Matching funds requirement dropped from landfill criteria

AUSTIN -- Representative Robert Junell (D, San Angelo) and Senator Bill Sims (D, San Angelo) passed legislation on Tuesday that will remove the matching fund requirement of cities, counties, and councils of government for solid waste management planning grants. The bill will now go to the Governor for her signature.

During the last regular session of the legislature, legislation was passed that directed regional councils of governments and local governments to develop solid waste management plans in response to rapidly dwindling landfill space in our state and increasing needs for waste and hazardous waste disposal. The legislation required that funds for the grants be generated by a local landfill fee of 50 cents per ton and deposited in a fund with the Texas Department of Health. To receive any of the grant monies, the legislation required an equal match from the local government.

Approximately 78% of all landfills in the state of Texas are owned or operated by a city, county, or city/county combination. Therefore, the money sent to the state is paid by the local governments, and the local governments are being asked to match money they have already paid in.

The bill passed by Sims and Junell does not increase the amount of the grant that can be awarded by the Department of Health. There will be no increase in the state spending, only the elimination of the hardship placed on local

Transplant recipients doing great

In June of 1990, and then again in November of 1990, two momentous events occurred to two Mitchell County families, and those events touched all our lives.

Jennifer Graham, daughter of Dwayne and Patti Graham of Colorado City; and Glenda Wallace, daughter of Linda Wallace of Colorado City, received kidney transplants at those times, made possible in part by the donations of friends and neighbors to a fund at City National Bank. Miss Wallace received one of her brother's kidneys and Miss Graham received a kidney from her mother.

For those of you who would like to hear that both girls are happy and healthy now, we can give you even better news than that.

Miss Graham has just passed a major milestone in her life: she has just gotten her driver's license!

Miss Wallace has just been named valedictorian of the Westbrook graduating class of 1991!

Patti Graham, Jennifer's mother, said that the ordeal has been made much easier by the kindness of friends, and even of strangers. She said that the Graham and the Wallace families have helped each other through their mutual experience, and that the Reverend Leon Green, the minister of the Colorado City Plainview Baptist Church has helped a lot as well.

Green underwent the same

Highway signs to be replaced

Interstate 20 users will soon see the old US 80 highway signs disappear and be replaced with "Business Loop 20" signs. Under a State Department of Highways & Public Transportation program to eliminate signing confusion, highways with more than one designation will be changed to only one. Business routes along a highway will carry the same highway number.

The same thing happened to Route 66 in the panhandle several years ago. Old Route 66 signs along IH-40 were removed and replaced with Business Loop 40. For many years, Interstate 10 and 20 from El Paso to Fort Worth have been signed as US 80. Business routes along the Interstate are signed as US 80 and various Loop numbers.

One thousand and twenty four signs are involved in the replacement program. The signs will be white letters on a green background. They will be manufactured from "high intensity" sheeting material. The sheeting provides much greater reflectivity than signs made from traditional sign material.

A tentative replacement schedule is as follows: May 20, 1991 -

Microbial filter system to be discussed May 23

Soon everyone in our area will have the opportunity to learn all about microbial rock reed filter wastewater treatment facilities.

These are systems which might very well provide the perfect solution for sewage problems for rural communities, and do it in an aesthetically pleasing manner!

Microbial rock reed filter systems are even being studied by NASA for use in space travel.

A long space trip requires a self-contained sewage treatment system. The microbial rock reed filter wastewater treatment facility uses gravity, microbes and aquatic plants to clean sewage. There is little or no maintenance required, and no use of electricity.

Construction began recently for a land-based microbial rock reed filter system at Whitney, Texas.

Sewage in that system is first transferred through three lagoons, where solids will settle or be consumed by bacteria. When the water leaves the last lagoon, it travels through a filter of rocks.

Reed plant roots penetrate deep into the filter and feed on the organic matter in the water. The water that leaves the filter is as clean as or cleaner than lake water.

Casebearer problem identified

The pecan nut casebearer, a serious pest in this area will be with us earlier than usual this year. The casebearer larvae (small worms) damage pecans by eating the nuts. One worm can destroy an entire cluster of pecans.

Present conditions indicate an optimum spray date of May 27 - June 1. Accurate spray timing is important. Spray applied too early is wasted. Waiting too late to spray may result in serious damage to the crop. The optimum spray date will vary from site to site. Individuals wishing to accurately target their spray date should examine pecan clusters for casebearer eggs. The eggs are usually laid near the tip of a nutlet. The eggs can be seen as tiny grayish-white to reddish oval dots smaller than a pinhead. If more than 2 eggs per 100 nutlet clusters are found, the trees should be sprayed.

Insecticide choices for pecan nut casebearer control in yard trees include Diazinon, Malathion and non poisonous materials such as Dipel, containing Bacillus thuringiensis (B.T.). The list for use in pecan orchards also includes Pydrin or Lorsban or Guthion. Carefully follow safety precautions and label mixing directions for any operation as the two girls in September of 1987, receiving his kidney from his younger brother Lyndon Green, who lives in Hobbs, New Mexico.

Mrs. Graham said Reverend Green's encouragement and his obvious recovery have been a wonderful inspiration for all concerned.

She said that she and her daughter stayed at the Ronald McDonald House in Lubbock while they were recuperating from the operations, and that the warmth they experienced there was something they will never forget.

In addition, she said, the group Magic of Music, which makes wishes come true for kids with severe medical problems, granted Jennifer the opportunity to see and meet with Reba McEntire when the country star came to Lubbock on a concert tour.

Trips to Lubbock have become less and less frequent as mother and daughter became more and more well, she said. Visits have gone from daily to weekly to twice yearly, as of their last check-up.

governments to raise additional money to do planning mandated by the state.

"The Senator and I have worked on changing this unfair matching requirement since the third called session in June of 1990. This bill will make it easier on the local governments to comply with state law," Junell said. "This bill is good government in action. It doesn't cost the taxpayer any money and it relieves some of the burden on local government."

The governor has 10 days from the day she receives the bill to either sign or veto the measure. If she fails to take any action on the bill it will become law on September 1, 1991.

Jennifer will probably have to take medication for the rest of her life, her mother said, but other than that, mother and daughter are now living a perfectly normal, healthy life.

Glenda Wallace received her kidney from her brother Lee, a former Colorado High School student who lives now in Nashville, where he hopes someday to break into the country music field.

He and his sister still have to undergo periodic tests to make certain that they are doing all right.

Glenda goes every three weeks to Dallas, and once a month to Lubbock for medical tests.

Her mother, Linda, said that the Reverend Leon Green helped Glenda as well, by coming to talk to her before her operation, and letting her see how well he himself was doing after the same operation.

The Wallace family also attributes the help and prayers of friends and neighbors to the wonderful outcome of this ordeal.

"Actually, I feel pretty lucky," said Glenda.

For several months, while attending school, Glenda had to administer dialysis treatments to herself four times a day. She had to miss school from time to time because of her illness, and still was able to master the achievement of being named class valedictorian.

After enjoying this summer, the first one since 1988 during which she has not been hospitalized, Glenda plans to attend Western Texas College in Snyder and then Angelo State University in San Angelo, to major in accounting with a minor in law or counseling.

Glenda has another brother, James, who lives in Colorado City, and she is the granddaughter of Florine and Norman McMahan of Colorado City.

Jennifer has a sister, Elizabeth, who lives in Waco, and a brother,

Lioness Club sponosoring blood drive

The Tumbleweed Lioness Club will conduct a blood drive from 1:30 to 7:30 Wednesday, May 22, 1991 at the Colorado City Civic Center. All healthy persons over age 17 are invited to give blood during the drive to help patients in this community.

Blood is one of the doctor's most valuable resources and many people are alive today because blood was available when they needed it.

In this area, 65 units are needed each day to meet patients needs. United Blood Services, the area's nonprofit community blood provider, relies entirely on volunteer donors to help maintain a constant sufficient blood supply. Blood comes from only one source, healthy people who are willing to give of themselves.

"Donating blood is safe, simple and satisfying," said Connie Simpson, Coordinator for the Colorado City area. The body contains about 10-12 pints of blood and since the body constantly manufactures blood, the amount given is quickly replaced.

The donation process takes only 30 minutes, with about five to seven minutes for the actual donation. First, a medical history is taken. Temperature, blood pressure, pulse and blood iron levels are checked. After the blood is collected, it is typed and tested for diseases that might be transmitted to those receiving transfusions. This procedure benefits the donor as well as the patient because if any of the tests indicate a need for medical attention, the donor is referred to his or her personal physician.

Blood can be separated into components, so one donation may help several patients. These components must be processed within a few hours of donation, so there is always a need for a constant, fresh supply of blood donated by volunteers in this community.

We will not be giving prizes at this drive because our fine merchants have been asked to donate for so many different functions at the end of school. We will be giving prizes at our next drive though. We will appreciate all our fine donor's, both old and new, coming out to donate for this drive because summer is almost here and there is always a shortage of blood in the summer months.

This Blood Drive will be held for Cleon Williams unless otherwise designated.

Refusal Skills Kids present skit

Colorado City's Refusal Skills Kids shared the spotlight with professional performers on Tuesday, May 14 in Abilene at a Drug Use Prevention Rally sponsored by Education Service Center Region XIV Drug Free Schools Co-op, of which CISC is a member.

Radford Auditorium at McMurry University was the scene for the fifth grade students' presentation of a skit teaching and demonstrating the use of refusal skills.

Their performance was followed by the AD Players, a professional theater group from Houston. Their production, "Say No, Max," is presented for school children throughout the state.

In the play, Max is a 10 year old boy who faces problem situations following his family's move to a new town. He works through the situations to solve his problems with help from his vivid imagination.

Another segment of the day's activities was the Texas Armadillo Association Prevention Rally at Behrens Chapel Auditorium at Hardin-Simmons University. Audience participation and armadillo racing were the highlights of this show.

Hutchinson fifth grade students made the trip to Abilene with their teachers, Carolyn Nitsch, Ruben Parras, Rita Hardegree, Nancy Moore, and Nancy Carroll.

Other sponsors accompanying the students were Ed Etheridge, DARE Officer Phillip Rodriguez, Linda Chambers, and Mark Merrell.

Members of the Refusal Skills Kids group are Kevin Chambers, Joshea Kemp, Audra Proctor, Crystal Costabile, Jana Leigh Redwine, Mica Merrell, Adam Wood, Misty Perales, Amber Kelley, Jebby Forbes, and Doug Payne.

The Refusal Skills Kids have been invited to return to Abilene on June 11 to participate in a staff development workshop sponsored by ESC Region XIV to train teachers to teach refusal skills.

CISD announces summer food program

The Colorado Independent School District announces the sponsorship of the Summer Food Service Program beginning June 3, 1991 through August 9, 1991.

Meals will be served daily, Monday through Friday at the Kelley Elementary School Cafeteria between the hours of 11:30 a.m. and 12:45 p.m. with the exception of July 4 & 5 when no meals will be served. Children can come to the south door on Walnut Street to enter the cafeteria. The dining room will open at 11:30 a.m. and close at 1:15 p.m. All children must leave when the dining room closes.

Anyone 18 years of age and under may come and eat free of charge. There is no sign up or application or forms to fill out. All children will be offered the same meal with no physical segregation of, of discrimination against any child because of race, color, handicap, sex, age or national origin. No meals will be prepared for infants but parents and other adults may eat at a price of $2.25 per meal.

The Colorado ISD is excited about this program, first of all because there seems to be a need for it in our community, and secondly, because it is for everyone and not only for those of low income.

These will be nutritious meals that meet the USDA nutrition requirements that when all food is eaten will supply one third of a child's minimum daily requirements of nutrition.

We encourage the children to come and participate in this program for we hope we can feed a large number each day.

If you have any questions or need more information, you may call Christine Cooley, Program Director at 728-3218 or 728-3894.

"Condor" takes kids on wild ride

HOUSTON, TEXAS...When AstroWorld opens its newest ride, the Condor, on March 9, guests will not only get a chance to take flight on the park's latest thriller, but to also learn about the huge bird of prey, as AstroWorld and the Houston Zoo will sponsor "Birds of Prey," an endangered species display in the que house of the ride.

The Houston Zoo display will highlight the California and Andean Condors, the largest and heaviest flying birds in the world, as well as several other endangered birds, such as the King Vulture, cousin of the Condor, the Bald Eagle, the Harpy Eagle and more. Each display panel will feature an illustration and facts about the endangered bird.

It is not likely that many people will have the opportunity to ever see a Condor, since they are so rare, "We are giving our guests the ability to enjoy a fun ride and to also learn about the ride's namesake," said AstroWorld President Del Holland. "We are pleased to be working in conjunction with the Houston Zoo on this project and hope that our guests will enjoy seeing what a Condor looks like and learning a little bit about the huge bird of prey."

The Houston Zoo "Birds of Prey" display can be seen when the Condor ride opens at AstroWorld and throughout the 1991 season. AstroWorld is open weekends March 9-May 26, then daily Memorial Day-Aug. 25. The park is also open Spring Break week March 25-March 31 and is closed for private outings on April 21 and 28 and May 5. An adult one-day ticket is $19.35 plus tax. Children under 48-inches are admitted for $10.12 plus tax. For more information call 713-799-1234.

Wolves fall to Big Lake

Closing out the season on Friday, May 17, the Colorado City Wolves fell victim to the Big Lake Owls in a close baseball game, 4-7. Although playing good defense, the Wolves could not just score with men in key scoring positions.

In the early going, both teams had a chance to get on the score board in the first inning as each team left the bases loaded.

Neither team managed to get any runs across the plate in the second inning; however, in the top of the fifth, the fireworks began for the visiting Owls.

On a couple of walks and four tremendous base hits, Big Lake scored five runs in which four were earned. The "hooters" also raked up another run in the top of fourth, but so did the Wolves, as Jason Lawson had an RBI single to score George Ramsey who reached base on a walk, 1-6.

Adrian Martinez earned a single in the bottom of the fifth to get things started for the Wolves. Zack Finley contributed a base hit single of his own to drive in Martinez. With two more consecutive solid hits by Greg Parker and Avan Ceballos, the Pack cut the Big Lake lead to three, 3-6.

Unfortunately for the suffering Wolves, the Pack could only muster a single run in the last two innings of play as did the Owls to end the season and the game, 4-7.

The Wolves finished the season at 3-15-1 and a district mark of 1-11, yet coach Gerald Epperson was not completely disappointed with the first year's outing. "Our record wasn't as good as I hoped for, but we progressed throughout the year especially in the last six games."

The difference in the season was the offensive game. The Wolves were only batting a .252 on the season and .222 during district. The bats picked up in the last three games as the Wolves earned ten hits a contest. "The hitting was lacking in the beginning of the season, but we came around at the end of the season."

Top hitters for the season were Adrian Martinez, .403; Jason

Lawson, .386; Zack Finley, .344; Robbie Smith, .302; and Avan Ceballos, .294. In district Lawson led the way with a .343; Martinez, .314; Ceballos, .272; Finley, .263; and Smith, .250.

In the long ball department, power hitters the Wolves were not, but Kevin Green led the way with two while Smith and George Ramsey had one each. Green was also the Ricky Henderson for the Pack as he led the team in stolen bases.

Lawson and Smith were the two main aces for the season with Lawson posting a record of 3-5 in which he went the distance in all three victories, and Smith had a mark of 0-8.

The Wylie Bulldogs were the District 7-AAA Champions with the Merkel Badgers claiming the runner-up spot. Clyde, Comanche, Ballinger, Early, and C-City closed out the standings.

As for next baseball season, Coach Epperson is looking for a broader number of athletes to compose a junior varsity team to go along with the varsity squad. "This year, I was pleased with the overall performance the young men put forth," he said, "but hopefully next year we can have a JV team and make more progress through the year."

Pictures Needed!

Red Cross volunteers who are working on the display of veterans' photographs for the Marshall's Department Store windows are happy with the response so far, but they need all the veterans' pictures available.

They have received only two from Desert Storm, and need more of those. Workers wish to remind everyone that pictures are needed of any veteran, of any war, who lives in Mitchell County, or who lived here previously, or who is related to a resident of Mitchell County.

Overnight Hosts

On Friday, July 19, a bus load of approximately 50 foreign exchange students will be stopping in Colorado City for one night's stay. They will be back on the road bright and early on Saturday morning.

Colorado City Rotary Club members are trying to help find lodging for those students. The students will be in the middle of a three-week road trip, and will have several suitcases each, will probably need the services of a good, sturdy washing machine, and would appreciate a homecooked meal.

In exchange, the students will bring into your home, for one night, a window on the world.

If you would like to offer lodging to one of these bright, friendly youngsters, or two, or three, or four, please call Robert Ramage at 728-2160.

Microbial Rock Filter

What is it? Learn all about it at the C.C. Thompson Room on Thursday, May 23 at noon.

The lecture, which deals with an environmentally sound and aesthetically pleasing water filter process, is free of charge, and open to the public.

SYSTEM

Agency is encouraging construction of the rock filter facilities, and those in operation are meeting water quality standards, according to Ancil Jones, who is an EPA staff engineer in Dallas. He has been quoted as saying the systems have a "very bright future."

The systems have been around for over 40 years, but are only now becoming popular. They are not meant for large cities, but are ideal for small cities, and even for mobile home parks and single homes.

Some of the facilities use reeds; some use water hyacinths, duckweed, flowering plants, and other combinations of plants. Not all the facilities use rocks, although most do. In Louisiana, some facilities use crawfish, insects, and other fish as well in the process.

A presentation to explain microbial rock reed filter systems will be held on Thursday, May 23, beginning at 1:30 p.m. in the C.C. Thompson Room of City National Bank.

The program, sponsored by the Big Country RC&D Area, will be presented by Robert Kyle of Kyle Engineering, the firm which designed the system for the town of Whitney.

Kyle will explain the system, and answer any questions anyone has about its applicability for our area, or for individual use.

Admission is free, and the public is invited to come learn more about this beautiful, useful, environmentally safe program.

Redfish doing well in Lake Colorado City

Recent Gill net surveys on Colorado City Lake by the Texas Parks and Wildlife (TPWD) Inland Fisheries crew from San Angelo found the Redfish to be doing very well. Red fish ranging in size from 7 to 10 pounds were found to be very abundant in the lake. These fish are about 30 inches long. While in the Colorado City area, the TPWD biologists were told of numerous fish over 15 pounds being caught by anglers. While none of the larger sized (15 pounds and over) redfish were caught in the gill nets, it is very likely that many of that size fish and larger ones are in Colorado City Lake, according to TPWD Biologist John Dennis. Dennis said the larger fish are probably from the 1981 and 1982 stockings.

TPWD Hatchery personnel stocked 183,000 redfish fingerling into Colorado City Lake Thursday night (May 9, 1991). The fish were brought in from the State fish hatchery in Palacios. TPWD District Management Biologist Bill Follis said it would take the redfish 2 years to grow to 20 inches, the minimum size for retaining redfish in inland waters in Texas. Redfish were first stocked into Colorado City Lake by TPWD in 1981. They were then stocked again in 1982, 1986, and 1987.

Also caught during the TPWD gill net survey were several white bass, numerous channel and blue catfish, and many large flathead (yellow) catfish. The TPWD biologists will return in the fall to assess the largemouth bass and crappie populations using electrofishing and trap netting.

of these chemicals. Spray schedules with a more detailed list of chemicals and mixing instructions are available from the County Extension Office.

Take advantage of the casebearer spray to combat the chronic problem of sine deficiency in pecans. Add NZN (2 tsp/gal or 1 qt/100 gal) zinc sulfate (2 tsp/gal or 2 lb/100 gal) or another zinc material to the casebearer spray.

Pecan scab can also be combated in this spray by adding Benlate (1 1/2 tsp/gal or 1 lb/100 gal) to the tank. Pecan scab is characterized by small olive brown lesions scattered primarily along the veins on the underside of leaves. The shuck on developing nuts is also infected. The disease infects primarily during humid weather. Pecan varieties highly susceptible to scab include Burkett, Delmas, Western, Mahan and Wichita.

Do not use pesticides, especially insecticides, indiscriminately on pecans. Insecticide use now can increase problems with yellow aphids (noted by sticky leaves and "honeydew" dripping from the trees) this summer. Insect predators (mainly ladybugs and lacewings) are important in keeping aphid populations in check. If the pecan nut casebearer population is low this year and/or if you have a heavy nut set and can afford to let the casebearer thin them, you may be ahead to avoid spraying for the casebearer -- or you may opt to spray with BT which is totally harmless to most predator insects. Note that for a BT which is totally harmless to most predator insects. Note that for a BT product to be effective, the casebearer larva must already be present. Dipel or other BT products have no residual and will not kill larvae that hatch after a spray application is made.

Monitoring your trees for casebearer eggs every couple of days starting before and continuing through the target spray period is the only way to assure that you make the right spray decision.

Reference to commercial products or trade names is made with the understanding that no discrimination is intended and no endorsement by the Cooperative Extension Service is implied.

Noah project sponsoring family entertainment

The advisory committee of Noah Project is presenting an evening of family entertainment on June 8, 1991. After a Coney Island supper, a melodrama, "The Shaky Tale of Dr. Jakey," directed by Mrs. Eleanor Dryden will be performed - LIVE! - on the stage of Scurry County Coliseum.

Few people, if any, in this area, have ever seen this astonishing play. The plot reveals how Good (cheer!) can triumph over Greed and Jealousy (boo! hiss!), and shows the lovely Formalda Hide confronted with the sneaky tactics of Dr. Hooza Fraidy! Some of Snyder's finest performers will be on stage to bring this vivid and moving story to you!

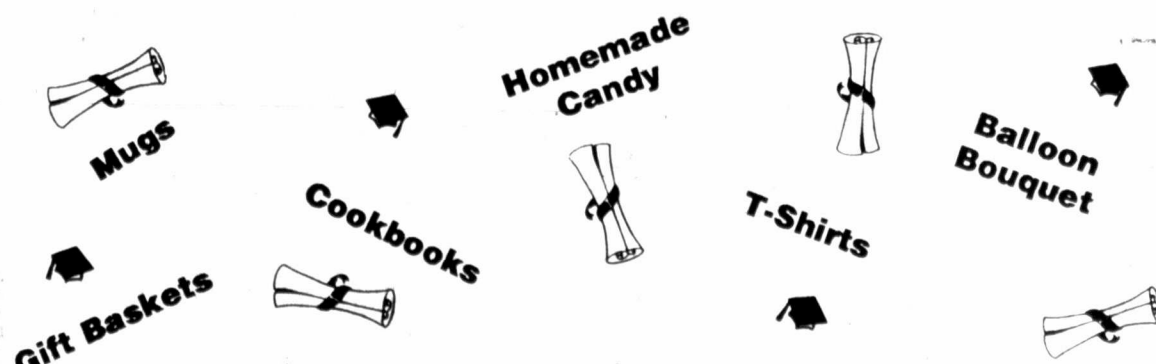

On Saturday, June 8, at Scurry

Emilia Acevedo is honored by public health co-workers

Public Health volunteer Emilia Acevedo was honored by her co-workers at a ceremony held on Tuesday, May 14 at the Colorado City field office of the Texas Department of Health.

Among other things, Ms. Acevedo, a 1976 graduate of Colorado High School, was honored for her bi-lingual expertise and her willingness to contribute that expertise by teaching WIC, (Women, Infants, and Children), nutrition education classes to Spanish-speaking clients, and by translating at any other time the need arises.

She has provided countless other services to the clients of the department, including offering needed transportation, on her own time as well as during her volunteer hours.

The Acevedo family consists of Ms. Acevedo, her husband Francisco, and seven children, including one-year-old twin girls and an adopted daughter, the child of her sister-in-law, who died shortly after the girl was born.

The family attends St. Ann's Catholic Church, where Ms. Acevedo is active in the choir, teaching education classes, and helping with financial problems of church members.

Her co-workers are so impressed with the outstanding job she is doing, that they nominated Ms. Acevedo in 1990 for the Governor's Award.

At Tuesday's ceremony, she was presented with a certificate of appreciation, a letter of commendation, a pin and an "I'm a Friend of Public Health" ribbon by Pam Butler, R.N. Supervisor of the Colorado City office.

Stenholm expresses regret over Burleson death

WASHINGTON, D.C. -- Congressman Charles Stenholm (D-TX) expressed regret today to learn of the passing of retired Congressman Omar Burleson.

Burleson passed away at 10:05 p.m. on Tuesday, May 14, at Hendrick Medical Center in Abilene. He was 85.

"I am deeply saddened at the passing of a man who was not only a great mentor, but also a friend," said Stenholm.

Burleson represented the 17th District of Texas from January 3, 1947, until his retirement on January 3, 1979. Mr. Stenholm was elected to his vacated seat.

Omar Truman Burleson was born in Anson in Jones County, Texas, on March 19, 1906. He attended public schools in Anson, Abilene Christian College and Hardin-Simmons University and obtained his law degree from Cumberland University in Tennessee.

Burleson started his career as a lawyer in Gorman, Texas, in 1929. He served as county attorney and judge of Jones County for eight years before becoming a special agent for the Federal Bureau of Investigation. He entered the Navy in World War II and served three and one-half years with duty in the North Atlantic and South Pacific. He was discharged as a Lieutenant Commander.

Burleson was elected to the Eightieth Congress as a Democrat and reelected to the fifteen succeeding Congresses. His career in the House of Representatives saw him unanimously elected to the Ways and Means Committee in July 1969.

His Congressional career saw Burleson serve as Chairman of House administration; a member of the Budget Committee; a member of the House Foreign Affairs Committee; Chairman of the National Security and Scientific Developments Affecting Foreign Policy Subcommittee; Chairman of the Joint Senate-House Committee on the Library of Congress; Vice-Chairman of the Joint Senate-House Committee on printing; a member of the House Foreign Affairs Committee; and a member of the Library of Congress Trust Fund Board. He held a 98 percent attendance record at roll call votes and was known as a progressive-conservative.

Burleson's hard work did not go unnoticed either. In 1970, he was named Outstanding Alumnus of the Year at Abilene Christian College.

He was awarded Honorary Doctorate degrees from Hardin-Simmons University and Abilene Christian University. After his retirement, his papers and desk were donated to ACU's library. In 1978, the post office and Federal Building in Abilene was named the Omar Burleson Federal Building. In 1980, the Omar Burleson Internship Program was started. This allows two college students or teachers to work in Congressman Stenholm's Washington office for one month each year.

Mr. Burleson was preceded in death by his wife, the former Ruth DeWeese of Anson.
