Daniel Heads For Runoff With Yarborough, Four County Runoffs Slated; Williams, Greene Win

Record Primary Vote Turns Out

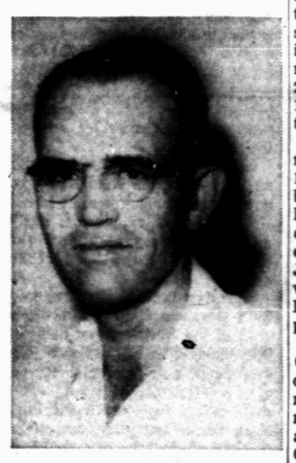

Four runoffs must be held in the second Democratic primary here Aug. 25 as a result of returns of the first primary held here yesterday, according to an unofficial count.

In the election, only two clear-cut decisions came out of the vote tally in local races which had opposition, and both of those were for offices which had only two candidates and could not have had a runoff.

A total of 5,172 persons voted in the primary, setting a new record high vote for the first primary here. The previous record was 5,069 in the 1952 primary. In 1954, about 4,000 persons voted in that primary here.

STERLING WILLIAMS

GERAL GREENE

District Judge Sterling Williams won renomination to his office in 132nd District Court for a second term, with a total of 3,472 votes from both Scurry and Borden Counties to 1,999 for James Rosser. In Scurry County alone, Williams had a margin of 3,143 to Rosser's 1,917. Williams led all the Scurry voting boxes except the absentee, in which Rosser had a sizable margin.

The other nomination was that of Geral Greene for the office of county tax assessor-collector Greene, now chief deputy in the tax assessor's office, polled a total of 2,790 votes to Phil Burns' 1,817. Jim Ikard, now tax assessor, was not a candidate. Greene held the lead in 15 boxes, while Burns led in five. Greene had the margin also in the absentee box.

George Killam, a candidate for county attorney, and Robert R. Patterson, candidate for state representative, had no trouble here of course, since they had no opposition in their races.

There are to be runoffs in August for the offices of district attorney, county sheriff, commissioner of precinct 1, and commissioner of precinct 3.

In the district attorney's race, Wayland Holt, now county attorney, led the ticket but did not have a majority over the other three candidates. In Scurry and Borden County combined, Holt had a total of 2,272 votes, while J. Ray Martin barely squeezed by Pat Beene for the runoff spot with 1,261 votes to Beene's 1,199. Frank Sentell, fourth candidate, had 743. In Scurry County, Holt led 19 of the 20 boxes plus leading the absentee box. Martin had the lead in one box. The vote totals in that race for Scurry County alone were 2,095 for Holt, 1,170 for Martin, 1,120 for Beene, and 691 for Sentell.

T. B. Knight, incumbent, led the race for commissioner of precinct 1 but lacked a considerable number of votes having a majority. His vote total was 530, while Clarence Wade, former commissioner, had 291, Marion Dabbs 241, and J. W. Coffee 84. There are five voting boxes in that precinct, and Knight led four. Wade led one box plus the absentee.

In precinct 3, incumbent L. L. (Pat) Moore had a sizeable lead on the ticket, but failed to get a majority. He polled 706 votes but must run in the second primary against Whit Farmer, who had 359. Other candidates were Howard

Pappy Gets Biggest Vote From County

Scurry County voters failed to follow statewide trends in voting for several state offices in Saturday's Democratic primary.

In the race for governor Scurry Countians gave W. Lee O'Daniel 1,745 votes, compared to 1,637 for the statewide leader, Sen. Price Daniel, according to complete unofficial returns. Ralph Yarbrough trailed in third place in the Scurry County vote, with a total of 960 while J. Evetts Haley had 635, Reuben Senterfitt 113 and J. J. Holmes 32.

John Lee Smith was the Scurry County favorite for lieutenant-governor, polling 1,987 votes, while Sen A. M. Aikin received a total of 1,232, Ben Ramsey 850 and C. T. Johnson 441.

Tom Moore of Waco topped the field in Scurry County in the attorney general's race. He received 1,666 votes, with Will Wilson in second place with 1,282 and Ross Carlton 1,106.

In the race for associate justice of the state supreme court, Place 3, Robert G. Hughes received 2,475 votes in Scurry County, while James R. Norvell received 1,138.

For judge of the court of criminal appeals Jesse Owens led W. A. Morrison by 2,099 to 1,809 in Scurry County.

Jesse James led in Scurry County in the race for state treasurer, polling 2,784 votes, compared to 1,630 far Warren Harding.

Agriculture Commissioner John C. White led the field in that race in Scurry County with 2,405 votes while Jim Barber received 850 and Bill Jones 942.

All three referendum proposals were approved in Scurry County. The school desegregation proposal was approved by 2,741 to 1,757 while the intermarriage proposal was approved by a vote of 2,646 to 1,609 and the interposition proposal by 2,647 to 1,069.

Move By Red China

HONG KONG, July 28 (AP)—Red China is continuing to move most of her new industries from the coastal areas to the far western provinces. The reason apparently is to get the plants close to raw materials rather than to remove them from the path of any future wars.

PRICE DANIEL

RALPH YARBOROUGH

Reeder And Gray Win In Borden Race

GAIL — Sheriff Sid Reeder and County Commissioner Borden Gay easily won re-nomination to their offices in Borden County Saturday in the first Democratic primary.

In one local race, that for commissioner of precinct 1, primary returns show that a runoff will be held in the second primary next month between Dee Burrus and John Stephens. Burrus polled 100 votes to 80 for Stephens and 29 for Harold Ludecke. None of these men are incumbents. Hubert Walker, present commissioner of that precinct, was not a candidate.

Reeder had a total of 314 votes

Sen. Price Daniel, running well ahead of five opponents, Sunday morning appeared headed for a runoff for governor with Ralph Yarbrough in what may be the biggest Democratic primary in Texas history.

Daniel had 427,644 votes. Yarborough, making his third bid for the office, had 316,103.

W. Lee O'Daniel, ex-senator and ex-governor who came out of retirement for the campaign, had 235,804 ballots when the Texas Election Bureau halted counting for the night at 1:30 a. m.

Robert Johnson, head of the Texas Election Bureau, said early Sunday that it appeared 1,660,000 votes were cast, which would be an all-time high for a Texas Democratic primary.

Johnson said "It appears that Daniel and Yarborough will be in the runoff. Although O'Daniel still has a mathematical possibility, it is unlikely that he will be able to get into second place."

The percentage of this vote for Yarborough and Daniel mounted steadily during most of the night, while O'Daniel's dropped slowly but steadily until the 1 a.m. count, when he staged a light comeback.

The senator issued a statement from his Liberty, Tex., home near midnight saying he was glad a "clean campaigner" can still win in Texas.

"I feel positive with the 40 per cent vote as of now I certainly will win the race and the runoff provided that those who believe in my platform continue to work as hard as they did in this first primary." He retired shortly after midnight.

Yarborough said earlier in the night that he was confident the runoff would be between himself and Daniel. He took time out from listening to election returns to de-

Conventions Give Johnson Support

Resolutions pledging party loyalty and affirming Sen. Lyndon Johnson leadership were adopted at precinct conventions Saturday afternoon in Snyder.

All three of the larger precincts adopted party loyalty resolutions. They named delegates controlling 25 of the potential 45 votes to the county convention.

In Precinct No. 18, which is entitled to 11 votes in the county convention, a resolution calling for a new state Democratic Committee pledged to support party nominees for all offices, was adopted. The resolution also praised Sen. Johnson and Rep. Sam Rayburn.

Resolutions calling for support of all party nominees were adopted in Precinct No. 1 and Precinct No. 20, each entitled to 25 votes in the county convention.

In precinct No. 18, Southwest Snyder, C. E. McGaw was elected permanent chairman, and Art Blanchard was elected secretary. Named delegates to the county convention were Giles Bowers, Sterling Taylor, C. A. Heath, Mrs. C. A. Heath, Ray Houpt, Ernest Sears, C. E. McGaw, Art Blanchard, Dr. Robert Hargrove, J. T. Hughes and S. L. Terry. Alternates are Herbert Feather, Lloyd De Armon Art Dibble, Marsene Holt, M. W. Clark and Burney Krasner.

Bill Ballard was elected permanent chairman in precinct No. 20, Southeast Snyder, and Dale Walton was elected secretary. County convention delegates from that precinct are Marvin Gary, H. G. Brown, E. E. Hataway, A. H. Merritt, Bill Love, Doyle Parmer and Ballard.

Precinct 1 named seven delegates and seven alternates to the county convention.

John R. Covey, Sr., was named chairman to succeed C. H. Callis. Precinct 1 delegates to the county convention next Saturday will be State Representative Robert R. Patterson as chairman of the delegation, Ross Williams, Covey, Lee Watson, M. L. Andress, R. H. Jones, and Emmett Treavey.

Alternates from Precinct 1 will be Mrs. Covey, Mrs. Jones, Mrs. Patterson, C. L. Banks, Leo E. McGinnis, Mrs. M. L. Andress, and John P. DeShazo.

Guy Glenn, precinct chairman, was the only person who was present at 2 p.m. scheduled meeting time for conventions, in Precinct No. 17.

There were no reports immediately from the rural precincts. However, the three conventions held in Snyder will send enough delegates to control the county convention next Saturday. All three bound their delegates under the unit rule.

By The Associated Press

Conservatives in Texas' largest cities pushed to apparent victories in Saturday's precinct conventions to challenge the newly won state supporters of Lyndon Johnson.

Incomplete returns showed the conservatives, led in the past by Gov. Alleen Shivers, holding unexpected margins in populous Harris and Tarrant counties plus the expected clean sweep of Dallas County.

San Antonio, Corpus Christi, Waco and Beaumont gave approval to present dominance by the liberals.

Johnson's supporters took an early lead in controlling the neighborhood meetings but the metropolitan sessions at night soon developed into several voting tussles.

A sign that all political troubles had not been settled came when rump conventions were reported in Fort Worth, Abilene and several other spots.

Approval Is Seen For Referendum

By The Associated Press

The three referendum questions submitted to voters in Democratic primary continued to receive a 4-1 vote of approval as returns mounted over the state Saturday night.

However, the proposals, which were not on the ballots in at least three Texas 254 counties, were receiving less than half of the total vote being cast in the governor's race.

The 12:30 a.m. Sunday report from the Texas Election Bureau, based on reports from 198 counties, 52 of them complete, showed 361,862 votes had been cast for the school attendance proposal to 91,847 against; 360,431 had been cast far the proposal to strengthen laws against intermarriage to 82,362 against; and 345,944 votes had been cast for the interposition pro-

At the same time the Texas Election Bureau reported that 228,155 votes had been cast in the governor's race. The fact that the questions were not on the ballot in at least Bexar, Kleberg and Uvalde counties cut the total vote cast but the wide spread between the number of votes cast in the governor's race indicated some voters ignored the questions.

The states' rights proposals were:

1. "For specific legislation exempting any child from compulsory attendance at integrated schools attended by white persons and Negroes."

2. "For the use of interposition to halt illegal federal encroachment."

3. "For specific legislation perfecting state laws against intermarriage between white persons and Negroes."

Even with approval in Saturday's primary, the proposals face several hurdles before they could be law.

Under Texas election laws, a political party cannot include requests for special legislation in its platform unless that request has been approved by a referendum.

After approval, the next step would be up to the state convention in September. It could ignore the referendum results or include them in its platform. The May state convention ignored all three proposals.

If included in the party's platform, the Legislature in January could either ignore the proposals or pass enacting legislation.

Foes said that even if the Legislature acted to carry them out, such legislation would be unconstitutional, ineffective, or unnecessary.

The questions were ordered placed on the ballots by the State Democratic Executive Committee after it was presented with a petition of 153,868 Democrats — more than the 10 per cent required. The petitions were circulated by the Texas Referendum Committee under the direction of Robert Cargill, head of the Longview Citizens Council, a pro-segregation organization.

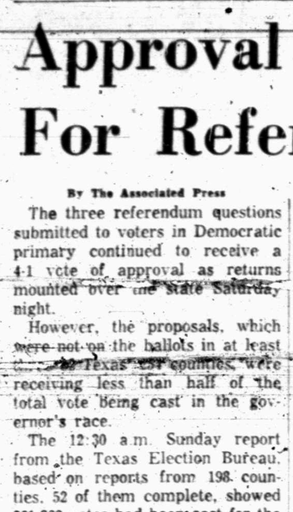

Backers said the proposal were "the means by which voters of Texas can protest illegal federal encroachment of states' rights."

Five county executive committees refused to place them on their ballots. Opponents charged the proposals were "illegal efforts to cover up the scandals in the administratoin of Gov. Allan Shivers by appealing to Ku Kluxism for a campaign of hate" and that they were "a useless gesture to stir up animosity and hate."

Jefferson and Harris counties, two of the five later ordered the questions on the ballots. The other three — Bexar, Kleburg and Uvalde — stood by their earlier decision to keep them off.

Proponents of the referendum have said the school attendance proposal would merely provide children a free choice of schools and would not be in direct conflict wth U. S. and Texas Supreme Court decisions outlawing school segregation.

Foes said it is contrary to court decisions, pointing out a federal court ruling stating that "public and private opinion as to the desirability of desegregation should not be considered by the courts."

Yarborough Hurls Blast

AUSTIN, July 28 (AP)—Ralph Yarborough, candidate for governor, took time out from listening to election returns tonight to punch at Price Daniel over the Duval County vote.

Yarborough at his home here said that Daniel as attorney general, "never bothered" Duval County.

"He took care of them so they are helping him," Yarborough said after hearing that Duval had given 700 votes for Daniel to 71 for him.

Yarborough, in shirtsleeves and making notes on a legal pad, was listening to several radios and television sets alternately. They were tuned to stations in different parts of the state.

He said he planned to stay up as long as returns were being compiled by the Texas Election Bureau.

BELPER, July 28 (AP)—Officials of Britain's Belper Pigeon Racing Club now know why it took one of their birds so long to make a 500-mile flight to the Shetland Islands and back. After being away for three weeks, he finally showed up with this note tied to one leg: "I have been cared for eight days by M. Leurette Christian of Pas de Calais, France."

She was granted a divorce from her wealthy shoe manufacturer husband, Harry Karl, and granted custody of their three children, including the one expected.

Cross Burner Being Hunted By Officers

SHERMAN July 28 (AP)—Search for the man and woman believed to have set a fiery cross burning Thursday night in the driveway of Speaker Sam Rayburn's home two miles west of Bonham was centered in the Sherman-Denison area today.

Fannin County Sheriff Hoyt Ivey and Bonham Police Chief O. R. McKissack came to Grayson County today after Ivey said he had a good idea who burned the cross. McKissack said he had traced lumber used in the contraption to Sherman.

McKissack said he thought the lumber for the cross, which was five feet tall and four feet wide, came from Perrin AFB because of markings.

Spkesmen for the base said the installation disposes of scrap lumber periodically and that "anybody could have bought it" if it did come from the field.

The Bonham police chief asserted the person who burned a cross was "an individual with a gripe" and the act was not the work of the Ku Klux Klan.

Rayburn, in Washington when the cross was burned, asserted the act was "either a boyish prank or done by somebody who lives outside my district."

Daniel Sure He Will Win

LIBERTY, July 29 (AP)—Sen. Price Daniel said early today he felt "positive" he had won the Texas gubernatorial nomination and said he will win the runoff "provided that those who believe in my platform continue to work as hard as they did in the first primary.

Daniel made the forecast as he prepared to retire for the night shortly before 1 a.m.

"It proves that a clean campaign can be successful in Texas," he said, "and that a candidate can win on his own record and his own platform without dealing in name calling and personalities."

The junior senator said, "I feel positive with the 40 per cent vote as of now I certainly will win race and the runoff."

He had a last minute conference with his brother, Bill Daniel, before turning in for the night. Daniel said his plans for Sunday were indefinite.

Earlier, he told newsmen he was "very grateful and humble over the splendid lead the Democrats have given me" in his race for govefnor.

Record On Oil Good

AUSTIN, July 28 (AP)—The Railroad Commission said today oil wells brought in this year in Texas was more than 1,000 ahead of 1955.

The commission said 401 wells were completed this week bringing to 9,717 for the year compared with 8,684.

Gas wells totaled 32. The year's total stood at 1,007 compared with 632.

Eighteen oil and one gas wildcat well were brought in during the week. There have been 356 oil wildcatters completed for the year.

The total number of plugged wells for the week was 323. The year's total is 6,634 compared with 5,629.

The average daily oil allowable was increased 9,223 barrels to 3,414,271 today compared with 3,405,048 a week ago.

to 119 for John Dennis, his opponent. With that vote, Reeder was assured another term. The sheriff's office in Borden County also includes the duties of tax assessor-collector.

Reeder carried all eight voting precincts in the county, plus the absentee vote.

Burrus led in one of the two boxes in his precinct, plus the absentee box while Stephens led the other. Gray led both boxes in his precinct and the absentee.

J. C. Chorn, a teacher in the high school at Gail, was re-elected county Democratic chairman with no opposition.

In district races, Sterling Williams carried Borden County with a vote of 329 to James Rosser's 82 for district judge. Williams led in every box.

Wayland Holt led in the district attorney's race with a total of 177 in Borden County to 91 for J. Ray Martin, 79 for Pat Beene, and 52 for Frank Sentell. Holt led in seven out of eight boxes, with Beene taking the lead in one box and in the absentee vote.

Price Daniel led in Borden County for the governor's race with 140 votes, with Pappy O'Daniel right behind him with 137. Other counts were 76 for Ralph Yarbrough, 67 for Evetts Haley, five for Reuben Senterfitt, and one for J. J. Holmes.

For lieutenant governor, it was John Lee Smith in the lead with 167 to 93 for Ben Ramsey, 53 for A. M. Aikin, and 18 for C. T. Johnson.

Will Wilson led for attorney general with 167, while Tom Moore 89, Ross Carlton 53, and Curtis E. Hill 19.

In the referendum concerning segregation issues, Borden County voted for all by margins of 248 to 137 on the one for exempting children from compulsory integrated school attendance, 247 to 133 on the one against intermarriage of Negros and whites, and 242 to 90 on that for use of interposition.

Knipe with 246, J. H. Kimmel with 180 and R. B. Sears with 122. Of the five boxes in that precinct, Moore led four, while Farmer held the lead in the other. Moore topped the others in the absentee box.

Frank Wilson of Ennis Creek was returned to the office of county Democratic chairman, with no opposition.

The total vote yesterday here represented almost 72 per cent of the qualified votors in Scurry County, probably the largest percentage in the county's political history for a first primary.

Largest voting precinct in the election was southwest Snyder with a total of 1,126 votes, followed by southeast Snyder with 1,097 and northeast Snyder with 879.

All precinct chairmen of the Democratic party here are to meet in the courthouse at 2 p.m. Tuesday to canvass the election. The group will certify those who won nomination and declare runoffs in races in which there was no majority for any candidate.

Those nominated in this primary and the second primary will be placed on the ballot in the November general election.

Maintenance Work Trims Net Profit

Continuation of maintenance work on the dam for Lake J. B. Thomas held the Colorado River Municipal Water District to one of its lowest nets in months, according to June revenue fund statement.

Revenues aggregated $114,647, one of the highest achieved by the district for a single month, and $112,254 of this came from sale of water, the balance from recreation.

Chief items of expense were $54,136 for maintenance (mostly on the dam), $25,553 operating expense, $3,185 water royalties, $4,058 administrative, and $7,168 recreational including $6,690 for boat facilities and a concession building.

Expenditures for the month totalled $94,276, leaving a margin of $20,371 for transfer to the net revenue fund. During the year a total of $308,995 has been transferred to the net revenue fund.

Sale of water on the June statement (but for May consumption) was $39,902 for Odessa, $25,731 for Big Spring, $10,790 for Snyder, $27,122 for the SACROC unit, $5,933 for the Sharon Ridge unit, $788 for Texas Gulf Producing Co. and $1,985 for rural users. From recreational facilities $206 came from lease rentals, $1,609 from recreational permits, $484 from boat launching permits and $93.60 from concessions.

Water metered showed 329,710,000 gallons to Odessa 204,860,000 to Big Spring 60,334,000 to Snyder, to Sharon Ridge and 4,505,000 $to Texas Gulf. Total production for the year approached the four billion mark, or 3,889,941,000 gallons.

Bell Behind In Race For Congressman

By The Associated Press

All Democratic congressmen from Texas with the exception of Rep. John Bell of Cuero appeared headed back to Washington as result of Saturday's primary vote.

Bell conceded defeat shortly before midnight as his opponent, Nueces County Judge John Young piled up a 2-1 lead in incomplete but conclusive election returns from 16 of the 19 counties in Dist. 14 with results of two counties complete. A tabulation early Sunday gave Young 33,122 votes and Bell 17,876 votes.

The Texas delegation to Congress will in all probability have a new but familiar member. He is Lindley Beckworth of Gladewater, former congressman from Dist. 3 who resigned his seat in 1952 to make an unsuccessful race against Price Daniel for the Senate. Beckworth held a 23,070 to 16,124 vote lead early Sunday over his opponent, R. E. Blount, on the basis of returns from 7 of 8 counties, three complete. They were seeking the post held by Rep. Brady Gentry of Tyler who did not seek re-election.

In all other contested races the incumbent congressman had comfortable leads in tabulations Sunday morning.

The Dist. 14 contest between Bell and Young had been intense and bitter, with the veterans land deals a campaign issue. Bell had been charged in connection with veterans land transactions but had been no-billed by the grand jury.

Rep. Wright Patman, veteran legislator from Texarkana, capped a bitterly fought campaing with a victory in Dist. 1. His opponent Kenneth Simmons, former mayor of Avinger, conceeded defeat shortly before midnight Saturday.

On the basis of returns from 9 of 12 counties in the district three of them complete, Patman had 19,422 votes to his opponent's 12,881.

In Dist. 2, Rep. Jack Brooks of Beaumont held a 34,372 to 19,272 vote lead over Dist. Judge Melvin Combs. The returns were from 8 of the 11 counties in the district, one of them complete.

Rep. John Dowdy held a 9,547 to 5,271 vote lead over Gilbert Spring of Apple Springs in the Dist. 7 race on the basis of returns from 7 of the 12 counties, none of them complete.

In far West Texas, Rep. J.T. Rutherford was leading William Blanton, 10,141 to 5,178 for the Dist. 16 post. The returns were from 12 of the 19 counties, one of them complete.

Rep. Omar Burleson had a wide margin over Dan Kralis, Abilene oil man. Returns early Sunday from 9 of the 12 counties, with three complete, gave Burleson 20,958 votes and Kralis 7,871.

STASSEN SUPPORTS HIM—Gov. Christian A. Herter (above) of Massachusetts will be supported for Vice Presidential nomination by White House aide Harold E. Stassen at the Republican national convention in San Francisco next month. Stassen made the announcement in Washington.

DANIEL

clare that Daniel, while attorney general, "never bothered" politically turbulent Duval County. "He took care of them, so they are helping him," he said.

George Parr, considered for many years the boss of Duval County, announced support of Daniel, but the senator repudiated the support. Incomplete Duval County returns showed Daniel leading Yarborough 1,169 to 168, O'Daniel had 124.

O'Daniel at one time during the night refused to talk to newsmen, and later his office and home could not be reached by telephone.

J. Evetts Haley, the historian-rancher from Canyon who campaigned on a rigid segregation platform, had 60,523 votes. Former Texas House Speaker Reuben Senterfitt received 24,993 ballots, and J. J. Holmes, Austin contractor, had a 156 total.

Daniel led in most of the big cities, including Dallas, Houston, Corpus Christi, Fort Worth and San Antonio.

His victory in Houston was considered an upset because the labor vote in such heavily industralized areas was expected to go to Yarborough. Late reports showed Daniel with 52,896 votes and Yarborough 40,574.

Yarborough was unable to make any sweeps in any industralized areas. In addition to Harris County he also was trailing in Orange and Jefferson counties, with their heavy labor vote, incomplete returns to the Texas Election Bureau showed.

What appeared earlier to be a sweep for Yarborough in Kleberg County, noted for its lop-sided majorities, turned out to be something less as vote totals grew. He had 2,131 to 1,333 for Daniel.

Even in McLennan County, considered a liberal stronghold, Daniel bested Yarborough, incomplete totals indicated.

O'Daniel scored heavily in rural counties, but could not maintain his pace in the cities.

The Texas Election Bureau at 1:30 a.m. Sunday had totaled 1,069,310 votes for governor. The Bureau is an unofficial vote tabulating agency organized by newspapers.

At that time, Daniel had 39.85 per cent of the vote, Yarborough 29.45 and O'Daniel 21.97. Haley had 5.64 per cent, Senterfitt 2.233 and Holmes 0.76.

Earl Rudder, appointed as state land commissioner shortly after the veterans land scandals broke, was in a close fight to hold the office. He had 418,047 votes to 395,675 for Ned Price, Smith County (Tyler) judge.

Lieut. Gov. Ben Ramsey was far ahead in his race for reelection. He had a 431,630 vote total. State Sen. A. M. Aiken, veteran legislator, received 253,803; John Smith, who formerly held the post, 151,624; and C. T. Johnson, Austin insurance man 94,104.

Will Wilson, who resigned from the state supreme court to run for attorney general, had a comfortable margin in the four-man race. His total was 440,542. Tom Moore, Waco district attorney, had 310,838, while Ross Carlton, Segregation leader, counted 83,496. Curtis Hill withdrew, but still received 52,223 votes because his name already was on ballots.

John White, agriculture commisoner, had little apparent trouble retaining his office. The final count for the night showed him with 494,558 votes. Jim Barber, Dallas, former state agriculture department employe, received 170,97, while Bill Jones, Kermit nursery operator, received 179,219.

Rep. Martin Dies, whose congressional career spans three decades and who gained international notice as head of the pre-World War II UnAmerican Activities Committee, was leading Bill Elkins of Dallas for reelection as 584,096 votes and Elkins 279,960. Elkins is a real estate man.

W. A. Morrison took the lead in late returns for reelection to the criminal appeals court. His lone opponent, Jesse Owens, Vernon district judge, held the lead at times. Morrison's total was 430,606. Owens had 375,960.

Fort Supreme Court, Place 3 — the office Will Wilson vacated to run for Attorney general —K Robert Hughes of Austin was leading Jwmes Norvell of San Antonio 386,244 to 357,516. Both now are appeals court jusiices.

Jesse James went out front in late returns in his bid for another term as state treasurer after being behind for a time. His vote was 518,102, compared with 367,067 for Warren Harding, Dallas County treasurer.

Fort Worth Man's Wife Feared Dead

FORT WORTH, July 28 (AP)—Floyd Bremermann of Fort Worth, in New York desperately seeking some word on his wife who was believed aboard the ill-fated Andrea Doria, said today "It looks pretty hopeless."

Bremermann had a cable sent by "Laura" (his wife), dated 4:07 p.m. July 24 and marked the S.S. Andrea Doria. It said: "Bring my red and blue dresses and high heel shoes." He was to meet her in New York.

The Italian line, which owned the ship which sunk, continues to tell Bremermann, he said, that Laura Bremermann was not listed as a passenger aboard the Andrea Doria.

"They refused to accept the confirmation of the cablegram I received as proof that she sent it or that it came from the Andrea Doria," he told the Star-Telegram by phone.

Bremermann was trying to phone or cable Naples, where his wife supposedly boarded the ship. She was an Italian.

State Voting Is Watched

HOUSTON, July 28 P — The Houston Chronicle said today 16 rangers moved into Duval, Starr, Webb and Brooks counties at dawn today to observe election procedures.

"We have had rumors of trouble but no real trouble," Ranger Capt. Alfred Allee said. "We were requested by both sides to come in, and we came. I don't think we'll have any trouble."

An investigation in the handling of absentee ballots in the area is on. Brooks County ballots have been ordered impounded.

George Parr, South Texas political boss, is a candidate for sheriff of Duval County.

Both the Parr and anti-Parr forces closed pre-election campaigns last night with colorful rallies. About 2,000 persons attended the anti-Parr rally and cheered as Dist. Atty. Sam Burris predicted "Saturday will see the end of the Parr regime in South Texas."

Parr spoke in Spanish at his rally, attended by about 1,500. Door prizes were awarded.

Release Of China Papers Is Planned

WASHINGTON, July 28 (AP)—The State Department disclosed today it will start publishing its China papers early this fall, when the presidential campaign will be at its height.

Publication of this multivolume series covering the years 1942-49 was demanded by three years ago by Republicans who argued that a 1949 China "White Paper" put out by the Democrats was an incomplete account of how China was "lost" to the Communists. Republicans have contended Democratic regimes in Washington were largely to blame for this loss.

The department published today a new volume in its Foreign Relations series. This two-inch book includes hitherto unpublished documents, but the substance of them already is generally known. It has as its principal theme the U.S. efforts to reach a peaceful settlement with Japan during 1941.

E. R. Perkins, editor of the Foreign Relations series, said in a preface that this new volume was being published out of order "to supply chronological background on the Far East for the special series on China, 1942-1949, which now is in preparation."

Department officials said a companion volume, mostly tracing Japan's military advance southward during 1941, would be published shortly. These two would supply the necessary background for the series on China covering the years when Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek saw his control over the China mainland slip into the hands of the Communists.

Man Admits Killing Of Small Child

LAKE ORION, Mich., July 28 (AP)—A 23-year-old furnace cleaner admitted today he killed a 3-year-old negihbor girl, Martha Little, and threw her body off a country road 10 miles from her home.

Capt. Jack Warner of the Pontiac state police post said Howard W. Moore admitted the slaying of the chubby brown-haired child who disappeared last night from her back yard sandbox.

Warner added, "It has all the appearances of a sex crime."

The child's body, clad only in a blouse, was found with the skull crushed by blows from a broken beer bottle.

Warner said Moore served 18 months in the federal penitentiary at Milan, Mich., for transporting a stolen car across state lines. He was released last April.

Moore, who lived two doors away from the home of the slain girl, was picked up last night after witnesses reported seeing him with a child. Little Martha had been missed two hours earlier.

'Babe' Doing Nicely After Her Operation

GALVESTON, Tex., July 28 (AP)—George Zaharias, husband of famed woman athlete Babe Zaharias, today reported that the Babe is "doing nicely" following her operation two weeks ago at John Sealy Hospital here.

The operation, a cordomoty, was performed to aid the Babe in her fight against cancer by relieving leg pain.

George said that she is feeling no pain from the shoulders down now, and is turning herself in bed. He said the only pain she has is a little soreness at the site of the surgery on the back of her neck.

Thursday the Babe was cheered by a telegram from all the members of the "Little America" military expedition at the South Pole. Commenting in answer to the telegram, Mrs. Zaharias said, "Tell them that if I get well I will come down there and play an exhibition for them."

George Zaharias said that the Babe often asks about her cancer fund and is greatly comforted to hear that it is progressing well.

Catch Limit is set

LONDON, July 28 (AP)—The International Whaling Commission has recommended a catch limit of 14,500 blue whales for the 1956-57 season. It recommended, too, that the limit for future seasons should not exceed 15,000 blue whales, the current limit. The commission was told that modern whale-catching has become so efficient whales are in danger of virtual extermination.

NOT ALL FOAM AT MOUTH

Many Ways Told To Detect Rabies

By SANDRA DeFORE

"Mommy, I saw a dog with a nasty mouth." Shortly after these words were spoken, there began a search for a dog with rabies.

The word hydrophobia, or rabies, means "fear of water" in Greek According to the Encyclopedia Americana, hydrophobia is "an acute or subacute infectious disease, particularly of canine animals.

There is more than one way to detect a rabid dog and be fairly sure that the dog has rabies. First of all, not all dogs foam at the mouth if they have rabies. Also the theory of "fear of water" will not hold water. A mad dog is often thirsty but he may have trouble swallowing and this might cause convulsion.

A rabid dog usually acts exactly opposite to the way he normally does. He might bite at objects that do not exist. The dog may run wildly, and often into objects, for the dog is blind. The foaming at the mouth is usually more common when the paralysis sets in. At this time the saliva runs freely.

If you see a dog that might possibly be a rabid dog, the thing to do is to get away from the dog and call the police department.

If by chance the dog should happen to bite someone, quickly wash the wound and see a physician.

Naturally not all dogs that bite someone are rabid dogs. If there is any possibility of a dog being rabid, the dog is killed and it's head is sent to Austin to the department of Public safety. They determine whether the dog has rabies. Otherwise the dog may be kept under observation for 14 days. In the past year the police department have sent some heads to Austin but the results have been negative.

There is but one way an animal can contact rabies. The animal must be bitten by another animal that has rabies All warm-blooded animals are possible victims of the disease.

The best way to fight rabies is by vacination. One shot a year provides protection from rabies as much as would a deptheria shot protect one from diptheria.

During the past year and summer the city of Snyder has reported no cases of rabies.

Squeeze Put On Egyptians

LONDON, July 28 (AP) — Britain slammed the bank door on Egyptian cash and assets here today and set up a three-power conference with the United States and France on further steps to deal with President Gamal Abdel Nasser's grab of the Suez Canal.

Britain's first answer to Nasser's nationalization of the waterway was to freeze all assets of the Suez Canal Co. in the United Kingdom and all Egyptian cash and assets, public and private. The move was a powerful blow aimed at Egypt's foreign trade.

Future steps were to be considered here Monday. Robert Murphy, U. S. deputy undersecretary of state, was flying from Washington tonight to take part in the talks at the invitation of Britain and France.

In Washington it was said the United States was expected to give full support to Paris and London in dealing with the crisis, the gravest in the Middle East since World War II.

The response to these steps was a fiery speech in Cairo today by President Nasser, who received a wild and tumultous welcome upon his return from Alexandria where he announced the nationalization of the 103-mile canal Thursday night.

In a speech from his office window to a huge cheering crowd, Nasser interpreted British-French protests and refusals to accept the nationalization as insults and an interference with Egyptian sovereignty. He threatened that obstruction of canal traffic may result.

"I strongly warn the imperialist countries," he shouted, "that their interference will cause obstruction of navigation in the canal. I therefore put all responsibility on Britain and France for any obstruction of navigation which may result."

However, he said, Egypt had not interfered with navigation thus far.

Nasser regards the canal as Egyptian because the canal company is chartered in Egypt. The 87-year-old waterway linking the Mediterranean and Red Seas through Egyptian territory, has long been bound by international convention, however, to remain open to the ships of all flags. The British government owns 44 per cent of stock of the canal company which is French-controlled because half its 32 directors are French.

SEPARATED IN THE COLLISION—Mrs. Anna Cuppola, who arrived in New York aboard the Ile de France earlier, is reunited with her baby son, Luigi, 16 months old, in Brooklyn on the arrival of the Private William H. Thomas. They were aboard the ill-fated Andrea Doria and got separated during rescue operations. The Ile de France picked up over 700 survivors, and the Private William H. Thomas, a Military Transport Service vessel, took about 65 crewmen and 92 passengers who survived the sea collision.

U.S. Sends Sharp Protest To Nasser

SNYDER SPOTLIGHT

By WACIL McNAIR

In the midst of all the politics there was a story going around town during the past week "explaining" one possible cause of the drought.

The way the story went a colored philosopher was talking to one of his contemporaries, and he projected the theory that the withdrawal of crude oil from the earth precipitated the long dry spell. He reasoned that oil production had reduced the supply of lubricants for the north and south poles. Consequently, the earth's axis has become worn, throwing everything out of kilter. He estimated that the deviation thus far had shifted this section of the state to a position somewhat north of its former location in the universe, probably in the neighborhood of where the Panhandle used to be.

"And you know they ain't never had no rain in the Panhandle," he reminded.

There was considerable excitement on the square the other day, but it was short-lived. Two vehicles collided with a resounding impact. The curious appeared instantaneously from the various business establishments, and within a couple of minutes there were two newspapermen, a photographer, two lawyers, a handful of bankers and other passersby on the scene. But banged-up automobiles were conspicuously missing. All that remained on the site was a lone hubcap that had been jarred loose in the collision.

Witnesses said the two cars struck each other a glancing blow, doing little damage, but causing a loud noise. The drivers simply nodded to each other and continued on their respective ways.

Announcement in Washington recently that construction of new Post Office buildings had been approved in several Texas towns has suddenly revived interest in the Post Office facilities in Snyder. Local inquiries about the possibility of better facilities here got the cold shoulder from the Post Office Dept. several months ago. We were led to believe that practically nobody could get a new Post Office building. Now, it looks as if the picture was misrepresented, or else somebody knows some "channels" that Snyder interests have not discovered.

It looks as if at least 20,000 acres of Scurry County farm land is going into the "soil bank," which likely reflects the effects of drought in this area. Over 800 applications were received. That represents a high percentage of the farms in the county, which number approximately 950.

Estimate On Ship Deaths Is Revised

NEW YORK, July 28 (AP) — The Italian Line, operator of the sunken liner Andrea Doria, revised sharply upward tonight its figures on the dead and missing from the ship. It listed "two dead and 18 missing and presumed dead." This would bring the death toll in the sea tragedy to 25.

A company spokesman said there also were about 73 additional "unaccounted for" from the Andrea Doria, but it was felt that "many of these were alive" and probably would be located.

Earlier, three Andrea Doria passengers were reported dead by fellow passengers or relatives who were aboard the ship. Their bodies were not recovered. Two other Andrea Doria passengers died after being rescued.

Two crewmen of the liner Stockholm, badly damaged in the collision with the Andrea Doria, were known to be dead also and three other Stockholm crew members are missing and believed dead.

The New York Police Department said its firures now show 15 persons missing and 70 unaccounted for. Previously it had said it believed that most if not all passengers and crew had been accounted for.

Ever since the arrival of six rescue ships with survivors of last Wednesday night's ocean collision there has been great confusion as to the number of dead and missing.

Each one of several different organizations compiling figures has at intervals produced tabulations varying from those of the others.

Meanwhile, the Andrea Doria's master, Capt. Piero Calamai told a news conference that everything possible was done by his crew to save everyone aboard. Some passengers had voiced criticism of the crew's work, while others praised it.

He continued to keep his silence as to possible causes of the disaster, on advice of company attorneys. But he expressed hope that, pending appropriate investigation, "speculation and rumor will be tempered by good judgment."

The Italian Line casualty statement was issued by Walter Wood of its public relations staff.

The Red Cross said it had been unable to determine the whereabouts of 11 persons. The organization pointed out that it was instituting a search for any specifie individual only at the request of a relative or friend who reported him still missing.

An Associated Press poll of its bureaus across the nation brought responses from close relatives or friends that 17 others believed on the Italian liner also had not been heard from.

The Stockholm, with its bow smashed in the collision, is being taken to a shipyard in Brooklyn for repairs. It had limped into New York carrying more than 500 persons from the Andrea Doria itself.

Complaints from Andrea Doria passengers included bitter claims that the first lifeboats away from the sinking ship contained mostly crewmen and that crew members failed to cope with the confusion aboard the ship.

The Italian captain spoke out for the second time since the accident in both a prepared statement and at a crowded news conference in the offices of the Italian Line, which operated the Andrea Doria.

He struggled to express himself in English and frequently paused and drummed his fingers on a conference table as he sought to control his emotions and answer questions.

He was flanked by two attorneys of the Italian Line.

Questions such as whether he was on course or using the radar navigational facilities on his ship were left unanswered on advice of the attorneys.

On the matter of getting his passengers safely away, Capt. Calamai said he did not think of sending his crewmen off the ship until "the officer in charge told me that we have no more passengers on board."

In his prepared statement, the captain said:

"I can now say that it's true that had it not been for the courage of my officers and men and the cooperation and gallantry of passengers, the rescue operations would have been far more hazardous and might not have met with such satisfactory results."

Nixon Picking Up More Supporters

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON, July 28 (AP) — Snowballing support from Republicans of many shades of party opinion put Vice President Nixon in a commanding position today to win renomination at the GOP National Convention.

Nixon was pledged "our full support" by 180 of 202 Republican House members. Rep. Cederbert (R-Mich) said that as representatives of "all segments of our population," the GOP House members believe Nixon will "lend strength to our cause" in the November election.

Undersecretary of Commerce Walter Williams, former head of the Citizens for Eisenhower, accepted an invitation to second Nixon's nomination at San Francisco next month. He told Nixon in a letter that independent voters "strongly favor your candidacy."

Gov. Christian Herter of Massachusetts, suggested by Harold E. Stassen as a stronger candidate for second place on the ticket, already has agreed to place Nixon's name in nomination.

But Stassen kept up his fight today. He issued this statement:

"I wish to point out that the vast majority of the elected delegates to the Republican National Convention are unpledged in their choice for vice president.

"It is not too late to take the decision that will place President Eisenhower and the Republican candidates for Congress and the Republican candidates for state position for the November election and local officers in the strongest by making it an Eisenhower-Herter ticket."

Stassen, President Eisenhower's disarmament assistant, was assailed by Sen. Goldwater (R-Ariz) former chairman of the Republican Senatorial Campaign Committee and a member of what still is known as the Taft wing of the Republican party.

End Of Congress Marks Shift Of Big Issues To U.S. Voters

WASHINGTON, July 28 (AP) — Now that the 84th Congress has gone home, the fight over such big issues as defense policy, foreign aid spending and civil rights will be carried direct to the voters.

There also are a score of other controversies for political speakers to stress in the congressional and presidential campaigns starting soon after next month's national conventions.

In the field of foreign affairs, the shift in Russian cold war tactics and what this country is doing about it is a wide open subject.

Domestic talking points are likely to include the blocking of civil rights legislation, the defeat of a bill to provide federal aid for school construction after a fight over racial segregation, and the junking of proposals for a loosening up of the immigration laws.

The once-fevered farm issue appears to have waned somewhat with the steady climb in the prices of agricultural products during the first six months of this year. A one per cent drop from the mid-June level was reported yesterday, but prices generally were still eight per cent above January.

As Congress wound up its 1955-56 session at midnight last night, leaders of both political parties looked back over the record and found some comfort.

Senate Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex) said the Congress had overridden "narrow partisan considerations" and given Eisenhower about 75 per cent of what he asked for.

The Senate minority leader, Sen. Knowland of California, conceded that "a fair share" of the President's program had been enacted but he contended the results would have been better if Republicans had been in control.

AFTER STEALING PLANES

Four Poles Escape

VIENNA, Austria, July 28 (AP) — Four young Polish air cadets, flying two stolen training planes, landed in Austria today after dramatic 400-mile night flights to freedom from behind the Iron Curtain.

They said airport guards in Poland spotted their getaway and opened fire on them—with anti-aircraft guns, they thought. There were no hits.

The two planes came down 60 miles apart in lower Austria. The four anti-Communist airmen asked for political asylum to escape "unbareable living conditions" in Poland.

The bold flights came 15 days after seven Hungarians seized a commercial airliner in a fight aboard the plane and flew it to West Germany. Exactly a month ago a workers' uprising in Poznan, Poland, broke out and was put down bloodily.

The four Poles said they took off last night from Deblin, southeast of Warsaw, with intentions of flying to Munich in West Germany.

But they said they ran dangerously low on fuel after bad weather knocked them off their course. They were still 200 miles short of their goal after flying over Czechoslovakia and southern Poland.

The four told police they had made secret preparations for a month before risking the chance.

One of the planes landed safely at the village of Oberbergen, where they were questioned, they covered their heads with blankets to avoid being photographed.

All four were brought to Vienna, where they told Austrian authorities details of the flight, the latest in a series of freedom dashes across the Iron Curtain.

U.S. Plane Has Trouble Over Pacific

SAN FRANCISCO, July 28 (AP) A military transport plane had engine trouble out in the Pacific today, awakening about a dozen young children among the 98 persons aboard.

But its competent crew and stewardesses took charge so quickly that most of the children went back to sleep.

The plane labored 500 miles to San Francisco, on the 2,400-mile flight from Honolulu, with one of its four engines "frozen" and its idle propeller causing a drag. It could not be feathered.

Four Coast Guard planes flew out quickly to escort the crippled craft to International Airport, where a crowd watched it make a slow, agonizing glide to the runway.

Capt. Floyd Benjamin of Amityville, Long Island, N. Y., the pilot, called the incident "routine."

Father of five children, Benjamin said the plane had not been in danger.

But a passenger, Marine M. Sgt. Raymond Williams of San Francisco, a pilot himself with more than 3,000 hours aloft, commented:

"The situation was serious, but the pilot did an excellent job. I was particularly impressed by the way the passengers conducted themselves.

"I would have expected panic from some, especially the civilians. But there was absolutely none.

Five Injured In Accident

Five persons were injured in a head-on collision on Avenue S in south Snder about 9:40 o'clock yesterday morning.

It was believed late yesterday afternoon that none of the five were seriously hurt, however.

Mrs. Irene Chapman, Odessa, driver of a 1956 Chevrolet car traveling north on Avenue S, was the most seriously injured. She, and three other occupants of her car, all from Odessa, were taken by Bolger ambulance to Cogdell Memorial Hospital.

Driver of the other car, Thomas Marshal Grigsby of Snyder, was taken to Battenfield-Jones Hospital Clinic by Bell Ambulance. Attendants said that Grigsby received scratches and bruises, but no serious injuries.

Others in Mrs. Chapman's car were Mrs. Holbert Tilson, her daughter and son.

Both cars were badly damaged.

Services For Young Scheduled Monday

Funeral services are to be held at 2 p.m. Monday in Abilene for V. W. Young, realtor, who died in his home there at 1 p.m. Friday.

Mr. Young, 60, was a real estate dealer in Abilene. He suffered a heart attack and died unexpectedly at his home at 841 Mulberry Street. He is survived by his wife, Adelle Young, who is a former resident of Snyder; two sons, Lavon Young of Abilene, and Odell Young of California; and six grandchildren.

Two Snyder Men At Army Reserve School

Two Snyder men are at Fort Polk, La., on two weeks of active military duty at the Army Reserve School.

They are Maj. Newton E. Gambrell, 1300 Twenty-fifth Street, and 1st Lt. Royce R. Burrows, 133 Milburn.

The two are attending a refresher course. Gambrell is chiropracter here, while Burrows is employed by the engineering section of the Texas Highway Department.

Federal Secrecy Draws Criticism

WASHINGTON, July 28 (AP)— A House subcommittee called on Congress today to require full disclosure of most government information except where officials can show, in court, why it should not be made public.

The Government Operations subcommittee headed by Rep. Moss (D-Calif) said a "paper curtain, now many layers thick," has increasingly hidden federal activities as they have mushromed over the past 30 years.

It hit hard at what it called wide "misuse" of an Eisenhower letter issued during the Army-McCarthy hearings. Federal agencies, it said, had used this letter in an effort to justify their withholding of information.

It accused the Defense Department of "most restrictive" and 'most confused" handling of material which should be made public.

And it said the Office of Strategic Information should be abolished. This office was set up to curb the flow of certain technical information not labelled a military secret.

The subcommittee report, approved by the parent Government Operations Committee, followed lengthy investigations and was unanimous except for some "additional views" by Rep. Clare E. Hoffman (R-Ill),

Hoffman, senior Republican member of both committees, said he knew of no case where the courts have compelled a president to make information public. "The only remedy would be through publicity and at the polls," he said.

Hoffman also said the press is "inconsistent" by pressing for information and yet, when called on by congressional committees to disclose the basis of news stories, in some cases refusing "to give the facts back of a story."

The subcommittee report called for action by Congress after speaking of a maze of methods for keeping government data secret.

Congress created all federal agencies, it said, and since courts "have refused to recognize' 'any constitutional power "inherent" in an agency to keep information secret "it is now incumbent upon congress to bring order out of chaos."

"Congress should establish uniform rules on information practices," it said. "These rules should require full disclosure of information, except for specific exceptions defined by statute.

"The withholding should be subject to judicial review and the burden of proof should be on the official who withholds information."

As things now are behind the "paper curtain," the congressmen said, there is "an attitude novel to democratic government—an attitude which says that we the officials, not you, the people, will determine how much you are to be told about your own government."

"We must re-establish the fact that public business is the public's business," they said.

In its conclusions and recommendations, the report listed "misuse" of Eisenhower's May 1, 1954, letter to Secretary of Defense Wilson as "the most flagrant abuse of so-called legal authority" to withhold information.

Eisenhower cited the constitutional separation of executive and legislative powers in directing Wilson not to produce certain information before the Senate committee investigating the Army-McCarthy dispute.

Yarborough Trip Is Paid

ORANGE, Tex., July 28 (AP)—A staunch supporter of Ralph Yarborough, candidate for the Democratic governor nomination, will have his expenses as a Texas delegate to the Democratic National Convention paid by a group of men made up of former supporters of Gov. Shivers.

A check for $250 was turned over to the delegate, George Cook of Orange, Democratic Chairman of Orange County, as he presided over a political rally last night.

Byron Simmons of Orange, an active Shivers supporter, who presented the check to Cook, said the fund was raised by Orange businesses, "most of them former supporters of Gov. Shivers."

The contributions were "an expression of appreciation for the harmony which your people made possible when you took over control in this county and a tribute to you personally for your services to the party," Simmons said.

"No strings are attached," he said.

Trouble Shooter Is Sent

WASHINGTON, July 28 (AP)—The United States sharply rebuked Egyptian President Nasser today for "intemperate, inaccurate and misleading statements" about this country.

Nasser has charged, among other things, that the United States lied about Egypt's ability to build the Aswan Dam.

The American protest was delivered orally to Ambassador Ahmed Hussein by Undersecretary of State Herbert Hoover Jr. It topped off a day of fast-moving developments here on the crisis created by Nasser's seizure of the Suez Canal for the stated purpose of obtaining funds to build the dam.

The developments:

1. President Eisenhower dispatched an ace diplomatic trouble shooter, Deputy Undersecretary of State Robert Murphy, to confer with British and French foreign ministers in London on measures for dealing with the Suez seizure. Murphy left Washington at midday and was due in London tomorrow.

2. Secretary of State Dulles at Lima, Peru, arranged to cut short his Latin-American visit by several hours in order to get back to Washington ahead of schedule tomorrow and take personal charge of U.S. policy in the Suez crisis.

3. Eisenhower, Murphy and Hoover met at the White House for about an hour early in the day to review the situation, go over Murphy's mission and presumably decide on the protest against Nasser's charges.

4. Responsible officials made it clear that the United States stands firmly with Britain and France in their moves to deal with the seizure of the canal. The British and French have a primary interest in the dispute because of their ownership rights in the private company which has operated the strategic waterway.

Murphy had instructions to try to develop with British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd and French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau reasonable and effective measures for handling the canal issue. Special emphasis is being laid on American concern in keeping the waterway open to international traffic.

The protest was delivered to Hussein by Hoover during a 50-minute conference in Hoover's office at the State Department. Press officer Lincoln White announced that Hoover told the ambassador the United States was "shocked by the many intemperate, inaccurate and misleading statements made with respect to the United States by the President of Egypt during the past few days and particularly in his Alexandria speech delivered on July 26."

Tions And Ligers

OSAKA, July 28 (AP) — Japanese zoo directors say they are going to try for tions and ligers because people aren't interested any more in plain lions and tigers. A tion is the offspring of a female lion and a male tiger; a liger comes from a female tiger and a male lion. The directors say there have been a number of such cross breedings.

EDITORIALS

One Of The Pioneers

One hundred four years is a pretty long stretch of time when measured in human life. Noah Armstrong, who had been the oldest living ex-Texas Ranger and Coleman County's oldest citizen, died Wednesday at that age.

He was born in Lincoln County, Mo., in 1852, and came to Texas with his family as a boy to settle at Salcado, in Bell County. As a member of Company C, Texas Rangers, for two years he was assigned to the wild Plains country, and during that time settled in Coleman County to become a stockman. That was 1876, when marauding Indians and cattle thieves still occupied much of the Ranger's time. Noah Armstrong later served as president of the Texas ex-Rangers Association and never missed a meeting if he could help it.

When Noah Armstrong settled there as a young man of 24, Coleman County was very much on the frontier. It had been created from Travis and Brown Counties in 1858, tentatively organized in 1862, but not formally organized until the year Armstrong settled there. Scurry County and a great many others were also created out of Bexar and and Travis Counties, but did not get itself organized until 1884.

Although Texas is crowding 9,000,000 now, two years before Noah Armstrong was born the total population was estimated at 212,000. By the time he settled in Coleman County Texas had a population of 1,590,000 and by the turn of the century it had passed 3,000,000.

The density of population was only 0.8 per square mile in 1850 and stood at an estimated 33.6 per mile in 1955, still leaving plenty of room for Texas to grow in.

The Coleman County centenarian grew up in exciting and hazardous times, but hardly as exciting and hazardous as the time in which he passed on.

To him and to other pioneers who helped tame and civilize a wilderness modern Texas owes a feeling of gratitude.

Snarl Over Housing

Once more a presidential request for a more liberal public housing bill—this time, 500,000 units—has apparently gone down the congressional drain.

The Senate, with apparent reluctance, abandoned its fight for the larger program and accepted the one handed up by the House calling for 35,000 units for each of the next two years. It then passed its own version affecting other parts of the housing program. There was some speculation that if the Senate did not accept the House version calliing for half a million units, that body would refuse to let the matter go to House-Senate conference, thus killing the whole program for this year.

Sen. Lehman (D-NY) protested in vain that cutting back the subsidized low-rent housing program would eliminate also the provision calling for 15,000 units designed for elderly persons. Senator Sparkman (D-Ala) declared that the House version of the over-all housing bill would permit private builders to reap "guaranteed windfall profits." Sen Capehart (R-Ind) said he was inclined to agree with him, and urged the Senate to accept the smaller public housing program but to fight for its own version of the bill as a whole.

Public housing is a big political gimmick in the larger cities of the country. A majority of House members do not represent large cities, hence their firm stand against a huge housing program involving public money. A great many cities large and small have managed to get by somehow without this federal largesse. In fact a great many communities have fought hard against it.

That housing is needed to care for the huge increase in families is obvious. The row is over the use of public funds for private purposes in which only relatively few people can benefit. Perhaps an insoluble dispute between House and Senate over details would be as good a way as any to kill public housing this year. The likelihood of reviving it next year would be pretty dim.

Stassen's Dart Circled Block, Returned To Hit Republicans In A Sensitive Spot

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — That arrow which Harold Stassen aimed at Vice President Nixon went around the corner, circled the block, and came back to hit Republicans in their most sensitive spot: President Eisenhower's health.

Not that Stassen dwelt on Eisenhower's physical condition. He didn't. Nor did the other Republicans who blasted him for urging replacement of Nixon. They play the health subject down. It's the Democrats who make an issue of it.

But Stassen helped them make an issue of it since he focused attention in a sensational way on this problem every voter must face.

If Eisenhower should die, then in voting for his running mate I am choosing a president.

All this was implicit, but unstated, in Stassen's nudge to Nixon to step aside because, he said an Eisenhower-Nixon ticket would be 6 per cent weaker than a ticket with Eisenhower and Christian A. Herter of Massachusetts.

Since Esienhower's health is a matter for consideration, here are some questions and answers about the presidency and vice presidency:

1. What happens if Eisenhower should die between the time he's renominated in the Republicans' August convention and election day, next Nov. 6?

The Republican National Committee could call another convention, if it had time. If not, it could name another presidential candidate or shove the vice presidential candidate into the No. 1 spot and pick another man for vice president.

2. What happens if Eisenhower wins the election Nov. 6 but dies before the Electoral College meets Dec. 17 to cast its ballots formally naming him as the man to take office as president on inauguration day, next Jan. 20?

Nothing like this has ever happened. There's no certain answer. An election day you vote for a slate of party electors in each state, not directly for president or vice president.

The winning party's electors on Dec. 17 cast their ballots for the party's presidential and vice presidential candiates. This has become a formality. But there's a catch here. They are not compelled to vote for their party's candidates.

Under the Constitution they are legally free to vote for whom they please, even for a man who was not a candidate at all.

If Eisenhower died between Nov. 6 and Dec. 17 the Republican National Committee would probably ask the Republican electors — if the Republicans won — to elect the vice presidential candidate as president.

Then the committee could designate someone else for vice president and ask the electors to vote for him too. But under the Constitution the electors would be free to suit themselves.

3. What happens if Eisenhower, having won the Nov. 6 election and the Electoral College vote Dec. 17 dies after the latter date but before the Jan. 20 inaugural for the new president?

The Constitution's 20th Amendment provides that the vice president, approved by the Electoral College, would then automatically take office as the President Jan. 20.

4. What happens if Eisenhower, after winning the election and taking office in January, becomes so disabled he cannot carry out his presidential duties?

That's a puzzler. Although congress has been urged for years to clear up this question, it never has.

When a president is too disabled to carry out his duties, the Constitution says, the vice president shall run the country.

But the Constitution isn't clear on who decides when the President is so disabled that the vice president must take over.

There is no question, of course, about what happens if the President dies in office. The vice president becomes president.

Men, Paris Unrealistic In Designing Women's Clothes

By INEZ ROBB

It is one woman's opinion that the trouble with women's clothes is: (1) Too many men designers and (2) Paris. The first don't have to wear the clothes they wish on women and the second knows nothing about the facts of life in a supermarket.

Since this woman is Adele Simpson, one of the foremost American designers who has won every major fashion award in her field, her opinions — no less than her courage — rate respectful attention. If this be heresy, she is willing to let the boys and Paris make the most of it.

"Men designers never have to wear the clothes they make, so they don't understand or appreciate the problems they create for women," Mrs. Simpson said the other day. "If they had to wear some of these tight sheaths they design—.

"The sheath is strictly for the birds," said Mrs. Simpson, who is not quite five feet tall but equipped with the heart of a lion. "Since I am a woman, I have to go through all the gory details of getting up, sitting down, getting into a taxi, dodging traffic and picking up pins in the clothes I design and wear.

"I've got to have room to maneuver, and so do other women. But the men designers keep turning out these strait-jacket clothes because they have never, even for a minute, tried to live in them," said this brown-eyed blonde.

"And, in addition," she continued, warming up to the subject, "no designer aiming at the American woman should ever design or make a collection without first spending an educational hour in a supermarket to see how American women really live.

"American women don't live a Cafe Society existence. There is as yet, despite all the propaganda, no push-button housekeeping, cooking or living for the American woman. The vast majority of us do our own work.

"All over the United States, entertaining is informal", said Mrs. Simpson. "It has to be informal when the hostess must simultaneously keep an eye on the roast, answer the doorbell, give the baby his bottle, find her husband's tie, serve the cocktails and pass the canapes.

"And, believe me, she can't do all this in those chiffon ruffles with ostrich trim that the Paris couture is predicting!" she continued, taking a deep breath and a poke at Paris.

"I think Paris is way off base in designing for the American woman. Paris is a starting point, but her clothes have to be re-designed or adapted for the American way of life, which has no relation to the French way of life.

"The Paris couturiers don't make clothes for women. They make clothes for the press and for headlines."

Do women dress for other women or for men?

"For men," said Mrs. Simpson emphatically. "If a woman hasn't got a husband, she wants one. And if she has one, she wants to keep him. And clothes are both bait and ammunition."

"WHAT DO YOU MEAN 3½!"

Lady Docker Says 'Phooey' To Critics And Goes Merry Way Shocking Britons

By EDDY GILMORE

LONDON, July 28 (AP)—A duchess stared icily at the tall, blonde, full-bosomed woman affixing her signature to a racing form. Two debutantes giggled and a peer of the realm snorted disapproval down his long aristocratic nose.

"This is preposterous," said a stiff-necked racing official at Royal Ascot. "We've had everything here, but never autograph seeking. Ascot will never live it down."

Lady Docker, the shocker, was shocking Britain again. Surrounded by a clamoring mob, she was scribbling autographs as fast as she could write "Norah Docker" on anything from a cigarette package to a racing program.

When a friend whispered that a frigid wind of criticism was blowing from the toffs in the royal enclosure, Lady Docker, who was in the less majestic paddock, replied with superb disdain:

"Phooey to them. If my autograph brings a little happiness, then I don't care what they think."

In the seven years that she's been married to millionaire Sir Bernard Docker, her ladyship has become a large figure of social controversy.

Highly articulate — though in somewhat too strident tones for some sensitive ears — she never seems to stop talking.

"This is sable, not mink, dear," she explained to an interested onlooker as she showed him the spacious back seat of one of her gold-plated automobiles. "Mink is too hot to sit on."

Lady Docker manages to be provacative, sometimes downright insulting, but never quite outrageous enough to be sued.

A few weeks ago, the Dockers encountered what may be the biggest crisis of their lives. Sir Bernard was fired from the chairmanship of the Birmingham Small Arms Corp., a job he had inherited —along with a fortune—from his father. The corporation controls a far-flung industrial empire.

Lady Docker took the blame.

"This has hurt me terribly," she said, "because some people are saying that I have caused this and have injured my husband."

She turned back her gold-plated, star-encrusted automobiles to one of the corporation's subsidiaries, saying they had been supplied her in turn for her publicizing them.

"It's a terrible wrench," she sighed. "They were like my children."

The Dockers are presently fighting to get him back as board chairman. They have taken the case to the stockholders by letter, TV and radio appeals.

Lady Docker was born 50 years ago in fairly humble surroundings — but she bristles at any suggestion that it was unusually humble.

Her father was a mechanical engineer named Sydney Royce Turner and her first home was in a small apartment above a butcher shop in the bustling Midlands city of Derby.

Her father died when she was a schoolgirl an widow Turner took in boarders to help make ends meet, assisted by Norah and her two sisters.

When she went out into the business world, young Miss Turner, already pretty, worked at several jobs. One was in a department store where she sold lamp shades and hats.

"There wasn't much difference in the goods in the two departments," she recalled. "The hats all looked like the lamp shades and the shades were just like the hats."

Her first husband was a rich wine merchant named Clement G. Bingham, who died in 1945. He left her with her only child, a son named Lance, about $887,500 in cash and a solid interest in his business.

The pretty widow with the big dovelike eyes next married Sir William Henry Collins, a big-time operator in small but fast-selling items such as salt and jam. When he died in 1947, he willed her nearly five million dollars.

Two years later, she was wed to Sir Bernard who also was richly fixed.

Her ladyship takes this view of money:

"I believe in spending it. The more I spend it the more it gets into circulation. This helps business and it makes more work for the workers. And I have a good time."

In addition to their country home, the Dockers have a spacious apartment in London, and a winter home in Jamaica.

Lady Docker knows the inside of factories and mines as well as the casino at Monte Carlo. Well—almost as well.

She and Sir Bernard visited a mine a couple of years ago and bowled the tough old diggers over with their personalities.

"She's a great kid," said the veteran Bill Beckworth.

Bob Slater, another miner, wrote them a letter saying:

"I'm just a humble coal miner who loves people as human beings. Position to me is nothing when I can have the honor of meeting charming people who accept me as a human being."

Deeply touched, the Dockers invited the miners to their yacht.

Lady Docker danced with them and they had the time of their lives. When the yacht put into port, her ladyship said:

"This has been the most wonderful party I ever had."

Lady Docker has given away thousands of pounds to charity. Some of her most publicized stunts have been to raise money for good causes. Friends say she is the easiest touch in London and has lent thousands of pounds to people in hard luck.

Whatever happens about the board chairmanship, one thing seems certain — the Dockers will stay on the front pages for a long time to come and Lady Docker, the shocker, will keep on shocking them.

British Diplomat, Wife Play Tennis At Benefit

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON — The British Ambassador, Sir Roger Makins, looks every inch a diplomat. He's tall, dignified, impressively proper and impeccably groomed. So it is quite a surprise to see him in shorts on a tennis court.

Maybe Lady Makins has something to do with this. She is the former Alice Davis, whose father Dwight F. Davis, donated the Davis Cup.

The Makins were among the distinguished amateurs who played with top professionals Don Budge and former women's champion Mary Hardwicke Hare at a benefit exhibition at the British Embassy sponsored by the English Speaking Union. It was one of Washington's hottest days. The Makins lost their matches, but everyone had a gala time of it.

Pretty Mrs. J. L. Dayal, former Indian champion, and wife of the Indian minister here, also played in the tournament. She said, "iced tea only makes you hotter."

Mrs. Peter Belin, the former Mary Cootes, who has held national ranking with tennis titles in the District of Columbia and Virginia and once went on tour winding up at Wimbledon where she played with Mary Mardwicke, also was featured in the embassy tournament.

Steel Industry Labor Peace Will Pack One-Two Punch

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Labor Peace in the steel industry will pack a one-two punch. The first will be a quick boost to the industrial division of the economy. The second will be a nudge to the rising cost of living.

Some view the steel strike as a bitter but corrective pill that trimmed inventories and put the industry in position for a heady fall and winter. As the furnaces slowly return to full production, many see a scramble to get steel. It may be three or four weeks after the fires are relighted before all the steel distribution pipelines are filled again.

Others look beyond this immediate shot in the arm to the long-range inflationary promise of a wage-price hike in basic steel.

During the strike steel prices went up by $8 or $9 a ton in anticipation of the settlement. And steel scrap prices jumped $6 a ton. Steel spokesmen have long coptended that each $1 of added labor costs of their own spreads through the economy so that they have to pay out another $1 to their suppliers for materials and services.

Manufacturers and builders, faced with higher steel prices, will seek to raise their own prices whenever they can, depending on how much competition they face.

If price hiking spreads, increasing the demand for credit and exciting speculation, the Washington money managers are expected to move in and tighten the money supply as a deterrent.

Price hiking at the retail level comes considerably later. Some of the recent price hikes on consumer goods trace their lineage to long past increases in material and labor costs.

Assessing the extent of the damage from the strike to the steel companies themselves is complicated by divergent views as to how much business they would have done this summer without a strike. Booming August and September sales could pretty well wipe out the loss from the July shutdown.

Steel profit prospects for the rest of the year will be influenced in one direction by the higher labor costs and in the other by the higher prices they expect to get for their products.

25 YEARS AGO

(Taken from the files of the Scurry County Times, July 30, 1931)

The body of Collis Wells, two and a half year-old Negro boy who wandered away from the 9-R ranch 20 miles northwest of Snyder Wednesday afternoon, was found at 11 o'clock this morning about 16 miles from the ranch houses. Death had apparently come about three hours earlier from exhaustion, hunger and exposure. Several hundred men are said to have been comging the territory when the body was found.

LITERARY GUIDEPOST

OFF THE BOOKBEAT — Paul Horgan, in the East recently to collect some more of the honors coming his way since the publication of "Great River: The Rio Grande in North American History," found time to talk a bit about another book of his due in the fall.

"I signed up with Dutton to do it 10 years ago. But I spent 14 years on 'Great River' for Rinehart, and I therefore don't pity Dutton in the least," said Horgan, a round-faced, bespectacled author, with a quick smile for a Dutton editor who was listening in.

With the new book securely in the office, Dutton obviously is not to be pitied now, but congratulated; however it gnashed its teeth for a decade. The title is "The Centuries of Santa Fe," in which some 10 characters, composites of historical figures, speak for the Spanish, then the Mexican and finally the American city. It is history, despite Horgan's imaginative treatment, and he wrote most of it abroad. He carted off to Paris, London and Oxford a fat leather case stuffed with all his necessary notes, and he worked every morning — "the first day out on the ship I wrote, and I kept it up."

Horgan, whose home is Roswell, N. M., has been elected to the National Institute of Arts and Letters, and has been given, by Wesleyan, a doctorate in letters, his first honorary degree and his only degree, for he is not a college man. He got his start at 17 when he was hired as reporter on the Albuquerque Morning Journal by Clinton Anderson, later Agriculture secretary and senator. "Great River," Pulitzer and Bancroft prize winner in 1955 also has inspireed a symphony by Ernst Bacon, to be premiered by the Dallas Symphony, Walter Hendl conducting, in November.

Parr Will Face Contempt Charge

AUSTIN, July 28 (AP)—Atty. Gen. John Ben Shepperd said today a motion was filed in the 10th Court of Civil Appeals at Waco yesterday citing Dist. Judge R. D. Wright of Laredo, George Parr and others for contempt of court.

The court was asked by the state to cite the judge of the 49th District and Parr for contempt in connection with the complicated litigation between the state and Parr over possession of the Dobie Ranch.

The state, in behalf of Duval County, has been trying in one suit to recover the ranch and $750,000. Another suit seeks to recover from Parr and his former wife, Thelma, $172,500 alleged to have been misappropriated from public funds.

The contempt motion filed at Waco said the Parrs filed suit in 49th District Court of Webb County May 2, seeking to have an alleged settlement between the Parrs and Duval County declared valid and binding. The alleged settlement gave them use and possession of the ranch for a year from April 19.

"When that suit was filed, attorneys filing it did not allow any publicity to be made of the fact," said a statement by asst. Atty. Gen. Sidney Chandler, released by Shepperd.

"It is alleged in the motion that citation was issued to be served on Duval County and that a false certificate of service was made on the return as if the citation had been served on Dan Tobin Jr., county judge of Duval.

"Nothing was mentioned about the suit until July 13, when George and Thelma Parr, through their attorneys, disclosed that R. D. Wright, judge of the 49th District Court of Webb County, had, on July 3, entered a default judgment against Duval County declaring in effect that the alleged settlement agreement of April 19 x x x was a valid and binding agreement and that the Parrs had a valid lease for a term of one year."

The motion said the appeals court had held that Wright had no jurisdiction over the suits.

The motion alleged the May 28 suit at Laredo was an attempt to take away from the district courts of Jim Wells and LaSalle counties the subject matter of the pending suits, and was in violation of the Court of Civil Appeals judgment at Waco.

Chandler said the motion would probably be heard by the Waco court Sept. 6.

Prize List Complete For Fair

LUBBOCK, Texas, July 28 — Premiums totaling $26,008 will be offered exhibitors at the 39th Annual Panhandle South Plains Fair, announced President R. E. (Bob) Gee. The total value of premiums is $1,974 higher than the 1955 total and is the highest ever awarded in the history of the Fair.

The new 84-page catalog was mailed this week to 3,000 area residents, including county agents, teachers, Future Homemakers of America teachers, and past and prospective exhibitors.

Fair officials announced that Guernsey cattle would be added to the Cattle Division this ear. Premiums in the Cattle Division will be awarded as follows: Aberdeen Angus, $2,960; Herefords, $3,320; Milking Shorthorns, $2,945; Jerseys, $2,700; Holsteins, $2,700; and Gurnsees, $2,700.

The Swine Division will receive $4,032 in premiums, with $672 each going to six classifications, Berkshires, Chester Whites, Durocs, Hampshires, Poland Chinas, and Spotted Poland Chinas.

Exhibitors in the Junior Agriculture and Livestock Department will receive $1,323 for displays of corn, grain sorghums, peanuts, cotton, breeding pig club, and dairy calf club. The Fair Association is also offering $186 for individual exhibits, $710 in the Vocational Agriculture Division, and $352 in the Rabbit Division.

Each county having an agricultural display will receive a $50 participation award.

The Women's Department will have premiums totaling $1,732, with $345.50 offered in the Textile Division, $170.75 for crochet, knitting, and tatting, $255.50 for Culinary Division, $162 in the Art Division, $666 in the Relics and Antiques Division, and $232.25 in the Flower Festival. The Youth Department, limited to 4-H Club and FFA members, will receive $248 in premiums.

General Department Superintendents for this year's Fair will be George "Scotty" Samson, Post, agriculture; W. B. Griffin, Tahoka, livestock and Mrs. Chester Gilmore, Idalou, women's department.

Easing Of Drought To Aid Dairymen

DALLAS, July 28 (AP)—North Texas dairymen should benefit by temporary relief from drought conditions, a dairy association spokesman said today. He said no increase in retail milk prices should result from the government's action to maintain Class 1 bulk milk prices at their present level through October.

The Department of Agriculture said prices for Class 1 milk, all bottled milk, would be retained at the July level through October in the North Texas milk marketing area.

"This should bring North Texas dairymen, who are facing increased production costs, temporary relief from the drought, J. O. Woodman, North Texas Milk Producers Assn. manager, said.

"However," he added, "it should not result in any retail price increase."

The USDA said it was acting on the basis of evidence presented at a hearing in Dallas July 11, showing extreme drought conditions.

At the hearing, Woodman said many North Texas dairymen could not stay in production in the face of a scheduled price drop because of expensive feed costs brought on by the drought, termed the "worst in the area's history."

Yarborough Casts Votes In Primary

AUSTIN, July 28 (AP)—Confident and broadly-smiling, Ralph Yarborough voted today in the democratic primary.

"I'll even let you see who I voted for," the candidate for governor laughed.

Yarborough was accompanied by his wife. They were greeted warmly by a number of friends.

Yarborough spent most of the day at his headquarters or at his law office.

An unusually heavy eraly-morning vote was cast in half a dozen voting places checked here early today.

Mitchell Uses 'Influence'

WASHINGTON, July 28 d-ddretary of Labor Mitchell person ally used "his influence" to bring the disputing parties together in the steel strike, an aide reported today.

He confirmed that Mitchell had met with the presidents of several of the big stele companies in New York on July 17 when negotiations were deadlocked.

The steel men, he said, indicated they would like to "get together" with David J. McDonald, president of the United Steel Workers union, and Mitchell helped arrange the meeting that night. A negotiation meeting had been scheduled for Pittsburgh the next day, but it was believed this was the first time the top officials of both union and companies had conferred on the strike.

"The secretary was involved both before and during the strike in attempting to bring the parties together," including trying to adjust their views, Mitchellk's aide said.

The steel strike, now in its 28th , was settled sesdaydarehtayit day, was settled yesterday with a three-year contract agreement. Actual end of the strike, howevzr, was not expected until formal signing of the contracts, sometime next week.

Mitchell's aide made his comments in reply to queries about published reports that both Mitchell and Secretary of Treasury Humphrey had personally joined in efforts to end the long strike.

Humphrey was not immediately available for comment.

It was reported they had made telephone contacts and met with the heads of U. S. Steel, Bethlehem and Republic.

At the White House, press secretary Murray Snyder said again today no White Ho se pressure was brought to bear in bringing an end to the strike.

Local Guard Given Rating Of Superior

A rating of superior was given in supply discipline to Co. D. 112th Armored Cavalry Regiment, Snyder's National Guard unit, last week.

The rating was awarded after an inspection made Thursday and Friday by Capt. Kenneth Franks of the state adjutant generals' department.

Franks said the company is superior in supply discipline "as evidenced by the fact that out of all this equipment a monetary loss of $3.90 was found in small equipment." The unit has property estimated at $1 million in value.

The inventory by the department is held each year.

Lt. John T. Lynch, Jr., commanding officer of the company, is charged with care of all the property, while CWO L. B. McCravey, unit administrative supply and maintenance techinician, is responsibile for keeping records of equipment and Sfc. Darrell Black, service center mechanic, must maintain equipment and property in the operation category.

The next formation of note to be held here will be annual command inspection by Col. Fredrick Weston, regimental commander of San Antonio, Aug. 19.

Teenagers at the Girl Scout Senior Roundoup in Michigan this year came from all of the 48 states, also from Alaska, Hawaii, Puerto Rico and the Panama Canal Zone. Patrols also came from 6 foreign countries.

Deep Creek Study Is Set By CRMWD

BIG SPRING — Directors of the Colorado River Municipal Water District may begin to chew on another phase of development of long range supplies when they meet here Thursday.

E. V. Spence, general manager, said that in addition to routine matters, he plans to discuss with the board the advisability of pressing studies on Deep Creek and other potential sources of potable water.

"The growth of Odessa, Big Spring and Snyder — our member cities — has exceeded our estimates," he observed. "While we have a sufficient reserve to meet the need of several years even in the face of severe drought, experience has taught us that orderly, economical development needs to be planned years in advance of actual accomplishment.

"With this in mind, I plan to discuss the findings of our studies to date in order to obtain the board's reaction toward moving into the second phase of supply development according to our original plans," he said.

The meeting is scheduled for 10 a.m. Thursday at the Settles Hotel.

ON CAUCUS PLANS

Decision Left To Johnson

AUSTIN, July 28 (AP)—Sen. Lyndon Johnson should decide whether Texas takes part in the proposed Aug. 1 caucus of Southern governor and Democratic delegation leaders, Gov. Shivers said today.

"I am not a delegate to the national convention", the governor said in a telegram to Govs. Marvin Griffin of Georgia and George Bell Timmerman Jr., of South Carolina.

They had asked Shivers to attend the session at Atlanta.

From his country home in Woodville, Shivers reminded the govergors Johnson "successfully sought the Texas delegation chairmanship" and won control of the May state convention which named the Texas delegation to Chicago.

Johnson, to win the delegation chairmanship and the favorite-son role, joined forces with Speaker Sam Rayburn and "the so-called labor liberals, who in turn controlled the state convention," Shivers' telegram said.

"Thus I am not a delegate to the national convention. Suggest Sen. Johnson should decide whether Texas participates in this southern democratic conference."

Shivers and Johnson fought a statewide battle for control of the state Democratic party prior to the May convention. The Johnson-Rayburn forces won a sweeping victory.

Shivers' term as governor ends in January. He did not seek re-election. Nor has he taken an active part in the governor's race.

Friends of Shivers have been urging conservative Democrats to turn out in force at today's precinct conventions in an effort to gain back some of their losses in state party affairs.

Many conservatives joined with Johnson and Rayburn in the May conventions, which were controlled by a coalition of conservatives and liberals.

OIL NEWS

Reminder Is Given To Oil Operators

Oil operators who are parties to joint operating agreements are required to file a federal partnership tax return on Form 1065 on or before Aug. 21, 1956, according to A. E. Fogle, Jr. administrative officer of the Abilene office of Internal Revenue Service.

The new partnership regulations, premulgated in final form on May 23, 1956, under Revenue Act of 1954, require a vast number of oil operators to file these returns. Many oil operators may elect in this return to exclude the joint operating agreement from the partnership regulations. However, failure to file the return and make the election will result in the venture being treated for income tax purposes as a partnership for all future years.

The regulations require the filing of a partnership return on all joint operating agreements regardless of the date of formation of the agreement and regardless of whether or not the agreement is in writing. In making the partnership return all members may elect to be excluded from all of the partnership provisions of the new regulations. Fogle re-emphasized the fact that a partnership return on Form 1065 must be prepared before Aug. 21, 1956. If the members desire to be excluded from the partnership regulations, they must attach a statement showing the unanimous election among all ebers or parties to the joint operating agreement to be excluded.

Fogle stated that the return should reflect the name and address of the venture or joint operating arrangement; a statement showing (a) the name and address of each member thereof, (b) a statement that the venture qualifies under subdivisions (i) and (iii) of Section 1.761-1(d)(2) and elects to be excluded from all of subchapter K of chapter 1 of the 1954 Code; and (c) a copy of the joint operating contract or other agreement under which the organization operates should be attached to the return. If they operate under an oral arrangement, a summary of the oral agreement should accompany the return. The election to be excluded from the partnership regulations, once made, is binding for the duration of that venture. Failure to file the return and make the election will result in the venture being treated for income tax purposes as a partnership for all future years.

Cores Are Taken In Upton Venture

ger at Monsanto Chemical Co., Lion Oil Division, No. 1 Kay, deep project in the Rodman-Noel field of Southwest Upton County, failed to develop oil, gas or water.

One-hour and 18-minutes test from 10,411 to 10,440 feet, recovered, 160-foot water blanket and 15 feet of mud.

Report Reds Have Found Huge Pool

By MAX B. SKELTON

HOUSTON, July 28 (AP)—A Petroleum geologist says the Russians are cagey on details but that big things are going on in the Ural-Volga oil area.

Dr. Brian Eby of Houston says the Russians are developing an "oil area" that exceeds, geographically, the fabulous East Texas Oil Field in size.

"It is one of the largest oil areas that we know about — some 60 miles long and 30 miles wide," Eby said. "It is not drilled up as yet and probably should be called an oil area instead of a field."

Eby has just returned from Moscow.

The huge "oil area" of 1,800 square miles is near Oktyabriski, about 1,000 miles east of Moscow. Since 1951 Oktyabrski has grown from an unknown village to an oil city of over 100,000.

"The Russians were friendly and gave me much information and material including geological and structural maps, but they were a little bit cagey about their discoveries in the Ural region," he said. "That is where big things are going on.

"They would not talk about the size of the wells, just didn't like to speak of it. They told about the number of (producing) sands but not the thickness."

The East Texas Field, biggest in the nation, is the only thing the United States has that would come close to comparing geographically with the potentially tremendous Oktyabriski "oil area" reported by Eby.

Discovered in 1930, East Texas is 43 miles long and averages 5 miles in width. It has produced over 3,200,000,000 barrels of crude. Experts believe its production will continue at least 30 or 40 years.

Eby said Russia increased its oil production from about 400,000 barrels daily in 1945 to about 1,400,000 a day last year but that major production areas have changed. He said the famous Baku producing region has been on the decline, dropping from over 400,000 barrels daily in 1940 to about 300,000 a day since 1950.

In 10 years, Eby said, Russia increased its oil production a million barrels a day but the United States increased its output by two million.

"In fact, Texas alone produced twice as much oil as Russia last year," he said, "but they never heard of Texas. I didn't talk with anyone who had heard of Texas."

Abandoned Well In Kimble To Be Tested

Barron Kidd and Cherry Brothers, both of Dallas, are to reenter, clean out and test an abandoned operation in Kimble County, nine miles southwest of Junction.

The project will be carried as Kidd and Cherry No. 4 Johnson. It is 990 feet north and 1,250 feet east of the northeast corner of section 93, M. A. Kadle survey, but in section 9, GC&SF survey.

The hole was plugged in June 1954 on a bottom of 1,254 feet. It is to be cleaned out to that level for the testing.

Coke Wildcat Quits

Kewanee Oil Co. No. 2 Rawlings, East Coke County wildcat, is dry and abandoned at 3,754 feet in the Swastika.

Site was 330 feet from north and west lines of the lease in section 23, C. Rubio survey and five miles southwest of Bronte.

Howard Well Is Completed

Another Fusselman oil producer has been assured in the Big Spring (multipay) field of Central Howard County.

It is Phillips petroleum Co. No. 2-B Johnie, which flowed 23 hours, making 141 barrels of oil through a 24-64 inch choke and perforations from 9,533 to 9,546 feet, after 500 gallons of mud acid.

Location is 2,006 feet from south and 660 feet from west lines of section 7, block 31, T-1-N, T&P survey, five miles northeast of Big Spring.

Andrews Well Is Completed

W. R. Weaver of Midland completed his No. 2 M. A. Thornberry as the second well in a new San Andres area of Central Andrews County.

The opener of the pool was Weaver's No. 1 Thornberry. The new well pumped 113 barrels of 32 gravity oil in 24 hours, plus 36 per cent water on the 24-hour potential test.

The production is through perforations at 4,556-82 feet which had been acidized with 10,000 gallons. The well is nine miles southwest of Andrews and 660 feet from south and west lines of section 3, block A-42, psl survey. It is one-half mile north of the No. 1 Thornberry.

Unconquered Peaks

HONG KONG, July 28 (AP)—Unconquered mountain peaks are getting hard to find these days, but Soviet and Red Chinese climbers have found one in Central Asia. It is 24,857-foot Muztagh Ata in the Pamir range. The Peiping radio said the party is on its way up, hoping to succeed where British climber Eric Shipgon once failed.

Stonewall Venture Plugged, Abandoned

American Trading & Production Corp. No. 1-16 Cash Lewis, East Stonewall County wildcat drilled to 6,025 feet and failed to find production.

It has been abandoned. The duster was five miles northeast of Old Glory and 660 feet from north and west lines of section 16, BBB-&S survey.

Project Plugged In Southeast Kent

C. L. Norsworthy plugged No. 1 Robert L. Frost, Southeast Kent County project, at 7,090 feet in the Ellenburger.

The duster is 13 miles south of Jayton, and 1,980 feet from west and 660 feet from north lines of section 35, block 3, H&TC survey.

Wildcats Abandoned In Gaines County

Cherry Brothers and others quit No. 1 F. A. Fox, North Gaines County wildcat, at 5,752 feet in the San Andres.

Location was 660 feet from north and west lines of the southwest quarter of section 176, block G, WTRR survey and five and one-quarter miles southeast of Seagraves.

Syrian Visit Planned

DAMASCUS, Syria, July 28 (AP)—A Soviet parliamentary delegation will visit Syria in September. The invitation is in return for a visit by a Syrian parliamentary group to the Soviet Union earlier this year.

Sukarno To Russia

JAKARTA, July 28 (AP) — Indonesia's President Sukarno heads for Russia, other Eastern European countries and Red China Aug. 25 on a tour lasting until Oct. 15.

SE Tom Green Well Shows

Amerada Petroleum Corp. No. 4 Denis, Southeast Tom Green County wildcat, developed gas on drillstem test of the Home Creek section.

Open four hours, the test from 3,775 to 3,793 feet, surfaced gas in 14 minutes at rate of 13,500 cubic feet daily. Recovery was 60 feet of gas-cut mud.

Site is 660 feet from south and 1,980 feet from most westerly east line of Indianola survey No. 17, nine miles south of Vancourt.

Well Testing In Stonewall

Jake L. Hamon of Dallas No. 1 Ruby Green was being tested Friday through perforations opposite the Bend conglomerate in North Stonewall County.

The project, mile west of the Gloriea-Gay (Bend conglomerate) field, flowed 32.36 barrels of new oil in 24 hours, through a 10-64-inch choke and perforations from 6,05 to 6,210 feet, after 250 gallons of mud acid.

Second Test Slated For Irion Wildcat

Stanolind Oil & Gas Co. No. 1-A A. A. Sugg, East Irion County wildcat to 8,500 feet drillstem tested for five hours at 3,605-47 feet. Recovery was 200 feet of drilling mud, 1,230 feet of salt water and 770 feet of gas cut salt water.

Another test was to be run at 3,647-82 feet. The well is seven miles north of Mertzon and 460 feet from south and 660 feet from east lines of section 14, block 2, H&TC survey.

Snyder Wins Area LL Title

The Snyder American Little League All-Stars are pointing for the District Little League Tournament today after winning a thrilling 2-1 decision over Sweetwater American in the Area Tournament championship finals at Big Spring Friday night.

The District Tournament will be played in Lubbock next week. Four teams will play in the District Tournament, Lubbock, Brownfield, Pampa and Snyder.

Snyder won Friday's exciting finals on the strong right arm of Charles Gladson, the witting of Gilbert Merritt and brilliant defensive play.

Gladson spun a neat 4-hitter, all Sweetwater hits being one-basers. He struck out four and walked only two. It was Gladson's second win in the tournament. He tossed a three-hitter to beat Rotan, 10-2, in the team's tourney debut Wednesday.

Merritt banged out three hits in three trips including a tremendous homerun smash that accounted for the first score of the game in the fourth inning.

Merritt then came back in the sixth to touch off Snyder's winning rally by leading off with a single. Jerry Guthrie and Jerry Franks followed with free passes to first to load the bases with none away.

After Merritt was forced at home on Freddie Miller's grounder, Guthrie raced across with the winning marker on Spencer Dyer's grounder to the Sweetwater second baseman, James Thomas. Thomas threw to the plate after scooping up Dyer's grounder but Dyer was across with plenty to spare and thus ended the closely fought contest.

Sndyer's defense backed Gladson up with three doubleplays. Gladson, himself, started one of the DP's, snaring a linedrive in the fourth inning and doubling a runner off at first.

Second baseman Steve Free and shortstop Merritt initiated the other two Snyder twin-killings.

Sweetwater pulled one doubleplay.

That play killed Sweetwater's last scoring threat and the Snyder went on to victory the following inning by snapping the 1-1 deadlock.

Mike Guy went the distance for Sweetwater and struck out eight, walked five and yielded five hits.

Free and Miller got Snyder's two hits besides the three Merritt garnered.

A large delegation of Snyder fans were on hand to see their youngsters come through with a fine performance that made it four straight years that Snyder has won the area years that Snyder has won the area title.

Cardinals Nip Slumping Giants

NEW YORK, July 28 (AP)—Jim Konstanty helped Wilmer (Vinegar Bend) Mizell out of an eighth-inning jam to save a 3-2 victory for St. Louis today as the New York Giants lost their 16th in their last 18 starts.

Mizell was rolling along with a three-hitter and had driven in a Cardinal run when he suddenly ran into control trouble in the eighth. Leading 3-1, he was replaced by the veteran Konstanty with one out after he walked pinch-hitter Bobby Hofman and ran a 2-0 count on pinch-hitter Foster Castleman.

Bosox Crush White Sox By 13-1 Tally

CHICAGO, July 28 (AP) — The Boston Red Sox backed up Willard Nixon's eight-hit pitching with a 19-hit attack today to crush the Chicago White Sox 13 to 1. The defeat was the 17th for the White Sox in the last 20 games.

Nixon, who hadn't won a game since June 30, had a five-hit shutout until the ninth when Nellie Fox singled, advanced on an infield out and scored on a single by Larry Doby. Nixon walked no one and struck out seven.

Moegle Denies He Is A 'Holdout'

HOUSTON, Tex., July 28 (AP)—Dicky Moegle, San Francisco 49er halfback, denied reports today he is a holdout for the 1956 season.

"We're not too far off on salary terms now," the former Rice Institute All-America said. "I'm almost in the process of signing."

Maglie, Brooks Stop Cubs, 6-3

BROOKLYN, July 28 (AP) — Sal Maglie pitched Brooklyn to its seventh straight victory over the Chicago Cubs today, 6-3, with the help of a pair of two-run homers by Sandy Amoros and Duke Snider.

Snider's homer, following a single by Pee Wee Reese in the seventh, was his 25th of the season, tying Cincinnati's Ted Kluszewski for the National League lead. Amaros' clout was his seventh of the year with Ransom Jackson on base in the fourth.

Orioles Halt Late Indian Surge To Win

CLEVELAND, July 28 (AP)—With the bases loaded and one out in the last of the ninth inning, Billy Loes struck out two batters to save an 8-6 victory for the Baltimore Orioles over the Cleveland Indians today.

Tito Francon's three-run homer was the big blow in a six-run Baltimore rally in the fifth inning that drove starter and loser Mike Garcia to the showers. Baltimore pushed across single runs in the eighth and ninth off Art Houtteman and Don Mossi to give them the margin of victory.

BUCKIN' THE LINE

By BUCK FRANCIS
News Sports Editor

YOU WON'T SEE MANY Little League games as well played as the area championship final between Snyder American and Sweetwater American at Big Spring Friday night.

Tension was high on the part of both teams before the game even started as it always is when teams from Snyder and Sweetwater clash on an athletic field.

With the tension being as high as it was, one would think the boys would have been inclined to "boot" the ball around some.

But it wasn't that way at all. Both teams came up with some brilliant defensive plays. Four doubleplays were executed, three by the Snyder team.

It was a nip-and-tuck struggle right down the wire. Snyder finally winning it by breaking a 1-1 deadlock in the bottom of the sixth inning to win.

Don't believe anyone with a weak heart could have with-stood the tensley-fought game Friday.

Nearly everyone present, especially the mamas and papas of the boys playing, "died a thousand deaths" before the game ended.

Skipper Back In Harness

Skipper got out of a sick bed to take in Friday's championship game. He missed Snyder American's first two games in the tournament due to illness.

He said he still wasn't feeling too "chirpy" Friday but he didn't want to miss the title game.

Skipper is fortunate in having two capable assistants, H. F. Franks and Richard Pena.

Messrs. Franks and Pena did a fine job in handling the boys in Skipper's absence.

Well, we have two baseball teams venturing out in tournament play on foreign fields this week.

The Snyder Pony Leaguers will go to the District Tournament at Abilene this week with the Snyder Americans going to Lubbock for the Little League district tournament.

Pairings for both the Pony and Little League district tournaments may be found elsewhere in this section.

Defensive Play Big Factor For American LL

The Snyder American's defense sparkled throughout the LL tournament at Big Spring, one thing that helped them along to the tournament title.

If the Snyder lads can keep up their pitching and fielding in coming games as they put forth at Big Spring, the hitting will take care of itself.

Well, he's pretty much over 12 year's old. He'll be 13 on Aug. 1. Had his birth date fell one day earlier, he would have been ineligible to play Little League ball this season.

Ware Dominates National Batting

Weldon Ware, pitcher-first baseman for the champion Lions Club Cubs, hogged all honors in the National Little League hitting for the 1956 season.

Ware slammed out 34 hits in 51 trips for a .667 mark, to lead his nearest pursuer by 130 percentage points.

Ware led the league in most runs, 38; most doubles, 12; and teammate Bob Smith and Mike Morris of the Giant for most homeruns, 4. Ware's 34 hits was also high and his one triple tied a host of other for most three-baggers.

Two other players hit better than .400. They were Morris and Ray Fenter, both of the Giants with .486 and .477 averages respectively.

Thirteen others hit .300 or better.

Following are the National League batting averages for the 1956 season as compiled by the Snyder News sports department:

Brooklynite Seeded No. 1 In Jr. Tennis

KALAMAZOO, Mich., July 28 (AP) —A Brooklyn boy, Ronald Holmberg, is seeded No. 1 in the junior division of the National Junior and Boys Tennis Tournament which opens in Kalamzoo Monday.

Holmberg, the 1956 Wimbledon junior titlist, will lead a contingent of 128 in the junior (18-and-under) division.

Both divisions are wide open in the 41st annual championships.

Gigantic Texas Coaching School 1 Week Off

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
The Associated Press

In 1930 a scattering of Texas high school football coaches met in Houston and formed an association. Three years later they decided there should be a coaching school. They held one at San Antonio with 65 coaches attending. D. X. Bible, then coach of Nebraska, was the only lecturer.

One week from now the 24th annual coaching school will be held at San Antonio. There are now 1,972 members of the Texas High School Coaches Assn. That's the same number that brought a record enrollment of the coaching school at San Antonio last year. Indications are that a new record will be made at Lubbock.

The Texas coaching school is the largest in the world. There isn't anything to compare with it.

The staff is large, the all-star football and basketball games draw huge crowds and the clinic has a jammed schedule all five days of its run.

At first the school was only for football. But in 1941 it was thrown open to other sports. Basketball, baseball and track were added. This year baseball will be missing because it was found there wasn't enough interest.

The biggest crowd ever attracted for the all-star football game was 19,657 at Houston in 1953. Fort Worth had largest crowd for the all-star basketball game —4p934 in 1952.

Chances are that both of those marks will be broken at Lubbock. They are looking for 20,000 in football and with a new coliseum expect perhaps 5,000 in basketball.

The coaching school 'faculty" is attractive. Paul Bryant of Texas A&M and Abe Martin of TCU will lecture on the split T formation in football. These coaches are strong rivals in the Southwest Conference. A&M beat TCU last year, the only game the Frogs lost in rolling to the championships.

Jess Hill of Southern California will talk about his multiple offense that so impressed Coach Ed Price of Texas last season that Price is installing it.

E. O. Hayes of SMU, who has built himself a basketball dynasty and appears ready to cut a wide swath in national ranks, and Ken Loeffler, the Texas Aggie coach, will bring everybody up on the latest in the cage sport.

Oliver Jackson of Abilene Chrsitian College, producer of track greats, will lecture on his sport. He can tell the track coaches how he developed the probably Olympic sprint champion in Bobby Morrow.

It will be a month before football season officially starts but for all purposes the gridiron game will be with us as the coaching school held. Football will be about all you'll hear from then on.

Basketball captain Ron Judson and baseball captain-elect Larry Blades will be forwards on Dartmouth's 1955-56 basketball team.

Groat Injured

PITTSBURGH, July 28 (AP) — Shortstop Dick Groat of the Pittsburgh Pirates will be out of the lineup several more days with a left thumb injury suffered in a fielding play against the Cincinnati Redlegs June 20.

A Priate spokesman said Groat's thumb is still swollen and sore. Eddie O'Brien has been playing shortstop.

ANCHORS AWAY—Three Snyder fishermen are pictured above shoving off on a fishing venture Wednesday in the southern portion of Lake J. B. Thomas. They are, from front to back, Blacky Lemmert, C. J. Killgo and D. B. Scribner. The trio, frequent visitors at Lake Thomas, reported that Tuesday's "haul" wasn't as big as usual but among their catches were six channel cat, one a two-pounder. Play Finished In City Golf Tournament

Cole won the First Flight via default from Earl Fish who is vacationing in Reddob, N. M., while Baker edged Lyle Alexander, 2-1, in the Fourth Flight finals.

All other final matches had been played prior to the past week.

Donald Ray Scott won the championship of the tournament for the second straight time. Other flight winners were Hollis Jones in the Second Flight and Sam Parrish in the Third Flight.

Texettes Win Doubleheader

The Snyder Texettes won both games of a doubleheader Friday night at Towle Memorial Park.

The Texettes defeated the Snyder Negro All-Star team, 12-11, in the opening game, and then disposed of Coahoma, 13-12, in the second game.

The first game went eight innings.

Wanda McNally was the winning pitcher in the first game while Juanita Farren was credited with the win in the nightcap.

Next on tap for the Texettes will be next Wednesday at Midland.

The Texette record to date is eight wins and four losses.

Snyder Pony Stars To Meet Garland In Tourney Debut

Snyder's Pony League All-Stars will meet Garland in the first round of the District 6 Pony League Tournament Monday at Abilene.

Game-time Monday will be 6:15. Two other games are on tap Monday that will see all six teams in the tournament in action. Mineral Wells will play the winner of the Hamlin-Childress series in the first game at 4 p.m. Monday. Hamlin and Childress was playing its "rubber game" of a three-game series last night for the right to compete in the district tournament.

Clashing in the third game Monday will be Abilene and Sweetwater at 8:30.

The district tournament will be a double-elimination affair. There will be two games played each night through Friday after Monday's triple-header. Starting times of the games starting Tuesday will be 6 and 9:15 p.m. All tournament games will be played in the Abilene Pony League Park located at the old airport east of Abilene.

Winner of the district tournament will qualify for Tournament at Kingsville the first week in August.

AT HOUSTON

Boys Club Off To Jr. Olympics

Eight members of the Snyder Boys Club will leave at noon today for Houston where they'll compete in the Southern AAU Junior Olympics Monday and Tuesday nights.

The Junior Olympics that annually attracts hundreds of athletes, will be held at the University of Houston Stadium.

Guy Sullivan, director of the Boys Club, will take the following boys to Houston:

15-16 year-old-division — David Hale.

11 years-and-under — Benny Minor, Stuart Long and Jerry Mayo.

Two other Snyder boys will also compete at Houston but will be running on the Abilene team. They are Bud Morgan and Powell Berry.

Morgan will enter the 180-year low hurdles, Berry in the 120-yard high hurdles. Both will participate in the 16-17 year old division.

The Boys Club team will depart at 12:30 p.m. today and will arrive at Houston late tonight. They will be quartered at Oberholtzer Hall on the University of Houston campus.

The group will return to Snyder Wednesday.

Palmer Takes Lead In Eastern By 3

BALTIMORE, July 28 (AP) — Arnold Palmer, a golfer with a wallop when he connects, ripped off a three-under-par 69 today to take a four-stroke lead into the final round of the $19,000 Eastern Open.

The third-round 69 by the powerful hitter from Latrobe, Pa., gave him a total of 205; 11 under par for that stage of the game on Mount Pleasant's 6,895 - yard course.

Palmer, two inches under six feet and weighing 170, went into the third round with a three-stroke lead over Jerry Kesselring of Toronto and Babe Lichardus of Hillside, N.J.

He came out of it with four strokes on Dow Finsterwald of Bedford Heights, Ohio, who matched Palmer's 69.

Kesselring was unable to better par 72 and fell back into a third-place tie with Art Wall Jr. of Pocono Manor Pa., and Bob Rosburg of San Francisco at 211, six strokes behind the pacesetter.

Palmer appeared to be about to blow the tournament wide open by being four under par through 13 holes, making birdies on the 10th, 11th and 13th.

But he hit two poor shots on the 447-yard 15th for a bogey 5 and then did the same thing on the next hole. He regained a three-stroke edge on par by sinking an 18-foot putt for a birdie 2 on the 201-yard 17th. The best scores of the third round were a 66 by Frank Stranahan, the defending champ from Toledo, Ohio, and 67 by Hal Williams of Tuscaloosa, Ala., but they were already so far out that Williams was listed only to 215 and Stranahan to 218.

The 60 scorers up to a total 224 continue in the final round tomorrow, cutting off 30 of those who played today.

Stan Keeps Streak Alive Despite Injury

NEW YORK, July 28 (AP)—Stan Musial was in the starting lineup despite a painful foot injury as the St. Louis Cardinals met the New York Giants today, thus preserving the longest consecutive game streak among active national League players.

Musial's streak of having played in 710 straight games was threatened when he was forced out of last night's game after banging a foul tip off his right foot while batting. Ice packs were applied to the bruise, however, and Musial was recovered sufficiently to open at first base today.

With appearances in 711 sucessive games, Musial is 111 games short of the league record of 822 set by Gus Suhr of Pittsburgh from 1931 to 1937.

Bill Lillard of Chicago set a money earning mark in the 1956 ABC bowling tournament when he earn- Detroit won $2,068.33 in 1955.

Snyder Fisherman Has Big Day Fishing On Gulf Coast

"From Snyder, Texas, way out on the New Mexico border to Horn Island is quite a haul but former Ocean Springs boy made it and came back with over 300 pounds of fish last week, one of the biggest catches of the season.

"Sherman Wright, whom a lot of folk will remember, got kind of homesick for the gulf coast and some fishing so he came home last week.

"Wright, fishing with two New Orleans men, went out for one day of fishing.

"And what a day!

"This is what they brought home: 6 Lemon Fish; 15 Bonita; 28 Spanish Mackerel; 7 Blue Fish; 24 Dolphin; all weighing in total 360 pounds of fish.

"A few more trips like that and those boys out on the Texas desert can start eating fish sure 'nuff.

"And just to make it binding, they caught them on Friday 13th."

Well, that's the first time we knew Snyder was on a "desert." But considering the amount of rain fall we've had in recent months, we may as well be on a desert.

Wright wrote on the above clipping he sent to a friend here:

"Made four other trips like this."

When Wright returns to Snyder, he should be able to host a fish fry to the entire community.

Not all of the fish are being caught on the Gulf Coast, though.

Charles Becke and M. G. Schuette, both of Slaton, 14 channel cat up to 4½ pounds.

E. J. Raschke and Alvin Raschke, Colorado City, caught 16 channel cat weighing up to 4 pounds on a rod and reel.

Preston Stokes, O'Donnell, bagged 9 channel cat and bass averaging 3 pounds on rod and reel.

Blacky Lammert, D. B. Scribner and C. J. Killgo landed one 2-lb. channel cat plus 4 or 5 other channell cat and one good sized carp and bass.

Robin Having Roughest Year

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—"You tell me what's wrong with me; I don't know," says Robin Roberts of the Philadelphia Phillies.

Roberts, the brilliant right-hander who has won 20 or more games in each of the past six years, is experiencing the roughest season since his rookie year in 1948, when he won seven and lost nine, the only time he wound up under .500 in the won-and-lost column.

The highest paid pitcher in baseball—he receives an estimated $50,000 a year—Roberts has won 10 and lost 11 so far in 1956. His earned run average is 4.34. When you note that his highest previous major league ERA was 3.69 in 1950, and that he hasn't been above 3.28 in the past six seasons, it gives you some idea of what a miserable time he is having.

He's been knocked out of the box seven times this year, twice each by Pittsburgh, Cincinnati and by St.Louis and Milwaukee, once Brooklyn. He's really been hit hard. Take last night for example. The Cardinals kayoed him with seven runs on nine hits, including two doubles, two triples and a home run.

True, he has lost three or four such games this year, but of late, he has been given plenty of runs. He's giving the opposition more.

Three Quints Pull Out Of Sugar Bowl

NEW ORLEANS, July 28 (AP)—The Midwinter Sports Assn. said today three schools had withdrawn from the four-team Sugar Bowl Basketball Tournament Dec. 28-29 because of Louisiana's new law banning athletic contests between Negroes and whites.

Paul E. DeBlanc, president of the group that sponsors the week-long Sugar Bowl sports festival, said the three universities that had withdrawn were Notre Dame, Dayton and St. Louis.

The University of Kentucky is the other team invited to the tournament.

DeBlanc said officials of Dayton, Notre Dame and St. Louis contended the new law, which becomes effective Oct. 15, "denies students regularly enrolled and eligible under conference and national intercollegiate athletic rules the opportunity to represent their schools."

DeBlanc had no comment to make on the Sugar Bowl plans for the tournament.

The Sugar Bowl previously had asked Gov. Earl Long to veto the measure banning interracial contests.

When he signed the bill, Long said on the basis of telegrams and letters he had received, sentiment in favor of it was more than 4-1.

Senators Edge Past Detroit Tigers, 6-5

DETROIT, July 28 (AP) — Right-hander Paul Foytack struck out 15 Washington batters, equalling the major league high for the season, but the Nationals turned back the Detroit Tigers 6-5 today on Lou Berberet's two-run single in the eighth inning.

Foytack, a 25-year-old fast-baller in his first season as a major league starter, lost out in a three-run Washington splurge fashioned on a pair of walks, three singles and an error by center fielder Al Kaline.

In running his season's strikeout total to 108 in 126 innings, Foytack equalled the mark set May 19 by Cleveland's Herb Score. Score's feat also came against Washington in a 5-1 victory.

Some Tobacco Farmers To Gain From Recent Change

By SAM DAWSON

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—The cigarette makers have rolled with the punches in the last year or so with fair success. Now the tobacco farmer may face some new problems of his own as a result.

His crop prospects look reasonably good today. But some new notes have crept into the chant of the tobacco auctioneer. Thank filter-tipped cigarettes, and the move to cut manufacturing costs by using parts of the leaf once discarded.

These developments could affect both prices and quantity of purchases this year. And the appearance of foreign competition in world markets adds still another uncertainty.

Tobacco men here say that the new crop, with picking now starting in some sections, has been helped greatly by well-timed rains, in contrast to the droughts that plagued large sections in the last two or three years. Some good hot nights should improve the whole crop considerably.

Manufacturers are happier too since sales have rebounded from the bad dip that followed health scare talk. For the nation, cigarette production in the first four months of this year was 6 per cent ahead of the previous year. The outlook for the rest of the year is good, producers add.

In dealing with the talk about a possible link of lung cancer with smoking—about which there is still a very wide difference of opinion—the cigarette makers have profited from the big shift to filter-tipped smokes which helped them recapture temporarily lost sales.

But keen rivalry between brands has led the tobacco companies to new production devices. Some smokers complained that the smoke lost much of its strength, as well as its tars, in passing through filters. Tobacco men say that this has led to experimenting with heavier bodied tobaccos, letting more strength get through.

Farmers who have heavier — and formerly lower priced varieties of tobacco — stand to gain by the higher demand this year for the leaves they grow. But before the filter-tipped cigarette made its great gains, some tobacco companies were emphasizing mildness and advising farmers to plant prime quality tobacco, then commanding higher prices.

These farmers complain that this year when their crop comes to market they may find lessened demand for the quality leaf than they had anticipated, while their neighbor down the road who stayed with the stronger, variety may see his once low-or medium-priced leaf climb up the value scale. Some manufacturers reply there will be room for both in meeting consumer tastes.

Farmers are also watching some manufacturers try for mileage from the leaf. This process, commonly called homogenized, but referred to by its users as reconstituted tobacco, makes use of the stems and fragments formerly discarded. Tobacco research scientists say all can be chopped up, mixed with glycerine to form a paste. Rolled out into a sheet, if is dried and shredded, ready for packing a cigarette. It cuts costs, but fewer leaves are bought if more of each one can be used.

Temporary Chairmen Named By Club Here

John M. Black has been elected to serve as temporary chairman for the Toastmasters Club, a new club in the process of organization here.

Initial meeting to begin plans for the organization was held Friday night.

The district governor of the Toastmasters Clubs in this area will be invited to attend the next meeting, which is scheduled for 7 p.m. Thursday in the Village Restaurant. At that time organizational details for the new club will be completed.

Membership in the club is limited to 30. However, there are still some vacancies and men interested in obtaining more information on the Toastmasters Club may call Black at 3-7370 for additional details.

CARRIED A LOT OF MAIL IN 50 YEARS — W. H. 'Bill' Massey, of Itasca, is going on his 50th year as a local rural mail carrier. He started on Route 1, Itasca on July 1, 1907 and has continued on the same route since.

Old Rural Carrier To Keep Route

ITASCA (AP)—W. H. Massey is in his 50th year as a local rural mail carrier.

"I've enjoyed every day of my work," he said. "I'm still eligible to serve three more years. And if the Lord is willing to go with me I'll be carrying the mail to the finest folks in the world, the people on my route, until I'm 70 years old."

Massey made his first delivery on Route 1 of this Central Texas town July 1, 1906 and has been on the same route ever since.

"In the beginning Route 1 was 24 miles long, and it took steady traveling to cover the distance on a horse. Now it's 42 miles long."

Carrying the mail has never been easy, and before good roads and cars it was quite a task at times.

"During the rainy seasin—and it seemed to rain a lot more both winter and summer then—mud was hub-deep on a buggy, or cart, for long periods. Then we rode horseback, mostly. Later we had glass enclosed mail wagons."

Bill has used just about every sort of vehicle except an airplane and a boat in getting the mail to his patrons.

Representative Has New Supporter Now

FORT WORTH, July 28 (AP)—Nothing bucks up spirits of a man in public office like gaining a new supporter on election day.

That's what happened to Rep. Jim Wright of Weatherford today—he had a new citizen on his side, one Parker Stephen Wright.

Parker Stephen was born to Mrs. Wright in Washington early today, about 2½ hours after the midnight adjournment of Congress.

He weighed 8 pounds, 10 ounces.

The Wrights have three other children, Jimmy 11, Virginia 6, and Patricia, 5.

Night Baseball

Fall, Winter Cover Crops Urged Here

Farmers throughout this area are now making plans to use all sorts of crops and methods to furnish cover for their land this fall and winter.

Skip-row planting and summer fallowing of large acreages has been accompanied by clean tillage to keep down weeds to give the farmers a considerable amount of clean tilled ground.

When moisture becomes available, many farmers will be doing something to furnish cover for the land. Some already have. J. N. Eicke, for example, has planted a large acreage of blackeye peas in the two center blank rows between his cotton rows on his farm east of Snyder.

Eicke got enough moisture a week ago to plant the blackeyes. Summer legumes planted in this manner serves several purposes, including putting nitrogen and organic matter into the soil and acting as a cover crop to reduce soil blowing.

Often, blowing soil can increase the cost of cotton harvesting tremendously. It is not uncommon for the cost of harvesting to increase as much as one-third per bale by the blowing soil which lodges in cotton bolls.

Guy Moore, work unit conservationist for the Soil Conservation Service here, says now is the time to begin work to keep down the blowing which could occur when the cotton opens.

The planting of legumes, grain sorghums, sudan grass, millet, or vetch and rye, in rows or sown during the last cultivation, will help. Small grains and vetch and rye would probably serve the purpose better if sown during the last cultivation, he said. Planter boxes can be placed on the equipment for that cultivation, and the seed can be sown as the cultivator kills the last weed crop.

Late thick feed planted in the blanks will help keep down blowing and furnish something to build organic matter and condition the soil. It is advisable, Moore said, that farmers, in choosing a variety of combine milo to plant in the blanks for a cover to reduce blowing, to pick one which makes heavy foliage, especially if it is being planted too late to harvest.

Sudan grass makes a good cover if ungrazed and allowed to form a dead cover when frost comes.

Millet should not be overlooked, Moore said, for a cover in the blanks. It is fast growing and fast maturing, and it can mature when planted after Aug. 1. If planted thick in rows, millet will furnish a quick cover to keep moving soil particles out of the open cotton boll.

There is a possibility of added income through the harvesting of millet seed in the fall. Millet usually brings a good price, and chickens will eat it readily for a scratch feed.

803 Sign Up For Soil Bank

Almost 30 per cent of Scurry County's total cotton acreage eligible for Soil Bank careage reserve will be taken out of production within the next few days.

As the deadline for signing acreage reserve agreements passed Friday, there had been 803 applications. There were 261 agreements signed during the five office days of last week.

These represented a total of 25,956.1 acres and monetary value of $329,999.67 in cotton and wheat land.

Of the total, 5,773.8 acres was in wheat and 20,182.3 acres was in cotton. Henry Burchett, county office manager for the Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation committee, said the county had a total cotton allotment of 69,125.4 acres for soil bank purposes.

After the acreage reserve cotton is taken out of production, that will leave about 49,000 acres of cotton eligible for harvest. Last year, more than 73,000 acres of cotton was planted, and the county harvested slightly more than 20,000 bales of cotton. With good rains, however, the county can still equal that number of bales this season.

Payments to be made on the acreage reserve program are $31,482 for wheat land and $298,517.67 for cotton land. That is an average of about $14.80 per acre on cotton and $5.45 per acre on wheat.

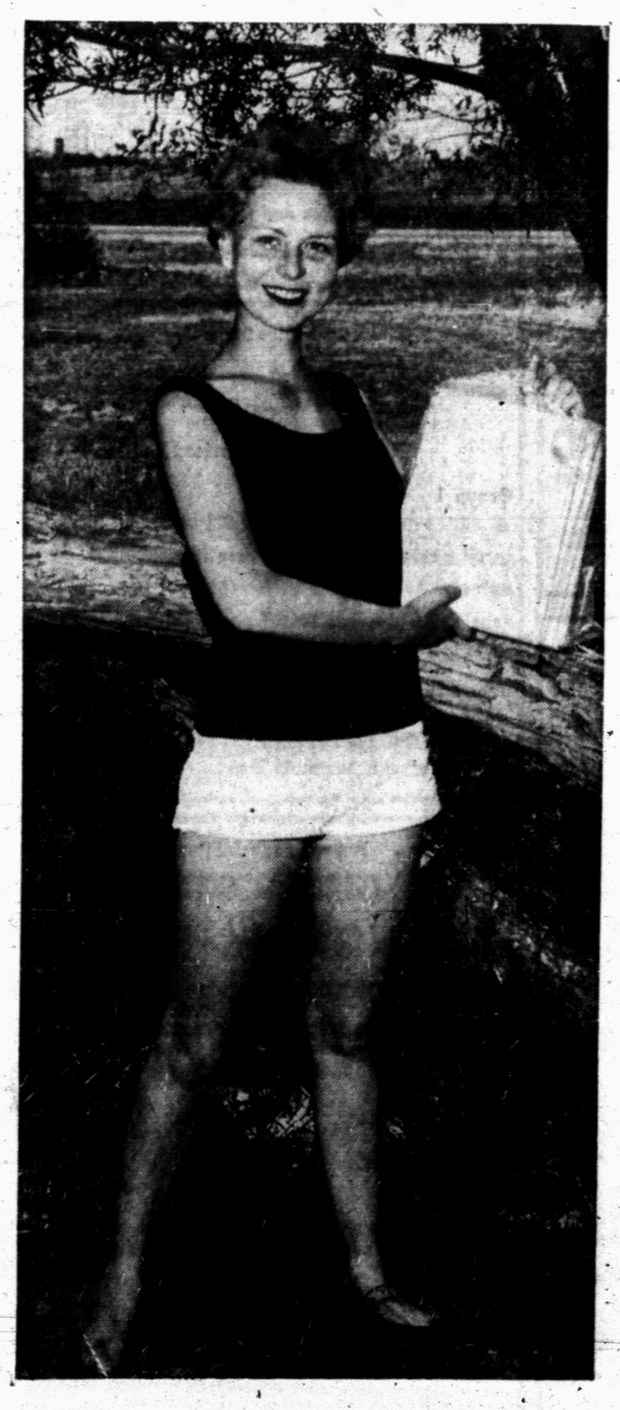

Burchett said crops which are under the acreage reserve agreement must be plowed up by Aug. 3. Sometime after that date, the ASC will send reporters out to check the acreage included in agreements.

Suez Canal Nationalization May Bring Nasser's Downfall

ROME, July 2 (AP)—Gamal Abdel Nasser's nationalization of the Suez Canal may well bring about his fall from power before many months.

That is the opinion of Middle East experts who have been in on-the-spot contact with Egyptian developments over a period of years.

Anti-Western elements in the Arab world outside Egypt—and who lost their Palestinian homes when Israel was created—enthusiastically support Nasser. Each new Nasser action against the West wins their cheers. But Nasser never has been able to win over his own people because of internal problems which receive little attention abroad.

Even before Nasser nationalized the Suez Canal and Britain retaliated by freezing Egypt's 364-million-dollar sterling balance, the Egyptian economic situation was bleak. The highly publicized Nasser revolution failed to produce economic reforms which would have raised the abysmal living standard of the Egyptian peasant. Financial restrictions and red tape choked Egyptian commerce. Interference in commerce by economically ignorant army officers led the Nile republic close to disaster.

In a country where economic development was urgent, Nasser depleted foreign exchange balances to purchase guns and planes. The cost of living remained high. Unemployment has been widespread. Land reform reached only a fraction of the landless peasants. Even those who benefitted grumbled more than they cheered over the clumsy way reform was handled.

The United States' bold decision to withdraw financial support from the Aswan Dam pulled the cornerstone from under Nasser's economic development program. Unless he can find some way to finance the dam, the growing Egyptian population faces increased austerity.

This has dual significance:

1. Nasser's many enemies inside Egypt almost certainly will take heart and increase efforts against him.

2. To repress this growing opposition, Nasser must depend increasingly on dictatorial devices the brute strength of the army, rabble rousing speeches to arouse hatred against the West and fewer civil liberties. This increases internal unrest.

An important factor little appreciated abroad is the Egyptian belief that the West has decided that Nasser must go. It is true that British influence has declined in the postwar years. Yet Egyptians still have an exaggerated conception of secret British power. Many believe in their hearts that Britain still can drive any Arab leader from power and they do not want to be on the losing side.

Moreover, Nasser has made a poor show aboard. The much-touted Brioni conference, where he met with President Tito of Yugoslavia, Prime Minister Nehru of India, cost Nasser prestige. Nehru clearly emerged as the strongest figure. Privately, both Yugoslavs and Indians expressed surprise at the lack of background knowledge on world problems displayed by Nasser.

U. S. withdrawal of Aswan Dam support added to the Egyptian feeling that Nasser is walking a lonely road. Egyptians, remembering what happened to Prime Minister Mohammed Mossadegh [illegible] did not miss the possible parallel of Suez Canal nationalization.

None of his enemies can shake Nasser from power without support from the army. The strong man still can count on his old friend, Gen. Abdel Hakim Amer, commander in chief of Egyptian armed forces. But some 300 other key officers who supported the Nasser revolution have been removed from their commands and given civilian jobs.

Moreover, there has been friction inside the ruling group. Nasser and former Deputy Premier Gamel Salem are cool toward each other. A serious crisis might force them to close ranks—but it also might split Salem off as a possible opposition leader.

Confronted with these problems, plus decisive Western actions in retaliation against his abrupt Suez decision, Nasser is in trouble at home. The opposition is jelling and growing stronger. Those who know Egypt best feel the odds on Nasser's survival for any extended period are growing long.

Canyon Dam Question Lies With Board

AUSTIN, July 28 (AP)—The question as to whose plan will be used to build and control Canyon Dam near New Braunfels rested today with the State Water Board.

The controversial and confusing hearing closed yesterday after 16 days and 12,000 pages of testimony from engineers, geologists and water experts.

The board must decide whether to allow:

1. San Antonio's plan to be used for constructing the dam. It would increase the elevation to 948 feet and have about 800,000 acre feet of conservation storage. From this the city would pipe 100,000 acre feet for its municipal use.

2. Or, the Guadalupe Blanco River Authority's plan to be used. It would impound 366,400 acre feet of water in conservation.

The board's decision will set a precedent for allocations of water.

San Antonio attorney John Wheeler stressed the city was first in right and in priority and that the applications should be considered on a statewide and not watershed basis.

Victor Bouldin of Houston, representing the GBRA and other protestants, emphasized the board's decision must be to deny San Antonio's request and grant the GBRA's.

Favorite Sounds

MONTREAL, July 28 (AP)—U.S. airmen on the NATO base at Keflavik, Iceland, grew nostalgic for one of their favorite sounds—the blast of a locomotive whistle. S. F. Dingle, vice president of the Canadian National Airways, heard about it and sent a whistle via the Royal Canadian Air Force. To make things more realistic, he included an engineer's cap.

VOL. 7, NO. 77 SNYDER, TEXAS, SUNDAY, JULY 29, 1956 SECTION B

Many phases of the finer points of homemaking were demonstrated and taught in the annual 4-H Club encampment held at the Murphy school house in Borden County last week by Scurry and Borden 4-H club girls. Jackie Martin, left, and Barbara Martin, right, were two of the older 4-H Club girls who led instruction in hobby craft for the younger members. Miss Ruby Butts, center, county home demonstration agent, supervises the 4-H Club activities and her office sponsored the encampment. (Lee Watson photographs)

Annual 4-H* Girls Encampment

Photography was one of the chief subjects of instruction, as well as an engaging activity for 4-H Club girls in the Murphy encampment. Betty Pylant, left, demonstrates use of a slide projector, while other girl instructors at right watch the demonstration. They are from left: Sadie Fern Hillis, Endera House and Ann Miller.

MRS. JOHN JAY BOREN

Dr. Boren, Miss Gottlieb Wed In Washington, D.C.

Of local interest is the marriage of Dr. John Jay Boren, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Boren, 2701 Thirty-second Street, to the former Miss Nona Gottlieb, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Gottlieb of Denver, Colo.

The parents of both the bride and groom, as well as Mrs. J. W. Bondurant of Fort Worth, wer e in Washington, D. C. to attend the ceremony, which took place in the garden of the All Souls' Church at 6 p.m. on Saturday. The Rev. A. Powell Davies officiated. A reception was held in the Georgetown home of Mr. and Mrs. Ward Tanyer.

The bride is a resident of Washington, where she has been working for the National Academy of Sciences and attending the American University.

Dr. Boren, now associated with the Merck Institute of Therapeutic Research of Sharp and Dohme in Philadelphia, graduated from the University of Texas in 1949, and received his Ph.D from Columbia University in 1953. He served two years in the Armed Forces as a research psychologist in Walter Reed Army Medical Center.

The prospective bridegroom is a graduate of Honey Grove High School and attended Texas A & M and is now employed with Sperry-Sun in Odessa.

Activities Of 4-H Camp Are Discussed

Tennie Eades, Yvonne Frazier, Ginger Austin and Cleatis Frith, all members of various Snyder 4-H Clubs, presented a program for the Tri-Community Home Demonstration Club, when it met Wednesday in the home of Mrs. Lewis Bird, 600 Thirty-third Street.

The girls gave the 4-H Club prayer and pledge and told their activites at the 4-H camp, held in the Murphy schoolhouse, July 24 and 25.

During the business meeting members were reminded of the clubs annual watermelon feast to be held this year at the pavilion in Towle Memorial Park August 24 at 7:30 p.m.

Refreshments were served to seven members, the 4-H girls and Miss Lou Bird of Levelland, also a guest.

If you keep a bottle of raspberry syrup on hand for use in summer drinks, use it once in a while for fruit desserts. Pour the syrup over grapefruit sections or cubed fresh pineapple, for instance.

MR. AND MRS. WAYNE SHUFFIELD
(Craft Studio Photograph)

Charlotte Chauncy Is Bride Of Wayne Shuffield

Before an archway of greenery and baskets of white gladioli Charlotte Chauncy became the bride of Wayne Shuffield. The double ring ceremony was performed July 14 at 6:30 p.m. in the Greenhill Baptist Church by the Rev. Hubert Austin, pastor.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Chauncy, East Twenty-fourth Street, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Shuffield of Shamrock.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white dress with a lace bodice and the full skirt that was ruffled into part of the back which was of gathered net. She wore a small hat of seed pearls with a fingertip veil. For her flowers she carried a bouquet of white gardenias and pink roses atop a white Bible.

Maid of honor was Jody Brister of Abilene, who wore a blue crystellette dress and carried a colonial bouquet of roses. The bridesmaids were Joyce Shuffield, sister of the groom and Mary Linda Chauncy, sister of the bride. They wore pink dresses identical to that of the maid of honor.

Flower girls were Rebecca Burrows and Kermit and Glenda Chauncy of Odessa. Donnie Chauncy, nephew of the bride was the ring bearer. Mrs. Hubert Austin was the pianoist.

Best man was Curtis Tate, brother-in-law of the groom and the groomsmen were Don Savage and James Parker.

The reception was held immediately after the ceremony in the fellowship hall of the church. The three tier cake, topped with a miniature bride and groom, was served by Peggy Chauncy, sister of the bride. Frances Parker registered the guests in the brides book.

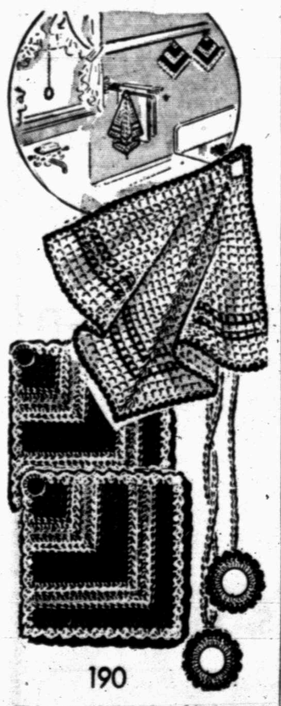

For traveling the bride wore a yellow two piece suit with white accessories and a corsage from her bridal bouquet. After a short trip in South Texas and to the coast the couple is now at home at 1010 Thirty-second Street.

The bride is a 1956 graduate of Snyder High School and is now employed with Southwestern Bell Telephone Co.

The groom is a 1955 graduate of Snyder High School and is employed by the Borden Co.

Her Pets Are Snakes, White Mice

SCARBOROUGH, Maine (AP) — Who says ladies don't like snakes? It doesn't apply to Mrs. Helen Perley, who's been handling them — along with white mice and rats — for 25 years.

Mrs. Perley raises snakes and other animals for researchers, carnivals, schools, nature photographers, food for other snakes, and, last but not least, for pets. Pet shops are among her biggest buyers.

She has 17 regular collectors searching out the slithering reptiles, in addition to a horde of small boys. Along with other things, her cost of snakes has risen from a penny to 5 cents. An adult small snake is worth a dime and the going rate for those over two feet is 25 cents a foot.

Maine is good snake country, the veteran collector said, because of its ledges and proximity to water.

She thinks nothing of letting her wriggly charges crawl round her neck or over an arm.

"There's nothing to be frightened about," she chuckles. "It doesn't seem sensible to be frightened of somthing that won't hurt you."

In 25 years, Mrs. Perley says she has been bitten only once. That happened when a nearby child screamed and the snake, being extra sensitive to noise, became frightened.

Her Maine snakes, Greens, garters, DeKays, ringnecks and redbellied, are shipped express in cloth bags laid out on damp moss in wood boxes.

Other wildlife on her unique farm — which she runs alone except at mealtime when her husband, Paul, officiates — includes raccoons, woodchucks, ducks, bantams, turtles and salamanders.

In addition to her farm, Mrs. Perley also finds time to write a tome or two. Currently in the works in a volume called "Mice In Show Business."

Another, for which her publisher is pleading, is entitled "The Care and Raising of Laboratory MICE AND RATS;"

Girl Prefers Anthropology To Footlights

AP Newsfeatu red

A SWITCHBOARD GIRL who turns professional actress for her three weeks vacation to pay for a course in anthropology at Columbia University soundslike a clear case of schizophrenia.

But, far from needing a psychiatrist, Betsy Holland is a shining example to all women that it is never too late to pursue new interests and gain knowledge.

To anyone who feels that the old enemy time is against any constructive course of study once one is past the teens, many-talented Miss Holland offers her own experience as encouragement.

She despondently told a friend it was not worth studying anthropology at night schools because:

"I'll be 40 before I've finished the course." (A slight exaggeration in age for dramatic emphasis.) The friend replied:

"You're going to be 40 anyway, so why not have the knowledge too?"

This outlook so appealed to Miss Holland that she immediately enrolled at Columbia, and, to pay for the first year's tuition accepted an offer to spend her vacation playing Ida, a countess with doubtful morals, in a New England tour of Cole Porter's "You Never Know."

Normally she would have been reluctant to take to the stage again. A former singer and actress, Miss Holland gratefully retired two years ago to the comparative calm of office routine, and has no desire to return.

Miss Holland's complicated story of conflicting ambitions began way back when she was a schoolgirl in Chicago. She had two interests then, singing and anthropology. As her family were short of money and college was out of the question, the former looked like a more profitable line for a 17-year-old.

She sang with local bands for several years, then came to New York and in a few years packed in singing, dramatic and dancing lessons, three Broadway shows and a stint on the Kate Smith show.

"Then I decided that either I quit or end my days in a sanitarium, so I quit," she says. "You have to be a bit crazy, conceited and commercial to be an actress."

She is reconciled to the fact that a schedule of working all day in an office, studying all evening, running an apartment and keeping up with her love of cooking is going to be tough, but her aim is sufficiently sure in her mind to spur her on. That aim is to go to Israel to make an anthropological study of the people there, from so many differing backgrounds and cultures, being "smashed into one nation."

MR. AND MRS. BOBBY WOODSON KIMMEL
(Craft Studio Photograph)

Spence-Kimmel Rites Are Read In Church At Union

Margaret Spence and Bobby Woodson Kimmel were married July 20 at 6:30 p.m. in the Union Baptist Church in a double ring ceremony. The Rev. Roy O. Womble, pastor, officiated in the rites.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard W. Spence, Arah Route, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Kimmel Route 1.

The church decorations consisted of two baskets of gladioli and two baskets of green ferns. The arch was covered with fern and a white carpet was used down the aisle.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an original wedding gown of billowing yards of white - nylon, tulle and iimported French lace over net and taffeta. It was designed with a portrait neckline. The fitted bodice had an elaborate applique of lace that extended over the shoulders and across the back into a cuff effect, holding a yoke of crisscross pleated tulle at the front. The sleeves were completed by gloves worn over the hands and terminating with a rounded wristline. From this stemmed a full magnificent skirt, made of tulle, with a shaped bouffant hipline encircled with flower appliques of lace. The immense fullness of layers of tulle, net and taffeta was worn over hoops to emphasize the fullness.

She wore a veil of silk illusion which was joined to a plateau cap of shirred tulle embroidered with irridescent sequins and see pearls, outlined with tiny pleated ruffles. The bride's flowers were a boquet of white carnations, centered with a lavender orchid atop a white Bible, clustered with seed pearls.

Maid of honor was Peggy Spence, sister of the bride, who wore a pink lace dress over pink taffeta with a matching cummerbund. She carried a colonial bouquet of blue daises with yellow centers.

The bridesmaids were Billie Marie Stipe and Dixie Lee Kimmel. They wore blue lace dresses, identical to that of the maid of honor. Their flowers were a bouquet of white daises with yellow centers.

The flower girl was Nancy Miller, who wore a blue dress with butterflys scattered around on the material. She wore a band of flowers around her wrist. Ring bearer was Tommy Kimmel.

Best man was Billy Kimmel, brother of the groom. Usher was Laton Taylor and groomsmen were Gene Pate and Jerry Thomas.

Wedding music was furnished by Wanda Myers, who played the piano. She accompanied Tommy Gary who sang "Walk Hand in Hand" and "I Love Your Truly."

The reception was held in the fellowship hall of the church, which was decorated in colors of white and blue. The bridesmaids' flowers were used for the table and the maid of honor's flowers were used for the registering desk. The four tier cake was topped with a miniature bride and groom and was served by Paula Dupree and Gay Birdsall registered the guests. Shirley Pate ladled the punch. Lanell Woodson entertained during the reception with piano music.

For her going-away costume, the bride wore a pink princess style dress of embroidered cotton satin. She wore a white hat and gloves and pearlized shoes and bag.

After a short wedding trip the couple is now at home on the Lamesa Highway.

Widows Band Together In Fight Against Loneliness

DETROIT (AP)—Any of these summer afternoons you may see a group of young women sitting on the sand at St. Clair Metropolitan Beach, looking like office workers with the afternoon off or a young mothers' club on an outing.

But this is different. The things they discuss deal mainly with how to maintain a home and raise a family without a husband. They are young widows who have banded together to fight loneliness and fight their common problems in and organization unique in the United States.

At present there are 10 members, headed by Mrs. Roland Bright, who for six years has faced the problems of bringing up a family and maintaining a normal home after the death of her husband. One day she hit on the idea of joining forces with other young widows in similar circumstances, and so the club was born. All of them, say Mrs. Bright, have found their greatest problem has been "the feeling that suddenly hits you when you are trying hardest — that nobody really cares."

The 10 women, all under 39, have 34 children among them. Mrs. Bright has three — Yvonne, 16, Gary, 14, and Loryn, 11. A widow since 1950, Mrs. Bright found that family and friends often do not quite understand the special problems that face a young mother who must bring up a family alone. She felt self-conscious about accepting the invitations of couples who asked her to dinner parties and other functions, apparently out of sympathy. She was embarrassed by being the "extra woman" at every gathering. So she decided to seek out other women in the same predicament, and form a group to discuss and solve common problems.

At the first meeting, things were difficult. Says Mrs. Bright:

"There were tears that first night. Now most of the girls can speak of their husbands quite naturally.

"A widow can't go out alone at night. None of us are the kind who would sit around a restaurant alone. But we can get together and do things.

"The girl who would never think of taking golf lessons alone is eager to go if there are others in the group. And she knows no one will criticize her for trying to be happy."

Other members of the group include: Mrs. John Raspet, widow of an Air Force captain who died in an air crash, and mother of three young sons; Mrs. James A. White, a full-time nurse, widow of a local high school principal and mother of three girls; Mrs. Leon DeBusschere, mother of two boys and two girls; Mrs. Bernard DeStross, mother of three daughters; Mrs. Bonnie Friday, whose baby daughter was born two weeks after her husband was killed in an automobile accident; Mrs. Arnold [illegible], mother of a boy and a girl; Mrs. Charles H. Miller, Jr., mother of four children; Mrs. Elmer Mittelstedt, mother of two, and Mrs. Herschel Gilbert, mother of four boys.

"Sometimes all we do for each other is sit and have a cup of coffee and chat," says Mrs. Bright. "But it makes all the difference in the world."

NUMBER PLEASE—Johnny Joyce is justly proud of all his Texas telephone directories, a recent hobby of his, but especially of a volume of "yellow pages" from Greater Houston, which he is looking at here. Johnny has 20 directories about the size of the one he is handling here and 150 smaller-size directories. Johnny also makes hobbies of calendars, almanacs, maps and car agencies.

IN SNYDER

Boy Has Hobby Of Hobbies

By SHIRLEY BROWNLOW

From auto agencies to Chamber of Commerce letters to yellow pages — that's how Johnny Joyce, 13 year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Joyce, 2160 Thirty-second Street, began collecting telephone directories.

That isn't Johnny's only hobby, nor his only collection, but it happens to be his latest one. Right now he has 20 large-size directories and 150 smaller ones. All of these are up to-date Texas directories. He also has 62 old Texas directories and out-of-state books.

The hobby got its start, indirectly, when Johnny became interested in automobile agencies. He began to compile a list of the agencies. He began to complie a list of the agencies in Texas towns, and to help him complete his lists, he wrote to the Chambers of Commerce in towns and asked them to send him the names of the dealers in their towns.

"All but one, Menard, replied," Johnny said. "I had to write to them five times, and I finally gave up and wrote to the mayor there. He supplied me with the information I wanted."

Johnny sent each Chamber of Commerce a form letter with a stamped, self-addressed envelope enclosed. He left room at the bottom of his letter for the names of the dealers to be written.

The Taylor Chamber of Commerce wrote a note with their letter, which probably spoke for all the others who had learned of Johnny's hobby. It said, "This is really an unusual one, young fellar."

Then Johnny discovered that he could get the information he wanted for his alphabetized list of car agencies from the yellow pages of telephone directories. Thus began the hobby that consumes most of his time now. He orders his directories through Southwestern Bell Telephone Co., who gave them to him free. He gets books from other telephone companies too, and lately hasn't been getting bills for them either.

"We give Johnny telephone directories for his birthday and Christmas gifts," Mrs. Joyce commented. "That's what he asks for, so those have become regular Johnny also has received about 10 directories from friends who know of his hobby and send them to him when they visit an unusual town or find one they think Johnny might want. He has collected some as he travels through Texas.

All 170 directories are kept in alphabetical order in a bookcase in his room. Galveston is the only large city from which he doesn't have a directory. But there is a reason for that. Johnny is waiting until Glaveston changes over to a more modern exchange, so he can have the most up-to-date listings. According to Johnny, most cities are now changing over to two-letter, five-number exchanges. He has directories that included 397 exchanges.

Johnny said that most towns have directories with yellow pages in them. Oil towns, such as Snyder, have more yellow pages than others, he said. Those directories that don't have the classified yellow pages print all their pages in yellow anyway, Johnny said. Some of these still have the stiff, cardboard pages.

Johnny has had hobbies ev since he could walk, according to Mrs. Joyce. One of the first he started when he was all of four years old. This one was making and memorizing calendars. Johnny copied some old calendars he found and then memorized the days that each date fell on for that year, the year before and the coming year. He could tell what day any date for three years would fall on, until he got tired of being "on exhibit" every time he went anywhere, Mrs. Joyce added.

Another early hobby that interested Johnny was that of making maps. This hobby connected with his interest in almanacs, distances and populations. But Johnny didn't stick to collecting maps from cities and states. He made up quite a few of his own. These maps were products of his imagination, but they are complete with streets, street names, highways, railroads, airports and parks, all laid out just like the most professionally drawn maps. His collection of hand-drawn maps fills two folders now.

Almanacs were another hobby for Johnny at one time. He not only collected almanacs, but also memorized statistics from them. He has learned the distances between almost all the cities in Texas, as well as the populations of all the towns. He says he can still give you most of them.

"I'll never forget when they came out with the 1950 census figures," Johnny said. "I learned them all, only to find out a few days later that they had printed a lot of old figures and then revised them. I had to learn a lot of them all over again."

A recent hobby of Johnny's was making a record of all the football scores of all the 11-men teams in Texas for one season. Johnny kept this record last season, and has them all compiled in a book where they are listed by classes, districts and alphabetically. He wrote to the Interscholastic League to obtain the names of all the teams and then bought all the newspapers he could find each weekend to get their scores. He has practically a complete record for all the teams except those in Class B, and "some of those just didn't even play," Johnny said.

At the end of the season Johnny averaged up each team's wins and losses and made comparisons with those of other teams.

Johnny also collected match covers at one time. He had literaly "thousands." He had some hung around his walls, all arranged according to the distance of the place on the cover from Snyder. He also kept several albums of them; these he kept in alphabetical order. Many of these covers he purchased from a man in Detroit, Mich., who sold covers to collectors. He lost interest in the collection, however, because he had never seen a lot of the places from which he had covers and they didn't mean much to him.

"Well, they were having a hobby show at school and I didn't have anything to show," the boy with a room-full of hobbies and collections calmly replied.

TEEN TALK

By Gerry Lyn Hughes

One of the luckest teenagers I know is Molly Carroll who has just returned from a two weeks vacation of the western states. Since this was the first trip west for Molly everything was of some interest to her. The Painted Desert and Petrified Forrest were two of the first interesting things they saw. They toured both the inside and outside of Hoover Dam. The dam is equivalent to a forty-story building. Molly said the thing she was most impressed with in general was the Grand Canyon. Before going to Las Vegas they saw Lake Meade. In Las Vegas they stayed at the fabulous Sahara Hotel where they saw the Martha Raye Show. Nat King Cole, the Andrew Sisters, Jimmy Durante, and George Burns and Gracie Allen were only a few of the many celebrities that were there during Molly's visit. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Carroll saw the George Burns and Gracie Allen Show. From Las Vegas, they went to Los Angeles and Hollywood. Grauman's Chinese Theater, the University of California at Los Angeles, Beverly Hills, Farmers Market, and Liberace's home were just a few of the interesting sights the Carrolls saw. They visited the Corrganville Movie Ranch where a lot of the TV and western movies are made. Disneyland near Anaheim, Cal. was described by Molly as being fabalous. They spent two days there riding the rides and sightseeing. They returned home b ythe way of Pheonix, Ariz. and El Paso.

AMUSEMENT

Writer Likes Television Intro For Commercials

By BOB THOMAS

They give me a warm feeling of recognition, like seeing and hearing an old friend. Among my favorites are the introductions to commercials. I'd feel lost if the star didn't say: "And now, stand by for a message you won't want to miss," (though usually I do want to). Or, "But first—a word from our sponsor" (through usually it stretches into many words).

Some day someone on TV is going to tell the truth: "We have to interrupt the show now for a commercial." Matter of fact, Alfred Hitchcock has done it, and I'll thank him not to tamper with my cliches.

I'm also fond of the cliches on the quiz shows: "Well, Myrt, I guess you've had a pretty exciting week"; "And now comes the moment we've all been waiting for"; "I'm sorry, the answer is wrong; better luck next time."

I'm against these newfangled adult westerns." They're all tangled up with psychological clashes and don't pay attention to the cliches we all know and love. Like, "I reckon Clem is just about the orneriest critter that ever come west." Or, "We're takin' the law into our own hands." Or, "You get on back to town, Dale, and tell the marshal we got trouble out here."

My favorite for cliches is "The Lone Ranger," who has more than anybody. Such as: "I don't trust nobody who goes around wearing a mask." (Why does he wear a mask, anyway?)

Top Broadway Newcomers Determined To Succeed

By WILLIAM GLOVER

NEW YORK, July 21 (AP)—Two of the summer's comeliest arrivals in the Broadway spotlight share a single resolve—to succeed despite themselves.

The reasons are as different as their backgrounds.

Marjorie Steele, an auburn-haired newcomer to show glitter, is determined that being the wife of one of the country's richest men won't prevent similar artistic attainment.

There's no direct rivalry between the two, for they have plucked off top parts in different shows, two of the town's best-established hits. Fans will have to appraise them separately.

Miss Blaine this month went into "Hatful of Rain" at the Lyceum as relacement for Shelley Winters—who received bouquets for fine work in the taut melodrama of narcotics addiction.

Miss Steele has taken over the feminine lead in "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof," a role held at the Morosco for more than a year by Barbara Bel Geddes.

"Five years ago I'd have run from the part," says Vivian as she describes a long inner battle to find herself. "But I wouldn't have tackled it now if I couldn't do it.

"After all, every preformer has to prove how many different things they can do. I'm out to find the limits on Vivian Blaine."

Miss Blaine started singing in front of dance bands at the age of 12 in her native Newark, N. J. She says that for years she was terrified of audiences. At kid entertainments she even asked spectators to close their eyes while she sang.

From an orchestra dollface, Miss Blaine moved on as Hollywood's cherry blonde for what she recalls as "a series of roles ..replacing someone else. I was always put in roles meant for Betty Grable or Alice Faye."

Then the Broadway musical "Guys and Dolls" came along in 1950.

Gobel Is Beginning To Lose 'Lonesome' Tag

The "Lonesome" tag is a holdover from George's days as a hillbilly singer on radio. He still hangs onto it for sentimental reasons, but it hasn't applied to his own life for the past two years.

Right now, when most TV stars are in other parts of the world getting refreshed for the fall channel wars, George is working over a hot movie stage. He is making for RKO "I Married a Woman." He also sacrificed his summer vacation last year to make "The Birds and the Bees."

George had a whole week between the end of his TV season and the start of the movie. So how did he spend it? By playing a night club date at Lake Tahoe. Reservations for the entire engagement were sold out before he even arrived there.

An aid told George he would have all of three weeks between the end of the picture and the start of the new TV season.

"Don't you blieve it," the comedian replied skeptically. "Something will come up. Of that you can be sure."

Strangely enough, he didn't seem too upset by it all. Usually he is moaning and groaning about th time he has lost off the golf course, but he confessed, "I like making pictures. I get a big kick out of it."

He added that he was enjoying his work with his costar, England's most famous body since the Rolls Royce — Diana Dors. And not for the reason you wiseacres think, either.

TV School Is Success

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK, July 28 (AP) — An amazingly large number of very small fry have the fixed idea that a certain pleasant, dark-haired lady is trapped in the family television set.

Not long ago when a father found his very young son trying to remove the back of the set and demanded to know what he was doing, his son replied, "I just want to let Miss Frances out."

Miss Frances does get out once in a while and travel about the country to appear and talk here and there. "Miss Frances," children yell, "how did ou get out?" They bring and send her gifts—sweet potatoes, lollipops, apples, bouquets and copies of storybooks to be autographed.

This state of affairs is the result of Miss Frances — better known in educational circles as Dr. Frances Horwich—conducting a program called Ding Dong School every Monday through Friday morning on NBC-TV.

EAT CHICKEN—Three of the more than 150 guests of the Snyder Fire Department at its annual chicken fry held Thursday night in the pavilion of Towle Memorial Park were the family above. They are Mr. and Mrs. Leighton Griffin and their daughter Judy Griffin. He is city tax-collector. All city and county officials and their families were invited. (Lee Watson Photograph)

FIRST IN LINE—Some of the first persons to go through the line at the fire department's chicken fry Thursday night are shown above. A generous supply of fried chicken enabled everyone to eat as much as he or she wished. Shown above on opposite side of table are the Rev. J. W. Reaves, fire department chaplain, Mrs. Leamon Land, Wayne Glasscock, and Kenneth Wood. (Lee Watson Photograph)

INDOOR-OUTDOOR CHAIR

NEW CHAIR IS PERFECT FOR VARIETY OF USES

By BILL BAKER

And, in keeping with this theme, I have a wonderful do-it-yourself indoor-outdoor chair that you'll really like. It con be built easily and inepensively with my pattern package 147.

Sleek, smoothly flowing modern lines made the chair ideal for any room in your house. It's perfect for bedroom or den, and equally right in the living room.

Then with the addition of easy-to-install wheels at the back, the two-feet-wide chair becomes the best-looking piece of furniture on your porch or in your yard. Sturdy but light construction lets it be moved easily from one location to another.

Graceful arms, flowing in a repeat of the chair's seat, add both to beauty and comfort. And because the design follows body contours, it can be used without an expensive cushion.

Freshmen woodworkes can do a professional job with this indoor-outdoor chair because all of the tough problems have been solved. A full material list, step-by-step directions for both cutting and assembling plus diagram details of the full job help make the job easy.

Best feature, perhaps, is a duplication of each section, of the chair in heavy-weight paper — much like a woman's dress pattern. All you'll have to do is tack down the pattern, trace and cut. It's that easy.

Your indoor-outdoor chair pattern package will be on the way to you when you send only one dollar ($1) in check, cash or money order, to Bill Baker, Snyder Daily News, P.O. Box 1111, Los Angeles 53, California. Ask for pattern 147.

For Due Cause

DENVER (AP) — Domestic Judge Joseph E. Cook granted a divorce to Mrs. Sarah Chinn after she complained, among other things, her husband wouldn't let her take a bath "because he needed the hot water for his restaurant." She said her husband, Harry, 59, wouldn't give her more than two meals a day while he ate three at the restaurant.

More Shower Baths

The extent of home inprovement activity is indicated by a report from the Plumbing and Heating Industries Bureau estimating that more than 60 per cent of all shower bath equipment now being manufactured is installed in exising homes five years old and older.

Disposable aluminum foll broiling trays are now available. Use them and you'll never have to scrub your regular broiling pan!

Thin regular mayonnaise with lemon juice, orange juice, pineapple juice or cranberry juice and serve with fruit salads.

DON'T DELAY
BUILDING A HOME. . .

Leading authorities advise that building costs are not coming down. One leading authority states, "This is a growing country whose population and economy have expanded mightily in the past ten years. So long as it continues to grow and so long as our living standards advance, we can not expect a return to the lower price level of years gone by. Let us look ahead rather than backward and not be afraid to invest in the future of America." Better start owning your home now!
A personality home, has three bedrooms, 1 to 1½ baths, beautiful interior decorating. You will really be surprised at the closet space. A wonderful view of the park and swimming pool. They can be financed with GI or FHA Loans. Come in & let us show you what we have.

Baby Sitters Have Many Problems In Child Care

By DOLORES STEWART

How many times have you, a mother of two or three children, stopped doing the washing long enough to wonder how in the world you are going to continue doing the job of raising a family?

There is, of course, ample work involved in raising your family, but what if you had to care for 15 children at one time—all of them possibly in the same age group?

Unbelievable as it may be to some people, baby sitters with a large "herd" do not usually have as much trouble with them as the average mother does with two or three.

According to some baby sitters recently interviewed, the children they care for usually mind pretty good, except at bedtime. Otherwise she doesn't have too much trouble making her "herd" do as she says. One woman who keeps children told us that if you take a child for the first time and tell him that you have the authority to make him mind and that he had better do it, he is likely to rebel and do just the opposite. Just be sure he understands that you don't intend to hurt him, but to love and care for him and his needs. This way he usually knows what he can and cannot do in your home. Sometimes a child will try to do things that are forbidden to him in his own home, just to see if he can get by with it. If a baby sitter teaches a child in the beginning that he must do as he does at home he will be a lot happier and satisfied.

Another big problem of the baby sitters is getting the children to eat right. Most children who are old enough to know what they eat, will usually want only sandwiches. Why not form a "clean plate club." One baby sitter did this and found that it worked very well. She told the children that the ones who cleaned their plates would become members of the come members of the "club," and by eating right and chewing his food well would get to be the president. A lot of plates were really cleaned too.

Probably the most common of baby sitters is the high school or teenage girls, who do this because they enjoy being with children and to earn a little spending money. Usually these girls only keep children at night, when their parents want "a night off." They don't usually have the responsibility of feeding these children, since they have already eaten before the parents go out, but when it comes bedtime some say they really have some good excuses for not going to bed. Some say "Mom lets me stay up longer than little sister," or "read me a new story, not the one about 'The Three Bears' or 'Little Red Riding Hood'." They sometimes need a drink of water a dozen times before they finally settle down.

A few of the teenage baby sitters that were interviewed said they liked to keep children of all ages, but could do more with those who were a little older, around the ages of five, six and seven. The in-betweens are sometimes pretty hard to cope with.

The older ones are most usually satisfied with playing one game, but the younger set have a dozen different games that they want to try out before bedtime. The older girls have a lot of fun with paper dolls or making doll clothes and having their fingernails and toenails manicured. The boys play ball or read funny books. They are not hard to please and mind pretty good. Both groups are partical to the game of "pretend."

All those who were interviewed said they really enjoyed the art of baby sitting, because they love children and like to be with them.

You must admit that one who keeps a "herd" of children must have nerves of iron and a barrel full of patience. This is a must with mothers and an even more so a must with the babysitters.

So you see, if you have two or three youngsters around your house and think that you have a lot of work and worry, you should try to care for 15 or more and see if your nerves last.

"Thank goodness for those wonderful baby sitters," is all we have to say about the subject.
