Pilot Killed In Crash Near Midland

MIDLAND — Landon Cole Reed, a 26 - year-old Odessa man, was killed early today in the crash of a single-engine plane about four miles northwest of the Midland - Odessa Regional Air Terminal. He had filed a flight plan from Hobbs, N.M., to Midland and apparently was preparing to land at the air terminal.

Civil Aeronautics Board and Federal Aviation Agency officials are investigating the crash.

The control tower at the air terminal had received radio communications from Reed when the plane, a Piper Cherokee, was about eight miles from the runway. Officials said the tower had given Reed routine landing information, which he acknowledged. Within the next few minutes, according to reports, the plane's lights disappeared and the control tower called for a search. The crash apparently occurred about 12:30 a.m.

The plane which was owned by Hank's Flight Center, Midland, was located about 3 a.m. in the extreme northwest section of Midland County. Reed had apparently been thrown from the craft, which did not burn. John Biggs, Midland justice of the peace, pronounced Reed dead at the scene.

The body was removed to the Newnie W. Ellis Chapel in Midland. Arrangements are pending, but are expected to be in Abilene.

Abandon Ship

LONDON (AP) — Fire broke out aboard the 5,000-ton Norwegian cruise ship Blenheim today, forcing her 98 passengers and most of her crew of 80 to abandon ship in the middle of the North Sea. One passenger was reported injured.

A skeleton crew stayed aboard to fight the fire, and tugs which arrived on the scene joined in the effort.

Two Danish fishing trawlers relieved the Blenheim's packed lifeboats of about 65 of the passengers and took them to the Danish port of Esbjerg.

The sea was calm as a fleet of rescue ships, planes and helicopters converged on the scene 170 miles west of the Danish harbor of Tyboron. The armada was hurriedly summoned from Britain, Scandinavia and the Netherlands.

Named In Murder

MIDLAND, Tex. (AP) — William B. Nichols, 31, Midland oil man, was charged with murder with malice today in the April 22 shotgun slaying of his wife.

Diane Nichols was found dead in her bed at the couple's fashionable residence.

Nichols was found in the living room with shotgun wounds in the abdomen. He was in satisfactory condition.

In a statement filed with Justice of Peace John Biggs, Detective Capt. Wayne Gideon said Nichols "shot his wife with a 12 gauge shotgun while she lay in bed. He then went into the livng room and shot himself with the same shotgun."

Mr. and Mrs. Nichols were prominent in Midland civic affairs.

Predicts Wallace Win

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Secretary of State John Rogers predicts that former Alabama Gov. George Wallace will win Oklahoma's eight electoral votes.

Both Democrats and Republicans hooted.

"I think he has been brainwashed," said Republican state Chairman Bud Stewart.

Rogers was the only Oklahoma official to attend the funeral for Wallace's wife, Alabama Gov. Lurleen Wallace.

State Democratic Chairman Bill Kerr also lowrated Rogers' prediction:

"I'm not sure Mr. Wallace is even going to be on the ballot."

More War Money

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson asked Congress today for an additional $3.9 billion to support military operations in Vietnam and South Korea.

The request for a supplemental appropriation for the fiscal year that ends June 30 would boost estimated defense spending during the 12 months to $76.2 billion—up from a January forecast of $73.7 billion.

Of the $3.9 billion in supplemental requests, the bulk would be earmarked for Vietnam. But $230 million would go to Korean operations and $300 million would be available to meet any now-unforeseen emergency needs that might arise in the next few weeks.

The figure of $3.9 billion is higher than the forecast $2.5 billion in actual spending in the current fiscal year because some of the appropriations sought would not actually be paid out until later.

Storms Give West Texans More Jitters

By The Associated Press

Towering thunderstorms stayed on the job of giving a big chunk of West Texas a case of jitters Monday night and early today.

Hailstones whitened the ground in places as the Weather Bureau issued one severe storm alert after another, and radar detection of a possible tornado as close as eight miles west of the Lubbock airport kept that area on the alert until 1 a.m.

GOLF BALLS

One of the heavier thunderstorms turned loose two inches of rain and hail the size of golf balls at Dougherty, between Floydada and Plainview.

The Weather Bureau relayed word of hail as big as hen eggs northwest of Lubbock near Shallowater. Hailstones not much smaller peppered down near Silverton, Matador, Dickens, Spur, Morton, Hereford and Canyon.

State police said there was no report of major damage early today, however.

A funnel cloud spotted 50 miles northwest of Clovis in Eastern New Mexico apparently was part of the same storm system.

BOILED UP

The turbulence boiled up in the evening as slightly cooler air moved southward to a weak pressure trough stretching along the Red River toward the west into New Mexico. Showers and thunderstorms popped up along and south of this line, spreading into parts of Oklahoma.

As the rough weather surged through the Panhandle-Plains toward the southeast, special warnings against hail and damaging winds went up at intervals for Armstrong, Donley, Dickens, Castro, Floyd, Motley, Kent, Swisher, Scurry, Fisher, Midland, Nolan and Lubbock counties.

FORECASTS

Forecasts called for recurring storms tonight and Wednesday in scattered areas of Northwest and North Central Texas. Occasional thundershowers were expected to dot the southern half of the state.

French Strike Wave Continues To Spread

Street Fighters Given Amnesty

PARIS (AP) — The French Cabinet, faced by an ever-expanding economic paralysis and the threat of parliamentary censure, decided today there should be no punishment for students charged with violence in the street fighting that led into the nation's strike crisis.

Summoned by President Charles de Gaulle, the ministers approved an amnesty bill at a 25-minute meeting. Information Minister Georges Gorse announced the bill, forgiving all charges against students except theft in the period between Feb. 1 and May 15, will be submitted to Parliament Wednesday for ratification.

CENSURE

Premier Georges Pompidou faced the National Assembly for debate on a censure motion expected to come to a vote Wednesday night. The governing Gaullist coalition expressed confidence it would survive the vote, but gave no indication what it would do about the workers' revolt for higher pay, shorter hours and job security.

Far from abating, the strike wave which has idled more than six million workers was still spreading. A Paris newspaper estimated about half of France's 16 million workers would be away from their jobs by nightfall.

Though its own staff showed up, the Paris stock market closed. It was announced the market could not function because of communications difficulties and a lack of orders.

INDIRECT

Indirect effects also hit Simca, a French automobile company controlled by the Chrysler Corp., of the United States. Simca closed its plants at Poissy and La Rochelle, employing about 30,000 workers. Management said the decision was due to a shortage of parts from subcontracting firms affected by strikes.

The strikes stopped trains, subways, buses, taxis and garbage collection in Paris and closed coal mines, airports and seaports. Some tourists were stranded. Lines formed at food and tobacco ships, banks and gasoline stations.

Amid a monstrous traffic jam in Paris, made worse by cars that were abandoned after running out of gasoline, few policemen were in sight. Although not on strike, many apparently stayed home.

THREAT

Facing the gravest threat yet posed to his 10-year-old Fifth Republic, De Gaulle has made no public statement since breaking off a visit to Romania Saturday and returning to the Elysee Palace. He is to address the nation on television Friday night, and there was no indication of what he planned for a situation strongly reminiscent of the turmoil that brought him back to power in 1958. Opposition political leaders conferred with trade union leaders Monday in preparation for their attempt in the National Assembly to oust Premier Georges Pompidou and his Cabinet.

The French Communist party called for an end to the De Gaulle regime and the formation of "a true republican regime opening the way to socialism."

A successful censure motion in Parliament would not oust De Gaulle, whose term runs until 1972, but would be a major setback to his policies.

DEMANDS

George Seguy, secretary-general of the big Communist-backed General Confederation of Labor, said in a speech that the striking workers will present their same demands to whatever government is in office until they obtain satisfaction.

The French crisis began with a revolt early this month of university students demanding educational reforms. Despite a promise from Pompidou to meet these demands, the students launched round-the-clock sit-ins at most of France's universities, and last Tuesday night workers spontaneously took up the tactic to push their long-standing demands, beginning with an aircraft factory in Nantes.

Universities remain closed, and high schools in the Paris region joined the strikes Monday, with some teachers remaining on duty only to look after any pupils that showed up.

WALKED OUT

Eastern France, Alsace and Lorraine were least affected by the strikes so far, but the 25,000 men of the Peugeot auto factory at Sochaux, near the Swiss border, walked out.

What A Mess

Scavengers of Paris are also on strike and garbage is piling up daily in the streets. One of the most spectacular sites today is Les Halles district, known as "the belly of Paris," which may soon disappear under huge mountains of crates.

Campers Assigned To 'Vacant Seats'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Poor People's Campaign launched today its drive for congressional action on demands for jobs and income by sending delegations to the House and Senate.

About 75 persons left their campsite in Resurrection City, U.S.A., to attend House hearings on the problems of hunger. Ten more were dispatched to a Senate hearing on urban problems. Others were delegated to call on individual congressmen.

Apparently postponed was a scheduled walk from Resurrection City across the Potomac River to the grave of President John F. Kennedy in Arlington National Cemetery.

The demonstrators went to Capitol Hill after a combination pep talk and prayer meeting led by Jesse Jackson, a Chicago official of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference and "city manager" of Resurrection City.

Jackson preached the power of nonviolence and the need for the demonstrators to show their love and brotherhood for all.

A group of about 200 camp residents knelt and bared their heads, repeating after Jackson, "I am somebody. I am a child of God. I may not have any money but I am somebody."

Jackson told the assembled campers that anyone found in possession of alcoholic beverages on the campgrounds "either in his hand or his stomach" will be sent home immediately.

FILL SEATS

The Rev. Ralph David Abernathy, campaign leader, told a late Monday rally he wanted volunteers to fill all vacant seats in congressional hearings.

"Don't worry about dressing up, just go the way you are," the denim-clad Southern Christian Leadership Conference president told a cheering crowd of responsive residents. "We've been here a long time, it's time we do business."

Heavy Barrage Hits Hue Area

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnamese forces slammed 500 rounds of mortar and 100-pound rockets into four vital U.S. headquarters in the Hue area today in one of the heaviest coordinated shellings of the war.

Enemy infantrymen also attacked one of the headquarters but were repulsed, the U.S. Command said.

LIGHTER

The shellings followed a destructive rocket attack on a U.S. air cavalry division headquarters in the northern war zone Sunday. It too was attacked again today, but damage wa far lighter.

At least eight U.S. soldiers and 21 enemy were reported killed in the attacks near Hue. Another 51 Americans were wounded. In all four cases, headquarters said, material damage was either negligible or light.

At the same time, Viet Cong troops shelled three provincial capitals and two allied airfields —all but one in the Mekong Delta—inflicting at least 65 allied casualties.

Gen. William C. Westmoreland, commander of U.S. forces in Vietnam, said, "The intensity of the war seems to be increasing."

Asked if he thought this was deliberately timed with the Paris peace talks as part of a Communist command "talk and fight" strategy, Westmoreland said "circumstantial evidence" would indicate this.

Westmoreland's headquarters announced that thousands of American helicopter-borne infantrymen and paratroopers were on the move against North Vietnamese forces menacing Hue and Quangti City to the north in two newly announced operations to "seek out and destroy or capture enemy personnel, material and installations."

Both drives were launched last Friday, but the announcement was delayed for security reasons.

Results so far generally have been unspectacular, indicating once again that the enemy is picking the time and place to fight and resorting more and more to shellings. These are far less costly to the enemy in casualties, but often inflict serious damage to U.S. installations and aircraft.

The heaviest shelling today was on Camp Eagle, headquarters of the U.S. 101st Airborne Division's "Screaming Eagles," six miles southeast of Hue.

From midnight until dawn, enemy gunners poured in 300 rounds of mixed 82mm mortars, and Russian-made rockets that weigh 100 pounds and have a range of seven miles.

UNKNOWN SIZE

An enemy force of unknown size attacked the camp's perimeter for three hours. Headquarters said 21 North Vietnamese troops were killed. Eight paratroopers were reported killed and 51 wounded as a result of both the shelling and the ground attack.

Other Powers May Help With Talks

PARIS (AP) — Ambassador W. Averell Harriman conferred with Charles de Gaulle today amid increasing speculation that other powers may intervene with North Vietnam and the United States to assist Vietnamese peace negotiations.

Emerging from Elysee Palace, Harriman treated his visit purely as a courtesy call, saying he had thanked the French president for his hospitality to the American negotiating team. But U.S. officials believe that at some point De Gaulle may have an important role to play in encouraging accords to end the war.

SCHEDULED

North Vietnamese negotiator Xuan Thuy was scheduled to see De Gaulle later in the day.

A spokesman for Thuy slightly expanded Hanoi's public statements on how the next phase of the negotiations may develop —if the present first phase succeeds.

Nguyen Thanh Le told a news conference that if the United States ends the bombing and other attacks on North Vietnam his government would be prepared to discuss a political settlement for Vietnam based on the 1954 Geneva accords. Those accords ended the French-Indochina war and set up the division of Vietnam.

The talks were in recess again today. Harriman and Thuy meet Wednesday for their fourth session. Their last previous talk was Saturday. They have been here almost two weeks and have spent about 10½ hours together. Harriman has said he thinks the talks are going about as expected.

U.S. officias expect Britain, France and the Soviet Union to play some part in carrying the talks forward.

British Foreign Secretary Michael Stewart will fly to Moscow Wednesday to confer with Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko. The two men are co-chairmen of the Indochinese peace machinery created in 1954 and could be instrumental in arranging a peace conference if progress in the Paris talks ever warrants one.

Even more important, in the view of diplomats here, the Soviet government's influence on Hanoi. This is believed to have grown in the past year or so at the expense of Red China. As Peking's policy has fallen into the paralyzing grip of internal crisis, Vietnamese reliance on the Soviets is believed to have increased.

Harriman and Thuy meet again Wednesday, their talks having been in recess since Saturday.

French officials have been under orders to treat the talks with the cordial, hands-off courtesy of a host government which has no responsibility for the success or failure of the negotiations. U.S. diplomats believe that De Gaulle will stick to this posture but will be willing, if the need arises, to use French contacts and influence to help reconcile a difference or break a deadlock.

LIMIT SUPREME COURT

Close Vote Expected On Crime Control Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — A close Senate vote is expected on proposals to strip the Supreme Court of authority to invalidate confessions and restrict use of police line-ups.

Sen. Joseph D. Tydings, D-Md., scheduled to lead the attack against the proposals today, contends they represent "the most serious assault on the Supreme Court and the independence of the judiciary" in the nation's history.

IMPEDE POLICE

But Sen. Sam J. Ervin, D-N.C., urging their enactment, told the Senate Monday the Supreme Court has invented new, arbitrary and unrealistic rules that impede police in bringing criminals to justice.

The proposals are part of a broad crime-control bill which has been before the Senate for three weeks.

They provide that a confession be admissible as evidence in any federal criminal case when the judge decides it was voluntarily given.

A confession could not be ruled out just because of delay in arraignment after a suspect's arrest. Neither will it be invalidated because a suspect had not been advised by police of his right to remain silent or not advised to get a lawyer before questioning.

Under the proposals, federal courts would be denied authority to reverse a ruling of any state court admitting a confession in evidence as voluntarily given if this had been upheld by the highest court in the state.

Also, the bill provides that eyewitness testimony shall be admissible in evidence in federal and state criminal trials and bars the federal courts from reviewing the admission of such testimony in state trials.

OVERCOME

This is designed to overcome a Supreme Court ruling last year barring in-court identification of a defendant by an eyewitness to a crime if the original identification was made in a police line-up without a lawyer for the suspect being present.

Exiles Get Blame For Haiti Attacks

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti (AP) — Unidentified planes dropped four bombs on Port au Prince Monday without causing any damage and also attacked the city of Cap Haitien with bombs and a landing of armed men, officials said.

EXILES BLAMED

Haiti's ambassador in Washington blamed Haitian exiles and Cubans, and the Haitian consul in Miami, Fla., said, "More than 4,000 Haitian workers have been trained in Cuba for guerrilla warfare."

In Port au Prince, one bomb exploded near the palace of President Francois Duvalier. He was not hurt. Three other bombs, including one which hit the military airfield, did not explode, said Aubelin Jolicoeur of the newspaper Le Nouvelliste.

Ambassador Arthur Bonhomme said in Washington: "The planes which landed the armed men at Cap Haitien are on the ground, and the Haitian army believes it has surrounded the men who landed and has them under attack. We should know pretty soon who are the attackers."

Consul Eugene Maximilien said in Miami that reports late Monday night indicated the "exile men" who landed at Cap Haitien, 85 miles north of Port au Prince, were under siege but still holding their positions.

PREPARED

"We are prepared to receive any Communist invasion," he said, "because our country is not going to have the same fate as Cuba."

Jolicoeur said a B25 plane painted white, gray and red dropped the bombs on Port au Prince.

Little Girl Dies In Sand Pile

Police and firefighters probe through this huge sandpile searching for Mary Ellen McMahan, 10, who had been playing atop the pile and was buried when she slid from the top. They found her body too late, at the bottom of the 50-foot pile. Her Boston, Mass., playmates ran to summon help. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. John P. McMahan.

Commies Gain, Moro Nabs Win

ROME (AP) — Despite sizable Communist gains, Premier Aldo Moro's center-left coalition won a smashing 60 per cent of the total vote for Italy's Senate in complete returns today from Italy's general election. Returns for the Chamber of Deputies were running in the same pattern.

The three government parties —Moro's Christian Democrats, the unified Socialists and the Republicans—won a total of 183 of the 315 Senate seats, a gain of four and a comfortable majority of 51 in the upper house.

Moro's chief partners, the unified Socialists, lost ground but the third party in the coalition, the tiny Republican party, doubled its percentage of the vote and won seats in the Senate for the first time.

NEW GOVERNMENT

The Communists' allies, the Moscow-line Proletarian Socialist party, also gained. The conservative Liberals, the Fascists and the Monarchists all lost ground.

It was taken for granted that Italy's Socialist president, Giuseppe Saragat, would ask Moro to form a new government.

After the gains of the Communists and the Proletarian Socialist party, there will probably be a resurgence of demands by Socialist deputies for party leader Pietro Nenni to end his alliance with the Christian Democrats and link up with the extreme left. A showdown should come at the party congress in the fall.

The election results indicated a restoration of confidence in Moro's Vatican-backed Christian Democrats after losses in the last election five years ago.

Bank Robbery Case May Go To Jury Today

ABILENE — The case against Marvin McKinley (Rip) Morrison, alleged planner of the $12,000 bank robbery of the State National Bank in Big Spring last December was expected to go to the jury this afternoon.

At noon, lawyers were filing their final arguments, after two hours of testimony in which a Big Spring woman and two San Angelo men were called by the state.

Myrt Ward, Big Spring, told the federal court that she "believed" Morrison and his partner, Joe Frederick McDonald of West Virginia, came to her house on Dec. 12, the date of the robbery.

McDonald had said in testimony Monday afternoon that after the robbery, he and Morrison met at a Big Spring home to clean up before leaving the area.

Blanton Kiser and W. H. Nord, salesmen for Westside Motors in San Angelo, testified that Morrison came to the company one week after the robbery and bought a 1964 model convertible, for which he paid $1,360 — $300 in currency, and $1,060 in travelers' checks and money orders.

Two weeks earlier, the salesmen said, Morrison had come to the lot and looked at the same car but told them he did not have the money to buy it. At that time, the salesmen testified, Morrison told them he made his living as a professional gambler.

Morrison, 35, of Midland, a former Big Spring resident, pleaded innocent to any part in the armed holdup.

McDonald, 20, of Huntington, W.Va., said Monday he committed the robbery after receiving instructions from Morrison.

Defense attorney George Thomas of Big Spring indicated McDonald was seeking leniency.

McDonald, also convicted of robbery in West Virginia, claimed he is only trying "to do the right thing."

The West Virginian's courtpointed attorney, Bill Thomas of Abilene, said McDonald faces a 15-year state term for robbery and 10 years for revocation of probation.

McDonald testified he was taking drugs—dexamyl and seconal—when he entered the bank with a .38 caliber pistol and came out with $12,000 and president Robert William Currie as hostage.

The young ex-Marine said they drove in Currie's car to Gibson's Discount store on Scurry Street, where he struck the banker in the head.

There he met Morrison and they left in a 10-year-old station wagon purchased two days earlier, he said.

The $12,000 was divided at Morrison's Midland home, with each taking $5,500 and putting aside $1,000 to run the house, McDonald testified.

Later, they parted ways at San Angelo and McDonald returned to West Virginia, he said.

McDonald said he gave a statement concerning the Big Spring robbery after his arrest in Huntington on state robbery charges.

He was one of two witnesses called by Asst. U.S. Atty. Conard Florence. The other was Currie.

Currie said the bank robber, whom he tentatively identified as McDonald, first asked for $60,000, then $30,000, and finally agreed to take $12,000.

The banker, head of State National for 16 years, said the gunman appeared nervous. When struck on the head, he said he told his assailant, "I'm not going to lie here and let you beat me to death."

McDonald, who never said where he obtained the dexamyl and seconal, was on the stand over two hours Monday—much of it under cross examination.

A jury of eight men and four women is hearing the case.

Absentee Voting Due Wednesday

Absentee balloting in the Democratic run-off primary will begin Wednesday at the office of County Clerk Pauline Petty.

This time it is a case of short ballots and shorter one. Voters in boxes voting in Commissioners Precincts 1 and 3 will have a choice of nominees there as well as for the governor's office. But in all other boxes, only the governor's race is listed.

An interesting sidelight of the absentee voting is that while not much interest has been generated by the primary run-off, there is increasing interest in the general election. Inquiries have been received principally by persons overseas, especially those in service.

Texas Jobless Claims Decline

"Unemployment claims activities for April continued to decline," R. L. Coffman, Texas Employment Commission administration, announced today.

This includes interstate claims which are paid by TEC as an agent to workers having earned wage credits in other states but who are currently unemployed and residing in Texas. Claims were 11,600 under the March figure in spite of two additional reporting days in April.

"The $2,439,894 paid to unemployed workers in April by TEC was a quarter of a million less than the March total," Coffman said.

Senior Class Recognized During Awards Assembly

Awards were presented to graduating seniors and the entire senior class was recognized at the annual senior awards assembly this morning in Big Spring High School auditorium.

Invited to the assembly were members of the junior class, the seniors' parents, and their guests. Students were in charge of the entire program.

Three top awards were presented, in addition to other commendations. Annelle Fitzhugh and Steve Anderson were presented the American Legion awards, given traditionally to an outstanding senior boy and girl, and Linda Janet Allison was presented an award from Don Womack, representing Texas Electric Service Company, for her attendance at the Science Youth Conference on the Atom in Chicago, Ill., last fall.

Saturday is the club's annual mop and broom sale in the Coahoma and Sand Springs areas. They also will be carrying dust cloths and other cleaning helps when they knock on doors starting at 9 a.m.

Joe Swinney said that the effort would continue all day until the Lions run out of materials, territory or strength.

The mops and brooms come from the Lighthouse for the Blind, and part of the proceeds go to aid in sight conservation and blind work.

Delivering Less Water, Tiny Gain In Revenues

Colorado River Municipal Water District is delivering less water but showing a slight gain in revenues. This conflicting situation is easily explained — the sales to oil companies have more than taken up slack lost in sharp declines to member cities. But when the May report comes with revenues from April sales, not even oil company sales will hold the advantage.

The reason for all this is the continuation of a most unusual winter and spring—cool and wet. Consequently, demands from Odessa, Big Spring and Snyder have fallen down and stayed down. May seems to be starting out in the same pattern.

Through April, sales to member cities amounted to $447,968 against $461,000 for the first four months a year ago. Total water deliveries amounted to 3,281,926,000 gallons, or down 289,000,000 gallons, and 288,000,000 of the loss was to member cities.

Total revenues for the first four months amount to $903,044 against $867,289 for the same period last year. Total operating expense for the period was $268,512 as compared with $282,254 for the first four months of 1967. The excess of $654,513 of revenues over operating charges goes to the revenue (bond) fund.

DEATHS

Services Today For Mrs. Creamer

COLORADO CITY (SC)—Mrs. Ethel Creamer, 82, died at 3:15 a.m. Monday in the Root Valley Fair Lodge in Colorado City after several months illness.

Plans For Fall Festival Shape

Aug. 25 may seem a long way off, but parishoners of the Sacred Heart Catholic Church figure it is none too soon to begin pushing for their fall festival.

Plans for the gala event, with its concessions, food booths, games, music and dancing, are taking shape. One reason for the early start is promotion of an ambitious project of giving away a Mustang automobile in connection with the event. Members of the Sacred Heart Youth Center are taking the lead in this.

MS Funds Drive Scheduled Today

The community-wide canvass of the Howard County Multiple Sclerosis Society will begin today at 5:30 p.m., according to Mrs. Spike Dykes, chairman.

Mrs. Dykes said that 30 neighborhood captains would be distributing information about multiple sclerosis and accepting contributions to the society.

Assisting area housewives with this effort will be members of the Boy Scouts, the Jaycee-Ettes and Beta Sigma Phi.

Hints From Heloise

Dear Heloise:

I am a commuter and often found waiting a bore — until I learned about paperback books.

I tear them in halves, thirds and yes, sometimes even fourths! You wonder why?

Well, they can be tucked in a coat pocket or in a purse with no added bulk. Not only does it give me something to do while going back and forth, but at least this is one way to get my reading done.

HELOISE

I even tore up one of your paperback hint books, my dear friend, passed it around to my co-workers and we traded fourths every two days. That made me lots of new friends in the office!

How about that? . . . Devoted

• • •

One paperback book I bought was very thick. I found it was even easier to read this way because lots of us like to turn those little books backward so they are more simple to hold onto . . . Heloise

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

Dear Heloise:

Your article about putting little butterflies on glass sliding doors to keep friends from walking right through the doors amused me. I have been trying to imagine what it would be like to have this "problem."

We have eight children, and with 80 little fingerprints on the loose, our biggest problem with glass sliding doors is being able to see out without opening them! . . . Mrs. D. B.

• • •

Dear Heloise:

I often have trouble recognizing my tennis balls at the school courts. So I made stripes or pumpkin faces on all of them with a felt marking pen. Now my tennis balls are easy to spot. . . . Tyane Hennig

• • •

Dear Heloise:

I am no seamstress, but with three teenage daughters, I have become a "hemmer-upper."

I have been trying to do this job right but tonight, in desperation, I discovered a simpler and easier way.

I wanted to shorten the skirt of a six-year-old suit which had been shortened a time or two along the way. Now it had to be cut off and new binding sewn on.

Well, the stores were closed and I wanted to wear it that night. So I cut the skirt off and not having the binding, sewed around the rough edge twice in a loose basting stitch on the machine. Then I turned it up and hemmed as usual.

It's easier, faster, cheaper, and who will know? It looks just fine . . . Mrs. R. Layne

• • •

Just think of the working gals and wives who are going to save time and money using that one. You got a good cranium, honey chile! . . . Heloise

• • •

Dear Heloise:

When my children got too big for a car seat, I purchased a contour bed cushion — the kind without arms.

I turned this upside down for more height on the back seat of our car. Now my children are locked safely in their seat belts and sitting on a cushion big enough so they can see everything going on outside the car windows . . . Mrs. Gerald Kerr

• • •

Dear Heloise:

When brushing my felt hat, I use a slightly damp sponge. This seems to absorb all of the dust and dirt and the hat comes out beautifully.

Works on suede shoes, too . . . Mrs. W. F. Howard

• • •

Dear Heloise:

When you are wallpapering, put a toothpick in any nail hole you want to use again. Cut it off about 1/8 inch from the wall.

It will poke a little hole in the tender, wet paper and when the job is done, it's no problem to find the spot for that picture again . . . Mrs. J.T.K.

Heloise welcomes all mail, especially household hints which she can pass on to readers as space permits. However, because of the tremendous volume of mail she receives daily, Heloise is unable to answer all individual letters. She will answer readers' questions in her coumn whenever possible.

Make Small-Fry Pint-Sized Smock

If you have a young finger-paint artist in the family, keep his clothes free of the paint with a pint-size artist's smock. Ideal for this is a man's old cotton shirt. Cut the collar and sleeves off and finish with a machine stitch. Shorten the hem. The finished "smock" is worn backward. Pop in the washing machine with colored cottons.

TRANSPORTS ENTIRE COMPANY

Metropolitan Opera Week Set In Dallas

John Otis Cole of Big Spring has been named on the Southwestern Hospitality Board of the Metropolitan Opera Week in Dallas for the 1968 season. In this capacity he will assist in providing information about the operas to be presented by the New York Metropolitan Opera Company in Dallas June 6-8, and will serve as liaison between this community and the Dallas Hospitality Board in a special social activities planned for visitors to Dallas during that period.

For the first time in its history, the Metropolitan will transport its entire company, sets, costumes, props, orchestral instruments, everything — by air. Three jet-powered planes are scheduled to fly the 100-member cast, crew and properties from Memphis to Dallas for its three-day visit there June 6, 7 and 8.

The airlift will include sets for three new productions to be included in the Dallas season: Guiseppe Verdi's "Luisa Miller," Georges Bizet's "Carmen," and Charles Gounod's "Romeo et Juliette."

"Luisa Miller" will open the Dallas season at 8 p.m. on Thursday, June 6. This opera premiered at the Metropolitan Opera House in New York on Feb. 8 of this year as a benefit for the Metropolitan Opera Guild. Montserrat Caballe and Sherrill Milnes, as Luisa and her father, will repeat their highly acclaimed roles in the Dallas performance. Others to be heard in Dallas include Sandor Konya, Bonaldo Giaiotti and Ezio Flagello. Fausto Cleva will conduct.

The performance of "Carmen' on Friday evening, June 7, will begin at 7 p.m. in order to allow the annual Opera Ball to begin by 11. This production was premiered at the Met on Dec. 15, 1967, with three of the Dallas cast creating the roles of Carmen, Don Jose and Escamillo. They are Grace Bumbry, making her Dallas debut, Nicolai Gedda and Justino Diaz. Singing Micaela will be Mary Ellen Pracht, and Alain Lombard will conduct for the first time in Dallas.

The third new production is "Romeo et Juliette," Saturday afternoon, June 8 at 1:30 p.m. All of the principals will be the same as those in its opening performance in New York last Sept. 19. Mirella Freni will be heard for the first time in Dallas in the role of Juliet, with Franco Corelli as Romeo. Others include Marcia Baldwin, John Reardon, Jerome Hines and Raymond Michalski. Francesco Molinari - Pradelli will make his Dallas conducting debut.

He will conduct again on Saturday evening at 8 p.m. for "La Forza del Destino" with Gabriella Tucci as Leonora, Richard Tucker as Don Alvaro, Anselmo Colzani as Don Carlo and Fernando Corena as Fra Melitone. "La Forza" was last seen in Dallas in 1962.

Tickets for all four productions are now on sale at the State Fair box-offices in all Titche stores in Dallas, and may be ordered by mail through the Dallas Grand Opera Association, State Fair Box Office, P.O. Box 895, Dallas, Texas, 75221.

Silk Chiffon Needs Care

Silk chiffon receives its "hand" or "body" from the natural gum of the silk filaments. Rayon and other types of chiffon may be sized to give them the proper "hand." This sizing may be partially removed by successive wearings and drycleanings, leaving a limp fabric by comparison with the original. Some (not all) chiffons can be re-sized by your drycleaner.

Care should be taken to avoid brushing against rough surfaces. Chiffon snags very easily. It is woven with an open weave. It is so sheer and fragile the fine yarns pull easily. Yarn slippage and seam slippage are often a problem, too, if a garment is fitted too tightly.

This season fashion dictates pleated chiffon trim. Pleated trim is used at the neckline, cuffline and hemline in gowns for afternoon, cocktail and formal wear. There is a natural tendency for pleats to separate in chiffon garments unless they are heat-set in manufacture, and setting after wear and drycleaning.

Make Applesauce

Peel, core and thick-slice about two pounds apples into a saucepan. Pour in about a half pint light corn syrup. Cook over medium heat until apples are tender. Season, if desired, with cinnamon, nutmeg or other spices. Makes about three cups.

A Devotional For The Day

I am continually with thee: thou hast holden me by my right hand. (Psalm 73:23)

PRAYER: Heavenly Father, forgive me for attempting to face life in my own strength. I am confident that Your Son Jesus Christ can give me sure footing on the slippery path of life. He is my Redeemer and my strength. In the name of Him whose love holds me. Amen.

(From the 'Upper Room')

The Countryside Is Available

In few countries in the world is there such a contrast between the cities and the outlying countryside as in the United States. Get into an airplane. Fly over almost any American city and you will see the dense conglomeration of streets and buildings. Then lift your eyes to the horizon. In almost every instance you will see a landscape that appears largely uninhabited, green with woods or splotched with open fields. True, from time to time one glimpses another city or a town. But, for the most part, America is a vast, underpopulated stretch of open space, particularly outside those areas given over to intensive farming.

Particularly open for further population development are the vast areas of the Midwest and our own Southwest.

There should be some way that this vast reservoir of land can be used to make life more pleasant for those crowded into the city slum problem areas. Although the United States is now more than 70 per cent urban, only 18 per cent of Americans told a recent Gallup Poll that they would prefer to live in a city

Some extensive research ought to find a means to relocate millions in the countryside, or to permit these to live in rural areas while working in cities. This is a major program, but the nation would profit by it.

A first step might be to create a truly efficient transportation system from the city to the countryside, such as exists in countries like Japan and Great Britian. There are numerous localities in the United States where transportation systems like these, coupled with town planning, could transfer many people from the crowded cities to the freer air of the open countryside, at least for their living conditions.

Industry could be persuaded to relocation of some plants to smaller towns over America, to bring a dispersal of workers.

There is a challenge in this country to give thought to greater utilization of America's open spaces as one of the answers to the country's severe urban problems.

'JUST SAY I'M BUILDING A BETTER WORLD'

Time For Conventions

The Texas Election Code should be amended to fix precisely the time for precinct conventions. The time must be after, not before, voting in the first primary election has ended.

Strictly speaking, it is unlawful to hold a precinct convention before the polls close, since the right to attend that convention is predicated on having voted in the primary election. To hold a precinct convention in the middle of the afternoon of an election day is obviously unconstitutional.

But there is no practical legal recourse against a presiding election judge who decides to hold a precinct convention while the election is still under way. Theoretically it is possible to get out an injunction against holding the convention before the polls close. But a presiding election judge on election day is almost a law unto himself. He can simply refuse to obey an injunction. By the time a court could dispose of the case, it would be moot. The county, and perhaps even the state conventions would have been held before the case could be decided.

Therefore, the Legislature ought to fix a definite hour for the holding of precinct conventions. That hour must be set after the polls have closed.

Around The Rim

Gal's Eye-View Of Candidates

Women look at things a little differently. Not necessarily sensibly, you understand — just differently.

Politics, when looked at by the ladies at pre-convention kaffee klaches, can be a bit frightening, but a rather insecure political reporter, who cries a lot, tells me a little more levity is exercised at the polling places.

An eavesdropper who keeps a straight face can hear a lot of interesting viewpoints while looking in one direction and listening in another.

FOR INSTANCE, no single candidate (and by the way, it's unfortunate that there are not SINGLE candidates, because if there were, he'd be a shoo-in, what with every red-blooded American woman of doting age clawing her way to the polls.)

Where were we? Oh, yes. Naturally, no single candidate is going to be all things to all women, but let's see how the gentlemen are shaping up, so far, in the eyes of this important special interest group. Here we go.

McCARTY: "Welill, I don't know for sure. I mean, excitement isn't everything. He's a polite fellow and neat dresser. Don't think you'd have to worry about him saying the wrong thing, but it might be hard to get through an entire evening on small talk."

NIXON: "Now really, you've got to give credit where credit is due. A guy that will take all that abuse, and keep coming back. It's rather like having a man you can tongue-lash and still expect him home for dinner."

HUMPHREY: "Oh, he's sweet, bless his heart. Always looks on the bright side, too. You know, now that I think about it, he reminds me an awful lot of my father."

STASSEN: "I don't believe I caught the name. Is he somebody we should know?"

REAGAN: "You can't argue with looks. Like, face it, there's going to be some times when that's ALL you get on TV. Besides, I still get a little misty just remembering "King's Row."

ROCKEFELLER: "Money isn't the most important thing in the world but it's way ahead of what's in second place."

WALLACE: "Some of my best friends are Wallacites, but I don't think I'd want to. . ."

KENNEDY: "I don't care what you say, his stutter is sorta sexy—and I'm not at all sure I'm a one-man woman."

The Right Man In Paris?

WASHINGTON — "Ambassador W. Averell Harriman, our chief negotiator in Paris, isn't exactly deaf - and-dumb," said Vernon J. Veritas, the old truth - teller, "but he doesn't hear very well and at 76 he isn't any brighter than he used to be."

Mr. Veritas ought not to talk that way. Although afflicted with a cannot - tell - a - lie propensity, Mr. Veritas ought to measure his words "when discussing a distinguished public servant."

"AVERELL HARRIMAN," continued Veritas in measured tone, "is a very distinguished man. But the fact is he's so hard - of - hearing that President Kennedy wouldn't give him a job until Harriman agreed to wear a hearing aid — and that was more than seven years ago. Next to Henry Wallace, Harriman rates with the Washington press corps as the most absent - minded Secretary of Commerce we ever had — and that was back in the Truman Administration. As a one-term governor of New York, Harriman got beaten by Nelson Rockefeller who'd never run for office before. Even when backed by Harry Truman in 1956, Harriman didn't come close to winning the Democratic nomination. He's distinguished because of long and honorable service, but except in the controlled press of Federalia the Georgetown social circles, I never heard him referred to as being 'sharp'."

MR. VERITAS is a compulsive truth-teller and all that, but he should show more veneration for elder statesmen. Ambassador Harriman is over there in Paris to match wits with the Oriental inscrutability of Asian Communism, and we must hope he finds "peace" for Vietnam.

"It's much too late in history to venerate for the sake of veneration," Veritas replied. "This has not been a kindly political season for grand old men."

MR. VERITAS must be forgetting that Ambassador Harriman was the chief negotiator of the Nuclear Test Ban Treaty and that he was one of Franklin Roosevelt's Ambassadors to Russia.

"I wish I could — forget," Veritas declared. "Harriman's always boasting about initialing the Test Ban Treaty, and I know a lot of Americans who wish he'd been stricken with writer's cramp on that occasion. As for his term as Ambassador to Moscow, he's confessed that he never learned Russian, and it's certain that he never solved Josef Stalin. There just isn't a shred of evidence in Harriman's record that he's half the brain he's cracked up to be. I wish old Will Rogers were here."

MR. VERITAS had skidded off the subject. The name of Will Rogers hadn't been mentioned in this interview.

"No," said Veritas, "I don't have a slipping memory. I'm not off the subject at all. Will Rogers is the one who said that the USA never lost a war, but never won a peace conference. That's what worries me about Harriman in Paris. Another diplomatic triumph like Harriman's Test Ban Treaty, and we are undone," concluded the man who couldn't tell a lie.

Preston Smith Needs Conservative Support

(The following appeared Sunday, May 19, in The Dallas Morning News, written as an editorial column by Dick West, editor of the News editorial page. It is reprinted with permission of the author, and is offered in connection with The Herald's endorsement of Preston Smith as governor of Texas.)

EDITORIAL EDITOR
THE DALLAS NEWS

PRESTON SMITH faces an uphill fight to beat "my liberal opponent," Don Yarborough, in the June 1 runoff for governor.

He can win — and Texas can continue to have progressive but sound government — if conservatives vote. If they don't, then the Yarborough philosophy may move into the Mansion next January.

The mansion's present occupant, the Hon. John B. Connally, faced a similar situation six years ago. He led this same Yarborough confortably in the first primary — but in the runoff barely won by 26,000 votes.

Connally didn't go to sleep; he got 134,000 more votes in that runoff. But Yarborough really stepped up his total 221,000 and that is the present danger facing Smith.

The lieutenant governor cannot afford to sit down with a pencil, take his vote of May 4 and automatically assume he'll get Locke's and Carr's and part of Briscoe's.

A runoff is a new ball game. New issues are injected. Voting patterns change. Two men and two men only square off against each other and arrange new alliances, hunt new sources of funds and rush frantically to accomplish in only a few weeks the final objectives of the state's highest political contest.

BEFORE A GROUP of 200 Dallas businesmen one afternoon last week, Smith was frank and honest about the difficulty ahead:

"Gentlemen, there are enough conservatives and moderates to win this thing — if they vote. I can't get them out. You'll have to help me.

"The issue is simple. Either we turn this state over to the Yarborough liberals, or we continue the sound government fostered under Jester, Shivers, Daniel and Connally. In pledging to continue good government and in trying to win on June 1, I cannot promise miracles — but I can promise hard work."

Smith does work. Like Ben Barnes, another West Texan, he relies on shoe leather and the handshake.

From the time he announced last September until the first primary in May, Smith traveled 100,000 miles and made 1,200 speeches.

These talks averaged around 20 minutes each — which means he was on his feet 400 hours in taking his campaign to the people.

As a result, he led the field of 10 candidates the first primary in 112 counties. (Briscoe led in 66, Yarborough in 47, Carr in 21, Hill in 5, Locke in 5.)

He received individual contributions from 2,500 people, ranging from 50 cents in stamps to a check for $2,500 from a supporter he never met.

"These were little people," he reflected the other day. "Their giving was unsolicited — nobody pressured them. But they kept me in the race."

SMITH has never known anything but hard work.

He was born on a farm near Georgetown, grew up in a family which had 13 children, worked his way through high school at Lamesa and college at Texas Tech.

To get an education, he pulled cotton bolls, plowed, mowed yards, washed windows, ran a filling station and fixed a million flat tires for 15 cents each.

"I am sure," he reflected not long ago, "that this early lesson in the value of a dollar, or of 15 cents, made me very cautious when it comes to spending the people's money. Today people have to work too hard for their money and they pay too much in taxes to have it wasted in any way by their government on any level."

Anyone who grew up in West Texas during the depression can understand the effect of environment on a man like Preston Smith.

You had to be fired by ambition to fix a million flats for 15 cents each, or wash windows during the dust storms in the thirties. Chances are, the windows were just as dusty when you finished as when you started. I know, because I have washed too many of them in the same storms.

You worked, you saved and hoped for a better day. There was nothing else to do, because nobody else could take care of you. No Job Corps. No War on Poverty. No unemployment compensation.

The fortunate saved enough money at 50 cents an hour to enroll in college and stay a few weeks, trusting that something else would turn up to keep him there.

If Preston Smith is accused by the liberals of being too careful with the public's tax money, you must remember his environment and the age in which he grew up. To exist, you had to be careful about spending.

If he believes in a man making his own way and opposes unnecessary spoonfeeding by government, Smith's recent remarks are better understood:

"When the government becomes oversolicitous or overbearing, we are getting a taste of despotism. When government insists on taking over functions best performed by individual or corporate enterprise, we are getting a big dose of socialism."

AGAIN, this explanatory reminder about the June 1 runoff. A reader asks: Can you vote for Smith, if you did not vote in the May 4 primary?

The answer is yes. If you did not vote May 4, or sign a petition for George Wallace, you can still vote in the runoff.

Wallace Move Coming Soon

MONTGOMERY, Ala. — Early in June the third man will stride onto the national stage and his theme will be the deep discontents stirred by crime, violence, protest marches, student take-overs. George C. Wallace is convinced of a wave of reaction throughout America and he believes he will be on the crest of that wave in a position of power no matter what the outcome of the November election.

HE HAS JUST come through the kind of happening that could only happen in America, perhaps only in the South. Denied a second term as governor when the legislature refused to vote a change in the state constitution, Wallace had his wife, Lurleen, elected governor by the largest majority in Alabama history.

Mrs. Wallace, who won wide respect for her quiet humanity, developed cancer and during much of the nearly 18 months she served as governor endured the ordeal of repeated hospitalization for X-ray and cobalt treatment. She died on May 7.

TOWARD THE end of her life Wallace suggested to her that he give up the struggle for the Presidency. She replied, and this is certain in the weeks ahead to be an important part of the Wallace mystique, the Wallace legend, that he must go right ahead. Nothing must stop him because the people must have a choice and the two old parties would not give them a choice.

Since his wife's death Wallace has been in seclusion. But his organization has gone on gearing up for the national campaign to begin even before the two major parties hold their national conventions. Besides enlarging existing headquarters in one of Montgomery's new office buildings, a whole building is to be renovated for an expanded staff.

HIS CAMPAIGN manager, Bill Jones, says Wallace's name is already on the ballot in 22 or 23 states and he confidently predicts it will be on all 50 with the possible exception of one or two states, such as Ohio, where the law makes it extremely difficult for a third party candidate to qualify. Even in Ohio 100,000 of the required 433,100 voters have signed up and legal action may succeed in postponing the deadline for getting the rest. In at least a dozen states Wallace lawyers are combatting efforts to keep his Independent party off the ballot.

SO FAR, according to Jones, the Wallace campaign has cost $5,000,000. It will take up to another $20,000,000 before November. Where is the money coming from? A team of Wall Street Journal reporters is here trying thus far with little success to run down rumors of big money from the very rich. Jones insists that most of the money comes in small amounts, averaging $6,000 a day, plus the returns from taped television appeals run around the country that at least pay their own way.

WALLACE IS confident he will get a sizable vote in Northern states and most of this will come from the Democratic side. He believes, for example, that he will carry Indiana's northern industrial counties which Sen. Robert Kennedy swept in the Indiana primary.

He is also convinced that the candidates of the old-line parties cannot pre-empt his position which he sees as champion of the great middle mass in reaction against violence and upheaval.

Billy Graham

My Sunday school teacher told me something that was quite shocking: that the devil was an angel before he sinned. Is this true, and could you give me a Scriptural quotation? D.B.

Your Sunday school teacher is right. Satan was once a shining angel, but somehow evil in the form of pride came into his heart, and he was cast out of heaven. Read these words in Isaiah 14:12: "How art thou fallen from heaven, O Lucifer, son of the morning! How art thou cut down from the ground, which did weaken the nations. For thou hast said in thy heart, I will ascend into heaven, I will exalt myself above the stars of God . . . I will be like the most High. Yet thou shalt be brought down to the sides of hell."

Jesus said: "I beheld Satan falling from heaven." (Luke 10:18.)

The archaic image of Satan, with the forked tail, split hoofs, and horns is the figment of some medieval imagination, and not from the Bible. The Bible says that Satan comes to us as an "angel of light," trying to deceive the "elite" of God. He comes to us with clever guile, with rational argument, and natural temptations. But, his purpose is to destroy us and separate us from his enemy, God.

Yes, your Sunday school teacher is right. Satan is a fallen angel, and he seeks to tempt every man to join him in his fallen state.

Rickshaws To Go

NEW DELHI (AP) — Cycle-rickshaws and hand-pulled rickshaws will disappear from Indian roads in the next five years.

The labor ministry has circulated to all the states a five-year phased program for their replacement by auto-rickshaws.

"The sight of man pulling man for his livelihood is revolting to the sense of human dignity," the ministry circular said.

A Nursing Mother Can Become Pregnant

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: I had my first child three months ago and am breast-feeding him. I was told by a nurse that, when you breast feed, your periods do not resume until you slow up or stop breast feeding.

As of now I have not seen a period. Would you tell me if this reasoning is true, and if it is possible for me to become pregnant without a period? — Mrs. L.B.M.

What you were told is ordinarily true — menstrual periods do not as a rule return until the baby is weaned. However, periods commonly appear within about six months. They can — but usually do not — occur earlier, even while nursing.

So, you see, there is no positive answer to your question, because of individual variations. All that I or anyone can give you is the general pattern.

Is it possible to become pregnant without having had a period? Yes! You may ovulate before the first menstrual period appears, and ovulation would make pregnancy possible. I have known instances of a woman's not having had a period for five years because of frequent pregnancy.

• • •

Dear Dr. Molner: I am 42 and have had regular periods all my life until about three months ago. Then I started to have them at two-week intervals and now have gone six weeks without one. Could this be the change of life? — W. F.

It could well be the beginning of menopause or "change of life." To be on the safe side, have your doctor check you over. Menopause often starts with such irregularities of periods.

• • •

Dear Dr. Molner: I am 34, have had no children, am in excellent health. I was told recently that I have a "small fibroid" in the uterus which should not cause me any concern.

Could a fibroid bring about changes in regularity of the menstrual cycle? For over 10 years I was as regular as clockwork on a 28-day cycle. Now it can be 22 or 35 days, but is usually 24 to 26. Any connection? — Mrs. N. V.

There could be a connection. It depends on the location of the fibroid. If it encroaches on the inner lining of the uterus, menstrual irregularity is more common, but if it is in the outer segment, irregularity is less likely.

These fibroid tumors are not at all uncommon, and often never cause any trouble. However, I presume you are taking the wise course and having it checked periodically along with having regular Pap tests.

What causes "balance" trouble? What can be done to correct or overcome it? Dr. Molner's new booklet, "Dizzy Spells," discusses loss of balance, vertigo and nausea, Meniere's disease and labyrinthitis. For a copy of the booklet write to Dr. Molner in care of The Herald enclosing 25 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

When You're Dropped By The Post

WASHINGTON — The Saturday Evening Post, which has been in trouble for some time, has a new management. One of the decisions of the management is to cancel about two million of the Post's six million subscribers. By putting their subscription list through a computer, the Saturday Evening Post circulation people intend to weed out older people, small-towners and those persons who just don't have the buying power of the young families who live in the cities and suburbs. In this way, the Post hopes to appeal to class advertisers and also save money on printing.

The idea makes sense, but it can also cause plenty of problems.

FENEKER WAS at his law office in Hopscotch, Neb., when he received a call from his wife.

"There's a registered letter here from the Curtis Publishing Co.," she said sobbing.

"What does it say?" Feneker asked.

"It says they're canceling our subscription to the Saturday Evening Post," his wife cried.

"But we've been subscribers for 25 years," Feneker said.

"THEY MENTION that. They say we're too old for the magazine, and demographically we're unfit."

Feneker started to panic. "Who knows about this?"

"I told mother. You were at lunch and I had to tell somebody."

"Good heavens. Call her right away and tell her not to tell a soul. If this gets out we'll be ruined."

UNFORTUNATELY, Feneker's mother-in-law had gone to a bridge game that afternoon and, as luck would have it, she mentioned it to her friends while she was the dummy.

Before long the phones started to ring all over Hopscotch with the scandalous news.

"They seemed like such nice people," Mrs. McMurdy said when her sister told her.

"I always thought something was fishy when they drove around in a 1962 Ford," Chet McCauliffe told a friend when he heard the news.

IN A WEEK'S time Feneker started to feel that his secret was out. No one came right out and said they knew the Saturday Evening Post had canceled his subscription, but the atmosphere in the town had changed.

The bank refused him a loan on a new wing for his house. He had trouble cashing checks in the grocery store. The gas station made some excuse why they couldn't renew his credit card. He lost the election for the school board and there was even some talk that the bar association would look into his accreditation.

LIFELONG CLIENTS took their business elsewhere. Mrs. Feneker was told she was no longer needed in the car pool for the children's dancing classes.

At school the kids were merciless to the Feneker children.

"We're going to have to move from Hopscotch," he told the family. "The disgrace is just too much to bear."

A week later, at two in the morning, the Fenekers loaded up their belongings and drove out of town. They moved to a city hundreds of miles away and resubscribed to the Saturday Evening Post under a different name. But despite the fact that no one in the new town knows their terrible secret, the Fenekers still live in fear that someday, somehow, they will get another registered letter from the Curtis Publishing Co. and they will have to move on again.

Steps To Explore Need For Civic Center Taken

The first steps toward determining the community's need and ability to provide a civic center—or coliseum—were taken Monday by a special Chamber of Commerce committee headed by Harold Davis.

"There has been a lot of talk and enthusiasm for such a building," Davis told the 18 present at the chamber offices, "and we can put these words into action by making studies, then turning our findings over to city and county officials."

LEADERS NAMED

The study will include three areas, Davis said, and named committees to make later reports. These include (1) what is needed; (2) where to build it; (3) how to pay for it.

Jeff Brown was named to chair the committee to explore sites and locations, with an eye toward accessibility to food and lodging. On this committee are Arnold Marshall, Bill Tune, Robert W. Whipkey and Charlie Creighton.

Lester Morton was named to chair the committee on the big problem of financing. Lee Porter, John Currie, Larry Crow, and Dr. W. A. Hunt were named to the committee.

Don Womack and Joe Price were asked to contact other cities that have built coliseums and learn how they solved the various problems of financing, location, operation, etc.

In addition, Davis asked representatives of various organizations that might use the facility to provide the committee with maximum and minimum needs the center would be required to meet.

All these reports will be called for at the next meeting, set for July 15, at 5:15 p.m. in the chamber offices.

Davis pointed out that a community center or coliseum might serve many areas of community activity, including rodeos, sports events, tournaments, women's club activities, flower shows, dog shows, track meets, ice shows, conventions, little theatre productions, county fairs, exhibitions, and many others.

FEDERAL AID

For this reason, he asked for reports from these varied groups listing their needs, so that these might be considered in the final planning, when that time comes. The discussion included the possibilities of city-county bond participating in financing, as well as federal aid.

Attending the meeting were Buddy Travis, Tommy Hart, Sam Anderson, Don Womack, Glenn Cootes, Dr. W. A. Hunt, Robert W. Whipkey, Bill Tune, Lee Porter, Dr. M. W. Talbot, Bill Tidwell, Mrs. E. H. Boullioun, Lester Morton, Winston Wrinkle, Jim Baum, Jeff Brown and Bill Tubb.

Special Class Program Set

The special education class of the Big Spring Independent School District will hold a spring program May 30 as a farewell to a young girl who is leaving the class.

Mrs. Mary Newell, coordinator of special education, is in charge of the program. Speakers will be Sam Anderson, superintendent of schools, and Lynda Sue Welch, whose topic will be "Happy Memories."

The program will begin at 10 a.m. Rev. Byron Orand, pastor of College Baptist Church, will word the invocation, and Lynn Hise, assistant superintendent of instruction, will give the benediction. The special education chorus, directed by Mrs. Bill McRee, will present a medley of songs, and Mrs. Newell will present special awards.

The presentation of the class flower, motto and golden keys will be by Pamela Bennage, Kay Jackson, Lupe Herrera, Connie Fauver, Larry Lawson and Ronnie Neill.

All parents and other interested persons are also invited to attend a special end-of-school tea, to be held Friday at 2 p.m. at Moss Elementary School, Mrs. Newell said.

Minor Wrecks

Police are investigating two minor accidents which occurred Monday.

At Third and Birdwell, cars driven by Milus Wade Tolbert, 1410 Scurry, and Arkady Filuk, Irvington, ran together; and at 1806 Young, Rex Rainey, 1016 E. 20th, was involved in a one-car accident.

LEFT RANDALL TOUR

Local Tourists Not In France

Three Big Spring women, on a Porter Randall tour of several European countries, were not scheduled to be in Paris and probably are not affected by the strife in France, an Associated Press report indicated.

The women, Mrs. J. Y. Robb, Mrs. Cecil Guthrie and Mrs. Lloyd Wasson — with Mrs. Vi Worthy, mother of Jerry Worthy of Big Spring, also in the party — were to have left the Randall tour Friday, according to their schedule. Mrs. Ike Robb said that her mother-in-law and the others had visited Paris last year and did not have France on the current itinerary. They have been in England and Scotland and were to have arrived in Copenhagen Monday, planning next to go to Amsterdam and Brussels and then into Italy, where they were to re-join the Randall tour.

Randall, a Texas State Network commentator, has a travel agency, and was taking a tour group of 30 Texans through several European countries. The tour was caught in a student demonstration Sunday night and crossed the Belgian border out of France illegally, Randall said in a newscast from Mannheim, Germany. Randall said if he had not had contact with a German bus company the group would still be stranded.

The country-wide strike has paralyzed France, Randall said. There are no planes, no trains, no buses and no mail, he added.

Jaycees View Snake Slides

Big Spring Jaycees were shown slides of this year's Rattlesnake Round-Up at a regular meeting Monday at noon in the Downtown Tea Room.

Bill Tidwell presided and announced that Mike Faulkner and Larry Forniquet had been named as co-chairmen of the "Speak Up Jaycees" program.

Next week's meeting will be coordinated by Ron Laboe, program chairman.

Twenty-five attended, including two visitors, Morris Molpus and Don Wortham.

Big Spring Wins Praise

To the Editor:

We, as an Air Force family, wish to express our appreciation to everyone who worked and paid for the fine barbecue held at the base pavilion on Armed Forces Day.

Ever since our arrival here at Big Spring 16 months ago we have felt this town to be the friendliest to military personnel of any we have resided in throughout our 16 years of travel. We are proud to claim Big Spring as "home" for the present and will remember your thoughtfulness for years to come.

Registration Open For Summer Swim Program

Hey kids: Would you like to learn to swim?

Well, the Citywide Recreational program would like to sign you up for an introductory course the first week in June.

Also, the program would like to have you register for the Summer Recreation activity which will start June 10 in several different areas.

So far 33 have signed for the learn - to - swim program, and scores more can be accommodated. There is no charge for the instruction, although a nominal fee ($1) for use of the city pool is suggested for those who are able. Instruction will begin on a Monday and will continue daily through the following Friday.

Youngsters will have an excellent chance to put what they have learned to work if they take part in the regular recreation program, which includes swimming at the City Park. Again, there is no charge for this two-month supervised program, but those who can afford it are asked to invest $1 in materials for things they will be making in arts and crafts.

All anyone has to do to take part is register at the YMCA building. The Y serves as the supervisory agency for the program which is made possible by the combined support of the city, the Big Spring Schools and the United Fund.

"We are anxious to have children of elementary age and above sign up," said Curt Mullins, general secretary. "We don't care who they are or where they are, we want them to be a part of the program.

The largest program will be at the City Park, and it will operate daily. There will be one starting also on June 10 at the Northeast City Park and still another at Lakeview. There will be evening programs at Airport starting June 10 and at Cedar Crest Park June 11, and many youngsters in this area may want to take part in these as well as the City Park program which operates in the morning.

Parenthood Confab Due

A community - wide conference on planned parenthood has been scheduled for noon May 29, and the place will be announced soon.

This action came out of a session held last weekend at the Fellowship Hall of First Methodist Church where Mrs. Robert Morris, Midland, spoke.

An executive committee was being shaped by Mrs. Marvin Dixon, president of the Church Women United, which has taken the leadership in the possible organization of a Planned Parenthood group here. Some 30 individuals attended the initial meeting.

Mrs. Morris, who is with the Permian Basin chapter of the Planned Parenthood Association in Midland, was given the Margaret Sanger Medallion in 1967 for outstanding service in this special field. The centers which PP groups operate disseminate information to help in planning families, not only in controlling numbers but in helping those who want to become parents.

Dear Abby

Snow On Roof? Fire's Out

DEAR ABBY: My husband is well over the age of collecting Social Security, but would you believe he is so vain he won't put in for it because he doesn't want to admit his right age?

He is still running after women, too. Believe me, if he ever catches any it will be perfectly harmless. I should know.

I have been touching up his hair for years, otherwise it would be snow-white. Lately I have been telling him it is time he let his hair go "natural," for it is no crime for a man his age to have white hair, but he says, no, he still wants me to touch it up for him. If you were me, would you? ELSA

DEAR ELSA: No. Tell him as long as there is no fire in the furnace, he may as well leave the snow on the roof.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I will give you the facts, which are all true, as I am the girl's mother:

Millie and Don (made up names) were married two weeks after Don graduated from high school. They had to get married as Millie was five months along.

After the baby came I babysat for Millie so she could go back to school and get her diploma.

The baby is a year old now and Don says he wants a divorce. He says he doesn't love Millie anymore and he wants to be "free." He says he doesn't want the responsibilities of marriage and fatherhood. He won't go to our priest, and he won't see a marriage counselor. He says all he wants is out. He went to a lawyer who says it will be difficult but not impossible for Don to get a divorce without Millie's cooperation because he has no grounds. (Millie has all kinds of grounds, but she doesn't want to file.)

Millie says she loves him and is willing to do anything to save her marriage. Can you help?

MILLIE'S MOM

DEAR MOM: No one can "help" save a marriage unless both parties want to save it. Millie can make it tough for Don to get a divorce, but can't force him to live with her. Assuming she could "save" the marriage, a young husband who feels trapped would make a poor husband and a worse father.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: In answer to the question recently asked of you, "Is the pill 100 per cent safe?" — may I reply?

Thinking this was the only safe way to avoid having a baby at my age (42), I asked my doctor for the pill. I used it for nearly two years, then . . . bang! I found I was pregnant. I had not forgotten to take my pill at any time, so at first I thought surely it was the menopause. (So did my doctor.) It turned out to be a beautiful baby boy instead.

Abby, I had two grandchildren, so naturally I was about as "overjoyed" at the prospects of having another baby as most women in their mid-forties would have been. But what seemed at first to be the end of the world turned out to be the most wonderful thing that ever has happened to me.

I hope that other women who find themselves in the same situation will read this and realize it is not a catastrophe — but God's will. Only He could have known the joy this unexpected child was to give us. And now we know, too.

Overseas Travel Continues Boom Despite LBJ's Pleas

NEW YORK (AP) — President Johnson's proposals to curtail travel outside the Western Hemisphere and his urging that Americans see their own country first apparently are not keeping many people home.

A survey of major airlines and travel agencies shows that the sale of tickets has taken up the slack caused by initial announcement of the proposals three months ago and that sales are now as good or better than last year.

LOOKING FOR HELP

Asked how business was, one travel agency executive answered: "I'm looking for help right now, that's how good it is."

The executive, Josephine Arria of American International Travel Service, said, "It's far superior to last year. This being an election year I wouldn't worry too much about the possibility of a travel tax."

A key feature of the proposals is a tax on all travel expenditures above $7 a day outside the Western Hemisphere. The measure passed the House April 4 and is now before the Senate Finance Committee.

An airlines spokesman said what the proposed restrictions did was decrease the projected step-up in overseas travel preparations under way before the President's announcement in February.

One effect which has continued to the present, he said, has been the appreciable cancellation of group flights by American business firms.

It is believed that industry executives, who use such trips in their incentive programs, reacted both patriotically and with an eye on a possible government check of promotional and entertainment items on income tax returns.

These cancellations made a dent in travel figure projections, but the gap apparently is being filled by Americans who are not taking the restrictions seriously and by a big step-up in the drive to get foreign visitors to come to the United States.

Locks Shaved, City Richer

REYNOSA, Mexico (AP) — The Reynosa city treasury was $920 richer and 20 young musicians had shaved heads after weekend raids on some Reynosa night clubs.

Police inspector Efrain Cantu Pena ordered the long haired musicians arrested, fined $46 each and then called a barber out of bed to shave the musicians' long locks. Some people had complained about the long hair.

Officers said the young men were charged 80 cents each for their mandatory haircuts. Some protests were lodged by parents but they did not stop the mass haircuts.

Tiny Liver Transplant Patient Leaves Hospital

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — Randell Wayne Bennett, 2, one of four known survivors of liver transplant operations, has been discharged from the University of Colorado Medical Center.

The curly haired son of Mrs. Sandra Bennett of Mesquite, Tex., is the first liver transplant patient to progress enough to be released.

The youngster underwent surgery Feb. 9, after doctors found he suffered from biliary atresia, the congenital malformation of bile ducts. The ailment often results in death by about the second birthday.

Randy and his mother are remaining in Denver, and he still makes regular trips to the center for checkups and treatments.

Another of the patients, Terry Jean Kent, 16, went home to Hillsboro, Ore., for the weekend, and returned to the hospital Monday. She had her transplant in March.

The other patients are Julie Cherie Rodriguez, 2, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Rodriguez of Pueblo, Colo., and Eddie Miller, 44, of West Helena, Ark.

Julie received her new liver nearly 10 months ago, on July 23, 1967, while Miller is the most recent addition to the group. He had the operation April 14.

Candidates Voice Enforcement Fears

By The Associated Press

Rival candidates for the Democratic nomination for governor in the June 1 runoff primary each warned Monday against the kind of law enforcement the state could expect if the other wins election.

Don Yarborough declared he possessed the necessary strength for the job and his opponent, Lt. Gov. Preston Smith, was "a weak leader who can produce nothing but confusion."

Talking to supporters in Houston, Yarborough said, "An old-time reactionary living in another age cannot possibly provide the strong leadership needed for modern law enforcement in Texas. My reactionary opponent who is aligned with the far right has no real program for law enforcement."

CITES 'WEIRDOS'

Smith, in course of a swing through Wichita Falls, Waco, Temple, Bryan and Brownwood, asserted that in event "my liberal opponent got in," Texans "might be looking at some of the long-haired weirdos" in their new governor's appointments to state jobs.

"It is from ultra liberals that our police got into the position of wearing straitjackets when trying to deal with criminals," Smith said. ". . . I will take every means possible to see that the ideas of reason prevail instead of ultra liberal guilt feelings for the poor criminals."

Heading into the final two weeks of the runoff campaign, Yarborough devoted the day to recording radio appeals to voters, shaking hands at bus stops in downtown Houston and speaking at a night rally of his supporters.

FUNNY PAPERS

An aide estimated 250 attended the night meeting, at which Yarborough said, "People are not reading the funny papers any more for amusement. They're reading what my opponent says."

Yarborough said Smith has tried "to label me a liberal instead of someone who wants to represent all of the people. . .I am not a liberal or a moderate or a conservative—but I am going to label him for what he is—a reactionary. . . .

"The people of Texas do not appreciate having their intelligence insulted by this oldtimey 'kick em in the teeth' type of campaign...They are anxiously awaiting discussion of the real issues, such as automobile insurance rates, consumer protection for housewives, improved teachers' salaries . . ."

Smith said repeatedly that in his opinion, Texans are most concerned about the state's crime problems.

FIREWORKS

In this connection he said, "I believe lawbreakers should be given their justice quickly and forcefully. I will see that law-abiding citizens have their rights and they will never be superseded by the rights of criminals."

The lieutenant governor said he was committed to maintaining a conservative in state government, adding that "Texas could have a chaotic government if it should elect a governor who would submit to people whose philosophies are different."

Smith's Brown County campaign manager, Bill Jamar, estimated 4,200 persons turned out for free hot dogs, a fireworks show and an evening speech by his candidate at the Howard Payne College track in Brownwood.

Thieves Snatch Tire, Clothing

Pollard's Chevrolet, 1501 E. 4th, reported the theft of one spare tire valued at $45 which was taken from a new 1968 model car parked on the new car lot.

Leon Smith, a trucker from Greensboro, S. C., told officers a blue hand bag and miscellaneous clothing were taken from his truck while it was parked at the Phillips 66 Truck Stop, Highway 87 and Interstate 20.

'I Am No Pollyanna'

President Lyndon B. Johnson is emphatic as he makes a point last night in his speech to the 20th anniversary dinner of the Arthritis Foundation at the Waldorf-Astoria in New York. Decrying critics who despair at the "sickness in our society," Johnson said he might be optimistic about the U.S., but "I am no Pollyanna," he asserted.

LBJ May Have New Phrase: 'Bad-Mouthing Our Country'

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson may have added a new phrase to the 1968 political lexicon: "Bad-mouthing our country."

Johnson used the term twice in apparently extemporaneous asides while addressing a philanthropic banquet in New York Monday night.

He returned to Washington immediately after the speech.

Johnson didn't accuse anyone of "bad-mouthing" and didn't relate it directly to the presidential campaign. But the entire context of his speech made it evident he looks with something less than full approval on much of the campaign oratory.

SHAME ON YOU

Talking to affluent patrons of the Arthritis Foundation, Johnson said: "I simply refuse to accept the diagnosis of fatal sickness in our society—and I refuse to follow those who say that."

The quote "refuse to follow" in the statement apparently sprang spontaneously from his lips.

He went on: "I refuse to accept the diagnosis of indifference in our society — and I say shame on you who point that out."

Once again, the "shame on you" remark seemingly was off the cuff.

The burden of the President's speech was that the nation can solve its problems and is not sick, indifferent or racist.

But he repeatedly returned to the thought that some individuals, unnamed, are tearing down rather than building up the country.

America's problems, he said, "will not be solved if we give way to crippling despair or to bad-mouthing our country all day long or all week long."

U.S. Government Outlines Case Against Dr. Spock

BOSTON (AP) — The federal government outlines its case today against Dr. Benjamin Spock and four others charged with conspiring to counsel young men to avoid the draft.

Government prosecutors in opening statements to a jury of 12 men and three male alternates, tell what they intend to prove against the five defendants.

The jury was impaneled Monday in U.S. District Court despite arguments by the defense that women were discriminated against on the panel.

WOMAN HATER

Leonard Boudin, Spock's lawyer, questioned Court Clerk Russell Peck why there were only nine women on the list of 110 jury prospects.

Peck admitted the list made him look like a "misogynist," or woman hater, but said selection was made at random.

Judge Francis J.W. Ford denied a motion by the defense to discard the list and draw up another.

Boudin did not indicate why he wished more women on the jury.

However, Dr. Spock, the internationally known pediatrician, helped a generation of mothers raise their children through his book "Baby and Child Care."

The bidding:

West	North	East	South
Pass	1 ♡	Pass	1 ♠
2 NT	3 ♠	5 ♣	5 ♠
Pass	Pass	Dble.	Pass
Pass	Pass

A variety of results was obtained when the above hand was dealt during the Open Pair event of the Spring National tournament recently held in New York City.

The optimum East-West contract was five clubs, however, a great many North-South pairs were permitted to play four spades and made either four or five depending on the defense. One East-West partnership achieved a satisfactory result on the deal by doubling their opponents in five spades and recording a two trick set.

West passed as the dealer, and when the auction reverted to him, his opponents had opened the bidding and responded in his two shortest suits. It was his desire to compete in one of the remaining suits, but which one? East had good diamonds and only indifferent clubs, then diamonds would provide the better vehicle.

In order to avoid guesswork, West made an unusual no trump overcall by jumping to two no trump. Since he had already passed, it must be obvious that he is not making a natural call, and the common sense of the situation is that he wishes his partner to take a choice between the unbid suits.

North showed his support for South's response by raising to three spades. East's jump to five clubs is worthy of note. This bid is not nearly as drastic as it may seem, since he has an excellent fit for both suits that West is known to have by virtue of his unusual no trump overcall. If it proves that five clubs cannot be made, then surely the opposition can score substantially their way, and the sacrifice should be relatively cheap.

South proceeded to five spades and after the next two hands passed, East doubled. West was on lead with a void in hearts, and realizing that he might obtain two ruffs in that suit provided he could put his partner in twice, he opened the three of clubs. The underlead of the ace was, of course, risky, but West felt that desperate measures were in order.

East was a bit surprised to win the trick with the king, but he had little trouble in diagnosing that his partner had no hearts. A heart returned netted one ruff and when East got in with the ace of diamonds, another heart lead completed the damages resulting in a 300 point profit for the defense..

Supreme Court Opens Centers To Picketing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Defendants in all but "petty" criminal cases are entitled to the chance to be tried by juries, a precedent-shattering Supreme Court has ruled.

"Trial by jury in criminal cases is fundamental to the American scheme of justice," Justice Byron R. White said in the 7-2 decision Monday.

The ruling, one of several expanding the rights of criminal defendants, made the jury trial guarantee of the Sixth Amendment to the U.S. Constitution binding on the states.

At the same time, again by a 7-2 vote, the court erased the distinction between criminal contempt and other crimes and put "serious" contempt cases under the jury-trial rule.

The justices were not explicit in drawing a line between what it considered "serious" and what it considered "petty" cases. However, crimes carrying a two-year sentence were put in the "serious" category and those of six-months were viewed as "petty," meaning bench trials are still permissible.

The dissenters, Justices John M. Harlan and Potter Stewart, objected to use of the 14th Amendment's due process clause to promote uniformity among the states.

"Quite without reason," they said, "the court has chosen to impose upon every state one means of trying criminal cases. it is a good means, but it is not the only fair means, and it is not demonstrably better than the alternatives states might devise."

In two other decisions, meanwhile, the court junked long-standing decisions. It said a man cannot be tried fairly if the jury hears a codefendant's confession incriminating him. And it said prisoners do not have to complete their sentences before testing additional sentences that await them.

NOT OFF-LIMITS

The expansion of rights and the break with the past appeared particularly dramatic because the Senate takes up today legislation to curb the court that is rooted, essentially, in just such actions.

Along with the criminal law decisions, the court opened shopping centers to mass picketing, gave illegitimate children equal treatment under the law and set the stage for consideration next fall of the speeded induction of Vietnam war protesters.

Suburban shopping centers, the court ruled 6 to 3, cannot be declared off-limits to peaceful pickets "wishing to exercise their First Amendment rights."

Two Speciality Explorer Posts To Set Pattern

Two specialty Explorer posts organized here are but the forerunner of what Tommy Cone Scout executive, hopes will be many in the Lone Star District.

While he concedes that it may be difficult to do much organizing now that summer vacations are at hand, he is looking toward a big push in September.

The specialty approach is the emphasis which the Explorer program for boys 14 years and older is now taking. Boys with a common interest in some subject or career form a post with some adult skilled in that field as an advisor.

For instance, explorer post No. 3 is an agricultural one with Gerald Miller, work unit leader for the Soil Conservation Service, as advisor. The posts meet at the U.S. Experiment Station. Post No. 5 is specializing in music with White's Music as its sponsor and Clyde Greene as advisor. The lads hope to form a band and to have several singers. It will meet at the music company.

Others interested in any specialty are asked to contact Cone for details on how to proceed.

Astros Find Reds Hard To Contain

By The Associated Press

Alex Johnson, given another chance to prove himself, still doesn't feel comfortable at the plate. But he is making believers of National League pitchers, who also are feeling uneasy when he is hitting.

"I don't feel natural at the plate for the long ball," moaned the 25-year-old Cincinnati outfielder. "I'm just blooping them.

DECISIVE BLOWS

Despite his troubles, Johnson managed a run-scoring single and later a game-winning double in the ninth inning Monday night, giving the Reds a 3-2 uphill victory over the Houston Astros.

Johnson's three hits raised his batting average to .333 and gave him 15 runs batted in as a bona-fide regular for the first time in five major league tries.

Ed Charlse, a 35-year-old veteran given another chance, clouted his second home run of the game in the ninth inning, lifting the New York Mets over Pittsburgh 2-1.

Larry Jaster continued what he does best — beat Los Angeles — by hurling St. Louis past the Dodgers 2-1 with a two-hitter. In the only other NL game, Felipe Alou singled in a ninth inning run, boosting Atlanta to a 6-5 triumph over San Francisco and into sole possession of second place.

Johnson, traded to St. Louis in the Bill White deal after failing to win a starting job in two seasons at Philadelphia, flopped in two seasons with the Cardinals before the Reds got him for Johnny Edwards last winter. He quickly won the left field position.

He singled in a run in the seventh inning against the Astros, but Jim Wynn's two-run triple in the third still left Cincinnati behind 2-1 entering the ninth.

After Mack Jones walked as a pinch hitter and moved to second on a sacrifice, Pete Rose singled in the tying run against loser Don Wilson and Johnson followed with his double off the left field wall against reliever Jim Ray.

HOMERS IN NINTH

Charles, a seven-year veteran still trying to win a job after signing with the Mets as a free agent this spring, led off the ninth with his fifth homer of the season as a part-time performer. The third-baseman, second on the Mets in homers and runs batted in, homered with two out in the fourth off loser Bob Veale.

His clouts gave the victory to rookie Jerry Koosman, who pitched a five-hitter for his sixth triumph against two losses.

Jaster, who blanked the Dodgers five straight times in his rookie year in 1964, gave up a run without a hit in the first inning, and the only hits off him were singles by Paul Popovich in the fifth and Wes Parker in the ninth.

Texas-based schools won three first places in the National Junior College Track and Field Meet held last weekend in Garden City, Kan.

Odessa College, which finished fourth, furnished two of the winners. The sensational George Carty set a record in the preliminaries of the 120-yard high hurdles with a 13.8 effort and then won the event in 14.0.

Odessa also won the mile relay, at which time it was clocked in 3:15.8 — far off Howard County's meet record of 3:11.2.

Running on Odessa's team were Bill Nelson, Mike Perry, Carty and Billy Harris.

Texas schools ran 1-2-3 in that event, with Blinn and Victoria trailing Odessa across the finish line.

Victoria's combination of Reynolds, Green, Wilson and Daniels also won the sprint relay in the time of 41.4. Texas colleges finished 1-2-3-4 in that race, Henderson County, Dallas Baptist and Wharton following Victoria across the line.

First place winners:

440-yard relay — Victoria (Reynolds, Green, Wilson, Daniels), 41.4.
100-yard dash—Melvin Grav, Fort Scott, Kan., 9.6.
880-yard run — Neville Myton, Mesa, Ariz., 1:53.6.
120-yard high hurdles—George Carty, Odessa, 14.0. (Carty set a meet record of 13.8 in the prelims. Old record, 14.5, by Jack Abbott, Blinn, 1966).
440-yard intermediate hurdles — Ken Green, Manatee, Fla., 53.9.

West Goes Baseball, Is Signed By Cincinnati

Charley West, who got his start on the sandlots of Big Spring, has signed a baseball contract with the Cincinnati Reds of the National League.

He was assigned Monday to their Tampa farm club in the Florida State league.

West, now 21, was Cincinnati's first round draft choice. He was also drafted in the second round by Minnesota of the NFL.

Charley starred in both baseball and football for the University of Texas at El Paso. He is both a catcher and an outfielder.

In Big Spring High School, he was outstanding in three sports.

The Tampa club is in the Western division of the ten-team Florida State league, which has St. Petersburg (Cardinals), Orlando (Twins), Lakeland (Detroit) and Leesburg (Oakland) as other members.

The Eastern division of the circuit consists of Dayton a Beach (Los Angeles), Miami (Baltimore), West Palm Beach (Atlanta), Fort Lauderdale (NY Yankess) and Cocoa (Houston).

Parent clubs of each team are listed in parentheses in the preceding paragraph.

Pirates Win 8th In Row

Boyer: Marichal Threw At Braves

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) —"Why should he throw at me? When I'm having a bad night, I don't go up there and throw the bat at him."

So said the Atlanta Braves' Clete Boyer Monday night after being hit on the right wrist by a stinging fast ball hurled by Juan Marichal, of the San Francisco Giants.

Boyer suffered no permanent damage, and the Braves went on to win it 6-5 and claim sole title to second place in the National League. But the third baseman made it clear he was not happy about the incident.

Marichal had retired 14 straight Braves in the sixth inning before Joe Torre poled a home run over the left field fence to give the Braves a 4-2 lead.

Then Boyer stepped to the plate and, with an 0-1 count, was hit by the fast ball. He said Marichal's control was so good that it would not justify what happened.

"He can throw a ball in a tin cup," Boyer said. "He can break a curve off on the outside corner on a 3-0 count. Anybody with that kind of control isn't going to let a pitch get away from him unless he wants to.

Marichal, who was roundly booed by many of the 27,160 Braves fans at the game, said he wasn't trying to hit Boyer.

Boyer disagreed. And so did Torre.

"He threw at me in the eighth and after I flied out, I came back by the mound and told Marichal, 'I almost got it out,'" Torre said.

Blair Out In Double Play

Shortstop Luis Aparicio of the Chicago White Sox "steps" on second base to force out Baltimore's Paul Blair as second baseman Tim Cullen looks on. Aparicio's relay to first base beat Dave Johnson and completed the double play in the first inning. A two-run homer by Boog Powell gave the Orioles a 2-1 victory Monday night.

Sox Take Calculated Risk, Absorb Lumps

By The Associated Press

It isn't as if the Boston Red Sox didn't know any better; they can tell when a guy is on a hitting streak as well as anybody. It was just that they couldn't push the winning run across before Jim Fregosi got up to bat again.

Fregosi was murdering the Red Sox all night Monday — a homer in the first inning, a triple in the third, a double in the eighth — and when Rico Petrocelli's ninth-inning homer tied the score for Boston, the Sox desperately had to find a way to stop Fregosi.

In the bottom of the ninth, they came up with an acceptable method, giving him an intentional walk with two out and a man on second.

Neither team could score into the 11th and with two out and a runner at second again, the Sox took an awful chance. They pitched to Fregosi.

Moments later, the ball was bouncing off the left field wall, Fregosi had his cycle, the Angels had their 5-4 victory and the Red Sox had their lesson for the evening.

Elsewhere in the American League, Detroit beat Minnesota 4-3 in 10 innings, Baltimore edged Chicago 2-1 and New York beat Washington 6-1.

Fregosi scored three runs and drove in two as the Angels took a 3-0 lead that was shortened by solo homers from George Scott and Elston Howard. Petrocelli's shot came with two out in the ninth.

The Tigers took full advantage of four Minnesota errors, scoring three unearned runs. Two of those came in the 10th when Jackie Hernandez and Ron Clark, both put in the lineup late in the game for defensive purposes, made errors, letting the winning run score.

Jim Hardin stopped the White Sox on six hits and Boog Powell hit a two-run homer for the Orioles, who ended a three-game losing streak. Hardin pitched his way out of several jams.

Jim Bouton won his first start for the Yankees since 1966, scattering eighth hits and fanning Washington slugger Frank Howard three times. Joe Pepitone hit his first home run of the season for the Yanks.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Sports dialogue:

BILL SINGER, righthanded pitcher for the Los Angeles Dodgers, on the extent tranquilizers helped him win ten of his last 14 starts last season:

"They changed everything for me. I used to get so worked up I couldn't think straight. When I was pitching it would be three or four innings before I could sit down — I'd pace the bench when we were hitting."

• • • •

BILLY MAXWELL, ex-Big Springer, wondering aloud why he would never win any popularity contests with newsmen:

"I've never given the press a bad time. I don't know why people say that about me."

• • • •

J. T. KING, Texas Tech football mentor:

"I'll admit the Southwest Conference's intersectional record (7-17) last season was miserable. But when you play a round-robin schedule and have to sandwich a non-conference game around it it can't get the same mental readiness as for a conference team. I'm not trying to apologize for our loss to Mississippi State but SEC teams, since they do not play a round-robin schedule, are not faced with our problems."

• • • •

TED BATTLES, Midland scribe:

"Abilene Cooper coach Merrell Green may have a few new wrinkles for his Cougar offense this fall after spending several days as an observer of University of Colorado football workouts where former teammate Eddie Crowder is head coach."

• • • •

JOHN P. CARMICHAEL, Chicago columnist:

"There have been instances when players actually have slugged a writer, even dating back to the old Cubs when the late Pat Malone, the burly right hander, loosened all the teeth of a Chicago scribe over an alleged remark about his pitching. The Cubs not only fined Malone $500, but gave the victim an equal amount to get his molars fixed. He bought a car instead."

• • • •

ANDY GANATELLI, race-car builder and sponsor:

"They're ruining the Indianapolis 500. The U.S. Auto Club is discouraging experimenting. When a man has an idea that is safe and results in better racing, let him do it. The others should have to catch up to him. The theory of holding back progress in favor of the pack is wrong. I don't care if you're talking about a turbine car or men's fashions. The race was founded as a proving ground, and as far as I've heard that's still supposed to be its basic purpose. The turbo-car delivers more horsepower, is smaller and has 80 per cent fewer moving parts, so not much can go wrong. There are no cylinders, pistons or crankshafts. You don't need nearly as much fuel and there is no oil changing. You could go ten to 20 years and not touch the engine. The engine would run with no vibration and wouldn't need to be warmed up, regardless of the weather. There is no cooling system, so no overheating. The exhaust fumes are reduced, so air pollution would be slight."

• • • •

ROY NEEDHAM, veteran high school coach in Houston:

"It's the overprivileged children we ought to feel sorry for today. They've got cars and money and endless temptations. They don't know the meaning of the word 'no.' They need discipline and they seldom get it, because their parents can provide them with everything. Give me the underprivileged. They're more malleable, easier to handle. They haven't had much. They appreciate the smallest favors and they can be easily disciplined."

WRESTLING CARD SET

Wrestling returns to Big Spring the night of Tuesday, May 28, when the American Business Club stages another program at the City Park amphitheatre, starting at 8 p.m.

Two girls, both champions in their own right, will be featured on the program.

The feature event will bring on the popular Ricky Romero. Another match will pit a member of the Funk family (not yet picked) against the sinister Curt Von Bruner, who has a running feud against the Amarillo family.

The complete card will be announced in a few days by promoter Pat O'Dowdy.

A fifth inning single by Andy Montez robbed Cotton Mize of a no-hit game as Morton's Foods won its second straight City Softball league game here Monday night, defeating the VA Hospital team, 22-0.

Mize fanned 11 in the five-inning struggle. His mates benefitted from 15 walks. Jack Blizzard of the winners drove in seven runs, collecting a bases-loaded home run in the first, a three-run triple in the fourth and a single the second time around in the fourth.

In Monday's other activity, Austin Enco won its second straight decision at the expense of Skateland, 5-2. Thelbert Camp and Joe Blassingame divided time on the mound for Austin, allowing only five his between them.

Tommy Young smashed a home run and a single for Austin, the round tripper coming in the fifth. Blassingame also had two safeties for the winners, both of them singles.

Francis Johns was the only Skateland player to get two hits and one of those was a run-producing double in the fifth

Brookline Lands Singles Tourney

BROOKLINE, Mass. (AP) — The Longwood Cricket Club, the oldest tennis bastion in the United States, finally has landed the National Singles Championships to go with the National Doubles it has run since 1917.

Longwood President Walter E. Elcock announced Monday that the U.S. Lawn Tennis Association had awarded the club the singles competition, to be held in conjunction with the doubles Aug. 16-25.

Elcock and Harrison Rowbotham, New England vice president of the USLTA, frankly admitted that Longwood's future as home for the singles will be dependent on how the first U.S. open tournament, for both amateurs and pros, draws in money terms at the West Side Tennis Club at Forest Hills, N.Y.

"The West Side contract for the singles has four more years to run," Elcock said. "If the open stays at Forest Hills, the singles will remain at Longwood."

"If Forest Hills doesn't gross over $350,000 for the first open this year, it will be given first refusal," Rowbotham said.

Forest Hills, longtime home of the singles, agreed to give up the 88th U.S. Singles Tournament in exchange for the open this year. Longwood was founded three years before the start of the National Singles and Doubles at Newport, R.I.

The Singles and Doubles Championships have not been played as part of the same tournament for 51 years.

Two Seniors Are Eligible

By The Associated Press

A couple of senior citizens from Kansas City, who qualified for the U.S. Open Golf championship long before Jack Nicklaus was born, are set to challenge the big Golden Bear in this year's National Open.

Chances are big Jack isn't too worried about the threat of Duke Gibson and Leonard Dodson — and they might not make it all the way to Rochester, N.Y. — but they're in there trying.

Gibson, 59, led the qualifiers on the par 70 Indian Hills course at Kansas City Monday with two rounds of 72. Dodson, 56, also made it with a 148. Gibson first qualified for the Open 34 years ago, Dodson 35 years ago.

But they still must survive sectional qualifications June 3-4 before making it to Rochester's Oak Hills Country Club, where Nicklaus, 28, defends his Open title June 13-16.

About 2,500 golfers began competing for spots in the 150 man final field in regional qualifications Monday at 51 locations from Boston, Mass., to Honolulu.

The final regional qualifications were held today at Los Angeles, Palmetto, Ga., Nashville, Tenn., New Jersey and in Westchester County, N.Y.

Survivors of the regionals move on to sectional tournaments for the final cut. The sectionals are scheduled June 3 at Denver, Colo., Atlanta, Chicago, Dallas and Seattle, Wash., and June 4 at Bakersfield, Calif., San Francisco, Washington, Indianapolis, Ind., Detroit, St. Louis, Montclair, N.J., and Pittsburgh.

All qualifications are over 36 holes.

PEOPLE SCREAM, CLAW TO BE NEAR HIM

Fans Threaten RFK's Safety

LOS ANGELES (AP) — People tore off his shoes, ripped at his clothes, and virtually threatened Robert F. Kennedy's physical safety.

In the wildest scene in nine weeks of campaigning, the New York senator rode triumphantly through Los Angeles and its suburbs Monday night and found thousands awaiting him.

In intensity and size it surpassed any of hundreds of demonstrations that have marked Kennedy's presidential campaign.

WADED IN

At times it had a dream-like quality. A television spotlight illuminated the figure on the back of the open car. Kennedy stood and smiled and waved at those who shouted "Bobby," his blue shirt rumpled and wet, his sleeves rolled above the elbow, his shirt tail flapping outside his wrinkled trousers.

BOBBY KENNEDY

He clutched at the thousands of fluttering hands thrust up at him. His graying, light brown hair was a tangled mop.

At the big intersections where crowds gathered, the people rushed him, mindless of others about them or the aides and newsmen perched on his car.

They screamed and clawed and climbed over one another to be near him. Wide-eyed women raked with their nails at anyone in their way. Strong young men waded in, elbows flailing.

They hung onto his hands or arms and wouldn't let go, and at times Kennedy was doubled over with his head pulled nearly down to the trunk of the car.

Kneeling doggedly at his side for three hours was his security man, 225-pound Bill Barry, whose arm was locked securely above Kennedy's waist to keep him from being pulled to the street.

Barry couldn't keep admirers from tugging the shoes from Kennedy's feet, leaving the candidate standing on top of the car in his socks.

SHOES STOLEN

Another aide, Fred Dutton, lent his boss his own shoes when he spoke, two hours late, at a synagogue.

At Temple Isaiah, Kennedy called for a U.S.-Soviet agreement to end arms shipments to the Middle East.

McCarthy Matches Words With The Wrong Kennedy

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, who has been pressing for a presidential campaign debate with rival Robert F. Kennedy, has come within one brother of his target. He matched words with a Kennedy, but the wrong Kennedy.

The Minnesota Democrat headed his campaign back into Oregon today after his inconclusive encounter with Sen. Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts, a stand-in for Robert at a San Francisco labor dinner.

DIDN'T WORK

The printed program for the AFL-CIO Committee on Political Education fund-raising dinner listed Robert Kennedy as the man who would share the platform with McCarthy. And McCarthy himself originally accepted the invitation with the idea he would be face to face with Kennedy.

It didn't work out that way.

"I came prepared to offer the vice presidency to Sen. Kennedy," McCarthy told more than 400 people at the dinner Monday night—"of Massachusetts."

McCarthy and Kennedy of New York meet June 4 in California's crucial, final presidential primary.

But their next encounter is due May 28 in Oregon. Campaigning for that one, McCarthy planned to hunt votes today in Klamath Falls, Coos Bay and Corvallis.

CONFUSION

National leaders of organized labor are backing the presidential campaign of Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey.

EUGENE McCARTHY

Edward Kennedy questioned that course without mentioning Humphrey by name.

"Is it a time for complacency?" he asked. "Is it a time for joy? Is it a time for the status quo? In the history of this country the call for complacency has never moved labor."

Kennedy said he is confident union men will recognize the righteousness of Robert Kennedy's cause. "we shall continue to look for the encouragement and support of the union man."

Telescope Probes Mystery Signals

AUSTIN (AP) — The University of Texas' radio telescope between Alpine and Marfa will be used to explore four recently discovered sources of radio signals.

The discovery, made in February by astronomers at England's Cambridge University, have led to speculation that because of their unusual regularity they might be from intelligent beings.

Dr. Frank N. Bash, astronomy professor, said the radio telescope's digital system is being altered to speed up the recording of data so it can probe the signals, called pulsars.

Bash said there are reasons for not ascribing the signals to intelligent beings.

He said the source of the signals is much too powerful, equal to 10 billion times all the electrical power of the earth. The signals are generally of a low frequency that closely resembles naturally occurring radiation. The signals have a wide range which would be comparable to a radio station's attempting to broadcast over several frequencies at the same time.

Reagan Gives Impression He Is Irked By Veep Tag

WASHINGTON (AP) — California Gov. Ronald Reagan has given congressional Republicans the clear impression he is highly irked at being tagged as a possible vice presidential nominee.

NOT AVAILABLE?

Some senators and House members who joined him at a private luncheon Monday at the Capitol reported he talked most about why he isn't—and not likely ever to be—available for second place on the GOP ticket.

He was said to have minced few words in discussing his displeasure at New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's frequent observations that it would be nice to have Reagan as second man on a ticket with him.

The informal conclusion expressed by those Republicans was that Reagan is sighting broader horizons than the favorite-son role he has carved out for himself in California.

It's doubtful that conclusion was weakened by Reagan's Monday night appearance before a Fort Lauderdale, Fla., audience. When a man asked the governor if he would seek the presidency, Reagan replied:

"No, I don't think any useful purpose would be served by saying so. But when the convention opens in Miami Beach next August I will be nominated as a favorite son and very briefly will be a candidate.

"Then it will be up to the convention which way they will go."

RAISING MONEY

He earlier told a Washington news conference he would rather finish his job as governor than retire to the relative seclusion of the vice presidency.

But asked if he would be willing to give up his job for the White House, he grinned and replied: "I'm not going to put the governorship of California above the presidency of the United States."

Traveling with the kind of entourage usually associated only with announced presidential candidates, Reagan explained he was only going about raising money for Republican congressional campaign chests.

Draft Fugitives Granted Asylum

BOSTON (AP) — Two men who say they are military fugitives and expect to be arrested have been granted asylum in Arlington Street Church and fellow resisters vow they will protect them from police.

Victor G. Jokel, executive director of the Unitarian-Universalist church across from the Public Garden, told a news conference Monday the men will be given sanctuary as long as they need it.

Ira Arlook, a spokesman for New England Resistance, a group opposing the draft and the Vietnam war, said its members would attempt to obstruct law enforcement officers if they went to the church.

The two men identified themselves at the news conference at the church as Robert Talmanson of Boston and William Chase of Dennis on Cape Cod.

Talmanson said he was convicted a year ago of failing to report for induction and his appeal from a three-year prison sentence was denied last week by the U.S. Supreme Court.

Chase said he served in the Army in Vietnam but is refusing additional military service and is absent without leave from Ft. Lewis, Washington.

Col. Paul Feeney, deputy director of the Massachusetts Selective Service system, said no one was trying to bring in Chase or Talmanson so far.

He said U.S. attorneys would have to get a federal court order calling for Talmanson's sentence to be invoked before acting. The case of Chase, he said, is a problem for the U.S. provost marshal at Ft. Lewis and would be handled by the Army.

Jokel acknowledged that the medieval tradition of church sanctuary has no legal force today but contended it has "the force of a moral imperative on the side of life and man."
