West Stands Firm Against Red Proposal

By WES GALLAGHER
Associated Press Staff Writer

PARIS, May 25. — The United States laid down the principle tonight that Russia could expect no more reparations in any merger of East and West Germany.

Britain said she would not agree to any proposal which took from the Germans the powers of self-government conferred by the three western powers.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky stood firm on his proposals to unify Germany by reviving the four-power Allied Control council, and said suggestions to extend the Bonn constitution to the eastern zone was a western attempt to take all Germany.

Reds Would Keep Veto

These were the main developments at the third session of the council of foreign ministers, as reported by official western press observers.

Although it was yet early in the conference, the positions taken by the Four Powers appeared to be hardening along the lines which deadlocked all their previous efforts to reach a German settlement.

Vishinsky yesterday proposed reviving the Allied Control council in which, he made clear today, Russia's veto power would be kept intact. The proposals would give her a voice in control of the Ruhr, considered vital to the European recovery program.

Tonight U.S. Secretary of State Dean Acheson, British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin and French Foreign Minister Robert Schuman laid down what the basic agreements must be before there is any agreement on the machinery for governing Germany.

Economic Study Urged

Acheson devoted his answer largely to the economic side.

He said there was no possibility of achieving unity of Germany until there was more light on the economic conditions of East Germany.

He said the western powers, especially the United States, had poured millions of dollars into Germany to avert starvation and aid economic recovery and that West Germany still had a deficit economy.

He then reviewed reports that the Russians had seized ownership of vast East German factory com-

House Group Urges Approval Of $400 Million State Vets Bonus

By BO BYERS

AUSTIN, May 25 — A House committee unanimously recommended tonight House approval of a $400,000,000 veterans bonus measure.

Additional taxes on cigarettes, beer, liquor, and a levy on cigars (not now taxed) would finance the plan. It was introduced by Rep. Jimmy Horany of Archer City.

The favorable vote on Horany's proposed constitutional amendment came in the House Revenue and Taxation committee. There had been previous negative action on bonus legislation. The committee on constitutional amendments had rejected a similar proposition by Rep. J. A. Benton of Wylie.

Horany secured House approval for the transfer of his bill from the Constitutional Amendments committee to the one of revenue and taxation.

He proposes to pay Texas veterans of world wars I and II $250 if they served within

ATOM SECURITY SAFEGUARDS HIT

AEC Chief Urges Probe Of Mismanagement Charges

By GEORGE MOISE
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, May 25.— Chairman David E. Lilienthal of the Atomic Energy commission appealed today for a "full, complete and speedy" congressional investigation of charges that he mismanaged the atomic energy program.

He declared in a letter to Chairman McMahon (D-Conn), of the congressional "watchdog" Atomic Energy committee that the charges "involve nothing less than the security of this nation and the peace of the world."

Some committee members declared, meanwhile, that Rear Admiral John Gingrich pictured to the group this afternoon a security situation in atomic plants that is "far from satisfactory."

Officer Dissatisfied

They said Gingrich, who testified in secret session, expressed sharp dissatisfaction with the security safeguards at the Hanford, Wash., atomic plant, and particularly with the inventory system.

It was from a Hanford plant that a security officer removed two five-pound slugs of natural uranium last Aug. 24. The vital atomic material was not missed. Eight days later security officers informed the plant that the uranium had been removed.

Gingrich denied reports that he resigned as chief AEC security officer April 30 "in disgust." He said he was "not disgruntled" when he left the commission to become chief of staff for the Navy in the Pacific.

Hearings Set Today

The "watchdog" committee prepared to begin open hearings tomorrow morning on Lilienthal's management of the atomic program. Commission members will be the first witnesses. The hearings are in response to demands that Lilienthal resign.

Sen. McCarran (D-Nev) declared he believed Lilienthal should resign. He said Lilienthal holds "one of the most important places in the nation," and that "the safe-

Heavy Action In Shanghai Area Reported

By FRED HAMPSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

SHANGHAI, May 25 — The battle of Shanghai roared toward a climax tonight on the road to Woosung, where the fleeing garrison is fighting to escape by sea.

Violent Communist cannonading, turned on Woosung fortress and its approaches to cut off retreat, smook this great Chinese city throughout its first night under the Red banner.

The whole horizon to the north burst into flame. The beaten Nationalists were believed to be blowing up fuel bomb and ammunition dumps in their withdrawal through the Red barrage.

Mortar fire and the hammer of machineguns echoed through downtown Shanghai. Communist mop-up squads strove to dislodge stubborn rear-guards who hold Shanghai's Soochow creek bridges covering the garrison's retreat.

Canton In Gloom

It was a night far stormier than any of the three-weeks siege. The siege was broken abruptly early today when the Communists marched unopposed into the heart of Shanghai.

(Canton, the refugee capital in south China was deep in gloom. A dispatch from there said officials believe Canton will be the next objective. The cabinet met in special session to discuss the situation.)

All communications were cut off to Woosung 10 miles north of Shanghai. It was impossible to tell if the Nationalists were making good on this oriental "Dunkerque."

Run Into Trouble

All Tuesday night thousands of Nationalist soldiers, trucks and guns rolled north toward Woosung. A large number of Nationalist ships were assembled there, waiting to take them off.

After the garrison left the Communists came.

The Communist troops, battle-wise and efficient, lost no time in occupying all major positions in the center of the city but they ran into trouble when they tried to move into the northern district.

When they appeared on the bund, Shanghai's famous waterfront, unexpected Nationalist gunfire drove them to cover.

Residents Here Digging Cellars

Many storm-shy Lubbock residents are "digging in" against that "million to one" possibility that they could be in the path of some unusually violent weather.

And they are paying $300 to $500 for a haven of retreat from the possibility of a twister.

That numerous Lubbockites were helping revive what in the past has been practically a non existent trade in this area was confirmed Wednesday in a survey of firms and contractors dealing in the construction of storm cellars. Most of the latter reported they were "swamped" with calls inquiring about cellar construction.

Seven Built Recently

At least eleven cellars have been started or completed since the recent storms and plans made for several more, the survey indicated.

Seven storm cellars have been completed by Charles Hardegree of 1312-B Twenty-fifth street, since the recent storms. He said, that in a normal year he built only about three storm cellars. All seven of those above were in town, he explained, saying that he seldom gets a farm construction job, presumbaly because most farmers are familiar with construction and do the work themselves.

The cost of a cellar, contractors indicate, depends on such things as the type of ground to be excavated, the thickness of concrete and the size of the cellar.

Builders Not Kidding

The small "economy size," about seven feet by nine feet, providing simple but sturdy protection, costs from $300 to $425, depending on location and installations.

The $500 job, nine feet by 12 feet, contains such refinements as double steel doors, extra-thick reinforced concrete, and an emergency escape hatch, in case debris blocks the main entrance.

A lot of people, even those who have lived here a long time, may scoff at the building of cellars, but to those who have ordered them, it's no joking matter. They are dead serious—and they expect company when a storm cloud approaches henceforth.

Always Had Cellar

"I wanted a storm cellar," said Mrs. D. B. Cox, residence near Idalou highway, "because I'd rather be below ground during a storm than above it."

Mrs. Cox, who moved here from Big Spring about three years ago, said she had always had a storm cellar before moving here, and the recent

Heavy Rains, High Winds Lash Section

VIOLENT thunderstorm activity returned to the South Plains after several days of generally fair weather Wednesday night to bring high winds, severe electrical displays, dust and heavy showers to many sections.

Storm-jittery area residents flooded the Lubbock Weather bureau station, city police, and newspaper offices with calls shortly before the storm broke here, and later "tornado rumors" which spread through the city brought a second rush of inquiries from anxious residents.

The weather station reported that winds with a velocity of 42 miles an hour were clocked at Municipal airport at the height of the storm which struck shortly before 7:45 p. m. Rainfall there measured .70. No damage was reported from the wind.

"Tornado Funnel" Reported

A "tornado funnel" was reported to the Weather bureau at the height of the storm but was not "confirmed" at the station. Weather station officials said the funnel was reported about three miles west of the station, making it about five miles north of Lubbock. The report was made about 7:40 p. m.

More stormy conditions were forecast for the area today, mostly in the form of thundershowers. No unusually violent activity was foreseen late last night, however.

Slaton and the Wilson areas apparently received the heaviest precipitation with an estimated inch and one half fall at Slaton.

Abernathy, Hale Center, Post, Tahoka, Lamesa, Idalou, and Seagraves reported from .25 to .75 inch of rainfall from thundershowers which swept those areas. Ralls, Brownfield, Levelland, and Muleshoe, reported light showers.

Wilson reported high winds and heavy rains there about 8 p.m. The Texas Highway Patrol reported the Lubbock-Tahoka highway under water near New Home for a time last night. THP patrolmen who investigated reports of a storm in the Wilson area reported they found no signs of wind damage, although telephone circuits to Wilson and Tahoka, out of Lubbock were reported out of service last night. One line to Tahoka was open, however, through Slaton.

Lamesa also suffered impaired

Storage Facilities Short, Railroads Say

Embargo Placed On Winter Wheat Belt

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, May 25.—The Association of American Railroads announced today an embargo in the winter wheat belt on movement of grain consigned to storage. It is effective June 1.

Grain moving to market for sale is not affected.

The embargo was announced as active harvest of the big crop was starting. Already several loads had been combined in North Texas.

The Texas ports of Galveston, Houston and Port Arthur were exempted—it was explained—in order not to disturb continued movement of export wheat in the European recovery plan.

Facilities Half Full

The association said that as the near bumper harvest was beginning storage facilities in the belt are more than half full of grain held over from last year.

It said the embargo is aimed at preventing congestion and undue delay of box cars at grain storage points.

Rail spokesmen had declared that railroads are in shape to handle the harvest; that storage is the problem.

There was some immediate reaction from Texas wheat sections. At Amarillo elevator men said the embargo would help, but some were disappointed that it did not cover all points. They saw a definite improvement in local shipping conditions, because of a better and continuous flow of box cars.

Hesitant About Buying

But some of them said it would not help the car tieups at ports and they believe that it will have to be remedied.

At Abilene some grain brokers said there were indications facilities are scarce at grain storage points. They said they already were hesitant about buying wheat not already sold, and that the embargo may result in much wheat being left on farmers hands for the time being.

The embargo will cover Kansas, Nebraska, Colorado, Missouri, Oklahoma, Texas (except the ports of Galveston, Houston and Port Arthur), Council Bluffs, Iowa, and East St. Louis, Ill.

It requires no permits, but grain shippers must certify on the bill of lading or reconsignment order that arrangements for storage have been made.

The AAR acted after confer-

Grain Embargo Is Studied Here

Lubbock grain men apparently were not too taken aback by the embargo on grain announced by the American Railroad association Wednesday, although the full extent of the move could not immediately be determined they indicated Wednesday night.

The grain harvest on the South Plains and nearby areas has not got underway as yet and likely will be delayed somewhat by recent rains. A heavy run on storage space was seen when the harvest does start between June 1 and June 15, however.

Automatic Embargo Seen

A spokesman at S. E. Cone Grain and Seed company of Lubbock said his firm did not yet know to what extent the embargo would affect them. However, he was of the opinion that "it won't make too much difference."

He explained that "sooner or later it will be an automatic embargo," since storage space in most sections already is at a premium; more so, in fact, than box cars to transport grain. He said that before an elevator could get a car loaded with grain, the railroad probably would require a written guarantee that the grain would be unloaded at its destination, and that an "automatic embargo" would be in effect.

Facilities Already Crowded

At R. C. Young Feed and Seed company a spokesman said substantially the same thing, pointing out that much of the storage space in the large terminals is full already with last year's grain, leaving little space for the forthcom-

Hopes For Family Dim After Petunia And Joe Break Eggs

By TIM PARKER
Associated Press Staff Writer

CORPUS CHRISTI, May 25 — Petunia and Joe apparently didn't like the idea of raising a family. That's a hard blow on the hopes that the world population of the whooping crane will grow.

Petunia and Joe are the two crippled, captive whooping cranes on the Aransas National Wildlife refuge near here. Whooping cranes are almost extinct. The National Audubon society says only 33 are alive.

Earlier this year ornithologists throughout the nation got the good news that Petunia and Joe had built a nest in their 150-acre enclosure at the Aransas refuge. And there were two eggs in the nest.

But this week refuge manager C. A. (Bud) Keefer discovered the big birds had smashed the eggs. Earlier, Robert Allen, the Audubon society's official observer, had noticed them pecking at their nest.

Shot By Hunter

It would have been the first time in history that whooping cranes in capitivity had raised some young ones.

The female, Petunia, was obtained by the Audubon society from the Gothenburg, Neb., Rod and Gun club. It had been shot by a hunter in 1935. The male, Joe, was crippled in 1940 near Abbeyville, La., and was placed in the New Orleans zoo last fall. They were brought together here by the society and the U.S. Fish and Wildlife ser-

Hunt Pushed For Detroit Gunman

DETROIT, May 25 (INS)—A city bus driver said tonight he may have seen the gunman who seriously wounded UAW official Victor Reuther with a shotgun blast that destroyed the unionist's right eye.

The informant, Robert W. Johnson, 30, told police he drove by the Reuther home on a special run a few minutes before the shot was fired through the living room window, telling Reuther and narrowly missing his wife.

Johnson said he saw two men walking rapidly across the street near the home of Victor, brother of UAW President Walter P. Reuther who was shot down by a still-unknown assailant 13 months ago.

Car Is Seen

He also noted a light blue 1942 Ford parked at the side of the Reuther home, so close to the crosswalk I thought no one would leave it there overnight."

Johnson related that the two men walked across the Reuther's lawn and he watched them until they advanced some 20 feet from the sidewalk toward the home.

This first "break" in the case occurred shortly after surgeons removed Victor's right eye in a three-hour operation which included plastic repair work on the damaged eyelids.

While Victor underwent the delicate operation, appeals for police action and FBI investigation poured in.

Sundown Man Hurt In Welch Oil Field

LAMESA, May 25. (AP)—A Sundown oil field worker suffered serious burns and two trucks were destroyed by fire after an explosion on an oil lease 14 miles north of here today.

A steamer tank being used to clean out an oil well in the Welch field exploded. The worker, B. W. Janway, about 40, was brought to the hospital here. Dr. J. B. McKay said he had serious burns on his arms, head, and back.

The steamer truck and a tank truck were destroyed. The steamer truck belonged to the Universal Treating Co., of Sundown, and was working on a Magnolia lease.

Union Awaits Ford Counter-Proposals

DETROIT, May 25 (AP) — Negotiations in the 20-day Ford strike were recessed late today to give management a chance to prepare a counter arbitration proposal, a union spokesman reported.

The Ford Motor company and CIO United Auto Workers representatives agreed to meet again at 1:30 p.m. (CST) tomorrow.

After two hours of bargaining today, "definite progress" in settlement of the dispute was reported by Arthur C. Vial, regional director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service.

UAW Secretary-Treasurer Emil Mazel said the company had "rejected our genuine arbitration proposal," but had agreed to try to give the union its own arbitration plan by noon tomorrow, two hours before negotiations are resumed.

Vial was optimistic as he emerged from the conference room.

It was the first time the parties had met in direct peace talks since negotiations were recessed Sunday night in an apparent stalemate.

Lubbock Seniors To Get Diplomas

"Builders of '49" will be the theme of graduation exercises for 288 seniors of Lubbock Senior High school at 8 o'clock tonight in Chapman fieldhouse.

Four graduating seniors, Mary Ruth Sims, Anne Lingle, Anita Pope and Jack McCabe, will present the commencement address on the chosen theme.

Of the 288 participating seniors, only 249 will receive diplomas from Clyde G. Tatum, president of the Lubbock Board of Trustees. The other 39 students are to complete their high school work during the summer session, and will be given diplomas upon completing the work.

Includes Other Graduates

These students, however, are given all privileges of seniors and take part in all social activities, Principal Floyd Honey said Wednesday.

Thirty students graduating tonight completed their high school work last January, Honey added.

Parents of seniors have been issued special tickets for tonight's commencement exercises. Seats for parents will be held until 7:50 p. m. on the floor of the gymnasium, immediately behind the graduates, Honey said.

The gymnasium has seating accommodations for 2,500 persons, so there will be room for at least 1,000 persons from the general

Boy Admits Nine More Burglaries

Nine more burglaries — making a total of 21—were admitted to police detectives Wednesday by a 12-year-old boy.

Ten of the offenses were admitted several weeks ago, two of them Tuesday, Lee Rice, jr., and L. W. Forrester, detectives, said.

Capt. of Detectives Pat Davidson said the boy was "still under detention; he may think of some more places he's been in."

Homes Are Ransacked

Wednesday's admissions affected these places, Rice and Forrester said:

1. The Roy Furr residence at 3120 Twentieth. The place was ransacked but nothing was believed taken.

2. The W. A. Willbanks residence at 3022 Twentieth. It too was ransacked, and two purses of Mrs. Willbanks had been pilfered, but nothing was believed missing.

3. The L. C. Bacon residence at 2810 Twentieth. Only a toy gun was taken, the youth told police. It was used to break out a pane in a later burglary.

Doctor's Residence Entered

4. The T. R. Prideaux residence at 3123 Nineteenth. Approximately $15 and a box of .22 caliber shells were taken. The burglary was never reported to police, but it was discovered, it was related.

5. The 1519 Broadway residence of Dr. J. T. Hutchinson. A watch, a knife and a clock key, some of which had tremendous sentimental value, were taken.

Lewis Challenges Mine Owners' Rights As Contract Talks Open

By PHILIPS J. PECK
INS Staff Correspondent

BLUEFIELD, W. Va., May 25— John L. Lewis waded into negotiations with southern coal producers today with a sharp challenge to the mine owners' rights at the bargaining table.

The United Mine Workers president sent the 1949 soft coal wage contract talks off to a shaky start by questioning the tonnage represented by the Southern Coal Producers association. He demanded to examine its by-laws and hinted that the union might "walk out."

Joseph E. Moody, president of the association, found himself in serious difficulties before the parley could get down to the business of discussing a new contract to replace the agreement expiring June 30.

Lewis also declared that he agreed to meet with the SCPA only to avoid "legal sanctions of the infamous Taft-Hartley law."

It was a typical Lewis performance. The UMW chief, who had amicably agreed to hold talks with Moody, suggested the coal mining center of Bluefield as the site and endorsed Moody's request for a parley as "proper," toughened up at the outset of proceedings.

Some observers interpreted the union leader's opening remarks as a veiled threat to "break up" the meeting. The operators were uncertain as to his next move. One said:

"He has no love for the Southern Coal Producers association. We know that. He may be going to walk out."

Lewis opened up by noting that

Western Allies Take 'Offensive' As Red Stand On Germany Bared

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR.
Associated Press Staff Writer

Russia's position in the council of foreign ministers has given the Western Allies the offensive in the propaganda as well as the economic battle for control of Germany and of Europe.

A vastly different atmosphere exists in comparison with previous council meetings, the last of which was held in London in December 1947.

From the first gong the Allies, unified as never before, have displayed an air of confidence and a "you come to us" attitude toward the Russians, whereas formerly they were groping for some means of stopping Soviet moves.

Red Proposals Rejected

Vishinsky threw in a sly reminder at the beginning that, while things might be going well for the West in Europe, the day of a Japanese peace settlement was coming, when there would arise the matter of reentry into world negotiations of a China under Communist domination. But the western diplomats shrugged him off and told him to stick to the case in point.

Then they reminded him that it was up to Russia to iron out the kinks in a Berlin newly-freed from Russian blockade. They told him they wanted to settle the Austrian as well as the German question at this meeting. He was told bluntly that agreement depended on Russia. Then he was called on to state Russia's policy toward Germany.

Instead of making a big play for German support with a plea for a self-governing, unified Germany, free of military occupation and heavy Russian reparations demands, Vishinsky tried to turn the clock back. He devoted himself mainly to a plea for reestablishment of a four-power control system which would dash German hopes for self-government and reinstate Russia's $10,000,000,000 reparations claim.

The Allies promptly took advantage of the opportunity to reassure the Germans, and to put the Russians on notice, that political and economic gains of the Western Germans, during the past years would not be sacrificed under any conditions.

HOUSTON, May 25 (AP) — Jimmie Brinkley, Houston insurance man and state president of the Young Democratic clubs of Texas, confirmed today reports that he will resign the young Dem post at the June 18 meeting in Dallas, The Chronicle said today.

The Dallas event was termed a "reorganization meeting."

Reports said that the reorganization move is spearheaded by Roy Baker of Sherman, who is regarded as a political friend of the Speaker of the national House Sam Rayburn of Bonham.

The meeting was called by Roy Roberts of Glaciewater, chairman of the executive committee of the Young Democratic clubs of Texas.

Fred Korth of Dallas is being mentioned as the most likely successor to Brinkley as young Dem president, The Chronicle said.

Phone Union Claims Victory In Dispute With Bell System

WASHINGTON, May 25. (AP)—A telephone workers' union claimed victory tonight over the Bell system's challenge of the union's bargaining rights because it joined the CIO.

The union, The Communications Workers of America, said the Michigan regional office of the National Labor Relations board dismissed three Bell company challenges in Michigan.

Bell companies have brought 36 cases in all challenging the CWA's right to represent its employes now that CWA has become affiliated with the CIO. The companies said they wanted assurance their workers desire to have the former independent union continue as their bargaining afent now that CWA is part of the CIO.

CWA conducted a nationwide ballot among its members on joining CIO. The union announced early this month they voted better than two to one for the affiliation. CWA was chartered a CIO member on May 9.

'Gang' Blamed For Shooting In Indiana

EVANSVILLE, Ind., May 25 (INS) —One of Earl Shelton's nephews today blamed the attempted assassination of his notorious uncle on "a St. Louis gang" and the wounded man's wife demanded that a bodyguard be placed in his Evansville hospital room.

Shelton was reported in "satisfactory" condition at the hospital where he was being treated for a bullet wound inflicted last night at the Fairfield, Ill., Farmers Club tavern.

Officials said "Big Earl," last of the three notorious Shelton boys, was shot by an unknown gunman while playing cards at the tavern.

Shot Misses Mark

Dr. D. B. Frankel of Fairfield said Shelton would have been killed if the bullet had been aimed a half inch to the right or left.

The man whose gangland wars terrorized southern Illinois in the 1920's was taken to the Evansville hospital for an operation.

Shelton's nephew, "Little Carl" Shelton, returned the unknown assailant's gunfire last night, but failed to hit the roof-climbing gunman.

Brothers Slain

Fifty-seven-year-old "Big Earl's" brothers, Carl and Bernie, were slain in gangland style attacks within the last two years.

"Little Carl" told officials that his uncle "never expected this or he would have had some protection . . . I would say that a St. Louis gang is responsible."

The notorious Shelton brothers clashed continually in the 1920's with a rival gang. Their miniature war, marked by the use of heavy guns, tanks and armored cars, resulted in the deaths of 40 persons before it was quelled.

Denison Power Saw Firm To Fight Bankruptcy Proceedings

DENISON, May 25 (AP) — The Jaques Power Saw company of Denison today denied it is bankrupt or insolvent and said it will contest involuntary bankruptcy proceedings brought yesterday by three out-of-state creditors.

The company's stand was announced by an attorney in the absence of J. C. Jacques, president, who is in Philadelphia.

A detailed statement of the firm's financial condition, mailed to all creditors, showed total assets of $2,663,450 and total current liabilities of $974,369. Long term liabilities include a secured debt of $429,435 to the Reconstruction Finance corporation and other liabilities amounted to $158,350.

The petition alleged that payments had been made to certain firms and banks during the last four months, while the firm was insolvent. The court action came one day after J. C. Jacques, company president, announced that a trust arrangement to liquidate the firm's indebtedness had been proposed at a meeting held with creditors.

Those filing the involuntary bankruptcy petition, and amounts claimed owed them, are National Engineering company, Chicago, $2,888; J. C. Donovan Boat Supply company, New Orleans, $1,136.53; and Thomas J. Moran and Sons, New Orleans, $208.14.

Court Upholds Sentence Of Dallas Man Convicted In Slaying

AUSTIN, May 25. (AP)—The court of criminal appeals today upheld a 35-year penitentiary sentence against Lloyd Elmon Tischmacher of Dallas.

Tischmacher was charged with murder in the screw driver death of L. J. Dooley at a beer tavern in Dallas the night of Feb. 19, 1948.

One of Tischmacher's reasons for appeal was his contention that the state failed to show the kind, quality and description of the screw driver used to stab Dooley. Judge Tom Beauchamp ruled that the mere fact it was a screw driver was sufficient.

Town Talk

MR. AND MRS. J. O. GARLINGTON, 1911 Thirty-second, have as guests in their home their son and his family, Lt. and Mrs. Jack Garlington and baby son, Joe.

The visiting couple has lived in Japan, where the Lieutenant has been stationed, for the past two years, so four-months-old Joe is having his first glimpse of the United States.

Mrs. Ivan Fowler and son, Bill, will arrive from Las Animas, Colo., Friday to see her brother, Jack and his family, and will also be guests in the Garlington home for a ten day's visit.

O. L. Gibson, 2817 Twenty-fourth, will be host at the Lubbock Country club tonight with a dinner for local supervisors of the Borden company and their wives at a going away party for Mrs. Paul Gay, who is moving with her husband to Chickasha, Okla.

About 40 guests will attend the informal entertainment to be held in the party room of the club.

Reverting to the old journalistic style of "a jolly good time was had by all" is appropriate in describing the details of the picnic held by Lubbock Woman's forum from 11 a.m. until 2 p.m. Wednesday at Mackenzie State park. The women reverted to some of the games of "little girlhood" and even brought out the skip rope.

Mesdames D. D. Webster, A. A. Holmquest, D. B. Pope, Haskell Taylor and J. B. McCauley, jr., were in charge of arrangements, and Mrs. Holmquest brought the invocation. Attending were 31 members.

Mr. and Mrs. Marion Sanford, 3007 Twenty-second, have returned from a trip to Houston, where they were guests at the Shamrock hotel.

She describes the much publicized establishment as "just as lovely as everyone says it is."

Sgt. and Mrs. George L. Adcock and son, Robert Lee, who recently returned to the States after a year-and-a-half stay in Japan, are guests in the home of her sister, Mrs. A. W. Young, and family, 2014 Fifteenth. The Sergeant, who was formerly a member of the ROTC staff at Texas Tech, is with the Eleventh Airborne division which is being transferred to Camp Campbell, Ky.

Before going to Kentucky, the Adcocks will visit relatives in Santa Fe, N.M., Odebolt, Iowa, and Detroit, Mich.

In giving a "woman's eye view" of life in Japan, Mrs. Adcock, who is the former Marcella Berg, explained that they ate no Japanese food while living there; first, because it was not considered safe, and, second, because the natice people were so short on food.

As an example of the swiftly changing customs of fashion in the far eastern country, Mrs. Adcock described her 40-year-old housegirl. The first winter that the American family lived there, the woman came to work daily in full Japanese dress complete with kimona and high-piled hair, but by this year she had adopted short dresses or slacks as her habitual costume. Many of the older people are still standing by the old styles, but the trend toward western modernness is apparent on the streets of Nipponese cities, for the young girls appear with smartly coiffed locks and in American clothing. As long as the people can get American shoes, they prefer them, but otherwise they still wear the wooden sandals of primitive times.

The Adcocks were stationed on Sendai, located on northern Honshu island, and most of their traveling was in that area. One excursion took them to Matsushima, which is one of Japan's beauty spots and was formerly the center of the tourist trade in the nation.

Mrs. Adcock especially enjoyed their visit to a rest hotel at Sakunami, which has been converted from an old native mansion. All of the sliding doors were beautifully carved, and antique fireplaces were in each room. The baths still had the old style hot tub and cold water tub supplied by spring water. Near the hotel was an elaborate ski run, and horse back riding, tennis and various kinds of ball were offered for residents.

About three miles from badly-bombed Sendai is Japan's fishing center, Shiogama, which is quite a port city. It was there that many American ships docked, and the Adcock family visited there frequently.

When asked about the Nipponese countryside, Mrs. Adcock summed it up by saying "there are rice paddies everywhere," and every inch of ground is utilized.

Las Cresas club will hold its closing dance tonight from 11 until 2 o'clock in Hotel Lubbock. Music will be by Burl Hubbard's orchestra, and a graduation theme will be carried out in decorations.

The club will present its "scarecrow" at the dance also. The presentation is traditionally held at a barn dance, but the club omitted that event this year.

Tonight's Program For Pianists Set

Mrs. E. F. George is presenting piano pupils in recital tonight at 6:30 o'clock at the Adair Music store balcony.

Transplanting America

Army Wives Bring Cheerful Atmosphere To Austria

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first of a series of articles on life in Keferfeld, a suburb of Linz, Austria, one of the United States Army dependent areas in Land Upper Austria Area Command. The writer, woman's editor of The Avalanche-Journal publications, recently returned from a two months' trip abroad, several weeks of which were spent in Austria.)

By MARGARET TURNER

A DEFINITION of transplant has been given as "to lift or reset in another soil or situation," and the word transplant in the sense of transplanting the American way of life, might well be used to describe home life of the Army dependents in Europe.

The writer, Mrs. John D. Lynch of Grosse Pointe, Mich., and Miss Ruth E. Ford spent several days in Keferfeld, suburb of Linz, Austria, as guests of Miss Ford's sister, Mrs. Robert M. Smiley and Lt. Smiley. It is of their life and their neighbors and friends we write today.

THE Smileys live in one of the homes built by the late Herman Goering for workers in his great steel factory. There are 30 houses in this dependent area, authorized by the government for American families. Flanking the homes are apartments in which Austrian families live.

Some of the former fat man's houses are more conveniently built than others. The Smileys, who considered themselves fortunate to get any type of house because of the great demand for them, worked hard at making their dwelling comfortable and after buying bits of furniture from departing families, ordering a few odds and ends from mail order catalogues and unpacking their books and personal belongings they were rather well set up.

THE Goering houses must have been designed by either a mad man or a small child. For instance, the Smiley home had only one outside door, leading from the glassed in front porch. As in other factory homes, the floor plan was such that there was much wasted space in the two halls (for the bedrooms were upstairs) and the rooms were rather small. Immediately after moving in, Lt. Smiley installed a hot water heater in the downstairs bathroom. The tub was large but the faucet to the laboratory was set so far from the bowl that it was impossible to turn it on without splashing the walls.

Such little inconvenient matters are no bother to the Austrians. As we have said in previous writings, they do housework and jobs the hard way and although it takes most of their time, they seem contented with their lot.

THERE was a little episode of a plumber which will illustrate what we mean. When we came back to Linz from a week's trip to Italy we found two large galvanized buckets placed under the sink. Inquiry of Kathie, the Austrian maid, brought out that the pipe had leaked, she had called a plumber, he had prized the pipe out of the wall and had taken it to his shop to mend it. We were there for three additional days and no amount of telephoning on the part of the Smileys brought a satisfactory answer as to when the pipe would be brought back.

In the meantime, Kathie kept the buckets under the drip and carried the dishwater to the bathroom to empty it.

KATHIE, a buxom young woman who wouldn't go to the trouble to learn English, was full of smiles when we were there. She refused offers of help for the extra work caused by our visit and stayed on her feet from early morning until after nightfall. Her monthly salary, which would be about the equivalent of twenty American dollars, in addition to her board and clothing, was paid by the Smileys.

The salary of John, the janitor, was paid by the Smileys and supplemented by the government. John stoked the furnace in the winter and came over each morning to build a fire in the hot water heater. John was de-nazified, as were all of the Austrian employes, but we had an idea he had been a Storm Trooper in his former days. He was dark and not bad looking, except when he smiled and then showed a mouthful of gold-covered teeth.

MEALS in the Smiley home were much as one would have had in America, except Mrs. Smiley said she missed fresh vegetables and she had forgotten what a fresh piece of meat would taste like. The groceries were bought at the commissary at Camp McCauley. On occasions there would be fresh vegetables from Italy, but most of the time the Army wives bought frozen vegetables. Most of the frozen meats were from Argentina. Eggs, milk and butter came from Denmark.

The commissary was a very large building and resembled the help-yourself stores in our country. We were told that the shelves were much better supplied than in past months. After groceries were checked, a record was made and the bill paid at the end of the month. There was a limit of $55 per person per month and the women we talked to said meat was the most expensive item.

The silver plaque was presented by John H. Sengstacke, editor and published of The Chicago Defender, negro weekly.

Tokyo Newspaper Hails Shanghai Capture As 'Asiatic Victory'

TOKYO, May 26 (Thursday) (INS) —Tokyo's leading English language newspaper came as close as possible today to hailing the Communist capture of Shanghai as a great victory for Asiatics over Westerners.

The influential Nippon Times declared "an epoch has ended." The editorial continued:

Red Gains Hailed

"The ghosts of a century of American imperialism fade into history. Where foreign flags once were sacrosanct the Chinese Communists now riddle foreign warships with gunfire, and the warships withdraw.

"And the climax is the capture of Shanghai while foreigners flee or await in anxiety in hopes of being allowed to do business on the conqueror's terms.

"It is indeed a changing point between epochs . . This time control of Shanghai passed to the Chinese themselves . . . That Shanghai has now passed unmistakably into Chinese hands is perhaps the augury of more equal and fairer relations between China and the outside world."

New Epoch Seen

The editorial concluded:

"Shanghai today may be a city for sale, and for the time being it is finished. But this does not necessarily mean it is finished for good.

"In the new epoch and under new conditions it may be yet eventually reborn as the symbol of another and better type of relations between China and the world."

The editorial harmonized with the official Japanese opinion spearheaded by Premier Shigeru Yoshida, who has consistently declared his desire to restore trade relations with Communist China.

General Douglas MacArthur's headquarters at once began an investigation to determine whether to act against the newspaper.

Officials pointed out that the editorial reflects the sentiments of conservative as well as Communist Japanese, both of whom have been advocating expanded trade relations with Red China.

'Secret' Plans For Elopement 'Leak' From Press Agent

NEW YORK, May 25. (INS) —Shhhhh, keep it quiet.

Two press agents called International News Service tonight and declared that Buddy Baer, former heavyweight boxer KO'd by Joe Louis and others, was "eloping" and Buddy didn't want them to tell anyone.

The press agents said they represented the General Artists Corp., which has Buddy, now a singer, under its management.

According to the news they were passing along at the risk of their "life and limb" they identified the bride-to-be as a "former Miss Utah," Mary Mann, a Hollywood magazine writer.

The scene of the elopement will be Arlington, Va., and the nuptials will take place at 2 a. m. in privacy, they said.

It will be Buddy's third trip to the altar and Miss Mann's second.

Texas Tech Students Begin Final Exams

Undergraduates at Texas Technological college will begin taking final examinations at the college today. Graduating seniors, who were allowed to take exams a week early, finished all work Wednesday.

Dr. E. N. Jones, vice president at the college, said seniors had been granted the privilege of taking tests early in order that they might have more time to prepare for the graduating exercises.

Approximately 1,233 students who finished in August of 1948 and in February and June of this year will be graduated in Jones Stadium at the college Monday night. This will be the largest class which has ever graduated from Tech.

The baccalaureate sermon will be held at 8 p.m Sunday in Jones Stadium with Dr. John Banister, pastor of the Sears and Summitt Church of Christ in Dallas, making the address.

Bates Thornton, ex-Tech student who is now vice-president of the Howard Hughes Aircraft corporation in Los Angeles, will make the commencement address Monday night.

New York Mayor Will Not Be Candidate For Re-Election

NEW YORK, May 25. (AP)—Mayor William O'Dwyer said today he would not be a candidate for re-election this fall.

O'Dwyer, Irish-born former New York policeman, is 58.

Although he had not gone on record before, it generally had been assumed he would announce his candidacy at the right moment.

O'Dwyer gave no indication of his plans.

Diana Lynn To Play Lead In French Picture; Chaplin Asks Recall Of 'Monsieur Verdoux'

EDITOR'S NOTE: Louella O. Parsons is on special assignment in Europe and will be away for a few weeks. During her absence, her column will be conducted by Dorothy Manners.)

By DOROTHY MANNERS
INS Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD May 25 — Whether or not Diana Lynn accepts Douglas Sirk's offer to make "Two Hearts In Three-Quarter Time" in Vienna this fall, she's still set for a picture in Europe.

Diana will star in "Scarf Dance" to be made in France. Story is based on the life and career of famed pianist-composer, Cecile Chaminade, and is titled after her most popular number. Diana, a concert pianist in her own right, is a natural for the role.

The little Lynn girl's Hollywood agent, Wynn Rocamora, set up the deal with Productions Du Francaises, and will co-produce and finance the musical drama. Rocamora planes out for France shortly to set up the details.

Chaplin Film Flops

Charles Chaplin has asked United Artists to withdraw "Monsieur Verdoux" from circulation. After being in release two years, it has laid an enormous egg, hitting a new low for UA in grosses. Run in 2,000 houses, "Monsieur" rang up only $325,000 in rough figures—a little too rough.

United Artists is not arguing with Chaplin about putting this egg in cold storage.

Actress To Do Play

Jessica Tandy, who steps off "Streetcar Named Desire" the end of this month, comes to Hollywood immediately. But before she starts a picture at 20th Century-Fox she appears in a stage play at Stanford.

The studio has given her permission to star in "Now I Lay Me Down To Sleep," a dramatization of Ludwig Bemelman's novel, at Stanford university. Wouldn't you think that gal would want a rest from the footlights after a two-year ride on "Streetcar?"

Hume Cronyn, her husband, accompanies her back to the coast and will direct the show at Stanford.

Streetcar Party Held

Around Town: Coolest preview in a long time was staged on a streetcar named "Impossible" as it clanged along from Hollywood to Los Angeles. Leonard Levinson, president of Impossible pictures, showed a series of his cartoons on the trolly with the press and some celebs doing the strap-hanging . . . The Robert Hardy Andrews tossed a cocktail party for his new novel, "Legend of a Lady." Billie Dove, with her silver-gray hair, stole the glamor spotlight.

HOLLYWOOD in shorts: Sarah Churchill, actress daughter of Winston, will be here from Canada shortly. She's not "agin" a movie offer. After the good reviews she rated in "All Over The Town" she should have many to choose from.

Eugenia Clair Smith, nettled because the cops have no trace of the jewel thief who cleaned her out weeks ago, has put her favorite astrologist to work on a "lead."

The Lloyd Nolans could not celebrate their 16th wedding anniversary together because she had to fly back to Kansas City on urgent personal business. They will celebrate over the weekend after she returns.

Beautiful Virginia Grey has put on ten becoming pounds which just means that there's that much more of her to lock pretty.

The height of optimism: A fan mag asking for a "reconciliation" layout on Jean Wallace and Franchot Tone.

European Trip Planned

George Burns and Gracie Allen take off for London this summer for two weeks at the Palladium. It won't be new to them. Gracie and George played there years ago when they were two-a-day headliners.

Frank Morgan will celebrate his birthday and his 16th year with MGM June 1—the date the studio kicks off its 25th anniversary jubilee.

Eva Gabor says she has no heart interest. She's in love with a wonderful career

Charles Feldman has not bought the Italian-made "Quo Vadis"—rumored last week as one of the causes for calling off MGM's "Quo Vadis" with Gregory Peck and Elizabeth Taylor. So check this one off the wild series of hot rumors that have been flying ever since the MGM postponement was announced.

MAYOR CLAIMS "VICTORY"

Electra, FW&DC Railroad Reach Terms In 'Whistle Stop' War

By WILLIAM C. BARNARD
Associated Press Staff Writer

DALLAS, May 25.—That war between Electra, and the Fort Worth and Denver City railroad is over.

The little North Texas town that didn't want to be a whistle stop will be one but in name only.

"I don't want to gloat it around," said Electra's hefty mayor, T. Leo Moore, "but it sure looks like we won the deal.

"Most every train will stop at Electra, I feel sure of that. And the ones that don't stop—well they'll creep through mi-l-ghty slow."

Seth W. Barwise, general counsel for the railroad, and Moore made a joint announcement which said:

"All matters in dispute have been satisfactorily agreed upon and settled."

The agreement came shortly before 3 p. m. today after hours of conference.

When the railroad put its streamlined Zephyr on a fast new schedule two weeks ago, folks at Electra got hot as a locomotive boiler. The schedule made a "conditional stop" out of Electra and seven other small towns. It would stop only for "long-haul" passengers.

Electra had an ordinance ready—to stop the train for sanitary inspections and other reasons. But the railroad got an injunction in Federal Judge W. H. Atwell's court in Dallas—which put the ordinance in cold storage.

But 3,000 Electra citizens and visitors turned out to meet the train the first day the new schedule went into effect. The train had to stop—because Mayor Moore rode in from Dallas. Train passengers were served cake, coffee and doughnuts. Square dancers whirled—bands played. It was quite a show . . . this token resistance on the part of Electra.

After the settlement today, Mayor Moore, a booted, big-hatted man, a 260-pounder, six feet one-inch tall, said: "I'm glad we could sit across the table and work this thing out. These railroad people were mighty nice—I'm going to try to get them more business."

Under the terms of the agreement, the railroad will:

1. Stop trains to pick up all first class mail that can't be picked up with the automatic hook system. The hook system can snatch only one sack. "We'll see they have plenty of mail," Moore chuckled. (Since the battle began, the Zephyr has failed on only one occasion to stop at Electra.)

2. Slow all trains to 25 miles per hour through the town.

3. Repair crossings that Electra wanted repaired.

4. Put in some flashing warning signals at the west edge of town.

"And they throwed in an extra offer," Moore said happily. "They're going to paint the depot. They're even going to let me pick the color I want.

"I'm quite a man for bright red, myself."

Rotary Club Speaker Advises Businessmen To Drop Costly Indifference To Customers

"The cardinal sin for any business man is to ignore his customer," Burritt S. Mills, industrial and sales engineer, told the Lubbock Rotary club Wednesday.

"The party is over; we are in a buyer's market now," Mills said. "More than 68 per cent of lost business can be traced to indifference toward customers. It is time we begin to show courtesy and respect to prospective buyers."

Mills, who has devoted 35 years to his profession, has made case studies of many kinds of businesses all over the United States and in many foreign countries. He pointed out some of the little things in business that make the difference between success and failure.

Courtesy Pays

"I have seen two inexperienced young men without more than a few dollars capital build a fine and profitable enterprise in two years," Mills said. "These young men accomplished this feat by courtesy and interest in their customers and their needs.

"That same business was sold to a man who had had many years in the same line. In less than 19 months the business was bankrupt.

"We have a tendency to get into a rut because of the war years," he continued. "We have had a situation where if a customer didn't buy what we had to sell we could find a dozen other buyers. He had to buy from us or do without.

Different Now

"That is all changed now. Production has caught up on most products today. If we don't treat the customer right he can go across the street where he is treated properly.

"Yes, we have gotten into a rut. Actually, there isn't any difference between a rut and a grave except the dimensions," Mills concluded.

Ely E. Fonville was in charge of the program and introduced the speaker. Irving Jones presided over the meeting and introduced the one visiting Rotarian, Mansell Hall, Littlefield.

'Western' Film Singing Star To Appear At Brownfield Rodeo

BROWNFIELD, May 25. (Special) — John Kendrick, president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce announced here today that Monte Hale, western film and singing star and a native Texan will be the featured attraction at the forthcoming annual rodeo June 23, 24 and 25. Besides the entertaining movie celebrity this year's rodeo will have the popular Moore family and their "Taximeter Mule" with George Fairchild of Miami, Okla., as clown, both well known in rodeo circles.

A new arena has just been completed here, under chairmanship of Hub King. It is a $20,000 structure capable of seating 3,000 spectators at each of the three nightly shows. Frank Szydloski is general rodeo chairman and will be in charge of production and the opening parade.

Tess Fulfer, Jaycee secretary states that at least a cash purse of $1,500 will be added to the entrance fees to make the largest prize list ever offered here. Competition is keen in a local beard growing contest and western tog wearing. Prizes for beard contenders are being raised by shaving permits and fines assessed for "renegades."

Discharged Clerk Admits Burning Down Supermarket

DALY CITY, Calif., May 25 (INS) — A $500,000 fire destroyed one of northern California's largest supermarkets today and a discharged clerk admitted setting it.

Burned to the ground was the Huge King's market in Daly City a short distance from the San Francisco city limits. It opened only last September.

Givens Arnold Ray, a 44-year-old clerk at the market who had been fired last Saturday, was arrested at the scene. Police said he admitted setting the blaze—in fact, they said, he walked up to the first police to arrive on the scene and gave himself up.

Police reported Ray, who had served a prison term for arson, hid himself in the market before it closed and set the fire with lighter fluid.

Hub-Duke Game Rained Out

Twin Bill Is Set For 7:30 Tonight

Rain and dust washed, or muddied, out the Lubbock Hubber-Albuquerque Duke game last night and a doubleheader, two games for the price of one, has been set for tonight.

The twin bill at Rosenthal Field tonight will begin at 7:30 p. m. and tickets bought last night, or bought previously for any other game, will be good.

Meanwhile the Hubber squad changed again. Pepper Martin, the fiery outfielder from Greenville, who came to Lubbock on option under a five-day look, was returned. Cotton Russell (2-2), righthanded hurler, went back on the active list. Buddy McCallum, injured third baseman-shortstop, went on the disabled list. And Abilene voted against raising the class man category, meaning that the Hubbers could not obtain the services of Martin.

TWO GAMES TONIGHT

LAMESA, May 25. (Special)—Rain caused postponement of a scheduled game here tonight between the Clovis Pioneers and the Lamesa Lobos. Instead, a doubleheader will be played Thursday night beginning at 7 p. m.

Teams Want Limit Raised

Martin, originally thought to be a limited service outfielder, was investigated and the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues office found out that he had played three years previously.

George Schepps, Hubber general manager, immediately attempted to get the player limit on veterans raised one. Lamesa, Borger and Amarillo wired that they definitely would like to see the limit raised, but Abilene turned the proposition down cold. No word was received from Albuquerque, Pampa and Clovis.

Russell, who has been in town the past four days, received another examination Monday and has had two wisdom teeth pulled. After they had been taken out, examination showed them both to be badly abcessed and the condition in his right shoulder began to clear up immediately.

McCallum has been bothered for 10 days with a bad charley horse in his left leg, but continued to play until Manager Jackie Sullivan lifted him Tuesday night. Charley Willis, who replaced him, indicated that he would be a capable substitute and Schepps yesterday decided that an enforced rest would be best.

Prince Is Big Gun

The Hubbers, given a night off, entertained themselves in various ways. Most of them went to shows around town.

Averages for the team through Tuesday night's game shows that the Hubbers, including players no longer with the team, have scored 262 runs, gotten 372 hits, of which 79 have been doubles, nine have been triples and 36 have been home runs. The club has driven in 236 of the runs scored. Hubbers have stolen 30 bases and have 14 sacrifice hits to their credit.

Jim Prince remains the big noise of the Hubber attack with a .390 batting average. He is tops in hits with 52, leads in runs batted in with 37 and is tied with Mike Dooley in runs, each with 33. Dooley is tops in doubles with 13 and in home runs with seven. McCallum leads in stolen bases with eight.

Boys Club Indians Beat Red Sox, 13-12

The Indians won a pair of games in Boys club play yesterday afternoon, the Red Sox going down to a 13-12 defeat in a Pygmy League game and the Indians beating the Red Sox also in a Pee Wee League game.

Indian fielding accounted for a triple play in the Pygmy game. In the first inning, Curey Andrews took Buddy Shoffner's fly for one out, stepped on second to double up Rodger Stanley and threw to Arnold Lipps at third, who beat Gene Calvert to the bag.

Lipps paced the winners with a single and homer in three trips, while Calvert had a single, double and triple in four trips for the Red Sox.

In the Pee Wee game, Cricket Shirley led the victors with two for two, while Roy Rucker had the same average for the Sox.

This afternoon at the Boys club, the Pirates will play the White Sox in Pygmy and Pee Wee games.

Monday afternoon at 4 all boys 12 and 13 years of age interested in playing in the Junior League this summer are urged to meet at the Boys club to organize teams.

Texas League Attendance Is Off 36,981 For First Quarter

DALLAS, May 25. (AP)—Texas league attendance is off 36,981 for the first quarter this year compared to the same period in 1948, league secretary Milton Price announced today.

The quarter ended May 20.

Although there is a decrease both in the total and in game average, the 1949 season still is expected to go over the 2,000,000 mark.

The total for the first quarter this year, taking in 135 games, was 505,499. There have been 17 postponements because of rain this season compared to 10 for the same period last year but even with those extra games the 1949 attendance would not have been as high as 1948. Last season 139 games drew 542,480 the first quarter.

Washington Beats Cleveland, 6 To 2

NEW YORK May 25 (INS) — Southpaw Tommy Byrne struck out 12 men and allowed only five hits today as the New York Yankees whipped Detroit, 6 to 2.

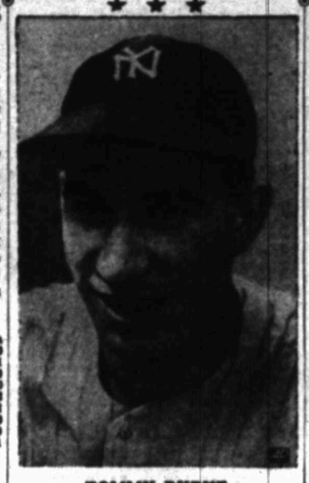

The triumph was the Bombers' fourth in a row and the third success for Byrne, who is unbeaten.

Byrne contributed two doubles to a 15-hit Yankee attack which routed Hal Newhouser after six innings. Hank Bauer added to Prince Hal's woes with a fourth inning homerun with the bases empty.

Spur Nine Wins Bi-District Title

SPUR, May 25. (Special)—Two big innings were all the Spur Bulldogs needed this afternoon to trample Post under an 11 to 0 whitewash to win the bi-district baseball championship.

Joe King hurled brilliant ball for the winners, letting the Antelopes down on three scattered hits. His mates made three errors behind him, but they were not damaging and King had enough to win his shutout.

In addition, King banged a double to help the Spur attack, which functioned for 14 hits off the slants of two Antelope hurlers.

Bob Rammage started on the hill for the visitors, but was blasted to cover by a six-run uprising. Roy Wade went to his rescue from rightfield and managed to get past the second frame all right. But in the third, the Bulldogs unleased another violent attack, scoring five runs. This time Rammage came in from rightfield to rescue Wade.

Melvin Lindsey, an all-district football player, caught the entire game and chipped in a double, while Shortstop Joe Simpson, another grid star, had three hits in four trips, one of the hits being a double.

Dean Watson, Spur first baseman, had a perfect day at the plate with three hits in three trips.

In the big first inning, eleven batters went to the plate and scored six runs on five singles, a double, one error and a fielder's choice. And surprisingly enough, the three outs of the inning were all on the strikeout route.

Spur meets Wellington High school here Saturday afternoon at 3 in the regional championship game.

The line score:

POST ---------- 000 000 0— 0 3 3
SPUR ---------- 605 000 x—11 14 3

Pampa's Oilers Down Amarillo Nine, 12-9

PAMPA, May 25 (AP) — An eighth inning home run by Rightfielder Roy Parker drove in three runs and salvaged a 12-9 ball game from the Amarillo Gold Sox here tonight. Parker's round tripper came with two men on and broke a 9-9 tie.

Pampa jumped off to a 6-1 lead in the first inning through the generosity of the Sox fielders. But the wildness of fireballer Dick Lockwood soon tied the ball game. The lead see-sawed back and forth until Parker's homer.

The same two teams meet tomorrow night in the final game of the series. Howard Bass will be on the mound for Pampa and Logamarsino is expected to hurl for the Gold hose.

Blue Sox Take Two Games From Borger

ABILENE, May 25. (AP)—Backing up airtight pitching, the Abilene Blue Sox copped a pair of shutout victories over Borger's Gassers here tonight, running away with the first one 14-0 and taking the second 7-0.

Rene Vega pitched three-hit ball to win the first one. He retired the first 12 men to face him and permitted no Gasser to pass second base. Only one got there—and he stole it. He walked one man.

Rudy Lorona registered a shutout almost unattended. He whiffed 10 batsmen, including five in a row in the fourth and fifth innings. The first two batsmen up in the fourth, Manager Eddie Carnett and Bob Ferguson singled, but the next three, Littlejohn, Wynns and Cato, went down swinging. So did the first two up in the fifth, Hugh King and Pitcher Ernie Faccio, and Lorona personally threw out Earl Butler on a grounder to the box.

Abilene worked on Clayton Fries for 13 hits in the first contest, scoring in every inning except the fifth and making seven runs in the rowdy sixth. A home run by Manager Hayden Greer with two out and none on came in the fourth. Vega's three hits were all scratch singles, by Cato, Ferguson and Gilchrist and came in separate innings.

MOST VALUABLE WESTERNERS—Two Lubbock High school football players receive trophies as the team's "most valuable players" during the 1948 season. Shown receiving his trophy from Al Williams, Avalanche sports writer, is Merle Burchett as Jack Hensley looks on. The newspaper began the presentation of trophies last year, but this year the two tied for the honor. Burchett started the season as blocking back and shifted to guard, and Hensley alternated between tackle and guard.

Double T Club Gives Dinner For Techsans

A dinner honoring Texas Tech athletes in basketball, track, tennis, golf, and fencing was given last night by the Doubit T Downtown club at Mexican Inn.

A turkey dinner was served inside after rain caused cancellation of the outdoor banquet in the patio at the inn, and approximately 68 persons were in attendance.

Master of ceremonies was D .M. McElroy, executive- secretary of the ex-students association at Tech, and he kept the crowd laughing with jokes and wise cracks following the dinner. He also presented gifts to various lettermen.

Following the antics of McElroy, the various members of the different sports teams were presented, and the members of the athletic council at Tech were introduced. Track Coach Maxie McKnight was given a Stetson hat on behalf of the track team by Pat Clepper.

Double T certificates to the athletes in the five sports were presented by Dr. J. W. Davis, chairman of the athletic council. The dinner was made possible by the efforts of Elmer Tarbox, Lefty Sollis, and other members of the Double T club.

Following is the list of lettermen in each sport:

Detton Wins Main Mat Go

Dean Detton, former World Heavyweight wrestling champion, took the second main event at Sled Allen's arena last night, defeating George Dusette in the third fall after Dusette took the first.

The Strong Man from Boston took the first fall, surprising Detton with a short arm scissors and shoulder pin after nine minutes of hard action. Detton claimed referee Pat O'Dowdy gave a short count, but he took the second fall in eight minutes with an inside stepover toehold and finished the match with the same hold after only two minutes of the third fall.

After being patted on the back by O'Dowdy, Detton refused to break his punishing hold on Dusette, and O'Dowdy used force to cause the hold to be broken. When he regained his feet, Detton knocked O'Dowdy through the ropes, but no more blows were exchanged after O'Dowdy came back into the ring.

George Curtiss proved to be too strong for Billy Goelz in the first main event, stopping Goelz by winning the second and third falls of a very clean match.

Goelz took the first fall in 14 minutes with a whirling arm twist. Then Curtis applied an abdominal stretch to stop the second fall after eight minutes; and won the match with a series of dropkicks and a body smother in 10 minutes of the final fall.

The 20-minute preliminary match between Jack Pappenheim and George Bruckman went the limit for a draw. Neither boy could pin the other long enough to get a count.

Handling the refereeing of the first two fights was Vic Weber.

Howie Pollet Sets Braves Down On Six Hits As Cards Win, 3-0

Red Hot Dodgers Whip Pirates, 8-6

ST. LOUIS, May 25. (INS)—Stringy Howie Pollet shut out the champion Boston Braves on six hits today while his St. Louis Cardinal mates bunched their blows off Warren Spahn for a 3-to-0 triumph.

All three Cardinal runs came in the fourth inning when four Redbird hits, clustered around a bad throw by Bob Elliott, wrapped up the ball game. It was Pollet's second victory, and the third loss for Spahn.

Sam Baugh Says He Will Quit Pro Game For Life On Ranch

TEMPLE, May 25 (AP) — This, says Sam Baugh positively, will be his last year in football.

Slingin' Sam, who won fame at Texas Christian and has been the spark of the Washington Redskins in the National Football league 12 years, is in Temple where his mother is in a hospital.

Sam said next season would finish him up with football and that "I guess I'll spend most of my time on the ranch, and maybe do a little roping during the rodeo season."

Baugh once played football at Temple High school. He went from here to Sweetwater to play some more. Then he entered Texas Christian to become an all-time passing great of Southwest Conference history.

He has a ranch at Rotan near Sweetwater.

Baugh admitted this was the third time he had planned on quitting the game "When I signed my first contract with the Redskins," he explained, "I had intentions of playing only one year of professional football. But I liked it so well I just couldn't give it up."

Sam credits the introduction of the T formation to pro football for his staying with the game. "Before we started using the T, the pro game was the roughest thing out, but the new formation made it a little easier for me at quarterback. It helped much more in the last few years. An old man like me can't stand up to much of the hard knocks that a backfield man gets and the T has relieved a lot of it. If I'm not passing, I push the ball to some of the younger fellows and let 'em run with the thing." Baugh now is 35 years old.

Burchett, Hensley Are Given Most Valuable Player Awards

Most valuable player trophies were awarded to Merle Burchett and Jack Hensley, Westerner football linemen the past season, at the Exchange club luncheon Wednesday in Hotel Lubbock.

The Avalanche-Journal last year awarded the trophy for the first time, but this year the two boys tied for the honor and like trophies were awarded by the newspaper.

The election of the most valuable player was made by the members of the football team based on friendship, cooperation, sportsmanship, aggressiveness, attitude, and all-around football ability.

Burchett started the season as a blocking back, but later was moved to the guard position. Hensley played at both guard and tackle through the season.

BIG FISH—Proof that not all the big ones get away is shown above by Fleet Lewis of High Point, N. C., but even as large as is this channel bass, it's still considered a small one. Lewis caught the bass off Nags Head, N.C., and it was the smallest catch of the season. From the portion showing, it makes you wonder how big the big ones really are.

Playoff Game Set Friday

Only one day remains before the Westerners leave for Wichita Falls and the bi-district baseball tussle with the Coyotes at Spudder park.

The first game of the two out of three series will be played at 2:30 p.m. Friday, and Saturday a doubleheader is scheduled for Rosenthal field, beginning at the same hour. Price of admission to the Saturday games will be 30 cents for students and 60 cents for adults.

The winner of the bi-district games is entitled to represent District 1-AA and 2-AA at the state meet in Austin June 6-7-8 where the state champion will be crowned after an elimination tournament.

A bus will carry the Lubbock nine to Wichita Falls Friday for the game, and the team will return following the contest.

The day of rest Tuesday seemed to help the batting of the team, and some of the hitters were really pounding the ball. Coach Fred Taylor has been trying to get his pitchers in shape for the forthcoming series, and all should be ready to go tomorrow. The starter is still undecided, but it may be Lefty Bennie Day. Only two other possibilities remain—Jimmy Hamilton and Jimmy Richards.

Against Lubbock Wichita Falls will pitch either Fleming or Scott. The lineup in the batting order will probably be Hightower, second base; Bookout, third base; Leggett, center field; Clanton, first base; Blasengame, right field; Howard, shortstop; Hooten, left field; Carter, catcher; and the pitcher.

Two No-Hit Games Spark Play In Texas Softball Last Week

SAN ANGELO, May 25 (Special) — The Texas Softball League's first double no-hit performance in a single night's play by one team was placed on the record books last week by two Howard Payne hurlers at Brownwood.

Lloyd Wiseman and Jimmy Kight of the Yellowjackets posted the twin no-hitters as they turned back Mackey's of Abilene, 2 to 0, and 1 to 0, to assume the lead in the Eastern Division.

Lubbock Wins Twice

Red Denham of Crane held Lubbock's Bluebonnets hitless for the regulation seven innings, but a passed ball at home in the last of the ninth cost him a 1 to 0 loss to Warren Pope, who fanned 18 men and allowed only two hits. Denham also gave up two safeties. G. W. Warden of Lubbock won his fourth straight tilt in the nightcap, 6 to 5.

Pope now leads the loop in strikeouts with 56 in four games and Denham is close behind with 50.

San Angelo's Maurice Shop dropped a 1-3 decision in their opener, but came back to cop the finale, 4-1 in 11 innings.

Stamford felled Mustang Sheet Metal of Dallas, 2-1, behind Roy Weaks in an opening game and lost the nightcap by the same score.

FORT STOCKTON IS NEXT FOR LUBBOCK SUNBEAMERS

Bluebonnet-Sunbeamer supporters are looking for a double victory here Saturday night when Fort Stockton invades Jumbo Webster field.

The Sunbeamers, who have a way of winning the easy games as well as the tough ones, are not underestimating the strength of the Saturday night visitors, who have won only one of the eight games they have played.

Schneiter Is PGA's Leader

RICHMOND, Va., May 25 (AP)—George Schneiter, administrative boss of touring professional golfers, became their master on the links today with a brilliant 66 in the first qualifying round of the PGA tournament at Hermitage course.

The sun-burned Mormon from Ogden, Utah, used only 31 strokes to travel the front nine of the par 71, 6,677-yard Virginia course. That's just two strokes above the all-time PGA qualifying record for nine holes.

Schneiter's 31 strokes on the front nine was matched by Jack Isaacs of Langley Field, Va., coming home. However, Isaacs was even with par going out and took a 36-31—67 for second place.

Except for a surprisingly small group of golfers, the field of 136 professionals was above par through the high winds and on the rapid greens of Hermitage.

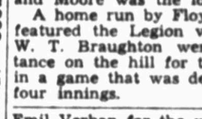

The near-weekly favorite in tournaments also the winter circuit — Lloyd Mangrum — played steadily in taking third place with a three-under 68.

Queensland, Australia, is importing toads to end a plague of beetles.

HIGH GRADES MAINTAINED

Honor Graduates At High School Excel In Numerous Activities

Records compiled by Lubbock Senior High school's honor graduates show that they participated in and also excelled in diversified extra-curricular activities while stacking up an imposing number of A's.

Coleen Baldwin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Baldwin of 2014 Thirty-sixth street, will be proclaimed highest honor student of the Class of 1949 tonight because of her six point average, made because of 18 grades of A. However, her high school career shows other accomplishments worthy of note.

Takes State Honors

As one of the most outstanding mathematics students in the high school this year, Coleen tied for first place in the Texas Interscholastic league state meet in number sense. Her record was 100 problems worked in ten minutes, with only two missed. In the same meet she represented Lubbock in the shorthand contest after winning second place in both the district and regional contests.

In school organizations Coleen was named by fellow students as a leader, being president of the Gens Togata, Latin club, president of her guidance group, program chairman of Y-Teens, and vice president of the Natonal Thespians, dramatic group. In addition Coleen worked for the past two years as secretary to E. J. Lowrey, athletic manager, and also worked part time in the office of the First Methodist church. She hopes to secure full time work this summer. Coleen has one sister, Lanell, a student in the Lubbock schools.

Outstanding Boy Named

It is the custom in Lubbock Senior High school when highest honors go to a girl to then choose the boy with the highest honors. If high honors go to a boy, a girl is chosen, Principal Floyd Honey explained.

Van Scott, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl C. Scott, 2119 Eighteenth, with a 5.93 point average and 13 A's and two B's, is receiving highest honors of the boys in the graduating class tonight. Van's high school career has also been filled with extra-curricular activities. This year Van was the drum major who led the Westerner band. He was one of two students recognized at the special recognition assembly for his band work, and he took part in the regional band contest at Canyon this year with his trombone solo.

Van's club activities include: vice president of the Chemistry club, social chairman of his guidance group, and a member of the Art club, Golf club, and the National Honor society. He was one of the outstanding seniors pictured in the Who's Who section of the 1949 Westerner, school year book. He also took part in the State Music clinic held at Galveston last fall. Van has one sister, Mrs. Carl W. Stewart of Gainesville. He is planning to attend Texas Technological college this summer.

Other Students Honored

Twenty other graduates are to be named tonight on the honor roll of the Class of '49. With their grades these students are: Jane Austin, 14 A's, one B; Joan Bolinger, 10 A's, six B's; Evelyn Sue Burks, 14 A's; Nancy Davis, 12 A's, three B's; Kara Sam Dunn, 13 A's, three B's; Ann Edwards, 15 A's; Eddie Goetze, 11 A's, six B's; Dorothy Dale Kennedy 16 A's; Jack King, eight A's, eight B's; Denton Lambert, 12 A's, four B's; Anne Lingle, 14 A's, two B's; Joan McMillan, seven A's, nine B's; Jimmy Richards, eight A's, eight B's; Mary Ruth Smith, 14 A's, two B's; Christine Toles, 10 A's, six B's; Joyce Wileman, eight A's, nine B's; Donna Woolman, six A's, eight B's; Joyce Worrell, 11 A's, three B's.

ing harvest. However, the spokesman thought that in the South Plains area "things will be worked out okay." He said that in recent weeks, from 100 to 150 cars of commodity grain have been moving out from this area per day, which will make more storage space available for this year's crop.

Spokesmen for both firms agreed that available storage facilities would fill up quickly with the harvest, even with this "delayed movement" of last year's grain crop.

Operator Declines Comment

Both were of the opinion that more box cars were available this year than the same time last year.

Spokesmen at Burrus elevators chose to make no comment on the embargo and its possible effects upon their firm.

Spokesmen for the Producers Grain Corp., whose offices and warehouse are in the process of being completed southeast of Lubbock, were not available for comment. The huge new elevators just southeast of the city will have facilities for some two millions bushels of grain.

Square Dance And Clinic Scheduled For Plamor Today

public, Supt. R. W. Matthews has announced.

Miss Dorothy Lomax, director of secondary education, will present the graduates to Tatum for presentation of diplomas.

Honors will be presented by Honey.

Organ music and the processional, "March From Athalie," by Mendelssohn, will be played by Gerre Hancock, Senior High sophomore student. Dorothy Dale Kennedy, a senior, will give the invocation, and Frank Poynor, president of the class, will be master of ceremonies.

Special music will be by the Senior Mixed Chorus, directed by J. H. Penn. Jack King, a senior, will sing a solo.

The exercises are to be concluded with "The Westerner Call to Loyalty" by the graduates.

Three junior boys are to serve as marshals at the services. They are Garnet Reeves, J. C. Chambers and Don Hancock.

Among graduates who tonight will be given special recognition are Charles Galey, student body president; Kara Sam Dunn, student body secretary; Nancy Davis, senior class secretary; and Joyce Worrell, head girl cheerleader.

CLASSROOM WORK ENDS IN LUBBOCK PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Summer vacation officially does not begin until Friday, but serious work for most students in Lubbock Public schools ended Wednesday as final classroom sessions were held.

All students except graduating seniors are to return to their respective schools at 1 p. m. Friday to receive their report cards.

Eighteen-week examinations for some Senior High school students will be given today, and teachers in all schools remain on duty today and Friday as they complete final reports.

Beginning Monday, students and adults may register for summer school.

Pre-school registration for six-year-olds who will start to school in September will be held June 1-2.

bines and put them to producing for Russia. He said some industries had been taken over 100 percent by the Russians.

Political Issues Stressed

He declared the West must see an accurate record of what these seizures had done to the German economy in the event of any merger of East and West Germany.

This was the issue over which former Secretary of State George C. Marshall broke up the last foreign ministers council on Germany in London nearly 18 months ago. At that conference Russia demanded $10,000,000,000 in reparations. When she refused to give a report on how much already had been taken from Germany, Marshall said it was useless to continue.

Bevin and Schuman stressed the political side of unification.

Schuman, according to French sources, said Vishinsky's proposals were an attempt to coordinate the economies of the two parts of Germany without any mention of political unity, a field in which he said the zones were "profoundly" different.

West Gives Warning

A four-power Allied Control council would not give political unity, Schuman asserted.

Bevin stressed that in most fields the Germans must be allowed to work out their own problems without allied interference.

In a clear warning that the West would not take from the western Germans, in return for unity, any powers granted them in the occupation statute written by Britain, France and the United States, Bevin declared:

"We only want Allied control on the basis of the Washington agreements." These were the agreements which resulted in drafting of the occupation statute and the West Germans' Bonn constitution.

the continental limits of the United States, and another $250 if they were overseas at least three months.

The measure calls for extra taxes of two cents a pack on cigarettes; one cent per can or bottle of beer, 64 cents per gallon on liquor, and 25 cents per gallon on wine. Cigars would be taxed 10 percent of retail value.

Rep Jim Heflin of Houston, who suggested the financing plan, figured it would bring in more than $30,000,000 yearly and retire $400,000,000 in bonds plus interest in 12 years.

To qualify for the bonus an applicant must have lived in Texas six months before his entry into the armed services.

There was brief debate on the bonus proposition by single witnesses for and against the bill.

Memorial Services Held In House For Deceased Solons

WASHINGTON, May 25. (AP)—The House today held memorial services for members of Congress who have died since the last session.

Rep. Reva Beck Bosone, D., Utah, delivered the principal address.

Deceased members whose memory was honored included former Sen. John H. Overton, La., and former Rep. Milton H. West, Tex.

ty of our institutions and the defense of our government are entrusted" to him. He added:

"I don't think Mr. Lilienthal is worthy of it."

Refuses To Answer

In the House, a wartime atomic scientist refused to tell spy probers whether he helped set up a secret Communist cell in an Atomic Energy commission laboratory operated by the University of California.

Members of the House un-American Activities committee said David Bohm, now an assistant physics professor at Princeton university, refused at a secret committee meeting to answer this question on the ground of possible self-incrimination.

They said he would not tell whether he knew Steve Nelson, a Communist party organizer accused of espionage.

Program Defended

Tuesday, Clarence F. Hiskey, another wartime atomic scientist who holds a reserve commission in the Army, refused on constitutional grounds to say whether he is a Communist or had given atomic secrets to a Russian agent.

Lilienthal said he would "welcome" the congressional investigation of his stewardship which already is under way.

He said charges against him indicate that the atomic program is "almost bankrupt" and "virtually a failure." In fact, he added, it is now at its peak level. He said "a substantial stockpile of atomic weapons" has been produced.

The AEC chairman asked that not only commission members and personnel but outside scientists be summoned to testify.

He reiterated that the commission had made a mistake in not informing the FBI of the loss of a small amount of uranium 235 from Chicago laboratories.

Policy Reversed

But he insisted that "equally patriotic and reasonable men could have and do entertain different views" on the granting of government atomic energy scholarships for "non-secret study" to young scientists without regard to political beliefs.

Lilienthal explained that commission policy, which allowed such scholarships to three Communists out of 497 students, has been reversed because of congressional objections.

He asked that the congressional investigation embrace these four points:

The "magnitude of our atomic stockpile" after two and one-half years of commission operation.

Scientists Appointed

Problems encountered in production of fissionable materials "and how successful were the steps taken to overcome them."

State of basic research when the commission took over and its subsequent progress.

The situation on security of secret documents when the commission took over and now.

McMahon also announced appointment of Dr. Ernest Thiele of the Standard Oil company of Indiana, as the committee's consultant in the loss of uranium 235 from the Argonne National laboratories in Chicago.

Woman Testifies

Lilienthal and his fellow members of the AEC already have been asked to appear before the committee tomorrow to answer charges that they were lax in allowing disappearance of uranium, and in granting commission scholarships to Communists.

In the House hearings Bohm, who worked at the California laboratory during the war, was called to testify in connection with a committee report that charged last fall that a "scientist X" turned a secret atomic formula over to Nelson, and that Nelson in turn gave it to a Soviet consular agent.

Committee Chairman Wood (D-Ga), said that a "Mrs. Davis of New York" also appeared at the secret session.

He said she did not know Bohm but would be called later in an effort to identify other scientists reported to be connected with the California Communist cell.

McMahon told newsmen he had called Lilienthal to appear tomorrow to give the AEC chairman an opportunity to answer charges already made before the joint committee's investigation into AEC affairs proceeded further.

The senator said that charges against the commission have flooded his office with mail.

House Adjourns For Day In Midst Of Driver Bill Debate

AUSTIN, May 25 (AP) — The House quit for the day this afternoon still in the midst of debate on the driver financial responsibility bill.

Its backers said one amendment tacked on today would cripple the bill seriously. It would exempt all vehicles with farm licenses from the measure's provisions as long as the vehicles were not traveling befween two incorporated towns. The amendment was adopted by a 68-60 vote.

Rep. Jack K. Wisener of Wells tried to add an amendment limiting the profit made by insurance companies on liability policies to 10 percent. This was killed 68-50.

The bill would require drivers of cars in an accident involving $200 damage to show proof of financial responsibility up to $11,000. It already has Senate approval.

Two Babies Burn To Death When Flames Sweep Dallas Dwelling

DALLAS, May 25. (AP)—Two babies burned to death this afternoon in a fire which destroyed a frame dwelling here.

Deputy Sheriff Henry Ashley said the bodies were taken to the Lott Funeral home for negroes.

Eddie Paul, ambulance driver, said neighbors told him no one was at home at the time the fire started. Paul said both bodies were badly charred and were not immediately identified.

The dwelling burned to the ground. Firemen said one child appeared to be about four months old and the other 18 months.

Rails Set Embargo

ences with Interstate Commerce commission officials. At both association and commission offices, it was emphasized the embargo order is designed to aid orderly movement of the crop to storage points.

Association records indicated about 22,000 empty freight cars available in the grain belt, the best supply accumulated in that territory since 1940.

ICC officials said some 1,400 additional freight cars are moving westward daily and will be available for grain shipments.

Meanwhile, with storage facilities in the wheat belt already more than half full with last year's grain, the Senate debated a bill to provide additional storage space for grain and other crops held under government loans.

Compromise Bill Hit

Senator Williams (R-Del.) urged the Senate today to reject the compromise bill which was worked out by House and Senate conferees. The House approved it yesterday.

It would give the Agriculture department's Commodity Credit Corporation board authority to provide storage bins, elevators, warehouses and refrigerated storage for farm products.

Williams objected to a provision that would allow the secretary of agriculture to name the six directors of the corporation, which has loan authority of $4,500,000,000.

The bill, as the Senate had passed it, required the directors be appointed by the President and be subject to confirmation by the Senate.

Williams said the Senate should insist on that. He announced he would move that the compromise be rejected and new conferees appointed.

PART OF RESPONSIBILITY PLACED ON GOVERNMENT

FORT WORTH, May 25. (AP)—Slow movement of government grain from terminal elevators is partially responsible for the Association of American Railroads announced embargo on grain consigned to storage, grain men said here today.

Although much of this grain has been removed from the small elevators the terminal points have received little relief, they said.

One Fort Worth elevator man said he considered the AAR's announcement that elevators in the nation's wheat belt are half full, an under estimate for Texas, explaining that two thirds full would be a closer estimate.

Grain Holdings Up

Fort Worth's elevators are approximately 75 percent full of grain, he said.

G. E. Blewett of Fort Worth, secretary of the Texas Grain and Feed Dealers association, said that elevators here held a total of 9,138,000 bushels of wheat and grain sorghums last week. Last year the total was 3,032,000 bushels for mid-May.

C. P. Wasson of Dallas, district manager for car service of the AAR, said there are about 12,000 box cars available in Texas and Oklahoma. Of this number approximately 7,000 are in Texas, Blewett said.

Wasson said he could not "hazard a guess" as to when the embargo would be lifted.

vice.

Whooping crane eggs are larger than those of a domestic turkey—about four inches long and 2½ inches in diameter.

The Aransas refuge is the winter nesting grounds of the huge birds which once flew by the thousands over heads of early settlers. In the spring the small remaining flock flies to undiscovered summer nesting grounds in the Arctic.

Petunia and Joe might still raise a family. One of them is about 13 years old. But whooping cranes are believed to live for 50 years or so.

Gunman Is Sought

Philip Murray and Michigan Senator Homer Ferguson demanded that Attorney General Clark order the FBI to enter the case.

Detroit and state officials added their voices to the clamor for federal action.

But the local FBI office returned a polite "no" to all requests. Louis Nichols, assistant Detroit FBI director, explained:

"It is impossible for the FBI to enter the case in any way at this time. There is no indication of a federal offense and under the law the FBI cannot go into the case even if the Detroit police department makes a direct appeal."

Shotgun Found

The 37-year-old UAW educational director rallied from the effects of shotgun wounds of the neck and face under a series of blood transfusions, however, and hospital attendants said he is certain to survive.

The attack on Victor, youngest of four Reuther brothers, was strikingly similar to the attempt on UAW President Walter Reuther's life on April 20, 1948.

Walter bitterly blamed anti-labor "terrorists"—"die-hard employers, Communists or fascists."

The police had a shotgun found beneath the shattered window and a plaster cast of a footprint, but admittedly were stumped, with "no place to go from here."

Black Sedan Reported

Victor, father of three children, was sitting in the living-room of his west side Detroit home with his wife, Sophie, when the gunman fired. Pellets from the double-barreled shotgun sprayed the walls of the living-room, narrowly missing Mrs. Reuther.

Detectives, some still working on the unsolved shooting of Walter Reuther, had only one other possible lead, besides the gun and footprint. It was neighbors' testimony that a black sedan sped away from Victor's home shortly after the shooting.

Walter Reuther still wears his arm in a sling because of the shotgun blast fired through the kitchen window of his home. A "mystery" car also figured in the 41-year-old union president's shooting. The similarity even extended to timing. Both attacks were on Tuesday night and about the same hour.

Reward Offered

Almost hysterical when talking to newsmen, the UAW president charged last night's attack was paid for "by the same people who paid to have me shot."

Roy, a third Reuther brother living in Detroit, today accepted a police guard around his home.

The fourth and oldest Reuther brother, Ted, who operates a business in Wheeling, W. Va., was reported enroute to Detroit with his parents.

For the second time in little over a year, a "Reuther reward" fund was raised in Detroit. After the attempt on Walter's life, $112,500 was offered in rewards.

The first offer made in connection with the second attack came from the Wayne county board of auditors. The board voted a $2,000 reward and promised to raise the amount to $10,000. A Cleveland UAW local offered $100.

Lewis Challenges

two members groups of SCPA—the Virginia Operators association and the winding Gulf Operators association, of West Virginia—had withdrawn from the parley and that a number of big individual companies in the south were not participating.

The afternoon session of the negotiating conference was postponed until tomorrow when the credentials committee reported it had not had time to compile the information sought by Lewis.

Moody told newsmen the date would be furnished to the union but stressed that it "in no way relieves the UMW or the SCPA of the obligation to bargain in good faith on behalf of those they represent."

Agreement Desired

Apparently attempting to forestall any "walk out" by the union, Moody added:

"The southern coal operators earnestly desire to reach an agreement with the UMW. That is why we are in Bluefield and why we intend to remain here for whatever time is necessary to arrive at an understanding.

The SCPA president said a summer coal strike would be "disastrous to the operators, miners and the public generally."

Lewis remained mum on his strategy. It was indicated, however, that the tonnage figures supplied by the operators would be checked for accuracy against the operators, contributions to the UMW welfare fund—20 cents on each ton of coal mined.

Injunction Feared

Last year the union was ordered by Federal Judge T. Alan Goldsborough in Washington, D.C., to bargain with the SCPA. The injunction rankled Lewis. It has since been dissolved but apparently a new one could be obtained if the union refuses to do business with the association again.

Lewis recognizes this. His opening remarks appeared to lay the basis for contending that the SCPA has failed to bring its full membership to the present negotiating session and therefore the UMW can't do business with it.

He also criticized Moody for invoking the law in 1948 to force the union's appearance at the conference table. Lewis said:

"We attended this conference because if we didn't we would have legal sanctions imposed upon us. We want to protect our legal rights and avoid the pains of violating the law if it is invoked again by Mr. Moody."

NEWS BRIEFS

Twenty-five members of the Lubbock Camera club and their wives were guests of the Lubbock Boys club last night at a showing of a technicolor sound film entitled 'E-dah-hoe." The picture, a photographical recording of fishing trips by Merle Tobias, wealthy California business man, was filmed along the Salmon and Snake rivers in Idaho. Boys club members present for the showing numbered 103, John Wilson, club director, said.

Mrs. Ernest G. Wadel, of Dallas, spoke Wednesday at a tea given by Lubbock women's division of United Jewish Appeal. Mrs. Wadel is national chairman of the organization.

Mrs. William Von Wolffe, 2612 Thirty-second, is recovering satisfactorily in Lubbock Memorial hospital after undergoing major surgery Tuesday.

Burglaries Admitted

The watch was recovered from the boy's home, police said. Dr. Hutchinson had carried the watch and knife 40 years, police were told immediately after the burglary.

6. A residence at 1411 Arnett. Twenty-fice cents was taken.

7. A residence at 1503 Twenty-fifth. Nothing was believed taken, but the boy left a bike that he had stolen at a theater here.

8. A residence at 2110 Ave. O, where a woman's watch was taken. Forrester said it had been traced to another person who since has quit his job and whose whereabouts temporarily is unknown to police. They plan to search further for him today.

Four Burglaries Cleared

The last four admitted burglaries were cleared late Wednesday. The boy asked Forrester to visit him at county jail, explaining he had "remembered some more places."

Juvenile officials had talked with County Attorney Waggoner Carr Wednesday in connection with filing of charges. The youth earlier had been paroled to his parents to await trial, it was said.

Burglaries admitted by the youth Tuesday included:

The R. F. Spikes residence at 1614 Broadway, from which a piggy bank containing about $20 was taken.

The residence of Mrs. James E. Hartley of 1518 Ave. O, in which $21 was removed from a purse.

Man Posts Bonds

A local woman, who was in charge of a group of children on a picnic at the Party House in Mackenzie State park, told police the man had exposed himself indecently several times in the presence of several little girls in the party. Arresting officers said the man had removed his trousers before they arrived to make the arrest.

The sheriff's department said Richard Woodring, 26, had posted three bonds of $1,000 each on charges that he embezzled sums of money several months ago from Hub Lee. The bonds had been reduced for the former bookkeeper of Hub Lee Tire company, it was explained. Trial of one of the indictment charges ended recently in a mistrial.

Bond of $1,000 was set by D. W. Robertson, justice of peace, for Ed Forbes, 40, Lubbock man who was arrested by police and transferred to county officials after a fugitive complaint had been sued out by LeRoy Boling, jr., city detective.

Boling's affidavit said Forbes had been charged in April with unlawfully removing mortgaged property from New Mexico.

Several theft reports were under investigation of police Wednesday.

Mrs. A. J. Clark of 802 Ave. O complained that two men who had been doing some yard work for her had left with a grubbing hoe, a spading fork and hand saw. The tools were valued at $12.50.

Theft of 50 feet of garden hose, 15 feet of black rubber hose and a brass nozzle, total value $10, was reported by Mrs. R. M. Crabtree of 1809 Main.

Casey Pickens of 2320 Fifth said that three screen doors valued collectively at $35 had been stolen from him.

Cellars Dug Here

storms caused her to have one built at her home here.

"I came from a stormy country where storm cellars are a necessity", explained J. L. Hooper of 2301 Twenty-seventh. "And the recent tornadoes make me feel right at home," he added, saying that he had been considering construction of a storm cellar for several years. Mr. Hooper, operator of Hooper Tire store, came here in 1938.

Taking No Chances

"With storms striking all around, Lubbock may be next," said Mrs. Susie Poarch of 1906 Sixth. She explained that she decided to build a storm cellar after seeing what tornadoes did to new houses in other places. "I felt secure for years in my old home in Lubbock because the construction was heavy, but now that I have a new home, not heavily built. I decided to build a storm cellar for myself and neighbors."

Mrs. Poarch expects to have plenty of company during storms since she has been receiving calls, inquiring if the cellar is completed, every time a cloud comes up. She is happy to announce that it is virtually complete now.

"Many people are lowering the costs by doing such things as making their own excavations," J. C. Crawford of Lubbock Interlocking Tile company, said, "and calling in a contractor only for the work they are unable to do themselves."

One citizen told contractor G. F. Hill, of 710 Twenty-sixth, that a mere storm-proof cellar was not good enough. He wanted, and got, a bomb-proof cellar, safe from anything except a direct hit with a large caliber bomb telephone service from a thunderstorm there. Only emergency long distance calls were being accepted there late last night after damage to lines in that section. Power service here also was interrupted several times during the storm.

Power Disrupted Here

The violent thunderstorm activity was not confined to the South Plains alone.

Hail so heavy it cracked an airliner's windshields pounded the Guadalupe pass section Wednesday night as thunderstorms boomed and strong winds blew at a number of West Texas points in that area, the Associated Press reported.

Residences, hotels and business houses served by the Southwestern Public Service company in Lubbock, Plainview and other smaller South Plains towns were without lights for periods up to half an hour last night, after lightening struck a 115-volt transformer bank about 7:35 p.m. at the company's Tuco station, north of Abernathy.

Emergency Lighting Called

The chief engineer at the station said that company personnel were checking switches and other phases of the system at midnight last night. A complete picture of the situation, he said, would not be available until those checks were completed.

Power was restored in Lubbock at 8 p.m., he said, and at Plainview about five minutes earlier.

West Texas hospital, with two obstetric cases in the delivery room and another operation in progress, called on the Lubbock Fire department for emergency lighting during the 25-minute period the lights were out. However, power was restored before the emergency measures could be put into operation.

Other hospitals in the city reported no power failure.

A trash fire which firemen said was at the north edge of the city on North Avenue V cast a weird red glow against the thunderclouds during the storm activity in Lubbock, causing numerous calls inquiring if something had been struck by lightning or caught fire from the storm itself.

The City of Lubbock Light plant said at midnight that there was no indication that power had failed anywhere on their lines.

Slaton Gets Heavy Rain

A telephone survey conducted last night over South Plains by The Morning Avalanche revealed:

Slaton received an estimated one to one and one-half inches of rain in a sudder downpour which began about 7:30 p.m. Wednesday and lasted until about 9 p.m. No damage from the hard rain was reported, however. There was no hail. Wind velocity last night was about normal, it was reported.

In the Wilson area, an observer reported a severe electrical storm last night with high winds and dust. About .50 inch of rain fell in and near Wilson, although a cloud to the west and north of that community "looked pretty bad," it was reported. No damage or injuries had been reported late last night.

Heavy rains were reported in the New Home area in northern Lynn county. The Texas Highway patrol said last night that water was running across roads in that area, indicative of heavy rains.

Lamesa Has Storm

At Tahoka, rainfall of a quarter inch was reported. There were unconfirmed reports of hail east of Tahoka, but no damage had been reported late last night. A similar amount fell at O'Donnell it was reported.

A violent thunderstorm was reported at Lamesa between 8:15 and 9:30 p.m., with between .25 and .50 inch of rain falling. No hail was reported. High winds prevailed for awhile, it was said, but no damage was known. Long distance telephone circuits were affected, however, and for awhile last night, only emergency calls were being put through.

In the western section of the South Plains, Seagraves reported rainfall totalling approximately one-half inch which fell between 7:30 and 8:30 p.m. An observer there said no hail had fallen, and no high winds blew.

Morton had dust, "a terrific amount of wind, and a light shower" last night, Mrs. Anne England, of the Morton Tribune reported. No wind damage had been reported in that vicinity late last night, however.

Towns Receive Dust

Littlefield and Levelland reported little or no rain and no extraordinarily high winds last night. Light rainfall at Levelland was estimated at a tenth of an inch.

Brownfield had dust, followed by a light shower which fell about 7:30 p.m., lasting until about 8 p.m. No hail was reported.

A mere sprinkle fell Wednesday night at Muleshoe. No high winds, not much dust, and no hail were reported.

Although Plainview received no rain Wednesday night, Hale Center, a few miles south, reported a quarter-inch, accompanied by a "brisker-than-average" wind. It was said that some hail fell southwest of town.

Showers Are Reported

It was reported that Abernathy received between a half and three-fourths of an inch of rain last night.

Floydada, Lockney and Matador received no rain. Idalou had between one-fourth and one-half inch, it was reported there. Ralls and Crosbyton received less than a quarter-inch, according to reports of residents in each town. A light hail was reported in Ralls. It was thought to have done no damage, however.

Post had a light shower. No high winds were reported.

Denver City received about one inch of rain last night. No hail was reported, and no high winds or damage was known.

Total precipitation for May climbed to 7.80 following last night's storm, the weather station reported. The total for the year now stands at 14.78 inches.

Observers at the station said that while the thundershower was of the "usual Plains type" it was unusually violent in the immediate vicinity of the weather station and for several miles north of Municipal airport.

Forecasters said that thundershower activity probably would continue this afternoon and early tonight, with a letup expected tomorrow. Skies will continue partly cloudy both days ,however.

The mercury climbed to 81 degrees yesterday ,according to official records. A high of 86 is predicted for today with another slight rise foreseen tomorrow.

Thundershower activity at Childress, Midland, Roswell, and Big Spring was reported during the night, the weather station said.

PLANE TURNS BACK AFTER HAIL CRACKS WINDSHIELDS

(By The Associated Press)

Hail so heavy it cracked an airliner's windshields pounded the Guadalupe Pass section Wednesday night as thunderstorms boomed and strong winds blew at a number of West Texas points.

American Airlines said its flight 7, Dallas to Los Angeles, had both windshields cracked and was turned back by hail at 14,000 feet, 30 miles south of Guadalupe Pass. The plane returned to Dallas.

Strong winds whipped dust through Odessa and the neighboring towns of Notrees, Goldsmith and Kermit. Then crackling thunderstorms dumped rain to settle the dust, Notrees also had some hail.

Refugio Hit

Thunderstorms and rain also were reported at Midland, Wink, Lubbock, Childress, Big Spring and Wichita Falls. El Paso reported dust and lightning.

American Airlines said the hail that cracked its plane's windshields also did some damage to the cowling. A substitute plane was loaded at Dallas to make another try at the flight to Los Angeles.

Meanwhile, Refugio, in deep South Texas, cleaned up the damage after a freak windstorm hit its northwest section Tuesday night.

The wind struck about 7:30 p. m. during a torrential rain and hailstorm.

Some water and gas mains were broken by the storm and houses damaged.

Berlin Rail Workers Reject Peace Move

BERLIN, May 25 (AP) — Striking West Berlin railway men rejected tonight a peace bid from the Russian-supervised German railway system which met only one of their three demands, payment of wages in West marks.

The strikers announced they would continue the five-day-old strike, in which two Germans have been killed and hundreds injured.

The British military government charged tonight the Russians are "seriously dislocating" rail traffic between Berlin and western Germany and called on Soviet authorities to accede to the strikers' demands.

In the 24-hour period up to 6 p.m. (10 a.m. CST) only two Allied trains arrived in the western sectors, the British said.

The rail system's president, Willy Kriekemeyer, made the offer to pay the men in West marks. These are worth about four times as much as the East marks with which the system had been meeting its payroll throughout this divided city.

Nationalist Retreat

Soochow creek, which flows into the Whangpoo after bisecting the city, that a few hundred determined Nationalist rearguards held the bridges.

There are three main bridges on the best routes from downtown Shanghai to the northern front. All three of these were manned by Nationalist machinegunners.

When it became apparent they couldn't take the bridges without heavy casualties the Reds brought up mortars. The smashed nearly every window in the postoffice, but still the Nationalists held out.

Other Nationalist rearguards near the building, however, seemed to be getting ready to retreat.

Bullets whistled down the Bund past the American and British consulates.

There even was the crackle of small arms fire in the old international settlement downtown. Here other Red mop-up squads went after small bands of Nationalist still holed up in buildings.

DALLAS, May 25. (AP)—Reports showed today that 17 Texas counties reached and exceeded quotas by the end of the first week in the opportunity drive for sale of Series E U.S. savings bonds.

Nathan Adams of Dallas, state savings bonds chairman, said sales for the state through May 21 were $19,400,304, or 52 per cent of the state quota of $36,950,000.

Counties already over the top are: Andrews, Bailey, Blanco, Cass, Coke, Dawson, Ector, Goliad, Hall, Irion, Kimble, Lampasas, Mills, Montgomery, Newton, Scurry and Stephens.

One Air Force Crewman Killed In B-29 Mishap In New Mexico

EL PASO, May 25. (AP)—A blazing, abandoned B-29 bomber crashed about 50 miles northeast of here in New Mexico this afternoon. One crew member was found dead by air rescue crews searching the desert tonight.

The Air Force earlier had said it believed all of the nine-man crew had bailed out safely. They were ordered to quit the plant after it got out of control.

The Air Force did not say whether the man found dead was killed when he jumped or whether he failed to get out of the crew members would be released some time after midnight.

One flier, found in the desert with a broken leg, was flown to William Beaumont General hospi-

NEW PROGRESS MADE IN TESTS

U.S. Now Able To Build Strong Fleet Of Supersonic War Planes

By LEON SHLOSS
INS Staff Correspondent

LANGLEY AIR FORCE BASE, Va., May 25 — The United States was revealed today to be able to build a powerful fleet of supersonic warplanes quickly enough to meet an emergency if money and manpower is available for an "all-out" effort.

It was learned that the U. S., starting from scratch two years ago, has gained and tested enough scientific knowledge about flight above the speed of sound to produce such a supersonic Air Force in a matter of months.

This monumental achievement was disclosed during the biennial inspectioin of the Langley aeronautical laboratory of the National Advisory committee for aeronautics the past weekend.

NACA, which supervises all U.S. aviation research, opened its closely-guarded laboratories to a small group of congressional, military, and industrial leaders for the first time in two years.

After the day-long inspection, John Stack, NACA's assistant research director who designed the first supersonic plane, told newsmen that "the information is available" to throw a huge supersonic air force into combat quickly.

Faster Speeds Seen

Stack, who won the Collier trophy for his work on the supersonic X-1, said:

"We have carried a special research airplane (the X-1) through the sonic barrier. We have not entirely met our very high standards for a supersonic combat plane, but we are at the edge of tactical satisfaction."

The X-1 made its historic first flight faster than sound in 1947, but it was not disclosed for a year. The plane was the first in a series of research craft each designed for higher speed.

Six more of these planes have been identified but it was learned there are still nine additional craft to come. It was also learned that NACA is aiming for an eventual top speed of 1,900 miles an hour—two and one-half times sound-speed.

New Steps Made

Several important scientific disclosures were made during the laboratory inspection, including:

1. Existence of a new wind tunnel capable of providing reliable test data at speeds from 600 to 1,000 miles an hour.

2. Information that swept-back wings facilitate high speed flight up to 1,500 MPH, at which point the sweepback must be so severe (up to 60 degrees) that dangerous landing characteristics develop.

3. Data showing that past 1,500 MPH a straight, knife-thin wing is most feasible. The turbulence which so buffets a straight wing below that speed as to make sweepback imperative is greatly reduced above 1,500 MPH.

4. Plan to "bleed off" the boundary air layer which "drags" on a plane by suction through a porous wing material.

NACA has 7,000 scientists working in its three laboratories—one each in Cleveland and Sunnyvale, Calif., in addition to Langley—and at test stations at Muroc, Calif., and Wallops Island, Md.

At Wallops, NACA is testing rockets in a search for guided missile information. Much of the testing concerns means of guiding these missiles accurately to a target, prime problem confronting the U. S. in the field.

Auto Industry Tops 1948 Car Production; Truck Output Lags

By DAVID J. WILKIE
Associated Press Staff Writer

DETROIT, May 25—Despite recurring assembly line interruptions the car industry still is well ahead of last year in passenger car output.

Not so good is the showing in truck production.

So far this year the passenger car lines have turned out nearly 1,800,000 vehicles. At this date a year ago 1948 production of cars stood at 1,425,000.

Truck assemblies so far this year number slightly more than 502,000. In the comparable period of 1948 the factories built 575,000 units.

Demand Leads Output

The figures pretty well reflect what is happening to the motorcar industry's business outlook. Passenger car output, especially in the lower priced brackets, still doesn't match demand. The backlog in truck orders has been pretty well wiped out excepting in the lower weight classes.

Last year 1,363,856 trucks were built. This was the highest total the industry ever has reached in truck production. This year most industry sources are predicting the total commercial vehicle output may not exceed 1,000,000 units. Aside from the fact domestic demand has leveled off, they attribute a sizable part of the decline to export difficulties.

The vehicle makers say there still is a tremendous need abroad for American-made commercial units, but a shortage of dollars with which to pay for them.

Rita, Prince Aly To Visit London, Paris

CANNES, May 25. (INS)—Rita Hayworth said today that she and Aly Khan will spend their honeymoon in London and Paris after their marriage on Friday.

The prince and Princess Aly Khan will leave a few days after their marriage for Paris where they will stay until June 2 then go to London for the Derby.

The prince is racing one of his horses, "Iran," under his colors at the Derby June 4 while his father, the Aga Khan is racing "Hindustan."

'Hindustan' Given Edge

Of the two horses, the prince believes his father's has the best chance of winning.

One of Aly's wedding gifts to his bride is a racing stable of thoroughbreds which she will race under her own colors, red and green, along with the famous horses of her husband and father-in-law.

Rita said at luncheon that she doesn't want to resume picture making until November but she does want to resume her career.

Rita said that contrary to published reports she has not been asked by her boss, Harry Cohn of Columbia, to play the lead in the movie of "Born Yesterday."

She also said that even if Director Charles Vidor—who will attend the wedding—brings her an offer to play in the story of a "Dumb Blonde," she doesn't think she will accept it. Rita said she doesn't feel the part is right for her.

FPC Official Opposes Natural Gas Proposal

WASHINGTON, May 25. (AP)—A federal power commissioner says gas bills probably will go up—and so will producers' incomes—if Congress passes a bill under study.

Commissioner Leland S. Olds said yesterday he voiced the views of three of the five FPC members. He testified. before a Senate Commerce subcommittee.

He opposed a bill by Senators Kerr and Elmer Thomas, Oklahoma Democrats. It would bar the commission from regulating production and gathering of gas, and sale to interstate pipelines, by independent operators.

Price Increases Cited

The FPC, under present laws has protected consumers from excessive prices, Olds said.

Since federal regulation was started ten years ago, there have been substantial increases in field prices for gas, he said. He added that escalator clauses in purchase contracts may result in "unjust and unreasonable rates to consumers if subject to no restraint.

"The bill under consideration would . . . benefit primarily large enterprises," Olds said. "The public intreest will not be served if all regulatory controls over big producers are removed so that they cannot be exercised if such producers are found to be actually or potentially in a position of domination with respect to production of natural gas."

$101,000 Damage Suit Filed Against Four Texas City Plants

GALVESTON, May 25 (U.P.) — A $101,000 damage suit against four Texas City plants was filed here today as an aftermath of the highway blast last Oct. 18 that killed seven persons.

Mrs. Ora Mae Gilliam of Houston named the Stone Oil company, Republic Oil Refining company, Monsanto Chemical company and Pan-American Refining Corp. as defendants, claiming "negligence" allowed a cloud of propane gas to drift over the highway and ignite, trapping her husband and 14 carloads of motorists in the white heat.

Cecil Gilliam, 42, was one of the victims who received fatal burns. Mrs. Gilliam asked damages for her four children, her mother-in-law, and Gilliam's 26-year-old son.

The other student, Thurman, was in serious condition today with a concussion. Warren was running to enter the school.

GAINES PROSPECTS RENEWED

Andrews County Wildcat Will Seek Production In New Zone

Magnolia Petroleum company No. 18-B Cowden, southwest Andrews wildcat discovery for production from the Devonian and from the Fusselman section of the Silurian, is to test further in the top of the Fusselman.

This venture, located two miles east and slightly south of the Dollarhide multi-pay field, and 660 feet from north and east lines of section 12, block A-55, psl survey, flowed 31 barrels of oil during four hours from perforated section in the lower Fusselman at 11,056-82 feet.

In a previous 15-hour period of flowing through a three-inch choke, the new field opener flowed 99 barrels of new oil from the 11,056-82 foot interval.

More Tests Planned

Gas-oil ratio was 568-1 and gravity was 41.9 degrees. That test was made after the perforated zone had been washed with 500 gallons of mud acid.

It is understood that operator is now preparing to test a perforated section in the top of the Fusselman between 11,000 feet at 11,026 feet. That zone indicated possibility of production when it was drilled through.

The Devonian above the Fusselman had better indications of commercial production when drilled through than were developed in the Fusselman. It is expected that operator will test that zone through casing perforations as soon as the full petroleum yielding ability of the Fusselman has been determined.

Prospects Renewed

Prospects of oil pay in the northwest Gaines county Devonian have been renewed at Pacific Western Oil corporation No. 1 Oil Development company fee, deep wildcat between the Seminole and Russell fields.

After indicating good porosity and staining in cores of the Devonian, the venture set 5½-inch casing at 11,490 feet and drillstem tested the open hole to 11,571 feet. With tool open one hour, recovery was 7,930 feet of sulphur water.

Operator then tested water shutoff and found a considerable section of pipe had not been cemented. Source of the water was located above the prospective pay zone.

On last report, the project was preparing to cement pipe and shut off water. Plug is to be drilled for another test of the formation. There is a good possibility of the section making oil when it is cleaned up, according to operator representatives.

Test To Be Run

Location is 660 feet from south and east lines of section 315, block G, CCSD&RGNG survey.

Seaboard Oil company of Delaware No. 1 Clayton & Johnson, approximately six miles north and a little west of Gail, and in northwest Borden county, was bottomed at 6,188 feet in lime, and was preparing to run a drillstem test.

This wildcat located 660 feet from south and west lines of section 37, block 31, TP survey, T-6-N, logged scattered oil shows in drilling through the zone between 6,080-6,168 feet

The horizon which is to be tested is the Spraydberry section of the lower Permian, which some geologists say is similar to the Clear Fork of the Permian in the Fullerton field of northwest Andrews county.

No Oil, Gash Show

Sinclair Prairie Oil company No. 1 Sterling Williams, northwest Borden county deep wildcat, 11 miles northwest of Gail, and 660 feet from north and east lines of section 45, block 32, EL&RR survey, T-6-N, was drilling past 9,795 feet in Pennsylvanian lime.

The venture drillstem tested at 9,720-52 feet. The tester was open one hour and 45 minutes. Recovery was the 1,060 foot water blanket and 60 feet of drilling mud, with no shows o foil, gas or formation water.

Canyon Pennsylvanian production has come in for the third exploration in the Sharon Ridge-Canyon field of southwest Scurry county.

Gas, Oil Reported

It is Humbel Oil & Refining company No. 1-P Walker Huddleston, 660 feet from north and west lines of section 161, block 97, H&TC survey, 13 miles southwest of Snyder.

The prospector drillstem tested for one hour and 30 minutes in the Canyon at 6,700-6,725 feet, showing gas in three minutes and oil in seven minutes. After flowing to pits 26 minutes the flow was

Senate Okays Youth Development Council

Change In State Schools Is Set

By GARTH JONES
Associated Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, May 25. —The Senate today approved a plan which would put Texas in the business of preventing and curing juvenile delinquency.

The House spent most of the morning debating the creation of a committee to recodify insurance laws but took no final action. Pending business in the House's afternoon session was a bill setting up financial responsibility of drivers involved in automobile accidents.

The Senate recessed until tomorrow morning after passing a House bill creating a state youth development council. The bill goes back to the House for approval of Senate amendments.

Would Go Before Council

Under the bill, delinquent children would be committed to the council rather than directly to one of the state correctional institutions. Qualified psychiatrists and medical authorities would examine the child and prescribe corrective measures for full rehabilitation to a normal social status. The council also would carry on a continuing study of child needs.

The bill, by Rep. Pearce Johnson and Senator R. L. Proffer, was recommended by the Texas Training School Code commission and fully supported by the governor.

A Senate amendment today reduced the membership of the council from 16 to 14 members. Eight members are state officials whose duties touch on child life and six are appointed by the governor.

Another amendment removed five state correctional schools from the administration of the State Board of Control and placed them under the proposed council. They were the Gainesville school for girls, the Gatesville school for boys, the State orphans homes at Waco and Corsicana, and the Brady school for negro girls.

The Senate made no move toward taking up the eleemosynary appropriation bill— the last of the four big money bills to be considered before the legislature adjourns.

Senate and House sessions cut short this morning by a joint session from the unveiling of a portrait of Ezekiel W. Cullen, one of the founders of the Texas public school system.

Rep. Phil Willis of Kaufman introduced a bill in the House to remit $35,000 a year in state ad valorem taxes for flood control in Kaufman county. He said the money was needed in rebuilding the hard-hit Rosser area where 11,600 acres of fertile farm land were flooded last week by the Trinity river.

The proposal is to be voted on at the polls Sept. 24.

SENATE WOULD BE SURPRISED—Vice President Alben Barkley hefts a 20-pound "Paul Bunyon" gavel but Sen. Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn), left, told him he could not keep it to use in presiding over the Senate. Barkley autographed it for return to the Bemidji, Minn., Chamber of Commerce. Humphrey then gave him the normal sized gavel, made in the workshop of Bemidji State Teachers college. Bemidji claims its area was the main stamping grounds for the legendary lumberjack, Paul Bunyan. (AP Wirephoto.)

DRAINAGE CLAIMED IMPAIRED

Tech Terrace Addition Group Files Suit On 'Park Filling'

Carl E. Maxey went into 99th district court Wednesday to seek injunctive relief against J. E. Maisen, on behalf of himself and all other owners of lands and premises in Tech Terrace addition in southwest Lubbock.

In the so-called "class suit" filed for Maxey by William H. Evans of the law firm of Klett, Bean, Evans and Justice, the plaintiff pleaded that Maisen platted the addition and had allegedly dedicated the center of it as a park and drainage area. But, it was pleaded, Maisen recently commenced "a course of conduct inconsistent with the dedication and in derogation of the rights of all parties owning properties (there) . . ."

The suit charged that Maisen "has unloaded debris, fill and clay into (the) basin to the extent that the level . . . and the capacity of the same to hold temporary waters has been greatly lessened . . . His acts . . . do and will constitute a continuous hazard to the property of the plantiff and a nuisance to the property of the plaintiff and should be abated."

Specifically, the suit claimed that the direct and proximate result of the fill was that recent rainwaters accumulating in the basin overflowed and damaged a well in Maxey's yard, to his damage of more than $1,000.

"Further fill will endanger plaintiff's house and furniture and the probable damage is incapable of accurate estimate and is a hazard of a continuous nature unless abated . . ."

The petition levels a charge that Maisen's purpose in filling the lake is to appropriate the property to his private use for the erection of dwelling houses.

Demos Agree To ERP Slash

WASHINGTON, May 25. (INS)— House Democratic leaders announced today a "compromise" on foreign aid funds which would permit restoration next year of the $779,730,000 cut made by the Appropriations committee.

The compromise, an acknowledged setback for the economy movement in Congress, was reached as the House prepared to call up the huge $5,542,270,000 measure Thursday for passage.

Democratic chiefs said that Republican economy leaders have agreed to the arrangement, which covers funds for the European Recovery program, occupational areas and Greece and Turkey.

Under the plan, the smaller sum could be spent in 13½ months instead of 15 months. The President had requested $6,322,200,000 for 15 months.

With a speed-up permitted on spending the reduced total, Democratic leaders said they would accept the cut. Thus there will be no contest when the bill comes up Thursday.

HST Given 'Leeway'

However, it would also allow him to spend the full amount in the shorter time, and ask Congress next year for a deficiency appropriation to run the foreign aid programs until July 1, the end of the fiscal year.

This is what happened last year. Congress provided five billion dollars to operate the European Recovery program from April, 1948, until July, 1949. But it gave the President the privilege of spending it by April, 1949.

This was done. And the bill now under consideration in the House contains a deficiency appropriation to operate the Marshall plan from April until July of this year.

The Reconstruction Finance corporation has advanced a billion dollars to operate the program from April until July. The money measure will reimburse the REC.

Striking Hawaiian Stevedores Are Urged To Return To Work

WASHINGTON May 25 (INS) — Federal mediation director Cyrus S. Ching recommended today that striking stevedores in Hawaii return to work.

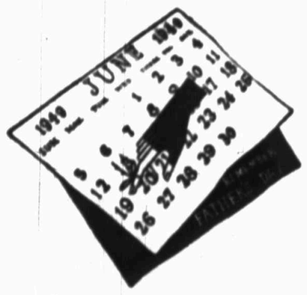

The three week old strike has tied up shipping operations to the islands.

Ching recommended to mediation and conciliation service men in Hawaii that the strike be ended and a "board of qualified and outstanding citizens" appointed to resolve disputed issues.

WOMAN SHOT TO DEATH

CARTHAGE, May 25. (AP)—A young Carthage housewife was found shot to death today and Panola County Attorney N. M. Holt said it was "obviously a case of murder." A man was arrested for questioning. The victim was Mrs. Lorraine Prince, 28. Neighbors found her body sprawled on a bed in her home.

ROUTINE JOB FOR PILOTS

Berlin Air Lift Continues In Same Old Methodical Pattern

By BOB CONSIDINE
INS Staff Correspondent

FRANKFURT, May 25 — Flew to Frankfurt from Berlin on the air lift and it's quite an operation —one that many pilots seem to resent (especially those who fought against the Luftwaffe) but recognize as an important training device for what they almost unanimously feel is the impending war against Russia.

It was a C-54, dirty with the spilled cement it has been carrying for a long time. It was Lt. Kip Adler's 190th trip over the Russian held territory in Frankfurt. The land was pretty familiar to him. He had come up that way in a P-51 Mustang during the war, on the raids on Berlin, and before that he had flown with the Eagle squadron of the RAF—as his British wings and decorations attest.

Takes Too Much Time

At Templehof he had gone through a ritual which has become daily work to many American pilots. He landed his 20,000 pounds of cement on the long runway, taxied over to the side and watched the big Army truck, manned by Germans, back up and start to unload the stuff. When there was room enough for him to get back through the fuselage of the plane, he walked back, climbed down a rickety ladder and walked over to the truck that brought out hamburgers, coffee, cokes and doughnuts.

"I always get cement," he said, while he waited. "Coal's the best. The Krauts can unload ten tons of it in as little as seven and a half minutes. Sometimes the cement, for some reason, takes twenty seven, twenty eight minutes."

The Germans handed off the last of the sacks of cement and drove off morosely. My bag and typewriter were tossed into the big doors of the ship and, otherwise empty, we joggled down the taxi strip to take our place in line.

No Ceremony To Flights

There isn't any ceremony to the druggery of 'Operation Vittles.' Col. Dwight Bridges, veteran of the CBI theatre, who was along for the ride and a look-see at the incredible sky train, called off the bewildering list of things a pilot must attend to before taking off in a C-54, and we bumped into the air.

Kip didn't even look at the ruins of Berlin below him. We drummed out over the Russian zone, keeping to the narrow corridor allotted our fliers. A Russian plane crossed over in front of us, perhaps ten miles ahead. Another seemed to follow us, low, on the starboard side. Kip kept flying.

"Their best stuff is kept down there," he said after a while, pointing down at a Red Air Force fighter base where perhaps 80 Yaks stood in line, as if ready to take off, and three more were taking off in formation.

Fly Near Soviets

"Pretty good ship, the Yak," he commented. "About like one of our early '51's. I haven't seen much of their jet stuff . . . Just a glimpse at one type. Must be quite good, from all I read. We'll pass over three active fields on the way to Frankfurt. There are five of them on the way up to Berlin, and they're lengthening one runway at Dessau to 9,000 feet. Maybe they've got some new heavy stuff."

We saw the bone-white autobahn winding its way through the flat country, its lanes filled with trucks carrying the stuff on which 2½ million Berliners are living from day to day. And then we passed over a clear spot in the forest, like a 20-mile long football field.

"That was an old German artillery range," Kip said. "The Russians are using it now. In the early days they used to take a shot or two at us, for the hell of it, or something. But they've been quiet for a long time."

He handed me a slip of paper and a hand mike and said, "read this." I said, into the mike, following the script, "attention all big Willies . . . Big Willie twenty four . . . two four . . . over Brunswick at seventy five hundred . . . cruising . . . victory (visual) Fox (flight) Roger (rules)."

"Thanks," he said. The ship shook a little as if from ten thousand little lashes and ice formed on the windshields, but he paid no mind. "You might get a good story if we lose an engine and have to land down there."

We came into Rhine-Main like a feather, a line of lift planes standing at one side waiting for a whack at the runway, and slogged back through the cement on the floor of the plane. There was a jeep there.

"I think I've got time to buy you a drink at the finest officers' club in the theatre," Kip said, looking at his watch. A truck was already backing up to the plane, and Germans, sleeping on its cargo, were coming to consciousness and going to work.

Kip looked at the load. "Hmmm," he said, "things are picking up. I get flour."

TRUMAN PAYS LAST TRIBUTE

Military Rites For Forrestal Are Held At National Cemetery

By ELTON C. FAY
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, May 25.—A great state funeral and burial in the national military cemetery ended today the tragic story of James Forrestal.

Gathered in the amphitheater at Arlington to pay last tribute were President Truman and his official family, the nation's military commanders and friends of the former financier who became the country's first secretary of defense.

Bishop Reads Services

In a bronze casket, with a cool morning breeze ruffling the edges of a flag draped over it, lay the 57-year old "little gray man" who, his mind crushed by overwhelming burdens, killed himself last Sunday in a leap from a high window of Bethesda, Md., naval hospital.

The Right Rev. Wallace E. Conkling, bishop of the Episcopal diocese of Chicago and an old friend of the Forrestal family, read the services.

Forrestal, who left behind him the words of a Greek poem expressing hope for eternal sleep, the bishop read from I Corinthians:

"Behold, I show you a mystery; we shall not all sleep, but we shall all be changed, in a moment, in the twinkling of an eye, at the last trumpet; for the trumpet shall sound, and the dead shall be raised incorruptible, and we shall be changed."

Battery Sounds Salute

A gun caisson, drawn by six grey horses, carried Forrestal the last half mile up the hill from the cemetery gate to the amphitheater. A saluting battery, concealed in a little valley, counted off the minutes as the cortege climbed to the funeral place—19 guns thudding distantly in the clear morning air.

Ambassadors and ministers of the diplomatic corps, in their sober dress, stood and doffed tall silk hats as the cortege arrived. Brilliant sunlight picked out the gleaming stars and braid of generals and admirals as they shapped their hands to cap brims in final salute to their former chief.

Family Bids Farewell

When the government had finished with its formal tribute, the caisson took the casket again, bearing it back down the hill to a spot in a grove of oaks where the grave stood ready.

There the family — Mrs. Forrestal, the sons Peter and Michael, the brother Henry, a few intimate friends—bade their farewell.

A Marine squad fired the volley. A Marine corps bugler sounded taps. And from a distance came the haunting, sorrowing notes of the "Echo Taps," played by another bugler out of sight beyond the knoll.

Placed temporarily on the grave was a simple wooden marker. Its inscription, for a man who was financier and cabinet officer and a world-known figure, said only:

"James Forrestal

"Lieutenant, U.S.N."

Those few words spanned the years back to his first service for government, a lieutenant in the Navy in World War I.

Flier Killed In Oklahoma Crash Identified As Aviation Cadet

SHERMAN, May 25 (U.P.) — Perrin field today logged its third death from plane crashes since the field was reactivated April 1, 1948.

Col. Chester P. Gilger, Perrin field commander, last night identified a flier killed in a crash in south-central Oklahoma Monday night as Aviation Cadet Gerald L. Fluhrer of Canoga Park, Calif.

Fluhrer and First Lt. Jack A. Shuler, a Perrin field flight instructor, were killed in separate crashes when their mass flight encountered bad weather.

Shuler's plane crashed near Fittstown in the Ada, Okla., vicinity as he searched for Fluhrer's craft, which had failed to appear at a rendezvous point for the return to Perrin field.

Gilger said both planes were T-6's, single-engine planes assigned to a routine training mission.

He said the field had logged 67,000 hours flying time, equivalent to 100,060 miles.

Orange Free State, South Africa, had a second drought on the heels of its first.

Cotton Tops Textile Fibers Used In 1948

WASHINGTON, May 25. (AP)—While losing some ground to synthetic competitors, cotton still led the list of textile fibers used in this country last year.

An Agricultural department survey showed today that cotton supplied 57.4 percent of the nation's textile needs in 1948. This compared with 58.4 in 1947, 65.8 percent in the 1940-44 period and 60.6 percent in the 1935-39 prewar period.

Rayon was second with a record consumption, it supplied 14.9 percent of the fiber requirements.

Other fibers helped supply textile demands as follows: wool 10 percent, the same as in 1947; Jute 10.3 percent; hard fibers such as sisal and manila hemp 6 percent; flax 0.2 percent; and synthetic fibers other than rayon one percent.

GOP Leaders Map Economy Drive Plans

By H. K. REYNOLDS
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, May 25 — Plans for a new economy drive, with a balanced federal budget in 1950 as the main objective, were announced tonight by Republican leaders of the Senate.

The Senate Republican policy committee agreed to continue its efforts to hold down federal spending.

It also said it would sponsor legislation to require an overall reduction in government expenditures in the 1949-50 fiscal year.

To Offer Resolution

Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) GOP policy leader, declared:

"We have agreed to support any practical plan which has some promise of success."

The Republicans said that tomorrow or early next week they will introduce a resolution to "direct and authorize" President Truman to cut expenditures next year in sufficient amounts to assure that the budget will be balanced without additional taxation.

The Republican resolution will provide that all expenditures during the next fiscal year be reduced from five to ten percent, with a ceiling of 20 percent on any single item.

It will be offered by Sen. Wherry (R-Neb) minority floor leader, and Sen Bridges (R-NH), ranking minority member of the Senate Appropriations committee.

Bridges, who is drafting the resolution, declared:

"The objective is to balance the budget, and a formula will be provided which would enable the President to do just that."

The proposed procedure would be for the President to impound and return to the treasury whatever moneys are saved in carrying out the budget balancing operation, and he would be required to certify to Congress the various steps taken.

Bridges said the plan was to handle the resolution as separate legislation and not as a rider on an appropriation bill, so that the issue would be presented squarely to the White House once the approval of Congress had been won.

Amendments Okayed

In the event that Congress refused to go along with this Republican proposal, Bridges said the Republicans would support an appropriation rider at the end of the session for the recession of about five percent of total appropriations.

Taft said it was agreed that individuals should be free to offfer amendments to appropriations bill for cuts in the neighborhood of five percent, and that other Republicans would "do the best they can to support them."

At the same time, Taft said great emphasis would be placed at once on the Bridges plan for an over-all method of reducing next year's expenditures.

Both Taft and Bridges indicated that Republican economy efforts might be dove-tailed later with other schemes offered by Sen. Tydings (D-Md.), and Russell (D-Ga.), who have suggested elaborate formulas for recession, to be acted on at the end of the session.

Brazil air freight movement and truck freight are zooming, at the expense of rail and water transportation, Rio de Janeiro reports.

Residence Here Damaged By Fire

If the gas had been turned off everything would have been all right, city firemen said.

They explained that one family was moving out of a residence at 405 Eighteenth at 8:30 a.m. Wednesday and another moving in.

One kitchen range was disconnected so that another could be slipped in to replace it.

The gas caught fire in the line next a baseboard in the kitchen, burned the wall and scorched the ceiling.

Chief On The Ball

Firemen said Chief W. E. Twitty's propensity for making gadgets "paid off again Tuesday night."

Assistant Chief Glenn Smith and Rufus Brewer got a call to go to 2403 Seventh and cut a ring off a finger of Calvin Bessent, 15-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. V. C. Bessent.

The youth had begun to feel acute discomfort. He had placed the ring on his finger about 3:30 p. m. The finger had swollen so much by 10:30 p. m. that all efforts to remove the ring by use of vaseline and soap failed.

Gadget Described

But the fire chief several weeks ago had "foreseen such an emergency" and had "dreamed up" an ingenious light tool that quickly would saw rings off fingers with a few turns of a handle. Composed principally of a ginsaw file that turns against the ring to be removed, the gadget will not injure the finger. A protecting shield slips under the ring and protects the finger.

Mrs. Bessent said she called a hospital and the hospital said it had no tools for that type of "operation."

"The fire department got two men out here as fast as if I'd had a fire," Mrs. Bessent said. "We were getting frantic by that time. The boy's finger was in pretty bad shape—all black and blue, but it'll be all right now."

Bunche Turns Down Post In Capital

WASHINGTON, May 25. (AP)—Dr. Ralph J. Bunche, negro acting U.N. mediator for Palestine, today declined an offer from President Truman of appointment as an Assistant Secretary of State.

Bunche told reporters on leaving the White House after a talk with Mr. Truman that he had turned down the offer.

He said he wanted to continue his work with the United Nations, and also was concerned about the high cost of living in Washington and the salary cut that taking the post would mean.

Simplicity is the keynote of the film version of John Steinbeck's widely known story about a sensitive boy and his attachment to the red pony. A character study for the entire family, "The Red Pony" is in close pattern with the series of successful films about horses and dogs—the "Lassie" group and those like "Smoky" and "Green Grass of Wyoming"—and so it is that we turn to them for comparison.

Methodists Open Area Conference

AMARILLO, May 25. (AP)—Dr. J. O. Haymes reported today more than 9,000 new members joined the Methodist church in Northwest Texas during the past fiscal year.

Doctor Haymes, Lubbock district superintendent, reported for the nine districts of the Northwest Texas Methodist conference. The conference opened its 40th annual session today.

Bishop Addresses Group

Doctor Haymes said the present active membership of the conference is 72,175. There is an inactive membership of more than 18 percent.

He reported the conference raised $3,534,600 for all purposes during the year and spent $1,870 for buildings and improvements.

Bishop W. C. Martin addressed the conference at its opening session this morning.

Rev. Doyle Ragle, Bible instructor at McMurry college, delivered the sermon.

Ministerial appointments for the coming year will be announced late Sunday afternoon.

Injunction Asked

recorded by Maisen when, in early 1946, the plat subdividing the addition owned by him was shown, there was an area lying in the center of the addition marked as a park area, the petition said.

The addition is bounded on the east by an extension of Jackson avenue, on the south by Twenty-fifth, on the west by Van Buren Ave., on the north by an extension of Twenty-third.

Relief asked:

Injunction Asked

1. A permanent injunction against the defendant and "any persons holding under him" as owners of the legal title to the area marked "park" upon the map of Tech Terrace for the use of the area for any purpose than a park area, including restraining and enjoining the defendant . . . from the filling of the same and the erection of houses thereon or the sale of the property for the purpose of erecting houses thereon or the erecting of any improvements inconsistent with the use of the property as a public park."

2. Mandatory injunction requiring and enjoining Maisen to require him to remove from said drainage and park area all the dirt fill heretofore placed there on, with appropriate writs, orders and process, allowing a reasonable time for removal thereof under injunction of the court."

3. Permanent injunction enjoining and restraining the defendant from "placing any further fill in the lake or otherwise lessening the water carrying capacity of the draining area by placing additional dirt there in at any time and mandatorily enjoining the defendant to retain the size and capacity of the drainage area as it now and heretofore has existed."

Colorado Scientists To 'Bomb' Crickets With Poison Bait

CRAIG, Colo., May 25 (INS) — Colorado entomologists today embarked upon a program to actually "bomb" an invasion of Mormon crickets out of the Zenobia basin area west of Craig.

Gordon Mickle, entomologist for Colorado A. & M. college, said that this is the first heavy infestation since the early 1940's — approximately 25 crickets per square yard. It was feared that the insects might move on to nearby grazing and ranch areas.

Ground surveys of the area were made last week, and Tuesday rolled wheat treated with a chlorinated insecticide was scattered from a C-47 airplane over the area. A second "bombing" run was scheduled for today over the 3,000 acre basin east of the Dinosaur national monument.

Mickle said the poisonous bait will not be harmful to wild life.

Minneapolis Nurse Placed In Mental Hospital After Shooting

MINNEAPOLIS, May 25. (INS)—Authorities today committed to a state mental institution at Rochester a 20-year-old nurse who shot and critically wounded a Cleveland, O., salesman in Minneapolis two weeks ago.

The nurse, Miss Margaret Ann Coverdale, will not be prosecuted for the shooting, according to Assistant County Attorney Otto Mork. The committment order followed psychiatrists' testimony that the young woman was mentally unbalanced.

Victim of the hotel room shooting was Robert Oaks. He is reported recovering.

FREIGHT TRAIN WRECKAGE—These wrecked freight cars are some of the 27 cars of a southbound Santa Fe train which piled up after they were derailed 18 miles west of Denton. None of the five-man crew was injured. Some of the cars were loaded with wheat and mill products, but oil tank cars shown were empty. (AP Photo.)

New Mexico Pastor To Receive Honorary Degree From H-SU

ABILENE, May 25. (AP)—Hardin-Simmons university will confer an honorary Doctor of Divinity degree on Rev. Arthur A. Dulaney of Roswell, N.M., at commencement exercises next Monday.

He is vice president of the New Mexico Department of Public Welfare.

A native of Ben Lomond, Ark., he attended Ouachita college in Arkansas and was graduated with highest honors from Simmons college, later Hardin-Simmons, in the class of 1917.

He later won the George Peabody scholarship in education at the University of Texas, where he earned his master of arts degree.

He has held pastorates in Heber Springs, Dermott and Rogers, Ark.; Carthage, Mo., and at Greenville and Longview in Texas.

Dulaney has served two years as president of the State Mission board of the Baptist Convention of New Mexico.

Preferred dividend of one and one-quarter percent and common dividend of one dollar were declared payable June 30 to stockholders of record June 16.

T&P President W. G. Vollmer received approval to scrap 41 of the company's steam locomotives. They are being replaced with diesels.

Rickenbacker Blasts Air Line Subsidies

WASHINGTON, May 25. (AP)—President Eddie V. Rickenbacker of Eastern Air lines today offered to operate five other big domestic lines without any government subsidy.

He said the offer, if accepted, would have American taxpayers $10,251,000 a year.

Rickenbacker made the proposal in a letter to chairman Edwin C. Johnson (D-Colo) of the Senate Commerce committee, which is currently inquiring into the wobbly financial condition of some of the nation's air carriers.

Rickenbacker testified before the committee yesterday and blasted the present system.

Today the famed World War I ace backed up his criticism.

He named these lines:

National Airlines, Inc.

Delta Airlines, Inc., operating between Dallas-Fort Worth, Atlanta, Charleston, N.C., Chicago and Miami.

Capital Airlines, Inc.

Chicago and Southern Airlines, Inc., operating between Chicago, Detroit, New Orleans, and Houston.

Texas Official Claims Foreign Oil Imports Threaten Security

DALLAS, May 25 (AP)—Texas Railroad Commissioner Ernest O. Thompson advocated today regulation of oil imports under a quota system approved by Congress.

He was one of five witnesses at the opening session of a House Small Business committee panel hearing on effects of petroleum imports on the domestic oil industry and national security.

Thompson's testimony occupied much of the hearing. He told the committee:

Others Also Testify

"It is my opinion that the United States can be well served with oil and petroleum products and all the natural gas that it needs if Congress will assist by setting some sort of quota on imports."

He said such a quota was needed "so producers can go forward with confidence in meeting the challenge that we have oil supply adequate for defense even though foreign oil supply be denied us."

J. P. Coleman, Wichita Falls, Tex., independent; Howard P. Holmes of Dallas, former president of the American association of oil well drilling contractors; Fred Sehman of Wichita Falls, president of the National Stripper Well association, and Bryan W. Payne of Tyler, Tex., president of the East Texas Salt Water Disposal Co., were other witnesses.

Hearings Continue

Rep. Wright Patman (D) of Texarkana Chairmaned the panel. Sitting with him was Rep. E. J. Keogh (D-NY).

The hearings continue tomorrow. Patman said that after additional hearings in Washington the committee's findings will be put before Congress.

Thompson said his concern was mostly for independents and wildcatters. That group has been in front in a fight to curtail oil imports. The Dallas hearings are at the request of the Texas Independent Producers and Royalty Owners association.

The Texas commissioner denied there is an "unholy alliance" between oil producers and states' regulatory bodies to restrict production and keep prices high.

Fears Prospecting Decline

Thompson, wartime consultant to the War department on petroleum problems, said, "I believe we're in agreement everywhere that we would be denied the use of Middle East oil in event of war."

If independent producers at home are "deluged in a flood of foreign oil," Thompson argued, they "will be unable to continue the search for new fields upon which our national security depends" and "we cannot depend upon foreign oil to defend our freedom whether we should fight at home or abroad."

He classified petroleum as a "munition of war of the first rank" and noted that in the two world wars "victory has been on the side with the most oil readily available and at hand where needed."

Patman said the hearing was aimed at determining what congressional action was needed and what effect the import of foreign oil had on the national security and economy and "on small business, in general."

BILL TO PLACE CURBS ON IMPORTS IS BACKED

WASHINGTON, May 25 (Special)—Sen. Tom Connally's office is receiving many telegrams from Texas oil men urging support of an amendment offered by Sen Elmer Thomas (D-Okla) to the Reciprocal Trades Act to place import quotas on oil from overseas.

The Reciprocal Trades Act is on the Senate calendar and is due to be considered at any time now

The Thomas amendment would restrict imports to five percent of domestic demand based on the same quarter of the previous year as compiled by the Bureau of Mines. Exemptions would be on oil imported for manufacturing purposes or for re-exporting.

Bill To Remit Taxes To Kaufman County Introduced In House

AUSTIN, May 25. (AP)—A bill to remit $35,000 a year in state ad valorem taxes for flood control in Kaufman county was introduced in the House today by Rep. Phil Willis of Kaufman.

The remission would be made for two years. Willis said the funds would be particularly helpful in rebuilding the hard-hit Rosser area where 11,600 acres of fertile farm land were inundated by last week's flood.

Labor Board Considers Charges Against AFL Typographical Union

WASHINGTON, May 25. (AP)—After nearly a year's delay the five members of the National Labor Relations board are rapidly getting an earful of the government's Taft-Hartley act charges against the AFL International Typographical union.

But no one can say for sure today whether the board's decisions will come while the Taft-Hartley act is still on the books in its present form. That depends on the board—and Congress.

Unfair labor practice charges were filed against the century-old union of printers in 1947 after Congress enacted the Taft-Hartley law. This law outlawed the closed shop—that is, conditions under which the employer can hire only members of a particular union.

Five Cases Heard

Five major cases were tentatively ruled upon by NLRB trial examiners in 1948, and in all five cases the ITU—the national body—was found guilty of insisting on closed shop conditions. All nine local unions involved in the cases were held guilty of the same violation.

Now those five cases are being argued before the board in relatively quick succession.

Last month oral arguments were presented in the cases brought by the commercial print shops of Baltimore and by a newspaper on Long Island, the Nassau Review-Star.

Yesterday the board heard arguments in the nation-wide newspaper case brought by the American Newspaper Publishers Association (ANPA), and in the Chicago newspaper case.

Union Chief Appears

Tomorrow the fifth and last case will be argued, the case brought by the commercial print shops of six cities—Detroit, Chicago, St. Louis, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, and Newark.

Late yesterday in the Chicago case, Elisha Hanson, who is counsel for the ANPA, told the board:

"There is only one issue to be decided here. That is, how long this one union is going to be able to openly defy this law, and strike against this law, and use us as guinea pigs in their defiance."

The union's lawyer's on the other hand, asked the board to dismiss all charges on the ground that the union is trying only to protect itself from breaking up, and has done nothing illegal.

The ITU president himself, Woodruff Randolph, came forward unexpectedly and closed the union's arguments with a charge that the attorneys for the newspaper publishers and the government had misrepresented the facts.

Randolph said: "I resent exceedingly the continuous misrepresentations heard here today."

New Regency Board Appointed For NTSC

AUSTIN, May 25. (U.P.)—Gov. Beauford Jester today announced the appointment of nine members to the newly - created board of regents for North Texas State college at Denton.

Named were:

James Henry Allison, Wichita Falls, Mrs. E. B. Cartwright, Weatherford, and Ben H. Wooten, Dallas, to six-year terms; Charles I. Francis, Houston, Robert Montgomery, Mexia, and Edward D. Norment, Paris, to four-year terms; and George Eagle, Fort Worth, S. A. Kerr, Conroe, and Charles Robert McCrady, Waxahachie, to two-year terms.

The board was appointed under terms of an act recently passed by the legislature, and the group succeeds the board of regents of state teachers colleges as the governing board of NTSC.

The act changed the name of the Denton school from North Texas State Teachers college to North Texas State college and put it under a separate governing body.

Jester named Wooten as temporary chairman.

Dow Chemical Firm Buys U. S. Magnesium Plant At Freeport

WASHINGTON, May 25 (AP) — Sale of the government's magnesium plant at Freeport, to the Dow Chemical company, Midland, Mich., was announced today by the Federal Works agency.

Administrator Philip B. Fleming said the price was $608,000 but that other benefits and services covered by the transaction would bring total return to the government to $1,987,700.

The sale to the wartime operator of the magnesium plant, Fleming added, would "assure continued production of this essential metal."

Midland Firm To Interview Texas Tech Job Applicants

William H. Crenshaw of the American Inspection company in Midland will be at Texas Tech today to talk with junior and senior students about summer employment in Havana, Cuba.

Mrs. Jean Jenkins, head of the Tech Placement service, said Crenshaw would talk with students about jobs which will last from one to two months this summer. He has specified that all applicants must be in good physical condition.

Students who are interested in an interview should stop by the placement office on the second floor of the Administration building.

Lions Look Forward To Rush On Circus

Members of the Lubbock Lions club, weary after playing host to the two-day District 2-T-1 convention here the past weekend, turned their attention Wednesday to the showing of the Morris Miniature Circus, being exhibited at 1207 Main, which the Lions club is sponsoring.

With the close of schools Wednesday, a rush is expected from children wishing to see the circus during the remainder of the week.

The club's proceeds from the circus' showing here this week will go toward the Girl Scouts camp fund.

The working scale circus model, which required 15 years to build, composed of thousands of items of circus gear that make up the inventory of a circus, was built as a hobby in a basement workshop by W. J. Morris, an Amarillo insurance man and Panhandle wheat farmer.

It is a complete big-time, threering circus with operating railroad train. Moving street parade and other animated features modeled after the old-time circus.

Its seven tents, the big top, menagerie tent, dining tent, stable tent, dressing and side show tent have a section removed from them to permit a complete inside view.

The circus, which is entertaining and educational for young and old alike, was shown at the Tri-State fair in Amarillo, the Minnesota State Fair, the Oklahoma State Fair and the Louisiana State Fair last year.

Survey Shows Rise In U.S. Food Costs

NEW YORK, May 25. (U.P.)—Food commodities advanced on a broad front in the week ended yesterday to lift the Dun & Bradstreet wholesale food index eight cents to $5.74, highest level since April 5.

In announcing that figure today, the statistical firm said the advance was brought about by a gain in 13 of the 31 foods included and not through any wide spurt in any particular one of them.

The all-time high for the index was made on July 13, 1948, at $7.36, and the record low, Jan. 31, 1933, at $1.49. This week's index compares with $5.66 a week ago; $5.67 a month ago; and $6.94 a year ago.

CIO Longshoremen Head Indicted On Conspiracy, Perjury Counts

SAN FRANCISCO, May 25. (AP)—Harry Bridges, head of CIO Longshoremen, was indicted by a federal grand jury today.

The indictment accused him of conspiracy to obstruct and defeat the naturalization laws, and of perjury.

Two other men were indicted with the left-wing longshore leader. They were Henry Schmidt and J. R. Robertson, both officials of the ILWU. Bail was set at $5,000 each.

The three were charged in one count with conspiracy to defraud the United States by obstructing and defeating the proper administration of the naturalization laws, between June and October, 1945.

Perjury Charged

A second count charged Bridges with perjury. It accused him, on Sept. 17, 1945, at his naturalization hearing, of swearing falsely that he was not a member of the Communist party.

A third count charged Schmidt and Robertson with perjury, alleging that they, as witnesses in the hearing, swore falsely, knowing it to be false, that Bridges was not a member of the Communist party.

Schmidt is a member of the Longshore Coast Labor Relations committee. Robertson is first vice president of the ILWU.

An official ILWU statement last night said "the administration" had ordered the indictment of Bridges, adding:

Administration Criticized

"Mr. Bridges has been a severe critic of the failure of the administration to deliver its election promises, being particularly critical at the recent meeting of the national CIO executive board."

Bridges underwent a deportation hearing in 1939. After this two-month session the hearing officer, Dean James M. Landis of the Harvard law school, ruled that the evidence had failed to establish that Bridges was, at that time, a member of or affiliated with the Communist party.

Deportation Urged

A second hearing was held in 1941 before Judge Charles B. Sears of New York. Sears recommended that Bridges be deported on the ground he "has been affiliated" with Communists. However, the U. S. Supreme court in a 5-3 decision held there was no evidence to support this.

Today's indictment hinged on

HARRY BRIDGES

Bridges' naturalization proceedings in 1945. In obtaining naturalization, candidates swear they do not belong and never have belonged to any organization seeking the forceful overthrow of the government.

A person proved to have sworn falsely can have his citizenship cancelled and be deported. Bridges is a native of Australia.

U.S. To Send New Minister To Hungary

WASHINGTON, May 25. (U.P.)—The United States today decided to return a new American minister to Communist-dominated Hungary to succeed former Minister Selden Chapin whose recall was demanded last February.

President Truman nominated Nathaniel P. Davis, veteran foreign service officer and native of Princeton, N.J., to succeed Chapin, returned to the United States on Feb. 12 from his Budapest post. Davis now is U. S. Ambassador to Costa Rica.

Ambassador Recalled

Chapin was brought home by the State department for "consultations" after the Hungarian government demanded his recall on grounds he had conspired with Cardinal Joseph Mindszenty in his alleged efforts to overthrow the Hungarian government. Chapin's resignation was accepted by the President.

Also nominated for diplomatic posts were Joseph Flack of Doylestown, Pa., ambassador to Bolivia, to succeed Davis as envoy to Costa Rica, and George P. Shaw of El Paso, former ambassador to Nicaragua, to be ambassador to El Salvador. He would succeed Albert F. Nufer of New York, who has resigned.

Arrangements Complete For Soil Conservation Dinner In Houston

HOUSTON, May 25 (U.P.) — Arrangements were complete today for a second annual "Save the Soil and Save Texas" dinner, a tribute to conservation-minded farmers throughout the state.

Honor guests at a banquet Thursday night will be the 24 champions who will divide the $13,000 offered by Scripps-Howard newspapers for soil conservation work in 1948.

The Houston Press, local Scripps-Howard affiliate, will entertain newspaper editors from throughout South Texas and U.S. Secretary of the Interior Julius Krug, scheduled to arrive by plane from Washington tonight.

The biggest cash award will go to the Atascosa County Soil Conservation district. Chairman John B. Temple of Pleasanton will accept the $1,000 prize for the champion district in Texas.

Other top winners include W. O. Dawson of Wylie, Tex., $500, as the year's best farmer in the state; the Bastrop-Fayette Soil Conservation district, South Texas champion, and the Trinity-Neches Soil Conservation district, champion of East Texas, each $300 awards.

Secretary Krug will speak on "Save the Water." He will leave Houston Friday morning for Grand Isle and Houma, La., and will spend Friday night in New Orleans before returning to Washington.

Jim Carroll, program chairman and farm and ranch editor of The Houston Press, said the event was a complete sell out.

Trinity Man To Head Extension Service

COLLEGE STATION, May 25. (AP)—George G. (Hoot) Gibson, red-headed native Texan, today was named director of the Texas Agricultural Extension service.

The 42-year-old dairy specialist, a licensed attorney, will take over his job June 1. He succeeds Dr. Ide P. Trotter, who became dean of Texas A. and M.'s graduate school last March.

Gibson's appointment was announced by Chancellor Gibb Gilchrist of the Texas A. and M. college system. Gilchrist said Gibson had been named by the board of directors May 14 but that the necessary approval by Secretary of Agriculture Brannan had delayed the announcement.

Attended Texas University

The tall, slow-talking native of Trinity, was graduated from A. and M. in 1929 with a B.S. in agriculture. He took his master's degree at Iowa State college in 1930.

His new post is a promotion from dairy husbandryman, a position he has held since 1944.

Gibson attended the University of Texas Law school from 1933 to 1935. Although he took no degree, he was admitted and licensed as an attorney and counselor at law by the State Supreme court in 1935.

Before coming to the Texas Agricultural Extension service in 1935 as an assistant dairyman, Gibson served as a dairy specialist with Iowa State college, Ames, Iowa. In 1943 and 1944 he was manager of a private dairy farm near Waco. He returned to the extension organization in 1944 as dairy husbandryman.

Two Illinois Youths To Die For Slaying Of Insurance Man

CARROLLTON, Ill., May 25. (INS) Two Illinois teen-agers were sentenced today to die for a murder they committed because they "had no rope" and were afraid to leave their robbery victim unbound.

The slain man was Howard Heininger, a Jerseyville, Ill., insurance man who gave his killers a ride April 20 when they flagged him down on an Illinois highway.

The two slayers, Carson Segar, 19, of Alton, and Curtis Chapman, 18, of White Hall, pleaded guilty to the murder charge last week.

Circuit Judge Clem Smith announced the death sentence at Carrollton today and set Sept. 23 as the date for execution in the electric chair.

TEXAS LADY LOSES 47 POUNDS

The following remarkable story shows conclusively that Barcentrate DOES take off fat.

It contains nothing harmful. In fact, it contains ingredients that make you feel better. No starvation diet—no weakness—no hunger. Barcentrate, the original grapefruit juice recipe, takes off fat quickly, safely and you can eat plenty.

Here is proof

Here is what Mrs. H. P. Bishop, Route 2, Stamford, Texas, wrote us:

"I am very glad to endorse Barcentrate, so please accept my sincere thanks and appreciation for the great benefit I derived from its use. I not only lost weight, but also looked and felt better in every way.

"I had to have a very serious operation and was told that I must lose a lot of weight before the operation could be performed. I went on a diet and tried very hard to reduce, but wasn't losing much weight until I heard of Barcentrate. I began taking it and could soon tell the difference in the way I felt and the weight I was losing. I weighed 200 pounds when I started and I lost a total of 47 pounds and was able to undergo my operation. I can truthfully recommend it to others, since it did so much for me."

At all druggists

If you are overweight and want to take off ugly fat, just go to your druggist and ask for four ounces of liquid Barcentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill bottle. Then take just two tablespoonfuls twice a day. If the very first bottle doesn't show you the simple, safe way to take off weight, return the empty bottle for your money back.

QUEER 'ECONOMY'

A Case Of Injustice

FORT WORTH was the victim recently of a flagrant act of hypocritical "economy" of the type which undermines respect for the judgment and sincerity of law-making bodies—in this instance, the United States Senate.

At the time, Fort Worth was the victim of one of the worst floods in its history. Large areas of the city still were under water. Several lives had been lost. Property damage ran into the millions. The public health danger was critical. These conditions were extreme, largely because of breaks in the levees along the Trinity river.

So Sen. Tom Connally proposed to include $500,000 in the appropriations bill then under consideration for the U.S. Army Engineers, the additional money to be used in strengthening the levees at Fort Worth. But the senators got economy-minded all of a sudden. As some of the press dispatches reported it, the Senate "shouted down" the funds to help Fort Worth.

Then the Senate proceeded to approve the Engineers' appropriation bill, totaling more than $751,000,000—more than 1,500 times as much as had been asked for our Texas friend and neighbor. Press dispatches said it was approved amid cries of "pork" after the "Senate economy bloc suffered smashing defeat" in its efforts to trim some of the allocations from appropriations described as being for flood control and improvements. Yet the Senate refused to provide a penny for the community which, at that moment, was the hardest hit flood spot in the United States.

Fortunately, the House still may have an opportunity to rectify the Senate's hypocritical injustice. But the incident helps to explain why many Americans are inclined to sarcasm when the Senate attempts to pose—as it often does—of the foremost champion of the nation's welfare.

To The Graduates

TONIGHT will mark one of the most memorable milestones in the lives of the 290 graduates of Lubbock Senior High school who will receive their diplomas tonight. They are typical of the finest among the many, many thousands of young women and men in this area and throughout the nation who are crossing the same important threshold at this season.

As they receive their diplomas, they are justified in profound pride in the personal achievement it symbolizes. True, they have had much help and encouragement along the way from teachers, parents and others. But this is true of nearly all worthwhile achievement. Those who achieve, no matter what their stage of life, usually have help and inspiration from others.

But, fundamentally, the distinction of becoming a high school graduate is the reward for personal effort — for years of perseverence involving a great deal of plain hard work. The diplomas cannot be considered as something in the nature of a gift. They are something —a very fine something—the recipients have earned themselves.

For most of them, the diploma will be the symbol of one of the first and greatest of life's major victories.

They can be sure they have the sincerest congratulations and good wishes —not to mention the envy—of the oldsters who, for the most part, would give just about everything they own to be in a young graduate's shoes tonight.

Down Memory Lane

(Taken from the files of The Lubbock Morning Avalanche, May 26, 1929)

Three members of a committee of the Lubbock school board returned Saturday from Dallas, where a tour of inspection was concluded of high school buildings in several cities for the purpose of assembling data for a proposed new high school structure for this city.

Those who returned yesterday were M. H. Duncan, superintendent of Lubbock schools, C. E. Maedgen, and S. C. Wilson.

E. L. Robertson, member of the board, and N. L. Peters, architect, remained in Dallas for the international convention of Rotary International. W. B. Atkins, another school board member, and W. H. Fowler, architect, will probably return Sunday or Monday.

Inspections were made in Abilene, Fort Worth, Cleburne, and Dallas.

Rev. Jack M. Lewis, Presbyterian minister of Lubbock, will deliver the graduating sermon Sunday morning.

Did I Hear Someone Call?

Island Of Escape

By HUGH LAWRENCE NELSON
Disributed By NEA Service, Inc.

(THE STORY: Strange undercurrents threaten the serenity of Henry Gough Harding's "New Eden" on Speare Island. Already one of the women candidates to become his bride has been murdered. The scene also is complicated by the shipwreck of a small yacht off the island. Harding is attracted by one of the shipwrecked party, Mollie Stark, but he is troubled by her presence on the yacht without proper chaperones. It is then that Stillwell tells Harding that George Bascombe, his aide, and Nona McGuire are married and that Nona uses her maiden name for stage purposes.)

XVIII

"IT'S the same thing as getting back on a horse after he's thrown you," Bea insisted. "If I didn't ride that thing again I'd be scared of it the rest of my life."

"I can't see that it matters," Henry Harding said. "Get in, since you insist. Miss Firth can wait up here with me. There's no reason now to keep the whiskey down below." He selected a key from the ring, gave it to Miss Cosgrove. "When you get down, load the car, ring the signal button and I'll send Miss Firth down to help you."

"I wouldn't want to ride in that car," Agnes Firth said. "There's still blood on it."

Bea climbed in the gondola Harding had partially filled with broken rock and watched the simple operation which set the car in motion. And it was only a few seconds before the car moved over the lip to the steeper part of the incline so only the cable could be seen.

It could be done allright, Bea decided. Perhaps there was a pool of blood back in some room of the underground storehouse. Certainly there was not enough blood in the car itself. A shot could never have been heard in the tunnels. A hand truck would help. A body could be lifted into the gondola, a tug at the starting lever and Lilly Warren could have been sent down.

It meant even the partial alibis which had been offered so readily were worthless.

Lilly Warren with her duties in the kitchen had the best opportunity to discover the automatic. But Bea could not forget that gently swinging kitchen door the first night on Speare Island. Anyone who had access to the house could have taken the gun.

AND why had Fred Sillwell lied? He, and George Bascombe too for that matter, had examined the automatic when they helped take Lilly's body from the car.

Whatever Fred's reason, Harding had swallowed the tale. It fitted with what he wanted to believe.

If she should point out the fact everyone on the island could have killed Lilly Warren, she knew she could not point out a motive.

The car came to an abrupt stop. She leaped out, ran along the dock toward the storehouse, kicking off her shoes on the way. She hurried down steep stairs to the beach, returned to the water's edge to cross the 200-foot stretch of coarse sand to the 100-foot cliff on the other side of the cove.

A small wave whipped in, slapped viciously at her knees in a sudden deepening of water. She staggered seaward, went deeper. The water rushed back from the steep beach, tugging, pushing, trying to knock her completely off balance. She leaned toward the land, swinging her arms.

Then in one instant she was free, could make the few steps which were the difference between a good chance of drowning and safety.

SHE reached the cliff, moved quickly along its base. She found no more recognizable footprints, but just above high tide mark a small pile of freshly dislodged rock ended her search. She looked upward. Far above a lighter spot on the cliff face told where the fragments had come from. Still farther up, the flat moisture-filled leaves of a rock plant were crushed.

She retraced her steps back to the dock, realized the tide was coming in since half of the line of prints she'd made were gone. "A lucky break for me on the tide," she said aloud, "but I wouldn't care if it was going out. I'd rather leave footprints. Perhaps someone else felt that way too."

She unlocked the storehouse and began loading the car. Finished at last, she pushed the signal button. She returned at once to the storeroom.

Like the tunnels above under the main house, these rooms too were cut from the solid rock. In one large room, Bea found many drums of gasoline. Enough to run the generators for years to come.

The first scream came to her faintly. She hurried out the wooden entrance to the rock rooms. The screams were louder, more frantic.

The car had come down with Agnes Firth.

She sat bolt upright, eyes shut. A flailing hand hit the lever on the side. Her fingers gripped it.

Bea yelled. "Don't pull that lever! Agnes!" She was close enough to see Miss Firth's white knuckles on the iron dump lever. It moved.

The downward end of the car dropped open.

Agnes screamed again as she started sliding.

Bea caught her under the armpits, held her with legs dangling out over the seething water.

"Help yourself a little, Agnes," Bea panted. "Grab hold of the sides of the car. That's it. Pull up your legs and put one over the side of the car. Now roll, and lift yourself. I won't let you slide out!"

The two women stood on the dock, panting with their exertion.

"Didn't Harding warn you about pulling that lever?" Bea demanded.

Agnes Firth shook her head. She was pale. Her whole body trembled. "I—I thought it wasn't going to stop! He didn't tell me anything but get in!"

Looking At Life - - By Erich Brandeis

IT didn't make me feel very good when I read the story about Eric, the dog, in the Wesporter Herald, our local weekly newspaper.

I don't mind having the same name as a dog, even if he does spell his without the "h" at the end. To take the place of the "h" he has a tail at the end, and I haven't. So, in that respect we are even.

BRANDEIS

I like dogs and I am proud being named after one or to have one named after me.

But this Eric is a dope.

The people whoownhim also have a catbird who has a call that sounds like "Eric, Eric." This has been going on for goodness knows how long, but Eric, the dog, isn't wise to the noax yet.

Every time he hears that "Eric, Eric" sound coming out of a tree he tries to climb it, thinking that somebody wants him.

Incidentally, talking about names, how many people live up to the names their parents have given them?

Take my own. I was named after a brave Scandinavian king, Erik the Red. He was a fighter, a hero, a knight.

I guess my mother and father wanted me to be a fighter, a hero, a knight. What did I turn out to be? A newspaperman!

Take the name William. It is of Teutonic extraction and means "Helmet of Resolution."

I just read about a bum by the name of William who was recently released from the San Diego jail.

After a few weeks of freedom and responsibility, he asked the authorities to put him back for the rest of his life, with one day a week off for shopping.

Jail was such a nice place, he said. No responsibility no resolution necessary. Free bed, free meals, free everything.

The police refused his request.

So this fellow, "Helmet of Resolution," will have to stay out of jail. But I bet he'll have enough "resolution" to do something which will get him in again, at least for a short time.

ANOTHER friend of mine just divorced his wife, Margaret, because she was an unbearable, ever-nagging shrew. Margaret means "Pearl."

Hildegarde means "Battle Maiden." And, anybody who has ever seen the famous singer Hildegarde battle fiercely for the applause of her audience will admit that she, at least, is well named.

My column is supposed to have a moral.

So this is what I suggest:

When you name a child, try to name it appropriately. Explain to the child what the name means.

Try to make your child consider that name a symbol and live up to it.

Don't name a kid Eric or Erich, an then make a newspaperman out of him.

Probably Phineas would have been a better name for me.

Phineas means "Mouth of Brass."

ENEMIES SHAPE POLICY

HST Still Stubborn

By RAY TUCKER
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON. — President Truman may have supplied the key to his character and his current controversy with Congress in his conversation with recent non-political visitors to the White House. He seems to talk more frankly with casual droppers-in than he does with Administration officials, politicians or business men. He is more at ease with them.

"I was completely sincere," he told one group, "when I said that I didn't want this job in 1945, and when I told the convention at Philadelphia and campaign audiences that I did not want it again last year. I never expected to be President and it is still hard to get used to it.

TUCKER

"But when they said I couldn't have it, and wanted to sidetrack me for somebody else, including people who weren't even Democrats, I was just stubborn enough to go out and show them that they couldn't take it away from me."

Then, with a characteristic tightening of his jaws, he added:

"And I did!"

CONTRAST: Mr. Truman also discussed another phase of the "split personality" embodied in every President of the United States, and his remarks on this difficult subject also throw some light on the contrast between the once humble, unassuming "Senator Truman" and the swashbuckling, obstinate figure he seems to have become since he entered the White House.

"I try to remember that I am two people," he says, "but it is awfully hard. I want to be Harry Truman, who likes old friends, a peaceful and quiet life, and no folderol, but I have to remember that I am the President of the United States.

WISTFULLY: "I know that people don't come to see me because I am Harry Truman. They don't praise or damn me because I am Harry Truman. They never paid any attention to me when I was Harry Truman and they wouldn't bother with me now if I were only Harry Truman."

Then, a bit wistfully, almost pathetically:

"They are interested in me only because I am President of the United States."

PRIVATE: Just as he did not want to be returned to the White House until "they"—Frank Hague, Leon Henderson, James Roosevelt etc.—said he couldn't or shouldn't have a renomination, and plumped for "Ike" Eisenhower or Justice William O. Douglas, so President Truman may not have been sold completetey on the extravagant campaign promises he had to make to defeat Tom Dewey.

As a Senator, he exhibited no deep concern for the problems of labor, racial minorities, the underprivileged, although he usually voted for most of F.D.R.'s reforms. But he did not ride along too enthusiastically or furiously with such "liberal" dragoons as "Bob" Wagner for labor, "Bob" LaFollette for Civil Rights, the late George W. Norris for public power.

Harry Truman was a rear rank private, or rode a lame horse, in the charge of Franklin D. Roosevelt's heavy bridage.

STUBBORN: But when 'they'—the Republicans, Southern Conservatives, the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, the National Association of Manufacturers and their allies—snorted at his welfare, economic, labor and power program, and challenged him to put it on the statute books, he reacted as he did when "they" sought to deny him a renomination.

No matter how politically minded or motivated he may have been when he first advanced these ideas, sometimes to the horror of the more conservative, Snyder-Harriman-Baruch group, the mounting opposition to realization of his grandiose proposals angered and stiffened him. He is again just "stubborn enough" to show "them" that he will and can have his way.

DRIVEN: In short, Harry S. Truman has been influenced and shaped and driven into his present role as an American Attlee by his enemies rather than by his own friends and counselors.

As his recent criticism of the Byrds, Rayburns and McCormacks suggest, he will fight a Democratic Congress as stubbornly as he warred against his intra-party detractors last year and against the bipartisan conservatives, on and off Capitol Hill, who dared him to made good on his 1948 campaign pledges.

DISLIKE: No analysis of President Truman's present state of mind would be complete without mention of his ill-concealed dislike for several members of the Franklin D. Roosevelt family. He would probably deny this statement—he could not afford to admit it—but it is a fact.

He was not in the White House a week before he learned how F.D.R. had neglected him when he was Vice President. He also realized that he was the late President's second or third choice for the vice presidential nomination in 1944. He has resented Henry A. Wallace's repeated charges that he has "betrayed" his predecessor on the domestic and foreign fronts.

It did not make him happy when "Jimmie" Roosevelt joined the Eisenhower-for President clique, along with many other distinguished "New Dealers." It was partially for that reason that he buried the "New Deal" as a battlecry, and patented the "Truman Fair Deal."

He no longer wants to go down in history as a 'Roosevelt understudy"—that stubborn streak again. Therefore, he seeks to build a bigger and a brighter monument for himself in the form of labor, welfare, power and foreign achievements than even F.D.R himself would have proposed, had he lived

Argentina, having spent its big wartime earnings on nonessentials, now finds difficulty buying in world markets and faces shortages of raw materials, with many plants closing down, Buenos Aires observers report.

Enzo Colombo, jeweler of Milan, is trying to get back the $400,000 of jewels which he placed in safe deposit in London 10 years ago when Italy entered the war—and which British Customs officials recently seized.

Under Argentina's new Constitution, now in effect, natural sources of power are the property of the nation and public services must be operated by the Government, instead of farmed out on concession.

Lonely Pitcairn Island in the South Pacific now has its own Scout Group of four Wolf Cubs and three Scouts—every eligible boy—and a Guide Company of six Girl Guides and four Brownies.

Egypt now has 18 large textile plants operating, the one at Mehalla El Kobra, two hours from Cairo on the Nile Delta area, being one of the largest in the world, employing 25,000 workers.

PROGRAM INVOLVED IN POLITICS

AEC Defended For Past Policies

By THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON—It is a distressing commentary on our present frantic state of mind that David E. Lilienthal, Atomic Energy commission chairman, felt it necessary in defending his AEC administration to concentrate on the military aspects with his assurance that we have today "a substantial stockpile of atomic weapons, including those of new design."

That shows what fear has done to us, fear of our own carefully guarded weapon.

Completely lost in the whirlwind of fear that has been shaped up is another phase of this new form of energy. This is its potential for blessing mankind as a source of power and as a means of attacking diseases of all sorts. The AEC has contracts with numerous big industrial corporations and colleges to develop the use of atomic energy in those fields. This goes on quietly and hopefully in laboratories, but it can be retarded by restrictions that fear and emphasis on the bomb impose.

HST's Decisions Noted

Fear can be exploited, as we know, and therefore it is incumbent upon people today in assessing recent incidents here concerning the AEC to try to think calmly and come to no hasty judgments. For there are those who would exploit this fear for political and selfish purposes. It has happened before, as a bit of history will show. It is not new.

President Truman made two very far-reaching and vital decisions about this amazing new form of energy. One was that it was to belong to all the people and be put in trust with, and under control of, their government and not special private interests. The other was that, because of its potential danger in the military sense, it was to be under civilian administration to provide cool, balanced and objective judgment.

The military fought this, desiring complete control of this new weapon. It only was prevented from taking it over by a hard fight in Congress in which, among others, scientists enlisted themselves because they feared military control would hamper research, both in the military and civilian areas. Likewise, special private interests who wanted to get their hands on this new source of energy, fought restrictions in the measure, including patent provisions. They had control of the previous energy developed, electricity, and had so abused their power that the government finally had to step in with various regulatory laws to curb them and protect the public.

When, upon passage of the atomic energy act, David Lilienthal was named AEC chairman by President Truman, private utility and other interests fought his own confirmation because of his identity for many years with TVA, that very successful public power, reclamation and navigation project in the Tennessee valley, as did certain military influences. Both operated secretly, but their activity was well known. Despite one of the wildest and most irresponsible smearing campaigns ever put on, Mr. Lilienthal was confirmed by the Senate. His enemies have never rested.

GOP Solons Blamed

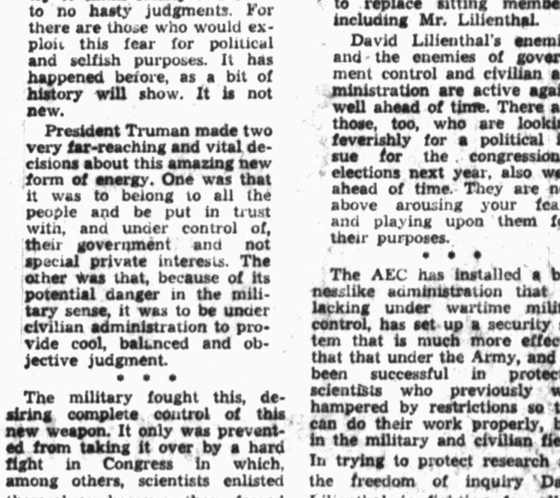

When Republicans got control of Congress in 1946, with the confident expectation of getting control of the whole government two years later, a bill was put through abolishing the system of staggered terms for the five AEC members, installed originally to provide continuity of administration, and ending all terms June 30, next year, including that of Mr. Lilienthal. That would have given the anticipated Republican administration an opportunity to replace sitting members, including Mr. Lilienthal.

David Lilienthal's enemies and the enemies of government control and civilian administration are active again, well ahead of time. There are those, too, who are looking feverishly for a political issue for the congressional elections next year, also well ahead of time. They are not above arousing your fears and playing upon them for their purposes.

The AEC has installed a businesslike administration that was lacking under wartime military control, has set up a security system that is much more effective that that under the Army, and has been successful in protecting scientists who previously were hampered by restrictions so they can do their work properly, both in the military and civilian fields. In trying to protect research and the freedom of inquiry David Lilienthal is fighting for all of us and for our Democratic way, which has taken courage of a rare order.

MARKET HALTS SLUMP

NEW YORK, May 25. (AP)—The stock market turned in a winning score today for the first time since May 16.

The market's long losing streak was not broken until a morning decline pushed the general price level to within speaking distance of the year's low.

Final questions, some showing net gains of around a point, were tops for the day.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced .3 of one point to 62.4. The rail group made the best showing with the industrials and utilities tied for runner-up.

The turn in the market came at a time when Wall Street was watching the price trend with unusual anxiety. At noon today, the AP 60-stock average was down .3 of one point at 62. The average had only a trifling distance to go to reach the 1949 low of 61.4 and, in turn, the 1948 bottom of 60.2.

U. S. Steel (old) was unchanged at 43½, but Bethlehem advanced ½ to 30¾. Republic added ⅛ at 20¼. Youngstown Sheet ⅛ at 41¾, and Armco Steel ⅛ at 21¾.

Higher by as much as ½ point were General Motors at 56¼, Chrysler 49¾, and Studebaker 19¾.

Others higher included U. S. Rubber, Montgomery Ward, Woolworth, Douglas Aircraft, Pepsi-Cola, Admiral Corp., Consolidated Edison, Kennecott Copper, Westinghouse Electric, Dow Chemical, American Tobacco (at the year's top), Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, Northern Pacific, Sinclair Oil, Standard Oil (NJ), Richfield Oil, Phillips Petroleum, United Air Lines, and Warner Bros.

Still lower were Goodrich, Sears Roebuck, American Telephone, Kroger Co., General Electric, Du Pont, Johns-Manville, Philip Morris, U. S. Gypsum, United Fruit, Pullman, Amerada Petroleum, and McIntyre porcupine.

Up in the curb were Fairfield Engine, Cities Service, American Light, Rotary Electric Steel, United Light, United Gas, Niles Bement Pond, and Le Tourneau. A little lower were Illinois Zinc, Derby Oil, Creole Petroleum and Salt Dome Oil. Sales of 210,000 shares compared with 200,000 yesterday.
