HIGHWAY 27 SURFACING CONTRACT LET APRIL 24

In conversation with Mr. Leo Elfinger, State Maintenance Engineer of the State Highway Commission of Texas, officials of the Kimble County Chamber of Commerce were informed that the surfacing contract for Highway 27 had been let to the Kelly Construction Company of San Antonio.

When the proposition of tarviating the gravel surfaced road of this county was first mentioned it was regarded rather dubiously by some of our citizenship, not because there did not exist a necessity for this work, but by reason of the fact that it sounded too good to be true. Many of us have anxiously waited for this information, trusting there would be no mishap or error that would delay the work.

It will be a real pleasure to drive over the Old Spanish Trail, the most beautiful scenic highway in the State of Texas, when this work is completed. The thirty-nine mile section contracted, extends from Junction to Mountain Home, and the gap existing between Mountain Home and Kerrville will be surfaced just as soon as the eighty-foot right-of-way is obtained. Our best information is that this will be accomplished in the near future.

Many of us know the Kelly Construction Company is managed by our old friend, Bill Kelly, who worked on construction of our highways and who has many friends in Kimble County. It is gratifying to know that the work is in his hands because he knows what he is doing and will push the job to a rapid completion. It was estimated by our division engineer that ninety working days would be consumed in the work. If it can be done we believe Bill Kelly can do it.

This will call for the double surface treatment of our main streets just as soon as construction jobs now in course of completion can clear the debris from off the streets in order that the work can be carried on. The Chamber of Commerce has already obtained a written contract of property owners with street frontage on the main street to provide the funds necessary to do this work.

Notwithstanding the petty differences that exist on matters pertaining to the growth of Junction, with the completion of this highway and the fact that our business men are putting their shoulders to the wheel regardless of differences, Junction will become the greatest inland resort center in Texas.

ELECTRIC RAILROAD LINE PROPOSED

Representatives of Chicago capitalists were in the city Tuesday seeking indorsement of the Kimble County Chamber of Commerce for a proposed electric railroad extending from Austin via Johnson City, Fredericksburg, Mason, Junction, Sonora, Ozona and thence to the oil fields perhaps at Rankin, Texas. The Chamber of Commerce unanimously indorsed the project and promised to send representatives to the State Railroad Commission when a hearing on the matter was set.

It is not the intention of the organizers of this company to ask any bonuses or right-of-way for the proposed line. Since electric companies are contemplating the construction of a $19,000,000.00 dam near Del Rio and one or two large projects on the Colorado, power for this proposition will be available in the near future, and since our own State Commission has jurisdiction over electric lines in the State, it will not be necessary to obtain a permit from the Interstate Commerce Commission at Washington in order to put this proposition over.

Since the operation of electric railroads are figured to be 30% less than steam railroads and the fact that the trackage can be laid on greater grades than for steam lines, we feel that this proposition should be given our hearty support, as we stand a better opportunity to get it than any other proposition that has been suggested recently.

With the red tape made necessary for the obtaining of a permit for the construction of a railroad now and the necessity for going to Washington to get permission to build a railroad, it is almost out of the question for a sparsely settled area to consistently press a demand for a steam railroad.

This railroad, if constructed, will be able to haul all the tonnage that can be transported over a steam line; in fact it is their intention to haul oil trains out of the oil fields over the line.

When we come to consider that a railroad from here to Austin would only be about fifty miles further to our stock markets than the route we now use, we can readily understand that such a line would be of inestimable value to Kimble County.

The Chambers of Commerce at Fredericksburg and Mason have indorsed the proposition conditionally.

EXPLOSION CAUSES DEATH OF CHESTER ECKERT

One of the most tragic accidents in the history of this county occurred last Friday morning at the business of the Junction Battery and Electric Shop, when a gasoline tank exploded in the work-shop and set fire to the clothing and body of Chester Eckert, resulting in Chester being so seriously burned that he died from the results at the local hospital at 12:52 o'clock p. m.

From the information obtainable, it seems that an elevated gas tank was used to store gasoline for the purpose of feeding a gas jet that was used to distill water for storage batteries and that a valve had been inserted in the tank into which air was pumped.

Chester was in the shop alone at the time of the accident, and from the appearance of the place after the fire was extinguished, he propobly was pumping air into the tank when the explosion occurred. Employees of the Kindrick Grocery and Safety First Filling Station rushed to his assistance, but he was such a mass of flames it was impossible for them to do much for him. The flames from his body and clothes were extinguished by water from the Safety First Station and he was rushed to the hospital, where immediate attention was given him. He was conscious for some time, but due to the severity of his burns, soon succumbed.

The building was slightly injured by the fire, being saved from complete destruction by the aid of our fire department.

C. OF C. BANQUET SATURDAY NIGHT, APRIL 29

The monthly meeting of the Kimble County Chamber of Commerce will be held at the Court House on the above date. We would like for everyone interested in the Chamber of Commerce work to be present, for we have matters of importance to consider, as for instance, the building of an electric railway through Junction, which will connect the International and Great Northern with the Mexican Orient. We have a plan presented to us for the construction of this railway and we want to submit it to the whole body of the Chamber of Commerce in open session Saturday night. We also have plans providing for the construction of a golf course near Junction that we want to consider. Other matters of importance which will come before this meeting are the formation of a Stockman's Protective Association, securing a ball park, etc.

The Chamber of Commerce organization is thhe medium through which you acquaint the outside world with the advantages of your country. It is the one organization that sponsors the development of every resource; that works night and day for the benefit of every individual in the community. Therefore it is the duty of every member to give his whole hearted support to this organization; so come and be with us on the above date. A good time is assured. Plenty to eat, and goo dmusic by the C. of C. band.

KARNIVAL A SUCCESS

Tuesday a "Kill Kare Karnival" was staged on the Methodist church lawn, under the auspices of the Primary Department. The proceeds amounting to something over $70, will go towards purchasing a new piano.

The festivities began with a parade in the afternoon. A cowboy herald rode at the head of the parade and announced the carnival, then came Uncle Sam and a variety of clowns, Indians, small girls costumed as flowers and fairies, an elephant, the like of which was never seen before on land or sea, Uncle Josh and his family from the country, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Thumb, Charlie Chaplin. The members of the cradle roll attired in dainty costumes rode in a gaily decorated float; there was, also, a circus ambulance attended by Red Cross nurses.

On the grounds were side shows exhibiting amazing freaks. Hamburgers, sandwiches, lemonade, ice cream, cake, candy and grab-bags were sold from various booths.

The following program under the supervision of Mrs. H. O. Patterson was presented.

Reading — "The Moo Cow Moos"—Irma Lawler.

Reading—"The Folks at My House"—Faye Wahl.

Sketch—"Ten Little Indians"—group of small boys.

Reading—"Menagerie Diet"—Febajean Riley.

Motion song—Ten Little girls.

Reading—"My Grandfather"—Lenore Riley.

Reading—"My Daddy"—Chrstine Schraub.

Following this, with Mr. Walter Tinsley, Sunday School superintendent, as ring master, an amusing circus performance was staged, when the elephant performed, also, the tight rope walker and the circus band.

Throughout the evening music was furnished by the town band under the direction of Mr. Myers.

The directors of the Karnival take this opportunity to thank the band and the other Sunday Schools for their co-operation, also the skating rink for closing and their contribution of confetti and all who in any way helped to make this event a success.

Canada's Government encourages use of electric power, particularly on farms and in small communities. Water power is developed fully to generate the current, and all are assisted in its installation.

Farmers are taught to grind feed with it, pump water and do their other work.

And, by the way, United States farmers are urgently invited by the Canadian government to settle in Canada.

Our attention here is concentrated on a different problem. We want to make sure that the right people get possession of our power sources, the right people being those that control power and peddle it to the people. As to farmers and others that buy and use power, our Government has not found time to think about them.

Prophecy is usually dangerous—particularly dangerous for farmers when government prophecies go wrong. The Government forecast on potatoes last Fall predicted a crop greater than the real one. Many farmers sold in a hurry at low prices, some were not marketed, many fed to stock.

Then the shortage was seen, price went up, a few wise people made the money, NOT the farmers.

The sudden death of Senator Willis, in his battle for Ohio's Presidential delegates, ended tragically one phase of the 1928 campaign.

Senator Willis would have preferred to die fighting. Those that know Secretary Hoover know that Senator Willis' death will cause him sincere grief.

A powerful man, never sparing himself, Senator Willis forgot that there are limits to the heart's endurance. A tired heart often succumbs in the most powerful man, wearied by constant strain.

The dead man's widow attributed the Senator's attack to the fumes of smoky flares that he had been inhaling constantly, in the course of a political parade.

A weak heart, fighting against poisoned air, is in danger.

The League of Nations proposes international war against rats, their complete extermination.

Such a war, made to include mosquitoes and flies, would be the best war in history. It would save every year in lives and money as much as the big war cost in any year.

No more rats, no more bubonic plague.

No more mosquitoes, no more yellow fever or malaria.

No more tse-tse flies, no more sleeping sickness.

No more house flies, no more filth dragged over food of young children.

It would be interfering with Nature's plans, perhaps. Darwin says a pair of tropical flies and their maggot offspring can dispose of a lion's carcass in a few hours. Kill all the lions and the flies would not be needed to dispose of the carrion.

George Haldeman and Eddie Stinson, Americans, broke the world's endurance record in the air, flying without stopping fifty-three and one-half hours.

The French Government offers a million francs to any French flier that will win back some flying records formerly held by French fliers.

A little encouragement from our Government would make it impossible for any nation to compete with American flying.

The first flying machine was made here. Lindbergh was born here. We have the money and engineers. This ought to be the flying nation.

This comes from Italy: "Major de Bernardi has established a new world's air record, 318¾ miles an hour."

Will solemn naval gentlemen that call flying machines "only an auxiliary" be good enough to tell what chance slow-moving ships on the surface would have against a flock of airplanes with that speed?

On the great mountain called Nashan, in Manchuria, far up where air is pure and clear, Japan, as a monument to the new Emperor, will build the greatest astronomical observatory in Asia.

That observatory, with a sixty-inch reflector and thirty-inch refracting telescope, will be a much nobler monument than any rearing horse of bronze.

SOME FIGURES IN OIL

During 1927 there were 342,370,000 barrels of gasoline consumed and exported in and from the United States.

During 1927 American refineries prossessed 831,830,000 barrels of crude oil.

During 1927 there were 53,400,000 barrels of crude oil consumed in its unrefined state.

On January 1st, 1927, there were 39,023,000 barrels of gasoline in storage in America, while during 1927 there were 7 million barrels of gasoline withdrawn from storage in excess of the amount of gasoline run into storage, reducing the storage stock of gasoline on hand in the United States on January 1st, 1928, to 32,323,000 barrels, showing a reduction of 21% in the storage stocks of gasoline during 1927.

During 1927 the total domestic consumption of oil was approximately 900 million barrels; during 1927, the domestic demand for gasoline in the United States increased 13% over the demand for 1926.

On a basis of the normal increase of gasoline consumption shown during the past ten years, an increase of 40 million barrels in the gasoline consumption for 1928 as against 1927, may be reasonably expected, thus indicating a gasoline consumption of 382 million barrels for the year 1928.

The average gasoline recovery from crude oil is slightly less than 40%, thus the domestic consumption of gasoline in 1923 may be expected to require a total of 942 million barrels of crude oil to produce the gasoline necessary to meet this expected demand.

Farm fires, it is estimated, cause the death of 3,500 people every year and a property loss of approximately $150,000,000. Fires on the farm are caused in numerous ways, most of which are avoidable. Fires caused by defective chimneys and flues last year caused a loss of more than $20,000,000. The careless use of matches and smoking caused fires which resulted in a loss of $9,000,000. Improperly installed heating equipment and careless operation caused a loss of $6,500,000.

MOHAIR HIGHEST SINCE WORLD WAR

Prices paid for mohair at sales in San Antonio Thursday were reported at 75⅞ cents for mature hair and 85⅞ cents for kid hair. These prices paid for the Brackettville pool, are the hightest since the World War.

Good business among mohair textiles manufacturers was given Thursday as the stimulant which has run prices skyward.

On Wednesday liveliness of foreign prices and high tariff on mohair alone were credited with the advance.

There were 11 Boston firms represented at the sales here. J. M. Lee said the spring Texas cilp of 5,500,000 pounds is practically closed out. It is probably the earliest sell out in the history of the industry in Texas.

Mohair sold in San Antonio and other points in Southwest Texas this week totals $1,750,000 in value, and $1,100,000 of that amount was sold here and at Kerrville on Thursday.

The two pools sold at the Menger Hotel here were from Brackettville and Del Rio. At Kerrville, where a sale was made on Wednesday, and another was scheduled for Saturday, one of the Boston buyers stole a march on the bunch and closed a deal for the remaining pool Thursday.

The foxy buyer is J. M. Lee, representing Draper & Co. He had purchased 475,000 pounds at Kerrville Wednesday. Schreiner Commission Company had between 500,000 and 350,000 pounds, in which Ross Stafford, Press Nichols and C. B. Wardlaw were represented.

Lee bought the Producers' pool of 600,000 pounds scheduled for sale Saturday, but Lee bought it Thursday.

The 380,000-pound pool from the Del Rio Mohair & Wool Co. was purchased by Everett Wentworth, representing Sam Murfitt Company. In this pool were 50,000 pounds of kid hair.

C. T. Parker, representing Ryder & Brown Company, bought the 220,000-pound pool of Peterson & Co., Brackettsville. Clinton C. Brown, member of the firm, was here in person attending the sales. Frank Montague represents the company in Bandera.

It was this firm which purchased 225,000 pounds in San Angelo Tuesday and started the ball rolling down to Southwest Texas, where top prices for the season were obtained by growers.

Buyers were still reluctant to give out definite figures an purchase prices. One did state, however, the prices averaged 70 cents a pound for mature hair and 80 for kid, some more and some less.

One member of the Producers' pool from Del Rio declared that the pool brought better than 70 and 85, the latter getting up close to a dollar a pound.

Mark Campbell of Campbell-Ward Company, Boston, bought the Horner accumulation, 400,000 pounds at Uvalde, Fred J. Horner, member of the concentration firm, announced.

Leslie Nunn, warehouse manager for the Uvalde collectors, said the only price he remembers that ever topped theirs was that received by E. A. Piper Co., at the close of the war period. That figure was 88½ cents.—San Antonio Express.

GETTING THE HABIT OF CLEANLINESS

"What will people think?" is one of the strongest forces affecting human conduct, whether that applies to paying one's debts or to such matters of daily routine as taking a bath. Boys and girls are particularly susceptible to the opinion of the group to which they belong. This, probably, is one reason for the great success of organizations like the Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Camp Fire Girls and others, in moulding the habits of children.

Mrs. Jane Deeter Rippin, National Director of the Girl Scouts, in a recent statement reveals secrets of child guidance that should provide many parents with food for thought. She tells of a twelve-year-old Girl Scout who decided to work for the "health badge," and found out that for three months she would have to follow certain regulations with regard to rest, exercise, food and cleanliness.

"Three months!" she exclaimed gloomily, aware that bathing and tooth brushing had never been her favorite pastimes. "By that time I suppose I'll have the habit!"

The child knew that the public opinion of her troop would count heavily in inducing her to follow these rules, and that before long the habits would become so well established that she might actually enjoy them. For this is how the wise parent, or teacher, or leader of children, helps to guide them in the ways of wholesome living.

Give a girl a feeling of partnership in the humble duties, Mrs. Rippin advises, such as washing the dishes or gathering wood at camp. As long as she feels she is doing it for her troop, the circle whose opinion she values, she does it with a proud sense of accomplishment. And before long the desire for cleanliness, for neatness of person and surroundings, has become secord nature.

Fortunate is the boy or girl whose associates call for good habits rather than bad, for in these formative years it is easy to establish either. Once cleanliness of body and mind becomes accepted as the standard, an inner fastidiousness grows up as a defense against any lowering of that standard. The day of outward discipline passes, and youth learns to become its own taskmaster.

URGES BETTER DENTISTRY

The American dental profession has long been recognized as pre-eminent in the world. The admission of this fact has prompted George K. Burgess, Director of the Bureau of Standards at Washington, to urge the United States Government through its dental services to the Army, Navy, Public Health Service, and other branches, to give an increasing interest to dental problems in order that help may be rendered the dental profession. Dr. Burgess believes that the Government might consider such practical phases of the problem as the waste and attendant loss of time by study of improvements and materials, technique and workmanship. He has particularly in mind the investigations of different amalgams, and inquiry into problems that relate to the properties of alloys, and their effects on inlay castings, and properties influencing service or failure and inlays. The study of metals and vulcanite and similar restorations, used in cavities, are among investigations suggested by Dr. Burgess. He says that the matter presents enormous economic possibilities, since if only one-half of the population is receiving dental service to the amount of ten dollars a year it would exceed a total for the Nation of a half billion dollars.

HANDY-ANDY
COMMUNITY STORES INC.

Why You Should Trade With
HANDY-ANDY

CASH AND CARRY SYSTEM
ELIMINATES OVERHEAD!

REASON No. 1: Every Handy-Andy Store, in this city, and in every other city—sells for CASH!

CASH STORES can sell for less—because when they sell for cash, they also buy for cash—thereby taking advantage of the wholesaler's cash discount.

Cash Stores can sell their merchandise for less because they have no bookkeeping or charge accounts to increase their overhead.

HANDY-ANDY'S tremendous buying power enables him to secure his merchandise at a much lower price than the average independent grocer. These savings are passed on to his customers.

LOWER PRICES create faster turnover! Handy-Andy would rather sell 10,000 items each week, and make 1c profit on each item—than to sell 10,000 each year and make 10c on each item!

LUNCHEON

One of the happiest occasions of the spring season occurred Wednesday when Mrs. W. C. Bradshaw entertained a number of friends with a luncheon, in honor of Mr. Bradshaw's sister, Mrs. Flora Tate of Kingsland.

The pretty country home of the Bradshaws was the scene of this charming hospitality. Mrs. Tate, as a girl, lived in Junction and the ladies present on this occasion were schoolmates of former years.

At the noon hour a bountiful luncheon was served of baked chicken with dressing, country ham, home canned corn, peas, string beans and creamed potatoes, slaw, deviled eggs, pickles, lettuce, fruit salad, hot biscuit, lemon pie, iced tea and coffee.

The afternoon passed all too soon as the ladies reminisced of school days and many a laugh was caused by the remembrance of some youthful prank.

At four o'clock delicious ice cream and caramel cake were served to Mesdames J. A. Heyman, Nat Cowsert, I. O. Weldon, S. P. Bennett, John Martin, John Braley, Asa Farmer, Vashti Taylor, Roy King, Alex Hamer, Flora Tate of Kingsland and the hostess.

At the close of the afternoon these friends, reunited after many years, departed, thankful for such a happy gathering and with a longing to enjoy those happy school days again.

ENTERTAINS

Saturday afternon Mrs. Gay Sieker complimented the Merry Wives Club, the Ladies' Afternoon Card Club and a number of friends with a prettily appointed bridge party at the home of Mrs. Guy Wynne.

San Jacinto Day was featured in the pretty tallies, napkins and other appointments. Colored mints were placed on the tables during the afternoon.

After a series of interesting games prizes were awarded as follows: Merry Wives' high score, six iced tea glasses, Mrs. Sam Woodward; low score, a Dutch cream pitcher, Mrs. L. E. Standifer. Ladies' Afternoon Card Club, high score, a painted Japanese linen lunch cloth, Mrs. Henry Taylor; low score, a cedar ice tub, Mrs. Earl Hill. Mrs. James Taylor of Austin won the guest prize, a pretty rose sugar and cream set, while Miss Ruth Geyer was consoled with a quaint Dutch serial bowl. The cut prize, a green sugar and cream set went to Mrs. H. G. Hubert of Austin.

A dainty salad on lettuce leaf, condiment, potato chips, wafers with melted cheese sprinkled with paprika, iced tea, orange ice and angel food cake were served, with favors of baskets filled with salted nuts, to Mesdames S. S. Bundy, H. D. Taylor, W. P. Riley, Sam Woodward, L. E. Standifer, Carl M. Wolf, U. D. Kindrick, S. O. Ridenhower, Omer C. Wright, John Martin, E. G. Hill, Van Martin, C. T. Orth, L. Phillips, G. G. DUST THE ROSE BUSHES

Among the various diseases which attack rose bushes in the garden, powdery mildew is one of the most common, and one to which nearly all varieties are susceptible. A characteristic symptom of powdery mildew is the powdery whitish coating which appears early in the season on the leaves, usually soon after they begin to develop. If the weather is warm or muggy in the late spring, this disease develops very rapidly. If severe, the growth of the rose bush will be stunted, the leaves will curl, dry, and drop off, and the unopened buds, stems, and thorns will be covered with the powdery coat. Although the plant seldom dies, it does not develop normally and the foliage is disfigured, sufficient reasons for controlling the mildew. The fungicide which has proved most effective for home gardeners is a dust of nine parts of dusting sulphur (not flowers of sulphur) and one part of dry arsenate of lead. (The arsenate of lead also helps to control leaf-chewing insects which may be present.) Dusting should be done when the air is fairly dry and calm. Applications should be made when the leaves first develop and should be continued until late in the summer at intervals of ten days or two weeks. Planting the bushes where they will get plenty of ventilation helps to avoid development of this disease. If it has developed, the collection and burning of diseased leaves on the ground may prevent its spread.

CHESTER ECKERT

In line of duty, as he had always lived, Chester Eckert passed into the Great Beyond at Standifer Hospital in Junction, Texas, Friday afternoon, April 20, 1928.

He was born in Eckert, Texas, August 24, 1902. Early in life, he moved with his parents to Kimble County where he has resided since that time with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Eckert, on their stock farm four miles southwest from Junction. He was educated in the public school of Junction, having graduated from that institution some years ago. His body was laid to rest in Fredericksburg, Texas, Sunday, April 22.

Throughout his entire lifetime he had been a steady dependable and energetic young man.. He was a tireless worker and could always be found at his job. He was never known to waste his time in idleness, but kept himself steadily employed in some useful occupation at all times. He was one of Kimble County's most useful and promising young men.

Sometimes as we see a strong young man, called into Eternity in the prime of life, we are caused to wonder why, but as we realize that if we had our choice of a garden of roses, that we would pluck the most beautiful, perhaps the Almighty, in His Wisdom, pursues the same philosophy. Perhaps he too, occasionally wants the best and most promising. Chester was one of our best.

HINTS FOR THE HOME

(by Nancy Hart)

Don't Miss This!

When brewing tea, put a lump of sugar in the teapot. Then if the tea is spilled on table, it won't stain the cloth.

Eggless, Milkless, Butterless Cake

Boil one cup brown sugar with 1¼ cups water, 1 cup seeded raisins, 2 ounces sliced citron, 1-3 cup lard, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon nutmeg about 3 minutes.

Cool, add 2 cups flour sifted with 5 teaspoons baking powder and beat well. Bake in a greased loaf pan in moderate oven about 45 minutes. Cover with white frosting.

How to Boil Cracked Eggs

You can cook cracked eggs without losing any of their whites if you add a teaspoon of salt to the water in which you boil them.

Enameled Pans

Enameled pans can be cleaned by scouring with crushed eggsnells and soapy water.

Keep Vegetables Green When Cooking

A lump of sugar added when boiling green vegetables helps them to retain their color and is just as effective as the use of soda.

To Keep Fruit

In keeping fruit, let it be spread out in a light, airy place, no two pieces touching. If piled together, or if stored in a damp dark place, it will decompose quickly.

To Clean Grimy Furniture

Dirt and spots that have become firmly fixed on polished or painted furniture yield easily when rubbed with a cloth wrung out of warm (not hot) water and soaped well with yellow naptha soap. Dry quickly, rub with soft flannel—and see how clean and new the furniture looks

Removes Scorch Stains

In most cases scorched spots will disappear from the cloth if the spot is rubbed with fresh bread crumbs.

Takes Ink Stains from Hands

When the fountain pen leaks—don't worry. Rub the stained fingers with a sulphur match, then wash with soap and the stains will disappear.

To Brighten and Protect Rugs

To bring out the color of rugs and carpets, brush them up with a mixture of a cup of vinegar to a gallon of water.

For general sweeping, dry salt scattered on the carpet also helps to preserve colors and to check the ravages of moths.

To Remove Mud Stains

When fabric has been splashed with mud, allow the spots to dry thoroughly, then brush off as much mud as possible. Cover with a mixture of salt and flour and keep in a warm dry place for a day of so. Shake and brush carefully.

A Prize Winner

Real money was paid for this helpful hint: "A good way to know that you are at the bottom of your cellar steps is to paint the last step white." Clever, isn't it?

Pictures Invade the Kitchen

Since kitchen and cooking equipment have become so colorful, pictures have come into the kitchen, too. Cheery scenes they are—a sunny road winding over country hills; a glimpse of an old-fashioned garden; a holiday at the beach, perhaps. They help, wonderfully, during working hours.

SOUTH'S FIRST CHEVROLET FACTORY IN OPERATION

The first Chevrolet car ever built in Dixie rolled off the assembly line Friday, April 13th, when the mammoth new Chevrolet factory in Atlanta—the largest automotive institution in all the South—swung into operation to supply the Southeastern states.

Constructed at a cost of more than $2,250,000, the plant covers 32 acres and has 410,000 square feet of floor space. It has an assembly capacity of 350 cars a day, or more than 100,000 a year. Following the Chevrolet policy of recruiting workmen from the community in which its plants are located, it will be almost exclusively a Southern institution, its 1,300 employees being residents of Atlanta or nearby cities. The payroll will approach $3,000,000 annually.

Production will be on a basis of 2,000 cars for the last half of April, with the May schedule calling for six thousand cars.

The Atlanta plant provides Chevrolet with eight domestic assembly plants throughout the country, an export plant at Bloomfield, N. J., and manufacturing plants at Detroit, Bay City, Saginaw, Flint and Toledo. In addition to Atlanta, assembly plants are located in Flint, Mich., Tarrytown, N. Y., Norwood, O., Oakland, Cal., Buffalo, N. Y., Janesville, Wis., and St. Louis, Mo.

The public will be invited to inspect the plant early in May when an "Open House" week will be arranged.

THINGS WORTH KNOWING

Public Golf Links

Public golf links in the National Capital have added immeasurable pleasure to the lives of thousands of men and women who are infatuated with the game, but who have heretofore been unable to enjoy it because they could not afford memberships in expensive country clubs.

The season in Southern Maryland, Virginia, and the District of Columbia, is well advanced, and the cherry blossom time has just broken in on the capital which is lively because of the schools delegations and other thousands of visitors.

The public golf links in Potomac Park, where President Harding and other statesmen used to delight to match their skill, is a beautiful velvety green. Authorities on golf greens and lawns have followed with interest the conquering of what has been called "brown patch." This is parasitic fungus that attacks grass and propagates from season to season by means of bodies called "sclerotia." A mercury compound featured in Agricultural Department known as semesan furnishes an absolute preventative against the deadly brown patch that has heretofore despoiled portions of public and private golf fields and lawns of fine grasses.

OLD FAVORITES

It's new fashioned to be old fashioned!

To harmonize with the present vogue for antique furniture, and Colonial china, the very latest lamps shown for Spring seek in some way to catch something of the Colonial spirit.

Chintzes, dotted swiss, linen, paper and rayon brocade fashion the loveliest lamp shades that are now on display in Washington.

Quaint, squat little stands in jade green, crystal, amethist and amber are shown with matching shades of pleated dotted swiss.

Another type of Colonial lamp more neraly resembles a kerosene lamp only of course it is electrified. It even has a darling little chimney of glass with a scalloped edge.

Linen fashions some particularly lovely lamp shades of the more formal type. Many of these have the old home-spun appearance and have as decorations needle point inserts. Others have dainty little silhouettes painted on.

Perhaps the very newest lamps, that yet have an old-fashioned appearance, are the ravon brocades. These resemble the gorgeous effects used so much in the more prosperous Colonial times. They are shown in many lovely shapes and are beautifully trimmed in sumptuous gold braids.

Both booklinen and chintzes make some very attractive and inexpensive lamp shades. Pleated and hand decorated, they are very effective indeed.

Parchment, an old favorite, has been made new again by a process of embossing which gives it an effect of leather. Incidentally, a particularly clever hexagon lamp had leather lacings—very new and very smart!

French paper water marked and stiffened makes some exquisite shades. One lovely shade had swallows water-marked, while another shade of the smart French paper had a background of bookline which gave it more body.

For the most part if you would be different in your lamp selection, you must either go back to Colonial times for inspiration or choose something very futuristic.

ICE
Solves Refrigeration's Biggest Problem

ONE of the outstanding advantages of ICE lies in its ability to not only keep food but purify it. As the air circulates over the ice, the impurities and odors from the food are deposited on and absorbed by the film of moisture on the ice cake and carried off in meltage through the outlet. It takes melting ice and an open outlet to do this.

In buying a refrigerator, make sure that it is well insulated, soundly constructed, scientifically designed for proper air circulation, with ample food chamber and ice chamber capacity for the size of your family.

DR. FRANK CRANE SAYS—

Three Things

Gabriel Wells had a Christmas card in which he says that there are three things that constitute a rounded out life: Power, Pleasure and Peace.

The more we think of it the more this seems to be a very good definition.

There is not much satisfaction in a life of no power.

What gives zest to sport is the employment of our powers and we all applaud the victor, that is, the man who shows the most power. This includes both mentality or mental acumen and skill.

As for pleasure, they have learned a great lesson who have found out the abiding pleasures of life are those that come from serving others. The pleasures that we experience in merely receiving gifts or benefits, merely enjoying things that are our own, the pleasures of possession and amusement are temporary and they fade away.

But who devotes his life to bringing joy into the lives of others has an unfailing source of satisfaction.

Peace comes from the firm establishment or connection of life with certain fixed principles. There are some things which, when we have decided upon them, we lay on the shelf. They are not to be reopened. One who is continually arguing the fundamentals is always in hot water and unsatisfied.

That is the advantage in the belief in God. It is something fixed and settled, a central sun about which all of our other thoughts and opinions may revolve.

Of course the belief in God does not imply any congeries of fantastic connotations. One's belief in God may take many forms, but it must have a central core of repose. A life without inner repose is constantly buffeted to and fro by contrary passions.

One who has power sufficient to enjoy his ability to overcome obstacles, who takes pleasure in giving pleasure to others, and who has inner repose enough to keep him content in the center of his being, can be truly said to live a somewhat complete life.

ABOUT YOUR HEALTH

(By John Joseph Gaines, M. D.)

Heart Disease

When a man or woman dies suddenly, and without visible cause, the newspapers announce that deceased was "a victim of heart disease." In the majority of cases the cause of death was nothing of the kind, but—it sets the public mind at rest. It is so easy to lay the blame on this most noble, much-abused organ. Still the fact confronts us stubbornly that, among our several vital organs, the heart is easily first. We should therefore render the heart due respect, and take the best possible care of it.

Perhaps overloading is one of the most serious offenses against a normal heart—and it is accomplished by over-feeding. Roughly speaking, the heart lifts eighteen pounds of blood seventy-two times per minute—or 1,296 pounds per hour—and for a single day, multiply by 24; it runs into tons per month! This supposes you weigh 150 pounds; if you are heavier—think of it! The thing is almost bewildering. I may be in error, but horse sense tells me I am thinking along the right lines.

The unnecessary food that we are continually shoveling into the stomach, and which is later thrown into the circulation by the absorbents, and more than half of it undigested—is the heart to blame if we die of weakened and over-distended arteries? The heart is often blamed for failure, when the six o'clock dinner is the "nigger in the woodpile." The mince-pie, sausage and heavily seasoned dressing, not to say the steak a half an inch thick and often half raw!

Probably shortness of breath and faintness are first symptoms that lead one to suspect a burdened heart. Pain over the heart is more often due to neuritis of intercostal nerves. Palpitation is a warning signal—heed it. You would fight if you were treated as we insult the heart. Kidneys are responsible for many deaths attributed to the heart—then, bacteria from a diseased throat. Keep on good terms with your specialist.

Junction Trade Notes

Junction's new moving picture theater, the name for which has been adopted but not yet announced, is scheduled to open its doors the latter part of next week. The date of opening and name of the theater will be announced by a streamer sign within the next few days. Mr. Lockley and his co-workers are due a good measure of congratulation for their successful efforts in providing the Junction community with a theater so modern in its appointments as to do credit to a town much larger than Junction.

Judge W. A. Keeling of Austin, formerly Attorney General of the State, enroute to Ozona on legal business, stopped in Junction Monday for a brief visit with acquaintances. Judge Keeling intends bringing his family to Junction for the summer vacation.

Most men folks like variety in their meals, and every wife knows how difficult it is to plan meals that keep Friend Husband pleased and satisfied. A good vegetable dinner, so appetizing and filling and nourishing, is just the thing to "fall back on" once or twice a week. Gann Grocery Company receives a variety of fresh vegetables three or four times a week. Use the telephone. Deliveries made twice daily.

Capt. H. W. Rieck of the Patterson-Rieck ranch on the west divide, is enjoying the visit of a brother from Missouri, who will vacation here for several months.

Farmers who may not have secured their planting seeds will find government-inspected seeds, from the Plains, at Gann Grocery Company. The stock includes Sudan, Higeria, Dorso, Dwarf Maize and Red Top Cane.

J. I. Starr of Graham, Texas, was vacationing and prospecting in Junction the past week with the view of locating here. He was accompanied by Mrs. Starr and they were domiciled at Price's Camp. Mr. Starr declared Junction to be the most delightful place he has ever visited in Texas.

The average family is sometimes hard put in determining the meat ration for a quick meal. Libby's Ragon, a beef-vegetable hash, is ready to serve by simply warming in the can. And there's black-eyed peas in cans, to serve as a quick meal. Gann Grocery Company.

Mr. I. C. Woolley of Coleman arrived the latter part of last week and are occupying their quarters at Price's Camp. Mr. Woolley is interested in prospective oil development in Junction territory, but has been detained at Coleman for some weeks on account of illness. Owing to the present demoralized condition of the crude oil industry, wildcat development is slow in all sections of the country.

Personal service is emphasized at Gann Grocery Company. We try to give patrons the service they are entitled to and ask that they, at all times, avail themselves of this service without obligation. We try to have what you want when you want it, and if we haven't it, we'll try to get it for you. Use your telephone and free delivery service.

"INSIDE" INFORMATION

New shoes which fit correctly are comfortable from the start. They do not need the process known as "being broken in."

Keep your sewing machine oiled, clean, and in good running order. Learn to know its attachments and how to use them. Keep your tensions and stitch adjusted to the kind of material you are using. Use good needles of the right size for the thread and material with which they are to be used.

Linoleum, to give good service, should be laid over a smooth floor in such a way that it does not buckle, and it should be cleaned with a damp cloth wrung out of suds made with mild soap. Alkali washing powders, strong soap, or too much water, will ruin even the best linoleum.

When you cut out a dress with a normal shoulder seam and set-in sleeve, see that the back is half an inch longer across the shoulder than the front section. This extra material is eased into the seam to give room for the shoulder blades. If a person is slightly round-shouldered it is particularly necessary to make this allowance.

Leg bands on children's rompers or bloomers should never impede circulation. For this reason elastic bands are not advised. Cloth bands are better. They should be wide enough to slide up the leg five inches or more when the child bends over. Because they must be so loose it is necessary to make the legs of the garment short or they will hang down uncomfortably over the knees.

Cottage cheese can be used in many types of salads. It combines well with other foods, and may be served with French, mayonnaise or boiled dressings. Cottage cheese for salads may be formed into balls, or slices; it may be molded into tiny cups or passed through a pastry tube. Foods that combine well with cottage cheese in salads are crisp, fresh vegetables; cooked or canned vegetables fresh, dried or preserved fruits; nuts; and olives.

Having a built-in ironing board in a shallow closet saves space, is convenient, and helps to keep the cover clean. The hinged support should be placed so that there is room to draw a skirt or dress over the board. The board should be the right height for you. There should be a good light from a window during the day, and artificial light also. The space below the closet into which the ironing board folds may often be utilized for keeping the iron and various accessories.

Some months present so much heavier cash expense than others, it is well to look ahead and provide if possible for these periods. If Easter outfits caught you unawares, how about graduation? You have a vacation fund, doubtless, but the new school term, with books to buy, and often fall clothing, follows hard on the heels of the holidays.

Have you seen the new leaflet, No. 17, on "Cooking Beef According to the Cut?" It is issued free by the U. S. Department of Agriculture. One of the recommendations made in it is that a thermometer should be used in roasting ribs of beef, in order to tell whether they are rare, medium or well-done. This removes the element of guesswork and gives the same results every time.

DO NOT USE POOR SEED

The Department of Agriculture at Washington is constantly urging the farmers to watch their seeds, and if anyone will write to the Department they may secure pamphlets and publications telling them how to detect poor seeds, and how to treat their seeds at a very small cost so as to make them healthy before they are put in the ground. There is a very simple and inexpensive mercury preparation that is known as semesan, which Government tests show has increased the acreage of sweet corn by fully one-third, and which has been used in similarly effective tests in growing potatoes, cotton and root crops. Remarkable results are reported in preventing what is known as "tree cancer" in the root grafting apple nursery business. Semesan is a word derived from two Latin roots, and it means "healthy seeds."

ZOOS, PSYCHOLOGY AND THINGS

In a day when we wear furs from almost every part of a well organized zoo, we must likewise be brightly alert to keep up the good old animal and bird kingdom traditions and flaunt our brightest coats, our finest plumage and our most beguiling natures in the spring time.

There is a word of wisdom in all this. The early bird does not simply capture the worm, but sings and looks his fairest. Was ever a robbin so enticing as at dawn on a summer morning? Was ever a meadow lark so soul-inspiring as on an early summer day? And was ever a beautiful girl so charming as in the first weeks of her spring pulmage, radiant with newness, charm and enticement?

Otherwise why should women forever be getting new wardrobes; new clothes for fall, new clothes for winter, new gowns and suits for spring, new frocks for summer? It is all part of an age-old psychology—the importance, not of being earnest, but of being different. Change makes the wheels of the earth go round, and not least of these are the wheels of fashion.

In this quest for a ride on the alluring style wheels, we must of necessity turn our eyes to the fabrics of the moment since they play such an ineffable part in the well-considered wardrobe.

This is not to say that history never repeats itself; that everything must be of the nature of that which has never been heard of before. To the contrary, there are many lovely things of other days to which fashion is constantly reverting.

Among the most interesting of the older fabrics enjoying a new vogue is the new marquisette which is being used with such success for evening. Printed in patterns of exquisite delicacy or in splashes of strong color, it is supple enough to fall into the graceful, floating lines so essential to the season's smartest gowns, yet it is slightly stiffer than chiffon, and so lends itself admirably to the more bouffant treatment usually accorded to moire and taffeta.

For sports wear there are the rougher surfaced silks such as tussore and surah, the silk and ravon combinations, crepe Gitania, crepe Ibis and Bouquette, to mention but a few of the weaves, foulards, China silks and, of course, all manner of knitted fabrics. These, too, though more often seen in solid color effects, are with increasing frequency to be found in striking design, the masters of this art seeming loathe to leave any possible field in the world of fabrics untouched.

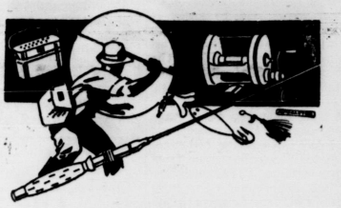

BUILDING BETTER HOMES

These viewers with alarm, both foreign and domestic—who see the United States becoming less and less a nation of home builders, will find some ease for their minds in one of Mr. Hoover's departmental surveys just issued.

Twenty-six per cent more new homes are sprouting up over the land than at this time last year. In fact, last year there were eleven per cent more of this defiance of divorce, jazz and wanderlust than three years ago. And nearly fifty-two per cent more home-building than three years before that.

Which seems to lead to 1921, the year of Mr. Hoover's appointment, when the country began to hear his doctrine of Better Homes and More Home, and that sort of thing. The Commerce Department's unromantic analysis of current business does seem to show, indeed, that not only were there more homes built, but that they were at least six per cent better homes than the homes of three years before—in dollar values, of course, the Bureau of Census not being concerned with matters of housekeeping. And this without aid of increased value of building materials, which in fact cost eight per cent less.

As for the cozy six-roomers, there was all the encouragement in the world to build. The index of material prices for that type of home shelter ranged downward from 201 in 1924 to 187 in 1927 and to 178 when the last report was written. A good home costs 12 per cent less today than four years ago.

What Are You Doing for Their Future?

When your children grow up and start into the world, "on their own," competition will be greater and a living harder to earn.

It is just as much your duty to provide for their future as it is their present, and every advantage and every aid you can give them will make their life's path smoother and brighter.

Take education for example. You from your own experience can see how valuable a good education is, even today. The world makes room for brains, pays well for intelligence. Tomorrow a college education will be absolutely essential to success. Just as essential as a high school or grade school education is today.

It is your duty to provide the necessary financial means for higher education. By starting a savings account now, and making small deposits you will be astonished how it will grow into large funds—and make your children's future a guaranteed success.
