Skyrockets of Wellington received their third defeat by score
13-7 at the hands of Childress
Bobcats Friday in the hardest fought game of the season. Off-tackle plays made by both teams
gave the spectators what they wanted in the way of a thrill.
Childress realized after the first quarter that the Skyrockets were not going to be beaten by "three touchdowns." In fact Childress fans declared that it looked doubtful if the Bobcats won at all at this point of the game.

Skyrockets showed that their light weight was not a handicap as
was expected against the heavier team. Rowland made several long runs and completed passes to his lighter and faster backs and ends. Runt also did the neatest trick of sidestepping and stiffarming in the second quarter for Wellington's only touchdown. A fumble of the Skyrocket's gave Childress
their first touchdown made by Johnson in second quarter and Cooper tore through tackle for second touchdown in third quarter.

Behind a strong line, the Bobcats backfield showed some hard,
fast football by plowing through Wellington's line for 11 first downs
while Wellington had only 6 first downs to her credit.

Wellington completed 4 passes
out of 13 trials while the Bobcats made 3 out of 10 chances. Both teams fumbled 8 times during game.

The following is the game play
by play:

First Quarter

Wellington kicked off to Cooper who failed to gain. Childress' ball on her 45 yard line. Taylor gained 6 through right tackle.
Davis made 3 through left guard.
Taylor again plunged left tackle
for 2 yards. Davis lost 1. Taylor fumbled losing 7 yards. Davis passed to Cooper for 18 yards.
Taylor made 2 through left tackle.
Edwards made 5 through left guard. Davis' pass to Williams was incomplete. Edwards failed through left guard.

Ball goes over to Wellington on her 20-yard line. (Childress penetrated to Wellington's 20 yard line in first possession of ball.)
Johnson no gain. Rowland circled left end for 36 yard gain but is tackled by Edwards causing him
to drop the ball, but he recovered. Gilbreath lost 1 out of bounds. William intercepts Runt's pass but is dropped in tracks.

Childress' ball on 50 yard line.
made 2 left end. Pass of Cooper incomplete. Cooper
to gain. Cooper punted.
Childress' ball on her 28 yard
line. Johnson intercepted Barkley substituted
Davis flashed
for 10 yards. Taylor or again made 3
through center. Childress penalized 15 yards for holding. Childress punted 20 yards.

Wellington's ball on Childress'
43 yard line. Rowland's pass to Gilbreath incomplete. Wellington fumbled but recovered after making 4. Gilbreath punted 35 yards.

Childress' ball on her 13 yard line. Taylor made no gain. Cooper punted 35 yards to Runt who returned ball 13 yards.

Wellington's ball on Childress'
35 yard line. Johnson tackled Johnson for 3 yard loss. Rowland's pass to Gilbreath incomplete
over center. Runt punted 35 yards to Cooper who returned ball 11 yards. Score 0-0.

Second Quarter

Bobcat's ball on her 29 yard line.
Caradine substituted for Sartin at right guard. Sikes replaced Sims at left tackle. Davis made 9 through left guard. Barkley

Demand for Farm Lands in Texas Shown Increased

Texas Has Opportunity
To Restore Agriculture
To Stability

Texas farm land values are coming back. They have reached the bottom and close observers believe that the "bear market" on farm
values has about reached its limit.

This statement was made by W.
E. Thompson of Dallas, Texas, manager of the First Trust Joint Stock Land Bank of Chicago, who declares that notwithstanding that many Texas farmers are still in distress by reason of several short crops in succession and due to their too limited financial ability to successfully carry on farming
operations, there are impressive
signs of a revival in farm values.

Texas men of means, who have looked at farms askance for some years, are now convinced that land
is a good buy at present reduced prices, that it can be built up with terracing, crop rotation and live stock, that farm homes can be painted and made attractive and that the farm is a good place on which to live when rightly handled.

"Today fences are being rebuilt which were torn down some years ago," continued Mr. Thompson,
"and many farms have brought financial ruin to their owners thru
a one crop system are being reclaimed by old owners or now thru
the aid of dairy cows, beef cattle and sheep.

"In the Southwest we find an awakening inquiry for land, especially during the last thirty days. One interesting feature of the sales made of farms acquired by our Texas Land Bank during the last few months is that the farms have been acquired by men of substantial means who, in most cases, paid all cash, which eliminates those farms from the market at distressed prices.

"Our sales record up to October 1, 1929 is more than double the amount of land sold up to the same period in 1928.

"Johnson grass which has been such an enemy to the cotton farmer, is being made to serve the livestock farmer as an interest payer
and when the farmers of North and Central Texas are willing to yield
some of their liberty to travel over the country and stay at home and

Pomegranate Tree Blooming In Wellington

Mrs. J. S. Dorn has a pomegranate tree in bloom in her yard in Wellington, which is a most unusual incident
since this tree is seldom known to bloom in the fall season. The pomegranate is a tropical Asiatic tree of the myrtle family; its fruit resembles an orange in size and color and has a very hard
rind enclosing a subacid red,
pulpy mass interspersed with many seeds.

Loco School Is Showing Growth

Superintendent Chaudoin Is Well Pleased With Activity

Splendid progress has been made by the Loco School during this year, according to Superintendent Carl W. Chaudoin who was in Wellington this week. The Loco school is located approximately halfway between Wellington and Childress and is one of the most progressive rural schools in this section.

A Parent-Teachers Association
was organized at Loco September 18 with 40 members at that time, but at the last meeting of the organization which was held October 18, 14 new members were admitted, making a total of 54 members of the Loco P-T-A.

The people of the Loco community are exceptionally interested in the school's progress, as is indicated by the fact that $101.10 was

Mittie Young And Jack Lowry Marry Sunday Afternoon

Ceremony In Mangum,
Okla., Unities Well Known Couple

Miss Mittie Young and Jack
Lowry were united in marriage
Sunday afternoon in Mangum,
where the ceremony was performed at 7 p. m. by Rev. Barret, pastor of the Baptist church in that city. The bridal party was composed of Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Sweat, Bob Hammock, Wilma Jar-
rel, Boyd Lowry and Fay Messick,
all of Wellington.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Young who have lived in Collingsworth County in the Lulu community for the past 22 years. She is a sister of Representative Dewey Young and is well known to practically the entire citizenship of Collingsworth County where she has been reared. Miss Young was graduated from the Wellington High School in 1926, after which she was enrolled at Clarendon College for two years. She was a member of the faculty at the Plymouth school
in this county last year, and will continue teaching at Plymouth this year.

The groom has also been reared
in this county, making his home
at Lulu where he is engaged in farming. He attended school at Clinton, Oklahoma, but has been living in Collingsworth County
for the past several years where he is well and favorably known.
He is the brother of C. L. Lowry
and H. L. Lowry who reside here.

Plans for Father-Son Banquet

A committee composed of S. R.
Pinkston, Dr. E. W. Jones and E. L. Winn has been working on a program to be held during the week of November 3 to 9 which has been designated as National Father-and Son Week, and the principal event to be held in Wellington during that week will be in the form of a banquet which will be held at the high school gymnasium Friday, November 8.

The banquet will be sponsored and arranged by the high school
unit of the Wellington Parent-Teacher association which will be in complete charge of all details incident to the banquet, including the sale of tickets. It is indicated that aside from the banquet

several other "father and son"
meetings will be held during the week to simulate a closer companionship between fathers and sons in Wellington.

A proclamation relative to the observance of the "father and son"
movement was issued last week by Mayor W. P. Moore. This proclamation in its entirety was published in the Leader last week, in which Mayor Moore urged the co-

Await Report Of Supreme Court In Boundary Dispute

Oklahoma Favors Delay
of Action By U. S.
Supreme Court

Land In Balance

To Decide If Land Remains in Oklahoma or Awarded to Texas

WASHINGTON—The official report of Samuel S. Gannett of the United States General Land Office
establishing the 100th meridian,
which marks the boundary between the Texas Panhandle and Oklahoma was formally submitted to the United States Supreme Court Monday. Mr. Gannett was named as boundary commissioner by the court more than two years ago
and directed the work of surveying and monumenting the boundary line.

The true 100th meridian had never been marked, and none of the previous boundaries purporting to locate the meridian ever were adopted. The Gannett survey, if adopted, will transfer from Oklahoma to Texas about 28,500
acres that were sold to Oklahoma settlers by Oklahoma and the Federal Government.

The court took no action at its Monday session on the report. Attorney General Dabney of Oklahoma has asked the Federal Government to join with his State in urging the court to take no action
pending outcome of negotiations between Oklahoma and Texas
whereby Oklahoma hopes to purchase the disputed territory and allow the boundary that has been recognized for seventy-five years
to continue as the true boundary between the States. Texas is understood to oppose delay for this reason.

Commissioner Gannett also submitted his cost account to the court, showing that the total net
cost to the court of the boundary survey, including the placing of monuments was $33,482.92, which has been paid by Texas and against which there will be a credit of two-thirds to be paid equally by Oklahoma and the Federal government.

Entire responsibility for the work was on Commissioner Gannett. He started work August 1, 1927, and concluded July 31 last, covering a period of two years. It required nearly five months for the commissioner to connect the boundary survey with the old Clark line fixing the northern boundary of Texas, owing to the inadequate marking of that survey run by John H. Clark in 1860.

"The people of Oklahoma hope that their commissioners and the Texas commissioners will be able to reach an agreement that will allow the disputed land to remain
in Oklahoma," Senator Elmer Thomas of that state said. "Approximately 1,000 people, citizens
of Oklahoma, reside on the land,
bought it from the Federal Government and the State in good faith, improved it and built homes.
Aside from the distress that a transfer of the land to Texas
would cause these people, the situation is involved deeply in bond issue and other governmental acts, final adjustment of which would be delayed for many years if Oklahoma loses this land."

Visits Wellington

Miss Minnie Mac Grubbs of College Station was in Wellington on Monday to hold conference with Miss Paralee Brock in regard to outlining the year's work for home demonstration club women and girls of Collingsworth county. Miss Grubbs, pictured above, is district
home demonstration agent.

Thomas A. Edison Is Honored During National Jubilee

Acclaimed By Associates
As World's Greatest Living Man

Thomas Alva Edison, on Monday, October 21st, was the honored guest at one of the most gigantic celebrations ever planned for a living man—Light's Golden Jubilee.
The nations of the world
joined with the United States in commemorating the 50th milestone
of the greatest of Edison's inventions, the incandescent lamp. In the spirit of the jubilee, West Texas demonstrated its willingness to follow the national plan adopted by extensively illuminating stores and homes.

In honoring the man of miracles, Light's Golden Jubilee was one of the greatest tributes ever paid to a man, living or dead, because it celebrated the deeds of a man whose achievements place him with history's greatest men. While he has led no armies into battle nor conquered countries, he wields a power of which no warrior ever dreamed. He commands a devotion more sweeping in scope, more
world wide than any living man.

Thomas Alva Edison, born February 11, 1847, came from a sturdy and well respected family. His education, lacking the advantages of institutional training, consisted of that which he received from his mother and from his never ending thirst for books. Starting to work at an early age, he sold papers and candy on a train. As early as this time, Edison had fitted a small laboratory at home and to devote more time to his beginning experiments, he took over a portion of the baggage car of the train on which he worked and established another laboratory. Here he later printed a daily paper on the moving train. As a reward for saving the life of a child, he was taught telegraphy and in the capacity of operator, spent five years in the Mid-West. One morning his co-workers came down to find that he had perfected a nunsual invention. The office in which he worked had an abundance of cockroaches. Edison had contrived a series of wires on which the roaches, if they chanced to walk, were instantly electrocuted. His first noteworthy invention was a vote recorder which, known to be very accurate and efficient, was refused by the Washington politicians.

He next invented the stock
ticker and telephone transmitter,
which he sold for $40,000 and $100,000 respectively. A greater part of this he turned back into a complete laboratory. Following this came his greatest invention,
the invention which Light's Golden Jubilee commemorates the incandescent lamp. Edison, during the World war, lent his genius to the improvement of some 42 military devices and war problems. Today at the age of 82, Edison does not remain quiet. He spends nine hours practically every day in his laboratory working on further experiments.

Jurors Named To Serve During Next Court Term

All Jurors Who Will Serve
During November Are Announced

Many Cases Filed

Many Cases Are Being
Filed for Action During Next Court Term

All jurors who will serve during
the November term of district court in Wellington have been announced by Miss Lenore Sherwood, district clerk. The jurors were selected at the April term of court by the jury commission composed of Joe Hardy, J. L. Gladney and Walter Patterson.

District court will convene in Wellington November 18 before
Hon. A. J. Fires of Childress, district judge. District Attorney J.
C. Mahan of Wellington will represent the state in all cases.

In all probability the court docket will be no lighter than usual, inasmuch as many cases are now being filed for action during the coming court term, Miss Sherwood states. The docket is of course incomplete at this time, but will probably contain its full quota of both civil and criminal cases by the time court convenes.

The grand jury will be in session during the first week as is usually the case.

Following is a complete list of
all jurors who will serve during
the November term of court in Wellington.

A HEALTHY CONDITION

While some branches of American business and industry have suffered a temporary set-back here and there during the recent period of remarkable activity, conditions on the whole continue sound and highly encouraging. A falling off in any one industry usually has been closely followed by a substantial recovery.

This is true of building construction, which during the early part of the present year showed a decline from that of 1928. However, according to a nation-wide survey recently reported by A. E. Dickinson, president of the Indiana Limestone company, a marked improvement has been noticed in the past few weeks.

While residential building operations are still somewhat below those of last year, a gain is seen in the construction of commercial, industrial, educational and institutional types of buildings, with increasing activity in sight for the immediate future. In August, the last month for which figures are available, approximately $565,000,000 was spent for new construction.

Reports of activities in other basic industries show a healthy condition, and all indications lead to the conclusion that this condition will probably continue for a long period.

MUSCLE SHOALS LINE-UP

At the regular session of Congress which begins in December the old Muscle Shoals problem will be brought up once more, and the proponents of pending bills are lining up for the fray.

The hope is expressed that President Hoover may take an active part in the settlement of the matter, which has been before Congress since 1921 when the Ford offer was made. Therefore, those most interested in the question are awaiting his expression concerning it in his forthcoming annual message.

The two principal proposals now pending are the Norris Plan for government experimental operation of the nitrate plants, and the Wright bill which embodies the bid of the American Cyanamid Company.

It is freely predicted that President Hoover would veto any government operation measure, owing to his often expressed opposition to government competition with private industry.

The Cyanamid bid is strongly advocated by the American Farm Bureau Federation, by Chairman Huston of the Republican national committee and by civic bodies in Alabama and Tennessee in the section surrounding Muscle Shoals, as well as by the important leaders in Congress, who believe that it offers the best solution of the problem.

However it is difficult to intelligently predict what action, if any, will be taken by Congress and the President, except to say that any government operation measures, even if passed by Congress, would be likely to face another executive veto.

It can not be denied that the liquor problem is staggering.

EXPERT LAUDS WEEKLY

One of the highest compliments ever paid the weekly newspapers of the country comes from James O'Shaughnessy, formerly executive secretary of the American Association of Advertising Agencies, who declared in a Boston address that "country weeklies are the cornerstone of American journalism."

"The weekly in a small town talks to its readers more intimately and confidentially than any other medium," Mr. O'Shaughnessy said.

Such a tribute from one of America's leading advertising authorities is gratifying to the thousands of country publishers, many of whom are struggling under adverse conditions to faithfully serve their communities.

It should also impress town and small city merchants with the fact that the weekly newspaper offers the most effective medium for placing his store message before the people upon whom he must depend for his business existence.

AMERICANS ALL

An interesting little study in names is presented by the list of nine New York public school boys who were recently awarded Pulitzer four-year scholarships at Columbia University, they being chosen from a field of 90 of the brightest in the metropolis.

Their names, in the order of the grades made in the competitive examination, are as follows: Herman Kremer, Helmut Schulz, Thomas Jonaitis, Andrew Chiappe, Jerome O'Neill, Fred Tonetti, Hippocrates Apostle, John Morrisroe and Milton Black. It will appear that German, Greek and Italian names predominate, and in fact only two of the boys were born in the United States. Among their fathers are a cook, a waiter, a construction laborer, a milkman, and a janitor.

But in spite of foreign names and foreign birth, these boys, are now Americans all with an opportunity to rise to whatever heights their ability and energy can carry them.

ARE WE LAWLESS?

We hear a lot about lawlessness in America, and it is true that we are lawless in one sense of the word. That is, there is more disregard of law in this country, perhaps, than in any other on the globe.

However if we define lawless to mean being without laws, we are certainly anything else but. We live under many thousands of laws and ordinances, most of which the average citizen never heard of. A recent statement by T. R. Preston, former president of the American Bankers Association will illustrate this. He said:

"It would take a man working eight hours a day seven years to read all the laws enacted last year, yet ignorance of the law is no excuse. Courts are so congested that the district attorney of New York estimates that if every defendant should demand a jury trial, the calendars would be 500 years behind in four years. Americans will go to war and give their life's blood for liberty, and then turn around and enact laws depriving themselves of all liberty."

To which we may only add: "Ain't it the truth?"

The first step in farm relief, naturally enough, is to have a Senatorial investigation of the Farm Board.

Mr. Ford says he will operate only in a prohibition country. It appears that we have been misinformed concerning England and Germany.

Chinese women are said to be growing ashamed of their bound feet. Occidental sisters have been ashamed of covered knees for some time.

CURRENT COMMENTS OF OTHER EDITORS

Hon. W. H. Fuqua, president of the First National Bank of Amarillo is reported in an address before the Caprock Bankers' Association as observing that there are very few people who now save a portion of their earnings, and not ten percent of those on salaries who are putting anything away.

It is probably true that there are more demands on the modern family for expenditures than ever before, which has resulted in fewer of them actually putting money in the banks than was the rule a few years ago. People of today are surrounded by more kinds of devices which are meant to extract their money.—Clyde Warwick in Canyon News.

To our notion there is nothing prettier than a tree full of big red apples. Apple time means joy to the child who slips an apple on the teacher's desk and all is right with the world.—L. D. Shaw in Higgins News.

Ginners of Quitaque are wearing grins which are only surpassed in broadness by the farmer who is bringing his cotton into town to be ginned. The harvest season is at hand, and cheerfulness replaces whatever gloom may have been prevalent during the dry summer months.—Ralph Buell in Quitaque Post.

I'm all atwitter. I am going to Amarillo tomorrow. And the big Packard driven by the governor needing a little more ballast than that provided, I'm going along as a sort of animated sand bag, if you know what I mean. But that's not what I'm all skittered up about. I'm going to meet that Tackless Taxan right in his den—yessir, going right up and pull his whiskers, so to speak. Any man who can ride in the governor's car in a capacity other than a chauffeur is big enough to meet Gene Howe right at home.—Mack Stanton in Clovis News Journal.

Now that the Portales High School is to have a band, Portales will reap the benefits. With a first class band master, and a band made up of the flower of the high school, Portales will soon have a band that will be the equal of any in the state.—J. G. Greaves in Portales Valley News.

I'd like to see more hogs in this country. If somebody don't start raising more hogs I feel like I won't get my share of liver and spare ribs when butchering weather comes. Back in the town where I was raised and where I owned a newspaper for several years I used to stay fat on the spare ribs and liver my readers brought in when they killed hogs. At one time I had enough spare ribs and liver to supply all of my neighbors, and folks that wasn't much of a hog country either.—J. D. Merriman in Panhandle Herald.

The day is not far in the distance when all lateral roads and the state highways leading out of Olney will be completed. This means easier and more convenient travel into the city from the rural sections resulting in a handsome increase of business every month in the year.—Geo. Spears, Jr., in Olney Enterprise.

A worker for a more or less worth while cause was in town one day last week, and when the editor of this paper failed to sign on the dotted line, the solicitor asked that his business card be returned to him for future use. This strikes us as being the acme of economy.—T. A. Landers in McLean News.

No town can be built out of failures. Every little success adds to the value of the next success. A right attitude toward one's town is fifty per cent of the battle. Community spirit has done nearly everything that has been done in a public way. This spirit it must come from individuals, but it usually finds expression in a group.—T. T. Waggoner in Claude News.

DECK'S Didactics

By H. D. W.

Last Monday I listened to the radio program given in celebration of Lights Golden Jubile and to pay tribute to Thomas A. Edison. Just fifty years ago the incandescent lamp was born, today the whole civilized world radiates in its glow. It lights the home, the highways, the earth and the air, and its marvelous development has been accomplished in fifty years. It is hard to realize the progress that has been in the past half century, but it is harder still to contemplate the achievements that are bound to come to pass in the next fifty years.

Last Saturday I was in Dallas and attended a banquet given for a bunch of my old school-mates. It was quite interesting to note the change that the short span of five years had brought and to observe how far apart some of us had grown in spite of the fact that there had been a time when our hearts beat as one. Some had made money and were quite willing to admit their success. Others had already made enough showing to indicate a larger success, than mere money gathering, and others indicated that their accomplishments wouldn't be much greater twenty years from now than they are at the present. Is it luck or is it some spark in their own souls that makes this difference in men who presumably have about the same chances? I think it is partly both.

Borger has been cleaned up, but the cleaning hasn't improved some of the other towns of the Panhandle. Considerable of the vicious element of the famous oil town has moved to new fields, and Wellington, Shamrock and Memphis seem to be getting their share. Little harm has been done, because the merchants are on the lookout, but many attempts at petty graft have been reported to the Retail Credit Association. In a time like this every merchant should be extra careful. If a person is honest they won't mind a little investigation, and if they are not their business won't be profitable anyway.

I have been spending my evenings lately reading mystery stories. The other night my wife went to a bridge party and I stayed at home and read my fearful tales. I had the radio turned on, and was engrossed in a story. In fact I was just on the point of reading about the man getting stabbed while in bed when out of that radio came the most terrible scream I have ever heard since my wife thought she saw a man at the back door. The scream was only the beginning of a play, but how was I to know. I almost fell off the divan, and don't believe I will ever enjoy staying by myself anymore.

Just to remind you that Wellington needs to be more attractive, it might not be out of place to suggest that this is a good time to be thinking of the kind of flowers and trees you are going to put out next spring and to start making plans for getting them now. Billy Wolftrum promised to bring me a catalog on roses last July, but he hasn't done it yet.

A community specialist estimates that less than twenty five per cent of the total income of the average community is spent at home. The rest goes to out of town firms. These out of town firms don't help build schools churches and other public institutions, yet many people think they might as well give them their business. They will take your money quick enough, but try to get some out of them and see how long it takes you.

Large Motorcade In Attendance At C. of C. Convention

EL PASO, Texas, Oct. 23—The U. S. Highway Association No. 90, known as the "Border Way," will send a motorcade of at least one hundred automobiles to El Paso for the West Texas Chamber of Commerce Convention, October 24-25-26, according to announcement received here today from H. Wren, Secretary of the Association with headquarters at Del Rio. The party will arrive in El Paso on the night of October 23 and plans to hold their monthly meeting of the organization on the morning of October 24. Every city and town between El Paso and San Antonio is expected to be represented in this party.

TEXAS AND TEXANS

By Will H. Mayes

Candidates Plentiful

Already the woods are thick with candidates for office, although the election is more than a year off, and already the candidates are learning that the voters are demanding to know the thing for which they stand. Platitudinous promises are not going to satisfy Texans next year—they are going to insist upon knowing specifically the things which candidates will do. Principles are going to outweigh personalities unless all the early signs are wrong. The hand-waving orator with a hog-calling voice will find himself unable to "sway the masses" with oratorical hypnotism. The people will want definite promises and especially from those entrusted with making the laws and spending the tax monies. There is a general feeling that the administration of government in Texas, from the highest State offices down to the lowest precinct offices, is costing entirely too much and a harder effort than ever before will be made to secure men in office who will help to curb official greed and mismanagement.

Short Cotton Crops

The short cotton crop in many parts of the State is causing people to practice the utmost economy, and while this will be hard on them for the time it will eventually be a blessing. Diversification has been more preached than practiced in Texas until very recently. The farmers have learned at last that it does not pay to do cotton farming to the exclusion of other interests. The farmer with a small herd of dairy cattle, a few sheep or goats, some hogs and chickens, who grows his own fruits and vegetables has no cause to complain of hard times. He is prospering and especially when he grows a variety of crops, even though he may at times fail to make a profit at cotton growing.

Produce Plants

A few years ago most of the produce raised by the farmers of Texas was sold to the local merchants who made the buying of farm products a side line to merchandising as a method of collecting debts. There were few "produce merchants" who followed buying farm products, other than a few staple crops, as a business. Now, almost every town has several firms engaged in competitive buying and selling of farm produce and these firms are having to enlarge their plants to handle their growing business. Kennedy is one of the small cities where a plant is being enlarged to handle the turkey and poultry business that is expected this fall. When completed, it will be one of the largest produce houses in that section of the state.

Band To Tour Europe

The Simmons University Cowboy Band of Abilene, has arranged to make a tour next summer covering a great part of Europe. Nearly 300 Texans will accompany this band, the purpose being both to see Europe and to advertise Texas. This should be a great educational trip for those who go and for the countries visited. The good that will be accomplished will depend largely on the personnel of the party, which should be and doubtless will be composed of Texans who will reflect credit on our State. In Texas the tour will result in much favorable publicity for Simmons University.

SIDELIGHTS

L. H. Breedman of Chicago started out to be a philanthropist but wound up as a rather poor sport. Some time ago he announced that two months free rent would be given the parents of each baby born in his apartment house. Ten were born in six months. Freedman balked. One father sued, but lost his suit, the judge holding that the offer, made verbally, was not binding on Freedman.

"The goose that lays the golden egg" may be a myth, but the ostrich that produces diamonds is not according to a dispatch from Cape Town, Africa. Two ostriches killed near there were found to have 70 diamonds in their crops, and the discovery may lead to the finding of new diamond deposits in the vicinity.

Dr. Norris, New York's chief medical examiner, estimates that one-fourth of the pedestrians injured by automobiles are intoxicated at the time. A wag suggests that this proves that one is in three times as much danger when sober.

That Paris C

The chances are that the $150,000 creamery and poultry plant being constructed at Paris is going to reduce Lamar county cotton growing very noticeably. Everywhere a plant of that kind is built farmers soon begin to reduce their crops and use the land for feed crop for cows, chickens and hogs. The black land sections of Texas once so famed for cotton production are fast becoming equally as well known as dairy centers.

Gas Comes High

It must cost a great deal to get gas into Waco and surrounding towns. A gas company operating there has been selling gas at 90c a 1,000 cubic feet, but under litigation on the part of the city that has lasted fourteen months, the company now offers to make a net rate of 67 1-2. Gas at the wells in Texas is selling from 6 to 10 cents and the difference is said to be chargeable to piping and operating expense.

El Paso Meeting Expects Fifteen Thousand People

Day and Night Programs Planned for Three-Day Convention

El Paso is planning to entertain more than fifteen thousand visitors during the Eleventh Annual Convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce October 24-25-26. Nothing is being left undone for the pleasure of the visitors. Day and night programs have been planned, but there will be no entertainment features in the forenoon, this being given over for the discussion of the problems confronting various phases of the West Texas prosperity and development. The heart of the business district, has been set aside for the convention, and the downtown military parade and convention parade on the second day, and a night football game are but a few of the outstanding entertainment features.

Women visitors at the convention will be honor guests of the women's department of the El Paso Chamber of Commerce at a reception in Liberty Hall on the evening of the opening day, October 24th. Wives, sweethearts and friends of the visiting delegates will have an opportunity to meet their hostesses and El Paso's leaders in women's club work.

The crowning event of the convention will be a gorgeous Spanish Fiesta in Jarez on the closing day. Bull fights in the arena both afternoon and evening will form a part of the program of which Angel Martinez is in charge. A flood of visitors are expected to start arriving in the city the day before the convention opens. Special trains are being made up from practically every section of the state, and hundreds of hotel reservations have already been made.

Department of Agriculture. Licenses are issued under the act to the Secretary of Agriculture, to qualified persons to certificates of classification of cotton linters in accordance with the official standards which were established

August 1, 1926 and October 31, 1928. As a result of tests held recently in Memphis, 21 licenses were issued including the one to Miss Crawford. Those bring the total number of licensed classifiers for cotton linters to 34, including those qualified at Dallas in August. A third test is to be held in Atlanta, Ga., the last ten days of October.

The annual production of linters averages 1,000,000 bales of approximately 600 pounds gross weight. The official standards cover seven grades of fiber, three characters and seven grades for color.

Chevrolet Test Cars Contribute Toward Success

Chevrolet test cars at General Motors Proving Ground have already been driven upwards of five million miles, according to James M. Crawford, chief engineer of the company, who declared last week that use of this vast outdoor laboratory has been one of the principal reasons for Chevrolet's success.

"An average of 12 test cars are in constant operation, plying up steep inclines, plowing through sand, mud and snow, driving into the teeth of heavy winds, testing speed and endurance on the track and subjecting themselves to every known performance trial," he said. These cars are not retired until they have been driven between 30,000 and 50,000 miles.

"After an experimental model attains this mileage it goes to the experimental laboratory to be dismantled. Every part is inspected, all evidences of wear noted. If a detail is not as it should be, work starts immediately developing a new part or process to replace the old.

"The new feature is then built in an entirely new car or three new cars if the operation is vital and this in turn is subjected to the Proving Ground tests. This cycle continues until we have complete satisfaction. In the case of the new six, 100 different experimental models were tested over a period of four years.

"In addition to using the Proving Ground to develop new models and engine features, Chevrolet uses it constantly for checking production cars and it is this phase of the work that is perhaps the most interesting to the public.

"In order to get an unbiased opinion of these production jobs, they are selected at random from the shipping platform at Flint and put directly on the Proving Ground. Here they are given a general check before going on the regular schedule.

"After every thousand miles for the first 5,000 they are ridden by the engineers. After this they are ridden only at 5,000 mile intervals. Performance checks are carefully computed after 2,000, 5,000 and 20,000 miles. At the end of 20,000 miles they are completely dismantled and all parts are thoroughly inspected.

"In this way a chart is set up showing the progress made in design and manufacturing practice from month to month and year to year.

"Follow up work on these production cars brings out forcibly the cooperation that exists between the manufacturing and engineering departments.

...our Faith in You!

THE electric light and power system in many towns represents the heaviest industrial investment in the town.

Present day utilities of electricity in domestic and commercial life calls for great power generating stations and costly distribution systems. When selecting factory locations, big industries first ascertain if uninterrupted electric service is available.

When a company invests millions in generating stations to serve a group of cities and towns it is certainly a concrete indication of the company's confidence and faith in the towns.

The West Texas Utilities Company has built three major generating stations, and maintains 15 auxiliary power plants, to give unfailing service to the 110 prosperous cities, towns and communities on its properties.

This company is vitally interested in the progress and development of every community it serves. Your success is its success therefore it is one of your most active civic boosters and one of your most substantial citizens.

CHECK BUICK'S CHASSIS

-note its distinctive construction .. then you'll know why more than 2,000,000 people have bought BUICKS

The world-famous Buick chassis and Buick's smart new Bodies by Fisher! An unrivaled combination! Providing the highest degree of motor car performance and all-round motoring satisfaction, over the greatest number of miles!

The more thoroughly you compare Buick with other cars, the more clearly you will understand why more than 2,000,000 people have bought Buicks—why men and women are buying from two to five times as many Buicks as any other automobile priced above

$1200—and why they have purchased more Buicks during the few weeks this brilliant new car has been on the market than in any like period in Buick history.

See the new Buicks and arrange to buy one. Six of the 14 luxurious body types, incorporating all the famous Buick superiorities, are available at prices ranging from $1225 to $1295, f. o. b. factory. All available on the extremely liberal General Motors Time Payment Plan.

Buick's '99-horsepower Valve-in-Head engine is the most powerful engine of its size in the world. It is famous, too, for unrivaled smoothness, economy and sturdiness. It incorporates such marked engineering advancements as counterweighted crankshaft with torsion balancer, carburetor heat control, positive pressure gas pump, and triple seals against wear.

Buick's new frictionless steering gear imparts matchless steering ease throughout the entire turning range, while the new Buick Road Shock Eliminator absolutely prevents transmission of road jolts and jars to the driver's arms. Twin features which make a tremendous contribution to driving ease and roadability.

Buick's Controlled Servo Enclosed Mechanical Brakes provide the most perfect control ever devised for any automobile. They are smooth, sure, silent in operation, and achieve positive results with minimum pedal pressure. And because they are enclosed—fully protected against dust, dirt and water—they insure maximum braking efficiency in any weather.

Buick's famous multiple-disc clutch, too, reveals marked superiorities. In addition to being far sturdier than those of conventional design, it imparts exceptional smoothness, due to its special facing which insures gentle, gradual engagement of the driving and driven surfaces.

New, longer rear springs, in conjunction with four new Lovejoy Duodraulic Shock Absorbers, impart a superlative degree of riding comfort. These two vital comfort factors work together in perfect harmony to check both bound and rebound over the roughest roads.

Buick's famous torque tube serves two vitally important functions. It not only carries the driving thrust, leaving the rear springs free to cushion the car's progress, but also forms a major unit of the Buick chassis seal. Every moving part of the Buick chassis—from fan to rear wheels—is fully protected against dust, dirt and water, assuring maximum operating efficiency in any weather.

*The engine in the 124- and 132-inch Buicks develops 99 horsepower, and that in the 118-inch Buicks 80½ horsepower.

Purpose And Aim Of Kiwanis Club Should Be Known

Prospective Members Should Understand Pur- pose and Obligation

CHICAGO, Oct. 23.—Prospective members for the new and already established 1815 Kiwanis clubs in the United States and Canada should understand the purpose and aims of Kiwanis International so that they know the obligations as well as the privileges of membership, declares Horace W. McDavid, of Decatur, Illinois.

"Kiwanis is made up of not more than two representatives of each business or profession in a city or community," Mr. McDavid explains. "So only by filling every available classification can a community be given excellent and experienced leadership. New members well informed are sought to develop greater strength and wider usefulness.

One of the major administrative policies of the organization is now being worked on with determination. It has to do primarily with making Kiwanis objectives apply locally to every community. Each club must study its town and country sections to apply the following:

1. Promotion of a service for under-privileged children emphasizing personal assistance to a child by Kiwanians.
2. Promotion of an intelligent aggressive and serviceable citizenship through an understanding of the fundamentals of government and as citizens participate in the solution of public problems.
3. Promotion of business standards.
4. Promotion of a spirit of understanding between the farmer and the city man.

AN ALBUM OF MEMORIES

By PHEBE K. WARNER

Today I have been looking through an old autograph album, dated 1859. It was one of the treasures in a collection of family relics belonging to one of my neighbors. It had been her grandmother's album, but it was more than an album. It was a mirror of that day.

The hand writing was most exquisite. No hint of this portable Remington-Corona day. The sentiment was both deep and sublime, reflecting the serious attitude of the young women of that period. Although Flapper Fanny was born only sixteen years later there was no suggestion of her arrival in that beautiful old autograph album. It was a true picture of the period it represented.

Last week, I coned for hours, one afternoon over a scrap-book. It was the scrap-book of the Fon du Lac County Federation of Wisconsin, the most complete record of club activities and club achievement I have ever seen. From the first call of the women of the county to get together to organize their county federation until the last club campaign of the club year, 1928-1929 every newspaper notice of the origin, the development, the work and the accomplishments of that federation was carefully preserved in that scrap book. In fact they had outgrown the first volume of their history and were well along on the second volume.

It was a record of the work done by all the women of the county since the organization of the federation; the story of their trials and victories and the unfolding of the lives of the women of their small towns and the big open county as group by group those women saw the vision and caught the spirit of a better Fon du Lac county and a more abundant life for all their women. Every page of that scrap-book revealed new growth and new ideals as page by page it grew in size and interest.

You could almost see the day when the town women and the country women came together and forgot their imaginary differences in their work for better homes, better schools, better health and better children for the whole county.

The Fon du Lac County Scrap-book was more than a printed record. It contained pictures of all of all the clubs in the county. Pictures of their various meetings and a picture of their beautiful Fon du Lac County Community Home that some big hearted citizen had built for the entire county. It was in that community home much of the new social and civic history of Fon du Lac county had been created.

But the material things wonderful as they were, were the least of their activities. It was the county spirit that had been born and the new friendships and the happy memories recorded in this scrap-book that made them so valuable. Memories that never will be erased. Memories that will never be recorded again. Friendships that never would have been but for their county federation.

What will it mean to the children tomorrow to look through those scrap-books and read the record of what their mothers and their grandmothers did, thirty, forty, fifty years ago to make their county a better place for them to be born in, for our women throughout the nation are just beginning to function in county groups. The greatest work for the home, the community and the county has not yet been even undertaken in most of our counties. The social, civic and educational strength of the women of most of our counties has never yet been tested. But it's coming. And what an inspiration it will be down through the years if every county federation as soon as it is organized would begin that day to keep a record of its experiences and experiments. Otherwise you will all do so much that will soon be forgotten like the very best part of all our lives. And then so often we get discouraged and because we cannot see all the results every day we think life is not worth while.

Every club should keep records of its life, its work, its achievements so that when the days seem dark and dreary you can turn back the pages of time and remind yourselves of the many good things you have accomplished. Anyway, the very thought of keeping a record is an inspiration to do something worth recording. And then as the years go by it becomes such a beautiful album of memories.

The Fon du Lac County Federation Scrap-book will be one of the exhibits in the rural life booth at the 1930 Biennial in Denver.

Cockerels intended for roosters should be kept on free range and made to grow as large frames as possible. Plump birds are in greatest demand, and there may be a difference of 5 cents or more a pound between thin and plump birds.

Cotton Forecast Data Is Denied

Washington, Oct. 10.—Records of the United States Department of Agriculture on the accuracy of cotton crop forecasts compared with final ginnings show that out of eighty-nine such forecasts made by the crop reporting board since 1915, fifty-nine of them were under the final ginnings and thirty above.

In reply to the suggestion that the department issue its forecast as of Sept. 1 instead of August 1 because the difference in the two reports is often so great as to depress price, records show that out of seventeen forecasts made Aug. 1, nine were under and eight over the final ginning figure. In four out of the last five years the Aug. 1 forecasts have been below the final ginning figures, but much closer to them than was the case in most of the earlier years.

These facts were furnished by Senator Tom Connally of Texas by Secretary Arthur Hyde in explanation why the Aug. 1 forecast was believed to be useful to the cotton grower.

The Texas Senator took the position that the variance in the forecasts for August and September was sufficient to depress price and he asked that the Aug. 1 forecast be abolished.

Johnson grass meadows in the South are more productive if they are plowed up every third or fourth year. Unless the land is cultivated occasionally, other grasses invade the meadows and reduce the yield so much that hay production becomes unprofitable.

Millions of Miles of Constant Testing

to maintain the outstanding quality and dependability of
The Chevrolet Six

In spite of the fact that a million Chevrolet Sixes have already been placed in the hands of owners, and have proved their performance and stamina by billions of miles of service over every type of highway the nation affords—

the Chevrolet Motor Company continues to take new Chevrolet Sixes from the assembly line at the factory and subject them to pitiless testing on the roads of the General Motors Proving Ground!

This passion for proof—this consistent refusal to accept any tests as final—is one of the fundamental reasons for the overwhelming popularity of Chevrolet cars. For in no other way is it possible to make the Chevrolet Six so sound in design and materials—so dependable in performance—and so economical to operate!

If you are considering the purchase of an automobile, come in and see the new Chevrolet. You will find that it is more than a Six in the price range of the four. In every way it is a finer car than you ever thought possible in the low-price field!

Power Systems Aid Growth Of State Industry

Remarkable Expansion Is Recorded in 17 Years of Effort

To say that the electric light and power companies of Texas have aided in the growth of the state within the last ten years would be putting it mildly, for it is improbable that the present industrial growth of the state would have come about without the widespread availability of electric power from high tension electric transmission lines. In a state where streams are few, the flow sluggish to the Gulf, water power is of little consequence in the industrial scheme of things. Power must come from sources, and electric power is generated in large, centrally located generating plants is turning out a large per cent of the state's power.

The vast terrain, part of the unending prairie with scattered hills and another part which is heavily wooded, and you have the two extremes in Texas. Between these extremes is a stretch of land that includes the greater portion of the state, and which produces the greater part of the states' agricultural wealth.

In spite of the unusual distances to overcome in Texas, coupled with a sparsity of population, the electric power and light companies have carried electric energy to the farthest corners of the state. Just as coming of the barbed wire fence fifty years ago changed the prairies to farms and brought farm homes, so have the electric transmission lines brought villages, towns and industries.

Cotton ginning, one of the chief industries in the state which produces a third of the nation's cotton, requires that gins be constructed in relatively small units, located close to the source of raw material. The very nature of the product prohibits the concentration of large ginning establishments in or near centers of transportation and hence the cotton growing sections of the state are dotted with gins, many of which are operated by electricity, where transmission line service is available.

In electrifying the cotton ginning industry, the power and light companies have in many cases placed this important adjunct of the cotton industry on a paying basis. Electric power has permitted the economical operation of gins during poor seasons, and has been instrumental in lessening the fire hazards of the industry.

In the oil fields of Texas, electric power has taken a permanent part and is widely used for pumping oil from wells and transmitting it to storage tanks. In some instances where electric power is available, wells are drilled by electricity. Electric power is favored in the oil fields because of its reliability and the extremely uniform power impulses from electric motors as compared with the uneven impulses from internal combustion engines. The operation of electrically driven pumps has been found more economical than other forms of power in practically all of the Texas oil fields, although crude oil is available at its source. Power and light companies of Texas have performed a valuable work in placing electric power at the disposal of oil producing companies, for production of oil has been increased and wells pumped by electricity, responding reduction in cost.

1928 Is Banner Livestock Year

In general the year 1928 may be characterized as one of the most outstanding years in the history of the livestock industry, declares the bureau of agricultural economics, United States Department of Agriculture. As measured by total income to producers, by apparent profits, and by the general level of prices of all meat animals the year was more favorable than 1927; in fact, the bureau says it was the most favorable year since the post war period.

"The situation in the sheep industry was somewhat better than in 1927 and was one of the most profitable years on record," according to the bureau's review. "The relatively unsatisfactory conditions in the hog industry were slightly below average, whereas conditions in the sheep and cattle industries were considerably above average."

"Although prices for commodities purchased by farmers were slightly higher in 1928 than in 1927, the higher general level of live stock prices offset this increase. The purchasing power of live stock was not only considerably higher than in 1927, but was also the highest since war time. The situation of the live stock industry as a whole was more favorable than that of most other major agricultural enterprises."

U. S. Leader In Autos and Roads

Excerpts from the yearly report of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce give some data on the position of the United States in the automotive industry. With a record of 24,943,124 registrations for the year 1928, the United States leads the world in motor transport. The country has 3,005,614 miles of roads, which are being increased daily. There are 6,582,000 miles of highway in the world.

The United Kingdom of Great Britain comes second with 1,318,169 registrations, but is seventh in road mileage. France boasts 1,098,000 registrations and is second in mileage with 440,085 miles of roads. Canada has 1,061,830 registrations and 424,014 miles of roads.

The other countries taper off in the following order in registration strength: Germany, Australia, Argentina, Italy, Brazil, New Zealand, Spain and Sweden.

In road mileage after the leader, the United States comes France, Russia and Canada in the 400,000 class. Below these in order named are Australia, India, United Kingdom, Germany, Poland, Italy, Sweden and Japan.

There is a motor car for one out of every four persons in the United States. But in China there are 17,000 human beings for every motor car.

The leading customers for motor vehicles from the United States and Canada are Australia, Argentina, Brazil, British South Africa, British India, United Kingdom, Sweden, Belgium, New Zealand, Dutch East Indies, Mexico and Germany in the order named.

In 1895 there were four registered motor vehicles in the United States. By 1921 the millions were being reached, with an apex of 24,500,000 for 1928. A record growth in industry during a period of only thirty-three years.

The Texas public school system comprises 1,000 independent and about 7,000 common school districts with school property valued at $179,200,598.

Ill Health Is Suicide Cause At Childress

Lee McKinney, laborer, aged 42, was found in a dying condition early Thursday morning in a garage at his home in Southwest Childress, evidently the victim of self administered poison. An empty carbolic acid bottle was found close to his body.

McKinney died a few minutes after Doctor S. H. Townsend had been summoned to his side. He had been in ill health for the past few months and his family attributed his suicide to despondency.

An inquest was held Thursday morning by the justice of peace who stated that he thought McKinney's death was a case of suicide.

McKinney arose early Thursday morning before the rest of his family and went outside, according to the story given by his wife. She went to look for him some time later and found him in the garage dying with the carbolic acid bottle nearby.

A doctor was summoned but could not revive the man.

Mr. McKinney is survived by his wife and five children, four sons and one daughter. He also leaves four brothers and two sisters. One brother, Robert McKinney lives in Childress.

Demand For—

milk the cows and feed the pigs, it will mark the beginning of a contented agricultural Southwest."

Never before have better opportunities existed for the Texas farmers to avail themselves of the chance to get into livestock farming in a conservative business-like way, say many bankers who have given the subject study. From 1850 to 1893, statistics show, the numerical relation between population and livestock remained the same. Since then the number of beef cattle has decreased 22 per cent, whereas the human population has increased 62 per cent. All it needs is for families to get back on a meat diet. The decrease in consumption of beef has been taken up largely by increased consumption of vegetables, cereals and fruits, but scientists say that a balanced diet must include a reasonable amount of beef and other meat.

Recovery of farm land values is not confined to Texas, from information supplied by Mr. Thompson to the agricultural department of The News. For instance, Wood Netherland, president of the Federal Land Bank at St. Louis, serving Missouri, Illinois and Arkansas, observes that "no agency which is in close touch with agriculture can fail to note that farm values have reached the bottom and are slowly but surely on the upgrade. The demand for farm real estate is much firmer than a year ago. Sales for 1929 up to Aug. 31, were practically 60 per cent more than they were a year ago."

Demand for farm land in the Eleventh Federal District, serving California, Utah, Nevada and Arizona, is better than for some years past says Willard Ellis, president of the Federal Land Bank of that region. There seems to be more interest generally in farm lands than for the previous five years. To those who are really interested in farming as a business the present time is as desirable for the purchase of farms than any time in the last eight or nine years. A purchaser could now come nearer buying a farm on earning capacity than would have been possible during the years 1915 to 1921, stated Mr. Ellis.

Even as far away as Springfield, Mass., E. H. Thompson, president of the Federal Land Bank in that city writes:

"An interesting demand for good farms indicates what thinking business-like farmers believe this is the time to acquire high-grade farm property. There is a pronounced back to the farm movement by men of means throughout the New England States."

Texas has an opportunity to restore its agriculture to a permanent basis of stability and prosperity by adopting the sound methods which have made the middle West a prosperous farming region. One-crop cotton farming never has paid and never will pay. The time is here for a radical change.

As railroad building bonuses Texas gave 35,000,000 acres of its public domain—roughly the equivalent of forty-three counties of the average size of 90 square miles.

Presbyterians May Build Church In This City In Near Future, Is Claim

Presbyterians of Wellington will hold a meeting November 17 at the First Christian Church in Wellington to discuss plans to erect a Presbyterian Church in this city, it has been announced. Rev. W. H. Bessie, district missionary from Canyon, was in Wellington Sunday to discuss this matter with interested parties, although no definite action has as yet been taken.

In the event that local Presbyterians do not see fit to build a church at the present time, there is

Leader Survey Shows 18,357 Bales Of Cotton Now Ginned in County

The Leader's regular cotton survey compiled Wednesday noon of this week showed 18,357 bales of cotton had been ginned in Collingsworth County at that time. During the past two weeks the county has handled only 5,405 bales, as indicated by the fact that on October 9 a survey compiled by this newspaper showed a total of 12,952 bales had been ginned then.

Rains prohibited cotton picking during much of the time in the past two weeks, and this condition together with the fact that many farmers have already picked practically all of their crops, are the reasons for the ginning falling off during the past two weeks.

The heaviest ginning period of the entire season came between

September 25 and October 9, as the county handled 9,469 bales in that period of two weeks.

Of the present county total of 18,357 bales, the ten gins in Wellington have handled 9,173, or almost exactly half of the entire county's total. The four gins at Dodsonville account for 3,822 bales, while the other nine gins of the county located at Abba, Rolla, Quail, Dozier, Plymouth and Lutie, have handled the remaining 5,352 bales.

Cotton was bringing 16 1-2 cents in Wellington Wednesday. The average price paid for cotton here during the past two weeks has been between 16 1-2 and 17 1-2 cents, although the spot market was 19 cents at the beginning of the season.

The Federal Farm Board said Monday that in view of its belief that present prices for cotton are too low, it proposes to lend to cotton operatives sums sufficient to bring total amount borrowed from all sources by such associations to 16 cents per pound on graded and classed cotton.

The total supply of American cotton is less than last year while the world consumption continues at a rate equal to that of last year. Unfilled orders and actual sales of cotton goods are more and stocks are smaller than last year, and yet the price of the raw product is less. This unsatisfactory price level is due chiefly to open fall weather which has led to rapid marketing.

Banks of County Are Revealed In Good Condition

Deposits Are High At All Banks In Collingsworth County

All the banks of Collingsworth County are shown to be in a normal condition, according to statements issued by each of the banks during this month. Deposits are high in view of the fact that figures issued by the banks represent deposits at the first of October, a time when many notes were still out and numerous collections yet to be made.

The October statements show that $1,559,592.53 was on deposit in the four banks of this county October 1. Of this figure, $250,785.46 represents the Dodsonville deposits while the balance is that of the three banks in Wellington, or $1,608,807.07 in the Wellington banks.

Loans of all banks amount to approximately as much as all deposits as the total loans of the county stands at $1,706,518.69. The Dodsonville loans are $160,686.24, and the Wellington loans $1,545,832.45.

The January 1 statements from the various banks will probably show deposits even higher than at the present time, as most collections are made by the banks during the last quarter of the year.

Fiddler's Contest To Be Next Week

An old time fiddler's contest and amateur night has been announced for October 30 and 31 under the direction of "Whistling" Rogers and Alva Wood to be held at the Rialto Theatre in Wellington. All fiddlers are extended an invitation to enter the contest, and a $50 violin will be awarded the winner of the contest. A complete program in keeping with the nature of the fiddler's contest is being planned and an evening of fun and entertainment is promised by those in charge of the program.

Walter Hodges and Ernest Nunally visited friends in Childress last Sunday.

Bride Doesn't Have to Bother With New Name

Miss Mary McKay who was married in Wellington Wednesday morning won't have to bother with changing her name, since the groom in this case was J. B. McKay.

Miss McKay is 15 years of age and lives in Hobart, Oklahoma. The groom is 18 years of age and lives in Hinton, Oklahoma.

The marriage ceremony in which Miss Mary McKay became Mrs. J. B. McKay was performed in the office of Mrs. Marguerite Bartlett by Minister Billy Wolfrum.

Keener Hudson Is Now With Palace

Accepts Position as Pharmacist With Palace Drug Store

Keener Hudson, the son of Mrs. T. A. Hudson of Wellington has accepted the position of pharmacist at the Palace Drug Store and took up his duties in this capacity this week. Keener, who formerly made his home here with his parents, is well known to the people of Wellington who are glad to learn that he will make his home in Wellington permanently.

For the past several years Keener has been engaged in the drug business in the southern part of the state, at Laredo and Mirando City. He recently sold his interests there and has moved to Wellington to make his home with his mother.

Keener is well trained for the business in which he is now engaged. He is a graduate of Baylor Medical College at Dallas and has also had several years practical experience in the work of prescription clerk. He is now in complete charge of the prescription department at the Palace and will be glad to see his many friends there.

Miss McQueen Is Recent Bride Of Robert Hightower

Miss Lera Mae McQueen and Bob Hightower were married Saturday in Hollis, Oklahoma, according to an announcement made in Wellington this week by friends of the bride.

Miss McQueen is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. McQueen who have lived in this county for a number of years, and Miss McQueen was reared in Wellington. She was graduated from the Wellington High School in 1927 and later attended school at Texas Technological College in Lubbock. She is employed as a teacher in the Salt Fork school this year.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Hightower who reside south of Wellington, and he is engaged in farming at the present time. Mr. and Mrs. Hightower will make their home in this county.

Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Hamman of Dodsonville visited in the home of W. R. Franks Monday.

Formal Opening Shields & Lewis Attracts Crowds

Owners Highly Pleased With Response at Formal Opening

Approximately 1,000 people were in attendance at the formal opening of the new Shields & Lewis Hardware and Furniture Store which was held last Saturday and which was advertised exclusively in The Leader. More than 500 people were present for the free drawing of prizes.

Both J. M. Shields and E. F. Lewis express themselves as being highly pleased with the response they received from the people of Collingsworth County, and extend their thanks to the many people who visited the store during the day.

The prizes were awarded as follows: J. B. Young, 9x12 rug; Emily Holmes, 7 1-2x9 rug; Mrs. J. P. Pritchard, rocking chair; Bernice Brickey, Coleman Lamp; and Mrs. W. H. Johnson, Happy Home washer.

Demonstrations of practically all appliances sold by the Shields & Lewis store were held during the day, and numerous people were present for each of these demonstrations.

The Shields & Lewis store is the youngest hardware and furniture establishment in Wellington, and was formerly operated under the name of Noles & Langford. Until recently the store was located on the east side of the square, but moved to the new quarters south of the M. System Store a few weeks ago. The new location affords twice as much space as was formerly available, and the entire stock is now differently and more satisfactorily arranged.

This store is owned by J. M. Shields, E. N. Lewis and E. F. Lewis with J. M. Shields serving as manager.

TAKES PAPER 11 YEARS

E. D. Williams has been taking The Leader for eleven years and has never missed a copy. He renewed his subscription the first of this week and declared that the paper was getting better all the time.

Many Readers Place Renewals For The Leader

During the past week the following readers of The Leader have placed renewal subscriptions at this office:

J. B. Baumgardner, E. C. Cayton, C. N. McClure, Homer Willoughby, Mittie Lee Royal, Dr. John W. Harper, C. L. Lowry, A. R. Pepper, J. B. Long, Dr. E. W. Jones, S. G. Henry, Rev. I. A. Smith, T. M. Jones, J. W. Carreker, David C. Brown, J. M. Kelly, Lee Fortenberry, E. F. Snell, E. B. Williams, W. W. Johnson, Andrew Colvin, W. L. Jones, C. A. Clement, Paralee Brock and W. H. McClelland.

Will Represent Local C. of C. At Convention

Chamber of Commerce To Be Represented At El Paso

Small Will Speak

Senator C. C. Small Will Address West Texas Gathering

Wellington's Chamber of Commerce will be represented at the eleventh annual convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce to be held at El Paso, October 24-26, at which time Senator C. C. Small of Wellington and E. L. Winn will represent this city at the meeting.

Early announcements are to the effect that fifteen thousand delegates will be present at this convention which promises to be one of the most successful in the history of the West Texas organization.

The meeting will be called to order by H. L. Birney, president of the El Paso Chamber of Commerce, and each of the three days set aside for the meeting will be crowded with activity.

Senator Small of Wellington will be called upon to address the gathering on the opening day, and other features of the convention will be the president's address by A. M. Bourland of Vernon; an address by Dan Moody, governor of Texas; an address by R. C. Dillon, governor of New Mexico; and an address by Jewel P. Lightfoot of Fort Worth pertaining to the Texas highway program.

The last afternoon will be devoted largely to the election of officers and to the selection of the next convention city. At 7 p. m. on the final afternoon the delegates will be the guests of the city of Jaurez, Mexico.

This meeting will be the first in many years that will not be attended by a large delegation of Wellington citizens. This is due largely to the fact that the convention is being held in the fall of the year instead of in the summer as is usually the case, and most business men are unable to get away at this time. The conventions of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce have always been elaborate affairs and are attended by delegates from every city in West Texas.

Gas Explodes In Home Saturday

What might have been a serious accident occurred Saturday morning when a gas pocket exploded underneath the home of Porter Loving located at Seventh and Graham Streets.

How long the gas had been accumulating underneath the house is of course unknown, and neither is the cause of the leak known to Mr. Loving.

Fire Chief Bura Handley was unable to offer an explanation as to how the gas became ignited, and only small damage was done to the home, a small bit of flooring being torn loose from the dining room floor.

Following the explosion an alarm was turned in to the fire department and the truck made a run to the Loving home, but no fire was in evidence about the premises.

First Cold Snap Hits Wellington

Collingsworth County was visited by the first cold snap of the winter Monday night with Tuesday and Wednesday remaining cold. Although the weather was by no means cold enough to freeze, it was felt very keenly due to the fact that the entire fall has been unusually warm.

Frost has not visited this county as yet, although the United States Weather Bureau forecasts that frost will arrive here between October 20 and November 1.

New Agent

Miss Paralee Brock of Grapevine who took up the duties of home demonstration agent in Collingsworth county on October 1, succeeding Miss Veda Swafford, is the sixth demonstrator to serve Collingsworth in this capacity. Miss Brock is a graduate of North Texas State Teachers College at Denton.

Memphis Cyclone Plays Skyrockets Friday Afternoon

Superior Memphis Team Will Meet Locals At Fair Park

Wellington Skyrockets will meet the Memphis Cyclone Friday afternoon of this week at the local fair park, at which time the Skyrockets will meet as tough competition as they have ever had at any time this year, if the outcomes of all games played thus far by the Cyclone are to be judged at their face value.

The far-famed Cyclone has lost only one conference game during the season, while the more unfortunate Skyrockets have suffered three consecutive losses.

Following is the record of the Memphis team during the current season: Memphis 33, Eldorado 0; Memphis 20, Paducah 0; Memphis 6, Canyon 18; Memphis 39, Quitaque 6; Memphis 2, Estelline 20; Memphis 6, Clarendon 6. The Eldorado, Paducah and Canyon games were not included on Memphis' league schedule so the Cyclone has lost only one percentage game, winning one and tying the other.

The lone victory credited to the Skyrockets this year is that which was played with Wheeler which was a 7-0 win for Wellington. Other games during the current season have netted the following results: Wellington 0, Mangum 19; Wellington 0, Estelline 32; Wellington 6, Clarendon 15; Wellington 7, Childress 13. All were conference games with the exception of the opener at Mangum.

In Friday's game, the starting line-up for Memphis will be: J. D. Jackson, left end; Capt. Massey, left tackle; Sanders, left guard; Perdure or Smith, center; Kunkler, right guard; C. Jackson, right tackle; Sitton or West, right end; Martindale, quarterback; Phillips, left half; Walker, right half; Hammond, fullback. Of this aggregation, Memphis' most powerful threat is James Hammond who is reputed to be the hardest hitting

Chamber of Commerce Hears Plans To Hold Community Week In City

Directors of the Wellington Chamber of Commerce held a meeting Monday morning to hear the plans of Captain Nussbaum of El Paso who was in this city at that time and who is interested in holding a Community Week program here. Nussbaum has just recently completed a similar meeting at Wheeler and the purpose of his visit to Wellington was to determine whether or not local citizens are interested in such an undertaking.

Captain Nussbaum is a lecturer

Woman's Body Is Exhumed Monday For Examination

Body Disinterred Following Sudden Burial In Quail Cemetery

Husband In Jail

Woman's Husband Held In Jail Pending Investigations

The body of Mrs. Andrew Allen who died suddenly last Saturday morning was exhumed from the Quail cemetery Monday morning for examination. The body was disinterred by County Attorney Luther Gribble and County Health Officer Jno. W. Harper after numerous reports had been received from the sudden and apparently mysterious death of Mrs. Allen, according to Mr. Gribble. The stomach was removed from the body and sent to Austin for chemical analysis, but as yet no report has been received and from Austin officials and it will probably be five or six days before such information is returned to Wellington.

Mrs. Allen's husband is being held in jail in Wellington until all investigations are completed, Attorney Gribble states.

According to information given out by Attorney Gribble, Mrs. Allen died at about 9:30 Saturday morning, shortly after she had taken breakfast. She was buried that afternoon in the Quail cemetery. Mr. Gribble says that Mrs. Allen's husband did not notify any of his wife's relatives in regard to her death before burial was made, although she has a brother who lives in Claremore, Oklahoma, and another who resides in Batesville, Arkansas.

Attorney Gribble further disclosed the fact that on August 24 of this year Mr. Allen had secured a $2,000 life insurance policy on his wife payable to himself, and that on Sunday morning Mr. Allen telephoned the insurance agent who lives in Hall County regarding his wife's death and made arrangements to collect on the insurance policy.

When local investigations were started, Mr. Allen gave his written consent to Attorney Gribble to have the body exhumed for examination.

Mrs. Allen was 33 years of age. Her husband is approximately 47. Mrs. Allen is survived by two children by a former husband. Their ages are 13 and 11 years. A young son 20 months old by her last husband also survives.

Attorney Gribble stated that no charges have been filed against Mr. Allen and that he is being held in jail pending the return of information from Austin regarding the outcome of the examination.

VISITS FRIENDS HERE

J. P. Adams of Portales, New Mex., has been in Wellington for the past several days visiting with friends in Collingsworth County. Mr. Adams resided here for eight years, settling at Marella and later lived in Wellington. He moved to Portales nine years ago. While here he has been visiting with J. N. Pierce, Bert Weaver, and other old friends.

Fire Prevention Program Is Feature of P. T. A. Meet

A Fire Prevention program was the feature of the meeting of the West Ward P. T. A., Friday, October 18, with 93 present.

Mrs. Chester Fires, president, was in the chair during the business session and Mrs. Lee C. O'Neil, program chairman, announced the program for the afternoon.

Each one present answered roll call with "ways to prevent fire" which was very interesting.

The play by Mrs. Bartlett's room was along the same subject and was well rendered.

Bura Handley, fire chief, gave an interesting talk on "Fires, and How to Prevent Them."

Four cash prizes were given to children having the best Fire Prevention posters. The posters were on display and showed much time spent on them.

First prize went to Virginia Hogan, 1st grade and Dora Elizabeth McClaskey, 4th grade. Second prizes were given to Howard Dorn, 3rd grade and Lora Lee Longino, 2nd grade.

Again, Mrs. Wilk's room had the largest number of mothers present for the first meeting of the month. There will be one more meeting and another prize will be given to room having largest attendance of mothers for the month.

Next meeting will be Friday November 1 and will be a "Book Week" Program.

Miss Evelyn Conner Selected For Glee Club at Gulf Park

Miss Evelyn Conner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Cocke of this city, has been selected as a member of the glee club at Gulf Park College in Gulfport, Mississippi, where she is now in school, according to recent reports from the college. This is an honor which is seldom conferred upon girls who are doing their first year's work at this college and is an indication that Miss Conner's musical ability is above the ordinary. She has also been selected as pianist for all popular music at school functions.

Miss Conner was graduated from Wellington High school last spring. During each of the years she was in school here she took a prominent part in glee club and orchestra work at the high school and possessed marked musical talent. She is not only an accomplished singer, but has a talent for piano and violin as well.

Iowa Park Oil Man Testifies

Wife Gains on Orgatone; Wouldn't Be Without Medicine

Still another well known and popular oil stillman came forward with his unqualified endorsement for Orgatone. This time it is Jim Kelly, a well known stillman of the district who resides on rural route 1, Iowa Park, Texas.

"My wife has actually gained wonderfully since she began taking Orgatone," said Mr. Kelly, in an interview recently, "and has been benefited as much in every way that I am glad to make this statement, which I hope will be the cause of others who may be suffering as she did getting relief. She has been in such a nervous, run-down condition for the past several years that she didn't feel like her old self at all. She was subject to frequent spells of dizziness. She also suffered intense pain from the gas on her stomach, especially after eating. She was constipated and had practically no appetite.

"She has been wonderfully benefited by Orgatone, in fact, I consider it remarkable the way she has been built up, for she is almost like a different person. She has been relieved entirely of stomach trouble, headache and nervousness. I am delighted more than I can tell with what Orgatone had done for her, and we feel we would not be without it now for anything. It is by far the best medicine she has ever taken."

Genuine Orgatone may be obtained in Wellington at the Palace Drug Co. Adv.

If it is necessary to make silage from corn fodder, it may be done successfully if enough water is added to make it pack well in the silo. Water may be added by letting a stream from a hose flow into the blower or the top of the blower pipe while filling. It is also well to sprinkle the surface of the cut material as it is distributed in the silo.

Claims Farmers Should Secure Higher Prices

Says Twenty-Five Cent Cotton Is Theirs For The Asking

By W. B. Yeary, Sec'y. Farmers Marketing Association
The Government, Commissioners of Agriculture, statisticians and cotton speculators all say, and the farmers know, this cotton crop is far short of last year's production.

All Texas knows the Texas cotton crop is at least 1,000,000 bales short of last years crop and that the supply will fall short of the demand at least 1,000,000 bale. We now know the rains the early part of September were too light and too late to be of any benefit. Then why lengthen this message with reports and statistics to show cotton is selling too low?

All have expected an advance in price but no action has been taken to cause it. The Association would have acted in August if its membership had been large enough to justify it. The farmers and everybody else realize we have produced 25 cent cotton this year. The bankers and business know the farmers are entitled to at least 25 cents for it.

There is far more cotton being held individually now than ever before. There is four times as much cotton being held individually as is necessary to advance the price to 25 cents if it was held in an organized way and for that price. As many as possible can decide on one price for their cotton and salt it down at that price. We suggest 25 cents. But individual holding will not do it. The spinners are not going to rush to get what cotton they need or bid the price up until they believe the price is going to advance. The farmers can convince them of this if they will. This action will control the price of any one crop, but it is very easy with a short crop like the previous one.

The farmers who are holding their cotton, and those who will hold, when they see hopes for a better price, can convince both speculators and spinners that they have produced 25 cent cotton and it will take that to get it. This is all that need be done. Drop a note to us at once, saying "I will have about ——— bales of cotton and it will take that to get it." Let the Chamber of Commerce or someone in town see all who have cotton or will have and will price it at 25 cents and list them and send the list in to us at once. See others every day and send in their names until everyone of them has been seen. This is, in effect, organizing the farmers to have a say in the price of cotton without membership fee. This plea covers the South.

If the farmers will do their duty and the Chambers of Commerce and business men will do theirs in sufficient volume to justify success, our Association will direct the campaign to a finish. We believe the business men of Dallas have enough interest in the welfare of the farmers to do their part in financing the campaign. The southern people have an opportunity to add about $40.00 a bale to their cotton at no cost. The Association is formed of men who caused cotton to sell for 30, 35 and 40 cents for the crop of 1917-18-19, when these crops were billed for 12 and 15 cents. They know what they are doing. Act at once if you have 25 cent cotton and want that for it. It is yours for the asking. If speedy and general action is taken, the price will advance no matter what the next government report is. The farmers will never sell their cotton for what it is worth unless they ask that for it. Do not sell cotton on "call." The buyer hedges it at once, which depresses the price. Then dumps it to the spinner and satisfies his demands.

The Federal Reserve and city banks discount notes secured by cotton tickets for member and correspondent banks. There is no excuse for losing $40.00 to $50.00 a bale on this cotton. Action is all that is needed. In other words, a total sum of $600,000,000 to $700,000,000 would be added to the year's income of the cotton raisers.

Live poultry for market should be shipped so that it reaches the market early enough to be weighed the day it arrives, as some shrinkage is bound to occur. The amount varies from 2 to 15 per cent depending upon conditions. Shipments received late on Saturday usually have a heavy shrinkage when they are held over until the following Monday to be weighed.

Negro Arrested Sunday Morning

Following the arrest of Katherine Wilridge, negro, Sunday morning by Deputy Sheriff W. H. Stuart, many missing articles were returned to their rightful owners. She had been employed in Wellington for several months but was recently employed by the Greer and Geesey ranch. Sunday morning Mr. Geesey notified the sheriff's department that the negro was in possession of articles which were known to be stolen. She was placed under arrest and her trunk brought to Wellington. She was found to be in possession of silverware belonging to Mrs. W. H. Stuart as well as silverware belonging to Mrs. Geesey, Mrs. Greer and Mrs. Goldwyn Milner. She also possessed numerous articles of clothing belonging to Mrs. Bill Sugg, Mrs. B. F. Snell and Mrs. Goldwyn Milner. She was placed in jail and remained there until a fine of $48 was paid. Her trunk still contains many unclaimed articles and is being held at the sheriff's office until Friday so that people may identify and reclaim their property.

Mrs. Ray Goodson And Mrs. Merritt At Dallas School

Mrs. Ray Goodson and Mrs. Leonard Merritt left Friday for Dallas where they have entered the Dallas School of Embalming conducted by the Ed C. Smith Undertaking Company. Mrs. Goodson and Mrs. Merritt will receive instruction there for a period of six weeks after which they will make application for embalmer's licenses.

When they secure licenses, Wellington will have four licensed undertakers, Mr. Goodson and Mr. Merritt having already obtained licenses. Mr. Goodson is proprietor of the Goodson Funeral Parlor in Wellington and Mr. Merritt has been associated with him in the operation of the business for the past three years. Mrs. Goodson and Mrs. Merritt have both been employed here as lady assistants in the funeral parlor.

Plenty of Farm Labor Available

AUSTIN, Texas, Oct. 23—Farmers have available in Texas as a whole more labor than there is a demand for, although some sections still need cotton pickers, H. H. Schultz, Federal statistician said Friday. A general rain is still needed to facilitate plowing for the sowing of grain, Mr. Schultz said.

A large proportion of the corn crop, with the exception of the late stand has been gathered and indications point to a production of 86,796,000 bushels, or an average yield of 18.2 bushels to the acre. This is less than in recent years with the exception of 1924 and 1925. Last year Texas produced 99,162,000 bushels.

The rice crop is turning out well and is being harvested under excellent conditions, with production estimated at 6,077,000 bushels, a condition 90 per cent of normal.

Yields of sorghum and sugar cane will be lighter than last year because of untimely moisture. Growth was retarded early in the season by drouth and although September rains helped, the cane borer has been a source of much loss.

Sweet potato production was increased by rains and prospects are rare for a good crop of 7,125,000 bushels compared with 8,284,000 in 1928.

Production of peanuts will be 64 per cent of normal, forecasting a crop of 85,747,000 pounds on a large acreage. The crop is considered surprisingly big, considering the long drouth of the summer and early fall.

Only an unusually late frost would aid the reduced crop of grain sorghums, which is estimated at only 51 per cent of normal, producing 39,148,000 bushels. Few counties will have a sufficient supply for their own needs.

The broom corn crop is estimated to exceed the 1,400-ton crop of 1928 by 100 tons, the report says September rains aided the crop in the northwestern counties and the late crop is expected to be better than the early.

Pecans are expected to produce 40 per cent of a full crop compared with 52 per cent reported at the corresponding time a year ago.

The citrus fruit crop this year is almost mature now and has an excellent quality of fruit and it ready to move. Grapefruit and oranges are reported as 88 per cent of normal.

Highway Job Belongs With Government

Overcoming Regional Obstacles Speeding Up Projects

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23—Road building under the present plan of Federal co-operation with States has been in operation for about twelve years.

During that time there has been a growth in the motor industry and achievements in highway construction that are not generally realized by the public. Also, it is not generally known that the States themselves have taken the leadership in road building to such an extent that their own expenditures in this form of public investment have gone far beyond like expenditures on the part of the Federal Government. In other words, they have outstripped Federal aid in their zeal to complete their respective State systems as early as possible.

It will be the aim, therefore, to concisely restate the whole highway project for the purpose of making clear the logical steps by which roads have been brought to their present state of improvement, bearing in mind the fact that the original job for which the Federal aid plan was devised is as yet little more than 26 per cent complete when measured by public requirements for substantially built roads over which traffic may move at lessened fuel cost and upon which road repair expenses may be held to a minimum.

Only those upon whom the duties of road building have been placed in a heavy and fast traffic age can appreciate the time it has taken and the extreme patience which has been required to separate road building into its logical economic divisions. These divisions are township, county and state and interstate. They have been forced by the necessity of establishing responsible construction units through which the motorists money may be applied to the road.

It should be remembered that when the horse had the road the travel range was defined mainly by the township, and for this reason the township was the first base of road improvement. But the automobile as everyone knows changed all that with its greatly widened range and in doing so it brought the public face to face with the inescapable duty of bringing road construction up to a higher and more economic standard. It was like pulling teeth, to use a familiar phrase, to get township consent to county control over roads that logically belonged in the county system. The same teeth pulling difficulty was encountered in getting county consent to State control over roads that logically belonged in the state system. Much oratory on this point was heard in many unpainted school houses throughout the land and many hands pointed with warning alarm toward centralized political power either at the county courthouse or at the State capital. The whole controversy was shot down through with politics and selfish aims.

But in due time the truth began to dawn upon the public that the road was an economic and not a political tool and from that time forward its development according to modern standards became easier going.

Beauty Specialist Coming To Palace Drug Store Soon

Mrs. Edna Clark representing Dorothy Perkins Toiletries will be at the Palace Drug Store in Wellington next week.

Mrs. Clark is a graduate beauty specialist and has wide experience in beauty culture.

A private booth has been installed in the store where the ladies may go for consultation with the specialist and for treatments if it is desired. She will make telephone appointments, gladly with anyone who desires to consult her.

No charge is made for the consultations, Mr. Bengé having made special arrangements whereby customers and users of Dorothy Perkins toilet articles may be given expert advice without cost and where others may be made acquainted with the excellence and wide range of variety of the Dorothy Perkins line.

Mr. Bengé extends a cordial invitation to all who wish to avail themselves of the opportunity to consult with a competent specialist as to their peculiar cosmetic and beauty culture needs.

around from township and county to State and interstate, logically beginning where the traffic was heaviest. It is precisely at this point where the interests of motorists and other taxpayers are being helped and safeguarded in the co-operative principle under which the State and Federal Governments are carrying the work forward. The important point now is to keep the job moving steadily toward the completion of heavily traveled roads first.

J. W. Payne Buys Majestic Agency

J. W. Payne closed a deal last week with Ray Goodson whereby Mr. Payne has taken over the local agency for Majestic radios and is now in charge of the music store formerly operated by Mr. Goodson. The music store was formerly located in the post office arcade, but following the sale last week the music store was moved to the J. W. Payne building across the street from the post office and is now being operated in connection with the Payne Jewelry store.

Mr. Payne is assisted in the operation of the music and jewelry stores by his sons, John T. Payne and Winfred Payne.

Clarendon Road Is Being Worked

The Clarendon Chamber of Commerce has been instrumental in getting some much needed road work started on the Clarendon-Pampa highway. Requests from the Chamber to the state highway department were made several times and last week when a representative from the engineers department was in Clarendon a visit was made over the road which resulted in a promise to have the work started at once. Workmen started Monday moving back a fence that was responsible for a "blind" corner and when the work is finished it will make the highway much safer for traffic. A hill on the river will also be given attention and will eliminate another blind corner on the road. Other minor work will be done by the department while they are at work on the highway.

Junior High Holds Meeting Thursday

The Junior High P. T. A. were entertained last Thursday by the pupils of Miss Childress' room at the East Side School. The forty members present enjoyed a very profitable afternoon while a Fire Prevention Program was rendered. A Fire playlet constituted the feature of the program.

After the program the Association voted to take up the study of Adolescent Age, which will be studied at every other meeting.

Miss Childress' room was declared the winner in a contest to decide which room could have the most mothers present, and were given a picnic Saturday at the Greer & Geesey Stock Farms.

"What's the Matter With Sally?" To Be Presented Soon

Plans are being made to present "What's the Matter With Sally" by the Junior High School assisted by a few high school students. The play will be given in the high school auditorium sometime next month the exact date will be announced later. Mrs. Andrew Colvin will direct the play. Watch for announcement later of the date and cast.

"Leader" Advertising Brought the Crowds for--- SHIELDS & LEWIS

Last week Shields & Lewis advertised their Formal Opening exclusively in The Leader. A page advertisement and circulars from it were the only forms of advertising used. The results exceeded their expectations. During the day approximately 1,000 people visited their new store, and a crowd of over 500 people was in the store at one time when they distributed souvenirs and prizes.

This is only one more example of the distribution and the pulling power Leader circulation gives to its advertising. May we help you solve your advertising problems?

Urges Laymen To Help Solve Road Problems

Average Citizen Should Take Greater Interest In Good Roads

What can the average citizen do about the highway problem? He knows that there is a problem, that there is traffic congestion, a need for wider roads, for more pavements, for highway safety devices; yet the highway like golf under 72, is somewhat of a mystery to John Per Capita.

Communities have made mistakes in projecting and financing improvements, and probably they will continue to do so. John Per Capita may see that mistakes are being made, yet, feeling that his voice if aroused in protest would be but a small squeak, he does nothing about it. The one great in order to be a good citizen, is that the citizen must learn that there may be many others who agree with him that in the interest of better government certain procedures should be taken or eliminated, as the case may be.

To illustrate: Recently in Chicago a city official took it upon himself to instigate a street resurfacing program in one district where the pavements were so bad that a motorist couldn't keep more than one wheel at a time out of the holes. The street surfaces were so shattered that obviously they wouldn't serve as a practical base, inasmuch as a flexible topping would soon be ruined.

One property owner saw the folly of this resurfacing project and busied himself, through his community business association, in defeating the plan. An injunction against resurfacing was granted and now in all likelihood the streets will be repaved solidly, saving the community considerable money over a period of years.

There are many ways the citizen may serve his community, and also his own pocketbook, by directing his attention to improvements whenever shoddy or unstable construction is contemplated. Newspapers, the fellow on the street, the luncheon club, the Pullman car conversation, the alderman, the city official, the county commissioner, are all possible allies

Radio Display At Fair Deals In Television

First Marconi Receiver Among Interesting Items at Show

Radio from infancy when Marconi was still experimenting to the present day, when photographs are flashed across thousands of miles of space, is shown in the State Fair Radio Show which opened Saturday in the Manufacturers Building. Most lines of the present-day radio, in beautiful consoles, are shown by the exhibitors in the show. Photographs of Governor Moody, of Walter Woolf, leading man in "The Red Robe," scenes of the rodeo, a picture of T. E. Jackson, president of the State Fair; Roy Ruppard, secretary, will be transmitted by television. The first successful radio set invented by Marconi is shown in the exhibit which has been arranged from the RCA laboratories. Another is the first commercial set made by Matthews, the American radio genius. This was sold by Matthews to the United States Navy and was the first set ever used in this country.

Not only are the receiving sets shown, and the latest model, but a modern broadcasting room is one of the features of the show, with broadcasting going on practically throughout the day. Station WRR, the oldest municipal station in the United States, has built the State Fair Broadcasting station and is broadcasting all programs during the two weeks of the State Exposition from this station.

John Thornwald, chief announcer of the municipal station, is in charge of the broadcasting studio and will present popular WRR entertainers.

tertainers.

The State Fair Broadcasting station Saturday night featured a radio revue in which practically all broadcasting stars from Station WRR were introduced. The Saturday night program ran from 9 to 11 o'clock. Other radio revues will be broadcast on the other two Saturday nights of the State Exposition.

Five bands known locally are being featured on the programs. Vincent Parrino's orchestra, John Langford's orchestra, Jimmy Crow's orchestra and others will be heard. Distributors of the various brands of radio have added glamour to the radio show. Space deemed it necessary to confine exhibitors to distributors instead of the many dealers of the State, and eight lines of radio sets are being featured in the exhibits surrounding the show. Every known model, the high-priced cabinet models down to the utility and portable sets, will be on exhibit. Among the sets on exhibit in the show are Majestic, Atwater Kent, Lyric, Eveready, Zenith, Edison, RCA and Crosley.

Childress Court Improves Road

A decision to purchase the right of way on highway number 4 from the Preston farm three miles south of town to Childress was reached Monday afternoon by the commissioners court of Childress County. The vote of Judge Howard was required to break a tie resulting from the commissioner's votes.

Claude Etter and J. F. Kindle voted against the measure, while L. L. Foreman and J. T. Preston voted for it.

No action was taken on the routing of number 4 north of Childress.

The work on number 4 was almost complete to the Preston farm south of town. The contractors will continue the work on the three mile strip opened up by the action of the commissioners.

Summer D. Bacon is continuing work on the survey of the highway 5 on the south side of the Denver road from Childress to Hardeman County line. The north survey has been completed.

The state has made a survey from Childress to the Collingsworth County line. As previously stated the court has taken no action in purchasing the right of way for this strip. The state survey would miss the present Wellington highway from a mile to two miles.

Madame X' With Ruth Chatterton Here Next Week

Is Outstanding Picture of Entire Month To Be Shown at Ritz

What is known to be the outstanding picture of the entire month, as well as one of the more important pictures of the year, is "Madame X" starring the inimitable Ruth Chatterton which will be shown at the Ritz Theatre Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week. Miss Chatterton, who is now the highest paid actress in talking pictures, was for many years a favorite on the Broadway stage, and in "Madame X" she brings an all-talking picture, to Wellington which will far surpass the former efforts of this greatly admired star.

Miss Chatterton portrays the role of Jacqueline who later becomes known as "Madame X," and the story reaches dramatic peaks. When Jacqueline was a lovely young woman there were two men who loved her, Louis and Noel, and they were friends. But because Noel believed his friend to be the better man, he never spoke his love, and went away lest it be discovered, and Jacqueline became Mme. Floriot, bride of the rising deputy-attorney of Paris. A boy, Raymond was born to them.

Louis retreated within a shell of cold righteousness and reserve, which Jacqueline was never allowed to penetrate, and she became lonely. Another man offered what Louis denied her. She accepted his companionship, and they ran away from Paris, from Louis and even from little Raymond. Louis divorced Madame, and taught little Raymond that his mother was dead.

When Raymond is about five, he becomes critically ill. Madame is in Paris again, quite alone in the world, for the man with whom she ran away and whom she later married, is dead. She hears of Raymond's danger and comes to see him. Louis discovers her presence, denies her even a glimpse of her sleeping boy, and sends her into the streets.

In a week, Noel returns from abroad. He learns the poignant story, rebukes Louis sternly, and finally makes his friend realize the wrongness and possible consequence of his action, but though they search faithfully, they never find Jacqueline.

Jacqueline sinks lower and lower, while Louis rises and becomes the Attorney General of France. Raymond grows into a splendid young man and is admitted to the bar.

Madame is in Buenos Aires, when she falls into the clutches of a scoundrel named Laroque. He makes her his mistress and befriends her, learning that she has been a lady and the wife of public personage. Blackmail is his trade and he determines to capitalize this valuable information.

Madame thinks of her son and of the shame it will cause the boy to learn that his father had driven his mother to do the things she has done.

She denies what she has already confessed but her denials are not believed. When she cannot prevent the revelation in any other way, she shoots and kills Laroque.

Fate appoints Raymond to defend the unknown woman as his first case. He discovers that Laroque has always been a rogue; and his heart tells him Madame is risking death to keep from shame some man who is more guilty than she is.

While Raymond is doing the best he can for her, the Attorney-General enters behind the bar as the honored guest of the court. Madame cries that now she will speak. Without mentioning any name, she tells her story of the man who drove her to degradation with his pseudo-righteousness. For the man Madame does not care but she will die rather than that her boy to learn the truth about such a father.

"I would say this to all women—all wives and mothers who are listening—and to all men who are so God-like that they can refuse the woman who sins another chance," she cries, and her frantic voice reflecting the years of suffering through which she has passed. "I killed this man because he was going to bring shame upon someone I love. That is the truth." Her secret she concludes, will never be torn from her; she will protect her boy.

"She died for a cause," comments Noel, his nature big enough for forgive even the conscience-stricken Floriot who stands beside him.

line bucker in this section and who also punts and passes for the Cyclone. Hammond has played a star game in every Memphis conflict during the season.

Wellington's probable starting line-up will be: L. Watkins, left end; Willoughby, left tackle; Gladney, left guard; Watkins, center; Capt. Boverie, right guard; Stout, right tackle; Campbell, right end; Rowland, quarterback; Johnson, left half; Breedlove, right half and Gilbreath, fullback. Rowland will in all probability prove to be the most dangerous man on the field and will cause the Cyclone ample worry. Rowland does the punting, passing, and a large portion of the running for the Skyrocks and is an adept field general.

Announcements are to the effect that the game will be called at 3:30 o'clock. Perhaps the largest attendance of the entire year will be present at this game, as Wellington and Memphis are ancient grid rivals and the favored Memphis team will be expecting many surprises from the Smithmen. A large number of fans will accompany the Cyclone from Memphis, and the event Friday gives promise to be thoroughly interesting.
