CHRISTIANS TO GIVE VACATION CHURCH SCHOOL

Program is One of Most Enterprising in Recent Years

TO LAST ONE MONTH

Dates Are Set From May 18 Until June 19 In Wichita Falls

One of the most enterprising programs of recent years for the young people of the city is to be presented in the form of a vacation church school by the First Christian church of this city under the direction of Wm. (Bill) J. Spreen, director of religious education from May 18 to June 19, when commencement exercises will be held.

The movement of the vacation church school, although recent, is of nation-wide prominence, and is being adopted by the leading churches all over the country. The 2 other local churches, the First Methodist, South, and the First Baptist, are planning similar schools.

Is Biggest Yet.

"The vacation church school is the biggest thing the church today is doing for boys and girls," declares Mr. Spreen, holder of several college degrees and highly trained in work with young people. "Realizing that the one hour in the Sunday school out of the 168 hours every week is not sufficient time to spend in the religious instruction of the young life of the nation, the church has created a real school of instruction to be held during vacation time.

"The devil finds mischief for idle hands to do,' and during the long idle hours of vacation the forces of evil are not idle. The streets of any community are not safe for boys and girls to live in; commercialized play catches a boy's attention and fills his mind with sordid distorted, and unworthy ideas. The vacation church school fills the child's mind with intresting educational recreation, and is planned to develop character. Conducted along the same lines as a day school, with high standards of training and a well trained faculty, the church school achieves noteworthy results. Experiments with the movement in other cities have proven remarkably successful.

Interesting Subjects.

"The curriculum embraces subjects that will hold the interest and appeal to the minds of boys and girls from primary age up to the 'teen age. Literature, art, music, nature study, expression, hand work and dramatization, worship, Bible study and directed play are the subjects taught," Mr. Spreen explained. "We feel very proud of the faculty which will handle this school. All the teachers are trained young people, some are college graduates, some are Junior college students, and others have taken special training along this line at C. I. A. and colleges of like rank."

Mr. Spreen will direct the school Rev. Milo Atkinson, pastor of the First Christian church will play an active part in the instruction. Musical training will be in the hands of Mesdames Wayne Holmes, Joe Couch and Miss Iva Willis. Teachers in Graup 1 are: Misses Mabel Rundy, Katheryn Hopper, Charlotte Keevil, Ursule Johnson, Phyllis Creighton, and Elsie Griggs. Group 2, Mesdames F. W. Fischer, Overton Abernathy, Misses Janice Mashburn, Ellen Parker, and Margaret Sheers. Group 3, Mrs. A. King Davis, Mrs. Homer Karrenbrook with Mrs. S. L. Conn and Miss Alice Downing to be assigned to groups on the opening day of school.

High School Girl Tells Appreciation Of School in Poem

COMMENCEMENT week and the close of school inspirted the following poem of appreciation by Miss Dorothy Van Deventer, a member of the Senior graduating class.

Go search, and search
And try to find
The man who first
Got in his mind
To build our Junior college.

Go bring him forth
And let him see
This institution means to me
A world of opportunity
Of training and of knowledge.

And when you find him
Tell him please
That we have got
Good fortune's keys—
That he has been the donor.

Go search, and search—
And try to find
This man with heart
So good and kind
That we may do him honor.

GUN FIRE AND PATROL FENDER CORRAL YOUTH

Exciting Police Pursuit Ends In Capture of Man Wanted in Vernon

ESCAPED A TRAIN

Three Officers Join in Chase Which Ends in Path Of Police Wagon

Fred Horschler, a youth wanted in Vernon on a burglary charge, was back in the toils of the law again Tuesday night after a day of liberty that started at 3:45 Tuesday morning when he broke away from Sheriff Frank Edmonson of Wilbarger county, leaped from a moving Fort Worth and Denver train and made his escape. He was captured at 6:30 last night after a chase through the railroad yards at the eastern end of Tenth street.

Sighted at 6 P. M.

The Wilbarger county sheriff put in the day hunting for Horschler and was rewarded shortly after 6 o'clock when he found him in the yards east of town. Horschler, he said, broke and ran when he saw the officer. Edmonson fired at him several time, but missed.

The shots, however attracted the attention of Motorcycle Officers Griffin and McClelland who were at the city hall about two blocks away. They lit out for the scene of action, McClelland using his legs to carry him east on Ninth street and Griffin driving to Tenth and Ohio in the patrol wagon, where he turned east to go to the tracks.

West On Tenth

As luck would have it, McClelland fell in behind Horschler just as he dashed out from behind some box cars and started to run west on Tenth. Two shots from McClelland's gun, fired in the air, only spurred him to greater speed.

The cops were in still more luck, though, for the route Horschler chose carried straight into the patrol wagon, pilotted by Griffin. When the fugitive saw the officer he stopped short, turned and started back the way he had come.

Griffin simply stepped on the gas, caught up with the flying fugitive and bowled him over merely by hitting him with one fender of the car.

Flying Leap Wins

As Horschler rolled over on the ground, Griffin slammed on the brakes and made a flying leap. By that time McClelland was on hand and together they marched their prisoner back to jail.

Horschler was handcuffed when he escaped from the sheriff but was not manacled when recaptured. He refused to reveal how he slipped out of the cuffs. He will be taken on back to Vernon today.

There's a Mix-Up In This Mixed Type, So Figure the Thing Out

LOS ANGELES, May 12—The mix up among the Mixes over George Washington Kesterson's application to change his name to "Art Mix" for motion picture purposes developed into a argument over a mixed up mixing of Mix's to such a mixed up mixing of Mix's name as Art Mix, christened as such, did not want to be mixed up with any artificial Mixes.

That was too much for the court and July 10 was set down to give all concerned a few weeks in which to catch their breath.

Then the final mix was added to the mix with the protest of Arthur J. Mix, who declared the original Art Mix, who declared the original name of Arthur Kesterson was already known in films as George Kesterson, existed until July 10 for full hearing matter to be mixed up with any artificial Mixes.

Hot Tom Mix thereupon entered a protest that the Mixes really would mix up the movie fans who have been accustomed to seeing Tom Mix on the screen.

News of the Fields

New Ranger Area

There are nine rigs building or built and 15 locations, part of which may be rigs before the end of the week in the Barney Carter district of southern Stephens county eight miles north of Ranger, where a second well brought a flurry of activity which has resulted in making of locations as far as two miles away, a survey made by an oil official last week discloses.

The well which started the excitement is the Barkley, Little, Six and Crotty No. 1 Pritchard, near the northeast corner of the southwest 160 acres of section 2, block "B", T&NORY survey, which started off at 100 barrels an hour at 3,534 to 3,545 feet about three weeks ago. With the tools out of the hole, it increased to 150 barrels an hour and the last 24-hour gauge gave it 2,705 barrels daily.

Pay is believed to be the Lake Eastland sand. Numerous dry holes nearby prevent the pool assuming major importance but it is bringing in tests in old territory. The sand is also treacherous in that district. It is below the Caddo lime and shales and atop the Marble Falls limestone.

Barney Carter's No. 1 Langford, across 160 acres north, drilled in last June, is doing 300 barrels daily at 3,569 feet. The next completion will likely be Carter et al. No. 2 Langford, just about 1,000 feet south of No. 1, which was last reported drilling at 2,470 feet. It is near center of west line of east half of Langford 160 acres in section 1, block "B".

Garrison-Eslick

Garrison and Eslick are attempting to drill deeper after trying unsuccessfully to finish a fishing job with some parted casing in the hole in the old Pyramid well, No. 2, Waggoner in the north half of section 32, block 2, H&TCRRCO survey, northwest of the old Sigler pool. The well was one of the old holes drilled at the time of the Sigler boom, and until recently stood full of fluid, part of which was oil from some sort of a sort of a sand at 1,960 feet, presumedly. A rig was put over the hole and it swabbed dry. In attempting to pull the casing to carry the hole deeper the pipe parted at about 1,700 feet. An attempt is being made to drill a small hole with the old pipe still there now.

White Eagle, Hooks

White Eagle Oil and Refining company are moving on for No. 1 Hooks, heirs of R. J. Scott survey, abstract 255, Wichita county, 600 feet of Lee Underwood's discovery.

Lee Underwood No. 2 Pace, 300 feet north and 150 feet west of No. 1 Pace, Scott survey, is drilling at 900 feet for the sand in No. 1, found at 1,784 feet. No. 1 Pace, in one foot, gauged 190 barrels the first 24 hours and has been holding around at that mark since.

Humble, Waggoner

The Humble Oil and Refining company were driving their casing yesterday after bailing and finding a leaky casing seat in their No. 1, John and Jeff Waggoner, M. A. Willis survey, abstract 547, west half of the survey, and about 8,000 feet northwest of the Howell well on the Mitchell tract. The sand was topped at 1,935 feet.

Foster, Andrews

Foster Drilling company is starting up again at 2,800 feet after being shut down for several days on their 3,600-foot cable tools test in the Miller pool region, J. Collingsworth survey, abstract 68, southeast Archer county.

Sanders, Lawson

Jack Sanders is drilling at about 1,450 feet on his No. 1, Ella Lawson, just north of Goree, Knox county, H&TCRRCO survey, block 81, southeastern part of the county.

Daniels-Rutis, Salmon

Daniels and Rutis were reported yesterday below 560 feet on their No. 2, Salmon, 291 feet east of the northwest corner of the Panhandle 77 acres, Chambliss survey, North Nocona, Montague county. The No. 1, is shut down in with some fuel being drawn for the drilling of the second well.

Petroleum Producers

Petroleum Producers No. 1, Burnett, a mile and one-half southeast of the Texhoma Fowlkes Station production, northwest corner of the southeast quarter of section 3, S&MGRRCO survey, Wichita county, was reported drilling yesterday at 1,670 feet and nothing showing as yet.

Texhoma, Montague

Texhoma Oil and Refining company is equipping its No. 4, Howard, Finis Robertson survey, north Nocona for the pump with the expectation of making a 150 barrel well from sand at 1,599-1,631 feet. The oil is lighter than any so far found in the field.

Texhoma, Burnett

Texhoma Oil and Refining company's E-3, Burnett, T&NORRCO survey, section 2, south of Fowlkes Station, Wichita county, produced 100 barrels of oil on the pump Monday from sand at 1,919-24 feet.

Burton-Ruff, Waggoner

Burton and Ruff and the Empire Gas and Fuel company are drilling below a last reported depth of 2,150 feet in their No. 1, Waggoner, center of the southeast of section 40, H&TC RRCO survey, block 14, north of the Gulf well a half-mile, esatern Wilbarger county.

Walls, Waggoner

Wells et al are shut down at 1,470 feet in their No. 1, Waggoner, southeast of the northwest quarter of section 21, block 14, H&TCRRCO survey, eastern Wilbarger county.

Jones, Bassett

Jimmie Jones has abandoned his No. 1, Basset, located in the James Smith survey, abstract 201, south line just north of the road, at a total depth of 1,760 feet. The well was a dry hole.

Duke, McKee, Dipprey

Duke and McKee have finished up and abandoned their No. 1, Dipprey, located in the A. Burnham survey, just southeast of Round Timber, southeast Baylor county, total depth given as 1,815 feet.

Kentucky, Wilson

Kentucky Oil corporation and Burns and Waxson were bailing late yesterday on their No. 1, Wilson, northwest corner of the east 40 acres of the block 75, ATNCL, due north of Archer City. The well was showing for some sort of a producer.

Loofburrow- Duffy

Loofburrow and Duffy has spudded and shut down pending better weather conditions in their No. 1, Jamison and Sams, J. T. Cockerell survey, abstract 1332, due south of Seymour and east of the Brazos river, southern Baylor county. The hole is 26 feet deep thus far.

Strong, Wright

A. S. Strong will shoot 19 feet of sand at 1,428-47 feet in his No. 1, Wright, in the northwest quarter of block 2435, TE&LCO survey, due east of Megargel and north of the Barclay Hobbs well southwest Archer county. The hole bailed and swabbed dry but it is believed that a loosening of the tight oil sand there will possibly make a producer of it.

Cranfill, Mills

Cranfill Brothers Oil company has a derrick up for the No. 3, Mills, 600 feet west of the No. 2, producer, southeast quarter of TE&LCO survey, block 2413, Cranfill pool, southwest of Megargel in Baylor county, and will move a rig off the Wright land onto this location in the next few days.

Richards, Mills

Mel Richards has spudded with his star machine and is drilling below a last reported depth of 200 feet in the northwest of the southeast of block 2428, TE&LCO survey, about a mile northwest of the Cranfill pool, southwest of Megargel, southeast Baylor county.

Atlantic, Parrish

The Atlantic Oil Producing company bailed dry yesterday and will plug and abandon its No. 8-A, Parrish, in its southwest quarter of the southeast quarter of section 26, H&TCRR CO survey, abstract 1197, Parrish district, north Archer county.

Oil Gossip

There are a number of ways to make money in the oil business. A fellow owning the lease on a forty acre tract east of Archer City, seems to have conceived a plan which is undoubtedly proving profitable to himself.

The lease on the forty acres was obtained about a year ago at the time the showing in an old well was pepping up east Archer county. Since that time more than 300 assignments of interest ranging from 1-5,200 undivided interest in the lease and 1-2,800 t 1-700 and 1-350 have been filed at the Archer county court house, practically all of the assignments being to people in another state, some distance from Texas.

There is not a copy of the Archer county legal records that does not show some new assignment on the lease.

Dr. J. H. Massie left yesterday afternoon at two o'clock for Los Angeles, Calif., for what he hoped would be a short stay.

J. L. McMahon, head of the Texas company here, is away from the city for a few days.

Ex-Student Head Of Southwestern Talks At Wichita Reunion

Rev. Glenn Flinn, president of the exStudents association and executive secretary of the university brought to the ex-students of Southwestern university some important facts when he spoke to a large representation of the school Tuesday evening at the reunion at the Kemp hotel.

More than $285,000 has already been subscribed, according to Rev. Flinn.

Short talks were made in favor of the organization by Walter Nelson, Frank M. Richardson, P. B. Cox, John E. Kilgore, Paul Morgan, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Robbins. Miss Pearle Smith gave several readings and Mr. Robbins sang.

Humble Well Blows In Huge Gasser In Jefferson County

WAURIKA, May 12.—The Humble oil well drilled in the south part of the county in the southwest of 18-7-5 near Ketchum Bluff, blew in a million foot gasser this week. The gas sand was tapped at 672 feet and mudded in and drilling had perhaps gone 100 feet below the sand when she blew in.

The well has been running wild and hundreds of visitors have driven long distances to see the wonder. Visitors are not allowed closer than a mile.

Seniors Who Fail---Some Are Lazy, Some Don't Care, Only a Few Can't Help It, Says School Principal

WHY do seniors, with the vision of graduation and the glory of finishing school, before their eyes, stumble through their final year and then fail S. H. Rider, principal of the Wichita Falls high school, speaking on this question Tuesday named several reasons, and declared lack of ability is not the main one.

"Students who fail rarely owe their defeat to lack of ability," Mr. Rider states, "in most cases the student's own disposition, his natural tendencies and the way he uses his time are to blame for not doing his work well. More often a student's environment pulls him down—he runs with a bunch who don't study, and rather than be a killjoy, he neglects his work.

Some Are Lazy.

"Some students are just naturally lazy. They may be bright and capable but there are other things they'd rather do than study, even if the neglect of study means failure to graduate. Lack of home encouragement and stimulus to do regular study makes them indifferent and careless.

"Graduation time brings failures sharply to public notice, though many students fail and drop quietly out of school all during the term. Too, the students who fail at graduation have more than likely been failing all through the term. Many of them have been doing poor work all along and have had little chance of making passing grades. They did not fail all at once," the principal declared.

"Spring fever," Mr. Rider stated, made the students drop in their effort during the spring months. The urge to neglect the work and the daily routine became almost irresistible to a student who had no home control about his tudy, and he became hard to hold in classes, Mr. Rider said. Many boys and girls dropped out to go to work, and those who remained often did careless work during the spring months, the principal declared.

Organizations Help.

"School organizations of which there are many, are a great power in holdnig young people in school and giving them an interest and an incentive in their school work. They form a valuable part of school life and give the youngsters a vital strain of education that can't be gotten elsewhere," Mr. Rider stated. "Of course, there are some who dissipate their social life to the harm of their studies, but as a rule, the fault lies with the pupil and the way he uses his time rather than the organization. Many of our best students are the most active in school organization life.

"Another interesting fact is that everybody goes to school nowadays. More than three times as many students attend high school than there were only a few short years ago. The percentage of pupils who fail is small compared to the great number who attend, make good grades in many lines of study, and graduate successfully," Mr. Rider declared in closing.

"Rock Pile Blues" Ready For Professional Drunks Here, Police Heads Say

New corrective means are soon to be adopted for habitual drunks and vags, Police Commissioner Frank Queisser has announced in connection with plans being formulated to send offenders to the rock pile, to the clean-up squads around the city incinerator, to the ditch digging crews of the water and sewer departments and to such other branches of the municipal forces as may be available.

Mr. Queisser and Chief of Police Hodgins have found that the city is now feeding a number of professional drunks and vags—men who are regular callers in police court and to whom a fine means only an opportunity to loaf in a few days. Instead of this, now, they propose to farm the culprits out to various department heads for work. Commissioner Patton of the health department said he could use a number of them in keeping things clean at the incinerator; Commissioner Curd thought he might use some in digging his water ditches, and other suggestions were made.

Under the new plan, the department using the services of those under sentence will be charged with the board bill of the men so long as they are thus engaged.

The plan is to be made effective at once.

James Calvert to Be Installed as Junior DeMolay Councillor

James Calvert, recently elected junior councillor of Hope Chapter, Order of De Molay, will be installed Wednesday evening at the chapter meeting held at the Masonic Temple. The post of junior councillor is the only elective office in the list, the others being appointed by the master councillor.

After serving three months in the junior councillor's chair, Calvert will automatically be promoted to the chair of senior councillor, where after three month's work he will receive the highest honors of the order, the post of master councillor. His active work in the chapter and his support of the various activities put on by the local chapter from time to time are responsible for the big majority of votes which placed him in line for the leadership of the group. The junior councillor has also served on several degree teams and is thoroughly acquainted with the workings of the order, according to Ted Brown, retiring master councillor who terms Calvert an able leader.

Brown Property Owners In Wichita County Takes Lead From Jones Tribe

The Browns have supplanted the Joneses' as property owners in Wichita county precinct No. 1, which includes Wichita Falls.

This revelation was made Tuesday when deputies in the county tax assessor office found that precinct 1 taxpayers named Brown numbered 54, while those with the distinguishing name of Jones amounted only to 47. Formerly the Jones tribe held the lead, it seems.

A new threat to their supremacy has also appeared, in that the Johnsons in the precinct have shown a steady growth and are now only one behind the lagging Joneses. Forty-six Johnson property owners have made their renditions.

"Pretty good, yes!" Tax Assessor Howard commented, "but wait until tomorrow when we get around the Smiths."

Mr. Howard will be ready with his rolls when the county commissioners court, sitting as a board of equalization, convenes May 19 to hear tax disputes.

HARVIE JOURDAN ON COTTON.

Harvie Jourdan of Georgia is the managing director of the Southern Cotton association. He is touring Texas and making speeches to the farmers of Texas. He asserted at Mineral Wells that southern cotton growers, through antiquated methods, are losing $150,000,000 a year.

How? Well, it is his firm conviction that the plantation bale of today is the same type of package as that turned out from the old-fashioned horse powered gin of half a century ago. It typifies the days of the tallow candles and the stage coach and the bale is only partially covered, thrown about in trash and dirt and is delivered to the spinners in a disgracefully economic condition.

Continuing he said, there is a fixed charge of 5 1-2 per cent of the gross weight of the Texas bale deducted for bagging and ties, and he asserted that no cotton grower ever sold a pound of bagging and ties and never will under existing conditions.

Harvie Jourdan has a solution of this problem. It is a higher density and compression, and it lies in the adoption of the new system. Moreover he says, the charges for freight, insurance, storage, tare and losses in weights are higher against American cotton than any other staple farm commodity produced in any country in the world.

Texas produces a third of the cotton crop of America and the amount lost by present methods of handling, according to the calculations of the Georgia expert, amounts to $50,000,000 a year. Why not get away from the tallow dip and stage coach period of civilization?

JOURDAN WOULD AMEND THE LAW.

All the southern senators and congressmen voted for the present immigration act. Now a Georgia democrat, Harvie Jourdan, managing director of the Southern Cotton association, is advocating a national law permitting colonization for the cotton states by bringing aliens from Great Britain, France, Holland, Belgian, Germany, Denmark, Norway and Sweden.

He is advocating an amendment to the immigration law granting responsible land settlement companies the right to send aliens to these European countries to contract with responsible farmers for the sale of southern farm land on a long time payment plan.

His argument is that more than one million farmers have deserted the cotton belt state since 1920 for industrial centers of the county because the deflation inaugurated by the federal reserve banks was followed by losses due to the boll weevil. In addition to this, he declared the native white farmers are deserting the soil in droves every year and there is a constant flow of black labor from the farms of the south to the manufacturing centers of the north and east.

The Jourdan proposition may interest southern senators and representatives. They alone possess the power to force an amendment to the immigration act. American labor organizations and the so-called patriotic societies are demanding that aliens from Mexico and South American countries shall be shut out and that the same restriction shall apply to the North British American dominions as to European lands.

FARM CO-OPERATIVES GAIN.

Former Lieutenant Governor Lynch Davidson is swinging around the circle pointing out the importance of the organization of modern marketing associations for the farmers of Texas. This reminds the writer that a trade journal of the north directs attention to the large increase in joint marketing in America in ten years.

Again it is noted that the tremendous increase in co-operative marketing in the southern states during the past year has won the attention of the bureau of agriculture economics, United States department of agriculture, when it was shown by a recent bulletin that in the southern states there are some 913,000 farmers who are members of co-operative organizations as compared with 104,000 in 1915.

For the country as a whole the bulletin says there are now approximately 2,500,000 farmers who are members of co-operative organizations compared with 651,000 in 1915. Nearly one-half or 46 1-2 per cent of the total membership is in the twelve north central states where co-operative marketing has always been a strong factor.

Joint marketing in New England is a slow traveler. The New England states show 55,000 farmer co-operators compared with 21,000 in the year 1915. Co-operative effort is said to be taking a strong hold on the truck growers and citrus fruit producers of the magic valley, and the cotton co-operators are said to be increasing in numbers at a rapid rate.

Our former lieutenant governor and all the others who were billed for addresses by the makers of the Mineral Wells program appear to have caught the co-operative spirit. Organization appears to count.

ANOTHER APPALLING DISCOVERY.

Another appalling discovery has been made by British scientists, this time in Australia. Fossil man has been unearthed in that far away country, and Sir Arthur Keith of the British museum says that the fossil man shows conclusively that Australia was peopled more than 25,000 years ago.

This discovery is said to be much like the anthropoid ape, and 25,000 years ago the people he represented made their way from Asia to Australia as the sea belt at that time was only thirty miles wide.

Sir Arthur Keith takes time to remark that the art of navigation had usually been supposed to be no more than 5,000 years old, but the recent discoveries compelled scientists to believe that the first settlers of Australia had mastered the art of navigation, either by accident or forethought, 25,000 years or more ago.

What is going to happen next?

By Dr. Frank Crane

LEAVING THE UNIMPORTANT.

There comes a time in each man's life when he gets a "call," or an inspiration, to get up into a higher plane of living, thinking and feeling that which he has been occupying. Let him obey at once!

Joan of Arc received a call to lead the armies of France. She did right to listen and follow. There were plenty of girls in Domremy who were fit for nothing but to tend sheep. "Let the dead bury their dead!" Jenny Lind felt within her the ambition to be a great singer and enchant the world. But who was to do the knitting and sweep the floors? There were plenty to do that. "Let the dead bury the dead!"

The principle is applicable to us all. History and the lives of famous persons are of no use unless we can interpret them in terms of our everyday experience. Some young man may read this who has felt an overpowering longing to get an education. A thousand things interfere, social pleasures, sports, laziness, or an anxiety to get to making money as soon as possible.

If he allows himself to be held back by these things he gives away his life to "the dead." To plod is good, and it is well to be faithful in littles and to neglect no details, but if your life is going to be at all touched with greatness you will need that other wisdom which consists in seeing an opportunity and that other wisdom which consists in seizing it.

Life is spoiled because we fail to estimate values. We think too much of trifles. The sick woman toils away until death comes prematurely; she thought darning socks was more important to her children than her own life. Men neglect the family for jolly fellows. The Germans have a proverb: "The good is the enemy of the best." I am speaking of those who stick to the good because they are timid, and will not take the best. Life is conspired against always by institutions, formalities, conventions, customs. The Pharisees felt the truth and beauty of the Nazarene's teaching, but they were in the grip of a dead mass of institutionalism; they stayed to bury it; life swept by; the future belonged to the Nazarene. Lazy, timid minds fear every advance of the truth. They cling to their father's formulas. They want nothing but what has been. Let them alone! "Let the dead bury the dead!"

The human problem is to better the quality of life, to make life fuller, more vivid. It is the impulse to do this that pushes the level of civilization constantly upward. In their blind obedience to this impulse men strive for better houses, clothes, culture, education, religion. They want fuller, richer lives.

WHAT THE DROUTH DID.

Arizona had had a long drouth and this is what it did in one of the valleys of the Copper state. It revealed to the eye of man a buried city with the largest apartment building ever discovered on the North America continent.

This rare find is of concrete and not an adobe relic of antiquity. It was created by a prehistoric race, hundreds of years before Columbus discovered America and perhaps before a famous Ceaser had crossed the Rubicon.

Unless the scientists are mistaken there were many civilizations in America before the coming of the red man and long before a white man had visited its shores. Asia may not have been the birth place of the race.

Uncommon Sense

By JOHN BLAKE.

Judgment.

We hear a great deal about men of judgment, and their value in the world.

It was the judgment of Foch that made him commander in chief of the allied forces in the great war.

It was the judgment of men like Rockefeller and Carnegie that made them the richest men of their time.

It was the judgment of Henry Ford that enabled him to build a tremendous fortune by putting automobiles within the reach of people of limited means.

It is the judgment of this or that captain of industry, or leader of men which has brought him fortune or fame.

It is the custom of writers to talk as if judgment were some special quality, given to a man at his birth, like the ability to paint or write poetry, or compose music.

We regard it generally as something apart from a man's general intelligence—something which he cannot possess unless he has inherited it.

But all judgment really is a high form of intelligence, made practical by experience, and thought and hard work.

The opinion of a Herbert Spencer about what ought to be done to bring a disabled ship through a violent storm would not be worth anything at all, yet he was a brilliant man, whose judgment on evolution was remarkably sound.

The judgment of Amundsun on horticulture would probably not be especially valuable to orchardists. Yet his judgment is sought after and followed eagerly by polar explorers.

What judgment is, is merely common sense applied to some particular special thing which a man has thought about and studied, and mastered, insofar as man can master anything in this world.

Judgment is highly paid. The executive who is reasonably sure to know the right thing to do in all situations which may come up is invaluable to the concern for which he works.

No drudgery, no long hours are expected of him. The fact that he is on the job when he is needed is enough.

The same is true of the great lawyer, or the great doctor. It is their judgment which brings them big returns.

But that judgment had to be formed by years of arduous toil.

It came through specialized knowledge, often put to the test.

It is the result of repeated failures, each one of which taught the man who made them not to respect that particular sort of failure.

Judgment has to be long and carefully cultivated. And good judgment about more than one or two lines of endeavor is so rare as not to be taken into account.

The youth who wants to be known and paid for his judgment must begin early to form it and continue to keep forming it through his life.

And not even when he has risen to the top rung of the ladder will he—if he is the right kind of man, be satisfied that his judgment is unerring, or attempt to come to a decision about an important matter without long and careful thought, during which he brings all his knowledge and experience to bear on the matter at issue.

Taurus.

The conditions are just the reverse of those that prevailed yesterday: in the morning, the planetary aaspects are favorable, whilst, later on, they become distinctly adverse. The good period is necessarily so brief that not much of a constructive nature can be accomplished, but even so, it is a good opportunity for clearing up anl "odds and ends" left over from the day before. The adverse period is full of danger, and much good that has hitherto been accomplished may be nullified, unless a very determined effort be made to establish poise and maintain equilibrium. There will prevail a marked tendency to become pessimistic, and so dissatisfied with work already done as to wish to destroy it. It would be, of course, harmful to yield to any such desperate eimpulses, as any such action would not only be inexpedient, but distinctly disastrous.

Children born today will require very careful nourishment and vigilant care during the early period of infancy: after this stage is, however, passed, their health promises to be normal. Their dispositions will be rather reserved, but the many good qualities of heart they possess will attract many friends; their characters will not be dominating, nod will they be masterful; they will not be amenable to punishment, but love and affection will do for them what repression and sternness could never accomplish. They do not promise to aachieve any marked material success, but, according to all indications, will lead happy lives, not only securing genuine pleasure for themselves, but also imparting it t oothers.

If today is your birthday, you are just, but not merciful; fair, but not generous; ;intelligent, but not wise. You are a victim of Duty, as you see it, and this is about all you can see. No attempt should ever be made to decry the doing of one's duty, but, in your case, this, in an exaggerated form, has created within you a narrow-mindedness and a hardness that is hardly compatible with happiness or joy. If you could only forget, at times, your inflexible code, and become human, even though you erred, your friends would multiply, and cordiality would replace reserve, and warmth of heart would dissipate coldness.

You possess a great deal of ability, which you have acquired as a result of steady and constant application: owing, however, to a lack of humanly sympathetic tendencies, you have not met with that success that otherwise might have been yours.

POEMS THAT LIVE

O that 'twere possible
After long grief and pain
To find the arms of my true love
Round me once again!

When I was wont to meet her
In the silent woody places
By the home that gave me birth,
We stood tranced n long embraces
Mxed wth kses sweeter, sweeten
Than anything on earth.

A shadow flits before me,
Not thou, but like to thee:
Oh, Christ, that it were possible
For one short hour to see
The souls we loved, that they might tell us
What and where they be.

—Alfred Lord Tennyson.

MATTERS OF HEALTH

A flea and his rat are soon parted.

For a rheumatic twinge a climatic change.

And our hearts sank when we saw the kitchen sink.

An ear of corn from Kansas,
Where the Kansas corn is canned;
But an ear of corn in Kansas
Is a quart on the Rio Grande.

The community that makes no provision for the care and treatmen of its consumptive citizens who are unable to provide care and treatment for themselves, is shirking it's responsibility.

Quinine will cure malaria but mosquitoes carry it.

What a fied is he who raises false hopes in frail folks for the sake of a sale.

And another good way to "cure" a cold is to take nothing for it 'til it's it's five days old.

Our Maker says He ne'er intended
That large amounts should be expended
In the treatmeint of our ills;
I really think 'twas His intention
That we should practice more prevention.
And take fewer Fatem's Pills.

HASKELL May 12.—J F. Bernard who has the construction of the lake in the English Park at Haskell in charge, gives out the statement that the big rain of Saturday night did not damage the lake dam, although the spill-way was slightly damaged and he also states that the lake did not overflow.

Hunters Search In Vain for Lone Wolf

ABILENE, Texas, May 12.—"Old Whitey," phantom wolf of Cedar mountain, is still enjoying his liberty. A recent effort by hunters from Breckenridge in Stephens county to run down the wolf failed. Hunters have been trying to catch the wolf for many months in order to end his depredations on poultry. But now they've lost the trail entirely, and "Old Whitey" has drifted southwest of his haunts until the hunters quit taking his trail quite so often.

Irrigation

THE CAPACITY OF DITCHES.

A farmer wants to know how big hem ust build his ditches to carry a certain amount of water. This is something that every irrigation farmer wants to know sooner or later.

The size of a ditch to carry a given amount of water depends upon a number of factors. The shape of a canal influences the flow of water in it. A broad shallow ditch will not carry as much water as an equivalent sized ditch which is deeper and narrower.

The condition of theb ed of the canal has a lot to do with thef low. A smooth bed allows a faster flow than a bed full of bumps and holes.

The relation of the cross section of the stream to the amount of wetted surface it makes with the sides and bottom affects the velocity of the flow.

The grade, or the amount of slope or fall, per hundred feet determine the velocity, other things being equal. The greater the slope the faster the flow. If the water runs too fast it will of ourse cause washing, so there is a limit to the grade that can be given.

From the above it can be readily seen that figuring the size of a ditch to carry a given quantity of water is a rather complicated matter. It is something that few men other than irrigation engineers can figure.

There are tables made for the use of the farmer which will give him a lot of information and allow him to build ditches which are approximately of the right size

If you can not get hold of such a table it is better to ask an engineer when you must know the size. It will often save you money to do so.

A good general rule to keep in mind is that the flatter the slope the bigger the ditch musth e to carry a given quantity of water.

HOW IT STARTED

"To Dine With Duke Humphrey."

This phrase, meaning to have nothing to eat, comes to us from England where it has been in use for several hundred years.

Humphrey, Duke of Gloucester, who lived from 1391 to 1447, the youngest son of Henry IV, was renowned for his hospitality and known around London as the "Good Duke." When he died there was talk of a monument to be erected to him in St. Paul's but he was at the time under a charge of treason, for which his wife, Eleanor Cobham was serving a life term in prison and this was not done. Instead he was buried at St. Albans.

According to the story accredited in England, when idlers in the abbey leaving for their dinner would ask others whether they were going to, those who had no meal to go to would answer that they would "stay awhile longer and look for the monument for the duke." So the expression "dining with Duke Humphrey" became popular in the old days in London and has survived in the language to this day.

A similar saying the same in meaning that is frequently used in England, but is not so well known in this country, is "to sup with Sir Thomas Gresham.' Sir Thomas Gresham being a sixteenth century financier and philanthropist among whose charities were eight alms houses.

The flies were in the kitchen.
There was dust upon the food;
And then an epidemic
Consumed the neighborhood.

More Truth Than Poetry

THE KNIGHT

The knight wore clothes of boiler plate
The village blacksmith forged for him,
They made him always sit up straight,
They cramped him, trunk and thigh and limb;
Five valets had to help him dress
Before to jousts or wars he sped,
And it required ten, no less,
To strip him ere he went to bed.
But once his suit of clothes was made—
No further tailor bills he paid.

The cooking in his day was bad,
And to the taste made small appeal,
The knight but little pleasure had
When he sat down to eat his meal.
A half-cooked joint, a sodden cake,
Must sate an active appetite,
And frequently the stomach ache
Attended him throughout the night;
But all the food for self and horse
He got for nothing and by force.

No plays there were for him to view,
No latest model cars to buy,
But little could he find to do
But fight and flirt and sleep and die.
With a serene unclouded brow
He journeyed on from day to day,
And never had to figure how
To keep the hungry wolf away,
A plain and simple life he had,
And yet it wasn't half so bad!

A DARING DEED

At the risk of renewing the enmity of William Jennings Bryan, Engla has returned to the gold standard.

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

"NOTHING TO DO BUT KEEP HOUSE AND MIND THE CHILDREN" IS MAN'S IDEA OF A LIFE OF EASE, BUT DOMESTIC WORK IS THE HARDEST IN THE WORLD, WITH THE LONGEST HOURS AND THE SMALLEST PAY

A man and a woman have been having an argument about which has the harder life, men or women, and they have asked me to referee t fight. The man says that women have a soft snap because the husband h to earn the living for the family, while the wife has nothing to do but st at home with the children. He says that the man must work no matt how tired and sick he feels, while if the woman doesn't feel well she c lie down and take a nap and let her work go until the next day, whereas man's work must be done on the dot.

He says that the man is worn and harried by the sense of his responsibilities, while a woman has nothing on her mind but her hat. Furthermore, he opines that a man has a perfect right to be fractious and cross and irritable at home, because his business anxieties wear his nerves to a frazzle, but that women have nothing to worry them and consequently no excuse for nerves, and so when they are ill tempered it is nothing but pure devilment.

To this the woman replies that if he thinks being a woman is such a easy job he should try it for a while. She reminds him of the old adag that says that man works from sun t osun, but woman's work is never don and she asks him what would happen when a hungry family came troopi in for dinner and found nothing to eat, and the woman of the house calm reposing on a couch, because she didn't happen to feel like cooking that da

And she wants to know which is the more nerve-wearing proposition working all day in a quiet office or store or shop, or working all day wi three or four childrep shrieking and fighting and quarreling under foot, a a teething baby incessantly wailing. If anybody in the family is justifi in being peevish, she thinks it is the woman.

I agree with the woman in her contention that women have the heavier burden to bear. Life isn't easy for either men or women, but woman's lot is so much harder than man's that wh n I hear that a girl baby has been born I could weep tears of pity over her.

Nature itself handicaps woman. It makes her of more fragile cl and more easily broken than man. It gives her less physical strength th man, yet calls upon her to endure more. It makes her subject to all th diseases of man and then adds a few ailments of her own for good measu It calls upon her to suffer all the anxieties and sorrows that tear at t heart of man, and makes her temperamentally unfit to cope with them

If a woman goes into business, she has to combat the prejudice against her sex, and not only do as good work as a man, but better work and more of it to get the same pay. She is less able physically to stand the strain of long hours and intensive application than a man is. Skirts, even if they are cut off to the knees, are a hindrance when you are trying to climb the ladder of success. Every working woman has to hold her job with one hand and defend her character with the other.

Any boy starting out to make his fortune has so much better chance of winning out than a girl has that it is no wonder that she often gets discouraged and decides that it is better to sit down and powder her nose and marry him when he has reached the goal, than it is to try to compete with him.

The average domestic woman's life is infinitely harder than that of her husband. He works hard, but she works harder, for her day begins earlier than his does and ends later. The wife gets up and cooks breakfast and wakens her family to come and eat it, and long after they are in bed at night she is still at work patching and mending and cleaning and pressing so that they may go foth decently clad the next day.

Sundays and holidays, which are days of rest and relaxation to others of her household, are added labor to her, for there is extra cooking to do for the specially good dinner or lunch, or the new dress for Mary, or the fixing up of suits for father and the boys.

No other laborer on earth works such long hours as does the domestic woman, and no other laborer gets such little pay, for the average woman gets only her board and clothes, and those the poorest in the family.

The thory that the woman who has nothing to do but stay at ho and run a house, and take care of a family of children, lives a life glorious ease, and that she can do this at odd times when she isn't amusi herself, is a favorite one with them. Nothing shakes their faith in it, n even when they find out when the wife goes away that in two days th kitchen sink piles up with dishes and the floors are knee-deep in old paper and soiled clothes, and that meals do not automatically cook themselves an that every towel seems to be permanently lost.

Nor does the fact that a 2-year-old child can walk a husky man off his legs, and that taking care of a baby for a single afternoon can reduce a longshoreman to a nervous wreck and cause a man to desist from saying to his wife, "Gee, but I wish I had things easy like you and had nothing to do but stay at home with the children!"

A man's work is easier than a woman's and less nerve-wearing, because it is less monotonous. Domestic labor has fewer tangible results to show, and it lacks the thrill and stimulus of work done in public, where one is constantly meeting new people, seeing new faces, hearing new things.

However you look at it, woman's lot is a hard lot, and the tragedy of it is that men make it harder by their lack of appreciation and sympathy.

SOCIETY

ONE OF THE PRETTIEST MAY affairs was the breakfast held Tuesday morning by the active associate and profssionally active members of the Musician's club, honoring Mrs. Harwood Stacy, the outgoing president, who leaves soon for England, the other outgoing officers and the incoming officers of the club.

Good Luck for Trip.

The club lounge which was prettily decorated in the spring flowers, Dorothy Perkins roses and greenery made an attractive background for the many members who were present to bid Mrs. Stacy goodbye and good luck for her several months' trip abroad.

Mrs. J E. H. Railey said the invocation; Mrs. F. C. Barron acted as toastmistress and Mrs. C. R. Eyssen made one of the prettiest and most unique toasts to Mrs. Stacey. The toast was given in six chapters to Mrs. Stacey the vice president, the president, the general, publicity agent, authority on home rule and to the Musician. The honoree responded in her most pleasing manner.

Toast to Mrs. Britain.

Mrs. O. B. Keil toasted Mrs. A H. Britain who will preside over the club for the next year. She responded with her plans for the success of the club for next year. Mrs. Edwin Bebb gave a clever toast, "The Curtain Goes up." It was a reflexion of the club they hold their election of officers.

Each member of the club, during the breakfast wrote an original poem to the member at their right. These were collected and read.

Mrs. W. M. Priddy presented Mrs. Stacy with a lovely gift of silver, and Mrs. Barron toasted Mrs. Burris' "Juvenile Musicians' club" which is going to present a program at the Fred Week's estate soon.

KID PARTY FOR THE ESCALATOR CLASS.

One of the most successful parties ever given by the Escalator class of the First Methodist church occurred Tuesday evening when the members and their friends and guests attended a unique kid party in the basement of the church.

Dress As Children.

Everyone came dressed in the garb of school children; the girls in charming ginghams and cunning "knickers"; the boys in the old familiar "knee breeches." Pretty curly locks shared honors with old fashioned pig-tails—while great bow ribbons of blue, red and green were not forgotten. The men showed traces of good memories when Buster Brown collars and flowing winssor ties and clever all-too-small straw hats were included in their make-up.

"Billy Can't Keep-Still" better known as W. R. McClure, represented the class as official host of the evening and from the first blast of his top whistle when the fun started it was evident that the "children" had turned out to have a rollicking good time.

Long Pig Tails

"Suzie Chew Your Gum" in her blue pantalets and long pig-tails gave the "Teacher" plenty to think about while school was in session.

A grand march with all participating opened the evenings merriment. This was followed by a regular Friday afternoon in a country school and the "children" had each to recite their favorite "poem" or speech. This feature caused bursts of laughter. Two black boys came over from a neighboring colored school to visit but the "Po-white-folks" proved too uppity for them and they finally left.

A number of exciting games furnished lots of "pep" and amusement. Among these was a unique "milk drinking contest" between Oppa-me-thumb (Harold White) and Cant-Cetcha-Cold (Gerrard Boone), the latter winning. The contestants were furnished with pint milk bottles filled with the white liquid and forced to extract the contents through nipples.

Those Who Came.

Other games entered into by the company were "Little White House on the Hill," "Going to Jerusalem," "Auto Race," variety "Potato Race."

Of course no school hour would be complete without a sing-song so the crowd tried to see which ones had the strongest lungs when "School Days" and other school time melodies came to the fore.

About one hundred were present to enjoy the fun which closed with a liberal strewing of "Frozen Suckers" being served at refreshment time.

Those hearkening back to the call of the hickory stick were: Ada Weitzman, Eula Mae Breeden, Pearl Breeden, Josephine Bachman, Louise Bschman, Hilda Masters Loretta Friendle Bessie Malcolm, Nilda Nolbert, Louise Rhodes, Tessie Bingle, Mabel Winfrey, Mildred Gilbert, Naomi Dot Lynn, Alma Richardson, Lucille Campbell, Phyllis Campbell, Hilda Ingram, Zona Bachman, Juanta Bachman, Lillian Deaton, Marguerite Haynie, Grace Haynie, Burnie Cochran, Alice Whitehead, Martrue Mays, Gladys Mackulsey, Vallie Fern Lowry, Ara Gregg, Thelma Brooks, Montha Alice Lyon, Lucille Doke, Reba Calhoun, Ora Lee Smith, Nell Smith, Oma Hughes, Griffine Butler, Miss Chewning; M. Telephones Busy As Women's Forum Starts Annual Campaign For Members

THE membership drive for the Wichita Falls Woman's Forum is now on. If the women of Wichita Falls do not expect to be asked to join the Forum their telephones had better be muffled for a score of members of the club, including the executive board are going right down their telephone book and if the women will not join without an invitation then an invitation they shall have, according to Mrs. G. D. Anderson, chairman of the committee.

To Reach Everyone.

"We are trying to reach everyone, especially do we want the new women here, the ones who haven't had a chance to meet many people and are lonely, those are the kind that we want to know that we really want them. It is going to be a democratic organization for we are going to make it thus. A woman doesn't have to be passed on now, before she can come into the club. All she has to do is let us know that she wants to, and of course be really interested and have a good moral character, states Mrs. Anderson.

If the women join the club now they will be a charter member and the more charter members the better. It is hoped by those in charge that the women will join without having to be especially urged.

Four Departments.

Four good departments have already started making their plans for next year and the more members in the Forum the better the attractions. Mrs. P. P. Langford who heads the literature department, Mrs. C. C. Jones, art; Mrs. J. W. Akin Sr., health, and Mrs. A. R. Bleakley, civic department, are planning their schedule for next year's work. It is hoped by fall that there will be enough members of the Forum to make it possible of adding the current event and music department.

The women who are in earnest and are willing to work and want to make something out of the club and those women who have too much other work but would really like to belong are asked to call Mrs. G. D. Anderson or Mrs. Hubert Harrison.

Many Wichitans Present At Odd Musicale of Mrs. Parker's Artist-Pupils

OVER 400 music lovers crowded the Wichita club rooms Tuesday evening to hear a talented group of Mrs. Lois Parkers artist-pupils present a novel concert program of famous operatic arias and old familiar ballads. The evening's program, in arrangement, content, and interpretation was highly successful with each of the eight artists presenting first an aria and after it a ballad. the singers, with artistic interpretation, portrayed truly the sentiment of the various selections. The artists were Miss Elizabeth Hamilton, soprano; Miss Leota Tucker, contralto; Carlton Bowman, baritone; Miss Evelyn Cushman, contralto; Baldwin Montgomery, tenor: Mrs. Frances Thrash, soprano; Mrs. Newman Hill, lyric soprano; and Mrs. Virginia Hotchkiss, lyric soprano.

Child Numbers First.

The program, seemingly built to express as purpose, began with an eighteenth century opera by Lillo, and the arias were presented chorenologically in order down to the final number from Puccini's "Madame Butterfly," written in 1904. The old ballads fitted in delightfully between the famous operatic numbers which seemed only to enhance their simple sweetness, and the program, so arranged to express a definite idea, was highly enjoyable over the usual conglomeration of numbers on a recital program.

Preceding each selection, Mrs. Charles William Wallace, local club woman and literary critic of note, read a short history and interpretation of the song which added much to the understanding of the listeners as to the message of the song. The work of all the artists was unusually good; enunciation was distinct, and some lovely tone quality was heard on the ballads with ample display of technical skill on the operatic arias. The voices of the singers in the various ranges balanced the program well and furnished a delightful duet number for contralto and tenor between Miss Cushman and Mr. Montgomery. All the performers are well known locally for their work on many musical programs and in the various church choirs of the city. They represent some of the finest talent of local musical circles.

Accompanists Good.

Mrs. Bentley Nelson, Mrs. J. W. Akin, Jr., Miss Lucile Smith and Lee Erwin appeared on the program as accompanists with offerings of ability and skill. The musical numbers of Miss Katherine Sullivan who was broadcasting from WHB Kansas City which were to have been tuned in at the local concert over the radio at the Wichita club were unable to be heard because of the large amount of static in the air Tuesday evening.

Following the recital program, an orchestra appeared, and Mrs. Parker entertained with a dance for the performers and assistants and their friends.

Flannels In Blues And Grays Being Worn For Graduation By Youths

LIGHT weight flannels in blues and grays are being worn for commencement festivities by the young men graduates of the Wichita Falls Junior college, the high school and the Junior high school, according to Jack Barnard, manager of P. B. M. Co. Two button coats with wide lapels wide shoulders are double breasted, in the newest offerings for young men's wear. Wide belt slots and the 18 inch bottom of the pantleg feautre the trousers.

Straw hats are unusually good looking this season, and among them are a sprinkling of the new panamas with the fancy light colored bands. Ties are in high colors, the smarest in regimental stripes with red predominating. Fancy handkerchiefs are correct—many are in solid color, others are bordered or centered with checked and striped patterns in dark bright shades. Harmonizing with the suit and accessories, the handkerchief poses jauntily in the upper coat pocket, an important part of the young man's dress.

The very niftiest of the new shirts have the coft collar with long points, the "Prince of Wales" shirt, so named after a favorite pattern of H. R. H. Grayish tans, tans, and grays in stripes and checks are the most popular color effects in shirts. Shoes are very light tan with broad wide toes. The latest effect is "Yellowstone Calf" a decidedly yellow tan that tops off with true finish the entire outfit.

BUSINESS WOMEN HOLD WEEKLY DINNER TUESDAY.

About a half a hundred members of the Business and Professional Women's club were present Tuesday evening at their regular weekly dinner at the Y. W. C. A.

Some special business was brought up by Miss Maude Thomas, club president, after which the girls went into the club parlors where Miss Vivian Railey delighted them with several violin numbers. She played "Serenade," by Pierne and "A Kiss in the Dark," by Victor Hubert. She was accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Lucille Brooks Huff.

SENIORS HAVE HAY RIDE TO GUN AND ROD CLUB.

A hay ride at the Rod and Gun club was the diversion of the senior class of the high school Tuesday afternoon, with ukeleles, stunts, songs and good "ets" to make things merry. Tuesday evening was "Individual Night," with many small private parties among the class members. Dances, moonlight picnics, theatre parties and spreads were part of the activities.

Wednesday evening brings the president's ball, given by Sam Bashara, class president, at his home, 1006 Van Buren street. The dance will be preceded by a class swimming party in the afternoon at Lake Wichita.

By BLONDY CROSS.

Joseph Gleason, starboard chunker who has realized great success to date this season at the expense of Texas league batting averages, hurled Waco's Cubs to a 5-3 victory over the Spudders in 11 more or less exciting stanzas Tuesday at the Spud plant.

Either our noble Spudders are in the throes of a deathly hitting slump or the brand of pitching trotted out the past few days at Athletic park by opposing moundsmen has been surprisingly better than usual.

The Brazos river village heaver went the route and gave up exactly seven safeties. Outside of the fact, the tumultous Cubs busted the combined deliveries of Bob Osborn and Ripper Wheeler for 15 clouts to virgin territory, two of which were of the non-stop variety and another duo two-baggers, the salient feature of the tussle was the sudden discovery once more by Ping Bodie of his mighty batting eye. Of the seven hits garnered from the Wacoan's offerings, Pingus combed a trio. He poled one to the barren regions for unimpeded passage in the second, and clipped a pair of singles, one of which sent in a run. The rotund one led away in the fatal eleventh with a slasher past second, but was cut down on the next play when little Freddy Dorman bounded into a made-to-order twin killing.

Osborn's Arm Sore.

Osborn, the sterling right hander on whom Skipper Tanner is depending for quite a number of wins before the race is run, pitched a creditable seven innings, but was hampered to an extent by a sore arm. The big pitcher couldn't curve 'em with his old-time abandon, and was bombarded for eight safeties and three runs. He gave way in the seventh for a pinch hitter.

Brown singled in the third after there were two away, and stole second. Bingle to center by Wilson sent him home. In the sixth, Morrow hoisted a drive to left that hit the top of the boards and bounced over for a home run. The runways were unpopulated. Foss led off with a single in Waco's half of the seventh, and advanced to second on sacrifice bunt by Brown. Wilson popped out to Dorman. Galloway hit a long fly almost to the right field wall, and Callaghan muffed. Foss tabulated.

Rally in Eighth.

The Tannerman rallied in the eighth and knotted the count. Callaghan drew a pass, and Distel followed with a double to left for the first marker. Fitz, attempting to bunt, popped out to Gleason. Bodie singled through short, and Distel checked in.

Wheeler rocked along in good shape on the mound through the eighth, ninth, and tenth, but with two down in the eleventh lost his effectiveness. Wilson lofted a hefty wallop over the right field fence. Galloway doubled against the left field boards, and came home on a pop single to left by Stumpf. Bondurant singled, but Morrow fouled out to Jonnard.

A bright light in the encounter was a fielding play made by Al White, Spud keystoner, in the tenth. Bondurant was on first with none out. Morrow raised a Texas leaguer to right that seemed destined for safe flight, but Al sprinted back and took the catch on the dead run toward the right field fence. He then turned and doubled Bondurant off first.

R. Hunter Coleman's cohorts swarm the fortress this afternoon in the first of a scheduled three endeavors to capture the old citadel.

Carl Williams, the Texas league's leading pitcher, is billed for the Spudder box burden.

ANOTHER RUMOR WRONG.

VERNON HIGH SCHOOL ATHLETES WRITE FINIS TO GREATEST YEAR IN HISTORY OF RED AND WHITE

Relay Quartet Climaxes Best Season For Lion Football, Basket Ball, and Track Teams

When the Vernon relay team closed the state meet at Austin Saturday by hanging up a new record in the mile relay, it brought the curtain down on a fitting climax to the greatest year in the history of the wearers of the red and white of Vernon high, if indeed it is not the greatest year in the history of the athletes of any school in the Panhandle.

During the year in three major sports, football, basket ball, and baseball, the fighting Lions have amassed a total score of 630 as compared to 254 counters gleaned by opponents. While no accurate comparison of the record of the track team can be made, the Vernon cinder artists have defeated every team in this section of the state, and have made creditable showings in three all-state meets during the year, copping third honors at the Southwestern Exposition track meet held at Fort Worth during the Fat Stock show, third honors at the Oklahoma Relay Carnival at Norman, Okla., in which several hundred athletes from Texas and Oklahoma participated, and breaking the state record for the mile relay in the state meet of the interscholastic league.

Team Work The Secret.

The history of the achievements of the Lions during the athletic year just closed is not the history of any one man, but the history of an organization, of team work, of a number of boys working and fighting for the honor of a school. Where other schools have used stars, Vernon has substituted team work and has made an enviable record in all sports.

Vernon's record has not been made against the weak teams of the state. In football the Lions met Altus, Okla., Wichita Junior college, Pampa, Wichita Falls high, Oak Cliff, and other strong contenders. In spite of this opposition the Lions football record shows only one game in the lost column out of ten played during the season. The local gridsters piled up 211 points to 42 for their opponents. They lost only to the team which wo nthe state championship, and have the distinction of holding that team to a smaller score than it amassed in the final game.

Eight Stars Graduate.

Wichita Falls high, Wichita Junior college, and Harrold were some of the strong quintets which Vernon met in basket ball. In this sport, the Lions lost only two games, and scored 312 points while their opponents were marking up 42.

Wichita Falls high, Wichita Junior college, Childress, Crowell and Burkburnett were among the teams which faced the Lions on the diamond. Vernon scored 107 runs to their opponents' 41, and lost only one game, later avenging that with two victories.

The track team has practically met all comers. Only one meet was lost in this section of the state, and that defeat was later avenged.

Eight of the lads who have helped to bring honors to Vernon during the past year on the gridiron graduate this fall, but because Vernon has never depended on stars Coach Baggett says that next year's changes are as good as they have ever been. The eight athletes who this year end their career at Vernon high are: Glenn Bowers, Bruce Reed, Ambers Robinson, James Scott, Frank Steinman, Ransom Walkers, Raymond Zachry, and Hugh Bourland.

BOSTON TAKES COUPLE

BOSTON, May 12.—Boston took the double-header and the four games of the series from Chicago today, winning 2 to 0, and 3 to 1. Although the Braves made but three hits in the first game, and six in the second they were well timed and were turned into victories by good Boston pitching. In the first game, seventh inning, Thomas singled, went to second on a sacrifice and scored on Harris' single. In the eighth Burrus tripled and was brought in on a sacrifice fly by Gibson. Marriott made a home run in the fourth inning of the second and in the sixth brought a man home with a single later scoring himself. The score:

$15,000 Damages Sought by Woman

Damages of $15,000 are sought from the American Express company, the Katy railroad and the Denver railway in a suit started Tuesday before a jury and Judge Guy Rogers in the 78th district court. Mrs. C. A. O'Neal is plaintiff.

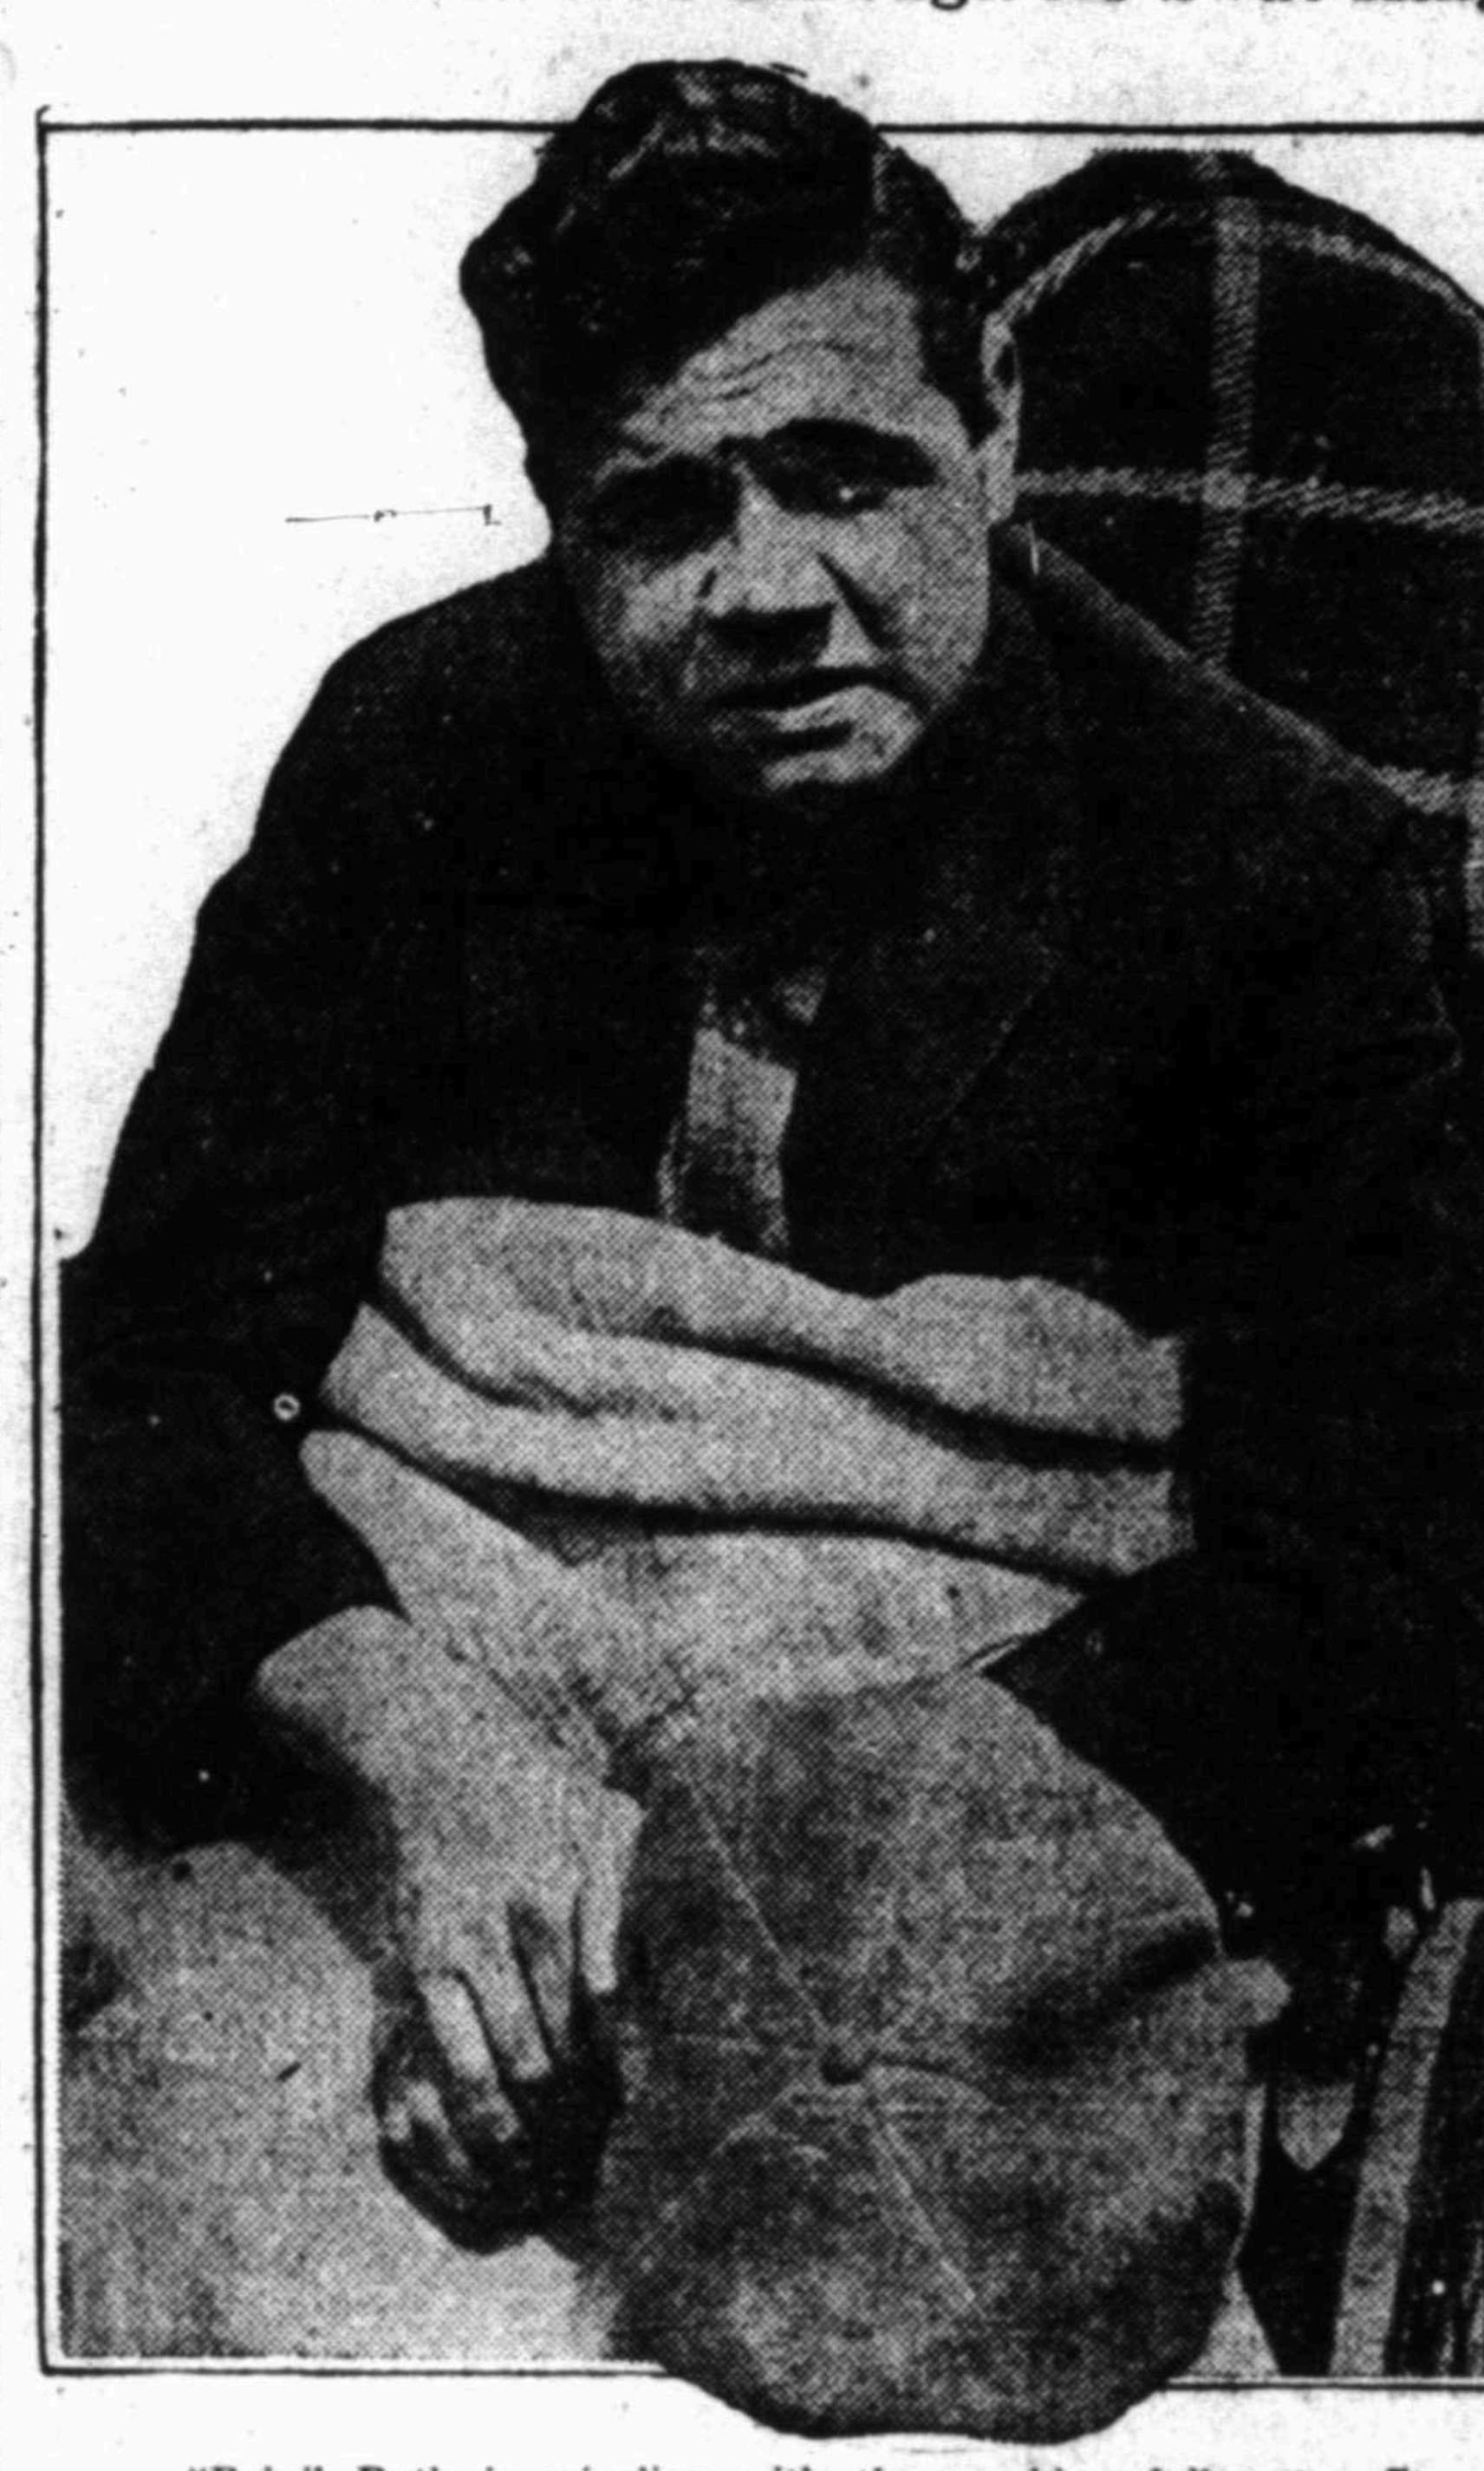

Action is based on allegations of the plaintiff that in December, 1924, private detectives of the express company and railroads caused her great embarrassment and mental anguish as she was on her way from Kansas City to Electra. A trunk she had checked through was the object of an unwarranted search, she says.

The plaintiff contends she has suffered a nervous breakdown as a result of the actions of the defendant's agents.

Denton and Hull on Hand Training For Main Go of American Legion Opener of Summer Fistic Forays

Great Card Lined up For Friday—Wildcat Monte Is Added to Program In Special Event

By BLONDY CROSS.

Both Clyde Hull and Joe Denton, principals in the American Legion main event billed Friday night in the new open air arena, are in the city and working away daily at the legion hall in preparation for the bout. The match is to be over the ten-round route.

The card will be the first held outdoors this year, and legion officials are rallying to the occasion with the purpose of making it an auspicious one.

Hull and Denton are on their mettle. The St. Poul lad has shown himself the fastest and cleverest welter to appear in Wichita Falls during 1925, some say, in the history of boxing here. Denton has been going over strong the past several weeks and has a coterie of followers who believe that if any boxer in the Southwest can beat Hull the Amarillo glovester is the man.

That the bout should prove a fast struggle throughout, one fitting the opening of the new arena, seems assured. Hull has become quite popular with Wichita Falls fandom However, up until Denton departed Wichita Falls rings last summer there doubtless was no bigger favorite in local fistic circles unless it be Duke Trammel, and many will tell you that Joe stood in stronger with the fans as a pleaser than did Dukum.

Lots of Slugging.

Battling Jennings of Henrietta is scheduled to tangle with Kid Snyder of Burkburnett in an eight-rounder. For a rough and tumble battle, minus science but chock-full of heroic slugging, this scrap should bring down the house. Both boys are tough, and each is the kind that stands in and swings away, bringing 'em up from the floor and down from the roof.

Wildcat Monte, Amarilloan, has been matched in a special four?rounder with Kid Alexander of San Antonio, a former army fighter. The Kid is coming to Wichita Falls overland. If anything should happen that he fails to arrive in time for the bout, Frankie McFarland, San Antonio featherweight now in the city, will be substituted, said Promoter Wofford.

Maley A Comer.

Sailor Maley of Kansas City, a heavyweight who comes to the city heralded as a youngster who has the making of a topnitcher, is billed for a four-round set-to with Homer Nolen, Charley heavyweight.

It is more than likely that another preliminary bout will be added to the card.

The program on the face of it stacks up as the best all-around fight slate developed since last summer by the American Legion. The card boasts science, speed, and slugging.

Storage Tanks For City Water Expand

To aid in tiding the city through the long, hot, dry spell when extremely heavy demands are made on the department, an increase in the clear water storage tanks at the filter plant is being made. Two large open air basins hold the filtered water as it comes from the beds, and from these it is pumped throughout the city.

The tanks are not of sufficient size to hold a full day's supply, of course, when frequently 5,000,000 gallons are used every 24 hours. They are constantly being emptied and filled, but by building them higher, much more water can be impounded at a time. This, it is pointed out, will provide a greater margin of safety in case something should go wrong with the pumps.

Ninth-Inning Uprising By Stockyards Brigade Flivvers

FORT WORTH, May 12.—Konetchy flied out to Rosenthal in deep right to end a spirited rally by the champion Cats in the ninth here today and San Antonio won the final of the series, 4 to 2. Collins and then Couchman had kept the locals scoreless until the final frame when three hits and two walks produced two tallies after two were out, leaving the bases full when Konetchy came up. Two homers by Booe drove in all the Bear runs. Score:

CONLEY STOPS HOUSTON

DALLAS, May 12.—Snipe Conley again stepped into the break to halt a Dallas losing streak and turned Houston back, 6 to 3, in a well-pitched game. The Steers bunched two singles with a walk, a muffed fly, and Hungling's base cleaning to win in the fourth. For the first time in a week, ground rules were unnecessary. Peel's hard hitting featured the game. The score:

SPORTS BEAT BEAUMONT

SHREVEPORT, La., May 12.—A wild pitch in the 13th inning won the final game of the series for Shreveport from Beaumont, 5 to 4. Joe Rabbitt was on second when Lewis made his wild pitch and before the catcher could recover the ball the Sport speed demon had crossed the score pan. It was a pitchers' battle between Lewis and Dan Boone. The Exporters took an early lead but after McGaffigan had scored in the fifth Bonowitz hit a home run with two on to tie the score. It was nip and tuck from then on. Malone drew a pass to start the 13th and Rabbitt went in to run for him. Burns sacrificed and then came the heave that ended the fray. The score:

PITCHERS STILL DOUBTFUL.

President Shibe of the Athletics who is also interested in the manufacture of the baseballs used in American league says it isn't so about the ball being livelier this year. "Same as it was last season," he avers. But some pitchers still have their doubts.

Good Tackle
Would Have Landed This One

Have you ever had an experience such as this? How much would you have given, at that time, for a line strong enough to have held that big fellow?

What were your remarks about never going out again with a cheap outfit?

Don't forget that lesson; and remember—the time to provide yourself with the tackle that lands 'em is before the fish is on the hook.

By MACK TURNER.

Texhoma was forced to battle from behind to overcome a Monroe's Travelers lead and win out in the seventh, 6 to 3. Randolph, of the Oilers, was in rare form after a bad inning in the second when two of the Travelers' markers were counted.

Pinch hitter Murrell tied the game in the sixth with the longest home-run of the year on the Twilight diamond. Vernie Ross put it on ice with another homer in the seventh.

Rabbit Gordon, Texhoma center gardner and skipper, led the hitters with three hits in four times at the bat. A double and two singles were sent off his bludgeon. Thurman made a nice play of his grounder in the fourth to give him his only failure to connect safely. Kerr, of the losers, collected a pair of singles in three times at bat.

Holly Woods came near spilling the ball for another entry in the home run column in the first inning. Holly crashed one to deep left that looked good for a round trip ticket, but Johnnie McMahon raced it down and a fast relay, McMahon to Gordon to Kizziar got the ball to Ross in time to get Holly at the pan.

Travelers Score in Second.

The Travelers tore out strong in the second and shoved a pair over the rubber. Kellogg was too sure of Rawl's pop fly and dropped it. Rawls was safe at first. eBelcher slammed a single to center that moved Rawls around to third. Belcher ran off first and drew Ross' peg to second. Rawls scored when Ross tried to drive Belcher back to first and left the platter unguarded. Belcher was safe at second when Ross made an effort to get back to the pan and get Rawls, but failed. Dunn fanned. Kerr singled to center sending Belcher to third. Belcher scored and Kerr took second on Hicks' grounder to second.

Two errors, a stolen base, and a single by Kerr let in another for the Travelers in the fourth.

Randolph pulled out of a bad hole in the fifth. A single by Hatton, a walk to Thurman, and a single by Taylor filled the bases with one out. Randolph tightened and Holly Woods hit into a double play. Randolph took his grounder, flipped it to Ross, who zipped it down to Kellogg for a neat double killing.

Oilers Score in Fifth.

An error, a walk for Randolph, and a crashing double by Hershiel Johnson let in the first Texhoma tally in the fifth.

In the sixth the Oilers tied the count. Gordon doubled to right. Shadie Hale smashed a single to left scoring Gordon. McMahon lined a hot one to Hatton who took it in the air and doubled Hale off second with a toss to Thurman. Murrell batted for Pipes and smashed one to left for the full passage around the sacks. Kizziar skied to center.

The game was put on ice in the seventh. Vernie Ross, the first man up lifted another round tripper to left. Randolph singled to right but was forced at second by Johnson. Kellogg singled to center sending Johnson to third. Skipper Gordon hit one down to first that took a bad hop and went for a single. Johnson scored and Kellogg went to third. Hale hit to the pitcher who tried to get Gordon at second, but both runners were safe and Kellogg counted. Crites was sent to the hill at thois stage and both McMahon and Murrell rolled grounders to him for easy outs at first.

Tractor and Chain To Remove Last Of Front Street Homes

With the purchase and proposed demolishment of a small brick house on Front street, the city has about cleared away the last factor in the troublesome Front street squabble that has kept it in courts and hot water for years.

Some time ago a court order was obtained by proponents of a river side road, ordering the city to move a number of buildings claimed to be in a public highway. All but two of these were of frame construction and were easily moved back. The two, however, were brick and could not be switched around without danger of being wrecked.

After considerable bickering, the owner of one of the buildings offered to sell and move for $450. The city has accepted his proposition and as soon as the man is out, which will be in a few days, the street department plans to take a tractor and a log chain to the place and see how fast they can pull it down. The bricks will be cleaned by the police department's "rock pile squad" and used in city construction work.

Mayor Shepherd and Commissioner Clifford are now trying to make a deal with the owner of the one remaining house, and when that is done the Front street rumpus will be settled forever so far as Wichita Falls is concerned.

Enid Officer Held For Murder, Beaten By Inmates of Jail

ENID, Okla., May 12. — Murder charges were filed today against George Henington, Enid patrolman, who last night shot and killed Charles Smith, 32, local rooming house owner, after a fist fight.

Prisoners in the county jail where Henington was confined last night attacked the patrolman and bruised him considerably.

County officials said today they may take Henington to the Grant county jail at Medford in order to prevent a repetition of last night's attack.

Henington and Smith disagreed after the officer had arrested Smith's wife on a charge of speeding.

MARKETS

N. Y. Stocks

NEW YORK, May 12.—Profit taking sales and bear selling, inspired by the marking up of the call money rate to four per cent and the weakened transactional position arising out of the recent prolonged advance in many issues impeded the upward movement of prices in today's stock market, but not until after nearly two score issues had attained new peak prices for the year. The day's sales again ran well above one and ahalf million shares.

Resumption fo bullish demonstrations in the motor issues resulted in Willys-Overland preferred, Mack Trucks and Nash motors being lifted to new 1925 high records. Attempts to bid up the other issues in that group were met with heavy offerings Pierce Arrow common, preferred and prior preferred, Packard and Jordan falling back one to two points.

Rubber shares attracted a larger figure in reflection of the growing belief that an early increase in tire prices is inevitable if the recent advance in crude rubber is maintained, and that the principal manufacturing companies will materially profit thereby through the appreciation in their heavy inventories of raw product. U. S. Rubber common and preferred and first preferred and Fisk Rubber common and first preferred, Ajax and the Kelly-Springfield issues also sold at the year's best prices.

Revival of speculative interest in the oil shares was based on reports that Smackover crude production was nearing its peak and that gasoline consumption was continuing at an unprecedented rate. Standard Oils of New Jersey and California, Pacific, Mariland, Houston, Phillips and Atlantic Refining showed net gains of 1 to 2 points.

American Can was bid up over four points to a record high for all time at 183¾, slipping back to 1¾ points just before the close, but most of the other standard industrials lost ground. United States Steel closed ⅛ lower at 115⅝ after fluctuating within a range of only ⅝ of a point. Baldwin recorded a similar loss at 111½ after having sold above 112.

Speculative interest in the railroad group was divided between the heavy accumulation of St. Paul issues, each of which advanced more than a point and the further rise in Frisco common to 81½, the highest price since the reorganization of the road in 1916. Wall street was inclined to attribute the revival of activity in the St. Paul's to the expectation that the interstate commerce commission would grant the northwestern carriers an increase in freight rates.

Good buying also was noted in Union Pacific, Ann Arbor preferred, Canadian Pacific, Missouri Pacific and Texas and Pacific.

Belated short covering in American Sumatra tobacco preferred brought about a 12 point jump in that stock to 64.

Call money opened at 3½ per cent but advanced to 4 in the early afternoon. Time money and commercial paper rates were unchanged.

European exchange rates held firm despite reports of monarchistic demonstrations in connection with the arrival of President Von Hindenburg in Berlin. Brazilian milreis dropped over a cent in sympathy with another sharp decline in coffee prices.

Opening: January, 22.07; May, bid; July, 21.92; December, 22.06.

NEW ORLEANS, May 12.—The cotton market was fairly active today and following a moderate advance of 12 to 14 points during the first hour of trading on favorable Liverpool cables which carried July to 21.81, October to 22.06 and December 22.19, prices turned reactionary. The market sagged steadily during the morning and turned rather weak during the afternoon on reaching stop loss orders, July dropping to 22.28, October to 22.17 and December to 21.70 or 49 to 55 points down from the highs. There was a slight rally at the close on covering. Final results showing net losses of 29 to 37 points for the day. The early advance, aside from being partly due to Liverpool cables, was influenced by impressions that the rains had not been quite as generous in the eastern belt as expected. When the weather map showed that good showers had been general all over the central and eastern sections, prices eased off and fears that tomorrow's weekly weather and crop reports would prove highly favorable reflecting the beneficial rains accelerated the decline.

During the period after mid-season reports from the west that grain lands were being diverted to cotton and that the weather was becoming more favorable for field work caused increased weakness and the uncovering of stop orders added to the decline. It was also reported that sugar lands in central Louisiana were being diverted to cotton.

The slight rally near the end was due to a belief that after so drastic a decline of the past few days an improvement was due particularly as the impression prevailed that the market was rather heavily oversold.

Thousands Cheer As Hindenburg Swears The Inaugural Oath

BERLIN, May 12.—(AP)—Field Marshall von Hindenburg was inaugurated president of Germany today.

The oath taken by the president was as follows:

"I swear to devote all my energies to the welfare of the German people, to increase their prosperity, to protect them from injury, to preserve the constitution and laws of the commonwealth, to perform my duties conscientiously and to deal justly with all."

To this readed the religious affirmation "so help me God", thereby setting as a new precedent for German presidents.

Except for a brief shout of protest from the communists the inauguration was carried out according to schedule, the field marshal being sworn in to office by Reichstag President Paul Loeb before a crowded house.

IN REICHSTAG

The inauguration took place in the presence of the members of the reichstag whose socialist members wore red carnations. Many of the other republican members wore the republican colors. The entire diplomatic corps, headed by Monsignor Facell, the papal nuncio, and including Lord D'Abernon, British ambassador; M. DeMargerie, French ambassador, and the American charge d'affairs, also was present and the galleries were packed.

Even General Ludendorff, war compatriot of Von Hindenburg in charge of Germany's military affairs, was in his place as a reichstag member, the first time he has been present since the new reichstag assembled.

The president-elect, in excellent voice, was heard throughout the large chamber. He began his response to the welcome extended by Paul Loebe, president of the reichstag, by addressing Herr Loebe as "Herr Reich President", instead of "Her Reichtag President."

Herr Loebe had addressed the field marshall briefly, expressing the hope that during his administration the economic reconstruction of Germany which had been begun under President Ebert would be continued as well as the policy of mutual understanding in the formulas which had been successfully initiated so that the terrible consequences of the war would gradually be removed.

In acknowledging Herr Loebe's greetings President Hindenburg referred especially to "the republican constitution of August 11, 1919," adding:

"The reichstag and the reichs president belong together as both are elected by direct vote of the people."

CARRIED OUT SMOOTHLY

Every feature of the inauguration program was carried out smoothly. The brief ceremony of swearing in the president before the reichstag was of special impressiveness.

After the conclusion of the program in the reichstag President Hindenburg left the chamber accompanied by all the cabinet ministers. Inside the presence of a large crowd outside the helchstag building he took a salute from a regiment of reichswehr while the crowd chanted 'Deutchland Uber Alles."

Four of European Powers Refuse To Congratulate Hindy

PARIS, May 12.—(AP)—The French, British, Italian and Belgian governments have decided to omit the usual formal congratulations to a newly elected chief of state in the case of Field Marshall Von Hindenburg, Germany's president-elect, in view of the fact that his name is still on the list of those charged with war crimes.

The four powers, is is stated, will simply forward a brief acknowledgement, when notified of his assumption of the presidency

Local anglers who have been testing out fishing grounds in this vicinity have been having more than a fair share of luck at Lake Wichita, reports coming in from that body of water indicate. Catfish are biting well, it is said, and a number of good catches there were climaxed a few days ago when one man landed a 36-pounder, the largest ever taken from the lake. Interest in Lake Wichita as a fishing reservoir paled considerably when Lake Kemp and the diversion dam offered greater inducements. Now, however, the smaller lake almost on the edge of the city seems to be returning to favor and fishermen in increasing numbers are trying their luck there.

Instances are occassionally found where houses have been started with no plans even submitted to the inspector. Adequate penalties are provided for violation of any part of the code and Mr. Smith is planning immediate action against the offenders.

Curtis Dunham, Texas representative out of the New York office of the Paramount Pictures corporation, who has charge of exploitation of pictures of the Paramount company in this district, talked interesting to a group of Wichitans he met during his visit here yesterday, of the many years service he experienced with the Hearst newspapers. "Many's the time I've seen William Randolph Hearst come into one of his composing rooms and in violation of the union printng rule re-make a pags of news himself that the printers had not made-up to his satisfaction. One of his eccentricities was to take one of his papers, just off the press, and lay it down on the floor, standng far above it and looking down at the make-up. If he liked the make-up of a particular page he would place it to one side approvingly; but if he didn't like its looks he would literally tear it to pieces by scraping his feet on it." Mr. Dunham reminded his hearers that Hearst was responsible above everyone else in the world for the breaking up of columns in newspapers, and the tendency to double column, tripie column, or "banner" the day's various news stories.

Good Fairs Must Be Advertised, Shepherd Tells the Ad Club

"No fair is a success without an extensive advertising campaign before hand to put it before the minds of the people," stated R. E. Shepherd, secretary of the Texas-Oklahoma Fair association before the Ad club at their weekly luncheon.

"It is estimated that as much as fifteen per cent of gross receipts should be expended each year in advertising. In the past it has been customary to advertise the Wichita Falls fair as early as ninety days ahead of time. This year, though, it is planned to cut the advertising period into a third that length and make it more extensive.

Red Reasor, publicity director of the fair followed Mayor Shepherd, and gave a talk on the value of newspaper advertising. He explained that through the number of people that the average daily paper reached each year and through the cheapness of rates, papers stood to the front in both practicability and efficiency.

T. A. Bradley, Jack Barnard, Walter Curlee, Claude Miller, and J. L. Duffy led a discussion on truthful advertising. The president George Wilson, Jr., reminded the members that there were laws to care for untruthful advertisers and suggested that the vigilance committee be put to work at once.

College Students To Present "Suppressed Desires" at School

Opening the events of senior week for college students the members of the Blue Curtain club of the Junior college will present the one-act comedy "Suppressed Desires," at the college auditorium, tonight at eight o'clock. During the year the play was presented before the students and faculty and was given the best reception of any chapel program of the year.

As a recent convert to the new science of psychoanalysis, and a full believer in all its wonderful claims, the lady of the house, played by Vaugn Buchanan, furnishes the center around which is woven a most interesting glimpse into modern beliefs. The visitor to the lady, played by Thelma Cain, after a good deal of skepticism about the things new fangled, is finally converted to the science and has her complexes analyzed. When the leading lady discovers that her husband, who is a profound disbeliever in all the foolishness modern womenfolks fall for, is the one who is the center of her visitors complexes, she soon loses faith in the science and astonishes all about her by renouncing it. The role of the husband is well played by Lemuel Peters, who recently made a hit as the villian in "Mummy's Lil' Wild Rose."

In addition to the play there will be offered two Italian character interpretations by Edward Kadane and several musical numbers by Junior college artists.
