Voters Follow State

County 'Big' For Briscoe

In the May Democratic primary Dolph Briscoe received 1,761 Mitchell County votes as he almost doubled the combined ballots of his 3 opponents.

When Mitchell County went to the polls again Saturday in the runoff second primary, the entire turnout was 180 less than Briscoe's single candidate total in May.

But despite voter apathy, the Uvalde rancher-banker was an easy, almost 3-to-1 winner over Sissy Farenthold enroute to his statewide victory for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

Mitchell County followed the state trend in all 4 state runoff races.

Briscoe, who took 56 percent of the statewide vote to beat Rep. Farenthold's strong bid, led here 1,104 to 464 as expected.

But probably the most impressive of all locally was Barefoot Sanders' overwhelming 1,059 to 515 margin over Senator Ralph Yarborough for the U. S. Senate nomination. Statewide, Sander's winning percentage was only about 52 percent of the vote.

The decisive loss in Mitchell County bore up a report given

A $444,500 total turn - key bid here Tuesday sends Colorado City's new 26-unit public housing project for elderly persons toward final federal approval.

Submitting the proposal, which includes every cost from the architect's drawing board to the completed apartments, was Turnkey Developers of Houston.

Turnkey Developers is a joint venture between Belco Construction Company Inc. of Temple and Fitch, Holdridge, Bisone & Holcomb Inc., Houston architects and engineers.

The bid is well within the more than $500,000 sum already reserved by the Housing and Urban Development agency for the project, subject to final approval of plans, sites and construction contract.

Colorado City Public Housing Authority, headed by D. M. (Jake) Merritt, accepted the bid proposal Tuesday afternoon.

The project bid and plans will be submitted to HUD regional offices in Dallas within a few days, according to Dennis Wadding, executive director for the local housing authority.

Expected to follow and lead toward final approval of the construction will be a conference in Dallas between Colorado City housing officials, the contracting and architectural firms and HUD regional executives, as well as inspection of sites here by HUD officials.

Gino E. Bisone, Turnkey official here Tuesday for the bid opening, said his firm expected to complete the 26 units within 4 months after start of construction.

The project plans are for brick veneer, single story, duplex units with an administration and community building.

Options for purchase of the land sites already have been obtained by the housing authority.

A new concept is being utilized in the apartments that will be built solely for persons 62 years of age or more who qualify under minimum income levels of the public housing program.

Instead of being built in a cluster-project, the units will be scattered in 5 separate site locations in Colorado City's central residential area.

This new scatter-pattern will better conform to the city's existing housing and will lessen the expense of furnishing utilities and adequate street paving and make the units more convenient to existing shopping and business firms.

Here are the proposed duplex apartment locations:

Site A--8 dwelling units (duplexes) on the north side of West 6th St. between Walnut and Oak.

Site B--Management and community building at corner of West 5th St. (south side) and Oak (west side).

Site C--6 dwelling units (3 duplexes) on both north and south sides of East 5th St. at the west side of Elm.

Site D--8 dwelling units (4 duplexes) on north side of East 7th St. between Chestnut and Elm.

Site E--4 dwelling units at the northwest corner of East 4th St. and Vine.

Floor plans for the apartment units are for 1 and 2 bedrooms. Four of the units are listed with no bedrooms simply because these are efficiency types with no door closure between the bed area and living room.

Twenty units will be 1 bedroom, 2 will be 2 bedroom.

Included will be kitchen with combination living-dining area, plus bath. In addition to the brick veneer outside, the units will have interiors with vinyl asbestos floor tile, painted gypsum board and tile at bathtubs.

The proposed management and community building at West 5th and Oak has lobby, office and conference rooms, plus an assembly area which with sliding wall can be divided into 2 assembly units.

Turnkey's bid proposal of $444,500 itemizes its total price as follows:

Site cost--$21,000; site improvement--$62,000; dwelling construction--$240,000; non-dwelling construction--$56,000; architectural and engineering services--$21,000; interim financing, taxes and closing costs--$44,500.

Bid costs do not include cost of kitchen ranges and refrigerators, which will be furnished by the housing authority but installed by the contractor.

Record Sale Sept. 1

McKinnon To Become Owner

Mac B. McKinnon will be sole owner and publisher of the Colorado City Record Sept. 1.

The former state editor of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram, who became co-publisher of the Record last August, will purchase the newspaper from Joe Bell.

Sale is subject to provisions of contract requirements already agreed to by the 2 newspapermen. It will include the newspaper's building and equipment.

The change in ownership will end a tenure by Bell of more than 20 years as publisher-owner and editor of the Record.

"This change has been planned for months," Bell said in announcing the sale agreement, "and has been geared for a gradual changeover so as not to interfere with the newspaper's operation and policies."

McKinnon, 28, resigned his Star-Telegram position and moved here with his family last summer to join the Record operation.

Since then he assumed the business and advertising management of the newspaper, in addition to taking a key role in news-writing and editorial supervision.

Before coming to Colorado

City, McKinnon's news career, after leaving the Air Force, included police and federal courthouse reporting, feature writing, and city hall reporting, all in Fort Worth. Later he was promoted to state editor, supervising 130 Star-Telegram correspondents in West Texas.

"It is of prime importance that the new owner not only be qualified in all phases of newspaper operation, but also have a particular interest, thought and energy for the welfare of this community," Bell said.

TOWN TALK

By MAC McKINNON

If anyone should tell you there's nothing to do in Colorado City, tell them to just think about the many activities that took place last week.

Last week was graduation time for schools in Colorado City and Lorraine, plus the many activities that go along with graduation.

Plus there were the regular activities of churches in the county, plus several additional activities and the two movie theatres had features showing.

There was a four-day rodeo which provided a lot of colorful excitement; there was a 36-hole golf tournament at the Country Club; the city swimming pool and country club pool were opened, and on top of all that, there was a fly-in Sunday morning.

There were fish to be caught at the two lakes, and of course there were elections Saturday and Tuesday and all of that should have been enough to keep everyone busy and happy.

Several of the events that occurred last week had not been presented for one or two years. It is hoped that the fly-in and rodeo will become annual affairs.

Events coming up this week include the presentation by the Colorado City Playhouse, Inc., of the popular play, "You're A Good Man, Charlie Brown".

The play will be presented Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights this week and next week in the Opera House beginning at 8 p.m. Tickets are $2.50 each and reservations can be made by calling 728-3491.

Also coming up this next week will be the state Democratic Convention in San Antonio and Mitchell County will have delegates attending the convention.

Delegates from Mitchell County are Joe Bell, T. P. Fowler, Drew Ballard, Charles C. Thompson and Tom Rees.

Top Golfers

Big Spring Pair Wins Golf Tourney

A pair of Big Spring golfers shot a sizzling 36-hole total of 133 to win the fourth annual Colorado Country Club low-ball partnership golf tournament Saturday and Sunday.

Ted Gross and Marvin Williams edged out the team of Bob Moyers of Abilene and Lonnie Wyrosdick of Colorado City for the title by one stroke in the championship flight.

Colorado City golfers turned in good scores as the team of Dr. H. Jene Steakley and Tom Rees won the first flight and Ben Sparks teamed with Phil Fortune of Snyder to win the second flight.

The third flight was won by Ray Preston and C. H. Hamilton of Lorraine.

Here are the winners and their scores:

School Principal Resigns

Price To Move To Morse

Colorado High School Principal Wally Price has resigned to accept the job as superintendent of schools at Morse in the Panhandle.

His resignation was accompanied by the resignation of his wife, who helped organize the nationally known bilingual program here and was still head of that program.

Mr. and Mrs. Price's resignations were two of many received by Supt. Lloyd McKee as the school year ended.

Others resigning included choir director Charlie Helmer to go to Kermit schools; Mrs. Carol Fish to go to Beeville Schools; Coach and Mrs. Cullen Davis, to go to Troop schools, and Mrs. Patti Palmer.

Assistant Superintendent Gary Gardner resigned last week to accept the position of superintendent of Wilson just south of Lubbock.

Gardner's wife is also a teacher and tendered her resignation at the same time.

McKee said he is now considering applications from within and outside the school district in an attempt to fill the jobs of assistant superintendent and high school principal.

Crowd For Fly-In

More than 200 fliers and Colorado City residents were served breakfast Sunday at the annual "fly-in" at the Colorado City airport. Featured attractions at the event were skydivers from Abilene and Odessa and an unexpected helicopter landed to provide added attraction. The Chamber of Commerce hailed the event as successful.

CAROL'S CORRAL

CAROL GULLEY

The thing that I find most delightful about Colorado City is the friendly attitude that everyone seems to have. You do not stay a stranger long in this town. Before moving here, I was already acquainted with several local families, but now after only a week, I feel that I know most of the towns-people.

Everyone I have met in Colorado City has made me feel right at home. I enjoyed meeting many people at the various functions that I have been able to attend, such as the barbeque at the Country Club, the "Fly-In", and at church Sunday morning.

I would like to take this opportunity to thank the people who have helped me get settled. Without the help of Mr. and Mrs. Mac McKinnon and Mr. and Mrs. Fred McKay, I would probably still be looking for a house.

I would like to invite anyone who has information for our paper to stop by or call me. The telephone number is 728-3413. If that is not convenient, you may drop the copy in the mail-drop at the front door of the Record office.

If you would like for one of us to take a picture at your club functions, please give us as much advance notice as possible. Feel free to call me at any time to report on any function taking place.

Mrs. Rees Hosts Carr Club

By MRS. W. A. BELL, Record Correspondent.

Mrs. Hoyt Roberts will host the next meeting on June 16.

WESTBROOK - Mrs. T. A. Rees was hostess to members and guests of Carr Home Demonstration Club Friday, June 2.

Guests of Mrs. Jewell Smith Saturday were Mrs. Johnnie Airhart of Lyford, Mrs. E. C. Airhart and Mrs. Maydelle Davidson both of Big Spring.

Mrs. Jug Rees read the devotional, Matthew 5:41-48, and voiced the prayer. She was also in charge of the program and gave a demonstration on quilting.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Rollins and family visited Mr. and Mrs. Dale Gilbert in Abilene Sunday. Richard Gilbert returned home with them for a visit here this week.

Thought for the day was "Grant that I may never criticize my neighbor until I have walked a mile in her shoes."

CONVERSATION CORNER

YOU COULD find it pretty peculiar that people make up most of their jokes and laugh the loudest over the most serious things ever encountered by the human race.

Think about it a minute and you'll agree. Maybe we laugh to keep from crying and to keep from being awed and struck down by the inevitable sorrows. It could be like the old song "Laughing on the Outside Crying on the inside."

For instance how many absolutely ridiculous jokes have you heard during the life about Heaven?

Funniest one very heard was told -- certainly NOT in church--by a young Episcopal vicar. He was Alan Conley teasing a Methodist and a Baptist.

THERE WE ARE again. All the various religious sects who are on friendly terms like to tease each other. Anybody with an I.Q. over about 50 does not think religious beliefs of anybody else funny.

Religion is a solemn set of ideals and beliefs usually truly respected every by people who do not have any. Still we have many jokes about it among the Baptists, Presbyterians, Methodists, and any church you care to name. Those jokes are just supposed to be witty, not wicked.

MARRIAGE, which we often refer to as holy matrimony, comes in for its abundant share of funny stories.

Majority of married couples sincerely love their mates until death do them part. But never met a man who did not find it great sport to tell or hear a joke about wives in general and his own wife in particular, though actually he would enter the lion's den to protect her.

Wives who adore their husbands, respect them, and would go any length to try to please them, can laugh their heads off over jokes on him of jokes about anybody's husband.

DRUNKENNESS is one of the saddest states in this world. A drunk is considered the theme of jokes in real life, on the stage, T.V., movies and books. Drunkenness is accepted as the background for comedy all over.

Intelligent people know that drunkenness is almost as tragic as the taking of dope. But some people joke and laugh hilariously about it anyhow.

FAT PEOPLE get laughed at though nobody really wants to be too fat.

Jokes come in cycles. Texas A&M University could have declared war against the whole Southwestern Conference over the Aggie jokes that swept the country a while.

Remember Little Audrey?

The absent minded professor who allegedly put his wet umbrella to bed and hung himself on the hat rack? He had to be a math genius, betcha.

FEW OF US have never known a heart not broken by death.

But even broken hearts once in a while laugh or smile, perhaps, over an occasional death-bed yarn.

Ever hear the crazy one about the farmer-rancher too busy spraying his cattle, which were ailing, to notice that his wife was in bed very, very ill.

According to the story she died. And all the next day the husband went around shaking his head and saying, "Well, I guess Mama did feel kinda bad."

However that strikes you, funny or most unfunny, it proves the point. People are people. And in this world of woe people will try to laugh about anything they can find to laugh about.

Most likely it is the one way to keep from crying.

Once A Church . . . Now A Home

By LENA MARCOM

The hanging fireplace—An inviting setting for Joey and Debbie.

A church is home for the Dennis Wright family.

The expression's not being used in the sense that one might think, but literally - the former Buford Methodist Church building is home of Dennis, Jennie, Debbie and Joey Wright.

The house and its accompanying log cabin, a picturesque setting familiar to anyone traveling to Snyder, was completely renovated by the Wrights into a three bedroom, two bath, total-electric home.

Outside the structure still resembles the church built in 1935 according to its cornerstone... but inside the only trace of "by-gone days" are several doors and a small stained window being utilized by the family.

Tall steps still lead to front entrance where a single white door has replaced double glass-pane doors now being used in the master bedroom.

Dennis and Jennie Wright, always appreciative of the church setting located on a triangle lot between the old dirt highway and the current Highway 208 at Buford, bought the church, cabin and lot in September, 1970, just after renovation was begun by another party.

They began working on the house when wallboards were up and part of electrical work done.

They've done the rest themselves... and their beautiful home of a year next month is a tribute indeed.

A long hallway leads from the front entrance, past all rooms to the master bedroom at back of the home.

A study and music room, originally designed for a living room, is divided from entrance way by a desk. Accent piece of furniture is an antique dresser which Wright's parents used in setting-up housekeeping. The piece is now used as a table in their "quiet corner".

Off white texture and beige carpet are used in the study and music room only. Teakwood paneling covers the rest of the walls.

Carpet for bedrooms and den is smoke gray and pale celery pattern.

First door to the right is Debbie's bedroom and typical of all 10-year-old young ladies. Windows are covered with patterned panels of floral design in shades of pink, blue and green.

A yellow bedspread for her twin-size bed pairs with a yellow toy chest. And accenting one wall of the room is a pen and ink drawing of a swing and tree which is just south of the home. Mrs. Wright did the drawing, as well as many others in the home last year during art classes at Western Texas College in Snyder.

A blue arm-type school desk and a Danish modern walnut dresser complete furnishings for Debbie's room.

The big, double closet in Joey's bedroom is closed off by original doors used in the church foyer. They've now been antiqued to blend with paneling and narrow glass panels have been covered with red and blue modern abstract design.

Danish modern furniture is complimented by a blue bedspread, book shelves and chests, and a desk, built by Mrs. Wright in a high school advanced homemaking class and used by her husband during college days.

Bathroom for the children and guests is done in a cheery motif of orange, celery green and white striped wall paper on walls and a floral design in the same colors for the ceiling. Matching wallpaper is used on shelves of the bathroom closet. White Marlite paneling surrounds bathtub and shower area.

White bathroom fixtures are set off by bright celery green accessories and shower curtain. Floor covering is inlaid linoleum in a marbled design.

Accent feature in the master bedroom is the glass paneled doors once used at the front entrance of the church. They now open into a long double closet.

Gold and yellow panels on the windows are complimented by a white bedspread and pink pillow in an antique bedroom chair.

Marking one wall is a display of pressed wild West Texas flowers—arranged and framed by Mrs. Jack Parse, a former resident here when her husband was minister of First Presbyterian Church.

Master bath has white fixtures with pink and gold accents. Doors to a corner storage closet are built to include the stained-church window.

Only door to the north from the long hallway opens into the combination den, dining room and kitchen, all of which measures 33 by 15 1/2 feet.

Blue and green tones are carried out in room decor. A patchwork designed lamp shade picks up colors from the blue couch and arm chair. Then the same colors are repeated in blue and green tweed panels on stereo speakers made by Wright.

A blue and green crushed glass pole lamp and a hanging copper-tone electric fireplace which can be used for heat or "just decoration" completed den furniture.

The 13 by 15 feet kitchen area has an ample supply of birch cabinets with contemporary pulls. Appliances are white. Formica covers the counter tops and cabinet walls.

Marking the dining room area is a hanging light fashioned with five white votive lights. Windows in the large room have rust, yellow and white reed curtains and valances.

Dennis and Jennie Wright are still in the process of putting finishing touches to the log cabin which has two rooms and will double as a game room, workshop and guest house.

They've already finished wallboarding the 34-year-old structure and have most of the plumbing and electrical wiring completed.

The Wrights came to Colorado City in 1965 and lived at Texas Electric Village before moving to their Buford Community home.

Wright is an engineering technician at the TESCO plant here. He is a member of Evening Lions for which he will serve as "Boss Lion" in 1972-73.

Mrs. Wright is active in community and civic affairs. She is a Girl Scout worker and a member of Zeta Delta Study Club. Both she and her husband appeared in the last Colorado City Playhouse production.

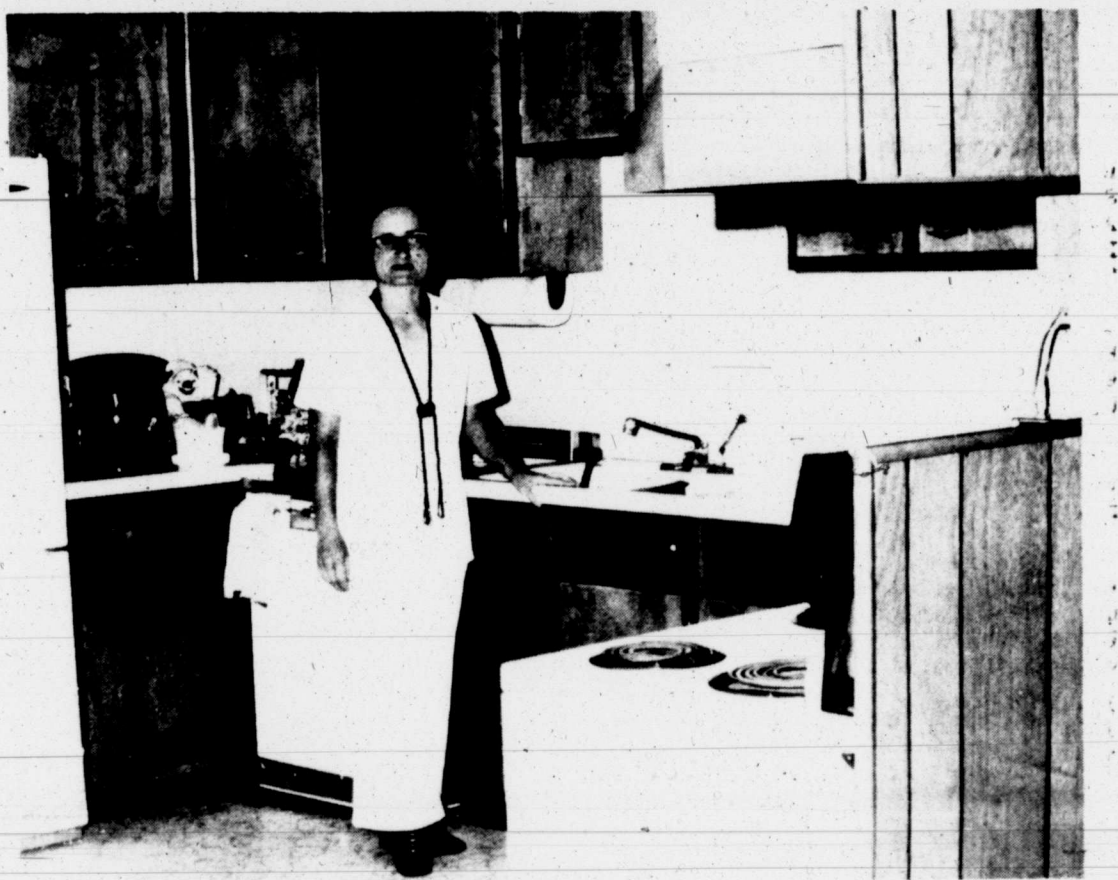

Debbie, a fifth grade student at Hutchinson School, takes piano lessons and is a member of Junior Girl Scouts.

Joey, 11, is a member of Little League Pirates this summer. He's a Boy Scout and will be in Wallace School next year. He plays a cornet in band.

They are active members of First Presbyterian Church.

The former Buford Methodist Church building is now the home of Dennis, Jennie, Debbie, and Joey Wright.

RENEWED SEARCH

A very important step was taken last week in Colorado City.

Hopefully, this step, the reorganization of the Industrial Contact Team, will lead to new industry for Colorado City.

Darrell Rains, appointed to head this committee, has a tough task ahead as he searches for prospective industries for our town and we wish him the best of luck.

It is imperative that everyone gives their full support to this renewed effort to build Colorado City.

Rains and the other members of this contact team, Don Benson, Trevlyn Kelley, Bobby Lemons, J. A. Sadler, Jr., and Willie Landau, are to be congratulated for taking on this difficult job.

to Yarborough 9 months ago in a small private meeting of the ex-senator's West Texas advisors. A Mitchell County friend was the only advisor who told him that he was headed for defeat in this area and could not obtain the winning West Texas support he had received in past campaign.

With a heftier lead than the 56 per cent he received statewide in winning the nomination for lieutenant-governor, Bill Hobby received 1,062 votes here to Wayne Connally's 563.

Only in the state comptroller's race did Mitchell voters almost go contrary to the state. Here incumbent Robert Calvert who won the nomination received a slim 790 to 756 margin over challenger Jim Wilson.

All total, 1,581 ballots were cast.
