Premier Faure Wins Vote, But Future Shaky

PARIS, Nov. 12 (AP)—The French National Assembly gave another vote of confidence to Premier Edgar Faure tonight. Officially, Faure won 285 to 247. Actually, he probably has lost his gamble for December elections.

He won only through the help of about 90 Communist votes. The Communists announced that they were "refusing confidence" in the government, but were plugging for quick elections.

Immediately before the vote the Premier told a Cabinet meeting he had no will to continue in office if he was kept there only through the help of the Communists. It seemed unlikely President Rene Coty would permit him to resign, however, before he had been defeated on a vote.

Many of the deputies admitted that through today's vote they were only delaying a decision until next week. One of the reasons advanced was that a crisis would be inopportune right now. President Coty's wife died early today. Coty sent word the vote should go on as scheduled, despite the death.

Faure had asked for the vote of confidence on the question of ending the mandate of the present Assembly on Jan. 2, with elections to be held in December under a system of modified proportional representation.

On Nov. 3, the government won a confidence vote on the simple question of ending the Assembly mandate, Jan. 2. The vote was 330-211, with the help of the Communists.

The Senate—the Council of the Republic—is strongly in favor of a district system of voting. The senators this week approved the idea of early elections, but tacked on a provision for the district system, similar to that in the United States.

Slain Boys' Father Dies

CHICAGO, Nov. 12 (AP) — An inquest jury found today that Atnon Schuessler, 42, whose two boys were murdered less than a month ago, died yesterday of natural causes during shock therapy in a sanitarium.

The father's death, in the wake of the tragedy last month, left Mrs. Eleanor Schuessler, 37, the sole survivor of her family.

Her sons, John, 13, and Anton Jr., 11, were found dead Oct. 18, their strangled, naked bodies and that of a 14-year-old friend, Robert Peterson, dumped in a shallow forest preserve ditch.

The triple slaying has not been solved.

Schuessler, a tailor, had worked tirelessly with police to solve the mystery of the boy-slayings. His health failed, and his nerves frayed. Thursday, depressed and irrational, he entered a sanitarium in suburban Des Plaines for a rest.

Reviewing The

Big Spring Week

With Joe Pickle

W. C. Blankenship last week told trustees he would retire next June as superintendent after 28 years as top executive officer of our school system. The board, however, is to retain his services in a new post, and fortunately, we can go on realizing from his long and rich experience. He will wear the honorary title of "superintendent emeritus," something that confers equal honor upon the community.

Ike Welcomed Home Again

Ike Does Bit Of Putting, Will Open Office Monday

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12 (AP)—President Eisenhower got in a little putting on a White House green today for the first time since his Sept. 24 heart attack. And he made plans to open an office next week in downtown Gettysburg, Pa., near his farm.

He went out onto the green on the south lawn of the mansion shortly after aides reported him "feeling fine" on this first full day back at the White House.

The aides said he putted only a couple of times, then sat in a chair in the yard for more than an hour soaking up the warm autumn sun. He had basked in the sun almost daily for the last three weeks or so on the eighth floor terrace of Fitzsimons Army Hospital in Denver.

But so far as is known today was the first time he had a golf club in his hands since Sept. 23, the day before his attack. He played 27 holes in Denver that day.

Eisenhower was out on the White House green with his son, Army Maj. John S. Eisenhower, who also got in a bit of golf practice. After trying a couple of strokes, the President sat and watched John.

Press secretary James C. Hagerty announced today that the President and Mrs. Eisenhower will drive on Monday to their country home on the edge of Gettysburg, where there will be a quiet observance of the First Lady's 59th birthday.

Eisenhower, who checked out of a Denver hospital yesterday after seven weeks of convalescence from a heart attack, plans to spend about six weeks building up his strength at his farm.

But the White House made it clear that at Gettysburg the doctors plan to permit a steady but gradual increase in his governmental activity.

Eisenhower's Gettysburg office will be on the first floor of the post office, in the postmaster's quarters, and he probably will meet his first official visitors there Tuesday morning.

There will be "many" such visitors, the press secretary added, and most of them will confer with Eisenhower at the post office rather than at his farm home about four miles from the center of town.

"The farm is the President's and Mrs. Eisenhower's private home," Hagerty said. "We will try to keep it as private as we can."

Hagerty told newsmen that Eisenhower, who arrived here by plane from Denver late yesterday, had a good night's sleep in the White House and that his personal physician, Maj. Gen. Howard M. Snyder, reported him in good condition. Formal medical bulletins were discontinued when Eisenhower checked out of Fitzsimons Army Hospital in Denver.

"He seemed fine," Hagerty reported after he and the President's chief aide, Sherman Adams, concluded an hour-long conference with Eisenhower in his oval study on the White House second floor.

At today's conference Eisenhower received a confidential report from Secretary of State Dulles at Geneva on the Big Four foreign ministers, as well as secret reports on other international matters.

He also transacted a bit of routine government business and discussed plans for the weekend and for the forthcoming stay at Gettysburg.

Hagerty said the weekend at the White House would be quiet with only members of the family there.

On hand here are the son and daughter-in-law, Maj. and Mrs. John S. Eisenhower; the three Eisenhower grandchildren, David 7, Barbara Anne 6, and Susan, 3; and the Chief Executive's youngest brother, Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower, president of the Pennsylvania State University.

During the first week at Gettysburg the President's business schedule will be kept light, Hagerty said, so he can become "acclimated to his convalescence at the farm." But Hagerty added there will be "some visitors" during those first few days.

Virginia Maps Plans Against Integration

RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 12 (AP)—Gov. Thomas B. Stanley's Education Study Commission tonight recommended immediate action to amend the Virginia constitution as the first step in a program intended to prevent enforced racial integration in the public schools.

The backbone of the program is a proposal to use state funds for the education of all children, both white and Negro, in private schools rather than allow integration in the state's public school system.

Contingent on amending Section 141 of the state constitution to take out a prohibition on the use of public funds for the private schooling of Virginia children, the 32-man commission proposed:

1. A plan of assignment permitting local school boards to assign their pupils "in such manner as will best serve the welfare of their communities and foster the public schools under their jurisdiction."

2. Provision that no child be required to attend a school where both white and Negro children are taught and that parents of children who object to integrated schools, or who live in communities where "no public schools are operated," be given tuition grants for educational purposes.

The "package plan" was contained in a report delivered to the governor and made public tonight.

The only immediate recommendation was that the governor call a special session of the General Assembly "for the purpose of initiating a limited" constitutional convention.

"If our children are to be educated and if enforced integration is to be avoided, it is now clear that Section 141 must be amended," said the commission in its unanimous 19-page report.

Virginia's Supreme Court of Appeals ruled last Monday in a test case arranged at the request of the governor that public funds may not be used for the education of children in private schools because of the barrier set up in Section 141.

The court noted that if such was deemed a proper course, the Legislature should move to amend the constitution in the prescribed manner.

Germans Going Back In Uniform

BONN, Germany, Nov. 12 (AP)—West Germany today launched its new Wehrmacht, putting men into uniform for the first time in more than 10 years. It called to the colors the first 101 for the 500,000-strong force to be built up by 1959.

Disillusioned by the Russian refusal at Geneva to reunite their divided country, they buckled down—after five years of delays—to raising their contribution to the Atlantic Alliance. In a simple ceremony Defense Minister Theodor Blank handed call-up papers to the first volunteers. A dozen were in uniform. There was no band to play the national anthem. It was the complete reverse of the bugle-blowing bombast of the Nazi era.

Shotgun Wound Fatal To Bill Sims, T&P Employe

Shotgun wounds which authorities ruled were self-inflicted took the life of William Herman (Bill) Sims, 40, in his apartment at 602 Nolan Saturday morning.

Sims, struck in the chest by a blast from a 410-gauge shotgun, died about 8:15 a.m., a few seconds before an ambulance arrived to take him to a hospital.

Sheriff's deputies Rufus Davidson and Floyd Moore said they found the dying man crumpled on the floor, the shotgun and a yard-long stick half under the body. They called an ambulance, but Sims died before it arrived.

Justice of the Peace A. M. Sullivan said his verdict was "death caused from wounds, self-inflicted."

Mrs. Ava Bullock, Sims' aunt, sent his young son, Bill Sims Jr., to call the deputies after she heard a gunshot in the back apartment about 8 a.m. Sims earlier had sent the boy with some birds and a dog to his wife's home. The shooting occurred after the boy returned.

The body was taken to the Nalley Funeral Home, and was to be transferred to a funeral home in Mineola for funeral arrangements.

Sims, a fireman-engineer for the T&P Railway Company, had lived in Big Spring for approximately 10 years. He had been employed by the company for about 18 years.

He was born Jan. 13, 1915, in Yantis, Texas. Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Vinnie Sims of Big Spring; five sons, William Herman Sims Jr. of Big Spring, Lawrence Kenneth Sims of California, and John Henry, Ronald and Donald Sims, all of Gulfport, Miss.; his mother, Mrs. Mary Elva Sims, Mineola; and one sister, Mrs. P. M. Girard, Dallas.

WTCC Studies Court Action On Acreage Policy

HOUSTON, Nov. 12 (AP)—Possibility of enjoining the State Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation Committee from activating its 1956 cotton acreage allotment proposal has been explored here.

Fred Husbands, vice president and general manager, and Loyan Walker, head of the agricultural department of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, have been in conference here with the Rio Grande Valley and other cotton producers concerning the possibility of seeking an injunction against the state committee. Walker said West Texas cotton growers are "pretty hot" about the way the State ASC plans to allot the 1956 acreage. If the proposal goes through, he said West Texas producers would suffer a serous financial setback.

The committee recently moved to restore cotton acreage to the traditional growing areas of Central and East Texas because these areas complained they had lost acreage to West Texas through the "trend" clause of the state allotment reserve.

Under Texas mechanics for administering cotton acreage, 10 per cent of the total estimated to be 7.4 million acres in 1956, is put into a reserve for correcting inequities and allievating hardship cases.

West Texans have protested that the proposed formula for distributing the reserve would result in them bearing disproportionate cuts while East and Central Texas increased substantially over current figures.

Walker said reports the WTCC was planning an injunction was untrue. If it came to that, legal action would have to be by individuals, not an organization, he pointed out.

Report Due On County Audit

Accountants are expected to submit at least a partial report Monday on their audit of all county records for 1954 and tax department books for all years since 1949.

County commissioners said the initial report from the firm of Jones, Freeze, Hays and Company, certified public accountants, may cover only the 1954 period. The San Angelo firm is compiling separate audit reports on tax records from 1949 through 1953 and records of all departments for 1954.

The special tax audits were ordered by the commissioners court July 19 following the indictment of B. E. (Bernie) Freeman on four charges of misapplication of public funds.

Auditors completed the study of records about three weeks ago and have been assembling the data since that time.

Indictments against Freeman, county tax assessor-collector from Jan. 1, 1949, to Dec. 31, 1953, have been set for trial the week of Nov. 28. It is alleged he misappropriated a total of $2,520.71 between Aug. 31, 1952, and Dec. 31, 1953; $126.12 on Aug. 11, 1952; $200 on Oct. 7, 1952; and $150 on Oct. 11, 1952.

Pledges Made To Work For Disarmament

ON 113TH BIRTHDAY, VET LOOKS TO 120TH

FRANKLIN, Tex., Nov. 12 (AP)— Walter G. Williams rocked away on his front porch today as relatives and friends scurried about preparing for his 113th birthday barbecue party tomorrow.

"Daddy, you act like you're in your third childhood," Mrs. Willie Mae Bowles, one of his 12 living children, told him.

Williams is the oldest of three living veterans of the Confederate Army. He actually won't be 113 until Monday but tomorrow was selected for the birthday observance in order that more could attend.

At an open house last Sunday at Mrs. Bowles' home in Houston more than a hundred relatives and friends called on the frail but spry veteran. Franklin is 140 miles northwest of Houston.

Tomorrow's barbecue—"We all just chip in a little here and there," a relative said—will be at Williams' home 16 miles southeast of here. He and his wife, Ella Mae, 84, are looking forward to seeing friends they haven't seen since last year. Their home is off the main roads and they have no telephone.

At each of his birthday parties the old veteran's eyes sparkle and he announces that he has one burning ambition—he wants to live to be 120.

"Grandpappy lived to be 119. I'm going to beat that."

Severe Snowstorm Sweeps The Rockies

DENVER, Nov. 12 (AP)—A near blizzard snowstorm swept over sections of Montana, Wyoming and northern Colorado today.

One man was reported missing. Two young Montana mothers, lost overnight in subzero temperatures, were found alive by searchers on snow blanketed Cabinet Mountain, 20 miles south of Libby, Mont.

Earl Dansizen, 45, was reported missing in snow-covered mountain country in Wyoming.

Two Montana women, lost from a hunting party, were Mrs. William Thomson, 21, and Mrs. Don Thomson, 22, of Libby. They failed to meet their husbands at the car yesterday afternoon after a day of hunting.

Sheriff Ray Frost organized a searching party which grew to 80 men. The women were rushed to a hospital. There was no immediate report on their condition or details of how they survived the night.

Cut Bank, Mont., was the coldest spot in the United States today, hitting a low off 22 degrees below zero at 9 a.m. Unionville, near the state capital city of Helena, reported 18 degrees below, while Helena was only 8 degrees warmer.

Snowfalls up to 16 inches were reported. The Wyoming capital of Cheyenne had a blanket of seven inches. Nearly a foot fell in the Glacier National Park area and at Fraser, Colorado resort where President Eisenhower has done considerable trout fishing. Fort Collins in northern Colorado got six inches.

4 Named To Cowboy Hall

NORMAN, Okla., Nov. 12 (AP)—Four of the West's most prominent men and a former President are the first honored by the national Cowboy Hall of Fame, whose site was dedicated at Oklahoma City yesterday.

Trustees of the proposed museum today selected Will Rogers, President Theodore Roosevelt, Charles Russell, Jake McClure and Charles Goodnight as the first group to be enshrined by the memorial, still to be constructed.

Rogers was a famous cowboy and humorist from Claremore, Okla., killed in a plane crash in 1936; and President Roosevelt was honored for his contribution to the range-cattle business. The famous Rough Rider worked as a cowboy while a young man.

McClure was a world-famous working and rodeo cowboy from Lovington, N.M., Russell a great Montana cowboy artist, and Goodnight a renowned early-day trail driver.

Gridders Escape When Bus Burns

VICTORIA, Nov. 12 (AP)—A bus carrying a Negro high school football team caught fire today and exploded shortly after the 37 aboard escaped.

The driver stopped when the fire was discovered 16 miles south of here on U.S. 77. The passengers were trying to unload their football equipment when both gasoline tanks exploded.

The bus carried members of the Kemp High School team at Bryan. Their equipment was destroyed.

18-Year-Olds Win Vote In Kentucky

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 12 (AP)—The people of this border state have decided their 18-year-olds are mature enough to vote.

The amendment to Kentucky's Constitution was approved in last Tuesday's general election. Almost complete returns showed 177,111 and 112,195 against the proposal.

Kentucky now joins Georgia as the only two states with the lower voting age.

Daniel Looks For Mexican Officials At Narcotics Probe

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Sen. Price Daniel, en route from his Liberty home to the West Coast to resume hearings on illicit narcotics traffic, said today he hopes Mexican government officials will appear before his Senate Judiciary subcommittee hearings Monday in Los Angeles.

"We invited the attorney general of Mexico and the Mexican representative on the U.N. Narcotics Commission to sit in on the hearings," he said.

After the earlier hearings in Texas, the Mexican government criticized the investigation as unfairly putting the blame on Mexico.

Daniel commented that evidence turned up by the investigation "has hurt our country as much as Mexico."

Big 4 Trying To Salvage Some Geneva Spirit

By DANIEL DE LUCE

GENEVA, Nov. 12 (AP)—Russia and the Western Powers revived the "spirit of Geneva" today with an exchange of promises to carry on their disarmament negotiations in the United Nations and seek a global end to war.

The Big Four foreign ministers expressed these common disarmament viewpoints in a session dedicated to finding a hopeful closing communique for a conference all but wrecked by East-West differences:

1. Not only atomic war—as Russia first suggested—but all kinds of war for aggression should be outlawed.

2. Not only the amount of atomic weapons, but of all kinds of weapons should be reduced.

3. All atomic powers should continue the search for scientific techniques which would enable a secure international control to be established on atomic weapons.

4. The United Nations Disarmament subcommittee, which includes the Big Four powers plus Canada, is the proper body to pursue the whole disarmament problem, pending another foreign ministers conference expected to be held next spring.

5. Both Russia and the West want a broad program of disarmament, though they are as yet in disagreement on the first step. The West insists that effective controls must be agreed on before it can safely sign any arms reduction pact as suggested by Russia.

6. Both the Eisenhower plan for "open skies" and the Bulganin plan for reciprocal ground control posts in key centers are not dead, despite initial rejection in the disarmament debate here.

Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov, obviously aware that the Eisenhower plan still appeals to peace-hungry millions around the world, modified today his formerly bitter objections. Only last night, Molotov had quoted a NATO British air marshal on the importance of up-to-the-minute air reconnaissance in atomic war to support Soviet suspicion that the Eisenhower plan could be misused by the West in preparing a surprise nuclear attack.

But today Molotov said he wished to "express appreciation" that the Bulganin control posts idea "has of late been received positively by the Western ministers."

"The Soviet delegation under certain conditions," he added, "positively reacts to the U. S. proposal for air reconnaissance and exchange of military blueprints."

Two Are Killed In Quebec Landslide

NICOLET, Que., Nov. 12 (AP)—A landslide swept a bishop's residence, two homes, an academy and a garage into the Nicolet River today. Two persons were reported killed.

A religious brother connected with the academy was missing.

Two bodies had been recovered late this afternoon from the area where a huge mass of earth slipped into the river.

Argentina Regime About To Collapse

BUENOS AIRES, Sunday, Nov. 13 (AP)—The Argentine government of Provisional President Eduardo Lonardi appeared to be on the brink of failure early today. A split among the men who threw out the Peron dictatorship less than two months ago led to a government crisis and emergency conferences among military leaders.

President Lonardi was reported at the 1st Infantry Regiment headquarters but his status was unclear.

Rear Adm. Isaac Rojas, a hero of the rebellion against the ousted President Juan D. Peron, scurried between civil and military conferences as tension increased overnight.

Hundreds of demonstrators marched down the Avenue de Mayo shouting against "Nazis." The division in the young government apparently is between right-wing nationalists and middle-roaders.

Lonardi dropped attorney Eduardo Busso today as his minister of justice and interior. Tonight the move was regarded by authoritative observers as a victory for Roman Catholic influences.

(NBC broadcast a dispatch from Robert Lindley, its Buenos Aires reporter, saying: "The new government in Argentina is about to topple or has already fallen. President Lonardi has disappeared and the Supreme Court and the Cabinet have resigned.")

Political tension was evident tonight.

AACS Technicians 'Talk' AF Pilots To 'Touchdowns'

Talking Pilots To Safety

T-Sgt. Dale W. Brock, GCA operator, seated, watches radar screens as he literally talks pilots to safe landings, even in the worst of weather. Watching are M-Sgt. James R. Save and Capt. Oliver E. Rogers, the Airways and Air Communications Service detachment commander at Webb AFB. They are inside radar and service mobile unit which costs a cool quarter of a million dollars, but a bargain when it saves one life.

On Constant Alert

A-1C Richard S. Matthews, air traffic controller, 2nd Lt. Robert Gross, student pilot, and A-1C Frank J. Mecak, air traffic controller, maintain a constant alert in the control tower 120 feet above Webb AFB. No aircraft lands or leaves the field except at the tower's direction. It aptly has been called the field's nerve center. (USAF Photos.)

By JOE PICKLE

Inside two units resembling massive circus wagons, men sit in semi-darkness with eyes glued on screens.

As they watch the movement of dots in relation to lines and circles, they maintain a constant conversation which might pass for a football announcer.

"Your azimuthis good," says the voice. "Now pull up about 12 feet; you're just a little to the left. You're six miles from touchdown."

This goes on without interruption. Off in the distance a pilot, flying solely by directions from the voice, brings his plane back to the base. The weather is clear, but it would be all the same if the field were "socked in" so that you couldn't see the nose of the plane. By adjusting his flight level and line exactly as the voice dictated, the polit can set his plane down safely on the runway.

Ground Control Approach, they call it, the same GCA which functioned with such precision during the Berlin airlift that the Air Force broke the Russian blockade.

GCA, the control tower, direction finding and other specialized and miscellaneous equipment — all of these are part of the function of Airways and Air Communications Service, which on Tuesday will observe its 17th birthday.

The prime responsibility of AACS is to provide airways communications, navigational aid facilities and air traffic control services for the United States Air Force and other military and non-military users. It is the third oldest command in the USAF, having been activated Nov. 15, 1938, due in a large measure to efforts of the late Gen. Hap Arnold.

The AACS was born of necessity and has grown for the same reason. During World War II it had almost 50,000 men operating 165,000 miles of aerial "highways" in over 800 locations from the Arctic to the Equator. The AACS has the distinction of being the first troops to land in Japan. In seven C-47 transports, men and equipment were ferried to establish the communications bridgehead for the subsequent arrival of Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

One of the biggest tests was the Berlin blockade, where AACS used its GCA to land planes every three minutes regardless of weather. This broke the blockade's back. When the Korean invasion started, 300 officers and men rushed into the combat area, and in a matter of days 10 complete mobile stations were flown from the U. S. and put in operations.

Today 19 kinds of air traffic control fall to the AACS in the operation of 2,000 facilities at 200 points around the globe.

At Webb, the AACS detachment under Capt. Oliver E. Rogers, varies in strength according to the volume of work to be done. The scope of work and equipment involved is not so great as in many places where they are far greater weather hazards.

Chief function at Webb, of course is the operation of the control tower around the clock. This spot has been aptly termed the nerve center of the field. All craft landing or leaving the field must be directed by the tower. Mobile units on the runways direct the landings and takeoffs of students, but subject to clearance by the tower. The tower keeps fliers posted on weather, and it is in touch with the regional center in El Paso on flight plans, emergencies, etc. Most of communication is by radio, but occasionally a "light gun" is used to non-radio craft.

The control tower also has the direction finding apparatus for both UHF and VHF. If a pilot is lost, he calls to the tower, where operators turn on the DF. Instantly, an arrow swings around to a bearing that the pilot should follow to reach the tower. Every 30 seconds, the tower operator, who is in almost constant touch with the lost plane, gives a new bearing in event strong wind or other factors could be causing drift. Eventually, the plane flies right over the tower. It is possible to use DF to "talk" a pilot down safely.

Maintenance of communication equipment for the weather unit also is a responsibility of AACS, and this includes a battery of 60 to 90-word per minute printers and a facsimile machine for reproducing weather maps from a nationwide network. AACS also maintains transmitting and receiving facilities, apart from the control tower but connected with it by cable. These have capabilities for VHF (very high frequency) UHF (ultra high frequency), DF (direction finding) and emergency bands. Stand by generative power is maintained at the tower, the transmitter and receiving station.

One of the most fascinating services, to a layman at least, is the GCA equipment which is coordinated with the tower. This is completely mobile so that it could be transported to almost any point immediately to "talk" planes down safely. At Webb it is used principally to keep "Pilots Life Insurance" policies current. The "policy" is a certificate which AACS issues to pilots who make six ground controlled approaches each month. Pilots are obliged to renew it each month by making six other GCAs.

"This is like anything else," explained Capt. Rogers. "Practice makes perfect, and when a life depends on it, nothing less than perfect is good enough."

By being in proper position in relation to the ends and side of the runway, the GCA unit lines up all radar impulses with the runway. There are three screens or "bays" and usually the center operator "scans" the entire area for craft and turns them over to operators on either side for specific landing directions. The master screen, which incidentally even reflects the topography of the area, has a small sector defined on it, and when the pilot flies into that area, his operator takes over.

As the plane, as a "pip" or dot decends, the GCA operator watches its progress in relation to a diagonal line and tells the pilot to "pull her up 10 feet" or "you are about 20 feet too high." At the same time, the moving dot is followed along a horizontal line to determine if the craft is to the right or left or dead center of the runway. Where the diagnonal and the horizontal lines theoretically intercept is "touchdown."

In soupy weather and with fuel almost gone, this can be the sweetest word in the pilot's vocabulary.

Early Tax Payments Keep HCJC On Solid Footing

Early tax payments helped maintain a financial solidarity at Howard County Junior College during October.

Receipts totalled $11,504, of which $7,366 came from taxes. The other major source was $1,476 from the bookstore. The previous month a $34,960 payment on the state subsidy had put the college in a position to span the pre-tax season without borrowing for current operations.

Disbursements from the general fund amounted to $33,383, and the breakdown on this showed $436 to library, $640 for athletic; $143 co-curricular activities; $4,307 other services; $5,220 general administration; $11,112 instructional; $2,950 plant operation; $168 bus operation; $35 repairs; $8,368 capital expenditures.

Receipts for the interest and sinking fund amounted to $2,678 and there were no disbursements. Balance in the fund was $4,323 and in the general fund $17,800. Other special fund balances showed $341 in building (not to be confused with the $600,000 improvement fund), $4,496 social security, $28,309 state and county.

Geneva Failure Puts More Work On Ike

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12 (AP)—Sen. Aiken (R-Vt) said today that "failure of the Geneva conference" will greatly increase pressure upon President Eisenhower to seek a second term.

"He is the one man the world now looks to as able to solve our international problems by peace," Aiken said in an interview.

He spoke out while Secretary of State Dulles tried at Geneva to patch up some kind of a joint declaration of the United States, Russia, Britain and France on disarmament. Up to now the foreign ministers' meeting there has been marked by bitter disagreement.

Seven weeks ago, when Eisenhower first suffered his heart attack, Aiken said he believed there was little possibility that the President would or could seek another term.

After greeting Eisenhower on his return from Denver yesterday, along with other officials, Aiken said "Ike looks as though he could make the race now, although I'm not urging him to do it."

"It's up to Ike to make that decision," he added, "and we won't draw any conclusions yet."

Aiken, a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said that Russian leaders opposed any reasonable propositions and this doomed the foreign ministers conference at Geneva to failure.

"That means there will be more and increasing clamor for Ike to run again," he added.

Mrs. Clark's Trial Due To Open Monday Morning

FORT WORTH, Nov. 12 (AP)—Both state and defense are expected to answer "ready" at 9 a.m. Monday for the trial of Mrs. Mary Clark as an accomplice to murder in the death of her husband 30 months ago.

William Phillip Clark, wealthy oil and real estate man, was found shot to death in their 23-room home here May 22, 1953. The first inquest verdict was suicide, though the death weapon, a rifle, was found on a chair 10 feet from the body.

Discovery of a bullet in the floor weeks later ruled out the suicide theory, and the verdict was changed to murder.

Civil courts were busy with Clark affairs. Ten days before his death, Clark had withdrawn a divorce action and sued for annulment, contesting that, Mrs. Clark filed suit in New Mexico for her estimated $101,000 half of the estate, and lost after the case reached that state's Supreme Court.

Then in April, she and three men, Tincy Eggleston, Cecil Green and Harry Huggins were arrested. The men were indicted for murder, principally on a "confession" by ex-convict Huggins.

Mrs. Clark was released, but in June she was indicted as an accomplice in Clark's murder, charged with hiring the three to kill her husband.

Green and Eggleston have met unsolved gangland deaths. Huggins remains alive, free on bond, and is scheduled for trial Monday also.

CRITIQUE

By Glenn Cootes

The "New Yorker Cartoon Album" you see on the best seller list this week, is a real buy. Besides the cartoons from perhaps the most satirical magazine in the U. S., the album has many of the magazine's covers for the five year period, 1950-55.

Each of them is a masterpiece and well worth the money without the cartoons. You probably remember the 35th anniversary album which came out a few years ago. This one is as good if not better. The former album hit the national best seller lists and this one probably will too.

I hope you got down to the "sidewalk art show" at the courthouse last week. The idea was good and the display was good. I doubt that the "Las Artistas" will plan another show outside, however. That West Texas wind played havoc with the paintings, punching a hole in one work and breaking the glass on another.

The large number of persons strolling around looking at the paintings is proof that the interest of Big Springers in art is not lagging. But the exhibits must be placed where the people can find them. The Las Artistas have started a fund to build an art museum. Maybe we won't always have to risk local works of art to our treacherous weather.

COMPOSERS, CONDUCTORS, AND CRITICS
By
Claire R. Reis

A founder of the League of Composers and for 25 years executive chairman, Mrs. Reis has played a significant, essential role in the music world—as everyone knew long before she wrote this book.

She has been fairly cool to the classical Three B's, and has instead given her effort to the other letters of the music alphabet: Antheil, Bartok, Copland, Dello Joio, Enesco, and so on. Though composers bulk largest in her book, she does not confine herself to the three C's of her title, but wanders over the entire music field: hiring a hall, holding receptions, staging opera, quarreling with managers, arguing with unions, leading discussions, debates and outright fights.

Mrs. Reis was aware earlier than most that the contemporary composer was threatened with never having a contemporary audience. The situation she set out to remedy is illustrated by the fact that Bartok, or so it is supposed, got $500 royalties in his last year, while his estate got $10,000 in the first year after his death. The League, or Mrs. Reis, balked at nothing: they bearded conductors in their green rooms, tackled reactionary symphony boards, challenged the public to come and look and listen. There is an astonishing list of new composers and works that the League deserves full credit for introducing.

A couple of conductors rightly fare badly at Mrs. Reis' pen. Critics don't fare too well, though the condemnation may not be just in every particular. But to composers, live composers, of whatever school, Mrs. Reis has been an ardent, indispensable champion. You don't have to be interested in present-day music, or any music, to be interested in this vivid story of the never-ending fight for an audience for the pioneering artist.

YEHUDI MENUHIN
By
Robert Magidoff

Within six months of being 40, Menuhin already has enjoyed about all the honors, rewards, emoluments and, one would think, satisfactions, that can come with the greatest fame and fortune in the music field. Here's a detailed look, by a practiced newsman, and author, at the violinist's unique career:

Menuhin's Russian-born parents encouraged his interest in music and at an early age urged him to play—and also not to play: to learn the violin, that is, but also to stay away from baseballs and bicycles; and for lack of a babysitter they took him to concerts when he was an infant in arms. He liked them, too. At 5 he began formal lessons and made his first professional appearance San Francisco at 10.

Paid with a dish of ice cream, and a fond pat from Mama, he scored phenomenal successes in New York, Paris and London, and as early as his 12th and 13th years he had offers totaling $200,000 per season. They were rejected. His backers had even more money. After a year's leave from concert work, he returned, matured; he married, and married a second time.

The young violinist had what Philip Wylie calls Mom touble; and racial trouble, too, when he valiantly defended Furtwaengler. Magidoff, perhaps implying more than he says, relates these personal and domestic difficulties importantly and intimately to the nature of his artistic qualities. A sympathetic, thorough study, it is valuable for the professional before the footlights and for the audience he confronts.

LORD OF THE FLIES
By William Golding

Some English boys, 5 or 6 to 12 years old, only survivors of a plane crash, find themselves on a small Pacific island. The youngest want to swim, others want to play games. It takes Ralph and his friend Piggy to figure out that, if they are survive, they must build shelters, pay attention to sanitation, and keep a smoke signal going.

These are all youngsters, but with overpowering adult responsibilities. Naive and innocent, they are assailed by fear and terror. As some boys are born to lead, others are born to rebel; and though this island may look like a kind of Acadia, it proves to be a place of primitive savagery, and the little innocents develop into little hellions.

Golding's idea is fiendish, and plausible. Youngsters don't need to be visited by the sins of their fathers, they do devilishly well on their own. This is an excellent book to turn your hair gray and take away all sleep.

Appeal Is Filed In Giles' Second Land Conviction

AUSTIN, Nov. 12 (AP)—An appeal from former Land Commissioner Bascom Giles' second veterans land scandal conviction was filed in the Court of Criminal Appeals today.

The appeal was from his Aug. 16 convention in San Antonio after a plea of guilty on a charge of agreeing to accept a $30,000 bribe. He is under six-year sentence in that case.

Already on appeal is his July 28 conviction here as an accomplice to theft of $6,800 in state funds in another veterans land deal. He received a three-year sentence.

In both appeals, Giles did not file a bill of exception or a statement of facts, submitting only a transcript of the trial record.

This may indicate Giles will rely solely on the record in both appeals.

Court Clerk Glenn Haynes said the latest appeal probably will be set for Jan. 25 or Feb. 1. Giles' attorneys than may file written briefs and present oral arguments if they desire.

The earlier appeal is set for Jan. 18. Notice went to his attorneys about 10 days ago, but they have not indicated whether they will offer briefs, Haynes said.

Local Students To Debate At ACC

Two Big Spring high school debaters will participate in a "demonstration debate" at Abilene Christian College Saturday, Del McComb, high school speech instructor, said Tom Guin and Rodney Sheppard would debate the affirmative side of this year's high school debate question.

The subject is, "Resolved, that the Federal Government should guarantee higher education to qualified high school graduates through grants to colleges and universities."

Students from Sonora High School will support the negative arguments. The Speech Activities Conference is held for the benefit of high school students in observing a debate and making a critical analysis of it, McComb said. Debaters from other Texas schools will be on hand to watch the demonstration.

Other local students attending the conference as observers will be J. T. Baird, Benny Compton, Gary Tidwell, and Dennis Jones.

Start Inquiry Into Freedom Violations

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12 (AP)—The Senate subcommittee on Constitutional Rights will start its first series of public hearings Monday with an inquiry into what Chairman Hennings (D-Mo) called "violations" of the rights of free speech, press and assembly.

"As part of this inquiry," he said in a statement, "the committee will examine closely certain practices of the various loyalty-security programs."

Among the witnesses at the hearings, expected to last three weeks, will be Secretary of Defense Wilson, Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey and Atty. Gen. Brownell.

Also slated to testify, Hennings said, are Philip Young, chairman of the Civil Service Commission, and other government officials connected with the administration of the loyalty-security programs.

Hennings said these programs, applying to military personnel, civilian employes of the government, and employes of private defense contractors, are estimated to cover a fifth of the nation's working force.

The subcommittee, he said, "will examine those practices in the loyalty-security programs which appear to conflict with the citizens' rights" of free speech and press and freedom of assembly guaranteed by the Article I of the Bill of Rights.

Hennings said that one practice that will be scrutinized is "the use and effect of the attorney general's list of subversive organizations by the federal government, and of its extended use by states, cities and private organizations."

Another matter to receive attention, he said, "will be the authority of the armed forces to award less than honorable discharges to draftees on the basis of activities and associations prior to their induction into the service."

Big Jon, Sparkie To Arrive Today

Jon Arthur, creator of the "No School Today" radio and TV program and of the boy elf, "Sparkie," arrives here this evening in advance of his Tuesday personal appearance.

The Big Jon and Sparkie program is set for 4 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at the City Auditorium with the Washington Place P-TA sponsoring. Arthur is to arrive here at 6:36 p.m. from Hobbs, N. M., where he has been making an appearance. After his show here, he is to go to El Paso.

On the "No School Today" program Saturday, Sparkie got his wires crossed and announced the Big Spring date as Wednesday —a development which gave sponsors near heart failure. The date is indeed Tuesday, said Mrs. C. W. Fisher, president of the Washington P-TA.

Tickets were removed from the elementary schools Friday, but not before pre-show sales reached something like 1,200 or more. Tickets (75 and 50 cents) will still be available at the door on Tuesday. Mrs. Fisher said the windows would open approximately an hour before show time. Sponsors also will sell color books and Sparkie puppets.

Chili Supper Slated

A chili supper is to be given Monday from 5 p.m. to 8 p.m. in the Girl Scout Hut, 1407 Lancaster, by the Laura B. Hart chapter of the Order of Eastern Star. There will be salad, coffee and pie as part of the menu. Proceeds (85 and 75 cents) will go to the chapter funds. The public is invited.

Many At H-SU In Religious Training

ABILENE — Almost 30 per cent of Hardin-Simmons University's student body of 1,531 students is training for fulltime church work, according to Prof. Truett Sheriff, director of religious activities on the H-SU campus.

More than 1,100 students are Baptist affiliated, Sheriff reported. Ministerial students number 212, 66 are mission volunteers, 48 music-educational directors, and 95 others have professed their call to various types of full-time church work.

"We can provide students for study courses, religious drama groups, and a special BSU choir program," he concluded.

Cancer Society Officers

Half Of School Taxes Are Paid

Collections for the Big Spring Independent School District have reached about 53.5 per cent of the current roll, and the loan company receipts are still to be written up.

J. O. Hagood, tax assessor-collector for the district, said Saturday that the colections should rise appreciably when this volume of business in the house, but not yet banked, is receipted.

Collections thus far have aggregated $274,730.82, of which $271,369.44 is in current taxes. Breakdown on this shows $197,463.53 for local maintenance, $65,821.59 in interest and sinking funds, and another $8,084.32 has been allowed in discounts for early payment.

Delinquent taxes collected this fiscal year have amounted to $3,440.38. Miscellaneous fees account for $25.

Yule Seal Sales Start Wednesday

Opening date for the 49th annual sale of Christmas Seals is Wednesday.

Local women under the direction of Mrs. Duane Leonard, and Mrs. Bill Neal, directing the mail distribution, have completed the stuffing of approximately 6,900 letters during the past two weeks, with some 25,000 sheets of seals to be mailed to citizens of Howard County. Last year's mail included only 5,800 letters.

Committee heads are: Mrs. Ross Bartlett, Seal Sale Chairman with Mrs. J. T. Isbell, co-chairman; Mrs. Zack Gray and Mrs. B. L. LeFever, publicity; Mrs. H. H. Stephens, bangle sales chairman; Dewey Mark, civic speaker chairman; J. Y. Robb, Jr., large gifts chairman, and Mrs. R. H. Moore Jr., booth and bank sales chairman.

This year, in view of the increased expenses facing the TB Association, an appeal is being made to each citizen to purchase and use his seals promptly. Three sheets of the seals are being included in every letter, whereas only two were sent to most families during the past years. Besides the mail to individuals, local business firms are being supplied with seals to be used in their Christmas mail. Mrs. Bartlett stresses that although the association asks for the minimum of $3 per year, it is hoped that many, as in the past, will give more than this to support the work.

The money received through the seal sale is the only method the TB Association has of financing its year-round program which includes the local expenses of the mass X-ray survey, TB patch testing, chest X-Ray follow-ups to indigents, medicine and rehabilitation to victims and an educational program in the schools. Of the money received, 82 per cent will be used in Howard County, 12 per cent by the state and the remaining 6 per cent by the National Association.

Clubs helping during the past week were The Woman's Forum and the Permian Basin Medical Auxiliary, with local volunteers.

High School Adds Welding Equipment

The school board has authorized addition of six outlets to the high school shops building, to accommodate new welding equipment.

Five new welding machines are being added to the shop's equipment. The sixth outlet is being provided for the old welder which currently is on a circuit with a planer.

Business Manager Pat Murphy was authorized to secure bids on the wiring project, which is expected to cost about $600.

The board also has under consideration some proposals for installing fences at North Ward, Airport and Washington Place schools and around transformer poles at the high and junior high schools.

Democrats Show Comeback In Many Local Elections

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12 (AP) — A three-year trend of election gains indicated today the Democrats are moving along a comeback trail from 1952 toward a strong position in the 1956 presidential race.

Local elections don't always forecast accurately the outcome of battles for the control of Congress and the White House. But the party that wins locally automatically increases the organizational strength behind its state and national candidates.

With the exception of New York, where they made no appreciable gain, and Utah, where they had a setback, Democrats continued their upward trend in crucial voting areas in last Tuesday's local elections.

Most important, from their standpoint, were the victories they registered in the nominally Republican states of Indiana, Pennsylvania and New Jersey and in politically see-saw Connecticut.

These states cast a total of 69 of the 266 electoral votes needed by a winning presidential candidate. New York's total is 45 and Utah's is 4.

For the Republicans, the Indiana results were more worrisome than those elsewhere. Indiana has proved something of a political weathervane in the past and GOP officials wondered if local losses there reflected reputed farm belt dissatisfaction.

The Democratic trend which began in Indiana in 1953 with the party's gain of 22 seats in the state Legislature that year was followed in 1954 by Democratic increases in vote percentages in all 11 congressional races.

The trend was marked last Tuesday by Democratic victories in mayoralty races in most of the state's major cities. Democratic National Chairman Paul M. Butler noted also that the Republicans lost "in smaller towns which are basically farm trading centers."

Democrat Richardson Dilworth's sweeping victory over Republican W. Thacher Longstreth in the Philadelphia mayoralty contest emphasized a trend that began in Pennsylvania in 1954 with the election of Gov. George M. Leader.

Last year the Democrats gained 19 seats in the Pennsylvania Legislature and increased their percentage of the total vote in all but five of the 30 congressional districts.

In New Jersey, where in 1953 the Democrats won the governorship and a congressional district they had never held before, they gained a net of three seats last Tuesday in a legislature that will remain under GOP control.

In Connecticut, the Democrats also could claim parallel gains to those they made in 1953, when they elected New Haven's mayor, and in 1954 when their candidate won the governorship.

Besides holding New Haven by a record 20,000 vote margin, the Democrats ousted a Republican mayor in Waterbury and an independent mayor in Norwalk. Republicans held on to Fairfield County town where thousands of New York commuters live.

DO IT YOURSELF Coffee Table, Susan In The Modern Mode

By BILL BAKER

Modern living calls for modern pieces of furniture.

And I want to tell you about one of the most modern items any home can have today—a smart coffee table with a built-in lazy susan attachment.

You'll be building the coffee table yourself, in your home workshop. With the help of my pattern package number 101, even a novice woodworker can turn out a professional-looking finished table.

The size of the table will delight you—a stationary main section is a full four feet across. You'll never be faced with lack of table space with this unit in your home.

Smartly centered on the circular top is a revolving section featuring level design. The lazy susan unit is easily detachable, making it possible for you have a plain, circular coffee table.

Having this coffee table in your home will be almost like having a servant standing by. Your guests automatically flock to the table and when you place refreshments on the unique turn-table, serving is never a problem.

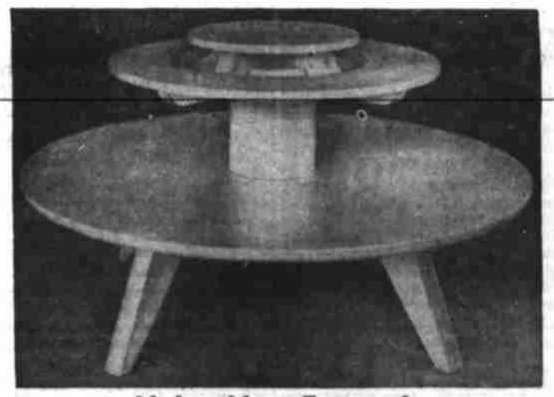
A few workshop hours of effort will give you the finished product.

In the pattern package, for example, you'll find a complete material list. It's an easy one-stop visit to your lumberyard with no waste of materials.

Easy-to-understand instructions are also included, but the best feature of the pattern package is the full-size duplication in heavy-weight paper of each section of the table. It is an easy matter of tack, trace and cut. And then the only job left is the simple assembly.

And no special tools are needed for the job. A coping saw, hammer, screw driver, regular saw and sand paper are all you'll need.

If you want, however, you can ask your lumber dealer to cut your wood to size for you. Because he has power equipment, it will be easy and inexpensive for him to do the job. All you'll have to do then is to assemble and finish the unit.



Helps You Entertain

Here's the lazy susan coffee table that you'll be building in your home workshop with the help of Bill Baker's pattern. The big table makes entertaining guests easy.

You'll be able to finish the table any way you like. Possibly paint will be selected—a glossy black or a soft pastel color to contrast with other pieces in your room. Or perhaps you will elect to use clear varnish or stain.

No matter how you finish your table, the finished product is guaranteed to make life more pleasant for you.

To get your Lazy Susan Coffee Table pattern package, send your name and address (very clearly printed), together with only one dollar and fifty cents ($1.50) to Bill Baker, (Big Spring Herald), P. O. Box 1111, Los Angeles 53, California. Be sure to ask for pattern Number 101.

And here are some other Bill Baker designs you may order: No. 110, Modern Sectional Table, 50 cents; No. 124, Indoor Portable Bar, $1.50; No. 102, Magazine Rack, 50 cents.

Seminole Man Is Charged Here With Forgery

Forgery charges were filed Friday with Justice of the Peace A. M. Sullivan against Billy Wayne Mayo, Seminole man who said he has been working at Lamesa.

Mayo, who was brought to Big Spring from Snyder Friday by Investigator Bob West, is charged with forging and passing to the Reed Oil Company No. 2 Station a check for $78.62. He denied the charges and told West he never had been in Big Spring prior to Friday.

The investigator said the forged check was drawn on a blank from the B. S. Gardner Trucking Company of Odessa. It was dated Oct. 31. West said the Gardner firm reported a number of check blanks and a "check protector" machine were taken in a burglary Oct. 29.

College Builds $313,607 Assets In First Decade Of Operation

Howard County Junior College, rounding out its 10th year, has carved out net capital assets of $313,607 in its first decade.

This is the picture reflected by the annual audit by Neil G. Hilliard. The audit was accepted by the board last Thursday.

Total capital assets of the college as of Aug. 31, 1955, stood at $1,381,107, an increase of $641,104 for the year (but that included $600,114 in new bonds and accrued interest). At the same time, the college had a bonded indebtedness of $1,087,500. Actually, the increase in net assets for the year was $55,604.

Total assets of the college, including current and special funds, stood at $1,418,827.

Receipts for the past year, exclusive of new bond proceeds stood at $250,837, or $42,938 more than anticipated.

Expenditures were $38,743 more than budgeted, too, with most going to capital outlay. The college spent $40,990 for capital items, principally equipment, and the budgetary excess in this department was $34,518. It was a case of having invested the surplus in equipment when the funds became available.

Interest and sinking fund requirements for the year were $16,967, and in the process $14,500 was chopped off the series 1946 and 1949 bonds.

Assets other than capital decreased by $6,334 during the year, and liabilities grew by $1,499.

Most of the county-wide district's revenues came from local taxes—$187,916 in all. After discounts and collecting and assessing fees were deducted the net yield to the district was $178,663. The state paid its subsidy to support of the college for 3,465 semester hours worth $39,342.

Breakdown by divisions on the expenditures of the year, according to the audit, show $51,019 administrative, $80,713 instructional, $24,993 plant operation, $3,200 bus, $3.50 refunds, $12,272 fixed charges, and $22,471 auxiliary services.

One interesting fact reflected in the report is that $2,483 in premiums on five-year insurance policies for $576,000 on buildings and contents will be due in 1956, if the present rates still apply.

Hilliard told the board that he had found all records in order and neatly kept, and found that fiscal controls were seemingly adequate to needs.

Dixon-Yates Row Revived With New Charges

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12 (AP)—Democratic senators accused the Justice Department today of not searching hard enough for evidence of alleged tampering with a witness in the Dixon-Yates row.

Not so, replied Asst. Atty. Gen. Warren Olney III. He said ther was no indication of a crime committed and if there were, the government had almost "no chance" of proving the case.

The Senate Antitrust and Monopoly subcommittee was the scene of this newest flareup in the long-stnding controversy over the Eisenhower administration's now-defunct contract to bring private power into the Tennessee Valley Authority area.

Involved in the questioning was testimony given last year by Dr. Frederick Kellogg, dean of the University of Mississippi's School of Engineering, at a Securities and Exchange Commission hearing on financing the power project. Kellogg appeared for the city of Memphis, Tenn., which fought the contract.

Kellogg has said that on Dec. 19, the day before he was to appear at the SEC, he got a call from his university provost, Dr. Alton Bryant, saying some people in Jackson, Miss., were "very much upset" that Kellogg was going to testify.

In a memo he wrote up after the telephone conversation, Kellogg reported Bryant said:

"I got this call . . . saying that they had been called from Washington. They said they had intended to contribute to our airport, and to give some equipment to the engineering school, and that here you go testifying against them. I promised to find out just what was going on and call back. . . . You do whatever you think is best."

Brazil Goes Back To Normal After Swift, Efficient Revolt

RIO DE JANEIRO, Nov. 12 (AP)—Brazil returned to normal today after a swift and efficient bloodless revolt—staged to prevent a revolution.

All opposition — and the grim threat of civil war among the armed force branches—collapsed in the face of determined action by supporters of law and order led by Gen. Henrique Teixeira Lott. There had been no fighting.

The map Gen. Lott installed as temporary president in a predawn coup Friday, Nereu Ramos, appeared secure in office and an air of calm legality clothed the whole coup. The new government took a firm grip with the backing of the army and Congress.

GEN. HENRIQUE LOTT

NEREU RAMOS
New President

Carlos Coimbra da Lux, ousted as the temporary president, ordered back to Rio de Janeiro harbor the cruiser Talmandare on which he fled to refuge Thursday night. He said the order was his last official act and begged the armed forces not to fight among themselves.

The army coup encountered open, though passive, resistance from the navy and air force. But the air minister, Maj. Gen. Eduardo Gomes, signaled the collapse of resistance. He had rushed to Sao Paulo, Brazil's big industrial city," yesterday to organize resistance to the new temporary president. Today he ordered the air force to halt opposition.

Ramos, 66, who was president of the Senate, thus became Brazil's third president in four days in a complicated situation dotted with paradoxes.

Gen. Lott was the spokesman for army forces which backed constitutional processes. He insisted the present government should legally turn over its powers on schedule Jan. 31 to the newly elected administration. The new administration is to be headed by Juscelino Kubitschek as president and Joao Goulart as vice president. They were elected last month by big margins. Gen. Lott is known to disapprove of them politically, although defending their right to be inaugurated.

Some military elements were displeased by Kubitschek's victory, and with the Communist support he received. He is a Social Democrat, and is regarded as the political heir of the late President Getulio Vargas, who killed himself last year when members of his government were under fire on charges of corruption.

Luz and Ramos are members of the Social Democrat party, founded by Vargas, but Luz represented the dissident, anti-Kubitschek faction.

Russ Reveal New Twin-Jet Of Long Range

MOSCOW, Nov. 12 (AP)—Nikita S. Khrushchev, boss of the Soviet Communist party, told foreign correspondents today the U.S.S.R.'s new twin-jet medium bomber has a range great enough to reach London, northern Europe, North Africa and Turkey.

The Russians, said Khrushchev, developed a jet airliner modified from the bomber. There is a possibility he and Premier Nikolai A. Bulganin will use such a jet liner for a trip to London next spring, but they will not use it for their trip to India next week. They are going by easy stages in conventional aircraft.

Smiling, and in a gay mood, Khrushchev told the correspondents gathered around him:

"I'm going to tell you a secret, but don't tell Gen. Gruenther (Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, supreme Allied commander, Europe) because NATO is a dangerous organization. Our jet airliner is developed from a medium bomber with a range of 5,000 kilometers (about 3,000 miles). This is enough to reach London, northern Europe North Africa or Turkey. I suppose it is all right to tell you, but of course when you tell someone a secret it gets out anyhow. I have been too talkative and careless."

Khrushchev, apparently enjoying himself, expounded on the subject of France, England, communism and other subjects. He volunteered the information that he liked England.

THE WEEK

do records readily support an earlier date. The fluff was fleeting but pleasant. Friday the more familiar property of dust showed up while the Weather Bureau was alibiing for that super-arctic blast it had forecast but didn't produce.

The United Fund ground to a virtual stop Saturday, about $3,000 from home. Around $1,000 more may come in as a result of previous contacts, but it begins to look like a $2,000 deficit— the first in several years. Meanwhile, consideration is being given to setting up a permanent local UF staff.

Jake Roberts, district highway engineer, tossed the matter of the U. S. 80 freeway by-pass back to the city and county commissioners. In response to inquiries of interests along the present route through town seeking a delay, Roberts said the survey would proceed; that he had no idea when the project would set up; that whether city and county got the roadway was up to them.

Prospects are that no concrete action will be taken toward a new civil airport until after the first of the year. Cost estimated have been firmed at around $400,000, and an application has been made to CAA for federal aid. The answer to that may determine the next step. Although some objected to seeking federal help, others contended CAA will dictate how the port is to be operated anyhow.

Frank Grandstaff, the prisoner-composer, seems to have been incorrect in his interpretation of the Wisconsin parole laws. When he came here a year or more ago after release from the Wisconsin prison, he flatly asserted he owed Wisconsin no time and hence no parole reports. Out in California last week he was shipped off to Wisconsin.

Sand Springs and Coahoma folks are on the threshold of a great day. The HCWID water pipeline has been filled and tested and soft water is right around the corner for folks that way. Long bothered by some of the hardest water in the country, Coahoma residents are particularly joyful.

As for what happened to our football team at Snyder Friday night, we have a feeling that — to borrow a phrase — they just plain vanilla beat us. Officiating was off key but it fell our way as well as the other. Seems like we've been up and down on an every-other week schedule, so maybe we'll sharpen up and take Plainview Friday.

Traffic Hurts Fatal

BRENHAM, Nov. 12 (AP)—John Harris, 80, retired executive of the Magnolia Petroleum Co., died today of traffic accident injuries suffered Wednesday.

United Fund Fading Away $3,000 Short Of Its Goal

The United Fund appeared Saturday to be withering on the vine with the total harvest about $3,000 short.

There was some dribbling of miscellaneous contributions into campaign headquarters as it came to the closing stage, but none of sufficient volume to close the last gap. Goal for 11 agencies this year had been $87,555.

Friday, trustees of the United Fund took steps toward what could result in a permanent United Fund staff and office. The executive committee was instructed to explore the means by which a fulltime director might be engaged locally and maintain year-around information on the United Fund.

Approximately three dozen trustees reacted favorably to the idea. The executive committee was instructed to bring back a report to the trustees on or before Jan. 10, 1956. In the past the fund has maintained a records secretary for collections, disbursements, etc., but has retained the services of professional fund-raising agencies to direct mechanics of the annual campaigns.

Big Boys Betting On Boom Continuing

NEW YORK, Nov. 12 (AP)—Have any doubts about the boom lasting at least another year? Then take a look at what the big fellows in U. S. industry are planning.

Two of the nation's industrial giants this week placed billion-dollar bets on the country's economic future. A survey showed that U. S. business as a whole is staking record sums on bigger sales and bigger markets next year.

This all comes under the heading of spending for "expansion"—spending by corporations for new mines, oil wells, chemical plants, factories, trucks, tankers, freight cars, jet airliners, office buildings, shopping centers and the like to handle an expected increase in business.

The sums to be invested stagger the imagination. For example:

Standard Oil Co. (N. J.) announced that in 1956 alone it will sink a record billion dollars into enlarged facilities for discovering, producing, refining and marketing oil. That's 20 per cent more than in 1955. Behind this decision, the company said, is "our confidence in the economic outlook."

Chrysler Corp., preparing for "the tremendous markets that are going to open up in the years ahead," unwrapped a billion-dollar program of expansion that will be stretched out over the first five years. The lion's share is earmarked for "automated" equipment.

For a broader view of the business expansion picture, here's what a McGraw-Hill survey turned up:

U. S. industry will lay more than 33½ billions on the line next year for new plants and new equipment. That's a 13 per cent gain over 1955 and the largest peacetime hike in history. Auto companies led by General Motors, Ford and Chrysler, will spend two billion—a whopping 68 per cent increase over 1955. The railroads will up their spending by 30 per cent and the iron and steel companies by 72 per cent.

Economists say stepped - up spending by business will help offset any decline in consumer buying, if there is one.

The expansion programs announced this week came at a time when business activity in many lines was close to record levels.

Auto production was the second highest for any week in history; scheduled steel production again shot past 98 per cent of capacity. The stock market pushed to still another peak. Business loans by leading New York banks were the highest ever recorded.

Dawson Farm Bureau Directors Will Meet

LAMESA, Nov. 12 — Dawson County Farm Bureau directors will discuss their membership campaign and start setting up a program for the next year Monday.

R. J. Buchanan, San Angelo, district field representative for the Texas Farm Bureau Federation, will meet with the group at 2 p.m. Monday in the Farm Bureau offices. Buchanan is expected to talk about membership as well as assist with program planning.

THIRSTY THIEF DROPS DRINK

A thirsty thief spilled his "drink" Friday afternoon.

The man fled empty-handed from Pinkie's Liquor Store after dropping and breaking a bottle of whisky he apparently had tried to slip out of the store.

Patrolman To Base Safety Job

Amon D. Jones, patrolman here since Aug. 1, 1953, winds up his career with the Texas Highway Patrol today.

Jones becomes civilian safety program administrator at Webb Air Force Base Monday. He will be associated with Capt. L. C. Ficklin and others of the ground safety staff at the base.

The new administrator will have charge of safety promotion, both on and off the base and his duties will include educational work as well as regular inspections of base facilities.

No successor has been named to take Jones' place with the Highway Patrol. Capt. E. L. Posey of Lubbock said his 21-county district has places for nine additional officers. Patrolman Jimmy Parks will work alone out of the Big Spring office until another patrolman is assigned.

Jones has been with the Highway Patrol for nearly six years. He and Mrs. Jones have two children, a boy and a girl. The family resides at 636 Caylor.

Firemen Receive Four Fire Alarms

Firemen answered four fire calls Friday and Saturday. All the calls were for minor blazes and limited damage was reported.

Friday afternoon, a fire at 214 Harding damaged lumber, windows, and doors. Cause of the fire is unknown. Dub Yater is the owner of the establishment. A pickup truck caught fire at 411 NW 8th No damage resulted.

Saturday morning, a motor on the furnace at the Hayes Stripling residence, 613 Edwards Blvd., caused no damage. A brush fire in the 400 block of West Fifth was put out before it could spread.

THE SAME OLD LINE

By Bob Smith

Texas hunters generally will find abundant targets of well conditioned deer when the big game season for the state at large opens one-half hour before sunrise Nov. 16, says Howard Dodgen, executive secretary of the Game and Fish Commission.

Under the general law affecting primarily the main whitetail range in the Edward Plateau, nimrods are entitled to two buck deer. But there are so many local laws affecting blocks of counties and individual counties, as to dates, limits and other conditions such as restricted weapons, Dodgen cautioned hunters to check with their local game wardens if a copy of the Game Law Digest is not available.

It was estimated in excess of a quarter million Texans will share in the shoot which, under the general law, runs through Dec. 31. The total combined bag is expected to approach fifty thousand deer, mainly bucks, although anterless deer will be taken under special authority as a means of harvesting the yearly increase in certain areas where ranges are stocked to capacity with deer.

The opening day barrage will climax a lengthy preliminary period which, with some veteran hunters, begins when the previous season ends. Principal business, of course, concerns contacting landowners for seasonal leases. Many gunners who renew their hunting rights year after year maintain close touch with the property holders and oftentimes, during such as drought emergencies, help buy feed for the animals.

Incidentally natural food has been generally adequate for the first time in several years, according to E. A. Walker, director of wildlife restoration. He said the acorn crop, a basic and favorite part of the deer's diet, is good this fall.

Paralleling the general deer season is the wild turkey shoot. Dates are the same and shooting hours likewise are from one-half hour before sunup to one-half hour after sundown.

The turkey limit under the general state law is three gobblers but because of unfavorable hatching reports in recent years, many landowners have reduced the bag limit or have eliminated turkey hunting altogether.

Dodgen emphasized all persons hunting deer must have official tags to attach to each carcass under a state law designed to compel compliance with the two-buck general law limit.

Dodgen gave these basic guides for the responsible nimrod:

He will limit only where he has a right by regular lease or specific permission of the land owner.

He will determine his target is a deer and one with pronged horns where the general buck law applies.

He will be extremely careful with fire in the brush.

He will further prove he is a good conservationist by properly dressing out his deer and protecting the meat from spoilage.

The major big game deer hunting dates beyond the general law season are: west of the Pecos, comprising nine counties, Nov. 20-25, both dates inclusive, one buck; Possum Kingdom group, comprising eighteen counties, but with Hill and Johnson counties, closed, Nov. 16-30, one buck; public hunts under drawing already held for both bucks and anterless deer on Engeling wildlife management area and on Kerr area, and for bucks on Black Gap area; special anterless deer hunts exclusive of general law season in Mason, Llano, Gillespie and Kerr counties.

For those who like to fish in the rough: The State of Arizona is putting in a highway (or trying to) through some of the most rugged mountains in the state. A partly paved but mostly dirt road already exists in the area, but is rarely used except by the few residents of the area (mostly copper miners) and adventurous tourists. The road runs into numerous mountain streams which are practically untouched by modern civilization. Some of the best fishing in the state, if you're willing to risk your neck and brand new car on those hairpin turns. The present road leads northeast out of Oracle Junction, which is north of Tucson.

Charlie R. Hale Killed In Dallas

Charlie R. Hale, brother of Mrs. Ross Boykin of Big Spring, was killed Saturday in a traffic accident near his home in Dallas.

Funeral services will be conducted at the First Baptist Church in Carrollton. Mr. and Mrs. Boykin, who attended services for his grandmother, Mrs. J. R. Morton, in Alpine Saturday, were to leave early today for Carrollton.

In addition to Mrs. Boykin, Mr. Hale is survived by his wife, a son, Charles Ray Hale; a daughter, Dorothy Hale; his mother, Mrs. R. C. Hale of Carrollton; three brothers, Tony Hale of Fort Worth, formerly of Big Spring, Hubert and Earnest Hale, Dallas; and two other sisters, Autie Hale of Dallas and Mrs. A. E. Gravley of Fort Worth.

'Live' Shell Is Reported

Police officials Saturday afternoon received reports that an artillery shell was found lying near and examination revealed the shell was "live."

Capt. C. L. Rogers checked the shell, and turned the problem over to T.Sgt. Homes of Webb AFB. The shell was a 75 mm. round. Sgt. Holmes told police officers a demolition team from Webb would disarm the round.

Benavides Child's Rites Set Today

Funeral services will be held this morning at the Spanish Methodist Mission for Sharman Lee Benavides, three-month-old child who died Saturday afternoon.

The child was the daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Luis Benavides, 106 NW 4th. Rev. Benavides, pastor of the Spanish Mission, will be in charge of the burial service.

Besides her parents, the child is survived by two sisters, Brenda, 7, and Joyce, 3; and two brothers, Luis E, 5, and Donylene, 18 months.

River Funeral Home is in charge of arrangements.

API Chapter Meet

Ordinances Issuing Bonds Are Passed

Big Spring city commissioners approved three ordinances Saturday authorizing the issuance and sale of the $915,000 in tax and revenue bonds voted by taxpayers earlier this year.

The largest amount was $525,000 and includes $200,000 for a new police station and jail; $175,000 for two new fire stations and equipment; and $150,000 for street construction and improvements.

Another ordinance covers park bonds in the amount of $90,000. The issues total $615,000 and are tax bonds.

The third ordinance authorizes the issuing of water revenue bonds totaling $300,000 to improve and extend the water and sewer systems.

A clause in the revenue ordinance requires that the city set up a $20,000 reserve, at $500 per month, in order to protect the bondsmen in case a catastrophe prevented the city from meeting the regular payments. The reserve would pay the principal and interest during any emergency.

The bonds were sold Tuesday evening at the regular meeting of commissioners. The tax bonds were sold at an effective interest rate of 2.72735 and the revenue bonds went at 2.878 per cent. The remaining $75,000 in bonds approved by voters will be sold when the city is ready to remodel the present city hall.

$48,000 Asked In Suit For Damages

C. H. McDaniel Jr. and A. P. Kasch & Sons of Big Spring ask judgment for $48,007.34 in a suit for damages filed in 118th District Court Saturday against Magnolia Pipe Line Company and O. R. Burden Construction Company.

The judgment is asked to cover losses from a fire which destroyed a barn owned by McDaniel south of Big Spring last April 23. The plaintiffs contend that workmen employed by the defendants caused a fire which burned the building. The workmen were engaged in laying a pipe line across the property at the time the blaze occurred, according to the suit.

McDaniel asks $25,000 for loss of the barn, $4,125 for loss of personal property, and $1,525 which he says is the sum of lease money he returned to Kasch & Son after the fire. The Kasch firm, which said it had feed and construction supplies stored in the barn, asks judgment for $17,357.34.

Sea Anemones Trap Fish With Tentacles

By RAMON COFFMAN

A letter from Olivia Williams runs as follows:

"We visited the aquarium a few weeks ago, and saw some sea anemones. Are these considered to be animals, and do they trap and eat small fish? Will you also tell whether the alligator gar and the barracuda are the same?"

Sea anemones look like plants, but they belong to the animal kingdom. A sea anemone may have several colors (including orange and green) and the colors give it the appearance of a flowering plant.

After the infant stage, a sea anemone anchors itself to a rock or other solid object, usually at a depth between 10 feet and 500 feet. Many tentacles reach out from the top of the body, and these have stinging ends. When a small fish swims near the plantlike animal, it is seized in the tentacles and becomes an item of food.

The alligator gar and the barracuda are different kinds of fish. We find the alligator gar in rivers which flow into the Gulf of Mexico. These rivers are in Mexico and southern parts of the United States, also in Cuba.

The alligator gar is a member of the garfish family. It likes sluggish parts of rivers, where it lies in wait for fish to eat. Careful measurements show that it grows to a length of at least nine or 10 feet. One fish of this kind was found to have a length of nine feet and eight inches, and a weight of 302 pounds. Unconfirmed reports have told of alligator gars from 12 to 14 feet long.

Barracudas belong to a different family. One kind, the great barracuda, reaches a length of 10 feet, and is highly dangerous to people. With a snap of its ugly jaws it may cut off a human arm.

The great barracudas are found in warm parts of the Atlantic. Many of them swim in the water around the West Indies. Some have been observed off the coasts of Florida and the Bermuda Islands.

Two County Funds May Be Borrowing

With balances dwindling and expenditures exceeding receipts, county general and officer salary funds may be dipping into next year's money to pay some of this year's bills.

Balance in the general fund is $6,803.98. Last month, disbursements amounted to $11,277.98 while receipts totalled only $2,924.18. At that rate, the balance will be exhausted before November is past.

The officer salary fund is in slightly better condition. Its balance at the end of October was $7,841.03. However, revenues almost equalled expenditures last month and if that condition prevails in November and December the fund will end the year "in the black."

Officer salary fund income last omonth was $8,312.87 while expenditures totaled $8,980.63. If receipts keep coming in at half the October volume, the fund will balance out at the end of the year.

The 1956 funds collected in the October tax paying period included $10,375.90 for the general fund and $7,841.03 for the officer salary fund.

The other county funds are in better condition and are expected to finish out the year with surpluses.

These include the jury fund, which in October received $310.56, spent $2,012.40, and has a balance of $7,815.84; road and bridge, with $2,568.81 received, $25,117.18 spent and balance of $58,722.75; permanent improvement, $193 received, $1,321 spent and $4,068 balance, and lateral road, no receipts, no expenditures and a balance of $37,717.36.

The library fund received $77.81 in October, while disbursing $959.20 and maintaining a balance of $4,813.31. The law library fund received $117, spent nothing and received $274, spent nothing and upped its balance to $9,451.71.

The 1954 road bond sinking fund built its balance to $231.04.

There was no income for the courthouse and jial building fund $64.68. The a balance of the courthouse and jail sinking fund had revenues totaling $612.94, no disbursements, and ended October with a $31,377.69 balance.

Aggregate of October receipts was $15,537.27 while disbursements amounted to $49,765.30. Combined, balances total $181,658.73, not including October receipts for the 1956 budget. These totaled $196,518.17.

In addition to the cash balances, the county has $98,981.50 from the road and bridge and courthouse and jail building fund invested in U. S. government securities.

The county's indebtedness amounts to $1,194,000, including October receipts for the 1956 budget. These totaled $196,518.17.

In addition to the cash balances, the county has $98,981.50 from the road and bridge and courthouse and jail building fund invested in U. S. government securities.

The county's indebtedness $884,000 on the courthouse and jail amounts to $1,194,000 including and $310,000 on the 1954 road bond issue.

Jess Talkin

The new cotton allotments will create a severe hardship on the small dryland farm, according to J. M. Bradley, district manager of the Planter's Gins. He says the only crop a farmer can make money with is cotton, and the man with a half section or less will have a hard time of it unless acreage controls are relaxed.

Bradley says the little farmer out here has got to grow cotton to get by, whereas in Central and East Texas he has enough rain to grow a number of crops that will pay off.

In the five-county area which he travels, Bradley said the cotton was 50 per cent gathered last week, and would probably be 60 per cent finished by the end of this week. He said the braceros were going home from everywhere now, and farmers were getting ready to start the cotton strippers. Their gin at Welch in Dawson County is already ginning machined cotton.

The biggest need is the research field in West Texas is for water conservation, says Bill Moldenhauer, soil scientist at the Big Spring Experiment Station. He says that on the station they have got as much as 17 inches of rain between September and May, yet had only two inches of available moisture at planting time. He thinks that farms in this area have more runoff from rains than most farmers believe.

At present, the station is thinking of starting some moisture conservation tests. They may in some way try impounding water so it will soak into the ground where it falls.

One experiment they will continue at the station is growing cotton on the same plot. On one plot which has had cotton continuously nearly 40 years, the yield has dropped very little.

He says that soil with no erosion may hold up indefinitely where little is taken off it. But when two good crops are grown, as in irrigation, then the fertility drops fast. This is why fertilizer is becoming so necessary in irrigated sections.

County Agent James Taylor figures the maize harvest is 85 per cent finished. The best maize is found in the area between the Snyder and Andrews highways. He says much of it fell down, especially the 7078. Taylor thinks the county average will be about 900 pounds per acre, however, it is spotted just like the cotton. The best maize is found in areas where the cotton is also good.

Taylor thinks a lot of the fallen maize will be grazed by sheep and cattle. He said several farmers and ranchers had bought small bunches of livestock and several others were planning to buy animals. Besides the grain fields, he said quite a lot of silage will be fed this winter.

Taylor says that some of the hybrid grain sorghum seed is now available to farmers who want to try small fields of it next year. Farmers who are interested in growing the hybrid grain should come to the county agent's office for more information.

Three of the 4-H Club steers will be taken to the Chicago livestock show which starts Nov. 24 and ends on December 2. Two of the steers belong to Joyce Robinson and the third one to Robert Lomax. All of them are Herefords.

A few braceros will be used for farm and ranch work in this area ddring the winter. James Jones of the Texas Harvesting Association says these will be the good workers who can handle a tractor and do other more difficult jobs.

The payment for farm work is supposed to be based on the prevailing wage rate of the area, but cannot be less than 50 cents an hour. A Mexican National can be hired by the month for ranch work, but cannot be used for anything except regular ranch jobs.

The Howard County ASC has handled around 150 grain loans thus far, says Gabe Hammack, and may get another 50 before all the grain harvest is over. The loan price has been about $1.69, but the grower has some of this deducted for storage charges. This figure is about 12 cents a hundred at present.

Hammack says the best maize was northwest of Big Spring. The late crop of maize and hegari in the Elbow-Lomax area was very light, with most fields averaging from 500 to 600 pounds.

Deep breaking may be one of the major conservation practices in the county this year. Johnnie Phillips has moved his big tractor and plow back to this area and is already started on a winter's work. work.

This practice, when approved, pays $2 an acre when land is plowed from 12 to 15 inches deep, $3 for 15 to 18 inches, and $5 an acre for plowing over 18 inches deep. To be approved the soil must be fairly sandy, particularly for the larger payments.

FARM BRIEFS: Claud Russell who farms near the Andrews Highway says the only crop you can depend on out here is cotton. Feed makes some years, but the average is less than 1,000 pounds an acre . . . R. J. Purtell, the number one farmer in Terry County, thinks cotton burrs are the most expensive fertilizer a farmer can buy. There are two reasons why he doesn't use them on his irrigated farms: They are too expensive to haul and they contain very little nitrogen and phosphorous. Purtell plants maize and fertilizes it, then increases the following cotton yield by over a half bale per acre. He also uses vetch in the three way rotation . . . The most worthless plant in West Texas is the salt cedar. Right now, though, they make a picture for an artist to paint. The bushes have turned a burnt gold color and can be seen a half mile away. There are a lot of them over west in Sulphur Draw . . . The crow population is heavier than usual. Saw a flock of them in Martin County that must have numbered 300. They were saving some farmer the expense of combining his maize . . . A prominent FFA student says there will be no farming for him. "There is no future in it," he said. "My dad is worn out from farming and has nothing to show for it. I don't want my life to be like that."

School Enrollment Drops To 5,171

Average daily attendance, on which state assistance is based, was 4,970.41 for the first six-week term of the Big Spring Independent School District, according to Supt. W. C. Blankenship.

The initial enrollment of 5,258 dropped to a membership of 5,171 by the end of the first six weeks, the superintendent reported. The average daily attendance represented school attendance by 96.23 per cent of the membership.

The district had 208 teachers at the end of the term, for a ratio of 24.8 pupils per instructor.

Rice Owls Succumb To Late A&M Surge

By MAX B. SKELTON

HOUSTON, Nov. 12 (AP)— The amazing Texas Aggies, No. 9 in the nation, used the running and pass catching of sophomore halfback Lloyd Taylor to ignite a three-touchdown comeback in the last five minutes today and thrill a crowd of 68,000 with a 20-12 victory over Rice Institute.

Trailing 12-0 with just four minutes and 15 seconds to play, the Aggies exploded with two touchdowns by Taylor and another by halfback Don Watson.

Taylor scored the first from the two after taking a pitchout and scampering 38 yards to the Rice three. Just 46 seconds later, after a successful short kickoff by the Aggies, he took a 43-yard pass from quarterback Jimmy Wright and put A&M ahead, 13-12. Watson scored from the three after fullback Jack Pardee had returned an intercepted pass 37 yards to the Rice eight.

Rice also scored in an explosive manner, halfback Paul Zipperlen running 6 and 5 yards for touchdowns within a 2 minute and 47 second period midway in the fourth quarter. Quarterback King Hill led the Rice scoring drives of 56 and 31 yards, the second getting under way after the Owls recovered a kickoff fumble.

Taylor kicked the first two extra points for the Aggies but Wright missed the third. Fullbacks Jack Throckmorton and Jerry Hall missed the Rice placements.

Until Taylor broke loose on his 58-yard run, an amazing Rice defense had not permitted the Aggies to cross midfield since an intercepted pass stopped a threat on the Rice 13 early in the second quarter.

The victory enabled the Aggies, ineligible for the Cotton Bowl but eligible for the championship, to cling to first place with only a tie with Arkansas marring a five-game conference campaign.

Rice and SMU still remain for TCU, while A&M only Texas remaining on Thanksgiving Day.

Rice, the pre-season conference favorite, took its fifth straight defeat. It is the first time in Coach Jess Neely's 16 years at Rice that his Owls have lost four conference games in a row and only the third time they have lost five consecutive games.

Cyclones Lose To Oklahoma

NORMAN, Okla., Nov. 12 (AP)— The blizzard forecast for the Oklahoma-Iowa State game failed to arrive today, but the nation's No. 1 football team brewed up a touchdown storm of its own that chilled the Cyclones from Iowa 52-0.

Instead of a cold front, the temperature soared into the 70s and 45,000 shirt - sleeved spectators watched the Sooners outclass Iowa State for their 53rd straight Big Seven conference victory.

Oklahoma scored two touchdowns in each quarter for its 27th consecutive overall triumph, longest victory string in the nation.

The Sooners, driving toward their eighth straight Big Seven championship, meet Nebraska in a showdown game at Lincoln, Neb., next week. Each team has five loop victories and no defeats.

Oklahoma's first team played only 20 minutes today with the second, third and fourth units carrying on. There wasn't much difference between them:

In the first half Iowa State never got by the Sooner 43. In the second half the Cyclones got as far as the Oklahoma 36.

The thinly-manned and tired Cyclones had to be content trying to slow down the inevitable touchdown drives.

BEATS VERNON

Lakeview Clinches District Crown

Lakeview's Rockets clinched the football championship of District 12-A in their first year of operation by nudging the Vernon Bearcats, 20-19, in a slam-bang game here Saturday night.

Other teams in the conference, in addition to the two Saturday foes, are Plainview, Slaton and Lamesa.

The Cats scored first in the contest, going 50 yards in nine plays. Wiley Fantry boomed over from the one.

Lakeview came back and got a TD within three minutes after the opening kickoff. Ernest Byrd broke loose on a 63-yard dash. Billy Weatherall then booted the PAT after Lakeview lead, 7-6.

In the closing seconds of the half, B. F. Newton passed 34 yards to Alvin King for another Rocket tally and Weatherall again made good on the try for point.

The Big Springers added to their advantage in the third period when Ernest Byrd flipped a 17-yard pass to Billy Gene Freeman, who went over. The Rockets drove 39 yards for that tally.

Vernon fought back to get a tally before the period was out, Fantry barrelling 24 yards right up the middle for the six-pointer. Robert Gates booted the extra point.

Early in the fourth, Steve Nicholson went over from 11 yards away for Vernon's third score but the try for point was blocked by the whole Lakeview line and that proved to be the ball game.

The Bearcats launched another desperate drive for a score late in the game but Alvin King intercepted a pass on his own 15 and Big Spring was in possession at its own 38 at the game's end.

Lakeview's record now shows five wins, three losses and a tie. The Rockets play Plainview there next Friday.

Vernon, which brought only 15 players to town, was seeking its fourth straight conference title. The Cats were seeking their fourth win this season but had to accept their seventh loss. They beat Lubbock, 6-0; and Plainview, 33-6; and accepted a forfeit from Lamesa. Massagee Stars As H-SU Cowboys Rout Cincinnati

CINCINNATI, Nov. 12 (AP)—Charlie Massegee, a 155-pound sophomore, from Ranger, Tex., scored four touchdowns, three of them on passes, today as Hardin-Simmons romped to a 53-20 football victory over the University of Cincinnati's Bearcats.

Fumbles helped wreck the Bearcats. Rudy Comchoc, filling in at quarterback for the injured Mike Murphy, fumbled five times and the Cowboys from Hardin-Simmons recovered four of them.

Masegee got the Cowboys away and running in the opening period as he took a pass from John Lyle for 27 yards and a touchdown. A one-yard plunge by Barry Maroney and an extra point gave Cincinnati its only lead at 7-6 shortly thereafter.

The Cowboys exploded for four touchdowns against the fumble-fingered Bearcats in the second period and from there on it was a rout.

A pass from Lyle to Massegee covered 35 yards for the Cowboy sophomore's second touchdown late in the second period. In the third period he swept around end from his own 7 and ran 93 yards to score again. And at the opening of the final period he took a pass from Ken Ford to score again from 42 yards out.

GARDEN CITY, (SC), Nov. 12.— The Garden City Bearkats outpointed the Forsan Buffaloes in an easy 49-29 district win here Friday night. The Bearkats were never in trouble, scoring the first time they had the ball and increasing the lead to 29-7 at the half.

The Buffaloes called on Pat Brunton to score and get back into the game. The versatile back ran for two and passed for another Forsan score in the last quarter. But the Garden City team had the game well under wraps with the rushing of Jimmie Smith, Eddie Engle, and Lorin McDowell.

The Bearkats scored first in the initial quarter which was the climax of a 50-yard march. Jimmie Smith carried over from the five for the marker. Smith also carried over the extra point.

Forsan came right back with a score when Tony Starr galloped 40 yards for the touchdown on the second down after kickoff. George White passed to Tony for the extra point, tying the score.

Garden City started the next march from their own 32. Royce Pruitt gathered in a pass from Lorin McDowell and raced 30 yards to put the ball on the Forsan 4. Smith again carried over the tally. Eddie Engle carried over for the point.

The score stood 14-7 at the end of the first quarter.

The Bearkats scored twice more and Forsan yielded a safety before the half. Taking the ball from their own 34, Smith, Engle, and McDowell edged the ball down to pay dirt, Smith carrying it over from the 4.

One series of Forsan downs later, Garden City got the ball on its own 37. Jones grabbed three yards for the first try and 40 on the second, as he raced by the Buffaloes for another score. Big Milton Mow carried over for the extra point.

Forsan began the next march from its own 8-yard line. Tony Starr was trapped back in the end zone and Garden City counted up another two points for a safety.

At halftime, the score was 29-7.

The Bearkats climaxed a 50-yard drive with still another touchdown when Engle carried the skin over from the 6-yard line. Kenneth Rodgers carried over the point. Then Coach Targe Lindsey began using his second string.

The younger boys proved they could play too, when Jim Nelson intercepted a Pat Brunton pass on the Forsan 22-yard line. Rodgers scampered the 22 yards for the score on the first play. Mow carried over for the point, but it was called back for an offside penalty. Rodgers carried over the next time.

The score stood 43-7 at the end of the third quarter.

Taking the ball on their own 15-yard line, Brunton passed to Tony Starr on the first play which was good for 65 yards and the second Forsan score. Garden City's second team couldn't get started and Forsan got the ball back on downs on their 38-yard line.

White's pass to Gary Starr was good for 38 yards and a score but it was called back for a clipping penalty. The ball was placed down on the Garden City 25. Brunton took the ball from there in a 25-yard run and the touchdown. Ronnie Howard drop-kicked the ball through the posts for the extra points.

Garden City's ball again, Engle's pass to Nelson was good for 31 yards followed by McDowell's pass to Royce Pruitt which counted 14 yards into the end zone.

Pat Brunton made the last touchdown of the game with a run downfield for 65 yards. He easily outdistanced the Bearkats to make the score 49-27. Howard added two more points with a kick through the uprights.

Cassady Paces Bucks To Win

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Nov. 12 (AP)— All-America Howard (Hopalong) Cassady put on his greatest show in his farewell to the home folks today, scoring all three touchdowns as Ohio State defeated Iowa 20-10.

The freckled, red-haired speedster ground out 169 yards in 26 rushes, just 2 yards less than the entire Iowa team was able to make in 45 rushing plays.

A crowd of 82,701, third largest in Ohio Stadium history, gave the 21-year-old Columbus senior the greatest ovation ever heard in these parts when he left the game 18 seconds before the finish.

In leading Ohio to its fifth straight conquest in the Big Ten, and its 12th straight over two years, Cassady scored on a 45-yard blast over tackle the first time he had his hands on the ball.

Bruins Score Late To Nip Huskies

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 12 (AP)—A safety and a field goal in the last 3 minutes saved UCLA's Rose Bowl express today as the Bruins finally overcame the startling Washington Huskies 19-17. Halfback Jim Decker's 29-yard field goal came with just 18 seconds left on the clock.

It was the fifth Pacific Coast Conference triumph of the season for the Uclans, and virtually clinched the berth in the big bowl.

Washington, which had lost three and tied one in the last four games, took a 17-14 lead into the final 3 minutes of play. The Huskies presented UCLA with a safety to prevent the danger of a blocked punt, but still claimed the lead, 17-16, with 2:51 remaining.

The Bruins, favored by four touchdowns, drove from midfield to the Washington 19 in the final surge that set up Decker's dramatic finish.

Illinois Hangs On To Nip Wisconsin Badgers, 17-14

MADISON, Wis., Nov. 12 (AP) — Illinois, led by newly-found halfback star Bob Mitchell, pushed Wisconsin around for nearly three quarters today, then hung on grimly to eke out a 17-14 Big Ten football victory.

Mitchell scored both Illinois touchdowns and gave the Illini position for the field goal that spelled triumph as the invaders completely dominated play through the first half and most of the third quarter.

Late in the third period, Wisconsin finally caught fire as Jim Miller and Jim Haluska—the Badgers' one-two quarterback punch—began to connect on passes.

The Badgers scored twice in the final period, then went 76 yards to the Illinois 9. At that point, with only seconds left, Paul Shwaiko tried—and failed—for the field goal that would have tied the ball game.

Mitchell, who last week upset Michigan squirmed through right tackle for 39 yards and the first Illinois score early in the opening quarter. The slippery sophomore scampered 39 yards around right end in the next period to set up a 25-yard field goal by Dick Miller. In the third period, he scored the second with a 4-yard spurt that climaxed a 55-yard march.

Aggies Grope For Crown

By The Associated Press

Texas A&M had the Southwest Conference football championship in its grasp Saturday as the Aggies beat Rice 20-12 with a stirring last-period comeback.

It left A&M on top, having only to beat Texas Thanksgiving Day to win its first title in 15 years.

Texas Christian moved into second place with a 47-20 victory over Texas and can wind up a half-game behind A&M if it takes its two remaining contests—against Rice at Fort Worth next Saturday and against Southern Methodist at Fort Worth Nov. 26.

TCU virtually sewed up the host Cotton Bowl spot. If the Horned Frogs finish second they will get the Cotton Bowl bid because A&M is ineligible due to the fact that it is in probation for violating the recruiting rules.

A&M can still lose the championship, however. If Texas should upset the Aggies and TCU win its remaining games, TCU would take the title by a half-game.

Texas fell to third place and Arkansas held fourth with a 6-0 victory over Southern Methodist Saturday. Everybody is out of championship contention now except A&M and TCU.

Next Saturday Rice plays TCU and Baylor clashes with Southern Methodist at Waco. Arkansas, which has finished its conference schedule, has an intersectional clash with Louisiana State at Little Rock.

The conference standings:

	W	L	T	Pct.
Texas A&M	4	0	1	.900
Texas Christian	3	1	0	.750
Texas	3	2	0	.600
Arkansas	3	2	1	.583
Southern Methodist	1	3	0	.250
Baylor	1	3	0	.250

TCU Frogs Trample Longhorns, 47-20

By BO BYERS

AUSTIN, Nov. 12 (AP)—TCU quarterback Charles Curtis broke Texas' back with two quick touchdown passes, and sensational Jim Swink added a lavish icing with four scoring bursts today to swamp Texas, 47-20.

Victory for the hard - hitting Horned Frogs, No. 8 team in the nation, boosted TCU to second place behind Texas A&M in the Southwest Conference.

With A&M on probation, TCU's wild scoring spree thrust the Horned Frogs into the role of prohibitive favorite to become Cotton Bowl host on Jan. 1.

In the greatest one-man scoring exhibition ever witnessed in Memorial Stadium, Swink set the 55,000 football fans roaring early in the game and received a tremendous ovation when he trotted to the bench shortly before the final gun.

His four touchdowns, one a one-yard plunge and runs of 62, 57 and 34 yards, plus two conversions, gave him 26 points for the day and ran his season's total in eight games to 107—probably tops in the nation.

The triumph, sixth in seven starts for TCU, marked the most points ever scored by a Southwest Conference opponent against Texas in Memorial Stadium. It also was the most points Texas ever collected here in defeat. Texas now shows a 4-5 season record and a 3-2 record in league play.

Solid blocking by the Horned Frogs, both on the scrimmage line and downfield, paved the way for TCU runners to gobble up 348 yards. A rugged defense led by tackle Norman Hamilton, guard Bill Alexander, and center Hugh Pitts limited Texas to 94 yards.

The unheralded and devastating TCU aerial attack added 175 yards to the Frogs' offense, giving them a total of 523 yards to the Longhorns' 203.

Supremely confident from the outset, TCU crashed 82 yards in seven plays to score first, Swink hitting through left guard from the one.

Texas grabbed the lead briefly in the second period on a two-yard plunge by Delano Womack. The TD drive started from the TCU 23, set up by recovery of a TCU fumble.

Left half Walter Fondren, who had been expected to duel Swink for honors, converted to make it 7-6 favor of Texas.

TCU roared back into the lead for keeps three plays after the ensuing kickoff when Curtis tested Texas' weak pass defense for his first touchdown toss, a 44-yarder to Ken Wineburg deep behind the defensive right halfback.

Swink's finest run of the afternoon came a short time later, when he took a pitchout and went around left end for a weaving 62-yard run behind superb blocking.

Sundown Kayoes Stanton, 26-7

STANTON, Nov. 12 (SC) — Riding the back of hard-running Jan Pearcy, the visiting Sundown eleven swept past Stanton here Friday night 26-7.

Pearcy personally accounted for all of the Roughneck's four TDs on runs of 70, 10, and 30 yards. The fourth was on a pass covering 30 yards.

The victory for Sundown kept their record in District 4-A competition unmarred by defeats.

Sundown racked up its first tally in the second quarter, when Pearcy ripped off a 70-yard scamper. Dale Childs added his first of two extra points of the evening.

The third period saw the one-man show mark up two touchdowns on runs of 10 and 30 steps. The 10-yard jaunt capped a 50-yard drive. Final tally for the visitors came in the final quarter when Pearcy took a pass from Childs on a play covering 30 yards.

Stanton got its lone score in the fourth quarter on a pass play netting 30 yards. Delbert Donelson was on the receiving end of the pass, and Charles Blocker kicked the extra point.

The Buffaloes play host to Coahoma next Friday night in the final game of the season.

Hoosiers Routed By Wolverines

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Nov. 12 (AP)—Michigan's revived defense overwhelmed Indiana 30-0 today to force a Big Ten Rose Bowl showdown with Ohio State next week.

It was Michigan's fifth conference victory against one loss and marked a brilliant defensive comeback for the team that last Saturday gave up more than 400 yards in a 25-6 upset by Illinois.

In the first half alone, Michigan held the Hoosiers to a minus 28 yards rushing and 10 passing, while piling up 162 on the ground and 31 in the air.

Michigan, which now need only beat Ohio State to make the Rose Bowl, put together drive of 68, 59, 42 and 41 yards for its four touchdowns with backs Terry Barr, Jim Pace, Lou Baldacci and Dave Hill scoring.

Barr cut over 3 yards for one tally, set up by a brilliant 41-yard sprint by Tony Branoff.

Committee Seeks Money For Club

LAMESA Nov. 12 — A 60-member committee to assist in promoting a semi-pro baseball team for Lamesa will meet Tuesday to talk over plans for their project.

Immediate goal of the committee, named by Clyde Branon, Chamber of Commerce president, is the raising of $1,500 for uniforms and equipment. The team, which operated as the Tri-State Drillers of Midland last year, wants to make Lamesa its home base in 1956.

The semi-pro outfit will play at least two games per week in Lamesa.

HUNTERS AWAIT DEBUT OF NEW DEER SEASON

AUSTIN, Nov. 12 (AP)—Plenty of fat deer, plenty of hunters, and plenty of rules to know before the shooting starts. That's the picture as hunters await their chance to level down on a big buck early Wednesday, first day of the season.

Buck deer will be the target in most instances, but taking of does will be allowed in four Hill Country counties — Mason, Llano, Gillespie and Kerr.

Rules are so complex and varied, Executive Secretary Howard Dodgen of the Game Commission urged sportsmen to familiarize themselves with the game law digest.

If the hunter is shooting in areas where the commission has regulatory responsibility to adjust the number of deer that can be taken, he should see the game warden or wildlife biologist on the scene.

Last-minute rule changes are made in some instances, and ignorance of the law is no excuse, Dodgen said.

He said hunters generally will find abundant targets of well conditioned deer as the big game season for the state at large opens one half hour before sunrise Nov. 16.

Dodgen estimated more than 250,000 Texans will try to get a crack at a deer before the season closes Dec. 31.

The total combined bag should approach 50,000 deer.

Taking of anterless deer in the four Hill Country counties is allowed to bring about a more desirable sex ratio in the areas where ranges are stocked to capacity with deer.

Under the general law affecting primarily the main whitetail range in the Edwards Plateau, hunters are entitled to two buck deer. hunting deer to have official tags to attach to each carcass under the law designed to compel compliance with the two-buck general law limit.

In nine counties west of the Pecos, only one buck can be taken, and the season is limited to Nov. 20-25 inclusive.

Other areas where special laws apply: Possum Kingdom group, 18 counties, but with Hill and Johnson counties closed, one buck limit, season Nov. 16-30; public hunts under drawings already held for both bucks and anterless deer on Engeling Wildlife Management Area and on Kerr Area, and for bucks on Black Gap area; and the special anterless deer hunts in Mason, Llano, Gillespie and Kerr counties.

Deacons Down Virginia, 13-7

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., Nov. 12 (AP) — Wake Forest found Virginia's leaky pass defense very much to its liking today and trimmed the Cavaliers 13-7 in an Atlantic Coast Conference football game.

The visiting Deacons had a field day with their passing, particularly in the first half. The No. 1 target was halfback John Parham, a 164-pound senior from Oxford, N. C., who twice plucked passes out of the shirt-sleeve weather and scampered into the end zone.

Quarterbacks Nick Consoles and Charlie Carpenter threw the payoff pitches. Consoles teamed up with Parham on a 67-yard touchdown play in the first quarter. Carpenter flipped one to Parham on a play good for 16 yards in the second.

Nine times Virginia had opportunities to score. Eight times the Demon Deacons turned the Cavaliers away. With less than 2 minutes left, Virginia quarterback Rives Bailey found halfback Wilson Tinsley with a 17-yard end zone pass to avoid a shutout.

Harvard Upset

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 12 (AP) —A six-times beaten Brown football team, led by unheralded reserve quarterback Dom Balogh, pushed across touchdowns in the third and fourth period today to upset Harvard 14-6.

Big Return

LAUREL, Md. Nov. 12 (AP) — Richard B. Pond's Stepage and Robert Leapley's Hunter's Run returned $1,446 in the daily double on Laurel's first two races today, setting a record for Maryland's racing season this fall.

Nationals May Seek To Draft Rocky Nelson From Montreal

NEW YORK, Nov. 12 (AP)—The Washington Senators, having traded off veteran first baseman Mickey Vernon to Boston, were expected to draft 31-year-old Rocky Nelson from Montreal when the major leagues hold their annual draft meeting at Columbus, Ohio, on Nov. 28.

The Senators, because of their last-place finish in the American League, will get the first draft pick from a huge selection of minor league players. Nelson, a great hitter in the minors, has failed in five previous big league trials. He led the International League last season with a .363 batting average and was the top slugger with 37 home runs and 129 runs batted in.

The top draft price is $15,000 for a player from the Pacific Coast League. Triple-A players (International and American Assn.) are worth $10,000. Double-A (Texas, Mexican and Southern) are worth $7,500. Single-A (Eastern, Sally and Western) cost $6,000; Class B players bring $4,008, Class C $2,500 and Class D $2,000.

Last year 13 players were drafted but only six—pitchers Art Ceccarelli, Cloyd Boyer and Roberto Vargas; and outfielders Jim King, Roberto Clemente and Glen Gorbous—remained all season.

This year's list includes numerous veterans such as Monte Irvin, Gene Bearden, Ben Wade, Connie Marrero, Dick Sisler, Steve Ridzik, Bob Kuzava, Sam Dente, Fred Baczewski, Joe Presko, Al Corwin, Lloyd Merriman, Tom LaSorda and many others.

Others such as Ed Ceraghino, Norm Larker, Eric Rodin, Ronnie Lee, Billy Joe Davidson, Paul Pettit, Steve Kraly, Glenn Mickens, Tom Casagrande, Paul Penson, Tom Burgess, Wally Burnette and Thornton Kipper are comparative youngsters and former bonus players on whom the big clubs have given up.

ROCKY NELSON

Hidden in the huge batch of names are little-known players but prospective nuggets. These include the following:

Leonard Vandehey, Texas City (now with Dallas), led the Big State League in hitting with .377.

Ed Knoblauch, Dallas, led the Texas League in hitting with .327.

Prentice Browne, Shreveport (now with Los Angeles), led the Texas League in home runs with 33.

Keith Little, Corpus Christi, led the Big State League in home runs with 47.

Mario Ariosa, Vera Cruz, led the Mexican League in home runs with 22.

Rene Vega, Corpus Christi, led the Mexican League in pitching with a record of 28-6.

The odds against a draftee emerging into a big star are very heavy but it must be remembered that Hall of Famer Grover Alexander and such big league stars as Hack Wilson, Bobo Newsome and Ferris Fain came up to the majors via the draft.

The New York Boxing Commission has a ruling that forbids fighters to wear a mustache in the ring.

District 5-4A Go Headliner

By The Associated Press

Tyler and Wichita Falls clash this week in the headliner of Texas schoolboy football in the upper brackets.

They are two of the state's undefeated, untied teams and they will be battling for the District 5 championship of Class AAAA. Both are highly rated and the winner is expected to go to the finals. Tyler can win the title if it beats Wichita Falls. If Wichita Falls wins, it still would have to best Dallas Highland Park.

Two champions have been determined — Baytown in District 8 AAAA and Alice in 8 AAA. Texarkana has clinched a place in the state playoff of Class AAA. While Texarkana could be tied for the District 4 title it still would be the representative in the playoffs because it played Marshall to a 7-7 deadlock last week and led on penetrations. Marshall is the only team left that can tie Texarkana for the lead.

Only one team fell out of the undefeated, untied ranks last week. Grand Prairie took a 19-0 thumping from Cleburne to leave only two teams with perfect records in AAA. They are Garland and Alice.

Several AAA district championships are on the line this week. Snyder can win District 1 by beating Levelland. Garland can win District 2 by beating Grand Prairie. Gainesville and Sherman meet for the District 3 title. Temple can win District 5 by beating Corsicana. Port Neches and Beaumont South Park play for the District 6 crown. Victoria can win District 7 by beating San Antonio Burbank.

The week's schedule by districts (all games Friday and conference unless indicated otherwise):

Class AAAA

1. Midland at Abilene; Pampa at Lubbock; Saturday: Borger at Amarillo, San Angelo at Odessa.
2. El Paso High vs. El Paso Austin, El Paso Burgess at Ysleta.
3. Thursday: Fort Worth Carter vs. North Side; Friday: Arlington vs. Fort Worth Paschal; Saturday: Fort Worth Poly vs. Fort Worth Tech.
4. Thursday: Dallas Wilson vs. Dallas Forest, Dallas Hillcrest vs. Dallas Sunset. Friday: Dallas Crozier vs. South Oak Cliff, Pleasant Grove vs. Dallas Adamson.
5. Austin at Waco, Wichita Falls at Tyler.
6. Corpus Christi Ray at Brownsville, San Antonio Central Catholic at Laredo (NC).
7. Thursday: Houston Lamar vs. Houston Austin; Friday: Houston Reagan vs. Houston Davis, Houston San Jacinto vs. Houston Milby; Saturday: Houston Sam Houston vs. Houston Bellaire.
8. Beaumont at Orange, Port Arthur at Baytown, Freeport at Galveston, Pasadena at Galena Park.

Class AAA

1. Plainview at Big Spring, Vernon at Lamesa, Levelland at Snyder; Sweetwater at Amarillo Palo Duro.
2. Weatherford at Cleburne, Grand Prairie at Garland, Irving at Birdville.
3. Denison at McKinney, Denison at Greenville, Gainesville at Sherman.
4. Texarkana at Longview, Nacogdoches at Kilgore.
5. Temple at Corsicana, Palestine at Bryan, Waco University at Brownwood.
6. Port Neches at Beaumont South Park, Beaumont French at Conroe, Texas City at Aldine.

Alert Vanderbilt Pounds Greenies

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 12 (AP) — Fullback Philip King pounded Tulane into lifelessness today in sparking alert Vanderbilt to a 20-7 football victory, its fifth straight.

King, a 202-pound bruiser with the elusiveness of a halfback, kept the Tulane defense off balance throughout the game, ripping through the middle and sprinting wide. He set up Vanderbilt's second touchdown, which crushed Tulane's last hope.

Vanderbilt scored the first of its two first period touchdowns when guard Larry Frank blocked a punt by Tulane's Ronnie Quillian and the ball rolled back to the Tulane 2. Halfback Joe Scales cracked guard for the score on the first play.

Jayhawkers Upset Stillwater, 12-7

LAWRENCE, Kansas, Nov. 12 (AP) — Dave Preston, a third-string sophomore quarterback, came off the bench in the second half to guide and run the Kansas Jayhawkers to a 12-7 football victory over Oklahoma A & M today.

Preston drove the Jayhawkers 80 yards early in the third period for the deciding touchdown. The young quarterback scored on a 1-yard sneak through the line.

A & M had launched a 78-yard second quarter drive to take a 7-6 lead at halftime.

Wolfpack Clinches Second Place In District 4-AA

COLORADO CITY, Nov. 12 — The Colorado City Wolves closed out the 1955 grid season with a 35 to 6 win over the Anson Tigers, to give the Wolves second place in District 4-AA.

The two clubs were neck and neck at the half, with the Wolves a slim 7 to 6 ahead of the Tigers. The sharpshooting toe of quarterback Frank Mackey provided the edge. Mackey had five for five for the evening and 18 of 22 for the season. At half-time the Tigers held a 10 to 5 margin in first downs and had outgained the Wolves by land and air, but Wolf Coach Bob Reily rewrote the script between halves and in the second half the Tigers were held to minus 3 yards rushing — after racking up 97 yards in the first half. The four Wolf scores were set up by tight defensive play — two coming after pass interceptions, another as the result of a fumble recovery and another as the result of a blocked kick.

Jimmy Roberts, soph Tiger quarterback, completed 11 of 26 passes for 114 yards, 87 yards of it in the all-Tiger first half.

Anson scored first, six plays deep in the second quarter with Royce Rodgers making the tally from the 1-yard line. The drive covered 78 yards and used 14 plays. A. H. Roberts, Danny Tollison and Rodgers were responsible for the ground yardage, and the sharpshooting sophomore completed passes to A. H. Roberts and Gary Bailey for 15 yards. The endpoint try — a plunge from scrimmage, failed to click.

Colorado City came alive and drove 92 yards in six plays, with Don Fite providing the big gainer on a 44-yard sprint off left tackle. Fite was driven out on the Tiger 10 and Tommy Jamison bowed his head and banged at the middle. He was checked at the three but broke free and went over standing up.

In the third quarter, a Wolf fumble recovery on the Tiger 18 set up another score. Jamison made 15 in three tries at the line and Sam Hulme went over.

An attempted quick kick cost the Tigers another score. Kicking from the 7, the Tiger punt was partially blocked and squirted off the field on the 18. Jamison scored in four carries, making it over from the three. Jamison has little deception but hits with tremendous drive and the Tigers were unable to stop his yardage thru the middle of the line.

In the final quarter, Colorado City pass defenders began to get the range of Roberts' passes and two interceptions resulted in scores — one by Charles Black on the Cee City 48 took three plays to score, with a pass from Mackey to end Bill Simmons good for the final 6 yards and the score.

The second interception was by Lee Mullican and the Wolves took two plays to score — Jamison got 7 yards to the Colorado City 40 and Hulme broke into the open on an off tackle try and ran 20 yards for the final Colorado City tally.

FIFTH-RANKED NOTRE DAME WINS OVER NORTH CAROLINA, 27-7

CHAPEL HILL, N. C., Nov. 12 (AP)—Fifth-ranked Notre Dame, settled to a 7-7 draw the first half, stormed back with two-third period touchdowns and another in the fourth to rout North Carolina 27-7 today in an intersectional football battle.

Notre Dame center Lou Loncaric intercepted a pass by Tar Heel quarterback Dave Reed and raced 75 yards for a touchdown in the closing minutes to climax the thriller.

The Fighting Irish started fast, stormed 53 yards in four plays, for a first period touchdown with halfback Jim Morse going over from the 2.

North Carolina now has a 2-6 best game of the season tied the score in the second period on the running of halfback Ken Keller and the passing of quarterback Buddy Sasser. The Tar Heels rolled 53 yards in 10 plays with Sasser tossing a 5-yard pass to end Charles Robinson for the score.

The Irish, dominating second half play, rolled 66 yards for a third period touchdown. Quarterback Paul Hornung went over from the 3. Halfback Dick Lynch scored from the 2 a short while later after a Tar Heel fumble by Ed Sutton was recovered on the 27 by Irish tackle Ed Sullivan.

Bulldogs Defeat Morton In 4-A Encounter, 40-6

By DON HENRY

COAHOMA, Nov. 12—(SC)—The hometown Bulldogs turned the high school football stadium Friday night into a race track as they bolted by Morton 40-6. Three of their touchdown plays covered over 45 yards, and a TD setup play went for 81 steps.

And added to this could be Morton's lone tally coming on a 95-yard kickoff runback.

Coahoma opened the scoring on the fourth play from scrimmage. After holding Morton for three plays inside the Morton 20, the Indians were forced to kick. Bill Evans punted, and the ball was taken by Coahoma's Ricky Phinney on his own 40.

The lad evaded one tacker, cut to his right for protection, reversed his field to the left sideline and sped the 60 yards to the goal. Joe Hill kicking from the left side booted the point and Coahoma was off to a lead that was never in danger.

For the second time, Morton was forced to punt after running but three plays, with the Coahoma eleven taking over on the 45. And on their first play from scrimmage, Phinney took a handoff from QB Mac Robinson over his own left tackle, cut to the sideline and was gone again.

Hill kicked his second point, and it was 14-0.

Coahoma added another score in the second period, again on a long-range play.

From the 47, Don Kennemor got into the Coahoma scoring column, taking a pitch out around the right side good for 6 points. Phinney, who had scored the previous two TDs threw a block into two defenders on the 35 to clear the path for Kennemor's scamper.

After the intermission, Coahoma marched from their own 39 to a TD, with Robinson going the last yard for the tally. The drive consumed eight plays. Hill booted the point—his third of four tries—to put the Bulldogs out in front 26-0.

Two plays before the end of the third quarter, Phinney picked his way among his teammate and 11 Indians 81 yards down the middle of the field only to be stopped on the Morton 10. But on the tackle, Morton was guilty of rough tactics and officials placed the ball on the one. Bill Tindol—fourth member of the CHS starting backfield—bulled over from there. Hill kicked again good.

The score mounted to 34-0.

The scoreboard show that count for only nine plays.

Morton ran two and fumbled on the third. The Bulldogs recovered on Morton's 34, and stormed the remaining steps in six plays, with Tindol carrying over from the 2.

This set the stage for the game's longest run. Kennemor kicked off and E. Thompson gathered it in on his own 5. With the aid on three timely blocks, he skipped all the way down the right sideline for Morton's lone tally. And the final score of the game.

Coahoma travels away from home for their next encounter, visiting Stanton next Friday night.

Bulldogs Halt Losing Skein

PLAINVIEW Nov. 16—(SC)—Two scoring plays from a long way out paved the way to victory for the Plainview Bulldogs here Friday night, as the Bulldogs downed Palo Duro of Amarillo 14-7. The win stopped a losing streak for Plainview that had mounted to seven.

Plainview scored its first touchdown on the first play from scrimmage after the second-half kickoff. With the ball resting on the Plainview 25-yard line, halfback Waldo Wesley cut through a hole over his own left tackle and legged it 75 yards to the goal line.

Tackle Jack Williams added the point after touchdown.

Later in the third period, Bulldog fullback Penny Culp on the same play ran 65 yards for a TD, and Williams added his second point from placement.

The victory was the first this season in seven games for the Bulldogs and also their first conference win.

Next foe for the Bulldogs will be a clash in Big Spring with the Steers next Friday night.

Christoval Wins Over Sterling

CHRISTOVAL Nov. 12—(SC)—A total of 111 points rolled across the scoreboard here Friday night as Christoval swept by Sterling City 68-42 in a 6-B (six man) conference clash.

Bill Cochran got into the winners' scoring column with three touchdowns, followed by Tom Lewis with two and Jerry Kirby with one, but topping the scoring was Bill Wilkinson with four TDs.

Jess Morris scored two touchdowns for Sterling City, while Bill Young tossed scoring passes to Wilbur Stone, Jimmy McWhirter, Lynn Glass and Jim Davis.

Pro Grid's Hot Teams Active

By The Associated Press

The Chicago Bears, currently pro football's hottest team, and the Baltimore Colts, the most improved, have a chance to move into a first-place tie with Los Angeles today as the National League again presents a full slate of six games.

Most of the attention will be focused on Chicago where the Bears will tangle in a return affair with the front-running Rams of the Western Conference. Two weeks ago the Bears thrashed the Rams, 31-20, to hand Los Angeles its second defeat on the season. The Rams have won five.

The victory was on the fourth in a row for the high-scoring Chicago outfit after three straight losses and tied it with Baltimore for second place, one game behind Los Angeles. A Chicago victory together with a Baltimore triumph over the Giants in New York would create a three-way tie for first place.

The unchallenged Cleveland Browns, boasting a two-game bulge over the rest of the field in the Eastern Conference, seek their seventh straight, meeting the Eagles in Philadelphia. Otto Graham and Co., are a 9-point favorite. In other games, the Steelers rate a touchdown favorite to defeat Detroit in Pittsburgh, the Packers are 10-point favorites to defeat the Chicago Cardinals in Green Bay and the Redskins are a 4-point choice to knock off San Francisco in Washington.

Wrong Time Given In Record Bid

NEW YORK, Nov. 12 (AP)—Coach Rut Walter of Northwestern admitted today he erred in applying for recognition of a world-matching 9.3 seconds for the 100 yards by sprinter Jim Golliday, according to Secretary Dan Ferris of the Amateur Athletic Union. Golliday actually did 9.2, his coach and Ferris now agree.

Jack Spikes, the Snyder back who did much to tear up the Big Spring playhouse Friday night, is shown being tackled by Ronnie Phillips after making a sizable gain. Coming up to help is Johnny Janak. Snyder won the game, 26-7.

BARRON GETS TD

Jack Spikes Paces Snyder To 26 To 7 Win Over Steers

SNYDER, Nov. 12, (SC) —Coach John Conley kept one of his thoroughbred horses, Joe Baxter, stabled throughout the game but the decision worked no particular hardship on Jack Spikes as Snyder raced to a 26-7 victory over Big Spring here Friday night.

The largest turnout of the Snyder home season, estimated at 5,400, applauded the hard-hitting halfback and his doughty teammates as they hammered out the win with effortless ease.

Baxter was sidelined with a leg injury. He was suited out but Conley saw fit to save him for a more critical time. He wasn't needed.

The Tigers, with the aroma of a district championship in their nostrils, scored in every quarter and held the Steers at bay until the final minute of play, when the visitors crashed through for their TD against the Snyder scrubs.

Spikes, who gained a net 140 yards against the Steers and enjoyed, it was said, his best game of the season, went over for the first touchdown on a wide sweep around right end from five yards out.

The pattern of play crystallized on Big Spring's first punt, when Spikes gathered in the ball and sprinted 30 yards back to Big Spring's 34, setting the scene for Snyder's first scoring drive. Big Jack almost got away then.

Joe Reaves' boot for the PAT cleared the uprights and it was 7-0.

Early in the second, Spikes boomed through from the 24 on a thunderous run and put Snyder out in front, 13-0. Reaves again kicked the point to make it 14-0.

Snyder's third six-pointer came just before the third period ended, when Jerry Taylor passed over the line to Alan Snead. The play originated on the 15 and Snead took the ball on about the five.

Less than four minutes had elapsed in the fourth when Bill Fowler skipped free from the nine-yard line for Snyder's fourth tally. That particular drive covered 88 yards.

Snyder was content to play its reserves most of the rest of the way and Big Spring capitalized on the generosity by getting its lone score just before the game ended.

Ronald Smith bobbled the ball on Snyder's 21 to set Big Spring's TD drive in motion. Charley Johnson chugged to the 14, from which point Jerry Barron powered over. Milton Davis added the point to make it 26-7.

Johnson's punting probably kept the score from mounting higher. The senior quarterback had one of his better nights at booting the ball.

In the line, Jerry Graves, Preston Bridges and Billy Lovelace played stellar ball for the Longhorns while Ronnie Phillips did well as a defensive back.

Barron's runs kept the Tigers on edge. He gained 104 of the 117 paces the Steers picked up all evening.

The Steers had a particularly bad time in passing. Of the ten aerials they threw, only two were completed. Four others were intercepted by alert Snyder defenders.

Volunteers Nudge Florida, 20 To 0

GAINESVILLE, Fla., Nov. 12 (AP) —Old-fashioned single wing power, paired with some close-to-the-vest play calling by tailback John Majors who ordered third down punts, carried Tennessee to a 20-0 SEC football victory today over Florida.

Majors guided the Vols to a pair of first quarter touchdowns—one on his 38-yard pass to Kyle Cruze and the other on Tommy Bronson's 3-yard smash. Then he went square and played conservative football the rest of the game.

Majors hit the scoring column himself in the third quarter on a 3-yard dive after Florida's Jim Rountree fumbled a punt on the Gator 11.

Florida found its passing arm for the first time this season and covered 178 aerial yards, but four interceptions prevented the Gators from turning it into a serious scoring threat.

Badger Coach Is Promoted

MADISON, Wis. Nov. 12 (AP)—Soft-spoken Ivy Williamson, who in seven great years brought Wisconsin out of the Big 10's football shadows, stepped upstairs to become athletic director today—and took a salary cut to do it.

The 44-year-old Williamson takes the post held by Guy Sundt, whose 30-year career with the Wisconsin athletic department ended in death Oct. 25.

Williamson will be succeeded as head football coach by his line coach and top assistant, Milt Bruhn, who followed Ivy to Wisconsin from Lafayette in 1949.

The salary cut is $1,850 to $13,500.

Ivy came to Madison to succeed Harry Stuhldreher who had been serving as both football coach and athletic director.

Wisconsin's football teams immediately improved and in 1952 the school tied for the Western Conference championship with Purdue and went to the Rose Bowl only to lose to Southern California, 7-0.

During Ivy's regime, the Badgers won 29 Big 10 games, had 11 defeats and 4 ties. Williamson's record, (not counting today's game) is 41 victories, 16 defeats and 4 ties.

Virginia Tech Wins

BLUEFIELD, Va., Nov. 12 (AP)—Virginia Tech, trailing 20-0 in the early minutes of the second period, came bouncing back in the second half to defeat North Carolina State 34-26 in the fifth annual Coal Bowl football game today.

In Home Finale Friday

Pictured above are two of the Big Spring High School football players who play their final home game of 1955 Friday night, at which time they meet Plainview. Charley Johnson is spotting a receiver downfield while Jerry Barron is making as if to block. Both boys are seniors.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Now that Big Spring has been promoted to the top bracket of schoolboy football, how is the outlook for the 1956 season? . . . Not overpowering, but not bad, I'd say . . . The coaching staff's biggest problem will be in moulding a forward wall, what with center Jerry Graves, practically all the guards and tackles and a couple of ends departing the scene . . . The backfield shapes up as good and deep . . . Billy Johnson will be stepping into Charley Johnson's shoes at quarterback and Billy will get the job done . . . He's tough and durable . . . Ronnie Phillips, Johnny Janak, Marvin Wooten, Herschel Stocks and Mike Hull will be back from the A team to help him . . . Up from the B squad will be such ambitious lads as Jerry McMahen, Wesley Grigsby, Jimmy Campbell, Edward Slate, Merle Dean Harter, Ronnie King and Jimmy Evans, to name a few . . . Any one is capable of playing first string ball . . . The end situation has posed a problem this year, mainly because of inexperience, but it could be one of the strong points of next year's team . . . Jan Loudermilk and Jimmy Bice will be back and Guinotte Gibbs, and Rickie Terry of the present B team, will be vying for positions, along with Pat Fisher and others . . . Walter Dickinson will return to man one of the tackle posts and will have help from such aircrafts as Dick Jackson, Bunky Grimes and Donnie Bryant . . . Lewis Porter is the only guard with any experience returning but the B team will probably provide some notable additions . . . At center, Gerald Davidson, up from the B team, will contest Glenn Peacock for the position and both will probably play on defense . . . Glenn Whittington of the B team is a top-drawer linebacker who could be of a lot of help in 1956 . . . Some of the present Ninth Graders may even contest for varsity positions . . . Others have been overlooked who will come in for mention here later.

Anderson, Lovelady Making Bids

In the words of their coach, Johnny Johnson, the Big Spring High School Steers are "apt to take a few lickings this year in basketball" but the situation isn't entirely dark . . . Charley Johnson, a standout in the late spring drills, will be back, along with Jimmy Bice while big Jan Loudermilk advances from the Junior High squad . . . Jan has the potential for becoming the greatest player in the history of the school, before he gets out . . . Mike Musgrove has been looking exceptionally good in practice and Coach Johnson expects such lads as Don Anderson, Donald Lovelady and Lloyd Harrison to fill the void left by the departure of Ken Harmon, Charles Clark and Al Kloven . . . Johnson says both Anderson and Lovelady are farther along at this stage than was Harmon last year . . . Anderson is a lad who applied himself and has worked diligently since he first reported . . . Johnson, incidentally, expects both the new schools in 1-AAA, Monterey and Palo Duro, to field good cage teams and thinks Sweetwater, Snyder and Lamesa will all be tough . . . Sweetwater could take it all without raising too many eyebrows . . . Orlin Brewer, who writes for the Levelland paper, predicts that his town's Lobos will topple Snyder next weekend, 14-13, because the Levelland club "has a sort of Cinderella sparkle about it" . . . Maybe so, but I think midnight has already struck for Cinderella . . . Horseshoes have been known to wear holes in people's pockets . . . Forsan's Starr boys, Tony and Gary Don, are cousins, not brothers . . . Both are fine, young athletes . . . Bobby Bragan of Fort Worth, newly named manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates, wanted until the final game of last season to get thrown out of a game . . . Said he: "Then, on one play, I yelled, 'There isn't an umpire on the field.' I was wrong. There was one. He threw me out."

Texans Do Well For Sooner Coach

This is the year of decision for Joe Golding, the Wichita Falls coach . . . They say his job is probably safe only if his Coyotes can topple Tyler next weekend . . . Wallace (Bud) Smith, the lightweight boxing champion, is negotiating to buy a funeral parlor in Cincinnati . . . He'll have to learn to punch a lot harder to drum up business for the concern . . . Roy Scudday, the Sweetwater scribe, quotes some scouts as saying Big Spring's Jerry Graves is merely another average defensive player . . . He quite likely was mirroring the thoughts of Sweetwater's own scouts, who have persisted in making light of any thing a Big Spring player does . . . Perhaps Jerry can convince a few people down there Thanksgiving Day he's a cut or two above the ordinary player . . . A story out of Norman, Okla., says Plainview's Lonnie Holland played a big hand in the OU freshman team's 34-13 victory over the Tulsa frosh recently . . . Both Holland and Breedenridge's Jake Sandifer scored two touchdowns in the game . . . Another Breck ex, Dick Carpenter, picked up 129 yards rushing in nine carries in the contest . . . Hugh Bob Tilson, the former Plainview basketball star, is now at West Texas State College . . . And Tommy Atwell, who played freshman ball at Texas Tech last year, is now with the Schreiner Institute basketball corps, along with J. L. Turnbow, formerly of Levelland. They say Billy Sandow, then the manager of Ed (Strangler) Lewis, got the idea for Ed's famous headlock from an incident at Jackson, a mountain town in Kentucky . . . Billy and Lewis had gone to Jackson on a hunting trip and there a dentist named Thompson, who had the reputation of being unbeatable in his community, was talked into meeting Lewis in the ring . . . Ed tried to take it easy with the dentist but the man was apparently badly out of shape and, within five minutes, was wheezing and dead white in the face . . . Lewis applied the headlock to end it and the dentist went limp . . . The word got around that Lewis had "nearly killed a man with his headlock," even though it was announced from the ring that the dentist had merely fainted . . . Later, Sandow had two blocks of wood fashioned into the shape of a head, with springs in between, and Lewis was photographed squeezing it with his headlock for practice.

Dogies Rise To Heights In Licking Odessa Bees

By TOMMY HART

Big Spring's B team, breathing fire and defiance, mopped up the earth with Odessa's reserves, 33-7, here Saturday afternoon.

The Red Shirts from Ector County left the field at half time all tied at 7-7 but they shouldn't have returned. The Dogies had the visitors on the ropes with a two-touchdown third quarter and then delivered the knockout blow with two more six-pointers in the final period.

All 31 boys who suited out for Big Spring got into action and the reserves looked remarkably poised, what time they played.

Odessa took the lead with a home run pass in the second period. W. A. Kennedy scored on a 40-yard aerial from Jerry Quinn and Kennedy add the PAT.

The Li'l Hosses should have quit while they were ahead. They were never in the ball game after that.

Big Spring came back to get a TD going into the wind, Merle Dean Harter bulldozing his way over from the ten. Billy Johnson kicked the point and the tah was tied at 7-7.

Highlighted by a great dash down the sidelines by Jimmy Campbell, the Dogies, in a hurry, drove dangerously near the goal early in the third. Even two fumbles failed to put out the fire. Wes Grigsby contributed some nice gains in a third offensive and that one ultimately paid off.

Campbell finally scatted 29 yards behind some nice blocking in the line and Johnson added the point to make it 14-7.

Some teams might have been content to try and hold that margin, but not the Dogies.

Big Dick Jackson got his sky hooks in action and blocked a punt on Odessa's 29, and Big Spring was again in business. Johnson then cooly passed to Bobby Suggs, who was in the clear and went for the TD. Johnson again kicked the PAT and Big Spring led, 21-7.

Bobby Loudermilk recovered another Odessa fumble on Odessa's 32 shortly before the quarter ended and Big Spring started another drive.

Going against the wind again in the fourth, Jimmy Evans hit Pat Fisher with a pass that carried 35 yards down to Odessa's eight. On fourth down, Johnson's exploded through the right side of the line and dived over to make it 27-7.

Not long after that, Bunky Grimes wrapped his body around still another Odessa fumble on the Hosses' 30. Ronnie King boomed to the ten on a great run. Jerry McMahon carved out yardage to the five but the ball went over on the four. Odessa eventually had to punt and the Dogies gained possession on their own 44.

Johnson then took the pighide, bolted through a gaping hole a fiercely blocking line had made for him and raced 56 yards to pay dirt. It was great running in any man's league.

In the line, such lads as Lewis Porter, Donnie Bryant, Bunky Grimes (who played his finest game), Dick Jackson (ditto), Lanny Hamby, Rickie Terry, George Peacock, Wes Grigsby and Gerald Davenport were among the Dogies' standouts.

Behind the primary, among the defensive standouts were Billy Bob Satterwhite, Edward Slate, Glenn Whittington, Bobby Laudermilk, Herschel Stocks and McMahen.

It was the club's finest hour in their final hour — they wound up the season with this one. No Big Spring team ever discharged duties more effectively.

PORKERS BLANK PONIES, 6 TO 0

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

DALLAS, Nov. 12 (AP)—The Arkansas Razorbacks paraded 58 yards to a touchdown the first time they had the ball, then fought Southern Methodist's massive men to a virtual standstill for 56 glittering minutes to win a 6-0 Southwest Conference football victory today.

Henry Moore, George Walker, and Preston Carpenter and a gazelle with a football named Don Horton kept SMU back on its heels with battering runs, long punt returns and vital passes. The Razorback defense rose up to intercept desperate Methodist throws when it appeared the ponderous SMU's were goalward bound.

Walker it was who bounced through the Methodist line for the touchdown that eliminated SMU from consideration in the Southwest Conference championship race.

SMU never seriously threatened and never got inside the Arkansas 20-yard line.

A crowd of 32,500 watched the Razorbacks roll up a tremendous 222 yards through the giant Mustang line while SMU was held to 139 in trying to fracture the light but fast Razorback wall.

For once SMU didn't fumble the ball away, something that had been blamed for its protracted losing streak. In fact the Methodists fumbled only once and recovered that and then picked up an Arkansas fumble.

Moore, Walker and Carpenter picked up 54, 53 and 48 yards respectively and Carpenter snared two passes for 22 yards, one of them—for 11 yards—helping set up the Arkansas touchdown. Don McIlhenny was SMU's leading ground gainer with 38 yards.

Horton ran one punt back 47 yards and another 25—the last one setting Arkansas off on a drive that carried to the Methodist two before it was stopped.

John Roach, the SMU quarterback, managed to complete nine passes for 60 yards but he also got two of his throws intercepted by Ronnie Underwood, Arkansas halfback—choked off a budding Methodist drive late in the game.

It was a hard-hitting game but drew only one penalty for roughness.

An offside penalty set up the Arkansas touchdown, putting the ball on the one, from where Walker rammed over for the score. Late in the game a pass-interference call appeared to have given SMU its big chance. The Methodists got the ball on the Arkansas 29 but Arkansas rose up, and, aided by an SMU backfield-in-motion penalty, halted the Methodists and finally took over on its 31.

Maryland Rallies To Gain 25-12 Win Over Clemson

CLEMSON, S. C., Nov. 12 (AP)—Unbeaten Maryland survived its toughest afternoon of the football season today, coming from 12 points behind to throttle keyed-up Clemson 25-12 and all but wrap up an Orange Bowl berth against Oklahoma.

Second string quarterback Lynn Beightol, in his first starting shot of the season as a sore throat limited the Frank Tamburello to part time duty, rallied Maryland with two touchdown passes, one to halfback Ed Vereb, the other to end Bill Walker.

A record overflow Homecoming crowd of 30,000 saw Clemson's hungry Tigers, beaten only once before today, storm into a 12-0 lead before Maryland, the nation's No. 2 team, took charge.

The victory was the 14th in a row for Maryland and ninth of the season.

Both teams now have finished their Atlantic Coast Conference season, Maryland with a 4-0 league record and Clemson 3-1.

Clemson moved the opening kickoff 84 yards in 10 plays, setting the Terps back on their heels with a touchdown after, less than 5½ minutes had been played. End Dalton Rivers, who hadn't caught a pass all season, snared a 14-yarder from quarterback Don King for the touchdown.

Then halfback Joel Wells, a running fool in the first half, broke loose for 50 yards and a touchdown on the first play of the second period to give Clemson a 12-0 lead.

Maryland got back in the ball game late in the second period after a 15-yard roughness penalty against Clemson gave the Terps a first down on the Clemson 36. Five plays later, Vereb smashed over from the 1 for the first of his two touchdowns. He now has 14 to lead major college scorers.

Maryland took charge and went ahead in the third quarter, running 26 plays from scrimmage against only five for Clemson. The pgays after the second half kickoff, Beightol passing to Vereb from the 18 for a touchdown.

Fullback Bob Laughery made good the conversion and Maryland was home.

Auburn Squeaks Past Georgia

COLUMBUS, Ga., Nov. 12 (AP)—Jerry Elliott intercepted a pass with less than 2 minutes remaining and ran it back 25 yards for the winning touchdown today as Auburn squeaked past surprisingly fierce Georgia 16-13 to stay in the bowl picture.

Howell Tubbs' 26-yard field goal—which booted the Plainsmen in a seemingly comfortable 10-0 halftime lead—was the only difference between the two clubs in the end as Georgia's line, outweighed but not outfought, bottled up Auburn's feared running attack.

The Bulldogs got both their touchdowns during a fourth quarter rally, the first on a 77-yard pass play from Dick Young to end Laneair Roberts, who fought away from three tacklers and raced 60-yards for the score. The second came with only 10 seconds left in the game as Young hit Angelo Monti with a 14-yard pass.

Utah State Loses To Denver, 39-6

DENVER, Nov. 12 (AP)—Quarterback Jimmy Bowen uncorked three scoring passes, running his season total to 15, as Denver swamped Utah State 39-6 in a Skyline conference football game.

Halfback Jack Hill rambled 76 yards for Utah State's lone touchdown in the third quarter.

Engineers Improve Chances For Trip

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Nov. 12 (AP) — Bowl-veteran Georgia Tech swamped once mighty Alabama 26-3 today, heightening the Engineers' chances of yet another postseason appearance and keeping alive their slim hope for the Southeastern Conference football championship.

It was 'Bama's 11th straight loss.

Tech quickly moved 73 yards for the opening score, made from 5 yards out by fullback Dickie Mattison. Just 19 seconds later, 148-pound Jimmy Thompson added another on a 28-yard sprint with an intercepted pass.

End Tommy Rose set up a third in the opening minute of the second period when he blocked a punt and Ken Thrash fell on the ball at the Tide 13.

Tech added another on the final period, covering 79 yards in three plays. Mattison slammed through for 14, George Volkert got 31 and then Toppy Vann, faking beautifully, passed 34 to Don Ellis for the touchdown.

Raiders Subdue Tulsa, 34 To 7

TULSA, Nov. 12 (AP) — Texas Tech's big and fast Red Raiders moved with ease on the ground and through the air to spoil Tulsa's homecoming celebration today, 34-7.

Fully recovered from an early season injury plague, the Raiders displayed a speedy, bruising line that brushed Tulsa aside for big gains, a flock of ball carriers, and shook pass receivers loose for easy catches of tosses by alternate quarterbacks Budd Hila and Jack Kirkpatrick.

Besides accounting for three of Tech's five touchdowns with aerials, Hill and Kirkpatrick helped bottle up the Golden Hurricane with accurate out-of-bounds punting close to the goal-line. Hill threw two touchdown passes, one for 32 yards to end Ken Vakey and the other for 22 to halfback Ronnie Herr. Kirkpatrick hit end Bob Young with a 37-yard scoring heave.

Tech's other tallies were by halfback Don Schmidt on four and one-yard plunges after drives of 44 and 38 yards. Hill converted three of four after touchdown kicks and Kirkpatrick one.

In the fourth quarter, four touchdowns behind, Tulsa broke halfback Dale Lawyer free for a 63-yard sprint and quarterback Charlie Wynes threw a seven-yard jump pass to end Sam Rutigliano for a score.

Mertzon Batters Wildcats, 49-12

WATER VALLEY—(SC)—Mertzon, led by Billy Sawyer, routed the Water Valley Wildcats here Friday night 49-12. Sawyer scored 19 points in leading his team to victory.

Adding points to the Mertzon total were Max Tankersley with 12, Vernon Vick with 7, Henry Smith with 6, and Vernon Sartain 5.

Scoring for the Wildcats were Sonny McCall and Bill Westbrook.

VMI Winner, 14-7

CHARLESTON, S. C., Nov. 12 (AP)—Virginia Military, winless in seven games, scored in each of the first two periods and then threw up a staunch defense the rest of the way to score a 14-7 Southern Conference football victory over The Citadel today.

Welsh Shatters Passing Record

NEW YORK, Nov. 12 (AP)—George Welsh, Navy's brilliant quarterback, set an academy all-time season record for passing today as the Midshipmen crushed Columbia's football team 47-0.

Welsh completed 11 of 18 passes for a total of 176 yards. This brought his 1955 mark to 1,143 yards, surpassing the total of 1,137 set by Bob Zastrow in 1950.

Welsh was brilliantly supported by Tom Forrestal, a sophomore who threw just as effectively as the veteran.

Navy gained a total of 398 yards in the air to set a single game record for the academy. The previous mark was 285 made this year against Penn State.

West Virginia Is Victim Of Upset

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 12 (AP)—Pittsburgh's magnificent 225 pound ends, 'Mean John" Paluck and Joe Walton, jarred previously unbeaten West Virginia into fumbling chaos today and shattered the Mountaineers' bowl ambition—26-7—before 57,996 at Pitt Stadium.

The game had a bizarre ending with West Virginia getting its lone touchdown after the contest apparently had ended—and a free extra point because there was no goal post.

Walton snared a 6-yard pass from quarterback Pete Neft to climax a 63-yard strike midway in the first period. His fellow flagman, Paluck, single-handedly smashed up West Virginia plays to produce two more scores in the space of a minute and 26 seconds at the start of the second half.

Pitt's saucy third-stringers added a "rub-it-in" score in the final 2 minutes with Darrel Lewis going over for the touchdown from the 6 to end a 75-yard, 10 play drive.

The game ended in wild confusion. With only 5 seconds to play, officials ruled a pass interference play giving West Virginia the ball on the Pitt 6.

The fans, thinking the game was over, swarmed on the field and tore down the goal posts. The field was cleared for a final play on which Joe Marconi swung around left and barely got into the end zone for West Virginia's lone touchdown. With no goal posts for the extra point try, Pitt forfeited the conversion.

It took Pitt just five plays to score two touchdowns in the third quarter.

Neft, who called an imaginative and a daring game, knifed 7 yards from the middle for one of the scores. Tom Jenkins plunged over from the 1 for the other after a 23-yard sprint by Corny Salveterra.

It was a particularly bitter blow for West Virginia, winner of 11 straight games dating back to a loss to Pitt a year ago, since two Sugar Bowl scouts, Paul LeBlanc and Monks Simons, were among Pittsburgh's sellout audience. The defeat killed West Virginia's bowl chances.

It was the sixth victory in nine games for the spoilin' Pittsburghers, who previously had knocked Duke from the unbeaten and untied ranks.

Devils Triumph Over Gamecocks

COLUMBIA, S. C., Nov. 12 (AP)—Alert, powerful Duke rolled up a 41-7 Atlantic Coast Conference football victory today over South Carolina.

Duke scored in every period, three times on long drives and three times after intercepting passes.

South Carolina's brief scoring punch came near the end of the game on a 93-yard march.

Duke served notice of what was in store for 18,000 South Carolina Homecoming fans by marching 71 yards to a touchdown early in the first period. Fullback Bryant Aldridge led the ground gaining and plunged over to score from the 4.

Halfback Bob Pascal raced wide to his right to score in the second period, climaxing an 80-yard march.

Just before the half, sub quarterback Dale Boyd intercepted a pass and returned it 19 yards to the South Carolina 23. Two plays later, flipped the ball 21 yards to end Sonny Sorrell in the end zone.

End Buddy Bass intercepted a third-period pass on the Duke 45 and set up the fourth touchdown. Then Duke end Bob Benson snared a South Carolina pitchout at the South Carolina 25 as the fourth period opened and after five plays, the Blue Devils had another.

Lenny Moore Stars

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Nov. 12 (AP)—Halfback Lenny Moore galloped for 179 yards and three touchdowns today as Penn State topped Rutgers 34-13. The Reading, Pa., flash, the country's second highest ground gainer in 1954, peeled off scoring runs of 80, 60 and 22 yards for the best day of his career.

More than 200 are expected for the banquet marking the end of the first year of the oil institute at McMurry.

Malco Acquires Refining Unit On West Coast

ALBUQUERQUE, Nov. 12 (AP)—Malco Refineries of Roswell bought today a 30 million dollar plant in California to become "if not the largest, one of the largest" independent oil firms in the world.

The claim came from Robert Anderson, Malco president. He said his firm has acquired after year-long negotiations the Wilshire Oil Co. refinery at Norwalk, Calif.

Anderson also announced a 4 million dollar modernization of the California refinery, construction of a million dollar marine terminal at Huntington Beach, Calif., and construction of a 1½ million dollar products pipeline from Artesia, N.M. to El Paso.

The executive said the firm is seriously considering acquiring a fleet of tankers to bring foreign erude to its West Coast site of operations and considering opening foreign operations, with a refinery in Turkey as a possible starter.

Anderson did not tell the amount paid for the Wilshire refinery, purchased from the New York firm of Blyth and Lehman and the Machris estate. He would say only that the plant's replacement value is 30 million dollars.

Malco is owned and controlled by Anderson and his family.

He said the firm next year will make 70 million dollars in sales. The first year Malco was in operation, in 1941, it made sales totaling one-half million dollars.

The firm operates other refineries at Artesia, Bloomfield and Prewitt, N.M. It has producing properties in Wyoming, Texas, New Mexico, Colorado, Canada and Mexico. It distributes its products in those states and Utah, Arizona, Nevada and California.

Anderson said the Wilshire refinery will operate at a capacity of 40,000 to 50,000 barrels a day. He said he expects more than half of the crude handled will come from foreign sources, adding "We're not going to be very popular with domestic producers."

Three Field Wells Final In Mitchell

Three field completions were reported in Mitchell County Saturday, two in the Westbrook field and the other in the North Coleman Ranch (Clear Fork) pool.

Chemical Research Corporation No. 4 Hardee is the Coleman Ranch completion with a daily potential of 135 barrels of 36 degree oil. The completion was natural and the flow had no water. The total depth is 3,200 feet and the top of the pay zone is at 3,050 feet. The 5½-inch casing goes to 3,200 feet. Site is 1,100 from north and 400 from west lines, 85-97-H&TC survey.

Anderson-Prichard No. 10-B Morrison is a Westbrook completion with a 48.27 barrel daily potential. Gravity of the oil is 24 degrees and the gas-oil ratio is nil. Operator fractured perforations between 2,842-3,068 feet with 21,000 gallons of sand-frac. The total depth is 3,100 feet and the elevation is 2,150 feet. The 5½-inch casing goes to 3,106 feet and the top of the pay zone is at 2,842 feet. Drillsite is 2,310 from west and 2,150 from north lines, 29-28-1n, T&P survey.

Another Anderson-Prichard completion is the No. 8-B Morrison which has a 24-hour pumping potential of 82.8 barrels of 24-degree oil. It has 30 per cent water and the gas-oil ratio is nil. Operator treated perforations between 2,954-3,072 feet with 21,000 gallons of sand-frac. The elevation is 2,140 feet and the total depth is 3,120 feet. The 5½-inch casing goes to 3,112 feet and the top of the pay zone is at 2,954 feet. Drillsite is 330 from north and 1,650 from east lines, 29-28-1n, T&P survey.

Pure Oil Company No. 1 Brooks is bottomed in shale and sand at 427 feet. Operator is waiting on cement to set the 9⅝ths inch casing at total depth. Drillsite is C SE SE SW 53-27-H&TC survey.

Sunray Midcontinent No. 1 Chappell has bit turning in lime at 3,475 feet. This wildcat is 14 miles south of Colorado City and is C NE SW 10-16 SPRR survey.

Varel Field Adds Well

D. W. Varel reported the No. 1-B Guitar Trust Estates as a Varel (San Andres) field completion. This project, 10 miles northwest of Big Spring, has a 24-hour potential of 122.28 barrels of 29.7 degree oil.

Operator treated perforations between 3,093-107 feet with 5,000 gallons of fracture fluid, 12,000 pounds of sand, and 750 gallons of acid. The flow has .4 per cent water and the gas-oil ratio is 220-1. The total depth is 3,200 feet and the elevation is 2,562.1 feet. The 4½-inch casing goes to 3,188.5 feet and the top of the pay zone is at 3,091 feet. It is 330 from north and 2,310 from east lines, 22-A Bauer and Cockrell survey.

Sterling Prospect Prepares To Final, Deep Test Drills

Boykin Bros. and Roche No. 4-B Bade was preparing to treat and complete in the Queen sand Saturday.

Operator had bottomed at 1,186 and was plugging back to frac the zone from 1,132-50 with an unreported amount, and then to take potential.

Location is 1,263 from the east and 1,263 from the south lines of section 22-22, H&TC, 10 miles west of Sterling City.

Texas No. 1 Foster is drilling in lime at 7,922 feet. This wildcat is 6½ miles southeast of Sterling City and is C NE NW 34-12-SPRR survey.

Ackerly Prospect Rates 132 Barrels

Texas Pacific Coal and Oil No. 1 Adams has a reported 132 barrel daily potential. Another wildcat, Ted Weiner No. 1-123 Pool, is preparing to plug and abandon.

Texas Pacific No. 1 Adams, wildcat about two miles northeast of Ackerly, flowed 132 barrels of oil through a 24-64th-inch choke on 24-hour potential test. The gas-oil ratio is 810-1 and the tubing pressure is 25-50 pounds.

Operator perforated the casing between 8,308-56 feet and 8,226-78 feet, then fractured with 15,000 gallons of oil and 30,000 pounds of sand. Drillsite is C SW SE, 1-34-4n, T&P survey.

Weiner No. 1-123 Pool is preparing to plug. This wildcat had a drillstem test of perforations between 12,540-65 feet in the Ellenburger. Tool was open two hours and operator recovered 9,430 feet of salt water. The hole was then plugged back to the Wolfcamp and a drillstem test was taken of the 8,355-85 foot interval.

Tool was open two hours and recovery was 1,320 feet of fluid, of which, 810 feet was slightly oil cut mud, 510 feet was heavily oil and gas-cut mud, and 100 feet was salt water.

This site was originally Standard Oil Company's No. 1 Pool which drilled to 11,948 feet and plugged as a dry hole. Standard also tried to complete the Wolfcamp unsuccessfully. Drillsite is seven miles southwest of Welch and is C SE NE, 123-M-EL&RR survey.

Kerr-McGee Industries No. 3 Drennan is a Welch field location about 1½ miles west of Welch. It is on a 160-acre lease and will try at 4,930 feet. Site is 660 from southeast and 1,650 from east lines, 1-C39-PSL survey.

'Atomic' Navy Looks For Oil

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 12 (AP)—Nuclear energy may power U.S. battleships, but the Navy is searching its property on a nearby island for new deposits of oil that runs its present-day fleets.

Geologists noted by chance last spring that the topography of tiny San Nicholas Island, Navy guided missile center 110 miles southwest of here, showed the presence of oil.

The report was read with interest by the Navy's Petroleum Reserve Board and passed on to the fuels branch of the U.S. Geological Survey in the Department of Interior.

During the war, a Navy spokesman said, petroleum products made up more than half of the total tonnage shipped overseas by this country. Of the seven billion barrels of oil required to keep American and Allied war machines moving, six billion came from the U.S.

An oil search team composed of John Vedder and four other geologists began prowling the island last March.

The explorers inched over rock hills and down to the isolated stony beaches. Three men in diving gear took soil samples from the ocean floor around the island.

The Navy has oil reserves in the Elk Hills oil area of the San Joaquin Valley in California, and may be on the way toward a precious new fuel supply.

Asked whether he believes a sizable structure may exist to provide important oil supplies for the Navy soon, Vedder said preliminary studies have indicated "there may be a good oil structure in that area."

Wildcat Due For Dawson

Two wildcats were reported spotted in the area Saturday.

Chambers and Kennedy and Zapata Drilling Corporation has staked the No. 1 University in Martin County, about six miles west of the Breedlove field. The project is about a mile east of the Midland County line.

It is scheduled for 12,500 feet with rotary tools. Drillsite is 660 from north and west lines, 42-6-University Land Survey. It is 22 miles northwest of Lenorah.

Dawson County also gained a wildcat. It is W. A. Moncrief No. 1-83 Scanlan, about six miles west of Welch. Maps show that this site is on or near a plugged hole that went to 4,965 feet. It was abandoned in 1938.

Orders now call for drilling to 5,000 feet with rotary tools. The site is 660 from north and west lines, 83-M-EL&RR survey.

LIKE FATHER, LIKE SON

Hunt Staking $31½ Million On Oil Wildcatting In Pakistan

By TIM PARKER

DALLAS, Nov. 12 (AP)—The wildcatter is the romantic figure of the oil industry, the chance-taker who opens up a new oil field or goes broke drilling dry holes.

Nelson Bunker Hunt, 29, is staking 31½ million dollars on a wildcat venture in distant Pakistan. It could make him fabulously wealthy, possibly as rich as his father, H. L. Hunt, the Dallas oil man sometimes called the world's richest man.

But young Hunt, a bespectacled Texan whose 210 pounds fit his 5-foot 11-inch frame rather loosely, sees no romance in his Pakistan venture or any other "oil deal."

And he's pretty sure he has—as usual—taken most of the risks out of it. He grew up in a family atmosphere of making money at oil.

He sees no reason yet why he should go to Pakistan. He is sending two million dollars worth of equipment and some high-priced experts. They could do the job on the 20,000 square mile concession.

Hunt is one of four sons of H. L. Hunt, and all are in the oil business with headquarters comprising an entire floor of the Mercantile Bank Building and two and sixth floors of the adjacent Securities Building.

Bunker seems to be the most active of the brothers. The others are H. L. (Haasie) Hunt III, 38; Lamar Hunt, 23, and William Herbert, 26. There are also two sisters, Mrs. Al Hill and Mrs. Loyd Sands. All live in Dallas.

Rolled maps and charts, many with the telltale label "Pakistan", cover the two polished tables in Bunker's rather small office. There's also an untidy collection of oil paraphernalia on his desk.

There are the built-in provisions of the Pakistan agreement which favor Hunt.

The Hunts are to own three-fourths of any crude oil and gas discovered. They have the right to buy the Pakistan government's share at wellhead value. The agreement runs for 60 years—a long time in which to hunt for oil, and a long time in which to reap profits.

Those provisions are important. But young Hunt places more emphasis on "good geological information" and, in this case, a careful appraisal of governments.

"It was more than three years ago that we first got interested in foreign operations," he said. Pakistan wasn't the only place we looked into. Our geologists investigated Egypt, Trans-Jordan, Sicily and Turkey.

"We were looking primarily for the likelihood of oil, of course. But in a deal like this you have to have a government that is anxious to have someone come search for oil."

The Pakistan government passed that test. As for the oil:

"It's risky in this respect—there's no appreciable oil production within 1,000 miles (Iran and Assam). But our geologists and engineers say there's every indication of an oil province—that's what our longhairs say."

Hunt paused a moment and added:

"You know, you can spend a lot of money without finding oil if you don't have good information. I remember one outfit, they made a lot of money on munitions during World War II. After the war they had 30 million dollars, turned to hunting oil, and went through it all. All they had to show for the 30 million was a 50-barrel-a-day well.

"Even with good information, you can go wrong. You can drill a lot of wells that should produce and don't—we call them scientific successes but financial failures."

Hunt's answer to that is volume operation. Such freaks can ruin a small-time operator. They don't hurt a man with vast operations in several states.

H. L. Hunt was already a millionaire independent oilman at El Dorado, Ark., when he first got interested in Texas possibilities. He got in on the ground floor when the East Texas Oil Field, by far the world's richest and largest, was brought in a quarter century ago. Among those he bought out was the legendary E. M. (Dad) Joiner, who brought in the discovery well of the East Texas Field.

Bunker was 5 when the family moved from Eldorado to Tyler, in 1931.

The elder Hunt moved to Dallas in 1938 and his operations extended throughout the nation's oil region. The sons, besides being independent oil men, work for "dad" and also work together.

H. L. Hunt has attracted much attention by his Facts Forum, a radio and TV program which backers say is aimed at getting the public to think about current issues. Critics say it is used for ultra-conservative propaganda.

"In politics I'm very conservative," Bunker says bluntly. "Very right of center."

He went to his Republican precinct convention in the presidential election year of 1952, he related, "and tried to say a few words for General MacArthur, but everyone else was for Eisenhower or Taft."

H. L. Hunt spent considerable money boosting MacArthur for the Republican nomination.

"Football is my only hobby, I guess," he said. "And my family, of course."

After 2½ years in the Navy as a storekeeper aboard the battleship Washington, Bunker entered SMU, taking a general business course. He lost interest in his studies, quit in about a year, and went into the oil business. His father provided the capital.

The Hunts lived in a furnished rent house until about a year ago.

AT $62.84 PER FOOT

New Depth Record Set By Rig Off Louisiana Coast

The world's record for deep well drilling, established in California in 1953, has been broken in a marsh 45 miles south of New Orleans.

Using their Rig 25, a barge-mounted rig with a National Supply steam-powered draw works, Richardson and Bass, of Fort Worth, pushed past the former record, 21,482 feet, and were heading for greater depths. Ed Hill, manager of operations, says the well may be drilled to 22,500 feet or deeper. The previous record, a California try, was 21,4800 feet. The world's deepest producer is 17,859 feet deep.

The well is being drilled jointly by Richardson and Bass for themselves and their partners, John W. Mecom and the Freeport Sulphur Company, and is known as their joint Humble LL and E. State Lease Number 2414, Number 1-L. It is located in Plaquemine Parish, La.

The barge "Keystone," on which the rig, with its 136-foot derrick and other principal equipment are contained, is 140 feet long and 54 feet wide by 12 feet deep. The steam boilers are on a separate barge, the "Eola," 100 feet long and 27½ feet wide by 12 feet deep.

Drilling began more than eight months ago, the actual spudding date being February 26, 1955. Operations were suspended for approximately 2½ months, however, to test certain sands between 16,600 and 19,000 feet. Approximately $1,350,006 has been expended. This figures out at $62.84 per foot drilled.

85 Home Ec Teachers Here For Area Meeting Saturday

Home economic teachers from a 41-county area surrounding Big Spring were here Saturday for a one-day conference on homemaking techniques held at the Big Spring High School. Official title is the Area II In-Service Education Conference.

The semi-annual conference was sponsored by the vocational education division of the Texas Education Agency. Some 85 teachers had registered by noon Saturday for the activities.

First session Saturday morning was on "Adult Education in the Homemaking Program," led by Mrs. Elizabeth F. Smith. Mrs. Smith is Area II supervisor with headquarters here.

Serving on the panel with her were teachers from Pecos, Nolan, Lamesa, Ysleta, Loraine, and Roscoe. Also on the morning agenda was a talk by Mrs. Smith on supplementary curriculum materials, policies, reports, travel budgets, and reports.

An afternoon session on "Speed Methods" in Clothing Construction" saw a demonstration by Mrs. Lila Kinchen, associate professor in clothing and textiles from Texas Tech. Following the demonstration, a group discussion was held on "Implications for Curriculum Planning."

Some 85 teachers from Area II attended the meeting. Area II reaches from Sweetwater to El Paso and from Brownfield to Sonora, and instructors were present from the outer reaches of the area.

One group of 20 teachers flew to Big Spring Saturday morning on a chartered plane and returned to El Paso after the meetings. Fifteen of them were from El Paso, four from Ysleta, and one from Clint.

Next conference for the group will be held in Odessa in February.

Mrs. Smith's roster of home economics teachers in Area II shows 127 in 96 schools. Nine of these work entirely with adults in three schools — El Paso, Ysleta, and Odessa.

Mrs. Smith reported that the one purpose of the conference was to gain a better understanding of adult homemaking education and of the place adult education has in the homemaking program.

Dawson 'Chest' Drive Is $5,000 Short Of Goal

LAMESA, Nov. 12—The Community Chest campaign here is still about $5,000 short of its $21,415 objective, reports showed Friday.

However, the drive which started about 10 days ago is on a par with the 1954 campaign which ended successfully, said Mrs. Matt McCall, manager. She said numerous pledge cards still are out in all categories, although 85 per cent of 40 employe groups had contributed by Friday.

Campaign leaders are urging all workers to complete their solicitation and return reports to Chest headquarters in the Texas Electric Service Company buildings.

Two Sentenced In Court At Lamesa

LAMESA, Nov. 12—Two criminal cases were disposed of in District Court here Friday by Judge Louis B. Reed.

Felony charges of drunken driving against William Otis Lankford, Lubbock, were reduced to the misdemeanor category, to which Lankford pleaded guilty. He was fined $200 and assessed a term of 60 days in the Dawson County jail.

Raymond Richard Honeycutt pleaded guilty to felony (second offense) DWI charges and was placed on probation for a two-year period.

Liquor Confiscated

LAMESA, Nov. 12—James Edward Gilkey of Slaton was arrested on Highway 180 near the Key community at 6 p.m. Friday by Highway Patrolman Henry Crump. The officer said he confiscated 15 cases of beer (quarts) and three cases of liquor, which included vodka, gin and whisky.

Money, Cigarettes Taken In Burglary

Burglars took an undetermined amount of money and cigarettes and a set of socket wrenches from the Westex Wrecking Company, 1608 E. 3rd Street, Friday night.

Sheriff's Deputy Tommy Cole said the building was entered by way of a west window, which was broken. About $4 in change was taken from a soft drink vending machine and an unknown sum of money and cigarettes were taken from another vending machine.

MODEL HOUSE GETS 'BOOTH'

The boys had the right idea and motive, but they had the wrong house — that is they took the right house to the wrong house.

Juvenile Officer A. E. Long revealed that a group of boys promised to take an outhouse found atop the high school Thursday morning back to the residence from where it was taken by a different group. The only trouble was that the address given the boys was not correct — the address given to the group was that of the "Hot Point Model Home" on Harvard Street.

But the youths promised Long that the 'telephone booth' would be taken back to its rightful owner Saturday.

Former Duval School Teachers Due For Trial

TYLER, Nov. 12 (AP) — Two Former Duval County school officers are scheduled for trial here Monday on charges they misappropriated funds of the Benavides School District. They are D. C. Chapa and Oscar Carillo Sr.

The trial has been postponed several times. The bonds of Chapa and Carillo were forfeited after they spent a night in jail for failure to appear for a trial Sept. 26.

About 30 witnesses are expected for the defense, headed by Houston attorney Percy Foreman.

The state will be represented by Asst. Atty. Gen. Sam Ratliff, Dist. Atty. Sam Burris of Alice and Dist. Atty. Harry Loftis of Tyler.

The cases were brought here on a change of venue from San Diego.

Former Duval County School Supt. R. A. Adams was convicted of felony theft in connection with Benavides school funds last year at Bryan and given two years. The Court of Criminal Appeals overturned the conviction, ruling the grand jury was improperly formed. The decision knocked out 104 indictments returned by the grand jury. Some defendants have been reindicted.

604 Elementary Pupils Now In Half-Day School Sections

There are 604 students attending half-day sessions in five Big Spring elementary schools.

They are in 22 classes in five different schools, according to a report by W. C. Blankenship, superintendent.

Eleven new classrooms would eliminate the half-day sessions, provided the new classrooms were property distributed among the five schools, Blankenship pointed out. Construction now under way is expected to eliminate all but six of the half-day classes sometime this year.

No relief is seen for the other six, at the West Ward and Kate Morrison schools, unless district lines can be altered to shift some of the pupils into districts were additional classrooms are under construction.

However, by the time any realignment could be effected, probably next fall, schools are likely to again be overcrowded by a growing enrollment.

The half-day sessions now are necessary at Washington, East Ward, West Ward, Kate Morrison and Airport schools. The construction projects are at Airport, East Ward and Washington Place.

There are four first grade groups and two second grade groups on the half-day schedule at Washington Place. At East Ward there are two first grade classes, two second grade groups and two third grade classes attending half days. West Ward has two first grade classes sharing a classroom on the half-day basis.

Kate Morrison has two pre-first classes and two first-grade classes going half days. Airport School has one second grade group and three first grade classes in half-day sessions.

NAACP Issues Strong Denial Of Red Links

DALLAS, Nov. 11 (AP)—The National Assn. for Advancement of Colored People denounced today as "utterly without foundation of fact" an accusation that the group has "Communistic relationships."

A statement signed by Southwest Texas officers of the Negro organization declared "there is no place in our association for subversion or lawlessness" and said "we stand ready to be investigated."

A resolution alleging "Communistic relations" on the part of the NAACP was adopted yesterday at a meeting at which the Association of Citizens Councils of Texas was organizaed. Citizens Councils, opposing erasing of the color line in public schools and elsewhere, have sprung up in a number of southern cities.

Ross Carlton, Dallas lawyer who heads the Citizens Councils, said no examples of NAACP's alleged Communistic relationships were cited during the pro-segregation meeting yesterday.

If the accusation "is to stand the test of truth and good faith," said the NAACP, "Carlton and his group must come up with something more substantial than childish, hate provoked name calling."

The October business brought the year's total to $8,535. The fines and costs were assessed in 70 cases during the past month.

3 Youths Checked In Window Breaking

Three youths—two Latin Americans and one Negro — are under check by Juvenile Officer A. E. Long for breaking out window lights in the new Lakeview School building Friday night.

Long reported the three boys were seen throwing rocks at the school, but they were not actually seen breaking out the windows.

WELL BALANCED MEALS — are very important to keep a football player filled with the pep and energy he needs. Mrs. Johnnie Janak is serving Johnny a hot lunch that is delicious, as well as nutritious.

THAT'S MY BOY — Each mother and father can make this statement with pride as they see their son in the black and gold uniform of the Big Spring High School football squad. Here, Mrs. Tony Barron adjusts Jerry's helmet. (Photos by Keith McMillin.)

Mother Makes The Team, Too!

Behind the scenes of each football player, great or small, is a mother who is with him in every play. Mothers do everything within their power to make their son a good player, and then spend two hours filled with tension while he is in the midst of a game.

The father may spur the boy on to be "as good as I was when I was your age" and throw a few passes to him, but the mother is the one who sees that he complies with training rules and puts bandaids on his scratches.

Although Mom sits in the grandstand or listens to the game over the radio, and will never participate in the halftime activities, she deserves a golden helmet and the title of "Football Queen."

TIME OUT FOR STUDIES — Preston Bridges prepares his lesson for English, and his mother, Mrs. B. T. Bridges, helps him select the proper word to use in his theme. Football boys know they must maintain a C average to take an active part on the Steer team.

A GOOD NIGHT'S REST IS NECESSARY — Mrs. Tom Phillips tells her son, Jerry Graves. Even though Jerry is a few months behind with his calendar turning, he is up to date with the knowledge that a gridiron star needs plenty of sleep, especially the night before the game, to stay in good training.

THIS IS THE WAY IT IS DONE, MOM — Charlie Johnson instructs his mother on the fundamentals of a pass. Of course, Mrs. C. E. Johnson is not planning to take up the sport, but she is interested in the hows and whys of the game so she can discuss them with her son.

DETAILED FLATTERY

Styling In Dress Aided By Use Of Darts, Gores

Harvey Berin has an uninhibited talent for making clothes that give the wearer assurance of being well dressed. His unobtrusive styling, flattering use of detail and distinctive body lines, all contribute to the success of his designs.

This pattern is a case in point. Cut on a modified princess silhouette, the entire front consists of only two pieces with figure molding achieved by lengthened midriff darts. The V neckline is converted into a heart shape with tacked on bows that pull it to the sides.

In back, the dress is a real conversation piece. Here the full length gores open out into three deep pleats that sway prettily when in motion. Choose peau de soie, satin, brocade, taffeta or faille for an afternoon into evening dress in town. If you're off for sunny places, consider silk prints, linen, novelty cotton or shantung.

This pattern is cut to Designer Measurements, not Standard Pattern Measurements. Size 10 bust 34, waist 24, hips 34 inches; size 12 bust 35, waist 25, hips 36 inches; size 14 bust 36½, waist 26½, hips 37½ inches; size 16 bust 38, waist 28, hips 39 inches; size 18 bust 40, waist 30, hips 41 inches.

Size 12 requires 7½ yards of 39-inch material for dress and 1-4-yard of 39-inch material for interfacing.

To order Pattern No. 1239, address Spadea Syndicate, Inc., P.O. Box 535, Dept. B-5, New York 1, N. Y. State size. Send $1.00. Airmail handling 25 cents extra. New 144-page Pattern Booklet XII available for 50 cents. If paying by check, make it payable to Spadea Syndicate, Inc. and add 4 cents for handling.

When they moved here Oct. 24, the Winneys and their two children, Kathy, age 1½, and seven-months-old Steven, got their first glimpse of the Lone Star State via the highway from Georgia to Big Spring.

The couple call Beverly Hills, Calif., their home.

When asked about seeing movie stars, Mrs. Winney replied, "Out there, we take them as a matter of scenery, and don't think about them much. When I was a child, I used to get excited when I would see the actresses and admire their beauty."

Lt. Winney was graduated from the University of Southern California with a degree in industrial management. He received his commission from the Air National Guard, 146 Fighter Bomber Wing in Van Nuys, Calif.

Lees Girl Says Vows With Big Spring Man

GARDEN CITY—Arrangements of fall flowers decorated the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Overton of Lees when their daughter, Juannell, was wed to Jack Edwards of Big Spring Saturday morning. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Edwards of Colorado City.

The Rev. Lee Crouch, pastor of the First Methodist Church, read the vows for the informal double ring ceremony. Doylene Little, pianist, played "Whither Thou Goest" and the traditional wedding marches.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white faille frock, ballerina length, and buttoned down the front with tiny covered buttons. The basque waist featured a Peter Pan collar and short puff sleeves. Her hat was of white faille, and she carried red roses.

Following wedding tradition, the bride wore her Grandmother Overton's wedding ring as something old; something new was her dress. She had borrowed earrings from Susan Bednar, and she wore a penny in her shoe and a blue garter.

Denna Kay Overton was her sister's maid of honor, and Wynona Fay Overton attended her sister as bridesmaid. Both were identically dressed in blue nylon and they carried colonial nosegays.

James Morgan of Big Spring served as best man.

During the reception at the home of the bride's parents, Darlene Hansen and Miss Bednar presided at the tea table. A three-tiered cake, topped with a miniature bride and groom, was served with punch. Miss Little registered guests.

For travelling, the bride chose a brown suit with brown accessories. Following a wedding trip to New Mexico, the couple will be at home at 1011 Johnson.

The First Physician

The first recorded physician of history was Imhotep, who practiced medicine under Zoser, king of the Third Egyptian Dynasty, in the year 2900 B.C. As the Ebers and other Egyptian papyri prove, materia medica and therapeutics were remarkably well developed by the early inhabitants of the Nile River Valley.

Great medical progress has been made over the centuries. We are proud of our part in modern health service, and compounding and dispensing medication are our contribution to your good health.

HI--TALK

By Mary Sue Hale

Of course, you instantly place Gary Tidwell in your mind as the guy who is vice-president of the Student Council and one of the yell leaders. There is another Gary Tidwell, too.

This Gary is very seldom seen without his ukelele and a friendly smile for everyone around, and is remembered as "that boy who readily supplied humor and talent when most needed." This portion of Gary's personality is mainly restricted to events such as summer Hi-Y Camps, special assemblies, etc.

Gary has proven himself to be quite outstanding throughout high school. This year he is first vice president of the Student Council, and has been a class representative to that organization each year throughout high school. He was president of Junior High Student Body his freshman year. Gary is an active Hi-Y member and served as treasurer last year. An outstanding Debate Club member, he also belongs to the Key Club.

Tom Guin and Tommy Jo Williamson were elected senators to attend Youth and Government in Austin this December in a joint meeting of the Tri-Hi-Y and Hi-Y Clubs Monday night. Following the meeting of all clubs, each individual club elected a representative. Gary Tidwell was elected from the Senior Hi-Y Club, with Rodney Sheppard and Clyde McMahon serving as alternates. Wesley Grigsby was elected by the Sophomore Hi-Y, with Johnny Roy Phillips and Guinett Gibbs to be alternates. The Feta Tri-Hi-Y No. 2 elected Barbara Coffee, with Mary Lane Edwards and Nita Beth Farquhar to serve as alternates.

The Feta Tri-Hi-Y No. 1 will stage a run-off between Kenda McGibbon, Sally Cowper, Jacqueline Smith, Lou Ann White, Sue Boykin and Margaret Fryar in order to select a representative and alternates.

Information blanks concerning high school activity, which were given Senior Class members some time ago, must be turned in to LaVelle Wasson or to the Journalism Department before next Thursday. The first section of El Rodeo must be sent to the publishers not very far in the future, and the senior section will be included in this shipment.

Truett Vines gave a short lecture concerning parliamentary procedure Thursday night at the Leadership Training Conference held in the BSHS library. A model meeting, in which the advantages of parliamentary procedure were shown, was given by officers of our local FFA Club, Bobby Suggs, Edgar Phillips, Johnny Roy Phillips, Bruce Moore, Donnie Huitt, and Tommy Buckner.

H-m-m-m, it seems that all BSHS students aren't 'burning the midnight oil" or doing any kind of burning in connection with buckling down and studying a little. Only 19 students in the entire high school made a straight A report card, and thus reached the honor roll.

Included in this honor are Janice Williamson, Ruth Ann Abat, J. T. Baird, Patsy Grant, Marlene Mann, Leta Sampson, Olivia Williams, Margaret Fryar, Sally Cowper, Bobby Grant, Robert Allen, Gay Bownds, Barbara Burchett, Wilma Cole, Betty Guthrie, Opal Hancock, Lorene Mires, Priscilla Pond, and Douglass Wilson.

Five members of the MYF at the First Methodist Church, J. T. Baird, Margaret Fryar, Kenda McGibbon, Linda Nichols, and John Westbrook, attended the District Youth Rally at Lamesa last Thursday night. J. T. and Linda participated in a play, "Definite Answer," which was followed by buzz sessions at the conference.

El Rodeos will continue to be on sale until Dec. 9. They may be purchased from any annual staff member for $5. Junior members are Jacqueline Smith, Danne Green, Nancy King, Sue Boykin, Johnny Janak and Jean Robison.

Senior staff members from whom El Rodeos may be purchased are Margaret Fryar, China Carroll, Marilyn Morris, Kenda McGibbon, Lovelle Wasson and Jerry Barron.

The purchase of a fruit cake may be made from any BSHS band member for the price of $3.60 for a two pound cake, and $7.90 for a five pound cake. Cakes will be mailed for an additional $.05 per pound.

Robbie Flowers was elected Sweetheart of the Industrial Co-Operative Club Chapter recently.

Sandra Webb returned Sunday from a weekend spent at Marshall, a former place of her residence. While there, Sandra visited Steve Goldberg and Linda Perkins.

Members of the Spanish Club are in the middle of a candy-selling project, the profit of which will be applied to financing the annual Easter trip to Mexico. Sales of the home made candy will probably continue through next week.

Charlie McCarty was named chairman of the Officers Nominating Committee of District 4 for a conference which will be held in Midland Dec. 5

The planning conference was held recently in Lamesa, and was attended by Betty Cain, Charlie McCarty, Joyce Lankford, and Jennie McEvers from the Big Spring branch. At the Midland Conference, Big Spring will be in charge of discussing the topic "Practice Teaching."

The Reverend Allen Adams, assistant pastor of the First Methodist Church, is now Bible Instructor here at BSHS. He is filling the position left vacant by the Rev. Ed Welch, who resigned his position. He felt that he couldn't devote enough time to Phillips Memorial Baptist Church, of which he is pastor.

Margaret Fryar and Kenda McGibbon spent last weekend as guests of Margaret's sister, Nina, at Texas Tech.

Charlene Lansing, also going out of town to a college homecoming celebration, was a guest in Abilene last weekend.

Marlene Mann, David Dibrell, and Richard Engle spent Saturday at Texas Tech where they viewed the Homecoming activity.

A Christmas project, which was introduced by Mrs. J. E. Hogan, is being put into motion by the Tri-Hi-Y Club No. 1. This program deals with soap boxtops, a means by which miniature dolls may be secured for needy children. Jacqueline Smith will head the "round up the boxtops" committee, and each Tri-Hi-Y and Hi-Y member is asked to duly secure as many boxtops as possible. They should be given to Jacqueline Smith or brought to the YMCA building on Monday nights.

Jacqueline Smith spent the larger part of last weekend at Austin.

LaVelle Wasson also went out of town to a college last weekend. This visit was spent with her sister, Charlene, who is a sophomore at Abilene Christian College.

Tickets to the Homecoming Dance, which will take place Nov. 23, are now on sale. The tickets, $1.50 per couple and $1.75 per stag, may be purchased from any Student Council member. The Lee Powers Orchestra, Odessa, has been engaged for this semi-formal dance.

John Davenport and Ronnie Phillips were called on for speeches at the morning pep rally before the Snyder game Friday night. Students were not restricted to guidance seating, and this was probably the most enthusiastic pep rally so far this year.

Petitions for Homecoming Queen were turned in for Toni Barron, Sue Boykin, Sally Cowper, Eunice Freeman, Brenda Bordon, Sandy Jennings, Kenda McGibbon, Julie Rainwater, Frances Reagan, Terral Turner, LaVelle Wasson, and Sandra Webb. The election was held Tuesday, when each BSHS student was given his choice of one candidate.

The top six nominees will be announced next Sunday, and the Homecoming queen will be announced and crowned next Friday night, Nov. 18 during the Big Spring-Plainview football game.

Rodney Sheppard, Tom Guin, Gary Tidwell, J. T. Baird, Dennis Jones, J. D. Adams, Bennie Compton and Dell McComb, speech instructor, attended an Activity Conference at Abilene Saturday. Tom and Rodney presented a model debate question and the other members attended the conference to gain information which will be useful during the coming debate season.

Indoor Sports Club

Meeting date of the Indoor Sports Club has been changed to Thursday night at 7 p.m., a week in advance due to Thanksgiving. They will meet at the Girl Scout Little House for a Thanksgiving supper.

Entertainment will follow the meal.

'Bend The Twig' Toward Good Literature Early

By ANNE LeFEVER

Could be that the battle of parents and school versus comic books would be partially won if more good literature were given to children earlier. During Child's Book Week, which begins today and runs through Saturday, is a good time to check up on the reading habits of your children.

The sooner a child is handed books, the more easily he becomes accustomed to the handling and care of them. The same applies to his having books read to him. This should be done as soon as he is able to understand words, which is at an extremely early age.

The books should be of the simplest kind, with gaily colored pictures, and the reading session should not last for very long at a time. At the first indication of the wandering of the child's interest, stop the reading. If he wants to handle the book, then allow him to do so. Needless to say, it is important to choose a book not easily torn.

For the very young child, short, simple stories about dogs, cats, chickens, horses and other familiar objects seem to hold the interest longer. Little rhymes, such as the well-loved Mother Goose jingles, please their ears and are quite often memorized. Soon the child will be "reading" the book by himself—maybe, at times upside-down!

In the pre-school, or nursery age, boys and girls will still like the same kind of stories. Fairy tales are popular with them, as are stories of animals that talk and act as humans.

At this time, the child's attention can be held a longer time and the stories can be a bit more complicated. From now, into the kindergarten stage and into the first grade, teachers and parents will do well to present stories with plenty of action and with attractive, clear pictures.

Beginning with the second grade and into the third, books will fall into two classes—those that the child can read for himself and those that must be read to him. The ones he is to read should have simple sentences and good illustrations.

It will be found that he can remember a story from day to day, and now serials may be read to him. Life in other lands will hold his interest, and books on natural science should be introduced, but they should be of the simplest kind.

A book just now on the market is "Exploring The Moon," and it seems to have enough excitement to hold even the most avid of "space cadets."

Up until the forth, fifth and sixth grades, children like more or less the same kind of books. Now, the boys will tend to leave the imaginative world and will be more interested in reading stories that are full of adventure. Boys will begin a stronger interest in science fiction, while their sisters cling to the world of fantasy until about the sixth grade.

Now is the time to bring in literature of interest to both and at the same time of high quality. Biographies of men who have accomplished great deeds will appeal to boys, while girls will read biographies of women who have been successful in their line of work.

Series books, of girls in camp, at boarding school, on ranches and the old faithfuls, "The Bobbsey Twins," "Little Colonel" and the books of Louisa Mae Alcott have an appeal to the girls.

A check of the local book stores and the county library showed several books along these lines. One is "More Favorite Stories For Boys and Girls," which is a collection of folk tales, legends and stories by such writers as Joel Chandler Harris, Mark Twain, Kipling and others.

For historical reading are the Landmark Books, which include "Robert E. Lee and "The Road to Honor," by Hodding Carter; "Mississippi Bubble" by Thomas Costain; "Old Ironsides" by Harry Hansen and accounts of other events and persons in history. These are written in a fictional form which will be interesting to young readers.

On the junior high level of reading the peak is almost reached. Both boys and girls are interested in everything, and the more intelligent a child is, the more widespread will be his interests.

Since this is the age of hero worship, boys will read about Robin Hood and legendary characters. Magazines begin to figure in their reading, and good ones should be available for them.

Girls, too, will read magazines, but they will be the ones intended for their mothers. They will show a liking for adult fiction and will select light love stories. Series books, this time about girls in college, will hold their interest. Romantic poetry is fascinating now, and a girl may even try writing it. Be sure to encourage these efforts.

Slow readers should have good pictures in their books, which should be written in simple language. New types of history books and geographies may also be used in English classes. One series of such books is titled "Life In The Woods," "Life On The Prairie," with others telling about life in various parts of the country.

"Children's Literature" is a collection of classics and favorites which have come down through the ages; it includes such writers as Sir Walter Scott, Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, Charles Dickens, Alfred, Lord Tennyson, and other more modern authors.

Often children like to browse through encyclopedias or read at random through reference books. These should be available as well as any other good reading material. Just so the reading is worthwhile, encourage the reading habit and supply the best that is available.

A Dinner For Which To Be Thankful

Turkey and dressing, the main dish of any Thanksgiving dinner, is ready for father to carve and serve to the waiting guests.

Better Start Making Plans For That Thanksgiving Turkey Now

By JOYCE CONNAWAY

Although Thanksgiving is a week and a half away, now is the time to start thinking about the traditional meal that always accompanies the holiday.

No matter what the cook plans for the Thanksgiving dinner, the turkey is the main event of the meal. Grandmother may know every step in preparing the bird by memory, but it is still a job and a real challenge.

Reports have shown that turkeys will be smaller and that about 3,000,000 less were raised this year, therefore, they will be slightly higher in price. Big Spring Produce Company predicts that there will be plenty of turkeys available for Thanksgiving, and that the shortage will probably not be noticed until the Christmas rush starts.

Fort Worth market reports state that number one turkey toms are selling mostly for 27 cents a pound and number one turkey hens at 33 cents, with undergrades at the usual discounts.

The first requirement for a successful Thanksgiving turkey is knowing how to buy it, for you have three choices. The ready-to-cook is drawn and cleaned and may be either fresh or frozen.

Dressed turkeys have the head and feet left on and are not drawn, but the feathers have been removed. Your retailer, however, if asked, will draw this turkey.

At some markets, the fowl may be bought already cut-up, or perhaps split in half lengthwise or quartered.

To judge what size turkey you will need for your family dinner, determine how many servings you will want. For generous servings, you can figure on two servings per pound. A ready-to-cook bird weighing eight to 10 pounds will yield 16 to 20 servings.

If you buy a frozen turkey, leave it in the original moisture proof wrapping and let it thaw in the refrigerator. A 12 pound turkey will take one or two days to thaw, but allow three or four days if your dinner bird weighs over 20 pounds.

Should the situation call for quick thawing, place the poultry in a pan and set under cold running water. By this process, a 12 pound turkey can be thawed in only four to six hours, and will also run your water bill up considerably.

Do not stuff the turkey until just before roasting. Allow one cup stuffing per pound to fill the cavity. Rub the insides with salt. Since the stuffing swells as it cooks, fill the body and neck cavity loosely to give it room to expand.

Then fold the neck skin toward the back and fasten with a skewer or a few stitches, using clean white wrapping cord for sewing. Fold the wing tips back and anchor the drumsticks to the tail.

Before baking, grease the skin of the turkey with melted or softened fat. Place in a shallow, open pan that allows heat to circulate around the bird so it will roast evenly. Put the bird on a rack in the pan to keep it out of the juices.

Now the question of how long to cook the holiday main dish. Preheat the oven at 325 degrees. Cooking at this temperature, an eight to 12 pound turkey will be done in four or four and a half hours.

The simplest way to tell when the turkey is done is to move the drumkstick up and down. If the leg joint will give readily, it is done. Another test is to press the thickest part of the drumstick, protecting the fingers with cloth or paper, and let the softness indicate the doneness.

Baste with the juices from the bottom of the pan during the roasting. If the turkey is wrapped in aluminum foil to bake, the basting process is eliminated.

Remove the golden brown turkey from the oven, and you will have a Thanksgiving dish that your family and dinner guests will be thankful for.

Clean The Pen

Baby's play pen needs frequent cleanings to rid it of dust-catching sticky stains and crumbs from seams of the plastic pad. Rinse the pad and hang it outdoors.

Nearly 16 centuries ago, a man named Augustine lived in a Roman colony in Africa. He was vain, greedy, lustful—in fact, few men have been less exemplary. Then, when in his early thirties, he began to be increasingly dissatisfied with his life.

One day, feeling particularly miserable, he went into his garden and wept. While weeping, he heard, from a neighboring house, the voice of a child saying again and again, "Take up and read. Take up and read."

Struck by these words, Augustine went to his room, opened his Bible, and read. And when he had finished reading the turning point in his life had been reached and passed and he was a man transformed.

Through the centuries men and women have gone to the Bible seeking, and have come away with their answer. For in no other book is there such truth, wisdom, and promise. That is why the American Bible Society has been at work for more than a century, bringing the Bible to millions of persons in more than 60 countries, translating it into hundreds of languages.

The Bible is everywhere, yours for the asking.

Take it up—and read.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Retains Loveliness Of Youth

Veteran actress Dolores Del Rio, in Hollywood on a visit, passes on her ideas for retaining youth in an exclusive interview with Lydia Lane. The lovely Latin hopes to make a Hollywood motion picture soon.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Dolores Del Rio Has That Secret Of Youth

By LYDIA LANE

HOLLYWOOD — Dolores Del Rio's recent visit to Hollywood, the first since 1943, was greeted with a gay round of parties and everyone seeing her after so long had the same reaction — her youthfulness was atonishing.

When I was alone with Dolores in her bungalow at the Beverly Hills Hotel, I told her the stir her youth and beauty were creating.

She laughed. "People seem to expect me to possess some mysterious something — some magic formula I can tell them about but I don't believe that beauty is built from the outside.

"I have travelled all over the world and people everywhere have asked me what I do for my skin to keep it in such good condition. I believe that good skin is the result of good health, a good disposition and the right amount of rest. I tell them you can't expect cosmetics to get rid of puffs or circles under the eyes which come from late hours and excessive drinking.

"An important principle to remember," she continued, "is everything in moderation. I eat well. I never starve my body but I never overfeed it. If you take care of your body, your body will take care of you.

"I have an enormous amount of energy and because I am always rested when I get up I do not take a siesta in the afternoon as is the custom in Mexico. I don't need it and I believe sleep as well as good should be taken in moderation.

"I love the sun and its life-giving forces but you should not expose your body to too much ultra-violet. Besides drying out the oils of the skin, excessive sun is enervating."

I admired Miss Del Rio's golden tan.

"I spend much time on the beach at Acapulco and I am always careful to have my sun oil with me. I use only the simplest oil of the cocoanut which the natives there sell.

"All my cosmetics are simple. I remove my make-up with mineral oil and if my skin seems dry, I use lanolin. After my face is clean, I like to splash it with cold water to stimulate the circulation."

"What about exercise?" I asked.

"If you don't want to grow old you must be active. I like to walk and swim in my pool. But the most wonderful vitalizer in the world is the ocean. Even if you can't swim, just standing in the salt water while the surf rushes in is enough. The sea takes you back to your very beginnings. A great portion of our body is salt water, you know," she said.

"Would you sum up your formula for youthfulness as getting enough rest, nutritional food, sun and exercise?" I asked.

"One thing more — there must be interests," Dolores replied. "Nothing ages a person faster than having nothing to do. Some people believe they are old because they have worked hard all their lives." Dolores shook her pretty head. "It's not that, it's something else. It's boredom, idleness and ceasing to be useful. It is the women who have no interests outside of themselves who keep the cosmeticians in business — and the doctors.

"Youth is the time to start training yourself to face your problems because if you don't face them squarely they will destroy you. There is nothing you cannot face if you ask God for guidance," she said seriously.

"I used to be dreadfully shy and insecure and plagued by doubts. I could work up an anxiety over the tiniest thing. So I set about finding out what was wrong with me. If you are unhappy you must look for the cause in yourself, not in anyone else."

"Those are precious words of wisdom," I commented.

"And a beauty secret, too," she aded. "Because beauty is not so much a question of body line and regular features as it is harmony of spirit. It is the combination of these that make for true beauty."

TO STAY YOUTHFUL

You'll want a copy of leaflet M-6, "For the Mature Woman," if you want to retain your youth. Valuable information on how to care for your hands, prevention and cure of double chin are just two of the sections you'll find in this important leaflet. Both the Senior Mrs. and the Junior Miss will want this information. Get your copy by sending only 5 cents AND a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Lydia Lane, Hollywood Beauty, care of Big Spring Herald. Be sure to ask for M-6.

Miss Hinson, James Cook Wed Friday

The bride selected a blue and black suit styled with a long waist. Her accessories were black. Her flowers were white mums.

The couple went to Fort Worth on their wedding trip and will return to make their home at 408 Gregg.

A senior at Big Spring High School, the bride is vice president of the Future Homemakers of America.

The bridegroom attended Ackerly High School and is now working with his father in the water well and trucking business.

A Bible Thought For Today

By faith Noah, being warned of God of things not seen as yet, moved with fear, prepared an ark to the saving of his house, by the which he condemned the world, and became heir of the righteousness which is by faith. (Hebrews 11:7)

Cease Surveying, Start Digging

City and county commissioners have received a report on a drainage survey, together with a suggested course of action. There is one part of the report which poses the danger of inaction — that little part which puts an estimated $600,000 price tag on the work.

While the report is well done and involves considerable engineering details, it reveals nothing startling. In a large measure the report confirms the relatively obvious — that water enters Big Spring much faster than it can flow out during periods of heavy rain. Certainly this does not imply ridicule upon the report, for the conclusions have to be stated as a predicate for action.

The important part of the report is its suggestions for mitigating or avoiding the flood conditions which have, from time to time, caused damage to property and posed a threat to public health. Crux of the situation is that the floor of Beal's Creek, as it leaves Big Spring to the southeast, almost flattens. Whereas steep slopes funnel water into Big Spring, there is an almost level outfall which is virtually dependent upon the head of pressure against it to carry the water out and away.

It is pretty well established that an adequately large channel which would reduce friction and silting to a minimum by having a straight course and concrete lining is the most practical answer. There are some auxiliary points such as a diversion canal around the northern slopes to cut off water which only aggravates flood conditions after flash showers, etc.

The cost of a canal, together with possible easements, excavation, etc. will run high. At $600,000 it wouuld appear doubtful that either the city or the county would tackle it immediately.

However, to use a homely expression, the best way to eat an elephant is to cut him up in little pieces.

This raises the logical question: What divisions can we make in the project? divisions can we made in the project? What timetable can we set up for pushing the work? How can the responsibility and cost be properly and equitably spread?

We suggest that if some of these questions are answered, then a start can be made on the project. A certain amount of it could thus even be accomplished out of current operating funds from year to year.

The sooner we get at it, the better, for every year brings improvements in private property and other conditions which only compound the problem and which will only make it more costly in the end.

Moreover, we've had three or four engineering surveys now in the last 15 to 20 years; the time has come to cease surveying and start digging.

Fair Warning About Winter's Weather

One of the more pleasant weeks of writing this column each year comes at the time when I can report the arrival of my copy of the Old Farmer's Almanac. It is here, and I now look forward to some happy hours of digesting its assortment of anecdotes and pleasantries, profound philosophies and sturdy comment, not to mention such important topics as holidays, the reproduction cycle, the table of measures and various solid household hints.

To get down to the meat of the book, though, we might as well turn to the page which forecasts the 1956 weather. It is Abraham Weatherwise who does the prognosticating for the Almanac, and he, of course, declines to reveal his methods. He hasn't too much truck with scientific devices, but he depends upon his own interpretation of the running of the tides, and can demonstrate that he hasn't been too inaccurate in prior years.

This winter's weather, says the Almanac tersely, will be "as severe as any of the 20th century." November is listed as cold and bleak; December, blustery and cold with some snow; January, snow, rain and blizzard; February, cold and stormy; March, dust and snow-laden winds, tornadoes and gales.

This is enough for me. I am going to get more wood for the fireplace, and see that the long-handles have the buttons on.

The Old Farmer's Almanac, when it gets down to specific cases, can make the weather forecast so attractive. Down the daily listing of such meteorological phenomena as sunrise and sunset, length of days, phase of the moon, and the "sun fast," there are sprightly little rhymes to make you aware of the weather.

For instance, along about mid-January, there is a period "Good for skating and mating." In February, we find a reference which says, "The ice crackles like Grandma's cackles." And March, the warning: "Lower all sails for tornadoes and gales." In April comes the observation, "Sheep storm, oldsters say, Meaning easterly gales day after day." And a more pleasant prospect the next month: "Winter in exile, makes everyone smile"; But also in May, "Days are bright, black flies bite." In June, as you might anticipate, the Almanac says, "Hot, by jingo, in anyone's lingo." It gets worse in July: "Men and cattle reek, this hottest week." In September comes the advice: "Of these first six days make the best; bad storms will take care of the rest." In November the suggestion, "May snow a little, stay near the kittle." And in December, "Excellent weather to lodge together."

These are just the pleasantries. This weather table in the Almanac is serious business indeed. And the "sun fast" I mentioned above: that's the calculation to show how fast on each day the time indicated by a properly graduated sundial will be of the time indicated by a clock. If you have a sundial, you'll need a copy of the Almanac.

There are several eclipses listed for 1956, but about the only one visible throughout the United States will be a total eclipse of the moon November 18 (1956).

And there's another great event ahead next year, one learns from the Almanac. This is that the planet Mars, next September 7, will be the closest to the earth it has ever been. This is only a matter of 35 million miles.

If ever there was a time for the space ships to be launched, seems to me next September 7 would be the time to do it. But to get ready, we'll have to hurry.

How One Woman Met A Marriage Crisis

What advice would you give to a young wife who discovered that her absent husband was living with another woman? Such unhappy situations are presented frequently to those who try to help in human problems.

This young woman, wife of an American soldier, told me that a few years ago her husband had been sent to serve in Germany. A year later, when she was permitted to join him there, she flew to Germany filled with happy anticipation at the thought of seeing her husband again.

What she found there, however, rudely destroyed this dream. Her husband had been living with a German girl. The shock of this discovery broke her health. Eventually, unable to tolerate the situation in which she had been placed, she returned to the States and slowly began to regain her health.

In the meantime, it seems that her husband's way of life in Germany made him the center of a scandal, as the result of which he was sent back home in disgrace. He asked his wife to take him back and she agreed, though not without painful self-struggle and with many misgivings.

Sometime later, he received a letter from the German girl in which she said she had made arrangements to follow him to the States. He showed the letter to his wife.

"What am I to do?" was the question she asked of me.

Some might answer that such a situation is more than flesh and blood can take. With that feeling I am in full sympathy, but we are more than flesh and blood. We are children of God to whom are offered insight and strength of a spiritual nature.

"You married your husband for better or for worse," I reminded her, "and this is the worse. But that does not mean that you ought to run away from this problem, but rather to meet it creatively."

And the creative approach as outlined was first to acquire through prayer and right thinking a controlled emotional reaction. That is not easy, of course, but then the mastery of a deep human crisis never comes easy. But self-control can be achieved, and mental quietness is vital to the solution of any problem, for we must think cooly and rationally. So many people "think" with their emotions rather than, with their intellects. This accounts, no doubt, for the many wrong decisions and disastrous results.

The next consideration involved the conservation of the true value in the three personalities involved: her husband, the German girl, and herself. The other two, acting negatively and wrongly, had created this sad situation. Could she, by thinking and acting creatively redeem it and them, and also preserve her own domestic life?

On this level of approach I urged her to consider the advantages she had over her rival. The wife always has a head start over the other woman; long years of common experience, many deep moments of unforgettable fellowship in sorrow and joy, the coming of children, and the fact that their relationship is sacred, and not furtive and clandestine.

So many of these situations can be corrected if a husband or wife, like this woman, will just do some sound, unemotional thinking and employ a simple strategy. And, of course, uppermost in this strategy is to lift the whole issue to a spiritual level. By the use of prayer, plus an honest checking to keep your attitudes Christian at all times, you can maintain poise and receive guidance in every ticklish decision. The absence of hate and resentment made possible by spiritual motivation keeps the mind clear and sets in motion spiritually recreative forces.

Report From Europe

Women Are Blonde, Skirts Are Short In Florence

By HOUSTON HARTE

FLORENCE, Italy — (By Mail). This is your report on styles. There seems to be a feeling among the Italians that gentlemen prefer anything but brunettes. Between the discarding of pinafores and taking up the black garb of the matriarch, every Italian woman does something about the color of her hair.

For the teen-agers it is usually a sorrel, but sometimes blonde, and sometimes very red, but 90 per cent go for sorrel. From 30 on you must have a painted stripe of white or grey. Usually there is a splash of about three-quarters of an inch wide and two to three inches long on the side at the front.

There may be another touch or two on the back or side. At a glance it looks like just a touch of premature gray in just the right spots. But when you see it closer and all over, you know it comes out of the bottle. If you ask about it, you'll be told it is the biggest business the beauty shops have.

The skirts here are almost as high as in Grace Coolidge's days in the White House. Not quite but they come only a few inches below the knee. Many women work at trying to keep their skirts from being seat sprung. Over here they spring them in the cutting room. The waist is not the narrowest part of the average Italian woman's skirt. It is just three inches above the knee. From the knee down they have a pleat in the back that provides walking room. It is the only thing that is pressed over here, and the pleat closes up when locomotion has ceased.

The dress is unknown in Italy. Every woman wears a suit in the daytime. There is no exception. There is no such thing as ready-to-wear clothes. The sewing machine in the home or the women's tailor in the city does the job. At this time of year everyone is going to or coming from a fitting. There are myriad little tailor shops all over Italy.

Men's and women's shoes are much more pointed than ours and the sole is lighter. Italian men's shoes remind you of some of our pointed cowboy boots. The heels on men's shoes are higher than ours, which adds to the impression that the shoe is a dancing pump of the 1915 era or a very stylish cowboy boot.

There are many street sweepers in Florence. Horses and mules are in evidence everywhere. Tourists like to ride in the open carriages which are available outside all museums and the principal hotels. The entire truck garden production is delivered in two-wheel mule and horse-drawn carts. The streets are 12 to 30 feet wide and pedestrians have to walk in the streets. Bus service is limited and there are trolley cars on only a few streets. The need for continually cleaning the streets is evident.

The average wage of a street cleaner is 6,000 to 7,000 lira a week, or with the lira at 620 to the dollar is $9.65 to $11.25 a week. The street cleaner's wage is typical of the laborer's scale. But nothing else is cheap in Italy. Grapes have just been harvested. You can see the vineyards from your hotel window but the price in the downtown shops is 25 cents to 30 cents a pound, about what we buy California grapes for in Texas. A kilo (2.2 pounds) of beef sells for from 500 to 2,000 lira a kilo. This is 40 cents a pound for "boiling beef" and $1.50 a pound for the high-priced best cuts of the choice beef.

Vegetables are plentiful, but they are not bargains in the shops a tourist finds. There is no cheap spaghetti with wheat at $2.50 a bushel. Potatoes, fish and cheese appear to be the only food for the hard-working laborers. The fish are excellent and plentiful even in an inland city such as Florence. But when it takes a day's work for a man to buy five pounds of boiling beef for his family, conditions are not good. Wages are too low in Italy for the good of the laborer, the employer, and the country.

The Florentines have a happy faculty of visiting on the street. This seems to be the most common meeting place. They stand and gesticulate and kiss and talk. They appear to be oblivious of the traffic that tries to surge around them. They invite traffic accidents. Other pedestrians are stalled while the Florentines talk. They cannot get out any further in the street for fear of being run down. They cannot get through the good neighbor talk. They must adopt the Florentine habit of not being in a hurry.

The Italians have a different view of alcoholic beverages from the average American. Wine is not looked upon as an intoxicating drink but rather, as Paul wrote Timothy, "Take a little fine for your stomach's sake."

There are a great number of brotherhoods of monks and nuns who own large vineyards which the members keep and from which Timothy, "Take a little wine for liqueurs.

Near Florence is a brotherhood which about the middle of the 12th Century developed a distillery which made chartrosa, a liqueur of considerable fame and strength. The monks there are divided into three classes: one group never speaks, just prays; another can speak once every two weeks, while the rest of the time is spent in praying. The third group can speak any time, and conducts the monastery's business with the world. None eats meat, but all profess to enjoy chartrosa (chartreuse). The order is said to be rich and acquires more land every few years. Its monks live unusually long lives. They keep in training 50 novices.

Among Florence's other artistic attainments is a fine symphony orchestra. At this season of the year it holds a weekly concert each Sunday afternoon from 5 to 7. Otto Klemperer, who at one time directed the Los Angeles Symphony, was the guest conductor on October 23.

If you are emotional about music, you almost would have cried as Klemperer took this 100-piece orchestra through Mozart's Symphony in E Minor. As a result of an accident, he is partially paralyzed and had to be led to the center of the stage. His right leg and right arm are affected to such an extent he was afraid to mount the podium, but stood in front of a high music rack upon which he could lean for support when necessary.

He could not open the fingers of his right hand. But with his eyes, his mouth and his left hand he got maximum results from the orchestra. As you listened to the melodious Mozart chords and thought of how he died alone in Vienna, how unnoticed and unattended, he was hurried off to a pauper's burial ground, you wondered if he could hear the cries of "bravo" from the four-balcony auditorium as the full house cheered the crippled Klemperer and his orchestra.

Mozart's birthplace is a shrine in Salzburg. The attic rooms he occupied in Vienna now have plaques outside recounting his residence. His bust is in a Vienna park. But the poor man died in hunger, a pauper. Today crowds cheer his music and record makers reap fortunes from the symphonies he created. Klemperer, shuffling off the stage, makes you think of Mozart's ghost.

Not Even A Piece Of The Olive Branch

GENEVA — Whether we are seeing here just one more instance of the hot and cold technique of Soviet diplomacy or whether this is indeed the end of the rather battered spirit of Geneva no one can be sure.

By his brutal frankness in rejecting German reunification except on Soviet terms, which would mean the communization of all Germany and the end of any security system in Western Europe, Viacheslav Molotov made at least one thing plain. Moscow cannot afford even to imply any relaxation of the iron embrace in which the satellites are held. It is a system maintained by force and the suggestion that it might be altered by free choice through free elections is apparently too great a risk to permit even for purposes of discussion and negotiation.

Molotov's response, coming as it did after his weekend in Moscow in close consultation with Khrushchev, Bulganin and the other Soviet leaders, was a shock and surprise to the West. It had been thought that he would bring back agreement for further discussion by a working group of experts or at another foreign ministers' meeting of the problem of unifying Germany in the terms set out in the directive from the summit conference — that is, by free elections. Such an agreement "in principle" would have made it possible to wind up with a formula of amiable words signifying another agreement to try to agree at a later date.

But having thrown the bucket of ice water at his fellow delegates Molotov, if he runs true to past form, will proceed shortly to hold out some new bait. This might be a fairly far-reaching concession on disarmament. Americans here have felt that Russia was certain to make that kind of concession, which would cost little in actual performance at some point in the conference.

From the beginning of this second round of the Geneva negotiation Dulles has taken a conciliatory and even optimistic line. In one of several direct appeals to Molotov he went to great lengths to point out the area in which both East and West agreed on a security pact, going on to suggest that with just a little more effort similar points for agreed later discussion could be reached on Germany. His remark in the earlier discussion that he hoped it was no crime to be optimistic has an almost-wistful sound.

It is possible that for the long pull Molotov's complete rejection of anything but a Communist and neutralist solution for Germany and Europe may prove a good break for the West. There was a hazard in the kind of fuzzy formula which would say that we are friends and we do want to get along and while we don't agree on the basic issues we promise that we'll try again. Westerners are still talking today, and particularly members of the American and French delegations, about whether there is any point in having another try.

The effect inside Germany should also be salutary. It should be abundantly clear that neutralism means a perilous compromise with communism. German nationalists who are growing in power may be confident that they can best the Communist tiger, but for others the dangers should be all too evident in Molotov's blunt warning that East Germany has powerful neighbors on whom she can rely.

American policymakers expected no miracles from this second round. But they did hope to come away with at least a piece of the olive branch left over from the summit conference of last summer — and that now seems highly dubious.

Bible Words for Today

2 CORINTHIANS 2:14—"Thanks be to God, who in Christ always leads us in triumph, and through us spreads the fragrance of the knowledge of him everywhere." (RSV)

It is relatively easy to join the Christian Church. It is quite another matter to commit oneself completely to the head of the Church, and to work diligently at the task of translating into action God's purposes as they are revealed in Christ. For Albert Schweitzer this meant leaving a comfortable university post for the pioneering life of a missionary doctor in the heart of Africa. For countless others it has meant carrying on the daily routine in shop, in home, in office and on the farm with a new spirit of consecration, conscious that all worthy work and all human relationships present opportunities to testify to the glory of God and to the furtherance of His purposes. Such persons find life triumphant no matter what misfortunes befall them. They do more to spread the knowledge of God among men than all the learned treatises on the Christian faith that have been written.

No 'Trend' In Local Elections

WASHINGTON — Political significance, but not necessarily a national trend so far as the major parties are concerned, can be derived from a study of the few elections just held.

Generally speaking, where the "ins" had a satisfactory record they were re-elected, but where they had produced discontent and protests, the "outs" came back into power. This is nothing new in the political world.

Next, where the districts showed recently a shift in population — from rural to industrial — the Democrats benefited. But the most prominent Democrat elected Tuesday in any state — "Happy" Chandler, former U. S. senator, and now the new governor of Kentucky — is neither a New Dealer nor a Fair Dealer. If he can be classifed at all, it would be on the conservative side. That's of some political significance to those Democrats who still think they would like to see the more radical Adlai Stevenson nominated next year for the presidency. But it isn't a Democratic party trend yet.

Local elections in cities and counties are meaningless so far as a national trend is concerned. But the fact that the Democrats who have been in the City Hall in Philadelphia stayed in power in a Republican stronghold is of political significance. It means that the voters have not fogotten the corrupt regime of the Republicans which was turned out four years ago. It also shows that a new regime when it makes a good record can stay in power. That also is a basic principle in politics.

The only state-wide elections which can be examined at all for a sign of a trend occurred in New Jersey, where the state legislature remained Republican in both houses despite the fact that a Democrat was elected governor last year. The Democrats gained three seats in the Senate but they are still only 7, while there are 14 Republicans. In the House the Republicans retained their 40-to-27 majority. So there's little comfort here for the champions of the "trend" idea.

Pennsylvania offers no clue to national politics either. In the western end of the state, Pittsburgh, the Democrats for a long time have been entrenched in the City Hall under Mayor David L. Lawrence — no relation to this writer — while in the eastern end of the state, in Philadelphia, the Democrats won in 1951 for the first time in many decades. Yet Pennsylvania didn't give its electoral vote to the Democrats in 1952. This year the Republicans added a seat to their hold on the State Senate in the only election contest.

In Virginia the Republicans added a seat in the State Senate. They also carried some local elections near Washington in Fairfax County. It needs to be observed that many government employes fearful of their jobs now are registering Republican instead of Democratic in the areas near Washington. Registration lists, of course, are open to inspection. There's hardly a national trend here.

Whether the vote in Indiana's farm towns reflected disaffection on farm income is something worth analyzing but it is by no means clear.

If anybody really wants to argue that there was something of a national "trend" in the Tuesday election, the only plausible case that can be made is in the state of Ohio, where, in the first test of public sentiment on the guaranteed annual wage issue, the CIO proposal was decisively defeated. The vote was approximately 1,500,000 to 860,000. It was probably the largest sample vote on any question remotely resembling a national issue.

Here is a case in which the labor-union bosses and their political organizations worked hard to win. It meant a great deal to them because the contracts negotiated recently with the auto companies called for changes in state laws to permit unemployed workers to continue to receive state unemployment compensation along with company payments. The people of Ohio said "no" emphatically. If that's a national trend, it isn't radical by any means. It's conservative.

The Republican and Democratic national chairmen, of course, have just issued their customary statements belittling each other's claims. But the fact remains that there were not enough elections on a statewide basis on Tuesday, and no elections at all for Congress, from which to determine just what the mood of the electorate might be on a national basis in 1956.

On the whole, the voters behaved as they always do. They oppose corruption, they reward good public servants in the City Hall irrespective of party, and they don't seem at present to be emotionally disturbed about anything — not even the exhortations of those politicians who try to convince them that a particular party has the key to a Utopian existence.

Modest Settlement

WAUKEGAN, Ill. (AP)—Johnny Colosimo, 11, had a car mishap with his new bike and was the central figure in a $25,000 injury suit brought by his mother, Mrs. Dorothy Vlink. Johnny's attorney, William J. Crowley, asked the youngster to lower his trousers and show the jury scars on his left thigh resulting from the accident.

Johnny refused twice to take his pants down before the women jurors with a couple of "Uh-uhs."

Judge Bernard M. Decker said: "I think the lad's using good sense."

The jury of six men and six women awarded Johnny $5,000.

Indian Scare Story

ALEXANDRIA, Va. (AP)—Susannah Alexander awoke grabbed a gun and killed a man pursuing her husband, John, around the room with a hatchet. Then the Alexanders wrapped the victim in his horsehide robe and buried him on a hillside.

The victim was Long Tom, Orinoco Indian chief. John Alexander was a founder of this early American city—and wouldn't have been except for Susannah's sudden awakening.

Mention was made of the historical incident at ceremonies in the cemetery of old Pohick Church where John and Susannah—as well as Long Tom—lie buried.

'My Sister Eileen' Stars Janet Leigh

"My Sister Eileen" is the Ritz offering today, filmed in CinemaScope and Technicolor. The comedy film introduces eight new songs and stars Janet Leigh, Betty Garrett, Jack Lemmon, Robert Fosse, Kurt Kasznar, and Richard York.

The film was taken from the hit Broadway play by the same name. The play was written by Joseph Fields and Jerome Chodorov. It had a record run on Broadway and later on a road show.

The plot starts with two sisters, Eileen and Ruth Sherwood, who leave Columbus, Ohio for New York City to pursue careers as actress and writer, respectively. Ruth attracts a magazine editor by pretending that she is the much chased heroine of her humorous "My Sister Eileen" stories.

Eileen, hunting for a job, is assisted by a soda fountain manager and pursued by a newspaper reporter. To get Eileen alone, the reporter convinces Ruth that she should make the trip over to Brooklyn to see the arrival of a Brazilian cadet training ship.

Ruth returns home pursued by the ship-load of cadets who begin a long conga line which ends in a riot and jail. In the ensuing melee, the magazine editor confesses his love for Ruth and Eileen traps the soda fountain manager.

Before the Brazilians leave the country, they stop by the Sherwoods to apologize for the trouble they caused Ruth inadvertently mentions the word, "conga" and the line starts all over again.

The film is funny and packed with new musical hits. The songs are "My Sister Eileen," "There's Nothing Like Love," "Give Me A Band And My Baby," "It's Bigger Than You And Me," "I'm Great," "As Soon As They See Eileen," "Got No Room Mr. Gloom," "What Happened To The Conga," and "Atmosphere."

Western At State

Joel McCrea and Miroslava star in "Stranger On Horseback" at the State today and Monday. The color film is in the tradition of "High Noon."

'Stranger On Horseback' Stars Joel McCrea At State

In the early days of the West, most towns were without the benefit of a judge except when the "circuit" judge made his periodic visits. In "Stranger On Horseback," Joel McCrea plays the part of a circuit judge who also carries a gun to see that justice is meted out in his jurisdiction. The picture is at the State today through Tuesday.

Riding into the town of Bannerman, McCrea finds that an accused murderer is walking the streets before his trial. The accused is Tom Bannerman, son of the leading townsman. The shooting is described as self-defense and the Bannermans have enough influence in the town to see that the boy is not convicted.

McCrea decides that a fair trial will have to be held outside the Bannerman's jurisdiction. With this aim in mind, he attempts to carry the accused and two witnesses to a nearby city for the trial.

The Bannermans take a dim view of this transfer and lay a trap for the judge. But a daughter in the clan, Miroslava, takes an interest in the judge and warns him of the plot. When she sees her brother brutally murder a man trying to escape, she goes over to the other side wholeheartedly.

English Star, Alec Guinness Returns At State

Alex Guinness in his first Technicolor film will be screened at the State, Wednesday and Thursday. It is "To Paris With Love" and threatens to be one of the best of his twelve pictures.

Guinness again pays a comedy part. This time he is a widower who plans to take his son away from a rather sheltered life at Oxford for a trip to Paris. The idea is to wake the boy up to live and love.

Once in France, it is the father who falls in love with a girl about the son's age. The boy approves the father being in love but not with someone so young. Then the youth falls in love with a woman about the father's age. Now it is the father's turn to be alarmed.

The two, father and son, get together and decide that it would be best for them to exchange women. But, the more they try to change, the more they realize how much they love their respective girlfriends.

The women finally settle the problem. At a party, the girl realizes that Guinness is much too old for her, when she sees him playing a rather bad game of badminton. The older woman recognizes the younger visitor for only a child when she sees him sitting with a girl his own age.

And so the idyllic love affairs are broken up. Or are they?

Hemingway Book On Film Again

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "A Farewell to Arms," Ernest Hemingway's novel of love in Italy during World War I, will be remade as a movie.

Producer David O. Selznick said yesterday he has acquired screen rights and will film the picture in a big-screen process. Helen Hayes and Gary Cooper starred in the original version in 1932.

Announcement of the new screening of this book comes only two weeks after another studio announced plans to film, "The Sun Also Rises." This last novel was Hemingway's first book and established him as the "spokesman for the lost generation."

"A Farewell To Arms" is considered Hemingway's best book, save one. "For Whom The Bell Tolls" is thought to be his best and it was filmed during the late 30's.

'White Feather' Is At Terrace Tonight

Robert Wagner, John Lund, and Debra Paget are starred in the Terrace offering tonight, "White Feather."

The western film is set in Wyoming with Wagner playing a young surveyor who brings peace between the Indians and the white men by marrying the Indian chief's daughter. Before he marries her, however, he has to kill her two brothers and show his strength.

The picture is filmed in CinemaScope and Technicolor.

Historical Film In CinemaScope

Robert Taylor stars in another Sir Walter Scott film, "Quentin Durward," at the Ritz. He also starred in "Ivanhoe." Others featured in "Quentin Durward" are Robert Morley and Kay Kendall. The film is in color and CinemaScope. It will play at the Ritz Friday and Saturday.

Robert Taylor Is Starred In 'Quentin Durward' At Ritz

"Quentin Durward" is the second Sir Walter Scott novel to be screened by Hollywood. The other was "Ivanhoe." Robert Taylor has starred in both films. The latest Scott film will play at the Ritz Friday and Saturday.

Durward, a native of Scotland, journeyed to France in the early 15th century in order to press the suit of his elderly uncle for the hand of the Countess of Marcroy, Kay Kendall. The times were those when chivalry was being replaced by treachery and gunpowder had replaced the lance.

But Kay refused to sacrifice herself as a political match and ran to the court of the King of France for protection from Durward's uncle. The King of France plans to marry her off to the Duke of Burgundy in order to seal a military alliance.

Durward then goes about saving the girl from this latter ordeal and protecting himself in unknown lands as well.

The picture was filmed in France on the actual locations of the scenes as Scott pictured them when he wrote the book. All the famous castles and pagentry has been captured for the screen.

Robert Morley is the ideal villanous character for the part of the French king and Kay Kendall has been called the most beautiful girl in England. Taylor, of course, is well known to American audiences. CinemaScope and color are used to bring out the more spectacular scenes for realism.

Taylor is becoming familiar with the sword in "Ivanhoe," but he was also starred in "Knights of the Round Table." Morley was the mad king in "Beau Brummel."

CINEMA COMMENT

By GLENN COOTES

Alec Guinness will be on the State screen again this week. For those of you who have seen him in any one of his previous ten films, you know that "To Paris With Love" will probably be the best picture in the city for the week.

If you have never seen Guinness, don't miss this picture. I doubt that there is a better actor in films. He is dubbed, "The man with a thousand faces." He has played every conceivable type of part and not a one of them has been criticized.

"To Paris With Love" is his first Technicolor comedy and is being ballyhooed as his best.

Guinness began his career in 1934 at the Playhouse Theatre in London. The play was "Libel." Following that for seven years, he starred in plays with the Old Vic and John Gielgud Company. Most of his work was in Shakespearean dramas.

He served in the Royal Navy during the war. After the war, he toured the United States in T. S. Eliot's play, "The Cocktail Party." He also starred in the first modern dress version of "Hamlet."

He made his screen debut as Herbert Packet in "Great Expectations." His performances since then have been in "Oliver Twist," "Kind Hearts And Coronets," "A Run For Your Money," "Last Holiday," "The Mudlark," "The Lavender Hill Mob," "The Man In The White Suit," "Malta Story," "The Captain's Paradise," and "The Detective."

In "Kind Hearts and Coronets," Guinness played every major part in the picture, about seven. He was a young man, an elderly man, a young woman, and an elderly woman. Such is his talent.

I doubt that we have, in this country, any actor that can compete with Guinness in ability or versatility.

'The King's Thief'

Edmund Purdom and Ann Blyth star in this color and CinemaScope production at the Ritz this week. Other stars include David Niven and George Sanders.

'King's Thief' In Color At Ritz Stars Ann Blyth

"The King's Thief" is the Ritz feature, for Wednesday and Thursday, and it stars Ann Blyth, George Sanders, David Niven, and Edmund Purdom. The picture is filmed in color and CinemaScope.

George Sanders plays the king, Charles II, and David Niven plays the Duke of Brampton who is trying to usurp the throne. Brampton encourages Charles to sign the death warrants of nobles accused of treason.

One of the nobles is Lord Ovenden, whose daughter is Ann Blyth. She tries to discover the reason for the hangings. She gets Edmund Purdom, an officer turned highwayman, to steal a list of future victims from Brampton.

Purdom, however, fights a duel with Brampton and is thrown in prison. Ann Blyth helps him to escape and both of them discover that Brampton hopes to become king by eliminating all his rivals.

In order to warn the king, Purdom and Miss Blyth plan to steal the crown jewels and hold them for bargaining power in order to gain an audience with Charles, the king.

The plan is foiled at the last minute by the arrival of the king from a vacation trip. Then, Purdom forces Brampton to confess the plot to the king by holding a sword point at his neck. As a reward for their efforts, Charles pardons Purdom and Miss Blyth for their complicity.

'Destry' Is Lyric Offering Today

Audie Murphy, Mari Blanchard, Thomas Mitchell, and Edgar Buchanan star in "Destry" at the Lyric today.

A western town sends for a new sheriff to clean out the killers after their sheriff is murdered. Audie Murphy plays Destry, the new sheriff. He arrives in town and becomes the laughing stock, because he doesn't carry a gun.

The film has excitement and daring as he goes about doing his job without the gun

The Future Teachers of America met Monday night in the small auditorium. An educational program was given, with a film about juvenile delinquency. Committees were appointed to get some information about the FTA doing some practice teaching. A new vice president, Carlene Fullen, was elected to take Nancy Milford's place.

The Women's Athletic Club met in an organizational meeting last Tuesday night and officers were elected. The club will meet twice a month.

The group will sing for the Rotary Club luncheon Tuesday at 12:30 at the Settles Hotel.

The Lass-O Club will meet Tuesday night at 7:30 in the auditorium for a regular meeting.

Friday, there will be no classes held at HCJC as the teachers will observe Business Education Day. The purpose of this is to acquaint people in teaching positions with the inside workings of our free enterprise system.

The HCJC Hawksters lost by a small margin a golf match played with Odessa on Thursday of last week.

Introducing another Freshman of the Week, we present Frankie Brown. Frankie is 18 years old and spent most of those years in Amarillo. She participated in the Dramatics Club, Future Homemakers of America Chapter, was in the Choir and the Stars. She was songleader in the FHA and organist at the Hamlet Baptist Church.

Frankie was runner-up for the vice-president's office of her junior Class in Amarillo, and was in the Gavel Club. She won fourth place in the Senior Day talent contest at HCJC last spring. This year she is in the HCJC Choir, Future Teachers of America Chapter, Athletic Club, and is a member of El Nido Staff. Her major is Speech and her minor is Music.

The Prayer I Learned from Uncle Benny

As I was trying to finish my ironing one hot Summer afternoon, my conscience nagged me to stop and go after my five-year-old son and his friends who were playing on my neighbor's porch swing, right at Uncle Benny's window. Uncle Benny was a bedridden nonagenarian who certainly wouldn't get his afternoon nap with that swing clanging and those children shrieking.

Finally I disconnected my iron and went over there. But just as I arrived, the children decided to return home and build an army camp. Knowing Uncle Benny couldn't be asleep, I went in and apologized for letting the children play at his window.

"You know," he said, with all the fervor of a music lover rhapsodizing over his favorite sonata, "I've just been lying here in bed listening to the children play!"

After chatting a few minutes I came home, fully aware how foolish I had been. After all, that ironing didn't have to be finished just then. Far more important was getting some pleasure out of that day and being thankful for the rich, full chapter of life I was living. I said a little prayer that I have repeated many times:

"O God, help me to put first things first. May I never become so engrossed in work that I fail to enjoy listening to the children play!"—Mrs. S. T. Garrison, Cooper, Tex.

How to Keep Friends

Many warm friendships get put on ice when one of the friends moves far enough away to require letter writing to keep in touch. One of my "closest" friends has been across the continent from me for 23 years. In fact, we are perhaps better friends now than we were then, but we did not achieve this through letters. We have the same reluctance to sit down and record lengthy accounts of our doings that most persons have.

Our friendship has been kept alive and warm through the simple medium of postal cards. We carry some with us at all times and drop them in the mail once or twice a week. The message may do no more than describe a new dress, a pleasant luncheon, or contain a "happy rainy day" wish, but it establishes continuing intimacy. Further, it gives one that necessary feeling of having a "real good friend." Learning this from each other has helped us to keep other friends through the same simple means. It's easy and quick to do, and the rewards are immeasurable. — Wilmah Gabow, Rapid City, S. D.

Baby-Sitting As a Science

Goleta community, a progressive lemon-ranch section in the coastal area of Southern California, also has a progressive 4-H Club. Among the unique programs which the club has completed is a 4-H baby-sitter course. Fifteen of the members took the course.

Instructions on various phases of child care were given by public-health officials, public-school authorities, a physician, and a veterinarian. The topics discussed included personal grooming and manners, labor laws and liabilities, understanding and guiding children, accidents and unexpected illnesses, proper toys and how to make simple playthings, how to care for pets, how to tell a story, and how to select proper reading material for children.

The club members were very enthusiastic about their work, and at the last meeting the 15 girls "graduated." All regarded the program as another helpful means of "Making the Best Better," a fulfillment of the 4-H Club motto.—B. C., Santa Barbara, Calif.

. . . I wish Clark Gable wouldn't keep getting married without telling me.

It ruins my whole day when I pick up a newspaper and find he's taken to himself another wife.

When he's in between matrimony, I have a feeling there's still hope for me. I can pretend Clark and I will one day meet by accident on a street corner and he'll fall in love with me as desperately as I've loved him since "It Happened One Night."

But he never gets around to my street while he's eligible. He gets around a lot. Louella Parsons is always breathless about the "King's" latest South Dakota hunting trip or his location shots in Singapore. And there's a Minnesota guide who sends him two 'whitefish a week because he caught some there and liked them.

Sooner or later, I've always figured, he'd hit my town. There must be something around here worth hunting. Even me.

I have thought all Clark's wives were elegant and glamorous. I assume, too, they all loved Clark. But I can't believe it's the real thing. With me, of course, things are different.

But I guess I'll have to struggle along. It seems pretty disappointing when I've been available all this time. I'm frankly a little annoyed with him for this continual marrying of someone else. It's discouraging to be ignored time after time by one's dream man.

There's only one consolation. I never let the dried chewing gum or the women with rattling packages interfere. When Clark looms before the lens, the rest of the world goes quietly away. I couldn't even tell you much about the movie. Just the narrow eyes, the mustache, the voice, and the ears.

And me.

Winter is still a few weeks away, but in most of the nation's winter resorts the air has already turned a bitter cold and the first few flakes of snow have drifted down from a leaden sky. The ice and the snow are an invitation for fun to many sports lovers, like the pretty young miss on our cover who is all set to enjoy the first big snow of the season. (Photo from H. Brighter Highways Can Save Lives!

by Jerry Klein

FIFTY-SEVEN AMERICANS will die on the highway tonight. Between dusk and dawn, only a fraction of our automobiles will be in use, but there will be many more fatal accidents than during the busier daylight hours.

There may be many reasons why darkness is death's favorite time on the highway. Our street lights often could be better, pedestrians could be more careful, and motorists could be more alert.

But according to Dr. A. R. Lauer, director of the Iowa State College Driving Laboratory, "Regardless of what may be the ultimate cause of most night accidents, the immediate cause is not seeing the hazard in time."

Making objects more visible at night — thus saving human lives — therefore becomes the collective responsibility of government and taxpayer, driver and pedestrian.

During a 12-month period, a 600-yard stretch of highway in San Antonio, Tex., became the scene of death for 15 persons! The next year, with improved lighting, there were no fatal accidents.

Fourteen died in a year along a four-mile stretch of road in Grand Rapids, Mich. Better lights were installed, and there wasn't a single fatality on that stretch the next year.

In Los Angeles, relighting 20 dangerous intersections reduced the death rate from 11 one year to one the next: 10 lives saved. Hartford, Conn., relit 31 miles of streets, and in one year fatalities dropped from 11 to four: seven lives saved.

The National Street and Traffic Safety Lighting Bureau says reports from 29 cities show that 85 percent of our fatal traffic mishaps take place at night. Proper lighting cut highway deaths an average of 68 percent in these cities, the bureau says. And it adds that, nationally, better street lights could annually prevent 10,000 deaths, 270,000 injuries, $750 million in economic loss, and a whopping 37 million lost working days!

One of the troubles is that man's eyes can't match the efficiency of his machines. As we grow older, our eyes' ability to resist glare and see objects in the dark becomes worse.

This deterioration has nothing to do with our seeing power in general or our overall health. A 55-year-old driver with 20-20 vision still needs twice as much light to distinguish the same road sign as will his young son who also has 20-20 vision.

Industry is studying ways to make road signs more visible without lighting them up in a blinding glare that does as much harm as good.

During World War II, for example, the Nazis used radioactive signs which absorbed and stored up light during the day, then gave it back at night. Now a Massachusetts manufacturer has acquired rights to make these signs of radium oxide on porcelain. They are said to glow steadily in any weather.

Another development is reflectorized highway markers. These signs are coated with a layer of glass beads so tiny that 30,000 fit into a 1-inch square. When an automobile's headlamps—or a pedestrian's flashlight—strike such a sign, the glass beads reflect the light rays directly back toward their source and the sign "lights up."

Not long ago, Massachusetts reflectorized its road markers so that citizens can see them far ahead at night as well as during the day. Nighttime accidents declined 23 percent.

Reflection of light is saving lives in other ways, too. Soon you'll be able to buy articles of clothing made with reflectorized yarn or sprayed with reflectorized liquid.

Already, millions of automobiles and bicycles are protected by this same principle of reflection. They carry strips of a gummed tape which bounces light directly back to its source.

Usually this tape is applied to bumpers, but some motorists have applied it to the inside edges of doors so that when they are unwisely opened on the traffic side, approaching drivers get advance warning. Other drivers have taped the edges of trunk lids so they will act as warning flags in case the car breaks down and the trunk is opened for tools or a tire.

According to the New Jersey Turnpike Authority's chief engineer, Charles M. Noble, "Tests show that a red strip of reflective tape across the bumper of a vehicle makes it considerably easier to judge the distance." And after conducting more Tape on bikes helps prevent nighttime accidents.

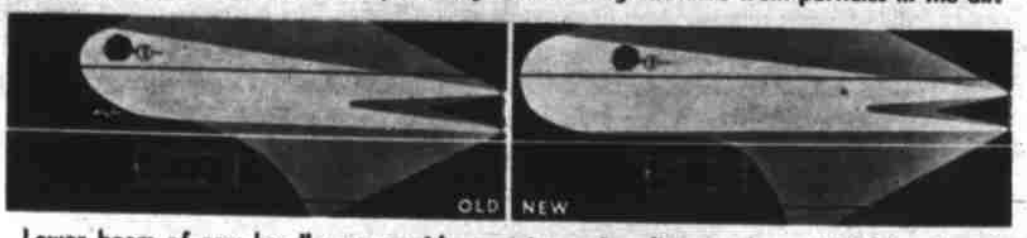
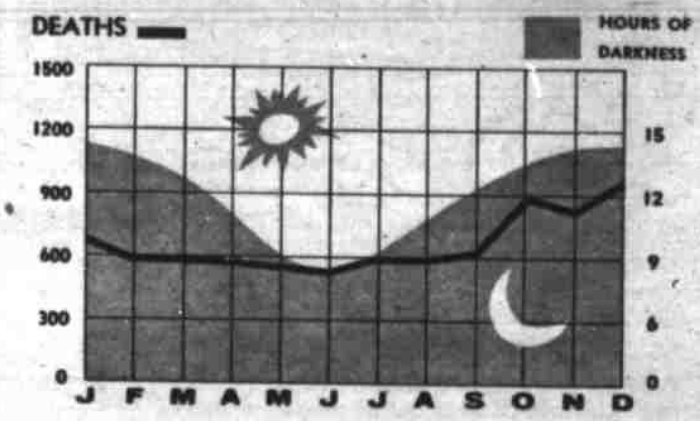
A reflectorized snowsuit can save a life.

New type headlamps, with less upward light, reduce lighted haze from particles in the air.



Lower beam of new headlamps provides greater seeing distance down right side of road.

1954 PEDESTRIAN DEATHS AND HOURS OF DARKNESS



Science and industry are teaming up to increase visibility and reduce the frightful death toll among night drivers.

than 2,000 tests, Dr. Lauer concluded that night drivers can see vehicles marked with reflective tape 70 percent sooner. This means that a motorist approaching a child on a bicycle while doing 50 miles an hour, for example, can see the bicycle a full second earlier and have 73 feet more space in which to stop the car.

Thanks to the initiative of a Junior Chamber of Commerce, millions of America's young bicyclists are protected by reflective tape as they go out into darkened streets. The Chamber of White Bear Lake, Minn., began the "Lite-A-Bike" program several years ago, and it has since grown into a national campaign which is sponsored locally by such other civic organizations as the Scouts, Rotary, Kiwanis, and PTA.

Of course, auto manufacturers are well aware of the toll death exacts every night on America's highways; and through research and redesign, they are trying constantly to reduce that toll.

Electrically driven windshield wipers, for example, are more dependable and reduce the risk of hitting a pedestrian some rainy night because you couldn't see him in time. Your visibility is enhanced still further by swept-back windshields and instrument panels which don't reflect light into your eyes as you peer into the darkness ahead.

Lamp manufacturers have been continually improving headlights since the days of the oil, acetylene, and gas-filled lamps. A pair of the latest sealed-beam headlamps now gives better visibility in fog, rain, snow, and dust, and provides up to 80 feet more seeing distance on the right side of the road in clear weather. The next step in improving nighttime vision may be polarized headlamps and windshields. This would help to eliminate most of the troublesome glare from oncoming headlamps.

In all these ways, America is trying to bring light into darkness and so end the nightly dance of death on the highway.

This month, the Committee on Religion in American Life again urges all of us to attend the church or synagogue of our choice and to strengthen the role that religion plays in our everyday activities. The laymen's committee, a national nonsectarian organization, has as this year's theme one which looks to the spiritual strength of America's younger generation: "Give Them a Faith to Live By." In this article, the Rev. William F. McDermott illustrates how church attendance can also be a stimulating, exciting experience.—The Editors.

Find Adventure in

DID YOU EVER buy live elephant meat? A friend of mine did—a dollar's worth. He got five pounds, and it's still in use in the form of a trained elephant which carries medical supplies through the African jungle to a remote missionary hospital.

My friend learned of this unique project, whereby many shared in buying the animal for benevolent purposes, by reading a leaflet he picked from a literature rack in his church one Sunday morning. It is only one of many forms of adventure one can find in attending church.

In Kansas City, years ago, some young people asked the pastor of their church to conduct a class in marriage instruction. He did, and in the course of a decade some 700 weddings resulted.

In Chicago a minister is called on almost every Sunday to appear before a youth group of 200 and say: "I'm here to announce what you've probably already guessed: Betty and Bob are going to be married. Isn't her ring beautiful?"

With that, he raises her left hand, showing the glittering diamond ring on her finger. The crowd cheers.

For young people seeking the adventure of happy marriage, there's no place like church. There are far fewer divorces among boys and girls who meet in church and are married there than among any other young people.

With 95,000,000 of America's 164,000,000 population enrolled as church members, and with Protestant, Catholic, and Jewish houses of worship filled to overflowing, religious interest is probably at an all-time peak in the U. S. A century ago fewer than 25 percent belonged to churches, compared to approximately 60 percent now.

In church you quickly find friends. A young couple, members of a church, decided to invite to dinner any young marrieds like themselves who were new in the community. By so doing, they won the newcomers to the church. On following Sundays they took two or three couples home with them. The idea spread, and before long adults of all age groups were doing the same thing. The congregation became known as the "Sunday dinner church," and newcomers in the community gravitated to it—more for the friendships they formed than for the dinners.

There are cold churches, it is true. As Billy Sunday once said: "Some churches are so frigid, icicles hang from the chandeliers and the ushers take up the collection on skates." But they are the exceptions. Most churches today are warm-hearted and cordial to strangers. A lot of it, of course, depends on you. If you go to church in an expectant spirit, eager for friendship, chances are you won't be disappointed.

In church you find opportunity for world-wide adventure through giving. You can get a wealth of information, for instance, about hospitals for lepers, where miracles are performed in arresting the disease. You may learn how thoroughbred cows are shipped overseas to provide milk for impoverished children of war-ridden lands. You will hear of pioneering schools and colleges which bring the benefits and knowledge of modern civilization to primitive peoples, thereby forging a strong international link for peace.

But the greatest adventure of all in going to church is that there, in your worship, you find God. You might also find Him in nature or on the golf course—but how many do? In church you have the perfect setting for shutting out everyday problems and focusing on the intangibles—spiritual truth, love, affection, life's fundamental purpose, one's final destiny—bringing

Church

Attendance can be a rich and exciting experience, full of surprises; the key is in what you bring to it.

you into close touch with your Creator. Music, prayers, fellowship, sermon all tend to remind you that we are children of God, created in His image, destined to survive—in spirit, personality, mind and soul—the transition we call death.

Much of the adventure in going to church is lost if you don't do it properly. Here, then, are some suggestions that will help you to get the most out of your attendance at church:

1. The enchantment of worship is not acquired overnight. It is something like learning to appreciate great music or fine art. You may get an inkling of it at first in the buoyant spirit of the congregation, but it grows on you as the ritual, the prayers, the hymns, and the sermon become more than a habit—actually a vital part of your life. For the joy of worship is incomparable, once a person attains it.

2. Churchgoing should not be haphazard, perfunctory, or whimsical. On the contrary, it should be approached with enthusiasm. If it is looked upon as drudgery, then it will be drudgery. If it is anticipated as an adventure, the desire will grow until it cannot be denied. I recently saw a cripple being carried upstairs to church in a wheel chair. Yet he attends church 52 Sundays a year.

"The church is my life," he told me, when I expressed surprise at seeing him there. "I wouldn't miss Sunday worship for the world. It's the greatest delight that I've ever known."

3. Give the preacher a break. When a man has to deliver 75 or 100 new addresses a year—sometimes as many as 300—and has to be administrator, secretary, counselor, visitor, comforter, adjudicator, and perform countless other functions, you can't expect him to attain the perfection of a lecturer who has polished his one standard speech by long practice.

4. Any well-ordered church service has a common theme running through the music, the prayers, and the sermon. Find what that theme is from your newspaper church notices, the church bulletin or signboard, and follow its development throughout the service. It will help you to get the greatest possible enlightenment and inspiration out of the service.

5. Select some thought or phrase in the sermon to take home with you for meditation and application. You won't be able to remember all the preacher says; he won't remember it all himself. But one inspiring or thought-provoking phrase is worth all the listening.

6. Go to church in a serene frame of mind, fresh and cheerful. Starting the Sunday with stimulating worship gets one in tune with the Infinite not only for the day but for the week ahead. It's the secret of finding and enjoying the best things in life.

Basra, situated 70 miles from the Persian Gulf, is an old river port inhabited by hard-working peasants.

A lion stands in the main street of Basra where, authorities claim, Adam and Eve lived centuries ago.

These odd structures are standing on what may have been the fabled Garden of Eden.

Was this the GARDEN OF EDEN?

MANY AUTHORITIES believe the Garden of Eden once stood near Basra, Iraq, where the Tigris and Euphrates Rivers meet. Today, this ancient paradise is a sun-roasted country of date palms and poor peasants. One reminder of the past is a young tree, said to be a descendant of the fabled Tree of Knowledge, whose fruit Adam and Eve ate in violation of God's edict.

This young tree supposedly marks the spot where its ancestor, the Tree of Knowledge, once stood.

Quick and easy on busy days, meat balls with spaghetti and tomato sauce are family favorites when topped with Parmesan cheese.

Quick and Easy Spaghetti and Meat Balls

Set out a large skillet having a tight-fitting cover.

Cut off root end and a thin slice from stem end of

1 medium-size onion

Peel, rinse, chop, and set aside.

Chop enough green pepper to yield

Put into a deep bowl

1 lb. ground beef
1 teaspoon salt

Add the green pepper and onion and mix together thoroughly. Shape mixture into small meat balls as in color photo.

Heat in the large skillet

2 tablespoons fat

Put meat balls into skillet and brown over medium heat, turning occasionally to brown on all sides.

Blend together

3½ cups (No. 2½ can) tomatoes, cut in pieces

and a mixture of

1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon Accent
¼ teaspoon pepper
¼ teaspoon chili powder

Spoon tomato mixture over meat balls; cover and simmer ½ hr.

While meat balls are cooking, prepare the spaghetti.

For Spaghetti—Heat to boiling in a large saucepan

3 qts. water
1 tablespoon salt

Add gradually so boiling does not stop

2 cups (8-oz. pkg.) spaghetti

Boil rapidly, uncovered, 10 to 15 min. Test tenderness by pressing a piece against side of pan with fork or spoon. Turn into a large colander or sieve to drain. Rinse with hot water to remove loose starch.

Turn hot spaghetti onto warm serving platter and cover with some of the tomato sauce and meat balls.

Serve with the additional sauce and ⅛ cup grated Parmesan cheese

6 servings

Party Chicken Ring with Golden Sauce

Set out a large saucepot or kettle having a tight-fitting cover; lightly grease a 2-qt. ring mold.

Clean

1 stewing chicken, about 5 lbs., ready-to-cook weight

(If frozen, thaw according to directions on package.) Rinse chicken and giblets; pat liver dry with absorbent paper. Refrigerate the liver. Disjoint chicken and put chicken pieces, gizzard, heart, and neck into kettle and add

Hot water (to barely cover chicken pieces and giblets)

Add to water

2 teaspoons salt
½ teaspoon Accent
2 pieces celery with leaves

Bring to boiling. Remove foam. Cover kettle tightly and simmer 1 hr., skimming foam from surface as necessary. Continue cooking chicken 1 hr., or until tender. During last 15 min. of cooking time, add liver to kettle. Chicken is done when thickest part of drumstick is easily pierced with a fork.

Remove chicken pieces from broth. Continue cooking broth until the amount is reduced to 1 qt., thus concentrating the flavor. Strain broth and set aside to cool. Remove and reserve fat that rises to surface. Reserve broth.

While broth is cooking, prepare rice.

For Cooked Rice—Bring to boiling in a deep saucepan

2 qts. water
2 teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon Accent

So boiling will not stop, add gradually

½ cup rice

(The Rice Industry no longer considers it necessary to wash rice before cooking.) Boil rapidly, uncovered, 15 to 20 min., or until a kernel of rice is entirely soft when pressed between the fingers. Drain in colander or sieve; rinse with hot water to remove loose starch. Cover with towel and set aside.

Put the cooked chicken pieces and rice into a large bowl. Add and mix together lightly

2 cups soft bread crumbs (about 2 slices fresh bread)
¼ cup slivered pimiento, well drained

Beat together until well blended

4 eggs, beaten
1½ cups chicken broth
1½ cups milk
¼ cup melted chicken fat
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon white pepper

Add egg mixture to chicken mixture and mix lightly until well blended. Turn into ring mold.

Bake in a boiling-water bath. For boiling-water bath, set ring mold in deep pan. Place pan on oven rack; Pour boiling water into pan up to level of chicken mixture in mold. Bake at 350°F 50 to 60 min., or until a silver knife comes out clean when inserted in center of mixture.

Meanwhile, prepare Golden Sauce.

For Golden Sauce—Wipe with a clean, damp cloth, cut off tips of stem, and slice lengthwise through stems and caps of

½ lb. small mushrooms

Heat in a skillet

Add sliced mushrooms and cook slowly, occasionally moving and turning gently with a spoon, until mushrooms are tender and lightly browned. Set aside.

Put in top of double boiler over low heat

¼ cup chicken fat or butter

Add gradually, stirring constantly

5 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon white pepper

Heat until mixture bubbles; remove from heat and gradually stir in

2 cups chicken broth

Return to heat and bring rapidly to boiling, stirring constantly; cook 1 to 2 min. longer. Remove from heat and vigorously stir about 3 tablespoons of the sauce into

2 egg yolks, slightly beaten

Immediately return mixture to double boiler. Cook over simmering water 3 to 5 min.; stir slowly to keep mixture cooking evenly. Remove from heat and set aside in warm place.

When chicken-rice ring tests done, remove from mold. To unmold the ring, loosen by running tip of knife around top edge. Invert mold onto a warm serving platter.

Blend into the sauce

2 tablespoons finely chopped parsley
1 tablespoon lemon juice

Return sauce to double boiler for about 1 min.; stir in the mushrooms. Remove from heat and spoon some of the sauce over chicken-rice ring. Fill center of ring with the remaining sauce. Serve hot.

Add the coffee beverage and stir well.

Add the scalded milk gradually, while stirring constantly.

Wash double-boiler top to remove scum.

Stirring gently and constantly, bring the flour mixture rapidly to boiling over direct heat and boil 3 min. Pour into double-boiler top and set over simmering water. Cover and cook 5 to 7 min., stirring occasionally. Vigorously stir about 3 tablespoons of the hot mixture into

3 egg yolks, slightly beaten

Immediately blend into mixture in double boiler. Cook over simmering water 3 to 5 min. Stir slowly to keep mixture cooking evenly. Remove from heat. Stir in

2 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 teaspoons vanilla extract

Cover and set filling aside to cool slightly, stirring occasionally; set into refrigerator to cool to lukewarm. Spoon the lukewarm filling into the pastry or crumb shell.

Paris Goes Formal

by Allyn Rice

THE RECENT Paris fashion showings stressed one important theme for the "evening" season ahead: the floor-length formal ball gown. Although some short "little dinner" gowns were also presented, the full costume—complete with its own stole or coat—scored as the outstanding after-dark fashion. It's created in beautiful solid colors ranging from palest blue to brightest red to sparkling white, and sprinkled with a king's ransom of embroidered jewels. This is Paris' dominant idea for those "after five" formal affairs.

Photographed in Paris exclusively for Family Weekly. All fabrics made with DuPont's "Orlon" Acrylic fiber.

Fluid lines of satin, cut to a tunic in front and falling to a short train in back, give a look of elegance to this creation by Jean Patou. The jeweled bodice of the gown is relieved by the bow.

This fabulous gown by Pierre Balmain is embroidered with golden jewels and huge appliqué roses. A flowing white velvet stole completes the ensemble.

Pearls and rhinestones embroider a new star-point gown from up-and-coming designer Marc Bohan. The stiff-bodied satin quite literally "stays in place." The long stem pearl and diamond earrings are new, as is the hair-do combed straight from the face into a chignon in back.

ORDINARY CORK fishing bobbers are being put to a different use these days! They're being turned into costume jewelry you can make yourself with a few inexpensive supplies from your variety store.

First, cover cork ball by loading a pin with a seed bead and then a sequin (cup up); insert pin in cork. Repeat, placing sequins so the cork is completely covered. Fix 5 corks.

BOBBERS INTO BAUBLES

Next, run a needle and double thread through necklace-clasp hole, knot, and wrap thread through clasp several times for strength. Then string in this sequence: 12 large beads alternated with small ones; cork, small bead, large bead, small bead, cork, small bead, etc., until 5 corks are strung. Add 12 alternating small and large beads; fasten thread to clasp.

Earrings are made in similar manner. In spare minutes and with no previous experience, you can turn out sets of smart, original costume jewelry.

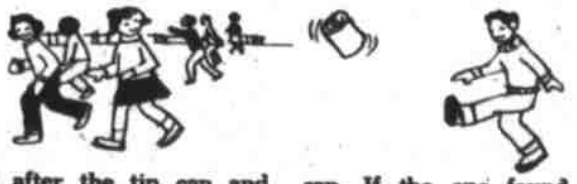
Kick-the-Can



For the neighborhood group, after school or after dinner, this is a perfect game. You will need a tin can with no sharp edges and a vacant lot or a playground.

How to play: One person is IT. Everyone stands near the can but off to one side. Someone kicks the can as far as it will go, and everyone runs to hide within a few blocks. IT runs after the tin can and brings it back. Then IT looks for the ones who are hiding. If IT finds someone who is hiding, he should run back, holler out the name of the person he found, and tag the can. If the one found can reach the can first and kick it away, he can hide again, and IT must start over again. But, if not, he must be IT for the next game after the other players have been caught.

FINGER PUPPET BEAR

Here is a puppet that is easy to make and fun to work. All you have to do is trace the drawing of the bear. Paste your tracing on a stiff piece of cardboard, and, if you would like to brighten it up a bit, color it with your crayons or paints. With a pair of scissors, cut out the two circles. To do a nice smooth job poke the scissors into the center of the circle and then cut around toward the edge. Now, put your index and middle fingers through the holes and make your bear puppet walk, run, or sit down. Maybe you can make him dance or even think up a story for him to act out for some friends.

Dear Miss Barrows:

Here is a story of something that happened long, long ago.

There is a loud crash, and as we look around we see that it is Tyrannosaurus Rex towering 20 feet above the ground. His teeth are six inches long, and his eyes are blazing with fury. He was concentrating his wrath upon a cowering Brontosaurus who was innocently nibbling on the green vegetation in the marsh, which was his sole diet, for the Brontosaurus is a vegetarian. As the Tyrannosaurus approaches, the other beast flees to the middle of the shallow pool, seeking safety. With two bounds, the Tyrannosaurus leaps to the back of the Brontosaurus and sinks his claws into the thick hide of his victim. As the six-inch teeth sink into his neck, he trumpets, but it is futile. Tyrannosaurus is by far the larger and more ferocious of the two beasts.

Finally the battle is ended. He feeds a short time upon his kill before lumbering on his way through the jungle.

This is but one of the many incidents which happened daily in the jungles of Montana many, many years ago.

Sincerely,
Donald Olson
Aged 11 Los Altos, Calif.

Dear Miss Barrows:

My hobby is raising animals. I have four rabbits, six chickens, a Bantam rooster, and nine ducks. My favorite rabbit I named Blackears; the others are Tanny, Friendly, and Frisky. I've named only three of my ducks. They are Honky, Old Mother, and Snow White. My Bantam rooster's name is Butterfly because he has so many beautiful colors. Daddy was going to kill my chickens if they did not start laying. Yesterday I found seven eggs in the barn!

Before I did my chores, I found that the dogs had torn the feed sack and the ducks had eaten up the feed, so I had to go up to Towner's corn field that they don't use any more and get some old corn. I love my animals, and I would do anything for them.

Your friend,

Dear Miss Barrows:

I would like to tell you about my hobby. I collect coins from the nations of the world. My father helped me begin my collection about a year ago when he gave me some coins he had saved since his childhood. My collection has grown quite a lot. In it I now have five Indian-head pennies, one of them from 1860! I also have three wooden nickels, a twelve-sided nickel from Canada, two coins from France (called "francs"), and a Chinese coin with Chinese writing on it. I have two very old nickels, a Swedish penny, and a penny with wavy edges from Egypt. I have three albums and I hope to fill them. I also have a handbook of American coins, and I have found out that some American coins are very rare.

I enjoy my hobby very much, and I hope other children try coin collecting, too.

Your friend,

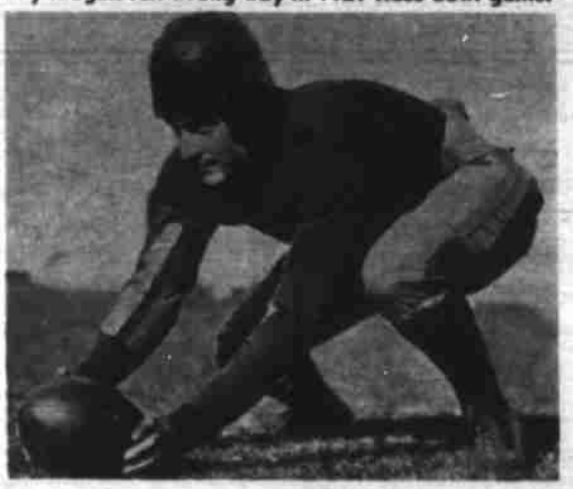
Roy Riegels ran wrong way in 1929 Rose Bowl game.



Stars of the Football Follies

Anything can happen on the gridiron, as a backward glance reveals.

by Arthur F. Lenehan

There's a chance that before this football season is over fame of a dubious nature will catch up with some unfortunate pig-skinner—in a manner he'll never forget.

Sports enthusiasts hang tenaciously to memories of the poor guy who ran the wrong way, kicked the ball in the opposite direction, or zigged when he should have zagged before thousands of onlookers.

For instance: has anyone ever forgotten Roy Riegels? He ran the wrong way with the ball in the 1929 Rose Bowl game between California and Georgia Tech. Riegels, center and captain of the California team, unwittingly entered Football's Hall of Infamy when he grabbed a Tech fumble in Georgia territory, went through a few frantic maneuvers avoiding Tech tacklers, and broke into the clear. It was a beautiful sight, seeing him there at the head of the pack, headed for the goal line 63 yards away.

There was only one flaw in the picture. Riegels was galloping toward his own goal line! A teammate tackled him on his own one-yard line, but his long run paved the way for the safety that won for Georgia Tech, 8 to 7.

If you think Riegels was in a muddled state during that moment, consider the incident in an unforgettable Army-Penn game. Not one man but the whole Penn team came racing out of the huddle and lined up for a field-goal try on first down. The try wasn't any good and the score remained 7 to 7.

During the great World War II series between the El Toro Marines and Fleet City Bluejackets, Dick Haney, El Toro coach, spent one entire halftime intermission warning his boys not to kick the ball anywhere near the Fleet City scatback, Buddy Young.

Determined to make Haney happy, the El Toro crew nearly tore the hinges off the dressing-room door getting back on the field for the second half. So what happened? The kickoff headed straight for Young's eager arms. He ran 99 yards for a touchdown.

Players aren't the only ones who sometimes get confused. There was the referee in a Cornell-Yale game in the '40s. The Cornell backs engaged in a little razzle-dazzle with the ball and the referee ran right into the end zone with the ball carrier, signifying a touchdown as they crossed the goal line. Only trouble was, the guy he was following didn't have the ball. Fortunately, another Cornell back who did have the ball crossed into the end zone about the same time, saving some embarrassment.

Another referee, William (Red) Friesell, wasn't quite so fortunate at a Cornell game. In this one, Cornell was playing Dartmouth in a squeaker. The minutes ticked away until they were down to the last play of the game, Dartmouth leading 3 to 0.

Cornell had just used up its fourth down when the referee gave them an extra crack at the Dartmouth line. On the fifth down, Cornell scored. Later, movies revealed that the ref had erred, and Cornell relinquished its claim to victory.

That's how it goes.

All that's needed is the right man in the right place at the wrong time, and the poor lad finds himself playing a star part in the Football Follies.

Keep Your CHIN Looking Young!

It's quite a trick to keep an eye on your chin, but a wise woman watches this danger area. Since a saggy jaw-line is considered a sign of middle age, try a few simple exercises to help keep that youthful look. Exercising tones up the muscles and breaks down fatty deposits, but you've got to exercise consistently to have an attractive, clearly defined chin.

1 Follow this routine faithfully before bedtime: Roll head in circles, six times to the left and right, and you'll feel the pull of jaw and neck muscles. Turn head each way as far as it goes, pushing out jaw.

2 Use firming cream while slapping, stroking, and kneading the chin area.

3 Throw the head back, then open and close the mouth, tensing muscles.

4 Holding the knuckles as shown, run them from chin to ears ten times.

A Duck Was My Undoing

by Joseph N. Bell

IF ANYONE had ever tried to stop me on the street and give me a baby duck, I would have told him and his downy friend to go jump in the lake. Yet, last Fall at a carnival, I pitched 12 perfectly good nickels at a saucer until I finally made one stick—in the full knowledge that if I was successful I'd be rewarded with a baby duck.

Three small and eager faces greeted my conquest. Their eyes aglow with admiration, they watched as I was handed the duck in a cellophane container.

"It sure took you long enough to get one in," said the oldest eager face.

"Oh boy, a real live pet," said the middle eager face.

"Now get one for me," said the youngest eager face.

I fixed them with a steely eye.

"We keep this monster under one condition," I told them, "and that is that you take care of it. Okay?"

"Sure," said the eager faces, all together.

On this firm basis of understanding, we took our duck home. Three months later it was getting cold outside, the duck's swimming water in a pan in our back yard was frozen over, and I was pretty tired of cleaning up after him. Two of the eager faces had transferred their affection to football and Ding Dong School, respectively. The middle eager face managed to be absent whenever there was any tidying up to be done, which was most of the time.

Obviously the time had come to find a new home for the duck, so a family council was held. It resulted in a tie vote with the youngest eager face cleverly abstaining. I got to her with a chocolate bar, whereupon she broke the tie in favor of disposing of the duck.

"Look," I pointed out logically when it appeared there were going to be tears, "we either have to find a new home for him or have him for Thanksgiving dinner. And besides"—here I pointed an accusing finger at my wife—"you told me you would have nothing to do with this animal and now you vote to keep on boarding him here. You, madam, are a turncoat."

As a result of this impassioned oratory, I was voted a committee of one to find a new home for the duck.

Although I'd never given the matter much thought previously, there's a fairly limited market for live ducks. As soon as the neighbors found out what was afoot, they poisoned their children's minds against ducks and this avenue was closed. A notice on the bulletin board at the office turned up a lot of comedians, but no home for the duck. Even several animal shelters showed little interest.

I was about to head for the local meat market with him when I heard of a farm lady who had an affinity for live ducks. So we mounted our snow tires and headed for the country with the duck and a three-month supply of food. When we arrived at the farm, there were ducks all over the place, which frightened the daylights out of our pet, who clung to our heels and complained bitterly. This, of course, led to more tears, most of them from my wife. I finally brought off the separation by agreeing to bring them all back a week later to visit the duck. We even put a band around his leg to identify him.

We went back on schedule, only to find that the duck would have nothing to do with us. It spent all its time waddling after another duck that was pretty cool to all this attention.

"That duck of yours is a female," said the farm lady, "and what's more, she's the worst manchaser I've ever seen."

We haven't had any pets since then, in spite of several votes which have gone against me in the family council concerning a rabbit, some white mice, and an aardvark which showed up in our back yard one day looking for a handout.

But that same carnival is coming to town again, and I suppose they'll have the nickel-pitching game with them. I'll bet I could do it in two throws this time—easy!

FIX THOSE SMALL FENDER DENTS!

by Richard Day

YOU CAN save money by fixing small fender dents yourself. You may scrape a fender while pushing another car, Junior might run his bicycle into the family bus, or a careless driver parked next to you may bang his door into your car. Most of these minor mishaps result in dents you can fix using tools obtainable at any auto-parts store—a hammer, dolly, body file, and paint. These pictures should give you the know-how to assure success.

Hammer dent out from behind, using a body hammer. Never use the ball peen end for you'll stretch the metal beyond easy repair. Remember to back up dent with a metal dolly. Tap around the edges of dent and carefully work dent out toward center.

When dent is hammered smooth, take a body file and begin filing dent—first in one direction, then in a cross direction—to bring out the high and low spots. Keep filing until the high spots are cut down, but don't file into the low spots.

Using the pointed end of the body hammer, "pick" at low spots from behind the fender. Your first blow may miss the mark, but by watching where it raises the metal you can make the next blows count. Then file and pick until surface is even.

Block-sand a 1½-inch area around the dent with #80 production paper. This will put a feather-edge on paint-to-metal areas. Follow with #280 paper. The entire area should feel smooth to your touch. Remember, any rough spots will show up later.

If area to refinish is small, use a touch-up paint and brush as shown. Otherwise spray a matching lacquer (thinned for spraying) with a vacuum-cleaner spray attachment. Remove or mask chrome. Apply a primer to all bare metal, then sand again and cover with four coats of lacquer.

After a thorough going-over with a rubbing compound, you'll never know the dent was there. The first dent you repair will more than repay the cost of the tools. Large complicated dents or those where the fender metal is badly stretched or torn should be fixed by a competent mechanic.

SPACE HEATERS Go Modern

by Ruth W. Lee, Home-Furnishings Consultant

SPACE HEATERS have changed a lot since the days when the Franklin stove was an important part of the American scene. Today, in addition to providing comfortable heat, they have taken on clean modern lines.

Two types available for homes without central heating—radiant and circulating—are designed to harmonize with contemporary interiors. There are larger models for spacious living rooms or recreation areas, and smaller infrared portables for dining rooms, hallways, bedrooms, and patios.

In perfect harmony with the contemporary interior, this space heater keeps the living room comfortably warm.
