Tax Burdens—
Smart Fish—
Knew His Pond—
The Staff Poet—

Suits for delinquent taxes are adding considerable sums to the city treasury, with prospects for even greater amounts as the number of suits is increased, according to W. R. Hyer, who receives the tax monies for the city. Such suits have been approached with reluctance by city officials, but since they have been started, should be prosecuted until the city's books are clear. The man who pays his taxes carries the burden of the delinquent property owner.

According to a Record News reader from the Gulf coast country, the strange fish landed at Lake Wichita by Miss Nellie Brewer was of the sheepshead variety. A news story said the fish had "teeth and tongue and ... almost human expression." How is another water problem for the officials. How did a Gulf coast sheepshead get into Lake Wichita, and once there, how could a fish mistake the water of Lake Wichita for the brine of the Gulf of Mexico?

Webster's dictionary says that a sheepshead is either a "sparoid food fish of the Atlantic and Gulf coasts, having broad incisor teeth," or "a silly or stupid person." Perhaps this fish was both. Or perhaps he really knew his water.

A person who signs the name of "Feminine Reader" writes in to ask that something be published about the life of John Self Elliott, Record News Staff poet, and to know if "Mr. Elliott is really on your staff." For this and other readers, the Record News will say that Mr. Elliott is really on "the staff," but in a rather mysterious way. Mr. Elliott mails all his contributions to The Record News, and admits the name is assumed merely for the purpose of writing newspaper poetry.

Publication of the staff poems was started somewhat as an experiment by both The Record News and Mr. Elliott, and both should like to know what Record News readers thing of the contributions. Within the next week or two, Mr. Elliott will start a series of short ballads devoted to the old time cowman, a group of poems which should prove interesting to West Texans.

Discovery of the body of another infant, the fourth baby to be found dead here within two or three months, must be somewhat of a shock to Wichita Falls residents. While such crimes are very difficult to trace, the frequency of their occurrence here within the last few weeks seems to demand a concerted effort on the part of officers. Such things should not go unpunished.

FARMER UNDER HEAVY GUARD AT BENJAMIN

Cooksie Accused Of Slaying Wife In Coroner's Report

EXPECTANT MOTHER

Threats Follow Death Of Former Wichita Woman

BENJAMIN, Texas, May 17.—Sheriff J. W. Melton tonight had placed a strong guard around the Knox county jail, where Melvin Cooksie, Goree farmer, is being held on murder charges in connection with the death of his wife, the former Miss Ollie Naylor of Wichita Falls.

Sheriff Melton said he was prepared for any emergency, after he had received reports of high feeling in the Goree and Bomarton sections, where the Cooksies were well known. Reports of threats and possible violence were discounted by officers, although it is known that feeling near the former home of the woman is bitter.

Charged With Slaying

Cooksie today was directly charged with the slaying of his wife in the verdict of Justice of Peace D. C. Orsborne, who found that Mrs. Cooksie came to her death "from a blow dealt by Melvin Cooksie with an unknown instrument."

Cooksie reported to Judge Osborne Wednesday evening that his wife was dead in the barn at their farm in Knox county, six miles from Goree, as the result of a kick in the head by a mule. He was placed in jail at Benjamin while County Attorney M. F. Billingsley of Munday, along with Goree and Benjamin officials went to the farm.

Fails To Make Bond

A hammer, clotted with human blood, was found near the woman's body, according to the report made at the court of inquiry by Mr. Billingsley, and Cooksie was immediately bound over. He is held in default of $5000 bond. He clings to his first story that his wife was kicked to death by a mule. Mrs. Cooksie was an expectant mother, according to court of inquiry testimony.

Mrs. Cooksie was buried in the Bomarton cemetery, at 11 o'clock Thursday morning, direct from the Cooksie farm home, as there are no undertakers at either Goree or Bomarton.

Her mother, Mrs. Alice Naylor, 1414 Twelfth street, Wichita Falls, arrived with five of her sons at 4 o'clock Thursday morning. She remained at the Cooksie home the remainder of the night and attended the funeral Thursday morning. She is returning immediately to Wichita Falls.

Four of Mrs. Cooksie's sons came to Benjamin to confer with Sheriff Melton.

The coroner's verdict, returned by Judge Osborne, was plain in its terms and said: "Death was from a blow dealt by Melvin Cooksie with an unknown instrument."

Married Three Years Ago

Mrs. Cooksie was a former Wichita Falls girl, and was raised near Bomarton. The Naylor family moved to Wichita Falls in 1919 and then moved back to Bomarton. Later the family returned to Wichita Falls.

Three years ago, Miss Ollie Naylor married Melvin Cooksie. They have one child, a 14 months old girl.

BURRIER JURY PONDERS FATE OF DEFENDANT

Jury Gets Case at 4:30 After Arguments In Murder Trial

BURRIER CONFIDENT

Accused Man Makes Plans For Going Home Early in Day

Special to The Record News.

ARCHER CITY, May 17.—The jury in the case of J. W. Burrier, 48, on trial here for the murder of John V. McDaniel over a year ago, adjourned deliberations about 10 o'clock Wednesday night, and retired without reaching a verdict. An early report is expected Thursday, it was said.

Burrier, a man with a family of 10 children, was so confident today that the verdict would be acquittal that he completed all his preparations to return to his home before the jury had been formally charged late this afternoon by District Judge E. G. Thornton.

Brief Charge.

The case went to the jury at 4:30 this afternoon after nearly four hours of argument by state and defense attorneys, and after Judge Thornton had read a brief charge to the jury. The brevity of the charge resulted from the fact that the only issue to be passed upon is whether or not Burrier was present at the time McDaniel was slain at his filling station 11 miles south of Wichita Falls on the night of May 5, 1927.

S. H. Millwee, Colorado, Texas, and W. E. Forgy, Archer City, defense attorneys, devoted a greater part of their argument to an attempt to prove that state witnesses were so prejudiced as to have been mistaken in identifying Burrier as the man who shot McDaniel. The prosecution, upheld by Ben Allred, district attorney, his assistant, George S. Berry, and Judge R. S. Morrison, county attorney of Archer county, devoted their time to attacking alibis which the defense sought to establish for Burrier through the testimony of more than 30 witnesses, that Burrier was at his home in Lorraine, 200 miles from Archer City, when the slaying occurred.

State Attacked.

Testimony in the case was complete at noon. The defense during the entire forenoon introduced rebuttal witnesses through whom an attack was made on testimony offered by the state the afternoon before. The particular objects of attack was assertions by state witnesses that they had seen Burrier in Wichita Falls on the night of May 4, and the morning of May 5; and testimony of alleged eye witnesses who said they "saw Burrier shoot McDaniel."

LUKE WILSON, OIL AND RANCH KING, IS DEAD

Death Caims Pioneer Figure of North Texas At 85

MADE VAST FORTUNE

Early Settler Grew Rich By Ventures in Land Of District

L. F. (Uncle Luke) Wilson died at 4 o'clock Thursday morning at Kansas City at the age of 85 and today the southwest is mourning the passing of one of its most picturesque and wealthiest pioneer land owners.

Luke Wilson was born poor, worked, exhibited rare courage in business ventures, made fortunes and lost them, refused to quit, died a millionaire.

Fortune in Oil

Oil had no little part in the final and by far the greatest fortune amassed by Uncle Luke. Mercantile interests, banking investments and colonization projects were involved in his earlier business ventures and most of them were successful, but not all. He knew what it was to fail but not to be a failure.

The Peterson pool, Archer county's first oil discovery of consequence, is located on the L. F. Wilson estate. Success of operators in this pool attracted attention to Archer county and the discovery of the Wilmot pool and others followed until at one time the royalty income was said to have approximated $7500 daily.

Uncle Luke's riches alone did not gain his renown, however. He retained his youthful spirit long after he had reached the age which usually denotes a man as old. He got a lot a living out of each of his 85 years. He made friends and held them.

Luke W. McCrory Wichita Falls, trustee of Mr. Wilson's estate, left Wednesday evening for Kansas City.

Funeral services for Mr. Wilson will be held in Kansas City Friday afternoon. From Kansas City his body and that of Mrs. Wilson who died last September, will be forwarded to Charleston, Ill., where joint services and burial will be held.

Makes First Fortune.

"Uncle Luke," as Mr. Wilson was called, came to Texas 40 years ago. He was born in 1842 in Palestine, Ill., and was the sixth of a family of nine. Only one brother, M. B. Wilson of Indianapolis, Ind., survives. After obtaining as much education as was possible to secure in pre-civil war rural Indiana, when he was 20 years of age he went to work for a brother in a store in Charleston, Ind. At Mattoon, Ill., a few years later, he established a store of his own. His business succeeded so well that in 1871 he was one of the founders of the First National bank of Flora, Ill.

After disposing of his interests in Illinois, he moved to Kansas City in 1878, investing his resources in the Kansas City Savings association. Fortune smiled upon Uncle Luke. Kansas City was growing

LOWDEN LAYS CARDS 'FACE UP'

No. 2 in G. O. P. Race For Farm Relief

CHICAGO, May 17. (US)—Former Governor Frank O. Lowden of Illinois, at the present time running No. 2 in the Republican presidential derby, doesn't want the nomination if the party dodges the farm relief issue in its platform.

He returned to Illinois today from the East, where he said he had been importuned by party leaders to forget his plea for an equalization fee in which ever farm relief bill is passed.

"I've no hankering for the kind of fame that comes with an unsuccessful campaign for the presidency," Mr. Lowden declared, intimating that the G. O. P. faces defeat unless the party caters to the farm belt in its planks.

Hard Campaign

"If I am not nominated, my troubles will be over," he continued. "If I am nominated, I shall have a long hard campaign before me, and I have no desire to go through such a campaign with failure at the end.

"If the Republican party is unwilling to meet the farm issue, I don't want the nomination. I hope the president will sign the farm relief bill. It will make it easier for whoever is nominated at Kansas City.

"Agriculture realized the moral and economical wrong of human slavery and joining with business, it formed the Republican party. I feel that there is again a crisis and unless this partnership is maintained now, the candidate named at Kansas City will have a tough road to travel.

He Stands Pat

"The same men who are against the equalization fee, are those who are for a protective tariff, carrying the schedules they want. A farm relief bill without an equalization fee is like a protective tariff without schedules.

"I've been in the East, testifying regarding my campaign expenditures. The people in the East still want me to change my mind about the McNary-Haugen bill. But I will not."

The tank was filled to capacity, officials of the company said. Unofficial estimates placed the value of the oil at about $90,000.

George R. Couper, agent of the Texas Pipeline company here, left Wichita Falls early Wednesday night for Willis Station, near Burkburnett, where a huge company storage tank was reported in flames after lightning, which accompanied a heavy rainfall, had struck in the vicinity.

Asserted Rough Treatment Used By Police in Quizzing Scientist Shamed

WASHINGTON, May 17. (AP)—An "unqualified protest" has been lodged with District Commissioner Dougherty by Secretary Jardine against alleged "third degree" methods used by police in quizzing Leonard W. Kephart, department of agriculture scientist, who is recovering from a mysterious attack upon him here a week ago.

The secretary declared in a letter to the commissioner that these methods have further impaired Kephart's condition. The scientist was abducted and assaulted while on his way to the agriculture department and a few hours later his automobile was found near where E. Percival Wilson, a Washington banker, chased off a man who had kidnapped him at the point of a gun.

Mr. Jardine charged that the police had implied that Kephart was in some way responsible for an attempted abduction of Wilson, some hours after the attack on Kephart. The cabinet officer asserted that it would appear the police in this instance in their zeal to determine the responsibility for the attempted abduction, entirely disregarded not only his (Kephart's) rights as a citizen, but also the fundamentals of ordinary humanitarian consideration."

Senators Snap Out of Snooze at Heflin's Daily Snarl at Al

"What's Country Coming To?" Asks Flannel-Clad Crusader

WASHINGTON, May 17. (UP) Senator Heflin of Alabama spiced his daily senate attack on Governor Smith today with assertions that the Roman Catholic cross and rosary have been placed on some of the government's paper money and that the president's room at the capitol has been done over—in anticipation—he suspects—in the colors of a Roman cardinal.

The senate chamber was warm and oppressive and the two dozen senators present were dozing over montonous routine debate, when the doughty senator from Alabama appeared in white flannel trousers. His daily attack on Governor Smith is coming to be a reliable source of free entertainment for the galleries and they were packed when he arose to speak.

Heflin reviewed the testimony of Smith's friends and financial backers before the senate investigating committee Wednesday.

"They come down here to the very capitol and flaunt their arrogance and vulgar wealth," he said. "They say they will give all that is necessary to buy the presidency for him. The words are my own but that's what it means.

"My God! What is the country coming to?"

Bishop Bast Carries No Grudge Over Verdict Finding Him Guilty of Count

KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 17. (UP)—Bishop Anton Bast of Copenhagen carries no grudge against the Methodist church because of the verdict of a special commission of the church which today declared him guilty of imprudent conduct in the administration of his duties as bishop.

"I love the church and will continue to work for her and God," he said tonight. "After a rest, I hope to be assigned a church in Denmark and to serve as a minister, which position I still retain by the verdict."

The verdict of the 17 jurors unfrocked Bast as bishop permanently, but permitted him the right of membership and ministry in the church.

Weather of the kind Wichita Falls has been enjoying the past few days with rain, rain, rain and then some more rain, is a good kind of weather to find the leaks in house roofs. This may not seem to have anything to do with shows, and perhaps it hasn't. But, you will have as much action around the house as there is in any show when you have to chase buckets to catch the water coming through holes in the roof. During a rain is the best time to go into the attic and mark the place that is leaking so it may be repaired. This information was suggested by Manager Charles Moorehead of the Olympic. He knows, having had a little leak in his own roof (house) recently.

Mr. Moorehead's name brings to mind the kids' matinee which will open the new Tom Mix picture at the Olympic at 10 o'clock Saturday morning. This is a special feature matinee for kids, and Mr. Moorehead says he hopes every kid in Wichita Falls sees Tom Mix in "Hello, Cheyenne."

Charlie Chaplin is coming to town Saturday. He will be at the Strand theater in "The Circus." Manager Hans Smith has announced he will give away, free, 500 miniature circuses, showing the tents and clowns and everything that goes with a circus, to the first 500 children to attend the afternoon matinee. These circuses are little toy affairs such as every boy and girl will like to play with, and are on display in a number of downtown store windows.

These days, when college days are being thought of by high school graduates of the year, and also by many under classmen who will be packing their glad rags for college in the next few years, are to be spiced up a bit by the announcement of a live, action, college spirit picture, "Hold 'Em, Yale," starring Rod LaRocque, which opens at the Majestic theater Sunday.

The new policy in prices under which the seats at the Olympic will sell for 10 and 25 cents, will become effective Saturday.

The Strand, the vitaphone or speaking motion picture theater, will be reopened Saturday. The vitaphone features on the bill include a dramatic skit called "The Lash," and several numbers played by Waring's Pennsylvanians orchestra.

Death Claims Luke F. Wilson

rapidly, his small investment of $30,000 grew to $300,000 by 1888.

Mr. Wilson sold his interests in Kansas City and with a number of his relatives and friends, he founded the Wichita Land and Cattle company and purchased the old John Stone ranch in Archer and Clay counties. This was the realization of Uncle Luke's dream to enter the cattle business. M. B. Wilson, W. E. McCrory, W. W. Dickey, Vol Dickey and C. B. Ward were his associates in the venture.

First Ranch Falls.

The company began operations at once. In 1886, when the undertaking proved a failure, the company was dissolved and the land divided among the owners. Mr. Wilson's share was 66,000 acres, valued at from one dollar to one dollar and fifty cents per acre. This land later was known as the 66 ranch. Uncle Luke decided to give ranching a thorough test. After a number of doubtful years, in 1900 he sold most of his land to the American Tribute New Colony company, which attempted to colonize the land. Farmers from other states bought land from the company and attempted to raise crops. Two successive dry years caused the flourishing little colony to be abandoned. The land reverted back to Mr. Wilson and became ranch land again.

In 1907 the Wichita Falls and Southern railroad was built to Newcastle, passing through the ranch. The cattle from Mr. Wilson's ranch were among the few freight items the road received. Five years later, a few miles south of the Wilson ranch, near Anarene, an oil well was drilled and a very small producer resulted.

Active drilling then commenced in Archer county in combat with drilling at Petrolia and Electra where oil had been discovered some time previous. In 1916, after a number of years of unsuccessful drilling in Archer county, a wildcat well on the Wilson ranch was brought in by F. H. Gohlke and C. W. Bean of Wichita Falls. A number of good completions followed up the discovery. Leasing on the Wilson ranch at this time became very active. However, the development of the oil industry in the county was delayed until 1922 by a two years' drouth, which caused water to become so precious that it could not be used for drilling purposes. The outbreak of the World war, also caused the development of oil possibilities in Archer county to be temporarily forgotten.

Oil Brings Riches

However, after the war, in 1922, Ed Peterson of Wichita Falls brought in a 350-barrel wildcat at 1577 feet near the abandoned Geraldine townsite. This discovery opened up Archer county for oil development which has progressed more or less successfully since. Thousands of barrels of oil have come from beneath Archer county soil and the Wilson lands. At one time during the peak of production in the county more than 25,000 barrels of oil daily were being produced from the Wilson lands.

The discovery of oil on the Wilson ranch and its subsequent development was the basis upon which the large fortune of Mr. Wilson has been built. The land has a number of the largest oil pools in the county, with hundreds of wells producing thousands of barrels of oil and resulting in the growth of one of the largest oil fortunes of the southwest.

Creates Trust Fund

A number of years ago after the fortune had grown to an immense figure, estimated at $4,000,000 to $5,000,000, a trust estate was created by Mr. Wilson for a number of his relatives, who are now deriving some of the benefits of the Wilson fortune, which includes 40,000 acres of land, real and personal property in Kansas City and considerable farm lands in Oklahoma.

Mr. Wilson was married to Miss Nell McCrory in December, 1870. No children were born to the couple. Mrs. Wilson died last September. Mr. Wilson was a member of the Grace and Holy Trinity church of Kansas City.

Only one brother survives Mr. Wilson, M. B. Wilson of Indianapolis, Ind.

Surviving nieces are Mrs. Sarah Barrett, Mrs. Edith Stafford and Mrs. Clara W. Witt of Indianapolis; Mrs. Ruth Hawley, Geneva, N. Y.; Mrs. Jennie B. Bruck, Shreveport, La.; Miss Sophia R. Wilson, Coshocton, Ohio; Mrs. Aline T. Ayers, 34, 2404 Roberts street, who died in a Wichita Falls hospital Tuesday evening at 6 o'clock, were held from the chapel of the Hines mortuary at 10 o'clock Thursday morning, with Dr. Paul Henry Packard, pastor of the Highland Heights Christian church, officiating. She Wakes Up Tired —and wonders why it is that seven or eight hours' sleep have failed to refresh her.

SEEMS unnatural, doesn't it? It IS unnatural. People in good health get up in the morning refreshed, full of "pep" and eager to be about the day's work.

You, too, can awaken freshened and vigorous if you will follow the example of thousands of former "tired" people.

Why You Get Up Tired

The trouble with most people who wake up tired is that their tissues are saturated with acid or protein poisons—acidosis. Their blood stream is constantly carrying the poison to every organ of the body, dulling the brain's activity, sapping their energy, causing nervousness and irritability.

Many find it difficult to last through the day. Usually mid-afternoon finds them listless, without energy enough to think, let alone work. They may be organically sound, but if they permit their system to retain this poison they are not getting much out of life.

Those who neglect to correct these symptoms soon find the digestive organs impaired. They feel distress after eating. They are troubled with dyspepsia, gas, bloating, sour stomach, heartburn, constipation, bad breath, morbidness and other ailments. They are subject to frequent colds.

Gordon's Builds Health

Thousands have found that Gordon's (named for its discoverer) is the best aid in overcoming such conditions because it goes right to the seat of the trouble. It exercises an antacid and antiseptic effect in the stomach and bowels. It soothes and heals the irritated delicate membrane lining of the stomach made raw by excess acid. It promotes normal digestive and bowel action. People who take Gordon's do not have to be careful about what they eat—they eat when and what they like.

A spoonful of Gordon's after meals will bring quick relief in cases of indigestion, gas, dyspepsia, bloating, heartburn, excess acid, bad breath, bowel troubles (constipation or diarrhea), sick headache, and nervousness, when caused by faulty digestion.

An Inexpensive Test

Go to, or phone your druggist today for a bottle of Gordon's. Take a dose after each meal and before retiring. Note how much better you will sleep and how refreshed and vigorous you will be in the morning.

Named For Its Discoverer

If, after taking one bottle of Gordon's, you do not feel that the benefits you have received are worth many times its cost, go to your druggist and he will cheerfully refund your money.

If you prefer, cut out this ad and mail it, along with 15 cents in coin or stamps, to G. M. Gordon Drug Co., Dallas, Texas, and receive in return a two days' trial treatment.

SULPHUR WATER DROWNS OUT BIG WINKLER POOL "EXTENSION"

TEST REVEALS MOSTLY WATER

Damper Clamped On Big Addition to Field

Special to The Record News.

SAN ANGELO, May 17. — The nine-mile northern extension of the Hendricks field or opening of a new pool, considered to have been effected last week by Gibson and Johnson and others' No. 1 Leck, appeared less likely today as the result of a test Wednesday in which the well flowed mostly water.

In one hour the well made 127 barrels of fluid, of which according to estimates, 75 to 95 per cent was water, the remainder oil and basic sediment. The water was reported to be sulphur.

Gas was undiminished, being estimated at 40,000,000 cubic feet daily. No. 1 Leck blew in Wednesday morning, May 9, at 3,168 feet, and before being shut in flowed for 45 minutes at a rate variously estimated from 50 barrels of oil hourly up to 10,000 barrels a day.

Lightning Causes $200,000 Oil Fire at Midland

MIDLAND, Texas, May 17. (UP) Loss estimated at $200,000 was incurred today when lightning struck and set fire to two 80,000-barrel tanks of crude oil on the Magnolia Oil company tank farm near here.

Several shots from a three-inch cannon were fired into the tanks to prevent the flaming oil from boiling over. Despite this precaution, the tanks are expected to boil over during the afternoon. This probably will result in other tanks becoming ablaze.

WIFE FOUND IN COW SHED

Oficers Arrest After Discovery

WAUKEGAN, Ill., May 17. (AP)—John Gragietas, 70, was arrested today after an investigator had found his wife, about 60 years old, living in want in a shed adjoining a chicken coop on their farm near here where she said her husband had kept her a virtual prisoner for the past six months.

Mrs. Gragietas said her husband banished her to the cow shed last December after a quarrel and throughout the winter forced her to remain there. She slept on a cot and cooked what scraps of food he threw to her, she said. When found she was in tatters and humane officers said her health is impaired.

She was taken to a home in Waukegan and placed in temporary charge of a matron while the humane officers applied to A. V. Smith, state's attorney, to start proceedings against the husband, held on a charge of disorderly conduct, for a sanity hearing.

Defendant Fights Bloodhound Clue

OLATHE, Kan., May 17. (INS)—Counsel for Dr. S. O. Netherton, on trial here on a charge of murdering his wife, Mrs. Edith Netherton, today attacked the bloodhound evidence submitted by the state.

J. K. Codding, Leavenworth, former warden of the state penitentiary, and Robert H. Hudspeth, present deputy warden, testified that they had found by experience that the use of bloodhounds in the apprehension of criminals is ineffective.

Sheriff E. G. Carroll of Johnson county had testified for the state that bloodhounds, twice in succession, went directly from the scene of the murder to the person of Dr. Netherton.

Codding testified that he had used bloodhounds in 20 cases in attempts to recapture escaped convicts and that he had been successful in none of them. Mr. Hudspeth said he had a similar experience in 50 cases. The defense contends that not a court in the country would sustain a conviction on bloodhound evidence.

GIRLS SHOULD LEARN COOKING

90 Per Cent of Girls Are To Be Housewives

Since 90 Per Cent of Girls Follow the Career of Homemaking, Cooking as Well as Culture Should Be Taught in Our Schools—For Every Wife Will Find the Secret of How to Hold Her Husband in the Cookbook.

Two million American women, organized in the Federation of Women's clubs, have concluded, after painstaking study, that there is too much culture and too little cooking taught in our schools, and that girls spend too much time studying Greek and different calculus and too little relatively on learning how to become homemakers.

This will be tidings of great joy to innumerable men who have had their stomachs wrecked by their brides' housekeeping and who look forward with dread to their sons having to go through the same dyspepsia-breeding ordeal. For when the Federation of Women's clubs undertakes to reform a thing it reforms it, and we may confidently look forward to a millenium in which a knowledge of how to cook will be just as much a part of a young woman's education as a knowledge of how to read and write.

Considering that 90 per cent of girls are predestined for wifehood and motherhood, it is a strange thing that so little effort is made to fit them for the career that they are to follow, for upon their being experts in their profession depend the health, happiness and prosperity of their family.

Moreover, no matter what else a woman needs to know, she needs to know how to cook and sew, for the higher culture does not do away with the lower necessity of eating and being clothed. She may be able to feed her own soul on literature, but her husband and children howl for pie. Twice in a lifetime she may need a knowledge of higher mathematics, but every day she is called upon to wrestle with the butcher's bill and the problem of squaring every dollar with her budget, and many is the time she would gladly swap off her degree in chemistry for a practical knowledge of how to make bread that isn't a menace to life.

Nor can a bride take into marriage any magic that will do as much toward making it a success as to possess a working knowledge of the fine art of cookery. She can keep her husband literally eating out of her hand as long as she feeds him well. Many a man gets his first disillusioning look at his bride and wonders what made him fool enough to pick her out for a wife when he gazes at her across a dinner of dishwater soup and burned meat and soggy potatoes.

The shadow over the honeymoon is the burned toast. The first quarrel is over the five-minute eggs. It is the grounds in the coffee pot that are grounds for divorce, and if these domestic catastrophes never occurred many a marriage that goes on the rocks would be saved.

Also, as a man eats, so is he. Good health. Strength. Good nature. Cheerfulness. Optimism. All these depend upon the state of his stomach. Many a man breaks down at middle age because he has been improperly fed. Many a man turns down the proposition that would have made him a fortune, or quarrels with his busines sassociates, or insults his clients or customers because he has had a mean breakfast that has made him bilious and dyspeptic and capable of seeing everything only through blue glasses.

Therefore, if a woman wishes to retain her husband's affections and keep him fit for his job and pleasant and amiable, best way to keep a man from chasing after flappers is to fill him so full of a good dinner that an easy-chair and the fireside will seem better to him than stepping out. The philandergers and the wife-deserters—and small blame to them—are the men whose wives feed them out of paper bags and cook with a can opener. As long as a wife satisfies her husband's stomach he doesn't find out that he has an unsatisfied heart.

Now these are things that all women know, and the marvel is that, knowing them, they do not begin to prepare their daughters for marriage by teaching them how to cook while they are still in the kindergarten stage. But they don't. On the contrary, they take an antagonistic attitude on the subject and often refuse even to let them try out at home the few rudimentary things they are taught in the domestic science classes at school.

Sometimes the mother's excuse for this is that she doesn't want to see good food wasted. Sometimes that she doesn't believe in newfangled ways of doing things. Sometimes that she doesn't want a child messing around in the kitchen.

But perhaps the real reason is that practically every woman is an autocrat in her own home, and she has a fierce, passionate jealousy of even her own daughter usurping a particle of her authority. She isn't even willing for her daughters to learn how to cook for fear they might feel that they were mistresses of the house.

Other women do not teach their daughters how to cook because they say that what you don't know you don't have to do, and that when their daughters need to know how to cook they will learn how to do it, and that was the way they did.

These are two as untenable propositions as were ever advanced. Ignorance is not a preventive. It is no protection against fate. Lack of skill does not keep us from having to do necessary things. It only makes us do them badly and blunderingly. Because she doesn't know how to cook doesn't insure a girl's getting a rich husband who can provide her with servants. It only makes her job of cooking for a poor man a hardship instead of a pleasure.

For the only reason that women hate to cook is because they do it badly. Everybody hates the thing he or she does blunderingly and clumsily and ignorantly and of which he or she makes a failure, and all of us like to do the things at which we are adept, and in which we have the pride of craftsmanship, and for which we are praised and admired. The woman who makes a blue-ribbon cake enjoys doing so. It is the women whose cakes are like lead who loathe a gas range. Cookery is one of the finest and most interesting of all the arts, and the only reason women find it dull and boring is because they have not been taught any skill in it.

Of course, any girl can learn how to cook and she generally does after she is married, but it is through a bitter experience that her mother might have spared her. Only too often, by the time she has acquired the knowledge with which she should have been equipped as a necessary part of her education, she has ruined her husband's health and killed one of her children.

So here's wishing success to the Federation of Women's club in its efforts to have girls taught how to be cooks and homemakers!

MODISH MITZI — DO BE MODERN, DAD — By Jay V. Jay

It's going to be Aunt Sophia's birthday and dad suggests that they give her a brooch. "When is her birthday, Mitzi?" he asks. Poor dad. Mitzi is to tell him that that is old stuff. When you give a piece of jewelry it must be modern, like the earrings of crystal she is wearing.

Dad commissioned Mitzi to do the preliminary scouting. Would Aunt Sophia like the new shell jewelry by Mary Nowitsky? It comes in amber, jade and coral and may be worn with a sports costume. In fact, it has been seen in company with a bathing suit or a beach suit.

Patou goes to less extremes. Patou jewelry is modern in feeling with flat angular links with bowknot or double circle in front. The links are so flexible that the necklace fits the neck very charmingly. There's a bracelet to match. It's made af silver and gold.

When it really came to a decision, dad made it. He selected a sautoir necklace of triangular crystals. There's a brooch to match. Aunt Sophia will like the earrings, too. "Is it new?" asked dad. "It's Chanel," replied the sales person, which covers the question and a little more.

Headquarters For Texas Woman At Biennial Selected

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, May 17.—Extensive preparations are under way for the comfort and convenience of all Texas women at the biennial of the General Federation of Women's clubs to convene in San Antonio May 28 to June 7, inclusive. The Texas headquarters at the Old Baptist church, within one block of the municipal auditorium will be the center of their activities.

The headquarters will be open in advance of the convention on Saturday, May 26, to allow those who have arrived for the Texas reception at the Menger hotel that evening to discuss final plans with San Antonio women. Those who come in automobiles are requested to register their cars at headquarters to assist the automobile committee, Mrs. J. E. Jarratt, chairman, in the transportation of guests on "play day."

The headquarters, however, will not be kept open on Sunday, May 27, according to announcement of Mrs. A. A. Brown, who is in charge of headquarters. This day will be a period of rest for both Texas visitors and San Antonio women in preparation for the intensive work of the coming week. Nor will the headquarters be kept open in the evenings as the evening programs offer attractions no club woman wishes to miss.

Mrs. W. R. Potter of Bowie, president of the Texas Federation of Women's clubs, will have her headquarters at the Baptist church as will also the seven district presidents. For these officers, there will be booths and platforms arranged and all conveniences for carrying on their activities.

The Texas headquarters will be definitely connected with all biennial activities through information booths, bulletin boards, telephones, and all sources of information about the complex and varied convention program.

For the woman who is tired there will be a place to rest. A private room, marked, "Silence," will have in it couches and chairs, and will be a retiring place for those who wish to be alone for a moment of rest.

There will also be a place for those who wish to write letters, and chairs and couches for comfort.

Mrs. A. A. Brown, who is also in charge of housing and tourist quarters, and Mrs. I. A. Victor, chairman of hotels, announce that there will be ample space for all visitors and delegates to the convention.

Easy HOUSEKEEPING

By Mrs. Meg MacGregor, Director of Household Science

"Stains never worry me now"

This is the cheerful beginning of a letter I have just received from a woman in Cleveland. And it is true that stains need never worry any woman who knows when and how to use Clorox. For Clorox is "bottled magic."

Common stains

For instance: Nearly every day in every family someone spills tea, coffee, chocolate, or wine. Take the stains out with Clorox in correct solution.

And then ink spots—out they come—jiffy quick! Another ugliness that sometimes seems absolutely fatal is the stain caused by medicines—argyrol, iodine, merurochrome and others. Fruit stains, too, are easily disposed of. All these can be safely and quickly treated with Clorox. You have only to follow the directions carefully.

Mildew and scorch disappear easily too

Who hasn't carefully rolled up a cherished doilie, lunch cloth, or white cotton or linen blouse—only to let it mildew? And who hasn't taken special pains with some fine piece of linen, only to scorch it? But these accidents need not be fatal! For mildew—soak in the proper solution of Clorox for ten minutes and hang in the sunlight until all discolorations vanish. For scorched spots the method is easy, too. The label shows you how. You'll say it's nothing short of magic and it is!

Send for my Free Chart

If you have a difficult problem of cleaning or disinfecting won't you write to me about it? Perhaps I can help you. I shall be glad to answer your letter and send to you, free of charge, my "Easy Housekeeping Chart" to hang in your kitchen.

Ramblin'

with Marie Theresa

THE Memorial auditorium is being converted into a scene of unusual appeal for the presentation of the municipal music festival there Friday evening. There will be two scenes to form a background for the numbers, one a woodland scene with its brook and pastoral beauty; the other, a castle garden scene which enhances the attractiveness of the numbers to be given by the Symphony orchestra and the Indian songs of the Woman's Choral club. The latter scene will show steps, pedestals, trailing flowers, trees and and an unusual lighting effect.

IN presenting "The Two Spirits" dance in which is feautred Miss Virginia Hampson with a group of girls in a clever dancing number, the management will have ample opportunity of making the production the feature it was orginally intended to be. "The Two Spirits" was first presented last spring when it made an instantaneous impression on those who saw it, produced as it was without the enhancing properties of the proper lighting effects. But arrangements have been made this year by Eithel Allen Nelson, who composed the music for the dance, to have the appropriate setting for staging the dance.

SHOULD old age be made lovely or should it be painted as austere and death like? And the services of an artist were called in to settle the argument.

When Miss Marguerite Fisher was chosen to take the role of "Old Age" in the presentation of "The Two Spirits" dance composition by Eithel Allen Nelson which will feature the program of the musical festival to be given in the Memorial auditorium, Friday evening, no thought of undue difficulty was predicted.

But when Miss Fisher essayed to tone up her dainty features with makeup to simulate deep furrows and wrinkles and to shroud herself in the vestments of an austere and unlovely old age, local critics of things suitable, decided that to paint age as unlovely is not fit and immediately set about to voice a complaint at such desecration.

Then directors began to rummage for a suitable makeup for the young lady who is to take the role of old age, but nothing seemed to be deemed suitable by all concerned, and then the services of Emil Hermann, local artist, were called into place, with the result as will be seen on the stage of the Memorial auditorium, Friday evening.

Will Mr. Hermann see fit to make up artistically the features of the dancer to represent a mature but still visible beauty which will be his idea of the appearance of old age, or will he paint it with a deathlike semblance and ghostly shadows that bespeak that which is past and forlorn?

LEON ROTHIER of the Metropolitan Opera company recently issued the verdict of "20 pounds too heavy" when Leah Horne of Cleveland, Ohio, came before him for an audition. And so Leah is going to reduce 20 pounds and be trained to sing in grand opera.

From the few glimpses Marie Theresa has been able to get at grand opera stars, the idea is a clever one. Seeing some of the portly sopranos taking the role of a supposedly blithesome young thing, gives a good sized jolt to my sense of romance.

WHERE WARDLAW STANDS

Colonel Louis J. Wardlaw, of Fort Worth is said to be a candidate for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination. He is out making speeches. He keeps his eye on the main chance. He feels the pulse of the people. He is like the candidate for office who said, speaking of the people, "I don't know what they want, but I'm in favor of giving it to them."

Colonel Jed Adams declared for a presidential preferential primary to select a candidate for president in future and to instruct delegates to the national convention in accordance with the verdict of the people, as spoken through the direct primary method.

Col. Wardlaw read the Adams declaration. He jumped to it. He declared that the lawmakers of Texas should give to the people the Adams proposal in the shape of a statutory law.

Why not?

A vast majority of the Democrats would welcome the same proposal in the form of a law. Really, the most cumbersome election machinery statute ever devised by mortal man is that which is known as the Terrell election law of Texas.

Now history makes note of the fact that Alexander W. Terrell drafted a very simple election bill and then introduced it in the House of the Texas legislature.

Thomas B. Love was a member of the legislature. Love and his fellow politicians tacked on the Terrell 129 amendments. Statesman Terrell repudiated the bill that bore his name and disclaimed all responsibility for it.

This is one of the reasons why Texas is without a presidential preference primary law. Practical politicians made the Terrell election law a monstrosity and they failed to give the Democratic voters a chance to name their choice for president by direct primary vote.

SPEAKING OF TAX REDUCTION

Is there to be tax reduction this year? There is a row on in Congress between the advocates of radical reduction and the administration forces.

Great minds do not drift along in the same congressional channels.

Coolidge holds the whip hand. There are Republican dissenters to his reduction program in the house. There are Republican dissenters in the senate.

Coolidge is going out in a year. His big stick is made of rubber. When a president steps in his big stick is made of solid hickory. In the last year of his term the hickory has turned into soft material.

There is a reason for it. A new king is on the way. An old king is impotent, at least this is the verdict of national lawmakers and the practical politicians of the republic.

A TEST

Why, you are just like money;
You're counterfeit or true.
And somewhere in life's journeys,
There'll come a test to you.

Yes, someday Fate will take you,
And roughly he will fling
Your character, against a rock
To see if it will ring.

Some folks that passed as silver,
When that hard rock they hit,
Will prove out lead or pewter—
Completely counterfeit.

It's well to get case-hardened,
And ready for that fling;
When Fate decides to test you,
Be sure that you will ring.

One-Minute Sermon

My soul is weary of my life. I will leave my complaint upon myself; I will speak in the bitterness of my soul.

I will say unto God, Do not condemn me; shew me wherefore thou contendest with me.

Is it good unto thee that thou shouldst oppress, that thou shouldest despise the work of thine hands, and shine upon the counsel of the wicked?—Job, x, 1-3.

Loans to Salaried Men.

NEW YORK CITY seems to have found a way to put the loan shark out of business.

The loan shark, you know, is the usurer who makes loans to salaried workers and generally collects something like 300 per cent before the loan is paid. Usually he operates just within the law; it is almost impossible to put a crimp in his activities.

But now the National City bank, New York's largest, announces it will make loans of $50 to $1000 to salaried people without collateral. Six per cent will be charged and the borrower will have a year in which to pay.

This is a magnificent undertaking. It will enable the poor man who needs money to get it at a decent rate. And observers in New York believe that it will send the loan shark away for good. No one will want to borrow at exhorbitant rates when he can get money from a reputable bank for six per cent.

Laredo As a Tear Maker

LAREDO is a growing city on the banks of the Rio Grande. Laredo is in the heart of the onion growing district. Onion growers in the district shipped 1400 cars of onions to market this spring. They received $1,500,000 for their tear makers. But this isn't a circumstance. More than 4000 car loads of onions were shipped to market in the lower and upper valley sections this season.

Prices were fair.

Demand was excellent, and those who have the figures say the growers received between five and six million dollars as their share of the coin of the realm for this one crop in the season just at its close.

A year ago an experimental farmer or gardener planted an acre to pepper. He sold $300 worth of pepper the first year. He trimmed his plants for the second year and he has $1000 in sight for the second crop. Why plant cotton and gather a half bale to the acre when it is possible to make a thousand dollars per acre per year in the cultivation of peppers?

More Regulation In Texas.

GOVERNMENT supervision over prescription liquor and compulsory annual registration of physicians as the most effective method of ascertaining persons practicing illegally, were recommended, no doubt to the lawmakers as the State Medical association closed its 62nd annual session in the city of Galveston.

This will call for additional regulatory laws and additional jobs for the regulators.

According to the wires' report of the proceedings of the last day's session, "the amended resolution of Dr. W. B. Russ of San Antonio, calling on Congress to devise means of providing liquor as a stimulant and thus relieving the medical profession of that responsibility was adopted with but few dissenting votes.

Furthermore, the present system, the resolution states, "is degrading to the medical and pharmaceutical professions and places a premium upon dishonesty." It appears that if liquor is being furnished as a stimulant then Uncle Sam should take over the job and the physicians and druggists relieved of all the work as well as the responsibility. How would the medicals go about it?

Rogers As a Prophet

COLONEL WILL ROGERS is posing as a political prophet. He read what Andrew W. Mellon had to say and then made this comment, speaking of Andrew W., "He wants to go to Kansas City and work for the best offer. In other words, he will take an inferior man if the inducements are better."

Andrew W. Mellon has a fortune of $500,000,000. He is known to fame as the second Alexander Hamilton in American history. He is one of the greatest of industrial captains as well as one of the ablest American financiers. He has given the American people 12 years of valuable service.

He is for the makers of things. He has confidence in self. He has a choice for the presidential nomination: Calvin Coolidge. He has a second choice: Andrew W. Mellon. This is what Andrew W. Mellon said to the Pennsylvania delegate:

"Hoover is the best man and has the most qualifications for the job of being president."

Yes, but he was speaking of the open contenders for the prize. He wasn't speaking of Charles Evans Hughes or Calvin Coolidge or Charles G. Dawes or Andrew W. Mellon.

A very wary and very sly Alexander Hamilton is the second edition of that noted financier who controls the delegates from Pennsylvania to the Kansas City convention.

He may be playing to inherit the Hoover contingent at the proper time. He may be playing to knock out Senator Goff in the coming presidential primary election in the state of West Virginia.

Andrew W. Mellon works his brains all the time and his tongue seldom. That is the reason he has a fortune of $500,000,000 and is the dictator of the Republican party.

If we were Mr. Sinclair, we should not begin for a while to plan to spend the money the Republicans are going to give back to him.

A star, broken into two parts, has been discovered. It probably hit one of the new skyscrapers in New York.

Scientists have been able to set fire to wood by sound waves produced probably by some jazz band instrument.

WISDOM FOR DEMOCRACY

Prohibitionists who expect to support Al Smith, should he become the Democratic nominee for president, are coming in for a good deal of abuse by some of the Anti-Saloon league bosses, all of which is uncalled for as there is no prohibition issue before us. If the majority of Democrats can agree upon a leader, it will be the part of wisdom to support him—whether wet or dry, Protestant or Catholic.

HEALTH and DIET ADVICE

By DR. FRANK McCOY
Author of "The Fast Way to Health"

Questions in regard to health and diet will be answered by Mr. McCoy who can be addressed in care of this paper.

WELL-PROPORITIONED CHILDREN

It is rather distressing to walk along the streets observing the number of sickly, undernourished, deformed, toxemic individuals suffering from the long-continued effects of a pernicious diet. This is particularly heartrending to me because I realize that these unhealthy beings could practically all be splendid examples of physical development and correct education.

I have given a number of lectures before high school student bodies, and I would estimate that about two-thirds are starving for food out of which they could build proper bone and cell structure. The other third appeared to be overweight, but nevertheless lacking in mineral elements.

These mis-shapen, sickly appearing high school students are the results of many years of wrong dieting. If a child is brought up on white bread and jam, there is little chance for him to have a strong, bony framework. I could observe in the bowlegs, knock-knees, anemic, pimply complexions and slouching backs how little our educational system is doing in the practical instruction of food chemistry.

Some of the lower grade schools have recently installed dietitians to supervise the food that is given in the school, but although some improvement over no supervision, the chief aim of the dietitians is to produce spectacular gaining reports and as a consequence the children are stuffed with quantities of acid-forming mucus-producing foods which add weight but, unfortunately, no health. The increase in weight is usually caused by unelminated waste poisons, and is directly responsible for the many cases of swollen tonsils, adenoids, appendicitis, and tendencies to the children's diseases.

I believe, however, that the mother should be chiefly responsible for preventing this condition of acidosis. Growing children must be provided with foods containing calcium, silicon and iron. All of the crooked and raw greens contain these important minerals, without which a child can not build healthy bone, nerve or blood tissues.

Not only is it important to select the right foods, but it is necessary to combine them properly, and I advise the complete elimination of the white flour products and white sugar from the child's diet. The craving that children have for sugar is a positive indication that they are not being fed on a properly balanced diet.

The menus which I publish each week in this column will provide good wholesome tissues for school children. I have written an article called "School Lunches" which I shall be delighted to mail to those who send a stamped envelope.

Mothers should make a thorough study of these dietetic problems from health advice found in the more progressive newspapers.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Question: I. O. V. writes: "I have been dieting according to your instructions in the paper. I have lost 13 pounds—did weigh 188. I notice after eating, when digestion begins to take place, I have a very pronounced metallic taste in my mouth. What would cause this, and will it disappear?"

Answer: You should lose still more weight, and if you will keep on dieting until your weight becomes normal, the metallic taste will disappear. This is produced from an improper balance of your digestive fluids, and continued dieting will correct such trouble.

Question: Mrs. K. D. writes: "All of my family are being benefited by your diet and health articles in our paper, and we wish to tell you of our appreciation. Also, just one question: What foods are meant when we use the term 'protein?'"

Answer: Generally speaking, we mean the animal and its products, viz: Meats, milk, cream, cheese, butter, fowl, eggs, rabbit, fish, etc.

Question: A. C. writes: "Please tell us the proper food and liquid to give in a case where there is pus in the urine. It has been going on for several years, sometimes the pus is quite heavy and sometimes there is scarcely any. I wish to thank you for your helpful advice on various subjects which we get through our paper."

Answer: It is unwise for me to attempt to give you any special advice as I cannot tell what is causing the pus in your urine. Go to a competent diagnostician and find out the cause of your trouble, then write to me again, giving your name and address, and I will send you suggestions about the cure from my point of view.

There is a marriage broker in New York who guarantees girls marriage to a man of means and social position or money back. She is a middle-aged woman, a member of an improverished family, with social connections in New York, Newport, Southampton, Aiken and other colonies.

She requires that her clients be beautiful, accomplished, poised and of reputable family. The broker has a regular systematic procedure of match making. She entertains her client, inviting persons of high social position, including wealthy men of marriagable age, and then obtains for the prospective bride invitations to fashionable affairs. She furthers her client's interest by showing her off to the best advantage, seeing that she is at the "right places" at the "right times," and acting as a diplomatic go-between. Naturally, she is very careful of her client's reputation.

She is credited with having brought about several successful marriages to men of millions. Of course, her fee as broker is quite high.

Another reason why you can't believe your eyes on Broadway is that a considerable number of "leg pads" are sold in hosiery shops along the street. The pad fits very neatly over the calf and creates what is to the passing eye a shapely leg.

Every town has a lot of fishermen who would love to know J. Harvey Ladew of New York. He is spending $50,000 to enjoy the fishing along the coast of Nicaragua which Zane Grey says is the fisherman's paradise. He chartered a five-masted schooner to take him and his friends down for the sport.

Prescription He Wrote in 1892 is the World's Most Popular Laxative

When Dr. Caldwell started to practise medicine, back in 1875, the needs for a laxative were not as great as they are today. People lived normal, quiet lives, ate plain, wholesome food, and got plenty of fresh air and sunshine. But even that early there were drastic physics and purges for the relief of constipation which Dr. Caldwell did not believe were good for human beings to put into their system. So he wrote a prescription for a laxative to be used by his patients.

The prescription for constipation that he used early in his practice, and which he put in drug stores in 1892 under the name of Dr Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is a liquid vegetable remedy, intended for women, children and elderly people, and they need just such a mild, safe, gentle bowel stimulant as Syrup Pepsin.

Under successful management this prescription has proven its worth and is now the largest selling liquid laxative in the world. The fact that millions of bottles are used a year proves that it has won the confidence of people who needed it to get relief from headaches, biliousness, flatulence, indigestion, loss of appetite and sleep, bad breath, dyspepsia, colds and fevers.

Millions of families are now never without Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and if you will once start using it you will also always have a bottle handy for emergencies.

W. B. Caldwell M.D.
AT AGE 83

It is particularly pleasing to know that the most of it is bought by mothers for themselves and the children, though Syrup Pepsin is just as valuable for elderly people. All drug stores have the generous bottles.

We would be glad to have you prove at our expense how much Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin can mean to you and yours. Just write "Syrup Pepsin," Monticello, Illinois, and we will send you prepaid a FREE SAMPLE BOTTLE.—Adv.

"CANARY" MURDER CASE

by S. S. VAN DINE AUTHOR of THE BENSON MURDER CASE

© Charles Scribner's Sons

CHARACTERS

PHILO VANCE
JOHN F.-X. MARKHAM, District Attorney of New York county
MARGARET ODELL (THE "CANARY")
CHARLES CLEAVER, a man-about-town.
KENNETH SPORTSWOODE, a manufacturer
LOUIS MANNIX, an importer
DR. AMBROISE LINDQUIST, a fashionable neurologist
TONY SKEEL, a professional burglar.
WILLIAM ELMER JESSUP, telephone operator
HARRY SPIVELY, telephone operator
ERNEST HEATH, Sergeant of Homicide Bureau

THE STORY THUS FAR

The jewel case in the apartment of the murdered Margaret Odell had been opened with a steel chisel after a futile battering with a poker. This leads Vance to the theory that Skeel did not commit the crime, but was hidden in the closet while the strangler did his work. Vance shatters Cleaver's alibi that he had been in Boonton the night of the murder. Alys La Fosse tells him Mannix had been in her apartment from 10:30 until 2 the night of the murder. Vance traps her in a falsehood and she admits Mannix did not come until after midnight, which was after Margaret Odell was strangled.

CHAPTER XXXI

"I like you more and more," said Vance; and when she gave him her hand at parting he lifted it to his lips.

As we rode downtown Vance was thoughtful. We were nearly to the criminal courts building before he spoke.

"The primitive Alys rather appeals to me," he said. "She's much too good for the oleaginous Mannix . . . Women are so shrewd—and so gullible.

"A woman can read a man with almost magical insight; but, on the other hand, she is inexpressibly blind when it comes to her man. Witness sweet Alys' faith in Mannix. He probably told her he was slaving at the office Monday night. Naturally, she doesn't believe it; but she knows—knows, mind you—that her Louie just couldn't have been concerned in the Canary's death.

"Ah, well, let us hope she's right and that Manix is not apprehended—at least not until her new show is financed . . . My word! If this being a detective involves many more revues, I shall have to resign. Thank heaven, though, the lady didn't attend the cinema Monday night!"

When we arrived at the district attorney's office we found Heath and Markham in consultation. Markham had a pad before him, several pages of which were covered with tabulated and annotated entries. A cloud of cigar smoke enveloped him. Heath sat facing him, his elbows on the table, his chin resting in his hands. He looked pugnacious but disconsolate.

"I'm going over the case with the sergeant," Markham explained, with a brief glance in our direction. "We're trying to get all the salient points down in some kind of order, to see if there are any connecting links we've overlooked. I've told the sergeant about the doctor's infatuation and his threats, and of the failure of Traffic Officer Phipps to identify Cleaver. But the more we learn, the worse, apparently, the jumble grows."

He picked up the sheets of paper and fastened them together with a clip.

"The truth is, we haven't any real evidence against anybody. There are suspicious circumstances connected with Skeel and Doctor Lindquist and Cleaver; and our interview with Mannix didn't precisely allay suspicions in his direction, either.

"But when we come right down to it, what's the situation? We've got some finger-prints of Skeel, which might have been made late Monday afternoon. Doctor Lindquist goes berserk when we ask him where he was Monday night, and then offers us a weak alibi. He admits a fatherly interest in the girl, whereas he's really in love with her—a perfectly natural bit of mendacity.

"Cleaver lent his car to his brother and lied about it, so that I'd think he was in Boonton Monday at midnight. And Mannix gives us a number of shifty answers to our questions concerning his relations with the girl. . . . Not an embarrassment of riches."

"I wouldn't say your information was exactly negligent," observed Vance, taking a chair beside the sergeant. "It may all prove devilish valuable if only it could be put together properly. The difficulty, it appears to me, is that certain parts of the puzzle are missing. Find 'em, and I'll warrant everything will fit beautifully—like a mosaic."

"Easy enough to say 'find 'em,'" grumbled Markham. "The trouble is to know where to look."

Heath relighted his dead cigar and made an impatient gesture.

"You can't get away from Skeel. He's the boy that did it and if it wasn't for Abe Rubin, I'd sweat the truth outa him. And by the way, Mr. Vance, he had his own private key to the Odell apartment, all right." He glanced at Markham hesitantly. "I don't want to look as if I was criticising, sir, but I got a feeling we're wasting time chasing after these gentlemen friends of Odell—Cleaver and Mannix and this here doctor."

"You may be right," Markham seemed inclined to agree with him. "However, I'd like to know why Lindquist acted the way he did."

"Well, that might help some," Heath compromised. "If the doc was so far gone on Odell as to threaten to shoot her, and if he went off his head when you asked him to alibi himself, maybe he could tell us something. Why not throw a little scare into him? His record ain't any good, anyway."

"An excellent idea," chimed in Vance.

Markham looked up sharply. Then he consulted his appointment book.

"I'm fairly free this afternoon, so suppose you bring him down here, Sergeant. Get a subpoena if you have to—only see that he comes. And make it as soon after lunch as you can."

He tapped on the desk irritably. "If I don't do anything else, I'm going to eliminate some of this human flotsam that's cluttering up the case. And Lindquist is as good as any to start with. I'll either develop these various suspicious circumstances into something workable, or I'll root them up. Then we'll see where we stand.

Heath shook hands pessimistically and went out.

"Poor hapless man!" sighed Vance, looking after him. "He giveth way to all the pangs and fury of despair."

"And so would you," snapped Markham, "if the newspapers were butchering you for a political holiday. By the way, weren't you to be a harbinger of glad tidings this noon, or something of the sort?"

"I believe I did hold out some such hope." Vance sat looking meditatively out of the window for several minutes. "Markham, this fellow Mannix lures me like a magnet. He irks and whirrets me. He infests my slumbers. He's the raven on my bust of Pallas. He plagues me like a banshee."

"Does this jeremiad come under the head of tidings?"

"I sha'n't rest peacefully," pursued Vance, "until I know where Louey the furrier was between 11 o'clock and midnight Monday. He was somewhere he should not have been. And you, Markham, must find out.

"Please make Mannix the second offensive in your assault upon the flotsam. He'll parley, with the right amount of pressure. Be brutal, old dear; let him think you suspect him of the throttling. Ask him about the fur model—what's her name?—Frisbee—" He stopped short and knit his brows. "My eye—oh, my eye! I wonder. . . . Yes, yes, Markham; you must question him about the fur model. Ask him when he saw her last; and try to look wise and mysterious when you're doing it."

"See here, Vance!" Markham was exasperated—"you've been harping on Mannix for three days. What's keeping your nose to that scene?"

"Intuition—sheer intuition. My psychic temperament, don't y' know."

"I'd believe that if I hadn't known you for 15 years." Markham inspected him shrewdly; then shrugged his shoulders. "I'll have Mannix on the tapis when I'm through with Lindquist."

(Friday, September 14, 2 p. m.)

We luncheon in the district attorney's private sanctum; and at 2 o'clock Doctor Lindquist was announced. Heath accompanied him, and, from the expression on the sergeant's face, it was plain he did not at all like his companion.

The doctor, at Markham's request, seated himself facing the district attorney's desk.

"What is the meaning of this new outrage?" he demanded coldly. "Is it your prerogative to force a citizen to leave his private affairs in order to be bullied?"

"It's my duty to bring murderers to justice," replied Markham, with equal coldness. "And if any citizen considers that giving aid to the authorities is an outrage, that's his prerogative. If you have anything to fear by answering my questions, doctor, you are entitled to have your attorney present. Would you care to phone him to come here now and give you legal protection?"

Doctor Lindquist hesitated. "I need no legal protection, sir. Will you be good enough to tell me at once why I was brought here?"

"Certainly; to explain a few points which have been discovered regarding your relationship with Miss Odell, and to elucidate—if you care to—your reasons for deceiving me, at our last conference, in regard to that relationship."

"You have, I infer, been prying unwarrantably into my private affairs. I had heard that such practices were once common in Russia. . . ."

"If the prying was unwarranted, you can, Doctor Lindquist, easily convince me on that point; and whatever we may have learned concerning you will be instantly forgotten. It is true, is it not, that your interest in Miss Odell went somewhat beyond mere paternal affection?"

"Are not even a man's sacred sentiments respected by the police of this country?" There was insolent scorn in the doctor's tone.

"Under some conditions, yes; under others, no." Markham controlled his fury admirably. "You need not answer me, of course; but, if you choose to be frank, you may possibly save yourself the humiliation of being questioned publicly by the people's attorney in a court of law."

'Head Would Whirl, Nerves All Upset'

Middle Life Troubles Described by a Texas Lady Who Tells How She "Improved So Much" After Taking Cardui.

Terrell, Texas.—Mrs. Mat Howard, who lives near here, has the following to say about her use of Cardui, in middle life:

"About twenty years ago, my health was very bad. I was passing through a critical time in my life, and I suffered a great deal.

"I was not at all strong, and my nerves got all upset.

"I had hot flashes, and sometimes would get suddenly so faint I could not stand up. My head would whirl, and I could not see a thing. I would have to lie down for hours at a time. I felt mighty bad.

"One day I was reading about a lady who had suffered like I was, and how she had been helped. So I made up my mind to give Cardui a trial.

"I improved so much, after I had taken Cardui for a while. I continued the medicine for some months, until I had passed the critical period.

"I have recommended Cardui to a great many people since I first took it. I never hesitate to tell any woman about it."

This well known medicine is a mild, harmless extract of valuable medicinal herbs, and contains nothing harmful or injurious. For sale by all druggists.—Adv.

Favorite Jokes of Famous People

As Told by Them to

FRANK ERNEST NICHOLSON

By ZONA GALE

ZONA GALE

Zona Gale is the author of 15 novels, the better known of which are probably "Lulu Bett," "Faint Perfume," and "When I Was a Little Girl." She has also written several plays, and once took the Pulitzer prize for literature. Short stories and articles by Miss Gale appear regularly in leading periodicals.

Graduating from the University of Wisconsin in 1890 with both the B. L. and M. L. tacked onto her name, Zona Gale began newspaper work in Milwaukee, later coming to New York, where she was a reporter for five years. Her work was varied. Sometimes she covered robberies, other times her day's work would be to interview some celebrity, or perhaps an assignment to cover a [illegible] intriguing murder.

During the period Miss Gale was about the busiest young lady in New York. If she were waiting for an interview or a fire or a robbery she would pull out a pencil and write as many pages as she could on a short story.

I hardly expected Miss Gale to tell me a story about a traveling salesman as her favorite joke, but she did—and here it is:

"A traveling man took his wife and small son on a trip with him and the youngster was put into the upper berth alone. It was his first night on a Pullman and the strangeness was poignant.

As soon as the lights were lowered his little voice came out:

"'Papa, are you there?'

"'Yes, I am here. Go to sleep, son.'

"A pause, and then: 'Mamma, are you there?'

"'Yes, dear, I am here. Go to sleep.'

"Finally, after another pause, tense and brief: 'Papa, are you there?'

"'Yes, son. Now go to sleep.'

"This was repeated intermittently until a nervous passenger, a man, lost his patience. On a further inquiry as to the parent's whereabouts, this man shouted:

"'Yes! Your father is here. Your mother is here! All your aunts and uncles are here! Your cousins are here! Now, go to sleep!'

"Another long pause. And then the awed little voice came:

"'Mamma, was that God?'"

BEAUMONT, Texas, May 17.—The reaction from their hard games with San Antonio and Houston was manifested again today by the Spudders, and the Exporters evened the series. Carl Hubbell pitched effectively except in the sixth inning when the champions scored their runs and with Cvengros unsteady in early rounds, Beaumont won, 4 to 3.

The hectic race in the Texas league continues. As a result of beating Houston today, Fort Worth went from fourth to first place. Wichita Falls fell from the league lead, half a game back of the Cats. Houston is third, though tied with Fort Worth in the margin of wins and losses. San Antonio is fourth, the Bears, like the Spudders, also being only half a game behind the leaders. San Antonio lost to Dallas.

Swenson Is Out

Wichita Falls had an excellent chance of going into the lead today, playing the tailenders. But the crippled Spudders could not arise to the occasion in the face of Hubbell's very good chucking.

Joe Luciano played third base today in place of Wally Swenson, who is limping from an injured ankle. Pete Lapan was banished from the pastime in the second inning by Umpire Donnelly for protesting a decision.

Beaumont tallied two runs in the first inning. Schreiber singled to left after two were out. Schliebner hit to center, Schreiber stopping at second. Swanson was passed, filling the bases. Bailey beat out an infield roller to Luciano, Schreiber scoring. Petrie walked, Schliebner strolling home. Turgeon took Camalo's liner.

The Exporters counted another brace of scores in the third. Schliebner singled past short. Swanson singled to right, Schliebner going to second. Bailey forced Schliebner, Cvengros to Luciano. Cvengros threw wild in an attempt to catch Swanson off second and both runners moved up a base. Petrie struck out. Camalo hit sharply to right, Swanson and Bailey scoring. Hubbell fanned.

Payne Finishes

Cvengros pitched well thereafter until the eighth when he was removed to permit Boss Williams to bat for him, and Payne held the foe scoreless in the one round he worked. But the Spudders fell short one run of tying in the sixth. Jenkins started the round with a single to center and went all the way to third on Luciano's hit to the same territory. Stanton flied to Swanson, Jenkins scoring. Cobb popped to Gross. Cvengros singled to center, Luciano going to third. Benton hit a hard smash to right center that scored Luciano and Cvengros. Schliebner retired Turgeon, unassisted.

Fitzgerald Home; Out Several Days

Howard Fitzgerald, Spudder center fielder, who fractured his arm in a fist fight with Carey Selph of the Houston Buffs, returned home yesterday to recuperate. Fitzgerald will be out of the game two or three weeks as a result of the injury.

Greatest Infield Since 1914

The present infield of the Philadelphia Athletics looks like the finest since 1914, when Manager Connie Mack broke up the great McInnis-Collins-Barry-Baker gang. The stellar 1928 infield consists of Joe Hauser, first; Max Bishop, second; Joe Boley, short, and Sammy Hale, third.

GRIFFIN BEATS BUFFS, 5 TO 1

Cats Capture Two Straight And Take League Lead

HOUSTON, May 17. (AP)—Marty Griffin Thursday tamed the Buffs without any undue exertion and Fort Worth made it two straight, winning 5 to 1. The Cats beat Carleton, who just a few years ago served Fort Worth as bat boy. During eight innings "Kiddee" gave only three hits, all coming from the bat of Harrington.

Three of the four runs off Carleton came in the sixth after Schuble had missed a sure double killing by dropping a throw from Carleton.

Fort Worth took the league lead, jumping from fourth to first. Score:

STEERS TRAMPLE BEARS

SAN ANTONIO, May 17. (AP)—When Joe Tate hit for Ezzell in the sixth he drove in the run that proved the turning point in the second game of the Dallas series Thursday, which Dallas won, 6 to 5.

When Newman was allowed to come home on Najo's single to left, the Bears lost a good chance to win and go into first place in the Texas league race. Newman was caught at the plate, after which Grimes doubled to left, scoring Najo. Score:

Bare Facts

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER
(Copyright, 1928, By Universal Service)

NEW YORK, May 17.—Might as well saturate our curiosity in big doings of presidential candidates to date.

What have they been doing to convince our amalgamated constituency that they are capable of running this United Condition of States from March, 1929, until debts do them divide?

Al Smith has been photographed playing golluf. He shoots a mean game of divots. Last we heard of Al he was in the rough. Without carrier pigeons or means of communication with civilization.

Herbert Hoover, the Sir Henry Irving of the news reels, has been fishing unless our weekly scenarios are suffering from double vision.

Al wears balloon-plus knickers when he golfs. Every so often his caddy hands Al a club he is tired of carrying.

Possibly the voters will get Al out of the bunkers by Christmas. Still, we prefer Bill Taft's method. Bill didn't show us what a bad golfer he was until after he was elected.

Hoover caught a trout near Williamsport, Pa. We don't know who put it there.

There is a suspicion that the trout joined Herbie's party in Baltimore and remained with the bunch until it fell exhausted from being photographed.

Herbert has as his authority the eminent Grover Cleveland, who fished every puddle, stream and rain barrel in the country. Grover baited his hooks with cmall cabinet members.

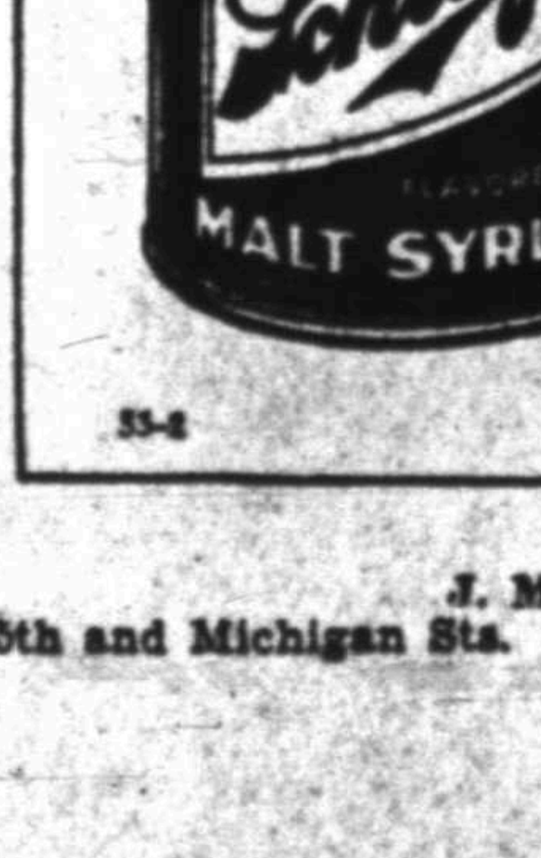

The fact that Smith has been golfing in Democratic states while Hoover snaps up his trout in Republican strongholds indicates that neither Al nor Herbert is anxious to play on the enemy's grounds.

In the meantime, the boys are being clicked and snapped by the revolving photographs. Neither one of the candidates has any privacy and cannot even take a showerbath without turning on the hot and cold news reels.

Papa Bob Levy Relates Stories About Siki, Singular Sengelese

Laughable Didoes of Monkey-Man, and His Insatiate Desire for Publicity, Recalled by Manager

By DAMON RUNYON
Copyright, 1928, By Universal Service

NEW YORK, May 17.—We had Papa Levy telling tales about Battling Siki the other afternoon—Siki, the singular Senegalese, who wound up his didoes one night a couple of years back over in Hell's Kitchen.

He got in a row with a drinking companion over a matter of $20. A fellow rapped him over the head with a club, and another fellow threw a couple of slugs from a sharp-barking "rod," or pistol, into his back.

He was found the next morning, a weird and silent huddle in the street. Pop Levy felt very badly about that. He liked Battling Siki, deeming his wildest antics but the manifestations of a mischievous spirit.

Papa Levy is a corpulent, mild-mannered man, who would appear to be about the last person in the world to manage the eccentric monkey-man from Senegal, but Siki was very fond of Papa Bob, and would obey him meekly. He would almost weep when Papa Bob would speak to him harshly—or as harshly as Papa Bob can speak, which is not what you would call downright harsh, at that.

Siki Starts Nickname.

It was Siki who first called him Papa Bob, the name that sticks to him this day. The night the Senegalese was fighting Punch 'Em Paul Berlenbach, in the old garden, and when Siki was spouting blood, he lounged back to his corner after one particularly wicked round and smiled into the distressed countenance of Papa Bob.

"How do you feel, Papa?" asked Siki, cheerfully.

"He was a very crafty fellow in this way," said Papa Bob. "He did a lot of things that seemed crazy, but sometimes he did them only for the purpose of publicity.

"We were down in Memphis, Tenn., one time, booked to box there, and Siki came to me in a bad humor saying, 'I no box in thees town.' I asked him why, and he said because there was nothing in the newspipples, about him. He meant the newspapers.

"I had to give him some excuse, so I told him that down south the newspapers didn't print things about negro boxers. The explanation seemed to molify him, although he came back twice to get me to repeat my statement.

Yes, He Had Bananas.

"I paid no more attention to the incident until the next day when I picked up a morning paper, and found plenty in it about Siki. It seems that he had appeared on Beale street with a bunch of bananas under his arm, and in all his famous scenery, including the top hat, red necktie, yellow shoes and spats.

"He walked along the street giving bananas away to negroes. When a crowd gathered and he was asked for an explanation of his singular philanthropy, he said he had heard everybody singing 'Yes, We Have No Bananas' since arriving in America, and he wished to remedy the deficiency. He got a lot of publicity by the expenditure of a couple of dollars.

"Another incident you may recall was when he gave away dollar bills on a Jersey ferry boat. The accounts of his donations gave the impression that he was literally throwing his money away, but as a matter of fact he passed out exactly $28, and got probably $25,000 worth of publicity.

"Maybe it was a strange sort of publicity, but it suited the character of Battling Siki. His astonishing get-up for evening, which always included an opera cape and a top hat, was merely to attract the attention he loved. He took a brace of lion cubs out riding in a taxi in the Bois in Paris just to break into the newspapers.

His Monkey Escapes.

"You remember the time he appeared on Broadway in his evening costume with a parrot on one shoulder and a monkey in his arms? That got him into the papers. One of his monkeys—he always had a lot of them—escaped from him in the subway and was missing a couple of weeks. A man finally returned with it and presented a bill for the monkey's board.

"'You keep him monkey,' said Siki.

"He always had a taxi waiting for him, and many of his jams were with taxi drivers because he didn't happen to have money enough on him to pay for his rides. I have rushed to his rescue when there would be as much as $18 on the clock. He just naturally loved taxis.

"He would have been a great fighter if he hadn't been such an eccentric,' mused Papa Bob. "He was a good boxer and had plenty of courage. But he didn't take his game seriously. He liked to clown in the ring.

"I made money with him, at that. He hated training, and when I matched him for his first appearance in this country I sent him down to Madam Bey's training camp in New Jersey. It was a 15-round match with Kid Norfolk and Siki was making 175 pounds.

Trains on Beer.

"He worked hard for some time and was in great condition as the day of the fight drew near. Then he suddenly blew up like a balloon. He weighed 178 pounds on the morning of the battle and we couldn't figure why, because he had been within easy striking distance of the weight the day before.

"We found later that someone had sent a case of beer down to him and Siki had been guzzling it in the bathroom. He was on the road all morning trying to get weight off, and even at that he gave Norfolk a terrific fight. But you may note that I have little hair on my head and that the little is gray."

"I got this way managing Battling Siki," confided Papa Bob.

MANDELL-M'LARNIN TITLE BATTLE POSTPONED UNTIL TONIGHT

MAKING WEIGHT HARD FOR SAM

Champ Finally Scales 135; Jim Half Pound Lighter

NEW YORK, May 17. (AP)—Tex Rickard's proverbial "weather luck" failed him today and forced postponement of Jimmy McLarnin's attempt to lift the lightweight crown from Sammy Mandell. The 15-round joust will be staged tomorrow night at the Polo Grounds if the weather man is in better mood.

Although the brooding skies failed to break out into a general downpour, the gloomy cast overhead and threats of showers caused the promoter to order the postponement just after the contestants had weighed in at the offices of the New York state athletic commission.

The Irish lad with the lethal right fist scaled 134½ pounds, just under the limit, while Mandell, after an enforced workout, tipped the beam at an even 135.

When the champ first stepped on the scales he was half a pound over the weight. After much scurrying around, the little Chicago Italian was allowed 15 minutes to reduce to the class limit. Sammy retired to an ante-room, shadow-boxed until the time was up, and returned to save his weight forfeit without a fraction of an ounce to spare.

The boxers will not be required to weigh again unless a second postponement is necessary. Both probably will scale well over the limit by tomorrow night.

Dempsey Won't Be 'Punch Goofy'

Jack Quits Ring to Save Mentality, He Says

By NORMAN E. BROWN
Staff Writer for Central Press

Jack Dempsey has said that he has "quit the ring" for good, that he realizes full well he is done as a fighter, and doesn't care to find himself wandering about punch drunk as a result of taking more poundings, just for the coin he might pick up.

One can't imagine a more tragic spectacle than that of the once great Dempsey roaming about, as many a valiant fighter has done—somewhat dazed from incessant beatings about the head—carrying but one thought, that of showing the world that he is still as good as he "ever was."

Jack's "Socks Appeal"

It is the men of Dempsey's type who finally wind up that way. The kind who always have taken two or three to land one. Dempsey's features show the effect of this, in puffed eyebrows, puffed cheek bones, heavy lips, scars specking his eyebrows, cheeks and face.

Most of these fighters have lived outside the ring as they have fought in it—wasting their energy in the very delight of it. Blessed at the start with rugged physiques, they have abused them, with luxuries and pleasures which were beyond them in the earlier days.

There is no real reason why Dempsey should continue in the game until he hits the long trail of these beaten heroes, to find himself sidetracked and eventually pitied by those who once idolized him.

Jack Should Retire.

If he has begun to feel the effects of the Firpo slugfest, the incessant hammering of Tunney's left against his head for 20 rounds, and other poundings he took while beating his way to fame, he ought to make good his announced decision to quit the ring.

If he is using the old stunt for ordinary publicity purposes—to keep himself before the public while the Tunney-Heeney battle is being ballyhooed and staged—it would be labeled a cheap piece of horse play on Dempsey's part—and rightly so.

DAILY DOPE

By LARRY DAILEY

HOWARD FITZGERALD is out of the game for a few weeks, but if it were not for the foresight and generous pocketbook of J. Alvin Gardner the situation would be much worse. The boss of the champions unhesitatingly opened his strong box and extracted a pretty penny to purchase Brick Eldred, the hard hitting outfielder, from Seattle, thus providing four gardens. Now with Fitzgerald out with a fractured arm Lyman Lamb steps into the breach—and the Spudders will go right on ahead fighting for the pennant.

Lamb was in a batting slump when Eldred was acquired and so Brick was sent to right field. All ball players have slumps and it was felt that a rest would benefit Lyman. Which doubtless was the case. The stocky citizen of Joplin, Mo., has been hitting well since he got back into the game, and he doubtless will field satisfactorily in the difficult middle suburb.

SO, THOUGH the value of Fitzgerald, offensively and defensively, was great, his absence won't be so severely felt as if there wasn't the willing and capable Mr. Lamb to play—and if the willing and winning Mr. Gardner hadn't purchased the clouting Mr. Eldred. Too, there's another silver lining in the cloud. The Spudders play Beaumont again today and then at Shreveport for three days. Then they return home for an 18-day stand, starting Tuesday. Thus they are favored by the schedule while Fitz is out.

THE GREAT CONCERN caused by Howard's injury is that it may effect his playing when he gets back into the game. This would be deeply regretted, not only in its result to the Spudders, but because Howard is one of the most valuable and popular athletes who ever wore the livery of the Wichita Falls club. However, I am informed that the injury will heal satisfactorily and that with sufficient rest he will be as good as ever when he returns to the lineup.

MANAGERIAL SKILL of Bill Carrigan is beginning to show in the spectacular rise of the Boston Red Sox. The spectacle of the Hub American league club winning a flock of consecutive games and fighting for the leadership of the second division is strange to baseball. It is years since the crimson hose have made a bid for recognition.

Carrigan won two pennants and world championships for the Red Sox more than a decade ago. He then retired to devote his interests to acquiring money, (he is president of a bank up in Lewiston, Maine) and to living a life of ease and comfort. But the lure of the game called, and Carrigan heeded. He returned last season as skipper of the Red Sox. Results of his leadership were slow in showing. But now the Red Sox, with a crew of youngsters and a few castoffs from other clubs, are playing at a fast clip and the Royal Rooters of the Boston club are visioning another championship team within a season or two.

WILBUR COEN, called Junior, looms as the first child tennis prodigy since Vincent Richards flashed across the net world. The Kansas City boy, who isn't 18 years old, defeated Wilmer Allison, the Fort Worth star, in five hard fought sets at St. Louis in trials for the Davis cup team. Coen's play in defeating Allison, following other successes this spring, indicates he will soon take a place as a foremost player. Indeed, there is the possibility he will be a member of the Davis cup team this year, though he probably will not actively engage in competition until another season. It is youngsters who must take up the burden of regaining the Davis cup, in place of the fading veterans Tilden and Johnston, and Coen is regarded as the likeliest prospect to succeed to the mantle worn so long and well by the "two Bills." Coen, incidentally, is a protege of Tilden, and if he develops as a foremost racquet wielder, as promised, another debt to Tilden in the progress of United States tennis will be owed.

TEMPERAMENTAL, yes. Egotistical, to an extent. That is Tilden. But, after all, he is the greatest exponent in the history of tennis, its foremost player and teacher.

Damon Runyon Receives Ten Tips On Sure Winner of Kentucky Derby

Advance Guard of Race Enthusiasts Descends Upon Old Louisville and Talk is All of Great Race

By DAMON RUNYON

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 17. (US)—My operatives who have been stationed in Louisville this past week chasing the Derby horses around, began filing their reports with me immediately upon my arrival this morning.

A cursory glance at those reports convince me that I already have in hand no less than ten sure winners of the big race that comes off at Churchill Downs Saturday afternoon.

"The Singing Kid," my star man on those occasions, has yet to appear with the detailed story of his investigations, but when he shows up I know that I will have at least one sure loser. 'Singing Kid," who is otherwise Mr. Arthur Loftus, never fails me with a sure loser. I have great respect for his judgment in that particular.

"The Singing Kid" is so called because of a mellifluous tenor voice, which he turns on at slight provocation. He can sing Mother Machree more shrilly than any other tenor of my acquaintance, though his forte is blues. "The Singing Kid" may be found singing the blues after every race.

"Singing Kid" Still Hopes

I expect to find him in front of the Seelbach hotel tomorrow evening rousing the echoes along Fourth street with his keen notes until the rude coppers tell him to cheese it. "The Singing Kid" is not as young as he used to be back in the days of Emmeryville, but his voice has lost none of its timbre and his heart has lost none of its hope.

"The Singing Kid" still believes there is a chance.

Boy and man he has been trailing the bangtails, as we say at the club, for many a year in and out of money—but mainly out—and always a scoffer at Prof. E. Phocian Howard's theory that "all horse players must die broke." The Kentucky Derby would scarcely be complete without "The Singing Kid."

The advance guard of the Derby day mob is moving into Louisville, coming from all the nearby ports and from the throbbing marts of the effete east. The hotel clerks are casting sympathetic orbs upon their regular clients and remarking, "you will have to give that room up tonight, old boy, the fellow that reserved it a year ago is coming in."

Talk Is of "Hawses"

The store windows are filled with saddles and bridles and riding boots and other equine trappery adorned with bright colors by way of lending atmosphere to the biggest event of the American turf; the drawl of the blue grass country is heard in the street and the drawling is all about horses. The little children in the grammar schools of the blue grass can tell you about horses; perhaps the subject is taught there. Only the blue grassers call it "hawses."

I regret to report that the usual touch of intersectional rivalry seems to be missing from the Derby this year. That is to say the effete east does not seem to have a candidate calculated to get the Kentuckian heated up to the extent of conscientiously hating the horse and the effete easterners behind it, as was the case, say, when Pompey was sent down here to offer competition to Kentucky's Bubbling Over.

It wasn't much competition as it turned out, but it was enough to give the Kentuckians excuse for plenty of gloating. And last year when Harry Payne Whitney's Whiskery popped down there in front was considered a Kentucky calamity, though if you climb the average equine family tree you must eventually find yourself back in the blue grass. I mean to say most of those race horses come from Kentucky. Anyway, it is the ownership that fixes their regional identity, although the year Flying Ebony won for his owner, Gifford A. Cochran, the Kentuckian took no offense because Flying Ebony was bred in Ole Kintuck, as Mr. Irvin S. Cobb calls it.

Harry Payne Whitney has grievously disappointed the Derbyites this year. He owns Victorian, the winner of the Preakness, and it was thought he would surely ship Victorian to Churchill Downs to try for the Derby.

Horse owners don't care much for that shipment from Maryland to Kentucky, between the Preakness and the Derby. But it was thought that Whitney would send Victorian if only as a matter of sentiment.

Preakness Runners There

A number of the other Preakness runners are here and some of them might just as well been left at home. However, there are three that you must concede a chance in the Derby on their showing in the Preakness—Mr. Ned McLean's Toro, the Salubria stable's Strolling Player and Kilmer's Sun Beau. Admiral Grayson is one of the owners of the Salubria stables.

Toro was beaten by just an eyewinker by Victorian in the Preakness. A lot of clients thought it was a dead heat. Others argue that Victorian outgamed Toro after Toro had shoved ahead of Victorian for a whisper. But a young man who squatted on a steed behind the front flyers told me that what happened to Toro was that the ubiquitous young sonny workman on Victorian kept plucking at Toro's saddle blanket with his prerensile fingers as the horses thundered through the stretch, thus keeping Toro under some restraint. Ambrose rode Toro that day and probably will ride him again Saturday and if he keeps his saddle skirts clear of digits he ought to do alright.

I thought Strolling Player ran a good race in the Preakness. He was fourth behind Victorian, Toro and Solace, and was dusting right along. Solace was shipped to Kentucky. I thought Sun Beau, too, was coming on at the finish in the Maryland scramble and I do not disregard his chances Saturday even in the face of the reports of several of my operatives that Mrs. John D. Hertz' Reigh Count can't miss. Mrs. Hertz is the wife of John Hertz, the Chicago yellow taxi man who once mixed up in the manly art of scrambling ears as manager of Benny Yanger, "The Tipton Slasher."

Reigh Count was accounted the champion 2-year-old of 1927, a Futurity winner and all that sort of thing, and he has been working out at Churchill Downs in a manner that has caused the clockers' hair to stand on end.

Mrs. Hertz also owns the great filly Anita Peabody which is eligible for the Derby, but operatives doubt that Anita goes unless something unforeseen happens to Reigh Count. The Hertzes have more money than some people have hay.

Sande Declines Offer

Stuyvesant Peabody, a relative of the Hertzes, has a thing called Martie Flynn entered in the derby and he proffered Earl Sande, king of the jockeys, a fat fee to ride this beetle for him but Sande declined. Peabody paid $10,000 for Flynn a couple of weeks ago and any Derby that you can buy for that kind of sum cannot be while the horses are in training.

Some of them don't belong in the same country with Derby horses, and yet you never can tell. Luck has a lot to do with this race, even against class.

Some of my operatives fancy a son of Upset, the only horse that ever poked his snoot in front of Man-o'-War.

Misstep, owned by Leo J. Mar, has done some nimble footing in his trials. Lawlev might possibly do it, though Lawley is more of a sprinter than anything else.

HEAVY DERBY TRACK LIKELY

Torrential Rain Leaves Downs Oval Muddy

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 17. (UP) Prospects of a fast track for the 54th running of the Kentucky derby Saturday, were practically wiped out by a torrential rainstorm today, which left the track at Churchill Downs covered with water and mud.

The rain fell all morning and after a brief respite at noon began again in the afternoon. Although the afternoon rain was followed by clearing skies and a bright sun, little hope is held out for a dry, fast track.

A heavy track will mean a field of about 20 starters. The largest field that ever started was in 1923 when 21 faced the starter, Zev winning. Should 20 go to the post, the winner will receive $54,875 in addition to the $5000 gold plate.

Mudders' Chances Good

With a muddy track in sight, the chances of Jack Higgins, Distraction, Bobashela, and Bonivan took a leap today, as all of them are considered excellent mudders.

The Audley Farm's Bobashela, which worked a mile in 1:41-2 Wednesday, with the derby weight of 126 pounds, is gaining favor with turf men, who expect the derby to be run over heavy track.

The Wheatley stable's Distraction which defeated Victorian, winner of the Preakness, and Nassak, in the Wood Handicap at Jamaica, also is finding backing with those who look for the track to be soft.

Tom Young, track superintendent, said with clear, hot weather Friday and Saturday, he would be able to whip the Churchill Downs oval into fair shape.

Despite the heavy going today, a number of derby candidates went through their workouts. E. B. McLean's Toro worked the derby route of a mile and a quarter in 2:12 4-5, handled by Jockey Eddie Ambrose.

The winter book and pre-derby favorite, Reigh Count, took the final workout before the race. The red son of Sun Reigh, negotiated a mile and one-eighth in 2:03 with Chick Lang up. Fractional times were :27; :52 3-5; 1:18 4-5; 1:46.

Peter Wrack, who failed in the Preakness, sent his stock up when he worked a fast mile in the mud. His time was 1:41 1-2 and onlookers were impressed.

The Wild Rose farm's Charmarten, a recently improved candidate, went a creditable mile in 1:48 easily.

All over 10 starters in the derby will be grouped in the mutuel field, and if 20 start, 10 will be placed on one ticket. Betting will start at 10 a. m. Saturday morning to continue up to post time.

Officials announce that all seats have been sold and expect the crowd to eclipse by several thousand last year's attendance, when Harry Payne Whitney's Whiskery won from J. E. Widener's Osmond by a nose.

MUSCLE SHOALS PLAN YET FACES DEFEAT ON PRINCIPLE

WASHINGTON, May 17. (UP)—After a controversy stretching over many years, congress finally has approved a plan for operation of the giant Muscle Shoals power and nitrate project in Alabama, representing an investment of over $150,000,000.

The plan, however, is a government operation plan, and this principle may yet block a final solution of the problem at this time. As President Coolidge repeatedly has opposed government control, there is a chance he may veto the measure for this reason.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, May 17. (AP)—The cotton market was higher today on nervousness over the weather outlook and private reports indicating that boll weevil were begining to show up in some sections of the belt. July contracts sold up from 20.80 to 21.25 or 44 points net higher, and closed at 21.17, the general market closing steady at net advances of 35 to 42 points.

The opening was steady at an advance of 1 to 5 points. The market showed signs of hesitation after the call, but some realizing or local selling was absorbed on setbacks or 3 or 4 points. Prices soon firmed up again on reports of showers or rains in the eastern belt and rather an unsettled weather outlook. Offerings were light, while buying became somewhat more active during midday, when reports reached here that boll weevil were making an appearance in some sections of Alabama, Georgia and Arkansas. There was rebuying or covering by early sellers, while demand seemed to broaden out somewhat during the afternoon as prices worked higher without meeting any particular opposition.

May advanced to 21.49 and October to 21.25, or 42 to 49 points above yesterday's closing quotations before demand tapered off and realizing checked the upward movement. Closing quotations were 6 or 7 points off from the best under realizing.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, May 17. (AP)—Moderately heavy buying promoted by unfavorable weather and weevil reports was reflected in an advance of approximately $2.50 a bale in the cotton market today. The advance carried October contracts from an opening of 20.31 to 20.80, a gain of 49 points. Some realizing in final trading caused that month to close at 20.72, or 41 points net higher. The general market closed steady at net advances of 35 to 41 points.

The opening was easy in sympathy with lower Liverpool cables than due. First trades showed losses of 3 points to gains of one point. Reports of heavy rains in Oklahoma and the Texas Panhandle brought out increased demand and July rallied to 20.64, October 20.44 and December 20.39, 9 to 13 points above yesterday's close.

The bulge met realizing by recent buyers and prices reacted 5 to 8 points, but the market stiffened later on confirmation of the western rains and reports of weevils in many portions of the belt as well as warning by a Mississippi entomologist that farmers of that state must expect considerable damage from the pest. While the course of prices was upward there were several minor reactions but at mid-afternoon July touched 20.95, October 20.80 and December 20.74, or 40 to 49 points above the previous close.

There was a renewal of realizing in the final trading and the close was a few points off from the best with July at 20.90, October at 20.72 and December 20.67, or 35 to 41 points net higher for the day.

Grain

By THOMAS TEMPLE HOYNE
Universal Service

CHICAGO, May 17.—Wheat was weak today and broke down into new low ground on the decline since the big bull market cracked, but corn appeared to be strong and closed about a cent higher.

At the end wheat was down 2⅜ to 4; corn was up ⅝ to 1; Oats were off ⅛ to 1½; Rye was ⅝ to 1⅞ lower.

Above I say corn "appeared" to be strong. That innuendo may demand elucidation. Here is an analysis of the corn situation which may or may not be correct, but presents a point of view that is worth consideration.

Corn acts as if a desperate effort was being made to dull the market. Every day that passes brings nearer a brighter prospect for a big corn crop this year. Next week brings the calendar date for selling corn annually.

That date marks about the beginning of the period when corn usually takes the downgrade for a considerable length of time at this season of the year. The reason is obvious. Attention shifts altogether from the situation of supply and demand in old corn to the prospects for the new crop that is practically all planted.

If corn does not maintain a show of strength up to that time there is less likelihood of its strength for some time afterward. Often around that date it blows out at a top and begins a big break.

A. T. & T. Outstanding Issue On Stock Exchange As Quiet Settles Over Trading; Oils Steady

By BROADEN WALL
Universal Service Financial Expert.

NEW YORK, May 17.—Federal Reserve Bank of New York raised its rediscount rate to 4½ per cent this afternoon and it was anticipation of such action that resulted in another irregular but more quiet stock market. American Telephone and Telegraph was the outstanding feature of strength, soaring over 12 points after announcement of melon cutting in the form of rights to new stock. American International scored almost as great a gain, while Harvester, Ludlum and Curtiss also soared in rather sensational manner.

General Motors and Studebaker recovered after early softness and closed for good gains with the best buying evidenced toward the close. Railroads were extremely dull and a shade lower while the coppers and oils continued to reflect quiet absorption on further favorable trade news.

Banks called $30,000,000 loans and the call rate jumped to 6 per cent from renewal of 5½ per cent.

Increase in the rediscount rate is not as bearish as is the $140,000,000 increase in brokers' loans and the further big drop in gold holdings of the reserve banks. Either is sufficient reason for the cry of "caution" from farsighted brokers for they indicate that it is going to become increasingly expensive to trade in or to carry very low yields levels prevailing as a result of current high record prices.

Brokers and traders left the street after the reserve meeting looking forward to a very hectic opening tomorrow morning. Their main hope was founded in the support evidenced in today's selling. They seemed to forget that the money power have given warning after warning and unless speculative enthusiasm is checked further steps will be taken to make money rates even higher than those threatened by the higher rediscount rate.

Texas corporation again acted best of the oils with others ruling steady but holding to narrow price range. Atlantic Gulf benefited from expectation that favorable earnings report would be issued soon. Decline of 111,000 barrels daily in crude oil optput last week was regarded as the largest on record.

Continuation of the decline, it was pointed out, during a period when consumption is growing would bring about the reduction in amount of oil in storage necessary to place the producing and refining companies in a good earnings position.

JEWEL TEA CO. Inc.
Five-Year Record

The Jewel Tea company is a leader in the direct-to-consumer distribution of coffee, tea and other staple groceries. It also occupies a foremost position amongst coffee roasters. The company carries on its business and has routes diverging from all the principal cities of the country. The company experienced a period of undue expansion after the war, but this situation appears to have been satisfactorily overcome. The concern was formed in 1916.

The company's main office and plants are located at Chicago, and it also leases a 12-story building at Hoboken, N. J. Four obsolete and uneconomically located factories have been disposed of and have been replaced by two modern factories which will permit of more economic operation, according to officials of the company.

There is no funded debt. Capital stock outstanding consists of $2,500,000 of seven per cent cumulative preferred of $100 par, and 120,000 shares of no par common.

Dividends are being paid regularly at the 7 per cent rate on the preferred, and on the common at $4 a share per year.

Sales so far in 1928 have shown a decided increase over the corresponding period of 1927. Net for 1927 amounted to $1,261,391. This amounted to $50.46 a share on the preferred and $8.98 a share on the common. There was a slight gain as compared with 1926.

As of January 1, 1928, total current assets amounted to $4,754,479; current liabilities were $1,632,904, and net working capital $3,121,575. Book value of the common stock amounted to $16.67 a share.

Curb

Leading Issues on New York Market

NEW YORK, May 17. (AP)—Trading was unsettled on the curb market today. Selling orders caused a further decline at the opening, but a spurt of selling carried a number of issues, most of them industrial specialties, to new high levels. Increase in time call money rate to 6 per cent started another selling movement shortly after noon.

Interest centered in initial trading of American Telephone & Telegraph rights, 200,000 of which were traded in the first hour after they had been placed on the list at noon. They opened at 14, sold off ⅛ and by 1 o'clock were selling at 16⅛. Trading was begun also at noon on a when, as and if issued basis in shares of the new Transcontinental Air Transport, which opened with a block of 7000 shares at 20½, or more than twice the price at which 500,000 shares had been privately sold. The price quickly rose to 24, slumped to 20⅛ and then regained the loss.

Aero Supply A held to a level of 59, considerably below the year's high, but nearly 4 points above yesterday's close. The B issue, however, sagged 6 points. Deere & Company, Brill, Seeman Brothers, Todd Shipyard and U. S. Gypsum continued strong. Fox Theater A held around 29⅝ and General Baking around 12 with narrow price movements, generally upward. Auburn Auto, Bancitaly and most of the chain store issues moved lower. A feature was the strength of mining stock, New Mont rising nearly 3 points. Utilities and oils generally were weak.

Planes' Capacity Limited for Fuel

PHILADELPHIA, May 17. (INS) The airplane has reached the limit of its loading capacity at present but the development of a fuel lighter than gasoline would do much to relieve existing limitations, Henry Ford believes.

Probably the next development in connection with aviation will be the discovery of this needed fuel, Ford told a group of newspapermen while here to receive a medal from the Franklin institute. He intimated that experiments with which he was connected were now being carried in the search for the fuel.

ROTARY CLUB PARTY FRIDAY

Annual Entertainment At Country Club

Announcement of the annual Rotary club party which will be held at the Country club Friday evening was made by Horrace Robbins at the luncheon of the Wichita Falls club at the Kemp hotel Thursday noon.

Fred T. Couper, chairman of the program committee, was in charge of the last program of his term of office, presenting Miss Kathryn Randle, who delivered an oration on "War." Mr. Couper also told a number of Scotch stories. A club sing-song was led by R. E. Shepherd with J. S. Pitman playing the accompaniment at the piano.

In announcing the convention of Rotary International which will be held in Minneapolis, Minn., June 18-22, A. E. Myles declared that Wichita Falls should send a large representation to the meet as Walter Cline is first vice president of the international organization.

Julian Montgomery requested that all members of the club attend the party at the Country club Friday evening. Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Randle, parents of Miss Randle, were given a special introduction by Fred Couper.

City Manager Gets First Charter Book

Official copies of the charter of Wichita Falls came from the press Thursday and are now ready for distribution, according to an announcement made by W. E. McBroom, city clerk. When he received the new bound volumes, he gave the first copy to City Manager George D. Fairtrace for his inspection.

The book is in paper with light gray covers and is obtainable from the city at 75 cents per copy, McBroom announced.

Texas Mother Proves Claim

Children don't ordinarily take to medicines but here's one that all of them love. Perhaps it shouldn't be called a medicine at all. It's more like a rich, concentrated food. It's pure, wholesome, sweet to the taste and sweet in your child's little stomach. It builds up and strengthens weak, puny, underweight children, makes them eat heartily, brings the roses back to their cheeks, makes them playful, energetic, full of life. And no bilious, headachy, constipated, feverish, fretful baby or child ever failed to respond to the gentle influence of California Fig Syrup on their little bowels. It starts lazy bowels quick, cleans them out thoroughly, tones and strengthens them so they continue to act normally of their own accord.

Millions of mothers know about California Fig Syrup from experience. A Texas mother, Mrs. J. G. Moore, 119 Cliff avenue, San Antonio, says: "California Fig Syrup is certainly all that's claimed for it. I have proved that with my little Dorothy. She was a bottle baby and very delicate. Her bowels were weak. I started her on Fig Syrup when she was a few months old and it regulated her quick. I have used it with her ever since for colds and every little set back and her wonderful condition tells better than words how it helps."

Don't be imposed on. See that the Fig Syrup you buy bears the name "California" so you'll get the genuine, famous for 50 years.—Adv.

WHO WON?

Baseball Fans Would Give City Manager New Duty

"How did the game come out, please, mister?"

That's the question that has City Manager George D. Fairtrace puzzled these days.

Mr. Fairtrace is not an eight-hour worker, and the fact it is 5 o'clock does not mean he is through for the day. Therefore, about the time the baseball games are over, he receives telephone calls asking for the score on the game.

This happens long after the auditorium employes have gone for the day and the switchboard is closed. It happens on a city auditorium telephone number, Mr. Fairtrace is puzzled. "Who," he asks, has a number that is confused with the number of the auditorium?

"Or, can it be," he continued, "that Wichitans wish their new city manager to give an added service—that of giving out the baseball score?"

School - College Notes

"An apple is not in any proper sense an apple until it is ripe, so a human being is not in any proper sense a human being until he is educated."—Horace Mann.

"The Fighting Temeraire" copy of a picture by William Turner, was presented to the high school by Maurice Allred as a representative of the 1928 senior class.

Katherine Douglass told of the life of the artist, William Turner, who was born in London in 1775 and died there in 1851. His career as an artist began when he as a boy of six years he drew a picture of a lion and showed it to his father, who determined that his son should study art. When he was 35 years old he received the distinction of being elected professor of perspective at the Royal academy. "The Fighting Temeraire" was done in oils about the year 1805; most of his fame, however, rests on his water color werks.

Dean S. H. Rider received the picture as a representative of the school.

SPECIAL WICHITAN

A sixteen page, magazine type, special souvenir edition of the Wichitan will be printed for the last edition which is due to arrive next Wednesday. Due to the increased cost of printing such an edition a charge of 10 cents per copy will be made for the issue.

If present plans materialize the covers will be illustrated in colors, a novel feature for the Wichitan, said Professor A. F. Edwards, sponsor of the paper.

ASSEMBLY PROGRAM

Mary Jane Nelson announced the presentation of a short skit from "Contents Unknown," at Junior college-high school assembly Thursday morning.

The scene presented was one of the comic skits from the mystery comedy drama to be presented Saturday, May 19. This play will be the last presented by the Blue Curtain club this season and is to climax a very successful season.

COLLEGIATE

A group of Junior college boys were seen Thursday morning out on the campus parading around with their trousers rolled up to their knees. Spring seems to have entered their blood. Probably the more collegiate will be going barefoot soon.

HONOR STUDENTS

James Williams, accompanied at the piano by Marie Beaty, sang Kipling's "Mandalay" in assembly Thursday morning.

Zona Marie Elhert announced that the second order of the senior invitations had arrived.

Dean S. H. Rider announced that the high school reports would be issued Friday afternoon, May 25. Honor students for the college will be determined Monday and for the high school Tuesday.

ALLRED TALKS TO GRADUATES

Wichita Attorney Speaks In Valley View

Special to The Record News.

VALLEY VIEW, Texas, May 17. James V. Allred of Wichita Falls delivered the address of the evening at the commencement exercises of the Valley View high school graduating class. Mr. Allred stressed the importance of specialization, and learning to do one thing well. In closing he reminded the class of the purpose of life, to do some good in the world and leave it better than we found it.

Special numbers were presented by Mr. L. H. Flint, Miss Era Pierce and Miss Thelma Adams.

The following students were presented diplomas by J. R. Steedman, superintendent of the school: Gladys Clawson, Leona Barton, Agnes Barton, Juanita Alcorn, Jack Jeter and Cecil Holliman.

THIS IS BY FAR THE LARGEST AND MOST IMPORTANT THEATRICAL THAT HAS EVER APPEARED IN THE SOUTHWEST. A NIGHT IN SPAIN will be seen in but five cities—Joplin, Tulsa, Dallas, Abilene and El Paso—between the termination of its run at the Shubert Theatre, Kansas City, Saturday, May 26, and the inauguration of its Los Angeles engagement at the Biltmore Theatre Saturday night, June 1. The company travels in a special train of twelve baggage cars and Pullmans and will be presented in ABILENE with exactly the same cast and undenuded of its startling features that made even blase Chicago gasp for twenty weeks.
