NEW LINE TO BE BUILT TO ARCHER POOL

Production Reaches Point Where Existing Line Is Unable to Care for Production.

Total for Field Is About 2600, With Texhoma Producing Around 1600 Barrels Daily.

Construction is due to begin the end of the week on a four-inch line from the Texhoma refinery to the new Texhoma field in Archer county, the line to be built by the Texhoma Oil and Refining Company primarily to care for their own production.

Production here has become so heavy, it is stated, that the Texas Company's small line is unable to take care of the crude now being produced. The total runs are said to be around 2,600 barrels. The Texhoma has had the right of way for the pipeline for a number of weeks, but has delayed building its own line until developments made certain that the present pipeline facilities would be insufficient.

Texhoma Produces 1,600

With the steady increase in production of the No. 4 Gose of the Texhoma Company, the discovery company now has better than 1,600 barrels daily production, according to company figures Wednesday.

The Tuesday run tickets from the six producers on the Gose and Taylor leases of the company showed 1,637 barrels. The No. 4, the newest well, that day swabbed and flowed 808 barrels, according to the same figures.

Staley Completes Another

The pool's latest completion is the Staley No. 2 Coffman, which was reported Wednesday as flowing between 400 and 500 barels daily. This well is a location south of the No. 1, which is reported as also capable of making 400 bareris daily.

There is fully a thousand barrels production daily outside the Texhoma producers, it is stated, this putting the production around 2,600 barrels, an amount which overtaxes the present pipeline facilities.

Three More On Sand

The Texhoma has three wells on the sand, the No. 1 Coffman being reported Wednesday as rigging up a standard to drill in. The No. 2 Taylor and the No. 5 Gose have cemented casing on the sand, and will be drilled in within the next week or so, it is stated.

The Griswold Oil Company's No. 1 N. Henderson has reset casing and cemented, to eliminate the casing trouble which has prevented the successful completion of the well for some time. The well was on the pump sevral days before the last casing trouble and showed up for a good producer.

The Harper and Jones No. 1 Taylor is reported still having some water trouble. This test is 1,500 feet north and slightly east of the Texhoma's discovery well.

The test of Bartlett et al on the Netherton, two miles southwest of the Texhoma discovery well, is reported preparing to swab, with a showing of oil in the sand drilled a short distance below 1,600 feet.

STANDARDIZING TEST IN NEW POOL ON REXFORD.

The Burk Tex Oil and Refining company is standardizing to drill in its No. 2 Rexford in the 1370 foot sand, according to Wednesday reports from the new pool, in the north end of the Texhoma field. The No. 1 of this company which has been swabbing for several days, is now being rigged up to pump.

The Texhoma Oil and Refining company is drilling in the gas sand in the No. 2 Rexford, and will probably drill on down to the oil sand, which lies just under the gas formation, according to the present intention.

The No. 3 Rexford of this company is a new location to be drilled immediately, as is also the No. 26 Cropper.

OVER HALF SHIPS ENTERING PORT FLEW U. S. FLAG

By Associated Press.

GALVESTON, July 6.—The American flag flew over more than half the vessels entering and clearing the port of Galveston and the subports of Texas City and Houston during the fiscal year ending June 30, according to customs house figures.

Entrances were 1,040 against clearances of 1,065. Of these 769 and 829, respectively, were American vessels. Great Britain was a bad second with 228 and 289 vessels respectively.

FAMOUS CHICAGO ENGINEER DIES THERE WEDNESDAY

CHICAGO, July 6.—John Clarke McMinn, the engineer who designed the giant ferris wheel during the world's fair, in Chicago, is dead at his home here. For 10 years McMinn was editor of Electrical Engineering.

JOINS RESERVE SYSTEM

Special to The Record News.

WASHINGTON, July 6.—The Federal Reserve Board announces that the First State Bank of Conhoma, Texas, with resources of $126,997, and the Security State Bank of Cooper, with resources of $900,449, have been admitted to the Federal Reserve system.

LAFOLLETE PROTESTS USE OF ARMED FORCES IN MEXICAN OIL FIELD

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, July 6.—A resolution protesting against the possible use of American armed forces in the Mexican oil fields and requesting the president, if compatible with the public interests, to transmit immediately to the Senate all documents and other information relating to the present situation in Mexico, especially as involving any orders to naval officers, was introduced today by Senator LaFollette, Republican, Wisconsin.

The resolution also would declare in the sense of the Senate that no troops should be landed on Mexican soil or any other military action taken without express authority of congress.

MEXICAN OFFICIALS FEEL LITTLE WORRY

By Associated Press.

MEXICO CITY, July 6.—High government officials said today they saw nothing in the situation in the Tampico oil regions to cause uneasiness over international relations. They declared they did not anticipate serious trouble in that district. The dispatch of two United States war vessels to Tampico was treated conservatively by the Mexico City newspapers.

Reports from the Tampioc area tell of increasing closing down by American oil companies but there have been no disturbances.

Statements attributed to oil men here describe the tax imposition by the Mexican government as amounting to 115 per cent, the increase in the duty making exportation of oil impossible except at a loss. The assertion is made by the oil men that the companies do not desire a conflict with the government but that they must operate on a business basis. One high government official today made the charge that the Standard Oil company "by its monopolizing tendencies" was the real cause of the chaotic situation.

The sending of General Manuel Pelaes to Tampico, Mexico, as commander in chief of the Mexican government forces there was described by Secretary of War Estrada this morning as opportune.

"There is every assurance," the war secretary said, "that he will use his best influence to alleviate the situation resulting from the shut down."

Senator LaFollette requested immediate consideration of the resolution, but it went over on objection of Senator Lodge, republican leader of Massachusetts.

Referring to reports that commanders of naval vessels at Tampico had full authority to act in an emergency involving American citizens or properties, in that section, the resolution said that "landing of troops and other hostilities * * * would be equivalent to making war without the authority of congress as prescribed by the constitution.

NECK BROKEN WILCOX DIES INSTANTLY

Oil Worker Killed at South Bend When Caught by Rope.

Catapulted twenty-five feet into the air when the bull rope caught him under the chin, as the bailer was being lowered into the Godley No. 13, Graham, near South Bend, Wednesday morning, Stub Wilcox, 42 years of age, met instant death, according to the report of C. A. Rogers, who witnessed the accident. Wilcox's neck was said to have been broken when the rope struck him under the chin.

The accident occurred about 9:00 o'clock. The bailer was reported to be going down at a rapid rate. Wilcox was reported to have been caught when he attempted to move the rope on the butt wheel. The rope caught on the guide hook, as it was being moved, suddenly pulling taut and catching Wilcox under the chin.

In addition to the crew the accident was witnessed by C. A. Rogers and W. W. Gardner of this city, who reported that they had driven up to the well just before Wilcox was killed.

Announcements of funeral arrangements are being withheld pending information from relatives in Illinois, where Wilcox formerly lived. He was unmarried.

BRITISH PREMIERS DISCUSS TRADE IN VARIOUS DETAIL

By Associated Press.

LONDON, July 6.—Sir Robert Horne, chancellor of the exchequer made a statement to the conference of imperial premier this morning concerning German reparations pointing out what the United Kingdom and the various dominions and colonies might expect from them.

In the absence of the British prime minister, Mr. Lloyd George and General Jan Christian Smuts, the South African premier, the session was robbed of much of its interest.

Sir Robert, Horne, the chancellor of the exchequer suggested that the commerce of the empire required all the encouragement and incentive it could be given and impressed upon his hearers the importance of the exchange of commodities between the different parts of the empire.

Premier Hughes of Australia spoke on the necessity for improvement of communications between the Dominions and the United Kingdom. He concluded:

"Unless this country can produce coal at a price which will enable it to compete with the rest of the world, empire exhibition or no exhibition, the greatness of this country must pass away."

ARREST TWO ON COUNTERFEITING CHARGE IN ARK.

By Associated Press.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., July 6.—With the arrest of two men in Eldorado, Ark., three in Little Rock and another in Louisiana, federal officials today expressed the opinion that virtually all of the men alleged to have been responsible for the circulation of suspicious fifty dollar bills which recently made their appearance in several cities in Texas, Arkansas and Louisiana were in custody.

John C. Marsh, chief of the United States secret service bureau here, stated that operatives of his department traced the men through Texarkana, Dallas, Galveston, Houston and Beaumont, Texas, and Lake Charles, La., and several Arkansas cities and towns.

MASKED MEN TAKE TWO AT MUSKOGEE; ONE MAKES ESCAPE

By Associated Press.

MUSKOGEE, Okla., July 6.—Six masked men drove up to a downtown cafe at 11 o'clock tonight, entered and seized two waiters, and carried them out to their automobile. One of the waiters escaped, but the masked men drove away with the other. The purpose of the party was not ascertained at a late hour.

HEALTHY BLOOD WANTED TO SAVE LOCAL MAN'S LIFE

A call for some one willing to give some of their blood to aid physicians in an effort to save the life of a local man was issued Wednesday from Red Cross headquarters. The sick man, according to Red Cross authorities is suffering from a malignant attack of anaemia and transfusion of healthy blood is the only hope to save the man's life.

Any one willing to give the blood is asked to call telephone number 3069.

HOUSE NAVY BILL FAILS IN SENATE

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, July 6.—Although agreeing to the bulk of the provisions in the four hundred and nine million dollars naval appropriation bill as voted recently by the house in attempting to dispose of differences between the two bodies, the senate today refused to yield on nineteen amendments and sent the measure back to the house with a request for further conferences.

The amendments on which the senate declined to recede include provisions for two airplane carriers, aviation stations and increased expenditures for battleships under construction.

Leaders had not determined tonight how to meet the technical deficit in funds for the navy, resulting from the lapse of appropriations with the close of the fiscal year, June 30.

It might be necessary, it was said, to adopt a resolution continuing last year's appropriations temporarily until the pending bill is enacted. Only a few days, however, it was believed would be required to wind up the bill finally and leaders were hopeful of avoiding the expedient of a continuing resolution.

Among the major provisions of the bill disposed of finally by the senate's action today on the conference report were the Borah disarmament amendment and that fixing the navy personnel at 106,000 men.

ENGINEERS OPPOSE GALVESTON WORK.

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, July 6.—Army engineers have reported unfavorably on the Galveston channel improvements, increasing the width 200 feet and the depth five feet, Secretary Weeks informed congress today.

CHICAGO BABIES DIE FROM HEAT.

By Associated Press.

CHICAGO, July 6.—Chicago babies died last week at the rate of fourteen a day, a 15 per cent greater infant mortality than a year ago. The increase is ascribed by the health department to the heat.

Market Shows Impressive Strength

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, July 6.—The stock market today displayed impressive activity and strength for the first time in nearly two months.

The rally, maintained to the end, was something of a shock to the shorts, whose hurried covering of contracts added measurably to the reversal. Many issues, especially those recently under greatest pressure, made net gains of 2 to 10 points.

The day's news failed to account for the rebound. Indeed, some overnight developments, including further price cutting by independent steel manufacturers, were of an adverse character.

Early quotations, in foreign oils, suggested another reactionary session. Mexican petroleum fell to the new low of 87⅜ and affiliated shares also registered minimum prices of recent years. Within the first hour, however, heavy buying by Mexican petroleum turned the tide and closed at 101¼, a net gain of 10 points. Pan-American petroleum averaged 8 points gains.

Atlantic Gulf and General Asphalt advanced 5½ points and steels, equipments, motors, textiles, leather, rubber and miscellaneous issues closed at gains of 2 to 6½ points.

Buying of investment rails aided the raise in later dealings. Pacifics and Grangers and cotton carriers figured most prominently at net gains of two to about five points. Sales of 935,000 shares were nearly three times larger than those of yesterday, one of the year's dullest sessions.

FORT WORTH VICTIM K. K. K. STILL THERE

Reported, However, Will Leave; Immoral Life Said to Be Lecture Subject.

Special to The Record News.

FORT WORTH, July 6.—Benny Pinto, who was turned lose from a high powered automobile on Main Street here Tuesday night at 11:45 o'clock wearing a coat of tar and feathers was still in Fort Worth at a late hour Wednesday night.

It was reported that he had been ordered to leave the city within 48 hours of the tarring.

It also was reported that Pinto has expressed the intention of leaving before the time is up.

Pinto is the second man to be taken in hand by the Ku Klux Klan in this city. Immoral life and alleged acts recently made known are reported to have been the subject of a lecture given Pinto by members of the mysterious band of men who participated in tarring Pinto.

When Pinto was turned loose on Main street Tuesday night he ran 50 yards to a car standing by the curb, jumped into it and drove away.

The car was later found by employes of a local service car company, to whom it belonged, standing in Pinto's yard. The seat and cushions were covered with tar and feathers when found.

PINK BOLL WORM COMMITTEE URGE RADICAL ACTION

Special to The Record News.

DALLAS, July 6.—Alarmed by the threatened spread of the pink boll worm in Texas, New Mexico and Louisiana, the central pink boll worm committee of the Texas Chamber of Commerce, composed of representatives of seventeen commercial and farmers organizations in Texas, met here today to consider legislation necessary for control of the insect.

It was the unanimous sense of the committee that farmers in non-cotton zones should receive full compensation for such determinable losses as they may sustain by reason of operation of the non-cotton zone regulations.

It was stated that radical action is necessary to prevent imposition of state and federal quarantines against Texas cotton, which would have a disastrous effect on the commercial and agricultural welfare of the state.

"WAMPUS CAT" IS BARRED FROM NEWS STANDS AT DALLAS

Special to The Record News.

July 6.—The "Wampus Cat," a small magazine, published in a Louisiana town, will not meow from local news stands, County Attorney Hughes announced today.

In the mandate ordering the sale of the magazine to be stopped, Hughes declared the magazine obscene and unfit for children to read. Investigation of other similar magazines is under way.

"MOTHER GOOSE" NOW AMONG BEST SELLERS

CHICAGO, July 6.—Old Mother Goose and other nursery characters have ambled up into the "best seller" class, according to book publishers' representatives who opened a book fair here today. Juvenile books predominate at the fair and the demand for children's books was declared to be greater than ever before. The Bible has likewise increased in popularity, according to other book men.

SECOND PREMIUM IS REPORTED PAID BY LOCAL REFINERY

A twenty-five cent premium, and an additional ten cents a barrel transportation charges is being paid by Wichita county, according to reports received Wednesday of a recent contract.

This is the second premium reported as being paid on new contracts made since the last cut in crude. The first premium amounted to 17 1-2 cents. Both refineries paying the premium are independents.

MEN ONLY ON JURY TO TRY MRS. KABER

Women Tentatively Accepted Peremptorily Dismissed by Counsel.

By Associated Press.

CLEVELAND, July 6.—Twelve men will decide whether Mrs. Eva Catherine Kaber is guilty of first degree murder in connection with the fatal stabbing of her husband, Daniel F. Kaber, in their Lakewood home two years ago by alleged hired assassins.

Every woman tentatively seated on the jury was dismissed peremptorily by Mrs. Kaber's counsel, making good the declaration of Attorney Francis W. Poulson that no women would be permitted to sit in judgment on her, if he could help it, because they are heartless in judging one of their own sex.

In his opening statement to the jury, Attorney William J. Corrigan, for the defense, asserted that many of the state's contentions were true, but that defense testimony would show that Mrs. Kaber had not intended to murder her husband and that her actions were the result of a mind diseased from childhood and even before birth and worn down by "horrible things that will reflect no credit on the dead man."

He asserted that Mr. Kaber's acts wore down her mental capacity and warned the jury to be prepared to listen to "some horrible things that would come out in the testimony."

Assistant County Prosecutor James T. Cassidy, outlining the state's case, asserted testimony will show that Mrs. Kaber first attempted to kill her husband by poisoning, and, failing in this, hired assassins to kill him. The motive, he asserted, was to obtain possession of Mr. Kaber's estate for herself and daughter, Marion McArdle, who also is indicted for first degree murder for alleged participation in the murder plot.

Mr. Cassidy asserted that Mrs. Kaber had gone to two women almost a year before the murder and asked them to do something that would bring about his death, but that both had advised her to obtain legal separation. To this suggestion Mrs. Kaber was alleged to have asserted that divorce would not give a proper distribution of the property. It was the latter part of March, 1919, that Kaber, previously said to have been in good health, became violently ill with pains in his stomach. An operation, Mr. Cassidy asserted, revealed no trace of affliction.

Mr. Cassidy detailed how Mrs. Kaber was alleged to have made the acquaintance of Mrs. Erminia Colavito, who in turn introduced her to Salvatore Cala and Vittorio Pisselli, the alleged assassins. They, according to Mr. Cassidy, finally agreed to kill Mr. Kaber for five thousand dollars, Mrs. Kaber promising to pay them from the proceeds of Mr. Kaber's insurance policy, which called for double indemnity in case of violent death. Mrs. Kaber later collected six thousand, eight hundred dollars on the insurance policy, five hundred of which finally found its way to Cala and Pisselli, according to Mr. Cassidy.

How Marion McArdle was alleged to have played the piano two nights before the murder, to drown the noise of the assassins as they went through the house to get the lay of things, was described in detail by Mr. Cassidy, who asserted that Mrs. Mary Brickel, mother of Mrs. Kaber, was to be on the porch the next night as a signal to the assassins that everything was alright. Mrs. Brickel was not on the porch at the appointed time, however, according to Mr. Cassidy, and the assassins left without attempting to execute the plot that night.

Marion McArdle was alleged the next day to have hunted up Cala and Pisselli and told them that the deed must be done that night before her mother, who had gone, returned. That night, Mr. Kaber was stabbed twenty-four times and died the following day.

SURPLUS OF WORKMEN IN PANHANDLE

By Associated Press.

AMARILLO, Texas, July 6.—There are now several hundred more men in the Panhandle wheat growing areas than are needed to handle the crop, Frank R. Jamison, secretary of the Panhandle Plains chamber of commerce says, and the excess is increasing every day. He advises, all laborers to steer clear of the Panhandle.

Split Over Tariff Still Faces Republicans as Bill Returns to House

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, July 6.—The administration tariff bill was formally laid before the house of representatives today and the way cleared for its consideration, beginning tomorrow.

Accompanying it were two reports by republicans, one in praise and the other in denunciation. Chairman Fordney of the Ways and Means committee, in a report in which he said he understood all republicans of the committee except Representative Freear of Wisconsin would sign, described the measure as a "magna charta for the perpetuation of American standards of living."

Representative Frear, in his minority report, which previously had been made public, said the measure was "subject to criticism for many unnecessary high duties that will increase the burdens of the consumer." He also characterized some provisions of the bill, particular to the dye schedule as "indefensible" and as an abandonment of policy pledges.

Democratic members of the committee were preparing their criticisms of the bill tonight with a view to presenting their minority report tomorrow when the measure is taken up for reading or for detailed legislation by Chairman Fordney.

Republican members of the house met in conference tonight to determine, if possible, procedure to be followed in putting the measure through the house. Decisions which leaders hoped to reach included the length of time for general debate and for consideration of amendments. Those in charge of the measure hoped to conclude general debate in ten days or two weeks and then go into detailed consideration of the bill under restricted discussion at which time any amendments would be taken up.

CONVENTION DEMANDS DUTY FOR SOUTHERN PRODUCTS

Special to The Record News.

NEW ORLEANS, July 6.—Four hundred delegates from five states today placed the southern tariff congress strongly on record for a protective tariff on southern products. Among resolutions adopted was one calling for amendment of the proposed tariff bill "to give consideration to economic welfare of the south by fixing the same tariff levies upon southern products as are given the products of other sections."

States represented at the meeting were Alabama, Arkansas, Louisiana, Mississippi and Texas. The keynote address was delivered by Governor John M. Parker of Louisiana, who said the south has "too long followed the old plan and the old fetish and permitted other sections to get rich at our expense."

President John H. Kirby, Houston Texas, lumberman, presided at most of the session. His address set forth the objects of the meeting and called for strong resolutions, which were adopted.

The only fight developed when George H. Terriberry, speaking as president of the New Orleans Association of Commerce, opposed a duty on oil imports. The effect to exclude oils from the resolutions failed.

Resolutions adopted recommended "tariff schedules on southern products that would equalize the cost of production in this country with that of foreign countries, so far as consistent with public welfare," and would "distribute the burdens and benefits among all industries without discriminating against any section, class or product;" stated that opposition to "the doctrine of free raw materials," was favored by the congress.

Numerous women were among the delegates, those speaking including Mrs. Edith Brown Baillie, of Shreveport, , La.

ALLOWED $200 FOR DAMAGES BY NEW WELL

Special to The Record News.

BURKBURNETT, July 6.—Damages in the sum of $200 were awarded R. H. Henry here today in Justice Thorne's court in a suit against Hill and Jones, oil operators, and the U. S. Torpedo company as joint defendants.

The plaintiff set forth that his house, trees and lawn were damaged by a spray of oil immediately following the shooting of a well near his home.

Henry was awarded $200 damages by a jury in Justice Thorne's court some time ago. In the verdict it was not stated what per centage or portion of the damages should be borne by either of the plaintiffs and it was a short time ago declared a mistrial and a new trial ordered. The case today was not tried before a jury.

This was said by employes of the U. S. Torpedo company to be the first time their organization has ever been sued for damages incurred from shooting an oil well.

ARMY OFFICERS SEEK TO RETAIN ENLISTED MEN

By Associated Press.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, July 6.—Officers of the second division at Camp Travis are attempting to persuade all enlisted men in their commands to remain in the army, despite the fact that orders were issued by the war department that all men making written applications during the month of July should be discharged.

RECEIPTS OF WHEAT EQUAL 1920 TOTAL

Local Elevators Report Remarkable Movement; Receipts Already Equal to Last Year.

More wheat has already been received by the elevators in the Wichita Falls district so far this season than all year last season, according to a local grain man in touch with the movement of new wheat in this and surrounding counties.

This unusual amount of wheat is accounted for due to the fact that very few of the farmers are holding their wheat for higher prices this year and the necessity for liquidation, and that a larger amount of wheat is being bought locally than last year when most of it went on through.

About one-half of the estimated total wheat crop in the Wichita Falls district has been received so far, this grain man reports.

A slight falling off in the amount of wheat coming in has been perceived in the past day or so, he reports. In Oklahoma the crop is just getting under way and receipts are increasing steadily.

The local price for wagon wheat is still 95 cents a bushel for No. 1 grade, with 92 offered for No. 2, which is the usual grade of wheat received here so far.

DEVEREAUX CASE NOW ON TRIAL

By Associated Press.

TULSA, Okla., July 6.—The prosecution of Mrs. Mabel James and Goldie Gordon, nurses on trial in district court here for the murder of Judge John Devereaux, Tulsa jurist, succeeded in having barred as irrelevant testimony, two points which the defense previously stated it relied upon for the basis for the plea of acquittal.

The first point barred was a purported dying statement of the judge which attempted to explain how he received his injury. The second was evidence attempting to show that the judge was addicted to the use of drugs.

The contention of the state has been that the judge's death was due, as stated in the verdict of a coroner's jury, to a blow on the head from a blunt instrument, and to "excessive doses of medicine."

The attorney for the defense in outlining the case has left the impression that no witnesses will be offered by the defense. In mentioning what the defense will try to prove, he stated "the state's evidence will prove."

U. S. PROTECTION OF CITIZENS IN MEXICO APPROVED BY BODY

By Associated Press.

CHICAGO, July 6.—The policy of the United States in demanding of President Obregon of Mexico, a statement of his attitude toward American landowners was approved at meeting of the national association for the protection of American rights in Mexico here today.

Members from Illinois, Iowa, Wisconsin and Michigan attended the meeting.

ANNULMENT RUMORS STILL HOUNDING DOUG AND MARY

By Associated Press.

RENO, Nev. July 6.—District Judge Langan at Minden today gave the attorney general until next Tuesday to file his bill of exceptions to the decision upholding the Mary Pickford divorce.

This is the preliminary step to an appeal to the state supreme court by the states attorney.

CANADIAN FOREST FIRES CAUSE HEAVY DAMAGE.

By Associated Press.

COBALT, Ont., July 6.—Two deaths, destruction of the town of Millwood, and loss of millions of dollars worth of timber in forest fires were reported here last night.

According to the information Northern Ontario was menaced by fires in half a dozen areas. Several towns were threatened.

MELLON URGES BONUS BILL TO BE HELD OVER

Enactment Now Would Be Fraught With Grave Danger to Countru, Treasury Head Says.

Declares That Veterans Would in Long Run Lose More Than Gain by Pushing Legislation.

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, July 6.—With a warning that there is grave danger of an immediate government deficit, Secretary Mellon asked congress today to defer action on the soldiers' bonus bill.

"This is not a time to impose several billion dollars of new liabilities on an already overburdened treasury," the treasury secretary said to Senator Frelinghuysen, republican, New Jersey, in a letter which was read in the senate when the bonus bill was called up. The bill already has passed the house and the letter was in response to a request from Senator Frelinghuysen for a statement of the financial obligations which the bill would place upon the government.

The letter was characterized by Senator Underwood, democratic leader, who after its reading made an attack on the bill, as "strong, forceful and to the point."

In passing the bill, the Alabama senator said, the republican majority would "write in the country's history that men no longer sacrifice, but measure their service in dollars." Replying briefly Senator McCumber, republican, North Dakota, in charge of the bill, denied that any attempt was being made to measure the services of soldiers of the world war in dollars.

Mr. Mellon estimated that the bill would cost the country between a billion and half and five and a quarter billion dollars, that it would "swell the cost of government and virtually defeat the administration's program for retrenchment and economy," and that it would block "all refunding operations on the national debt and depress further the prices on Liberty bonds."

These, he said, would be "inevitable direct financial consequences," adding that probable indirect results would be "grave danger of renewed inflation, increased commodity prices and unsettled business conditions."

All of his estimates, the secretary explained, were devoted merely to the cash payment section of the bill, and took "no account of expenses of administration, or possible cost of affording vocational training, 'farm or home aid, or long settlement aid to veterans who elect such benefits."

"I should be derelict in my duty to the country and to the veterans themselves if I failed to give this warning of the inevitable financial consequences of the pending bill," he concluded.

"The result would be serious injury and loss to the whole community and in the long run, the veterans themselves would lose far more than they would gain. I cannot bring myself to believe that this would be 'adjusted compensation' for a service that was performed as the highest duty of citizenship and a sacrifice that can never be measured in terms of money."

Not the least disturbing feature, he continued, was the bill's plan to postpone actual distribution of funds until next year, which, he said, "tends to mislead the people into the belief that in some way the proposed program can be accomplished without imposing a serious burden on the country."

"It must inevitably increase the war burden which the people have to bear," he contended. "It could be financed only by adition to the burden of debt and taxes under which the country is now staggering. However financed, no such sum could be taken out of the public treasury without throwing a corresponding load upon the whole people in the form of increased interest charges, increased taxes and increased cost of living."

"Cost of refunding the early maturities of public debt," the secretary said, "would be vastly increased, and the refunding operations themselves seriously embarrassed." Holders of Liberty bonds, he added, would "have to face the threat of further depression."

"It seems particularly inappropriate," he said, "to give present consideration to the measure when we still have before us the pressing problem of revising the internal tax laws and finding sufficient revenues to meet the existing requirements of the government. This problem must be dealt with in the minds of extreme and widespread industrial depression. These conditions affect not only industry in our own country, but are world-wide, and our past experience furnishes no sure guide as to their duration."

Continuing the secretary said that "our first concern, of course, should be to make full provision" for the needs of disabled veterans.

"To that object," he said, "the country is pledged to give without stint of its resources. It would be unfortunate if in the extreme, while we are still struggling with that problem, to dissipate our resources in a sweeping plan for cash payments to able-bodied ex-soldiers and sailors."

Senator Underwood described the bill as "political camouflage." The plan of "peddling out" cash payments in fifty dollars quarterly, he said, would not aid the soldiers. He challenged the Republicans to propose a lump sum payment, which he said he would support and which he declared would provide a "stake" which might enable soldiers to get into business or buy a home.

Substitutes for the land settlement plan on the bill were offered by Senators Pittman, Democrat, Nevada and Borah, Republican, Idaho.

OIL EXPERIMENT STATION AT BARTLESVILLE TO BE GREATLY ENLARGED, GOVERNMENT SAYS

Special to The Record News.

WASHINGTON, July 7.—The Petroleum Experiment Station of the United States Bureau of Mines at Bartlesville, Okla., plans to enlarge its program of work and to employ a few additional technical men for conducting the different investigations. Funds for this work are provided by the state of Oklahoma, and for that reason it will not be necessary for applicants for the new positions to take Civil Service examinations. Persons interested would write H. H. Hill, superintendent, Petroleum Experiment Station, Bartlesville, Okla., furnishing a statement of their education, experience, and positions held and salary, together with a photograph taken within the past year.

The following is an outline of the positions open and the qualifications for each:

Petroleum Engineer for Work on Water Problems: Applicants for this position should be graduates from a college or university, with a degree in geology, or in mining, mechanical, or civil engineering. The applicant should have had at least five years oil-field experience, of which at least three years should have been on work connected with the development and production of petroleum. The applicant also should have had considerable experience in the solution and correction of water problems in producing oil and gas wells. Salary range $3,000 to $3,600 per annum.

Expert Driller: Applicants for this position should have had at least five years actual drilling experience with cable tools; also experience in shutting off water by the use of mud-laden fluid and cement. Preference will be given to a man who has had supervisory work in connection with mudding, cementing, and plugging of wells. Preference will also be given to a man who has had rotary drilling experience. Salary range $3,000 to $3,600 per annum.

Natural Gas Engineer: Applicants for this position should be graduates from a university or college with a degree in engineering, preferably mechanical engineering. At least five years' experience in work connected with the transmission of natural gas is required. This experience should include a knowledge of methods of metering natural gas, compressor stations and field equipment. Preference will be given to a man who is familiar with field conditions and who has had experience in the determination of pipe line losses. Salary range $3,000 to $3,600 per annum.

Assistant Petroleum Engineer: Applicants should be graduates of a college or university with a degree in geology or engineering. Applicants must have had at least one year's field experience in engineering work as applied to underground problems in oil fields. Salary range $1,800 to $2,400 per annum.

IRISH PROBLEM IS SOLUBLE ONE - DECLARES SMUTS

By Associated Press.

LONDON, July 6.—General Jan Christian Smuts, premier of the Union of South Africa, who has just returned from a visit to Ireland, publicly expressed opinion tonight that the Irish problem is a soluble problem. This statement was greeted with loud applause by the distinguished company which attended a dinner given in honor of General Smuts, by the South African colony in London.

General Smuts opened his speech by declaring that he had not abandoned hope of America.

"She is a coy maiden and must not be wooed too warmly," he said.

"I want to see America pull with us at this great world service that today is being rendered by the British empire almost alone."

WOOD ENDORSED FOR GOVERNOR OF PHILIPPINES

By Associated Press.

MANILA, July 2.—Major General Leonard Wood received an ovation before the American chamber of commerce today when its president, H. L. Heath, introduced him as the one man whom he desired for governor general of the Philippines." General Wood in a speech advocated government co-operation supported by a big navy to establish foreign commerce.

A declaration that the Philippines must be held by the United States was endorsed by the chamber of commerce as the sense of American residents on the island.

CHARGE EDITOR WITH VIOLATING VOLSTEAD LAW

By Associated Press.

FARGO, N. D., July 6.—A warrant for George A. Totten Jr., business manager of the Fargo Courier-News, charging violation of the national prohibition act, was signed by C. F. Amidon, federal judge, here. The warrant, which had not been served late this afternoon, was issued after a quantity of liquor was alleged to have been found in Totten's automobile. Totten, who was arrested Saturday on a warrant charging embezzlement of $102.70 of the Non-Partisan League recall campaign fund, is at liberty under bond on that charge.

CHICAGO SWELTERS UNDER TERRIFIC HEAT

CHICAGO, July 6.—Chicago continued to swelter today in its long drawn out heat wave with no relief in sight, according to the weather bureau. Five persons succumbed yesterday.

DALLAS HOTEL OWNER FACES ARSON CHARGE

By Associated Press.

DALLAS, June 6.—W. M. Ray, proprietor of the Regal Hotel, was arrested here today and a charge of arson placed against him following a fire which wrecked the hotel early today and resulted in injuries and burns to ten persons. Ray was taken into custody following an inspection by Fire Marshal Bennett, of the burned building. Names of sixteen state witnesses were on the complaint. Ray was granted bond in the sum of $2,500.

Miss Alice Roberts of Sioux City, Iowa, an invalid, was the most seriously injured of those in the hotel at the time of the fire. She sustained a possible fracture of the skull when her older sister, Miss Eleanor Roberts dropped her from a second story window to the sidewalk below. Her condition was said at the hospital tonight to be slightly improved.

About the time the fire was discovered in the Regal Hotel, another alarm was turned in from the Dublin Hotel, also owned by Ray. No one was injured in the latter blaze and very little damage done.

Ray would make no statement tonight concerning the fires.

TWO HELD FOR DEATH OF MISS CALLIE HOWELL

By Associated Press.

TEXARKANA, Texas, July 6.—At the close of the preliminary hearing held today at Queen City, in Cass county, S. C. Rodgers and E. G. Cowley, employes of the iron works at Bowie Hill, were remanded to jail without bond to appear before the Cass county grand jury at Linden on the first Monday in September to answer to the charge of murder for the killing of Miss Callie Howell, near Bowie Hill on the night of July 4.

The shooting occurred while Miss Howell, with her escort, Roy Whitworth, was returning from a dance at Stone Coal Bluff.

Immediately after the conclusion of the hearing the two prisoners, under escort of Deputy Sheriff Stanley, constable R. E. Blaylock and State Ranger Weaver, were taken from Queen City to the county jail at Linden.

SAXON TO SPEAK AT BURBURNETT SUNDAY

BURKBURNETT, July 6.—"The Burning of the Newtown Tabernacle," is announced as the subject on which Evangelist Saxon will speak here next Sunday. The Rev. Saxon is scheduled to speak at the First Baptist church.

SHOOTS MAN TO KIDNAP FAMILY; LATER KILLED

By Associated Press.

HOOD RIVER, Oregon, July 6.—Luther Fagan, who shot T. J. Miller here today and kidnaped Miller's wife, son and daughter, was shot and killed early tonight by a posse man after he had been surrounded in a thicket.

His captives were not injured.

Fagan recently was given a pardon from the state penitentiary where he was serving a sentence for attacking Miss Louise Watkins, Miller's stepdaughter. As a condition to his pardon he had submitted to an operation for sterilization.

After shooting Miller and kidnaping the others today, Fagan was pursued closely and early tonight was reported surrounded in a thicket southwest of here. The posse feared to advance because of possible danger to Fagan's prisoners at his hands. While most of them debated their course, Herman Pregel of Oak Grove, crept up close to the thicket and shot Fagan through the head, killing him instantly.

Miller at the hospital tonight said Fagan appeared at the Miller home and said he wanted to see Miss Watkins and "get a release" from her. Miller believed the man wanted to have the girl ask for a pardon. He told him Miss Watkins was out of the city. The man then shot Miller in the breast. When Mrs. Miller rushed out, attracted by the shooting, he told her to call a doctor.

Dr. M. Carney responded to the call and Fagan stood over him with his revolver while he examined the wounded man.

When the doctor said Miller needed hospital treatment, Fagan told him to bundle Miller into his automobile and take him away. This the doctor did, bringing Miller to the hospital here and giving the alarm. Fagan then forced Mrs. Miller, her daughter and the Anderson boy into Miller's automobile and drove off with them. Miller is not seriously hurt.

HAWAIIAN SUGAR PRICES INCREASE

HONOLULU, July 6.—A slight recovery in price, with low prices for two years, is the forecast of the Hawaiian sugar situation given by E. Faxson Bishop, president of the Hawaiian Sugar Planters' Association, on his return from a recent business trip to the mainland.

SOUTH BEND MAIL SERVICE ON JULY 8

Railway mail service will be instituted into South Bend on July 8, according to a message received from officials of the railway mail service by the local offices of the Wichita Falls and Southern Wednesday.

This will really establish the service offered for the past several months by the post office at South Bend, which has received its mail overland from Graham.

It is an extension of the service already maintained on the Wichita Falls and Southern, which was extended from Graham to South Bend when the rails of the line were laid to that place.

STATE OF SEIGE DECLARED IN SILESIA.

PARIS, July 6.—Gross-Streblitz and Rosenberg, two important cities in Upper Silesia, have been declared in a state of seige by the interallied commissio nthere. It is probable that this action by the commission is a result of serious disorders reported in the last few days from various towns in the Silesian plebiscite zone.

Why not let the "Mice in Council" debate about the league of rations? Who could better qualify to discuss cheesy bait than the little trap-dodgers?

FLYER, ONCE STATIONED HERE, DIES

News of the death of Lieutenant James R. Ware at Dayton, Ohio, at Wright Field, was received Wednesday night by friends of the young man, who during the war was a popular cadet at Call Field, and later an officer on duty at the field.

His death followed an accident several weeks ago, when he fell in a plane at the field. He was operated on but never regained consciousness, according to the reports received here.

Lieutenant Ware was pleasantly remembered by friends made in a social way, and in a business way as well, he having been in charge of the advertising department of the Call Field Stabilizer, the field's official publication.

ENDEAVORERS HAVE REPRESENTATIVES FROM ALL CLIMES

NEW YORK, July 6.—Delegations from every continent attended the opening of the sixth world's Christian endeavor convention in New York today. There were fifteen thousand men and women massed in the great stone armory of the 71st regiment that served as the convention hall. They represented more than four million members.

The largest foreign contingent came from Canada, the Dominion sending one thousand delegates in special trains. Others came from Japan, China, Australia, India, Armenia and Persia, Egypt, and elsewhere in Asia and Africa. Five South American republics were represented and Mexico had more than a score of delegates. Continental Europe's family of nations and the various divisions of the British Isles were all represented. Every state in the United States had its quota.

RANGER GIRL DIES OF MYSTERIOUSLY RECEIVED WOUND

By Associated Press.

RANGER, Texas, July 6.—Mystery surrounds the death here today of Miss Mabel Morris, 20 year old girl, following a swimming party with friends last Wednesday. An inquest resulted in a verdict of "death from fractured skull, cause unknown."

Following the party, Miss Morris became ill and Sunday was removed to a hospital. Attending persons discovered an injury to her head, which had become infected. She was unable to tell how the injury was inflicted, physicians said. It was at first thought that she had fallen while bathing, but a companion later stated that she had combed Miss Morris' hair the day following the party and that no injury was then apparent.

The body will be sent to Drumright, Okla., where her parents reside.

BUYERS FOR LOCAL STORES LEAVE FOR EASTERN POINTS

Representatives of the Perkins Timberlake stores, including Frank P. Timberlake, R. D. Kennedy, R. M. Tittle and F. L. Messer of this city, Cy Long of the Vernon Perkins Timberlake store and C. T. Watkins of the Perkins-Watkins stores, have started their fall buying in the eastern markets, according to announcement just received of their arrival in New York.

They will be joined there by the buyers of the various stores of the company, and will make all the eastern markets before returning home.

RETURNS FROM PENITENTIARY FOR REVENGE

By Associated Press.

HOOD RIVER, Ore., July 6.—Luther Fagan, sentenced to the penitentiary about two years ago on conviction of attacking Miss Alice Watkins, returned here today and shot T. J. Muller, Miss Watkins' stepfather, according to reports to the police. Muller was wounded in the breast but not seriously.

Fagan then covered Miss Watkins and her brother with a revolver, forced them into an automobile and drove off. Posses are in pursuit.

RUMOR IRISH CEASE FIGHT FOR REPUBLIC

By Associated Press.

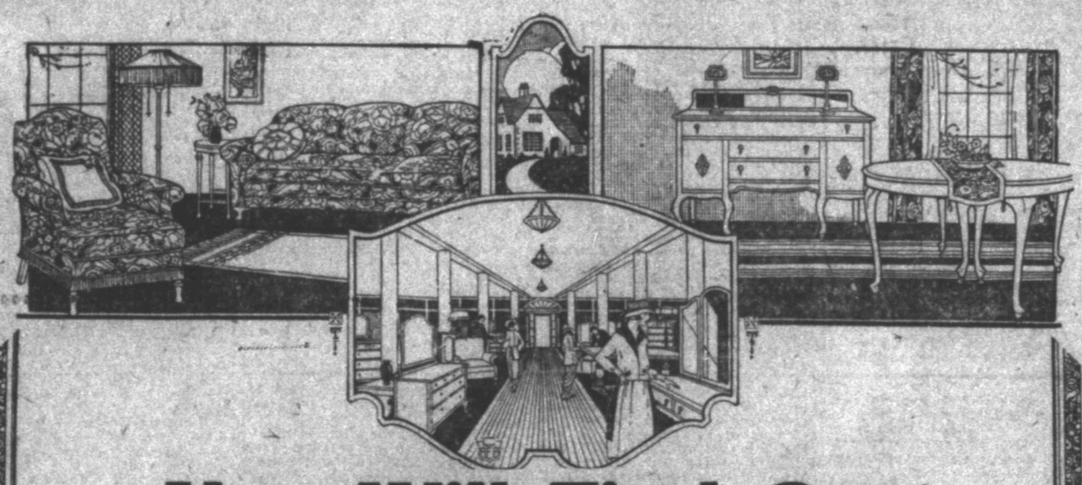

BELFAST, July 6.—A rumor has been current in usually well informed quarters here that the Sinn Feiners have abandoned their demand for a republic.

This is not confirmed in any way and the members of the Ulster cabinet are without direct knewledge of today's events.

RANGERS MUST PAY OWN EXPENSES.

By Associated Press.

AUSTIN, Texas, July 6.—A Texas ranger dispatch from the adjutant general's department on official duty for the state now pays his own expenses and must wait until the department receives more money before he is reimbursed, according to Adjutant General Barton.

SOVIET ARREST IN TURK CAPITAL IS JUSTIFIABLE

By Associated Press

LONDON, July 6.—Cecil B. Harmsworth, under secretary for foreign affairs, stated in the house of commons today that the action of General Harrington, commander of the British forces in Constantinople, in arresting an assistant of Bronislau Koudish, soviet commercial delegate in Constantinople and other members of the soviet mission there late in June was entirely justifiable. The arrests were necessitated by the discovery of a plot to start a revolution in Constantinople beginning with the assassination of General Harrington, said Mr. Harmsworth.

A note from Leonid Krassin, Russian soviet minister of trade and commerce, asking an explanation of the arrests, had been received and a reply was under consideration, Mr. Harmsworth declared.

A CHANGED DREAM OF EMPIRE.

Even dreams change. A few years ago the fashionable "dream of empire" was an "Anglo-Saxon" one, and the hyphenated word was interpreted with a liberality that included the Teutonic peoples. The world was to be governed and made to do right by a triumvirate or a "Dreibund" composed of Germany, England, and, as a bad or tolerated third, America. The parceling of what Admiral Sims so strikingly describes as "the round globe" had already begun.

Well, that dream was shattered in the early morning. And such new dreamers as Sims and a host of kindred spirits are reviving it in an amended form. It is, of course, the same old dream—Caesarean, Alexandrine, Barcan, Napoleonic; but the world is utterly weary of dreams, this "little thumb-ring of an earth," and sighs for "the unmartial conquests of the mart."

And is there any better chance of the comparatively few English-speaking—the English insist that even we don't speak "English"—dominating the world than there is, say, of the Chinese-speaking or the Chinese-understanding people, "when the sleeper awakes?" There is a real Freudian dream for you, or a real Joseph dream.

In the meanwhile, also, Bolshevism may have a great deal to say—as well as to dream.—Columbia (S. C.) State (Dem.).

DOESN'T LIKE MONEY.

One cannot help admiring Charlie Garland's nerve in continuing to refuse the million dollar legacy of his father. Never having had the experience we rather suspect we wouldn't look at the thing in the way he does. But we would admire him more if he decided upon some kind of serviceable occupation to engage his time and require his energies. A newspaper reporter went out to see this Massachusetts wonder the other day and found him puttering around in a field. Garland himself admits that he hasn't done an earthly thing for society and still he refuses to employ his fortune to benefit anybody else. He is an unobtrusive sort of a chap who takes things easy, talks about wanting to do something for somebody else, but a winter has gone and a spring and the summer is here and he still hesitates. Many a man with a million at his command at this time could build houses for the homeless and help suffering humanity in many ways if he had a mind to. "I don't feel that I am doing the best possible for society at present," Garland told the reporter. Of course he isn't. No man who wilfully is idle is helping society in any way. Rather he is adding to the social problems of the hour.—Springfield (Ohio) News (Dem.)

A BLAST AGAINST THE "FEMALE CIGARETTE."

An illustration of the tendency of the times to adjust everything by legislation is the introduction of a bill in Congress to prohibit "female persons in the District of Columbia from smoking cigarettes in any public place and to prohibit owners of public places from permitting females to smoke."

The proposed bill exemplifies the extravagances and extremes to which crusaders go in their campaign against what they consider evils and their determination to make people better by law. Smoking in public by women is something which is purely a matter of custom and neither good nor bad in itself. In this country it is not a general custom and the consensus of public opinion is against it. It is one of the unwritten laws of good society that a lady sedulously avoids anything which will call conspicuous attention to her in public, and so there is reason, on the ground of good taste, to blame a woman who defies established social canons by smoking on the street. But that does not make it a crime to be punishable by law.—Baltimore American (Rep.)

THE CASE OF THE COOK.

Because a distinguished English artist selected for the subject of his latest Academy picture the chef at the Hotel Chatham in Paris there is a turmoil in art circles. With so many generals, peers and ladies of title ready to hand, why should he have chosen a cook? The flattered chef insists that it is because he is a good cook; the painter contents himself with the explanation that he was a good model.

And it may be a nice question of ethics whether it is not time to immortalize, with the touch of a master on canvas, one who nurtures the body with food, after long centuries have seen thousands of artists engaged in immortalizing those who have racked the bodies of men with the engines of war.—New York American (Ind.)

A WATCHDOG IN CHIEF.

The selection of Brigadier General Charles G. Dawes to be controller of the budget is another proof (if another were needed) of President Harding's purpose to have the budget system applied resolutely and energetically.

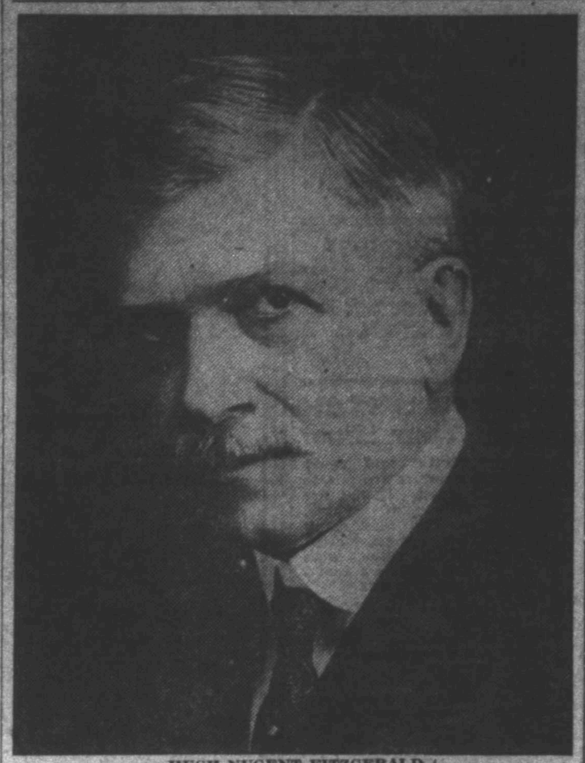

General Dawes has shown vigor, directness and contempt of bureaucratic red tape in his contact with government business. He is a man to enforce respect for the law and for restrictions on waste which had come to be so generally disregarded under the last administration. What is needed is a "watchdog" like General Dawes, who can keep an eye all the year 'round on the operations of the department wasters.—New York Tribune (Rep.)

ROASTS BY MAIL.

Anon I write a lay inspired, that I believe will hit the spot; alas, it makes some readers tired—they call it balderdash and rot. They write to me in bitter tones, and say I am a false alarm; they cannot see how I draw bones for verse that has so little charm. Then on the wfllow tree I hang the lyre that brought me such disgrace, and go and join the weeping gang around the well known wailing place. The savage letter is a sign that someone's liver's out of plumb; no misfit madrigal of mine should make the harsh epistles come. Some fellows lift my hide by mail, and that's a safe and pleasant stunt; if face to face they'd doubtless quail before my fierce and Mars-like front. Sometimes I write such screeds myself, hair-lifting letters, bold and stern; but then I place them on the shelf, or put them in the stove to burn. When I feel sad and tired and sore, it does me good to take a pen, and write ten thousand words or more, denouncing all my fellow men. I rake my foes and cook them brown, and strive to do them wordy harm; but when the stuff is written down I would not mail it for a farm. When one has mailed a bitter note, he gasps to see how small he's grown; he hoped to get another's goat, and finds that he has lost his own.—Copyright by George Matthew Adams.

OUR NEW PRESIDENT

HUGH NUGENT FITZGERALD.

A BROTHER BELOVED.

(From the Waco Times-Herald.)

For thirty years I have been actively identified with leading newspapers of Texas and it has ever been my ambition to personally publish a daily paper along my own lines of thinking and according to my own ideals of what a newspaper should be.—Hugh Nugent Fitzgerald.

This opportunity has now come to our brother beloved. He has associated himself with three other gentlemen in the ownership of the Wichita Falls Record News and will be the editor-in-chief of that publication.

Hugh Nugent Fitzgerald is a South Carolinian by birth and a Texan by adoption. He wields a trenchant pen. At times he is as eloquent as Demosthenes, as entertaining as Macauley, and as impressive as Carlyle. His zeal for his friends sometimes betrays him into partisanship, but he makes no unkind thrusts at the opposition. Our public life is all the purer by reason of this man's active participation, in all political discussion; his ideals are high and his patriotism is 100 per cent all the year round.

We shall watch for the Wichita Record News as we have been accustomed to watching for the Fort Worth Record, which latter paper has been for several years under the editorial direction of our brother beloved.

FROM EXECUTIVE HEAD OF DALLAS-GALVESTON NEWS

DALLAS, Texas, June 30.—Mr. Hugh Nugent Fitzgerald, care the Record News, Wichita Falls, Texas—My dear Mr. Fitzgerald: I read this morning that you had acquired interest in the above named paper, and wish to extend to you my sincere congratulations and very best wishes for success. Very sincerely yours, C. B. DEALEY, Vice President and General Manager.

MOST FACILE AND TRENCHANT PEN IN ALL TEXAS.

(From the McKinney Daily Courier-Gazette.)

Hugh Nugent Fitzgerald has relinquished the editorship of the Fort Worth Record and bought the Record News of Wichita Falls, where he will be domiciled in the future. Mr. Fitzgerald, in our humble opinion, wields the most facile and trenchant pen in all Texas; is a bright, brilliant and interesting writer; an Irishman of the old school, and will make the Record News, as he has every paper upon which he has worked, "shine like a big diamond in the Ozarks of Arkansaw." Here's best wishes, friend Fitz; send us the Record News.

WEST TEXAS PEOPLE ARE TO BE CONGRATULATED

(From The Denison Daily Herald.)

Hugh Nugent Fitzgerald will go to Wichita Falls, where he will have editorial charge of the Record News, and it is safe to assert that he will give the people of that section a morning paper the equal of any in the state. He has for many years been one of the most forceful editorial writers in Texas and the West Texas people are to be congratulated in having this distinguished champion of their interests as a citizen whose influence is statewide.

VERSATILE AND COURAGEOUS.

(From Denton Daily Record-Chronicle.)

Hugh Nugent Fitzgerald, editor in chief of The Record, goes to the Wichita Falls Record News, in the breakup of a happy family, and the Record News will have one of the most interesting and most versatile as well as one of the most courageous newspaper men in Texas at its head, whom we wish all the luck in the world.

ON THE SPUR OF THE MOMENT

THE RETORT DISCOURTEOUS.

A prisoner in the pen one day,
As I was walking through,
Called me and said, "My dear, kind man,
A favor you can do.
Please tell me just what time it is,
I'd really like to know."
I said to him, "Why do you ask?
You have no place to go."

G. G. C.

PLEASE PASS THE ETHER.

The scientific world has been startled by the discovery by a physician of a certain sort of ether that will make people tell the truth.

Now that the ether is a fact let it be tried, in the interest of suffering humanity, upon the following:

Ticket agents at tank railroad stations.

Box office men who say: "These are the best seats in the house, madame."

Members of the supreme council of the league of nations.

Grocer who says: "Those eggs were laid this morning."

And, perhaps, if the ether treatment becomes general, the following expressions can be blotted out of American conversation forever:

"This train hasn't been late in four years."

"It fits wonderfully around the shoulders."

"Glad you called. Come again, often."

"I certainly enjoy my cold bath every morning."

"I made the eighteen holes in 37 flat."

"You are wonderful, dear. So manly looking and everything."

"I ain't never loved no girl in the world but you."

"All vegetables used in this hotel come from our own gardens."

"I'm ringing your party. Just a moment."

"Our verandas are constantly swept by ocean breezes."

"You will not notice the payments at all. Just like paying rent."

"The best people in town have subscribed to this work."

"We accept no tickets bought from speculators."

"Plenty of room up in front of the car."

"There is never a cross word in our household."

Money will not do everything, but it will do most of the things that most of us want to do.

A PIECE OF LOGIC.

If Plutus is a liar, and Plutus says that all men are liars, then who is the liar? Some people will say that Plutus is the liar because he has made a false statement. Now if Plutus made a false statement, it must be just the opposite, and therefore all men are not liars. But is not Plutus a man?—Martin Schaefler.

Breakfast Stories

The butcher grumpled angrily to himself as he put the ten-cent meat order up. "Cheap skate," he muttered. "If she ever let loose of a dollar——"

Just then a small boy burst excitedly in the door.

"Hey," he shouted, "are you putting up mamma's order of cat meat?"

"Yeah," replied the butcher, "and all I gotta say is——"

"Unwrap it right away," announced the boy. "Kitty's caught a mouse."

In a western town they tell a story of a woman newly come into money, who on one occasion while visiting the house of a friend gazed long and thoughtfully at a plaster cast of Shakespeare. Then she sighed and remarked:

"Poor man! How pale he looked. He couldn't have been well when that was taken."

"He wasn't," agreed her polite hostess. "He was dead."

"Oh," continued the woman, drawing a sympathetic breath, "that accounts for it."

At a provincial cinema the following notice was shown on the screen during the performance:

"Lost between —— Rd. and this theater a purse containing $10. Finder rewarded."

Almost immediately a simple-minded man presented himself at the booking office.

"It's found," he said.

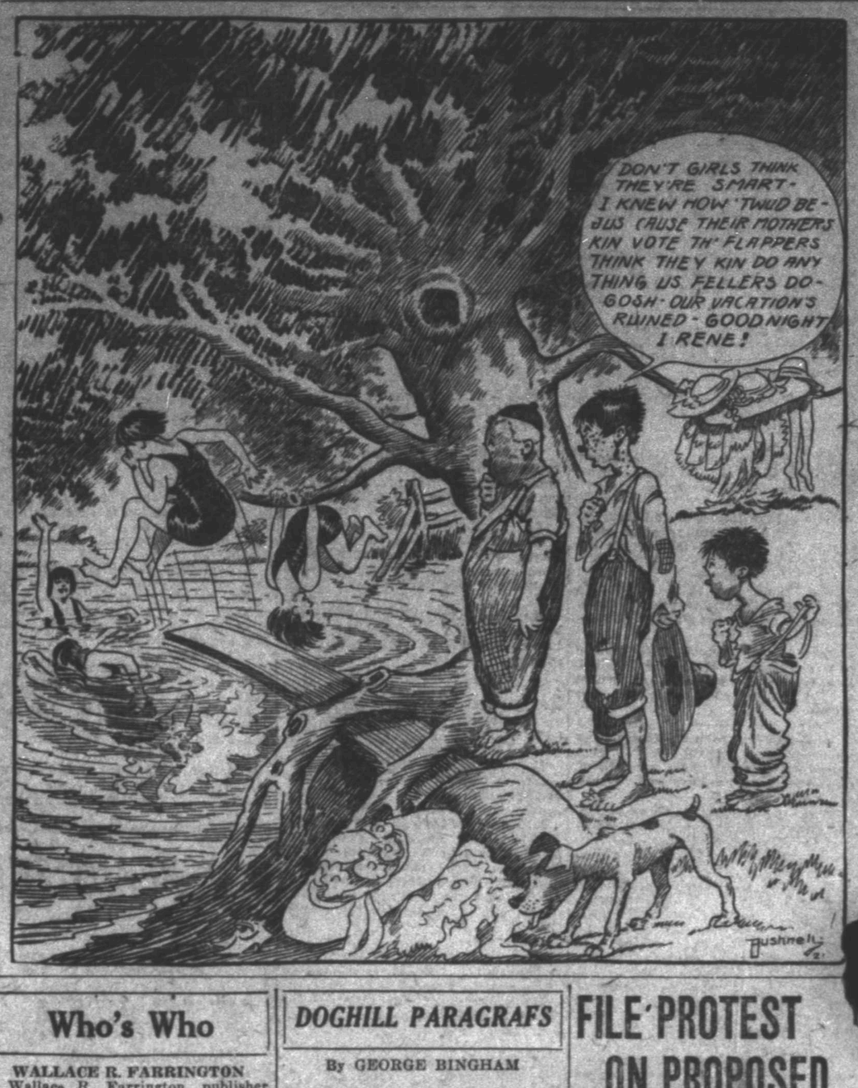

The manager was brought.

"Have you got it?" he asked.

"Oh, no," came the reply, "but I've only just come along that way and it wasn't there then."

AN IDYL OF THE OL' SWIMMIN' HOLE

Who's Who

WALLACE R. FARRINGTON

Wallace R. Farrington, publisher of the Honolulu Star-Bulletin, has been chosen governor of Hawaii by President Harding in view of unique conditions of both national and international importance prevailing in the territory. From almost thirty years' residence in the islands, Farrington is regarded by the president as well qualified to meet the problems relative to the presence in the islands of a predominate oriental population and the development of the island of Oahu as a naval military outpost.

Born at Orono, Maine, May 3, 1874, Farrington has devoted his life to newspaper work, which he leaves for the first time to assume the responsibilities of governor. Following his graduation from the University of Maine in 1891 he joined the staff of the Bangor Daily News and subsequently joined other publications in the east.

In 1894 he went to the Hawaiian islands to become editor of the Pacific Commercial Advertiser. As editor and publisher of that paper and later of the Honolulu Star-Bulletin, he became closely identified with civic movements in the territory. He devoted much of his time to educational work and was one of those responsible for the founding in the islands of the University of Hawaii.

Farrington was one of the organizers of the Republican party in Hawaii when the islands were annexed to the United States in 1898. It was during a trip to the islands that the president made the acquaintance of Farrington which subsequently developed into a personal friendship.

Farrington succeeds Charles J. McCarthy, the present Democratic incumbent, who will soon take up his duties in Washington as representative of the chamber of commerce of Honolulu.

WHEAT IS BETTER THAN EXPECTED

MANGUM, Okla., July 6.—Wheat is about all cut in Greer County and the threshers are now busy. The acreage is larger than ever before, as many cotton farmers decided to try wheat this year on account of the low prices of cotton.

On account of the recent continuous rains it was thought that the wheat crop would be very short. It is true that wheat was damaged approximately 25 per cent but many farmers report that their yield is as high as 24 bushels. The average wheat over the county is threshing out from 18 to 24 bushels per acre.

There is sufficient labor here to handle the crop.

GREER COUNTY FAIR WILL BE BETTER

MANGUM, Okla., July 6.—Arrangements are being made for a big free fair here September 14, 15, 16 and 17. The premium list will be larger this year than it has been heretofore. Exhibits from the several township fairs will compete at the county fair and on account of crop conditions it is expected that the agricultural exhibits will be exceptionally good. The American Legion and the chamber of commerce will provide amusements of various kinds.

AMBASSADOR WALLACE BEGINS JOURNEY HOME

PARIS, July 6.—Hugh C. Wallace, the retiring American ambassador to France, left Paris with Mrs. Wallace this morning for Cherbourg where they board a liner for New York. A crowd of several hundred persons were at the station to bid Mr. and Mrs. Wallace farewell. They included Premier Briand and Marshals Foch and Petain.

MYSTERY OF TOMB OF ROOSEVELT'S ANCESTOR SOLVED

SAVANNAH, Ga., July 5.—The mystery of "The Serpent Tomb" in Colonial Cemetery has been solved. In this old burying ground in the center of the downtown district of Savannah, for many years visitors have viewed with interest an unmarked obelisk, on each side of which a serpent twined to form a circle was the only inscription. Visitors have been entertained by strange stories of its history. One of the favorite tales was that it was erected to the memory of a young man who lost his life in a duel and whose last request was that his name should not be inscribed upon his tomb. Other stories had it that the stone marked the grave of Burton Gwinnett, one of the signers from Georgia of the Declaration of Independence.

Now the tomb bears the inscription:

"Archibald Bulloch, First President of Georgia, 1776-1777. Born in South Carolina, 1730. Died in Savannah, 1777.

"Patriot, Soldier, Statesman."

And beneath are these words, from White's Statistics:

"Georgians, let the memory of Archibald Bulloch live in your breasts. Tell your children of him and let others tell another generation."

The inscription has just been put on the famous old tomb by Archibald Bulloch's great-great-granddaughter, Miss Emma Bulloch, of Washington, who declares there has never been any mystery about the old tomb; that she has always been desirous of marking the tomb of her famous ancestor, who was the great-grandfather of Mittie Bulloch, the mother of Theodore Roosevelt.

Some Relief, Anyway.

FILE PROTEST ON PROPOSED NEW PAVING

With the property owners on some of the affected streets strongly protesting paving for which contracts have already been let, the city council Tuesday night conducted hearings which extended to the midnight hour.

At the conclusion of the hearing the council passed resolutions which in effect means that Fillmore street will be paved between Tenth street and Avenue F and Ohio street between Front and Sixth streets in accordance with the contracts already let for that purpose.

Due to the numerous protests that were made by affected property owners to the proposed paving of Fifteenth, Holiday, Indiana and Sixth streets, Action was deferred. Although taking no definite action expression from members of the council indicated that where a majority of the affected property owners on a given street clearly do not desire the paving the contract will not be forced upon them, regardless of the fact that they had previously asked for the paving.

At the conclusions of the hearings the matter of what would be the city's attitude in the fight of the Lone Star Gas company and the North Texas Gas Company was brought up. After Commissioner Bonner and City Attorney Mann had explained what had been done to date the council passed a resolution stating that it was the opinion of the body at the present time that this city and all other cities affected should intervene in the suit and authorizing City Attorney Mann to agree for the city to pay its proportionate share of any costs in such intervention.

"If the Lone Star Gas company wins in the suit it means that the gas rates will be increased here and I have the assurance of the North Texas Gas Company that if they win in their contentions there will be no increase," declared City Attorney Mann who will Saturday attend another meeting at Dallas of officials representing north Texas towns and cities affected in the suit.

In the hearings on the paving matters protests were made by property owners on Indiana street that they were paying a larger proportionate share of the paving than property owners on Ohio street. They asked that they be placed on the same basis as their Ohio street neighbors. It was pointed out by members of the council that they had the contract for which they had asked they agreeing in a petition presented to pay for the paving if the city paid the cost of excavating. They asked that the work be done under the same kind of contract as that on Ohio for which the city pays one-fourth. Final action in the matter was postponed by the council.

While many were protesting the paving of the streets on which they lived a petition was presented from the property owners on Fillmore street between Avenues F and G asking that the block be paved. The resolution ordering the paving was passed by the council.

The new sanitary ordinance providing for the collection and care of garbage and trash was passed on its third and final reading.

A majority of the property owners on Fifteenth and Holiday streets protested the paving of those streets, only one favoring the paving on either street. Inability to pay for paving at any cost and the contention that paving was too high were the principal reasons assigned for not wanting the paving. C. C. Randle, living on Fifteenth street, stated that he had circulated the petition calling for the paving and said that many of the property owners now protesting the paving had originally wanted it.

The council will meet again Friday to make final decisions on several matters passed over, due to the lateness of the hour.

A WIFE IN THE MAKING

BY PHYLLIS PHILLIPS

A HAPPY START.

Bright and early the next morning Cherry sprang from her bed, rubbed her eyes, stretched her arms wide above her, then with a happy laugh turned and shook her sleeping husband gently. Ned groaned once or twice, grunted, then opened his eyes and blinked sleepily at his wife.

"Lo, lady bird," he murmured, then he blinked again as he heard Cherry's laugh, now close to his ear.

"Makes you mighty happy this new idea of yours, Hon. Hope you stay that way ever so long."

"I am happy, dear, and I feel just like I used to when mother came in of a morning to call me—alive and full of energy—and everything."

"Kiss me, lady bird, and then let me have just forty winks more," commanded her husband, as he puckered his lips and smiled through his eyes at her.

Cherry did so, many times, then she patted his cheek as she pulled herself away from his arms and out of the bed.

"Only forty winks, now mind, Neddy. "You simply must tell me which dress to wear for the great occasion, dear; so when I've had my bath and dressed I'll call you again."

When Cherry came back from her morning tub she found her husband sitting up in bed awaiting her.

"Here they are; now which do you advise for Wellsburg's greatest designer, now, dear?" she questioned as she held up several dresses, one after the other, for his inspection.

"Hon! They're all so all right it's hard to choose, but I sort of see that lavender one on you today, lady bird," indicating a lavender checked gingham, with a fetching bow in the back, and frilly, white collar and suffs.

"Yep, that's it. And that pretty lavender hat you made yourself last week to finish the picture, is my advice," he finished.

Cherry made him a low bow of thanks.

"Your wishes shall be executed to the last detail, my lord. And I'll say you have some taste. Neddy, I just feel like crying for joy. Did you ever feel that way?"

"Yep, once. The day you said you'd be my wife!"

Here there was a rush for Chery and a warm pair of naked arms enveloped Ned Randall in an embrace that he had been missing for several weeks now.

"Mm! Talcum powder and all, darling. I could just eat you up, you're so sweet and appetizing." Here he hugged her close to him.

"Away, erratic one. Would you destroy my freshly made coiffure? Wipe every trace of my careful powdering away?"

Teasing each other and laughing, the two finished their dressing and then descended to breakfast.

"I could eat anything in sight, Ned," confided Cherry as she fell to on her cereal. "Hungry as a lion today. It's the joy of thinking of my work that makes me so well. I know it is."

"You sure do look handsome, Cherry," said Jack, gazing at his sister-in-law admiringly. "You know how to put on your clothes, I'll say, and most of the girls around here don't. I hope to goodness you'll teach 'em all something about knowing a becoming hat when they see it, too! Gee! The things they do wear! It beats the Dutch."

"Well, you leave it to me, Buddy. I'll have them chasing my creations like they would a fire fly before a week is up. Why there's nothing I can't do where a hat is concerned!"

Mrs. Randall Sr. did not appear at the table that morning. She sent down word that she was suffering from a bad headache. And Ned sighed when he heard this, though he said nothing.

Aunt Phoebe came in at the end to wish the new milliner good luck in her new venture. "And here's one o' your Aunty Phoebe's best lavender asters to put in de front o' yuh dress, Miss Cherry," as she handed her the flower.

"Aunt Phoebe, that's real sweet and thoughtful of you, and when I get a moment I'm going to sit down and make you the very smartest hat in Wellsburg. See if I don't!"

And so, amid a babble of laughter and good wishes, Cherry left the house with her husband at 8:45 to the dot.

Arm in arm and eye to eye, they strolled down the garden path—happily—each intent on their coming day's work, and with a new, great understanding between them.

From behind her bedroom shutters, Mrs. Randall Sr. watched them with brooding eyes.

A DAY'S RECIPES

Caramel Custard—Four cups of scalded milk, four eggs, one-half teaspoon salt, one teaspoon vanilla, one-half cup sugar.

Put the sugar in omelet pan, stir constantly over hot part of range until melted to a syrup of light brown color. Add gradually to milk, being careful that milk does not bubble up and go over, as is liable on account of high temperature of the sugar.

As soon as sugar is melted in milk, add mixture gradually to eggs slightly beaten; add salt and flavoring, then strain in buttered molds.

Pour into individual buttered molds and bake in a moderate oven in a pan of hot water until a silver knife will come out clean when put in the center. Chill and serve with caramel sauce.

Caramel Sauce—Melt one-half cup sugar as for caramel custard, add one-half cup boiling water and boil ten minutes, cool before serving.

Spanish Potatoes—Three cups of hot riced potatoes, one teaspoon grated onion, one pimento, finely chopped; two tablespoons butter or substitute, one to two tablespoons hot milk, salt and pepper to season.

Mix all together and bake until creamy. Pile lightly in a hot dish.

COOKING HINTS

If a Tablespoon of Vinegar and a quarter teaspoon of mustard are added to broiling steak or beef of any kind it will make it tender. The sour taste disappears during the broiling.

When Making Cake with baking soda, if the soda is put in a little boiling water, then cooled off, there will be no after taste of the soda that so many people dislike.

SUGGESTIONS

Damp Shoes—Never put damp shoes near a fire to dry. It makes the leather harsh and causes shrinkage.

Putting Away Silver—When putting silver away in strips of cotton flannel be sure that the rough side of the flannel is put next to the silver.

To Rid a Canary Bird of Lice—First get bird out of cage, then have scalding hot water, and after taking cage all apart, swing out on hook and take top off, scald thoroughly and brush all over while scalding; then let cold water run over cage to prevent breeding if any lice should remain.

The Best Floor Wax—The best wax for a floor is made of a mixture of beeswax, paraffin and turpentine.

Salt and Soda make an excellent remedy for bee stings. Salt and vinegar will remove stains from discolored teacups. Salt and water is good for gargling a sore throat. If you will put salt in whitewash it will make it stick. Salt rubbed on spoons will remove egg stains. If you put salt in the water it will keep cut flowers fresh. If you put salt in a pan in the bottom of the oven under baking tins it will prevent cakes and bread from scorching.

WOMEN ORGANIZE TO PROMOTE GOOD RELATIONS

A worthy attempt to "put yourself in his place" and to see things as others see them, is announced as the method of the Pan-American Round Table, by its director general, Mrs. J. C. Griswold of San Antonio, Tex.

Mrs. Griswold was speaking of the object of the round table, to bring about a closer and lasting friendship between the two American continents. This round table is composed of women of twenty-two American nations who are working in the belief that "when the women understand each other men can no longer understand each other."

This sounds hopeful. All women will say God speed to the round table, with its director general, assistant director, twenty-two women each representing a country of the western hemisphere. Also to its purpose of replacing shots across the Rio Grande with friendly handclasps, and instead of having the flags of the two countries placed crosswise, of having them fly side by side.—Maji Stranathan in the Pittsburgh Dispatch.

GIRLS! WHITEN SKIN WITH LEMON JUICE

Squeeze the juice of two lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of Orchard White, which any drug store will supply for a few cents, shake well, and you have a quarter pint of harmless and delightful lemon bleach. Massage this sweetly fragrant lotion into the face, neck, arms and hands each day, then shortly note the beauty and whiteness of your skin.

Famous stage beauties use this lemon lotion to bleach and bring that soft, clear, rosy-white complexion, also as a freckle, sunburn, and tan bleach because it doesn't irritate.—Adv.

Mrs. McCumber Avoided a Serious Operation by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Georgetown, Ill.—"After my first baby was born I suffered so with my left side that I could not walk across the floor unless I was almost humped over, holding to my side. I doctored with several doctors but found no relief and they said I would have to have an operation. My mother insisted on my taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I soon found relief. Now I can do all my own work and it is the Vegetable Compound that has saved me from an operation. I cannot praise your medicine too highly and I tell all of my friends and neighbors what the Compound did for me."—Mrs. MARGARET MCCUMBER, 27 S. Frazier St., Georgetown, Illinois.

Mrs. McCumber is one of the unnumbered thousands of housewives who struggle to keep about their daily tasks, while suffering from ailments peculiar to women with backache, sideaches, headaches, bearing-down pains and nervousness,—and every such woman should profit by her experience and give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial.

With the Women of Today

Dr. Valeria H. Parker

In our fight for equal chances to help run the government we women have another finger in the federal pie with the appointment of Dr. Valeria H. Parker as executive secretary of the United States interdepartmental social hygiene board. The appointment makes Dr. Parker the leader of the federal board for protecting girls near army and navy camps and for protecting the soldiers and sailors themselves from infection. The board is building up preventive hygiene in community after community.

Dr. Parker has had extensive training in the field of social hygiene. She has in recent years been chairman of the social hygiene committee of the National League of Women Voters, director of the department of social morality of the W. C. T. U. and a member of the staff of the American Social Hygiene Association. Dr. Parker was also the first state policewoman in the United States, in which job she supervised the work of six policewomen who did protective work for girls in Connecticut.

She has lectured on social morality throughout the country and recently completed a course of lectures at Bryn Mawr College. She follows Dr. Thomas Storey as executive secretary.

Dr. Parker is a businesslike woman of attractive personality. It is to her charm and sympathy that her friends attribute her success.

CENTENARY OF PIONEER WOMAN PHYSICIAN

Few doors are closed against women today. They can vote and govern and, if they choose, black boots. Every profession includes some women on its rolls. The distinction of woman in science is amply demonstrated by the honors bestowed upon Mme. Curie recently.

In view of these facts it is interesting to note that in 1840, when Harriet Martineau visited this country she reported having found only seven occupations open to women—teaching, needlework, keeping boarders, working in cotton factories, typesetting, bookbinding and household service. The explanation for the absence of women from the professions lay largely in the lack of provision for the higher education of women.

The greatest pioneer in opening institutions of higher learning to women, and thence to the professions, is Dr. Elizabeth Blackwell, the first woman to receive the degree of M. D. in the United States. Dr. Blackwell was born in Bristol England in 1821 and the centenary of her birth is being celebrated this year. She came to the United States as a child.

Dr. Blackwell hung out her shingle in 1851, the first shingle to bear a woman doctor's name. But that distinction was poor comfort. Her first seven years were years of difficulty, hardship and suffering.

According to an estimate made in 1903 there were then more than 10,000 women actively practicing medicine in the United States. Figures proportionately large are available for almost every civilized country in the world. There are now more than fifty colleges in the United States where women may study medicine.

ASK ME

Allen K.—Ann Little's real name is Mary Brooks. Yes, she is married. Elaine Hammerstein's latest picture is "Remorseless Love." She is 24 years old. She is the granddaughter of the late Oscar Hammerstein, operatic impresario. She has brown wavy hair (more than most girls have—I mean the wavy part of it) and gray eyes. Address, care of Selznick Pictures Corporation, N. Y. C.

Charny—Charles Ray is 30 years old. Yes, he is married. His wife was Clara Grant before she promised to love, honor and obey. They have no children. Well, I'll say you're some guesser. You hit the bull's eye that time. Charles Chaplin is 32 years old. Do some more guessing. How old am I?

Nicole—I wonder why so many people ask "Is Eugene O'Brien married?" Is it because he is "the perfect lover?" Well, maybe that's just why he isn't married. He started his career on the stage. His mother wanted him to be a physician because there are a great many doctors in his family, but the call of the stage proved stronger and Eugene submitted to it. His latest picture is "The Last Door." The leading feminine role is taken by Martha Mansfield.

Cherry—Oh, no, Cherry, this time you're wrong. I'm quite sure you never saw Lila Lee playing opposite Thomas Meighan in "The City of Silent Men." That part was taken by Lois Wilson.

Gloria—Constance Talmadge will soon be seen in "Wedding Bells." Harrison Ford appears in her support. It is quite a lively picture. But then, they all are. Priscilla Dean is at present working on "Conflict." Herbert Rawlinson will appear opposite her. So you like Priscilla? Yes, so do we. Doesn't the name "Priscilla" remind you of "The Courtship of Miles Standish?" If you are in doubt about any picture, remember I am here.

Agatha C.—I like that name. My great grandmother's name was Agatha. As to a scenario, you stand an excellent chance of having your script accepted. Producers are looking everywhere for original ones, providing they have a good plot. Typewrite it neatly and enclose a stamped self-addressed envelope and you can not fail to have it sent back to you or perhaps accepted. You are welcome. Call again.

Narcissus—What has become of Grace Cunard? She is at present appearing in "The Girl in the Taxi," starring Mr. and Mrs. Carter De Haven. King Baggot is also in the cast. She has a sister, Myra Cunard. May MacAvoy is 20 years old. She has been promoted to stardom, her first picture being "A Private Scandal."

Norma—Elsie Ferguson is married. Her husband is Thomas Clarke. Her latest picture is "Footlights" and she is now working on "Peter Ibbotson," costarring with Wallace Reid.

WHAT WOMEN STARS WEAR WHEN "OFF FILM"

For evening wear Elaine Hammerstein recently purchased an exquisite wrap or silk duvetyn in the new Harding blue shade. It is made on the new circular lines and a brushed wool furnishes a soft cloudy collar.

Martha Mansfield was seen recently in a dashing walking suit of white Poiret Twill trimmed with Pall Mall red kid collar, cuffs and belt.

Katherine Perry has just purchased a very chic bathing suit of black satin on which blue silk handmade flowers are appliqued. A swagger cape of black satin lined with blue accompanies this.

Buttercup yellow is a favorite tint of Winifred Westover and she looked very dainty at the Ritz the other afternoon in a striking frock of satin of this note picoted in black.

Elaine Hammerstein was seen taking a canter in the park the other morning in a riding habit of natural colored linen.

Winifred Westover, blonde and beautiful, seems to crave excitement in continuous quantities. No sooner had she finished "Bucking the Tiger" with Conway Tearle than she strenuously began "The Fighter" with the same star.—New Orleans States.

Crippled Spudders Battle Cats to Standstill

CATS PROVE LUCKY AND FINALLY WIN GAME, WIRES NICK, BUT AT COST OF SIZEABLE AMOUNT OF FUR

By C. F. CARTER
Sporting Editor Record News

FORT WORTH, July 6.—Beaten by the breaks of the game by sheer hard luck and continued determination of Umpire Harry Kane to give every close decision to the home club the crippled, fighting Spudders carried Jake Atz crew into the last of the ninth today before the Panthers were able to tear the last game loose by a score of 8 to 7. Hollingsworth went the route for the Spudders and despite the toughest kind of luck, held the Cats to nine hits, many of them exceptionally flukey, while his teammates fought to the end to continue the kid's winning streak.

The Cats got away with the big end of the score but the bruises are on Jakey Atz not on Walter Salm.

For the Spudders tore into the famed Fort Worth pitching staff like mad men and before hostilities ceased had driven three of Atz's great twirlers to the showers.

Lefty John's conceit lasted until the fifth when a rain of hits sent him to the doghouse, Goodbred was knocked out in the sixth and Pate took the count in the seventh.

Wachtel finished.

The Spudders lost, but we're slipping it to you, fellers, that Holly went the route with Caddy Works warming his southpaw wing up on the side—and we didn't see any Fort Worth twirlers tracking the full race.

Not so you could tell it.

When the old gang fights like they did today with Bescher and Rothfus too crippled to play, and with an infielder and a catcher playing left and right field, and a shortstop playing third, then you've got to take your hats off to 'em, that's all.

No other team on the circuit playing the game with its regular line-up and full strength has given Pop Boone's Fort Worth Rampages the bitter fight these boys of ours gave 'em.

The luck broke bad for the Spudders in the opening frame when Taylor, lead-off man, scratched an infield hit to short.

Gross, playing third base for the first time in his young life, was hugging the base too closely or the Kid might have reached the ball. Coombs sacrificed Taylor to second and he went to third when Sears dropped a dinky foolish little Texas Leaguer in left.

Kraft hit a roller to Buddy Tanner. Umpire Kane, running for the possible play at the plate got between Buddy and the ball, which took a bad hop to boot, broke weakly through Tanner—and Taylor scored, Sears went to third and Kraft to second.

Hoffman struck out and Sears scored on a passed ball, Kraft going to third. Haley singled to center, this also being a weak pitiful little loop of a bit over the bag and Kraft scored.

Haley then stole second, went to third on another passed ball and then scored on a wild pitch. Rigney walked and Moore fanned. Four runs were in.

Look how they came in. Terrible!

The Cats made one more in the second on two hits, one a freak double that Sears barely caught on the end of his bat and poked over third base whence it rolled to the fence.

In the third the Spudders could not even score with the bases full and only one out. Holly went out third to first, Tanner singled sharply to center and Gross and Miller walked.

Clark hit a terrific line smash squarely into Haley's hands; an inch either way and it would have been good for two or three sacks. Bischoff flied to deep left.

The Spudders came into their own in the fifth when Buddy drew a pass after fouling a dozen good ones. Gross slapped a single into center Buddy going to second. Miller crashed a hot double over third, scoring them both. Clark died, first to pitcher, Miller reaching third. Bischoff singled hotly to center scoring Jake, and going to second when Griggs duplicated his blow. Abe Bowman, hitting for McElwee, crashed another clean one to left and Bischoff tallied.

Johns was yanked and Goodbred sent in. Kitchens forced Bowman at second and Holly fanned.

And right here in the last of the fifth the Cats won the game on the biggest break of luck we have seen yet in this doggoned series. Holly fanned Dutch Hoffman, and forced Haley to pop up to Tanner. Rigney hit to Buddy, who was set for the ball on a dead certain out, when the pill leaped a clean ten feet over his head and Rigney gets credit for a three bagger. Holly got Possum Moore in a hole and the Panther catcher with two strikes on him swung wildly at a fast breaking drop. He missed it by two feet the ball hit the plate bounced wildly past Kitchens to the wire and Rigney scored and Moore, although struck out clean as a whistle, had time to run leisurely to first. You can't beat that. Goodbred flied out to Miller.

With the Spudders fighting desperately, and coming fast that one lone cockeyed crazy run in the fifth shut them out of the game.

They battled their way through to two more tallies in the sixth and one in the seventh while the Cats also got one in the seventh and tied the score. Space will not let us give all the details, even though we don't place much confidence in what the box score may show you. It is not our box score, but the score known as official here as we are writing this we do not know even how many errors it may show.

But we will tell you how many were made by the Spudders. Four, and they didn't count so darned much in the scoring either.

Danny Gross with two out in the last of the ninth, threw one over Griggs' head on first that presented the Cats with the winning run—but the Kid was playing an unnatural position for him; was trying hard and was under the strain of playing in one of the hardest fought ball games we have ever witnessed.

No, don't think it was the errors alone that beat the Spudders today and don't let any one kid you into believing that a ball team always makes its own breaks. There are some breaks that no man can prevent, and they happened to the Spudders at least twice today and each time cost one [illegible] from us they lost considerable fur.

On to Shreveport. Those birds ought to be easy after the fighting training this gang of ours has been going through.

GASSERS LOSE BUT EIBEL HITS 18TH HOME RUN

DALLAS, July 6. — Munson's double with the bases full in the seventh enabled Dallas to win the final game from Shreveport today, thus evening the series. The score was 7 to 5. Eibel hit his 18th home run, scoring two runners in the first.

WISDOM and WORSE

By C. F. C.

FORT WORTH, July 6. — Holly's to work today.

Oh, silver lining in you black and ugly cloud, we welcome thee.

And after Holly has beaten Fort Worth the second time in four days, we'll have this to say:

That a team with a shatered outfield, a constantly changing infield and a crippled hurling staff that takes two out of five from a ball club in perfect condition, and with the fastest aggregation of twirlers in the loop—the team that does that deserves praise as a bunch of fighters.

Holly may lose? Certainly.

Perhaps even before this appears in print he may have lost—but we believe he will win. We have seen the other twirlers of Doak Robert's circuit work in Wichita Falls, and we have seen the cream of the Panther staff twirling in their own back yard—and Hollingsworth, in our judgment, is the greatest twirler in the Texas league today. He has blinding speed, splendid curves and a great heart. If the boys give him even fair support today he'll stop the Cats again.

For six weeks Bill Whittaker has not started and finished a ball game for Jakey Atz. And the Spudders had to draw Bill on the day when he finally rounded into shape and showed the stuff that made him great last season.

Fort Worth fans are crazy with delight over Bill's return to form. "Bill's right at last," they are saying. "He must be when he holds that cloutin' gang from the 'Falls' to six bingles."

They tell the truth, fans. We saw everything that Whittaker offered yesterday, and he had all that a pitcher needs to be a winner.

Rigney's work at short for the Feline tribe is nothing less than sensational—and the Pantherville bugs have forgotten the once great Bobby Stow. Rigney is hitting over .300 and robbing batters of hits by one brilliant grab after another—and today he almost duplicated Bobby's famous relay play to first. Buddy Tanner slashed one back of second and Rigney was over behind the bag like a human streak, scooped the ball into Hoffman's paws and Hoffman's throw was behind Buddy at first by the slenderest margin of inches. It was a play of a season!

Jake Miller made a wonderful try for a Texas leaguer from Sear's club in the third, going to his knees and just getting his fingers on the ball in his headlong dive.

Caddy Works is hitting better every day now, and is working the pitchers pretty often for bases on balls.

Froggy had another aching head following yesterday's set-to, the result of a collision between Clark and himself on a Texas leaguer to right. Both went down but Clark held the ball long enough to get the batter. Two members of the club, both trying to call the play, were responsible for the "bone."

And Bob Beacher had to lay off again with his bad ankle bothering him.

BUT—
They may be badly shattered,
All crippled up and battered,
And slightly on the crack;
But there aint' a single fellow
Has got a streak of yellow
Down the middle of his back.

They may be shy of flingers
To class as real humdingers
In a big league crowd;
But there's one thing certain, Buddy,
That their old beans may be bloody,
But they're still unbowed.

The Panthers have a great ball club. Who denies it is foolish. Which makes it more sickening when the Fighting Spudders, going up against such a club in what Pop Boone calls "the crooshul serious," are robbed by umpires who to all appearances are intimidated by a few thousand hard-boiled fans.

And believe you me, Mawruss, they ARE hard-boiled. In yesterday's opener of the twin bill Frank Kitchens, who broke up Sunday's game with a clean single comes to bat, and on every side of us we hear hoarse yells:

"Crack him in the head, Wachtel! Cripple him for life! Fix him so he won't get another hit the rest of his life! Lay that ball in his ribs!"

Good, clean sportsmanship, eh?

We don't wish to arouse any false hopes in your bosoms, fans, but we honestly trust we can slip you some good news within 48 hours concerning an addition to the hurling staff. We can't say any more just yet, except to add that the pitcher in question is a good one, but there'll be a decision in the matter, we expect, by tomorrow night.

Clarence Darrough isn't Clarence Darrough at all. Nossir, he's Clarence Dorough. That's what his father, Emmett Dorough, a Fort Worth barber, and his little four-year-old sister, Unita, told us today—and seems like they ought to know the spelling of the family name. Anyway, the name don't matter—it can be Jones if the kid'll only start a nice long winning streak on the mound.

Headlines this morning state that "Georges Hoists Flags to Breeze" and also "Jack Sees Self in Picture Show"—which is a pretty fair Independence Day line on the characters of the two heavy weight boxers, eh?

MAY TAKE TWO WEEKS TO PICK JURY FOR BASEBALL TRIAL; NONE CHOSEN AFTER ALL DAY SESSION

CHICAGO, July 6.—No jurors had been chosen at the end of today's session in the baseball trial, although three were accepted tentatively by both sides. Indications were that the work of picking the twelve men would go into extra innings, some attorneys today predicting that a jury would not be completed for two weeks.

The defense, in examining the veniremen today, laid stress on the testimony of an accomplice, asking each person if he realized that a state's witness called an accomplice in legal terms "would be called a traitor in international dealings and a snitch in the language of the street."

Some of the men were asked if they realized ball players were the only [illegible] try since 1861, while another question was whether the prospective juror understood that the men on a Chicago team, for example, were picked up all over the country by scouts just as a Sultan's harem is gathered."

A motion by the defense that the state tell which of its witnesses were the accomplices who had agreed to turn state's evidence was overruled by Judge Hugo Friend.

"Well," I guess we know it's Bill Burns," said Attorney Thomas Nash of the defense.

"And this man of mystery, Billy Maharg whose real name is Graham —Maharg spelled backwards,—he's one of their pinch hitters, too, I think," said Attorney O'Brien, [illegible]

BIG SMOKE TO BE BARRED IN NEW JERSEY

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, July 6.—Jack Johnson, former heavyweight champion of the world, who will be released from the Leavenworth penitentiary next Saturday will not box in New Jersey while the present state boxing commission is in office.

That was the statement of Chairman Robert H. Doherty here this afternoon when told of reports that attempts would be made to match Johnson with Harry Wills in a Jersey ring next month.

"The commissioners are in office to promote and protect the boxing game in the state," Chairman Doherty declared, "and we believe that the appearance of Johnson in a contest there would be dangerous to the sport.

GALLENCAMP DEFEATS AKIN IN SEMI-FINAL

Defeating Akin in two straight sets Gallencamp assured himself a place in the finals for the city tennis championship Wednesday afternoon in a semi-final match. Akin forced Gallencamp to show his wares and only won after fighting in every round. The scores were 7-4 and 7-5.

After losing the first set to Maxwell, Lewis in another semi-final match Wednesday afternoon came back strong, taking the second and third sets by scores of 7-5 and 6-1. He lost the first by a score of 4-6. Both matches were hotly contested with a class playing shown which has not been excelled this season.

Today Lewis and Powers will fight it out to see who will take on Gallencamp for the finals. The match will be played at 4:30 this afternoon.

GEORGES AND TEX CONFER ON FIGHT WITH TOM GIBBONS

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, July 6.—Georges Carpentier and his manager, Francois Descamps, who plan to sail for France July 14, conferred with Tex Rickard here this afternoon concerning the Frenchman's campaign in defense of his light heavyweight title. Although a contest with Tom Gibbons, the St. Paul boxer, to be held early in October was discussed, no definite action was taken, the promoter said.

Carpentier's present plans call for a vacation of about a month with his wife and baby at Dieppe, France, after which he will return to this country. Another conference is scheduled tomorrow afternoon between Rickard and Descamps.

Carpentier has lost no popularity in defeat judging from the reception accorded him on New York streets today. Arriving to keep his engagement with Rickard, the boxer was immediately recognized and crowds of persons eager to shake his hand followed him giving lusty cheers. Harry Greb, the Pittsburgh light heavyweight, also is seeking a match with Carpentier.

CROWDS HAIL DEMPSEY IN CITY PARKS

By Associated Press.

CHICAGO, July 6.—Jack Dempsey mingled with thousands of Chicagoans today in the city's parks along the lake front, the heavyweight champion of the world, and the thousands having one objective—relief from the 90 degrees heat wave that enveloped the city.

The champion did not have much opportunity to become cool, for he was surrounded by admirers from the time he arrived this morning until he retired tonight. Hundreds of persons welcomed him at the railroad station. He held open house at his hotel and when he went out during the afternoon he was recognized and besieged by throngs who desired to greet him.

Dempsey told his friends today that two men, one with a towel in his hand, were found in his corner in the third round of the fight last Saturday.

He said that Mike Trant, the Chicago detective sergeant who was with the champion during his period of training, questioned the men and had them taken away by the police. Dempsey expressed the opinion that the men intended to throw a towel into the ring from his corner and create a scene of disorder.

Trant said today that the men had told him they were placed there to mop up the ring if it became smeared with blood during the fight and that they were there at Rickard's orders. He thought it best, he said, that they be removed.

Regarding his next fight, Dempsey said, "it looks as though I'll have to wait quite a while. I'll have to wait until some opponent appears who seems to have a chance."

Dempsey expects to leave tomorrow night for Salt Lake City, Utah.

It is rumored about the county building, where Dempsey visited today, the champion will apply for a marriage license tomorrow.

Accompanied by Trant the fighter walked into the county clerk's office and inquired for the chief clerk. On being informed that the official was out Dempsey said:

"Tell him I will be back tomorrow morning."

CARPENTIER IS CHALLENGED BY MIDDLEWEIGHT

By Associated Press.

BOSTON, July 6.—A challenge to Georges Carpentier, light heavyweight champion of the world in behalf of Johnny Wilson, middleweight title holder, was announced here today by Marty Killeilea, manager of the latter.

"Wilson would knock out the Frenchman as quickly as Dempsey did and there would not be much difference in the weight, Wilson would weigh about 165 pounds" Killeilea's statement said.

GENERAL CARTER GOES TO TEXAS MILITARY POST

Special to The Record News.

WASHINGTON, July 6.—Brigadier General Jesse Mol Carter, for many years head of the militia bureau in the war department, will go to Fort Sam Houston, Texas, for duty on October 1, it was announced by Secretary Weeks today.

General Carter has just been relieved as chief of the militia bureau by General George C. Rickards of Pennsylvania, a national guard officer. General Rickards, a democrat, was nominated for the place by President Wilson, but the senate refused to confirm him. Because of a serious row between the states as to the proper national guard officer to head the bureau, President Harding again nominated General Rickards as a compromise. General Carter will serve in the cavalry department at the war department until time to assume his Texas assignment.

RAILROAD MAN IS SATISFIED WITH HIS CONDITION

"When I began taking Tanlac I didn't dare to eat anything more than a little cereal or a soft boiled egg at a meal; now I eat fried meats, vegetables and anything else I want and never have a sign of indigestion afterwards," said Joe H. Morris, 1816 Providence St., one of the best known railroad men in Houston, Texas.

"I had catarrh of the stomach, and although I tried everything in the way of medicines and spent a month in the hospital, I got only temporary relief. As careful as I was about my diet I suffered from indigestion. At times I had such awful headaches I would almost go wild. I felt dizzy and languid and had no energy. It is a wonder to me that I was able to stay on my job. I certainly felt like giving up many a times.

"I have bought another bottle of Tanlac but the two I have already taken have made me feel better than I have since my troubles began. I have only eat anything I want but my catarrhal troubles, headaches and dizziness do not bother me any more. I sleep fine every night and get up in the morning feeling rested and ready for work. I gladly go on record as saying that Tanlac does everything that is claimed for it."

Tanlac is sold in Wichita Falls by Miller Drug Store; in Electra by Hilton Drug Store; in Burkburnett by West End Drug Store and by all leading druggists.—Adv.

Sane or Insane: Jury's Verdict Means Life or Death of Woman

Mrs. Eva Kaber, photographed in court during present trial.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, July 6.—Is Mrs. Eva Kaber, on trial here for the murder of Dan Kaber, her husband, sane or insane? Upon the jury's decision in this matter rests the woman's fate.

Her attorneys will attempt to prove that by reason of ill treatment from Kaber, Mrs. Kaber was insane when the crime was committed. The state is attempting to show that she coldly plotted the murder while in the possession of all her faculties.

In court as the trial drags on, Mrs. Kaber presents a pitiable figure. Looking at her, one might almost imagine that, against her will, she had been swept off her feet by stronger forces and dashed into the horrible drama of crime and plotting that is daily drawing nearer and nearer its climax.

And yet—the reports on her activities in the case, compiled by detectives working under the direction of Attorney H. H. Felsman, counsel for the murdered man's aged father, show her in a strikingly different light.

In the mystery which has surrounded the killing of Dan Kaber, no more remarkable contrast is presented than that between her attitude now, after the trap has been sprung, and her demeanor before, while she believed the affair would never come to light.

The reports, which trace her every movement, almost from the time of the murder nearly two years ago, up to the day of her indictment and subsequent arrest, reveal her as a figure far from pathetic. In that routine she stands as a woman boastful, scornful, willing to go to any extreme to gain her ends, afraid of nothing.

A tale of cold-blooded crime, unredeemed by any touch of humanity or womanly softness, interspersed with horrid jests and fits of vengeful hate, woven against a background of poisoners, paid assassins, illicit loves and midnight plotting—the Mrs. Kaber revealed in the Pinkerton investigation appears as a woman for whom neither sympathy nor pity can be found.

Mrs. Kaber has been called a second "Lady Macbeth." Yet the heroine of Shakespeare's tragedy, touched by remorse at the sight of her intended victim lying asleep, turned and ran to her husband with entreaties that he do the work she did not feel capable of completing.

And Mrs. Kaber? Read what a member of her family says she said on the morning after the murder, while Dan Kaber's body lay in its casket, ready for burial.

"When Dan's body was in the house after he died," declares the person quoted in the Pinkerton reports, "Eva stood at the stairs and laughed and danced and said, 'You go down and look at that d——wop and tell me how he looks.' She didn't lose one hour's sleep over it."

A vengeful hatred of Dan Kaber, which lasted even after he had been laid in the earth, flared up continually, according to the reports, in the brain of the woman who is now before a jury asking for pity and mercy.

A woman informant, a friend of Mrs. Kaber's asserts in the reports: "Whenever Dan Kaber was mentioned Mrs. Kaber flew into a rage and said, 'That d——dirty——; he is better off where he is. I could go to his body and scratch his eyes out.'"

On the day after the murder, this informant declares in the reports, she called Mrs. Kaber by telephone and, attempting to console her, cried, "Oh, Eva, isn't it awful?"

To this, the informant says, Mrs. Kaber replied, with a laugh: "Oh, it's not so bad."

POKER BECOMES ONE OF SCIENCES

Columbia University staged a stud poker party recently, a scientific stud poker party and the first of its kind ever held.

Columbia, of course, does not sanction poker, especially of the variety known as stud, but in the interest of science it determined to discover just how greatly stud poker affects the nervous system, the respiratory system and incidentally the pocketbooks of those who indulge in such form of amusement either for pleasure or for profit.

Warning, however, is hereby given to all potential, practical and prospective stud poker players to avoid playing in any game which either Albert Johnson, M. A., or Joseph Holmes, M. A., attends with apparatus. These gentlemen are research directors in Columbia's famous psychological laboratory, and they can tell without looking and from behind screens when any player has an ace in the hole, when any player makes a pair or better, and without seeing the cards can tell which player holds the winning hand.

They have demonstrated that science beats marked cards or dealing from the bottom, and that against science no card sharp ever would have a chance.

The recent experiment at Columbia demonstrated these points. Six students, all more or less familiar with the principles and the ethics of the great American indoor sport, were given special dispensations to play 10-cent limit stud poker in the very heart of the great university.

It was perhaps the first time that any institution of higher education ever granted such privileges, and the psychologists deny that they in any way recognize knowledge of stud poker as a necessary part of higher education. The object was entirely to find out how the emotions of a human being are affected by the game.

Each player when seated at the card table had strapped about his chest a rubber harness arrangement which was connected with a delicate needle, every movement of which was recorded on the surface of a revolving cylinder.

The first card was dealt to each player, face downward, of course, and the cylinders began to revolve. It was immediately seen that the cylinder belonging to the man who held the best card showed most activity. The second card was dealt and one man made a pair. He bet 10 cents. His cylinder registered heavy vibrations.

The game progressed and as the players forgot more and more the psychological aspects of the game and thought more and more of the game as a game the records on the revolving cylinders became more definite. The losers showed rapid up and down marks; the winners revealed excitement maintained at a higher level.

It was discovered that "catching" high cards, "making" pairs or the prospect of a flush or straight affected the nervous system, the heart and the respiration.

The experiment should be continued until one player holds a straight flush against a set of fours, when both cylinders probably would break.—New York Mail.

NEGRO VODVIL TO OPEN AT WICHITA THEATER JULY 8

Everything from the most fetching of New Orleans' famous "Creole Belles" to the best slap stick "tar babies" are promised in the bills of the program of a negro amusement company, who have leased the Wichita theatre building for a series of entertainments beginning Friday, July 8.

The entire first floor of the theatre will be reserved entirely for white people, according to C. G. Saunders, negro advance agent of the company. He asserted that the company is sending the best bill on the program for the first engagement.

The programs are scheduled to start at 2 o'clock in the afternoons and at 8:15 of evenings.

Good singing, dancing and jazz music by real southern negroes are promised in the opening attraction.

Needed at Home.

"Will you go to the seashore with your family?"

"No," replied Mr. Growcher. "Somebody ought to stay home for the rest of the folks to send postcards to."—Washington Star.

GOVERNMENT CHECKS 'DRY' PROPAGANDA

WASHINGTON, July 5.—A peculiar form of intimidation, which has caused existing laws to be made the plaything of propagandists, has been stopped with a jolt. Dry leaders of every shade, who have been getting away with a lot of things that don't jibe with unbiased administration of justice, have awakened with a feeling in the head that now convinces them that the political wheel has brought a new day and a new way of doing things.

This does not necessarily imply that the new administration is less dry than the old, or that it is in any sense less alive to the emergency which confronts the country in enforcing the laws as they stand on the statute books.

But the pernicious activity of certain dry enthusiasts, who have monopolized the time and attention of certain officials of the treasury department and the department of justice, and invoked their power almost at will in making the Volstead law a vehicle to impose bothersome and unjust rules upon certain classes of citizens has been halted.

The un-advertised control and domination of the "drys" over the prohibition unit has become something of a scandal among those of sedate officialdom, who frown upon the employment of outside "influence" in shaping official acts, which affect all the people rather than some small part of it.

Drys who have had a habit of actually writing regulations for treasury officials to sign, as written, have passed along with another regime. They are not found around the inner precincts of the dry law chiefs, initiating or suggesting what shall be done, all the while with some consciousness that the overzealous dry leaders will be carried out in toto.

The welcome sign still hangs on the doors of treasury officials. But not for the type, either wet or dry, who would try to "put over" anything that is not fully warranted by law, or as the intent of congress has it, may be interpreted by the duly constituted legal advisers of members of the cabinet. And for that there is much to be thankful. Little is known outside of Washington of the baneful influence described.

NEED ABBATOIR TO AID FARMER RAMSEY SAYS

A city abbatoir where farmers may slaughter beef and pork and screened milk houses were announced by the city sanitary department as the most important needs of the city found in the recent inspection of S. M. Ramsey of the state health department.

Mr. Ramsey, who spend approximately a week inspecting the various plants and business of the city handling food, announced that his department desired to work in conjunction with the various business men and that he found Wichita Falls men ready and willing to co-operate.

Dr. A. H. Douglass, city sanitary officer, announced that the city department is working in conjunction with the state department in an effort to enforce sanitation regulations and to maintain a high health standard for Wichita Falls.

In most cases where irregular sanitation arrangements were met, Mr. Ramsey declared that he found the owners ready and willing to do all in their power to meet the requirements set. Notable among these, he said, were dairymen on rented land, who expressed their willingness to construct small milk houses, after specifications furnished by the state health department.

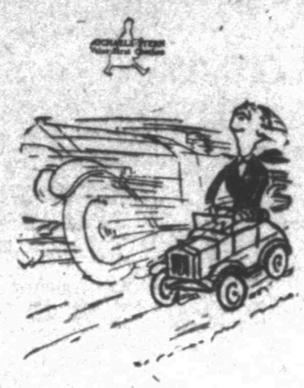

Mr. Ramsey, who completed his inspection Wednesday, announced that he will return in the near future to investigate changes made following recommendations made on this inspection.

LIQUOR LABEL LIBEL

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., July 6.—Tidings of "red liquor" fail to receive the spontaneous response of recent days, following the discovery by revenue men of a "red liquor" factory in the barn of a negro taxicab driver. "Bonded whiskey" labels were confiscated in the raid. Storerooms were filled with many jugs of "corn," with vast quantities of coloring fluid designed to change the transparent "first-run" color to the ruddy glow of old bourbon de luxe.

Memories: "Old Crow," "Old Taylor," "Green River"—these were the labels.

In 1919 there were 200,000 farm lighting plants in use. Now, it is said, there are 340,000.

CHICAGO PRODUCE.

By Associated Press.

CHICAGO, July 6.—Butter, higher; creamery extras, 36½c. Eggs, higher; receipts, 28,414 cases; first, 28c. Poultry alive, unsettled; fowls, 24c; broilers, 22@30c.

NEW YORK COFFEE.

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, July 6.—After opening at a decline of 6 points on July but generally unchanged to 1 point higher, coffee futures sagged off a few points under scattering liquidation. September sold down to 6.30 with active months generally showing net losses of 4 to 7 points but the tone was steadier later in the afternoon owing to an advance in Santos and private cables intimating that the government had named a minimum buying price of 14,650 reis for Santos and 12,500 reis for Rio coffees for the new season. The close was net unchanged to 6 points higher. Closing bids: July, 6.00; September, 6.31; October, 6.30; December, 6.73; January, 6.83; March, 7.04; May, 7.21.

Spot coffee, quiet; Rios, 7's, 6¼c; Santos 4's, 9⅛ to 9⅜c.

NEW YORK SUGAR.

By Associated Press

NEW YORK, July 6.—Raw sugar was firm and unchanged at 4 cents for centrifugal.

There was only a moderate trade in sugar futures and operators seemed to be awaiting fresh developments in the spot market. The opening was firm and prices early in the session showed advances of 5 to 7 points, but eased off later, closing unchanged to 3 points net lower. July closed at 2.82; September, 2.85; December, 2.61 and March 2.58 all bid.

There was no change in refined sugar prices at 5.20 to 5.40 for fine granulated.

There was more activity in refined sugar and prices were easy under scattered Wall street and commission house selling. Final prices were 15 to 25 points net lower. July closed at 5.50; September and December 5.60, all bid.

GENERAL MANUEL PALEZ COMMANDS AT TAMPICO.

By Associated Press.

MEXICO CITY, July 6.—General Manuel Pelaez has been appointed commander in chief of Mexican government forces in the Tampico district. He is very popular in that region and belief is expressed that his appointment will relieve the situation there which is a result of the unemployment of a large number of men.

WHEAT GOES HIGH AFTER FALLING LOW

CHICAGO, July 6.—Wheat averaged higher in price otday but only after the September delivery had touched the lowest level yet this season. The market closed unsettled at the same as yesterday's finish to 2 1-2 cents higher, with September 1.16 3-4 to 1.17 and December 1.18 1-2 to 1.18 3-4. Corn gained 3-8c to 1 3-8 cents and oats half to 3-4@7-8c. In provisions the outcome ranged from 2 1-2c decline to 20 advance.

At first the wheat market had a downward slant owing to further rains northwest. Buying was considerably enlarged afterward as a result of threshing returns from the winter crop, especially Missouri figures, which were much more unfavorable than had been looked for.

Dry weather is Illinois, Iowa, Indiana and Ohio gave effective aid to the bull side in the corn market. Oats followed corn upgrade.

High quotations on hogs together with improved call for lard tended to rally the provision market from early declines.

HOLD HOUSTON MAN FOR DEATH OF GALVESTONIAN

By Associated Press.

GALVESTON, Texas, July 6.—G. W. Brown, a young business man of Houston, Texas, was placed under arrest this afternoon on a charge of murder in connection with the death of Thomas P. Smith of this city, who was shot and killed early today at the Beach and Sixty-First street.

Brown told police authorities that he fired at Smith only after his life had been threatened and then intended only to "wing" him. Brown returned to his hotel here after the shooting and did not know that Smith was dead until after noon today.

The shooting followed a quarrel, Brown said, in which both he and his companion had been struck by Smith and after they had gotten into their automobile preparatory to leaving the beach. As the car was started Brown said that Smith jumped on the running board and threatened to kill both men.

Up Against It.

The story is told by a certain philanthropist in the West, who is a man of big business as well and who is noted for his sympathy for the "down and outers." If possible he will give any deserving applicant for work a chance to "make good."

On one occasion it is stated this gentleman was approached by an individual so utterly disreputable in appearance that any but the philanthropist himself would have had him ejected from the office.

"Can't you find any work at all" asked the good man, when he had heard the man's recital of his woes.

"I can find work, all right," said the man, "plenty of it, but everybody wants references from my last employer."

"And cannot you get these references from him"

"No, sir, he's been dead for twenty-five years."—Los Angeles Times.

PORKERS GAIN THIRTY CENTS AT FT. WORTH

By Associated Press.

FORT WORTH, Texas, July 6.—Hogs gained 25 to 30 cents today and two cars were good enough to sell at $9.50. Most of the run of 1000 head went at a range of $9.25 to $9.45. The market was active and the demand exceeded the supply.

Around 1600 head of cattle and 1000 calves arrived. Cattle sold on a slow and weak market, but taking excessive water fills into consideration, the price trend was not quotably lower. Calves cleared readily at an advance of 25 cents. Quality was not very good. Best calves brought $6.25 and most of the run cleared at $5.00 to $5.75.

Sheep values remain unchanged, receipts reaching only 100 head. Quotations:

GRAND JURY TO MAKE REPORT MONDAY

The grand jury of the 30th district court which Wednesday started on its third week of work will not make its final report before Monday, according to an announcement Wednesday. Judge H. J. Weldon, who is now on a vacation, will return on Monday to hear the report. It is expected that the jury will complete its work before that date although no announcement has been made to that effect.

BURKBURNETT MEN WAIVE EXAMINING TRIALS

William Henderson and William Uhl, arrested Monday in a rooming house in Burkburnett by Sheriff Smith and deputies, waived preliminary hearings before Justice of the Peace Gwinn Wednesday and were bound over under $750 bond each to await the action of the grand jury on charges of having liquor in their possession.

The two men had several pints of liquor in their possession, according to officers, at the time of their arrest.

NEWTOWN MAN FINED FOR SUNDAY MOVIE

L. L. Miller, arrested at Newtown by Sheriff Smith for the alleged violation of the Sunday closing laws in that city, pleaded guilty Wednesday to the charge and was fined $25 and costs. Miller is alleged to have operated a movie show on Sunday.

GERMAN KINGS OF TRADE START WAR ON U. S. MERCHANTS

WASHINGTON, July 6.—German trade kings are gambling their national financial security away in order to retrieve lost commercial ground in other foreign fields. This is evidenced by latest reports from Berlin to Secretary of Commerce Hoover. Utter disregard of price cutting and other German tactics, as that course may affect internal fiscal affairs, is revealed by these dispatches from American trade observers in Central Europe.

Significant of the trend in Germany is the fact that German business failures and bankruptcies are increasing. The number of business concerns that failed this year were increased four-fold, as compared with last year.

Germany continues, upon an even larger scale than was in evidence earlier this year, the price cutting war, aided greatly by the government subsidies to industry of all kinds. Germans are making a terrific trade drive into all parts of the world. This push of German traders, aimed to uproot competition everywhere, is going on with success, even without the aid of the big merchant fleets owned by Germany before the war.

Foreign countries are buying heavily from Germany and ignoring the goods of American and other producers, because the German quotations are so low that bidding against them is impossible. Reports today showed that millions of dollars' worth of American goods are piled up on the piers of South American ports, tied up because of cancellations of contracts covering them, while German goods of all kinds are flooding into those trade fields.

Cheap German money is a big factor in this flood of low-priced German goods. South American and other countries having depreciated currency can buy at much lower figures from German manufacturers and, besides, have a distinct advantage in the low exchange value of the German mark. Germany, aided by labor at low wages, government subsidies and goods put out at relatively low overhead costs, is able to intensify this trade war against America, and government officials are alarmed over its effects and the need for American protective measures.

STOCKS MAKE ADVANCE ON SPECULATION

NEW YORK, July 6.—The stock market today made a sudden and spirited advance after further early unsettlement in which new low records were established by various speculative issues.

Specific developments to explain the recovery were lacking but the haste with which shorts covered testified to the precarious opsition of that faction. Dealings were active and broad, sales of 935,000 shares being nearly three times those of yesterday.

Mexican petroleum again was the pivotal issue. That stock rallied from its early low to 87 3-4 to 101 1-2 making a net gain of 10 points.

Pan-American petroleums, Atlantic Gulf and General Asphalt ended at gains of 5 1-2 to 8 points and some of the domestic issues of that group also showed marked strength, but European oils, reversing yesterday's movement, were heavy.

In industrials advances ranged from 2 to 5 1-2 points, equipments and motors also finishing at substantial gains.

The rise of rails was especially impressive, embracing many of the high grade trans-continentals and grangers, notably Canadian Pacific, Great Northern, Northern Pacific, also Louisville and Nashville and Atlantic Coast line at gains of 2 to nearly 5 points.

Call money rates were steady at 5 1-2 per cent on the exchange and as low as 4 3-4 per cent in the open market. Foreign exchanges denoted uncertain conditions abroad. With few exceptions Liberty and Victory issues were higher but the bond list as a whole failed to keep pace with the stock market.

REACTION IN COTTON MART LOWERS PRICE

NEW YORK, July 6.—There were reactions in the cotton market today which reflected profit taking after yesterday's sharp advance and hedge selling. After easing off to 12.38 for October, or about 23 points below last night's closing figures on the favorable weekly weather report, however, prices steadied in sympathy with the better tone of the late stock market. October closed at 12.50 bid with the general list steady at a net decline of only 6 to 12 points.

The market opened barely steady at a decline of 8 to 19 points owing to easier Liverpool cables and southern selling. The latter was not much in evidence after the first half hour and there were moderate rallies during the middle of the morning on trade buying, but offerings became heavier on the report of the weather bureau indicating that the crop had made good progress during the week. July broke to 11.60 and December to 12.85 or 20 to 23 points below last night's closing figures following its publication, while there was also favorable comment on the detailed weather reports for the day. These features failed to inspire any general or aggressive selling, however, and the market firmed up during the afternoon on renewed covering trade and Wall street buying. July rallied to 11.86 and December to 13.03, closing within a few points of the best. Local brokers said they found a more bullish average of sentiment in commission house circles owing to the small crop estimate of last week and the continued full exports. Exports for thte first 3 days of the week have amounted to more than 95,000 bales, compared with only 40,000 for the full week last year.

FUEL OIL FOR MEXICO IS SHIPPED

Fuel oil bound for various points in Mexico are now shipped from the Wichita Falls district practically every day, according to information from local refineries and agencies.

Five trainloads of the oil were shipped Monday to Laredo, Texas, for distribution to various points in Mexico, Wednesday by the Clifford-Bell Petroleum Company. Ten other trainloads are reported to have been among recent shipments to Mexico by this firm during the past month.

Poor railroad facilities over the Mexican republic and labor troubles at Tampico are among the reasons advanced for the heavy shipments of fuel oil from this district. The existing conditions are said to make it almost impossible for Mexicans to obtain their home product.

CANCEL CONCESSION FOR DEVELOPMENT OF OIL IN COSTA RICA

By Associated Press.

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica, July 6.—Concessions for oil lands and for the exploration of Costa Rican territory for other subterranean deposits which were recently granted have been cancelled by the government. The reason assigned for this action is that men who received the concessions had engaged in speculation with them. All holders of concessions have been warned immediately to cease speculating with territory granted by the government. Among concessions granted by the government recently were several to British and American oil concerns.

CITATION BY PUBLICATION.
THE STATE OF TEXAS,
TO THE SHERIFF OR ANY CONSTABLE OF WICHITA COUNTY, GREETING:
You are hereby commanded to summon John G. Knox by making publication of this citation once in each week for four successive weeks previous to the return day hereof, in some newspaper published in your county, to appear at the next regular term of the County Court of Wichita County, at law, to be holden at the court house thereof, in Wichita Falls, Texas, on the first Monday in August, A. D. 1921, the same being the first day of August, A. D., 1921, then and there to answer a petition filed in said court on the 16th day of May A. D., 1921, in a suit, numbered on the docket of said court No. 4674, wherein R. J. Williams & Co., a copartnership, composed of R. J. Williams and C. E. Smith, are plaintiffs and John G. Knox is defendant. For cause of action plaintiffs, in substance, allege: A suit upon an account for $275.00 for labor as public accountants performed by plaintiffs at the special instance and request of defendant, and in consideration whereof defendant then and there promised plaintiffs to pay them for said services; that said services were performed during the month of May, A. D., 1920, beginning on or about the first day of said month; that defendant, though often requested, has hitherto failed and refused and still refuses to pay said account to plaintiffs' damage in the sum of $275.00; that, within the time prescribed by law, plaintiffs filed a laborer's lien on the following described property:
1 Art Metal Safe, Serial No. 14291.
1 Flat Top Desk with Brass Handles.
1 Combination Typewriter and Flat Top Desk.
2 Swivel Arm Chairs.
All in basement of First National Bank Building in Rooms 102 and 104 in Wichita Falls, Texas.
Wherefore plaintiffs pray the court that the defendant be cited to appear and answer their petition and that on a hearing thereon they have judgment for their damages as aforesaid and for a foreclosure of their laborer's lien on said property and for costs of suit, etc.
Herein fail not but have before said court, at its aforesaid regular term, this writ with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same.
Given under my hand and the seal of said court, at office in Wichita Falls, Texas, on this the 22nd day of June, A. D., 1921.

Texas Has Greatest Number Of White Native Born Farmers

By BASCOM N. TIMMONS,
Record News Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, July 6.—Facts about the race and nativity of men who conduct Texas 436,033 farms were given out today by the census bureau.

Running far ahead of any other state in the number of farms, Texas was also far ahead of any other state in the number of native white farmers, with 327,408, as compared with 518,988 ten years ago.

Texas has 29,760 foreign born white farmers as contrasted with 28,864 ten years ago. Negroes, Indians, Japanese and Chinese are listed together as "colored" farmers, and hence it is impossible to contrast negro farm population with that of ten years ago. But the four races of "colored" farmers now amount to 78,863 as compared with 69,918 ten years ago. Of the 78,863 "colored" farmers now in Texas 78,664 are negroes, 164 Indians, 29 Japanese and 18 Chinese.

The native white farmers in Texas now comprise 75.1 per cent of the total farmers in the state as compared with 69.3 per cent ten years ago. Foreign born white now amount to 6.9 per cent of the total as compared with 6.8 per cent ten years ago, and colored 18.1 per cent of the total as compared with 16.7 per cent ten years ago.

Oklahoma has 167,460 native born white farmers, 5,790 foreign born white farmers and 18,737 colored. Louisiana has 167,460 native born white farmers, 5,790 foreign born white and 62,059 colored. Arkansas has 158,273 native born white farmers, 2,040 white foreign born farmers and 72,282 colored farmers. New Mexico has 26,503 native born white farmers, 1,376 white foreign born and 1,875 colored farmers.

Of the 6,448,366 farmers in the United States in 1920 5,498,359 were white and 950,037 were colored. The number of negro farmers in the nation increased 3.7 per cent between 1910 and 1920.

CALL ALASKA VAST EMPIRE UNDEVELOPED

Ask the man who returns from Alaska why he doesn't stay, and he will tell you that it doesn't pay. He will tell you that the difficulties imposed by law, on top of the difficulties imposed by nature, make the reward too small. He can do far better in the United States. He can do better in the Yukon or in British Columbia—the Canadian neighbors of Alaska. He will tell you that Canada has ordered things more liberally; that the British domain has opened up its treasures with a most generous hand and has offered larger rewards than Alaska can give to the men of enterprise who undertake their exploration and their exploitation. In British Columbia, the settlers have something to say about their government. In Alaska, home rule is a myth. So British Columbia has gone forward, while Alaska has gone backward—although half to British Columbia and all of the Yukon are cut off from access to the Pacific by Alaska herself.

Here are some examples of the grotesque economic absurdities to which our development of Alaska has led. The United States' geological survey has put a minimum estimate on the coal deposits of Alaska at 150 billion tons. The actual tonnage, say its experts, may be far in excess of this, although these figures are greater than the original coal supply of Pennsylvania. Yet out of this vast wealth of coal, only $1,446,013 worth has so far been mined, while in the last three years 131,000 tons, worth $1,210,000, have been imported from the United States and as much more has been carried into Alaska from the mines of British Columbia.

Timber in Alaska forests is estimated to exceed 77 billion feet with a value no one dares to put into figures. Yet in the last three years Alaska has imported from the United States $7,212,000 worth of lumber and its manufactures and has exported but $160,000 worth.

The oil resources of Alaska have scarcely been touched. It has not been found possible to estimate the extent of its oil fields, although geologists declare that a large portion of this territory holds fields that should compete easily with the best of the United States. So far these fields have produced a total of but 1,764,000 gallons against an importation of 251 million gallons needed to fill the needs of Alaska.

Alaska has great stores of ore, of copper, tin and lead, as well as of iron. Yet she cannot even smelt them and must ship them to America for refining, while she imports in return such manufactures of copper, lead, tin and steel as her meager industries demand.

Estimates of the portion of Alaska capable of agricultural development run as high as 100,000 square miles, more than one-sixth of the 590,884 square miles of its total area. Winter wheat and other hardy grains are easily raised and the agricultural experiment stations have demonstrated a wide diversity of products. Vast ranges are available for stock raising. Yet they lie almost untouched. Instead of exporting cereals and meat, Alaska in the last three years has imported from the United States $11,398,000 worth of meats and dairy products and $11,663,000 worth of foodstuffs.

Is it any wonder that the friends of Alaska view its future with alarm? For these economic details are even more vigorously underscored by the statistics of population compiled by the census bureau. The 1920 figures, which have just been issued, credit Alaska with a total population of 54,899, a decrease of 9,457, or 14.7 per cent from the 1910 total of 64,356. The 1920 figures are 8,693 below the 1900 figures, for twenty years ago Alaska had 63,592 inhabitants.

The decrease in Alaska's growth, however, is most startling when the census figures for the white population are considered. In 1920 the white population of Alaska totaled only 27,883, while in 1910 there were 36,400 whites in the territory, so that the white population in that 10-year period decreased at the amazing rate of 23.4 per cent.

That's Different.

YOUTH IS NOT TO RAILROADS AS FORMERLY

Railroads no longer attract large numbers of bright young college boys as the field for a career, according to Daniel Willard, president of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Company. In his testimony recently before the senate committee on interstate commerce Mr. Willard said:

"The railroads in the last few years have lost many of their most capable and experienced and brightest railway executives. I know of a case where a young man who grew up in the railway service was receiving a salary that was large for his age, and all that sort of thing, $35,000 a year, I think, previous to the war. When the director general took the railroad over, he reduced his salary—and of course this young man remained until the war was over and did his part. But after the war was over he received an offer of twice that amount to go with an outside business. There was nothing to keep him in the railroad service when a higher value was placed upon his services outside. That is a typical case. I could cite dozens of cases of that kind.

"Is it a good thing for the transportation service to lose men of that type? If it is a fact that the transportation service is of that character that men only need be obtained who may be paid second or third rate salaries, then a limitation might be placed upon salaries of executives of railroads. But when a limitation is placed thereon the effect ought to be understood.

"Then there is another and more serious effect. Formerly it was customary for hundreds of bright young college boys to enter the railroad service each year. I myself received, from college presidents and from boys at college, communications inquiring as to how many such boys we could take into the railway service. But what is the situation today? Applications of that kind have almost entirely ceased. They do not come in any numbers and more. I do not advise them to enter the service.

"In my own case, to put the matter as definitely as possible, I had thought that my own son might enter the railroad service, but before he finished his college course, even though he had theretofore intended entering the railroad service, he changed his mind and decided to enter some other line of business. And why? (1) Because the future status of railroading seemed uncertain; and (2) because I did not care to encourage him to enter a business where to succeed will be a reproach, as the public mind looks at the matter at this time. I felt that he had better opportunities elsewhere.

"And please bear in mind that under the terms of general legislation and according to public opinion, not only is it proposed to limit salaries of railway executives, as has been suggested in a certain proposed bill, but it has finally and actually come about that a railway officer, if he meets the public standard as to how he shall conduct himself, cannot have an investment in anything he knows anything about, because he is doing business with pretty nearly everything he has knowledge of, and if he complies with the law and public opinion he is cut off from opportunities of profitable investment.

"Mr. Chairman and gentlemen of the committee, if that subject receives serious consideration at any time, and I assume that sooner or later it will come before this committee, I only wish to suggest that you act with a full understanding of the fact that one gets in service exactly what he pays for.

"Whatever salary you may fix, that will measure the general ability of the man you get, because you cannot expect to get ability without paying for it."

OFFICERS RAID TOWNS LOOKING FOR VIOLATIONS

Officers from the sheriff's department of this and Archer Counties aided by state rangers late Tuesday night and early Wednesday morning continued their raids through the oil fields and towns of the two adjoining counties making over twenty arrests on various charges.

Violation of the liquor laws, gambling and vagrancy were among the charges filed against the men and women arrested, many of whom are well known to officers. At Bridgetown and Newtown Sheriff Smith and [illegible] arrested ten including four women. Among the latter was Ollie Mills, wife of "Skeeter" Mills, who recently released from the county jail after being confined several weeks on robbery with firearm charges. With the exception of Mrs. Mills and Myrtle Ray all arrested pleaded guilty to charges filed against them. The two women furnished appearance bonds.

In Archer County Sheriff McDonald and Rangers McCormick and Gunsaullous arrested several at Gose City in the new Archer County oil pool. Rose Glenn was charged with having liquor in her possession when taken to Archer City.

The arrests included several women residents of the new oil field town. Buck Friels wanted, according to officers in Young County, on theft charges, was arrested during the day at Archer City and turned over to officers from South Bend.

FIND FRANK SVIDLOW GUILTY OF ASSAULT

Frank Svidlow, local junk dealer, was found guilty of aggravated assault by a jury in the county court at law Wednesday afternoon and fined $100 and costs. According to the evidence introduced in the case Svidlow attacked David Caplan and severely beat him with a piece of iron.

The trial of W. F. Baker, member of the firm of Barker Brothers, charged with violation of the state sanitary laws was on trial in the county court at law at time of adjournment Wednesday evening. The complaint was filed against Barker a few days ago following an inspection made of the bakery by a state inspector.

PROWLERS TAKE WATCH FROM HOME OF W. M. HATCH

Daylight prowlers entered the home of W. M. Hatch, 1900 Hurley Avenue, on June 30 and took an Elgin watch and an automatic pistol, according to a report made Wednesday to Detective Chief Boyd.

L. W. Collander, 1106 American National Bank Building, reported the loss of a Kelly-Springfield casing and Dwight Shoemaker reported the disappearance of a bicycle.

CHARGE NEGRO WITH THREATENING LIFE

Ed. Burley, negro, was arrested by Rangers McCormick and Gunzaullous, Wednesday afternoon upon complaint of his wife who lives in a servant house at 1312 Bluff street.

A complaint charging him with threatening to take human life was filed against the negro in Justice of Peace Gwinn's court late Wednesday afternoon. According to the statement of the wife the negro has repeatedly made threats to take her life.

TEMPLARS WILL GO TO BOWIE FRIDAY

The officers of the Wichita Falls Commandery No. 39, Knights Templar, including C. R. Hartsook, commander; W. Y. Hammack, generalissimo; Otto Stehlik, captain general; J. A. Bachman, senior warden; M. M. Cooke, junior warden and C. O. Fritz, prelate, accompanied by the drill team, will go to Bowie Friday to help the newly instituted commandery there put on its first work with a class of 20. The party which numbers 18, will make the trip in automobiles.

The ceremony and initiation of candidates will open the Bowie commandery, dispensation for which was granted during the Grand Commandery here in April.

SET TRIAL OF AUSTIN FRIDAY

The trial of P. T. Austin charged with operating a bawdy house at Burkburnett will be held in county court at law Friday, according to an announcement as to the setting of the case Wednesday.

It is known that the case is to be hotly contested with several witnesses to be introduced both by the state and the defense. According to county officials the trial will be the first to be held in this county for a similar offense in over two years.

Austin was recently found guilty in the city court at Burkburnett on a vagrancy charge and fined $175. That case is now on appeal in the county court at law.

JAIL SANITARY REPORT SHOWS

The sanitary conditions at the county jail are satisfactory, according to a statement made Wednesday by S. M. Ramsey, inspector of the state sanitary department. Mr. Ramsey who has been in this city for several days making inspections Tuesday inspected the jail. He spoke highly of the sanitary condition in which the jail is being kept.

Work started Wednesday on the repair of the jail and also the placing of screens on the windows of the building. The work is being done under the supervision of a representative of the Pauley Jail Construction company.

FOURTEEN ARRESTS FOR VAGRANCY MADE

Fourteen arrests in which charges of vagrancy were filed were made Tuesday night and Wednesday morning by Police Officers Shock and Hawkins. In the majority of cases pleas of guilty to the charges were made and the fines paid. Ten of the persons arrested were women.

The arrests were announced by Police Commissioner Bralley to be merely a "slightly busy night in the regular policy of the police department to rid the city of drones."

FOUND WITH KNIFE STUCK THROUGH HEART

By Associated Press.

WAUKESHA, Wis., July 6.—Arthur Taubert of Milwaukee was found by a party of fishermen in an oarless rowboat early today on Pewaukee lake with a knife in his heart.

Taubert was last seen, according to his brother, W. Taubert, Monday night in company of a young woman.

Colored globes in drug store windows were first displayed by the Moors of Arabia and Spain.

PROHIBITION COMMISSIONER WIRES TEXAS ENFORCEMENT OFFICERS TO BE ON ALERT

By BASCOM TIMMONS,
Record News Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, July 6.—Federal Prohibition Commissioner Roy A. Haynes has sent to David H. Morris, the new Texas federal prohibition director, a letter outlining in part the plan for enforcement of the Eighteenth amendment in the Lone Star State.

No decision has yet been reached as to whether the headquarters for prohibition enforcement in Texas is to be retained at Austin or whether it will be moved to one of the more populous cities. Houston, Fort Worth, Dallas and San Antonio all have been considered, with San Antonio favored if a change is made because of its proximity to the Mexican border.

Director Morris will have much more authority than Clifford Beckman, his predecessor had. This is due to the fact that the place of supervising agent has been abolished and all the work lodged in the state director.

Because of whiskey-running across the border especial care will be taken in organizing the Texas director's office. Commissioner Haynes in the letter told Director Morris that a chart is being prepared of the Texas state organization, and an assistant supervisor will be sent from Washington to help organize the new Texas office. In his letter to Morris, Haynes gave some advice about the sort of men to be employed in Texas.

"Use only high-grade dependable men," Haynes wrote. "One such man will produce more results than a half-dozen of mediocre calibre."

Haynes letter to Morris was as follows:

"My dear Sir: I wish to congratulate you upon your appointment to the very responsible position of federal prohibition director of your state. Not because of any particular honor that may be involved; for in these days when world readjustment is going on and the very fundamentals of all government are in the crucible, personal prestige is of small moment to the true patriot—but I do congratulate you upon having been called to perform a great and outstanding, public service; and trust by your appointment there has been reflected the confidence of your friends, who have in fact said to the country at large—"This is the one man to whom our great commonwealth turns for leadership in the important work of law enforcement as provided for by the 18th Amendment and legislation to which it is fundamental. Watch him do his whole duty."

"Under our new plan of organization, all of the enforcement and permissive work comes under the state director. There has thus been a centralization of power and authority, bringing with it added responsibility. Each state becomes a unit in the working out of its enforcement problems with the help and under the direction of the Washington office. This method will enable us to meet local problems and solve them individually. In the perfecting of your state organization nothing must guide you in the selection of the personnel except the determination to develop the highest possible degree of efficiency. In other words, real results must be produced, or necessary changes will be made to produce them. Your permit division will pass upon permit applications for manufacture, use and withdrawals. The Washington office will soon know the degree of dependability to be attached to the respective offices' approval or disapproval and will confidently expect that little deviation will ever be necessary in our general policy of supporting the recommendations of our state directors.

"Our mobile force, operating under my personal direction will be an ideal channel through which the central office will be kept in close touch with all field conditions and through this force we will also be able to render promptly specific service at times of critical need. There will be forwarded to you within a day or so the chart showing the uniform state organization plan. The maximum appropriation for your state will be indicated. May I not especially urge that in every instance you keep the expense at the minimum for maximum service. Use only high grade, thoroughly dependable men. One such man will produce more results than a half-dozen of mediocre caliber. Make no appointments or requests for men just to fill a possible quota, for the prohibition enforcement organization is not in any sense an agency which is to be used primarily to pay political obligations—it is a great governmental department intended to function for one purpose alone, to carry out the provisions of the 18th Amendment, and efficiently to carry out this intent, the personnel of all its forces must be of unquestioned integrity, firm conviction, and patriotic purpose. To bring about this condition, I know you will exert every energy. One of the assistant supervisors will aid you in perfecting your organization and will explain the details attached thereto. These men are all thoroughly familiar with the new plans and may be entirely depended upon to render every possible aid.

"In closing, let me suggest that the administration of our high offices be characterized by firm purpose, hard work, right conduct and absolute fairness. This means real worthwhile success."

APPOINT DOBBINS TRAINMASTER FOR NORTHWESTERN LINE

D. C. Dobbins, formerly superintendent of the Cotton Belt at Tyler, Texas, and at different times trainmaster and dispatcher on the Katy lines, has been appointed trainmaster of the Wichita Falls district of the Wichita Falls and Northwestern Railroad, according to an announcement Wednesday.

This office has been vacant until the present selection, the duties of trainmaster being handled in the superintendent's office here. Mr. Dobbins will make his headquarters here and has announced he will move his family here soon.

THE SURPLUS OF SUMMER-TIME

—Your expenses, especially if you have a family, should be considerably lighter in the summer time than at any other season. Put the spare dollars to work; they work profitably and consistently in a saving's account, and you accumulate a reserve against greater needs later.

Attention Oil Men—Increase Your Production
Ream the Oil Sand by Rotary-Centrifugal Process

HERE IS WHAT I ACCOMPLISHED WITH A RENTED TOOL ON THE LEASE OF THE BRINKLEY FRO. & REF. CO., BL. 74, F. C. VOGEL FARM, NORTHWEST POOL.

Reamed well No. 2 March 4th It was making about 30 bbls. Increased in 30 days to about 55 bbls. now making about 55 bbls.
Reamed well No. 3 May 20th. It was making 4 to 5 bbls. Increased in 30 days to about 35 bbls. now making about 35 bbls.
Reamed well No. 4 June 4th. It was making about 35 bbls. Increased to date to about 50 bbls. and increasing Shot well No. 5. Dec. 5th. It was making about 25 bbls. Increased in 45 days to about 40 bbls. now making about 28 bbls.

Well No. 5 is going down, and will have to be REAMED. No. 2 is remaining stationery. Nos. 3 and 4 are increasing.

It required nearly six weeks to overcome floating sand troubles in No. 5 while wells Nos. 3 and 4 were shut down, cleaned out, reamed and loose sand removed and back pumping the evening of third day and no cup troubles followed. REAMING done by PATENTED tools which I have purchased. QUICKER and CHEAPER than shooting. NO RISK. NO FLOATING SAND, LARGER sand EXPOSURE for VACUUM to work on, and big STORAGE space in bottom of wells to accumulate oil while pulling rods and tubing and working on surface equipment.
