Octuplets Die

Mother Mourns

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The 20th century's third recorded set of octuplets is dead.

The eighth, a boy, died at 8:30 a.m., 13 hours and 50 minutes after delivery began Friday in a clinic in a poor section of Mexico City.

The mother, Maria Teresa Lopez de Sepulveda, 21, was reported in good condition but exhausted. She was despondent over the deaths of the four boys and girls. Doctors described the infants as having been well-developed physically although they were two months premature.

One of the only two other recorded births of octuplets occurred in Mexico in 1921. The other was recorded in China in 1934.

Doctors Work In Vain

The Sepulveda octuplets were 12 inches long with arms and legs the length of an adult's little finger. They weighed from 18½ ounces to 22 ounces—an average of 19¼ ounces.

Four died within five hours of birth. A team of six pediatricians at 20th of November Hospital worked throughout the night in a vain effort to save the others.

The father, Genaro Sepulveda Boone, 24, a $280-a-month assistant bookkeeper, was given sedation after the all-night vigil. His wife was resting in her hospital room.

Dr. Pablo Rodriguez Medina, pediatrician in charge at the hospital for government employes, announced he will ask permission for an autopsy on the babies to determine any effects from the contraceptive pills Mrs. Sepulveda had taken until eight months ago.

Multiple Births Soar

Dr. Rodriguez Medina estimated that since contraceptive pills were first introduced into Mexico multiple births have increased 200 per cent.

Quintuplets — one stillborn — were born to a farm worker's wife in a Mexican village last month. Sets of triplets also have been reported recently.

Sepulveda told reporters his wife had been taking the pills for a year after their first child, then stopped taking the pills, Sepulveda said. He said she never took fertility pills.

Kin To Daniel Boone

Sepulveda, whose mother said the family is descended from American frontiersman Daniel Boone, works for the government social security organization which operates the hospital and will pay the medical expenses.

X-rays had forecast a multiple birth but the number surprised Dr. Enrique Estrada Sahagun, the family doctor who delivered the first four. An assistant took over for the remaining babies at the clinic. All were placed in the same incubator and transferred to the 20th of November Hospital.

The babies were delivered within an hour and the mother had no anesthetic, said Dr. Estrada.

Although the infants were perfectly formed, physicians said it was unlikely any survivors could have led healthy lives because of probably nervous system deficiencies.

Reviewing the . . .

Big Spring Week

. . . with Joe Pickle

One of the big items of news for the week was the Defense Department request of $2,121,000 for new medical facilities at Webb AFB. This still has to run the congressional gamut, but it's a healthy start. A DOD official here recently observed that facilities at the base had been in use nearly four times of their intended life.

* * * *

There were grim reminders of the business of preparedness and of war. Maj. Joseph A. Murphy, popular officer at Webb AFB, was killed in a training mission with a F-104 in Jordan, where he had gone on assignment with the 4760th training squadron. His wife, Beverley, and three children were living here at 90-A Ent, and the entire community sorrows with them. The Bronze Star, one of the highest awards for combat heroism, was awarded posthumously to Mrs. Walt Davis for her son, Sp. 5 Richard A. Spangler, who gave his life in Vietnam last Nov. 5. Previously, she had received his Purple Heart.

At Webb AFB, Airman 1.C. Robert D. Miller, Maj. Joe H. Bank, Maj. Leonard E. Egger, Capt. Gaylon O. Smith and Capt. Robert D. Gobble were given citations for gallantry in action in Vietnam. Jimmy R. Smith, hospital corpsman third class, U.S. Navy, found that fortunes of war do turn for the better. Last year he was cleared

White Collar Workers Ask Profits Bonus

Annual Income Guarantee '67 Goal Of UAW

DETROIT (AP) — White collar members of the United Auto Workers Saturday not only gave unanimous approval to a guaranteed annual income as a 1967 union goal but proposed a shorter work week and a bonus from any company's "excess profits."

A series of other fringe benefits also were suggested by some 250 delegates representing 50,000 UAW members who are technical, office and professional employes within and without the auto industry.

A 35-hour week without a reduction in current pay will be recommended for adoption to the 1.4 million-member union's general prebargaining convention meeting in Detroit April 20-22.

PROFIT BONUS

The office workers also proposed that "where it can be established that a firm's profit is in excess of its normal anticipated profit a bonus be paid to all employes based on this excess profit."

They did not go into specifics or amount.

Among other things, representatives of the technical, office and professional unionists also recommended goals which would give:

—A bonus of at least 50 per cent on top of regular pay when one is on vacation.

—The gearing of pensions to the cost of living, as auto wages now are, and the right of a worker to carry pension credits from one employer to another if he changes jobs.

MORE HOLIDAYS

UAW President Walter P. Reuther told the group Friday the union intends to win, by strike if necessary, a guaranteed annual income in new contract negotiations opening in July with the automotive Big Three — General Motors, Ford and Chrysler.

Later he told some 170 delegates representing 150,000 UAW members employed in the agricultural implement and industrial equipment industries the same thing. Within minutes the latter group gave its approval.

The UAW's Skilled Trades Department, with some 200,000 members, is expected to follow suit this week at an Atlantic City meeting.

The technical, office and professional group proposed that the nine holidays now observed be raised to 11, with a proviso that an additional holiday be given in any month in which one of the 11 did not fall.

'HEAVENS, NO'

Income Tax Hike Dead?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Is the administration's proposal for a 6 per cent surtax dead even before it formally reaches Congress? If it is, President Johnson faces a whopping deficit of nearly $13 billion.

That question got emphatic and opposite answers Saturday in the wake of Johnson's Thursday request to Congress to restore the incentives to business investment suspended five months ago.

Johnson said at the same time he is not dropping his tax surcharge request.

But some key members of Congress virtually rule out the surtax as a political impossibility after the President urged reinstatement of the 7 per cent investment tax credit on equipment and machinery and accelerated depreciation on buildings.

MIXED EMOTIONS

But administration economists are just as emphatic in the other direction.

"Heavens, no," was the response of one when asked if reinstatement of the credit killed plans for the surtax.

Another said the surtax will now be needed even more than before because reinstatement of the business incentives will stimulate somewhat an economy already pegged for expansion later in the year.

But the question on some congressional minds is how can the administration ask for tax benefits now for business and then expect the same Congress to raise taxes later on both individuals and business.

Quick action has been promised by Congress on the reinstatement of the business incentives with the House Ways and Means Committee already planning a hearing for Tuesday and a House vote expected later in the week.

Action won't be as quick on the surtax which the administration has not yet sent to Congress in bill form. The committee doesn't plan a hearing until June, a schedule which virtually rules out the July 1 effective date asked by the administration.

One well-placed administration source said even if the surtax takes effect July 1 price pressures could be expected to appear during the second half of this year.

WHOPPING DEFICIT

"All our economic projections have been worked out with the surtax included," he said.

The administration anticipates a sluggish first half but expects an upswing during the second half and is sticking to that prediction despite the current economic slowdown.

Failure of Congress to enact the surtax would drop in the administration's lap the largest budget deficit since World War II unless spending were cut drastically.

President Johnson figured on an $8.1 billion deficit for the fiscal year which begins July 1 but that included the extra $4.7 billion in revenue the surtax would raise. Without it the deficit would rise to almost $13 billion.

The surtax would increase the tax bills of all corporations and most individuals by 6 per cent.

Pilots Stage Second Raid On Red Mill

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. pilots hammered at North Vietnam's Thai Nguyen steel plant Saturday in the second raid on that strategic objective within 24 hours. A sharp flurry of fighting in South Vietnam accompanied the rising air offensive.

A broadcast dispatch from Hanoi, listing action over a half-dozen provinces, declared seven planes were shot down and some fliers — the number unspecified — were captured. There was no confirmation in Saigon.

U.S. Air Force Thunderchiefs — about 42 planes — staged the followup strike on the mill, which covers 2.5 square miles of the countryside 38 miles north of Hanoi.

ABILENE CAPTAIN

Pilots again reported "all bombs on target." There was no official assessment of the damage, but Capt. Charles C. Murphy, 26, Abilene, Tex., said he had seen two large white secondary explosions through smoke that wreathed the area.

Like the first raid Friday on this keystone of North Vietnam's heavy industry, the attack was mounted from Thailand.

SPRING'S HERE

Ole Beautiful's Right On Job

By SAM BLACKBURN

Officially it won't be spring until March 21.

Unofficially, we've had it. It's spring.

Two indisputable pieces of evidence are offered by the prosecution.

First, take Saturday's sizzling 90 degree plus weather. — Go ahead, take it—we don't want it. If that's winter weather we've been misled all of our tender lives.

But the clinching proof is:

Beautiful, the turtle, has emerged from her tasteful turtle bungalow back of the Dr. Floyd R. Mays residence, 602 Highland. That, brother, proves it's spring.

GROUNDHOG?

Beautiful, in case you don't know, is the prized pet of little Kathy Mays, who has had the critter for several years.

Beautiful, although definitely turtle, makes like a ground hog is supposed to. Every year, come the proper day when the weather begins to smell of cold, Beautiful pulls into the hideaway that Kathy and Mrs. Mays have provided for her.

Usually on Feb. 2, (just like the ground hog is supposed to do) she makes a brief sorty into the outside world. She looks things over with her ancient hooded eyes and if there's more winter to come she plods back into her house and stays until even the mesquite trees begin to think about budding.

Then she and her handsome boy friend, Ugly, waddle out into the yard and begin preparations for summer living.

They made their official debut Saturday morning.

FOOD FIRST

Mrs. Mays, who hadn't expected their advent, was caught short in the provender department. She dashed away to the food market and bought up an adequate supply of lettuce. After a leisurely breakfast, Beautiful, (faithfully followed by Ugly) made a tour of inspection of the Mays' property.

Kathy tried to explain that the big hardshells were jumping the spring gun by nine days but her admonition fell on unheeding turtle ears.

So with Beautiful the Turtle out—it's spring. Beautiful has never been caught short in the past. When she shows up, it's all over with winter.

Man It's Warm, Have Some More

The weather bureau in Midland said the official high in Big Spring was 89 sizzling degrees Saturday; the thermometer on the First National Bank parking lot hit 93 briefly. Most folks believed the 93.

Regardless whether it was 89 or higher Saturday went down in the book as the hottest March 11 in the 66 years that records have been maintained here.

The previous high on March 11 was 86 which was reported in 1904 and again in 1917.

The forecast for today and Monday holds no promise of relief. A high of 90 is expected today.

Humble American Wins Soviet Court Leniency

MOSCOW (AP) — A Soviet appeals court accepted Saturday a contrite young American's plea for leniency, reducing his three-year labor camp sentence to a $5,555 fine.

With a faint smile breaking through his nervous solemnity, Buel Ray Wortham Jr., heard the court give the decision that meant he could go home to North Ltitle Rock, Ark. Its citizens had petitioned the court to free Wortham and promised to pay his fine.

Wortham said he hoped to be home by next weekend, ending what began as a brief tourist visit to the Soviet Union but turned into a six-month stay costing more than $10,000 in the fine, the loss of his car, his legal fees and other expenses.

STOLE STATUE

Wortham was convicted Dec. 21 of illegally changing money three times and stealing an antique statue of a bear from a Leningrad hotel.

"I abused the hospitality of the Soviet people," Wortham told the Supreme Court of the Russian Federation at Saturday's appeal hearing. "As a result of this, I spent over three months in a Soviet prison," more than 2½ months of it in isolation, the 25-year-old former U.S. Army officer said. He was released on bail Jan. 14.

VERY SORRY

"I am very sorry for all the trouble I caused. If the Soviet Supreme Court could lower my sentence and set me free, I can assure the court that I will never again abuse the hospitality of another country," Wortham told the court.

Prosecutor Ivan F. Novokshonov noting Wortham's youth, the relative seriousness of his crimes and his confession and repentance, said he thought it possible to apply a Soviet law that permits a lesser sentence.

The prosecutor recommended to the three judges that they substitute the fine for the labor camp sentence. He rejected defense attorney Fyodor Rozhdestvensky's request that Wortham's car and other property be returned to him.

HEALTH WARNINGS IGNORED

Smokers Still Smoking

CHICAGO AP) — Just over three years ago, the advisory committee to the U.S. surgeon general warned that cigarette smoking was injurious to health. Today, cigarette sales are at an all-time high.

Health warnings now are required on cigarette packages, medical reports contending that smoking is harmful continue to pile up and anti-cigarette campaigns are widespread.

Yet some medical authorities estimate that each day 4,000 young persons try smoking for the first time. Cigarette withdrawal clinics report considerably more failures than successes in leading smokers to their goal of breaking the habit.

WHAT NEXT?

What happens next?

A survey of the situation shows that anti-smoking drives will be intensified, cigarette commercials may be dropped on television shows that appeal to youth, and scientists will continue efforts to find what they regard as a "safe" cigarette.

Action is proceeding on these fronts:

Scientists working under a grant from the American Cancer Society say they developed a very promising technique for testing whether a cigarette can be made "safe" or "safer" when smoke is inhaled directly into the lungs of experimental animals.

Various research groups are working with filters, modified tobacco and tobacco substitutes in efforts to come up with a "safe" cigarette.

NEW LOOK

The secretary of health, education and welfare and the Federal Trade Commission will take a new look this year at current information on the health consequences of smoking and the effectiveness of present warning labels on cigarette packages. The FTC will make new recommendations to Congress.

The FTC has decided to test cigarettes and publish its findings on the nicotine and tar content of the various brands. A bill before congress would require cigarette companies to publish the tar and nicotine content on labels and the FTC laboratory would make a close check on claims.

PUSH PLANNED

The American Medical Association is supporting more than 40 research projects which its spokesmen say could produce answers to these questions: How does tobacco smoke produce damage to the human body? Why do some people appear to tolerate the effects of smoking better than others? Is there a single factor involved in tobacco smoke danger or are there several factors?

The American Cancer Society, asserting "far more must be done in the field of smoking and health," is planning to push its educational campaign in films, cartoon books, workshops, pamphlets and youth conferences "day in and day out and in a sustained and systematic manner."

'ROOM MOTHERS'

The National Congress of Parents and Teachers, supported in its first year by $87,000 in funds from the U.S. Public Health Service, has undertaken a nationwide program in schools to keep seventh- and eighth-grade children from smoking. Key personnel in the educational program will be P-TA representatives serving as "room

FBI Says Exhumed Body Is Missing OU Official

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — A body buried in a pauper's grave for almost a month is that of a missing University of Oklahoma official, the Federal Bureau of Investigation said Saturday.

The FBI identified the body as that of Jay Frank Elsea, 32, assistant OU bursar, by taking fingerprints from hands severed from the body during an autopsy Wednesday.

Elsea vanished from Norman, Okla., Jan. 17.

Justice of Peace John Gavito said he was notified of the positive identification by Washington.

BULLETS MISSED

After two bullets was found lodged in the victim's spinal column, Gavito ruled the death was murder "by a person or persons unknown."

A ring found in clothing on the body bore Elsea's initials. A dental check by Dr. Ernesto Davila disclosed that the teeth matched Elsea's dental charts "pretty close."

The autopsy Wednesday was the second performed on the remains, found in a dense thicket 12 miles east of Brownsville Feb. 19. The first autopsy missed the bullets and the pathologist said death was apparently due to "natural causes."

CREDIT CARD CLUE

The first evidence that the body might be Elsea came when Police Chief Bill Henslee of Norman, Okla., came here to search for the missing official after learning that Elsea had bought gasoline with a credit card at nearby Harlingen the day he vanished.

Henslee and Detective Sgt. James McBride circulated pictures of Elsea and a description of his red, 1966 car.

Henslee said the signature on the credit slip at Harlingen was Elsea's. He said all purchases made with the card later were with a forged signature. The purchases were made in Arizona, California, and Canada, Henslee said.

Texas Fog Slows Hunt For Plane

By The Associated Press

Temperatures over Texas neared mid-summer levels Saturday as a costly drought worsened and fog was blamed for a plane's dissappearance in the Matagorda Bay area.

There was no measureable rain as the thermomenters climbed and stiff south winds continued to dry moisture from the parched rangelands and croplands of the state.

Fog hampered searchers Saturday morning as they hunted a light plane missing since Friday on a flight from El Campo to the Matagorda Peninsula.

PROGRESS PANORAMA

Today's issue of The Herald includes a special tabloid section, "Progress Panorama," produced in its entirety by the Press Club of Howard County Junior College. Journalism students, as a part of their laboratory work, sold and drafted advertisements, prepared all news copy, provided pictures and did the editing and headline writing. Jean Fannin was editor.

Money accruing from the project goes into the Press Club's treasury for special activities. The Herald is happy to have cooperated with the young journalists of the college in this undertaking.

Trustees Will Take Action On Faculty

Faculty and supervisory personnel for the 1967-68 term of the Big Spring Independent School District will be hired at the regular meeting of the district trustees at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Another item listed on the board's agenda is ratification of the selection of textbooks by the local multiple-list textbook committee.

The purchase of instruments for the band with a proposal the funds be taken from the money allotted for high school equipment will be discussed.

The suggested closed campus rule for the secondary schools in 1967-68 will be given consideration.

Programs and schedules for the junior high school — with only the 7th and 8th grades involved—will be considered.

Final action on application for minimum foundation funds will have to be taken at the meeting.

A report on the progress on the football practice field will be made.

Wiring problems which have arisen in the buildings to be remodeled — Runnels, Cedar Crest, Boydstun will be explained.

The board is to hear a report on the 1967-68 census, just completed.

CRMWD Board To Meet March 23, Consider Pact

A meeting of the board of directors of the Colorado River Municipal Water District has been scheduled for the district's offices, 1318 East 4th, in Big Spring for 9:30 a.m. March 23.

One of the major items on the agenda will be considering the request of the City of Stanton for water. Between now and the meeting, O. H. Ivie, general manager, is due to meet with the rate committee to discuss the matter, and some form of contract proposal may be ready for study.

Stanton has made an official request to the district, pegging some probable demands. Mayor S. W. Wheeler, in a letter to the district, said that Stanton's delivery point would be off the district's main supply line about six miles north of Stanton.

Progress reports on construction of the dam above Robert Lee will be given by Ivie, together with reports on other matters, including land and right-of-way acquisitions.

DeMolay Chapter To Mark Annual Anniversary Week

On March 18, 1919, Frank S. Land founded the order of DeMolay with nine members in Kansas City, Mo.

This week, which includes the anniversary date of the founding, Big Spring DeMolays, one of 2,500 chapters embracing thousands of members, will observe a round of activities marking International DeMolay Week.

Mayor Arnold Marshall has proclaimed this special week in Big Spring, calling upon Big Springers to consider the high objectives of the organization and to support it in "Building Better Citizens," which is the DeMolay slogan.

"It is heartening," said the mayor, "that in a time when some segments of youth assert themselves in weird activities and demonstrations, we have an organization such as DeMolay to uphold the high ideals of love, comradeship, courtesy, fidelity, cleanness, patriotism and reverence. These young men are not only preparing themselves for places of leadership tomorrow, they are serving and leading today. I call upon Big Spring residents to salute them on the occasion of this week."

A number of things have been planned during the week and to focus attention upon it. Signs at the Holiday Inn and Highland Center announce the week. There also will be radio and television announcements. Today the DeMolay chapter will attend First Methodist's morning worship; next Sunday the young men will be at Baptist Temple.

Tuesday evening there will be a grand master's class in honor of J. D. Tomme Jr., grand master of Texas Masons. There will be 11 initiates in this group. On Saturday the group will go to Coahoma to beautify the grave of Leon P. Moffett, for whom the chapter is named.

On Wednesday the chapter will concentrate on performing good deeds, handing out courtesy cards explaining that this is part of the DeMolay idea. Each of the week will emphasize one of the virtues the boys are sworn to uphold.

Ted Hull is chapter dad and A. J. Prager chairman of the advisory board. Mrs. L. G. Nalls is the president of the DeMolay Mother's Club, assisted by Mrs. Faye Nix, treasurer, and Mrs. Barbara Phares, secretary.

Two years after the order was founded, a chapter was organized in Big Spring. Today it has some four score members and meets each Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. at Masonic Lodge 1340, Twenty-first and Lancaster.

From the time the order was founded, it experienced rapid growth. A year later there were 3,000 members in Kansas City and other chapters had to be founded. Since then, 3,000,000 have been in the program. Membership is open to any boy of good character between the ages of 14 and 21. While only Masonic bodies sponsor the chapters, it is not necessary that a boy be the son or relative of a Mason to become a DeMolay.

Board Moves To Renovate Library

Howard County Junior College trustees Friday gave the green light to firming up plans for renovation of the present library section so that bids can be asked as soon as possible.

The plans submitted call for conversion of the desk and lobby area of the present library into a reception area and offices for the president. The stack and work area of the library will be converted into offices for the administrative and academic deans and for guidance. There also will be two classrooms provided in the south portion of the wing. Dr. W. A. Hunt, college president, said he hoped that tearing out of the space can be started as soon as the switch is made to the new library, possibly within a month.

The new science building may not be completed that soon, but both of these new structures, built and equipped at a cost in excess of $800,000, are due for delivery before the end of the semester.

Trustees accepted a bid of Craftsman Printers, Lubbock, in the amount of $2,420, which was some $250 under the second bid and $1,200 under the third bid for 6,000 copies of the college catalogue. They also authorized proposals for a copy machine for use in the new library, and told the president to proceed with obtaining equipment for teaching of data processing. This equipment also will be used in connection with college business records.

A report from John A. Coffey said that insurance figures presented at the last board meeting were correctly rated. The cost of coverage had rocketed so steeply that the board had asked a check on the figures. Purchase of a new unit for mowing the college grounds and doing other work was authorized.

Dr. Hunt reported that an emergency appropriation bill containing $42,000 for HCJC has cleared the Texas Senate. It is possible this can be brought up in the House this week, he said, and if passed will furnish aid to junior colleges for enrollments in excess of estimates. He thought the outlook was good for a more favorable bill to finance junior college education for the biennium.

All major chemical operating units had higher sales and earnings than in the previous year.

Criminal Docket Has 16 On List

Sixteen criminal cases are on the docket set for the 118th District Court to open at 10 a.m. March 20.

Judge Ralph Caton has announced he will sound the docket at 2 p.m. next Friday. All of the cases which are announced ready will be set for trial at the following week's docket.

A jury panel of 140 members will be receiving notices in the mail this week to report.

The judge has made it clear he intends to continue with the recently adopted policy of fining all jurors who ignore the jury call and offer no excuse. Last week, the judge fined 17 delinquent panel members $25 each for failing to report.

Most of the cases in the scheduled docket are DWI second offense indictments.

Two defendants, James Wesley Legate and Alphonse Raymond, each have two DWI second indictments pending, all four of which are set for trial.

Other cases on the docket, as announced by Judge Caton, are: Truman Nannie, DWI second; Carol Ann Scaggs, theft from the person; Henry Clifford Vaughn, DWI second; William L. Nichols, worthless check; Elis Dyer, DWI second; W. E. Harris, embezzlement repeater; James A. Vaughn, worthless check, repeater; Bobby Gene Keith, theft; Victor Japan Brown, burglary; Elizabeth V. Communist China Turmoil Is Top Issue On Taiwan

By JAMES ROWE
Caller Times Staff Writer

TAIPEI, Taiwan — The consuming question here as in most of the rest of the world is this: What is going on in Communist China and what will be the outcome?

There are a variety of answers to this question, none of them conclusive. It is an exaggeration to say, as Secretary of State Dean Rusk said recently partly in jest, that even Mao Tse-tung does not know what is going on.

One historian has suggested that Mao's actions are in keeping with an ancient tradition: That when a leader knew that his death was near he chose his successor and then attempted to liquidate any leaders who might contest that succession.

OFFICIAL VERSION

The official version, in a somewhat truncanted form, was provided the American Study Mission by Yen Chia-Kan, vice president and premier of Nationalist China.

"The West has come to think of the upheaval solely as a power struggle between the forces of Mao Tse-tung and Lin Piao on the one hand, and Liu Shao-chi and Teng Hsiao-ping on the other," Premier Yen said. "The struggle started that way — Mao's hard core of Stalinist tyrants versus the revisionists. But many of the 700 million Chinese people of the mainland quickly seized upon the long-awaited opportunity to call down a plague on the houses of both Mao and Liu. This expression from the masses of the people is basically anti-Communist. Millions of workers have been pouring into Peking, Shanghai, and other cities. They have demanded not only a better life but their traditional Chinese freedoms. Neither Mao nor his opponents dare use the army to suppress anti-communism. Within the army ranks are commanders who learned their military science under President Chiang Kai-shek. We know from those who have escaped to freedom that most young officers are disillusioned and sick of communism. The so-called People's Liberation Army is a charge of dynamite set to go off in the heartland of China. The fuse is already lit."

RED DETERIORATION

"The big story on the Chinese mainland is the continuing deterioration of communism. Cultural revolution, Red Guards, and all the rest are merely new manifestations of the continuing struggle."

Premier Yen went on to say that "our armed forces are ready to help the anti-Communists."

President Chiang is reported to have reached the conclusion that the struggle on the mainland is predominantly between Communists, that no coherent anti-Communist leadership or following has yet appeared, and that the outcome of the struggle will not benefit Taiwan.

Following a briefing by C. C. Lai, director, of the information department in the Ministry of Foreign Affairs, on Taiwanese foreign policy, I engaged Lai in a brief conversation.

TIME ELEMENT

"Is the passage of time in favor of, or inimical to, the interests of Nationalist China" I asked.

"I think time is on our side," he answered. "But when you say time, you should place it in quotation marks."

Unquestionably the Nationalist Chinese government is much better informed on events within Red China than published reports would suggest. For the Nationalists do have secret agents within mainland China, particularly in Fukien Province. Most of the 13 million Chinese on Taiwan came from Fukien Province and cannot be distinguished from their brothers on the mainland. In addition, government agents closely question Chinese who cross the border into Hong Kong.

Some insight on this source of secret intelligence was given by Pao Chin-an, director of the Research Institute on China Mainland Affairs. Without revealing sources, he said that his government was much better informed than it appeared.

"Mao hoped to destroy revisionists," Pao said, "but the struggle became a tug-of-war between Mao and anti-Mao elements. The result has been that the government structure has been paralyzed. During the last six months Mao has succeeded in purging many of his opponents . . . but he has failed to liquidate all of his opponents . . . In the process he has alienated many of his supporters."

SERIOUS CONSEQUENCES

The disruption of agricultural and industrial production will have serious consequences, Pao predicted. One of the most serious effects of this disruption has been a shortage of food for soldiers and an abrupt drop in war material production.

Premier Chou En-lai appears to be the most likely successor for Mao, Pao said.

I asked Lai, from the ministry of Foreign Affairs, if there may be a moderation of the mainland regime under Chou, similar to that which occurred in Russia after the death of Stalin, prefacing this with the observation that Chou is the only high Communist official who has traveled widely and is aware of the great power realities in today's world.

"I do not think there would be any change," Pao answered. "He would have to be just as hard as Mao."

County Bee To Be Held In HCJC Science Bldg.

By SAM BLACKBURN

Howard County's 1967 Spelling Bee, sponsored by the Big Spring Herald, will be staged this year in the Howard County Junior College Science Building auditorium. Last year the event was at the Big Spring High School cafeteria and the previous year in the HCJC auditorium.

It was decided that the science hall is more intimate and affords better opportunity for all to hear.

The county bee is set for 10 a.m. April 15. This means that the schools have just a month left in which to name their champions and get ready for the big event.

Most of the schools are reported pushing ahead with plans for the elimination bees and it is possible some of the schools will select their champions within the next week or 10 days.

Judges are to be named and a pronouncer selected this week.

As in all bees, the words to be used are those in the official spelling book, "Words of the Champions," copies of which are available, with official rules for the county spelling bee, at the Herald office. The price of the book is 15 cents.

Winner of the Howard County Spelling Bee gets an all-expense paid trip to Lubbock April 29 and a chance to compete in the regional spelling bee. Should he win there, he wins a free trip to Washington, D. C. and a chance to try for the national championship and for many cash prizes and other special awards. There are 23 counties in this region.

Any youngster who has not passed the eighth grade and who will not be 16 years of age by the time of the national bee in June is eligible to compete.

Competition in other years does not preclude reentering the competition this year. As a matter of fact, dozens of boys and girls in the Big Spring, Forsan and Midway schools are veterans of previous spelling bees. Many are former champions of their schools.

Scott McLaughlin, Goliad student who won the county meet a year ago, is competing again. Mary Ann Brown, of Runnels, who was the runner-up in the county bee in 1966, is also trying again this year.

Don Hickson, who is no longer eligible, is a good example of how effective experience in the bee is. He won the county championship in 1964 but did not win the regional bee. He won the county title again in 1965 and went on to win the regional and to place high in the national bee at Washington.

School officials are urged, as quickly as they have determined their school champions, to advise the Herald.

More Income On Auto Licenses

Receipts from the sale of 1967 car plates for the first 28 working days of the current year have now reached $134,324.79, according to Mrs. Zirah LeFevre, county tax assessor.

This compares with $121,985.75 for the same 28 days in 1966 and represents an increase of $12,341.

The county allotment of the car license funds is automatically pegged at $175,000. All additional funds after the county's share has been taken care of go to the state treasury.

Soaking Moisture Needed Statewide

COLLEGE STATION (AP)—Winter came back to Texas briefly after a week of summer-like temperatures but the state got little relief from the continuing drouth.

John E. Hutchison, director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, said moisture ranging from light snow to showers to good rains in spots failed to give more than temporary relief even in the more favored areas. High winds and low temperatures which accompanied the second frontal passage caused further harm. Rains in the North Central Texas area were heaviest, he noted, and will help but general moisture is needed statewide.

GREENBUG DAMAGE

Only the Gulf Coast and spots in East Texas have anywhere near adequate moisture for plant growth and planting operations. Pastures in these areas, with the warmer weather, had shown improvement. Livestock, with heavy feeding, are generally in fair to good condition, the director said.

In the Panhandle some light snow fell but moisture was still very short. Greenbug damage to wheat was reported in Carson, Castro, Ochiltree, Parmer and Randall counties.

SOUTH PLAINS DISTRICT

The South Plains district is dry and greenbugs are damaging wheat in some counties. Preplant irrigation is at the peak and fertilizer and herbicides are being distributed on irrigated land.

The Rolling Plains district is extremely dry and small grain continues to deteriorate with each day. The acreage of grazed out and plowed up fields continues to increase as preparations are made to use the acreage for spring planted crops. The situation is being worsened in some counties by greenbugs and winter grain mites. Grain is being irrigated where water is available. Dry grass is short in some counties and heavy livestock feeding is continuing.

PEACH PROSPECTS

Things were brighter in North Central Texas since all counties in the district received from half an inch to two and a half inches of rain Sunday. Falls was heaviest in the eastern counties. All crops, especially small grains and pastures, will benefit but much more general moisture is needed. Greenbugs are widespread and are causing some damage and some poisoning is being done.

Peach prospects in Northeast Texas were hard hit by subfreezing temperatures. Losses could reach or even exceed 50 per cent. That section received some showers but is still short on moisture.

LABOR SHORTAGE

General, soaking moisture is needed in far West Texas for both ranges and cropland. Sheep and goat shearing continued. Labor is in short supply.

Central West Texas continued to suffer from the winter drouth and many stock tanks are dry and others are low. Livestock are in fair condition but heavy feeding is necessary. Dry grass ranges from scarce to adequate with no green grazing available.

Spots in Central Texas received as much as an inch of rain but much more is needed. The situation is critical in some counties. Plum, peach and apricot trees are blooming but there was no estimate on possible freeze damage. Goat shearing is becoming general. Shearing crews are needed in Bell County. A very limited acreage of corn and grain sorghum have been planted in Milam County.

GROWTH BREAKER

Five East Texas counties have adequate moisture but all others are short to very short. Oats and clovers made some growth and began to provide some grazing, but the midweek cold front again put the brakes on plant growth.

Moisture in Southeast and the Upper Gulf Coast district ranges from short to adequate with 10 counties on the short side. Corn, grain sorghum and rice are being planted and clover is starting to grow but the midweek cold front slowed planting and plant growth.

Corn and grain sorghum planting continued to be held up in South Central Texas by the lack of moisture. Vegetables are being planted in areas where irrigation is available.

South Texas moisture ranges from short to very short except in Nueces, San Patricio and Willacy counties. Cotton, corn and grain sorghums are being planted in the Valley and Coastal Bend counties and corn is being planted in the Winter Garden area. Onions, cabbage and citrus are being harvested in the Valley. Some stockmen are culling due to the strong prices of cows and bulls.

Almost A Death Trap

This Greyhound bus nearly became a death trap for 25 passengers on the Santa Ana freeway in Los Angeles Friday night when it was engulfed by flames at the scene of a collision between a gasoline tanker truck and another truck. The bus passengers, most of them Marines on leave, fled to safety as a wall of flames raced toward them. (AP WIREPHOTO)

25 Passengers Race Through Gas Flames

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Twenty - five passengers on a Greyhound bus ran through burning gasoline to safety Friday night as a 15-foot wall of flame raced toward them.

Police said nobody was injured. Witnesses gave this account:

A tanker truck slowed in heavy traffic on the Santa Ana Freeway and was struck by another truck, wrecking the tanker and spilling 1,825 gallons of gasoline.

FLARES IGNITE GAS

An unidentified motorist stopped and set out flares to warn oncoming vehicles. A flare ignited the gasoline. There was an explosion and flames rose as high as 20 feet along 200 yards of the freeway.

The driver of the Los Angeles-bound bus, Wilmer Turner, braked to a stop to avoid hitting the two crashed trucks.

'CATS, GET OFF'

"I saw gas spurting out of the tanker. I got out of the bus and walked to the rear and saw flames. I ran to the front and yelled, 'Hey, all you cats, get off.' I never saw a bus clear so quick," Turner said.

Most of the passengers were Marines on liberty from Camp Pendleton 60 miles to the south.

Before firemen extinguished the blaze, the bus had been burned out, the tanker had been damaged and the other truck's trailer destroyed.

Abilene club president A. E. Wells has extended an invitation to all Lions in the area to attend the banquet, which is scheduled for Abilene High School gymnasium at 7:30 p.m. Tickets are available for $2.50 each and may be obtained from the club secretary, Joe Williamson, Box 565, Abilene 79604. Some 1,000 are expected.

Connally Says Program Demanded By Citizens

DALHART, Tex. (AP) — Gov. John Connally said Saturday his legislative program is "in response to the demand of our citizens for responsible and responsive government."

Connally spoke at the Dalhart Chamber of Commerce banquet.

He said he has recommended the state take a stronger role to curtail rising traffic accidents and crime rates.

DRINK PROPOSAL

"Individual capability in traffic will be enhanced by the driver education program I have proposed offering new drivers the opportunity to acquire needed knowledge and skills for responsible vehicle operation," he said.

The governor said his liquor-by-the-drink proposal is to tighten regulations on the sale of liquor, "and to provide local freedom of choice on all matters concerning the sale of alcoholic beverages."

Connally said his one-cent local option sales tax proposal will assure "efficiency and responsibility at local levels of government."

ELECTION REVISION

He also outlined these proposals: Election Law revision, annual legislative sessions, four-year terms for officials elected statewide, salary increases for state employes and constitutional revision.

"These recommendations — and those dealing with water planning and conservation, industrial safety and workman's compensation, consumer credit control, and many other matters—are all in response to the demand of our citizens for responsible and responsive government," Connally said.

Reds To Vote, 99 Pct. Of 'Em

MOSCOW (AP) — Elections will be held Sunday for the Supreme Soviets (parliaments) of the Russian Federation and eight of the country's 15 other republics.

The usual 99-plus per cent turnout of voters is expected and the unopposed candidates are expected to get the usual 99-plus per cent of the votes cast.

A parliamentary election here is meant as a demonstration of loyalty to the Communist system. Only an infinitesimally small number of citizens care or dare to oppose the slate.

The parliaments themselves meet only rarely and then only to approve measures submitted by the Communist party, which exercises real authority in the country.

The top Kremlin leaders are among the 884 candidates running for four-year terms in the unicameral parliament of the Russian Federation, much the biggest of the units into which the country is divided. It holds 127 million of the Soviet Union's 234 million residents.

Communist party leader Leonid I. Brezhnev, Premier Alexei N. Kosygin and President Nikolai V. Podgorny also hold seats in the national Parliament, which was elected last June 12.

Former Premier Nikita Khrushchev is expected to make one of his rare public appearances to vote in Moscow.

Backing From Barry

WASHINGTON (AP)—Barry Goldwater says he favors the proposed U.S. - Soviet consular treaty—but only if it requires the Soviet Union to stop supplying arms to North Vietnam. Goldwater lined up Friday behind a proposed amendment that Senate backers of the pact say would rule out Soviet acceptance of the agreement.

City Employes Squabble Over Tree-Trimming

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — An Oklahoma City fireman is free on $20 bond today after he, a city park department worker and a city policeman squabbled over tree-trimming.

The trees were in the front yard of the fireman, Donald Robinson, 32, who was pruning them. The park department worker, Keldon Wilds, said Robinson didn't have a pruning permit, and besides, the trees were on city right-of-way.

When Robinson didn't stop, Wilds called police. Patrolman J. H. Willis said Wilds would have to make a citizens arrest before a complaint could be signed.

All three city employes went to the police station, where Wilds signed the complaint, Willis put the fireman in jail, and Robinson posted bond an hour later.

Democrats Call 'Regular Meet

The Howard County Democratic Club will have a meeting Monday at 8 p.m. in the county courthouse, according to an announcement from John Ferguson, president. Ferguson said this is a regular meeting and invited all interested in the party and its activities to attend.

Wilson Finds It Difficult To Back LBJ

LONDON (AP)—Harold Wilson is finding it increasingly difficult to go on staunchly supporting President Johnson's Vietnam policies.

Despite some evident embarrassments the British prime minister shows no signs of abandoning his pro-American stance.

His problems over Vietnam are nearly as old as his 2½-year-old Labor government. Lately they have become more acute with the intensification of American military pressures against the North.

NOT GREENHORNS

On the military and troop-morale level the statements by the Johnson administration are understood by authorities here, who are not greenhorns in the arts of campaigning.

On the political level it's another story.

The private conversations of some senior government men suggest disenchantment with official Washington's aims and methods in Vietnam.

Among their arguments:

American officials have insisted repeatedly they have had no serious proposals for peace talks from Hanoi. Soviet officials including Premier Alexei N. Kosygin seemed to satisfy Wilson last month that serious peace talks were possible if Johnson ordered a military pause.

LOSING LIVES

Johnson in early February said publicly "just almost any step" by Hanoi would be enough to bring about an American standoff against the North. Some British officials think he shifted his position by demanding later a reciprocal move by Hanoi such as halting shipments of arms and men southward.

The administration seems to some authorities here to be moving near to demanding total North Vietnamese surrender. The British doubt whether North Vietnam will surrender and Wilson has said publicly he is sure neither side can win the war.

All this can be seen as inevitable differences of emphasis between two partners, one of them losing lives and treasures daily on the battlefield.

That is why the British government, whatever it feels, would think long and hard before publicly voicing doubts or criticism.

TEENS TURN TO VICE

Pep Pill Peddlers Worrying British

LONDON (AP) — Schoolgirls turn to vice to get narcotics — fashionable London church is scene of dope pushers — 19-year-old girl dies after drugs party.

London newspaper headlines tell the sad story.

Suddenly the British have awakened to an appalling problem in their midst — teenage narcotics addiction.

Prime Minister Harold Wilson's government, concerned over the soaring drug addiction figures, is drafting amendments to existing laws.

In Britain family doctors are allowed to prescribe heroin and cocaine for addicts.

GUILTY DOCTORS

An independent committee on taking drugs says the main source of illicit drugs is a few doctors who prescribe excessively for addicts.

Under proposed legislation, addicts will be able to obtain supplies only at special drug centers in hospitals.

There are 1,000 narcotics addicts recorded through the system of voluntary registration and prescription records. The unofficial figure is put at 2,000-3,000.

'PURPLE HEARTS'

This compares with 532 in 1962. The Vera Institute of Justice in New York, engaged in a joint study with the British, says Britain will have at least 10,000 addicts in the 20-year age range within five years.

The accent on youth is worrying the British. Ben Parkin, a Laborite, told the House of Commons that he knew of cases where schoolchildren were peddling pep pills — called purple hearts — in the classrooms and playgrounds of their schools.

"The tragic situation is that the children who become addicted to purple hearts are unable to find the money to purchase more supplies except by acting as agents themselves," he said.

Until recently the British were proud of their permissive attitude toward addicts. Authorities believed they were striking the right balance with humane treatment of addicts as sick people needing medical attention.

Annual Junior Stock Show Will Be Launched Tuesday

Thirtieth Annual Howard County, FFA and 4-H Club Fat Stock Show opens Tuesday at the Howard County Fair Grounds. The show is sponsored by the Big Spring Junior Chamber of Commerce and the Howard County Junior Livestock Association, and runs through March 16, when the climax will be the sale of top animals.

Paul Gross is general superintendent of the show. It was estimated about 15 steers will be entered in the competition this year and about 100 lambs.

The same amount of prize money is offered this year as in 1966 and the winners will receive rosettes and ribbons. There will be trophies for the grand champion steer and runner-up and for other top winners.

Steer judge for the show is to be Buddy C. Logsden and lamb judge Fred Igo. Oliver Werst has been asked to classify the lambs. Lambs will be judged at 9 a.m. Wednesday and steers at 2 p.m.

Opening day, Tuesday, will be devoted to accepting, weighing and preparing the stock for judging. Animals must be entered not later than noon Tuesday to be eligible to compete.

As in other years, a big barbecue dinner is to be served at 6 p.m, ahead of the auction sale on Thursday. This dinner is for exhibitors, buyers and friends of the show.

Entry fees are $5 for steers and $$2 for lambs. All entry money goes back into the prize pool.

Prize money in the lamb show will be paid for the first 10 placings in medium wool, light and heavy; Southdown, light and heavy; crossbred, light and heavy; and fine wool, light and heavy. Total prize money for the lambs is $160. In addition, the grand champion lamb in each of the three major breeds will pay $5. A trophy goes to the best lamb showman.

Grand championship steer will be worth an additional $25 to his owner plus a rosette. Reserve champion steer will be given a $15 prize. Total prize money, not counting the grand championship money for steers is $198. First place in each weight division will pay $12 second, $10, and third $9. Placings to 10th will be paid. Light, medium and heavy weight steers are to be entered.

A special event will be the announcement of the Loy Acuff annual award winner. Acuff, widely known rancher, gives the youngster who shows a first place Howard County bred Hereford a $100 savings bond.

A special trophy for the best steer showman is also awarded.

Officials assisting Gross in the show are Truett Vines, assistant general superintendent; Ray White, steer superintendent; Ed Seay, assistant steer superintendent; Jesse L. Overton, superintendent of sheep; J. W. Overton and Gerald Oakes, assistant superintendents of sheep; M. H. Boatler, weigher.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce will have members on hand to assist and will man the sales ring on Thursday night for the auction. Ted Ferrell is president of the Jaycees. Other officers are Alton Marwitz, vice president; Jimmy Anderson, secretary; Gary Sims, treasurer; and Lorin McDowell III, livestock show committee chairman.

McDowell was busy last week lining up buyers to take part in the auction. The Home Demonstration Club members of the county will operate the concession stand at the show barn.

There is no admission fee to the show. Everyone is invited to attend any part of the event.

Dear Abby

Avoiding Temptation

DEAR ABBY: I am 29 and was employed for four years by a man in his late 40s. I admit I was attracted to him from the start, but assumed he was a happily married family man and let it go at that. About two years ago I worked late one night and he drove me home. He confided that his was a miserable "in name only" marriage, and that is when our romance began.

He talked of divorcing his wife and marrying me, but I asked him to wait until his children were grown. The next thing I knew, his divorce was under way. I was tormented with guilt, went to my priest and confessed my sin. He advised me to quit my job and never see this man again. It wasn't easy, but with God's help I did it. Within three months I knew I was better off without him.

My problem is, this man keeps calling me, telling me he gave up everything for me and begging me to see him. I feel so guilty. I still love him, but I could never be happy with him, knowing I took him away from his family. What should I do? GUILTY

DEAR GUILTY: Review the advice your priest gave you, and continue to heed it. The temptation to see him would be greatly reduced if you were to relocate, leaving no forwarding address. I recommend it.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: What can a woman do with a husband who calls every place she applies for employment and tells them he doesn't want his wife working? I am practically climbing the walls. WANTS TO WORK

DEAR WANTS: If a man doesn't want his wife to work, that's his business, but they should fight it out privately at home—not in the public arena. Your husband's childish tactics are undoubtedly both confusing and amusing to third parties—to the credit of neither of you. Somebody should tell him to quit humiliating you . . . and making a fool of himself.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: In planning my wedding, I agreed to have my fiance's six-year-old niece for my flower girl. But that was before I met her. (She's my fiance's sister's child, and they live out of state.)

Abby, this little girl has taken drama, ballet, tap and toe since she was three, and she thinks she is the world's most talented entertainer. It's not her fault. Her family encourages her. I've never seen a more conceited, affected, obnoxious child. She is just waiting for the chance to use my wedding as a stage for her performance.

Tell me how I can change my mind about having her as flower girl without getting his whole family mad at me. After all, a bride has the right to be the star of her own wedding. WEDDING TROUBLES

DEAR TROUBLES: Your only solution, as I see it, is to decide on a "simpler" wedding—eliminating some of the frills and fanfare—including a flower girl. That way you would be the stellar attraction. You will probably get some static from his family, but if the circumstances are as you describe them, it's the lesser of the evils.

The city commission candidate list continued to swell down to the wire. A last-minute entry was Fred Lonsford, and Jack Y. Smith withdrew from the race. With a large field, this could be one of the liveliest contests in years.

Just as it appeared that spring was sprung, successive blasts from the north drove the temperature down to 20 degrees. Contrary to some cries of despair, we venture that damage to fruit trees and other vegetation will be lighter than first thought. The bulk of trees have not bloomed or leafed. Some that had, seemed to make it through without too great harm. Meanwhile, spring got down to serious business of busting out all over, as witness the yellow jasmime and forsythia.

Bell Flying Service, which last year bid in the T-41A instruction contract at Howard County Airport, has thrown in the towel. The Air Force stepped in to protect the instructors and others, and last week Serv-Air Aviation Service of Enid, Okla., was awarded a contract for the rest of this period. There seems to be some question about the propriety of the government getting bids on this every year and shaving margins too thin.

Open house is due today at the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center. This is a reminder that the annual Easter Seal campaign is at hand. More than that, it is an urgent invitation to you personally to tour the facilities. You'll be amazed at what quality of treatment is possible here. Forsan made a real contest of it for a half, leading Quitaque 25-23 at that point. But the taller, huskier Quitaque team wore down the Forsan girls in the third quarter and had a 3-1 margin in scoring the last half, ousting Forsan from the state tournament 61-42.

Business is picking up in 118th District Court. Attendance at the roll call for veniremen was much better after the previous round of $25 fines levied against absentees. Even so, the court had to crack down with the same medicine for 17 others last week.

To Talk Terms Of New Flying Contract

Representatives of Serv - Air Aviation, Inc., are to meet with the Howard County Commissioners Court Monday to discuss the contract the agency will need to continue the Webb AFB prejet training program at the Howard County Airport.

Serv - Air has picked up the contract formerly held by Bell Flying Service to carry on the Air Force program. Bell, according to Lee Porter, county judge, forfeited its contract as of March 1. The Bell organization had been engaged in the program since July, 1966

Clyde DeHart, who was with Bell and who will stay with Serv-Air, according to Porter, will be with the representatives of the company when they meet with the county commissioners.

Sanderson, claims representative for the Gulf Insurance Company, will show a 36-slide presentation, "Texas in Trouble," of Texans for Traffic Safety, a statewide coordinating organization dedicated to the prevention of traffic accidents.

The cigarette industry, contending that no real proof has been put forward that smoking is harmful to health, has allocated nearly $20 million to independent scientists for research on the cause of such diseases as cancer and heart disease.

The Tobacco Institute, representing the industry, said in a statement:

"At the present time, we do not presume to know the causes of such diseases as lung cancer or heart disease. Nor do we believe the critics of smoking know the answers. We intend to continue to encourage scientists to investigate all facets of the question, without fear or favor."

'YOUTH RULE'

The cigarette advertising code's "youth rule" became effective in September. It attempts to provide a buffer zone between shows with youthful appeal and commercials selling cigarettes.

It is apparent that all the research now under way will not yield new answers for some time, perhaps years. For the nation's millions of cigarette smokers, the problem and decisions haven't changed since the surgeon general's committee report on smoking and health.

THREE CHOICES

The smoker still faces these choices: Continue the habit unchanged, cut down on the amount of smoking or quit entirely.

McKinney, Zachariah Gain American Legion Awards

George Zachariah, former mayor and leader in American Legion affairs, was chosen to receive the American Legion Post's award as 1967 Outstanding Citizen but was unable to be present Saturday night to accept the citation.

Roscoe Cone accepted the award in Zachariah's name at the World War I reunion and barbecue celebration at the Legion Hall.

Robert R. McKinney, who saw service in both World War I and World War II, was awarded the Legion's Distinguished Service to Veterans Award. He was on hand to receive the honor.

Dr. Halvard Hanson, co-chairman of the reunion and barbecue made the presentations.

These annual events, which celebrate the founding of the American Legion half a century ago, are to honor veterans of the first World War, Gold Star mothers, and the individuals the post have chosen for special distinction.

McKinney, in addition to his war service, is a charter member of the local Legion post, the DAV and the World War I Barracks here. He has filled many offices in all of these organizations as well as in the ranks of the Veterans of Foreign Wars. He has been a Legion member for 47 years.

Zachariah was cited for his civic services and for the work he has done to help the Legion Post of which he is a past commander. Typical of the career for which he was cited was the fact that he was attending an important meeting of the Crippled Children's Society in San Antonio and could not attend the event.

The barbecue - reunion, well attended, was at the Legion building south of town.

Men Held For Using The Card

Three Big Spring men have admitted they used a credit card they took from a lost billfold to finance travels over much of Texas and on to Florida.

Sheriff A. N. Standard said that a local resident lost his billfold about a month ago and, included in the papers it contained was a major oil company credit card. He is now receiving slips signed with several different names from service stations all over the southeast quarter of the nation.

Seven of the forged receipts have already showed up and many others are expected. Standard said that charges are to be filed.

4-H Clubbers Set For County Show

Howard County 4-H clubbers who ran into tough sledding at the Houston Fat Stock Show after brilliant success at several earlier expositions, found the going still slow at San Angelo last weekend.

No high placings of importance were scored by the local entries, and the boys and girls are home today preparing for the Howard County Stock Show which opens on Tuesday.

Mark Barr showed a fifth place heavyweight steer in San Angelo. Robert Haney's entry wound up in third place and Dolores Lankford's lightweight steer was sixth. Daryl Coates placed 10th in this same division.

Terrye Soechting's junior yearling heifer was sixth in its class.

Wolcott Files Deed After 47 Years

By SAM BLACKBURN

J. M. Wolcott filed the deed to a piece of city property with Pauline Petty, Howard County court clerk, the other day and the filing stirred all sorts of excitement.

This is slightly unusual since from five to 20 warranty deeds are filed every working day in the office of the county clerk.

The odd thing about this deed was that, had normal procedure been followed, it would have been filed 47 years ago come Monday.

Date the deed was written, March 13, 1920.

By filing the deed, Wolcott established, formally and officially, the title to the house where his father and mother lived for many years and eventually died, and where he and his sister grew from childhood to adult citizens.

The story of the delayed deed is simple enough, in itself.

In March, 1920, J. F. Wolcott, who was then Big Spring's Ford dealer and the community's pioneer in automobile sales, negotiated a deal with Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Batton to buy Lots 1 and north half of Lot 2, Block 45, original plat of Big Spring. This means the house and lots at 600 Runnels, where the Wolcotts have lived nearly five decades.

The deal was closed on March 13, 1920. Wolcott agreed to pay the Battons $3,600 for their property — $1,600 in cash and the balance in two notes of $1,000 each.

It is an interesting commentary on the way things roll along to observe the interest rate on these notes was a flat eight per cent. With real estate buyers and realtors crying these days over the current rate of six per cent, it is informative to know that high rates are not entirely new.

For some reason known only to himself, the elder Wolcott never bothered to take the deed to the courthouse for filing. He tucked it into a box of papers stored in the basement of his resident.

Wolcott went on to become Howard County tax collector-assessor and served in that post for 18 years. He was still in office at the time of his death.

Mrs. Wolcott continued to pay taxes on the property and no occasion arose to inquire whether it was duly recorded. After Mrs. Wolcott died, the son decided it would be well to clear up all records of his parent's estate.

He decided to check with Mrs. Petty on the deed. It was not on file. He went through all of the regular papers and no trace of it was found. Wayne Basden, his attorney, stressed how important it was that the deed be found.

He son searched further. He invaded the basement and pawed through the mountain of old papers and records his father had amassed.

And suddenly he came on the deed — yellowed with its 47 years of being stowed away, but otherwise in perfect condition. Wolcott took it to the clerk's office where it was duly filed.

Mrs. Petty said that it is not uncommon for deeds to be delayed in filing for a few years, but never before since she has been in the office has a document dating back nearly half a century showed up for filing.

"I am glad that I found the thing and have it on record," said Wolcott. "No one can say how much trouble might have arisen had I and my sister decided to sell the old place."

LOOKS TO UNCLE

State Needs More Medicare Money

AUSTIN (AP)—Texas legislators are hoping the federal government will bail them out of a problem that could raise tax needs by $23 million.

And Comptroller Robert S. Calvert bears a heavy part of the burden of deciding whether the play will work.

It all bears on Title 19 of the same 1966 act that gave the country medicare.

Title 19 provides federal matching funds for the state to provide a wide range of medical assistance to people on the welfare rolls, including the disabled and needy families with dependent children.

Texas must be under Title 19 by Jan. 1, 1970, or lose all the federal matching money it now gets for medical care for old age pensioners not covered by the Social Security medicare program.

SERVICES

Under Title 19, welfare recipients would get at least five basic services: in and out-patient hospital care, physicians' services, and X-ray and laboratory services. The state could add other services if it wished.

Some of these services already are provided.

State funds would be matched on a four to one basis, and herein lies the problem.

Based on figures furnished by the Department of Public Welfare, Gov. John Connally put in his 1967-69 budget $3,756,050 in matching money to qualify Texas for Title 19. A similar amount was included in the legislative Budget Board budget.

But the amount was too low by a whopping 23 million.

Why?

REVISION

"When we got up the figures for the Budget Board and the governor in June, 1966, they already were six months old. Medicare had not been started yet. In addition, the minimum wage hit," says Herb Wilson, assistant state welfare commissioner.

"We had to revise our figures, but we did not get them to the respective budget boards in time for the governor's speech. When we took a look at hospital costs and nursing home costs, the amount turned out to be about $23 million instead of about $3 million."

So where does the money come from

"We'll have to have a bigger tax bill or start cutting," said one source who is in on the state's fiscal processes.

ANOTHER WAY

But the Welfare Department and budget writers are looking hard at another, painless, way out—ironically in Title 19 itself.

Texas may be able to get from the federal government $28.4 million of the cost of medical services for 6,615 patients in the state mental and tuberculosis hospitals and schools for the retarded. These are people who would be eligible for Title 19 aid anyway.

The cost of these medical services to the state currently is $29.2 million for two years, and is expected to rise to $33.9 million. If the federal aid is received, it would cut the state cost to $8.6 million.

As visualized by government sources, the federal money would flow to the general revenue fund as "pay patient income"—just as if relatives had paid it.

TO GENERAL REVENUE

Thus, the money would be eligible—as general revenue—to raise the Welfare Department's appropriation for medical care and match federal title 19 funds.

And this is where Comptroller Calvert comes in.

By the state constitution, he must certify that the general appropriation bill is covered by anticipated general revenue.

This means that if he does not agree that the "pay patient" aid would be general revenue, it would put the legislature right back where it was—needing $23 million.

Calvert received material on the subject Friday morning from the Welfare Department.

"We're studying it. I'm not sure yet whether we can certify to it or not," he said.

And for that matter, there are no guarantees yet that the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare will buy the state's proposal.

Meanwhile, House and Senate budget writers appear to be several weeks away from writing a general money bill, and the Title 19 problem is one of the reasons.

REAR ADM. NORMAN A. YEAGER

Admiral And Two Waves Perish In Fire In Home

GREAT LAKES, Ill. (AP) — Rear Adm. Howard A. Yeager, 61, commandant of the 9th Naval District, and two Waves were killed early today in a fire at his home at the Great Lakes Naval Training Center.

Firemen rescued the admiral's wife, Mary Jane, an invalid, but she was reported in critical condition at the base hospital with burns on her back, arms and legs.

Yeager was to have retired April 1 as commandant of the 9th Naval District, the nation's largest, and become assistant to the president of Zenith Radio Corp., Joseph S. Wright.

The two Waves killed in the fire lived in the house to care for Mrs. Yeager. They were identified as Laura Jean Martin, 21, the daughter of William Martin of Port Charlotte, Fla., and Lora Mae Garret, 25, the daughter of Joseph Garret of Los Alamos, N.M.

Two steward's mates who were in the house when the fire broke out were not injured.

Damage to the 50-year-old brick and wood Georgian-style house was estimated at $20,000.

The cause of the fire was not known.

Adm. Yeager assumed command of the 9th Naval District March 30, 1963. During his 44-year naval career he held three major commands in the field of amphibious operations, the most recent as commander of amphibious forces in the Pacific.

He is remembered as the man who gave the command on June 6, 1944, to fire the signal shot for the invasion of France. He was executive officer of the battleship Nevada at the time.

On Jan. 18 Rear Adm. Richard Fowler, 53, chief of U.S. Naval Air Reserve Training, was killed in a fire in his home at Glenview Naval Air Station, about 20 miles from Great Lakes. That fire was believed to have started in the fireplace.

Anderson On Rehab Panel

AUSTIN — S. M. Anderson, superintendent of the Big Spring Independent School District, has been named chairman of the Midland regional coordinating committee for a comprehensive vocational rehabilitation program for Texas, designed to close the ever-widening gap between the number of disabled who need services and the number who receive services.

The announcement was made by Dr. J. W. Edgar, Texas Education Commissioner. Gov. John Connally designated the Texas Education Agency last March to conduct the study, which will meet requirements of amendments to the federal Vocational Rehabilitation Act. Dr. Edgar is chairman of an 11-member policy board appointed by the governor to serve as the final authority for the study. Similar studies are being conducted in most of the other states.

"Throughout the nation and in Texas, there are great numbers of handicapped individuals who need vocational rehabilitation (VR) services who cannot receive these services because there is a shortage of facilities, funds and trained manpower to serve them," said Dr. Edgar.

The Midland region, one of 20, is composed of Andrews, Crane, Ector, Glasscock, Howard, Loving, Martin, Midland, Upton, Reagan, Ward, Winkler, Reeves, and Pecos counties. Anderson will announce the names of persons who will serve on the Midland regional coordinating committee. They will be persons who are outstanding for their interest and knowledge in the VR field. Anderson and 19 other regional chairmen will be members of the Citizens Advisory Board.

Crowds Going Out For City Councils

By ROBERT E. FORD
By The Associated Press

Many Texas cities and towns will elect their City Councils April 4, and a remarkable number of candidates for a job not often highly sought has been noted in a spot check by The Associated Press.

At the same time, the fields of candidates in a great many other communities is about normal.

Amarillo is one of the cities where the number of candidates bloomed—a record 23, including the five incumbents.

The large number of candidates showed a decided shift for the Panhandle city of 167,000 population. At the previous city election two years ago, the incumbents ran unopposed.

28 AT CORPUS

Corpus Christi is another city with a vast field of candidates. That coastal city has 28 seeking city office. Further, they have broken themselves into four, complete, seven-man slates.

Both the number of candidates and the number of slates are believed to be the largest ever in Corpus Christi, although there were three complete slates and some independents in the mid-1950s.

On one ticket at Corpus Christi are Mayor Pro Tem Jack Blackmon and three incumbent councilmen. Opposing them is a ticket with former Mayor Pro Tem James Young and two former councilmen. The other two tickets are composed of newcomers.

10 AT DENTON

The 10 candidates who have filed at Denton create a record number since the council-manager form of government began in 1959. Denton votes each year and rarely has there been more than one candidate more than the places to be filled.

Three seats are up for decision at Denton, and Denton Charter Association candidates have won every election since 1959. This year, however, they face independents and a new political organization, called the By The People League, which is against urban renewal without a vote. The new organization also is seeking to oust Mayor Warren Whitson Jr., who advocates urban renewal. The mayor is elected by the council.

DALLAS

Dallas, where politics sometimes is very hot, has 16 candidates contending for nine places. The powerful Citizens Charter Association ticket, headed by Mayor Erik Jonsson, is considered to have the inside track at this time.

Austin will have 14 candidates for five places, and the filing deadline caused a rush by candidates to pay their taxes to qualify. The city coffers were $7,300 richer afterward. Two persons withdrew from the race before ballots were printed, leaving 14 in the races.

At Bryan, the first Negro within memory and perhaps within history is seeking a council seat. He is Harmon (Son) Bell, president of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People local.

All five Bryan incumbents are asking re-election and there is a total of eight candidates. This is a reduction from some recent years. In 1965, there were 10 candidates, and 18 sought positions in 1963. All are elected at-large.

Valuable Rifles Are Recovered

Two of three valuable rifles stolen from parked pickup trucks on the Big Spring city streets last Monday have been recovered and the third has been located, it is thought, in Houston.

Sheriff A. N. Standard said two Big Spring men have been questioned about the theft of the rifles and have both made statements admitting the crime.

He said that charges will probably be filed Monday against the pair. One of the rifles recovered was found here and the other in a town near here.

The guns were valued at more than $200 by their owners.

Zarley Shares Citrus Lead With 2 Others

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP)—Lanky Kermit Zarley fired a 66 to move into a tie with Dean Refram and Julius Boros for the third round lead in the $115,000 Citrus Open Golf Tournament Saturday when Doug Sanders lost his putting touch and soared to a 73.

Boros, 47-year-old winner of the Phoenix Open this year, shot a 67 and winless Refram turned in a 70 for 54-hole totals of 204, nine strokes under par.

The deadlock marked the first time in a year that there was a three-way tie after the third round on the pro tour.

Refram started two strokes back of Sanders, who had grabbed a halfway lead with back-to-back 66s. Boros went into the third round five strokes off the pace and Zarley made up six strokes with his hot round.

"I couldn't putt a lick," Sanders said after missing short putts and bogeying the 5th and 8th holes. He lost the lead when he bogeyed the 12th and 13th holes.

Sanders' 73 dropped him into a tie for fourth at 205 with Gary Player. The little South African made a run for the lead but lost it when he bogeyed the 16th and 17th holes and finished with a 69.

Two strokes back of Player and Sanders were Arnold Palmer and Bert Yancey.

Palmer shot a 71 and described his play as "briefly—disgusting." Yancey turned in a 68.

Jack Nicklaus fired a second straight 69 for 209, and defending champion Lionel Hebert shot himself out of contention with a 77 that left him far back in the pack at 219.

Kelleher Forsees Rosy Future For Cup Team

NEW YORK (AP) — "If we get any kind of a break, we can win the Davis Cup this year," Robert Kelleher, new president of the U. S. Lawn Tennis Association, said Saturday in announcing that George MacCall would captain the American team for the third straight year.

Kelleher called MacCall, Los Angeles insurance executive, "one heck of a guy in whom I have supreme confidence."

"We have a good captain and a good team," the USLTA president said. "Whether we can go all the way is in the laps of the gods but I think we are capable of beating any team in the world."

With Roy Amerson considering semi-retirement and Fred Stolle already a pro, the Australians, perennial holders of the cup, like the United States will be building a new team.

Kelleher said MacCall already has assembled his squad and has begun pointing to the long summer campaign, which starts with Davis Cup match against the British Caribbean in Trinidad April 28-30.

"All of our early matches will be played on red clay," Kelleher said. "MacCall is preparing the team to be ready for all minds of surfaces and conditions."

Park Shatters Record Again

WINK — Steve Park of Forsan set his second 440-yard record in two weeks here Saturday when he raced to a 52.2 clocking. The old mark was 52.6, set by Vasquez, Fabens, in 1964.

O'Donnell won the meet with 65 points while Seagraves and Balmorhea tied for second, with 48 each. Wink was fourth with 42 while Iraan and Fort Davis tied for sixth, with 36 each. Then came Forsan with 30. In all, 19 teams competed here.

Forsan's sprint relay team of Mike Holton, Johnny Dolan, Larry Callihan and Park finished second with a 46.3 timing.

In the mile relay, Forsan was fifth in the time of 3:50.1. Bob Cowley, Dolan, Callihan and Mike Butler paced Memphis State with 24 points.

In the second game, Morgan and Nelson took up the slack after New Mexico's 6-foot-9 center Mel Daniels got into foul trouble midway in the second half of a fierce struggle.

BLACKSBURG, Va. (AP) — Fifth-ranked Princeton punctured West Virginia's zone defense on the outside shooting of Joe Heiser and defeated the Mountaineers 68-57 Saturday in the opening round of the NCAA tournament's Eastern Regional playoff.

St. John's N.Y., defeated Temple 57-53 in the slow-paced second game of the doubleheader in the Virginia Tech coliseum and advanced with Princeton to the Eastern regional semifinals next Friday at College Park, Md.

Sonny Dove crammed eight of his 21 points into the last 4½ minutes to lead the St. John's Redmen to victory over Temple's Owls. It was the 11th consecutive triumph for the Redmen.

Princeton will meet the Atlantic Coast Conference champion and St. John's will meet the winner of a Saturday night game between Boston College and Connecticut.

No Doubt Which School Won This One

Odessa Wranglers Win Laredo Track Crown

LAREDO — A surprisingly tough Odessa College team unseated HCJC of Big Spring as junior college champion of the 1967 Border Olympics here Saturday, scoring 51½ points to 41 for the runnerup Jayhawks.

Schreiner Institute made it a three-way fight by counting 35 points, good for third place.

HCJC's only first place Saturday was achieved by Jimmy Jasper, who tied the record of 9.7 held by three others in the 100.

HCJC, no doubt, would have fared better had Dee Fletcher been in prime condition. Fletcher, although he ran on the second-place mile relay team, was withheld from the sprint relay quartet in order to give him more time to recover from a leg cramp he suffered in last week's Southwestern Recreational Meet at Fort Worth.

The Hawks finished second to Odessa in the mile relay, at which time Fletcher was told to step lively but not open full throttle. He was timed in 51.9 for his lap and, of course, has done much better when all conditions were "go."

Odessa's winning time in the mile relay was 3:18.1 while HCJC was caught in 3:18.9.

Musial, Schoendienst Are Together Again

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — Stan Musial walked into the manager's office and sat down to chew the fat with Red Schoendienst and some visitors. A light blue golf hat with a gold band was perched on his head. A knit sports shirt, slacks and an expensive sweater completed his wardrobe. He held a cigar in his hand.

The old firm of Musial and Schoendienst is back in business again. Stan the Man is the new general manager of the St. Louis Cardinals. The Redhead runs the club as the field manager.

FRIENDS FOR YEARS

The two men have been warm friends for years. Except for the period when Schoendienst played with New York and Milwaukee after Frank Lane traded him away, they have been roomies since 1946. Now they both have their own suites on the road.

"It took us 25 years to get here," Musial said, with a grin, to some people who remembered the days when Stan, just out of the Navy, and rookie Schoendienst first hooked up to 1946.

"If anybody is going to get any grey hairs around here it will be the manager not me," said Stan, taking a gentle poke at Schoendienst. Both men are well aware of the truth of baseball's oldest rule: managers come and go but general managers usually linger.

Stan has resigned as head of the President's Physical Fitness program and is devoting full time to his new job. His many outside activities are in good hands. So far it has been nothing but roses.

"Most of the players had their contracts before I took over," said Musial. "We didn't have any serious trouble. I talk their language. I know what they can do and they know it too."

Jim Toomey, the Cards' publicity man, told about trying to reach Musial only to find him closeted with Lou Brock, the speedy outfielder.

"All I could hear from outside the door was laughing," said Toomey.

"Don't worry," said Musial. "Nobody got more than they deserved."

DIDN'T HIT

Musial's uniform with old No. 6 on the back hung in Schoendienst's office. He put it on the other day to work out with the club.

"Did you hit?", a visitor asked.

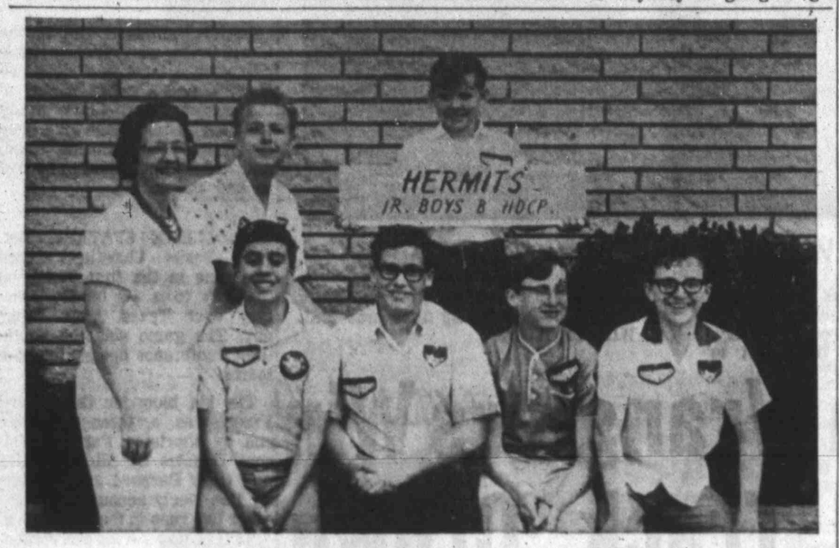
"Nah, just loosened up a little. I want to keep in shape. It's no fun hitting unless you have your timing."

"He surprised me," said Red. "I never saw him pass up a chance to hit before."

The conversation veered around to Musial's playing career and the performances that will land him in the Hall of Fame as soon as he is eligible. Naturally, the subject of Mickey Mantle and his attempt to play first base came up.

"I think it's harder on the legs to play first base," said Musial. "I played first 10 years and the outfield for 10 years. In the outfield you run when the ball is hit in your direction. You can pretty much tell where the ball is going to go.

"First base is a lot more work if you play it right. You are in on every play. You're jumping off the bag on every pitch, dashing out to take a cutoff, running around the infield. There are so many things going on."



First Place Team In TABY Meet

Three Local Teams Are Eligible For Regional

Three of four Big Spring teams which entered the TABY District Bowling tournament in Odessa recently returned with first place awards and earned trips to the Regional meet, which will be held in El Paso April 2.

Victories there would qualify the local boys and girls for the State meet at Arlington.

In Senior Boys Class A competition, the Big Spring Pinbusters, coached by Louise Booth, posted a 2837 for a first place finish. Members of the team are Lonnie Prescott, Jerry Ingram, Rick Olson, Larry Tatum and Jim Griffin.

The Big Spring Hermits won on the Junior Boys Class B level, with an aggregate score of 2951. Coach of the team is Connie Holcombe. Squad members are Jontaylor Jones, Sammy Jones, Dale Ferguson, Ray Lewis, Larry Candler and Gene Tuckness.

Mrs. Marie Johnson's Big Spring girls also copped a first place in Class A activity with a score of 2989. Barbara Todd, Ann Johnson, Diane Todd, Deanna Morris and Alicia Acosta are members of that group.

The Big Spring Senior Boys lost out by 14 pins, although they wound up with a score of 2961.

Louise Booth coaches the squad. Team members are Terry White, Johnny McCullough, Dwight Fortson, Curtis Steinhour and Brian Peay.

The State meet is scheduled April 28-29. Only first place teams are eligible for that level of competition.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

Juco Group Could Expand To 32 Regions Shortly

By TOMMY HART

Marciano Rivas, Melton McMorries' classy little mitt slinger, has landed an April 13 bout with the well-known Jesus Pimenthel in Los Angeles . . . The scrap should draw well, since both boys are Mexicans and Latins have proved to be big gate attractions in Southern California for years . . . The two have agreed to come in at 120 pounds or under . . . Rivas, who frequently visits McMorries' diggings near Tarzan in Martin County, can gain himself a worldwide reputation in a hurry by edging Pimenthel . . . The two have often sparred together, so Marciano knows what he has to do to win . . . Another of McMorries' tigers, Elisio Estrada, recently cooled off Agrilio Ramirez of Mexico City in a Juarez ring to run his record to 17-2-1 . . . Estrada reasons he would have fared better using six-ounce gloves in his recent losing effort against Benny McColl in New Orleans . . . The original agreement was to use the lighter mittens . . . McCall was credited with the only knockdown of the fight but Estrada insists he slipped to the canvas then . . . Jim Baum, the radio Pied Piper here who would probably radiate enthusiasm for an income-tax form if it were put to music (come to think of it, it might sound better than some of the discs he plays), vows he will field a baseball team here this summer . . . His sponsor for the past couple of seasons apparently decided the Baltimore Orioles weren't dodging him, after all . . . Baum still claims to be the Maury Wills of the back-stopping set, a real gazelle on the bases, which caused one observer to remark that he hits with Maury's power . . . It turns out that the ex-HCJC great, Kurt Papp, was red-shirted the past basketball season at the University of Texas only after he had injured his knee in early workouts and the school had offered him a three-year scholarship . . . With Papp in the lineup, the Longhorns might have made a run at the SWC championship . . . Delnor Poss likely will be the next Big Spring basketball official okehed to work in the Southwest Conference . . . The last was R. C. Moore.

RED MYERS

* * * *

Buddy Travis, the HCJC basketball mentor, leaves today for the National JC Basketball tournament in Hutchinson, Kan., where he will represent Region V as its director . . . Travis recently was named to a new two-year term within the region . . . There is a possibility the National JC Athletic Association will be expanded to 32 regions (twice what it now has) this year . . . If it remains at 16, there is some risk Region V will be taken away from West Texas—in which case some of the area schools would go to East Texas and others would be ordered to Tulsa for regional tournaments in those areas . . . Red Myers, the Amarillo College coach, wanted a vote taken on the Region V tournament site for 1969 and 1970 games at last week's executive meeting at Amarillo (figuring his city could recapture the tournament it loses to Big Spring for the next two years) but Odessa's Larry McCulloch wisely proposed that the vote be delayed for a year . . . The six sophomores on HCJC's basketball team this year may get scholarships at senior colleges . . . Leon Smith, Bill Sinches and Henry Willis can all attend ACC . . . Lee Leonard can go either to Texas Western or New Mexico State (and is said to be leaning toward the latter place) . . . Jack Hosley is weighing an offer from Panhandle A&M . . . Jack Thompson may wind up at Midwestern . . . Bud Clancy of the 1930 Chicago White Sox didn't have a fielding chance (no put outs, no assists, no errors) in a nine-inning game against St. Louis, which probably wouldn't be newsworthy but for the fact that Clancy was a first baseman . . . If Alvin Dark finishes the season as manager of Kansas City this year, he'll be the first skipper of the Athletics to last two full seasons since the club was hustled out of Philadelphia 11 years ago . . . Sands High School, which sent its boys' basketball team to the state meet this year, returns only Alfonso Calvio among its starters next season but has good replacements in Lance Hopper, Claude Fryar and 6-1 Ike Lewis coming up . . . Lewis was unavailable this season because he had not lived in the community long enough . . . He'll be the tallest of the group . . . Coach Arlen White of Sands looks for Klondike to be the district favorite up that way.

Phillips, Niles Head All-State Quint In 4-A

By The Associated Press

Gene Phillips of Houston Jones, who scored 81 points in one game and averaged 30 a game for the season, and 6-foot-11 Steve Niles of state champion San Antonio Lee were the top selections on the Class AAAA all-state high school basketball team announced Saturday.

Phillips, who as a sophomore was a member of Jones' 1965 state championship team and averaged scoring 20.4 points a game for three years of competition, received 59 points in the voting by the Texas Sports Writers Association. He was the only repeater from the 1966 all-state team.

Niles, who averaged 21.7 points a game, polled four points in the balloting.

Mike Billingsley of Fort Worth Paschal, which finished fourth in the recent state tournament, moved up to the first team after being a second team selection as a junior.

Rounding out the first team are Houston Bellaire's Bob Hall, who averaged 27.5 points a game, and Larry Delzell, Highland Park's outstanding outside shooter with a 19.1 scoring average.

Delzell is the shortest player on the first team, standing 6-foot-1. Billingsley is 6-2, Phillips 6-4 and Hall 6-8. The first team averaged 6-5½.

The tall and talented first three teams had 10 boys who averaged scoring 20 or more points per game. The only junior named was 6-6 Sammy Hyde of Texas City who made the third team.

State champion Lee also had a third team selection, Billy Black. Neither runner-up Spring Branch Memorial, the 1966 champoin, nor Abilene, which won third place, landed a player on the first three units.

Wartes Departs Stamford Post

STAMFORD — W. E. Beene, Stamford school superintendent, has announced the resignation of football coach, Larry Wartes. Wartes will accept the job of athletic director and coach at Hereford, a class AAA school.

Prior to going to Stamford, Wartes was basketball coach at Stanton. He came to Stamford 12 years ago to succeed head grid coach Gordon Wood.

Wartes' resignation will become effective about March 20.

Beene further stated that, so far, no applications have yet been accepted for the coaching job, and that no action will be taken until after the school board meets Monday night. Bill Anderson is assistant coach here.

Errors Costly For Abilene

ABILENE—For six and two-thirds innings, Abilene's David Richardson and Eastern Hills' Sam Phillips put on quite a pitcher's battle here Friday. Richardson was breezing along on a two-hitter, leading the game by a comfortable 3-0 score.

The only walk he yielded, coupled with three solid hits and two back-breaking errors, changed the 3-0 Eagle lead into a 5-3 Eastern Hills' win. Phillips wound up with a two-hitter for the victory, but miscues by his infield produced two of the three Eagle runs.

Snyder Decisions Monterey, 5-4

SNYDER—Snyder copped its third win of the baseball season here Friday as it edged Monterey of Lubbock, 5-4. Getting off to a fast start, the Tigers tallied four runs in the first inning to Monterey's one.

Neither team scored again until the seventh when Monterey's O'Jibway slammed a three-run homer and closed the gap to one run. The rally ended with no more scoring, giving Roy Hunter the mound win. The loss was charged to Haley.

Belinsky Now Leading Austere Life In Camp

COCA, Fla. (AP) — Bo Belinsky, the one-time lover of bright lights and beautiful women . . .

One-time

Yes — at least for the present. Belinsky, who skidded from baseball notoriety to baseball obscurity, has changed.

The symptoms of the change are evident:

—He's happy living austerely in an all-male dormitory.

—He runs around with Alfie instead of Mamie.

WORKING HARD

Belinsky, rescued from the minors by the Houston Astros in the winter draft, is trying diligently to come back from what he termed "a waste of time, a bad experience" in Philadelphia.

The first step is spring training where the 30-year-old Belinsky works out for a few hours each day with some 60 other players and spends the rest of the time in the Astros' dormitory with the same 60 fellows.

The living quarters are like a college men's dormitory but there's no women's dorm across the street. The light green building has two floors of two-bedrooms, a large dining area, a lounge with a television set and a recreation area with shuffle board and ping pong.

It is located about eight miles from the beach and even further from any other kind of action Belinsky sought after he pitched a no-hitter in his 1962 rookie season.

"It's a lot different from spring training with the Angels," said Belinsky the ascetic, recalling his days with the California team. "We stayed at the Riviera, the swankiest hotel in Palm Springs, and there was a heck of a lot of transit action there.

"But this is all right for me. It's a novelty, and it keeps me in tow. I'll get regular sleep and maintain my weight. I never felt healthier than I do now. At my age you sort of welcome a situation like this. It's sort of a second breath."

Belinsky's new way of life was pretty empty, though, until Alfie walked into it. Actually Alfie didn't walk. He just stood around the dorm entrance waiting for some sympathetic soul to take him in.

Belinsky, whose sympathies were with Mamie Van Doren a few years ago, adopted the shaggy black and white English sheep dog, which quickly became the most talked about personality in the Astro camp.

"I sort of have a knack for making blondes and dogs famous," the left-hander explained.

"He was lingering around outside the dormitory a couple of days. "Guys would play with him, but no one would feed him. He got to look so amaciated I took him in. I had him checked over and got him a bath. He responded like I was his daddy.

"He knew what he was doing hanging around and starving. Now every night he's eating steak and prime rib. He's really a good dog. Sometimes he'll run a lap with me, then quit and lie down in the middle of the field."

ENJOYS FRIENDSHIP

Where Does A Bowler Go From 300 Game?

Where does a man go from a 300-game in bowling?

In Jim Tatum's situation, he leaves next weekend to take part in the State Men's tournament at Waco, at which time he will represent the Skyline Lounge team of Big Spring.

Tatum achieved his perfect score in sanctioned play at the Bowl-A-Rama Thursday night, first time ever he has reached the enviable plateau.

He was competing in the Mixed Trio Scratch league at the time, at which time Tinie Patterson and Gilbert Cisneros were competing as other members of his team.

Tatum, who moved here two years ago from Snyder, was in doubt about his score in the seventh frame only. The ball he threw didn't react well when it left his fingers but recovered in time to knock down all the pins.

Tatum had previously bowled 299 several times, which means he left a solitary pin in his final go at a strike. His best previous score in sanctioned play was a 297.

Jim took part in the Texas All-Star Bowling tournament last year in Austin and finished 17th, with a 203 average in 48 games. Eddie Brikell of Dallas won that particular event.

The rewards for his 300 game should be very pleasing to Tatum. He'll get an appropriately-inscribed ring with a diamond in it from the American Bowling Congress plus other prizes from manufacturers of bowling equipment.

Tatum's effort was the first perfect game ever achieved at the Bowl-A-Rama.

WAS ALL-AMERICAN IN 1964

Ace Diver-Gymnast Once Coached At Air Academy

By NATE MITCHELL

In athletics today, hardly any other title in our language is coveted more than "All-American." This title means, among other things, that the athlete who bears it has "arrived" in his field. Along with this honor, we generally associate an image of outstanding ability, enduring strength and stamina, plus uncanny finesse and adeptness.

DANIEL P. McLEAN

Although 22 years of age, Daniel P. McLean, 5 ft. 7 in., 140 lbs., could easily pass for the boy next door.

"I was always the smallest guy in my class," he recalls, "and this may have been a driving factor in my quest to excell in athletics."

Dan McLean is not only one of the best divers in the business, but far above average in the sport of gymnastics. Throw in the fact that he was also a college cheerleader, and that makes quite an athlete.

REACHED HEIGHTS

Culminating a long string of victories in diving and gymnastics which began when he was a sophomore in high school, McLean had a good afternoon at the national diving meet in 1964. He finished fourth in low-board and sixth in high-board, respectively, and came home an All-American.

Winning 'big' was nothing new for McLean. In high school, he earned letters in track (he high jumped 6-4 although only 5-6 tall), football, gymnastics, and swimming-diving — a total of eight in the four sports. He went on to win the Michigan State Swimming and diving championship, was runner-up in the Colorado State competitions of the same sports, and runner-up at the Colorado State finals in trampoline, tumbling and gymnastics. And, he still found time to take the Michigan State title for debating while in high school.

His father, a career serviceman, moved around a great deal. So much, in fact, that Dan calls no particular state home. During these moves, he had narrowed his choice of colleges down to two — Michigan State and the U.S. Air Force Academy. As a high school senior, he was runner-up in the Southwest Swimming and Diving championships, and the following year —just prior to entering the Academy, he emerged No. One in swimming and diving at the North Central AAU championships.

CAPTAIN HELPED

Whatever he has accomplished as a diver, Dan feels that he owes it to Capt. Frank Fraunfelter, former diving coach at the Academy. Under his tutoring, McLean went undefeated as a freshman.

As a sophomore, he took fifth place in the nation at the AAU National Indoor Diving Championship. The year was 1964 and the event was the 33 foot tower. That same year at the Denver Relays, McLean and a teammate took second in diving.

Coach Fraunfelter left the Academy soon thereafter, and Dan McLean took the helm as mentor for the diving squad. As "player-coach," he managed to go unbeaten again his junior year. During his final year at the Academy, he won such meets as the Rocky Mountain Regional, Western AAU, and Southwest Open AAU swimming and diving championships.

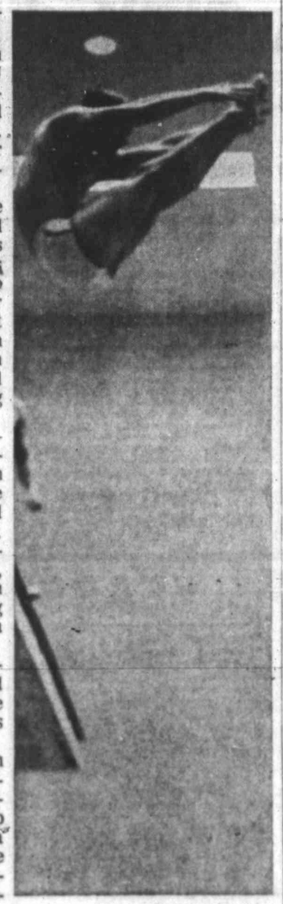
Today's national diving champion is Bernie Wrightson, currently working under coach Dick Smith at Arizona State University. McLean has dived with Wrightson many times; beat him several of these. National runner-up diving king, Chuck Knorr, has also been conquered by McLean — losing to him the year he took fifth in the U.S.

Dan feels that his tight schedule at the Academy diminished his ability as a diver, but he has nothing but priase for his Alma Mater.

A two-fisted participant from the day he arrived at the Academy, he also competed in gymnastics and copped runner-up laurels at a regional meet as a senior in 1966. At this meet he broke a toe, but went to the national finals and dove an unbelievable 12th and 13th in low board and high board, respectively. After just two weeks' recuperation, he went to the nationals in gymnastics and took fifth place on the trampoline.

Dan set a national record (680 vs. 553 points) for ten dives ("the judges were very generous that afternoon"), and two Academy records. On the high board, he racked up 343 points (vs. 311, old record), and 284 vs. 269 on the low board.

Dan's career as a diver began out of irony. After completing his application for admittance to the Academy at Chanute AFB, Ill., he and his father stopped by Michigan State University to watch the state diving championships. Upon learning that no one had entered from his area — the northern peninsula—Dan rushed downtown, bought a swim suit, and returned just in time to enter the meet. That was the time he won the State title.



ON HIGH BOARD
McLean starts down

Currently, Dan McLean is a student pilot at Webb AFB and looking forward to a long military career. He spends a lot of his leisure time at the local YMCA where he instructs young swimmers and divers.

He believes that swimming and diving are destined to become completely separated one day ("although I'm a lifeguard, I'm just an average swimmer") and favors the idea of combining diving with tumbling and trampoline. "Let's face it," he concludes, "the only reason swimming and diving are associated today is that they both are done in a pool."

With his fine record on the boards and in the water, I will certainly take his word for it.

Steers Rack Up Victory

LUBBOCK — David Mitchell and James Newman combined to pitch the Big Spring Steers to a 5-2 victory over the Lubbock High Westerners here Friday, setting the home team down without an earned run.

The win was the second in three starts for the Longhorns, who return to Lubbock Tuesday to tangle with Monterey.

Mitchell hurled the first five innings for Big Spring and got credit for the victory. The only man to reach base in the two innings Newman worked gained a life on an outfield error. Newman fanned three of the seven batters he faced.

Big Spring struck for two runs in the second inning when Dean Gilstrap and Lonnie Clanton crossed the plate and added two more in the third on tallies by Jesse Zapata and Bill Burchett.

The Steers' final tally was scored in the fifth by Steve Russell. In all, the Longhorns solved the slants of two Lubbock hurlers for 11 hits, including three by Burchett and two by Felix Martinez.

Two infield bobbles provided Lubbock with its runs in the second round, Coleman and Thompson crossing the plate for the Westerners.

The loss was the third in a row for the Lubbock team.

Mitchell fanned eight and hit two batters. Neither Mitchell nor Newman walked an opponent.

Vikings Obtain Grant As Coach

ST. PAUL - MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—The Minnesota Vikings, always exciting but a challenger for the National Football League championship only once in their six-year history, hired Harry P. (Bud) Grant Saturday in the hope that he can get them "over the hump."

Grant, 39-year-old one - time University of Minnesota three-sport star who has coached the Winnipeg Blue Bombers in the Canadian Football League the past 10 years, replaces Norm Van Brocklin who resigned a month ago.

It was Van Brocklin, only head coach the Vikings have had since they entered the NFL in 1961, who admitted his inability to get Minnesota "over the hump" after the Vikings hit their peak in 1964 when they tied Green Bay for second in the Western Conference.

HARRY P. (BUD) GRANT

Van Brocklin quit in a state of depression in November 1965, but that resignation lasted only 24 hours. Van Brocklin resigned again Feb. 11 after quarterback Fran Tarkenton quit the team. The Vikings made no effort to talk Van Brocklin out of it this time.

Instead, they turned to Grant, who had turned the Vikings' job down in 1961 before Van Brocklin was hired.

A ramrod - straight, athletic figure whose greying crew-cut hair belies his boyish look, Grant maintains the 6-foot-3, 200-pound physical dimensions he carried when he was a football, basketball and baseball star at Minnesota in the late 1940s.

Grant brings to the Viking job a successful record in the Canadian League. His teams won four Grey Cup championships in six title games, and showed a 121-66-3 over-all record for his 10 years in Winnipeg, the last three as general manager as well as coach.

He offered no startling plan for revitalizing the Vikings when his selection as the new Minnesota coach was made official at a news conference Saturday.

"I know the Vikings have the nucleus of a fine football team," Grant said. "I know we can be a contender in a short time. The Vikings have gone through the growing stage in the NFL and are ready to be a contender from hereon in.

Cougars Claim Laredo Crown

LAREDO, Tex. (AP) — Hal Underwood shot five under par to lead the University of Houston to its sixth straight Border Olympics golf championship Saturday as the Cougars rolled up 1,152 for 72 holes and beat out Texas by 10 strokes.

Underwood had a two-under-par 70 for the day as Houston gained eight strokes on Texas, which wound up with 1,162.

Underwood had 283 and was medalist of the tournament. Tying for second were Jim Clayton of North Texas, Chip Stewart of Texas and Doug Olson of Houston, all with 287.

Scoring by the Houston team was Underwood 283, Tom Wright 291, Doug Olson 287, Bob Barbarosa 291.

Ryun Clocked In 3:58.6 In NCAA Indoor Mile

DETROIT (AP) — Southern California's Trojans, paced by two of the day's five record-breakers, dethroned Kansas for the team title but the Jayhawkers' Jim Ryun stole the show with a 3:58.6 mile in the NCAA Indoor Track Meet Saturday.

Southern California took three firsts on the closing 10-event program of the two-day meet and wrapped up the title with 10 points in the closing pole vault.

In addition to Ryun, NCAA record makers were Southern California's Bob Seagren with a 17-foot, ¼-inch pole vault and Earl McCullouch with a 7.0 clocking in the 60-yard high hurdles; Ray Arrington of Wisconsin with 2:07.8 for the 1,000 yard run and Oklahoma's mile relay team with a 3:15.5 victory.

Two NCAA records were tied as Nebraska's Charlie Greene won his third successive NCAA 60 dash title in 6.0 and high jumper Don Downing of Miami (Ohio) along with Missouri's Steve Herndon cleared 7-0. Downing won the title on the basis of fewer misses.

Southern California scored 26 points, while Oklahoma placed second with 17 and Kansas, the winner over the Trojans last year, 15-14, placed third.

Fourth was Villanova whose Dave Patrick, Friday soundly trounced Ryun in the 880 with a world indoor mark of 1:48.9.

For both days a total of eight NCAA records were established and two were tied.

McCullouch was timed in 7.0 in both the semifinals and finals, breaking the short-lived record of 7.1 set in Friday's preliminaries by McCullouch, Erv Hall of Villanova and Leon Coleman of Winston-Salem.

The Californian's effort, however, was shy of the indoor 60-yard mark of 6.8 set by Hayes Jones. Hall was second in 7.2.

In becoming the first individual three-time winner of the NCAA indoor championship series, Greene flashed to a 6.0 clocking for the 60-yard dash, matching his own meet record set last year.

It was almost a photo for second place between Oklahoma's Glenn Long, clocked in 6.1, and Kent Lawrence, Georgia football star, timed in 6.2

Garden Is Scene Of Second Riot

NEW YORK (AP)—A second riot in Madison Square Garden in 19 months gave boxing another huge black eye after Panama's Ismael (Tiger) Laguna had made a sensational debut here by whipping Puerto Rican Frankie Narvaez Friday night.

Narvaez, with a big following from New York's 800,000 Puerto Rican population, was the beaten fighter on both riotous nights.

The first riot, lasting about 25 minutes and the worst in the old arena's 40-year history, flared up after the 11-5 favored Narvaez lost on a close, split decision to Filipino Flash Elorde on Aug. 4, 1965. Not many people in the crowd of 6,618 were hurt that night.

But from 12 to 15 persons were injured and five were treated at St. Clare's Hospital for minor lacerations after the Laguna-Narvaez action-packed 12-rounder. The fight drew a roaring crowd of 11,580 and $50,823.

Laguna, the 23-year-old former lightweight champion, was a 9-5 favorite in his Garden debut against the No. 2 lightweight contender. Laguna is ranked No. 1 and the 12-rounder was a fight-off to determine the next challenger for champion Carlos Ortiz, a Puerto Rican-born New Yorker.

The rioting broke out shortly after the verdict was announced. All three officials had Laguna the winner.

The smiling, gold-toothed Laguna was being congratulated and interviewed in the ring when whisky bottles and other missiles started whizzing down from the balcony. They were being thrown hard and, unfortunately, too accurately. That was not the case during the Narvaez-Elorde riot.

The bottles landed in the ring and in the ringside sections, smashing and splattering like shrapnel.

The Garden quickly emptied and the organist played the Star Spangled Banner. The worst was over in about 10 minutes.

This was Narvaez' first appearance in the Garden since the first riot 19 months ago. Then the beer guzzling, whisky drinking rowdies did more damage to the Garden and less to the people.

They tossed bottles, chairs, a fire extinguisher and axe, ripped away sections of seats and iron and brass railings, smashed telephone booths and windows and toppled over the Garden organ five feet to the floor.

"How can they blame my people for this" said Narvaez. "I have a big following but who can tell who made all the trouble"

"I wasn't scared getting into the ring," said Laguna, "but I sure was scared getting out."

Dennis Walling, 34, (above), Dallas Baptist College basketball coach, was named head basketball coach at West Texas State University, Canyon, Friday night. He succeeds Jimmy Viramontes who resigned (AP WIREPHOTO)

$1735

That's the price of our new 1967 Volkswagen. It includes everything except license and local tax. (Whitewalls and leatherette upholstery optional at extra cost.)

But some people are afraid to buy one: they don't see how we can turn out a cheap car without having it turn out cheap.

This is how:

Since the factory doesn't change the bug's shape every year, we don't have to change the factory every year.

What we don't spend on looks, we spend on improvements to make more people buy the car.

When you buy a VW, you get what you pay for. What you don't get is frills. And you don't pay for what you don't get.

Bird Recesses Court Briefly

KAMLOOPS, B.C. (AP) — Trial of a court house here was recessed briefly because of a bird.

Justice J.G. Ruttan said the bird, a starling, was impeding justice. It was flying around in the courtroom.

Corp. Len Brown of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police took a shot at it. So did lawyer Grant MacDonald and a newspaper reporter. None of them had any luck.

Justice Ruttan reconvened court, bird and all.

THE BEST PLACE to start is at the beginning, and these young Scouts get their first instruction in arts and crafts from Senior Girl Scouts Corky Grantham and Marianne Lipscombe. Building boxes to hold their small treasures are Russlene Long and Patty Self, both of Brownie Scout Troop No. 200; and Nancy Lewallen and Londa Hendricks, both of Brownie Troop No. 88.

BUILDING THE BASE for a patio at the Girl Scout Little House, 1405 Lancaster, are Rita Sherrill, Kim Tucker and Nina Carr of Junior Troop No. 205. The patio is being laid by Girl Scouts with bricks donated by local residents as part of a general improvement program at the building. The facility provides a meeting place for a number of troops, an area for adult training sessions, and a kitchen. It also houses the district office.

"Girl Scout Week"

Today, more than three million girls, ages seven through 17, participate in the national celebration of the Girl Scouts of America. Locally, the week's observance will begin at 2 p.m. today with a ceremony at the Girl Scout Little House, 1405 Lancaster, to which the public is invited. The city extends best wishes to the organization on its 55th anniversary and is mindful of the role that Girl Scouts are playing in the wholesome development of the citizens of tomorrow.

CARING FOR CAMPFIRES and learning to live outdoors is still a part of the modernized Girl Scout program. Here, in a woodsy area near the Scout House, Mrs. Cal Pope, leader of Cadette Troop No. 424, teaches camp craft. Assisting her are Cadettes Vicki Perry and Dianne Pope. Gathered around the fire are Terri Renfroe, Jana Kim Crawley and Jo Ann Byrd, all of Brownie Troop No. 88.

TODAY, A TREE DEDICATION will be held at 2 p.m. at the Scout House, 1405 Lancaster, in memory of the late Mrs. D. M. Costlow of Stanton who was district advisor for this area. All Scouts and friends of Scouting are invited to attend. Mrs. Jack Horn holds a wooden plaque on which has been carved the words to "The Growing Up Tree," and holding the non-bearing mulberry in place are Corlynn Horn, Brenda Fuller and Colleen Permenter, all of Cadette Troop No. 43.

ADULT LEADERSHIP is still the backbone of the Girl Scout movement founded in the United States by Juliette Gordon Low 55 years ago. Here, in the Girl Scout House, leadership training courses are discussed by three women who have been outstanding in their support of Girl Scouting. From left are Mrs. Jack Lipscombe, District Four chairman; Mrs. Larson Lloyd, former executive director and now board member of the West Texas Girl Scout Council, and Mrs. Richard Atkins, senior advisor of Senior Troop No. 378.

Miss Priscilla Lynn Grizzard Weds Lt. Paul Weeldreyer

The wedding of Miss Priscilla Lynn Grizzard and 2nd Lt. Paul D. Weeldreyer was solemnized in a double ring ceremony held at 7 o'clock Saturday evening in the Birdwell Lane Baptist Church with the Rev. Cal Sims, pastor, officiating.

Parents of the couple are Mr. James Grizzard, 1100 Austin, and Mrs. Eloise Grizzard, Sweetwater, and Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence E. Weeldreyer of Chancellor, S.D.

Vows were pledged before an altar centered with a sunburst arrangement of gladioli and white chrysanthemums enhanced with palms of emerald foliage. Flanking the flowers were wedding tapers held in seven-branch candelabra. Family pews were marked with white satin bows.

Miss Linda Whisenhunt, organist, accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Nile D. Cole as they sang "Together." During the ceremony Miss Marilyn Lawson sang "The Wedding Prayer" as the couple knelt on a white priedieu.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a formal gown with A-line silhouette. The gown of peau de soie featured a rounded neckline and sleeves ending in petal points over the hands. The empire bodice was outlined with overlaid Chantilly lace and accented with seed pearls, and the back was highlighted by a straight detachable train. Lace appliques accented the petal point sleeves and train. Her veil was fashioned from imported French illusion and fell in tiers from a tiara encrusted with seed pearls and crystals.

The bridal bouquet was a cascade arrangement of stephanotis centered with a white orchid and showered with white satin ribbon.

MRS. PAUL D. WEELDREYER (Curley's Studio)

ATTENDANTS

Mrs. Charles Grizzard, aunt of the bride, was matron of honor, and Miss Jeannie Grizzard, sister of the bride, served as bridesmaid. The attendants wore identical gowns of turquoise peau de soie with rounded necklines and sleeveless fitted bodices. The Empire bodices were accented by a braiding of satin and sequins. Each wore matching Dior bows and carried nosegays of feathered pink carnations and roses tied with pink satin ribbons.

Candlelighters were Jimmy Lee Grizzard, brother of the bride, and Charles Grizzard, cousin of the bride. Eddie Grizzard was ring bearer and Lisa Grizzard was flower girl. Both are cousins of the bride.

Philip Weeldreyer served as best man and groomsman was Steven Weeldreyer, both brothers of the bridegroom. Ushers were 2nd Lt. Waldo Libby and 2nd Lt. Bob Ludlam of Webb AFB and 2nd Lt. Merwin Horner of Eglin AFB, Fla.

RECEPTION

The honored couple greeted their friends at a reception held at the church. Joining the bride and bridegroom in the receiving line were her mother, his parents and the feminine attendants.

The bride's table was covered with a pink cloth overlayed with a white organza skirt. A center arrangement of a silver candelabra and the attendants' bouquets was used. The tiered wedding cake, divided by columns, was decorated with pink roses and topped with a pair of love doves. The appointments were of crystal and silver.

Miss Debra Pachall, cousin of the bride, presided at the guest register. Members of the house party were Miss Kay Hunt, Miss Lou Ann Misek, Mrs. Dub Grigg, Mrs. Emory Parrish, Mrs. Maxie Cole, Mrs. L. C. Cole, Mrs. Lambert Misek, Mrs. W. I. Fenley and Mrs. Virgil Smedley.

The bridegroom's table was covered with an ecru cloth and held a twin crystal candeholder and a chocolate cake. Silver appointments were used.

Out-of-town guests were the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Wright of Waldenburg, Ark., and Mrs. Virginia Pachall of Dallas.

WEDDING TRIP

The bride wore a two-piece hot pink knit suit with beige lizard accessories when the couple left for a wedding trip to Florida. The couple will reside at Eglin AFB, Fla.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Recipes Of Famous Bean Sandwiches

Dear Heloise:

What is a bean sandwich?

I hear you were raised in the part of the country that is famous for them. . . Budgeteers

* * *

Dear Budgeteers:

There are about a hundred ways to make bean sandwiches.

They can be made open-faced, which means one piece of bread with hot beans poured directly on top, and then go from there, or . . .

HELOISE

Close-faced, which means you can use two pieces of bread, a hamburger bun, English muffins, etc., and put a top on it and hold it in your hands when you gobble it up.

Usually these are made from leftover beans, or any kind of beans your family has a hankering for.

On a hot open sandwich, the beans are not mashed. You just put down a piece of bread or toast, pour the hot beans over it, sprinkle on some chopped onions, dash some catsup or hot sauce over that, sprinkle grated cheese over the top of that and top with a dash of paprika.

This seems to be the favorite, but you can ad-lib from the beans on up — dictated by your own little taste buds.

The closed sandwich is usually made on hamburger buns.

You heat any leftover beans (the canned Mexican Chili Beans and Pork and Beans are wonderful) and using your potato masher, mash them as if you were mashing potatoes. They will end up just about the right consistency. Spread this on the hot bun. (Down around Texas way, people break up corn chips and mix with the mashed beans. This is a real crunchy "bit.")

This closed type of sandwich usually has a piece of thin cheese laid on top of the beans (grated can be used and I find it better), a thin slice of tomato, split onion rings, hot sauce, and chili sauce or catsup, shredded lettuce . . . and is topped with a hamburger pattie.

Then the top of the bun is put on! The fun is trying to get your choppers over it. It's out of this world. . . Heloise

* * *

Dear Heloise:

For mothers with small babies:

Plastic bags that come on men's shirts from the laundry are just perfect to put over tiny dresses and seldom-worn little boys' suits when hanging them in the closet.

Cut a hole in the middle of the closed end and slip the top of baby's hanger through it.

The bag is long enough to cover the entire article. . . Jerry

* * *

Dear Heloise:

For those of you who have pierced ears:

Try keeping track of those earrings by sticking them through large buttons. I clamp each pair on one button and they are always together.

This idea has kept my earring tray in order. . . Jessie McWilliams

* * *

Daer Heloise:

My parents had a wonderful remedy for bringing a smile to our faces if we were crying long after we had been hurt or scared.

They would get a spoon and tell us our tears were so beautiful that they wanted to catch them and save them.

In a matter of seconds, we'd be laughing at the idea and couldn't produce another tear if we had wanted to. . . D.C.K.

* * *

Dear Heloise:

On a Hollywood bed, the electric blanket cord is inclined to protrude from under the foot of the bed.

I attached a cup hook to the bottom of the box spring with the open part of the hook pointing toward the head of the bed.

It keeps the electric cord well-hidden. . . Oliver Blevins

WEBB WINDSOCK

By MRS. R. D. FRERICHS

This week we would like to take a look at the OWC volunteers at Big Spring State Hospital. Mrs. R. W. Trickel is chairman of this activity, and approximately twelve Webb wives work each month as volunteers to help patients at the hospital. Our number of volunteers varies. Right now we need many more wives who are willing to help or participate in different projects.

One of our pet wards is the adolescent unit. Some of the activities for the teenagers in which we have participated include monthly parties, or at least a party for all the holidays, a charm course for the girls, craft work, and organization of a "teen club" which meets monthly with the clinical director. We also painted and redecorated both the boys and girls day-rooms.

A few wives have worked with the older patients and one of our volunteers, Mrs. Clifford Gallanger, has participated in sessions with alcoholic patients and helps them carry out beneficial discussions. Some of our volunteers are Mrs. Don Lowe, Mrs. William Zamboni and Mrs. Richard Trickel, who have organized and attended the teenage parties; Mrs. Gerry Green, who has donated many hours in her professional nursing capacity; and Mrs. George McKenna, Mrs. William Bruce, Mrs. Alton Keith, Mrs. Tim Thomas, and Mrs. Pal Fett, who have worked on projects and donated baking for parties, along with other volunteers who have done "behind the scene" work.

We also try and answer distress calls for special clothing needs, school supplies, or any other materials that are needed for the different programs being conducted for the patients.

* * *

The medical wives held their monthly coffee Thursday at the home of Mrs. Robert J. Prather. The decorations were Easter baskets, bunnies and chickens for the Easter theme. Petits fours and nut bread was served. Invited guests were nurses, Maj. Janet Hager, Maj. Sarah Graham and 1st. Lt. Jean Gillion. Also, Mrs. D. Ross, Mrs. Dorothy Lassetter and Mrs. C. H. Kreh.

Maj. and Mrs. W. T. Hascall have returned from Fort Worth and Tyler where they visited their parents, Col. (Ret.) and Mrs. A. S. Hascall and Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Barnes.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Merifield and daughters of Albuquerque, N.M., visited 1st Lt. and Mrs. Robert Frerichs over the weekend. Mrs. Merifield and Mrs. Frerichs are cousins.

PARTY BRIDGE

Regular party bridge at the Officers Open Mess will be March 16 at 1 p.m. Arrive 15 minutes early to receive your 500 extra points, and bring your own partner.

Mrs. J. R. Porter will conduct OWC decoupage classes at 1 p.m. on March 21-22 in the Service Club kitchen. Interested persons may attend both days or either one of the two days. Anyone who already has a favorite picture can purchase the size of pressed wood needed at a lumber yard and bring it to the class. For more information, call Mrs. Porter, AM 3-1453.

The OWC Bowling league always needs substitutes. Anyone interested please call Mrs. A. P. Keith, AM 3-3850.

Mrs. Tommy Tompkins hosted the DCO bridge at her home Monday. Mrs. Tompkins was high; Mrs. G. D. Hull, second; and Mrs. Douglas Wingate, low.

2nd Lt. and Mrs. J. C. Miller hosted a get-together for members of Class 67-H, Section FO, and other friends. During the evening, the group was served pizzas.

A baby shower was held in the home of Mrs. Ray Donnelly for Mrs. Joe Tate. Members of Class 67-G were guests.

DINNER PARTY

Saturday evening D Flight held a dinner party at the Officers Open Mess. The occasion was to say farewell to 1st. Lt. and Mrs. Larry Ledbetter who are leaving soon for Shepherd AFB, where Lt. Ledbetter will be instructing the T-38. Each was presented with a farewell gift. Punch was provided by Maj. and Mrs. Sam Flowers and Maj. and Mrs. Richard Lang.

"A" Flight hosted the 3450th PTS monthly coffee March 7 at the Officers Open Mess. The refreshment table was decorated with silver candelabra and a green and white floral centerpiece. In keeping with the St. Patrick's Day theme the name tags were in the shape of green shamrocks. Gordon Wheeler of Gordon's Coiffures demonstrated a hair style on Mrs. Roger Blume. He gave an informative talk on hair care and answered questions. The floral centerpiece was won by Mrs. Ronald Clark.

REPORTERS SPOTLIGHT

Reporting the news for the Medical group is Mrs. Robert Prather. She is from Ayr, Ayrshire, Scotland, and met her husband while he was stationed there at Prestwick AFB. One of the highlights of her 11 years of Air Force life was seeing Hawaii come into statehood while she and Lt. Prather were stationed there. Elma is an active volunteer in Family Services and is responsible for making all of the puppets and stuffed toys that Family Services donates to the hospital. In addition to this she finds time to knit, sew, decorate cakes, and make ceramics. She and her husband have three children, Robert Jr., 9 who was born in the territory of Hawaii, James Mark, 7, who was born in the state of Hawaii, and Elizabeth Leslie, 3 months. Two poodles are also members of the family.

Class 68-E enjoyed a barbecue sponsored by Pollard Chevrolet March 4 at Lake J. B. Thomas.

Engaged

Mr. and Mrs. Milton L. Prescott, 4118 Muir, are announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Nona Lee, to Joe D. Henderson, son of J. Merrill Henderson, 1606 Oriole, and the late Mrs. Henderson. The wedding is scheduled for April 28 in the home of the bride-elect's parents. Richard Williams, minister at the Birdwell Lane Church of Christ, will officiate.

A LOVELIER YOU

Desk Workers Lead Pain In Neck Group

By MARY SUE MILLER

Next to a cold in the head, a pain in the neck seems to be the complaint of the season. And desk workers lead the complainers.

The trouble usually starts about mid - afternoon with a tight feeling in the back of the neck and shoulders that eventually becomes painful. If you are subject to the ailment you know it's pure misery — as well as a drain on your energy and efficiency.

To overcome the problem you first must understand its causes. Almost always it is rooted in nervous tension from work pressures or muscular tension from poor working posture.

When you work against time at demanding tasks, it is not abnormal for your nerves to tighten up. You should make an effort, however, to relieve strain before it reaches the painful stage. Simply walk away from your work for 10 minutes. Use the period to tidy up and to sip a hot beverage.

If pain beats you to a work break, try applying either a hot or cold compress to the nape of the neck. Use whichever temperature brings ease. It differs with different people.

As for fatigued muscles, the answer is an "easy seat." You achieve one when you sit squarely on your hips, with back erect and soles of feet on the floor; when you bend forward from the hip joints and look down with your eyes to see your work, instead of crooking your spine and neck.

INCREASES HAPPINESS

It is difficult to enjoy real happiness if pains, aches and other miseries of poor health plague you. If you are continuously tired, sleep poorly or generally feel run down you need professional help.

If you have any health problem which keeps returning, why take home remedies which may mask warning signals, hiding a possible growing ailment? Let your physician check your body and with the possible help of X-rays, diagnostic tests and his own skilled observation, the odds are you will find permanent relief.

YOUR DOCTOR CAN PHONE US when you need a medicine. Pick up your prescription if shopping nearby, or we will deliver promptly without extra charge. A great many people entrust us with their prescriptions. May we compound and dispense yours?

Stress Put On Good Speech

Martin Landers spoke on "Correct Speech In the Home" at the Wednesday afternoon meeting of the Child Study Club in the home of Mrs. Calvin Daniels, 421 Edwards. Mrs. Dee Jon Davis served as cohostess.

"We should rear our children not just to please ourselves, but to please God," said Landers. Good communication is life itself, and just as our children are individual and different are they able to respond to their environment. A good home background in vocabulary will help eliminate feelings of inadequacy and frustration when they go out into the world.

"This generation must learn to express themselves, and they must also learn to listen to one another."

Plans were announced by Mrs. Ray Vess to conduct an annual child health and welfare drive, which will be launched at the next meeting, April 12, in the Community. Room of the First Federal Savings and Loan Association building. Hostesses will include Mrs. R. F. Polk and Mrs. Don Grantham, and local club presidents. Interested persons are urged to attend. Judge Ralph Caton and Calvin Davis, regional director of the Child Health and Welfare Program, will be guest speakers.

Mrs. Glenn Faison and Mrs. Byron Orand presented the revised by-laws to the members, and Mrs. David Hodnett was named nominating committee chairman by Mrs. Josh Burnett, president. Those on the committee are Mrs. Tommy Hart and Mrs. Glenn Allen.

Members were urged by Mrs. Burnett to take their children to the March 17-18 production of "Wizard of Oz."

Atlanta To Host Orchid Society

"An Enchanting World of Orchids" awaits amateur and professional orchid growers in Atlanta, Ga., the weekend of April 7-9.

The occasion is the spring meetings of the trustees of the American Orchid Society, Inc., the directors of the Mid-America Orchid Congress, a regional affiliate, and the show of the Atlanta Orchid Society, Inc., the host for all coordinated events.

Orchidists from all parts of the country, and a few from foreign affiliates of the national society, are expected for the meetings, social events, lectures and sightseeing tours which are scheduled.

While the AOS trustees meeting is restricted in attendance, everybody is invited to an information meeting of the American Orchid Society scheduled for Saturday afternoon. Officers and committee chairmen will present progress reports on AOS activities of general interest. Presidents of local orchid societies affiliated with AOS are also invited to the semi-annual presidents' meeting on Saturday morning.

There are classes for plants in flower and cut flowers, with silver trophies offered for the best in each of numerous groups. Space exhibits and artistic arrangements are scheduled. Accredited judges of the American Orchid Society will make ribbon, trophy and permanent awards to plants, flowers and exhibits. Judges accredited by the national council of State Garden Clubs, Inc. will judge in the artistic section with entries by members of the Garden Clubs of Georgia, Inc. and the Atlanta Orchid Society.

Three distinguished speakers are scheduled for Saturday. Dr. Carl Withner, professor of biology at Brooklyn College and curator of orchids, Brooklyn Botanical Garden, will speak about Epidendrums. Dr. Calaway Dodson, associate professor of botany at the University of Miami (Florida), and curator of orchids at Fairchild Tropical Garden will present a program on Evolution of Orchid Flowers. Dr. Gustav Mehlquist, Plant Science Department, University of Connecticut, will speak on Photoperiodism and Control of Orchid Flowering.

A forum for judges is scheduled, also a culture forum with experts from the area to give advice to amateurs.

Any orchid grower is welcome to attend the weekend's events. Reservations are necessary for tours and meals. The show schedule and program of events may be obtained by writing the office of the American Orchid Society, Inc., Botanical Museum of Harvard University, Cambridge, Mass., 02138.

The fall meeting of the AOS trustees and the annual meeting of American Orchid Society members will be held in Corpus Christi in October.

Alpha Chi Chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha made donations to two local hospitals during a model meeting held Thursday evening in the home of Mrs. Robert Rogers, 3609 Tingle. As part of the year's welfare project, $40 was marked for the indigent fund at the Veterans Administration Hospital, and $60 was donated to purchase a shoulder wheel for use at Big Spring State Hospital.

According to Harold Lyles, chief of social work service at the VA Hospital, the indigent fund is used primarily to assist veterans who must return home on emergency leave or are stranded without funds while on such a leave. Mrs. Joe Ward, of the volunteer co-ordinator's office at the state hospital, accepted the check for the shoulder wheel.

'ROUND TOWN

By LUCILLE PICKLE

There have been numerous books and poems written about the wind, and a great many of them have been very successful, but I can't think of anything very good about this March wind right now. Only those who rely on windmills for water are now being benefitted as the mills must be pumping like mad while the fans twirl in the breeze.

For the most part this wind that 'blows the kites on high' and several other things, is just making all of us women take on the appearance of a goose in the wind. But it always has blown like this and I have no reason to think that things are going to change as far as that wind is concerned.

MR. and MRS. TOM MARLOW and their three children, Allen Lee, 12, Linda Diane, 10, and Tom Jr., 3, returned home Monday from a two-week vacation trip to Europe.

The family flew from New York on Feb. 23, and after a six hour, 30 minute trip landed in Brussels, Belgium, where they made their headquarters. From Brussels they flew on trips to Rome, Paris, London (here they visited Westminster Abbey and watched the changing of the guards) Amsterdam and Switzerland. They were excited over their flight over the Swiss and Italian Alps (they'd never seen that much snow before), and were impressed with the beauty of the countryside and how well kept the monuments and buildings were and also with the cleanliness.

They felt like they were pretty good travelers, too, because during the two weeks they were away they never had one of the seven pieces of luggage lost or a piece delayed. Their return trip took nine hours.

Former Webb Pilot Has Narrow Escape

"I sure wouldn't want to come any closer," said Capt. Edwin R. Maxson, 33, formerly an instructor pilot at Webb AFB, last week in describing his narrow escape from an A-1E Skyraider, knocked out of the air by enemy ground fire Dec. 30.

CAPT. E. R. MAXSON

After six months and 182 scout missions as a forward air controller with the 3rd Brigade of the 36th Infantry division in the Vietnamese central highlands, Capt. Maxson volunteered to fly the A-1E fighter - bombers with the 1st Air Commando Squadron.

He was on his third solo flight in this type aircraft when he was hit and began his harrowing experience.

"I was making my ninth pass against enemy bunkers near Phan Thiet," he said, "when warning lights flashed on and the cockpit began to fill with smoke. It felt like my engine was coming apart, and my flight leader confirmed that I was on fire.

"I was at about 1,500 feet then and thought I'd try to glide a mile to the ocean and ditch, but shortly thereafter, I lost all control and the aircraft began to spiral to the right. I crawled out of the cockpit, got my hand on my ripcord, and jumped."

At that time Capt. Maxson was at 300-400 feet, considerably below minimum altitude for bailout.

Just after he felt the parachute's initial opening shock, he hit the water of a lake. A split second before he hit, he saw his aircraft go into the lake about 30 yards from him.

A soldier of the 1st Air Cavalry Division swam out to the captain, and found him afloat and safe, although entangled in his parachute. An Army H-13 helicopter scout ship hovered over the pair. After the two had worked Capt. Maxson loose from his chute, they grasped the helicopter's runners and were towed to shore.

"The Army didn't waste any time in coming to my assistance," the captain acknowledged, "even though they could have been in a bad strategic spot if they had encountered an enemy. I could also see another controller circling and knew my flight leader would be covering with his guns somewhere in the area."

A helicopter flew the captain to Phan Thiet, where he found his flight leader, who took him back to his home base.

"The soldiers told me that they had recently killed an alligator about 15 feet from where I landed; that seems amusing now, but I'm sure glad I didn't know about it at the time," Capt. Maxson said.

"If the aircraft had spiraled to the left, I don't think I could have climbed out," he said. "If I hadn't taken time to grasp my ripcord, I doubt if I could have reached it in time, if at all, as I flailed in the wind. And of course, if the water had not been there, I'm sure I'd have broken both legs."

As it was, the captain suffered only minor bruises.

"When I feel the slight pains, I know I'm alive," he says. "I'm not complaining."

'Wallpaper' Costs Half-Million Bucks

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — A half-million dollars will pay for a lot of wallpaper, but a group of Louisville merchants who would rather have the cash have formed the Louisville Wallpaper Collectors Association.

The "wallpaper" in question is really made of bad checks, and the association is an organized warning system against bad check passers.

When a member spots a passer, he calls two other stores in the 30-member group. Each of these, in turn, calls two more, until the chain is completed.

Time To Light Up

Three men who are running the show in the annual light bulb sale of the Downtown Lions Club display some of the wares which the club will be selling Tuesday, Thursday and Friday. Big Spring people have supported the effort generously in the past, which permits the club to furnish glasses to school children and adults who can't afford them, and to help in blind and conservation work. Kneeling are Don Shoemake and Jimmy Ray Smith; standing, John F. Smith. Shoemake and John Smith are division leaders; Jimmy R. Smith, general chairman. The kickoff is set for 5 p.m. Tuesday. OFF THE BEATEN TRAIL

Same Old Story For Lost Tribe Of Israel—Scattered

By ED SYERS

Edging the Big Thicket, northeast of forested Livingston, rests the ghost of one of Texas' most unusual religious havens — a 'Holy City' planned by 1890 Michigan settlers who believed themselves a Lost Tribe of Israel.

A recent copy of quarterly Polk County Historical Sketchbook, edited by Livingston's Ruth Peebles, recollects the raw frame church around which the city was to grow.

"Followers came to East Texas from Michigan and believed themselves to be one of the Lost Tribes of Israel. Their practices were derived primarily from the Old Testament.

"They did not cut their hair or shave, ate no meat, and they had faith they would never know physical death, believing Christ's second coming was imminent.

"The sect was quite strong in the 1890's, but lost its hold when the members began to die. The 30-acre tract, planned as a 'Holy City', is today a lonely pasture and forest area. Traces of the homes and the church have vanished (except for Polk County Museum pictures); but the road through the section is still known as the 'Old Israel Road'."

What became of the 'Lost Tribe'? Scattered, once more, it seems.

Listing the other and earlier churches, whose denominations worship in newer buildings today, Editor Peebles thoughtfully sums our forebears' community philosophy:

"Build a cabin, plant a crop, give thanks to God — this was the pattern of the pioneer settlement. Within a few months of a community's birth, a church was usually organized and a search begun for a minister who could teach . . . or a teacher who could preach."

A little old-fashioned, this firm foundation Sure. Old . . . and rewarding as Genesis 26.

ARTHRITIS BEEHIVE

Lubbock's Ray Chapman believes he owns the only Electric Beehive in Texas — "in perfect condition." But don't order honey; this was for his granddad's arthritis.

The "Beehive" was patented 1883 to an Indianan. Texas "farm rights" to build and use went to Bell County's J. W. Gray for the 'Hubbard Improved Bee Hive'.

"The thing is a device to administer electric shocks to arthritis and rheumatism sufferers 'in lieu of bee stings'," says Chapman. "It operates off three dry cell batteries like those in old rural telephones, has a maze of dials, knobs, wheels and contact points to adjust the severity, frequency . . . even polarity of the dose: no help from positive; try negative."

Chapman bought it at a garage sale, complete with all attachments including hand sponge electrodes (apply direct to ailing joints), and a steel bristle brush to "stimulate the skin."

"It will darned sure stimulate, too. In fact it will shock the blue fire out of you, particularly if the genu-wine rheostat is turned up maximum."

Whether it helped granddad's joints, Chapman doesn't know. Nor will he offer treatments . . . "might be practicing medicine without a license."

The South Plainsman would like to hear from OBT readers who know of this or similar old devices that folks used to use when they ailed.

Airmen's Dining Hall Given Western Flavor

When the new food services officer checked in at Webb AFB recently, the Airmen's Dining Hall began to take on a Western flavor.

Second Lt. Thomas J. Weindl, new food services officer, replaced 1st Lt. Alan W. Davidson.

A 1966 graduate of Seattle University, he graduated from Officers Training School in October, 1966. Under his supervision, the dining hall will soon take on an atmosphere of the old West.

"The initial idea was to remodel and repaint the dining area," the lieutenant said, "but with the contributions of ideas to the project, it grew into a Wild West arrangement."

Lt. Weindl said that most of the time has been spent gathering materials for the project.

"We have collected almost 30 wagon wheels, contributed by members of the community," he said. A wagon dating back before 1900 was also donated.

Besides repainting the walls and the entrance hall floor, photographs of old Big Spring and other Western pictures will be displayed. Tangerine-colored drapes are on order.

Other improvements include deer antlers used as hat racks in the hallway. Live plants will replace artificial ones.

"The personnel on base have been cooperative," Lt. Weindl said. "They have helped spray the many wagon wheels and donated canvas to cover the wagon."

Boston's Back Bay Blend Protected

BOSTON (AP)—The historic atmosphere of Boston's Back Bay area will be protected by a special architectural commission, says Mayor John F. Collins.

He said the five-man commission would have the power to approve all construction and exterior design changes to help bring "a harmonious blend of old and new."

Reunion For Moore Slated

A big event coming up soon for former residents of the Moore community and classmates of the Moore School is the fifth annual Moore Reunion. The date has been set for Sunday, April 2 in Fellowship Hall of the Main Street Church of God, 2009 Main, Big Spring. A big crowd is expected to gather for visiting, fellowship and nostalgic reminiscing, said Buster Broughton, president. Lunch will be served by the Jack and Jill Kindergarten Cafeteria.

The Moore Community was established in 1906, and the first school, a one-teacher affair, was taught that year. During the 43 years the school was active, it grew from one teacher to five teachers. Sixty-one teachers served there, 18 of whom had attended the school previously. Many of these teachers and former pupils will be on hand to celebrate.

In 1949 the school plant burned, and in July of that year the school district was made a part of the Big Spring Independent School district. Broughton is heading up plans and arrangements, assisted by Mrs. B. M. Newton, secretary.

The Order of DeMolay 48th Anniversary

THE YOUTH MOVEMENT THAT BUILDS CHARACTER AND LEADERS FOR TOMORROW

What Is DeMolay?

The order is dedicated to the principles of building better citizens of teenage boys. DeMolay chapters are sponsored by a Masonic Body. Each chapter is supervised in all of its functions by an adult advisory council. One man is designated as the official "Chapter Dad" to handle the supervision of chapter meetings and to counsel the members.

DeMolay does not attempt to take the place of the home or church but rather supplement them. The organization's purpose is to offer the teenage boy of today (1) a wholesome occupation for his spare time; (2) worthwhile associates; (3) the best of environment; and (4) an interesting and complete program of all-around youth development.

By meeting these goals, DeMolay leaders believe that the youths learn to be better citizens and leaders, thereby providing a better world tomorrow.

Who May Join DeMolay?

DeMolay membership is open to any boy of good character who is between the ages of 14 and 21. Although DeMolay chapters are sponsored only by Masonic bodies or individual Masons, it is not necessary that a boy be a son or a relative of a Mason to belong to DeMolay.

For further information, contact A. J. Prager, chairman of the advisory committee, at AM 3-7701 or AM 7-6194, or Burt Nix, Master Councilor, at AM 7-2197. Meetings each Tuesday evening at 21st and Lancaster.

Kiwanis To Host District Governor

Big Spring Kiwanis Club will be host to the highest Kiwanis official in Oklahoma and Texas Friday night at a dinner to be served at Cosden Country Club.

The guest will be Rex P. Kyker, governor for the Oklahoma-Texas district of Kiwanis International. His home is in Abilene.

REX P. KYKER

This is the first time in many years, according to pioneer members of the Big Spring club, that a district governor has visited Big Spring.

Gov. Kyker, who is a member of the faculty of Abilene Christian College and head of the speech department there since 1957, will be the speaker at the dinner which will be attended, not only by Big Spring Kiwanians and their wives, but by delegations from all nine of the Kiwanis Clubs in Divison 23.

V. Ward Jackson, a member of the Big Spring club, is Division 23 lieutenant governor. He will preside at the dinner and introduce the district governor.

The dinner is to be at 7 p.m. All Big Spring members are being urged by Jackson and Bill Johnson, club president, to attend. Wives of Kiwanians are particularly invited to be on hand. At least one club — the Midland Village Kiwanis — will have 20 members in attendance. All of the other seven clubs, Jackson believes, will have at least four members and their wives attending.

Jackson said that while the address of the district governor is the principal event of the evening, special entertainment is also planned.

Kyker was born in Texico, N. M., Nov. 2, 1921. He graduated from Farwell High School and won his BA at Abilene Christian College and his MA at the University of Iowa. He has a PhD from the University of Florida.

He joined the Kiwanis Club at Abilene in 1954 and has been president of his club, lieutenant governor of Division 12, district chairman in support of churches, district chairman of resolutions committee for three years, member of the international committee for the support of churches and has conducted the memorial services at the district convention on four occasions.

His family includes his wife, Chris. three daughters and two sons.

Errors Hold Up Income Tax Refunds

DALLAS — Income tax refunds of 881 taxpayers in Northern Texas are being held up because Form 1040 or 1040A sent in does not contain an accurate Social Security Number.

Ellis Campbell Jr., district director for Northern Texas, said that in some cases IRS will be able to verify the correct number from Social Security Administration records, but this will cause a delay in processing the refund.

In other cases, refunds will be delayed until the taxpayer has been contacted by IRS and has sent in an accurate Social Security number, he said. Correct numbers are necessary since this year all individual tax returns filed by North Texas taxpayers are being processed by computers at the IRS Service Center in Austin.

Campbell reported that to date other refunds are being held up because of a variety of other types of errors or failures to comply with the instructions mailed to each taxpayer with his tax forms.

Tax returns filed up to last week included 1,477 without the signatures of husband or wife, or both. These will have to be sent back to the taxpayers before refunds can be processed.

Returns with errors in arithmetic which are causing delays in sending refunds so far total 2,700 and returns where taxpayers have used the wrong tax table total 5,507. Taxpayers sent in returns with missing W-2's in 1,936 cases, and 891 taxpayers failed to include necessary schedules and documents.

Taxpayers' refunds have been held up or delayed in 13,392 cases due to errors. As of last week, Campbell said, the IRS Service Center in Austin had processed 253,146 returns.

A Devotional For The Day

Create in me a clean heart, O God, and put a new and right spirit within me. (Psalm 51:10, RSV)

PRAYER: Almighty God, unto whom we turn for comfort and correction, cleanse our lives. If they require the whip, help us to respond to it. If they are to be cleansed by a gentle towel, may it remove the stain of our acts and all desire to sin. So may we worthily magnify Thy holy name. through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

Congratulations

All of this area is proud of the achievement of the Lamesa Tornadoes in winning the Interscholastic League AAA basketball championship.

These young men not only won convincingly, but in the process, they displayed the highest examples of sportsmanship and teamwork. Thus, Lamesa is not alone in its pride; we share it with our neighbors.

And speaking of pride, we have a full measure of it for the Forsan girls, who made it all the way to the state tournament. Although they didn't survive the first round there, they did demonstrate great skill, poise and tenacity in winning district, bi-district and regional. And that's pretty good in anyone's books.

First Major Step

The first open breakthrough in the long quest for new hospital facilities for Webb AFB appears to have been made at last. The Department of Defense has included in its budget requests to the House an item of $2,121,000 for a new base hospital.

This is good cause for rejoicing, but the news ought also to be tempered with a realization that this is but the first of a series of major steps if it is to come to pass.

This must first run the gamut of requests from the appropriations subcommittee on military appropriations. Next, it must gain approval of the House appropriations committee, and finally be passed by the House as an authorization. Something of the same procedure must be repeated in the Senate. Assuming final passage, it then goes to the president for his signature.

It should be kept in mind that authorization is not the final step in approval, but it does take down the bars on planning and getting ready by the time Congress votes the actual appropriations for the job. All of this takes time and all along the way there could be bumps and cuts, if not delay.

Yet, Webb officials, particularly those in the medical unit, have made a good case, and so has the Air Force. The present facilities were put together hurriedly under the press of war in 1942. They served for 3½ years then were converted to quarters for Howard County Junior College for five years, being reclaimed in 1951 with reactivating of the field as Webb AFB. They were never meant to serve more than five years at the outset. Instead, the ramshackle frame structures have been in use for almost a score of years.

Meanwhile, medicine has taken giant strides, and although much equipment has been added, there is a limit to what can be done toward providing the Webb family with adequate medical and dental service. For them this service is one of the emoluments of a military career, and it is one of the things which helps makes the service attractive. At a time when career people are desperately needed, heaven knows that the hospital is needed to round out the facilities for our military personnel.

Cherries The Cause Of Measles?

Maybe you noticed that LBJ has taken dead aim on wiping out measles, one of the scourges of childhood. He's going to do it with mass vaccinations, and that's a good deal.

There might be another way: Don't let kids load their tummies with cherries.

There's an explanatory story for this.

'WAY BACK, when I was a punkin-headed kid, my Mother had rat-holed enough money to go back to Indiana to visit some of her family, and it was ordained that I could tag along.

Turned out that this was one of the adventures of a young life, but for now, we'll stick to the measles-cherry story.

THE PLACE in Indiana where we wound up spending a good part of the visit was at an Uncle Ike's farm, a lush place in the Wabash valley, with verdant valleys and rolling hills — the old-time farm of corn and hogs, of pastures and cows, of smokehouses and orchards.

The broad sweeping ground in front of Uncle Ike's house (it seems from distant recollection) was covered with giant cherry trees. And we were there at the time they were loaded with their season's yield.

WHAT'S A KID to do, but climb up in one of those trees, pluck cherries and plop 'em in his mouth until he all but falls out of the tree? Yep, I did.

It so happened, in a day or two, that I came down with the willies, or something, and a short time later, the pimples popped out all over me. Measles, that's what it was.

I WAS PUT into a big featherbed in one of the rooms of the old farmhouse, got an inordinate amount of attention from a solicitous uncle and aunt, and was forced into inactivity for a number of days. One boon was that Uncle Ike, one day, went out and shot a squirrel right out of a tree on the farm, and I was served that as a delicious morsel for the ailing. I had never tasted squirrel before, and am not sure that I ever have since, and let the record report that here was as delectable a dish as was ever set before a king.

BUT ON THE main, the episode of the measles was an unhappy one. While I was feeling poorly, I kept thinking how the whole business seemed to have started with the stomach-ache, and it was no guesswork that the stomach-ache started with the cherries. That is, too many cherries.

So, it took me a good many years to rid myself of the notion that an overdose of cherries was the cause, pure and simple, of a case of the measles.

I GOT WELL, and we went back home, where there never have been any big cherry trees to be a temptation. If there had been, I might have shied away because I certainly didn't want another case of the measles.

Vaccination may be the cure, but it might be a good idea for kids to stay out of cherry trees, too.

Peace Chances On The Wane

WASHINGTON — "They have healed the wound of my people lightly, saying Peace, peace, when there is no peace." As a prophet for these times the words of Jeremiah might have been set down day before yesterday.

Judging from the gloomy statements of U Thant, Arthur Goldberg and others there will be no peace in the foreseeable future. A new and deeper division has grown up over whether the Johnson Administration rejected still another opportunity to open negotiations with North Vietnam.

THE BREACH is widened by the clamp applied by the White House on all information about what happened just before the bombing was resumed at the end of the lunar New Year truce. By sending the bombers north again the chance to open talks was lost and a break in the conflict heralded by Premier Alexei N. Kosygin in London for talks with Prime Minister Harold Wilson and, in a lower key, by Wilson himself went down the drain, so the charge is.

The truth is hard to come by. This reporter has been given on a non-attribution basis the following version of events leading up in the decision to end the New Year pause when it had been prolonged 42 hours beyond the time previously set. Kosygin in London waited for word from Hanoi that continuation of the pause would bring a signal assuring the start of talks.

THAT WORD did not come before Kosygin's departure for Moscow. But Washington got a message directly from Hanoi through one of the several channels that are open. The message was that the bombing pause must be explicitly stated to be permanent and unconditional cessation of bombing thenceforward. This was unacceptable and the President sent the bombers into the air.

This may or may not be true even though it comes from an official speaking from intimate knowledge of what went on in those crucial hours. These arcane glimpses behind the screen of secrecy are not enough. The damaging fact is that in the absence of any real information, other than the repetition of tired, old formulas, there can be no real conviction of the honesty of the Administration's intentions.

THE PRIVATE reason given for smothering all talk of new peace overtures is that Hanoi will believe the United States means to pull back. The other side of this coin is the conviction the President is said to have expressed to several recent visitors that the Communists are beginning to hurt badly and that, therefore, no compromises or concessions are called for.

The President is represented as being in a determined mood, bent on peace through victory. Then if and when Hanoi calls a halt—in effect, surrenders — Johnson is prepared to bind up the wounds with a large-scale program of aid and reconstruction.

THE FLAW in this would seem to be the difficulty, if not the impossibility, of calling off a guerrilla war by formal means from government to government. A fundamental doubt all along has been the degree of control Hanoi exercises over the Vietcong guerrillas. And this doubt is accentuated by the conflict in the South, with Premier Nguyen Cao Ky insisting the National Liberation Front can have no part in negotiation. If Ky is elected President in the summer, as now seems likely, he will remain as an obstacle to even the smallest advance toward an agreed ending of the war.

The widening division here at home over where the blame lies for the failure to move toward a negotiated settlement will not be resolved by silence or by a repetition of stale phrases about appeasement and the need for unity.

President Eases Up On Economic Brakes

NEW YORK (AP)—President Johnson, declaring that "the imbalance in our economy that we were aiming at has been righted," asked Congress this week to withdraw his recommendation for a 6 per cent income tax surcharge.

The investment credit was suspended last fall to help curb inflation stemming from an overheated economy.

Now, Johnson said, it is "clear that the temporary suspension has done the job that we hoped and expected it would do."

LOWER INTEREST

He called attention to reduced interest rates, a normal flow of funds into savings and loan associations, easing of skilled labor shortages and of excessive demand pressures on machinery makers, and a survey showing businesses plan only a 3.9 per cent increase in business capital outlay.

Among the first business leaders to comment on the President's recommendation was Roger M. Blough, chairman of U.S. Steel Corp., who said restoration of the investment tax credit would "certainly be beneficial to the whole economy."

"By stimulating investment in new facilities the restoration of the tax credit would work to enlarge the supply of goods, increase productive efficiency and thus tend to relieve possible inflationary pressures," he added. "Congress, I believe, should act promptly on this proposal."

SLOWER FIRST

A slowdown in business spending in the first half of this year and a pickup in the second half, with the net result being a 3.9 per cent gain for the year, was predicted Wednesday by the Commerce Department and the Securities and Exchange Commission.

This increase to an estimated $63 billion would be far smaller than the 16.7 per cent growth to a record $60.63 billion last year.

The survey showed that businesses now expect to spend in the current quarter 1.5 per cent less than they did when the last survey was taken three months earlier, and that their plans for the second quarter have been reduced by 3 per cent.

The report said most major kinds of business plan smaller increases in capital outlays this year than last with a sizable minority planning reductions.

RAILS CUT BACK

Railroads plan a 25.3 per cent cutback to $1.48 billion after a 14.2 per cent increase in 1966. All manufacturers plan a 3.5 per cent increase to $27.94 billion after a 20.2 per cent increase last year.

The total includes decreases planned by the auto and the nonautomotive-transport - goods makers, the stone, clay and glass, the textile and the miscellaneous durable and nondurable goods groupings.

The National Association of Purchasing Agents reported new ordering by its members declined in February from the January level. This cut into production and shortened the lead time on deliveries for the first time in a year.

The association's survey showed that only 18 per cent of its members in February boosted their ordering from January, compared with the 23 per cent that had noted an increase in January from December. The percentage reporting higher orders last month was the slimmest since the end of the 1960-61 recession.

MORE HOUSING

The Federal National Mortgage Association said the aid it will make available to the housing industry will provide financing for about 27,000 units.

President Johnson had announced earlier that the agency will make $380 million available for special mortgage aid and increase the price it pays for mortgages bought from private lenders.

The agency said $300 million of the funds will be used to purchase mortgages for new single-family low and moderate cost housing.

The Federal Home Loan Bank of Chicago cut the interest rates on loans to member savings and loan associations to 5½ per cent from 5¾ per cent. John E. Stipp, president, said the new rate should help members in financing the housing market.

Most major retail chains posted modest sales gains in February from a year earlier. They included Sears, Roebuck & Co., 3.7 per cent, F. W. Woolworth Co., 4.2 per cent, W. T. Grant Co., 1.16 per cent, Gamble-Skogmo, Inc., 5 per cent, and S. S. Kresge Co., 17.6 per cent. Montgomery Ward & Co. reported a decline of 2.8 per cent.

GIDDAP! WHOA!

- Business leaders applaud return of credit
- Slower purchasing, lower interest indicates slackening
- Fewer businesses boost purchase, most delay expansion
- Housing industry due shot in arm with more mortgage money
- Modest sales gains reported by major chain stores
- Automobile output spurts up, but off last year's pace

What's Bobby's Strategy?

WASHINGTON — Politicians like to talk about the strategy of a would-be candidate for the presidency in either party. Just now, though, they are puzzled by the obvious attempts of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy to carry on a campaign that reflects a break with President Johnson, the leader of his own party.

WHAT IS THE objective of the New York senator? Does he think he can displace President Johnson as the party nominee in 1968? Does he believe that by keeping in the public eye there will be a chance for him to be at the top of the Democratic ticket in 1972? Why would anybody begin campaigning for an election that is more than five years away?

These questions cannot be answered merely by the explanation that constant campaigning means prominence and a gathering of political support in many parts of the country which cannot be achieved by sitting in Washington and making speeches in Congress.

BUT, POLITICALLY speaking, the strategy of Sen. Kennedy is open to considerable questioning by the experts. For one thing, the American people form favorable impressions of a candidate not on the basis of his deviation from his party but on what capacity for leadership he exhibits.

Theoretically, there are votes available on the Vietnam war issue in both parties. There are, however, also a good many Americans who do not believe that the way to handle the problem is by halting the bombing and offering virtually to surrender to the enemy.

A PRESIDENTIAL candidate is built up by his viewpoint not on one issue but on many issues. People want to know, for instance, where he stands on questions that affect the pocketbook. A view may not always be on the front page.

Does the New York senator have something else in mind to serve his political ambition — to the 1972 campaign? Is he assuming that in 1968 there is a chance for him to be named vice president? Politicians say this is improbable, if not impossible, because the top man on the ticket dictates, as a rule, who his running mate shall be. Mr. Johnson has again and again in recent months made it clear that he intends to stand by Vice President Humphrey as his running mate in 1968.

ONE EXPLANATION given for Sen. Kennedy's cross - country and international stumping is that he feels he is regarded by many voters as rather young and inexperienced. He wants the people to get better acquainted with him.

Sen. Kennedy has a right to portray himself as a knowledgeable exponent of policies in international and domestic affairs. But the picture of him which the nation is getting today is that of an individual so ambitious to win the presidential nomination that he is even willing to part company with the leader of his own party, perhaps because the latter is experiencing a decline in popularity according to the public-opinion polls.

THE WHITE House, of course, is cognizant of what Sen. Kennedy is up to, and is not very happy about it. The same is true of many of the leaders of the Democratic party across the country. Prejudices are being formed today that are likely to last. The Republicans would like nothing better some day than to have a man nominated on the Democratic ticket who faces a divided party, because defections from the Democratic ranks are essential to a Republican victory.

Scabies Caused By Burrowing Parasites

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: Can you give me information about scabies or acariasis? I think I had it, and used sulphur mixed with petroleum jelly on my skin, and also boiled clothing, sheets, etc., with a disinfectant. What sort of bug causes this? — E. J.

Acariasis is an attack of my kind of mites; scabies is infestation with the mite called Sarcoptes scabiei. The female of this tiny parasite burrows into the outer layers of the skin, which is problem enough but then she lays eggs which hatch and tend to congregate around hair roots. A thoroughly unpleasant experience, since the itching is very severe, but if the mites are not destroyed, the patient can't help scratching. Infection, rash and other secondary troubles follow.

It is possible for the secondary inflammation to become so severe that it is difficult to tell what the original trouble was. However, the positive proof is to dig one of the mites out of the skin so it can be identified.

The sulphur mixture mentioned is a version of one of the older sulphur ointments. More effective medications are available today. A very thorough soap and water bath, followed by application of a benzyl benzoate emulsion, or a mixture of that with benzocaine and DDT (which suppresses the itching as well as destroying the mites) is used now. The process should be repeated again the next morning, but any applications after that should not be done except with specific permission from your doctor, since repeated use irritates the skin and starts a new kind of trouble.

Every particle of skin from the neck down should be covered, and the mites have a way of hiding in folds of skin. I say from the neck down because, except in babies, the mites do not attack the face.

Since the mites pass from person to person, it is quite common for an entire family to be infested, and all must get rid of the pests to avoid a new outbreak. Any sign of the mites burrowing again should of course bring instant attention.

Ordinary laundering of clothing and bedding, is sufficient. They need not be boiled and disinfected. Dry cleaning or thorough ironing will destroy the mites in other garments.

Dear Dr. Molner. My husband told me that hair and fingernails keep growing after a person is dead. I don't see how this is possible, but the thought bothers me as I recently lost my mother and a baby son. — MRS. D. G.

It is not true. It is an old belief which came about because the tissues relax and shrink slightly after death.

* * *

Dear Dr. Molner: I have heard lately of a drug that is very successful in arresting tuberculosis, and also that it is very expensive. Can you give me any information? — C. W.

I don't know of anything which fits that description. At least three drugs are very effective but have now been in use for years. Streptomycin in conjunction with PAS (para-amino - salicylic acid) is widely used. Several varieites of the isoniazids (isonicotinic acid hydrazide) have come into use a little more recently. I wouldn't regard them as exceptionally expensive.

* * *

Dear Dr. Molner: I am very concerned about the danger of raw eggs. How about soft-boiled eggs? — MRS. J. L.

Either soft - boiling or poaching is the equivalent of pasteurizing them, which destroys harmful bacteria if any are present. Eat such eggs without fear.

"Tips On How to Stop Smoking," by Dr. Molner, will help you give up the habit. To receive a copy of the booklet, write to Dr. Molner in care of The Herald, enclosing with your request 10 cents in coin and a long, self - addressed, stamped envelope.

Billy Graham

I attend church occasionally, and it seems that every time I go the pastor is begging for money. I get so sick of the church harping on money. Is it right for a church to talk about money all the time? I. P.

It is probable that you go to church so seldom that you just happen to be there on "budget" Sunday which is usually once a year. No, it is not proper for a church to talk about money all the time, but did it ever occur to you that if church people paid the Lord what they owed Him, the pastor would never be forced to mention money from the pulpit? Actually, when a church has to emphasize "giving," it is a symptom of a spiritually poor church. When people are in good spiritual health they give generously. But when they become spiritually ill, the first place it strikes them is in their pocketbook. When a fellow is in love, nothing is too good for the object of his affections, but when he loses that love, his desire to share goes with it.

So when you tell me that your church has to "beg" for money, you are really telling me the state of your church, and yourself. Marriage counselors say that "finances" is one of the symptoms of marriage trouble, and the same thing is true in the church. There are few financial problems when we love the Lord with all our soul, mind and strength.

Tiny Oysters

MIAMI (AP) — Cubans like small oysters. Exiles here found only big ones until enterprising Pedro M. Martinez located a supply source in Maryland's Chesapeake Bay area.

"Out there the oysters are so big that people throw away the little ones," Martinez reported. "So I arrange for the rejects."

As a result, exiles are eating something similar to "ostiones de Sagua" (oysters from Sagua, Cuba, a midget species), to which they were accustomed at home.

They put them in a glass with lime juice, ketchup and hot sauce. No fork needed. Just drink them down.

Winning The War In The Living Room

WASHINGTON — The debate on Vietnam has been escalating along with the fighting, and now it's rare to go to a party and not get into a hot fight over what we should or should not be doing there.

Prof. Heinrich Applebaum, the military analyst of Seventeen magazine, has just written a book titled "How to Fight the Vietnam War in the Living Room." It is the only book written for both doves and hawks and I was happy to interview him about it the other day.

"THIS WAR will not be won in the rice paddies of the Mekong Delta, but rather in the salons and renovated basements of the American home," Applebaum told me.

"How does one start a discussion on the Vietnamese war?"

"The best way is to say 'I agree we shouldn't have been there in the first place, but . . .' It's a perfect opener if you're a hawk and it shows you're willing to concede that the government has made mistakes."

"And if you're a dove?"

"YOUR OPENING line should be 'I'm not for just pulling out and leaving South Vietnam in the lurch, but . . .' This should prove to your listeners that you're a man of reason and you're not going to get emotional about the issue."

"As a hawk, what should you do next?"

"Mention Munich, the domino theory and our commitment to the free world, not necessarily in that order."

"And if you're a dove?"

"TALK ABOUT the stupidity of the French, the naivete of John Foster Dulles and the right for people to have their own revolutions without outside interference from the United States."

"How do you follow it up?"

"You have to quote sources. If you're a hawk, you quote Joe Alsop, Bob Hope, Cardinal Spellman, Barry Goldwater and Time magazine. If you're a dove, you refer to Walter Lippmann's last column, speeches by Sen. Fulbright and Robert F. Kennedy and testimony by Gen. Gavin, Robert Lowell and Joan Baez. Even if they didn't say something, you can always claim they did. No one in the living room is going to be able to check up on you."

"Don't you quote President Johnson, Secretary Dean Rusk or Robert McNamara?"

"IT'S HARDLY worth it. Neither the hawks nor the doves believe anything the people in our government tell them."

"Outsiders always know more," I agreed.

"Now if you see the argument is running down, you can always refer to a book you read on Vietnam. People are very impressed with anyone in the crowd who has read a book and it shows you've gone deeper into the subject than anyone else in the room."

"Any special book?"

"THE BEST one is a title that no one has ever heard of, particularly if it's been written by someone with a foreign name. It will make the other side very mad and he'll have to come up with a book of his own."

"It gets harder as you go along," I said.

"The important thing is to speak with authority and pretend to know what you're talking about."

"But suppose you lose the argument?"

"You can always punch the guy in the nose."

Senate Plans Future Activities For HCJC

By JEAN FANNIN

The Student Senate met Wednesday during activity period and discussed "Jayhawk Day" and "Frontier Days."

Jean Fannin was appointed chairman of a committee to plan "Jayhawk Day." The group will sell radio ads and take over the duties of announcers at radio station KBYG for one day. The date has not yet been decided.

"Frontier Days" would be a week in which HCJC students "retreated" to the old West. Students would dress accordingly to attend classes and events of that week.

The Senate state convention was also discussed. The convention will be held at Pasadena, Tex., April 7-9. San Jacinto College is hosting the meeting this year.

PROGRESS PANORAMA

Members of the Press Club have spent the past two weeks preparing "Progress Panorama," a 12-page supplement issued in conjunction with the Big Spring Herald today.

Club members sold all the ads and wrote all stories included in the supplement. Proceeds will go toward financing the trip to the state convention in Houston, April 13-15.

"Brigadoon" cast and crew members gathered in the Dora Roberts Student Union Building Monday night to watch a televised performance of the musical on the color television located in the SUB.

'BRIGADOON' TICKETS

Tickets for the musical are now on sale and may be purchased from any cast or crew member. Reserved tickets are $2. Tickets at the door will be 75 cents for students and $1.50 for adults.

A special Sunday matinee will be presented March 19 for all HCJC students. The only admission will be an activity card from the college. Curtain rises at 2 p.m.

The two evening performances will begin at 8 o'clock March 20-21.

TENNIS SEASON

Tennis season begins tomorrow at 1 p.m. for the HCJC tennis team when they meet Clarendon there. Miss Anna Smith coaches the team.

Team members are Gloria Garcia, Suzanne Barker, Diane McEwen, Peggy Corley, Joe Bagby, Larry Helton and Randall Romine.

The track team went to Laredo Thursday to attend the annual Border Track Tournament. The boys will return today.

DEFEAT ODESSA

The volleyball girls defeated Odessa 16-14 in an overtime and 14-12 Tuesday night. Suzanne Barker scored nine points to become high pointer for the game.

Sandra Gossett scored seven points. Odessa players Lockride and Womack scored five and four points, respectively.

Members of the Press Club sold pictures Thursday and Friday. Pictures sold were those taken for El Nido, the college newspaper, during the last two years.

Pledges Fraternity

DENTON — Gregg E. Pate of Big Spring is among 229 spring semester pledges to the 11 social fraternities at North Texas State University.

Eighth Graders Tested At Goliad

By LINDA CRAWFORD

All eighth grade students will take achievement tests Tuesday and Wednesday.

These tests are given to students to find out how much they have learned or achieved in each of the subjects that they have taken in school.

The test will also help teachers and parents to know what to expect from the student in his school work. Every student has been asked to bring a library book or other reading material in case he should finish the test early.

All students must bring two number 2 lead pencils with erasers to the testing area. Results of the tests will be received in four - six weeks. These results will be available to the student and his parents.

The Goliad National Junior Honor Society held a meeting Tuesday in the library during second period. Richard Ethun, president of this organization, presided throughout the meeting.

The program consisted of five speeches given by members. Action Drama Of Marines At War Coming To Ritz

In "First to Fight," action drama which opens Thursday at the Ritz Theatre, Warner Bros. has accomplished the difficult movie feat of combining an effective story of war in the South Pacific with a story of young love. The Technicolor-Panavision release stars Chad Everett, Marilyn Devin, Dean Jagger and Bobby Troup in the leading roles, and co - stars Claude Akins, Gene Hackman, James Best and Norman Alden.

"First to Fight" takes its name from a line in the famous U.S. Marine Corps hymn, "First to fight for right and freedom and to keep our honor clean."

The screenplay of "First to Fight" was written by Gene L. Coons, a Marine sergeant during both Korean War and World War II. The film tells the story of a Marine who becomes a Congressional Medal of Honor winner for heroism on Guadalcanal, then leaves active service to tour the U.S. on a war-bond selling tour. In the course of the tour he also wins a beautiful bride. He returns to duty on Saipan and now must battle himself as well as the Japanese.

The central figure of the story is portrayed by Chad Everett. The handsome six-footer was originally brought to Hollywood to appear in several television dramas. He made his film debut in "Claudelle Inglish." Later, he starred in the "Dakotas" video series and was signed for "Made in Paris," "The Singing Nun" and "Return of the Gunfighter."

Blonde Marilyn Devin is proof that dreams still come true. Three months after reaching Hollywood, the former Queens College mathematics major was able to make her film debut as the love interest in "First to Fight." A screen test won her the role.

After a self - imposed retirement, Dean Jagger returns to the screen world as a Marine commander in "First to Fight." Jagger's acting honors include an Emmy nomination and an Academy Award.

Composer - musician Bobby Troup proves he is also a fine actor in "First to Fight." He portrays a Navy lieutenant with an eye for the ladies. In one scene, Troup plays and sings his own long-time hit song, "Daddy."

The spectacular Guadalcanal and Saipan battle scenes in "First to Fight" were recreated at the Camp Pendleton Marine Base in California and on two locations in the San Fernando Valley. Major Fred A. Kraus, USMCR, a veteran of Saipan and Iwo Jima, served as technical adviser.

President Franklin D. Roosevelt is portrayed in "First to Fight" by Stephen Roberts, an actor who previously depicted FDR on the stage in "Sunrise at Campobello."

Two Congressional Medal of Honor winners from California, Thomas A. Pope and Jackson C. Pharris, loaned their medals for a scene in "First to Fight." Pope won his in World War I and Pharris earned his in World War II.

Auctioneer Calls Modern Art Immoral

By EDWARD S. KITCH
Associated Press Writer

Modern art is immoral.

This is the opinion of a Chicago art auctioneer who frequently delivers genuine Seurats, Modiglianis, Cezannes and Gauguins to the highest bidders.

Jack Shore, 61, operates an art gallery that his father, a former Shakespearean actor, started in 1906.

He has auctioned rare art objects, antique furniture and famous paintings for 40 years.

He says today's artist is in too much of a hurry to create enduring work.

"The academies and universities are filled with students of great ability," he said in an interview.

"But unfortunately they are involved in the process of producing works with the sole intent of how much money they can get for their work."

Shore said we are living in a degenerate age in reference to modern art. This is because the student of today, although possessing great innate ability, lacks the moral power to master the nude, which, according to his philosophy, is the basis for all great painting.

"The tragedy of modern art is the time and the economic element," Shore said.

"I firmly believe that in the dim future, when the world decides not to accept their works of art, which basically I term immoral due to the lack of will power to do better, we will have a new awakening to modern art."

He recently sold several Xavier Cugat paintings with bidding going as high as $500 apiece for two Cugats. Cugat is an outstanding caricaturist.

'Wizard Of Oz'

Cindy Wade's portrayal of the Cowardly Lion seems sufficient here to scare the Wizard of Oz, played by Joel Dyer, upcoming Big Spring Little Theatre production. Orbison's Trademark Came When He Forgot His Glasses

By MARY CAMPBELL
AP Newsfeatures Writer

How does a singer adopt a "trademark"? Often, like Roy Orbison, and his sunglasses and his motorcycle, he adopts a trademark without knowing that is what he's doing.

In 1963, Roy flew to Alabama to appear and left his glasses on the plane. He had to go directly from there to England for a three-week tour, so he put on his prescription sunglasses. The tour was called "The Beatles-Roy Orbison Show," and so many pictures were taken—Roy always in sunglasses — that he decided to keep wearing them back in the United States.

Roy recalls that when he was recording for Sun Records, Elvis Presley sold his motorcycle to one of the young men at the Sun studio. "I rode it one evening and all the next day," Roy says, "and I decided I needed one.

"Riding a motorcycle gives you the feeling that fast cars, fast boats, water skiing and horseback riding don't quite give you. It's something like horseback riding, but I hate to run an animal like that. I'd rather have it be a machine you can repair.

"The other day I rode a racing machine. I enjoyed it, but it's probably not for me. It seems to take a special breed to do trick riding and racing. It's their one love, where mine would be music."

Roy is just back from a tour in England. This summer he'll make a U.S. tour and then act and sing in his first movie, "The Fastest Guitar in the West." After recording for Sun, RCA and Monument (five years), last summer he signed with MGM to make records and movies. He has written more than a half dozen songs which he'll sing in "Fastest Guitar."

A record single, "Twinkle Toes," currently is on the charts.

Roy learned to play guitar at age six in Vernon, Tex., so that he could stay up past his bedtime. "Relatives and friends who came to our house would have musical jam sessions, and after I could play, they let me stay up a little later than normal.

"Then I couldn't put the guitar down. I did set it in the closet for football, but I always went back to it. It was a comfort to hold a guitar and play it. I formed a band to earn enough money to get through college."

Michael Caine Stars In 'Alfie'

"I knew 'Alfie' long before I ever knew I was going to star in the film," Michael Caine admitted to an interviewer in London recently. "I just wish I'd have known earlier that I was going to do it. It would have made things a lot easier."

Easier, perhaps, but hardly better, as you'll be able to see when "Alfie," in Technicolor and Techniscope, opens today at the Ritz heatre.

"I was sharing a flat with my old buddy Terence Stamp," Caine explained. "And when he learned he was going to star in 'Alfie' on Broadway, who else would he turn to in order to help him get the part. So, I worked on it with him until he was perfect.

MICHAEL CAINE

"But look what happened to me. I probably got to know 'Alfie' better than anyone who was in it. I got to know every part in the play, every part except the lead. So when I was signed for the film, I knew all the lines and all the characters except my own.

"It's a good thing they changed the play when they turned it into a film, or I might have been in trouble. I might have stepped out of character and into some other part at any time. And that would have been downright embarrassing. Almost all the other parts belong to the 'birds.'

"Luckily for me, the film is much different from the play and I think it's much better. I wouldn't have wanted to do the play script as a film. I think it emphasized all the wrong things. It was like a smutty joke that didn't come off.

"But the film is something entirely different," Caine added. "It's now sort of what I'd call a comedy of morality. Bernard Shaw said if you want to get a message over, get it over with a laugh. And I think 'Alfie' does that now. It's the kind of film you just can't ignore.

"I also think screen writer Bill Naughton and director Lewis Gilbert have really developed the character. In the play, he had no dimension, he wasn't even immoral. Now it's the kind of part it's a pleasure to sink my teeth into."

Connie Stars In Lewis Film

Connie Stevens, who has been the ingenue charmer with many of Hollywood's big stars, feels co-starring with Jerry Lewis in "Way . . . Way Out" makes her a top entry in the comedy category. This space age comedy, in Cinemascope and DeLuxe Color, comes to the Jet Theatre on Wednesday.

The exotic isles of the South Pacific, immortalized by Gauguin, Melvillé, Maugham and Michener, can be your destination this summer if you join the fabulous 42-day cruise tour to be sponsored by The Herald.

The Texas tour group will cruise on the 21,000-ton Matson liner Monterey to the South Seas, New Zealand and Australia, sailing from Los Angeles Harbor August 15.

How about these for ports of call? Bora Bora, Tahiti, Rarotonga, Auckland, Sydney, Noumea, Suva, Niuafo'ou (better known as "Tin Can Island"), Pago Pago, Honolulu and Hilo, Hawaii. The visit to Hilo is an "extra" for this special cruise.

All this and free bridge lessons at sea from a nationally-known bridge expert.

The traveling Texans will fly to Los Angeles August 15 on American Airlines or Continental Airlines jets. They will sail the same night at 10 o'clock on the sleek, white-hulled SS. Monterey, with Capt. Malcolm Peters in command.

The Monterey will spend a day at Bora Bora, two in Tahiti, half a day at Rarotonga in the Cook Islands, a day and a half in Auckland, three in Sydney, one in Noumea, New Caledonia, one in Suva, Fiji, half a day off "Tin Can Island" for the unique mail transfer, and a day each in Samoa, Honolulu and Hilo.

Sightseeing tours will be available by motor coach or private automobile in each port.

Days at sea will be filled with activities ranging from dance lessons and deck sports to travel talks, movies and costume parties. A special feature will be complimentary bridge lessons by Ernest Rovere, San Francisco bridge author, columnist and teacher. There will be classes for beginners and advanced bridge players.

"SEAGOING CITY"

The Monterey, a busy and complex "seagoing city," has a gift shop, beauty and barber shops, a tailor shop, print and photo shops and a medical staff. The ship also publishes a daily newspaper, "The Polynesian."

Bora Bora, the first port of call, is considered by many travelers to be the most beautiful island in the Pacific. The peaceful isle, with its quaint village and breathtaking scenery, provides an ideal gateway to the entire panorama of the South Pacific.

Only 16 hours away, by ship, is Tahiti. Papeete, the bustling port city, has been called "Paris with bare feet." It is a colorful combination of Polynesia and France, with the liveliest night life in the South Pacific. Tahiti, itself, retains the seductive beauty and charm that lured visitors for hundreds of years.

COMING ABOARD

After Tahiti, the Monterey makes an off-port call at Rarotonga, one of the Cook Islands. Since Rarotonga has no harbor facilities, the island, in effect, comes out to the ship, with islanders climbing aboard to sell their wares and entertain the passengers with songs and dances.

Five days later it's Auckland, New Zealand. New Zealand is a land of scenic contrasts — from dense forests and sunny plains to striking fjord-lands and bubbling geysers. New Zealand also offers some of the finest fishing and hunting in the world.

Next comes Sydney, Australia, an expanding cosmopolitan city of nearly three million people. Sydney has many attractions including magnificent ocean beaches and one of the world's great zoos, Taronga Park Zoo. Sydney burgeons with excellent restaurants and entertainment spots, reflecting the infusion of Europeans since World War II.

Noumea, New Caledonia, the Monterey's first port northbound, has colorful French restaurants, sparkling beaches and a remarkable aquarium which features a vast assortment of tropical fish and marine life, including "living" coral.

The British Crown Colony of Fiji is the next stop as the Monterey docks in Suva. The busy port, with its pot-pourri of bushy-haired Fijians, sari-clad Indians, Chinese and Europeans, is a fascinating place to visit, and the shopping for souvenirs and native handicraft is unsurpassed in the Pacific.

Pago Pago, Samoa, has a magnificent steep-walled harbor, once a volcanic crater, covered with lush greenery. Samoan villages, with their traditional open-sided thatched huts, are most photogenic.

Next comes Honolulu, then Hilo, the latter a "bonus" stop added for this cruise. Passengers will visit such Honolulu landmarks as Pearl Harbor, Diamond Head and Waikiki Beach, then cruise to Hilo on the "Big Island" of Hawaii for more sightseeing. Attractions here range from periodically-active volcanoes Mauna Loa and Kilauea to soothing waterfalls and Hilo's famed orchid center.

A delightful feature of the cruise will be the absence of repeated baggage handling. You simply unpack when boarding the Monterey in Los Angeles Harbor and don't have to think about packing again until the liner returns to San Francisco Sept. 25. The group will jet home to Texas the same day.

Four Hawks All-League; Team Third In Region

Four members of the HCJC team were named to the Western Junior College Conference all-star basketball team chosen by the coaches.

The four Hawks honored were Lee Leonard, Bill Sinches, Jack Hosley, and Leon Smith.

HCJC won the WJCC championship with a 12-2 record, edging Odessa by one game.

The Jayhawks won third place in the Region V basketball tournament in Amarillo, Saturday night, March 4, by defeating Odessa College 75-71.

The Jayhawk Queens Basketball team had a creditable record for the season with a 14-7, win-loss record.

Outstanding forwards for the Queens were Jody Dodd, 6-0, Forsan; Patsy Jones, 5-10, Iva; and Sidney Black, 5-9, High Island. Guards Sandra Gossett, 5-8, West Orange; Patsy Gooch, 5-6, Forsan; and Alberta Demerson, 5-9, Lamesa, have credited the Queens on defense.

Miss Juanita Sheppard, a graduate of Texas Women's University, Denton, is the team mentor. Lawanda Zant was the team manager.

The HCJC track team wound up in second place with 32 points against TCU's 33 points in the freshman - junior college division of the Southwestern Recreational Track and Field meet in Fort Worth, Saturday, March 4.

A bad break in the sprint relay cost HCJC the first place prize, as Dee Fletcher, running the third leg on HCJC's 440-yard relay team, developed a cramp as he neared the pass-off to Lynwood Wright. The Hawks lost a 10-yard lead they had been maintaining, and they finished fourth in the relay.

HCJC entries won first places in the pole vault and 100-yard dash.

Hawks Place Third

The Hawk basketball season was climaxed by a third place win in the Region V Basketball Tournament. Pictured competing for the ball are Hawk Henry Willis and an Odessa cager.

College Administrators

Mr. B. M. Keese, registrar, and Dr. Dawson DeViney, administrative dean, look at plans for the new science and library building held by Dr. W. A. Hunt, HCJC president, and Mr. Ben Johnson, instructional dean.

College Doors Opened To Students In 1947

Howard County Junior College opened its doors Friday morning, Sept. 30, 1946, temporarily housed in the hospital area of the former Army-Air Force Bombardier School, where Webb Air Force Base is now located.

Now on its own 100-acre site, the physical plant consists of an administration-classroom building which also houses the library, a science building, auditorium, gymnasium, student union building, practical arts building, green house, music building and dormitories for men and women.

UNDER CONSTRUCTION

Presently under construction are a new library and science building which the contractor hopes to turn over to the college by the end of this semester. He has promised the library will be ready for use by Wednesday, March 15.

The Dora Roberts Student Union Building, more informally referred to as the SUB, houses the cafeteria, snack bar, bookstore and El Nido and Jayhawker offices. The SUB also provides space for community and campus club meetings and a recreation area which includes a color television and billiards and ping pong tables.

Dormitory accommodations for out-of-town students were provided in September of 1959. All students from out of town who do not reside with relatives must reside in the college dormitories.

BOARD OF TRUSTEES

The Board of Trustees offers full tuition scholarships to all students certified valedictorians of their graduating classes of accredited Texas high schools. In order to be eligible, the applicant's name must be on record in the Texas Department of Education in Austin and the scholarship must be claimed for the fall semester following spring graduation from high school.

This college is fully accredited by the Southern Association of Colleges. HCJC offers an associate in arts degree and an applied arts diploma.

Joe Shafer At H-SU Inauguration

Mr. Joe Shafer, piano instructor at HCJC, was asked by the University of Oregon to represent that college at the presidential inauguration at Hardin-Simmons University Nov. 7.

Mr. Shafer, an outstanding alumnus of Oregon State, represented his alma mater when Dr. Elwin L. Skiles was inaugurated at H-SU.

Dr. Arthur S. Flemming, president of Oregon State, asked Mr. Shafer to attend in his place because it was impossible for him to make the trip.

Staffs Organize HCJC Press Club

Publications on the HCJC campus include the Jayhawker, the college annual, El Nido, the newspaper, and Kaleidoscope, a literary magazine.

The staff of the Jayhawker consists of Linda Taylor, editor; Suzanne Whatley, assistant editor; Donnie Simpson, photographer; Sandra Maxwell, staff member; and J. T. Clements, sponsor.

The El Nido staff is made up of Jean Fannin, editor; Pat Thompson and Mary Newton, page editors; Rita Richardson, feature editor; Vicki Smith, artist; Tricia Statser, business manager; Alan Doelp, Vaughn Powell, Mike Mullins, photographers; Jackie Poole, Vicki Cofer, Clark Frayser, advertising; Jody Dodd, sports; Don and David Bradford, news; and Dal Herring, advisor.

The Kaleidoscope at present is inactive.

PRESS CLUB

El Nido and Jayhawker staffs organized a Press Club, elected officers, and approved a constitution Dec. 7. Tricia Statser was elected president, Linda Taylor, secretary; Rita Richardson, treasurer; and Carolyn Selby, parliamentarian. Publications sponsors serve as advisors.

The newly - formed club will sponsor a delegation to the Texas Intercollegiate Press Association convention in Houston, April 12-16. Funds from this supplement will help finance the trip and will provide scholarships for future journalism students.

Publications sent representatives to the Texas Junior College Press Association annual convention at Texas A&M University and J-DAY at Texas Tech earlier in the year.

JOURNALISM EXPANDS

The journalism program extanded its instructional program in the fall, offering for the first time a class for students with previous experience in news writing.

This section deals with the practical aspects of newspaper production and students perform editorial and layout duties for the paper.

The beginning section is introduced to the various media of the journalism profession, as well as studying the theory of news writing. The class takes several field trips each semester to local printing, newspaper, and broadcast facilities.

Plans are now being made for a photography course to be offered next year, according to Dal Herring.

Tenure Awards Given At Traditional Banquet

Tenure awards were presented to administrators, faculty and board members Dec. 5 to begin another tradition on the HCJC campus.

In what is scheduled to become an annual affair, the program spotlighted three individuals who have had longest tenure. Dr. P. W. Malone, who was on the original board and who has had 21 years association with the college, and Mr. Horace Garrett, board president and a board member for 18 years, received plaques as well as diamond pins.

Mr. J. T. Clements, head of the Science Department, received his diamond pin and a cash award of $250 from Dr. W. A. Hunt, president of the college.

"There is no way in which we can reward a faculty member like Mr. Clements," said Dr. Hunt. "We can only give a token of appreciation of the love and esteem with which the board and the administration hold him."

Five-year gold pins, 10-year pins with a ruby, 15-year pins with an emerald and 20-year pins with a diamond, together with the cash award were made possible out of independent funds.

Decorations for the colorful dinner affair at the Dora Roberts Student Union Building were prepared by Mr. and Mrs. Gary Grant.

Dr. Hunt said special tributes to Dr. Malone and Garrett for their long service and for guiding the college through its building programs. Dr. Malone, like Garrett, has served as president of the board.

Awards included:

Five years—Mrs. Ruby Jo Bayne, Messrs. John M. Bayne, E. L. Kelley, Martin W. Landers, D. E. Travis, Verdell J. Turner, Kenneth J. Roach and Misses Gladys Burnham, Movelda Rhine, and Anna Smith.

Ten years — Dean Ben F. Johnson, Mr. Marshall R. Box, Mr. L. L. Lewis, Mrs. Reva Adams, Mrs. Dean Box, Miss Elizabeth Daniel, Mrs. Louise Brown, Mrs. Beulah Johnson and Miss Jan Dunagan.

J. T. CLEMENTS

Officials Plan Campus Car Registration

"HCJC is not an island but a part of Big Spring. The same laws apply," said Dr. Dawson DeViney, administrative dean, in explanation of the new parking permits.

Dormitory students were the only students required to register their cars last semester. Since the majority of HCJC students commute from their homes, most violators were not registered and Dr. DeViney had to go to county officials to learn the names of the persons to whom the cars were registered.

There will not be a big change in the way violators are treated, according to Dr. DeViney. Violators will be issued 3-5 warnings before they will be called in for disciplinary action.

All cars that will be parked on campus must be registered according to Dr. DeViney. Parking permits must be displayed on the windshields in front of the steering wheels. A student who fails to register his car or display the permit properly may be changed with a violation.

Other violations for which students may be penalized are speeding (on campus speed limit is 20 mph), running stop signs, parking in reserved zones or parking zones, parking on lawns, double parking or backing into parking spaces.

'Old 300'

Dr. W. A. Hunt and Mayor George Zachariah look on as Col. A. F. Taute from Webb AFB hands over transfer papers of a jet trainer to go to the HCJC campus.

Campus Boasts Jet As Rare Attraction

The City of Big Spring became the proud owner and HCJC the possessor of "Old 300", a Lockheed T-33 Jet Trainer (T-Bird) from Webb Air Force Base, Feb. 24, 1964.

The transfer from Webb AFB across town to the college campus, where the plane now reposes, was made on a dreary, wet, February morning in 1964. Crews towed it proudly through the heart of downtown, along Fourth Street to Birdwell Lane, and then to College Avenue to make its final "bank" into the dedication site.

The T-Bird has a wing span of 42 feet, stands 11½ feet high, has a fuselage length of 38 feet, and weighs 8,500 pounds with all equipment removed.

A modified version of the famous F-189 "Shooting Star," it was utilized at four bases of the Air Training Command in the basic phase of undergraduate pilot training and in jet transition courses for rated pilots.

6,000 HOURS

"Old 300" logged 6,000 hours and five minutes flying time and was airborne 7,238 times, the last being a 35-minute flight Aug. 31, 1961. It went into service at Webb AFB, Feb. 25, 1952.

The T-Bird is used by many friendly nations throughout the world; approximately nine out of ten foreign jet pilots have flown the T-33. The aircraft is powered by an Allison J-33 engine, which gives it a 600 mile-per-hour top speed and a maximum altitude of 47,000 feet.

She was given a permanent resting place on campus in a 10-minute ceremony when Mayor George Zachariah signed official government papers completing the transfer of ownership.

"It is with a great deal of pleasure that I present 'Old 300' to the City of Big Spring," Col. A. F. Taute, Wing Commander, said at the ceremony.

"The transfer forms will be passed on to federal archives. The accident - free hours the trainer has flown—some of them my own—will be remembered by all who look at her in the future."

"This aircraft stands as a symbol of what gallant men, with good educational backgrounds, have done," declared Dr. W. A. Hunt, HCJC president.

"With genuine respect for those men, and for those who have flown the T-33, we accept with great pride."

Last year the plane was completely repainted under the supervision of Dr. Dawson DeViney, administrative dean, and the Circle K Club. Webb AFB furnished men to help with the job, but HCJC is solely responsible for the plane's upkeep.

Legislature Hears Request

The junior colleges of Texas received one of their warmest receptions as they presented their college budget request to the state legislative appropriations committee, according to Dr. W. A. Hunt, HCJC president.

Dr. Hunt is the chairman of the junior colleges' committee for presenting requests to the legislature, and several weeks ago he appeared before the House and Senate to discuss his findings and recommendations.

The present issue before the appropriations committee is that the public junior colleges are asking the state to assume the cost of instructional salaries. Their support from the state in the past has been about half that of the support received by senior colleges on a per capita basis.

Student Government Constitution Changed

The name of the Student Government Association was changed officially to Student Senate Oct 21, 1966, by a student election at HCJC.

JERRY PEURIFOY

Members of the SGA voted last spring to write a new constitution, which was approved Sept. 19 by the SGA.

Major changes in the new constitution included a change in the name from Student Government Association to Student Senate, with representatives being called senators, and the number of senators being determined by the number of students enrolled each fall, with one senator for each 100 students per class.

SENATE OFFICERS

Jerry Peurifoy was elected president last spring and Ray Graves was named vice president. Suzanne Barker was elected secretary in September when Cherry Wright, elected to the post last spring, did not re-enroll at HCJC for the fall semester.

Penny Frazier was elected by the senators to the post of treasurer Wednesday, March 1, when Linda Carroll, also elected last spring, failed to re-enroll for this spring semester.

CANDIDATES

Candidates for student senate offices must already have a minimum of nine hours and at least a "C" average, which limits the position to sophomores. Candidates must submit a petition signed by 25 students to Dean Dawson DeViney for qualification.

College Has Busy Season This Year

The HCJC choir has increased from a membership of 29 the first semester to a total of 42 this semester. Along with an increase in numbers there has been an increase in the number of performances.

The first performance of the year was at Stanton for the Federated Music Clubs of America. Other appearances included a performance for the Tenure Awards Banquet held at the college, and a noon showing for the Kiwanis Club at the Settles Hotel downtown.

Combining with the first Methodist Church choir under the direction of Mr. Van Hale, the HCJC choir presented Handel's "Messiah" which was well received by the community.

CHRISTMAS CONCERT

An unusual Christmas concert in which the choir abandoned the traditional Christmas carols and presented some contemporary numbers added to the choir's reputation and standing in the community. This ended the first semester on an encouraging note.

The choral department is now working on the production of "Brigadoon," a musical being presented at the college March 20-21. Members of the choir and drama classes as well as numerous talented persons from the community are combining forces to make "Brigadoon" a success.

Choir Practice

Choir students are currently practicing for the upcoming musical "Brigadoon" to be presented March 20-21 at the college. Shown rehearsing are Dana Rosene, Roger Kendrix, Van C. Hale, choir director; Sheryl Gambill, William Perkins and Darlene Thompson.

Performers Stage Varied Productions

"The Man Who Came to Dinner" was presented Nov. 17-18 as the first production of the season.

The three-act comedy by Moss Hart and George S. Kaufman is centered around "portly Sheridan Whiteside — critic, lecturer, wit, radio orator, and intimate friend of the great and near-great — who finds his celebrated wisdom no weapon with which to combat an 'injured' hip."

The Falstafffan Mr. Whiteside, traveling across the country on one of his annual lecture tours, meets his waterloo in the shape of a small piece of ice on the doorstep of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest W. Stanley.

RULES HOUSEHOLD

Whiteside, confined to a wheelchair, has the family at bay, restricting them to their own upstairs and backstairs, and treating them like convicts who are "luncheon guests."

Mr. Martin Landers, chairman of the Speech Department, directed the play.

"A Child Is Born" was presented for the patients of the Big Spring State Hospital Dec. 13.

The play, written by Stephen Vincent Benet, is "a modern drama of the nativity. It is a look into the simple and yet earthshaking events around the birth of Christ.

The Drama and Music Departments are joining forces with local talent to bring the musical comedy "Brigadoon" to campus on March 20-21 at 8 p.m. in the HCJC auditorium.

"Brigadoon" was Lerner and Loewe's first big hit and has been produced more often than any other Broadway musical. The score contains such popular songs as "It's Almost Like Being in Love," "Come To Me, Bend To Me," and "Heather on the Hill."

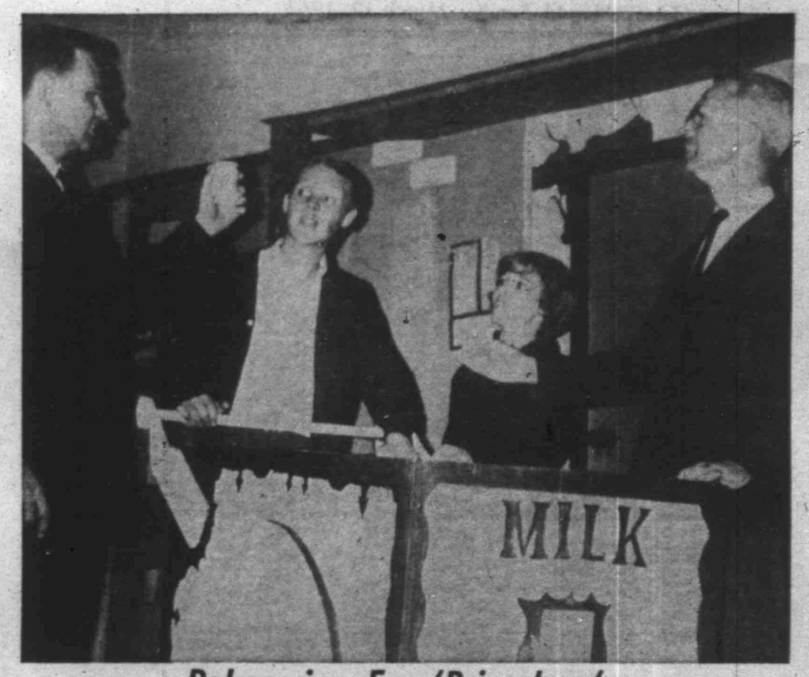
SCOTTISH VILLAGE

The story is about a small village in the Scottish Highlands. Due to a miracle wrought 200 years earlier, the township of Brigadoon goes to sleep one night and wakes up the next morning 100 years later in time.

The plot begins when two American hunters, Tommy Albright and Jeff Douglass, happen to be on hand for the once-in-a-century appearance of the town. The two young men become involved with the charm of the 18th century village and its townspeople.

Tommy falls in love with a young lass and is faced with the decision of whether to live in a fairytale existence in Brigadoon with the girl he loves or return to the reality of the 20th century.

Tickets will be sold in advance at 75 cents for students not enrolled at HCJC, $1.50 for adults and $2 for reserved seats. No admission will be charged for HCJC students possessing activity cards.



Rehearsing For 'Brigadoon'

The first musical ever presented at HCJC, "Brigadoon," is scheduled for March 20-21. A special Sunday matinee has been scheduled for 2 p.m. March 19 for HCJC students only. The musical is being presented by the combined Drama and Music Departments. James Stevens, Clark Frayser, Rita Richardson and Mr. Kenneth Roach, college librarian, are shown in rehearsal.

Various Divisions State Purpose Of Instruction

HCJC offers courses in a number of fields. There are twelve divisions of instruction. Listed below are the aims and instructors for five of the twelve divisions.

The particular purpose of the Science Department is to provide aid for students planning science majors.

The science division teaching staff consists of Mr. J. T. Clements, chairman of physical sciences; Miss Gladys Burnham, biological sciences; Mr. Paul Ausmus, biology and chemistry instuctor; Mr. Gary Sims, physics and chemistry instructor; and Mr. E. Lee Thackrey, geology instructor.

MATHEMATICS

The Mathematics Department lists as its aims the preparation of technical students for work in their special fields, and the teaching of its subjects as a practical and cultural part of general education.

Mr. L. L. Lewis is chairman of the Mathematics Department. Mr. Verdell Turner and Mr. Robert Bradberry also teach math courses.

Chairman of the Social Science Department is Mr. Bob Smith. Mr. Larry Reese, Mr. Leslie L. Kelly, and Mr. David King are his associates.

WAFB Program Aids Enlisted Men

Enlisted men from Webb Air Force Base attend HCJC as members of Operation Bootstrap. Operation Bootstrap, officially the Bootstrap Tuition Assistance Program, is designed to enable servicemen to improve their education. Three-fourths of a participant's tuition is paid by the federal government presently. In past years the amount has varied.

Webb AFB furnishes a free bus to and from HCJC for participants. Also, the Central Base Funds refunds that part of his tuition a man has paid if he earns two consecutive A's.

REQUIREMENTS

Several requirements must be met before a man is allowed to take part. The classes he is enrolled in must not interfere with his duty hours and at least a C average must be maintained after 12 hours of courses have been taken.

An enlisted man must complete his course before the date of his discharge. Officers must remain in the service two years after completing the semester.

PARTICIPANTS

The participants in this year's program are fewer than those taking part in previous years. There have been as many as 250 Operation Bootstap members at HCJC in the past. The low number presently attending can be attributed mainly to the number of men being sent to Vietnam and the shortness of their stay at Webb, according to both B. M. Keese, registrar, and Jimmy Smith of the Webb AFB Education Office.

Of course, every good thing has its drawbacks, and Operation Bootstap is no exception. Drawbacks to the program exist in lack of study time and possibility that a man will be transferred before the end of the semester.

'EXCELLENT PROGRAM'

"Bootstrap is an excellent program. Any time an airman gets education on his record, it helps toward promotion," says one airman currently attending HCJC.

Operation Bootstrap is not the only program to aid servicemen. As a part of On the Job Training, some 22 men come to HCJC several days a week to improve the skills needed in their jobs.

The course is not affiliated with HCJC and is free and non-credit. Another program is offered for those who participate in Operation Bootstrap.

OFFICER TRAINING

The Airman Education and Commissioning Program is for airmen or NCOs who have credit for 30 semester hours and want to become officers.

To be eligible, a man must pass five tests and go before a board of officers. Those who pass are sent to college and commissioned second lieutenants when they receive their degrees. They must then serve another six years.

Airmen Go To School

Airman 2.C. John W. Davidick and Airman 1.C. Pat Berkley were two of the 99 airmen attending HCJC last semester under the Bootstrap Tuition Assistance Program while they were stationed at Webb Air Force Base. One woman was also enrolled under the education assistance program.

Armed Forces Takes 19 From HCJC Students

Nineteen HCJC students became members of the Armed Forces during the fall semester, according to Mr. B. M. Keese, registrar. Only six were drafted, none of whom were eligible for deferment.

To be eligible for deferment a student must be a freshman enrolled in school, or if he is a sophomore, he must have been in the upper one-half of his freshman class. Of the voluntary enlistments, only one boy ranked in the upper one-half of his class, Mr. Keese said.

Bootstrap students who dropped out of school during the fall semester numbered only 12. Five dropped out for personal reasons, and seven were transferred.

The Vietnam situation has probably been the main cause for the decrease in student enrollments from Webb Air Force Base, he added.

Construction Progresses Rapidly

March 30, 1966, was the scene of the ground breaking of the new science and library buildings on the HCJC campus. Walter Droemer of Giddings Building Company, had the low bid of $754,800 to complete the work on the buildings.

The work was started immediately and by Nov. 7, the building stood near enough completion to have the cornerstone dedication. The Masonic Grand Lodge of Texas participated in this ceremony.

The idea of expansion actualy started in March of 1965 when a 500,000 bond was voted to the college and under the new College Facilities Act, HCJC is eligible for $304,935 in funds. The college has $23,000 put aside for furnishings and it could have some funds available out of a $71,411 general fund balance.

LIBRARY BUILDING

March, 1967 finds the new library in its final completion stage. A new book charging machine, sound - proof typing and conference rooms, and stereo listening tables are some of the latest facilities included in the library.

The present library can seat 80 people; the new plant will be able to accommodate over 200. A small projection room, which can be entered from the outside as well as from inside the library, will be available to teachers wishing to show films.

LIBRARY LECTURES

Kenneth Roach, head librarian, said he plans to use this room in expanding his orientation lectures on library usage to freshman students.

The two sound - proof conference rooms will seat 6-8 students at a time and will be used for group studying on a first - come, first - served basis. The rooms will enable the groups to discuss without disturbing other students in the library.

The two typing rooms are also sound-proof. The typewriters will be coin operated by students using them.

LISTENING TABLES

The listening tables are not enclosed but will have earphones and individual channels.

Also there will be a microfilm reading room. Most back issues of periodicals are on film and the new machine will enable wider usage of the film.

The library has applied for a government grant of $5,000 which the school will have to match. This $10,000 will be used in addition to the regular book budget.

The library will still be able to provide limited community service, according to Roach.

The Very Beginning

It all began in March of 1966 when 1966 student government officers Charles Price, president; Delinda Bradford, secretary; and David Berry, vice president, gathered at the ground breaking ceremony for the new buildings. The library is to be ready Wednesday; the science building, this summer.

Slogan Picked Last Year For College

"HCJC: Steppingstone to the Future" was chosen last year to be the slogan for the college in a contest sponsored by the Student Government Association (whose name has since been changed to Student Senate).

The winning entry was submitted by Don E. McCown, a freshman. He was presented with a $40 gift certificate donated by Hemphill-Wells.

Board Of Trustees Set Budget At $957,703

This year, HCJC has been operating under a $957,703 budget set by the Board of Trustees last August. This compared with a total outlay of $879,127 for the previous year.

Virtually all the increase was represented in salary increases approved last spring for faculty members plus additions to the faculty to care for anticipated enrollment gains.

The tax rate was fixed by the trustees at 60 cents, the maximum, and they divided the levy 45 cents for general operation and 15 cents for debt service.

The student housing system operates solely off revenues it generates and is not included in the budget.

Classes Tour

Each semester the psychology and sociology classes take field trips to the Big Spring State Hospital.

Students tour various wards and treatment centers around the grounds and, on the last several such trips, have witnessed demonstrations of hypnotism by Dr. Preston Harrison.

HCJC Nursing Course

Students in the Licensed Vocational Nursing course taught on the HCJC campus are qualified to take a State Examination after one year's training at Howard County. If they pass this test, they are recognized as L.V.N.s. Left to right are Mrs. Johnnie Amos, instructor; Lillian Mitchell, "Miss Chase," an instructional aid used in the course; Peggy Huckabee, Danie Jo Jordan, Catharine Bebee, and Margaret Stockton.

College Assets Worth $3,233,515

In its first 21 years, HCJC has grown into an institution with assets of $3,233,515.

It owes a total of $1,600,000 on tax ($1,090,000) and revenue ($510,000) bonds, and other pending obligations which run liabilities to $1,626,910. This would indicate an equity of $1,606,605 the college has accumulated in that space of time.

These are but a few of the wealth of facts contained in the annual HCJC audit received recently by the college board from Neil G. Hilliard, CPA, who has audited the college books for several years.

PRINCIPAL ASSETS

Land, buildings and equipment are shown at $2,578,261. Other principal assets are $174,574 cash on hand and in banks, $385,000 time certificates on deposit (this is from sale of bonds for building now under way), $54,466 receivable in delinquent taxes, $19,368 book store inventory, and $19,889 due from other funds.

During the past fiscal year (which ended Aug. 31, 1966) the college had receipts of $899,650. The bulk of this came from local taxes ($345,695), state payments ($251,970), and tuition and fees ($119,620). Other major items of revenue include interest $18,031, dormitory rental $29,851, food charges $54,788, book store sales, $52,574, and student use fees $10,773.

DISBURSEMENTS

The disbursements went like this: Instructional expense $354,551, general and administrative $44,427, general operating $42,664, public service $3,643, library $29,301, plant and ground maintenance, $80,595, auxiliary activities $32,630, dormitory expense (exclusive of debt service) $13,993, food costs $50,286, book store purchases $43,630, bonds retired $64,000, bond interest $47,372, capital outlay $11,936.

The tax bond obligation, including interest, to maturity will be $1,387,379, and the revenue bond obligation (payable solely out of revenues generated by the student housing system) will be $785,580.

SPECIAL FUNDS

The college has a number of other special funds, among them the National Defense Student Loan Fund. Last year it had a $4,115 grant from the federal government, $457 from the college, plus $1,784 repayment of principal and interest by students who had borrowed from it. Loans to students amounted to $9,475, which meant that it put out $3,117 more than it took in.

At the end of the year the fund had $4,458 on hand and $48,596 receivable from loans ($2,875 cancelled for those going into teaching, and $5,318 repaid.) A dozen other extra accounts carried as the special accounts fund, had a total of $18,466 in them. These included student deposits, other scholarship funds, automotive mechanics, LVN fees, police school, etc.

The school also had $77,276 in federal and state supported projects such as auto mechanics, auto body, cooking school, work study programs, etc.

Outstanding Former Students Recognized

Howard Payne College's Tom Carter, who won game scoring honors against Texas A&I and Southwest Texas State College, was named the player of the week in the Lone Star Conference.

Carter, 6-3, senior letterman who came to Howard Payne College from Howard County Junior College, and who hails from Hobbs, N.M., shot 28 points against A&I and put his alma mater in the lead of the conference.

Carter is the most underrated player on our team, says his coach. He is a good team man, a good student and a credit to his school and the Lone Star Conference.

OUTSTANDING WOMEN

Seven former students of HCJC were named in the 1966 edition of Outstanding Young Women of America, according to Mrs. Patrica Bogle, editor.

The students are Sena Goodlett, Big Spring; Janice Hudson, Monahans; Brenda Cleckler, Snyder; Beverly Shockley, Knott; Ann Klepper, Roscoe; Barbara McClanahan, Big Spring; and Susan Watson, Monahans.

These women were selected by the Board of Advisory editors for their outstanding civic endeavors, professional, religious and political contributions.

1965 EDITION

Six HCJC graduates also appeared in the 1965 edition of Outstanding Young Women of America. They are: Sammie McComb, Marilyn McReavy, Carolyn Lewis, Mary Griffin, Wanda Armstrong, and Kay Crownover.

Arlen White, a former student of Howard County Junior College, has returned to this area after finishing his degree program. He is now the head coach of the Sands Mustangs, in Ackerly.

His basketball team recently represented its district at the state tournament in Austin.

Enrollment Up From Spring '66

Spring registration ended with an increase of 30 students over the total of the spring of 1966. A grand total of 865 students, including a more than expected number of freshmen, were registered, according to B. M. Keese, registrar.

It takes little study to understand that the key to a successful future is through savings—As we continue to grow and serve the community—we wish you success on your road of expansion.

Financial Program Opens Doors

The general purpose of the Financial Aids Program is to help make the benefits of higher education available to qualified high school graduates of financial need, said Mrs. Johnnie Lou Avery, financial aids officer.

The National Defense Education Act of 1958 provides loans up to $1,000 per year for needy and worthy students who meet certain specifications. Each borrower may not exceed $5,000 for the entire period of his college education.

Special consideration is given to worthy students with high grades who are majoring in education, mathematics, modern foreign languages, engineering and science.

The act further provides that up to 50 per cent of a loan (plus interest) may be cancelled if the borrower becomes a full-time teacher in a public elementary or secondary school. Such cancellation is at a rate of 10 per cent a year up to five years. The borrower must sign a note for this loan.

INTEREST ACCRUES

Repayment is to begin one year after he ceases to be a full-time student. Interest at the rate of three per cent per year accrues after the beginning of the repayment schedule.

Funds for the student Work Study Program are provided by the Economic Opportunity Act of 1964. This program is designed to give students part-time jobs, on the campus or with non-profit organizations in the community, which will enable them to earn their basic college expenses.

Ordinarily, students should be able to earn sufficient money to finance room and board expenses. Wages will be based upon the current college student wage scale. The 1966-67 wage scale is $1.25 per hour.

MAXIMUM HOURS

Work is limited to a maximum of 15 hours per week per student when classes are in session during the fall and spring semesters. During the summer sessions, work is limited to 40 hours per week for students not attending college.

Students must show financial need to participate in this program. Those who participate in the program must either be newly admitted or, if already enrolled, in good standing and in full attendance. They must also demonstrate the capacity for good academic achievement through actual performance.

The Texas Opportunity Plan is available for those students who could not attend college without some type of financial aid. The applicant must be a resident of Texas and have a financial need as determined by the analysis of the financial report on the application.

GOVERNMENT PAYS

The maximum amount available is $1,000 for a nine month period. Interest begins accruing at the rate of six per cent when the note is dated and signed. The Federal Government will pay the interest accruing while the student is enrolled, provided the adjusted annual income is $15,000 or less.

Up to three per cent of the interest will be paid by the federal government upon graduation. The repayment period is not to cover more than five years and minimum monthly payment is not to be less than $15.

No provision is made for cancellation of any part of the loan. The loan is available at any time during the school year.

Under the Educational Opportunity Grant, student eligibility and amount of grant is determined by the expected contribution from the income and assets of the student and his parents.

A grant may not be less than $200 nor more than $800 yearly. The grant must be matched with an equal amount of financial aid to the student from one or more of the following sources: institutional scholarships, tuition waivers, grants, loans and the NDL program.

ELIGIBILITY

A student is eligible if he is a full-time student, a national of the United States or a permanent resident, is capable of maintaining good standing in his course of study and shows financial need.

The college also has a College Short Term Loan fund from which loans may be made to assist worthy students in paying their college expenses. This loan fund is available for tuition and fees on a short-term basis of one semester only.

Interest will be charged at the rate of three per cent (minimum of 50 cents). No credits for college courses will be given until the loan has been repaid.

Any student wishing further information on any of these loans or grants should contact Mrs. Johnnie Lou Avery.

Work-Study Program

Many HCJC students, such as Joe Kelley, College Heights playground director, take advantage of the Federal Work-Study Program in order to continue their college education.
