Three El Paso Truck Drivers View Suspect

J. S. Mays Is Said To 'Look Like' Man Who Was Seen Following Fromes' Car

(Special To The Journal)

SEMINOLE, Aug. 19 — Sheriff John Sartin late this morning broke the several-days silence surrounding investigation into the Frome murder cases with a pronouncement J. S. Mays, 35, of Lubbock had been described by three El Paso truck drivers as "meeting the general description of a man seen following the Frome automobile out of El Paso."

"They confronted the Lubbock man (being held for criminal assault on three night club entertainers of Hobbs) at Pecos," said Sheriff Sartin.

Meets General Description

"There's no use looking at anyone else," the men were quoted as saying, in substance. "We can't say if he's the man, since we saw him only in passing, but he meets the general description of the man we've been looking for ever since then (when a car was described as having followed the Fromes)."

The bodies of Mrs. Weston G. Frome and her pretty daughter Nancy were found in the desert 135 miles east of El Paso April 3.

Needn't Look Anymore

From other sources it was said this morning that Sheriff Sartin and Ranger Frank Mills were told by the truck drivers:

"If this isn't the right man you needn't bother to look for anyone else," indicating Mays' description was so near that of a man reportedly seen in the Van Horn vicinity in late March that no closer identification could be made.

The men declined to say Mays was the man they saw, but officials let it be known they were continuing to check alibis in the Texas Panhandle, in the Pecos-El Paso region and in Colorado.

WPA's Theater Unit Said 'Red'

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—A house committee summoned New York theatrical workers today to testify about a charge by Rep. Thomas (R-NJ) that the WPA's federal theater project is a "hotbed of communism."

Thomas told newsmen the committee, which is investigating un-American activities, had "as complete a case as there is" to show that communism pervaded the project.

GAVE COMMUNISTIC SALUTE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18 (AP) — A witness told a house committee today that Representatives O'Connell (D-Mont.) and Bernard (FL-Minn) gave the "regular communistic salute" after addressing several hundred American youths fighting in Spain.

Alvin I. Halpern, who told the committee investigating un-American activities yesterday about his experiences in the Spanish loyalist army, said the house members spoke at a dedication of pillars at a hospital at Benicasim, Spain.

"They told us we were fighting for a great cause—Democracy—to wipe out fascism," Halpern said. "They gave the regular Soviet salute—a clenched fist in an upright position."

"I have been told," he said, "that it is impossible to get a job in the federal theater project unless you are a member of the Workers' alliance."

(Some witnesses have testified the alliance was dominated by communists.)

Thomas asserted the theme of all the project's plays was the same—"advocating some form of collectivism."

The committee took up the thea-

Data Will Be Cached For Posterity

NEW YORK, Aug. 19 (AP) — Scientists of a future age will have information and evidence of the nature of this world of today — if they'll only follow directions.

A "time capsule" will be buried 50 feet in the earth beneath the exhibit building of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company at the 1939 world's fair.

The copper alloy capsule will contain books and statements describing today's scientific, engineering, industrial, social religious and philosophical achievements, and samples of clothing, motion pictures and photographs — "a cross section of our times." The capsule will be filled with an inect gas as a preservative.

So archeologists will know where to find the capsule, copies of a book describing the cache and its contents and its position, will be distributed to leading libraries and museums of the world.

County's Tax Rate May Be Set Today

Estimated county budget calling for the expenditure of $266,007.21 during the calendar year beginning next Jan. 1 is scheduled for the consideration of the county commissioners court at a special meeting Saturday morning, according to information given this morning by County Judge J. J. Dillard.

The estimated expenditure is $15,566.57 more than that approved last year for the present calendar year, and is $5,626 larger than that for 1937.

Setting Rate To Follow

Setting of the county tax rate for the next year in all probability will follow immediately if the budget is approved, officials said.

The budget, it was added, is based on an expected continuation of the present county tax rate of 50 cents on the $100 of valuation which has been in effect the last several years.

Figures Expected To Match

The estimated budget, as filed by County Auditor J. Y. Boyd with County Clerk Ed D. Allen last July 30, is based on estimated revenue exactly matching the expenditures.

Major sources of such revenues, as estimated, include $97,262.50 from advalorem taxes; $27,748.20 from delinquent tax collections; and $140,996.51 from other sources. The figures compare with $94,953.50 from

Minister In Prison After Hasty Trial

MANDAN, N. D., Aug. 19. (AP)—The Rev. Helo Janssen, Evangelical Lutheran pastor at Krem, began a life prison sentence today a few hours after pleading guilty to poisoning his 16-year-old housemaid and firing the parsonage containing her body.

The minister, 51, admitted he killed Alma Kruckenberg because she was pregnant. District Judge H. L. Berry sentenced Janssen at a special court session shortly after midnight. He was taken immediately to the state penitentiary.

The arraignment followed swiftly after Janssen signed a confession before State's Attorney Floyd Sperry of Mercer county admitting he perpetrated the crime Monday and burned his ten-room house that night.

"The devil overcame me," the pastor said impassively. "I did wrong. I have a very good Christian wife and two boys any father would be proud of and I feel only too sorry that I bring such grief to them."

Feeling ran so high in the community that trial was ordered immediately.

NEW YORK, Aug. 19. (AP)—Courtroom spectators at the James J. Hines trial were amused by the testimony of Julius Williams, red-haired negro, when he said he could not read, although he could write when someone gave him the letters to put down.

All Males Between 20 And 34 Ordered To 'Stand By' For Training Service

BY RELMAN MORIN
Associated Press Staff Writer

TOKYO, Aug. 19—The Japanese government acted today to make quickly available an estimated 1,000,000 more men for its fighting forces, as negotiations with Soviet Russia for settlement of the Siberian frontier dispute reached a new stalmate.

A new order by the war office simply instructed all males in the recruit division, made up of men between 20 and 34 who have not received active training, to "stand by."

Grand Drive In Sight

This was taken to indicate they might be called soon and that Japan was planning to throw huge numbers of reinforcements into what would be a grand drive to end the war in China.

The foreign office spokesman made known that conferences in Moscow and Tokyo had failed to reach agreement on selection of a joint commission to fix the Siberian-Korean frontier in the vicinity of Changkufeng.

Soviet Violation Cited

The foreign office informant added that all Japanese troops had been withdrawn to the south bank of the Tumen river, opposite Changkufeng, but that Soviet troops still occupied the top of the hill in violation of the truce.

"Japan has shown good faith by withdrawing completely. It now is up to the Soviets to do the same," he added.

Insurgent military leaders confirmed that Generalissimo Francisco Franco himself would lead a new drive. France named General Juan Vigon, former chief of staff of the northern insurgent army, chief of his personal staff.

French border guards said insurgent authorities had shut the frontier tighter than at any time since the start of the civil war more than two years ago.

Insurgent sources said they expected the offensive would be directed against Catalonia, possibly coupled with a simultaneous drive

Two Convicted Murderers Are Electrocuted At State Prison

HUNTSVILLE, Aug. 19 (AP) —Two convicted murderers were electrocuted at the state penitentiary early today, one of them in bewildered silence and the other singing a little song "to the sweetest girl in San Antonio."

Collan H. Morgan of El Paso, who killed his wife during a card game, went first, being strapped into the chair at 12:03 a. m. He merely shook his head when Warden W. W. Waid asked him if he had anything to say.

Jesse Polanco, who killed George Forbes, a bus driver, in a holdup, went to the chair at 12:12 a. m. He had no statement to make but asked only that he sing the song he composed while on death row.

Carloas Fernandez, was scheduled to die with Morgan and Polanco but Governor James V. Allred granted him a 30-day reprieve. He was convicted of slaying John Stowe, a policeman, in a San Antonio bar.

Chief Figures In Tonight's "Nightmare Game"

Dreams of every sports writer and baseball manager in the nation will come true here at 8:30 o'clock tonight when Collier (Connie McGraw) Parris, Avalanche-Journal sports editor, and James Eldridge (Grantland Rice) Miller, manager of the Lubbock club of the West Texas-New Mexico league, exchange places. Parris, in full regalia, will manage the Hubbers in a regular league game against Hobbs—and may play, to boot. Miller, high in the press box, will "master mind" the game. Just to make the whole business screwier, Hugh DeWitt (Ziggly Sears) Landis, KYFO boss who regularly radios the Hubber games, will umpire behind the plate. While Umpire John (Ted Husing) Rowland, will do the broadcasting. Chief figures of the evening—courtesy of a brainstorm of Hubber General Manager Harry Faulkner—are shown below. Plans To Tap Inaccessible 42 Per Cent Of U. S. Total "Energy Reserves" Made By Mines Unit

BY HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor

GOLDEN, Colo., Aug. 19—Plans of science to tap 42 per cent of the United States total "energy reserves" now largely inaccessible, were described here today at the newly opened station of the U. S. Bureau of Mines.

The reserves are sub-bituminous coal and lignite. Science has discovered in them the high-energy gases and thermal power of coal, gas and petroleum, but their use now is limited by a lack of mechanical devices and technique for putting their energy to work.

Undertaking Investigations

Under authorization of congress, the U. S. Bureau of Mines is undertaking investigations to enable these fuels to carry on when coal, oil and gas supplies dwindle or grow expensive, and when water power spreads to its limits. The Colorado School of Mines is cooperating.

On the energy scale, or latent power available in them, these low-grade fuels are about two-fifths of

No New Taxes Seen Needed Next Year

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19 (AP) — Chairman Doughton (D-NC) of the house ways and means committee said today that improving business conditions indicate congress can reduce government expenditures next year and still meet relief demands.

The veteran legislator, whose committee drafts all the tax bills, predicted there would be no need to enact new taxes unless the upward trend of industry is reversed.

He agreed, however, with Chairman Harrison of the senate finance committee that existing "nuisance" taxes, which bring in about $500,000,000 a year, must be continued. These taxes ordinarily would expire in 1939.

Harrison previously expressed the hope that reviving business and declining government expenditures would solve the revenue problem without new taxes.

"As conditions are now and as business prospects look," Doughton said, "there should be a reduction in expenditures at the next session of congress."

Doughton said he was not prepared to commit himself on a proposal to broaden the income tax base by lowering exemptions and to increase the levies on incomes in the middle brackets. Harrison had said these changes might be considered by congress if business failed to show gains.

Three Counties Get Electrification Loan

Lynntegar Electric Cooperative, Inc., has been alloted a Rural Electrification administration loan of $300,000 to construct a high line across Garza, Lynn and Terry counties, John Heck, Wilson, president, has advised Harry N. Roberts, engineer for the cooperative.

The allocation was made at a meeting in Austin Wednesday, held by a Washington representative of REA.

The cooperative had asked for enough to build about 175 miles of line in the three counties. Tentative signup was for about 550 customers.

Under the proposed loan, there would be about 300 miles of high line to be constructed. Number of customers to be served would be nearly doubled.

A Lamb county project also was represented at the Austin hearing, as well as the Lubbock county project extention. Roberts said he had not heard definitely of the amount loaned the Lamb project.

Besides these active projects a fourth one is under way in Bailey county, where a 150-mile line is proposed.

Floyd and Hale county residents last year were active in a large unit there. Application was made, but so far no report of approval or allocation has been reported.

Resignation By Request Made By George Man

Political Attention Is Again Focused On State Primary; Committee To Investigate

(By The Associated Press)

ATLANTA, Aug. 19 — The "request" resignation of a campaign stalwart of the Senator Walter F. George forces from his government job today focused political attention for the second time within a week on Georgia's hard fought senatorial primary campaign.

Edgar B. Dunlap, active supporter of George and Georgia attorney for the Reconstruction Finance corporation, announced yesterday he had resigned his RFC post at the request of Claude E. Hamilton, jr., RFC general counsel at Washington.

Follows FDR's Speech

The announcement came exactly one week after President Roosevelt, speaking at Barnesville, Ga., urged the defeat of Senator George because of his opposition to some administration measures, and advocated the nomination of Federal District Attorney Lawrence S. Camp, one of three George opponents.

The announcements, both from RFC headquarters and from Dunlap, brought from Senator Sheppard (D-Tex) chairman of the campaign expenditures committee, the statement that his committee would look into circumstances surrounding the Dunlap resignation.

LACLEDE, Mo., Aug. 19. (AP)—Lora LaMance, mother of Dr. William F. LaMance, said today her son had told her he was innocent of slaying his 29-year-old wife, whose body was found Monday night in a backyard cellar after she had been missing a week.

"Mother, I fear nothing. It seems this had to come, but I am innocent and have spoken the truth," Mrs. LaMance quoted the osteopath as telling her last night in the Linneus, Mo., jail, where he is held on a first degree murder charge.

It was the doctor's first statement concerning his arrest.

Declaring he had "bared his soul" to her during a two-hour visit, the Manitou Springs, Colo., evangelist said she was positive her son was innocent.

Unexplained Arrest Cause Of Tension

Germany Asked To Make A Full And Speedy Explanation Of Officer's Detention

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, Aug. 19—The British government today informed Germany that it "takes a serious view" of the unexplained arrest of Captain Thomas Kendrick, British passport officer in Vienna, by German secret police at the German-Swiss border.

On instructions from the London foreign office, Sir Neville Henderson, ambassador to Germany, has asked the German government for "a full and speedy explanation" of the arrest of Kendrick.

The British official was taken by the Gestapo Wednesday as he and his wife were about to leave Germany on vacation. She was permitted to return to her home in Vienna.

Yesterday Henderson asked the German foreign office for full particulars of the charge against Kendrick and was promised that a full inquiry would be made.

However, no further reply has been received from Berlin.

"Serious View" Stated

The ambassador's earlier report of the arrest was rushed to Viscount Halifax, foreign secretary, at his Yorkshire home, by special messenger.

British officials said they hoped Henderson's representations, which included the statement of London's "serious view," would lead to Kendrick's early release.

Kendrick, who has been passport control officer in Vienna for 13 years, was believed still held in the Hotel Metropole, secret police headquarters, in that city.

Visas May Have Been Cause

In foreign office circles here there was some speculation as to whether Kendrick might have been arrested because he granted more British visas to Austrian Jews than the German government considered discreet.

The British government also pressed Italy for information on allegations made in the London press and in the house of commons to the

Differentials To Be Removed

The Texas railroad commission has granted permission to remove railroad freight differentials to a number of towns in Lubbock territory which will mean savings totaling "thousands of dollars" per year to shippers, according to notification received at the chamber of commerce this morning.

Telegram advising of the removal was from C. S. Edmonds, general freight agent of the Fort Worth and Denver railroad, with headquarters in Fort Worth.

In Effect Sept. 1

The new rates, which are to go into effect Sept. 1, apply to points on the line from Estelline to Plainview and Lubbock and on the Silverton branch.

The F. W. and D. C. had sought the change, according to the application to the railroad commission, to meet competition.

Under the present system, it was explained, the line adds from one to nine cents per 100 pounds to the base rate on all freight shipments to points affected by the new order. What difference may aggregate in the course of a year was not estimated, but officials at the chamber here said it "undoubtedly will be very large."

The differentials to Lubbock were removed several years ago so that shippers here derive no benefit from the order except for the fact that it will help Lubbock's trade territory, officials said.

English Speed Driver Flies At 300 Miles In Salt Lake Test

BONNEVILLE SALT FLATS, Utah, Aug. 19 (AP)—England's John Cobb streaked across the desert in a test run of his low-slung silver-ed Railton today at a top speed of approximately 300 miles an hour.

Capt. George E. T. Eyston, also of England, who also is here to seek a new world speed record for the measured mile, witnessed his rival's flashing performance.

Eyeston set the present mark of 311.41 miles an hour here last November.

"The car performed perfectly, and I am ready to go after the record attempt without another test run," said Cobb.

They include: a 10-mile detour on No. 207 in Crosby county from a mile north of Ralls to Cone, including two small timber culverts; a short crossing of Yellowhouse fork of the Brazos in Garza county, impassible if stream is flowing; a 14-mile detour in Swisher county on No. 86 from Tulia to the Swisher-Castro county line; a 18-mile detour on No. 24 in Hockley county from Levelland to the west county line; a 16-mile detour in Terry county on No. 380 from Brownfield west 13 miles.

Life Expectancy Tables Used By Judge In Sentencing Bird

BALTIMORE, Aug. 19 (AP) — A circuit court judge guided by life expectancy tables sentenced Charles Bird, 26-year-old ex-public enemy "No. 2," to 45 1-2 years in state's prison Thursday on seven robbery charges to which the Midwestern gunman pleaded guilty.

Sentences totalling 140 years could have been imposed but Judge Samuel K. Dennis said "It would be absurd for me to give you the maximum. . . . Figuring it mathematically in accordance with insurance statistics your expectancy of life is 38 years. The sentence I am going to give you will fix it so that you'll be so old and decrepit when you get out that you will be useless as a gangster."

SIGHT-SEEING PLANNED

MOSCOW, Aug. 19 (AP) — Col. Charles A. Lindbergh spent the forenoon with Major Philip R. Faymonville, American military attache, and with Soviet civil air officials, planning a sight-seeing tour over Soviet territory.

School To End Here Tonight

The best attended daily vacation Bible school held in many years by the First Presbyterian church will be closed with a public program at 7:30 o'clock tonight at the church, Miss Virginia McLean, educational director of the church and general superintendent of the school, has announced.

A general program will open the evening's schedule, with each of the three departments then giving a short time to showing the type of work done. Blue ribbons will be presented those who have a perfect attendance record; red ribbons will go to those who have missed only one day; white ribbons to those who have missed only two days, and a star will be given to pupils who have completed their memory work.

Enrollment was 75, with an average attendance of 64, for the two weeks, said Miss McLean. Enrollment was largest for a 3-department school; some years ago the school had four departments.

At the close of the program visitors will be shown exhibits of the work done by each department.

Department workers include: Beginners, Mrs. Elmer Haas, superintendent, Mrs. Harold Humphries and Miss Helen Bigett; primary, Mrs. J. Sam Lewis, superintendent, and Mrs. J. D. Rondeaux; junior, Mrs. Louise McCue, superintendent, and Misses Patty Nail and Dorothy Weiss.

It is estimated that 31 motorists are killed every week in cars driven in front of railroad trains.

The United States contains more than 986,771,616 acres of cultivated farm lands.

Michigan's Governor Murphy May Be Facing His Political Waterloo

Test To Come In November

BY WILLIS THORNTON
NEA Staff Correspondent

DETROIT, Aug. 19.—The political campaign now warming up in Michigan may simplify the problem of "who will be the Democratic presidential candidate in 1940?"

It may do this by eliminating Frank Murphy. For Governor Murphy, though unopposed in the September primary, stands a good chance of defeat in November as things look now. If he is so defeated, it is hard to see how he could approach 1940 with any particular prospects.

The very fact that Murphy is unopposed in the Democratic primary bodes no good for his chances. For a strongly developed movement to oppose him with Murray Van Wagoner, who "owns the Michigan Democracy, was abandoned when Van Wagoner himself said, "We just added everything up, and I decided not to run."

Political wiseacres insist one of the big factors in Van Wagoner's addition was the feeling the Democrats may face a shellacking and that Van Wagoner will do better to keep the party organization unified and then run in 1940.

Faces Strong Opponent

Murphy will be running against either Frank D. Fitzgerald or Harry S. Toy, both familiar political figures in Michigan, and both strong vote-getters. They are contesting the Republican nomination.

The candidacy of Roscoe Conkling Fitch is less active, though he got 50,000 votes in the primary two years ago. Fitch, a descendent of the steamboat inventor, who wrote a book to prove his ancestor's claim, is by no means as seasoned a vote-getter as either Fitzgerald, governor in 1934-36, or Toy, who was a flashy state attorney general and state Supreme Court justice.

Fitzgerald Still Insists

Fitzgerald still insists he would have beaten Murphy in 1936 except for the impetus given the latter by the Roosevelt tie, pointing to the fact Murphy registered a margin of fewer than 50,000 in 1936 while Roosevelt was sweeping the state by 317,000. Despite the public notice he has had outside the state, within Michigan Murphy has never been as strong as one might think.

What people really will be voting on in the November elections in Michigan is the automobile sitdown strikes of 1936. The day Murphy refused to eject the embattled United Auto Workers, the campaign against his re-election got under way.

Loss In Upstate

Despite failure of the U. A. W. in last year's Detroit municipal elections, despite present demoralization of the union in a bitter internal fight, Murphy will probably carry Detroit and Wayne county.

Where Murphy has lost strength is in the upstate vote. Michigan is always likely to lapse back into its traditional Republicanism.

Court Place Refused

Since Murphy alone is carrying the Democratic torch this year, rumors he is to be appointed to the U. S. Supreme Court will have to be set aside until after election, for appointment at this stage would still further handicap the Michigan Democratic campaign by necessitating a quick switch in candidates.

Gov. Frank Murphy of Michigan, much talked of as a 1940 presidential possibility, finds he has a pretty high hurdle in 1938, and one on which he may stumble in his campaign for re-election as governor.

The rumor is strong here that the appointment was actually offered Murphy, and that he turned it down for the more active and hazardous state political fight. It is possible that the appointment might be delayed until after November, and then given as a "consolation prize" to a defeated Murphy.

Two other milestones hang heavy about the Murphy neck. One is the necessity of calling a special session of the legislature to lay new taxes for relief. That is always unpopular, especially upstate, though Murphy showed no lack of courage in taking his case before the Farmers' Union at Grandville.

He told them advisers had warned him the special session would mean the end of his political career, but said "if I do go out of office, I prefer to go out fighting for things that are right, and in the interest of all the people."

The other milestone is the possibility of a Constitutional Democratic ticket in November. Republicans lick their lips at this, for such a ticket would hopelessly split the Democratic vote.

While it is too early to set Murphy down as a sure loser, it is clear he faces the gravest kind of a fight to keep the governorship which might prove a springboard into the 1940 presidential nomination.

FDR's 'Purge' Is Just About Stand-Off Going Into Home Stretch

Showdown Is Due Sept. 6

By NEA Service.

The primary election races are in the home stretch. With a showdown definitely sought in Georgia, Sept. 6, in the George vs. Camp contest, with an inferential presidential slap on record against "Cotton Ed" Smith in South Carolina, and with presidential influences expected to register in the Maryland and New York races, the eyes of the country are on the Democratic "purge."

How has it fared to date?

In many states, lines were not clearly drawn between the presidential wish to elect progressive Democrats who will support his program, as against independent or conservative Democrats. In many the results were so divided as to leave them inconclusive. In some, issues were so purely local that no national aspect figured strongly.

Here's Box Score

Nevertheless the struggle is absorbing to all political analysts, and the accompanying pictograph shows what has happened thus far:

OREGON: Henry L. Hess won the nomination for governor over Charles R. Martin, incumbent. Hess had support of both organized labor groups. Martin was repudiated by Secretary Ickes, White House Secretary Early, and Senator Norris.

IDAHO: Representative D. Worth Clark, campaigning as an avowed conservative Democrat, beat Senator James P. Pope, "100 per cent New Deal" incumbent, who had had pleasant nods from Postmaster-General Farley and Secretary-Hull.

MONTANA: Representative Jerry O'Connell, New Dealer, beat an opponent sponsored by Senator Burton K. Wheeler, who is feuding with the New Deal.

MINNESOTA: Progressive Gov. Elmer Benson renominated over Hjalmar Pederson, who would have been far less close to the New Deal.

IOWA: Otha Wearin, with the blessing of Harry Hopkins and other New Dealers, badly beaten for Senate nomination by incumbent Senator Guy Gillette, who had opposed the Supreme Court reorganization plan.

MISSOURI: Smashing renomination victory for Bennett Clark, anti-New Deal senator, and 1940 presidential possibility.

ARKANSAS: Hattie Caraway, New Deal supporter, renominated for the Senate.

ILLINOIS: Representative Scott Lucas, opponent of several New Deal measures, won the Democratic Senate nomination.

INDIANA: Senator Frederick Van Nuys' strength in gaining renomination caused New Dealers to draw back from incipient efforts to "purge" him.

KENTUCKY: "Dear Alben" Barkley, Roosevelt wheel-horse in the Senate, renominated over Happy Chandler's strong opposition.

TENNESSEE: Senator George Berry defeated for renomination by Tom Stewart, avowed New Deal candidate. Berry had lost favor with the administration.

OHIO: Senator Robert J. Bulkley, "100 per cent New Dealer," renominated. Gov. Martin L. Davey, anti-New Deal governor, defeated.

W. VA.: Six incumbent New Deal representatives win renomination.

VIRGINIA: William E. Dodd, jr., political novice given some New Deal backing, badly beaten by Representative Howard W. Smith, veteran anti-New Dealer.

FLORIDA: Senator Claude Pepper, New Dealer, won renomination.

TEXAS: Maury Maverick, "good friend" and progressive New Dealer, nosed out by Paul Kilday.

Much At Stake

In Nevada, Colorado and Connecticut, the issue is not clear-cut, for while it seems likely that the administration would like to see Senators McCarran, Adams, and Lonergan of those states defeated, no active fight has been made against their renomination.

In Pennsylvania, while New Deal Governor Earle won the Democratic senatorial nomination, Lieut.-Gov. Tom Kennedy, with strong labor and New Deal support, was beaten in the governorship race, thus producing a mixed result that rather defies analysis.

For the future, however, the lines are in many states more closely drawn. In Georgia the cards are on the table. President Roosevelt wants Lawrence Camp nominated, and Senator Walter George defeated, because he says it is clear to him that George, though estimable personally, does not sympathize with his legislative program and long-range economic objectives. Similar efforts to defeat Senator "Cotton Ed" Smith in South Carolina, and probably Senator Millard Tydings in Maryland are now expected. Candidacy of James H. Fay in New York to oppose John O'Connell, a bitter New Deal foe in the House, is expected to draw similar administration support.

Control of the coming Congress, enactment of the President's legislative program, and control of the Democratic party in 1940 are the prizes at stake as the race draws near its dramatic end.

Extension Of Rural Electrification Lines In County Approved

Allocation Of $250,000 Ok'd

Formal announcement that $250,000 has been allotted for extension of rural electrification in Lubbock and the edges of three adjoining counties was made here late Thursday.

The announcement was made by Charles C. Fagg, project superintendent, and L. A. Loward, attorney, for South Plains Electric Cooperative, Inc., which has headquarters in the courthouse.

Appeared At Conference

They were members of a delegation who appeared before a regional REA conference in Austin Wednesday in a successful effort to seek the allocation. C. O. Falkenwold of Washington, D. C., chief allotments officer of the REA, presided at the meeting.

Others attending from the South Plains Co-op were C. Z. Fine of Posey, vice president; Alvin B. Allen of Woodrow, secretary; and C. E. Lilley of Slaton and M. H. Vardeman of Acuff, directors. Howard is associated with the local law firm of McWhorter and Howard.

Other Officials Of Corporation

Other officials of the South Plains corporation are W. M. Ross of Lubbock, president; Lewis Countess, Idalou, director; and S. S. Alcorn of Monroe, director.

Results of the allotment, as explained by Fagg and Howard, will include:

1. Construction of approximately 350 miles of additional electric line in Lubbock rural areas extending into edges of Hockley, Hale and Crosby counties.

To Serve More Families

2. Electric service for approximately 1,000 additional farm families.

3. Employment for a period of several months of approximately 100 men who will be engaged in survey, contact and construction work.

4. Starting of work on the new construction probably Monday and completion within approximately four months to rural areas where electric service may be desired.

The $250,000, it was explained, is additional to an original allotment of $100,000 which has been expended in the erection of approximately 140 miles of electric power line serving 350 to 400 families, according to the officials.

About 40 miles of the newly energized line already are in service and Fagg said that power will be turned into the remainder within the next week.

Power is obtained from the municipally operated city of Lubbock power plant.

The allocations are long-term loans secured by the properties they build.

Bachelor Head Of New York Stock Exchange Pans Rich Girls, Goes To Theater Alone

By LYDIA GRAY SHAW
Associated Press Feature Writer

NEW YORK, Aug. 19. — William McChesney Martin, jr., the 31-year-old president of the New York Stock Exchange, sat down in his guarded air-conditioned office, hunched his knees against the desk, and confessed to a weakness for the simple life.

"I haven't any expensive habbits," he said. 'He neither smokes nor drinks; doesn't keep a car in New York). I like to go to the theater, but I go by myself. I used to play tennis three or four times a week at Forest Hills. Lately I've been too busy."

Martin, the first paid president of the Exchange, gets $46,000 a year.

A fiend for work, he doesn't act like a go-getter. He moves slowly, speaks slowly, smiles often — but slowly. His clothes are common place.

A "Regretful" Bachelor

Social life doesn't interest him but he's being asked around quite a bit, now that he's in the limelight. Says he's a "regretful" bachelor, doesn't look regretful.

He did say, "I'd like to travel every day of my life."

At that, he's done a pretty good job of touring the United States—has been in every state but Florida.

Last March he went on a Mediterranean cruise. He had been putting in 20-hour work days helping draft the Exchange's new constitution, he said, so after it was over, he went aboard ship and spent the first three days sleeping.

Kept To Himself

"I didn't speak to anybody for seven days," he reflected. "I ate at a table by myself. I was pretty sick of talking to people by then. One night toward the end of the cruise, I asked a girl to dance, then couldn't get away until 1:30. I was completely worn down."

It was his second trip abroad. In 1927, after his junior year at Yale, he went on a European tour.

Mr. Martin has never come to consider New York home, though he's been here seven years now ever since he purchased a membership in the Stock Exchange. He lives at the Yale Club, because he likes to think he's here only temporarily. St. Louis is home, but he doesn't get out there more than once a month.

The son of well-to-do parents—his father is president of the Federal Reserve Bank of St. Louis—Mr. Martin says he gives most of his money away. Sometimes the very rich disturb Mr. Martin.

Rich Girls Disturb Him

"Barbara Hutton," he says, "has done more to destroy American capitalism than any other individual."

That's pretty heated for an individual as gentle as Mr. Martin. He gets cross, too, about rich girls who take jobs just so they can say they're earning money.

Mr. Martin won't be labeled a liberal. Says he's an independent. He gets annoyed with people who accuse him of straddling the fence. Though he tries to be unemotional in his analysis of economic trends, he says that doesn't prevent him from having convictions of his own.

The government, he says, must lay down the broad general policies by which the Exchange is to function, but the Exchange should do its own policing job, and see that those policies are carried out.

Only half the age of most of the past leaders of the Exchange, Martin's in office, "as long as the board wants me."

Expect 100 For Masons' Event

Attendance of approximately 100 Scottish Rite Masons of Lubbock and vicinity, including several applicants for membership, was indicated today for the banquet in Hilton hotel tonight honoring seven members of 33rd degree rank.

Homer D. Grant, president of the South Plains, Scottish Rite club, said last night that the banquet and a following program will begin at 8 p. m. E. D. Parker, secretary of the organization, has sent reminders to members throughout the South Plains area.

Top-flight Masons to be honored include John Dalrymple, of Lubbock, only 33rd degree Mason in this section; and six visitors from El Paso. They are Oscar J. Allen, Frank Klohs, W. M. Stockwell, Ethan Allan Wells, Alfred J. Carpenter and Wayne Slaughter. The El Pasoans will arrive late this afternoon and will remain in Lubbock until Sunday.

Reason for the visit here of the El Paso group is a special initiation ceremony to be held Saturday night in the rooms of Yellowhouse lodge, atop Citizens National bank building. The seven 33rd degree men will confer a Master Mason's honors upon one candidate, beginning at 7:30 p. m. Theirs is the only 33rd degree team in the Southwest and their appearance here is considered an outstanding event in Masonic circles.

Big Crowd Expected

George Eubank, worshipful master of Yellowhouse lodge, announced that plans had been made to take care of at least 325 Masons at the Saturday night ceremonial. Members of Masonic lodges within a radius of 100 miles of Lubbock have been invited through special letters written by Hugh J. McClellan, secretary of the Lubbock lodge. Only Masons in good standing may attend the ceremonial, Eubank said.

Previous to the Saturday night ceremonial, officers of Yellowhouse lodge will be hosts to the visiting El Pasoans and Dalrymple at a dinner, also to be held at Hotel Hilton, Eubank said.

Only a few Masons attain the 33rd degree distinction. The 33rd degree is purely an honorary one and is bestowed only upon men who, over a period of years, have performed meritorious service to the order.

In addition to the El Paso degree men, another leader in Scottish Rite circles of the El Paso consistory is in Lubbock for the ceremonial and attendant functions. He is Ed Oliver, KCCH, class director for the El Paso consistory for the Year 1938.

Indian Scouts To Visit In City En Route To Carlsbad Caverns

Lubbock Boy Scouts will be hosts tonight to a delegation of 25 Indian scouts en route from Pawhuska, Okla., to the Carlsbad Caverns, according to information given at council headquarters here.

They will be encamped in Mackenzie park east of the barbecue pits from about 5 p. m. today until their departure Saturday morning. O. A. Farrell of Pawhuska, executive of Cherokee county in Oklahoma, will be in charge of the group, which is making the trip in a bus.

World Would Revert To Savagery If All Laws Were Obeyed, Psychologist Opines

(By The Associated Press)

BERKELEY, Calif., Aug. 19.—A prominent psychologist asserted today if there were no law breakers and all laws were obeyed the world would revert to savagery.

In the lawbreaking class he put the Christian martyrs, and George Washington and several other presidents of the United States.

Washington Guilty Of Treason

Washington, he said, "was guilty of treason against the British."

The psychologist, Dr. Knight Dunlap, professor of psychology at the University of California at Los Angeles—championed the "necessity" of crime in an article for the forthcoming (September) issue of the California monthly, publication of the University of California alumni.

Dr. Dunlap argued that there was nothing really wrong about violating a "bad" law and that the "crime" involved might even benefit society in the end by contributing to the elimination of the improper statute.

His contention was that such refinements as have been made in our system of laws have been due to eventual realization by the public of the seeming justice which motivated the breakers of "bad" laws.

Universal and unquestioned submission to all laws made, he said, "inevitably entails reversion to savagery."

Dr. Dunlap suggested the division between law and morality represented the difference between "crimes" eventually beneficial to society and real offenses against the public welfare.

Running Club Is A Snap!

By Hack Miller

SO IT'S FRIDAY, and so here we are.

So what?

There's but one thing to consider: We hope no one gets killed.

Tonight we will see and hear things as "I" would do it out at the old apple orchard.

This business of second guessing is an old and very self-satisfying custom. Hope we all survive it.

No foolin', folks, be out and give the Hubbers your utmost support tonight — they'll surely need it.

The "management" has promised to give you a hustling, hard-hitting, head-up ball club—may I shake the miracle man's hand. If he does that he's a genius.

Skipper Parris also promised us that "Ski Baby" Gramly would toe the rubber for the Hubbers. With Gramly having a good day and if the rest of the club doesn't go to sleep, the Hubbers may win.

ALL I ASK the new Skipper to do is give me back my ball club with the following improvements:

Teach Charley Bryan how to hit.

Show Gramly how to keep his curve ball outside.

Instruct Jerry Blanchard on how to get the ball in the same county with the plate.

Cause Bob Mosel to quit fighting himself.

Teach Mal Stevens how to play second base.

Entice Joe Gedzius to take the first strike instead of the third.

Have Johnny Taylor quit pouting.

Show Boyd Watkins how to bat without stepping in the waterbucket.

Tell Bob Hillin how to hit a change of pace.

And last but not least, teach Al Carr how to play baseball.

These are just a few things that any manager should be able to accomplish in one nine-inning game.

The former manager was recently panned for not giving the loyal fans a hustling ball club. We think that any club that leads any organized loop has to have more than average hustle. Too, any club that comes from behind to win as often as the Hubbers have, can't be quitters. Just a couple of things to carry out our point.

As much as we rave and rant at the players on the field and off the field, we think they are a pretty good gang of guys with a lot of baseball spirit. But don't tell them we said so.

WELL, HERE'S WHERE we put our head in the noose—again.

It appears to us that as former—and perhaps future—manager of the ball club, and as present sports writer, we should have two votes coming in the election of the all-league team. But that argument can wait until later.

Now's as good a time as any to present our selection. An all-star team frequently gives praise to some who do not deserve it; on the other hand, some are left off who should be there. Here goes, according to batting order:

First team:

Decker, Big Spring, second base.
Smyly, Hobbs, center field.
Taylor, Lubbock, third base.
Suytar, Midland, first base.
Stevens, Lubbock, right field.
Gedzius, Lubbock, shortstop.
Stuart, Clovis, catcher.
Blanchard, Lubbock, left-handed pitcher.
Nelson, Midland, right-handed pitcher.
Spangler, Wink, utility.

Second team:

Loken, Hobbs, second base.
Watkins, Lubbock, center field.
Battle, Midland, shortstop.
Carr, Lubbock, right field.
Ballinger, Midland, catcher.
Caps, Big Spring, third base.
Mosel, Lubbock, first base.
Scott, Hobbs, left-handed pitcher.
Gramly, Lubbock, right-handed pitcher.
Beers, Midland, utility.

If you don't mind, and if it can be arranged, I'll take my pick from these two teams and manage them till we're all gray headed.

Sports Roundup

NEW YORK, Aug. 19. — Poor old Armstrong, he must be slipping — his last two opponents stuck the distance. . . . The three H's of the Green Bay Packers—Herber, Hutson and Hinkle—have incorporated and are holding out until each gets what he wants. . . . Jimmy Kelly, the Greenwich village hot spot king, was run in by a cop for refusing to stop arguing on Broadway over the Ambers-Armstrong outcome. . . . Joe DiMaggio tells you how it feels to be on the receiving end of the old razzberry in this week's lib. . . . No more outdoor boxing shows here this year. . . . Future biz goes into the garden.

Believe it or not: using only a baseball bat and a billiard cue, Ertie Tomlinson toured a nine-hole Oklahoma City golf course the other day in only 49 strokes. . . . And two southpaws finished one, two in a tournament at Moberly, Mo. . . . I. Ames and A. Ringer form an umpiring team in the Vermont-New York league. . . . Radio listeners thought Ambers had won—just like a lot of the same thought Farr beat Joe Louis.

All-California Final Is Due In Newport Casino Tourney

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 19 (AP) — An all-California final between Oakland's Don Budge, the defending titlist, and Los Angeles' Joe Hunt, second seeded, became a strong probability today in the Newport Casino tournament as the two moved into semi-final matches in opposite brackets.

Budge, nursing an ailing right arm, was paired with Frank Parker of Beverly Hills, Calif., and Hunt was called into action against Sydney Wood of New York.

Budge's arm trouble was not regarded as serious. He described it as slight muscular twinges apparently the result of a light cold.

Its chief effect yesterday was to slow down the Davis Cupper's usually lightning service against Wilmer Allison, the Austin, Tex., veteran, and turn their match into a long struggle that Budge finally won by scores of 7-9, 8-6, 6-4, 9-7.

Parker, meanwhile, was eliminating the Atlanta mite, Bryan Grant, and Hunt vanquished the last foreign entry, Yvon Petra of France. Wood's equipment of brilliant shots defeated Elwood Cooke of Portland, Ore.

In the doubles Hunt and Wood were to meet the winner of the clash between Lewis Wetherell of Los Angeles and Robert Kamrath of Austin, Tex., vs. Allison and John Van Ryn of Austin, Tex.

FACE BIG TEST

MANCHESTER, Mass., Aug. 19 (AP) —California's Alice Marble and England's Kay Stammers, each with a previous victory over the other, came to the big test today in the semi-finals of the Essex County club's invitation tennis tournament.

To the winner goes the right to meet husky Nancye Wynne, the surprising 21-year-old Australian conqueror of Brookline's Sarah Palfrey Fabyan, in tomorrow's final.

Hurlers Strike Back Last Night In Texas; Paul Dean Loses Again

(By The Associated Press)

The pitchers struck back at their tormentors in the Texas league last night.

Growing tired of taking long walks to the showers under barrages of base hits, the twirlers gave possibly their best performance of the season, only two of them having to leave before the show was over. Jack Brillheart celebrated "Jack Brillheart night" at Oklahoma City in the way intended.

Vern Olsen hurled Tulsa out of its slump with a seven-hitter against the league-leading Beaumont Exporters. The Oilers won, 6-1 for the only home victory in a three-game series.

Paul Dean took it on the chin again as Shreveport bounced Dallas, 7-2. This time it wasn't a hard luck story, however, the sports socking him for ten hits, including three doubles and a triple.

The South comprises over 28 per cent of the area of the U. S. and just under 28 per cent of its population.

Bromwich Is Two-Fisted Tennis Player; Aiding Davis Cup Play

BROOKLINE, Mass., Aug. 19 (AP) — Tennis being a two-fisted game, Jack Bromwich, the brilliant young Australian who is a Davis cup veteran at the age of 19, plays it the two-fisted way.

That's one reason why Australia, having swept its first two Davis cup singles matches from Germany at the Longwood Cricket club yesterday, rates a strong favorite today to clinch the doubles — and a chance to meet the United States for the cup.

As for Bromwich's being a two-fisted player, that is meant literally.

His opponent can't hit a ball to Jack's backhand because Jack hasn't any. Ambidextrous, he serves with his right arm. If a ball comes to his left, he shifts the racquet to his other hand and thus hits it as a forehand.

If it comes to his right, he grasps the racquet with both hands — like a baseball bat — and whams away for dear life.

Daffiness To Hold Sway In 'Screwy' Tilt

By TOM MILLER
Journal Sports Writer

Peculiar goings on that may put to shame the screwiest diamond doings ever concocted by the Dodger daffiness boys of Brooklyn are in the immediate offing for local baseball fans.

One of the league's staunchest second guessers has been challenged by General Manager Harry Faulkner to "do his stuff" as manager of the local club tonight, while the field manager will take over the second guessing department and rule the press roost.

Collier Parris, sports ed of this rag, has his spikes sharpened to razor edge and his tongue sharpened twice that keen, and if he doesn't slash a finger on said spikes while donning a Hubber uniform he will be on the firing line as manager of the local club at curtain call at 8:30 o'clock tonight.

Tabbed for pitching duty under the new and temporary—we have Faulkner's word for the latter—is Marvin "Half-pint" Gramly, but before game time, Parris may decide on Bob Mosel, because the firstsacker would get to catch the ball more and the manager, nee sports ed, likes to see Mosel snare 'em.

The Morning Avalanche will carry a complete account of the game, too. Mrs. Miller's little boy, James E.—no relation—better known as Hack, will care for that little matter.

(Editor's note: Miller may have to dictate his story of the game to his wife. He bruised the index fingers on both hands Thursday night, typing a column for the Evening Journal.)

Out on the playing field DeWitt (Judge Rocky Mountain) Landis will pull on the self-defense regalia of an umpire and call 'em from memory behind the plate. John Rowland, regular West Texas-New Mexico league arbiter, will man the microphone for KFYO.

A partition was built Thursday afternoon in the press box. Rowland will take his place in the southwest end while Miller is checking line-ups with the managers. A cross section of their conversation likely would not make good listening matter for radio foil.

The ball game is the real McCoy—Manager Neal Rabe's Hobbs Boosters furnish the opposition, the game goes in the books—but further than that it's every man for himself, nothing barred, not even backbiting.

Parris sent his charges through a workout Thursday afternoon. Stiffest part of the workout was Parris' arm that night.

Hubbers Within One Game Of Mathematical Tie For First

The Hubbers walloped the Hobbses last night and came within one game of cinching a mathematical tie for first place in the West Texas-New Mexico league race, since the second place Midland Cardinals dropped a close decision to the Wink Spudders.

Clovis clambered back into a virtual tie for second place with Midland by twice defeating Big Spring yesterday on the Baron lot.

Another victory for Lubbock and a defeat for the Cardinals would put the Hubbers ten games ahead with nine games to play.

Fleming Is Effective

Behind the effective chunking of Tommy Fleming, Hubber right-hander, who gave up seven hits and kept them well scattered. The Hubbers scurried in the field and swung their bats for a 17-3 victory last night, winning for the second night in a row from the cellarite but still hustling Boosters from New Mexico.

Home runs by Pete Melito, Hack Miller and Fleming, the latter inside the park, and triples by Bob Mosel, Joe Gedzius and Mal Stevens led the hitting show staged by the Hubbers. They worked on three pitchers, Hogan, Groves and Hargrove, for 14 hits.

Come At One Time

A home run by Jim White, a triple by Jack Davis, a double by Manager Neal Rabe and a single by Russell Needham accounted for Hobbs' three runs, in the middle innings. They came one at a time.

In addition to his triple and a single, Gedzius lined out another hit to center field, a single that went for a home run when Harold Crites let it get by.

The hard-luck Big Spring Barons, playing their fourth double-header in as many days, failed to come through with even a split decision yesterday, dropping an 8-inning afternoon game, 7-9, and a wild night contest, 16-19, to the Clovis Pioneers. In the three previous twin bills, the Barons had divided honors each day with the Wink Spudders, whom they're battling for fourth place and a shot in the Shaughnessy play-off.

Bobby Decker, fast fielding, fast running second sacker for Big Spring, stole his 61st base of the season in the first game to eclipse the former league record by on theft.

At Wink, the Spudders strengthened their hold on fourth place by nosing out the Midland Cardinals, 6-5, although the Cards outhit their conquerors, 11-7. Red Hay scattered his hits, however, and came through nicely for Wink, pitching seven shutout innings.

Stone Hits Two Homers

Neighbors and Franklin divided time on the hill for Midland, the telling run coming in the seventh when Ernst Jubela singled to drive in the sixth run. Rookie Johnny Stone slammed two home runs.

The teams stay where they were last night for games today and tonight. Big Spring must play Clovis another double header today, and still another Saturday, and the Barons have a twin bill coming up Sunday, making the seventh straight double header there, which is hard on pitchers.

Hobbs remains in Lubbock through Saturday night, and strange goings on are predicted for tonight. Midland remains at Wink for two more games.

El Paso Beats Albuquerque In Four Hours, Three Minutes, 8-7

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Aug. 19. (AP) — El Paso took four hours and three minutes to beat Albuquerque here last night in a wild 12-inning fray which ended 8-7.

The game, broken frequently by arguments, went to the Texans chiefly on six Cardinal errors, one of which in the first of the 12th, put Catcher Gagliardi on third with the winning run. Second Baseman Morey brought him in with a fly to center field.

The Parsees place their dead inside the walls of the Tower of Silence, near Bombay, India. After the bones are picked clean by vultures, they are thrown into a well, where they disintergrate and pass out to sea.

King Carl Hubbell Joins Lefty Grove On The Sore Arm List; Giants' Hopes In Nose-Dive

BY SID FEDER
Associated Press Sports Writer

King Carl Hubbell joined Lefty Grove on the sore arm list today and the New York Giants' pennant stock, like that of the Boston Red Sox before it, hit the skids in a neat nose-dive.

Hubbell, clubbed by the Brooklyn Dodgers, 5-3, yesterday, came up with an ailing pitching wing that may necessitate an operation. It will definitely keep him on the sidelines for at least a week or two, and may prevent him from taking his place on the firing line the rest of the year.

Both In Same Month

Here are the two greatest left-handers of their day, old Square-Pants and Old Mose—probably the most feared pitching pair in the game in the last six or eight years—and both shelved in the same month. Grove's arm went "dead", and now the Hub has a painful elbow trouble. A chipped bone may be revealed when X-rays are taken of Hubbell's elbow next week.

There are many who don't put the screwball ace among the all-time southpaw greats. He never had the stuff or the blinding speed of a Grove. But he has playing "brains"; he has been the Giants' meal-ticket for at least five years; he has pitched them into three pennants in that time and he has a competitive temperament, a coolness under fire, never surpassed in any sport.

Made Terry Look Good

And consider, too, that he and master Melvin Ott, the "heritage" John McGraw handed down, have made Manager Bill Terry look like a "genius" ever since the Terrible One took over the reins from the old man.

Dr. J. Spencer Speed, the Memphis bone specialist, has been asked to meet the Giants either in Chicago Monday or St. Louis later in the week to X-ray, and if an operation is necessary—that is if a chipped bone is revealed—it will be performed immediately.

The New Yorkers may just as well wrap up their pennant hopes and pack them in mothballs. They're five games back of the Pirates right now, with the season past the two-thirds mark.

Pirates Absorbed Drubbing

Fortunately for Terry's Terriers, their setback yesterday didn't send them farther in the hole, for the Pirates absorbed a 5-1 drubbing at the hands of the St. Louis Cardinals and Lefty Bob Weiland's four-hit flinging.

The Yankees, despite a double-header split, with Washington, saw their American league lead stretched to nine full games when the second place Cleveland Indians (and Bobby Feller) had their ears pinned back, 9-1, by the St. Louis Browns. Wes Ferrell, making his Yankee debut, outlasted his ex-mates for a 6-5 win in the 11-inning opener. Harry the castoff Kelly tossed a six-hitter for a 6-3 decision for the Nats in the nightcap.

Jim Bagby turned in a three-hitter and the Red Sox whitewashed the Athletics, 2-0. Paul Derringer allowed seven hits, chipped in a homer himself, and the Cincinnati Reds ripped the Cubs, 9-1. Long George Gill's eight-hit effort gave the Tigers a 5-1 verdict over the Chicago White Sox.

Challenges Fly Thick And Fast Around Henry Armstrong; Ambers More Popular Than Ever

By DREW MIDDLETON
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Aug. 19—The Brown Buzzsaw was at a dead stop today and, while Henry Armstrong started his first real rest since he left St. Louis in a boxcar to earn his bread with his fists, challenges flew thick and fast around the little man who is featherweight, lightweight and welterweight champion of the world.

He won his third title from Lou Ambers Wednesday night but some of the magic surrounding his name vanished. His profession saw him at the finish the new lightweight champion, but bleeding, groggy and exhausted—and took heart.

Ambers Never More Popular

They all want to fight him now, Ambers most of all. He is an ex-lightweight champion today but he was never more popular. Lou at last is getting his due as a courageous and skillful workman, a fighter who took the heaviest blows of Henry. The Hammer and was still around at the finish, banging at Henry and dancing away on legs that never grew weary.

Without detracting from Lou's heart-warming showing, it might be noted that he fought a tired, listless Armstrong. Henry is very stale. He has fought almost continuously for two years and the battles have sapped his magnificent vitality.

Has Rest Coming

"Sure I'd like to fight Lou again," said Henry, very battered. "But I think I have a rest coming. Beside, the doctor tells me it will take at least three months for the cut in my lip to heal.

Henry won't fight until next winter; Manager Eddie Meal is sure of that. When he does it probably will be with Ceferino Garcia, the coast welterweight, and Henry put his 147-pound title on the line.

"Then if Ambers still wants a match we'll give it to him," said Mead.

Garcia has nominated himself as the No. 1 welterweight contender. He has a right to the post, for he is a big, strong fellow who is a natural welter and not a heavy lightweight. He gave Barney Ross such a going over in their carnival of champions bout that, even though Ross won, he softened Barney up for Armstrong.

Garcia is the type that eventually will take Armstrong. He can hit with either hand.

Former Champs In Club's Semi-Finals

Two former champions, one of them the defending title holder, advanced to the semi-final round of the Lubbock Country club championship tournament yesterday, joining Joe Bihl and Kay Bradshaw in the flight of four. Ralph Trolinger, the 1937 champ, and Ted Tipps, a former winner, scored victories yesterday.

Loftin Burnette extended Trolinger to the final hole before succumbing to the titlist's 1 up victory. Tipps, a former winner of the event, was pushed almost as much by Jo Dick Slaughter but managed to eke out a 2 and 1 win.

Bihl and Bradshaw had entered the semi-final round Wednesday with triumphs over J. D. Hinson and Francis Finberg, respectively. Trolinger and Bihl tangle and Bradshaw and Tipps square off in the semi-final matches today or Saturday. Finals are Sunday.

Three matches were scheduled in the first flight, but two defaults let as many competitors into the semi-finals of that bracket the easy way. Wright Kerr beat Dr. J. T. Krueger, 4 and 3, in only match played. Hugh Anderson won from C. L. Dean by default and Lee Hubby defaulted to Ray Dickey.

Semi-final first flight pairings are: Anderson vs. Kerr and Glen D. Smith vs. Dickey.

T. E. Patterson vanquished Sid Thrash, 1 up in 19 holes, in the championship consolations. Dr. R. T. Cannon defeated Roy Furr by a 2 and 1 margin in the first flight consolations.

Bill Evans plays Dr. Cannon today or Saturday.

Consolation pairings:

Championship flight:

M. R. Tripp vs. Lindsey Telford.

First flight:

W. D. Girand, sr., vs. W. F. Helwig; A. J. Humphries vs W. H. Perry.

Wilson All-Stars And Cleaners To Battle Tonight

WILSON, Aug. 19. (Special)—The district A A U softball tournament nears a close here tonight when the Wilson All-Stars, only local team entered, tangle with the Wilson Cleaners of Lubbock for the right to play in Saturday night's championship game. Winner of the tournament will be sent to Sweetwater to compete in the regional joust.

Only one game is booked for tonight.

Four teams remained in the running after last night's double bill, and each of them has been beaten once. To be eliminated, a team must lose two games.

Two Lubbock teams suffered defeats last night, Postex Mills of Post winning from Good Eats Bakery of Lubbock, 8-2, and the Wilson All-Stars copping from Still & Guess of Lubbock 15-2.

In the first game Saturday night, Postex Mills plays Lubbock Good Eats Bakery, winner to play the winner of tonight's Wilson - Wilson Cleaners game.

Charley Duvall gave up four hits and struck out seven, while his Post mates pounded out 13 hits, including three homers, off Houghton and Weaver of Good Eats. Lingle caught for Good Eats, Gilmore for Post.

Daniel pitched for Wilson, giving up nine hits, Johnson and Holland caught. Childs and Roberts pitched for Still and Guess, White catching.

Each team in the tournament now has lost at least one game.

Indians Object To Phoneys Of Milwaukee Summer Festival

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Aug. 19. (AP)—After the appearance of white men dressed as Indians in Milwaukee's Midsummer Festival Harold Wilde, representing the festival, received a protest from Francis Coleman, Chippewa Indian Recorder for the Consolidated Tribes of North American Indians, in this city.

"Ugh," Coleman wrote. "Milwaukeeans get disgusted when we witness the sorry spectacle of white men trying to imitate us in our ceremonial dances. It can't be done and the sooner that is realized the better it will be for future pageants."

Wilde replied that the pageant coummission would consider using real Indians instead of palefaces in the future.

Year 1938 All Set To Go Down As Eighth Year Of Great Crisis In Wheat; Another Retreat On

By MORGAN M. BEATTY
Associated Press Feature Writer

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—The year 1938 is all set to go down in history as the eighth year of the great American wheat crisis.

It marks another year of America's reluctant retreat from the world wheat market—a retreat that began to take a definite trend in 1930.

All the big wheat-growing nations of the world are raising good wheat crops this year. It begins to look as if they will pour four billion bushels of the golden grain into the world's bread basket. Four billion bushels is 900,000,000 bushels too much wheat.

Trade Would Help

True, calamity could overtake part of the crops. Bugs or disease could do a lot of damage. Or a war could come along. In that event cautious nations would store wheat. But it's doubtful that these things will happen. The best thing would be a revival of world trade.

Unfortunately, America's 80,000,000 wheat acres will contribute more than their share to the glut of grain. They are going to yield a new record crop—close to one billion bushels.

Stem rust, the fungus growth that stunts little wheat grains, is doing its utmost to reduce the bumper American crop, but the rust got started late. The experts figure it can't take over 150,000,000 bushels. That would still leave a near-record crop.

They're Doing It Now

Together with last year's surplus, the American public can eat up half the expected billion bushels.

What's to be done with the other half?

Sell it to other nations? Fine chance! America's big competitors will have plenty of wheat, and will be struggling like mad to get it on the world market. Dump it on the world at cut-throat prices? The other fellow can dump wheat, too, and come out on top, because his money is not as good as ours.

The government is trying to arrange to peddle some of the American surplus in an orderly way to other governments at reduced prices. The taxpayers would take up the slack.

The crop comes along before the New Deal has had a chance to show what its new formulas for the wheat farmer can or cannot do. Bumper crops are a handicap for crop control, crop insurance, the ever-normal granary, wheat quotas, and all that. Those schemes require payments to farmers to cut down their production and to bolster home prices. The more the acreage is cut and the lower the world wheat price, the more it costs the government (which is the taxpayer) or the farmer.

It Was Easy Once

There are many reasons for the great American wheat crisis. But by and large, foreign competition for the world wheat market has been the No. 1 trouble marker.

Between 1860 and 1930, American wheat growers had the inside track on a downhill pull. They had the world's richest, easiest-to-cultivate, and most extensive wheat lands. They developed the lands with machinery. In 1898 they were supplying 51 per cent of the world's exported wheat.

Our growing population required more and more wheat to make bread for the homefolks. But even so, America still had one-fifth of the world's export wheat market in 1929.

But all along, Canada, Australia, Argentina, and Europe's Danubian basin were closing in. For instance, Canada contributed a fere 20,000,000 bushels to the world in 1900. In 1936, she exported 12 times that much.

Traffic Walls Go Up

And as if to complicate an already cockeyed situation, Uncle Sam was constantly raising his tariff walls. Then a few years after the World war he stopped lending money to European nations. These things cut off from foreigners the supply of money they had been using to buy American wheat. Then other nations began raising their own tariff walls in the late 20's.

The drouth years — 1933-37 — knocked the American farmer out of the world market. True, he had a piece of good luck in 1937. A wheat shortage in other big exporting nations handed him 18 per cent of the world market, which meant the sale of around 90,000,000 bushels.

But 1938 is a different story. The American farmer planted 80,000,000 acres to wheat, close to a record. This time he guessed wrong. There is no wheat shortage abroad.

NEW HOPE OPENING

TAHOKA — New Home schools open Aug. 29, Supt. J. T. Carter announces. Lakeview, Petty and Joe Stokes seventh grade pupils will be brought to the school, as the four have been grouped together for high school purposes. A seventh grade teacher is being added. There are 17 teachers now on the faculty.

Good times are when there are more men operating steam shovels than there are watching them.

H. J. Lutcher Stark told Governor-Nominate O'Daniel the other day that the University of Texas needs—and must have—more money upon which to operate.

But, said Mr. Stark, who is chairman of the university's directorate, the way to get more money for higher education is not by adding to the already heavy tax burden. The way to do it is to hike the fees paid by students.

If Mr. Stark is suggesting raising the fees at University of Texas—rather than raising fees of all state operated institutions—it's all right with us.

The Orange multi-millionaire is the university's No. 1 "angel" and his long association with the Austin tax-supported country club should make him know what he's talking about.

But if he means fees at all schools should be raised, he's got a bear by the tail.

And he doesn't know what he's talking about.

THIS column believes the fees at the university should be higher than those charged at other state schools.

If you want to ride in a big, expensive automobile, it costs more than riding in a smaller, less expensive one.

If you want to sleep in a Pullman, it costs more than riding in a chair car.

If you want a bench-made suit, it costs more than a "hand-me-down."

Therefore, why shouldn't instruction in a great, big, platinum-and-diamond institution like the university cost more than instruction in a less expensive, practical college?

If Mr Stark urges putting fees upon a comparable basis—comparing all the expensive features of the University of Texas with the greatly less presumptuous features of the other state schools—he's "got sumpin'."

But if, in order to glut the already over-flowing treasury of the Austin school he wants to pass a fee-hike on to kids struggling through such colleges as Tech, West Texas State Teachers, Sul Ross and Sam Houston, for instance, he's all wrong.

And we hope members of the legislature and Governor-Nominate O'Daniel won't be long catching onto the fact.

COMMENTING upon Texas education and its needs, Mr. O'Daniel called upon the colleges to aid in his plan to "industrialize Texas" by training youngsters in business administration, textile engineering, mechanical engineering, factory management and the like.

Along that line we call the attention of the probable next governor to a virile, young school located just west of town which already has made a wide reputation in such fields.

If Mr. O'Daniel wants to get actively behind such training and the schools which excel in it, he's got a wonderful chance right here in West Texas.

Let's hope he realizes it after he becomes governor—and does something about it!

Nature isn't wasteful. When she gives a man the ability to be a big shot, she seldom goes to the trouble of also making him look like one.

* * *

That Man on Avenue Q says the administration is going ahead, all right, but the Treasury is still going behind.

* * *

T. B. Zellner ran across these rules on "How To Keep From Growing Old," and kindly passed them on to The Plainsman for distribution:

"1. Always race with locomotives to crossings. Engineers like it; it breaks the monotony of their jobs.

"2. Always pass the car ahead on curves and turns. Don't use horn; it may unnerve the fellow and cause him to turn out too far.

"3. Demand half the road. The middle half. Insist on your rights.

"4. Always speed. It shows you are a man of pep, even though an amateur driver.

"5. Never stop, look, or listen at railroad crossings. It consumes time.

"6. Always lock your brakes when skidding. It makes the job more artistic.

"7. In sloppy weather, drive close to pedestrians. Dry cleaners appreciate this.

"8. Never look around when you back up. There is never anything behind you.

"9. Drive confidently—just as though there were not 13 million cars in service."

Persons planning to take automobile vacations might well paste this list next to the rear vision mirror—and follow the rules in reverse!

WELL, The Plainsman sees by the papers that the "big and little sister" movement is going to be put into effect on a broad scale out at Texas Tech next school year.

In case you are dumb, like The Plainsman was, and don't know exactly what the "big and little sister" movement is, we'll give you the benefit of our research on the subject.

Each freshman girl is given a "big sister" for her very own, the "big sister" being a gal who already has been to Texas Tech at least one year and who, as an upper classman, will keep in touch with the freshman, guiding her timid steps in the way she should go. The plan is for sets of "sisters," big and little, to live at the same address, so's they can have more frequent heart-to-heart talks, and all that sort of thing.

The Plainsman is highly in favor of the "big and little sister" movement.

A freshman girl needs to know a lot of things her "big sister" found out in preceding years and there's no sense in her having to discover everything for herself. It's much easier for the "big sister" to pass along the needed information.

It's a great break for "little sister" to learn, right off the bat, which courses are "pipes" and which instructors are "soft." "Big sister" can slip her that info before "little sister" enrolls, thus making things much nicer for "little sister."

Another thing, "big sister" knows all the nice quite parking places and cubbyholes in and about the campus and environs, where couples can "pitch woo" without too much company. Thus "little sister" can start right out with knowledge invaluable to any college co-ed.

* * *

FURTHER than that, "big sister" can teach "little sister" all the arts of slipping in and out of the girls' dormitory, or her rooming house, without being caught violating any rules.

That, in itself, is a wonderful thing for any young college lassie.

And, what also is important, "big sister" can coach "little sister" in all such matters as laying aside high school rings and pins, wearing colors which blend, rather than clash, and various and sundry other niceties of undergraduate life.

All in all, the "big and little sister" movement has a lot of fine points!

Of course, the movement isn't theoretically based upon the things The Plainsman has here mentioned.

"Big sister" is supposed to lend moral and mental support to dazed "little sister," not only during the weeks when she is fresh from Podunk High school, but throughout her freshman year. "Big sister" is supposed to be advisor and counsellor to "little sister" in everything from algebra to what to wear to the YWCA "mixer."

But The Plainsman, who went to collitch once and has not lived in a collitch town for a dozen years for nothing, is inclined to believe that the "big and little sister" movement is likely to cover considerably more ground than that covered by the aesthetic and cultural.

But even so, who cares?

Go to it, kids! Have a good time. You're only young once—and when you're in college you're not "eating your white bread", as the old saying goes.

You're eating your angel food cake!

THE current investigation in Congress of un-American activities upon the part of foreigners and the converts of the various "isms" may not amount to a great deal in the long run.

On the other hand, it may result not only in keeping immigration quotas at their present levels—but even in lowering them.

Led by Martin Dies, of Orange, Tex., the committee has only begun trotting forth testimony alleging abortive foreign moves against our government.

If the investigation lends weight to the growing theory that we're having enough trouble taking care of our own people, without inviting more to join us, it may do a lot in keeping up the bars against stampeding immigration.

Yesterday: Sarto is captured and trussed up. Then Steve demands to know who Fiske is. Fiske turns swiftly.

CHAPTER XIV

Uncle Jim let loose a great roaring laugh and somehow the tenseness went out of the situation. Nikki and Steve looked at each other in bewilderment.

"Maybe we're crazy," said Nikki.

"No, honey," said Uncle Jim. "But you can put down the rifle, Steve. Fiske yonder is a detective."

"Detective?"

"Jewelers Protective," said Fiske, briefly, and then he smiled. "I don't blame you for being puzzled. Perhaps I haven't acted very detective-like. You see I knew exactly who Bancroft and Sarto were and they suspected pretty strongly who I was. But I couldn't act because this angle is just part of the entire case. If I tipped my hand too soon it would spoil the whole works."

Steve laid the rifle on the bench. Nikki started to speak. Then Sarto stirred slowly and Steve raised the rifle again, but Fiske had the revolver in his hands and was stepping back. Sarto slowly opened his eyes and sat up. His wavering glance finally centered on Fiske.

"Okay, copper," he said, and turned away.

"Bring the rope," said Fiske. They led Sarto to the same tree around which he had ordered Nikki and Steve, and the returning searchers. Fiske gave Steve the pistol and he pulled Sarto's arms back of him and around the tree, binding them securely. Then he tied his feet.

"A little uncomfortable but not painful," Fiske observed.

Nikki, meantime, had pushed her uncle away from Rance and taken over the first aid job, working deftly and capably.

Uncle Jim brought out a kit from the cabin and Nikki selected a long swabbing stick and twisted cotton around one end of it. She dipped the cotton end into a bottle of iodine and said:

"This will hurt." Rance was watching her admiringly.

"Where did you learn all this?" he asked.

"School. First aid course."

Swiftly she ran the cotton swab through the wound, twisting it gently. Rance grimaced once and then grinned at her. The bleeding had almost stopped. She took a roll of bandage, placed a fold of cotton at the wounds on each side of the shoulder and wound the bandage over and around the chest.

"There," she said. "Now we need a sling. Wait a minute."

She unknotted the neckerchief from around her throat and fitted it on Rance. Suddenly, the job done, she felt a little weak. This would be a fine time to faint, she thought, now that everything's over. Then she remembered. The sun was high in the heavens. So much had happened it seemed as though it should be night. It was noon.

"Do you suppose," she said, resting one hand against the cabin and turning to her uncle, "do you suppose we could have something to eat? It's been a long time—"

"My Lord," said Uncle Jim. "For a minute I clean forgot you two had been lost. Say, there's a lot of tellin' to be done around here."

"There certainly is," said Nikki. "There are a lot of things Steve and I want to know."

"From you and Fiske mostly," Steve told Uncle Jim.

"That can wait a minute," said Fiske. "I'll tell you the whole story, but first, suppose you tell me about Bancroft."

"Suppose we let both stories wait until after we give Steve and Nikki something to eat," called Uncle Jim. "I'll sling a little chow together right quick. Steve, maybe you could open this can of beans. Our regular cook has a headache."

Woody wobbled over. "I can do it," he protested. Uncle Jim waved him back.

"Let Nikki look at your head. She's the nurse around here." Nikki found an ugly cut, daubed it with iodine and swathed his head in bandages.

"Wish I had something wrong with me," said her uncle.

"You will have if you don't hurry with the food."

"I'm a little hungry myself," he replied. "We had quite a walk hunting for you all—while you were right back here in camp."

Nikki and Steve ate ravenously and the others joined them. When they had finished Woody took a plate over and fed Sarto, who ate sullenly.

"If he says bandylegs just once," observed Uncle Jim, "Woody will probably jab that fork down his throat. That shore was a mistake. He mighta got away if he hadn't made Woody so mad."

"You two certainly use good teamwork," said Nikki. "You yell and Woody dives."

"It's an old trick," her uncle confessed. "I knew what Woody was aimin' to do. All I had to do was yip."

Fiske picked up the conversation.

"Suppose," he said, "that we hear what happened to Bancroft now. It's business with me, you know."

Nikki and Steve told then of the landslide and of their getting lost and spending the night in the hills, of hearing the shot the next morning, seeing Sarto, and of finding Bancroft's body.

"I suppose Sarto must have seen us from the top of the hill," finished Steve. "He didn't know we had found Bancroft but he did know we were following him. So he was waiting for us when we got home."

Rance, Woody, and Nikki were left at the cabin with Sarto while Steve led Uncle Jim and Fiske to the ravine where Bancroft lay. Uncle Jim carried a spade from the cabin. Fiske examined the scene carefully, made many notes in a small book and asked Steve several questions. He extracted the bullet which had killed Bancroft and then they buried the New York racketeer in a grave in the ravine, and piled stones for a rude marker.

"He was genuinely concerned over you being lost," said Fiske.

"Not me," said Steve shortly, "Nikki."

Fiske nodded. "That's what I meant. And that gave Sarto his chance to get him away from camp. They must have been heading for the other hill to see if they could sight you. When they passed this gully Bancroft decided to walk to the end of it. Sarto shot him in the back and that was the shot you heard."

Back at camp Steve told Nikki briefly that they had buried Bancroft. She turned to Fiske.

"Was he Bancroft or Dilion?"

"Wade Bancroft's real name, as you guessed," he said, "was Charles Dilion. And back of that is the story of this whole affair."

Nikki broke in.

"But what was my father's connection with Bancroft—or Dilion, rather?"

Fiske lit a cigaret.

"Dillon was your father's partner," he said.

THE CAUSE FOR TROUBLING THOUGHT

Perhaps it is entirely proper for President Roosevelt—or any President—to engage in local political battles in the endeavor to place in office the men who will support his policies.

But these recent talks of "purges" in which the President has been engaging so actively tend to arouse considerable misgiving among those of long-range vision.

Of course, Mr. Roosevelt's attempted "purging" thus far has been limited to moral persuasion, backed by a more generous consideration for friends in the allotment of federal monies. There is no reason to suppose that Mr. Roosevelt ever would attempt to use force in an effort to gain his ends.

But the extraordinary vigor of Mr. Roosevelt activities have set an example for others who are to come. Probably they, too, will be content with moral persuasion. Possibly they won't be. Perhaps, if they believe they can use force to advantage, they may use it. There are men in supposedly enlightened nations today who have done so.

All that can be done for the present is to hope for the best. But at the same time, it will be wisdom to be forever on the alert for those who might attempt to go too far with their "persuasive" tactics.

Hollywood Chit-Chat

BY PAUL HARRISON
Journal Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 19.—Beside the old administration building on the Metro lot, a group of four visitors stood on the sidewalk and waited for a guide. Obviously, they were out-of-towners, and star-struck, and they weren't impatient about the guide because all the colorful, casual traffic of a big studio street was passing right before them.

They peered into limousines, and held whispered conferences about the identities of passing players, and were excited when they spotted Herman Bing and Ray Bolger and Florence Rice. They wished Clark Gable would come by. Or Myrna Loy.

An extra came along the walk, alone. He was a large man, certainly in his 50s, and looked a little silly in a butler's costume with knee breeches and hose. The visitors grinned. One of them called, "I say, my man—fetch us four gin rickeys. It's fearfully hot out here, y'know."

The extra in the butler's uniform hadn't noticed them until then. He glanced up sharply. But his expression changed and he smiled a rather wan smile and plodded on toward the gate. The two women visitors giggled.

A studio guide came up and took charge of the party. He began his rubberneck spiel by indicating the retreating figure of the extra. "That's King Baggot," he said. "A great star in his day, and he was at the top for eight years. Made more than 300 pictures. A famous director, too. . . . Now, this building is the new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer commissary, where the stars . . ."

Real Live Actors, Not A Movie!

It's a funny thing about visitors—many of them, anyway—at a studio; unconsciously they assume the attitude of customers at a wax museum. They seem utterly unable to realize that the actors and actresses, the glamorized deities of a shadow world, are before them in the flesh.

I've seen sightseers walk up behind players who were studying their lines, stoop over their shoulders and intently read a couple of pages of script.

I remember a woman, apparently dazed by excitement, who approached Loretta Young, stooped and lifted the hem of the actress' dress to an alarming level, fingered the material critically, stammered some unintelligible words, and burst into tears.

Thrill-befuddled visitors often stand right beside a star and discuss him this way and that, as though he were stuffed.

Such things are trying to any player's poise, but most of 'em can take it. One who couldn't was the late Lew Cody. During one of the latter days of his prominence a couple of granite-faced tourists began to chatter about him: "Why, he doesn't look at ALL like he does on the screen!" "And so OLD! I hadn't imagined . . ." "How GRAY his hair is! And see all those little wrinkles . . ."

Cody thrust a makeup mirror into the hands of one of the hecklers.

"Madam," he said, as if he were playing to the top row in the balcony, "may I suggest that you take a good long look into that!"

Quiet, Please! . . . Oh, Sure!

On an outdoor set of "Too Hot to Handle," Clark Gable and Walter Pidgeon were supposed to be in the midst of a lot of shellfire and exploding bombs. A large crew worked more than an hour planting the bombs and wiring them.

When everything was ready, Director Jack Conway made a little speech. He said, "I want to warn all you visitors that there's going to be a lot of noise and excitement. But when it quiets down, there must not be any talking because the firing is followed by dialog and we must have absolute silence."

So they finally went into the scene, and there was a great deal of noise and excitement, all right. So much, in fact, that at least a dozen people forgot Conway's request. There was a chorus of sighs, gasps and "Oh, my goodnesses!" I barely caught myself short of an exclamation. The take was ruined, of course, to the tune of about $3500.

And those are some of the reasons why tourists, whatever their connections, are finding it more and more difficult to get into the studios.

If "The Other Senator From Idaho" Remains Licked, You Can Praise--Or Blame--Borah

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
Journal Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19 — If Senator James P. Pope of Idaho stays licked, his political pelt should be tacked up on the wall of Senator William E. Borah.

Borah was always the "only Idaho senator" because no one could ever remember the other fellow's name. Then mild scholarly, big Jim Pope, elected in 1932, gradually grew to be a major Senate figure. Worse yet, he demonstrated great interest in foreign affairs, Borah's particular domain, and began to speak with more or less authority as an administration member of the Foreign Relations committee, of which Borah had been chairman in Republican days.

Dutcher

It may not be true, as rumored here, that Borah sent word to political lieutenants in Idaho which caused thousands of Republicans to enter the Democratic primary to defeat Pope. But a horde of Borah Republicans did exactly that, as returns showed.

Congressman D. Worth Clark, conservative Democrat who nosed Pope out by 4000 votes, branded Pope an "internationalist" and continually stressed allegiance "to the philosophy of that great living statesman, Senator Borah." Clark also profited greatly by declaring, "I don't know whether the Townsend plan will work, but I'm in favor of giving it a trial." Pope refused to praise the Townsend plan. In October, 1936, facing reelection, Borah had wired Dr. Townsend that he believed the plan's fundamental principles were sound and favored its main features.

Certain other administration-supported senators would never be missed. But Pope was one of the ablest, most sincre men in the small Senate New Deal group. That's why many Democrats want him to run as an independent.

Women Assert Themselves

Because stress was laid on Mr. Roosevelt's endorsement of Senator Hattie Caraway in the Arkansas primary, it has been generally overlooked that Mrs. Caraway was the first woman ever to serve a full Senate term and now, since Democratic nomination in her state means election, will be the only woman ever elected for a second six-year term. Furthermore, sex became a campaign issue and sex—feminine—won.

Although Mrs. Caraway originally was appointed in November, 1931, to fill the seat vacated by her husband's death, she was nominated and elected in 1932 to serve out the term and then again in the same year was chosen for the next full term.

Her latest victory takes added point because Congressman John L. McClellan, her opponent, raised the sex issue by asserting that being a senator was a man's job, not a woman's. McClellan delicately contrasted his own flourishing type of oratory with the demure Mrs. Caraway's quiet voice. But Arkansas women busily beat drums for the senator and saved her skin.

A commentary on traditional fond hopes of the softening influence of women in politics was Mrs. Caraway's boast that she had been a "leader" in the fight against the anti-lynching bill. Many Southern women favored the bill. Mrs. Caraway wasn't a leader in the fight, although she spoke in opposition.

Beep-Wins Booby Prize

Capitol Hill colleagues privately awarded Senator George Berry of Tennessee the 1938 political booby prize. Berry, who had wanted the government to spend millions to settle his TVA marble claims—later adjudged worthless—found he couldn't get administration support for renomination. So he denounced federal spending—and was beaten overwhelmingly.

The reason New Dealers haven't boasted of their Tennessee primary victory is they don't want to advertise their tie-up with Boss Ed Crump. Actually, relations are friendly and close. Crump is pro-New Deal and especially pro-TVA.

The Plainsman Gets Some Mail

(Letters from readers are invited and welcomed. They will be published gladly whenever they do not violate the laws of libel, or the rules of decency, and when they do not exceed 500 words in length. Letters criticising individuals, firms or organizations must be signed by the true name of their writers.

RAPS INTERFERENCE

Dear Plainsman:

"Behold the child, by nature's kindly law
Pleased with a rattle tickled with a straw."

The weakest straw I have been ickled with during the governor's mpaign is the flimsy attempt overnor Elect O'Daniel and Elliot oosevelt made to justify O'Daniel's tion in making out a political slate the guidance of the voters of xas.

suppose that what O'Daniel has ne is "no different from what the resident has been doing pretty oroughly all summer. Does this ake it "entirely right," as son Elott would have us believe?

It is my understanding that the nstitution of the United States ts forth pretty thoroughly what e President's duties, privileges d functions shall be, and to get t and campaign over the coun- y for the election of the people's presentatives is not mentioned as ing one of them. And the same true with our state constitution th reference to the duties of the vernor.

But as Elliott Roosevelt points out, it is right for the president to do hat he has been doing pretty oroughly all summer, then it is ght for O'Daniel to do what he has ne. Why jump on O'Daniel? He merely hatching the egg that e President has laid.

But the President's son says that is "entirely right" that it is the ght of every citizen. Sure, but the resident is not using his influence a private citizen, but the influ- ce of the President's office, and influence built up by billions of llars placed at his disposal by e very people whose power to ake laws for their own government hampered by such undue influ- ce.

But as Elliott Roosevelt says, if the resident has the right to use the fluence of his office to sway elec- ons of representatives of the peo- e, then O'Daniel is within his rovince in doing the same. Then e county judge has the right to t out and campaign for his favor- e candidate for the commissioners urt. The mayor of your city has e right to use the influence of his ffice in naming the City commis- on.

This is a very dangerous prece- nt and I think points only in one rection and that toward making r government a one-man show d toward making office-holding a cket that would make Al Capone d Legs Diamond look like Sun- y school boys.

I know of nothing in democracy, r constitution or the American ilosophy of government that will stify any such conduct on the rt of our chief executives. But I know of a political philosophy t will justify it. A philosophy at: a people exist for the govern- ent, and not the government for e people. The name of this phil- ophy is Facism.

monster of so frightful mien
As to be hated needs but to be seen,
t seen too often, familiar with her face.
We first endure, then pity then embrace."

It is my opinion that we had bet- swat this thing before it swats

Yours truly,
R. C. Poteet,
Ralls.

against besieged Madrid.

The goal of the campaign apparently was to end the civil war before it reaches its third winter.

A number of insurgent officers who have been on leave were recalled to duty effective Aug. 21.

Reports that the insurgents were preparing a heavy new offensive followed charges that large numbers of Italian troops and quantities of war material recently have been sent to Franco.

Cotton Market

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 19 (AP) — Cotton futures opened 1 to 3 points net lower here today on continued favorable weather in the belt, liquidation and some hedge selling.

Foreign markets were better than expected but exerted little influence on prices in early dealings. Contracts opened at 8.32, Dec. 8.37, Jan. 8.36, March 8.40, May 8.40 and July at 8.41.

Trading lacked initiative during the morning and prices fluctuated within an extremely narrow range. Demand was confined to scale down calling by the trade and covering but was not sufficient to lift prices above the previous close.

Flurries of realizing and hedging were encountered and towards mid-session October contracts traded at 8.32, Dec. at 8.37, March 8.41, May 8.40, and July 8.40, one to four points net lower.

Textiles reported a slight increase in gray goods trading but this factor was offset by continued dry weather and seasonal temperatures in the belt.

The turnover yesterday was 10,500 bales and open commitments 382,200 bales, an increase of 2,550 bales over the previous day.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Aug. 19 (AP) — Cotton futures opened 1 to 2 points lower, hedge selling offsetting steady Liverpool cables. Oct. 8.24; Dec. 8.29; Jan. 8.28; March 8.32; July 8.31.

There was also some light foreign selling while demand generally was slow. Prices showed little trend. Dec. sold off from 8.26 to 8.28 and shortly after the first half hour sold at 8.29.

The market remained quiet later in the morning with offerings restricted owing to steadiness of stocks and grains. Buying however, was limited to trade account and prices around midday still showed net losses of 1 to 2 points. Dec. sold at 8.30.

Stock Market

WALL STREET REPORT

NEW YORK, Aug. 19 (AP) — The stock market turned on its rallying steam in the latter part of today's session and leading issues, paced by the rails, pushed up fractions to 3 points.

While volume broadened on the move, it was not sufficient to put the ticker tape behind and, in the closing hour, momentum died down considerably and extreme gains were reduced substantially. Transwers were around 900,000 shares, almost double yesterday's turnover.

Steels and motors, somewhat backward in early proceedings, joined other industrials in the belated climb, but most backed away at the last.

Tire company issues were well in front most of the day. Mail orders, farm implements, coppers and a wide assortment of specialties were given a whirl.

A jump of more than 10,000 units in this week's automobile output aided the motors as well as the steels.

General Motors touched a new high for the year at its peak.

Curb shares moved both ways.

effect that Premier Mussolini was sending new reinforcements and war material to the Spanish insurgents.

This represented an about-face by Britain. Eleven days ago the British charge d'affaires in Rome, Sir Noel Charles, drew attention to these allegations in a call on Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano. Subsequently, however, London spokesmen said Britain did not necessarily expect to get a reply from Ciano.

But today informed persons said that Charles was instructed to see the Italian foreign minister again and tell him that Britain definitely expects a reply. Charles did this yesterday.

The Kendrick arrest caused a sensation in London government circles.

Cooperation Is Pledged PWA Officials In County Project

A telegram to the state PWA office at Fort Worth pledging cooperation of Lubbock county commissioners in revision of plans so as to provide for two fire escapes in proposed remodeling of the courthouse here was sent by County Judge J. J. Dillard, he said this morning.

Changing of plans will be necessary to obtaining of a $9,000 federal grant which would supplement a sum in excess of $11,000 to be expended by Lubbock county for the remodeling.

Whether the offer of compliance would be received in time to insure approval of the grant was not known, no answer having been received late this morning.

An elevator, new wiring and lighting, and construction of four large offices to replace the monumental stair in the building would be included in plans here.

Sudeten Germans To Get Political Plums

PRAHA, Aug. 19. (AP)—Premier Milan Hodza today disclosed that the Czechoslovak government would give choice political plums in an attempt to pacify its clamorous, autonomy-seeking Sudeten German minority.

The premier made the disclosure in a conference with Viscount Runciman, unofficial British mediator in the troublesome minority issue.

Seven postmasterships in larger communities—including Bodenback, Asch and Rumburg—are to be given the Sudeten Germans.

The premier said the ministry of justice was giving favorable consideration, too, to appointment of a Sudeten German as president of the regional court at Eger.

A member of the British mission said these were concessions of a "positive, specific nature which form a substantial basis for negotiations with the Sudeten German opposition."

In Seven States

The lignite and sub-bituminous fuels are concentrated in seven states, Colorado, Wyoming, Montana, North Dakota, Utah, Texas and Washington.

The station is starting experiments on storage bins designed to restrict the damage of oxygen. The state of Texas already has pointed the way of keeping lignite fuels in underground pits. Illinois has made extensive studies of storage under water.

The president arrived here this morning for an indefinite stay.

Talking with reporters from his open car at the Hyde Park station, the chief executive appeared rested and happy after his strenuous trip through Ontario yesterday.

Newsmen at his informal press conference informed Mr. Roosevelt of reports that the state department in Washington interpreted his speech as an extension of the Monroe doctrine.

The chief executive suggested that his questioners read the original language of the Monroe doctrine. He called attention to the fact that he had not said anything about Latin-America in his Kingston talk.

AUSTIN, Aug. 19. (AP)—The United States Bureau of Mines recommended today that Texas oil production next month be 1,398,600 barrels daily, an increase of 20,800 over its recommendation for August.

Alibis Of Mays Being Checked

to the spot where he had thrown away a knife he admitted using to assault the three New Mexico women, but a gun they said the man had used could not be found.

Officials particularly were interested in locating the gun, in an attempt to fire shells out of it to be compared by ballistics experts with slugs found in the body of the Fromes.

Cried "I Didn't Do It"

It was said, furthermore, that Mays was confronted in his jail cell with an enlarged picture of the Frome bodies as they were found in the Van Horn desert and that he broke down and cried, "I didn't do it!"

Authorities said he began denying residence at El Paso and at Pecos "before any reference to the Frome case was mentioned."

Mays was described as being "pleasant, polished and educated." He formerly was associated with a business college" in a large West Texas town." After he disposed of his interest in the school he began selling silk hose, authorities said they had learned, and lived in El Paso and at Pecos at the time. It was assumed that he learned much about Big Bend roads.

Fingerprints To Washington

Further checks in the past few days have disclosed, said officials, Mays several times had been arrested for drunkenness, but no sex crimes had been found in his record.

A record of his fingerprints has been dispatched to Washington to ascertain if he has been associated with further crime.

He has not been able to identify his whereabouts conclusively between March 27 and April 1, other authorities said. He came to Lubbock April 1, presumably on a bus. His automobile had been here two weeks, in front of an apartment on Tenth street occupied by his wife and children. Immediately upon his coming here he began plans to leave for Oklahoma, checks showed, and he did leave a day or so later.

The Fromes were slain March 30, it is believed.

Mays is being held "for safekeeping" in an "unannounced jail," said Sheriff Sartin.

German Woman Flier To Perform In 'Fool Proof' Monoplane

NEW YORK, Aug. 19 (AP)—Germany's spectacular woman flier, Hanna Reitsch, and Germany's "fool proof" monoplane, the Fiesler Storch, will arrive on the Bremen Monday for their first exhibitions in the United States.

Miss Reitsch will appear as a daily performer in the National Air races at Cleveland September 3, 4 and 5 flying her specially built Habicht aerobatic sailplane in which she intends to perform outside loops, a feat rarely attempted except in powered airplanes.

The manufacturers of the fool proof ship claim it can be flown after five minutes instruction by anyone who can drive an automobile.

Mysterious Blast Wrecks Bank Building In California Town

MOUNTAIN VIEW, Calif., Aug. 19. (AP)—A mysterious powder blast heard nine miles away early today wrecked the two-story Bank of America building and damaged other structures for four blocks in the heart of Mountain View.

Chief of Police Louis L. Gray said the blast was the work of vandals rather than a robbery attempt. He said there were powder marks on the casing of the front door.

The blast blew in and up, demolishing the inside of the building. Damage to the structure was estimated at between $20,000 and $30,000 and to other buildings at between $10,000 and $15,000.

MOMENTUM DECREASING

Film Couples Are Melting

By The AP Feature Service

MAYBE it's the heat wave that has caused stage and film folk to break out in a rash of summer divorces. Students of incompatibility, however, probably will list these four recent marital rifts under the general heading of clashes over careers.

Actress Margaret Perry recently obtained her divorce from Actor Burgess Meredith in Reno. It was the second unsuccessful marriage for both. Miss Perry charged cruelty. The divorce was not contested.

Five years of marital explosions reached a climax in Hollywood recently when Lupe Velez, for the third time, filed suit for divorce against Johnny (Tarzan) Weissmuller. Said Lupe, "Thees time, eet's final."

Actress Luise Rainer filed suit for divorce against Playwright Clifford Odets. Asked about his wife's charge that he had a violent temper, Odets said: "In their relationship with women, all men have vile tempers."

Once referred to as one of Hollywood's "ideal marriages," the romance of Joan Crawford and Franchot Tone ended recently in separation. Both said they are "sorry the marriage had to fail."

Subsidy Payments Applications Open

Time still remains to apply for 1937 cotton subsidy payments, according to C. C. Jobson, Lubbock county farm agent.

"Those who have not done so should make their applications right away," he said. "Each man should bring his work sheet number with him and the number of pounds of cotton he produced."

So far, 1,060 applications have been checked and rechecked, signed by the county agent and a member of the county committee and sent to the AAA at College Station, Jobson said. Another shipment will be made soon.

Payment is being made on the base production allotted each farm for last year, which represents about 61 or 62 per cent of the total amount produced.

HEADS FARM LOAN GROUP

Each girl is allotted pay for 59 hours work each week under the part-time plan. Work is done in state and county offices in the city, in the NYA sewing rooms and with the city recreation project.

In addition personal training is given girls in homemaking phases, including cooking and sewing. Mrs. Mary S. Lovell is house mother and supervisor. The Lubbock Junior Welfare league sponsors the project.

Tuesday Is Deadline For Poll Transfers Before Second Vote

Monday and Tuesday will be the last days to file poll tax receipt transfers for those who have changed places of residence recently and who wish to vote in the democratic primary Aug. 27, according to H. B. Bryan, county tax assessor-collector.

Monday is the last day for residents of the city who have moved from one voting precinct to another to transfer. Tuesday is the last day for those who have moved into the city from another county.

Transfers are required only for voters of Lubbock. The law exempts voters living outside the city.
