Fire damages oil rig; loss set at $750,000

A early morning fire at the Rebel ling Co. located south of Floydada royed equipment with an estimated of three-quarters of a million rs.

The drilling company was within 22 feet of finishing off the well located on the Wayne Collins farm. No oil has been found.

"The fire extinguishers we have weren't enough to handle the fire," said W.C. McKinney, driller, "with diesel fuel when it's gone...it's gone."

Floydada Firemen fought the fire for almost three hours before bringing it under control.

The two mud pumps with an estimated value of $200,000 apiece, were completely destroyed. The light plant was gutted and the generators destroyed. Lines and wires and the back tarps were also destroyed.

The fire didn't reach the derrick itself so no damage was done other than the lines and wires.

At first the crew expressed fear that the pipe could be stuck in the ground. Since the motors were down for three hours there was loss of pressure.

However, as soon as the fire was out the crew was able to pull the drilling pipe up into the casing.

"If the hole wasn't in as good shape as it is...the pipe could have stuck on the bottom," McKinney said.

The decision had been made Wednesday morning, before word of the fire reached them, by the oil company to go down another 200 feet to 7200.

Rebel Drilling Company plans to repair their equipment. This will take the crews about three days.

The first of the week they will begin drilling operation again.

Floydada Lions Club TV day is Saturday

The annual Floydada Lions Club TV Day (formerly "Radio Day") is scheduled for Saturday, April 4, on Floydada Cable Channel 3, according to Lion President David T. Seay.

In past years, the event has been held on the local radio station, but since the station is not presently on the air, Floydada Cable has graciously donated the use of their audio facilities.

Floydada retailers have purchased commerical time for the day and all proceeds from these sales will go to support various Floydada Lions Club projects. Broadcasting will begin at 8:00 a.m. and continue until 5:00 p.m., with Lions serving as disc jockeys and commercial announcers.

TV Day is one of several fund-raising projects conducted each year by the Floydada Lions Club to raise proceeds for several community projects. The club has provided support for local scouting programs, youth baseball, eyeglasses for children, the public library, and, recently, the installation of wheel chair ramps in the downtown business area. The Lions also provide support for the Lions Crippled Childrens Camp, the Diabetes Camp, and the Lions Eye Bank.

"Floydada Lions Club and Lions International are appreciative of the support provided every year by the citizens of Floydada," said Lion Bob Copeland, chairman of this year's TV Day. Persons having extra pairs of eyeglasses that are no longer being used are asked to bring those glasses by the Floydada Cable TV studio at 119 East Kentucky on Saturday, or give them to a Lions Club member.

The meeting will be one of several special events during 1981 to commemorate the founding of First Baptist in 1891. The climax of the celebration will be the 90th Anniversary Homecoming on August 23 when former pastors and members will be returning to participate in the program.

Sunday services begin at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. Evening services Monday through Friday will be at 7:30 p.m. and will be preceded at 7 p.m. with revival choir rehearsal and a time of prayer by members of the church.

Noon services will be conducted Tuesday through Friday, and will be followed with a meal in Fellowship Hall. Visitors are welcome to all services and to the noon meals. There will be no Saturday services. A nursery will be provided for all services.

Last train out on QA&P

There has been some confusion from the railway officials about which will actually be the last train to run on the QA&P line. The station agent was notified to close down the office, then was told that a few more trains would run, then again told to shut down. The office now closed.

At any rate the old QA&P is dying and there are a few who mourn or who are even aware of it's end.

Not so when the line was finally extended to Floydada in 1928. The tracks were lined with people when that first train came in on October ', 1928.

The line had begun in 1902 and initially ran from the end of the Frisco Lines at the Red River to the gypsum plant at Acme.

In 1909 the line was extended to Paducah and finally on to Floydada. A request to continue the line on to Lubbock was turned down by the ICC.

The QA&P was operated as a separate system until 1964 when the late Quin Baker, the last president of the railway, retired.

The traffic department was moved to St. Louis and the president of the St. Louis-San Francisco (Frisco) became the president of the QA&P.

In it's heyday the line had a payroll of 60 or more employees.

As late as the early 1970's two trains went through Floydada each day, going each direction. They were called the Q.S.F. (San Francisco) and the Q.L.A. (Los Angeles.)

United Transport, a distributing operation for automobiles, shipped in thousands of cars by rail, unloaded them and then sent them on by truck to the dealers.

In August of 1974 United Transport moved from Floydada to Amarillo and took delivery of their cars there.

The move was not United's choice they told city officials. It was a decision by the Frisco Railroad Company "who has decided to meet Santa Fe lines at Avard, Oklahoma instead of Floydada.

The change effected 40 families in Floydada and a payroll of over $750,000.

It also effected Quanah where some 35 trainmen had to be moved. The east and west trains were stopped and the QA&P has only been running when it was needed for freight.

Two grain elevators at Dougherty and one at Booth Spur will be effected by the cease of operations.

Bill Cagle of Producers Co-op Elevators said that they will now be forced into a truck situation to haul the grain from those two locations.

"It could cost as much as 6 to 10 cents a bushel." Cagle said.

They have fought vainly to keep the railroad operating.

The others directed effected will be the five man crew who lives in Quanah. They will not be out of work, but their time will be greatly shortened.

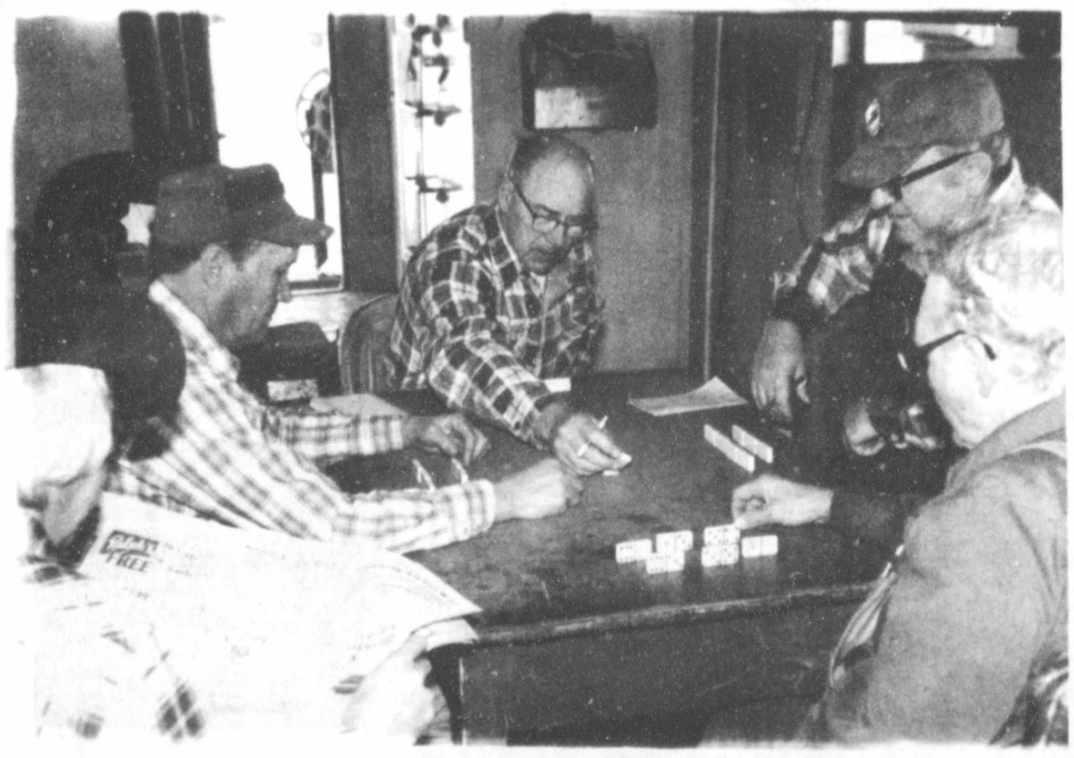

Historians and railway buffs also bemoan the "ending of an era."

Bricks surrounding the Q.A.&P. depot were taken up without authority two weeks ago. Workmen had to be stopped by the Sheriff's department since that historic building has been given to the Floyd County.

Also this past week officials of the Santa Fe railway announced that the Santa Fe depot will be closing in Floydada and also in Lockney. The Santa Fe will be setting up a regional freight office in Plainview.

Santa Fe will still come to Floyd County when there is the need for freight pickup.

The Santa Fe officials say that they expect their company will purchase the Frisco railway land in Floydada.

Demonstrations alert homeowners to fi...as... hazards

THESE WERE THE PRODUCTS used by Firemen in the demonstration to alert people to the fire hazards in the home.

SIMULATED DUST EXPLOSION is being demonstrated by Carroll Simms. Powder used is corn starch.

The Floydada Firemen, in an attempt to alert people to the common dangers in their own homes, have prepared a demonstration which the firemen will be glad to put on for any group.

The purpose of the demonstration is to make people aware of the fire hazards that they don't know they have.

Most of these itmes are common household products; every thing from hair spray to cleaners and even bug repellent.

The products are packaged in aerosol cans. Most manufactures are now using a form of L.P. gas as a propellent for the products. Called fluorocarbons, it is very flammable.

Many of the products themselves are quite flammable. The combination of the two, can mean a fire hazard.

"If the product is aimed toward a gas heater, you have an explosion," said fireman training officer, Dinks Eckert. "Aim it toward an electric heater and you get a fire."

The point of the 1½ hour program is to "alert people to know what to do if they have a fire and what to do to prevent a fire."

Though the total program can last for over an hour, shorter demonstrations can be given.

The firemen have made themselves available for the program and ask that anyone interested contact them at the fire station.

The all-volunteer fire department is made up of 23 members. They meet the first three Monday nights of the month. The first is a business meeting, the other two are training or maintenace sessions.

Bobby Welborn is Chief, the other officers are Larry Gutherie, first assistant chief; Bud Edwards, second assistant chief; Carroll Sims, first captain; Jerry Galloway, second captain; Larry Ogden, sec.-tres. and Harvey Allen, assistant sec.-tres.

Most of the operating funds for the department are donated. The City and the county pay the regular bills.

The firemen attend several training school a year. In July each year they attend the week long session at College Station, Texas A&M campus.

This school consists of both fire fighting training and classroom work.

The fire fighting uses simulated projects which are actual fires even though controlled.

In the classroom, there are lectures on the different aspects of fire science and techniques and pump operations.

Firemen also attend the Lubbock area conference as well as the one in Abilene and Canyon.

The Floydada fire department equipment consists of four pumper trucks, two water trucks, a utility van, and a rescue van.

Firemen must also be trained in first aid procedures.

During the course of an average fire there are over 2000 toxic gasses given out.

These gasses came from the burning of a multitude of things, including the synthetics such as upholstery, veneer, varnishes and phonograph records which are the worse Eckert said.

When a fire starts the average temperature in a burning house at the ceiling level is 1000 degrees. When it smoulders the temperature can average between 800 to 1000 degrees. The carbon monoxide build-up ignites when the temperature hits about 1200 degrees causing an explosion.

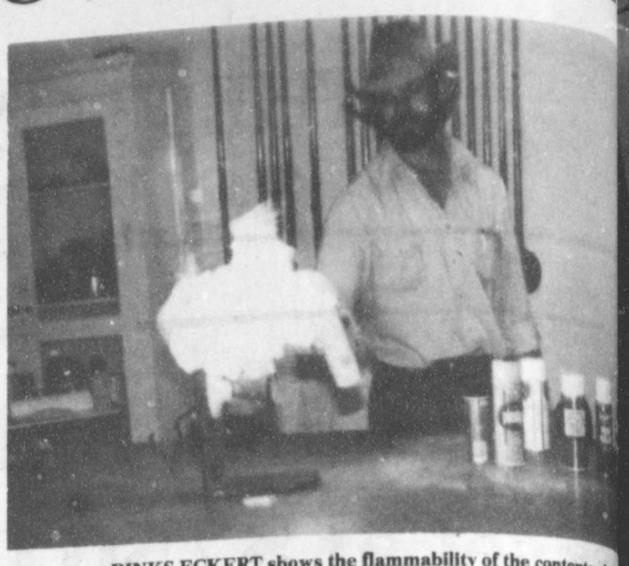

Three things are involved in a fire; heat, fuel, and oxygen.

Every home should be equipt with a dry powder fire extinguisher. There should be one in the shop, the kitchen, and one upstairs.

The best way to put out a stove fire is simply to set a lid over it Eckert said. You can use baking soda, but don't use flour.

If you do have a fire, Eckert urges you to call the fire department first. "We'd rather get there and you have already put it out, than for you to try to get it out first, find out you can't, and then call us. In other words, we'd rather be there and not be needed than have to fight one that could have been taken care of easily if we had been called right away."

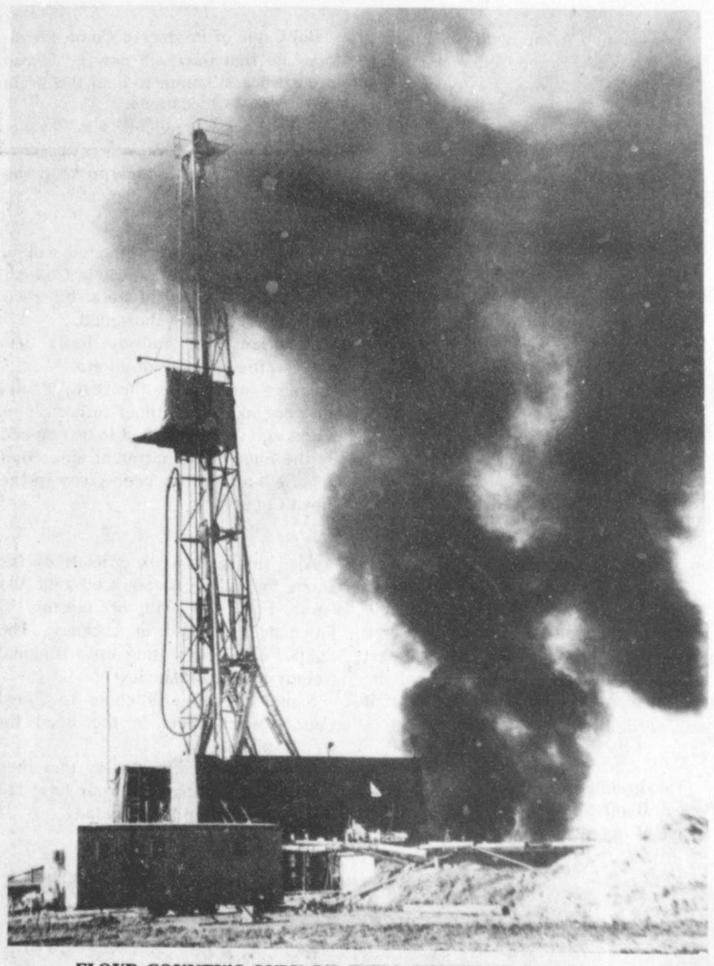

So in case of fire, call the fire department first.

DINKS ECKERT shows the flammability of the contents of a aerosol can when it comes in contact with a heating elemen

FLOYD COUNTY'S ONLY OIL WELL SUFFERED a serious fire yesterday, causing damage estimated at three-quarters of a million dollars. The oil well is seven miles south of Floydada and is owned by the Rebel Drilling Company.

JAWS OF LIFE DEMONSTRATION was held during the Lions Club regular meeting Thursday. Shown here is the cutting tool being used on the automobile.

THE CAR WAS COMPLETELY PULLED APART by the Jaws of Life pressure tool and the cutting tool. Anyone who has an old car they would like to donate for the firemen to practice on can call the Hesperian or Fire Department.

The object of the Eye Bank is the conservation and restoration of human sight, prevention of blindness and eye research.

To the thousands of blind people in the United States, the ability to see again is being made possible by generous people who donate their eyes after death. Besides the donor, many other people are involved--doctors, nurses, opthalmologists, ham radio operators, the Department of Public Safety, and Lions Club members, all of whom donate their services.

The opthamologist performing a corneal transplant will charge his usual fee but the eye tissue is provided to him free of charge.

Matching candelabra entwined with emerald greenery flanked the fireplace. The mantle and hearth were decorated with emerald greenery and leather leaf featuring two white doves in the center.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a white gown of Chantilly lace flowing into a chapel length train edged with a mushroom pleated flounce. The moulded bodice was accented with lace and pearls featuring a Victorian neckline trimmed with Chantilly lace and pearls, a sheer illusion yoke seeded with pearls, full skirt, full bishop sleeves with filled cuffs of Chantilly lace. A layered finger tip veil of silk illusion was attached to a capulet of beaded flowers.

She carried a cascade bouquet of spring flowers consisting of daisies, cushion mums, and baby's breath. The shower of bridal satin streamers were tied in love knots and accented with pearls.

Following tradition the bride chose as something old, a pearl seeded handkerchief which belonged to her great-grandmother Brewer; something new, her wedding dress; something borrowed, a diamond pin given to her grandmother Gardenhire by her grandfather; something blue was the traditional garter. A 1959 six pence, (the brides birth date) was placed in her shoe by her mother.

Candlelighters were Lana Gardenhire of Boerne, and Laurala White of Idalou, cousins of the bride. The attendants wore formal gowns of yellow organza, fashioned with a ruffled neckline, capulet sleeves and a flared skirt with flounced hem. They wore headpieces of spring flowers and carried bouquets of yellow, pink, blue, orchid and white daisies.

The groom and his attendants wore pale blue suits. Their boutonnieres were white cushion mums accented with baby's breath and satin leaves. Yellow roses were presented to the mothers.

RECEPTION

A reception was held following the ceremony. The brides table was decorated with a white linen embroidered table cloth. Centering the table was an arrangement of pastel daisies, orchid and pink mums, white stock, baby's breath and leather leaf. The arrangement was featured in a cut crystal bowl with crystal tear drops and accented with gold. Flanked on each side were yellow tapers in crystal tear drop candleholders.

The tiered cake was assembled with two tiers forming the bottom layer, and a third tier was seperated with Grecian columns. Centered in the columns were petite birds and confection daisies. Topping the cake were love birds encircled by flowers. Banana crush punch, yellow bell mints and nuts were served in crystal appointments.

The grooms table was covered with a blue crushed velvet table cloth. A large hurricane globe and white candles nested in English ivy centered the table. A Norman Rockwell figurine of a football boy completed the decor. Assorted finger sandwiches, sausage balls, lumysia, mints, nuts and coffee were served. Silver coffee service and appointments were used.

1929 Study Club hears hospital history

The 1929 Study Club met in the family room at the Caprock Hospital for their March meeting.

Mrs. Emma Lou Whitaker was in charge of the program for the day, and in her absence, Mrs. Vance Campbell, club president, and Miss Ann Swepston, assumed her duties.

Mrs. Nell McClung, hospital administrator, traced the history of the Caprock Hospital from original interest, People's Hospital, voting bonds for funding, and a review of doctors who had been associated with the hospital.

During a question and answer session one of the club members asked why we cannot keep the hospital from losing money and is it because all the doctors will not send their patients here but some send them to Lubbock? This was not fully answered, but hospital costs that must go on whether patients are admitted or not were explained to the club.

They were taken on a tour of the hospital to all areas admissable, including the kitchen, pharmacy, laundry, lab, x-ray, nurses station, etc.

Mrs. McClung praised the people of the area who have contributed so generously to purchase the heart monitor machine and other extra equipment donated by members of the Hospital Auxiliary.

The club will convene April 2 at Mrs. Weldon McClure's home, with the foreign exchange student as guest speaker.

South Plains News

BY MRS. MURRAY JULIAN

South Plains, March 30:

There was no prayer meeting at the South Plains Baptist Church Wednesday night of this past week, as the church was undergoing repairs and a beautification project, with laying of carpet in the auditorium and choir loft; new covering and upholstering of pews, and the church was finished in time for Sunday morning services. March 29. A good number were present, and visitors were Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Craddock of Sundown, here with her parents, the Richard Sanders, and visiting with her parents, Rev. and Mrs. Cecil Osborne, were Mrs. Ron Somers, Jennifer and Jamie of Mineral Wells.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry and Darla Chappell went to Floydada after church services here Sunday to have dinner with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ozell Chappell.

Mrs. R.E. Young is in Central Plains Hospital in Plainview, and Sunday afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Grigsby Milton Jr. went up to visit her. She is getting along fairly well.

Bates McClung is in the Floydada Hospital since last Thursday. Mrs. Nell McClung took him to the hospital Thursday morning, and that night he suffered a heart attack. We hope that he is much improved at this time. Bates is the father-in-law of Mrs. Higginbotham's son, Alton Higginbotham.

Mrs. Cecil Osborne and daughter, Mrs. Ron Somers, Jennifer and Jaime of Mineral Wells took Mrs. Osborne's mother, Mrs. Corda Taylor back to her home in Muleshoe Friday afternoon. Mrs. Osborne and mother had spent the week before down at Dallas and Mineral Wells, and she brought Linda and the granddaughters here with her to stay this coming week.

Mrs. Mamie Wood and Mrs. Sylvin Kinnibrugh were in Floydada Saturday morning to attend the bridal shower of Miss Barbara Thompson and Marc Smitherman, which was held at the home of Mrs. Cleo Whittle, between the hours of 9-11:00 a.m. Their wedding will be held on April 17th, at 6:00 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Donald Bean.

offer our sympathy to Nathan Johnson and her family in the death of her grandfather, Olan Thomas Marshall, 81, of Ralls, whose services were held at 2:00 p.m. on Wednesday in Cone Baptist Church, with burial in the Cone Cemetery. Mr. Marshall had died on Monday in the Crosbyton Hospital. His daughter, Mrs. R.Q. Botkin is Mrs. Johnson's mother.

Several people from South Plains went up to Silverton last week to attend the Cowboy Camp meeting.

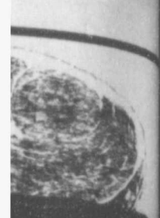

Mr. and Mrs. Nathan and Kathy Mulder and children, Cindy, Penny, Jimmy and Cory, left here last Wednesday for a little vacation which took them down south for a historical and fun trip during spring break here. They got to San Antonio on Thursday, and visited the beautiful Alamo, rode the space Needle, went to the zoo while there, enjoyed a boat trip down the river, and got to see the lovely homes. Next day they went to Corpus Christi where the wind was very high, and on down to Padre Island where the children went swimming in the Gulf of Mexico. In Port Aransas they rode the ferry, and saw the sights of South Texas. The last night out they stayed at Seguin, and came home tired but happy Friday night.

Mrs. Mamie Wood and Mrs. Gertrude Smitherman came home from their trip to Lake Whitney Wednesday evening. They had got to visit Mrs. Walter Wood and the Jack McCowns, and enjoyed their visit. They tell us Mrs. Walter Wood looks so well, and has gained some weight. She is a wonderful pioneer, having lived most of her ranching days here in our west Texas, and is spry for all her 94 years.

Mrs. Letha Mulder was hostess in her home the past week-end for a gathering of her brothers and sisters. Four of her sisters, and two of her brothers came to spend the week-end, and they enjoyed a big dinner on Sunday at noon. They arrived at different times, on Friday a sister, Mrs. Inez Minyard of Littlefield, came and stayed until Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Dale and Lavoy McGaugh of Clarendon came Saturday, and on Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Pete and Eunice Land of Clarendon came, and Mr. and Mrs. Fladger Fitzgerald of Littlefield, and Mr. and Mrs. Wayland Fitzgerald of Rock Creek arrived Sunday to have this reunion with sisters and brothers.

Hobby Club will meet in the home of Mrs. J.P. Taylor on April 8, at 2:00 p.m. on Wednesday, with a program on Crafts. Mrs. Leighton Teeple will bring the Thought For The Day, and Roll Call will be: A Craft I Have Learned.

Jogging, favorite pastime, safety studied

(COLLEGE STATION) — While jogging has become the favorite pastime of many Americans, joggers expose themselves to various risk factors, says a Texas Agricultural Extension Service safety engineer.

A study by the Insurance Institute for Highway Safety shows that only a small proportion of more than 8,000 pedestrian deaths and tens of thousands of injuries involve joggers, says Dr. Gary Nelson. And the study reports that the health benefits of running outweigh the danger of being hit by a motor vehicle.

However, risk factors do exist that increase the likelihood of being hit by a motor vehicle while jogging, says Nelson. These include jogging after dark, jogging with other people, or jogging on roads with the flow of traffic.

More than half of the reported accidents and about two-thirds of the fatal collisions involving joggers occurred during non-daylight hours. Collisions involving running in the same direction as traffic were the most numerous.

Nelson advises joggers to run against the flow of traffic in daylight hours and to use caution when running at night.

PUBLIC NOTICE
CITY OF LOCKNEY
HOUSING AND COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT PROGRAM

The City of Lockney has been invited to submit a full application to the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) for Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) funds. This application will be submitted on or about May 1, 1981.

The City of Lockney will be submitting an application for $812,000 for a comprehensive, two-year CDBG program. Activities included in the City of Lockney's CDBG pre-application submitted to HUD in January, 1981, included rehabilitation of substandard dwellings, relocation of families from dilapidated dwellings to standard homes, code enforcement, clearance activities, paving/drainage improvements, sewer improvements, water improvements and general administrative activities.

The City has scheduled two public hearings on this proposed CDBG program to give citizens the opportunity to review the planned activities, ask questions about CDBG program implementation and provide input on the City's assisted housing needs for incorporation into a formal Housing Assistance Plan (HAP). Citizens will also be invited to comment on the City's past performance in providing housing and community development programs.

The two CDBG public hearings will be held as follows:

Public Hearing #1: 6 P.M., Tuesday, April 7, 1981, at the Lockney City Hall, 215 E. Locust Street.

Public Hearing #2: 9 A.M., Monday, April 13, 1981, at the Lockney City Hall, 215 E. Locust Street.

Interested citizens and citizen groups are encouraged to attend these important public hearings and present their views and comments on the City's proposed CDBG program. Written proposals and comments from citizens will be accepted and considered by the City up until the time of the second public hearing.

Handicapped individuals who may have difficulty in attending this public hearing should contact the Lockney City Hall to arrange for special assistance. A copy of the City's approved pre-application is available for public inspection upon request at the Lockney City Hall during normal business hours. Written materials explaining the CDBG program will be available to the public at these two public hearings.

Interest on checking and the strings attached.

In banking circles, it's almost revolutionary.

All that hard-earned money in your checking account actually working for you. Collecting interest just like a savings account.

Terrific, right? Absolutely. But behind the silver lining there are just a few pint-sized clouds. Minimum balance. Average balance. Limits on check writing.

In other words, you can't treat your balance like a seesaw. Or sign checks like there's no tomorrow.

Now, keeping track of it all doesn't take an Einstein, but it does take someone pretty smart. A Full Service Bank.® The folks there invented modern checking, so you can count on getting good advice. Advice that can help you squeeze the most out of every cent you've got.

Social Security news

BY VIRGINIA DEWITT

Young people planning to work for the first time this summer should be aware that the first step is to get a social security number -- and the time to take that first step is now.

Many young people may not realize that getting a social security number takes a little longer today than it did for their parents. Mom and dad probably walked into a social security office one day and walked out with a social security number and card. Today many of you can even apply by mail if you wish, but either way it takes about six weeks to receive a social security number and card.

The major reason for the difference is that the application is now more closely scutinized to assure the applicant's correct identity, citizenship, or lawful alien status, and age. When the social security system first started 46 years ago and in its early years, the concern was to make it as easy as possible for people to get a social security card. Now that the system is a household word -- the Nation's primary means of providing an income to a family at the retirement, death, or disability of the breadwinner -- the major concern is that the card and the rights it represents are protected from fraud and abuse.

Moreover, the social security number represents your key to your earnings record and future benefits based on it. Eligibility for benefits is based on your date of birth and the amount is based on your covered annual earnings shown in your record over you working lifetime. Incorrect information on the application for a number could seriously affect your benefit rights later.

Many employers will not hire you unless you can show a social security card because the law required them to collect and pay social security taxes on the earnings of each person they employ, and they need a correct social security number for this purpose.

People 18 or over must apply for a card in person, but people under 18 may apply by mail or phone.

If you were born in the United States, a birth or baptismal record will be necessary for proof of age and citizenship. For proof of identity, we may accept any document which includes your signature, photograph, or physical description, such as driver's license, draft card, voters registration card, marriage record, school identity card, newspaper birth announcement, and similar documents.

If you were born outside the United States but are now a citizen, you will need to submit either a U.S. passport, a naturalization certificate, a U.S. citizen identity card, a certificate of citizenship, or a consular report of birth.

If you are not a U.S. citizen but are living in or visiting the U.S. and want to apply for a social security number, you will need an Alien Registration card [I-551, U.S. Immigration I-185, I-186, SW-434, if applying I-184, or other immigration form] need to bring office in person.

Windy Ways

BY MARGIE SAVAGE

The wind was blowing hard that day
Sending the shingles on the roof
Every which way.
They were blowing this way and that
Some even hit the head of the cat.

The cat ran from the clatter
Dad got the ladder
And went to see what was the matter.

The wind boosted him to the top
There he stood just about to drop
To his knees
When the wind did as it pleased
And quick as a sneeze

It caught his glasses in the breeze
And took them right off his face
He shouted and cried, "Hello."

But no one could hear him
Above the din of the wind.

The sky was dark with the dirt
He couldn't see because of the wind
Had turned his shirt over his head
He would have to be led
Off of the roof that day.

But no one knew he was there
Much to his despair.

Some children were blowing home from school
When they looked up and said, "What a fool!
There is a man on the roof
With his hair in the air

We must save him if we can.
Let's go get Dan."

With their back to the wind
They sailed to town
There they asked around
But Dan was nowhere to be found.

So they got the fire boys
In their red truck
And they all flew like a wild duck
Back to the house in the muck.

But Dad wasn't on the roof anymore
He had blown into a tree by the door.
So they got their fire hose
And put a rope around his clothes

And brought the tree to the ground.
There under his girth
His glasses were found
All safe and snug, there on the earth.

"Thanks, to you all." He said with a smile.
"Come on in and get out of this gust for awhile."
So they all went inside
And drank tea from a cup
And waited for the wind to shut up.

LOCKNEY

Q. We own a small rental house, and are considering the installation of a range and refrigerator in order to make the home more attractive to potential tenants. Should any special insurance arrangements be made to cover these appliances?
A. A standard Fire Policy should be written to insure the building. The definition of a building or dwelling in the standard Fire Policy includes building equipment. Since you feel it is necessary to equip the house with appliances, they would be considered building equipment. In some of the newer forms of coverage such as Special Multi Peril MLB-100 these appliances are specifically mentioned under the building definition.

County GOP adopts resolution

Albert Scheele, Floyd County Republican chairman, has released a resolution that was adopted at a meeting of the Floyd County Republican Executive Committee on March 24, 1981.

The resolution listed the economic problems the nation faces and urged support of President Reagan's proposals to lower government spending and taxation. The resolution praised the administration's goal of balancing the budget by 1984.

Included in the language of the resolution were instructions that a copy be sent to Congressman Charles W. Stenholm and to United States Senators John Tower and Lloyd Bentsen.

In commenting on the President's program, Scheele expressed the opinion that "big brother" government with cradle to grave assistance for everyone has not worked. Forty years of governmental over-control in every facet of American life at the cost of billions of dollars of taxpayer money has proven to be one of the biggest failures in history.

President Reagan is offering the American people a chance to regain more control of their own destinies, to have more control over the wages of their labor to save, to invest and to look forward to in the future.

FIX-IT FACTS

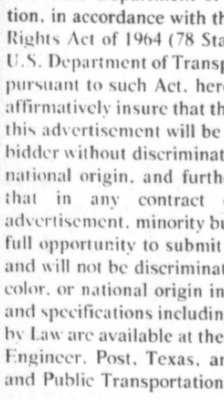

Thurman Davis

One of the biggest headaches you can face in interior painting is that grease spot which will just not go away. Usually found in older homes and most often a resident of the kitchen, it seems that no matter how many layers of paint, or what kind of paint, that grease spot eventually comes through - loud and clear. There is a remedy short of wallpaper or, worse, a section of new wall. The next time that particular room is hinting at a new coat of paint, clean off as much of the surface dirt and grease as possible, then apply a coat of shellac over the spot. The shellac will seal the spot, stopping its constant reappearance through new coats of paint. Here's another painting tip. If you're painting over old paint or wallpaper whose color persists in bleeding through the new coat, paint over with gray paint. Let dry and re-paint using the new color. The gray paint kills the old color.

The family group enjoyed eight beautiful days and returned home Monday night of this week.

Mrs. Norma Lee and daughter, Lou, visited her sister, Mrs. Q.D. Williams, Friday evening. On Saturday all three attended a layette shower for Mrs. Lee's daughter, Mrs. Ed Mobley, in Plainview. Mrs. Williams returned to Plainview Monday afternoon and she and Mrs. Mobley watched the television reports of the shooting of President Reagan and his guards. Mrs. Mobleys baby son was born Monday night about midnight, at the hospital in Hale Center.

Mr. and Mrs. Grady Dunavant visited in Ft. Worth with their son and his family, Mr. and Mrs. Milton Dunavant. They were accompanied by Mrs. Dunavants brother, Marvin Williamson and his daughter, Marsha, of Dumas. While they were in Ft. Worth they were joined by Milton Dunavant and his son, Shane, who came from their job in Navasota, Texas for the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Louis Pyle and children visited at St. Mary's Hospital in Lubbock Saturday with his uncle, Houston Adkins, of Crowell. Mr. Adkins, who is Louis Pyle's brother-in-law, suffered a stroke five weeks ago and is taking therapy exercises now. Paula Pyle visited her grandmother, Mrs. Zach Cummings, in the Lockney Rest Home several times during the week. Mrs. Cummings especially enjoys visits with her great-grandchildren.

Mr. and Mrs. Dean Watson were hosts to the Louis Moore family of Dumas over the weekend. Little Misses Amanda and Deanna Watson visited in Lubbock Wednesday and Thursday with their aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Ken Robertson. The girls spent the previous Sunday and Monday of their Spring break with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Millard Watson at Mt. Blanco.

Mrs. Byron Kendrick, Mrs. Dean Watson, and Mrs. Steve Kelly hosted a birthday party for Lanell Tardy in her home Friday. Charlene Langley baked the decorated cake, which was served with punch to the approximately forty guests who called during the day.

Mr. and Mrs. Dean Watson visited with Mr. and Mrs. Tom Moore last weekend. Their guests included Steve Moore of Kilgore; Bill Moore, home from West Texas University; Mike Moore of Plainview, and Miss Pam Parrott of Spearman.

Mr. and Mrs. Odell Breed took a leisurely motor trip last weekend, first to Sweetwater on Friday where they visited Mr. and Mrs. Joe Vernon, then on to Ballinger where the rattlesnake roundup was being held but it was raining so they decided to go on. They visited Saturday at San Angelo with Sammy Goodwin, formerly of Lakeview. He and Odell had not seen each other since 1940 and had a good catching up visit. They enjoyed the beautiful blue bonnets in all their glory during the scenic trip.

Lockney local news

Mrs. Albert Scheele and Ralph and Eddie McWhorter of Plainview visited several days during school spring at her parents' cabin near Llano. They were met there by Otero's daughter, Diane and Thad McCormick and Chuck of Galveston, and Otero's parents, Ralph and Hattie Brown of Edmonson.

On the return trip, Utero and the boys visited briefl y and the boys visited briefly in Mason with Rev. H.L. Anderon, a former pastor of Trinity Lutheran Church at Providence. Mrs. Anderson is a school teacher and they did not get to visit with her.

In the same area during spring break was Lori Bayley who visited at Lampasas with her mother, Janie and Danny McAnally, Jeff, Jenny and Danny Russell. Also there to visit was Danny's sister, Mrs. Keith Jackson, Wade and Boyd of Lockney.

They all spent some time west of Lampasas on the Colorado River near Nix where the Danny McAnallys and the Russell McAnallys (parents of Danny and Gayle) are building a cabin. Russell and Elsie McAnally came from Merkel to be at the cabinsite too.

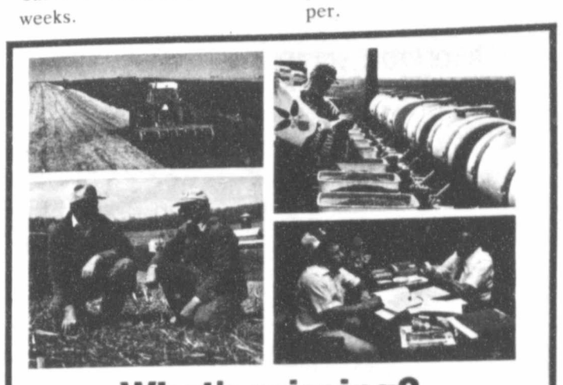

Riding with the Jacksons to Lampasas was Gayle's aunt, Mrs. J.G. Landtroop of Providence. She visited at Temple with her daughter, Becky and Doug Yates and Beau. Beau returned home with his grandmother to visit for a week.

Mrs. Greg [Susan] Patridge had major surgery recently in Nichols Hospital in Plainview. She is recuperating at home and won't return to her work as a hairdresser at Witches Hut Salon for three or four more weeks.

The Lockney Order of the Eastern Star will host a friendship and Masons night at 7 p.m. Saturday.

The meeting at the Masonic Hall on North Main street in Lockney will begin with a salad supper.

Fifth year members of Eastern Star and the Masons will be recognized during the program following the supper.

What's missing?

A Federal Crop Insurance policy. That's what this farmer needs to complete his business picture. And what you need to make your plans complete for a successful crop year. All-Risk Crop Insurance covers the risk of losses from hazards like drought, flood, insects or disease.

Take a look at the five main benefits of buying All-Risk Crop Insurance — benefits other farmers can attest to:

Protects investments — Your yearly costs in good seed, fertilizer, chemicals, equipment and labor continue to grow. These per-acre charges need protection from loss.

Allows expansion — Will you be farming more land? Will you be adding crop storage? If so, remember Federal Crop Insurance limits what you can lose. Makes a risky investment attractive.

Permits professional management — When you limit the risk, you safeguard the investment. So you can afford to spend extra dollars to maximize yields and profits.

Builds family security — Your family's security is threatened when crops are planted that remain unprotected from losses due to hazards of weather. The one answer is an All-Risk Crop Insurance policy.

Assures peace of mind — Why not go to bed at night sleeping a lot better knowing your crops are insured against losses from unpredictable weather and other hazards?

April deadlines set for Crop Ins. Program

April deadlines have been set for area farmers seeking to insure their crops under the Federal Crop Insurance program.

"Corn producers in Armstrong, Castro, Deaf Smith, Donley, Floyd, Hale, Parmer and Swisher counties have until April 15 to apply for FCIC coverage. An April 30 deadline is in effect for cotton and grain sorghum applications in the same counties as well as in Briscoe, Collingsworth and Motley counties," said Jakie Harris, district director for the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation.

"Other crops in the district eligible for protection include grain sorghum in Randall County, peanuts in Motley County and soybeans in Floyd, Hale and Swisher counties. The deadline on those crops in also April 30," he continued.

FCIC is an agency of the United States Department of Agriculture. It is designed to protect a producer's crop production expenses from risks like hail, wind, drouth, insects and disease.

Information about the FCIC program can be obtained from any private insurance agent handling the program or from the FCIC offices in Amarillo and Lubbock.

Swine Short Course tailored for Plains

(PLAINVIEW)—Swine producers in the Rolling and High Plains and Texas Panhandle will explore techniques which can help turn losses into profit in view of current feed prices during the annual Texas A&M University Swine Short Course here next Wednesday.

Leading animal scientists and producers from Texas, New Mexico, Kansas and Michigan will conduct the daylong program at the Hale County Agricultural Center south of the city on U.S. 87 business route.

The $10 registration fee includes lunch and proceedings, noted Dr. Robert S. Cohen, area swine specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

The course is organized and sponsored by the Extension Service. Cooperating with it are the department of animal science at Texas A&M, the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, Texas Pork Producers Assn. and Texas Pork Producers Board.

The course begins at 8 a.m. and adjourns at 4:15 p.m.

The impact of various production factors on profit and loss; practical aspects of herd health, reproduction and maintenance; conversion of hog biomass to alternate fuels; opportunities for computerizing swine production records, and the potential for farrowing cooperatives in Texas are featured topics for the program.

Speakers and discussion leaders will include Dr. Maynard Hogberg, Extension swine specialist, Michigan State University, Lansing, Michigan; Dr. Steve Henry, veterinarian, Abilene, Kansas; producers Adair Merrell of Animas, New Mexico, and Dan Berdoll of Del Valle; and David Malish and Don Raley of Austin, whose engineering firm has designed a methane generating plant.

Also, Dr. T.D. Tanksley Jr., professor and Extension swine specialist in the department of animal science at A&M; Dr. D.A. Knabe, assistant professor of animal science, Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, A&M; Dr. Roland Smith, Extension economist-grain marketing, College Station; Dr. Ramon W. Sammons, Extension area economist-management, Amarillo, and Cohen.

Consumer views important

(COLLEGE STATION) — Cattlemen must know the changing needs and attitudes that consumers have toward beef before they can hope for beef consumption to increase.

High beef prices are the major reason consumers give for not buying red meat. This explains the noticeable per capita decline in beef consumption since 1976, says Mary K. Sweeten, food and nutrition specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

"High prices have forced consumers to cut back on beef purchases, substitute cheaper cuts, and buy poultry and fish rather than beef. Others have stopped buying beef altogether," Sweeten explains.

"Cattlemen should realize that recent major changes in society have affected food consumption. Among these," she says, "are the number of available items in the grocery store, drastic changes in living patterns, an increase in the elderly population, health concerns and a reported seven million vegetarians. Although not practicing vegetarianism, another 37.5 million are making a conscientious effort to eat less meat."

Also affecting food consumption is the increased popularity of fast food establishments, government food programs and new food technologies that are resulting in more "engineered foods" such as breakfast bars and space sticks.

"American food policy has always stressed quantitative proportions to avoid hunger and nutrition deficiency diseases. But recently qualitative considerations have become more important," Sweeten says.

Beef is known as a nutritious food that contains protein, iron and the B vitamins that supply the body with nutrients. It also contains calories for energy.

But beef has appreciable amounts of fat that consumers are trimming off and throwing away. Cattlemen should look for ways to raise leaner animals, Sweeten notes.

"Cattlemen must also use marketing strategies to meet the needs of each consumer group in America: low income, senior citizens, minorities and parents. Consumers from different socio-economic levels and other groups differ in their beef needs.

"Cattlemen must understand the images that these groups have of the beef industry and work to provide leaner beef at more reasonable prices," Sweeten says.

Revised regulations are improvement

(AUSTIN) — A year of revised regulations in the Texas brucellosis program is highlighted by a sharp increase in vaccination of heifer calves, promising research developments, and improved cooperation with producers and other segments of the livestock industry.

Commissioners of the Texas Animal Health Commission adopted major changes in the Texas program a year ago. "We believe much progress has been made in that time," John Armstrong, Kingsville, chairman, TAHC, said. He explained the program has six basic thrusts:

1. To provide a practical and affordable program for the Texas cowman that meets scientific criteria for control leading to eventual eradication of brucellosis;
2. Significant increase in the use of the reduced dose of Strain 19 vaccine;
3. Expanded and improved laboratories;
4. Improved surveillance;
5. Individual herd plans;
6. Meet federal regulations for interstate movement of breeding cattle.

Brucellosis is a highly contagious disease, affecting mainly livestock, and centering in the reproductive organs. It causes abortions, sterility, weakened calves, and partial loss of milk. In humans, it is called undulant fever.

"Vaccination of heifer calves during the last calendar quarter of 1980 has shown an almost 100 percent increase compared to the same time period in 1979. This is due in large part to the approval of the reduced dose of Strain 19 vaccine. Vaccination is a key element in the Texas brucellosis program, but it alone will not provide the e must also have an excellen program to locate and eli tion.

"We have seen great s area of the Texas progra 90 percent of the stat markets are now voluntar ing in first-point testing plant operators have alm panded their cooperation explained.

A new test to improve detecting field strain infec being incorporated in a laboratory in Austin on "The vast majority of fee cers in Texas are to be com their efforts in making controlling brucellosis," said.

Cow's nutrition is key to yearly calving

(COLLEGE STATION) — Herd nutrition is essential for cattlemen wanting to produce one calf per cow each year.

"A cow's reproductive performance is directly related to her plane of nutrition," says Dr. Larry Boleman, beef cattle specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

"Dry winter forage generally will not meet the higher nutrient demands of the lactating cow, lactating first-calf heifer or the growing calf," says the specialist. "Thus supplemental feeding is necessary."

Often beef producers have problems deciding on the amount and choice of supplement, which varies because of ranch location, management systems, rainfall and other factors.

"Nutrient requirements of the beef animal depend on age, condition, weight, stage of production and milking ability during lactation," Boleman notes. "For instance, thin cows may need to gain 100 to 150 pounds by calving time while those in average shape need to gain only 60 to 80 pounds. After calving for three or four months, a cow needs 60 percent more energy and more than twice as much protein per day as at other times."

Once cattle requirements have been determined, the herd should be separated according to these needs, and the approximate nutrient composition and availability of forage should be determined.

"Once a cattleman knows the nutrient needs of his cattle and nutrients available through hay or forage, it's easy to determine the amount of protein supplement, if any, that is needed to meet nutritional requirements," Boleman concludes.

TexasA&Mholds Annual Animals Conference

Opportunities and techniques which could help pork producers make a profit instead of a loss in view of current feed prices, will be explored at the Annual Swine Short Course at Texas A&M University April 5-7.

The short course is part of the Texas Animal Agricultural Conference being conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

The impact of various production factors on profit and loss; practical aspects of herd health, reproduction and maintenance; conversion of hog biomass to alternate fuels; opportunities for computerizing swine production records, and the potential for farrowing cooperatives in Texas are among the topics featured in the two-day program.

In conjunction with the short course, the Texas Pork Producers Association and Texas Pork Producers Board will hold a directors' meeting at 7 p.m. Sunday, April 5, and the annual meeting and banquet of TPPA at 6 p.m. Monday, April 6.

The banquet speaker will be Orville Sweet of Des Moines, Iowa, executive vice president of the National Pork Producers Council.

Conference sessions will be held in the Rudder Tower and the Memorial Student Center on campus, said Dr. T.D. Tanksley Jr., professor and Extension swine specialist in the department of animal science.

Registration forms may be obtained from county Extension agents or from Tanksley, Room 212 Kleburg Center, Department of Animal Science, Texas A&M University, College Station, Texas, 77843. Advance registration received by Tanksley by March 25 is $25; registration at the door is $30. The fee includes the TPPA banquet, a breakfast and a copy of the proceedings.

The swine short course is sponsored by the Extension Service in cooperation with the Department of Animal Science at A&M, the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, Texas Pork Producers Association and Texas Pork Producers Board.

We have been known as Pioneer Natural Gas Company in West Texas for many years . . . but often confused with many other "Pioneer" companies.

Now we are Energas . . . a simple, distinctive new name to quickly and easily identify our company and our tradition of supplying efficient gas energy.

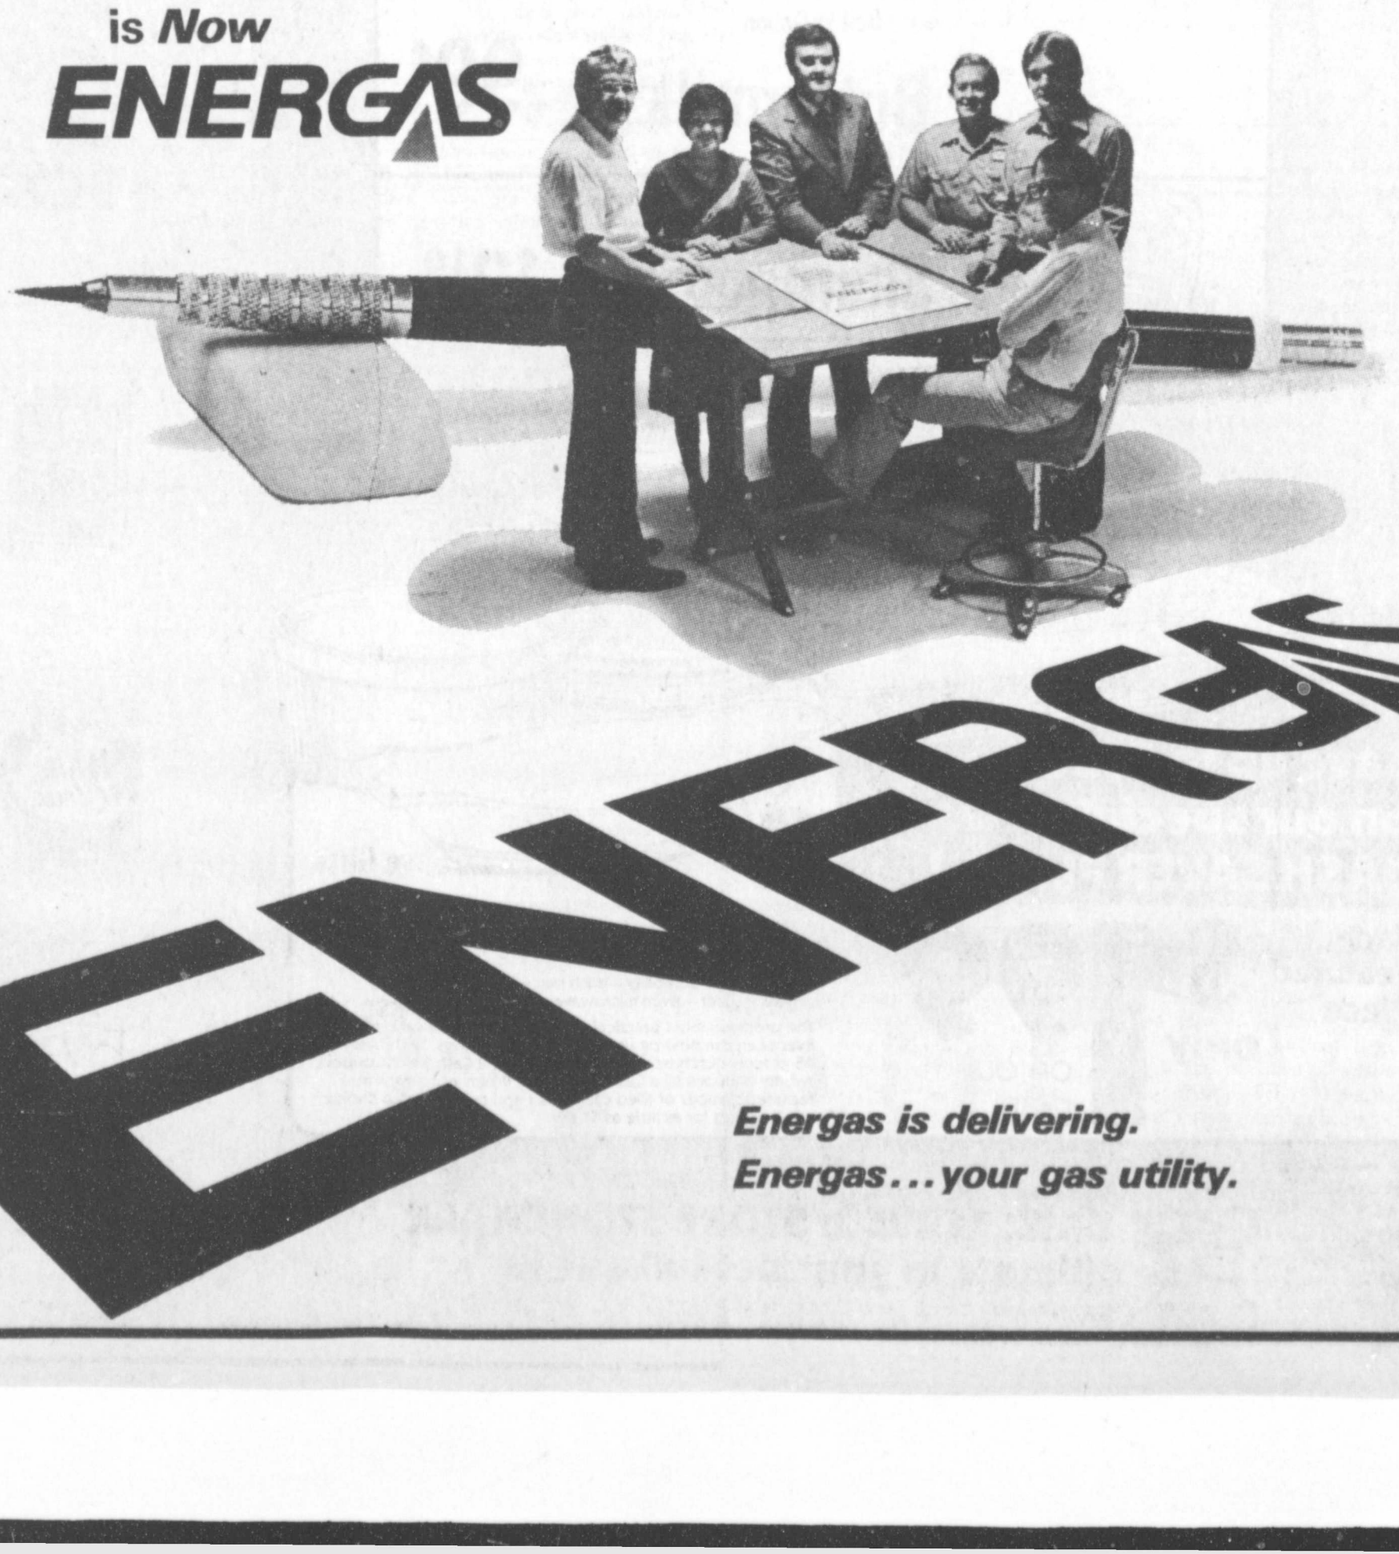

Our name has changed, but our commitment to West Texas remains the same. Assured supply and reasonable rates consistent with prompt customer service continue to be around-the-clock responsibilities of the dedicated people who now call themselves Energas.

Over the past ten years, the domestic energy situation has changed significantly. Energy prices today reflect the increased competition for the available supply and the increased cost of finding and producing it.

Energas customers are partners in helping to solve our national energy problems. Wise use of energy is a consumer responsibility; exploration, production and efficient distribution are industry responsibilities.

The business of gas distribution is complex, but the Energas priority is simple . . . dependable supply and efficient service to 72 communities across a 50,000 square mile region.

Your Gas Company is Now ENERGAS

ENERGAS

Energas is delivering.
Energas...your gas utility.

Channel Five Highlights

BY MELISSA CREAMER

So many people called during Festival to see if William Buckley's Firing Line would be on next season. Firing Line may be unavailable to PBS stations. For many reasons, the show is too costly to produce, therefore too expensive for us to buy. That is not a final word for us -- but the show's future does not look good. For those of you unfamiliar with it -- it is hosted by arch-conservative William Buckley each week, where he interviews controversial persons. Some of his guests have been Richard Nixon, Alexander Haig, and Jimmy Carter. The show now airs on Channel 5, Sundays at 5:00.

Following that is The New Voice. This is a program designed for teenagers and illustrates some of the very real problems our high school students are facing today. This week, the staff of the Voice (the school newspaper) are asked by the principal to reveal names of students interviewed for a drug article they put in the paper. The staffers are resentful of the request, but later they look closer and realize how supportive the school administration has been of their efforts to revitalize the newspaper. This is a worthwhile entertaining program your kids can watch without being bombarded with violence, sex and suggestive commercials.

Monday at 7:00 is another Great Performances -- this time it is Mark Twain's "The Private History of a Campaign That Failed." In the summer of 1861, Twain saw his Missouri homeland invaded by Union troops. Twain's response, along with 50,000 of his contemporaries, was to step into the fray. Every native son in every Missouri hamlet "fell in" to a military company armed with boundless patriotism, although often with little else.

This experience, richly seasoned with irony, formed the basis of Twain's great story, "The Private History of a Campaign that Failed."

Tuesday's NOVA shows one of the first films ever to come out of Modern China. The story "The Cancer Detectives of Lin Xian" is about the county of Lin Xian in the People's Republic of China where for 2,000 years esophageal cancer has claimed an alarming and disproportionate number of lives. As NOVA shows, the Chinese approach to this medical and human tragedy is geared toward prevention rather than cure.

Another National Geographic Special is on this week, Wednesday the 8th at 7:00. The story is about the possible extinction of gorillas and some fascinating people who are trying to prevent the wipe out.

Saturday at 7:30 is part two of Profile: Lillian Hellman. The famous and controversial author and playwright evaluates her personal and political history in this fascinating documentary.

Where do you find this kind of entertainment? Only on FIVE.

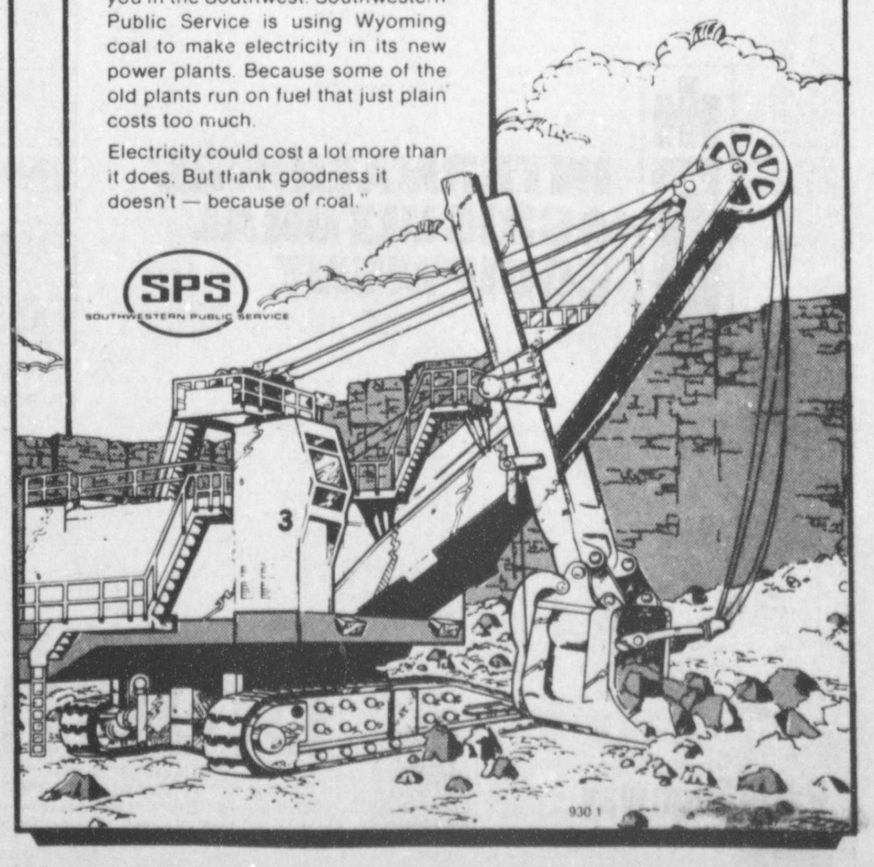

"IT'S A BIG JOB . . .

Slowing down the rising costs of anything these days. Even your electricity.

You've got someone working on it for you in the Southwest. Southwestern Public Service is using Wyoming coal to make electricity in its new power plants. Because some of the old plants run on fuel that just plain costs too much.

Electricity could cost a lot more than it does. But thank goodness it doesn't — because of coal."
