarding school health problems, will have a look at the program here Oct. 30.

The occasion will be a meeting of the society at 7:30 p.m. in the Big Spring High School cafeteria. Arrangements for the session have been made by Dr. T. J. Williamson, chairman of the committee on school-physician relationship. He has been attending workshop sessions in Austin on this new program proposed by the Texas Medical Association.

Dr. Jay J. Johns, Taylor, chairman of the state group's committee on the matter, is to be the principal speaker. He will bring with him a representative from the Texas Education Agency.

One of the objectives of the Oct. 30 program, said Dr. Preston E. Harrison, president of the society, is to create better understanding of common problems and inform physicians on such matters as immunizations, athletic injuries, other health problems and insurance. The state association has advised that the Permian Basin Society is the first in the state to undertake such a meeting.

Aristophanes Discussion Set

Two comedies by Aristophanes are scheduled for the Great Books discussion at 8 p.m. Monday in Room 211 of the Permian building.

The first, "Lysistrata," presents a war between the sexes that is also a war against war. The second, "The Clouds," lampoons the new revered Socrates.

Both plays, like the writings and sayings of Plato, Socrates and Confucius debated at Great Books meetings earlier in the season, deal in an often surprisingly modern fashion with issues that in 1956 agitate the United Nations assembly, the U.S. Congress, the churches of Big Spring and the P-TA.

Mrs. E. L. Cochran will preside.

Quest For Fire Hazards To Be Feature Of 'Prevention Week'

Fire Prevention Week in Big Spring will find the fire department checking all the schools for hazards and asking school children to check their residences.

Fire Chief H. V. Crocker said that the department annually inspects the various schools for hazards and faulty wiring.

This year, elementary school students will be given forms to fill out. The form will be a checklist for inspecting the homes for fire traps, hazards, and conditions which could lead to a fire.

The forms will be returned to the schools, and then be picked up by the fire department. The firemen will sort out the forms which indicate possible hazards. At these residences, the department will ask to inspect.

One of the spots homeowners should check to prevent fires is the water heater closet, Crocker reported. He said that the closet was for the water heater and that alone. Anything else there is out of place and should be moved.

Crocker said the average heater closet would contain mops, brooms, and dust rags — just what should not be there. One housewife called Crocker — after he spoke to a safety group here — and said she had all the items mentioned, plus an ironing board.

Electrical wires not big enough to carry the voltage load needed also create fires he said. Another housewife told Crocker she was using a Christmas-tree light wire on her refrigerator. This person, said Crocker, was just asking for a fire.

Crocker said that this week would be a good time to check residences for rubbish stacked away in a close place, dust rags behind a stove, and overloaded electrical outlets.

"The fire rate for the year is well below past years, and let's keep it that way by getting rid of possible fire starters." Crocker added.

New Rescue Plan Is In Effect For Emergencies At Lake

A more effective rescue plan for Lake J. B. Thomas has been worked out at a meeting of lake and fire deparment officials.

All accidents at the lake will be reported directly to the Snyder and Big Spring fire departments simultaneously. The initial rescue teams of the two departments will be dispatched immediately, and other aid will be summoned later if and as needed.

The two departments will be in charge of the rescue and recovery operations, directing the use of all volunteer help.

R. A. (Skeet) Schooling, lake superintendent, said that the adherence to safety requirements at Lake J. B. Thomas had been paying dividends. Within the past two months there have been at least five accidents which could have had serious consequences. Fortunately, in all cases, occupants of capsized boats were wearing life jackets and were promptly rescued.

As a preventative, Schooling said that the lake is being patrolled rigidly to enforce the rule that all persons in boats wear life jackets while on the lake. Patrolmen also are forcing reckless boat operators to retire from the lake when their actions might endanger others.

But for cases where people do not follow the rules of safety and get into trouble, new equipment has been added for rescue and recovery. One is a new oxygen resuscitator; another is skin diving equipment.

At the meeting of fire department and lake officials, George Clark, member of the Cosden staff in Big Spring and who gained aqua-lung diving experience in the U. S. Navy, gave a demonstration of how to use the equipment. Until now, all recovery efforts have involved the use of drags and grappling hooks. Clark not only will be available for other demonstrations but also on call for actual service in cases of emergency, lake officials said.

So far this season, Lake J. B. Thomas has not had a drowning, although two persons did die in early spring from exposure after their boat was swamped in near freezing weather.

The record safety is a tribute to the cooperative spirit and intelligence of people coming to the lake, said Schooling.

Get-Out-The-Vote Drive Is Planned By Teachers

Teachers in the Big Spring school system are planning on a parade Oct. 25 and other activities to get out the vote for the Nov. 6 general eection.

Aside from a desire to see the largest possible participation in the general election, teachers also have an interest in the proposed constitutional amendment No. 4 which would broaden the benefits under the teacher retirement system.

L. D. Spradling is chairman of the parade committee and has fixed 4:30 p.m. Oct. 25 as time for the procession. He said that plans were to have several private citizens riding in the parade along with teachers, and to have bands marching.

At the terminus of the parade at Fourth and Main Streets, there would be a couple of short talks in which people would be urged to discharge their civic responsibility of voting and also invited to vote favorably on amendment No. 4.

Over the state the Texas State Teachers Association is taking a leading part in urging a vote turn out and support of the amendment which it contends would be most helpful in encouraging entry into and continued tenure in the teaching profession.

Fisher Resigns As Welfare Supervisor

E. L. Fisher, district supervisor for the State Welfare Department in Big Spring, has resigned from that post effective Friday.

Fisher, who has held the office in this city for nearly two years, has accepted a position with the Social Security Administration. He has been assigned to Victoria, and will move his family to that city on Nov. 1.

Succeeding Fisher will be T. J. Compton who is to come here from Burnett where he filled the same office he will serve here. Compton is moving his family here on Oct. 9.

He is officially on duty at this time.

Fisher said that he and his family regret leaving Big Spring. Mrs. Fisher has been operating a nursery school for the past year and said that she plans to continue the operation down to the last possible date before the family leaves for Victoria.

Mrs. Loomis Christian, who with her husband has purchased the Fisher residence at 1606 E. 5th, plans to carry on the school. The Christians are moving here from Eldorado.

Fisher said that he made the change to the federal agency because it appeared opportunity for advancement was better than in the state welfare organization. He had been with the state agency 8½ years.

Compton has been with the State Welfare Department for seven years.

$30,000 In City Taxes Are Paid

About $30,000 in current taxes was collected by the city tax department during the past week, the first day of collections.

The total through Friday afternoon was $27,737.67. Final Saturday figure was not available, but it contained several large checks, which would make the total near $30,000.

Last Monday was the first day of collections after the notices went out about 1956 taxes on Sept. 29.

Property owners want to get the benefit of the three per cent discount by paying in the first month of collections, tax officials report. During October, a three per cent discount is given, two per cent in November, and one in December.

In previous years, the office closed at 4:30 p.m. to enable employes to tabulate their total, but this year, the office is open through the week until 5 p.m. It closes at 12 noon on Saturdays.

Stanton To Open Scout Fund Drive

STANTON (SC) — The Stanton Boy Scout finance campaign will have its kickoff with a breakfast session set for 7 a.m. Tuesday at the Belvue Motel.

Cecil Bridges, Stanton campaign chairman, said that captains had their workers selected and that everything pointed to a prompt campaign. There has been no dollar goal established, but friends of Scouting are trying to see that at least 15 per cent of the population is invited to invest in Scouting.

Stanton is part of the Lone Star District of the Buffalo Trail Council. Separate invitations will be handled for the north-central part of the county by a Tarzan-Lenorah effort. Big Spring and Howard County, also in the district, have their campaigns through the United Fund.

At Garden City, Dick Mitchell is general chairman of the effort for Glasscock County. Sterling City already has its drive going.

Captains announced by Bridges for the independent finance campaign for Stanton include Jim Mc-Coy, James Jones, Ed Davis, James Webb, Elmore Johnson, F. O. Rhodes, Claude Nowlin and Dan Saunders.

Other campaign officials include Phillips White, chairman of advanced gifts; Sammie Houston, auditor; Neal Estes, publicity; and June Graham, arrangements.

Pleas Of Guilty Are Accepted

Three pleas of guilty were accepted in Howard County court Friday.

All involved violation of the state liquor laws.

Porfirio Terrazes Florez, Eloy Lucero Rubio and Jim Norred were the defendants in the three charges.

Each was fined $100 and costs.

County court criminal jury docket will resume on Tuesday morning at 10 a.m. Judge R. H. Weaver said that Harvey Hooser, Jr., county attorney, has listed a number of cases for the week.

Hooser was not in the courthouse Saturday morning and a list of the cases to be tried was not available.

Eight Amendment Proposals To Be Listed On Ballots Nov. 6

In addition to selecting a president, vice president, many high federal officials and a staff of state, district, county and precinct officers on Nov. 6, voters in Texas will also decide the fate of eight amendments to the state constitution.

In the opinion of many persons who make studies of such matters these proposed amendments, if adopted or if rejected, can have far reaching impact on the lives and activities of a great many people.

How well advised the public at large may be on these proposals is a source of considerable worry — alike to their proponents and their opponents.

It is regarded as highly probable, if an investigator were to query 100 persons on any street about any of these eight amendments, few would have much knowledge of what they propose. Many observers feel that such a survey would reveal that dozens of those who might be questioned do not even know that the issues are to be up for consideration when the election day rolls around.

The amendments are to be approved or disapproved by simple "for" or "against" votes.

Proposal No. 1 suggests a constitutional amendment granting power to the legislature to grant aid and compensation to persons who have paid fines or have served prison sentences under the laws of the state for offenses of which they were not guilty.

No. 2 proposes that the constitution be amended to authorize the Commissioners Court in each county to levy whatever sums of may be necessary for general fund, permanent improvement fund, road and bridge fund and jury fund purposes so long as the total of these funds does not exceed a maximum tax rate of 80 cents on the $100 valuation in any one year and so long as the Court does not impair any outstanding bonds or other obligations.

Proposal No. 3 suggests an amendment to Article VII of the constitution by amending Sections 17 and 18 thereof providing a method of payment for construction and equipment of buildings and other permanent improvements at state institutions of higher learning; and to add a new section, (11a), providing for the improved support of the University of Texas system and the Texas Agricultural and Mechanical College system by authorizing investment of the Permanent University fund in corporate bonds and stocks under certain conditions and limitations.

Proposal No. 4 seeks an amendment empowering the legislature to revise existing Teacher Retirement System and to broaden the benefits to employes of public schools, colleges and universities supported wholly or partly by state, authorizing the state's contributions for such purposes shall equal contributions by such employes providing they do not exceed six per cent of the compensation paid each such employe by the state or school district or the sum of $504 each year for any such employe, regulating the eligibility of such employes for retirement benefits and prescribing the manner of investing money accruing to the retirement fund.

Proposal No. 5 suggests an amendment to Section 49-b of Article III to change the membership of the Veterans Land Board; increasing the Veterans Land Fund by $100,000,000; said fund to be used for the purpose of purchasing land in Texas to be sold to the Texas veterans of World War II and to Texas veterans of service in the armed forces of the United States subsequent to 1945. Such funds shall be expended in accordance with instructions and requirements that may be provided by law.

Proposal No. 6 suggests an amendment providing the forms of oaths of office for elective and appointive officers of the state.

Proposal No. 7 is an amendment which would require medical testimony for the commitment of persons of unsound mind and authorizing the legislature to promulgate such persons and for waiver of the right of trial by jury by a person alleged to be of unsound mind or his next of kin.

Proposal No. 8 suggests that the constitution be amended to provide that a court, judge or magistrate may deny bail to a person who has been convicted of two previous felonies.

On the ballot each of these proposals will be listed in two forms —the first reading "for" and the second "against."

Decision Is Due On Airport Bond Sale

Howard County Commissioners will meet on Monday to officially sell the $500,000 bond issue voted to finance construction of a County Airport.

The buyer of the bonds will be determined by decision of the Texas Board of Education on whether it wants to purchase the issue. The board was to have met Saturday and decide on the question. If it chooses to buy, the issue will be sold to it at an average interest rate of 3.33 per cent.

Should the board decide not to make the purchase it will sign a waiver and Columbian Securities and others, who make the bid of 3.33 per cent will be declared the official buyers.

The Court has announced that the bonds will be completed at top speed and surrendered to the purchaser by the end of the present week. As soon as the transaction is completed, the county can proceed without further delay with plans for the airport construction.

Acquisition of the land will be the first step to be taken. The tentative site is on the Snyder Highway about four miles north and east of Big Spring. Plans and specifications for the port are in the hands of engineers and architects and are expected to be ready by the time the land has been purchased.

Howard County voters approved the bond issue in an election on Aug. 11.

IRS Has 3,000 Refund Checks

The Internal Revenue Service is looking for 3,000 North and West Texans who have tax refund checks awaiting them, according to Ben Hawkins, administrative officer of the Big Spring IRS office.

The Dallas office has an employe who spends full time finding taxpayers due a refund check. A very large part of the taxpayers due a refund check have moved and failed to give Internal Revenue a forwarding address. In quite a few cases, the taxpayers forgot to put their address on their tax return.

Hawkins stated the checks range in size from a few dollars to some amounting to several thousand dollars.

Hawkins advised Big Spring area taxpayers who are due a refund check to send their correct name and address to Miss Bonnie Reed, Claims Examiner, District Director of Internal Revenue, 2101 Pacific Avenue, Dallas, Texas.

A few taxpayers have been notified that their returns are being audited before their refund can be made, Hawkins explained. These taxpayers will be individually advised concerning their refunds. They should not contact Miss Reed.

Big Spring Is One Of Driest Spots In State

Monthly summary of meteorological data in Texas, compiled by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, shows Big Spring continues as one of the driest spots in a dry state.

For a full crop year — from Sept. 1, 1955 through Aug. 31, 1956— the rainfall in Big Spring amounted to only 6.8 inches, which was 63 per cent below normal.

The only stations in Texas with worst records were Winter Haven with 7.3 (64 per cent below), and Temple with 21 inches (65 per cent below). Big Spring had reported the smallest amount of rainfall of any of the stations exept Ysleta on the Rio Grande. Ysleta's total was not listed, however.

Some idea of the generality of the drought can be had from these rainfall figures for a full crop year (with percentage below normal in parentheses): Amarillo 16.8 (40), Lubbock 14.9 (17), Balmorhea 8 (42), Marfa 8.8 (31), Sonora 9.4 (58), Beeville 17 (43), Weslaco 17.6 (24), Bryan 21.1 (44), McGregor 26 (7.1), Riesel 18 (18), Spur 12.7 (39), Iowa Park 22.2 (27), Denton 14.8 (55), Greenville 20.8 (49), Tyler 24.3 (45), Gilmer 24.2 (49), Lufkin 34.6 (30), Beaumont 35.5 (34 per cent). Not a station in Texas showed normal rainfall.

Three Involved In Fight At Stadium

Three men posted bond at the city hall Saturday morning as a result of a disturbance at the football stadium Friday night.

The men were charged with fighting in a rest room.

One of the three went to a local hospital for treatment of an arm cut but was released. He cut his arm when he plunged his fist through a window pane, policemen said.

In addition to the broken window, a lavatory was torn from the wall, he police stated.

1,500 Fish Placed In Moss Creek Lake

Over 1,500 fish went into Moss Creek Lake last week.

Herbert Whitney, city manager, said that between 900 and 1,000 bass, between 450 and 500 channel cat, and 200 perch were added to the lake Wednesday. Joe Crews brought the fish from the state fish hatchery at San Angelo.

Courtesy Night At Ward's Is Scheduled For Tuesday

"Courtesy Night" — an event which last year attracted capacity crowds — is on schedule again as a special feature at the local Montgomery Ward store. The event is set for Tuesday night, beginning at 7 p.m., and will be climaxed at 9 p.m. with awarding of door prizes which include a set of Riverside tires.

There will be special demonstrations of various appliances, and favors. Toy balloons and soft drinks will be free to children, and orchids will be given to the first 500 women in the store.

Store Manager H. C. Morrison extends a special invitation for the public to attend.

Ward's courtesy night is a prelude to the annual Ward Week, opening Wednesday to run through October 22. This is a traditional twice-a-year event for the company's 565 stores. It culminates months of planning in every department, including buying, testing of merchandise, preparation of displays and routing of items. Morrison said that sheer volume of orders for Ward Week specials enables the company to purchase at low prices, which are passed on to patrons. In some instances, national manufacturers make up merchandise to Ward specifications especially for the event.

Local Realtors To Meet Each Month

Big Spring realtors have decided upon a course of monthly meetings.

At the called session Thursday evening in the Permian Building, the Big Spring Real Estate Board decided to meet the first Monday evening of each month.

Among the problems discussed at the last session was the multiple listing plan, which the board is trying to devise. Jack Cook presided over the session and six realtors attended.

The Howard County Grand Jury, called into special session Friday morning by District Judge Charlie Sullivan, returned three indictments at 5:30 p.m. Friday.

The jury indicted Olton Richard Crss, 24, for murder with malice; and named Alvin P. Milligan, 47-year-old former Oklahoma convict, as principal in two other indictments one charging murder with a motor vehicle and the second charging him with violation of the hit-and-run statute.

The grand jury put in a long hard day investigating these two cases. It heard many witnesses in the two cases and did not complete its work until 5:30 p.m.

Cross, propietor of "Bud's Drive-In, a tavern located two miles west on U. S. Highway 80, was charged with murder with malice in the fatal shooting last Wednesday midnight of Hugh Emmet George. George, 27, employe of Cabot Carbon Company, was shot to death in the tavern shortly after 12:30 a.m. He died in a Big Spring Hospital two hours after the fatal affray. Cross surrendered to city police a few minutes after the shooting. He was released Wednesday afternoon on $5,000 bond and, with the calling of the grand jury, returned to the courthouse to undergo interrogation.

Judge Sullivan fixed Cross' new bond at $7,500. He was waiting in the corridor for the report and immediately set about posting bail.

Milligan has been held in county jail since he was arrested on the morning of Sept. 24.

The grand jury indicted him for murder with a motor vehicle in connection with the traffic death of Eugene Cordes Jr., killed 15.5 miles northeast of Big Spring. Cordes was in a car which was rammed by a second automobile. Driver of the second car did not stop after the collision. The accident occured on Sept. 23.

Judge Sullivan set $5,000 bond in this case.

A second indictment alleging hit-and-run also was returned against the former Oklahoman. Bond is $5,000 on this charge.

He was returned to the jail.

Guilford Jones, district attorney, spent the day with the grand jury presenting his evidence in the three cases.

Action of the grand jury in the special session makes it possible to bring the two defendants to trial at the next criminal session of the district court in the event the state and defense elect to do so.

Perfume, Lipstick Saga Related In Custody Hearing

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — "Perfume on my bathrobe and lipstick on my shirts" led his wife to suspect it was not a "business trip" when he went to New York, Ralph Pattison testified yesterday.

Pattison, 44, former airline passenger agent in San Francisco, testified by deposition in a tangled custody case.

Dr. George Block, 30, Ann Arbor, Mich., cancer specialist, is suing his former wife, Elizabeth Bowman Block for custody of their two sons, George Jr., 5, and John, 3½.

Block charges his former wife with intemperate drinking and promiscuity and names Pattison and a former Denver traveling salesman, Devereaux Webster, 31. Pattison's deposition told of a tryst at New York, among other cities.

Pattison's 265-page deposition said Pattison had his first rendezvous with the svelte divorcee in New York during the 1955 World Series, then had other trysts with her in Chicago and San Francisco until they broke up April 23.

When they parted in New York, it said, they agreed on a code—"I slipped"—by which Pattison could let Mrs. Block know if he resumed marital relations with his wife.

Mrs. Pattison, however, accused him of "extracurricular activity" when she found "perfume on my bathrobe and lipstick on my shirts" after the New York trip, Pattison's deposition read.

20 THIS YEAR—SO FAR

County Becoming Notorious For Deaths On Its Highways

Howard County's bloody traffic disaster of last Feb. 11 in which six perished is gaining the county some publicity of highly questionable value and the fact that this county has counted for 20 deaths on its roads and highways in the first 10 months of this year is augmenting he notoriety.

In a release issued late last month, the Texas Department of Public safety deal with the state's record of multiple traffic deaths at length. Howard County's February tragedy, is cited as one of three such disasters of the current years. Tyler County had a three passenger car crash on Aug. 8 which caused eight deaths and Wheeler County had a two-car disaster on Sept. 22 which collected a toll of seven lives. These with the Howard County tragedy are the "top" major highway ratings for the current year, the department said.

Ghastly as is the picture of these more isolated instances in which several persons died, local safety authorities are equally concerned over the many other wrecks' in which one, two or possibly three perish. In addition to its "bad" event, Howard County has had one other traffic accident which caused three deaths. These two incidents accounted for nine of the 20 fatal traffic mishaps which have been scored against the county so far this year.

Two of these have occurred in the past two weeks. On Sept. 23, Edwin Cordes Jr. died in a wreck on he Snyder highway. Last Thursday night, John W. Walker was killed when the car in which he was riding rammed into a bus two miles south of here.

No score sheet has been kept on the number of injured persons involved in car wrecks in this county this year but it is known that the number will run many times the 20 who died.

City officials have recently installed a radar checking system in a new effort to curb excessive speed on city streets. One person has been killed inside Big Spring so far this year. Highway Patrol officers are handicapped by the fact there are only two such officers in the county and the road mileage is so extensive.

The Department of Public Safety in its Sept. 20 release on multiple accidents traces this type of disaster in Texas back to August 1939. The worst disaster of the list occurred in Hidalgo County in March 1940 when 29 persons were killed in a truck-train collision. McLennan County has the questionable distinction of second "honor" with a two-bus incident in August 1952 which took 28 lives. In third place is a two truck tragedy in Ellis County. Nineteen died in that crash.

Multiple deaths in car accidents in 1956 for the first eight months are responsible, the Texas Safety Department says, for raising the state's traffic toll over the same period in 1955. The department warns that if the present trend holds through the remainder of the year, the all-time record death toll of 2,547 of last year will be exceeded.

Book Circulation At County Library Falls In September

Circulation of books by the Howard County Library, located in the courthouse, totalled 3,738 during the month of September.

Mrs. Opal McDaniel, librarian, said that the drop in circulation in September as compared with the high totals in the summer months was a normal condition. With resumption of schools, September always shows a sharp drop, she explained. She anticipates that by the end of this month the demand for books will surge back to the mid-summer totals.

Regardless, the circulation this past month was better than the same months in 1954 and 1955. In 1954, September circulation figures were only 2,080. Last year, the month showed 3,620.

Mrs. McDaniel reported that 153 new books were added to the stacks during September, including four donated books.

Breakdown of the circulation figures disclosed that the bulk of demand was for the classification adult fiction. There were 1,800 applicants for these books during the month. Juvenile fiction with 822 was second; non-fiction, adults, third with 505. Juvenile non-fiction totals were 190. Miscellaneous books issued were 331.

T&P Annual Report Wins 'Oscar' As Best In Industry

DALLAS — In the 16th annual survey of Financial World Magazine, the 1955 annual report of the Texas and Pacific Railway Company was judged as the best report of the railroad industry, according to Weston Smith, originator and director of the annual report surveys.

The bronze "Oscar of Industry" award will be presented to T&P's director of employe-public relations, J. B. Shores, at the annual awards banquet at the Hotel Statler, New York, on Oct. 29.

The "oscar" award automatically places T&P's annual report in line for judging to determine the "Best of All Industries" winner.

A total of 5,000 annual reports were entered this year in the international competition. Around 1,700 reports qualified for the final screening and these were judged in 100 industrial classifications for bronze trophies.

Coahoma Woman Praises New Medicine

To my Friends and Loved Ones:

This is my first time to write a testimonial about any kind of medicine, but this Citru-Mix has helped me so much that I want to tell others who suffer from that dreadful thing called rheumatism.

I had it, rheumatism, arthritis or lumbago, or whatever you call it all over my body. It would be in my right shoulder then jump to my back or hip. It seemed that it would play around over my body. It has been in my toes, eyes and teeth. I would have to go to bed and quit, but not often as I am a mother of five children. I have been in hospitals and have gone to Mineral Wells and Marlin, Texas.

Citru-Mix was recommended to me by a neighbor and I took three bottles. I got relief in less than two hours after the first dose. That has been ten months ago and I have not had one ounce of trouble since then. I want you to try just one bottle if you have suffered as I have.

I have written this letter with my own free will and no one has paid me one cent for it. You may use it as you wish for advertising purposes.

Mrs. Mary Wilson
Coahoma, Texas

Citru-Mix is sold by the name of R-12 at Collins Brothers Drug Store and Walgreen Agency in Big Spring, Texas. (Adv.)

Eyecatching Organization In Shrine Ceremonial Parade

Gorgeously costumed members of the famous Ballut Abyad Oriental Band, made up of Shriners from Hobbs, N.M., were applauded by spectators as they marched in Saturday's mammoth Shrine Parade in Big Spring. The New Mexico group was but one of a long list of fantastic and lavishly costumed organizations appearing in the procession. The parade was witnessed by throngs of Big Spring and Howard County residents who lined the streets.

THE WEEK

Abilene. Then came the fatal shooting which took the life of Hugh Emmett George. Next was the carbas collision south of town, fatally injuring John W. Walker, (Howard County's 20th for the year). Finally, Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Baker, former Forsan residents, were both killed in a car wreck late Friday night near Lubbock.

* * *

The Webb AFB housing project moved a notch nearer realization during the week with approval of the Senate subcommittee on military and allied expenditures. That group gave the green light on 460 units to the defense secretary. Within a couple of months this project might be approaching contract stage.

* * *

Howard County sold its $500,000 airport bond issue to a combine headed by Columbian Securities. The effective rate was 3.33, which was considered a pretty fair bid in view of the bond market. Times have changed since about 10 years ago when we sold $150,000 of county road bonds for a flat one per cent.

* * *

Tommy Buckner had the grand-champion animal in the annual swine show and sold it for $1.30 per pound. The reserve brought Jimmy Engle $1.10 a pound. There were some mighty good looking porkers on exhibit, including the Sears Foundation gilts and boars—the foundation stock of a vastly improved swine crop in this area.

The Big Spring Concert Association is reporting good response to membership appeals. Officials say that by the time all renewals have been secured, the house will be filling comfortably. Hence, prompt response is urged.

* * *

Former students of Big Spring High School had plenty of fun Saturday, first with a parade, then with registration, an assembly program and reception. They all had so much fun visiting that there was more talk than nibbling or dancing.

* * *

Our United Fund is on its way. Early in the week the Advanced Gifts division went into action with the objective of raising about half of the $87,000 goal. Other units are to hit the ground running soon. We're on our own this year, so help and give when you are asked.

* * *

Water use declined sharply in September, which made it ironical that September water bills were about the highest of the season. Actually, the September bills were mostly for August consumption, said water department spokesmen.

* * *

The Colorado River Municipal Water District continued to push its study for a potential big lake on the Colorado River in southern Mitchell County. USGS (qualitative and quantitative) gauging stations will be placed on the river near the dam site and on Beal's Creek, a main tributary, east of town. Meanwhile, the USGS is being urged to complete mapping in the basin area.

Between the Shriners and the high school homecoming activities, Saturday's parade stacked up just about as colorful as any since our gay round during the centennial days. From all accounts the Shrine visitors, here for their fall ceremonial, had a lot of fun and so did Big Springers watching them enjoy themselves.

Slaying Suspect Gives Self Up

NEWCASTLE, Ind., Oct. 6 (AP) — After eluding police for six days, Richard A. Moistner, 22, of Indianapolis, accused of the shotgun slaying of a friend who surprised him in a rape attempt, surrendered last night.

The man was sought for questioning in the shotgun death of Thomas Scott, 17, at Indianapolis Sunday.

Frances Mayas, 16, told Indianapolis police she and her cousin, Donna Games, 15, were with Scott and Moistner at Frances' home Sunday, while her parents were away.

Frances said Moistner hit Scott with the butt of the gun and then shot him once, killing the youth.

Shriners Induct 50 Novices, Close Out Big Fall Ceremonial

Fifty weary novices, now Nobles of the Ancient Order of the Mystic Shrine, Suez Temple, joined several hundred seasoned members of that organization on journeys homeward today — bringing to an end the fall ceremonial of the order conducted in Big Spring on Friday and Saturday.

The novices had many memories — they had the knowledge they had made the journey across the hot sands and had reached the desired destination.

The Nobles had other pleasant recollections — the hospitality of the members of the Big Spring Shrine club and the special entertainment features arranged and presented the two days the visiting Shriners were in the city.

A mammoth parade, resplendent in oriental color and atmosphere, was a highlight of the Saturday morning activities of the Shrine in Big Spring. This procession moved through the downtown area before the approving eyes of most of the residents of the city. The streets were lined with spectators; they gazed, with approval, on the georgeous trappings of the drill teams and the colorful garb of the high officials from every convenient vantage point. The parade was described as one of the best in the history of the Suez Temple. Nobles from a number of other temples, as far away as Fort Worth and El Paso, were in the line of march.

This fall meeting of the Shriners of Suez Temple, San Angelo, was dedicated to Cecil D. McDonald, Big Spring. McDonald is the present Temple Potentate of Suez — and it is the custom of the order to stage its fall initiation ceremonies in the city where the potentate makes his home.

He was presented to an audience of more than 250 Shriners and their wives at the Cosden Country Club Friday night. Tribute was paid him by Wallace Moritz, who as master of the ceremonial, was toastmaster for the banquet. He responded with a short speech, thanking the organization for honor paid him and expressing his gratitude to the local Shriners for their cooperation in planning and presenting the events attendant on the fall ceremonial.

Most of Friday was spent registering the visitors and giving them an opportunity to acquaint themselves with the city. The dinner at 7 p.m. provided occasion for the presentation of dozens of high ranking and leading Shriners and their wives.

Entertainment at the banquet featured music by Lt. Charles Webb, WAFB, at the organ and the piano. Vocal numbers were presented by Mrs. Don Newsom and Miss Marjorie Keaton of Big Spring.

After the formal program had ended, the Shriners and their wives enjoyed a bingo game. Special prizes were presented to winners.

More Nobles arrived Saturday swelling the total attendance. Registration continued until time for the big parade.

At noon the wives of the Shriners assembled at the Cosden Country Club for a luncheon. An elaborate style show was presented for their entertainment.

Meantime, all of the nobles and the novices had been transported to the baseball stadium. There they dined on barbecue.

At 2 p.m. the ritualistic work of the order was opened in the city auditorium. It was here that the 50 candidates were formally inducted into the order and their "ordeal" as novices was brought to a close. With the presentation of their fezzes as members of the order, they were accepted as equals by their veteran Nobles.

Last night the annual ceremonial ball was in progress at the Cosden club. Many of the Nobles left Saturday night for their homes but a considerable number elected to remain over night and make the return journey today.

Savings Stamp Sales Plan Proposed For City Schools

A plan for the sale of U. S. savings bonds and stamps in the Big Spring schools has been approved by school officials and will be put into operation provided the various P-TA units agree to conduct the sales.

Plans for the project were outlined after a meeting of Mrs. Allie May Currie, representing the U. S. Treasury Department, with Supt. Floyd Parsons; Mrs. A. C. LaCroix, president of the P-TA city council; all P-TA presidents, and the school staff.

P-TA units will be asked to set up the savings stamp booths in their respective schools and have workers on duty at least once a week in each school.

So far, the proposition has been submitted only to the South Ward P-TA. The group accepted the task of operating a booth at South Ward. Mrs. LaCroix said other units will hear about the program at their regular meetings in the next few days.

Mrs. LaCroix also announced that Mrs. H. L. Gahman has been designated city-wide supervisor for the project. Each P-TA unit will be asked to have its own school chairman to work with Mrs. Gahman.

As tentatively set up, the plan calls for the P-TA to secure the savings stamps from the post office and make them available to students in the schools. Postal authorities are cooperating.

The project also has the endorsement of Clyde Angel, president of the Big Spring school board. He said the lack of training in "thrift" is one of the weaknesses of modern education and that he thinks "this will be a wonderful addition to our school program."

U.S. Urges Guard Against Diversion Of Atomic Aid

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6 (AP)—The United States has proposed that Russia join in "standardizing safeguards" against secret diversion of peaceful atoms to military purposes by small nations which get atomic aid from the big powers.

Russia has agreed in a general way that this is a good idea, but State Department officials are convinced that the Soviets are really stalling and using the project as a propaganda issue against the United States.

Arnold Segrest Dies In Hospital

Arnold L. Segrest, 51, died in a hospital Saturday and will be carried to Houston for services by Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home.

Mr. Segrest came to Big Spring the first of September and was hospitalized four weeks. He was born in Woodville on Aug. 24, 1905. The remains will be taken to the Fogle-West Funeral Home in Houston.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Linnie Segrest of Houston; two sons, Archie Lee Segrest of Big Spring; and Milton Segrest of Houston; two daughters, Mrs. Evie Word of Fontana, Calif., and Mrs. Virginia Wilhelm of Houston; three sisters, Mrs. Bethel Smith and Mrs. Hazel Carson, both of Houston, and Mrs. Florence Robertson of Hawkins.

Also seven brothers, Jack Segrest, all of Silsbee, Miller Segrest of Port Arthur, Wesley Segrest and Elvis Segrest of Houston; and three grandchildren.

Hopes For Senate Primary Disappear

AUSTIN, Oct. 6 (AP)—Prospects for holding a Democratic senatorial primary have gone down the drain, leaving the question of when the special election will be called up in the air.

Gov. Shivers, who has the key to the answer, is bear hunting in Alaska and is not expected home until Oct. 16.

The outlook for holding the special election for the post to be vacated by Democratic Gov.-nominate Price Daniel to coincide with the general election was also considered out of the picture.

One section of the 1951 election code provides that candidates in a special election to fill a vacancy are allowed 30 days to file applications for a place on the ballot. In view of Shivers' absence and acting Gov. Ben Ramsey's statement that he would not act in the matter, the Nov. 6 date seems out.

That left the bare possibility that it might be called for Nov. 13 but this was considered unlikely in view of the date of Shivers' return. Considerable speculation was that some date in December might be a better guess.

The general law relating to senatorial vacancies provides that in a vacancy, the governor shall within 10 days give notice of an election to be held not less than 60 days nor more than 90 days after the vacancy occurs.

Speculation was that Shivers—who has not yet formally accepted Daniel's resignation—would follow that route.

The Democratic Executive Committee virtually abandoned the idea of trying to hold a primary when it either failed to hear from or got negative replies from many counties. They indicated they just couldn't finance it.

Jim Lindsey, new chairman of the executive committee, said today it was highly unlikely that this situation would change.

Thus far the announced candidates include one Republican, Thad Hutcheson of Houston; an Eisenhower - friendly Democrat, Searcy Bracewell of Houston; a Democrat bidding for both liberal and conservative support, Jim Hart of Austin; and Martin Dies of Lufkin, who would draw heavily on conservative backing.

It was regarded as almost certain that Ralph Yarborough of Austin would jump into the race, although he has not said. He was narrowly defeated by Daniel for governor, and would be expected to get strong liberal-faction backing.

In a special election, the high man wins. There is no runoff.

Fair Youth Day Draws Crowd

DALLAS, Oct. 6 (AP)—The 71st opening of the State Fair of Texas saw tens of thousands of youngsters stream through the gates for Rural Youth Day today.

Fair authorities expected a 200,000 total.

The formal opening came at 11 a.m. after the traditional downtown parade. Texas A&M college's band led the parade, followed by Mayor R. L. Thornton and Sen. Price Daniel.

The Texas Tech band also had a place of honor in the march.

One major disappointment was that the monorail system was not in operation.

The 15-ton coach which seats 60 passengers hung from a section of line some 30 feet above the ground. Workers were busy trying to connect three other sections of line so that 440 feet could be put into operation sometime Sunday.

Autos Collide At Northwest 3rd, Gregg

An accident at NW Third and Gregg Saturday involved Romona Sneed Parks, 1102 Mulberry, and Walter B. Hestand of Slaton.

L. Lynce of Odessa reported that his car was hit while parked at 1701 Lancaster. Owner and description of the other vehicle was not known.

HOMECOMING

of '13, accepted the gift for the oldest ex-student attending.

Others on the program were Mrs. Fred Whitaker, '26, who recalled that youngsters gathered around the old Palace of Sweets in those days, and that Clara Pool, still a teacher, was sponsor for the Class of 1926.

Bruce Frazier accepted on behalf of Shine Philips a bouquet presented by the exes. Philips had sent word by telephone that he was ready to "drag race" any ex-student.

Bobo Hardy read the prophecy of the Class of '46, which in some instances was surprisingly accurate.

Mrs. Clara Zack, clad in a 1923 frock, narrated the parade of former fashions. In the procession were Mrs. Jewel Cauble Anderson and Mrs. Veda Robinson Carter in 1900-model bathing suits, Josephine Edwards Creighton in a 1906 dress bought by the late Mrs. Docia Roberts, Margueritte Parker Thompson in a dress purchased by Mrs. J. L. Thomas in 1910, Lucille True Boykin in a 1923 costume, Helen Rogers Stewart in a 1920 evening gown, Jacqueline Smith in a 1929 dress of Mrs. Clara Jones Johnson, Mrs. Orsman in another 1929 model, Camille Koberg Patterson in a flowered chiffon bought in the 1920's by Mrs. Thomas but worn for the first time Saturday night.

Others were Clarinda Mary Sanders Harris in a dress of 1930; Wilma Rudeseal in attire of the same vintage, Lulabelle Crenshaw McAdams in her 1936 wedding dress, Maxine Smith Coleman in a 1940 suit, Imogene Runyan McMinn in a red fox jacket popular in the forties, and Maurene Schultz McCright in a 1946 costume suit.

Four evening dresses a decade apart were shown by Kathleen Thomas, 1926; Lucille Rix Pickle, 1936; Frances Bledsoe Hendricks, 1946; and Opal Hancock, 1956.

The homecoming queen, Valjean LaCroix, and her court were introduced. The queen was escorted by Dennis Jones, and Princesses Barbara Shields by Donald Hewett, Opal Hancock by Bounce Covert, Toni Thomas by Adrian deGraffenreid; and Elaine Russell by Mike Musgrove.

It was announced that the Junior Woman's Forum had the prize-winning float in the homecoming parade. Second place was won by the Sophomore Tri-Hi-Y and third by the Senior Tri-Hi-Y.

Lamesa C Of C Plans Questions To All Members

LAMESA, Oct. 6 — Questionnaires will soon be mailed to members of the Chamber of Commerce here about a program of work for the coming year.

The Planning committee worked up a list of ideas which include more street paving in the city, adoption of a building code, planning and securing a building code, establishment of a master plan and planning commission, and an all-out study of the water problem.

Also, a survey of the area trade habits, a housing survey, establishment of a cotton classing office, cataloguing of labor and raw materials resources, establishment of a day nursery for children of low-income families, and support of more profitable farming activities.

These questionnaires will go to all members of the chamber, Manager Pat Ryan said. Working on the list were Richard Crawley, chairman of the committee, Walter Buckel, incoming chamber president, and Tim Cook, incoming vice-president.

Keys Left In, Auto Is Stolen

Manager of the Southwestern Investment Company left the keys in a tan 1951 Oldsmobile behind its building at 410 E. 3rd Friday, and it was not there Saturday morning.

The management reported that it was taken sometime after 4 p.m. Friday.

W. T. Walton, 507 Runnels, told the police that a battery from a 1940 Mercury was stolen Friday.

National Letter Writing Week To Open Today

Do you "owe" any of your friends or kinsmen a long-overdue letter?

If you don't, you're the unusual sort. Most folk are sadly inclined to procrastination in the matter of answering letters.

Ask the average person about this matter and he'll probably tell you:

"I love to get mail but I just detest having to answer the letters!"

Well, if you are one of those who do owe some folk replies to letters received, you couldn't pick a better time, in the opinion of E. C. Boatler, Big Spring postmaster, to make amends than the week Oct. 7 through Oct. 13.

Because Oct. 7-13 is National Letter Writing week—that's why!

Boatler called attention Saturday to the week and mentioned that it has been regularly celebrated in the United States for the past 18 years. National Letter Writing Week was first observed in 1938 and each fall since that time, the occasion has resulted in a marked increase in the number of personal letters dropped into the mail chutes across the nation.

Boatler implied he would not take it amiss if the volume of mail dispatched out of the local office should suddenly take a big upsurge this week.

"We all know the human importance of letter writing," Boatler observed. "The way it holds scattered families together; of giving comfort and love and news to all the people in the land. But its value is immeasurably greater than that. Its implications are almost infinite."

Letter mail, he pointed out, assured by the Constitution and customs of complete sanctity represents one of the basic American freedoms. Uncensored transmission of first class mail in this nation is so commonplace no one ever gives it much thought.

It is taken for granted as are so many other tremendously important liberties Americans possess, Boatler said.

Many lands do not afford their nationals this security, he added.

"We in America have the privilege of uncensored and unlimited means of communication," Boatler declared. "With this in mind I am urging all citizens of Big Spring to join me in this national celebration. Let's make National Letter Writing Week for 1956 the greatest ever."

L. W. Huddle Dies Saturday

Leon W. Huddle, 61, died early Saturday in a local hospital. He had been ill since May.

Funeral services will be conducted at Post Monday afternoon with the Rev. H. W. Bartlett, pastor of the College Baptist Chapel in Big Spring officiating. Interment under direction of River Funeral Home will be in Post cemetery.

Mr. Huddle, who lived at 1613 Young, had been a Big Spring resident for two years. He was custodian of the College Baptist Chapel.

A retired farmer, he moved to Big Spring from McDonald, N.M.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Ilsa Huddle, Big Spring; and a brother, Arch Huddle, Coleman.

The body will lie in state at the River Funeral Home until 3 p.m. today.

Gound Services Set For Today

Funeral services for Walter A. Gound, 77, father of Wayne Gound, are to be at 3 p.m. Sunday at First Methodist Church in Floydada.

Pallbearers are to be Curley Stevens, Sam Green, E. L. Norman, Billy Henry, Otho Sanders, all of Floydada, and Jones Lamar of Big Spring.

Nalley-Pickle Funeral home is in charge of arrangements.

Floydada was the home of Mr. Gound from 1900 until last February when he came to Big Spring. He was a retired building contractor and a pioneer member of the Methodist Church.

Burial is to be beside his wife who died 26 years ago.

Gound died in a hospital at Big Spring after an illness extending back to February.

The Howard County cotton crop is not turning out as well as farmers expected. Several sections where cotton was expected to make nearly a quarter bale to the acre now won't pull a bale to every eight acres.

In the Morgan community, which got a late rain, cotton burnt badly in August and September. Leland Wallace has harvested five bales on one farm and will get about two more. On one large field of about 130 acres he thought the yield might be as much as a quarter bale to the acre. It now looks like 20 bales will catch it.

Cotton in the Fairview area also failed to respond to the late rain. Probably not a single field will make a quarter bale, though several farmers thought it might a few weeks ago.

* * *

Ginning is slow and intermittent at most gins. Yesterday the Co-Op Gin and Supply expected to end the day with about 515 bales, according to John Whitaker. He said some of the cotton was getting sandy, as farmers start gathering the poorer parts of the fields.

Whitaker's brother, Frank, who is manager of the Vincent Gin, had ginned over 220 bales up to a few days ago. He figures the total will not run much over 350 bales, and a big part of this will come out of Borden County.

* * *

A. C. Kloven, over at the Farmers' Gin Company, said they had ginned 256 bales.

"It's coming in mighty slow," he said. "Some days we get 15 bales, and then next day maybe not over eight or ten. Some of the cotton has sand in it, and it may get sandier if we have any high winds this month."

Kloven thinks some cotton may never be gathered this year. He says much of it is so near the ground that farmers will have a difficult time getting strippers across it. And since boll pullers won't go into these barren fields, the cotton may be plowed under when farmers put up the land.

The local dairy owners are still just holding on. No one is making any profit; feed is high and none of them made enough grain sorghum this year to put up silage.

Ralph Neill, farming just northeast of Big Spring, filled his silo last year with 200 tons, and still has some of this left. He also put up 22 tons this year, which he bought from a neighbor.

Neill says some of the dairymen are buying alfalfa hay, but he isn't. It's not very good hay and has a lot of grass burrs in it.

Dairymen are milking everything now that will give any milk at all, Neill said. During September and October the milk base is set, so each dairyman gets all the milk possible during this period.

Rexie Cauble was fortunate in finding some good grass for his cattle, without leaving Howard County. He is pasturing 75 head on the Larkin Longhorn Ranch near Lee's Store.

Cauble said some of the sideoats grama was knee-high and had been grown this year. Longshore had some old grass left from last year, then got some good rains this year to put parts of the ranch in fine condition.

Cauble said Longshore had been stocking conservatively for the last several years and never puts over 18 head to the section. Some of the cattle were moved the middle of September and the last ones were put on the pastures Oct. 1.

Cauble is getting seven bulls in shape to sell, and may offer them at the Big Spring Hereford sale.

* * *

Farmers continue to put down irrigation wells, though they've slowed up the last few weeks. R. C. Buchanan recently drilled another small well, and Rexie Cauble just completed one that will pump 110 gallons per minute.

Also, a farmer a few miles northwest of Big Spring is supposed to be drilling some wells now.

Hardly any maize in this area is worth combining, says E. T. Tucker, local grain dealer. He said one man brought in 5,950 pounds of maize which had been harvested from 35 acres. After the man paid the rent and combining, he had exactly $2.07 left for his part.

Tucker says much of the maize will be fenced and grazed, and some of it will just be left in the field. He has been hauling grain from the area between Lamesa and Plainview. A bumper grain crop was made in that area, particularly where farmers irrigated.

Tucker said he had the elevator full and plans to put about $10,000 worth of grain on the ground. This part will be used in feed rations.

Maize is not going up much, but has increased 10 cents per hundred pounds.

SHORT TAKES — Most farmers say they will vote Democratic. Two business men think the farm vote will be enough to swing the county for Stevenson and Kefauver . . . Irrigated cotton farmers seem to be doing better this year than they expected. The long staple cotton in Martin County produced well, it's bringing a good price, and the dry weather has helped get the crop out early.

A co-worker was complaining that fishermen never gave away samples. "I've snapped a lot of pictures of fishermen and their prize catches," he said, "and never yet has one of them given me a fish."

I certainly can't say this about farmers. Only yesterday E. L. Newsom of the Lee's community stopped where I was parked and gave me two nice watermelons. I've been given rabbits, roasting ears, vegetables and even a jar of old-fashioned chow chow. This came from Lois Madison of Tarzan. And they didn't give these things just to get their names in the paper either. Fishermen may be stingy, but farmers are definitely a free-hearted group.

Mrs. Sadie Gilland, who operates a cafe on the highway west of Stanton, has an advertising stunt popular with truck drivers. On the cafe walls she has the pictures of over 500 drivers standing beside their vehicles. She took the pictures herself, and says they represent truck drivers and companies from all parts of the nation.

Change In Bracero Program Is Urged

LAMESA, Oct. 6 — A three-fold attack on the bracero program will be submitted to the Dawson County Farm Bureau convention here Oct. 13.

The three points are urging the Farm Bureau to ask for (1) a congressional investigation of the 1955 bracero back-pay demands by the Department of Labor, (2) an act of Congress giving individuals or groups the right to sue the Department of Labor on each individual case, and (3) removal of the bracero program from the Department of Labor and return to the Secretary of Agriculture.

Other resolutions for approval are to give the county ASC office more authority in local matters, require oil drillers to return salt water to the holes, and license exemption of farm trailers where the trailers are used exclusively to haul products to market.

The Farm Bureau now has 789 members — 61 less than its goal for the year.

Ex-Forsan Couple Killed In Collision

A former Forsan couple, Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Baker, died as the result of a two-car collision near Lubbock late Friday.

Baker, member of an oil well servicing firm, was killed instantly. Mrs. Baker died about two hours later in a Lubbock hospital.

Under treatment for serious injury was their daughter, Donna Baker, 10. Also hurt in the collision were other passengers in the car, Mrs. John Hamblen and son, James, 12, of Snyder. They were under treatment at the West Texas Hospital.

The three were reported improving Saturday, however.

In critical condition was Jose Guerrero, Corsicana, driver of the other car. Hurt, but less seriously, was his brother Speedy Guerrero. They were at St. Mary's Hospital.

The collision occurred at the intersection of U. S. 87 and FM 1585, four miles south of Lubbock at 11:15 p.m. Friday. The Bakers and friends were en route home from the Snyder-Levelland football game.

Their car came to a stop upside down in a cotton field about 60 feet east of the highway. Also capsized and in the east bar ditch was the other car.

The Bakers leave three sons, Robert Baker, Andrews, Ronnie Baker, a junior in Snyder High School and who rode home from Levelland with another family, and Kenneth Baker; and one daughter, Donna.

The family was well-known in the Forsan area, being active in many civic and church affairs. At Snyder, Mrs. Baker was very active in P-TA work, serving presently as president of the high school unit. Mr. Baker was a deacon in the First Baptist Church. They moved from Forsan to Snyder about five years ago, when he became a partner in the B.&H. Well Servicing Company.

Funeral services will be held at the First Baptist Church in Snyder today at 4 p.m., with the Rev. C. M. Cole, pastor, officiating.

Bolger Funeral Home in Snyder is handling arrangements.

Pallbearers are Nolan Von Roeder, Claude King, Hoyt Andrews, S. T. Raines, A. O. Jones, C. V. Wash, Lee McLaren, E. W. McLoud, T. R. Crump, Bobby McAfee, Ernest Brewer, Henry Parks, C. L. Glenn, Wayne Key, J. D. Golden and G. B. Harding.

Honorary pallbearers will be the deacons of the First Baptist Church there.

Mrs. Baker is survived by her mother, Mrs. R. E. Thompson of Lubbock; seven brothers, Robert Thompson of Hereford, Stephen Thompson of Odessa, and Cecil Thompson, Vernon Thompson, Asher Thompson, Maburn Thompson, and Joe Thompson, all of Lubbock.

Mr. Baker leaves his mother, Mrs. S. H. Baker of Mansfield; a sister Myrtle Baker of Mansfield; two brothers, F. M. Baker of Mansfield and James Baker of Handley.

Burial will be in Hillside Memorial Gardens.

Dawson Discovery Is Shut In After Test

Seaboard Oil's No. 1-A J. R. Weaver, a wildcat venture five miles northwest of Lamesa, was shutin Friday for storage after flowing oil on preliminary production tests.

Operator acidized perforations between 9,110-16 and 9,077-95 feet with 500 gallons acid. After flowing load, the wildcat made 56.76 barrels of oil in two hours, through a 24-64-inch choke.

A subsequent eight and a half-hour test, through a 14-64-inch choke, returned 113.82 barrels of oil. Tests are in the Canyon Reef.

The prospector is 660 feet from north and east lines, Labor 27, League 3, Taylor CSL Survey.

In the Welch field, Tidewater No. 2 J. F. Stokes finaled for 40 barrels of 33.7 degree oil, plus 70 per cent water. Before the test, operator treated with 10,000 gallons fracture acid and 1,000 gallons mud acid.

Total depth is 4,925 feet, and five and a half-inch casing is set at 4,878 feet. Top of the pay zone is at 4,880 feet.

At a wildcat site, Texas No. 1 W. J. Beckham drilled to 7,010 feet in lime. The location is 1,980 feet from south and 660 feet from west lines, 17-35-5n, T&P Survey, and a mile and a half south of Lamesa.

It is six and a half miles northwest of the Sparenburg field but a mile north of a 9,655-foot dry hole. Operator is testing to 10,000 feet.

Harrison Honored As 25-Year Cosden Vet

Johnny B. Harrison joined that exclusive circle of 25-year veterand with Cosden Petroleum Corporation on Friday evening.

He was honored at a dinner given by the company and to which he invited more than a socre of his close associates over the year. Only ones outside the Cosden family were his brother, Roy Harrison, from Andson, and his son-in-law, Jimmy Shoults.

Besides the traditional jewelled ring given to the quarter-century veterans, Harrison was informed that Cosden had placed on deposit a month's pay to be used for a vacation.

JOHNNY B. HARRISON

Born in Abilene, Harrison came to Big Spring in 1927 and first worked for Cosden on a temporary basis in 1930. He began his permanent connection in 1931 as a yardman, quickly moving into operations and up through the various stages until he became a shift foreman in 1943. He has served as one of the company's four shift foremen continuously since then.

In 1933, he was married to the former Jewel Marsh in Cooper, and they make their home at 1104 E. 4th St. They have two daughters, Mrs. Vesta Shoults and Marijon Harrison, who is in her second year at Howard County Junior College; and one son, Johnny Harrison Jr., a ninth grade pupil.

Harrison is a member of the Baptist Temple and of Masonic Blue Lodge No. 1340. Last summer he took his 32nd degree in the Scottish Rite consistory at Dallas.

Industry Heavy On Technicians

By CHARLES HASLET

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6 (AP)—Seven out of every 100 employes in the oil and gas industry are scientists and engineers. Ten per cent of the industry's employes are women.

Total employment in the industry is 863,800 on the basis of the latest estimate.

This story is told in a report of the National Petroleum Council (NPC), established 10 years ago to advise the government. Employment figures do not include workers in retail outlets and services.

NPC said employment in crude oil and natural gas production climbed from 254,200 in 1950 to more than 300,000 in June 1955. Employment in the refining branch rose from 195,700 to 20,400.

The report estimated that of the 863,800 total, 313,500 worked in crude oil and natural gas production, 209,400 in oil and oil products refining, 113,000 in transportation and 227,900 in distribution.

Chairman Walter Hallanan stated the council's functions at a meeting last week at which it greeted Secretary of Interior Seaton.

"The council is not a policy making organization," he said. "It does not even make recommendations to the secretary of the interior or to any other official or department of the government.

"It is but a channel through which there may be made available to the government the best talent of the oil industry and all of their information and knowledge upon any given subject."

Head-On Crash Job Is Taken

COLUMBUS, Ohio Oct. 6 (AP)—Bill Condon, 30, of Columbus, got the job to crash headon at 45 m.p.h. with another auto at Powell Speedway. The speedway advertised for a single man under 25 to take the job. But Condon got it it, despite his age and dependents—a wife and three children—because he "had previous experience," a speedway spokesman said. A story about the ad was carried coast to coast by The Associated Press and brought applicants from more than 100 daredevil volunteers in all parts of the country. Driver of the other car will be Bob Metzger, 29, also of Columbus.

Oil Heads Warn Industry Must Settle Imports

By MAX B. SKELTON

HOUSTON, Oct. 6 (AP)—Two oil company presidents warned this week that the dispute over imports must be settled within the industry.

M. J. Rathbone of Standard Oil Co. (N.J.) and L. F. McCollum of Continental said burdensome government rules would develop should the industry fail to solve the problem.

"I fervently hope the oil industry will have the wisdom to accept the Office of Defense Mobilization in the role of a soft-handed referee rather than to invoke the iron fist of government control," said McCollum.

Rathbone said inviting any sort of government control of oil imports may well lead to government intervention.

"And I believe we will all agree this would set back oil development in this country materially," he said.

McCollum and Rathbone spoke to the Texas Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Assn. Jersey Standard is the nation's largest oil importer. McCollum's Houston firm does not import oil but is making foreign explorations with other companies.

McCollum said it seems clear there is a proper place for both domestic and foreign oil in the United States economy.

"As I see it, the problem of oil imports is one of providing for an orderly and balanced growth in the column of crude oil coming from foreign and domestic sources," he said.

Rathbone agreed that should imports impair the strength and virility of the domestic industry "we would be following a foolish and imprudent course."

Record Gas Well Finals

MIDLAND (AP) — A flow of 570 million cubic feet of gas daily, believed the largest volume of dry gas ever recorded in West Texas, was reported by Phillips Petroleum Co.

The heavy flow, enough to supply any West Texas gasoline plant with its raw gas, came from the Phillips 2-D Puckett, a project in the Puckett (multipay) gas area of southeast Pecos County.

The calculated, absolute open flow potential is from Devonian perforations at 10,536-10,678 feet.

The well is 26 miles southeast of Fort Stockton, 1,785 feet from north and 828 feet from west lines of section 26, block 101, TCRR survey.

Phillips opened the Puckett field in 1952. It produces from both the Devonian and Ellenburger formations.

Gas from the Puckett area is taken to the midwest by Permian Basin Pipeline Co., from where it is distributed by Northern Natural Gas Co.

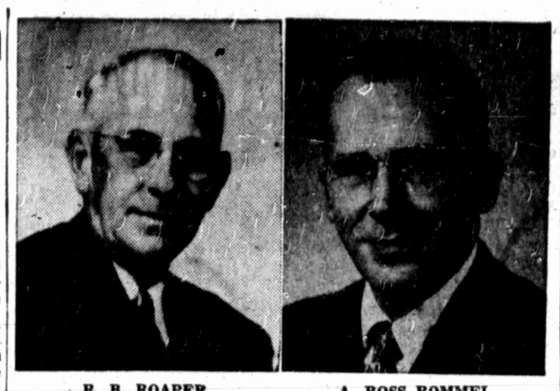

Sharon Ridge Test Finals In Mitchell

Carter, Mandell, and Simons completed a Sharon Ridge 1700 field well.

It is the No. 1-C J. H. Humphreys about eight miles northwest of Colorado City. Location is 1,564 feet from north and 330 feet from west lines, 13-27, T&P Survey.

It pumped 56.55 barrels of 30-degree oil, plus 12 per cent water, on a potential test for 24 hours. Before taking the test, operator fractured with 30,000 gallons.

Top of the pay zone is 1,508 feet, and perforations extend from 1,508-22 feet. Total depth is 1,535 feet, with five and a half-inch string set three feet above that depth.

R. B. ROAPER

A. ROSS ROMMEL

Industrial Safety Pioneer Is Retired

R. B. Roaper, one of the pioneers of industrial safety, retired last week after 31 years of service with Humble Oil & Refining Company and Humble Pipe Line Company.

He was chief safety engineer with the companies for 27 years, supervising their extensive safety program. When Roaper began his campaign to combat industrial accidents in 1929, Humble had a frequency rate of 43 disabling accidents per million work hours. In contrast to that mark, Humble's frequency rate so far this year is 2.15 disabling accidents per million work hours.

Roaper is one of the founders of the Texas Safety Association and a long-standing member of the American Society of Safety Engineers and the National Safety Council. He served as president of the TSA several times and as chairman or member of many committees for the two national organizations.

The American Petroleum Institute presented a Certificate of Appreciation to him last year for his contributions to the field of industrial safety. He was also honored by being chosen to represent the State of Texas at the President's Highway Conferences in Washington and Miami.

After his retirement from Humble service, Roaper will join the Standard-Vacuum Oil Company as safety consultant. His work will take him to all of StanVac's installations in Japan, the Philippine Islands, New Zealand, India and other countries in the Far East.

Roaper was born in 1891 in Palestine. At 19, he went to work as a car route salesman for a packing company before joining Humble in 1925 as developer for a housing addition in old Baytown. In that capacity, he handling sale of lots by the comany to employees. He entered the safety field in 1927.

In 1948 he was safety adviser to the American petroleum industry representatives at the International Labor Organizations Conference in Geneva, Switzerland. He also helped to set up a safety program for the oil industry in South America.

A. Ross Rommel has been named chief safety engineer of Humble succeeding Roaper.

Rommel, a native of Washington, D. C., joined Humble in 1935 after graduating from the University of Virginia with a chemistry degree. He worked as a roughneck in the oil fields, as a chemical engineer, a petroleum engineer, a field safety engineer, and as an assistant industrial relations division manager with the company before becoming assistant chief safety engineer in 1947.

B. F. Robbins' Mark 55th Anniversary Of Their Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Robbins, long familiar figures among the local oil fraternity, observed their 55th wedding anniversary here Saturday.

The only formal affair connected with the anniversary was a quiet dinner at the Howard House with a few of their close friends.

Ben F. Robbins and Lucille Willis, who had been practically childhood sweethearts, were married in Trenton, Texas, by the Rev. John Connally, a Baptist minister, on Oct. 6, 1901. He was a young merchant at the time, later taking an oil drilling rig in on a trade. He took this to Oklahoma to drill, and the oil bug bit him for keeps. Mr. and Mrs. Robbins came here in 1926 at the outset of the big Howard-Glasscock boom.

Rig Never Looked So Good

No drilling rig looked as good as the one pretty Judy Cranfill of Odessa visited to sell tickets to the entertainment features for the Permian Basin Oil Show. She met little sales-resistance from Bob Thurmon, left, and J. L. Light with Permian Mud Service, or from C. H. Ward and Jack Williams, right, both with Delta-Gulf Drilling Co. The rig is located within a mile of the southeast city limits of Odessa, where the world's biggest oil show for 1956 will be presented October 18-21.

FORD SLAUGHTER MARTIN CRAIG SNIDER FURILLO

Slaughter Is Star In Yankee Victory

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK, Oct. 6 (AP) — Enos Slaughter, the ever-hustling 40-year-old "country boy," helped Whitey Ford boost the New York Yankees back into the World Series today with a three-run homer in the sixth inning for a 5-3 victory over Brooklyn after two staggering defeats.

The former St. Louis Cardinal, who was reacquired from Kansas City on waivers Aug. 25, slammed a Roger Craig pitch into the lower right field seats with Hank Bauer and Yogi Berra on base and two out in the sixth. Slaughter's homer was his seventh Series hit, boosting his average to a shiny .583.

The Yankees, who played in a dreamy haze for two days in Brooklyn, reacted violently to the bumper crowd of 73,977 on their return to Yankee Stadium.

An eye-catching relay from Hank Bauer to Billy Martin to Andy Carey cut down Carl Furillo trying to stretch a double into a triple, snuffing out the Dodgers' last threat to Ford in the ninth.

Ford, who lasted only three innings in the opening defeat by Sal Maglie, curled his curve past the Dodgers for an eight-hitter, his fourth Series triumph. The chunky little left-hander walked only two and struck out seven, fanning the feared Duke Snider three times.

It was Ford who finally stopped Brooklyn's hit-crazy sluggers but it was old man Slaughter who really finished off the Dodgers. Hero of the 1946 Series when he dashed three bases on a routine single into right center to give the Cards the championship over the Boston Red Sox, Slaughter continued his terrific, heart-warming play.

Ford and Craig had been engaged in a cut-throat battle, locked 1-1 after they traded runs in the second, until the Dodgers finally opened up a one-run lead in the sixth on Pee Wee Reese's triple past Mickey Mantle and Snider's deep sacrifice fly to Mantle.

The crowd, largest to see a Series game in New York since Oct. 5, 1947, sensed it was now or never for the Yanks as they came in for their whacks in the sixth with the top of the order coming up.

Bauer, hitless in two previous trips against the lean right-hander, looped a single into short left field. Grandstand second-guessers had a field day when Joe Collins instead of bunting with the tying run on first and nobody out, swung at the first pitch and flied to Snider.

When Mantle, whose only hit was a drag bunt single in the first popped to Gil Hodges, Yank hopes sagged. Craig was two-thirds of the way out of his jam.

Berra kept it alive with a single to right center after looking at one strike and swinging at another.

There was a rumbling in the triple-decked stands when Slaughter, leading Yankee Series hitter, strode to the plate. Craig got the first pitch over for a called strike while old Enos looked. Then came three balls in succession.

Swinging on the 3-1 pitch, Slaughter drove the ball over the head of Furillo, straining at the leash at the very edge of the right-field barrier. It sailed about four rows back while Bauer, Berra and Slaughter circled the bases.

If it is true that the Yanks had voted Enos only a half-share in the Series, subject to revision if he had a "good Series" the Yanks must have cast a unanimous ballot for a full share.

Slaughter wasn't the whole game but it seemed that way to the customers. He treated them to the same dose of drama that Maglie, 39, gave them on opening day.

Slaughter's hit was the finest moment of this tense, close-to-the-vest ball game but it didn't have too much on the thrilling race between Furillo and the Yankee relay in the ninth.

Leading off the ninth, Furillo smashed a Ford pitch to the auxiliary scoreboard in right center. Not content with two bases, Furillo zoomed on toward third. Bauer's throw to Martin and a perfect relay to Carey just nipped him sliding into third. The next two Dodgers went quietly, Roy Campanella taking a called third strike and Charlie Neal rolling out to Carey.

The Dodgers, who had trailed in the early innings in both of their winning efforts, got out front in the second inning when Jackie Robinson walked, Hodges singled and Furillo scored Robinson with a long sacrifice fly that was caught by Bauer near the Yankee bullpen gate after he had stumbled. Hodges hit was an infield blow on which Gil McDougald made a fine stop but couldn't get the ball away in time for a force.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Our football boys may be down this year but our Quarterback Club continues to do a championship job behind the scenes, letting the athletes know the fans are behind them, even in the wake of their defeats . . . The booster organization, typified by men like co-chairmen Lee Porter and Jack Johnson, long ago emerged as the major supporter and promoter of the local school's athletic program . . . A non-profit organization, the QBC—at considerable expense—tries to feed the boys twice during the season, pays for action films of each of the team's games and makes the boys and coaches aware of its presense in countless other ways . . . QBC meetings aren't always attended as they should be but the members are quick to respond, when they are called upon to help with a chore . . . To its credit, the club voted from the start never to be a "head-hunting organization" but rather to boost the coaches and their athletes, in good times or bad . . . The QBC's creed is simple . . . Said Johnson recently: "Our sole objective is to promote and support all high school athletics in Big Spring, and there is a place in the Big Spring Quarterback Club for everyone who is interested in boosting athletics" . . . Don Ellis, who helped Georgia Tech beat SMU last week, was a quarterback until he got four front teeth knocked out in a jarring accident . . . He had to be shifted to end because the Engineers couldn't function with a lisping signal-chanter . . . Jim Zapp, the one-time bomber of the Big Spring Cosden Cops ,would like to become a professional umpire if he could raise the funds to attend Bill McGowan's arbiting school . . . Gil Turner, the middleweight fighter, has appeared on 29 TV fights . . . The state of Pennsylvania contributed no fewer than 15 of the 40 football players on the Miami (Florida) football squad, compared to only six for Florida itself.

Athletes Can't Quit And Return

Coaches here have a rule that says an athlete can't report for one sport, if he quits another before the season has ended . . . An exception would be made, of course, in a case where an injury forces him to retire temporarily . . . Though 240-pound Gene Bentley, a fullback from Panhandle, is the biggest man on the Texas Tech football team, he has run the 100-yard dash in less than ten seconds . . . A number of one-time Big Spring baseball players will be active in Latin-American leagues this week. . . Camilo Pascual and Juan Visteur will be with Cienfuegos, Raul Sanchez and Vince Amor with Havana and Mike Fornieles and Witty Quinana with Marianao, all in the Cuban Winter League . . . Had J. B. Davis, the Ninth Grade football whiz here, been born three days earlier he would have been ineligible to play his senior year of football . . . Jerry Dychman, stationed at Webb Air Force Base here, is a former all-Southwest Conference football player for Baylor University . . . Eddie Allen, wheel horse of the Conhoma Junior High School football team last fall, isn't even playing this fall . . . He could help the Bulldogs this fall and would probably have been a regular by 1957 . . . Local coaches don't know what happened to Charles Preas, star end of the Big Spring Yearlings last fall, who moved from town during the summer without telling anyone . . . Weldon Bigony, who played football for the Big Spring Steers in the late '30's and who later was a Baylor gridder, will see the Olympic Games in Melbourne, Australia, next month. . . He's now employed by the Civil Air Transport in Taipei, Taiwan . . . Bill Bentley, an Atlanta football official, used to have a shock reply for players who complained of opponents' tactics . . . Once, a gridder rushed up to him asking: "Did you see that? Did you see how he was holding me then?" . . . Squinting, Bentley motioned the boy, saying: "Come a little closer, son. I can't even see you."

Savage Off To Another Good Season

Bobbye Savage, the one-time Big Spring High School athlete, is off to another successful season as coach of the East High School team in Des Moines, Iowa . . . His team won its first two games by comfortable margins and is regarded as the best in the area . . . Spike Dykes, a guard who attended grade school here but who played his high school football in Ballinger, recently transferred from Rice Institute to San Angelo College . . . Cotton Lindloff, who used to patrol the outfield for the Roswell Longhorn League entry, is coach of the Mart schoolboy footballers this fall. . . The Washington Senators estimate they played to 36 per cent of their home crowds when the New York Yankees were in town the past baseball season . . . In their recent game with Levelland, Plainview led by a score of 14-0 at half time and the Lobos had to take to the air in the final period to pull out a 27-14 victory . . . C. C. (Brick) Brunton, a Forsan oil man and the father of Pat Brunton, the Buffs' football star, was raised by Fred C. Clarke, a member of baseball's Hall of Fame . . . Now 84 years of age, Fred resides in Winfield, Kansas . . . Brunton recently sent him birthday greetings . . . Bobby Goswick, quarterback of the Breckenridge Buckaroos, is a cousin of Bennett Watts, who called signals for the Buckies last season . . . Lou Perini, owner of the Milwaukee Braves, recently was awarded a $50 million road contract by the Canadian government . . . Georgia University, whose football team has been eclipsed in its own state by Bobby Dodd's Georgia Tech team, will play Navy, Michigan and Texas in 1957 . . . J. C. Caroline, the former Illini star who is now trying it with the pros, is regarded as a standout defensive back even though he has to defend against passes with one hand . . . A bad shoulder prevents him from lifting his left arm above shoulder level . . . I think seats in all football stadiums should be equipped with safety belts — to keep fans from bouncing up on every play.

Cowboys Defeated By Colonials, 13-7

WASHINGTON Oct. 6 (AP) —Hardin-Simmons won the battle of the statistics but lost the ball game Friday night 13-7 to George Washington of the Southern Conference.

The Cowboys rushed and passed 402 yards compared to 189 for the Colonials but couldn't score until the final period. Fumbles and pass interceptions ruined the Texas' effort.

George Washington, winning its third straight, went ahead in the second period when Don Sizemore couldn't control a last-down pass from center and was flattened on his own five. Pete Spera scored the touchdown.

A 65-yard third period drive ended with Bob Shuba going over from the 2 for the second Colonial score.

Dewey Bohling rammed over from the 1-yard line for the Hardin-Simmons touchdown. It was a disheartening homecoming for Sammy Baugh, coach of Hardin-Simmons. Baugh was once the star of the Washington pro Redskins.

Baylor Blanks Terrapins, 14-0, For Third Victory

By GEORGE BOWEN

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Oct. 6 (AP)—Undefeated Baylor nursed across two touchdowns, the clincher by injured halfback Del Shofner, to defeat Maryland 14-0 today and hand the Terrapins their first whitewashing in 70 regular season football games.

Oklahoma shut out Maryland, 7-0, in the 1954 Orange Bowl. Vanderbilt was the last to turn the trick in a scheduled game, 34-0, in 1948. It was Maryland's second defeat in three games this season.

Shofner, star halfback who hurt his leg in practice Wednesday, in the few minutes inflicted enough damage to provide Baylor with its third straight triumph this season.

Coach Sam Boyd sent him in for the first time at the start of the second quarter at the tail end of a drive from Baylor's 17. With the ball on Maryland's 19, Shofner threw his first pass in three years of college competition and it was caught on the 5 by end Earl Miller.

The rangy and speedy Shofner then went around his right end to score.

After a touchdown pass from quarterback Doyle Traylor to Miller was nullified by an illegal receiver being downfield, Baylor came back to score in the third quarter. It was set up when tackle Bill Parsley recovered halfback Ted Kershner's fumble on the Maryland 34.

Sophomore halfback Arthur Beall, who kicked both extra points, went over from the 3.

Maryland came closest to scoring in the second quarter. The Terps reached the Baylor 6 on a one-man drive by fullback Tom Selep.

A fumble by quarterback John Fritsch on last down killed the chance and Maryland went without scoring for the first time in 70 regular season games.

Selep put on a great effort to avoid the shutout. In the third quarter drive from the Maryland 38 to the Baylor 6, he carried on 9 of 14 plays.

The fullback ran with the ball 24 times for 118 yards. Maryland had the ball for 55 running plays and its total yardage was 155.

Maryland got off to a good start when tackle Mike Sandusky recovered a fumble by halfback Ronnie Guess on the Baylor 37. A pass from Fritsch to end Bill Turner carried to the 15, but Maryland could go no farther and Bill Komlo's attempted field goal was wide.

Shofner almost set up Baylor another touchdown in the second quarter when he returned an intercepted pass 58 yards to the Maryland 13. But Baylor was caught clipping and had to settle for the ball on its 48.

Both teams were penalized plenty to frustrate themselves. Maryland was set back 125 yards and Baylor 110.

Forrestal Paces Middies To Win

ITHACA, N.Y., Oct. 6 (AP)—Junior Tom Forrestal faking beautifully all the time, passing expertly most of the time and carrying the ball capably when necessary, lead Navy's football team to a clean-cut 14-0 victory over Cornell today.

Forrestal passed to halfback Ned Oldham for one touchdown. Paul Gober, who did a fine day's work from the other halfback post scored the other on a 3-yard run over tackle on which Cornell's line seemed to politely step back. Oldham made both conversions.

Cornell had one moment of brilliance when it stopped the Navy thrust on the 1-yard line after a Navy march from its own 25.

Horned Frogs Easily Repel Razorbacks In SW Opener

Curtis, Swink Dazzle Enemy

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

FORT WORTH, Tex., Oct. 6 (AP)—Mighty Texas Christian crushed Arkansas 41-6 today to start back toward another Southwest Conference football championship with Ken Wineburg, Jim Swink, Buddy Dike and companion hard-running backs and the clever faker Chuck Curtis rolling up the most points ever scored on the Razorbacks.

A crowd of 28,000 watched the awesome Horned Frogs, ranked eighth in the nation, administer the second worst licking in history. Back in 1930, when the TCU stadium was first opened, the Frogs whipped the Razorbacks 40-0.

Playing in 95-degree heat, the Frogs raked the battling but futile Arkansas line from stem to stern and Curtis faked and passed the Hogs into submission before they hardly knew they were in a ball game.

In the late stages of the contest, TCU put in its reserves and they scored too over the fumbling, bumbling Razorbacks.

The Arkansas touchdown came on a 74-yard drive in the final minutes, made on the TCU reserves.

Wineburg, the rabbit runner of the Frog backfield, made two touchdowns, one on a 46-yard dash set up by the clever feinting of quarterback Curtis, and the other on a 11-yard pass from Curtis.

Swink set up one touchdown with a great pass-reception on the Arkansas seven and scored one with a 1-foot blast. Dike rammed nine yards through the thin Arkansas line for another and little Virgil Miller, a 150-pound reserve who proved to be a wraith, got the final with a 4-yard plunge.

Wineburg led the ball-carriers with 89 yards on 12 runs, Dike wound up with 88 and Swink got 71 in furnishing the impetus for a furious Frog offense that swept up 425 yards—330 of it on the ground. Curtis passed for 59.

Arkansas managed 231 yards rushing with Nesbitt and Don Christian making 40 and 36 respectively, while the Razorbacks could garner only 13 yards in the air.

Texas Christian scored on a 10-play 54-yard drive late in the first period after being repulsed in a surge to the Arkansas 17 shortly before. Wineburg intercepted Christian's pass on the TCU 46 to set it up. Three passes by Curtis brought the score, the payoff being an 11-yard throw to Wineburg in the end zone. Vernon Hallbeck converted.

Arkansas managed to drive down to the Frog 35 as soon as it got the ball but couldn't budge the Purple line and the Frogs took over and pushed to the Arkansas 37.

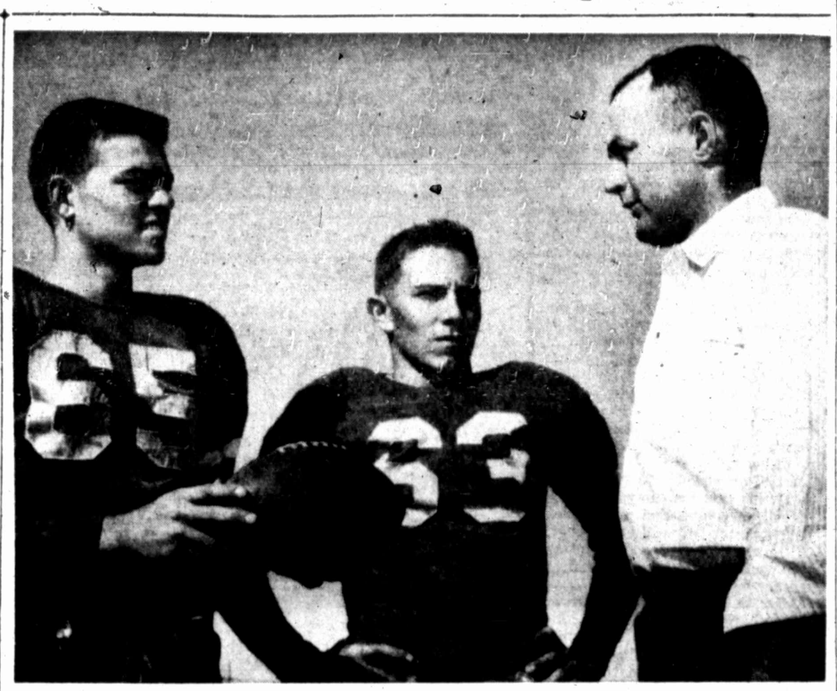

Curtis was hit for a 7-yard loss, however, and Wineburg's kick outside went only nine yards. But Arkansas couldn't go either and Christian kicked to Wineburg on the TCU 28.

Swink and Wineburg carried on alternate tries to the Arkansas 46 where Curtis faked to both Hallbeck and Swink but handed off to Wineburg and he ran untouched to the score. Hallbeck's try for point was wide and TCU led 13-0 at the half.

TCU scored again midway of the third period, slamming 72 yards. Arkansas had put together a strong drive opening the second half and with Nesbitt, Ronnie Underwood and Rogers Overbey doing the carrying had swept to the TCU 27. Here Christian fumbled and Vernon Uecker, TCU guard, recovered on the 28.

Buddy Dike and Swink hammered to the Arkansas 46. Wineburg made 3, then took a pitchout and passed to Swink on the Arkansas seven.

Dike got 5, Swink 1 and Curtis sneaked over center for the score. Harold Pollard converted.

Prather With Quarterbacks

Two Boys Hurt As Knott Loses

DAWSON, Oct. 6, (SC) —Knott's six-man football encounter with Dawson here Friday proved especially costly to the Hill Billies, not only because they lost a 34-20 verdict but due to the fact that two of their regulars were hospitalized with injuries.

Quarterback Woody Long and end Bruce Parker were taken to a Big Spring hospital following the game. Long has an injured knee while Parker hurt his shoulder.

Parker didn't see any action after the half. Long was sidelined in the fourth quarter.

Earlier, Pat McPaul of the Billies was hospitalized with a dislocated hip and will be abed at least a couple of weeks, it has been reported.

Parker scored in the first quarter for Knott on a pass play that covered 31 yards. Long threw the aerial.

James McNew tallied again for Knott on a four-yard pass from Long while Long managed the last TD on a ten-yard run.

Warren Wilburn and Parker accounted for the extra points.

Each side made eight first downs. Knott picked up 229 yards in total gains, compared to 275 for Dawson.

Knott plays at Klondike in a conference game next week.

COLORADO CITY Oct. 6. — Kermit's powerful Yellow Jackets stung the Colorado City Wolves into defeat here Friday night, 33 to 6.

The Jackets used two units to humble the Wolves, with the first string awarded bench duty for the majority of the third and fourth quarters. The second string Jackets, however, were considerably less potent than their big brothers and scored only once, and allowed a Wolf score in the fourth quarter.

The game was unusual in that the Wolves played against a Negro player for the first time in Colorado City football history. Leo Pace, 135-pound Negro wingback, played for Kermit most of the last two quarters. Coach Max Jones of Kermit said that he had two injured halfbacks and had brought Pace up from the B team last week. He had cleared Pace's play with Colorado City school authorities before suiting out the sophomore.

Colorado City's passing combinations proved a threat thruout the game, with sophomore quarterback Bob Caffey tossing for a total of 145 yards and the Colorado City score.

Kermit scored in the first quarter as the result of a 65-yard drive. Monte LaFon carried for 40 yards, and Gene Williams and LaFon teamed to carry the ball to the Wolf 9. Jack Probst passed to end Frank Jones for the score. The pass back was bad and Jim Spikes extra point try was no good.

As the first quarter ended, Kermit recovered a Wolf fumble on the Colorado City 37, and in the second quarter, Quarterback Gerald Speed bootlegged the ball around right end for the 37 yards and another tally. The end point try was no good. The Wolves mounted a drive that carried from their own ten down to the Kermit two, where Gene Williams intercepted a Caffey pass and ran it out to the Jacket 43. Probst passed to Sammy Cates at the Wolf 35 and Cates lugged it over to score. Spikes finally got a ball where he could reach it and added the point, for a halftime score of 19-0.

On Kermit's first play of the third quarter, LaFon ran off tackle for 70 yards and a score. Spikes converted. Late in the quarter, a 73-yard drive paid off with another score, with the drive sparked by J. Harrison and Pace. Harrison carried the final 16 yards and Spikes converted.

In the fourth quarter the Wolves began to move and traveled 73 yards for their only score. Caffey passed to wingback Roy Maples for 27 yards, Jim Shoemaker and Bancker Cade added 29 yards up the middle to the 17. Caffey faded to toss one to Jim Richardson standing at the threshold of the end zone, and Richardson stepped over for the score. Shoemaker failed to convert.

Lamesa Loses 20-14 Tilt To Brownfield Contingent

LAMESA, Oct. 6, (SC)—Lamesa, next football opponent of the Big Spring Steers, lost a 20-14 decision to the Brownfield Cubs here Friday night.

The reversal was the third in four starts for the Tornadoes.

Mike Browning, a reserve back, pulled the Cubs from behind with three minutes left in the game when he dashed 46 yards to Lamesa's nine. A penalty moved the ball to the one, from where Browning plunged over.

Lamesa led, 14-6, at half time. John Middleton scored first for Lamase on a ten-yard run in the first round. He had set up the score with a 54-yard punt return.

Sam Jones converted for Lamesa.

Lamesa counted again in the opening period when Charley Hatchett plowed over from the one, culminating a 79-yard drive. Jones again converted. Two plays after the kickoff, Jackie Meeks raced 17 yards for Brownfield's first tally.

The Cubs scored again in the third when Lee Dale Rowden took a short pass from Mike Hamilton for a tally.

Bobby Moore twice made good on extra point tries for Brownfield.

Lamesa made 213 yards rushing to 194 for Brownfield but only 12 passing to 59 for the Cubs. First down favored Brownfield, 16-15.

Tulane's Speedy Backs Pour It On N'western

EVANSTON, Ill., Oct. 6 (AP)—Tulane's small, speedy backs were like a swarm of hornets today as they punctured beefy Northwestern for three touchdowns in the second period and held threatening control throughout the game to gain a 20-13 intersectional football triumph.

The Wildcats' loss, before 32,000 home fans, was the first for their new coach, Ara Parseghian, in 11 games stretching back through an undefeated season when he was at Miami of Ohio last year and into the tail end of the 1954 campaign.

The Tulane Greenies were outweighed 12 pounds a man but displayed fine basic fundamentals, especially downfield blocking, drilled into them by Coach Andy Pilney.

Gene Newton, dropping back to pass, then deciding to run, scored from the Wildcat 10 for Tulane's first touchdown at the outset of the second—a play that capped a 41-yard thrust in six plays.

About 3½ minutes later, a recovered Northwestern punt that that was blocked gave Tulane the ball on the Wildcat 28. In five plays fullback Ronnie Quillian drilled over from the 2 and the Green wave led 13-6.

The Big Ten team came back to tie the score with the aid of Bob McKiever's 50-yard run to the 20, only to have Tulane go ahead at the half, 20-13, on Jimmy McCoy's 1-yard smash. Willie Hof's interception of McKiever's pass set it up on the Wildcat 24 and Gene Newton's 17-yard toss to Will Billion added the momentum.

The last half was scoreless, Tulane driving 35 and 45 yards on sustained drives only to lose the ball on fumbles.

Mustangs Trip Missouri Clan By 33-27 Tab

COLUMBIA, Mo., Oct. 6 (AP)—Southern Methodist's Mustangs rode the airlines today on the great throwing arm of Quarterback Charley Arnold to turn back an aroused University of Missouri football team, 33-27.

The Mustangs, who stopped Notre Dame in their opening game and then slumped before Georgia Tech, roared back today but not until Coach Don Faurot's Missouri Tigers had put them to the real test.

Twice both teams rolled from behind but in the end the difference was Arnold's pigskin pitching. He was on the firing end of three of the four Mustang touchdowns scored through the air.

But it was substitute quarterback Larry Click who fired the most spectacular shot through the air, a 62-yard heave to Charley Jackson with 2 seconds left in the first half.

It came on the heels of Arnold's toss to right end Leighton Steward.

Missouri came back quickly in the second half, rolling up two touchdowns with quarterback Jimmy Hunter going over on a one-yard plunge and then passing 14 yards to halfback Charley James in the end zone corner for the other.

The Tigers, still to taste victory this season, were not long in command. Arnold fired a 34-yard touchdown pass play to Steward this time. And before the third quarter ended Jackson, on a hand off, went over on a two-yard plunge for the only SMU touchdown scored from the ground.

Again in the fourth, Missouri went into the lead but once more failed to hold it.

A crowd of 25,600 saw the two teams battle beneath a warm sun.

Fullback George Cramer climaxed a long drive with a 2-yard touchdown plunge early in the fourth quarter, to put Missouri within striking distance.

And when Jackson, hard pressed by Missouri linemen, punted almost straight up in the air, the Tigers again found themselves in scoring position. Back Hank Kuhlmann put Missouri ahead by going seven yards around right end to score.

Frantic SMU tried to get its air game going but found the way blocked, so the Mustangs resorted to the ground. Ray Masters, Hal Bittenbender, Jackson and Arnold worked the ball to Missouri's 18 from where Arnold passed to Masters in the end zone for the game-deciding touchdown.

Loop Defeats Eagles, 13-6

ACKERLY, Oct. 6, (SC) —Loop scored twice in the third quarter and held off an Ackerly rally in the fourth quarter to win a 13-6 six-man conference decision here Friday night.

Freddy Grun scored on a 40-yard run for the Longhorns in the third, after which Dean Falkenberry made the extra point.

Grun again went over for Loop just before the period ended from two yards away but James Savell of Ackerly blocked the try for point.

In the fourth, a 45-yard pass and run play from Phil Wallace to Robert Taylor set up the lone Ackerly tally. Two plays later, Don Shortes passed to Taylor for four yards and a score.

Shortes and Savell played outstanding ball for Ackerly.

Ackerly made five first downs to six for Loop, 93 yards rushing to 169 for the Longhorns, 51 yards on four pass completions to 29 on as many completions for Loop, intercepted one Loop pass and recovered a Loop fumble while losing none.

Ackerly hosts Gail next Friday night.

Forsan Loses To War Birds

FORSAN, Oct. 6, (SC) — Despite a Herculean effort by Pat Brunton, who scored 24 points for the home club, Norton defeat Forsan, 34-28, in a six-man football exhibition here Friday night.

Forsan led, 20-8, at the end of the first period.

Cotton Dismore scored 18 points for the visiting Eagles while Sammy Morgan and Edward Poehls each added a TD. C. J. Robertson accounted for the other four points on conversion tries.

Ronnie Howard counted four of Forsan's tallies, also on conversion efforts.

The loss was the first of the season for Forsan, which had won three in a row.

Frank Honeycutt's Buffaloes open their conference season next Friday night, at which time they invade Water Valley.

Brunton got the first Forsan tally on a 15-yard run around left end and Ronnie Brunton kicked the conversion try for two points. Later in the period, Brunton broke loose for 31 yards and a tally.

Dismore put Norton back in the game with a 60-yard touchdown dash on the kickoff and Robertson kicked at the goal for two points.

Before the period was out, Brunton set up a Forsan TD by passing 26 yards to Charles Skeen, then dashed over from the eight.

In the second, the Buffs blew several chances to get across the goal line.

Dismore raced 70 yards for a tally on a punt return and Robertson added the point. Later, Dismore passed to Morgan for 18 yards and a Norton score, putting the Eagles ahead, 22-20.

In the third, Travis Schafer and Brunton alternated at carrying the ball in a Forsan drive. Brunton churned over from the 15 to put Forsan back in the lead, 28-22.

In the fourth, Phoels dashed five yards for a Norton six-pointer and Dismore scored again on a 28-yard run.

Forsan got close to a TD late in the game but fumbled the ball and lost possession.

Forsan made ten first downs to seven for Norton.

Edell Ratliff of the Buffs was injured and may miss a week of practice. He hurt the leaders in his neck.

Penn Ends Long Losing Streak

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 6 (AP)—The longest current major college football losing streak was given a jubilant Quaker burial on sunny Franklin Field before 15,569 today as Penn whipped Dartmouth 14-7 in the Ivy League opener for both.

Penn's last victory was a 9-6 squeezer over Navy, Oct. 24, 1953.

Penn's multiple offense was condensed for this big one, with Rich Ross running the quarterback sneak play for what may have been a college record in that department, then confounding the Indians with a pass when least expected. Ross, from Vandergrift, Pa., literally carried the load for the victory-hungry Quakers in the first half which saw all the scoring of the ball game.

COAHOMA, Oct. 6, (SC)—Sonora's pass offense and defense proved too much for the Coahoma Bulldogs here Friday night, and the visitors returned home with a 41-13 win.

Coahoma matched the Broncs point for point on the ground, but through the air, Sonora scored four touchdowns, including one on an intercepted pass.

George Johnson, the highly touted Sonora back, failed to show his running prowess but made up for it by firing seven complete passes including three TDs.

Running from the single wing, Sonora moved the ball from its own 30 across the Coahoma goal in 11 plays. The drive started after Coahoma's Don White punted out of bounds on the 30.

Johnson carried the ball over from the six but missed on a pass for the extra point. Chief play in the drive was a reverse, with Pete Badillo sweeping for 15 yards to the 13.

The Bulldogs went into the lead, 7-6, seven plays deep in the second quarter. After taking the Sonora kickoff after the first TD, Coahoma marched from its 45 to the 21 as the first quarter ended.

On the seventh play of the second period, White crashed over center from the five. David Barr passed complete to end Joe Hill for the extra point.

Sonora took the kickoff and scored again before giving up the ball. Johnson almost got loose on the kickoff return but was stopped on the Sonora 34.

With Baillo picking up 17 yards on a reverse, Sonora moved to the 10 with a first to go. A penalty shoved the Broncs back to their 25.

After two incomplete passes from there, Johnson finally hit end Shannon Ratliff with the payoff pitch and Sonora moved into the lead to stay.

Johnson then kicked his first of five extra points.

Sonora added to its total four plays after the second half kickoff. An Allen Wall-to-Johnson lateral play clicked to the Coahoma 42 on the second play from scrimmage.

A reverse went for no gain, and on the next play, Johnson dropped back and fired another TD-special to Ratliff.

Coahoma rolled to a touchdown after the kickoff. Chief play in the drive which originated on the 35 was a 37-yard pass from White to end Bobby Myrick. Myrick raced behind the safety man but was pulled down on the 13.

White and Rickey Phinney carried on alternate plays to the one, and Phinney plunged the final yard for the six points.

Angered by the touchdown, Sonora stormed back after the kickoff and scored in seven plays. Although Johnson scored from the two, the play that set the stage was a pass to Ratliff good for 25 yards.

Needing 12 yards for a first, a pass from White to Barr went for only 10, and Sonora took over on its own 35 in the final periods.

The Johnson-to-Ratliff combo again worked, once for 50, and then for 15 on the TD play.

Sonora garnered its final tally on the third from last scrimmage play via an interception.

White's pass was intercepted by Tommy Adams, a guard playing linebacker, and he carried all the way down his own left side. The play covered 57 yards.

Johnson's passes contributed 169 yards to the Sonora cause, and all but 10 yards of the total fell into the arms of Ratliff.

Backing In For Score

Herschel Stocks (33) backs into the end zones for Big Spring's first score in the Steers' resounding 28-7 triumph over Sweetwater here Friday night. Big Jan Loudermilk is hovering near Stocks at the left. Buddy Barnes (20) is on his knees at the right. No. 63 is Lewis Porter. The Sweetwater players are Ardis Gaither (44), Sammy Glass (76), Brice Hartgraves (60) and Don Bishop (85).

By TOMMY HART

A time-bomb that had been ticking through three football games was detonated at Memorial Stadium here Friday night and the Sweetwater Mustangs were the hapless victims.

The Big Spring Steers, concerned with self-doubts through the early part of the season, 'came of age' to smack down the heavily-favored and perhaps complacent Ponies, 28-7.

It was a night local fans will, no doubt, long remember. The Longhorns rocked the Red and White with a second period touchdown, came back to get another in the third and salted away the verdict by crossing the goal line twice in the fourth.

Another Big Spring tally late in the fourth was erased due to an infraction of the rules.

Superior end play on the part of the Steers helped swing the verdict. Big Jan Loudermilk played a tremendous game, both on offense and defense for the Bovines. Ricky Terry contributed far and away his finest effort. Edward Slate and Bobby Suggs were also outstanding.

Bunky Grimes, Walter Dickinson, George Peacock, Lewis Porter, Gerald Davidson, Jerry White, Danny Birdwell and Dick Jackson were a few of the others in the Steer primary who distinguished themselves with consistenly good play.

Big Spring won, perhaps, because it was possessed with an inner fire it had not shown before and because it allowed itself very few mistakes. The Steers bobbled the ball only once and recovered that time. Neither did it have a pass intercepted.

Billy Johnson did a brilliant job of quarterbacking the club and got lots of help from hard-running Wayne Fields, Herschel Stocks, Johnny Janak and Buddy Barnes.

Stocks climaxed a 66-yard Steer drive late in the second quarter when he barrelled over from the one on a fourth down play for the first score of the game. Jan Loudermilk split the uprights for the extra point.

Sweetwater snapped back in a hurry and beat the clock to tie the count when Donnie McNeal counted on an 18-yard scamper around left end. That particular surge carried 58 yards and McNeal slipped over with 25 seconds showing on the clock. Jimmy Feagan booted the PAT.

Big Spring scored again in the third when Fields powered through from one yard out. The Steers had gained possession on Sweetwater's 36 and drove to a TD without misfiring. Loudermilk again booted the point and Big Spring led, 14-7.

Early in the fourth, Johnson sought out Suggs with a perfect pass and Bobby sprinted for the third Big Spring TD. The play covered 27 paces and came on fourth down. Suggs gathered in the pass about the ten and boomed on over. Loudermilk added the point on a kick.

Big Spring pounced on a fumble on Sweetwater's 14 to set the stage for the final Steer tally about three minutes later. Fields legged it in from the one and Loudermilk kicked the point.

The Longhorns scored again late in the quarter when Edward Slate sprinted over after taking a pitchout from Fields but the play was called back and Big Spring was penalized 15 yards for clipping.

The Ponies were hammering away inside Big Spring's 20 when the final whistle blew.

Score by quarters:

But Lose, 14 To 7 Lions Scare Army

WEST POINT, N.Y., Oct. 6 (AP)—Army's football team almost shocked Penn State into submission with two quick touchdowns today, then had to fight all the way to pull out of a 14-7 decision over the stirred-up Nittany Lions.

Penn State, which hasn't beaten Army since 1899, actually outplayed the Cadets for a good part of the game. Only a goal-line interception and a brilliant runback by Bob Kyasky, the converted half back who plays quarter for the Cadets, saved a score at one stage. And Army had to hang onto the ball rather grimly toward the finish to protect its slim lead.

Yale's TD Twins Rip Brown, 20-2

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 6 (AP)—Yale's touchdown twins, Denny McGill and Al Ward, paced an improved Yale football team to a 20-2 victory today over Brown as the pre-season favored Elis began a drive for the first official Ivy League title.

The Blue, unimpressive a week ago and only 3 yards from defeat in conquering University of Connecticut 19-14, tallied in all but the second period to stop the Bruins, 20-0 victors over Columbia in their opener.

Georgia Bulldogs Kayoed By Mississippi Staters

ATHENS, Ga., Oct. 6 (AP)—Sophomore Billy Stacy broke up a listless defensive struggle with 58-yard touchdown sprint and ignited a second-half scoring spree that gave Mississippi State a 19-7 football victory over Georgia today.

Stacy was only one of several sophomores who finally found the right combination against Georgia's sturdy but slow line. They were the prime movers in two last-quarter scores which sealed State's first triumph of the season after two losses.

After Stacy, a hurdles man on the track team, streaked through the line and cut outside for his touchdown early in the third period, he led State 72 yards for another score, senior fullback Frank Sabbatini slamming over from the 2.

Georgia then found the end zone for the first time this season on a 44-yard pass play from Billy Hearn to George Whitton — only to have a backfield in motion penalty nullify the apparent touchdown.

One play later, sophomore Tom Miller, State's third-string quarterback, hauled in a Hearn pass and returned it 37 yards to Georgia's 22. Three plays later two soph halfbacks teamed up for the score, Gil Peterson hitting Bubber Trammell in the end zone with an 18-yard toss.

Georgia finally scored with 25 seconds left in the game, Hearn and soph halfback Carl Manning collaborating on a 22-yard pass play. Manning covered the last 12 yards with some gritty running.

Irish Hang On To Defeat Indiana Hoosiers, 20-6

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Oct. 6 (AP)—Notre Dame marched 99 yards for an insurance touchdown in a 20-6 victory over stubborn Indiana which threatened all the way in the 1956 home football opener at Notre Dame Stadium today.

The lineups were almost as green as the turf for both teams in a plodding contest which saw the Fighting Irish claw their way into the victory ranks after a 19-13 loss to Southern Methodist Sept. 15.

The Irish led all the way, scoring in the first quarter on brilliant quarterback Paul Hornung's 1-yard sneak and early in the second quarter on Hornung's 12-yard pass to halfback Aubrey Lewis, who scored two touchdowns.

Indiana, which opened last week with a 27-0 loss to Iowa, scored in the second period on a 64-yard drive, with third-string quarterback Tom Kendrick plunging across from the 1.

That left Notre Dame holding a not-too-impressive 13-6 halftime margin.

Indiana, which started five sophomores against six for Notre Dame, hammered a partisan crowd of 58,372 into silence with a third-quarter march of 66 yards to Notre Dame's 1.

But here the Irish showed the stuff that made them a No. 3 choice in the pre-season poll of The Associated Press. They banged all the way down the field 99 yards in 11 plays to score, with Lewis making his second touchdown with a 9-yard sprint around his own left end.

NEXT WEEKEND

4A And 3A Teams Open Loop Play

By The Associated Press

Upper divisions of Texas schoolboy football move into the championship race this week with most of the big interclass games out of the way and only 21 undefeated, untied teams left.

Champion Abilene of Class AAAA has a little cleaning up to do before starting the drive for a second straight title—something the Eagles are expected to win. Abilene, which lashed Breckenridge 41-0 last week, gets Lubbock this time and isn't due to have much trouble.

Port Neches, defending AAA champion, is on the ropes after two straight knockouts. The Indians took a 27-13 licking last week from Freeport. Snyder still is considered the top team. This outfit had trouble last week in edging Levelland 2-0 but it was no indication of lack of strength. Levelland has a good football team, too.

Abilene, San Angelo, which walloped Lufkin 34-14; Dallas Highland Park, which downed Fort Worth Arlington 28-14; Wichita Falls, which strode over Pampa 14-0; and Waco, which whammed Brackenridge of San Antonio by four touchdowns, are the top teams of AAAA.

Snyder, Cleburne and Paris look best in AAA. Cleburne beat Fort Worth Paschal 27-13. Paris blasted Kilgore 47-19 last week. Paris was impressive.

Undefeated, untied teams left in AAAA are Abilene, Midland, San Angelo, Amarillo Palo Duro, Highland Park, Wichita Falls, Arlington, Houston San Jacinto, Galveston, Harlingen and Waco.

Teams with perfect records in AAA are Phillips, Kermit, Pecos, Snyder, Cleburne, Nederland, Bay City, El Campo, Beeville and Paris.

Wake Forest Is Shaded, 7 To 6

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., Oct. 6 (AP)—An aroused Virginia football team, performing for 12,000 homecoming faithful, finally registered an Atlantic Coast Conference football victory today by whipping Wake Forest's Deacons 7-6.

Just when it appeared the Cavaliers might have to settle for a tie, center Jim Keyser jumped up in front of quarterback Pete Barham's extra-point attempt after the Wake Forest touchdown and deflected the ball low of the crossbar.

Virginia rolled 49 yards with time running out in the first half for its lone touchdown. With quarterback Nelson Yarbrough's 8-yard pass to end Bob Gunderman the key play on the drive, quarterback Whitey Clark sneaked into the end zone from the 2. Jim Bakhtiar, the big Iranian fullback who also contributed vital yards on the march, converted. The clock showed 20 seconds left in the half.

Duke Is Slashed By Vols, 33-20

DURHAM, N.C., Oct. 6 (AP)—The knife-like running of tailback Johnny Majors and Al Carter slashed Duke's defenses today as ninth-ranked Tennessee mauled the Blue Devils, 33-20, in the highest-scoring game in the 21-year series between the schools.

Majors, a 162-pound fireball from Huntland, Tenn., scored two touchdowns in the opening period on brilliant runs of 18 and 28 yards and rolled 105 yards in the first half in seven plays to lead Tennessee's sharp offense. He didn't play in the second half.

A rain-soaked crowd of 22,000 saw Duke come back in the second quarter to score two touchdowns, but the Blue Devils were no match against the Vols who looked like the Tennessee teams of old.

Snyder Edges Lobos, 2-0

LEVELLAND, Oct. 6. (SC)—Snyder scored a third period safety to defeat Levelland in a battle of undefeated AAA football teams here Friday night, 2-0.

Joe Reeves of Snyder, kicking off at half time, booted the ball to the Lobo two, where the Levelland receiver was dropped.

Two plays later, Mack Hicks of Levelland was tackled in the end zone by Milton Ham and Bill Phillips.

Levelland advanced deep into Snyder territory late in the game but a field goal try went awry from the 16.

Snyder had the ball on its own one when the game ended.

Levelland outgained the Tigers on the ground, 155 to 166 yards.

Dixon And Hawkins Help Defeat NCU

COLUMBIA, S.C., Oct. 6 (AP) — South Carolina staved off three first-half threats, then unleashed a pair of sizzling sophomore halfbacks late in the game today to defeat North Carolina 14-0.

A crowd of 20,000 sat through a light rain to watch halfbacks King Dixon and Alex Hawkins reel off yardage in two touchdown drives in the fourth period of the Atlantic Coast Conference football game.

Wildcats Prove Superior Mudders In 17-8 Victory

GAINESVILLE, Fla., Oct. 6 (AP)—Coach Blanton Collier brought a Kentucky football team of superior mudders here today and it swept to a 17-8 Southeastern Conference victory over Florida in the rain.

While Florida fumbled away the slippery ball four times, Kentucky backs hugged it tightly and turned the Gators' errors into one touchdown and a field goal for the margin of victory.

It was the first triumph for the Wildcats after losses to Georgia Tech and Mississippi. Florida went into the game unbeaten and a one-touchdown favorite but badly missed halfback Jackie Simpson, out with injuries.

Sophomore Bob Cravens led Kentucky 70 yards from the opening kickoff to the first touchdown. Ken Robertson running the final 2 yards. Florida moved 79 yards for a matching score, the payoff a 7-yard pass from Jimmy Dunn to Bernie Parrish.

Then fumbleitis set in on Florida and Kentucky had an easy, 29-yard trek to a touchdown, which Jim Urbaniak tallied on a 3-yard pass from Robertson.

Just before halftime, Florida fumbled again, on its 42, and Kentucky covered. With two seconds to go, Lou Michaels kicked a 34-yard field goal. The soggy ball barely dropped over the crossbar.

The only score of the second half was a safety which Kentucky gave Florida to get out of the shadow of its goal after stopping a Florida drive at the 2.

Thomas Leads Oklahoma To 66-0 Big 7 Victory

By SAUL FELDMAN

NORMAN, Okla., Oct. 6 (AP)—Right halfback Clendon Thomas started a 10-touchdown Oklahoma scoring spree with the first three scores as the nation's No. 1 Sooners rolled over Kansas State 66-0 today to set a new national modern college victory string of 32 straight.

The record breaks the Sooners old mark of 31 set by the teams of 1948-49-50.

Eight Oklahoma players scored touchdowns as the Sooners opened defense of their Big Seven Conference title with their 54th straight conference triumph without defeat—another record.

The homecoming crowd of 42,000 came for a touchdown slaughter and they weren't disappointed as five Oklahoma teams did just about what they wanted against the hapless Wildcats.

The only sad note for the Sooners came as all-America Tommy McDonald failed to score—the first time in 13 games he hasn't counted. However, the Sooners ran their string of making at least one touchdown a game to 108—an all-time national record.

Thomas, a junior from Oklahoma City, couldn't be stopped as he snaked through Kansas State's line to confuse the defense. His first three touchdowns were enough to break the Wildcats and others were added by David Baker, Bob Derrick, Billy Pricer, Bobby Dodd, John Pellow, Jakie Sandefer and Ernie Day.

Garden City Falls Victim To Hobbs Panthers, 68-33

GARDEN CITY, Oct. 6, (SC)—The Garden City Bearcats fell victim to the Hobbs Panthers, 68-33, in a six-man football game played here Friday night.

The Bearcats led the visitors for a quarter but the Panthers broke loose for three touchdowns in the second, added two more in the third and climaxed a great evening by crossing the goal line five times in the fourth.

Garden City advanced to Hobbs' five after getting the ball the first time but fumbled. Hobbs punted and the Cats proceeded to go for a TD, driving 40 yards.

Jim Davee made the six-pointer on an eight-yard end run. Lorin McDowell passed to Doug Gray for the extra point.

Not long after that, Davee counted again for Garden City at the end of a 65-yard drive.

Then the roof caved in for the Bearcats. Hobbs scored on a delayed pass shortly after the second period opened. Garden City fumbled and Hobbs recovered to set up the second tally and the Panthers ran back an intercepted pass for their score.

After the intermission, Hobbs capitalized on long runs and long passes and two two more Garden City fumbles to build their lead to 32-13. One of the Bearcat fumbles occurred on their own two.

The fourth quarter probably set some sort of record for area scoring. In all, the two teams made 54 points. Hobbs accounted for 36 of the total.

Bobby Fisyer got all three TD's for Garden City on passes from McDowell for 30 and 50 yards and one from Milton Mow for 65.

Mac Etheridge scored 19 points for Hobbs, Doyle Hayes 22, George Gant seven and Joe Martinez 20.

Garden City, idle next week will return to action Oct. 19, meeting Sterling City in Garden City.

Parrish played outstanding defensive ball for Washington Place.

Robert Hutt played outstanding defensive ball for Airport.

Iowa Hangs On

Texas A&M Clobbers Tech Raiders, 40-7

By ROBERT E. FORD

DALLAS, Oct. 6 (AP)—Texas A&M's Aggies stampeded through Texas Tech 40-7 tonight and showed the newest member of the Southwest Conference that the league plays rough. They did it with sheer power, except twice when Tech stiffened near the goal line. Then A&M went to the air to pour more misery on the Red Raiders.

The point spread was one of the greatest in the 14 previous games the teams have played, and was sweet revenge for the Aggies, who were swamped 41-9 the last time they met—a 1954 contest when A&M Coach Bear Bryant was at A&M for the first year.

John Crow scored twice, once on a run of 13 yards and again on a 20-yard pass and run from Jimmy Wright. Don Watson took a 10-yard scoring pass from Wright. Bobby Conrad, who played a fine game as quarterback, sneaked a yard for a tally and 2 for a second score, and Jack Pardee blasted 5 yards for another.

The Texas Tech tally came in the waning minutes of the contest, a long desperation heave from Buddy Hill to Ken Vakey, good for 36 yards. Hill converted.

Loyd Taylor converted three times for the Aggies and Ed Dudley once.

Texas Tech, notorious upset threat to conference teams for many years, is in the conference but can't meet the league's round-robin requirements until 1960.

LSU Bengals Decisioned By Rice Owls, 23 To 14

By MAX B. SKELTON

HOUSTON, Oct. 6 (AP) — Frank Ryan, 183-pound junior quarterback from Fort Worth, threw a 51-yard touchdown pass to end Buddy Dial and turned another pass play into a 32-yard touchdown run tonight while leading the Rice Owls to a 23-14 intersectional victory over favored Louisiana State.

A crowd of 55,000 saw Rice feature Ryan's fine passes and stubborn line play in defeating the heavier LSU team that was a six-point favorite.

A roughing the kicker penalty aided Rice in moving to a first period touchdown on the Ryan-Dial combination.

Steve Thompson plunged over from the one in the second period to give LSU a 7-7 tie but Ryan came right back with his 32-yard down-the-middle scamper.

Jerry Hall added an insurance field goal to make it 16-7 in the third period.

An exchange of final period touchdowns saw Howard Hoelscher, a third string fullback race 55 yards for Rice and West Turner pass 10 yards to Matt Burns for LSU.

Hall converted for Rice after the first and third touchdowns but his second attempt was wide. Durwood Graham and Jim Taylor converted for LSU.

It was the eighth victory for Rice in the 27-year-old rivalry.

There was a bit of sidelines excitement during the halftime when the Rice student body swarmed out of the stands after a banner advertising an Owl dance was damaged as it was carried past the LSU student section. Police quickly restored order. The game was an official LSU student trip, a special train carrying nearly 500 Baton Rouge students and fans here.

Odessa B Teamers Decision Locals

Although they were outplayed for the better part of three quarters, the Odessa reserves made a three-touchdown lead they rolled up in the initial period stand up in defeating the Big Spring B team, 20-0, here Saturday night.

Once the Shorthorns untracked, they gave more than they took. The Big Springers managed a touchdown in the third quarter when Billy Bob Lewallen sailed over from the two but it was rubbed out because of a penalty.

A flurry of passes on the part of Big Spring in the fourth period went for naught.

Wayne Storey scored two touchdowns for Odessa, each on a run of two yards. Frank Cook managed the other while Gerald Erwin added the extra points.

Billy Bob Satterwhite played excellent ball for Big Spring, both on offense and defense. Lewallen was a standout, as was Scotty Ellison.

Jimmy Don Williams, Franklin Williamson, Bobby McAdams, Gale Kilgore and Lanny Hamby were among those who distinguished themselves in the Big Spring line.

Odessa could never mount much of a threat after the first period. Hard-charging Big Spring linemen kept the Broncho backs off balance.

Indians Defeated By Bucks, 32-20

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Oct. 6 (AP)—Ohio State turned loose two terrific ground-eating halfbacks today to defeat Stanford 32-20 in an intersectional football contest, but the robust Bucks needed two last period breaks to conquer the air-minded Indians.

The biggest crowd in stadium history—82,881—watched the thrilling struggle in which John Brodie, Stanford's fine quarterback, put on an outstanding but futile aerial attack.

MOUNTAINEERS DEFEAT TEXAS STEERS, 7-6

By ED OVERHOLSER

AUSTIN, Oct. 6 (AP)—A strapping West Virginia University line stopped Texas cold on the one-foot line for two plays late in the game to preserve a 7-6 intersectional football victory here tonight.

Some 30,000 tense fans watched a field goal try by Texas fullback Johnny Elam fall short with about 20 seconds left in the game.

Trailing 7-6, Texas marched 92 yards to within bare inches of the rugged Mountaineers' goal line. Quarterback Joe Clements tried two plunges and was stopped dead.

It was tricky Micky Trimarki who quarterbacked the Mountaineers on their otuchdown drive, as WVU went 64 yards in eight plays. Fullback Larry Krutko crunched 15 yards through Texas defenders to climax the drive.

The difference in the game was Bod Snider's placement. Walt Fondren, who along with Clements kept the Steers constantly on marching drives all night, missed with his try, the ball sailing low. Fondren, with an unintended assist from Snider, caught Clements 5-yard pass for the score.

Texas had one touchdown called back in the first half which ended 0-0. Sophomore Vince Matthews, subbing for Clements, engineered a Longhorn drive late in the first half. His 14-yard touchdown pass play to end Joe Losack was rubbed out by a penalty for backfield in motion.

Colgate Is Upset

WORCESTER, Mass., Oct. 6 (AP)—Fullback Joe Stagnone, a 19-year-old sophomore given his first starting chance, ignited a supposedly weak Holy Cross offense and scored two touchdowns today in leading the Crusaders to a 20-6 upset football victory over Colgate before 12,000 sun-drenched fans at Fitton Field.

Bulls-Eye Passing Gives Cal 14-0 Win Over Pitt

BERKELEY, Calif., Oct. 6 (AP)—California's bulls-eye passing attack surprised the previously undefeated Pittsburgh Panthers 14-0 in an intersectional football upset today.

A crowd of 31,000 saw the Bears score in the second period after four pass completions by quarterback Gus Gianulias. The payoff was a 19-yard toss to end Norm Becker.

The 188-pound senior end previously had taken throws of 8 and 9 yards in the 54-yard drive, all of it through the air.

California scored again in the third quarter after fullback Herb Jackson smashed 35 yards to the Panther 1, after four straight pass plays opened up the Pitt defenses, Jackson dived over center for the final yard.

Darrell Roberts' conversion made it 14-0 and there the score remained through a scoreless fourth period.

Beating the Panthers, rated seventh in The Associated Press poll, gave California its first victory in three games. The Bears had lost to Baylor and Illinois while Pitt triumphed over West Virginia and Syracuse.

The shutout was the first by a California team since its second game of 1954. The credit goes to a hard-charging line led by 200-pound tackles Proverb Jacobs and Harley Martin.

The tackles, with center Frank Matterocci and a quartet of stubborn guards, stopped the vaunted "grind 'em down" Pitt running attack. Jacobs and Matterocci played all but three minutes of the game.

Becker, in addition to his six pass receptions, proved a bulwark on defense, and in the fourth period the California defenders twice took over in Pitt territory when fourth-down gambles failed.

Derby Dash Starts Huskie Troupe On Way To Victory

SEATTLE Oct. 6 (AP)—Red-haired Dean Derby slashed through the line for a 92-yard touchdown run to start Washington on the trail to a 28-13 victory today over favored Illinois.

The Illini, who had whipped Washington in all three of their previous intersectional clashes, took the game's opening kickoff and moved 63 yards to the Washington 2 as though they were out to make it a runaway.

Then quarterback Hiles Stout fumbled and Washington guard John Armstrong smothered the ball on the 6. One play gained 2 yards and on the next, Derby was gone like a lost thought.

From there on it was a losing struggle for the Illini, who never again showed the snap and precision which marked their opening attack.

Midway in the second quarter, Washington started a touchdown drive and had an assist from an Illinois penalty at a crucial moment. A fourth-down pass fell incomplete inside the visitors' 10-yard line, but a personal foul penalty gave the ball to Washington with first down on the Illinois 1. Credell Green dived over to score.

It was a fumble recovery by Jim Minor that finally gave Illinois a scoring chance in the middle of the third stanza. After Minor grabbed the ball on the Washington 22, Abe Woodson picked up two yards, and then elusive little Harry Jefferson circled right end for 16 yards and the touchdown. He carried three men in the last four strides.

Washington got back its two-touchdown margin in the free-scoring final period, opening the quarter with a 50-yard march in 11 plays to make the score 21-7.

An exchange of fumbles set up another Illinois opportunity and the Big Ten club moved 24 yards in seven plays to close the gap at 21-13. But Washington retaliated with a 59-yard drive, capped by Derby's 2-yard touchdown plunge.

Rally Pays Off

LINCOLN, Neb., Oc. 6 (AP)—The expert toe of Nebraska's George Harshman booted a field goal in the last 45 seconds of play to give the Cornhuskers a 9-7 decision over Iowa State today in a thrill-packed Big Seven football opener for both teams before 30,000 sun-swept fans.

Mustangs, Baylor Add To Prestige

By The Associated Press

Texas Christian smashed Arkansas 41-6 to open the Southwest Conference football race Saturday while Baylor and Southern Methodist were scoring intersectional victories.

TCU, the defending champion, looked even more powerful than last season in its mighty conquest of an Arkansas team that had been rated better than 1955.

Baylor was beating Maryland 14-0 in an important intersectional test while Southern Methodist came from behind in the last minutes to down Missouri 33-27.

The Baylor and SMU conquests brought the conference's intersectional record for the year to 14 victories against only 3 losses.

The season standings:

Team	W	L	Pct.	Pts.	OP
Baylor	3	0	1.000	48	6
Texas Christian	2	0	1.000	73	6
Texas A&M	3	0	1.000	68	13
Rice	2	0	1.000	52	20

Things Tough All Over – For Alpine

PECOS, Tex., Oct. 6 (AP) — Football rooters of the Alpine High School Bucks just couldn't win last night.

About 25 carloads of Alpine boosters made the trip here to support their team.

Just before getting to Pecos they hit a radar speed trap. Patrolmen gave tickets to 18 fans.

A little later they saw their team lose 33-6 to the Pecos Eagles.

Cothren Paces Ole Miss Win

JACKSON, Miss., Oct. 6 (AP) — Paige Cothren moved like sheet lightning tonight as Mississippi defeated aerial-minded Houston 14-0. It was the 12th straight victory for the defending Southeastern Conmost became monotonous.

Bucking and weaving through the heavy Houston line, the 195-pound fullback took handoff after handoff from Raymond Brown. The "Brown hands to Cothren" loud speaker announcement almos5 became monotonous.

Cothren went over from the seven and made his own conversion less than five minutes after the game started to cap a 94-yard march the first time Mississippi had the ball.

Webb NCOs Get Diplomas

Graduates of the Webb Air Force Base Non-Commissioned Officers Academy Class 56-15 heard Maj. William R. Evans speak on "Prestige in the Air Force" Saturday.

Maj. Evans, commander of the 3560th Pilot Training Squadron, defined prestige as respect or esteem earned or inherited by the individual or a group, but added that basically it is no more than reputation.

Evans then pointed out that there are many things in the Air Force which individuals can't control, but emphasized that prestige is not one of them. He said that, as NCO's "you will be in a position to exert your influence toward gaining and maintaining the prestige of the Air Force."

He gave as illustrations his experiences in meeting problems of Air Force prestige and service dignity and then closed with the statement: "It is our never ending duty to ourselves and the group to preserve, maintain and protect the prestige we already enjoy and by our example add to it."

It was announced that A-1C. Richard A. Dennis had been selected as honor graduate of Class 56-15 and diplomas were awarded to the following other members of the class:

Local Guardsmen Expect Good Report Following Inspection

Unofficially, B Battery of the 132nd Field Artillery Battalion came through its annual Inspector General's check with a high grade Friday.

The Big Spring National Guard unit will not know officially what the grade was for about two weeks, however. A full report will be sent the unit at that time, but Warrant Officer Bill Eggleston said he was informed by the chief inspector, Col. Harry B. Lane of San Antonio, that the unit's grade would be very good.

Col. Lane was the National Guard inspector, and with him was Maj. E. O. Chadioun of the IG office for the Fourth Army area.

Also here for the annual inspection was the 132nd FA Battalion commander, Lt. Col. Ross Ayers of Lubbock. Members of his staff here were Maj. Norman Snodgrass, executive officer; Maj. Fred Tupper, battalion Army advisor; and M-Sgt. Herbert Bice. All are from Lubbock.

All units of the battalion have been inspected except one — service battery at Levelland. Other units in the battalion are headquarters and C Battery at Lubbock, and A Battery at Plainview.

During the day Friday, the inspection team checked all administrative records and all types of battery equipment. Eggleston said that the team found all in good shape.

Then Friday night, the men of the unit stood an inspection and afterwards went through a regular trainipg period. This training was also under inspection.

The annual inspection carried 25 points toward winning the battalion efficiency trophy, which Big Spring copped at summer camp last July.

Three more inspections face the unit before the end of the month. One is a technical inspection, another an ordnance check, and the third will be a look at signal equipment.

1,000th Member

ASSETS AT $83,000

1,000th Member Joins Credit Union At Webb

The Webb AFB Federal Credit Union, activated April 22, 1955, reached a new milestone this week when its membership reached 1,000 persons.

The 1,000th man to join the union was A-2C Robert D. Conner of the 3560th Flight Line Maintenance Squadron.

In addition to growing in membership during its 17 months of operation, the Credit Union also has reached many new financial goals. The assets of the Union have grown from a few hundred dollars, when it first activated, to the present $83,175.49.

More than 831 loans, totaling approximately $170,000 have been made to base personnel since the beginning of the organization, and at present $81,630.64 is invested in loans.

The greatest financial increase was made by the Credit Union since January, 1956, with 553 of the total 831 loans made since then.

The 553 loans total more than $130,000.

Earnings of the Credit Union this year are about seven times greater than they were last year, 1st Lt. Kenneth Becker, treasurer, reported.

The credit union's delinquent rate is very low, Becker said. He also explained that the union is now investigating the possibility of automobile insurance for Credit Union members.

President of the Webb AFB Credit Union is Col. Robert D. Whittington, Commander of the Hospital.

$3 Increase In Pensions

Some 450 men and women of Howard County who are recipients of old age benefit checks have been given a flat $3 increase in their monthly payments.

Increase in federal fund allotment to the State Welfare Department has made possible the $3 boost in payments. Persons who are receiving the maximum checks under the program will be paid $58 instead of $55. All others on the rolls, regardless of the amount of their monthly checks, will find the sums increased by the same amount.

Payments to dependent children are also being increased, but this phase of the program has been operating on short funds for some time. As a result, the increases put in effect with checks now being received will bring the payments up to or nearly to the established level.

Persons who are receiving aid checks for the blind wil also benefit by the $3 increase. Payments to these persons are figured on the same scale as OAB. Maximum payment to a blind person, as in the case of an aged client, will be $58 per month hereafter instead of $55.

Affection Is Costly

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP) — A gesture of affection proved costly last night for a Chatanooga couple, putting both man and wife in the hospital and leaving their automobile a wreck.

Bruce W. Brown, 38, a painter, and his wife, Mrs. Marie Brown, 40, were driving to the home of her relatives when she threw out her arm, intending to put it around her husband's shoulder.

Instead, she struck the steering wheel, the husband said, causing him to lose control of the car, which crashed into a bridge abutment and was demolished. Mrs. Brown was thrown through the windshield.

Methodists Call Sessions Of All Area Conferences

Called sessions of all conferences in the Dallas-Fort Worth area of the Methodist Church, which includes Central Texas, North Texas and Northwest Texas Conferences, have been announced by Bishop William C. Martin of Dallas, presiding officer.

All sessions will consider the program for the current quadrennium, 1956-60, in terms of the general church and the conferences.

At 7:30 p.m., Oct. 8, the area council, which is composed of all district superintendents of the three conferences, will meet at First Methodist church, Fort Worth. They will consider the area adult convocation to be held Nov. 29 to Dec. 2 at First Methodist church, Fort Worth.

On Oct. 9, Bishop and Mrs. Martin will be host and hostess to the district superintendents and their wives at the annual fellowship dinner which will be held in First Methodist Church, Fort Worth.

Activities of the area council will be completed at 12 noon on Oct. 10 and will be followed by meetings of the boards, committees and commissions for the Central Texas Conference at Polytechnic Methodist Church that afternoon. Members of the administrative council will meet that night. At 9:30 a.m., Oct. 11, the special session will be ed in the late afternoon.

Bishop Martin said that all the sessions will follow the Central Texas pattern with the boards, meeting the first afternoon, the administrative council in the evening, and the called session at 9:30 a.m. on the following day.

There will also be emphasis on the program of evangelism which is now under way and will continue through Easter, 1956.

District superintendents, who will be attending the area council in Fort Worth, include Dr. Orion W. Carter, Big Spring.

Scout Council Officer Election Set For Saturday

The ninth annual fellowship barbecue of the Buffalo Trail Council, Boy Scouts of America, will be held Saturday at the Buffalo Trail Scout Ranch in the Davis Mountains, it was announced yesterday by Roy E. Carter of Kermit, council president.

A council meeting to elect officers for 1957 will be held in connection with the barbecue at 5:30 p.m. and a campfire program has been arranged as the final event of the evening.

All certified adult council members have been invited, Carter said. Only council members and their immediate family along with other guests are invited because of the limited facilities and the purpose of the occasion being an official council meeting. The attendance has usually been between 200 and 300.

The campfire program will feature Sgt. R. E. Porter, Odessa, who is in charge of the Marine Corps recruting for a large portion of West Texas. The closing number on the Campfire program will be a mountainside flare tableau with the scout oath as its theme, directed by S. G. Painter, district executive for the council.

GOP Takes Over Adlai's Holey Shoe

DELTA, Colo. (AP)—Delta County Republicans have taken over the worn shoe symbol associated with Adlai Stevenson in the 1952 presidential campaign.

Posted in the window of the Delta County Republican headquarters is a sticker showing a shoe sole with a hole in it. Above the sticker is printed: "Don't let this happen to you." Below the shoe: "Vote for Ike."

County Tax Bills To Go Into Mails

County tax statements for the current year will be put in the mail early this week—possibly Monday night.

Taxpayers can begin paying their taxes immediately on receipt of the statements. Mrs. Viola Robinson, tax assessor, said that all operations in preparation of the tax rolls have been completed and that the statements are being readied for the mail.

It had been hoped the could be mailed Saturday, but final details proved more time-consuming than expected and Mrs. Robinson said it would be Monday night or Tuesday before the job could be completed.

First half taxes can be paid anytime from now through Nov. 30. When a taxpayer makes such a split payment and pays the first half before the Nov. 30 deadline, he has until June 30 to pay the second half.

Where taxes are paid in a single lump for the year, all are due and payable on or before Jan. 31.

Mrs. Robinson recommended that each taxpayer who receives a statement bring the document to the courthouse when he desires to pay the taxes. Such procedure will expedite the handling of the account since the statements are receipts. When the taxpayer settles his tax bill, stamping of the statement as paid makes a quick record of the transaction. The number on the statement will also make it much simpler to locate the account in the tax office records, she pointed out.

Mailing statements to the taxpayers is not a statutory requirement, but Mrs. Robinson says her office makes it a regular practice as a convenience to the taxpayers.

DESIGNED FOR STAR

Spectator Sport Dress Has Unique Fastening

When Helen Roso plans the costuming for an M.G.M. production, she must consider not only the plot of the story, but the personality of its stars both in and out of character.

For Joan Collins, co-starring in "The Opposite Sex," she has designed this spectator sports dress in beige shantung with a red and white polka dotted scarf, the polkas reappearing in the lining of the sweater.

Simply cut, but with a definite distinction, the dress has buttoned tabs across the low V of the bodice and on the pressed inverted pleat of the skirt front. The skirt sides are gathered, but the back is made with a two gore flare.

The slight bloused effect of the top is achieved with three tiny box pleats at the sides. These fine details that give it high fashion quality are all simple to manage since the custom cut pattern is accurately perforated for easy marking and matching.

Select shantung, plain crepes, cottons, wool crepe, linen or novelty wool. If your dress fabric is fancy, choose a solid color for the scarf.

From this chart select the one size best for you:

Size 10 bust 34, waist 24, hips 35, length from nape of neck to waist 16½ inches; size 12 bust 35, waist 25, hips 36, length from nape of neck to waist 16¾ inches; size 14 bust 36½, waist 26½, hips 37½, length from nape of neck to waist 17 inches; size 16 bust 38, waist 28, hips 39, length from nape of neck to waist 17¼ inches; size 18 bust 40, waist 30, hips 41, length from nape of neck to waist 17½ inches.

Size 12 requires 3½ yards of 54-inch material for dress and 1⅛ yards of 36 or 39-inch material for contrast.

To order Pattern No. 1282, state size, enclose $1.00. Address American Designer Patterns, Box 535, Dept. B-5, G. P. O., New York 1, N. Y. Classic Pattern Booklet No. 12 and all new Pattern Booklet No. 13-X available for 50 cents each. If paid by check add 4 cents.

Insulated Sportswear Does Trick

Neatest trick of the season in the sportswear lineup is outdoor clothing that's light as a feather yet warm enough for any winter sport. The secret is a thin "insulair" lining that seals out cold, seals in warmth.

The new insulated garments include outfits for both men and women, in nylon, cotton poplin or a suede-like fabric. Women's coats come in various styles, from finger-tip length to shorter jackets.

Styles for men include nylon or poplin plaid jackets and a complete hunting outfit of hooded jacket and pants, all with insulated lining. There's also a vinyl hunting vest and an insulated vest warmer that can be worn under any coat. Some of these styles also are available in boys' sizes.

The new insulated lining is a development that resulted from experiments with insulated footwear designed to protect the feet of fighting men in Korea.

Californians Wed In Patton Home

In a home ceremony Wednesday at 5 p.m., Mrs. Vera Murray and and Burton C. Van, both of San Luis Obispo, Calif., were married.

The couple was married in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Patton. Mrs. Patton is a sister of the bride.

Dr. P. D. O'Brien read the double ring ceremony before a mantel which held arrangements of bronze and yellow chrysanthemums.

The bride wore a beige knit dress with turquoise accessories. She carried a bouquet of yellow mums.

Duane Patton, nephew of the bride, was best man. Shirley Diane Henderson, Midland, and Joyce Marie Patton, nieces of the bride, were junior bridesmaids.

Those attending the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Carter, Mr. and Mrs. P. L. Henderson, Midland, and Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Davis.

At the reception, guests were served from a table laid with an ecru lace cloth and centered with arrangements of bronze mums.

The couple will make a home in San Luis Obispo, Calif.

'ROUND TOWN

With Lucille Pickle

There seemed to be a mass exodus of Big Spring people to the east this weekend. This was probably as good a time as any, in view of the Shrine convention. However, a good many people missed the homecoming activities because of other plans made previously.

Those doting grandparents, MR. AND MRS. W. F. TAYLOR will leave late Monday afternoon for O'Donnell where they will spend the week with their grandchildren, who are the children of Mr. and Mrs. Wayland Taylor. The younger Taylors are planning to spend the week in Dallas and the grandparents are going to 'sit' with the children. They are finishing one sitting job here today with Cindy and John Taylor, Jr. Their parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Taylor, along with Mr. and Mrs. Don Newsom, are in Dallas for the Tech-A&M game.

Friday night the Taylors, and John Jr., with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Stulting; his great-grandmother, Mrs. Mary Ellis, and his sister, celebrated his second birthday anniversary with a family party at the Taylor home.

MR. AND MRS. E. L. MANOUGE of Vernon are expected this weekend for a visit in the home of her brother, C. D. Matheny.

We're very proud of the report that J. T. BAIRD JR. has been elected as one of the 20 freshmen students at Harvard University to serve on the student union. This is the freshman equivalent to the student council.

When the 'girls' were trying on the dresses for size Thursday night in preparation for the Parade of Fashion show for the Homecoming assembly, those who could get into the dress provided by Mrs. J. L. THOMAS were perplexed. While the tunic waist was a trim 22 inches the underskirt waist was at least 25 inches.

Mrs. Thomas called to explain that she had decided to use the underskirt as a petticoat when the dress went out of style and by that time, she had increased her waistsize. Naturally, she just increased the size of the skirt waist. She didn't intend to use the top anymore so she just left the other as it was. That's the answer, ladies.

MR. AND MRS. JIM FRYAR had a happy weekend with their two daughters, Margaret, and Mrs. Neil Pruitt, and Mr. Pruitt, home from Tech. Mrs. Pruitt is secretary to Dr. E. N. Jones, Tech president.

The CHARLES PETERSONS have spent the weekend in Fort Worth with friends and relatives.

JIMMY MONTGOMERY, nephew of Mrs. Clifford Hale, is here for a weekend visit in the Hale home. He is a student at ACC.

MR. AND MRS. TOM SOUTH and their twin sons, Tommy and Lacy, have been in Dallas to take in the fair and attend at least one ball game.

• • •

Others who were in Dallas and Fort Worth over the weekend included MR. AND MRS. WENDAL PARKS, DR. AND MRS. HOWARD SCHWARZENBACH, MR. AND MRS. SONNY EDWARDS, MR. AND MRS. MAURICE KOGER and MR. AND MRS. JACK COOK. The DOUG ORMES also spent the weekend in Dallas where they were met by his brother and his wife whose home is in Wichita Falls.

MRS. ARTHUR RYAN is at home again after a rather trying six weeks period. Two weeks before school started, she was called to Houston where her little nine-year-old granddaughter, Patricia Randolph, underwent the amputation of her left arm after having it caught in an automatic washer.

When she felt the child was out of danger, she returned here only to be called immediately to Cleveland where another little granddaughter, 1 year-old Kim Havenkamp, had been hit on the head, presumably by a stirrup on a saddle. She suffered a fractured skull. Having stayed until things were beginning to look up, Mrs. Ryan has now come home to rest.

Has A New Outlook

Dorothy Lamour, the girl who made the sarong famous and wore the costume in 12 of her 45 films, has discarded it from her wardrobe. "I still have my same figure measurements," says Dorothy. "I've just changed my perspective."

Dorothy Gives Extra Care To Long Hair

By LYDIA LANE

HOLLYWOOD — The big news about Dorothy Lamour's recent appearance on an NBC-TV spectacular was that she has discarded her sarong.

"It's like closing the door on the past," I commented to Dorothy, as we sat comfortably in her charming garden.

"Some people think my figure won't take it any more," she smiled, "but my measurements are the same. I've just changed my perspective. I've been married 13 years and we have two sons. But don't think I'm not grateful to that sarong," she confided. "It has been good to me."

I asked Dorothy how she hit upon this type of identification.

"It is interesting how a seeming trifle becomes a turning point in your life," Dorothy related, about an incident which happened when she was 13. "Other girls at school were getting permanents, and I wanted one so much. But they were expensive then and mother couldn't afford it. So I went to a beauty school and had one of the trainees give me one.

"My dream was shattered when it turned out such a mess," she exclaimed. "It was all wrong for me and they called me 'Pineapple' at school. I couldn't let the kinks grow out fast enough. After that I wanted no part of curly hair, and I let my hair grow long enough so that I could sit on it. Because of this I got my first 'native-girl' part and won a contract at Paramount. After that the sarong became a part of me.

"Actually I find long hair much less trouble than short. I cut mine recently, but it's not for me. I bought a false chignon to give me a long-hair look again."

Dorothy takes care of her hair at home. "I wash it in the shower with castile shampoo, and follow with a vinegar rinse. I've tried other shampoos but I always come back to this.

"I like to towel-dry my hair in the sun, and I always bend over when I brush it, bringing my head to my arms instead of my arms up to my head. It's much less tiring, and reversing the gravity stimulates the circulation."

As Dorothy sat sipping her drink she looked as if she didn't have a care in the world.

"People are always telling me I look calm," she said, "but it's an illusion. My tension is inside. Sometimes when I am working I almost get rigid. Fortunately it doesn't show."

I wanted to know Dorothy's favorite way of relaxing.

"I can really let down in a tub!" she exclaimed. "The hotter the water the better. It's my favorite way to induce sleep. I know some people find hot water stimulating, but a little pine oil in the water has a wonderfully relaxing effect on me."

A fashion magazine was open on the table, and our conversation swung to the flat-chested look of most models.

"I am five-feet-five," Dorothy said, "and I keep my weight around 122. I like curves; I think most men do. I know my husband does. We think it's a big mistake for a woman to discipline herself to the point that she diets away all her femininity. Once you're out of your twenties being too thin gives an unflattering, drawn look.

"I have a wonderful diet. With it I can lose five to seven pounds in a week. But even then I include a certain amount of butter, to keep my skin from becoming too dry, and sugar for energy.

"Dieting is made so easy today because of the variety of low-calorie foods in the markets. We can all feel well when we're dieting if we keep a nutritional-balance in the foods we eat," she concluded.

THAT EASY DIET

The diet Dorothy uses is found in Leaflet M-1, a 14-day high-protein diet that lets you eat well while losing weight. In two weeks you can lose up to 14 pounds the safe and sane way. Get your copy of M-1 by sending 5 cents AND a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Lydia Lane, Hollywood Beauty, in care of The Big Spring Herald.

Nice Hobby

The handsome jewelry worn by Mrs. Charles E. Wilson is especially designed for her by her husband, the Secretary of Defense. It's a hobby in which the cabinet officer has had little time to indulge of late. The last piece he made for his wife was a Christmas present last year. It features a ruby set in rays and circles of round and baguette diamonds.

For Campus Wear

Perfect for outdoor wear on the campus during fall days is a reversible all-cotton zippered jacket. Miniature red and gray plaid is featured on one side, solid red on the other. Jacket is made in bomber style with an elastic back band.

A Free Ride

Nine-year-old Linda Hildebrand gives her dolls a free ride on the gym play set her father is working on. Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Hildebrand and their daughters (three-year-old Cathy was unable to be in the picture) are newcomers to Big Spring from Wichita Falls. Mr. Hildebrand enjoys building toys for his girls, and when the gym set is complete, it will have a colorful paint job and a slide.

Do-It-Yourself Hobby For O. W. Hildebrand

With two growing daughters who love to play with dolls, their father O. W. Hildebrand, couldn't have picked a nicer hobby than do-it-yourself building.

Mr. and Mrs. Hildebrand, their two daughters, Linda, 9 years old, and Cathy, 3 years old, are newcomers to Big Spring. They moved here three weeks ago from Wichita Falls.

Mr. Hildebrand is presently working on a miniature doll gymnastic play set which includes a tiny swing, a seesaw and when completed will have a slide and a colorful paint job. Both the girls enjoy giving their dolls a ride on the set.

When he isn't making nice things for the girls, Mr. Hildebrand likes to play golf, take movies and play bridge. He is employed as the district commercial manager at the Texas Electric Service Company.

Mr. Hildebrand is a graduate of Texas University, where he was a member of Sigma Chi fraternity. He is a registered professional engineer and a member of Mascat Temple. Hildebrand calls Mart, Tex., his home.

Sewing occupies much of Mrs. Hildebrand's time. She makes most of the girls' clothing and some for herself. Mrs. Hildebrand is also an enthusiastic bridge player.

She attended Southern Methodist University where she was a member of Delta Delta Delta Sorority. In Wichita Falls she was active in Tri Delta alumnae work. She was graduated from Whittworth College in Brookhaven, Miss. Fort Worth is home to Mrs. Hildebrand.

Mike, a copper-colored Irish setter, and Pat, a smoky grey cat, rate a lot of attention around the Hildebrand household, especially from Cathy and Linda.

Although they don't think they will appreciate the dust of West Texas, Mr. and Mrs. Hildebrand agree that "Big Spring is a lovely town, and has the most untiringly generous people, we have ever seen."

They are presently making a home at 1414 Stadium.

Pop Music Is Best Type For Practice Says Liberace

HOLLYWOOD — All children should enjoy their piano-practicing, declared Liberace, and if not, it's usually the parents' fault.

For generations, parents have been using the wrong approach on their piano-learning youngsters, using a figurative club instead of proper psychology, according to the pianist.

For the millions of American fathers and mothers who despair daily because Junior and Sis consider piano-practicing an ordeal instead of a pleasure, Liberace has some interesting comments and suggestions.

Until recent years, a youngster taking piano lessons was taught to practice on the classics only. If he deviated from the rules, and indicated a preference for popular music, he was told he was doing wrong.

"That, definitely, is bad psychology," contends Liberace. "It makes music-haters out of many potentially fine piano-players, and they give up before they have a chance to prove their abilities.

"Music should be something youngsters approach with enthusiasm rather than as a chore. And what applies to the piano is equally applicable to other musical instruments.

"It's often much better if they first become familiar with music and instrumental techniques through the medium of popular melodies, taking up the classical later on."

MRS. ROY GARRET OSBORNE

Betty Bradford Is Bride Of Roy Osborne

The Eleventh and Birdwell Church of Christ was the setting Saturday evening for the wedding of Betty Faye Bradford and Roy Garret Osborne..

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Bradford, 1316 Wood, and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Osborne, Cresbard, S. D.

Pre-nuptial music was presented by a chorus composed of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Conley, Stanley Peurifoy, Vollie Sorrells, Lou Ann Nall and Mrs. Edsel Maddox. They sang "O, Promise Me," and "The Wedding Prayer."

The couple repeated double ring vows before an altar decked with two seven branched candlelabra flanked by baskets of fern and white gladioli. White altar ropes outlined the altar.

Darrell Flynt, minister of the church, performed the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white embroidered cotton satin. The dress was designed with a scalloped neckline which extended to brief scalloped sleeves. From the empire waistline fell a bouffant waltz length skirt.

The shoulder length veil was of silk illusion. Her crown tiara was adorned with seed pearls and sequins. The bride carried a nosegay bouquet of pink roses.

Serving as attendants were Mrs. Jimmie King, Lubbock, sister of the bride, as matron of honor and Patricia Bradford, sister of the bride, was maid of honor.

They wore identical dresses of turquoise cotton satin styled like the bride's. At the waist they wore velveteen cummerbunds of a contrasting shade of turquoise. Their headbands were of velveteen and their bouquets were pink carnations.

The bridegroom's father attended as best man. Ushers were Jimmie King, Lubbock and Leonard Mosley, Wilson.

Taper lighters were Donald Bradford, brother of the bride, and Jimmie Flynt.

Following the ceremony, the reception was held in the home of the bride's parents. Receiving guests were each of the parents, the bridal couple and the feminine attendants.

The bride's table was laid with a white linen cloth and held the feminine attendants' bouquets as decorations.

The wedding cake was three tiered and topped with a miniature bridal couple.

Serving was done by Charlene Wasson and Barbara Kirk. At the register was Joy Sosebee and Frances Walker.

For a wedding trip to South Texas, the bride traveled in a sheath dress of black and brown plaid. She wore brown accessories.

The couple will make a home in Abilene.

The bride is a senior at Abilene Christian College where she is a member of the Wildcat Band, Science Club, UCSO, and Cadette Social Club. She is presently interning in medical technology at Hendricks Memorial Hospital in Abilene.

The bridegroom attended the University of Minnesota and the University of South Dakota prior to his enlistment in the Air Force. He is presently stationed at Webb AFB.

Out of town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Roy Osborne, Cresbard, S. D.

Follow Nature's Cue; Plant Hardy Annuals

By ANNE LEFEVER

Take the cue Nature gives and do the planting of hardy annuals. Chances are that you are finding volunteer seedlings of larkspur, gaillardia, annual phlox, calliopsis, poppies and California poppies in the beds now. These will go through the winter and give earlier and stronger blooms if they are given slight protection.

Put a ring of moth crystals around the base of fruit trees this month and let the fumes kill any borers that might be present. Pull the dirt up around the tree trunk and allow it to remain for three weeks.

Chrysanthemums which are fed, watered, staked and sprayed at this time will respond with better flowers in return for this care. Liquid feeding is good at this time until color shows in the buds. Spray for aphids and mulch the roots to retain the moisture and to keep them cool.

Now is the time to clean up the dead stems and stalks from the flower beds. Be sure they are free from disease and insects if you plan to incorporate them in the compost bed.

This bed should be enriched with the leaves as they fall— never burn them unless they are diseased. If you have no compost bed, pile the leaves carefully and spade them into flower beds later in the season. This is one of the best methods of feeding roots and holding moisture in the ground.

Plant bulbs outside after the leaves have started to fall, but bulbs for forcing may be planted at this time. Tulips, daffodils and hyacinths are good to use in forcing for indoor blooms.

Use wide shallow pots and arrange for drainage. Make a mixture of garden soil, compost and sand and fill the pot about half full. Place bulbs on this and cover with the mixture. They may be placed close together in the pot if you wish.

Place the pot outside in a cool place and cover it with leaves, peat moss or vermiculite. Allow to remain, keeping the soil moist, until the roots are coming through the drainage hole in the pot and the bulbs are growing through the soil at the top.

Now bring the pot inside into a dark warmer place. When the green plant is about an inch high, give it more light gradually until it is finally placed in a sunny window. Give the bulbs more water at this time for better growth.

DAR Headquarters Will Be Landscaped

Daughters of the American Revolution, attending their annual Continental Congress next spring, will likely see their headquarters enhanced in a new garden setting with blooming shrubs and trees.

At least this is the dream of the new president general, Mrs. Frederic A. Groves of Cape Girardeaux, Mo., who during summer visits noted the "sparsity of plantings on the grounds surrounding Constitution Hall and other DAR buildings.

"So many women are garden-conscious today," the Missouri lady added, "that I believe there would be great interest in beautifying our grounds."

Potomac View Should Be Preserved As Is

Clarence Cecil Wall, superintendent of Mount Vernon, is urging Maryland officials to control development on 1,500 acres in their state fronting the Potomac for two miles, to help "preserve the view as it was in George Washington's day."

He says he isn't worried about estate owners of five acres and up who leave most of the trees on their places intact. He thinks this will keep the view mostly as is.

Cotton Chintz Is Making Comeback

Cotton chintz is making a comeback in home furnishings.

Modern chintz, its glazed surface permanently wedded to the fabric with new resin finishes, is a far cry from old-fashioned chintzes which often lost their finish at the first washing.

Housewives are using the material for curtains, draperies, and boudoir chairs, especially in rooms furnished in a revival of the Early American style. It is also being used to an increasing extent for slipcovers.

Chintz, named from a Hindu word which means "spotted," is now made by impregnating cotton print cloth with chemicals which create a permanent glazed surface; it is roller printed with gay figures or floral designs.

Chintz is one of many fabrics which give cotton the overwhelming leadership in home furnishings; some 67 per cent of all household textiles are made of cotton.

Opportunity Knocking For Stagestruck Cow

By DOROTHY ROE

Anybody know a stagestruck cow?

If so, get in touch right away with the casting director at NBC, because right now they're casting cows for the new hour-and-a-half TV spectacular, "Jack and the Beanstalk," scheduled for Monday evening, Nov. 12.

"It has to be a very special kind of cow," says Helen Deutsch, the Hollywood screenwriter doing the script. "Stella (that's the cow) must be sad-looking but lovable. Probably the best description of her is in the lyric I wrote to introduce her:

"'Now Stella the cow was an inefficient
With an IQ in the gutter.
She was held in low esteem—
No milk, no cream
And nary a bit of butter.'"

Despite her dismal record, Stella has a certain charm, says the vivacious Helen. Now taking her first fling at TV after 13 years as one of filmland's top playwrights.

"It's a great part for the right cow, says Helen. "She may well become as famous as Ferdinand or Elsie."

Miss Deutsch, who started her writing career doing free - lance features for New York newspapers, landed in Hollywood after selling a fiction story to the movies and has been there ever since.

She has been doing research on "Jack and the Beanstalk" on and off for a year, in preparation for the current TV script, and has come up with some new angles on the fairy story classic.

"Parents and educators don't approve of the original story," says Helen. "Bad for character, they say, since in it Jack steals the giant's bag of gold, harp and the hen that lays the golden eggs and then kills the giant. Theft and premeditated murder. Not good. Likely to encourage juvenile delinquency.

"So I make Jack's adventure on the beanstalk a dream sequence, and have the giant merely fall off the beanstalk. My Jack is a misunderstood 16-year-old, who is beset by all kinds of fears and uncertainties. But after his dream he realizes that many of the things and people he feared are really not so terrifying after all, and all of a sudden he grows up."

Nursery For New Arrival

Time was when the new baby had a nursery to himself. These days the little cherub is lucky to find space in the corner of the master bedroom. Larger families have created the problem, and the nursery becomes a bunk bedroom for four boys or a studio room for a couple of girls.

But every member of the family needs privacy, even the new little arrival.

Many parents are separating the the baby's nursery—alcove or separate area in the parents' room—into a tiny room by means of wallboard. The board may be painted on one side and wallpapered on the side where baby lives. Plain plastic-coated wall paper is washable and easy to care for and little teddy bear or panda stickers may be put up on baby's room divider for a real nursery effect. There are wallpapers available too with cavorting clowns in gay reds, blues and greens, performing antics that delight children.

Baby will be using a hand-me-down crib no doubt, and it should be repainted before the little fellow appears on the scene. White is clean and sanitary looking and will go with whatever decor is chosen.

A small nursery rug will also get over the idea that this is baby's room, even though it is a cubbyhole. New ones are especially designed with this idea in mind. One amusing gold colored washable cotton accent rug is overstitched in black and red to outline the head of the king of the jungle.

There should be space in this makeshift room for baby's necessities—diapers, oil, powder, cotton. A good idea is a shelf that will hold these items, plus extra blankets and sleepers.

Could Ease Jams

DETROIT (AP) — Traffic jams in Detroit would be eased if the Motor City would build 259 miles of new expressways. A traffic survey committee said the job could be done for 1½ billion dollars. If the program could be financed, an expressway network would stretch to within a 25 mile radius of downtown Detroit by 1980.

Lady Writes Bereaved Families

LOUISVILLE, Ky. — From three to four hours a day, Mrs. Louise Kniss sits at the kitchen table of her home and goes over obituary notices. Those hours have developed into a unique "ministry of sympathy" which more than 16,000 people have felt.

Mrs. Kniss sends to survivors of loved ones inspirational tracts — and with no thought but to comfort the bereaved. She does it anonymously.

Her daily procedure started five years ago when the minister of Christian Missionary Alliance Church here put suggestions to his congregation on ways they might serve the Lord.

Mrs. Kniss herself knew what a comforting message could mean—she found out three years earlier when her husband died. Now, she brings that same kind of comfort to others, almost all of them total strangers.

She sends two tracts: "In Time of Sorrow," a four-page leaflet with a simple message of comfort; and "I Am the Door," a gospel tract outlining the plan of salvation.

"As I stuff each envelope, I breathe a prayer that the Lord will bless them and comfort them," she said quietly.

Often people who receive her mail respond, sometimes with thank-you cards, frequently with notes of appreciation. One came from the family of the late Sen. Alben W. Barkley. All are forwarded to her by the church, whose address is on the envelope.

"But if I never got one single response I wouldn't care," she says. "I've never expected thanks."

Cake Topping

Embassy Party Without US Theme

Contrary to custom, there were none of the familiar American dishes and drinks one sees at Embassy Row festivities at the Rumanian Legation party celebrating the 12th national holiday of the Rumanian People's Republic.

Except for the guests, the party was strictly Rumanian with all the exotic food whipped up in the legation kitchen by Rumanian cooks.

Even the liquid refreshments — wines, champagne and liquers, including the Rumanian national plum brandy, the potent "Tvica," had been imported from the homeland.

On hand enjoying the lavish fare were the Russian Ambassador Georgi Zaroubin, the ambassador of Czechslovakia, the ambassadors from Haiti, Indonesia and Poland, Under Secretary of Agriculture True Morse, the Swiss military, naval and air attache; and Egyptian Brig. Gen. Saad Salem and his wife, to mention a few.

Sweet, Rich Double Chocolate Dessert

A sweet and rich double chocolate dessert.

Ingredients:

One package (1 pound) chocolate fudge brownie mix, 2 tablespoons butter (melted), 1 package (6 ounces) semi-sweet chocolate pieces, ¾ cup light corn syrup, ¼ cup heavy cream, rum flavoring, 1 quart vanilla ice cream.

Method:

Make up the brownie mix according to package directions for a fudge-type brownie, stirring in the 2 tablespoons melted butter along with the water and egg called for on the package and baking in a square pan (9 by 9 by 2 inches) When cool, cut brownies into 9 squares. Shortly before serving, place chocolate, corn syrup and cream in the top of a double boiler over hot (not boiling) water. Stir occasionally until chocolate melts; use a whisk to mix smooth. Just before serving, place sauce over cold water and add rum flavoring to taste; whisk until sauce thickens somewhat. (Makes about 1¼ cups sauce). Put a scoop of ice cream on top of each brownie and pass the chocolate sauce separately. Makes 9 large servings.

Note:

Any leftover sauce may be refrigerated in a tightly covered container) reheat over hot water, thinning with a little water if necessary.

Junior Witch

"Trick-or-Treaters" will really go for a witch's brew of corn and tomato chowder, such as is being prepared by this young broom-rider. The costume is easy to make, as is the hearty fare which will be most welcome after a busy evening of knocking on doors.

It's No Trick To Plan Gay Halloween Treats

Why not have a Tricks-or-Treat pick-up for hungry little ghosts and goblins after they've filled their sacks for the evening?

Make it a repast that takes place while loot is being divided by the group. Or if they are all on their own, they could meet to compare treats.

Most youngsters organize their own costumes. But little tots will need some assistance from Mom. A witch's hat is easy to make and fun to wear, as any little broom rider knows.

Here's how to make it: Start with a large head-fitting cone from cardboard. Secure edges with tape. Cut a large circle of cardboard about 3 inches wider all around than the base of the cone. Place the cone on the circle, squeezing slightly so that the base becomes oval to fit the head. Trace around it with pencil and cut the oval piece out of the brim with a razor or other implement.

Cover the cone and brim with aluminum foil, securing with tape. Fit the cone into the brim and tape the two together. Decorate it with stars cut from black mat paper.

Serve a good hot corn and tomato chowder with some pumpkin crackers. To make the chowder combine one 303 size can of cream style corn with one 303 size can tomatoes, 1 can frozen potato soup and frankfurters. You can get the tiny ones in the can or cut up the large size hot dogs.

Add one soup can of water, heat and serve to the youngsters in mugs. This recipe should make six or eight mugs of soup.

Spread round crackers with processed cheese, and decorate them with slices of stuffed olives and green pepper. If you have time, cut out bits of the olives and peppers to make a pumpkin face over the cheese.

Coastal Specialty

Rub a small bowl with crushed garlic clove. Cream 5 tablespoons butter into the bowl, 6 drops each of wine vinegar and tomato catsup, 1 tablespoons French mustard, 1 tablespoon English mustard. Season with salt and pepper to taste and place in refrigerator to harden.

Split 4 mackerels or herrings in halves, bone, dip into tarragon vinegar, brush with melted butter and broil each side for 3 to 4 minutes. Serve with the mustard butter.

New Idea

Bits of crisply-cooked bacon scattered over creamed spinach help win friends for that vegetable.

Search Started For Maid Of Cotton 1957

MEMPHIS, Tenn. — Who will succeed pretty Pat Cowden of Raleigh, N. C., as the cotton industry's fashion and goodwill emissary?

That is the question being asked all across the Cotton Belt as the National Cotton Council announces the opening of the 1957 Maid of Cotton contest.

The Council said that in 1957 the Maid will visit 30 major American cities, plus three in Canada, climaxing her tour with a visit to leading European fashion centers.

The Maid's North American itinerary already is virtually complete, the Council announced. The domestic tour will carry the winner of the contest to every section of the United States and to Canada. Several major cities never previously visited by a Maid of Cotton will be included on the 1957 tour.

NEW YORK ACTIVITIES

Finals of the contest will take place in Memphis on December 27 and 28, with the Maid leaving the next day for New York in time to participate in the gala New Year's Eve celebration in Manhattan's Times Square. During the month of January, she will be outfitted with a complete new all-cotton wardrobe created for her by more than 40 famous American designers.

She also will make appearances on network television and radio shows as well as pose for newspaper syndicate and magazine photography. She will see top Broadway plays and visit many of the well-known places of interest in and about New York.

The final feature of the Maid's month in New York will be the annual Maid of Cotton fashion show on the Starlight Roof of the Waldorf Astoria. Here, for the first time, her fabulous cotton wardrobe will be shown before an audience of almost a thousand members of the press, designers and apparel manufacturers, and leaders of the cotton textile industry.

The official opening of the 1957 tour is scheduled to take place in Miami on January 30.

WHO IS ELIGIBLE?

The Council said that the Maid of Cotton contest is open to any girl who was born in one of the cotton-producing states, who has never been married, who is between the ages of 19 and 25 inclusive, and who is at least five feet, five inches tall.

Official application forms may be obtained by writing to the National Cotton Council, P. O. Box 9905, Memphis 12, Tennessee. All entries must be postmarked by midnight, Saturday, December 1.

The Maid of Cotton program, now in its nineteenth year, is sponsored by the National Cotton Council, Memphis Cotton Carnival Association, and the Cotton Exchanges of Memphis, New Orleans and New York.

Prolific Okra

Floyd Epley of the Warfield community in Midland County standing in his okra patch. From 14 rows of okra 515 feet long he sold $1,400 worth of produce to Midland grocery stores. The entire three acres of vegetables grossed over $4,000.

Vegetable Plot Paying Off Well

By JESS BLAIR

Because he had an original idea and didn't let the experience of others guide him, Floyd Epley of Midland County grew over $4,000 worth of vegetables from one 60-gallon well and three acres of land this year. Epley and his wife live on an 18-acre block of land they bought in the Warfield community southwest of Midland. He has had the well two years now, but didn't really get things going in a big way until this last spring.

Epley says the three-horsepower electric motor costs about $250 a year to operate. He paid out about $50 for labor, perhaps twice that for insecticides, and the other expenses were quite small. Epley did all the work himself, including a daily trip to Midland where he sold the produce.

LOTS OF OKRA

On three acres of the small farm he grew cantaloupes, watermelons, pumpkins, pepper, bush beans, tomatoes and okra. He found okra the biggest moneymaker. On 14 rows of okra 515 feet long he collected around $1,400 which figures at the rate of $3,000 an acre. Cantaloupes and watermelons did so well that one week he sold $400 worth of them.

"I don't have any special secrets," he said. "It takes more hard work than anything else. I keep the well going 24 hours a day, do all my own work, and try to grow varieties that will produce here."

He found that tomatoes and bush beans were also good moneymakers, though only two kinds of tomatoes did well this year. These are the small Porter and the Improved Porter varieties. Pepper and egg plants were tried, but the summer was too hot for them.

One problem Epley faced was in establishing a market. Grocers were skeptical at first. But by doing some persuasive talking and trying them all, Epley built up a steady market. Usually he makes deliveries every day. The only equipment needed this year was a small, second-hand tractor.

Another thing he watches is what the other farmers are doing. Right now the word is out that onions will make a big profit, so several Midland County farmers plan to grow them in 1957. Epley knows the local market may be glutted, so he will grow something else.

He is now drilling two more wells, and next year hopes to have the entire 18 acres under irrigation. He will plant five acres of Austrian winter peas for hog pasture, then come in next spring with some kind of summer pasture. He will feed the waste vegetables to the hogs.

TO GET HELP

In addition to the vegetables, he plans to set out a grape arbor and berry patch, so the water and labor can be scattered out over a longer period. Next year he plans to hire a regular hand, since about five acres is all one man can take care of.

Another thing for next year is a roadside stand. He sold quite a lot of melons and vegetables this year to people passing along the paved road. By developing these sales, he will reduce town deliveries and the two or three hours a day involved.

Epley used some fertilizer, but plans to use a lot more next year. If possible, he wants to get in a winter legume crop to build up the soil's organic matter. Spraying is a must in growing vegetables, as the worms strike often and can devour a crop in a few days. For this reason, he found that growing sweet corn will not pay off here.

'OPPORTUNITY'

In summing up the opportunity for the small, specialized farm in this region, Epley said: "With towns getting larger, there is a good opportunity for farmers who can grow such things as vegetables, fruit and eggs. It takes a lot of hard work and close management, but a man can make a living on a mighty few acres if he has a little well and lives near a good-sized town.

Epley was reared in Arizona and has been in the insurance business for many years. He always wanted to get back on the farm. And when he bought the small acreage of raw land in one of the county's sandiest parts, most people thought he was just another city slicker throwing money away on a foolish experiment. He did spent some money for a house, well and fences, but it was money well invested. A $4,000 gross from three acres is a lot more than any farmer ever made with a cotton crop.

'No Smoking' Cancer Rule

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A Texas cancer specialist says until the exact cause of lung cancer is nailed down the only solution is "to tell people not to smoke."

Dr. Robert Shaw, professor of surgery at the University of Texas Southwestern Medical School at Dallas, passed on that advice at yesterday's opening session of a meeting of the California Division of the American Cancer Society.

"We don't know yet just what it is in smoking that causes" lung cancer, he said. But he added that the incidence of the disease among smokers is 50 times as great as among non-smokers and that there is a rampant increase in the number of cases.

He advised heavy smokers over the age of 40 to have chest X-rays every six months. He added:

"The only way we can lick this problem is to tell teen-agers not to smoke."

Reporting on new research, the Texas surgeon said arsenic used in insecticides sprayed on tobacco plants may have as much to do with lung cancer as the tars in tobacco itself.

Research still is continuing, he said, but added that if a relationship can be proven "this would mean . . . that all the tobacco fields in North Carolina, for instance, would have to be abandoned . . . because the arsenic stays in the soil."

Russ Religion

DALLAS (AP)—Alexandria Tolstoy, daughter of author Leo Tolstoy, said yesterday the Russian people are still deeply religious despite 40 years of Communism. She spoke at SMU.

Production from Colorado River Municipal Water District sources approached the 900 million gallon mark in September.

Figures, subject to final adjustment, showed 892,537,000 gallons produced. Of the total amount, approximately 550,000,000 gallons came from Lake J. B. Thomas, the balance from city and district well sources.

Production figures announced by O. H. Ivie, production superintendent for CRMWD, showed 49,166,000 gallons to the Sharon Ridge repressuring unit, 244,909,000 gallons to the SACROC unit, 4,806,000 to Texas Gulf Producing, or a total of 298,881,000 to non-municipal users.

Odessa declined about 88 million to hit 331,602,000 gallons; Big Spring dropped 44 million to reach 196,381,000; and Snyder took 65,673,000 gallons, a grand total of 593,656,000 gallons for the three member cities.

Senator Better Than Elvis Presley

OWENSBORO, Ky. (AP) — Sen. John F. Kennedy is a man the college girls think is "better than Elvis Presley."

Before the youthful Massachusetts senator arrived for a political talk he stirred up something of an uproar at Louisville's Ursuline College.

The girls swarmed around his car, squealing and screaming, "You're better than Elvis Presley."

District 8 Baptist Gathering Slated Tuesday At Seagraves

Baptist of district No. 8 get together Tuesday for their annual accounting and planning. Host congregation will be the First Baptist Church in Seagraves.

Messengers are anticipated from practically all of the 125 churches, and representatives from four other mission points. They will be hearing of work that has produced records in most respects.

Dr. C. Wade Freeman, Dallas, superintendent of evangelism for the Baptist General Convention of Texas, will climax the one-day convocation with a call to increased soul-winning. The convention sermon will be brought by Dr. John S. Rasco, pastor of the First Baptist Church in Odessa.

The district has experienced a net gain of three churches during the year, according to the Rev. J. William Arnett, Big Spring, district superintendent of missions. All churches reported a total of 2,669 baptisms during the year.

Membership totalled 51,841, subject to final reports, reflecting a net gain of 2,575. Resident membership amounted to 35,119, a net gain of 2,773.

The churches and missions held a total of 249 revivals during the year. They averaged 21,956 Sunday School attendance; had 8,832 in Training Union on the average. There were 6,489 women in WMU work and 2,418 men and boys in Brotherhood and Royal Ambassador work.

Total contributions stood at $2,697,000, and final reports could amount, $295,653 went for mission edge this up slightly. Of this causes. Value of church property was estimated at $7,900,000, not counting around $80,000 represented in the encampment values at Big Spring.

Recommended budget for the year may be around $16,500, said the Rev. Arnett, of which $5,000 is earmarked for encampment items.

The convention program calls for the initial session at 9:30 a.m. with the Rev. F. C. Bradley Jr., pastor of First Baptist Church in Denver City and convention president, in charge. Benton W. Cain, education and music director at Colorado City, will report on training union activities, followed by departmental conferences at 9:55 a.m. for pastors and educational directors, adults, young people, intermediate, junior adult, primary adult and beginner adult workers. In charge will be Mrs. Mary Evans, Odessa, the Rev. Travis LaDuke, Midland, Eugene Upshaw, Midland, Mrs. P. D. Sullivan, Snyder, Mrs. Gene Shelbourne, Midland, and Mrs. James McNeil, Colorado City.

Dr. Rasco's convention sermon will be at 11:30 a.m. The host church will serve lunch. Business sessions begin at 2 p.m. with the Rev. Milo B. Arbuckle, Lamesa, heading the resolutions committee. Others will be Dr. P. O. O'Brien, Big Spring, time, place and preacher; the Rev. Avery J. Sullivan, Roscoe, nominations; and the Rev. M. O. Southerland Jr., Penwell, budget. The Rev. Arnett's annual report will be presented at 2:30 p.m., and the report of Mack Alexander, Big Spring, district Brotherhood president, will be at 2:50 p.m. while Glenn Murray, Odessa, district Sunday School superintendent, will report on his division at 3:20 p.m.

Mrs. A. B. Lightfoot, Odessa, district WMU president, will summarize women's activities at the final session at 7:10 p.m., followed by music by the Denver City First Baptist Choir. The Rev. Bill R. Austin, Colorado City, will review enlistment work done by the district evangelism committee. Dr. Freeman's sermon will terminate the convention.

Judge Raps Elders For Nose Pulling

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—Peace Justice W. Marion Hendry told two gentlemen of retirement age to stop pulling each other's nose across a fence.

C. V. Richardson had brought neighbor Ernie Lawson into court on a peace warrant, charging Lawson "always wants to fight me."

"He kept reaching over the fence and pulling my nose," Richardson told the court.

Mrs. Lawson stood up, waved her finger at Richardson and said, "you pulled his nose too."

The magistrate continued the case and told the men to try to adjust their differences.

Striking Herder Gets Their Goats

TRENTO, Italy (AP) — Giovanni Volcan, who tended a flock of goats owned by the nearby community of Moena, liked to smoke on the job.

He said it was an occupational need — like a coffee break — and for years he was given 50 lire (about 8 cents) for his daily ration of tobacco.

Then the community decided to cut out the tobacco money. Old Giovanni went on strike. He gathered his goats and at their head began a march on Moena, a town of 2,000 persons and a center of Italian vacationers. When Giovanni and his smelly herd reached town, the authorities surrendered.

"Okay," they said, "but get the goats out."

A Bible Thought For Today

And that from a child thou hast known the holy Scriptures, which are able to make thee wise unto salvation through faith which is in Christ Jesus.
(II Timothy 3:15)

Editorial

You Are The Key To Success

The United Fund campaign is getting under way once again—and once again, as its name implies, it is the outstanding united community effort. Chances of success of the United Fund depend upon the unified effort of us all.

This year we are undertaking to handle the enrollment of supporters without professional assistance. This will, we all hope, enable us to keep the total goal at just a few dollars under last year. Yet, at the same time, most of the agencies will be able to receive five to 10 per cent more help from the United Fund.

The trustees and others connected with the United Fund believe this is a worthy objective. And it is a good idea, but only — and we repeat, but only — if the goal is reached. If it is not reached, then the prospect of that extra agency participation because of our total volunteer efforts will be wiped out.

Thus, it is most important to emphasize that we have, by this confident step, increased the individual responsibility of everyone of us to see that the campaign does succeed to the fullest. We have a talking point in assuring the people who contribute that more of their dollars will go directly to the intended agencies. But it is a mistake to take the line that money applied to professional help is so much money gone with the wind, and that by plugging the hole we automatically will go over the top.

In the first place, professional help in the past has been — in general — quite valuable to us. We have acquired a lot of know-how from it. We have had the impetus gained from doing what experienced technicians in fund-raising told us because we were paying a healthy fee for that advice.

The thing that could happen, but must not happen, is to assume that since we are doing it ourselves we need not be in any hurry to accept or carry out our assignments. Sometime we might find it wise to engage professional assistance, but right now we are engaged in an acid job under our own power.

We believe firmly that we can, provided we respond willingly and enthusiastically to the assignments which General Chairman D. M. McKinney and all of his division leaders and group captains give us.

The key to success this year is in our conscience — in helping as well as in giving. If we fail in manpower, we will fail in the campaign. If we fail in the campaign, we will fail in giving the support a dozen agencies so desperately need.

But we cannot afford the luxury of an "if."

Too much depends on the success of the United Fund appeal, and in the final analysis the United Fund depends on you.

Stand up and be counted like a big-hearted Howard Countain and free American citizen ought to be.

Around The Rim

The Wish Book Is In Dealer Showrooms

The sports pages call this "autumnal madness" football. I don't.

I call it that great American idolizing of new automobile models. This is the season, you know, when all the makers unveil those shining new vehicles, with an added gadget there, a different appointment there, and 20 more horses under the hood. This is showmanship, plus science fiction, plus drama.

The old "wish book" that used to represent the mail order houses is not where people turn with starry eyes and hearts of hope. It's to the dealer showrooms.

There's something definitely exciting about a new model, whether that excitement is engendered by the auto men's promotion, or whether it comes from a basic longing to have a new car every year — or maybe two cars every year— I don't know. Just watch the crowds who come into a showroom for a first look at the newest offering.

They're a little backward at first, standing off and taking in the whole scene with a bit of awe. A greeting salesman soon thaws out this restraint, and first thing you know, Papa is looking under the hood, Mama is rubbing the upholstery, and the kids are clamoring about the room in the luggage compartment.

Then begins a thorough inspection. That looking under the hood business — an inspector of a new model will give the innards of the engine a studied scrutiny that will never be matched again. Certainly he won't be checking the mechanical devices when he comes back to buy.

It is impossible for anybody inspecting a new model auto, when he slips into the driver's seat, without giving the steering wheel a tug or two, in each direction. Just as if there were some doubt that the steering wheel would turn. This gives the feel that steering must have changed drastically since last year's production. The brake has to be given a tentative push with the foot, just to be sure that the manufacturer hasn't made the pedal rigid in the new model.

All doors have to be opened and slammed, to determine that the hinges are still there. It is maybe not a must, but practically so, to climb into the rear seat, to know first-hand that the cushions are still there.

The car then is to be surveyed from at least eight angles around the ouside. Evidently to test if the new machine will fit into the old garage, both lengthways and sideways, and to see if it can be backed out the driveway without scraping the trees.

Next, the color treatment and the chrome trim get the once-over. By about this time, the looker has decided that "they really have it this year," or maybe says to himself, "not much change from last season." But even if it is the latter, deep down in his heart he is thinking about how nice it would be to have a new model — if the present job is worth enough to swing the deal.

The reason I can report on this new version of going through the wish book is that I have been there. I have observed in awe. I have poked my head under the bonnet without knowing what I saw, I have tugged at the steering wheel and tested the brake, struck an experimental pose in the rear seat, and then slammed all the doors.

And then decided to myself that they really have it this year, and wonder how much my old car is worth?

Radford Trying For JCS Authority?

WASHINGTON — Admiral Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, has issued a directive which in the view of the three service chiefs, Army, Navy and Air, will result in bypassing them and giving Radford virtually sole authority over all the armed forces of the United States.

The Radford directive of September 5 has further inflamed the controversy within the Joint Chiefs of Staff over the growing conviction of Radford's assumption of sole power. This suspicion, raising the deep-seated fear of an effort to impose the Prussian general staff system with a single commander, flared up in debate in the Senate shortly before Congress adjourned.

The debate was launched by Senator Styles Bridges, chairman of the Republican Policy Committee. While he did not mention the present chairman of the JCS by name, Bridges said:

"In the case of a great national emergency or catastrophe involving the survival of my country, I should not want to depend on the whims of one man; I should want the benefit of the collective judgment of the top military brains of the country as they reported to a civilian authority."

Senator Hubert H. Humphrey, Democrat of Minnesota, commended Bridges for his concern that the present system of joint responsibility was being undermined.

But Humphrey went further to say that he was worried "by subtle but alarming indications that he (Radford) is exerting increasing influence if not authority over the Joint Chiefs of Staff in their deliberations and their findings and the manner in which their views are presented or even not presented to the civilian officials of the Department of Defense and to Congressional committees."

What the latest Radford directive does is to short-circuit the three committees—strategic plans, logistics and intelligence — on which the service chiefs have depended for implementing their views and concepts.

Under this directive, they would from here on out report to the Joint Staff, which is appointed and controlled by Radford. The result would be, as at least two of the chiefs have put it, to relegate them to an ivory tower where they would be talking only to each other.

"Before affecting these changes," Radford said in a memorandum to the service chiefs accompanying notification of the shift in procedure, "I will consider any views which you may have or discuss any points you may wish to raise pertinent to these projected changes."

Many of those who oppose Radford believe that instead of abolishing the committees on which the chiefs have depended — and that would be the effect of the Radford directive — he should move in the opposite direction and strengthen them further by delegating to them some of the power now centralized in the Joint Chiefs of Staff and the chairman.

Radford's authority to speak for all the chiefs was challenged during the Indochina crisis by the then Chief of Staff of the Army, General Matthew B. Ridgway. After considerable difficulty, Ridgway succeeded in presenting to President Eisenhower his views opposing an air strike at Dien Bienphu, as urged by Radford, and the President sustained Ridgway.

Recently the late Anthony Leviero of the New York Times disclosed a Radford proposal to cut the armed forces 800,000 by 1960 and thereby place increasing reliance on large caliber nuclear weapons.

The ultimate blame for this "leak" has been put on General Maxwell Taylor, current Army chief, who has continued to resist a strategy which relies almost wholly on nuclear retaliation. He attributed this strategy to a desire to cut expenditures and balance the budget.

The challengers do not question Radford's brains — his brilliance in point of fact, nor the energy and remarkable concentration he brings to his task.

But they are fearful that the increasing centralization of power in one man's hands will not only pervert the American system of civilian responsibility but can lead to grave and perhaps irretrievable errors of judgment.

Is The Market Position Like That Of 1937–Or 1946?

How wonderfully aloof the Federal Reserve Board is! Like the little girl at boarding school who puts a frog in the headmistress' bed, and knows nothing, nothing at all, about the horrid little beast. "You get warts from them, don't you? I never touch them!" That's how the Federal Reserve, in its September Bulletin, sounds about money: "We never go near the stuff!"

The Reserve, from its monetary Mount Olympus, observes: "Interest rates, after declining during the mild recession in economic activity from mid-1953 to the summer of 1954, began to firm in the fall of 1954, and have since advanced persistently over the period of business recovery and expansion. The advance gathered momentum during 1955, and in 1956 has carried most rates above their 1953 peaks."

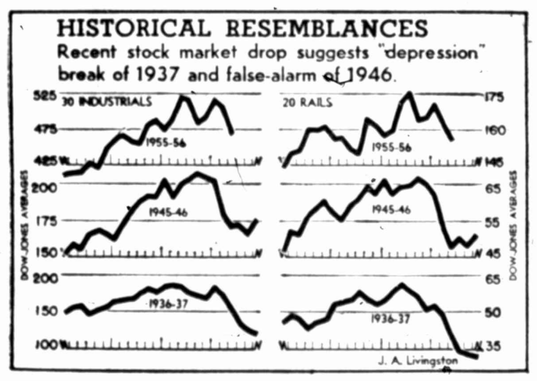

And what did the Reserve Board do? It adopted a policy which "limited additions to bank reserves to amounts consistent with the needs of orderly economic growth."

Not everybody will accept the Reserve Board's calm appraisal. As if it, the Reserve, responded to and in no way caused economic events.

Home-builders, last week, piled into Washington, saying they're being crushed. No money for mortgages. Housing starts, which were 1,300,000 in 1955, are likely, cry the builders, to be only a million this year, and would be as low as 800,000 next year if this keeps up. Builders think the Board has influenced housing sales — decisively.

In Detroit, you hear worries from auto manufacturers: "Will there be instalment credit available to move 1957 model cars?" And, in Wall Street, investors query: "Is the Reserve Board at last getting the stock market?"

A 50-point drop in the stock market — from 520.95, in the Dow-Jones industrial average on August 2, to 468.70, on October 1, isn't erased by a few-day rebound. The stock market is not "just another" business indicator — like employment, retail sales, steel operations, housing starts, or commodity prices. Locked up in its mutations is the sum total of men's economic impulses — their hopes and fears, their plans and inhibitions. Wall Street has the wondrous power of prophecy. Sometimes it foreshadows coming events.

"The 1955-56 bull market has two parallels:

1. 1936-37. This bull market got tired in the spring of 1937, and in September, Kerplop! The break signaled the 1937-38 recession— a recession, which, in speed and fierceness, exceeded that of 1929. (Incidentally, the Federal Reserve Board, then chairmanned by Marriner Eccles, had been trying to prevent inflation — somewhat in the manner of the Board today.)

2. 1945-46. This bull market celebrated the end of World War II. Instead of a reconversion slump, business boomed. Wall Street was exuberant until the spring of 1946. Then, in September, the market spilled. But business didn't. People wanted too many automobiles, refrigerators, houses, rugs after the wartime drought. The stock market proved to be as false in forecasting business in 1946 as it was right in 1937.

Aside from two shocks — President Eisenhower's heart attack in September, 1955, and his ileitis operation on June 9, 1956 — the contour of the present bull market is much the same as the markets of 1936-37 and 1945-46 (see chart). And if the decline goes further, it would raise questions: Is this '37 or is it '46?

The drop, itself, if it goes further, would generate economic consequences of its own. It could make it harder for companies to finance by selling stock. (It's already costlier to raise money by bonds.) It could hurt Christmas sales. Likewise, auto sales. Some investors, seeing stocks drop, might decide to put extra cash into the market. Others might just feel poor and decide to postpone purchases.

But a great many "coming events" would have to be undone to cause a business setback a la 1937. Corporations and business men would have to cancel plans to construct new plant and install new machinery. State and local governments would have to retrench on building schools, roads, through-ways, hospitals. Individuals would have to contract their purchases of all types. And, money would have to continue tight, an unlikely eventuality. What the Reserve Board can tighten, it also can loosen!

Besides, a stock market which goes up 250 points — almost in a straight line — for two and one-half years (since September, 1953) is entitled to a drop of from 80 to 160 points. Dow theorists "accept" a correction of a minimum of 33-1-3 per cent to as much as 66 2-3 per cent of the advance as "normal." The decline could go that far without signifying the end of the bull and the start of a bear market. In short, it's a little early to fret.

Total Vote Of The Minority Groups

WASHINGTON — What really decides presidential contests —is it the amount of personal campaigning the candidates do on trips across the country, or is it the sum total of grievances added up as against the benefits felt by the electorate?

Experience in many campaigns, as revealed in the history books for decades, throws light on this very point. William Jennings Bryan, for example, actually spoke before more millions of voters in 1896 and made longer trips around the country then and in 1900 and 1908 than any presidential candidate before or since. Yet he was beaten all three times by opponents who traveled only a fraction as much.

The same thing happened in subsequent campaigns. Charles Evans Hughes made a transcontinental swing in 1916, while President Wilson remained for the most part at Shadow Lawn, N. J. But Wilson won.

Again in 1920 Governor James M. Cox of Ohio made a tour from coast to coast. Senator Harding stayed on his front porch at Marion, Ohio, and then made less than a half-dozen speeches in the East, but won just the same.

John W. Davis in 1924 made an extensive journey across the continent, with many speeches en route, but President Coolidge, with only a limited campaign, won. Al Smith in 1928 did more traveling than Herbert Hoover, but lost. Certainly Alfred Landon in 1936, Wendell Willkie in 1940 and Thomas E. Dewey in 1944 each covered many thousands of miles in their "barnstorming" tours, while President Roosevelt made far less campaign speeches, with appearances in only a few large cities — and won every time. He did travel in 1932 more than President Hoover, and Jim Farley, FDR's manager, was nervous about his doing so.

While Harry Truman in 1948 made a "whistle-stop" tour, Governor Dewey traveled just as extensively, and the final results were close.

Certainly there is nothing in the record to suggest that the candidate who goes out and sees the people and shows himself to big audiences wins while his opponent loses by staying at home. The record suggests just the opposite.

But there's a very important reason for presidential candidates to travel widely, and President Eisenhower is well advised to make a number of personal appearances in different parts of the country. It has everything to do with the morale of state and local political organizations. They need to be pepped up and stimulated to work intensively. The leaders naturally have enough enthusiasm, but it can be increased among the party workers when they see the candidate in action, as he gives to their fellow citizens a demonstration of how he handles current issues.

How much do issues have to do with the result of campaigns, and what part do personalities play? Issues mean everything and candidates are effective only as they articulate the issues.

Basically it's the sum total of minority groups which makes the majority that decides elections. It's the amount of discontent versus contentment on both economic and emotional issues which tips the scales one way or the other.

Before taking office, President Eisenhower had the support of all factions in his own party and many groups in the opposing party. Then he had to make important decisions. The cleavages had to come as different problems were tackled. The day before he vetoed the natural-gas bill, Mr. Eisenhower had friends on both sides of that issue. The day after he took action, he had made new political enemies on one side and perhaps no new friends on the other.

Emory S. Bogardus, professor of social psychology at the University of California, puts it this way in his book entitled "The Making Of Public Opinion":

"The election (1948) indicated that public opinion is influenced by the people's occupational and economic interests, whether they be big businessmen, tenant farmers, young married veterans, humble housewives, or even irritated ethnic group members. Each of these groups tends to vote for the political party that seems to have the most to offer it.

"Group interests and opinion tend to rule elections. Victory is the sum total of a sumber of group opinions. The minority group opinions favoring Truman added up to 2,000,000 more votes than did the minority group opinions favoring Dewey."

That's why "peace and prosperity" are being emphasized this year by the Republicans, while the Democrats try to call attention to as many irritations and grievances as possible for the final tally.

Exploring Your Own Resources

When I was a youngster, I worked for an uncle in Iowa one summer. Uncle Will was in the real estate business. He'd buy a plot of unimproved land, stake it out and then hold a lot sale. My job was to do the staking and to paint the posts.

When everything was ready, he would walk along the main street of the small town with a ten dollar gold piece in his hand (remember them?) and say to people whom he would pass on the street, "I'm going to give away a ten dollar gold piece on the corner at two o'clock this afternoon."

Well, they may have thought he was a bit cracked, and some of them didn't believe him, but at two o'clock he would be down at the corner and there would be a sizable crowd around him. He passed out slips of paper, had everyone write his name, put the slip in a hat, got some little girl to draw one, and the person whose name was drawn would be richer by that ten dollar gold piece.

This was his way of advertising his lot sale. It worked too. He made enough so that he could afford to lend me the money to go through a college. He made me pay it back too, every penny, with interest. He was that kind of man—if you borrowed money, you paid it back. And if you had money, you used it to help others get ahead.

Uncle Will died last year, but I remember him as a wonderful man. He made his way up from humble beginnings. He made the most of his abilities, and was a great inspiration to me and to others.

In the South I sometimes stay in a hotel whose owner posts signs in the rooms, many of them his original sayings. One reads, "There are vast, unexplored resources under your hat." I think of this when I think of my uncle—he knew how to explore his own resources. Have you ever analyzed the unexplored resources under your own hat?

No one of us has ever tapped a fraction of what is in us. But we should, and we can, if we make up our minds to do so and are willing to live by God's laws and let them guide us. The history of our country is the story of people who have been able to see and meet the opportunities offered them by the American way of life. Everyone, whatever his background, has the same opportunity. You have only to remember that you are a child of God and therefore have within you His vast resources awaiting discovery.

That factual and realistic book, the Bible, says: "What is man, that thou art mindful of him?. . .For Thou has made him a little lower than the angels, and hast crowned him with glory and honor. Thou madest him to have dominion. . ." It is indeed a creature of great potential that God has created. We need not only humility, but also a proper sense of self-esteem.

It is pathetic when any man is beaten and downcast, and it is tragic when a man has lost respect for the enormous potential within himself. Almighty God made you equal to any problem or difficulty that can ever face you. Think of all that He stored up in you; the ability to feel and think, to hope, to dream, to create. He gave you the ability to suffer, to struggle, to love, to pray and to believe. What more do you need?

PROVERBS 21:2 — "Every way of a man is right in his own eyes, but the Lord weighs the heart." (RSV)

* * *

This verse from Proverbs has implications for us in regard to temperance.

The problem with alcohol is that its results are not immediate except in large doses. For many years a person may use it with little apparent difficulty. He therefore assumes that all the talk about moderate drinking as a great evil is gross exaggeration. He also assumes that since it apparently does not harm him, it harms no one else.

The Christian is a person who is sensitive to the direct and indirect effect of his acts. The answer seems to me to be found in the second part of the Scripture quoted, "...the Lord weighs the heart." If we do not think through ultimate results, drink will seem a right way in our own eyes. But if God weighs our hearts our compassion reaches beyond selfish indulgence to Christian concern.

Ways Of Justice

DETROIT (AP) — Associate Municipal Judge John T. McWilliams of suburban Dearborn entered the courtroom and pounded the gavel.

The bailiff called out the first case: "The people against Associate Municipal Judge John T. McWilliams," and handed him three unpaid parking tickets.

The judge found himself guilty on two of the counts and fined himself $10 with an alternative of four days in jail. He paid the fine. On the third ticket, he argued with himself, upheld his argument and dismissed the charge.

Ten-Shun!

CHARLESTOWN, W. Va. (AP) — Mayor John T. Copenhaver ordered the city's new police chief, former Detective Lt. Dallas Bias, to wear a fancy $300 uniform.

It had the four strips of a Navy captain, the epaulets of an Air Force colonel, and a cap visor with "scrambled eggs" reminiscent of Gen. MacArthur's finest hour.

The first time Bias wore it on a downtown street, a sailor just out of boot camp came to rigid attention and saluted him.

Helps Wrong Way

FAIRVIEW, Mont. (AP) — A friend advised Mrs. Elmer Martin to keep a light burning in her patch of sweet corn to scare away marauding badgers. "The lights didn't help me any," Mrs. Martin said, but the badgers appreciated them. "They were able to find the corn better than before."

Abandon Tunnel

BUTTE, Mont. (AP) — The 66-year-old Homestake Tunnel through the Continental Divide near Butte has been abandoned by the Northern Pacific Railway. The 682-foot tunnel 11 miles southeast of the Mining City was replaced by a half-million-dollar open cut.

A sensational attempted train robbery occurred in the tunnel May 7, 1907. Three men were sent to Montana Prison for killing the engineer and wounding a fireman in the bold holdup attempt.

The tunnel was abandoned because of high maintenance costs and the danger of falling rocks.

Houses Cut Pollen

DES MOINES (AP) — Extensive housing developments since World War II are cutting down on the airborne pollens that cause Des Moines hay fever sufferers their worst agony each year.

"The count has been going down each year in Des Moines," says Dean Byrl Benton of the Drake University college of pharmacy.

"I think part of the reason is that extensive building projects in the city now occupy vacant lots where ragweed and other pollen producing plants grew."

Remembers Tip

GREEN RIVER, Wyo. (AP) — A Green River cafe waitress received her tip after all.

The cafe owner received a note, written at Pinedale, Wyo., about 100 miles north of here, enclosing a tip. The writer, an Army captain en route to Japan, explained he had been in the cafe a couple days earlier and had forgotten the tip.

Lost And Found

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP) — A man is back in jail here serving the rest of a term he started 20 years ago when he just walked out of Oakland County Jail two months before his sentence was finished.

Police picked the man up on a concealed weapons charge, checked their records and sent him back to finish his term.

THE ANSWER IS GOD!

WORSHIP HIM IN CHURCH EVERY SUNDAY . . . AT HOME EVERY DAY . . .

Somebody's Neighbor

He probably doesn't look much like the man next door. He does his arithmetic with the aid of a centuries-old gadget called the abacus, and he writes the results in characters that would be quite undecipherable to you . . . yet you probably have far more in common with him than you'd ever dream.

Like you, he wants peace. Like you, he wants a good future for his children, and he wants them to have more than he has had. Like you, he has experienced happiness and sorrow, love and disillusionment. Like you, he prays.

On World Wide Communion Sunday, he will be going to Church and, though this may seem a bit odd to you, he will be praying for you. Yes . . . for you, and for everyone else in the world, friend or enemy.

Why not join him? Why not, on World Wide Communion Sunday, go to your own church and include him . . . him and everyone else . . . in your prayers.

Pray for peace, too. Remember, the power of prayer is a wonderful thing . . . especially when it is given many voices.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

CODE OF ETHICS

Of The AMERICAN PHARMACEUTICAL ASSOCIATION

The Code of Ethics of the American Pharmaceutical Association is a statement of principles adopted by the profession for the self-government of its members.

The primary obligation of pharmacy is the service it can render to the public in safeguarding the preparation, compounding, and dispensing of drugs and the storage and handling of drugs and medical supplies.

The practice of pharmacy requires knowledge, skill and integrity; therefore, the state laws restrict the practice of pharmacy to persons with special training and qualifications and license to them privileges which are denied to others. Accordingly, the pharmacist recognizes his responsibility to the state and to the community for their well-being, and fulfills his professional obligations honorably.

The Pharmacist And His Relations To The Public

The pharmacist upholds the approved legal standards of the United States Pharmacopeia and the National Formulary, and encourages the use of official drugs and preparations. He purchases, compounds, and dispenses only drugs of good quality.

The pharmacist uses every precaution to safeguard the public when dispensing any drugs or preparations. Being legally entrusted with the dispensing and sale of these products, he assumes this responsibility by upholding and conforming to the laws and regulations governing the distribution of these substances.

The pharmacist seeks to enlist and to merit the confidence of his patrons. He zealously guards this confidence. He considers the knowledge and confidence which he gains of the ailments of his patrons as entrusted to his honor, and does not divulge such facts.

The pharmacist holds the health and safety of his patron to be his first consideration; he makes no attempt to prescribe for or to treat disease or to offer for sale any drug or medical device merely for profit.

The pharmacist keeps his pharmacy clean, neat, and sanitary, and well equipped with accurate measuring and weighing devices and other apparatus suitable for the proper performance of his professional duties.

The pharmacist is a good citizen and upholds and defends the laws of the states and nation; he keeps informed concerning pharmacy and drug laws, and other laws pertaining to health and sanitation, and cooperates with the enforcement authorities.

The pharmacist supports constructive efforts in behalf of the public health and welfare. He seeks representation on public health committees and projects and offers to them his full cooperation.

The pharmacist at all times seeks only fair and honest remuneration for his services.

RIP SMITH

MEET THE 'seniors' OF THE COSDEN FAMILY...

This is the ninth in a new series of special Cosden presentations recognizing the long and valued services of those employes who have been associated with the Company 15 years or longer. Cosden is proud of its scores of workers who have contributed their efforts through so many years toward the success of the Company.

On Oct. 15, Rip Smith will round out 15 years of work with Cosden Petroleum Corp. For it was on Oct. 15, 1941 that Smith became a part of the company.

Smith was born in Ballinger, Texas, but grew up in Abilene where he went through elementary school and attended high school. It was almost inevitable with his love for athletics that he should be a member of the high school football team.

Besides football, Smith played polo professionally for six years, but doesn't get around to playing this sport anymore. His favorite form of relaxation now is fishing, especially the deep sea type. He also likes golf.

After working on a ranch near Midland for a short while Smith first went to work for Cosden in the yard. He spent three months in that capacity and then was transferred to the pumphouse and feeder department where he has remained.

He spent 3 years and 3 months in the service of Uncle Sam. Beginning in Sept. of 1942. After completing his time in the Army which included 22 months in the Assentian Islands, Smith returned to his work at Cosden.

He and his wife, Kay, a native of Honey Grove, were married nine years ago in Abilene. They reside in Big Spring at 1317 Stadium.

Among his activities while living here, Smith is a member of the Howard County Athletic Association and the Eagles.

CINEMA COMMENT

By BOB SMITH

There aren't any Academy Award winners at Big Spring movie houses this week, but there are some that are worth a little comment, good or bad.

The big production is "Alexander the Great," which has been here before. The film sticks fairly closely to the Greek warrior's life story, and the color photography is excellent. It is good entertainment as far as big productions go, but as the story of the man who spread the blessings of Greek civilization and changed the course of history in doing so, it sort of falls flat. There is too much concentration on detail, too much emphasis on Alexander's psychological background. One comes away with the feeling that Alexander was a mental case, and not very bright at that. The ten years of his life that he spent in Far Asia after conquest of Darius is glossed over in the movie; it was these ten years that earned Alexander the title of "The Great."

* * *

We don't know anything of the quality of "Blackjack Ketchum, Desperado," since we haven't seen it yet, or read other critical reviews. But the film is based on a legendary Texas outlaw who, with his brother, terrorized West Texas for many years. The Ketchum brothers often hid out in the numerous caves to be found high up in the mesa country around McCamey. Spelunkers in that region have dug up old coffee pots, empty cartridge shells and other paraphernalia believed to have belonged to the Ketchums. The notorious brothers also ranged through the Big Spring area.

The film version, as might be expected, is pure fiction. Tom (Blackjack) Ketchum and his brother Sam hailed from Tom Green County (San Angelo) and, although blamed for many crimes they probably did not commit, and a record of holdups and cold-blooded murders through West Texas, New Mexico, Arizona and Mexico, Sam died in the Santa Fe pemtentiary in 1899, and Blackjack was hanged at Clayton in 1901.

A book that earned the 1954 Edgar Allen Poe Award has been made into a movie, "A Kiss Before Dying." With a youthful cast, it is the story of a psychopathic killer who gives his young friends a bad time before he comes to a bad end. Full of suspense, a little rough for children.

* * *

John Wayne fans will be glad to hear that one of his top films is back, "The Searchers."

Don't see "D Day The Sixth Of June" expecting to see a war picture. There are some action scenes, but it is largely a love story. Good, in its class.

PLATTER PALAVER

By Mary Sue Hale

Eddie Fisher can count on additional fans — due to his latest record release, "Cindy." This disc is losing no time in becoming an established current favorite. Eddie's last release, "If I'm Elected," didn't create even a small sensation; but here is wagering that "Cindy" comes to a better fate.

"Anyway That You Want Me," is the flip side of Elvis Presley's later release, "Love Me Tender." The latter mentioned brings to light a new Elvis — stripped of much of the gaudiness and noise — who still appeals to young record fans. The "smaller" side, or the side of this record given less buildup, "Anyway That You Want Me" sounds more like the old Elvis. But if this record fares as his previous ones have done, there won't be a "Small Side," but both will be equally prominent in the record world.

A number that has cautiously stepped up into the top 10 tunes, commensurate with the quality of the music contained therein is LeRoy Holmes rendition of "When the White Lilacs Bloom."

Something out of the ordinary is Oscar McCloly's singing "Blue Velvet." I'm not too sure whether this recording comes under the head of mood music, but it certainly is mood creating. The flip side, "The Penalty" is rock'n' roll, but a new type of rock and roll. This number has just a flash of blues worked in, plus more mood instrumentalizing.

Though relatively unknown to record fans, this recording could be the factor pronouncing "Oscar McCloly" a name to remember.

Jim Lowe is off to a flying start with his version of "Green Door." Here is another Dot recording that will go far, popularity wise.

"Out of Sight, Out of Mind," coupled with "That's Right" make up a promising release with vocalizing by the Five Keys.

Chris Conner, a vocalist whose style greatly resembles that of Julie London, presents an old favorite, "I Miss You So." Several years ago, this number was pretty highly rated, as records went. Perhaps in this day of returning of old tunes, this one will stage a comeback.

Actor In Hospital

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actor Tom Conway was reported resting comfortably following surgery of an undisclosed nature at the UCLA Medical Center Hospital. The hospital declined yesterday to identify the ailment or say when the operation was performed. Conway is the brother of actor George Sanders.

Smoky Atmosphere

The directors of "Night People" wanted a realistic, smoke-filled atmosphere for a night club scene on location in Germany. So they wormed their way into a Berlin club, passed out plenty of free beer and cigarettes to the regular patrons, and soon had their smoky atmosphere.

Sahara Film Is A Shocker

"A Kiss Before Dying," playing Sunday through Wednesday at the Sahara Drive-In Theatre, is a story of an illicit romance and murder, of a young college boy and his girl friend faced with the crisis of impending parenthood without benefit of wedlock.

Based on Ira Levin's prize-winning book, the film version has retained most of the biting flavor of the novel. Robert Wagner pulls a switch from his Prince Valient type of role. His is the role of the psychopathic killer.

Joanne Woodward, as the girl victim, was starred with Van Heflin in "Count Three and Pray." Jeffrey Hunter and Virginia Leith also fill important roles.

Wagner, faced with an insurmountable problem, solves it in simple and direct fashion—with murder. Then, unwilling to forsake the family fortune his late love represented, he woos her sister.

The plot leads to the famed open pit copper mines in Arizona, where the violence reaches its climax.

No Hero

Robert Wagner departs from his hero-type roles in "A Kiss Before Dying," in which he portrays a psychopathic killer. Above, he prepares to deal rather rudely with a girl friend.

'The Proud Ones' At Two Theatres

Robert Ryan, Virginia Mayo and Jeffrey Hunter star in "The Proud Ones," showing Thursday through Saturday at the Jet Drive-In Theatre. The film also plays on a double-bill with "Night People" at the Sahara Drive-In Theatre on the same date.

Ryan is cast as a lawman out to clean up a frontier town, Hunter as a youngster out to kill the marshal for his father's death, and Miss Mayo provides the romantic theme.

War Romance Film At Terrace

"D Day The Sixth Of June," showing Thursday through Saturday at the Terrace Drive-In Theatre, is not a war film. It is a story about a wartime romance in London, with only a few scarce shots of combat action.

Robert Taylor is starred as the American officer who, though married, falls in love with an English girl, played by Dana Wynter. Richard Todd protrays the "other man" in the triangle, a British Army officer. The main significance of D Day in the plot is that the war itself resolves the triangle.

Milland Sfars In 'Lisbon'

Ray Milland is a triple threat in "Lisbon," showing Sunday through Wednesday at the Ritz Theatre. He plays the leading role, and also produced and directed the film.

Co-starring Maurene O'Hara, Claude Rains and Yvonne Furneaux, the plot deals with an international smuggling ring against the backdrop of the ancient seacoast town of Lisbon.

The story revolves around an American millionnaire industrialist held by the Reds for two years. His wife, Miss O'Hara, seeks to have him murdered so she can inherit the entire family fortune.

Master-minding the murder plot is Rains, who hires Milland, a fellow smuggler. Rains' plan is twofold: he will eliminate Milland's competition and will take a huge cut of Miss O'Hara's murder cake.

Milland produces and directs himself into a series of sea chases and flights down the narrow streets of Lisbon as well as a romantic triangle between Misses O'Hara and Furneaux.

Richard Boone In Western Film

John Agar, Mamie Van Doren, Richard Boone and James Gleason head the cast in "Star In the Dust," showing Tuesday and Wednesday at the Terrace Drive-In Theatre. Agar portrays a sheriff standing alone in defending a condemned killer, Boone, from a lynch mob. To add to the confusion, the town is split between cattlemen and farmer factions, further split between desires to lynch Boone and to set him free.

First Musical Excites Judy

NEW YORK, Oct. 6 (AP)—Getting ready for her first big Broadway musical has wide-eyed Judy Holliday feeling "all cut up into little pieces."

Everything, however, is firmly under control. Her solution for workaday worries is simple. You refuse to let them upset you.

The show she headlines into the Shubert Nov. 29 is called "Bells Are Ringing" and was written by a couple of old friends, Betty Comden and Adolph Green.

"They kept saying 'you ought to do a musical,'" Miss Holliday says. "I kept saying 'when are you going to write one for me?' and finally they did, and so here I am."

Wayne Western Returns At Terrace

John Wayne's Western thriller, "The Searchers," returns to the screen of the Terrace Drive-In Theatre Sunday and Monday. Also starring are Jeffrey Hunter, Vera Miles, Ward Bond and Natalie Wood.

The plot involves a long search by Wayne for a girl kidnapped by Indians, a girl who in the end faces a vengeful death from her rescuer's hand.

Sees Battle Site From Other Side

"I'd always wondered what the Normandy beaches looked like from the other side; now I know," says Richard Todd in speaking of his role in "D-Day The Sixth of June."

Todd was an officer in a British parachute brigade which landed behind the lines on D Day and fought its way westward to meet the troops who had landed on the beaches. In the film, Todd plays a British officer who hits the beaches with his men.

Margaret Sullavan will play the starring role in the true story of how Sister Acquinas, a Catholic nun, learned to fly an airplane on Monday night's presentation of "The Pilot" on "Studio One" at 8 o'clock. When her pupils began to show increased interest in airplanes, she too became interested and earned her pilot's license. This skill led her to a unique role in the war effort.

'Night People' Plays At Sahara

"Night People," playing at the Sahara Drive-In Theatre Thursday through Saturday, is a story of an American colonel's fight to free a kidnapped GI against the background of the cold war in occupied Berlin.

Gregory Peck plays the colonel, a tough soldier determined to beat the Reds at their own game. Also starring is Broderick Crawford as the brassy U. S. industrialist who flies to Germany to find a way to set his kidnaped son free.

The two Americans find themselves facing a moral dilemma when it is revealed the only way to get the young soldier back is to trade him for a couple of escaped refugees.

Korea Vet Writes Play, 'Snow Job'

By MARSHALL COMERER
By The Associated Press

Earl Bush, 25, Navy veteran and Texas Wesleyan student, is a theater enthusiast.

An actor and director of the Greater Fort Worth Little Theater, he has written a two-act comedy about Navy beachmasters attached to the Marines during the retreat from Hungnam in Korea at Christmas in 1950.

Bush calls his comedy "Snow Job." It will run Dec. 25-28 and proceeds will go to charity. Bush will act and direct the play.

Bush was at Hungnam and he says he just wants "to tell a story I've wanted to tell for a long time. It tells just what we did there in Korea."

LOOKS AT BOOKS

By Sam Blackburn

THE STORY OF TEXAS by George Sessions Perry. Illustrated by John N. Barron. Garden City Books, $2.50.

"The Story of Texas" is a book for boys and girls but a lot of adult Texans who may have fallen into the habit of taking the great and exciting story of this state for granted might well find it worth their time to read the book.

George Sessions Perry is a widely known contemporary Texas writer and his novel "hold Autumn in Your Hand," has achieved wide renown.

In this book, attractively and tastefully printed, abounding with illustrations by John Barron, California artist, the full story of Texas is not attempted. The author has elected to pick out the dramatic and inspiring episodes in the state's history and write of them refreshingly and colorfully. Inside front and rear covers feature a historical map of Texas spotting the events which are related in the text.

Many of Texas' most famous heroes are characters in Perry's recital of the highlights of the Lone Star State's existence. The Alamo, of course, is there, as is the dramatic victory of San Jacinto. Ten stories make up the contents.

All in all, this is an attractive and interesting book and would be treasured by all young Texans who are eager to have more colorful facts about the events and episodes in the state's story than are generally recited in the school text books.

The illustrations are in pen and ink — black on a golden background. The book is one of a series Garden City is publishing. "The Story of California" and "The Story of Illinois" have already appeared.

Popular Library is coming out soon with two new original westerns which will have a wide appeal for followers of this class of fiction.

Philip Ketchum's "The Big Gun" will be on the stands after Oct. 16. Two days later, Thomas Thompson's "Born to Gunsmoke" will be released.

The titles, surely, are sufficiently graphic to indicate the nature of the stories. They abound in action. There are plenty of tough hombres, lots of fights, gunplay and western drama in each.

If you are a western yarn fan, you might want to look these new PL originals up when they make their debut on the shelves and racks where you buy your paperbound casual reading material.

Howard County Library reports that 153 new books have been added to its stacks in the past month. Included are four donated by booklovers to the library.

Some of the new arrivals are books for which there have already been many requests.

Such as "The Brook Kerith" by George Moore. Here's one of those faseinating novels with a Biblical theme which are so widely popular at this time. The recent disclosures relative to the discovery of the Dead Sea Scrolls has greatly increased interest in books and novels with the Bible as their basis. "The Book Kerith" will not disappoint fans in this group.

Nor will "That Egyptian Woman," by Noel Gerson — a diverting, sophisticated novel about Cleopatra and Caesar.

Other books listed as new to the Library stocks are:

John Roeburt's "The Lunatic Time"; Ethel Mannin, "The Living Lotus"; Richad Marsten "The Spiked Heel"; Cloete Stuart's "Mamba"; Osgood Philip Endecott's "The Sinner Beloved." (This is another story with a biblical background — this time in the days of Hosea the prophet.)

Still other new books now available to patrons of the library: "The Far Traveler" by Manning Coles; "The Burning Jewel" by Teresa Kay; "The Red Room" by Francoise Mallet-Joris; "One Small Candle" by Mary MacKinnon.

Historical Map Of Texas

This historical map of Texas appears on end-papers of "The Story of Texas" by George Sessions Perry. The book, published by Harden City Children's Books, is illustrated by John N. Barron.

Modern Tucson Gets Into Act

For once, Tucson, Arizona, is depicted without six-guns, horses, Indians or cowboys. The adobe restoration of "Old Tucson," built in 1940 for the film "Arizona," has been the scene of 63 Western films, while modern Tucson has been largely ignored.

In "A Kiss Before Dying," however, Old Tucson is ignored in favor of scenes of the modern city.

Alpine Climbing Call Is 'Wolf Whistle'

The yodel is the Bavarian equivalent of the wolf call, actress Rita Gam found while filming "Night People" in Germany. She had assumed the yodels she heard from passing Germans were coming from mountain climbers limbering up for their next climb.

Family Lines Kept Intact In 'Searchers'

Familie ties were kept intact in "The Searchers." Natalie Wood and her younger sister, Lana, portray the same girl at two different ages. Olive Carey, widow of the late actor Harry Carey, and her son, Harry Carey Jr., portray a mother-and-son role.

'Hell' Beer

Americans on location in Germany for the filming of "Night People" learned that country is one place a person can say "this beer tastes like hell" without insulting the bartender. The German word "hell" denotes a light variety of brew.

'Alexander' Film

Smart Guys Are Worst Drivers

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—Lawyers, doctors and scientists make worse automobile drivers than persons of low mentality, says Arthur L. Berlin, chairman of the driver education program in San Leandro's schools.

"The man who drives while thinking of his business is a poor driver, while the man with low mental ability won't be thinking about much of anything," he said at the state traffic safety conference.

GOC Non-Com To Set Up CD Posts

T-Sgt. Milo M. Curtice of the 4768th Ground Observer Squadron of Oklahoma City, Okla., has been assigned to Big Spring to organize ground observer posts in Howard and six nearby counties.

The sergeant, who is not assigned to Webb AFB, lives with his family at Cottonwood Trailer Park, but spends most of his time traveling around the eight counties and organizing the posts.

The seven counties in which Sgt. Curtice will organize a numerous ground observer posts prior to Dec. 31 are Howard, Martin, Mitchell, Scurry, Glasscock, Coke and Borden.

Of the five posts which are to be set up in Howard County, three already have been organized and are operating. They are in Forsan, Knott, and Coahoma. The other two, on which Curtice is now working, will be located in Big Spring and Vincent.

Curtice, who is organizing the Big Spring post through W. D. Berry, director of Civil Defense in Howard County, said that at least 12 volunteers at the age of 12 or over are needed in order to get a post started. There is no limit, however, to the number of volunteers accepted in the organization.

Persons who volunteer receive approximately two hours of training and serve as plane spotters one hour one Sunday a month. In case of a national emergency the posts would then operate on a 24-hour-a-day basis, Sgt. Curtice said.

A site for the observation post in Big Spring has not been selected. The post should be well elevated and have good visibility; however, it does not necessarily need be a tall mountin, the sergeant explained.

At present the Forsan GOC Post is manned with 21 trained volunteers, and the Knott Post has 35 trained members. It was estimated by the sergeant that Big Spring already has approximately 80 volunteers.

The duties of members of the Ground Observer Corps is to spot enemy aircraft and notify the Dallas Filter Center by telephone. The GOC also submits weather warnings to Dallas, whence other towns are notified of the approaching weather.

Any person 12 years old or older may get more information about the GOC by calling Sergeant Curtice at AM 3-2902 or contact W. D. Berry, Civil Defense Director, AM 4-2691.

Politics At Home

WICHITA, Kan. (AP)—A group of high school students organized an "I like Ike" club and chose Judy Plested as president.

Miss Plested resigned yesterday. Her father, William G. Plested Jr., is a Democrat.
