NEARBY WELLS APPROACH PAY

Half Dozen Drilling Tests Are Below 2,500 Feet

Operators' Oil company's No. 1 Cook-Faulkner, in the southwest corner of section 31, block B-2, continues to be the oil sensation of the Panhandle today.

Oil and gas were encountered together late Sunday afternoon and up to this time the well has not been placed wholly under control.

From late Sunday night until yesterday evening, 1,500 barrels had gone into storage and hundreds of barrels had saturated the ground for a distance of half a mile from the well.

The new gusher came in making 120,000,000 cubic feet of gas, estimated. This morning the flow had decreased to 70,000,000 feet.

Drilling on the Texas company's No. 1 Cook-Faulkner, an east offset to the discovery well of the new field and a south offset to the Operators' gusher ceased Sunday afternoon when gas and oil from the new well fell over the derrick.

The Phillips Petroleum company's No. 1 Palmer, a west offset to the new producer, is drilling ahead this morning at 2,790 feet and drillers expected pay this afternoon.

In the same territory and south of the new wells, the Texas company's No. 2 Cook-Faulkner, in section 29, block B-2, the Marland Production company's No. 2 Finley-Brown, in section 32, block B-2, the Champlin Refining company's No. 1 Coble, in section 33, block B-2, and the Danziger Oil & Gas company's No. 1 Beck, in section 28, block B-2, are drilling below 2,500 feet and nearing the big pay.

WILDCAT OIL TEST WILL BE PLUGGED

Estick & McKinney's No. 1 Hopkins, in the northeast corner of section 84, block B-2, H. & G. N. survey, will be plugged, Ernest Estick said today.

The wildest test was three miles south of production in the south Bowers-McGee pool.

WEST TEXAS: Cloudy tonight and Wednesday; somewhat warmer in north portion tonight.

AND A SMILE

SAN FRANCISCO, (P)—Old Soak probably will raise ructions in Washington. A message from the steamship President Wilson says that Secretary Stinson's parrot, now en route from Manila, has chewed three buttons off the captain's coat.

Yesterday Was Moving Day for Harry Sinclair

FROM THIS TO THIS

From his palatial home at Great Neck, Long Island, Harry Sinclair, oil millionaire, has moved for a 90-day period to the District of Columbia jail, according to a ruling of the United States supreme court.

SINCLAIR SPENDS HIS FIRST NIGHT IN JAIL—ROUTINE NOT TO BE RIGOROUS, HE IS TOLD

WASHINGTON, May 7. (P)—Starting his first full day as a prisoner, Harry F. Sinclair, wealthy oil operator, early this morning was assigned to the drug room of the Washington asylum and jail to act as dispensing pharmacist and assistant to the jail physician during his three months stay behind the bars.

WASHINGTON, May 7. (P)—Harry F. Sinclair, multi-millionaire, oil man, awoke today to begin a strict adherence to the simple life for 90 days in the Washington asylum and jail.

The central figure in a five-year fight to avoid imprisonment as a result of his part in the leasing of the Teapot Dome naval oil reserves, Sinclair surrendered last night to begin serving his term for refusing to answer questions asked during the senatorial investigation five years ago.

After spending his first night on an iron cot in one of the dormitory cells, he faced the routine of being fingerprinted, undergoing a physical examination and then receiving an assignment for his share of the jail duties which include principally dishwashing, window washing, and office work.

Sinclair's movements yesterday until he suddenly appeared at the front of the jail in an automobile in which he had motored from New York were cloaked in mystery.

Clinton Business Men to Be Given Reception by City

Membership in the Chamber of Commerce at a nominal membership fee is advisable to preserve the idea of general participation in community affairs, it was pointed out last night by the Board of City Development.

It is planned to hold regular banquets, at which the Chamber of Commerce members will meet to hear prominent speakers and experts on city building, and to voice opinions about leading issues.

Many projects were discussed by the B. C. D. directors. Plans were started in preparation for a reception to be given boosters from Clinton, Okla., who will visit Pampa late this month after the C. & O. W. line is completed.

The civic committee will take a survey of life business district to learn the attitude of merchants concerning proposed parking restrictions.

M'DONALD RETURNS

J. M. McDonald, deputy supervisor of the oil and gas division of the railroad commission, returned yesterday from Austin, where he had been in conference on gas conservation measures in the Panhandle.

A Massachusetts trapper sometimes finds a gun superfluous. Recently he brought in two fox skins, one slain by a wildcat and one victim of starvation.

Orchestra Will Play at Dinner of Business Men

A picked orchestra from the high school organization will play at the Board of City Development-Chamber of Commerce banquet at the Schneider hotel tonight.

The speaker of the evening will be A. B. Davis, manager of the Lubbock Board of City Development. Mr. Davis will arrive here this afternoon on the 3 o'clock train and will leave immediately after the banquet tonight.

This is the first of a series of banquets that will be held by the united organizations. Membership cards to the Chamber of Commerce will give admittance. Those not belonging to the organization will pay $1. Membership will be taken before 8 o'clock.

LEGISLATURE GOES VISITING

AUSTIN, May 7. (P)—With only 12 working days of the special session left, the legislature was away on a good-will trip to Bryan, home of Speaker W. S. Barron, and the East Texas Chamber of Commerce convention there today.

Gov. Dan Moody accompanied the lawmakers, who left early on a special train. It will be an all-day trip, with the return schedule for late tonight. Governor Moody planned to deliver an address.

PRISONERS DIDN'T ESCAPE

HUNTSVILLE, May 7. (P)—Ed Crowder and Robert Bernard, believed to have escaped from the state penitentiary here after battering off the door of their cell, were again in solitary confinement today.

MRS. WALTON IS VERY ILL BUT GOES WITH SON

Young Widow Is Able to Take Brief Auto Ride

SISTER ASSERTS NEWS DISTORTED

But She Declines to Add to Known Details

AMARILLO, May 7. (P)—A mother accompanied the body of her son, killed by his father-in-law, on a last journey broken by grief that friends had feared might cost her life, while a grand jury here today prepared to push to conclusion its investigation of the slayer R. H. Hamilton, a former high Texas jurist.

Tom Walton, Jr., 21, whose mother, Mrs. Grace Walton, sent him to reveal to Hamilton his secret marriage to the latter's daughter was on the way to his old home today—to be buried. His body was en route to McAlester, Okla., where the Waltons formerly lived, and his mother lay in another coach of the same train.

Hamilton shot Walton to death here Saturday when the boy entered the Hamilton office, spoke a jocular word to a stenographer and a moment later presumably began to tell of the wedding with Theresa, then his 19-year-old schoolmate in Texas university. Four bullets from Hamilton's pistol ended the interview and the former jurist or the state supreme court's commissioner of appeals said in explanation: "I'd rather die than kill a man, but I had to protect my home."

Walton's mother, under the added agony of having sent her son to Hamilton to make peace, was unconscious when placed on the McAlester train here last night. A trained nurse accompanied her and fear for her life was expressed. She had had but few rational moments since the roar of the father-in-law's gun.

Meanwhile, business men here had raised about $1,500 with which to retain special prosecutors, the firm of Mays and Mays, Fort Worth.

AUSTIN, May 7. (P)—Pale and visibly affected by the sudden tragedy that took the life of her young husband in Amarillo Saturday, Theresa Hamilton Walton today was able to leave her sick bed for the first time since she was prostrated by the information that Thomas Walton, Jr., to whom she was secretly married February 10, in Georgetown, had been shot to death in her father's office.

The fragile blonde girl leaned heavily on the arm of an elder sister, Helen, as she was led to a waiting automobile outside her apartment for a brief drive. Helen Hamilton declined to discuss any phases of the case, and Mrs. R. H. Hamilton, her mother, likewise refused to divulge any information that might shed further light on the shooting of the former University of Texas boy other than to say newspaper reports of the slaying did not fully reflect the truth.

Gamma Phi Beta sorority sisters of the girl were allowed to visit the stricken girl for the first time since Saturday.

NEGRO FOUND GUILTY

George Walker, local negro, yesterday was found guilty of transporting liquor and sentenced to serve one year in the penitentiary.

Today E. Brady is being tried for possession of intoxicating liquor for the purpose of sale.

Tomorrow will be the last day of criminal court this week. Civil suits will be heard Thursday and Friday. The final week of this term of court will start Monday and will be devoted to criminal cases.

CLINTON BUSINESS MEN WILL VISIT PAMPA SOON

A letter from Tim T. Warren, secretary of the Clinton Chamber of Commerce, received here this morning by Manager George Briggs of the Pampa Board of City Development, stated that it is unforeseen matters did not arise Clinton boosters would be in Pampa May 29.

Following a meeting of the Clinton organization Monday, it was decided that Clinton business men would visit Pampa. They plan to leave over the new Clinton & Oklahoma Western the morning of the 29th and arrive here the same afternoon for a celebration and get-together.

The entertainment committee of the local B. C. D. will have a charge of the reception for the Clinton delegation.

MANY PUPILS WILL COMPETE IN AMARILLO

Thomas Fannell, head of the local branch of the Amarillo College of Music, will leave tonight for Amarillo to make preparations for Pampa contestants to enter the contests held annually in connection with the Festival of Music. About fifty local children will take part.

The orchestra will play Friday.

The girls' quartet, on account of the recent illness of one of its members, will be unable to sing.

The High School P.-T. A., is endeavoring to arrange transportation for the contestants. Those willing to take cars should inform Mrs. V. E. Fatheree, P.-T. A. president, or Prof. R. B. Fisher at once.

Ordinance on Sidewalks Passed

Sidewalks must be laid to grade on streets where a grade line has been established, reads an ordinance passed by the city commission last night. The ordinance will go into effect May 28. City Manager F. M. Gwin said this morning in discussing the new ordinance.

"The ordinance is necessary because some residents feel they want to build walks higher than their neighbors and that would necessitate steps and an uneven grade," Mr. Gwin said. "It will be necessary to take out a permit to build sidewalks," he said.

BIG FIRMS TO JOIN SANTA FE ROAD REQUEST

Texas and Colteco in Petition Sent the I. C. C.

STATUS GIVEN INTERVENTION

Similar Counter Move Begun by Pampa Citizens

Entry of oil interests into the rail-road fight in which Pampa is one of the local points was learned here today.

The intervention of the Texas company and its subsidiary, the Colteco corporation, with the application of the Clinton-Oklahoma-Western Railroad company of Texas for a certificate to construct a branch line into Central Gray county has been recognized by the interstate commerce commission.

"It is ordered," says a minute record of the Washington body, "that the Texas company and the Colteco corporation be, and they are hereby, permitted to intervene and be treated as parties hereto."

Against this coalition of the Texas company and the Santa Fe for a line to serve the oil concern is the Pampa Board of City Development and interested local people, who have made a similar intervention for a hearing on the application, with the request that the hearing be held here.

The Texas company would be directly served by the line as proposed. It has nearly 10,000 acres of oil and gas land in Central Gray county. Opposition to the line is based on the claims that it would be inadequate to serve the Gray county oil field, and that it would neutralize the benefits derived from the C. & O. W. road, toward which Pampa citizens donated about $50,000.

In connection with the fight for the privilege of serving territory from Pampa, south, President W. E. Williamson of the Fort Worth & Denver subsidiary of the Burlington lines announced that his company would seek a permit to build from Childress northward through Wellington and Shamrock to Pampa.

He estimated cost of the new trackage at between $3,500,000 and $4,000,000. This route has been contemplated by the Denver road for years. About three years ago the territory was surveyed and asking for a permit was withheld pending completion of the Fort Worth & Denver South Plains railroad. The survey showed the line would be about 105 miles long.

The interstate commerce commission will probably be petitioned by the Denver road company today, according to press dispatches from Fort Worth quoting Frank E. Clarity, vice-president and general manager.

Five Frenchmen Die When Plane's Wing Drops Off

BOURGEOIS, France, May 7. (P)—Five French military aviators were killed at the Avord aviation field last night, their bombing plane crashing to earth when a wing dropped off.

The bodies could be taken from the plane only this morning after experts had removed two unexploded bombs from the wreck of the machine.

The crash took place after a number of bombs had been launched in practice. A wing suddenly crumpled and the plane fell at terrific speed. As it was falling a parachute became detached, and witnesses were hopeful that at least one of the occupants would be saved but the parachute proved empty and it was supposed that one of the men, in desperation had detached it too soon.

"It's Like This"

IN THE ROAD SITUATION several distinct factors stand out. One is that the original intent of the bond election cannot be carried out without the full cooperation of the state.

Another factor is that the state will not recognize, or at least, shows a strong tendency not to do so, any contracts let by the county commissioners without the advice and participation of the state department.

It is the attitude of the state department that it has had more experience in road contract letting, can obtain more bids, and can save the counties much money.

The state department has assumed the attitude that it is an insult for a county to draft its own highway program and then to send a big delegation down to Austin to tell the commissioners what it expects from the state and federal governments.

Carson county offers a pretty good example of the advisability of letting the state do all the contracting. Carson received more highway work last year than any other county in Texas.

Play in Gray county has probably meant that the paving northward from the city has been saved as a state highway. But by tying up all the original bond funds in contracts, the Pampa district has placed itself at the mercy of the highway department.

tion, yet out of such may come a larger program such as Gray county needs—if the commissioners and the state work harmoniously more. If the state department is really interested in seeing more paving built here, it will grant state and federal aid wherever possible in the district's original program.

The question is not merely one of the present. Gray county wants good roads. The $400,000 issue was voted in recognition of the fact that about 42 miles was needed within the district.

It must be recognized that the state's attitude is that lateral highways are county projects and main, designated highway paving is a state project.

It should be remembered that the state highway department is committed to the proposition that the state float a large bond issue to take over all designated road paving.

Remembering this hope on the part of the department, it is not hard to get the attitude of Commissioners Ely, Johnson and Sterling, and Engineer Gibb Gilchrist. But the counties are equally strong in their opinions concerning highway routing.

A kickless alcohol has been invented. Someone is always trying to take the joy out of life for those who will be crazy for a thrill.

WASHINGTON LETTER

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

WASHINGTON—Frank B. Lord, who has worked with the Democratic National Committee through six campaigns and was assistant to the national chairman in 1916 and 1920, has blossomed out with a novel and drastic proposal which he believes will enable the Democrats to elect a president in 1932.

Lord says the best thing for the party to do is to hold no national convention before the election. He expects that the Republicans will renominate Hoover and that Hoover will be re-elected if the Democratic opposition follows its old methods and holds a convention to nominate a candidate to oppose him.

The Democrats of the country should offer a score or more candidates, he says, a different one in 25 or more states. In each case the man nominated for the presidency by the Democrats of his state would be the strongest Democratic vote-getter in his state or section.

Daily News want-ads bring results.

TWINKLES

Be at the Chamber of Commerce banquet tonight. This is your opportunity to voice your thoughts on public matters.

It's our opinion that those balloon races would be a lot more exciting if they could be held in the midst of a genuine West Texas sandstorm.

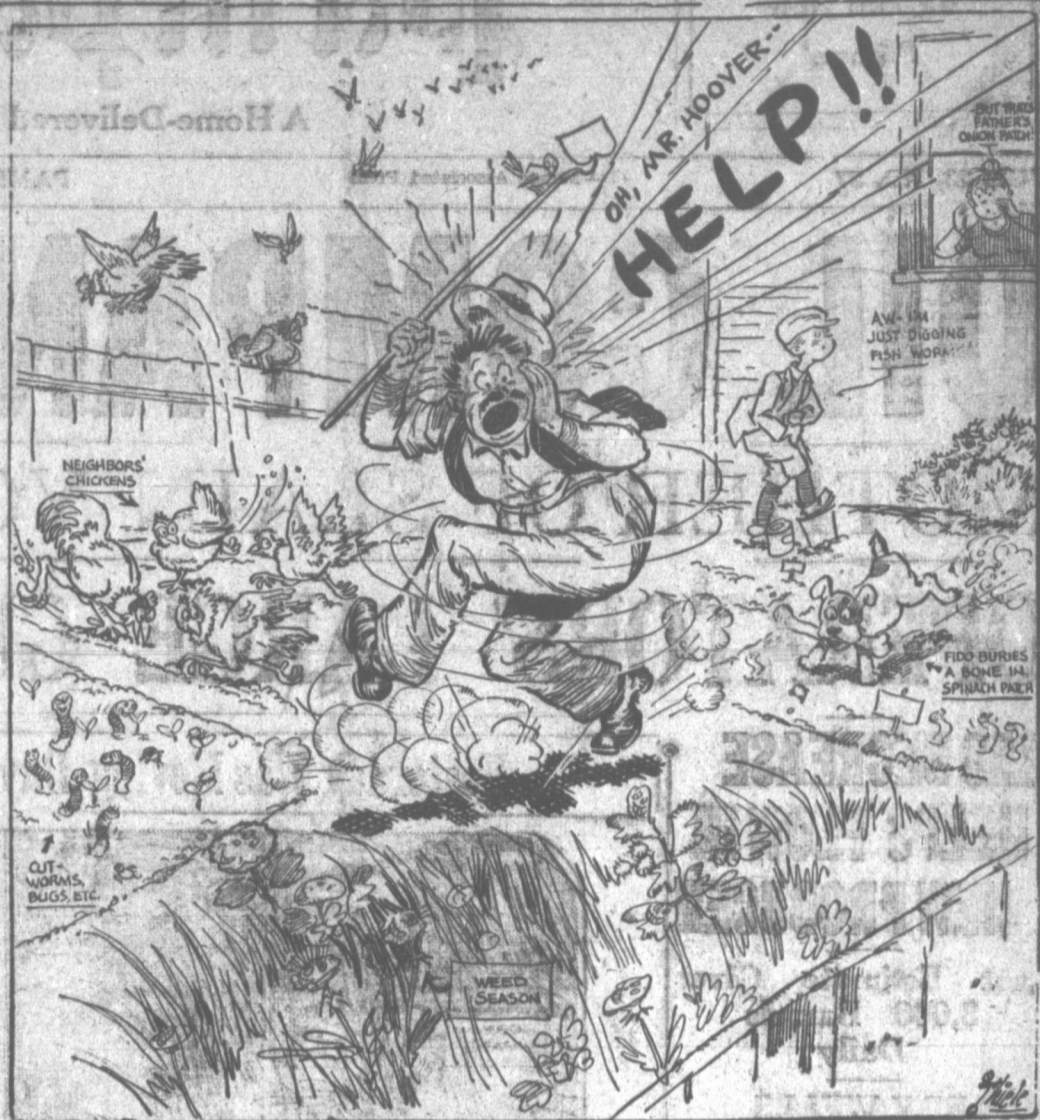

Those who are continually criticizing those who make money and achieve prominence will get lots of satisfaction out of the thought that Sinclair is spending the summer in jail.

It looks as if Pampa might become a popular terminus for a new railroad. That's encouraging, but we want the road to be somewhere or from somewhere—not a spur proposition.

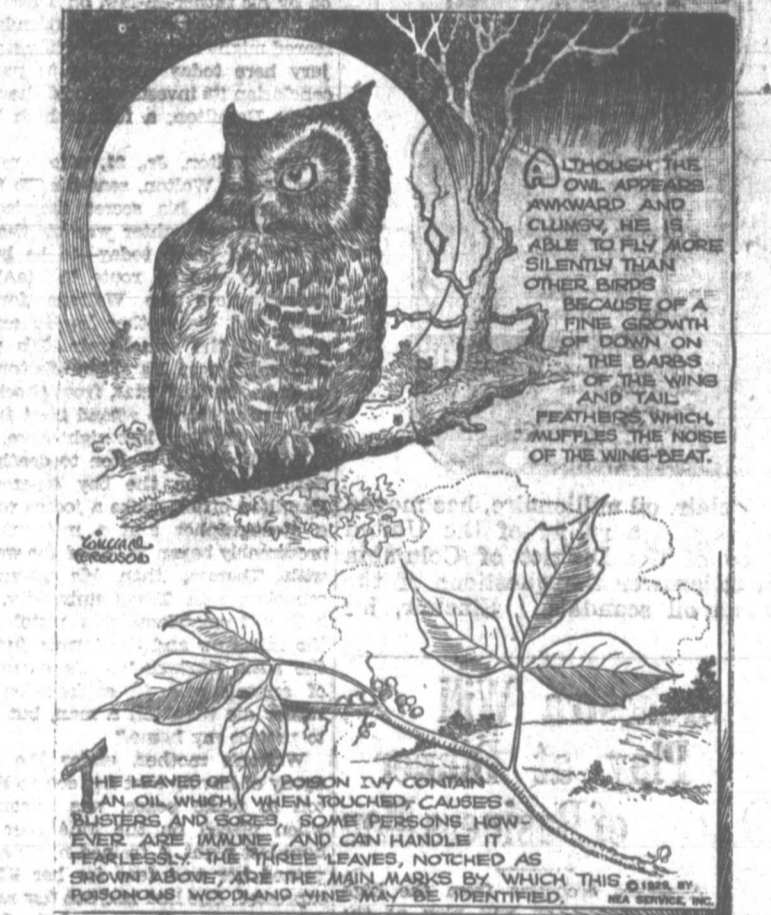

It is a mean thing to come right out and call graduation what it is—commencement, but this is an age of realism.

Eighty-nine per cent of all trains arrive on time, it is claimed. And most of us travel during the rest of the time.

And Eventually We Trust Congress Will Get Around to Relieving "City Farmers" a Bit!

CHURCHES

FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH

The singing at the revival service last night at the First Christian church was enjoyed by all. O. Fred Hanna gave the audience the privilege of selecting the songs, and many requests were made, sometimes three songs being called for at the same time. The selections varied from the old songs of other generations to the latest. Some of those sung last night were "When the Roll Is Called Up Yonder," "My Savior's Love," "I Choose Jesus," "All Hail Immanuel," was rendered by the chorus choir in good voice, and was very inspiring. Mr. Hanna sang as his solo, "I Am The Child of a King." Many were heard to say this was the most impressive solo he has sung during the meeting. Mrs. Hanna continues to render invaluable assistance to her husband in his solo work and to the choir.

Evangelist A. G. Smith spoke on "The Rivers of Damascus" selecting as a text Second Kings the fifth chapter and the twelfth verse: "Are not Abanah and Pharpar, the rivers of Damascus better than all the waters of Israel?"

He briefly reviewed the story of Naaman the leper, captain of the host of the king of Syria who left his home and went down into the land of Israel in search of the prophet Elisha who told him to go and dip seven times in the River Jordan, and Naaman raised the question of the text.

The evangelist said, "Naaman is a type. Like Naaman we have our preconceived notions and ideas of things." He then spoke of the various ways in which men and women conceive ideas regarding things before they see or experience them, and yet when they find things to be entirely different that was expected will not adjust themselves to the reality of the thing. He then took up illustrations showing that the question of religion is not an exception, and spoke of the false ideas and conceptions about the Bible and its teaching. "Like Naaman we cling to our preconceived ideas. It is hard to get around them."

"The second thought we get," said the evangelist, "is that Naaman invented his own way of being healed. It was hard for him to obey; he wanted to substitute. 'Are not Abanah and Pharpar, the rivers of Damascus, better than all the waters of Israel?' When he obeyed healing came. If you will do what God commands you will enjoy what he promises."

Evangelist Smith will deliver another chart sermon tonight at 8 o'clock. His subject will be "The New Birth." Mr. and Mrs. Hanna will contribute to the musical part of the service. The general public is cordially invited.—Contributed

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

Interest continues to grow in the revival meeting of the Baptist church. Dr. W. Y. Pond, superintendent of evangelism for Texas Baptists, is doing the preaching. He brought a stirring message last night to a congregation intensely interested in the sermon theme, "Bed too Short, Blanket too Narrow." Three people united with the church at the close of the sermon.

The Booster chorus is in the midst of a close contest. The two sides of the chorus are named "Ford" and "Chevrolet" respectively. In this mileage contest speed and distance are measured by attendance of the members, the attendance of their parents, and the quality of the singing of the Boosters on the sides. This chorus alone gives a program worthy of the attendance of everyone in Pampa.

This evening at 8 o'clock Dr. Pond will conduct a special service for the men of Pampa. Everyone is invited to the service, but the message will be directed especially to the men in the audience; single men, married men, husbands, sons, fathers, and sweethearts should hear this message this evening. The subject will be: "A Duck-Legged Jew Up a Tree."

Services are being conducted each day in the auditorium of the new church building at 10 a. m., and at 8 p. m. A street service is conducted on the corner of Foster and Cuyler streets at 9 o'clock each afternoon. The public is hereby given a cordial invitation to attend all of these services.—Contributed

Production Is Steady in Nation

TULSA, Okla., May 7. (AP)—Estimated daily average of production of light and heavy oil in the U. S. for the week ending May 4, was 2,647,704 barrels, remaining very constant in comparison to the average of 2,647,309 barrels set for the week ending April 27, according to the current report of the Oil & Gas Journal.

The total for the week ending May 4 was an increase of but 395 barrels over the preceding week. This was solely due to heavy oil production increases as light oil decreased 17 barrels over the last period.

Oklahoma was the only area showing an increase. With a total increase of 13,145 barrels reported in the Seminole field the state registered an increase of 12,515 barrels.

West Texas fields, declared the greatest potential producers in the country, decreased 940 barrels, while the entire Mid-Continent area showed an increase of 12,778 barrels.

Decreases in light oil production in the individual fields throughout California brought a total decrease of 19,500 barrels in that area. Gulf Coast heavy oil increased approximately 4,000 barrels. The eastern area in light oil showed an increase of 1,500 barrels. Rocky Mountain 5,205.

"Alibi" Is Called New Sensation of Sound Pictures

Marking the most forward step yet made in the new art of talking and sound pictures, "Alibi," United Artists all dialogue underworld thriller, is coming to the Rex theatre Sunday.

No motion picture in recent years has aroused as much enthusiasm from audiences as "Alibi," for it gives an entirely new conception of sound film technique, offers the most thrilling plot of any underworld story, and presents the greatest array of stage favorites ever assembled in one production.

"Alibi," produced and directed by Roland West, who has to his credit such successes as "The Bat," "The Unknown Purple," "The Monster" and "The Dove," is based on the stage play, "Nightstick," which enjoyed long runs in New York, Los Angeles and other cities.

In making "Alibi," the first all-talking thriller to come out of the huge United Artists studios in Hollywood, West was particularly well equipped for the job, for he enjoyed years of experience as a stage actor, playwright and producer before he pioneered in the films. In "Alibi" he also had the advantage of using the world's most modern talking picture plant, recently completed on the United Artists lot, and a cast of stage favorites, every one of whom has a voice that registers perfectly.

"Alibi," adapted for the screen by C. Gardner Sullivan, is described as a powerful story of crooks, police, gay night life and love. Although heralded as a melodrama, the picture contains some of the biggest laughs of the year, and also gives the world a couple of sensational new musical hits, written especially for the production.

Among the players in "Alibi" are Chester Morris, former New York stage star, whose performance in his first picture may make him a screen star overnight; Eleanor Griffith, another New York star who has never before appeared on the screen; Pat O'Malley, Mae Busch, Harry Stubbs, Regis Toomey, Purnell B. Pratt, Kerman Cripps, Irma Harrison, James Bradbury, Jr., Al Hill, De Witt Jennings and Elmer Ballard.

To Be Minister

DARELLE ELSABUSH

MINDEN, Iowa. (AP)—Fulfilling a wish expressed by the mother, who now is dead, Miss Darelle Elsabush, 20, expects to be an ordained minister within four years.

Until two years ago she expected to make music her career, and has studied to that end. Now she hopes her musical knowledge will help her in the pulpit. She drew large audiences a few months ago when she substituted for the pastor of the Community Congregational church.

She doesn't expect to be more capable in the minister than a man, but thinks "there may be instances when my understanding will be greater."

Lives of young people today are more serious than those of their parents and the younger generation has been maligned, she believes.

Jury Selected in Trial of Preacher

LAMESA, May 7. (AP)—Evidence which resulted in the indictment of the W. E. Duke, 45, Baptist minister and storekeeper, for the murder of J. A. Cox, 29, was ready for presentation to a jury here today. The twelfth juror was selected at a session last night.

Cox was shot an skilled at Duke's store at Klondyke, near here, Feb. 6, last. Questions asked veniremen by defense counsel concerned the right to "use violence in protecting the chastity of one's home."

Cox was shot and killed at Duke's of several children. Mrs. Duke, 38, is the mother of five children, the eldest 18 years old.

On the jury to try the minister are six of his own faith, two of whom are former members of congregations he has presided over.

The minister sat calmly through selection of his jury. He smiled only twice, when he became amused at answers of veniremen.

Utilities Bill Is Up in Committee

AUSTIN, May 7. (AP)—The senate committee on state affairs and the house committee on municipal and private corporations utilized more time last night without concluding its hearing on the public utilities regulatory bill.

R. M. Kleburg of Corpus Christi, past president of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers' association, and Dayton Moses, general counsel for that organization, opposed the inclusion of natural gas as one of the utilities to be regulated.

Moses, who said he was speaking for a class of people which was the largest potential gas-developing group in Texas, contended regulation would hamper development of that commodity.

Dr. William J. Cooper, United States commissioner of education, will conduct classes on federal and state or regulation at the University of Southern California this summer.

Mrs. Secretary of the Treasury

Nowadays it is becoming more and more the practice, particularly among the younger people, to regulate expenditure of income by the budget system. To the wife is delegated the task of keeping the family expenses within set limits—she is the real secretary of the family treasury. She must count the pennies and stretch them to their utmost buying power.

The modern woman knows how to make a dollar purchase one hundred cents' worth of value. She reads the advertisements in her daily newspaper and notes what is being advertised that she needs. She scans them closely to know what is newest and best in clothes, in foods, in utilities that will make the home work easier, the little luxuries that will make it more comfortable. Yet her purchases are regulated by the budget—advertising helps her to keep within bounds.

Such is the value of advertising to the woman in the home. It is her faithful adviser, ever ready to tell her what, when and where to buy and how much to pay.

Ex-Sheriff Feels 20 Years Younger

"I am 63 years old. Take a man my age, down and out physically, and let him find some medicine that puts him on his feet, feeling 20 years younger, like Sargon did me, and he is going to tell about it," said Henry C. King, 212 West 11th St., Oklahoma City, an "old timer" who for 50 years as cattleman and deputy sheriff has maintained a reputation as a "straight shooter."

HENRY C. KING

"I drove cattle 50 year ago over the old Chisolm Trail from Texas to Dodge City, 'sleeping out' five solid years. Then the boys made me a deputy sheriff. I was a pretty good man physically."

"When I saw myself begin to get old and puny a few years ago, I was really ashamed. I began to try nearly every medicine I ever heard of to get me straight but I couldn't get anything to do me any lasting good."

"Then, I tried Sargon, and it soon had me feeling twenty years younger! Today, two months since I quit taking Sargon I feel just as good. A friend met me the other day and said 'why Henry, somebody told me you had been sick. He must have been mistaken. I never saw you looking better.'"

"We old timers learned to help one another so I want people to know what Sargon did for me. I couldn't digest anything I ate, my skin was yellow and spotted, and I was so weak that when I lay down I didn't care whether I got up or not. I never had a natural action of my bowels, and had to get up all during the night on account of my kidneys."

"Sargon made me gain fourteen pounds, I eat more and digest it with no trouble; my kidneys have stopped bothering me and my bowels are regular as clockwork; and mind you it has been two months since I quit taking it."

Sargon may be obtained in Pampa from Fatheree Drug Co.; and in McLean from Erwin Drug Co.—Adv.

Courthouse Work to Be Resumed

Work on Gray county's new courthouse here will be resumed next week, according to Art Jaynes, construction superintendent of the H. L. Case Construction company. The beginning has been delayed more than a month because of the lack of steel, which had to be shipped from Pennsylvania.

Two cars of steel arrived here last night and unloading was started this morning. Another car is on the way here and upon its arrival work will start, Mr. Jaynes says. Three cars of brick arrived yesterday and are being unloaded. Several cars of terra cotta for the first floor of the structure have been shipped. One of them arrived here this morning.

"When we once get started on the job it will be rushed to completion," Mr. Jaynes said this morning.

Opening 1-2 to 1 3-4 off. Chicago later showed additional downturns. Corn started at a shade to 3-4 decline, but afterward scored gains. Oats held about steady. Provisions were firmer.

Intangible Tax Protests Heard

AUSTIN, May 7. (AP)—Telephone, telegraph and bus line companies last night appeared before the house revenue and taxation committee to protest a revenue raising bill by Rep. T. N. Maurits Ganado, placing an intangible tax on all business organizations enjoying the right of eminent domain.

Under the present intangible tax law of federal and state taxes on its Texas properties. Nelson Phillips, Dallas, general counsel for the southwestern Bell Telephone company, said his organization was opposed to the Maurits bill because it would place a dual tax on the company, which now is taxed on its gross receipts. He said the company annually was paying $2,600,000 annually for federal and state taxes on its Texas properties. C. B. Braught, engineer for the Western Union Telegraph company, Joseph F. Nichols, Mayor of Greenville, and J. M. Nelson, attorney for Texas bus lines, also protested the intangible tax.

RICH GIRL POOR GIRL by RUTH DEWEY GROVES

"THIS HAS HAPPENED—MILDRED LAWRENCE meets STEPHEN ARMITAGE when he resumes his job at the bank. Their friendship grows until PAMELA JUDSON, daughter of Mildred's employer, tries to lure him away from her. HUCK OGDEN, 'becomes' acquainted with PAMELA and she plays both men off against each other. When Stephen continues secretly Mildred, Pamela tells him she is trying to marry Harold for his money. He defends the girl on Pamela cables her father to discontinue her. Harold tries to have Mildred arrested but she pleads with Pamela succeeds in poisoning Stephen's mind against Mildred and the latter for a dreary day is sent to work. Then Pamela writes to Mildred and tells her when he objects tells him she and Stephen are engaged. She tells Mildred that the only way she can get rid of Huck and plead with him to confirm the engagement. Huck commands Harold to prevent Pamela's marriage to Stephen under fear of exposure concerning a forged check. Harold tells him he can't force Pam on Huck plans to disown Stephen. A prospect guarantees to buy a new model car if Stephen can make it in the country for the demonstration. After the test the man says he is satisfied but wants to 'stop at a friend's house on the way back.' Stephen takes his trip and the car is stolen from him. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXVI WHEN Mr. Mettle, red-faced and highly agitated, banged up the receiver after talking to Stephen he whirled about in his chair and ordered his secretary to get the insurance people on the wire immediately. Shortly thereafter they sent Carl Short, one of their best men, and Mr. Mettle went over all that he knew of the theft. The investigator listened in silence, not once interrupting him. But when the irate manager sputtered to the end of his recital the other began to ask questions. Did Mr. Mettle know anything about J. B.'s place? He didn't. Short said quietly. Mr. Mettle looked startled. "A hangout for gangsters," Short went on; "smaller fry." Mr. Mettle began to sputter again. What was Armitage doing in such a place? "Precisely," the investigator nodded. "He'll be here before long." Mr. Mettle believed with a thought in his mind that foreshadowed an uncomfortable foreboding for Stephen. "I told him to come in as soon as the police were through with him." "That may not be for an hour yet if they know anything out there about J. B." the other said, glancing at his watch. Then he looked at Mr. Mettle's secretary. She was unfrantically listening. He asked her to go to another room. "Now let's have the history of the young man," he said when she had nervously taken her departure. "Well," Mr. Mettle began, thinking back over Stephen's record, "he came to me from a firm in Indiana, pretty well recommended. Just one mark against him. He got a fool idea about trusting people that resulted in the theft of several bars."

Ranger Captain Raps Trial Judge

AUSTIN, May 7. (P)—Taking exception to Judge George Calhoun's charge to a Travis county grand jury in which he quoted the constitution as a guarantee against illegal search, Captain Frank Hamer of the State Rangers today openly criticized the jurist.

"I don't see why he did not say 'turn the bootleggers out of jail, put them on the back, and indict the officers,' and be done with it," Hamer stated. Asked if he would keep up his railing, he replied:

Moody Attacks Prison Status

BRYAN, May 7. (P)—Governor Dar Moody of Texas today carried his fight for prison reform and a comprehensive state highway program before the closing session of the third annual East Texas Chamber of Commerce convention.

Without endorsing any of the schemes now under consideration to accomplish those ends, the governor attacked present prison conditions and the present highway building machinery of the state. The prison system drew most of his fire, since it is for the most part in east Texas. He asserted the penitentiary system now loses in the neighborhood of $500,000 a year and it should be rebuilt into a self-supporting system designed to reform and not to manufacture criminals.

SINCLAIR—

commitments papers and went for a conference at the jail with its superintendent, Maj. William L. Peak.

Believing Sinclair's arrival near, a crowd gathered at the door of the jail moved restlessly to vantage points but even then he took them by surprise. Through the murky rain three cars approached at 8:45 and out of the middle one stepped the oil man accompanied by E. W. Sinclair, his brother, and G. T. Stanford, a lawyer. His only luggage was two handbags.

Flashlights greeted him and newspapermen crowded about as the trio stepped from the machine. Sinclair, visibly nervous and affected, stumbled, slowly, and apparently hesitatingly. He was met at the door by the federal marshal.

"Glad to See You"
"I am glad to see you, Mr. Sinclair," Snyder said.

"How do you do, Mr. Snyder," the oil man replied.
He was taken to the superintendent's office, where, with his two companions, he was closeted for about 15 minutes while being acquainted with the jail regulations and given his number.

"I don't suppose you are used to getting up as early as we do here?" Major Peak inquired.

"What time?" Sinclair asked.

"Oh, well, I guess I'll get accustomed to the routine in a couple of days," Sinclair answered.

Major Peak then informed the prisoner he would be confined in the east wing with about 60 other short-term prisoners and the prisoner-clerks. The prisoners in that wing sleep in one long room, army style.

Has No Statement
As they emerged from the superintendent's office, a jail official announced the 33-year-old prisoner had nothing to say to the press. Sinclair then followed the captain of the guard into the center of the hall which is to be his home for three months.

His brother and his attorney walked out without further words either to the oil man or to those who thronged the entrance.

Inside the 70-year-old structure, the wealthy prisoner found a warmth that belies the appearance of its gloomy exterior. Flower gardens dot the lawns wherever room can be found for them and curtains frame the windows. The oil man will find life simple. Daily, upon arising, he will straighten the covers on his iron cot and then present himself for breakfast. A long day of work will follow and then supper, after which he will have a short period for recreation.

But the recreations afforded will offer a wide contrast to the outside diversions of operating a racing stable and engaging in the myriad other pleasures of the wealthy. Checkers, dominos and a few books, most of them mystery stories and outdoor adventure tales, in addition to the Bible, are the principal equipment of the community recreation room.

Pastor's Young Daughter Tells of Events Leading Up to Lamesa Killing

LAMESA, May 7. (P)—Seventeen-year-old Elmo Duke testified here today in the trial of his father, the Rev. W. E. Duke, 45, a storekeeper and Baptist circuit preacher, charged with slaying J. A. Cox, 29, filling station proprietor, at Klondyke.

The youth told how he and his father had hidden on their hands and knees behind cotton bales on a "painfully cold February night" and had watched their home to see if Cox visited Mrs. Duke, 38.

Cox was slain at a filling station across the road from Duke's home on the night of Feb. 6.

"On the morning before Mr. Cox was killed that night, daddy told mother he was going to Abilene and wouldn't be back until about 10 o'clock that night," Elmo testified.

"My 14-year-old sister and I went in the car with daddy to Lamesa where sister and I went to high school. Before I left him that morning daddy told me it was getting late and that he might not go to Abilene. He said he had heard that Mr. Cox was offering insults to mother and that he had known of it for about 10 days.

"Daddy had been informed that Cox was bothering our home. He said we couldn't take anybody's word, and that we had to find out for ourselves. He said he would like to have me there because he was afraid we kids might blame him for being too hasty if one of us didn't go with him.

"I met him near Lamesa at 7:30 that night and we drove to a field a mile from the store in Klondyke. We walked across the field to some cotton bales near the gin and stayed there sitting on our hands and knees for about an hour, watching the gin. Daddy had a pistol and I carried the 12 gauge shotgun. He had loaded the shotgun with buckshot.

"We decided I should go get the car and shine the lights on the house. Daddy said he would be near the large ice box on the front porch of the store and that if Mr. Cox was in the house he wouldn't come back. There were no lights in the store or in the back room where the family lived.

"When I got back with the car I saw a dark object in front of the store. It looked like a body. Daddy and mother were standing in the door. He had the gun in his hand, and mother was crying."

Rodney Dutcher's Daily Washington Letter

AT the nation's capital, NEA Service, world's greatest news-picture and feature organization, maintains a capable staff headed by Rodney Dutcher.

A highly qualified and thoroughly experienced political reporter, the representative of millions of newspaper readers, Rodney Dutcher each day writes an interesting and illuminating Washington letter.

Informative and chatty, the Dutcher Washington letter gets beneath the surface of the news and interprets governmental happenings in an entertaining manner. Those who follow it each day know that it is not necessary to be dry in order to be accurate.
