STATESMAN IS VICTIM OF ILLNESS

DEMOCRATIC LEADER'S DEATH IS SHOCK TO NATION SUNDAY

(By The Associated Press)

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 20—Henry T. Rainey, picturesque speaker of the house of representatives, is dead.

Apparently on the road to recovery from an attack of bronchial pneumonia, he suddenly developed angina pectoris last night and died at 7:50 p. m. as three physicians, hastily summoned, stood by, unable to aid him.

Today would have been his seventy-fourth birthday.

The speaker's unexpected passing brought expressions of deep sorrow from political leaders in all parts of the nation—from President Roosevelt on down.

President Praises Him

The president called him "a humanitarian whose fine patriotism thought first of all of what he conceived to be the well being and interests of the common man."

His predecessor as speaker, Vice-President John N. Garner, was "rendered speechless."

Widow May Be Sucessor

From Senator William H. Dieterich (D-Ill.), a close friend of the speaker, came the suggestion that the widow, for years her husband's secretary, might become the Democratic party's choice for the house seat held by Mr. Rainey since 1903 except for the term following the Harding landslide of 1920.

While physicians at De Paul hospital, where the speaker died, believed he was on the road to recovery, Mrs. Rainey had a premonition of her husband's death.

Mrs. Rainey Knew

Mrs. Rainey spent the day with her husband, leaving late in the day for their home in Carrollton, Ill.

"I knew my husband could not live long when I saw him," she said. They chatted together, had breakfast and dinner together. He appeared to be in good spirits at all times and was so happy that I thought him some jam, which he ate so well. But something told me that he would not last much longer."

The body will be cremated, in accordance with a wish Mrs. Rainey and her husband had often expressed.

Could Crack Whip

Rocky, with flowing white hair and an ever-present flowing bow tie, Mr. Rainey was a soft-spoken leader who could crack the whip when the occasion demanded.

Dean of the house, having served longer than any other living member, the veteran liberal became

ACCIDENTS CLAIM LIVES OF TEXANS

(By The Associated Press)

Six lives were lost in Texas and many persons injured in varied accidents over the week-end.

At Texarkana, Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Freeman, riding in a wagon with a son and a three-year-old grandchild, were killed when an automobile crashed into the rear of the vehicle. A man was arrested and will be charged with murder, authorities said.

Explosion Causes Death

Injuries suffered when an explosion rocked her home caused the death of Mrs. W. H. Ervin, 43, of Galveston.

Eli Hilliard, 23, Garrison, was found dead beside a railroad track near Nacogdoches. His body had been badly mangled. At Seymour the body of D. R. Poer, 55, a prominent farmer, was found on the right-of-way of the Wichita Valley railroad track.

A horse he was riding fell on Santiago Tallego, 26, a farmer, near Houston, killing him.

Bank Deposits Increase But Loans Decline

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20 (AP)—A financial picture highlighted by a vast increase in bank deposits but a shrinkage in loans to business was painted today by a report of J. F. T. O'Connor, comptroller of the currency.

The last bank call, June 30, revealed the picture. National bank deposits totaled $19,932,660,000, a gain of $1,142,173,000 since March 5 and $3,158,545,000 since June 30, 1933.

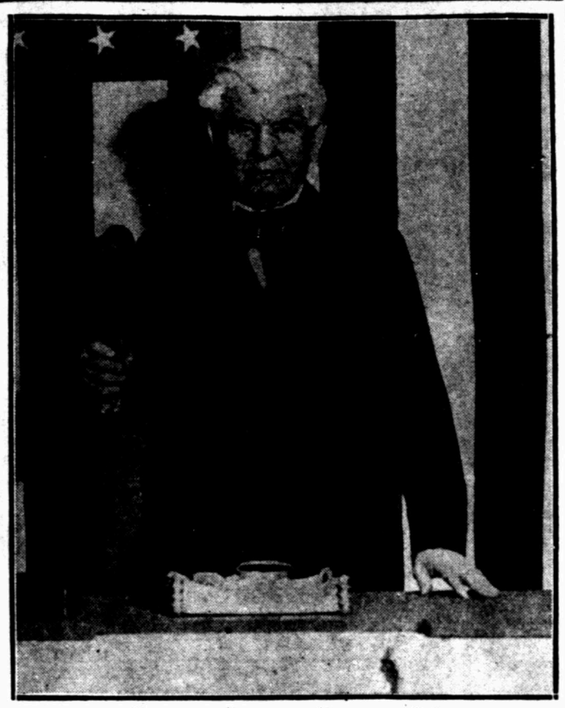

Loans and discounts shrank from $8,116,972,000 June 30, 1933, to $7,899,279,000 March 5, 1934, and to $7,694,749,000 June 30 last.

Though the controller did not give causes for the increase in deposits, it was attributed by others to two sources—more than 500 banks reopened during the year and the new deposit insurance law stimulated confidence.

The decrease in loans and discounts was believed due, in part, to a falling off in the business demand for credit.

SPEAKER HENRY T. RAINEY DIES

The nation mourned today the passing of Henry T. Rainey, below, colorful speaker of the national house of representatives, who died Sunday night in St. Louis on the eve of his 74th birthday. His death was due to a siege of bronchial pneumonia which developed into angina pectoris.

STRATOSPHERE FLIGHT ENDS

BELGIAN BALLOON IS GROUNDED SAFELY IN YUGOSLAVIA

(By The Associated Press)

MARIBOR, Yugoslavia, Aug. 20—A balloon that raced through the cloudless stratosphere in the arms at times of a 70-mile wind, spanning 1,700 miles between dawn and dusk, has come to a happy landing.

Lost in the unexplored skies after its small wireless messaged a dramatic "S. O. S." and then became silent, the balloon of the Belgian scientists Max Cosyns and Neree Vanderlist dropped out of the sky Saturday night into a corn field near Zinovlje, safe and undamaged.

Flight Productive

In its journey from Hour-Havenne, Belgium, to its Yugoslavian landing place, the balloon failed to set a new height mark, doing no better than 16,000 meters (approximately 10 miles); but the flight was productive, according to Professor Cosyns, of "scientific observations of the highest value."

"I made certain discoveries and deductions respecting the movements and effects of cosmic rays which I think will be great value to science," the Belgian professor told the Associated Press.

Ship Records Back

Cosyns and Vanderlist spent most of yesterday dismantling the balloon and arranging for the shipment back to Belgium of the records obtained during the flight.

As the balloon slowly descended Saturday night peasants in the vi-

Mayor To Return To Washington

City commission this morning authorized Mayor Ross Edwards to return to Washington, D. C., in an attempt to hasten action on the City's application for PWA funds for construction of a gas system.

Mayor Edwards intended to leave Lubbock tonight and arrive in Washington about Thursday.

SEVEN MEN MENTIONED AS LIKELY CHOICES FOR HOUSE POST

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20—The flag flew at half staff above the capitol today as Washington sorrowed over Henry T. Rainey and wondered who would fill his powerful post.

The death of the silver-haired speaker, a kindly man who could become stern in putting the Roosevelt New Deal through the house, came as a shock to friend and foe alike.

Successorship In Doubt

The successor to the speaker's chair—considered by many to be the second most important post in the government—is in doubt. The Democrats will determine their choice at a caucus late in December or early in January before the 74th congress convenes Jan. 3.

With the Democrats already virtually assured of a majority, indications are that the speakership will lie among Representatives Joseph W. Byrns of Tennessee, leader of the house and chairman of the powerful Democratic congressional committee, Sam Rayburn of Texas; William B. Bankhead and John McDuffie of Alabama, Clifford Woodrum of Virginia, Lindsay Warren of North Carolina and John McCormack of Massachusetts.

Followed Garner By Request

Rainey ascended to the speakership after serving two years as Democratic leader under John N. Garner, then speaker. When he took the leadership at the behest of

Pond And Sabelli Escape In Crash

NEWPORT, Pembrokeshire, Wales, Aug. 20 (AP)—George Pond and Cesare Sabelli sadly surveyed today the wreckage of the airplane they had hoped would carry them on a return flight across the Atlantic.

While they were flying at a fast speed, the plane crashed into a hillside early yesterday when they attempted to make a forced landing on a hop from Rome to Dublin.

The fliers escaped serious injuries but were shaken up and bruised. Their plane was buried near the top of a 1,200-foot mountain.

Pond and Sabelli, who were forced down at Moy, on the west coast of Ireland after flying the Atlantic in May, spent all day Sunday in bed recovering from effects of their crash.

SNAKE-HANDLING EVANGELISTS STILL MAKE MERRY BUT CROWD IS DOUBTFUL

(By The Associated Press)

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Aug. 20.—A large rattlesnake with eight rattlers twisted and turned in the hands of two Church of God evangelists before several hundred people—many of them admitted "Doubting Thomasas"—at a meeting last night but nothing happened. The snake just wouldn't bite.

Scattered about in the large audience at the open air meeting were numerous spectators who said they were skeptical of the performance of the Rev. D. L. Dodson of Nashville, Tenn., and the Rev. Paul Jones of Mobile, Ala.

Some said the snake's fangs had been removed. Others said that undoubtedly the reptile's poison sacs had been emptied.

Meanwhile, Mr. Dodson and Mr. Jones continued handling the snake.

Carl Lumpkin said the snake's fangs were all right. Carl's father caught the snake.

Mr. Dodson said he or any member of his party would handle any snake anyone wanted to bring them if the "spirit of God was upon them."

But—unless they "felt the spirit" there would be no snake-handling, the minister said.

Insull Is Denied Separate Trial

EX-UTILITIES MAGNATE ORDERED TO TRIAL WITH 16 OTHERS

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Aug. 20—Samuel Insull, sr., was refused a severance today and ordered to stand trial with his 16 co-defendants Sept. 18 on the charges that they used the mails fraudulently in marketing Corporation Securities company stocks.

Insull had asked to be tried separately, assuming responsibility for the conduct of the investment house and its calamitous crash, and pleading that a trial lengthened by the multiplicity of defense might endanger his health.

Condition Said To Be Weak

U. S. District Judge James H. Wilkerson himself raised the question today of the continuation of the trial if the elderly defendant should be too ill to attend. Well enough now to venture out to the world's fair occasionally and listen to symphony orchestra concerts, Insull's physicians nevertheless have pronounced his condition fragile because of a weak heart and diabetes insipidus.

It was intimated the court might seek a precedent or establish one by allowing Insull to absent himself from the trial when his presence is not actually required—when, for example, masses of documentary evidence are being introduced.

"If the defendant dies during the trial the situation would be simple," Judge Wilkerson told the attorneys, "but supposing a situation arises in which the defendant would be unable to be personally present during the trial, what will be at attitude of the government?"

District Attorney Dwight H. Green said he was unprepared to state the government's position immediately.

Jean Piccards To Go Aloft, Sept. 3

DETROIT, Aug. 20. (AP)—Prof. and Mrs. Jean Piccard of Wilmington, Del., today announced definite plans for a stratosphere flight starting from Ford Airport, Sept. 3, or as soon thereafter as weather conditions permit.

Mrs. Piccard, mother of three sons, will pilot the balloon, having passed her flight tests and a written examination in June to qualify for a federation aeronautique internationale license.

The flight will mark the first attempt of a woman to enter the stratosphere and it will be the first time in aeronautical history that woman has attempted to pilot a balloon on a flight of importance.

Denial Made Of Kidnaping Rumors

LONDON, Aug. 20 (AP)—Rumors of threats to kidnap the Princesses Elizabeth and Margaret Rose of Great Britain's ruling house were denied today by sources close to King George.

Col. Bowes Lyons, brother of the Earl of Strathmore, said no special precautions are being taken to guard the granddaughters of the king and that an outbreak of scarlet fever was the reason the girls had not been out on shopping trips.

The Sunday Express said the princesses and their parents, the Duke and Duchess Of York, were being guarded as though "every casual visitor in the vicinity of the castle were a potential gangster," Hitler's Power Waning?

PRESIDENT-CHANCELLOR ONLY GETS 38,362,760 "JA'S" IN ONE-MAN ELECTION ON SUNDAY

By ELMER W. PETERSON
Associated Press Foreign Staff

BERLIN, Aug. 20. (AP)—Germany has given Adolf Hitler a thirty-eight million vote "ja."

In Sunday's one-man election, called to let the people say by ballot if they approved Chancellor Hitler's action in naming himself, upon the death of President von Hindenburg, as president too, the vote was: "Yes"—38,362,760; "No"—4,294,654; "invalids"—872,296.

Some see in these preliminary official figures a waning in enthusiasm for Hitler, pointing out that yesterday's "no" votes were more than twice the number cast in last November's plebiscite. Attention is also called to the sharp decline in

Long Casts Hungry Eye At Walmsley's "Neck"

MAY GOD HAVE MERCY UPON THEIR SOULS!

CHICAGO, Aug. 20 (AP)—Shot in the head as he sat with his baby brother in a little red wagon, two-and-a-half-year-old Robert Pitts, jr., died today in the South Chicago hospital. A bullet had interrupted his happy command of "giddap, horseys," given to his parents.

The shot was fired by one of four men riding in a sedan. The parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Pitts, sr., were imitating a team of horses for their children. As they drew the wagon down the sidewalk on Stony Island avenue near 90th street, a shot rang out.

"Then Robert gave a little cry," said Pitts. "We looked around and there he was, topped out of the wagon, a bullet hole in his head."

Pitts said the sedan sped south for a few blocks and disappeared around a corner.

The baby was rushed to the hospital, but despite an emergency operation, continued to sink. He died this morning.

The father, a janitor, asserted he had no enemies and he did not think the killer was aiming at him.

STATE MOLDS CASE AGAINST WILSON

EL PASO, Aug. 20 (AP)—Prosecutors today molded a case against Arthur C. Wilson, 30-year-old Cleveland steel chemist and confessed slayer of Mrs. Irene DeBolt, wealthy Cleveland widow, whose nude body was found on a desert near Van Horn, Tex., last November.

Brought back here from Port-of-Spain, Trinidad, where he fled after the slaying, there was a possibility that Wilson would be tried in Fort Worth, Tex. Wilson's statement to officers, detailing the slaying, said he killed Mrs. Debolt at Fort Worth and then drove hundreds of miles across the state to Van Horn, where he left the body.

Wilson, when interviewed by an El Paso Times reporter in the presence of officers, told of how he killed Mrs. DeBolt after a long series of petty quarrels. He said Mrs. DeBolt struck him at Fort Worth and he seized an iron and hit her four or five times. When he realized that she was dead, Wilson said he tied a cord around her neck, put her body in a trunk back of the car and took it to Van Horn, where he left it on the desert.

DESERTER FACES CHARGE

HALLETTSVILLE, Aug. 20 (AP)—Authorities today prepared to prosecute Frank Wick, 27-year-old army deserter, for what they said was an "open and shut" case in the slaying of Mrs. Clara Ploeger, 40, wealthy Yoakum, Tex., widow.

Wick, who detailed the slaying of Mrs. Ploeger in a lengthy signed statement witnessed by Gonzales and San Antonio officers, said he, "couldn't remember what happened" when brought here and placed in jail.

Wick's statement to officers said Mrs. Ploeger was killed with an automobile crank after they had been riding together and drinking for several hours.

NEWLY-MADE LAWS TO BE USED AS AXE IN LOUISIANA BATTLE

(By The Associated Press)

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 20.—Senator Huey P. Long whetted a broad sword of reform today on the grindstone of newly-made law and cast a hungry eye on the political neck of Mayor T. Semmes Walmsley.

Forces arose to dull its edge, but the Louisiana kingfish, flanked by the power of state soldiery and armed to the teeth with swiftly-enacted legislation, indicated he was nearly ready to strike the blows by which he hopes to destroy the Walmsley political power.

Aimed At Lotteries

One of the new laws enacted at Baton Rouge last week in a special session which the senator inspired and which his political ally, Governor O. K. Allen, summoned, is aimed at lotteries. The senator claims that collections from these lotteries have been important factors in financing the "regular," or Walmsley, political faction.

As soon as Governor Allen signs the 27 special bills which the legislature passed, Senator Long has indicated he will begin an inquiry into New Orleans vice and gambling.

Young Demos Oppose Long

BITTER BATTLE FOR GOVERNOR WAGES HOT

HUNTER AND ALLRED IN SOUTH TEXAS FOR LAST ROUNDUP

(By The Associated Press)

Gubernatorial candidates carried their bitter political feud into South Texas today as they started the last week of their big drives for votes. Tom Hunter concentrated on a night speech at San Antonio, while his opponent, James V. Allred, appears at Orange and Port Arthur during the day and was to go to Beaumont for a night talk.

The two survivors of the July 28 Democratic primary continued to bear down mercilessly in their criticisms of each other's political policies and personal records.

New Criticism Made

Speaking at La Grange yesterday, Hunter came forth with a new criticism of Allred. He attacked the attorney general's handling of his suit against 17 oil companies and two petroleum associations, seeking $17,000,000 in penalties for anti-trust law violations.

"If the suit was filed on good faith, as he says he did, I want him (Allred) to tell why it was so filed that the then county attorney of Travis county was joined in the suit," Hunter said. "Under this arrangement, if the suit was won, the county attorney would have been entitled to a ten per cent fee, amounting to the astounding figure of $1,700,000, perhaps the largest fee ever collected in the United States.

Attacks Filing Methods

"Why couldn't our attorney general brought the suit himself, on behalf of the State of Texas? If he had filed it that way, all monies collected would have gone into the state treasury, for the benefit of the citizens of Texas. Then it would have been impossible for the county attorney to collect $1,700,000."

Hunter termed the suit Allred's "celebrated $17,000,000 fizzle suit" and brought up the question of whether the attorney general filed it for political purposes or in good faith.

Allred, meanwhile, came to Beaumont with the optimistic prediction he would defeat Hunter in the run-off primary Saturday by 100,00 to 150,000 votes.

"The people have analyzed Mr.

FOUR HOLLYWOOD CINEMA STARS DENY AIDING REDS; NEW STATUTE PLANNED

(By The Associated Press)

SACRAMENTO, Calif., Aug. 20—Four Hollywood film stars vigorously denied radical leanings today while District Attorney Neil McAllister pushed preparations for a drastic injunction making Communistic expressions or financial contributions punishable without trial.

One of the screen favorites may be specifically named in the injunction petition. He is James Cagney, who protested he is "100 per cent American," has no sympathy for the Communist party, and has made no financial contributions to it.

Three Mexican movie stars—Lupe Velez, Ramon Novarro and Dolores Del Rio—were as vigorous in their denials of communistic leanings when their names were drawn into radical investigations here.

These were involved only because their names were found written on a slip of paper in the apartment of Caroline Decker, secretary of the Cannery and Agricultural Workers' union, Communist subsidiary. She is a defendant in a current vagrancy trial in the state capital of 24 asserted Communists and is one of 17 indicted for criminal syndicalism.

Handcraft Arts Of Grandmother's Day Are Returning

Needlepoint tapestry which can be done by anyone is used to cover the Scottie pillow and the old-fashioned ottoman.

BY MARIAN YOUNG
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Aug. 20—With our new leisure and the return to a more gracious mode of living, handcraft arts are again in the limelight. Knitting needles are clicking, crochet hooks fly backwards and forward to fashion smart bits of wearing apparel, embroidery floss is discussed over luncheon tables and, last but far from least, women are becoming more and more interested in making needlepoint tapestry.

The number of items that can be made in needlepoint is limitless. Fire screens, pillow, ottoman and chair covers, as well as illustrated mottos to put behind glass in picture frames are fascinating. You'll find that a piece of needlepoint wall tapestry often will give a living room that homey touch that all decorators try to achieve. And there's no nicer gift for some favorite friend than a picture of her home, worked in needlepoint. Have someone make a fine sketch of the house on needlecanvas, carefully work it yourself in the right colors and then put it in a frame.

Designs Ready Made

If you haven't the time or inclination to go in for something original, fancy work departments offer simply beautiful designs—reproductions of fine old tapestries, the originals of which can be found only in museum and art collections.

Once you've chosen the pattern, the rest is easy. Many of the pieces have a Tramme background—an underlay of yarn already worked by hand on the design. It serves as a color guide for working the motif. You can use a frame or, if you like, simply work the tapestry in your hands. The stitches are unbelievably simple.

Cross Stitch Used

The full cross stitch is the foundation of all needlepoint stitches. The thread is worked diagonally, from left to right across the two vertical and two horizontal threads of the canvas squares. On the way back, use the same stitch, working from right to left, making each stitch pass over one previously made. Thus a perfect cross stitch is formed.

The half cross stitch is used most widely—especially for filling in backgrounds. In this one, the threads are pulled from left to right, only.

The half cross tramme stitch is the same as the half cross except that it is worked over the yarn background of the tramme pieces.

Oblique Goblin

The oblique goblin stitch is threaded over one vertical and two horizontal threads of the canvas squares. If you're using a frame, this stitch must be worked to and fro. Otherwise, it must be turned around and the needle brought out behind the last made stitch. It's used mostly on old Gobelins reproductions to obtain the feeling of antiquity.

Not that you have to stick to old-ish looking tapestries. Some of the modern designs, such as the charming Scottie on the pillow, pictured here today, give an air of elegance to any home. One smart homemaker has made needlepoint covers for the backs of all the chairs in her living room. Another has a daybed, piled high with needlepoint pillows.

Unlike most other animal poisons, snake venom has been found to be toxic to plant life.

NOVEL FASHION NOTE

PARIS (AP)—A veil over the throat and chin instead of over the eyes gives a novel note to a Schiaparelli costume which the Countess Zouboff wears this season. The veil of black lace stiffened to stand upright about the lower part of the face is attached to a scarf worn with a dress and coat of black "pave"—a fabric woven to resemble pavement. With it the countess wears a black lace beret.

A remedy for a bad headache (provided you can stand the taste) is the juice of half a lemon in a cup of black coffee.

AGED MEXICO CITY SILK MERCHANT IN NEW ORLEANS TO CLAIM BIG FORTUNE

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 20. (AP)—Almost blind and speaking only broken English, Mordke Herdman, 55-year-old Mexico City silk merchant, was in New Orleans today, seeking admission to the United States from immigration authorities to take possession of a New Orleans estate.

He claimed that his father, Ike Herdman, who died here Dec. 9, 1916, left valuable property and that he was the sole remaining heir.

A decade ago the newspapers here carried a story of fabulous wealth attained in real estate investment by the elder Herdman in New Orleans, but the status of the property today was more or less of a mystery.

These accounts said that Ike Herdman was an immigrant who died and left a fortune while his children and grandchildren were starting in the Russian revolution. The accounts stated he had deserted them and came here.

Developed Sites

He earned money as an itinerant glazier and made small investments which returned profits and later developed important commercial sites.

On his death bed in 1916 Herdman told the story of his life to Felix J. Dreyfous, a New Orleans attorney.

Dreyfous located Mordke, the son, the husbands of Ike Herdman's two daughters and several grandchildren in Odessa, Russia.

Mordke's wife, his two sisters and other relatives died. The survivors were blocked from coming here because of existing relations between the country and Russia.

Mordke Herdman then led the procession of remaining heirs to Mexico and he is now in search of the lost fortune.

NEW YORK LETTER CARRIER DOES THINGS YOU PEOPLE OFTEN DREAM ABOUT; KEEPS JOB

MOUNT VERNON, N. Y., Aug. 20 (AP)—So he took the $50,000—bought a house in Flushing, married the girl and sailed away with her on a Havana honeymoon.

Frederick Krakenberg did those dream-sounding things, culminating a romance of several years with Joan Lauten in a wedding at the Little Church Around The Corner, New York. He's a New York letter carrier who sold an Irish hospital sweepstakes ticket for $50,000 and is keeping his job.

Krakenberg and his bride have been friends for years. Two years ago they decided to get married as soon as they save enough money to buy a home. Last spring Krakenberg held a ticket on a horse that was drawn in the sweepstakes. Before the race he sold the ticket for $50,000. The horse came in third and the purchaser of the ticket drew $49,000.

The first thing the letter carrier did with his winnings was to buy a house in Flushing and tell his sweetheart to set the date for her wedding.

Mrs. Krakenberg gave up her job last week and will devote her time to her new house in Flushing. Mr. Krakenberg will continue to carry letters for the present at least.

MAN SLUGGED BY BURGLAR

RILEY KENNEDY FOUND UNCONSCIOUS EARLY SUNDAY MORNING

A robber who evidently left without loot slugged Riley Kennedy, about 22, a night employe of the Lee Ragland Motor company, 1211 Main street, there about 5:15 o'clock Sunday morning.

Kennedy, knocked unconscious with a sandbag, was not injured seriously. A passerby on the way to work found him and called police.

Burglary Reported

Early Sunday morning, police had a report that a burglary was in progress at the motor company quarters. As Patrolman Don Reeder went to the front door, a man fled from the rear door.

Police expressed an opinion the man who later slugged Kennedy had been the burglar.

Jim Robinson and O. E. Rush, scout car officers, assisted Reeder in a search of the premises.

Later, Kennedy was found, in an unconscious condition, and Robinson and Lewis Kittrell, patrolman, who were passing, were called.

The slugger evidently was frightened away before completing the job, police said.

Feathers had been emptied from a pillow, found in an automobile and sand put in the pillow, with which Kennedy was struck.

THEFT CHARGES FILED AGAINST LOCAL MAN

A charge of theft of $40 from a Phillips Petroleum company service station, at Thirteenth street and Avenue Q, was filed against L. A. Copeland, about 40, late this morning in county court.

Bill Mabray, police patrolman, arrested Copeland, after Preston Crawford, manager of the station, reported about 9:40 a. m. that the money had been taken from a drawer.

Upon discovering that the money was gone, Crawford followed Copeland, who had been at the station, and asked him about the money. Crawford told Hugh Anderson, assistant county attorney. Copeland said he did not have the money. Copeland returned to the station with Crawford and when the manager started to telephone police, Copeland attempted to return the money, Crawford alleged.

Grady Harrist, assistant chief of police, was an investigator in the case.

HITLER'S POWER

the volume of Nazi party votes as compared with the November voting.

In the November plebiscite there were 43,453,000 "ja" votes, and in the November reichstag election the Nazi vote was 39,655,224.

With but few exceptions, the 35 major voting districts produced in yesterday's election fewer "ja" votes than were cast in November. Some see this as a failure of the German voters to respond to the appeals of Nazi orators the past few days that a large affirmative vote be cast so the world might know the nation is solidly behind "mein fuehrer"—President-Chancellor Hitler.

Regardless of how the balloting may be interpreted abroad, the results have been accepted by Nazis as full evidence of their strength.

Today has been set aside as a "day of victory" with Nazi flags unfuried throughout the third reich in celebration of the new conquest. The victory came after a day of quiet, orderly voting, unmarred by disturbance.

The results of the voting showed a distinct loss of Hitler support in certain provinces and major voting districts and the failure of Hitlerism to exceed past election results is expected in political circles to influence the Nazi program.

SEEN AS BLOW

PARIS, Aug. 20. (AP)—Results of the plebiscite in Germany were seen in official quarters today as a blow to Chancellor Hitler's prestige. Despite the huge numerical victory the fact that there were more than 4,000,000 Germans who voted against der fuehrer was seen as an indication that definite opposition against Hitler had increased since the last plebiscite in Germany.

DAILY MARKETS

Cotton Market

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Aug 20 (AP)—Cotton opened quiet but steady today. Liverpool cables were better than due and first trades showed gains of 3 to 5 points.

There was some trade buying after the start and shorts covered, while the stock market was a shade firmer. As a result, October soon traded up to 13.15 and December to 13.37, or 9 to 10 points above Saturday's close.

Early weather reports indicated scattered showers in the eastern belt but continued dry weather in the west.

Trading in cotton was very moderate all morning, but prices improved on continued dry weather in the west, moderate trade demand and short covering. Stocks and wheat also were slightly firmer and there was some rebuying by recent sellers. October traded up to 13.22 and December to 13.37, or 16 points above the close of Saturday.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Aug 20 (AP)—Cotton futures opened steady, 6 to 9 higher in response to steadier Liverpool cables and on continued unfavorable weather. Oct. 13.12; Dec. 13.28; Jan. 13.33; March 13.49; May 13.53; July 13.59.

Trading was moderately active but there was a fair demand from trade and commission house sources and some buying was reported here through houses with Liverpool, continental and Japanese connections.

The opening advance met some further liquidation but there was not a great deal of southern selling and the market worked up another few points after the call, with December advancing to 13.34 and May to 13.57 or about 10 to 13 points net higher.

Liverpool cables said that the threat of textile strike in the United States still was an unsettling factor in that market but that realizing by continental and London operators had been taken by commission house buying on a scale down and local support promoted by the unfavorable weather in the south.

The market worked up to 13.39 for December and 13.64 for May on the early demand which represented net advances of about 15 to 18 points. The buying then tapered off somewhat and, while offerings were heavy, prices eased slightly. At midday, December was selling around 13.32 and May 13.58, or 10 to 11 points net higher. There were reports in the market that exemption tags under the Bankhead act were being distributed quite rapidly in the southwest and that cotton was becoming a little easier to buy in the interior although the basis was holding steady.

Stock Market

WALL STREET REPORT

NEW YORK, Aug. 20. (AP)—Securities markets were again becalmed today on trading seas where only faint ripples were discernible.

Stocks, as a whole, recorded only minor changes, although some of the metals and a few specialties improved. While wheat got up a cent or more a bushel and cotton firmed, profit taking tended to retard any sharp upward movement in these staples. Hogs at Chicago pressed forward to their best prices since 1931. U. S. Government loans were a trifle easier and corporation bonds backed and filled indifferently. The dollar was a bit higher in terms of leading foreign exchanges.

Shares of U. S. Smelting got up more than a point and fractional improvement was shown by such issues as Du Pont, American Smelting, Cerro De Pasco, Howe Sound, Santa Fe, N. Y. Central, Southern Pacific, American Telephone, Montgomery Ward and U. S. Industrial Alcohol. The tobaccos were somewhat lower as were U. S. Steel Common and Preferred, Bethlehem Steel, Standard Brands and a number of others. Many stocks were unchanged from their Saturday's closing figures.

Stations Drowned Radio

Failure of the stratosphere scientists to communicate through their wireless with the world for many hours caused the virtual abandonment of hope for their safety. They explained that they were sending signals regularly but that powerful European land stations were drowning them out.

No report on the scientific observations is anticipated till all the instruments and records can be checked by a competent commission. This may be several months.

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 20.—Al Capone, America's public enemy No. 1 long before the world had ever heard of John Dillinger, is on his way to a new prison home.

He is being transferred, with great secrecy, from Atlanta penitentiary to the new Alcatraz prison in San Francisco bay—the prison federal authorities call "impregnable."

With 42 other prisoners, Capone was whisked out of the penitentiary in Atlanta early yesterday. Guarded by a picked squad of federal agents carrying automatic shotguns, the prisoners were placed in two specially-built, screened and barred railroad cars and started on their way to Alcatraz—the island prison fortress designed for convicts considered too dangerous to be kept in ordinary prisons.

Although federal authorities maintained a tight-lipped silence about reports the former Chicago gang leader was being sent to the Pacific coast prison, his presence in the group was established by newspapermen when the convict cars arrived here.

An unidentified official was asked if Capone had special drawing room accommodations.

"Of course he hasn't," the official said heatedly—and then checked himself. He added hurriedly—"that is, if he was on here he'd be treated just like the rest of them."

Files and paraphernalia for a jail break found in the cells of some of the 43 prisoners speeded the plans of the government to send the men to Alcatraz.

Warden A. C. Aderholt of the Atlanta penitentiary accompanied the prisoners on their cross-country trip.

CAPITAL MOURNS

Garner, the Illinois veteran surrendered his potent post as chairman of the ways and means committee, which originates all revenue and tariff bills.

During his earlier years in the house Rainey fought the iron rule of Speaker Joseph Cannon, Republican "czar" of the house. He aided Senator Norris, then a representative, in breaking down "Cannonism." He supported President Wilson in the World war era, particularly during the terrific fight over the declaration of war against Germany.

During the Harding, Coolidge and Hoover administrations, Rainey fought their policies and predicted dire results. He advocated free coinage of silver, recognition of Soviet Russia and reciprocal tariffs, three things that many then considered "radical." He lived to see nationalization of silver and fulfillment of his ideas on the other two issues.

the welcoming address, and L. R. Magee, Quanah, will respond.

Sessions will continue Wednesday afternoon and the final meeting will be Thursday morning with Henry W. Stanley, Dallas, director of the trade extension department of Dallas Chamber of Commerce, and Walter Hodge, Cincinnati, Ohio, as principal speakers.

Other Entertainment Planned

Bridge and theater parties are planned for the visiting women in addition to the regular convention entertainment, according to D. Jarrett, Lubbock, in charge of the ladies entertainment committee.

John Halsey, Lubbock, was general chairman of the arrangements committee for the convention. About a thousand dollars worth of free merchandise will be distributed to the convention delegates by 125 manufacturers and jobbers.

BIG SPRING AFTER NEXT DRUG SESSION

BIG SPRING, Aug. 20 (Special)—Delegates from this city to the annual West Texas Pharmaceutical association meeting at Lubbock beginning Tuesday, will make a spirited fight to bring the 1935 convention to Big Spring.

A representative of every drug firm in Big Spring will be in Lubbock and every man will be there with the intention of securing the next meeting for Big Spring.

Two previous drug conventions in the last ten years have been held here.

FOOD MERCHANTS PROMISE TO AID IN PREVENTION OF WIDER PRICE SPREAD

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20—Food merchants promised today to help the government halt the growing spread between the prices the farmer gets and the consumer pays.

The drouth's effect on the cost of living has aroused several United States agencies. Officials indicated that prices the housewife pays were rising even more rapidly than the prices paid producers.

The national food and grocery distributors code authority pledged its support to the agriculture department in its drive against profiteering and speculation. The code authority speaks for 6,000 food wholesalers and jobbers and 350,000 retailers.

The treasury and agriculture departments were drawing regulations today to put into effect President Roosevelt's move to get feed for livestock. The President has signed a proclamation lifting import duties on feed, which will come mostly from Canada.

Turning to another aspect of the farm situation, statistics showed today that southern farmers participating in the government's cotton pool and loan program stand to profit $17,500,000 for each rise of one cent in the price of cotton.

They will receive in the final settlement the difference between the 10 cents per pound advanced them by the government and the market price, which was 13.06 cents Saturday, less a small carrying charge.

About 1,000,000 bales are held in storage under commodity credit corporation loans of 10 cents per pound. In this case farmers will receive the difference between loan value and market price less carrying charges.

BUS SERVICE IS EXTENDED SOUTH

Extension of service by Stevenson and Price, Odessa, operators of the S. and P. Coaches, giving Lubbock and South Plains residents a new service, was announced today by Grover McMakin, owner of the Lubbock-Brownfield stages, who makes connections at Brownfield.

A bus will leave Odessa for Crane and McCamey at 8 a. m. arriving at Crane at 8:45 and McCamey at 9:30. Returning from McCamey at 10 a. m., arriving in Crame at 10:45 and Odessa at 11:15.

The northbound bus leaves Odessa at 5 p. m., Andrews at 5:45 and arrives in Seminole at 6:30. It makes connection there with the Lubbock-Brownfield bus leaving here at 4 p. m., Brownfield at 5:15 and arriving at Seminole at 6:30.

"This gives four and a half hour service to Odessa from Lubbock," Mr. McMakin said. "It is over paved roads or roads under construction to be paved. Construction of paving is under way between the Lubbock county line and Seagraves through Brownfield.

The southbound bus leaves Seminole at 7 p. m., Andrews at 7:45 and arrives in Odessa at 8:30. Connections are made at Seminole for Hobbs at 7 p. m. and also for Carlsbad, N. M.

speaker March 4, 1933, when John Garner of Texas became vice-president and presiding officer of the senate. He presided over the last two sessions of the house, one called specially by President Roosevelt on taking office.

At Times Bitter

Although of pleasent personality, he was at times bitter in debate and during his early career was known as "poison-tongued" because of his caustic remarks in committees and on the floor of the house.

With the passing of the years, he became more considerate of his political foes, but he was servere in his criticism of Andrew W. Mellon, and later Ogden L. Mills, Republicans, during the tenure of each as secretary of the treasury.

A native of Carrollton, Ill., where he was born Aug. 20, 1860, he attended Amherst college, Massachusetts, and the Union College of Law, Chicago, and returned to Carrollton to practice law. Always around Carrollton, however, he was known as a farmer, owning 320 acres.

He started his congressional service in 1903 and thereafter kept the 20th Illinois district in the Democratic column except in the 67th congress, when he was a victim of the Harding landslide.

ADOLPH J. SABATH IS NEW DEAN OF HOUSE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20 (AP)—The new dean of the house is Adolph J. Sabath, Illinois Democrat, who was born in Czechoslovakia April 4, 1866.

Sabath succeeds his colleague, the late Speaker Henry T. Rainey, who served 30 years in the house. Sabath has been representing the fifth Illinois district 28 years and is seeking re-election.

He holds posts on the powerful rules and Democratic steering committees. He also is chairman of a special house committee investigating real estate bondholders protective committees.

Van Cleve Charged In Eastland Court

EASTLAND, Aug. 20. (AP)—Charges of murder and robbery with firearms were filed today against Elmer Van Cleve—the third person to be accused in connection with the shooting to death of L. F. Threet, ranchman, in his pasture nine miles west of Cisco last week.

Previously, murder and robbery charges had been filed against Miss Mary Lou Howell, the woman with the aged ranchman at the time he was shot, and L. J. Doggett, associate of the woman.

District Attorney Grady Owen said Van Cleve made a lengthy statement concerning the affair. The woman also made a statement, telling how she rode into the pasture with Threet and two men who followed them in robbed them. Van Cleve was arrested Saturday at Slaton.

Weather Hot, Cold In Oklahoma Today

OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 20 (AP)—The weather gods blew hot and cool on Oklahoma today.

Northern counties enjoyed comfortable temperatures while central and southern portions sweltered. It was 106 yesterday in Oklahoma City, the hottest Aug 19 on record. Guthrie reported 109.

Scattered showers fell Sunday night in the relieved area. Tulsa had a refreshing rain. While Oklahoma City's minimum last night was 82 degrees, Woodward, Alva, Elk City and other northern communities had minimums approximately 20 degrees lower.

FARMER DIES IN CITY AMBULANCE

C. C. Forbes, 51, who lived 1 1-2 miles north of Canyon community, died in an ambulance here early Sunday afternoon after he had lapsed into unconsciousness, from which he did not emerge, at 705 First street.

Mr. Forbes, whose death was attributed to natural causes, had lived in this vicinity about 18 years. He came here from Fannin county.

Jack Reaves, state highway patrolman, was at the First street address before the man was placed in a Rix-Bynum ambulance. Persons there said he had been there since late Saturday afternoon, Patrolman Reaves said.

Mr. Forbes died in the ambulance while it was on the way to a sanitarium, where he was pronounced dead.

Services Today

Funeral services were to be conducted at 3 o'clock this afternoon at Rix-Bynum Funeral home by Rev. R. M. Hocker, pastor of the Church of the Nazarene. Burial was to be in Lubbock cemetery.

Pallbearers were to be:

J. F. Sherrod, J. B. Sherrod, J. W. May, J. A. Koger, F. A. Hawkins, and G. T. Crawford.

Survivors were:

A widow; three daughters, Mrs. John R. Pugh of Houston, Mrs. Charles Sherrod and Miss Nettie Forbes of Lubbock; three sisters, Mrs. W. O. Curlee of Anton, Mrs. F. C. Taylor of Houston, Mrs. J. S. Richers of Lubbock, and a brother, W. P. Forbes of Brownfield.

STATE POLITICS

Hunter's platform, particularly his tax program and have become convinced of its weakness and utter impracticability," Allred said.

Receiving Letters

"My headquarters has been flooded with letters from persons who voted for Hunter in the first primary but who now understand what my opponent's platform means. They not only are going to vote for me but they are working for me."

The question of who would make the best attorney general was covered from all angles in that race as William McCraw of Dallas and Walter Woodward of Coleman continued to expound their virtues.

Woodward spoke at Vernon and planned to appear tonight at Wichita Falls. McCraw invaded Houston for a night address.

In the race for state railroad commissioner, John Pundt will speak by radio tonight in Dallas. His opponent, Chairman Lon A. Smith of the present commission, also turned to the radio in a speech from Dallas.

EXPLANATION MADE OF POLITICAL FIGHT

DALLAS, Aug. 20 (AP)—Arlin B. Davis, son of J. H. (Cyclone) Davis of Sulphur Springs, Texas, today sent the following telegram from Tyler to the Associated Press concerning a reported fist fight between members of the Davis and Allred familes last Saturday at a campaign speaking on the Upshur county courthouse lawn at Gilmer, Texas:

"Cyclone Davis gangsters did not gang Ben Allred at Gilmer. He and one gangster ganged me. I knocked him off his 'mike' when he heckled in my father's meeting and began an insolent tirade of vituperation. No other Davis struck him. His gangster struck me. It takes two Allred men to handle any Davis."

Ben P. Allred of Austin, Texas, is a brother of James V. Allred, state attorney general and candidate for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

I. T. Rackley, deputy sheriff, who was reported to have separated the combatants, was quoted as having named two other sons of Mr. Davis as involved in the fist fight. The name of Arlin B. Davis was not involved.

The clash came with supporters of the candidates of James V. Allred and Tom F. Hunter of Wichita Falls addressing the gathering from rival points of vantage by means of electric amplifiers used with sound trucks.

FARLEY ESCORT HURT

PONCA CITY, Okla., Aug. 20 (AP)—A motorcycle policeman escorting Postmaster-General James A. Farley from Oklahoma City to Wichita was injured near here today when a wheel on his machine locked, crushing him beneath it.

Farley, in a motor car a few hundred feet behind the policeman, escaped injury when Ford Harper, secretary of the State Chamber of Commerce who was driving the car, swerved in time to avoid hitting the motorcycle. The police officer, Elmer Sartor of Oklahoma City, was taken to a hospital.

MILK STRIKE GOES ON

FORT WORTH, Aug. 20 (AP)—Unsuccessful in their efforts to persuade dairymen to join them in their strike for higher milk prices, striking milk producers planned today to again place pickets on all roads leading into Fort Worth in an effort to stop the flow of milk to creameries.

YOU probably recall the case of Arthur Wilson. He is charged with a mysterious murder which occurred near Van Horn, Texas—a woman was the victim — and was later discovered in Port-Of-Spain, Trinidad, and subsequently returned to Texas for trial.

Away over in Akron, Ohio, Wilson's aged mother commented on the case for the press. Said she:

"I will do everything I can to help my son. He is a good boy and I know he couldn't have done anything wrong."

Arthur Wilson has confessed the crime.

As yet no jury has heard his case and in this country a man is presumed to be innocent until proven guilty.

But no matter whether he is guilty or innocent, his mother would have said the same thing. For down through the ages mother love has stood firm against charges of the world—has been loyal, come what may.

Steadfastness and faith on the part of mothers is commented upon altogether too infrequently.

Arthur Wilson must have a good mother.

Otherwise she would not be sticking with him the way she is.

If he has, a grateful nation should lay her honors at his feet and the nation's chieftain, who has himself felt the blight of the dread disease, should ask Congress to strike a special medal.

The medical profession and allied sciences have searched for years for a preventative against infantile paralysis and if Doctor Kolmer's research has turned the trick we may be sure that all the romance has not yet gone from medicine and that there is still a definite demand for the calculating, exacting men of the laboratories.

One of the things that was always puzzled The Plainsman is why some of Lubbock's fine doctors have never turned to research, even in their spare time.

There must be a broad field here, as elsewhere, and this column can think of at least one malady, prevalent over the Plains, which might well draw some study by the men in white.

We refer to psoriasis, a skin disease caused by the combination of the high, dry climate and extreme nervousness and possibly also due partially to incorrect diet.

Most Lubbock doctors say there is no cure for the disease and little can be done to correct it after it sets in.

Possibly because it doesn't produce death there has been little done on it, but there's an opportunity there, anyhow.

THE Federal Bureau of the Census, as you probably noted by yesterday's story, figures Lubbock of today to be slightly more than 23,000 in population.

That figure (and we take a bow) coincides almost to the digit with this column's estimate of a month or more ago.

Overly optimistic boosters, we said then, are prone to say that Lubbock has jumped to from 24,000 to 26,000 souls but to keep on the safe side The Plainsman estimates that within the corporate limits there are approximately 23,000 souls.

As a matter of fact, it is remarkable that we have gained at all.

Many and many a city—and some of them are in West Texas—have lost population since noses were counted in 1930.

Again your humble servant offers this claim:

Mark it down in your hat, the 1940 census will see Lubbock ahead of both San Angelo and Abilene and in third position west of Ft. Worth.

El Paso and Amarillo will still be ahead of us, numberically, but they will be the only ones.

And if a complete census could be taken now we'd find both Abilene and San Angelo—which led us in 1930—as trailing the Hub of the Plains!

IN the last five years Lubbock has definitely become a 'key city' of Texas.

Only 14 other communities—including all the big ones—are of more import in the Lone Star state.

Considering what has happened here since 1920 that is a real record and one which cannot be underestimated or laughed off.

A Good Stardom Bet—That's Louise Latimer; She's Sure To Go Up; Movie-Mad Mothers Making Rush On Filmland

BY DAN THOMAS
NEA Service Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 20—She's young, pretty, vivacious, and most determined to forge ahead in the movie racket.

Furthermore, Louise Latimer can point to 18 months of success on Broadway and a hit performance in her first film, "As We Live." So there doesn't seem to be much reason why this 19-year-old miss shouldn't go a long way in cameraland.

Although she has been in Hollywood only a short time, Louise already has earned the title of "strawberry blond," due to the slight trace of a strawberry shade of red in her tresses.

Her hair without a doubt is her most unusual feature, although her most distinctive one is her vivacity.

Having devoted her time solely to learning the art of acting during the last three years, Louise hasn't had much time to develop her ability for the outdoor sports so popular in the film colony.

However, she is an excellent swimmer and rider. And now that she is getting a short rest following completion of her first picture, she is devoting several hours a week to tennis lessons. Work still holds her first interest, however.

If she retains that attitude, Miss Latimer should make her name a big one in the celluloid world. She has a likable quality, which fortunately photographs, that already has made her one of the most popular girls in Hollywood.

And Hollywood often is far more difficult to conquer than the outside world.

Between 6000 and 7000 movie-mad mothers attempt to place their youngsters in pictures each year, according to statistics just compiled by Rachel Smith, Paramount school teacher. Miss Smith herself has received thousands of letters from mothers all over the country since she has become well known as Baby LeRoy's tutor.

Judging from those letters we have thousands of Baby LeRoys and Shirley Temples in the country. The only trouble is that they never materialize. Hundreds of children are used before the cameras, but only a small handful ever gain prominence.

Advance in Photography

A new and very important photographic improvement may sweep the entire industry during the next year as a result of experiments being carried on in Germany. Scientists there are working on a transparent metal as a substitute for the celluloid now used in motion picture film.

The metal base, according to photographic experts, would not only improve the quality of photography, but also would last much longer.

ISSUES VERSUS PERSONALITIES

It is a regrettable thing, indeed, that Texas finds it impossible to elect a governor without all sorts of mudslinging, charges and countercharges.

Every two years the same dish is passed down by candidates to voters in every portion of the state. The candidates are different but their brand of oratory is the same and it is impossible for a Texan to seek the governor's office without throwing himself open to all sorts of scandalous statements.

Messrs. Allred and Hunter swing into the last week of their run-off campaign today.

All last week they lambasted each other from as many stumps as they could climb upon and "with no holds barred" we have every reason for expecting that their attacks will be fully as bitter—if not more so—from now until election day.

The Journal lives in hopes of seeing sometime in Texas a race based upon issues rather than upon the personalities of the candidates and while that seems impossible at the present writing our faith in Utopia is so great that we will continue to wish for it.

There are plenty of issues facing perplexed Texans this year to make personal attacks unnecessary and with little interest to the electorate.

And it is only too bad that Messrs. Allred and Hunter haven't seen fit to realize the fact.

Dutcher's News And Views OF WASHINGTON

Dutcher

(Copyright, 1934, NEA Service, Inc.)

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
Journal Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Aug 20—Reports that James A. Moffet will be relieved as head of the Federal Housing Administration are not based on any belief that Mr. Moffett isn't getting enough publicity.

Publicity is vitally essential to FHA. The trouble is that it's Mr. Moffett who's getting it all—or all, that is, except as the limelight reflects upon the housing drive after first bouncing off Mr. Moffett. The stories to be sure, mention the fact that Mr. Moffett is housing administrator.

The day Mr. Moffett wrested away for FHA the new offices of the Indian Bureau in the middle of its big new program you could tell you were going to hear more of Mr. Moffett. And you did, sure enough.

First you heard how he has moved his big yacht Bidou here—with an office in it, though he has two others. Then how his daughter Adelaide was looking for a night club or radio singing job— she got one, I believe.

Then how somebody was suing Mr. Moffett for an alleged $18,000 unpaid balance on the yacht. And most lately how Mr. Moffett was demanding that local officials boot out from their wharf the yacht of John Hayes Hammond, Jr., so Mr. Moffett could moor the Bidou there.

Then you actually saw and heard Mr. Moffett himself at a Press Club luncheon as he stumbled through a prepared speech which apparently he hadn't read before.

Between one thing and another you got to understand the current local impression that Mr. Moffett, though a large campaign contributor and an old friend of Roosevelt who sold oil to the navy during the war, wasn't "so hot."

But you tried to remember that Mr. Moffett was a New Deal hero, who, as a $100,000 Standard Oil of New Jersey official, had defied Walter Teagle and resigned the job to serve the New Deal without pay because Teagle wasn't New Dealish.

And to forget the story certain other oil magnates tell—that Mr. Moffett's row with SONJ was all due to resentment because President Bill Farish of Humble Oil had been advanced over his head to be chairman of the board.

Meanwhile every good citzen should hope that the current local impression of Mr. Moffett will prove to be mistaken. Because FHA has a very important program on and ought to succeed. And even if Mr. Moffett did let FHA fall into the hands of the professional politicians, he didn't mean to.

Murder at MOCKING HOUSE

BY WALTER C. BROWN

SYNOPSIS: Apparently a policeman and a stranger have shot each other dead in the breakfast room of Pierre Dufresne's house. Yet Sergeant Harper does not believe it is so, although the only evidence so far that he is right seems to connect the beautiful Mrs. Dufresne with the deed. With Detective Lafferty, Harper is carefully reconstructing the murdered stranger's actions on the fatal night.

HELP AT LAST

"The man seemed to be quite familiar with the house," Harper continued, "for he disturbed nothing. He started a fire in that hearth, very likely as soon as he arrived, for it was chilly. The logs were pretty well burned when we arrived on the scene."

"Wouldn't some one have noticed the smoke from the chimney when he started it?" Lafferty questioned. "The Whitmores, for instance?"

"We can inquire, but I think the chances were against it. It was a gray, lowering sky, and with the snow coming down so thickly I doubt if it would have been noticed. Our man set out a decanter of whiskey and one of brandy, took a glass from the cabinet yonder, and sat down at the head of the table, as comfortable as you please. He lit a cigarette, threw the match in the fireplace, and relaxed. Doesn't that suggest that he was there to meet some one?

"He smoked five cigarettes, for there are four stubs in the grate and five matchsticks. The fifth cigarette burned itself to ashes between his dead fingers. As he smoked, he carelessly flipped the ashes toward the fireplace. Some fell a little short. He is still sitting there when Officer Hamill enters the room and the shooting begins."

Lafferty made a wry face. "That brings us right back to the mystery of why they did it. What made them 'go for each other' simultaneously?"

Harper said, "It's all very puzzling. If our unknown man had been trailing Dufresne, he must certainly have realized that Dufresne would guard himself in the Austerlitz, last night of all night at least. What made him come up here and dress himself like Dufresne? The mystery of this man's clothing is going to give us plenty to think about. The outfit must be part of his masquerade, his on clothing must be hidden somewhere in this house."

Harper turned out the inner breast pocket of the jacket. An embossed silk label furnished the maker's name—Barr, Tompkins & Barr, one of the exclusive tailoring firms of the city.

"Look here, Jack, this fellow was no customer of that firm. There is too much discrepancy between the quality of his under and outer clothing. Nor did his hands exactly indicate the gentleman of leisure. These nose-glasses were put on, along with the false beard, to make his resemblance to Dufresne more striking. The pincers of the glasses made deep red marks on the sides of his nose.

"Was he so anxious to conceal his identity that he removed a ring worn so long that he had to skin his knuckle to get it off? There are some leading questions for you."

"Well, Barr, Tompkins & Barr should be able to give us some information about the dress suit."

"I think we can get the same information much nearer home," Harper replied, rising and pressing the service bell.

"Steve," Lafferty began, "I've been mulling over what you said about that man having shaved here in the house. That suggests just one thing to me—he was going to meet some one—and that some one was a woman. You can't escape the deduction."

Harper nodded. "Yes, but you can't be so positive about a woman being mixed up in it. Every time you see a man shaving it doesn't mean that he's going to a rendezvous."

"Steve, you're certainly bent on throwing a screen around Mrs. Dufresne. Why are you so sure she had nothing to do with it?"

Harper answered patiently, "That inference will not be overlooked. I hold no brief for the lady, but I have an instinctive feeling that she is entirely innocent. Not, as Doyle suggested, because of her air of fragility or any chivalrous duty to beauty in distress."

"Mrs. Dufresne fainted when she saw the dead man unmasked," Lafferty continued doggedly. "Perhaps that was from shock or the sudden relief from strain—but I think she knew that man! And I'm going to take that as a working basis."

"That's quite all right," Harper answered good-naturedly. "Mrs. Dufresne's movements last night will be looked into thoroughly. Don't forget that this pow-wow began with the idea that there may have been a third person in this room last night—even," he pronounced slowly, "that these killings did not take place as suggested by the evidence. A dozen watchers beyond the garden wall wouldn't alter that, if they didn't enter the house—"

Harper broke off short as the door opened and Andrews entered.

"Andrews, can you tell us the name of Mr. Dufresne's tailors?"

The butler showed no sign of surprise at the seemingly irrelevant question. "Barr, Tompkins & Barr."

Harper picked up the coat, trousers, and waistcoat. "I want you to examine these carefully, Andrews, and tell us if these are part of Mr. Dufresne's wardrobe."

Andrews looked closely at the various articles, fingering the seams, examining the linings, turning out the inner pocket for the label. "Yes, sir I am quite sure this is one of Mr. Dufresne's suits."

Harper handed over the nose-glasses, with their black silk cord, "How about these?"

"I think they are his, Mr. Dufresne has all his glasses made up in duplicate pairs."

"Can you identify any others of thes clothes?"

Andrews obediently picked over the shoes, socks, underwear, shirt, collar and tie. He put the last three articles aside. "I believe these came from upstairs, sir. I am sure the others did not."

"Has Mr. Dufresne awakened yet, Andrews?"

"Oh, yes, sir. He is having breakfast now."

"Have you been in Mr. Dufresne's rooms since you came up from the Austerlitz last night?"

"Naturally, sir, several times. Both last night and this morning."

"Did you notice any sign of disturbance, anything to indicate that this man had been in those rooms? Or did Mr. Dufresne mention anything of that nature?"

"No, sir. So far as I could see nothing had been disturbed. I cannot answer for Mr. Dufresne, but doubtlessly he would have mentioned it to me."

Harper put the clothing back on a chair. "If this man changed into some of Mr. Dufresne's clothes he'd do it right there in the room, Andrews, take Lafferty here up to the dressing-room and help him look through the closets."

Lafferty went out in the wake of the butler, and Harper, left alone began to walk up and down the room, his eyes turning again and again to that armchair in which th

Doherty And Holton Tie In Golf Tourney

MEADOWBROOK STARS POST 131's SUNDAY; PLAY WEDNESDAY

Meadowbrook Golf club, which seems to harbor the leading golf talent of this section of the Plains this season, saw two of its young members emerge from the annual South Plains tournament yesterday in a deadlock for the honors.

Edgar Doherty, former city champion and recent winner of the Lubbock Country club invitation tournament, and Alfred Holton, hardened high school youngster, each slipped the wings of par by nine feathers and ended the 36-hole tramp with scores of 131.

Play Off Wednesday

They will contest each other in an 18-hole medal play-off Wednesday for the title relinquished by John D. Munn of Amarillo. Munn's 1933 score of 132 was beaten by a single stroke by Wednesday's winners.

A total of 81 golfers from ten clubs engaged in the South Plains tournament.

Sixteen local players qualified yesterday for the City open tournament, which continues every day this week at Meadowbrook and Lubbock Country club.

Can Qualify Today

One day remains for qualifying in the City open. Golfers who have not done so are invited to tour the Meadowbrook layout this afternoon and turn in a qualifying score. First round matches may be played either Tuesday or Wednesday at Lubbock Country club. Second round matches are scheduled for Meadbrook Thursday or Friday, with third round games Saturday at Meadowbrook and finals Sunday at the Country club.

Bays Bryant fired two rounds of 68 each for a good second place.

Doherty Shoots A 66

Doherty shot a 66 to qualify, and beat his morning round by a stroke in the afternoon. He shot a 32 on the first nine of the afternoon round. Holton bagged a 67 to qualify and came in with a 64 in the afternoon. A sizzling 31 showed on his score card after the out nine of the afternoon round.

First flight honors went to D. A. Dowell, Country club, with a 73-76—149.

Roy Cooper Wins

Roy Cooper of Ralls won the second flight with a card of 81-68—149. Charles Powell of Spur took the third flight title with a total of 161 strokes, qualifying with an 87 and coming back for a neat 74 in the afternoon.

There was a deadlock between two Lubbock players for the fourth flight. L. A. Rodgers and John Daughtie each shot 36-hole scores of 175. They will play off the tie later.

Meadowbrook Wins

The Meadowbrook team of Holton, Joe Bihl, Carl Nail and Edgar Doherty took the four-man team prize with an aggregate score of 283. Bihl qualified with a 74 and Nail with a 76.

The prize offered to the oldest golfer in the tournament went to Dr. Guthrie of Petersburg, a 69-year-old player. Alfred Holton won the prize for the youngest player. Doherty's 66 on the morning round won medalist prize for him.

City Open Scores

As they played in the South Plains event, sixteen golfers turned in morning tallies as qualifying scores in the City open. The players and their scores follow:

W. D. Girand, Sr., 75; Paul Campbell, 78; Pierce Magee, 80; Lee Jones, 80; Jay Harston, 89; Alfred Holton, 67; N. L. Ball, 85; O. A. Terry, 82.

W. T. Rogers, 78; R. L. Stewart, 85; D. Campbell, 74; Bays Bryant, 68; Jo Dick Slaughter, 71; E. G. Shelton, 80; H. McIlroy, 74, and Jack Trammell, 76.

SPORTOGRAPH by COLLIER PARRIS

SOFTBALL TOURNAMENT begins at College Avenue park this afternoon. Tahoka meets the Dryer & Lee Oil company of Lubbock in the first game, beginning at 4:30. Abernathy plays Hub Clothiers in the second.

There'll be two games daily, with the exception of one day when there will be three contests. At this writing, nine teams are entered. Hopes are entertained that three more clubs will enter today, but no official word has been heard. Slaton and Littlefield are known to harbor a fast class of softball, and at least one team from each town was expected to enter the tournament.

It's a new wrinkle in local sports, this softball tournament. The Texas Federation of Athletics sponsors a statewide softball tourney each year at Austin, and it goes over in a large way. If the interest in the tournament here is in proportion to the enthusiasm evinced in league games, the success of the tournament is assured.

Lubbock has let its smaller South Plains sisters slip up on it in softball. Although we boast a couple of leagues, each of six to eight clubs, we don't go in for it so seriously as the smaller towns. In nearly every instance, the other towns have spent a lot of time and money toward building up the game, installing lights, buying uniforms, keeping fields in repair, etc. But it isn't the first time Lubbock has been slipped up on in the matter of sports.

There'll be some nice prizes at stake in the softball tournament, the degree of "nice" depending on the number of cash customers, and the boys and men will be hustling. You're pretty sure to get your 20 cents worth if you come out to the ball park these late afternoons.

CLASS B FOOTBALL teams of this district may look out for a lot of trouble when they go up against Levelland this fall. Bill Stevens, new coach at Levelland and well known in coaching circles over West Texas, passed through here yesterday en route to Two Draw lake, near Post. With him were his assistant coach, Paul Smith, and a squad of 42 young men who aspire for regular places on the Levelland grid team.

It isn't often that a high school sends its football squad out of town on a pre-season training camp. In Class B, such an instance is even rarer. But Levelland is ambitious for its ball club, and it's giving the boys a 10-day camp. The business men of Levelland are backing the team almost 100 per cent, and the school board is making it possible for the coaches to show their stuff. The board has laid nearly $1000 on the line for new equipment, and the Levelland team will be dressed up in new uniforms this fall. A Levelland friend who religiously follows the fortunes of the team told us yesterday that the team would bear watching, that it really had the material.

GOLFERS WHO HAVE NOT QUALIFIED for the city open tournament may do so today. Pay your one buck entrance fee to Tosh and tour the Meadowbrook for an 18-hole qualifying score. Tomorrow or Wednesday you play the first round match at Lubbock Country club. Thursday you come back to Meadowbrook for the second round, and stay through Saturday for the semi-finals. Then back to the Country club Sunday for the finals.

A lot of golf was played yesterday at both clubs. Nearly 90 golfers engaged in the South Plains tournament, almost as many as the Lubbock Country club invitation tournament saw. A score of players from Clovis, piloted by the veteran Shorty Hornbuckle, were guests at Lubbock Country club yesterday afternoon, and there were some warm matches. It was nice to have the Clovis delegation over. They're a fine bunch of fellows, and they're always welcome.

SHORT, SHORT STORIES—Some of the boys who hope to make the team say Texas Tech's football outfit will be the best yet . . . which is a fine way for them to feel, anyway . . . They also think maybe that Tom Lieb's Loyola team will put up the toughest opposition . . . but they'd better watch Texas. . . . Jimmy Phelan, Washington U. coach, is opposed to the new and slimmer football . . . says it is much more difficult to punt and pass . . . seems, however, that it would be easier to pass, maybe a trifle harder to punt. . . .

That old guy who was supposed to be washed up this year—Waite Hoyt—is turning in some mighty nice pitching for the Pittsburgh Pirates. . . . Jimmy Foxx and Max Carey are going to conduct a baseball school in Florida neyt winter. . . . The Milwaukee Brewers have chalked up three triple plays this year . . . which isn't bad for triple-A ball. . . . The Braves have two-bald-headed gents on their roster—Bill Urbanski and Al Spohrer . . . Bill is a barber by trade. . . . What changes can come about in 15 years! . . . that long ago the White Sox were leading the American League . . . and poor old Cincinnati was fighting the Giants for top spot in the National. . . .

Champagne was accidentally concocted 200 years ago by a Benedictine monk, Dom Perignon, who was trying to rescue a batch of wine that was turning out badly.

GIANTS LEAD FIVE FULL GAMES

CUBS AND CARDS "HOT" ON THEIR TRAIL; TIGERS HOLD TOP

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

The New York Giants held a five-game lead in the National league pennant race today and it looked none too big as it stacked up against some of the recent performances by their two rivals in the pennant chase, the Chicago Cubs and St. Louis Cardinals.

The Cards staged a great spurt the past week, winning five games in a row, and threatened to go into second place before they were held to a 50-50 share of a double-header by the Braves yesterday while the Cubs rallied to win two games from the Phillies. Meanwhile the Giants had their hands full getting a single 11-inning decision from Cincinnati, 6 to 4.

Pitching Aids Cubs

Superb pitching carried the Cubs to their double victory. Big Bill Lee turned in a five-hit game to take the opener 3 to 1 and Guy Bush limited the Phils to six blows in winning the second contest, 4-2.

St. Louis, trailing 7-0 after four innings of the opener, rallied to tie it up at 9-9 in the eighth before the Braves pushed over the tenth run against Paul Dean. Pepper Martin, ex-outfielder and third baseman, was one of Dean's five predecessors and allowed only one hit, in a two-inning pitching turn. The Cards won 3 to 1 in the nightcap.

Dodgers "Jinx" Pirates

Brooklyn exercised its "jinx" over Pittsburgh as Ray Benge limited the Pirtes to four hits to win 2 to 1.

The Tigers and the Yankees, 4 1-2 games apart after Saturday, maintained their standings in first and second place in the American league race by winning a double-header each.

The Tigers smacked the Red Sox into submission, 8 to 6 and 4 to 3. The Yanks defeated the Browns 9 to 3 and 3 to 1 and the Athletics turned back Cleveland 9 to 5.

The Chicago White Sox celebrated the big league debut of Allen Benson, Washington's pink-bearded pitcher from the House of David, by driving him out in the eighth, then got two more runs off Alex McColl in the ninth for a 9 to 8 triumph.

Softball Tourney Opens Today; 9 Teams Entered

TAHOKA AND OILERS IN FIRST GAME THIS AFTERNOON AT 4:30

With nine clubs ready to go and entries expected from two or three others, the first South Plains softball tournament will get underway with a double header at the College Avenue park this afternoon.

In the first game, starting at 4:30 o'clock, the Tahoka entry will meet Dryer-Lee Oil company of Lubbock. Abernathy plays San Rosenthal's Hub Clothiers of Lubbock in the second contest.

Three Games Tuesday

Three games will be played Tuesday, the program beginning at 3 o'clock. Levelland and Ralls play in the first game, Swift & Company of Lubbock versus Crosbyton in the second, and the Magnolia Oilers of Lubbock, who drew a first round bye, meets the loser of the Tahoka-Dryer-Lee game in the third contest.

Unless other clubs enter, only two games will be played daily for the remained of the week. The tournament is scheduled to end Sunday with a double header to determine first, second and third places.

Deadline Extended

Although it had been reported that Littlefield and Slaton might send entries to the tournament, no definite word has been received. The entry deadline has been extended from Friday noon to 8 o'clock tonight for the benefit of these or any other club who might decided at the last minute to enter.

A two-game elimination process will govern the tournament. Teams which lose their first games remain in the tournament until they have been defeated twice. Representatives of clubs met here Saturday and drew for first round opponents and starting times. After first round games, the tournament committee will announce the schedule from day to day, allowing winners to play winners and losers to meet losers so far as possible. It will be impossible to follow this precedure throughout, however, because of an odd number of teams.

Umpires Are Bosses

Umpires will be given complete jurisdiction over games, and their decisions will be final. There may be no appeal from an umpire's decision.

Each club is allowed a player list of 16 men, 17 if the manager is not a playing manager. Only players will be given complimentary tickets. Player passes may be claimed by managers at the J. & J. Sporting goods store today or before a team plays its first game.

Each manager is required to submit a player list before his team plays a game. This list may not be altered after the first game. Players may not be "swapped" about, not go from one team to another during the tournament.

Admission to two games will be 20 cents, or 10 cents for the second game. When three games are played, admission will be 25 cents for the entire afternoon's program. The charge is being made in order to provide prizes for winning teams and to promote the interests of softball here and on the South Plains.

AUSTIN TEAM WINS

AUSTIN, Aug. 20 (AP)—The Dacy Booters of Austin Saturday night won the Texas Amateur Athletic federation playground baseball championship, defeating the Fort Worth Planets, 0-2.

Duches Ice Cream of Waco defeated the Lone Star Gassers of Dallas, 6-5, in the consolation finals but the Dallas team was awarded the championship when it was discovered Waco had used ineligible players.

SAN ANTONIO MISSIONS NOW THREE FULL GAMES AHEAD IN TEXAS LEAGUE

MATMEN FACE NEW ENEMIES

DETTON AND JACK VAN BEBBER TO MEET TWO NEWCOMERS

Resident wrestlers will be occupied with a foreign invasion this week.

Dory Detton, the tricky Mormon mangler, will have a maximum of three falls in which to stave off the attack of Martino Angelo, husky Italian from Buffalo, N. Y., in the main battle.

Jack Van Bebber, back home after a trip around the Pacific coast circuit, goes on the mat with one Charley Carr, a wicked looking wight from Fort Wayne, Indiana.

Carr has a record of undefeat in the Indiana leagues. And both he and Angelo have journeyed to this circuit in an effort to get on Dutch Mantell's middleweight championship tourney.

A 20-minute preliminary will start the show.

Helen Jacobs Holds Women's Net Title

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Aug. 20 (AP)—Helen Hull Jacobs sported the Women's National tennis championship today without a dissenting vote.

For the third straight year, the 26-year-old Berkeley, Calif., star won it on her own, defeating little Sarah Palfrey of Brookline, Mass., in straight sets, 6-1, 6-4.

Except for a four-game lapse in the second set, Miss Jacobs was in complete control. With her service sizzling hot, Miss Jacobs carried the fight to her challenger during most of the play.

As the result of her triumph Miss Jacobs took a place with Mrs. Moody, Molla Mallory, Mary K. Browne and Mrs. Hazel Hotchkiss Wightman, the only other players to win the championship three times in a row. The doubles championship went to Miss Jacobs and Miss Palfrey who defeated Dorothy Andrus of Stamford, Conn., and Carolin Babcock of Los Angeles, 4-6, 6-3, 6-4.

Associated Press Sports Writer

The way of baseball is uncertain. Two days ago Galveston and San Antonio were in a deadlock for the Texas league leadership. With both teams bearing down and with their pitchers going good, little did fans anticipate that today the Missions would be three full games in front. That is the exact margin by virtue of San Antonio's three straight triumphs over Fort Worth and Galveston's three consecutive losses to Dallas.

The Missions strengthened their hold on first place yesterday by beating the Cats, 7 to 6, and 7 to 3. Unbeatable relief hurling by George Mills, who beat Fort Worth Saturday night, saved San Antonio the first game after the Cats had routed Abe Miller with a five-run rally in the third inning. The gloomy shadow of defeat hovered over the Missions until the seventh inning of the second game when they raced across four runs to pull one out of the fire. Bud Connolly saved the nightcap for San Antonio when he hit a home run with two aboard.

Buccaneers Sloppy

Miserable fielding, poor base throwing by Catcher Meale, ineffective pitching—that's the story of Galveston's double defeat by Dallas, 12 to 4, and 3 to 2. The Buccaneers were sloppy in the first with five errors that ruined pitching efforts by Gumbert, Garcia, Jakucki and Gibbs. Little Sal Gliatto, who pitched five and two-thirds innings of the first game, pulled the iron man stunt by hurling the second and holding Galveston to three hits. Beau Bell, Galveston rightfielder, got his twenty-sixth home run of the season in the second game.

Oklahoma City and Houston spent the afternoon dividing a doubleheader the Buffaloes grabbed the first, 6 to 3, and allowed the Indians to take the second, 2 to 1. Vernon Kennedy, league leading strikeout artist, was wild in the first game. The Indians won the second behind the four-hit pitching of Matuzak and Moncrief.

Beaumont swept a night doubleheader from Tulsa, 4 to 0, and 5 to 4. Larkin stopped the Oilers with five hits the first game. It required the combined pitching of Hare, Wade and Shulz to win the second.

COUNTRY CLUB DOWNS CLOVIS

LOCAL GOLFERS WIN 13 OF 16 MATCHES IN PLAY SUNDAY

Lubbock Country club golfers severely trounced a squad of Clovis, N. M., shot-makers yesterday in a series of matches here. The locals won 13 of 16 matches played.

Led by the veteran Shorty Hornbuckle, the New Mexico clan came over at the invitation of Country club but failed to make more than a dent in the ranks of the homelings.

Slaughter Defeats Hornbuckle

Jo Dick Slaughter, playing as Country club's No. 1 man, defeated Hornbuckle, 3 and 2.

Results of other matches, with Country club golfers named first, follow:

Sid Thrash lost to Roades, 3 and 1; Ted Tipps defeated Havenstein, 4 and 3; Clinton Bussey won over Gober, 6 and 5; Bob Harvey defeated Pierce, 2 up; Len McAllister beat Miller, 2 and 1.

Lefty Bryant beat Pipkin, 8 and 7; Bays Bryant won from Goodman, 2 and 1; Francis Finberg defeated Sasser, 7 and 5; Magee beat Thompson, 4 and 3.

Lee Jones Wins

W. D. Girand outplayed Folley, 2 and 1; Lee Jones defeated Gunby, 6 and 4; Paul Campbell won over Skiles, 5 and 4; E. W. Trotter lost to Saunders, 1 up; Jess Lockhart defeated Covey, 4 and 3; Cotton McAfee lost to Lindley, 1 up.

In other matches, Mrs. Cliff Dean and Mrs. Skiles of Clovis finished 18 holes all square, as did Mrs. Worrell of Clovis and Mrs. John Edmisson of Lubbock. They did not play out the matches.

Lubbock golfers probably will return the matches at Clovis within the next few weeks.

HEAT FOR THE SOUP BONE

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 20.—Some of those night games in the Pacific Coast League are played in rather cool weather, so Pitcher Win Ballou, former Senator pitcher, has a heater installed in the dugout to keep his arm warm on the nights he pitches.

TREE SHELTER BELT WOULD BE READY BY NEXT DROUTH, U. S. OFFICIALS SAY

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—That 1300-mile belt of trees the administration intends to plant may reach maturity just in time for the next drouth.

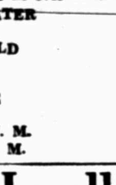

Experts figure that the trees, millions of them, will be grown in about 30 years. This present dry period in the northwest has taken between 25 and 30 years to build up its water shortage and since wet and dry spells have a habit of running in cycles, the next dry period may set in around 1964.

Ten Years To Plant

The trees, however, will begin to be of some use as wind breaks and water conservers a few years after planting, as soon as they reach a height of five or six feet, the forest service figures. It will take ten years to plant them all. Preparatory work is under way.

The foresters feel certain the plan will work and that the trees will grow, because it's been done before. Though this will be the largest shelter belt in history, the idea is at least 60 years old. Shelter belts were planted that long ago on the steppes of southern Russia, where conditions are similar to the American prairies. They worked well.

The belts were planted as protection against the "black dust stoms" similar to the dust storms of this summer in the west. They reduced wind velocity between the tree belts 35 per cent in summer and 20 per cent in winter. Evaporation moisture between strips, as contracted with open steppes, was cut down 30 per cent, steppes, was cut down 30 cal dry year were a quarter ton per acre greater in the sheltered areas than outside.

Capitol Chatter From Austin

BY CHARLES E. SIMONS
Associated Press Staff Writer

By CHARLES E. SIMONS

AUSTIN, Aug. 20. (AP)—Professors at the University of Texas have been placed under a code.

The board of regents of the university has adopted a "code of ethics" to regulate relations of the faculty with members of the Texas legislature and state officials. Under the code no employe or faculty member may initiate or promote any legislation affecting the university without the consent of the president.

Faculty members would be prohibited from promoting or recommending legislation to advance their personal interests or those of the department with which they are connected. University employes who are requested by the legislature or state officials to discuss propositions affecting the university would inform the president of the nature of the discussions.

Prepared By Committee

The regulations were prepared by a faculty committee and unanimously approved by the faculty before being presented to the regents.

University of Texas professors have kept in the background in the discussions in the legislature on social and economic questions. On infrequent occasions a faculty member has appeared before a committee by invitation to express a view on some problem.

None of the professors have been appointed to state positions although several have been drafted by the federal government.

Incidents in the life of Col. Charles Goodnight, pioneer cattle, ma[n] of the Texas Panhandle, will [be] preserved in a book to be writte[n] by J. Evetts Haley, collector of his[tor]ical documents for the Univer[sity] of Texas. Haley will work un[der] a Rockefeller foundation grant.

Collection of biographical mater[ial], inducing anecdotes, of the noted cattle baron's life in Palo Duro canyon will be started Sept. 1.

Haley's colleague, J. Frank Dobie, university English professor and spinner of yarns about the early southwest, will work under a similar grant. Dobie will go to Northern Mexico to obtain data for two books, one dealing with the people and the other with animals native to the southwest and Mexico.

According to Dr. Henry Farmer, a British lecturer, English-speaking people talk Arabic when they speak of sugar, cotton, damask, taffeta, orange, lozenge, muslin, alcohol, alembic, nadir, zenith, cipher, and algebra.

WHEAT STOCKS TO DECREASE

NEXT TEN MONTHS TO SEE DECLINE IN VISIBLE SUPPLY

BY JOHN P. BOUGHAN
Associated Press Market Editor

CHICAGO, Aug. 20. (AP)—United States stocks of wheat in sight, leading grain traders say, are expected to decrease steadily during the next ten months.

Big premiums being paid for wheat available to be used at once are apparently a reflection of prospective coming curtailment of the nation's breadstuff supplies. Although this is the period when ordinarily the movement of wheat in the northwest is at the zenith, it is doubted whether there will be much of an increase of the domestic visible supply, and trade predictions are that constant shrinkage will set in before the end of this month.

Prices Lower

In line, nevertheless, with a week's series of setbacks in world markets, the Chicago general price range for wheat Saturday was 7 1-4 to 9 3-4 cents a bushel lower than a week ago, corn 6 1-8 to 8 1-4 down and oats 4 3-8 to 6 5-8 off, but provisions showing 17 cents to $1.05 advance.

Aside from tightening of cash premiums for wheat and also for corn, the principal anxiety of traders just now is a succession of reports from Washington indicating likelihood of new restrictive measures affecting dealings on commodity exchanges. Revealing this as a source of trouble is uncertainty over administrative plans for domestic farm acreage control, especially as to wheat and corn. On the other hand, one thing is assured—namely, that the North American 1934 wheat crop is now known within definite limits, and no amount of rain, according to Chicago experts, can change the total to any great extent.

Carryover Smaller

Latest authoritative figures indicate that North America's wheat yields in the aggregate this season will not be quite up to the 1933 total, and that the carryover will be somewhat smaller. An exportable wheat surplus of 425,000,000 bushels in North American is suggested. However, the amount is small in comparison with recent years, showing 50,000,000 bushels less than figures compiled on the same basis last year.

Sections of Illinois, Iowa, Minnesota and Wisconsin are reported as still having a good corn crop prospect. For the most part, oats are taking their cue from corn.

Provisions display the effects of new peak prices in the hog market.

FLASHES OF LIFE FROM EVERYWHERE

INTERESTING BITS OF NEWS GROUND FROM THE GRIST OF THE DAY'S HAPPENINGS

(By The Associated Press)

Patrick's Pitfall

PITTSTOWN, Pa. — Pranksters' frequent telephone calls peeved Patrolman Patrick Walsh. He was gruff as he answered the station telephone once more.

"Who's this?" asked a voice.

"Come up and see me some time, and I'll tell you," was the report.

Police Chief Luke Keating came right up. Patrolman Walsh was suspended.

It Pays, And Howe

TOPEKA, Kas.—Ed Howe, the sage of potato hill, was dicussing the rate of pay for writers with several friends. He figured his best efforts brought 12 1-2 cents a word.

"I have you writer skinned to death," commented Judge George T. McDermott of the United States circuit of appeals. "I've just figured how many opinions I write a year, and their length. It amounts to 35 cents a word."

Auto's Moo

RIDGEWAY, Mo.—Many a beau has only to honk his car and his girl friend comes running. So it is with Hershey Goodwin's cow. At milking time, Goodwin drives up to the pasture gate, honks his car horn and the cow comes trotting.

But It Works

SAN FRANCISCO—The fire boys may have been a bit rough but they helped little Lawrence Critiani's dog out of a tight place.

When the dog got stuck in the space betwen two houses Lawrence's father called the fire department. A single blast from the hose on the dog and it was washed out backwards right into the arms of his master.

Wrong "Timing"

Aged Annie Oakley

KUTZTOWN, Pa. — Milton Kuhns got a pass to the Keystone Agricultural fair when he was 8 years old but did not use it. This week he jokingly offered it for entrance to the 1934 Kutztown fair.

When it was accepted he was very much surprised.

For Milton Kuhns is 70.

Regimentation

DODGE CITY, Kas.—The drouth has driven the wild and carefree jack rabbits of western Kansas to regimentation. W. Musgrove, a farmer, estimates that 500 of them come daily to his water tank.

"They line up in the pasture awaiting their turn to drink," says Musgrove.

Wanted His Cream

GEARY, Okla.—Ed Spencer was eating a dish of ice cream in a tavern when robbers entered and forced 20 customers to lie on the floor.

The night was hot. Ed's ice cream was getting softer every minute. Finally the young barber could stand it no longer.

He reached up from the floor, lifted his dish from the table and lying down, finished his ice cream.

They Knew Him

WATERBURY, Conn.—"Here again, George?" asked Judge Edward Mascolo.

"I had a couple of drinks, offered a check to pay for them, and was hit over the head instead," George replied.

"George owes money on a fine for a previous spree," interrupted Probation Officer Emil Hummel.

"Okay," said George. "Take the check for $10 and give me $5 in money."

Hummel telephoned the bank.

"I knew they'd cash the check for me in court," said George. "These people know me."

PROMOTION OF MARRIAGE SEEN

BLED, Yugoslavia, Aug. 20. (AP)—King Alexander's object in inviting Prince George of England to be his guest in the royal summer palace here was learned on high authority to be directed toward promoting a marriage between the British king's fourth son and Princess Marina, the third daughter of Prince Nicholas and Princess Olga of Greece.

This authority stated that Prince Paul, Alexander's nephew, who is very close to the king, has been designated as matchmaker because he speaks fluent English.

It was further said that the fact that Paul is an Oxford graduate makes him peculiarly fitted to deal with George who arrived here several days ago.

Marina, who is 27 years old, inherited all the beauty and charm of her Russian mother and the pleasing personal qualities of her father who was a brother of the late King Constantine of Greece.

Prince George himself is 31 years old.

Huge Art Edifice Planned At Chicago

CHICAGO, Aug. 20 (AP)—A $10,000,000 home for famous paintings of the world is contemplated in the near future by directors of the Art Institute of Chicago.

The edifice will be an addition to the present art institute building, but instead of fronting on Michigan boulevard it will face the outer drive, skirting Lake Michigan in Grant park.

Construction of the first unit is expected to begin about January 1 and other wings will be added as money becomes available. The whole project is expected to require about 10 years for completion.

baffling intruder had met his death.

He came to a stop before the wainscoting at the vertical panel that bore the bullet mark. The bullet had not wedged itself into the wood, but had been found on the floor, whence it had dropped after the impact. The detective used his magnifying lens on the scarred place.

Carlin's puzzled suggestion that the bullet wound bore all the markings of a heavy caliber steel-jacket had stuck in his mind. The lens afforded a much clearer view of the jogged dent in the wood, from which tiny particles had fallen to the floor.

This enlarged scope of the eye gave the detective a sudden and startling insight into the matter. He fitted the bullet into the rough-edged cavity. It matched very badly. He tried the bullet from various angles but with no better success.

Harper squatted back on his heels, the light of discovery dawning on him. The center depth of the bullet mark in the wainscoting was undoubtedly deeper than Officer Hamill's bullet could account for. Furthermore, the mark in the wood ran to a distinct conical pit, while the nose of the policeman's bullet was distinctly blunt! Here was the first tangible bit of evidence to give color to his suspicions.

It looked as if the sharp-eyed Carlin's hesitancy over acceptance of the caliber of the fatal bullet as a .38 was going to be justified. If this unidentified masquerader had not died by this particular .38 bullet then Officer Hamill had notkilled him. The attendant corollaries of this thought leaped into Harper's grasp, full-armed and clamoring for attention.

It meant that the bullet which had really killed the man in the chair was definitely missing! It had been carried away. Some phantom third presence had dislodged it from the wall and substituted a bullet fired from the policeman's gun.

Officer Hamill had not killed the unknown man. Then the dead man in the armchair could not have killed Hamill!
