Cities Get New Districts

AUSTIN (AP) — A House committee has approved a redistricting bill that gives the Houston and Dallas-Fort Worth areas Texas' three new congressmen, and politically threatens U.S. Reps. Bill Patman and Jim Mattox.

The bill also splits Corpus Christi between two districts.

The House redistricting committee voted 16-1 Thursday to send the measure to the House floor for action.

A Senate subcommittee will hold a hearing Saturday on a congressional remap plan that probably will come to a Senate vote next week.

Reagan's Son Resigns

WASHINGTON (AP) — Michael Reagan, saying he is "tired of having to explain" his actions, plans to resign from a company for which he wrote a letter soliciting contracts from U.S. military bases and mentioning his father, the president.

White House officials, insisting there was nothing improper in the letter, said President Reagan has asked the White House counsel to advise Michael and other members of the first family on avoiding "even the appearance of impropriety" in future business dealings.

The March 24 letter in which Michael Reagan referred to his father was written on behalf of Dana Ingalls Profile, a private military equipment supplier in Burbank, Calif., and sent to officials at Tinker Air Force Base in Oklahoma.

Minister Jailed

McKINNEY (AP) — Attorneys for a young Collin County minister say they hope to break new legal ground in Texas later this month when they appeal a contempt citation issued Thursday by a state District Court judge.

The Rev. Ronald Paul Salfen, a 33-year-old Presbyterian minister from The Colony, a Dallas suburb, spent five hours in the Collin County jail Thursday after he refused to answer questions about a counseling session he had with an employee of his church.

Measles Concern

ATLANTA (AP) — Public health officials trying to eliminate measles in the United States have flocked to south Texas, where an outbreak of measles threatens to follow migrant farm workers north for the growing season, the national Centers for Disease Control said today.

The outbreak among children of migrant workers in two counties already is the second largest to occur in the United States this year, the CDC said in its Morbiity and Mortality Weekly Report.

Keeping tab on our neighbors:

Jim Cornish of the Post Dispatch is among those who believe that the wild flowers have never been prettier in West Texas than they have this spring.

He expresses special thanks to the "Coreopsis."

"The Coreopsis also are called golden wave, and are the yellow flowers you see everywhere in an around Post, whole fields of them," Cornish said.

We assume this is the same, daisy-type flower that has enhanced the countryside in and around Snyder for several weeks now. Some people have wondered why there happens to be so many more this year. True, there has been more rainfall at the right time. But how that many seed accumulated is the question, and perhaps Cornish has the answer to that, also.

"Seems as though we had so many dry springs that the wild flower seeds have piled up everywhere, just waiting for a chance to bloom," he explains.

Glen Rea of the Azle News came up with this story about an alert teacher.

Four high school pupils afflicted with spring fever skipped morning classes. After lunch, they reported to the teacher that their car had a flat tire, which delayed them.

Much to their relief, she smiled and said: "Well, you missed a test this morning, so take seats apart from one another and get out your notebooks."

Still smiling, she waited for the four to settle down. Then, she said, "First question: Which tire was flat?"

Then there's the story about the traveler who was marooned in the town because of a landslide caused by heavy rain, which was still falling in torrents outside.

Looking out the window of a cafe, he said to a waitress, "This looks like the flood."

"The what?"

"The flood. You know--surely you have heard about the great flood and Noah and the ark."

"Mister," she replied, "I haven't seen a paper in four days."

By Israel's Begin...

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — After a crucial meeting today with U.S. Envoy Philip C. Habib, Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin promised to continue diplomatic "efforts to find a peaceful solution" to the Syrian missile crisis, but gave no indication a solution might be in sight.

In Beirut, meanwhile, Syrian Foreign Minister Abdul-Halim Khaddam was quoted as saying his country was "ready to do battle if Begin translates his threats to deeds.

"The missiles will not be removed under Israeli or any other press," Khaddam was quoted as saying in Syrian newspapers. "We reject the concept that Israel has any right to dictate security regulations in Lebanon or to control its skies."

Israel has demanded it removed the batteries of Soviet-made anti-aircraft missiles Syria sent into Lebanon last month, and has threatened to wipe them out if Syria refuses.

Begin, speaking to reporters after his second meeting with Habib in 12 hours, conceded that Syria still rejected Israel's demand, but said "The United States and Israel are of the same opinion that the status quo ante must be restored.

Habib declined to speak to reporters and it was not known what his next move would be.

In Khaddam's interview he disclosed that the oil-rich Arab nations have cut off the $15 million a month they pay to Syria to fund its peacekeeping operations in Lebanon. But it was not clear whether that cut off was aimed at pressuring the Syrians out of Lebanon.

Lebanese police said, meanwhile, that fighting between Syrians and Christians in Beirut overnight injured 24 people. The rightist Christian Voice of Lebanon Radio said four people were killed and 22 wounded by Syrian shelling in the Christian city of Zahle, 30 miles east of Beirut, but the report could not be independently confirmed.

Israeli news reports said the Soviet Union was moving warships into the eastern Mediterranean, and the United States was responding by moving part of its Sixth Fleet in the same direction. The reports called the moves a mutual show of force as the tension mounted along the Israel-Lebanese border. There was no confirmation from Moscow or Washington.

Budget Calls For Tax Slash

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan is getting almost everything he wants — and more — in a compromise $695.4 billion spending target that ignores his proposed cuts in Social Security but manages to pare the projected deficit.

The compromise reached Thursday night on House and Senate versions of budget blueprints that Reagan embraced leaves room for deep spending and tax cuts. It is expected to be approved easily in both houses of Congress next week, setting up the tougher test of cutting individual programs to fit the outline.

During a day-long session Thursday, negotiators from the House and Senate budget committees put together a package that closely resembles the $695.3 billion plan Reagan recommended when he sent his budget proposals to Congress last February.

The compromise also envisions Reagan's vow of a balanced budget in 1984, projecting a surplus of slightly more than $1 billion that year — assuming several billion dollars in future cuts yet to be identified.

The plan, however, makes no mention of Social Security cuts — neither those Reagan proposed as part of a five-year, $53 billion package just four days ago nor the $6 billion the Senate recommended be saved by delaying 1982 cost-of-living raises for three months for millions of Social Security and other pensioners.

But while those omissions might reflect strong House opposition to cutting Social Security, they do not prevent Congress from voting less money later.

Reagan's original budget proposal called for a $45 billion deficit, while the compromise plan predicts a 1982 deficit of $37.6 billion.

Several Democrats, however, criticized the forecasts of strong economic growth and interest rates of 10.5 percent, which were used to arrive at the deficit figure.

Banquet Ticket Deadline Near

Ticket sales for the Snyder Chamber of Commerce banquet were nearing the 300 mark this morning, and those planning to attend were being urged to get their reservations in.

The banquet is set for Tuesday night in the Scurry County Coliseum.

The chamber office will continue to accept orders for tickets through Monday, said Bill Warner, chamber manager. The tickets, priced at $10 each, may be ordered by calling the chamber office at 573-3558.

Mrs. Ray Named Artist-Of-Month

A reception honoring Scurry County Artist-of-the-Month, Pansy Ray, will be held from 1 p. m. to 5 p. m. Sunday in the Scurry County Museum at Western Texas College.

An exhibit of her paintings will open Sunday and is to continue through mid-June. Also opening Sunday is an exhibit of stained glass by Mike McCormack of Snyder. The public is invited to meet the artists at the reception and to hear McCormack speak at a brown bag luncheon Monday.

Mrs. Ray moved to Snyder in 1941 with her husband, the late Homer F. Ray, and their son, Homer Warren Ray, was born here. They moved away soon after that, but returned in 1949. Mrs. Ray, a retired registered nurse, was employed at Battenfield Hospital here and "helped open" Cogdell Memorial Hospital. She also worked for Dr. Edward Rogers and did some private duty.

Mrs. Ray began painting for relaxation after working hours and began devoting more time to painting about 12 years ago. She has studied under Jan Herring, Bud Biggs, Mike McCullough, Dick Cheatham and Ben Konis, as well as others, and has attended numerous workshops. She is currently president of the Snyder Pallete Club.

The new Artist-of-the-Month enjovs painting in oil, watercolo. and pastels. She says she sometimes thinks she should concentrate on a single medium but can't decide which to choose.

Selection of the Scurry County Artist-of-the-Month is a project of the museum and the Snyder Palette Club. County artists 21 years of age and older who are interested in being considered for Artist-of-the-Month are invited to contact the museum office for details.

OLD HOME PLACE—A windmill on the J. C. Wilson home place near Snyder and a dwelling on the John Wesley Ray home place near Salado provided subject matter for these paintings by Pansy Ray, Scurry County's new Artist-of-the-Month. The Windmill painting is owned by Mr. and Mrs. Earl Watts of Snyder, who loaned it to Mrs. Ray for her exhibit opening Sunday in the Scurry County Museum.

Pontiff's Condition 'Distinctly Better'

ROME (AP) — Pope John Paul II began a limited form of physical therapy today, moving his arms and legs and receiving massages, hospital sources said. They said his condition was serious but stable, and his doctors said the outlook for recovery from terrorist bullet wounds was "distinctly better."

The Italian news agency ANSA quoted a hospital report saying the pope woke up repeatedly during the night with "piercing" pains. But the latest hospital bulletin said the pontiff "rested peacefully." Asked to comment, Dr. Luigi Candia, director of the hospital, said, "The Holy Father is having pains but they are not abnormal pains."

"In the second night, the Holy Father has rested peacefully. There is persistence of slight temperature. Principal clinical signs and lab results are within the normal limits in relation to the second day after the (surgical) intervention. The outlook is distinctly better. The pope continued prudent and favorable evolution of the post-operative process," the medical bulletin said.

Candia said the pope's temperature was the equivalent of 99.14 degrees Fahrenheit — less than a full degree above normal. He confirmed that the doctors are still watching the pope's gunshot wounds for signs of infection, which they say is the greatest danger he faces.

Vatican spokesman the Rev. Romeo Panciroli visited the pope and told reporters the pontiff said he knows "that everybody in the world is wishing him well."

The pontiff sat up in bed Thursday, talked with visitors and took Holy Communion. A cardinal said the pope felt "a sympathetic pardon" toward his would-be assassin.

Two American women shot alongside the pope also were still hospitalized.

Ann Odre, 58, of Buffalo, N.Y., was still listed in serious condition today, but said to be slightly improved and able to speak to her visiting daughter. Dr. Federico Meneghini, who operated to remove her spleen after the shooting, said she still suffers from "very serious internal bleeding," however.

Rose Hall, 21, the wife of a Protestant minister serving U.S. forces in Wuerzburg, West Germany, was reported in good condition. Doctors said they had changed a cast on her left arm and her bullet wound was healing satisfactorily.

Italian anti-terrorist experts were working today to determine whether Mehmet Ali Agca, the 23-year-old Turk charged with the shooting the pope during his weekly audience in St. Peter's Square Wednesday, acted alone or was part of a conspiracy.

Snyder Still Runs 2nd In CC Contest

Snyder was still running in second place this morning in the three-city chamber of commerce membership contest.

The joint progress report showed that Lamesa had signed 31 new chamber members, while Snyder had signed 27 and Big Spring 17.

However, Snyder still led in funding. The 27 new members here pledged $2,345, with $2,001.66 already in hand. Lamesa's 31 new members pledged $2,322 and they had $918 in hand, while Big Spring's 17 had pledged $1,500 and they had $1,006.68 in hand.

The contest will end at 5 p. m. Tuesday. Local chamber officials said they could use more workers in the last days of the contest.

right age for school?

Dr. Raymond Moore, a development psychologist whose research — along with that of his wife — is widely recognized, believes that children who do not start to school until they are eight or nine years old may experience many advantages over the child who is pushed into school at five or six.

Moore, a pioneer in the movement to encourage parents to teach their children at home, maintains that research reveals many advantages for late entry into school. Readiness for learning, says Dr. Moore, is one such advantage.

"Despite early excitement for school," he says, "most early entrants (ages 4 through 6) are tired of school before they are out of the third or fourth grades — already burned out at about the ages and levels they should be starting. His findings indicate their vision, hearing and other senses are not ready for continuing formal programs of learning until at least age 8 or 9.

According to Dr. Moore, socialization takes place faster at home than at school, elaborating:

"Little children are better socialized by parental example and sharing than by other children. "Negative, me-first, socialibility is born from more peer group association and fewer meaningful parental contacts and responsibility experience in the home during the first 8 to 12 years.

Dr. Moore and his wife have authored a book Home-Grown Kids (Word Books, Waco, Tex.) in which they make known their conclusions. Related subject matter is also included in 'Better Late Than Early' (Reader's Digest Press) and 'School Can Wait' (Brigham Young University Press). Their latest literary effort, let it be said, is aimed more at parents than at the academic community. It focuses on ways parents can enhance the child's development from birth through the ninth year.

There is a movement afoot in some states to change laws that would bar home schooling. In many cases, the movement is based on the moral responsibilities as well as the legal rights of students.

Some reason that Dr. Moore is critical of the public school process. Not so, says the noted psychologist. "There are a lot of good nursery schools, kindergartens, and elementary schools in the world. We have visited many and administered quite a few. Yet there is none whose program can match education by loving parents of even modest ability, working with their own children in the simplest of homes. And we must not lose their heritage and art."

Dr. Moore goes on to say that "on the family rests the opinions of our society. Nevertheless, we have gone a long, long way toward putting it down and substituting parenting-by-state. If we are to retrieve our democratic society — and our schools — we would do will to look to the home."

Dr. Moore is convinced parents invariably are better teachers than they think they are, and actually possess many resources unavailable to teachers in school.

"Mark the time — it's Happy Hour. Let's give them two for one."

BOMBECK'S LAW: You show me a carpet that lasts a lifetime and I'll show you an ugly carpet.

From my mouth to God's ears, let my voice go forth that never again will I buy ANYTHING with a lifetime guarantee.

I mean it. That kelly green plush carpet seemed like a great idea at the time, but how could I have possibly known that I was going to live this long?

There isn't a spring goes by that I don't look at that carpet and repent. Wouldn't you have thought someone would have warned me about it? Some floor-coverings spiritual advisor who set me down, patted my hand and said, "I know, dear, you think you love that carpet now, but what do you know about it? I mean really!

"You're seeing it for the first time in the full blush of its youth. You're enamored with one another! You want to spend the rest of your life running your finges through it, caressing it in front of the fire, vacuuming it, and showing it off to your friends.

"But what will happen in a few years when you grow tired of one another? When it grows lint and every three hours yells, 'Clean me! Clean me!' or when you find you cannot live without a blue chair and you must choose between the two of them.

"Will your fervor for the carpet remain when every time you look at it you are reminded to clean out the refrigerator?"

But there was no spiritual carpet advisor, and I'm stuck with it in a loveless marriage.

Kelly green carpets never die. You can't kill 'em. Goodness knows I've tried. Our house flooded once, rotting away the baseboards, ruining the wallpaper, and warping the doors. The kelly green carpet never so much as showed a water mark.

Several years ago one of the kids set a hot iron on it and left a scorched imprint. It healed itself.

Moths never touch it. Dragging furniture over it does nothing. Stains never stick. It never shrinks. It just endures.

My mother figured out that the carpet probably has done more to keep my marriage intact than anything else. She's probably right. My husband and I would have parted years ago, but with my luck, I'd get custody of the you-know-what!

NEW YORK (AP) — Because it almost always managed to weather crises and remain profitable and confident, the domestic automobile industry was for years the symbol of U.S. industrial might.

Last year the mighty took an awful spill, and so did the confidence of Americans who had taken U.S. industrial leadership for granted.

The industry lost more than $4 billion, saw imports reduce its market share, and was forced to lay off some 200,000 workers. It lost its invincible image, too. Japan, it was said, could do things better.

Having accepted the grim reality of its fall, the industry now seeks to prove that the past few years were an exception rather than a trend. And F. James McDonald was here to demonstrate it.

McDonald, General Motors Corp. president, chatted in his New York office before showing the new "J-cars," which GM hopes will boost profits and prove the U.S. industry is headed for better times.

After the Iranian revolution, he said, the domestic market was permanently changed by the threat of fuel shortages. Customers chose smaller cars, a part of the market "where Japan has always been." The Japanese were, he said, "sitting there with that product line."

GM, he continued, had been "downsizing" since 1974, but that required time. The company was in a transition where, in a few years it sought to convert facilities to building front-wheel drive cars. When you do that, said McDonald, you "change all the components and gut your assembly plant."

Still, he said, GM had until recent months been able to hold its place in the market (Ford Motor Co. and Chrysler Corp. did not), accounting for 46 percent of all cars sold in the United States. And now with the J-cars, he said, "I say we ought to get a better share of the market."

The strategy, he said, recognizes that fuel efficiency, quality and price are the three most important factors determining a customer's choice. The American industry, he insists, is competitive in all.

Some might question that belief. They have, in fact, and nothing proves it like the decline in sales of domestically made cars. The market seems to have spoken, especially about quality and prices.

In long-term durability American cars are getting better, and in ride and performance U.S. cars match any, he said. The perception of poor quality, he contends, boils down to "fit and finish." The fit of doors and the finish of dashboards, for example.

Are American workers the equal of Japanese? "If we produce the proper tools, designs and environment, I say American workers can be motivated to do the same quality job the Japanese do," he replied.

McDonald discerns more cooperation between industry and government, although he gripes that regulations shown to be needless remain on the books, adding to the price of cars.

DANBURY, Conn. (NEA)—A murder trial certain to draw national and even international attention will begin in this small city near the New York border sometime this summer.

The defense will not deny the charge that Arne C. Johnson, the 20-year-old defendant, killed Alan Bono. Rather, it will say that the devil made Johnson do it — in other words, nof guilty by reason of demonic possession.

The story is complex and bizarre. It all began about a year ago when 11-year-old David Glatzel, a local boy from a devoutly Roman Catholic family, began acting very strangely. At night, he would scream, curse in the most vile language imaginable and threaten to kill his family. The Glatzels eventually sought help from their parish priest.

The Bridgeport diocese — which includes Danbury and neighboring Brookfield, where the Glatzels live — will not discuss the case. But it appears that on several occasions, perhaps as many as four, priests attempted the rite of exorcism on the boy.

The Glatzels had taken to sleeping with David and holding him down during his "seizures." Family members recall that Johnson, who was dating and planning to marry 27-year-old Deborah Glatzel, often stayed with David and "taunted" the devil by saying: "Control me instead of this boy. Take me on. I'll fight you."

The defense plans to contend that the devil did exactly that.

In February, Johnson and Miss Glatzel moved into an apartment above a garage at a kennel that was managed by Bono and owned by his sister. Miss Glatzel worked at the kennel.

Johnson reportedly spent the afternoon of Feb. 16 trying to fix a radio owned by Bono. Shortly after dark, the two men apparently got into an argument, and Bono was stabbed repeatedly. Several hours later, Johnson was found wandering dazedly and arrested for the murder.

Walter Flannigan, the local prosecutor, will not discuss the case. However, police sources close to the investigation say that the state will attempt to prove that Johnson and Bono argued over Miss Glatzel and that Bono already had or was attempting to establish a relationship with her. The motive for the killing, they assert, was simple jealously.

The defense, led by lawyer Martin Minnella, says that it will prove that Johnson was possessed at the time of the killing and that it was actually the devil who killed Bono.

All of this might be given little credence were it not for the role of the church and of Ed and Lorraine Warren, a Catholic couple who live in Connecticut and who are highly regarded experts in psychic phenomena and demonic possession.

The Warrens were contacted early about David and are said to have been greatly responsible for convincing diocesan officials to attempt the exorcisms. The Warrens plan to testify at the trial to their belief that David was possessed and that the possession was transferred to Johnson.

Local police point out that the Warrens make their living lecturing on possession and that this case has caused their speaking fees to skyrocket. "They have a vested interest in the case, to say the least," notes one police official.

Defense lawyers say that they will offer expert evidence at the trial that the devil does exist and that possession does occur. They plan to present photographs and tape recordings of David during his "possession" and to call to the stand the priests who attempted the exorcisms. However, they do not intend to call David himself.

The defense says that to its knowledge a bona fide defense of possession has never been attempted in this country, but it is studying English cases in which that defense was successfully raised earlier in this century. They believe that a jury will acquit Johnson.

They also know that the trial will become a media spectacular. As defense attorney Minnella has remarked more than once recently, "This is going to be bigger than Jean Harris' trial."

Beta Sigma Phi Hosts Luncheon

The annual Mother's Day Luncheon was held by Beta Sigma Phi members Saturday, May 9, at 11:30 a.m. at the Martha Ann Woman's Club. Honored guests were members' mothers and special relatives and friends.

Carol Kelley registered guests and Mona Bryan gave the welcome. Carolyn Greene presented the flowers on the tables as gifts to the oldest mother present, the youngest mother, the mother with the most children, the mother with the most grandchildren and the mother who had traveled the farthest to attend the luncheon. Tables were covered with pastel cloths and were centered with garden bouquets in clay pots covered with matching fabric. The flowers rested on white lace doilies.

Following the meal, a program was presented entitled, "Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow." Mickey Baird narrated the program and Donna Fowler provided piano accompaniment. Featured in the play were Wanda Early, Bette League, Carolyn Glaze, Twila Polk and Nancy Ballinger. Ms. Fowler, who wrote the play, also was a participant. Beta Sigma Phi members plan to enter the Program in international competition.

Arrangements for the luncheon were made by Carolyn Greene, assisted by Carol Kelley, Judy Smith and Cyndee Gayle.

Candy Pulls Are Back

By Cecily Brownstone
Associated Press
Food Editor

Now that American cooking is coming back into vogue, we've had queries from readers whose families want to have old-fashioned taffy pulls.

Webster defines the word "taffy" as a candy that is always pulled. The dictionary also includes the phrase "taffy pull" and defines it as "a social gathering at which taffy is pulled." In light of the definition of taffy, the phrase "taffy pull" seems redundant. But who would want to change it to "taffy gathering?" Not I. On the other hand, I'm all for calling a taffy pull a "taffy social."

Originally, taffy pulls were called candy pulls. Marian Harland, the great American cookbook writer of 19th-century fame, wrote some delightful lines about them: "Good oldfashioned candy pulls were frolics dear to our mothers' girlish hearts. In my opinion, taffy is sweeter to taste and to memory than chocolate creams or any other modern bonbon."

Marian Harland gave no recipe for chocolate-flavored pulled candy. Because there are so many chocoholics with us nowadays, we offer the following taffy recipe flavored with chocolate.

CHOCOLATE TAFFY

1 cup sugar ¾ cup light corn syrup ½ cup water
2 squares (1 ounce each) unsweetened chocolate, coarsely chopped
2 tablespoons butter

Grease an 8 by 8 by 2-inch pan. In a heavy 2-quart saucepan stir together the sugar, corn syrup and water. Stirring constantly, cook over medium heat until mixture comes to a boil. Without stirring, continue cooking until the temperature on a candy thermometer reaches 252 degrees — a small amount of mixture when dropped into very cold water forms a ball that is hard enough to hold its shape, yet plastic. Remove from heat; stir in the chocolate and butter. Pour into the prepared pan. Let stand until completely cool. With greased hands, pull until taffy has a satin-like finish and is much lighter in color — the color of unsweetened cocoa. Pull into long strips, ½-inch wide. On a greased surface cut into 1-inch pieces. Wrap pieces individually in waxed paper or saran. The taffy does not hold its ridges and remains soft and chewy. Makes about 1 pound.

To keep the refrigerator running efficiently, vacuum its coils at least twice a year.

By Oswald Jacoby and Alan Sontag

Here is another hand from Don von Elsner's "Everything's Jake With Me." This one might well serve as an example of how to bid badly.

North might well just respond two clubs, but he does jump to three. South should rebid three diamonds, not three spades. From that point on both partners bid as if there were no tomorrow until South finds himself in six spades.

A trump lead, a heart lead or the lead of a diamond honor would beat the slam, but West does open the jack of clubs.

Now Don makes the hand worthwhile by showing how declarer's mind should work.

His hero, Jake Winkman, points out that when in a poor contract you should assume that certain things must be right for you and that South must decide that trumps will break 3-3. Then he must plan to set up dummy's clubs by ruffing two of them. Further reasoning shows that if they break 4-2 and East holds four to the king, an unusual play must be made at trick one.

South must play dummy's queen of clubs. East takes his king and leads a club back.

South ruffs, draws trumps, enters with a red ace, ruffs another club with his last trump and takes the rest of the tricks since dummy's last clubs are now good.

Dear Abby

Impotent Man Seeks Power of Suggestion

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1981 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: I am 34 and have been married for seven months. Both my wife and I are still virgins because I am impotent. I have gone to my family doctor and he set up an appointment with a psychologist. My wife and I saw this psychologist for six weeks, then we quit going because it was too expensive and we weren't getting anywhere.

I read in your column that tight shorts could cut down a man's fertility. Is it possible that this loss of fertility could carry over to impotence?

A friend suggested I see a hypnotist. Does that make sense to you? Please help me, Abby, because my wife seems to think the problem is mine to solve. I can't go to my minister because I know him too well. Thanks.

IMPOTENT

DEAR IMPOTENT: One's fertility (or lack of it) has nothing to do with one's potency. Hypnosis can be a valuable therapeutic tool, but make absolutely certain that the hypnotist is competent and well-trained. If hypnosis fails, see a qualified sex therapist.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I need your advice. I'm a 25-year-old newly wed woman who is against stag parties because I know they include strippers who are usually hookers. My husband (I'll call him Duffy) has been invited to a stag that's being given for a co-worker. He's not a particularly close friend — just a guy he works with.

Abby, I know what goes on at such parties. The girls undress for the men, dance with them, drink with them and a whole lot worse! I have told Duffy that I don't want him to go, but he says he has to go. He says he won't do anything, he will just go and watch.

Abby, in your opinion, should Duffy go to the stag or respect my wishes and stay home?

DUFFY'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: If Duffy wants to go, he should go. It's your right to go where you want to go or stay away for your own reasons, but no one has the right to impose his (or her) wishes on another adult.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I decided to write to you about a disagreement we've had. My sister is going to the Cleveland Clinic next week for surgery. Her home is in Canada, but the clinic is only 65 miles from our home. I want to be near my sister, so I plan to stay at a motel near the clinic. My sister's husband plans to stay at the same motel, so to cut expenses we thought we'd share a room with twin beds.

I have known this brother-in-law for 13 years and we are very good friends. There is absolutely no physical attraction between us, never was, and never will be.

My husband is having a king-sized fit! He says he trusts me, and he trusts my brother-in-law, but he doesn't want us sharing a room. My sister doesn't see anything wrong with it.

What do you think? Hurry your answer.

PLAIN DEALER READER

DEAR READER: I don't see anything wrong with it either, but unless your husband is comfortable with that arrangement, don't double up with your brother-in-law. It could be a very expensive way to save money.

* * *

CONFIDENTIAL TO YOU: One of the nicest gifts you can give someone who lives with a shut-in is a little time off. Call and tell the person who must spend 24 hours a day living with a shut-in that you would like to take over for an afternoon, an evening, or even an hour, so he (or she) can get out. What a lovely present that would be! Few realize that the companion (usually a relative) is as much a shut-in as the shut-in is.

Snyderite In Honor Society

COLLEGE STATION—Lee A. Jarrell, agricultural economics major from Snyder, has been selected for membership in Phi Kappa Phi, Texas A&M University's most prestigious national honor society.

Each year, the chapter recognizes graduates and undergraduate students from the academic colleges who have distinguished themselves academically and who have demonstrated leadership in campus activities.

To be eligible for membership, juniors must have at least a 3.75 grade point ratio and be in the upper five percent of their class, and seniors must have at least a 3.5 GPR and rank in the top 10 percent of their class.

Reagan Makes Promise...

SS Recipients To Get Increases

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's 36 million Social Security recipients will get their cost-of-living raise this summer after all, and the Reagan administration promises the issue "will not rear its ugly head again."

Health and Human Services Secretary Richard S. Schweiker announced Thursday that the Reagan administration has ruled out any postponement of the 11.2 percent July 1 increase. White House budget cutters had considered delaying until Oct. 1 to whittle $5 billion from a ballooning, $60 billion-plus deficit in fiscal 1981, which ends Sept. 30.

Schweiker had assured reporters Tuesday that there would be no tampering with the July cost-of-living increase this year, and he said Thursday that he was surprised to hear it was being studied. President Reagan's package of $53 billion in Social Security cuts by 1986 includes delaying the annual inflation adjustment until October, starting in 1982.

"It was news to me," Schweiker said. "I'd been through a number of meetings with the main people involved and it hadn't been broached there."

Deputy White House press secretary Larry Speakes acknowledged earlier Thursday that there was a "slim" possibility Reagan might ask Congress to postpone this July's increase. But he said it was still at "the idea stage" at the Office of Management and Budget.

A three-month delay this year would have cost Social Security beneficiaries an average of $111, saving the Treasury $3.7 billion this year and several billion dollars more in forgone benefits in the future.

Schweiker said he called the White House and was assured no decision had been made. Then, after meeting with budget director David A. Stockman and other officials at the White House, Schweiker announced, "I'm delighted to say it has been dropped as a subject of consideration."

"I personally thought it would be wrong and incorrect to either amend the package or to reverse what we promulgated earlier in the week," Schweiker said. "So I made a strong statement within the system. The statement was well received and the decision was made. ...(The issue) will not rear its ugly head again."

Stockman supports the decision, Schweiker said.

Speakes, meanwhile, said the White House had received 600 calls about Reagan's Social Security cuts and they were running 9-to-1 against them.

But Schweiker said he thinks editorial reaction to the package has been "very positive."

The Reagan plan is designed to avert a fiscal crisis that could deplete the trust fund for retirement checks before the end of next year and to forestall Social Security from falling into even deeper trouble when the post-World War II "baby boom" generation retires in the 21st century.

U.S. To Return Soviet Cargo

By MIKE FEINSILBER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States, finding nothing of strategic value in equipment seized from a Soviet jetliner, will give the cargo back but won't apologize for taking it, the chief of the Customs Service says.

"I feel it was handled in a professional way, well within our rights," William T. Archey said of the raid Tuesday night at nearby Dulles International Airport, which touched off a roar of protest from Moscow.

The raid was staged when a tipster told the Customs Service the Soviets were trying to spirit out American-made products of military value, possibly radar equipment.

But after two days of investigation — amid a drumbeat of protest from the Kremlin — Archey said all the cargo was legally exportable and the only violations were technical mistakes in accompanying paperwork.

The Soviets denounced the incident as "criminal" and "barbarous" and as proof "that terror and banditism have been elevated in the United States to the status of official policy." They said they may demand reparations.

"In terms of a substantive violation of the law, it does not appear there was one," Archey told a crowded news conference after reading a six-page statement giving a minute-by-minute account of Customs agents' behavior in the Aeroflot jetliner.

He said the cargo would be released when the documents are corrected.

One by one, Archey denied Soviet allegations about the raid — that 35 Customs and FBI agents had threatened the airline crew, tampered with the cockpit equipment, thus endangering the plane's safety, and ripped open luggage, including some with diplomatic immunity, stealing some items.

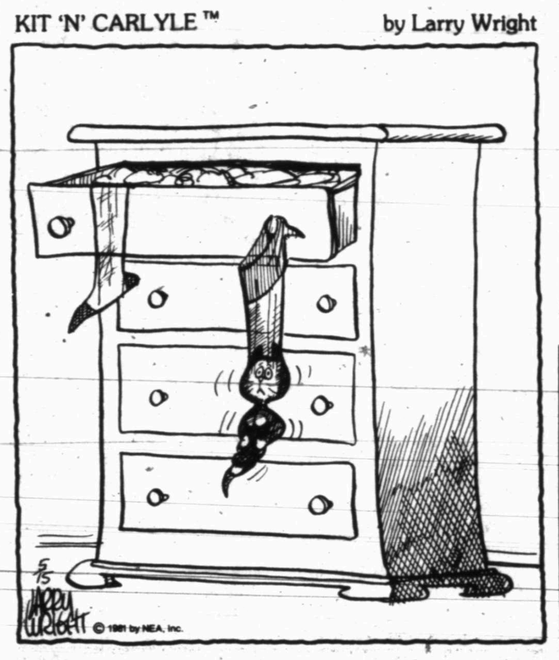

Customs agents, accompanied by FBI men, seized boxes containing devices for measuring radiation, several electronic modules and circuit boards, and a radio receiver used as an aviation navigation aid. All were legally exportable, Archey said, but he denied the agents opened luggage or diplomatic pouches.

He said the agents acted routinely, professionally, courteously and competently. The raid, he said, was routine except for the Soviet-generated publicity about it.

That protest continued Thursday in Moscow. Americans found signs of protest on four cars parked outside the U.S. Embassy. One read, "Shame on the American bandits."

Archey said the raid was staged on a tip, growing out of another Customs investigation, that mislabeled defense-related items were about to be shipped on the departing plane, in violation of export laws.

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Choose health care concept

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I know you think people should have a regular medical examination. But I have read recently that people who did not have regular checkups had just as good an outlook as people who did see a doctor. Don't these repeated examinations make a lot of money for doctors? With our budget as tight as it is, we don't need any unnecessary expenses.

DEAR READER — For years many segments in our society have urged that we have preventive medicine and have castigated physicians for not being more prevention oriented. Now you see other activist groups saying we don't need examinations. Well, you can't have it both ways.

There are studies that are dutifully reported by the news media that show on a cost-accounting basis that regular examinations may not pay for themselves. Such figures are based on someone else deciding how much your life is worth — without asking you.

Even these studies do show that early detection and treatment of elevated blood pressure is very important in preventing major illnesses. If you stop and think a minute you will realize that about 70 percent of all causes of death are heart diseases, cancer and strokes. All of these can be delayed or even prevented by examinations that permit early detection of actual disease. Finding out a person has high blood pressure is a good example.

Beyond that is the quality of life. Examinations of the eyes may detect conditions that need immediate attention to prevent blindness. There won't be many people like this found on such examinations but if it is you, wouldn't you rather be able to see for the remainder of your life?

To give you a more balanced view of what you can expect from a regular medical examination I am sending you The Health Letter number 10-2, Your Valuable Medical Examination. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

You can make a point that a lot of the preventive program is the responsibility of society as a whole rather than just the doctor's. Sociologists certainly should be more responsible for a role in getting society to stop smoking, overeating and not being physically active.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am a 22-year-old male who would like to become more masculine looking. I know that there are hormone treatments available from doctors. Do these all have to be injections or can they be taken by mouth? Are there over-the-counter drugs you can buy to help increase male hormone output? I would not be bothered by my appearance if I weren't aware of the psychological conditions I face because of it. Basically, I just want to look my own age for once.

DEAR READER — If you already have a normal endocrine system, you don't need hormones. They could be harmful. And if you just want to look older, hormones may not do that for you either. You'll look old soon enough.

No, there are no over-the-counter medications you can buy — thank heavens. Why don't you let your doctor examine you and be sure you are normal. If so, you may need some professional counseling about your self-image. If you just want to be bigger and stronger, begin a strength-training program. If it's just the youthful appearance, a mustache or different style of dress may make a difference for you.

Peace Officers Attend Activity

Almost 300 law enforcement officers from as far away as Santa Fe attended the 33rd Annual Caprock Peace Officers Association Meeting in Clairemont Thursday. Several police officers, DPS Troopers, a deputy sheriff and Justice of the Peace Dan Callaway were there to represent Snyder.

The day's activities at the old Clairemont school included horseshoe pitching, a rattlesnake shoot, a barbecue and several prize drawings.

Troopers Kirby McCravey and Pat Alexander walked home with the horseshoe pitching trophy after several championship run-offs.

Two police officers took first and second in the shooting match. Officer Ontivares of Lubbock took first and Officer Macha of Floydada took second. The top trophy for guests and visitors was won by James Cheyne of Jayton, brother of Joe Cheyne of the Snyder Sheriff's office.

Snyder police officers won several prizes in the drawings. Sgt. Burns won a floating lantern and a trouble light; Keith Ward won a John Deere jacket; Jerry Parker took home a bracelet; Buddy Kinney won a ring, a holster and a $15 gift certificate from Snyder Athletic Center; Bill Armstrong won a thermos, a ring and a set of vise-grips.

Judge Callaway won a gift certificate for two free dinners at Carrow's Restaurant in Lubbock.

IRA Terrorists Hit Police Car

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — IRA terrorists fired a Soviet-made rocket through the roof of a passing police car, killing one officer and wounding three others in a sharp escalation of violence surrounding the prison death fast by Irish Republican Army guerrillas.

The attack Thursday night in west Belfast, a Roman Catholic stronghold, set a grim scene for today's funeral of Francis Hughes, the second IRA hunger striker to die in the guerrillas' campaign for political prisoner status.

Two other men also go to their graves today, victims of sectarian violence.

The IRA's militant "Provisional" wing claimed responsibility in a statement for the rocket attack. Police said it was the first time the IRA had fired a rocket at a moving target in the 11½ years of sectarian violence in this British-ruled province.

Police said today that the rocket used in the attack was a Soviet-made RPG-7, often used by IRA guerrillas in the mid-1970s.

The dead officer, aged 23 and married, was the 148th policeman killed in what is known here as: "The Troubles."

In London, Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher rejected a request by Irish-American leaders that she use "flexibility" toward the hunger strikers' demands for political prisoner status in the Maze prison outside Belfast.

"Yielding to coercion would provoke further coercion and encourage more young people to follow the path of violence," she said in a letter to Irish-Americas Sen. Edward M. Kennedy and Sen. Daniel P. Moynihan, House Speaker Thomas "Tip" O'Neill, and New York Gov. Hugh Carey.

Meanwhile, Brian Lenihan, foreign minister of the Irish Republic, left Dublin for Strasbourg, France to ask the European Commission on Human Rights to intervene in the Maze dispute.

Four Maze prisoners are currently on hunger strike. Raymond McCreesh and Patrick O'Hara, both 24, were reportedly suffering failing eyesight and hearing on the 55th day of their fast. Joseph McDonnell, 30, joined the fast last week to replace Bobby Sands, the first striker to die, and Brendan McLaughlin, 29, began fasting Thursday to replace Hughes.

Hughes, 25, was serving a 14-year sentence for killing a policeman when he died Tuesday in the prison's hospital wing after 59 days without food.

Hughes will be given a military-style funeral following a Mass in his native village of Bellaghy, County Londonderry at 2 p.m., 9 a.m. EDT, today. His elderly parents and nine brothers and sisters held a two-day wake at the family home.

Since Sands began fasting on March 1, 20 people have died in sectarian violence.

375 Measles Cases Logged

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The State Health Department said Thursday 375 cases of measles have been reported in Texas — 194 more than last year — and the disease is still spreading across the state.

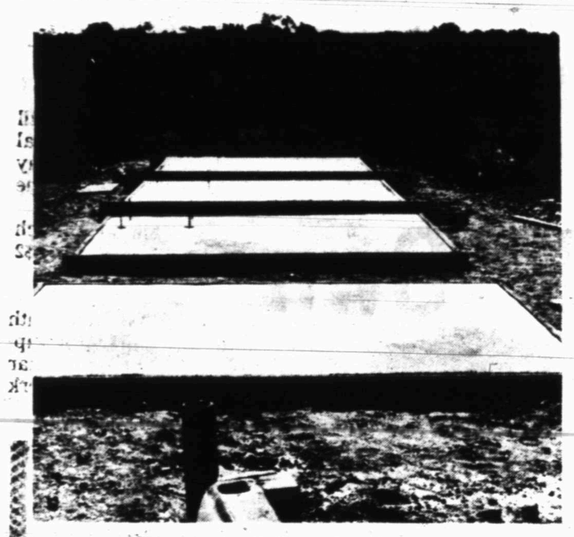

The department said major outbreaks are occurring in southeast and southwest Houston, in the Lower Rio Grande Valley and in El Paso.

Measles has spread to 37 counties, the department said.

One death has been reported from measles — an 11-month-old child on March 22, the department said.

The worst year for measles in Texas was 1958, prior to the availability of a vaccine, when 86,000 cases and 52 measles deaths were reported.

Five women convicted of witchcraft were hanged at Salem, Mass. in 1692.

SHOOTING PADS—These four concrete slabs were poured during the Canyon Gun Club's last work day at the gun range. Four more are scheduled to be poured tomorrow to be used for shooting pads.

Canyon Gun Club Workday Saturday

A work day has been scheduled for 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday at the gun range by the Canyon Gun Club. Lunch will be served to everyone present at 12 noon. Club members have been upgrading and adding to equipment and facilities at the range during previous work days.

Tomorrow they plan to pour four more 8x10 concrete slabs for shooting pads which will make a total of eight, says Calvin Goebel, club vice-president.

Besides the shooting pads, electricity has been hooked up and the range has been improved. Goebel says they will also add restrooms, a trap range, a picnic area and a barbecue pit.

The club, now with 77 members, meets the fourth Tuesday of each month at 7 p.m. at the West Texas State Bank community room. Family membership is $20 a year and includes children up to 17 years of age. Club members are also given a key to the gun range gate.

Generic Drug Bill Almost A Reality

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Rep. Ted Lyon Jr., D-Mesquite, says a bill allowing pharmacists to save consumers money by substituting cheaper "generic" drugs for brand-name products prescribed by doctors is almost a "welcome reality."

The House voted Thursday to add generic drug language similar to that contained in a Senate-passed bill to legislation extending the life of the State Board of Pharmacy.

The pharmacy bill was then tentatively approved on voice vote. Final passage, which would send the measure to the Senate, was expected today.

The Senate's separate generic drug bill is pending in the House but would not be needed if the pharmacy bill, including the generic drug amendment, clears both chambers.

"I am optimistic about HB1628's chances of passage in the Senate because the generic drug substitution amendment does not differ at all from SB880, which that chamber has already passed," said Lyon. "With passage of this legislation accomplished in the House and passage likely in the Senate, genuine prescription drug savings are much closer to becoming a welcome reality."

Rep. Bob McFarland, R-Arlington, said he wanted it spelled out for the record that the Legislature's intent was for druggists to pass on to consumers the cost difference between brand-name prescription drugs and generics.

"The intent of the Legislature is to save the consumer money. ... If a pharmacist does not pass on the net benefits to the purchaser, he is subject to a $250 fine and cancellation of his license," said Lyon, sponsor of the generic drug measure.

"I want to make sure this bill does not turn out to be a pharmacists' profit bill," McFarland said.

"This is a consumer act to save the consumers of this state $16 million a year," Lyon replied.

If the bill becomes law, physicians would sign their name over a line on the prescription form that says, "Product Selection Permitted." The patient also would have to consent.

A druggist could not charge a higher dispensing fee for a generic drug than for the brand-name product prescribed by the doctor.

The pharmacist also would have to put a label on the bottle saying "Substituted for Brand Prescribed" and place a note on the prescription form indicating the name, strength and manufacturer of the substituted product.

Certain kinds of drugs whose effectiveness depends on absorption into the system, includling aerosols, suppositories and time-release products, could not be substituted.

After seven years of legislative fighting, doctors, pharmacists and consumer organizations worked out their differences and agreed to the compromise passed by the Senate and adopted by the House as Lyon's amendment.

Ethics Bill Becomes Law

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — An ethics bill that grew out of Speaker Bill Clayton's experience with the FBI Brilab investigation was signed into law Thursday by Gov. Bill Clements.

The bill creates a 15-member committee to assess Texas laws governing state officials' conduct and offer advice on how best to comply with them.

Clayton promoted the bill after he was acquitted in October of FBI charges he took a payoff from an informant posing as an insurance man seeking state group insurance business.

The committee would be abolished on Aug. 31, 1983, after the next Legislature adjourns its regular session.

Truck-Trailer Overturns

A truck trailer overturned north of Fluvanna Thursday as the driver attempted the climb up the Caprock. The driver and his wife, both from Iowa, jumped to safety after the driveshaft twisted in two and the vehicle began to roll back down the hill.

The truck, with a gross weight of 92,000 lbs., owned by Wagoneer Trucking Co., had been routed by way of the Caprock by the Highway Dept. in Stamford. Several trucks were in convoy on their way to set up a rig west of Fluvanna.

Deputy Sheriff Larry Ball worked the wreck and rerouted two trucks that were following the one that overturned.

Boston Holds Off Rockets For NBA Crown, 102-91

HOUSTON (AP) - The Boston Celtics were drinking champagne while Houston's Moses Malone sipped Gatorade but the Rockets' suddenly talkative center didn't budge from his opinion of the National Basketball Association champion Celtics.

"I still think we are the best team but they are the world champions and you have to give them respect," Malone said Thursday night shortly after the Celtics had defeated the Rockets 102-91 to win their 14th NBA title. I didn't say they were a bad team, I just said they could be beat."

"But they came to play and they paid their dues and that's why they are the world champions."

Malone, normally a quiet, unassuming star of the Rockets, created a furor in Boston prior to Tuesday's fifth game when he said he could take four players from his hometown of Petersburg, Va. and beat the Celtics.

But Malone didn't think his words lost the game.

"I have no regrets about what I said. I just said the things that I felt. (Cedric) Maxwell said some things too but nobody made a big deal about that," Malone said.

Maxwell, voted the most valuable player of the championship series, said earlier that the winner of the Eastern Conference finals between Boston and Philadelphia would win the NBA title.

The Rockets appeared headed for another blowout at the start of the fourth quarter when they trailed by 17 points but they cut the lead to 86-83 with 4:23 to go to provide one more thrill for the 16,121 Summit fans.

"Houston had all the reason in the world to quit but they kept fighting back and you've got to give them credit for that," Boston's Rick Robey said.

Celtics guard Chris Ford said, "We just played Celtics' style basketball. This team has stayed together all year. There are no egomaniacs on this team."

Bird, who had been held to eight points in two consecutive games by the defensive work of Houston's Robert Reid, hit a three-point play in the final minute that spelled the end of Houston's comeback.

"That's what killed us," said Calvin Garrett, who was screened away from Bird on the play. "I just got stuck under the basket."

Reid, the emotional leader of the Rockets throughout the playoffs, admitted there were tears in his eyes as the final seconds ticked off in the game.

"They were not tears because we lost but for the Rockets fans who stayed around and gave us a standing ovation," Reid said. "They could have left at the end of the third quarter but they stayed."

"I think we held up our part in making this an NBA championship caliber series. We showed at the end that the underdog still had a little bit of fight left in him."

In SWC Baseball Tournament...

'Horns To Defend Title

AUSTIN (AP) - Arkansas, Houston and Rice today begin their attempts to keep the Texas Longhorns from making a 27th trip to the NCAA baseball tournament.

The Horns, regular season Southwest Conference champs, are looking for their third straight SWC tournament title.

Arkansas and Houston opened the tournament with an afternoon game. Texas and fourth-place Rice play at night.

Texas, ranked fifth in the nation, ran up a 53-8-1 overall mark this year. Junior pitcher Tony Arnold used his pinpoint control to post a 15-0 record, including seven complete game wins in SWC play.

Arnold walked only 14 batters in 110 innings.

The Longhorn offense was led by Larry Long with a .361 average. Long played at SMU last year, but transferred to UT when the Mustang baseball program ended.

Rice, 34-21 overall and 11-10 in conference, beat UT once in three games this year. Pitcher Matt Williams got the win, and complied a 6-3 season mark. He struck out 76 in 79⅔ innings.

Arkansas took second place in conference play. For the fourth straight year a Razorback won the conference batting crown. Newcomer Billy Dees, a junior-college transfer, batted .407.

The double elimination tournament continues Saturday and Sunday, with the winner moving to the NCAA Central Regionals to play the Western Athletic Conference champ.

SHS Slates Sports Awards

Snyder High School will present its annual Sports Awards Ceremony 6:30 p.m. Monday in the school audiotorium.

All high school athletes from each sport will be recognized and some special awards will be presented.

A reception will follow in the student center.

Cushing Inks Fourth Recruit This Week

Coach Joe Cushing, whose 1981-82 Duster team would already boast three girls over the 6-foot mark, has penned even more height in signing 6-1 Brenda Jameson of San Angelo.

Jameson, who inked with the team yesterday, is the fourth signee to the Western Texas College women's basketball team this week.

A three-time all-district choice at Eola High School before transferring to San Angelo Lake View, Jameson suffered an injury which kept her sidelined for almost all of her final season.

"I had seen Brenda play before (this past year) and I know she'll be a tremendous asset to our team," said Cushing who was pleased with her ability in a workout held yesterday. "She's an excellent passer, a great ballhandler and she has great jumping ability. She penetrates extremely well and goes to the boards real tough. She's a smart basketball player."

As a junior, Jameson poured in 25 points a game for Eola High, earning all-district honors. She was also a state tennis semifinalist. In her sophomore year - the first year of full court girl's basketball in Texas high schools - she averaged 14 points and was all-district and all-region on a team which went 21-2 and advanced to the regional finals. She was also a state tennis semifinalist.

BRENDA JAMESON
...signs with WTC's Dusters

As a freshman, she was all-district and made the Howard High School Classic All-Tournament team. She averaged 18 points a game on a 23-3 regional semifinalist squad.

Earlier this week, Cushing signed 6-2 Vicki Teal of New Deal, 5-6 Dale Pieper of Roscoe and 6-1 Shara Fredenburg of Lubbock Cooper.

Returning from last year's regional semifinalist club are 6-2 Dorcas Perkins of Lubbock, 5-11 Jackie Briggs of Lubbock, 5-11 Valerie Wells of Amarillo, 5-7 Cindy Maddox of Canyon and 5-5 Cindy Goltl of San Angelo.

Rangers Win 3-2 Over Kansas City

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) - Just 24 hours after he encouraged his old high school buddy, Jim Frey, to keep plugging away, that the sun will soon shine, Don Zimmer did his best to add to Frey's woes.

But, it was all in a day's work. Pat Putnam's tie-breaking home run in the eighth inning and Doc Medich's pitching led Texas to a 3-2 victory over the staggering Kansas City Royals Thursday night, handing the American League champions their 17th loss in 24 games.

The Royals, whose 7-17 record is the worst in the league and trails only the Chicaco Cubs' for major league futility, suffered a double blow. George Brett, who batted .390 last season and won AL Most Valuable Player honors, was injured sliding safely across home plate in the fourth inning. A team spokesman said X-rays indicated strained ligaments in the right ankle, and the all-Star third baseman will be lost for at least a week.

Splittorff, who gave up six hits in 8 and one-third innings, suffered his third loss in three decisions while Medich went to 3-2 with a six-hitter through eight. John Henry Johnson and Steve Comer completed the job after Jamie Quirk doubled leading off the Kansas City ninth.

It was the second time in less than two weeks Putnam has beaten the Royals with a tie-breaking home run. His 10th-inning blast off Juan Berenguer May 3 lifted the Rangers to a 9-8 victory.

Cardinals Shave Houston's Astros

HOUSTON (AP) - Orlando Sanchez's RBI ground ball capped a four-run ninth-inning rally that lifted the St. Louis Cardinals to a 7-6 triumph over the Houston Astros Thursday night.

St. Louis used three walks, one Houston error and two hits, one of them a two-run double by George Hendrick, to take the victory.

A walk to Tommy Herr, a single by Mike Ramsey and an error by second baseman Rafael Landestoy on an attempted force at second base loaded the bases for the Cardinals in the ninth. Keith Hernandez drew a walk to score Herr and bring on reliever Frank LaCorte, the third Houston pitcher of the inning.

Hendrick hit LaCorte's first pitch into center field for a two-run double to tie the game 6-6. After a walk to pinch-hitter Darrell Porter, Sanchez brought home the game-winning run.

'Stockton's Next Because....

Tiger Game Postponed; To Be Played May 21

Play it again, Sam.

Early morning rains took their toll once again here today, forcing a officials to put off the scheduled Snyder-Lamesa district baseball game. The postponement is the third rainout of a district ballgame this season for the Tigers, who twice rescheduled contests with Pecos in the first round before finally cancelling altogether.

That end result may well happen again as Snyder - scheduled to travel to Fort Stockton on Tuesday - needs only one more victory to secure a District 2-4A championship. The Tigers have reset the Lamesa game for May 21, but if they should get past Fort Stockton on Tuesday it is assumed the makeup game with the Golden Tornadoes would be cancelled since it would no longer have any bearing on the district standings.

"It's just too wet to play on the (Moffett) field," said Albert Lewis, Tiger coach. "We tried to move the game to Lamesa and play them there today, but they (Lamesa officials) said they couldn't get the field ready in time. So, we set it for May 21."

An attempt was also made to play the game Saturday, but officials were unable to work that out either.

The rainout presents a different complexion for the Tigers, who were not expected to have trouble with the 2-16 Tornadoes. Fort Stockton, 10-10 on the season and 2-2 in loop play, is expected to be a saltier opponent, especially at home.

"Pecos has been playing real well," said Lewis. "They beat Andrews and Lamesa and lost by one run to Ector and Pecos. They'll give us a tough game. I'm sure of that."

Lewis said he would go with Gerald Don Hicks, 4-2-1, or Tony Degrate, 10-1, against the Panthers in Tuesday's 7:30 p.m. game.

Floyd Takes Early Lead At Colonial

FORT WORTH (AP) - On a day when Bruce Lietzke flirted with disaster, and Tom Watson found it, Ray Floyd proved his theory that consistency is the secret to winning golf.

The swashbuckling Floyd forged a near-flawless 4-under-par 66 to earn a share of the lead entering today's second round of the $300,000 Colonial National Invitation.

He and burly Mike Sullivan led the select field by a stroke over Fuzzy Zoeller, Tom Kite and Rod Curl.

"I have a theory on good play," Floyd said after Thursday's opening round.

"If you keep giving yourself chances, you'll win. The key is consistency. If I can get up in the top five week in and week out, my victories will come."

Floyd, twice a winner this year, bagged birdie putts of two, 18, 12, seven and eight feet and committed but one miscue - a 3-putt bogey at the treacherous fifth hole.

Sullivan was slightly more erratic, collecting six birdies and two bogeys, and described his round as "nothing spectacular."

By virtue of his victory at the Byron Nelson Sunday, Lietzke could capture the $200,000 Texas Bonanza with a triumph here.

'Sons' To Give Pleasant Colony A Race For First

BALTIMORE (AP) - The sons of two Hall of Fame trainers, doing quite well in their own right, are taking a shot at Pleasant Colony in the Preakness.

Jack Gaver will saddle Woodchopper, while David Whiteley is training Highland Blade for Saturday's 106th running of the second leg of thoroughbred racing's Triple Crown.

Both colts are late closers who finished second to Buckland Farm's Pleasant Colony in their last starts.

Woodchopper, owned by Greentree Stable, was the runnerup by three-quarters of a length to Pleasant Colony in the May 2 Kentucky Derby. In his last start, the April 18 Wood Memorial, Pen-Y-Bryn Farm's Highland Blade finished three lengths behind Pleasant Colony.

The Derby winner, owned by Buckland Farm and trained by Johnny Campo, also is a come-from-behind colt. With Jorge Velasquez riding, Pleasant Colony has been established as the early line 5-2 favorite over 13 rivals for the 13-16 mile test, a 16th of a mile shorter than the Derby distance.

Texas Expects To Lose $610 Million In Funds

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — If President Reagan's budget plans are approved by Congress Texas will lose up to $610 million in federal funds for the 1982-83 state budget, says Gov. Bill Clements.

Texas legislators will just have to iron out the difference in comprise talks, Clements told a Thursday news conference.

Both houses have approved a 1982-83 spending bill but there is about $188 million difference in the totals. The final version sent to Clements will be written by a 10-member House-Senate conference committee.

And before the bill gets to Clements, Comptroller Bob Bullock must certify there is enough state revenue in sight the next two years to finance it.

In addition, Clements said, federal funds received by state agencies but not appropriated by the Legislature will be reduced by $80 million in 1982, and funds of direct assistance from the federal government to local governments will be reduced by $188 million.

Clements stressed he thought there also would be benefits.

"The reductions do not reflect the considerable increase in efficiency and effectiveness which will result from the block grant approach to distribution (of federal funds to state)," he said. "In the final analysis, considering the huge outlays by the federal government for administrative overhead and regulation the state may be able to deliver more services with available funds."

Figures furnished by the governor indicated federal budget cuts would reduce state highway funds by $20 million and health funds by $16 million. Medicaid would be increased by $15 million, other Human Resources Department activities would be down $79 million, and federal grants to the Texas Education Agency for public schools would be cut by $96 million.

Clements figures a $142 million decrease next year for sewage treatment construction grants to Texas but an increase of $145 million for food stamps and a $1 million increase for student aid. Higher education research grants would be reduced $23 million in Texas.

Direct federal assistance to local governments would be down $111 million for employment and training, down $19 million for economic and regional development, down $32 million for urban development and down $26 million for mass transit.

On other matters the governor:

— Said the "tent program" to ease crowded conditions in the state prison system was well underway with 102 large tents delivered to prison sites, accompanied by a National Guard colonel and major to furnish advice. More than 100 low-risk prisoners have been approved for transfer to halfway homes next week, he said.

— Said he felt the House passage of a bill that would repeal Texas' law against free education of alien children was "not timely." He said he wished the sponsors had waited until the state's appeal of the federal court order had been completed. He said he has not decided if he will veto the bill if it is approved by the Senate.

—Said he had not decided if he would support measures giving Prairie View A&M money from the Permanent University Fund. "I want to see the final result of those negotiations and see just how much Prairie View would get," he said.

Governor Signs Bill On Parole

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Gov. Bill Clements signed into law Thursday a bill that would tighten his control over parole and eliminate the independence of Texas' six parole commissioners.

The bill would relegate the six parole commissioners to employees of the three-member Board of Pardons and Paroles. The governor, rather than the members, would designate the chairman and vice chairman of the board.

Rivets Come By Millions

BIRMINGHAM, England (AP) — Millions of rivets weekly are pouring off the line here at the world's first automated fastener factory.

The computer-controlled plant produces five sizes of aluminum rivets. According to its designer, Emhart's Tucker Fastener unit, the rivets are untouched by human hands from raw material to sealed carton.

The automated plant is expected to increase productivity by 50 percent over conventional methods.

The company estimates some 15 billion rivets are used annually worldwide.
