IN MITCHELL COUNTY

Cotton Acreage Cut Affects 930 Farmers

Smallest cotton allotment ever made under the national crop control program is coming up for 1963. Cotton allotment cut is necessarily news in Mitchell County.

News of Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman's decision to cut cotton allotment to the minimum allowed under the law, 16 million acres, was not unexpected here.

That news from Washington D. C. came Monday. The cut from this year's planting allotment of 181 million acres will inevitably affect Mitchell County, agricultural county in a cotton-growing state.

National allotment will be first apportioned to states then to counties, then to individual farmers, chiefly on the basis of past growing, said Wayne Worley of the ASCS office here this week.

Mitchell County cotton producers total 930 farmers who this year planted a total of 65,287 acres of cotton. Cotton allotment for '62 was slightly over 76,000 acres.

Secretary Freeman, in making the cotton-cut announcement, blamed increased supply plus a declining market for the sharp reduction.

Freeman was quoted as saying too, that the Kennedy administration expects to seek new legislation for enacting a new cotton crop program early next year.

Marketing quotas on next year's crop will come up in a national referendum for growers, set for Dec. 11. Quotas must be approved by two-thirds of growers voting in the referendum.

The new cotton legislation for Congress is still in the planning stage. Secretary Freeman said only that the Cotton Advisory Committee, in a recent session asked for an option of a so-called trade incentive and choice program.

Agricultural officials are now pointing out that Congress would need to act before the latter part of February. Some sections of Texas plant cotton on or about March 1. Mitchell farmers normally follow a slightly later planting calendar.

Last Rites Tuesday for C. McCollum

E. C. (Clint) McCollum, citizen of Loraine since 1911, died Sunday in Johnson Hospital after a short illness. He was a retired farmer and ginnee who first moved to this county 51 years ago.

Native of Grayson County where he was born April 14, 1888, Mr. McCollum was married to the former Miss Lessie Britton in Loraine June 30, 1912. His wife and six children survive him.

Last rites were said Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the Loraine Church of Christ with Max Leach, of Abilene Christian College, assisted by Fletcher Cauthen, minister of North Side Church of Christ, officiating. Burial was in the cemetery at Loraine with Kiker & Son Funeral Home in charge.

His daughters are Mrs. Jack Coffee of Loraine, Mrs. B. E. Bullard of Colorado City, and Mrs. Wallace K. Yates of Warren, Michigan.

Sons surviving are E. N. McCollum of Lancaster, Calif., Lemis McCollum of Sacramento, Calif., and Gaylord McCollum of Odessa.

Two brothers, M. L. McCollum of Loraine and Claude McCollum of Oregon, two sisters, Mrs. Lon Stephenson of Era, and Mrs. W. H. Riden of Loraine, 14 grandchildren and six great grandchildren also survive.

Pallbearers for the funeral were G. E. Liles, Glenn Coon, Frank Crowner, Harold Johnson, Luther Anders, and Russell Cope.

ASCS District Meet Studies '63 Wheat

Bland Harrison of Stamford headed an 18-county district meeting for ASCS office managers and office personnel here Wednesday in Civic House. Harrison is district ASCS farmer-field man.

Wheat stabilization for 1963 was the subject discussed in detail by representatives of the ASCS offices throughout the district.

Forty ASCS office workers were here from Taylor,

Under consideration have been "about nine or ten applications," a council member said, but no decision is expected immediately.

Proposed Zoning Change
Another decision pending concerns the request by Les Fuller for zone law changing. Public hearing for the zone change request was open Monday evening.

Fuller, owner of a 15-acre tract at 17th St. and Interstate 20 Highway, where Highway 208 will come through as part of the connecting highways routes, has already been granted permission by city building inspector J. A. Sadler Jr. to build a truck stop, restaurant, and motel at the site he owns.

Fuller seeks zoning law change to permit building of a truck repair shop, a manufacturing firm, and a bulk storage plant for his wholesale business use (Skelly Oil).

City fathers are delaying action on the zone change request pending further study. No citizens other than Fuller spoke either for or against the proposed change at Monday's public hearing.

Meet Again Thursday
Another meeting of the council was to have been held this afternoon at 5 o'clock. At that time street paving, downtown alley paving, the financing of that part of the current paving project, and settlement with Pat Neff for a small pavement footage discovered after three surveys showed a slight discrepancy in property lines at 6th and Austin Sts., was to have been under consideration.

In the regular meeting of City Council Monday night several resolutions were passed. One resolution favored the Texas State Highway Department's making the old Highway 80 official business route through town and to take up its maintenance as a state highway.

Another resolution requested installation of safety lighting along the through-lawn route with the Highway Department to install the safety lights, the city to assume payment of electricity.

Dell Knight, Certified Public Accountant of Abilene, was awarded a three-year contract to audit city books.

City officials also voted to raise the reward for information leading to arrest and conviction in arson cases from $100 to $250.

Another resolution called for correcting and bringing up to date city tax rolls.

City employees will again receive flu shots from City Physician Kenneth Cowan; it was decided by council.

With General Election set by tradition for Tuesday, November 6, interest in the absentee ballots is keen. Leach reported, Ten ballots came in by mail the first day absentee voting began, Wednesday.

Ballots are available on request at the office of the county clerk here.

Absentee voting began Wednesday. Citizens in Mitchell County are reminded today by Gilbert Leach, county clerk, that deadline for returning absentee ballots is Saturday, November 2.

Those present at the meeting voted by secret ballot to choose the Homecoming Queen.

Closing music was by Mrs. Mattie Taylor and Mrs. Doris Martin.

Individual class meetings were conducted during the afternoon.

The entertainment program consisted of numbers by Mrs. James Payne and a musical group, the C. City 17's; Porter Richardson and Eddie Kissenger and an original poem by Harvey Mums.

The class of 1913 was recognized as the class having the most representatives at the meeting.

An award was presented to Dr. Byron Bennett of the University of Montana, for being the ex-student who traveled the farthest.

Those present at the meeting voted by secret ballot to choose the Homecoming Queen.

Rains Skip About County

Cooler weather with rain arrived in Colorado City and Mitchell County area Tuesday night.

Rain which fell with thunder showers at bedtime Tuesday varied from .40 at Colorado City fire station official rain gauge to 2 inches on the E. S. Miles farm in Longfellow community.

Other rain reports were: Mrs. Berta L. Mann, Buford, 1/2 an inch; Linden Solomon, Cuthbert, .40; Burton Hines, Atsathook, less than 2; S. K. Palmer, 70; Jesse C. Northcutt, Spade, .30; Herbert Mearse of First State Bank in Loraine reported rains of from .65 to 2 inches five miles west of Loraine.

Light hail damage and high winds came with the wet spell in scattered areas.

Consensus of farmers was that rain damage was light. Precipitation stopped cotton stripping in some fields, stopped mow combining in others, lower cotton grades for a few. Most farmers agreed here today on one other point: no more rain is needed — or wanted — just now.

SCREW WORM ERADICATION

Sterile Flies Help Rancher at Spade

"Wet, cool weather is more favorable for the screw worm fly," said Mitchell County Agent Buddy Logsdon Thursday.

This week, the county agent pointed out, has been officially declared by Gov. Price Daniel as "Screwworm Eradication Week" throughout Texas.

In Mitchell County "Many producers have reported marked decrease in the number of screw worm cases this year in comparison to other years," Logsdon said, "since the screw worm eradication program."

The program was accelerated during the week of Sept. 16-22 when more than 62 million sterile screw worm flies were released in Texas and New Mexico.

Production of the sterile flies at the plant near Mission has increased steadily since opening of the project began full-scale in June.

L. S. (Bunky) Girvin Jr., who ranches in the Spade vicininity is finding the eradication program a workable one.

"I have found only a fraction of the cases that I usually have to contend with," Girvin said. "Since the weather conditions this summer have been much the same as previous years, I am convinced that the release of the sterile flies has helped reduce the number of cases."

Other cattle producers in this county and all over Texas have reported similar favorable results, the county agent here said. Even in the most heavily infested areas, cattle raisers admit that cases are less numerous than before the sterile fly program was begun.

Louisiana and Arkansas are experiencing no screw worms this year while Oklahoma has reported only 300 cases — a fraction of the normal cases, it is reported.

Individual inspection and treatment will continue to play an important role in the Screwworm Eradication Program, Logsdon said. He urges producers to inspect their animals at least twice a week and treat wounds with approved

SAYS CHIEF YEAGER

School Children To Get FBI Rules

Colorado City's younger school children are to get a special reminder from no less than the FBI soon.

Chief of Police Leon Yeager said this week that a picture to color and rules to memorize will be given all lower grade pupils for personal safety's sake. One rule is "know your policemen" and local police here to help in the project.

Pictures and rules bearing the signature of J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, are to be presented to Primary, Hutchinson, and Wallace school pupils in Colorado City and to Westbrook and Loraine younger classes.

Bill Mabry, FBI agent for this district, with offices in Abilene, stresses cooperation of parents and teachers in the campaign for safety against kidnapping and molesting of young children.

Families are urged by Chief Yeager to see that all young members of families learn and understand the importance of the story and rules in picture; turn down gifts from strangers, refuse rides offered by strangers, avoid dark and lonely streets, and know your local policemen.

E and H Bond Totals Show County Third

COX FOR GOVERNOR

The Pecos Independent endorses JACK COX for Governor.

No idle thinking has led us to this conclusion — we earnestly feel there is only one real choice in this race. The first prerequisite for any job is experience. Jack Cox is the only candidate in the race with any actual legislative experience. His opponent, John Connally, does not possess this experience and in fact he has never been elected to public office.

Connally's total tenure in public office consists of nine months as a LBJ endorsed-JFK appointed Secretary of Navy.

Mr. Cox was elected to and served three consecutive terms in the Texas Legislature and he gained tremendous knowledge and insight into the workings of our Texas government. During Cox's terms in the Legislature, he served on many varied Committees handling all aspects of State Government.

He served as Vice-Chairman of the important Revenue and Taxation Committee and later as Vice-Chairman of the influential Appropriations Committee. Other committees he has served on are: Common Carriers; Conservation; Oil, Gas & Mining; Aeronautics; Commerce and Manufacturing; Penitentiaries; Privileges and Elections and Game and Fisheries. Mr. Connally cannot match this experience!

After his service in the Legislature, Jack Cox was appointed to the Texas Commission on Higher Education by Governor Allan Shivers. He served six years on the Commission as its Secretary and it was during his tenure that our Texas Colleges and Universities began their climb to the prominence they deserve. Certainly, Mr. Cox has the experience to continue this growth.

Upon analysis, there is no comparison between the experience Mr. Cox possesses by virtue of his service to his State in the Legislature and his duties on the Commission of Higher Education with the nine months Connally served as Secretary of the Navy.

Clearly, then, on the basis of experience, Jack Cox will make a far better Governor for all the people than John Connally.

However, public service and experience are not the only issues in this race. There is another issue that cuts all party lines and dissolves all political differences. To many voters, this is perhaps the real issue. That issue is this—is John Connally free and independent of control from LBJ and the New Frontier? Knowing Mr. Connally's background, both political and business, the only answer to this is an emphatic NO! JACK COX is the only candidate INDEPENDENT OF WASHINGTON CONTROL!

Having witnessed the "smashing" victory of Teddy Ken-fellow the path of that State. Connally is the hand picked candidate of JFK and LBJ sent to Texas to guarantee that Texas stays in line with the New Frontier.

Other factors demanding that Jack Cox be elected Governor of Texas are these: Mr. Cox is a conservative. You can trust Jack Cox when he takes a position on any issue and you always know where he stands. Connally, basing his campaign on empty platitudes, smears and hollow promises, has attempted to make up for a lack of issues and enthusiasm with cash. Texans know the Governor's chair is not for sale.

We make this endorsement with the full knowledge that Billie Sol Estes contributed to Mr. Cox's campaign in 1960 when he ran as a Democrat. That contribution of $325.00, insignificant when compared with Estes' usual political contributions, was honestly and legally reported to the Secretary of State in 1960, and it has been a matter of public record in the Secretary of State's office in Austin for over two years.

Jack Cox never has belonged to nor is he controlled by any man.

Washington directed Connally is not the man for independent thinking Texans.

Vote for Cox and keep Texas out of Washington's pocket.

What is your Question?

QUESTION: "Prove that the church and the Kingdom are the same thing"

If those in the kingdom of Christ reflect upon the difference in being in the power of darkness and being in the kingdom of God's dear Son, they should be made to appreciate and love the kingdom and its King more and more!

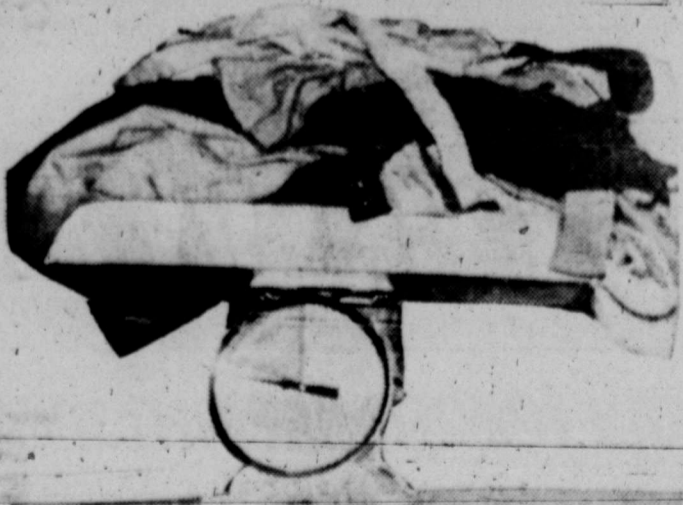

The people whom Paul addressed in the Colossian Letter were in Christ (Colossians 1:2). They were also in "one body" (Colossians 3:15). The body they were in was the church of Christ (Colossians 1:18). Therefore, "in Christ"; "in the one body"; "in the kingdom of Christ"; and "in the church of Christ" are terms that can be used to refer to the same relationship.

The church was purchased with the blood of Christ (Acts 20:28). But Christ, the Lamb purchased a kingdom with His blood (Revelation 5:9 RV.) That realm over which Christ reigns can be called "kingdom" because it has a King, subjects and laws. The same realm can be called "body" because it is compared to a human body with one head and many members (1 Corinthians 12). It is called "church" because the word church is from the Greek word that means "called out." The church is God's called out, called out of the world, called out of sin, etc.

Christ's church can be called "the kingdom of heaven" because it originated in heaven; it came from heaven; it was established by word and power that came from heaven, on the first Pentecost following the resurrection of Christ (Acts 2). It is the kingdom of God because God's plans and purposes brought it into being. It is the kingdom of Christ because Christ is its King. He is not your King unless you have entered His kingdom on His terms.

Rush Neff Is Speaker At Garden Club Meeting

Rush Neff was guest speaker at the Wednesday, Oct. 10, meeting of the Colorado City Garden Club in the Community Center.

He told of his experience in growing roses. He listed five important steps in rose culture. They were: 1) location and soil; 2) selection of rose bushes; 3) watering and fertilizing; 4) spraying and mulching; and 5) pruning. He told the members how and when to plant rose bushes and described the different types of roses.

Mrs. A. H. Jackson, club president, presided at the meeting. She announced that the following shows had been scheduled: the Texas Tech Horticulture Festival in Lubbock, Oct. 20 and 21; the Semi-Annual Meeting of the Texas Garden Clubs in Abilene, Oct. 22-24; the Texas Garden Clubs in Abilene, Nov. 7 and the Annual Southern Zone Meeting in Lamesa.

She also announced that National Flower and Garden Calendars for 1963 and Dutch Iris bulbs are on sale by the projects committee.

Mrs. John Brown was leader of the program and introduced the guest speaker.

Mrs. W. C. Hooks presented the first part of a series of discussions on shrub culture. Her topic was "Planning and Planting for Spring and Summer Color."

During her talk, Mrs. Hooks said, "It is important to landscape your yard or make a sketch on paper before planting."

She suggested planting Lilac, Forsythia, Japonica, Jasmine, Crepmyrtle, Spiraea,

EXCITING! GO '63 CHEVY II

SPUNKY NEW WAGONS THAT LEAD LONGER, HAPPIER LIVES

What a new kick you'll get out of going places in this one! And what a solvent feeling you'll get as the savings on upkeep mount! There's a full line of models, including three wagons. Basically, we've kept Chevy II's liveliness and roominess and easy loading ways. Kept its crisp looks, too (with a bit of freshening here and there). The changes we've made weren't for change's sake, you see—but for yours. Just for a sample: the brakes are self-adjusting. The new Delcotron generator gives you more electrical reserve power and helps your battery reach a vigorous old age. The Body by Fisher beauty lasts longer, too; air pushes rain and wash water down through the rocker panels (where most rust begins!) in a clever new flush-and-dry system. The ride is smoother and quieter because of a large number of small improvements we've made. And things are a lot plusher inside. Now you've read this far, haven't you? Isn't that good evidence that Chevy II is made for you? The clincher will come when you take the wheel at your Chevrolet dealer's.

See four entirely different kinds of cars at your Chevrolet dealer's... Chevrolet, Chevy II, Corvair & Corvette.

screwworm remedies such as Korlan Smear, Co-ral Powder, EQ 335 or Smear 62. He also recommends systematic spraying every 10 to 14 days with a 0.25 per cent Co-ral or 0.5 per cent Korlan solution.

"This time of the year, we are especially vulnerable to screwworm infestation because of the wet, cool weather which is favorable for the screw worm fly," he said.

"Remember that each case of screwworms you destroy will prevent thousands from occurring later."

He also urged producers to continue to collect 10 maggots from wounds, put them in alcohol or water and deliver them to him or send them directly to: Screwworm Identification, Post Office Box 969, Mission, Texas. Reporting cases is an important aspect in the success of the program, he said.

Entertainment - Abundant entertainment is available throughout your trips from religious festivals to gay French night life to great operas. But, just like here at home, you don't have to buy expensive seats. In fact, he paid as little as 70 cents for the finest.

"Drinking - There're alcoholic beverages and you see people drinking everywhere on a European tour... but you don't see drunkenness.

"I'll not label any of the peoples by the generality of nationalities," Earnest emphasized.

"I think we are inclined to label people that way.

"And I wonder how you would describe an American.

"After all, there are some of us who are industrious... and some of us who are lazy."

Earnest used piercing humor to back up his advice for traveling cheaper by tourist class instead of first class.

"First class air travelers may sit up front in a special compartment and maybe be served champagne.

"But if the back part of the plane falls... so will the front part, too."

Mitchell TB Board Told New Problem

An address by William D. Taylor was heard Tuesday evening by members of Mitchell County Tuberculosis Association.

Taylor, executive board member of the Tom Greene County TB Association, urged further education of the public concerning the National TB Association's expanded scope to include all respiratory diseases. He stressed the need for the association to stage war against complacency.

The speaker addressed Mitchell County TB Association members at its quarterly meeting and a banquet in Terrace Room at Hotel Baker, Tuesday evening here.

Mrs. Rogers, state president of the Tuberculosis Association, secretaries detailed the expanding goals of the TB campaign, and introduced the guest speaker, Mr. Taylor.

CONVERSATION CORNER

A DOCTOR in Barcelona, Spain, advises that floral perfumes act on brain cells responsible for moods and humors. He made a speech about it. To a convention of florists, naturally.

Roses, this Dr. Jaime Rivera said, can cure that run-down feeling, lifaces lift the spirits when you're depressed. For people who feel cold and "unsentimental" the doctor prescribed violets. And "if you feel old and ugly, get fruit blossoms or fruits that have their own perfume, and almost at once you'll start to sing again."

Apples, anybody?

"Comfort me with apples" for I'm sick of feeling old—
"Peel me a grape," fetch a kumquat—my sentiments feel cold.

FACE LIFTING with flowers (or fruits) part of the good doctor's speech, while intriguing, sounds a bit like Spanish blarney, professional-propaganda for his florist friends who probably winned and dined him splendidly after his verbal posies.

Pin a huge corsage on the average plain, everyday, West Texas woman and what happens? She wants to cry. Feels uneasy, foolish. Too, too elaborate. And maybe a little like the ghost goes West wearing a fancy shroud.

LAST WEEK, for instance, encountered cute Billie Henderson (Mrs. Don of Oak St.) decked out for the Fire Auxiliary whang-dang. She was wearing a shoulder bouquet and she giggled when we admired same.

"I feel silly," said the state officer for Volunteer Firemen's ladies, albeit a bit merrily.

FLOWER SCENTS, we've always thought, are more tied up with whatever brain cells—if any—control that store of little memories.

Roses mean Mother. Violets always bring back practicing scales on the piano. Our first music teacher always wore violets. Her name was Miss Helen Saunders and she wore a gold watch tucked in her belt, a high-necked shirt-waist, and a curly brown wig. It was before wigs came to be so chic and blatant and her wig was supposed to be secret. Only it wasn't.

She never was married. She cherished, instead, an undying love and admiration for a man named Beethoven. She talked about him a lot.

GARDENIAS smell like a home wedding—or a funeral—or graduation night. Gardenias smell like the cape Jessamine bush in full bloom beside the door of the big gray house where we grew up, high on a grass-green terrace.

Smells don't have to be flowery to bring back a pot pourri of yesterdays. Cigar smoke is the man we called Daddy, sitting on the wide porch talking politics or history or the seven star sisters or Edgar Allen Poe to his children.

There are smells and smells, but for the blues
Give me the smell of new books, or brand-new shoes,
Clean curtains, bath powder, hot gingerbread,
And printer's ink goes straight to my head.

NEWSPAPER WEEK began (nationally) Sunday. By way of celebration, browsed through a choice selection of old Colorado City Records beginning to Evelyn Daniels (Mrs. Ross). They smell a little like old lavender. Her mother saved them.

First one was dated May 21, 1909 and its yellowed front page featured a birthday party for "Little Miss Evelyn Lasky" with iced lemonade "under a tree," presents, games, and "delicious cream and cake."

It featured too a buggy sale, a weather report from a pullman conductor who had told the train-meeting editor that "it rained all the way from El Paso;" a piano recital by pupils of Miss Lucille Stonerod with Rev. W. M. Elliott "presenting the metal."

THE COLLECTION of old Records which is Evelyn's skips from 1909 to 1931 when the new Ford Tudor was $490, F. O. B. . . . roast beef was 12c a lb. . . . and Pioneer Week was coming. There were pictures of C. M. Adams, J. Max Thomas, C. H. Laskey, C. H. Earnest, F. M. Burns, Roy Farmer, D. H. Snyder, and J. Wright Moor of Scurry County.

Mrs. J. G. Merritt was society editor. . . . And May Motor Co. advertised new Pontiacs for $831!

LAST WEEK, thirty-one years and two months later, there were still several news-worthy parties here and there. A group of friends gave a "no-host" supper party for Ioma A. Jones of Kerrville, in the Colorado Room.

Here for the fun of reminiscing were a favorite red-head and her sister of Odessa—Lillian Pond and Eloise (Pond) Benton.

Other Dutch-treat guests were Elizabeth Kirkpatrick Jones (Mrs. Jessie L.) Nelda Garrett, Bonnie Burt and her grandchild Jane Ann, Mrs. Maurice Kirschbaum, Mrs. Sam L. Majors Sr., Mrs. W. M. Elliott, Mrs. J. Ralph Lee, Mrs. H. I. Berman, and Erna Dinter of Kerrville—in C. City for the Delta Kappa Gamma regional meet.

AMONG OTHER little items learned that night were these two you'll want to know about: Vera Crippen, former HD agent here, has retired and moved to Houston. . . . And the Charles Bays are now living in Waco where Mrs. Bay (nee Margie Caddell) is teaching and Charles is enrolled in Baylor University for graduate study.

LOCAL SEEN LATELYS include Mrs. W. C. Hooks looking lovely in a blue shirtmaker for morning shopping

... Amarie Gann Hall (Mrs. Price) doing her banking. Frank H. Kelley who heads the Texas Good Neighbor Commission also heads the Good GrandDad Group. Saw him with Linda McCloud and four of the six Jimmie Kelley children Seven-Upping, Sunday afternoon. Jim and Pattie were still in Big D at the State Fair where they were showing cattle. Frank was saying.

Which reminds us to note that Perry Bowles of Looney, polled Hereford breeder and registered herd owner, is in Kansas City for a cattle show and breeders' meet most of this week, his pretty wife Evelyn was saying.

ADDIE V. PAYNE (Mrs. Jimmie) was saying, one day this week too, that the little gals in the combo—they've named themselves, the C. City '17's—are to play at 12:30 this Saturday (Oct. 20) at State Fair. They'll be making music, in case you're there, from Mobil Stage at 12:30. After noon.

In the 17's are Mary Ann Montgomery, piano; Jody Payne, drums; Jan Williams, string bass; Dana Hammans, alto sax; Jennine Wood, flute; Linda Ross, tenor sax; and Debbie Hunter, clarinet. Going to Big D with the girls will be the Paul Boyd Hunters, the Owen Lee Montgomerys and the Jimmie Paynes. They all leave here late Friday.

And did you know that Jody (Arla Jo Pane) is playing with the San Angelo Symphony Orchestra this season? She took part in two Sunday concerts last week-end.

World Series is over. And I'm not satisfied
With Mel Allen's grammar. He kept saying,
"He FLIED!"

THE FEMININE TOUCH

Most of you have heard it before, but there is nothing like feminine influence to bring the best from an individual. It is the same with a community, too. So much of the good which we often take for granted—from schools to churches, library to parks—are the result of the thought and determination of women. Not the least of these which exert a fine influence for culture within our midst is the Beta Epsilon Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma, the national honorary society for teachers. Their support of the finer things of life go beyond just the classroom and we offer our congratulations for this . . . and for their successful regional meeting here last week.

Editorially Speaking

The Newspaper and the Community

This is National Newspaper Week and it might be a good idea to explain a bit how a newspaper and a community are welded together. After all, the two are pretty much inseparable within a free community as only a quick look to Russia or Cuba—where any newspaper is a dictator's mouthpiece—reveals this fact emphatically.

The best place to obtain a good community view of a newspaper, no doubt, is in the newsroom of a newspaper published in a town of, say, several thousand Americans.

Ignore all the clutter and bustle and concentrate on one simple thing. Seated alongside the desk of the society editor is a very pretty girl. In all likelihood her mother is with her. The girl has brought her wedding picture for the Sunday paper.

No mere man will ever be able to understand what that picture in the Sunday paper means to the girl, her mother and all their relations. The visit to the newspaper office is as important as the choice of the wedding gown. The publication of the picture, with suitable prominence, means more to the family than fair weather on the wedding day. If you doubt this, ask any editor who has failed to give a bride her due (or what the mother considers her daughter's due), and he will tell you that Hell hath no fury like the mother of the bride.

Now glance at two or three of the items passing under the pencils of the copy editors. There is a list of all the babies born in town within the twenty-four hours. And there are the obituaries—the stories, long or short, about the men and women who have died.

Births, Deaths and Marriages

Births, deaths, marriages—these are events that have interested people since the days of Pithecanthropus Erectus.

People will talk about the birth of a baby to the girl who was a drum major-ette at the high school a couple of years ago, or to the banker's daughter who ran off with that young Lochinvar from the West. They will discuss the death of the baker on Third Street who made those good hard rolls, and the death of the filling station operator who was shot by car thieves. They will talk over the fence about the engagement of the girl down the street or about the wedding of the millionaire's daughter who is bringing a caterer and band from New York and a plane-load of orchids from Hawaii.

These are subjects that will interest the human race as long as it remains the human race. This is the kind of news that only the community newspaper can gather and tell in the way that it must be told for the people of that community.

Consumer and Citizen

But of course our community newspaper does more than this. It brings the reader the news he needs as an economic animal—the consumer information (most importantly, the advertising), the news of business along Main Street, the news of jobs and taxes. And it brings him the news he needs as a citizen—what is going on at city hall, in the courts, the police department, the schools, the welfare institutions.

In addition, it diverts him with the news of sports, the movies, radio and television. It also caters to any desire he may have to be a well-rounded man by bringing him news of lectures, concerts, the theater, the churches. And it brings him, of course, the comics and gives him his essential small talk with the weather reports.

All of this establishes a very tight bond between a community newspaper and its readers—much tighter than most of them realize or would ever admit. These readers will condemn the local paper as too sensational or too dull. They will cry out upon its politics. They will say they never believe a word it prints. But let the paper fail to arrive on their doorstep—and the bloom will be off the day.

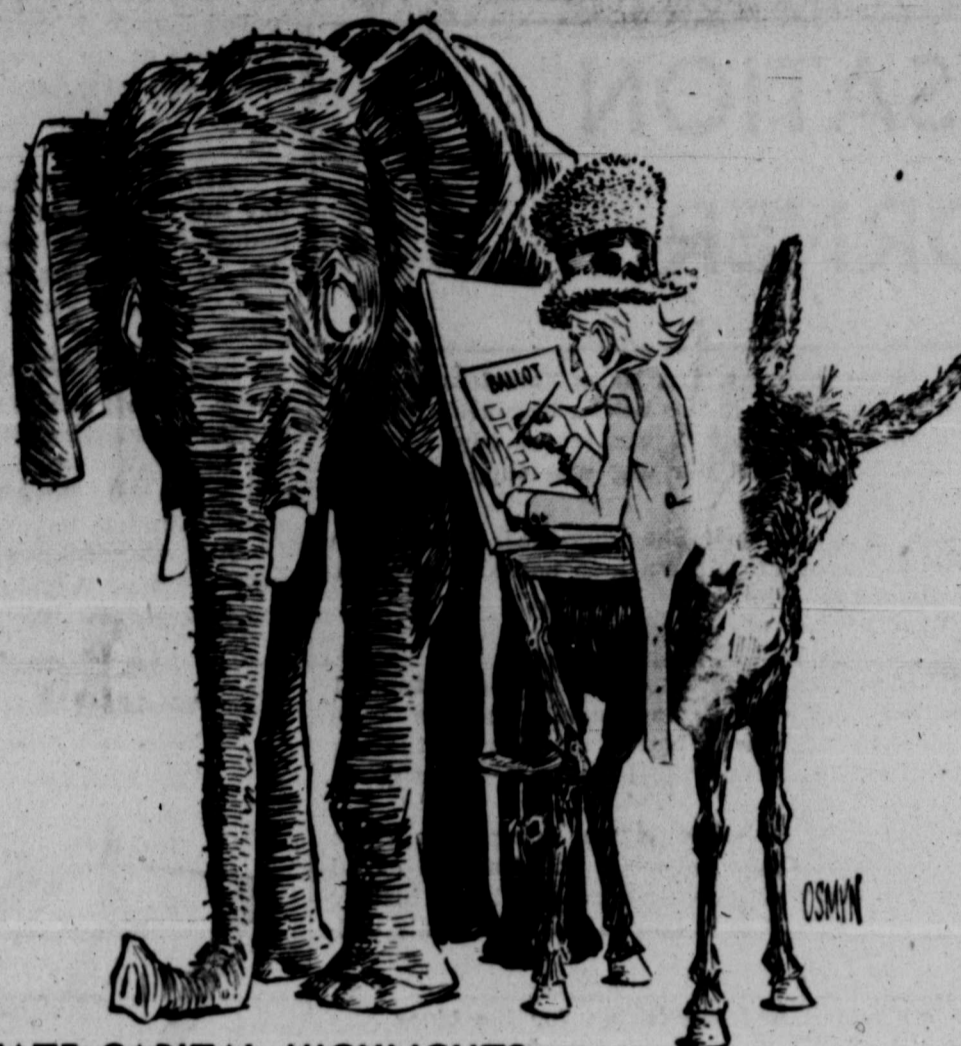

Sixty Million Copies

There are today about 1,850 daily papers in the United States and 9,300 weekly or semi-weekly newspapers. Nearly sixty million copies of daily newspapers roll off the presses every weekday.

Even the smallest of the weekly papers has the capacity to give its readers the human news, the bread-and-butter news and the citizen news that are the lifeblood of the community. The larger dailies can extend this kind of basic coverage to the much more complex, but essentially similar, events of our human society in the world at large. And so large a newspaper as The New York Times can include in its Sunday edition a carefully-researched Review of the Week that puts the day-by-day news in perspective, a serious Magazine that ranges from politics to the arts, and a Book Review that contains all the news of the literary world.

Some day a better way may be found of supplying homo Americanus with all the news he wants or needs to know. If that day comes, the American newspaper will go the way of the parlor melodeon. But as long as pretty girls put on bridled wreaths, and babies come and old folks go, no one need hurry to mourn the passing of the newspaper in America.

Doctors to Push Kerr-Mills Medical Program for Texas

BY VERN SANFORD

Texas Press Association

Texas doctors are about to open a campaign for legislative approval of a constitutional amendment bringing Texas under the Kerr-Mills program.

Through it the Federal and State governments would jointly pay hospital and medical bills of all retired persons receiving less than $1,800 a year and unable to qualify for old age assistance. Uncle Sam would pay 75 per cent; the State, 25 per cent.

Doctors believe there are 350,000 Texans over 65 who would be eligible. Idea developed at a meeting between State Welfare Director John Winters, Texas Medical Association committees, insurance agents and insurance company representatives.

Plan would be to handle the proposition through an insurance company, as the Medicare program for old age assistance now is done. This would amount to an insurance premium of $3,000 a month, based on the $8.68 now paid Blue Cross for each of the 222,000 on old age assistance.

HIGHER EDUCATION — Texas Commission on Higher Education heard presidents of other spokesmen for 20 State colleges and universities voiced objections to proposed cuts in their budget requests for 1964-65.

As a result, the Commission will reconsider its recommendations at a meeting on October 23.

Three doctoral programs in teacher education were approved for the University of Houston, which will become a senior college next year. Four graduate programs were approved for East Texas State College.

Rex Baker, Commission secretary, opposed this latter action on grounds that it went against policy of concentrating such programs in the University of Texas and A&M College. Dispersal of such programs, Baker said, would lead to general mediocrity.

Commission member Elizabeth Koch's reply was that they were necessary to attract teachers of eminence.

WATER POLLUTION — Because oil and gas companies were in a quandary over whom to turn to for waste disposal permits, the State Water Pollution Board decided to take care of them with a special application form.

This form will apply only to oil field wastes. It will include all of a company's holdings and will incorporate, by reference, information on disposal submitted to other state agencies.

Pollution board has asked the attorney general for an opinion to settle jurisdiction on this question between the Board, the Railroad Commission and the Water Commission. But no reply has been received.

SCHOOL LAND — Latest leasing of State school lands boosted the permanent school fund beyond the half-billion mark, Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler reported.

In exact figures, it is now $500,639,012. During the past 21 months, $36,500,000 has been placed in the public school available fund. State university and college lands in the same period produced $32,684,992. Permanent fund now stands at $383,995,002.

APPOINTMENTS — New appointments announced by Governor Daniel include:

J. H. West of Bishop, president of the Texas Farm Bureau, as a member of the board of directors of Texas A&I College at Kingsville, succeeding the late Robert C. Eckhardt of Kingsville.

Jerry Deering of Arlington, manager and assistant treasurer of the Fort Worth Teachers Credit Union, as a member of the Credit Union Advisory Commission, succeeding Ben G. Levissee of Ft. Worth, resigned.

McCall Sanders of Weimar as a member of the Egg Marketing Advisory Board, replacing Victor Jumped of Paris, resigned.

D. O. Belew of Fort Worth, to succeed Fred O. Detweiler of Dallas, on the joint Board of Park Commissioners of Dallas and Tarrant counties.

SHINNERY PHILOSOPHER

Answer Not Easy For Cuba Puzzle

Editor's note: The Shinnery Flats Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Bone Hollow Creek looks at an international problem this week, then backs away.

Dear editor: A lot of people have been worrying about what to do about Cuba and I got to thinking — not because I didn't have anything else to do, that's a waste of thought, the time to think is when you have got something else to do — and I have decided the people aren't thinking big enough.

Say somebody figured out what to do about the Cuban problem; it wouldn't last. Another problem would crop up some place else. We've had one crises after another for years now and I've decided the thing to do is to put all our crises into one pile.

As I understand it, there are 103 countries in the world, as best the map makers can find out, and the way to eliminate all minor crises and put them in one lump is to arrange for each of the 103 to have guided missiles zoomed in on every major population center in every other country. I'll admit this would be a mess of guided missiles, but it's the only way out. Then after you get all these missiles in place, invent a special radar firing device that'll set off all of them if just one of them goes off.

With every body in the world then looking down the barrel of a guided missile, who'd be interested in shooting first?

You have no idea how reasonable people get when they're blocked on all sides. Man is supposed to be the only animal with reasoning ability, but I understand when a forest fire breaks out, the rabbits and the foxes, the antelopes and the mountain lions, all begin reasoning that the only way out of the mess is to run together for a while.

On the other hand, come to think of it, this hundred per cent guided missile idea might not work after all. Sparrows might build a nest in the firing device of a missile down in Afghanistan, trigger the thing and send the world up in smoke. Or a minor dictator might get mad at his wife and pull the trigger just for spite.

Maybe it's better to worry with all these little crises. Now you take the Cuban problem. Yours faithfully, J. A.

Wes-Tex Talk

A Look At West Texas Through Editorial Page Excerpts From Its Leading Weekly & Semi-Weekly Newspapers.

Cross Plains has a pretty swell bunch of football fans. They don't demand that their Buffaloes be district champions, just that they play hard and sportsmanlike.

Loyalty of the home town group is attested by gate receipts thus far this season. Despite the loss of five straight, gate receipts are running only $159.69 below last year. All of this deficit was incurred at the first home game with Bangs, when torrential rain fell throughout the contest.

This is one town that appears to agree with Kipling, who wrote: "For when the one Great Scorer comes to write against your name, He writes not if you won or lost but how you played the game."

Well something new is being added at Lintz's Department Store this week . . . a new department catering to the Young Juniors . . . just who are the Young Juniors, someone might say . . . they are those 13 to 18 years old . . . they're more fashion conscious than pre-teenagers; they want to buy their own clothes . . . They like to shop with their girl friends . . . in other words, they're those in-betweens that often have to wear styles that are too young for them because of their small size . . . In this new department on the balcony at Lintz's these young ladies will be able to purchase clothing in sizes 3 to 13 and 5 to 15 . . . styled for this age group . . . then there is another added feature . . . Millie Stultz will be down there on week ends to help you make your selections.

Since this is National Business and Professional Women's Week it would be a good time to stop and think about all of the many accomplishments made here in Hamlin by this group of women. Without the working woman this town and nation would not have many of the better things it enjoys today.

Not only do the working women contribute much to the business affairs of Hamlin, but they also take a very active part in the civic needs of the community.

PICTURE OF HEALTH

PHLEBITIS Difficult To Cure

Dr. Schwinger is Clinical Assistant Professor of Radiology at the School of Medicine, University of the State of New York, Fellow of the American College of Radiology and Vice-Chairman of the College's Commission of Medical Care Insurance Plans.

The upright position which man assumes makes him particularly susceptible to certain ailments.

I have already discussed some of these, such as back trouble, foot trouble and varicose veins, in other columns. Another is phlebitis of the veins of the leg.

Phlebitis (inflammation of the lining of the veins) is a common problem and one that troubles patients and physician alike. Although it often follows an operation or an injury, I have seen it occur without any obvious cause.

Phlebitis is serious and unpleasant enough without anything else, but this inflammation often causes blood clots to form inside the veins. This complication is known as thrombophlebitis, or phlebotrombosis.

The chief danger from thrombophlebitis is the possibility that a portion of a clot may break away and get into the blood stream, eventually blocking an important blood stream, eventually blocking an important blood vessel in the lungs, heart, or brain. Fortunately, this complication is not very frequent but the danger does exist.

The treatment of phlebitis usually includes rest in bed, raising the leg and the application of heat. Elastic bandages help prevent swelling, but proper application of the bandage is important.

Because phlebitis and thrombophlebitis have an unfortunate tendency to come back after an apparent cure, surgery to remove the inflamed vein or veins is sometimes necessary in difficult cases. Treatment with x-ray by a radiologist or the use of antibiotics or the sulfa drugs also may be helpful.

Dr. Schwinger welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that he is unable to answer individual letters. Whenever possible, reader's questions will be answered in his column. Letters should be directed to Dr. Harold N. Schwinger, Room 1252, 420 Lexington Avenue, New York 17, New York.

HOMETOWN BUSINESS

More Than Your Money's Worth

BY MADGE BELL
Record Staff Writer

Good advertising always promises the consumer more than his "money's worth."

Everyone involved in trading believes he will benefit from an exchange of his money for goods or services. This is not an illusion. In most trading, both buyer and seller does gain something from the exchange.

In fact, all economic progress comes from the ability of producers and distributors of goods to deliver something which will be of more value to the consumer than dollar cost.

It is among the primary functions of retail advertising to tell the consumer why he may benefit materially, socially, or otherwise by spending his money for certain purposes.

When honest advertising accomplishes this function, it plays a part in the creation of wealth. It is the stimulus which brings about a constant increase in the standard of living.

For, no one will spend his money for goods and services which do not provide benefits of more value than the investment in cash.

A refrigerator which saves foods, saves the cost of ice, and saves time and money for the shopper, is certainly worth more to the homemaker than the dollar cost. The same could be said of automobiles, home laundries, television sets, and other products which have enriched American living.

Advertising, then, is a real promise of something better — a promise which is consistently fulfilled.

Kids Invited to See Circus Animals Fed

Saturday is circus day. All day long Saturday the big Carson and Barnes 3-ring wild animal circus will be here in Colorado City.

The big white trucks and vans of Carson and Barnes will roll into town in the early hours of Saturday and move directly to the show grounds just outside the city limits on East Highway 80. Performances begin at 2:30 in the afternoon and again at 8 p. m. for the night show.

Circus publicity invites the public to the show grounds to see unloading of the trucks, see the elephants pull up the big tent, and watch the feeding and watering of the animals.

Animals will be fed at 10 a. m. and should be of special interest to the children of town and county. Featured with the elephant herd will be Big Joske, largest elephant in North America, and Baby Wanda, the little two-year-old elephant.

Over in his private swiming pool will be "Little Oscar," the 4,600 pound hippopotamus whose mouth measures three feet of teeth when he chooses to grin at his visitors.

The circus carries its "big top" on large truck-mounted spools, spreads it on the grounds mechanically, then raises it into the air with the help of the big circus elephants wearing special harnesses. Stakes are driven mechanically and the big show goes into the air with speed.

Carson and Barnes tent seats 2,000 people. Circus-lovers will see trapeze and high wire acts. This season one star is a famous and daring aerial acrobat named Francisco Padilla, of the Circo Atayde in Mexico City. Another featured performer is Miss Mimi, famous for her free falling heel catch on the trapeze.

From El Salvador comes the Murello troupe in their thrilling flying trapeze act, and from Nuevo Laredo is the Castillo troupe of acrobats and jugglers.

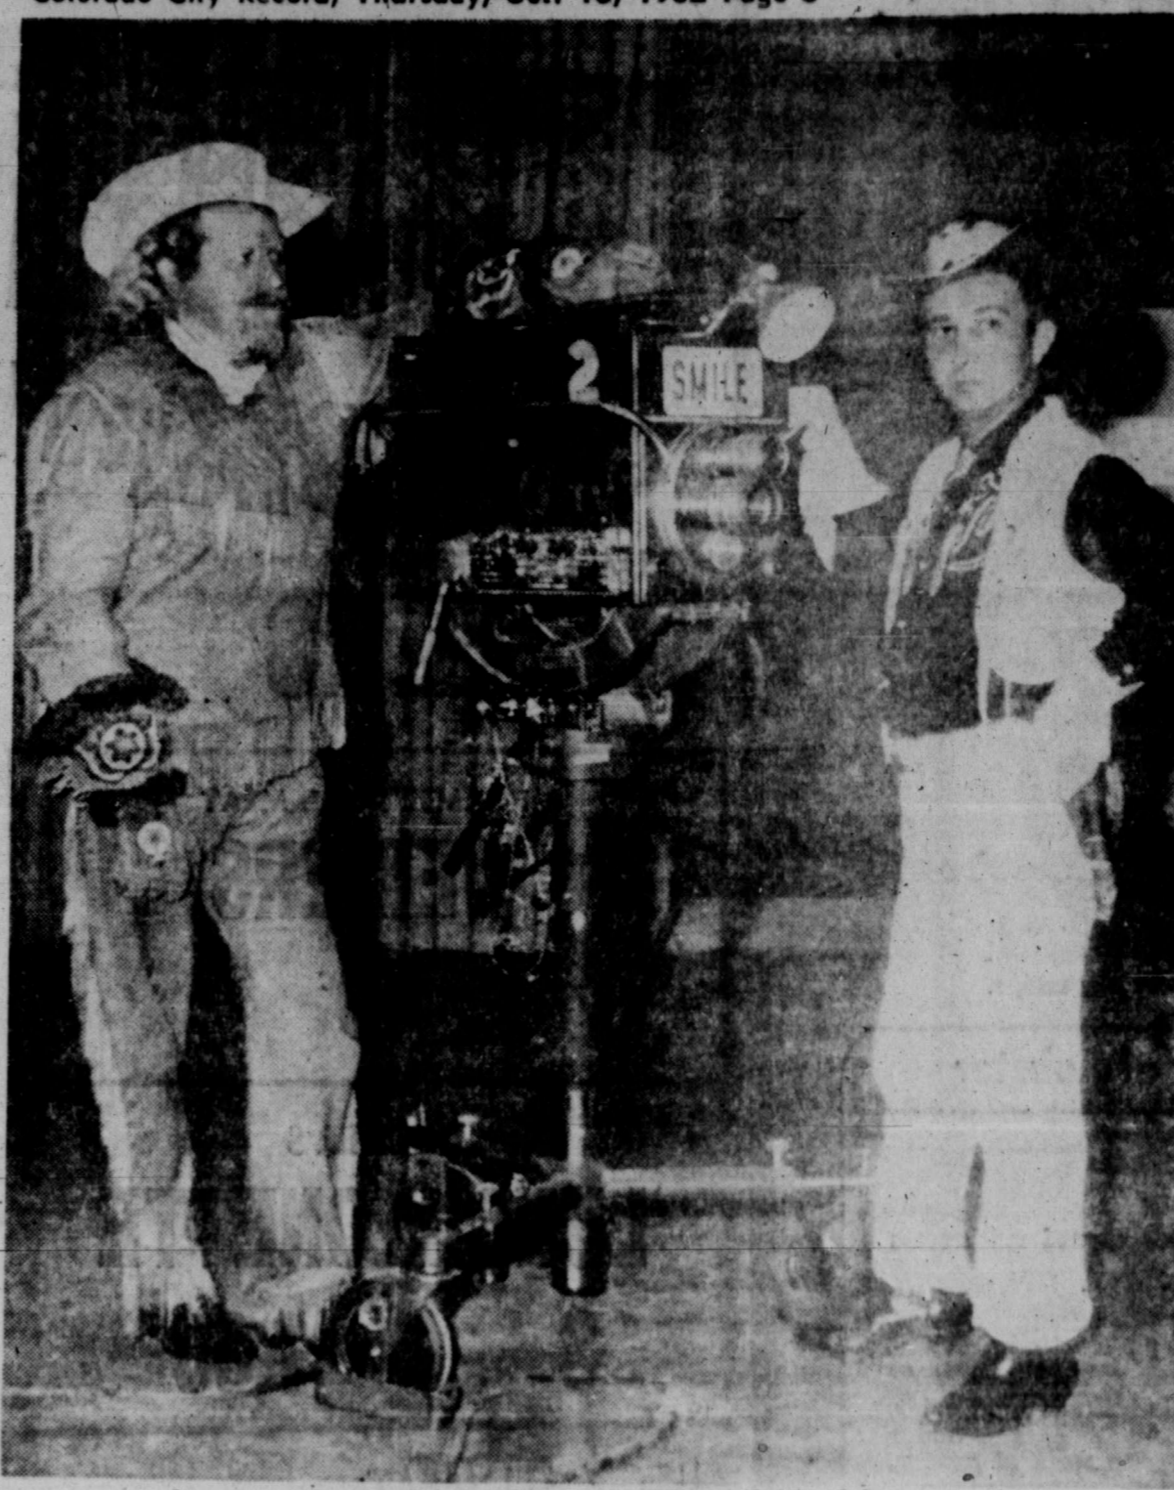

Clowns — best part of the circus for the small fry — are headed by circus veteran clown "Bobo" Leter. In the troop of clowns too, are Lou Walton, "Popcorn" Castillo, rubber-legged Roberto Garcia "Lazy Tito," and others. Some grand old traditional clown acts such as the clown boxing match will be part of the show along with many new and unexpected comedy acts.

In addition to the big show performance, Carson and Barnes is carrying on the tradition of the old time Wild West show headed by Col. William F. "Buffalo Bill" Carson and his cowboys and cowgirls. "Buffalo Bill," who plays in the movies, starred in the TV series called "Circus Boy," has just completed a part in "Jumbo," motion picture made by MGM.

Among featured performers with him will be the "Wichita Kid" of TV fame, Boots Madden, who has played the villain in many TV Westerns. Madden is a six-gun, rifle, and bull whip performer, a veteran of the rodeo circuit, and a top ranking bronco buster-bull rider.

In the circus performance Boots Madden presents his two Palomino stallions "King" and "Apache" in an exhibition of Western Dressage riding. In the Wild West show which follows the regular circus performance, Madden shows off his famous shooting act.

Boots Madden, the "Wichita Kid" is but one of the featured performers of the Wild West part of the show.

"Buffalo Bill" and "Boots" Madden

Part of the big circus coming to Colorado City Saturday will be a Wild West show featuring "Buffalo Bill" Carson and "Boots" Madden, both of movie and TV fame. With them will be a group of cowgirl and cowboy riders, fine horses, fast guns, and the color of the Old West. "Boots" Madden will also show his two Palomino stallions in the circus performance. Wild West show follows the regular circus performance which will feature acrobats, animals, and clowns.

POND & MERRITT

RA 8-4351

BY VERN SANFORD
 This is for worm fishermen the folks who use those live, natural baits with the long, squirmy bodies.

A firm that has made thousands, probably millions, of artificial baits... has been thinking of you.

Evidently the manufacturer has adopted the old slogan... "If you can't whip 'em, join 'em." "Cept they have changed it to "If you can't covert 'em, help 'em!"

Anyway, the firm now has a food-bedding for worms. It's designed to keep worms fishing fresh the year around. And — as any angler who has wormfished knows — those slimy little rascals are hard to keep alive.

The manufacturer says its unique formula contains food and minerals in a base that "worm just love to cuddle in."

Each package contains two one-pound bricks of compressed food-bedding. It looks and feels like the felt-type wall-insulation. But it isn't.

You simply place a half brick or a whole brick or both bricks into a container... and add water. Amount depends on how much food-bedding you need. One brick will support 60 of the large night crawlers or 125 smaller worms.

You add a quart of water for each half brick. Then stir or hand-mix until bedding is uniform. Just do not overwet.

For saltwater baits, such as blood worms, etc., use sea water for wetting.

When mix is ready simply place the worms on top of the bedding. Don't cover them with the bedding. Just let them seek their own way to "bed." Then place a cover on your container and store in a cool place.

Naturally the manufacturer recommends its own high insulation bait buckets (or coolers) as the ideal bedding containers. These are the foam plastic, expandable polystyrene, very light weight coolers that are becoming so popular as containers nowadays.

They can be found everywhere — used as ice boxes for cold drinks, fish storage, oven, minnow buckets. Women sometimes carry the real small buckets as unique purses or shopping bags.

Now comes a new use... as worm beds.

Okay — you have the bed made and the worms are sleeping in it. Now a word about the care of your fishing worms.

Worms thrive best in temperatures ranging from 30 to 60 degrees and in complete darkness.

While you are out fishing keep the cover tightly on the container and avoid direct sunlight if possible.

Don't expose worms to insecticides, flies, bugs, ants, or rodents. Flies particularly should not be permitted to come into direct contact for laying eggs.

Keep container cover snugly in place at all times.

Warning! Don't overcrowd the bucket with worms when taking a long, hot trip. It's better to arrive with a reasonable number of good, healthy worms than none at all.

A few ice cubes in a water-tight polyethylene bag, placed on top of the bedding, will help keep the worms alive on long trips, especially during extremely hot weather.

Incidentally — the worm bedding feeds and beds a wide variety of bait. It is said to be outstanding, not only for all kinds of night crawlers — big reds, little reds, cob, manure, African, or just plain old garden worms — but other baits, too.

It also adds life to frogs, hellgrammites, crabs, leeches and the like.

Sounds like the answer to the worm fisherman's biggest problem... and the worm raiser's, too.
