Mutilated Body Found On Tracks Near Texarkana

Verdict Of Murder Returned By Jury, Sixth In Six Weeks

TEXARKANA, Ark., May 7 (AP)—The mutilated body of a man was discovered on railroad tracks near Texarkana early today and a coroner said the death was suspected as the Texarkana area's sixth slaying in six weeks.

Dr. Frank C. Engler, coroner of Little River county, Ark., said the man was identified from a Social Security card as Earl Cliff McSpadden. The man also carried a registration card with the USFS office at Shreveport, La., dated May 6, 1946.

The Shreveport office said the man had filed a "courtesy claim" at Shreveport yesterday, but had failed to leave his home address. Engler said that his coroner's jury returned a verdict that the man came to his death at the hands of persons unknown, and that he was dead before the body was placed on the tracks.

The body was found about 6 a. m. on tracks of the Kansas City Southern railroad, about sixteen miles north of Texarkana. A freight train had passed about 5:30 a. m.

The body was discovered as officers in this area were searching for the person who shot Virgil Starks to death as Starks sat in his living room listening to the radio Friday night. Starks wife was wounded by the same assailant. His slaying occurred in Miller county, Ark., also near Texarkana.

Dr. Engler said his jury reached its decision because although the body had been run over by a train there were no bruises on it of the sort which would have been made if the man had fallen under the train.

He said the jury decided that a deep cut over the man's eye had been made prior to the time the body was on the tracks, and that it was serious enough to have caused death.

The body was found on the roadbed. The left leg was cut off below the hip, and the left arm at the elbow.

When Starks and his wife were shot officers were still investigating the slaying of Polly Ann Moore, 17, and Richard Griffin, 20, and of Paul Martin, 17, and Betty Jo Hooker, 14.

Gun Battle Kills One At Captive Kentucky Mine

Response Good To Help Pleas For Playground

HARLAN, Ky., May 7 (AP)—One man was killed and at least one other was wounded today in a gun battle at the International Harvester company's "captive" coal mine at Benham, Ky.

J. G. Galbreath, general manager of the mine, identified the dead man as "Senator" Brock, Stanfill, Ky. Another man, identified as Joe Shepherd, Elcomb, Ky., was admitted to a Harlan hospital with a bullet wound in his shoulder. His condition was not considered serious.

Galbreath said he was informed that the men were fired on from automobiles near the mine entrance and that the Benham miners returned the fire.

The Benham mine, employing about 500 men, has been operating under contract with the Progressive Miners Union and has continued to operate during the nationwide walkout of the United Mine Workers Union since April 1.

The mine at Benham, which produces coal for use in operations of the International Harvester company, joins the Lynch mine of the US Coal and Coke company, employing about 2,000 UMW men and one of the biggest coal operations in this area.

Two miners were killed near the Benham mine on Aug. 21, 1941, in an outbreak of violence.

Response Good To Help Pleas For Playground

Big Spring was hastening today, to make its investment in "youth insurance." Regarded as exactly that—an investment in youth—is the West Side playground and recreation center. (Fifth and San Antonio streets) which is being set up for operation under supervision of the Salvation Army.

To equip this 21-lot tract with ball grounds, tennis courts, swings and many other accoutrements of youthful exercise and play will take an estimated $3,600. A third one-half of this is in labor and materials.

And today, offers of labor and materials were coming in. A group of workers at the Texas & Pacific railroad, always prompt in answering a civic call, assured Capt. Olvy Sheppard that they would do welding on their own time.

Response from the Cosden Petroleum Corporation and from Big Spring Iron & Metal virtually filled the playground's needs for pipe. Capt. Sheppard said this pipe will provide fencing, backstops for ball grounds and tennis courts, swings, "giant strides" and many other items.

"We are greatly encouraged," said Salvation Army leaders. "We feel there is no doubt but that this playground will become an actuality soon. It will be a boon to 200 or more youngsters in the western district of the city who are entitled to, and should have, a recently-equipped recreation area where they—with proper supervision—can spend their play time in healthful, constructive fashion."

War Weapon Secrecy May Be Included In Atom Control Bill

WASHINGTON, May 7 (AP)—Senator Eastland (D-Miss) said today an effort may be made to broaden a pending atomic energy control bill to cover secrecy of other war weapons, such as radar.

Eastland told reporters that a senate judiciary subcommittee which is studying proposed revisions in the espionage act will consider the question of trying to combine secrecy controls in one measure. The pending atomic bill provides stiff penalties, but its safeguards are directed entirely to atomic energy developments.

The judiciary subcommittee now is ready to look into the field of chemical discoveries, it was indicated when arrangements were made for officials of E. I. DuPont de Nemours company to appear later.

COSDEN NOT OPPOSING RATE ADJUSTMENTS BY RAILROADS

Cosden Petroleum Corp. is not opposing rate adjustments sought by the railroads in hearings which began Monday before the ICC.

The company, according to Douglas Orme, traffic manager, has assumed the position that whatever rates are agreed upon by the ICC will be acceptable on the grounds that the carriers are entitled to sufficient revenue for efficient, economical operation which will permit them to serve public interest under private management and control.

Coal Strike Lambasted By House Republicans

WASHINGTON, May 7 (AP)—The government submitted to John L. Lewis and soft coal operators today a proposition for settling the 37-day-old mine strike. Terms of the proposal were not immediately disclosed.

Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, will take the proposal before the union's 250-man policy committee meeting at 1:30 p. m. (CST). The operators went into an immediate session to discuss the formula.

(In New York, Edward F. McGrady, a special mediator in the coal negotiations, said he hoped there might be a settlement very shortly.)

Contract negotiations between the miners and operators were recessed until tomorrow to permit further study of the proposal.

It was reported by those inside the conference that Fuller's proposal was his own and did not originate at yesterday's White House meeting of President Truman, Secretary of Labor Schwelmbach, Reconversion Director Snyder and White House assistant John R. Steelman.

Fuller interrupted this morning's negotiating session to confer separately with Lewis and with Charles O'Neill, head of the northern Appalachian producers group, and Edward R. Burke, head of the Southern Coal Producers association.

Lewis and the administration came in for another lambasting on the house floor as a result of the strike stalemate.

Rep. Case (R-S.D.), author of the house-approved strike control bill, said a White House report that "it can do nothing about the coal strike is the sorriest confession of unfitness that has come from a national administration in history."

"An organized conspiracy that breaks down the life of a nation, throws millions out of work and endangers the national health ought to be marked by shame by every American," Case told his colleagues.

Rep. Hope (R-Kas) asserted Lewis "is more powerful than the president of the United States." He blamed the "labor policy" of the last 13 years for the present strike predicament.

Rep. Smith (R-Ohio) interposed that he is "not sure the administration wants to stop this strike."

Rep. Sabath (D-Ill), chairman of the house rules committee, contended "coal operators are as much to blame as John L. Lewis. They both are to blame."

Teen-Aged Boys Tried For Murder

NEW YORK, May 7 (AP)—Murder cases against two teen-aged boys go to jury today.

The defendants are: Jack Turk, 14-year-old "baby sitter," accused of slaying three-year-old child; and Arthur J. Trinchello, 16, charged with second degree murder in the bludgeoning slaying last Oct. 27 of 53-year-old Mrs. Pauline Goldfire, Brooklyn drygoods store proprietor.

Arguments ended yesterday in both cases. In Queens county court Assistant District Attorney J. Irwin Shapiro rested the prosecution's case without demanding the death penalty for Turk.

In King county court, Defense Counsel Nathaniel Kramer declared in his summation that Trinchello could not have slain Mrs. Goldfire because he was not in the store at the time. He stressed the testimony of two Catholic clergymen who said the boy was delivering caplets at the time to churches in Harlem.

British Propose To Withdraw Troops In Egypt

CAIRO, May 7 (AP)—Great Britain proposed today to withdraw all her armed forces from Egyptian territory and entrust to the army of King Farouk the defense of a strategic area on the lifeline of the empire which British troops have occupied since 1922.

The British embassy, announcing the offer to take all military, naval and air forces from Egypt, said the move was preliminary to negotiations for revision of the 1936 Anglo-Egyptian treaty of alliance.

The announcement, made with the concurrence of Egyptian Premier Ismail Sidki Pasha, said arrangements are to be made by the Egyptian government to make possible in time of war or imminent threat of war mutual assistance in accord with the treaty.

A withdrawal from Egypt would remove the British forces nearest the Suez canal, a link in the British supply line to India, Australia, Malaya and New Zealand. Other British forces, however, are stationed north and east of the canal in Palestine, Transjordan and Iraq. These forces include all branches of the services in Palestine, personnel serving with the Arab legion in Transjordan and RAF bases west of the Euphrates river in Iraq.

The British embassy said stages and the date for completion of the withdrawal would be settled by negotiation. The movement is expected to start Thursday and to be completed within two weeks.

Mental Attitudes Essential, Woods Says At Luncheon

Mental attitudes are the important things, Dr. L. A. Woods, state superintendent of public instruction, told a joint meeting of service clubs at a Tuesday luncheon at the Settler hotel.

In ordinary terms, thinking of individuals determines whether things are right or wrong, are successful or fail, are hot or cold, up or down.

"It all depends on your location and on your thinking," said Dr. Woods. "Whether a student fails or passes depends on whether he makes a prescribed minimum grade at a given time, and failure doesn't mean he or she totally failed."

To those who would truly succeed, he asserted, "join yourself to a worthy cause and expend all of your talents to this end."

For those who wish the ultimate standard or measuring stick, Dr. Woods recommended the Bible as the constant "measuring stick."

The speaker was introduced by E. C. Dodd, president of the Howard County Junior college district. Several members of the board of trustees of the college were present. Honor guests were presidents of the service clubs—June Matson, B&PW; Ted Phillips, ABC; Robert Stripling, Kiwanis; Jack Smith, Lions; and Ira Driver, Rotary host president. Ira Thurman, secretary of the Junior College board, presided. Approximately 200 attended.

Ministers Restore 1938 Boundaries; Fuss Over Danube

PARIS, May 7 (AP)—The foreign ministers council agreed today to grant Romania her 1938 boundaries with Hungary and Bulgaria, but adjourned in complete disagreement on questions of Danube navigation and freedom of access to the Black Sea country, a British source said today.

The boundary decision gave Transylvania, disputed by Hungary, to Romania and restored the boundary as it existed before the Hitler and Mussolini-dictated settlement at Vienna during the war. The decision also restored Dob-

CPA Chief Predicts Suits May Remain Scarce Until 1948

WASHINGTON, May 7 (AP)—Civilian Production Administration chief John D. Small's gloomy forecast that men's suits may remain scarce until 1948 today overshadowed industry suggestions on how to increase output 10 to 30 per cent.

After Small made his statement to manufacturers yesterday, other CPA officials who withheld their names told reporters they expect no slackening in demand for many months.

In the face of this outlook, CPA too, time out to nullify manufacturers' recommendations for stepping up production quickly.

CPA calculates current production of about 20,000,000 suits a year, as compared with a goal of 28,000,000. It says peak pre-war output was around 24,000,000 suits yearly and that current demand is for about 40,000,000.

The manufacturers proposed re-creation of OPA's maximum average price regulation as it applies to woolen and worsted fabric. This regulation requires producers to turn out about the same ration of low to high-priced cloth as they did during a base period, usually 1943.

One suggestion was that the government set up a system of priorities to see that suit makers get enough cotton for pockets. CPA countered that it will consider this if the same result is not achieved by a recent order which "freezes" cotton fabric looms to production of materials needed for low-cost clothing.

CPA has reported several times it has found no evidence that suits were being withheld from the market deliberately in the hope of price increases.

City Of Surrender Observes First Anniversary Of War's End Quietly

REIMS, May 7 (AP)—The city of Reims, where one year ago today Col. Gen. Gustav Jodl scratched his name on a document which set the European phase of World War II into the archives of history, observed the first anniversary of the surrender quietly—with too few soldiers in town to hold a parade.

The citizens and soldiers observed the day mainly by visiting the surrender room in the "little red schoolhouse," the former "war room" of supreme headquarters, Allied Expeditionary Forces, which has become a French national shrine and a place where visitors may absorb a bit of the atmosphere of the historical events which occurred in it.

The room has been preserved exactly as it was at the moment of the German capitulation.

The war maps are there, the weather maps, railway maps and supply maps. A "lay-on" board lists air force missions of the following

Senate Rejects Move To Limit Debate On Loan

WASHINGTON, May 7 (AP)—The Senate today rejected a move to limit further debate on the $3,750,000,000 British loan legislation by refusing to apply the rarely used cloture rule.

The vote was 41 for limiting debate, 41 against it. Senator Tydings (D-Md.) voted "present." Adoption of the rule would have required a two-thirds favorable vote.

Administration leaders, backing the proposed long-term credit arrangement, did not appear discouraged by the Senate's action and still expressed hope of obtaining unanimous consent of the Senate for an early roll call on amendments and the resolution itself.

Foes of the $3,750,000,000 British loan proposal displayed their willingness today for an early test vote—possibly tomorrow.

Delegates Arriving For US Highway 8 Called Meeting

Delegates were arriving in Big Spring this morning to attend a called meeting of US Highway Association's Texas Division scheduled for 2:30 p. m. in the Settler hotel.

The meeting was arranged to draft recommendations designed to preclude any proposals which may be submitted in the Association's annual meeting in Denver June 4-15 for re-routing the highway. In calling the meeting here, J. H. Greene, Texas vice-president of the Association said a proposal to route the road from Raton, N. M. southward through El Paso has been indicated.

Delegates at today's meeting, which were expected from Dalhart to San Antonio, were to be asked to take definite steps to oppose such a proposal.

Greene had received telegrams from Plainview, Lubbock, Dalhart, San Angelo and Lamesa this morning indicating a good attendance at the meeting.

Judge Presents Dark Outlook For Europe

NEW ORLEANS, May 7 (AP)—A dark outlook on European problems was presented by Judge Joseph C. Hutcheson of Houston who recently returned from a tour of the continent and the Middle East.

Judge Hutcheson, of the US Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals, said that all he was asked to do as a member of the Anglo-American committee of inquiry on Palestine.

"was to examine the conditions in Europe and Palestine as they affect immigration."

He said that conditions in Europe are in "a very depressed state" with its revival "very problematical and in the distant future."

Wagner Notes "Softening" Of OPA Attacks

WASHINGTON, May 7 (AP)—Chairman Wagner (D-NY) of the senate banking committee said today he had noticed "some softening" of the attack against OPA.
Wagner talked to reporters as the committee neared the end of public hearings on legislation to continue price controls a year beyond June 30.
"I believe some of those who have been most critical of the idea of price control in peace time are swinging around," the New York senator said.
"I think they are beginning to think more of the alternative. Why, we might have a revolution in New York if there were no price control."
Today's witness list was headed by Secretary of the Treasury Fred M. Vinson and Housing Expediter Wilson Wyatt. Marriner Eccles, Federal Reserve Board chairman, is to testify Wednesday. His appearance was put over from Monday.
Wagner said that he will ask the committee to decide, immediately after public hearings are ended, on its schedule of closed door meetings to whip the bill in shape.
The house amended the OPA extension bill so extensively that OPA sponsors contend the effect is to kill price controls June 30, when the present law expires.
The senate committee, by members' questioning of witnesses, has indicated a desire for some changes in OPA, but Wagner said he thinks it will approve a bill far less objectionable to the administration than the house measure.

The Mustang track squad leaves today for College Station where Friday and Saturday they plan to compete in the conference track and field championship.

Temple Grocers Protest Rulings For Slaughtering

TEMPLE, May 7 (AP)—Office of Price Administration officials today received telegrams by some 30 Temple grocery and market owners protesting slaughtering permit regulations.
The telegrams, sent to Washington yesterday, asserted that retail markets have been slaughtering their own cattle for some time since the only custom slaughterer in Temple went out of business.
The local businessmen declared that, under the new OPA regulations, these retailers may not slaughter cattle.
Rep. Poage (D-Tex) yesterday wired the Temple chamber of commerce that earlier pleas to OPA for temporary slaughtering permits have not been acknowledged.

Truman's Health Still Good At 62

WASHINGTON, May 7 (AP)—President Truman, 62 tomorrow, "feels no older and a little healthier, if anything" than he did a year ago.
Close associates of the chief executive who provided this report today emphasized that Mr. Truman "doesn't take his worries to bed."
A few pounds heavier than last year—the tips the scales at about 175—the president attacks the extra poundage by long before-breakfast walks and by swims in the White House pool with members of his staff.
Press Secretary Charles G. Ross said Mr. Truman plans to spend his birthday "working as usual."
Last year, the president was able to celebrate his 61st birthday by announcing Allied victory over Germany. A few days later his mother, Mrs. Martha E. Truman, 83, flew up from Grandview, Mo., to visit with him.
About four times a week, Mr. Truman drives away from the White House shortly after 6 a. m. to some unannounced spot to take a long walk.
When his physician, Col. Wallace Graham, can persuade him to do so, the president goes aboard his yacht, the USS Williamsburg, for a weekend of rest and relaxation. He recently spent a full week aboard the ship.

Local Man First To Win Mexico City Trip

Dalton Mitchell, representative for Great Southern Life Insurance company, is the first West Texas underwriter for the company to qualify for a special trip to Mexico City.
The announcement was made Monday by J. T. His distinction automatically earned the right for he and Mrs. Mitchell to make the company convention at San Antonio in October for underwriters hanging up business in excess of $150,000. The Mexico trip for he and Mrs. Mitchell will follow on the heels of the San Antonio gathering. Mitchell has represented the company in this territory for the past 10 years.

Three Killed, Fourth Injured In Collision

MARSHALL, May 7 (AP)—An automobile collision one mile west of Hallsville on highway 80 yesterday resulted in the deaths of Alvin York Cain, 23, of Gilmer, and two negroes. A third negro was reported in critical condition.
Cain was driving alone in his car when it collided with another automobile, occupied by the negroes. State Highway Patrolman Earl Elliott said.
Tommy Cadenhead, 17, Marshall and Tommie Lee Williams, 21, Deberry, were identified as the dead negroes. Lee Arthur Rockmore of Deberry was the third negro in the vehicle.

Navy Turns Loose Much Surplus Food

WASHINGTON, May 7 (AP)—The Navy announced today it had turned loose 156,000,000 pounds of surplus food since last November. The edibles, valued at $25,000,440, were excess stocks not used because of rapid demobilization.

Slayer Sentenced

LAREDO, May 7 (AP)—A 25-year penitentiary sentence faced Trinidad Jaramillo today. The farm hand yesterday pleaded guilty after being charged with the knife slaying of Pablo Lopez Mata, another farm hand. Mata's body was found in a shallow grave Dec. 23, 1945.

Invitation to a Coffee Discovery

A discovery that can give you greater enjoyment every day of your life—

For this is not just another brand—but a better kind of coffee.

So individually different you might discover you've never really tasted coffee before.

Let it trickle down your palate like nectar of rare wine—

Sometimes almost unites your soul and your stomach—it's that good.

Comes from the faraway mountains of the Tropical Americas: A flavor all its own—folks just call it the Folger Flavor.

Been a thing apart for ninety-six years.

Besides being more enjoyable, it's painless on the pocketbook.

That's another part of the flavor advantage—properly made, you should be able to make this heavenly brew with 1/4 less coffee.

Be surprised what a difference it makes in everyday living.

More enjoyment: Try it—won't you?

Mountain Grown!

Folger's Coffee is a unique blend of Mountain Grown coffees, selected for intensity and individuality of flavor.

Mountain Grown because in the mountains of the Tropical Americas, Nature combines all of the known elements for growing superlative coffees: ... namely: brilliant sunshine (tempered by altitude which keeps a year-round evenness of temperature) ... abundant rainfall; ... and amazingly fertile volcanic ash soil. It's Nature's own perfect combination.

The Folger Flavor—is a happy combination of these flavorful coffees, artfully blended with a know-how that is the result of 96 years of patience, integrity, and skill.

In the great over-all area where Folger's Coffee is sold—it is the largest selling individual brand; ... the acknowledged public choice.

Folger's Coffee is so rich in flavor you are urged to try using 1/4 less coffee per cup than with lesser flavored brands.

Making The Family Primary

An encouraging amount of interest is being shown in The Herald's effort to have its readers give their ideas on what a family should be. Several persons have sent in suggestions, not because they were motivated by the possibility of prizes, but because they are interested in the family. We hope that scores of others will participate in this event, intended as it is to focus attention to the observance of National Family Week.

There are varying degrees of opinion about the status of the American home, but there is unanimity that it should be a pivotal institution. If there has been substantial disintegration, then it is time that the problem be given more than lip service, for the home or the family is one institution which offers unlimited possibilities.

Perhaps much of the difficulty lies in the fact that the home, along with other institutions, exists in an atmosphere of intense competition. It has been the easier course to delegate or surrender by default many of the primary responsibilities of the home. It follows that in the face of this attitude, there should be a dulling of parental interest in children.

Because of kinship and intimacy, the family offers the best medium known for training.

The child taught to do specific chores creates lasting habits which make him conscious of the need for useful work, responsibility, cooperation.

In dealing with other members of the family group, he may be imbued with a genuine sense of tolerance and its fuller development, love. He may, if judiciously taught, learn the elements of management and finances; absorb the wisdom of good appearance and hygiene; feel the exhilaration of participation develop wholesome social attitudes.

The responsibility is primarily that of the parent. It is a tedious and a challenging task, for the world is full of warped personalities because of parents who didn't take time, who lacked interest, or who were too impatient or prejudiced to understand a frustrated personality in the making.

There needs to be a new and stronger realization in the popular mind that a legion of other activities are subservient to that of sound family life. If more parents could see that they are first of all teachers by precept and example, perhaps we would witness a wholesome withering of many of our social agencies in direct proportion to the strengthening of the family circle.

Confusing Government Figures

The gimlet eye has been put to "government figures" by the Abilene Reporter-News, showing contradictory statements which merely add to confusion and bitterness. Several striking examples of statements, based on "government figures" are listed.

The paper pointedly concludes: "During the war the various agencies that surveyed the increase in the cost of living never did agree on a common answer. And today, for all the encouraging figures, the supply of many urgently needed items is absent, or short, or outrageously priced.

"Today's consumer is more interested in goods than in figures. Yet he is, or should be, interested in the accuracy of government figures, too. For a growing suspicion that these figures may be used for policy purposes, rather than for information, could contribute to economic chaos."

The Nation Today—James Marlow

Is Lewis Being Shrewd Striker?

WASHINGTON, (AP)—John L. Lewis' coal miners have been striking 37 days.

Yet Lewis still hasn't said, in dollars and cents, what he wants.

This is a new way of bargaining. Having set out to try something new, Lewis continues to try it.

The White House says the strike has become a "national disaster." It gives a gloomy list of industries strangling for lack of coal.

With the strike at the "disaster" stage, Lewis seems to be in position to wring from the mine owners and the government concessions he could not have obtained before the strike started.

Lewis is shrewd. Now that the country is aroused—and perhaps to keep it from becoming critically angry—Lewis may consider this the dramatic and effective moment to start talking turkey.

The longer the nation suffers under this strike, the more bitter the public reaction.

Then it's a question of how much public reaction Lewis can stand and how long his miners can afford to remain idle.

Several months ago the House passed a bill, called the Case bill, which was the most severe measure to curb labor ever passed by the House. Labor screamed.

The bill went to the Senate. The senators thought it too tough. They softened it up and finally bottled it up. Senate leaders haven't let it come to a vote.

Now some Senators, as a result of the coal strike, are developing an angry mood.

If the strike continues, the Senate may act and, together with the House, turn out a law tougher than might ever otherwise have come from Congress.

That would not do Lewis's position in the eyes of labor any good. But if Lewis wins a big victory, then:

1. His technique in this strike—being vague and playing hard-to-get and even making wage demands appear secondary to some other demands—may set the pattern for other labor leaders when the present contracts end.

2. Lewis will have a stronger position than ever in American labor. Some people seem to think victory would clinch for him presidency of the AFL, if he wants it.

Efficiency Burns Up

COBURG, Germany, (AP)—Teutonic efficiency gets in its own way when it comes to putting out fires.

Despite all their wartime practice in wetting down civic bonfires lit by Allied bombers, German firemen still don't compare with their home-coupling brethren in the United States.

Such is the opinion of Capt. Frank Norton of 8 Ware Street, Boston, Mass., attorney and son of a Hub City district fire chief.

As American military government public safety officer of the Coburg district of Landkreis, Norton is responsible for fire and police prosecution of German civilians who violate military government restrictions.

"The German fire departments work just like the German Army," said the captain. "The fire chief must first enter the burning building and estimate the situation before they start throwing any water."

"When he has figured out the percentage of fire and smoke, they get busy. They usually manage to save the basement."

"They don't go to the fire holding on the back end of the truck with their shovels flying in the wind. They have a closed cab on the fire truck. They all climb in and sit down and ride to the fire like gentlemen."

"The professional firemen here couldn't get jobs as amateurs back home."

Norton has only 25 paid firemen in the Coburg district which includes three small cities and 129 villages and therefore has to lean heavily on volunteers.

He has no help in his job as fire marshal and only one lieutenant and an enlisted man to assist him in preparing evidence for court cases and in supervising five separate German police forces.

While June Marches On

NEW YORK—June March is a mate stage, I discovered all the tricks of the so-called cultural acting school were merely extensions of the old burley business Rags had taught me. I think he did a better job, too.

Since members of burlesque troupes frequently are highly uninhibited characters, they sometimes refuse to take direction. While in the midst of what was believed to be an impasse, where a straight man wouldn't do what Rags told him, the latter gentleman solved the problem simply and forthrightly, June said, by nailing the fellow's shoes to the stage and refusing to pull the nails out until he agreed to stand still when and where he was supposed to.

June does not expect her own personal enthusiasm for this sort of directorial efficiency to start a rash of talented young hopefuls to Rags' door asking him to give them the right Shakespearean pointers, for she feels that very few persons are smart enough to ignore Rags' burlesque and leg comedy screen roles long enough to consider his more esthetic capabilities. Even Rags himself, I'm afraid, doesn't share June's enthusiasm. To which June replies: "It just shows that you characters are soggy in the skull."

June's approach to the usually highly specialized demands of the theater comes through her training with a gentleman whose ability I always had thought to be slightly on the baggy pants' side of the acting profession—Rags Ragsdand.

June, however, will argue at the drop of a hat, Lily Dache or Stetson, about the stature of the aforesaid Rags when it comes to stage coaching.

June received her legitimate stage christening in "Truckline Cafe" by Maxwell Anderson, one of the noisiest flops in Broadway history.

"In burlesque you must develop poise, even if only to maintain your equilibrium and a minimum of dignity while being squirted in the face with ice cold seltzer," June said. "Rags gave me all the pointers I needed. When I finally made the legit-

Washington Merry-Go-Round—Draw Pearson

Lobby Works Against Vet Clothing

(Note—This is the second in the series of Drew Pearson's expose of the behind-the-scenes lobbying against price control.)

WASHINGTON — For some time Maj. Gen. Graves Erskine, ex-Marine fighter on Iwo Jima and now head of the labor department's reemployment administration, has been trying to get more clothes for veterans. To this end he asked Civilian Production Administrator John Small to shift wool manufacture from making so much fabric for women to produce more for men. Fabrics for women's clothing bring higher profits, and the wool industry has been concentrating on them.

General Erskine was only trained to fight Japs on Iwo Jima. He hadn't reckoned on the wool lobby. The veterans were out of luck.

at this hearing was so biased and one-sided that Representative Jerry Voorhes, fair-minded California democrat, resigned in protest.

However, here is the pay-off. Counsel for the Smith committee, Hyman Fischbach, did such a beautiful job heckling witnesses and bringing out testimony unfavorable to OPA that he was promptly given a fat retainer by the NRDDA. Furthermore, he continued to serve two masters at one time—the US government and the NRDDA.

From the government, Fischbach received $5,200 for probing OPA, while from the dry goods association he received a larger fee, presumably for digging up dirt against OPA.

When this columnist asked Fischbach in New York last week whether he was still on the government payroll, and still drawing two salaries, he replied that he was not. He said he had left the government payroll Dec. 31, 1945. He also stated that he received a "fee" from NRDDA, not a salary. When asked if this fee was $40,000, he said he could not reveal the amount.

In Washington, however, the clerk of the Smith committee stated that Fischbach was still doing "special work" whenever they needed him, while Congressman Smith when asked last week who was counsel for his committee, replied: "Hyman Fischbach."

Later the versatile Fischbach was loaned by the NRDDA to Senator Wherry of Nebraska to write his small business committee minority report. The report followed the same lines as the anti-OPA attack which Fischbach already had written for the Smith committee. And after Fischbach had finished it, the NRDDA, which had been paying him, distributed the document all over the country—under the signature of Senator Wherry.

Campaign Contributions Count

Originally, the NRDDA had its eyes on Representative Cleo Hoffman, raucous Michigan Republican, as its champion on the Smith committee. However, he proved too one-sided even for them, and they switched to abler Congressman Fred Hartley of Kearney, N. J., also a member of the Smith committee. He has done a much more efficient job.

In fact Hartley is now known on Capitol Hill as the NRDDA spokesman. He has been in almost daily contact with John Hazen, NRDDA representative, in the Munsey building, also with Lew Hahn, the association's general director.

Hartley faces a tough election fight in New Jersey and naturally expects reward. Members of the NRDDA have assured him he will get it. At one time during the OPA fight, Hartley received about 2,500 letters criticizing him, and NRDDA representatives, fearing he would get cold feet, re-assured him that campaign contributions would be forthcoming at election time. This help would take the form of individual and personal contributions rather than contributions from the association, and there are indications it would not be under $10,000.

Texas "Independence"

Originally, anti-OPA lobbyists planned to use Hartley or reactionary Democrat Lyle Boren of Oklahoma to introduce the National Association of Manufacturers' OPA de-control amendment. In the end, they picked Ed Gossett of Wichita Falls, Texas, as a better puppet.

During the OPA debate, newsmen were tipped off that Gossett was to introduce an important amendment, and cornering him in the House lobby, asked what the amendment was. "I'm not quite sure yet," replied the alleged representative of a state which once prided itself on independence. Apparently Gossett hasn't yet received the amendment's text from the boys who really pull the strings on Capitol Hill.

(NOTE—Another column on how the lobbyists operate behind-the-scenes in the Senate will follow soon.) (Copyright, 1946, by the Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

HEREFORD, May 7. (AP)—Tired and hungry after supervising the weighing and loading of more than a million pounds of beefsteak-on-the-hoof for shipment to the New York market, L. B. Goodwin made the rounds of local restaurants and markets and found that he couldn't buy a beefsteak in town.

Serving Two Masters

Actually most of the nation's retailers, including many NRDDA members, are for OPA. Macy's has taken full-page advertisements urging its continuance. Niehan-Marcus in Dallas has publicized the same. Thousands of small retailers are worried over inflation, want price control continued, though with modification of certain OPA regulations.

Despite all this, the National Retail Dry Goods association some time ago helped promote the OPA investigating committee, headed by Representative Howard Smith, the Virginia democrat who always votes with reactionary republicans.

Legion Mushball Team In Action

Softball fans who sit in on the Church league triple header at the Mury park this evening will have opportunity to see one of the best girls teams in West Texas in action when the crack American league contingent takes the field against the YMCA club at 7:30 o'clock.

At least there is the contention of the backers of the brigade, who have seen the lasses in practice and were witness to their opening game victory against Stanton last week.

Katherine Redding is field captain of the Legionaires and will anchor the crew at third base.

The evening's opening bout will pit the First Methodist church boys club against the Airport Baptist at 6:15 o'clock.

The final bout, scheduled for 8:45 p. m., also finds two boys teams in action—the Salvation Army contingent opposing the YMCA aggregation.

All games are exhibitions and have no bearing on the league race which will get underway next week.

What Is Wrong When Prayer Fails?

Thirty years ago, in Forbidden Tibet, behind the highest mountains in the world, a young Englishman named Edwin J. Dingle found the answer to this question. A great mystic opened his eyes. A great chance came over him. He realized the strange power that knowledge gives.

That power, he says, can transform the life of anyone. Questions, whatever they are, can be answered. The problems of health, death, poverty and wrong, can be solved. In his own case, he was brought back to splendid health. He acquired wealth, too, as well as worldwide professional recognition.

Thirty years ago, he was sick as a man could be and live. Once his coffin was bought. Years of almost continuous tropical fevers, broken bones, near blindness, privation and danger had made a human wreck of him, physically and mentally.

He was about to be sent back to England to die, when a strange message came—"They are waiting for you in Tibet!" He wants to tell the whole world what he learned there, under the guidance of the

Rickey Joins New York Americans In Court Battle Against Pasquel

Battle Will Be Carried To Top, Says Mexican

NEW YORK, May 7 (AP)—Jorge Pasquel and his Mexican baseball league faced a legal battle on at least two fronts today as the New York Yankees and Brooklyn Dodgers went into court in an effort to halt the raids on their high-priced talent by the millionaires from south of the border.

A hearing on Yankee President Larry MacPhail's petition for a permanent order restraining the Mexican league from attempting to lure his players away was to begin in New York supreme court.

On the eve of this struggle, Federal Judge Rube M. Hulien issued a temporary restraining order in St. Louis enjoining the Pasquel organization from "unlawfully interfering" with the Brooklyn Dodgers and set May 14 for hearing on a request for a permanent injunction filed for the club by a St. Louis attorney.

MacPhail declared meanwhile that the Yankees would seek injunctions against the Mexican league and its agents in every state where his team plays and President Branch Rickey of the Dodgers said he would resist the efforts of Jorge Pasquel and his brothers in every way he could.

Bernardo Pasquel, vice president of the Mexican league, said in New York, if necessary, his organization would "go to the supreme court to establish the right of our league to offer better salaries than are now open to baseball players on the North American continent."

"We have offered baseball players better salaries, improved living conditions and reduced working hours to play in Mexico," Bernardo said in a prepared statement on the eve of his appearance in court on the Yankee hearing. "We come into court with no apologies for these actions."

The Dodgers president said he felt the Mexican league's attempted operations in this country posed a temporary threat, rather than a permanent one, because the Pasquels couldn't keep on paying out money that doesn't come in at the gate.

Baseball Commissioner A. B. Chandler declined comment on the court struggle.

In Washington, the Mexican embassy also had no comment on reports the Mexican league would seek diplomatic aid in answering the court action.

greatest mystic he ever encountered during his twenty-one years in the Far East. He wants everyone to experience the greater health and the Power, which these came to him.

Within ten years, he was able to retire to this country with a fortune. He had been honored by fellowships in the world's leading geographical societies, for his work as a geographer. And today, 30 years later, he is still so athletic, capable of so much work, so young in appearance, it is hard to believe he has lived so long.

As a first step in their progress toward the Power that knowledge gives, Mr. Dingle wants to send to readers of this paper a 9,000-word treatise. He says the time has come for it to be released to the Western World, and offers to send it, free of cost or obligation, to sincere readers of this notice. With TOMMY HART Former WT-NM baseball players are popping up all over the baseball map.

Sent down by Columbus last week, Andy Mohrlock, the former Big Spring hurler, pitched himself a ball game for Houston Saturday against Dallas but lost, 5-3, when Bob Gillespie of the Rebels proved a bit better.

Jodie Beeler, the one-time Lamesa third sacker, winds up with Syracuse of the International league. He's now an outfielder, was with Birmingham in the Southern Association before he advanced a peg. Jodie may have trouble in sticking with the Chiefs, however, since there's five outfielders on the club.

Homer Matney, a crackerjack prospect at Pampa in 1942, has lived up to his promise, is now with St. Paul and going like a house afire. At the last report, he was fattening up on American Association pitching with an average in excess of .400.

Rube Naranjo, the former Midland catcher, is being used solely as a pinch hitter by San Antonio, but has come through twice in three trips.

Our town's Billy Capps has climbed into the select circle of .300 hitters as a Beaumont third sacker. And, of course, Eldon Muratore of the 1940 Big Spring team, is still among the batting leaders.

Dunny Goode, the Midland flash who finished fourth in the quarter mile run of the state track and field meet last Friday, has two years of eligibility remaining.

Local fans will remember Goode as the lad who put on a whole of an exhibition at our Golden Gloves' boxing tournament a couple or three months ago.

George White, the Dallas scribe, brings back the report that Big D will have a club in the All-American pro football league in 1947.

Bobby Layne, who pitched a no-hitter Saturday for the Texas baseball team, victimizing the Texas Aggies, was injured in an automobile accident the week before he climbed onto the mound. He was on crutches until Wednesday.

Through Sunday's games, the New York Yankees had played to a total of 538,870 paying customers in 19 games. That makes for an average of better than 28,000 a game.

The Chicago football Bears, who like to dip into the bush league and come up with unsung speed merchants, have the name of Noah Mullins, University of Kentucky speedster, on the dotted line. He reportedly can do the century in 9.6 seconds.

With such men as Mullins, George McAtee, Bill Geyer, Frank Mannick and Hugh Gallareau in the secondary, George Halas should come up with the best backfield combine in the National pro league.

Doc Wilkinson rounded up his Redcap softball team Sunday and carried them to O'Donnell for an exhibition bout with an independent nine.

The bout never materialized and Doc couldn't find out why the opposition didn't show, other than that the manager was off waiting a fishing pole somewhere.

Boy Bandit Dies
NEW YORK, May 7 (AP)—James J. Johnston, manager, known throughout the boxing world, died suddenly today at his home of a heart attack. He was 70.

Familiar Face
SAN FRANCISCO, May 7 (AP)—Duke Kahanamaku, high sheriff of Honolulu county and in his youth the world's fastest swimmer, was here today in the stately capacity of "manager, coach, trainer and rubber" of the two-man team representing the islands in the National AAU handball championships.

Motorists, Oilers Record Easy Wins

L. D. Cunningham Pitches No-Hitter In 19-2 Victory

A total of 41 runs dented the dish in the Mury softball league doubleheader played at the city park Monday night as Big Spring Motor and Cosden's Oilers chalked up smashing victories to retain their positions atop the circuit standings.

The Fordmen rolled over Howard County Implement, 22-2, behind the three hit hurling of Glen Bremier.

L. D. Cunningham choked off the United Body Works contingent without a hit to pace the Oilers to a 19-2 victory in the second test. The Hammond gang tallies both their runs in the initial round when Cunningham "experienced a streak of wildness and walked the men home."

In the opener, five home runs banded off the Motorists hickory. Bremier contributed to his own victory with a four master while Willie B. Walker, Billy Joe Morris, S. T. Johnson and Dr. Ed Strauss also had round trips.

Bremier recorded ten strikeouts. The Cosdens got to S. Yates early, chasing eight markers across the plate in the initial round and added a like number in the second canto.

Ben Hogan Leads Pros To Houston

HOUSTON, May 7 (AP)—The nation's top golfers were moving into Texas today for the start of the summer tour of the PGA with $25,000 waiting for them in this state.

Thursday through Sunday they play in Houston's $10,000 tournament of champions at River Oaks country club.

Next week they go over to Fort Worth for the $15,000 Colonial national invitation, competing May 16-19 over the course where the last national open was held.

Little Ben Hogan, the torrid Texan who's leading the money-winner this year, is already in town—has been here several days appearing in four-ball matches at Beaumont and Corpus Christi. He arrived to find himself the favorite to take Houston's tournament first prize.

Byron Nelson, Sam Snead, Jimmy Demaret, Herman Keiser, Bob Hamilton, Sam Byrd, Ray Mangrum, Lloyd Mangrum, Dick Metz, Jim Ferrier, Clayton Heafner, Ky Laffoon, Tony Penna, Harold (Dug) McSpaden, Chandler Harper, Jimmy Hines, E. J. (Dutch) Harrison, Lawson Little, Craig Wood and Johnny Bulla are among the pros who will play here, with Frank Stranahan of Toledo, heading the amateurs.

DOGERS HAVE CHANCE
PITTSBURGH, May 7 (AP)—Branch Rickey says his Brooklyn Dodgers "have a chance to win the (National league) pennant" if agents from the Mexican baseball league don't start wrecking the morale of the players.

Lamesans Lose, 13-6

LAMESA, May 7. — Breaking loose for five runs in the first inning the Abilene Blue Sox went on to punish the Lamesa Lobos in a WT-NM baseball league game here Monday night, 13-6.

Bill Olson shouldered the pitching burdens for the winners, going all the way despite a shaky seventh inning when the Lamesans banked four runs.

Earl Benson had a home run for the Blue Sox.

Bobby "Pepper" Martin paced the Lobo attack with three singles, one a long triple.

The two teams clash here again tonight.

Checker Clinics Being Planned

All players and those interested in learning to play checkers have been invited to attend the initial session of a weekly tournament to be held at the YMCA, up stairs, 2-4 Main, tonight at 7:30 o'clock.

Players attending will participate in a round-robin, and instructions will be available to novices. Through cooperation of W. R. Dawes, general secretary of the Y, the tournament is being arranged by A. C. Preston and Otto Peters, Sr. A series of contests to be held in the Y on Tuesday nights is being planned.

A revival of interest in checkers started several weeks ago, when Peters issued a challenge to other players in the area and proposed that tournaments be arranged. Preston and A. H. Tate responded to the challenge, and then led a delegation to the Texas Checker Players Association tournament in Brownwood.

Wrigley Frowns On Night Ball
CHICAGO, May 7 (AP)—Let all the other major league club owners thump a "night and day" tune on their cash registers, P. K. Wrigley says baseball is a daytime sport and his Chicago Cubs are going to keep it that way.

Wrigley, who nearly installed arclights at Wrigley Field during the war, said today he was wrapped up in plans in moth-balls and may never join the nocturnal operating ranks of the seven other National league clubs.

In the rival American league, the Boston Red Sox recently opted to put up lamps in 1947. Thus, the Detroit Tigers in the junior circuit and the National league champions are the only lightless contenders among the 16 major league entries as sportdom jockeys for position in the race for postwar gold.

Record Wiped Out
ARCADIA, Calif., May 7 (AP)—A new world trotting record for a mile and one quarter was established at Santa Anita yesterday as War Giver, owned by J. G. Eddy of Riverside, Calif., stepped the distance in 2:35. The former mark of 2:35½ was set by Calumet Epsom in 1937.

Boston Machine, Clicking On All Cylinders, May Coast To Pennant

By The Associated Press
Joe Cronin's critics must be hard up for ammunition today with the Boston Red Sox winging away to an 11-game winning streak and topping the American league by three lengths.

Cronin's gang is the hottest thing in baseball this springtime season with the sluggers beating out a .316 team average during the victory spree and 10 of 11 starting pitchers going the route.

The letdown may be terrific later on, for the Sox haven't been far from home during the first three weeks of the campaign.

Tex Hughson, Daye Ferriss and rookie Mickey Harris were supposed to carry the pitching load but an ex-GI named Joe Dobson, generally overlooked in the early calculations, has been taking the boys with Harris on a perfect 4-0 win record.

Left Fielder Ted Williams has been living up to all expectations with a .411 mark (.481 during the win streak), and shortstop Johnny Pesky leads the league with a gaudy .430, center fielder Dominic DiMaggio and catcher Hal Wagner add their slugging to give Boston the first four hitters in the circuit.

The 11-game string is the longest since 1939 when Cronin's gang reeled off 12 in a row.

Boston gained a full game and a half on the New York Yankees who fell before Chicago's Thornton Lee, 2-1.

Steve O'Neill of Detroit could find encouraging signs in Virgil Trucks' 3-1 decision against Philadelphia.

Walt Masterson's relief checking enabled Washington to check Mullins Resigns

SANTA CLARA, Calif., May 8 (AP)—The housing shortage cost Santa Clara university its football coach today—Larry (Moon) Mullins, celebrated halfback of Knute Rockne days.

Mullins, in submitting his resignation, which was accepted by the athletic board, explained he had spent the past five months trying to find living quarters for his wife and six children.

Sanitary Toilet Slab Is Poured; More Available

First slab for sanitary toilet base material was poured Monday and these will be available as rapidly as the demand is felt, Lawrence Wells, city-county sanitarian, announced.

These are to be encouraged for use in areas now served by sewer lines and an emergency basis where connections may not be made currently because of material shortages.

Residents interested should contact the health unit by writing to 209 E. 2nd or telephoning 1706. A representative will make a personal call to explain details, costs, etc.

Wells said that the concrete slab, which is 4x4 feet, four inches thick and has an 18-inch riser, is designed to be placed over a 3x36-foot pit. A screened vent rises from it to the roof, and when an approved superstructure is added the facility is totally fly-proof.

The slab, which may be moved, sells for about $10, said Wells. Superstructure will be built by the individual, or it may be secured through some builders who will contract. At the present time, most residents planning to use the emergency type facility are finding it more practical to construct it out of used material.

In any event, when sewer connections become available, the facilities will have to be replaced.

Knott School Board To Consider Bids For New Buildings

Members of the Knott school board will meet with contractors at 2:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon in County School Supt. Walker Bailey's office to consider bids on the $110,000 rebuilding project authorized by a vote taken last year.

The plans call for erection of a new grade school, high school and gymnasium.

The five wooden buildings now being used to house the 300-odd students of the Knott district have long been inadequate. The system last underwent an enlargement program a decade ago when several structures were moved from Highway after the two districts had been consolidated.

School board officials who will attend the Wednesday session are T. M. Robinson, Fred Roman, Cecil Alfred, C. B. Donaghey, J. J. Kemper, J. C. Spalding and Wiley Burcham.

Cox Plans Complete Conservation Work

J. W. Cox of Garden City, a supervisor of the North Concho River Soil Conservation district, is planning toward a complete conservation program on his ranch, according to E. J. Hughes of the local SCS office.

Cox's program is aimed at improving his range by growing more grass, which will be supplemented with management practices, such as rotation and deferred grazing, thereby growing enough of the better grasses to control runoff water, soil erosion and the spread of undesirable plants.

SCS personnel will assist Cox seasonally with a vegetative; use check to determine the progress being made in increasing the better grades and to plan future operations which will produce more pounds of beef, mutton and wool per section and maintain the stability of his range.

Kite Contest Planned For Saturday By Y

A kite contest for two divisions of entrants will be held by the YMCA Saturday at the College Heights School, W. R. Dawes, general secretary of the Y, has announced.

The event will launch a summer program of competitive contests. Prizes will be awarded monthly in the two divisions, one to be composed of 4th, 5th and 6th grade students, and another of 7th and 8th graders.

Wright Promises Forum City Paving Will Be Started Soon As Possible

Declaring that the proposed city paving project will be carried out as soon as possible, H. W. Wright, city commissioner, told a group at the Open Forum meeting last night that it may be necessary to go out of town to get someone to carry certificates for the program.

Pointing out that Odessa and Fort Worth have similar projects in operation, he said, "If we have to go to Odessa to get someone to carry our certificates, we'll go."

Wright, who with George Mims, represented the city commission at the meeting, urged everyone present to attend the next commission meeting on May 14 and to feel free to attend any subsequent session.

Wright also informed the group that he recently learned that the hospital at the Army Air Field was offered the city several weeks ago to be used as a city-county hospital. It was not accepted, he said, after the chamber of commerce advised that the matter not be pursued in order that application could be submitted for the building to be used by the Howard County Junior college. The city manager is being instructed to re-open negotiations, he said.

Roy Reedoff, chairman of the chamber of commerce safety department, invited those present to participate in the chamber's thought survey, which begins Wednesday, and Justin Holmes and Dewey Martin extended a similar invitation to the school board meeting Wednesday night.

At the beginning of the forum, J. D. O'Barr was elected chairman for the meeting, and Paul Limer secretary. A proposal that a chairman and secretary be selected at the outset of each meeting obtained a favorable vote.

Opening of the Monday night affair, Limer wished the group of the possibility of Highway No. 80 being rerouted to by-pass the Big Spring business district, stating that he believed it would happen within five years unless action was taken to prevent it. Limer was then selected to head a committee to investigate and report at the next meeting.

Urging those present to give more publicity to the forum meetings, Limer expressed dissatisfaction at the size of the crowd (about 35). Time was sought on radio station KBST, at regular rates, he said, to publicize last night's meeting. However, after being referred to the station manager, it developed that negotiations could not be completed in time to get the program on the air before the meeting.

"I had to hunt through The Herald this afternoon before I finally found a notice of the meeting on the editorial page," he said.

The group voted to hold another meeting within the next 30 days, with a definite date to be arranged later.

Downing Asks Brotherhood To Help Boys

Members of the First Baptist Brotherhood, honoring its Boy Scout troop No. 5, heard an appeal from Delbert Downing, Midland scout chairman, to "give your time and yourself to your boys."

Downing was the principal speaker at the dinner affair, at which approximately a score of the parents of troop members were present as special guests for the evening. Arnold Seydler, scoutmaster, introduced members of the troop committee, J. B. Apple, neighborhood commissioner, and had each scout introduce his parents.

Mrs. L. D. Jenkins, who heads the Girl Scout troop sponsored by the church and who is the mother of one of the members of the Boy Scout troop, expressed appreciation for flags given the unit.

Because men potentially are builders of eternity, Downing urged them to "join hands... in understanding" to draw closer for more effective work. He said that the best way to keep boys in Sunday school or in scouting or anything worthwhile was to "build a wall of men around them."

Reports from committees told of recommendations to secure a mission site in the southern part of town and of arrangements for purchase of a tract from the T&P for a future site for the Mt. Bethel Baptist (colored) church. Cecil Collings, president, presided.
