MORE MARINES SENT TO NICARAGUA

TRIAL FOR ACCUSED ROBBERY TRIO SET

ORDER EFFECTED TODAY WHILE SUPPORTING FLEET LANDS MEN AS BOMBING ATTACK LAUNCHED

(By The Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—Reinforcements to the number of 1,000 marines were ordered to Nicaragua today as a result of the growing seriousness of the situation confronting American forces in their efforts to clean up outlaw bands headed by General Sandino.

One battalion of 500 men is to sail from an Atlantic coast point and another 500 will go from the Pacific coast. The expedition, will swell the marine forces in Nicaragua to approximately 2,500 men.

Pending arrival of the additional marines, American blue-jackets from the fleet in Central American waters will land in Nicaragua to take up guard duty and relieve marines on the ground for the more important duty against the bandits.

Orders for the new expedition followed immediately after a conference at the White House today between President Coolidge and Secretary Willbur.

Brigadier General Logan Feland was selected to take command of the entire marine force in Nicaragua in the drive against the bandits.

General Feland was in command of the original contingent in Nicaragua before peace terms were made between the liberals and conservatives. He was then withdrawn and the remaining marines were put in charge of Colonel Louis Mason Gulick. General Feland is now spending a vacation at Southern Pines, N. C.

The marine reinforcements will be sent out from San Diego, Calif., and Parris Island, S. C. The San Diego battalion will land on the west coast of Nicaragua and will later be joined by the other battalion from the east coast.

Criticism of American policy in allowing marines to expose themselves to such dangers as have confronted them in the last few days began to take definite form in congress today.

Speaker Longworth expressed the opinion that something should be done to stop the sporadic clashes between the marines and the bandits led by Sandino, while Senator Wheeler, democrat, Montana, author of a resolution seeking an investigation of the administration's Nicaraguan attitude, charged that inefficient men were on hand in the troubled country to adequately protect American lives.

Bombing Attack On Rebels Is Planned MANAGUA, Nicaragua, Jan. 3 (AP)—The original marine air forces are preparing to bomb the Sandino rebels, who were driven into the forests by marines and national guardsmen in the recent engagements around Quilali. Five bombing planes in command of Major R. E. Fowler will undertake this task. Other planes have already dropped bombs on groups of rebels, but the casualties have not been ascertained, as the planes returned immediately to their base.

Patrols Reach Garrison All of the patrols sent out from Tepeacapan, Ocotlán have reached Quilali and the garrison, now held by marines and guards has ample supplies of food, medicines and ammunition. The medical supplies were brought to Quilali yesterday.

Experts Study U. S. French Peace Pact PARIS, Jan. 3 (AP)—Experts at the French foreign office today began a study of a Franco-American peace pact which has been suggested by Secretary Kellogg. The experts were given special instructions by Foreign Minister Briand to report on the reservations in the American text.

Reports that Washington will ask France to join with other powers in the proposed pact were scouted in official circles where it was said that the United States thus far had asked France to sign nothing but a purely Franco-American agreement.

Attempt To Thaw Car Fires Machine Following the example cited on a downtown street New Year's day, another Lubbock citizen tried to start his car this morning by kindling a fire underneath the radiator. Leaking gas from the carburetor of the car ignited and for a few minutes it looked as if his machine was doomed. A hurried run by the fire department and the blaze was extinguished. No damage was incurred.

KIDWELL LAYS GRAVE CHARGE AT STATE DOOR

(By Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—A charge that he had been threatened with prosecution if he did not testify as the government wished in the criminal contempt proceedings against Harry F. Sinclair, W. J. Burns and their associates was made today by Edward J. Kidwell, jr., a juror in the Fall-Sinclair oil trial.

Kidwell was being cross examined by George P. Hoover of Sinclair's counsel in the court's investigation into the defense charges that James J. O'Leary, assistant district attorney, had intimidated and threatened him.

Says Told Were Untrue He said that O'Leary told him just before he took the witness stand last Tuesday that affidavits that Kidwell already had told the prosecutor were untrue would be used against him if he did not testify they were true.

These affidavits were to the effect that Burns detectives hired by Sinclair had approached him when Kidwell was a juror in the Fall-Sinclair oil conspiracy trial.

Kidwell stuck to his accusations that O'Leary forced him to sign the affidavits he insisted were false.

Truck Crops Are Damaged In South

ATLANTA, Ga., Jan. 3 (AP)—Wreaking heavy damage to truck crops and leaving widespread suffering in its wake, winter's frigid breath tenaciously held the southland in its grip today, dipping into sub-tropical Florida to take its heaviest toll.

Howling gales preceded the cold into Florida, but to the northward the highwinds were subsiding and the mercury generally stood 10 to 15 degrees above yesterday's low.

Before the winds died down last night in Kentucky, Tennessee, Alabama, Georgia, North Carolina and South Carolina, they sifted snow showers in the far south, but drifted heavily into the vicinity of Asheville, Spartanburg and localities higher in the Alleghenies.

While St. Petersburg, Fla., experienced its coldest day in eleven years with the thermometer at 29 degrees, Tampa, Jacksonville and other cities had their lowest readings for several years, varying from 19 to 25 degrees.

STRUGGLE FOR COLONY FUNDS SEEN BY STATE

(By Associated Press) LANSING, Mich., Jan. 3.—Declaring the death of Benjamin Funnell foreshadows a "struggle for the supremacy and control and destiny of the House of David" colony, the state today pressed the state supreme court for modification of its recent order prohibiting enforcement of a receivership decree against the colony.

The affidavits filed by the state refer to differences between Benjamin Funnell and his supporters on one side and Mary Funnell, the deceased cult leader's "sister," and Francis Thorpe, a colony pillar, on the other. There will be a "general effort on the part of each faction to get all it can regardless of the rights of the general membership."

"It needs no argument to convince this court, surely," the brief says, "that with internal strife rampant, the death of the leader an accepted fact and no restraint over personal property, any decree dealing with the property of the House of David upon the basis of conserving the personal property would be nullified wholly or partially, unless some restraint is imposed."

The wealth accumulated by Benjamin Funnell has been a subject of considerable speculation, estimates ranging into several million dollars, mostly cash. Roy Clark, Benton Harbor banker, appointed as receiver by the circuit court, filed an affidavit stating the colony has cash and current funds in excess of $200,000.

Copied for the colony replied to the state's brief with a vigorous denial of fractional strife, which they attributed to "newspaper propaganda."

The colony's brief asserted—the average net income of the colony is between $10,000 and $12,000 a year. It termed the language of the state's brief a "direct insult."

WOMAN FEARED DOCTOR, STATE WITNESS SAYS

(By Associated Press) LOS ANGELES, Jan. 3.—Words spoken several months ago by Mrs. Amelia Appleby, wealthy victim of a "sack murder," today echoed what deputy sheriffs declared to be a sensational accusation against Dr. Charles M. McMillan, her former business manager, now held as her suspected murderer.

Mrs. Appleby feared that Dr. McMillan might attempt to take her life, George P. McNally, Wilmington, California, realtor, told officers. These fears were communicated to him several weeks ago by the widow, he said.

Feared Seeking Money McNally, who was called as a witness before the grand jury operating today an investigation of the slaying, told Captain William Bright of the sheriff's homicide squad that Mr. McMillan had asked Mrs. Appleby to marry him but that she feared he only was seeking her money.

The real estate man quoted the widow as having told him she feared Dr. McMillan might attempt to poison her and instructed McNally to notify the police in event of her untimely death.

Investments of Mrs. Appleby in real estate in the Wilmington, Calif. harbor district had been handled by McNally, he said.

Coincident with the announcement that the grand jury at its meeting today would investigate the slaying of Mrs. Appleby, deputy sheriffs asked an analysis made by the county chemist of stains on the head and handle of a hammer discovered in the garage of Mrs. Appleby's home. The stains, according to the officers had the appearance of blood.

Previous Evidence Previous evidence had indicated that Mrs. Appleby, the widow of a wealthy Chicago inventor, probably was killed in a rear room of her home and the body trussed up in a canvas sack in which it was found several days ago on the outskirts of Los Angeles.

Since the time of his arrest, which followed quickly on the identification of the body, Dr. McMillan has repeatedly denied that he killed the woman.

He told his attorneys he believed two men who he said had threatened Mrs. Appleby were responsible for her death.

An American Feminist From Syria

By JULIA BLANSHARD, Special Service Writer

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Jan. 3.—Ten years ago in Beirut, Syria, Sanniye Haboob saw her girlhood chum die in childbirth because Mohammedan custom denies women the right of medical treatment from men doctors and there are no women doctors.

"I took an oath over her dead body that I would study medicine and save a thousand mothers' lives to pay for the loss of hers," said Miss Baboob.

That explains why Miss Haboob is now a freshman at the Woman's Medical college here, the first Mohammedan woman to enter any medical school in America.

But it doesn't, however, give any hinting of the curious life of a young woman created in her native town in getting the necessary foundation of a higher education.

She was the first Mohammedan girl to go to the American college in Beirut. Mohammedan girls' education usually consists of reading and writing the Koran. Their education is gone at 12 years.

"Men spit in my father's face to show their scorn of a man who could not control his daughter," Miss Haboob explains.

"When I walked to and from the university I dared not use the street, men and boys on the streets hissed in my face and peered at me. A woman must be without honor to defy our custom."

They Mocked Her

"My father thought me mad. My uncle offered me $5,000 to stay home and get married. When I sailed for America to study the town women gathered around my mother, wailing, lamenting, as if I were dead.

"But my father and mother told me to go ahead. 'Until I reached America I dared not use the street. Now she has laid aside her vivid 'abbas' (Arab's native dress) for tweed suits, her black veils for a student's soft felt hat and her heavy black hair is bobbed. In spite of her serious purpose, she has an appreciation of the joy of life, too.

"American women have made me over," she confessed. "I came to learn medicine only. Now when I go back, I shall use my medicine to gain access to women. Once in I shall tell them the joys of education, of working outside the home, of going to business, traveling—I shall tell them of American women. Yes, I guess I am a feminist—an American one."

"Mohammedan women," she said, "are pampered, protected, given gorgeous fine silks, jewels, perfumes. But they are expected to have only gratitude and humility in their hearts towards their husbands who give them luxury.

Such a Life

"They are still home women, always veiled when seen by men. They are denied education. They are kept inside the house, protected from all the interesting things of life. Their marriages are arranged. Their manner of living is dictated. They walk on their roofs evenings if they must get a breath of fresh air, but it isn't considered necessary.

"When they want to shop, stores send up a half dozen boys of brocade, or whatever they wish. Servants spread the display out in the women's quarters. No Mohammedan woman knows the thrill of rubbing elbows with other women shoppers, and seeing gorgeous displays.

"Given a husband, home, children and some fine goods to embroider and a woman's life, according to Mohammedan custom, is complete. Best sellers and popular magazines are unknown. They just don't read, unless it is the Koran."

But even in Beirut things are changing slowly. "My young sister plans to study dentistry. I have just heard," Miss Haboob beamed. "And she wrote me that on the campus there today, where six years ago I was hissed, there are 100 veiled figures, moving about—one hundred women studying higher education. Of course they are still veiled, Mohammedan women will be veiled for generations. I am afraid. When I think of all their is to do back home for women, I feel that I can not possibly wait until I get my degree."

MUCH BUILDING IS PLANNED FOR COLEMAN IN YEAR

COLEMAN, Jan. 3.—New business buildings definitely planned during the coming year for this city will total well over one-half million dollars, revealed by a survey of the various projects for which plans are now nearing completion.

Two structures alone will claim nearly $300,000 of the total which will be applied to construction of a five story office building 60 x 90 feet and a two story 55 room hotel for which the contract will be let during the second week in January according to Mrs. Helen Moore proprietress.

In addition to the two larger fire proof structures, two $75,000 and one $25,000 ventures will be started in January or February. A new city hall and fire station will entail the expenditure of $75,000 as will a strictly modern theatre to be built by B. C. Howell & Sons, on a site directly opposite the office building location. Coleman's first creamery and ice cream manufacturing plant will be equipped with a new fire proof building and new machinery throughout. The recent announcement of The Oil Belt Tool and Supply company of Cross Plains that a machine shop and supply house will be opened here with new machinery will likely boost the building and equipment valuation nearly $20,000.

Augmenting the assured building program for the coming year, C. E. L. Culp recently announced that ten dwelling houses will be constructed immediately which with 15 or twenty individuals building residences and apartment houses, an estimate of total building permits for the coming year has been placed between $750,000 and the million mark by numerous conservative real estate owners here.

NEW TERMINAL FOR OKLAHOMA CITY IS ASKED

ROCK ISLAND WOULD ERECT STRUCTURE FOR JOINT USE

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—A plan for constructing "a commodious and adequate passenger terminal" in Oklahoma City, Okla., for joint use of railroads was submitted to the interstate commerce commission today for approval by the Rock Island railroad.

The exact location of the new structure and the investment necessary was not stated in the application, although it was said that it would be located "on or adjacent to the right of way of the Santa Fe."

Asks for New Line

The Rock Island, through a subsidiary, the Choctaw, Oklahoma and Gulf, also proposes to build about seven miles of new line across the southern portion of Oklahoma City and to abandon about a mile of line now operated between Shartel and the Santa Fe right of way, on the ground that this section necessitates several highway grade crossings.

The application promised to furnish more complete information as to the Oklahoma City terminal in proceedings which the commission may require.

AMERICAN RICE CONSUMPTION AT HOME, NOW GOAL

HOUSTON, Jan. 3.—What the banana distributor's corporation did for bananas—the prune distributor did for prunes and the yeast people did for yeast is what Texas, Louisiana and Arkansas rice growers and millers intend to do for rice.

"We're going to make Americans eat American rice," said E. S. Shoal, manager of the Jennings, La., chamber of commerce and rice men on the five years advertising program which they plan.

"It is proposed," he explained, "to spend $600,000 a year for the next five years on national advertising of this important commodity."

The conference decided to call a meeting of millers and bankers of the three states for the middle of this month to consider financing the campaign.

YANKS FACE PROSPEROUS YEAR WITH LITTLE CHANGE IN LINE-UP

PITCHERS ARE ONLY PART OF TEAM SHIFTED

TOUGH SLEDDING FOR BALANCE OF LEAGUE MEMBERS SEEN

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first of a series of articles dealing with prospects of Major League clubs for the coming year's fight.

(By Associated Press)
NEW YORK, Jan. 3.—It looks like a prosperous New Year for Miller Huggins' hired hands and a tough one for the rest of the American league.

Since the Yankees swept through the American league to a championship last fall and then dusted off the Pittsburgh Pirates in four straight games, to prove their rights to top championship ranking, Huggins' negotiations have met with a stern and rockbound silence on the part of rival managers.

Little Change Made

Except for a shakeup in his pitching corps, Huggins hasn't done much with his championship machine. Reports are that the Yanks have obtained title, under cover, to the crack keystone combination of the Oakland club of the Pacific coast league, Lyn Lary and Andy Reese. If they have been purchased it is probably for future delivery. The Yankees are pretty well fortified around the middle bat now with Lazzeri and Koenig.

The only major addition to the club since the season closed is Stanley Coteleskie, Cleveland spitball twirler, who was let out by Washington last season.

Three Pitchers Go

Huggins has disposed of three pitchers, Bob Shawkey, Dutch Ruether and Joe Giard, besides Ray Morehart, utility infielder. Shawkey and Ruether were handed their unconditional releases. Giard and Morehart went to St. Paul of the American association. Rumor has it that Morehart has signed Detroit Shocker, another veteran for a new berth next summer.

Without these Huggins still has a pitching staff of parts. The release of Ruether and Giard leaves Herb Pennock as the sole left-hander among the moundmen, but at 33, the willowy southpaw still ranks among the game's greatest pitchers. The right handers include Wiley Moore, sensation of the 1927 season, George Pipgras, Walter Hoyt, Walter Beall and Myles Thomas.

Infield Unchanged

The rest of the club has a permanent aspect. The infield combination of Gehrig, Lazzeri, Koenig and "Jumping Joe" Dugan is expected to start the 1928 race although Dugan's aging legs may make necessary a change at the hot corner. Mike Gazella and Wera are the regulars.

With Ruth, Meusel and Combs, Cedric Durst ready for emergency, as regulars and Ben Paschal and the outfield posts are adequately taken care of.

The catching, according to present indications, again will be in the hands of Pat Collins, Benny Burrough, and John Grabowski.

It looks as if Tad Jones may change his mind about quitting as coach of football at Yale. Although he announced such intentions early in the season, Tad is receiving so many requests from Yale alumni to remain in charge of Yale football that he may change his mind. At any rate, Tad is expected to make known his decision early in January.

NARROW ESCAPE MARKS GOTHAM'S VISIT BY WOMAN

NEW YORK, Jan. 3.—A woman from Hollywood visiting in New York experienced an adventure today more thrilling than the cinema sensations of any movie queen.

Mrs. Eva J. Newhardt was one of about 100 guests in the Carol Lodge, a hotel on 32nd street just off Fifth avenue, when fire broke out.

While firemen were carrying other guests down ladders Mrs. Newhardt made her way, scantily clad in the freezing winter weather, down a fire escape. While still one story above the ground she was cut off from escape by fire and as she clung to her perch firemen, who could not see her for the enveloping smoke, turned a stream of water upon her.

Almost torn from the fire escape by the force of the water, Mrs. Newhardt finally attracted attention by her screams and was saved. She was taken to a hospital suffering from burns and exposure.

THE BIG BOYS SIDE-STEP AS JACK APPEARS

McVEY, NEGRO FIGHTER HAS TROUBLE IN GETTING GOES

BY WERNER LAUFER
NEA Service Sports Writer

It looks as if the leading writer and middleweight contender, Jack McVey, may have a rough time of it in the very first round of the second world series game in which he ever officiated.

At least that is the belief of Mr. Cain, who says he will match his man with any and all of the big boys in the ring.

The leading boys in these divisions pay strict attention to other things when the subject of McVey is brought up and it looks as though the latest "black men" will be of old age before he gets his first at a title.

Just recently, George Courtney, Oklahoma cowboy, also on the trail of Mickey Walker, posed a forfeit with the New York State Athletic Commission for a scrap with the titleholder, Steve Walker, had been previously suspended. It was suggested Courtney tangle with McVey. Courtney promptly withdrew, his check and temporarily put his ambitions aside.

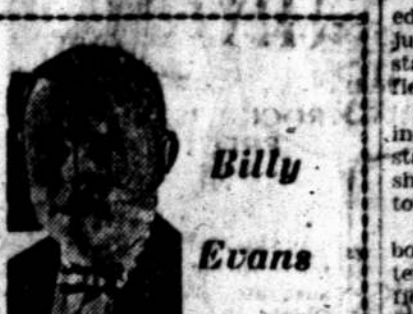

A funny angle to this episode is that Courtney is managed by the venerable Paddy Mullins, who formerly handled Harry Wills, granddaddy of all the "black men." Followers of things like will remember how lusty were the howls of Paddy when Jack Dempsey seemed to be avoiding a match with his Senegambian.

McVey is the Vardon of the ring. He is a true stylist and as great a crowd-pleaser as can be found. Specializing in straight punches, he wields a good-sized kick with both mitts.

He works with a grace and smoothness that make his job appear effortless and gives you the idea he is but half trying. Only by the signs of wear on his opponents do you sense the venom in the black boy's thrusts.

Jack seldomly wastes a punch and throws his right only when presented with a bonafide opening, which is often when McVey is looking for them.

Born in Athens, Ga., 22 years ago, he has been fighting since 1921. He has beaten a host of good men, losing only four bouts during his first six years of warfare. He has turned back, among others, tough battlers as Jack Hood, Allentown Joe Gans, Salior Friedman, W. Scott Langford and Bobby Barrett.

Billy Evans Says:

His Toughest Decision

The toughest decision I ever made came early in my career as a big league umpire. To be more exact, it happened in the very first inning of the second world series game in which I ever officiated.

That was the 1909 clash between the Pittsburgh Pirates of the National league and the Detroit Tigers of the American.

Pittsburgh had taken the first game of the series and was anxious to assume a commanding lead by winning the second battle. A crowd of 32,000 was on hand, a record-breaking gathering for the world series up to that time. Forbes Field in Pittsburgh was taxed to capacity.

Temporary stands had been erected behind the boys a good laugh at the expense of Leo P. Flynn, Shade's manager.

Jack was leading the fight. In one of the later rounds he drove Shade into a corner, Shade's hands were sitting. Tieing up Shade's hands and holding him with ease, he leaned over the ropes and howled his defiance at the carpetbagger and his string of fighters. Even Flynn joined in the outburst that followed.

McVey is the Vardon of the ring. He is a true stylist and as great a crowd-pleaser as can be found. Specializing in straight punches, he wields a good-sized kick with both mitts.

He works with a grace and smoothness that make his job appear effortless and gives you the idea he is but half trying. Only by the signs of wear on his opponents do you sense the venom in the black boy's thrusts.

Jack seldomly wastes a punch and throws his right only when presented with a bonafide opening, which is often when McVey is looking for them.

Born in Athens, Ga., 22 years ago, he has been fighting since 1921. He has beaten a host of good men, losing only four bouts during his first six years of warfare. He has turned back, among others, tough battlers as Jack Hood, Allentown Joe Gans, Salior Friedman, W. Scott Langford and Bobby Barrett.

In the latter rumpus, McVey ret.

ed along the right foul line from just back of first base to the stands that extended from center field to the right field foul line. It was agreed that a ball striking fair, then bounding into the stands located on foul territory, should go for two bases. This was to guard against fluke home runs. It was also agreed that a ball bounding into the stands in fair territory, those that skirted the out field from right to left, should go as a home run.

Great First Inning

I shall never forget the first inning of that second game. I was the umpire-in-chief, calling balls and strikes. Bill Donovan, ace of the Detroit staff, was doing the pitching. The Tigers confidently expected to even up the series with "Wild Bill" pitching.

Bobby Byrne, the first man to face Donovan, walked on four straight balls. Tommy Leach doubled to right on the hit and run, scoring Byrne. It looked like a rout for "Wild Bill" and the Tigers. Fred Clarke moved Leach to third on a sacrifice, bunting to Donovan.

This brought the great Honus Wagner, batting hero of the Pirates to the plate. He disappointed by striking out.

The next batter was "Doc" Miller. He hit a long drive down the right field foul line that looked for a time as if it might clear the fence. The ball struck just inside the foul line in deep right, then bounced from view. Leach scored on the hit and Miller also made the circuit. The fans went wild, believing it was a home run.

I was in doubt as to what decision to make. I knew the ball had struck fair just before it disappeared from view, but I had no definite idea as to whether it went into two-base territory or was a sure enough home run.

Had Feet Inspiration

I conferred with Bill Klem, who was working the bases but the ball had disappeared so quickly he was in as much doubt as I was as to the correct ruling.

Fred Clarke, then manager of Pittsburgh, insisted it was a home run, while Hughie Jennings, pitcher of the Tigers, argued long and loud for a two-base hit. I wanted to do justice to both clubs but was up in the air for a ruling, when I was seized with what at the time seemed a fool inspiration.

I rushed into deep right field to where the ball had struck fair and to open the argument said to the fans seated in that sector. "Was the ball fair or foul?" There was noise but Pittsburgh roared in that section, it having been reserved for the Rooters club of the Pirates. In an instant hundreds of voices were shouting: "Fair ball by at least a foot." It was then up to me to learn where the ball landed. None of the fans knew that a ground rule had been agreed upon.

Let it to Fans

"Well, if it was fair, where did it finally land?" I asked. "It bounded into this stand," yelled a dozen fans in the two-section. "Yes, and I have the ball and I am going to keep it," said one of the spectators as he held the ball up to view.

"Looks as if it was only a two-base hit, gentlemen," I said to Managers Clarke and Jennings and they both agreed. Miller was sent back to second instead of being allowed a home run.

The Pirates, after having scored two runs in the opening session, were stopped the rest of the game. Donovan was invincible after the first inning and Detroit won 7-2.

Not only was it the toughest decision I ever made but it was the cause of four umpires being used in world series games ever afterwards.

In my next article I will discuss the most humorous situation of my 32 years as an umpire.

A THING OF BEAUTY IS A JOY FOREVER

Our University Place 100 foot home sites have a beautiful situation now and their beauty of situation and environment will surely continue to increase as the development of the Tech campus unfolds and the costly homes for which sites have already been purchased, are constructed. Have you noticed that the general architectural scheme of Tech college buildings tend to indicate that the campus will front south and its main entrance be from 19th street. University Place comprises the last tract of land right at the Tech's front within easy walking distance of all of its buildings. It is the place you will want to live some day, so why not avail yourself of our low prices and easy payment plan now instead of waiting and having to pay the fancy price that such properties command when its logical development is only a bit further along. Where else can you make a small investment that assures you of the large profits that these 100 foot highly restricted sites assure you of? INVESTIGATE. J. S. May your pleasures be many and golden... for 1928

What does "Happy New Year" mean? Just this: Getting rid of old discomforts and finding new pleasures.

In the matter of cigarettes, that job is easy for the man who makes his first discovery of Old Gold.

For an investment of 15c, he'll ring out the old, and ring in the new.

Gone will be the old throat discomfort from his smoking... the throat-scratch and the tongue-burn.

Found will be a new measure of cigarette enjoyment.

A cigarette he can smoke in any number, day and night with maximum pleasure and no penalty.

By resolving to switch to this new-type cigarette, he'll turn over a new leaf... by turning up the best leaf that ever went into a cigarette.

The Blazing Horizon

THE STORY THUS FAR
When JEFF HARRISON, member is killed in a poker game in Caldwell, Kan., his 13-year-old son, TONY, is taken to the Bar K ranch in the Indian territory by JOE CRAIG, who appoints himself the boy's guardian.

CHAPTER XXI
That year—1832—witnessed the formation of the Cherokee Live Stock association, almost 15 years after the act which was the least of 6,000,000 acres of grazing land in the Strip from the Cherokee nation.

Just how precarious was their position was not generally understood, even by those who actively opposed them. For one thing, they had absolutely no legal protection against vandalism; if a passing stranger happened to be seized with the notion to destroy what structures he found on one of these ranches, he might do so and fear only the wrath of the one offended, for he would not be destroying property as the law interpreted the word.

Inasmuch as the opening of the Cherokee strip to settlement would mean the disappearance of the cattle ranches, the Cherokee Live Stock association sought to prevent the coming of the day or, at least, to defer it to the dim and distant future. Consequently it set up a powerful lobby in Washington, and secured, in 1839, a year, which fought bitterly every bill introduced in congress, or likely to be introduced, which advocated the opening of the Indian lands to the white home seekers.

Among the most active of the organizers were Titus Moore and George Washington Miller, his closest neighbor. Miller had been a pioneer in the Strip, had in fact built the first bit of fence in all that country. In partnership with another, he had owned the LE brand, but the partnership had been dissolved, the brand along with it, and the year before the formation of the live stock association had seen the birth of Miller's new brand, the 101.

This ranch, one of the largest in all the territory, was to be preserved, even at the opening of the Indian lands by Miller and his three sons, Joseph, Zack and George L.; and was to grow in acreage and national prominence. Today it is one of the show places of Oklahoma. On infrequent occasions, Tony Harrison had been in the habit of riding over to the 101 ranch and visiting with Joe Miller, who was his own age, a big, raw-boned youth of 16. They had ridden together through the horse high big stem in the valleys, had picked the wild grapes, iron the heavy hanging vines, the timbered bends, and shot wild turkeys along the salt fork.

Many times during the summer Joe Craig would pause in whatever he happened to be doing, to gaze in puzzled fashion at Tony Harrison. The boy now was in the habit of falling into long spells of silence, in many ways, Craig decided, he was again the old Tony Harrison, the little fellow he had encountered on a certain tragic evening in Caldwell.

Speculation Over Safety Is Offered
WASHINGTON, Jan. 3 (AP)—Speculation over the safety of American marines who have captured Quilali, stronghold of the Nic-aguan bandit leader, General Sandino, gripped officials here today, following receipt of a radiogram plea for reinforcements and hospital supplies.

The message was received at the navy department late last night from Telapanea, sub-headquarters of the marine detachment operating against Sandino, and gave first official news of the Sunday engagement in which one marine was killed, another seriously wounded and three others slightly hurt. These casualties were among a reinforcement column of 200 men going to the relief of the patrol which on Friday suffered five fatalities and

The Steering Gear Broke

Harding Bodies in New Tomb

Formal burial rites were held the other day when the bodies of President and Mrs. Warren G. Harding were reinterred to the new $800,000 Harding Memorial tomb at Marion. The picture shows the sarcophagus, containing the body of President Harding, being lowered into the crypt, its final resting place.

First Lady Runs the Farm

While Governor Henry H. Horton of Tennessee runs the affairs at Nashville, Mrs. Horton runs the farm at Riverview, 42 miles away. Riverview last year produced some of the finest cotton and dairy cattle in the state. The governor and Mrs. Horton are pictured above.

Senator Wheeler said. "But aside from the question of our assuming the wrong attitude in the first place it does seem to me that when we do send marines to a territory, whether rightly or wrongly, we ought to sufficiently protect them so that they would not be subject to being slaughtered, as our marines have been in the last few days."

33 Injuries when attacked in force by Sandino

No indication of Peril
Press dispatches have related that the reinforcement column reached Quilali but gave no indication that the combined marine force, which is almost as strong numerically as that of Sandino, was in imminent peril. The leader employed about 300 men in the Friday and armed with machine guns as well as rifles and bombs they handled themselves in much better fashion than heretofore.

The message from Telapanea said the marines had taken up a position which would be maintained, but were "urgently in need of reinforcements." Whether the sub-base at Telapanea is able to put another rebel column in the field was not known here, nor was it known whether any other body of marines is available nearer than the main headquarters at Managua, some 150 miles from Quilali. In addition to the airplanes operating with the detachment attempting to run down Sandino, others are at Managua and it was thought here that these might rush to the aid of the beleaguered troops if landing fields are to be found.

Other Marines Ordered Out
Marine headquarters made public Sunday night sailing orders for 150 more marines to leave New York soon but it was not indicated whether they were to serve as replacements of reinforcements.

Reinforcements At Captured Garrison
MANAGUA, Nicaragua, Jan. 3 (AP)—A reinforced garrison of United States marines today held Quilali after fierce fighting in which six marines were killed and 28 wounded. General Augustino Sandino, rebel leader, had boasted he never would be driven from Quilali.

The reinforcements Sunday of the patrol which captured Quilali, five marines were killed and 23 wounded.

Rebel Casualties Heavy
The rebel casualties in the two encounters were not determined because dead and wounded were quickly removed to save them from vultures.

One of the marines had established themselves in Quilali their planes under Major R. E. Rowell bombed the Sandino forces. Major Rowell advised Colonel Louis Mason Gulick, commander of the marines in Nicaragua, that several direct hits were made, undoubtedly causing numerous casualties.

Preparation were under way today to concentrate American columns at the former Sandino stronghold to crush the insurgents who are hidden in almost inaccessible points of the region.

After losing Quilali, Sandino shifted his headquarters to El Chipo, 18 miles away. The new headquarters are near the Coco river, which, flowing through an unexplored wilderness, offers a means of escape should the rebel leader be hard pressed.

Bruce Is Killed
First Sergeant Thomas C. Bruce, the marines, lately a lieutenant in the Nicaraguan national guard, was killed in a rebel counter attack Sunday while a combat patrol was en route from Telapanea to reinforce Quilali. Bruce, whose home was in Philadelphia, displayed great heroism at Corotal last July when a handful of marines and guardsmen administered a crushing defeat to Sandino's forces.

Lieutenant Merion A. Richall of Waco, Tex., who was in command was seriously wounded in Sunday's encounter. Four other marines were also wounded.

400 Insurgents in Patrol
The combat patrol, which included members of the Nicaraguan national guard, encountered part of Sandino's forces near Sapotilla ridge, four miles from Quilali. There were 400 men in the insurgent force.

The rebels were defeated after desperate fighting and fled into the thick forests of the mountainous region near the Honduras border.

PLAINS CATTLE SUPPLY SHORT INSPECTOR SAYS

The South Plains district has the shortest supply of cattle ever experienced in its history, according to Lem Chesser, district inspector for the Southwestern Cattle Raisers' association. Practically every cattle man in the South Plains has sold his herd with the exception of a yearling bunch he reports.

The Spade ranch, for the first time in its history, has sold all of its stock he says. Only a herd of several hundred calves is now being held on the ranch.

The price of the cattle has been exceptionally higher this year, all sales have been featured by prices. There have been no cattle from cold weather he reports.

PLAINS CATTLE SUPPLY SHORT INSPECTOR SAYS

The South Plains district has the shortest supply of cattle ever experienced in its history, according to Lem Chesser, district inspector for the Southwestern Cattle Raisers' association. Practically every cattle man in the South Plains has sold his herd with the exception of a yearling bunch he reports.

The Spade ranch, for the first time in its history, has sold all of its stock he says. Only a herd of several hundred calves is now being held on the ranch.

The price of the cattle has been exceptionally higher this year, all sales have been featured by prices. There have been no cattle from cold weather he reports.

Glands No Good
FRIEBERG, Ger. — Transplantation of glands from man to man is ineffective as a means of rejuvenation, in the opinion of German scientists. Experiments have convinced the authorities of the university hospital that in some cases it is a temporary rejuvenation but it is followed by rapid decay or the complete cessation of vitality.

OUR ANNUAL JANUARY CLEARANCE SALE

Will Begin Friday January 6th.

Sale time is again at hand—one of the two occasions during the year when profits are forgotten and our thoughts are entirely along the lines of clearing our stocks of all remaining Fall and Winter goods.

It's an event always worth while—one that's grown from season to season for the values are so big that our customers remember their past savings and come again every season. We realize that having only two sales each year we are expected to do the unusual on these occasions. Both in completeness of assortments offered and in the amounts of the discounts, this sale will not disappoint you. Plan now to be on hand for your part of this opportunity.

SHIFT OF FARM SITUATION IS SESSION TOPIC

ASSOCIATION OF REAL ESTATE MEN TO TALK OVER SITUATION

(By Associated Press)
HOUSTON, Jan. 3.—How the changing farm land situation may be met in this changing age is one of the outstanding topics to be discussed here January 25-27 when the National Association of Real Estate Men holds its annual convention.

The subject is to come before the Farm Land section with speakers of national prominence on the program, according to those in charge of the arrangements. Judge M. H. Gossett, president of the Federal Land bank of this city, is to speak on farm land financing and A. H. Burgess of Tulsa, Oklahoma, is on the program to lead the round table discussion on creating farm land business.

Other Leaders Named
Discussion leaders in other divisions of the meeting also have been named. In the property division, Lester W. Porter, of Chicago, has been assigned the subject, technique of industrial property appraising; George C. Smith, director industrial bureau, St. Louis, decentralization of industry from the branch plant and distributing standpoint; Lachlan Macleay, of the Mississippi Valley association, Chicago, the practical effect of waterway development on industrial locations; Roger J. Seaman, director industrial department, chamber of commerce, Houston, industrial development of that city.

In the brokers division such subjects are to be discussed as chain store leasing; how can the broker seek business more aggressively; and same methods of stabilizing business volume are to be illustrated by Meyer Eisenman, New Orleans; Delbert S. Wenzlick, St. Louis and G. E. Simpson, Houston.

Shifting Business Areas
In the property management division Jesse H. Jones, Houston plans to outline shifting business areas in growing cities and Joseph J. Nix, San Antonio, is to tell how to get new business.

Under the head of mortgage and finance, Edward Sonnenchein, Chicago, is to show recent developments and present status of blue sky legislation and Louis J. Estlin, Cleveland, is to answer the question whether usury and redemption laws protect the public.

Home builders and subdividers are to hear H. M. Sheldon, Detroit, talk about stabilizing the subdivision business; Alex. Long, Indiana, is to discuss a code of ethics and Hugh Potter, Houston, to give the history of a certain Houston real estate achievement.

Approximately 1,500 men from almost all parts of the country are expected to attend the sessions.

The distinction between a contagious and infectious disease is that the former is communicated by contact only; whereas the latter may be conveyed by germs through air, water or food.

ONLY FEW CARS ARE REGISTERED HERE TO PRESENT

"We won't register all the cars this month in the county at the rate we are going now," were the words of I. F. Holland, county tax collector this morning after slightly more than 300 car owners had registered since the opening of his office yesterday morning. The office was practically idle throughout the morning, he reported, with but few cars being registered.

With the present office force, Mr. Holland says that he can register every car in the county during January if they will be kept busy. There are approximately 9,000 vehicles in the county and at the rate they are being registered only about one half of them will be taken care of during the month, he says.

After February 1, a 25 per cent penalty will be attached to the registration and owners will be liable to a highway license fine for driving with 1927 license plates.

MANY VIEW NEW CHEVROLET HERE PAST TWO DAYS

More than six thousand persons have viewed the new Chevrolet line of cars at the display room of the Kerkendall Chevrolet company at 12th and Avenue J, during the past two days, according to officials of the company. Many mechanical innovations are embodied in the new cars on display.

Those who viewed the new models noted that the wheelbase was increased and bodies made roomier and with higher lines, also that the mechanical features had been developed greatly for a low price car. Outstanding developments in the engine and chassis are increased speed and power, easier steering, four wheel brakes of new design, shock absorber springs and smoother engine performance.

DEATH RATE OF 12.2 PER 1,000 IS REVEALED IN U. S.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—The Department of Commerce announces that 1,285,927 deaths occurred in 1926 within the death registration area of continental United States, representing a death rate of 12.2 per 1,000 population, a slight increase over the rate for 1925.

This area in 1926 comprised 41 states, the District of Columbia, and 25 cities in non-registration states, with a total estimated population on July 1, 1926, of 101,170,000, or 89.9 per cent of the estimated population of the United States.

The principal increases in death rates in 1926 were from diseases of the heart, from 186 to 199 per 100,000 population; influenza, from 30 to 41; pneumonia (all forms), from 94 to 103; measles from 2 to 8 and whooping cough, from 7 to 9. Decreases in rates in 1926 were from diarrhea and enteritis, under 2 years, from 32 to 27 per 100,000 population, and typhoid and paratyphoid fever, from 8 to 7.

Silver turns black when long exposed to the air because the air contains a small amount of sulphur gases which combine with the metal to form sulphide of silver.

COOLIDGE SEES PROSPERITY FOR U. S. COMING YEAR

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—President Coolidge believes the United States has every reason to look forward to a prosperous year.

Reports which have reached the White House, it was said there today, have borne out this hopeful attitude. The president has noted a general improvement in employment during the past few weeks, the tendency upon the part of railroads to purchase more equipment, acceleration in the automotive industry and a plentiful supply of credit with the always accompanying reasonably low interest rates. This, Mr. Coolidge feels, has placed industry and commerce in a position of a quietly financing any expansion has in mind.

The general condition of wages, the president's opinion, appeared to be the highest on record in past times and it was said at the White House that Mr. Coolidge saw reason to believe that there should be any material change in the future. The Chinese believe that anything red will frighten away evil spirits.
