Kitty's Korner

By Kitty Montgomery

Well, last week all I had to worry about was getting the news in, the deadline and getting this column written. This week, I find myself taking over the job of publisher-owner along with my editor-general flunky duties. And, believe me, the mantle of responsibility is bearing a little more heavily on my shoulders.

I suppose self-doubt afflicts all us mortals at one time or another in the course of a lifetime and I seem to be sorely afflicted at this moment. I can't imagine how I could have been so tough, self-confident, composed and self-reliant last week, and so dazed helpless this week. Hardly seems normal.

However, with your help and my propensity to "hang in there," I feel sure you will find me not nearly so paranoid next week. And you have been a great help to me many times during the past years. When you have been critical, it started my adrenalin flowing and forced me to examine myself and my ideals more closely, and that's good for anybody. When there have been mistakes, you have called them to my attention and that has made me more careful. When I have been attacked unfairly, or otherwise for that matter, you have come to my defense most loyally. When there has been tragedy, you have offered a wealth of sympathy and understanding.

In short, you are great people in a wonderful community, and I have no intention of letting you down.

I hope you will continue to think of The Stockman as your newspaper, as indeed it always will be. And I shall continue to look out for the best interest of our community and use the newspaper in this endeavor. Mr. White has served the community long and well, and I fully intend to conform to tradition and carry on. Who knows? Perhaps my tenure will be even longer. I'd only have to live to 91 you know.

Stockman Series To Feature Pics Of Ozona Kids

The Stockman is preparing to publish a photographic feature series of local children, entitled "Citizens of Tomorrow."

A professional children's photographer will take the pictures next Thursday, July 20, at the Ozona Trading Post, between the hours of 10 a.m. and 2 p.m.

The pictures will be taken in living color, but will appear in black and white in the newspaper series. According to the sales representative for the photographer, there is no obligation to purchase the pictures, but portraits may be purchased from color proofs if desired. All children's pictures will appear in the series, regardless of whether parents purchase pictures or not.

Appointments may be made now by calling Judy Huckabee, ph. 392-3451.

Young DeBailey, 23, was hospitalized overnight. His main concern was his Dalmatian, Elke, who had not been seen since the accident. However, she was found and turned over to the Sheriff's department the next day.

Break-Ins Plague Officers In Downtown Area

Sheriff's officers are investigating break-ins at the Crockett County Water District and at The Ozona Stockman, plus an attempted burglary of Ozona Boot & Saddlery which occurred late the night of July 4 or early the following morning.

The burglar or burglars broke a window in the back of the Water District office to gain entry. The place was thoroughly rifled, but all that was reported missing was several bags of water tokens and a silver bracelet belonging to one of the employees.

The would-be thief gained entry to the newspaper office by way of the sky-light on the roof of the building. The opening had been sealed from the inside with press board which closely resembles wood. He dropped from the sky-light on to a large press, a drop of about ten feet, and left by way of the back door which he unlocked from the inside. There was nothing missing, indicating the burglar might have been injured in the drop or frightened off.

An attempt had been made to gain entry to the saddle shop, but steel bars across the back windows prevented entry.

Officers were without clues, although fingerprints were taken and might prove to be useful if the culprit or culprits are apprehended and fingerprinted.

One Ozonan Killed, Four Hurt In Grinding Head-On Crash Here

One Ozonan was killed and four others injured in a grinding head on collision on highway 163 adjacent to Powell Field in the city limits just south of downtown Ozona Saturday morning.

Andres Borrego, Jr., 31, was dead on arrival at Crockett County Hospital at 11:00 a.m. He was a passenger in a car driven by his brother, Jesus C. Borrego, 26.

Teodoro Alvarez, driver of the second vehicle, and Juanita Alvarez Gonzales, a passenger in the car, were taken by ambulance to the Crockett County facility and then transferred to Shannon Hospital in San Angelo. Alvarez was in critical condition Saturday with a crushed leg, cuts and abrasions and possible internal injuries, but was reported in "fair" condition at mid-week. Juanita Gonzales suffered a broken leg and numerous cuts and bruises and was expected to be released from the hospital by Tuesday.

Also injured were Jesus Borrego and Michael Esquivel, 19. They were released from Crockett County Hospital Monday afternoon.

The accident occurred when the Borrego vehicle, traveling north on Hwy 163, crashed head-on into the Alvarez car as it was turning onto the county road by the ball field. The collision occurred in the northbound lane. Alvarez was traveling south at the time and attempting to make the turn.

Funeral services for Andres Borrego were held Tuesday afternoon in Our Lady of Perpetual Help Catholic Church with burial in Lima Cemetery under the direction of James Funeral Home.

Mr. Borrego was born in Ozona April 8, 1941, and had been a resident of Ozona all his life.

Survivors include his wife, Inez; five daughters and a son of the home; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Andres Borrego Sr.; five brothers and three sisters.

Bank Deposits Show Healthy Gain in Year

Crockett County's economy continues to be strong as the Ozona National Bank reported deposits considerably higher than for the same period last year, and up from the last published statement of condition which was taken at the close of business April 18, 1972.

West Texas economy was overall strong, as other banks in the area also reported higher deposits for the period.

At the close of business June 30, the Ozona National Bank showed deposits of $12,723,891.01 and loans amounting to $4,523,552.11, compared to deposits of $12,679,949.85 and loans of $4,636,838.03 in the April statement.

According to bank officials, the increase in deposits in April was due in part to the annual incentive checks paid to ranchers. They are unusually pleased with the recent statement of condition and feel it indicates Crockett County's economy is growing.

The statement was issued after the U. S. Comptroller of the Currency and other federal agencies made the quarterly call for the status of business as of June 30.

The award is presented annually to the nation's county agents who have, over a period of 10 years or more, made outstanding contributions to agriculture and improved rural living, according to Wichita County Agent B. T. Haws, president of the Texas County Agricultural Agents Association.

The seven Texas winners will be recognized at the state association annual meeting, August 6-8, in El Paso. But actual presentations will be made at the national meeting, November 5-10, in Atlanta, Georgia.

Jacoby was nominated by the state association. His confirmation by the national award

As an indication of his outstanding 4-H program, 10 members from Jacoby's county have won trips and several scholarships to the National 4-H Congress in Chicago the past 12 years. The county also boasts many state-winning 4-H judging teams plus many district and state winners for 4-H record books.

Jacoby is an active worker in the state county agents association, having served as assistant director of Extension District 6 and as member of the Animal Industries Committee. The Stockman Changes Command

Forty-six years is a long time. But when you are writing and editing a weekly newspaper, raising a family in the finest community on earth and among the greatest, most warm-hearted people ever assembled in such a community, then it hasn't seemed so long.

This is by way of saying that with this issue of The Stockman a 46-year regime comes to an end and new hands take over the task of editing your newspaper.

Effective July 1, Kitty Montgomery assumed ownership and management of the newspaper. Mrs. Montgomery has been editor of the newspaper for the past six years and as such has demonstrated her ability in the field of writing and has added much sparkle and verve to the columns of the paper during her tenure. We are confident that the paper will be in good hands.

It couldn't be anything but difficult to reach the point where you must step down—especially from a beloved profession practiced among dear friends and in a beloved community. Through the years we have elbowed off would-be buyers who in our opinion would not measure up. We believe that the new owner will serve well and continue to be an asset to the community in the years to come.

Looking back over 46 years of newspapering in Ozona, a lot of community history naturally flits by. The "roaring twenties" which saw the discovery of oil in the county and the beginning of a county bonanza that is still booming; the depression of the thirties, and the cattle and sheep slaughter by a benevolent government to relieve the ranchmen plagued by drought and low livestock prices; the agony of the war years made vivid by the personal chore assigned us to serve on the draft board throughout the period of conflict; the return of semi-peace and more prosperous times and a growing community.

We look back over the happy times and the sad times when those among us were called away or died, and the satisfying life that has brought us security and the joy of family and friends. All are blended into a kaleidoscope of memories that can bring only joy in contemplation.

We can not be sad at this parting from the pen, because we intend to spend all our remaining years in our chosen town and among God's chosen people. We will continue for a time as assistant to Mrs. Montgomery until her new routine is established and, who knows, we may be permitted to pen a few lines occasionally. Then we plan to enjoy some travel and look after other business interests as occasion demands.

We, Ruth and I, are grateful for the many fine things that have happened to us in Ozona and we are deeply grateful for the fine patronage we have enjoyed from the business men and individuals over the years. We hope you will find it profitable to continue your support of your hometown newspaper every week in every year.

We have told you many times how much we love you and this our town. May we now repeat it and add 'may God bless you always' as we bow out from this column.

Washington News Letter

By Congressman O. C. Fisher

It seems that tax loopholes have two connotations -- bad loopholes and good loopholes, depending largely on whose ox is being gored.

Because of reports that favoritism in tax laws is shown some taxpayers, Rep. Mills and Senator Mansfield recently introduced identical bills to repeal 54 special provisions of the tax law -- so-called "loopholes."

The authors explained they do not advocate repeal of the 54 provisions, but use this method to spotlight "loopholes" and have each of them examined -- probably early next year when hearings are held.

Among the 54 "loopholes" listed are the following: deductible losses covered by floods; the $750 personal exemption now allowed; church and charitable contributions; interest paid on loans; tax payments applied to net profit; rather than gross profit; tax-free bonds; and depletion allowance.

Tax-free municipal bonds which are sold by cities to raise money for streets, utilities, schools, highways, bridges, etc., command lower interest rates because they are tax-exempt; otherwise, the cities which float such bonds would have to pay at least two or three percent more for interest charges. That would require higher local taxes to pay the added interest costs.

Depletion allowance for oil production serves the same purpose for an oil well (which has a limited life span) that depreciation of the value of a business building serves. Exploration for new oil and gas discoveries is extremely expensive and very risky. Depletion allowance is recognized as a chief incentive which causes new wells to be drilled. The more wells are drilled the more discoveries will occur, and hence the more production of fuels for the nation's energy.

Our imports of oil are becoming increasingly uncertain. With 95% of the world's population, America uses one-third of the world's energy. We are now in an energy

Red Cross Flood Relief Fund Lags

According to the mid-western Area office of the American Red Cross, the organization has spent $19,225,475 in Texas on disasters alone from July 1, 1969 to the present time, yet collections for flood relief in South Dakota and in the Eastern States is lagging.

The floods in parts of South Dakota and several of the Eastern States have caused millions of dollars worth of damage and resulted in the loss of scores of lives. Families have lost homes and all their personal belongings, and human suffering is beyond measure.

During the flood in Ozona in 1954, people throughout the nation came to the assistance of the residents through the Red Cross. Now would be a good time for Ozonians to remember and give that others might be helped.

Since the appeal went out two weeks ago, the Ozona Chapter of the Red Cross has collected a total of $68 only. Please drop your check by the bank or the Water District office today. Any amount will help.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white Renaissance gown of satepeau traced in pink ribbon on schiffli embroidery on the bodice, Camelot sleeves and flounced ruffle on the skirt. Rows of Venise flowers formed the high neckline. Her chapel-length sheer veil was attached by a bandeau of ribbon and lace. A reception followed the wedding in the fellowship hall of the church. The bride's table was centered with silver candelabra and the attendant's nosegays. Crystal and silver appointments were used. Serving were the bride's aunts, Mrs. Terry Marker and Mrs. B. J. Gilbert.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Missing Facts
Two witnesses swore that Harry was the man who had robbed the supermarket, and a jury found him guilty of the crime. Not until after the verdict did Harry's lawyer find out that two other witnesses had told police Harry was definitely not the man. Was this grounds for overturning the verdict? The prosecutor didn't think so.

"We are not obliged to do the other side's homework for them," he told the court. "If they failed to dig up this information on their own, that is just too bad."

But the court ruled that the verdict could not stand. The judge said the purpose of a trial is not merely to punish the guilty but also to free the innocent.

This is a general principle of law, reinforced by the Canons of Ethics of the American Bar Association. A prosecutor must not suppress evidence capable of establishing the innocence of the accused.

The principle applies not only to guilt itself but also to the degree of guilt. Consider this case: A man was charged with murder. During the trial, the prosecutor withheld testimony that the defendant had been drunk at the time of the slaying.

Admittedly, this testimony could not have cleared the defendant. But at least it could have reduced the crime from first to second degree murder. Reversing the guilty verdict, a higher court said the trial was incomplete without the missing fact of intoxication.

Still, the prosecutor does not have to bring out everything he knows. In an arson trial, the prosecutor kept quiet about a chemical test that had been performed by the FBI.

Challenged later on this omission, he pointed out that the FBI test merely confirmed other tests already known and available to the defense.

Result: the verdict was upheld. The court said the missing information simply was not important enough to make any great difference.

Tips For Gardeners

From the Ozona Garden Club
By Mrs. Bailey Post

From one extreme to another was certainly felt in our temperature last week. The cool days after the refreshing showers were most welcome. Let us hope we have had our hottest spell of the summer in June, as has been experienced here before.

Does your lawn have a hard crust and water seems to run off rather than soak into the ground? If so, this is commonly called thatch and is caused by an accumulation of grass clippings and other organic refuse over a long period of time. This crust should either be removed or broken up to allow the water to soak into the ground. You may be able to remove a good bit of this accumulation by raking. Also, adding some additional nitrogen, but not too much, and water to the areas affected, may get the material broken down quicker. Don't mow your lawn grass too short during hot weather. Mow frequently and remove clippings. Feed just enough to keep the lawn looking good.

If you have the attractive houseplant (maranta) sometimes called rabbit tracks or prayer plant, and having trouble with it as I did, these suggestions may help get it started to growing again. I reported it in a rich organic soil with good drainage and kept it out of direct sunlight. Soak the soil thoroughly when you do water and don't rewater until the soil is dry again. Mine is growing fine outside in a pot under shrubs this summer. Notice its habit of folding its leaves upward at night.

The bougainvilleas are adding a cheerful touch to patios, yards, porches and inside of homes. They are being used in hanging baskets in interesting varieties. A small growing one is the bougainvillea globosa variegated. They respond well to pruning and to a confined root zone. They also like rich soil and heavier than normal fertilizing. They do need protection in the winter if in pots.

Calling All HOME MAKERS

Brought To You By J. D. Brown

IMAGINATION AND COURAGE ARE NEEDED IN DECORATING

When someone asks me "What are the main rules in decorating a home?" I give them this answer:

The simple ingredients are imagination, courage... and good taste.

In decorating your home, remember, you are expressing your own personality. And, you should certainly consider your own basic likes and dislikes. You can do a beautiful job in many different ways and styles.

One noticeable trend today is to mix periods, woods and finishes, so it is not difficult to assemble the things you like.

I always say that money will never take the place of good taste, and all of us have seen homes furnished on a shoestring that could win a prize in decorating shows.

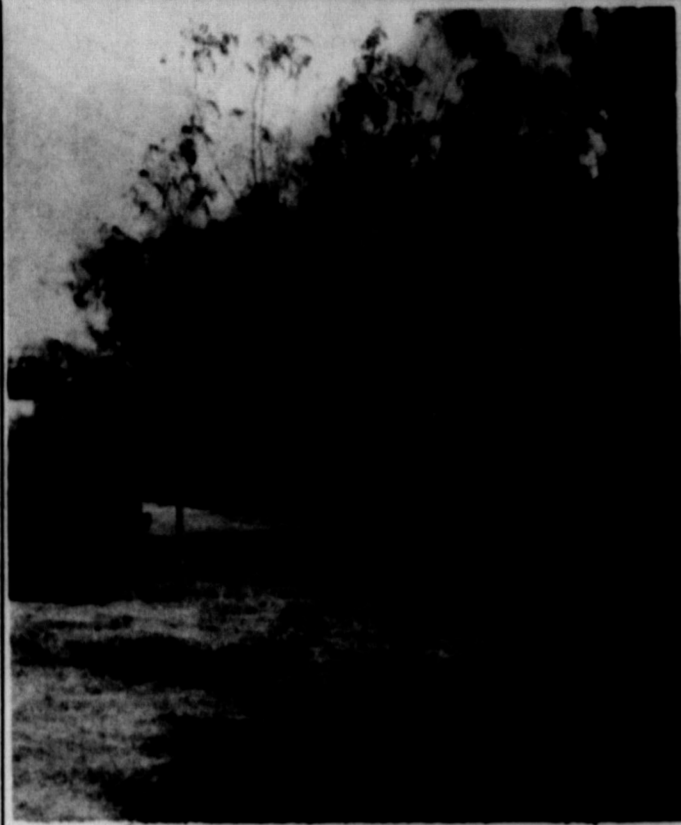

So regardless of your budget, you can furnish your home attractively with the exact pieces you need and like.

And, don't be afraid to express your imagination!

When you do need assistance in selecting any pieces of furniture, we can help you pick the things you want at the price you can afford.

Singing Cruses Appearing At First Baptist Church

A different and unique experience will be made available to Ozonans when the First Baptist Church presents the well-known "Singing Cruse Family" tomorrow and Saturday at 8 p.m., and Sunday at the 11 a.m. service and the 7:00 p.m. service.

When God calls men into full time evangelism, most often they must leave their families behind. Not so with Joe Cruse, Jr., who pastored Baptist churches for 15 years before entering the field of evangelism. He takes his wife and family of five children with him in a unique ministry of singing and preaching the Gospel.

Joe, a former jet pilot in the Korean Conflict, is a graduate of Howard Payne College of Brownwood where he played fullback for the Yellowjackets.

Mrs. Cruse, the former Nancy Lake of Jacksonville, Texas, has worked with Rev. Cruse in his ministry for over 19 years. They have five children: Joe, III, 18; Karen, 16; Janie, 15; John, 12, and Cindy, 9. They have completed their final year in public school. The remainder of their schooling will be done by correspondence to allow them to travel and serve with their parents. Each member shares in the ministry as a soloist, group singer, and with personal testimony.

"Okay, we've landed, now let's get out and look at this old moon!"
My two small boys are at it again. Today, the old gray stump is a spaceship. Tomorrow it may be a fort or a castle. More practically, at lunchtime it's a picnic table.
Right now the side yard is my sons' world. Behind a picket fence, they roam the seas and sky in imagination, the sound of their voices reassuring me of their safety.
It won't always be this way. Someday, they'll leave the back yard forever, swashbuckling through a world of schools and camps, friends and parties.
How strange it will be—not to guide their every footstep. Where am I to get the courage? Fortunately, I can answer my own question. I have my church, and so do my boys. As a source of great goodness, it will guide them all their days.

LETTERS to The Editor

Dear Editor: I would like to take this opportunity to tell the people of Ozona how I appreciate the help and kindness given to me by Sheriff Billy Mills and Mr. Perry Hubbard.

Saturday, July 1, I was on my way to visit my people at a ranch near Dryden when my car stalled outside of Ozona. Sheriff Mills stopped and called out Mr. Hubbard. I was so grateful as it was a rather desperate feeling. Mr. Hubbard was so nice about coming on Saturday, for which I am extremely grateful.

I can not help but feel that the personality demonstrated by Sheriff Mills and Mr. Hubbard is the backbone of the American people.
