Cotton Harvest Is Swinging Into Action

Area cotton producers are beginning to bring more cotton to the gins, according to reports from the county's gins.

The beautiful weather the past week has found many strippers at work on defoliated fields and some aerial defoliation being done.

Most of the county's farmers have been preparing for the cotton harvest for some time now, getting strippers in good working order and buying and renovating trailers.

Some of the cotton was defoliated or acidized earlier, with other fields now ready for chemical application. A field of cotton should be 85 per cent open, suggests Mitchell County extension agent Bob Benson, before applying defoliant or acid.

In defoliation, the leaves are killed by applying a chemical defoliant; the application of acid kills the plant.

Most farmers are using aerial sprayers to apply the chemicals, but some are using ground rigs.

Some of the cotton has been pulled a little green, meaning that the green bolls are not quite open yet, but producers still remember the last harvest, when bad weather delayed stripping and ginning operations until after the first of the year, and in some cases, cotton was not harvested at all.

The bale count from the county gins reads as follows: Buford Co-op, 168, and ginning fairly steady; China Grove Co-op, 665, with cotton coming in pretty good; Farmer's Gin, 170, more came in this last week; Planter's Gin, 56, beginning to gin pretty good now; Producer's Co-op Gin, 143, with about 25 on the yard; Loraine Co-op, 476, last few days pretty busy.

Cotton prices are ranging from 57 to 65 cents per pound for grades as low as grade 52 and as high as grade 21. Low micronaire cotton was usually discounted at loan rates. The price for "free" cotton grading 4131 ranged from 60.25 to 61.35 cents per pound.

"These are probably the highest prices ever paid for cotton in this area. Cotton prices were higher during the Civil War but that was before much cotton, if any, was produced in this area", reports B. B. Manly Jr., in charge of the USDA Cotton Division, Abilene Classing Office.

Lotsa Potato

E. E. Alberts displays a 7-pound sweet potato that he grew in his garden at 1907 Vine Street. Last year Alberts grew a sweet potato that weighed 7 lbs. 2 oz. He said that his garden measures 40 X 60 feet and he grows a little bit of everything in it. Alberts has worked for Union Texas Petroleum at Silver for the past 18 years and besides gardening, he also enjoys fishing and bird hunting. All his neighbors enjoy vegetables from his garden because Alberts believes in sharing.

Hunting Season To Open Nov. 17

Hunting season will be opening soon for Mitchell County residents and Ronnie Aston, game warden, advises hunters of certain precautions.

Deer, turkey and quail season opens Nov. 17, with deer and turkey season closing Jan. 1, and quail season closing Feb. 15.

Limits are two deer of either sex, two turkey of either sex and 12 quail per day.

Antlerless deer tags will be distributed Oct. 30 (Tuesday) at the courthouse. Landowners wanting tags must make an effort to be there in person or to send an agent because tags will be distributed one day only.

The deer population is up this year over last year and are in excellent condition. There are also plenty of turkey and quail, with a good mix of blues and bobs, said Aston.

County residents may hunt in Mitchell County without a license, unless they are hunting deer or turkey, then they must have a license. Hunting licenses may be obtained from the county clerk's office or from Sparks Hardware, Western Auto, or the State Park office.

Aston also warned that anyone caught hunting at night or out of season will be prosecuted to the fullest extent of the law.

He also urges all ranchers, farmers, landowners and citizens to call him if they see or suspect any road hunters or any other violations of the hunting laws.

Were Your Clocks Wrong This Morning?

If you went to bed last night at 12 and forgot to set your clock back to 11, then you were probably an hour early for church this morning. Were you wondering where everyone was?

Today is the first day back in Standard Time, no more Daylight Saving Time until next spring.

A cute way to remember how to change your clocks is "Spring up" in the spring and "Fall back" in the fall.

Commissioners Set 1974 County Budget

Mitchell County commissioners met in a special called session Thursday to review the budget for the 1974 fiscal year.

They also decided to look into the possibility of reducing the tax rate next year, because of the addition of the revenue sharing funds from the federal government.

Dick Wistrand was appointed election judge for Precinct One (Courthouse), replacing O. B. Trulock Jr. The pay for election judges and clerks was set at a uniform $2 per hour.

Halloween Carnival Planned

Halloween Trick or Treaters may be visiting your house next Wednesday, and leaving the porch light on would be a good indication that you welcome them and have some treats for them.

Trick or Treaters are reminded to watch out crossing the streets, because someone might not could see a little goblin or ghost or might not be expecting one to dart across the street.

Kelley Elementary P. T. A. will sponsor the annual Halloween Carnival Wednesday at the elementary school.

Food will be served from 5:30 to 8:30 p.m. in the cafeteria. Chili, hot dogs, cokes and coffee, homemade pie and candy will be for sale.

The game booths will be open from 6 to 8 p.m. There will be two spook houses this year and other games to play.

Tickets for each game are 17¢ and a number of tickets may be purchased at one time, so that no one will have to wait in line for very long.

Prizes are to be awarded to the best costumes worn by elementary students.

The commissioners also approved the hiring of an additional third deputy for one year for the county clerk's office. At the last regular meeting of the Commissioner's Court, a request was made by a deputy from the county clerk's office for more help, as they have fallen behind in getting their work done. The commissioners agreed to check into the matter.

Twin Ghosts?

No you're not seeing double and the picture wasn't taken with a mirror. The little ghosts are Mitchell & Michael, 2, twin sons of Mr. and Mrs. Keith Smith of 943 E. 14th. That's Mitchell on the left, or is it Michael?

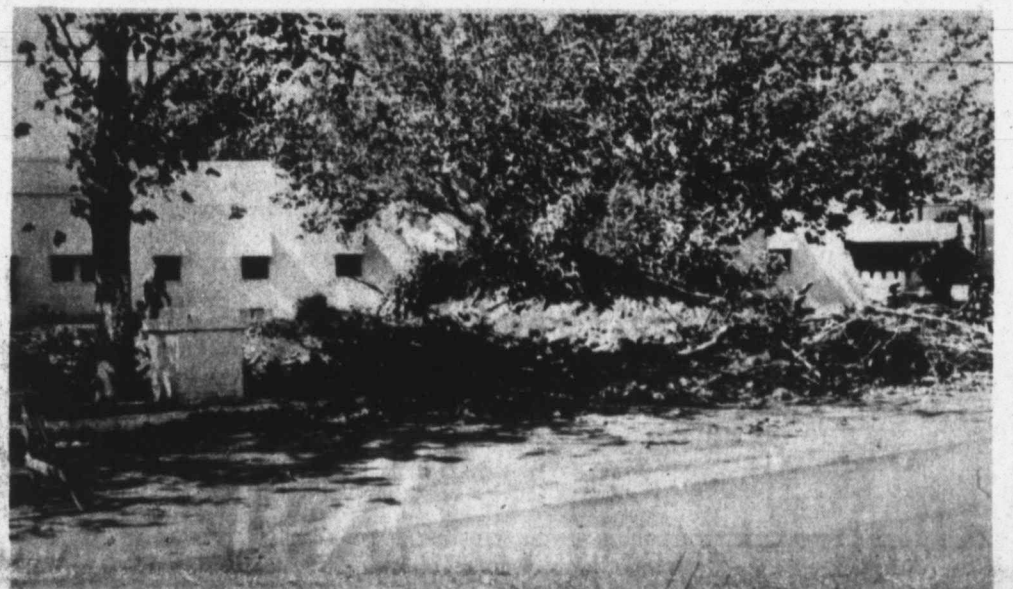

Well anyway, they'll be among hundreds knocking on doors for trick or treat sweets Wednesday night. Police have issued a reminder for everyone to drive carefully and look out for youngsters crossing the street.

Light Work

Workers are busy unloading the new traffic light poles in Colorado City. The city has been waiting for delivery of the poles and lights for the past few months. New lights will be installed soon.

Begin Work

Work has begun on the new patient and lobby wing at Root Memorial Hospital. The new addition will cost $350,000 and is expected to be completed within a year.

team has concluded play for the fall season, but will start again in January through April in district competition, said Ken Burnam, tennis coach.

Harvest Festival

Westbrook Schools will hold a Harvest Festival Saturday, November 2 from 6 to 8 p.m.

Every room and grade will have a prince and princess presented at the Festival court, and then the King and Queen of the Festival will be crowned.

The honors will go to the room or grade which raises the most money for their prince and princess. The money is used by each grade for class trips.

Each class is taking turns selling candy during the lunch period.

Westbrook Splits With Greenwood

Westbrook boys and girls basketball teams played Greenwood there last Friday.

Westbrook boys won their game, 75-58. The girls lost, 68-39.

The boys game was a cooperative effort, said Coach Dale Byrd, with all of these boys scoring: Bruce Rich, 21 points; Billy Denson, 14 points; Tim Oden, 11; Bobby Matlock, 10; Billy Hogue, 9; Rodney Moore, 7 and Roger Crawford, 3.

The girls were behind at half, 39-12 and Coach Charles Parnell attributed their loss to poor shooting, as they only made 23 percent of their shots from the field.

Debbie Webb had 13 points, Kim Sullivan, 12 and Pajiora Moore, 10.

Bike-a-thon

Fara Brown, president of the Mitchell County Heart Association, displays the 10-speed bicycle which will be awarded to the winner of the Bike-a-thon to be held Saturday, Nov. 3. Anyone interested in cycling or helping the Heart Association Drive is asked to enter the Bike-a-thon, which starts from the G-Kell Building, Snyder Highway and Interstate 20 intersection, at 9:30 a.m. and will proceed to Loraine. The winner will be the person who raises the most money for the Heart Association by collecting pledges to be donated for each mile of cycling. Second and third prizes will be $25 savings bonds.

PARDON the foreign accent but this country is "in a m-l of Hess." Have read about it, listened to news bulletins about it and thought about it until, in self-preservation, decided to allot at least 60 minutes to hunting something else to think about.

This process of re-education in meaning of words can be downright confusing if you don't watch out. Only Watergate ever viewed, personally, were those on the North Platte River in Wyoming, opened only when the deep snow melts.

Innocent? Well, it seems to mean now denial of men in high places of things they're done guilty of it also means perjury.

Energy no longer means "pep", excellent health, the urge to "let us then be up and doing." It means shortage of fuel.

Impeachment has nothing to do with fruit cobbler or preserves. But then it never did... even if tape did used to mean a band-aid or maybe Roy Clark with his banjo.

ON THE OTHER hand, there are happier things to contemplate during short recess from anguish and anger.

CONVERSATION CORNER

DAYLIGHT SAVING TIME endeth today, glory be! Wish it would go away and stay away... trees are turning gold...and you can turn the air-conditioner off most of the time...Dallas Cowboys beat the New York Giants... and we've still got "Peanuts," with its little people and Snoopy.

LADY named Meg Hale who writes a weekly Sunday column she calls "Past Sixty," sometimes very bitter and often wise, accented Self-Discipline and Will (she didn't say Will who) recently.

Lack of self-discipline, particularly for people growing older in spite of face creams and beauty shops, she writes is the foundation of all accomplishments, paramount at all ages. Lack of self-discipline rarely makes for a pleasant disposition, she adds.

So unless you've been elected to Congress you can discipline yourself not to demand, command, meddle, swear or argue if you want to stay sweet. That's as good a guess as any as to what she means.

QUESTION here is how to acquire all that self-discipline. Stand yourself in the corner? Lock yourself in the closet?

Remember so well that when a little girl drank a tall glass of cold, fresh-churned buttermilk to please the spinster piano teacher. It happens that this here female has loathed, hated, and despised buttermilk all her life. Drank that glass because of what might be called courtesy--self-discipline.

Matter of fact it was flat cow-ardice.

WOULD that human nature were all honorable. Alas, too often it is onery. We are all surrounded with Biblical teachings and good advice from many other sources concerning self-discipline. Trouble is we do not always follow. We take off in the opposite direction.

"Sweet dispositions" go down the drain when we know so well "A soft answer turneth away wrath," but had rather out-yell the angry person with louder answers of our own, for instance.

"TURN the other cheek" sometimes is forgotten when one prefers kicking the shins then running like the dickens. The self-discipline part comes when you learn to refrain, walk quietly away and restrain yourself from kicking either actually or verbally. Kicking a few autumn leaves, instead, is better for the soul during the cooling off period.

But what is needed most is what to do about those three little monkeys. You know. The ones with eyes, ears, and mouth tightly shut and the ancient admonition "See no evil, hear no evil, speak no evil."

HOW is even self-discipline going to cope with that one? Only solution in sight or sound seems pretty dull if not completely useless.

Live a hermit life high up in some tree house? Well, you have a choice. You can turn away and not look, refuse to listen, and keep your mouth shut...or you can face it and do your part in replacing evil wherever it exists with "the good, the true, the beautiful."

That may not give you the pleasant disposition of silent self-discipline, but at least you'll amount to something and count for something. And it is definitely something to BE something!

To Hold Contest

TOPS TX 691 met at the Community Center Monday at 7 p.m. for a regular meeting. Members were weighed in by weight recorder, Doris Graham.

Leader, Janie Lou Brady, presided over the meeting. The club pledge and song were led by Mrs. Brady. Doris Graham called the roll and announced that Mary Arrellano was Queen of the week.

It was voted to have a costume party at the next regular meeting, Monday, October 29.

The club is now engaged in a contest entitled "Don't Loose Your Head" with Mary Arrellano as leader, at the present time.

Inez Howell, Licensed Vocational Nurse, spoke to the group about blood pressure and checked the blood pressure of those who were present.

Members attending the meeting were Janie Lou Brady, Linda Perkins, Mary Arrellano, Louise Logson and Jewel Newby.

Also, Juanita Schafer, Darlene Hamrick and Doris Graham. Other members were weighed in but did not attend the meeting. Visitors and new members are always welcome.

Mrs. Pace Speaks To Maranatha Study Club

The Maranatha Study Club met Thursday afternoon in the home of Mrs. John Henry.

The meeting was called to order by Mrs. Henry, president. Mrs. Maxine Morris led the opening prayer.

After a short business meeting Mrs. Midge Crabtree called the roll and each one answered by telling how to be a good neighbor.

Mrs. Crabtree was program leader using "Security" as her subject.

Mrs. Edna Pace was main speaker for the meeting. Her subject was "Security in Jesus." Her speech is as follows:

Everything about life in this world indicates insecurity. Nothing is fixed, so nothing is secure.

Only when you are thoroughly insecure do you discover the false assumptions upon which life in this world rests, and only then are you ready to pick up and use your faith.

You have faith at its keenest and best when you are the most insecure. This faith is your security amid your insecurity.

When events of your life proceed from insecurity, then-if you are Christian-you can feel secure! The person whose security depends on worldly attachments cannot know God as God may be known.

Religions experience provides the only worthy security. The person who thinks he is secure in these worldly areas has little or no religious experience.

To open your life to God and Christ is to let security in. To close your life to God is to invite insecurity. Security is the climax of your own personal effort to seek and find God present within yourself. Security comes from within and not from without-not from things, but from the spirit. Security comes from an honest recognition of the world as it is and eternal life as it can be.

"Lo, I am with you always" denotes time and implies eternity. There is no stop to the presence of God, no pause or moment when he is not there. And he is there in full, completely. In this Presence, present in your presence, lies the security from above.

After the program the hostess, Mrs. Henry served refreshments to Mrs. Alta Fulton, Mrs. Edna Pace, Mrs. Maxine Morris, Mrs. Midge Crabtree, Mrs. Marion Bassham and Mrs. Della Fox.

GOD'S FIVE MINUTES

Pictures Of Silver

The small daughter of a minister watched him as he wrote his sermon.

"Does God tell you what to say, Daddy?" she asked. "Of course He does," the father replied. "Then why do you scratch out so much of what you write?"

John Newton said, "If you think you see the ark of the Lord falling, you may be sure it is a dizziness in your own head."

God does tell men what to write. He tells them what to compose. He tells them what to paint and what to say. And should you ever doubt His divine power, remember, the lack of power which you sense is not in Him. It is in you!

ON JULY 31, A ROCK FESTIVAL WAS HELD IN THE SMALL TOWN OF WADENA, IOWA -- POPULATION 231. THE U.S. NEWS & WORLD REPORT OF AUGUST 31, 1970, REPORTED A CROWD IN EXCESS OF 30,000 YOUNG PEOPLE.

QUOTING THE MAYOR LEALLEN KNOX, "We have nothing against rock festivals. Some of the music even sounds good."

HAROLD HALBERSON, FIRE CHIEF, "I had a .12 guage shotgun and an automatic .22 rifle within arm's reach of my pillow. But the kids didn't cause a bit of trouble when they came to town. There was no violence, no vandalism. They slept here and there. That scared the daylights out of people. Some called the mayor to say that people were sleeping on their lawns. One man slept in the cab of one of our bulk milk trucks. He didn't want anything--just to get out of the rain."

RAY M. HERWIG, OWNER OF WADENA'S ONLY GROCERY, "The first time I sold groceries to anyone from the festival was on Saturday morning the weekend before the festival. They bought $50 worth and paid for it with a $50 bill. They came back Sunday morning and bought another $50 worth."

"From then on, they came in large numbers. Their bills were high but I got every dime of my money. They were coming in from six in the morning til 10 at night. I also hauled groceries up to the work camp."

"In the three day festival weekend, we did about nine to ten times our usual volume for those particular three days."

MRS. HERWIG, "I felt a little apprehensive that so many people would be coming to town. When they did come as far as manners were concerned, you couldn't find any better. Anything you'd ask of those kids, you'd get a polite answer. One question they asked frequently was why are people in Wadena afraid of us."

MRS. SIDNEY CORBIN, AGE 50, HOUSEWIFE ON A FARM 1 1/4 MI. FROM FESTIVAL SITE, "Seriously, I didn't have any fears. These kids asked to park their cars and motorcycles on our yard, so we sort of lived with these people. Many of them slept in our yards, there was no damage done whatsoever. They didn't go into any buildings. They asked for everything, such as water cans and tools and everything was returned."

"I don't agree with reaction of the people in the town. I think it was premeditated fear. I think they believed everything they read and they just expected the worst. We have nothing but praise for the kids who parked on our place. Everybody else we talked to who had direct dealings with them felt the same way."

GARY BOND, BANK TELLER, "A few of the hippies cashed personal checks at my bank and paid for the long distance calls to their bank to verify the check."

"WOODSTOCK IN RETROSPECT", BY MARGARET MEAD, FROM REDBOOK MAGAZINE, JAN. 1970, "I was convinced from the start something very good happened at Woodstock. In spite of everything, the young people achieved what they had gone there for - - three days of peace and music. When my contemporaries tried to say what it was all about, they were puzzled. Most people of course marvelled at the absence of fighting -- the almost total absence of any kind of violence in a situation in which it would seem the smallest incident might have touched off a riot. On this occasion the extraordinary thing was their spontaneous gentleness. They had come of their own free will because everyone who cared would be there and it was a way of showing one belonged."

"Strangers for the most part, they spoke the language of people who trust one another. The responsibility for the festival was in the hands of young people who could think, respond, and plan in the style of the audience. That very acuteness of the crisis also meant that they remained in responsible control. Their choice of a location away from a large settled community turned out to be the only feasible one."

"In these circumstances, most accidental destruction can be avoided. We have the technology to set up if we will the necessary facilities for caring for the needs of an enormous temporary city. We have the human resources to protect the citizens of such a city and those among whom they come. If great gatherings of this kind are part of the style of living of present day young people, we can insure their safety. I do not think the Woodstock festival was a miracle, something that can happen only once. Nor do I think that those who took part in it established a tradition overnight. It was confirmation that this generation has, and realizes that it has, its own identity."

"THESE SUPER PROMOTERS", by SHELLY FINKEL, age 29, JIM KOPLIK, age 23, FROM TIME MAGAZINE, AUG. 13, 1973. "In regards to Watkins Glen, "The secret of our success was time. We began planning six months ahead and devoted our fulltime to it for two months. We figured that the first arrivals would be people interested in spending some time in the country, camping and so on, so we had 1,200 acres of land reserved." Finkel and Koplik are hoping to stage another big outdoor concert next summer. Already they are considering offers from Canada, California and Virginia."

From Medical World News, Aug. 24, 1973, Name of Article, "Keeping Rock Fans Well At Festival."

DOCTOR DEPUTY SHERIFF JOHN C. HERRMAN, "To me it was a challenge like Mt. Everest. I wanted to see if we could administer the event successfully."

QUOTE OF AUTHOR OF ARTICLE, "Even under the staggering onslaught of people, the Watkins Glen festival went without a hitch. The health team treated between 8,000 and 10,000 medical problems ranging from sunburn to appendicitis and they didn't lose a case."

HIS ASSISTANT DR. NAGLE, "There was no sense that things were out of hand. I felt very positive about the whole thing and in good control. I got around from tent to tent on a mini-bike and set up a system of message runners. There was a very good warm feeling toward the kids. Yet none of us got more than four to six hours of sleep the entire weekend. Drugs, surprisingly, were not a major cause of health problems."

ACCORDING TO DR. HERRMAN, "Considering the extent of the crowd (600,000) there was very little violence. We saw only two knife wounds the whole weekend. It was a very well-behaved crowd. They didn't hassle me at all."

The problems surrounding most of all previous music festivals stems from the fact that too little time was devoted to preparation. I have 5 1/2 months to plan for this festival and will devote all of my time to its preparation. Planning is underway for a liability insurance policy to pay $100,000 each incident. Medical advisors, doctors and paramedical people will be contacted and available at the festival.

I intend to employ between 2,000 & 3,000 security personnel from the Brinks Company. These will be law enforcement people in addition to the enforcement afforded by local officers. This is the largest land area ever used for a gathering of this kind (Watkins Glen - 1,200 acres with an attendance of 600,000 people.) I am going first to the town and county for approval and I intend to make all information, both good and bad, available to the county commissioners. The city and county will receive a percentage of the gate receipts. I am not trying in any underhanded way to pull the wool over your eyes. I am instead trying to bring all information to light.

Local Citizens Presented Plaques Of Appreciation

National Business Women's Week was celebrated October 21-27 by members of Colorado City Business and Professional Women's Club and their friends.

Theme for the week was "Opening Doors of Appreciation". Overall chairman of the week was Faye Spivey, assisted by Terri Keel. Other members were responsible for various activities.

Kick-off for the week was a breakfast at Villa Inn Restaurant with Chamber of Comm-merce president, Kenneth Rogers, Mrs. Rogers and Chamber Executive vice president, Sefton Pickens as guests. Molly Phillips, vice president, presented the devotional and also expressed the club's appreciation of the work of the Chamber members in building Colorado City.

Margaret Oyler and Margaret Conaway were hostesses for a coffee Monday morning at the Texas Electric Reddy Room. The public was invited to join members for coffee and doughnuts. More than 50 guests registered and many were interviewed by member Joy Culwell.

Interviews were for her radio program, "Joy to the World" which was presented live from the Reddy Room by special arrangements with KVMC.

Tuesday evening, members and their guests traveled to Big Spring for dinner and a visit with the Big Spring B&PW Club and district director and other visitors from Seminole.

Nurses, nurses aides, and kitchen workers were honored Wednesday with homemade cakes made by club members Velma Mosely, Faye Spivey, Ruby Cawthron and Molly Phillips.

Civic Participation Committee were hosts for Thursday night's meeting held at the Lone Wolf Electric Medallion Room and George Womack presented a slide program, "Norway, of the Midnight Sun."

Members of the committee were Margaret Oyler, chairman; Mary Lee Moore, Mildred Boyd, Betty Minshew and Perna Hart.

Conclusion for Appreciation Week was presentations to individuals representing law enforcement and veterans. Margaret Oyler presented a plaque to Chief Jesse Browning who represented the Colorado City Police Department.

Also, Sheriff Bill McGuire received a plaque from Faye Spivey. The plaques were made by Terri Keel, Jesse Bunch, Commander of VFW Post 9178, was presented a gift by B&PW president, Shirley DeLaney in recognition of all our Mitchell County veterans.

Tokens of appreciation were also presented to Mac McKinnon, Mrs. Spivey, Mrs. Keel, Joy Culwell and George Womack. Other guests for the evening included Joe Earliest, Marye Dozier, Mildred Boyd, Peggy Dement, Coleen Palmer, Tommy Mosely and Mrs. Clark.

Honored

Nurses, nurses aides, and kitchen workers were honored Wednesday with home-made cakes by Business and Professional Women's Club of Colorado City in observance of National Women's Week. They are back, left to

Porter Richardson Serves Citizens Of Colorado City

By Nadine Gordon

Above the common trend of "making a deal" or even double dealing, Porter Richardson does business openly with others and upgrades everything he works with.

He hardly understands people who are not willing to be of service to his fellowman. He has done perhaps more work free for the Chamber of Commerce than any other citizen.

An electronic engineer and programmer for radio station KVMC, Richardson took care of the engineering chores at the station in 1950 when he was employed in radio sales and service. Later he joined the staff and has participated in every area of work in this electronic medium.

A long time resident of Colorado City and the son of Mrs. Ed Richardson and the late Mr. Richardson, Porter graduated from the local high school and attended Hardin Simmons and Texas Tech.

At HSU he played in the world famous Cowboy Band directed by the illustrious Dr. Dewey O. Wiley. He was also a member of the symphony orchestra where he played the euphonium, a combination of E flat upright alto and B flat baritone.

Two unusual opportunities came his way for exciting summer employment. He joined the orchestra section of the Harley Sadler Company where he played the trumpet. Later he played bass in the band of Sam B. Dill Circus.

Experiences with the two entertainment companies perhaps broadened his scope for future work with the Colorado City Playhouse, to be organized many years later.

Engagements took the talented musician to cities in Texas, New Mexico and Arizona.

When Pearl Harbor was bombed, Porter joined the military service. Trained at Sheppard Air Force Base, he was sent to radio school in Nebraska and radar school in Florida.

In the charming town of Hollywood, Florida, at a USO party, the stage was set for Porter's own marriage drama. There he met and fell in love with diminutive Anita Milanni. This love affair progressed by mail.

South Pacific areas became familiar territory to the radar specialist who took the first air borne radar units and installed and operated them in the Aleutians.

Upon separation from the military, Porter returned to his home town.

It was a letter that carried his proposal to Nicky. The then prompt mail service brought her acceptance. Because Porter was unable to leave his work, Anita and her mother came to Colorado City where the young couple married in the First Methodist Church.

A charter member and third president of the Colorado City Playhouse, Porter has accomplished monumental tasks in staging and building. Many people of C-City attend the plays to see what Porter has created.

The innovative production man believes his most intricate props were in Stop the World. Movement on the shadow screen, working of gears, wheels and other basic things in the industrial line challenged him to put it all together.

The snow machine in Bus Stop was a second most creative prop to Porter. He laughed as he recalled making the third one before the cast could act under its intensity.

He mentioned that props for the young people had to be much stronger than those for adults. Although the seven beds for the dwarfs in Snow White had to be side-by-side Porter constructed them to stack. "It will save space," he grinned.

Why does he spend so much time on things used for such a short time? "There is something within that gives me great pleasure when I accept and accomplish making something. When it's done, and nothing is done, if it isn't just right for the need, I have all the satisfaction I want." So he has passed the joy of working with the hands to his sons. They, too, love the big workshop where activity has fascinated them since they were very small.

A man of few words, Porter does not recall but one time when he had too much mouth.

The theater people had been trying to find the right place to locate permanently. Tandy Curlee took Porter to the old Casle Roney rooming house. The city had to make some disposition of the property, and he asked Porter whether something could be done.

"Oh, yes," the overly enthusiastic man replied, "just make one big room here, an orches-

ter by comparing reports of the various departments, and also comparing the workload of the Mitchell County clerk's office to other counties.

The county tax rate will be the same for 1974 as it was for this year, $.95 per $100 of valuation based upon 25 per cent of the true or market value of the property assessed.
There is also a special rate tax of $.30 per $100 of valuation, voted by county residents in 1952, from which homesteads are exempt.

The county lost $9,394.55 in revenue because of the over 65 exemption.
The county assessed value is $40,372,330. The budget figures for 1974 were set low so that departments would try to stay within their budgets, explained County Auditor Dwayne Feas-
ter. The estimated budget figures follow, the first figure is income, the second is disbursements:

--Jury Fund, $7,020, $11,755;
--Road & Bridge, $56,650,
$47,840;
--Road & Bridge #1, $53,162, $54,930;
--Road & Bridge #2, $53,162, $54,930;
--Road & Bridge #3, $53,162, $54,930;
--Road & Bridge #4, $53,162, $57,830;
--General Fund, $182,520, $204,050;
--Permanent Improvements,
$17,550; $18,000;
--Officers Salary Fund, $106,

City Teams Play

The B-Team played in Merkel and won 13-6. Drex Grisham caught a 30-yard pass from Ray Torres for the first touch-down in the first quarter. Steve Bel-vin kicked the extra point.

In the second quarter Manuel Arrellano scored on a 1-yard run. The point-after attempt failed. Then in the third quarter, Merkel broke for a long run, but failed to make the point-after.

Outstanding players were Drex Grisham, Ray Torres,
Steve Belvin, Manuel Arrellano and Wayne McKee on offense, with Steve Turner and Ricky Hemphill playing good games on defense.

The 8th grade played Snyder
Lamar in Snyder and lost, 28-0.
Coach Rick Robinson said that they played a better second half than first half, the score at the half was 16-0.

Offensive standouts were David Ornelas, Ed Adams and John Boyd on the line; Kevin Gelger, quarterback; Ricky Rivera and Rene Garcia, half-backs; defensively the outstanding players were Blake Hammond, Ricky Rivera, Mike Wilson and Danny Torres.

The 8th grade will play Winters in a home game Thursday at 6 p.m. The B-Team game is at 7:30 p.m. in Wolf Stadium against Winters.

LITTLE LETTERS

By JILL DAVIS

Jill Davis, 10, answers letters from young readers and tries to help them with their problems.

Dear Jill,

I'm ten I forget to do my chores and I get in trouble. I need help.

FORGETFUL

Dear Forgetful,

Make a check list of all your chores. Hang the list where you will see it, then when you finish a chore check it off.

Dear Jill,

I want to join a private club, but the girls in it say I'm not good enough. What should I do?

JEALOUS

Dear Jealous,

Don't worry about it. If they say things like that it's not the kind of club you need to join.

Dear Jill,

My mother won't let me go to the movies by myself. I'm embarrassed to go to the movies with her. What can I do?

OVER PROTECTED

Dear Over Protected,

Ask a responsible friend to go with you. If your mother knows you're being watched over, she'll probably let you go.

Dear Jill,

I have a friend who cries about every little thing what can I do?

CRY BABY FRIEND

Dear Cry Baby Friend,

It's probably a stage she's going through, don't worry about it.

Dear Jill,

My father is getting a transfer. I'm afraid to leave all my friends what should I do?

TRANSFERRED

Dear Transferred,

Keep in touch with your friends by mail, but plan to make new friends in the town that you are moving to.

Dear Jill,

I asked my neighbor if she wanted to go to the drive-in for a milkshake. She went in her house and asked her mother, when she came out I told her she couldn't go with us. She started crying and I felt bad about it. What can I do to make it up to her?

HEARTBROKEN

Dear Heartbroken,

Ask your mother if you can take her next time, if you can, it will make her feel better.
