COURT GIVES ULTIMATUM TO NORRIS COUNSEL

So This Is Texas

Romance of Cities—
Fort Worth and Dallas—
Now Wichita Falls—
Greatest of All.

By H. N. Fitzgerald

A CITY as well as an individual has its romance. John Neely Bryan is dead. He was 80 when he passed on. He was the first white child born in Dallas. There is an old cabin carefully preserved in the shadows of the Buckner Orphan home, and in this log cabin on the banks of the Trinity the first white child was born in Dallas opened his eyes. Now Dallas claims to be a city of 225,000 and in the county of Dallas, according to its wise men, there is a population of 300,000 souls.

DALLAS is as modern as any city under Old Glory. It is a long call back to the builder of the log cabin where its first white child opened its eyes.

DALLAS has all the accessories of modern civilization. Dallas is as old and as new as the oldest and newest city in the land of the open spaces.

NOT many miles to the west of Dallas, 33 miles as the pike road runs, but not as the crow flies there is another city. For years it was known as Panthersville. This was its nickname. It was christened Fort Worth in honor of an army officer explorer and builder.

FORT WORTH is a wonder city. For many years it was the home of the cowmen of the west. They held their conventions there. They gave their fatstock shows there. They gave their rodeos or wild west shows there. Four of these men represented in individual fortunes a sum totaling more than $150,000,000.

THREE of the quartet are dead. One, W. T. Waggoner, is in the land of the living and the Waggoner estate is said to have a value of $60,000,000. All the Waggoners were cowmen. They have vast ranches. One day W. T. needed water for his cattle. He hired a driller and bored for water.

WELL, the driller brought in oil. This was at Electra. Now W. T. Waggoner owns his own oil field, his own oil refinery, his own tank cars. This in addition to countless acres of grazing land and large herds of blooded cattle.

HOWARD PEAK claims the distinction of the first born white child in Tarrant county or Fort Worth. He is in the land of the living. If one called him an old man he would put up an argument and settle it with a tongue combat.

GONE are the good old days when these first white men children born in Texas carried guns or shot it out to end an argument. Fort Worth claims a population of 190,000. Fort Worth claims to be the fastest growing Texas city.

* * *

FOR 50 years these twin cities of the upper country have been rivals. For years and years it was nip and tuck in the race for supremacy. Then Dallas forged ahead and has been doing the forging act ever since until the years 1925 and 1926.

* * *

THEN building activities slacked up in the city that once called itself the head of Trinity navigation. There was a reason for it. Dallas invested many millions in building. Dallas built many suburban districts for the white collar people and the wage worker. Dallas built many apartment houses. Dallas, to be concise, overbuilt and now the progressive men of the city say that it will take a year or more for the population to catch up with the building situation.

THERE must be approximately 500,000 people in counties of Dallas and Tarrant which are neighbors. This has created for one thing a wonderful home market for the products of nearby counties. Where will these cities be in another 25 years?

* * *

THEN jump 150 miles from Dallas to Wichita Falls. Wichita Falls, when it began to grow, became the fastest growing city in America and it as modern as any new built city created by men of experience and genius, can possibly be. Wichita Falls has greater advantages than either Fort Worth or Dallas, a trade territory as rich and as promising as can be found under southwestern skies, an irrigated district that should add thousands to the population of Wichita and adjoining counties.

IF WICHITA FALLS continues to jump along, how long, will it take it to pass the 100,000 mark and then how long to reach the 200,000 mark? Then take another long jump of hundreds of miles to Amarillo, in the heart of the new oil country where the population is estimated all the way from 25,000 to 40,000.

* * *

THEN make the run from Amarillo to El Paso, a city of 110,000 built according to the last lines in modernism, not many years ago considered the frontier city of a wild border land. Yes, there are romances of cities as well as romance connected with the lives of individuals and it is well for a Texan to know his Texas.

MEXICO BACKS REBEL FORCES IN NICARAGUA

Pres. Calvin Coolidge Makes This Direct Charge To Congress

LONG MESSAGE READ

U. S. Action In Behalf Of Diaz Regime Explained

MANAGUA, Nic., Jan. 10.(AP) Prinzapolca, a port 55 miles north of Bluefields was established as a neutral zone today when United States naval forces were landed. The troops of the liberal government are coming inland by way of the Grande and Escondo rivers.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—President Coolidge in a message to congress today charged Mexico with responsibility for fomenting the revolution in Nicaragua and pledged the government of the United States to protect its interests there and restore peace.

Coming like a bolt from a clear sky the message was an answer to criticism of the administration policy of intervention in Nicaragua and an implied warning to Mexico to keep "hands off."

First came the charge on "conclusive evidence" that Mexican arms had been shipped "in large quantities" to the Sacasa revolutionists.

President Coolidge made this conclusion:

U. S. Is Concerned.

"The United States can not, therefore, fail to view with deep concern any serious threat to stability and constitutional gov-

GEO. DECHERD'S PARDON ISSUED

Man Who Aided Ousting Jim Freed By 'Ma'

AUSTIN, Jan. 10. (AP)—Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson Monday granted a full pardon to E. A. Decherd, who as a member of the state senate in 1917, voted for the impeachment as governor of her husband, James E. Ferguson.

Decherd was sentenced to 12 years from Dallas county for swindling in connection with land titles. He has served about four months. Prior to going to prison, he was granted a furlough and a number of extensions.

Lillian Broussard, sentenced from Tarrant county; Bud Drake from Dallas, and Ernest Clark from Harris county were among others pardoned. The pardon proclamation on Decherd and others, setting forth the reasons are not yet available.

Dr. Morgan Callaway Jr., for more than a quarter of a century teacher of English in Texas university here, testified he lost heavily in land deals handled for him by Decherd.

Only Man to Call Rockefeller By First Name Dies

FINDLAY, Ohio, Jan. 10. (AP) J. C. Donnell, 72, said to be the only man in the oil industry to call John D. Rockefeller by his first name, died at his home here early today.

Donnell, who was an intimate friend of Rockefeller, was president of the Ohio Oil company, a trustee of the Equitable Trust company of New York, and a director of the Wheeling & Lake Erie railroad.

LITA GREY SUES

Wife of Charles Chaplin Seeks Liberty in Court.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 10.(AP)—A suit for a divorce from Charles Spencer Chaplin was filed here today by his estranged wife, Lita Grey Chaplin, in which she made sensational charges against the film comedian. The complaint in the divorce suit covered 42 pages and hurled a host of charges against Chaplin, including infidelity, threats upon his wife's life, lack of affection for his children and other accusations which were unprintable.

Widening of Seven Street Crossings Now Called Traps Asked of Council

Recommendations that seven street intersections regarded as dangerous be widened and improved were made by the city plan committee of the chamber of commerce in a report submitted Monday night to the city council. It was also recommended that Tenth street be widened from Baylor to Van Buren and that Huff avenue be opened from Harrison to Avenue B. This street is now closed between those two points.

Street intersections which the committee believed are unduly dangerous are Seventh and Brook, Eleventh and Harrison and the Tenth street intersections of Brook, Monroe, Baylor, Denver and Grant. At these points, it was stated, sharp angles are formed, or the streets are too narrow to permit traffic to operate in safety. Tenth street, the committee said, bears a heavy amount of traffic and ought to be improved by widening the corners. This can only be done by moving parkways and sidewalks back.

The committee was headed by A. L. Huey, chairman, and was composed of Mrs. P. A. Welty, John W. Thomas, W. S. Curlee, Charles I. Francis and Hubert Harrison.

Chairman Welty reported that a new zoning committee, composed entirely of attorneys and, which had been appointed last year by J. C. Mytinger, at that time president of the chamber of commerce, was at work on a complete new zoning ordinance for the city. The committee is composed of J. T. Montgomery, A. H. Britain, G. B. Smedley and Charles I. Francis.

CIVIL APPEALS COURT ASKED FOR WICHITA

Bill to Be Introduced At Opening of Fortieth Legislature Today

COURTS APPROVE ACT

Woman to Open Session For First Time In Texas History

Special to The Record News.

AUSTIN, Jan. 10.—Creation of the twelfth court of civil appeals, to be located at Wichita Falls, will be provided in a bill which has been drawn and is now in the possession of Rep. Roy J. Daniels of Wichita Falls. The bill will be offered in the house, probably Tuesday, by Mr. Daniels and Rep. J. D. Avis of Wichita Falls jointly, and in the senate by Sen. W. D. McFarlane of Graham, it was announced.

Follows Demo Platform

The bill will follow the provisions of the democratic state platform which called for a reorganization of the judicial system, and will carve a district out of the populus mid-west territory for the new court, to relieve the overcrowding of the Fort Worth court of civil appeals, and which will not interfere with the operation of any existing court of civil appeals.

The bill is said to have the general support of the bar throughout the entire district.

It will follow the rapid growth of population in the Wichita county section under which the number of cases has grown enormously and will shorten the distance of travel for the attorneys who must take the cases up on appeal.

Acceptable to All

The new district will cut counties from the Fort Worth and the Amarillo courts of civil appeals.

The measure is acceptable to both these courts, according to the information received by Representative Daniels.

The bill provides, "the twelfth supreme judicial district shall be composed of the following counties:

"Wichita, Montague, Gray, Archer, Young, Baylor, Knox, Wilbarger, Hardeman and Foard."

The court will have a presiding justice and two associate justices. Salaries of the judges will be $5,000 per year each as other civil appeals justices are now paid. A total budget of approximately $24,000 per year will be provided for the court, with perhaps additional sums for the first years for the provision of a library and equipment for the court.

A staff of officers and employes of the court will be provided as follows: "Clerk to be paid $3000 per year; deputy clerk, $1500 per year; stenographer $1500 per year; bailiff $100 per year; porter $720 per year." Sums for book cases, library, record books, stationery, repairs to furniture and contingent expenses will make up the balance of the budget.

WICHITA COUNTY THIRD IN NUMBER OF APPEALS

Only two other counties in the state—Dallas and Harris — had more cases on appeal during the last year than Wichita county, Ben G. Oneal, prominent Wichita Falls attorney, told The Record News Monday night in pointing out the need of another civil appeals court to be located here.

Wichita county during the last year ranked third in the number of appeals, Mr. Oneal said, and during the last four years has had a large number of cases before the higher courts. Last week at the sitting of the appeals court at Fort Worth, 40 cases originating from Wichita county were transferred to the Amarillo appeals court, which will necessitate attorneys and interested parties making a trip of more than 200 miles to Amarillo in connection with the hearings.

FORTIETH LEGISLATURE CONVENES AT NOON.

AUSTIN, Jan. 10. (AP)—A woman's voice Tuesday noon for the first time will call the house to order, while the deeper tones of a man will serve that purpose in the senate and the 40th legislature will be launched into a stretch of law-making practically certain to last 90 days.

Mrs. Emma Grigsby Meharg, secretary of state, soon to retire with Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson, who appointed her, will preside at the house opening, and Lieut.-Gov. Barry Miller in the senate.

TAKES HER TURN

Mrs. Dan Moody Gets Auto Tag No. 890-966 For Her Car

AUSTIN, Jan. 10. ((AP)—Mrs. Dan Moody, wife of the man who January 18, will become Governor of Texas, is not particular what state license number her automobile bears and so her car Monday was registered under the number, 890,966.

A friend of the Moody's visiting the state highway department to get a duplicate of the 1926 registration of Mrs. Moody's automobile, was informed that license number "002" was being reserved for the car in which the Governor-elect and his wife will ride. Inquiry at the tax collector's office here developed that license number "001" has been taken out for Governor Miriam A. Ferguson's automobile. Governor Ferguson's car bore the same number in 1926.

HASSELL JURY GETS EVIDENCE

Confession of Slayer of Nine Read to Jurors

FARWELL, Texas, Jan. 10 (AP)—Introduction of his purported confession to the slaying of his wife and eight step-children, parts of which were read to the jury, Monday marked the trial of George J. Hassel, farmer, for the slaying of his eldest step-son and nephew, Alton Hassell. A deathlike stillness fell over the courtroom as District Attorney B. N. Richards read the gruesome details.

The jury was not completed until 5:30 p. m. Monday. Hassell then refused to plead and Judge Reese Tatam ordered a plea of not guilty entered for him. Introduction of the alleged confession followed.

Hassell appeared smiling and unconcerned as court opened Monday morning. He was accompanied by an armed bodyguard. As the first witness took the stand, the family of his slain wife, including the aged father and mother, three brothers, a daughter and the daughter's husband, filed into the courtroom. The slain woman's daughter burst into tears when she saw her step-father and turned her back on him.

A night session was ordered to expedite the trial.

WICHITA FALLS TO FT. WORTH ROAD ASSURED

Contract to Pave 25 Miles In Montague And Wise Is Let

FIRM HERE WINS BID

Plains Paving Company To Handle Big Project For $205,000

The last gap in a direct paved highway between Wichita Falls and Fort Worth has been ordered closed by the state highway department at a cost of $205,000, Associated Press dispatches to The Record News said last night.

Contract for the work went to a Wichita Falls company, the Plains Paving company. The contract calls for a "high type" of paving on highway two in Montague and Wise counties.

About 25 miles of dirt road on highway two will be paved under the contract, J. P. Coleman of the Plains Paving company told The Record News Monday night. The new road will start at the end of the pavement at the Clay county line, will run through Montague, and to the pavement near Avord in Wise county out of Decatur, Mr. Coleman said. Wm. G. Morrison, also of the Plains Paving company, will return from Austin where he attended the highway commission meeting, Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

CITY'S BONDED DEBT LIGHT

Only $2,729,000 Outstanding, Report Shows

The city of Wichita Falls, with an actual valuation (estimated) of $75,000,000, has a general bonded debt of only $2,729,000, it was disclosed Monday by City Clerk W. E. McBroom in answering the query of an eastern bonding house seeking data on the community finances.

In addition to the general bonded debt, however, the city has a water fund debt of $942,000 and a sinking fund of $47,093.46.

The assessed valuation of the city for tax purposes is $67,650,000.

In 1926, bonds in the amount of $62,500 were retired. In November of 1925, however, additional bonds were retired to make the total of the past 14 months $237,500.

Robbers Abandon Stolen Cash Boxes in Field Near City

Nineteen small tin boxes, taken from a safe in the Nafziger Baking company plant on Travis street sometime Saturday night were found late Monday afternoon in a field, one and one-half miles south of the county farm. The discovery was made by City Detectives Hart and McCoy.

The boxes, which were used as individual receptacles by the various salesmen and collectors of the company, had all been broken open. All cash had been removed, although several checks and a large number of receipt stubs were recovered. The receipts, officials of the Nafziger company said, were important.

Approximately $1500 in checks and about $100 in cash was taken by the thieves.

Police reported that they had also been given a clue, regarded as important, to the identity of at least one of the men responsible for the robbery. They were still at work on this angle, however.

COUNSEL TOLD TO GET READY OR ASK DELAY

Defense Says Its Chief Witnesses Too Ill To Testify

STATE SAYS 'READY'

Court Gives Defense Until 9 o'Clock Tuesday To Decide Course

By Universal Service.

AUSTIN, Jan. 10.—The trial of Dr. J. Frank Norris, Fort Worth Baptist minister and the country's leading fundamentalist, was halted suddenly today.

Attorneys for the minister, who is charged with slaying D. S. Chipps, wealthy lumberman, threw a bomb into the prosecution when they told Judge James R. Hamilton at the opening of the afternoon session that more time to prepare their case might be required.

Judge Hamilton recessed court until 9 o'clock tomorrow morning. He indicated Dr. Norris would not be forced to trial. He said:

Court States Views

"This court is altogether too busy to have its time taken up by arguments which get us nowhere. You are ready for trial or you aren't, and as it is the history of this court that no case has ever been forced to trial with one side unprepared, I will give you until tomorrow morning to reach your decision."

The jurist's challenge to the defense came a few minutes after court convened at 2 o'clock.

In answer to the calling of the case, J. D. Moore, district attorney of Travis county, announced "the state is ready." But the defense's announcement caused a stir to ripple through the ranks of the great array of special prosecutors.

Defense Witnesses Ill

"We are ready for trial," Marvin B. Simpson, chief defense attorney, declared. "We feel this court should know that several of our important witnesses in this case are ill and that it will be several days before they will have recovered enough to come to Austin. We don't think we are justified in going ahead with the selecting of a jury in view of this fact."

This first parry of the defense for a delay was instantly met by a heated reply from W. P. Scott, one of the special prosecutors retained by H. C. Meacham, mayor of Fort Worth and the target for many of Dr. Norris, scathing verbal attacks, who demanded the defense to either announce ready or not ready for trial.

Defense Stands Pat

The defense refused to waver and the deadlock was finally broken by the ultimatum from the bench.

"We are only trying to show the court we didn't want to be censured at a later date for not informing him at this time that several of our witnesses were too ill to appear," Dayton B. Moses of defense counsel said after the adjournment.

Mrs. D. E. Chipps, widow of the slain lumber broker, and her son, D. E. Chipps Jr., who recently filed suit against the pastor asking $150,000 damages for the death of his father, were unexpected attendants at the opening session, attorneys for the state had indicated she would not come here until the jury had been selected.

Mrs. Chipps Talks

"My interest in the trial is so great I just couldn't remain away," Mrs. Chipps said while her son added that he "wanted to see the slayer of his father get his just deserts."

The widow sat upon a raised platform where the jury will sit if the trial is not delayed. Just below her sat Dr. Norris, his towering frame raising his rapidly graying head above the heads of the attorneys who surrounded him. Only once did their eyes meet and then

Mrs R. J. Claypool Leads Bible Study Program For Class at Church

"Christ is the great example to mankind," Mrs. R. J. Claypool, Bible study superintendent of the Floral Heights Methodist Woman's Missionary society, told members of the organization Monday afternoon when she directed the first Bible study program of the new year at the church.

Living the abundant life was discussed by the leader and the Biblical outline of study was presented from a chart on which she traced outstanding incidents in the life of Christ. Bible questions were answered by the members and the text book to be studied this year was announced as "The Life of Jesus," by Bosworth.

Mrs. B. M. Bullard directed the song service and prayers were given by Mesdames Claypool, S. A. Barnes and N. E. Roberts.

Preceding the Biblical study program, a brief business session was presided over by the president, Mrs. T. R. Boone.

Circle three led the attendance which included Mesdames Bullard, Jeff Waggoner, Charles Kilpatrick, H. W. Barton, W. L. Anthony, M. G. Harris, F. B. Cox, W. B. Chauncey, H. H. Davidson, C. B. Montgomery, N. E. Roberts, Lester Jones, W. H. Gaskin, Rebecca Prewitt, John C. Kay, L. E. Cowling, F. J. Schaeffer, J. H. Goodwin, M. T. Clements, C. H. Bingham, W. H. Costley, A. L. Lane, S. A. Southern Presbyterian Women Hold Meetings

Circle One of the First Southern Presbyterian Church met Monday afternoon with Mrs. J. E. H. Bailey, who also led the devotional lesson. Mrs. F. R. Johnson was in charge of the program on "Mexico," and read a letter from V. E. Lewis, a missionary in Mexico, who told of the religious agitation and how it is affecting the missionary work.

Mrs. H. E. Wilson read a letter from Mrs. Morrow, wife of one of the Presbyterian ministers who has been there several years.

In the business session, plans were made for the missionary study for the year, "The Open Door." A shower for the Day Nursery was also planned.

Circle Two.

Mrs. Phil Lesh was hostess to Circle Two of the First Southern Presbyterian Church with Mrs. Collins leading the devotional.

The lesson was on "Our Mexican Work at Home." Mrs. George Fleming talked on "Tex-Mex, Our School for Mexican Boys at Kingsville, under Dr. J. W. Skinner and Mrs. T. N. Colligan talked on the "School for Mexican Girls at Taft, Texas."

Plan for the missionary study was discussed in the business session.

Presbyterian Young People Hold Meeting

Cecil Dunlap led the program of the Floral Heights Presbyterian Christian Endeavor society at the church Sunday evening, and talked on the topic, "Confessing Christ."

Misses Willa Bell Griffin, Anna Anderson, Margaret McCandless, Cora Lee Morrow, Valta Wilson, Ruth Morris and Burgess Eason, sang a number, and talks were given as follows: "Conversion and Confession," Tommie Lee Griffin; "Some Excuses," Anna Anderson; "What Church to Join and an Active Membership," Ralph Dick Sr., and "Spirit of Humanity and Timidity," Ralph Dick Jr.

Sing-songs were enjoyed and the program was concluded with the Mizpah benediction.

Twenty-five members and 10 guests were present.

Rheumatism Can't Be Rubbed Away

Are you one of those unfortunates who suffer with pains in your muscles and joints, making you miserable, less efficient, interfering with your working hours, ruining your sleep?

You may have tried many things without relief. Why not try S. S. S.? For more than 100 years it has been giving relief in thousands of cases, as testified to in unsolicited letters of gratitude.

"I suffered from rheumatism for a good many years. At times my joints would swell so. I couldn't walk. I tried most everything. Went to Hot Springs and finally I decided to try S. S. S. I took a course. In a short time the rheumatic pains entirely left me. I also had a breaking out on my hands for years that nothing would heal, but now this has disappeared, and I am sure that it was S. S. S. which removed the cause. I am now in perfect health, and want to add that I have tried all kinds of medicines but I think S. S. S. is the best." Carl C. Campbell, 115 West Main Street, Johnson City, Texas.

S. S. S. is purely vegetable. It is extracted from the fresh roots of medicinal plants and herbs and gives to Nature what she needs in building you up so that your system throws off the cause.

S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.—Adv.

Every Day of the year is the "coldest day" ---judged by gas capacity!

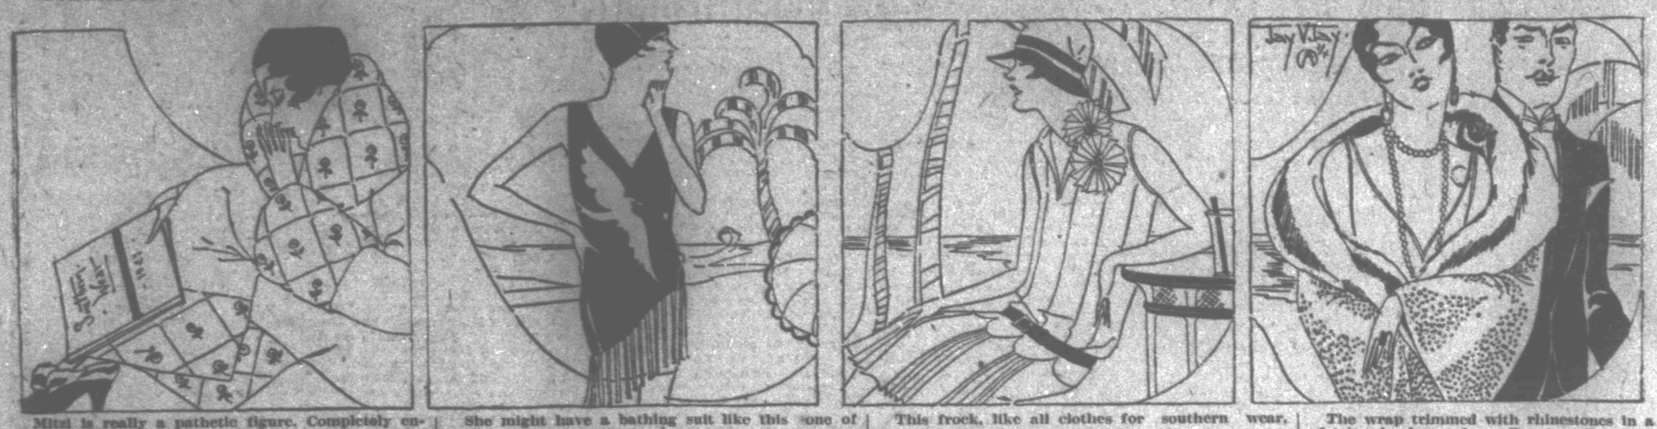

Cold days—what do they mean to you? Just rolling your collar a little higher and stepping a little faster, out-of-doors, and hugging the fire a little closer, in-doors. Soon you forget all about them—along in August you are actually wishing for them! But not so with the gas pipe line company! The extra gas demands of a few really cold days, set the gas company's pipe line and compressor capacity for the year 'round. It means that we must finance and maintain the year 'round a capacity capable of handling over 800 million cubic feet of gas daily, for a few cold days, when average daily sales amount to only 100 million cubic feet of gas. Every day is the "coldest day" of the year—judged by gas capacity. Remember this when you think of Lone Star Service—and the part it plays in making Texas and Oklahoma's rich supply of natural gas available to you.

MODISH MITZI — Something Will Have To Be Done About It — By JAY V. JAY

Mitzi is really a pathetic figure. Completely enveloped in a padded silk dressing robe with its collar and cuffs embroidered with roses she is dreaming of the perfectly glorious time she could have anywhere a few inches farther down the map. Just for instance:

She might have a bathing suit like this one of silk poplin with a seagull applique. The simplest bathing suit imaginable and almost unbelievably decorative in combination with a blue sky, white sands and quantities of sunshine. Why wait till summer?

This frock, like all clothes for southern wear, shows what will be fashionable everywhere for spring and summer, but why wait until then to own it? The simplest possible one-piece frock cut to look like a two-piece jumper dress. And TWO shoulder flowers!

The wrap trimmed with rhinestones in a pattern of triangles has a fur collar for effect rather than warmth. She could wear it anywhere, but if she went away she might find a perfectly new man to admire it—someone not too young and awfully distinguished, perhaps.

Tomorrow—Forecasts of a New Season.

Look For the Settled Man To Find One Who Will Be Faithful To Girl He Weds

Dorothy Dix says There is no acid test to determine whether any man will be true to woman he weds—Some men just swap around, while others are the steady sort—Platonic friendship between sexes is possible but very rare in youth but common in middle age.

Dear Dorothy Dix — I come in contact with men every day and I have about come to the conclusion that as soon as a man gets married he falls out of love with his wife and begins looking around for some other woman to flirt with. How in the world can a girl tell if the man she loves will love her until death doth them part?

A WONDERER.

Answer:

There is no acid test that you can apply to a man before marriage that will determine the percentage of faithfulness and domesticity in his nature.

The best that a girl can do is to try to get a line upon his general habits and outlook on life.

If he is one of the chaps who is always swapping from job to job; if his tastes and opinions are always changing, and if he chases after every petticoat that comes by, he is pretty sure to make a restless husband who will be bored to death with matrimony.

No woman can hold that sort of a man long because variety is the spice of life to him. He is bound to have change.

The minute he possesses a thing he loses interest in it, and this applies to wives as well as automobiles.

But, on the other hand, there are settled men who do not like change, and to whom everything takes on an added value just because it belongs to them.

This is the sort of man who always brags that he has the best house, the best gun, the best dog, the best car, and who even finds superior virtues in a woman just because she is his wife.

So if you want a husband who will be faithful to you until death, pick out a man with stick-to-it-iveness qualities, and then do your part in keeping him fascinated.

DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Dorothy Dix—A friend and I have been having an argument. I say that a man and a girl can enjoy each other's companionship and be good friends without becoming involved any further. He maintains that it is impossible for a man and a girl to sustain such a relationship to each other without one or the other falling in love. I think I am right. What do you think.

PAL.

Answer:

Platonic friendship is possible between the sexes in youth, but it is rare. In middle age it is common, and is one of the most satisfying and beautiful relationships in the world.

Boys and girls who play at friendship usually find that they have drifted unconsciously into love. However, in these days when young men and women work together, they stand on a practical platform that does not make so much for sentimentality as it does understanding.

Thus, with mutual interests, mutual respect and mutual give and take, for the first time in the world young men and women do have a genuine friendship for each other that is untinged by any warmer feeling.

Colds Stop

In a day—the effects disappear The $1,000,000 Way

Colds can be stopped in 24 hours. Fevers and headaches cease. Then the bowels are opened, the poisons eliminated, the whole system toned. Millions of people know that from experience.

All this is done by one perfect compound—HILL'S. It is so quick, so efficient, so free from ill results that we paid $1,000,000 for it.

Every home should keep HILL'S on hand. Take it at the first sign of a cold, so the trouble can't get started. That saves much discomfort.

But if the cold has started, HILL'S is the way to end it. Begin it now. Every hour of delay adds injury. Do nothing else, for the best helps are combined in HILL'S.

Do nothing less, for a cold is a serious matter. It is folly to take risks. HILL'S was developed in one of the world's largest laboratories, and no one can excel it. Tell your druggist that you want it, and that nothing else will do. Don't wait an hour. After one use you will always employ it.

CHECKED QUICK

To check a cold quick and to cut short an attack of grippe, influenza, sore throat or tonsilitis, take one or two Klok-Lax tablets on going to bed tonight. By morning you surely will feel great.

Klok-Lax contains ingredients now recognized the world over to completely cleanse out the 28-foot intestinal canal of all poisonous wastes which breed disease. And Klok-Lax is as easy to take—no nausea—no griping—and yet you are thoroughly cleaned out—congestion relieved, liver active—head clear and the poisons in the bowels moved out.

Doctors recognize constipation as the one greatest danger to health and longer life—don't trifle—treat constipation rationally—most remedies relieve but do not thoroughly cleanse. When you know how Klok-Lax benefits you tell your friends—you will be so enthusiastic you will strongly recommend it to others.

Your druggist will guarantee Klok-Lax.—Adv.

Prince of Sweden
Editors and Gorilla
O. K. With Nicaragua
The Bathtub Finale

By ARTHUR BRISBANE.
(Copyright, 1927, By Star Co.)

Mr. Leach, of the Forum, asked Prince William, second son of the Swedish king, to luncheon yesterday, and showed him the "import editors." The price, earnest pleasant young man, much more than six feet high, returned the compliment by showing moving pictures of the mountain gorilla that he killed in Africa, also a leopard devouring a zebra, just killed.

Modern women would be interested in the prince's pictures of African pygmies, including a young mother with one baby in front nursing, another hanging on her back with its little legs wrapped around the mother's waist.

Prince William shot his mountain gorilla as it charged at him, only three yards away. The gorilla ran fifty yards and died. It weighed 400 pounds, knew nothing about any divinity hedging a king, and would have torn the plucky young Swede to pieces had it covered those last three yards.

American youth will want to know that Prince William has diamonds in his cuff buttons, wears a black coat with braid on the edges, but without any tails, long striped trousers and has a thin waist that would fill the stout American business man with envy.

In addition to the dull collection of "leading editors," with faces far less interesting than that of the gorilla killed on the mountains of the moon, Mr. Leach had collected interesting people, including two Roosevelts, Theodore Jr., and Kermit. It was their father's book on hunting in Africa that started the prince in that direction.

There was also Ernest Thompson Seton, who could have told exactly what the gorilla was thinking about when the bullet hit him; Stefansson who knows the north as well as the prince knows the equator, and Mr. MacRae, head of Dutton and company, who makes good books. It was an interesting party.

President Coolidge tells congress that "rebels" in Nicaragua get assistance from President Calles, of Mexico. The rebels are to be congratulated, assuming that they are on the right side, as some American rebels in 1776.

On the other hand, the Nicaraguan government has the assistance of this country and its president, so it probably can afford to laugh at Mexico—although you never can tell.

There may not be any punishment for stage indecency, but there is for lying. Earl Carroll, according to sworn testimony, got a young woman half drunk, then caused her to appear naked in a bath tub filled with real or imitation champagne to amuse an intellectual gathering of friends.

Nobody took seriously the drunken-naked-bath-tub part of it. But Mr. Carroll was convicted of lying under oath, and the United States court decides that he must spend a year and a day in prison. If you give a naked-wine-bath-tub party, dont lie about.

BASH IN DALLAS

Wichita Falls Pastor Speaks At Meeting of Laymen

Dr. Floyd Allen Bash, pastor of the First Christian church, accompanied by Mrs. Bash, left Monday morning for Dallas where he spoke Monday night at the annual banquet of laymen of the ten Christian churches of Dallas. His address was on "Distinguished Service Christianity."

Dr. Bash will be in Fort Worth Tuesday to attend a meeting of the board of directors of the Christian churches of Texas in an all day session. He and Mrs. Bash are expected to return Wednesday.

DALLAS, Jan. 10. (AP)—Barnabas' part in developing Paul into a great preacher was the theme of an address by Rev. Dr. Floyd A. Bash of Wichita Falls, speaking before the joint board of Christian churches here Monday night.

Dr. Bash emphasized the necessity for co-operation of the layman in the spreading of the gospel of Christianity.

MORE INDICTMENTS

14 Billed by Jury in Second Report To Court.

A second partial report in which 14 additional indictments were returned was made Monday afternoon by the grand jury of the 30th district court. The jurors recessed until Wednesday after reporting their findings to Judge Ernest Thornton.

Henry Botts was indicted on a charge of theft of goods over the value of $50, it being alleged that last November he had stolen a large quantity of lead pipe from a local concern.

Dorace Huges was indicted on a forgery charge, it being alleged that he had forged a check for $35, using the signature of Roy I. Carter.

None of the others indicted had been arrested at a late hour Monday afternoon.

EDITOR RESIGNS

Texas U. Student Paper Involved In Row.

AUSTIN, Jan. 10. (AP)—Protesting what he termed "the violation of the freedom of the press," Sam Johnson of Marlin resigned Sunday as editor-in-chief of the Daily Texan, daily newspaper published by the students of the University of Texas. Johnson in an editorial written on the day of his retirement charged the discipline committee of the university attempted to control the affairs of the Daily Texan and convert it from a newspaper to a faculty organ.

WIFE OF SLAIN MAN IN COURT

Mrs. Dexter Chipps Turns Her Back on Norris

only for a moment as Mrs. Chipps turned her back on the pastor.

Though denied the companionship of his wife, who remained at his side during the hearing on his application for a change of venue in Fort Worth last November, Dr. Norris faced the preliminaries of his trial encouraged by hundreds of friends and followers. Shortly after he entered the court room, two ministers of Austin sought him out and extended their greetings and consolation.

Talks to Wife

But above all these efforts to make his load lighter, the crusading evangelist and nationally known champion of fundamentalism, valued most a last-minute telephone conversation with Mrs. Norris who Sunday night preached from his pulpit in the First Baptist church of Fort Worth, one of the largest in the world.

Displaying a slight nervousness that bespoke, not fear, but rather the impatience of a fighter eager to enter the arena, Dr. Norris watched the preliminaries of his trial unfold with intense interest. He leaned forward in his straight-backed chair as members of the special venire presented reasons for exemptions.

Norris Interested

And when 14 of the veniremen said they could neither read or write the English language, he smiled and turning to one of his friends said, "Wouldn't it be funny if they couldn't get a jury here."

During the lulls in the proceedings the militant pastor, twice before a defendant in a criminal proceeding, the first time on a charge of burning his church in 1912 and the second time on a charge of perjury in 1913, discussed events of the day and showed a keen interest in a press dispatch telling of the dropping of the Aimee Semple McPherson case in Los Angeles.

Death Verdict Asked

The state announced before the opening of the trial they would ask the death penalty.

In the face of this the preacher maintains he will be satisfied with nothing but a complete acquittal.

"When testimony is taken," he said, "we will bring out some things that will make the world wonder why I was ever indicted."

Arch-enemy of evolution and close friend of the late William Jennings Bryan, Dr. Norris said tonight his acquittal will increase his strength and following until it is the greatest of any preacher in the world.

$100 BLAZE

Rooming House Fire Does Small Damage.

Fire starting in a clothes closet caused damage of about $100 Monday afternoon at the old Murphy rooming house, 806 Ninth street. All the paper on one bedroom was burned away, the bedding was destroyed and the furniture damaged.

Firemen subdued the flames with chemicals.

The cause of the blaze was not determined.

Sheet Glass Firm Capitalized At $300,000.

The American Sheet Glass company of Wichita Falls, with a capital stock of $300,000, has been incorporated, it was revealed Monday with the granting of a charter at Austin. Frank Kell, Joseph A. Kell and G. D. Fox are the incorporators.

Frank Kell is president and Mr. Fox is general manager of the Wichita Falls window glass factory, one of the city's largest manufacturing institutions.

CHILD TELLS FATAL SECRET

Father Kills Wife Suspected As Unfaithful

BLOOMFIELD, N. J., Jan. 10. (AP)—A "secret" revealed by a six-year-old child to her father for a bribe of a few pennies led to the slaying of her mother and the arrest of her father on a charge of murder.

Richard Stringer, 32, the father, told the police that when he returned home from work Saturday he found his two children, Marion, two, and Anna, six, alone in the house.

Anna, he said, rushed up to him with a shout. "Daddy," she said "if you will give me money for candy I'll tell you a secret."

A few pennies were produced and Anna told her secret. A strange man, she said, had been coming to the house in the afternoons to see her mother.

Stringer told police he left the house and after a vain effort to purchase a revolver in Bloomfield finally obtained a small rifle in a Newark sporting goods establishment.

On returning home, he said, he questioned his wife, Gertrude, also 32, and after a quarrel that extended into the early hours of Sunday he shot and killed her. He then proceeded to police headquarters where he startled attaches by calmingly announcing, "Sergeant, I just shot my wife."

BONUS LOAN BILL

Texas Senator Lays Measure Before Congress.

AUSTIN, Jan. 10.(AP)—American Legion officials here have been advised by Earle B. Mayfield, United States senator from Texas, that he had introduced a bill in congress directing the veterans' bureau to make loans to ex-soldiers on war certificates.

PLEADS NOT GUILTY

Slayer of Wife Will Ask Suspended Term.

DALLAS, Jan. 10.(AP)—W. O. Parker, charged with the slaying of his wife, Rosa Lee Parker, and M. M. Gremillion, butcher, pleaded not guilty at the opening of his trial Monday for the slaying of his wife. Completion of a jury was effected at 4 p. m. The defense indicated it would ask a suspended sentence.

SON OF SLAIN MAN AT TRIAL

D. C. Chipps, Jr., To Watch Norris Case

By BESS CARROLL

AUSTIN, Jan. 10.—Once more—as in the days when wagon trains rumbled West—ten-gallon hats shade the "mill of justice" that is grinding out destiny in the Southwest's most celebrated trial.

"There is no law against killing a Chinaman," ruled Judge Roy Bean—"the law west of the Pecos"—a long time ago, and recessed court to stand behind his bar and serve the jury whiskey "straight."

And, even now, with the days all done when every man was a law unto himself, an echo of the lurid past remains—in Travis County courthouse, where the Rev. J. Frank Norris, of fundamentalist fame, faces trial for murder. There, in the court of Judge J. R. Hamilton, rugged old-time Texans are gathering under broad, flopping hats; their tanned faces might have watched a "bad man" hanging a century ago—their boots are of the vintage of '66.

Courthouse Ancient.

"The courthouse was built 56 years ago," said S. A. Philquist, district clerk.

"In 1876 this old pile of white limestone was the pride of the State. The big chandelier that hangs up yonder in the center of the room—it was bought for $80, and was one of the 'sights' of the times. Its glass prisms have remained unbroken, strange to say—once they represented all the grandeur that was. Its incongruous here—it ought to grace a ball room. I think it was dusted last year. Let me see—maybe it was the year before."

Gleaming on the stern brown wood-work that swathes the room, this venerable chandelier—a massive, majestic thing—shines down on an ancient wood stove. It is said that even now, court fans and lawyers bet on who can make the best "shot" at that old stove, and it is as tobacco-stained as an old man's white beard.

Many Noted Trials.

Famous trials have been enacted in this setting. There was the Burt murder case, in 1896. Two hideous bodies that had been a pretty woman and her little child, were found in a cistern—Burt was hanged for the crime.

Then, in 1907, the Waters-Pierce oil case came along, awarding the State a $2,780,000 penalty for a breach of the anti-trust laws.

Two years ago, it was here that the famous election of "Ma" Ferguson to the governorship was made possible, through the court declaring her eligible for office.

In this background, with a face as serious as the pictures of famous lawyers that line the walls, young D. E. Chipps, son of the man Rev. Norris killed, watches proceedings with his childish face prematurely solemn; hears the legal machinery squeak and is fascinated.

"I may be a lawyer," he confided. "Once, I thought I'd be a lumberman, like my father. But now—well, I might enter law school. Then, I can take good care of mother when I grow up."

"His association with lawyers, brought about by this tragedy, has really turned the child's mind in that direction," his mother said.

Another Blackstone.

And so, perhaps another Blackstone has been made, shaped by the cruel mould of spilled blood.

As young Dexter Chipps—going on 17—confers with veteran lawyers, while the freckles on his plump cheeks show, the eyes of kindly old men—gone now, once czars in the legal realm of Texas, watch him from the walls, where their faces hang in portraiture.

There was a time in Texas when justice was simple and swift; when two or three men gathered at a lonesome tree, swung a horse thief or a "rustler" on a handy limb, giving him at least a boost toward heaven—and that was that.

But now not even Frank Norris—pastor of one of the country's largest flocks, knows what the law will do, here in this lurid setting that has been the fate of men dealt out like cards.

SEWER DECISION

Court Expected to Rule Saturday On Tax

A decision will be rendered next Saturday by the court of civil appeals at Fort Worth in the case of the city of Wichita Falls vs. T. B. Landers, it has been learned.

A decision was expected last Saturday by the court was unable to conclude its findings at that time.

The case is one in which the city is appealing from the decision of a local district court which held the city's special sewer rental tax was invalid. Landers, a property owner here, brought suit challenging the right of the city to enforce a nominal monthly charge as rental for use of the city sewer system. He was sustained in the lower courts and an appeal was taken by the city.

Balloting for three new directors will also be conducted at the meeting. Nominees for the directorship election are Charles S. Richardson, J. C. Lovelace, Bruce Neeley, M. D. Welverton, Dack Walker, Will O'Connell and F. M. Miller. The retiring directors are F. J. Marcell, A. A. Cooper and Dr. H. C. McKinney.

SECRET OF PEACE

European Rulers Make Each Other Laugh.

PARIS, Jan. 10.—One secret of peace in Europe seems to have come out. N. Briand made Herr Stresemann laugh. It seems that the German foreign minister was bemoaning his country's woes. "Don't!" pleaded Briand, "you'll make me cry." And Herr Stresemann roared.

BUILDING PERMITS

Building permits started off lightly for the week, four being issued Monday by Building Inspector Fred A. Smith. The total valuation of these was $6400. All were for small residential or repair jobs. Permits for last week were unusually light, the total running slightly over $51,000.

FOR Sour Stomach PHILLIPS' Milk of Magnesia

Hereafter instead of soda take a little "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" in water any time for indigestion or sour, acid, gassy stomach, and relief will come instantly.

Better Than Soda.

For fifty years genuine "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" has been prescribed by physicians because it overcomes three times as much acid in the stomach as a saturated solution of bicarbonate of soda, leaving the stomach sweet and free from all gases. Besides, it neutralizes acid fermentations in the bowels and gently urges this souring waste from the system without purging. It is far more pleasant to take than soda.

Try a 25c Bottle.

Insist upon "Phillips." Twenty-five cent and fifty cent bottles, any drug store. "Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875.

Rheumatic Pains Yield to Capudine

No matter what treatment your doctor may be giving you for the cure of rheumatism, you will find that the addition of Capudine to the treatment will greatly assist, by relieving the pain and reducing the fever and inflammation. Ask your physician about Capudine—nearly all of them approve it and many prescribe it regularly as a part of their treatment for rheumatism, gout, sciatica, lumbago, neuralgia and nervous headache.

Remember that rheumatism is a dangerous disease. It should have the attention of your physician and every available remedy should be employed for the comfort, safety and welfare of the patient.

Physicians and druggists also recommend Capudine as the safe quick and dependable agent for relieving nervous pains and high nerve tension. Every home should be supplied with Capudine. Get a bottle today at your druggist's and if you do not like it far better than anything you have ever tried, the manufacturers will cheerfully refund the price upon request. PETE PEPS UP

The Spudder management has shoved the left field fence ten feet further back and stuck on an extra deck, making her eight feet higher. But that means little in the life of Petey Turgeon, at least, so he avers. After chasing out to the park and taking a squint at the new port barrier, Pete just grinned and said, "that won't affect me any." That's the most he ever warbled at one time in all his life. The mauling midget feels sure he can sock 'em over the new wall with the same abandon he used to shove 'em over the old.

But there'll be several less home runs sailing out of the Spud orchard next summer than in bygone days brought wild cheers from fandom in "artistic" appreciation of a heart-felt sock.

* * *

It begins to appear Pres Gardner is going to stand pat on his present roster. The greater mid-winter drive for talent is over. But, Jabes Alvin still has strings out for another throwing arm or so.

BUS IMPATIENT

Buster Ross, the portside pitching youngster who stacks up as a bit of the best raw material ever brought into the league, drops Sec Guy Airey a line bubbling over about how glad he'll be when training camp opens, passing regards to Turgeon, Fussell and Gardner, and inquiring if Joe Kiefer remains with the club this season.

Yep, Kiefer will. He's expected to be one of the chunking aces.

Freddy Fussell will be in great condish. Mrs. Fred is attending to that. She's got the wronghander on a schedule, feeding him about 8:30 each morning herself instead of letting him chase to town for restaurant fare, watches his diet closely and sees that he hits the hay early. Fred's grabbing off gobs of natural exercise in his trucking business. Nemesis of the champion Steers, the eccentric one is expected to prove a Tartar to the entire league as well from the starting gong.

* * *

Jack Spragins' Electrics already begin to loom as the pace-setters in the women's cage loop. Bunch of husky, healthy girls who are liable to run rings around the rest of the gang if great precautionary steps aren't taken. They say there's not a girl on the squad who does smaller than a five and a half eye gym shoe. But that's ticklish business, this talking about feminine feet. Guess I'd better sing soft and low.

* * *

The Dutchman blew in and blew out yesterday en route east on some kind of a business voyage. The old Lion still packs his roar. Turped, "Gimme all of 'em. I'll wrestle the Indian, Grip or the Chinaman any old day and run 'em out of there!"

* * *

YUS, YUS, YUS

And then a couple of notes from consumers:

"Dear Blondy:

"Seems to me I have heard rumors Wichita Falls is going to have a baseball team next summer. Is it? Or are it?

"A curious fan,

"J. H. H."

Where'd you wake up? Don't get excited. You is right. There is such rumors which is correct, maybe. Yes. I think it are. However, each year about this time similar rumors is been going the rounds.

"Mr. Cross:

"Why 'woof' the 'cutomers?' When are Matsuda and Reynolds going to hold another one of those 'finish' matches? I didn't see their match, but break down and confess, don't you think they had reached an agreement to go to a draw?

"However, do not consider this letter as a 'bawling out.' I really like your stuff and outside of your baseball and football work I think one of the greatest things ever done by a sports writer was your organization of the girls basketball leagues. If a few more men would get behind and build a gymnasium now, that would be the next greatest step.

"Yours for clean and more sports,

"An All-Around Fan."

Thanks for the joy-ride, Mister. Yours is the first anonymous missive of many I've received in which I did not in truth catch a "bawling out" of some sort. The girls are rocking right along nicely and perhaps by next fall there will be a gym for them to practice and play in regularly. But lay off the soap about me doing any organization labor. No need for credit there. When little Miss Louise Boyse and another gel came over and said, "We got us a girls' basketball team and we want you to go out and find us some teams to play against," why, you think a young fella like me wouldn't crack right down and get busy? Gents may prefer blondes, most of 'em may, but then a few hours later when Dan Boone of the Whippets and I surrounded little Miss Mary Brown, fair-faced, blue-eyed brunette, and broached basketball to her—well, I don't know what Dan'l started thinking about, but I began meditating over girls' basket teams and more of 'em, brunettes preferred, but blondes acceptable. And pretty soon we had four clubs lined up and they started practicing and I always—almost always, anyhow—was present and the first person to answer sideline roll call. All I wish now is this newspaper would hire two sports writers and assign one to report all sports news that I didn't report and that would be everything but the Spudders and the performances of the feminine basketeers.

But about that wrestle: Since you didn't see the match don't you think it's rather poor form to make any insinuations? I never have heard of a bout in which either Matsuda or Reynolds participated that was not strictly on the up-and-up. When will they meet again? It's doubtful if ever. Matty, as I have remarked here before, doesn't think very much of getting back into the ring with Reynolds. But draw your own conclusions.

GLOVER MEETS BILLY EDWARDS IN FINISH BOUT

Kaufman Forced by Injury To Sidestep Titular Match

Ernie Glover of Dallas, claimant of the southwestern light heavyweight mat championship, has been substituted for Clete Kaufman in title strife with Billy Edwards, world's light heavy king, at the Palace Wednesday, Matchmaker A. B. Ross announced Monday.

Kaufman has come up with a small bone in his wrist broken, said Ross, and will not be able to meet Edwards. However, he wants a whack at the new champ at a later date, said Ross.

Glover recently defeated Stanley Rogers, Edwards' opponent in a match Monday night, and feels sure he can wrest the title from Edwards. The match is to be a finish affair, New York commission rules, according to Ross. Glover, Ross said, insists the match go all the way with no two-hour limit as was pulled off here last week in the Matsuda-Reynolds battle. The champion is said to have smiled when told Glover's request and remarked, "Perhaps he will wish the match not only was cut down, but cut down far shorter than two hours, before it's all over." Both athletes are said to cater to the commission style of grappling and care little for Police Gazette edicts.

There will be no change in the preliminary match, according to Ross. Charley Grip, the popular egg-head, takes on Johnny Carlin, Swedish champ, or chump—not sure which, in a finish tiff. Wichita Falls fans will admit Carlin is a champ if he has the ability to beat Grip, but if he has not, then he's a chump for climbing into the ring with the Buffalo explosive package.

Landis Has Two Problems Now

May Fire 35; If He Doesn't, How About Weaver?

CHICAGO, Jan. 10.(AP)—While Commissioner Landis pondered whether to keep the 33 players in the "Risberg series" on the major league baseball roster, or scratch them off, he was presented today with a request from one of the "black sox" of 1919 for reinstatement.

Buck Weaver, former White Sox third baseman, pal of Swede Risberg and Chick Gandil and banished from baseball with them because of the crooked 1919 world series, concluded his denial of any knowledge of the plot to buy a series from Detroit in 1917 with a stirring appeal to Landis for reinstatement.

Today he sent the commissioner a formal reminder of the appeal. "I hereby request that my application for reinstatement be considered," Weaver's letter to the commissioner said. While Risberg was making his affidavit, he told Landis he did not care for reinstatement. Gandil also said he did not care for it but wanted to know why he had been "blacklisted."

"That's a newspaper expression," Landis said. "You are on the ineligible list as far as baseball is concerned because you have just admitted 'doughing' two ball games."

Weaver not only denied knowing of the "fixed" Labor day series between Detroit and Chicago in 1917, but he declared, and others substantiated him that he had refused to contribute to the Sox pool of $350 for Detroit pitchers.

TCU Cagers To Play Longhorns

Along Cauliflower Alley

PITTSBURG, Kan., Jan. 10 (AP)—Sammy Mandell, world's lightweight boxing champion easily defeated Jimmy Lanning of Scammon, Kan., here tonight in a 10-round bout. Mandell dropped Lanning in the third round for a count of nine and during the rest of the bout doled out heavy punishment. Lanning held on and clinched all the way.

DAYTON, Ohio, Jan. 10 (AP)—Mike Dundee, Rock Island, Ills., lightweight scored a technical knockout over Sid Conn of Dayton in the second round of a scheduled 12-round bout here tonight. Dundee floored Conn four times before Referee Davis stopped the contest.

TORONTO, Jan. 10. (AP)—Unable to come out for the ninth round because of a broken jaw, Tommy Mitchell of Toronto lost the Canadian lightweight championship tonight on a technical knockout to Cliff Graham. Mitchell weighed 134 1-2 and Graham 134.

Tex Rickard Holds Answer to This Question

It looks as if Tex Rickard holds the answer to the heavyweight situation in his hand. After signing up Jimmy Maloney, he contracted both Knute Hansen and Paul Berlenbach to sample the thumps of the man who won over the illustrated "Swede," Harry Persson. Berlenbach's battle will depend on the outcome of his fight with Mike McTigue next month.

Maloney's winning will evidently match him with Jack Sharkey or Paulino Uzcudun. The Spanish contender is the only foreigner left in the elimination entries.

SPORT a la CARTE

BY ROY GROVE

Why are there so many dubs at golf in the United States and so few good professionals? It seems that the more a golfer plays and the further he goes into the game the worse off he becomes.

The everyday golfer becomes erratic and cannot get down to the business of golf because he doesn't take the time or takes too much to analyze his game.

The best professionals of the world are not men who have put in days and weeks of reading on this or that point.

They, first of all, "got hold of the club" and sent the ball down the fairway to the green and kept playing until they had perfected that shot.

Practice is their only excuse for success and the average golfing enthusiast should look at his game in the same light. He cannot expect to step out onto the tee and slap one for 200 straight and get his second on the pin if he doesn't practice that very shot every day, or a thousand times that day.

There is not a man in the game who practices more at golf than the golf professional. He'll talk your game, but never trys to play the thousands and thousands of words that he uses.

Baseball is still an arbitrary conversation these winter days. The game is not making the money it should. There were heavy losses in certain towns of both leagues last summer.

Something must be done to save the game. The managerial shakeup is one of the efforts to get the game back before the public.

It will help a great deal to see new faces and new managers out there on the diamond, and above all, new names to talk about. The fan lives on expectations of seeing something unusual. He will get it this season.

Landis will see that the game is kept on a straight basis. His court methods have been "most successful in organized baseball.

Fighting as a sport is growing on the public. The game is getting to be what might be termed a "summer hold" on the public.

There was a day when fighting was considered a winter sport, but nowadays in the grab for the dough the game can go along as well in the hot days under the boiling sun as it did the day we sat the coldest day indoors.

When a game gets to the point where the promoters start fighting each other for the privilege of putting on a show, as the boys in New York are doing, in an effort to oust Rickard from his stronghold, then the game is worth going to watch.

Competition in sport among the bookmakers is the life of the game. More ball clubs, more pro tennis players, more pro football, would make the game or break it.

Champion Edwards Beats Stan Rogers

DALLAS, Jan. 10. (AP)—Billy Edwards, light heavyweight wrestling champion turned back the first aspirant for his crown here tonight when he took two falls out of three from Stanley Rogers, Dallas grappler in a rough and tumble bout that kept the crowd in a roar of excitement.

Edwards won the first fall in nine minutes with a headlock. Rogers came back to win the second fall in 25 minutes with a body and arm lock. The third fall had gone 14 minutes when Rogers tossed the champion over his shoulder and both were knocked out in the fall. The referee gave the decision to Edwards who chanced to be on top.

Majors Meet With Minors To Discuss Draft and Player Farms

By Universal Service.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—Baseball moguls of the major and minor leagues will meet at French Lick Springs, Ind., January 17 to work out a program to enable more players to break into the big circuits, Clark Griffith, president of the Washington Senators and spokesman for the big leagues, announced today.

Major league officials will seek to increase the number of players each club can hold optionally while getting experience in minor leagues, from eight, the present number to 15, Griffith said.

The increase, unanimously favored by the big leagues has thus far met with no opposition from the minors, he added.

Another matter to be settled is whether all 27 minor leagues shall be forced to surrender their star players to be drafted by the majors. Twenty-three minor leagues already do this, but the others— International, California and three I leagues and American association—have refused at previous meetings.

Representing these "Independent" leagues at the January 17 meeting will be George E. Muhlebach, president Kansas City American Association club, and H. W. Laps, president Hollywood, California League club.

Representing the majors will be E. S. Bernard, president Cleveland Indians; Clark Griffith, president Washington Senators; Robert Quinn, president Boston Americans; Barney Dreyfuss, president Pittsburgh Pirates; Willie Veach, president Chicago Cubs; and William F. Baker, president Philadelphia National club.

For the minor league which yield to the draft will be M. H. Sexton, New York, president National association; A. J. Heinemann, president New Orleans club; Arthur J. Shean, president Springfield, Mass., club; Walter Morris, Dallas, Texas, club; and J. H. Farrell, New York, secretary National association.

Texas Christian university, only remaining Southwestern conference team that has not yet played a conference opponent, will go into action here Tuesday night against the Texas University Longhorns and the 1927 race for the basketball pennant will be well under way.

Already one dope upset has occurred since the opening of the season Friday night when the Rice Owls bowed to Arkansas. Southern Methodist university, rated one of the strongest teams in the race, went down into defeat 31 to 28 Saturday night before the Texas Aggies, who have been rated in the second division. At the end of the regular period the score stood at 28 all, but in the extra five minutes the Farmers scored three points.

Texas had a tough contest with the Baylor Bears Saturday night but jumped into a commanding lead after the first three minutes and were never in danger of losing. The final score was 32 to 15. At Fayetteville the Arkansas Razorbacks took two games from the Rice Owls over the week-end. Friday night the Porkers won, 26 to 18, and Saturday night, 34 to 18. From all indications the Arkansas quintet is headed for another conference title to add to the one they acquired last season.

The real contenders for this year will not be known until after the Horned Frogs appear at Austin Tuesday night. In taking on Texas as first conference opponents the Frogs will run up against tough opposition, for Coach Doc Stewart has a team that ranks close to his 1924 squad that went through the season undefeated while winning 26 consecutive contests.

Hornsby Gets Into Trouble

Race Track Bet Agent Says He Owes $92,000

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 10. (AP)—Frank L. Moore, Cincinnati betting commissioner, today conferred with William F. Fahey, attorney for Rogers Hornsby, former Cardinal manager, as the first formal step in an effort to collect $92,000 he alleges he advanced to Hornsby, but which Hornsby denies.

"This is all news to me and it sounds like a joke," Hornsby declared. "This fellow must be talking about my automobile license or my fielding average. I have referred him to my attorney and I don't care to discuss it. But I will say that it is ridiculous to suggest that Moore would give me or I'd accept $92,000 worth of credit. I don't owe Moore a quarter."

Hornsby stated he had never made a bet through Moore, although he frequently had received tips on horse races from Moore and had both won and lost money on the tips.

"The tips were bad of late," he said. "I lost money and Moore lost money. But I don't owe Moore a quarter."

Moore and his attorney, William Burkamp of Newport, Ky., arrived here yesterday and were at the union station to meet Hornsby upon his return from New York where he signed a two-year contract with the New York Giants to whom he was traded recently. Hornsby referred them to Fahey.

"At a preliminary conference last night," Moore said, "Fahey's attitude was to treat the matter lightly with the opinion that we had only a gambling debt to show. But when we showed him our documentary evidence he asked for time to talk with Hornsby.

"I was very much impressed when I met Hornsby several years ago and took great pride in knowing him and associating with him. I guess it was hero worship. At any rate it was expensive. At first Hornsby would bet only $10 on a race, but later after having a few winners he wanted to bet hundreds instead of ten.

"Last year at his request I advanced $7500 so Hornsby could make the initial payment on a St. Louis apartment house. I also advanced him money at various times to pay his debts and make bets at his request."

Hornsby recently revealed that the Cardinal contract, which he rejected, included a provision that he should not bet on horse races or associate with those who do.

FOUR-WAY DEAL

Player Trade In National Staged Monday

NEW YORK, Jan. 10. (AP)—In a four-cornered baseball trade between the Philadelphia, New York and Brooklyn clubs of the National league and Buffalo of the International, Catcher Walter Henline and Outfielder George Harper were traded by the Phillies to the Giants for LaFayette, Thompson and Jack Scott and Henline was immediately traded by the Giants to Brooklyn for Pitcher Burleigh Grimes.

Pitcher Raymond Pierce and Infielder Bill Huber of the Phillies were also involved in the deal, going to Buffalo in exchange for Pitcher Alex Ferguson, formerly with the Boston Red Sox, New York Yankees and Washington Senators.

The transaction carried an agreement that the Giants will send Buffalo a pitcher and outfielder under optional agreement after the spring training season. Brooklyn will contribute a pitcher to the Bisons on the same basis. These transfers will compensate the Buffalo club for Thompson, an infielder, who formerly was with Pittsburgh.

PANTHERS WIN OUT

Terral Cagers Issue Challenge To Landon-Hill

TERRAL, Okla., Jan. 10.—The Terral Panthers defeated the Ringgold Independent five Saturday night by a score of 31 to 18.

The Panthers started off in the lead which they held during the entire game.

The Terral team is anxious to secure games with any Wichita Falls independent teams, preferably Landon-Hill.

SOX SIGN GAMES

Chicago Americans to Play Texas Loop Nines.

CHICAGO, Jan. 10. (AP)—The Chicago White Sox Monday announced exhibition games with the Shreveport Texas League club for March 12 and 13 and with the Fort Worth club for March 18, 19 and 20. The White Sox expect to leave the Shreveport training camp late in February or early in March.

CITY LEAGUERS HOOK ON TRIBE COURT TONIGHT

First Division Teams Mix It With Second Division Array

THE CARD.

Guardsmen versus Continental.
Hub Clothiers versus Landon-Hill.
Panhandle versus Draughon.
First game: 7 o'clock.
Place: Junior College gym.

Special attention is called to the fact the Commercial league will play its triple-header tonight at the Junior college instead of Zundelowitz where the league openers were staged last week. All games hereafter are to be played at the Junior college, according to announcement by League President Jim Jones.

Bubs Mosley will officiate and intends to start the Guards-Continental melee at 7 sharp.

Tonight's games find last week's victors shuffled up and pitted with last week's losers. There is quite a possibility of the percentage column becoming scrambled as the after-enders strive to turn back the leaders to force a percentage tie.

The Guards, Landon-Hill and Panhandle were victors last week.

Rickard Irons Out Title Snarl

He Seeks Opponent to Meet Gene Tunney

NEW YORK, Jan. 10 (AP)—Tex Rickard Monday bent to the task of ironing out details of his elaborate heavyweight program, seeking to definitely fix Jack Dempsey and Jack Delaney in the scheme of his elimination program.

A conference with Delaney was expected to decide whether the light heavyweight champion is to be included in the race with Jack Sharkey, Jimmy Maloney, Paolino Uzcudun and Paul Berlenbach for the chance to battle Gene Tunney next September. Pete Reilly, Delaney's manager, thus far has declined to fight the "rank and file" of contenders, holding out for bouts against Dempsey and Tunney.

With the heavyweight champion's contract already in his pocket Rickard Monday was prepared to deliver an ultimatum to Delaney.

"If Delaney elects to ignore the other heavyweights who have done all that has been asked of them then it is his funeral," said the promoter.

Rickard also has wired Dempsey asking information on the date of the former heavyweight titleholder's return here. He expects Dempsey to accept at least one match before seeking to wrest back his lost laurels.

Legless Man To Swim Catalina

AVALON, Santa Catalina Island, Cal., Jan. 10 (AP)—Charles Vimmy of Oakland, although legless, believes he has a good chance of crossing the turbulent passage between this island and the California mainland. He is entered in the $40,000 Wrigley marathon channel swim starting from the isthmus on the island next Saturday.

Vimmy thinks he has a better chance to win than many of his competitors because he has no legs, which, he claims, drag a swimmer down. Just to prove his aquatic skill he swam 10 miles in his opening workout yesterday. His time for the distance was six hours and 42 minutes.

Vimmy was born legless.

EAGLES BEAT BYERS

BYERS, Jan. 10.—The high school quintet was defeated on the local court Saturday in a hard fight by the Bellevue Eagles, 14 to 24. Turpen, Eagle captain, was high point man, scoring 9 points.

WALTONS MEET

The Izaak Walton league, chapter 100, meets Tuesday night in the courthouse at 7:30, it was announced Monday.

All members of the league and any other sportsmen who may be interested are invited to attend the session. Several important business matters are to be taken care of.

E. G. Hill will preside.

Saints Eleven Has Heavy Card

St. Edward's Gridders Sign Big 1927 Schedule

AUSTIN, Jan. 10. (AP)—St. Edwards' university gridiron warriors will engage in at least eleven intercollegiate tilts next fall, a tentative schedule made public Monday by Coach Jack Meagher, shows.

High lights on the schedule are games with Baylor, Rice and Loyola besides five games with Texas conference teams. Only one of the contests is being considered for Austin, that with Daniel Baker college, and the Daniel Baker authorities are pressing strongly to have the game played there, as the Saints are popular with the fans in Brownwood.

Every team in the Texas conference will probably be played, giving the Saints a crack at the title during their first year as a member of the youthful circuit. Arrangements have already been made for games with Simmons, Southwestern, Howard Payne and Austin college and have practically been completed for a game with Trinity.

The schedule:

September 24, Simmons university at Abilene.
October 1, Texas Tech at Lubbock.
October 8, Rice Institute at Houston.
October 15, Baylor university at Waco.
October 22, Southwestern university at San Antonio.
October 29, Loyola university at New Orleans.
November 5, open.
November 11, Howard Payne at Brownwood.
November 19, Daniel Baker at Brownwood or Austin.
November 24, (Thanksgiving), Southwest Texas Teachers at San Marcos.
December 3, Austin college at San Antonio.
December 10, Trinity university at a place to be selected.

GAME TO WACO

S. M. U. Cagers Unable to Play On Home Court.

DALLAS, Jan. 10 (AP)—The basketball game scheduled to be played here Saturday night between the S. M. U. Mustangs and the Baylor University Bears has been transferred to Waco because the new gym at S. M. U. has not been completed, an announcement from the S. M. U. athletic director, said today. Opening game for S. M. U. in Dallas will be against Rice, January 22.

CAGERS CROWD MASKAT COURT

Four Girls' Teams Practice At Same Time

It looked like more than half a nation's basketball teams were congregated at Call field court Monday night. John Barnard's P. B. M. outfit, member of the women's basketball league paced through a short drill. Then Jessie Doak led her Electrics against Louise Boyse's Conocos in a practice game that bore all the competition and near-strife of a match melee. While on a back court, Coaches Chubby Neal and John Clary drilled the Whippets.

Hardly had hostilities ceased between the Conocos and Electrics before the Continental male squad and Tyson's Panhandle team, members of the commercial loop, breezed in and began the tapering off process, finishing touches for tonight's league game scheduled in the Junior college gym.

The Conocos displayed real class throughout their scrimmage against the Electrics with Mrs. Bill Abbott grabbing spotlight by uncanny skill at sinking goals. The feminine Oilers appear in better condition than any of the league teams. However, the Electrics showed that with a bit more practice they probably will prove a difficult barrier to other championship aspirants.

COOLIDGE ON MILITARISM

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE went all the way to Trenton N. J., to fill a speaking engagement. He declared against militarism. These are his words: "I do not believe we can advance the policy of peace by a return to the policy of competitive armaments. While I favor an adequate army and navy I am opposed to any effort to militarize this nation."

He paid an eloquent tribute to the father of his country. This is an excerpt: "Washington and the patriots of his day wanted peace. We want peace. They found it necessary to make great sacrifices in order to secure it. We cannot escape the corresponding sacrifices. We cannot establish the new principle unless we are willing to make some sacrifices unless we are willing to put some courage into our conviction."

All Americans are for peace. All Americans are for adequate army and navy. All Americans are opposed to militarism. A vast number of Americans are committed to the doctrine of keeping their powder dry and ready for an emergency.

After another thousand years rolls by, the nations of the earth may be thoroughly civilized and until they are civilized they are not going to bow to the golden rule as their guide.

There are lakes of oil in Mexico. Americans got in on the ground floor. They have an investment of a billion dollars in those Mexican oil preserves. Mexican lawmakers, American oil men say, are about to confiscate their property.

Man is a fighting animal. He has been a fighting animal from the beginning. He has the same traits of character, the same passions, the same prejudices, and the same lust for gain that the ancients had.

This is the richest of nations. Poverty-stricken nations do not love their rich and powerful neighbor. European nations do not love the mightiest republic since time begun.

Tis trust that the fighting men and fighting money of this republic saved the European allies from the sword of the kaiser. 'Tis true that some of the money loaned to these allies must be paid to the governmnt of the great American republic. It is also true that the borrowers do not take kindly to the proposition.

They say they were bled white, that they won the war, that we did not get in in time and should cancel the war loans and loan billions in addition to the billions already loaned by American banks and bankers to the allied nations of Europe who took over the spoils of war when Germany and Austria-Hungary were dismembered.

Washington and the patriots of his day day wanted peace, they fought for peace, they won peace. After winning it they kept their powder dry. They were wise. The time came when the powder was needed and American patriots were ready to burn it.

BILLY ADAMS OF COLORADO

BILLY ADAMS of Colorado is a ranchman and he has been in the saddle 40 years. He is the owner of large ranches and large herds of cattle. He is one of the picturesque men of the centennial state. He was dragged into the race for governor by the old school democrats of Colorado, for Billy is a democrat and he doesn't care who knows it.

He has represented his district in the senate for many years and is a rugged square shooting and square dealing type now rapidly passing. His democratic followers and friends told him that Colorado needed a cleanup, that it needed an old fashioned democrat who stood for the principles of Jefferson and the policies of Jackson. Billy Adams surrendered. He made the race in a republican commonwealth. He fought the klan and the republican machine. He has notified the inaugural committee that his speech can be delivered in five minutes because he knows, as a member of the legislature, that the members don't pay much attention to what incoming governors say.

Billy Adams is a man of action more than a man of words. He will have a republican legislature on his hands, but many of the republican lawmakers are the personal friends of Billy and the press of Colorado says they are willing to meet the democratic ranchman and former cowboy half way.

Why not? A chief executive should be the governor of all the people. He ceases to be a partisan after he has taken the oath of office. Thereafter it should be his duty to recommend the policies which will redound for the greatest good to the greatest number and insure peace and progress and broad tolerance for all the people of the commonwealth.

NEGRO DEMOCRATS IN TEXAS

DEMOCRATIC lawmakers in 1922 enacted a law which prohibited negroes from voting in democratic primaries in Texas. L. A. Nixon of El Paso, a negro who had for years voted the democratic ticket, was refused permission to vote in the democratic primary. He brought suit against the election officials which the trial court dismissed on the ground that the state law relating to primaries did not present a federal question.

Now the question of the jurisdiction of the federal government in the state primary elections has been precipitated in the supreme court of the United States by the Nixon case from Texas. Texas election officials did not present any defense on the appeal and were not represented in court by counsel.

Attorney General Moody who happened to be in Washington, obtained permission from the court to file a brief on behalf of the state defending the validity of the law and questioning federal jurisdiction. This makes it interesting. A United States senator is a federal official; a congressman is a federal official. Next.

Dr. Atticus Webb may challenge these figures. If so, let the worthy doctor take a fall out of the health commissioner of New York City.

The HOLLYWOOD GIRL

© JOHNSON FEATURES INC. 1926

By Beatrice Burton

Author of "Love Bound," "Her Man," "Honey Lou," Etc.

We're Only Small Town Folks, After All," She Said.

READ THIS FIRST:

BOBBIE RANSOM, a demure little school teacher of 22, is anything but the flip sort of girl you would expect to be "movie struck." But she is. For years she has dreamed of going to Hollywood to "break into the pictures."

The only drawback to her ambition is lack of money, for although she earns plenty of it, everything she makes has a way of slipping through her fingers, for she loves to spend. Her widowed father refuses to lend her a penny to go on "such a wild goose chase" as the Hollywood trip. So does her maiden AUNT GERTRUDE—and so does ANDREW JERROLD, who loves her and wants her to stay at home and marry him. But Bobbie is determined to go.

At last she borrows $500 from the well-to-do WIDOW PARKINS, who is going to be her father's second wife, and goes to Hollywood with a high heart and a full purse.

At the boarding house of the eccentric MRS. MANGAN, she meets STELLA DELROY, who's an extra girl in the movies. Stella takes her to the Magnifica Studios, where she's working, and Bobbie gets a job there for two days in a film starring beautiful Joan Joyce.

ROY SCHULTZ, the director, takes great interest in her blond loveliness and gives her a little extra part. So does the assistant director, GUS MACCLOUD who tries to make love to her on the way home one night. Bobbie rebuffs him, not at all flattered by his careless love making. But later that night, when she sees him walk into a restaurant with Joan Joyce, she feels the first sharp pang of jealousy she ever has felt in her life—and she realizes that she cares for MacCloud. MONICA MONT, an extra girl who's well-known around the studios, makes friends with Bobbie, and finally comes to live at Mrs. Mangan's house. Bobbie is not pleased over this, for Monica is a gold-digger and never pays her bills. One night Monica has a phone call from MacCloud, who wants her to persuade Bobbie to go on a party to the gambling town of Tia Juana the next day. Bobbie eagerly says she'll go.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XVI.

At ten o'block that night Stella Delroy knocked upon the door of Bobbie's room and walked in.

She looked tired, and there were purplish shadows of make-up under her eyes. She had been working late at the studio, and her body sagged into a chair by the door as if there were no life in it.

"Why on earth are you washing your head at this time of night?" she wanted to know. "Gosh, I'm dead. I've been on my feet almost all day."

Bobbie smiled at her through the meshes of her wet gold hair.

"I'm not washing it. What I'm trying to do is to get it dry," she said quickly. "Tell me about the picture you're playing in? Is it a comedy or what?"

She didn't want Stella to ask her why she was washing her hair. She didn't want Stella to know about the Tia Juana trip in the morning. After all, Stella had been her first friend in Hollywood—and it might hurt Stella's feelings to know that there was a party on, and that she had been left out of it.

"You must be ready to go somewhere at the crack o' dawn," Stella remarked with a little yawn that she tried to hide.

Her tired green eyes darted around the room, taking in the high-heeled slippers beside the bed, the freshly brushed hat that lay on the bedspread, the new gray chiffon stockings in their tissue-paper wrappings on the dresser.

Over the foot of the bed hung a flesh-colored satin girdle, a slip of sheer handkerchief linen, and a white organdy dress. From all of these things came the fragrance of wood violets—a smell so faint that it was scarcely more than a hint of sweetness in the air. Tantalizing.

"Did you get a call from the Central casing office?" Stella persisted, lifting her eyes from the scented clothing to Bobbie's flushed face.

Bobbie shook her head. Then very slowly, she came out with the truth. She was no good at lying.

"No, I'm invited to drive down to Tia Juana with some people," she said.

"People?" Up went Stella's eyebrows in her amazement. "But I thought you didn't know any people here in Hollywood!" Then, as if a sudden thought struck her, she nodded towards Monica's bedroom on the other side of the house.

"She going?" she asked, and her tone made it plain that she didn't think much of Monica Mont.

"Yes, Monica's going, and so's Gus McCloud—and some other people," faltered Bobbie, wondering how she had happened to tell all this to Stella, when she had just made up her mind not to! "We're starting tomorrow morning, first thing after breakfast. I don't know how McCloud got away from the studio for a day while he's so busy working with Mr. Schultz on Joan Joyce's picture."

"Oh, that would be simple enough," Stella told her. "Is Joan Joyce going on this party?" Her green eyes were cold and wise, and her voice sounded like ice cracking.

"I'm sure I can't tell you—" Bobbie was beginning when she cut in again.

"Well, I can!" she snapped. "And I can tell you that she's not going, without even asking anybody about it! She's not the kind of person who goes on joy rides in a gambling town with a lot of rowdies! That's why she's where she is today! At the top of the heap!"

Bobbie straightened up, stopped rubbing her head with a Turkish towel, and listened to her with wide eyes.

"There are two kinds of people in Hollywood just as there are two kinds everywhere," Stella went on. "The sober, sensible people who are making the pictures and acting them—getting somewhere. And the other kind that do all the jazzing around and raising Cain! It's up to you which kind you want to be."

"But Gus MacCloud! Surely he's the right kind of person," Bobbie pointed out.

Something like a spasm of pain passed over Stella's queer little white face with its enormous eyes and drooping mouth.

"Oh, men! Men are different. They can do as they please and get away with it," she said. "I was talking about girls. For example: Gus MacCloud can run around with nice girls and girls that aren't so nice, and who cares. He's a man. But a girl's got to keep some kind of pride or she's sunk—especially out here in Hollywood. And a girl with any pride in herself wouldn't go tearing off to Tia Juana with a lot of strangers! Why, you people probably won't get home until Sunday morning some time, and not then, maybe!"

Bobbie shivered and pulled her shell-pink kimono tighter around her knees and shoulders. September nights are cold in California.

She looked at Stella Delroy, whose real name was Riggs, with eyes that measured her. Stella wasn't getting ahead in Hollywood, for all her purity and her preaching. She worked like a dog taking any job, and yet her clothes were shoddy, her eyes mournful, and neither rouge nor powder could give her face the cream and roses look of youth. The mark of failure was on Stella if it ever was on anybody.

She got up. "Goodnight, Bobbie," she said. "I'm going to bed. And you think over what I said. I know what I'm talking about. I used to tear around this town when I first came, and it got me—nowhere! I'll tell you all about it some time when I'm in the mood."

Once more that queer little look of pain showed in her face for just a second. Then she had opened the door and closed it behind her.

Bobbie sat motionless on the edge of the blue-green bed, and stared at her bright reflection in the mirror of the dresser across the room.

"But Monica tears around like a wild woman, and she's getting on," she argued with herself. "She's as tough as shoe leather and yet Roy Schultz is going to give her a good comedy part in a picture."

She wondered if the private doings of the movie folk had anything to do with their success or failure after all.

"If you can just get some director crazy about you, you're made!" Monica had said. "Pull's the thing that counts in Hollywood!"

Did it? And did it make any real difference if she went to Tia Juana the next day or not, Bobbie wondered. She argued the question pro and con, lying snug and warm between the fluffy blankets of the blue-green bed, with her eyes fixed on the palm-leaf shadows that swayed across her window panes.

The palm leaves. They made her think of Tia Juana. Of hot sun-baked white walls with brown-skinned people sitting against them. Of the coast road that led down to Tia Juana, and of herself and Gus MacCloud skimming over the road side by side, in a long cream-colored roadster. Tomorrow morning.

"I want to go, goodness knows!" she whispered to herself. "I haven't wanted to do anything so much since I can remember."

In the end it was a long-forgotten memory that settled things for her. A memory of something that had happened between herself and Andy Jerrold more than a year before.

She had asked Andy to take her to a burlesque show, back home. Some of the gang they ran with were going to go, just for a larky devilish thing to do.

They did go, too. But not she and Andy! For Andy refused point-blank to take her. A burlesque show, he had said, was no place to take a girl that you respected and cared for.

"I might take some girls there, but not you, Bobbie," he had told her, and she remembered how grim he had looked at the time. "But not you!"

That was men for you! They'd do wild things themselves and they didn't care if certain women did them—but not their own women—not the ones they cared for. Other women might take a cocktail or a cigaret or go to burlesque shows for the fun of it, but not their women!

"And that's just it," said Bobbie Ransom to herself that September night, making up her mind at last. "If this Gus MacCloud really cared for me, he wouldn't have wanted me to go to a terrible town called 'Satan Town' with him. He thinks I'm just a good-time girl! Well, he'll find out that I'm not!"

She stuck to it, too. The next morning when a big cream-colored roadster and an olive-green touring car drove up in front of the house, she stayed upstairs in her room.

"You won't come, then?" Monica asked, dashing in for a second, all bright-colored clothes, dangling beads and bracelets and violent perfumery. "Because I know they'd wait while you dressed if you'd only change your mind and come along!"

Bobbie, sitting up in bed with her hands clasped around her knees, silently shook her head. She was dying to go and it was hard to pass up this good time.

"All right, but you're missing half of your life, little darling goody-goody!" said Monica, and slammed the door behind her.

Bobbie peeked out from behind her bedroom curtains. Gus MacCloud was alone in his big roadster. There were three men and three gay-looking girls in the olive-green car.

Monica opened the door of MacCloud's roadster and scrambled in as if the seat next to him belonged to her. There was a roar of engines and they were gone. Bobbie gazed after them and her heart was as heavy as stone.

At 10 o'clock there was a call from the Magnifica Studios for Bobbie.

Mrs. Mangan brought the glad tidings to the door of her room.

"You're to go to the make-up man at 1 o'clock," said she. "I took the message for you—not knowing whether you were still asleep or not. The call was from Mr. Schult. Is that Mr. Roy Schultz, the director?"

Bobbie said it was, and her voice fairly sang the words. Instantly she forgot her disappointment about Tia Juana.

"Lucky I didn't go," she told herself as she took an icy shower that made the blood tingle all over her body. "I wonder what the make-up man is going to do with me. I'll bet they're going to make some camera tests of me."

She was so fearful of being late that she got to the studio before 12 o'clock, and found the door of the make-up room closed.

So she wandered over to the commissary to have a bite to eat, while she was waiting for 1 o'clock.

Every table was filled with picture people, some of them in make-up and costume. Well-known directors sat at the counter beside office boys and camera men. The stars rubbed elbows with the extras.

There was only one empty place in the room. It was at a table for two, where a lone woman sat picking at a chicken salad sandwich.

She saw Bobbie gazing at the empty chair across from her, and beckoned for her to take it.

"I was wishing for someone to come along," she said as the girl sat down. "I hate to eat alone, don't you? I think people ought to talk while eating, always. Otherwise it seems such a melancholy business, somehow."

She shoved the menu card across the cloth to Bobbie, and went on with her lunch. But from under her thick curved lashes she watched her.

"I ought to be having hot tamales and enchiladas down in Tia Juana this noon," Bobbie told her, after a pause. "I was going to drive down there with some people, and then I backed out at the last minute. I was dying to see the place too."

"It's nothing to see. Just a dusty street lined with saloons and gambling dens," the other woman answered. She finished her sandwich and leaned back in her chair.

She was a pretty dark woman with lovely sensitive hands and gentle eyes. A nice hausfrau sort of woman—the kind that would know how to make ice-box cake and darn socks so that they felt comfortable to the feet afterward.

"And why did you back out at the last minute?" she asked, and Bobbie found herself actually telling her why!

"I see," the woman said quietly. "And I think you were right, if you don't mind my saying so. It's just as well not to do things that might look the least bit shady to other people. You know, here in Hollywood we're only small town folks, after all, and we all do gossip."

She drew circles on the tablecloth with her spoon for a minute, and then she glanced up and looked straight into Bobbie's eyes.

"Do you mind telling me who the director was who asked you to go on this trip?" she asked. "Was it—Was it Gus MacCloud?"

(To be continued)

Bobbie hears a few interesting details about MacCloud—and goes on her first Hollywood party in tomorrow's chapter of "The Hollywood Girl."

BO BROADWAY ..... By Joseph Van Raalte

NEW YORK, Jan. 10.(UP)—As a concession to the hairline breask of the plebean that bisects my soul, I sometimes forego my usual luncheon at Sherry's, travel down to the Dilapidated Thirties, and stew in the aroma of cheap coffee and greasy doughnuts, purveyed by Frank the Wop.

But I am going to stop it. I am right-handed and I have never yet taken my seat at a lunch counter that I haven't found myself on the wrong side of a southpaw bean shoveler.

A Fifth avenue shop ran an advertisement in the New York papers in the form of a soliloquy on the business of waking up.

Beneath the picture of a dainty damsel snuggling in a feather mattress, in a lace cap, on a down pillow, under an embroidered silk coverlet, the rosewood couch shaded by tapestry drapes, there appeared the following lines:

"There are, of course, certain primitives who enjoy early rising and make a boast of the vicissitudes thereof—the calisthenics, the cold plunge, the bathroom chanety. But is the female of the civilized species these is no wisdom comparable to having breakfast in a soft draped bed, with fragrant coffee and a service of breakfast china, such as may be achieved at Sonnso's."

I can picture a woman with six kids, who stumbles out of bed at 6 o'clock every morning into the dismal half-light of a little Bronx flat, glancing through the paper while the bacon is sizzling and the youngsters are fighting in the bathroom, running across that ad, and pausing to wonder why she didn't know enough to marry for money instead of love and affection.

A New York landlord was arrested for failure to provide sufficient heat for his tenants. Bail was fixed at $500 and although the landlord is worth more than half a million dollars, he couldn't get a bondsman. Even the Shylocks who make a profession of bonding men and women who run afoul of the law refused to go to his assistance. Five of them stepped up, took one look at him and shook their heads. "He's too mean," they said. "Let him go to jail. It'll do him good."

A film company for which a prominent New York artist worked went on the rocks. I asked the artist, "Why? Bad management?" He answered: "No. Too much efficiency."

Then he told me of an efficiency expert that had been called in at a high salary to make recommendations about the run of the studio and plant. For one thing the efficiency expert decided that all of the desks in the executive and scenario offices were an inch too low and that the employes lost thousands of dollars to the company in efficiency because they had to bend over too far and so retarded the circulation of the blood. New desks were bought and the old ones scrapped. Then he decided there was eye-strain from the lighting arrangements, so new lighting fixtures were installed at terrific expense. Then he decided that all partitions should be only half way to the ceiling, so as to allow better circulation of air. Every time he would make one of these changes, all employes were kept idle because the officers were torn up. By the time the efficiency expert got through, the place was very efficient, but there was no money left to pay the rent.

KELLYGRAMS ..... By Fred C. Kelly

WHEN A BAD START IS GOOD

TWO new plays opened in New York a time ago, and one, because of a famous star, started off with a capacity audience. The other, by an unknown author, only about one-third filled the theater.

A few nights later the managers of the two theaters compared notes.

"My guess is," said the manager who was getting the small crowd, "that my piece will have a longer run than yours."

"It isn't starting off that way," retorted the rival manager.

"No," admitted the first one, "but my crowd, small as it is, shows a slight increase each night. I notice that your crowd each night is a trifle less. If these trends continue, your show will have to close while mine goes on."

And that was exactly what happened.

Ever since the manager of the show with the slow start told me about that, I have been noticing how the same thing happens every day.

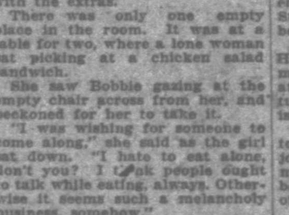

Maybe right in your own neighborhood is a family that makes a big show by spending more than their income, while next door is another family, starting humbly, but with a gradually growing bank account.

I know of a big business enterprise so prosperous and well established that its very prosperity may be its undoing. Most of the department heads, seeing things booming along on momentum, feel no need for perspiration but arrive late in the morning and take two hours for lunch.

On the other hand, a careful study of men's habits by a big insurance company showed that being heavily in debt is by no means a misfortune. When a man owes a large sum of money he works all the harder to get this burden removed. His poor start becomes an asset.

One of the old philosophers once remarked that a homely man who really tries can win any woman away from a handsome devil—because the latter will feel too sure of himself and won't work hard enough at being agreeable.

It doesn't matter how poor a start we have if we're nudging along in the right direction.

The wicked borroweth, and payeth not again; but the righteous sheweth mercy, and giveth.

For such as be blessed of him shall inherit the earth; and they that be cursed of him shall be cut off.

The steps of a good man are ordered by the Lord: and he delighteth in his way.

Though he fall, he shall not be utterly cast down; for the Lord upholdeth him with his hand.—Psalm 37:21-24.

PASTOR RILES GIRLS OF CITY

They Score Statement Which Favors Farm Maids

By Universal Service.

SAN ANTONIO, Jan. 10 — Flappers were joined by clubwomen today in opposing the views of the Rev. William H. Joyner, pastor of the Beacon Hill Baptist church, who, in a sermon here advised youn men to marry "a girl from the country, who had moved to town."

"Country girls make the best wives," he said. "Don't marry a city girl unless she is a country girl moved to town. Don't marry an idler either; her brain is the devil's workshop. She may be too lazy to wash the dishes or her face.

"Don't marry a fashion plate. She will keep your nose to the grindstone."

The Rev. Mr. Joyner's sermon has caused no little comment and excitement among the city girls, who deny that their rural sisters make better wives than they do.

SEYMOUR SOCIETY

Special to The Record News.

Roy Lankford and Delbert Hooser return to San Antonio Military Academy where they are doing first year work.

Cedric Harrison Host.

Among the hospitalities of the Christmas season was the party given at the home of Editor and Mrs. O. C. Harrison on Wednesday evening, honoring their son, Cedric Harrison who was at home from school at Baylor university for the holidays and his group of friends in the younger set, many of whom are also in college this year.

The Christmas atmosphere prevailed in the Harrison home by decorations in red and green, lovely poinsettas and holly wreaths and Christmas bells, score cards were passed in keeping with the Christmas colors and emblems and the evening was spent most joyously in playing progressive bunco.

A delicious plate of refreshment consisting of fruit salad, bread and butter sandwich, angel food cake and Russian tea was served by Mrs. Harrison, assisted by Valerie McLenore and Harriett Allison to Galen Robertson of Haskell, Lois Stewart, Frances Cooper, Mildred Buck, Sarah Wheat, Margaret Jones, Bernice Buck, Aline Harris, Kate Britton, Margaret Cowan, Velma Wilbanks, Valarn McLenore and Harriett Allison. Messrs. Cedric Harrison, Nick P. Mitchell, Virgil Little, Charles Morris, Shiloh Gorman, W. T. Humphreys, Richard Morris, Ed. Robertson, Ellis Breedlove, Aubrey Lunsford, Floyd Shawver, Yates McWilliams, Cleveland Brown, J. T. McLenore and John Veale Wheat.

SEMINOLE FIELD EXPECTED TO NEAR 200,000-BARREL MARK

YIELD NOW IS 172,880 DAILY

9-6 Is Leading Area In Sooner State's Premier Field

TULSA, Jan. 10.—Last Thursday's peak production of the Seminole City field is expected to be outdone this week. New producers and compressed air are expected to be the contributing factors. The production figures will soar near 200,000 barrels this week with favorable weather.

Saturday it was approximating 172,880 barrels a day, having overcome the loss of 6,695 barrels that was reported Friday over Thursday.

While the liberal use of compressed air is keeping the 9-6 output up, the steadiness of the Searight pool production and the new activity in 8-6, leads many field men to forecast that the future Seminole field depends more on these two areas than in the discovery zone.

At the end of the fiscal week when the field was producing close to 170,000 barrels a day, the areas were producing this wise:

Area	Daily Output (Barrels)
9-6	119,784
10-6	40,689
8-6	9,444

New Gypsy Producer.

Gypsy Oil company has a new producer in the Garland pool, in its No. 4 Wolfe, in the northeast corner of the northwest of the northwest of 26-9-6, that is flowing 83 barrels an hour, or 2,100 barrels a day. The Wilcox sand was topped at 4110 feet and penetrated 17 feet.

Indian Territory Illuminating Oil company and Foster Petroleum corporation No. 4 Bowlegs, in the northwest corner of the northeast of the southeast of 26-9-6, had the Wilcox sand from 4002 to 4075 feet, and shot with 8 quarts from 4054 to 4072 feet, swabbed 635 barrels.

Pure Oil company's No. 9 Strother, in the northwest corner of the southeast of the southeast of 26-9-6, had the Viola lime at 3943 feet and was running the six-inch casing.

Prairie Oil and Gas company's No. 3 Strother, in the northeast corner of the southeast of 27-9-6 was drilling in shale at 3,962 feet.

News of The Fields

PANHANDLE, GRIFFIN

The Panhandle Refining company drilled out the plug on the sand at 1792-6 feet in its No. 3 H. S. Griffin and the well started off swabbing at the rate of 60 barrels. The sand is being drilled deeper before further swabbing. Panhandle's No. 4 is drilling out the plug.

M'ELREATH-SUGGETT, MOUNT

McElreath and Suggett have completed their No. 1 Mount test at a total depth of 2095 feet as a duster. They are now studying the maps for a promising location to drill during the winter months and may select Cooke county's biggest undiscovered oil pool.

HUMBLE, PARRISH

The Humble Oil and Refining company, et al, will spud in Tuesday their No. 1-C George Parrish, located 150 feet each way from the southwest corner of lot 8, block 97, A. T. N. C. L. survey in Archer county.

COCHRAN-HARRELL, FARMER

Cochran and Harrell are running the Halliburton test to a sand at 1395 to 1404 feet in their No. 1 Farmer, located in block 16, North Anderson Pasture subdivision in Archer county. The hole is being plugged back from below 1460 feet to make the test.

RONDEAU, DENTON COUNTY

Henri Rondeau's test north of Denton in Denton county is drilling below 1050 feet. This test, one of the first to be put down in Denton county, is being watched closely by many who believe that an extension of the Cooke and Montague county fields may be made in north Denton county.

HUMBLE, MUNGER

The Humble Oil and Refining company has made location to drill No. 1-A Munger in block 81, K. W. V. L. survey in Archer county. The location is 852 feet from the east line and 750 feet from the south line of block 81.

GULF, MEADE

The Gulf Production company engineers Monday were staking out the location for No. 1 T. T. Meade, which will be drilled in the approximate center of the east line of the lease in block 41, G. P. Meade Pasture subdivision in south Archer county and approximately one-half mile west of the Grebin-Shasta pool.

KRUGER, WOLFE

Sam Kruger's No. 1 D. L. Wolfe in the G. W. Miles survey, abstract 185, in Archer county, is drilling below 1100 feet.

PETROLEUM INVESTMENT, SWAN

The Petroleum Investment company of Wichita Falls is drilling a deep test in 15-1s-20w, Jackson county, Okla. It is No. 1 Swan and is located on a block assembled by Brandish and Stevens, Fort Worth geologists.

PHILLIPS, WAGGONER

Phillips Petroleum company's No. 4-WW Waggoner in the Vernon pool of Wilbarger county swabbed 260 barrels in the first 24 hours from the sand topped at 2870-93 feet. This is the best well of the new year in Wilbarger.

NOODLE CREEK POOL

Atlantic Oil Producing company in Noel Howell, in the northwest corner of section 30, block 19, T. & P. survey, Jones county area of the Noodle Creek pool of the east area of West Texas, swabbed 150 barrels of oil from 2518 to 2526 feet.

BROWN COUNTY

In the Fry pool of Brown county, Central Texas, Sinclair Oil and Gas company has a well making 50 barrels per hour from the sand found at 1278 feet.

Muenster Townsite Well Assures Third Producing Area in Cooke Co.

The Oil Operators Trust company have assured a third producing area in Cooke county with the well located in Muenster townsite. The plug was drilled out Sunday and after partially cleaning out, the hole filled 700 feet with oil from 3 p. m. to 9 p. m. Monday.

The oil taken from the slush pit tests 39.5 degrees gravity. The output of the well when fully completed will be round 50 barrels it is said by oil men who have visited the well. The sand is at 1276 to 1281 feet and was entered with the big bit which delays completion of the well.

The Camp Drilling company of Wichita Falls drilled the well for the Oil Operators Trust which is a Fort Worth concern. It is on the Ben Luke fee in block 88, Muenster townsite.

Leases on the townsite property immediately took a jump in value and several unusual sales were said to have been made.

Text of Coolidge Message to Congress Accuses Mexico of Fomenting Revolt

Below appears the condensed text of President Calvin Coolidge's special message to congress, delivered Monday, in which the nation's chief executive explains the policy of the American government in Nicaragua where U. S. naval forces have intervened in favor of the de facto government of President Adolpho Diaz. Text of the message is as follows:

"While conditions in Nicaragua and the action of this government pertaining thereto have in general been made public, I think the time has arrived for me officially to inform the congress more in detail of the events leading up to the present disturbances and conditions which seriously threaten American lives and property and endanger the stability of all Central America and put in jeopardy the rights granted by Nicaragua to the United States for the construction of a canal."

He then recounted how an American force of marines landed in Nicaragua in 1912, "and put down a revolution," and how afterward "with the consent of the Nicaraguan government, a marine guard was kept in Mangua until 1925. The Washington conference of 1923 at which the Central American republics entered into several treaties was referred to by the president, who quoted that section of one of the conventions which bound the signatories not to recognize a government which came into power by force of arms.

It was recounted that the Solorzano-Sacasa government was elected in Nicaragua in October, 1924, and recognized by the United States. Within two months after the American marines were withdrawn in 1925, however, a revolution broke out, headed by General Chamorro. As a result of a compromise between Chamorro and Solorzano the latter gained actual control of the government and Sacasa, the vice-president, left the country. The president quoted the diplomatic note by which the United States refused to recognize Chamorro because of the policy laid down in the Washington treaty.

Chamorro continued as president, however, until Oct. 30, 1926. Meantime a revolution against him developed and the American navy sent ships to Nicaraguan waters to look out for American interests. All this time Sacasa remained away from Nicaragua.

Referring to the unsuccessful attempt of the American naval commander, Admiral Latimer, to secure an agreement between the contending factions, the president continued:

"The conference led to no result since just at the time when it seemed as though some compromise agreement would be reached the representatives of Doctor Sacasa suddenly broke off negotiations.

"According to our reports, the Sacasa delegates on this occasion stated freely that to accept any government other than the one presided over by Dr. Sacasa himself would be a breach of faith with their Mexican allies. Hostilities were resumed on Oct. 30, 1926."

Chamorro retired, however, and the Nicaraguan congress designated Adolfo Diaz as president. This action, said the president, "might be considered as constitutional" since the Nicaraguan constitution provides that in the absence of both the president and vice-president congress shall choose a president. Solorzano had resigned as president and left the county and Sacasa, the vice-president, was in Guatemala. The United States recognized Diaz on November 17.

"Immediately following the inauguration of President Diaz and frequently since that date he has appealed to the United States for support," said Mr. Coolidge, "has informed this government of the aid which Mexico is giving to the revolutionists, and has stated that he is unable solely because of the aid given by Mexico to the revolutionists to protect the lives and property of American citizens and other foreigners.

"When negotiations leading up to the Corinto conference began I immediately placed an embargo on the shipment of arms and ammunition to Nicaragua. The department of state notified the other Central American states, to-wit: Costa Rica, Honduras, Salvador and Guatemala, and they assured the department that they would co-operate in this measure. So far as known they have done so. The state department also notified the Mexican government of this embargo and informally suggested to that government like action. The Mexican government did not adopt the suggestion to put on an embargo, but informed the American ambassador at Mexico City that in the absence of manufacturing plants in Mexico for the making of arms and ammunition the matter had little practical importance.

"As a matter of fact, I have the most conclusive evidence that arms and munitions in large quantities have been on several occasions since August, 1926, shipped to the revolutionists in Nicaragua. Boats carrying these munitions have been fitted out in Mexican ports and some of the munitions bear evidence of having belonged to the Mexican government. It also appears that the ships were fitted out with the full knowledge of and, in some cases, with the encouragement of Mexican officials and were in one instance at least commanded by a Mexican naval reserve officer.

"At the end of November after spending some time in Mexico City, Dr. Sacasa went back to Nicaragua, landing at Puerto Cabezas, near Bragman's Bluff. He immediately placed himself at the head of the insurrection and declared himself president of Nicaragua. He has never been recognized by any of the Central American republics nor by any other government with the exception of Mexico, which recognized him immediately.

"As arms and munitions in large quantities were reaching the revolutionists I deemed it unfair to prevent the recognized government from purchasing arms abroad and accordingly, the secretary of state has notified the Diaz government that licenses would be issued for the export of arms and munitions purchased in this country. It would be thoroughly inconsistent for this country not to support the government recognized by it while the revolutionists were receiving arms and munitions from abroad.

"During the last two months the government of the United States has received repeated requests from various American citizens, both directly and through our consuls and legation, for the protection of their lives and property.

"The government of the United States has also received requests from the British charge at Managua and from the Italian ambassador at Washington for the protection of their respective nationals. Pursuant to such requests Admiral Latimer, in charge of the special service squadron, has not only maintained the neutral zone at Bluefields under the agreement of both parties, but has landed forces at Puerto Cabezas and Rio Grande and established neutral zones at these points where considerable numbers of Americans live and are engaged in carrying on various industries. He has also been authorized to establish such other neutral zones as are necessary for the purposes above mentioned.

"For many years numerous Americans have been living in Nicaragua developing its industries and carrying on business. At the present time there are large investments in lumbering, mining, coffee growing, banana culture, shipping and also in general mercantile and other collateral business. All these people and these industries have been encouraged by the Nicaraguan government. That government has at all times owed them protection, but the United States has occasionally been obliged to send naval forces for their proper protection. In the present crisis such forces are requested by the Nicaraguan government, which protests to the United States its inability to protect these interests and states that any measure which the United States deems appropriate for their protection will be satisfactory to the Nicaraguan government."

The message then pointed out that under a treaty between the United States and Nicaragua signed Aug. 5, 1914, the Washington government paid $3,000,000 for rights to an inter-oceanic canal across Nicaraguan soil and to establish a naval base on the Gulf of Fonseca. At the same time a plan was drawn up for financial rehabilitation of the Nicaraguan government. Under the arrangement Nicaragua issued a series of "customs bonds," on which about $1,000,000 are held by American citizens.

Under the plan, said the president, "the finances of Nicaragua have been rehabilitated in a very satisfactory manner. The original issue of $3,744,000 in customs bonds has been reduced about $900,000; external debt bonds amounting to 1,250,000 pounds sterling issued in 1909, have been reduced to 770,000 pounds sterling. The nation's public debt, which stood at $22,000,000 in 1917, was $6,625,203 at the beginning of 1926.

"There is no question that if the revolution continues American investments and business interests in Nicaragua will be very seriously affected, if not destroyed," said President Coolidge in conclusion. "The currency which is now at par will be inflated. American as well as foreign bondholders will undoubtedly look to the United States for the protection of their interests.

"It is true that the United States did not establish the financial plan by any treaty, but it nevertheless did aid through diplomatic channels and advise in the negotiation and establishment of this plan for the financial rehabilitation of Nicaragua.

"Manifestly the relation of this government to the Nicaraguan situation and its policy in the existing emergency are determined by the facts which I have described. The proprietary rights of the United States in the Nicaraguan canal route with the necessary implications growing out of it affecting the Panama canal together with the obligations flowing from the investments of all classes of our citizens in Nicaragua place us in a position of peculiar responsibility. I am sure it is not the desire of the United States to intervene in the internal affairs of Nicaragua nor of any other Central American republic. Nevertheless, it must be said that we have a very definite and special interest in the maintenance of order and good government in Nicaragua at the present time and that the stability, prosperity and independence of all Central American countries can never be a matter of indifference to us. The United States can not, therefore, fail to view with deep concern any serious threat to stability and constitutional government in Nicaragua tending toward anarchy and jeopardizing American interests, especially if such state of affairs is contributed to or brought about by outside influences or by any foreign power. It has always been and remains the policy of the United States in such circumstances to take the steps that may be necessary for the preservation and protection of the lives, the property and the interests of its citizens and of this government itself. In this respect I propose to follow the path of my predecessors.

"Consequently, I have deemed it my duty to use the powers committed to me to insure the adequate protection of all American interests in Nicaragua, whether they be endangered by internal strife or by outside interference in the affairs of that republic."

Legislature Opens Today

whether Miller will serve a few hours as governor as some political prognosticators believe that shortly before Dan Moody is inaugurated governor, January 18, Texas' first woman governor will step aside for Miller. Others believe that Governor Ferguson will observe an established custom, and arm-in-arm with Moody walk down the aisle of the house of representatives to participate in the installation of the red-haired man from Taylor, who will be the youngest governor of the Lone Star state.

Governor Ferguson was busy with the preparation of her message to the legislature with indications the message may be read to both houses Tuesday.

Harmony Forseen

Significant of the harmony that prevails on the eve of the convening is the choosing of Rep. Cecil Storey, Vernon, to second the nomination of Rep. Robert Lee Bobbitt of Laredo, whose election to the house speakership is uncontested. In the 39th legislature, Storey was counted a strong Ferguson supporter, and one of the leading advocates of the Ferguson amnesty bill, while Bobbitt was the leader of the amnesty bill opponents.

Election of A. E. Wood of Granger as president pro-tem of the senate was predicted by several solons. Wood, during the special session of the 39th legislature, was floor leader for Governor-Elect Dan Moody. He has previously served as president ad interim.

Appointment of Wood as chairman of the appropriations committee, which is regarded as probable, might, however, result in the naming of Senator Edgar Witt of Waco as president pro-tem. Witt has also once served as president ad interim.

Fight Over Appointees

Friends in the senate of the present highway commissioners are expected to make a strong fight for their confirmation.

Senator I. D. Fairchild of Lufkin, said he will help lead the fight for the confirmation of Chairman Eugene T. Smith of San Antonio and Commissioners George P. Robertson of Meridian and Scott Woodward of Fort Worth.

"I'm willing to do my part to put it over. I think it would be a shame not to do so," he declared.

Commissioner Robertson said he will accept confirmation if its offered him but "will not be insistent." Robertson said he understands Woodward takes the same view.

$20,000 For Governor

Raising the governor's salary from $4000 per year to $20,000 and that of the attorney general from $3600 annually to $10,000 is provided in a proposed constitutional amendment to be submitted by Senator Joe Moore of Greenville.

Moore's bill also will call for fixing the salaries of other constitutional officers at "about $7500," he said. Included in this classification are the land commissioner, treasurer, comptroller and secretary of state.

GRAINS SHOW SMALL GAINS

Erratic Price Swings In Day's Trading

By CHARLES J. LEYDEN.
Universal Service Staff Correspondent.

CHICAGO, Jan. 10.—Wheat emerged with moderate gains today after a series of erratic swings within a narrow range. A better feeling permeated the trade, but business in the pit did not broaden much and hence the market's inability to get far. The steadiness of Liverpool, in face of big world shipments and the heavy decrease of 2,355,000 bushels in the United States' visible supply for the week were factors in the rise. Corn was relatively stronger than the leading cereal. Shorts were on the defensive in the yellow grain.

May wheat opened at $1.38⅝@⅜, sagged to $1.38¼, rallied to $1.39¼, dipped to $1.38⅝, recovered to $1.39 and closed at $1.38⅝@¾. July opened at $1.29½@⅝, rallied to $1.30¼, sagged to $1.29⅜, firmer to $1.29¾ and closed at $1.29⅝@¾. Houses with eastern connections were among the best buyers of wheat. Active locals sold.

The Seaboard placed the export sales at 300,000 bushels in wheat. The Liverpool market finished unchanged to ⅛ pence lower.

Locally wheat finished ⅛ to ⅜c higher, corn ⅜ to 1c higher, oats unchanged to ¼c lower and rye ⅛c lower to ¼c higher.

Strength manifested by corn was surprising to many who continued to look at the increasing visible supply. However, support was active in the pit and shorts were forced to cover late in the day. The commercial demand for corn of quality was excellent, and with the farmer showing little desire to move his corn freely at this time I is believed that commercial demand might broaden.

Oats held within a narrow range and finished a little easier. The speculative trade was quite moderate. The commercial demand for this grain was moderately active and the basis was steady to firm.

Rye manifested a firm tone with wheat.

Mexico Backs Rebel Forces

ernment in Nicaragua tending toward anarchy and jeopardizing American interests, especially if such state of affairs is contributed to or brought about by outside influence or by any foreign power."

This first formal official charge that Mexico had materially assisted the Sacasa revolutionists in their efforts to overthrow the Diaz regime, recognized by the United States, was regarded as bringing the already strained Mexican relations to a crisis.

Mexico has stood steadfast by its right as a sovereign nation to assist Sacasa and officials believe it will continue to do so in the face of the American pronouncement.

The president's message was read separately in the senate and house. Senators listened to it in silence. In the house the republicans rose and cheered, but the democrats remained seated.

Fear of War Voiced.

Praise and bitter criticism followed. Apparently, while upholding the administration attitude, the message failed to swerve the outspoken foes of Nicaraguan intervention.

In the house Rep. Romjue, (D) of Missouri, in a speech warned that "a war with Mexico may be touched off and conditions do not justify war."

Representative Moore of Virginia introduced a resolution calling upon secretary of state to state whether or not the administration had advised American oil companies to comply with the new Mexico oil laws.

No Recommendations

The president laid his message before congress without recommendations as to action to be taken. He related a series of incidents which, he assured, endangered American lives and interests in Nicaragua, and pointed out the American rights to a canal and naval base there, the latter for the protection of the Panama Canal as well.

He concluded with this statement of what he has done:

"I have deemed it my duty to use the powers committed to me to insure the adequate protection of all American interests in Nicaragua whether they be endangered by internal strife or by outside interference..."

Early in his message he referred to the part which this government alleges Mexico has played in the Nicaraguan revolt. He pointed out that Mexico had refused to become a party to a general embargo on the shipment of arms to Nicaragua.

Others In Embargo

All other Central American governments had agreed to such an embargo, the president pointed out. Mexico declined, informing this nation that in the absence of manufacturing plants for arms and ammunition in Mexico, the matter had little practical importance, President Coolidge revealed.

Then followed the accusation that Mexico had been actively running war weapons to the Sacasa forces. President Coolidge said:

"As a matter of fact, I have the most conclusive evidence that arms and munitions in large quantities have been on several occasions since August, 1926, shipped to the revolutionists in Nicaragua.

"Boats carrying these munitions have been fitted out in Mexican ports and some of the munitions bear evidence of having belonged to the Mexican government.

Ships Outfitted

"It also appears that the ships were fitted out with the full knowledge of and in some cases with the encouragement of Mexican officials and were in one instance, at least, commanded by a Mexican naval reserve officer."

The president added that he deemed it unfair to permit the Sacasa revolutionists, backed by Mexico, to receive arms to overthrow the Diaz regime, sponsored by the United States, and had therefore issued orders that Diaz is to be permitted to secure arms from America.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, Jan. 10. (AP)—The cotton market was more active and firmer today on indications of a broadening demand from both trade and commission house sources on the advance, which carried prices into new high ground for the present movement. March sold up to 13.16, or 22 points above the closing quotation Saturday and 136 points above the low level of early last month. That delivery closed at 13.10, the general market closing steady at net advance of 13 to 21 points.

The opening was steady at a decline of two points to an advance of one point. There was some southern selling and liquidation or reselling by buyers of the late last week, who seemed to be disappointed over failure of the weather map to show any rains in the southwest. Active months sold about five to seven points net lower in early trading, but after initial offerings had been absorbed prices turned steadier.

Encouraging reports from the cotton goods trade, both at home and in Lancashire, appeared to be accompanied by more trade buying to fix prices in the local market and the way southern hedge selling tapered off after the first half hour, seemed to create bullish sentiment. Demand broadened with some commission house buying reported as well as covering and stop orders were uncovered as prices worked into new high ground.

January sold up from 12.74 to 13.06, while May advanced from 13.08 to 13.34, net gains of about 20 to 21 points on active positions, and the highest prices touched in the market here since last September. There was realizing at the higher prices, but very little southern selling was in evidence and the close was within three to six points of the best on active positions. Private reports pointing to a reduction in acreage and use of fertilizers may have contributed to the advance, but the factors more generally emphasized were renewal of trade demand and failure of the reported better progress in picking late cotton to bring in more selling by the south.

Exports today 32,499, making 5,859,380 so far this season. Port receipts 48,095. United States port stocks 3,962,679.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 8. (AP)—The cotton market was more active today and prices showed a more pronounced upward trend than at any time in a considerable period. There was a five point recession in the early trading on the good werther in the belt. The large sales in Liverpool for the day of 10,000, and the optimistic advices from Manchester induced covering and later there was good trade buying as well as demand from outsiders for investment. This demand caused prices to advance steadily and by the middle of the afternoon active months showed gains over the early lows of 30 to 32 points. There was then a slight reaction of three to five points on some realizing, but the undertone remained steady. There was a little further profit taking in the late trading, causing prices to lose five to seven points of the earlier gains. The close was steady, showing net gains for the day of 20 to 23 points.

Liverpool came in about as due and first trades here showed gains of two points to a loss of one point. Prices soon eased off moderately on the good weather in the belt. March trading down to 12.82, May to 13.00 and July to 13.16.

The market then rallied and was on the upgrade all morning and well into the afternoon, March trading up to 13.14, May to 13.32 and July to 13.44. The market then reacted on a little realizing, closing five to seven points under the highs.

Exports for the day totaled 32,984 bales. Exports for the season now exceeded last year by 1,020,488 bales.

TEXAS VEGETABLES

SAN ANTONIO, Jan. 10 (Texas Market News Service)—Saturday there was an appreciable vegetable movement from Texas, but Sunday's rollings were light. On the former day there moved six cars of grapefruit, one of onions, 21 of cabbage, 44 of mixed vegetables, five of sweet potatoes, 38 of spinach and Sunday's shipments were seven cars spinach and one of cabbage. There was also a pick up for Friday of one car of onions, 16 of cabbage, nine of grapefruit, 42 of mixed vegetables and one of spinach.

In shipping point markets there was improvement all down the line Saturday. Spinach advanced to as high as 70@75c per bushel in the leading station, which is an appreciable advance. Cabbage sold for $25 per ton on wire orders and brought growers in lower Rio Grande valley general $10.00 per ton. Beets and carrots were steady around 50@60c on wire orders for carlots and approximately 25c per bushel to the ground carlots and approximately 35c per bushel to the growers in the field.

N. Y. Stocks

NEW YORK STOCKS

NEW YORK, Jan. 10. (AP)—The stock market made further progress on the up-side today, but the advance was by no means uniform. An unexpectedly large increase in the December unfilled orders of the U. S. Steel corporation and a lowering of call money rates in the face of a large deficit in reserve in last Saturday's clearing house statement helped to inspire bullish enthusiasm. Trading was only moderately heavy in volume. Except possibly to restrict activity President Coolidge's message to congress, suggesting Mexican interference in Nicaragua was ignored as a market factor.

U. S. Steel common was confidently absorbed by traders and others who expect the $7 annual dividend to be maintained on the additional stock closing nearly a point higher at 158⅝, after having sold slightly above that figure. The increase of 153,522 tons in orders was about 50,000 more than was expected. Independent steels showed little change.

Pools were again active in the motors because of the interest aroused in the winter shows, but they failed to make much headway. General Motors converted an early gain of one point into a small fractional loss.

Oils showed signs of activity and strength with the buying associated with unconfirmed reports of unusually large earnings, higher dividends and new combinations. Revival of activity in the Barnsdall issues was attributed to reports that current earnings were running well above those of last year.

Commercial Solvents "B" soared over 10 points to a new record high at 249⅛ on buying associated with reports of an early split up of the stock.

Rail shares responded to what appeared to be a good investment demand, Rock Island common touched the highest price in its history at 74; Pennsylvania common touched 57⅛, the highest price since 1916, and Great Northern preferred and Northern Pacific sold at their highest price in five years.

Call money renewed at 4½ per cent, and then dropped to four. Time money was unchanged, but prime commercial paper was quoted on a flat 4¼ per cent basis instead of 4¼ to 4½. Member federal reserve banks in New York City reported an increase of $38,800,000 in brokers' loans in the week ended last Wednesday.

A sharp advance of nearly 30 points in Spanish pesetas, which were quoted above 15⅜ cents, featured the foreign exchange market. Demand sterling was quoted around $4.84 13-16 and French francs just above 3.95 cents. Mexican pesos were strong.

Grain

TEXAS CASH GRAIN

FORT WORTH, Jan. 10. (AP)—Cash wheat was a cent lower on the Fort Worth grain market Monday largely because of heavy receipts and small export demand. Dealers believe these conditions to be temporary, however. Corn was a little higher and oats steady with Saturday's prices. Exporters were bidding around $1.47½ for No. 1 hard wheat, freight paid to Gulf ports.

Wheat, No. 1 darkhard milling $1.49@1.50; No. 1 ordinary hard milling $1.48@1.49; No. 1 red milling $1.50@1.52; No. 1, 75 per cent red milling $1.48@1.49.

Corn, No. 3 yellow 89@91c; No. 3 white 87@88c; No. 2 mixed 80@82c.

Oats, No. 2 red 46½@47½c; No. 3 red 45½@46½c; snapped corn 65@70c; No. 3 barley 70@72c; No. 2 milo $1.10@1.14; No. 2 kaffir $1.05@1.07.

CHICAGO GRAIN REVIEW

CHICAGO, Jan. 10. (AP)—Wheat tended upward today, influenced by a bigger decrease of the United States' visible supply than was looked for. Closing quotations on wheat were firm, ⅛ to ½c higher; corn ⅜ to 1⅛c up; oats a shade to ⅛@¼c off and provisions at two cents to 75c advance.

Corn met with active speculative buying largely from previous sellers who apparently had over-reached themselves and were intent on stopping further losses. Oats holders were disappointed by 196,000 bushels increase in the oats visible supply.

A brisk demand which developed for meals lifted the provision market.

STOCKS STAGE STRONG SALES

Market Session Monday Full of Gains

By BROADAN WALL
Universal Service Financial Expert.

NEW YORK, Jan. 10.—The stock market was a strong affair today with a good demand rivaling for standard issues and the oils. Brokers acting for the First National and Morgan interests were active on the buying side of steel. The financial district is not worried over the situation south of the Rio Grande.

The reinvestment demand for stocks of high grade caliber continued today and is expected to be in evidence for some time. Nineteen twenty seven should be a good year for business, following the great prosperity year of 1926. Labor is well employed at high wages and whatever recession occurs this year will be small, in the view of economists.

4½ Pct. Money.

Money loaned at 4 and 4½ per cent. There is so much money available for investment and speculation that traders can borrow at 4 per cent to buy stocks yielding 6. The stock carries itself and also offers opportunity for profit by appreciating in value.

Steadiness prevailed in commodities and foreign exchange.

Steel common "when issued" was one of the active issues, buying of the "when issued" shares is understood to be for the account of the First National-Morgan interests. A price of 120 has been placed on the issue. The increase of 153,500 tons in unfilled orders for December came as a surprise as something less than 100,000 tons had been expected.

Short Sales Law

Universal pipe was lower on short selling. A large short interest prevails in this issue. Comment was caused after the close by the "flat" rate quoted on the stock. Inquiry disclosed that the plan for retirement of the preferred expired today and the next step by directors would be to consider dividends on the common. The meeting for this purpose has been called for Wednesday.

It is expected the dividend on the common will take the form of a quarterly payment in a new class "A" stock. The exact rate that would be paid was not divulged, but it was intimated that the rate would be at a figure which would yield about 12 per cent on the present price of around 21 for the common, that the common stock was lending "flat" at the close was said to indicate a good sized short interest had accumulated.

Phone Profits

Profit-taking developed in American Telephone. International Phone was off one point. The belief prevails that the stock will carry valuable rights this year. International Nickel continued its rise and sold at a new high for the move. Accompanying the rise in Nickel is a rumor that the steel corporation planned some kind of an alliance, but this rumor is not believed in responsible quarters.

Standard rails were well bought, particularly the Northwest group. Buying of Great Northern preferred has been going on since reports were heard that directors would increase the dividend to $6 annually. Rock Island was strong on dividend talk and Pennsylvania hit a new high for the present move.

Oil stocks came into prominence following the recent dullness. Profits last year were large for a number of companies and something favorable in the way of dividends is understood to be slated when directors meet this year. Marland was higher and speculative buying occurred in Barnsdall. Strength of the latter is based on earnings and not dividends. Mid-Continent closed lower, although a banking group is said to seek a block of 40,000 shares.

Because of the strength of steel a group is said to have been formed in Replogle steel. Earnings are estimated at $3 a share and there is talk of two deals under negotiation which may bring about a change in the company's affairs. Another issue being bought is Simmons Bed because of the outlook for earnings. Low priced stocks with good earnings and dividend records are being picked up by the small trader. It costs too much in commissions for the small speculator to buy the high priced issues and as a result the low priced shares are being favored by the public.

Low Issues Strong

General Motors and low priced issues were stronger. Nash reported record breaking earnings for 1926, equal to $8.59 a share. Directors also placed the issue on a regular $4 annual basis. Mack Trucks rallied following cessation of the heavy selling. Hupp was the leader of the low priced issues and Federal was higher. Traders are taking in the auto show with a view to determining the make of car and the possible earnings position of the various companies.

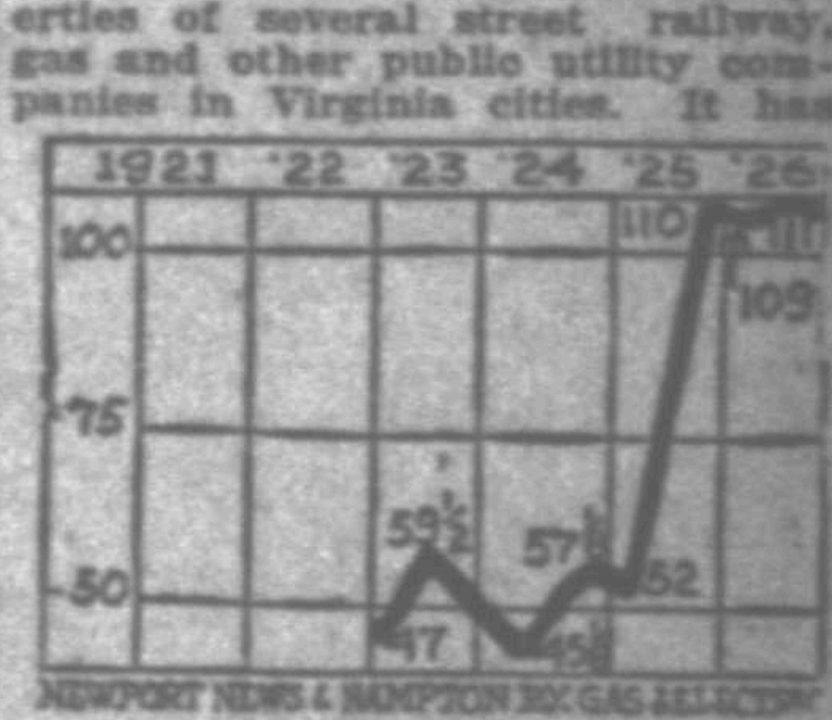

CALL MONEY MARKET

NEW YORK, Jan. 10. (AP)—Call money, easier; high 4½c; low 4; ruling rate 4½; closing bid 4. Time loans, steady; 60-90 days 4½@4¾; 4-6 months 4½@4¾; prime mercantile paper 4¼.

STOCK-A-DAY

The Newport News and Hampton Railway, Gas and Electric Company is controlled by the Virginia Public Service Company. The concern has consolidated the properties of several street railway, gas and other public utility companies in Virginia cities. It has more than 400 miles of electric transmission and distribution lines, 77 miles of gas mains and 51 miles of street railway track.

The company also conducts a summer resort and amusement park on Chesapeake Bay, a bus line and ice and towing companies. Gas capacity is about 2,000,000 cubic feet a day.

Funded debt totals $4,780,500. Capital stock outstanding consists of $1,500,000 in 7 per cent cumulative preferred of $100 par and $2,800,000 in common shares of $100 par. Shares of common and preferred have equal voting rights unless the preferred dividends are in default; when preferred shareholders have the right to elect the majority of the directors.

Gross revenues have declined 22 per cent since 1920 and totaled $2,109,513 in 1925. Operating profits however, have risen gradually. For the year ended June 30, 1926, net income was equal to $9.34 a share on the common stock. Current assets as of that date were $561,219 current liabilities $358,993 and net working capital $222,226.

Dividends have been paid regularly on the preferred since 1918. The present rate on the common is $1.25 a share quarterly.

SKELLY GAINS

Output of Casinghead Gas Hits New High Mark

NEW YORK, Jan. 10. (AP)—Skelly Oil company's daily production of casinghead gasoline is now 141,000 gallons, a new high mark, of which 58,000 gallons is being produced at Leon, in the Panhandle field of Texas.

PETTY THIEVES AT WORK HERE

Auto Owners Lose Tires and Tools

Auto accessory thieves put in a busy day Sunday night and Monday, according to reports made to the police yesterday.

J. T. Taylor, 311 Lee street, reported a casing, tube and rim stolen from his machine.

R. A. Bailey, 105 Galveston, reported identically the same loss from a car owned by him.

W. S. Anderson, 1708 Bluff, lost a set of Ford curtains.

George Throckmorton of Fort Worth reported the theft of a jack and tire tools.

In addition to these, C. W. Brown reported the theft of a quantity of carpenters tools from a chest at his home. Saws, hammers, chisels, bits and T-squares were included in the articles lost.

Wichita Falls

Folks, Facts, Fancies

"The Texan hotel is doing capacity business," declared R. C. (Dick) Levy, well known hotel man, who took over the management of the Texan ten days ago. "We have had to turn guests away since our opening the first of January." Mr. Levy is assisted by Henry Jaffe, local oil operator.

East is East and West is West, and the two met at the Holt hotel shortly after 2 o'clock Monday afternoon. Two strangers approached the hotel desk, and one registered, "Floyd West, Dallas." Immediately behind him came another man who registered, "E. F. East, Dallas." The two smiled over the incident and remarked that the twain had met.

Dr. Walter J. Johnson, presiding elder of the Wichita Falls district of the M. E. Church, south, preached Monday night at Petrolia where he accompanied Rev. George L. Slagle, pastor of the Petrolia circuit, Monday afternoon.

Mrs. W. A. Moore who was injured in an automobile accident on the Iowa Park road Sunday when the car in which she was riding overturned, was reported resting well last night in the General hospital.

COLDS THAT DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist.—Adv.

ELECTRA WINS TITLE PRIZE

Mrs. V. E. Killgore Given $10 Award

Electra finally scored in the "Hollywood Girl" title contest. Mrs. V. E. Killgore, general delivery, Electra, submitted for the fourteenth picture, "The Spider and the Fly," which was judged the best one submitted.

The poets came in strong on Sunday's picture and many limericks, couplets and what-nots of poetic composition were read by the title editor. Most of them, however, contained more than ten words and for that reason could not have won the prize.

Mrs. J. E. Roberts, 1409 Twenty-fourth, who states in her letter that she has visited Hollywood several times and is familiar with the places mentioned in the story, says, "I think the 'Hollywood Girl' is the best story that has been published * * * * and unless I miss my guess, Bobbie has many a heart-ache in store."

All titles for the fifteenth picture must be in the hands of the title editor by six o'clock Tuesday evening for consideration in the final award.

DENTISTS INSTALL

New Officers Assume Duties At Banquet

Installation of officers for 1927 with the ceremony peculiar to the Wichita County Dental Association, and an address by Dr. W. O. Talbot of Fort Worth, featured the annual stag banquet of the association Monday night at the Kemp hotel. Dr. J. D. Simms, outgoing president, was in the chair, and after the installation, turned the meeting over to Dr. H. B. White, incoming president. Other new officers installed included Dr. C. L. Bailey, vice-president, and Dr. R. E. Huff, secretary-treasurer.

"Points on Pyarrhea and Its Treatment" was the subject discussed by Dr. Talbot who is recognized as an authority on pyorrhea. He gave a diagnosis of pyorrhea conditions, how the treatment of the disease should be performed and instruction to patients how to take care of their mouths during and after treatment of pyorrhea.

He emphasized keeping the teeth clean by thorough and regular brushing without injuring the gums. If people do not know how to brush their teeth properly, they should consult a dentist, he said.

ANGRY, SPREADING RASH ON BABY'S BODY

Checked and healed by soothing ointment

Los Angeles, Cal., July 28:—"When my baby was four months old, little red pimples which resembled heat or teething rash appeared on her body. I used various baby powders, but the trouble kept spreading until nearly all the lower part of her body was covered. Then it began to look white and scaly and I knew it was more than an ordinary rash. I decided to try Resinol Ointment, and after the first two or three applications I noticed an improvement. I kept on using this ointment, however, and bought some Resinol Soap to bathe her with. The result was that the trouble completely disappeared. I have always used Resinol Soap for her bath since. She is two years old now, and her skin is absolutely free from any blemish. When my boy began to have ringworms, I was so persistent in the use of Resinol Ointment that they were soon cleared away. I wouldn't be without Resinol in the house, and at the least sign of any eruption on the children, I use it." (Signed) Mrs. L. E. Crenshaw, 7806 Lou Dillon Ave.

FRIBERG ASKS NEW BRIDGE

Property Owners Carry Pleas To County

A request that a new bridge be built across the Wichita river at a point several miles east of Wichita Falls and near the Friberg community was made Monday to the county commissioners by a committee of property owners in that section. They were headed by Lee Whitney.

The need of such a structure was set forth in lengthy petitioning pleas.

Judge E. W. Nicholson and all the commissioners admitted that a new bridge was needed in that section and Commissioner M. A. Bundy, in whose precinct it will be located, said he was ready to go ahead with the work if a suitable financing program can be arranged. He was reluctant, he said, to issue warrants to provide the necessary funds, but he thought perhaps some other way could be found to care for the cost.

Another meeting of the court will be held at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning to give further consideration to the matter.

CHURCH OFFERS SIX COURSES

Methodists Ready Prepare For Training School

Plans were laid for the Standard Training school of the Wichita Falls district of the M. E. church south, which is to be held here for six days beginning January 30 at the Floral Heights Methodist church, in a meeting of the Sunday school council of the district Monday at the Y. W. C. A. Dr. Walter J. Johnson, presiding elder, was in charge of the meeting. The following committees to work in the interest of the school were announced:

Committees Named

Publicity, Rev. R. G. Percival, assistant pastor of Floral Heights Methodist church; enrollment, L. F. Aldrich, Floral Heights Methodist; entertainment, S. A. Barnes; Miss Marguerite Harkie, secretary; Milton Johnson, treasurer. Dr. Johnson was elected chairman of the council.

Pastors of 14 churches pledged themselves to aid in making the training school successful: S. S. McKenney, pastor of the First church, Wichita Falls; S. A. Barnes, Floral Heights Methodist, Wichita Falls; M. L. Hamilton, Burkburnett; W. A. Stuckey, Henrietta; W. B. Reaves, Texhoma; J. R. Jordan, Ringgold; E. G. Hamilton, Bellevue; George L. Slagle, Petrolia; E. H. Coburn, Valley View; J. P. Luton, Iowa Park; W. B. Swim, Thrift; W. Fraser Smith, Archer City; H. E. Anderson, Electra, and T. H. Browning, Byers.

Courses Selected

Courses for the school were selected as follows: "The Beginner Pupil," Miss Nell Peterman, Dallas, teacher; "Junior Organization, Mrs. R. E. Lewelling, Tipton, Okla.; "Rural Sunday School Management," F. C. Adams, Dallas; "Religious Education of Young People," Prof. S. Sensker, Southern Methodist University, Dallas; "Primary Organization," Mrs. S. Sensker; "The Program of the Christian Religion," Dr. George M. Gibson, Sunday school superintendent of the North Texas conference. Rev. M. L. Hamilton of Burkburnett will teach a course on "The Organization and Administration of the Sunday School," if there are enough who wish to study to warrant its teaching.

BONDS APPROVED

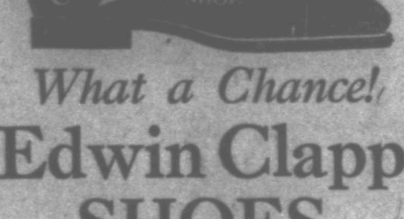

The bonds of County Commissioners F. R. Knauth of Burkburnett and H. H. Haynes of Electra were approved Monday by the county commissioner's court. That of G. L. Henson, public weigher of Electra, was also approved. The commissioners' bonds are $4,000 each and that of the weigher $2500.

HOW DOCTORS TREAT COLDS AND THE FLU

To break up a cold overnight or to cut short an attack of grippe, influenza, sore throat or tonsilitis, physicians and druggists are now recommending Calotabs, the purified and refined calomel compound tablet that gives you the effects of calomel and salts combined, without the unpleasant effects of either.

One or two Calotabs at bed time with a swallow of water—that's all. No salts, no nausea nor the slightest interference with your eating, work or pleasure. Next morning your cold has vanished, your system is thoroughly purified and you are feeling fine with a hearty appetite for breakfast. Eat what you please—no danger.

BIDS REJECTED

County Asks New Estimates On Purchases

All bids of local druggists who proposed to furnish medicinal prescriptions to Wichita county during the coming year were rejected Monday by the county commissioners' court and a new set will be asked for next Monday.

Bids submitted for repairing the juvenile jail in the court house and those for the residential portion of the regular county jail were also rejected by the court. They will be re-advertised at once and new bids submitted next Monday.

It was specified by the court that details of the repairs be made more plain in the specifications.
