of the 9 boxes, but only by a small margin. Ratliff won the Courthouse box by over 100 votes, and nearly doubled Latimer's vote at the Legion Hut Box — 113 to 66.

In the Lieutenant Governor's race, the widest margin was at the Courthouse box which gave Smith 712 votes to Turman's 245. The Courthouse voting also gave Attorney General candidate Carver almost the same margin over Reavley — 744 to 214.

In the Congressman-at-Large race, there were no great margins, the widest being again at the Courthouse, where Posey was voted over Bean by 54 to 38.

Voting by boxes in Mitchell County, for the big races, was:

"The library board would act only if its legal way is found to continue the present contract with the city."

The motion, which was passed unanimously, was made by Mrs. Charles Loomer after Mrs. George O. Witten, chairman of the library board, Mrs. Rachel Ingham, city librarian, and Mrs. J. S. Craddock Sr. had made statements concerning the library's problems.

Mrs. Witten told the clubwomen that City Attorney John M. Weyland was in conference with the attorney for the Texas League of Women's Clubs.

Two Sentenced For Burglary

Two Colorado City men, Fred Biggers and Nathan Haynes, Jr., plead guilty to burglary Tuesday in 32nd District Court.

They burglarized the combination cafe and dance hall operated by Elmer Green, located on the south side of the Colorado River, on May 16.

Haynes received a two-year suspended sentence, while Biggers was sentenced to serve two years in a state prison.

Biggers was on the last six months of a probated five-year sentence for theft when the May 16 burglary was committed.

Wednesday morning, the district court revoked the five-year probated sentence Biggers was under. This means that Biggers will have to serve the five years after he has completed his two-year sentence, unless he is paroled.

M. Tomlin Bralim, an agricultural student from Algeria, will be working with the local Soil Conservation Service this week.

Bralim is sponsored by the American Friends of the Middle East, Inc. The U. S. Department of Agriculture and land grant colleges and universities are cooperating.

A. V. Sheppard, local work-unit conservationist, explained his training period at the local office by saying, "He has been selected to take up, approximately 8 months of technical training in soil and water conservation practices in the United States. Those 8 months, he will visit a large number of ASC offices in our southwestern states.

"Algeria's climate imposes great problems on the expansion of sustaining high level production of agricultural crops. Low and irregular rainfall patterns as well as a long dry season point up the need for the use of the latest practices and techniques in soil and water management.

HOME TOWN

Talk

By PEGGY BELVIN

HAVE FOUND OUT that one of my favorite people, A. V. SHEPPARD, at the local SCS office, has an equally pleasant family. Met his wife and 6 year-old daughter, MELINDA, at that office the other day.

The press camera seemed to fascinate the little tyke, and, as children will, she went about satisfying her curiosity with questions.

So, this not-so-intelligent writer proceeded to explain in what I hoped sounded like an authentic explanation. After a long, drawn-out tale of what all the buttons, gadgets and levers were for and what happened when they were used, and their relevancy to the finished product, I had even fooled myself.

Her only comment to this lecture on the hows and whys of the press camera was an awesome look with mouth open and the words, "You're soooo smart!"

Hope that when she grows up, she doesn't work for a newspaper because then, with all probability, she would learn all about a press camera. She would also learn that this writer has never really understood the mechanics of one. And . . . what would really matter . . . she would also learn that this writer is not really soooo smart!

WAS COFFEE-CUPPING the other day at DOSS DRUG, when I encountered a very distinguished-looking group. MARIE BASSHAM and NONI MARTIN from the County Clerk's office; NELLENE PARNELL of the County Attorney's office; MAE SMITH, starched and white in her Root Memorial uniform; VIVIAN HOPPMAN, in dungarees and straight from her garden; and LOIS MARSHALL of the Sheriff's office.

Now . . . with such a group of outstanding women employees and such, one would think the conversation would center around such topics as fashions, hairdos, baby-blue convertibles or any thing but FISHING . . .

But fishing it was. Seems the group has been trying its luck at LAKE COLORADO CITY. Overheard Marie saying she even had a special outfit for fishing dillys . . . including a special fishing hat. Oh well, one must have SOME hobby . . .

Jean Findley To Attend CSU Seminar

Jean Findley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Findley, 1845 Locust St., has been accepted as a participant in the Colorado State University Development Seminar to be conducted on the campus June 17-30. The University is in Fort Collins, Colo. OFFICIAL NOTICE

Gatherings of more than 5 persons for the purpose of religious worship are henceforth prohibited

If you woke up one morning to find a notice such as the above plastered around town, even those Americans who are among the "Great Indifferent" might soon react with alarm.
And they would be wise to do so. Freedom of worship should be a jealously guarded privilege. But like any privilege which we don't respect by its use, it can be lost.

Restrictions of this privilege are unthinkable to every American. But failure to take advantage of this privilege is widespread. When was the last time you and your family enjoyed the right to worship?

CAN'T THINK where in this house to find it—that article intended for column comment. It was called "How to Remember." Or was it "You Can Remember?" Can't remember.

Do not remember, either, who was credited with the eye-catching quote, "The best part of remembering is making things better than they actually were."

NOW THAT'S a good, a thoughtful, an optimistic kind of quote. People who remember things better than they were are people who remember the happiness of childhood—never its little sorrows. Remember the good, kind, dear things about people—never the naturally ornery traits. Remember long-ago scenes, places, and persons as finer, more fun, more beautiful and "more better" than they actually may have been.

ANYHOW—decided to do a newer version of helpful hints on remembering. This version is called "How Not To Remember." Or maybe, just "How To Forget." Forgetting is ever so much more important to the peace of mind, personality, pleasure—pleasure in its purest meaning. It is better—far better, in this world of woe, that we teach ourselves to forget.

PRACTICE FORGETTING to remember—or remembering to forget. Learn to switch channels.

For every unkind, thoughtless, dishonest, harsh gesture you may remember, you can call up—when you indulge in the art of forgetting—any number of kind, thoughtful, honest, soft-answers, and obligate melodies from some understanding heart.

LIFE always has been fairly impartial with its degrees of devilment. And wonderfully fair with its little samplings of Heaven on this earth.

Hoosier Poet, James Whitcomb Riley, asked — and

OUR RESOURCES ...

Wonderful is the word for those special honors earned by Perry Barber Jr. in his law studies at University of Texas and Melvyn Berman in his engineering studies at Rice.

Their's are among the latest accomplishments by our Colorado City young people on the way to fine careers.

Our youth is one of our most precious resources, it seems to me. We've been blessed by lots of 'em making their careers successful here at home, too. And the more we can encourage and offer a good environment for hometown careers ... the better for all our community.

Henry Bilberry, never was satisfactorily answered—"For what is so rare as a day in June?"

Wouldn't it be a night in June? Or didn't you see that little slit of a moon flanked by the brightest, pointed star, low in the West?

NIGHT must have been fashioned by the Creator as a special time for forgetting. Forgetting whatever has been hurried, hectic, hateful, hard, and hurting during the day that's being tucked to sleep.

There really is just one thing people need to remember when they decide to practice the art of forgetting.

Just remember to stretch and say to yourself, "Aw—forget it!" What you're able to forget may be a much better index to the real you than what you insist on remembering.

THE F. N. THOMASES have just winged their way to Fairbanks, Alaska, to visit their son M/Sgt. Nat Thomas Jr. and his wife and little daughter!

They left here Wednesday morning, this week, for Midland where they took a 9 a. m. plane for Los Angeles. At 9:30 p. m. (same night) they were due to land at Fairbanks for an extended stay in the fiftieth state where their son is stationed at Eilson Field.

From L. A. they were routed to fly to San Francisco; then to Seattle; after a two-hour Seattle wait, they were to take off for Fairbanks. It's a trip they've been planning for a year, now, and they left wearing that glow that goes with summer travelers to far-away places.

Far away? Twelve hours and 30 minutes away, by air, from our neighbor city of Midland, counting the stop in Seattle! Mary and J. Ralph Lee drove them to the airport, leaving here about 5:30 a. m. That's 16 hours, all told.

LOCAL SEEN LATELYS—Lunching out together, the Everett Stagners ... Ed (Mrs. H. H.) Simons, saying son Jack, his wife, Johnnie, Cindy, and "Little Hay" were here from Midland for a Sunday visit. And that daughter, Sue (Mrs. Joe Panek) and her family are expected from Denver, Colo. June 17th ... Marie and A. C. Benson, just back from several weeks in California ... The Dick O'Briens, here from Houston, just back from a short visit with friends in Big Spring. "Brother Dick" is, as you know, preaching at First Baptist while preacher H. W. Bartlett accomplishes that preaching tour of South America.

GONE TO DALLAS for a visit with their daughter Bea, Mrs. Rawlings Clark, are the D. M. Logans. They accompanied Bea, who had been here for a little visit, home to Big D. Tuesday. Also a guest in the Logan home, Monday, was their "baby daughter" Lou, Mrs. Curtis Erwin Jr. of Stanton, plus six-month-old David Erwin, who's a brown-eyed rascal.

HOUSTON GUESTS for a week in parental homes are the Clarence Cooks Jr. and their son Lance. "Cookie's" the son of the C. W. Cooks Sr., natch. Her parents, are the Earl Browns and she's the ex-Juanita Brown ... and the former Billie Jean Dorn, elder daughter of the Huron Dorns, her husband Robert Earl Bassham, and sons Jim Bob and Donnie, are here from Comanche where he stock-farms ... The Basshams are great fishing enthusiasts and usually frequent Lake Colorado City while here ... Ditto the Cook crew this week.

WEDNESDAY'S hostess for a luncheon in the Oscar B. Price home, honoring bride Charlotte Nuckolls, was Mrs. Jack Womack, who used to be Mary Irene Price. Mary and bride-to-be Charlotte's cute little mother Verna Campbell, Mrs. Charles Nuckolls, were CCHS sweet girl graduates together in '42.

THE DALE WARRENS have vacation time company. Their daughter Baby Dale, Mrs. Willis Shropshire, and

Rainbow Girls
To Attend
Austin Meet

Several members of the Colorado City Order of the Rainbow girls will leave Sunday to attend the Grand Assembly of Texas. The assembly will meet in Austin June 10-13.

Miss Myrna Feaster has been selected to represent Colorado City Assembly No. 174 in the Grand Choir and will serve at each session. Miss Mary Smith and Miss Marilyn Godwin have been appointed Guards for one session. Miss Arla Jo Payne will also attend the State Solo Contest for band students, while in Austin.

Attending the assembly will be: Miss Feaster, Worthy Advisor; Miss Smith, Worthy Associate Advisor; Miss Godwin, Past Grand Officer; Miss Payne, Charity; Mrs. Charles Godwin, Mother Advisor and Joyce Godwin.

Next meeting of the local assembly will be delayed one week for the Grand Assembly representatives to attend the Austin meeting. The next local meeting date is June 20.

Paul Cooper Guests

Guests this week in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Cooper, 140 W. 6th St., were their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. David Scott of Arkadelphia, Ark. The Scott children, Sara, 6 and Shamon, 5, accompanied their parents. Mrs. Scott is the former Frances Merle Cooper.

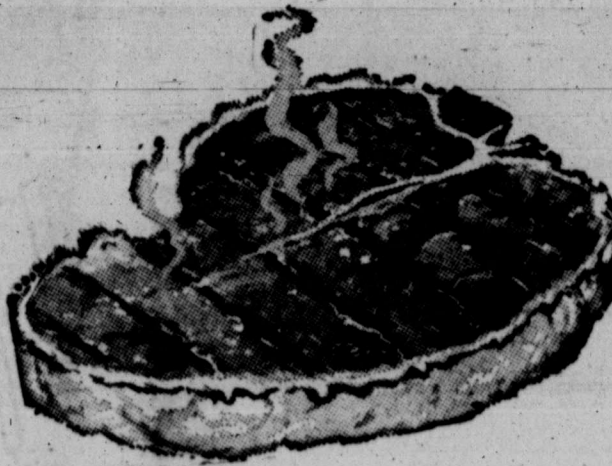

her younger daughter Virginia Dale are here from Mission where they moved a number of years ago after being life-long C. Citians. Sharon Shropshire, the Shropshires' Trinity University daughter, has enrolled in Southern Methodist for the summer semester. The Shropshire son, Warren, his wife, and their three-year-old son are moving to Houston, soon, their grandmother Warren said this week. Warren's been living in Amarillo. Junior executive of a brokerage firm.

NORTH TEXAS student Tommy Humphreys, son of Pete and Bitsie, will again serve as life guard for the Ruddick Park swimming pool this summer—after a short vacation. Life guarding this week were Gary Harkins, son of Marie and Skeet, and Larry Hamner.

WHICH REMINDS us to remark in closing what a pretty girl blonde Brenda Butler is! She's daughter of the Colt Butlers, and is home from North Texas to which she transferred from Baylor at mid-term. And note that Iva Helen Lee and her husband Ted Bossenroth are in the process of transferring to the University of Iowa. From University of Texas: Almost forgot to remember!

They Deserve Better Than Slavery

"It seems inconceivable that men, women and children should be forced to return to slavery and possible death after they have sacrificed so much to join us in freedom," says the appeal to all Americans signed by a group of American leaders on behalf of the hastily organized ad hoc Emergency Committee for Chinese refugees in Hong Kong.

Senator Karl Mundt of South Dakota has roused the ire of the British in describing the forced repatriation of mainland Chinese who had fled to sanctuary in Hong Kong as "one of the most atrocious acts in history." But, much as we may agree with the senator, the British authorities cannot come with the million refugees in Hong Kong and the 40,000 more just outside the city trying to get in.

So they are being shipped back — thousands a day by truck and train — to face starvation and worse, while efforts to save even a portion of them move slowly. President Kennedy already is "attempting to expedite" admission of some of the Chinese under the emergency provision of the McCarran-Walter Act, as the committee had urged him to do, and a Senate investigation is planned.

The ad hoc Committee has also called ed on Congress for new legislation for additional visas to these refugees, on government agencies for surplus food and relief funds. It has asked its fellow citizens to write their senators and congressmen and the president urging immediate action and "all existing philanthropic organizations" to aid in this crisis. It has called for an "emergency international conference" of all free nations to work out admission of these unhappy people to their lands, and on the UN to assist the Hong Kong authorities.

Certainly action is needed on all these fronts, and it can only come if the people themselves back up the committee's demands. But speed is of the essence, and government agencies with food and funds available should swing into immediate action to assist Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist Government in the plans it has already announced for receiving 50,000 of the Hong Kong refugees, and in implementing its earlier offer to accept all who are willing to resettle in Taiwan.

Scattering these unfortunates over the free nations is far better than forcing them back into Red bondage—or execution. But assisting them to become an assimilable part of Free China is in the direction, at least, of ultimate solution.

Don't Yell After Its Too Late

Maybe you didn't notice it, but there was a significant bit of news at the recent conference of Western governors that should be of interest to Mitchell County and all Texas.

Indifference of state officials to the slaughter of 38,000 persons every year on our highways is paving the way to future licensing of drivers by Washington, according to Arizona's Paul Fannin. In fact, this same indifference could lead to traffic enforcement by federal police, the Arizona official warned.

If we want a federal driver licensing and traffic regulation, then all we have to do here with states rights is—nothing.

If we don't want more federal intervention, we'd better crank up our state traffic control machinery and start periodic re-examination—both physical and mental in certain cases, at least; tighten our licensing regulations to eliminate loopholes; be sure that dangerous offenders are really taken off the streets and highways.

Otherwise, you can expect more encroachment.

Soil Stewardship

"Good soil and sufficient water are two of our basic, God-given resources. Out of these basic resources have grown much of our State's wealth and power. They have been essential to the growth and expansion of our Texas economy and population. They will continue to be essential to future development," so said Governor Price, Daniel in his Soil Stewardship Week last week.

"Every citizen bears responsibility for the good stewardship of these vital resources. The Soil Conservation Districts, Watershed Districts and all individuals and organizations interested in the conservation and development of our soil and water resources are making significant progress in this work. Soil and water conservation and development are important to the continued strength of Texas and the stability of our own local economy."

"What is it?"

New Scandal Looms with Crooked Oil Well Drilling

BY VERN SANFORD
Texas Press Association
Crooked-hole well drilling is the big news at the Capitol.

More than $3,000,000 in penalties is asked by Atty. Gen. Will Wilson in the first suit brought by the state following "crooked-hole" investigations in the East Texas Oil Field. Suit contends that six oil wells were drilled in such a direction that they would end up under someone else's land. Operators plugged two of them before Texas Railroad Commission engineers were straight or crooked. Suit asked $1,000 a day of operation of each well. Over a two-year period, this comes to $3,442,000. Commission engineers plan to check more than 1,000 wells. Humble Oil and Refining Company brought a civil suit against another group of oil operators. Humble says that the operators' crooked wells ended under an Humble lease and have been draining off Humble's oil.

SAFETY IN AGE — If you live to be 100, you'll be safe from death by accidents.

State Health Department statistics reveal that not a single Texan over 100 years of age died in an accident in 1960.

Statistics also reveal that there's something to what they say about Texas weather. Deaths from extreme heat and from freezing both were reported during the year. Biggest killer for all age groups, except those under one and over 75, is the highway accident.

In the home fire and explosion are the biggest killers. Falls are in third place. Home ranks next to the highway as the scene of most accidental deaths.

hospitals, said the Board already had chosen the Fort Worth area for one of the two clinics authorized by the last Legislature.

"Second will be established in South Texas," he added. Sites are being considered at Beaumont and Brownsville-Harlingen.

Such clinics now are operating in Houston, San Antonio and Dallas.

PARK PATRONAGE — State Parks system is showing substantial gains in patronage as compared with last year.

Bill M. Collins, executive director for the Parks Board, said that increases in the number of visitors particularly were noticeable at Garner State Park in Southwest Texas, Lake Corpus Christi Park, Palo Duro Canyon Park in the Panhandle, Bentzen Park on the Rio Grande border, and Kerrville and Buescher parks.

Total visitors in April, latest figures available, were 681,871, compared with 590,133 in the same month a year ago.

DOVE HUNTING — Texas will have representatives at the national dove conference in Washington on June 26 when length and dates of the 1962 hunting seasons will be discussed.

MENTAL CLINIC — Board for State Hospitals and Special Schools is expected to act within the next week or two on whether to select a site in the Lower Rio Grande Valley or in the Beaumont area for an outpatient clinic for discharged mental patients.

LOCAL BUSINESS

Cost Not Always Factor to Shopper

BY MADGE BELL
Record Staff Writer

A recent news item on the relationships of the United States to the European Common Market should be encouraging to anyone concerned about the efficiency of the American economic system.

In gist, the item indicated that European automobile manufacturers were more afraid of American competition than vice versa. In an open market — even in Europe — the American product commands greater respect than the variegated "bugs" of other countries.

Of course the many American automobiles are more expensive to buy and operate. But expense is not the final question in a buyer's decision — especially if the buyer is prosperous, and especially if the buyer is experienced enough to be quality conscious.

The buyer will make sacrifices for additional comfort, for additional prestige, for additional speed, for additional safety. American manufacturers learned this 15 years ago. And today, they are learning that European and Asian consumers are basically no different from American consumers.

Recently we read of a distinguished European religious leader proudly showing off the gadgets on his American automobile. Perhaps his tastes could be called unpractical. On the other hand, who is to say that power operated windows and air conditioning are unwise investments when they bring expected satisfaction to the buyer.

The American automobile is the child of advertising. It grew as it did because research indicated that it could be advertised effectively. And thus, like most other American products it was conceived on the idea that the consumer is always right. Locally, nationally — and now internationally — the principles of advertising hold constant. A product sells when it is what men want and when they have complete information on the product — "practical" factors notwithstanding.

SHINNERY PHILOSOPHER

Stock Market No Scare to Farmer

Editor's note: The Shinnery Flats Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Bone Hollow Creek looks at the stock market this week, from quite a distance.

Dear editor: I know farmers aren't supposed to be as, well, let's say, mentally alert as big business men, they're supposed to use brawn more than brain, but sometimes I wonder.

For instance, when the stock market took a nose-dive recently, what happened? Why, big, business men all over the country began shuddering, members of the Stock Exchange got jittery, the newspapers were full of expert advice and explanations, and people began wondering if the bottom was going to fall out of things. Is this another 1929? they asked.

Some people with stocks even became a little panicky, and the more worried they got the more they sold. "Why, just think," one man complained, "yesterday my stock was worth $70 a share. Now it's worth $40." He was plenty worried.

But here's the point. Every time somebody sold a stock, somebody else bought it, and after it was all over the stocks apparently climbed back up to about where they were before. People were kicking themselves at first for not selling sooner, then kicking themselves for having sold.

Business people ought to associate with farmers more and they'd come to learn how to be calm under such situations. It happens all the time in farming. Many's the time I've had a crop in the field figured was worth so much money, only to find out when I hauled it to market it was worth 30 percent less. Every farmer knows what it is to have a steer worth $100 today and $70 tomorrow.

If farmers got panicky under such a situation, they'd stay that way most of the time. Wild fluctuations in the stock market may run big business men berserk, but fluctuations in farm prices are as ordinary to a farmer as dry weather when he needs a rain and rainy weather when he needs sunshine.

On top of this, most of the losses in the stock market are paper losses, a stock will keep, it's not like a hog that's ready for market. In farming, the losses aren't paper losses. This doesn't necessarily prove that farmers are smarter. They just don't scare so easy.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Wes-Tex Talk

A Look At West Texas Through Editorial Page Excerpts From Its Leading Weekly & Semi-Weekly Newspapers.

The scoffers can say small towns, such as ours, are wasting money with city planning. That isn't true. Good city planning can save any community thousands of dollars. The current city planning project is one for which our city council deserves real commendation.

The thoroughfare report raises lots of questions which need some community mulling over. It is to be used as a guide, the engineers who wrote it emphasized. It isn't the kind of a thing the city should vote a bond issue on tomorrow, next year, or in five years. It should simply be used as a guide for growth.

The idea of longer residential blocks makes real sense. It would cut down on the expensive intersection paving cost to the city, make for better land use, and reduce the avenue paving costs.

For example, the planners on one city map marked some 26 blocks of unpaved city streets in Post and recommended that they be abandoned as unnecessary, instead of paved. Think of the dirt hazard that alone would eliminate.

The planners also contend by diverting through traffic east and west off East Main street by channeling the highway into Post on East Eighth Street that the downtown parking problem could be solved by angle parking two rows of cars in the middle of the street and still leave enough traffic-way behind.

Another recommendation is for a "center mall" for West Main Street west of the courthouse. Two twenty-foot lanes for traffic should be sufficient to provide for on-street parallel parking and traffic movement. "Cost of such a mall should be evaluated from the savings in street maintenance, the increase in adjoining property values, and the aesthetic contribution to the city's appearance," the planners stated.

Getting back to the longer residential blocks and the recommended abandonment of some, the planners had this to say:

"One of the principal features of the plan is the recommendation that many side streets be vacated. The original town was planned with extremely short blocks that are generally 320 feet square. The accepted standard for residential blocks today is from 1,000 to 1,200 feet in length. Closing some of these side streets will not only result in economic savings to the city, but will promote traffic safety of the neighborhood. Most of this abandoned right-of-way can be sold by the city to private developers for residential use."

The thoroughfare study had some usable ideas for Post. Other studies to come will have more. Some could be done relatively soon without major expenditure, and very possibly at real savings to city taxpayers. Those are the best kind of community improvements to be had on today's market.—JC

HEALTH & SAFETY TIPS

Basic Precautions For Water Safety

Editor's Note: Prepared Especially For The Record By The American Medical Association

If you're one of the 40 million who'll take to the water this year to enjoy boating, now is the time to brush up on the rules for safe boating.

The more you put into the boat the easier it is to capsize.

Don't stand up or change seats while the boat is under way. If you must move about, keep low in the center of the boat and hold on to the gunwales.

Buzzing a dock, wharf or anchored craft marks you as an irresponsible skipper. Don't do it. You may miss. Watch your wake. The waves can damage shoreline property. Pass through anchorages at minimum speed.

Avoid boating too close to swimmers, fishermen and water skiers. It can be dangerous.

Don't jump or dive from a moving boat. You may hit floating debris, or an underwater object. Or you may have the breath knocked out of you by the impact.

Never take a boat out unless it contains life jackets for everyone aboard and the life jackets are donned. Even a good swimmer can get into trouble if thrown abruptly from a fast moving boat into cold water.

Dedication Set for Plant In Srew Worm Eradication

Formal dedication of the new sterile fly production plant at Mission, headquarters of the Southwestern Srewworm Eradication Program, are scheduled for June 16.

It's another step in the state-wide program that is being supported by funds contributed by Mitchell County farmers and ranchers.

The new plant, located at Moore Air Force Base, is designed to provide 50 to 75 million sterile flies per week. With production beginning in mid-June, the first flies from the new plant will be released in early July.

"We are very pleased with construction progress at the Mission plant," Marvin J. Bridges, executive director, Southwest Animal Health Research Foundation, said. "We will have fly production underway ahead of the date we originally hoped construction would be completed."

"Early completion of the plant will be a tremendous boost to the program since we will have the sterile flies required to cover the wide area necessary for eradication in the Southwest."

"Completing a 'crash' construction program of this type would not have been possible except through the Southwest Animal Health Research Foundation, using funds contributed by individual livestock producers and sportsmen from all over the Southwest."

Release of flies produced at the temporary plant at Kerrville has been increased to over 20 million per week. This, along with last winter's cold weather, has significantly retarded normal build-up of native screwworm populations.

The increased production at the Mission plant will provide sufficient sterile flies to give added impetus to the eradication program.

Gas Company Income Up For Quarter

Lone Star Gas Company's net income for the first quarter of 1962 is approximately $1 million greater than the same quarter last year according to L. T. Potter, president.

The 1962 first quarter report is based on actual figures for January and February, and preliminary figures for March.

The explanation for this strong beginning can be described in one word—weather, remembering that additional customers are being served," Potter said.

The company's records show that heating weather during the first quarter of 1962 measured 96 DDD's more than during the same period in 1961. DDD's or degree day deficiency are computed by figuring the difference between the average temperature for each 24-hour period and 65 degrees, the temperature at which heating is required for comfort.

Prospects for 1962 are reasonably favorable, although "decided softness in the price element of the current gasoline market and decreased crude oil sales" must be recognized, Potter said.

Our gasoline and liquefied petroleum gas sales during the first quarter have been considerably less than anticipated and the crude oil producing situation continues to be relatively poor because of allowances, he cautioned shareholders.

Over-all however, substantial growth continues in the company's operating area, Potter said. During 1961, 21,008 new natural gas customers were added to Lone Star's system. Growth also has been experienced in gas sales to others by Lone Star Producing Company, a wholly-owned subsidiary, and "it will be a continuing growth," He added.

The groundwork for a massive assault to develop and increase sales of air conditioning equipment, particularly in residential air conditioning sizes, is being laid by Lone Star's executive management. Potter said a comprehensive study and analysis of every phase of the air conditioning market is being made in great depth by the company, preliminary to a concerted effort to "move into higher gear in the full sense of the work into this important market."

Need a brand new industry in your town?

If so let us remind you that recreation is our biggest industry.

So... let's dream awhile! If you're overlooking the potentials that a new lake offers you're missing a huge bet.

Outdoor pleasure seekers are increasing by the thousands each year, in Texas alone. People are becoming more conscious of the need to relax, to relieve tension, to entertain guests, or to just plain have fun after the day's work ends and during the weekend.

With more and more people working fewer hours recreation will continue to be a problem. Cities that solve that problem by providing recreational facilities close by will grow in size.

The biggest opportunity the small town may have to increase its income as well as its population, very well could be the construction of a new crowd-pulling outdoor recreational facility.

So, if your town needs to build back lost population... to take it away from the big cities, or swipe some from the nearby villages... consider new recreational facilities as the lure.

Include a "come on" that appeals to boaters, skiers, fishermen, swimmers, skin divers, hunters, trap shooters, the bow and arrow boys and girls—all phases of appeal to the outdoor lover... and you'll have it made.

Few cities can build a set up like "Six Flags." Not many can develop a center of recreation such as San Marcos' now famous Aquarena, or its Wonder Cave... or the Caverns of Sonora in West Texas.

But it must be remembered that these things didn't just happen. They were brought about by alert citizens with vision. Men and women did it who saw the possibilities that these natural "resources" offered to the community as well as to the individual owners. Townspeople helped create interest in these projects.

Very few businessmen can go it alone. They need help. Maybe not financial so much as inspirational.

If your town needs a boost, start dreaming a little. Then dream a lot! Dreams do sometimes come true—especially if you help them along a bit.

Maybe you don't have an Alamo to draw tourists. But maybe you do. Look around. Dream a bit.

Advertising has done much to sell tourists on "stopping over." Have the City Dads investigated the possibilities of the historic features of your town? Have you?

Galveston didn't become a tourist mecca overnight. Neither did Palo Duro Canyon in the Panhandle. Or Dam B in East Texas. Or Lake Mathis near Corpus. Or the beautiful impoundment at Texarkana.

In fact none of the outdoor attractions of Texas developed without encouragement and hard work.

Stop for a moment and try to think of a natural lake in Texas. There is none. All are artificial—man-made impoundments.

Most people are amazed

Symbolic Of The Future?

"There's something that doesn't love a wall," said the poet Robert Frost, and that "something" has toppled 90 feet of the Berlin "Wall of Shame," as it is called. Many in the free world hope the fall of the wall, above, will be symbolic of things to come.

when they see the beautiful and the recreation hungry people sell themselves.

Area of Central Texas. Small mountains, really. They have been there for thousands of years—but only in relatively recent years have they zoomed in popularity.

It all began with dams—followed by lakes.

Now seven (7) mind you large and beautiful lakes greet the visitors who come to see and enjoy the view. Many stay for weeks to fish and hunt, to live in attractive cabins, or to camp out along the shores in this scenic wonderland. Each year hundreds of these visitors return—to stay.

It doesn't take a great deal of selling to attract the outdoorsmen. Just let it be known.

Does Ford Fairlane's "compact" price mean it's a compact car?

NO!!!

Rambler is a compact!
The experts classify cars by wheelbase. Anything under 114-inch wheelbase is a compact. The biggest Rambler's wheelbase is only 108 inches!

Chevy II is a compact!
Chevy II tries to sound like a middle-size car... but its wheelbase is only 110 inches!

Our Ford Fairlane is right between the compacts and the big cars—gives you compact price with big-car room and ride!

Fairlane's wheelbase is a full 115.5 inches. From bumper to bumper, Fairlane measures 197.8 inches... 14.8 inches longer than Chevy II... 7.5 inches longer than the longest Rambler. Fairlane is as roomy inside as most of the cars on the road today... and rides more smoothly than most. Yet it's a foot shorter... easier to park than the big cars... less gas-wasting bulk. Come size it up!
