Ask Us

Q—If a business routinely uses the landfill, will that business have to put up with the hassle of paying each time it sends a truck out there?

A—According to city officials, local customers who use the landfill routinely may charge the fees to their utility account and will be billed through their utility bill. The city will also allow businesses to purchase "punch cards" in which a fee is paid in advance and the card is punched each time a trip is made to the landfill.

Pennzoil buys Chevron's interest

From local, wire reports

Pennzoil Co. announced Wednesday that it has bought a significant share of Chevron Corp.'s domestic oil and gas fields, including a 20.84 percent interest in the SACROC unit here.

"Chevron's 20.84 percent is certainly included in this deal," said Terry Hurst, SACROC superintendent. "We're looking at sometime in the near future notifying working interest partners that it appears Chevron has sold its interest and will resign as operator."

The action follows a corporate decision annouced by Chevron a year ago that it would be selling its interest. At that time, it identified 550 fields it would try to sell. The deal announced Wednesday involves 266 fields and, combined with earlier sales, leaves the company with about 100 more fields to sell, said Larry Shushan, a Chevron spokesman.

Many of the 340 workers Chevron employs in the fields would be hired by Pennzoil, the companies said.

When Chevron's corporate announcement was made in August of 1991, SACROC had 95 employees and 55 contract employees in Scurry County. Since that time, early retirement and separation packages, along with transfers to Class A properties owned by Chevron, has resulted in a decrease in local employees and an increase in contract labor.

Hurst said the he expects the deal with Pennzoil to be closed before the end of the year.

"What happens next is the working interest owners will get together when Pennzoil takes over and they will elect a new operator," said Hurst. "I do expect that whoever the new operator is, there will be a transition period there to insure a smooth turnover."

Wednesday's moves double Pennzoil's production capabilities and provides Chevron the opportunity to invest in foreign projects.

Houston-based Pennzoil traded 48 percent of its Chevron common stock, or 15.75 million shares, for all of the stock in Chevron PBC Inc., a subsidiary that owns Chevron's oil and gas interests in the Gulf of Mexico, Gulf Coast, Permian Basin and other domestic

TEA declines to audit fund

The Texas Education Agency plans no action on an anonymous request that the agency conduct an audit of the Snyder Junior High School soft drink and candy fund.

The request was sent to the TEA School Audits Division by letter and was accompanied by a Snyder Daily News article dated Sept. 11.

In a letter to Snyder ISD Superintendent Dalton Moseley, TEA Senior Division Director Thomas D. Canby Jr. wrote that the anonymous letter writer "suspects wrongdoings in connection with the reported shortages, and requests an audit by us."

Canby's letter is dated Sept. 23.

Canby said a staff member of the audits division contacted Scurry County District Attorney Ernie Armstrong on Sept. 17 to determine if the matter had been refered to him by Snyder ISD and found that it had not been.

"Although the Texas Education Agency has no plans to re-audit the activities fund in question, we stand ready to assist the district attorney should the matter be investigated by his office, and should he request our assistance. However, ours would only be a support role to the district attorney, since the TEA is not a law enforcement agency," Canby said.

Canby's letter went on to note that the newspaper article states that corrective actions have reportedly been taken and that district officials should refer disclosures in the fund audit to the district attorney, if fraud or theft is suspected.

In responding to the TEA today, Supt. Moseley notified Canby of Tuesday's board decision to accept explanations of the shortage and not investigate the matter further.

Moseley cited reasons for the unaccounted funds given by former junior high principal Gary Patterson during Tuesday's board meeting.

"The shortage disclosed in the audit, which was a cash basis audit, was due to ending inventories not recognized in the audit, inventory giveaways to faculty and students during meetings and various activities, and undocumented cash disbursements for faculty luncheons and student organizations. The inventory giveaways and undocumented cash disbursements have been substantiated by various staff members who were employed at the junior high during this two-year period," Moseley wrote.

After hearing explanations from Patterson and Business Manager Lee McNair, the board voted 4-3 Tuesday not to continue with the investigation. The issue centered around a two-year audit of the Coke and candy fund when Patterson was principal at the junior high. The audit indicated a shortage of deposits for the two years of about $7,800.

Sales tax creeps up 1/8 of a cent

Sales tax charged at local businesses will see a slight increase today as the second portion of the ½-cent sales tax increase approved in January goes into effect.

The ⅛-cent portion of the tax, which is designated for economic development, began being collected July 1. The second portion, or ⅛-cent, will be used for ad valorem tax relief.

Today's increase will bring the city sales tax total to 8¼ percent. The tax charged before the ½-cent tax increase was approved totalled 7¼ percent.

At the time of the election, city officials estimated that the ⅛-cent portion of the tax will generate $100,000 in property tax relief for the city of Snyder. The ⅛-cent portion of the tax, implemented in July, will create an estimated $300,000 for economic development.

Snyder voters approved the ½-cent sales tax increase on January 18 by a 56.5 percent margin, with 834 voting in favor of the proposal and 642 against.

Voter registration due

Friday is the final day to register to vote in the county clerk's office for the Nov. 3 general election.

Anyone who has not registered may do so in the clerk's office on the third floor of the county courthouse until 5 p.m. Friday.

Registration forms may also be picked up, completed at home and returned by mail, as long as they are postmarked no later than Monday, Oct. 5.

County Clerk Frances Billingsley encourages voters to make sure they have a valid blue and white registration card. Many times people will move from one precinct to another and forget that they must renew their voter's card, she said.

Friday is also the final day a voter who has moved to a new address has to change a card in order to cast a ballot.

However, members of the Texas State Guard will conduct a voter registration booth all day Saturday at Wal-Mart for those wishing to register at that time. The county clerk's office will be closed Saturday.

The in-person early voting period begins Oct. 14 and ends Oct. 30. Anyone who is registered may vote during the early period. Early voting is accomplished at the county clerk's office.

Hermleigh Methodists slate annual festival

Hermleigh United Methodist Church will have its annual Fall Festival Saturday at Hermleigh Community Center.

The festival will be held from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. Also planned is a flea market under a tent, featuring everything from antiques to new and used items.

Many donated items will be given away or sold at auction throughout the day.

A Chinese auction — a new event — will be held throughout the day for donated artwork.

A Farmer's Market will contain canned goods from the garden and produce. Also, a variety of home baked foods such as cakes, pies and other baked goods will be for sale.

A barbecue lunch will be served beginning at 11 a.m. and will consist of brisket and sausage with all the trimmings. The Richburg Band will be playing during lunch and throughout the afternoon. During the noon meal, antiques and other collectibles will be auctioned.

Roping, Coyote Opry planned this weekend

GAIL — The Borden County Junior Livestock Association is sponsoring its Coyote Opry and County Fair at the county showbarn here Saturday.

The annual event serves as a major fund-raiser to assist with improvements of the barn and livestock facilities. Admission is by donation.

Opening the day's events at 1:30 p.m. will be a team roping in the county arena.

A concession stand will be available beginning at 3 p.m.

From 11 a.m. until noon, all fair participants are requested to bring their exhibits to the show barn. Categories being judged will include home canned preserves and jellies, quilts, embroidery, crochet and textile painting. There will also be an art show for Borden County children from grades K through 12.

All fair exhibits will be judged at 2 p.m. and will be available for viewing at 4 p.m.

From 3-6 p.m. a fish or German sausage supper will be served. The cost is $6 for adults and $3.50 for children under 12. Included with the meal will be french fries, hushpuppies, tea or coffee. German sausage will be $2.50 on a stick or $4 per plate and will include fries, tortilla and drink.

The 5th annual Coyote Opry will begin at 6:30 p.m. Featured will be local and area talent performing country and gospel music. Homemade pies, cakes and cobblers will be auctioned off throughout the event.

Team ropers may still contact John Anderson at 399-4425 for entry information. Books will open at 1 p.m. Depending on the number of entries, buckles will be awarded to the high point header and heeler of the day.

The feller on Deep Creek says, "Kids should pay attention to their elders — not because they're always right, but because they've had more experience being wrong."

Otis Francis over in Sweetwater did a poll of his staff to determine what foods would be taken if they were selected to go on a space shuttle mission.

It inspired us to do the same, except most of our crew said they didn't want to go unless somebody could assure them that the golden arches were already entrenched, or that Blizzards were available in at least 10 flavors.

From looking at the table in the break room, our staff are original fast-food junkies. We've been thinking about putting in an extra dumpster outside just to hold all the paper goods.

For a space flight, our ad department insists that delivered pizza is a must, and people in the news department want a little fried chicken with their fried beef.

The women in composition insisted that Mexican food is a must, even in outerspace. Yes, and it has to be the Tex-Mex variety with several baskets of chips and sauce before the main dish, which is always brought out hot.

Most shuttle meals, regardless of recipe's origin — is canned or freeze-dried. Astronauts just add water, pop into the oven and enjoy.

We had freeze-dried rations in the Army, and the best we can remember to say about 'em is that they are filling. They are especially filling if you don't get the packages' contents dissolved sufficiently and it later expands in your tummy.

The best thing we can think about eating pizza, chips, and cheese-topped nachos in outer space is the weightlessness factor. Everything that tastes good and that we Earth people are not supposed to eat will, in outerspace, become true "lite" food.

N.J. cracking down on welfare mothers

TRENTON, N.J. (AP) — New Jersey today becomes the first state to deny an increase in benefits to mothers who have babies while on welfare, part of a reform package intended to make poor families more self-sufficient.

Opponents of the provision say children will suffer, and they have threatened a court fight.

Under the law, a welfare recipient who has a child 10 months or more after enrolling in the federal-state Aid to Families with Dependent Children program no longer will get the usual $64 monthly increase in benefits.

"I don't think that's right. Some people need that help," Barbara Johnson, a 21-year-old welfare recipient in Trenton, said as she waited to see a caseworker.

"Sixty-four dollars can buy Pampers. Sixty-four dollars can by T-shirts for my child. For somebody that don't have a job, $64 is a lot better than none."

Johnson, who has a 4-year-old daughter, is two months pregnant but will not be affected because the state is allowing a 10-month grace period before it begins withholding benefits.

The freeze is part of a law that federal and state officials say will help break the cycle of poverty.

The law allows a welfare recipient who has a child to work and earn an amount equivalent to half her monthly grant without losing benefits. It also allows mothers to marry without losing benefits for their children.

The typical AFDC family in New Jersey, a mother and two children, receives $424 per month.

Other provisions of the Family Development Program, as the package is called, begin today in only three counties — Camden, Essex and Hudson — where more than half of New Jersey's 130,000 welfare families live. The provisions will be phased in statewide over three years.

These provisions are aimed at linking families with the services they need to become self-sufficient, including education, child care, health care and job training.

Women on welfare will be required to go to school or receive job training, or risk losing some or all of their benefits.

"We need to work with all the issues that affect a family," said Aletha Wright, a Human Services Department official responsible for the program. "Before, we focused a lot on the adult, and now we're looking at the adult and the family."

The law was signed by Gov. Jim Florio in January and received the necessary approval from the Bush administration in July.

President Bush has promised to help states that try new welfare approaches, and reforms are being considered in such states as Michigan, Maryland and Wisconsin. More than 40 states have cut or frozen welfare benefits in the past two years.

New Jersey's denial of benefits for additional children has been the focus of controversy.

Court hands out guidelines on broadcasting court cases

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Supreme Court has released guidelines for recording, broadcasting and photographing a court proceeding in a case involving the jailing of abortion protesters in Houston.

Supreme Court Clerk John Adams said the court issued the guidelines "just for that one case," which involved six people jailed for demonstrating too near an abortion clinic.

"What initially strikes me is it does signal a recognition on the part of the judiciary that this is certainly a case of great public concern," said Jane Kirtley, executive director of the Reporters' Committee in Washington, D.C. "With a lot of controversy, you want to allow as many members of the public as possible to see the wheels of justice turn."

The court previously has allowed recording equipment in the courtroom, at the media's request, when justices heard arguments concerning public school funding.

Justice Lloyd Doggett said Wednesday he intends to propose the same guidelines for the Supreme Court's approval for use in future cases.

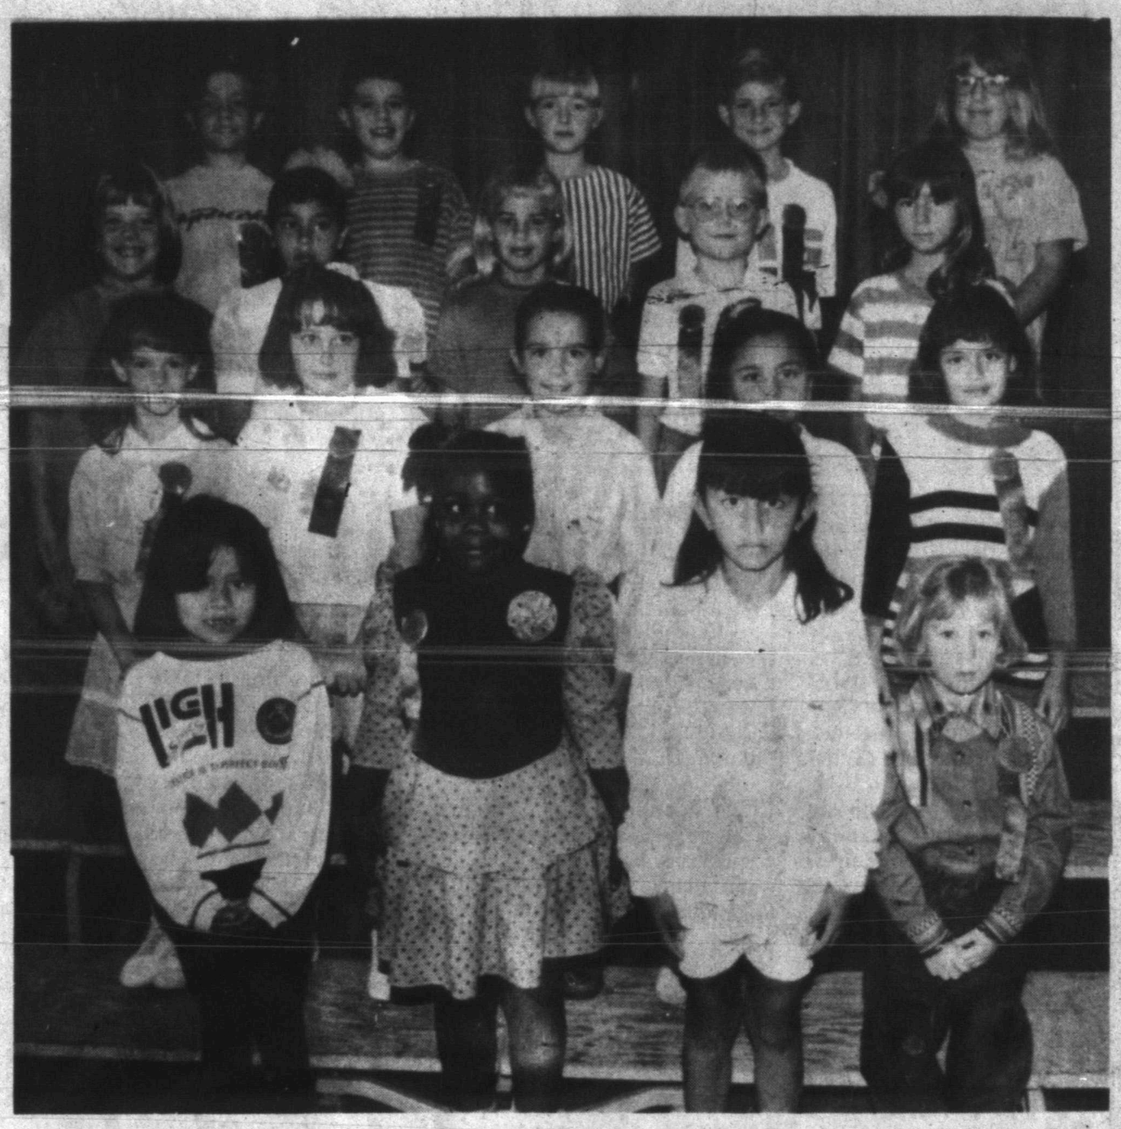

The Supreme Court granted the motion of a lawyer for the abortion protesters to allow the videotaping of a hearing held on Tuesday in the case.

The court earlier had ordered the release of the protesters pending a review of the judge's order that resulted in them being jailed.

Adams said the guidelines would apply to no other case he knows of "until we get further word" from the court.

The guidelines say they "allow electronic recording, broadcasting, and photography of proceedings in this court to facilitate the free flow of information to the public concerning the judicial system and to foster better public understanding about the administration of justice."

"These guidelines are to be construed to provide the greatest access possible while at the same time maintaining the dignity, decorum and impartiality of court proceedings," they say.

Federal court orders new cap on Harris Co. jail count

HOUSTON (AP) — A federal judge has set new limits on the Harris County Jail population and imposed heavy fines against the state unless it removes its inmates who are contributing to overcrowding.

U.S. District Judge James DeAnda issued the sternly worded order late Tuesday as one of his final acts before officially stepping down from the bench Wednesday.

DeAnda ordered that the population of Harris County's four jail facilities, which totaled 12,086 on Wednesday, he reduced to 9,800 inmates by April 1.

DeAnda put the burden of the cutbacks on the state, which holds 5,141 prisoners in county's jails. He ordered the state to pay $50 per inmate for every day that the jail population exceeds 9,800.

DeAnda also mandated the county make major improvements in jail conditions, including fixing a ventilation system in the old jail that he said poses a health hazard to inmates and the community.

"The imposition of fines (against the state) is a major step to bring about compliance," James Oitzinger, an attorney representing inmates in a class-action lawsuit against the county and state, said. Known as the Alberti case, it was filed in 1972.

"We've had prior orders (limiting capacity) that have not been enforced. The requirement that they pay $50 a day per inmate is going to get compliance brought about," Oitzinger told the Houston Chronicle.

Public Notice

Southwestern Bell Telephone Company has asked the Public Utility Commission of Texas (PUC) for approval to offer new optional call management services called Caller Identification Service (Caller ID) and Anonymous Call Rejection (ACR).

Caller ID is a new optional phone service which allows subscribers to see the phone number and/or name of most local calls before they answer the phone. Caller ID also allows the recording of the date, time, name and/or phone number of calls. Currently, Caller ID would work only on most local calls, not long distance calls. It would also require that a separate display unit be connected to the telephone. These units that attach to the telephone will be available from various retail vendors, including Southwestern Bell, at a cost starting at approximately $50.

Southwestern Bell is also proposing that all customers be able to "block," or stop their name/number from being transmitted and displayed on a Caller ID device, free of charge. You would have this option of "blocking" your name/number on each call free of charge. There would be no need to subscribe to this service. All customers would have this capability when Caller ID is introduced in their area.

If you want to block your name or number, you need only press *67 on your touch-tone pad (or dial 1167 from a rotary phone) before dialing the telephone number. The person you're calling would see displayed a message such as "private" or "anonymous" on their Caller ID display unit.

Southwestern Bell also proposes that qualified domestic violence and law enforcement groups have the option of free per-line blocking, or free per-call blocking.

Anonymous Call Rejection (ACR or "block the blocker") allows subscribers to automatically reject all calls that have been marked anonymous, or "blocked" by the person calling. It is not necessary to subscribe to Caller ID Name/Number to subscribe to ACR. With ACR, your telephone will not ring if the person calling you has "blocked" his/her name or number. The person calling whose identification is blocked will receive a message to hang up and call back with caller identification unblocked. Following are the proposed monthly rates for Caller ID and ACR.

Proposed Rates (monthly)*	Residence	Business
Calling Number only	$6.50	$ 8.50
Calling Name only	$6.50	$ 8.50
Calling Name & Number	$8.00	$12.00
Anonymous Call Rejection	$3/$1	$3/$1

* These rates are in addition to the initial installation charges and monthly basic service rate. For residence customers, installation charges are $2.70 per feature, with a maximum charge of $5.40. For business customers, the charges are $5.40 per feature, with a maximum charge of $10.75.

 Anonymous Call Rejection is $3 per month if purchased without Caller ID and is $1 per month when purchased with Caller ID Name or Number.

This proceeding has been designated Docket No. 11362, and a hearing on the merits has been scheduled for November 16, 1992. The PUC has jurisdiction to consider this matter pursuant to Sections 16, 18, 37 and 38 of the Public Utility Regulatory Act (PURA). This application was filed pursuant to the provisions of the PUC's Substantive Rule 23.24. Among the issues that will be addressed in this proceeding is the legality of the Caller ID device and service under Texas wiretap laws.

Persons who wish to intervene or otherwise participate in these proceedings should notify the PUC as soon as possible. The deadline to intervene is October 26, 1992. A request to intervene, participate, or for further information should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, Suite 400N, Austin, Texas 78757. Further information may also be obtained by calling the PUC Public Information Office at (512) 458-0256 or (512) 458-0221 teletypewriter for the deaf.

Southwestern Bell Telephone

Public Notice

Southwestern Bell Telephone Company, in accordance with the rules of the Public Utility Commission of Texas (PUC), hereby gives notice of the Company's intent to implement a new schedule of telephone rates in Texas for optional Custom Calling Services and Touch-tone service, effective March 15, 1993, unless otherwise determined by the PUC.

These proposed rates will not increase or decrease the Company's overall revenues; the net effect will be neutral to the Company's annual revenues.

The Company proposes to decrease the rates for Touch-tone service for residential customers from $1.00 to 68 cents, and also to reduce the Touch-tone rates for business customers from $1.75 to $1.70. In addition, the Touch-tone rates for business PBX trunks will be reduced from $3.15 to $2.18.

This proposal to decrease the rates for Touch-tone service does not change the commitment that the Company made in the Docket No. 8585 Stipulation to reduce the rates for Touch-tone service in 1993.

The Custom Calling Services affected by the Company's application are optional telephone service arrangements that provide the following features: Call Waiting, Call Forwarding, Three Way Calling, Speed Calling-8 and Speed Calling-30. Following are the feature combinations and their current and proposed rates.

	Residence		Business
	Current Rate	Proposed Rate	Current Rate	Proposed Rate
One Feature per line
Call Waiting	$2.10	$2.85	$2.65	$3.25
Call Forwarding	2.10	2.10	2.65	3.50
3-Way Calling	2.10	2.10	2.65	2.50
Speed Call-8	2.10	2.10	2.65	2.50
Two Features per line
Call Waiting, Call Forwarding	3.75	4.25	4.75	6.00
Call Waiting, 3-Way Calling	3.70	4.25	4.75	4.75
Call Waiting, Speed Calling-8	3.70	4.25	4.75	4.75
Call Forwarding, 3-Way Calling	3.70	3.50	4.80	5.00
Call Forwarding, Speed Calling-8	3.70	3.50	4.75	5.00
3-Way Calling, Speed Calling-8	3.70	3.50	4.75	4.00
Three Features per line
Call Waiting, Call Forwarding and 3-Way Calling	5.30	5.65	6.90	7.50
Call Waiting, Call Forwarding and Speed Calling-8	5.30	5.65	6.90	7.50
Call Waiting, 3-Way Calling and Speed Calling-8	5.30	5.65	6.90	6.25
Call Forwarding, 3-Way Calling and Speed Calling-8	5.30	4.90	6.90	6.50
Four Features per line
Call Waiting, Call Forwarding, 3-Way Calling, Speed Calling-8	6.90	7.05	9.00	9.00
Speed Calling - 30 code capacity	3.20	3.20	4.25	3.20

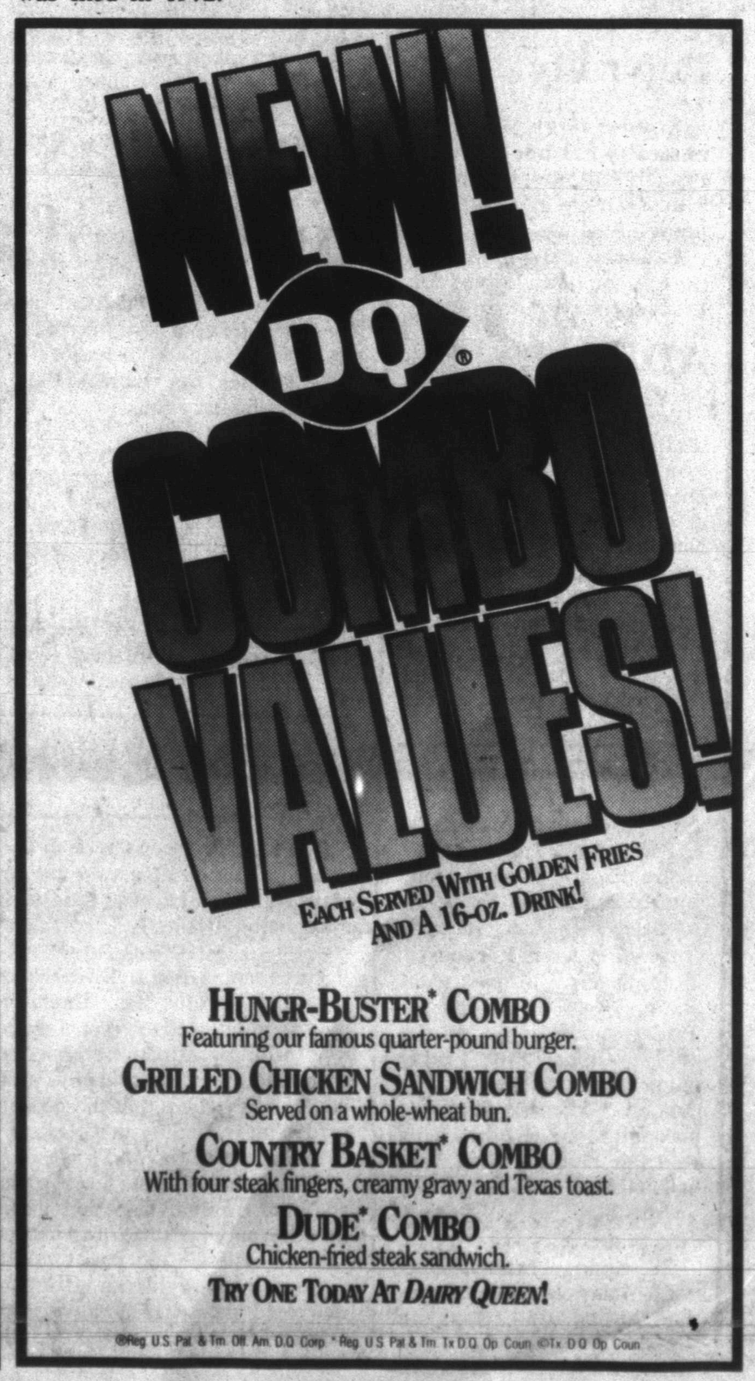

Most of the Company's residence and business customers who subscribe to Custom Calling Features and Touch-tone service will be affected by the proposed rate restructuring.

It is expected that the restructuring of Custom Calling Features will result in a rate increase for approximately 2.9 million residence customers and 280,000 business customers. The reduction in rates for certain Custom Calling Services and Touch-tone Service will affect approximately 4.3 million residence customers and 1.7 million business customers.

This rate restructuring is expected to have a "revenue-neutral" effect on the Company's annual revenues. The proposed rate restructuring of Custom Calling Services will increase the Company's annual revenues by $19.8 million; while the reduction in Touch-tone rates will decrease the Company's annual revenues by $19.8 million.

This proceeding has been designated Docket No. 11382. Persons who wish to intervene or otherwise participate in this proceeding should notify the PUC as soon as possible. The deadline to intervene is October 30, 1992. A request to intervene, participate or for further information should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, Suite 400N, Austin, Texas 78757. Further information may also be obtained by calling the PUC Public Information Office at (512) 458-0256 or (512) 458-0221, teletypewriter for the deaf.

You must try to compete

By Phillip Alder

There are many ways to have an embarrassing result in bridge. One of the worst is to be laydown for a game, yet never enter the auction. That happened to East-West on today's deal.

After South opened with one no-trump, promising 15-17 points in the modern style, North used a transfer bid and then showed his second suit. South was happy to jump to game.

West led his singleton club: three, jack, ace. Declarer drew trumps and ran the clubs ending in the dummy. Next, declarer led dummy's diamond and finessed his jack. It lost to the queen and West continued with the diamond ace. Most declarers would ruff this in the dummy and lead a heart. When they then lost three heart tricks, they would complain about bad luck. But this declarer didn't believe in relying on luck.

Instead of ruffing the diamond ace, he discarded one of dummy's hearts. Now the contract was safe. Whether West switched to hearts or led another diamond, declarer would lose only one heart trick to go with the two diamond tricks already conceded.

As you can see, five diamonds is cold for East-West. Would you have bid over one no-trump with that West hand? If your only choice is a natural two diamonds, it is dangerous. If you have a conventional bid to show a two- or three-suited hand, it is safer, your eggs being placed in more baskets.

Finally, note that the total number of trumps is only 19, whereas the total number of tricks available is 21. The discrepancy is caused by the double fit.

Depression glass show in Odessa

The 18th Annual Depression Era Glass Show & Sale featuring depression glass, elegant glass, pottery, china, primitives, jewelry, and toys of the era will be held at the Ector County Coliseum in Odessa.

The event will be in Building A on Saturday, Oct. 3 from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. and Sunday, Oct. 4 from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. Admisson is $2 and is sponsored by the Permian Basin Depression Glass Club.

The soap operas, "As the World Turns" and "The Edge of Night," made their premieres on CBS television in 1956.

Future events slated by club

The Honey Do's Extension Homemakers met in the home of Patsy Burleson for its regular monthly meeting to plan events and discuss projects.

Five members answered roll call by commenting on something they reuse.

Plans were set in motion for the Scurry County Homemakers' Christmas party in December which the Honey Do's club will be hosting. Club members are collecting Christmas books to take to the Snyder Day Care Center.

The magazine subscription for the Scurry County Library was renewed.

Mrs. Burleson presented a program on making witches from wooden spoons. Each member participated in the craft.

The group discussed its involvement in the Fall Event to be held from 5-8 p.m. on Oct. 26 at the 37th St. Church of Christ Family Center. A workshop will be held at the club's next meeting on Oct. 8 at Vivian Cochran's home.

Polly's Pointers — by Polly Fisher

An egg poached in milk?

DEAR POLLY — My Mom's second husband was an Englishman, and he used to have what he called a coddled egg for breakfast. He melted a teaspoon of butter in a small skillet (with a lid), then poured enough milk in the pan to cover an egg. He added a little salt and pepper and then broke in an egg and covered the pan, letting it cook on medium heat just until the white was set. He then put the egg on a slice of toast and poured the remaining milk over it to soak the toast. As far as I know, that is England's Coddled Egg. — BEANIE

DEAR BEANIE — I'd call it an egg poached in milk, but it certainly sounds interesting. Thanks for passing this recipe along. — POLLY

DEAR POLLY — How about having a family "odds and ends day?" This is a day when the whole family devotes itself to doing a lot of small tasks that are often put off. Do as many as you can. — MER

DEAR POLLY — When putting adhesive shelf paper on shelves and in drawers, just peel back the corners or a small strip along the edge of the backing instead of peeling off the entire back of the paper. The small area of adhesive is enough to hold the paper in place, leaving the paper much easier to remove when you want to replace it. — ELSIE

Keep little ones safe — whether they're your children, grandchildren, babysitting charges or just small visitors — with the safety checklists and tips in Polly's newsletter, "Childproofing Your Home." For District 2-4A teams...

Final non-district tilts slated

By PHIL RIDDLE
SDN Sports Editor

This week is the final tuneup for District 2-4A football teams before beginning the race for the loop crown next week.

Featured games Friday include Snyder, a 14-6 upset winner over Big Spring a week past, at Dumas, Hereford at Levelland, Littlefield at Lamesa, Roswell, N.M. at Estacado, Plainview at Palo Duro, and Coronado at Frenship.

The only other winners representing 2-4A in last week's action were Plainview, who topped Amarillo Tascosa, 28-14, last Friday, and Lamesa, a 28-20 victor over Canyon Randall a week ago.

Other results include Frenship's 27-7 loss at the hands of Hereford, a 30-23 Andrews win over Levelland, and Estacado, which slipped to 1-2-1 on the year following a 27-21 loss to Palo Duro.

Snyder (3-1) at
Dumas (2-2)

The Tigers limited Big Spring's vaunted passing attack to just 12 yards and picked off five passes last Friday.

The SHS offense, while battling the hard rush of the Steers' front seven, managed to click off a 12-play first-quarter scoring drive.

The Tigers got their other seven points as a result of linebacker Charles Richardson's second interception of the game and a 49-yard rush by tailback Ben Wilson that set up a 1-yard quarterback sneak by Matt Cave.

Dumas sports a 2-2 season record, their most recent outing being a 56-20 loss to Class 5A power Amarillo High a week ago.

The Demons are picked to finish fourth in District 1-4A. They bring back eight offensive and three defensive starters from their 5-5 1991 squad.

Included in the list of returnees is tailback James Smith, who accumulated 453 yards rushing last year, and defensive end Jared Morton, who averaged over eight tackles a game in '91.

Hereford (2-2) at
Levelland (0-4)

The Lobos' new head coach, Tom Ramsey, is still seeking his first win in Levelland, though he played Andrews much closer last week than many thought he would.

The Lobos tied the heavily-favored Ponies, 23-23, but gave up a 45-yard run by Jonathan McDonald with just over a minute to play to remain winless.

Levelland receiver Peter Puente caught a half-dozen Kelly Ramsey passes for 158 yards and three TDs.

Hereford gained 423 yards against Frenship a week ago, limiting the Tigers' usually potent offense to just 227 yards, and only 54 in the air.

Littlefield (3-0)
at Lamesa (3-1)

Cole Adams had a hand in almost all the Tornadoes' points last week in Lamesa's 28-20 win over Randall.

The LHS quarterback scored on runs of 27 and four yards and added a 13-yard TD pass to Blaine Sheppard and kicked a 25-yard field goal in the fourth quarter for good measure.

Corey Kelley led the Tors' rushing attack with 171 yards, including an 86-yard touchdown rush.

Littlefield, which has allowed just 15 points all season, was open last week.

Roswell, N.M. (4-1)
at Estacado (1-2-1)

The Estacado Matadors, in spite of having a tough non-district slate, have to be disappointed with a 1-2-1 start that includes a 27-21 loss to 5A Palo Duro last Saturday.

The Mats led, 21-20, in the fourth before allowing a 44-yard Billy Middleton TD pass that was the difference in the game.

All-District 2-4A quarterback Zebbie Lethridge passed for 191 yards on a 10-22 night in the losing cause.

RHS is averaging 36 points a game while allowing less than 14.

Plainview (4-0)
at Palo Duro (3-1)

The Bulldogs are starting to scare the members of their new district. Thay are off to a 4-0 start, including a 28-14 win over Tascosa Friday, and they boast more returning lettermen than most teams have players.

Coronado (2-2) at
Frenship (2-2)

This one will be a matchup of two teams seeking to come back from big losses last week.

Coronado fell to San Angelo Central, 24-7, and Frenship was throttled by Hereford in a 20-point loss last Friday.

AL roundup...

Brewers lose ground to Jays

by The Associated Press

George Brett made history, Frank Viola missed it by an inning, and the Milwaukee Brewers missed a chance to take advantage of Toronto's history of bad final weeks.

Brett, coming back from a two-day layoff caused by a sore left shoulder, became the 18th player to reach 3,000 hits, going 4 for 5 Wednesday night as the Kansas City Royals beat the California Angels 4-0.

Further up the coast, the Brewers lost to the Seattle Mariners 7-4, missing a chance to close within 11/2 games of the Blue Jays, who were no-hit by Viola for eight innings before losing 1-0 to the Boston Red Sox.

Milwaukee, which has one game left with the Mariners and three with the Oakland Athletics, still believes it can win the AL East in the final pennant race of the season.

"It's a lost opportunity to pick up ground and it could be critical, but we'll have to see," Brewers manager Phil Garner said. "It's still not over."

Ken Griffey Jr., Tino Martinez and Bret Boone homered for Seattle, which ended a club-record 10-game winning streak by Chris Bosio (16-6). Milwaukee had won its previous seven overall.

In other games, Kansas City beat California 4-0, Texas beat Oakland 7-3, Detroit beat Baltimore 4-2, New York beat Cleveland 4-2 and Chicago beat Minnesota 4-3.

Seattle took a 4-1 lead in the third on Boone's fourth homer and Griffey's 27th, a three-run drive. Griffey became the first player in Seattle history to drive in 100 runs in consecutive seasons.

Tim Leary (8-10) gave up three runs and eight hits in 5 2-3 innings and Rich DiLucia finished for his first major league save.

Red Sox 1, Blue Jays 0

At SkyDome, even Viola's near no-hitter couldn't keep Toronto from lowering its magic number to two for its second straight AL East title and third in four seasons.

Viola (13-12) didn't allow a hit until Devon White's leadoff single to center in the ninth and finished with a one-hitter. Viola was pitching by his own request with only three days' rest against David Cone (4-3), who allowed a fourth-inning homer to John Valentin.

Royals 4, Angels 0

Brett got hits his first four times up and followed Milwaukee's Robin Yount as the second player to reach 3,000 this year.

Brett, who had four or more hits for the 59th time, doubled in the first inning and singled in the third and fifth, all off Julio Valera (8-11). Then, in the seventh, Brett hit a liner off Tim Fortugno that bounced past the head of second baseman Ken Oberkfell.

"It was amazing how relaxed I was," Brett said. "I couldn't believe it. Usually I envisioned what the 3,000th hit would be like and all the pressure and tension in my arms and all the nervousness in my body, but there was none tonight. I felt very, very relaxed all night."

Rick Reed (3-7) scattered seven hits in his second major league shutout.

Rangers 7, Athletics 3

Jose Canseco played in the Oakland Coliseum for the first time since the Athletics traded him to Texas on Aug. 31, and hit a run-scoring single.

Canseco, traded for outfielder Ruben Sierra and pitchers Bobby Witt and Jeff Russell, singled with the bases loaded in a four-run seventh.

Jose Guzman (16-11) allowed three runs and six hits in seven innings and Matt Whiteside got five outs for his third save.

Juan Gonzalez hit his 41st homer, a two-run drive in the first off Bob Welch (11-7).

Tigers 4, Orioles 2

Detroit got six doubles and the Tigers turned four double plays in their final home game.

John Doherty (7-4) gave up two runs and nine hits in six innings and Mike Henneman got three outs for his 24th save. Bob Milacki (6-8) was tagged for four runs on seven hits — including six doubles — in six innings.

Yankees 4, Indians 2

Melido Perez (13-16) allowed three hits in eight innings and Danny Tartabull homered as visiting New York stopped a three-game losing streak. Steve Farr pitched the ninth for his 29th save. Dave Mlicki (0-2) gave up three runs and eight hits in six innings.

White Sox 4, Twins 3

Robin Ventura hit a tie-breaking home run off Scott Erickson (13-12) leading off the eighth at the Metrodome. Mike Dunne (2-0) was the winner and Roberto Hernandez got his 12th save.

Lefty O'Doul's batting average of .398 for the Phillies in 1929 is an all-time record for that club.

Brett raps 3000th hit against Angels

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) — George Brett always had a flair for the dramatic.

Nursing a sore shoulder, with the season dwindling down to the last five games, the Kansas City Royals star got the four hits he needed in spectacular fashion. He hit safely his first four times up Wednesday night to become the 18th major leaguer to reach 3,000 career hits.

He doubled in the first inning against the California Angels, singled in the third and singled again in the fifth, all against Julio Valera.

Then, with most of the fans in Anaheim Stadium already on their feet, he hit rookie reliever Tim Fortugno's first pitch to him in the seventh on a hard liner to the right side of the infield.

The ball hit the dirt just in front of second baseman Ken Oberkfell and took a big hop over his shoulder into right field and Brett reached the milestone.

The 39-year-old Brett, whose 19-year career has been marred by a string of various injuries, added his name to the 3,000-hit list that began this season with Pete Rose at the top and Roberto Clemente at the bottom.

Brett did it with the 59th game of his career in which he had four or more hits.

"I was a little misty-eyed," said Brett, who received a five-minute standing ovation and was presented the ball he hit and the first-base bag.

Heading into the game, he was worried that he might tear the strained muscle in his left shoulder, and the thought also was in the back of his mind that he was running out of time to get No. 3,000.

"It's a relief ... and I am the happiest man in the world right now," he said after going 4 for 5 in the Royals' 4-0 win over California.

"All I wanted to do was get one hit and not do any further damage to my shoulder. I was scared the first time I swung, but then I relaxed."

He laughed and added, "After 19 years, I'm finally learning that you don't have to swing hard to hit the ball."

WTC rodeo team competes at SRSU

Western Texas College cowboys and cowgirls saddle up after a week off and hit the National Intercollegiate Rodeo Association trail this weekend at the Sul Ross State University NIRA Rodeo in Alpine.

The Westerners' men's team captured second place at the season-opening Eastern New Mexico Rodeo two weeks ago, gathering 200 points, trailing just defending Southwest Region champion Tarleton State's 375-point total.

Travis Whiteside led the WTC charge at Portales, N.M., winning the bareback riding event with a two-head 142.

Also earning spots in the ENMU finals were bareback riders Eric Mouton and Troy Thomson, calf roper Leddy Lewis, steer wrestler Justin Peevey, and bull riders Trey Griffin and Fletcher Tigner.

WTC's women's team accumulated 25 points to finish in a fifth-place tie with host ENMU.

West Texas State University, led by former Western Texas standout Jennifer Lee, who won all-around honors at Portales, scored 225 points to win the women's division.

Four members of WTC's women's team made the short go at the season debut including Dusti Beaton in goat tying, barrel racer and breakaway roper Jonell Cardwell, and Shawna Davidson and Brandye Bitters in breakaway roping.

Performances at Alpine begin at 8 p.m. nightly, today through Saturday. Sunday's short go, featuring the top 10 qualifiers in each event, begins at 1 p.m.

Giants nip Braves in NL West battle

by The Associated Press

Jeff Brantley and Tom Glavine cleared some things up.

Brantley demonstrated his recent success as a starter wasn't a fluke and Glavine put concerns about his health entering the playoffs to rest in San Francisco's 1-0 victory over Atlanta on Wednesday night.

Brantley, making only his fourth start for the Giants after 52 relief appearances, pitched 5 1-3 innings to increase his scoreless streak to 20 1-3 innings.

Brantley (7-7) allowed three hits, struck out eight and walked two. He's 3-0 with an ERA of 0.44 in 20 2-3 innings as a starter.

Rod Beck pitched the final two innings for his 16th save as San Francisco snapped a two-game losing streak and ended Atlanta's three-game winning streak, one night after the Braves clinched the NL West title.

Glavine (20-8), who has lost five of his last six decisions, has been bothered by sore ribs for more than two months.

Will Clark drove in the game's lone run in the first inning with a sacrifice fly.

In other National League games Wednesday, Chicago shut out Pittsburgh 6-0, Cincinnati beat Los Angeles 3-1, New York beat Philadelphia 6-2, St. Louis defeated Montreal 3-2 in 11 innings, and Houston beat San Diego 5-4.

Astros 5, Padres 4

In Houston, Eric Anthony hit a pair of two-run homers.

Anthony cut San Diego's lead to 4-2 with a homer in the fourth and completed the scoring with the game-winner in the eighth.

Jimmy Jones (9-6) got the final out in eighth for the victory and Doug Jones worked the ninth for his 35th save.

Cubs 6, Pirates 0

In Chicago, Greg Maddux reached 20 victories for the first time in his career, scattering seven hits in his fourth shutout and ninth complete game.

Maddux (20-11), who struck out nine and walked two, joins Glavine as the only 20-game winners in the NL.

Ryne Sandberg had four singles and scored three runs for the Cubs.

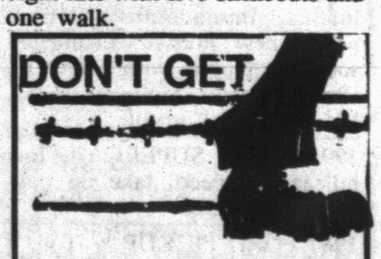

Reds 3, Dodgers 1

In Cincinnati, Tim Belcher allowed five hits in seven innings for his fourth straight victory and Willie Greene drove in two runs with a double and a single.

Mets 6, Phillies 2

In New York, Chico Walker drove in three runs with a pair of singles and five Philadelphia errors led to three unearned runs.

Sid Fernandez (14-11) allowed eight hits with five strikeouts and one walk.

interests.

The tax-free exchange will reduce Pennzoil's interests in Chevron from about 9.7 percent of Chevron's outstanding shares to about 5.3 percent, or about 17.2 million shares.

The deal would result in a $375 million gain in the fourth quarter for San Francisco-based Chevron, Chairman Ken Derr said.

The deal continues a trend of major oil companies selling their older, more developed oil fields so they can devote more attention to developing new oil fields abroad.

Chevron this spring signed a 40-year deal to invest up to $20 billion to develop two oil fields on the northeastern coast of the Caspian Sea in Kazakhstan, a former Soviet republic.

In the exchange with Pennzoil, 60 percent of the reserves Chevron is releasing are in the Gulf of Mexico and Gulf Coast where Pennzoil's operations are concentrated. The remaining reserves mostly are in West Texas. About 60 percent of the reserves are natural gas.

"This deal is a perfect fit for Pennzoil. Not only does this double our current oil and gas business, but it will also boost our cash flow substantially and fund long-term goals for the company and the acquired reserves match our present reserve mix," Pennzoil President James L. Pate said.

The acquisition virtually doubles Pennzoil's high quality crude oil production capabilities and increases its natural gas production by 75 percent. It also will increase the company's proved reserves by 85 percent and add 414,000 undeveloped acres, mostly in natural-gas prone areas, to the company's properties.

Also, Chevron and Pennzoil agreed Wednesday that at closing, they will drop all legal claims against each other stemming from Pennzoil's 1989 investment in Chevron stock. As part of the agreement, neither company will purchase additional shares of each other's stock for five years.

Current production at SACROC is below 20,000 barrels a day Production peaked in 1974 at 211,000 barrels per day.

Also for sale is Oryx's interest in SACROC as well as the two gas plants. Oryx is the largest owner of SACROC with a 27.1 interest.

The unit was formed in March of 1953. At that time, the north third was operated by Standard (now Chevron), the middle third be Mobil and the southern third by Sun (now Oryx).

Mr. Greenfield

Services have been set for 2 p.m. Friday at the First Baptist Church Chapel for Harvey O. Greenfield, 89, of Snyder. Burial will follow in the Dermott Cemetery. Officiating will be the Rev. Don Taylor.

Mr. Greenfield died at 7:57 a.m. today at his residence after a lengthy illness.

Born on Aug. 3, 1903, in Ranger, Mr. Greenfield was a Scurry County resident since 1906. He married Mary Williams in 1922 in Snyder. She died in 1974. He married Laura Fraley on Sept. 19, 1975, in Snyder.

He retired as track section foreman for Santa Fe Railroad where he worked for 42 years. Mr. Greenfield was Worshipful Master of Scurry Masonic Lodge 706. He was active in the Senior Citizens Center and was a member of First Baptist Church.

Survivors include his wife, Laura Greenfield of Snyder; two sons and daughters-in-law, Barney O. and Gaynell Greenfield of Slaton, and Sonny and Doris Greenfield of Snyder; a daughter and son-in-law, Verna and Guy B. Love of Mansfield; stepchildren, Gayle Burleson and Norman Fraley, both of Snyder; five grandchildren; eight great-grandchildren; and several step-grandchildren and step-great-grandchildren.

Michelle Boyd

1971-1992

SAVANNAH, Ga. — A memorial service was held Wednesday at 2 p.m. in the chapel of Massey Funeral Home in Garden City, Ga., for Michelle Dawn Boyd, 21, of Savannah, Ga.

Ms. Boyd died Sept. 24 at Memorial Medical Center after a long illness.

A Tennessee native, she had lived in Savannah for the past eight years and had attended Groves High School.

She was the niece of Opal Stout of Snyder. She was preceded in death by her grandmother, the late Laurine Boyd.

Other survivors include her mother, Marie Boyd of Savannah; her father, Jerry Boyd of Houston; formerly of Snyder; two sisters, Katy and Christy Boyd of Houston; and maternal grandmother, Louise Ward of Louisville, Tenn.

The family suggests memorials to the Kidney and Diabetic Foundation.

Willie Shook

1909-1992

BURNET — Services will be held Friday in the Edgar Funeral Home Chapel in Burnet for Willie Collier (Bill) Shook of Burnet, formerly of Snyder. Burial will be in the Oatmeal Cemetery. The Rev. Windle Lee will officiate.

Mr. Shook died Wednesday.

Born on Aug. 4, 1909, in San Saba County, he was a retired farmer and a Baptist.

Survivors include three brothers, Roy Shook of Burnet, Ernest Shook of Hobbs, N.M., and Alfred Shook of DeLeon; and two sisters, Sally Holland and Mattie Shook, both of San Antonio.

1897-1992

Services are pending at Bell-Cypert-Seale Funeral Home for Lillie Lena Samples, 94, of Amarillo, formerly of Snyder.

Mrs. Samples died Wednesday at 1:10 p.m. at Bivens Memorial Nursing Home in Amarillo.

Born on Dec. 6, 1897, in Mason County, she was married to Rufus Allen Samples on Feb. 28, 1912, in Riggins County. He died on July 30, 1963. Mrs. Samples moved to Scurry County on Dec. 25, 1914. She moved to Diboll in 1980 before moving to Amarillo. She was a housewife and a member of the Nazarene church.

Survivors include three daughters, Violet Samples and Joan Bartow, both of Constantine, Mich., and Winnie Permenter, Amarillo.; two sisters; and 18 grandchildren;

Congress votes to release files

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress has sent President Bush legislation to release to the public virtually all of the government's classified files on the assassination of President Kennedy.

The secret material — held by Congress, federal agencies, libraries and archives — contains everything from autopsy photographs and top secret intelligence reports to newspaper clippings and tax returns.

On a voice vote Wednesday, the House yielded to the Senate version of the legislation and gave up its demand for a court-appointed commission to review documents that officials insist on keeping secret.

Both the Senate and the Bush administration demanded that the five commission members be picked by the president with the approval of the Senate, rather than through the U.S. Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia.

House Judiciary Chairman Jack Brooks, D-Texas, complained that "the same appointment procedures that unleashed critics" of past investigations of the Nov. 22, 1963, assassination in Dallas are being employed again.

But, he added, winning a turf fight over the issue was not worth risking the loss of a chance to get the files opened.

The legislation responds to renewed public interest in the assassination created by Oliver Stone's 1991 film "JFK," which portrayed an elaborate conspiracy surrounding the shooting. Stone was one of the chief lobbying forces behind the bill.

A presidentially appointed commission chaired by the late Supreme Court Chief Justice Earl Warren concluded in 1964 that the killing was the act of lone gunman Lee Harvey Oswald.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY MAXIE McNEW

Austin woman dies within hours after prison release

EDINBURG, Texas (AP) — Jennifer Whitt had only a few hours of renewed freedom before she died.

The 24-year-old Austin woman died shortly after her release from a Reynosa, Mexico, prison on Wednesday after 91/2 months of incarceration.

Ms. Whitt had crossed the border last December with three friends. There she had purchased 280 Valium capsules and some Percodan with a doctor's prescription. She was arrested for drug possession while standing in front of a pharmacy.

Despite Ms. Whitt' prescription, authorities said the amount of drugs exceeded the legal limit. In Mexico, there is not a presumption of innocence. There also are no bail bonds allowing a defendant to get out of jail while the case works its way through the legal system.

Ms. Whitt's family spent the months arguing that the drugs were for a chronic back problem, going nearly broke financially trying to get her released.

Finally late Tuesday, Ms. Whitt was freed.

"Before this, I took a lot of freedom for granted. I took a lot of my family for granted," she said after her release. "Now I appreciate them more."

A few hours later she was dead.

Ms. Whitt, a chronic asthma sufferer, was transported to the emergency room of Edinburg Hospital after suffering an asthma attack, said her father, W.J. Whitt. She was pronounced dead at 2:50 a.m. on Wednesday.

Medical officials are awaiting autopsy results before releasing an official cause of death, said Hidalgo County Justice of the Peace Rene Torres.

The Whitt family had just attended a celebration dinner Tuesday when Jennifer became ill.

Whitt said he stopped a police officer to ask for directions to the hospital when his daughter suddenly slumped in her seat. Paramedics were summoned.

"They said that she had a weak pulse, but I think she was already dead," he said.

U.S. Consul Janice L. Jacobs, who worked closely with Ms. Whitt and the three companions jailed along with her, said the young woman had complained of back problems throughout her incarceration. She suffered from bursitis, a joint disease causing swelling and extreme pain in her shoulders.

At one point she spent several days in the prison clinic after an apparent asthma attack, Ms. Jacobs said.

"When we were there, if she had any kind of medical problems we would make sure that she got to the clinic, that she got to see a nurse or a doctor and that she got the medication that she needed," Ms. Jacobs said.

Repeated attempts by The Associated Press to reach prison officials Wednesday were unsuccessful.

"It was just a shock, such a tragedy, that this would happen after she gets released," Ms. Jacobs said.

Letter to the Editor

To the Editor,

Yeah, I watch football games in the fall. I have my favorite teams. The selection is never stable. I move it a lot. Has not always been that way.

With Staubach, Lilly, Waters, Hawley, Hayes and others the Dallas Cowboys had no problems retaining my favor. Then the Jones-Johnson wrecking crew arrived. We admit Tom Landry was showing some senility. Down and distance appeared unknown at times. The role of the clock seemed unclear to him at times. Suppose J&J felt obligated to humble him. There were so many better ways to push him out the gate. That the Cowboys are winning, now, (1991-92) does not mean Landry could not have done as well. That is all history — though rather bitter history.

The above concerns professional football. I watch college football some. I have my favorite here, too. Texas Tech, my alma mater, has my favor of course. At times they may not deserve it.

I want Baylor University to defeat everyone except Texas Tech because Grant Teaff is from Snyder, Texas where I have lived forty-plus years. Also, I want Baylor to win because I was raised a Baptist. I should want SMU to win as I belong to the Methodist church at present, but Southern Methodist University has been penalized for dishonesty. Methodists won't tolerate dishonesty.

Get me out of the Southwest Conference and I am lost. I get mixed up. There should be a law prohibiting the use of letters only to name a university. USC, UCLA, WU, OU, ND, etc. confuse me. I understood some one to say NAACP was playing AARP. I said I was betting on NAACP.

Sometimes I turn the TV on hoping a certain team will lose. I am for the winner in a negative manner. Some years back I wanted Philadelphia to lose no matter whom they played, and Washington, and St. Louis for sure. Then Cunningham came along. I still want Philadelphia to lose but I want Cunningham to win. See my dilemma?

In a way I favor the underdogs. Like I wish Tampa Bay could win more. Atlanta? I want them to win, sorta. But, I don't want Glanville to win, so my feelings get mixed up again. Don't get me wrong. Glanville must be a great coach, a smart man, and he will beat you when the stakes are even. His sideline tantrums turn me off. Admit he is doing better of late.

Wish Johnson would rearrange his hair or unarrange it. Wish Ditka would slow the pace of his wriggly cut. Wish the University of Miami could be admitted to the NFL. And wish without much hope that Texas Tech can defeat A&M* come Saturday.

*OK! OK! Texas Agricultural and Mechanical University.

Police note two arrests

Snyder police made two arrests and worked a traffic accident Wednesday.

Police were called to a disturbance at 9:37 p.m. in the 1900 block of Coleman where they arrested two women, ages 30 and 24, for public intoxication and disorderly conduct-fighting.

Officers also responded to a disturbance at 9 p.m. in the 100 block of Milburn. An offense report for family violence was filed.

At 2:20 p.m., police investigated a two-vehicle collision at Cogdell and College Avenue. Involved were a 1981 Chevrolet pickup driven by Dana Deere Cauley of Ira and a 1981 Chevrolet Monte Carlo driven by Cliff Travis Gates of 2006 37th St.

Officers worked a hit-and-run case in the Cogdell Memorial Hospital parking lot at 10:58 p.m. Involved were a parked, unoccupied 1991 Chevrolet owned by Louisa Ramon of Lubbock and a vehicle which left the scene.

When Cooking With Alcohol, The Proof Is in the Pudding

DEAR ABBY: I baked a Southern Comfort Cake that contained 1/2 cup of Southern Comfort (80 percent proof alcohol) in the mix and 1/4 cup in the glaze. My husband would not let our 8-year-old have any. I was told by the person who gave me the recipe that when you cook alcohol, the alcohol evaporates, leaving the flavor. This has caused much confusion in my family. Would you please tell me if this is the truth or a myth about cooking with alcohol.

COOKING WITH ALCOHOL

DEAR COOKING: I can understand your confusion. For many years, it was assumed that alcohol "burned off" when heat was applied. However, a University of Idaho study done for the federal government's Human Nutrition Information Service concluded that a percentage of alcohol does remain in cooking, depending on the type of wine or spirits used and the amount of heat applied. As a precaution, your husband was wise to forbid your child to eat the cake and glaze laced with whiskey.

Of course, recovering alcoholics, people with certain allergies or people on certain medications should avoid any product "flavored" with alcohol — and that includes over-the-counter cough syrup or sherry flavoring, which might trigger a desire for alcohol. Read labels carefully because many more products contain alcohol than people are aware.

DEAR ABBY: Please tell "Inhibited and Embarrassed" not to feel either way because of her mastectomy scars. Rather than being apprehensive, all she need do is to tell the truth to any man in whom she is seriously interested. Hours, days or even weeks before any intimacy, she should tell him about the surgery she survived, and if he's the right kind of man, it won't make any difference.

This happened in my life. My sweetheart, a truly wonderful woman, had two major operations. The first one left a jagged scar across her belly.

The first night we were intimate, I kissed her scar tenderly and lovingly. She never undressed in the dark again!

DEAR ABBY: Congratulations to "Unplanned Parent in Iowa" who wrote to you recently about Planned Parenthood and the valuable services it provides.

I, too, am a success story because of the contraceptive counseling I received from the people at Planned Parenthood in college just before my wedding. They gave me the information I needed to plan a family — something my parents could not bring themselves to talk about, and something I could not afford to pay for from a private doctor at the time.

My husband and I now have three children by choice, and I owe much to the caring staff at that Planned Parenthood clinic. In the past, I volunteered some time at our local Planned Parenthood clinic, hoping to give something in return.

Working behind the scenes, I can also attest that the staff genuinely cares about women's health, and that they do provide option counseling when a woman comes to them with a crisis pregnancy.

I'm glad that they would have been there for me, had I ever been faced with a crisis pregnancy. They serve a vital role in our society.

VAL TOMSIC, PLANNED AND PRO-CHOICE PARENT, NAPLES, FLA.

Suit alleges stillbirth deception

Mom says baby lived, was adopted

DALLAS (AP) — A woman who believed that her baby was stillborn nearly 20 years ago has filed a lawsuit alleging the infant was actually born healthy and sold to a couple now living in Arizona.

Linda Morrison Thompson filed the lawsuit Tuesday in a state District Court in Tarrant County. She is seeking more than $250,000.

In the lawsuit, she accused Dallas attorney Albert Leviton of illegally taking control of the infant and turning it over to Paul and Julia Glass for an undetermined amount of money.

Reached at her home in Phoenix, Mrs. Glass refused to comment. Leviton did not return calls left at his Dallas office.

Mrs. Thompson's attorney, Frank Thompson of Fort Worth, told The Dallas Morning News he believed that her ex-husband, Bill Morrison, arranged to give the baby away. When the mother awoke from her sedation after delivery, he told her the child had been born dead. A baby born previously to the couple had been stillborn.

The hospital released the baby to Leviton, who had a court order giving him temporary custody of the child, said Thompson. He and his client aren't related.

Thompson said he believes Leviton met Mr. Glass at Love Field and handed over the baby for money.

"Back then she was suffering from what now would be called 'battered wife syndrome,' Thompson said. "She was scared of her husband. He told her the baby was a boy and that he was stillborn. That's what she believed all these years."

Mrs. Thompson said she had no idea of the whereabouts of her former husband.

Leviton was suspended from practicing law for three years after he pleaded no contest in April 1985 to criminal charges of aggravated perjury and illegally accepting money from a client during an adoption, according to State Bar Association Records. He was given a five-year probationary sentence.

Last year, Mrs. Thompson began searching through Texas birth and death records in Tarrant County to try to locate two daughters she had put up for adoption. She also wanted a death certificate on the little boy, but found there was none.

But there was a birth certificate for a Baby Girl Morrison on that same day.

Mrs. Thompson's husband called the Wilson Jones Memorial Hospital in Sherman and asked about records of the birth of a boy on Oct. 31, 1972, but hospital officials confirmed the Morrison baby was a girl who had lived, not a boy who had died.

A detective helping Mrs. Thompson uncovered more records. In Dallas, an old file showed a petition filed by Leviton on behalf of the Glasses, then New York state residents, that gave the attorney authority to remove the infant from the hospital, but located the hospital in Dallas County, not Grayson County, Thompson said. The petition said the natural parents had consented to an adoption on Nov. 2.

Thompson said the mother was still hospitalized on Nov. 2, and hospital records showed she had been given "an unusually large amount of tranquilizers." She was dismissed from the hospital on Nov. 3.

No records of an adoption by the Glasses could be located in either Grayson or Dallas County, Thompson said.

Mrs. Thompson married Mr. Morrison in 1965 and they were divorced in 1973. Of the four surviving children, the couple kept only a son.

The lawsuit states that Mrs. Thompson was admitted to a mental health center for psychiatric counseling in 1985.

She suffered various emotional problems through the years, some related to the loss of her child, the lawsuit says. She also sought counseling in August 1991 after the revelation that the baby born in 1972 had lived and been raised by someone else, the lawsuit says.

League study shows U.S. voters frustrated

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas law makes it difficult for the public to follow campaign contributions and expenses, according to a new study by the Texas League of Women Voters.

The eight-page report titled "See How They Run: The Political Campaign Process in Texas" is based on interviews and poll results that show many voters are frustrated and angry about the current political system.

"We have discovered that almost all Texans have opinions about the campaign process, and the opinions are highly critical," said Evelyn Bonavita, chair of the League's Texas Education Fund.

Campaign expense reports are available for public scrutiny at the Texas Ethics Commission, but the League says "there is not currently a user-friendly data base that enables researchers to pinpoint readily specific information ..." on how contributions are raised and spent.

The League notes that in Texas there are no limits on the total amount of contributions that a candidate can receive, and that under the state law, it is difficult to trace contributions from political action committees, lobbyists and so-called soft-money, which are nonregulated political funds.

The study showed that most Texans believe that campaigns are too long, expensive, negative and confusing.

Most also believe that campaign expenditures should be limited, but disagree that campaigns should be financed with public funds.

One former state office candidate said that negative campaigning lessens respect for the office, and leaves the winner no clear mandate because issues were not debated during the campaign, according to the report.

The study found that many believe that campaigns are being dominated by political advertising rather than debates between candidates.

The high cost of these packaged campaigns make the candidate more dependent on special-interest contributions and less available to the public for an examination of his or her political beliefs, the report said.

On The Issues

The issue: PAC contributions

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Associated Press asks the Bush and Clinton campaigns for their stands on an issue each weekday and assembles their responses.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Here are the views of the presidential nominees on the question: Should the government ban or put tighter limits on campaign contributions from political action committees (PACs) sponsored by corporations, unions and special interest groups?

Bush: "Yes, I strongly support campaign finance reform to eliminate special-interest influence in elections, to promote electoral competition, and to increase campaign participation of individuals and political parties without raising taxes or threatening First Amendment freedoms. So an important part of my new legislative agenda will be a simple bill to abolish PACs subsidized by corporations, unions and trade associations."

Clinton: "Yes. As a presidential candidate I have chosen not to accept PAC contributions and, as president, I would sign the campaign finance reform legislation vetoed by the president. It is also important that we enact campaign spending limits."

Legaldegook...

2nd annual awards presented

DALLAS (AP) — The word watchers of the legal world have struck again, bestowing the "2nd Annual Legaldegook Awards" on shellfish shucking regulations and seven other examples of written excess.

"We're looking for delightfully atrocious pieces of legal writing," Bryan Garner, a Dallas attorney who leads the Plain Language Committee of the State Bar of Texas, said Wednesday.

They got plenty. Attorneys from across the country submitted 30 entries to the contest, up from 20 a year ago.

This year's "Save The Period" award went to the introductory sentence of an Alabama contract dispute brief that easily exceeded 300 words, far outpacing last year's 174-word monster.

And a new Texas law was given the "She-Sells-Seashells Award" for lilting legislative alliteration.

"Shucking of Shellfish — Shellfish shall not be subjected to contamination while being held or processed. Shellstock to be shucked shall be stored ... in such locations that contamination from standing water or splash from foot traffic does not occur ... Only safe and wholesome shellfish shall be shucked."

Then there's the winner of the "Foggy Footnote Award:"

"Non-contingent, conceptual, semantic connectedness is an absolutely necessary condition for sameness of meaning. If two terms meant the same thing, then normal language users find themselves inclined to perceive a necessary, conceptual, unbreakable connection between the two things. Frequent correlations are insufficient to prove connections of meaning."

Uh huh.

But this year, the committee also created a Hall of Fame to honor lawyers well known and not so well-known for their clear prose. The inductees include Thomas Jefferson; Abraham Lincoln; Jeremy Bentham, an 18th century philosopher and economist; Timothy Walker, an Ohio lawyer who started the Cincinnati Law School; Charles Beardsley, a Texan who led the American Bar Association in 1940; and Fred Rodell, a Yale law professor who died in 1980.

Garner said the Hall of Fame counterbalances "the negativity of the Legaldegook Awards. And it also illustrates that the plain language movement is nothing new," he said.

FLIRTING WITH THE ELECTORATE

Oprah's lawyer to attend auction

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Oprah Winfrey's lawyer and representatives of Playboy were among 150 people registered for today's auction of Alex Haley's papers and possessions.

The author left about $1.5 million in debts when he died of a heart attack in February at age 70.

The claims against his estate forced the three-day auction, which will sell his 127-acre farm outside Knoxville and the Pulitzer he won in 1977 for "Roots: The Saga of an American Family."

Also for sale were two original manuscripts from Haley's first book, "The Autobiography of Malcolm X," with editing notes by Haley and the black Muslim leader, and manuscripts from Haley's Playboy interviews with Malcolm X, Sammy Davis Jr., Jim Brown, James Baldwin, Miles Davis, Muhammad Ali and Johnny Carson.

A jetliner and a light plane collided over San Diego, Calif., in 1978, killing 150 people.

Jogging is safe after hysterectomy

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I'm a 35-year-old white female who has had a battle against endometriosis for 21 years now. I had my right ovary and tube removed, followed by a total hysterectomy. I love running and jogging and would like to begin again, yet my mother, who is a nurse, is concerned that my bladder will not hold up — literally. My gynecologist and urologist agree there will be no problem.

DEAR READER: Assuming your gynecological surgery was properly performed, you should have no difficulty with a strenuous exercise program. (Remember, however, that this activity is associated with several orthopedic problems, such as stress fractures and joint pains.)

Middle-aged women may begin to experience symptoms of a "dropped bladder" (incontinence and urinary frequency) when the uterus sags against the bladder, altering its position. After hysterectomy, women seldom experience this age-related phenomenon. In fact, the treatment for a severe cystocele ("dropped bladder") includes hysterectomy, to relieve pressure on the bladder. Your doctors are correct.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Can lupus be inherited? I'd appreciate what information you can provide on the topic.

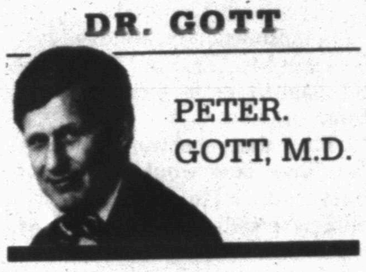

DEAR READER: Many diseases appear to have a tendency to be inherited. The reason for this is not well understood; no one has yet identified a cancer "gene" or a heart disease "chromosome." Lupus, an auto-immune (self-allergy) disease marked by skin and kidney disorders, is more common in people who have had blood relatives with the disorder. However tantalizing this observation may be, there is no proof that lupus is inherited, in the manner of, say, cystic fibrosis or Huntington's disease, a neurological affliction.

Therefore, the answer to your question of whether lupus CAN be inherited is "yes." Is it usually? No. Remember that about 90 percent of lupus cases are women, suggesting to some experts that an unidentified genetic, sex-related factor may play a role. However, at this time, the cause of lupus and its pattern of possible inheritance are yet to be discovered.

To give you more information, I am sending you a free copy of my Health Report "Lupus, the Great Imitator." Other readers who would like a copy should send $1.25 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title.

In wake of Cross' release, victims seek tougher terms

AUSTIN (AP) — The release from prison of convicted killer James C. Cross and others shows the need for tougher sentencing standards and prompt enforcement of the death penalty, victims' rights advocates say.

"Where is justice? Where is common sense?" asked Matt Harnest of the Coalition for a Safer Society. "The punishment needs to fit the crime."

Cross, 50, who was convicted of the 1965 rape-strangulation of a University of Texas student, walked out of prison a free man Wednesday after serving nearly 27 years.

Cross had served enough "good time" on his 80-year sentence to be discharged from prison without parole restrictions after being denied parole 20 times.

Harnest and others likened the Cross case to the parole of Kenneth Allen McDuff. A convicted killer whose death penalty was commuted to life, McDuff was paroled and now is back in custody charged with the slayings of two women.

"Today, the state of Texas is releasing another violent killer. I'm tired of this state taking chances with our lives," said Lori Bible, sister of an Austin woman who was kidnapped and slain in a case authorities have said may be linked to McDuff.

"They were both called model prisoners. They both were educated at public expense," Ms. Bible said. "I ask all the people of this state to stand up and say 27 years is not good enough."

Harnest said state legislators should assure juries are told how long prisoners actually will serve.

He also called for an end to early release of violent criminals and speeded-up court appeals so that inmates don't remain on death row for years.

"We need to be implementing the death penalty swiftly," he said.

Although Cross has earned multiple college degrees while in prison, Harnest said it is a big gamble for the state to turn convicted killers loose.

"We can only hope and pray at this point that James Cross will prove himself a productive citizen rather than follow in the footsteps of Kenneth McDuff and others," Harnest said.

Astro-graphs By Bernice Bede Osol

Your Birthday

Oct. 2, 1992

Chance could play a greater role than usual in your financial affairs in the year ahead. However, you'll have to do your part. Don't leave everything up to luck.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Guard against the inclination to stretch the truth a bit today. Your ploy isn't apt to work, and it could make you look bad. Get a jump on life by understanding the influences governing you in the year ahead. Send for Libra's Astro-Graph predictions today by mailing $1.25 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) There are indications you might be rather wasteful today where your resources are concerned. If you're a poor manager now, you may not have what you'll need later.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Those you'll be involved with today will resent it if you put your needs or desires above everyone else's.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Be sure you look at your problems realistically today and not through rose-colored glasses. You will do more harm than good if you kid yourself.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Doing activities that are the least expensive will prove to be the most gratifying today. However, there's a chance you might do just the opposite.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Achieving an objective at this time depends a lot upon timing and luck. Unfortunately, these factors may work against you today.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Don't believe everything you hear today. The exaggeration of someone who is promoting something might elevate your expectations to false heights. The subsequent crash could be a major disappointment.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Try to subdue your risk-taking inclinations today, especially in financial areas, where you hope to score unrealistic gains. Bucking the odds isn't apt to work too well.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) There is a possibility you might make an unwise decision today that is very similar to one you recently made. Profit from your mistakes; don't compound them.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) A philosophy that fits someone else to a T might not be tailored to you. Don't attempt to imitate something today that doesn't suit you.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Strive to be as thoughtful and gracious in your social activities today as you usually are. Bad manners or poor taste won't be readily forgiven or forgotten.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Something you do today might inconvenience another, even though this individual may not be involved in your decision-making. Try to consider others.

Mahony abandons ratings proposal

UNIVERSAL CITY, Calif. (AP) — Roman Catholic Cardinal Roger Mahony abandoned his proposal for a new TV and movie ratings code, asking Hollywood instead to promote "human values."

In a letter addressed to studio chiefs, Mahony backed away from a January statement in which he asked for a production code.

"Because I reject censorship, I do not propose a code to govern what filmmakers may create, nor do I wish to dictate what intelligent viewers may see," Mahony said Wednesday.

Brooks honored again

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Garth Brooks, whose introspective songs and rousing concerts have lifted country music to new heights, was voted top entertainer by his peers for the second year in a row.

Brooks' 9 million-selling "Ropin' the Wind," which has been No. 1 on both the pop and country charts, won best album to give him two major honors at Wednesday's Country Music Association Awards.

Brooks shared the spotlight with velvet tenor Vince Gill, who won two awards, including top male vocalist. Mary-Chapin Carpenter was chosen top female singer.

Billy Ray Cyrus won single of the year for the rollicking crossover sensation "Achy Breaky Heart."

"Awards aren't what it's all about," Brooks, who sold boots before his music career took off three years ago, said backstage at the Grand Ole Opry.

"If you go into a town, and there ain't tickets left for your show or records in any stores around there, then you're doing your job."

Gill, co-host of the nationally televised show with Reba McEntire, collected trophies for best male vocalist and for writing his hit "Look at Us" with Max D. Barnes.

It was the second straight year he was voted country's top male singer by his fellow musicians, vocalists and songwriters.

Carpenter, who won a Grammy Award earlier this year, said she hopes her country award ends questions about whether she's really country.

"I spend most of my year doing interviews explaining why I'm a country artist, defending myself more than anything else," she said. "This makes me feel like maybe I don't have to."

George Jones, whose hits include "He Stopped Loving Her Today," was named to the Country Music Hall of Fame in recognition of his 40-year career.

"The only thing I can say is that country music has been awful good to me throughout a whole bunch of years," Jones said.

The new honky-tonk duet Brooks & Dunn won duo of the year, breaking a four-year hold on the award by the mother-daughter act the Judds, who are no longer performing together.

Fiddler Mark O'Connor was named best musician, and Diamond Rio was chosen best group.

Alan Jackson's "Midnight in Montgomery" was voted the No. 1 music video. Travis Tritt and Marty Stuart won vocal event of the year for their freewheeling "No Hats" concert tour, and Suzy Bogguss was given the Horizon Award for most promise.
