Ed Moeser Retires

After 50 Years Working Mail

By Ruth Coffey

Friday was the last day at work for Edwin J. (Eddie) Moeser, United States Post Office employee here since July 1, 1919.

Moeser is retiring after more than 50 years with the Colorado City Post Office.

He intends, he says, to "take it easy and work in my yard." His favorite hobby is flower-gardening. Occasional fishing is his other hobby.

His 50 years with the Post Office began during the summer just before his senior year in Colorado High School. It began with his reporting to work at 5:30 a.m. and working the early mail, sweeping the office, and delivering "special" delivery letters and packages.

to work from 5:30 in the mornings until school time and from after school until 9 p.m. When winter came he had the added chore of building fires in the old coal-burning stoves for heating the building. The Post Office was at that time located in the first block of Walnut St. in what is now the R. H. Ratliff building.

Born in Colorado City to the late Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Moeser Jan. 7, 1900, Moeser has lived in only two houses in his life, the old family home in South Colorado City and the modern brick bungalow he built on Vine St. in 1936. And he has worked in only two buildings—the old Post Office and the new Post Office constructed in 1934-35.

That does not mean, Moeser could tell you, that he has been doing the same thing every day for 50 years. He has held a variety of positions with the Post Office.

He started as janitor and assistant clerk when the Post Office was rated third class. July 1, 1920, a year later, when he had graduated as salutarian of his CHS class, he became a full time clerk. The Post Office has been promoted, too. It was then second class.

May 1, 1938, he became assistant postmaster, a position he held until August 1, 1956. On that date he transferred to a post in the rural mail delivery department. Since then he has been rural mail carrier for route 2 which included the Spade and the Westbrook areas.

His route, originally 48 miles each day, became a ride of 110 miles, there and back, each delivery morning. He made his last deliveries Friday. As rural carrier he has been reporting to work at 7 a.m. to "work his mail," leaving the Post Office at 8:30 a.m. and getting back between noon and 12:30.

Since that July 1 in 1919, Moeser has worked with six postmasters. They were John W. Person, Ben S. Van Tuyl, R. S. Brennan, Sr., Joe Y. Fraser, Sims Palmer, and the present postmaster Ariene Morris.

Upon the death of Joe Y. Fraser, Moeser was acting postmaster from February until September of 1946 when Palmer was appointed.

Dave Hutchins is serving as membership chairman with J. C. Britton as director-representative of the committee.

Other membership committee members are James G. McMath, Wayne Shaw, Mrs. Edwin Carlock, Oscar Haney, and Bob Ratliff.

Vietnam Veteran To Address Clubs

Captain Jack E. Mooney, of Fort Hood, veteran of a year's combat duty in Vietnam, will speak to the Evening Lions Club in Civic House Monday, July 21.

Tuesday noon, July 22, he will address the Kiwanis Club. Kiwanians are inviting Noon Lions and Jaycees to hear Captain Mooney.

A Chinese AKC rifle, Punji Spikes, an N. V. A. flag, V. C. gas mask, exploded hull of an RPG-2 rocket, N. V. A. propaganda and assorted paraphernalia of a North Vietnamese soldier will be used by the speaker.

Captain Mooney will exhibit articles which he acquired while spending a year with the 2d Bn., 47th Inf. (Mech), 9th Inf. Div. in Vietnam.

Included in the collection are "Ho Chi Minh" sandals, V. C. Hammock, V. C. chopsticks and soup spoon, a cook stove and lamp, V. C. lighter, pipes and knives.

These artifacts from the Vietnam War have not been assembled so that Captain Mooney might someday tell his grandchildren war stories colored by the passing of time, but to enhance his talks on Vietnam.

Mooney is a member of the Army National Speakers Program which provides general audiences with an opportunity to hear the first hand experiences and observations of recent Vietnam returnees.

Holder of the nation's third highest award for valor, the Silver Star Medal, two awards of the Bronze Star Medal with "V" device and two Purple Hearts, Captain Mooney offers a unique opportunity to see what's happening in Vietnam today.

School Tax Rate Hiked

District Board Action Makes It $1.78

School taxes are going up from $1.50 to $1.78 here in this district.

The 28 cent raise was settled Thursday night by unanimous decision of Colorado Independent School Board in a special budget session.

School tax rate is based on 45 per cent of actual evaluation.

Of the 28 cent boost in school taxes, 27 cents will go for maintenance and operation of schools, one cent will go to pay interest and to the sinking fund, school system budget figures show.

School Board members also unanimously approved adoption of the preliminary budget.

New budget calls for the spending of $1,280,870.30—a figure total of $99,278.69 above the 1968-69 budget of $1,181,591.62.

Where will the almost $100,000 increase in the 1969-70 budget go?

A total of $64,297.34 will go to raise salaries for teachers, ordered under a new State Education law passed by the 61st Texas Legislature.

Raise in teachers pay will raise Social Security payments for them by $2,957.88.

Transportation costs will be upped by $11,613.80. Colorado Independent Schools will buy two new school buses to transport pupils from the rural areas in the district to and from school.

That figure is the total revenue estimate from local taxes. Of that amount $115,188.00 will go to pay off debts on school properties, and the biggest part, $608,400.00 will go for actual maintenance and operation of the local schools.

Revenue in addition to local taxes included a revolving fund balance of $11,120. Per Capita Apportionment from the State of Texas is expected to provide $152,814.82.

Replacement of instructional equipment (classroom furniture) is expected to cost $7,158.39.

Capital outlay expenditure of $16,802.71 will go for major equipment and will include addition of new tennis courts. Insurance payments for school properties will cost $2,000.

Where, exactly, will the $1.78 per $100 (based of 45 per cent of evaluation) Colorado Independent School District taxpayers will now pay go?

Budget figures show that $1.50 of the $1.78 will go for actual maintenance and operation of local schools. The 28 cents added will go into the sinking fund to pay off bonded indebtedness of school buildings already built by the school system.

Where is the $1,230,870.30 for the 1969-70 school budget coming from?

Total of $615,780.00 will come from the school district's tax-

Under House Bill 240, passed by Texas Legislature, the Minimum Foundation Program of this state will put up $300,349.48 toward salaries for teachers and operation of schools here.

The Foundation will pay $30,822.00 toward the transportation costs for Colorado Independent School pupils.

Under the new law the State See TAX Page 7

Award Winners

Don DeLaney, center, outgoing president of Colorado City Playhouse Tuesday evening presented two presidential awards to Porter Richardson, left, and George Womack, as outstanding Playhouse members for the year. Presentation was made during the annual Playhouse membership dinner at Country Club.

Fleahopper, Weevil Damage Builds Up

Cotton fleahopper damage has been heavy over the whole county, said Bobby Lemons, Mitchell County Agricultural Agent, Friday afternoon.

The county agent advises farmers that fleahoppers can be controlled by cotton producers with low ratio of insecticides which do not kill all beneficial insects in the fields.

"Cotton growers throughout the county need to check their fields because early-set bolls are the ones that make the profit," Lemons said, "and one application will generally control fleahoppers."

Over-wintering boll weevils have been detected in several Mitchell County fields, the agent reported. Egg-laying is beginning so the build-up is beginning, too, he added.

Light populations of boll worms have been found in fields south of Loraine and also south of Colorado City, Lemons noted.

"Boll worm miller have been detected in feed fields and eggs found in cotton fields. One field had three-day old worms," the agent said as he stressed the urgency of checking fields for infestations.

Bob Reily Heads City Playhouse

Bob Reily was elected new president for the Colorado City Playhouse at the annual membership dinner Tuesday night in Colorado City Country Club.

Reily succeeds Don DeLaney who will serve the next fiscal year as member of the board of directors.

George Womack was named vice president, Mrs. Porter Richardson, secretary, and Mrs. Don DeLaney, treasurer.

Three new members were chosen to serve on the board of directors. They are Mrs. Dwight Tomb, Sonny Pawkett, and Drew Ballard. Joe Earnest is permanent board member and is legal advisor to the Playhouse.

Special citations were voiced to Don Richard, Tandy Curlee, and Cathy Curlee for their star performances in the Playhouse recent musical production, "Paint Your Wagon."

Twin presidential plaques were presented by outgoing president, DeLaney, to Porter Richardson and George Womack as outstanding Playhouse members for the year. It was Richardson's second presidential plaque.

Special plaques were presented to Bob Newman and to Womack as directors of "Paint Your Wagon."

Colorado City Playhouse is in the process of remodeling and re-designing the old original Colorado City opera house as a permanent Playhouse.

ASCS Asks Reports

Diverted Acres By August 1st

August 1st is the last day that acreages of cotton, feed grain and diverted acres can be certified in Mitchell County, Eddie R. Braswell, County Office Manager, Mitchell County ASCS, has announced.

Mitchell County farmers must report their acreages planted and diverted by August 1, 1969, if they want payments for cotton and/or feed grain under the 1969 programs, Braswell said.

Certification has been slow this year due to weather conditions and office traffic will be heavy through August 1st, he added.

After farmers report their acreages to the Mitchell County ASCS Office, acreages will be spot-checked on 15 percent of farms certified in the county. "There will be no opportunity to adjust if the farm is not within the acreage limitation," said Braswell.

First checks for the cotton and feed grain programs are scheduled to be mailed on August 19th.

"Cotton farms which are not timely certified are not only ineligible for program payments but will be reported to cotton buyers as excess farms and all cotton produced will be subject to Marketing Quota Penalties," the ASCS office manager announced.

Farmers who have had their acreages premeasured or had an early measurement are still required to certify at the ASCS Office not later than Friday, August 1, in order to be eligible for payments, he explained.

CONVERSATION CORNER

TEARS don't do much for a woman's face. They do sometimes improve the disposition. . . even help lift the heavy heart.

Babies are born into this world crying so it must be a perfectly natural thing to do on important occasions.

It is the tears shed over unimportant things. . . the sobbing and the sighing over minor frustrations. . . the crying over spilled milk. . . the wasted weeping. . . that doubles the average young woman's Kleenex bill.

And that's a fact.

MANY men spend their lives guessing, or trying to figure out, what the tears are about this time.

That's because a little woman cries when she is sad and cries some more when she is glad.

The three main occasions, of course, are death of a loved one or friend, birth of a child, and weddings. Those tears are proper and fitting, whether male creatures appreciate it or not.

It is the tears shed over the years for such little, little things that a woman who has lived a while wishes she had held back.

IF IT COULD be done all over, said this woman would not cry when the special cake fell in the middle.

Nor would she weep over one lost little new shoe. . . a velvet hat ruined by a stadium rain. . . a broken piece of china. . . a scorched spot on a good garment. . . or any burned pot of beans in this world.

This woman would not howl in anguish over a forgotten wedding anniversary. She'd just dash out and buy herself two new dresses to teach that a man a lesson.

IF IT WERE so that this woman could will and bequeath to all young wives and mothers everywhere one thing of value, it would be the art of conserving tears squandered on the trivial tricks of life.

What you don't know when you are very young is that things have a way of turning out pretty well, anyhow, and usually far better than the worst fears that haunt you.

A woman has a right to cry. A man is supposed to grin and bear it. Or grit his teeth and stand it.

But most of the things women worry and weep about don't ever happen.

It's usually something you never thought to worry about that happens in the long run.

IN THE LONG RUN, a woman will find herself wondering what the tearful small tragedies were all about.

Even mean little kids grow up to make parents proud. Boys finally reach the point when they remember to brush their teeth and do not rebel at a bath.

Girls whose rooms look like one hour after the tornado grow up to be excellent housekeepers, good cooks, and loving mothers.

"Things," possessions or lack of possessions, become less and less important.

And the day will come, I promise, when you will wonder why you cried. . . and cried. . . and cried.

SEEN LATELYS included Glenna Rogers (Mrs. Corley) of Bryan or College Station, lunching with Naomi (Mrs. Everett) Stagner. Glenna was looking glorious and is enchanted with her position—psychological testing of young children and helping to set up special education classes in a 15-country area.

Saw Frank Brownfield, ag teacher, headed for Ft. Worth with his FFA boys. . . Edith Wilkerson of Loraine, here for the linguistics workshop. . . Mrs. J. D. Norman of Loraine on the downtown shopping scene.

HEAR TELL that our Susan (Rhode) Bennett and her husband John B. Bennett spent a week here with her parents Dr. Bill and Naomi Rhode.

John has finished work toward his PhD at Yale and is to teach philosophy and religion at Northland College in Ashland, Wisconsin. That's in the beautiful lakes area.

Susan has received her teaching certificate and hopes to teach in high school at Ashland.

The couple has just returned to New Haven, Connecticut, after a visit with his parents in Julian, California, and the visit here.

DID YOU KNOW that Lloyd McKee, assistant superintendent of public schools, and wife, daughter Cynthia, and son Lloyd Wayne, left Friday for Hot Springs, Arkansas?

Lloyd is combining his vacation with some more "learning." He will be attending a teacher-training workshop to feature reading, then counseling and guidance.

The two week workshop is directed jointly by University of Arkansas and University of Texas. (And Lloyd's an Ex-Texas Aggie!)

FAMILIAR FACES belonged to Jackie Hickman. . . Bessie House and Mrs. Lester Webb at the Colorado lunch counter together. . . Pete Warren was over this way from Big Spring.

Porter Richardson, asked about daughter Gloria, reported her to be "fine" and to be coming home soon. Gloria has been in Galveston for a medical check-up.

Mary Lou Wilkerson flew home from Hawaii Wednesday night, her mother Lenora (Mrs. J. C.) Wilkerson was saying.

LUCILLE TRUELOCK (Mrs. Oren) was all happy over the fact that her son Major C. A. Wilkins is enroute home from Air Force service in Hawaii.

He, his wife Marian, daughter Cecilia, and son Walter are returning by luxury liner Lurline and will fly to Midland Tuesday. They are to be stationed now at Bergstrom AFB, Austin.

Major C. A. is a veteran of a year's flying duty in Vietnam.

DID YOU KNOW that Bob and Charlene Rely and younger son Bill are having a week's vacation in the state of Colorado?

First son Pat, 16, is up there working at the Chateau Chaparral tourist trailer camp, Nathrop, Colorado. Charlene's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Ross of Abilene, are spending the summer at Nathrop, too.

OFF THE CUFF—Jeaneatte Brooks, Colorado High School teacher, is to attend a teacher workshop in Albuquerque, New Mexico, at University of New Mexico.

Lela (Mrs. Oscar) Price and Alice and Roy Coles had the children of Bob and Rebecca Coles Price as recent guests. David, Doug, and Mary Alice stayed here while their parents were in San Francisco. Bob, vice president of University of Texas at Arlington, was on a business trip.

"SOUVENIR" GEMS

Many of you who are planning foreign travel this year may be tempted by certain jewels said to be native to one country or another. Most common are the "Alexandrites" sold in Mexico and the Orient. These stones, which show a color change under different types of light when genuine, are extremely rare and therefore very expensive. The stones most often sold to tourists are synthetic corundum or spinel. While they do exhibit a slight color change, usually in a violet-blue hue, they are very different than the highly valued genuine Alexandrites which appear olive green by day and brilliant raspberry red under artificial light.

As a curiosity, these synthetic "Alexandrites" may be fun to bring home, but remember, they should cost no more than a few dollars—never the often large amounts asked for them by foreign sellers. Star sapphires and rubies are another gem that is equally as scarce and expensive in the Orient as it is in this country.

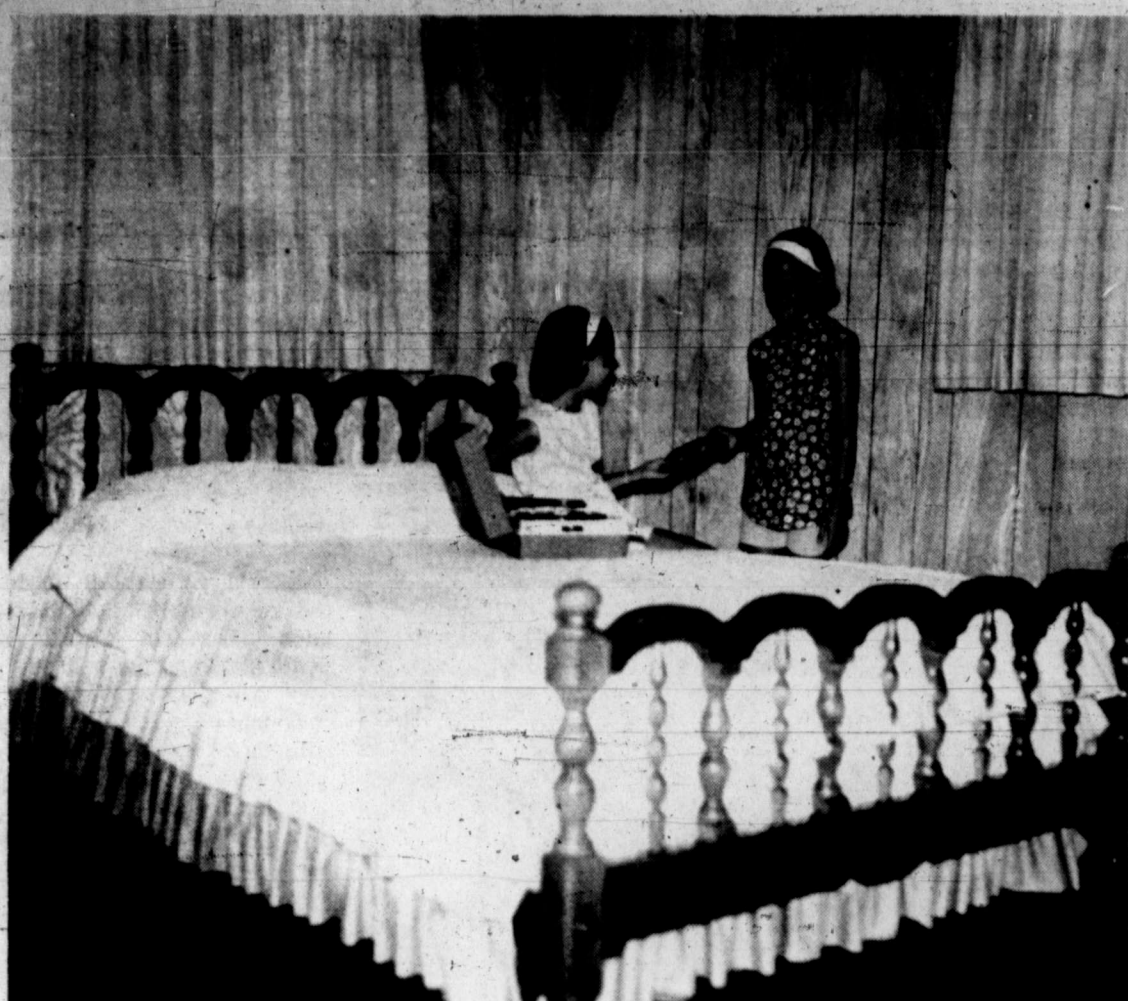

When paying a substantial sum for fine jewelry, it is much wiser to shop where you have the security of knowing your jeweler and can obtain accurate information and appraisal on the items you buy. Today, since the amount of duty-free merchandise that can be brought into the U. S. is only $100 per person, there is really no saving in buying abroad—and much to lose. Other examples of native handicrafts are often more satisfying souvenirs than gems, and safer buys.

McCollum Home Features Paneling

By LENA BAUMANN,
Record Women's Editor.

Ash paneling throughout the Loraine Community home of Mr. and Mrs. Weldon McCollum distinguishes it from the ordinary residence.

The ease of cleaning it (and no repainting ever) is a definite advantage, Jo McCollum said, and was a decisive factor in their choice of wall finish.

The three bedroom, two bath home has an exterior of variegated tan brick which takes on a pink tint with the sun.

It is carpeted with tweed covering in subtle shades of avocado green, orange, gold and brown. All furnishings have Early American styling. Ceiling cable heating and central air-conditioning make for comfortable living.

combination living, dining room and kitchen. Large living room windows are covered with gold draperies, backed with green, making an iridescent color. Accent colors are autumn shades of orange, gold, yellow and brown.

False ceiling beams are finished with paneling.

Dining area windows overlooking the front yard have avocado green linen draperies complimented by a matching valance.

Avocado green appliances make an attractive contrast for ash cabinets with their antique brass handles. Maple chairs are used at the table high bar. Counter tops are covered with white formica highlighted by gold metallic flecks. Flooring is white mosaic tile designed inlaid linoleum with gold metallic accents.

Special ordered by Mrs. McCollum for the divider bar was a telephone drawer which "has proved to be most handy for keeping clutter off the bar".

A square hall gives easy access to all bedrooms, one bath and living area.

Master bedroom is complimented by royal blue iridescent bedspread and blue draperies. Large closets have folding doors. Off the bedroom is a bath featuring a built-in dressing table, shower and blue fixtures. Blue ceramic tile is companionable to royal blue drapes, pale blue and white flooring.

The McCollums' nine-year-old daughter, Melinda (Lindy), chose variegated shades of pink for her bedroom. Her bedspread of tiered ruffles is paired with deep pink draperies.

Each girls' room is accented by a large single paper rose (matching their color scheme) which Susan made in Vacation Bible School last summer.

The girls' bath is finished with pink tile and fixtures contrasting white provincial dressing table and storage cabinets. Pink and red accessories compliment the room.

A utility room is located between the kitchen and double garage. Here Mrs. McCollum has what most homemakers wish for—a sewing closet which can be closed off, leaving the clutter of sewing behind doors.

A corner lavatory is handy to the washer and to the back door. The garage opens into a storage room.

Wide white overhanging roof and white trim is used to finish exterior of the total-electric home. Front yard is curbed by an 18-inch tall concrete slab and lighted at night by a yard lamp of Early American design.

The house, two miles west of Loraine, is built at the same location as the McCollum's old house and is already surrounded by various landscaping features. This year the family has made the addition of more peach trees, some pecan trees and non-bearing mulberry.

McCollum is employed at Big Spring's Col-Tex plant and also farms near Loraine. Mrs. McCollum, the former Joan Hays of Westbrook, is an employee of Agriculture Stabilization Conservation in Colorado City.

The family this month will celebrate their first anniversary in their new home.

Three In One

From Page 1
Colorado City family, born, reared, and schooled here, Moeser likes to recall that he attended school his first three years in a little frame building for the first three grades in South Colorado City. Miss Ella
Dry was his first teacher.

He was graduated when high school classes were taught in the old building, corner of 4th and Cedar Sts., with the circular auditorium upstairs, and the tall slide as a fire escape. That building, later used for lower grades, was torn down to make more room for Hutchinson Elementary School.

Moeser went to work when Colorado City had six passenger trains, three in the day and three at night. Now all mail is being picked up and brought in by mail trucks. Night work for postal clerks is a thing of the past, too.

A bachelor, Moeser shares his home with his sister, Miss Violet Moeser. Another sister, Mrs. Jack (Annie) Davis lives here at 1844 Locust St. His youngest sister, Miss Ima Dot
Moeser, lives in Corpus Christi. His older brother,
Bill Moeser, is making his home with a daughter in Honolulu,
and his younger brother,
Charles Moeser, lives in Lubbock.

Here After Years In Japan

Major and Mrs. J. L. Howell and their daughters Kay, left, and Kim, are visiting his hometown after three years in Japan. Major Howell has been reassigned to duty in Clovis, N. M. The girls studied Japanese culture, oil painting, and music at the American school and Mrs. Howell studied flower arranging and miniature trees while Major Howell served Tachikawa AFB.

Major Howell Home Family Returns From Japan

Major J. L. Howell and his family have returned to the United States after three years in Japan where the Air Force Officer of 17 years service was stationed at Tachikawa Air Base.

Son of Roy Howell, route 2, Major Howell is remembered here as "Jimmie" Howell and is a graduate of Colorado High School with the class of 1946.

He received his degree in petroleum geology from Texas Tech University in 1952 and was commissioned by the Air Force in August 1952.

After training at Biggs AFB in El Paso and Ellsworth AFB in South Dakota, he was assigned to duty in North Africa at Morocco where he, his wife, and their elder daughter spent two years.

After reassignment at McDill AFB, Tampa, Florida, he and the family, this time with two daughters, moved to England where the major was on duty for 3 and a half years.

Later, at McCoy AFB, Florida, he received further training and education in petroleum fuels testing program data, then was assigned to Japan, in June 1966.

While in Japan he had temporary duty all over South East Asia—Korea, Okinawa, Taiwan, the Philippines, Thailand, one swing through Vietnam. He also saw duty, during his stay in Japan, in Hawaii, Wake, and Guam.

He has been, the past 17 years, attached to three different commands, SAC, PACAF, and TAC.

Major Howell's wife, the former Miss Jean Barnard of Amarillo whose parents now live on a ranch at Atoka, Okla., kept busy in Japan studying flower arranging (ikebana) and the art of growing Bonsai (miniature) trees.

She was also an active adult leader in Girl Scout work at Tachikawa Base for daughters of American servicemen, in Sunday School, and in the Wives Club.

Daughter Kay, who is 14, completed her senior Girl Scout first class work in Japan, went to the American school, and studied oil painting.

Kim, the younger daughter who is now 11, studied painting, ballet, went to school, and took guitar lessons from a Japanese teacher.

Misty, the family Pekingese and pet for six years, returned to the States with "her family."

Next stop for the much-traveled family is Clovis, N. M. where Major Howell has been assigned to duty at Cannon AFB.

They are openly happy over being back in the West.

"After crowded Tokyo, New Mexico sounds pretty wonderful," said Major Howell who grew up in Colorado City.
