Senate Okays Measure Giving More Power To FDR

About The New Deal:

President Roosevelt's Own Story

ARTICLE NO. 5: DETAILS OF THE WORKINGS OF THE CCC

Editor's Introductory Note

(The Civilian Conservation corps was evolved before it was named. The idea was mentioned in President Roosevelt's first inaugural address. It was one of the New Deal's first constructive measures of the "Hundred Days" of 1933, most of which were concentrated upon emergency remedies rather than permanent legislation.

(It was also the first New Deal agency to receive a popular alphabetical nickname — the "C.C.C."— and is one of the few admittedly without precedent, for reclaiming idle young men and neglected public lands with one stroke.

(The President's recommendation for the C.C.C. was sent to Congress March 21, 1933, and authority granted ten days later. Organization of the corps was carried out by a rapid series of executive orders, the first on April 5.

(In the following notes written for his volume of "Public Papers and Addresses," hitherto unpublished, the President tells of this great peace time mobilization of 1933.)

IN THE spring of 1933 hundreds of thousands of young men who had just reached an employable age found themselves in a tragic plight. Imbued with ambition and idealism, they sought a place in the world, but were denied it by an economic situation over which they had no control whatever.

More than one-half of these young men came from congested areas of our cities, and almost all of them were expected to lend some aid toward the support of their families. Their willingness to work was of no help, for no opportunities to work could be found. Discouragement and defeat could only lead them from despair into serious anti-social paths.

Resources Needed Help

At the same time our natural resources of all kinds had been allowed to fall into a sad state of neglect. Our forests, soil and water resources were continuing to be rapidly depleted. Destructive forest fires were continuing to take a toll of millions of acres of timber land each year. Soil wastage and disastrous floods were constantly causing enormous damage.

Both to save a generation of upright and eager young men and to help save and restore our threatened natural resources, I had determined even before inauguration to take as many of these young men as we could off the city street corners and place them in the woods at healthful employment and sufficient wage so that their families might also be benefited by their employment.

I called attention in my inaugural address to the possibility of providing this healthful employment, and at the same time doing something to prevent the destruction of these natural resources.

Four Departments Active

In conjunction with the Departments of War, Interior, Agriculture, and Labor, plans were made for carrying this into effect. Before the end of March a bill was passed.

It gave authority to the President to employ unemployed citizens to carry on works of a public nature in lands belonging to the United States or to the several states, for "the prevention of forest fires, floods and soil erosion, plant pest and disease control, the construction, maintenance or repair of paths, trails and fire lanes," and any incidental work.

The act also provided that the President might extend the work into privately and municipally owned lands when in the public interest.

Acting promptly upon this authority, I issued an executive order on April 5, 1933, setting up the Civilian Conservation corps. Robert Fechner was named the director and is still the director.

Advisory Council

AN advisory council named in the order was to obtain for the director the assistance and continued cooperation of the four government departments which have been used in the launching and subsequent operation of the program—War, Interior, Agriculture and Labor.

For a successful program it was necessary that camps be established quickly and be extended throughout the Nation; that worthwhile projects be planned, with careful and efficient supervision of all work done. It was necessary also speedily to set up machinery for the rapid selection

Drastic Plan Of Reorganization Gets Approval

Attempt To Hurry Measure To White House By Short Cut Fails; Substitute Beaten

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, March 28.—The bill clothing President Roosevelt with power to revamp the executive branch of the government passed the senate today, 49 to 42, but an attempt to hurry it to the White House by a short cut failed.

While administration forces were exchanging congratulations over the bill's passage, Senator Clark (D-Mo), son of the famous one-time speaker of the house of representatives, upset their further plans.

Substitute Is Offered

Senator Byrnes (D-SC), floor manager for the administration measure, tried to substitute the senate bill for a previously passed house bill setting up a federal department of welfare.

Although the house bill embodied only one part of the broad reorganization bill approved by the senate, approval of Byrnes' motion would have sent the entire reorganization program to a house and senate conference committee for adjustment of differences. This would have denied the house an opportunity for full consideration and debate.

Clark Wins Ruling

Clark blocked Byrnes' motion with an objection, but Byrnes later renewed his proposal. Clark then won a ruling from Senator Pittman (D-Nev), who was presiding, that the motion was debatable.

In hurried conference, Clark and other foes of the reorganization measure rallied their forces for prolonged debate. Clark threatened to try to attach the controversial anti-lynching bill to the reorganization measure.

Faced with indefinite delay, Byrnes quickly withdrew his motion.

Clark and other foes of the bill expressed satisfaction that they had forced house consideration.

Motion To Shelve Defeated

Before passing the bill, the senate voted 48 to 43 against a motion to shelve it in committee.

Senator Bulkley (D-Ohio) was

Trio Sentenced In Theft Cases

(Special To The Avalanche)

LEVELLAND, March 28.—Vernon Newsome, Odell Newsom, and Lawrence Tidwell, charged by indictment with theft over $50, today entered pleas of guilty before Judge E. L. Pitts of 99th district court, sitting for Judge Daniel A. Blair of 72nd district court.

Judge Blair was called out of town because of the death of a relative.

Two-Year Sentences

Judge Pitts sentenced the three men to two years in the state penitentiary. Both Odell and Vernon Newsom were charged in two indictments.

The three were transferred here today by Grady Harrist, Lubbock county deputy sheriff, Mannie Gault, ranger, and John Keller, of the highway patrol from the Lubbock county jail.

Theft Case Up Today

A charge by indictment of theft by conversion against Manion Rice will be heard Tuesday, according to Burton S. Burks, district attorney. Victor H. Lindsey, assistant district attorney, aided Burks in the prosecution.

Specially set for Thursday morning is a murder case against Jessie Wilson, negro charged with the slaying of another negro.

Treasury Declines To Pay A Million For Perfect Corn

WASHINGTON, March 28. (AP)—The treasury declined today to send $1,000,000 to a resident of a Kentucky poor farm for a perfect ear of corn.

He had written treasury officials he understood the treasury would pay $1,000,000 for a perfect ear of corn, each row having the same number of kernels.

"I think I have found it," he wrote, "so will be looking for a check soon."

The perfect ear of corn accompanied his letter.

Messenger Boy Is Victim Of Armed Hijacker When Fake Call Is Received

WILBUR WARREN, about 16, of 1312 Nineteenth street, Western Union delivery boy, about 9:30 o'clock Monday night was confronted by an armed hijacker in the 500-block Fourteenth street and was robbed of $4.66.

Mark Halsey Drug store received a telephone call to deliver a quantity of menthol and a package of cough-drops to a fictitious address in the 400-block Fourteenth street and to send change for $5.

A Western Union boy was called to make the delivery and found there was no such address. On his return a white man, description of whom was given to police, took the $4.66 in change at point of a gun and let Wilbur return to the drug store with the menthol and cough drops.

The messenger boy said the man first drew a large gun, returned it to a shoulder holster, then produced a small automatic from his pocket. The holdup was between Avenues D and E on Fourteenth street.

The call to the drug store was over a pay telephone, and officers were working in tracing the call.

Savings For Texas Gas Users Urged

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, March 28.—Alfred M. Scott, assistant Texas attorney general, told the supreme court today that if it would sustain a decision of the Texas court of civil appeals on a gas rate case, consumers in 275 Texas cities would be saved $1,250,000 annually.

He was replying to an argument by Charles L. Black of Austin, counsel for the Lone Star Gas company, who challenged the right of the Texas railroad commission to order the company to reduce its rates from 40 cents to 32 cents per thousand cubic feet.

No Right To Interfere

Black contended that since pipe lines from a Texas Panhandle field traversed a part of Oklahoma, where it served 26 towns, before reentering Texas, the gas was transported in interstate commerce and that the state commission had no right to regulate the rates. He declared some gas produced in Oklahoma was comingled with the Panhandle gas before continuing to the Texas border.

Scott declared the transporation of the gas from the fields to the 275 Texas cities was not in any commerce, because the pipe line company and the Lone Star Gas corporation from which the gas was obtained were "interlocking and integrated concerns."

No Commerce In Gas

"We contend there was no transaction, other than bookkeeping, involved," said Scott. "Therefore there was no commerce in the gas. It was like a man taking money from one pocket and putting it into another. There is no dispute that the Lone Star Gas company is a subsidiary of the Lone Star Gas corporation, and that the stockholders are 99 per cent identical."

Counsel for the gas company claimed that the reduction, ordered in 1933 but not put in effect, would be "confiscatory" because it would not yield them enough return on their investment. Black said it would cost $73,983,405 to reproduce the company's properties and that the rates should be assessed on that valuation.

Actual Cost Given

Scott contended the property actually cost the company $46,246,617 and that the rates should be figured accordingly.

The court is expected to reach a decision on the case before the summer recess. If the commission wins, refunds will be made covering the period since the reductions were ordered. No estimate of the amount of refund probably could be given, Scott said, because it would vary with arrangements made in various cities as to registering consumption.

"Little Miss Lubbock" Being Chosen In Legion Contest

A contest to select "Little Miss Lubbock" from 50 contestants ranging in ages from 9 to 13 is being sponsored by the American Legion auxiliary of Allen Bros. Post.

Voting began at 4 o'clock Monday afternoon and will continue until Thursday afternoon.

The purpose of the contest is to obtain funds for rehabilitation and child welfare work.

Winner of the title, "Little Miss Lubbock," will be presented with a diamond ring.

A theater party will be given for all contestants Friday afternoon.

Writer Of Aviation Subjects Is Killed In Plane Crash

LONDON, March 28. (AP)—A. E. Barlow, writer of aviation subjects, was drowned today when a Royal Airforce seaplane crashed at sea during combined naval and aviation maneuvers off the Isle of Wight.

The fate of the plane's crew of six was not immediately learned.

The maneuvers were to test the value of aircraft in defending the British Isles against a raiding fleet.

Famous Figure Of World War Days Is Dead

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, March 28—Colonel Edward Mandell House, a gray, silent little Texan who once was one of the world's most mysterious powerful figures as the closest confidant of Woodrow Wilson, died today.

His death came at 79, after a long illness, in the quiet old town house here to which he had retired in sorrow after his break with Wilson, a break which ended a friendship without parellel in American politics.

"No Fuss And Feathers"

Shy all his life—in possession though he was of almost as many great state secrets of the World war periods as any president, minister or king—House had said many times that he wanted no" fuss and feathers" when he was gone.

His family made clear his wishes would be followed. There will be no services here. The body will be taken to Houston, Colonel House's birth place.

His widow, the former Lucille Hunter of Austin, Tex., had known for weeks that his death was but a matter of time. She was with him when he died, as were a daughter, Mrs. Gordon Auchincloss, and her husband, a New York attorney. Another daughter is Mrs. Randolph Tucker of Boston.

Colonel House began early in his life his strange career as a half-

Austro-German Union Branded Great Miracle

Kurt Schuschnigg Is Called A Traitor To German Cause As Hitler Opens New Attack

(By The Associated Press)

BERLIN, March 28.—Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler tonight acclaimed Austro-German union as the greatest miracle in German history and the new nation as the strongest Germany that ever existed.

Speaking to a cheering throng in the sports palace, he ruthlessly denounced former Chancellor Kurt Schuschnigg of Austria as a traitor to the German cause.

Crowd Howls For Scalp

As each oratorical blow struck home, the crowd howled:

Hang him!" "Kill him!".

Hitler's speech was the third he has delivered in the campaign for the April 10 plebiscite on Austro-German union.

He concluded with a vigorous appeal for an affirmative vote in the plebiscite.

"On March 13 the greater Germany was created," he declared. "On April 10 it will be substantiated."

Given Fair Warning

Justifying his swift military solution of the Austrian dispute, Hitler said he warned Schuschnigg plainly enough in their conference at Berchteskaden Feb. 12.

"Was I not right to tell him 'look here, sir, this cannot go on forever. You are sowing the wind and some day you will reap the hurricane ...'?" he asked.

"I gave him the chance of his life. He could have made good his past mistakes.

"But he did not want to.

Prepared Own Destiny

"He choose the opposite course and prepared his own destiny. It was the worst mistake of his life....

"A man who has been oppressing a people for years gets one more chance to mend his ways. He rejects it, commences with a new treason, attempts to establish an alibi in the eyes of the world for this treason ... and, on the very same day this swindle is scheduled to materialize, this man has vanished and his state no longer exists."

Huge Neon Sign To Be Erected

Members of the senior class at Texas Technological college voted Monday night to erect a "Double T" neon sign as a parting gift to the school. The sign will be second largest neon lettering in the world.

Contract for construction probably will be let this week, announced Paul White, president. The gift committee, composed of Reginald Jordan, Doris Jobe, and Clarence Rannefield, will meet Wednesday night to complete details, White said.

To Make Assessments

The approximately 100 members attending the session voted to assess each June and August graduate $2.50 for erection of the "Double T."

The 16-foot sign will be exceeded only by the huge neon lettering on the RCA building in New York.

Rites For Victim Of Auto Crash Held; Three Other Persons Die In Accident

(Special To The Avalanche)

TAHOKA, March 28.—One of the victims of a head-on automobile crash six miles south of here about 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon which killed four and injured six, was buried here this afternoon.

Jay Reid, 21, son of J. F. Reid, living on the Carver farm, was buried after sevices at the First Baptist church conducted by Rev. George Dale, pastor. Reid died of a crushed skull and broken neck.

Three Others Killed

The other three killed and for whom funeral arrangements had not been completed, were:

Delma Carver, 14, daughter of W. C. Carver of three miles south of Tahoka and a seventh grade pupil at Tahoka. Her neck was broken.

Ethelda Schaefer, 14, daughter of G. C. Schaefer, of a mile north of Tahoka, an eighth grade pupil. Her neck was broken and her face lacerated.

Johnny Lane, 16 or 17, son of J. L. Lane of Tahoka, a ninth grade pupil. His body was mutilated more than any of the others.

Lane's Body To Haskell

Lane's body was sent to Haskell, former home of the Lane family, for funeral services. Last rites for the other two victims will be conducted here, said Harris Funeral home.

Tahoka schools were dismissed in tribute to the three who were killed. Bodies of the dead, authorities said, were "horribly" mutilated.

Nine of the dead and injured, ranging in ages from 14 to 21, were crowded into one car—a Ford coach. Four of the injured were rushed to Lubbock sanitarium at Lubbock.

The Injured Persons

The injured persons taken to the sanitarium and their conditions late tonight were:

Mrs. L. J. Barrett, 37, of 18 miles southwest of Tahoka, remained "very serious and near critical." She was alone in one of the automobiles. Her injuries included a pierced right lung, fractured hip, fractured nose, broken ribs, fractured right leg, body lacerations and bruises.

Norman Carver, 18, brother of Delma and driver of the Ford car; head injuries, cuts and bruises, possible fractured pelvis; condition satisfactory.

Dorothy Holland, 14, of Tahoka,

Community Near Texarkana Is In Path; Both Victims Are Children; Winds In Texas

(By The Associated Press)

TEXARKANA, Ark., March 28.—At least two persons were killed and ten injured tonight when a tornado struck a farming community four miles northeast of here.

The swirling storm roared in from the northwest shortly after 7 p. m., accompanied by heavy rain and electrical display. It cleared a half-mile path some 200 feet wide. A hurried survey showed four homes demolished and power and telephone lines levelled.

Both Victims Children

"Both victims were children. They were Billy Ray Davis, two-year-old son of Mrs. Vemia Davis, and [illegible] year-old Charles Barnett.

Mr.. Davis was listed among [illegible] injured as were the parents of Barnett child. Mr. and Mrs. [illegible] Barnett, and two other members of their family, a two-year-old [illegible] and a 16-year-old daughter.

The storm hampered highway traffic and stalled many automobiles. Leonard Jackson, Wat[illegible] Ark., was injured when his [illegible] was blown off the road and [illegible] turned.

High Winds Sweep Texas; Rain Causes Streams To Overflow

(By The Associated Press)

Heavy rains flooded streams, high winds damaged property in North Texas Monday.

The west half of Gainesville baseball park grandstand collapsed during a storm which uprooted trees there. Elm creek left its banks and entered Leonard park. A further rise was expected due to a heavy rain at Muenster, northwest of Gainesville, and livestock was being moved from nearby lowlands. Rainfall at Gainesville had totaled 3 inches since Saturday.

Storm At Weatherford

Outbuildings were damaged, trees blown down and orchards whipped by a windstorm at Weatherford where nearly 6 inches of rain had fallen since Saturday.

Creeks were out of their banks following further rain in the Corsicana section but no damage was reported.

The sun shone Monday afternoon at Olney and Electra where heavy rains had fallen during the weekend.

Traffic Is Resumed

Traffic was resumed near Denton over a trestle which collapsed Sunday night, plunged the engine and two cars of a passenger train, the Katy Flyer, into a creek bed. Three trainmen and a woman passenger, Mrs. Liza Jane Hooper, 90, of Beaumont, were injured.

At Gainesville, traffic was halted briefly as Elm Creek poured over U. S. highway 77 for a distance of 300 yards. Creek bank homes were evacuated and residents waded

Uncle Sam Strikes Back At Mexico

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, March 28.—The United States, having closed its own markets to Mexican silver following the Mexican government's seizure of American oil properties, took action today which will make it difficult for Mexico to sell the metal elsewhere in the world.

The American treasury, which virtually dictates world silver prices, lowered its bid for foreign metal for the first time in more than two years. It reduced its price from 45 to 44 cents an ounce.

To Weaken Market

Well-informed persons said this indication of lessening American support probably would weaken the world silver market so that Mexico could sell silver abroad only at sacrifice prices.

Treasury officials declined to say why they lowered the price, but a spokesman acknowledged it was "significant" that the change was the first since January 20, 1936 and that this was the first time the United States had not stood firm when the London silver market showed signs of weakening. The London price declined 1.7 cents today.

Thus, the United States apparently reinforced its hand in dealing with Mexico regarding the expropriation of American oil properties and the raising of tariff barriers

Kitten With Eight Feet And Legs Is Born To A Proud Persian Mother In City

A Persian pussy cat belonging to Miss Laverne Arrington of 902 Avenue R is the proud mother of a three-day-old kitten with eight feet and legs. The kitten was born Saturday along with four more.

"It has two extra hind legs just in front of its normal hind legs and two extra front ones between its two normal front ones," Miss Arrington said. The two extra front legs are grown together, but the feet are separate and are fully equipped wih claws.

The freak's brothers and sisters are normal and the whole family apparently is in a satisfactory condition, it was reported Monday night. Miss Arrington said the kitten had not yet opened its eyes to discover its spares.

YOUTH AT THE WHEEL

THE tragedy near Tahoka Sunday afternoon is another sorrowful reminder that death rides our highways and parents and teachers should renew their efforts in warning youth of the dangers of driving. No matter how thoroughgoing the enforcement of the law, the final extent of safety on the streets and the highways eventually devolves on the drivers themselves.

We venture the assertion few young folk ever leave home for any distance without a warning from their mothers to "please drive carefully" and an additional warning from their fathers, particularly if they have the family car. We know, too, many mothers sleep fitfully until they hear the garage door pulled shut and know their youngsters are home once more. This may sound foolish to some people but we heard a state highway patrol officer state whenever he tells any member of his family goodbye when either he or they leave for an automobile trip he does so with the feeling it is likely they may never see each other again.

It seems a pity that car riding, which should be a pleasure, has come to mean a burden. How may it be solved? The best method of preventing traffic accidents we are told by officials is for each motorist to consider his position and that of the other fellow and to carefully observe traffic statutes.

KNOW ANY VETERANS

DO YOU know of any Civil war veterans who have moved here in recent years and whose names may not be on local rolls? Judge W. D. Crump of Shallowater plans to attend the reunion of the Blue and the Gray in Gettysburg in July and he is wondering if there are others who might go. Transportation of the veterans and their male companions will be paid to and from the reunion.

If you do know of these former soldiers won't you give their names to either the society desk or Mr Crump? The committee wants the list of those who plan to attend early in April.

ARE YOU COLLECTING?

HAVE you decided on your gifts for the Yaquis Indians? We mentioned Sunday a Lubbock party, headed by Dr. W. C. Holden of Texas Technological college, plans to leave for the Mexican country April 9. It's the third trip down there and many of the natives will be expecting something in the way of a remembrance. Let's help to give Santa Claus to them.

Naturally they love color and if you'll dig in your attic or basement trunks you'll probably come across dresses, scarfs, sweaters that would gladden the heart of some young Indian. Books, with pictures, and colored magazines will be accepted and costume jewelry, that you have discarded, will not be dated for the Yaquis.

Dr. Holden doesn't want junk. This isn't an opportunity to get rid of bridge favors, coupon prizes and impossible Christmas, wedding and graduation gifts. The Yaquis may not be civilized in the proper sense of the word but even a heathen wouldn't like some of the articles people usually pile together and offer in the sweet name of charity.

Your contribution may be brought to the West Texas Museum on Tech campus any day between 9 a. m. and 5 p. m.

Perhaps these colored symphonies aren't for children. Children like mystical figures but they like them kind and funny. After watching a small child approach hysteria over a purple centipede chasing an onion, we decided something might be done to improve the pictures.

Forty-Eight Women Of HD Clubs Meet

Forty-eight women, representing all 15 home demonstration clubs in Lubbock county, attended a county home demonstration council meeting in the district court room Saturday.

Mrs. J. H. Barnett of Broadview club, Lubbock county delegate to a district home demonstration meeting in Lubbock March 12, reported the meeting, and Mrs. John King of Becton, county chairman of girls' 4-H club sponsors, reported activities of the 14 girls' clubs in the county. Mrs. P. M. Wheatley of Slaton was appointed council reporter.

To Form Club

It was announced that a home demonstration club will be organized at County Line Wednesday. The county agent, Miss Clara Pratt, said each club will be expected to have at least ten entries in the annual dairy show to be held this spring at Plainview. Subject of the Lubbock exhibit at the show will be "Build Beautiful Teeth Through Farm Products".

Meetings of 15 club presidents and of 18 club reporters followed the council meeting. Miss Margaret Turner, Avalanche-Journal woman's editor, addressed the reporters on "How To Write Club Reports for the Press".

Club Projects

Lubbock county home demonstration clubs are studying the art of baking sponge and angel food cakes at current meetings.

"Sponge cakes are made without added fat. This has a definite effect on the finished product and probably is partially responsible for the idea that they are difficult to make," Miss Clara Pratt told the Shallowater club at a recent meeting in the club kitchen with Mesdames W. W. Stanton, E. L. Corley and Henry Mahoney as hostesses.

"If the oven is over-heated the eggs will bake too fast, causing the cake to be tough, elastic and somewhat unpalatable," Miss Pratt said.

Attending were Mesdames Bob Crump, H. V. Newman, S. H. Robinson, H. L. Gentry, E. L. Farr, C. W. Irard, A. C. Wright, J. C. Hamblin, F. C. Hought, Edd Edwards and Miss Mamie Crump.

At Broadview Meet

"A cracked crust on an angel food cake may be occasioned by too stiff a mixture, over beating of the batter, careless mixing of ingredients or an over-heated oven," the county demonstration agent warned members of the Broadview club at a meeting Friday afternoon in the home of Mrs. E. Renfro. Mrs. W. D. Benson, jr., assisted her mother in serving a salad plate.

The club voted to change meeting dates from second and fourth Fridays to first and third Tuesdays. Mrs. M. E. Floyd, who recently celebrated her ninety-first birthday, was presented with a pot plant. Mrs. Irvin Cooper and Mrs. J. H. Barnett reported a district meeting.

Others present were Mesdames C. C. Verett, C. G. Wilkinson, S. C. Hill, D. N. Stokes, Miss Evelyn Cooper, guests, Mrs. Marvin Stockton, a new member, and Mesdames P. M. Roberson, W. E. Kirby, C. L. Simkins, Will Stacy, D. D. Stacy and O. R. Hines.

In Harmon Home

"Cream of tarter is added to angel food cake primarily to prevent shrinkage during and immediately after baking," Miss Pratt told the Idalou Home Demonstration club at its last meeting in the home of Mrs. J. R. Harmon. "It also acts as a bleaching agent," she said.

Refreshments were served to Mesdames R. Ralph Lipscomb, Roy M. Monk, Homer Garrison, guests, and Mrs. Jess Wood, a new member, and Mesdames Frances Raifsnyder, J. A. Wood, G. E. Blanton, O. L. Fleming, G. A. Dennis, L. E. Countess, T. L. Holt, Claude Newton, H. E. Graves, T. A. Peel, J. C. Newton and A. P. Gallatin.

"Getting Our Money's Worth" was the theme of a program given at a meeting of the Hardy Home Demonstration club Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. George Blackmon. Emphasis was placed on buying correct shoes for all members of the family.

Attending were Mesdames A. C. Woodruff, F. Y. Henderson, A. R. Shipp, Dolphus Brown, Clyde Fowler, J. A. Brown, E. R. Evans, Fred Worsham and L. M. Allman.

First Presbyterian Auxiliary Concludes Successful Year Monday

Officers Installed And Report Heard

A successful year's work was concluded by the First Presbyterian Woman's auxiliary at the church Monday afternoon. An interesting program conducted by the retiring president, Mrs. S. C. Wilson, was presented.

Mrs. Wilson reported activities and accomplishments of the year and conducted an inspirational service. Retiring officers presented "silver" keys to their successors. Each key bore scripture passage appropriate to the donor's office.

Following the presentation was installation of officers conducted by Dr. Jack M. Lewis. The program was interspersed with group singing, the closing hymn being "A Charge To Keep I Have."

Circle 6 Host

Circle 6, of which Mrs. G. W. McCleary is retiring chairman, was host for refreshments. The tea table, at which Mrs. Wilson and Mrs. McCleary presided, was decorated with lilacs and yellow candles. Yellow and green mints and cream cheese sandwiches were served. Eighty persons were present.

Concluded with the past year's program was a 25th anniversary celebration of the Assembly W.M.S. Blue and silver colors of the celebration, were featured in the day's program.

Mrs. Wilson's report showed that more money had been raised and more contributions of benevolent causes had been made by the local auxiliary than ever before. Outstanding accomplishments of the auxiliary include entire support of an orphan boy in the Files Valley home, remodeling of the church kitchen, a missionary offering of $125 more than the amount pledged and a special offering sent to Dallas for ministerial relief.

These Retire

Retiring officers and their successors (named second) are: President, Mrs. Wilson, Mrs. S. T. Hodges; treasurer, Mrs. J. W. Wilson, Mrs. R. W. Badger; secretary of foreign missions, Mrs. W. L. Three Young Men Executed In Death House In Pennsylvania

BELLEFONTE, Pa., March 28. (AP) —Three young men died in Rockview prison's death house within 11 minutes early today, the first triple execution in Pennsylvania in four years.

They were Ralph Hawk, 21-year-old Franklin county farmer convicted of the "torch slaying" of his sweetheart's mother and sister; and two desperadoes, Fred Reibaldi, 27, and Albert Gregg, 32, both of Philadelphia, convicted of murder.

Hawk confessed that he burned to death Mrs. Hazel Gelwix and her daughter, Helen, 15, and unsuccessfully sought to kill his fiancee, Kathryn Gelwix, in an attempt to escape marriage. Kathryn disclosed at the trial she was to become a mother.

ROBINS JUMP GUN

DENVER (AP) — Out west, there won't be a "first robin" next spring.

For robins, in great numbers, already have "arrived."

They were first reported in southern Colorado late in December; in northern Colorado about January 1 and then in Wyoming and Montana.

Ornithologists disagreed on why so many of the birds were so far north in the middle of winter.

Motion Picture Is Feature At School

"The Other Fellow," a motion picture, was the feature of the third meeting of the traffic safety school sponsored by Lubbock Safety council at Junior High school auditorium at 7:30 o'clock Monday night.

F. L. McRee, associate professor of civil engineering at Texas Technological college and instructor of the school, led the discussion of a questionnaire, "Physical, Mental and Emotional Characteristics of the Driver."

Bulletins Distributed

Bulletins, concerning problems of safety, published by the American Automobile association, were distributed to those attending. The information was compiled by experts who study the problems of safety thoughout the United States.

According to the discussion, 50 miles an hour is the maximum speed of safety under the most favorable weather conditions. Speeds exceeding this mark are never considered safe.

A list of items including use of alcohol, physical defects, advanced age, bad judgment, lack of patience, drowsiness, and conceit were named as factors in the majority of accidents.

Rainfall Benefits Entire Section

Week-end rainfall that ranged from showers to more than an inch materially benefitted the South Plains.

Wheat, especially, was aided, said farmers. In some sections the top crust had been reported drying, because of March's high winds and removal of moisture by fast-growing wheat.

Sunday night's rainfall as reported by the state experiment substation was .18 of an inch, with a total of .37 of an inch for the week-end, Saturday and Sunday.

Maximum temperature Sunday was 4? degrees, with a minimum of 39 Monday morning.

Fort Worth and Denver dispatchers reported the following moistures: Hart, half inch; Dimmitt, quarter; Silverton, one and a half; Sterley, half; Lockney, half; Petersburg, quarter.

New Japanese-Dominated Government For Conquered China Is Being Set Up

Chinese Report Big Successes

SHANGHAI, March 29. (Tuesday) Chinese reported striking military successes in Shantung, Shansi and Anhwei provinces today while a new Japanese-dominated government for the conquered areas of Central China started functioning in Nanking.

The government, Chinese in personnel but sponsored by the Japanese, was inaugurated yesterday amid chanting of a new "national anthem" and parading, stage managed by Japanese.

Masayuki Tani, Japan's ambassador-at-large in China, said it was needed to save the people from "maladministration and anarchy" and congratulated "the four hundred million people of China on the birth of a New China."

Head of the new regime is Liang Hung-Tze, secretary-general of the Chinese government at Peiping (then Peking) in 1924-25. Like Wang Keh-Min, head of the Japanese-sponsored provisional government set up at Peiping earlier this year, Liang and most of his Nanking ministers were officials of Chinese governments before the nationalist revolution of 1926-28.

Relations Are Unknown

It was not stated what the relations would be between the Nanking and Peiping regimes, but a recent Japanese declaration said the Nanking government would be "under the umbrella" of that in Peiping.

Victories reported by the Chinese were scattered over the whole Central China front, the chief ones being at Lincheng, Tsaochwang, and Tsining in southwestern Shantung, Pinglu and Fenkiu on the north bank of the Yellow river and Kwangteh in east Anhwei.

Retreats Strategic

These reports were denied by a Japanese army spokesman. He stated that the retreats, if any, had been strategic and not compulsory.

Foreign observers were agreed, however, that the Chinese counter thrusts were producing one of the most intensive and most unrelenting battles of the war.

Reports from Hankow, provisional Chinese capital, said Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek had flown to the central battle front to take personal charge of the drive.

Forty truck loads of dead Japanese soldiers arrived in Shanghai—evidence that the Japanese have have been suffering heavy losses in recent battles.

Japanese reported they had killed 2,500 Chinese in a major engagement in northwestern Shansi, east of Hoku.

Ten Wives Provide Problem For Cop

TOKYO, March 28. (AP)—Ten wives in a bath house provided a problem for a lone policeman today.

A melee was started between two patrons whose husbands are rival bakers. One "accidentally" sloshed water over the other's elaborate coiffure.

The victim grabbed a small wooden tub and hurled it at the slosher but stepped on a cake of soap, slipped and hit another woman in the eye.

The latter yelled "who did that?" and grabbed a bystander by the hair. The bystander's sister joined in. The strife spread.

The manager rushed in to restore order, but the women pushed him into a tub.

He called the policeman, who heard all the complaints, suggested everyone say "pardon me" and bow round robin.

Peace was restored.

Traffic Deaths Show Decline

CHICAGO, March 28. (AP) Automobile traffic fatalities in the United States, for the fourth consecutive month, showed a decrease in February, the National Safety Council announced today.

Following an all-time high in 1937 of 39,700 deaths, the council reported safer driving during February brought about a 16 per cent reduction in fatalities compared with February, 1937, and 20 per cent less than January of this year.

The council said this encouraging trend in traffic deaths meant a cumulative saving of nearly 1,800 lives since last November when the decline began. There were 2,180 deaths reported for February, 420 less than the corresponding period last year. Deaths in January were 520 less than in January, 1937.

More Than Seasonal Drop

The February decline, the council report set forth, was more than a seasonal drop, since in the average year the February total was only 16 per cent below that of January.

Nine eastern states reported a 24 per cent reduction, while three west coast states had a 16 per cent decline.

Among states reporting noticeable decreases for the two month period were Oklahoma, 32 per cent, Nebraska, 23; Colorado, 19; California, 18; New Mexico, 12; Texas, 9.

Bandits Escape With Jewelry

WOOLSBURGH, N. Y., March 28. (AP)—A $50,000 Marquis diamond ring flashing on the finger of Sally Milgrim, New York fashion designer, during a night club party in Manhattan, was believed by police today to have drawn four robbers to the Milgrims' home here for a haul of $94,700 in jewels and cash.

The thugs, after binding the Milgrims, their two children, a governess and a man servant, forced Mrs. Milgrim's husband, Charles to disclose the hiding place of his wife's ring by searing the bare soles of his feet with lighted cigarettes.

Threat Is Made

An outcry by Mrs. Milgrim brought a threat to "shut up—or we'll chloroform the whole family." After she screamed Mrs. Milgrim had her mouth stuffed with paper to keep her quiet.

Milgrim withstood the torture of red-glowing cigarette tips on the tender flesh of his feet for several minutes. Finally, in agony, he called out to his wife, held prisoner in another room:

"For God's sake, Sally, tell them where the ring is!"

Mrs. Milgrim pointed to a glove tossed on the top of the dresser in her bedroom, and one of the robbers shook out the glittering ring from its hiding place. They had overlooked it in a painstaking search of the house lasting an hour and 40 minutes.

Evidence that the raiders had spotted Mrs. Milgrim's jewels through a "finger man" at a New York night club was indicated by the fact that the leader of the band roughly asked:. "Where's the big ring."

Freedom Of Press Is Said To Be Threatened By Ordinance

WASHINGTON, March 28. (AP)—The supreme court ruled today an ordinance of Griffin, Ga., requiring persons distributing circulars, or advertisements, to obtain a license from the city manager violated constitutional guarantees of freedom of the press.

Chief Justice Hughes delivered the court's opinion that the ordinance "is invalid on its face."

"Whatever the motive which induced its adoption," the chief justice asserted, "its character is such that it strikes at the very foundation of the freedom of the press by subjecting it to license and censorship. . . . .

"Legislation of the type of the ordinance in question would restore the system of license and censorship in its baldest form."

Important Scientific Discoveries Made By Tech Expedition When Excavating Near Odessa In Ancient Mountain Shelter

Important discoveries were made by a Texas Technological college expedition that returned Sunday night from excavations in the Blue mountains near Odessa.

One disclosed further evidence the southwestern region was inhabited by man 12,000 to 20,000 years ago.

Sponsoring the expedition was West Texas Museum association and directing the work was Dr. William Curry Holden, curator of the association museum here torical, anthropological and social science research at Texas Technological college.

Others Are In Party

Other members of the party, some of whom were there only a portion of the time during the five-day stay, included Dr. C. J. Wagner, president of the museum association; Hubert L. Allen, immediate past president; W G. McMillan, city commissioner, who made motion pictures and "stills" at the scene; E. J. (Pinky) Lowrey, business manager of athletics at Senior High school, who had accompanied Dr. Holden on visits to the shelter which led to the decision to organize the expedition; Miss Frances Campbell, who made water-color paintings of pictographs which had been painted by the ancient people upon walls of the shelter; and six members of the Tech archaeological classes.

Results of the expedition were summarized by Dr. Holden upon the return as being: "We didn't find some of the things we had hoped to find; we found others, important ones, we had not expected to find. Discoveries will justify further exploration, perhaps about next September if an expedition can be arranged."

No Link Was Found

Members of the party had made the trip hoping artifacts would be found linking the ancient Pecos river peoples with the ancient civilizations of the Pueblos in New Mexico. The Pueblo civilization has been dated, and the hope was that relics might be found to make possible the dating of the Pecos tribes.

Nothing was found, Dr. Holden said, to link the inhabitants of the shelter either with the Pecos or with the Pueblos. The negative conclusion is, he added, that the culture of a people not previously known to has been discovered. No evidence was uncovered telling when those tribes might have lived.

The exploration, he added involved the sifting of approximately 15 inches of ashes, charcoal and other evidences of human habitation. Near the bottom of the pile were found, in the same stratum, the fragment of an arrow point of the type made by the Folsom man and several dozen teeth of the Plesistocene horse.

That prehistoric horse, he added, is thought to have roamed the southwest until he became extinct during the last ice age, some 12,000 to 20,000 years ago. The finding of the teeth and of the point, it was explained, would support the conclusion that man and the horse were contemporaneous. That evidence is important, Dr. Holden recalled, because until a few years ago, belief was that man did not appear on the American continent until perhaps 4,000 years ago at the longest.

The teeth were found in strata beneath the ash, charcoal and other indisputable evidences of human habitation. Nature of the deeper formations, he said, was such as to indicate they never had been disturbed. The digging of a trench to a depth of four feet, however, yielded the teeth of the Pleistocene horse and supplied the evidence which already has caused planning for further exploration.

PLENTY OF DENTAL WORK

CHICAGO. (AP)—There are enough cavities in the teeth of the American people to keep the country's 60,000 dentists busy for 100 years, Dr. Haidee Weeks of New Orleans told delegates to the Chicago Dental Society's convention.

To which the doctor added that the missing link between all this potential business and the dentist is educating the people to take the cavities to the dental chair.

WAIT For the New DOUBLE ORANGE

Texas Students Receiving Aid

WASHINGTON, March 28. (AP)—A total of 3,949 students in 85 Texas institutions are listed by Aubrey Williams, executive director of the National Youth administration, as receiving assistance this year under the administration's student aid program.

The national total of students receiving assistance, 75,993 this year, compared with 124,818 during the 1936-37 session, was less because of a "substantial decrease" in appropriations for NYA under the 1937 relief appropriations act, Williams said.

Figures Are Shown

Monthly allotments to Texas this year amounted to $59,235 and the yearly allotments to $533,295, including both college and graduate age, he said.

While the quota of students represents a 39 per cent reduction from last year, reduction by many institutions of the average monthly payment of $15 on which the quotas were based, caused the actual number of students aided in December 1937 to be only 32.6 per cent less, Williams said.

The southernmost point of the United States is at Cape Sable, Fla.

TILLYER LENSES Make

IF you need glasses—you will want the best—then consult your oculist—the medical doctor who examines your eyes for glasses. You will find that he will prescribe Tillyer Lenses and here's the reason why.

With Tillyer Lenses you don't have to strain your eyes or tire your eye muscles trying to look through blurry edges and foggy margins as you do when you wear ordinary lenses. Everything is clear—sharply defined.

Special Announcement

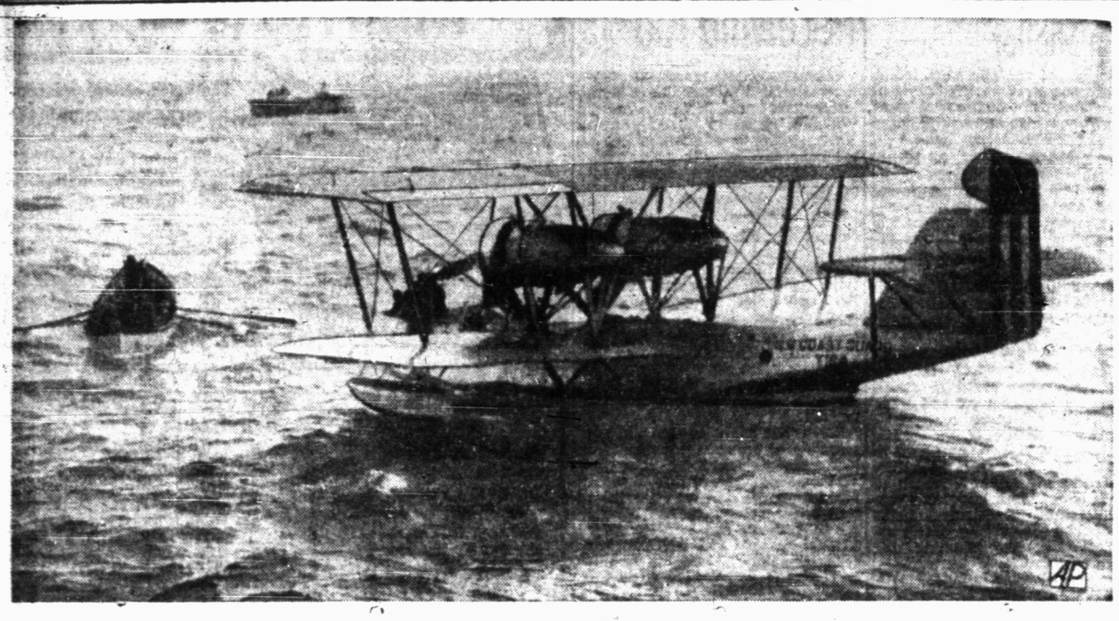

We again announce that Dr. Danz, an artificial eye maker, will be in our office for one day only, Friday, April 1.

Take advantage of this opportunity to have an eye made to match your own which will be life-like in expression.

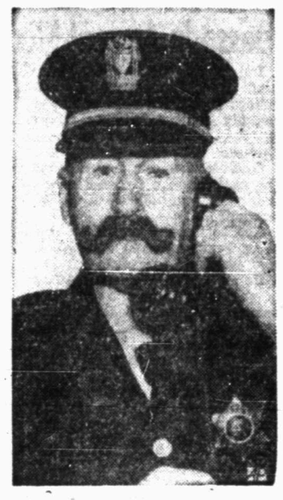

Appointments will be made from 9 A. M. to 6 P. M. Telephone or write for an appointment.

and enrollment of young men and their transportation to camp sites; and to supply all the camps with food, clothes, bedding and all the other supplies needed in the operation of almost 1500 camps containing about 200 men each.

The Department of Labor was charged with the task of selecting the enrollees and sending them to the War department for enrollment. The actual work of selection of men has been carried out in the various states, usually by the state relief and welfare organizations. The Veterans administration was the agency given the task of selecting war veterans.

To the War department was given the job of paying, housing, clothing and feeding the men of the camps.

To the Department of Agriculture and Interior were given the tasks of planning the work projects, recommending camp locations and supervising the work programs.

Every one of these departments cooperated in getting the C.C.C. off to a quick start. Two days after the executive order, the first man was selected by the Department of Labor and enrolled by the War Department. Ten days later the first camp was set up by the War department in George Washington National Forest, Virginia, and work began.

First Enrollment

THE first call for men, issued on April 3, 1933, was for 25,000. For the first year I authorized enrollment of 250,000 juniors and about 25,000 experienced men to be selected from neighborhoods where camps were located. Later, I authorized enrollment of 25,000 veterans of the World war, under regular enrollment conditions but as a separate and distinctive part of the organization.

The cash allowance of each member of the corps was fixed at $30 per month. Enrollments were to be for six months and out of the young man's allowance an allotment was sent to his family, usually $25 of his allowance.

By executive order on June 7, 1933, I provided for pay increases to $36 a month for 8 per cent of the enrollees and $45 per month for 5 per cent, which was recognition for effort and leadership. These men were placed in key positions after gaining the necessary experience.

Rules Govern Eligibility

A total of 1,468 camps was authorized for the first enrollment. The members to be eligible had to be unemployed, unmarried, between the ages of eighteen and twenty-five, of good character and willing to allot to their dependents this substantial portion of their cash allowance.

By early July, three months after the first man had enrolled, 250,000 enrollees, 25,000 war veterans and 25,000 experienced woodsmen were settled in 1,468 forest and park camps of 200 men each, in every state of the nation. It was the most rapid large-scale mobilization of men in our history.

Results Achieved

(Editor's Note — Other executive orders gave the C.C.C. boys work to do by authorizing the purchase of $20,000,000 worth of forest lands, incorporated into such national parks as the Great Smoky Mountains, Shenandoah, and others.

(The President visited some of the camps and addressed the recruits. "I wish I could spend a couple of months here myself," he told one group.)

The Congress had authorized continuation of the Civilian Conservation corps in the first statute for two years. The results of the first three months of the operation of the corps were, however, eagerly awaited by all of us to determine whether or not the results warranted continuation.

I paid a visit to several of the C.C.C. camps in August, 1933. We were all thoroughly satisfied with the results achieved. Plans were made at once to arrange for a second enrollment to begin October 1, 1933.

Now Past Fourth Year

At the time of this writing the C.C.C. has passed the fourth year of its activities. The benefits of this new venture in unemployment relief and conservation work have been apparent on every hand.

At the end of the fourth year it had supplied direct work to almost 2,000,000 people. It had enabled enrollees to contribute $350,000,000 by allotment from their pay toward the support of their dependents. It had supplied purchasing power by buying more than $800,000,000 worth of food-stuffs, wearing apparel, machinery and other supplies.

It had improved the morale and physical health of more than 1,500,000 young men at an age when they might have been forming habits of idleness, which would have affected their entire lives.

The C.C.C. has provided a long-range conservation program, which has enhanced the present and future values of the country's natural resources. It has saved and improved vast areas of forest land; it has helped to control soil erosion, reduce flood damage and increase the recreation facilities of the nation.

The work in forests, parks and fields included forest protection, forest culture, prevention of erosion, reforestation of denuded and burnt-over acres, preservation of the woods from fires, pests and diseases.

Recreation Given Impetus

The work of the C.C.C. has increased recreational opportunities in national parks, government forests, state forests and in state, county and metropolitan parks. Lodges, cabins, trails, museums, lakes, water and sewage systems, picnic and campground developments, and better fishing facilities have all been added for the public's use.

Many thousands of acres of unused public range lands have been reclaimed and improved for grazing.

The C.C.C. has directly assisted in expansion and development of a nationwide system of wild-life refugees without parallel in any other country.

Flood Control Helpful

It has helped in flood control indirectly by controlling erosion and fire, and by planting forests. It has helped directly by building dams and other flood-control projects. It has reclaimed and saved millions of acres of land by its work on drainage.

The greatest and most worthwhile achievement of the corps, however, was the help given to the young men themselves. No one will ever be able to estimate in dollars and cents the value to the men themselves in morale, in health and in adaptability to later competitive life.

Dog Catcher Sings Tale Of Woe When Milk Man Gives Stray Pooch Warning Of Danger

CHICAGO, March 28. (AP)—James Skala, suburban Oak Park's dog catcher, sang this song of woe today:

"I was slinking silently down an alley when I saw a stray pooch. I got out the noose. Nothing was between me and the dog but a milk truck.

"All of a sudden the driver tooted the horn and sang very loudly 'Get along, little dogie, get along.'"

The pup got away but Skala charged milk man Walter Minke with disorderly conduct. Minke protested:

"I was just singing a song. That dog catcher doesn't know a dogie is not a dog but a calf."

Key City To Barcelona Under Siege By Insurgent Troops

WITH THE SPANISH INSURGENTS IN EASTERN SPAIN, Mch. 29. (Tuesday) (AP)—Spanish insurgents early today laid siege to Lerida, Catalonian electric power center and key city to Barcelona, seaport capital of government Spain.

The insurgent command declared previous reports were erroneous that Lerida had been surrendered by its government defenders.

The siege was started by insurgent infantry and artillery which crossed the Cinca river on pontoon bridges and quickly went into action.

Mountain Boy." Dick Griffin, also of the Abilene group, and Boynton Stevenson of the El Paso cast, played above the average in their roles.

All three plays, woven around dramatic stories of half-wit boys, carried difficult roles for practically every member of the casts.

More than 100 reservations had been made last night for a luncheon for directors, players, tournament officials and visitors today noon at the Hilton hotel. Six other schools, Abilene Christian college, Mary Hardin-Baylor college, Southwestern university, the University of Houston, Trinity university and Baylor university, are entered in the tourney. A tea dance is scheduled at the Hilton from 3 until 5 this afternoon.

Plays scheduled for tonight are: "The Drums of Death"—Stone, by Abilene Christian college; "Never Too Old"—Ryerson and Clements by Mary Hardin-Baylor and "The Terrible Meek"—Kennedy by the Univ. of Houston. Other plays will be given Wednesday night by Southwestern, Trinity and Baylor.

Awards are to be made Wednesday night for the first four best casts, best individual actors for men and women, best diction among men and women and the outstanding characterization.

Miss Ruth Pirtle, head of the Texas Tech speech department, welcomed the visitors at the outset of last night's performances. Bernie Howell played the piano during intermissions.

The tournament will close with announcement of awards after Wednesday night's performances. A business session at which next year's tournament site will be selected will be held in the lounge of Doak hall, Wednesday at 11 a. m.

Judges for the tourney are: Mrs. Oma Link Rowley, director of the Amarillo Little Theater; Weldon Stone of the English faculty of Texas A. & M. college and Dr. W. B. Gates of the Tech faculty.

Reorganization

among those who voted to send the bill back to committee, but later voted for its passage.

Bulkley told reporters that, although he thought the bill should have been studied more thoroughly, he saw no reason "for delaying the matter further" after the senate had voted against returning it to committee.

Such veteran senators as Borah (R-Idaho) and Johnson (R-Calif) made final speeches in opposition.

Byrnes and Senator Barkley of Kentucky, the Democratic leader, were among the speakers in behalf of the bill.

Both told the senate that if the measure were pigeon-holed in the committee, year-long efforts to procure government reorganization would be in vain.

In brief, the reorganization bill would give the president authority to reshuffle most federal agencies, create a new welfare department, provide for the appointment of six administrative assistants to the president, substitute a single administrator for the civil service commission and transfer the duties of the comptroller general to the budget director and a new auditor general.

Four Killed In Auto Accident

seventh grade pupil there, a daughter of Sam Holland, county commissionar; left leg crushed below the knee, mouth injured, teeth knocked out, lacerations and bruises; condition satisfactory.

Clarence Overman, 15, of near T-Bar school, nine miles southwest of Tahoka; right leg broken below the knee, head injury, lacerations and bruises; condition satisfactory. He is a nephew of Commissioner Holland.

Others suffering minor injuries were:

Randall Fults, 17, of Tahoka, tenth grade pupil there.

Turner Rogers, 15, son of W. R. Rogers of Tahoka.

Fults and Rogers were treated by physicians in Tahoka.

Reports of the collision as related by Tahoka officers this morning were to the effect the crash occurred while Mrs. Barrett was driving south in a 1938 model Chevrolet and the 1933 Ford coach occupied by the young people was moving north toward Tahoka. Members of the youthful group, officers were informed, had gone to T-Bar community for Overman.

Sheriff B. L. Parker quoted eyewitnesses as relating that something apparently went wrong with the Ford. It suddenly swung to the left side of the road, reports continued, so that the two cars came together almost head-on. Both machines were almost completely demolished, that of Mrs. Barrett having been telescoped.

Those who reached the scene soon after the crash said that scenes of horror greeted them. The body of one of the girls, supposedly that of Miss Schaefer, lay upon a running board of one of the wrecked machines. The body of one of the boys hung grotesquely from one of the shattered windows. Faces, heads and hands of practically all the victims were masks of blood. Groans and screams of the injured and of horrified spectators added to the confusion.

Lubbock Physician Arrives

Dr. J. H. Stiles of Lubbock chanced to be driving near the scene and reached the spot soon after the crash. He immediately began giving first aid while calls were rushed to Tahoka for other doctors and for officers.

Practically every doctor and officer in the town were soon at the scene, and later were joined by J. H. Jackson and T. C. Laws of the Lubbock detail of the state highway patrol.

Young Fults later this morning suggested what officers believed may be the explanation of the cause of the accident.

Might Have Applied Brakes

Recalling that his position in the back seat kept him from seeing what happened, Fults related that the automobile seemed to swerve sharply an instant before the collision. He suggested that sudden application of the brakes may have thrown the car out of control.

Supporting this theory, officers said, is the fact that the collision occurred just beyond a "rise" in the road. Officers theorized that the driver of the car in which the young people were riding may have become suddenly aware of danger.

Three Others Give Details

Three other persons who reached the scene immediately after the crashed also added details to the scenes of horror they found.

Among the first to reach the spot were Mr. and Mrs. Sam Reid of Tahoka. Close behind them was E. L. Smelser, Tahoka truck operator.

Mrs. Reid immediately attempted to give what aid she could to the injured. Reid left her there, and speeded toward Tahoka to seek aid.

Girl Not Killed Instantly

Contrary to first reports, Mrs. Reid related, Miss Schaefer was not killed instantly. Mrs. Reid said she found the girl crushed in the back seat, still alive and still apparently conscious. Suddenly a stream of blood gushed from the girl's mouth. Death followed soon after.

Smelser also attempted to aid the injured. Others came to his assistance so he was not needed there. He then responded to the pleadings of Norman Carver, who was writhing upon the pavement, that someone go for his father. The boy, however, had been started on the trip to Lubbock sanitarium before the father arrived.

Six Persons Are Injured As Flames Rage Through Hotel

MONTREAL, March 28. (Canadian Press)—Fire raged up through the $200,000 Corona hotel early today, driving about 75 scantily clad guests into the cold and causing injuries to six persons.

Firemen hunted through the charred shell of the hotel when the flames had been subdued to make sure that all occupants had been aroused in time to escape.

The played water on the blaze for seven hours before it could be controlled. An adjoining structure, a combined theater and tavern, also burned. Three firemen were injured.

The cause of the fire was not determined.

from tourists camps in knee-deep water. The sun broke through the clouds late in the afternoon there.

Homes Are Damaged

The home of G. W. McFarland was partially unroofed and that of Chandy was moved off its foundation when a small twister swept a 200-foot path three miles west of Honey Grove. Rain there reached a total of more than six inches since Saturday.

Almost an inch of rain fell within 15 minutes at Temple about 4 p. m. Monday. Lightning damaged an automobile driven by Mrs. A. D. Janeway when it struck nearby, but Mrs. Janeway was not injured.

Streams were out of their banks and farm lands reported badly damaged around Italy, Texas, where more than 8 inches of rain fell over a 48-hour period.

Town Is Isolated

Weston, in northern Collin county, was isolated by high water and bridge washouts. A steel span across a creek near Weston still stood, but approaches had been washed away. Long-time residents said the rain was the heaviest in Collin county in many years. Travel east of McKinney over highway 24 was halted Sunday by an overflow of the east fork of the Trinity. More than three inches of rain fell at McKinney.

At Dallas, the Trinity river reached 32.4 feet and a crest of 34 to 35 feet was predicted by early Tuesday. There the sun came out shortly before dusk and skies cleared.

Country roads in river bottoms were under water in places and several state highways were closed north of Dallas. Rainfall there was 1.07 inches, bringing the total for the first three months of the year to 7.55 inches.

Frame Buildings Demolished As Tornadoes Hit Oklahoma

OKLAHOMA CITY, March 28. (AP)—Tornadoes demolished frame buildings at two points in eastern Oklahoma late today as heavy rains swept eastward across the state leaving streams swollen, many roads impassable and wheat fields soaked well enough to withstand the strong winds which ordinarily whip the loose top soil into spring dust clouds.

South of Shawnee, 20 farm families fled their lowland homes as Squirrel creek overflowed.

Eight Persons Injured

At least eight persons, seven of them students at Eastern Oklahoma college, were injured when a tornado struck two sections of Wilburton.

Miss Autrey Morrison and Charles Hazzlett, students, were cut and bruised as the wind smashed windows in the college library. Five students were injured slightly by flying glass when virtually all the windows on the west side of the boys' dormitory were broken. The buildings were not damaged otherwise.

Woman Badly Hurt

Mrs. Pete Worthy, 68, was injured seriously. Hospital attendants said she suffered several broken ribs and possible internal injuries.

Four residences and several garages were demolished and at least 20 other houses were unroofed when the tornado dipped into the city the second time. Fronts of two groceries on the eastern edge of the business district were damaged and a shed at a lumber yard was levelled.

AVON PARK, Fla., March 28. (AP)—After spotting the Toronto Maple Leafs seven runs, the Boston Red Sox closed in such furious fashion today they gained a 13-9 victory over the International leaguers.

House Dies

hidden worker in public affairs. He was active years ago in the Texas political scene and was among the earliest supporters of the first Wilson presidential movement.

Then, he became indisputably the greatest single influence upon the war president, walking softly in and out of the White House with an entree given no other man.

As Wilson's secret emissary, he went to Europe three months before outbreak of the World war in an effort to divert the course of events which he and Wilson knew were pointing toward an explosion.

Talked With Statesmen

He talked to the great statesmen of France and England; he talked to the kaiser in an almost incredible conference, the details of which the world has never learned.

He dreamed of a League of Nations as Wilson had dreamed of it, and he went to Versailles as the president's personal representative to open the historic negotiations among the allied and associated powers which preceded the actual peace conference, to which he was an American delegate.

Thereafter, came the chain of epic defeats that broke the president's league plans, broke his health and—some said—his heart.

Coolness Appears

A coolness appeared in the Wilson-House friendship—"the shadow fell," as the Texan sadly described it, in a separation of "tragic mystery" that he said he never understood.

No other estrangement in American history was more weighted with history. House had urged compromise upon the president's peace treaty plans; the sick man in the White House did not answer his letters. Had the old cordiality lived, the whole course of world events might conceivably have been changed.

against American merchandise. Officials left little doubt this was the purpose, although the only public statement was Secretary Morgenthau's explanation that the United States would discontinue purchases of Mexican silver pending a re-examination of "certain financial and commercial relationships with Mexico."

Mexico has been selling the United States approximately $2,500,000 worth of silver every month for about two years. These sales were important to Mexico because they were one of the principal means by which that nation acquired American money with which to pay for needed foreign goods.

White said he was told. The emblem, which will face east toward the City of Lubbock, will be erected between the new library building and the chemistry building. Educator Says He Owns Gems

DALLAS, March 28. (AP)—Howard Martin, Dallas school principal, in petition filed with District Clerk George Harwood today claimed legal ownership of jewelry found at his residence Friday night by federal agents and Dallas police.

Martin is free on $5,000 bond pending hearing Friday on a habeas corpus writ obtained after he was questioned in connection with a Florida jewel robbery.

Martin's petition listed each article taken and said only 10 of 22 pieces of jewelry were left at his home here by a nephew, Floyd Franklin Martin, ex-convict slain Thursday at Boca Raton, Fla. A policeman said he fired when he interrupted Martin in a burglary.

The educator said the other jewelry was acquired in business transactions or by purchase.

The jewelry was still in the hands of FBI agents. They said it would be turned over to police for examination. Federal agents had announced they had no case against Martin.

Administration Heads Elated At News Of Two Victories

WARM SPRINGS, Ga., March 28 (AP)—News of two administration victories — senate passage of the government reorganization bill and the supreme court ruling in favor of the public utility holding company act—reached President Roosevelt today and temporary White House officials were plainly elated.

The legislative and judicial decisions brought no immediate official comment but there was a possibility the president might have something to say about them at tomorrow's press conference.

Czech Premier Assures People That Nation Is Not Menaced

PRAHA, Czechoslovakia, March 28. (AP)—Premier Milan Hodza tonight assured his nation "Czechoslovakia is stronger today than before the central European crisis" precipitated when Germany annexed Austria.

"There is no international danger, no danger of conflict," he said in a nation-wide broadcast to Czechoslovakians, apprehensive over German ambitions for Czech territory and the agitation of a large German minority for autonomy.

Lubbock's Professional Ball Club Reports Here April 13 For Final Drills

California Nine Plays 2-Game Series Here

By COLLIER PARRIS
Avalanche Sports Editor

Lubbock's first professional baseball club since 1929 will be "at home" on April 12, and will make its debut before the public at the local ball park on Wednesday, April 13, in the first of a two-game series with the California All-Stars.

After that, the professional Hubbers will play two or more exhibition games here before opening their campaign for the West Texas-New Mexico league championship at Clovis on April 27.

This information was divulged by Harry Faulkner, genial general manager of the Hubbers, now in training at Longview, in the course of a league meeting at Big Spring Sunday.

Schedule Is Adopted

A 130-game schedule, to be played in 125 days, was adopted at the Sunday meeting, at which representatives of six clubs posted a total of $3,0000 in guarantee bonds signifying they were definitely ready to begin operations.

Faulkner's Lubbock squad breaks camp from the big gang of White Sox rookies at Longview on April 10, and start westward and play an exhibition game at Wills Point on that day, proceed to Sweetwater for another game on April 11, and roll into Lubbock that night or early on April 12 to begin the home stretch of spring training.

A picked team from the National baseball School of Los Angeles, managed by Jess Orendorf, will come to Lubbock for a two-game series on April 13 and 14.

Faulkner To Name Captain

General Manager Faulkner, who will soon announce his field manager for Lubbock, has asked that a game be arranged for April 20. Invitation, therefore, is extended to clubs of this section which will be active at that time. There is possibility that other exhibition games will be scheduled.

The Hubbers go to Clovis to open the league schedule on Wednesday, April 27, playing two games there. Clovis will be under the management of Josh Billings, former Texas League star hurler, and managed on the field by Dick Ratliff, popular outfield player who has had minor league experience, will return here for the Lubbock opener on Friday, April 29.

Faulkner, and managers of the Longview and Rayne, La., teams, have been administering to a squad of more than 100 rookies for about three weeks. Faulkner, who managed Longview for the past four years, has signed about nine of the "best looking players" to Lubbock contracts, and will select the remainder of the squad this week.

Blanchard Due Here

The Lubbock skipper said that in all probability Lefty Jerry Blanchard, the big southpaw who pitched for Lubbock semi-pro clubs for the past two seasons, would be with the professional team when it came "home" on April 12.

Blanchard was traded by Panama City, Florida, to Tyler of the East Texas League this spring, and then sold to Oklahoma City of the Texas League. Oklahoma City officials, contacted by Faulkner, agreed to let Blanchard go with the Lubbock club on March 31. No papers have been signed, but from all indications, Blanchard will serve as a Lubbock chunker this season.

"Butch" Hillin, younger brother of Oklahoma City's great Ash Hillin, also has been signed by Faulkner for Lubbock service.

Hobbs, N. M., which started and finished the 1937 season in the League, was re-entered and accepted as a full-fledged franchise holder at Sunday's Big Spring meeting. Hobbs replaces Roswell, where managerial problems and misunderstandings resulted in removal of the franchise.

No official action was taken regarding the admission of Hobbs to the league, that having been accomplished, without public knowledge, prior to the confab. There was, however, a considerable amount of verbal skirmishing precipitated by a protest that Roswell had not "withdrawn" from the league, as charged by President Milton Price.

Cash bonds were posted by official representatives of Lubbock, Big Spring, Wink, Midland, Clovis and Hobbs.

Two schedules were submitted, one by Fincher Withers, general manager of the Midland club, a Cardinal farm, and the other by Faulkner. Faulkner's schedule, calling for an equal number of home-and-away games, an even number of Sunday games, was adopted by a 4 to 2 vote of the league representatives.

Milton Price, secretary of the Texas league and president of the West Texas-New Mexico league, occupied the chair, with Bill Collyns, league vice president, of Midland, acting as secretary. All of the six league members were represented, along with Roswell, which operated last year.

Schedule Posted Next Sunday

The official league schedule will be announced publicly next Sunday.

Each club will play 65 games at home, 65 on the road; nine Sundays at home, nine away.

Three of the clubs in the league will operate as "farms" or with working agreements, connected with major league clubs. The Lubbock franchise will be owned and operated by Bob Tarleton, business manager of the Dallas Steers and general manager of the White Sox farm system. The St. Louis Cardinals have a working agreement with Fincher Withers' Midland club. The Detroit Tigers, through their Beaumont, Texas league, farm, will assist the Hobbs entry. Wink, Big Spring and Clovis will operate independently.

Rabe To Manage Hobbs

The Hobbs club is to be managed, on the field, by Neal Rabe, who skippered the Roswell entry last season. Jodie Tate, former Texas league pitcher, remains in charge of the Wink club, which won the pennant last year. Josh Billings, former Dallas catcher, is in charge at Clovis. Fincher Withers, who took over the Hobbs entry last year and finished the season, probably will appoint a field captain at Midland, while Jack Hutcheson, who operated the Monahans franchise last year, will probably do the same at Big Spring.

Argument Over Entry

Much of the time at Sunday's meeting was devoted to argument brought on by Jim Payne, holder of the Roswell franchise last year, regarding the alleged "withdrawal" of Roswell from the league.

Following the posting of forfeit checks, Payne, who is said to have proved unpopular in Roswell as head man of the club, challenged President Price regarding the ignoring of Roswell in previous business of the meeting.

In reply to his question, "Has Roswell been voted out of the league?" Price recalled a telephone conversation he had with Payne earlier this month in which, Price said, Payne agreed to give up the Roswell franchise in the best interests of the league. Price pointed out then that efforts had been made to find a successor, and that Hobbs, which started and finished the 1937 season, had offered to accept the franchise.

Denied Giving Permission

Payne denied having given his permission for such a transfer, insisting that other provisions had been bargained for. But in this "difference of opinion," Price prevailed—for the time being. He pointed out that, following the telephone conversation, he had secured a majority vote of league directors, by mail, ordering the Roswell franchise transferred to Hobbs.

The argument waxed warm for more than an hour, ending when impatient club representatives voted to continue the meeting by considering the schedule drafts.

Hobbs "Detroit Farm"

Hobbs was officially represented by Neal Rabe, selected by responsible parties there and by officials of the Detroit club to manage the Hobbs entry, and by C. L. Clover, formerly connected with semi-pro baseball interests there. Three other Hobbs business men attended the meeting, and gave assurance that the town was ready to back the club and that "everything was set."

Big Spring has broken ground Runyan and Ralph Guldahl of Chicago finished in a tie for third and fourth places with 281 each. They were trailed by two strokes by Denny Shute of West Newton, Mass., the P.G.A. champion who had a total of 283.

Next came Harry Cooper, the bespectacled fellow from Chicopee, Mass., called in many quarters the best second place finisher in the country, with a 284. Right on his heels four sharpshooters were in a huddle at 285. They were Ben Hogan of White Plains, N. Y., Orville White of Greensboro, Bobby Cruickshank of Richmond, Va., and Horton Smith of Chicago.

for a new ball park, and will install lights for night games. Wink, Midland and Hobbs are already equipped for nocturnal baseball, leaving only Lubbock and Clovis without immediate plans for lighted parks. Clovis, it was explained by Manager Josh Billings, probably will install lights about June 1, and Lubbock club officials have indicated that, if necessary, lights will be installed at the College avenue park.

Players who will compose four of the clubs already are in training. Actual drills at Clovis and Big Spring are to start shortly.

Sam Snead Smashes Year's Record To Win Greensboro

SAM SNEAD

GREENSBORO, N. C., March 28. (AP)—Sam Snead, of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., won the $5,000 Greater Greensboro open golf tourney by shooting a 69-68 today for a sensational 72-hole score of 271.

Johnny Revolta, of Evanston, Ill., fired a fourth round 69 to give him second place with 276.

P.G.A. officials said Snead's mark set a new low record for a major golf tournament during the current campaign. His 271 was two strokes better than the 273 with which Ed Dudley of Augusta, Ga., sailed home in the Sacramento open last year.

Snead, hitting them hard and straight, was three under par for the day.

Protest On Caddy

For a time there was some doubt whether Snead's morning round of 69 would stand. Paul Runyan, the White Plains, N. Y., pro who played with the long driver from West Virginia, entered a protest because once when one of Sammy's drives landed in a ditch his caddy laid down his bag while guarding the pellet.

However, late in the afternoon a decision by the rules committee of the U.S.G.A. led tournament officials to rule that Snead would not be penalized. Even if he had, it would have made no difference in the result of the tourney since only a two-stroke penalty could have been imposed.

National League Too Old Styled Says W. Hoyt

By SID FEDER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, March 28.—Waite Hoyt digs through his 18 years of big league baseball in this week's Saturday Evening Post and declares a "stifling" of individual initiative and an outmoded method of "one-run" ball are responsible for the American League's recent superiority over the National.

"National Leaguers are held slavishly to a methodical, fairly predictable style of play which has not changed fundamentally in 30 years," writes the one-time boy wonder, still an active pitcher with Brooklyn.

"Americans" Can Stretch

"In sharp contrast," he adds, "American leaguers are permitted to exercise their initiative, can play the game as flesh and blood individuals, rather than robots who are pulled by strings tied to tradition."

Hoyt looks back over his long service on both sides of the big league fence, and picks the late Miller Huggins of the New York Yankees "as the greatest manager who ever lived," followed by Connie Mack and the late John McGraw.

"And," he points out, "as far as I know, I am the only player who worked for all three."

He is confinced the reason for American League supremacy "paradoxically enough, goes back to the man who raised the National League to its height of prestige—John J. McGraw."

It's not that he seeks to "indict" the McGraw system, but rather that the loop's present managers fail to match the master's cleverness and command of scientific so-called inside ball" while still employing McGraw's system of defense, based on curve ball pitching.

Playing For Runs

"National League batters today," he explains, "put on the hit-and-run, McGraw's favorite stratagem, while American Leaguers are swinging from their heels, knocking down fences.

"McGraw believed his players had to be supervised strictly, off the field. So National Leaguers are subject to more rigid regulations than their colleagues in the American.

"I discovered stupid, pointless restrictions in the National League, which would antagonize any intelligent athlete.

"The American League has grown vigorous and successful because there has been no presumption that a recourceful man needs a wet nurse or a bodyguard after dark."

Estelle Lawson Page Wins North And South Medal

PINEHURST, N. C., March 28. (AP)—Mrs. Estelle Lawson Page, the defending titleholder and national champion, won the medal in the annual North and South golf tourney here today with a spectacular 69.

A playoff among players tied at 89 was necessary to determine the qualifiers for the first round of match play tomorrow. Miss Louise Fordyce, Youngstown, O., Miss Elizabeth Sutherland, Chicago, and Mrs. Frances W. Stone, Camden, S. C., won in the playoff.

Modern Players Are Too Soft, Is Fred Toney's Opinion

NASHVILLE, Tenn., March 28. (AP)—Soft living is robbing present day major league pitchers of their chances to equal the feats of the old timers, says big Fred Toney, National League mound ace of two decades ago.

"Pitchers today don't do as much as they should," he claims, "because they can't. They are soft. They can't take it.

"Look back over the records and you'll find that all the great pitchers of baseball—Cy Young, Mordecai Brown, Christy Mathewson, Walter Johnson, to name a few—were men who had to work hard all their lives."

Toney retired in 1927 after 16 years in the National loop.

Browns Lead Spring Camp Play With 8 Wins, No Losses

NEW YORK, March 28. (AP)—The spring that brings out the crocus and the robin also has brought out the St. Louis Browns. Perennial doormats of the American League the Brownies are riding high in first place in the grapefruit circuit with a spotless record of eight straight victories.

The Yankees needn't be alarmed. The Browns have been beating Texas League teams. They have yet to play a major league ball club.

The New York Giants are in second place with 11 wins and 3 defeats, and are up in the firing against American League teams.

Thus far, the National holds a 27 to 20 edge in interleague combat. The Cincinnati Reds, who are fourth, lead in knocking over the American Leaguers. The Reds have won six out of seven starts against junior circuit clubs.

SAINTS BEAT INDIANS

MARSHALL, March 28. (AP)—Leroy Anton, St. Paul first baseman, cracked out four successive homers, two in one inning, as the Saints swamped the Oklahoma City Indians 25-8, in the first of a two-game exhibition series here today.

The St. Paul batters hammered Ash Hillin, who won 31 games in the Texas League last year, for 19 hits and 19 runs in four innings. Anton's two homers in the fourth inning were made off Hillin. St. Paul batters got nine of the ten home runs clouted during the game.

RYAN, BERGER CLOUT

BATON ROUGE, La., March 28. (AP)—The New York Giants staged batting practice at the expense of their Jersey City "farm" team today hammering out 17 hits and a 14 to 1 victory in an exhibition game.

Blondy Ryan and Wally Berger hit homers for the Giants, but the bulk of the scoring came in the fourth inning when eight hits were bunched for seven runs.

TIGERS 8; BEES 2

LAKELAND, Fla., March 28. (AP)—A six-run rally in the opening inning enabled the Detroit Tigers to defeat the Boston Bees, 8 to 2, in an exhibition baseball game here today.

Elden Auker, veteran underhand flinger, toiled the first six innings for Detroit and held the Bees scoreless.

YANKS 14; BLUES 2

HAINES CITY, Fla., March 28. (AP)—The New York Yankees belted over their Kansas City American Association "farm hands" 14 to 2 today, scoring all their runs in two innings as Bump Hadley and Lee Stine limited the Blues to eight hits.

A'S BLANK CHICKS

GULFPORT, Miss., March 28. (AP)—Harry Kelley yielded only five hits today as the Philadelphia Athletics served the Memphis Chicks of the Southern Association with a basket of goose eggs to win, 6 to 0.

Beaumont Faces Heavy Problem Of Pitchers

By VIN BURKE
Beaumont Enterprise Sports Editor

BEAUMONT, March 28. (AP)—If you count Quinn Lee, probable opening-day pitcher, the Exporters will have seven holdovers in the lineup when the Texas League curtain goes up on April 13.

Holdovers are usually as important to the Exporters as they are to a football team since Beaumont annually shoves on the field a bunch of youngsters in the process of development.

Two-thirds of the outfield will return in the persons of Frank Secory and Barney McCosky. The third member, Mae Fleming, will be on hand but Mae has moved in to first base, a position he once occupied as a Wichita Falls sandlotter. In the third garden spot will be Pat Mullin, a .383 hitter in the Evangeline league last year, or Milton Lehnhardt, Michigan State collegian with brief experience in the same circuit. Mullin will probably get the nod and with McCosky and Secory should give Beaumont the fastest outfield afoot in the history of the Texas League.

Skipper At Second

At second base will be Manager Al Vincent who saw service in only a few games last season. Short will be occupied again by Boyd Perry, who got away to a poor start last year as the result of an injury and never regained his stride. Mickey Dejonghe is the likely choice for third. He hits the ball sharply with average power and is believed ripe for Texas League company after a turn in the East Texas loop the past two seasons.

Dixie Parsons, heavier than a year ago, is a cinch for No. 1 catching service. His hitting this spring has been the sensation of the camp. John Tighe, up from the Mid-Atlantic league, has the inside track for second-string work.

Ed Welland Returns

Lee is the only regular 1937 flinger reporting. He put on badly-needed weight during the winter and is ready to become the mainstay of the mound staff. Ed Welland, with the team briefly last season, has returned. Some of the more likely looking newcomers are John Tate, a native of Talco, Tex., who pitched good ball for Alexandria in the Evangeline league last year; Gene Devine, tall southpaw with great stuff and poor control, a graduate of the West Texas-New Mexico loop; Harold Manders, former Big Ten star at Iowa who was with Alexandria in 1937; Charles "Major" Bowles, up from the Mountain State league; Lloyd Dietz, of the East Texas, who has had just enough experience to suggest that he may come through this year; Cloyd Stitch, Mid-Atlantic product; Walter Schaefer, rubber-arm forkhander from the East Texas; Steve Rachunok, tall prospect in spring camp here last season but a victim of a sore arm, and Joe Kemis of the Mountain State elague.

There are a dozen others, all scouted by the Detroit Tiger organization. Indeed the success of the 1938 Exporter club is at present upredictable because of the uncertainty of the pitching department, which may be surprisingly good or immature. The Vincents otherwise would seem to be strictly first-division and perhaps a pennant winner.

Hartay And Venable In Semi-Windup

The husky Hungarian, George Hartay, returns to the local wrestling arena tomorrow night, meeting Bulldog Bill Venable of Alabama in the semi-final of a supporting card that ought to be interesting.

Stretch-legs Bill Hall of Hollywood also is on the supporting card, bumping into Prince Omar the Persian in the opener. Hall's extra "reach" and his almost super-human ability to do things with those long legs and arms make him a big favorite.

The main event finds Andy Tremaine and Dick Sampson in a bout that should be a "natural." Both are popular fellows here, and the house will be divided in sentiment. It may be a clean bout, but one full of action and suspense.

"Give Us A Few Breaks And Red Sox Will Be Tough," Says Joe

By DILLON GRAHAM
(AP) Feature Service Writer

SARASOTA, Fla., March 28. — The old rocking chair has caught up with all major-league managers except Joe Cronin, the peppery Irishman who is needling the Red Sox for a surprise assault on the American league flag.

And the 31-year-old Californian, in great shape after a winter on the golf links, looks fit to do a bit of fancy shortstopping for the Bostons in his fourth season as skipper.

Joe has bumped into some bitter disappointments since he went to Boston. He thought that all the gilt-edged stars that Tom Yawkey's gold dollars bought would fetch a bunch of pennants. But he forgot to figure in the element of temperament. Some of those aces didn't see eye-to-eye with the others, a touch of dissension appeared and the Red Hose flopped.

The atmosphere has cleared this season and there's real pep and ginger at this Sarasota camp. Some of these stars aren't as young as they used to be. They're really working hard now to keep from slipping. Furthermore, Cronin has imported one of the finest collection of rookie talent cavorting in Florida and the "name" players know they've got their hands full to retain their jobs.

Foxx In Shape

Lefty Grove, at 38, is the oldest ace pitcher in the loop. And he looks great. But he's got to go sometime. He's always taken good care of himself and Cronin believes he is good for another year or two. Jimmy Foxx, the belting apple-knocker, ran into a bad slump last season and wound up with a feeble .285 at bat. But Jimmy kept in trim during the cold months with frequent hunting trips and the boys say he's in better condiion than in several seasons.

Lefty and Jimmy must be right if the Bostons sparkle.

"And I think they're going to have good years," Cronin says. "I've never found Lefty as friendly and full of life as he is this spring and Jimmy's showing a lot of power with his stick."

Given a few breaks Boston may push its nose right up to the top. The infield is set with Foxx, Bobby Doerr, Cronin and Pinky Higgins. Doerr, the 20-year-old flash from the far west, saw some action last year and Joe thinks he's ready to go to town now.

With Joe Vosmik, bartered from the Browns, Ben Chapman and Roger Cramer, Boston has a crack outfield. And a line of rookie reinforcements is ready to move into the first row trenches. Leo Nonnenkamp, Fabian Gaffke and Lindsay Deal are plenty good.

Good Young Pitcher

The Bostons lack power behind the plate. Moe Berg, Gene Desautels and John Peacock are good receivers but the other Red Sox will have to carry them when it comes to punching.

"I've got a good group of young pitchers," Cronin confides. "Charley Wagner from Minneapolis and Jim Bagby from Hazleton look particularly good. That gang from Little Rock, Emerson Dickman, Jim Henry, Dack Midkiff and Lee Rogers, should do us a lot of good.

"It's just a matter of how the breaks go. If these kids come through, if Lefty and Jimmy go good, and if Doerr stands up at second base, we're going to be tough.

"You've got to figure the Yanks and Tigers as the teams to beat but I've got a hunch the Yanks are going to miss Lazzeri plenty.

"There's one thing certain. This gang of mine is primed for a fight and we're going to be tossing punches all the way."

Hale And Bell Win Opening Matches In Tech Tourney

Victories by Bob Hale and John Bell moved the Texas Tech student golf championship tournament into the quarter-finals yesterday while other championship flighters advanced on byes.

Hale defeated A. P. Clark, 6 and 5, while Bell triumphed over Donald Doherty, 3 and 2.

In the second round, Hale meets J. D. Webster; Manson Allen tangles with Jack Carlson; Lindsey Telford meets Rufus Ryan.

Lindsey Telford and Hale divided medalist honors with qualifying scorse of 69, one under par at Meadowbrook.

Two other matches were played yesterday. In the first flight, J. D. Keithley won from E. Rawlings, 4 and 3, while J. H. Wilson stopped W. Roddy in the second flight, 3 and 1.

West Texas Teachers Coach School Is Called Off In Deference To Local Meet

Canyon, March 28. (AP)—Postponement of the annual summer coaching school at West Texas State Teachers college has been announced by Head Coach Al Baggett.

Baggett said that the Texas High School Football Coaches association will hold its annual session in Lubbock next summer. A coaching school is a part of its meetings. To eliminate duplication it was decided by the college athletic department to omit its local school in 1938.

REDS 3; SENATORS 0

TAMPA, Fla., March 28. (AP)—Joe Cascarella and Paul Derringer pitched Cincinnati to a 3 to 0 victory over Washington today, the Reds first shutout of the Grapefruit league season.

Biennial Davis Cup System Is Opposed

By SCOTTY RESTON
Associated Press Sports Writer

LONDON, March 28.—The British empire's suggestion that Davis Cup competition be held on a biennial, instead of an annual, basis will receive little support from European countries when it is submitted to the meeting of Davis Cup tennis representatives in London June 30.

An Associated Press poll of European sentiment today clearly indicated the proposal will be defeated. Only Switzerland is expected to support the measure outright. Germany likes the idea but will offer a biennial plan of its own.

Von Cramm Still In Jail

On the other hand, France, Italy, Norway, Ireland, Poland and Czechoslovakia all definitely are opposed to it.

With Baron Gottfried Von Cramm still in jail awaiting trial on a morals charge, Germany favors the biennial system provided the American and European zone finalists are decided one year and the interzone finals and challenge round played the next.

German officials said, however, they were opposed definitely to any suggestion that Davis Cup play be skipped entirely in alternate years.

The French oppose the idea because (1) they like the annual gate receipts and, (2) believe annual competition helps develop young players. In contrast, Switzerland will support the biennial plan because it can't afford the expense of annual competition.

"The importance of the event justifies annual matches," said Italian officials.

Interferes Dith Business

H. Roper Barrett, non-playing captain of England's team the past few years, said:

"We believe there's too much lawn tennis competition for an amateur to play and still attend to his business. We want to fold up our record books from September until May. Now there's major competition going on somewhere in the world all the time. We believe the annual Davis Cup matches encourage players to expect money which as amateurs they've no right to get."

Barrett said Britain couldn't accept America's suggestion they drop out every other year.

"Obviously we couldn't hope to keep pace by playing every other year if others had advantage of annual competition."

BAER RATES THIRD

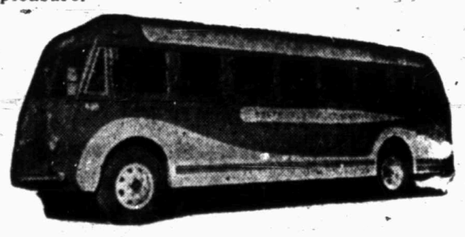

WASHINGTON, March 28. (AP)—The National Boxing association, in its quarterly ratings, elevated Max Baer today to second place among the challengers to Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis.

Baer—who recently won a decision from Tommy Farr — was not among the first 10 fighters last quarter.

Max Schmeling again was ranked next to Louis. Tony Galento continued in third place and Farr was rated fourth.

FDR Urges Careful Consideration Of Hungary's Proposal To Pay Its Debts

Visiting Playwright Declares He Plans To Make A Folk-Hero For Own Personal Use

By MARY BYNUM COBB

"I intend to make a folk-hero for my own personal use," said Weldon Stone, playwright and professor of English at Texas A. & M. college, College Station, who is in Lubbock judging plays presented in the Texas Intercollegiate Dramatic tournament which opened Monday night.

"Many writers of fiction have been telling tales about Paul Bunyan, John Henry, and the other heroes of American folk-lore, but dramatists have been slow to put these images on the stage." So "Devil Take a Whittler," Stone has discovered a new hero among them, "a fine pretty whittler" known as Lemeul Skaggs. This play appears with eleven others in the recently published "Best One Act Plays Of 1937."

Grew Up On Farm

Stone explained that he grew up on a cotton farm in the middle of Texas, but before he started to school, he talked like the characters in his plays because his mother was from Tennessee and the boys he played with were fresh from Izzard county, Arkansas.

"Their speech was different enough to make me notice it and wonder what sort of country Arkansas could be." In the summer of 1932, he went there to write, and excepting one summer in France, one in Sag Harbor, and four years in New York city, he has spent each summer there.

"I talk the talk of the people I'm with," he said, "and after a month or so I am taken for a native."

His First Play

"A Darksome Furriner," included in the Royalty-Holiday plays, was Stone's first one-act play about the Ozark people. This was followed by "Courtin' Maisie" which took first place in the Midwestern Folk Drama tournament's open playwriting contest for 1937. It will be published by Walter Baker. His other plays are: "Quarrytown," which was chosen for a prize in the Midwestern tournament, 1936, and was published in "Player's Magazine;" a tall Christmas tale, "All Through the House"; one full-length play, "Fine Pretty Things"; and "Sweet Charity," a tale of the Italians of Mulberry street of New York, which was selected by the tournament this year.

"When the Stars Fall," written by Stone, is included in the Fourth Yearbook Of Short Plays." It deals with an assorted variety of unfortunates who escape from an asylum and run riot in a cowboy's shack. It is a burlesque on the movies, especially as it pertains to directors and aspiring actors.

In addition to his plays, Stone has had "several tales of fishin'" published in "Field And Stream," national sports magazine. In the past several years, he has judged one-act plays over the entire state, and intends to attend the Midwestern Folk Drama tournament in Cape Girardeau, Miss., in May to assist in selecting the winner there.

The singer Patti made her operatic debut at 16 in "Lucia di Lammemoor."

Interest Charge Would Be Cut

WASHINGTON, March 28. (AP) — President Roosevelt sent to congress today, without recommendation other than for "most careful consideration," Hungary's proposal for settlement of its debt to the United States.

Hungary offered last Feb. 23 to pay the debt, arising from post-war relief aid, "100 cents on the dollar," but asked to be freed of obligations to pay any interest.

Deduction Is Asked

The original debt was $1,685,000. Hungary has paid $478,000 in principal and interest and proposed that this be deducted, leaving the total $1,207,000, to be paid in 30 annual, non-interest bearing installments.

Mr. Roosevelt told congress:

"I believe the proposals of the Hungarian government should receive the most careful consideration of the congress. They represent a noteworthy wish and effort of the Hungarian government to meet its obligations to this government.

Pay No Interest

"In its simplest terms, the offer of the Hungarian government is to repay to the United States the whole of the relief loan but without payment of interest thereon."

The president apparently having in mind the opposition some congressmen have expressed to the Hungarian debt proposal on the grounds it would serve as a precedent for larger debtors, added:

"It has of course been the consistent policy of hte United States to consider each debt in the light of the circumstances of the debtor government and it is with this in view that the Hungarian communication is transmitted to the congress."

Would Scale Debts

Treasury officials have estimated that the principle of Hungary's proposal, if applied to all governmental debtors to this country, would mean a scaling down of the indebtedness from approximately $12,000,000,000 to $7,500,000,000.

The president's message recalled the background of Hungary's debt.

"The indebtedness of the government of Hungary to the government of the United States is not a war debt," he said, "but is properly designated as a relief debt."

It was contracted May 1920, through the sale of flour by the United States to famished, post-war Hungary.

County Court Jury To Report Today; Civil Actions Up

A county court jury will report at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon when two civil actions are subject to call, according to attaches of the office of Judge J. J. Dillard.

Cases subject to call are: Mrs. Joe T. Patterson against S. A. Peel, forcible detainer; and Albert Dawson against Jim Reynolds, suit for debt and sequestration.

Judge Dillard spent Monday meeting with county commissioners in regular semi-monthly session at which routine matters comprised most of the body's business.

Clowe and Cowan presented an estimate for a proposed change of the water system for the county park at Slaton and it was approved. Crenshaw and Dupree were ordered paid final installment on a legal fee to represent the county in special matters.

Change in securities for county funds asked by the depository, Lubbock National bank, to meet changes in deposits, was approved.

Valuable Brooch Is Found After Dance

About 45 years ago the father of Mrs. C. C. Crenshaw of 1901 Twenty-ninth street presented his wife a wedding ring in which was mounted a carat and a quarter diamond.

Years later, the stone was mounted in a platinum filigree brooch and presented to the daughter upon her graduation from college.

Saturday night, Mrs. Crenshaw was at a dance at the auditorium and lost the brooch. It had much sentiment value.

Monday morning, John Turner of 703 Avenue L found the brooch when cleaning the floor of the auditorium and turned it over to Sled Allen, proprietor. Allen called police and the valuable was returned to its owner, who praised Turner's honesty and presented him with a substantial reward.

Another Week Of Activity In Building Starts On Monday

The City of Lubbock started another week of building with a boom.

Jim Reid, city building inspector, issued nine building permits authorizing construction and repairs estimated to cost $17,750. Totals for the month shot to $232,134.47 and for the year to $533,621.22.

Among the larger permits were: R. J. Fisher, one-story frame and stone veneer residence at 2007 Thirtieth street, $7,000; W. B. Poole, owner, and Ray Givens, contractor, frame residence and garage combined at 2823 Twenty-third street, $4,600; W. M. Estes, owner, and Louis Gosdin, contractor, two-story frame residence at 2308 Avenue L, $1,500; Fisher, double garage with appartment above at rear of 2007 Thirtieth street, $1,500; and N. R. Gogburn, one-story frame and siding residence at 2112 Avenue K, $1,400.

Two Property Owners Delaying Work On Rural Power Line

Two property owners, one of a small tract, are holding up starting of construction by Mattison-Walack & Co., Oklahoma City, of 110 miles of rural high line in Lubbock county. There is no definite indication as to when the construction will start, it was said at South Plains Electric Cooperative Co., office.

One out-of-the state owner of property near Posey has refused to sign easement on a right-of-way across his property. Another out-of-the state owner of a small tract east of town has done the same.

Meantime, 340 signed customers on the 110 miles of high line are awaiting construction. High line locations have been staked and surveys are complete.

Officials of the cooperative had hoped to start construction by April 1. Work order is to be issued when the right-of-way is assured, said Chas. C. Fagg, superintendent.

Five Absentee Ballots To Be Cast In Election Are Mailed

Five absentee ballots to be cast in the city election April 5 were mailed by the county clerk's office, it was announced.

The ballots went to: Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Hearrell who are visiting in Long Beach, Calif.; Mrs. Percy Spencer and daughter, Martha Spencer Lingle, both at Austin; and M. C. Royalty at Gonzalez.

Jail Fugitives Being Sought

TYLER, March 28. (AP) — East Texas officers watched tonight for fourteen Smith county prisoners who escaped today from a truck in which 39 men were being taken to work from the county farm near Lindale.

Johnnie Gimble, the driver, said the prisoners broke a window in the rear of the moving truck and jumped out. Gimble said he was unaware they were escaping until hailed by a motorist, Dad Collier, who saw the men dropping off the truck.

County prison farm guards took up the search, but no posse was organized.

E. W. Gimble, farm superintendent, said the fugitives included several narcotic addicts and two former convicts.

Bankers Life Loses In Suit Against City Of Littlefield

WASHINGTON, March 28. (AP) — The Bankers Life company to company of Des Moines, Ia, lost in the supreme court today in its effort to compel Littlefield, Tex., to levy an assessment to provide a fund for the payment of interest and principal on a bond issue.

The high court refused to pass upon a decision of the fifth circuit court of appeals that the city already had levied the full amount of taxes allowed by the state constitution.

Early in 1937 the company, as owner of waterworks bonds, won a $4,701 judgment against the city for money due on interest coupons. The city filed today the judgment and refused to levy a special tax.

Goldthwaite Insurance Man Is Convinced The War Is Over

GOLDTHWAITE, March 28. (AP)—Henry Venable, Goldthwaite insurance man, is convinced that the World war is over.

Although he was honorably discharged in May, 1919, he has just received a check for $91.73 back pay from the war department.

Venable's records were lost when the Tuscania, on which he sailed to France, was sunk by a submarine off the coast of Ireland. For the next 15 months he served with the second division without pay. When his accumulated pay finally reached him, he now believes, an error of $91.73 was made, and it was just discovered.

Aged Negro Is Stunned At The News Of Colonel House's Death; An Old Friend

AUSTIN, March 28. (AP)—An aging negro whose picture adorned the desk of E. M. House for many years today lamented the colonel's death.

"Uncle" Allen Carthen, "about 75," for years Col. House's coachman, was stunned into brief silence by the news but recovered to reminisce about the "best accepted man in the United States."

An Ardent Admirer

Those who saw the photograph of a white bearded negro in military uniform among the colonel's possessions were looking at one of the most ardent admirers of the champion of the League of Nations.

House wanted to "carry" Allen north when he left Austin but an ailing mother kept the negro at home. The intervening years has not, however, dimmed a fine friendship.

The photograph perhaps best exemplifies it. At the request of the colonel, Allen sent him pictures made in a military uniform, the one House wore while a member of Governor James Stephen Hogg's staff and later given to the servant.

Attract Much Attention

"I am delighted with the pictures. I have them on my desk where I can enjoy them and there they attract much attention," House wrote the old darkey.

Usually the House letters—Allen has a fat packet of them carefully stored away—contained a $10 or $15 check for Uncle Allen and Aunt Eliza who depended upon them and a monthly old age pension check for sustenance.

The friendship burned brightly through the years. Only two weeks ago Allen received a letter from Col. House's secretary, expressing the ill man's appreciation "for your prayers and good wishes for recovery."

Wholesale Marihuana Ring Said Broken

NEW ORLEANS, March 28. (AP)—Federal agents said the arrest of five men today broke up one of the biggest wholesale marihuana rings uncovered since the federal act prohibiting distribution and sale of the weed was passed last October.

Terry A. Talent, chief of the federal narcotic bureau, said 54 pounds of imported Mexican marihuana, enough to make 26,500 "muggles" cigarettes, was seized. The value was placed at $10,000.

A man listed as Charles A. Wade, 45, was arrested at the Canal street ferry in possession of 19 pounds of the drug, Talent said. Arrested shortly afterwards were Carlos Marcello, 28, Algiers liquor store operator, Tincent Marcello, 17, Elenterio Toledo, 40, and Wally Davis, 35.

Silver Purchases From Mexico

ALTHOUGH reports and statements are in conflict as to whether the United States has discontinued its purchases of Mexican silver, most of our citizens will agree that our buying should be discontinued if that already has not been done.

President Cardenas of the southern republic announced the United States had canceled its purchases. The State department at Washington denied the correctness of his claims, announcing that decision on the silver-purchase policy will not be reached before April 1.

The fact that we have been buying Mexico's silver in the past has been a gesture on our part bordering upon charity. The sales agreement was negotiated to save the Mexican government from bankruptcy. We have bought 5,000,000 ounces of the metal monthly, paying for it a higher price than it will bring anywhere else on the globe. We, more than anyone else, have kept the silver mines of Mexico operating; have kept the miners at work.

And what was Cardenas' appreciation? He gave thanks by seizing property valued at several hundred million dollars owned by our citizens in Mexico. Then he was sufficiently brazen to complain because he seems to think we might refuse to turn another cheek.

He should be made to realize that he must be a good neighbor to us if he is to expect neighborly favors from the United States. Termination of silver purchases might be a means of helping him to that realization.

Nazi Persecution Of Jews

FEW exhibitions more cruel of man's inhumanity to man ever have been given than by the nazis in their attitude toward the Jews who fall under German domination.

It would have been cruel beyond possibility to believe for Hitler, Goering and others of the nazi dictatorship to have told the Jews they have to leave even if there was a place to which they would go. But to tell them they must leave their homelands when there is no spot on the globe to offer them welcome is an atrocity with few known parallels in history.

Those Jews, for the most part, are descendants of those who were driven out of Spain hundreds of years ago. The lands that became Germany and Austria were then glad to welcome them then. They were industrious. They harmed no one. It was their energy, their sagacity, their thriftiness and their wealth which helped make possible the subsequent development of middle Europe.

But now they must leave with empty hands. They can go to no other European country because all already are overpopulated. Russia won't accept them. The Far East is over-crowded. The Americans may take some of them, but nations of this hemisphere already face serious unemployment projects. Australia's habitable area is extremely limited.

It seems a problem for which there is no answer. No wonder so many leaders of this persecuted people have found a solution in suicide.

THE OLDEST ENGLISH SCHOOL IN THE WORLD

Older than the House of Commons, older than the Lord Mayor, older than the Throne, older than the nation itself, is the Kings' School in Canterbury, England, founded in 598 by St. Augustine himself, apostle of the English and Archbishop of Canterbury. It was refounded in 1541 by King Henry VIII, after whom it was named the Kings' School.

King's School actually antedates by more than 800 years the famous education statue of England proclaimed in 1406 to the effect "that every man and woman have a right to set their son or daughter to take learning at any school that pleaseth them within the realm.

THE YOUNG FIRST SERGEANT

John B. Wooten of Atlanta, Georgia, left grammar school at the age of 14, before he even completed the seventh grade, enlisting in the 11th U. S. Calvary at Fort Ogelthorpe, Ga. He gave his age as 18. He was honorably discharged in December 1918, when he was just past 15. Then in April 1920, he re-enlisted in the 7th Engineers, was made a Sergeant at the age of 16, and promoted to First Sergeant before he was 18—or before he was legally old enough for military service.

Empire For A Lady

By Alan LeMay
C. By The Associated Press

SYNOPSIS: Our unexpressed love for a young English girl has kept my uncle, James Clyde, and myself (Paul Thorne) in tropical Balingong through a Dyak revolt and Malay defeat. Christine Forrester, visioning a great empire here has made Clyde rajah. Famine strikes and war wit hthe Malays threatens. This is a life's work and we persuade Christine to leave. She balks on the verge of departure, and emotional strain for the three of us results.

Chapter 37

Our First Visitor

Only one thing enabled us to wait the famine out—we were not to blame. Over and over this thing happened in these islands. If Clyde could succeed the day would come when it would not happen again in Balingong. We could only wait now, harass the Malay river-traders, and think about the new crop. "When the rice crop comes in—" That single refrain haunted every moment of our lives.

We had a slight diversion at last, when the Avon returned, sick old Captain Stocker doggedly retaining his post. And a little after that we had another diversion which interested us a great deal more.

A square-bowed, tubby little brig, heavily and practically armed, came stealing its way cautiously through the pass into Siderong bay. It brought us Mynheer van der Donggen, the first white visitor that the new rajah of Balingong had had. We had known, of course, that great comment would be caused, and perhaps even unfavorable official notice, by Robert Forrester's reappearance in Singapore; it might be that British and Dutch inquiries would be set up as to what we were doing in Balingong. This possibly was one we had to ignore. After all, we could not keep our operations here concealed forever. We saw in van der Donggen the first of many who would wish to know what we were about.

Mynheer van de Donggen was a short, globular man, whom his Chinese tailors must long ago have given up trying to fit. In crumpled whites of European cut, he somehow managed to resemble those fat Asiatic gods of good fortune who sit mound-like and barestomached, with money bags on their knees. He was as genial and beaming as they, but there was this difference. Mynheer van der Donggen's stomach was covered with pongee shirting, and his stomach was on his knees.

He had a voice that was rich and soothing, and his accentless English had none of that bristling thick-tongued quality which the continentals of northern Europe mostly give it. He made the language sound as liquid as Spanish or Italian.

Man Of Affairs

We already slightly knew this man; and it is a good indication of both his ability and his essential character when I say that he was one of the few men connected with the archipelago trade whom my uncle respected. He was one of the many Dutchmen in these seas who were factors in the Netherlands Trading Society; so had his father been trading before him. His father had, in fact, been mixed up with the old Dutch East India Company, before it was reorganized by the Crown.

In addition to his efforts in behalf of the Netherlands Trading, van der Donggen was concerned with various related projects—Javanese coffee, Sanomba tobacco, tea plantings on Ceylon, and antimony in Dutch Borneo. His son was in charge of the principal trading station at Banjermasin, and various of his astronomically large family of cousins were involved in the development of the Dutch banking systems which were rapidly establishing themselves all over the east from Bangkok to Melbourne. His own headquarters were at Buitenzorg, in Java; but most of his time was spent in floating about from one of his concessions to another in his exceedingly slow old brig.

He did not look like this sort of man. His capacity for continuous activity was concealed in an extra 100 pounds of fat, and he managed a crumpled appearance at all times which suggested the unsuccessful drink-cadger, rather than the man of inter-island affairs that he was. It was only when he talked that you began to see why he was important.

Mynheer van der Donggen had been in Banjermasin when the Avon touched there. Robert Forrester had, as a matter of fact, been transferred to a ship in which van der Donggen owned an interest. This was the first that van der Donggen, or anyone else of the outside world, had heard of Clyde's tenure of the rajahship of Balingong.

A State Of Shock

He told us now that he only dropped in on us for a chat because he happened to be passing on his way to Timor. But even to me, who knew next to nothing of political affairs in the islands, it was perfectly plain that van der Donggen was here on a prowl.

We knew without his mentioning it—and he did not—tht Sumantang was within what the Dutch liked to think of as their sphere of influence. And naturally it was his concern to find out what was happening at Balingong.

In spite of his genial friendliness, and his scrupulous avoidance of any discussion of what we were doing here, it was easy to see that Mynherr van der Donggen was appalled. I saw this long before I saw what he was appalled at. Signs of famine were visible everywhere now, but van der Donggen saw these some place every year, and I knew he was not bothered by that. He knew also, of course, that we were in serious danger; but that was another thing which every trader in the islands was used to accepting.

Then for a short time I thought that he was worried about danger to Christine. It was easy to see what he thought Christine was up to. Van der Donggen had known Anthony Forrester, and appreciated him for the scholarly gentleman that he was, but naturally did not imagine that the character of the father prevented irregularities in the daughter. Van der Donggen undoubtedly thought that Christine was in love with Clyde.

He probably also thought she was very foolish to be there, but considered this none of his business. After he had almost visibly reached this conclusion, van der Donggen all but forgot Christine. He addressed her with a gallant courtliness whenever she was brought to his attention, but most of the time was evidently not thinking about her at all.

And yet our visitor seemed to remain in a state of mind persistent shock. And it finally dawned on me what was the matter. Van der Donggen was not worrying over the probability that we would fail; he was worrying over the bare possibility that we would not!

What effect will this visit have? Read tomorrow's chapter.

Premature Infants Are Doing Well

Twin sons of Mr. and Mrs. Bernie Davis of O'Donnell and a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. G. McGee of Lorenzo are doing quite well at Lubbock sanitarium, thank you.

All are premature infants.

The sons which weighed only 3 pounds 10 1-2 ounces and 4 pounds 4 ounces at birth almost have recovered their original weights. The daughter who weighed 3 pounds 9 ounces, has done even better. She weighs 3 pounds 13 ounces.

Infants normally should recover their original weight in two weeks after losing several ounces a few days after birth. The sons are almost two weeks old, the daughter almost four weeks.

The twins were kept under an oxygen tent three days and all are in an incubator now.

They are fed with droppers, none having strength enough to nurse a bottle.

Tech Journalism Delegation Back From Session At Waco

Members of the Texas Technological college delegation to the eleventh annual meeting of the Southwestern Journalism congress at Waco Friday and Saturday returned Sunday night. Morris Laine, business manager of the Toreador, Tech student paper, presided at the business managers session Saturday afternoon. Johnnie Wells, Laine's assistant, was elected to preside at the business manager's session next year when the congress will meet at Oklahoma A and M.

Faculty members who attended the congress were Cecil Horne, head of Tech Journalism and publicity, and Mrs. Jimmie Allen, instructor in Journalism. The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

WASHINGTON has just witnessed what might be called the eighth wonder of the political world. Contrary to all predictions, a Senate which detests Mr. Roosevelt has relinquished to him its cherished control of government bureaus, patronage and civil service.

The most plausible explanation for such a reversal is that topnotch party leaders have made a 1940 deal with the President. It is designed to save everybody's faces, to prevent the wreckage of the party through internal squabbles in the next two years and perhaps to insure victory in the next presidential election. Briefly, the boys on "the hill" will give him almost everything he wants—within reason, of course—in return for his promise not to run again, or even to try to dominate the party at the next convention.

In the bargain the President has had to reduce the extent of his demands sharply. It is doubtful if he will wrest from Congress between now and 1940 any new reforms, although he will represent each passing measure as another triumph for the New Deal. But the fact is that both sides understand each other better than ever before.

CANNY: Even political insiders were bewildered at the sight of Vice-President Garner and National Chairman Farley lobbying and perspiring for the reorganization bill. It seemed to destroy the fairly authentic theory that both men will support a more conservative candidate in 1940.

On the contrary, "Jack" and "Jim" merely demonstrated their political canniness. Repetition of the cat-and-dog fight which prevailed in the last two years of both the Taft and Wilson administrations would split their party and open the door for a Republican comeback. They realize, too, that Mr. Roosevelt may retain his popularity with the people, if not with the politicians, in 1940, and that he can make trouble if he is completely ignored.

There is another consideration which most people overlook. It will require several years for Mr. Roosevelt to rescramble the government, and by that time there may be a Congress which will repeal the law giving him that power. Nobody does anything in Washington these days without crossing his fingers.

GRAFT: President Roosevelt committed a major political and psychological blunder in his public execution of Arthur Morgan, if the mail on Capitol Hill and at the White House is any criterion. The spectacle of an old man standing unafraid against the President of the United States caught the public imagination. The pen-in-handers are 70 per cent for the defendant.

—The T. V. A. chairman may have no damaging charges against his fellow directors, but nasty stories are circulating on Capitol Hill, though not against Messrs. Lilienthal and Harcourt Morgan. They allege (1) that T. V. A. officials have purchased for $3 an acre land to be flooded, and hope to sell it to the government for $60 an acre (2) that a "leak" on the yardstick theory enabled an Arkansas utility operator friendly to both the Roosevelt and Hoover administrations to clean up in the stock market (3) that orders for machinery have been given to favorite companies at suspiciously high prices—in other words, "honest graft."

F. D. R.'s irritation led him into uttering a half-truth when he said he had not opposed an investigation of T. V. A. It's true that he didn't—but he wanted it handled by the Federal Trade commission, which is dominated by his friends and appointees.

QUESTION: Not a Republican Congressman from Pennsylvania is a Progressive by ½ of 1 per cent. Yet they're almost unanimous for the nomination of Gifford Pinchot for governor next fall.

They're simply realists. They bank on Mr. Pinchot's popularity with the rural folk to hold, and in view of the split between the John L. Lewis and Kelly-McCloskey forces, they expect the former governor to pick up a tremendous vote among the mining population. If the Philadelphia and Pittsburgh machines would indorse him—and mean it—he would have a good chance to win and carry more Republican Congressmen in with him.

The old Pinchovian liberalism holds no terror for them. Mr. Pinchot is regarded as more conservative than most men in public life today. Moreover, he's 74 years old, would be 78 at the end of his term, and so he ain't going nowhere. Why not take a chance? And the man to whom they put the question in anxious tones is National Committeeman Joseph Pew.

VIRTUE: Several smart New Yorkers with mythical War Department connections are apparently making a fortune out of Chinese purchasing agents now in this country to buy military supplies. Their names are known at Washington, and they may soon be involved in a minor Teapot Dome scandal.

Part of the blame falls on the Chinese, who seem to feel that they cannot do business without greasing somebody's palm. Anyway, they paid large sums to several persons and corporations in New York with the expectation that they would be able to escape the neutrality ban. Also that they would be able to buy newly manufactured bombers, although the law provides that they cannot be sold abroad until after a year. In neither case, of course, were the Americans able to deliver the goods.

Thus the neutrality law has one virtue. It permits American shysters to make a little easy money.

NEW YORK
By James McMullin

DR. ARTHUR MORGAN'S "contumacy" at the White House hearings which led to his dismissal as chairman of the Tennessee Valley Authority was a sharper slap at F. D. R. than appeared on the surface. The essence of Dr. Morgan's attitude, although he was not so rude as to state it bluntly, was that he had told Mr. Roosevelt about the alleged shortcomings of his colleagues long ago and the President had shown no interest in investigating his complaints—so why should he bother to repeat himself?

The battling engineer has been guided in his recent course chiefly by the backstage advice of Charles C. Burlingham. The latter, nearly 80 years old, is one of New York's most distinguished lawyers and a former president of the New York Bar association.

Oddly, considering his position in the metropolis, Mr. Burlingham has been consistently sympathetic to the Roosevelt administration. He has even been a stanch defender of Tommy Corcoran and Ben Cohen in colloquies with their bitterest New York critics. So Morgan's strategy cannot be attributed to enemies of the New Deal.

LOST: It remains to be seen whether the President can make his ouster of Dr. Morgan stick. The best legal opinion is that he can't, if the language of the T. V. A. act means anything. Congress specifically reserved to itself the power to fire T. V. A. directors.

On Mr. Roosevelt's behalf, it should be stated that he was crowded into a corner. Dr. Morgan gave F. D. R. no alternative but to dismiss him. The ex-chairman's primary objective was to force a Congressional investigation of T. V. A. Now he will get one—so he has really outmaneuvered the White House. Despite the President's indignant disclaimers, there can be no serious doubt that administration forces hoped to forestall a legislative inquiry.

Having lost that round, the New Dealers can now be expected to concentrate on trying to limit the scope of the inquiry to the history of the Berry marble claim. But the odds are against them. The demand for a thorough airing will probably be too strong. Dr. Morgan has plenty of ammunition in reserve for his great moment.

ERASE: Hearings by the New York Stock Exchange nominating committee disclosed that the rank-and-file members are aroused about the need for a genuine housecleaning. Again and again the committee was urged not to nominate anyone for the new board who was a governor prior to 1935. That would abolish the old guard as an influential element.

Will Japan's "new diplomacy" be more or less diplomatic than Japan's old diplomacy?

Side Glances---By George Clark

"This is where we came in—run down to the first row and wake up your father."

The Plainsman Says:

That Girl on Broadway says it now takes three or four doctors to find out what the old family physician discovered by merely saying "Stick out your tongue."

Modern children grow up more rapidly than those of other generations. Now by the time a kid runs the gamut of pinkeye, chickenpox and scarlet fever, he's ready to break out in a rash of puppy love!

THE MORNING AVALANCHE told us the other day that "Karl Crowley Is Studying His Chances in the Governor's Race."

Pardon us for saying so, but we don't believe his study will take very long!

A lotta guys have claimed they would rather be right than President, but Mr. Roosevelt has gone 'em one better. He'd rather write—and be President!

* * *

That Man on Avenue Q says if you'll be a better listener than your neighbor, the world will beat a path to your eardrums.

* * *

As the sap rises in the spring, the fancy of Charlie McCarthy is doubtlessly turning lightly to thoughts of love.

THE other day this column reported that Charles Caldwell Watson jr., of the Avalanche-Journal staff, is an alumnus of a girls college—Mary Hardin-Baylor, at Belton.

Now we learn that Prof. Julien Paul Blitz, of Texas Tech, is a graduate of a girls college—and the only such graduate in existence.

When Mr. Blitz was quite young, his parents were on the faculty of Cottey college, in Nevada, Missouri.

And since he was there on the spot, Mr. Blitz became the only "ed" in a whole sea of co-eds.

But he's very agreeable about the whole matter. He doesn't try to make a secret of it at all.

* * *

COTTEY college now is the property of the P.E.O. sisterhood—somewhat irreverently referred to by members' husbands as the "People Eat Onions"—but it wasn't when Mr. Blitz doggedly pursued learning within its ivy-covered walls.

At that time it was a good Methodist institution, running under its own steam.

The Plainsman was a little bit upset, nonplussed and crestfallen to discover that Mr. Blitz was a graduate of a ladies seminary, largely because this column has noted upon numerous occasions that although he is an artist to his fingertips, the professor acts, looks and smells like the he-man he is.

However, since we have discovered that Julien was a pawn of fate and went to the seminary simply because he had to, we aren't holding it against him.

Anyhow, he and his good wife are entirely too indispensible to the community, and their musical talents are entirely too wonderful for us to take out on Julien the fact that he is the only male graduate of a female college!

WE have been taught that the Six Nations and other Indian tribes named many of our states, cities, rivers and mountains but apparently much of our knowledge—and even that of dear old Columbia university—is incorrect in these regards.

Anyhow, that's what the experts of Smithsonian Institution, Washington, say, and their studied conclusion, just made public, is that our information has been garbled by ignorance of the Indian language. They go even further and say that misinterpretation has been perpetuated by officials of the states when names were adopted upon entering the Union.

Of course, Texas—coming from "Tejas"—is Spanish in its origin and means "tiles," such as used in roofing. Our good friend and lexicographer, Harry Roberts, to whom we frequently run for such information, reports that while there was a tribe of redskins known as "Tejas" Indians, the name is not Indian, but Spanish.

But after we leave Texas, we get into hot water. That is to say we find out how many erroneous ideas we really have.

CONSIDER Kentucky, for instance, and Alabama. The former, all tradition to the contrary, does not mean "dark and bloody ground." And the latter does not mean "here we rest." These misconceptions come from inability of the white man to understand the Indians, mispronunciation and poor interpretations by one tribe of Indians of the language of another, according to new findings of the speech scholors.

Alabama, the entymologists declare, may be literally translated as "thicket cutters," or as "medicine gatherers." Kentucky probably came from the Iroquois root word "kenta," meaning "level ground," or it may have come from "ikana," meaning land. But say the wise guys, it never meant "dark and bloody ground."

Wisconsin has resisted all efforts of entymologists and others wise in Indian lore. It is impossible to tell how it was evolved, and by what distortion of language. Ohio is easier. It is an Iroquois term meaning "beautiful river." Another which is correctly interpreted is Minnesota, "land of the sky-blue water." And Oklahoma, in Choctaw, means "red people." Nebraska means "flat water," but Wyoming "on the plain," and not "field of blood" as some would have you believe. The term "Wyoming" originally was applied to the country around Wilkes-Barre, Pennsylvania, scene of the Wyoming massacre. Later it was given the Rocky Mountain state by settlers from Pennsylvania.

Massachusetts came from the Algonquin word "massa," meaning "big," and "wadchu," meaning "hill." Connecticut is Algonquin for "on the long, tidal river." But Missouri is not Sioux for "dwellers on the big muddy," but instead is Algonquin for "the man of the big canoe."

Tennessee, like Wisconsin, remains a puzzle. Maybe they came from some Indian who was talking out of his head!

TARZAN THE MAGNIFICENT No. 62 By Edgar Rice Burroughs

Tarzan blinked. He could not believe his eyes. Woora was dead—yet here was Woora! What devilish magic was this? Then Tarzan smiled to himself. He recalled what Wood had told him—that Woora and Mafka were identical twins. So this was the great Mafka!

He glanced then at the beautiful girl sitting silent and sullen beside Mafka. This he assumed was Gonfala, the strange creature who was part angel, part devil. She was the symbol of power, but Tarzan knew that the real power lay in the wizened, hideous old man.

Mafka dropped his hand on the great diamond of the Kaji, which was reputed to endow its possessor with the same mysterious powers that were inherent in the great emerald of the Zuli. "Now you are under my sway," he said ominously; "all men tremble before Mafka!"

But Tarzan stood calm and unafraid. Mafka frowned. As his brother Woora had discovered, this man was not as other men. No power could bend his iron will. And now the magician grew afraid. This new prisoner might well prove a menace. He must be destroyed.

KNOW THY SELF
Will Your Marriage Lead To Happiness Or Divorce? Ask Dr. La Rose Ps. D. Graduate Psychologist

To obtain your heart's desire, see the World's greatest Psychologist, Reader and Healer—gives advice on business and personal affairs. Tells what business or profession best adapted for; teaches mental science, personal magnetism, how to control, fascinate and get the desire of your heart; how to make a person at a distance think of you.

Tells you when and whom you will marry and how to win the man or woman you love even though miles away. Settles lovers quarrels, reunites the separated. Has brought about more marriages, reunited more separated, than any other Psychologist in America.

Auction Sale
TUESDAY AND FRIDAY
With all markets showing 10c or more lower, our sales held up remarkably well showing only about 25c lower on range cattle.
Good fat cattle are holding steady, stockers are in good demand.
You can always count on our market as being the best place in West Texas to bring your cattle and get them sold for every dollar they will possibly bring. We always have plenty of buyers who are in need of cattle, and they are ready to snap up the cattle just as soon as they come into the ring.
Get your cattle in early as this assures you of a good place in the auction.
Lost: About ten days ago, Whitefaced cow, weighing about 900 lbs. If found please notify.

WALL STREET REPORT

NEW YORK, March 28 (AP)—For the first time in eight consecutive sessions the stock market today managed to finish on a recovery note.

The list was at its best in the morning after absorbing light selling of impaired margin accounts at the opening, with gains running to a point or more being widely distributed.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up .4 of a point at 36.4. Rails and industrials accounted for the advance. Weakness of a single stock, American Telephone, put the utilities composite down a shade to a new 3-year low.

Transfers amounted to 1,249,400 shares compared with 1,677,340 Friday.

Steels did well for a time as this week's mill operators were estimated at 35.7 per cent of capacity, up 2 points at a higher mark since November. This group eventually gave ground. U. S. Steel was off ¼ at 44⅛, but Bethlehem held a gain of ¾ at 47½.

Power and light company shares, as a whole, were undisturbed by the supreme court ruling sustaining the registration provision of the holding company act. Most important concerns had already registered on the belief such a decision would be forthcoming. Public Service of N. J. was up 1¼ at 26½ and Consolidated Edison ⅜ at 18⅜.

In the rising division were Westinghouse at 71, Eastman Kodak 133¼, Standard Oil of N. J. 42¾, Chrysler 41⅝, Santa Fe 25⅜, Anaconda 26⅛, Douglas Aircraft 35, Johns-Manville 62¾, Montgomery Ward 29⅛, Dome Mines 49½, U. S. Rubber 26⅛ and J. I. Case 68¼.

American Telephone lost 1½ at 116, apparently hit by fresh fears of an unsatisfactory forthcoming federal communication commissions' report on the corporation.

SUDENTS IS INJURED

CORSICANA, March 28. (AP)—O. D. Buck, jr., 3908 Gaston, Dallas, dental college student in Dallas, suffered a badly injured right knee cap in an automobile accident three miles south of Corsicana Sunday night. His auto was reported by officers to have collided with a car parked on the highway without lights.

After treatment here Buck later was taken to Dallas.

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, March 28. (AP)—Cotton lacked definite incentive today and prices fluctuated within an extremely narrow range. The close was steady, net unchanged to 2 points higher.

The rallying tendency displayed by the stock market helped sentiment in futures but there was little disposition on the part of operators to enter upon new commitments pending further developments here and abroad.

Trade and outside buying in small volume and occasional flurries of covering by shorts supported the market during most of the day but prices were never very far from the previous closing levels.

Recent buyers took profits from time to time and there was some hedging orders from the interior. Final prices were a point or so off from the best with may at 8.87, July at 8.91, Oct. at 8.96, Dec. at 8.98, Jan. at 8.99 and March at 9.02.

AVERAGE PRICE

NEW ORLEANS, March 28. (AP) — The average price of middling cotton at ten southern spot markets today was 8.76 cents a pound; for the past 30 market days 9.00 cents a pound.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, March 28. (AP) — Cotton was steady today as trade buying absorbed foreign selling. July, which had sold off from 8.84 to 8.75, closed at 8.78 with final prices 3 points net lower to 2 higher.

The market opened unchanged to 2 points higher in sympathy with steadiness at Liverpool, and soon advanced a few points further to the best levels for the day on moderately active trade price-fixing in nearby positions. Increased foreign selling especially for Bombay and Liverpool account, caused prices to react about 8 or 9 points from the best. After the closing of the foreign markets, pressure let up and later fluctuations were narrow and irregular.

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, March 28. —Nearly 4 cents a bushel sudden jump of Winnipeg quotations for wheat futures had much to do with making Chicago wheat prices today average higher.

An unusual outburst of buying of Winnipeg futures accompanied the Winnipeg wheat market bulge, and was attributed to export interests and to speculators who found themselves embarrassingly short of wheat needed to fill deliveries that had been contracted for. Upturns of Chicago wheat values, however, came only after the market here had touched the lowest levels in three years. A result largely of rains benefitting domestic crops southwest and west.

Export purchases of North American wheat today as distinguished from futures were estimated as totaling only 300,000 bushels.

At the close, Chicago wheat futures were unchanged to ½ cent higher compared with Saturday's finish, May 86¼@86¼, July 82⅜@82½, corn ½ cent off to ⅞ up, May 61⅝@61¾, July 62⅞@63¾, oats unchanged to ¼ down, rye showing ¼@½ cent decline, and provisions varying from 2 cents setback to 5 cents advance.

FORT WORTH REPORT

Two Break-Ins Being Probed

Two break-ins and two charges of driving when intoxicated were the only major law infractions confronting law enforcement officers here over the week-end. Both break-ins were reported to police Monday morning.

Both Jack Wright and G. Hildreth, charged with driving when intoxicated, were reported as having posted bond Monday night. Complaints against them had been filed in justice court of Walter Davies and S. E. McMillan. A similar charge against Albert Johnson was ordered dismissed.

A considerate burglar left several dollars in silver after assertedly having worked the combination of People's Finance company safe and taken approximately $300 in checks and cash. Only two persons supposedly knew the combination to the safe, said L. E. Mumaugh, A. H. Woodward and Martha Jones, office employes.

H. A. Davidson, sundries dealer of 617 East Broadway, said a burglar entered his place through a rear window and took three pennies.

Took Cash, Checks, Stamps

Bill Mabray and Frank Mills, respectively police identifications officer and Ranger, were told by People's Finance employes Murmaugh and Woodward were supposed to have been the only persons who knew the safe combination. The person who entered the door to the office unlocked the safe, took the checks, approximately $150 in cash, 500 three-cent and 250 two-cent stamps, $5 in registered letter receipts, and notes executed by Saturday's customers, then relocked the safe and the door to the office.

Woodward said he had gone into the office Sunday night to work on ledger cards and had left at midnight. He said he did not notice anything suspicious when he opened the safe. The office is in rooms 7 and 8 of the Rush building, at 1208 1-2 Avenue J.

Sheriff Tom Abel said L. C. Tanner, wanted in Lubbock on a charge of forging to two checks the name of a dead woman, was arrested at Odessa and returned to Lubbock Sunday by Harrist. The man had escaped authorities there recently and once had run away from Lubbock authorities, said the sheriff. Sheriff Abel said other officers had asked for the man, including Archer City where a gin had been burned, Waco and Wichita Falls.

Woodsman Confesses Slaying Of Young High School Stude

SHELL LAKE, Wis., March 28. (AP)—Sheriff Robert H. Willis said today Everett C. Phinn, 52-year-old woodsman, had confessed the killing during a "fit of jealous rage" of Raymond Washkuhn, 17, Spooner High school senior.

Willis said Phinn, held on an adultery charge, called him to his cell and voluntarily confessed the shooting.

Slaton To Get New Minister

SLATON, March 28. (Special)—Rev. Paul R. Stevens, Tulia, who is to graduate from a Chicago theological seminary in April, will be the new pastor of the Presbyterian church here, beginning early in May, K. L. Scudder, a member of the session, said.

Mr. Stevens has been pastor of a church in Chicago for two years, while attending seminary. He attended the U. S. Naval academy at Annapolis, Md., and after graduation, decided on the ministry as a career.

Members of the church are enthusiastic over securing a new pastor. The minister is married and the couple have a young son. They will move here as soon as possible.

The church has been without a pastor since last summer when Rev. John W. Van Dyke resigned to accept a post in Iowa. Later he was killed in an automobile accident.

Ex-Grid Star Of Tech Killed

Funeral services will be read Wednesday afternoon at Hamilton for Jack Durham, 29, Hamilton rancher who captained football teams of Texas Technological college two years and was president of the senior class one year.

Durham was killed in an automobile-truck collision Sunday near Hamilton.

The 1930 and 1931 teams were captained by Durham. In his first year as captain he was center and in the second year guard. He was president of the senior class in the 1931-32 sesison.

Attended Tech Five Years

Durham attended Tech during regular sessions from 1927 through the fall semester of 1932. He was a brother of Miss Geraldine Durham, who was chosen most beautiful co-ed at Tech in the La Ventana, yearbook, selection for 1931-32, and one of the eight most beautiful students for 1932-33.

He was a member of a prominent Hamilton family, owner of a ranch six miles from Hamilton. Other survivors were his mother, Mrs. J. J. Durham of Hamilton, and a half brother who is a member of the New York police department. Miss Durham also lives in New York and is studying to be a nurse, it was said here.

The Associated Press reported officers said the collision occurred when one of the machines was turning around on the highway to reverse its course. Bob Sullivan, riding with Durham in the automobile, suffered an injured shoulder.

Only One Seriously Injured When Four Cars Bump Here

A 19-year-old youth, M. C. McGee, of route 6 was injured when four automobiles were in collision late Sunday on Thirty-fourth street. His condition late Monday was satisfactory, after treatment of a fractured pelvis, said West Texas hospital.

F. H. Hand of Abernathy and G. L. O'Bryant of route 6, Lubbock, were drivers of two of the cars, according to the police report. The accident happened at an intersection adjoining 3400-block on Thirty-fourth street, when four cars coming from four directions met.

Problems Pertaining To Plan For Schools To Be Talked

Some of the problems pertaining to the four level plan for Lubbock schools will be discussed on the Lubbock school radio program Wednesday afternoon at 3:45 o'clock by Superintendent W. B. Irvin. Miss Dorothy Lomax, secondary school cirriculum supervisor, and Dr. Agnes True, elementary curriculum supervisor.

Many patrons and teachers have asked questions regarding the plan, and the program is designed to answer these questions.

Music for this program will be furnished by the Senior High orchestra, directed by Miss Beulah Dunn. The orchestra will play the theme song for the school programs and three numbers.

Prank Of Playmates Almost Fatal To Two Cone Boys

BETTY MIDDLETON ASKS RAY WINTERS, THE ANNOUNCER:

"RAY, ARE CAMELS REALLY SO DIFFERENT FROM OTHER CIGARETTES?"

WHEN RAY WINTERS signed off (above) he had a long, hard day behind him. Ray has thought a lot about which cigarette best fits in with the exacting, nerve-and-energy-consuming work he does. "Camels are distinctly different from other cigarettes," is his verdict. "Camels agree with me. In all the ten years I've been enjoying them, I've never known Camels to make my throat feel scratchy. Or my nerves ragged. That speaks pretty well for Camel's mildness, doesn't it?"

And many millions of other smokers find what they want in Camels, too.

MORE and more experienced smokers are concluding: "Camel is the cigarette that agrees with me." If you are not now smoking Camels, try them. Look for the difference between Camels and other cigarettes. Find out what it means to enjoy Camel's costlier tobaccos.

BOWLING is one of Ray Winters' pastimes. He's pretty good at it, too. "Put me down as a chap who certainly appreciates Camels when I'm tired," Ray says. "I get a 'lift' with a Camel."

TOBACCO PLANTERS REPORT

"The favorite with most men who grow tobacco," is what Vault Snowden, veteran planter, calls Camels. "Camel doesn't buy just any tobacco—they get the best. The Camel buyer bought all the choice grade tobacco of my last crop. I've been a steady Camel smoker myself for 19 years."

B. F. Bivins, another experienced tobacco grower, knows what cigarette pays more for the choice leaf tobacco. "The Camel people sure do get the best grades," he says. "Take my own crop last year. Camel bought the best lots. And other planters will tell you the same. You bet, I smoke Camels."

He's been growing tobacco for 10 years. "I'm in a position to know a lot about the quality of the tobacco that goes into various cigarettes," James Graves, another well-known planter, says. "Most of the growers around here—myself included—sold the best leaf tobacco of their last crop to Camels. I know tobacco so I smoke Camels."
