French Chamber Approves Cabinet's Limited Acceptance Of U. S. Debt Plan

SHAPPELL DEEP TEST CORES RICH OIL SAND

Home Town Talk

By B. D. D.

A Wichita Falls theater is offering admittance Saturday afternoon to any farmer and his whole family in exchange for a bushel of wheat or two bushels of oats. The wheat or oats must be sacked.

This is at once a little boost for the grain market and a bonus to the large family.

Such exchanges may not mean so much in the economic scheme but they do give a sense of our interdependence that is lacking when money is the medium of exchange. For a while we would like to see a great deal of this direct exchange of goods and commodities and service and labor. Maybe we could obtain some spiritual benefit therefrom.

Neither the farmer nor those who live close to the farmer in the wheat producing regions are making as full use of the wheat as they might. Most of us think of flour as the only product from wheat. There are a number of foods that can be prepared right at home from wheat. Why ship all our wheat away in carload lots and buy it back in sacks and small packages when it can be prepared for wholesome and palatable food right at home?

This newspaper hopes in a few days to have formulas and recipes to be printed for the information of those who would like to have $5 or $10 a bushel for at least a few bushels of wheat.

"Capone Facing Prison and Heavily in Debt" says the heading of a first of a series of four stories being printed in The Times. The stories tell how Capone who is reputed to have made millions in his lawless traffic only to have it stripped from him by blackmailers, bribe takers, his own henchmen and in his vain fight against the government. Capone was the richest and most powerful of racketeers. He is now penniless and on the road to prison. If Capone has failed what chance is there for smaller fry in the crime world to win against society?

If you want to know about furniture send 20 cents to the Superintendent of Documents, Washington, D. C., for a copy of "Furniture, Its Selection and Use." This is a 120-page pamphlet, profusely illustrated and containing a wealth of practical, authoritative and concise information.

Men are far more interested than most women in subjects of social and political significance, according to Douglas Waples, acting dean of the graduate library school of the University of Chicago.

His statement is based on returns from questionnaires submitted to 5,000 men and women in 100 groups of similar sex, education, occupation, age, and environment. These groups, selected from many sections of the country, range from housewives to prisoners, factory workers, postmen, farmers, teachers and col-

Truck Laws Become Effective Aug. 22

AUSTIN, June 26. (AP)—The court of criminal appeals today held the two new truck laws did not become effective until Aug. 22. Some attorneys had contended they became effective upon the governor's signature.

The opinion was written by W. C. Morrow, presiding judge, in the case of Barney May, from Tarrant county. Charges against May alleged he violated house bill 336, one of the new laws, were ordered dismissed.

House bill 336 imposed more stringent regulations on the size and load weight of trucks. House bill 335 gave the railroad commission additional jurisdiction over trucks.

ASIA IS THE HOME OF UMBRELLAS

ALTHOUGH umbrellas were in use in Asia from the oldest times, they were not carried in Europe or this country until a hundred years ago. The first umbrella to appear in London was carried by Jonas Hanway about 1750. It is said that when he walked the streets on a rainy day with the first umbrella he was hooted, hissed and even pelted with stones by men and boys. Before that time an umbrella was usually kept in the halls of the rich and held by a servant over the heads of people as they came to and from their carriages. In those days it was thought that a man who was afraid of getting wet was a weakling. Whether it's an umbrella, used car, a home or employment you are seeking, the Classified Want Ad columns of this newspaper are at your disposal. Through this medium the public is able to make unusual purchases at unusual prices. Consult Daily Times-Record News Classified Want Ads FIRST.

VOTE FOLLOWS LONG DEBATES ON PROPOSAL

Government Wins Support In Ballot of 386 Against 189

SUCCESS FORESEEN

Compromise Agreement Predicted in Parleys Saturday

PARIS, June 27. (Saturday) (AP)—The French cabinet was given a vote of confidence by the chamber of deputies this morning on its attitude toward the Hoover war debts proposal. The vote was 386 to 189.

PARIS, June 27. (Saturday)—Stormy oratory reverberated in the French chamber of deputies this morning as the debate continued on the government's acceptance of the Hoover moratorium propoeal with reservations. Premier Laval was bitterly criticised as having been "unduly influenced" by the United States.

Through the long hours of the night unchecked oratory typical of this body of 600 odd representatives of the French people ebbed and flowed in a manner incomprehensible to those familiar only with Anglo-Saxon parliamentary traditions and practices.

U. S. HOPES FOR COMPROMISE

WASHINGTON, June 26. (AP)—Optimism, tempered with a realization of difficulties still to be surmounted, prevailed in Washington tonight as President Hoover sought to harmonize his inter-governmental debt postponement plan with that of France.

The Paris government's counter-proposal was hailed by Secretary Stimson as expressing a "gratifying cordiality," but as involving action which would not meet fully the purposes of the president.

He emphasized the necessity for further discussions and predicted an early and successful agreement would attend negotiations now in progress in Paris.

Late in the day, the cabinet officer left by airplane for New York. He will sail on the Conte Grande for Naples tomorrow and the ensuing weeks will see him in conferences with Europe's leading statesmen. Secretary Mellon is now in Paris where he will open discussions with French leaders Saturday.

The obstacles to an agreement narrowed tonight to three points. These were:

America's insistence on postponement of all inter-governmental debts and France's demand that Germany pay the unconditional annuities under the Young plan;

The French proposal that these payments be made the basis of credits to Germany and other central European powers;

The fact that the support which the president received from members of congress for his plan was based mainly on the assumption there would be no reservations.

Farm Board Firm On Wheat Policy

WASHINGTON, June 26. (AP)—Chairman Stone of the farm board talked over the wheat situation with President Hoover today, and the board's policy on stabilization wheat sales still holds.

It was learned the board dispatched replies to demands for a definite pledge that more than 200,000,000 bushels of wheat would be held from domestic markets.

They were "stabilization supplies to be handled in such a way as to impose the minimum burden on domestic and world prices."

That was the answer made by the board last week to Kansas grain men.

Worker Dies From Heat After Prolonged Idleness

KANSAS CITY, June 26. (UP)—Glen Fullerton of Kansas City searched since last fall for work, finally found a job in the Kansas harvest fields. Completing his first day's work in six months, he died from the effects of the heat.

Wichitan, 66, Goes Back To Virginia To Claim Sweetheart Who Waited 35 Years

Thin gray hair straggling above his bronzed and wrinkled face, with more than three-score years upon him, he stood in the sheriff's office here Friday, pleading with obvious feeling for aid in finding his car, stolen a few minutes previously.

Then out to the streets again, feverishly searching the territory near the courthouse for sight of the missing vehicle. Returning to the courthouse lawn, he was observed desperately wringing his hands, anxiously peering now here, now there, for the car which had so quickly disappeared.

A second frantic appeal to county officers in the sheriff's office, where he received assurances that a search was already under way. He dropped his head to flick aside a too-persistent tear as he hurried out again.

Ten minutes passed. Almost running, he hurried into the office of Sheriff Perry Browning. Radiant smiles all but effaced the marks of copious tears upon his trembling cheeks.

"I've found it!" he exclaimed joyously. "My friend, that I came to town with, drove off in it to look for me—and he's just come back. See," he urged, going to the window, "those new tires,—all ready for a trip? I'm leaving for Virginia in the morning."

The sheriff, quizzically noting the man's buoyant spirit, remarked:

"Why the big hurry? Something important?"

"Yes, sir, it is," the visitor replied with enthusiasm. "You see, I just got out of the hospital the other day. While I was there I got a letter from my old sweetheart, in Virginia. Haven't seen her for 35 years. She heard I was sick here, and wrote. This letter says she's never married, and is still waiting for me. That's why I just had to find this car. I'm headin' for Virginia tomorrow morning."

His name is John B. (Dad) Ferratt, carpenter and contractor in Wichita Falls for 12 years, and known to many here through his work and his smiling good nature. He is 66 years old, and his prospective bride is "a little younger," he confessed to a Record News reporter.

At his home Friday night, with his recovered auto packed for the long trip beginning early Saturday morning, he proudly polished the frame of a small photograph and exhibited it to the reporter.

"That's the girl . . . and I'm happy to be going back. Folks have been good to me here . . . Why I built that copy desk you boys work on down there at the Record News. You have my blessings, son, you and everybody in Wichita Falls—but I'm glad I'm going."

And somehow the reporter had a hunch the blessings of Wichita Falls go with "Dad" Ferratt in his romance.

Seven Men Hurt As Refinery Tower Collapses Under Etex Wind Storm

NEW BLAZE SWEEPS TOWN

Equipment Waited to Check Kilgore Fire

HENDERSON, Texas, June 26. (AP)—Seven men were injured, two of them seriously, when a cooling tower at the Central Refining company here collapsed during a heavy wind storm late today.

J. E. Lee and C. C. Wood, both of Holdenville, Okla., were carried unconscious to a local hospital. They had not regained consciousness tonight.

C. E. Golman and L. R. Cox were also carried to the hospital. Their injuries were said to be minor.

Both Lee and Wood were injured about the head. It was feared their skulls were fractured.

NEW FIRE SWEEPS TURNERTOWN

HENDERSON, Texas, June 26. (AP)—Fire swept through the heart of another of East Texas town today.

An exploding oil stove in a cafe at Turnertown, seven miles from here, started a conflagration which is estimated to have destroyed between $25,000 and $50,000 in property.

In rapid order two cafes, a filling station, a dwelling, a domino hall, a barber shop and a grocery store were razed. Timely arrival of fire fighting apparatus from Henderson prevented further destruction of property.

STORM WHIPS KILGORE BLAZE

KILGORE, Texas, June 26. (AP)—Workmen tonight awaited the arrival of an asbestos lined steel cap they will attempt to fasten over the mouth of the burning Bell & Graddy No. 1 which has been spurting oil and fire since Tuesday night.

A sand storm tonight blew up to whip flames in every direction. A shower which accompanied the blow failed to cool the baked ground about the well.

Fire fighters advanced the prediction that if the flow of oil is not choked off when the asbestos lined cap is fastened over the mouth of the well, it will then be practically impossible to control the black flood spouting from it.

Mexican Senate Reported For Anti-Priest Law

MEXICO CITY, June 26. (AP)—The newspaper Excelsior was informed today that the majority bloc of the federal senate, had given its approval to the law recently enacted in Vera Cruz limiting the number of priests to 11.

The federal executive department has given no indication of its viewpoint in regard to the measure, which has brought protests from Catholics throughout the country, alleging that it practically eliminates the Catholic church from Vera Cruz.

Allred May Launch State Probe Of Fees Collected by Justice Courts

Special to The Record News.

AUSTIN, June 26.—Accounts of justice of the peace courts and their activities in charging fees likely will be investigated throughout the state, James V. Allred, attorney general, announced here today after his department had forced the refund of a fine to a University of Texas student.

The Austin case, and other similar cases, will be placed before the legislative fee investigators and the special Travis county grand jury which convenes here Monday, it was stated. The grand jury has been convened to investigate the claims of sheriffs and others.

Justice courts generally have been violating the law by collecting the maximum fee of $3.50 for constables in justice cases where guilty pleas are entered, Mr. Allred said. The constable is legally entitled to only $2, it was pointed out, although the general practice has been to collect $1.50 for bond, $1 for commitment, and $1 for release.

In the case here, Attorney General Allred caused the refund of $3.50 in excess fees to a university student, when he vigorously protested to Justice J. M. Griffith. Later, when facts of the charge were made known, County Attorney Bryan Bialock filed a motion and Justice Griffith set aside the plea of guilt and dismissed the case in which a total fine of $31 had been paid.

Stricter regulation of fee collecting law enforcement agencies "will save the people of Texas half a million dollars a year," Mr. Allred said.

CRASH VICTIMS FIGHT FOR LIFE

Two Men Near Death After Alvord Coilison

Special to The Record News.

DECATUR, Texas, June 25.—Bob Perryman, 31, and Alex Richardson, 24, remained in a critical condition at a hospital here Friday as a result of injuries sustained late Thursday near Alvord when their automobile collided with a truck on a one-way bridge, killing outright Perryman's wife, Mrs. Bess Perryman, 29.

The truck driver, K. B. Haines of Overton, Texas, and Perryman's sister, Miss Ruth Perryman, 14, were slightly injured. Richardson and the Perrymans were riding in a light automobile. All are of McCormick, S. C., and were en route to Adrian, Texas. Perryman was taken immediately following the crash to the hospital here. Richardson followed later Thursday night, when it was learned that his injuries were more serious than was at first thought. Although the condition of both is deemed grave, they were expected to live through the night.

Haines, the truck driver, is in a Wichita Falls hospital, where his injuries were said to be chiefly shock and bruises. Miss Perryman is at an Alvord hotel with slight cuts and bruises.

The body of Mrs. Perryman is being held at an Alvord undertaking establishment pending word from relatives in South Carolina.

IRKUTSK HAILS POST, GATTY

Oklahomans Land at Goal In Siberia

IRKUTSK, Siberia, June 27. (AP)—Wiley Post and Harold Gatty landed here at noon today (10 p. m. eastern standard time, Friday) completing a flight of 1,050 miles from Novo Sibirsk and another leg of their round-the-world flight.

IRKUTSK, Siberia, June 26. (AP)—Flying over a portion of bleak Siberia today, Wiley Post and Harold Gatty, globe-circling fliers, reached Novo Sibirsk at 1:32 p. m. Greenwich time (7:32 a. m., central standard time) and planned to leave at midnight for Irkutsk, a distance of 1,050 miles.

Leaving Moscow at 5 a. m. (9 p. m., central standard time), the American fliers apparently followed the Trans-Siberian railroad over the Ural mountains into Asia and thence eastward. Omsk, on the railraod, sighted the fliers at 2:05 p. m. Moscow time (6:05 a. m., central standard time) but they did not stop.

The next word from them followed their landing at Novo Sibirsk, the hop to Sibirsk, estimated at 1,150 air miles, had been made at an average speed of about 140 miles an hour, indicating The Winnie Mae, that has taken them over 6,000 miles of land and sea, had functioned perfectly. The fliers reached Sibirsk an hour and a half earlier than they had expected when they left Moscow.

The next leg of the world flight will be over terrain similar to that flown over today. Post and Gatty doubtless will follow the guiding line of the Trans-Siberian railroad, which wends eastward to Irkutsk, keeping north of the mountains that separate Siberia from Mongolia.

At Irkutsk, close to Lake Baikal, the fliers will plot one of the most hazardous legs of the flight, that over the mountainous and desolate territory either to Yakutsk or Khabarovsk.

The route to Yakutsk is the more

ARGUMENTS BITTER

Killing of Mexican Boys Brings Consular Attack

COURTHOUSE, ARDMORE, Okla., June 26. (AP)—The William Guess murder jury was ordered locked up until 9 a. m. tomorrow by Judge John B. Ogden at 10:10 o'clock tonight.

Judge Ogden instructed the jurors to work as late as they desire and to report in the morning.

COURTHOUSE, ARDMORE, Okla., June 26. (AP)—The murder trial of W. E. (Bill) Guess for the slaying of Emilio Cortes Rubio, young kinsman of President Ortiz Rubio of Mexico, was given to a Carter county district court jury at 7:32 p. m. tonight.

The jury took the case instructed to return a verdict for first degree murder, first degree manslaughter or acquittal, just 19 days after Cortes Rubio and his youthful student comrade, Manuel Gomez, lost their lives before Guess' gun on a residential street here.

Cecil Crosby, another former deputy who did no actual shooting, is charged with Guess for the murders of Emilio and Manuel Gomez, his comrade, on the vacation motor trip to Mexico which ended so tragically here June 7. Crosby today insisted he would demand a trial even if Guess were acquitted. This cannot take place now, County Attorney Marvin Shilling said, because of depleted funds, but the charge will not be dismissed.

Three Possibilities

The Guess jury, instructed for three possible verdicts, heard daylong word pictures of the six-foot defendant painted by half a score lawyers, including fiery little M. C. Gonzales, attorney for the Mexican consul general at San Antonio.

Judge John B. Ogden, presiding in this sweltering little courtroom, early in the day gave instructions

They felt, that since there was no demand for immediate action on the election of a permanent president, further time should be taken for consideration and investigation.

STAMFORD, Texas, June 26. (AP)—Veteran cowmen who wrested West Texas from marauding Indian tribes and prepared the way for the coming of civilization, took over the Texas cowboy reunion today, as their ranks increased in number to almost 500.

L. C. Proctor, 72, of Midland, was the oldest cowboy entered in the contest, but he insisted on having the fastest horse obtainable.

WELL WOULD EXTEND POOL THREE MILES

Deep Pay of Munger No. 1 Picked Up to South At 3815 Feet

CASING BEING SET

Oil Industry's Interest Is Centered on Test in K. M. A. Area

By JIMMIE MAXWELL
Record News Oil Editor

A possible three-mile extension to the productive horizon of the Deep Oil Development company's 3800-foot pay hinges on the outcome of a test to be made in the Shappell Oil company's No. 1 W. P. Ferguson in north Archer county, two miles southeast of Kemp City.

The Shappell test, which for the past 10 days has had the eyes of the district's fraternity focused in its direction, is located in the E. Patterson survey, abstract 1179, three miles southeast of the Munger well.

The test late Thursday afternoon cored into a sandy lime at 3815 feet and encountered a nice oil show when drilling ceased. Casing is being run and the formation will be tested in the next few days. Top of the lime was picked up at 3798 feet but until 3815 feet no oil was found.

The test missed the two upper saturated limes which were found in the Deep Oil No. 1 Munger. However this is characteristic of the Strawn formation which varies greatly. The horizon picked up by the Shappell well compares with the 3800-foot in the Munger which was the most productive encountered.

A commercial producer here will be the factor in opening up a big new deep area on the Archer-Wichita county border and further progress will be watched by all North Texas oildom.

Hugh Butler's Victim Fights Knife Wound

HUNTSVILLE, Texas, June 26. (AP)—John Pringle, serving a 25-year sentence for murder from Tarrant county, whose throat was cut Wednesday by "Hoptoe" Butler, under 99-year sentence also from Tarrant county, was in improved condition tonight and probably will recover, Lee Simmons, general manager of the prison system, said.

No disciplinary action had been taken as yet against Butler, contrary to reports that he had been placed in "solitary," and no charge had as yet been filed, the general manager added.

Why Butler, who also was convicted of murder, attacked Pringle remained more or less a mystery here in the prison.

DANISH FLIERS REACH HOMELAND

COPENHAGEN, June 26. (AP)—Holger Hoiriis and Otto Hillig completed their transatlantic air adventure today, bringing their plane Liberty down on Copenhagen's airport, and immediately became the center of as noisy and enthusiastic a welcome as this city has seen.

A throng of 60,000 persons awaited them when they alighted at 2:10 p. m. (7:10 a. m. central standard time). All the rest of the afternoon and all during the evening they were surrounded by crowds of welcomers.

The king conferred knighthood on Hoiriis who was born in Denmark and went to America as a boy.

"I thank you for this undeserved homage," Hoiriis said at welcoming ceremonies at city hall. "Whatever I have tried to achieve was in honor of the land of my birth and of the name Hoiriis."

Hillig pleased his hearers by saying: "I have always been a lover of Copenhagen but never has it looked so beautiful as today."

The fliers could get little rest in their hotel room, if they so much as showed themselves at a window the throngs in the streets cheered lustily.

The happiest person in Copenhagen was the mother of Hoiriis, her worries for 32 hours after the take-off from Newfoundland, over. She was in Copenhagen on one of the few visits in her entire life from the family homestead in rocky Jutland.

During the public ceremonies her glance never wavered from the bronzed face of her son.

Two alarms caused by grass fires were answered earlier in the evening.

Friberg News

FRIBERG, Texas, June 26.—Threshing operations in this district having gotten well under way during the last week, are proceeding at a rapid pace. Threshing machines are at work here and there, bringing back a pastoral picture (dear to the heart of the old-time threshermen) that was almost lacking at this season during the last three years when combines, the more modern method of harvesting grain, held the foreground and threatened to banish forever the old-time thresher. To those familiar there is a spirit of romance that clings 'round the old machines with their high heaped bundle wagons, their hearty, vagabond crews, their shrill whistles and their open-air cook shacks that send out savory odors. One grows fond of familiar things and regrets their passing. A number of combines are at work, too. It appears that combined wheat does not attain that excellency of ripeness and flavor peculiar to threshed grain and is not in such demand or command so high a market price.

Cotton fields around over the district are in good shape, showing a sturdy thick growth and will soon be ready to be thinned out. There is still moisture in the ground but within a week rain will be a necessity to hasten the growth to fruition before the hot July weather. Cotton is unusually late, due to the cold, wet spring. A majority of the growers planting their fields two or three times before a stand was obtained. Corn is progressing nicely and present prospects, indicate a good fall crop. Feedstuffs, too, are making steady growth and holding their own against the dry warm weather. Late vegetable gardens are on the wane, and are badly in need of rain.

Such vegetables as peas, beans, cucumbers and melons are suffering some damage from grasshoppers, but more from the lack of moisture.

At a quarterly conference meeting held at the Methodist church Sunday morning, Mrs. Jennie Jenne was elected a delegate to attend the annual conference of the Methodist church in the fall. Robert Lovell and Miss Carrie Jenne acted as tellers during the meeting. The conference was conducted by Rev. A. F. Heusel, local pastor, who presided in the absence of Rev. T. S. Pittinger, district superintendent. Rev. Pittinger sent word from his home in El Reno, Okla., that he would postpone his visit to a later date when a larger crowd could be present at his hearing. Church and social activities are almost at a standstill in this community because of the busy harvest season.

JURY RECEIVES ARDMORE CASE

for a verdict of first degree murder first degree manslaughter or acquittal.

Although the jury was not so qualified, it may return the death penalty. An alternative murder penalty is life imprisonment. Four years is the minimum on the manslaughter count. If the jurors feel Guess acted as he claims, in fear of his life at the point of pistols, they may return an acquittal.

'Sanguinary Instinct'

A stirring plea by Gonzales and another just as powerful by Guy Sigler, of the defense, were among the many closing statements.

Bill Guess, said Gonzales, was "prosecutor, judge and jury," when he shot down the youths. Emilio, he shouted, was "sacrificed to the sanguinary instinct of an irresponsible officer."

Calling the tall defendant a dutiful peace officer who "stands between civilization and lawlessness day and night," Sigler pounded the jury box with the Mexicans' pistols and shouted "it is better to be too quick on the trigger than not quick enough: in another quarter second Bill Guess would have gone to eternity."

He said it wasn't important to the jury that "the Mexican republic and President Hoover are interested in this case."

'Planted' Charged

Gonzales charges Guess "planted" a pistol on Gomez and asked for punishment for the slayer to stop "other Bill Guesses" from killing "innocent defenseless boys."

Sigler said the youths had pistols because they were "looking for trouble" and that they were "dressed more like hijackers than students."

The arguments kept a large crowd in and about the courtroom. One drunken man, jammed helplessly in a door during arguments, was ordered jailed by the judge.

Tom Champion, of the defense said the slain boys "committed suicide by their own indiscretion" and that they "armed themselves with enough ammunition to destroy an entire regiment of the Mexican army."

W. H. Brown, also a governor's prosecutor, said there was no hint Guess and Crosby were trying to arrest the youths and asked why, if the students wanted to harm the officers, they had not done it before the shootings.

John L. Hodge of the defense said he was sure the jury would not "crucify this citizen on the cross of international felicitation."

lege students. In all groups the majority of men were interested in reading about laws, the next war, preparedness, international problems, and personal hygiene. Women were interested in only the last two of these topics. They chose for the most part more personal subjects such as successful marriage, personal qualities analyzed, self improvement, and the changing status of women.

All topics relating to business, mechanical inventions, farming, and government were avoided by the majority of feminine readers, Dr. Waples found. Men, on the other hand, avoided principally topics pertaining to art. By overcoming their indifference to political and economic problems women could do more to improve the condition of the country at large than could men by taking up art, in Dr. Waples opinion.

To the degree that the average reader is informed about current events and values of real importance to society, we are protected against the designs of unscrupulous minorities, Dr. Waples points out. The character of adult reading may be of far greater importance to the United States than the percentage of illiteracy, since reading may either enlighten or confuse. The proportion of adults who know how to read but not much else may already be too large."

1932 Campaign Needs New Support, Says Poling

WASHINGTON, June 26. (AP)—More than a score of prohibition leaders gathered in the capital today as members of a "board of strategy" to lay plans for coordinated action in the 1932 campaign.

Leaders in the group, composed of representatives of both new and old-line prohibition organizations, disclosed the board purposely was meeting as such nearly a year in advance of the coming major party conventions in order to rally support for those two occasions.

As the board met this morning, however, one of its members stood pledged to the statement that the organized dry forces thus far had fallen short in their plans and that his newly created group planned to seek "fresh support for the dry law."

Dr. Daniel A. Poling of New York, chairman of the allied forces for prohibition, asserted he believed this new support, from sources he said thus far had not been touched by organized dry efforts, was necessary to "weigh the balance between defeat and victory in 1932."

In discussing details of the allied forces' plans for a campaign into 257 cities in as many days, Dr. Poling said he believed that "instead of disturbing the support now accorded the Anti-Saloon league and the W. C. T. U., we will bring them fresh strength."

The campaign as he outlined it would start in Columbus, Ohio, Sept. 8. Two appointed speakers would hold a series of meetings there on that day, to be followed by two more on the second day and two more on the next day. By the third day, he said, the first two speakers would have been to Indianapolis and on to St. Louis.

Unwanted Child Finds Home With Bereaved Mother

HAMMOND, Ind., June 26. (UP)—Five-year-old Howard Timmons, whose mother said she neither loved nor wanted him, found happiness today and a welcome in the home of a woman who for years had wanted a child and lost the two she had.

Howard was found wandering in the streets several nights ago. Police kept him overnight after he explained his mother had told him to "get out."

Next day, police were told by the mother, Mrs. Iona Marie Timmons, 26, that Howard's story was true.

Police threatened to arrest Mrs. Timmons on a charge of child abandonment unless she took Howard back.

Reading of Howard's experience, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Forsythe became interested, visited Mrs. Timmons and offered to take the boy. Mrs. Timmons gave him up—willingly, they said.

Right-of-Way Contract Signed For Childress-Pampa Rail Branch

Special to The Record News

CHILDRESS, Texas, June 26.—Contracts were signed Friday between the citizens of Childress and the Fort Worth and Denver Northern Railway company for the right-of-way through childress county. The citizens of Childress ar purchasing the right-of-way from a point about four miles north of the city to the north line of the county.

Under the agreement the railway company is to begin construction work within 60 days, but the understanding is work is to be under way within two weeks, as one contractor has machinery on the ground ready for work.

Reports from Pampa, Shamrock and Wellington are to the effect the right-of-way through Collingsworth, Wheeler and Gray counties will be secured with in the next few days, thus permitting construction work to be pushed over the entire route.

A recent decision of the Interstate Commerce commission compels the company to begin work by July 1, but as considerable work has been done in Childress county that point will hardly count. The length of the road is 120 miles, running from Childress to Pampa. The expenditure will run to almost five million dollars, according to figures announced. It is expected that the building of the railway will add to the prosperity of this section of the Panhandle.

WOMAN DENIES POISON DEATHS

Mother Questioned in Fatal Picnic Probe

LEBANON, Ind., June 26. (AP)—Held for a grand jury investigation of the poison deaths of her two daughters, Mrs. John W. Simmons reiterated to officers here today that she had no knowledge of how or by whom poisoned capsules were placed in chicken sandwiches eaten by Virginia, 14, and her 10-year-old sister, Jean, at a family reunion picnic last Sunday.

The woman's husband, refusing on the advice of an attorney to answer questions, returned to his home at Greenfield to await developments.

Mrs. Simmons, who prepared the sandwiches, was questioned concerning the fact that some of them were held together with one toothpick while others contained two. Authorities said they believed the person who inserted the poison might have used the means to distinguish the poison as a protection to himself.

The victims' mother said she at first placed one tooth pick in all of the sandwiches and later stuck a second in several when they came apart.

Texas Facts

By BILL EDWARDS

Texas is making progress in the development of its dairying industry. At the close of 1930 milk plants in operation in the state had a daily capacity for handling 800,000 pounds of milk and nearly a dozen new plants have been brought into operation since that figure was compiled. Cheese plants, capable of handling 250,000 pounds of milk a day, are not included in that figure, bring the total milk-handling capacity of Texas plants well beyond a million pounds a day.

This is likely to be the sort of a summer when a business man won't have to leave his office to go into the country for rest and quiet.

Necessity or Luxury?

IF THE problems of charity are a little bit harder to understand now than they used to be, blame the automobile.

Having changed most other phases of our civilization, the auto has also done things to the old allied issues of poverty, crime and relief work.

In Cleveland the other day a man was arrested while siphoning gasoline from the tank of a parked car into the tank of his own machine.

It developed that he was a hitherto law-abiding citizens; an honest and industrious workman, who had been out of a job for a year or more and who was resorting to theft simply because he had no money to buy gasoline of his own.

Here is a new twist to an old problem. The honest working man who is driven to crime by poverty, and steals a sack of groceries or snatches a purse in order to keep his family from starving, is a stock figure of every business depression. Usually he gets lenient treatment, quite properly. But how about this new case? Is there a parallel? Is a starving auto on the same plane with a starving family?

Somewhat similar are the reports of welfare workers, who point out that families that reached destitution through unemployment usually hang on to their automobiles like grim death, squeezing out nickles and dimes for gasoline when the larder is actually empty. Most welfare organizations have made it a rule not to extend help to families that have not sold their cars.

At first blush one is inclined to be sharply critical of people who persist in sticking to their automobile when the cupboard is bare. But there is, after all, something to be said for them.

We live in an automobile age. For the majority of Americans the auto has ceased to be a luxury and has become a necessity. Thousands upon thousands of urban workers live far out in the suburbs, beyond the reach of the car lines, and cannot get to and from the city without their autos—unless, of course, they walk three or four miles each way.

Furthermore, for a steadily increasing percentage of the population, the automobile has become almost the only form of relaxation. Except for their afternoon and evening drives—aimless, pleasant and healthful—many Americans get almost no recreation at all.

Are such people to be blamed for wanting to keep their autos?

In other words, we have made a civilization in which the automobile is the keystone of the arch. Should we get too indignant when those who, through no fault of their own, are plunged in poverty persist in trying to maintain the family car?

Passengers and Crew

NEWS that a mutiny on the yacht of Zane Grey, famous novelist, has forced him to abandon a proposed 18-months' cruise in the South seas emphasizes the fact that the same experience can mean entirely different things to different people.

A long yachting cruise in the South seas seems, offhand, like one of the most delightful experiences possible for mortal man. Mr. Grey and his guests, undoubtedly, looked at it that way. But the crew didn't.

The crew would have enjoyed the same balmy climate, the same warm tropical nights, the same magnificent ocean vistas and the same palm-decked islands that the afterguard enjoyed. But there was, apparently, a difference.

To get those things in a comfortable deck chair under an awning is not, it would seem, quite the same as working one's way through them. The yachtsmen found it a privilege to leave civilization far behind; the crew felt otherwise. The point of view, apparently, makes all the difference.

EXPLANATION OF YESTERDAY'S CARTOON

BLACK AND GOLD ARE THE "LIGHTEST COLORS"—The New York, Philadelphia and Washington Airway corporation (Ludington line) have found that by painting their airliners black and gold instead of red and gold they reduce the weight of each ship 50 pounds. This is due to the red lead in the red paint.

Monday—"A very wealthy street with a cheap name."

THE STORY SO FAR

Sally Blair, in love with Peter Douglas, has just heard that his engagement to Linda Davidson is soon to be announced. Linda is the daughter of Sally's employer, Harvey Davidson. Staying with Sally is Ann Tierney, separated from her husband, Mac Tierney, and very unhappy. One evening Mr. Davidson sends Sally to his home on an errand. Linda is preparing for her announcement party and invites Sally in to see the dinner table.

CHAPTER XXXIII

Sally picked up the evening paper she had brought home and made a shield of it so that Ann wouldn't see her face. She didn't even know she was staring at the sports page which she never read, didn't see the black type spread on the gray white page. It was as if the paper were a mirror, and she was viewing again the long banquet table in the Davidson dining room. A table set with 30 places, the flames of the tall candles dancing on the lace cloth, dyeing it crimson in spots, shivering on the hand cut rock crystal goblets. Dozens of candles set in two long rows on the table. Candles banked in a bed of white orchids.

Sally had stopped at one end of the table, unable to go further, and glanced down at the card in its holder near one of the glasses, "Mr. Douglas." Peter's place. Was Linda's at the opposite end, so they could smile at each other over the flickering tall candles?

"Lovely," she had murmured to Linda as she backed out of the room, blinded by the candles, each of them stabbing into her eyes. Well, the table was lovely. The orchids like stiff pale taffeta, the hearts of them tinged with purple, the cobwebby cloth, the shining glasses, the heavy silver, the service plates etched with gold in spidery designs.

And now she was seeing it again, and again, and again. Seeing Peter's plain place card against the glass, engraved in gold. Wondering how the engagement was to be announced. She hadn't asked, of course, and Linda hadn't told her.

Ann Is Discouraged

Perhaps now Linda was telling her guests. . . . Sally looked at the clock. Nine. No, they would only be sitting down to dinner, exclaiming at the table, finding their places, chattering.

"What's the matter?" Ann was asking in her hollow voice.

"Nothing. I'm tired. I think I'll go to bed."

"You look like a ghost, Sally—"

Sally undressed slowly, still thinking about the table, still unable to get it out of her mind.

"Is it Peter, Sally?" Ann inquired.

"Yes. Linda Davidson is announcing her engagement to him tonight."

"I'm sorry—"

"No use being sorry, Ann—"

"You're braver than I am, but still, it's hard for you I know. As hard as it is for me. I wish I were brave like you, Sally. But I'm not. I'm cowardly and weak. Sometimes, like tonight, I wonder if there's any use living any more. Trying to live."

"You mustn't talk like that!"

"I can't help it, that's the way I feel. Trying to go on, and not caring. Not caring for anything, any one but Mac. Only wanting him." It was the first time for several weeks that Ann had mentioned his name. "Sally, you've been so good to me—I can never thank you enough. You'll always remember that I'm grateful, won't you?"

"Of course, and when Mac comes back—"

"He won't, Sally. He won't. I know now, and I've made up my mind that he won't. These months I've been hoping and hoping, and now I know. He won't come back." Finality in her voice, despair.

The Engagement Is Announced

"He will, Ann." But Ann shook her head slowly as she took off her dress, and then started to comb her hair.

"I hate to see you making the same mistake I did, for you are, Sally, although you don't realize it now. You think you can forget Peter, but you can't."

In the morning Sally ran out to buy a paper, and came back with it turned to the society section. It was there, leading the column, a large picture of Linda beside it. The announcement of her engagement to Peter Douglas. "Mr. Harvey Travis Davidson . . . announces the engagement of his daughter, Linda, to Mr. Peter Douglas, son of Mrs. Emily Douglas . . ."

More, too. Filling the column. The schools Linda had attended, the college Peter had gone to, but had not been graduated from. A complete description of the dinner last night, with a list of the guests.

Then at the close, "The wedding will take place late in November."

Sally read the item through, then handed the paper to Ann, who glanced at it and laid it aside.

The breakfast was a dreary one. Sally drank only her coffee, and pushed the toast Ann had made aside. She didn't feel like eating this morning. Neither did she feel like going to the office, and working. Tired. Probably because she had had so little sleep last night.

Ann kissed her warmly when she left the apartment, for Ann went first.

"Sally, thanks again for all you've done for me—"

"Silly, you know you don't need to thank me." Last night Ann had said the same thing.

"I know I don't—but I want to. I want you to know I'm grateful. I've been an awful drag these past few months."

Ann Says Goodbye

"As if I minded! You look better this morning. Happier?" Ann did look better, Sally thought as she looked at her again. The pale cheeks had a hint of color, the first that had been in them for a long time. The blue eyes were brighter. Ann was looking more like herself.

"Much—happier. I'm all right now." Was there a sob in her voice as she answered? Sally couldn't tell, but she knew there were tears in the blue eyes. "And now, good bye, Sally."

"Goodbye, child." The lips that kissed her on the forehead again were hot and dry. A little feverish. Sally told herself. Perhaps Ann wasn't any better after all. Perhaps she was ill . . .

Queer of Ann to kiss her twice in one morning, queer of her to say goodbye. Sally was thoughtful as she cleared the dishes and put them in the kitchen sink. It might be that she was sorry for her, trying to give her sympathy. That was it. Ann knew how she felt, because Ann felt the same way. Those too hot lips still bothered Sally as she put on her coat and went out into the chill October morning.

Tonight when Ann came home SAT.—$20 A WEEK . . . . . she'd have a doctor out to see her. Once before Sally had had a doctor for Ann, and when she explained matters to him alone, he had said the best thing in the world for Mrs. Tierney was to go back to work. That work would take her troubles from her mind more quickly than anything else. She wasn't to brood, and she was to be busy all the time. There was nothing organically wrong.

Because she continued to worry about Ann, she phoned her at 11, at her office, and when Ann answered the call herself was infinitely relieved.

"I was worried about you, that's all," she explained.

"You don't have to worry about me—any more, Sally, dear."

After that she felt better, for Ann's voice had been almost gay over the telephone.

The office was buzzing about the engagement, and Sally had to listen to the history of the affair from the beginning to end from a dozen people before the morning was over. Had to smile and nod with them, although she said nothing. And when Mr. Davidson came in after luncheon, he was full of it, too.

A log fire was lighted in the fireplace in his office, and he was rubbing his hands before the red flames when Sally came in at his call. She sat down in her usual chair.

Ann Fails to Return

"Well, Miss Blair, we've a lot of excitement in our family today. Heard about it?" He was smiling, and his gray hair near the firelight shone like gold. "Fine lad, Peter Douglas. I'm very fond of him. And I think he's going to make Linda very happy. That's all I care about—I want her happy, and contented. When you've an only daughter, you have a big problem."

Sally wondered whether he had given Mrs. Cross the ruby necklace. She wanted to ask, but couldn't get up the courage. Finally she did. "About the necklace, Mr. Davidson. Was it all right?"

"Oh, yes, Mrs. Cross thought it beautiful. I see now that you and the man from Riffany's were entirely right about it."

Had he given it to Mrs. Cross last evening? Sally had noticed that Mrs. Cross wasn't listed among the guests of Linda's party.

Neither had Mr. Davidson attended his daughter's dinner. Perhaps he and Mrs. Cross had been out together . . .

"I'll be lonely when she's married—" Harvey Davidson was looking into the fire, watching the flames rise and dance up the chimney. "Yes, I'll be lonely—" His mood didn't last long however, for in a few moments he was sitting at his desk dictating, the cold machine he usually was.

Sally was late getting home that Saturday afternoon. Even Mr. Davidson was surprised when he looked at the clock and found it was four. He hadn't meant to stay at the office but a few minutes and then dash for home.

It was five before Sally had put her things away and left the building. Five-thirty, when she walked in her apartment, and found it unlighted. Ann hadn't come in yet . . .

Strange . . .

Did Ann's husband come for her at last? Or has an accident befallen her?

Health and Diet Advice

Health Is Contagious

Any one who glances over medical books will be impressed with the fact that a large number of diseases are contagious. You may have been quarrantined, yourself, or know of friends who have been. This idea that disease is catching is often brought out in magazines devoted to health, in books, and in the daily papers.

When we have so much attention brought to the fact that disease is contagious, one sometimes wonders whether or not health is not also contagious. Of course it is! Health is one of the most catching states of being. Whenever you come close to a person in glorious health you immediately get a feeling of vigor, strength, power, energy and life, and immediately you feel more alive and healthy yourself and have a desire to make yourself better.

Health is even more catching than disease, for we can only become infected with disease when the resistance is low, but we can almost always take on a little more health. One book on psychology states that no one is afraid of too much health. It is impossible to conceive of too much health. The more health you have, the better and the more you will inspire others. If you are really on tiptoe with abundant health, other people will be attracted to you. They cannot help it. Health attracts because it is good; it is the natural condition.

Some people fear a crowd on account of the idea of catching disease germs, yet there is always some person in every crowd who has every evidence of health, that is, a good skin, clear eyes, a vigorous body and a good natured smile. His health is contagious.

Allow yourself to become thoroughly infected with health instead of thinking that you are contracting disease. Substitute the positive suggestion to yourself that you are enjoying health. Be healthy, yourself, so that you can "give it to others." Think about health—hold the idea of perfect health in your mind; talk about health—find out from healthy people what makes them healthy. "And in the degree that you realize this wholesomeness, this abounding health and strength in yourself, you will carry it to all with whom you come in contact, for we must remember that health is contagious as well as disease." This is from a very excellent book by Ralph Waldo Trine, called "In Tune With the Infinite." The same idea is brought out in a book entitled, "The Essentials of Healthful Living" by Sadler, when he writes: "Disease, generally speaking, has to be cultivated, but health is contagious."

Another invigorating thought is brought out in the book by Dr. Joseph Lobel called "Why Be Afraid?" "People will simply infect themselves with health instead of disease. Health will become an epidemic in the world and let us hope that it will remain contagious."

An epidemic of health! Now there is an uplifting idea for you to think about. Imagine an epidemic of overflowing health sweeping over the world, infecting millions, spreading to every town and city. It is said that one person with an infectious disease will start an epidemic which will fly over a whole city. Why not start your own epidemic of health? Try to be healthful and give healthful vibrations to every one you meet.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Dermatitis

Question—Mrs. O. M. R. writes: "I would like some information on the skin trouble known as dermatitis, its cause, duration, treatment, what diet it needs, etc."

Answer—Dermatitis simply means inflammation of the skin of which there are hundreds of kinds, each having its cause, duration and treatment. It would be necessary to know more about your condition to advise you exactly.

Constipation

Question—L. V. asks: "What is your opinion of psyllium seed for constipation and how long should it be taken? Also, raw wholewheat well chewed, and bran?"

Answer—Psyllium seed could not be considered harmful in constipation as it is a lubricant. It is used for relief, and not for the cure of constipation. Raw wholewheat is difficult to digest. Bran should not be used if there is any inflammation in the intestines, as it may cause some irritation.

Neck Muscles Painful

Question—Mrs. N. E. D. writes: "My little girl has a painful, sensitive area in the muscles at the side of her neck. What would you advise for treatment?"

Answer—It would be necessary to make an examination of the painful area of your daughter's neck to determine the condition present. Possibly she has just strained some muscles or ligaments. In the latter case massage or warm applications would be helpful. If you discover that some disease is the cause, I will be pleased to send further information if you will send me your doctor's report.

Ingleside Boys' Club Studies Feed Balance

Special to The Record News

OLNEY, Texas, June 26.—Members of the Ingleside Boys' 4-H club met Thursday at 2 o'clock in the Ingleside school house. The county agent, G. R. Warren, discussed feeds that are rich in protein and most suitable to balance the farm grown grains.

Pictures were shown of a pig that gained 92 pounds more than a litter mate by having its grain properly balanced with a protein-rich feed. The value of skim milk as livestock and poultry feeds was also stressed.

After the program visits were made to see the club pig being fattened by Carl Hankins and to see Kenneth Van's pedigreed hegari, which was furnished by the Olney Chamber of Commerce. Both boys were making excellent progress with their projects.

BUFFS SCORE THREE IN NINTH TO NOSE OUT SPUDS, 7 TO 6

The Rambler's Corner

By FRED THOMPSON

Since the Spudders cannot win the first half, the Rambler is pulling for the Buffs to carry off the honors, confident that the Spuds can weather the storm in the second half and go into the play-off, but I'm making a poor rooter for the Buffs, according to Lloyd Gregory, Houston Post-Dispatch sports editor who is here covering the current series.

A clean sweep of the Spudder series, coupled with a few missteps by the Beaumont Shippers, would put the Houston boys right on top by July 1, when the second half starts. Before the start of the series opener Thursday I informed Gregory of my leanings toward Houston, but when the game started I could not help but root manfully for every Spudder that came to bat, yelping, of course, every time a Bison connected for a hit.

The Houston scribe tried to make me explain why I continued to pull for the Spuds, knowing our boys are out of the first half race, and knowing how badly Houston needs a decision in this series.

But that was one paradox difficult to explain.

The writer last saw Gregory about five years ago. Gregory then was head of the Associated Press bureau in Austin, while I was a rank cub on the morning paper there. Us cubs used to read the dispatches of Gregory and his assistant, Bill White, with awe, wondering how they did it, and it was our ambition to turn in as good copy as our superiors. Since then Gregory has built up a national reputation as sports editor of Governor Sterling's paper in Houston, and by coincidence, Bill White, Gregory's former assistant, is now head of the Associated Press bureau at Houston. The onward and upward trail!

A while back Gregory and Jinx Tucker, bad boy of the Waco News-Tribune sports pages, were finalists, as we understood it, in a contest to pick the ugliest sports editor in Texas. If the matter ever was settled we never heard of it. But Tucker would have run a poor second Thursday, for Gregory appeared in the press box after a half day's ride on the train from Dallas, eyes clouded for lack of sleep, and his robust face a fertile garden of manly foliage, bristling and uncontrolled whiskers!

A Northsider of Quanah wrote several days ago protesting that the Growling Cub of Chillicothe had not, as alleged, tried to book a three-game series with the Quanah team. Northsider concludes that "I'm sure it was Airmail Sam, our bat jerker and water boy, the Growling Cub talked to. You see, Sam is a very alert young man who pursues foul balls, and knowing the quantity of such balls hit by the Cubs he naturally was averse to our playing them."

And then Northsider winds up by asking us this one: "How would you score this play. One man out and runner on first. Batter lifts a high infield fly which I misjudge but pick up and force runner out at second sack. Do I get an error, assist, or what?"

You get an assist; no error, for you got the man out at second.

William L. Ervi of Electra writes: "I would appreciate it if you will answer the following questions for me.

"When a ball is hit to the outfielder, and ball hits the ground in front of him and bounds over the fielder's head without being touched, is the batter given a base hit for as many bases as he may take before the ball is recovered?

"In the event the ball hits the ground in front of the fielder and gets past him on the ground without being touched when ball should have been stopped, is the batter given a single and the fielder an error, or the batter given a hit for as many bases as he may take before the ball is recovered?

"What is considered now as sacrifice hit, and is it counted a time at bat."

Whether the ball bounds over the fielder's head, or gets past him on the ground when it should have been stopped, the fielder is not charged with an error if he does not get his hands on the ball, and the batter is entitled to make as many bases as he can while the ball is being recovered.

The sacrifice fly has been eliminated, and the bunt is now the only sacrifice. A batter who advances a runner in this manner is not charged with a time at bat.

"A Sandlotter of Olney" wants to know the answers to four questions:

1. If a batter hits a fly and the fielder lets the ball bounce out of his hands and catches it, is the batter out?

If you mean the fielder juggles the ball, but holds it, preventing it from touching the ground, the batter is out.

2. How far in front of the plate can the batter stand?

As far as he wants, so long as he does not get out of the regulation batter's box.

3. Batted ball hits plate and rolls fair. Is it a foul?

No. It's a fair ball. The plate is in fair territory.

4. Is the batter out if third strike is fouled and it hits the batter?

No. He must be hit by a fair batted ball to be retired.

C. H. Dunn of Devol, Okla., asks for the following information:

"How much are Levey and Burns batting in the American league?

"Has Hal Wiltse been released by the Phillies?

"How many games were the Spudders ahead at the end of the first half of the 1930 season?

"Is The Record News going to print box scores of the Panhandle league?"

The Rambler is sorry, but he has no official figures on Levey's or Burns' batting averages to date. Both are hitting well, however.

Wiltse contracted a sore arm in the Phils' training camp, and on his failure to recover, was released shortly after the season opened to the Milwaukee Brewers, from whom he had been purchased.

The Spudders were eight and one-half games ahead of the second place Houston Buffs at the end of the first half of last season. (Ah, the good old days!)

The Panhandle league, at last accounts, had hit the rocks.

SCOOP PLAYS GREAT GAME

Payne Bounced Out but Carleton Checks Attack

By FRED THOMPSON

The Buffs won a great ball game yesterday in the ninth inning, 7 to 6, but it wasn't the fault of Scoop Scharein, Buck Stanton, or Bo Euller, this trio setting a defensive pace seldom seen in a Texas league park.

The Spudders whittled away at Ole Rubber Arm Payne, scoring all but one of their six runs in the little more than four innings he worked, while Ashley Hillin, braving a turbulent slugging festival, kept hits scattered as best he could and received hair-raising support to hold the Buffs to four runs in eight innings.

But in the ninth, a double, a single, an infield out, another single and Garms' error scored the tying runs and put the winning run on third before Carl Williams sent Milton Steengrafe to Hillin's rescue. Sanders, first batter to face Steengrafe, bunted to score Sturdy from third with the winning tally, and when the Spuds went down scoreless in the ninth it marked the end of a wild and exciting engagement.

That "Infield Out!"

The "infield out" casually referred to above was one of the greatest infield plays ever seen here, and Scoop Scharein was the boy who put it over. Lightnin' Jim Levey himself doubtless would have held his breath had he been at the park to see the nimble Scoop leg it behind second base for Medwick's hard-hit grounder, and then cut a wide arc with his daredevil peg to first. That was only one of three great plays Scoop made during the game. In the third a running stab of this same Medwick's line drive through the infield brought the crowd to its feet, and in the fifth the shortstop came up with another great stop and throw on Rollings' sizzling grounder. But neither of the last two feats could approach that great ninth-inning play, which bids fair to make baseball history in Wichita Falls.

In the sixth inning Buckaroo Stanton leaped into the hall of fame, and, incidentally, almost into the much discussed stratosphere, when he brought down Sturdy's line drive with a backhanded catch. One of several brilliant plays by Bo Euller, and his best of the day, was in the ninth when he did his part to stem the rally by halting Peel's liner down the third base line, a blow that went for a single, although clearly labeled for extra bases.

Spuds Batter Payne

Payne was in hot water from the first, and before the ex-Spudder went to wash up the Spuds had pounded him for nine hits and five runs. His successor, Newsome, was little better, yielding the other Spudder tally before the fifth was over. But when Skipper Joe Schultz sent Tex Carleton in, the Spudder attack suddenly dwindled. This right-handed smoke-baller, who pitched a six-hit victory against the Spudders Thursday, came right back Friday and pitched two-hit ball the remaining four innings and made a hero of himself in a relief way.

Carleton's success probably saved Mr. Dean a little work, for Skipper Schultz had the dizzy one in the bull pen the latter part of the contest, in case Carleton should weaken.

The series will close today. Houston has Fowler and Dean to start, though the first named was likely to get the assignment. Skipper Williams, juggling his hurlers apparently to save Bob Cooney for one of Sunday's games with Beaumont, probably will start Milt Steengrafe today. If this plan works out, Cooney and White will go after the Shippers Sunday.

The Buffs did more than their share to provide added fielding thrills in Friday's game, the most spectacular play being Sanders' fine catch of Stanton's fly to deep center, retiring the Spudders with two on base in the eighth; and Medwick's wicked pick-up of Scharein's fly to shallow right that ended the game.

In a hitting way, old Ashley Hillin was the star of the day, having a perfect afternoon with three hits, two of which drove in runs, in three official trips.

Stormy Freddie Vincent was in the pitchers' box during batting practice for the second day. Freddie, who has been out of the game for weeks due to an appendicitis operation, took a brief turn in the box Thursday, and a longer one yesterday, burning the ball over with plenty of fire and control, indicating he will return shortly to active duty. Incidentally, Art Bradbury clouted two over the left field fence, and rattled the boards with a third in the hitting practice. Some boy, this Bradbury.

Payne in Trouble

Some great defensive work held the Buffs scoreless in the first. Hock opened with a single to right. Rollings, attempting to sacrifice, popped a foul over the third base line which Bradbury raced down to catch. Rollings fouled out to Stanton. Garms made a great catch against the left field fence of Peel's line drive.

Ole Rubber Arm Payne got in trouble when the Spuds came up. Garms beat out a bunt to the box when Payne fell down trying to pick it up. Allday walked, Garms taking second. Stanton bunted in front of the plate and Garms slid into third safely on Funk's bad peg to Hock, loading the bases. Gullic singled to left center, scoring Garms and Allday, Stanton taking second. Bradbury hit into a double play, short to second to first, Stanton taking third. Fuss grounded out, third to first, to retire the side.

Ash Hillin let the Buffs pack the sacks with but one down in the second, and then pitched out of the hole like a master. Medwick and Sturdy singled and both advanced when Bradbury made a wild throw to second trying to pick Medwick off. Sanders flied to Garms, but Funk walked, loading the bases. Then Hillin made Payne pop up to Scharein and Hock forced Funk at second, Scharein to Allday.

In the Spudder half Scharein led off with a single past third. Euller popped up to Payne, Hillin singled past first, but Garms hit into a double play, second to short to first.

Buffs Tie Score

The Buffs tied it up in the third. Rollings led off with a single past second. Selph lined out to Garms, but Peel cracked one over the left field fence, scoring Rollings ahead of himself. Scharein brought a salvo of cheers from the stands as he made a spectacular one-handed stab of Medwick's drive. Sturdy singled to center, but Sanders popped to Euller for the third out.

The slugging match continued in the last of the frame, when Allday singled through second and Stanton banged a base hit to center, Allday taking third. Gullic popped to second in shallow center. Bradbury hit a used-to-be sacrifice fly to right and Allday scored after the catch, giving the Spudders the lead again. Payne knocked down Fuss' grounder through the box and it dribbled on to the shortstop, who forced Stanton at second for the third out.

Hillin pitched the first hitless inning of the contest in the fourth, Funk flying out to Garms, Payne grounding out, Hillin to Stanton, and Hock flying out to Garms. The Spuds rapped old George for three hits and another run in the last of the frame. Scharein flied out to left, but Euller and Hillin singled in succession. They advanced when Garms rolled out to first. Allday singled to right, scoring Euller, but Stanton popped up to short.

Another Great Play

Scoop Scharein raced all over the infield to get Rollings hard grounder, and came up with it for a perfect peg to first retiring Rollings to start off the fifth. It was a great stop and a great throw. Selph made a wicket of Hillin's long legs for a single, but Peel popped up to Euller in front of the pitcher's box and Garms backed against the left field fence to catch Medwick's high one, retiring the side.

Gullic hit one so hard to start the home half that it bounded off the left center field fence. It was good for only a single, but it meant the end of Ole Rubber Arm's reign on the mound. Newsome went to the box for Houston. Bradbury laid a perfect bunt down in front of the plate, sacrificing Gullic to second. On a wild pitch Gullic went to third. The wild heave hit the plate and bounced up the grandstand wire nearly to the press box. Fuss walked. Scharein forced Fuss at second, short to second, Gullic scoring. Scharein stole second. Euller walked. Hillin came through with his third hit of the day, a single to right, to score Scharein and advance Euller to third. Garms was called out on strikes to end it.

Haulin' It Down!

Such fielding! Buck Stanton leaped four feet into the air to make a back-handed stab of Sturdy's line drive to open the sixth. Sanders beat out an infield hit to second and Funk singled to right. Carleton hit for Newsome and beat out a hard chance to second, loading the bases. Hock flied out to Garms. When Garms heaved into the plate, Sanders slid in and tore the shin guard off Bradbury's left leg. Umpire Basil, amidst arguments and confusion, ruled Sanders was safe. Rollings flied to Gullic for the third out.

Carleton went to the mound for the Buffs in the last of the inning. Allday lined out to right. Stanton singled past first, but was thrown out stealing, catcher to second. Gullic grounded out, short to first.

Hillin breezed through the seventh, a walk to Peel allowing the only Buff on base, and the Bisons were held hitless. Carleton retired the Spudders in order.

The Buffs started a mean rally in the eighth, when Sanders doubled down the right field foul line, and scored on Funk's double to center. Carleton grounded out, Allday to Stanton, Funk taking third. Hock grounded out, Allday to Stanton, and Rollings flied to Gullic for the third out, leaving the Spuds still two runs ahead.

Euller got on first on a scratch hit to open the last of the eighth. The ball hit a pocket of dirt between first and second and eluded the fielder's hand. Hillin sacrificed Euller to second. Garms grounded out, second to first, Euller taking third. Allday walked. A great catch by Sanders in center field prevented the Spuds from scoring. Sanders ran backwards for Stanton's high one, and caught it just before he fell in a heap near the center field boards.

They Win It

The Buffs got off strong again in the ninth when Selph led off with a double down the left field foul line. Peel grounded a single to Euller that ordinarily would have been a double, Selph taking third. Scharein made a sensational play to retire Medwick at first, Selph scoring and Peel taking second. Sturdy singled past Scharein, Peel scoring with the tying run and Sturdy continued to third when Garms let the ball get through him. Steengrafe relieved Hillin. Sanders bunted out to first and Sturdy scored what proved to be the winning run. Funk grounded out, Euller to Stanton.

Trailing one run, the Spudders couldn't get started in the last of the ninth and saw a hard-fought game taken from them. Gullic tried to step away from a pitch, but the ball hit the end of his bat and popped up to the first baseman. Bradbury singled to right, but Fuss popped up to third and Scharein flied out to right, Medmick coming up with a great catch to end the game.

Maxie Primes For Stribbling Battle

CONNEAUT LAKE PARK, Pa., June 26. (AP)—Max Schmeling hopes to conquer Young Stribling with a body attack in their world's heavyweight championship battle in Cleveland a week from tonight.

The black uhlan gave evidence of this in his five-round workout against two sparring partners this afternoon. They tossed George Panka, Pittsburgh heavyweight, and Tiny Marullo, the New Orleans veteran, into the ring with Schmeling and against both sparring mates. The German moved forward until he got into close quarters and then let fly with both hands to the body. Beyond question, this is the style of battle he intends to employ against the king of the Georgia canebrakes.

Schmeling will box again tomorrow and Sunday with Monday a day of rest. He will be in the ring again on Tuesday, finishing up his work with the gloves Wednesday.

DEATH CLAIMS 'CON' LUCID

First Texas League Coach Dies at Houston

HOUSTON, June 26. (AP)—Cornelius C. Lucid, 59, former National league baseball player, first coach of a Texas league club, and one time assistant coach at Rice institute here, died yesterday after a short illness.

"Con," as he was known by hundreds, spent 16 years in baseball. Seven of these he was in the majors. He received his education at Notre Dame.

In 1892 Lucid performed a feat that led to a berth in a major league club. Spokane's pitchers were all disabled as the club started a road trip. He took up the pitching duties, hurled 30 consecutive games on 30 consecutive days and won all of them.

Americans Win At Wimbledon

WIMBLEDON, England, June 26. (US)—Great Britain, France and New Zealand today felt the strength of America's bid for international tennis honors on Wimbledon's courts when three sterling members of America's Davis cup team cut and slashed their way into the fifth round of the tourney.

By supreme artistry, Frank X. Shields enhanced his already brilliant Wimbledon reputation by outplaying J. S. Olliff, British star, in straight sets, with the loss of only four games, 6-2, 6-0, 6-2.

Frank was Olliff's master every moment. Moreover, his court deportment, together with his brilliantly executed shots, firmly established him as the favorite of center court spectators, who are ordinarily most critical of overseas players.

Shields' clear-cut victory was not unexpected, but its execution left the crowds gasping. Frank's marvelous service aces and lightning sideline shots held Olliff at a standstill through the short match.

John Van Ryn of Princeton advanced to the fifth round by eliminating Christian Boussus, up-and-coming young Frenchman, 6-2, 1-6, 6-2, 6-1.

Van Ryn started well, his service telling in the first set. The Frenchman's cross-court flick disturbed the American in the second set, which he lost, but Van Ryn solved Boussus' puzzling style to run out the third and fourth sets with the loss of only three games.

Young Sidney B. Wood Jr., found a tartar in C. E. Malfroy, the new Zealand Rugby player. Wood dominated the first set and then began to experiment with his shots and court maneuvers. This resulted in a ding-dong affair which went to 22 games before Malfroy took the set.

Thus inspired, the man down-under, although a less talented player than Wood, nearly won the third set, but the American's youthful stamina triumphed in the 18th game.

The New Zealander's bolt was shot, and Wood won the fourth set by a convincing margin. The scores were 6-3, 10-12, 10-8, 6-4.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, June 26. (AP)—Cotton scored further sharp advance today. Prices for all months made new high ground for the present movement, with October contracts selling up to 10.59 in the late trading, or 45 points net higher. Closing prices were at the best of the day on most positions, with the final tone strong at net advances of 43 to 45 points.

There was some rather active selling by brokers credited with operating for southern cooperative interests during the morning, but otherwise offerings were light while the trade demand seemed to be coming from various directions. According to local brokers there was buying here for Liverpool, the continent, Indian and Japan during the day which was coupled with local, Wall street and commission house buying. This absorbed the early selling and left the market compartively bare of contracts during the afternoon.

Liverpool cables said that local and continental liquidation in that market had been absorbed by covering and trade calling and reported a fair cloth inquiry from India and Egypt, although many offers were said to be unworkable. Exports today 9,114 making 6,898,934 so far this season.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, June 26. (AP)—Much activity featured the cotton market today and prices scored sharp upturns, gaining about $2.25 a bale on the day.

The stimulating influences were further strength of the stock market and advices to the effect that the Hoover financial proposals were progressing rapidly to fruition.

Liverpool came in 1 to 2 penny points better than due and private cables stated that the trade called and shorts covered, against which there was a moderate amount of long liquidation. Manchester cabled that there was a fair cloth inquiry from India and Egypt.

The market made new highs right at the end at 10.60 for October and 10.84 for December, or 46 to 48 points above the lows and closed at the top on all months, with October and December 44 points net higher for the day.

Market Values Hit New Peak as Active Buying Halts Reaction

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, June 26. (US)—A renewal of active buying today carried the stock market to the highest average prices since late April. The entire list participated in a vigorous recovery from Thursday's reaction. A more or less irregular tendency had developed as the afternoon progressed but a sudden and sharp upward movement in the railroad department resulted in a renewed advance which lifted the market to the peak at the close.

Railroad stocks enjoyed the most substantial average gains, although various speculative and semi-speculative members of the industrial and public utility sections participated with equal vigor. A rumor that the week-end would bring an immediate 7½ per cent advance in railroad rates was the occasion for a brisk upturn in rail shares. Official denial from the Interstate Commerce commission came too late to exert influence upon prices.

The French attitude toward the debt-holiday was not officially available to the market, but even the prospect of delay in negotiating final arrangements failed to exert depressing effect on the market, excited by the many and ever-increasing rumors of bullish import. Trading volume exceeded 3,000,000 shares.

The very sizeable response of the market to the 7½ per cent rate increase rumor was rather significant, even if untrue. It demonstrated quite conclusively that a 15 per cent increase would prove a bonanza far beyond expectations, and that even half this amount would be greatly stimulating to the railroad securities markets. This column has repeatedly asserted that a 5 per cent increase in gross revenues, if carried to net would be highly acceptable to the railroads.

The buying which came into the railroads was on a very broad and substantial scale, carrying the entire group up an average of more than four points for the day. New York Central advanced more than 5 points, Union Pacific 7, Atchison over 8, Baltimore & Ohio 6, Pennsylvania 2⅛, and others in proportion.

American & Foreign Power and International Telephone & Telegraph were in heavy demand, the former rising five points and I. T. T. 2⅛. Their strength was attributed to reports that the next phase of the international credit-improvement strategy will call for concerted assistance to South American countries suffering intense depression. Both A. F. W. and it are heavily interested in South America.

Bears were routed in all stocks, Case Threshing shorts being severely punished by an advance of 6½ points, and in Westinghouse which also harbors an extensive short account, the advance amounted to 2⅜ points. In neither stock, however, was there much demand of an investment character. In case its fluctuations are the reflection primarily of a vicious battle between leading bulls and bears, with the former favored greatly of late by the general bullishness.

Oil stocks held firm. Standard of New York moved off a fraction. It was again rumored that the leading oil executives are conferring informally with a view toward more drastic steps toward stabilization.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, June 26. (AP)—Word that Chairman Stone of the federal farm board attended an unannounced conference with President Hoover led to a buying flurry in grain today. At the same time, the Farmers' National Grain corporation, a government sponsored agency, halted prolonged selling of June wheat. Hopes of traders generally were aroused the farm board would announce that for some definite period the 200,000,000 bushels of surplus old crop wheat owned by the board's allies would be taken out of competition with the new 1931 crop.

No such action of the farm board was announced, however, and wheat closed nervous ⅜ to 1⅛ cents up, with corn 1⅛ to 2⅛ cents advanced, oats showing ⅛@1⅛c gain, and provisions 2 cents to 35 cents down.

General buying of corn was the order of the day until demand flagged under free offerings of corn to arrive. Oats derived most of their strength from hot weather damage talk.

Provisions were depressed by liquidation of July contracts.

TRINITY RIVER HEARING ENDS

Wichita Opposes Tax for Aid of Other Towns

The proposal of Fort Worth and Dallas for a tax levy with which to make navigable the Trinity river to the Gulf of Mexico met strong opposition from Wichita Falls and other Northwest Texas towns during the hearing of evidence in the case at Fort Worth before Maj. Milo B. Cox, federal district engineer, according to Dudley B. Foy, assistant manager of the chamber of commerce here.

Mr. Foy returned from the hearing Friday. He was one of the principal opposition witnesses, and offered objections on the grounds that it is believed that canalization of the Trinity, although resulting in great benefit to Dallas and Fort Worth, would be of benefit to cities along the Trinity river banks only, and at the same time seriously, if not completely, impair the status of West Texas towns as trade and industrial centers.

Further opposition was advanced in that an objection was raised toward governmental participation in business in opposition to private enterprises, and that government owned barage lines now in existence have failed to show a profit.

Objection is made to spending the taxpayers' money of this section for benefits to accrue chiefly to Fort Worth and Dallas.

New and additional testimony by interested parties in this section probably will be present in the allowable 30 days, Mr. Foy said. A second hearing will be held at a later date before the board of Harbor and Inland Water Improvements.

Three Prisoners Leave For Huntsville Pen

Penitentiary Agent Bud Russell from Huntsville collected three men at the Wichita county jail Thursday night on his way to the state prison, it was learned Friday.

Tom Abbott, given two years in district court here recently for swindling over $50; Nelson Blair, sentenced to two years for assault to rob, and J. F. Romines, who drew two sentences of two years each on forgery counts, comprised the trio. Romines' terms were designated to run concurrently.

DEATHS

LOYCE GLIDEWELL

Funeral services for Loyce Glidewell, 17, fatally injured Tuesday when struck by a train at Elk City, Okla., were held Friday afternoon from the chapel of the Merkle Undertaking company.

The Rev. Harold Diggs, pastor of the North Side Baptist church, was in charge. Burial was in Riverside.

Investigations into the cause of the accident at Elk City failed to reveal how it occurred. The boy was on his way from Wichita Falls to Kansas wheat fields. He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Glidewell, 302 Bluff, and three brothers and one sister.

JOHN E. MURPHY

Completion of funeral arrangements for John E. Murphy, 63, of Afton, Texas, who died at a hospital here Friday morning after a brief illness, awaits the arrival of the widow from Afton. The body is held by the Hines mortuary.

30 APPLICANTS FOR MANAGER

Council to Start Eliminations Monday

Applications for the post of city manager of Wichita Falls continued to arrive at the office of Mayor Walter Nelson Jr. Friday, more than 30 having been filed by the close of the day, it was announced.

More than half of those already declared as candidates for appointment to the position which George D. Fairtrace will vacate on July 1 are Wichita Falls residents, it was said. No further announcements of names of applicants will be made, it was said, but all those received will be given the attention of the council in its regular weekly meeting next Monday night.

Conoco Market Department Goes To Fort Worth

T. H. Lawson, general superintendent of the Continental marketing department for the North Texas and New Mexico division, announced that on July 23, the greater part of the Continental marketing department will be moved to Fort Worth.

Economy, better centralization and a material reduction in the operating expenses were the factors in the removal of the office to that city.

Seventy-nine employes will be affected by the change. This will include 30 families and about 140 people who will become future Fort Worth citizens.

Regardless of the move to be made by the marketing department, the Continental Oil company will continue as one of the chief industrial and oil concerns in this city, and has at present a total of 168 employes in the city and surrounding areas. The marketing offices still retain 33 persons on its pay roll in this city.

No changes are to be made in the pipe line, production, refining and geological departments. These will remain intact with headquarters in Wichita Falls. With the transfer of the market section other departments will move to the 11th floor of the Hamilton building, these now being located on the 10th floor.

Fort Worth headquarters will be located on the 17th floor of the Fair building with T. H. Lawson, present superintendent, in charge.

GRASSHOPPERS MENACE CROPS

Insect Pests Increasing, Says County Agent

Grasshoppers have become a serious menace to Wichita county crops within the past few days, G. C. McGown, county farm demonstrator, declared Friday, and should be opposed with a more extensive campaign of poisoning.

Abundant supplies of free white arsenic are available at Mr. McGown's office in the courthouse, and also at Iowa Park and Electra, Mr. McGown announced.

He also stated that black-strap molasses may be obtained at the mill of the Berry Feed & Seed company in this city for mixing the mash with which to fight grasshoppers. Persons going for this grade of molasses should carry their own containers, it was said, as the supply is in bulk.

Manufacturers-Jobbers Plan Meeting Tuesday

The second stage of the reorganization of the manufacturers and jobbers division of the chamber of commerce will be started Tuesday, June 30, with a meeting of the executive committee to select from the ranks of the organization a small group to direct activities, it was announced Friday by J. W. Chatham, chairman.

A questionnaire was mailed by the division to all members recently to obtain the names of represented firms willing to participate actively in the program of work during the future. Friday about 60 per cent of the membership had answered and returned the questionnaire, Mr. Chatham said. Those firms not having returned the questionnaire are requested to do so at once.

During the meeting to be held June 30 at 3 p. m., the executive committee will also formulate plans to increase the benefit derived by manufacturers and jobbers here through membership in the division.

Burk Gas Hearing Set for July 3

Hearing on a petition filed by the city of Burkburnett in the 78th district court here Friday to restrain the Burkburnett Gas company from discontinuing certain gas service lines in that city was set for July 3 by Judge W. W. Cook.

According to the plaintiffs' petition, Clifford Mooers, his associates and assigns were given a 25-year franchise in 1920 for furnishing fuel gas to Burkburnett citizens. The petition further alleges that some of the lines used by that group were leased from other companies, and sets out that certain of these, owned by the LaSalle Petroleum company, have been tentatively designated by the Burkburnett Gas company for discontinuance.
