Three Reported Safe On Enterprise

Good news reached Mr. and Mrs. Otto F. Jones, Renderbrook Ranch, at 2 a. m. Wednesday with word from Hawaii that their grandson Lt., j. g. Ray Kayser is safe.

Lt. Kayser, son of the Jones daughter Mrs. Pauline Kayser of Lubbock, is a member of the crew aboard the aircraft carrier Enterprise hit by a series of explosions and a fire causing heavy casualties, 75 miles southwest of Pearl Harbor, Tuesday morning.

Two other young Colorado City men aboard the Enterprise, 85,000 ton nuclear powered carrier, were heard from about 4 p. m. Wednesday when one called his parents to report both safe.

They are ET-2 John Theis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Theis of Payne Community, and Seaman 2-C David Sanderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Toby Sanderson, 899 East 8th St.

Both men were on duty with the nuclear power plant which was not involved in the fire, according to US Navy dispatches. Neither was in the crew of the flight deck and hangar deck swept by fire.

Theis has been a member of the Enterprise crew since April, 1967, as an electrician technician.

Sanderson is a trainee as nuclear electronics technician. He was assigned to the 5,200 man Enterprise last December.

Lt. Kayser's mother, Mrs. Kayser, was able to learn that her son was safe and well through a telephone conversation with a family friend Major C. A. Wilkins, Jr., stationed with the Air Force in Honolulu.

Major Wilkins, called by Mrs. Kayser, ascertained that Lt. Kayser had escaped injury. He then relayed the good news via telephone to Mrs. Kayser who called her parents here.

Mothers Army To March Monday

Plans for the annual Mother's March on birth defects for 1969 March of Dimes are in final stages this week.

Area captains have been named and additional volunteers are being added to the list of workers, according to Mrs. Lacy Boles, March chairman.

Contributions from Colorado City residents in the 1968 march totaled approximately $1200, Mrs. Boles said.

Each MOD chapter sends 25 per cent of its campaign proceeds to National Headquarters to make up a fund which finances grants for research institutions, the operation of 100 Birth Defects Research Centers and contributions to the research and operating costs of the Salk Institute, the march chairman explained.

"The remainder of chapter campaign proceeds is divided evenly between National Headquarters and the individual chapter to be spent on medical care programs, professional education, public health education and other community services."

"Mothers' March will begin at 5:30 p. m. and continues until the entire residential section of town is covered, Mrs. Boles said.

Contract Extended

Board Praises McMath

Supt. James McMath has a new three-year contract at the helm of Colorado Independent School District.

Board members Monday night voted unanimously to approve the new contract — which includes a vote of confidence for the superintendent and actually extends his contract tenure an extra year.

McMath, who came to Colorado City in 1966 from the principalship of Odessa High School, had two years remaining on his current contract.

All members of the board of trustees voted for the contract, a school business item which traditionally is reviewed at this time each year.

"The board expresses its appreciation to Supt. McMath for his service to our schools and our community," the trustees declared in a joint statement.

"His abilities in leadership, administration and education are valuable assets for Colorado Independent School District.

"We believe our district is

Coaches To Greet Don

They're Coming For Maynard Day

Two of his former coaches will join Don Maynard here in Colorado City when the all-time professional football pass receiver comes home for his day.

Jerome (Bux) Buxkemper, mentor at Colorado High when the New York Jet flanker starred in three sports, will be here from Austin.

Coming from El Paso will be Mike Brumbelow, who was Maynard's coach at Texas Western University (now University of Texas in El Paso).

For Colorado City sports fans who will honor the pro star, appearances of both Buxkemper and Brumbelow will be an extra treat.

Brumbelow, who has become a popular speaker for sports and civic programs, will be one of the speakers at the Jan. 30 dinner in Civic House. He is now director of community relations for El Paso Natural Gas with headquarters in El Paso.

Buxkemper is expected also to relate choice experiences when Maynard was a backfield standout and a star in basketball and track at Colorado High.

Maynard early last December surpassed the all-time pro record of Baltimore's Raymond Berry of 9,332 total yards pass receiving.

Minister Sworn In As Citizen

A Colorado City minister and a Loraine man were among the 32 persons sworn in as naturalized citizens of this country in ceremonies at Abilene, Monday.

The Rev. Salvador Pistone, 67, pastor of the Emanuel Baptist Mission Church here, became a citizen of the United States of America.

Born in Italy he grew up in Argentina where his parents moved when he was a child.

Also sworn in as a new American citizen was 35-year-old Roberto Cepeda Marcias of Loraine, native of Mexico.

Federal Judge Leo Brewster presided at the swearing in ceremonies in federal court at Abilene. Natives of 10 different countries became new citizens.

MOD Workers Ready To Call

Museum Action Delayed By City

Colorado City Council voted Monday night to delay action on two issues until their regular February meeting.

The city's museum board, appointed by the council and serving without pay, recommended that the city buy the Hooker-Pond American Legion building as a permanent location for Colorado City Historical Museum.

J. Ralph Lee, chairman of the museum board, read the proposal in the form of a resolution passed by the museum board.

Purchase price set by the post is $24,000 the board's recommendation favoring the purchase noted.

During the discussion period which followed, J. A. Sadler, Jr., city manager, told council members, "That price is too high."

Council then voted to postpone a decision on the recommendation until further study can be made and the building visited by individual council members.

City has been leasing the main floor of the Legion Hut for several years to house the museum while the Legion post has retained use of the basement. Each floor of the building has more than 4,000 square feet.

Plans for complete renovation and remodeling of the town's old opera house, owned by the city, were abandoned late in 1968 because bids for the remodeling project exceeded the expected cost.

The old opera house, north of the post office, has been the city's prime choice for the museum because of its historical significance.

Blueprints had been prepared by Harvey Allen, Lamesa architect. When the several bids were opened, each was for more than $30,000, in the neighborhood of $10,000 more than the city had deemed feasible.

Museum board at that time recommended that the opera house plans be abandoned because of the prohibitive expense.

At their Monday night January meeting, city fathers also delayed action on the hiring of a new city attorney to succeed John M. Worrell, Sr., who resigned and is retiring.

Two local attorneys applied for the position. They are

CONVERSATION CORNER

HAVING total recall – a remarkable memory for details – is believed by some people to be a wonderful talent.

Wonder if it is, really. Total recall, it would seem, would be an awful bother on occasion.

People with average memories probably have more fun. They are the ones who can supply their own details. . .adding color here, an improvement there. . .until the story of a thing remembered gets better and better with each telling. Or even with each thinking.

Sometimes a well-trained "forgettery" comes in pretty handy. People with total recall have no choice but to remember all the bitter along with all the sweet.

Which must make life a mixed blessing.

PEOPLE who remember every mean thing ever done or said to them must feel pretty miserable when busy remembering.

Dressed up memories are best. In the dressed up memories there is always a happy ending. And while happy endings have long been out of fashion in the world of fiction, in the world of plain living the happy endings are pretty nice to have about the house.

NOW consider the average woman when she takes to reminiscing or has time to rock and remember.

The way she remembers it now her own babe or babies were the most beautiful little angels! Rarely does she choose to dwell on the three-month colic, the tonsilectomy, the fall from the chinaberry tree.

That's what is meant by a dressed up memory. It remembers better than it was.

And that man she didn't marry. . .old what's his name. . . changes from a gangling college youth usually broke into a rich scion of a prominent family. And he looked a lot like Kirk Douglas, too.

PEOPLE with average memories can always remember how brave and unselfish they were during some early crisis. . . forgetting the wild fear, the indecision.

A sensible memory can embellish an evening at a concert. . . without reminding a woman that the patent leather pumps worn to it were a size too small and were simply killing her.

Total recall must cut down considerably on the size and quality of places and pleasures remembered.

Was the lake really that blue? The trees that tall? The dance band quite so enchanting? The honeymoon house so perfect?

Who cares? To remember it so makes it so now, anyhow.

Things like the first taste of oleo which could not be colored under law, except in the home kitchen, can be fun now – if not then.

To remember saving dimes in one of those little cylinders seems, after all these year, a dear little lark.

PEOPLE with total recall could never remember the Depression that way because they'd naturally recall how scared people could be in the middle of the night.

Oh well. Be glad you're not afflicted with total recall. 'Cause if you are not, you can remember things the way you want to remember 'em – twice as beautiful and wonderful, maybe, as they really were.

REMEMEER when Hoyle Nix, western and country musician, used to bring his band to play for the old Colorado City Frontier Roundup and Rodeo?

Did you know that Hoyle Nix has leased the Bert Wulfjen Ranch and is now living there while he remodels and renovates the old ranch house?

He and his wife leased the ranch from Louise (Mrs. Sam) Geisenberger of Natchez, Miss., and Colorado City, daughter of Bert Wulfjen, now of Natchez.

Nix is father of a married son Larry, another son Jody, 16. He and Joy are parents of two little daughters Robin and Roylene.

P. S. He still has his dance band.

DID YOU KNOW, by the way, that Dera Wulfjen Winn (Mrs. Everett H.) has bought herself and moved into a trailer house located on one of her lots adjacent to her home?

Dera's only son Francis, his wife Jan (Geer) and their three little girls have moved in from the Winn ranch to occupy the picturesque two-storied Winn home, originally the J. D. Wulfjen town home, 545 Chestnut St.

Bill Holbert was at the lunch counter. So was Nita Richardson, wife of Porter.

Talked a minute to F. P. (favorite person) Nell Scott, wife of Bennett. . .Saw Sibyl Walding, wife of Dennis, and Frances Kiker, wife of Doyle. . .Caught a glimpse of Kack Price McClellan (Mrs. Fred) who is working in the school tax office now.

NEW ADDITIONS to the proud grandparents group are Dee and Marian Bassham.

Their son Frank Bassham, Austin College student, and his little wife Laura Ann, are parents of a baby boy named Frank William. The baby, born January 10, weighed 8 1/2 pounds at birth.

FAMILIAR FACES all over places belonged to Joe Earnest, pipe-smoking attorney. . .to Willie Landau. . .Jay Craddock.

Had a wave from Don Feaster. . .another from Sefton Pickens.

Remember the old Literary Digest? And the Woman's Home Companion, anybody?

Thanks . . . All of You!

We are thankful, deeply so, for all of you who assisted the Denson Rest Home and its residents during 1968. Your prayers and thoughtfulness were helpful in many ways.

Accept our appreciation, please, and our best wishes for all of you throughout this year of 1969.

A BIG MAN

One of the puzzles to me is how Coach Matthews can do all the things he does, yet tip the scales up there where he does.

He started before school with football coaching, he teaches high school classes, now he is right in the middle of District 3-AAA basketball. Year-around he is pastor of Plainview Baptist Church with all the responsibilities of a minister.

Now, he comes up with an idea for Saturday basketball clinics for sixth and seventh grade boys. More than 50 greeted him for the first sessions. . .and he yells for more.

Sure, he does other things, too. . .those numerous niceties which are becoming a Christian gentleman.

Me? Well, I'm plenty thankful our community has a big man on the run like him. I hope you are, too. . .and big enough to tell him.

To Head Zeta Delta

Among leaders named to a new officer slate for the 1969-70 club year by Zeta Delta Study Club last Thursday evening in the home of Mrs. Rodney James were, left to right, Mrs. Jackie Corbell, vice president; Mrs. James, treasurer; Mrs. Dennis Wright, president, and Mrs. Bobby Nobles, reporter. Installation date for the club has been set for Sept. 11.

Mrs. Wright To Be President Of Zeta Delta Study Club

Mrs. Dennis Wright will be new president of Zeta Delta Study Club.

Mrs. Wright was elected to head the group Thursday evening during a meeting in the home of Mrs. Rodney James.

Named to take office with Mrs. Wright for the next club year were Mrs. Jackie Corbell, vice president; Mrs. Eddie Braswell, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Doug Simmons, recording secretary; Mrs. James, treasurer.

Mrs. Bobby Nobles, reporter; Mrs. Dale Geiger, historian, and Mrs. Dave Sanders, parliamentarian.

A letter was read from Texas Rehabilitation Hospital in Gonzales thanking club members for craft materials and dolls sent there recently.

Mrs. Hubert Bassinger reported that Christmas gifts from the club had been delivered to Denson Rest Home. Mrs. Sanders, current president, announced a meeting of Mesquite District Federation of Women's Club to be hosted in Sweetwater Mar. 24-25.

Forthcoming activities planned for the club included a bake sale with proceeds going into the go-for-industry fund.

Program for the evening was "Facts and Folklore from the Power City of West Texas", presented by Mrs. Corbell, who based her talk on "If I Can Do It Horseback" written by John Hendrix.

She explained that railroads played an important part in Colorado City's history.

Some of the names Colorado City has been known by include "Dodge City of the Southwest", "Mother City of the West", and currently, "The Power City".

CHS Librarian to Visit Study Club

Mrs. Charles Godwin, librarian for Colorado High School, will speak to Self Culture Club members Thursday afternoon during the program, "Art of Library Usage".

Following her talk on how to use the library, the group will tour local libraries.

Hostess for the meeting will be Mrs. L. A. Keith.

Mrs. Corbell reported that A. W. Dunn built the first store here and played an important role in organizing the town.

"The city served all counties within 250 miles and had numerous hotels, merchants, stores and red light districts," club members heard.

First sheriff, according to the speaker, was R. C. Ware.

"In 1886 the droughts and blizzards came to the area," Mrs. Corbell continued. "And in 1887 the boom period ended.

"By 1890 the exodus of red light districts and bankrupt businesses had begun. Then the city began catering to farming and some ranching."

Concluding her talk, Mrs. Corbell said, "Today we are proud of our power plant and are known as Power City of West Texas."

Attending the meet were Mrs. Larry Ivy, Mrs. Bassinger, Mrs. Corbell, Mrs. Nobles, Mrs. Eddie Piland, Mrs. Sanders, Mrs. Wright and the hostess, Mrs. James.

Congratulations

Wolves Face Lamesa After 67-45 Opening Win

Friday night they walk into Lamesa High Gym out there in Dawson County for an important South Zone encounter with the Golden Tornado.

The Tors are favorites to win the South Zone and clash with Lubbock Dunbar for the 3-AAA championship. They lived up to advance billing Tuesday night when they scorched Snyder, rated No. 2 behind the Tors, with a 71-57 decision in Lamesa.

Coach Caddo Matthews' Wolves were winning their first South Zone engagement, too. They romped over Lake View, 67-45, here in Colorado City and the triumph was by an even more decisive margin than the score indicated.

But Lake View is a weak sister, if there is one in 3-AAA this winter, and the Wolves – despite their tremendous record last year – are not the same team which between district and Austin lost only to state AA titlist Mexia.

This is AAA also and the smart boys have tabbed the Wolves about No. 3 in South Zone behind both Lamesa and Snyder.

That is not to say that Coach Matthews and his club are throwing in the towel. No, sirreee.

They are improving and if their veterans – led by state Lyneal James, Randy Parker, Robert Bender, Willie Hopkins – make the best of their talents, then there is a good chance the Wolves can be strong contenders all the way.

At times they can be deadly efficient. The other night for two quarters they hit 75 per cent of their field goals.

Tuesday night in Wolf Gym against Lake View, they were ahead 21 to 4 after eight minutes, a lead they stretched to 40-12 before the half.

Something else. Only one regular at a time was in the line-up from late in the second quarter.

Friday it will be a different ball game.

The Tors, who last season were nosed out by champion Dunbar, are 14-4 for this new season. They had a 12-game winning streak going until last week when they lost in Fort Stockton, 66-61, and then fell to Andrews, 61-60.

Early in the season in the Denver City tournament, they beat the Wolves 59-49. Coach Matthews' team was in contention all the game, however, and that deficit didn't lengthen until the final moments.

Lloyd Jenkins tipped the baskets for 29 points to fan the winning wind that ripped Snyder, 71-57. Jerry Jernigan scored 13 and Floyd Jenkins 10.

Lloyd and Floyd provide a real-life twin scoring punch for the Tors. Lloyd is averaging more than 15 points per game. His brother is above the 12-point average and Brent Minnix, who wasn't a leader against Snyder, has been keeping the tabulators busy with more than 11 points each time he plays.

The Tors have heighth and they have the ability and experience to use it around the backboards.

Here in their 3-AAA opener Tuesday against luckless Lake View the Wolves had things all their way from the start. They could have extended their 67-45 decision to twice that figure.

Lyneal James, who will have the battle of his career under the backboards in Lamesa, hit for 21 points before Coach Matthews called him to the bench in the second quarter.

Robert Bender sank seven field goals – most of 'em from 15 to 25 feet out – for 14 points. He went out in the second quarter also, but played for a while in the second half as he rotated with three other starters – Johnny Matthews, Parker and Willie Hopkins – in the line-up.

Twenty-one times in the first half the Wolves took advantage of Lake View turnovers to come back on offense with the Chiefs giving up ball possession.

Twenty-one more times the Chiefs gave up possession to C-City in the second half.

However, with subs – Don Safford, Ricky Sorenson, Randy Riley and Charles Morton playing more than two quarters – the Wolves were inefficient at times when they attempted to convert those turnovers into scoring opportunities for themselves.

Before the starters began moving to the bench, the Wolves hit 13 of 27 field goal attempts. That's slightly less than 50 per cent.

Over the entire distance the Wolves averaged 43 per cent, hitting 27 of 63 field tries. They were 50 per cent on free throws, 12 of 26, while Lake View was 58 per cent in the gratis department.

In the B-Team contest, the Wolves lost another after a see-saw battle all the way. Final score was Lake View 63, C-City B 58.

Big gun again for Coach Dell Riley's squad was Carl Devorce with 24 points. Wendell Mays hit for 8 and Steve Vest for 14. Bobby Bruce and Royce Morrison led the winners with 20 and 16 points, but Bruce's 10 field goals were no more than Devorce's 10.

Varsity box score:

C-City: (67) – Matthews 2 0 4, Parker 4 3 11, James 9 3 21, Bender 7 0 14, Hopkins 0 1 1, Sorenson 1 1 3, Martin 1 0 2, Riley 3 1 7, Safford 0 4 4. Totals 27 13 67.

55 Boys Like Opening Clinic

Fifty-five boys lined up for the call of Coach Caddo Matthews' first public basketball clinic last Saturday.

Response to the clinic idea was so encouraging, the sessions this coming Saturday will be expanded for more playing time.

"We'll be starting our sixth grade group at 9 a. m.," Matthews said, "and our seventh graders will begin at 11 a. m."

Twenty-four boys were in the seventh grade group last Saturday. The sixth grade had more – 31 youngsters.

"With the enthusiasm shown by all of 'em last week, we are expecting more to join the clinic this week," the coach said.

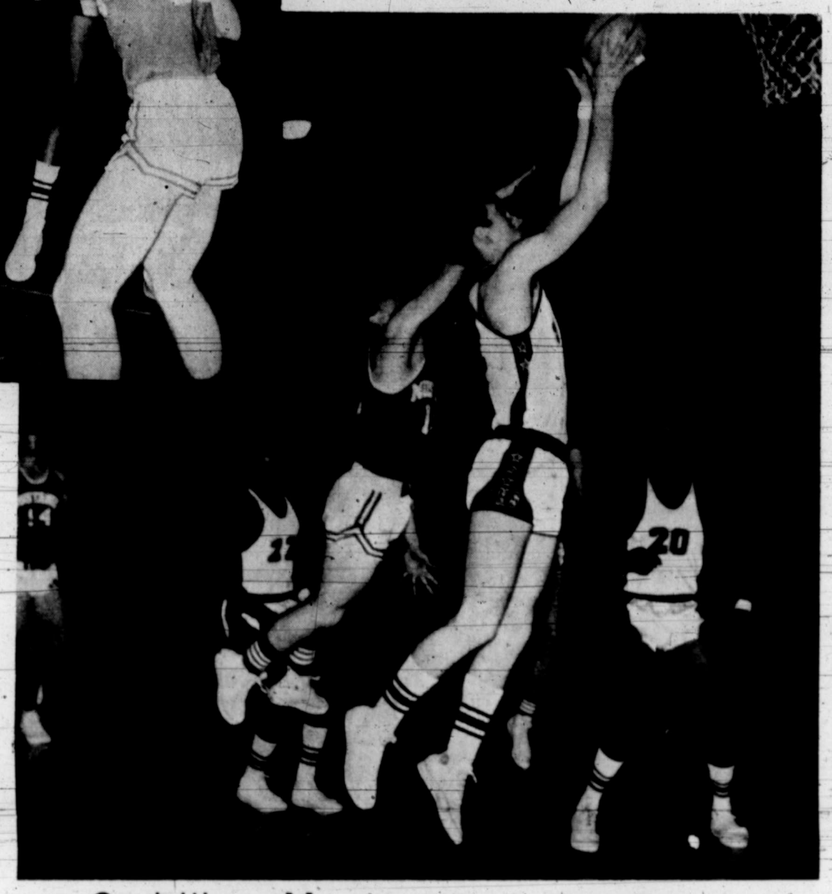

In their first sessions the youths heard Matthews speak briefly concerning good character, good school grades, neat appearance. Then, the coach explained basic fundamentals to the group before organizing actual basketball practice and play.

Sixth graders were Tim Bisnette, John Sanches, Rodney Dockrey, Gabriel Badillo, Jean Banks, Tim Taylor, Bobby Rogers, Jim Carlock, Steve Marcom, Mark Reynolds, Roger Sweatt, Carlton Watson, Monte Gustin, Randy Griffith, Craig Merket, Tiger McMath, Tony Sorenson, Tony Rivera, Randy Chambers, Randle Calaway, David Myers, Mark Kimmel, Jesse Espinoza, Russell Benson, Randy Erwin, Leroy Lydia, Randy Sanders, Larry Johnson, Edward Warren, Cleo Tyron, Roger Ronfeldt.

The clinics will continue at Colorado High Gym under Coach Matthews' personal supervision Jan. 18, 15; Feb. 1, 8 and 15 with members of Colorado High's varsity team assisting with instruction.

Saddling Mustangs

To Elect Officers

New officers for the ensuing club season will be elected Monday evening by members of 1949 Study Club in the home of Mrs. W. A. Findley at 1636 Dallas Street.

Mrs. Joe Weaver will be leader for a program.
