DEATHS NOW 400; STORM ABATED GAS TAX PLEA TO AID SCHOOLS RENEWED

URGE DECREASE IN OCCUPATION TAX AS LEVIED

ONE-FOURTH OF GAS TAX IS ASKED FOR SCHOOLS;
OTHER TO HIGHWAYS

(By The Associated Press)
AUSTIN, Texas, Sept. 21 (AP)—A three or four cent gasoline tax, one fourth of the revenue to be used to increase the scholastic apportionment to $15 per capita and three fourths to the maintenance and construction of state highways was to be asked of the 89th legislature in special session here today in prepared statement by Gov.
Miriam A. Ferguson.

The Governor urged a substantial decrease of the present occupation tax levied on automobiles and motor vehicles and the appropriation of the remaining commissioners court of each county.

"I do not think," the governor's statement read, "that ad valorem taxes upon the farms and city and town real estate and personal property of the people should be further taxed, as this class of property now bears more than its proportionate part of the burden of taxation, and for that reason I urge the tax upon sales of gasoline as a more equitable and uniform distribution of our tax burden."

LOW GRADE COTTON STAPLE RAPPED

HOUSTON, Sept. 21. (AP)—In the mad race for quantity production, American cotton is degenerating to a point where it is approaching the low grades produced in India and China, with its consequent decline in value, Anderson Clayton and company, generally acknowledged as one of the largest cotton merchants in the world, charge.

Two Trainmen Hurt In Amarillo Crash

AMARILLO, Texas, Sept. 21 (AP)—
Two Amarillo trainmen were injured, last evening when a Santa Fe fruit train crashed into four freight cars a mile west of Hereford, C. Hutchinson, fireman suffered a broken leg and bruises, while Ed Arney, engineer, sustained a broken collar bone and a crush shoulder. They were removed to the Hereford hospital.

Error In Wages For Cotton Pickers Seen

Wages to cotton pickers in this section of Texas will be $1 per hundred pounds with board furnished, or $1.25 per hundred pounds without board for the worker, the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce announced this morning. A statement that the wages were to be $1.50 without board was in error, the commercial organization, which is heading a drive to furnish 1,500 cotton pickers to South Plains farmers, pointed out.

Two Men Die As Trans-Atlantic Plane Bursts Into Flames On Take-off of 3,800-Mile Trip

Ill-Fated Plane And Proposed Route

SANTONE MILL SWEEP BY FIRE

Fireman Seriously Injured And Property Loss Estimated
Near $100,000

(By The Associated Press)
SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 21.—Loss of $60,000 to $100,000 was caused and one fireman was possibly fatally injured when fire swept the plant of the San Antonio Oil Works today. The flames were brought under control after an hour and a half with the aid of the city's fire-fighting apparatus.

Steve Donose, of fire truck number three, station number seven, was in a critical condition at a hospital after both legs had been cut off when he was "thrown under a string of box cars backed from the plant. A dozen other firemen were bruised and burned.

Every available man and piece of apparatus of the city fire department rushed to the rapidly spreading blaze.

The blaze was discovered shortly after 9:29 o'clock in the press room of the plant and rapidly spread until it had reached the hull house where hundreds of tons of cotton seed hulls are stored.

The fire soon was shooting several hundred feet in the air.

Oil City Ravaged
OIL CITY, La., Sept. 21. (AP)—Fire which broke out today in a pool room here destroyed two and a half blocks in the business district, causing loss estimated at $750,000.

Twenty-two business houses were burned, only the Oil City bank building of brick construction remaining on the west side of the town. Fifteen residences were destroyed.

Robbins' home is in Tennessee and he was in this section of the country

White and family here Sunday and

CAPT. RENE FONCK

Here is shown the Trans-Atlantic airplane of Capt. Rene Fonck, French flying ace, the proposed route of the flight, and Capt. Fonck, who with Lieut. Lawrence Curtin barely escaped with their lives when the plane burst into flames early today and crashed to earth killing two men as it took off on the 3,800-mile non-stop flight from New York to Paris. The giant plane is shown at a hangar at the Long Island plant where it was built, and the heavy-dotted line in the center picture shows the great northern arc, the proposed route.

MAN HELD HERE NOT A RANGER

Adjutant General Denies Claim Of Borger Man Arrested For Drunkeness Recently

C. H. Miller of Borger, Hutchinson county, who was jailed last week on charges of drunkenness and who claimed to Sheriff H. L. Johnston that he was a member of the Texas rangers, has no connection at all with that department, Chief Deputy Vernice L.
Ford announced today after receiving a telegram from Adjutant General Dallas J. Matthews.

The man made his claim to ranger membership while under the influence of extracts, Sheriff Johnston reported, and since there were no papers found on him when he was placed in a cell the officers here gave little credence to it. The next morning, however, he still stuck to his claim and Deputy Sheriff Ford wired the state ranger forces, questioning the adjutant in charge.

As a result of Mr. Ford's telegram the following message was received by the sheriff's department this morning:
"Miller, claiming to be Texas ranger, has no connection with ranger forces, kindly advise Daily Journal and ask for due publicity." The telegram was signed by Adjutant General Matthews, in charge of Texas rangers.

Just what disposition will be made of Miller's case, the sheriff's department was unable to say today. The man was still being held this afternoon.

26 Injured When
Train Is Wrecked
WESTON, W. Va., Sept. 21 (AP)— Twenty-five passengers and a railroad worker were injured today two miles north of Orlando, W. Va., when Baltimore and Ohio passenger train No. 58, a local operating between Charleston and Grafton, was wrecked at a culvert.
Most of the injured were bruised and suffered from shock. One passenger, Mrs. Mary Martin of Chicago, was removed to a Weston hospital. The extent of her injuries had not been determined.

FOOTBALL RESULTS
At Abilene—Tech 9, McMurray 0 (End first quarter)
Tech 6, McMurray 9 (2nd quarter)

(By The Associated Press)
WESTBURY, N. Y., Sept. 21 (AP)— Two men lost their lives today when the trans-Atlantic airplane of Captain Rene Fonck crashed in flames in an attempt to take off on a 3,600 mile non-stop flight to Paris.

They were Charles Clavier, French radio operator, and Jacob Islamoff, Russian mechanic. They were trapped in the closed cabin of the huge three-motored bi-plane.

Two Leap to Safety Captain Fonck, the French ace in command of the flight, and Lieutenant Lawrence W. Curtin, U. S. N., American alternate pilot, leaped to safety before the plane burst into flames.

An attempt was made to take off last Thursday but had to be postponed because of a gasoline leakage discovered at the last minute. Afterward Parisian friends of Captain Fonck urged him to make the flight for the honor of France, even at the risk of death.

The crash was caused by the buckling of a wheel on an extra landing gear that was to have been dropped into the ocean as soon as the plane got under way.

"I knew the wheel had crashed," said Fonck, "but could neither stop nor rise."

Airplane Gives Alarm
The plane burst into flames an instant after the two pilots leaped from it. Heavy clouds of black smoke rolled upward. An airplane circling overhead sounded a fire siren, and telephone calls brought the Westbury fire department within ten minutes. They used small fire extinguishers on the flames but these were futile. There was no water available in the middle of the field, and firemen said it would have been useless in fighting a smoling fire. There were 2,000 gallons of gasoline in the tanks.

The plane weighed more than 28,
000 pounds loaded at the take-off.
There was a low hanging mist and a light north wind.

An hour earlier Carl F. Schory, chairman of the contest committee of the National Aeronautical Association, had sealed the gasoline tank and the paraglider as a check at the end of the flight whether the plane had taken on more fuel or landed during the voyage.

1,000 View Accident Approximately 1,000 persons had gathered to watch the start of what was to have been an epic voyage.

When the plane crashed the crowd rushed forward, but could not get within fifty yards of the plane. The grass was burned back for fifty feet around it.

Women screamed and fainted, and some other said to have been shell shocked, went into hysterics.

The fire raged for more than an hour afterward, and it was impossible to rescue the bodies of the trapped sirmen. Clavier had a wife and three children waiting to welcome him in Paris.

Officials of the Sikorsky Aerial Engineering corporation, builders of the plane, exonerated all participants from blame, and indicated another attempt could be made at a non-stop flight.

PENSACOLA AND MOBILE SUFFER HEAVY DAMAGE

DEATH TOLL REACHES 400
AND INJURED ESTIMATED
APPROXIMATELY 5,000

(By The Associated Press)
NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 21.—The Tropical hurricane which after lashing Mobile and Pensacola with the same fury that marked its progress through Florida, today had dissipated itself and was passing with rapidly diminishing strength over Southern Mississippi toward New Orleans.

Storm warnings were ordered down shortly after noon when the New Orleans weather bureau announced that the storm was blowing itself out and its intensity was fast lessening.

Swerves Toward New Orleans
After raging over Pensacola and Mobile throughout yesterday, the storm early today swerved sharply toward this city.

Little damage, however, was done along the Mississippi coast other than crops. Although the wind reached a velocity in some places around 80 miles an hour, few houses were damaged and no one was reported injured.

Most severe damage reported was to the peach orchard and the cotton crop.
Although it was said there was no loss of life in Mobile and that precautionary measures had saved the city from loss of life, fear was expressed for several fishermen who were on Mobile bay when the storm broke. Another report from Mobile over a shaky wire, usable only a few seconds, said the telephone office and many other buildings had been unroofed and many plate glass windows smashed.

Two Town Levelled
Seminole and Lillian, Florida, between Pensacola and Mobile, were reported levelled. Reports of loss of life at Bay Minette and Jackson, Ala., could not be confirmed; and it is believed that the telephone and telegraph wire and crops were the heavy suffers in Alabama. Destruction of much cotton was reported at Richton, Miss.

Many Southern Missisippians fled to New Orleans in hopes of avoiding the storm. The barometer read 29.59 here this morning.

Mexico Plea To Be Considered On Merits

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21. (AP)—While the movement of Mexican troops across American border territory has been permitted in the past as a magnanimity of assistance to the Mexican government in dealing with revolutionary outbreaks, there is no established American policy in that regard. Presumably the president's request from Mexico asking for permission will be considered on its own merits.

DAUGHTER NEEDS SOMETHING TO DO.

The girl was sitting on the porch reading. Her mother went over to her and took her book off her knee. "Now go and take a walk," said the mother. "But there's no place to go! I've taken all the walks," protested the girl. "Then go and get a basket and hunt me some fresh vegetables." "What do I know about vegetables?" said the girl. "I'd be buying carrots for pumpkins and asking for a quart of corn. Please give me my book. There isn't a thing to do about this deadly place but read." "Will you pardon me?" said the mother to me. "If I stop to give this lazy daughter of mine a lecture?" "Certainly. Go right ahead," I urged. "I'd like to hear what you have to say. Not that your daughter deserves a lecture any more than several million other girls in her fix. I should like to hear what advice you have to give her." "Well to begin with," said the mother. "When I was a girl your age I had one dress in the summer. It was a white dress and when I went any place I washed and ironed that white dress. It was all I had. I always looked pretty nice, too." "I've got about two dozen," smiled the girl. "And the laundress is pretty faithful. What would I wash and iron even if I did like it? What you did as a girl, mother, is a dead letter now. You filled in your time with turkey track stitch on ties and the wildest excitement you knew was a chaffing dish party. Mother dear, your lectures are all personal history and I simply can't make practical use of them. I'm educated and know nothing but books and now life has no use for me." The mother looked worried. "Well, I don't like to have you sit around reading," she said. "You need exercise and you are getting stale. I wish I knew what to do." Then I spoke up. "I might suggest something," said I. "Do you mind? Let your daughter take a business course and go into an office. You have no idea how happy she will be." I met the girl today coming home. Both looked amazed. I said goodbye and left, to let the idea sink in. She had taken my advice. There is a different look on her face. A look of purpose and happiness.

Such Gowns! Germaine Reports Such Furs! And Such Prices!

Beige wool with figured coat

Printed silk of blue and white

Paris, France, Sept. 21. Dear Cousin: There are the days when I realize the advantages of being a millionaire—or the wife of one—and I regret that Jimmy was rushed back to America by his solicitous family. He was so thoroughly delightful, and so absolutely democratic that one quite forgave the fabulous wealth he represented.

If I had access to an unlimited bank account, or if I could buy according to the dictates of my conscience, the famous wardrobe of Jean Nash would look puny compared to mine, and every courier of Paris would be sending tributes to my door. Such evening gowns! Such magnificent furs. Such intriguing sport attire. And such prices as the openings reveal.

For evening we are to go about in gold and silver inlaid with pearls, and yet we shall not look as though we were garbed for a masque ball. The designs are so thoroughly modern and so artistic.

Rodier has created the most marvelous range of textiles, shading from brown and beige into reds—perfect as stained glass windows.

I have a new two-piece outfit of Rodier wool, which I had photographed for you. The frock is beige, trimmed with a fancy woven wool in shades of beige and brown, and a coat entirely of the figured wool, banded and lined with the plain. With this I wear a hat of tan felt.

Figured materials are most irresistible to me. A little printed silk afternoon frock at Jean Mawrin's was so obviously created for me that Aunt Louise made me a present of it and a photograph of that too is enclosed.

As to cut, it is not unusual—pleated section at the side, and a jacket effect in front, cut to give a rippling, jabot line at either side of the front. But the colors are marvelous, shades of blue from light to dark, with much of this sharp, flat blue, and white, arranged in cubistic display.

Rev. and Mrs. E. E. White Open House To Members Of Methodist Church On Wedding Anniversary

Rev. and Mrs. E. E. White opened their house Monday evening in a reception to members of the First Methodist church and to introduce Miss Dorothy Cooper, new student secretary of the church. This was their tenth wedding anniversary and members of the church presented them with a gift.

The house was beautifully decorated with flowers, with a color scheme of red and gold being used in the dining room. A musical program was given during the evening with H. W. Richardson, Mrs. Carl Scoggin and Mrs. O. B. Trinkle singing; Miss Ruth Pottle reading a clever original number and Miss Margaret Turner, W. R. Wagborne and Miss Daisy Baskin giving piano numbers. Mrs. Mamie I. Neal accompanied the singers.

Madames P. W. Horn, D. B. Doak, Garland Woodward and E. W. Camp, assisted by Madames O. L. Slaton and W. W. Royalty, served at the table.

Mrs. W. O. Stevens and Garland Woodward met the guests at the door and they were then greeted by Rev. and Mrs. White and introduced to Miss Cooper. Others in the house party were Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Granbery, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Richardson, Mrs. Herbert Maxwell, Mrs. Joe Fling, Mr. and Mrs. R. Q. Pierb, Mrs. Dyke Cullum, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Wagborne, Miss Ruth Horn, Mrs. Reeve Catt, Mrs. George Wolffarth, Dr. P. W. Horn, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Maedgen, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Maxey, Rev. D. B. Doak, Miss Flora McGee, W. O. Stevens, Miss Evelyn Sowell.

When I wear it, I am sure to receive compliments.

For evening, it seems to me nothing is more lovely than the new Bianchini silk, so rich and heavy there is no necessity to enrich them with trimming.

Incidentally, there are many afternoon frocks of lame and brocade silks, and crepes trimmed with shaded gold and silver lame. On a dark ground, these plaids and waves of heavy gold are ever so attractive, I think.

I have seen two coats I am pining for, but father turns a deaf ear on my pleas. One is of thick black satin lined with beige crepe de chine, with mammoth collars and cuffs of rabbit fur just the color of the lining. The sleeves are the new kind that extend from shoulder to waistline, and take the most fascinating folds.

For day, I should love to go about attired in a Chanel model of granite colored wool, banded with tiger cat fur. It makes me look as slender as a reed—and oh, so very knowing. When Aunt Louise sees it on me—I shall take great pains that she does—she will buy it in the interests of furthering art and beauty. I am confident.

Shopping keeps me busy, but I have time to see Jacques frequently, and to notice that he seems quite changed. I am sure he is thinking of the beautiful Argentine girl at Deauville.

While having tea with him yesterday at the pavillone of Henry IV at St. Germain, which place has recently been redecorated and has the most charming view in France, he told me his father's affairs were in rather bad shape, and he might have to visit several foreign offices for him. I couldn't help wondering if he would find it necessary to take a trip to Buenos Aires. Do you suppose he was merely taking that way of explaining his absence? Time will tell. Regards to my aunt and uncle, and all my love to you. GERMAINE.

phan at the Methodist home. A meeting is to be held soon to make fall shopping for the little girl. A checking booth is to be conducted during the Panhandle-South Plains fair by members of this class. It was decided last evening. Committees were appointed as follows: Membership—Madames E. E. Bailey and Steve Edsall; visiting—Madames O. L. Pesterman and Ed O'Sullivan; social—Madames Paul Hardwick, Sherwood and H. D. Stanley. Mrs. O'Sullivan was elected treasurer. Cream and cake were served during the social hour.

MATADORS AND INDIANS GO INTO COMBAT AT ABILENE WITH TEAMS DOPED ABOUT EQUAL IN STRENGTH

By Staff Correspondent
 ABILENE, Sept. 21.—At the West Texas Fair Park this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock the Texas Tech Matadors went into combat with the Indians of McMurray College in the matinee program of the Fair Association. The relative condition of the two clubs is about on an equal basis, since both teams have had about the same number of workouts prior to their first contest of the 1926 card.

Only this statement could be gotten from Coach Mendenhall of the Indians, "a few minor bruises and the like, but nothing serious." As for the Matadors of the Texas Tech, Coach Freeland and Higginbotham stated, "we are here and here's hoping the men of the aggregation have had a good night's rest as they have had a hard ride before the game."

Much interest is being manifested in this afternoon's contest with the Texas Tech and the Indians, the participants, as the clubs battled to a scoreless tie in the last season's tilt and both teams have practically the same line-up in the first downs as they had last season. However the general opinion of the gridiron fans of Abilene is that the Matadors will have an easy victory. The probable line-up of the game will be:

Texas Tech	McMurray College
Jennings	Donaldson
Westerfelt	Walker
Reed	Bowers
Calloway	Brown
Smith	Miller
Carpenter (C)	Tucker
White	West
Hayhurst	Murphy
Woodridge	Hill (C)
Stevens	Mitchell
Hill	Ladbetter

Billy Evans Says

GAZELLA MAKES GOOD
 A mere substitute often proves the man of the hour in the pinch.
 In the success that has been the portion of the New York Yankees this year, one Mike Gazella has played a most important role.

Three or four years back, Mike Gazella was the big noise at Lafayette. He starred in football as well as baseball. Many of the critics picked him as one of their All-American back-field.

The New York Americans grabbed him for his baseball ability and while Mike did well enough in the field he didn't cause the pitchers much worry. Shifted to the minors for a season or two he came back to the Yankees as ready. Although Mike isn't listed as a regular, he has done yeoman service for the cause of Miller Huggins and Co.

Just peruse a few of his feats.
Teak Dugan's Place
 When Teak Dugan, who was injured, he stepped into the breach in a most satisfactory manner. At the time, Dugan was playing the game of his career and batting around .400. With Gazella in the lineup, the Yankees started to win and they didn't stop until the club had piled up 16 straight victories.

Even though Dugan with a fat batting average had recovered long before the streak was ended, Manager Huggins, following baseball precedent refused to break up a winning combination and left Gazella in charge of third.

When Shortstop Mark Koenig was forced out of the game because of injuries, Gazella stepped in at that position and performed most efficiently. On a number of occasions he has served as a pinch-hitter and delivered with great frequency. His speed has also been made use of as a substitute runner.

Earned His Share
 Regardless of where the New York Americans finish this year, Gazella will have richly earned his share of whatever prize money the Yankees win.

Mike's football ability and the experience he gained at Lafayette, have helped him considerably as an infielder. That may sound rather strange. Gazella is far from a giant yet he is stockily built and is much bigger than he looks in a baseball uniform.

Base runners at first resented the way Mike would block them off and proceeded to come into him rather rough and always the runner got the worst of it.

Mike's football knowledge served him in good stead. Soon the base runners began to give him as much consideration as they in turn expected. They had learned to respect his methods.

Training Camp Stunts
 Getting the jump on an opponent is stressed by all football coaches. Last spring in the training camp of the New York Americans at St. Petersburg, Fla., I had an opportunity to see how much this meant.

'Carranza' Jarrott Wins Golf Tourney

John Jarrott won the championship of the Lubbock Country Club last Sunday in a 36 hole match with J. R. Germany.

At the end of the first 18 holes the score was halved, both players turning in scores slightly over par, but in the afternoon round the first two holes were halved and Jarrott took the next eight holes with eight par. The gallery following the players had never seen such golf before at any tournament held at the Country Club.

The match ended when Jarrott was seven holes up and only six holes to play. Jarrott's medal scores for the three completed rounds were 42, 35, 37 which shows excellent playing considering the condition of the course.

Prizes were awarded to Jarrott and Germany by the following merchants: Howan's Drug Store, McGreer Master Driver; Hemphill-Price Co., one pair of woolen golf knickerbockers; Sherrod Bros. Hardware Company, one dozen golf balls; Halsey Hall Drug Co., half dozen golf balls.

Jarrott is considered one of the best golf players on the Plains and if he continues to show the form that he now has he will be a likely winner in any of the golf tournaments held in West Texas.

Tech Studes Take Lubbock By Storm

Renewing their loyalty to Texas Tech after a summer's vacation between 750 and 800 students of the state's newest educational institution literally ripped Lubbock wide open Monday night with the first pep demonstration of the year. The lads with shirt-tails flying in the West Texas ozone, paraded the downtown district, entering shows and confectoneries, and split the air with resounding yells for their Alma Mater.

The demonstration was begun with a mammoth pep meeting in the Tech pavilion, presided over by President Paul W. Horn and Cheer-Leader C. A. Deese. Following the meeting the collegians headed for the downtown section, scurrying Freshmen being driven in the fore by upper classmen, armed with the conventional barrel stave.

A near serious disturbance occurred when the lads attempted to enter a local theatre and were repulsed by the management, after several blows were exchanged. County Attorney Owen W. McWhorter, and A. V. Weaver, Lubbock cotton man, quelled the trouble, however, and later Chief of Police T. E. May took the boys to another theatre and paid their way into the performance.

W. A. DEAN WAS A BUSINESS visitor in Lubbock Sunday from Midland.

Comparing 'Em

THE MUSCLES

Here they are, gang! The two contenders for the world heavyweight championship, Jack Dempsey (at top) and Gene Tunney.

You see the well-developed chest of the titleholder, the broad shoulders the bull-like neck, the strong arms, the mighty muscles and so on. Is Jack fit? He looks it here.

The same goes for Tunney; in fact, there appears little difference between the two. Tunney has a powerful pair of shoulders and strong, well-muscled arms. Either would be a dangerous target to try your pet bean-shooter on as he turned your neighborhood corner.

Just take another look at Dempsey—then at Gene—and then compare their physical makeups with the light bug next door—and pick the winner!

Hitting Sports High Spots

James R. Dow

Well the customers are all ready for the Avalanche-Journal's play by play report of the Dixie Series. First game tomorrow afternoon with an electric score board in front of the Avalanche-Journal building. Be our guest.

Harvey Hendricks, the Pelican slugger, up with Tris Speaker's tribe last year, might not have been fast enough for the big time boys but he sure can club the agate in the Southern association. The big outfielder has been hitting better than .350 all year and is leader of the loop's swatters.

Who'll be the champion Thursday morning? Some say Jack will retain the crown while others think Gene'll turn the trick. Wall Street however, is favoring the Champion. Odds will be announced in the market reports prior to the fight.

Blow by blow reports will be announced in front of the Avalanche-Journal office on the night of the big fight. A special issued wire brings the reports to South Plains fight fans—with the Avalanche-Journal setting 'em up' to the bugs.

Dude Lassiter, Matador quarterback aspirant, has a big name down around Sherman where he has been playing football for Sherman high and Burleson college for the past several seasons. With Hamilton ineligible for a time and with Woodridge playing at halfback Coach Freeland can use a lightning calculator of the reputed ability of the Lassiter lad.

"Wait'll next year," says Edward Trowbridge Collins, second baseman extraordinary, of his Chicago Pale Hose. Baseball fans the nation over would be glad to see Collins breeze out in front next year. He's popular both as a player and a manager.

George Sisler, a great first baseman but only a mediocre manager, is due to fade out of the scenery around

BRAVES WALLOP REDS TWICE AS CARDS ARE IDLE

YANKS DROP DOUBLE BILL BUT CLEVELAND LOSES ONE TO RED SOX

The St. Louis Cardinals found themselves with a full two game lead over Cincinnati today as the result of another Boston Brave uprising.

The Braves, who specialize in walling pennant contenders defeated Cincinnati, twice yesterday, 4 to 3 and 3 to 0.

St. Louis, which had no game scheduled yesterday, has five more games to play, the same as Cincinnati.

Jack Hendricks' miss now lashed him men to victory in all five games, one of them with St. Louis and still only five with the Cardinals if St. Louis wins three games and still tie Cincinnati gets defeated just once more.

The standing today:
 Team W L Pct.
 St. Louis ..... 27 62 .544
 Cincinnati ..... 25 64 .571

The Yankees yesterday dropped two games to Chicago, 7 to 3 and 4 to 2, but with the Boston Red Sox whipping Cleveland, 3 to 2, in ten innings, only a half game was clipped from the three and a half game margin of New York at the top of the American League.

If New York wins only two of the six remaining games, the Indians must win all of their six to grab the banner.

The standing today:
 Team W L Pct.
 New York ..... 33 60 .595
 Cleveland ..... 35 63 .574

Epps Rixey allowed the Braves only five hits. But a miff by Zitzman of a high drive in left field with two on and two out in the eighth, let two runs in for the winning margin in the first game.

The Braves played brilliant ball in the second contest behind the shut out pitching of Bob Smith the "reformed fielder, who braked out a single and triple that drove in two runs.

Pittsburgh made defiant gesture taking Philadelphia into camp, 4 to 0. Joe Bush allowed the Quakers but two hits. Earl Smith rammed out a homer. Chicago took two games from the New York Giants, 4 to 2, and 2 to 1. Washington walloped St. Louis twice 2 to 4 and 5 to 2. Joe Harris slammed two homers in the first game.

Philadelphia beat Detroit, 5 to 0, when Rommel turned in a two hit performance. Then Detroit won five to two.

Sportsman's Park in St. Louis, reports say, Connie Mack is said to be angling for Sisler's services and the "Great George" is credited with saying that if he can't be manager of the Browns that he won't play with them. This year's percentage column should convince George that he can't be the Brown boss much longer—that is providing Owner Phil Ball cares anything about having a winning aggregation.

JAMES E. WATSON, EDITOR OF the Dawson county Journal, at Lubbock, was attending to business in Lubbock today.

KEARNS WINS PLEA AGAINST DEMPSEY

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 21 (AP)—An attachment for Jack Dempsey's share of the purse when he fights Gene Tunney Thursday night was issued in common pleas court today at the request of counsel for Jack Kearns, Dempsey's former manager.

Tex Rickard was named as garnishee and the bail to secure Dempsey's assets was fixed at $600,000.

Kearns is suing for money alleged to be due him under the terms of his former contract with the heavyweight champion, covering the last three years.

Tranting of the attachment which came as a surprise move, took place in common pleas court number five while Rickard's attorneys were arguing in common pleas court number four against the issuance of an injunction restraining Rickard from paying Dempsey and Tunney any money in advance of the fight in violation of the Pennsylvania law. This action was started last week by a "tax payer and ticket holder," representing Kearns.

Dempsey Counters To Kearns Charges

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 21 (AP)—Jack Dempsey in an affidavit presented in chancery court today answering Jack Kearns' suit forcing him into receivership, charged Kearns with stealing $500,000.

Dempsey gave this as his reason for discharging Kearns.

The case was continued for two weeks.

Dempsey in his affidavit said he learned of Kearns' dishonesty and prison record about August 1925.

That part of the affidavit referring to Dempsey's reasons for breaking with Kearns read in part:
 "At or about that time I discovered that Mr. Kearns had been appropriating to himself certain monies which did not belong to him but which belonged to me which aggregated over the period involved in excess of over $500,000."

It was on account of this fact and also because of the fact that on or about that time I discovered that Kearns was an ex-convict having been in prison in the penitentiary in the state of Washington for a considerable period of time.

Dempsey disclosed that he had received $50,000 in advance from Tex Rickard for the fight with Gene Tunney, at Philadelphia Thursday night. Dempsey said this advance was in the nature of a loan and that Promoter Rickard holds his note for the money.

Lad Hurt In Fall From His Stilts

Tumbling from his stilts while playing on Sunday afternoon, Robert Maxey, aged 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Maxey, of West Thirtieth street, suffered a broken left arm.

HAGEN LEADS

GARDEN CITY, N. J., Sept. 21 (AP)—Walter Hagen, defending his title as champion of the professional golf association, led Joe Turnesa of Elms Ford, N. Y., by 3 up at the end of the first 18 holes of their 36 hole opening round match over the Salisbury links today.

MATADORS OFF FOR SEASON'S GRID

REPORTS EACH QUARTER NOT AVAILABLE, SAYS WESTERN UNION

Due to the fact that the Abilene gridiron is two miles from the Western Union headquarters and the center of the city, the Avalanche-Journal's plan to announce quarterly results of the Matador-McMurry football game this afternoon went awry this morning when Manager Bentley, of the Lubbock Western Union office notified the publications of his company's inability to grant the service.

James R. Dow, sports editor of the Avalanche and Journal, however, is in Abilene and will return tonight with a detailed report of the conflict, which is the season-opener to West Texas collegiate football.

Twelve letter men, left over from last season's triumphant schedule, made the jaunt to Abilene, along with Coaches E. Y. Reiland and Grady Higginbotham, the group of veterans being augmented by the addition of eight new aspirants to Matador glory.

Quarterbacks Big Question
 With J. B. "Red" Hamilton, last year's first string quarterback, not available for the early encounter, much interest has been evident concerning the coaches' choice for calculator. Dude Lassiter, a new recruit is highly touted, as a result of his whirlwind season last year at Burleson college, while Hayhurst, left over from last year, is also expected to be seen in action at the quarterback post.

Neither the Indians or the Matadors are in good condition for the game today and the hot weather will probably hold the athletes back in their endeavors.

MRS. S. S. NEBLIT OF SPUR, accompanied by her brother, William R. Nebilit, of Shreveport, La., arrived yesterday and made arrangements for William to enter Tech this year as freshman.

DESERVING BOQUETS

The Avalanche-Journal Publishing Company respectfully calls the attention of the people of Lubbock and the South Plains to its imposing list of features—detailed reports on big events—furnished free to the public.

Today a representative of the Avalanche-Journal is in Abilene "covering" the Matador-Indian football game and sending reports in to be announced in front of the Avalanche-Journal building.

Tomorrow, and continuing throughout the entire series, a special wire will bring to baseball fans the play-by-play reports of the Dixie series played between the New Orleans and Dallas teams.

Tomorrow night another special wire will bring to you the reports of the Deasney-Turney championship prize fight, the details of which will be announced from the front of the Avalanche-Journal building.

When the empire call "play ball" in the 1926 World Series a telegrapher will send the details to the Avalanche-Journal, over another special leased wire and every game will be reported to you here, play-by-play and free as the very breeze.

Later in the fall Mrs. Ida Chittwood, who needs no introduction to the housewives of Lubbock, will hold her annual cooking school here. Every day for a week Mrs. Chittwood will give demonstration lectures on the culinary arts. Her knowledge will be dispensed free to the ladies of the South Plains, by an arrangement made by the Avalanche-Journal.

In mid-football season, when the Tech Matadors invade Fort Worth for their first taste of big-time grid competition the Avalanche-Journal will sponsor a special train to run from Lubbock to Fort Worth and back so local people will be given an opportunity of seeing the T. C. U. gridstars fall before the Scarlet and Black.

All these—and others to be announced later—will make up the Avalanche-Journal's program of special service to Lubbock and the South Plains this fall, a program which the Journal and Avalanche feel is unsurpassed anywhere in a city the size of Lubbock.

Stop and consider the service being offered by the Avalanche-Journal. Then answer the question—"Is Lubbock well served by its newspapers?" Thank you.

CHANNEL SWIMMING Editors of the nation are racking their brains over this channel-swimming epidemic. Scarcely a day passes when some hunky man or boy of Neptune doesn't negotiate the choppy waves between Gris-Nez and Dove and the feat, once thought semi-impossible, is now becoming a usual occurrence.

So-although the wire services are turning out "copy" by the room or each successive paddling bee—the editors are facing the question of "how long is it news?" Of course, not every one can swim the channel but as far as that is concerned not everyone can milk a cow. Obviously the ordinary milking of an ordinary cow is not news so how about the channel?

Frankly, this channel swimming has been over done this year. It's getting so an honest, law-abiding citizen can not pick up his paper without being slapped in the face with a beautiful picture and a lengthy story of the oceanic experiences of some aquatic expert. Ever long the reports of such incidents will be relegated to the corner of the sports pages along with the sandlot baseball games and the Canadian cricket results.

The New York preacher who suggests that the "high-priced quartet" in the church be supplanted by jazz probably doesn't know that the jazz artists are among the highest paid musicians in the world.—Wilmington Every Evening.

Hal Cochran's Daily Poem

Well, I dunno, I guess you've been a right good friend to me. You've served your time right well and now you're shabby as kin be. You show the marks, around your trim, of over-handling paws. I really kinda hate to say, goodbye to you, ol' straw. Why, I recall the very day I walked into a store. I couldn't quite make up my mind what I was looking for. I eyed the felt and caps and such, but let them all pass by. And then the man said, "Here's a tip." Right then you caught my eye. Say, after wearing winter hats, you sure looked kinda queer. A whistle on a peanut stand—you perched upon my ear. But then, a change of style, of course, must always be allowed. I paid the bill an' put you on, an' walked out, kinda proud. That doesn't seem so long ago. How time goes flyin' past! I 'member when I bought you, how I wondered if you'd last. And now your days are over; just a queer unwritten law—the time has come when folk won't let me wear you, good ol' straw.

IN NEW YORK SEE-SAWING UP and DOWN BROADWAY

NEW YORK, Sept. 21—If you play solitaire, the name of Canfield must be familiar to you.

Very well! Glancing through the real estate section of a Manhattan newspaper—a department I do not recall having glimpsed before—I came upon a matter-of-fact item announcing the passing of Dick Canfield's mansion into the hands of some efficient-sounding corporation.

And therewith passes what was probably America's most colorful and ugly historic gambling resort.

Back in the Naughty Nineties, when the younger generation was going to be dogs, the whole world was drawn on an imposing looking palace on 44th Street, just east of Fifth Avenue. The mahogany and green marble entrance will be remembered by anyone who happened to put a ten spot on a turn of the wheel.

The house I am told by the news report, brought $700,000—a sum that could have been "chicken feed" in contrast with the fortunes that changed hands over the gaming tables.

Canfield himself was a gambler after the heart of any fictioneer. He liked his mansion with treasures of art, his was the "grand feature." Elegance was the keynote of his place. He had a house of high hazards from a suitably puzzled room. This was a place for "penny ante" boys. No "tin horn" ever tossed away his few times. This was for the moneyed of four continents. Because of its exclusiveness and the wealth of those who went there it gave challenge to the more public Monte Carlo.

To get by the doorman was not a new matter of knowing some high-sign or password. Canfield's were not the methods of the speakery. One had to be sponsored—almost regally sponsored before the opportunity to see away a fortune in the midst of elegance would be granted.

Once inside the visitor could use it as a classroom. You could gamble or sit at a table of a former cabinet member on trial for bribery. There were no high-hand methods. This, if you leave, was a gentleman's game, hence the exclusiveness. Once your social status had been established, what you played or what stakes you staked were of no import. Canfield, who had the gentility of his clientele, had many were those who staked fortunes. And roulette was the favorite game.

It was no other than William "ravers Jerome" who dethroned Canfield. The same Jerome who prosecuted Larry Shaw.

Which reminds me that I saw Jerome the other day—with immaculate air and moustache of grayish-white, stilly clad in linen—sitting at the reference table of a former cabinet member on trial for bribery.

And, oh yes, I was passing the old Canfield place not so long ago and, unless I am mistaken there is a millinery shop, or something of the sort here now.

WOMAN PRESIDENT? WELL, WE MAY HAVE ONE SOME DAY

BY CHARLES P. STEWART

NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21—A woman president?

Viscountess Astor's suggestion doesn't appear to have been taken very seriously at National Women's Party headquarters, and yet there's an atmosphere of satisfaction there over the fact that it's been definitely made.

The impression seems to be that something may come of it yet. The National Women's Party management passed out word some time ago that women aren't satisfied with what they've been getting thus far from either of the country's major political groups.

They want more of the higher governmental offices, and they're tired of getting most of their nominations in localities where the politicians know they can't win.

Higher offices? I asked a number of leaders at National Women's headquarters just what this meant, and the answer generally was—oh, some Senate seats, more in the House of Representatives, maybe a cabinet member or two.

QUEER QUIRKS OF NATURE

Tree Frog By ARTHUR N. PACK President, The American Nature Association

Many have heard but few have seen the tree frog, for he does not court familiarity, though through most of the summer his cheerful trill rings from our dooryard trees.

When he utters this sprightly call he blows a big bubble in his throat like a Highland piper. If we can contrive to detect him at this time he may allow us to approach near enough to see that his back is marbled and flecked with gray and brown like the bark on which he bests, and we understand why we have not seen him before.

Should we impose on his privacy he is likely to jump to another limb, or bunch of leaves, and, wherever he lands, there he sticks. No wonder, for on each toe is a sucking disk that clings fast to any smooth object it touches.

Soon after both old and young, each individual on his own account, hunts a home deep in some cavity of root or trunk, often high above the ground, where the long winter is passed.

Helpful Health Hints

PREVENTION IS TREATMENT FOR HEART DISEASES

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEN Editor Journal of the American Medical Association and of Hygiene the Health Magazine

One of the most serious forms of heart disease is that which affects the blood vessels that supply the heart itself with blood. When these blood vessels become hardened as the result of disease or obstructed as the result of infection or some mechanical factor, the nutrition of the tissues of the heart suffers.

The result is a train of symptoms pointing directly to a weakness of the heart, not the least of which may be the exceedingly painful condition known as angina pectoris, or severe pain in the heart. When these blood vessels become obstructed, the progress of repair is similar to that which occurs when blood vessels elsewhere in the body succumb to interference.

Sometimes other blood vessels take up to some extent the necessary circulation. In other instances the tissues that are destroyed become fibrous and are scarred. If the patient is sufficiently youthful, new muscle fibers may develop.

Prevention Best Correction of these conditions is clearly a matter somewhat beyond the help of the physician. Obviously his duty lies in preventing such disturbances of the heart by proper attention to the hygiene of the body and by eliminating as soon as possible in the course of the life of the people who look to him for guidance such food of infection as may exist in the throat of the nose, digestive tract or other places in the body.

The latest available evidence seems to indicate that such infections may produce secondary changes in the heart at the time when they occur, but that these changes sometimes do not become manifest in direct relationship to the heart until years after, when perhaps the circulation of the blood is modified, or the walls of the blood vessels become changed in association with the natural progress of old age. The indication is clear for prompt treatment of the infections that have been mentioned at the earliest possible moment.

After Eating It has been noted that pain in the heart in persons suffering from such diseases is likely to come on soon after a meal. Indeed, physicians who perform post-mortem examinations on the bodies of persons dying suddenly of such heart disease, not infrequently find the stomach distended with food which has been in the stomach hardly long enough to be affected by the process of digestion.

THIS ROAD QUESTION

When Uncle Sam and the State of Texas says it's alright, we're satisfied. We believe Uncle Sam and Texas are right.—Roscoe Times.

Both State and Federal engineers pronounced Caliche to be excellent base for road building—just as good as crushed rock. They gave it thoroughly tests every way possible; they have seen roads constructed with it and have seen it stand up to the test of time and travel. They tested the caliche from the pit east of town and passed upon it by placing it in the specifications. They required that it be used. Neither the contractors nor county officials had a hand in it. It's not their fault if you think that the base being used on the Bankhead through Roscoe won't stand up. It's not their fault that it is being used. It is up to the State and Federal authorities to keep this road in repair after it is finished so why should they want to do something that would give them more worry in the years to come?

The chances are that Vice President Dawes won't quit using tobacco, as he has been asked to do by the Anti-Tobacco League, until after the bathroom faucet ran, I guess, about two hours or more. That's why the family took a bath Upon the bathroom floor.

SAINT AND SINNER

BY ANNE AUSTIN. COPYRIGHT 1926 NEA

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE FAITH AND CHERRY LANE, sisters, are utterly different. Faith, tall, womanly, not pretty but rather handsome, stays at home and keeps house for the family of six, because of her mother's ill health, while Cherry, tiny, beautiful works as a stenographer and is the petted darling of her mother.

CHAPTER V

When forty-five long minutes had been tolled off by the loudly ticking alarm clock beside her bed, Faith rose, thrust her bare feet into her old blue felt bedroom slippers, flung a cotton crepe kimono over her nightgown, and was about to tiptoe out of her room, in search of Cherry.

I was after one o'clock. Her sister would be furiously angry with her for interfering, but after all she owed her loyalty to her father, and he had had good reason for ordering Chris Wiley off the premises.

She was just opening her door when a shrill scream rang out, startlingly loud in the deep silence of the hot night. Cherry! What had Chris Wiley done to her, to make her risk exposure like that? Faith was running noiselessly through the dining room when her father's low, harsh voice stopped her.

"Was that you, Faith heard someone scream." He snapped on the dining room light and stood revealed in his sweet-dampened nightshirt, his dark, thin, hairy legs and buttoned feet grotesque in their nakedness. But Faith's eyes were fixed in horror upon the heavy, old-fashioned revolver that he carried in his right hand.

"I thought I heard a burglar," Faith lied with stammering quickness. Oh, if he would only go back to bed, so that she could investigate without getting Cherry into trouble.

"Where's Cherry? Home yet?" he lowered his voice, so as not to disturb his wife, who was sleeping heavily under the influence of a bromide.

Before Faith could reply, the scream came again, loud and sharp, but ending abruptly, as if the screamer's mouth had suddenly muffled.

Mrs. Lane looked Faith aside, ran into the living room. Faith heard him stumbe against the oil-wicker rocking chair, which he cursed as he flung it aside. Almost paralyzed with terror, the girl at last forced her unsteady legs to carry her. Oh, Cherry, little Cherry! She was sobbing as she ran zigzaggedly, following Mr. Lane to the porch.

"Put that girl down, or I'll shoot!" she heard her father's usually mild voice roar out.

Faith seized his right arm, struggled with him desperately, so that the pistol pointed harmlessly toward the floor of the porch. But she did not take her eyes from the drama that was unfolding before her amazed eyes.

In the faint light from the distant street lamp, the man who had been running toward a car parked at the curb, a struggling, kicking girl in his arms, dropped his burden suddenly, so that the little figure sprawled like a broken doll on the gravelled path. Still exerting all her strength to keep her father from taking a shot at the fleeing figure, Faith saw the man leap into his car, start the engine with incredible swiftness, and roll away.

Jim Lane dropped the pistol to the floor, looked at Faith with wild, haggard eyes, in which murderous anger was still glittering, then ran, on his bare feet, to where Cherry was still prone in the gravel, sobbing like a child, with pitiful, choking gasps.

"What was that Hathaway rascal doing to you, honey?" He lifted the girl in his arms. "I'll kill him for this! I'd have taken a shot at him when he was running away, but Faith wouldn't let go of my arm. Tell Daddy, honey."

The girl, crying hysterically, wound her arms around her father's neck, but did not correct his mistake.

"It wasn't Mr. Hathaway, Dad," Faith cut in sharply. "Cherry—"

"I don't know who it was," Cherry shuddered. "It was so hot I couldn't sleep, and I was lying on the deck chair on the porch—oh, Daddy! Hold me tight! I'm scared, I'm scared!"

"You don't know who it was?" Jim Lane demanded incredulously. "Faith—what do you know about this?" He turned on his older daughter.

"I tell you I don't know who it was!" Cherry protested quickly, her breath coming in sharp gasps. "I was just lying there, half asleep, when suddenly a man picked me up in his arms, I screamed."

"I heard you!" Jim Lane cut in. "You didn't recognize him?"

"It was someone I never saw before in my life," the girl sobbed, but she reached out a hand and seized Faith's and pressed it warningly. "I tried to talk to ask him who he was, but I was—just—just paralyzed. He said he had been watching me for a long time, that he was in love with me, that he was going to take me away with him. I pleaded with him, but it wasn't any use. Then he stopped talking, just flung me across his shoulder and began to run down the walk with me. Oh, Daddy, darling, I'm so glad you came—in time!"

"Faith, my phone the police!" Jim Lane lifted the weeping girl into his arms and started toward the house. "I never heard of such an outrage in my life. Phone for the police, I say!" he commanded sharply, as Faith stood hesitating beside him.

"Oh, Daddy, don't get the police!" Cherry begged, shuddering. "You scared him so badly he'll never come back! And I'd be disgraced! The newspapers! Oh, Daddy, I couldn't stand it—the disgrace, the police asking me questions—please, Daddy, darling!" She began to sob more wildly than ever, and her little red mouth nuzzled her father's haggard cheeks with frantic, pleading kisses.

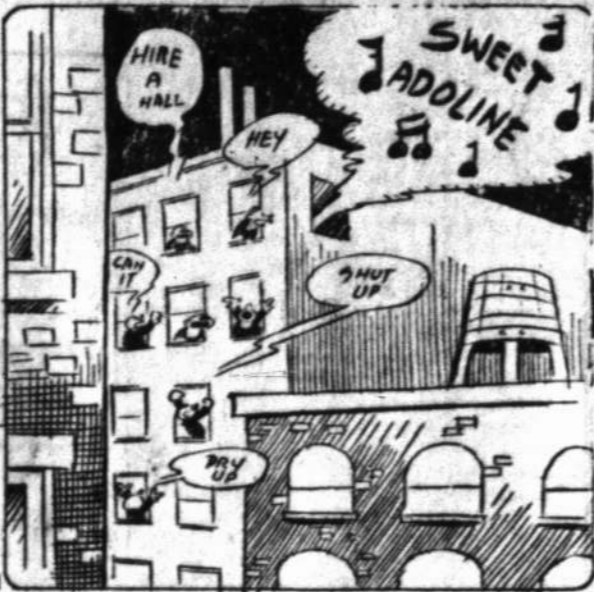

"I don't think it would be wise, Dad," Faith managed to say at last. "I think we had better let the matter drop. It was dark and Cherry probably couldn't give a very accurate description of him. It would just stir up a mare's nest of notoriety and trouble."

When fifteen minutes later, Jim Lane reluctantly went back to bed, after locking the front and back doors securely, leaving the books on all the screens and commanding Faith to stay with her sister for the rest of the night for protection, Cherry flung her arms about Faith's neck and kissed her with frantic gratitude.

"You're a darling to me, Faith, and I'm such a little beast to you. Forgive me for what I said about your being crazy about Bob Hathaway, won't you, honey? I don't know what gets into me."

Mother Finds Lost Health
Tania Recovers Woman's Pro. Egg and Milk Diet, Indigestion and Nervousness Relieved, Gains 20 Pounds.
Mrs. Oscar Hanson, mother of 3 wonderful children, 9647 Hemphill St., Fort Worth, Texas, recently said: "My condition was so bad that I decided to diet down to the bone. Food caused me intense suffering, formed gas in my stomach and bloated me. With my hand I was running a grocery business. And my condition was so bad it looked as though I would have to quit work. I tried an egg and milk diet. But I only became weaker. My nerves were so jumpy that I would be bothered by the slightest noise in the store. I began taking Tania. It calmed my nerves, put my stomach in good shape and gave me an appetite. I put on weight. In fact, gained 20 pounds. And the customers who come into the store comment upon the improvement in my appearance. I can certainly recommend Tania for nerves and stomach. Tania, made from roots, barks and herbs, helps build strength, restore lost health. Over 40 million bottles sold. At drug stores."

SAINT and SINNER

me! He was going to make me marry him tonight—I've been engaged to him for months, you know. I thought I was crazy about him. When Dad ordered him off the place, I simply went wild—

"You know and well why dad did it." Faith's voice was still stern and uncompromising. "Chris Wiley admitted on the witness stand that the Bailey girl's baby was his. If she hadn't committed suicide, and killed her baby with her, he'd have had to marry her. How can you have anything to do with a man like that?"

"For just one good reason, Faith Lane." Cherry's lightning-like anger struck again. "He's plastered with money, and I'm so darned tired of living we do, from hand to mouth—haven't even got a car, when every family in town has at least a Ford, I'm sick of it, I tell you, and I'm going to marry a man with money, even if I have to take Chris Wiley."

"Then why did you scream?" Faith asked with quiet scorn.

"Goodness, I forgot to cold cream my face!" Cherry jumped up out of bed and ran lightly to her dressing table. Pushing her tumbled curls off her forehead she began to dab a fragrant lemon cleansing cream over her cheeks, on which spots of rouge showed vividly because of her paleness.

"Why didn't I run away with Chris Wiley? He was drunk, and I wasn't absolutely sure he'd manage to get a marriage license. I didn't want any Helen Bailey stuff in my young life. Oh, dear, I'm nearly out of that tissue cream. Have you got any, darling?"

"You know I haven't," Faith answered bitterly. "That jar you're using was mine, and I haven't a dollar to buy any more."

"Don't be so crabby. I'll bring you a jar of cream tomorrow. It's a good thing I can't vamp men, honey—speaking of Bob Hathaway, he's going to get me a wonderful new job in his uncle's office. You know, the law firm of Cluny and Neff. Old man Cluny's his mother's oldest brother. He says they're looking for a stenographer, and they pay twenty-five dollars a week. He's going to see his uncle in the morning, and give me a recommendation."

"I hope you'll try to see that old Mr. Cluny doesn't get fresh with you," Faith said meaningly. "Oh, I wish to the Lord I could go out and work! I'm only twenty, and I want pretty clothes and men friends and a little excitement, just as much as you do!" Faith's voice broke, melted into tears.

"Course you do, you old darling!" Cherry rushed to where Faith sat on the edge of the bed, and hid her cheek caressingly against her sister's. "Tell you what—I saw some lovely printed chiffon at the Banner store today, and I'll get you enough for a dress, if I get that job with old Cluny. You haven't had a new dress in a coon's age, honey. Will you make me one too? Different pattern, of course." The lovely, musical voice was very sweet and coaxing.

"Of course!" Faith choked, and kissed her sister shyly.

"Now do you want to hear what a certain awfully nice man said about you, honey?" Cherry whispered. "Oh, you're blushing! Faith, Faith, I believe you're in love. Well, listen—"

Kiwanians Plan Banner Meeting

Members of the Lubbock Kiwanis club and one committee in particular are busily engaged in framing what they say will be the best banner yet worn in the history of the city, for the annual "Ladies' Night" program to be held at the Lubbock Hotel on Thursday night. Judge Garland Woodward, president of the organization, stated today:

According to President Woodward an address which will be delivered by Judge I. M. M. Portant, "widespread California jurist," will be well worth hearing. His talk will be highly constructive and instructive. Kiwanians say.

Passenger Traffic Increasing Here

According to Ed C. Abbott of the Lone Star Stage Line passenger traffic into Lubbock is increasing at a very rapid rate. There is not a stage arriving in Lubbock that does not carry some person either coming to Lubbock to locate or students to enter Tech. Mr. Abbott states that his buses are all being equipped with all closed tops and modern conveniences for the welfare of the traveling public. He reports crop condition in all districts ready for gathering and that the cotton fields are looking white everywhere.

Legion Lads Have Good Meet Monday

Detailed reports of the state convention held recently at Amarillo, a regulation "mess" and musical numbers by members of the Post, were the high spots of the regular meeting of the Allen Brothers Post of the American Legion here Monday night. The organization sessioned in the Leader building.

Post Commander Harley D. Woods told of the convention, stressing the program of the legion for coming year. Legionnaires Carter, McDaniel and Huff then entertained with a musical program. Mr. Carter at the piano, Mr. McDaniel playing a violin and Mr. Huff strumming a guitar.

Church Failed To Impress This Man

Going to church on Sunday night evidently didn't convince George Smith, Lorenzo Negro, that he was his brother's keeper.

As a climax to an argument over which was to drive the family automobile home from the church gathering, George drew a pistol and shot his brother, Bill, who, as a result is in a serious condition in the Lubbock sanitarium. The bullet punctured the man's various intestines, attending physicians say.

Lubbock Boy Hurt In Auto Accident

Falling from the fender of his father's line car, while enroute from Lubbock to Crosbyton, Loyal Abbott, aged 12, was partially burned late Monday afternoon on the public highway near Lorenzo.

E. C. Abbott, the lad's father, was driving the car, which is one of the buses in operation by the Abbott Bus line. When the lad was thrown from the fender his father attempted to halt the machine, but the hind wheel passed over his legs. His condition is not serious.

Radio Will Tell World About Fight

NEW YORK, Sept. 21 (AP)—The Dempsey-Tunney fight is to be broadcast directly from the ring-side by WFAE, WJZ, and some thirty allied stations.

It was announced that the broadcasting rights have been sold by Tex-Rickard to the Royal Typewriter company. The price is not disclosed. Some reports place it at $25,000.

The contract of sale has no inhibitions against radio-casting of press wire accounts of the fight, it is stated.

PENSACOLA AND MOBILE SUFFER HEAVY DAMAGE

As the result of Saturday's hurricane which laid waste a sixty mile stretch of Florida's East coast. Fifty persons were missing.

As the out of the way places became accessible, more injured refugees were found and more bodies located. The monetary damage also was increased. Actual damage to homes and business buildings was estimated at nearly $50,000,000 but many hold that the value of the millions of priceless palms and pines which were uprooted or cut to the ground would double the damage estimate. Paved roads, side walks, development gate ways and club houses also had to be added, as well as the loss to business firms by the cessation of work due either to storm damage or lack of power or water.

Sewerage and water systems and power plants in a dozen of the stricken localities suffered great damage but most of them had resumed a limited service today.

Relief work was under way every where and at Miami and West Palm Beach active headquarters were established to collect money and other donations. Medicines by the truck load were rushed over the torn highways between the two cities.

Physicians, surgeons, and nurses sped through the military lines in official cars bearing in front in blaring red the sign of the Red Cross. The cross was the open sesame through the traffic and sirens with which the cars were equipped screeched warning as the workers whirled from a tragic spot to another to leave drugs and bandages or to drop off medical men and nurses.

Traffic would turn aside and stop and military men would clear the way as the Red Cross cars approached headed by a speeding motorcycle officer.

Ambulances and hearses from mortuary establishments and the newspaper men who were trying to tell the world the correct facts, were given the right of way.

General Smedley Butler was severely criticized for "turning in" Colonel Williams, but at any rate he has fixed matters so that no more of his friends will offer him a drink.—Des Moines Register.

Women's Exhibits To Be Judged Sept. 28-29

Miss Hazel Hammer, county demonstration agent, states that the judging in all the women's departments will take place on September 28 and 29, and asks that all exhibits for these departments be in the buildings not later than the evening of September 27. The management has been fortunate this year in securing for judges the services of Miss Mildred Horton, state home demonstration agent of college Station, and Miss Ezra Grimes, county home demonstration agent of Dawson county. Miss Hammer is very desirous that these departments be largely represented and asks that all parties contemplating placing exhibits get them in as early as possible on the 27th of September.

BIG POULTRY SHOW AT FAIR EXPECTED

It is the earnest desire of the management of the Panhandle-South Plains Fair, that a larger and better exhibit in the poultry section be had this year than ever before. Already there are many applications for exhibit space in the poultry section, many of them coming from sections outside of Lubbock county. Indications are this year, that the exhibits will be more extensive in that there will be more exhibits and many more birds in each exhibit. Every farmer of Lubbock county is urged to get their poultry ready for this exhibition, which is slated to be the largest ever displayed in this section. In addition to the cash premiums offered, there will be three silver loving cups. Any one of these premiums are well worth the efforts put forth by the individual poultry fancier to be given in these departments.

Tickets On Sale For Lyric Benefit Show

Ticket sales for the benefit picture program at the Lyric theater under auspices of the local post of the American Legion Wednesday opened here Tuesday afternoon with issuance of a supply of tickets to all members of the post who have offered their assistance.

Tickets will be sold at regular popular prices in vogue at the Lyric, and all tickets sold by members of the Legion and assistants will be good for either the matinee or night shows. Post Commander H. D. Woods said. The Legion will share in receipts of the four shows during the day. The picture, one of the regular bookings of the Lyric, will show Evelyn Brent in "Queen of Diamonds," a stirring drama of New York life.
