REFURBISHED RODEO ARENA

Men who worked in renovating the VFW Rodeo Arena show some of the results. Workers and their young supporters are, from left, Eddy Blacksher, president of Wellington Rodeo Association, which is presenting the Aug. 20-21 rodeo; Max Kellison; VFW Commander Ike Paschall; Donny Gray, a newcomer who became involved his first week in town; on fence Heath Blacksher and Brant Gray; Walter Clements, association treasurer; Billy Jackson, director; and Toby Jackson.

Wellington Rodeo Slated Aug. 20-21

Wellington's two-day rodeo gets under way with the 4-H Club grand entry at 8 p.m. Friday, Aug. 20, and the second performance will be Saturday, Aug. 21, also at 8. Most events from classic bronc riding to wild cow milking will be featured. Slack in all events will be held Friday night after the main performance.

A major late-summer entertainment of the southeast Panhandle, the rodeo has a new sponsor, Wellington Rodeo Association and a new crew of workers, but the location is the same--the VFW Arena near the intersection of Highways US 83 and State 203, at the northeast corner of town. The arena, however, has been completely refurbished, and Walter Clements, Rodeo Association spokesman says the work is almost finished.

Events each night will be saddle bronc riding, bareback bronc riding, tie-down roping, heading and heeling, ladies barrel racing and bull riding. There will be no bulldogging due to lack of interest.

Stock will be furnished by C&C Rodeo Co., Childress. The rodeo books will be open Thursday, Aug. 19 from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. with no limit on the number of participants.

A Rodeo Dance will be held for each night.

There will be a wild cow milking, a new event, and a calf scramble for children.

Prize money will be awarded in all 6 rodeo events, and handsome belt buckles will go to first place winners in each.

Collingsworth 4-H Horse Club will lead the grand entry, under the direction of Don Reeves. All riders will fall in behind the club members.

The big fun event will be the wild cow milking, by 6 three-man teams. Each team will include two cowboys and a business man. The merchants and professionals will attempt the unaccustomed job of directing a thin stream of milk into a pop bottle. One cowboy will rope the cow, using a head catch and the mugger will steady the animal so the milker can pay attention to his work.

The bottle and contents will be presented to the

ROBERT McNUTT

Other features of the Arthritis Seminar are a film and brochures. Both demonstrate labor--saving techniques and equipment to people who have arthritis or limited physical abilities. Convenient kitchen storage ideas, organizing work and performing cooking and cleaning task will be emphasized.

Everyone is encouraged to attend the program to learn more about this timely topic which affects so many people today.

Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people all ages regardless of socioeconomic level, race, color, sex, religion or natural origin.

Hospital Tax Rate May Not Go Up in '82-'83

Collingsworth General Hospital District may avoid a tax increase this year if the county's valuations on property remain at the same level they did last year.

The hospital district, which uses the same valuations as Collingsworth County, lost valuations through exemptions of farm equipment and livestock, and additional veterans exemptions this year. But valuations have increased on oil and gas properties in the county. And if the losses are equal to the gains, as is now expected, the hospital board consensus at regular meeting Tuesday, August 17 was that a tax rate increase would not be necessary.

A final decision on the matter will be made after

Thomas Announces Salvation Army Fund Drive in September

The date for the opening of the Salvation Army Service Unit fund drive in Wellington is Thursday, September 9, according to County Judge Zook Thomas, the newly appointed chairman.

Tommy Hudson, manager of West Texas Utilities Co., will be the fund drive chairman.

Plans for the fund raiser were worked out in a meeting of Judge Thomas with Frank M. Judah, Plainview, service unit field representative in Region 4.

Judah has an understanding of the needs of towns like Wellington, Thomas pointed out, having owned and operated a farm store in Plainview and working as soil scientist for the Soil Conservation Service.

Thomas is a long time worker with the Salvation Army and working with him in the Wellington Service Unit will be Billy Moseley, president of Wellington State Bank, who is treasurer, and these board members: Henry Sullivan, John Rainey, Buster Hughs, Mrs. Selba Rainey, Mrs. Murray Dodson of Dodson, Charles Michael and Guy Owens.

"We exist to help people who do not qualify--for one reason or another--for help from other sources," Thomas explained.

"For example, we handle many non-resident cases. A non-resident is anyone who has lived in the state less than a year or in the county less than six months.

"When you estimate the numbers of people shifting around the state and country every day, you can get some idea of how the case load can build up."

Salvation Army rules are flexible, making sure that no one goes without food or shelter. If the question of need is borderline, it gives the client the benefit of the doubt, but usually will check out his case to make certain his problem is genuine.

The kinds of help provided by the volunteer committee members are limited only by the number of basic necessities people require to function in our society. Food, shelter and clothing are such basics. But so are utilities, medicines and shoes and school supplies for children. The Service Unit will also pay a client's rent bill for a time or handle a minor medical or dental expense.

Besides helping local people, the Service Unit also provides stranded travelers with night lodgings and sometimes a meal or bus fare.

"In the summer we send boys to The Salvation Army Camp Hoblitzelle near Dallas for a week-long outing. The program is carried out in cooperation with Army state headquarters. There are other state-wide programs available to us: disaster relief in the event of a tornado or some other disaster, care for pre-delinquent girls and unwed mothers, help for prisoners and their families and the well-known program the Army runs for alcoholics," said Thomas.

Those working with the Salvation Army Fund Campaign will be announcing plans within the next few days. There will be an opportunity for giving by both business firms, professional people, and individuals, in Wellington as well as throughout the county.

Those who administer the Salvation Army program in Rockets Scrimmage Lefors Thurs.

Skyrocket football opens pre-season action with a scrimmage against Class 1-A Lefors Pirates at Lefors Thursday, Aug. 19, with a 6:30 kickoff time.

Head Coach James Williams and his staff are taking their full varsity first and second teams and the junior varsity on this first outing, a total of about 46.

They will be meeting a school that for several years has played only junior varsity football and whose strength at this point is doubtful.

Coach Williams, however, does not discount the Pirates.

"They have about 25 players out," he said, "but they played some of the larger JV teams last year, such as Pampa and Borger, and they have had more experience than most teams that play that kind of schedule."

This year's Skyrockets will come out with a changed offense, and there has been a lot of timing work going on at Powell Field.

"We cannot tell the real strength yet, until after we meet someone," Williams continued. "There has not been much contact work. I don't believe in getting someone hurt in workout. We need to get them in good condition before we start playing."

The Pirates had a 6-2 record in their 1981 JV schedule the Harris Poll rates coach Ricky Palmer's Pirates as much stronger this year. There are 19 lettermen, 9 offensive, 10 defensive starters.

Heading the Pirates are 12 seniors. They have good size, but Coach Palmer concedes that the lack of varsity experience is going to hurt.

Skyrocket Boosters Set First Meeting Aug. 24

Films of the Lefors scrimmage, which takes place Thursday, Aug. 19, will be shown.

The coaching staff will be introduced. New members are Tom Johnson and Gano Wilson, although Wilson, a veteran coach, is a lifelong county resident. Allen Sanders, a former Skyrocket who joined the staff at mid-term last year, is preparing for his first football season. Rounding out the group are returning coaches Ronny Williams, Dale Morris and Head Coach James Williams.

This will be an organizational meeting and new officers will be elected. Serving during the last year with Cobb were Danny Gray, vice-president and Charley Lee Watts, secretary-treasurer.

Cobb emphasizes the need for Skyrocket fans to get involved and points out that everyone is eligible to join the Rocket Booster Club.

Dues are $10 for singles or couples. Cobb urges those who are boosting the team to go down and watch the boys practice. A former Skyrocket himself, he knows this helps the players.

Before the opening of the 1982 season, the Booster club will have completed one of its projects, laying a 78' x 12' concrete slab in front of the field house. J.B. King will oversee the work, Hiett and Hiett will pour the concrete and Alvin Horton will loan the forms and advise on the work, Cobb said.

City Accepts Budget, Sets Public Hearing

Wellington City Council accepted the fiscal year 1982-83 budget of $804,990 Monday night during a regular meeting. This varies little from the preliminary budget given the council at its last meeting, Monday, August 2.

A budget hearing will be held Monday, Sept. 6 at 7 p.m., the same time as the council meeting. This is a public hearing and anyone with questions to ask or who would like an explanation of any item is urged to attend, Mayor Ralph Owens said.

The total proposed revenues for the city in FY 1982-83 are $840,990, while total expenses amount to $743,545, giving the city an excess of $61,445.

Included in the revenue figure is the $100,000 which will be received from the Texas Aeronautics Administration to complete the airport improvement project, and it will be spent for that purpose.

In contrast, the FY 1982-83 actual revenues amounted to $687,404, not including the airport grant, and total expenses were $683,280.

Breaking down the revenue figure the accepted budget shows general fund income, amounting to $257,990; and revenues from the water and sewer department as $447,000. The city will have total expenses of $595,739 paid out of the general fund, while the water and sewer system will cost only $147,545.

Expenses in the various departments paid out of the general fund are proposed as:

Administrations $100,907; municipal building, $24,383; airport, $130,390; parks, $15,209; city shop, $9,400; fire department, $24,600 police department, $100,017; street, $176,038; swimming pool, $12,000; and other expenses which include cemetery utilities $300 and the city's share of the appraisal office, totaling $2,800.

Expenses for the water and sewer department, which include salaries, repairs, maintenance, fuel, postage and a number of other smaller items total $147,806.

City Manager Glen Taylor told the council that unless some unforeseen setback occurs, the city meets its August 31 deadline for completing this year's portion of the airport improvement plan.

This is required by the Texas Aeronautics Commission.

Taylor said that city employees have been working 10 to 12 hours each day to meet the deadline.

Weed control ordinances were discussed with the council agreeing they should be enforced more stringently.

The council was told of complaints made about the condition of the landfill, and Taylor said more attention will be paid to this in the future. Airport work and the unusually long period of early summer rain have put the city behind on much of its work.

the board receives a final figure on total valuations from County Tax Assessor-Collector Ann Wauer.

The board Tuesday took its first look at a proposed budget of $1,171,900 for the '82-'83 fiscal year.

The budget includes an estimated tax levy of $240,000, which is near the figure the hospital collected in taxes last year.

The proposed budget would allow the hospital district to pay back roughly $100,000 of the $143,000 that it owes in short term notes.

The budget represents about a 10% increase over last year's expenditures, hospital administrator Perry Foster told the board.

The hospital board has learned from past experience, however, that hospital budgets are ephemeral. The hospital's income is affected by many variables over which the board has no control.

The hospital, for example, is largely dependent on Medicare payments from the federal government. There is current discussion in Washington that Mdeicare payments may be cut. Such a cut could have a decidedly adverse effect on small hospitals such as Collingsworth General.

In another example, estimated revenue from patient rooms in this year's budget is based on a five-year average, but there is no way to know whether the patient load will actually be up or down from last year, while many of the hospital's costs will remain fixed.

And there are dozens of other variables. A final decision on the budget and the tax rate will not be made until after a budget hearing is held.

In other action at regular meeting, the board heard a report from administrator Perry Foster on the Medicare inspection which the hospital recently passed, approved the purchase of a new dictation system for medical records, and discussed the possibility of converting a little-used patient room into a work room to handle increasing medical records paperwork.

Present were board members Bill Patrick, Corky Bowen, Loretta Wright, Buddy Carter, Yates Parker, Dr. J.M. Orr and Robert Owens.

Dodson Nazarene Slates Revival

Revival services will be held at the Church of the Nazarene in Dodson from Monday, August 23, through Sunday, August 29, with services at 7:30 p.m. through the week Sunday services will be 11 a.m. and 7 p.m.

The Rev. Dallas McKellips of Bethany, Ok., an ordaned elder and a full time evangelist in the Church of the Nazarene, will preach at these services. Allen Schlegel, a music evangelist from Amarillo, will direct the music.

A 30-year veteran of pastoral ministry, Rev. McKellips recently began traveling to churches throughout the U.S. bringing a series of messages on Bible prophecy, with emphasis on the second coming of Christ.

"These messages are not filled with gloom, but of assurance that God is in control of events in our world," said the Rev. Dennis Hayes, pastor.

Rev. McKillips has served as pastor of churches in Elkhart, Kan., Covina, Ca., Coffeyville, Kan., Oklahoma City, and most recently the First Church of the Nazarene in Canon City, Colo.

Attends Computer Workshop

Mrs. Rubye Hodges, business teacher in Wellington High School, attended a five day Methods/Accounting and Small Computers workshop which was recently held on the Southwestern State University campus. The course presented demonstrations of software for microcomputers as adapted to the teaching of accounting in high school. Lectures and "hands on" experience started with the use of the Apple computer, taught by Garland Egerton and Hugh Sitz. New Materials developed by Southwestern Publishing Company were taught by Howard Zimmerman and Ben Cregg. The Radio Shack furnished thirteen computers with training being taught by Martha Searcy of Radio Shack and Lila Dickey of Amber.

The area of teaching accounting by computers was taught by Daivd Garman, Business teacher at Western Heights High School in Oklahoma City and Erma Evans, Business teacher at Carl Albert High School in Oklahoma City. September Teal Hunting Hours Set

AUSTIN - Texas Parks and Wildlife Department officials remind hunters that shooting hours for the September teal duck hunting season are different from those set for the regular waterfowl season.

Teal may be taken only between sunrise and sunset, a regulation established to help hunters identify teal and not take other species accidentally. During the regular waterfowl seasons, shooting hours are 30 minutes before sunrise to sunset.

This year's early teal season is Sept. 11-19. Bag limit is four teal in the aggregate per day; possession limit eight.

The September season is established to allow hunters to take advantage of early flights of bluewing, greenwing and cinnamon tea

Rev. Thomson in Degree Program

The Rev. Tom Thomson, pastor of First United Methodist Church, has completed the first part of his studies leading to the Doctor of Ministry program at Asbury Theological Seminary, Wilmore, Ky.

This is a professional degree as opposed to a research oriented program, he explained, and is designed to sharpen and broaden skills in ministry.

The program itself consists of three seminars, the first of which Rev. Thomson attended in July. Others will be in January and June, 1983.

In each seminar, the men participating read 10 books, write several reports and papers.

"The class is designed for a great deal of discussion and evaluation work. There are 11 members of the class and three professors who work with them," he said.

Rev. Thomson holds his Master of Divinity Degree from Asbury Seminary.

Other elements of the program include working closely with groups in his church that will help him along in the program and the carrying out of a contectual project. This will include the design, carrying out and evaluating a program in the church. He will then prepare a 20-page paper on the program and also a 100-page dissertation, which will be bound and housed in the seminary.

His dissertation will relate to adult education theories that apply to adult education in the church.

Men in the program come from 5 denominations and 6 states, Rev. Thomson said.

Harris Receives Masters' Degree From Tarleton

Bryant Harris received his Master of Education degree from Tarleton State University, Stephenville, in the commencement held Sunday, Aug. 15. He completed his work with a 3.9 grade point average.

Harris will be the band director and head of the music department for Phillips High School this year, after several years with the Dublin schools. He directed that band to its first sweepstakes in the school's history.

A graduate of Wellington High School, he received his bachelor's degree from West Texas State University with a major in music.

Bed Races New for Fair

New to the 1982 Collingsworth County Fair will be a bed race, run with hospital beds and sponsored by Collingsworth General Hospital Auxiliary.

Plans were worked out by Hospital Auxiliary members in their meeting Tuesday, Aug. 17.

Mrs. Lynn Wright, president, explained that the race is run by 6-member teams, three members riding on each bed and three pushing. At the end of a course, the members swap places, turn the bed around and race back to the point of beginning.

"Just now, we want contestants. We think this can be a fun event and we urge you to get out, form your 6 member teams, and begin practicing, if you think you will need the experience," said the president.

Those wanting more information may contact Mrs. Wright by calling 447-2077.

The date, time and location of the races will be announced within a few days, Mrs. Wright said.

This is the first time that bed-races have been held.

Deger, Edwards Wed in Pioneer West Museum Setting

The Parlor of Pioneer West Museum, Shamrock, was the setting for the wedding of Joleta Deger and Glenn Edwards of Pampa on Saturday, July 31, at six-thirty in the evening. The Rev. Norman Rushing, of Pampa, officiated. Family members attended.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Deger, 702 South Main, Shamrock. She is also the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Seale of Wellington and of the late Jess Deger. Parents of the bridegroom are Mrs. Jean Dyer, 209 South Houston, Shamrock and the late James Edwards.

The fireplace mantle was decorated with foliage and small peach silk roses with matching satin bows. An arrangement of peach and white silk flowers used with votive candles was the centerpiece. The table holding the unity candle was also set with peach tapers in brass holders.

Mr. Deger gave his daughter in marriage.

She wore a formal gown of white organza over bridal taffeta, designed with a U-shaped neckline. Schiffli embroidery, accented with seed pearls, enhanced the front yoke and the lace bishop's sleeves were caught at the wrist with fitted cuffs. Lace appliques trimmed the skirt, which swept to a chapel train, enhanced by Chantilly lace. Her Juliet cap was accented with lace appliques and seed pearls held her fingertip length veil where the Chantilly lace motif was repeated.

Her bouquet was a lace fan holding an arrangement of peach silk roses and white forget-me-nots with baby's breath. Peach and white streamers were tied with love knots.

Carrying out tradition, she wore an 80-year old ring given her by her great-grandmother, the late Mrs. Annie Worley, a diamond necklace that was a gift from the bridegroom, and a linen handkerchief from her mother, along with a lucky coin in her shoe.

Mrs. Ricky Gragg of Shamrock, sister of the bride was matron of honor.

Her floor-length peach silk dress was fashioned with an empire waist, and narrow shoulder straps, worn with a matching chiffon capelet. She carried a long-stemmed white silk rose tied with peach streamers.

MR. AND MRS. GLENN EDWARDS

Attending the bridegroom as best man was Ricky Gragg of Shamrock, brother-in-law of the bride.

Alecia Vearner registered the guests.

After the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Deger entertained with a reception at the Pioneer West Museum.

The bride's table was centered with an arrangement of peach and white silk flowers, with peach tapers in silver candle holders at the sides. Mrs. Don Vearner and Alecia Vearner served the guests.

Afterward, the couple left on their wedding trip to points in Oklahoma, and since returning, they are at home at 1601 West Somerville, Apartment 608, Pampa.

The bride graduated from Shamrock High School in 1980, and attended Frank Phillips College, Borger.

The bridegroom received his education in the Shamrock and Wheeler Schools and is employed as an operator for Schlumberger.

REHEARSAL DINNER

Mr. and Mrs. Deger honored their daughter, Joleta, her fiance, Glenn Edwards, and members of their wedding party with a cook-out in Elmore Park, Shamrock, Friday evening, July 30.

The bride and groom exchanged gifts and presented gifts to members of their wedding party.

Melvin Seale gave the invocation.

Those attending included the bridal couple; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Deger; also Mr. and Mrs. Ricky Gragg and Chad, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Seale; Mr. and Mrs. Everett Hunt of Shamrock; Mr. and Mrs. Joe Deger, Grand Prairie; Mr. and Mrs. Don Vearner, Shamrock and Christy Wardlow, Amarillo.

The auxiliary will meet regularly on the third Tuesday of every month at 10 a.m. in the future.

The Auxiliary plans to have the box tables in the Hospital lobby refinished as soon as estimates can be gathered. When the lobby is finished the next goal will be the work on the doctor's lounge.

The Auxiliary will hold a bed race and wheel chair race sometime during the Collingsworth County Fair, probably Saturday afternoon at Ellison Park.

Half the proceeds will go to the Fair Association. More plans will be announced.

Letters From The People

Dear Editor:

First, let me congratulate those who made Homecoming such a success! It was great except for the Wellington people who couldn't make it to the community building to welcome the homecomers. Even if you NEVER went to WHS but have called Wellington home for sometime, you have surely been friends with some of us who have moved away. Many of us return hoping you can spare a few minutes to come by and welcome us back. It was a delight to see those who spent the day at the Community Building visiting and then went on to the meal at the cafeteria. Our time is too limited to see all who have influenced our lives in church and other places. Come on Wellington, make HomeComing just that. Not a school coming! Charlie plans to come to his 25th next year and he really thinks he'll at least see Wellington friends. I hope he isn't disappointed.

It was fun to be with the class of '67. I really enjoyed seeing each of you. Almost as much fun as our trip to Six Flags! However, I felt like there were some of you living there who might have had fun with us.

Again, thanks to the committee for a job well done!

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN—Texas legislators already have been called back to Austin once this summer for a special session, but at least one representative thinks the Legislature must convene once more before the regular session begins in January.

LaMarque Rep. Lloyd Criss this week called on Gov. Bill Clements to call another special session in an attempt to forestall an estimated 1,800 percent increase in the unemployment taxes paid by Texas employers.

That increase, which would boost the tax from $6 per employee to about $120 per employee, will take effect automatically in October to raise the Unemployment Compensation Fund back up to the $225 million floor required by law.

The fund has been drained recently by the large increase in the state's unemployment rate.

Criss says the mammoth increase would impact not only employers, but workers and consumers as well.

"This sudden tax increase could not come at a worse time for the Texas economy," Criss says, adding that it "would bankrupt many marginal companies . . . and inevitably increase prices for consumers."

The LaMarque Democrat has asked the Legislative Council to draft four-point legislation to repeal the $225 million floor, raise the minimum tax rate, raise the wage base for the tax and assess penalties based on the prime lending rate for late payment of the tax.

Gov. Clements had not responded to Criss' request, but earlier had voiced similar opinions about the adverse effects such a huge increase could have.

Clements Endorsements

Texas Attorney General and Democratic gubernatorial nominee Mark White may believe his party is more unified this election year than it has been for several years past, but more and more leading Democrats appear to be lining up behind Gov. Clements, the Republican incumbent.

Clements has now received the endorsements of four former Democratic attorneys general and the widow of a fifth.

Democrats Waggoner Carr, Will Wilson, John Ben Shepperd and Gerald Mann have all thrown their support to Clements. In addition, Mrs. Margaret Martin, the widow of former attorney general Crawford Martin, also endorsed Clements.

The endorsements came on the heels of House Speaker Bill Clayton's "near endorsement" of Clements last week.

Clayton had high praise for the Dallas Republican's performance as governor, but stopped short of officially backing him against White.

Carr's endorsement of Clements must have been a particularly bitter pill for White to swallow since Carr was White's boss when the current attorney general served as an assistant to Carr during the 1960s.

"Mark White did his job well," Carr said, but he chose to back Clements because of his "strong leadership."

Automobile Insurance

The insurance industry this week unveiled its recommended increases in automobile insurance rates and asked the State Board of Insurance for nearly twice as much as recommended by the board's staff.

The Texas Automobile Insurance Service Office recommended an average statewide increase of 33.2 percent for auto rates. That hike would generate an additional $587 million for insurance companies.

The SBI staff has recommended only 17.3 percent, or about $306 million in additional revenues each year.

The industry recommendation apparently would place the greater portion of the burden of higher rates on car owners in small cities and rural areas, with proposed rates for those areas higher than the staff proposal. Rates proposed for the large urban areas are less than those recommended by the board staff.

However, the industry recommendations were an average increase for each rating territory, while the staff figures were broken down for a particular type of car.

The board will hold additional hearings on the rates later this month, but the new rates are to be adopted and placed into effect by November.

Textbook Hearings

The State Board of Education held its annual textbook hearings this week, with the textbooks being considered for use in public schools coming for sharp criticism from a variety of organizations, ranging from the Daughters of the American Revolution to the National Organization of Women.

The books were alternately criticized for being sexist, promoting violence and socialistic beliefs and failing to uphold traditional values.

A Longview couple well known as long and vocal textbook critics objected to some 45 books being considered and reportedly filed 22 pounds of written objections.

One group even objected to the use of the term "native Americans" to describe American Indians. "Red men" would be a better term, they suggested.

The Board of Education will narrow down the number of books under consideration and adopt those to be used later this year.

Yellow Pages

The Public Utility Commission has praised a recent federal court ruling that modified the proposed American Telephone & Telegraph divestiture plan as potentially saving Texas phone customers millions of dollars in higher rates.

AT&T, which is spinning off its local phone company subsidiaries including Southwestern Bell, was told it must let the local companies keep the Yellow Pages. Southwestern Bell reportedly made $100 million in profits from the business listings last year.

The fastest growing segment of U.S. population includes women age 65 years or older.

THOMAS ROLL CALL REPORT

Your Congressman's Votes Reported Each Week

WASHINGTON---

HOUSE

RADIO TO CUBA The House passed, 250 for and 134 against, and sent to the Senate a bill (HR 5427) to set up a government radio station to broadcast anti-Castro programming to Cuba. "Radio Marti," named after Cuban patriot Jose Marti, would broadcast on AM or FM frequencies from a site in the Florida keys. It would cost $7.5 million in fiscal 1983, and it would be run by the same agency that oversees Radio Free Europe and Radio Liberty.

Members voting "yea" wanted to establish Radio Marti.

Reps. Samuel Hall, D-1, James Collins, R-3, Ralph Hall, E-4, Jim Mattox, D-5, Phil Gramm, D-6, Bill Archer, R-7, Jack Fields, R-8, Jack Brooks, D-9, Jake Pickle, D-10, J. Marvin Leath, D-11, James Wright, D-12, Jack Hightower, D-13, William Patman, D-14, Kika de la Garza, D-15, Richard White, D-16, Charles Stenholm, D-17, Kent Hance, D-19, Tom Loeffler, R-21, and Abraham Kazen, D-23, voted "yea."

Rep. Charles Wilson, D-2, did not vote.

STATES' RIGHTS By a vote of 250 for and 154 against, the House adopted an amendment preserving the right of states to exceed federal standards in certain areas of pesticide control. Thus states can continue to request whatever health and safety data they desire from pesticide manufacturers, without fear of being limited by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency. They also can take as long as they wish to register a pesticide for use within their boundaries. The vote occurred during debate on a bill (HR 5203) extending the Federal Insecticide, Fungicide and Rodenticide Act for two years. The bill was passed and sent to the Senate.

Members voting "nay" wanted to make states subservient to the federal government in certain areas of pesticide regulation.

Mattox, Brooks, Pickle, Leland, Hance and Gonzalez, voted "yea."

Wilson and Frost did not vote.

NUCLEAR FREEZE By a vote of 204 for and 202 against, the House adopted a "nuclear freeze" proposal that was backed by the Administration. It calls for freezing U.S. and Soviet arsenals after the two nations have negotiated mutual arms reductions. The measure (HJ Res 521) is non-binding but has high symbolic importance. By adopting the pro-Administration language, the House rebuffed liberal-sponsored efforts directing the U.S. and the Soviets to freeze their arsenals at current levels.

Members voting "yea" favored the Administration's more lenient approach to the nuclear freeze issue.

Brooks, Wright, Leland, Gonzalez and Frost voted "nay."

Collins and Mattox did not vote.

SENATE

WARNING CUBA The Senate adopted, 68 for and 28 against, a resolution putting the Senate on record as favoring whatever action is necessary, "including the use of arms," to restrain Cuban "aggressive or subversive" activities in the Western Hemisphere" and to keep Cuba from building up its anti-U.S. military capability with foreign-supplied arms.

Senators voting "yea" favored the tough anti-Cuba resolution.

Bentsen and Tower voted "yea."

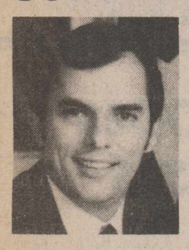
Senator Bill Sarpalius Reports



SENATOR BILL SARPALIUS REPORTS MORE ON ELEVATOR EXPLOSIONS

AUSTIN – The Senate Agriculture Subcommittee is making progress in its study of grain elevator explosions. Recently, our committee, of which I am Chairman, went to Fort Worth to see the oil process for grain dust in action. This process applies mineral oil in minute quantities to grain to stop dust.

Bunge Corporation in Fort Worth is using the oil on some of the grain in its elevators. Applied at the rate of 200 parts per million, the oil cuts swirling dust to almost nothing. Bunge applies the oil as the wheat comes out of the pit, before it starts up the leg. There was little or no dust even in the immediate area of the leg, and no smell of dust in the air. Working conditions in the elevator were much more pleasant than normal, and we hope safety was improved. Common sense would tell us safety has increased a great deal, but there is not any scientific evidence of this yet.

The oil was invisible and odorless after it went on the grain.

The purpose of our trip was to see the oil in action in a major elevator, and to make sure others saw it, too. We wanted to bring together the people who needed to know about this process, so we invited represenatatives from the Environmental Protection Agency, the Texas Energy and Natural Resources Advisory Council, the Texas Air Control Board, grain explosion scientists from Texas A & M University, a federal grain grader from the U.S.D.A., and Ray Nolen, Executive Vice President of the Texas Feed and Grain Association.

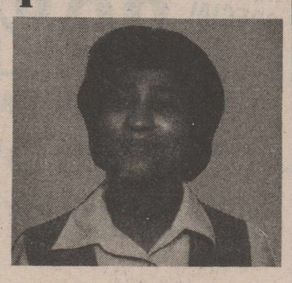
Our purpose in this study of grain elevator explosions is to make elevators safer. These explosions cost millions each year, and that is a terrific waste. But we hope stopping the explosions will have other benefits, also. For example, about half the energy grain elevators use is to run dust-control equipment. Weight losses from grain dust cost all of us. Some elevators return the dust to the grain, but this is an expensive and dangerous process.

Constant sweeping and cleaning also are expensive. Less dust means less cleaning and sweeping, and a better place to work.

One of the biggest problems in using the oil has been grading. When the oil is applied at the low rate of 200 parts per million, grading has been good. If the oil is applied too thickly and stored a long time, the grain sometimes is graded commercially objectionable foreign odor (COFO). Grain graded COFO means big problems, but this low grading has been rare.

We know all of you are concerned about problems in agriculture. Please write Senator Bill Sarpalius, P. O. Box 12068, Austin, Texas 78711, and tell us about what we can do to help the agriculture industry in Texas.

It's a Comfort, A Guide, a Help



Lavera White has been reading the Bible ever since she was old enough to read, and she's discovered that God uses His Word to lead her through life.

"God's Word will change as we read it," she said. "The Holy Spirit will guide us as the Word helps us to grow and to be what God wants us to be."

Over the years, Lavera has seen the difference that daily Bible reading has made in her life.

"God has used His Word to tell me what to do, what not to do; It has been a comfort, a guide and a help to me," she said.

However, as important as all those differences are, they're not the reason Lavera reads the Bible.

"I read the Bible because I know the Author," she explained. "I refuse not to read His Word."

If you would like to see the difference the Bible can make in your life, write to the Christian Bible Society and ask for a no-cost, no-obligation copy of Light Today, the Bible Society's daily Bible reading guide. Address your request to the Christian Bible Society, Nashville, TN 37210.

MRS. R.L. MABERY - MRS. GRANT WOOLDRIDGE

Hole-in-One Winner Collects

Mrs. Grant Wooldridge is richer by $97 after becoming the second woman to make a hole-in-one at Wellington Country Club Course---something she never thought she'd achieve. The check was presented by Mrs. R.L. Mabery, president of Willow Creek Golf Association, on behalf of the Hole-in-one Club.

Mrs. Wooldridge made this hole-in-one on Wednesday, August 4 on No. 4 hole. Witnesses were Mrs. John Sherman, Mrs. Cal Hurst and Mrs. Jack Sanford.

Mrs. Wooldridge, a member of Willow Creek Women's Golf Association, is one of the new players in the club.

The prize money came from Willow Creek Hole-in-one Club, formed in November 1981, to which members contribute dues of $5 per year. To be eligible for membership, a woman or her family must belong to Wellington Country Club and she must have paid her dues.

Any member who achieves a hole-in-one receives for her accomplishment the accumulated dues deposited in the account.

Because members of the Hole-in-one hadn't thought they'd have members accomplishing that, they envisioned letting the money accumulate to help the Country Club's building fund. Now they're starting over.

The first woman to make a hole-in-one on the Wellington Country Club course was Mrs. Leon Parker, but she was not a member of the Hole-in-one group and therefore not eligible for the prize.

License Sales Begin August 16

AUSTIN - Texas Parks and Wildlife Department officials have announced that hunting and fishing regulations leaflets and 1982-83 hunting and fishing licenses will be available Aug. 16.

The hunting and fishing guides are free. Resident hunting licenses are prices at $5.25, resident fishing $5.00, and resident combination hunting and fishing licenses are $8.75.

2AA Strongest, Polls Declare

Wellington Skyrockets are part of the strongest AA district in the state, which the Harris Rating System describes as "very strong."

Although Wellington is in third place according to Harris predictions with a 138 rating, up two from 136, Harris gives the Skyrockets a chance at the title. "A dogfight will ensue between Panhandle, Clarendon, Wellington, Memphis and conceivably Quanah," the pollsters believe. Only Shamrock is out of the poll's picture.

Strongest team in the district is returnee Panhandle, who had a 9-2 record last year and has won district championship in '80 and '81. It is rated first in 2-AA this season.

Coach Stocky Lamberson has 11 lettermen, 7 offensive and 7 defensive starters. Again, they have depth at the skill positions.

The Panthers are a young team.

Second strongest is last year's leader, Clarendon, with a 11-1 record. Back this year are 13 lettermen, 7 offensive and 7 defensive starters. Ted Allen, head coach, has lots of experience in the line and offensively, the Bronchos have everyone back from tackle to tackle.

Wellington comes into 1982 after its 8-2 season last year, with 10 lettermen, but only one offensive and two defensive starters. Coach James Williams, is in fact starting over, with a relatively young and small squad.

Leading the Rockets is quarterback Wade Williams. 5-11, 168 pound senior who was on the second all-state team last year as a cornerback. In addition to spearheading the defense, Williams saw considerable action in the quarterback slot.

Receiver for Williams passes this year will be Otis Lewis, 5-11, 160 pound who is the only offensive starter.

Senior Shane Cobb, 5-10, 160, and junior Dewayne Culpepper, 5-10, 160, join Williams in the Rockets wing-T offensive set, to complete the list of last year's starters.

The Harris pole rates Memphis fourth after a 6-4 season in 1981, with 10 lettermen back, 7 offensive and 7 defensive starters. Memphis is also solid at the skill positions especially at quarterback where all-state candidate Kenneth Jones is positioned.

Last year's team although young, had a 5-5 record, but that was up from the 1980 season of 1-9.

This is a senior-laden team and stronger than last year, up 15 points in the Harris poll rating from 120 to 135.

Quanah is another team returning to District 2-A after several years absence. The Indians have 10 lettermen back, 6 offensive and 6 defensive starters.

Quanah is also rebuilding this year after a 2-8 season in 1981, but some of the good talent of 1980 and 1981 will be missing.

Nevertheless, the team is rated by Harris as stronger than last year, up 14 points from 115 to 129.

Although Shamrock had a 6-4 record last year, the Irish return with 8 lettermen, 4 offensive and 4 defensive starters. Like Wellington, Shamrock lost valuable talent by graduation and in the Harris poll is rated weaker this year, down in the ratings from 125 to 121.

There remain some good skill people and that will prevent any major drop, the poll believes.

Energy Supply, Middle East War Reports Keynote Co-op Meet

AUSTIN--A world-renowned journalist, the chairman of the Texas Public Utility Commission, and a panel discussion that grappled with the sticky issue of future financing for rural electrics were highlights of the 42nd annual meeting of the Association of Texas Electric Cooperatives.

Representing Greenbelt Electric Co-operative were David Pruitt, manager, Dwight Bowen, office manager, and two directors, Walter Camp and Selba Rainey.

Over 600 people participated in the meetings, including sessions of various rural electric auxiliary organizations, held August 2-4 in Austin.

Keynoter for the Tuesday afternoon session was Robert Mayer Evans, a former CBS News foreign correspondent and bureau chief, who described in vivid terms current war conditions in Lebanon and circumstances underlying them.

Evans arrived in Austin shortly before his presentation after a 20-hour flight from the war-torn Middle East.

In the Tuesday morning session, the chairman of the Texas Public Utility Commission told the state's rural electric leaders that consumers face the prospect of an electricity undersupply in Texas unless specific solutions are found and implemented.

PUC Chairman H. Moak Rollins said studies evaluating present and future generating capacities in contrast to increasing demands for power forecast possible future shortages in periods of peak demand. He said that a critical factor to help cope with this projected dilemma is the implementation of "load management" programs by electric utilities.

In load management, utilities work with consumers using various methods to reduce the "peak demand" for power during high-use periods. By reducing the "peaks," it is easier to satisfy consumers' demands for power with a given amount of power plant generating capacity.

The optimum goal of reducing peak demand is to delay the need to build new generating plants.

"Texas is approaching an electric energy crisis," Rollins said. "If our peak summer usage continues to grow at the present rate of 5.7 percent, we will experience (electricity) shortages in the next several years, even with the new generating units utilities plan to build."

The PUC chairman said such shortages, should they occur, would hamper the growth of Texas' economy and adversely affect the comfort and convenience consumers now enjoy because of adequate supplies of electricity.

In one of the information reports presented by generation-and-transmission co-ops in the state, L.E. Gross, manager of San Miguel Electric Cooperative, Jourdanton, noted that a U.S. Senate subcommittee is beginning hearings on whether to severely reduce emission levels for coal and lignite-fired generating plants. If ultimately implemented as initially proposed, Gross said, such a reduction "would cause every coal and lignite plant west of the Mississippi to operate in violation of minimum standards," thus jeopardizing consumers' access to adequate supplies of electricity.

The critical issue of future financing for rural electrics was addressed by a panel moderated by Jim Morriss, Texas Electric Cooperatives' general manager and executive vice-president.

PLAN 1983 LANDSCAPING NOW

Although it may seem a bit early to plan for next year, planning is the key to successful landscaping.

A well-planned, simple landscape design keeps down labor costs and time-consuming maintenance.

Space is an important factor in planning, not only the initial space occupied by the plant but that needed as it matures.

If a plant constantly needs pruning to keep it in the space alloted you need to find another plant.

Soil and climate should be considered too.

Selecting plants suited to a given area is a lot easier than trying to modify the soil and environment to a given plant.

Many times native and adapted plants provide more pleasure and enjoyment to the gardner than exotic plants because native plants tend to require less care.

Eliminating unnecessary borders along drives and walks can make care and maintenance much easier.

Having one or two small, well-kept annual flower beds is often preferred to a number of beds requiring constant work.

"Plan your landscape to enjoy it, not to be a slave to it."

Campbell Urges Parade Floats

"We want everyone to get in the Collingsworth County Fair Parade -- everyone from kids with their bicycles to senior citizens on colorful floats," declared Jack Campbell, parade co-chairman.

The parade, slated for 11 a.m., will officially open the annual two-day fair slated for Friday and Saturday, Sept. 10 and 11.

Campbell is contacting business men and organization heads urging that they have entries in the parade. "Some may want to have colorful floats such as we have always known. Others will go for originality rather than size, carrying out something that will add gaity to the parade," he said.

Led by That Skyrocket Band, parade divisions will be much as they have been in the past, including kids and their bicycles, antique cars, floats in commercial, adult organization and youth organization categories, motorcycles, plenty of horses, cars and farm equipment.

Campbell is also seeing a lot of people personally and he plans to contact every county organization. He said that if he misses any of these, he hopes they will get in touch with him.

The Fair will make up on West Avenue, circle the square once, go from the southwest corner of the square to the Methodist Church at the corner of Bowie and 9th Streets, travel south several blocks and disperse.

I Saw

. . . by Virginia Robey

There's something sad about the false stories circulated against Proctor & Gamble Company, telling that their moon and stars trademark is a symbol of satanisma and devil worship.

The design has been used since 1850.

My childhood friends and I knew exactly what the Man in the Moon looked like because we were always seeing him on the P&G soap wrappers.

Collingsworth County Retired Teachers Association included this in their last yearbook:

DID YOU VOLUNTEER??

1. Cancer, Easter Seal, Muscular Dystrophy, etc.
2. Government Boards, State, County, City, School.
3. Youth Work, Girls Scouts, Boy Scouts, Camp Fire.
4. Visiting Shut-ins, Sitting with Sick.
5. Transportation or Escort Service.
6. Telephone Reassurance
7. Teaching, Tutoring and Counseling.
8. Special Interest Organization Sponsored by NRTA.
9. Shopping and Errand Service.
10. RSVP and Other Volunteer Programs.
11. Nutrition Work.
12. Library - Museum Work.

NEW AMBULANCE

Collingsworth County Volunteer Ambulance service has received its new ambulance, the most complete of any it has had. The cost was $28,000. Representing the three entities that bought the ambulance are, from left, Mayor Ralph Owens, City of Wellington; Judge Zook Thomas, Collingsworth County; and Marshall Peters, president of the Volunteer Ambulance Service.

COLLINGSWORTH COUNTY EXTENSION AGENT REPORT

by Nancy Bigby

There's something new in microwave ovens today: a bit of metal here and there. And it Might be OK--if you STRICTLY follow all manufacturer's directions and understand them.

Some microwave cookware now has metal or metallic coating, and there are a growing number of frozen-food items packed in metal dishes. Also, makers of aluminum foil say to use it in your microwave oven.

Manufacturers of the different ovens provide specific instructions for using metal--as do the makers of microwave accessories and aluminum foil.

Utensils containing metal elements if designed for micro-waves should pose no threat to the microwave oven, utensils themselves or food. Their form or shape allows them to direct the microwaves in an energy-efficient manner.

Something old in microwaves still holds: do not operate a microwave without food.

A microwave oven's walls are made of metal and that metal reflects the microwave energy. So, to prevent damage, there must be some sort of food "load" in the oven to absorb the energy.

Operating the oven empty--or with a metal container and no food--can cause great damage: fusion of the materials inside the oven and, in some cases, damage to the magnetron tube. If a metal container is put in the microwave oven alone--without food--it acts as a "second wall" inside the microwave oven, rather than an object to absorb the microwaves.

One reason it's so important to follow directions strictly is "arcing". This can happen if a metal utensil touches the microwave oven wall. It may cause an unsightly defect to the oven wall rather than actual damage to the oven.

To prevent metal from touching oven walls or door, place any utensil made from or including metal in the center of the oven.

A microwave correspondence course will be conducted throughout the month of September. At the conclusion of the series, a short course will be held October 4 and 5 from 7 to 9 p.m. Karen Burgess, West Texas Utilities home economist will present the program. Anyone interested in signing up for the correspondence course, can contact the Extension Office before August 25 at 447-2313.

Student Interest In Issues Lags

COLLEGE STATION--A lack of interest in consumer issues by high school students is the biggest obstacle in establishing a consumer education program in Texas Schools, says a university marketing professor.

In a study comparing 1970 and 1981 state high school consumer education programs, Dr. James McNeal of Texas A&M University said a lack of student interest and already-crowded curriculums keep them from doing well.

"Half of our high schools don't offer a separate course and more then 10 percent of the high schools offer no consumer education at all," said McNeal, a specialist in consumer research.

Allsups Joins Distrophy Drive

Allsup's Convenience Stores will again participate in the Annual Muscular Distrophy Fund Raising Drive. Allsup's Stores will be displaying the Muscular Distrophy Collection Canisters in all of the stores in New Mexico, Texas and Oklahoma in order to help meet the goals of this worthwhile association, whose programs are funded almost entirely by private contributions, corporations and the Labor Day Telethon.

The Muscular Distrophy Association is looking for cures and causes of a group of diseases, marked by progressive weakness and wasting of the skeletal muscles which control body movement. Neuromuscular disease can strike anyone at any age; they afflict an estimated one million Americans.

In addition to the "in-store" canisters, Allsup's will also be conducting the "Allsup's Doorbell Bridgade". Area youngsters are encouraged to visit their local Allsup's Store on Sept. 5th and 6th and pick up a collection packet for the door to door campaign. After collecting donations for "Jerry's Kids" and returning them to the store, Allsup's will give the youngsters a free fountain drink of their choice. It's our way of saying thanks to the kids for caring.

Crawdads Add To Income

COLLEGE STATION------ Pinched by smaller profits from their traditional rice and soybean crops, farmers along the Texas coast are growing crawfish to supplement their incomes, says a Texas A&M University fisheries scientist.

Once thought a treat enjoyed only by Louisiana Cajuns, crawfish — also known as crawdads and "mud bugs" — are now being demanded by restaurateurs from across the country, and Dr. Jim Davis says the demand is such that the state could use additional yields

UPS Hearings Begin Sept. 21

AUSTIN - Hearings on the application of United Parcel Service for authority to transport packages from point to point within Texas are to begin Sept. 21 according to an order issued today by the Railroad Commission's Transportation Division.

UPS presentations will be given on the following dates: Sept. 21-24, Sept. 28-Oct. 1, Oct. 26-29, Nov. 2-5, Nov. 9-12, Nov. 30-Dec. 3, Dec. 7-10, and Dec. 14-17.

Truck and bus companies who oppose the UPS application will present their evidence following UPS.

The Commission's Transportation Division had originally planned to begin the hearings May 11. They were postponed after parties in the case asked to present oral arguments on procedural matters to the Railroad Commissioners. Those arguments were heard May 3.
