Ministers Back Protest Of Boycott Leaders' Prosecution

By RAY LACKEY

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Feb. 25 — UP — Ministers of four large population centers pledged their support Saturday to a nationwide "Deliverance Day" shutdown March 28 to protest the prosecution of Negro leaders of a bus boycott here.

The demonstration suggested by Rev. Adam Clayton Powell, Negro congressman from New York, gathered momentum across the country.

In this Alabama capital, thousands of Negroes completed the 11th week of their boycott against the segregated city bus system undoubtedly by the arrest of 90 of their leaders.

The Department of Justice in Washington began studying a demand on the White House, also by Powell, that protection of person and civil liberties be provided the accused boycott leaders.

Brownell To Reply
Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell Jr., will reply to Powell "as promptly as possible" regarding the issues he raised, according to a White House spokesman.

"Unfortunately, there has been no congressional action," said Bryce N. Harlow, administrative assistant to the President, in a letter to Powell. "It is hoped that you and your colleagues will find your way clear to speed the enactment of this legislation in this session."

Powell said he had received pledges of co-operation in the one-hour work stoppage for March 28 from Columbus, Ohio, and Cincinnati as well as the New York area. In Boston, the Rev. Walter O. Davis, president of the city's Inter-Denominational Ministerial Assn., said 22,000 Negroes there would join in the work stoppage.

Special Meet Called
Davis called a special meeting of 27 pastors Sunday to pray for our brethren in Montgomery, Ala.

The Rev. E. C. McLeod of the Union Methodist Church in Boston also promised his support and said he would ask his congregation of 500 to contribute moral and financial help to the Montgomery boycott.

Powell said he also had received a pledge of support from the Council of Bishops of the African Methodist Church, which is in emergency session in Washington.

A secret committee will pick the one person from the 51 spotlighted during 1955.

Last year's award went to John Schoolfield of Pampa.

He will also be presented with a stoneware hat, if the winner is a man, and with an appropriate gift if it is a woman.

During the year, The News featured four women and 47 men in the Monday feature articles.

During the year, many personalities from area cities were spotlighted as well as Pampans.

Train Wreck Kills 35

BERLIN, Feb. 25 — UP — A double-engine freight train slammed into a passenger train in Communist East Germany Saturday, killing 35 persons and seriously injuring 40 others in the worst East German rail disaster since the war.

The East German Radio said a freight with two engines slammed into the side of a passenger express, smashing one passenger car and derailing several others near the Bornitz railroad station in Saxony.

Doctors Rush In
Doctors from nearby hospitals, Communist peoples police and railroad officials rushed to the scene to begin salvage operations, the broadcast said.

The radio said the two engines of the freight and the locomotive of the passenger train turned over. "Salvage crews found the bodies of 25 persons killed in the crash," the radio said.

"Forty others who were seriously injured were given first aid immediately and were then rushed to nearby hospitals."

Minister Takes Charge
The broadcast said Transport Minister Ervin Kramer took personal charge of aid and salvage efforts.

Investigation into the cause of the wreck "has not yet been completed," it said.

The collision occurred between the towns of Riesa and Oschatz in the province of Saxony. The passenger express was en route from Dresden.

Settlement Made On Road Strike

District Judge Lewis Goodrich Friday ordered truck drivers working on the widening project of U.S. Highway 66 near Groom to release trailers and their loads of gravel to the Seago Contracting Co.

The strike which started Monday, appeared to have been settled by the decision Friday afternoon. Earlier the contractors had agreed to pay the drivers 40 cents per mile per load. All loads hauled in the future will be paid on the basis of 38 cents per load mile.

Drivers were given the choice of remaining on the job or being free to quit. Some of the truck trailers used to pull the trailers belong to the drivers.

None of the defendants have any right, title, interest or right of possession, to any of the trailers, according to the suit settlement, and the defendants were unlawfully withholding from the contracting company possession of all trailers.

Sheriff Rufe Jordan is directed, by the court, to restore to the company all trailers involved in the lawsuit. The defendants, agents, or employees can not interfere with use and possession of the trailers, the settlement states.

FARM BILL

Price Support Passage Seen

By DAYTON MOORE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25 — UP — Backers of high, rigid price supports for basic farm crops said Saturday an informal, secret Senate poll indicates they will win the fight on the issue by a margin of three to nine votes.

A showdown will come within the next two weeks when the Senate votes on an omnibus farm bill which would provide for a return to price supports at 90 per cent of parity for corn, cotton, peanuts and millable wheat.

Measure for High Supports
The measure, which has been approved by a sharply split Senate Agriculture committee, also would provide higher price supports for dairy products, an administration-backed $1.1 billion soil bank, continuation of the dual parity formula and a two-price system for rice.

Sen. George D. Aiken (R-Vt.), leader of administration farm forces in the Senate, disputed the prediction that a majority of senators will vote for 90 per cent supports. He said the vote this time will be about the same as in 1954 when the Senate approved, 49-44, flexible price supports ranging from 75 to 90 per cent of parity.

Aiken Thinks Veto Likely
But, Aiken said, he is sure Mr. Eisenhower will veto any farm bill with high, rigid price supports, if Congress should pass it.

However, Chairman Allen J. Ellender (D-La.) of the Senate Agriculture committee, said he believes Mr. Eisenhower would sign the measure because it will include the soil bank. In addition, a compromise proposal under study would provide for flexible price supports for corn.

Sen. James O. Eastland (D-Miss.) switched to flexible price supports in the committee this year. But the fact that Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson has made 90 per cent supports a major plank in his legislative program is expected to keep any other Democrats from going over.

Atoms For Peace Meet Set Monday

By WILLIAM GALBRAITH

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25 — UP — Representatives of the United States, Russia and 10 other nations will begin negotiations here Monday on a charter for the world "atoms for peace" agency proposed by President Eisenhower.

Disputes are expected on several points, including Russia's insistence that the new agency be subject to the Soviet veto in the United Nations Security Council. The United States opposes this.

American officials are optimistic that the disputes can be worked out, and that agreement in principle can be reached in two weeks. This optimism is based on the belief that pressure of other nations, including cold war neutrals, will induce Russia to give up its veto demand. The meeting could break this point.

Reds List Missing U. N. Troops

PANMUNJOM, Korea, Feb. 25 — UP — The Communists handed a long list of names to the United Nations military command Saturday as their explanation of what happened to 2,698 Allied troops still listed as missing.

The list was 22 short of the UN list, which includes 450 Americans, 2,244 South Koreans and 46 men from other UN nations which fought in the three-year Korean war.

There was no immediate explanation of the discrepancy and UN officials refused to disclose its details until they could study it.

However, the Communist accounting held out little hope that any of the missing men are alive.

The United Nations had demanded the accounting last November. U.S. Rear Adm. Walter E. Moore received the list from North Korean Maj. Gen. Chung Kook Rok at a four-hour and 20 minutes meeting of the Joint Military Armistice Commission in this frozen truce village.

Moore said he accepted the Communist list to examine it "carefully and to determine whether or not it is, in fact, a satisfactory reply to the UN."

During Saturday's long session the Communists renewed their old charges that the UN command is trying to destroy the neutral nations truce inspection system.

Moore vigorously denied it. He said the Red charge was "backed up by zero facts."

50 Acres Of Grass Land Burn

A grass fire on East Harvester, near the cemetery, destroyed approximately 50 acres of grass land Saturday afternoon. A booster pumper from the local fire station answered the call at 4:50 p.m. and the fire was brought under control in about 45 minutes.

Fire Chief Ernest Winborne said that a southwest wind blew the fire away from residences in the area and kept it confined to the brakes.

Ike Returns From His Golfing, Hunting Holiday In Georgia

By MERRIMAN SMITH

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25 — UP — President Eisenhower returned Saturday from a rigorous 11-day golfing and hunting holiday in Georgia that may have helped him make up his mind about running for a second term.

His plane, Columbine III, landed at Washington National Airport in blustery weather at 12:36 p. m. The sky was overcast and a stiff southwest wind tugged at his topcoat as he walked to a waiting limousine to be driven to the White House.

Mr. Eisenhower waved his hat and flashed a broad grin at the crowd of about 200 persons who were on hand to welcome him. He was accompanied by Mrs. Eisenhower and by his host and hostess in Georgia, Secretary of the Treasury and Mrs. George M. Humphrey.

Humphrey Has No Word
Reporters cornered Humphrey briefly and asked if Mr. Eisenhower had disclosed his second term intentions. "Not a word," Humphrey replied.

Belief that the President will say "yes" to a second term was strengthened by the apparently good health and high spirits in which ended his vacation. He had planned the holiday deliberately as an arduous physical test of his recovery from his Sept. 24 heart attack.

His physician, Maj. Gen. Howard McD. Snyder, said Mr. Eisenhower was in "very good shape" after three rounds of golf and several day-long quail hunting expeditions at Secretary of the Treasury George M. Humphrey's Milestone Plantation near Thomasville, Ga.

He Looks Better
The President looked appreciably better than when he left Washington. His color was much improved and he seemed more at ease.

He is expected to announce his decision next week, possibly at a news conference tentatively scheduled for Wednesday. Republican

Communist Party Meet Changed Soviet Thinking

By HENRY SHAPIRO

MOSCOW, Feb. 25 — UP — The historic 20th Communist Party Congress which changed the course of Soviet thinking ended at the great Kremlin Palace Saturday in song and cheers for Leninism. Stalin's name was not mentioned.

Last announced official acts of the 1,500 delegates was to elect members to the party central committee and hear an American-style farm program which will include milking cows twice a day.

Party Secretary Nikita Khrushchev, who opened the congress Feb. 14 with a seven-hour speech proclaiming the belief that war is not inevitable with capitalism and denouncing the one-man rule of the Stalin era, sat in the chair at the final Congress session.

Secret Ballot Presented
He presented the secret ballot for the committee which will rule the party until the next Congress five years hence.

Both Khrushchev and Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin were re-elected to the new committee. A total of 133 committee members were chosen, in addition to 122 candidate members. Radio Moscow said in a broadcast.

The outgoing central committee had 125 members and 110 candidate members.

The meeting broke up with the singing of the "Internationale," the Communist anthem, and lusty shouts of "Long live Leninism!"

There were no cheers for any individual, although such was the custom at past congresses. The cheers then were for Stalin. But the Russian leaders have denounced the idea of the "cult of the individual" in favor of the Lenin philosophy of collective leadership.

Farm Switch Announced
Agriculture Minister Vladimir Malakchev, who headed the Soviet farm delegation on a tour of the United States last summer, announced another switch with a program for farm production which will utilize American ideas and fit production to local conditions.

He said several American farm methods would be introduced including establishment of experimental stations for research in every farm area. In the past, all farm practices were directed from Moscow.

Malakchev said cows will be milked twice daily as in America, and American seedling practices in hybrid corn production will be adopted.

United Press Survey Shows Adlai Favored

By RAYMOND LAHR

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25 — UP — More than a third of the Democrats in the Senate now favor Adlai E. Stevenson for the Democratic presidential nomination, a United Press survey revealed Saturday.

Scatters support was indicated for other possibilities but a majority of the 49 Democratic senators were still uncommitted and unwilling yet to declare a choice, publicly or privately.

A check of 44 senators of their offices showed eight publicly backing Stevenson, the Democratic nominee in 1952, for the 1956 nomination. Nine others, who did not want to be identified, were listed as favoring or leaning toward the former Illinois governor.

The eight who have publicly endorsed Stevenson are Sens. Clinton P. Anderson (N.M.), Paul H. Douglas (Ill.), Hubert H. Humphrey (Minn.), A. S. Mike Monroney (Okla.), Richard L. Neuberger (Ore.), John J. Sparkman (Ala.), Hebert H. Lehman (N.Y.) and James E. Murray (Mont.).

Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, who is matched against Stevenson in four of the forthcoming state presidential primaries, has not yet been endorsed by any of his fellow Democratic senators.

Similarly there was no outright endorsement for Gov. Averell Harriman of New York, who is now

Storms Strike Midwest

By UNITED PRESS

Tornadoes in the Midwest, dust storms in the Southwest and violent windstorms in the Ohio Valley killed at least 13 persons Saturday.

The hardest hit spot in the nation was Summerfield, Ill., a community of 500 population, where three persons were killed by tornadoes that whipped across the Mississippi River from Missouri.

Other stricken towns in Illinois were Belleville, Imbs Station, Centerville, Pinkston, Trenton, and Olney. The Red Cross counted 145 homes destroyed or damaged in the area. The homeless were being housed and fed in a school at Summerfield.

More than a score of persons were injured in the tornadoes and damage ran into millions of dollars. Killed in Summerfield were Darrel Butler, 14, found buried under a pile of bricks in his bed; August Gans, 64, and Elizabeth Krumley, 80. Three others killed in Illinois were identified as Mr. and Mrs. Walter H. Freese, elderly residents of Imbs Station, and four-year-old Willard Holloway of Centerville.

Two Oklahomans lost their lives in windstorms whipping up blinding dust, two men were drowned when high winds capsized their houseboat near the Missouri-Arkansas state line, and three persons were killed during Ohio windstorms.

GUIDED MISSILE LAUNCHING at Patrick Air Force Base in Florida, where 1,500-mile weapon will make first flight, sends missile out over Atlantic. This is a Matador missile taking off.

Guided Missile 'Show-Down' Is Seen In 1,500 Mile Test

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
NEA Staff Correspondent
PATRICK AIR FORCE BASE, Fla. — (NEA) — Future U.S. military history may be dated by the first flight from here of a gigantic weapon known as the Intermediate Range Ballistic Missile. It will herald the true start of the guided missile weapon age.

Civilian and military experts have tagged the IRBM the "show-down" missile. That's because it will force a show-down on the bitter, backstage feud among the admirals and generals over which service will get operational control over the longer-range missiles.

Strife in the Pentagon over this question was partly responsible for the resignation of Trevor Gardner, assistant secretary for research for the Air Force.

Until recently the three services had a free hand to develop their own missiles for their own missions. The IRBM, however, with a 1,500-mile range, has brand new tactical and strategic potentials never before available to the military. It cuts across the traditional missions of all three services.

Speaking for the Army, Chief of Staff Gen. Maxwell Taylor says, "The Army needs a wide span of guided missiles to extend its firepower both horizontally and vertically."

"Range gives you wider flexibility in the choice of targets and allows greater dispersion of launching sites with increased safety," he explains.

The Army and Navy have been ordered by the Department of Defense to cooperate on construction of one IRBM. Work on it is now being rushed at the Army's Redstone Arsenal at Huntsville, Ala.

Its development is likely to be the first major result of the efforts of the new "missile czar," a post which Defense Secretary Wilson has created but not yet filled.

Giving the Army and Navy, joint responsibility for constructing an IRBM is a bitter pill for both the Air Force and Navy. It is reported that the Air Force is well ahead in this field with its own IRBM.

Navy missile experts contend that the project logically belongs to the sea-going service. They say that a 1,500-mile missile, fired from a ship, is as good as the 5,000-mile Intercontinental Ballistic Missile which will not be built for five years but which is considered the "ultimate weapon."

In this fight the Air Force experts claim that the IRBM is really a pilotless aircraft performing strategic missions. That is, the destruction of the enemy's production potential and civilian will to fight.

And strategic warfare traditionally belongs to the Air Force, they claim.

This argument has been fought at the level of the Chiefs of Staff. But because such a missile as the IRBM has been in the misty future, a show-down on eventual control of it has not been forced.

However, with the first missile due to be fired from here soon, some decisions on which service gets it will have to be made.

Although the Army-Navy IRBM is in an early development stage now, Gen. Taylor claims that it is an extension of a missile with a 200-mile range called Redstone.

The Redstone missile has been test-fired from here many times. It is 60 feet long and five feet in diameter. Most of this bulk consists of fuel section.

Thus, with the range of IRBM seven times greater, it's obvious that it will be a huge weapon.

Cars are run up and down steep hills and mountains. They are rushed through water holes and slammed over "shake" roads where the potholes are capable of cracking a driver's head against the car roof unless he is strapped to the seat.

The cars are put in wind tunnels and buffeted with winds up to 90 miles per hour while simulated torrential rains slam against the car. They are pushed into cold rooms where temperatures are 60 below zero to see how engine oils, batteries, starters, heaters and defrosters work.

Some are driven around and around in circles to test the strains put on the inside front wheels. There are tests to check every one of the 16,000 or so parts which make up a car under conditions far more extreme than the average motorist ever will encounter.

Parts Individually Tortured
Many of the parts are individually tested, also by the companies which supply the automobile firms. Tires, for example, are put through "torture chambers" where they are put under heavy weights, where they are rotated around and around, with planks, metal bars and other objects constantly trying to bruise and break them.

The auto engineers work on the theory that on a drawing board nothing ever fails, but it takes the actual testing to determine how good the parts and the total automobile are.

Despite all the testing, parts do wear out in cars, trouble does develop. But it is relatively light.

Most surveys indicate only a tiny percentage of all traffic accidents are due to mechanical failure. The overwhelming number are due to human failures. Drivers of course don't get the severe testing that the cars they're driving get.

Cost Runs Into Millions
It will be part of a network of proving grounds and test systems which have been set up by Ford to give cars practically every type of gruelling test possible. Other car makers have similar proving systems. The total bill of testing the cars runs up into the millions each year.

Ford for example used 150 test drivers last year to drive its cars more than 10 million miles. This year it will drive the cars 12.5 million miles.

To test cars for durability, they are driven from 20,000 to 60,000 miles with accurate records kept on all operating and maintenance expenses. Then the cars are completely taken apart and parts are weighed and measured to figure out the exact amount of wear.

But durability tests are only part of the "torture" put into automobile testing.

IRBM MISSILE is reported to resemble old German V-2, seen here in test flight in New Mexico with smaller nose rocket.

By REY W. BRUNE
DETROIT, Feb. 25—UP—A new desert proving grounds which Ford is opening in Arizona next week emphasizes again the extreme lengths the automobile industry goes to try to keep "bugs" out of its cars.

Ford is opening a new 3,840 acre proving grounds near Kingman, Ariz. The new proving grounds will give Ford a new way to "torture" its cars before it sends them to dealers to sell.

At Kingman, engineers will be able to test cars in a low humidity climate—where the temperature climbs to 120 degrees and dust can get as thick as a London fog.

The climate conditions will be especially useful in testing air-conditioning, engine cooling systems, air cleaners, carburetors and filters and door and body seals.

New Federal Wage Hour Law Goes Into Effect On March 1

EDITORS NOTE: Next Thursday, March 1, the 25-cent-an-hour increase in the federal minimum wage becomes effective. This shows how it will affect employers and plans for enforcement.

By MAUREEN GOTHLIN
WASHINGTON, Feb. 25—UP—The government is gearing for a substantial rise in wage-hour law enforcement problems when the new federal minimum wage goes up to $1 an hour next Thursday, March 1.

The 25-cent increase is expected to mean wage hikes averaging 13 cents an hour for 2.1 million unskilled and semi-skilled workers in interstate commerce, half of them in the southern states. Twenty-two million other workers, also covered by the Fair Labor Standards Act, already earn a dollar an hour or more.

The enforcement problem is up to wage-hour Administrator Nevel Brown. The Labor Department already has added 325 men to his field investigating staff of 475 and is setting up 27 new permanent field offices for a total of 68.

The expansion Brown told the United Press, is to insure that there is no willful evasion of the new minimum. He said the main job will be to "educate" employers and employees alike on how it affects them. This program is now underway. It includes TV and radio announcements for use of local stations.

Last year Brown's office investigated 39,330 payrolls. Violations were found in 19,305 of them. Guilty employers had to pay $12,151, 077 in back wages to 128,754 workers.

Since the greatest impact of the increase will hit the South, enforcement staff expansion will be proportionately greater there, Brown said. The Labor Department estimates that about one out of every four factory workers in the South earns less than $1 an hour. In the Northeast the ratio is one out of 12 1-2, in the Midwest one out of 25, and in the far West one out of 55 1-2.

Southern sawmilling, in which 80 per cent of the workers earn less than $1, will feel the increase most. But the impact generally will vary from industry to industry and from region to region.

Other manufacturers affected include textiles, work clothing, men's and boys' shirts, confections, padding and upholstery filling, jute goods, leather, processed waste, cigar making, wooden household furniture, and structural clay products.

In the case of salaried workers, Brown will regard them as paid in accordance with the law if they receive $40 for a 40-hour week, or if they get $177.33 a month for four weeks of not more than 40 hours.

The 24 million workers covered by the minimum wage, 40-hour week and overtime provisions of the Labor Standards Act now receive $82 billion a year. The raise is expected to increase this by $560 million a year, or about 0.7 per cent.

The effects, immediate and long-range, are subject to debate. Congress hailed the new minimum as a "necessary corrective" in American living standards. President Eisenhower wanted the minimum held to 90 cents an hour and suggested it embrace more workers.

SQUEEZE PLAY—This is what lack of patience will do. The trailer-truck at right, hauling a huge tank, got stuck in this underpass in Swanton, Vt. Driver of the truck at left thought he'd save time by squeezing through. He was wrong, because his truck, too, became wedged in. It took some doing to get them out. Note that both trucks are on the wrong side of the road, for some unexplained reason.

Powerful Beacons To Beam From Empire State Building

By CLAIRE COX

NEW YORK, Feb. 25 — UP—Four beacons so powerful they can be seen 300 miles away soon will beam every night from the top of the Empire State Building, it was announced Saturday.

The landlords of the world's tallest building said the brightest light bulbs ever made are being installed on the 102-story, 1,427 foot skyscraper and will be switched on for the first time on Easter Eve, March 31.

The beacons, each burning as brightly as 2,115,000 hundred-watt light bulbs, will shine from the landmark on the corner of 34th St. and Fifth Ave., to within the view of residents of seven states — New Delaware, Maryland, Massachusetts and New Jersey.

Henry Crown, president of the Empire State Building Corp., said the $250,000, two billion candlepower installation will send out rays of light so powerful that air travelers 300 miles away will be able to see them—on clear nights.

A column of white lights topped by the red lights of a 22-story television antenna are all that adorn the Empire State Building at night now.

But soon the venerable old Statue of Liberty's torch won't be able to hold a candle to the four lights that will revolve around the skyscraper and periodically shoot straight up in the air, Crown said.

"Miss Liberty," standing on Bedloe's Island in New York harbor, has been the "greeter" of travelers from abroad for more than 75 years.

"The new beacon will be a symbol of welcome and freedom," Crown said.

The four lights, each weighing a ton, are being installed 1,092 feet above the Manhattan streets and at the base of the television tower that serves as an antenna for all of New York's TV stations.

Leap Year Birthday Greetings

By H. D. QUIGG

NEW YORK —UP— Here's a happy birthday to the 105,000 persons in the United States who next Wednesday will be celebrating the anniversary of their birth for the first time in four years.

These Leap Day babies are popularly supposed to be tragic figures—deprived of the yearly delights of a birthday, except once every four years when Feb. 29 shows on the Leap Year calendar.

Tragic, my eye! They're lucky people.

Why? Well, first let's rid ourselves of the standard notion that a birthday is a time of happiness bordering on delirium. It's nothing of the sort. It's a source of humanity—and I refer particularly to that section of humanity which has attained the over-30 age status.

There comes a time when the shout of "Happy Birthday" puts a person in the frame of mind of the man Ogden Nash once wrote about, who came face to face with his birthday and realized that "the years are creeping over him like we red ants."

To the great multitude of woman-kind who have climbed to the plateau where they become ageless—a plateau that seems to start just the other side of girlhood—birthday is a nasty word. These ever-ever girls don't even like to think about having a natal anniversary. For those of them who can take their medicine in four-year gulps, less nose-holding is required.

And anyway—who ever gets a really dazzling present on his birthday? Like Christmas, I mean. The preponderance of birthday presents, over the years, are pretty piddling things. Postcards from relatives and wisecracks from fellow workers.

A person who has a birthday every four years can build it into a big thing, if he plays his cards right, and get some fairly substantial presents. He can talk it up weeks ahead of time.

NBC-TV 'Home' Show Plans Visit With Dr. Alfred Kinsey

By WILLIAM EWALD
NEW YORK — UP — The channel swimmer... The NBC-TV "Home" show is planning a filmed visit with Dr. Alfred Kinsey. He'll discuss his home, family and that other topic.

ABC-TV, which has promised 12 "special shows" for next season, has selected three tentative starters—"By Jupiter," "Playboy of the Western World" and "The Honeyes."

Right now, it looks as if CBS-TV's upcoming 90-minute drama, "Playhouse 90," will feature three live shows and one filmed show each month. Screen Gems will film from 8 to 13 of them.

Judy Johnson, who leaves the Robert Q. Lewis show to prepare for the stork, is the third Lewis singer to be pre-empted by the bird. The others were Lois Hunt and Betty Clooney.

George Gobel has formed his own music publishing firm, "Gomalco Publishing." The outfit's first venture will be the Harry Warren-Mack David score from Gobel's new picture, "The Birds and the Bees."

ABC radio will open up its network a half hour earlier Easter Morning to broadcast a special service by Billy Graham from Walter Reed Hospital in Washington.

Phil Silvers is touting his March 6 show, "The Court Martial," which stars a chimpanzee. "I think it's the funniest show I've ever made and maybe the funniest half-hour I've ever seen," says Silvers.

NBC will stage six operas next season, two of them originals. Also on the opera front, ABC-TV wants the Metropolitan to showcase Rimsky-Korsakov's "Coe d'or" for viewers on Easter next year.

ABC-TV has signed up three top stars for its "Wire Service" series scheduled for next season—Dane Clark, George Brent and Dennis Morgan.

And a note from the set of "Father Knows Best" where Robert Young heard Elinor Donahue, his TV-daughter, talking about a girlfriend who eloped.

"She got married on the same day she was supposed to start classes in college," said the surprised Miss Donahue.

"Obviously," said Young, "she just decided to put the heart before the course."

After two hours we fit a strong heat. We couldn't breathe. The doors, two small glass windows near the ceiling and the wooden shutters were closed.

"We shouted and banged on the doors. We begged the police for water and told them we were suffocating. It was to no avail."

MONTGOMERY, Ala.—The Rev. Martin Luther King, indicted Negro leader, on the Montgomery Negro bus boycott.

"Even if we are arrested every day, let nobody pull you so low as to hate."

Thomasville, Ga.—President Eisenhower on his doctor's golf instructions:

"You're going to hear a lot of laughter. My doctor has given me orders that if I don't start laughing instead of cussing when I miss these shots, then he is going to stop me from playing golf."

NEW YORK — Harold Stassen, President Eisenhower's disarmament adviser, on the "ultimate weapon," the intercontinental ballistic missile.

"Neither side can contemplate a situation in which either the use or threat to use armed might can result in anything but mutual tragedy."

A dinner will be held for special guests in the cafeteria at 7 p.m., according to Mrs. Elaine Ledbetter, president.

Professor Harral is an author of eight books and more than 60 magazine articles. He gives about 150 addresses a year, having served as graduate lecturer in public relations at leadership institutes sponsored by the National Education Association, the Canadian Teachers Association and scores of district organizations and universities.

In 1950 '51 he served as president of the American College Public Relations Association, with membership of over 800 institutions.

A former newspaperman, Harral joined the Oklahoma University staff in 1935 as a graduate assistant in journalism and rose to the directorship of the journalism school in 1949.

Harral's biography is listed in "Who's Who in America," "America's Young Men," "Who Knows," and "What," "Directory of American Scholars," "Who's Who in the Southwest," "Who's Who in American Education" and "Who's Who in Methodism."

"If I have a message it is the importance of staying alive as long as you live," he says. He has spoken all over the United States and Canada. As a reporter of the Calgary (Canada) Herald said of him, "He has been in the high art of living."

OTTAWA, Ill., Feb. 25—It may cost as high as $25 to be a bachelor in Ottawa on Feb. 29, next Wednesday.

That's the day the gals exercise their leap year prerogative and take over the city, lock, stock and barrel.

It's a harrowing time for bachelors, who are subject to arrest on sight.

Females act as the police and take their victims before a woman magistrate who either assesses a fine or takes them before a woman judge. Trials are speedy and justice firm.

The usual fine for being a bachelor is $10, but chronic offenders have been known to have to pay $25.

A variety of the charges are in store for the mere male—married or not. These may be not having a shave, not taking the wife to lunch—of almost anything that pops into the girls' heads.

This year the Junior Woman's Club, which sponsors the Leap Year affair, sent out "summonses" to 6,000 men in town, complete with charges printed in red ink and decorated with hearts and flowers.

Two sample charges:

"Failure to become a woman's home companion."

"Striking the spark but not fanning the flame."

Miss Joan Parkins, a tall, striking brunette who is president of the club, will lead the female government this year, taking over from Mayor R. C. Woodward.

Others of her sex will serve as magistrates and judges, police chief, fire chief and even dog catcher.

In order to make sure that all males are punished for their crimes, there will be four magistrates and four judges. City hall will be completely feminized for the day.

The woman's club uses the fines collected from the men for worthy causes. In 1952 they extracted about $4,000 from male pockets.

Odessa, Milby, Laredo And North Dallas Make AAAA Finals

Milby, North Dallas Will Probably Be Favorites

By United Press

Four teams who have won 109 games and lost only 17 between them lead the way for two dozen Texas schoolboy basketball teams into next weekend's big five division state tournament at Austin.

They are the four Class AAAA representatives—Odessa, North Dallas, Laredo and Houston Milby. Odessa has a 24-4 record, North Dallas 25-2, Laredo 25-6 and Milby 35-5. Milby and North Dallas probably will be the slight favorites.

Three games Saturday night were needed to round out the Class AAA field where Marshall had clinched a spot earlier in the week by beating Paris in a bi-district game.

Amarillo Palo Duro defeated Grand Prairie 83-56 in a Class AAA bi-district final game to move into the state tournament.

The third and final games in AAA and Grand Prairie at Amarillo Palo Duro, Brownwood at Antonio Edison at Harlingen.

The Class AA and A four-team fields also were being filled in regional tournaments Saturday night, while six of the eight Class B state tournament berths were still up for grabs in night regional finals.

Beaumont French became another addition to the tournament when it defeated Brownwood 68-54 Saturday night in the bi-district finals.

Harlingen defeated San Antonio Edison 77-56 in another Class AAA bi-district rubber game.

Kyle won the Region VII-B crown at San Marcos Friday night and Krum defeated Graford in the III-B finals at Dallas Saturday 84-74.

In Saturday night games for the regional Class B titles Gruver defeated Briscoe 56-35 in Region I, Avoca beat Burkett 60-32 in Region

Optimists To Honor Boxers Monday Night

The Pampa Optimists will present the Pampa District G-G championship and runner-up trophies Monday night at their regular meeting at Poo's drive inn.

The trophies were ordered in ample time to arrive in time to make the presentations at the conclusion of the Pampa District Golden Gloves Tourney but they were lost in shipment.

They were later located and shipped, but too late to be awarded at the finals.

Six Pampa fighters will be honored at the dinner meeting. Charles Snyder, who won the "Outstanding Sportsmanship" award will head the list while Kenneth Wood, who captured the Amarillo Regional award, will also be on hand. Donnie Shipp, Lynn Schoolfield, Vernon Goodwin and Clovis Shipp will be presented with their championship trophies.

Runner-up awards will also be given to six Optimist fighters for their participation in the finals.

Tommy and Jerry Lamar will top the list with Don North also in the heavier class. Dickie Powell, Dickie Wills and Larry Powell will also be given their hard-earned second place awards.

The presentation will follow the short evening business session and a nomination committee will report on the new officers of the "Boys Work" club.

Further plans for the building of three additional baseball diamonds will probably be on the agenda following the trophy presentation.

Mustangs Stage Last-Half Comeback; Win SWC Title

Texas To Expand In 1959

AUSTIN, Feb. 25—UP—Texas will meet Maryland and California in football play in the 1959, Dana X. Bible, University of Texas athletic director, announced Saturday.

Scheduling of night games in Austin with Maryland on Sept. 26 and California on Oct. 3 completed Texas' 1959 grid card.

Other 1959 non-conference games pit Texas against Nebraska at Lincoln, Sept. 19, and Oklahoma at Dallas, Oct. 10.

Texas in a home-and-home series will play a return game with Maryland at College Park, Md., Sept. 24, 1960. A second meeting with California, set for Berkeley, Calif., is indefinite.

Nebraska and Oklahoma also are on Texas' 1960 schedule.

Bible said scheduling of Maryland for 1960 leaves only one date open for that season, which will likely be allotted to Texas Tech, if the Lubbock school gains entry into the Southwest Conference. Texas plays Tech in 1958 but has no room on its 1959 schedule.

Longhorns, Aggies To Stage Meet

COLLEGE STATION, Tex., Feb. 25—UP—University of Texas, Texas A&M and the University of Houston varsity and freshman track squads will open season competition in a triangular meet here next Saturday.

Texas, defending Southwest Conference champion, looked to promising sophomores, particularly in weight events, to stay in contention. The team lost about 60 percent of its 1955 scoring strength.

Leading weight men were sophomores Paul Schumann of Houston and Joe Irvin of Amarillo. Despite the loss of Dean Smith, Texas still appeared strong in the sprints. Robert Whilden and Jerry Previtt, members of Texas' world-record sprint relay team, ran wind-assisted 100-yard dashes in 9.4 and 9.5 seconds, respectively, Friday.

beat Arkansas 80-72 Saturday night and win its second straight Southwest Conference championship.

After trailing 42-37 at the half, the Mustangs went on a shooting spree to win their 11th straight conference game. Arkansas has an 8-2 mark and dropped into a second-place tie with Rice.

Joel Krog and Bobby Mills led the second-half surge, hitting 22 and 21 points, respectively, for the Mustangs. SMU hit 23 consecutive free throws in the second half to come back from a five-point deficit.

The Mustangs hit 11 straight points after the intermission to take a 48-42 lead they never lost. Both teams swapped points for the first eight minutes of the game. Then Arkansas started hitting on long-range shots to take a 10-point, 23-18, lead. Then Rick Herracher came in for SMU to score 11 points in the last 7 1/2 minutes of the first half to cut the margin.

Manuel Whitley paced the Razorbacks with 16 points, all but four in the first half. Jerald Barnett hit 10 points for Arkansas.

ROCKY—Life was rose-strewn for Dave Kaiser after his field goal beat UCLA at Pasadena, but it's a rocky one back in Michigan State classes. Dave, a geology major, hopes for a career in the oil business.

Schoolboy Cage Title Tourney Begins Thursday

AUSTIN, Feb. 25—UP—The 36th annual state schoolboy basketball championship tournament, featuring the top 24 high school teams in the state, opens Thursday in Austin.

The three-day tournament in Gregory Gym at the University of Texas will lead to titles in five conferences.

Conference AAAA and AAA will send four bi-district winners each to the Inter-scholastic League Tournament. Conference B will supply eight regional winners, and Conference AA and A each will send four champions of regional tournaments held Saturday.

The state tournament field will represent the cream of 1,099 teams which took part in boys' basketball during the season. Tournament play will open at 8:45 a.m. Thursday in the Conference B bracket. Championship contests in Conference B, A and AAAA will be played Saturday afternoon, with title matches in AAA and AAAA that night.

For the first time the AAAA championship game, normally the climax of the tournament, will be moved up to 3:45 p.m. Saturday. The "big boy" title contest will be telecast locally over an Austin station, "and possibly elsewhere," the Inter-scholastic League said.

It will be the first time in the tournament's history a game has been televised.

All final-round games will be broadcast over a statewide radio network.

Last year's champions were Conference AAAA, Crozier Tech of Dallas; AAA, Victoria; AA, Seminole; A, Buna; and B, Avoca.

Stanolind Oilers Grab Skellytown Championship

The Stanolind Oil quintet downed Skellytown, 73-61, in the championship game of the Skellytown Industrial Invitational Cage Tournament Saturday night before an estimated 300 fans.

Jack Yelkin set the pace for the Oilers with 29 points. Carl McCabe pumped in 18 for the second place honors.

The Oilers came from behind in the last half to edge out the home town scrappers. The Skellytown five led, 32-31, at halftime, but were unable to keep up the pace in the final two frames.

The Skellytown top scorer was Charles Watson with 17. His nearest competitor was Frankimmel with 14.

J. R. Sharp, party manager for the Stanolind team, accepted the trophy for the Pampa five.

Skellytown captured the second place trophy and Ready Mix held down the third place spot.

The Borger Sheriff's department forfeited its first game to the Skellytown five and gave them their first win of the tournament which got underway Thursday night.

The Stanolind Oilers came from game in Pampa with the Noblitt-Coffey quint and defeated Ready Mix, 73-62, for the Pampa team's first victory of the tourney.

Leading the Oilers in the scoring department was Jack Yelkin with 22 points. He was followed closely by Curtis Israel with 20. Bill North came through with 16 and Carl McCabe 12. Others scoring for Oilers were Buddy Alexander and Charles Sylvester.

The Ready Mix five was paced by T. J. Tidwell with 17. His nearest competitor was Don Wilkingsham who scored 12. The Oilers field Jimmy Marton, all-border conference eager for Texas Tech in 1953, to only six points.

The Oilers came back the second night and topped Noblitt-Coffey, who had replaced the Borger Sheriff's department, 72-58. Yelkin again paced the Oilers with 21 points followed by McCabe with 19. North dumped in 17 and Alexander hooped 10 while Fincher counted for five.

Noblitt-Coffey's Roy Poole and Jim Corley each pumped in 14 while Bill Phillips and Bill Corley banged in nine. Sam Line counted 10 and Jimmy Keel 8.

Stanolind was leading the tourney with a 2-0 record going into Saturday night's contest against Skellytown who boasted a 1-1 mark. Ready Mix also had a 1-1 mark in the competition, since it had only taken up the slack left by the Borger Sheriff's department.

HARVESTER WEIGHTMEN—The Harvesters shot-put team, led by Ed Strickland, is working out daily in order to gain distance on their heaves. Harvester Tracksters Will Get First Test March 10th

Key Sprinters, relay men, pole vaulters, weightmen, and all manner of track-men are working each day down under the direction of coach Ed Strickland, preparing for their first test in the 1-AA track and field district this season.

Ed Strickland will probably be long the best all around trackster on the squad of 30 boys this season. He has qualified with the best record in several of the events to athletes but Dicky Mauldin, who has been playing basketball, will be giving him stiff competition in the sprinting events.

Strickland, Mauldin, Jimmy Joe and Richie Gardner will probably be the sprinters for the Harvesters this season. Other boys may improve with work and give them four a "run for their money" this year.

Don Allen, Gary Dearen, Glen Howell and Gary Pinson are the best prospects at the present time for the high-jumping squad, but all boys will be given an even chance at all this events.

Pole vaulters are Gary Dearen, Don Bigham and Jim Fischer. Fischer is clearing near 10 feet now and promises to go higher since he has been working outside only three days. Two of them were during the dust and high winds this week.

Broadjumping is a problem with the Harvesters as Strickland again seems to be the best prospect. Kenneth Kieth, Don Bigham, Richard Conner and David Marlar are working hard though and are doing better each day.

GET A GANDER OF THIS—Billy Brown, 15, bagged an 11 and an eight-pound Canada goose just before the migratory wild fowl hunting season ended at Mantoloking, N.C.

Earl Cooper, Don Jonas and Strickland are the three top shot-put and discus men. Others tossing the weights around are Jerold Smith and James Goodnight. The hurdlers this season will probably be Harry Ward, Don Allen, Frank Snow, Gary Peterson, Ed Strickland, Kenneth Kieth, and Joe Cooke. The wind has been too high to work on track and field events, but if the weatherman smiles favorably on Coaches Lyon

Oilers Open League Play April 17 With Ballinger

The schedule has been completed for the newly formed Southwestern League this week and the Oilers have signed almost all their squad for the coming season.

The only thing left to do is to get the season ticket books sold and that is in the making. Directors of the Pampa Community Baseball Association will meet in the chamber of commerce room Monday afternoon to complete plans for the ticket sales and other plans for the opening of the season.

Spring training is set to get underway March 18 with pitchers and catchers starting a few days ahead of the remainder of the club.

The schedule for the coming season includes 72 home games including a possible double header on Labor Day. The Oilers will be out of town on July 4th.

The new league will be class B baseball but should be a faster brand than that of last season with the addition of two more veterans to the roster. The league will include the remainder of the West Texas-New Mexico teams after Amarillo, Lubbock and Abilene went into other leagues and the Longhorn League teams still in operation.

Ballinger has been added to the league, which will give a 10-team schedule. Pampa, Plainview, Clovis, Roswell, Hobbs, Midland, El Paso, Carlsbad and San Angelo are the other teams involved.

The Oilers will be on the road for the first six days as they open their schedule April 17, 18, and 19 in Ballinger. From there they will go to San Angelo for three days and then back home for their first game April 23 with Ballinger. They will have a six day home stand before they go on the road again.

Other home games include Plainview May 16-18, July 1-2, August 20-22; Clovis May 24-26, July 8-10, August 28-29; Roswell May 29-31, July 14-16, August 30-Sept. 1; Hobbs May 14-16, June 28-30; Aug. 17-19; Midland May 2-3, June 15-17, Aug. 2-4; El Paso May 12-12, June 25-27, Aug. 14-16; Carlsbad May 27-28; July 11-13, Sept. 2-3; San Angelo June 11-12, July 27-29; and with Ballinger June 8-10, and July 25-26.

The Oilers will have 10 Sunday games during the season at home and the same number on the road. The Southwestern League opens Tuesday, April 17, and closes Thursday, September 6. Each team will play 144 games in 142 days. Each club will meet the Oilers 16 times with eight at Pampa and eight on the road.

Pampa's Raul Ramirez will be fighting in the 118-pound class Monday night. He will weigh in Monday and begin the "hard road" to the finals. Ramirez was selected to take the place of Dalton Park, who was unable to make his weight for the national matches.

Pampa Golfers Top Sandies By 26 Strokes

Pampa's Harvester Golf team edged out the Amarillo Sandies for the fourth time of the season to walk off with top honors in the team play golf tournament held in Amarillo Saturday.

The Lubbock Westerners were third with the Plainmen of Monterey in fourth spot and the Dandy Dons, who are doing well in basketball, were last.

The Harvesters shot a 391 to lead the field by 26 strokes over the Amarillo Sandies who shot a 417 and the Westerners shot 429.

Plainmen golfers shot a 453 and the Dons went above the 500 mark.

Melvin Chisum was low man of the tournament with a three over par 73. Second in the tourney was Harvester Bill McLeod with a 77. These two Pampans led the field of 25 golfers and led the Harvesters in their victory over the Sandies.

Third low man of the day was Ben Lane Jr., Amarillo, just one stroke behind McLeod with a 78. Other Harvesters were Leslie Howard, Bert Watkins and Don Prigmore. The Pampa golfers are coached by Weldon Trice.

The district tourney will be held in Pampa at the Pampa Country Club golf course April 6. Teams from Amarillo's two schools, Borger and Plainview will complete the five team district tournament.

The Pampa golfers have stacked up the most impressive record of the five since they have gone undefeated through six team matches. The Harvesters will be going to the Fort Worth Invitational Tournament March 16 to compete against some of the best teams in the state.

Following the Fort Worth tourney they will journey to Odessa where they will meet some of the toughest competition of the season.

MIS-GUIDED MISSILES

Invites Sent To 109 For Masters Golf Tournament

AUGUSTA, Ga., Feb. 25 —UP— An invitation list of 109 was announced Saturday night for the 20th annual Masters golf tournament with a sad footnote that underscores the hall-of-fame quality of this event.

National Open champion Jack Fleck of Davenport, Iowa, heads the list of 11 newcomers for the tournament founded by Bobby Jones 20 years ago. All the old regulars will be there — Ben Hogan, Sam Snead, Cary Middlecott and Byron Nelson — for the event April 5-8.

Five more American players will be invited later under the Masters qualification rules in addition to several foreign golfers who will be extended special bids.

But for the first time in the history of the tournament, S. Davidson Herron is not invited. Herron died last Jan. 26. He never made a showing in the Masters but because he was U.S. Amateur champion in 1919 he became a member of the permanent list.

All the past national champions, PGA, open and amateur, are part of the select company invited to the tournament founded by Bobby Jones and it's surprising how many of them show up.

Gene Sarazen and his knickers are an April institution in Augusta, and they dedicated a bridge to him last year over the creek he cleared with his double-eagle in 1935 to tie Craig Wood and beat him in a play-off.

When you add fellows like Chick Evans, Jock Hutchinson, Lawson Little, Fred McLeod, Denny Shute and Henry Picard, the Masters becomes a page out of history and the older boys sometimes get right up there.

Harvie Ward Jr., leading amateur in the Masters last year who went on to win the National crown, and Air Force Lt. Joe Conrad of San Antonio, second amateur in the Masters who later won the British Amateur, add zest to the field.

Borger Places Miller On All-State Quintet

DALLAS, Feb. 25 —UP— Baytown, Laredo, Fort Worth Poly, Borger and Tyler spotted one player each on an All-Senior Class AAAA all-state schoolboy basketball game announced Saturday by the Texas Sports Writers Association.

And, only one of the five members of the mythical team—Forward Philip Trammell of Laredo—will appear in the state meet next week end in Austin.

Forward Jerry Don Smith of Baytown, guards Max Miller of Borger and Billy Hall of Tyler played on teams that didn't even get outside their own district, while center Pat Noakes of Poly, the tallest player on the team at 6-10, saw his school lose in bi-district play to North Dallas.

Wares to Be Shown

In fact, only one member of the second team — Frank Portilla of Houston Milby—and two members of the third team—Forward Bobby Smith of North Dallas and center Don Hitt of Odessa—will get to show their wares in the state tournament.

The other members of the second team included forwards George Alberts of Fort Arthur and Sammy Myers of Beaumont, center Joe Dove of Pasadena, and guard Don Abbott of San Angelo.

Besides North Dallas' Smith, the only junior on all three teams, and Hitt, the third team was made up of forward Joe Chavez of El Paso High and guards Jerry Hall of Borger and Doyle Smith of Wichita Falls.

Noakes Averaged 19 Points, rated a good rebounder.

Record Entry Expected In Border Meet

LAREDO, Tex., Feb. 25 —UP— Three defending division champions were expected to be in the field when the 24th annual Border Olympics, the nation's first major outdoor track and field carnival of the season, is run off here March 9-10.

With the entry deadline coming up Monday, 68 schools had filed entries for 798 athletes and the late entries were expected to push the total toward last year's record of 83 schools and more than 1,000 individuals.

Oklahoma A&M in the university division, North Texas in the college class and Victoria in the junior college division already have signed to defend their titles, but Abilene high school has indicated it would not have a team strong enough to be a contender and would not send a team.

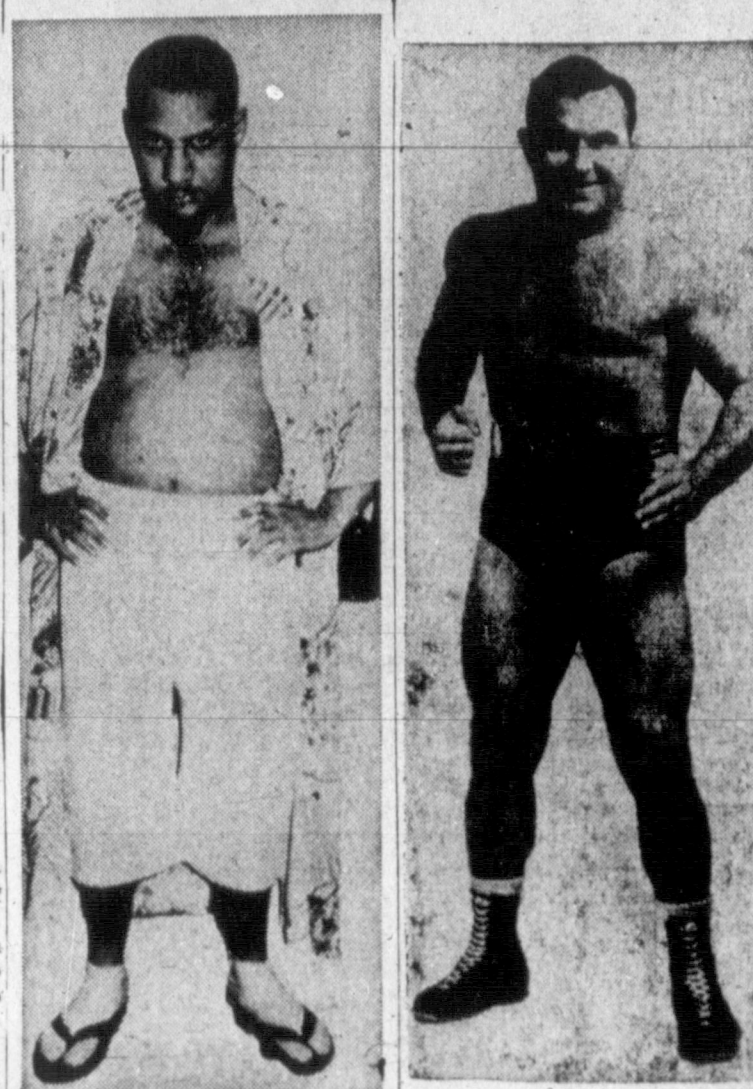

Port Arthur and Corpus Christi Miller were expected to be the top contenders for that division from among the 41 high schools already entered.

Texas and Texas A&M figured to be Oklahoma's A&M's chief rivals, while Abilene Christian loomed as a threat to North Texas' honors.

Texas Christian, Southern Methodist and Baylor wire the other university entries, while Lamar Tech, McMurry, Universidad Autonoma de Mexico, East Texas, Southwest Texas, S. F. Austin State, Texas A&I, Sul Ross, Pan American, Howard Payne and Instituto Politecnico Nacional de Mexico City were the other college entries.

Schreiner Institute, Arlington State and Del Mar will offer Victoria its competition in the junior college ranks.

Tag Team Bout Is Set For Wednesday's Card

TOKIO JOE

IRISH MIKE CLANCY

Tokio Joe, who prefers to use his Karate type wrestling than the catch as catch can type of wrestling, says he has been unable to find the type of partner in the Top o' Texas area to aid him.

Last night he called his old partner, Leo "The Lion" Newman, at Waco to come back to the Top o' Texas Area. With the permission of the wrestling commissioner Leo agreed to return.

Wrestling fans know that Leo agreed to burn his trunk and leave the Top o' Texas area if he couldn't defeat Dory Funk. Funk defeated Newman and he had a trunk burning affair in the middle of the ring. That is why the wrestling commissioner had to pass on Leo's returning.

Mike Clancy and Cowboy Carlson, who wanted to come back last week against Tokio Joe and Dory Davis, were eager to get another shot at Tokio Joe so they were immediately signed in one of the main events Wednesday night February 29 at the Top o' Texas Sportsman's Club.

Joe says he and Leo will soon own the World's Tag Team Title. Fans that know Joe and Newman won't be surprised at anything that happens.

Carlson and Clancy both say just let me at 'em. We will take care of them. With that attitude anything may happen. Last week the ring ropes were torn down twice in a championship tag team match.

Leo "The Lion" wanted a warm up match with Clancy to get accustomed to his style. Another main event will be added to round out the program for the night.

Spring Training In Majors Due To Go Into Full Swing

By MILTON RICHMAN

CLEARWATER, Fla., Feb. 25 —UP— The 16 major league teams—spread out from Florida's Gulfstream to Arizona's Painted Desert—were making final preparations Saturday for the official launching of the 1956 spring training program.

The target date is March 1—next Thursday—when all unsigned players officially become "hold-outs" — but under this year's new flexible training rule most of the teams are already under way. An even dozen clubs have set up quarters in Florida with the remaining four — the Cleveland Indians, New York Giants, Chicago Cubs and Baltimore Orioles — in Arizona.

This year the training campaign marks the debuts of three new managers: Bill Rigney of the Giants, Fred Hutchinson of the St. Louis Cardinals and Bob Bragan of the Pittsburgh Pirates. All the American League pilots are holdovers from the 1955 season.

Dodgers, Yankees Favorites

Pre-season estimates already have installed the world champion Brooklyn Dodgers as National League favorites and the defending champion New York Yankees as the American League choices.

The experts are thinking in terms of another runaway for the Dodgers but are viewing the American League as a four-team race with the Boston Red Sox joining the Indians and Chicago White Sox as solid challengers. The experts also have promoted the Detroit Tigers into a pre-season role as AL "dark horses."

The National League stood relatively "pat" during the winter in the face of the Dodgers' 13-1-2 game triumph and first World Series victory. The Dodgers themselves swung the only major trade by a contender — acquiring third baseman Ransom Jackson from the Cubs for pitcher Russ Meyer and third baseman Don Hosk. It is safe to assume, therefore, that several major deals may be made toward the close of training.

Made Major Trades

In sharp contrast, all four of the leading American League contenders made major deals.

The Yankees acquired southpaw speedballer Mickey McDermott, a pitcher of high promise, from the Washington Senators. The Indians made a "big move" in attempting to shore up their infield via the acquisition of shortstop Chico Carrasquel from the Chicago White Sox, who in turn, sought to increase their batting punch by the addition of Larry Doby.

And the Red Sox swung a massive quantity-for-quality deal with the Senators in which they obtained veteran first-baseman Mickey Vernon and Bob Porterfield, a solid starting pitcher.

Wynn, Wertz Sign '56 Contracts With Cleveland Indians

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Feb. 25 —UP— Early Wynn and Viv Wertz, two Cleveland Indian stars who suffered from illness and injuries last year, Saturday signed their 1956 contracts.

Wynn, 36, signed for about $35,000 — a cut of $2,000 from last season. The right hander, who suffered pneumonia at the start of the campaign and from a sore shoulder at the end of the season, wound up with a 17-11 record.

Wertz, 31, signed for about $25,000, approximately the same salary he received in 1955. He said he and recovered from the polio attack that sidelined him last August.

Jackson Likes Competition For Bums' Third Base Spot

By UNITED PRESS

Ransom Jackson welcomed competition from Jackie Robinson in the Brooklyn Dodgers' third-base sweepstakes Saturday and said he always wanted to play regularly in the Ebbetts Field home parade.

"I've had to fight for my position every year and I see no reason to stop now," Jackson said when advised the 37-year-old Robinson intended to make him a bench warmer. "I don't mind a good fight. Over the years Jackie has been a great player."

The 29-year-old Jackson, who weighed 184 pounds when he checked into Vero Beach, Fla., Friday, looked forward to a big year with the Dodgers.

"I've always hit well at Ebbetts Field," he said. "I've always wondered what I would hit playing there with the left field and center field fences closer than they are in Chicago; now I'll find out."

Batted 265 Last Season

Jackson played in 133 games for the Cubs last season, batted 265, hit 21 home runs and drove in 70 runs. In 105 games for the Dodgers last year Robinson batted 256, hit eight homers and knocked in 36 runs. Both are right-handed batters.

At Sarasota, Fla., Manager Mike Higgins said he was pleased with a three-week rookie school conducted by the Boston Red Sox and there were indications Higgins intended to retain Dave Sliser, son of the Hall of Famer, for further inspection. A Princeton graduate, young Sliser is a towering right-handed pitcher.

Bob Wiesler, fast-ball pitcher acquired in a trade with the New York Yankees, was cautioned to "ease up" in a Washington Senators drill.

Catcher Joe Lonetto of the Philadelphia Phillies escaped injury.

NEW ORLEANS —UP—Bryan Burnthorne, star Tulane guard who was drafted by the Detroit Lions last January, said Saturday he has signed to play with the Calgary Stampede of the Canadian Western Conference in 1956. The 22-year-old Burnthorne is a resident of Amite, La.

Changes In Amateur Code May Be Too Late For Wes

NEW YORK—UP—Any changes in the amateur code for track may come too late to help suspended Wes Santee get to the Olympics, but that's the next subject to be investigated by the national AAU's "secret seven" committee.

Pincus Sober, chairman of the committee, said the group will turn "soon" to interviews with various sports leaders about their ideas on possible changes in the amateur rules.

Sober, New York attorney who also is chairman of the AAU track committee, said the "secret seven" will ask meet directors, college athletic directors, athletes, and newsmen for advice on possible changes. The group may make a preliminary report to the AAU's executive committee in June.

Next Report in November

"However, our next report isn't due until the annual meeting of the AAU next November," said Sober.

Sober said this new action would be a fulfillment of the second purpose for which the committee was set up by the national AAU convention last January. The first was to study all matters pertaining to the Santee case and report to the AAU's executive committee.

The second was to study all present divisions of the general rules of the AAU pertaining to amateurism.

The result of the first part was that Santee, America's fastest miler in history, was suspended for life last Saturday on charges of accepting excessive expense money.

As for the second part, Sober said that committee was asked to recommend specific procedure to be followed by local district registration committees and the national AAU so they may maintain supervision and control of all sponsored events from their inception.

May Raise Expense Level

Some observers thought it possible that this study might result in a setting of new expense standards—possibly so high that Santee's might not have been excessive under them.

However, in Chicago, Avery Brundage president of the International Olympic committee, said he was "sure" Santee would not have been allowed to run in the Olympics even if the AAU had not suspended him.

"The fact that the Kansas City people reinstated him despite the evidence would never stand up in the Olympics," said Brundage.

Brundage cited the case of mile star Paavo Nurmi of Finland, who was banned from the Olympics by the IOC even though his national group had certified him as an amateur.

Santee Not First To Be Banned In Amateur Athletics

SAN FRANCISCO —UP—Carl Hansen, president of the Amateur Athletic Union, is getting a little irked at people accusing his group of "picking on" Wes Santee.

"Why are you making Wes Santee the first man you ever suspended?" Hansen says people are always asking him.

"It just shows that they don't follow amateur athletics very much."

"If you think there is a lot of discussion about this Santee case, talk to some of the old-timers after the Jim Thorpe banishment after the 1912 Olympic games. There still is talk about that one."

"And how about the time Eleanor Holm was suspended enroute to the 1936 Olympics?"

Hansen points out that down through the years the AAU has had to suspend athletes who got out of line—and United States isn't the only country that does it.

"Remember when Paavo Nurmi of Finland was barred from the 1932 Olympics after a protest from Germany that he had been paid too much money?" Hansen recalled.

Hansen wishes to point out that the AAU isn't exactly a policing body.

"We are not a bunch of 'paul pry' men or 'long noses' checking someone else's business," said Hansen. "But when a specific case is brought to our attention, then we must do something about it."

Packers Get Don Barton

GREEN BAY, Wis., —UP—Halfback Don Barton, who played football in the Army the past two seasons after signing as a free agent with the Green Bay Packers in 1953, has signed his 1956 contract with the National Football League.

Barton, 25, once was clocked in 9.8 seconds of the 100-yard dash. His college playing was at the University of Texas.

Handball Tourney Set

NEW YORK —UP—The national AAU handball four-wall singles and doubles championships will be held at the New York Athletic Club, May 13-20. The week long classic will feature most of the leading handball players in the country.

AAU May Establish Summer Training School For Athletes

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 25—UP—The Amateur Athletic Union is considering establishment of a camp for prospective athletes for the 1956 Olympic games, Carl Hansen, AAU president, said Saturday.

Plans for the camp have been kept secret, but when informed that United Press knew about them, Hansen admitted:

"It's true. A man named William Cox broached the subject to me recently in New York. I don't know if it can be worked out, but I am in favor of it and am checking on the possibilities."

Hansen said if the camp plan is completed, it would meet with all international Olympic amateur rules. (Russia has such camps for its athletes).

The camp originally had been planned to house both men and women athletes, but now it may be reduced to include only women, Hansen said.

"We do not know where the camp will be located if the plan goes through," Hansen said.

The program calls for the camp near a big industrial plant that can furnish jobs for the athletes for the three months.

The U.S. never before has had such a training camp—possibly because always before the Olympics were held in the summer, just after colleges ended their season.

The Olympics this year will be held in Australia late in November and December.

Temple Names Coach

PHILADELPHIA —UP—Peter P. Stevens, who captioned the Temple University team which helped inaugurate the 1954 Sugar Bowl game and former head coach at Ursinus, has been named head football coach at Temple.

Stevens replaced Josh Cody, who filled in in 1955 after former Coach Al Kaval quit to take a head coach post at Southern Illinois University.

PREPARING—Ranchers in the Panhandle are preparing for deer season next fall and shown above is a good way to do it. One rancher, his name not given for obvious reasons, is feeding his herd each evening in order that they may bear healthy offspring for hunting in future years. The practice is inexpensive compared to the return on the investment.

PANHANDLE OUTDOORS

By S. V. WHITEHORN

The future for the wild turkey in the Panhandle is just about as bright as the men on the turkey range wish to make it. There is only a limited amount of food on the range for these giant birds and to increase these flocks, almost any amount, you only need to supplement their food with almost any kind of grain.

One year ago I noticed 110 birds feeding around a calf feeder. These birds were sleek and glossy and in excellent physical condition. Fred Hobart, on the Washita, in Hemp Hill, in the past and probably still does, feeds several hundred birds at hog feeders. The birds will soon locate food of this type and winter around any adequate amount of grain.

This feeding isn't necessary to preserve the specie but it is necessary if we wish to increase the turkey population.

Last week I noticed eight turkeys that had been regularly feeding in the area where a couple of saddle horses were fed a few bunches of sorghum each week. These birds appeared in a weak condition and also were very small as compared to the size they should have been. They were gobblers with long beards but there wasn't anything proud about them. Well-fed gobblers are proud birds.

These eight turkeys were barely able to fly. I asked them for some time just to ascertain if the birds were strong enough to make it to the top of the tall cottonwoods where they roost. They probably could but that would be about all. Maize is cheap in price at this time and a feeder containing several hundred pounds and filled regularly would certainly assist these turkeys thru the winter until grass puts out in the spring. In the late spring and summer there is plenty of natural food available in the form of grass and insects, namely grasshoppers.

On one of the larger ranches north of the river there is one deer herd that will make the winner with flying colors. Note photo of these animals eating with the chickens. Each evening just before dark these animals are called by the cowboy and come running just about like cows. They are coming for the gallon of cake they know will be on the ground.

Many evenings there are as many as 20 that show up for feed. One thing for sure, these deer will be in good shape for fawning time and will give plenty of milk for the young.

Spring Field Trials

Pro Cagers Basket 5 Points A Minute

By UNITED PRESS

Five points a minute—that's the dizzy pace a quartet of National Basketball Association teams set in the wildest scoring orgy in the history of Philadelphia's Convention Hall.

When it was all over, a sellout crowd of 9,878 had seen the St. Louis Hawks down the Syracuse Nationals 116-103 and the Philadelphia Warriors defeat the Boston Celtics 135-129. It added up to a total of 483 points in 96 minutes of playing time—5.03 per minute.

Scouting conditions will be ideal and the birds are plentiful. This, as has been said many times, should be one of the outstanding trials of the Southwest.

Coon Hunt

The West Texas Coonhunters Association pulled off one of the most exciting events ever held in this part of the Panhandle the other day at Jims Lake on Spring Creek.

All types of contests were staged with the 'coon on the log' being one of the most spectacular. The affair lasted from 10 in the morning until about 5 p.m. Dinner on the ground was furnished by B. J. Cox of Borger and there were over 400 to be fed. Many of the crowd were witnessing their first field trial for the coon dog.

According to Jack Woodford, state game warden from Miami, the boys in Roberts County are planning on a coon dog trial for that area in the near future.

Rabbits on Increase

According to Orville Walker, deputy sheriff of Hansford County, the jack rabbits are about to take over in many parts of the Panhandle. Mr. Walker related how 57 jacks were killed in one afternoon on the O. J. Hoel farm west of Gruver.

The rodents are consuming much of the young wheat in many areas. Perhaps we should organize a rabbit drive?

Run for Trophy Opens

LAKE PLACID, N.Y. —UP—The Adirondack AAU four-man bobsled championship competition gets underway Wednesday at the Mt. Van Hoevenberg run. The winning team will be awarded the Franklin Beattie Memorial Trophy named for the bobsleider who was killed here last year.

Sign Star Pass Receiver

BALTIMORE —UP—Dick Donlin, an end from Hamline University who was the second draft choice of the Baltimore Colts, has signed his 1956 National Football League contract with the club. The 207-pound Donlin led the small colleges in pass receiving in 1955, catching 41 for 480 yards.

Peg O' Pampa

SHADES OF SPRING . . . it certainly seems like it's almost that . . . at least the last few days in the week . . . Peg has had an awful case of spring fever . . . and so has most everyone she's talked to . . . lost in lethargy . . . no pep, no energy . . . no desire to do anything constructive . . . must be the complete change from the cold weather we've been having . . . however, it is probably very much a false spring, and we'll be buffeted by the cold again before it really gets warm . . . but a change now and then is always welcome, n'est-ce pas?

No thoroughly occupied man was ever yet very miserable.
(L. E. Landon)

PEG HAD A LOT OF FUN this week going through an old Pampa paper Jesse Stroup dug up from somewhere . . . it had the name "M. K. Brown" attached to the top of it, so maybe it came from him . . . it is the Mar. 13, 1908, issue of the Pampa Weekly News . . . in the "locals and personals" column, one of the items was, "Mrs. J. S. Wynne went to Clarendon latter part of last week to visit those dear girls." . . . Peg understands one of "those dear girls" was Mrs. DeLea Vicens, then in college in Clarendon . . . another read "M. K. Brown returned from his extensive and prolonged European trip" . . . still another was just "Snowed Tuesday." . . . and yet another, "Pampa has another barber shop" . . . in the "business locals" column prices were listed as meal 35 cents a sack . . . five gallons of "Eupion" oil for $1 . . . onion sets 40 cents a gallon . . . another item, probably a political notice, read "Vote for LoFora till North Fork freezes over." . . . a short news item read "To show how Gray Co., is setting up, especially around Pampa, we submit the following figures. Poll list 1906, Pampa 57, McLean 123. Poll list 1907, Pampa 131, McLean 182." . . . those are just a few of the interesting things Peg found in the paper . . . A lot of fun to see what people read and thought about . . . on the honor roll for having 95 per cent or above average in their school work were such names as Vera Sloan, who Peg understands is now Mrs. Vera Davis . . . Alma Horn, now Mrs. Bob McCoy . . . Augusta Duncan, who Peg believes is Mrs. J. E. Murfee now . . . Freddie Hobart . . . and Cliff Vincent.

Democracy is a small hard core of common agreement, surrounded by a rich variety of individual difference. (Dr. James Conant)

HERE AND THERE . . . It won't be long before the Tucson Boys Choir is in Pampa to give a concert . . . brought here by the Pampa Community Concert Association . . . Peg understands that one of the boys is a cousin of Mrs. Tina McCallister of Pampa . . . he sings a solo . . . "Blue Shadows On The Trail" . . . the boys are quite famous and have even toured in Europe . . . heard Marjorie Magee is now in Panhandle . . . Dr. E. Douglas Carver was out of town this week, but Peg doesn't know where he went . . . the girls at Celanese had a unique Italian party this week . . . they played a cute "mixer" game . . . everyone was given a bingo card when she arrived . . . had to get 16 other names for her card . . . then the guest list was read and the first one to "bingo" got a prize . . . first Peg heard of it . . . nice idea for a party . . . the women have been hard at work on the Council of Clubs greenback coffee . . . Mary Hiatt's entertainment committee met this week . . . and the decoration and refreshment committees are to meet Monday and Tuesday . . . they plan to have the coffee Mar. 11 . . . in the City Club Room . . . promises to be a lovely affair.

A psychiatrist is a man who profits by your experience. (Ingenue Fey)

A DELICIOUS DESSERT to serve on these pre-spring days when every meal seems to need a lift, is this tempting Cherry Dowdy, topped with little drifts of whipped cream . . . Either frozen or canned cherries can be used for the "base" of the Dowdy, which is covered with a batter made newly delicious with the flavor of whole bran cereal . . . Bake it in a moderate oven for about 25 minutes and serve while warm.

CHERRY DOWDY

1-2 cup sugar	1-8 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon cornstarch	1 egg
2 cups pitted sour red cherries	1-4 cup hot water
frozen or canned	1-2 cup sugar
2-4 cup sifted flour	1-2 teaspoon vanilla flavoring
	1-2 cup All-Bran
	(whole bran cereal)

Mix together sugar and cornstarch; combine with cherries. Bring to full rolling boil over high heat, stirring constantly. Set aside to cool. Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Beat egg until thick and lemon colored; add hot water gradually, beating constantly. Continue beating while adding sugar, Fold in vanilla, All-Bran and sifted dry ingredients. Spoon cherry sauce into 1-cup custard cups; cover with batter. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees F.) about 25 minutes. Serve warm with whipped cream. Yields: 4 servings.

Mankind will be God-governed in proportion as God's government becomes apparent, the Golden Rule utilized, and the rights of man and the liberty of conscience held sacred. (Mary Baker Eddy)

ONE INDICATION OF SPRING in the air might be the number of weddings up next month . . . June Young is to take the step March 9 . . . and Sonya Prall, the 23rd . . . understand her wedding won't be in Pampa, though . . . Toward the end of the month Bonnie Gray, Shirley Chilton and John Stephenson are all to walk down the aisle . . . Pretty Charlotte Call was to be married Friday to a boy from Amarillo . . . the real rush of weddings will be from June through August, though . . . but Peg thinks June is losing its prestige as the "month of brides."

I have often been struck by the fact that the symptoms of laziness and fatigue are practically the same. (Frederick Lewis Allen)

POTPOURRI . . . the Elks had a dance Saturday night last week . . . but not too big a crowd there . . . understand the Quentin Williamses were there and the L. A. Barbers . . . believe Gertrude Barber is planning to take a trip to Phoenix, Ariz. . . to visit her son and daughter-in-law . . . don't know if she's gone, yet . . . Mrs. Beattie Johnson from Mexico City really made a hit in Pampa . . . she spoke to Altrusa Club, Beta Sigma Phi, the Junior High PTA, The Lions Club . . . and several times on the radio . . . everyone had nothing but praise for her . . . Adrienne Foster says Mrs. Johnson has studied the legends of Mexico and traced them way back . . . has so many interesting stories and facts to tell . . . a very remarkable woman . . . Pampa was fortunate to get her here as Peg understands she is much in demand as a speaker . . . she's a representative of Pan American Airlines.

PEG WILL LEAVE YOU with this saying: "I believe if a man is willing to surrender his will to God, he can do anything within the circle of God's will for him" . . . by John W. Raley.

As ever,
Peg

Human Relations Talk, Student Council Shower Presented For Mrs. Jim Dean

El Progreso Club met with Mrs. Harold Wright, 830 Christine, recently, Mrs. Carlotta Nance, president, led the business meeting and welcomed three new members, Mmes. George Newberry, J. G. Lyons, and Elmer Fisher. The first portion of the program, entitled "How to Improve Human Relations," was written by Mrs. J. Edmund Kirby and read by Mrs. Sam B. Cook. In the absence of Mrs. Kirby, in her paper, Mrs. Kirby stated that God placed a great responsibility upon man in creating him "a little lower than the angels," and giving him dominion over the rest of His creation. "Our responsibility as human beings in His world makes it imperative that we should act as He would act with reference to each other," she advised. She went on to say that people are saying that human relations must be improved or the world must face the fact that it is on the brink of destruction. These are not only words by prophets and preachers, but the words of most eminent scientists, she said. Montagu points out that no competition, but cooperation is a basic law of life, the women were told. The measure of a person's humanity is the extent and intensity of his love for mankind — not the extent of his knowledge of things. Thus the burden of creating better human relations falls upon teachers and those who have the responsibility of training the young. The teacher or parent may just prejudice without a word. Montagu feels that progress in human relations will be engineered by the children who are to be the adult members of the next generation. "How to Live Your Faith," by G. Ernest Thomas, has a chapter, "How to Get Rid of Prejudice," in which he lays down six rules for overcoming prejudice. Mrs. Cook reported. They are (1) have courage to recognize your prejudice, (2) try to discover hidden values in people against whom you have a tendency to be prejudiced, (3) avoid generalizations you are apt to make on the basis of limited contacts, (4) recognize your need for every other human being. (5) seek opportunities for fellowship with those whom you are apt to reject as inferior, and (6) practice the principles of Christian faith. In closing, Mrs. Kirby presented this thought: "I sought my soul, but my soul I could not see. I sought my God, but my God eluded me. I sought by brother, and I found all three." This was taken from "I Sought My Soul," author unknown. Second part of the program consisted of a panel from the Student Council from Pampa Senior High School. Mediator was Miss Sheila Chisholm, and panel members were Misses Linda Steele and Carolyn Miller; Melvin Romine and Ted Swindle. Their topic was "The Meaning and Purpose of the Guidance Program in our High School." They are saying that the purpose of an educational, vocational, testing, given to determine vocations, and personal guidance, given in regard to failures, financial aid, and miscellaneous problems. Refreshments of spiced tea, cookies, mints and nuts were served. Mrs. Bob Fugate presided at the tea service. About 35 persons attended the event.

GRACE FRIEND

Dear Grace Friend: About four years ago, when I was a junior in high school, I started going with a 23 year old soldier. We had our first date on Thanksgiving day and the next January I went away to school. Joe wrote regularly, almost every day and came to see me twice during that semester; he sent me stationery and candy and a lovely pearl necklace in the five months we were apart. He repeatedly referred to the times we would have when I got home, and we planned to buy "steady outfits". Everything looked rosy. DROVE TO CARNIVAL I got home on a Wednesday afternoon and he knew I was due home that day. By 8:30 p. m. he hadn't come or called and my younger brother wanted me to drive him to the carnival. So after the carnival I drove past the church parsonage where Joe hangs out a lot. The preacher and some young people, including Joe and the preacher's sister-in-law, were just backing out of the drive. It was time for me to be home, so my brother called to Joe and he came over to the car and talked a few minutes. He seemed glad to see me and a little surprised I think, because I was home. We had a date and I was very happy. But while on the picnic he made a date with another girl. She was the preacher's sister-in-law. ANOTHER DATE We had another date and stayed out two hours after my curfew just trying to straighten things out. My angry folks lowered the boom — no dates for a week. Joe heard about it and never bothered to call or write or come and see me till the next Thursday. He phoned for a few minutes; then I never heard from him till the following Monday. I was so heart-broken and angry I couldn't even be very nice and when I didn't hear and he never called or anything I wrote and offered to send him gifts and pictures back. Since that didn't bring him around like I'd hoped I had to send them, so I did and asked for my pictures back. ANGRY LETTER I received, in return, the angriest, unkindest letter I've ever had in my life. I answered as nicely as I ever have and really and truly apologized for being what he said I was. If it hadn't been for typing lessons at summer school, I don't believe I would have pulled through that summer. But toward the end of August I received a letter of apology and a request for a chance to see me. Almost at the same time I landed a date with another very eligible young man, and after seeing Joe a few more times, I practically threw him over. I regretted it almost immeasurably about a year later when I broke off with the second young man and began to miss and wish for Joe off and on until just a year ago, when I became engaged.

Mrs. L. E. Dudley, Abilene, president of The Texas Federation of Women's Clubs, and Mrs. David Houghton, Dallas, president of the Dallas Federation of Women's Clubs, were named chairman and secretary, respectively. A steering committee, headed by M. L. McDonald, Dallas, Texas Public Health Association; C. A. Bean, Borger, Texas County Auditors' Association; E. J. Richardson, Dallas, Editor, The Farmer-Stockman; George Marion, Dallas, Texas Federation of Federal Employees; and Mmes. Dudley and Houghton was selected and approved. Five official delegates and alternates were elected to the National Conference, the delegates being: Mrs. A. Foy Curry Jr., Fort Worth, TFWC Community Achievement contest chairman; Dr. Ernestine Bowen, Austin, Texas Psychological Association; Mrs. Marion Reed, McMahon, Texas Home Demonstration Agents Association; Reagan Brown, College Station, Rural Sociologist, A&M Cooperative Extension Division; and M. L. McDonald, Dallas. Additional delegates may be named by the steering committee with the TFWC Executive Committee serving as a screening committee. Each state has been requested to send a minimum of delegates equal to its congressional representation. It is hoped that state and local groups will share with the National Council on the Community, backed by a large number of industries and foundations devoted to public welfare.

MATURE PARENT

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE
Mrs. L.'s 12-year-old Miriam attends a school which recently tested its students' "social adjustment." The test, polling their opinions of each other showed that only two youngsters found Miriam likeable enough to want permanent friendship with her. Apparently, this fact has shocked the school. Regarding it as too sinister to report to Miriam, it has confided it to her mother, Mrs. L., in a very anxious letter confides it to me asking, "What can I do to improve the child's social adjustment?" In these situations, we do battle with our own passion to be found "likeable" by Miriam's teachers. It is our craving for their approval as a blameless parent that makes Miriam's popularity failure so depressing. At last, I must suggest this probability. The chance is, our anxious wish that Miriam make a better impression on her fellow classmates is just our own need to make a better one on her teacher—our fellow adults. It is an unrealistic wish. For the reality is that we are fortunate to make five true friends in the course of our lifetime. At the age of 12 Miriam has made two. That's doing very well indeed, regardless of her showing on the applause-meter of this "social adjustment" test. Her mother's problem is not improving other people's opinions of herself and Miriam—but developing better independence of them. This "social adjustment" crate is very hard on parents. For underlying it is the poisonous and subtle suggestion that our value can only be measured by other people's admiration of us. Thus, the "social adjustment" crate has made inoffensiveness into a supreme moral value. Its infantile reverence for external approval has had great influence on parents. If we don't wake up to its effects upon us, its stress on conformity can reduce us all to children. If teachers wish to make psychological diagnoses of children, it seems to me that they should quit teaching and enter psychology. For if ever there was field of knowledge in which a smattering of it could drive everybody crazy, it is the field of psychology—and its amateur's half-baked, half-understood, carelessly organized theories of social adjustment. Forget the applause-meter, Mrs. L. Having two friends is fine.

Manners Make Friends

If the awful realization ever comes to you that you neglected to let your hostess know that you couldn't attend her party and the day of the party is past — don't just feel guilty. Telephone her or write her a note explaining what happened and asking for her forgiveness.

Ignoring the matter is the worst thing you could do under the circumstances.

Vegetable Medley Casserole Is Good

A medley of fresh, nutritious vegetables add an air of spring to mid-winter menus in this delicious and different casserole that is loaded with appetite-appeal and attractive to serve.
One of Kellogg's 50th Anniversary recipes, it combines potatoes, cabbage, carrots and onions, which — after a brief cooking period — are arranged in a casserole and topped with a spicy cheese sauce. Just before it is popped in the oven, wholesome corn soya shreds are mixed with melted butter and sprinkle over the top for extra zest. Then it's baked for about 15 minutes, or until the cereal topping is golden brown.

VEGETABLE MEDLEY CASSEROLE

- 1½ cups cubed potatoes
 - 2 cups shredded cabbage
 - 1½ cups sliced small carrots
 - ¾ cups sliced onions
 - 1 cup grated cheese
 - 1 cup medium white sauce
 - 1-2 cups Corn Soya (corn soya shreds)
 - 2 tablespoons melted butter or margarine
- Cook potatoes in small amount of boiling salted water about 10 minutes. Add cabbage, carrots and onions; cover and continue cooking egg.

FLAVORFUL OLD-WORLD recipe, which has tuna chunks floating in rich sauce, adds interest to kraut.

COOK'S NOOK

Topping Of Tuna Sauce Gives Interest To Kraut

By GAYNOR MADDOX,
NEA Food and Markets Editor
Lent begins tomorrow. So it's time for a fine tuna recipe.

San Pedro, Calif., is the home port of many of the nation's tuna boats. Most of the high seas fishermen here are descendants of European sea coast people and tuna fishing has long been a family tradition.

Mrs. Lee Mardesch told us that fishermen's daughters have honored their heritage by learning how to make Old World dishes. For example, she learned how to prepare the flavorful Dalmatian tuna sauce traditionally served over sauerkraut in the old country. She kindly gave us her recipe.

Dalmatian-Style Tuna on Kraut.
(Makes 4-6 servings)

One large onion, finely chopped.
3 medium garlic, finely chopped.
1 medium-sized green pepper, chopped.
3 tablespoons olive oil or salad oil.
1 7-ounce can solid-pack tuna.
2-4 springs parsley, chopped.

1½ cans tomato sauce, 2 cups water, salt and pepper to taste, 2 No. 2 cans sauerkraut, 2 tablespoons grated lemon rind.

Cook onion, garlic and green pepper in olive or salad oil until onion is tender. Break undrained tuna into pieces. Add tuna and parsley cook 5 minutes, stirring occasionally. Add tomato sauce, water and salt and pepper. Cook over low heat 30 minutes, stirring occasionally. Heat kraut to serving temperature; drain. Serve tuna sauce over kraut; sprinkle with lemon rind.

Tuna and Kraut, Adriatic
(Makes 4-6 servings)

One 6½-ounce can chunk-style tuna, drained. 1 10½-ounce can meatless spaghetti sauce, 1 No. 2 can sauerkraut.
Combine tuna and spaghetti sauce; heat to serving temperature, stirring occasionally. Heat kraut to serving temperature and drain. Serve tuna mixture over kraut.

Quiz On Foreign Cookery Terms

Many of us think of foreign cookery as an exotic world of splendid spices and simmering sauces. Yet many of our popular foods today are adaptations of foreign recipes.

Reba Staggs, meat expert, suggests that if you like to serve dishes with foreign flavor you become more familiar with the following terms. How many can you identify?

1. An acid mixture usually seasoned, and with or without oil in which meat (uncooked or cooked) is allowed to stand to give flavor.

2. A meat stock or broth usually prepared with beef.

3. Food cut into thin match-like strips.

4. Cubes of bread toasted or fried and served over various dishes and in soups.

5. A highly seasoned relish of Oriental origin which contains fruits and vegetables.

Answers: 1. Marinade, 2. Bouillon, 3. Julienne, 4. Croutons, 5. Chutney.

Yellow cake is good with peanut brittle topping. Place slices of cake in a shallow baking pan. Sprinkle finely broken peanut brittle over slices; then place under low broiler heat for four minutes or until candy melts. Serve immediately with whipped cream garnish.

F. L. Stone Speaks On Faith, Philosophy At Meet Of Twentieth Century Cotillion

"A Faith and Philosophy For Living" was the talk presented by F. L. Stone at the recent meeting of Twentieth Century Cotillion Club in the home of Mrs. J. B. Maguire Jr., 1900 N. Russell.

"Philosophy dates back to early Greece and has been handed down through the centuries until the Christian faith took hold," he told the women. "Philosophy is that which pertains to everyday living. A young man comes out of college into a society where the economic necessities are beyond his wages. He usually marries and has a family. He meets defeat along the line. This is where the wife comes in. If she is a good Christian person, she can be a guiding force for her husband."

He states that a wife can help overcome difficulties by the application of philosophy, adding that the wife and mother shapes the destinies of her children as well as her husband.

Twentieth Century Allegro Has Speech And Letter On Foreign Policy At Meet

Mmes. Bill Craig and John Frisby conducted the program, "The Story of US Foreign Policy," when members of Twentieth Century Allegro met recently in the home of Mrs. J. E. Thompson, with Mrs. Bob Carr as co-hostess.

Mrs. Craig outlined the United States foreign policy from its early infancy to the present day time. She stated that the American policy is based upon the national interest, America's first foreign policy was built upon the idea of non-entanglement. The Monroe Doctrine was a logical consequence of our determination not to get mixed up in controversies between nations of the Old World.

The Spanish - American War and the territorial acquisitions that followed it led to some relation of the non-entanglement idea, but it remained the heart of American foreign policy down to World War I. Mrs. Craig explained. Even after that struggle, the United States tried to get back to the old policy, defeating Woodrow Wilson's plan for a League of Nations. The national interest could no longer be served by isolationism and as World War II taught, neutrality in the world's conflicts is not possible, she said.

"The creation of the United Nations was based upon the hope that we could work out an accord with the Soviet Union," she advised. "When that hope was reluctantly abandoned, we continued an active role in world affairs countering Soviet intransigence with the Truman Doctrine, the Marshall Plan and NATO. The problems growing out of the 'cold war' with the USSR and its satellites continue to dominate our foreign policy."

Mrs. John Frisby read a letter from Congressional Representative Walter Rogers of Pampa, in which he said "that the continued existence of the United States of America depends primarily upon the citizens of this country keeping abreast of world affairs and world wide trends. Continued vigilance of all world wide affairs is a responsibility of every individual in this country, not only for the purpose of maintaining a sound peacetime economy, but more important, because if and when another conflict is set off, there will be no grace period in which we can arm ourselves."

In the letter, Rogers pointed out that the United States "has enjoyed for some time the distinction of being the number one producer of commercial-type aircraft," but lately has been so involved with building bigger and faster planes that manufacturers have neglected that market for "much-needed feeder-type planes" used for short hauls. He stated that Holland, Britain and France are beginning to compete for this market. He explained that "the automobile industry could find much trouble in foreign markets from foreign producers," who are manufacturing automobiles "fitted to the type of service needed in European and Scandinavian countries."

Some mothers consider it condemnation to say their babies have colic, feeling it's their fault. It is, however, quite a relief to discover that it is this temporary disorder that's bothering Baby, not something of a more abiding nature.

There is something about Baby's hand that has no relation to any mitter ever made. Sometimes, if Baby wants to gnaw on a cookie or hold a toy, it's best to let him go mitterless. He won't get frost-bite unless it's that cold and he'll be happier.

Baby on a milk strike? Try juices of all sorts or water, to satisfy his thirst. He'll go back, but if you're worried about Baby's milk intake, load up on the puddings and other milk foods. But the main secret is just waiting.

"He said that Russia is a 'new competitor' in this field, adding that he 'saw a great many more Russian cars in Stockholm, Sweden, than in Moscow.'"

"Many of the foreign countries that have the ability to produce agricultural products have taken many of our foreign markets away from us, Rogers stated in the letter. 'Some of these countries, incidentally, have actually developed their agricultural resources by the use of foreign aid funds that were furnished by this country, and which I have continuously opposed.'"

Certainly we want to see all countries develop in a peaceful manner, but you can see how very easy it would be to relax our vigilance on a world-wide basis and do tremendous damage to our own economy."

Mrs. Don Cain, vice-president, opened the business meeting in the absence of the president, Mrs. G. M. Wallis. Members were reminded to bring articles such as scarfs, toothpaste, soap, bobby pins, thread, needles, to the March 20th meeting to send to the State Hospital.

MATURE PARENT

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

For his mother's birthday, Robert bought her an address book. After he'd wrapped it, the way his package looked discouraged him. He sought to improve it by sticking on a red paper star.

But the one he cut out didn't help much. At his age of seven years, he didn't know that his star looked queer because he'd given it three points instead of five. His father did know it. He saw at once that Robert's problem was the wrong way to make a star — and showing him the right way to get what he wanted, helped him produce a fine star to paste on his mother's gift.

This week, Robert's inexperience betrayed him into another clumsy solution to a problem.

He'd gone coasting down a hill his parents had banned as too steep. When his father discovered his disobedience, Robert denied it. By his lie, he hoped to retain his father's approval just as by his scissors he'd hoped to produce a beautiful star.

But the father who'd been so quick to see the scissors' real purpose was blind to the real intention of Robert's lie. Though he'd shown his little boy the right way to cut out a star, he made no effort at all to show him the right way to regain approval after disobedience. Instead of helpfulness, he gave Robert angry condemnation, saying, "Get upstairs. I don't want to see you. I'm ashamed of you. Only cowards lie."

Why was he able to see good intention behind the distorted star — and only evil intention behind the distorted truth?

Robert's father responds to lies, not with his own feeling and thought, but with inherited ones.

Many of us do. The more angrily helpless a child's lie makes us feel, the more likely it is that our own lies once upset our parents — upset them so impressively that we accepted their announcement of our evil intentions — and dropped the painful subject from our minds as fast as possible.

Then it's resurrected by Robert's falsehood. And all we can offer our son's is the hand-me-down excitement our parents gave to ours.

Childhood's lies are always its inexperience's solution to its great problem — retaining our love. To understand this helps us of fear of them. We see the innocent purpose behind the wrong solution — and with kindness, instead of fear, can win acceptance of the right one.

A profile chart was provided participating schools or pre-test study of these homemaking categories, and each girl who took the test received a homemaking vocational guidance booklet. Each school winner was awarded a golden pin designed by Trifari and her school will receive a cook book.

Between each candleholder was the name of the destination on the guest's flight ticket. A large white cart of fruit and vegetables stood in the center of the hall.

From Ulreia, Spain, in the heart of the olive-growing district, come these two recipes featuring Spanish olives.

Senora Tona de la Serna lives there with her husband and two young sons on a hacienda studded with olive trees as far as the eye can see.

She is an expert in Andalusian cookery, supervising her staff while they prepare succulent dishes on wood-burning stoves. In a fine handwriting, she jotted down these recipes for this column.

Spanish Olive Corn Casserole
(Make 4-6 servings)

One-quarter cup butter or margarine, 1/4 cup olive or salad oil, 1/2 cup finely chopped onions, 1/4 cups finely chopped green peppers, 1 medium-sized tomato, chopped, 1 No. 303 can whole kernel corn, drained and chopped, 1/2 teaspoon pepper, 1 tablespoon sugar, 2 egg yolks, 1/2 cup chopped pimento-stuffed green olives, 1/2 cup seedless raisins, 2 hard-cooked eggs, chopped, 1/4 teaspoon thyme.

Melt 2 tablespoons butter or margarine; add 2 tablespoons olive or salad oil, 1/4 cup onion and 1 cup green pepper. Cook until onion is tender. Add tomato and cook 10 minutes. Add corn, pepper, sugar and egg yolks and cook, stirring occasionally, 10 minutes. Meanwhile, melt remaining 2 tablespoons butter or margarine; add remaining 2 tablespoons oil, 1/4 cup onion and 1/2 cup green pepper. Cook until onion is tender. Add olives, raisins, eggs and thyme; mix well. Spread half of corn mixture in bottom of greased 1 1/2-quart baking dish. Top with olive mixture and remaining corn mixture. Garnish with additional olives, as desired. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 20 minutes.

Hot Cabbage Slaw Gives Winter Treat

Cabbage is such a hardy vegetable that it escaped most of the damage inflicted by recent freezes in some of the winter garden districts.

Enough supplies are now moving to local markets for the U. S. Department of Agriculture to add cabbage to its current list of plentiful foods.

The winter crop is estimated to run more than 340 thousand tons—about 17 per cent larger than last year but about equal to average.

Since shipments were delayed by cold weather, a heavy backlog of cabbage has accumulated, bringing unusually heavy supplies to the market now, and attractive prices to homemakers.

Quality of the winter cabbage is good, says USDA.

This cold weather makes hot cabbage slaw a treat. Here's how to prepare it. Use 2 eggs; 1/4 teaspoon salt; 1/4 teaspoon powdered dry mustard; 2 tablespoons sugar; few celery seeds; 1 tablespoon butter or margarine; 1 pint finely shredded cabbage.

Beat the eggs, add the water, vinegar, salt, mustard, sugar and celery seeds.

Cook, stirring frequently, until thick. Add the butter or margarine.

Stir the cabbage and mix thoroughly with the dressing. Cover and heat a few minutes. This serves four.

You can use frozen fruits for pies, but if the fruit already is sweetened, cut in half the amount of sugar called for in your recipe.

To lengthen the life of permanent pleats in washable fabrics, wash and let the garments drip dry. Don't wring.

To soften butter or margarine quickly, fill a bowl with boiling water, empty, and turn it upside down over the butter dish.

Potatoes, carrots and other root vegetables retain more of their nutritive value if they are cooked in their jackets.

RUTH MILLETT

Should parents who, at real sacrifice to themselves, send a daughter through college feel that she has forfeited her chance to "use" her education if she marries as soon as she finishes school?

I know from my mail that some parents do feel that way.

But let's listen to what Dr. Wilbur Kitchener Jordan, president of Radcliffe College, a man who has done a great deal of thinking about the place of women in today's world, has to say.

"Half a century ago college women either did not marry or married very late. Today college women marry as often as other women and marry somewhat younger."

"So it is critically important that these women have resources of adaptability that men don't have to have. For example, a man who moves from one city to another takes his job skills and his resources and habits with him. He is pretty much in the same groove no matter where he is. But a wife needs to re-adapt herself more completely."

And then Dr. Jordan points out that a liberal education supplies those resources a wife needs to make herself adaptable.

There are other good reasons, too, why a college education is important to a girl even though she never uses it to earn a pay check.

In large measure, the wife sets the "tone" of family living. Education of the wife, therefore, raises the cultural level of the home. The wife, also, is the teacher within the home. It is just as important for the teacher at home to be well educated as it is for the school-teacher to have a good educational background.

Then, too, if a girl marries a man with a college degree, she is better able to be his intellectual equal and his intellectual companion if her education isn't greatly inferior to his.

A liberal education is put to as good use in the home as it is in any business or profession.

MR. INTERLOCUTOR — When the Lions Club Minstrel "A Little Bit of Dixie" is produced in the Junior High School Auditorium on March 1 and 2, Calvin Whatley will handle the role of Interlocutor. With the help of 6 end men he will have the task of keeping the show moving at a lively pace. (News Photo)

Rehearsals Not All There Is To A Lions Club Minstrel

By FRED PARKER
Pampa News Staff Writer

All 135 members of the Pampa Lions Club are in the last week of preparations for their minstrel, "A Little Bit of Dixie."

The first work in these preparations started in December with the selection of the chairman for the 11 committees needed to make the show possible.

The committees and chairmen are: steering, Henry Gruben; publicity, Red Wedgeworth; stage and properties, Bud Johnson; tickets, Joe Donaldson; ticket sales, Joe Donaldson; house, E. J. O'Brien; concessions, C. C. Henry and Norman Henry; make up and clean up, W. L. Veale; costumes, Ed Myatt; printed programs, Harold Miller and Don Forsha; telephone, Ralph Thomas; and the after show reception, Ray Duncan. The other members were given assignments on one of these committees.

Bunny Shultz was chosen as director for the minstrel and had the job of choosing the cast. It was no easy job.

He also has to pass on what jokes are to be used. In rehearsal one evening the six end men, Dr. Malcolm Brown, P. O. Gaut, Ed Myatt, Dr. Joe Donaldson, Bob Irby, and Harold Payne went through over 5,000 jokes before they found four that could be used in the show.

The job of Mister Interlocutor, the man that keeps the show moving, was given to Calvin Whatley. He will be assisted by the end men and a chorus of 56 men and women.

Members of the Barber Shop Quartet group have given their support in the making of the cast. Some of the highlights of the show will be Rufe Jordan's rendition of "A Good Man Is Hard to Find," "Sissy" Milliron singing "Candy Store Blues," and "Dea-

BENNY GOODMAN STORY

This is a re-creation of the riotous scene in New York's Paramount, Theater, with teen-agers, dancing in the aisles, when the Benny Goodman Band opened there in March, 1937. It's from "Universal-International's technicolor musical biography, "The Benny Goodman Story," which co-stars Steve Allen, who plays the title role, and Donna Reed.

Steve Allen Stars In Movie Here

Ingenious Steve Allen, co-star with Donna Reed of Universal-International's Technicolor Musical Biography, "The Benny Goodman Story," currently at the LaNora theater, has the best of all comedy formulas — the worse things get the better he likes it.

The witty, bespectacled TV star boasts of the perfect setup for his formula in television's only non-scripted show.

Almost everything on his nightly ninety-minute network program is on an ad-lib basis, where Allen shines with a luminosity unmatched in show business.

A serious student of funny men, Allen long ago discovered that audiences get a special laugh when things seem to go wrong.

"It first happened to me," he says, "when I was called in at the last minute to emcee someone else's show. I didn't even know the format."

"Before we were off the ground I pulled three or four boners — even forgetting the name of the guest star. The audience reaction was immediate. So I just played the whole show that way and everyone said it was so good."

Now, when things seem to go amiss on his own program, as they do even on the best-planned show, he aids and abets such a contretemps.

"Analyze it and it's all very basic," he elucidates.

Firm Understudies Study To Up Home-Building Standards

By ROBERT F. MORISON

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25 — UP — The United States Savings and Loan League is undertaking a study aimed at raising home building standards.

League President Walter H. Dreier said the postwar housing shortage has been licked and the home building industry must now direct its efforts to assuring "greater security."

This is to prevent today's new homes from becoming slums in 20 to 25 years, he said. It also will protect the home owner's and lender's investment and minimize the decline in property values with the accompanying loss of tax revenue to communities.

The league has named committees to draw up standards to be followed in future lending by its 4,200 member savings and loan companies. These have about 90 per cent of the nearly $40 billion in assets of all savings and loan firms. The entire industry last year financed construction of some 435,000 new homes, or about 80 per cent of the 1.3 million built. Ten years ago, when savings and loan companies concentrated mainly on financing the purchase of existing homes, they lent money for about 16.6 per cent of the new houses built.

The studies will cover three main fields, land planning, home design and construction standards.

Locating new homes is considered "the most basic ingredient" of building. The study in this area aims to draft criteria for good neighborhood planning, the best use of lots and other phases of location.

The use of living space, changing public tastes and the effects on living habits and home design of new construction methods and new equipment for the home, particularly in the appliance field, also will be taken up.

The league will solicit advice of builders on how to improve construction standards.

League officials said the industry must "get away from the idea of the minimum house." Since World War II, when the home building industry tackled the housing shortage, emphasis has been on putting up houses to meet the basic needs of the mass market.

"There must now be a re-examination of this kind of thinking" to prevent the construction of future slums, the officials said.

Upgrading of new home construction is already under way, according to one Savings and Loan League expert. Pointing to relatively stable building costs during the past two years while the average loan made by savings and loan institutions has risen, he said this indicates a "rise in quality" of home construction.

He said the building of a great number of lower cost "minimum" homes each year, or "feeding housing into the market from the bottom," is not the answer to raising standards.

Officials conceded that the league's program will result in more expensive homes. None could estimate how much of an increase this would mean.

Once standards are agreed upon, officials said, they will be circulated to the league's members who will use them to guide their home mortgage operations. It is expected that the savings and loan firms, by forcing builders to meet higher standards, will be able to effectively upgrade the quality of construction.

Teresa Brewer Thinks Of Self As Hick From Toledo

By WILLIAM EWALD

NEW YORK — UP — Teresa Brewer, perhaps the only singer who ever hiccuped her way to fame, fortune and semi-permanent status on the Ed Sullivan show, is just a homebody at heart.

"I still think of myself as a hick from Toledo," said Tessie Wednesday. "Interviews frighten me and I don't particularly like eating in crowded, expensive restaurants. My idea of a good time is staying home with my family."

In private life the wife of building contractor Bill Monahan, the tiny squeak-voiced performer has worked out a schedule which allows her to spend most of her hours at home.

"I'll work three weeks in Las Vegas this year and one week in Philadelphia," said Miss Brewer. "I only make six records — 12 sides — each year and that's about all except for television. But I don't consider TV work. I'm right at home in it. All it means is a couple of days rehearsal."

Miss Brewer and her boop-a-doop larynx have been spotted on almost every major show with music on the nets. She has the distinction of being invited for 25 appearances on the Ed Sullivan show, a feat roughly comparable to swimming the Atlantic in a snowsuit.

She's scheduled for five more scampers with Sullivan this season, but isn't fazed by this honor at all.

Her un-ugly-like attitude toward her career can best be explained by the fact that Miss Brewer, at 24, is one of the real old pros of the business.

She began performing in her natal city, Toledo, at the age of August Kiddie Show." She was touring in a Major Bowes unit at six and before she was eligible to vote had turned out such hit platitudes as "Music, Music, Music!" and "I'll I Walk Again with You."

as people want to listen," she said. "But I also aim to raise a big family. I used to say 12 kids was what I wanted. But I'll settle for nine now. If we go any higher than that, we'll simply have to get a maid."

Fruit Market Record — BENTON HARBOR, Mich. —UP— Sales totaling $9,088,701 were made at the Benton Harbor fruit market during 1955, fourth highest total in the market's 26-year history, market officials said. The market is the largest cash-to-grower market in the world.

In today's hand, declarer has nine tricks in top cards. Possible tenth tricks are the king of diamonds, an established spade, or a diamond ruff in dummy. Instead of choosing one of these three possibilities, South should play for all three.

South wins the first trick with the king of hearts, cashes the ace of spades, and leads a low diamond. West naturally wins with the jack of diamonds and leads a second trump. This is necessary to prevent South from ruffing a diamond in the dummy.

Dummy wins with the ten of hearts, and South sees that he must give up the idea of ruffing a diamond in the dummy. Instead he ruffs a low spade with a high trump and returns to the dummy with a trump.

Now declarer can safely cash dummy's king of spades, discarding a club from his hand. If spades had broken badly, South could still be in position to lead a diamond from the dummy towards his king.

The spades break well, so South can ruff another low spade, get to dummy with the ace of clubs, and cash dummy's last spade as his tenth trick. Declarer throws his last club on this, and is now in position to lead towards the king of diamonds in the attempt to make an extra trick.

This fails, to be sure, but the game contract is already safe.

Now-Siberia, U.S.A.

Merely saying that "it can't happen here," simply isn't good enough for we have been given one demonstration after another that it CAN happen here — whether the here is Gray County, Texas, or the entire nation.

Specifically, we are talking about all of the various mental health bills that are, for some mysterious reason, being pushed down the throats of the American people from every angle.

More specifically, we are talking about House Resolution 6376 which is not something that can't happen but something that has happened. And what happened was that H. R. 6376 has won, by voice vote, the approval of the House of Representatives and is now being studied by the Senate.

The story was briefly told in an Associated Press dispatch of Jan. 18 which said:

"The House today approved by voice vote a $12,500,000 mental health program for Alaska.

"It passed and sent to the Senate a bill authorizing the federal government to give the Territory $6,500,000 for construction of a mental hospital and other facilities, and $6,000,000 over a 10-year period to provide an integrated mental health program."

That's all the news dispatch said. But there is more, much more that ought to be said about this Alaska bill.

Under the terms of the bill, a fair question to ask would be this: "Is it the purpose of H. R. 6376 to establish a concentration camp for political prisoners under the guise of care and treatment of mental cases?"

The answer based on a study of the bill, indicates that it is entirely within the realm of possibility that we may be establishing in Alaska our own version of the Siberia slave camps run by the Russian government.

And don't get the idea that, simply because this was designed for Alaska that you, right here in Gray County, couldn't be sent there.

Listen to this:

The governor of Alaska, appointed by the President of the United States, is granted under the bill power to enter into reciprocal contracts and agreements with any state which includes the 48 states, the District of Columbia and the territories and possessions. Through these agreements any state governor and the governor of Alaska may "provide for the care and treatment of mentally ill residents of Alaska by such state and for the care and treatment of mentally ill residents of such state by Alaska, each on a reimbursement basis."

And it is within the power of the governor as to where any mental patient will be hospitalized and he has the right to make transfers at any time he sees fit!

It doesn't take a giant mentality to see that under this set up it can be brought home right here to Gray County.

Under the terms of the bill it is proposed to grant one million acres of Alaska "for the hospitalization and care of the mentally ill in Alaska." One million acres is roughly a little more than 1,562 square miles. The state of Rhode Island has a land area of 1,058 square miles and a population of 791,896. Alaska's area is 586,400 square miles with a population of 128,643. The total of Alaska's mental cases over the years averages 345 patients. By comparison with Rhode Island's area and population figures you can see the possible number of buildings and persons one million acres or 1,562 square miles could contain.

A mentally ill person is defined as "an individual having a psychiatric or other disease which substantially impairs his mental health..." This is such a broad definition as to include anything from dandruff, headaches, toothaches, or fallen arches.

Commitment of the "proposed patient" (proposed defined: to nominate for membership in a group) may be in a number of ways. It may be upon the "written application of an interested party"; or it may be by "any health welfare, or police officer who has reason to believe that an individual is mentally ill." Without a written authorization he may "take the individual into custody, apply to a designated hospital for his admission and transport him thereto."

Judicial proceedings for commitment will be held under the direction of a United States Commissioner who may omit notifying the prisoner of such a hearing and said prisoner need not be present at the hearing. In fact, the Commissioner may exclude anyone from the hearing and the Commissioner need not be bound by rules of evidence.

The Commissioner may make commitment for an indeterminate period or for six months. Although the patient may communicate with persons in or out of the hospital, this privilege is at the discretion of the head of the hospital!

Originally H. R. 6376 contained Sec. 128 (a. 31) which related to punishment for wilfully conspiring to cause the unwarranted hospitalization of any individual. This Sec. 128 has been stricken from the amended bill now in the House for passage!

According to House of Representatives Report No. 1399, the mentally ill from Alaska are presently "cared for in a private sanitarium in Portland, Oregon, through a contract from the Department of Interior."

This legislation, say its opponents, will place every resident of the United States at the mercy of the whims and fancies of any person with whom they might have a disagreement, causing a charge of "mental illness" to be placed against them, with immediate deportation to Siberia, U.S.A.

"Power is in tearing human minds to pieces and putting them together again in new shapes of your own choosing." (From "1984," a novel by George Orwell.)

BETTER JOBS

By R. C. HOILES

A Union Reader's Comment On Labor Unions

I want to quote from a reader who evidently believes that labor unions can raise total real wages. That is raise real wage levels. Then I want to try to explain what I think the reader overlooks.

Since I have heard many times the similar contentions that this labor union writer has, I think it well to report them and attempt to point out things that he does not seem to see.

I know of no better way to get a better understanding of what causes real wage levels to increase than to have a free and open discussion on the subject, and since trade union labor papers and newspapers that have a closed shop will not throw their columns open to a free and open discussion of the subject, I believe I will be performing a much-needed service to frankly discuss the benefits or the lack of benefits that come from labor unions.

I have numbered the writer's statements so that I can answer them by numbers rather than repeat his statements. The reader, Mr. F. W. Broyles, Jr., writes:

"Dear Sir: 1. 'I have been following your articles recently, and I must say for a person who evidently knows nothing about labor union except hearsay, you write a pretty good article.'

2. 'I am quite sure you have never stopped to think of the many dealers, corporations and business men's associations. Of course they need all if they're to keep their business going and I have nothing whatever against them. But not being too wise on these things, I am no authority, but it seems to me the large corporations are making more money today than ever before.'

My Answers I want to point out things that I do not believe Mr. Broyles sees through.

1. I think I have a thorough understanding of labor unions since I have dealt with them and read their contracts and laws that they have been instrumental in having passed giving them special privileges and the kind of laws they advocate.

With this background, I am convinced that labor unions violate the Golden Rule and the "Love thy neighbor as thyself" Commandment.

Would Mr. Broyles contend that it would be loving thy neighbor as thyself to have the employers from an organization, as unions do, to create a monopoly and fine any employer that paid more than an agreed wage? If this would be violating the love commandment, would it not be violating the love commandment for labor unions to combine and agree to fine any worker who sold his services for less than specified by the union? Would it not be a violation of the love commandment to take away from an individual, as is the objective of all labor unions, the right to use his conscience in making an individual contract?

"Anti-Love" Act

And if labor unions violate the love commandment, is it rational to believe that they can promote love and goodwill and increase production, and thus prosperity and happiness. These things are the result of the means used, and if labor unions use the means of "anti-love" or the caste system that does not respect the equal rights of every other person and attempts to prevent jobs from being interchangeable, they produce exactly the opposite from what they profess that they can produce.

2. The reader implies that business men's associations are operated on the same basis as labor unions. But if the business men's associations attempted to do the same things that labor unions attempt to do and were successful in doing it, they would violate the Sherman Anti-Trust Law and be fined and/or put in jail for the crime. The Clayton Amendment to the Sherman Anti-Trust Law allows unions to do things that would be a crime if done by business men's associations.

Labor unions thus have been successful in getting a double standard and which violates the Golden Rule and the "Love thy neighbor as thyself" Commandment.

It is undoubtedly true that large corporations are making more money today than ever before. However, it is doubtful whether they make a higher percentage of profit on invested capital than they have in the past. And the profits they make are in confetti dollars that have much less purchasing power than the dollars had when they were redeemable in gold. And these corporations are larger with more capital invested and more widely owned by small stockholders than ever before. And these profits, no matter how large, are beneficial to every human being, provided they are made on a competitive basis without any laws that protect the owners from competition.

Profits Are Distributed

The profits have to be distributed in order to benefit the owners. The owners of profits will spend them for their own enjoyment and thus distribute them and make a demand for labor. Or they will give them away and thus distribute them. Or they will reinvest them in tools, which will have to employ labor and will have to sell the product of these tools and labor in competition with other products. Thus they make the consumer's dollar buy more, and thus they increase real wages by the competition for workers by the owners of these new tools.

If there were no sacrifice by the owners of profits or by wage pay-

Fearless Criticism In Russia

National Whirligig U.S., Reds Argue Over A-Weapon Superiority

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — The long-distance squabbling between American and Russian military experts on the two nations' supposed superiority in the development of atomic and ballistic weapons capable of mutual destruction has reached a volume and violence rarely indulged in by great powers except on the eve or "brink" of war. It has shocked the entire diplomatic community here and abroad.

Together with such acrimonious disputes as the Israeli-Arab feud in the Middle East, now aggravated by emotional reaction to the shipment of tanks to Saudi Arabia, basic relations between Washington and Moscow have degenerated to their lowest state since the Berlin airlift episode.

Quite unconsciously, two Democratic Senators — Stuart Symington of Missouri and Henry M. Jackson of Washington — precipitated the new international brawl. When they charged that the Soviet was outracing us in obtaining long-range ballistic missiles, Defense Minister Georgi Zhukov, Ike's supposed friend from World War II days, confirmed their statement. He said, in effect, that Russia could bomb Boston, New York, Philadelphia, as well as our NATO bases in Europe and the Middle East.

Assistant Defense Secretary Donald A. Quarles retorted in kind. Although we have no intermediate (1,500 miles) or intercontinental (5,000 miles) ballistic weapons yet, he said that our B-2 bombers could rain an equally devastating blow upon Moscow and other vital Russian centers.

This undiplomatic bluntness is unprecedented, even for cold war. Until recently, when the two sides discussed their difficulties, Senators and Kremlin spokesmen used such phrases as "A possible foe" or "the prospective enemy," although there was no doubt of their meaning. But now they pinpoint targets and name their weapons. This plain speaking does not mean that war is imminent, despite grave concern over Middle East tension. It means that the United States and Russia are boasting and challenging each other for the effect on their respective Allies and neutrals.

Russia aims to break down friendly nations' faith and reliance on American military, financial and industrial might, which proved decisive in two global wars. Zhukov notes specifically that a 1,500-mile bomb could destroy our forward defenses in Britain, Western Europe, North Africa, Turkey, Japan and Korea. And he adds that the Kremlin is ahead of the Pentagon in this weapon.

Quarles rebuts in an effort to reassure nations dependent upon us, and to impress the Nehru-Nasser-Tito clique of "neutrals," whom Khrushchev seems to have wooed somewhat successfully. We cannot permit them to believe that the new arsenal of weapons neutralizes our historic superiority in weapons to accumulate capital to increase tools, wage levels or total taxes could not go up. But when these profits are reinvested, real total wages are bound to go up because production goes up. I will continue the letter in the next issue.

Down South Is Surplus Give-Away A Charitable Act?

By Thurman Sensing

Quite often one hears a coming along the following line. "The United States has billions of dollars worth of food products — butter and cheese and milk and corn and wheat — in storage and does not know what to do with it. Storage is costing a million dollars a day and some of it is spoiling. At the same time there are millions of hungry people in other parts of the world, some of them even starving. Why not give the food to these people and thus do two things at once — render a great humanitarian service and at the same time get rid of an embarrassing agricultural surplus problem?"

On the surface, this does sound like a humanitarian suggestion. But let's look under the surface a moment. What would actually happen if this were done?

If we gave the food away, that might be an immediate charitable act — though there could be plenty of argument on this point — but the fact we must face is that it would not get rid of the surplus. Under our system of agricultural price supports — and we shall never get rid of this problem until we get rid of the supports — Uncle Sam would continue to have a surplus of farm products. What we are prone to overlook is the fact that these products are now raised for the support prices, not for the market. In other words, it makes no difference whether there is a demand on the part of the public, the particular commodities in question will continue to be produced anyway in order to get the prices guaranteed by the government.

This would simply mean, therefore, that we would continue — supposedly forever — to have a surplus of food supplies. If we continue to solve the problem in the same way suggested above, we would continue to feed — supposedly forever — the hungry people of the world. If we continue to feed the hungry people, we would lose all incentive to produce any food for themselves. Or, in those countries where they do produce it, they would find no export market because we are giving it away. In fact, if we are going to give it to whoever is hungry, why should any people produce food for themselves; why not get it from us?

All of which simply proves how a government can get entangled in its own web when it starts meddling with natural laws when it starts a system of subsidies and does that it finds trouble in stopping. The best way to get out of a mess like this is to clean it up altogether, not provide for its continuance. Given serious reflection, it becomes very clear that any suggestion to give away our food commodity surplus is not a humanitarian impulse at all — it is simply a foolish attempt to perpetuate a fallacious practice. It would help neither the giver nor the recipient.

The following paragraph is from an editorial in the January 26th issue of the Daily Worker, the voice of communism in this country:

"The real roadblock to legislation advancing the interests of working men in general and Negroes in particular, is represented by the Congressional alliance of GOP-reactionaries and the Dixiecrats. It will require the united efforts of the combined groups pledged to support civil rights to overcome this roadblock. There can be no victory against reaction if one or another part of the pro-civil rights alliance breaks ranks and concedes defeat every time the Dixiecrats hyena howls."

The South should be proud of its enemies. If any proof were needed, this one statement would confirm what is generally known to all thoughtful people in this country — that it has been the alliance of conservatives in the South with those of like mind in other parts of the nation that has saved us from communism, or to say the least socialism, which is only a half-way step to Communism. Those few Southern Congressmen who have refused to have a part in this alliance must realize the company they keep!

statement for its gross falsification of the record, and points out that under a charge of insubordination he was entitled to a military trial. This, he says, was denied him for the reason that Truman, Acheson, Marshall, et al., did not dare to have the full record made public. Gen. MacArthur further charges that his military plans for the Korean campaign, transmitted daily to Washington, were relayed by a spy ring operating in our capital and were speedily made known to Red China.

The two traitors in the British Embassy, MacLean and Burgess, had access to much, if not all, of this military information. As a result of their part in a Soviet spy network, which probably included Harry Dexter White, it is likely that Gen. MacArthur's intentions were known to the Communists well in advance of the Red Chinese attack.

It may be recalled that at about the same time former President Truman was publicly thanking Harry Dexter White for his fine service to the Treasury Department, although the FBI had supplied Mr. Truman with damning evidence of White's Communist and espionage activities.

No one has ever implied that Mr. Truman was at any time what he now says Vice President Nixon called him. (The record shows that Nixon never reflected on Mr. Truman's patriotism and loyalty.) But it is abundantly clear from the record of the White case, the Hiss case, the Fuchs case, and the famous Truman "red herring" statement, that the man from Missouri was often blinded by his prejudices and his hatreds to the point where he would clasp traitors to his bosom rather than believe any word from Gen. MacArthur or J. Edgar Hoover.

Some day the whole truth about the Truman Administration's conduct of the Korean War, and the disgraceful dismissal of Gen. MacArthur, will come to light — as it might have done some years ago if Mr. Truman had dared then to charge Gen. MacArthur with insubordination. It is coming out piecemeal now, a little at a time, and it is already a pretty damning story which definitely implicates the British traitors, Burgess and MacLean.

BARBARA EVANS
... college beauty

White Deer Girl Is College Beauty

Miss Barbara Evans of White Deer has been chosen for the second year as one of the top three beauties at Wayland College, where she is a sophomore.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Evans, White Deer.

Miss Evans also placed among the top beauties last session and was featured in the 1955 Traveler college yearbook, as she will be again this year.

Science To Study 'Normal' People

By DELOS SMITH

NEW YORK—UP—An official of the New York Academy of Medicine has directed the attention of the mental health movement to "the so-called normals" in the population which, he said, make up the "vastly greater portion."

"The trouble with many of them," he said, "is they think life should always run smoothly and they will 'live happily forever after,'" said Dr. Ingo Galdston, who is a psychiatrist and secretary of one of America's most renowned medical organizations.

Speaking as one normal to other normals, he pointed to the dangers of such expectations. "When things do go wrong, we are astonished, bewildered and hurt," he said. "We are prone to feel that life has been unfair to us."

"But the crucial trouble is not with life but rather with us, in that we think only the mentally ill have problems. In fact, however, all of us do. Normal people have normal problems in normal experience."

His communication was to a technical journal of the National Association for Mental Health and it acknowledged that the mental health movement had been concerned with "mental health as with mental illness."

Nevertheless, the results of its "valiant efforts have not been great" because "most of us seem to operate in the belief that when you are sick something should be done about it, and quickly, too. But when you're normal, why that's all there is to it."

"The 'trials of normalcy' begin at birth since 'being born is a trying job, no less for the infant than for his mother in labor.'" And what happens thereafter "cannot be pictured as a smooth line of progression, following a wave line pattern. Actually it is full of reversals, contradictions, and diversions. It is zig-zag rather than smooth."

Perryton Man Is Wreck Victim

LIBERAL, Kan. —UP— Three persons were killed and three injured when two drivers, noticing they were going to collide, took to the ditch at the same time and crashed anyway.

The accident happened Friday seven miles south of Liberal on highway 88. The scene was about two miles inside the Oklahoma line on the road to Turpin, Okla.

Killed were Carl White, 20, Liberal; William Claude Tennessee, 87, Perryton, Tex., and Elvis Allen Flesner, 36, Liberal.

Injured and hospitalized here were Jack Voorhees, 30, Perryton, Tex., Walter Scott, 18, Baker, Okla., and Lesley Robert Teeters, 30, Ulysses, Kan.

Freed in Traffic Death
HAMILTON, Tex. —UP— Joe M. Wallace, 30, was free of charges Wednesday in the traffic death of Raymond F. Webster, 20, of Goldthwaite. A district court jury acquitted Wallace Tuesday of charges of murder without malice. The state had contended Wallace, a Pottsville farm hand, was drunk when his truck and Webster's car collided last Oct. 20.
