FRENCH OFFICIALS BELIEVE POLES ARE OUT GREAT DANGER

MILITARY SUCCESSES FOR WEEK WILL SAVE WHOLE OF POLAND.

FIGHT CONTINUES ON GREAT BATTLE FRONT

Poles May Attempt Gigantic Counter Move To Enmesh Red Army.

PARIS, August 21.—Liberation of Poland is assured by the great victory last week over the Russian forces, according to general opinion in French military circles, but there is doubt that it will yield more important results. The bolshevik army probably will escape total destruction, altho its retreat is entailing very heavy losses.

In following up this success, it will be logical for the Poles after crossing the Bug river to march northward toward Bialystok and Grodno, thus making the retreat of the soviet army impossible. Such an operation, to succeed, would have to be executed with great rapidity and with clock-like regularity, it is declared, and the Polish organization after its long retreat and the hard fighting of the past week can hardly be in a position to make such an effort.

Continue Advance.

LONDON, August 21.—Heavy fighting continues north and northeast of Warsaw, near Plonsk and Ciechanow, according to a bolshevik official statement issued yesterday in Warsaw and received here by wireless. Further to the northeast the soviet and Polish armies are engaged near Wyskow and Stanislawow, while in the region of Brest-Litovsk fighting is proceeding along the line of the western branch of the Bug river.

Near Lemberg, the statement says, the bolshevik are developing their advance after occupying the village of Gliniany, and have advanced to a line of villages south and southeast of Lemberg. In the Tarnapol region, eastern Galicia, soviet forces have crossed the Strina river and have advanced in a westerly direction, it is declared.

In the Crimean sector the bolshevik have occupied the village of Vasilyevka after fierce fighting, during which they captured an armored train and its auxiliaries. Further east anti-bolshevik forces have landed near the outskirts of Aktyrakala, on the sea of Azov. But the soviet troops have been dispatched to the front and have engaged in an attempt to expel the landing forces. The fighting there is said to continue.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Aug. 18.—Soviet Russia has concluded an agreement with Armenia by which the provinces of Karabagh and Zangsourg, in southern Armenia, will be neutralized. Entente circles here are alarmed regarding this convention, which they believe is equivalent to permission by Armenia for the bolshevik to cross the country from Baku into Anatolia, where the soviet forces can join those led by Mustapha Kemal Pasha, leader of the Turkish nationalists.

Six Divisions Surrounded

PARIS, Aug. 21.—Six bolshevik divisions, consisting of from 30,000 to 40,000, are surrounded by Polish forces between Siedlc and Brest-Litovsk, according to press dispatches received here today.

15,000 Prisoners

WARSAW, Aug. 21.—The Poles have captured 15,000 soviet prisoners up to Thursday, it was announced here today.

EARN, SAVE AND INVEST CAMPAIGN ENDORSED BY SUPERINTENDENT CLARK

"The government's 'earn, save and invest' campaign has the hearty approval of the school authorities of the Eleventh federal reserve district," said Lee Clark, superintendent of Wichita Falls city schools, who attended the conference for teaching thrift in the public schools in Dallas on August 17. "The plans discussed with Director Hume and his assistant, Peytop Irving, are well formulated and designed to meet the needs of teachers who wish to encourage earning, saving and wise investment among pupils, but who may need concrete facts and information before they can put the campaign over among their own pupils.

"The unanimity of opinion of those attending the conference, representing Oklahoma, Louisiana and Texas, was something remarkable; which was probably best voiced by a member who declared the teaching of thrift in schools no longer a debatable question, saying it is the most important plank in any school platform, and that only thrifty nations and races have survived. The moral is certain; America must be a thrifty nation if it is to survive, and the schools are the agency through which that end must be attained. Thrift stamps, war savings stamps and registered treasury certificates are proposed as the safest and most convenient for savings investment."

TENNESSEE SOLONS GO TO ALA.; HOUSE WITHOUT A QUORUM

THIRTY MEMBERS TAKE FRENCH LEAVE OF LEGISLATIVE HALLS.

WALKER ORDERS ARREST OF ALL ABSENT MEMBERS

Decatur, Ala., Is Host To Thirty Legislators Of Tennessee Who Arrived This A. M.

NASHVILLE, TENN., Aug. 21.—Chancellor James B. Newman today issued a writ of injunction temporarily restraining Governor Roberts, Secretary of State Stevens and the speakers of the Tennessee senate and house from certifying to Secretary of State Colby Tennessee's ratification of the woman suffrage amendment.

Papers were served on Governor Roberts immediately but so far as known service had not taken place on the secretary of state and the two speakers.

NASHVILLE, TENN., Aug. 21.—A meeting of the Tennessee house to clinch ratification of the federal suffrage amendment was blocked by anti-suffrage members, thirty of whom left Nashville last midnight for Alabama so as to make impossible a quorum at the session which was to have opened at 10 a. m.

Only fifty-nine members, seven less than a quorum, answered to their names when Speaker Walker called the house to order half an hour after the regular meeting time. The speaker declared the house in recess for one hour to give the sergeant-at-arms time to round up absentees. Since thirty of the absent members were reported at Decatur, Ala., however, there seemed little prospect that a quorum could be had.

NASHVILLE, TENN., Aug. 21.—The lower house of the Tennessee legislature could hold no session today for lack of a quorum, only 59 members answering roll call. Sixty-six members constitute a quorum.

Speaker Walker directed the sergeant-at-arms to arrest and bring before the bar of the house all absent members.

The speaker declared the house in recess for one hour to give the sergeant-at-arms time to round up the absentees.

Alabama Bound.

DECATUR, ALA., Aug. 21.—Twenty-five members of the Tennessee house, which was to take final action upon the federal suffrage amendment today, arrived here early this morning on the Louisville and Nashville train from Nashville.

Missing from Hotel.

NASHVILLE, TENN., Aug. 21.—More than 30 members of the Tennessee house opposed to suffrage were missing from their hotels early today and were reported to have left here shortly after midnight for Alabama in an effort to break a quorum of the house and delay final action on the woman suffrage amendment.

Leaders of the suffrage forces said it was almost certain there would be no quorum at 10:00 o'clock this morning when the house was scheduled to meet.

At 10:15 o'clock, a quarter of an hour after the house was due to meet few members other than the suffragists were in their seats, and lack of a quorum appeared certain.

As the house met the suffragists moved that the roll call be suspended. The speaker, however, ordered that the clerk call the roll.

Gone to Decatur.

BIRMINGHAM, ALA., Aug. 21.—Thirty members of the Tennessee house have gone to Decatur, Ala., according to the conductor of a Louisville train which arrived here at 9:30 a. m. today.

BURKBURNETT KATY BRIDGE THREATENED

Train of Oil Cars Used For Protection Have Been Removed From The Bridge.

Heavy rainfall of Friday night and Saturday morning has sent the receding waters of the various rivers back to the same height of the crest of two days ago and damages at various points have been reported.

According to the chief dispatcher of the Missouri, Kansas & Texas the Red river is impassible. The train of oil cars which had been placed on the bridge for protection had to be removed as it was feared that the bridge would be swept away. In view of this fact service on this road, north, has been impaired seriously.

The same road announces that a washout on the road near the 99 mile post is also hindering traffic to a great extent. Heavy rainfalls were had all the way north as far as Elk City.

The chief dispatcher of the Fort Worth & Denver states that they have experienced no damage Saturday. He announced that they were handling trains for the Frisco lines as this road had a washout somewhere between Coman and Chillicothe.

PAVING IMPROVEMENTS ON COLLINS ABANDONED

The paving project which was started on Collins street between Marshall and Bridwell has been discontinued because of the failure of a number of the property owners of the street to pay the cost of the paving. Reports from the city clerk's office were to the effect that a very small per cent of the amount necessary to complete the work had been received and that unless those citizens residing on Collins, or owning property on the street, file checks to cover the cost of the paving, it will be dropped. This delay is also holding up the paving of Filmore street from Tenth, south. Contractors have moved their equipment and are now preparing to begin work on Denver, Eighth and Rose.

MARATHON RACE MAY BE ABOLISHED FROM FUTURE OLYMPIADS

Present Classic Now In Last Stages And Americans Have Comfortable Lead.

By Associated Press.

ANTWERP, Aug. 21.—Timlos of Finland won the fihal in the hop, step and jump event of the Olympic games here today, with 14.5 meters. Jannsson of Sweden was second with 14.48 meters, Almlof of Sweden third with 14.27 meters, Sahling of Sweden fourth with 14.175; Sherman G. Landers, Chicago A. A., fifth with 14.10, and Dan Ahearn, holder of the world's record in the event, sixth with 14.08.

A determined movement has been begun among various national Olympic committees to abolish the Marathon race as the feature of further Olympiads. It is claimed this race is not humane and a petition to this effect will be presented to the international committee tonight. Sponsors for the movement would substitute a 25,000 meter (about 15 miles) race.

Arrangements have been completed for the Marathon classic which will be run off tomorrow. Members of the Belgian Olympic committee sought to secure a change in the rules so as to permit runners to secure refreshments, such as light soup, during the great ordeal, but the committee has ruled that the men will be permitted to receive only water.

The route will be guarded by 500 Belgian soldiers and will be closed to all but official motor cars during the race.

The Olympiad has entered its last stages, for after the finals today in the 3,000 meter walk, the hop, step and jump and throwing the 56 pound weight and the finish of the decathlon, only five more stadium events and the Marathon remain to be contested.

The American athletes have already amassed a great lead in points scored and seemed certain to maintain their lead to the end.

The American fencing team today beat England eight victories to seven in the dueling sword contest, but was beaten by France, 12 to 2. In a training match in water polo, the Brazilian team defeated the Greeks 3 to 2.

U. S. INVESTIGATES REPORT OF RUSSO-GERMAN PACT

By A. L. BRADFORD,
United Press Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—The United States government is gathering circumstantial evidence of an alliance or understanding, between Germany and soviet Russia, it was learned today.

While Washington has no proof of such an alliance, additional reports indicating its existence have been received, it was stated officially. However, the strictest secrecy is observed as to the nature of these reports.

The government is quietly conducting a searching investigation to determine whether an alliance exists between the two countries. It is probable that if there is found to be a Russo-German pact to the prejudice of Poland or the allies, the fact will be made public, as in the case of the famous Zimmerman note.

Mr. Poole said that "if consumers will begin now to buy as little sugar as they can get along with, we will have 10-cent or 11-cent sugar by January 1 as there is no shortage."

DOCS ARE AFTER GOAT DOCTORS LITTLE GOAT

CHICAGO, Aug. 21.—Medical authorities, following the case of Dr. J. R. Brinkley of Milford, Kan., who is daily being beseeched by applicants for operation by "transplanting of Toggenburg goat glands as a restorer of youth and vitality," today discussed an inquiry into the doctors' licensed record.

Dr. F. H. Shepardson, head of the Illinois department of registration and education, said that search of the state records had failed to disclose that Dr. Brinkley was the holder of an Illinois state license to practice medicine.

The doctor has recently, according to his claims, performed several operations in Chicago hospitals. He sprang into public notice in Milford in February as the man who had "lifted from womanhood the curse of sterility."

HAYS DECLARES COX DOMINATED BY PRES. WILSON AND BOSSES

NATIONAL CHAIRMAN OPENS REPUBLISAN CAMPAIGN IN MAINE.

DENIES MILLION GONE INTO G. O. P. TREASURY

Admits, However, a Slush Fund Of $30,000,000 Is Necessary To Wage Party Fight.

AUGUSTA, MAINE, August 21.—Will H. Hays, chairman of the republican national committee, today opened his party's campaign in this state for election of members of congress with a speech in which he asserted that Governor Cox was dominated by President Wilson and four unnamed "bosses."

The democratic candidate appeals to both the Wilson and the anti-Wilson factions of his party, declared Mr. Hays. "To the former he holds forth the president's platform. To the latter he exhibits himself as an advocate of complete change in administration. He offers to the country for foreign use the Wilson covenant and for domestic service Tammany Hall—truly a marvelous combination of impotence and ill repute."

Mr. Hays devoted much of his speech to discussion of the campaign funds, denying vigorously that the republican party planned to expend excessive sums to elect Senator Harding and Governor Coolidge.

Also denying that millions had "gone into the republican treasury," from "certain interests banded together to buy the presidency,"—a statement which he credited to Governor Cox—Mr. Hays declared that this amounted to a charge of conspiracy to betray the country.

Republican Fund.

Referring to the republican plan to limit individual campaign contribution to $1,000, Mr. Hays said:

"If this attempt fails to produce the requisite sums, we shall so state publicly, increase the maximum and seek additional contributions."

Declaring that the party needed about $20,000,000, Mr. Hays said that no criticisms of the democrats for seeking the largest obtainable contributions would be offered. "Nor shall we, in resentful emulation of the positive charges of the democratic candidates, so much as intimate that their responsible officers will use any of their funds corruptly," he said. "Frankly and squarely, as between mutual respecting acitizens we don't believe they will, or would if they could."

"But I give fair warning now that neither the republican candidates nor the republican management will take false aspersions lying down. If, at the decision of our adversaries, this campaign shall finally resolve into a question of personal characters, we know of no reason, aside from natural distaste, why we should not meet that issue as readily as any other."

After announcing that the republican party had probably never before enjoyed such complete fnanimity of acceptance and approval, after a presidential nomination, Mr. Hays accused the democrats of indecision in selecting an issue about which to rally.

Democrat Leader.

"It is for their new leader, not zigzag going back and forth from the sinster blight of the solos of the democratic party to the figurative presence of its quartet of bosses, to make his selection," he said.

Of republican willingness to meet their adversaries or whatever ground they choose, Mr. Hays said:

"When they concentrated upon the league covenant without the dotting of an 'I' or the crossing of a 'T,' we met them squarely.

"When, through their national chairman, fresh from a conference with their candidate, they pronounced the covenant only a 'secondary issue,' after all we acquiesced. When the candidates reserved their national chairman and declared the Wilson league the sole issue, we accepted most readily. Where next they will land is wholly conjectural."

The ultimate choice of the democratic party is a matter of indifference to the republicans, Mr. Hays declared, adding:

"Our sole requirement is that there shall be no restrictions. This referendum is going to be more than solemn. Before ended it will have comprised every phase of mal-administration and every fleck of Wilsonitis that have brought untold miseries to a people who have every right to be prosperous and contented."

COX FLAYS HARDING ON DEFENSE OF THE SENATE OLIGARCHY

REPUBLICANS HAVE EVADED THE GREAT ISSUES OF PRESIDENTIAL CAMPAIGN.

SENATORIAL OLIGARCHY ALIGNED WITH BIG INTERESTS

Group of Senators Are Attempting To Annex The Duties Of The President, Cox Declares.

CHRVILLE, O., Aug. 21.—Another spirited attack on the senate oligarchy was made here today by Governor Cox in an address replying to that delivered recently by Senator Harding, his republican opponent, in which Mr. Harding commended the senate as a forum of popular government.

"The republican candidate," said Governor Cox, "has devoted a front porch session to the defense of the United States senate, which with characteristic reactionary isolation from the current of public thought he fails to distinguish between the United States senate as an institution and the list of United States senators who have taken charge of an important part of the government.

"It is our contention that a group of men have formed a domineering, arrogant, oligarchy in the senate and that they have deliberately interferred with the welfare of the world, delayed readjustment in this country, all to the distinct injury and disadvantage of the people."

That the republican senate group was trying to "annex the presidency" also was asserted by Governor Cox, who stopped here today en route to Canton, Ohio, where he was to speak again tonight at a "Cox Day" celebration.

Continuing his attack upon republican campaign contributions, Governor Cox also charged that "the greedy interests which are making the contributions have been in notorious consort with the senatorial oligarchy."

In attacking the senate leaders, Governor Cox also again stressed the necessity for the League of Nations, reiterating and expanding arguments in its support.

Defended Senate.

Senator Harding in his address defending the senate, Governor Cox declared, "stripped his discussions of the personal equation and elaborated on the wisdom of the fathers in creating two parts of the legislative branch of government, the senate and the house."

The people, Governor Cox predicted, would "resent the attempt now being made to turn the senate and the presidency into a single unit."

"If presidential responsibility is to be shared, it will be with the councillors of the leaders," said Governor Cox. "He owes his nomination to them. His gratitude is naturally to them. There is scarcely a day that some member of the group is not in conference with him. The public prints announced not 48 hours ago that a part of the oligarchy had visited Marion and had discussed with the presidential candidate the subject matters which would be treated in front porch speeches of the next two or three weeks.

"The relation between the president and congress should be cordial and co-operative, but independence should be supreme.

"The man in the streets looks with great misgivings on the whole chain of circumstances that has developed since the early hours of the morning when the choice of the republican leaders was made in the hotel and not in the convention hall at Chicago.

"Not the least disquieting phase of the situation is the unblushing continuance of the gathering together of millions of dollars for campaign purposes. This is not only offensive to public sensibilities, but the people know perfectly well that the greedy interests which are making the contributions have been in notorious consort with the senatorial oligarchy which is now attempting to gather unto itself the power of that law making branch and the presidency as well."

Senate Functions.

Governor Cox emphasized that he was not criticizing the constitution, but "the group of men attempting to distort" the senate's functions. The term "plural government," Governor Cox said, has become a reactionary slogan.

"It was never the intention of the men who wrote the constitution that a dominating group in the senate should obstruct the treaty making agencies of government on conscientious pretext while moved by the hidden purpose of promoting party advantage," he continued. "It was never intended that the senate should have any control over the president except to share with him by its power of confirmation, responsibility for efficient public service. This, of course, is in addition to its authority in the ratification of treaties.

"The three branches of government were intended to be separate and distinct—certainly nothing could be more clearly subversive of that arrangement than the carefully thought out plan of having the leaders of the senate dominate a political convention and make the choice of the party for the presidency."

The very argument which Senator Harding advances in support of the senatorial individuality, certainly holds with equal logic to the preservation of executive individuality. Not only will the people at all times regard any departure from this principle as dangerous, but they resent the attempt now being made to turn the senate and president into a single unit of government."

Jim Sewell jumped up from Dallas yesterday and remained in our fair city just long enough to get the Spudders started on the right path again. He did not recover from his hurried trip until after the opening chapter, but after that there was nothing to it. He spotted the Buffs three counters in the first and then held them safe while his mates drubbed a pair of Buff twirlers for eight scores. Jim's wife is very sick in Dallas and he left to go to her bedside again after the game.

But Jim's pitching was not the feature of yesterday's pastime. Johnny Mokan, highly elated over his chance to hop into the big show, proceeded to show the Pirate moguls that they had not made a poor purchase. The outfielders did not have a chance to grab a fly ball until the seventh and during the course of the afternoon Johnny was the only man in the gardens to make a put out, but he made three beauts. His first started the prettiest play ever seen at Athletic Park, and three Buffs were the victims of the stab.

Rust and Menze were perched on second and first, respectively, in the first of the seventh when Johnny Baggan drove one on a line in the general direction of left field. There wasn't a soul in the park who thought that there was a possible chance of the ball being caught, but Johnny came in like a streak of lightning and speared the pill about six inches from the ground with his gloved hand. Before he regained his balance he made a pretty peg to Clark, who stepped on the bag, disposing of Rust, and Danny in turn hurled the apple to Schliebner a fraction of a second ahead of Menze. The three men were retired in less time than it takes to tell about it.

There were those in the stands who probably said (to themselves, at least) "horseshoes," but Johnny showed them that it was no fluke when Ens came to bat in the next round. Jewel pasted one to left very similar to Baggan's, and Johnny duplicated his performance of the previous round, running in at full speed and speared the pellet with his gloved hand.

He then rounded out a perfect day in the ninth? He sent Patterson back to the bench after running into foul territory after his fly and then helped to make the final putout of the day by making a perfect peg to Kitchens, nipping Rust who was trying to score from second on a single. It was Johnny's day through and through.

As for the game itself, the Buffs were pickin's for the Spudders yesterday. Keck started on the mound for the visitors but had nothing but a prayer and a glove. He lasted until one man had been retired in the third and then gave way to Matteson. Matteson showed the effects of his previous day's work and could not stand the strain. He was derricked at the end of the fourth after six runs had been scored off him. Menze wound up the day and kept the Salmites away from the plate during the other four innings.

The Spudders resumed their old form at the bat and whaled the three twirlers for a dozen safeties, including a pair of doubles. They crowded most of their hits into two innings, the third and fourth, when they made all their runs.

The visitors landed on Sewell in the opening round and before the fans were fairly settled in their seats the tribe of Ens had gathered a trio of markers. It happened thusly: Baggan stopped one with his back and ambled to first. Ens singled through Grubb and both men counted when Leslie pasted a double to the left field fence. Stellbauer popped a fly in the direction of the club house that Schliebner got under after a hard run and Leslie took third after the catch. McDonald went out swinging, but Doyle drew a comp. Leslie and Doyle started a double steal and the former crossed the plate when Clark dropped an easy peg from Kitchens. Patterson whiffed.

Sewell then went along smoothly for the rest of the game, being in danger only once in the seventh after he had let up owing to the five-run lead he possessed. Mokan, however, was taking no chances as he remembered how the Spudders had lost three games in the closing chapters and he pulled Jim out of the hole.

Keck's underhanded cross fire was no mystery to the Spudders in the third and they sent him back to the bench. After Kitchens had lined to Patterson, Keck could not find home plate to save his life and passed Sewell and Josefson on eight wide ones in succession. He finally succeeded in sending one down the alley for Grubb and Harvey slammed it on a line to right, scoring Sewell and putting Jo on third. Miller dumped one down in front of the plate that Keck could not pick up, though Jake had the ball beaten, and Jo tallied. Exit Keck, enter Matteson.

Matteson had the Spudders up in the air Thursday, but he was all wet yesterday. He immediately proceeded to turn the corners by passing Mokan. Clark hit to Patterson, forcing Grubb at the plate, and then Schliebner drew a pass, forcing in the tying run. With bases still loaded, McElwee waited until he received one to his liking and then he socked it to right center for a couple of bags, scoring Mokan and Clark. Matteson had all the respect in the world for Kitchens and he gave him a ticket to first, preferring to work on Sewell. His deductions were correct as Jim watched the third strike go by.

The local outfit kept right after Matteson in the next round and pushed three more across. Jo beat out a hit to Patterson by a heart beat. Grubb advanced him with a pretty sacrifice and he went to third on a short passed ball. Dolpie juggled Miller's bounder long enough to allow Joe to score, but he got Jake at first. Mokan was hit in the shoulder by a pitched ball and romped all the way home from first on Clark's long two-ply wallop to left center. Danny counted on Schliebner's paste to left. McElwee followed with another safe drive to right but Kitchens fanned.

Menze took up the pitching burden in the next canto and managed to keep his opponents away from the plate although they got on in every inning except the last.

Baggan led off with a double for the visitors in the fifth but remained anchored at second while the next three men were retired. Sewell started the seventh by passing Rust and hitting Menze, but Mokan put the brakes on in this round. A double by Leslie with one down in the eighth gave the visitors a ray of hope, but it soon died when the next two men were retired. Rust doubled to right with two down in the ninth but was nipped at the plate by Mokan's perfect peg on Menze's single to left.

EDGAR AND HUTCHINSON MEET IN FINALS TO DECIDE PRO CHAMPIONSHIP

CHICAGO, August 21.—J. Douglas Edgar of Atlanta, Canadian open champion and one of the four runners-up for the national open title, met today at Flossmor in the finals to decide the professional golfers' championship.

Each has played three of the five rounds in 71, Edgar's game being notably steady. He defeated George McLean of Great Neck, N. Y., yesterday, 8 and 7. Harry Hampton of Richmond, Va., was Hutchinson's opponent yesterday and lost, 4 to 3.

ELGIN RACE POSTPONED A WEEK ON ACCOUNT OF RAIN

ELGIN, ILL., August 21.—The Elgin national road race, scheduled to start at 12 o'clock this afternoon, has been postponed for one week on account of rain.

Officials announced that the rain of last night and this morning had so flooded the course that a start would be impossible even should the weather clear up by noon.

The same hours will be in effect next Saturday, August 28, as had been scheduled for today.

Major League Bits

Yesterday's hero: Page Babe Ruth. Joe Jackson made two homers yesterday, one in each of the two games in which the White Sox beat the Athletics.

The Cubs beat the Giants, 5 to 1.

Betts permitted the Pirates only two hits after the second inning and Philadelphia won, 4 to 2.

Goodwin took the mound for St. Louis when Doak was hit and forced out of the game. He held Boston to six hits in seven innings and the Cards won 6 to 4.

Cincinnati made 19 hits count for 10 runs, winning from Brooklyn, 10 to 5.

Sport Shots

By Paul W. Larkin

At the beginning of this season the Yanks could have had Chief Bender for $2,500. Now they can't get him for $25,000, though they have offered that amount for him. The Big Indian has been letting his eastern league opponents down with one, two and three hits with great regularity this season. He turned in a no hit, no run game Thursday.

Paul Sentell has picked an all-Texas league team for the benefit of Times readers and his selection will be published tomorrow. A more capable man for the difficult task could not have been selected as Paul has seen all the men work under all kinds of conditions.

The Olympic games at Antwerp this year were disappointing in more ways than one. The attendance figures were very low, owing to the inclement weather, and there has not been nearly as much enthusiasm displayed as there was in former years. Injuries kept several stars out of the running and Americans amassed such an early lead that the games were not even close. The Swedish coach who said that "the Americans left a better team at home than could be put on the field in Europe," spoke volumes.

If Walter Salm will only tell a few of his other charges that they are going up, maybe they'll pull themselves together and duplicate Johnny Mokan's feats of yesterday.

The peer of left gardeners showed his right to that title yesterday. Tris Speaker in all his glory couldn't have shown more than Johnny did. Just three fly balls were hit to the outfield and Johnny gobbled them all; then, just by way of adding a little color to the day's performance he threw a man out at the plate for the final out.

Many fans saw a triple play pulled for the first time yesterday and it will be many moons before they see another. A cleaner wholesale killing has never been made. It was a case of zip, zip, zip from the second the ball left Baggan's bat. An inaccurate throw by either Mokan or Clark would have spilled the beans.

Jim Sewell deserves a world of credit for coming to Salm's rescue the way he did. Jim's wife is very low in Dallast and he left her beside long enough to pitch one game only. He hopped right back home last night. Though he must have been under a strain in the box, he never showed it after the first canto, and had the Buffs eating out of his hand for eight chapters.

In the face of all the reports that he was suffering a nervous breakdown, CarlMays comes forth with the statement that his illness was nothing more than a headache and that he would pitch today's game against the Tigers.

The Tigers have stated that they would not bat against Mays in the future. This series will tell the tale. In our estimation, they were getting a bunch of hot air out of their system.

WHITE SOX AND REDS ONLY TWO TEAMS TO BETTER THEMSELVES

CHICAGO, Aug. 21.—The Chicago White Sox and the Cincinnati Reds were the only major league pennant contenders to better themselves yesterday.

The White Sox twice crushed the Athletics, thereby crowding themselves into a virtual tie with Cleveland for first place. The Sox have won two more games than Cleveland, but they have lost two more and the percentage still favors the Indians. The New York Yanks are an eyelash to the rear of the Sox.

The final weeks of the American league race will see the offensive strength of the Yanks pitted against the speed and clever defense of the White Sox and the even balance of the Cleveland outfit. The three teams represent three styles of play.

Cincinnati threw more dust in the eyes of Brooklyn by defeating them 10 to 3. At the same time Chicago beat back the Giants, leaving little change in the standings of the national league.

In the American league, the Yanks expect to prosper at the expense of Detroit, the White Sox tackling Washington and Cleveland playing Boston.

DALE IN GREAT FORM AS MARINES BEAT PIRATES

MAYS WILL START AGAINST TIGERS IF HE FEELS EQUAL TO OCCASION--HUGGINS

NEW YORK, August 21.—Manager Miller Huggins of the New York Americans, said today that Carl Mays, pitcher, would be used in the series with Detroit, opening here this afternoon, "provided he feels equal to attempting any baseball within the next few days." Mays was reported yesterday to be suffering a nervous breakdown following the accident here last Monday when he threw the ball that fatally injured Ray Chapman, Cleveland shortstop.

Citizens of Wichita Falls

Never in my history as a photoplay exhibitor have I had the pleasure of offering to the public a screen production as genuinely pleasing as "THE LAW OF THE YUKON" which is now showing at the Olympic. Never have I heard as many complimentary remarks as made by the hundreds who visited this theatre yesterday.

If the reputation of the Olympic theatre was given completely over to quality of "The Law of the Yukon" I would consider it perfectly safe.

SOME INSIDE INFORMATION.

George Creel ,who was head of the American publicity bureau during the war, is contributing some inside information on the peace conference details, highly interesting belated though they are. He confirms the belief, long held on this sidd of the water, that the one unselfish major figure in the conference was that of President Wilson, and he relates how the others undertook to delay the opening of negotiations as long as possible, to the end that the reaction from the world's altruism that reached its zenith just after the armistice might come to the aid of selfishness in the conference. Relating these cleverly contrived delays, he writes:

"It was explained that Lloyd-George was fighting for his political life in the English elections, that Orlando and the Italians were not ready, that France could not bear to let him commence serious conversations until he had received her full tribute—and seen the devastated area; that there were also the plans that had been arranged for his visits to England, Italy and Belgium. The statesmen knew well that had the conference convened upon the President's arrival, it would have been suicide to resist a single Wilson proposition, for the peoples of the allied countries were still in the grip of a great joy, a great gratitude and a great faith. In equal degree these wise old men knew that it would be a matter only of weeks before these very people, going back to their ruined homes and desolate lives, would be thinking in terms of victories and indemnities."

The President reached Paris early in December. It was not until January 12 that the first session of the conference opened, and that it met then, Mr. Creel avers, was that "his very evident indignation forced an end to the deliberate dawdling. The forces swaying the leading figures in the conference the writer portrays tellingly—the anger of self-interest by which they were largely imbued, the ferocity of Clemenceau who sought above all things security for France; the cold calculatingness of Sonnino, who was the influence behind Orlando; the opportunism of Lloyd-George. All these were helped by the partisan action of republican senators at home, who were doing all in their power to discredit the President and whose utterances were published as propaganda in the French papers further to weaken the President's influence in Europe. Of this deplorable feature, Creel goes on to say:

"That no sympathy went out to the President is either a compliment to the strength of the man or else a bitter commentary upon the fair play of America, for his position was pitiable and desperate. Instead of the support from the people whose declared ideals he championed, there came only the steady shrilling of the senate, vile in its abuse, treacherous in its desertion of war-aims, enthusiastic in its encouragement of every attack upon the President and his principles. Facing him were men who jeered him in their souls and whose minds were set upon his defeat. * * * There was but one possible decision to be made in honor, and that was to fight it out. This decision the President made and he brought to its support a courage that never wavered, a faith that beat down opportunism, a resourcefulness that bewildered his opponents and a character that compelled their reluctant respect."

And who doubts that it was the long strain, the continual battle he had to make in behalf of the underdog in the fight, the common people, the nerve-wearing efforts that had constantly to be made for altruism that helped to break down the President's physical and nervous strength or that an even greater factor in that result was the constant stabbing from the rear, from the republican senators? The League of Nations is a personal tribute to the greatness of his fight. All the civilized nations in the world have accepted it today except just three—Soviet Russia, stricken Mexico and the United States. Even the Unspeakable Turk accepted it a few weeks ago as the law of nations.

Another side of the subject is presented by the McGregor Mirror, a McLenan county publication, when it compares the results in Cooke and McLennan counties. "Neff," says the Mirror, "carried his ward, his city and his home county by an overwhelming majority. In the Eagle Springs community where Neff was born near the line of McLennan and Coryell counties, he received all the votes cast but one. At McGregor, where he grew to manhood, Neff received practically 90 per cent of the entire vote. At Moody, which is the home of Mrs. Edna C. Patterson and the home of the late John S. Patterson, Neff received more votes than his three opponents combined."

An automobilist driving, it is said, fifty or sixty miles an hour on a busy Fort Worth street, ran over and killed a little girl as she crossed the street, and then skurried away in the darkness to escape punishment for the action. Self-respecting automobilists—and they, thank goodness, are tremendously in the majority—owe it to themselves to lend every possible aid in the running down and punishing of drivers guilty of lawless and dangerous actions, and there should be some punishment to fit the crime of criminal carelessness and indifference to the rights of others.

Anti-administrationists are entitled to the satisfaction of knowing that over in Mississippi, with the Wilson administration the principal issue, only four out of five pro-administration congressmen were elected. Ex-Senator Vardaman and Governor Lee Russell, who occupy the place in Mississippi held by Reed in Missouri, Hoke Smith in Georgia and Kirby of Arkansas, backed the anti-administration candidates, of course, and landed one out of the five whose cause they espoused.

Tests of Greatness.
(Philadelphia Evening Bulletin)

One of these days there will be a new two-cent piece. And when the time comes to design that coin the people of the United States will have to settle some of the heated arguments of the moment and decide who among Americans of recent years is, or was, worthy to be honored in what is the most exclusive hall of fame in the world or in history. The coins of this country actually reflect our ultimate decisions about great men. And it is interesting to remember that the Lincoln cent represents a sort of triumph for this method of distinction. It is the humblest and by far the most beautiful of all coins circulated in America. Few medallions ever designed equal it in simplicity and dignity. It was proper that Lincoln of all men should be shown on the coin that is the commonest possession of the poor. Yet you have only to take a cent out of your pocket and look again at the portrait to learn a great deal, through the revealing art of the designer, of the qualities of strength and patience and forbearance inevitable in men who are able to persist to the farthest heights. Who among Americans, living or dead, will be selected for the coin which sooner or later will supplant the Lincoln cent?

HOROSCOPE

The stars incline but do not compel.
(Copyright, 1919, by The McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Saturday, August 21, 1920.

Although Neptune rules strongly for good this day, it is not a fortunate time for most human enterprises, according to astrology.

During the planetary government the mind is likely to be extremely disturbed, clear vision of one's shortcomings being depressing while Neptune is in benefic aspect.

Those who seek to know the future by calm analysis of existing conditions will be confused in all probability, for none can prophecy wisely except those who possess psychic powers and they declare that what is most unexpected to mortal mind will come to pass.

There seems to be a sign presaging bitter newspaper attacks on men and public affairs and a libel suit of most sensational character appears to be indicated.

This is an unfavorable sway for clergymen and all who speak in public places.

Religious prejudice now is likely to come to the surface and to cause great embarrassment in certain quarters.

All who value future preferment should avoid pushing their claims to attention while this government of the stars prevails, for men and women in high places will be unsympathetic and unresponsive in all probability.

Shallow minds will be greatly stirred under this sway, for Neptune is in a place that deceives and gives impressions contrary to all the facts.

Many changes in government affairs will take place in the next few weeks, it is prognosticated, and an event now strongly foreshadowed by the stars will have a great effect on the national election.

Women are warned against criticism of one another, since stars that are unfriendly to their highest ambitions become strong in their power over human destiny at this time.

During the war the power of thought was strongly recognized, but in the reaction toward materialism it has been so far forgotten that a sensational event will cause astonishment, although its cause might have been removed, the seers declare.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of travel and change that may not be satisfactory. Danger of money loss is menacing.

Children born on this day may be often involved in difficulties unless trained to habits of exactitude. They are often very artistic.

CASE IS DISMISSED AND TWO YOUTHS ARE RELEASED FROM JAIL

After spending several days in jail on a charge of theft of a Ford car, two young men were released Saturday and their case dismissed.

J. T. Goodman had a car stolen and he was out in quest of same when he ran across another Ford car which he stated was his and notified the city police. The young men were arrested and turned over to the county officials. They made bond and they immediately set about to establish their innocence.

It appears that the first four of the engine numbers coincided with the first four of the stolen car and Goodman thought the other numbers had been changed. Goodman also said that there was a match scratch on the door of his car and there happened to be one of a similar nature on the car of the young men.

The two young men furnished a bill of sale and also secured recommendations from the house they were connected with. Their cash bonds were returned and they went on their way rejoicing but one secured a written statement regarding the dismissal of his case so that he could square htings with his father, he said.

OLDHAM RECOVERS AND IS REMOVED TO JAIL

Jake S. Oldham, charged with robbery with firearms and who has been a patient at the Wichita hospital for the past 11 days was released from the hospital Friday night and brought to the county jail. A guard was at his bedside during the entire time in the hospital. He is one of the trio charged with being implicated in the hold-up of a little poker game in the oil district two weeks ago and who were arrested when Oldham was brought to the hospital for an operation to remove a bullet from his leg.

ARREST PULLMAN PORTER ON A LIQUOR CHARGE

A negro porter on a Pullman car was placed under arrest at Vernon Friday for violation of the national prohibition act, according to information furnished U. S. Commissioner Lantz. It is related that the porter, who makes several runs a week through Vernon, was furnishing passengers and residents of the town with liquor. He will be brought to Wichita Falls for a preliminary hearing.

ARRESTED FOLLOWING AN AUTOMOBILE CHASE

Following a sensational automobile chase, C. M. Perry of Oklahoma was placed under arrest and before U. S. Commissioner J. A. Lantz he was placed under bond of $300 to await action of the federal grand jury. He is charged with violation of the national prohibition act. He was arrested by Deputy Constables Arrington and Spiller.

THE THRILL THAT COMES ONCE IN A LIFETIME

NEIGHBORHOOD QUARRELS AGAIN FEATURES COURT

The Saturday morning session of the police court was enlivened to a great extent by the periodical appearance of the neighborhood quarrel, only Saturday found two cases docketed for trial. The first was between two women who were arrested for indulging in an alleged unladylike controversy in front of their homes. One is alleged to have called the other names and a right resulted. Both were fined $5.

The other case was between a landlord and his tenant. Mr. Landlord was charged with disturbing the peace, but evidence introduced before the judge failed to substantiate the charge.

Several vagrants were booked and plead guilty and a few traffic violators were called before the bar and given fines.

The sanitary officers have evidently rounded up most of the violators of this law, or at least those who have been in the habit of leaving rubbish cans in conspicuous places have removed them, for no one was docketed Saturday on a charge of violating this law.

A "heavy" study

Roscoe "Fatty" Arbuckle and Bebe Daniels

OUR old friend Rabelais remarked:

"One inch of joy surmounts of grief a span,
Because to laugh is proper to the man."

—and my opinion coincides with his!

I suppose laughter and the love of it was born in me; certainly when I observe in my varied encounters with men and women, the natural morseness that characterizes some of them, I am constrained to believe that the ability to appreciate humor and to dispense it is more or less an inherent trait. I suppose that some of my forebears were humorists and that this quality has descended to me legitimately. Certain it is that from boyhood I enjoyed laughing almost more than eating—which is a considerable confession to lay at the door of a small boy. Since the boy is father to the man, as I advanced in age, I retained this spirit. I saw things to laugh at where others saw only woe, or at least no cause for joviality.

Had Serious Moments.

Now let me hasten to add that I do not mean to imply that I had no sober moments even as a child, or that nowadays, I do not take things seriously at times. A certain amount of serious thinking is assuredly essential to any achievement. We can not, perhaps, laugh our way through life, but we can override a lot of the rough spots with a smile. Making comedies is really a serious business. But like everything else in the world of achievement, art and business, it is quite possible to become too serious over it. As a result this affects our work, our outlook on life, our spirits and our dispositions—to say nothing of our digestions.

So much for that: Let us take it for granted that I was born with laughter in my heart and see what came of it. When I grew to that period of adolescence when I felt, in common with most young people, that the dramatic stage was suffering for the want of what I could supply, I tried in various ways and finally got into musical comedy, doing small parts. From this I took part in legitimate comedies and after various ups and downs during which I arrived at the conclusion that comedy was really my forte, I entered the screenworld, via the slapstick route. And, after a time, I began making comedies on my own account, which became popular as Paramount-Arbuckle pictures.

What Is a Laugh?

Let us examine the matter of laughter for its own sake. What is a laugh? Consulting my Standard Dictionary I find that it is, used as a noun, "a single act or explosion of laughter." Seeking the definition of laughter, I read: "An action consisting chiefly of spasmodic expulsion of breath, with jerky, inarticulate sounds, accompanied by agitation of the facial muscles, provoked generally by what strikes the mind as humorously incongruous or by the excitement of mirth."

You will note that I have emphasized "incongruous." Now let's search for incongruous in our vade mecum. The second definition reaches nearer our point: "Composed of inharmonious elements or disconnected parts." This we find that disharmony is a basis for laughter. But not the lack of harmony which results in misunderstanding and unpleasantness. Rather that which appeals to us as being so out of harmony with the ordinary and commonplace run of events as to produce a cause for mirth. From the same reasoning it is evident that we could deduce tragedy from the same cause. Which bears out the contention of a certain humorist that the comic is just around the corner from the tragic, and who advises his readers to "step around the corner and smile."

Laughter From Unexpected.

A man, obviously, doesn't usually expect to have a chair pulled from beneath him as he is about to seat himself. Yet this old trick is, according to certain authorities, a certain cause for inordinate mirth, on the part of all but the victim—and sometimes the perpetrator. I learned this to my cost when a boy, (and this also proves the proximity of the tragic of the comic), when I played the joke on my Uncle Phil. I have a painful recollection even today of what happened to me!

In making a comedy, the degrees must be observed. The slapstick comedy in a sense is a continual variation of episodes no deeper than this in actual fact; as we progress in the quality of our product we have to seek more subtle means of gaining a laugh. But in the final analysis, it is the incongruity of the thing—the unexpected denouement, the unanticipated situation—which brings certain conflicting forces into juxtaposition, resulting in absurd contretemps—that gives rise to mirth on the part of the spectator. An old dramatic rule, which insists that the audience always be made cognizant in advance of the secret, while the characters are supposedly, in ignorance of the approaching situation, is still in effect in certain ways; but nowadays, it has been found advisable, sometimes to withhold the confidence from the spectator, that the surprises may be the more provocative of laughter, astonishment or whatever emotion is likely to be evoked by the matter. What is the value of laughter? We are told that it is certainly good for the system. Few men who laugh excessively or even to a normal degree are dyspeptic. Contrariwise, as Tweedledum remarked to Tweedledee (or vice versa), we know that anger, sorrow, hatred and similar states of mind invite disease by precipitating poisonous elements into the system. This no doubt accounts for the various old saws, such as "laugh and grow fat" or "A good laugh is better than medicine."

The vapid, self-conscious humorist, who laughs at his own jokes inordinately, who affects to see humor in impossible places, is merely a poseur. The real humorist is one who gains his excuses for mirth legitimately.

In any event, to laugh well is to eat and sleep and think well. It has been said that most humorists are serious by nature. This is true in many instances, where their work has merely been the creation of humor by some process. I don't think most original humorists are unusually sad. Why should they be?

Anyway, I think I have proved that it pays to laugh. I have tried to contribute to the laughter of the world. I believe the slapstick comedy has a real and legitimate place and that if it be human it is deserving of consideration by all kinds of people. I am simply centering on a different phase of humor but the final effect of it all is to create mirth and entertainment thereby, as I firmly believe, contributing to the world's good.—Roscoe (Fatty) Arbuckle.

Creating Laughs for the Screen

THE method whereby a comedian may succeed in creating laughs for the screen audiences which now number into the untold millions of individuals of every nationality, creed, age, sex and temperament is a problem that needs to be studied assiduously to gain the best results.

Obviously any humor for the screen must be sufficiently general in character to appeal to the laboring man or the magnate, the lady of the Upper Fifth Avenue Marble masoleum or the east side tenement; the man on the street or the cloistered anchorite—for all are movie fans in some degree.

Thus the basic elements of comedy must be utilized in every instance. There may be no dviation from what is certain to result in laughter. But this affords wide latitude for the one who has any sort of imagination. There are a hundred ways of getting a laugh from even so time honored a device as dropping a flat iron on one's toe, or hitting one's finger with a hammer. Facial expression in some ways is a great help. Costume is another, but the truest humor results from incongruous use of the customary. There is a great deal more appeal in the comedy situation which involves real people even as you and I, than in the grotesqueries of extravagant make-up or costuming.

The comedy writer or actor need not be at loss unless he lacks inventive genius. If he possesses those qualifications which are resultant from an appreciation and perception of the unusual, can see a funny situation under almost any conditions, he can generally evolve the gag that will bring about the much desired laughter. Lacking the lines of the stage actor, the screen comedian must depend on the humor of visualized scenes. He must look and act funny and only his subtitles can supply the deficiencies in other respects. But I have seen subtitles which were positively excrusiating—sometimes they were not meant to be funny either. But the proper interpolation or spoken or descriptive titles or leaders which carry on the motion or drive home a point are a more satisfactory substitute for speech than one would perhaps imagine. Thus the title writer is to be reckoned with decidedly.

The settings may contribute much. A ridiculous looking room scene with absurd pictures or mottoes, queer furniture and appurtenances, can evoke a gale of merriment.

The situation, however, is the main thing. Put a certain number of people together and if something funny doesn't presently occur it will be because they are all deaf, dumb and blind. It simply is inevitable. It is this very inevitable comedy situation that the writer of screen humor or the actor of funny pictures must seek out and classify and put away in the pigeon hole of his brain properly labeled, to use when the occasion arrives.

Griswold by making publication of this citation once each week for four successive weeks previous to the return day hereof, in some newspaper published in your county, to appear at the next regular term of the county court of Wichita county at law, to be holden at the court house thereof in Wichita Falls, on the first Monday in October, A. D., 1920, the same being the 4th day of October, A. D., 1920; then and there to answer a petition filed in county court on the 9th day of March, A. D., 1920, in a suit, numbered on the docket of said court No. 35E5, wherein Hundred Acre Oil company, a joint stock association of Wichita County, Texas, is plaintiff and Albert Lee, R. M. Griswold and E. C. Young are defendants and said petition alleging, in substance; That on the 28th day of January, 1919, plaintiff entered into a contract with the defendants, Albert Lee and R. M. Griswold, whereby they agreed to sell the $200,000.00 of stock in said company on a 40 per cent basis, said company to advance $1,000.00 for advertising and traveling expenses to be refunded to said company by payment of 10 per cent out of commissions as collected. Plaintiff further alleges that on the 28th day of January, 1919, defendants entered into a bond including the name of E. C. Young as a signer thereof, conditioned that if on the 21st day of August, 1919, said Lee and Griswold, had not sold $10,000 worth of said stock; that said bond was to be forfeited to the amount due plaintiff on its said $1,000.00 advancement. COTTON MARKET

New York Cotton.

NEW YORK, August 21.—The cotton market was under continued pressure at the opening today. Further hedge selling was reported against raw cotton and manufactured goods while there was further liquidation which seemed to ignore unfavorable weather reports and the encouraging news from Poland. First prices were 5 points higher on July but generally 13 to 32 points lower and active months sold 15 to 32 points below last night's close during the first few minutes, made new low grounds for the movement. There was a good deal of covering for over the week-end around 26.75 for October and 25.38 for December, however, and the market rallied rather sharply.

Covering became more active later and there was a sensational jump in price for August deliveries. There has been very little trading in that position and it looked as though the break of yesterday had gone further than justified by spot market conditions. The covering of a few lots sent the price up to 32.00 at close, or 485 points net higher. October advanced from 27.50 and the general market closed very steady with September 65 points and later months 25 to 45 points net higher.

The Market closed very steady.

March	25.00	24.95	25.50
May	25.09	24.75	25.20

NEW ORLEANS, August 21.—Realizing of profits by holders of short contracts proved a sustaining influence for cotton today. On the first call October rose 20 points to 26.60, but other months were lower and after the call the market settled down to net declines of 18 to 28 points, October falling to 6.22. A little later the demand increased, and the market came back to levels 2 points under to 10 points over the close of yesterday.

During the last half of the session the market had a firm tone on a continued good demand for covers from the short side and prices were forced to levels 22 to 32 points over the last prices of yesterday. The close was at net gains of 20 to 30 points. At the highest, October traded at 26.65 and March at 25.14. In the last half hour of trading the market was excited and active.

The cotton market closed very steady at net advances of 20 to 30 points.

GRAIN AND PRODUCE

Chicago Grain.

CHICAGO, August 21.—Heavy rains last night were reported from sections of Illinois that have been dry for a long time and this had the effect of causing a break in wheat prices today. The market opened with December down 2 cent at $2.36, while March started ½ higher at $2.38½, both deliveries soon ranging from 3 to 3½c lower.

Reports that Canadian wheat had been sold to the seaboard at about 10 cents under the domestic price caused the market to close extremely heavy at a net loss of 3½c to 5c under yesterday's finish with December $2.32 to $2.33 and March $2.35.

Corn, after starting ½c lower to ½c higher, with September $1.44¼ to $1.44½ and December $1.21¼ to $1.22, declined, but later a rally checked the drop.

The finish was weak at a ness loss of 1½c to 2½c from last nights close, with September $1.42 to $1.42¼ and December $1.20¾ to $1.20¾.

Oats sympathized with other grain, the statement being decidedly bearish. After an unsettled start with prices ½c lower to ½c higher, with first prices for September at 67¼ to 68c and December 68 to 68½c, the market eased off.

Provisions ruled fairly active. Initial quotations ranged from 15 to 20c higher.

STOCK MARKET

New York Stocks.

NEW YORK, August 21.—Further recoveries from the general depression of the early days of the week were made by leading shares at the opening of today's brief stock market session. Independent steels were the dominant issues, together with equipments and oils at gains ranging from fractions to almost two points. Canadian Pacific and Great Northern were strongest of the representative rails and Baltimore and Ohio, which made a substantial gain on yesterday's largest turnover, continued to advance. The reactionary side of the list was limited to fractional losses by Marine preferred, Republic motors and Coco-Cola.

Amusements

MILDRED HARRIS CHAPLIN FEATURED AT THE MAJESTIC

"Polly of the Storm Country," with Mildred Harris Chaplin in the title role made a decided hit at the Majestic Friday. The picture is full of drama and is handled in a pleasing and interesting fashion. The story centers around Polly Hopkins, who lives with her aged father in a squalid shack. She is the idol of the neighborhood and the arch enemy of a rich land owner who is attempting to drive the "poor white trash" from the country. An entangling love affair in which the land owner and another resident of the squatter district furnishes the action for a number of domestic difficulties that almost result in the murder of the man.

Mrs. Chaplin gives a splendid portrayal of the main character, Polly, and the supporting cast adds greatly to the lively action and absorbing scenes of the picture.

REMARKABLE STORY IS SKILLFULLY DIRECTED

"The Law of the Yukon," which is the feature picture at the Olympic theater Saturday, is remarkable for story, typical [illegible] sets and skillful direction. The great outdoors chosen to represent the land of the frozen north, the rough and ready types secured to play the parts of the miners, the exact replicas of the dance halls and gambling dens and the prevailing atmosphere of lust and greed for wealth all combine to make the film a true version of the famous story by Robert W. Service. Gold City, the thriving "metropolis" of the Klondike district, is pictured as it actually was during the great rush for the gold fields and a Christmas celebration, typical of the ones enjoyed in the early days is portrayed with vivid realism. "The Law of the Yukon" lives on the screen and is a fitting tribute to the men who dared and conquered in the bleak northland. One unique feature of the picture is the fact that the titles are extracts from the poem itself, thus giving a full recitation of the poem as written by Service.

"BELOW THE SURFACE" IS FULL OF SENSATIONS

Sensation follows sensation from the opening scene to the final climax in the great story of deep sea diving, "Below the Surface," featuring Hobart Bosworth, now being shown at the Empress. In the role of Martin Flint, a diver by profession, Mr. Bosworth gives some wonderful scenes. Diving to the bottom of the ocean and fastening dredge chains to a submarine that was buried in the mud, thereby saving the lives of 27 American seamen, and later escaping from a sinking wreck of a steamer are two of the high lights of the picture. Flint's daring rescue of the submarine attracted an unscrupulous promoter of "get rich quick schemes" who proposes that Flint dive for a sunken treasure ship and bring up the gold. The diver refuses, but his son is so attracted by a charming woman accompanying the promoter and who poses as his sister, that he becomes an unwitting partner to their scheme, marries the girl and nearly loses his life in her behalf. Then as he lies near death she deserts him.

The elder Flint followed the girl to a Boston cabaret and forced her to return with him, but the steamer on which they were returning crashed into a derelict during a heavy fog and went to the bottom of the ocean. Out of the wreck come some of the most sensational scenes ever produced on the moving picture screen. "Below the Surface" is to be the attraction again today at the Empress.

How Are Your Eyes?

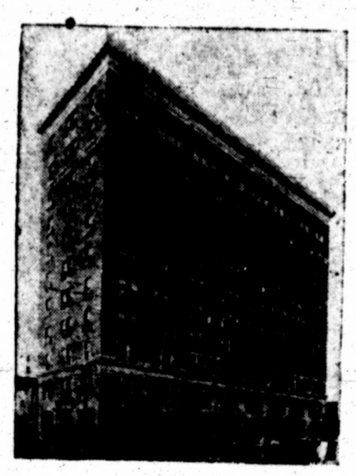

Stop and Think About Them
They often pain you a little. You simply give them a rest, and you are relieved. But they ought not to pain you with ordinary use. There is something wrong. Let us test them. We make no charge for that and if you need glasses, or if it comes from some other cause we will tell you.

Safe Burglary Insurance

Safe robberies are reported in the papers nearly every day in the year.
Even with a so-called "burglar-proof" safe, money and securities are not protected, as the professional burglar, with all his modern appliances, can in a very short time open almost any safe in common use.
Protection is granted for money stolen from the safe, also for damage done to safe and premises in an attempted burglary.
The premium charge, being moderate, is of minor consideration.
Obtain protection now before the cracksman's visit.
Full particulars as to rates and coverage gladly given.
