FATAL SHOOTING TAKES PLACE IN VICTIM'S HOTEL

Fort Worth Citizen Charged With Murder

DALLAS, Texas, April 18.—Jay Clay Powers, 42 years old, playright, and manager of a local hotel, died late today at a sanitarium where he had been taken after being shot twice as he stood near the guests register at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

D. E. Soderman, former hotel man and resident of Fort Worth, was disarmed and arrested by a city detective, immediately following the second shot. The detective was conversing with the day clerk, of the hotel when the shooting occurred.

Minister Present

Soderman was charged with murder in a complaint filed by Assistant District Attorney McNicoll in the court of Justice Alexander.

"Not a word was uttered before the shooting," James Calverley, Baptist minister and former army chaplain, of Mexia, Texas, said describing the shooting to officers. He said he was sitting in a chair about six feet from Mr. Powers when he fell.

Seized by Officer

"The man who fired the shots walked to where Mr. Powers was talking with a man, stepped in front of him and fired. Mr. Powers dropped to the floor. The man doing the shooting was then seized by a city detective."

Was Prominent Vet

Powers, when shot, was talking with H. W. Sterling, a business partner.

Mrs. Fowers and Lucille, 12, only child, were at the bedside when death came two hours afterward.

Powers, who held the rank of major in the war, was prominent as a writer of dramas in addition to being well known in business circles.

When the world war broke out, he entered the first officers training camp at Fort Orglethorpe, Ga.; was commissioned a second lieutenant and at the end of the war held the rank of major.

In association with two other men, he operated four hotels, the Woldorf at Dallas, the Terminal and Melba at Fort Worth and the Mobley at Cisco.

The Terminal hotel at Fort Worth was sold to Mr. Soderman slightly more than a year ago according to C. M. Hilton, one of Power's associates. Later, he said, the hotel was purchased back from Soderman.

WILSON DENIES THANKING REED

Former President in Missouri Campaign

By Associated Press.

ST. LOUIS, April 18.—A letter from Woodrow Wilson, former president, tonight denied a recent statement printed in the Globe-Democrat that he had thanked Senator James A. Reed, democratic candidate for nomination and re-election for great service which the senator rendered him in perfecting and passing the federal reserve bill, which was issued by Lee Meriwether, attorney and supporter of Reed here.

Accompanying Wilson's letter, the Globe-Democrat prints another from Senator Reed in which a purported copy of the letter from Wilson to Reed is given. The letters from the former president and Senator Reed follows:

isn't an accident. A man who tried to collect his harvest, without first planting and then cultivating (the more intensively the better) would be the laughing stock of his community.

Likewise almost any business concern which hangs out its sign and waits for trade to come without advertising would soon get acquainted with the sheriff. There are but few exceptions—and who should take such a great risk?

It is advertising's job to bring new trade and it surely does it, or there wouldn't be any advertising.

Tumulty's Greatness—On With Progress—Hy Isn't a Hog—

By H. N. F.

A WASHINGTON CORRESpondent says that Joseph Patrick Tumulty is heart-broken over the public rebuke administered to him by Woodrow Wilson but remains loyal to his former chiefetain despite it all. Tumulty must be a Christian, ready for the other cheek to be smashed. This must be said for Tumulty. He served Woodrow Wilson twelve long years. He never betrayed him. He never belittled him. He was never disloyal to him. He never sold his influence. He was for Wilson all the time, when men high in the confidence of the president were stabbing him in the back and others who had been signally honored by the president secretly stabbed his policies and betrayed his cause. Tumulty was without money and without price. Supermen are at times forgetful men. Tumulty was indiscrete but never a traitor to Woodrow Wilson or the policies and principles which are so dear to the heart of the man who was war president and war winner. It pays to be just. Woodrow Wilson is a casualty of the war. He is broken and old. Tumulty shows his greatness by his continued loyalty to the great chieftain of democracy.

ELBERT H. GARY, SPEAKING for the great American steel king, in his annual report made known that the corporation has made steady and persistent and intelligent progress from the time it started; that it has fortified its position and become stronger; that it has added to its capacity and to the wealth of its stockholders. Then there has been no slump in steel; there has been no slump in dividends; there has been no slump in earnings. Deacon Gary and Deacon Rockefeller are optimists; they are veteran golfists; they know that the country is all right; they know that the underfed have disappeared from America; they know that there is no poverty nor misery and no idle workers. There are billions in steel;; there are billions in oil. On with the car of progress.

NOW THE UNITED STATES government has brought suit for 9 million dollars which it wishes to collect from the defunct Lincoln Motor Car Company. Henry Ford purchased the defunct company for 8 million dollars at receivers' sale. If Uncle Sam has a perfect claim then the company owed the government a million dollars more than the plant was worth and included with the plant its good will and its business. Regardless of this the Lelands, father and son, were saved by Henry Ford. They were on the rocks of disaster and the little wizard placed them on their feet. Henry isn't a hog. There are men who are as hoggish in disposition and appearance as a nine-hundred pound Poland China porker.

REPUBLICANS TO RUSH ACTION ON BONUS MEASURE

Leaders Expect to Shelve Tariff For Time

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 18.—Senate republicans meeting today in party conference voted 26 to 9 in favor of the passage of a soldier bonus bill at this session of congress. The finance committee majority was requested in a formal resolution to report such a measure "within a reasonable time" which was constructed by some leaders as three or four weeks.

Will Shelve Tariff

Under the present plan the tariff bill, which by a decision of the party conference, is to be called up Thursday, "without further delay" would be laid aside temporarily for consideration of the bonus. There was a suggestion that the means of financing the bonus might be provided for in an addition to the tariff bill.

Revenue Provision

There is a division of opinion among majority senator leaders as to whether the senate could attach a revenue provision to the bonus bill itself, because of the requirements that revenue measures originate in the House. The bonus measure passed by that body carried no means of financing. Aside from the House bill, which was referred to it last month, the senate committee has before it the bonus legislation which was recommitted by the senate last July at the request of President Harding. This likewise has no revenue raising provision.

Only one member of the finance committee, Senator Calder, of New York, voted against the conference resolution declaring for passage of the bonus.

TEA POT DOME TO BE TAPPED

Government Will Get 12 1-2 Royalty

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 18.—Contracts for the opening of the naval oil reserves in Wyoming to private enterprise and the operations of those already operated in California in a manner designed to assure the navy permanent storage of fuel oil above ground were announced today by Acting Secretary of the Interior Finney, with the Mammouth Oil company of Delaware, and the Pan-American Petroleum company, of California.

The contract with the Mammouth Oil company, a new concern of which H. F. Sinclair, of the Sinclair interests, is president provides for the tapping of the so-called Tea Pot dome in naval reserve number three in Wyoming, the government to receive graduated royalties ranging from 12 1-2 per cent to 50 per cent for the entire area of the reserve.

To Drill 20 Wells

Under the Pan-American Petroleum contract handling and exchange of crude oils from naval reserves number one and two, in California, is provided for involving the exchange of the navy's royalty oil from the reserves for fuel oil in storage at points designed by the navy on the Pacific coast.

The Mammouth company will drill "at least 20 wells within a limited time," Judge Finney said, and will construct a pipe line from the Wyoming fields to existing pipe lines in Missouri for the exchange of crude for fuel oil for naval use, through which navy specified bunker A oil will be delivered at any point named from Guantanamo, Cuba, to the northeast corner of the United States. PAT MURPHY IN SHERIFF'S RACE

Auditor Endorsed by Citizens League

W. W. (Pat) Murphy, at present county auditor and a candidate for county tax collector was endorsed Tuesday afternoon as the Wichita County Citizens association candidate for sheriff.

The endorsement came after a discussion of several candidates at the last two weekly meetings. Murphy received the solid vote of representatives present at the meeting outside Wichita Falls, while the delegates from Wichita Falls divided their vote on the first ballot, making it unanimous on the second.

Friends of Murphy assured the committee that if endorsed by it Murphy would make the race for the place.

The recommendation adopted by the committee will be forwarded to the several hundred members of the association as provided when the association was organized through several meetings over the county. The choice is a recommendation, however, and is not binding on the membership of the organization. The membership is bound, however, to give the recommendation the most serious consideration.

Murphy makes the second candidate to enter the ring for sheriff against Sheriff Smith this week, Jim Glenn, veteran officer, having joined those already in the race with a Sunday announcement. Others in the race include Fred K. Smith, present incumbent; Bob Windham and Jimmie Maxwell.

W. W. (Pat) Murphy, selected Tuesday afternoon as the sheriff's candidate of the Wichita County Citizens committee, will withdraw from the race for county tax collector and enter his name as a candidate for sheriff, he said when called at his home Tuesday night.

MASKED PARTY FLOGS TEXARKANA GROCER

TEXARKANA, April 18.—R. E. Clark, local grocer, was seized by a party of masked men last night as he alighted from a street car, was driven by automobile in the country and given a flogging. MAGNOLIA ADVANCES PRICE OF GASOLINE

HOUSTON, April 18.—Effective today the Magnolia Petroleum company advanced the price of gasoline 3 cents, from 18 less 3 to 21 less 3 to filling stations in Houston and several Texas points. No reason was given for the advance other than instructions from the general offices in Dallas. Other large refineries and marketers had taken no action early today to meet the new price.

15-Year-Old Kid Go Into Gas Station And Rifle Cash

"Stick 'em up.

"Keep your back to us or we'll kill you."

Two youths, 15, gave this order to H. G. Warren, manager of the Western Oil company filling station, corner Fourth and Indiana streets at 8:45 last night as they walked into the station.

The command was emphasized with oaths.

Warren told police that he was bending over his desk with his back to the door checking the day's business, when the two youthful bandits entered.

Both Masked

He did not see them until they spoke.

He said that he then turned partially around and found himself covered with two large pistols in the hands of the youths, who were masked.

Unarmed himself, he said, he allowed the pair, with his back turned, to secure $12.50 from the cash register. Apparently somewhat nervous, the two boys overlooked larger sums of money in the office.

Boys Leave With Order

"Now keep your back turned and stay there 10 minutes," was the final command issued as they left the station and disappeared in the darkness.

Warren said that he immediately turned around but was unable to follow them. From the description given police believe that the two boys had made extensive preparations for the holdup, one of the boldest that has occurred here in several months.

They were clad in new overalls and shoes apparently having purchased them for the robbery. The filling station is located on the concrete road leading out to Burkburnett and Iowa Park and there were machines passing during the holdup with the additional danger that motorists might drive into the station for service.

10,000 "FATTY" FILMS STOPPED

All Contracts Are Cancelled

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 18.—Cancellation of all contracts for the showing of films in which Roscoe C. (Fatty) Arbuckle appears was announced tonight by Will Hays, head of the motion picture distributors association, this action he said, affected nearly 10,000 contracts.

After a conference with Nicholas Schenck, Adolph Zukor and Mr. Lasky, Mr. Hays said:

"They do this that the whole matter may have the consideration that its importance and warrants, and the action is taken now from the fact that they had nearly 10,000 contracts in force for the Arbuckle picture. No pictures in which Arbuckle appears will be released until the matter has been gone over very carefully by all parties concerned."

Wichita Man Wounded by Officer In Long Beach Pistol Duel May Be Identified as Cecil James

"Herbert E. Robertson," 22, wounded in a pistol duel with California police in a Long Beach, California, park Monday night, is believed to be Cecil James, 22-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. H. G. James, of 1304 Kemp Boulevard, this city.

This information was conveyed in a telegram dispatched Tuesday night at the instance of J. E. Miller, chief of detectives of this city, who has been investigating the report, which reached here Tuesday, that the man known to the California officers as "Robertson" claimed a home in Wichita Falls. Chief Miller said last night that H. G. James believes the wounded man to be his son.

The message, sent to Ben W. McLendon, chief of the Long Beach police department, asserts that "H. G. James thinks the man shot is his son, Cecil James." The information further pointed out that Mr. James has been writing to his son in California and addressing the letters to "H. E. Robertson."

Chief Miller requests the California chief to send him full particulars regarding the injured party.

James was formerly employed in the Wichita Falls telephone office and had also been an employe of the First National Bank, it was said last night.

R. L. Benton, who was arrested when Robertson was wounded and who is being held for investigation, is also a former resident of Wichita Falls, he having lived at 302 Fourth street. Benton had been an employe of the Denver freight offices here.

ALBA, Texas, April 18.—It takes an awful lot of hooch to apply the demand in this neck of the woods, if the latest capture can be taken as an indication. Prohi hounds recently discovered a creek had been dammed and that it was being used for the making of mash. Heretofore, barrels had been used for this purpose, but it seems that this outfit couldn't make enough at a time and resorted to the creek.

Now They're Blaming Ku Klux Klan With Second Primary Idea Despite Fact Committee Chairman Named It

Nearly everything under the sun has been blamed on the Ku Klux Klan—but here is the latest in Wichita Falls right now. The klan is blamed, according to rumor, with the decision to hold a second primary to decide the county elections this summer.

The blame is put on the klan in spite of the fact that the county chairman, who selected the committee which decided upon the primary, is outspoken against it, as are a number of his committeemen whose views are known. But it is the Ku Klux who are to blame some candidates insist, and they deduce it thus wise:

"There wasn't a candidate in Wichita county who wanted the second primary, which is optional with the committee in county races. The Ku Klux Klan platform calls for law enforcement, and the removal of officers who do not enforce the law. They will be against present incumbents, and believe that they can beat them by throwing their vote with the vote which will naturally go against present peace officers following enforcement agitation."

TEXAS BOOTLEGGERS MAKE BURROS WATCH OUT FOR DRY SLEUTHS

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 18.—Texas bootleggers are training to stampede in order to give warning of approaching prohibition agents, according to reports received today by Commissioner Haynes. The edueated burros do not actually recognize the agents as dry enforcement officers, the report says, but are trained to stampede at the approach of any strangers. This is done, the report explained, by the bootleggers feeding them sugar and then having accomplices give them a sugar substitute causing severe pains in the stomach.

"Consequently," the report said, "the animals become skeptical of strangers and stampede at their approach.

RELIEF GROUPS AID HUNDREDS IN STRICKEN AREAS

Loss of Property Is Many Millions Dollars

By Associated Press.

CHICAGO, April 18.—The terrific storms sweeping eastward across the country, which in some parts of the central states became tornadoes, resulted in at least 32 persons killed, two missing, 320 injured and several million dollars damages to property, according to reports tonight from the stricken district. The 320 listed thus far as injured include only those in towns which felt the full effect of the storms. Scores of others in sections which were not in the tornado belts were hurt and the total is believed to be beyond the 500 mark.

Many May Die

In addition, several of the injured are in critical condition and may not live.

Illinois and Indiana were hit hardest, the list of known dead in Illinois being 11, while in Indiana, 19 fatalities already have been reported. The Illinois reports are believed to be complete but there are some areas in Indiana from which no word has been received, all lines of communication being broken.

Two persons were killed in Missouri, while Kansas, Michigan and Ohio suffered heavy property damage.

Storms Move East

Tonight the storms still were moving eastward, but apparently had spent their full strength, subsiding in most places to snow, rain or hail, with winds which, while high, were not of tornado velocity.

Tonight hundreds of families were homeless, where houses were demolished by the storms and Red Cross and other relief workers had been rushed into the devastated areas. Telephone and telegraph lines were down in most of the stricken sections with the result that complete reports of destruction wrought by the winds and rains still were unavailable.

"BIG NAVY" MEN BACKING DOWN, SAYS OFFICIAL

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, April 18.—Decision of "Big Navy" men on the heels of their victory for a bigger enlisted force, not to offer amendments to the 1923 naval bill providing money increases for shore station activities provoked a bitter row in the House today, in the course of which Chairman Kelley charged "they had backed down, expecting the senate to complete the job."

Declaring the "Cat was out of the bag," Kelley showed to the House the whole question at issue circled around the number of officers, and then charged that the navy department, in insisting on an increased personnel, wanted to put 200 additional destroyers in commission. There came later a denial from Secretary Denby transmitted through Representative McArthur, republican, Oregon, of the charge that the department contemplated putting into service a large number of destroyers than allotted by the bill.

BUSINESS MEN HELD UP IN POKER GAME

By Associated Press.

BRECKENRIDGE, Texas, April 18.—Eight prominent business men of this city were held up and robbed in a poker game at 2 o'clock this morning by two men who took the "pot" consisting of $400, a gold watch and a six shooter from the table and escaped, the players reported to the sheriff. Four alleged robbers were arrested and identified later in the day, the police said. Three took an active part in the robbery, according to the police, and the fourth man acted as "master mind," loaning his shoes to one of the others.

The sheriff said the player will not be fined since they helped capture the robbers.

Inhabitants of Flooded Illinois City Refuse to Be Denied Joys of Election And Paddle to Polls a La Venice

By Associated Press.

BEARDSTOWN, Ills., April 18.—With contests in each of the five wards in the city, Beardstown voters paddled to the polls in boats today to cast their ballots in the aldermanic election.

Every boat in the flooded district was commandeered by politicians to transport voters to the polls. One ward worker equipped an automobile with high wagon wheels and used the machine to haul voters through the submerged streets of his ward.

Railroad men, laid off by the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy following the coal strike, became boatmakers and are finding a ready market for the small craft which are sold at prices ranging from $12.50 to $20. Politicians bought the boats as rapidly as they were finished to use in the election today.

Beardstown's third "flood baby" was born today but was forced to leave his home for a few hours after his arrival because the rising water made the house of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Moeller, uninhabitable.

WILSON DENIES—

that one Lee Meriweather is quoted as saying he had seen a letter from me to Senator Reed 'warmly thanking him' for the great service the senator rendered in perfecting and passing the federal reserve bill.' I have no recollection of ever having written any such letter. On the contrary, I clearly remember that Mr. Reed gave every objection to the completion and adoption of the bill. His objections indeed were so many, so varied and so inconsistent with one another that I recall, speaking to him about them in conversation. Having spoken of reading a certain parody on a well known novel a told him that his course in the committee reminded me of the conduct of the hero in that parody who, when rejected by the heroine, rushed from the house, mounted several horses and rode off in every direction.

Broke Confidence.

"Statements such as the one quoted from Mr. Meriwether appear to be intended to create the impression that Mr. Reed and I have held the same principles and advocated the same policies, and that he is entitled to and may be assumed to have my endorsement as a candidate for reelection to the senate. This is far from being the case. To those who have closely observed Mr. Reed's career in Washington he has shown himself incapable of sustained allegiance to any person or any cause. He had repeatedly forfeited any claim to my confidence that he may ever have been supposed to have and I shall never willingly consent to any further association with him.

"I beg that you will do me the courtesy to publish this letter.

"Very truly yours,

"Woodrow Wilson."

Reed's Statement

A letter and statement given to a Washington representative of the Globe-Democrat by Senator Reed.

"I did have a difference with the president, entigely good natured, over the federal reserve bank bill. The kernal of that controversy was that the president insisted that the bill, which had originated in and been passed by the House, should be reported out of the senate committee and passed very speedily without giving an opportunity for hearings. I insisted that hearings should be granted and they were granted. As a result of the hearings the bill was amended hundreds of times.

"It was after these hearings and with reference to them that the president wrote me the following letter. I hand you a fac simille of the letter."

The Letter in Question

"The White House,

"Washington, October 28, 1913.

"My Dear Senator:

"I hesitate to ask you to break in upon what must be one of the busiest weeks you have had by requesting you to come to the White House in order that I may say what is perfectly possible for me to say in a letter. I want to thank you very warmly and sincerely for your statement made through a New York newspaper. I have felt all along the sincere honestly and independence of judgment you were exercising in this whole matter and you may be sure that there has never been in my mind any criticism except an occasional difference of judgment. I think that things are now shaping themselves admirably and I am quite willing to admit that the processes upon which you have insisted have contributed to that result. I feel that I can count on you from this time out to play a leading part in bringing this whole matter to a satisfactory issue, and I want you to know what satisfaction it gives me to feel that I can do this.

"Cordially and faithfully yours,

"Woodrow Wilson."

"P. S.: Pray call upon me at any time that you would like to confer about any feature of the matter. W. W."

Common Carrier Line

The pipe line when built will be a "common carrier" for all government oil which will be given priority of transportation by from the Tea Pot dome and the adjoining Salt Creek fields over the use of the pipe line by the lessee. The pipe lines already constructed with which the new pipe line will connect, Judge Finney said, represent an investment of $115,000,000 and the contract calls for an investment of not less than $26,000,000 in addition.

AERIAL CIRCUS COVERS RADIUS

$3,000 to Be Spent Advertising Show

Little attention will be paid to expense in advertising the American Legion aviation meet which will be held here April 29 to 30 under the auspices of the Pat Carrigan post, members of the legion declared Tuesday. It is estimated that an expense of approximately $3,000 will be incurred in properly heralding to people within a radius of 200 miles that an entertainment of mammoth proportions is planned for the occasion.

Communications by the score are reaching the headquarters of the local post daily in reply to letters mailed out recently inquiring to landing locations in the towns which surround Wichita Falls, practically each reply bringing a map of the places within the 200-mile radius, where the airship used in advertising the meet can land.

A plane driven by Erriette Williams, who will take part in the meet, is traveling from Wichita Falls daily, carrying toy airplanes, placards and handbills, the latter being used in bombing the towns over which Williams flys.

Officers of the post in charge of the air carnival said Tuesday that the tournament is meeting with much favor, and is gaining the support of the business fraternity of Wichita Falls. In this connection it was pointed out that the Pierce Oil company's station here has contributed 100 gallons of lubricating oil to be used by the aviators, while other business houses are contributing funds and space for advertising purposes.

Ropes, trapeze and other appliances which will be used by the flyers in the meet will probably be placed on display in the business sections today, it was said.

HIGH COURT REFUSES TO HEAR CASE FILED AGAINST WAGGONER

Special to the Record News.

WASHINGTON, April 18.—The Supreme Court denied the application of the Southern Oil Corporation of Texas to bring to the Supreme Court the case of that company against R. M. Waggoner of Wichita Falls. The suit was to recover the value of about 12,000 barrels of oil which belonged to Waggoner. The lower court fixed $2.50 a barrel, which was the posted price in December, 1919. A dispute arose over whether the offer had been accepted, the courts finding that it had. The oil corporation contended before the court here that a contract did not exist for the reason the offer had not been accepted by Waggoner.

GERMANY CAN'T 'PLAY' AT GENOA

Allies to Continue With Parley

By Associated Press.

GENOA, April 18.—The representatives of the powers which convened the Genoa conference, together with the Little Entente, decided tonight after an all-day discussion, to continue the economic conference regardless of the attitude of Germany and Russia.

A strong note was prepared and sent to the German delegation which declared that "German's act had destroyed the spirit of confidence indispensible to international co-operation" and informing Germany that she is debarred from further participation in further discussion of Russian affairs at the conference.

The discussions at the meeting were calm and dignified, although considerable difference of opinion existed. Two groups formed, one led by England, and the other by France, while the Italian delegates displayed a conciliatory attitude. Some of the extremeists are said to have proposed breaking up the conference, but a majority favored awaiting Moscow's reply to the allied demands.

IS IT PROPER FOR GIRL TO DATES?

WOOSTER, Ohio, April 17.—An interesting debate at Wooster college is being delayed because no one can be found to take one side of the argument.

The debate is scheduled to be based on the subject "Is It Proper for Girls to Ask for Dates?"

There are plenty of affirmative volunteers to handle that side of the new fad. But, when volunteers were called for to uphold the negative side of the question in public debate none responded.

Meanwhile, despite the fact that not all faculty members approve, the fad is spreading rapidly. All except two girls in one dormitory have asked for, and have secured, dates with fellows, at Kennarden.

LARGE PRODUCE FIRM AT DENISON BANKRUPT

DENISON, Texas, April 18.—The White Produce company, one of the largest produce firms in the southwest, with headquarters here and branch houses in several Texas cities, went in the hands of a receiver today, according to an announcement made by the firm. The receivership was asked for and appointment made under the allegations that the company, while now solvent, had large liabilities maturing which it could not meet. The losses sustained by the company in the early part of 1921, are said to be the cause of the receivership.

PEOPLE MUST ACCEPT CHRIST

This Is Teaching of Dr. Scarborough

Last night, Evangelist Scarborough chose as the theme of his sermon, "Lost." This was one of the most powerful messages of the revival, it being both sane and convincing.

"Man in his natural state is lost so far as his eternal life is concerned, Dr. Scarborough said. "This is no pet theory of preachers, nor a fanciful story intended to arouse men to frightful thinking for the passing moment. It is a fact, proven both by God's word and experience of men who have left their dying testimonies. While the first proof is all-sufficient, the second makes it more real to the lost man or woman. Men are lost because of Sin and that alone. Until we realize the whole meaning of the word sin, we cannot intelligently, as Christians, win the lost in His name. Many there are who cannot be condemned for some outward manifestation of evil doing, yet they are guilty of the greatest sin listed in the whole catalogue—the refusal to accept Jesus Christ as a personal savior."

Dr. Scarborough's illustrations are taken from practical experience and serve well in impressing the hearer.

The evangelist is very anxious that a report be circulated in regard to the revival provided it is based on fact. "When Christian people pray down His power, the report will spread," he said. "But the power will not come until we come to our senses in regard to men being lost, without God and without hope, unless they accept Christ."

Last night, Vaughn Ray sang as a solo, "Sweeter as the Years Go By." Tonight quartet music will be featured.

RATTLESNAKES GIVE WARNING OF DROUTH, SO SAY PESSIMISTS

Special to the Record News.

BISHOP, Texas, April 18.—Another drouth is near, so say pessimists. Rattlesnakes is their only argument.

Farmers are plowing them up in the fields. Motorists are slaughtering them in the roads and children are hunting them in their yards with sticks.

Such a large number of rattlesnakes are unusual here.

STINK BALLS DRIVE PEOPLE FROM THEATERS

FORT WORTH, April 18.—Placing of foul smelling chemicals in an open shop theater in order to drive out patrons was denounced, and punishment promised for the offenders by District Judge Terrell today at a hearing on an anti-picketing injunction. A movie show owner alleged union men were picketing his place and that the sickening odors had been placed in his place of business in order to drive out business. Attorneys for the union denied the "stink ball" allegation, declaring that union theaters had suffered as much from this source as the open shop house.

Fitts Puts Confidence In New Chief

"I am going out of office as far as telling Mr. McCormick how to run his department is concerned," declared J. B. Fitts, police commissioner in addressing the officers of the police department Tuesday night, where they had assembled in the corporate court room.

"I feel positive that Mr. McCormick is thoroughly competent to fill his office well, and I have implicit faith in his integrity," the commissioner concluded.

The meeting was the first of a series of weekly police conferences, which will be held by the department under the administration of J. W. McCormick, newly appointed police chief, who said last night that it will be a part of his policy to hold such gatherings at weekly intervals in an effort to improve the efficiency of the department.

Support Promised

Commissioner Fitts declared during the meeting that it has been his purpose since he has been in office to "build up the department to a more efficient basis, and the changes which I have seen fit to make and which will be made in the future will be made with that end in view."

Chief McCormick was greeted with loud applause when he was introduced by the commissioner, and as the officers filed out each grasped his hand and promised him support in upholding the laws of Wichita Falls.

MORGAN SAYS HE HAS NOTHING TO SAY

"I do not care to make a statement of any kind at this time," R. W. Morgan, succeeded as chief of police by J. W. McCormick, declared Tuesday when asked whether or not he will ask for an investigation in connection with his removal.

Although refusing to make any statement it is believed that later there will be additional developments in connection with the disagreement with Police Commissioner Fitts of several weeks duration which resulted in the appointment of Chief McCormick Monday night by the city council on Fitts recommendation.

Charges Filed

It was learned Tuesday that Morgan did not change from his previous attitude of refusing to resign until specific charges had been filed against him by Commissioner Fitts but that he made no effort to continue the office when the new commissioners and mayor were elected, taking their view that all city offices were subject to new appointment when the new council took their oath of office.

It is known that Morgan has bitterly resented the action of Commissioner Fitts and rumors are prevalent in local political circles that the action of the council Monday night has not ended the Fitts-Morgan difficulties.

McCormick on Job

Chief of Police McCormick, for whom Morgan has always expressed admiration assumed his new duties Tuesday morning. He spent the day in conference with other members of the force, getting acquainted with routine duties. Although Chief McCormick has not made any statement as yet it is believed that certain changes will be made in the department at a later date although no radical shake-up is expected.

Captain Tom R. Hickman of Company B, state rangers will not appoint a successor to Chief McCormick who has been sergeant of his company. Captain Hickman and other members of the company are at their headquarters located at Call field at the present time.

CULTIVATE CORNS TO AVOID RHEUMATISM

(By International News Service)

LONDON, April 17.—If you want to avoid rheumatism or gout, cultivate your corns.

This solace to foot sufferers emanates from T. Gillings, veteran chiropodist of Fleet street, who has tended the feet of almost every judge, sheriff and lord mayor of London within th past 50 years.

"Corns, bunions and almost all other callosities of the feet are simply nature's wonderful provision for extracting from the human body the chalk that sets up rheumatism and gout," he says.

"The corn," explains Mr. Gillings, "draws the chalk from the body like a magnet. Invariably when the corn or other callosity ceases to grow the twinges of gout or rheumatism set in."

DEPRESSION DAYS LEAVING INDIANA

(By International News Service)

INDIANAPOLIS, April 17.—Days of business depression in Indiana are fast passing. This is indicated by cheerful predictions of a business revival from leaders in retail, wholesale and industrial lines. Many factories in Indianapolis are running at or near full capacity, and other, operating at 50 to 60 per cent of normal, report gradually-increasing business.

Retail and wholesale business continues on a seven feet, with a number of large retail establishments reporting a slight increase over last year in cash receipts. Practically all retail dealers report a larger turnover in volume of goods handled than during the first two months of 1921.

Wichita Falls' New Police Chief Always a Catcher of Some Sort; Once Received for Cardinal Nine

Wichita Falls' new chief of police is known to practically every resident of the county as a result of his enetgetic work toward law enforcement as a member of the state ranger force. Few know that he was once perhaps as widely known to the baseball fans of the country as a ball player, and a major leaguer at that, for he once wore the mask and windpad as a member of the Cardinals of St. Louis. That was many years ago. A long career as a ball player would up back in 1913, when he went back from the Cardinals to the minors, soon after forsaking the professional game.

It was through baseball, however, that he became an officer. After he was out of professional baseball he organized an independent team in Mansfield, Ark., near Fort Smith, where he was living. While manager of the baseball club and before the public eye he was elected city marshal. He tried his hand, liked the game, and has been a "law" ever since.

He came to Wichita county three years ago when the Red river bottom oil lands involved in the boundary dispute promised to lead to civil war, and the ranger force was recruited to increased strength in order to keep a considerable force in the disputed strip, preventing its being taken over by Oklahoma deputies and placer mining operators. This service was hardly over before rangers were detailed into the oil fields, and he has remained on this duty from that time on.

His appointment to the head of the local police department comes entirely as a result of the efficiency he has displayed as an officer during the time he has been stationed here, and is a recognition of his record.

ILLINOIS WOMEN SEEKING OFFICE

One Runs to Succeed Father in Congress

(By International News Service.)

CHICAGO, April 17.—"Hail the woman!"

Tradition was completely disrupted in the history of Illinois politics with the filing of petitions of candidacy for congressman-at-large by two women both of whom are mothers.

One of the new candidates is Mrs. Winifred Mason Huck. She seeks the office formerly held by her father the late Congressman William E. Mason.

The other is Mrs. Mary Belle Spencer, public guardian of Cook county.

Mrs. Huck who is the mother of four children, has announced her candidacy on the strength of knowledge obtained in her father's campaigns. Her platform, built up from years of observation, will be aimed directly toward women voters.

Mrs. Spencer, on the other hand, will swing her campaign off her knowledge of Federal statutes and experience as a worker in the juvenile and county courts.

STEEL IS CLIMBING.

Steel is a barometer of trade. Elbert H. Gary says the steel business has doubled in the last year and is seventy-five per cent of normal and that the export trade is nearing its pre-war high point and shows every sign of increasing in the near future. In fact, it is getting to the highest in the history of the American steel industry. This is a remainder that American business is on the upgrade and will continue to grow better. Gary, head of the United States Steel Corporation, the second great industrial organization in the world, declared that the strike of miners had caused little damage to the steel industry thus far and that all mills are well supplied with coal and coke. There has been an increase in general business of 9 per cent and the steel business has doubled in volume in the last year. Gary is very optimistic. Dark spots are disappearing from the financial sun. Foreign affairs are growing brighter. When steel is up there is something doing the wide world over and steel is up and it is going higher.

OUR WAR LOANS.

Now the American commissioners appointed by the government to fund the foreign debts are ready for business and a refunding of the tremendous sums owed the United States government by foreign powers will be made. Great Britain comes first and then the lesser nations will be given terms. Soviet Russia owes the United States 200 million dollars. Our country has refused to recognize Soviet Russia hence it will be impossible to refund the Russian debt at this time. Germany and Russia have formed a pact and Germany and Russia some day will be the controlling economic combination of Europe and, perhaps, of China as well. All the European governments that are borrowers of the United States are able to pay. They are not bankrupt. They have billions of assets. There should be neither cancellation nor repudiation. If a man is able his debts he is made to pay his debts. A nation is an aggregation of individuals. Uncle Sam is neither a gadgrind nor a pawnbroker. He should make liberal terms at a low rate of interest for those debtors that need long time in order that they may work their own way out without crushing handicaps. Business is business.

AN OBJECT LESSON.

Eastland county has a 5 million dollar highway construction program under way now with a prospect that it will be completed during the coming summer. Concrete work on this road system is now eighty per cent completed and 800 men are now at work on the several highways. Clay county doesn't owe a dollar of public debt. Clay county is a wealthy county. Sixteen men own 200,000 of its 600,000 acres. Clay county has roads that are a disgrace to modern Texas. Clay county has many progressive citizens who are advocates of good roads. They lost one bond issue. Now they should organize and make another telling fight for modern highways and a 3 million dollar bond issue. If the election had been carried last fall there would have been work for the men and teams of Clay county during the entire winter months. All the money would have been kept at home as this was one of the provisions of the proclamation made by the county commissioners of Clay. On with the work. Clay should not be at the foot of the list of the counties west of Fort Worth.

BANKERS AND COTTON.

The bankers favor orderly marketing of cotton.—Headline in Oklahoma city paper. These OKLAHOMA bankers say that as the farmer will not be able to get all his money at the maturing time of the crop this should be given consideration by those who loan money to the farmer and that as far as practical and consistent with good banking bankers should co-operate in allowing him to pay his obligations as the cotton can be sold under the orderly marketing plan. Now just what view point does the Oklahoma banker hold and what constitutes an orderly marketing plan?

TEUTON AND SLAV

Germany has a population of 70 millions; Russia has a population of 170 millions. Germany and Russia have signed a pact. There are five articles in the treaty: Reciprocal settlement for ships seized during the war; mutual exchange of prisoners; exchange of manufactured and raw materials; reestablishment of consular relation; exchange of ambassadors. This came out at Genoa. Lloyd George is bewildered. France is furious, Italy is sympathetic. The unexpected did not happen. Regardless of the world war the Germans and the Russians have much in common. Germans are mechanics and artisans and inventors and traders. Russia is a country of vast natural resources and all the raw materials which includes vast mineral wealth await development. France demands that the pact shall be smashed. Lloyd George had one put over him. Germany put one over before Great Britain could get there. This German-Russian pact is intended to wipe out the humiliating treaty of Brest-Litovsk which the last of the Hohenzollerns inflicted on Soviet Russia in March, 1918. This is an economic alliance. It has thrown together the Teuton and the Slav. There is another vast country that may unite its fortunes with Germany and Russia. Across the border of Siberia lies China. President Harding did not send a representative to Genoa. The United States is not a party to the Genoa Conference but why should Great Britain and France be incensed? Germany and Russia have a moral and a legal right to sign an economic pact or any other treaty pact. Germans are gluttons for work. Germans are manufacturers and tradcrs. Slavs are farmers and herdsmen. Russia wheat fields if properly tilled will feed half the world after the home demand has been supplied. It is remarkable to say the least that the representatives of Russia and Germany signed their treaty after the Genoa conference had been organized and was ready for business. Our country, Great Britain, France and Japan have a four power pact. France has been playing Poland against Russia. Now the Germans and the Russians are hand in hand to make possible the highest degree of economic cooperation between the two nations. But where does the greatest republic the world has ever known come in? A League of Nations, the Wilson League of Nations, would have been a world league, all powerful and ever cooperative. What a golden opportunity was thrown away.

Now the red assassins are lurking in ambush for Michael Collins and Arthur Griffiths, the champions of the Irish Free State. Collins was a target for bombs and rifle shots but did not receive a scratch. There are mad men the world over who pose as the friends of liberty and are its deadliest enemies. They are found in all lands under the sun.

Oklahoma women are organizing for the election of legislators who will make child desertion a felony. More power to the women of Oklahoma. A father who will desert his children should be sent to the penitentiary and all that he earns above the cost of his upkeep should go to the support of his progeny. Justice is justice. Make the punishment fit the crime.

MANGREM IS NAMED GUARDIAN OF YOUTH

C. V. Mangrem was appointed temporary guardian over the estate of J. E. Walker, minor, in the probate court yesterday. The guardian, however, has not yet qualified.

In his petition to the court, Mangrem set forth that Walker is 19 years old and is entitled to an estate of $2,500 situated within Wichita county. It is pointed out that his father is dead, and that his mother, who resides in Tennessee, has not applied for guardianship.

humiliating. When, Oh when, will Colonel George Harvey be given his? There are others but this article has reference to men who have been retired and not to insects who should be retired. Insects cannot be humiliated. Their pride cannot be wounded. They are made of ego and gas. It is impossible to deal a deadly blow to ego. Only death does that.

REVEREND OSCAR EDGERly of Chicago has made known to the people now on earth that snappy sport clothes are now being worn in the land invisible where the shades shimmy around. Produce the evidence. Dr. A. Conan Doyle just last week conveyed the astonishing news that marriages were permissable in the spirit-alistic paradise but there were no children there. It goes without saying that in the wide world over there are nuts to be found of both high and low degree. Many of these nuts have abolished hell; many other nuts have made hell a summer resort instead of a fiery furnace and now comes a preacher and lets it be known that snappy sport clothes are the vogue just across the divide. And yet there are people who would boycotte Fatty Arbuckle and others who would ostracize Mary Pickford because she divorced a man in order that she might marry Douglas Fairbanks.

LONG AGO THE WRITER PREdicted an alliance of the Teuton and the Slav. Coming events had cast their shadows before. Some day there will be a three power pact unless there is a league of nations. Then the Teuton and the Slav and the Mongolian will be the occupants of the same economic nursery and the three will cover all the territory from the River Rhine to the Chinese Sea. President Harding and Sir Arthur Balfour organized a Four power pact but the most significant of all small pacts is the Teutonic-Slav pact. That pact will smash the balance of power some day or the pact that Harding and Balfour created. There are more than 250 million Teutons and Slavs. Russia has untold resources and undeveloped wealth. Germany will develop the wealth.

RED MONKEY MEAT FOR BASEBALL PLAYERS

Red Monkey meat for baseball players! Feed 'em plenty of it and clinch the pennant!

Out of Pittsburgh comes the report that Colonel George Kerr, wealthy oil operator in Ecuador, has returned from that country advocating Red Monkey meat as a food sure to increase a ball player's pep, and bringing with him enough Red Monkey meat to start the Pirates off in the baseball race on high.

The Pittsburgh management is reported willing to try it. All the other baseball team owners in the country will watch results eagerly, and if Pittsburgh plays dashing ball the first few weeks a rush for Red Monkeys is anticipated.

Scouts may be called off the hunt for new and promising pitchers and detailed to hunt Red Monkeys.

Late today there was a report George Cohan had at last bought a team and would train it, of course, on Red, White and Blue Monkeys as a matter of patriotism.

The only difficulty just now is to get the players to eat monkey meat when so ordered. Word from Judge Landis brought the information that he would fine and suspend any player refusing to eat any kind of wild animal the management directed.

It is claimed by the advocates of the idea that a fielder, after a filet of monkey with mint sauce can reach a long fly that he could not otherwise come within ten yards of, and that a shortstop dining on a raw Red Monkey immediately before the game can cover all ground between first and home unassisted.

Of course some rules will have to be formulated covering the feeding of monkey meat to players during the course of a game. Possibly only one portion per player will be allowed during a contest. The question naturally arises whether a player may take his portion when he wishes or only at the monkey meat signal from the bench.

Also, may a player, when ordered out of the box, insist upon some monkey meat in the event he has not had any?

And another thing—may an umpire call a game on account of a shortage of monkey meat?

Serious questions, mates! You can't tell what complications may arise. Not at all unlikely the account of a game may read thus:

"The Pirates won over the Giants today through superior strategy. It was a close battle up to the eighth inning. At this period of the battle, however, it developed that the Pirate manager had conserved his supply of Red Monkey meat, whereas Manager McGraw had exhausted his in the previous innings and had nothing left for a pinch.

"Just before going to the bat in the eighth the Pirates gathered in the dugout and were served a ragout of Red Monkey with Paprika sauce. They ten core to the plate and knocked the ball all over the lot, piling up a total of eighteen runs and winning by a score of 26 to 5.

"I was out-monkeyed, that's all," said Manager McGraw after the game. "I have sent scouts to Ecuador to buy every Red Monkey obtainable at any price and am confident I will never be caught short again."

And something like this is possible during the world series:

"When the third game in the world series between the Yanks and the Giants started today the news of another great scandal broke and threw a shadow over the series. Abe Gittell, famous gambler, has been arrested charged with being the head of a conspiracy to prevent the Yanks winning.

"The details are not fully known, but it is alleged that, knowing both teams were depending on Red Monkey meat, Gittell gained entrance to the Yankee commissary department, removed all the monkey meat, and substituted wart-hog, which accounted for the amazing slowness of the Yanks in the two first games."

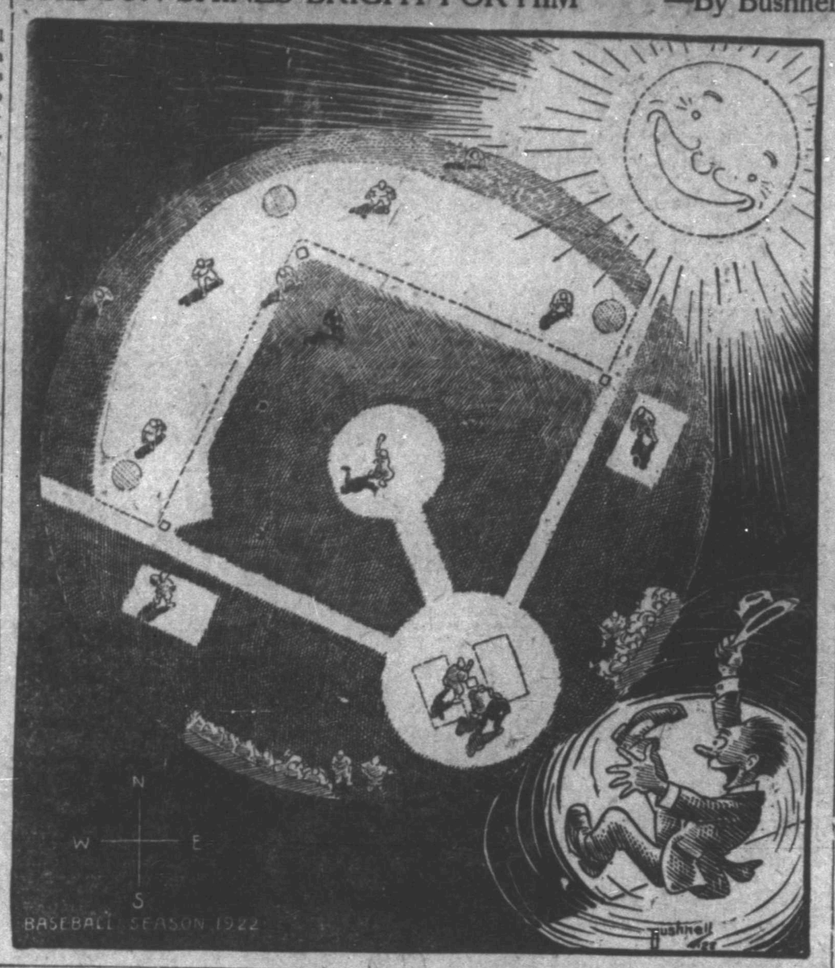
THE SUN SHINES BRIGHT FOR HIM —By Bushnell



Haters of Pleasure

By DR. FRANK CRANE

(Copyright, 1922, by Frank Crane.)

Puritanism, at least that quality of it that suspects joy, is not confined to religion.

It is a characteristic of human nature.

A certain portion of the race just naturally hates to see anybody having fun.

Why, no one knows. It is very probably due to some trouble in the bile duct.

They can't help it any more than flies can help loving decayed meat.

The trait is just as common in literature and politics and economics as it is in the church.

One group of writers, very properly called the Bellyache School, pride themselves on being connoisseurs of the disagreeable, and have it particularly in for any writer whose purpose seems to be merely to produce happiness.

Why in time anybody thinks that happiness, with its music of laughter and its rhythm of dance, with its comfort of physical vigor and mental contentment, is necessarily vulgar, is difficult to comprehend.

No, it is not difficult, for after all, it is very simple to comprehend. For that attitude is a mark of immaturity, and most people are childish.

Desperation, tragedy and gloom attract attention, and that is what the childish mind craves. A sore thumb gets more publicity than all the healthy body.

The first verses of young poets, the first stories of young romancers, and the first sermons of young preachers run to tragedy.

Most of them get over it. Some grow up to be our leading pessimists.

A recent critic of much talent and more bile launched a vigorous attack upon writers whose object is "merely to amuse."

As such sinners quite often succeed, he is in special heat against Success.

"But," he reflects, "there is justice. You reach success, the public buys your books, you get money and glory, but Posterity shall know you not! The amusers are always ephemeral."

To which the obvious notation should be: "Important if true."

To say truth, nobody knows what books of this time wil be read fifty years from now, and as we will all be dead it doesn't make much difference.

But why should my swollen egotism set me up to be wiser than my contemporaries?

Let the writer sit at the feet of the world. Humanity probably knows what it needs and desires quite as much as he can tell it.

And joy is the reason of the universe.

Pleasure is the soul's lover.

That some go wrong seeking pleasure proves only that they have not sense enough to see what pleasure is. They are perverts. We are sorry for them. But we are not going to kill the joy of existence for them.

Rightly understood religion is simply the way to joy. And not to spiritual delectation and mystic ecstasies only, but the way to joy in eating and drinking, in work and play, in marriage, in bereavement, in old age.

The greatest of the world's teachers said not so much about being good as about being happy. "Blessed" was his word. And blessed means happy.

The final chorus of mankind will be a hallelujah, not a howl.

THE UNDERWORK EVIL

By ADDINGTON BRUCE

Author of "The Riddle of Personality," "Self Development," Etc.

(Copyright, 1922 by the Associated Newspapers).

There is an evil of overwork. That cannot be denied. But there is also an evil of underwork. And for every person who injuries himself or herself by working too hard, it is safe to say that at least one hundred persons injure themselves by not working hard enough.

People, as a general thing, do not appreciate this. If they did we should not find so many people foolishly envying those whose lot in life is such that they do not have to work at all, and who also take full advantage of their opportunity for idling.

Study the non-workers and the underworkers of whom you have personal knowledge. You will not find them a healthy lot. Quite the contrary.

They are strangely subject to aches and pains. They are uncommonly uneasy and dissatisfied. They are grumbling and complaining most of the time. Out of all proportion to their numbers, they suffer from nervous breakdowns.

And if you were to inquire closely enough into the matter you would discover that they average a shorter life span than the conspicuously hard workers among your acquaintances.

Hard work, in fact, if it be work done under hygienic conditions and work in which a genuine interest is felt, actually contributes to prolong life. We have proof of this in the biographies of many eminent men and women who were of notoriously feeble constitution in childhood and youth.

Finding congenial work and applying themselves to it enthusiastically, they daily worked longer and harder than the average man. Yet they lived to be seventy, eighty or ninety and often remained hard workers to the end of their days.

The psycho-physiological explanation of this is that the joy they took in their work not only assisted them to ward off fatigue effects, but had a tonic value to their whole systems. Besides which, because their minds were fully occupied with their work, they had no time for what psychologists call "unhealthy introspection."

Non-workers and underworkers have plenty of time for this. Consciously or unconsciously, they keep an eye on their bodily processes all the while. And since their inert mode of living slows down their vital activities, they soon discover that things are not as well with them as they might be.

Then worry enters to aggravate the situation. The more they worry about themselves the closer they watch themselves, the worse they feel—and the worse off they actually are.

Their one hope—as many have discovered to their great benefit is to transform themselves from underworkers to earnest workers. When this is done the tide of life within them rises again. They are both healthier and happier than they were before.

So do not yearn for a superfluity of leisure, you who perhaps repine because necessity obliges you to work day after day. Do not plan and maneuvre to cut down your working day to a really absurd minimum.

Unless you are working from early in the morning until late at night, at uncongenial work and under conditions that sap your strength, you are better off, far better off, than the leisurely do-nothings you envy.

THE DAILY STORY

Copyright, 1922, by W. Werner.

MRS. BUSH OF VICKS

The after Easter rush was over and Mrs. Bush was finding that she had little to do that Saturday morning. And she liked to be busy. After a long life of hard work she still was deeply interested in her business of selling hats. She had never grown tired of styles, and people. It may be said that she knew both equally well and in just what ways they were best suited to each other.

Mrs. Bush was the head saleswoman in the millinary department at Vick's, and Vick's is the largest store in a certain comfortable little city. She had been head saleswoman at Vick's only since she gave up her millinery business. That was four years before. She had made money enough to retire on, but when she had retired she found that she missed her hats and the pleasant bustle of selling them. So she presented herself at Vick's.

Mrs. Bush was a very old lady with heavy white hair, beautifully arranged, and a fine, high bred, rather severe face. If her eyes were a trifle too keen it was because they had read so many faces successfully. It was worth while to win a smile from her. And her "My dear" was soothing. She wore plain black satin gowns, pinned at the throat with a wonderful cameo brooch. Her gowns looked plain, but Miss Black of the dress department knew that they cost enormously.

This Saturday morning it was raining and there were very few big cars drawing up at Vick's massive side entrance, so Mrs. Bush yawned and thought about her lunch and talked a little with her assistant, Miss Davenport. She was taking a little turn through the aisles, studying the arrangement of some hats and plumes of a new shade of blue which had been placed in one of the big cabinets, when she saw a girl coming toward her.

The girl did not see Mrs. Bush at all. She was gazing wide-eyed with wonder at the hats on every side of her. Clearly she was amazed by the number of hats. She was not a very young girl, although as far as sophistication was concerned she was very young, indeed. She had a clear skin and low massed rich hair and gray eyes. Her brown suit was plain and had never cost much, but it did not look cheap. It was her hat that suggested need of a change and it was plain that she had come to get a new one.

Ordinarily Mrs. Bush did not trouble herself with customers of this kind, but now she moved forward inquiringly.

And the girl saw her. "I'd like a hat," she said timidly.

"Come this way," said Mrs. Bush and she led her into the fitting room. Then she brought forth a hat that she instantly saw would suit the girl with gray eyes and wild rose color.

"Oh, how lovely!" breathed the girl. "Hats are so interesting, I think."

"Just try it on," said Mrs. Bush. The girl tried it on. The dainty plumes, brown and tipped with cream fell over the edge of the brim against her brown hair. She picked up the long handled glass and stared at herself. "It makes all the difference in the world, doesn't it?" she asked. "But I suppose it is very expensive." She removed it from her head and peeped at the dangling tag. Her face changed. "Oh, I couldn't have this one, she said. "It costs too much. Haven't you anything cheaper—in black—or——."

"Black isn't good for you," insisted Mrs. Bush. But she brought a black hat and the girl tried it on. Of course it was a failure after the brown leghorn.

The girl sighed. "Oh, dear, why are all the really nice things in life so—so prohibitive?" she said.

"My dear, I've never found out. You are a teacher?" asked Mrs. Bush.

"I've taught nine years, ever since I was eighteen. Until last fall I had backwoods schools." She paused as one does in recalling a dreadful memory. Mrs. Bush had no trouble visualizing those eight years spent mostly in tiny country school houses. She had gone to one in her early youth.

"Last year," went on the girl, brightening, "I got into the graded school at the Center. Mrs. Stillwell—Dwight Stillwell—is principal."

"I see," Mrs. Bush nodded. She did see just from the girl's face and the sound of her voice that Mr. Dwight Stillwell, the principal, was young, unmarried, and very much worth while. "There are other teachers?"

"Two, besides myself. Mrs. Cotton—she's a dear—and Miss Vance. Miss Vance spends all her holidays with her married sister here in the city. She buys her hats at this place. That's how I came to know about it. She—she has lots of money and only teaches for fun."

"Or until she is married," Mrs. Bush smiled.

"Yes." But the girl's face showed no response. For a moment she seemed to forget about what she had come for; then she aroused herself. "But I must decide on my hat. It's 11, and my train leaves at 1:30."

"The brown hat is the one you ought to have," said Mrs. Bush.

"It's the one I'd like, but you see I can't. It isn't that I have just myself to do for. There's father and mother. They helped me to an education, and I like to do what I can." She blushed at giving so much confidence. Then she arose. "I think I'll get a sailor," she said. "Miss Vance said you had them here for $2.98. A sailor is so serviceable don't you think?"

"Wait a moment," suggested Mrs. Bush. "Miss Vance expects you to come back with a sailor. Wouldn't you like to surprise her by having the brown hat?" The girl gasped. "Well, then, I'll see what I can do. I'm quite sure I can get a reduction from this price for you. But, first just about how much would you be willing to pay?"

The girl pondered. Mrs. Bush could see that she longed for the brown hat with all her heart, but she had too much courage to forego a single obligation for its sake, even though its possession might "make all the difference in the world with her future." "Well," she said, lifting her sweet eyes, full of courage "I think I could pay $8 but ever that is more than I should pay."

"Just wait a minute, and I'll see what I can do," replied Mrs. Bush. She walked out of the room bearing the hat upon her hand, and down the aisle. She had had some thought of going to the manager and seeing what he would do. But no manager, however kindly disposed, ever reduces a $22 to $8.

Mrs. Bush paused. She had been young herself. She had gone to country school, and once her hair had been gray and her cheeks pink. But because she was always well dressed the man she had loved had passed her by for a girl who could have six new hats every season. It was a very young man and he did not understand that a fancy wrapping often conceals a very poor brand of goods. He found that out later, much later. Mrs. Bush had vowed to herself that she would have all the hats she wanted, so she had gone into a millinary shop. After a while she married a man with means, and he set her up in business. He had been gone a good many years and he was a good husband. She never knew what had become of the other man, but on a spring morning she would remember her lost romance.

She went smiling back to the girl. "Our sales begin next week," she said. "You can have this hat for $8. It's a concession, of course, but still it's our motto never to let a customer go away dissatisfied."

The look on the girl's face repaid her, as she had known it would. It meant to her more than any expression of thanks. "Well, there," said Mrs. Bush, as her customer departed, "she's got her hat, and I shall have to pay for her clearing it. I hope it helps her to happiness."

Two months later, when she had almost forgotten the incident, Mrs. Bush received a wedding announcement. It said that Miss Lois Mallory was married to Mr. Dwight Stillwell.

Rippling Rhymes

By WALT MASON

THE CAREFUL WIFE.

How doubly fortunate the man whose wife on thrifty plans is set! She guards his roll and ties the can to every scheme that hints of debt. The country's full of working men who carry home the chicken feed, and fain would blow in every yen for silly things they do not need. Too often wives encourage men to throw their kopecks to the cows; such females swarm, but now and then we see the other kind of fraus. When Hiram brings his weekly pay, he says, 'Matilda Judith Jane, let's go and blow ourselves today; this saving graft gives me a pain. Oh, here be bucks that bravely shine, and here be bones that glow like tin; they are too fair to put in brine, so come with me and blow them in. We'll buy a flivver, new and nice, and all that to your heart appeals, and if I cannot pay the price, my stand-offs good for many wheels." Then says the wife, of Spartan mold, "J. Hiram Jinks, hand me your pay! I think I see you wasting gold that we will need when we are gray! Here is a nickel you may spend, take it along and paint the town, but let your foolish twaddle end—your wages will be salted down." And when we both are old and bald, we'll have our little bunch of kale, and neighbors will not see us hauled to yonder poorhouse in the vale."

Veale-Shrader Wedding Party Dined Monday at Wichita Club Function

Proving to be one of the most enjoyable and elaborate of the many social affairs given in honor of Miss Theresa Veale whose marriage to Loy Shrader of Columbia, Missouri, will take place this evening at the First Presbyterian church, the wedding party was delightfully entertained at dinner and bridge Monday evening at the Wichita Club.

Misses Valois Compere and Lucy Goodwin were hostesses, and the attractive rainbow color scheme which will be a feature of wedding decorations was carried out in the table decorations which were centered with huge baskets of spring flowers, the handles tied with fluffy tulle of the pastel colors. The place for the bride-to-be was marked with a beautiful corsage bouquet, while dainty place cards consisting of Miniature brides with veils of the pastel colors and hand painted grooms added to the attractiveness of the tables. The cards were designed and made by Miss Compere one of the hostesses.

An informal program was a feature in which solos were given by Misses Veale Compere and Tom Farabee with M. A. Ellis playing the accompaniments. Miss Emily Foster gave a reading after which the remainder of the evening was spent in playing bridge. Favors won in the games were presented to the honoree.

Covers were laid for 16 and a five-course dinner served to Miss Veale, her mother, Mrs. Pearl Veale, of Kingman, Kansas, Loy Shrader, Mrs. Compere, Mrs. J. Will Gray, Misses Emily Foster of Venita, Oklahoma, Ethel Nycum, Marian Maer, Mrs. O. E. Maer, Mrs. H. M. Young, Miss Elsie Farrow of Colorado Springs, Messrs. FASHIONS FOR AMERICANS

Lace and Silk Fashion This Smart Blouse.

Delightfully dainty and dressy is the blouse shown in the sketch. It combines lace and a fabric. The sheerest of silks may be used in combination with the lace, so that the blouse will neither look nor feel heavy even on the warmest of summer days. The present season vogue for dyed laces makes possible a very charming variety in lace garments, whether gowns or blouses, and rather serves to lift a lace gown out of the formal class.

When only black and white or ivory laces were very much used, only formal afternoon or evening gowns were usually made of them, but they are now dyed in all the season's popular shades and colors and are playing a very important and interesting role. Henna and canna, both members of the terra cotta family, are frequently seen in laces. Bright emerald and softer greens, grays galore, and innumerable brown and tan shades as well as many blues are also featured and favored. The model sketched would be smart as a suit blouse, especially for one of the dainty silk crepe suits.

Garments of the sports type are so much in evidence now that there seems to be every possibility that as the season advances the woman who wants to be a little different will lean to the suit of more dressy type, and will be inclined to prefer a sheer feminine type of blouse to the more mannish tailored affair that rightfully belongs with the tailored suit.

Incidentally, knit wear manufacturers this season are offering sweaters knitted in such sheer, light effects that a sweater to actualy match or blend with the suit is considered quite the thing for all suits of the sports or semi-sports type. Light weight wools, silk, fibre silk, or silk and wool in combination are featured in single as well as two and three color effects in sweaters, with the slip-over style far and away the favorite.

A tweed suit may almost be matched perfectly in a sweater and scarf, if a woman prefers matching rather than contrasting accessories.

SAVANNAH, GEORGIA, PLANS JAZZ BUREAU

By Associated Press.

SAVANNAH, Ga., April 18.—Establishment of a Jax bureau as a part of the city government to determine the fine line between the various syncopated steps as exhibited in the best social dansants and the abhorred "Jazz dance" was in prospect today following the adoption by the council of an ordinance prohibiting the activities of jazz artists in Savannah as injurious to public morals. The council briefly discussed the subject before fixing the penalty for violation of the new ordinance, at $100 fine, and thirty days imprisonment, and amending it to include professional dancers.

EAT EGGS TO LIVE HEALTHY

Plenty of Water Aid To Digestion

"Eggs are coming down," said the grocer, brightly.

"We never use them. No one in our house will eat an egg unless it is concealed in a cake or a pie," said the housekeeper.

The country doctor, loitering in the store until his man saw fit to bring around his team, looked at the woman thoughtfully, recalled that he had been called to her house once or twice to see ailing children and climbed into his buggy dismissing the woman's remarks idly.

After all, she had not been talking to him.

Some weeks later, called to a neat brown house on the outskirts of the town, he recognized the woman who admitted him as the woman whose family did not eat eggs, except in pies and cakes.

Mother Ready With Diagnosis.

His patient was a girl of sixteen, frail and white skinned, with blue veins pencilling the arms—and hands that made him think of paper white narcissi because of their fraility

"I guess she's anemic, doctor," said the girl's mother, after the fashion of many women who call physicians to visit a member of the family professionally and meet him at the door with a diagnosis.

The doctor said nothing.

At the end of his examination and after a talk with the girl, he decided that she was suffering from lack of proper food. The mother resented the statement that the girl was undernourished. But the girl, who was in high school, and "very bright" as her mother insisted, was interested.

She assented readily enough when the doctor prescribed milk and eggs. She explained that the reason she never ate eggs was that they never had them on the table. She was sixteen and had never tasted a boiled or a poached egg, much less a whipped egg in milk, or an omelette.

The mother explained that she herself could not eat eggs, and her husband did not care for them, therefore she had never given them to her children.

The doctor sighed. He was all too familiar with such "views."

Food Principles of an Egg

Deciding to appeal to the student interests of his patient, he sat down beside her.

He asked her if she knew that the average proportion of the food principles in the edible portion of a hen's egg were: water, 73.7 per cent; protein, 13.4 per cent; fat 10 per cent; mineral matter, 1 per cent. She had not known.

He explained that the white of an egg consisted of albumen, water and salts, chiefly chlorides and sulphates. That the yolk contained fat phosphates, sulphur, iron and water; that the digestibility of an egg depended upon its freshness, whether taken raw or cooked, the mode of cooking and personal idiosyncrasy. Some people, he admitted, could not digest eggs. But the number of persons having such an idiosyncrasy was very few, he said.

He said that the principal point to remember in cooking an egg was not to subject it to such intense quick heat that the albumen coagulated too quickly.

He explained that while milk was a well-nigh perfect food, because it contained the five food principles—proteins, fats, water, mineral salts, and carbohydrates—it was lacking in the iron necessary to adult nourishment. Therefore, the yolk of a raw egg, being rich in iron, was frequently beaten into a glass of milk and given to invalids who required extra nourishment. Even the mother approved raw eggs after she learned that.

YOU CAN'T TRUST CALOMEL AT ALL

It's Quicksilver, Salivates, Causes Rheumatism and Bone Decay.

The next dose of calomel you take may salivate you. It may shock your liver or start bone necrosis. Calomel is dangerous. It is mercury, quicksilver. It crashes into sour bile like dynamite, cramping and sickening you. Calomel attacks the bones and should never be put into your system.

If you feel bilious, headachy, constipated and all knocked out, just go to your druggist and get a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone for a few cents, which is a harmless vegetable substitute for dangerous calomel. Take a spoonful and if it doesn't start your liver and straighten you up better and quicker than nasty calomel and without making you sick, you just go back and get your money.

Don't take calomel! It can not be trusted any more than a leopard or a wild-cat. Take Dodson's Liver Tone which straightens you right up and makes you feel fine. No salts necessary. Give it to the children because it is perfectly harmless and can not salivate. (Adv.)

LACES AND DRAPERIES FOR SPRING

How to Select a Curtain

There are three viewpoints to watch when you select new curtains.

First—Look AT the curtain to see how the design will fit the decorative scheme of your room.

Second—Look THROUGH the curtain to make sure it is so transparent as not to obstruct your view—unless, of course, the view is unpleasing.

Third—Look AT the curtain again, this time against a DARK background, to see how its design will appear to your neighbors viewing your home from the outside.

One thing more—look at the construction of the curtain to see that it is not a mere woven material but a LACE having a tied (or knotted) mesh which won't slip and will hold its form and beauty until worn out.

Our stock of curtain materials has been selected with these four requisites in mind and includes everything for attractivt window dressing.

HITTERS HELP HAPPY ABE HOLD 'EM

Trio of Twirlers Gotten Out by Gassers in Vain

Slappey and Farrell and Burns, Attempted to pitch in their turns, But Smith had to eject 'em, As nine Spudders wreck't 'em, Slappey and Farrell and Burns.

By "Spike" Cooper

The Spudders had their eye on the ball yesterday afternoon and pasted the offerings of three Gasser moundmen for twelve hits totaling 24 bases and wound up the chilly contest with a 13-4 step toward the head of the "Up and Down." column.

Billy Smith started Slappey, the lad that looks like the figure 11, but his left handed shoots were muchly to the liking of the Salmites, for the majority that they failed to lambast were wide of the platter, and the first three counters of the fray were registered off his delivery, making the present south-paw starts count 3-0 in favor of the Spudder nine.

Per schedule, Billy Smith voiced his protests too strongly in the first round when Roy Brashear called Bescher safe as he pilfered the hot corner sack, and forthwith, straightway and immediately took up his sojourn behind the fence, in obedience to the dictates of "His 'onor, the "Umps."

There was too much ice-berg breadth in Athletic park for a ball game. Numbed fingers failed to tie into even slow hits balls and a total of seven miscues were charged to the gang who rambled through the necessary nine innings. Four bobbles went to the homelings and three were contributed by the visitors. "Get Two" Adams had an off day and bungled a couple, but he made them back when he showered down with a single to center in the sixth while the bags were drunk and Tex McDonald and Fred Beck reported to the dug-out.

Tex Was In There.

Tex McDonald had a mean day on the hot corner, despite the fact that it was cold. Forest Cady walloped a couple down toward him that left a tail of fire behind them. Tex hopped on 'em both, but threw the first one to the club house as he rushed up the play. It was fast baseball that he turned in, and though one run was counted after his error, he, like Adams, got it back in the fourth when he singled to center after Homer Summa had sent everybody home with a screaming triple down the right field foul line.

Fans who had been waiting patiently for Fred Beck to start his drive to the head of the Home Run club were well satisfied in the eighth frame when he lofted the apple far over the right wall for a circuit clout. This, and a triple in the fourth with Bescher on ahead of him, were his part in the cyclone which wrecked the Gasser hillock.

Lex Sorey got plenty of actin, too, seven chances all cleanly handled, three of which were mean ones, and Gasser hitters are of the opinion that robbery should be included in the box score.

Twice during the fracas the squeeze play went wrong and Beck and Adams were out between third and the counting station.

Many Extra Base Knocks.

It has been many a day since the pellet was punished so viciously. Frank Kitchens shot a double down the left field line in the second. Bescher and Summa tripled to right in the fourth. Hollahan's blow to center in the fifth went for three and Adams repeated in the last half of the same frame, and the "treat 'em rough" first sacker topped the field with a handsome wallop over into the next county. Boy, it was awful.

Abe Bowman looked neither to the right nor the left as he paraded through the Shreveport batting order and showed them that he held an "ace in the hole." Although he whiffed only a single hitter, he picked a good one for the deed, and sent the fence wrecking Eibel back to the bench talking to himself in the third. Two wins out of as many starts show that the old boy is headed for a great season.

Umpire O'Hearne is shattering tradition the longer he remains in town. Of course there are lots who disagree with him occasionally, but his courtesy, both to the stands and the players is something more or less new in the Texas league. His enunciations are clear and ringing, and add pep to the game. He is continually encouraging the players to hustle it up and displays finality in his decisions.

Roy Story opened the conflict with a long fly to Summa. Kitchens followed O'Shaughnessy's skier out into the middle of the lawn before he finally captured it. Abe passed the mighty Eibel who was promptly forced at second when Felix crashed one at Adams.

Spudders Cash In For 3.

Bob Bescher shot one past Slappey that he barely saw, and went to second on a passed ball at the plate. Summa walked and Bob purloined another cushion which resulted in the ejection of Billy Smith from the grounds. Cady threw Summa out at second as he went down on the first pitched ball. Tex McDonald couldn't find one he liked and also took a walk. Fred Beck decided that the home club needed a marker and proceeded to add two with a many horsepower blow into the right corner of the lot on which he took three bases. Miller flied to right and Beck scored standing up on the throw in. Adams grounded out, Hollahan to Eibel.

Three runs filed the Gassers and Touch Down.

Umpires O'Hearn and Brashear.

the second sacker sent Summa on a far journey after his drive, but Summalike, it was gobbled up. Hartford cracked one at Adams which he failed to hold and the runner was safe. Then Cady crashed a fast one at Tex who knocked it down but overthrew Beck and both runners advanced. Pratt went in to hit for Slappey and chased Jakie Miller toward the other wall after a long drive which failed to stick when he grabbed it and two runners ambled in. Storey was out, Tex to Beck and Besher took care of O'Shaughnessy's (Sweedish) fly.

Sorey grounded out, third to first and "Old Folks" Kitchens tramped on a fast one for two sacks much to the dismay of Farrell who had gone to the firing line in place of Slappey. He was left stranded though when Abe lifted a fly to left and Bescher was thrown out at first by Hollahan.

Bowman chunked one into Jackson's slats. Huck Eibel took three health cuts and sat down. Felix forced Jackson at second when he busted one which Sorey barely knocked down. It was line drive labled for at least one base, but the second sacker recovered in time to throw to Adams who was waiting on the bag. Hollahan singled to center and Felix went to third. Bob played the ball perfectly to catch him, but a break of the game favored the runner for the ball hit his leg and fell dead as Tex waited for it to come in. It would have been an easy out. Bowman finished things by throwing Hartford out at first.

Summa opened the Spudders half of the third with a walk. Tex laid down a perfect sacrifice and moved him up. Beck also walked. Hartford booted Miller's grounder and Summa scored. Adams failed to get out of the way of a fast one and was recorded as a hit batter, but Sorey forced him at second when he hit to short.

Kitchens camped under Cady's high foul, and Farrell snubbed an easy one out to Abe who promptly retired Bim at first, and Lex Sorey stopped Storey at the same station.

Kitchens opened with a high one to Jackson. Abe dodged one but failed to get out of the way and took it on the wrist. Bob Bescher rammed one for three bases to the favorite corner and Bowman cashed in. Summa busted one to the fence in right center for the same number, adding another marker, Tex laid agin' the next and sent Summa in. Fred Beck took the third strike for the second out and Eibel made a nice stab with one hand for Miller's liner.

O'Shaughnessy fouled our to Beck, but Jackson singled to left. Eibel rolled one out to Sorey who forced Jackson at second. Felix advanced the homerun terror with a single and Hollahan sent both runners on around with a triple to left center. Hartford rolled out Sorey to Beck.

Adams' triple opened the last half of round five. Burns, who had relieved Farrell in the fourth, pitched a wide one when Sorey attempted to squeeze the shortfielder in, and the runner was out at the plate. A fast bare-handed stop by the pitcher robbed Sorey of a single when he slapped one back at the hurler. Kitchens struck out.

Tex pulled his fastest play of the afternoon on Cady's hard hit grounder to the left of the third sacker, but he was thrown out. Burns popped up to Beck, and Storey lofted one to Summa.

Abe struck out for No. 1. Bescher walked and Summa flied out to left. Tex singled to left, advancing Bob another block. Burns walked Beck and filled 'em up. Miller took four wide ones and forced in a tally. "Get Two" Adams poked one over second for a knock and both Tex and Beck counted. Hartford failed to find the handle on one Sorey shot at him and Jakie and Adams cashed in. Kitchens flew out to Jackson.

O'Shaughnessy singled to short right. Jackson lifted one out to Bescher. Eibel drew his second pass and Adams kicked his second one on a roller from Felix and the bases were loaded. A pop foul to Kitchens disposed of Hollahan and Adams forced Felix at second when Hartford hit his way.

The Spudders went out in order in the last half of the seventh. Bescher was out Hollahan to Eibel. Summa flied out to right and McDonald dropped one over second which Felix copped.

One—Two—Three

McDonald threw Cady out again and Slappey rolled one out to Abe for the second death. Sorey threw Storey out at first.

Beck poured the pine to a fast one which parabaloed into the adjoining lot and he trotted around. Miller got his bingle of the day into right, but Adams flied out to center. Miller swiped a sack at the expense of Burns' delivery. Sorey lifted a high foul to third and Kitchens repeated with one on the other side of the diamond.

Abe lobbed 'em over to retire the side in the final frame. O'Shaughnessy flied to Bescher and Jackson lined one out to Jake Miller. Eibel wouldn't hit bad ones and drew his third pass of the day, but McDonald grabbed a roller by Felix and it was "all night 1som."

STRIKE MAKES STARS

Two stars who graduated from the mines. Buck Freeman, left and Hughie Jennings

Special to The Record News.

PITTSBURG, Pa., April 18.—Will the present mine strike turn out some good ball players?

Sit down until the query is explained.

Many of the stars of yesterday and today in the big leagues got their early baseball experience while working in and about the mines of Pennsylvania. And some of them turned to baseball at times when mine tie-ups gave them enforced vacations. So this strike may bring the same result.

Buck Freeman, who ranks as one of the greatest batsmen of the old days, was one of the greatest stars produced in the mining fields. Hughie Jennings, member of the famous Orioles, then manager of the Tigers and now coach under McGraw was another. The Covelskie brothers, Harry and Stanley, worked in the mines as boys. The older group of O'Neills, Mike and John swung picks at one time. Billy Goeckel, once star first sacker of the Phillies, and Frank Barker, old-time Giant catcher, are listed among the ex-diggers.

ROOKIE

Pat Shea

Pat Shea, young right-hander with the Giants, showed such a world of stuff in the exhibition games this spring that at least until McGraw's vets hit their gait he will get plenty of opportunities to try his arm against National leaguers.

TESREAU IS COACH

Jeff Tesreau, who ranked with the stars of the game during his career with the Giants, is now laboring to develop a winning baseball team at Dartmouth, where he is diamond coach. Jeff has only one man to count on as a sure thing at his position. That man is "Chick" Maynard. The others are not veterans.

Later, however, a meeting of the student body refused to stand by the retraction and voted to let the accusations stand. The criticism was based on Boaz's athletic policy. It's Boaz's next move.

LONGHORNS BOW TO ILLINOIS MEN

East Displays Lot of Class on Track

By Associated Press.

AUSTIN, Texas, April 18.—The University of Illinois track team won the meet with the University of Texas today by a score of 114 to 16. It was staged in a drizzling rain that increased intermittently into showers and hard downpours. The meet, however, was not delayed and several events were run off in the hardest showers.

The Illinois team experienced little trouble in defeating the Texans in any of the events. The Long Horns started strong at all times, but failed to show the strength and endurance that the Illinois men did at the finishes.

Texas did not take a first place and took second place in but two events. These were the 120-yard high hurdles and the high jump. Pendergast for Texas finished last in the high hurdles, but was given second place when Sapp (T) and Johnson (I) and H. S. Wallace (I) were disqualified.

Texas' star miler, Tommie Loop, of whom much was expected, was badly beaten by the Illinois men. He finished fourth, but was awarded third place when an Illinois runner was disqualified.

The summary:

100-yard dash; Ayers (I) first; Ascher (I) second; Stinett (T) third. Time 10:1.

1-mile run; Wells (I) first; Wharton (I) second; Loop (T) third. Time 4:32.

220yard dash; Ascher (I) first; Fitch (I) second; Ayers (I) third. Time 22:4.

120yard high hurdles; S. H. Wallace (I) first; Pendergrast (T) second. Sapp (T), Jonson (I) and H. S. Wallace (I) disqualified. Time 14 seconds.

440-yard dash; Sweet (I) first; Schlapprizzi (I) second; McNatt (T) third. Time 52 seconds.

Two-mile run; Wharton (I) first; Scott (I) second; Swanson (I) third. Time 9:52 1-5.

220-yard low hurdles; S. H. Wallace (I) first; H. S. Wallace (I) second; Sapp (T) third. Time 27 1-5.

880yard run; Kloepper (I) first; Yates (I) second; Hawley (T) third. Time 2:3.

1-mile relay; Illinois first. Time 3:32.

Pole vault; Collins (I) and Chandler (I) tied for first; Johnson (T) third. Height 11 feet.

CHENY AFTER DUNDEE

Andy Chaney, who boastfully claims he chased Johnny Kilbane out of the country with his energetic challenging, now says there are no world's to conquer, in the feather-weight class, so he will enter the junior lightweight class. Of course, right off the bat, Andy passes up the rank and file in that class—if there are any rank ones—and seeks a battle with the new titleholder, Johnny Dundee. Now if Dundee moves from New York to Pittsburgh Andy probably will step into the real lightweight division and challenge Benny.

The Pond's Paundry nine are booked to try their luck on taking the Christians to a cleaning, while Nobles of the Mystic Shrine will engage the North Methodists for seven innings.

ABILENE THREATENS TO KICK TRACES IN WEST TEXAS LEAGUE

ABILENE, Texas, April 18.—The Abilene club of the West Texas league, twice pennant winners, will withdraw from the league and disposer of its franchise if the circuit does not retract the action taken at Sweetwater Saturday in abolshing the $75 guarantee per game which had previously been voted.

Abilene and Amarillo at the Sweetwater meeting voted against the action, and today the directors of the Abilene club sustained the action of W. R. Keeble, club president, in opposing the guarantee clause. The local directors voted to sell the club's franchise within 10 days after the season opens unless the league rescinds its action.

HI HOPING TO TURN TABLE ON VERNON

Wichita Beaten Last Year and Season Before

By "Hank" Hayes

The Wichita Falls High baseball nine for the season of 1922, hope to accomplish a feat that they have been unable to do for the past two seasons, when they meet the Vernon high ball tossers Friday on the lot of Electra High school. The Vernonites have not been defeated for the past two seasons by the Wichita boys, but played a 10-inning tie in 1920, lost a 3-inning tussle 1 to 0 in 1921, and hope to make them taste defeat for 1922.

The Vernonites have been playing good baseball with the high schools up the line, and with the services of Baird, the three-year south-paw ace, have a strong aggregation and the Red and Black sluggers will have to play their limit to best them.

However, Coach Henderson is drilling the boys to their limit, and says that if the Wilbarger county lads wallop his charges that they will have a strong chance for the Northwest Texas championship in high school baseball.

The lineup that will probably represent the Red and Black in this important event will be: Ross, backstopping; Bourland or Harris as moundsmen; Kenley, initial sacker; Bashara at the halfway station; Kizziar on shortstop; Roberts, guardian of the hot corner; and Baldwin, Haney, Clark and Hembrie will take care of the outer gardens.

DALLAS GIANTS GRAB PANTHER CASTOFF

FORT WORTH, April 18.—Joe Brown, infielder, who was secured by the Panthers from Hamilton, Ont., was released this morning and immediately signed by Dallas. Catcher Tim Griensenbeck, who came to Fort Worth from the West Texas league, was turned over to Paris in the Texas-Oklahoma league. Brown was tried out here as a third baseman. It is understood, however, that Dallas will put him on second.

STOCK MARKET TAKES TUMBLE

Gentral Reversals Develop

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 18.—For the first time in several weeks, the stock market today was dominated by reactionary influences. Leaders of almost of every group except rails sustained extreme declines of 1 to 7 1-2 points.

Dealings again were active and unusually diversified, approximating 1,700,000 shares. That total, however, fell far below the record for almost two years made on the previous day.

Lacking more convincing or obvious reasons observers ascribed the days almost continuous reversal to technical conditions as represented by an over-extended position of the very large account.

In other quarters there was a disposition to associate the setback with the growth of the coal strike bonus legislation, bonus development and other developments, notable the Russo-German treaty. Foundation for the latter belief rested on the unsettled tone of the foreign exchange market at this center.

Oils led today's retreat just as they had featured the recent advance. Steels, equipments, motors and affiliated issues fell back more or less as named, net losses being most severe in Mexican Petroleum, Sinclair, Baldwin, Electric Storage Battery and United States Rubber. Pacific and Granger and issues of the roads traversing the cotton belt 1 to 2 points higher at their best, but lost much or all of their advantage of the more persistent liquidation of the final hour, when Reading and other coalers weakened.

The money offered all the comfort to the bullish interests, coming at 3 1-2c. This is the lowest stationary market since the market began its protracted advance.

RODEO SIGNS WOMAN RIDER

Mabel Strickland Will Do Trick Stunts

Mabel Strickland, whose clever work in trick riding and bronc riding at the Round-Up here last year, has entered for the coming contest which will be staged at Athletic Park, May 3, 4 and 4. According to a report from Round-Up headquarters Mabel, although in looks is only a strip of a girl of 17, she is the wife of Hugh Strickland, noted bronc rider, winner of the bronc riding contest at the Pendleton, Oregon, Round-Up last fall.

She is one of the cleverest lady trick riders in the game, and is also a capable and fearless bronc rider. She loves a contest and can always be found doing her best to be adjudged winner in a fair manner.

The Stricklands have won many trophies and many large purses, but their most cherished possession outside of their three-year-old daughter "April," is the Gold Medal won at the Pendleton, Oregon, Round-Up last fall—engraved proclaiming Mabel DeLong Strickland, world's champion cowgirl relay rider.

The advance sale of season box seats opened with a rush Monday, according to a report from Round-Up headquarters and it is expected that all the boxes will be sold out several days before the opening of the Rund-Up.

Bank Is Defendant In Diamond Suit

The American State Bank of Burkburnett is defendant in a suit now on trial in the county court-at-law involving the ownership of a diamond ring valued at $600. According to the evidence at the trial Tuesday, the plaintiff, the Shuttle Brothers & Lewis, wholesale jewelers, of Dallas, were owners of a diamond which the bank sold to recover on a $250 loan made to F. T. Benedict.

According to the evidence introduced at the trial, the plaintiff company sent Benedict several diamonds to sell, he making a partial payment on the invoice of $7,000. Testimony was introduced showing that Benedict left one of the diamonds valued at $600, with the bank to secure a loan and that later when the loan was not paid, the bank sold the diamond.

Additional testimony in the case will be taken this morning. The case is being tried before Judge Guy Rogers.

COTTON SCORES SHARP ADVANCE

Weather and Mill Reports Credited

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 18.—Reports of unfavorable weather in the south and talk of a continued improvement in the cotton goods situation led to a further sharp advance in the cotton market today. July contracts sold up to 17.76 and October 17.78, but met increased realizing at these figures, closing at 17.56 and 17.50 respectively. The general market closed steady at a net advance of 3 to 25 points, late months being relatively firm. The opening was one point lower on March but generally steady to 25 points on overnight buying orders. This bulge attracted realizing which was promoted by relatively easy cables and the easier earlier ruling of foreign exchange, and prices eased off a few points right after the call. Brokers with foreign trade connections were buying of near months, however, with the market soon becoming decidedly more active and firmer on reports of rain in the eastern belt and the forecast for cold weather in the west. Wall street, western and local traders were very active, but buyers on the advance were even more active and pushed October to 18.12 and December to 17.69, or about 21 to 35 points net higher on the general list. Private cables from Liverpool reporting that card room operators in Lancashire had agreed on the question of wages with their employers, providing other unions would accept the same terms, contributed to the midday advance.

The bullish futures most generally emphasized, however, were the unsettled weather in the belt and reports of a more active demand for cotton goods. The latter were accompanied by claims that prices were unprofitable and that manufacturers were willing to sell only for spot or nearby delivery. Port receipts today were 23,296 bales. United States port stock 352,536. Exports today 22,652, making 4,572,530 so far this season, against 3,926,365 last year.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON.

NEW ORLEANS, April 18.—Wide fluctuations, sharp upturns and equally sharp reactions, featured the trading in cotton today. For a while it was much of a weather market and heavy buying resulted from too much rain in the belt and fear of the effect of the cold wave in the west as it advances eastward. Most of the gains were wiped out when local brokers received messages from Washington telling of an agreement in the senate to pass the soldiers' bonus bill. After trading at 17.18 for May and October and standing at net advances on the list of 25 to 30 points, the market finally closed at net advances of only 5 to 2 points.

Liverpool's refusal to meet yesterday's advance on this side of the water caused losses of 1 to 8 points in the early trading but when October touched 16.78 the wet weather over a good part of the belt commenced to tell. The unfavorable reports of weather conditions became more pronounced when the barometer lines were interpreted as meaning a belated cold snap which it was figured, might possibly extend down far enough into the cotton country to damage young cotton.

After the middle of the morning a bulge carried the active months to 17 cents and stop orders were received in large number on the short side of this demand accelerated the advance, but in the afternoon buying power died out because of the Washington dispatches although the market held a steady tone to the close.

LIVERPOOL SPOT COTTON

LIVERPOOL, April 18.—Cotton spot quiet; prices barely steady. Good middling 10.72; fully middling 10.42; middling 10.27; low middling 9.77; good ordinary 8.92; ordinary 8.42; Sales 7,000 bales, including 6,000 American.

DRY GOODS FIRM

NEW YORK, April 13.—Demands for moderate lots of sheetings and print cloths for May-June delivery continued today, and prices were firm with a slight rising tendency. Yarns sold more freely at low prices. Wool goods were steady, but worsteds were irregular and quiet. Broad silks were quiet and ribbons a little more active. Burlaps found better request. Linens were steady but not in much demand.

COFFEE SOARS

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 18.—An opening advance of 5 to 11 points in the market for coffee futures established new high records for the season but attracted considerable realising while there was also some selling here for European accounts.

Sales estimated at 65,000 bags. The opening advance was promoted by the firmness of Brazil, but there was a little more trade selling at the higher prices against actual. May 10.40, July 10.50, September 9.84; October 9.80; December, January and March 9.72.

Spot coffee firm: Rio 7s 11 to 11 1-2; Santos 4s 14 to 15 1-4.

We read a good deal about "birth control." We fat fellows are particularly interested in girth control.

PRICE OF WHEAT DROPS AT CLOSE

Setback Caused by Stock Decline

CHICAGO, Ill., April 18.—Notwithstanding a display of stubborn threats to go higher, wheat weakened at the last, today affected for the most part by New York stock market declines and misgivings of a European diplomatic tangles. Wheat closed heavy, 1-8 lower, with May 1.39 to 1.38 1-2 and July 1.23 3-8 to 1.23 1-2. Corn finished 7-8 to 1-8 down. Oats off 3-4 to 1 1-4 cents, and provisions varying from unchanged figures to a setback of 12 cents.

It had been expected in some quarters that if it proved the case Liverpool market upon resumption of business after the Easter recess should fail today to parallel recent advance in Chicago, a decided fall of values would be witnessed here. Instead, the relative indifference shown at Liverpool was practically ignored here after a brief period at the outset. Persistent buying for houses with eastern connection and commission climbing prices up to the mid-day after which however, reaction of the market as a rule, was lower and unsteady.

In the late dealings wheat buyers were in the minority, whereas earlier a notable absence of pressure to sell had been a leading factor in sending the market upward. Crop damage reports from the southwest, although given considerable attention up to mid-day were subsequently much more than counterbalanced by happenings in Wall Street and at Genoa.

Changes in prices of corn and oats appeared to depend almost entirely on the turns made by wheat.

FEMALE BOOZE DEALER BOTHER

Women Rum Sellers Grow in Number

(By International News Service.)

WASHINGTON, April 18.—What to do with women bootleggers is perplexing federal judges. Their number is legion. "Bootleg kings" are pressing them into service as cunning "tools" for the distribution of their concoctions. They are being prosecuted in steadily increasing numbers in the courts.

The Department of Justice records today revealed the fact that women, as illicit rum peddlers, are practically immune from punishment under the present method of dealing with them in the courts. The records showed that an astonishingly large number of the offenders prosecuted so far this year in federal courts have been women.

But the big fact stands out in these records that it is almost impossible to convict women, even in the face of what appears to be irrefutable proof offered in evidence. When convicted, the courts generally have exercised leniency and taken the personal bonds of the accused.

Number is Increasing.

Prohibition officials reported today that women rum runners, equipped with limousines and daring enough to use guns, are increasing in numbers at an alarming rate. They are more difficult to catch than men, because they are less open to suspicion.

In larger cities it now is the common practice for shrewd dealers in illicit whiskey to employ women to deliver whiskey ordered by customers. These women never excite the slightest suspicion. They are dressed in fashion's latest mode. They affect arvied disguises. They usually appear daily differently costumed. Their costume bills are paid for by the bootleg kings. They borrow a neighbor's children to ride with them on their delivery trips.

CATHOLIC CHURCH GAINS 68 PER CENT OVER YEAR OF 1921

NEW YORK, April 18.—The official Catholic directory for 1922 shows the Catholic church's gains in 1921 were 68 per cent greater than in the previous year. The increase in the United States proper was 219,158. In the United States and its possessions there are 20,558048 Roman Catholics, and of this number 18,104,80[illegible] are in the United States. The total gains were 435,180, the largest reported for several years.

There was an increase of 406 priests, the total now being 22,810. In 1921 there were 204 new parishes established and 8,698 young men were enrolled in the 213 theological seminaries, which is an increase of 402 over the year 1920. Seven new colleges for boys and eight new academies for girls were built. There are 1,852,498 children in the 6,258 free parochial schools. This is an increase of 81,080 children and of 210 schools in 1920.

The directory gives the total Catholic population of the archdiocese of New York as 1,473,201. There are 175,538 children under Catholic care. The number of priests in the 303 churches under Archbishop Patrick J. Hayes is 1,141. There were 2,573 converts reported.

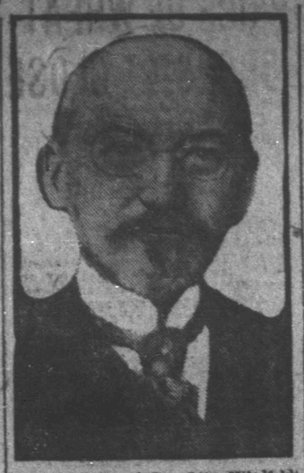
The directory is late in appearing, it having been held up to obtain facts about the new pontiff.

BANKER'S DAUGHTER ACCIDENTALLY SHOT

Special to the Record News.

QUANAH, Texas, April 18.—Miss Gafford, the 17-year-old daughter of the Kansas City banker who has leased the O X ranch, was accidentally shot last Thursday, and carried to the Quanah sanitarium. Miss Gafford had come to the ranch for a short visit a few days ago and was walking around the ranch looking for something to shoot at with a long barrelled pistol she was carrying. Not being familiar with fire arms, she let the gun go off prematurely, with the result that the bullet ployed its way into her chest. She is still in precarious condition but may recover.

GERMAN ENVOY



A new photo of Dr. Otto Wiedfeldt

Recent dispatches from Berlin state that Dr. Otto Wiedfeldt, new German ambassador to the United States, will sail for this county at the end of April. Commenting on a recent "peace and amity" speech of Ambassador Houghton, Dr. Wiedfeldt said, "As a manufacturer I would put aside the questions of the past and concentrate my attention upon the problems of the present and the future."

FARMERS GAIN BY BIG PRICES

Dollar Value Now 50 Per Cent Above '20

(By International News Service)

CHICAGO, April 18.—Stockmen and grain farmers are worth $1,046,000,000 more than they were ninety days ago as a result of the upturn in market values. This was the cheering statement of President E. S. Brown, of the National Live Stock Exchange. He has just returned from a trip into Iowa and Nebraska, where he said a new feeling of confidence prevails.

An advance of $4.50 per hundred pounds in the hog market since the last week in December, an upturn of $1 on cattle during the same period and the addition of $2.25 in ninety days to the value of sheep have increased the value of live stock in farmers' hands by $561,000,000. Another $485,000,000 was added to their wealth through an advance of forty cents on wheat, twenty-five cents on corn, and twenty cents on oats, it was stated.

The value of a dollar, it was pointed out, is 50 per cent greater than in 1920, so that an advance of $1,046,000,000 at this time really amounts to $1,569,000,000 in post-war terms. Mr. Brown predicted that the recent increases only foreshadow further gains and gave the established marketing systems credit for pulling the farmer out of what at one time seemed to be almost a hopeless depression due to the economic upheaval following the world war.

SHANGHAI SHORT ON BEAUTY PARLORS

SHANGHAI, April 18.—Shanghai needs a "number one top side heaven pigeon" American beauty parlor.

There is a French parlor here and a Russian attempt. But what would the American women in Shanghai and the tourists passing through give for a 1922 variety of a "homeside" shop where one could get violet rays and massages and face packs and eyebrow plucking sessions, and permanent waves and real honest-to-goodness manicures? Nobody knows.

The two beauty parlors are run by men and cater especially to the French and Russian women, so that it is very difficult for the American women to receive attention unless the appointment is made several days in advance.

THOMAS RAPS COURT POWER

Favors an Inheritance Tax to Curb Fortunes

Attacks on the power of the supreme court of the United States, which he says as at present organized gives one man, at times, the power of deciding the destiny of the country and on the concentration of great fortunes of this country, featured a speech by Cullen F. Thomas of Dallas, candidate for the senate, before the University club Tuesday noon. Fortunes he would curb by a stiff inheritance tax.

Other high lights in his speech were:

Advocacy of cutting of army and navy below limits fixed by disarmament conference, and below most drastic cuts now proposed.

Relief in religious freedom for men of all faiths or for men of none.

Opposition to life tenure or office by judges.

Adherence to the leadership of Woodrow Wilson, "in good repute or ill."

Relief in tariff for revenue only, and denunciation of emergency tariff.

Relief that the United States should be represented at council table of League of Nations, but not by "Colonel" George Harvey, ambassador to Great Britain.

Opposition to Esch-Cummings transportation act which he declared was made "toilers of us all for the benefit of the railway kings, with a fixed earning on properties valued not at their real worth but on bonus values fixed by the railroads."

Introduced By Taylor.

Mr. Thomas was introduced by R. E. Taylor, local attorney. His talk was prolonged by questions from the audience on the tariff and transportation question. Although he spoke for nearly an hour beyond the regular closing time of the club, the most of the crowd stayed with him, and applauded vigorously his latter pronouncements, including his mention of Woodrow Wilson, and of the wounds sustained by him in favor of the cause he represented.

Sees Grave Danger.

In attacking the power held at present by the supreme court, the speaker said that he considered that "in the courts" there lay a grave danger to popular government in this country. He declared that at present constituted the court, composed of nine men, has power to overturn the acts of "the people" as passed by congress. Further, than that, he pointed ont, the court frequently differs five to four on important cases, giving one man, he asserted, the power to shape the destinies of this country.

"Let no one go out and say that I am attacking the court," he declared in the course of his treatment of this subject," for I am not. I am trying to save the court from attack, and save the confidence of the people in the court, through an elimination of such power in the hands of one." He said that this power was never dreamed of when the constitution was adopted.

Newberry Decision.

Court decisions on the federal primary act under which Newberry was convicted of spending too much money in his campaign for the senate, decisions of some years ago when the income tax was held unconstitutional before the adoption of the income tax was held unconstitutional before the adoption of the income tax amendment, and decision in a recent case where an Arizona statute limiting the power of the courts of that state in injunctions, were mentioned as cases in point by the speaker. All were decided on votes by the court of five to four, he declared.

The Newberry decision, he asserted, shaped the destinies of the country through giving Newberry a vote in the senate, and permitting the republican party to organize the machinery of that body.

The speaker reminded his hearers that he could not alter the constitution to limit the authority of the court. He expressed the opinion that congress could by legislation change that, although pointing out that many good lawyers disagreed with him on that.

"And then," he continued, "the court might by a five to four vote hold the law unconstitutional."

In this connection, he also proclaimed himself as opposed to life tenure of any office in the government, on the court, or otherwise. He proposed instead, that judges be appointed by the president for a reasonable term of years. He called on Thomas Jefferson and James Stephen Hogg as witnesses against the wisdom of this.

On Fortunes.

An "ever widening chasm between those who have and those who haven't" was referred to by the speaker in declaring that one of the most pressing problems of the day was the more equitable distribution of the nation's wealth.

He said that the problem of securing more equitable distribution should not be approached from an "I. W. W." standpoint, but from a conservative standpoint. He said that he did not advocate the limiting of the amount an individual might have, but witnessed Gladstone and Pulitzer as advocating limitation of fortunes to avoid the danger from concentrations of great wealth. He said that he had no quarrel against those who had secured this wealth, and declared that he held that all honor belonged to the "Henry Fords" of the country, but indicated belief that many fortunes were secured by chicane or by taking advantage of unjust laws for the obtaining of natural wealth. His proposed inheritance tax he would make a stiff one in the "upper brackets" he indicated.

In denouncing the transportation system he told of a car of gasoline shipped to a man at Sunset—the gasoline costing, he was informed, $253 and the transportation $163.

Reference to Lucian W. Parrish was made both by Br. Thomas and Mr. Taylor, both of whom expressed the highest esteem for the man and regret at his being taken away.

HOLDER AND HIRSCHI NAMED SCHOOL HEADS

J. H. Holder living in the Cooper district was re-elected from Precinct No. 2 and John Hirschi was elected from Precinct No. 1 to the county board of school trustees, according to belated returns received at the office of Burl Bryant, county superintendent of schools. A light vote was cast in both precincts.

The county board as now constituted consists of Judge W. W. Cook of this city; D. E. Hooks of Iowa Park, E. A. Dale of Electra and the two trustees elected at the recent election.

LOCAL POSTOFFICE MEN WILL OBSERVE "EFFICIENCY WEEK"

"Less government in business and more business in government" is the idea which President Harding sets forth in fostering the "postal improvement week program," according to local postal employes.

The program, which extends from May 1 to 6, is a plan of the postoffice department to bring more efficiency into the routine work of the individual government employes. Speaking of this program, former Postmaster General Hays says that he is delighted with the progress the plans are meeting; he points out that the slogan hanging in the New York post office—"neither snow nor rain nor heat nor gloom of night stays these couriers from the swift completion of their appointed rounds"—applies to the employes of every department of the postal system, which, he says, is showing rapid improvement.

Whatever, the heat, the cold or the storm, the mail carrier goes his daily run with his mail bag slung over his shoulder. He is in a great sense as the former postmaster general says—"the agent of an incrutable providence," for he carries news of disaster to one, news of happiness to another. He heralds the tidings from distant lands, and often holds the making or the ruining of a business in his mail sack.

It is for a more efficient delivery and to create more interest in their work that the government is fostering "postal improvement week."

Heights Methodist Honors 239 New Members at Social

The congregation of the Floral Heights Methodist church will give an "Honor Social" Wednesday night, 7:45, honoring the 239 new members who have recently united with the church. The close of the first half year will also be celebrated in connection with this meeting. Records will be read showing the progress of the work done during the pastorate of Dr. Groseclose, who came here the middle of last November. This report will show that in addition to the great increase in membership, the financial budget greatly increased over last year, has been paid for half the year with an excess of about 14 per cent.

This church was organized about two and one-half years ago with about 75 members from First Methodist church who withdrew for that purpose. It now has a membership of nearly 900. Outside of three churches in Dallas, there are only the following that have a larger membership; Gainesville, Sulphur Springs, Sherman, Paris, Terrell, Greenville. None of the churches mentioned pays as much salary to the pastor as does Floral Heights. Only two Methodist churches in Dallas pay as much salary as Floral Heights. The delegates from this church who will attend the District Conference at Electra next Thursday and Friday will carry up one of the best reports ever carried to any Methodist Conference.

The program for the social is as follows: Judge P. B. Cox, teacher of the Wesley Girls' class, who has charge of all arrangements will act as toastmaster.

Musical Program Complete: Piano solo by Erwin. Reading by Jolire Woods. Vocal solo by Mrs. Lee Clark. Violin solo by Jarrell Goss. Reading by Makomb Ducker. Vocal solo by R. E. Shepherd. Lee Clark, superintendent of the city schools, gave a report of his trip to the national educational convention held at Chicago recently and reports to have been given by other delegates who attended, were omitted on account of their absence from the meeting.

ELECTION FOR SCHOOLS SET

$850,000 Bond Issue Voted on May 13

Plans of nearly three years standing for the incorporation of a junior college, giving two years of regular college work, as a part of the Wichita Falls public schools, will come before the voters of Wichita Falls for formal ratification on the same day that a congressman is selected for this district—May 13. Call for an election on that date to pass on $850,000 worth of school bonds for the high school—junior college, and for two new ward schools was issued by the school board Tuesday morning, following action to this end agreed upon by the board Monday night.

The new ward schools will be located on the North Side, where a temporary arrangement is now being used, and in the Sibley-Taylor addition, a recent addition to the city which has experienced a rapid growth in population. Both sections are now without school facilities. No apportionment is made between the three schools in the call for election. The bonds are 40 year five per cent bonds with a 10 year optional redemption clause.

The idea of a junior college has met with hearty favor in every organization to which it has been presented in the last two years—such favor being attached to the idea that plans to secure location of a private institution of the same rank here was given over recently in favor of one offering these advantages as a part of the public school system.

The two years college work offered will include modified two year courses usually offered in colleges preparatory to undertaking technical work, as medical, engineering or similar professional studies.

One box only will be open for the election. George Simmons is named as presiding judge with W. H. Downing assistant judge, and L. P. Webb, F. H. Denison and A. K. Presson, clerks.
