Board okays exit exams for seniors

AUSTIN (AP) — State Board of Education members have conditionally approved a final examination that high school students must pass in order to get a diploma.

The preliminary vote came Thursday as the 15-member board began a three-day session. A final vote on "exit tests" will be taken Saturday.

Today, the board's Committee on Students was scheduled to act on proposed rules that would let schools expel or suspend students who bring drugs, alcohol or guns to the classroom. A final vote on the proposal also was set Saturday by the board.

"I think we have done everything we could possibly do to follow the Legislature's instructions," said board chairman Jon Brumley of Fort Worth. "I think we have balanced equity and quality as well as we could."

The 11-1 approval of Texas Assessment of Minimum Skills tests came after a two-hour closed session then another hour of debate over the public vote.

The new test is the result of the major school reform bill passed by a special session of the Legislature last summer. It will be given first this October to 11th graders. If a student fails, there will be three more opportunities to retake the test before the end of the 12th grade.

"This follows up the requirements of House Bill 72, when the Legislature said we must expect more of the educational system of this state," said state Education Commissioner W.N. Kirby.

"We believe it is not only legal, but fair," Kirby added.

Board member Carolyn Crawford of Beaumont suggested that the approved test was too strict and a test now given at the 9th grade level should be used at least the first year.

"I fear we will be in the courts for years," she said.

Kirby said the Texas Education Agency staff didn't believe the current 9th grade test would fulfill the Legislature's requirements.

Kirby estimated that about three-fourths of Texas students would be able to pass the new test this fall.

"This means that about 25 percent will need additional help in the next two years, when the test will be revised again," he said.

Ask Us

Q. — 1986 will be the year of the Sesquicentennial in Texas. Are we supposed to celebrate all year or just during a specified time?

A. — The Texas Sesquicentennial Commission recommends a year-long celebration, beginning Jan. 1 when a statewide "bell-ringing" is scheduled. Local committee members say each of the regularly scheduled events for Scurry County, such as July 4, the fair and White Buffalo Days, will have a Sesquicentennial theme.

Quarter comparison down...

Year's deposits up $14.3 million

Deposits in Snyder's five financial institutions increased a total of $14.3 million over the same time last year, but deposits were down slightly when compared to the first quarter of 1985.

Total deposits at three banks and three savings and loan firms were $247.3 million compared to $233 million at the end of June in 1984. When compared against deposit figures at the conclusion of the first quarter of 1985, deposits were down $8.5 million.

Bankers noted that a drop in deposits at mid-year has been a normal trend over the years. One reason cited is that recently collected tax money is normally reflected in first-qurter deposits.

Snyder National Bank on June 30 reported deposits of $85.1 million, an increase of $1.9 million over mid-year in 1984 and down $200,000 when compared to the first quarter of 1985.

West Texas State Bank had deposits of $84.2 million, a jump of $2.5 million over the same time last year and a decrease of $4.2 million when compared to the first quarter.

American State Bank's deposits of $17.2 million were an increase over both quarters. ASB's figures were up $200,000 over last quarter and up $1.2 million over a year ago.

First Federal Savings and Loan reported total deposits of $33.3 million compared to $32 million at the end of the first quarter–a jump of $1.3 million. When compared to the same period last year, the increase was $8.4 million.

Snyder Savings and Loan had total deposits of $28.4 million, an increase of $1.2 million over the same time last year and a decrease of $100,000 when compared to the $28.5 million reported at the end of the first reporting period of 1985.

Total loans at the five financial institutions were $142.5 million, an increase of $14.4 million over this time last year.

In addition the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. in May of 1984 had assumed $9.5 million in loans from the defunct First National Bank. The FDIC reported that as of June 30, that total loan figure had been reduced to $7.3 million compared to $7.6 million last quarter.

West Texas State Bank showed total loans of $46.8 million, an increase of $2.1 million over last quarter and an increase of $7.2 million when compared to the same period in 1984.

Snyder National Bank reported loans of $45.2 million compared to loans of $42.5 million at the end of the first quarter, an increase of $2.7 million. When compared to the same time last year, SNB loans increased $3.5 million.

American State Bank reported loans of $6.6 million compared to $6.2 million at the end of 1985's first quarter–an increase of $400,000. When compared to the $3.4 million loan figure at the same time last year–the increase was $3.2 million.

Ranching 'for profit' at seminar

Livestock producers are invited to attend a Ranching for Profit School Seminar scheduled at Western Texas College on July 22.

Speakers will be two associates of the Ranching for Profit School, Skipper Duncan of San Angelo and Bud Trippett of Salt Lake City.

The program will run from 4 until 8 p.m. in the WTC Planetarium. A meal will be provided for all participants courtesy of Ezell-Key Grain Co. Inc.

Fees for those who preregister, fees will be $15, and for at the door registration, $20. These should be sent to Jerry Baird at WTC with checks made payable to the college.

Trippett will be speaking on grazing management to help producers get the best production from their rangeland. Duncan will discuss financial planning to help ranchers make logical and profitable decisions in the operation of their ranch.

LESA BARKOWSKY
...to visit France...

Girl to France in program exchange

Lesa Barkowsky, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Edward Barkowsky, will leave July 22 for a month long stay with a family in France.

The trip abroad has been arranged through the Rotary International Youth Exchange program, the new affiliation for the former American Field Service (AFS) group here.

The family she will visit lives in a home located over a bank which the father manages. They have two daughters, one aged 16 and another aged 25.

"I can't wait to go. I have been looking forward to this forever," Lesa said.

She speaks some French, studying it for two years in school, but the 16-year-old French girl speaks both English and Spanish so she said she doesn't think communication will be a problem. In the meantime, she is taking a crash course in French courtesy of the local French language teacher.

Lesa noted that next summer the 16-year-old French girl will visit her in Snyder.

Under the provisions of the Rotary International Youth Exchange program, visitors abroad can choose which country they want to visit and when they want to visit. Usually, but not always, a joint exchange of visits is arranged.

Sometimes the visitor from another country can stay with the same family or choose a different family, Lesa said. These visits are normally scheduled during the same summer, but that proved impossible this year.

At first, Lesa wasn't sure she would be able to go this summer since Rotary International had notified her she had applied too late for consideration. However, two weeks ago she received her "get acquainted" letter from the French family and plans for the trip soon began "falling into place."

Lesa will be a senior at Snyder High School this fall.

100-year honor set

From now through Aug. 30, the Scurry County Historical Commission will be distributing application forms to qualify county farms and ranches for the 1985 Family Land Heritage Program.

This program is designed to honor those agricultural or ranching operations which have been in continuous production in the hands of one family for 100 years or more.

Drug charge plea offered

A 22-year-old Snyder woman was placed on felony probation in the 132nd District Court Thursday after entering a guilty plea to charges of possession of a controlled substance.

Traci Cooley of 317 34th St. entered the plea. She was arrested March 19 on charges of delivery of a controlled substance and possession of a controlled substance — two counts involving separate types of a controlled substance.

The arrest was one of 10 other suspects charged at the conclusion of an undercover investigation by the Scurry County sheriff's office.

Her plea Thursday was to the more serious of the two charges. The lesser charge involving delivery has been dismissed.

She now faces 10 years under the supervision of the adult probation department.

Keeping tabs on our neighbors:

The Levelland News-Press reports that effective July 17, a city ordinance will impose a curfew on the youth of that city.

The new law is a result of a much-debated issue in that South Plains city. It will make it unlawful for youngsters 16 and younger to be in public places between 11 p.m. and 6 a.m. every day except Friday and Saturday when the curfew will be midnight to 6 a.m.

When we were growing up, we recall some folks proposed that the city adopt a curfew for the youth, but it failed to gain support.

Frankly, we see no need for it. Parents, not law enforcement officers, ought to be responsible for the time the kids come in.

It reminds us of the story about the wise parent who used some pretty good psychology in order to get the youngster to bed at 9 p.m. on a school night.

The parent had met repeated resistance from the youngster. He wanted a drink, he was hungry, he needed to use the bathroom, or he had just remembered some last-minute homework.

The parents decided to use their heads when he asked about 8 p.m., "Johnny, do you want to go to bed now or stay up until 9 o'clock?"

James Roberts, in the Andrews County News, wrote about a local charter pilot that had an Andrews family aboard last week at the Austin airport.

The plane taxied into position for takeoff when the tower asked it and several other waiting aircraft if they wanted to take off or wait because of a "serious message."

The tower reported that an Austin TV station had received an anonymous call stating that the next plane that departed would be blown from the sky.

Naturally, most of the pilots decided to head back to nearby terminals. After a long wait, one Lear jet taxied took off without incident, followed by the others.

Despite the bizarre incident, there were no media reports. And it was probably wise in order to prevent copy-cat incidents.

Man found beside road

The body of a Fluvanna man was found beside Round Top Road around 8:12 p.m. Thursday less than a mile south of Western Texas College.

Services are now set for 2 p.m. Saturday for Kent Lane Campbell, a 1981 graduate of Snyder High School.

Scurry County Judge Preston Wilson was witholding a final ruling in the death pending an autopsy report, although the wound was apparently self-inflicted, officials say.

Campbell was found lying beside his car on the east side of the roadway. He apparently died from a gunshot wound to the abdomen. A .22 cal. pistol was found with the body.

Local law enforcement officers were first summoned to the scene at 8:12 p.m. following a call from a passerby.

In Brief

'Copter crash

TOKYO (AP) — A U.S. Marine helicopter slammed into a hillside on Okinawa island today, killing four crew members who were on a routine training mission, a Marine Corps spokesman said.

The cause of the accident was not known, said spokesman Capt. Dan Trout.

It was the second crash of a Japan-based Marine CH-53D "Sea Stallion" helicopter in three months.

An eyewitness reported the helicopter was "roaring and spouting gray smoke" before it exploded in flight and plunged into a hillside, said local police spokesman Masahiro Nakamura.

Kuwait blasts

KUWAIT (AP) — A number of suspects have been arrested in the bombing of two crowded seaside cafes in which 11 people died and 89 were injured, a security official said today.

Authorities halted outgoing flights at Kuwait airport and coast guard boats patrolled Kuwait's territorial waters to try to seal all exits from the Persian Gulf country.

No one claimed responsibility for the Thursday bombings, the latest in a string of terror attacks in this oil-rich nation of 1.5 million.

"A number of suspects have been arrested," said the security official, who spoke only on condition he not be identified. "The two time bombs that ripped through the cafes were 25 kilograms (55 pounds) of TNT each, placed by terrorists on the grass under chairs along the playgrounds of the cafes."

Reward led to man's capture

BLOSSOM, Texas (AP) — After escaping from a county jail and eluding authorities for a week, convicted kidnapper James Wesley Foote was captured in his parents' hometown with the help of a $2,000 reward [illegible] father of the kidnap victim.

Authorities tracked Foote down Thursday after being tipped that he was hiding in a house in this community outside Paris, about 150 miles northeast of the Johnson County Jail in Cleburne, Lamar County Sheriff's Lt. Jerry Robbins said.

Foote had escaped July 4 by scaling a fence at the Johnson County Jail during an exercise period. He had been sentenced to life in prison for his part in the January kidnapping of 13-year-old Amy McNiel — an ordeal that ended several days later in a shootout with authorities.

Authorities said a $2,000 [illegible] offered by the girl's father, Alvarado businessman Don McNiel, led to Foote's arrest. Officials said Foote had threatened revenge against the McNiel family and Johnson County authorities.

McNiel said the reward would be paid to the tipster, who was not identified.

"I'm relieved," Amy McNiel said Thursday from her Alvarado home. "We've had a guard outside all the time, and I haven't been able to go anywhere since all this started."

Foote, 34, was wearing only drawstring trousers and was covered with chigger bites when he was arrested, officials said. Foote told authorities he was on his way to see his parents, Robbins said.

As he was led to the Lamar County jail, Foote told The Paris News that revenge against the McNiels "never entered my mind."

"If it had of, I would never have been up here. I should have been down there," he said, referring to Alvarado.

Foote was returned to Cleburne Thursday afternoon, and Johnson County Sheriff Eddie Boggs said he would be transferred today back to the Texas Department of Corrections.

Jury rules man who killed himself had killed his dad

STEPHENVILLE, Texas (AP) — Despite testimony from his mother that moved some jurors close to tears, an Erath County jury has ruled that suicide victim Don Marshall Thompson murdered his wealthy father in 1982, even though the elder man's body was never found.

Don Thompson, who killed himself Jan. 19 as lawmen attempted to arrest him in Stephenville, killed retired airline pilot Jo Bert Thompson Nov. 12, 1982 by shooting him with a gun, the civil jury decided Thursday in a wrongful death suit that ended with the elder Thompson's sister being declared sole heir of her brother's estate valued at more than $1 million.

The six-man, six-woman jury's decision capped four days of testimony in the suit filed by Jo B. Thompson's sister, Leonette Mayes.

After the verdict was returned, District Judge Don Jones ruled that Mrs. Mayes, of Fort Worth, was the executor of the estate and that neither Don Marshall Thompson nor his heirs were entitled to any of the estate.

The father's body has never been found, except for gold bridgework lawmen maintain came from Jo B. Thompson's teeth.

As the verdict was read and Jones released the jurors, one woman dabbed her eyes. Jury foreman Quentin Bailey declined comment, saying, "I have nothing to say at all."

Nancy Thompson, the mother of Don Marshall Thompson, 32, and ex-wife of Jo B. Thompson, 62, also declined comment as she was wheeled out of the courtroom by her attorney Curtis Brown.

Mrs. Thompson, wheelchair-bound because of polio, is her son's heir, but was denied any part of the estate by the jury's decision. When the verdict was announced, Mrs. Thompson reached up, grasped her attorney's arm and smiled as if consoling him.

Although testimony proved her brother Jo Bert is dead and the body has not surfaced in more than 2½ years, Mrs. Mayes said, "My main purpose is to find my brother ... to find the body. I'll never give up on that, and I know the officials here will faithfully continue looking."

Both sides rested their cases Thursday morning after tearful and emotion-packed testimony from Mrs. Thompson.

A few jurors appeared close to tears as Mrs. Thompson struggled to regain her composure when she began her testimony.

When asked why she was attending the civil trial, she replied, "Well, to not come would have said Don is guilty of killing his father ... I know he didn't. I wanted the truth to come out."

The 55-year-old Miami, Fla., woman apologized to the court for crying and continued her testimony.

"Don loved his father very much. His dad was a hero to him," she said. "It was very important to Don to please his dad, and he wanted his dad to be proud of him."

Dear Abby

Power of Love Makes Ugly Engagement Ring Sparkle

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1985 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: You were way off base in your answer to "Confused in Queens" who "loved" the man, but hated the engagement ring her fiance had surprised her with. You said, "Tell him you love him and you know he wants to please you, so if it's possible to exchange the ring, you'd like to go with him and select one that's more in keeping with your taste."

Abby, whatever happened to "It's the thought that counts"? To me, the uglier the ring, the more special it would be. It may not be my taste, but it's obviously my future husband's taste, and to exchange it would be wrong. Living with a ring that is not my taste would be small potatoes compared to hurting my fiance's feelings.

Your answer had an ERA ring to it.

ROMANTIC IN SACRAMENTO

DEAR ROMANTIC: ERA my eye! A woman who hasn't the courage (or good sense) to tell her fiance how she feels about the engagement ring he surprised her with will surely withhold her feelings about the more important aspects of their relationship for fear of "hurting his feelings."

I am not suggesting she use a meat cleaver to make her point, but a marriage doesn't stand a chance unless both parties speak their minds about what they like and what they don't like.

Read on for an opinion from a jeweler.

DEAR ABBY: Having been in the retail jewelry business for many years, I've waited on hundreds of men who come in alone to buy engagement rings, and most of them haven't the faintest idea of what their intended would like.

I show them plain rings, fancy rings, all kinds of rings, and they all end up asking me, "What do you think she'd like?"

Of course I don't know the lady's taste, so I select a ring and tell him it can be exchanged. Then I suggest he bring the lady in and give her a voice in the selection.

No names, please. I don't want this to sound like a commercial.

RON IN OMAHA

DEAR ABBY: I am 54, divorced, and for the last three years I've been in love with a married man I'll call Roy. He and his wife are separated. She says she is satisfied with things the way they are, and she will fight any divorce action Roy initiates. She refuses to seek employment, saying Roy has to support her.

Roy hesitates proceeding with a divorce because he will have to give her practically everything he has worked for all his life. He is 59 and concerned about income for his retirement.

I love him and feel life would be meaningless without him. Do you see a solution?

ROY'S WOMAN

DEAR WOMAN: If it's marriage you want, Roy will have to pay the high cost of leaving in order to free himself and marry you.

If he can't—or won't—you are just another woman who's in love with a married man.

You can either stick with him and accept things as they are, or say goodbye. The choice is yours.

DEAR ABBY: I am pregnant for the first time, and I get very upset when people start telling me about miscarriages, stillbirths and other horror stories about crib death and any number of tragedies that have happened to them and other people. It really bothers me because I realize something like that could happen to me, but why remind me of it just before I have my first baby?

I suppose they want to prepare me for these tragedies in case they happen to me, but are we ever prepared?

I hope this makes your column. You can't imagine how upsetting it is for a woman who is pregnant with her first child to hear these depressing stories.

Thanks for being there, Abby. I feel better just being able to write this. Maybe someone will see this and think twice before she speaks.

Family feels safer with Foote caught

CLEBURNE, Texas (AP) — The news on July 4 that the man convicted in Amy McNiel's kidnapping had escaped from the Johnson County jail again filled Don McNiel with fear for his family.

On Thursday, upon word that James Wesley Foote had been recaptured, the Alvardo rancher said he felt like a weight had been lifted.

"It's over. It's through. We'll get on with our lives," he told a roomful of reporters.

Finding normalcy at the McNiel house has been difficult the past few months.

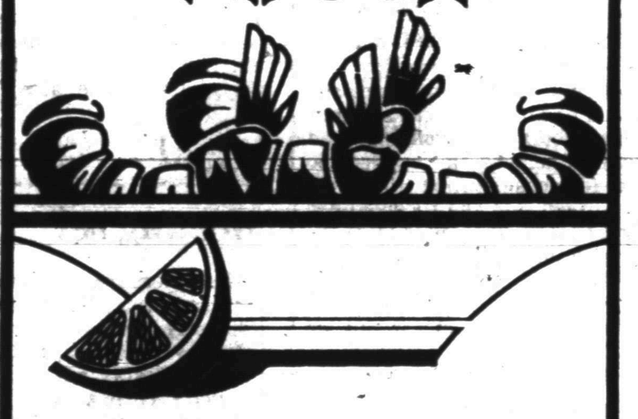

When Foote crawled over the fence of the jail exercise yard and disappeared into the trees, the McNiel family suddenly had armed men patroling their property, McNiel himself began carrying a gun between the house and his office in a barn, and the family shut itself up inside for five days, he said.

"He (Foote) had threatened our family before," McNiel said. "There's some apprehension about a man that has nothing to lose."

Both McNiel and law enforcement officers say McNiel's offer of a $2,000 reward solved the case. The reward brought forth an informant who told Lamar County officials that Foote was at a residence near Blossom.

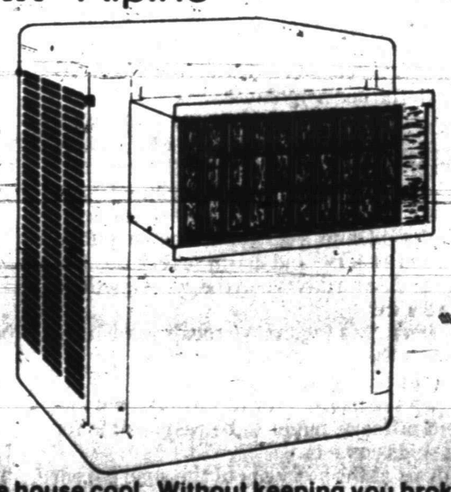

It was during the cold early morning hours of Jan. 13 that lawmen chased Foote, four others and Miss McNiel through East Texas at speeds of up to 100 mph. The chased ended in a gun-battle, and several officials raced under a hail of bullets to grab the teen-ager and carry her to safety.

According to impresario Billy Rose (1899-1966): "Never invest your money in anything that eats or needs repainting."

Mrs. Weatherby speaks for CWC

The Snyder Christian Women's Club met Wednesday, July 10 at the Snyder Country Club with Martha Weatherby of Odessa as the guest speaker. Her topic, "Celebrate Life", covered her turbulent teenage years and the eventual reconciliation with her father following her mother's death.

Terry Huestis, Snyder Junior High School shop teacher, was the local speaker. He displayed a number of items which his students had made during the year and explained various aspects of the work.

He informed the group that the students pay for the wood or metal they select but the school system furnishes all other materials needed for the finished product.

A question and answer session followed his talk.

Jane Womack, music instructor at Western Texas College, provided the entertainment for the afternoon. She acted out "Be A Woman If You Can" as she sang it.

Snyder Christian Women's Club is an interdenominational organization with no membership rolls or dues. The next meeting will be held Wednesday, August 14 from 11:15 a.m. - 1:15 p.m.

FOOD FOR AMERICANS

By Aileen Claire
NEA Food Editor

Bean soup knows no season.

Americans are being urged to add more fiber to their diets and at the top of the list are legumes such as beans, lentils and peas. This sopa de frijol pinto is a winner — it's a high-fiber dish, is as simple as opening a can or two and also is trendy with its Mexican-seasoned accent.

Serve this as a soup or in place of refried beans. Or make it a summer lunch with green salad or fruit and corn bread.

SOPA DE FRIJOL PINTO
(Pinto Bean Soup)

- 2 cans (15 ounces each) pinto beans
- 1 jar (15 1/4 ounces) Mexican salsa — mild, medium or hot
- 1 medium onion, chopped
- 1/2 pound pork bones
- 1 teaspoon oregano
- 2 cloves garlic, minced

In a 3-quart saucepan, combine all ingredients (meat may be removed from bone if desired). Bring to a boil; reduce heat and simmer 1 hour, stirring occasionally.

Garnish with a dollop of sour cream or lime wedge. This kitchen-tested recipe makes six 1-cup servings.

BLUEBERRY SNACK BARS

- 1 1/4 cup all-purpose flour (divided)
- 1 stick butter or margarine (8 tablespoons), softened
- 1/4 cup confectioners' sugar
- 2 eggs slightly beaten
- 1 cup sugar
- 1/2 teaspoon baking powder
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- 1/2 cup coconut
- 1 cup blueberries, fresh or dry-pack frozen

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Mix 1 cup flour, butter and confectioners' sugar until smooth. Spread over bottom of 8-by-8-by-2-inch square pan. Bake 25 minutes.

Mix remaining ingredients together. Spread over top of baked cookie base. Bake 30 minutes. Cool. Cut into bars 2 1/2 inches by 1 inch. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 24 bars, 115 calories per serving.

Note: If fresh blueberries are used, wash and drain thoroughly.

TOMATO-PINEAPPLE CHUTNEY

- 1 can (10 1/2 ounces) condensed crispy gazpacho soup
- 1 can (8 ounces) crushed pineapple in juice, undrained
- 1/4 cup raisins
- 1 tablespoon packed brown sugar
- Dash ground cumin
- Dash ground ginger

MICROWAVE METHOD: In a 1-quart microwave-safe casserole dish, combine all ingredients. Cover; microwave on High 5 minutes. Cool or refrigerate.

Serve as sauce with Indian curries or with other main dishes such as meat, poultry and fish. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 2 cups chutney.

CONVENTIONAL METHOD: In 2-quart saucepan over medium heat, combine all ingredients. Heat to boiling; reduce heat to low. Simmer 5 minutes, stirring frequently. Cool or refrigerate.

Serve as sauce with Indian curries or with other main dishes such as meat, poultry and fish. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 2 cups chutney.

CHERRY FRUIT TOSS

- 2 cups pitted Northwest fresh sweet cherries
- 1 cup diced avocados
- 1 cup melon balls
- 1 cup sliced peaches
- Creamy Honey Dressing (recipe below)
- Lettuce

Combine cherries, avocados, melon balls and peaches. Toss with Creamy Honey Dressing and serve in lettuce-lined bowl. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 6 servings.

Creamy Honey Dressing: Soften 1 package (3 ounces) cream cheese at room temperature. Blend with 1/4 cup dairy sour cream, 2 tablespoons honey and 1/4 teaspoon salt. Mix with electric mixer for smoother dressing. This kitchen-tested recipe makes about 2/3 cup.

MERINGUE BARS

- 1/4 pound stick butter
- 1/2 cup confectioners' sugar
- 2 large egg yolks
- 1 cup stirred all-purpose flour (spoon into measure and level)
- 1 teaspoon lemon juice
- Meringue (see recipe)
- 1/2 cup finely chopped pecans

Cream butter and sugar; beat in egg yolks; stir in flour and lemon juice until blended. Spread evenly in an ungreased 13x9x2-inch pan. Bake in a preheated 350 degree oven for 10 minutes. Spread with meringue; sprinkle with pecans. Continue baking at 350 degrees until topping browns - 25 minutes or longer. Cool completely. Cut into bars.

MERINGUE

Beat 2 large egg whites until they hold soft peaks; gradually beat in 1/2 cup granulated sugar and 1 tablespoon lemon juice until whites hold stiff and glossy peaks.

Grit your teeth and count to nine

When a big-fat finesse is staring you right in the face, it's hard to grit your teeth and count your tricks in the other suits. It seems so unnatural not to go after your best and longest suit. It will help if you remember that the contract is all-important. First make it. If you have time afterward, think about overtricks, but not at the risk of your contract.

Shortsighted South won the opening lead with the spade ace in his hand and tried the club finesse. That lost and back came a spade. Declarer was still in good shape if clubs split, but no such luck! When South finally and belatedly forced out the heart ace, West took three more spade tricks to set three no-trump.

All declarer needed was his eight fingers and either thumb to count to nine tricks — two spades, two hearts, four diamonds, and the club ace. But to be certain of taking all those tricks, he must take the spade king in dummy at trick one. Next comes the heart jack and, if West ducks the ace, a heart continuation. That brings in nine tricks. As for the club finesse — save it for the next hand, when you might need it.

MICROWAVE COOKING

Encourage children to cook. The microwave is safe for them to use since it does not involve open flames or burners. Supervise younger children. They'll need help opening containers and handling dishes of food.

Rather than the traditional cookie bake, help your child make a simple tomato-pineapple chutney. It can be his contribution to an outdoor barbecue.

LAFF-A-DAY

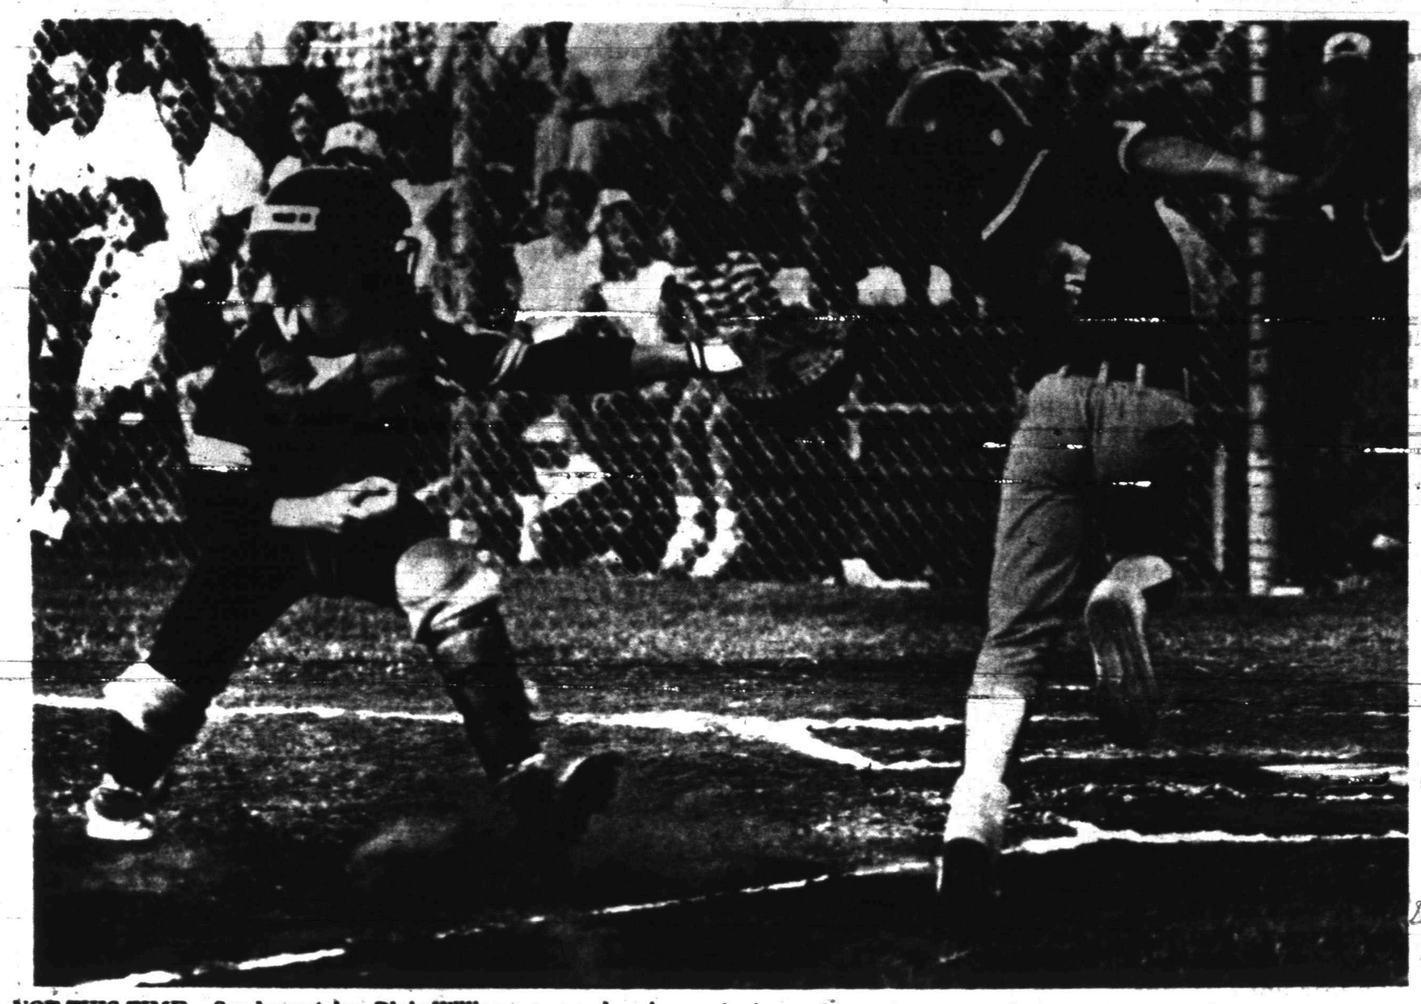

"Why can't you be like other kids and make your mother too tired to go out?"

DENNIS THE MENACE

"DID YOU ASK FOR A BOY WHEN YOU GOT ME, OR DID YOU LET THE DOCTOR SURPRISE YOU?"

NOT THIS TIME – Snyder catcher Blair Williams narrowly misses Stonewall-Kent runner James Tabor during first-inning action of last night's Little League playoff game here. Tabor's score gave Stonewall-Kent a 2-1 lead at the time but Snyder rallied in the third inning and won the contest, 9-4. The local All-Stars play Rotan at 8 tonight. Stonewall-Kent and Hamlin vie at 6. Both games will be held at Logan Field. (SDN Staff Photo)

Snyder Stars win; test Rotan tonight

A six-run third inning provided come from behind offensive punch for Snyder's All-Stars here Tuesday night and a good defense, highlighted by relief pitcher Gilbert Hernandez and outfielder Jody Tavarez, kept it that way.

As a result, Snyder tagged Stonewall-Kent 9-4 in the late game of the Area 5 Little League Playoffs and will meet Rotan tonight at 8 in the winner's bracket. Rotan defeated Hamlin 17-12 in Tuesday's other game. Hamlin takes on Stonewall-Kent at 6 this evening as the double-elimination tournament continues.

Snyder trailed 3-1 going into the top of the third inning Tuesday but used an error, four hits and two walks to spark a six-run rally.

Lary Gunset led off in the inning and reached on an error. Snyder coaches sent in Mark King to run for Gunset. Next-up Shelby Bufkin ground out to the pitcher but King was moved to second and he came in when Hernandez followed with a single. Blair Williams then walked, and Michael Torres singled in Hernandez to tie the game at 3-3.

Stonewall-Kent pitcher Paul Page continued to struggle. He walked Jason Taylor to load the bases and Daniel Espinosa doubled to bring home Williams and Torres. The local all-stars added two more runs as Terry Snyder singled in Taylor and Espinosa before Page and the Stonewall-Kent club could get a second and third out.

Snyder added insurance runs in the fifth and sixth innings. Taylor walked, moved around the bases on an error and scored on Tavarez's single in the fifth inning. In the sixth, Hernandez singled, went to second and third on a pair of passed balls, and scored on an error.

Meanwhile, relief pitcher Hernandez kept the Stonewall-Kent bats quiet. He had come in in the bottom of the second inning after starter Torres developed control problems. Hernandez gave up only two hits in four and two-thirds innings, and struck out 10 batters.

Some clutch outfield play by Tavarez complimented Hernandez's pitching, particularly in the sixth inning when Stonewall-Kent mounted a futile rally.

Hernandez got his first out in the sixth when Dustin Rhymes popped up to Espinosa, the Snyder first baseman. Next-up Michael Reyes then cracked a wounded fly ball to short right field and Tavaraz made a diving, one-handed catch for the second out.

Hard-hitting Albert Castanada got to Hernandez for a single, however, and James Tabor also slapped a short basehit to centerfield that got past the fielders, rolled almost to the fence, and allowed Castanada to score. Stonewall-Kent's hopes were strong as Page - a fine power hitter - came to bat. He slugged a pitch to deep right field but Tavaraz moved under it and made the catch for the final out.

In all, Stonewall-Kent managed just four hits, walked six times and benefitted from four Snyder errors. Snyder got eight hits, three walks and used five S-K errors. Like Hernandez, Page struck out 10 batters.

Snyder had taken a 1-0 lead early when Williams reached on a single and Torres doubled him in.

Stonewall-Kent went in front in the bottom of the inning. Castanada walked and Tabor singled to set up the action. Page then singled home Castanada. Tabor scored when Paul Morales bounced out to Espinosa at first base.

Stonewall-Kent's third run came in the second inning as Page hit a bases-loaded ground ball that was misplayed, scoring Will Shafer. Snyder got out of further trouble as Hernandez struck out both Morales and Parish Patel.

Houston Astros' ace...

Ryan hurls 4,000th strikeout

HOUSTON (AP) - It took him 18 years and 10 months to be in a position to notch his 4,000th career strikeout, and when the opportunity came Houston's Nolan Ryan knew exactly what to do.

Just as he had done so many times in his strikeout-filled major-league career, Ryan played New York Mets left fielder Danny Heep exactly as he planned Thursday night, sending the former Astro into the record books as the strikeout ace's 4,000th victim.

Ryan needed only three pitches against Heep, a fastball Heep fouled away, a changeup, which he took, and a curveball that Heep chased and missed.

"That's exactly what I wanted to do," Ryan said. "I went over those three pitches in my mind and I decided that's the way I wanted to do it if I didn't get behind him."

Following the historic strikeout, Ryan doffed his cap to the standing ovation that greeted him.

"This was special; I wanted to do this at home," said Ryan."This was my last start before the All-Star break. After the All-Star Game we have a long road trip, so that was my motivation."

Ryan started the game with 3,993 strikeouts and an 85-strikeout lead over his nearest rival, Philadelphia's Steve Carlton, currently on the disabled list with a shoulder injury.

He pitched seven innings and had 11 strikeouts, running his career total to 4,004. It also extended his career total to a major-league-record 158 games of 10 or more strikeouts.

"He's one of the most consistent pitchers around to throw as hard as he does for as long as he has," said Mets outfielder George Foster. "He's lost some of his fastball but not much."

Ryan recorded his first major-league strikeout in a Mets uniform on Sept. 11, 1966, fanning Atlanta's Pat Jarvis.

Ryan, who has five career no-hitters, says he never imagined early in his career that he'd still be pitching in his late 30s.

He attributes his longevity to a devotion to proper pitching mechanics and a lucrative salary structure that allows players to avoid off-season jobs.

"The two keys for me are due to the fact that I've concentrated so many years on good mechanics of pitching and also I've concentrated on being as well-conditioned as possible," said Ryan, Ryan, who is signed through the 1987 season at a salary of about $1 million per year.

Sports in summary

All-Star Pitchers

NEW YORK (AP) - Fifteen-game winner Joaquin Andujar of the St. Louis Cardinals and strikeout leader Dwight Gooden of the New York Mets head the eight-man National League All-Star pitching staff selected by Manager Dick Williams.

Detroit's two 10-game winners, Jack Morris and Dan Petry, and Tiger relief ace Willie Hernandez form the nucleus of the American League staff picked by Manager Sparky Anderson.

Williams picked three other starting pitchers - all-time strikeout leader Nolan Ryan of Houston, the Dodger's Fernando Valenzuela and LaMarr Hoyt of San Diego - and three relievers - Rich Gossage of the Padres, Montreal's Jeff Reardon and Scott Garrelts of San Francisco to round out the NL staff.

The AL staff will also include starters Bert Blyleven of Cleveland, Dave Stieb and Jimmy Key of Toronto and relievers Donnie Moore of California and Oakland's Jay Howell.

Walker Player of Year

NEW YORK (AP) - Record-shattering running back Herschel Walker of the New Jersey Generals was named the United States Football League Player of the Year by The Associated Press.

The former Heisman Trophy winner rushed for a professional football record 2,411 yards in 18 regular-season games this season, nearly twice as many as runner-up Mike Rozier of Jacksonville, who ran for 1,361.

Walker received 27 of the 28 votes from two writers and broadcasters from each USFL city. The reamining vote went to Oakland Invaders' quarterback Bobby Hebert.

Depression and appetite loss

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I have not been able to eat much since 1982, shortly after I had an aneurysm operation. I have gone from 180 pounds down to 127. Food tastes right, but I have to force everything down. Every once in a while I find something I like to eat a few times, but then I no longer care for it.

DEAR READER — I don't know why you lost so much weight in three years; it's worrisome. Some weight loss is natural after surgery, but you seem to suffer from a loss of appetite that has more serious implications. If I were you, I'd seek out a good internist, a doctor who specializes in difficult diagnoses. Your eating problem may be due to a condition called masked depression, but I certainly would want to make absolutely certain that your loss of appetite — and weight — is not caused by a physical abnormality.

DEAR DR. GOTT — My best friend's father was hospitalized for cirrhosis. I know that alcoholism usually causes this, but he drank only moderately, when he was out with friends one night a week. He never drank secretly or at home. Could this still cause cirrhosis?

DEAR READER — People respond in different degrees to the effects of alcohol. We have all heard of old curmudgeons who drink a fifth a day and live full and long lives. They are definitely the exception; alcohol is highly toxic to almost every organ in the body and some drinkers develop serious liver problems after having drunk only sporadically for a few years.

This is not to suggest that your friend's father has alcohol cirrhosis. There are many causes of liver scarring, or cirrhosis, including malnutrition, congenital malformations, hereditary diseases of metal metabolism, and congestive heart failure. A particularly virulent form of cirrhosis can complicate viral hepatitis. There also is a rare form of cirrhosis for which no cause has been found.

Statistically, alcohol cirrhosis is the most common type in the United States. However, even non-drinkers can die from cirrhosis if the disease follows hepatitis. I'm sure your friend's father has enough problems without being saddled with the additional disease of alcoholism. Give him the benefit of the doubt.

DEAR DR. GOTT — What does low blood pressure mean? I always associated it with sedentary, overweight or elderly people, but almost everyone in my family has it, and we're active and of all ages and shapes. I also thought that low blood pressure was healthy, but it seems to bother everyone who tests ours. (Our norms are 88 over 48 to 100 over 55.)

DEAR READER — I'm not at all sure there is such a thing as blood pressure that's too low in healthy people, regardless of age. I agree with you that low blood pressure is usually a sign of normalcy. Doctors like to quip that no one dies of low blood pressure. Yet, there are individuals who have blood pressure so low that they faint or become dizzy when standing up. This problem, when it causes symptoms, is usually secondary to a disease or condition, or results from the overzealous use of medicine. Healthy persons need not worry about their "low" blood pressure. The norms you mention for your family are quite acceptable.

Send your questions to Dr. Gott at P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101. Due to volume of mail, individual questions cannot be answered. Questions of general interest will be answered in future columns.

Limited sanctions

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Republican-controlled Senate, breaking with long-standing Reagan administration policy, is calling for limited sanctions against white-ruled South Africa to protest "evil" apartheid laws that discriminate against 23 million blacks.

"No group has a right in any country to be a master race," Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., said Thursday, hours before the 80-12 vote by which the Senate joined the Democratic-controlled House in approving sanctions.

Sen. Richard Lugar, R-Ind., chairman of the Sen. Foreign Relations Committee, added the bill would "distance this country from the evil of apartheid," the system of discrimination he said runs "counter to American concepts of decency and justice."

It was the first time the Senate has voted for economic steps against South Africa, and amounted to a statement that President Reagan's policy of "constructive engagement" does not go far enough. There was no immediate response from the White House to the legislation, although the president has consistently opposed sanctions in favor of his policy of seeking change in South Africa through negotiations.

Differences between the House and Senate bill will have to be worked out before a final product can be sent to the White House. Senate majority Leader Robert Dole indicated he thought the president would be willing to sign the Senate measure, and Kennedy said that after such a "clear and compelling" Senate vote, "I would not think that the president would have any alternative but to sign it."

The measure cleared following a four-day, conservative-led filibuster and unusually sharp rhetoric on the floor. So strong were the feelings that Sen. Jesse Helms, R-N.C., told photographers he did not wish to pose for pictures with Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif., who sharply attacked him a day earlier for "unwittingly (serving) the cause of communism" by mounting a filibuster.

Helms declared his filibuster a success, saying he had prevented "loading the Senate bill with the kind of garbage that Senator Kennedy and others were proposing."

Kennedy and others originally had sought to add sanctions to the measure, but in a roll call before final passage, conservatives maneuvered the Senate into voting 90-2 against the stronger, House-passed bill.

81-year-old King County jail closed

GUTHRIE, Texas (AP) — Criminals are running out of room in this West Texas ranching community and surrounding area.

Guthrie, with a population of 140, is the seat of King County, whose 81-year-old jail has been ordered closed. From now on, the county will send its prisoners 30 miles west to Dickens, population 409, the seat of Dickens County.

King County commissioners voted Monday to close the jail because it didn't meet requirements mandated by the Texas Commission on Jail Standards, the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal reported.

Closing the jail seems to be more economical than running it according to jail standards, Sheriff James Waller said.

"They didn't feel like the county had enough jail business to justify the cost," Waller said.

Wreck injures two youngsters

Two children were treated for minor injuries at Cogdell Memorial Hospital and released following a three vehicle traffic accident Thursday morning.

Six-year-old Frank Alvarez, Jr. and 18-month-old Jacob Alvarez sustained injuries when a 1973 Ford driven by their mother, Yolanda Castillo Alvarez of Rt. 2, Snyder, collided with two parked vehicles in the 2900 Block of Ave. M at 8:06 a.m.

Both children were taken to the hospital by private vehicle.

Damaged in the mishap were a 1975 GMC pickup owned by Nolan Electric of 1010 25th St. and a 1979 Chevrolet sedan owned by the Snyder Independent School District.

There were no other injuries reported.

Faith Baptist Church slates old fashioned tent revival

Faith Baptist Church will sponsor an old fashioned tent revival Monday through Sunday (July 15-21). Featuring old fashioned preaching and singing, services will begin nightly at 7:30 p.m.

Joe Boyd, a Jacksonville, Tex. native, will be the evangelist. He has earned many outstanding football honors including All-City, All-Southwest Conference Texas A&M in 1938 and All American tackle Texas A&M national championship team in 1940.

At the time of his call to preach, Boyd was assistant chief accountant at a shipyard in Galveston. After graduation from Southwestern Seminary, he entered the evangelistic field and has held city-wide and area-wide evangelistic campaigns all over the Unites States. During this time he pastored three churches, two in Dallas and one in Houston.

At one time he was president of a preachers' training school and operated a Christian grade school and high school. For many years he had a daily radio bradcast from Corpus Christi, known as "Strength for Today."

He has conducted 17 tours to Israel and other foreign countries, and preached revivals in Jerusalem, Hawaii, Barbados and Nassau.

Boyd and his wife make their home in West Union, W. Va., where he has established Mount Salem Revival Grounds, a training base for full time evangelists dedicated to the summer seminars of evangelism, youth camps, revivals and family camps.

Union Methodists revival continues

Union Methodist Church's revival will continue through Sunday.

Willard Moody, seven times national finals rodeo qualifier, speaks nightly at 7:30 through Saturday. The Sunday service begins at 11 a.m.

Johnny Ray Watson is the singer.

Methodists set guest preacher

The Rev. Steve Moore will be the guest preacher at First United Methodist Church at 10:55 a.m. Sunday. He is filling the pulpit in the absense of the Rev. Bob Metzger, who is at home recuperating from surgery.

Moore is director of the Wesley Foundation at Texas Tech University in Lubbock. His campus ministry is one of the largest Methodist Foundation works in the country. Wesley Foundation is Christian ministry to students on state campuses across the nation.

Felony theft reported at trucking firm yard

Police are investigating a felony theft report filed by a Midland trucking company Thursday morning.

Local employees of the TESORO Co. of Midland reported the incident at 9:05 a.m. The items were taken from their depot adjacent to the Plaza Truck Stop in north Snyder.

According to the report, some $400 worth of diesel fuel was taken plus a spare tire and wheel from an 18-wheel tank truck rig.

A 1980 Mack truck had also repotedly been entered with numerous small items taken from it.

The theft is thought to have taken place sometime between 1 p.m. Wednesday and 8:30 a.m. Thursday.

Total value of property taken from the site is estimated at $1,091.

...about "Christian Cults"

By Randall Gray

There are some unique religions that have sprung up in this country in the last 150 years. These are the so-called "Christian Cults".

These religions have several things in common. Let's take a look at them:

(1.) They were all founded by a "prophet" who is the central figure in the authority-structure of the cult.

(2.) The founders of these cults have all claimed to have had "latter-day" revelation from God. That is, they say that God has given them extra, post-biblical information concerning His will.

(3.) They all say that if you want complete understanding of God's will, you must come to them and hear what their "prophet" has said/written.

I guess the classic examples of these cults are the Mormons (also called the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints), the Jehovah's Witnesses and Christian Scientists.

Pure Christianity only needs the Bible to exist. God has already revealed to us EVERYTHING that we need for life and Godliness. (2nd Pet. 1:3)

Love affair used to obtain secrets

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government of Ghana used a love affair between a relative of that nation's leader and a CIA clerk to identify U.S. undercover agents as well as Ghanaian dissidents secretly cooperating with the CIA in the African nation, the FBI says.

"We do not yet know the full extent of the damage" to U.S. interests, Assistant U.S. Attorney Justin Williams said on Thursday at the arraignment of Michael Agbotui Soussoudis, a citizen of Ghana, and Sharon M. Scranage of King George, Va., both of whom are charged with espionage conspiracy.

However, Williams said the seriousness of the charge, as well as potential additional security damage if Soussoudis should be released, made it necessary that the Ghanaian be held without bail, a request quickly granted by U.S. Magistrate W. Harris Grimsley. Miss Scranage also was held without bail.

Both were scheduled for formal detention hearings next week on the charges, which could lead to life sentences in prison if they are convicted.

According to Justice Department sources who spoke only on condition they not be named, Soussoudis, a self-employed business consultant, and Miss Scranage, a $22,000-a-year CIA clerk, became lovers in Ghana's capital of Accra in 1983.

The FBI's affidavit, signed by special agent Julianne Slifco, accused Miss Scranage of furnishing, at Soussoudis' request, detailed descriptions of the CIA's operations in the African nation, including names and information about communications equipment.

In addition, the Ghanaians obtained a CIA report on efforts by the military government of Ghanaian strongman Jerry J. Rawlings to get weapons from Libya, the FBI said.

FBI Director William H. Webster said the alleged spying over the past year and a half was unearthed by the CIA itself, but no further details were revealed.

However, an intelligence source quoted in today's Washington Post said the alleged disclosure of confidential CIA data was a "disaster" for CIA operations in Ghana.

"It's very bad," said the source, whom the newspaper did not identify. "It tells people in Africa, 'Don't work for the CIA.'"

Miss Scranage, 29, confessed her role during interrogation by FBI agents at CIA headquarters Monday through Wednesday, the FBI said. She was arrested Thursday morning.

Soussoudis, 39, was arrested Wednesday night at a hotel in Springfield, Va., near Washington, where he had been led to believe he would have another meeting with Miss Scranage, the FBI said.

Hijackers

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — The state radio said today the government has ordered judicial authorities to prosecute the alleged hijackers of TWA Flight 847, who killed a U.S. Navy diver and held U.S. hostages for 17 days. The radio also identified them for the first time.

It said the government had told judicial officials in the district of Mount Lebanon, who are responsible for the Beirut International Airport, to prosecute the sky pirates, whom it identified as Shiite Moslems Ali Atwi, Ali Younis and Ahmed Gharbieh.

The radio did not specify whether warrants had been issued for the trio's arrest or whether they were in custody.

of $25.9 million--a decrease of $1.3 million when compared to the first quarter of 1985 and an increase of $2 million when compared to 1984 mid-year.

First Federal loans totaled $18 million, the same figure reported March 31 of this year. When compared to the $15.9 million loan figure at mid-year in 1984, the increase was $2.1 million.

Beets indicted

ATHENS, Texas (AP) — A woman accused of killing two of her husbands and burying them in her yard has been named in two murder indictments returned by a grand jury.

Betty Lou Beets, 48, was indicted late Thursday for murder and capital murder in the shooting deaths of ex-husbands Jimmy Don Beets and Doyle Wayne Barker, State District Judge Jack H. Holland said.

To working parents, life can be unequal. Child-care costs vary widely throughout the United States, depending on, among other things, the location of the facility and the type of services provided.

Airport security stepped up

WASHINGTON (AP) — Since the hijacking of TWA Flight 847 the government has stepped up its search for security gaps at foreign airports, but the Reagan administration and Congress are at sharp odds over whether the findings should be revealed to travelers.

The House has approved two measures — one of them unanimously — that would require disclosure to the traveling public of airports with substandard security. A Senate committee is to vote on similar legislation next week.

But the Reagan administration is maneuvering to head off the legislation, arguing that a requirement to disclose lax airports to the public might hamper diplomatic efforts to get security at those airport improved — or worse, provide directions to terrorists.

"Any legislation that forces our government to deal with a foreign government in a prescribed public manner would be counterproductive to the international cooperation that ... is necessary to deal effectively with terrorism," Transportation Secretary Elizabeth Dole argued in a letter this week to the chairman of the House aviation subcommittee.

"This includes requiring our government to make a public determination of the adequacy of security measures at foreign airports," she continued.

The subcommittee chairman, Rep. Norman Mineta, D-Calif., made the letter public Thursday and questioned why travelers should not know whether an airport they are flying to has security problems.

Mineta sponsored the measure, which has cleared the House and is before the Senate. It would require deficient airports to improve security within 120 days or be listed on the back of airline tickets and at all U.S. airports as not meeting security standards.

Matt Scocozza, assistant secretary of transportation for international affairs, said there is concern within the administration such a publication of substandard airports would provide "a road map" for terrorists that can be used to target certain airports.

"One of our concerns is the publication of lists," he told Mineta at a hearing Thursday.

But the congressman wasn't impressed. "A professional terrorist already is going to know (an airport's security reputation)," he responded.

Administration officials also are concerned that if they are forced to publish lists of airports where security needs to be improved it will cause diplomatic problems that could hinder talks aimed at improving security at the airports in question.

Those advocating disclosure of the airports respond that the threat of being singled out as a security risk might, in fact, spur government to making security improvements for fear of losing U.S. tourist traffic.

Questions concerning how much air travelers should know about airport security emerged almost immediately after the TWA hijacking when it was revealed that U.S. officials had known for months — some say even years — about serious security problems at the Athens airport where the hijackers boarded TWA Flight 847 a month ago.

Grand jury probe minus one juror

BEAUMONT, Texas (AP) — The grand jury investigating state Sen. Carl Parker was minus one grand juror for their session today. The juror stepped aside, saying his job as a Jefferson County deputy sheriff might influence his deliberations.

The deputy, Isaac Henry Jr., said Thursday he wouldn't be taking part in the fourth panel looking into drug trafficking and promotion of obscenities in the county including the Happy Times Video with which Parker is associated.

"He doesn't have to attend the sessions, but I can't release him, nor can he actually resign," State District Judge Jack King told the Beaumont Enterprise. King said state laws don't excuse Henry from being a grand juror.

Henry was one of 12 grand jurors randomly picked on July 1.

Alan McLemore, Henry's attorney, said, "My client did have questions in his mind, in his capacity as a law enforcement officer, whether he could be completely fair and impartial."

The grand jury needs but nine votes to meet and indict.

Wednesday, defense attorneys had protested the impaneling of Henry because he works for Jefferson County Sheriff R.E. Culbertson. They contend Culbertson told an October 1984 holdover grand jury that "probable cause" existed to bring indictments against Parker, Daniel Jacob Lee and David Earl.

King refused to remove Henry from the panel and also denied a request to call Henry as a witness.

"Being a jailer, he could hear something that might influence him in the grand jury deliberations," said Walter Sekaly, Parker's attorney. He said Henry's decision to not participte is "a lot better than nothing."

"Since (Henry) has expressed his feeling that he is uncomfortable serving on the grand jury, I expect that he will avail himself of that," Sekaly said. "I think he showed a lot of courage in admitting that he felt uncomfortable."

Litigation not over for no pass-no play

AUSTIN (AP) — The executive vice president of the Texas High School Coaches Association says he has a "gut feeling" that someone will challenge Texas' no-pass, no-play rule in federal court.

The rule was upheld Wednesday by the state Supreme Court, and Donald Jay of the THSCA said Thursday, "That's just the state. I think it will go to the federal level now. And then you've got a whole new ballgame."

The attorney for 45 Houston-area students and parents who are challenging the rule disagrees with Jay. Anthony Sheppard said federal courts are reluctant to address the issue of athletics.

Sheppard agreed, however, that the case is probably far from over.

He said the Supreme Court's ruling stated only that extracurricular activities such as football or band are not First Amendment rights.

The justices failed to decide whether the rule infringes on the rights of students excluded from activities such as student government and working for the student newspaper, he said.

"I'm afraid there will be 100 lawsuits, come fall," Sheppard said. "We will try to dispose of all of the issues in the final trial of our case," which is set for state district court in Houston Aug. 28.

"But if we can't do it by football season, it will be considered an open issue," he added.

Sheppard said the next step will be to ask State District Judge Marsha Anthony of Houston to accept his original suit as a class action on behalf of all students in the Alief and Spring Branch school districts who were excluded from extracurricular activities by the rule.

Sheppard also said he would ask the state Supreme Court to reconsider Wednesday's decision.

Jay, who coached high school sports for 22 years, told the Austin American-Statesman he still opposes the rule, which took effect in January. He said House Bill 72, which included the rule, discriminates against many students.

The intent, to force students to put academics first on their list, has backfired, Jay said. He cited surveys indicating that in the major Texas cities, there were more failures the second six-week period under the rule than the first.

Former TWA hostage receives many offers

HOUSTON (AP) — Former TWA hostage Allyn Conwell says he has received numerous offers for magazine articles, books and television appearances but isn't accepting all the offers, yet.

"It'd be hard not to consider them. I may be open to something of that nature in the future," Conwell told the Houston Post on Wednesday. "Someone has even mentioned a movie, but I'm not taking that too seriously."

Aside from the offers, Conwell, 39, has accumulated pounds of letters at the post office. He says he intends to answer every letter.

But the articulate and controversial spokesman for fellow American captives during the 17-day ordeal that culminated in Beirut, says his notoriety is fleeting.

"Given a few weeks of me being out of the country, if you mention 'Allyn Conwell,' the most common response will be, 'Who?'" he said.

Conwell has drawn criticism for speaking sympathetically during his captivity towards the more than 700 Israeli-held Shiites. The release of those prisoners was demanded by the two men who hijacked the plane and by the Amal militia that kept the hostages for the last 15 days of the incident.

When the freed American hostages returned to the United States, it was TWA pilot John Testrake — not Conwell — who spoke on behalf of the group at the July 2 welcoming ceremony attended by President Reagan.

Conwell has said the statements he made during his captivity were misconstrued.

"I worded my statements very carefully, because of my awareness of the feelings" of the other captives, he said. "I think time will bear out that the statements I made ... for the hostages were very accurate."
