Yanks Batter Toward Naha

Jap Secondary Line On Okinawa is Pierced; Mindanao Gains Reported

By CLYDE BARTEL
Associated Press War Editor

AMERICAN 24th Army corps infantrymen with battleship and cruiser gunfire support have secured high ground positions in the Japanese secondary pillbox line defending the city of Naha on southern Okinawa.

Fleet Adm. Chester W. Nimitz said today (Friday) the Yanks moved forward to take heights east of the village of Urasoe Mura while the naval guns destroyed a number of Japanese artillery emplacements.

Mindanao Advances

In the Philippines, 24th division doughboys punched closer to the Japanese stronghold at Davao city with a 12-mile advance Wednesday across southern Mindanao island, Gen. Douglas MacArthur reported.

The Americans were less than 20 miles from Davao gulf and encountering only light resistance. When the Yanks reach the coast they'll be less than 25 miles below Davao city on a shore road leading to the big hemp production center, where stiff opposition is expected.

Premier Kantaro Suzuki in Tokyo urged the Nipponese fighters on Okinawa, only 325 miles south of Japan's homeland, to use suicidal "human bullet" tactics against the hammering Yanks of the Seventh, 27th and 96th divisions.

Capture First Line

But the Americans have taken the enemy's first line of defense in the fighting above Naha, capital of the island, and are slugging into the second line.

Nimitz said that Navy carrier planes and search aircraft hit Japanese shipping and installations in the Sakishima group, south of Okinawa; off the east coast of Kyushu, southernmost home island of Japan, and at Yap and Wake islands.

Thirty-third division troops maintained pressure on the stubborn Japanese defenders of Baquio, Philippine summer capital in the mountains of northern Luzon, MacArthur's communique said, while American bombers blasted the enemy with 400 tons of explosives.

Formosa Bases Pounded

Allied planes hit Japanese airfields and installations at Formosa and the Pescadores islands, and southern along the Asia coast from Hong Kong to French Indo-China. Twelve enemy freighters and small craft were wrecked.

Other aircraft struck at Borneo, destroying Japanese-held oil facilities at Miri.

B-29S OUT AGAIN

GUAM, Friday, April 27 (AP) — Bombs from 100 to 150 Superfortresses fell on Kyushu airfields in daylight today. It was the second B-29 raid in 24 hours on that southernmost main island of Japan.

The big bombers, attacking at medium altitude under good weather conditions, pounded six airfields on southern Kyushu which have been staging bases for raids against American positions and shipping at Okinawa, 325 miles to the south.

Results of the attack were not yet available.

The assault followed one yesterday on Kyushu and the neighboring island of Shikoku by 300 to 250 B-29s, the results of which were not observed because of some of the poorest weather yet encountered over the empire.

Board Re-Elects; Teachers Resign

Members of the board of trustees of Lubbock Independent School district re-elected their present slate of officers; accepted resignations of two veterans of the faculty; set up the annual summer session and elected nine new teachers for the 1945-46 term in the board's regular monthly business meeting last night.

Re-elected to serve a 31st term as chairman of the board was Dr. J. T. Hutchinson, beginning his 33rd year as a trustee. Succeeding themselves as vice-chairman and secretary, respectively, were Walter G. Alderson and R. F. Bayless. Alderson, on his 12th year as a trustee, was named vice-chairman for a third term and Bayless, a trustee for 18 years, was voted a 14th term as secretary.

With resolutions of regret, the board accepted resignations of Mrs. J. T. Trigg, as principal of Sanders Ward school, and of Mrs. Isabell Garrison, as social science teacher of Junior High. Mrs. Trigg has been a school teacher for 35 years, 27 of the last 29 in the Lubbock system. Mrs. Garrison, who began teaching in Amarillo in 1900 was out of the profession for a time following 1905, but has been a member of the Lubbock system consecutively since 1926.

Paducah Principal Named

Elected to succeed Mrs. Trigg, who has been Sanders principal since that school opened in 1926, was Cecil E. Buck, completing his third year as a principal in Paducah, Tex. Buck, married and father of two children, formerly was a principal at Hale Center and taught in Panhandle-Plains rural schools. He was educated at West Texas State Teachers college, Canyon, and at Texas A&I at Kingsville.

Other new teachers named and assigned for next year were:

Miss Betty Ewing, now a student at SMU, Dallas, who will teach girls physical education at Senior High; Mrs. Novelle Newsom, who has taught two years in a church college, also assigned to Junior High; Misses Delila and Josie Baird, sisters, the former high school principal and the latter ward school principal at Rotan, the former to Junior High and the latter to Sanders; Mrs. Lozelle Turnbough, who will go to Junior High from her present teaching post in Slaton; Miss Majorie Oliver, who will come from a similar post at Tulia High to teach home-making in Junior High; Mrs. Aubrey Phillips, for 15 years a member of the Big Spring faculty and Mrs. Pearl Talley, both to Gaudalupe. Mrs. Talley currently is teaching offi-

New Shoe Stamp Set For August

WASHINGTON, April 26. (AP)—The OPA announced tonight that a new shoe ration stamp will be validated August 1.

The agency said several weeks ago that shoe supplies were not adequate to permit validation of another stamp May 1, as planned originally. At that time OPA said there would be another stamp some time this summer.

Airplane stamps, 1, 2 and 3 in book 3, all valid now, will continue to be good indefinitely along with the new coupons, OPA said.

Number Not Announced

The number of the new stamp will be announced later.

"Validation of another stamp is being announced well in advance so that consumers may budget their remaining stamps to fit their own and their families' needs now and in the future," OPA said.

The new stamp will come into use nine months after the last stamp was validated last November 1. This eliminates the two-pairs of shoes a year policy that had been in effect since November 1, 1943.

The longer interval is necessary, OPA explained, because of "extremely heavy military demand for shoes and severe inroads on retail inventories of rationed shoes."

Inventory Drops

The agency added that this inventory had fallen from 200,800,000 pairs on January 1, 1944, to 151,000,000 pairs on January 1 this year.

The War Production board estimates production of rationed-type civilian shoes this year at about 237,000,000 pairs, compared with 268,000,000 pairs in 1944.

OPA said the principal emphasis this year will be on production of shoes for children under 14.

Mussolini Reported Caught By Partisans

(By The Associated Press)

The Swiss Telegraph agency, in a dispatch reported to the OWI, said today that Benito Mussolini had been captured by Italian partisans in the town of Pallanza, on the west shore of Lake Maggiore.

The agency said it received its information from "reliable sources."

Earlier, dispatches from Switzerland said Mussolini had arrived at Como, on the Italian-Swiss border some distance east of Lake Maggiore and was trying to enter Switzerland.

Captured Nazi General Sees War's End In Next Few Days

By KENNETH L. DIXON
Associated Press Staff Writer

U. S. NINTH ARMY FRONT, April 25. (Delayed)—One of Germany's best known generals surrendered to medical infantryman on the Elbe today and said he expected the war to end in a few days.

Internationally known as one of the best informed members of the German general staff, the officer said he believed Hitler would die in Berlin and that Reichsmarshal Hermann Goering possibly already had been executed.

(The general was not named in this censored dispatch).

Further, the captive said:

The war's turning point came last June in Normandy, when the Germans failed to beat back the channel invasion.

Politically, economically and physically the Reich has been doomed since July 20, 1944, the day the bomb plot to assassinate Hitler failed. Had the wehrmacht seized control, he said, surrender would have been engineered somehow in time to avert complete destruction.

The German national redoubt, where an extended holdout has been predicted, is mostly a myth and is already incapable of a long defense.

After crossing the Elbe in a rowboat under a white flag the general asserted German casualties had been too great to make continued resistance possible.

He said the only thing holding remnants of the German Army together was the presence of the Gestapo, storm troopers and SS troops who, he predicted, would scatter quickly upon the fall of Berlin or the death of Hitler.

Although disclaiming knowledge of the whereabouts of Heinrich Himmler, he said Hitler still remained in Berlin, from where he had just come, and that the fuehrer would stay there until he was either killed or committed suicide—mostly because there was hardly any other place he dared go.

Molotov Blocks Choice Of Stettinius As Permanent Conference Chairman

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL
Associated Press Staff Writer

SAN FRANCISCO, April 26.—Russian Commissar Molotov catapulated the world security conference into a tight deadlock today by blocking the election of Secretary of State Stettinius to its chairmanship.

The stolid Russian also rejected a British compromise.

What was to have been routine, initial business meeting of chiefs of delegations broke off abruptly, its tasks far from complete, its participants stunned and amazed at prospects of another Big Three row.

After setting off his explosion, Molotov proceeded calmly into a new conference to give public assurances of an eventual solution to a controversy already flaming among Russia, Britain and the United States—over a knotty Polish problem.

Contrary To Custom

And from here, he moved on to the conference's first plenary session to pledge full cooperation, Russia's "inflexible" support, in erecting a new and powerful peace-keeping organization.

According to customary procedure at international gatherings, this was the session which would have ratified the steering committee's selection of the leader of the host nation's delegation as permanent chairman or president.

That was what Britain's Anthony Eden had proposed at this morning's steering committee meeting. And that was what Molotov blocked, along with a British compromise of four rotating chairmen.

Veiled Soviet Threat

At one point Russia's foreign commissar even delivered a more or less veiled threat to withdraw his country as one of four sponsoring powers. He did not threaten to take Russia completely out of the San Francisco picture but declared that unless his plan was followed the Soviets would sit among the lesser powers in protest.

What drew his greatest ire was the fact that as proposed and voted, the rotating chairmanship would apply only to the plenary sessions with Stettinius still sitting as permanent chairman of the steering committee.

Delegates had no ready reason for Molotov's action. They thought perhaps Russia regarded the chairmanship question of such importance that the foreign commissar was sparring for time in which to consult Moscow.

In the light of what happened at the steering committee meeting, many in the assemblage at the late afternoon plenary session waited impatiently for translations of Molotov's address. He didn't mention the morning activities.

Bespectacled, balding, dressed in blue, Molotov asserted:

"I should like to assure the conference our country is devoted to the cause of setting up an organization to protect the peace. I wish you to know that the Soviet Union can be relied upon to protect the peace. Our peaceful people, the Red Army and our great Marshal Stalin are inflexibly supporting this great cause."

From the same blue-carpeted rostrum of San Francisco's Opera house, Stettinius, T. V. Soong of China and Eden also spoke. If they were disturbed by the morning's events, they didn't betray it at this dramatic moment.

Stettinius' Appeal

One essential condition of success at the conference, Stettinius declared, "is the voluntary cooperation of all peaceful nations, large and small acting with full respect for the equal sovereignty of each, to promote justice among nations, to foster respect for basic human rights and to solve those common problems upon which the security

Reporter Gives Inside Story On Molotov's Blocking Of Stettinius

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Ewaldo M. Castro broke the inside story of how Russian Foreign Minister Molotov prevented the selection of Secretary of State Stettinius as permanent chairman of the United Nations conference. Castro has been a member of the Associated Press staff in Rio De Janeiro for 16 years and was specially assigned to San Francisco for the conference as a member of AP's world service staff there).

By EWALDO CASTRO

SAN FRANCISCO, April 26 — Here is the inside story of how Soviet Commissar Molotov stunned the United Nations conference today by blocking the election of Secretary of State Stettinius as permanent chairman.

I obtained the account from one who was there.

Chairmen of delegations of 46 United Nations assembled in the conference hall of the Veterans building. They comprised a steering committee. Their job was to set up an organization for operating this conference intended to build a world organization to keep peace.

Choice Customary

As temporary chairman, Stettinius called the meeting to order. As chief delegate of the nation—the United States—which is host to the conference, it was the custom of long diplomatic practice that Stettinius immediately be acclaimed permanent chairman.

Britain's Anthony Eden, an old hand at international conferences, offered what he thought was a routine motion. He proposed that as their first official act, the delegates name Stettinius to preside over this conference in America's San Francisco.

Then Molotov spoke up. Less than two weeks ago he was not even a conference delegate. Marshal Stalin sent him at President Truman's request.

Wants Four Chairmen

An interpreter said Molotov was voicing an objection to the election of Stettinius. Instead, the foreign commissar proposed, there

Major Finds Safety Better Than Comfort

IWO JIMA, April 26 (AP) — According to men who saw it happen on Saipan, a major who believed in utmost comfort lugged an air mattress into his foxhole for his first Japanese air raid.

A bomb landed a few feet away. The mattress, simulating a springboard, shot the major out of the foxhole, and fragmentation from a second bomb nicked him before he could regain the safety of his dugout.

The major's injuries weren't serious, but he couldn't sit in comfort for weeks.

He gave the mattress to the first private he saw.

Showdown In Austria Near

Allies Closing In Rapidly; Reports Of American-Soviet Tie-Up Persist

By ROBERT EUNSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

PARIS, Friday, April 27—Heavily-gunned U. S. Third Army tank columns battled eight miles from Austria yesterday in a bid for a swift showdown with last-stand enemy troops massing at the border, and in the north the British captured Germany's second greatest port of Bremen.

As these blows fell on the north and south segments of dismembered Germany, Allied capitals of Europe buzzed with rumors started by a Swiss radio report that the Americans and Russians had met in the Elbe river area on "a front of many miles."

Blackout Still Holds

Censorship covered American positions at the reported junction area, but a front dispatch from the U. S. First Army told of a patrol moving at will through German lines between the Maulde and Elbe rivers.

Bremen fell after a whirlwind assault of two days, and only snipers remained in the rubble to challenge the victorious British moving through the dock area of what once was a city of 350,000 people.

While the world awaited confirmation that the Americans and Russians had met somewhere near Berlin, Gen. Patton's U. S. Third Army in ground-eating strides was 95 miles from a junction with the Red Army in Austria that would convert Czechoslovakia into a giant German trap.

Three-Point Crossing

In close echelon with the U. S. Seventh and French First armies, Patton's forces broke across the Danube at three points—leaving that river line shredded along a 180-mile front and Munich imperiled by three separate American columns each about 40 miles from the city.

Some 20 divisions in these three armies were pressing steadily southward, bent on engulfing the Nazi alpine redoubt before the SS troops could get set for a stand.

A decisive battle appeared to be shaping up on Patton's front nearest Austria, where Germans were massing in the mountain passes 70 miles from Hitler's Berchtesgaden to meet the shock of the south-bound tanks and infantry.

The French drove up to the Swiss frontier all the way from Basel, at the Swiss-French-German border junction, eastward to Lake Constance and the Swiss said these forces also had captured the city of Constance, where many Nazi bigwigs and their families first took refuge.

The French sweep along the Swiss border completed the envelopment of the Black Forest, where trapped Germans were surrendering by the thousands.

The U. S. Seventh Army, seizing 11,335 prisoners, was rampaging through the mountains more than 30 miles south of the Danube.

Its bridgehead at Dillingen now was 21 miles wide and the 10th Armored division smashing straight south was only a mile from Memmingen, 31 miles south of the Danube and 35 miles from the Austria border.

Farther east, the 12th Armored division turned up unexpectedly at Munsterhausen, 19 miles southwest of Augsburg, a city which was being quickly outflanked by numerous columns some 10 miles or less away.

Confirmation of any linkup between the Americans and Russians along the inactive U. S. Ninth and First Army fronts went lacking at supreme headquarters, which previously announced that the official statement would come simultaneously from Washington, London and Moscow.

There was a news blackout on positions of the American and Russian lines in the narrow corridor between the Mulde and the Elbe river, and up to late tonight no dispatches detailing American positions had been received from

Reds Advance In Berlin, Seize Stettin And Drive Near Junction With U. S. Ninth

By ROMNEY WHEELER
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Friday, April 27 — Soviet armies conquered almost two-thirds of Berlin's pulverized and burning ruins yesterday, seized the great German Baltic naval base of Stettin and extended their bridgehead across the Elbe river 17 miles from the American First Army.

As the Russians began to forge an inner ring of encirclement within the smoke-blanketed and encircled German capital, infantry and cavalry of a fourth great Russian Army toppled the huge armament city of Bruenn (Brno), second largest city of Czechoslovakia and one of Hitler's last remaining war production centers.

Breslau Fighting Bitter

Berlin's deadly street battles paled bitter fighting in another German fortress city. Far behind the lines, Soviet troops battled into the western streets of the long-besieged lower Silesian capital of Breslau, occupying 26 blocks and several factory districts.

As the world waited for a three-power announcement that Red Army and American forces had linked up, Moscow and Berlin reports indicated that two historic meetings were imminent.

West of Berlin, by German account, Marshal Gregory K. Zukov's First White Russian Army yesterday raced 22 miles westward, by-passing the city of Brandenburg, to reach a point only 14 1-2 miles from the American Ninth Army on the middle Elbe.

The enemy high command said Zhukov's troops had reached the Rathenow area near Ninth Army lines on the Elbe and Ninth Army front reports said Soviet shells were falling a few miles from Yank lines.

Southwest of Berlin

Southwest of Berlin another junction neared—if, in fact, it had not already occurred. Here, Marshal Ivan S. Konev's First Ukrainian Army extended bridgeheads on the Elbe's west bank and seized Strehla and Riesa only 17 miles from the American First Army on the Mulde river. But First Army dispatches said American patrols had struck deep into

Yanks Seal Off Brenner Pass

ROME, April 26. (AP)—The U. S. Fifth Army captured the railway center of Verona in a lightning 20-mile stab today, virtually sealing off the Brenner pass escape route of German troops in Italy, and Swiss reports said patriots were seizing control of all major cities in northern Italy including Milan, Turin and Genoa.

Nazi armies south of the Alps appeared entirely disorganized and prisoners were being rounded up by the thousands. A captured German corps commander, Gen. von Schwerin, who was taken by the British Eighth Army, said "I know the situation for German soldiers in north Italy is hopeless."

The total of prisoners bagged by the two Allied armies since they opened their all-out offensive soared well past 60,000. The Eighth Army alone seized 20 enemy tanks and 40 guns and destroyed nearly 1,000 vehicles as it swept up to the Adige river in the last 24 hours.

(A partisan-controlled radio in Milan reported tonight that the Italian liberation committee had taken over the administration of the whole of northern Italy, said a British broadcast recorded by CBS).

Garrard Declines Court Appointment

Tom Garrard, Tahoka attorney, has declined to accept appointment to be associate justice of the Seventh Court of Civil Appeals at Amarillo, he told The Morning Avalanche by telephone Thursday night.

The former Lubbock lawyer said he turned down the position because of his and his wife's health.

The United Press reported that Gov. Coke R. Stevenson had announced appointment of Major William Q. Boyce of Amarillo to the bench.

Another Stevenson nominee who has declined is Henry T. Fletcher, Marfa ranchman, who had been named for the board of regents for state teachers college. The United Press said that William L. Kerr of Midland had been picked to replace Fletcher.

Thousands Freed As Patrols Overrun 11 Camps, Hospitals

By HAL BOYLE
Associated Press Staff Writer

WITH THE 69TH INFANTRY DIVISION, Beyond The Mulde River, April 26.—A jeep patrol running at will through disorganized German lines overran 11 Allied prisoner of war camps and hospitals today and reported that in two camps alone were more than 50,000 freed prisoners, including 8,600 Americans.

The U. S. First Army patrol, disarming whole columns of Germans marching toward the American lines, pressed on to a town where they found the bodies of two Russian Cossacks who had been killed in a small-scale patrol action only a few hours before.

The liberated Allied prisoners of war were so numerous that the small patrol told them to stay where they were while plans were made to bring them out.

"I can't even estimate how many were in other camps," said Maj. Fred Craig, Friendship, Tenn., on his return from a patrol beyond the Mulde toward the Russian lines along the Elbe.

"But everywhere we went prisoners went wild with joy to see us."

Because of a news blackout on the positions of American and Russian lines converging in the narrow corridor between the Mulde and Elbe rivers, it was impossible to give the exact location of the camps.

"In one camp," said Craig, "we found 20,112 prisoners, and among them were 267 Americans. This

General Says U. S. To Adhere To Geneva Convention On Prisoners

WASHINGTON, April 26. (AP)—Although there have been "plenty of instances" of German violations, the War department asserted today its intention to adher to the Geneva convention for the treatment of prisoners of war.

The department, Brig. Gen. R. W. Berry told the House Military committee as it opened its study of the war prisoner situation, has no other choice.

"The Army's treatment of German prisoners of war is not a question of Army policy but a question o flaw," General Berry said when committee members asked if there was any intention to tighten up on treatment of German prisoners in this country because of Axis abuses of American prisoners.

Policy To Be "Firm"

In its treatment of an estimated 2,000,000 German prisoners, the general declared, the Army is "firm" because "those Germans, for the most part, react to firm treatment."

The policy toward recalcitrant prisoners, he added, is "no work, no eat," and after a few days of bread and water diet, the average prisoner will follow orders.

General Berry asserted emphatically that there is no general "coddling" of prisoners, although he acknowledged under questioning that ther were isolated cases of too lenient treatment and too many privileges.

General Berry and other witnesses explained the Geneva convention's requirement that prisoners be fed and housed on "the basis of a standard of quality and quantity equivalent to that furnished U. S. troops at base camps," with substitute menus permitted under some conditions.

Might Affect U. S. Citizens

Should the United States deviate from the Geneva convention, General Berry cautioned, it might face difficulty in sending relief supplies to its prisoners in Germany, since these supplies are handled through convention procedure.

He estimated that 70,000 United States soldiers still are held prisoner in Germany and that 15,000 others have been released by our armies. How many have been killed or died, he said, is not known because of the recent "collapse" of the German Army's administrative set-upand the resultant lack of records.

Recommendation On Debts Before House

AUSTIN, April 26 (AP) — The Texas House of Representatives today had before it, with unanimous committee approval, a resolution urging the president and Congress make "ample provisions" in any peace treaty for "full and complete payment of every dollar of our war debt by our enemies."

The resolution, by Rep. E. F. Harrell of Paris, declared in part:

"In the past, this country has extended leniency and kindness to its defeated enemies of war, in order to show the world that our actions in behalf of mankind were not based on selfish motives, but were based solely on a desire to preserve our country as well as liberty and freedom for all mankind."

Because such leniency and kindness in the past "have been misconstrued by our enemies as weakness and stupidity on our part," the resolution said, the enemy should be required to pay all debts resulting from the war "regardless of how long it may require."

The House committee on state affairs approved the resolution without discussion.

Minister Is Struck By Car At Dallas

DALLAS, April 26. (U.P.)—Weaving and running like a football player, 69-year-old John Stier, an itinerant Dallas preacher, just wasn't any match for the car bearing down on him.

In the street, Stier saw the car approaching and dodged to the left, the car following him. When he shifted to the right, the driver went the same way—although attempting to miss Stier.

It ended with the car following Stier over a curbing and onto a sidewalk, where he was knocked down.

Stier received several broken ribs.

The driver of the car got a ticket for hitting Stier and a stern warning to get his brakes fixed.

Martin Pleased Over Amendment To Bill

AUSTIN, April 26. (AP)—Sen. Jesse Martin of Fort Worth said today that he was well pleased with an amendment placed on his trial de novo bill by the House Judiciary committee last night.

Martin's bill, which broadens the right of appeal from rulings by boards, bureaus and commissions, cleared the Senate by a close vote last week.

The House committee amendment which provides that appeals shall go to the resident county of the appellant, will strengthen the bill materially, Martin said, adding that he was confident that the Senate would concur in the amendment if the House passes the bill.

Krauts Find Trouble After Taking Texan And Missing His Sidekick

By KENNETH L. DIXON
Associated Press Staff Writer

U. S. NINTH ARMY FRONT, April 26—It begins to look as though someone has got to teach these Germans proper tactics when it comes to fighting Texans.

It is a cardinal principle in the Lone Star state never to ambush a range rider unless you can get his sidekick too. Otherwise there's trouble.

Kenneth Dixon

But nobody told the Germans.

So when Maj. John M. Aylor of San Angelo was leading a reconnaissance party north of Hannover recently during the U. S. Ninth Army's race to the Elbe his jeep was ambushed by a German antitank gun.

The first blast immobilized his mount, killed his gunner and wounded his driver. Small arms fire punctured his helmet as he dived to cover in a ditch.

Eventually Captured

Aylor and the wounded driver eventually ran out of cartridges and were captured. The Germans gloated.

But what they did not know was that Aylor was the executive officer of the 11th Cavalry group and that his friend and commander was Col. Andrew A. Frierson, who hails from Dallas.

Now back in Texas, Dallas and San Angelo do not always see eye to eye on state affairs, but otherwise their separate citizens look on one another as Allies, so to speak.

So when he heard of Aylor's plight, Frierson's temper fired and he swore he would rescue John if he had to chase the Krauts clear to Berlin—or so the legend goes.

This Is Not Legend

But this much is not legend:

During an ensuing, independent attack Frierson's 11th Cavalry group shoved a spearhead 20 miles into German territory, took 12 towns and killed, wounded or captured innumerable Germans, many of whom were caught in bed.

All this foregoing quite naturally proves two points—that enemy ignorance of Texan fighting tactics cost him plenty, and that Frierson is a good man to ride the river with, as the boys along the trail would say.

Go Different Directions

Unfortunately, the story becomes somewhere embarrassing at this stage, due to the inescapable fact that while Frierson's fighting forces headed due east, Aylor and his driver had been taken north of the German town of Hanigsen.

Meanwhile, the Texans still triumphed—and again it was because of tenderfoot German tactics.

In Hanigsen Aylor was interrogated by a German naval captain who, when the Texan refused to talk, decided to get tough. The result was that the major was taken on a 10-mile hike, as a sort of persuader.

Now anybody knows Texans are born bow-legged and with an unshakeable belief that walking is a devil's pastime. They will saddle up a pony just to ride a hundred yards. So, after 10 miles, Aylor's feet were killing him. But his mind was sharper than ever.

Treatment of Sore Feet

As he limped back to the German captain he noted that the Nazi seemed somewhat footsore, too. So he started talking about how well the American Army medics treated boys with sore feet.

Texans talk much better than they walk. It was only a short time until he had convinced the Nazi captain he should surrender, and the captain did. In addition, the burgomeister of Hanigsen agreed to see that the town was surrendered if no harm came to it. This also came to pass.

That'll teach 'em about Texans.

Waco Men Confer On Veterans Affairs

WASHINGTON, April 26 (AP)—Two Waco, Tex., chamber of commerce officials wound up a series of conferences here today with federal officials regarding veterans affairs.

John C. Young, president, and Fred H. Husbands, general manager of the Waco chamber, were accompanied by Rep. Poage (D-Tex) in talks with Maj. Gen. Frank T. Hines, veterans administrator, and Army officers in charge of the national cemetery program.

Heart Attack Ruled Cause Of Death Of A. A. Cathey Here

Funeral services for Andrew Alford Cathey, 72, of 321 Ave. H, who died of a heart attack early Thursday morning on a downtown street, will be conducted at 3 o'clock this afternoon at Plains chapel. Dr. C. A. Bickley, pastor of Asbury Methodist church, will officiate.

The cause of death was announced in a verdict returned by Justice of Peace D. W. Robertson, coroner.

Burial will be in Lubbock cemetery.

Pallbearers were listed as George Anthony, Irwin Cooper, Homer Anthony, Leslie Anthony, Will Kirby and a Mr. McTieer.

Cathey, who with his wife Maggie Cathey, operated Sunset grocery, at the same address as the residence, was discovered lying on the sidewalk, in 1100-block Broadway, at 5:25 o'clock, by Jimmie James of 610 Ave. M. James called police.

Identification of the man, at midmorning, was effected by police after they had found a tailor's mark in a trousers pocket.

Mrs. Cathey said her husband had gone to town to "catch a bus" for El Paso and a visit with R. L. Cathey of El Paso, a son. He was carrying a box of candy bars he had saved for grandchildren.

Lying Beside Box

Witnesses saw him sitting on the package. Ten minutes later he was lying dead beside it.

Cathey was born in Tennessee. He had lived here approximately 35 years.

Vernal E. Cathey of 13 miles northeast of Lubbock, a teller of the First National bank, is another son.

HOUSE CLEANING

ARE you doing an old-fashioned spring cleaning routine this year? We suppose you are far too busy to do that but do you remember the all-out upheaval there used to be? The family practically had to move out of the way to make way for the dust mop brigade.

Men's idea of housecleaning is to make a clean sweep and throw away everything. One time one of our brothers helped in cleaning up a bit and we're still looking for things that disappeared during his chores.

Times have changed and the modern homemaker does her spring cleaning on the installment plan without disrupting her regular schedule. Perhaps she can even get by without serving her family those boiled dinners that are so unpopular wth the younger generation.

Someone suggested the other day it's a good plan to tackle the closets first, doing one at a time so that each job is finished quickly and the house is not upset. It only takes a few hours to give them a thorough overhauling—scrubbing, spraying and brushing. Winter clothes are cleaned, aired and stored with some kind of moth protection. The winter paraphernalia is put away and the summer things brought out. It might not be amiss to round up those odds and ends of knick-knacks, vases, ornaments, candlesticks and small lamps. An uncluttered house looks cooler and certainly is easier to keep clean.

WAR GENERATION

H. V. MORTON, English radio commentator, wrote not long ago of the whole generation of English children who remembers nothing but the war. Recently a lad of seven asked him if there was any news before the war and he replied certainly, and to the question "What?" he cited Channel swims, tennis and cricket or that someone would fly the Atlantic quicker than ever and things such as that.

The little boy agreed it might be nice when the war's over but not so exciting. He told Mr. Morton he hoped they would sell air-raid sirens after the war as he wanted one very much but his mother thought it better if he didn't get one.

The clock owner (pretty cross) said "You ruined my clock and all my friends took up a collection just to buy it for me."

And the on-the-lit side fellow said, "If your friends liked you so much, why didn't they buy you a wrist watch?"

V-E Day Cutbacks Already Started

WASHINGTON, April 26 (AP)—The War Production board announced tonight that the "V-E day" cutbacks in munitions already have started.

It revealed also that the home-stretch armament drive topped its schedule last month for the first time.

Curtailment in war industry will go faster from now on, the monthly production communique said, even as the war continues on two fronts.

Because of the cutbacks, the draft drain on essential men in industry "will have ended shortly even without regard to V-E day," said the report prepared by H. G. Batcheller, WPB chief of operations.

However, $48,000,000,000 worth of weapons and supplies will have to be produced in the year following the official V-E day proclamation, he said. That total is just 14 per cent below the two-front arms schedule now projected from mid-1945 to mid-1946.

"While our armies are still firing shells at German troops, the adjustment of military procurement from a two-front to a one-front war basis has already started with the April ammunition, tank and plane cutbacks, and this adjustment will accelerate from now on," the report stated.

Chairman Krug said the curtailment would not be great in the next few months, but promised that the controls on civilian manufacturing would be relaxed as materials, manpower and labor are released.

He emphasized, however: "no relaxation of WPB controls will be made that will jeopardize war production."

March war production beat schedules by 0.6 of one per cent, Batcheller said it was the first excess shown since scheduling began.

The total was 7 per cent over February's, and even the dozen critical program goals were "generally met or exceeded."

Tariff Battle Brings Argument On Opening 'Secret' Trade Files

WASHINGTON, April 26 (AP)—The congressional tariff battle exploded today in a hot argument on whether to open "secret" State department files on trade negotiations with Great Britain.

Democrats shouted "filibuster" and Republicans countered with "gag" and "steamroller" at a hearing before the House Ways and Means committee.

Rep. Simpson (R-Pa) asked Agriculture Secretary Wickard to insert in the record a statement on all duty concessions which the United States offered Britain but which were not finally incorporated in the reciprocal trade pact with that nation.

"Never in history," replied Rep. Robertson (D-Va), "has a committee of Congress required the department of state to open its secret files of treaty negotiations."

Rep. Gearhart (R-Calif) hurled the "gag" charge and asked: "Does the gentleman from Virginia take the position that the Democratic party has repudiated the Wilsonian policy of open covenants openly arrived at?"

Robertson said opening State department files of trade negotiations is equivalent to demanding public disclosure of Sunday night's White House discussions on the Polish question, by State Secretary Stettinius, British Foreign Minister Eden and Russian Foreign Secretary Molotov.

Acknowledge Steamroller

Joining Gearhart and Simpson, Rep. Knutson of Minnesota, ways and means Republican leader, said "we know the Democrats have 15 votes to our 10 on this committee, and you can run a steamroller over us anytime you want to."

The debate ended with neither Republicans nor Democrats certain whether the information asked by Simpson is secret. Chairman Doughton (D-NC) said the matter would be taken up with the State department.

Simpson said he wanted the information as a guide to what tariff cuts might be expected if Congress approves the administration request for a three-year extension of the reciprocal trade act, with powers to make additional tariff cuts in trade negotiations with other nations.

Lobbying Resolution Before Subcommittee

AUSTIN, April 26 (AP)—A resolution by Rep. W. A. Williamson of San Antonio authorizing appointment of a House committee to investigate lobbying was sent to a subcommittee by the committee on state affairs last night.

Rep. Howard Hartzog, whose proposal for appointment of a general investigating committee is pending before another House committee, said that he would ask the House to en-refer his resolution to state affairs, with the understanding it be sent to the same sub-committee with the Williamson proposal.

Police Holding Two In Ring Theft Case

KANSAS CITY, April 26. (U.P.)—Police were holding two persons today in connection with the theft of three diamond rings at the Jaccard jewelry store yesterday.

Warren S. Brenner, North Kansas City, and Mrs. Mary Bono were held at police headquarters immediately after the robbery yesterday. They were examining a tray of rings in the jewelry store when an unidentified man, who had been standing nearby, grabbed the rings valued at $9,100, and ran out of the store.

Both Brenner and Mrs. Bono denied any connection with the theft.

Carl Smith, a clerk who was showing the diamonds to Brenner and Mrs. Bono seized Brenner as he was leaving the store. Brenner later identified Mrs. Bono as his companion.

Mrs. Bono told police she went into the store to look at the rings, contemplating trading several diamond rings she owns for a more modern one.

Police arrested Marion J. Bono, husband of Mrs. Bono, yesterday but released him after he proved he was at home in bed at the time of the robbery.

Memphis Grabs Texas Pitcher

AUSTIN, April 26. (AP)—The defending champion Texas Longhorns lost their ace pitcher today when it was learned that Southpaw Henry Culp, 28-year-old war veteran who had pitched Texas to three straight victories, signed a contract to play professional baseball with the Memphis Chicks of the Southern Association.

Culp's departure left the Steers with only three pitchers on the eve of their northern road trip to play SMU in Dallas Friday and TCU in a doubleheader at Fort Worth Saturday. Sam Lay, Dave Philley, and James Erwin are the remaining Texas hurlers, and each will get a chance to start during the busy weekend.

However, six Texas starters are batting over .300, and their hitting is expected to keep the undefeated Longhorns atop the Southwest Conference race. Third-baseman Bob Horneyer leads with a lofty .481, and shortstop Jack Lindsey and second-sacker Leroy Andersen are tied at .417. Captain and leftfielder Zeke Wilemon with .383, centerfielder Don Wooten with .354, and catcher Tom Milik with .304 are the other heavy hitters on the team.

Ponies, Frogs Split Tennis Matches, 3-3

FORT WORTH, April 26. (AP) — Splitting the doubles and singles tennis matches, TCU deadlocked SMU 3-3 here today. Two weeks ago the Mustangs handed the Christians a 4-2 defeat in Dallas.

Chu and Mayfied combined to whip Stenis and Rude 4-6, 6-3, 11-9. Ottinger and Mills trimmed Robbins and Robinson 6-4, 4-6, 6-1.

One Big Inning Gives A's Victory Over Yankees, 7-5

PHILADELPHIA, April 26. (AP) — Scoring seven runs in the fourth inning on five hits, the Philadelphia Athletics today surged from behind to defeat the New York Yankees, 7-5, at Shibe Park.

Philadelphia bounced into a second place tie with the New Yorkers with the help of some brilliant relief pitching by Jittery Joe Berry who held the McCarthy clan to one single in the last five frames after starter Jesse Flores was slugged from the hill in the fourth.

Walter Dubiel had blanked the A's in the first three frames when Hal Peck opened the fourth with a single to the box. After Bobby Estalella walked and Hayes skied out, Dick Siebert drove in the first score with a single to center. Buddy Hall bounced a hit through Joe Buzas, driving home Estalella and Ed Busch doubled to the scoreboard, sending in Siebert and Hall.

After Dubiel purposely passed Joe Burns and walked pinch hitter Larry Rosenthal, Al Gettel was called in but he gave Charley Metro a free ticket, forcing in Busch to tie the count. Peck's second single of the inning scored Burns and Rosenthal raced across on Estalella's liner to Lindell before Hayes, the twelfth man to go to bat, flied out to end the inning.

Chandler's First Big Decision For Boston

WASHINGTON, April 26 (AP)—Baseball's new commissioner, Senator Albert B. "Happy" Chandler, today disclosed that he has made his first decision . . . in favor of Boston's Braves.

Leo Durocher, Brooklyn manager, facetiously wired Chandler:

"Dutch Nieman hit ninth-inning homer that beat me (Tuesday). Hereby file first protest. What do you intend to do about it."

Chandler jokingly said he would inform Durocher that "my first decision is to give the game to Boston."

Nieman hit a homer with two men on in the ninth inning of Tuesday's game, giving the Braves an 8-6 victory.

Lidman Combines His Business, Pleasure

PHILADELPHIA, April 26. (AP) Haakan Lidman, Sweden's hurdler and sports writer extraordinary, says his dual role is no major problem.

"When I'm bad," Lidman said, "I simply say I was bad."

But when he's good?

"Only for the first year I was writing did my performances bother me. Now I simply write what happens," he said.

Lidman, who will compete tomorrow in a 120 yard high hurdle special event on the opening day of the 51st annual Penn Relay carnival, told how he filed the story of President Roosevelt's death to the Stockholm Tidningen.

The regular correspondent had left for San Francisco to cover the United Nations conference. And so Haakan leaped in and filed several thousand words. He has also been sending his regular sports column daily to the Swedish paper.

NEW YORK, April 26. (AP) — Not a Philadelphia base runner reached third base today as Harry Feldman of the New York Giants blanked the Phils, 2 to 0, on five hits. Ernie Lombardi hit a home run for the league leaders in the seventh.

Feldman walked four and fanned two but scored the first run for the Giants in the third when he singled, advanced to third on an infield out and a sacrifice and counted when Mel Ott doubled.

The New Yorkers' other tally came in the seventh when Ernie Lombardi slapped a homer into the upper left field stands.

It was the seventh triumph in nine starts for the Giants, who lead the Chicago Cubs by a full game. The Cubs were idle today because of cold weather at Cincinnati.

El Paso Golden Glove Champion Ruled Out

FORT WORTH, April 26 (AP)—Cpl. Adolfo Guijano, El Paso soldier, who defeated Cpl. Tom Attra of San Antonio for the National light heavyweight Golden Gloves championship, today admitted he had previously boxed as a professional — thus Attra, veteran of Texas amateurs, can claim his second national title.

Guijano, speaking from Muroc Army Air Base in California, said he appeared three times as a professional in El Paso and had been paid $12 for each bout.

This followed a report to the Star-Telegram, sponsor of the Golden Gloves in this state, from Texas Boxing Commissioner Leonard Carlton that Guijano had been issued a boxing license in 1941 and that "our records show he took part in three professional bouts at El Paso." The license was from Oct. 22, 1941, to Oct. 22, 1944.

Then Fight Promoter Jimmy Erwin of El Paso said Guijano fought six professional matches at El Paso and in neighboring Juarez, Mexico, before entering the Army.

Attra, who announced this year that he was appearing in his final Golden Gloves tournament and who reportedly will turn professional soon, previously had won the National championship.

New Home Noses Out Frenship Club, 10-9

What started off in the first two innings as a slam-bang slugfest developed into a pitching duel in the late innings between Melvin Newman of New Home and C. W. Myers of Frenship as New Home nosed out a 10-9 victory in a South Plains High School league game Thursday afternoon.

It was the second win of the season for New Home, and left New Home and Shallowater tied for the top in the league race with two wins and no losses each.

It was the second loss for Frenship, and left Frenship tied for last place with Wilson, each with two losses. Cooper and Idalou teams have split even in the two games played by these schools.

New Home took a 4-2 lead in the first inning, and both clubs scored three times in the second inning before the pitchers could settle down. Frenship pushed over a run in the fourth, and both sides scored once in the fifth. New Home scored twice in the sixth, then were blanked the rest of the way.

Frenship scored once in the sixth, and again in the seventh to move back within one run, but Newman bore down in the final two innings to shut off the threatening Frenship attack.

Commission Votes Traffic Changes, Tightens Rules On Liquefied Gas

City commissioners, meeting in regular session Thursday afternoon at City hall, voted to institute parallel parking on three downtown streets and regulations prohibiting right and left turns at certain intersections; enlarged a loading zone for city buses on Ave. J and passed at first reading an ordinance regulating transportation, storage and use of liquefied petroleum gases and other explosive products and regulating distribution and storage of petroleum products and other volatile or explosive liquids.

The commission also heard a formal request from City Attorney Durwood H. Bradley that he be relieved of his position as soon as possible so that he may devote all of his time to his private practice. Action on his request was promised in the near future.

Parallel Parking

The parallel parking, which will go into effect on June 15, will extend from Ninth to Fifteenth streets on Ave. J, from Tenth to Fourteenth on Ave. K and from Ave. H to Ave. L on Thirteenth street. This traffic change was voted after a survey of 142 downtown business men revealed that only 16 were opposed to the change to facilitate movement of vehicles on the three congested streets.

The extension of the bus loading zone on Ave. J is designed to remove another traffic snarl which develops at certain rush hours during the day. The present loading zone on Main street will be used only by buses going east and the new zone, extending from Main to the alley south on Ave. J, will be used for buses going south and west. Rerouting of one or two of the buses in the downtown area will be necessitated by the change.

The prohibiting of right and left turns on Broadway at Ave. J and Texas avenue will be inaugurated also on June 15 along with the parallel parking and an eight-hour working schedule for the police department. Commissioners estimated it would take approximately 45 days to arrange meters, paint traffic lanes and employ additional officers so it was decided to institute all the changes on that date.

No action was taken on changing of time for parking meters after the commission had given considerable discussion to this phase of procedure for improving traffic conditions.

With inauguration of a three-shift police department, it was also decided that one full-time officer would be stationed in the vicinity of Senior High school for the purpose of regulating traffic in that area, especially during hours in which children are crossing streets.

Liquefied Gas

The ordinance regulating transportation, distribution, storage and use of liquified petroleum gases and petroleum products was passed at first reading and City Manager Marlin R. Smith was instructed to prepare a map showing designated routes over which the trucks would be allowed to travel in time for the second reading of the ordinance, two weeks hence. The ordinance was prepared with full cooperation of dealers in the products in the Lubbock area.

Other action of the commission included the approval of supplement to the 1944 tax roll, correcting errors and the approval of the 1944 deliquent real and property roll; passage at second reading of an ordinance extending the city limits in southeast Lubbock bounded by E. Ave. K and East Twenty-eighth street, a section of Carver Heights, negro residential area; passage at second reading of an ordinance closing a portion of a street in the South Side addition, immediately west of Block 6 and accepting a deed of dedication to a 35-foot strip of a portion of the east side of Block 6. The latter ordinance is legal action necessary to widen a street in that area.

Zoning Changes

The commission also accepted recommendations of the Zoning commission requesting changes in zones at Ave. Q and Thirteenth and also on property near Twenty-fifth and Ave. G. Hearing was set for May 14 on these changes. The Ave. Q and Thirteenth zone changes were requested so that Lubbock Independent school trustees may dispose of Central Ward school property for retail business purposes.

A request from L. C. Montgomery that a portion of Ave. F near the Santa Fe railroad be declared closed was taken under advisement.

Warrants No. 3355B to No. 3744, both inclusive, were approved.

Mayor O. W. Ribble presided at the session and Commissioners Hub Jones, Fred H. Childress and J. Ray Dickey attended along with Bradley, Smith and City Secretary Lavenia Williams.

was built by the Germans in 1941 for French prisoners and there still are thousands of them there.

"American boys told me they had been shuttled from place to place to keep them from falling into our hands as we advanced, and that this was the fifth camp they had been in.

"Their guards pulled out four nights before, leaving them to shift for themselves.

"We also overran a camp which Allied prisoners themselves said contained 30,000 men, of whom about 6,000 were Americans. We didn't have time to count them.

"In this camp there were some 3,000 ambulance cases, most of them suffering from malnutrition."

No Superforts Lost In Raid On Japanese

WASHINGTON, April 26 (AP)—None of the very large force of Superfortresses which participated in yesterday's raid on southern Japanese airfields was lost, the War department announced tonight.

Airfields on the homeland island of Kyushu and Shikoku were attacked by the Marianas' based B-29s, the 20th Air force said.

World Conference

and the economic and social advancement of their peoples so largely depend."

The slender, handsome Eden spoke of fast efforts to attain collective security, efforts which failed, and declared that "a further attempt must be made and this time we must succeed."

Stern Warning

Sternly, he warned:

"Either we must find some means of ordering our relations with justice and fair dealing, while allowing nations great and small full opportunity to develop their free and independent life, or we shall soon head for another world conflict which this time must bring the utter destruction of civilization."

Urging that the conference not attempt too much, Eden like Stettinius said that San Francisco cannot hope to produce a complete and perfect scheme.

Soong declared that "we must lose no time." He added:

"We must not leave this conference without achieving the high purpose for which we are here assembled."

Poland Not Up To Parley

On the Polish matter, Molotov told reporters that it isn't a matter for the conference at all, that the Big 3 powers are doing all they can to settle the question of what is proper government for Poland.

He added that there is an excellent base for settlement in the Roosevelt-Churchill-Stalin agreements at Yalta.

Stettinius closed today's plenary session by announcing that the chairmen of other delegations will be heard at tomorrow afternoon's session.

The story of what happened at the fruitless session of the steering committee was told by one delegate.

After Eden proposed Stettinius this is what happened:

The Russian put in a request for four chairmen.

Compromise Advanced

A compromise was advanced that would let the Big Four chiefs preside in turn at plenary sessions of the conference, and this was accepted unanimously, as was Eden's proposal that Stettinius become chairman of the steering and executive committee.

The Big Four retired into a huddle to talk over the arrangements. When they came back, Molotov amazed the meeting by moving adjournment — since, he said, no agreements had been reached.

That didn't jibe with what many delegates understood, but they agreed to call things quits until tomorrow morning to end the confusion.

From the steering committee meeting, Molotov went into his first talk with the press in nearly a year.

The Polish problem, he said, isn't a matter for the security conference to handle.

Viewed With Alarm

Delegates never had considered tackling it. But they had been eyeing with alarm an Anglo-American split with Russia on constituting a Polish government acceptable to all three powers.

They felt that evidence of discord among three of the sponsoring nations on a political question might mean those powers would be unable to work together efficiently in maintaining peace.

So it was with some elation that they learned of the Russian promise of cooperation. Then they assembled in plenary session to take care of a bit of routine business and hear speeches by Molotov, Eden, Stettinius, and Chinese Foreign Minister Soong.

The Russian commissar also told newsmen that in calling for the Soviet Union votes in a proposed general assembly of an international peace organization, "we ask for a minimum."

The Russians contend the Ukrainian and White Russian republics are eligible to vote on grounds they are autonomous in foreign affairs. Molotov said he hoped they would be allowed to attend the conference here.

Petitions Circulated

Petitions from the two republics giving their reasons for seeking admission were circulated at the steering committee meeting. No action was taken on them, however.

The foreign commissar conceded that the Polish governmental tangle is of greatest interest to many people.

His reference to the Crimea conference pointed to a possibility that some settlement might be reached along lines agreed upon there.

The Roosevelt-Stalin-Churchill decision was that the present Warsaw government should be reorganized to include more "democratic elements."

The Americans and British haven't yielded a bit of ground in their insistence that the Yalta (Crimea) agreement be kept. Thus it appears that any move toward breaking the impasse must come from Russia.

Dumbarton Oaks Plan

The Soviets, Molotov asserted, won't balk at amending the Dumbarton Oaks plan, the formula concocted by the sponsoring nations as the base on which the San Francisco conference hopes to erect a structure of peace.

"If it has not been intended to make any amendments," Molotov said, "there would be no use in convening this conference."

He ducked as "new to me" a question about letting Argentina in on the work of the conference.

But to an inquiry about prospects for an early end of hostilities in Europe, he replied: "I think the resistance of Germany is nearing its end."

Time Element Cut

Despite the tugging and hauling over Poland on the sidelines, there were multiplying signs that questions which gave promise of keeping the conference in session six or eight weeks were disappearing so rapidly that it might finish in four. The British, among others, are talking of setting up in a month the machinery for guaranteeing world security.

Some smaller nations still were calling for a few extra cogs and gadgets, but the indications were that when it comes to balloting, they will follow in the steps of the sponsoring powers.

That does not mean there won't be some amendments to the Dumbarton Oaks plan, which the conference will use as a foundation on which to build.

The American delegation itself decided today to offer an amendment that would permit changes in a projected charter for peace by vote of three-fourths of the assembly and seven security council members.

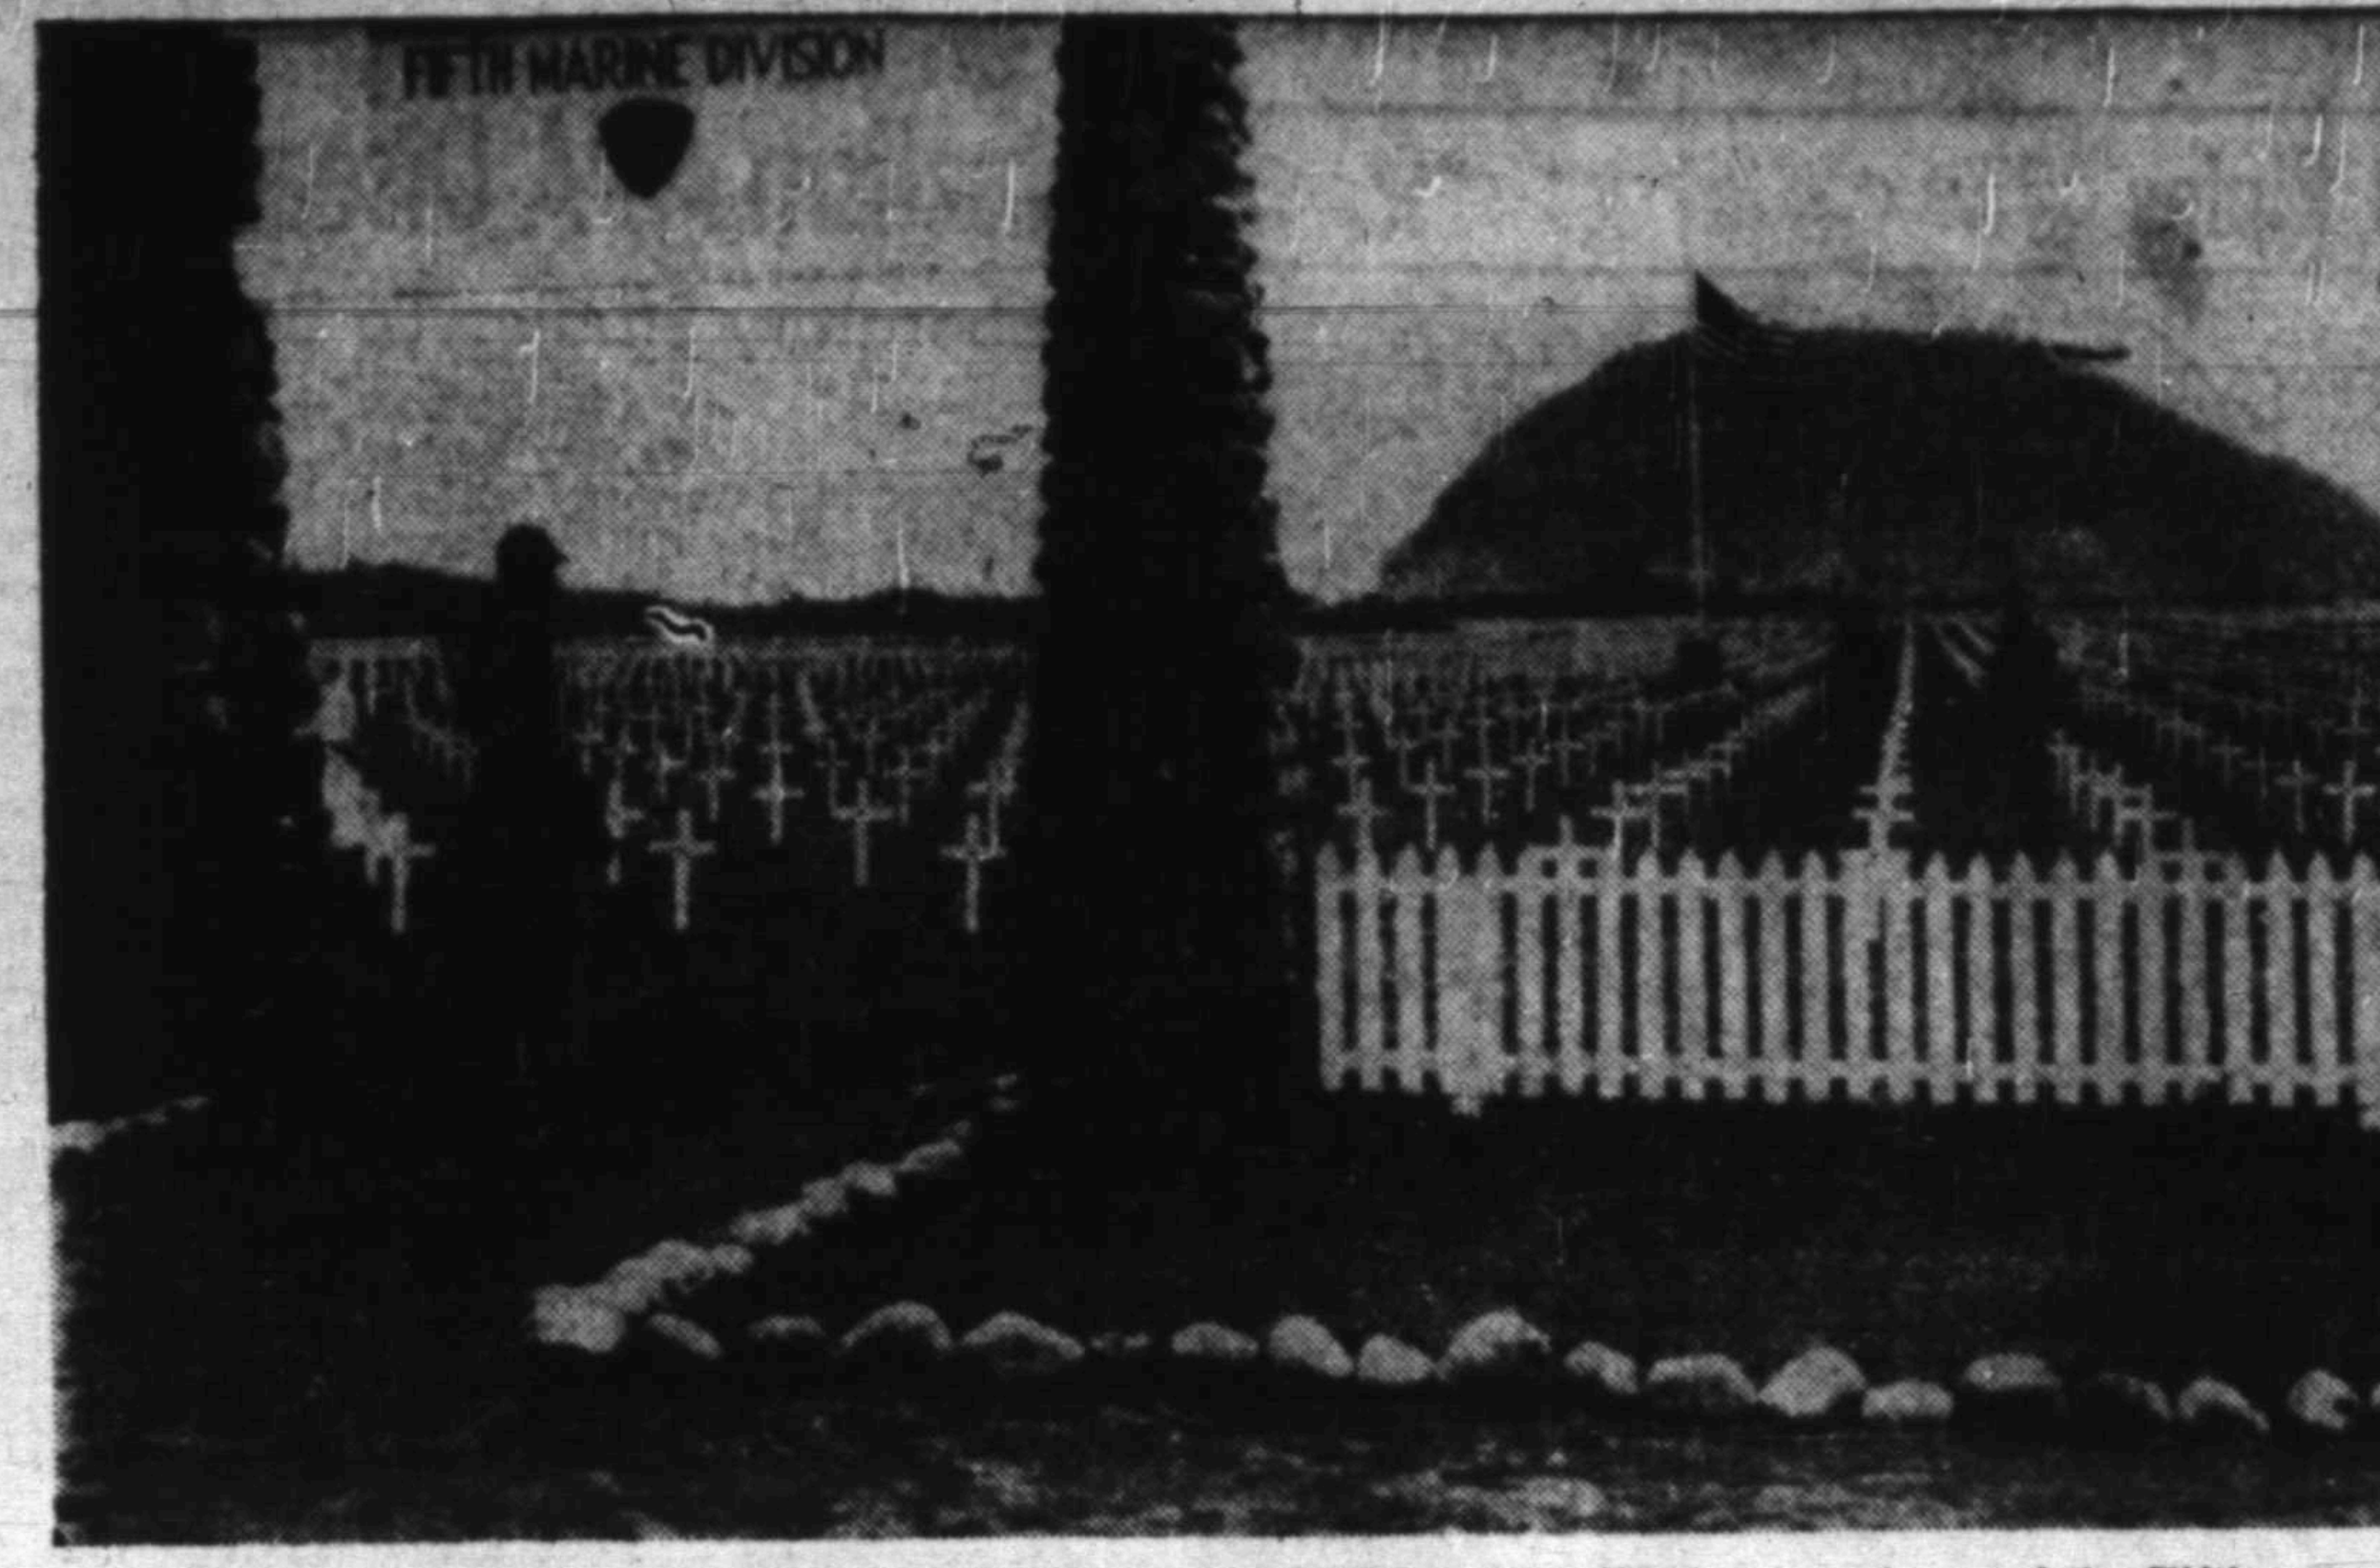

Required Two-Thirds

Senator Connally (D-Tex) offered the proposal in the interests of flexibilty. Under Dumbarton Oaks, alterations could be vetoed by the security council unless two-thirds of the assembly ballotted to override.

The meeting of the delegation chiefs took no action on representation for Poland or Argentina or on Russia's request for three votes in the assembly.

It confined itself largely to routine, delegates reported. One decision was to make French as well as English an official language of the conference.

The morning meeting of the steering committee preceded a late afternoon plenary session of full conference. It was up to the plenary meeting to approve the work-sheet drawn up by the steering group.

Goering, With Bad Heart, Is Replaced

LONDON, April 26. (AP) — The Hamburg radio said tonight that Reichsminister Hermann Goering was ill of heart trouble and that his resignation as commander of the German Air force had been accepted by Adolf Hitler.

The broadcast, which described Goering's condition as "acute," said Hitler had appointed Gen. Ritter von Grein to command of the luftwaffe and promoted him to the rank of field marshal general.

The radio account said Goering had been suffering from heart trouble for some time.

The whereabouts of the portly No. 2 Nazi has been a matter of speculation for some time. He has been strangely silent while his pride — the luftwaffe—has been largely eliminated at the hands of Allied air forces.

Russian Gains

the narrow corridor between the Elbe and the Mulde, and the Swiss radio said a link-up along a many-mile front had taken place yesterday afternoon.

The fanatical Nazi defenders, throwing women and children into the death struggle, were stubbornly defending the German capital as street battles roared through their sixth day under relentless Russian artillery and aerial bombardment.

Industrial Areas Taken

But assault teams of Marshal Zhukov's Army compressing a mighty band of steel around perhaps 500,000 trapped Nazi soldiers, captured the northwestern industrial district to Carteneeld and Siemenstadt.

At the same time, Konev's tankmen rolled into the desolate rubble-strewn streets of Dahlem in southwestern Berlin and as the two armies drove from the north and south into fashionable Charlottenburg, with only a four and a half mile gap between them, the great western suburbs of Spandau and Potsdam were threatened with isolation from Berlin proper.

Possibly sounding the deathknell for Adolf Hitler, Propaganda Minister Goebbels and other high Nazis whom the Germans said still were in the capital, massed waves of Soviet armor had overrun approximately 210 square miles of Berlin's 341, Moscow's communiques revealed.

The Germans, admitting the doomed city was encircled, conceded that the "front now runs right through the heart of the city."

Rail Depot Captured

Pressing in from the east, Zhukov's troops captured the great Goerlitzer rail depot, two and a quarter miles from Unter Den Linden and Friedrichstrasse, but Nazi accounts said that the Soviets already had swept to the edge of famed Alexander Platz, one of Berlin's main commercial centers.

Here, a half-mile from the eastern end of Unter Den Linden, giant, a swaying battle raged for the central police and Gestapo headquarters, while a few blocks to the south, enemy reports said Zhukov's troops were fighting for Jannowitz station and Jannowitz bridge over the Spree river.

Soviet tommy gunners also were storming the southern edge of the shell-pocked Templhof airdrome.

PRICES HOLD STRONG

NEW YORK, April 26 (AP)—Investment demand, while timid, was sufficient to take the sting out of further profit taking in today's stock market and, while losers held the majority at the close, plus marks were fairly well distributed.

Aircrafts, liquors and specialties exhibited strength and extreme declines elsewhere running to 3 points were substantially trimmed at the close. Transfers amounted to 1,370,000 shares compared with 1,420,000 Wednesday.

The Associated Press stock average was off .2 of a point at 64.4. Of 962 issues appearing, 527 were down, 231 up and 204 unchanged.

Aircrafts were buoyed by reports of big orders from civilian transport lines. Douglas was up 4⅛ and lesser advances were retained by Boeing, United, Grumman and Lockheed.

Bethlehem Steel recovered at the last to finish with a gain of ⅛. Directors, after the close, voted the usual $1.50 dividend and reported first quarter net of $2.03 a share against $1.61 in the like 1944 period.

In the plus ranks were Schenley, Distillers Corp., General Motors and American Telephone.

Casualties were Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, Great Northern, U. S. Steel, Chrysler, U. S. Rubber, Westinghouse, American Can, Du Pont, Sears Roebuck and Anaconda.

Bonds were mixed.

NEW YORK FUTURES

NEW YORK, April 26 (AP)—After reaching new seasonal high ground today the cotton market slumped sharply on a closing flurry of hedging and commission house profit taking. Final prices were at the lows for the day to show a range of unchanged to 25 cents a bale lower. Traders attributed the selling principally to the fact that prices had reached approximately CCC buying levels for the staple and have encouraged greater sales of loan equity in the market by producers.

Increased hedge selling by spot firms was associated with those equities. A statement by Senator Bankhead predicting the government will guarantee parity to farmers next season and urging them to hold their cotton for that price stimulated early commission house buying in the new crop months with gains of as much as 55 cents a bale temporarily reached.

Futures closed unchanged to 25 cents a bale lower.

Truman Gets Mystery Message From Russia

WASHINGTON, April 26. (AP)—Soviet Charge D'Affaires Nikolai Novikov today called at the State department with a diplomatic communication and acting Secretary of State Grew conferred immediately afterward with President Truman.

The circumstances suggested Premier Stalin had sent a message to the President concerning Big Three issues up for action at San Francisco.

When Novikov left the State department after two minutes in Grew's office, he said merely: "It is a pity; I can say nothing."

Grew then walked across the street with a folded sheet of paper to the White House where he went at once into President Truman's office. When he came out he declined to make any statemen.

Former LAAF Officer Dies In Plane Crash

Capt. William Paul Sullivan, about 28, former instructor at Lubbock Army Air field and husband of the former Marilyn Riggs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. K. L. Riggs of 2123 Main, was killed in the crash of a B-24, his wife was informed Thursday afternoon.

Capt. Sullivan, whose home is at Arlington, Mass., was killed on a routine training flight, Mrs. Sullivan was told. She was informed of the death in a telephone call from the public relations officer of Capt. Sullivan's station at Smyrna, Tenn. She was not furnished details.

A pilot, Capt. Sullivan was stationed at LAAF from February, 1942 to February, 1943. He was undergoing transition training at Smyrna preparatory to assignment to B-29s.

Mrs. Sullivan recently established a home at 1105 Ave. V, coming here from Dodge City, Kans., where her husband had been stationed since last June.

Molotov Strategy

should be four conference presidents chosen by each of the big four.

Mexico's foreign minister, tall Ezequiel Padilla, came to Eden's support. He said the United Nations should abide by established international standards and not the caprices of an occasion.

"I appreciate the information on diplomatic forms," Molotov replied in sarcastic tones, "but the facts of the war should not be forgotten and they are that the war is making four powers."

"Among the facts of war," Padilla retorted, "are also the principles that are the only sure way for a peaceful international life."

Significance Cited

The Mexican contended the precedent of making a representative of the host country chairman cannot be violated without giving such violation significance.

Molotov said it was a matter of prestige and asserted that Russia, too, is making war.

There was a brief discussion. Eden proposed a compromise based on Molotov's request. Why not have the heads of the Big Four powers preside over plenary conference sessions in rotated, alphabetical order. It was seconded by Prime Minister Jan Christiaan Smuts of South Africa and adopted.

Heads Steering Committee

Eden next nominated Stettinius to be chairman of the steering and executive committees. This was approved unanimously.

The Big Four representatives—Stettinius, Molotov, Eden and China's foreign minister, T. V. Soong—then withdrew to discuss details of this organization scheme.

When they returned, Molotov startled the delegate chiefs by proposing that since no agreement had been reached on points under discussion, the meeting be adjourned until tomorrow.

Not Final To Molotov

In an outburst of excited chatter, several delegates protested. Unanimous approval already had been given both on the compromise presidency and the naming of Stettinius as chairman of the steering and executive committees.

Molotov insisted the agreement had not been final. Other delegates looked astounded and dumbfounded.

But, in view of the obvious difficulty of making any further progress in face of Molotov's attitude, the meeting was adjourned until tomorrow.

Time consumed: Three and one-half hours. Accomplishments: A deadlock on the first day.

J. Bryan Miller To Be District OPA Head

J. Bryan Miller of Dallas, former Lubbock city manager and executive officer of the Dallas regional office of the OPA, arrived in Lubbock Thursday night to spend several days in conferences with Howard R. Gholson, outgoing director of the West Texas district office of the OPA here.

Gholson announced his resignation, effective on May 12, last Tuesday; Ely Fonville, district rationing officer, announced his resignation, effective on April 30, at the same time; and rumors have Owen McWhorter, head of the district's legal department, and Earl Kerr, supervisor of rationing boards in the 71-county district, resigning in the near future.

Miller likely will return to Dallas next week, but plans to come back to Lubbock later, temporarily or permanently to fill Gholson's office.

Differences of opinion between Lubbock and Dallas offices regarding matters of policy prompted Gholson's resignation.

Clothing Campaign Nearing End, With Lubbock Far Short

With only four days left in the United National Clothing collection throughout the United States, Lubbock's contributions are still lagging far behind what was expected from the drive.

Yesterday's estimate of the amount contributed here thus far, according to F. A. Kleinschmidt, chairman, was approximately 30,000 pounds, or the amount of clothing expected from a town of 6,000 population.

A communication to headquarters here from the Office of Internal Revenue pointed out that clothing contributions to the collection could be deducted from this year's income tax, Kleinschmidt said.

Returnees from Nazi concentration camps are in dire need of warm clothing and it is hoped that Lubbock residents will do all within their power to aid in accumulating an amount of clothing in keeping the size of the city for the collection.

Clothing may be taken to the drive's headquarters at Lubbock Auto Company warehouse, Ninth and Texas or to Sears, Wards, Hilton or Lubbock hotels or the Post Office. Kleinschmidt asked that if possible, persons bring their usable discarded clothing to headquarters, since it can be handled more rapidly from there.

Packing is being done by a group of six men each evening with an average of 2,000 pounds boxed nightly. Shipping will begin around May 15, Kleinschmidt said.

Western Front

either the Ninth or the First Army sectors.

A dispatch from the U. S. First Army front told of an American jeep patrol running at will through disorganized German lines and overrunning 11 Allied prisoner of war camps and hospitals containing more than 50,000 prisoners—8,600 of them Americans—freed by the Germans.

Lt. Gen. Alexander M. Patch's U. S. Seventh Army, fighting as much as 21 miles beyond the Danube, struck a hard core of resistance and was bringing up eight-inch cannon and 10-inch howitzers to blast out the Germans dug in on its path.

The Dillingen bridgehead, where the Seventh Army first crossed the river, was hit by a five-hour counterattack, but meanwhile the Americans were breaking across the river in two more places.

11 Miles Beyond River

To the east of the bridgehead, one force was about 11 miles beyond the Danube, 10 miles northwest of the city of Augsburg, and about 41 miles from Munich.

Southwest of the bridgehead, forces across the Danube also hurdled the Iller canal and captured Illertissen, 13 miles south of the fallen Danubian city of Ulm.

One armored column lanced straight on south beyond Fellheim, 21 miles south of Ulm and 40 miles from the Austrian border in the western part of the redoubt.

The Dillingen bridgehead forces were fighting on beyond the new severed Munich superhighway, slamming into Jettingen, 14 miles south of Dillingen and 19 miles due west of Augsburg.

Other Seventh Army forces were heading for the Danube on the remainder of the 60-mile front, with the 45th division in Leisacker, 41 miles northwest of Munich.

Lake Flotilla Taken

The French First Army enveloping Lake Constance forced the German lake flotilla to flee to the Swiss shore, where the Swiss radio said it had surrendered.

French troops driving on the north shore aircraft manufacturing city of Friedrichshafen captured Waldsee, 23 miles to the northeast. There they were 28 miles from the western border of Austria.

With the French now all along the Swiss frontier south of the Black forest, the Germans holed up in that strong, natural position were surrendering in large numbers. The French announced they took more than 6,000 prisoners Wednesday.

History Repeats Itself

Lopez-Hitler Parallel Is Drawn

APPARENT decision of Adolf Hitler and other Nazi party factors with prices on their heads to postpone their inevitable reckoning by a redoubt-by-redoubt defense recalls that such fanatical tactics happened once before in modern times—and in the new world.

History of Paraguay, about the time of our Civil war, discloses the inescapable results of such guerrilla warfare.

It was Francisco Solano Lopez, dictator of Paraguay, who so reduced a nation of more than a million persons until there was scarcely an able-bodied man left. He, like Hitler, was characterized by megalomania, fanatical cruelty and, at last, definite insanity.

Paraguay, after throwing off Spanish rule, was governed two generations by Lopez' great-uncle and his father. Dictators both, they nevertheless exhibited great ability, raised living standards, created intense patriotism and left Lopez, when he became ruler in 1862, 80,000 armed men, the finest army in South America.

Lopez, Paris-educated, had been steeped in imperial pretensions of Napoleon the Little. He even sought unsuccessfully to get a reproduction of Napoleon's crown. He had a mistress, the fabulous Mme. Eliza Lynch, who accompanied him home from France, gave birth to his four sons and remained with him through his campaigns and was beside him at his death. His overriding political ambitions dictated his asking in marriage the daughter of Dom Pedro, emperor of Brazil. The proposal was not even answered.

Perhaps it was the Brazilian affront, or his desire for lebensraum and an outlet through Brazil to the Atlantic, but Lopez, in 1855, embroiled his nation in a five-year war with Brazil and the Argentine, South America's two most powerful nations, and Uraguay.

FROM that stage, the parallel with Hitler becomes more pronounced. Early victories were pyramided by Lopez' superior armies; Lopez would allow no retreat, whatever the costs; once he ordered half the officers and a tenth of the men in a defeated regiment shot. Manpower losses became enormous; at the end of the second year every suitable male from 16 to 60 was in the army, and hundreds of women were made burden-bearers for his troops.

His enemies, Brazil, Argentina and Uraguay, forged a compact not to make a separate peace, and their superior resources began to tell. Lopez, seeing the end approaching, filed his barbaric resolve even sharper. He organized a sort of Gestapo which threatened the lukewarm of his nation. It came to mean death even to mention war reverses. After a conspiracy to depose him and make peace, Lopez slew the conspirators, including his brother and a brother-in-law, and tortured his own mother.

Asuncion, his capital, fell. Lopez retreated into the wilderness and set up another. When that, too, was taken he herded his remnants into the northern forests and continued guerrilla warfare. Finally, March 1, 1870, when his force numbered only 400 men, the allies made a surprise attack. The Paraguayans fled. Lopez—Mme. Lynch and their sons looking on—spurred his horse into a swamp beside the muddy Aquidaban river. The horse mired in the mud. An allied corporal called for surrender. The dictator answered with a revolver shot. A lance was thrust into his body, and he soon died. Ironically, he was accorded Christian burial.

The costs were added and found appalling. The year after Lopez assumed power, the Paraguayan census showed 1,337,489 persons. The year after Lopez' death, it showed 221,079—of which only 28,746 were men.

The allies had determined to make Paraguay pay the war's costs. Occupation forces were set up in Paraguay three years under a constitutional government, but no indemnity ever was collected.

Not Such A Bad Idea!

BASCOM TIMMONS, former Texas newsman now among the nation's topflight Washington correspondents, has suggested, with tongue-in-cheek, the organization of a "Those Who Are Not Close To Truman" club. Reporter Timmons believes, he says, that a membership of at least three or four Washingtonians is assured!

Perhaps Bascom doesn't realize it, but his suggestion, made in fun, has its merits. If such an organization is completed it will prove to the world in general, and to the rest of the U. S., in particular, that there are in Washington still a few individuals who (1) have a sense of humor; (2) have a sense of proportion, and (3) who decline to look upon themselves as being set apart from the common herd!

The One Minute Sermon

Be not thou envious against evil men, neither desire to be with them.

For their heart studieth destruction, and their lips talk of mischief.

Through wisdom is an house builded: and by understanding it is established.

And by knowledge shall the chambers be filled with all precious and pleasant riches. —Proverbs 24: 1-4.

UPRISING IN POLAND

THE hours passed into days, the days into weeks, and the weeks into months and Jozef Elsner — grayer, thinner — never had a direct word from Frederic —"master pianist, master composer, and still my pupil, Monsieur" —as the old man never failed to tell anyone who would listen.

Frederic's star was in the ascendant. He was not only talked about, he was played by the master pianists of the day, including of course Franz Liszt himself.

Jozef Elsner gloried in Frederic's success. But not without reservations. Yet he could never hear the name of Chopin without a beam lighting his eye nor a bloom warming his cheek. If an occasional tear showed itself he rubbed it brusquely away, choosing to think it was the consequence of weak eyes rather than of a torn heart.

His visits to Pleyer et Cie became fewer. He hungered for news but there was never any news. Frederic had withdrawn from the world, voluntarily or otherwise. He appeared occasionally in the salons of the great —and would sometimes oblige a select audience with a rendition of one of his own compositions.

Whenever Jozef Elsner stopped in at Pleyel et Cie it was always on the pretext of obtaining Frederic's latest music.

One day a familiar voice greeted him. "Professor Elsner! How are you?"

It was Franz Listz.

"—Ah, Maestro. Fine — fine, thank you."

They shook hands; Liszt warmly, Elsner bravely.

"The teaching, Professor? How does it go?"

Jozef Elsner put on a bold front. "I have a pupil or two. Yes. And in 10 more years, Maestro—serious competition for you."

"I have no doubt of it." Liszt noticed the sheet music Jozef Elsner had just purchased. "Something of Frederic's?"

"—Umm, I happened to be passing," Jozef Elsner said, seeking to cover his embarrassment. "Well, I enjoyed meeting you—"

Liszt held him. "You haven't seen him for a long time?"

Jozef Elsner's chin went up. "True—quite true, Maestro. But Monsieur Pleyel keeps me informed."

Franz Liszt took that statement for what it seemed to be worth, which was not much. "You know, then, that Frederic is not well?"

Jozef Elsner knew nothing of the kind but his pride would not let him admit his ignorance. He said, lightly: "There's no danger. Is there?"

Franz Liszt did not answer.

"—Well., you agree, don't you?"

"Yes." Liszt bowed his head. "I agree, certainly."

"—Then what could be wrong? Nothing! Frederic is busy, Maestro. So am I. We both have our work." Jozef Elsner attempted a smile. "Well, Monsieur—"

Franz Liszt said earnestly: "When he plays occasionally—I mean in some salon—wouldn't you care to hear him?"

"—Salon, Maestro?" Jozef Elsner shook his head. "No—really, salons are not in my circles—"

"Nevertheless, Professor, I shall see that you are invited—"

"—Thank you just the same. Well, good day, Monsieur Liszt."

Liszt called after him in a jocular tone: "Remember, Professor—each time—I shall see you have the invitation—"

"—No — No, I'm afraid I wouldn't know what to do with it."

It was Louis Pleyel who brought the news to Nohant. A recent Polish uprising had just been suppressed.

George read the paper in silence. "—A thousand miles from Paris," she said lightly. "I doubt very much it will disturb him."

Frederic came into the room. He was thin. His face was whiter than ever, his movements more jerky.

"I'm late for our appointment, Louis. You will forgive me."

Pleyel pretended to be gay. He forgave Frederic, of course. Then he glanced at George who was unobstrusively folding the paper to keep it from Frederic's sight.

"How do you feel this morning, Frederic?" George asked.

Frederic didn't answer directly. He walked across the room. "Truthfully, Louis, I am not exactly in a mood for business." His mind seemed to be wandering. "If it's nothing important, Louis—"

"Does Louis ever have anything important, darling?"

Monsieur Pleyel frowned.

"—He brings the same old story. You've heard it a hundred times. Every city in Europe will pay you a fortune for one concert appearance. Isn't that right, Louis?"

"Yes, absolutely."

Frederic smiled, but it was a forced smile. He patted George's hand. "Is that all, Louis?"

Louis Pleyel gulped.

"—Well, Louis, you have the same story; I have the same answer. Still, it's very nice to see you."

Pleyel's collar could not possibly be loosened more than it was already, or Louis Pleyel would have loosened it more. "Naturally, Frederic, I realize." His words were honeyed. They had never been more sweet. "Yet how often have I dreamed—yes, night after night—of just one concert here—in Paris!"

Frederic suddenly lost patience. He stamped the floor as a child in a tangent might stamp. "Excuse me, Louis! I have my own work to do. Good day, Louis! Thank you for coming!"

He strode from the room.

George sidled to her desk. She unfolded the paper. She fingered it. She looked at it.

"—Really, Louis," she said, raising her eyes; "I don't think news of Poland would disturb him very much. I don't think it would disturb him at all."

EDITION ELIMINATED

AUSTIN, April 26 (U.P.) — The Austin American-Statesman today announced suspension of Tuesday advertisements and elimination after Sunday of a "pink pup" late afternoon street edition of the Statesman, because of newsprint shortage.

Looking At Life - - - - - - By Erich Brandeis

ALTHOUGH he refused to forswear the use of tobacco—a condition asked from each applicant—the Rev. Robert G. Friend has been admitted to membership in the New Hampshire Methodist conference, according to a dispatch from Manchester, N. H.

BRANDEIS

"Smoking with me has never been a matter of morality, as many insist," he wrote in his application. "It has been purely a personal question of its effect on my health and my pocketbook. It is true that the use of tobacco by a minister affects those who are yet steeped in the anti-dancing, anti-card playing type of ethics.

"But even here, I suspect that the proper approach is the rational one based on health considerations, rather than the moral one based on supposed guilt and sin."

My hat is off to the Rev. Friend, and my hat is off also to the Methodist conference which admitted him in spite of his frankness.

Of all the letters I receive none has been so vitrolic and insulting as those that came to me from fanatics whenever I said anything in favor of smoking or dancing or going to the theater.

They quote the Bible to me, they accuse me of showing the way to perdition and damnation.

This is what I always tell them:

How can the Bible condemn smoking, when smoking was not known when the Bible was written?

For everything you quote that condemns clean, wholesome fun, I can quote you something else from the same Book that exhorts you to enjoy life in moderation and within the bounds of decency.

Nothing should be done to excess.

TOO much smoking is bad—as I can see for myself at this moment when my doctor told me to stop smoking for a month.

But I was a darn fool to smoke thirty or forty pipes a day and a few cigarets in between.

Too much water is bad. Too much sunshine is bad. Too much food is bad.

But do you mean to say that all water, all sun, all food is bad?

It seems to me that some people are never happy unless they see everyone else miserable and with long faces.

I say to you—if you don't believe in smoking, don't smoke. If you don't believe in dancing, don't dance. If you don't believe in the theater, stay home.

But don't tell others what do, don't let your own narrow mind fence in the rest of the world.

You have enough to do being your own keeper, don't try to be your brother's jailer.

Naziism As A Disease

Laboratory Studies To Be Made

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

DESTROYED Germany will now become a laboratory where Allied educators, engineers and post-mortem coroners will study the causes, sources and results of the kind of medieval barbarism which Adolf Hitler inflicted on innocent mankind. Their discoveries may make it possible to prevent a similar holocaust, at least in our time.

The scheduled investigations could not have been made after the first World war. For one thing, that conflict was the consequence of a fairly normal economic strife, and, by comparison, the kaiser conducted it in a chivalrous manner. The Reich had not been bombed out of existence and the country was a going concern, whereas now there is neither a government nor a society.

The human relationship between the conquerors and the vanquished were altogether different. Our occupation troops found 1919-1923 Germans to be a rather decent people, and came to like them better than they did some of those who fought on our side. Many soldiers returned to the United States with deep sympathy for the Teutons. In other words, World War I did not resolve itself into a clash between civilized and barbarious groups.

TUCKER

Now, almost as important as the establishment of a permanent peace organization, is how this awful thing could have happened —how the descendants of Goethe, Schiller and Kant could have been transformed into a variety of beasts in less than a decade. It is this key problem which various Allied commissions on their way or soon to be sent overseas will try to answer, so that it may never occur again.

The atrocity inquiries do not compare in long-range importance with other unpublicized plans to ascertain the basic reasons for the transformation of the Herrenvolk and attempts to re-educate the millions of believers in organized murder. The Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde question, as presented by 80,000,000 Germans, is the $64 challenge.

The United Nations will send their foremost educators and psychologists to plumb the minds of old and young who survive Hitler. They will study in detail the Nazis' system of indoctrination from the kindergarten to the universities. They will ask Germany's intellectuals and religious how they have subscribed to the Brownshirt philosophy of the degradation of a race, and world domination.

The United States has already undertaken such a soul-searching examination of the thousands of Germans in prison camps in this country. The Army has tried to dig into their minds, and to convince them that they followed false gods. But they have had little success because the POWs do not yet believe that Germany will be defeated.

BOMBING: Another commission of economists and engineers will try to probe how the Reich, a landlocked nation lacking great national resources, could rearm and defy the world for almost six years.

Its members will investigate the Hjalmar Shacht system by which he obtained war materials through barter and blocked marks. They will look into Hitler's industrial devices for producing ersatz goods, especially synthetic gasoline.

Still another group will explore the effects of our bombing of factories, transportation facilities, communications, public utilities etc. Our aerial photographs gave us only a small part of the devastating picture. Industrial engineers will report on the details.

These surveys will not be conducted merely for curiosity's sake. The information obtained will help our forces in their final assault on Japan, especially if the Nips eventually retire to Manchuria, Korea and North China. The data will also make it easier for us to control German and Japanese industrialists and military in the postwar period.

BASES: Our high Army-Navy officials regard all the chatter about possible retention of Atlantic and Pacific bases after the war as so much nonsense. They mean to keep certain outlying defense positions, and they expect the realistic Harry Truman to back them up.

Their Atlantic line, as drawn in their blueprints, includes powerful naval and aerial bases in Newfoundland, Greenland, Dakar in Africa, Natal in Brazil and areas leased from England in the Caribbean. They also have their eyes on an Air-Navy establishment in the Azores. Britain itself fits into this protective scheme.

In the Pacific they want at the minimum an outer guard extending, roughly from the Aleutians through Formosa, the Philippines, the Carolines, the Marshalls and the Marianas. They believe that these lines in both oceans, in view of the demonstrated values of a powerful air force, will make the United States impregnable.

Opponents of this system of national defense cite its cost and its alleged violation of the Atlantic Charter. But the admirals and generals, who are charged with the defense of the United States, assert that the financial outlay for maintaining these outposts would be small by comparison with the expenditures of a new war. And they hold that these safeguards would spare us another investment of $300,000,000,000 or more.

Moreover, they believe that London and Moscow will be glad to have us take over these strong points. They bring no economic or commercial advantages—merely national insurance.

WINNING THE WAR
By Albert Leman

FOUR great branches of the food industry are girding themselves for a quadrilateral battle after V-E day; they are the producers of fresh provisions, the canners, the frozen food processors and the dehydrators.

Latest developments are announcements from big executives in New York of plans not only to improve quality and flavor, but also to better service by paring distribution costs and passing the savings on to consumers.

Frozen food enterprises attract the most notice as their rate of expansion has been sensational. In 1930, the first year, 200 refrigerator cabinets were sold. Now, one 100,000 of such boxes and converted ice cream chests are in operation. The trade estimates that 200,000 units will be purchased in the early peace period.

LEMAN

Seventy-five per cent of all edibles are perishable; at least 65 per cent can be frozen. One New York corporation has processed a thousand items in its laboratory but is withholding those which at present do not meet high standard tests.

Quick-freeze experts admit that they must overcome certain handicaps before they can boost output beyond the eight hundred million pounds sold last year.

They are studying ways to cut distribution expenses. They confront a scarcity of equipment. The number of low temperature cars now on the rails are short of requirements for movement of current orders, not to mention those of tomorrow.

Few of today's truck fleets are equipped to keep freight properly chilled, and these are wearing out with scant chance of early replacements. Until critical war materials are released, not many new lockers can be manufactured.

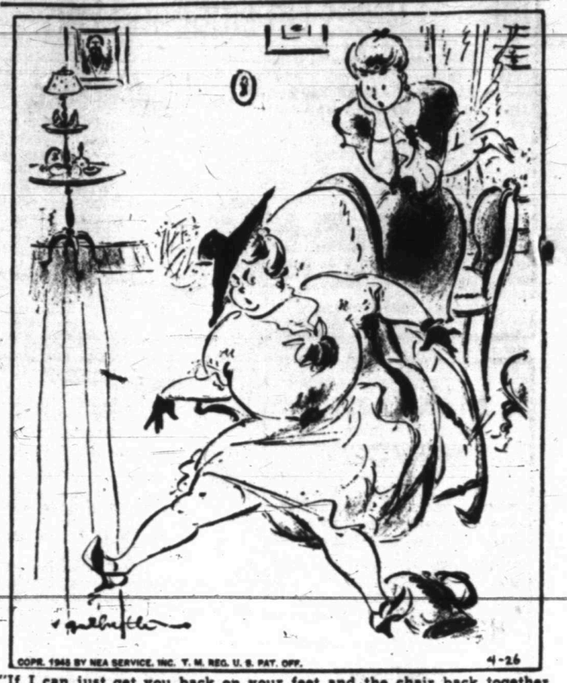

One company experimented with truck delivery direct to homes but this proved too costly. Marketing will very likely continue through retailers.

CANNERS: Spokesmen for the canners say they do not worry over the cropping up of rivals.

They point out that the frozen food industry dates back 15 years and that dehydration is as "old as Egyptian mummies." Commercially acceptable dried foods were served in World War I. Yet house wives still rely on tinned goods.

Canners are improving harvesting and handling methods and initiating lines such as pork and gravy, odd combinations of luncheon meats and new fruits and vegetables. They will promote vitamin-fortified apple and citrus juices but are saving them as a postwar sales "talking point."

Underprivileged Have Stake At Conference

Better Living For World Urged

By THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

SAN FRANCISCO.—The stake of the Limehouses of the world in this United Nations conference was emphasized coincident with its formal opening by the persuasive and attractive Clement R. Atlee, leader of the British Labor party and deputy Prime Minister, a member of Great Britain's delegation.

STOKES

Limehouse, which embraces the dock area of London's East End, is a symbol of poverty and dreary living. Mr. Atlee knows all about it. He was a social worker there as a young man. He lived among its people, saw a blighted sort of life that he never knew existed from his own background in a middle class family. It was an influence in his conversion to the Labor party movement. He represents this constituency in parliament.

There are limehouses still in our country, both urban and rural, as there are all over the world.

Opposes Economic Nationalism

The British Labor party leader took occasion, in a conference with the press, to stress the importance of the projected United Nations conference in proving the lot of people everywhere, in doing something for Limehouse. Machinery for this purpose is contemplated in the United Nations organization. This he called its positive side. The negative side is to provide machinery to prevent wars, once they are threatened.

But wars originate, he pointed out, in poor living conditions. The world-wide depression of the early thirties he saw as one of the things that led to the second World war. That is what fosters Fascism and Nationalism.

"If we want to raise the standards of living in Europe we must get away from economic nationalism," he said.

THERE must be an end to the philosophy of scarcity which was rampant during that era, with the result that governments were destroying food in some countries while people starved in others. Instead there must be substituted the philosophy of abundance.

It is the people in the Limehouses of the world who suffer so from wars, too.

The British deputy Prime Minister described the destruction in London's dock area, first from air raids, later from V-bombs. He told of the great empty spaces where once there were houses, of the death that comes without warning and without sound.

"Believe me," he said, "if you've been under pretty constant fire of long-range guns and buzz bombs it's a powerful stimulant to getting a security organization. That's something to remember. That's something every delegate to this conference should keep in mind. These weapons might come to those who think they are safe."

Impressed By U. S.

It was evident that he was very conscious of the absence of destruction in our country over which he had flown in coming to this conference. He spoke about it.

"We've all been impressed by the beauty and prosperity of this country. It was such a contrast to the place from which we had come. We want to build up something here that will mean security and prosperity for all our people everywhere."

IT has been reported that one reason for selecting San Francisco for the United Nations conference was that it would give the delegates an opportunity, in crossing the country, to see its might and size, its industrial power in the factories of the east and middle west, its great expanse of rich agricultural land, its still undeveloped potentials.

Perhaps this works both ways. It gives us, through the eyes of such visitors as Mr. Atlee, an idea of how fortunate we have been that war had left our cities whole and untouched, and serves at the same time as a warning to us unless we cooperate in an international security organization. For the V-boats that spread death and destruction along London's docks and elsewhere can be developed to the point where they can be hurled across the oceans to our big cities.

The British delegate stressed the need of a united nations organization to assist in re-building the devasted areas. He put the whole problem very concisely when he asked:

"Have we got to re-build our cities with bomb-proof shelters or are we going to re-build them like decent people."

Promotions For POW Proposed In Bill

WASHINGTON, April 26. (AP)—Service men who are prisoners of war for a year would be raised one grade in rank under a bill introduced by Senator Hill (D-Ala) for Senator Connally (D-Tex).

The bill would apply to all officers below the grade of colonel or corresponding naval rank and to warrant officers and enlisted men below the grade of master sergeant.

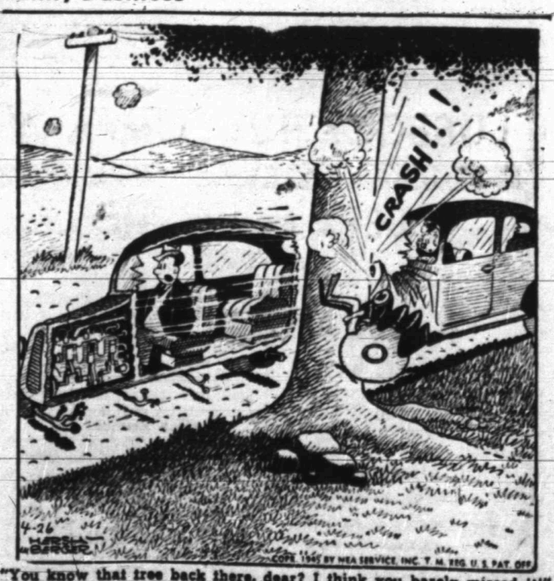

Promotions would continue at the rate of one grade for each year imprisonment.

ROAD SYSTEM PLANNED

DALLAS, April 26 (AP)—County commissioners today approved a planned 200-mile network of farm to market roads in Dallas county, to cost $2,000,000.

The first mass air evacuation in American military planes occurred in Burma and Java in 1942.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC

Buses are overburdened as never before. A crisis is near. With more men, tires and gas going to war, present service can barely be maintained. Each day brings greater loads. When you must travel locally, let this be your creed:

1. Do Not Ride in Rush Hours, except to and from your job.
2. Have Exact Fare Ready, saves time and fuss.
3. Move Back When Driver Asks, speeds your ride.

This simple creed will work wonders.

Merging Of Lines Farther North Takes Spotlight From Junction

By KIRKE L. SIMPSO
Associated Press War Analyst

The long awaited junction of Allied-Russian forces in Germany is fast changing its potential scope and meaning even though first patrol contacts in some Elbe river sector are still to be announced.

SIMPSON

With the great Elbe estuary port of Bremen in British hands and the similar Oder estuary city of Stettin taken by White Russian armies, a general merging of Russian lines on a front 200 miles or more wide from northwest of Berlin to east of Leipzig appears impending. The jaws of the great vise are already closing down to squeeze last Nazi resistance out in the north, clear to theBaltic coast. Far to the south the Third Army is clamping its grip on the Danubian river port of Passau, and is within sight of turning the last northern water barrier guarding the Nazi alpine redoubt.

Distance Not Known

The unknown factor in the south was the distance Russian columns, pushing up the Danube from Vienna or crashing through the Austrian Alps in a direct line with Berchtesgaden, had to go. Moscow has been silent as to their progress for many hours. An Allied-Russian junction on the Danube may be much closer than current progress reports would indicate.

General Patton's tanks pushing down the left flank of the Danube valley on the German-Austrian-Czechoslovakian frontier corner near Passau will be in a position to turn potential Nazi northern defense lines south of the Danube when they reach that city if it is not already in American hands. A major Danube tributary, the Inn, flows into the greater river from the southwest at Passau. A Danube crossing east of Passau would expose Salzburg and Berchtesgaden to immediate blitzkrieg attack. Patton's tanks were last reported racing down converging highways that meet at Passau from Tittling and Rhornbach.

Nazis Broken Everywhere

Every report from the European fronts bore out Secretary Stimson's unusually emphatic statement in Washington that German military power had been everywhere broken "with flat finality."

The American war secretary, echoed by Prime Minister Churchill in London, gave his words added meaning by the assertion that the situation in Germany "should be a direct warning to Japan of what is coming to our enemy in the Pacific."

There is no question that a beginning on assembling that vast striking power beyond the Pacific has already been made. Much of the equipment used last June to jump the channel from Britain to Normandy and the specially trained personnel to man it probably has already started for the Pacific. Troops, seasoned veterans of European battlefronts, will follow as they can be released by a general merging of Allied and Russian fronts for the final mopping-up in Germany, the "battle of the pockets" as Mr. Stimson styled it, for there are only pockets of Nazi resistance, big or little, that remain.

Hillsboro Man Is Awarded High Medal

CAMP HOOD, April 26. (U.P.)—The posthumous award of the medal of honor to 2nd Lt. James Harris, Hillsboro, Tex., has been made in ceremonies at Camp Hood, the War department announced today.

Commander of the Camp Hood destroyer center, Brig. Gen. Alexander O. Gorder, made the presentation to Lt. Harris' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Harris.

The medal was awarded the Texas lieutenant for his "bold and aggressive" action "above and beyond the call of duty" on Oct. 7, 1944, in the Vagney, France, sector. Alone and armed with only his service pistol, Lt. Harris left the tank he commanded to probe the darkness ahead for an opposing German armored unit.

Although mortally wounded by machine gun fire, Harris crawled back to his tank. Too weak to climb inside it, he lay on the ground between his tank and an enemy armored vehicle and gave fire orders to his crew. During the ensuing battle, Harris' tank exploded and shrapnel from the vehicle severed one of his legs at the hip.

Refusing medical aid until a wounded member of his crew had been carried to safety, Lt. Harris died before he could be given attention by the medics.

South England Now Safe From Rockets

LONDON, April 26. (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill tersely declared southern England safe at last today from Nazi flying bomb and rocket terror weapons which had caused suffering and destruction over this war-torn land since last June.

Asked in Commons whether he could make a statement on German rocket attacks, Churchill brought on relieved laughter by replying: "Yes sir. They have ceased."

At the same time the British censorship relaxed rules governing news of the V-2 rockets. An announcement said 1,050 rockets had dropped on England, killing 2,754 persons and injuring 6,523. They fell from Sept. 8, 1944, to the last reported attack four weeks ago tomorrow.

Soldier's Medal Awarded To Two

WASHINGTON, April 26 (AP)—The War department disclosed today awards of the soldier's medal to a Texan who rescued a passenger from a crashed and burning plane on Eniwetok, and to a soldier from Michigan who lost his life trying to save a fellow soldier in Texas.

Last Oct. 18, an Army airplane crashed and burned on Eniwetok. Passengers rushed to the door to escape the flames. T/3 Morris E. Yarrow of San Benito, Tex., was about to jump out when he noticed that one of the passengers had been injured and was trapped by baggage which had fallen on him.

The citation for Yarrow's award said that though suffering from burns, and knowing the imminent danger of explosions, he forced his way back and rescued the passenger.

A posthumous award was made to Pvt. Warren J. Sheffler, whose mother is Mrs. Lillian Sheffler of Highland Park, Mich. Last Dec. 16, at a parachute demonstration near Hensley field, Tex., one of the paratroopers came down in a canal by the field. Sheffler, a member of the crew of a crash boat which went to the rescue, dived from the boat and tried to swim to short with the drowning man. Sheffler sank beneath the surface before the crash boat could reach him, losing his life.

Gold Reserves Requirement Cut

WASHINGTON, April 26. (AP)—The Senate passed today and sent to the House legislation dropping the required gold reserves of Federal Reserve banks to 25 per cent of their deposits and notes in circulation.

Passage was on a voice vote.

Under present law, the banks must maintain gold reserves equal to 40 per cent of notes in circulation and 35 per cent of deposits.

Other Changes

The legislation also:

1. Extends indefinitely the authority of Federal Reserve banks to pledge federal securities against Federal Reserve notes issued by the Federal Reserve agents.

2. Repeals the 1933 authorization for issuance of Federal Reserve bank notes which require no gold backing. About $600,000,000 of such notes have been issued.

3. Repeals the 1933 authorization for issuance of up to $3,000,000,000 in U. S. "greenback" notes. This authority was never used.

The Senate rejected by voice vote two proposals by Senator Johnson (D-Colo) which would have:

(a) Held the required reserve at 30 per cent and limited that to only two years:

(b) Increased the price of gold from $35 an ounce to $56.

Four-Point Program Proposed By Wallace

NEW YORK, April 26 (AP)—A four-point postwar program of government aid to small business is proposed by Secretary of Commerce Henry A. Wallace in the May issue of Reader's Digest.

It is Wallace's aim to "keep our American economic system competitively free" and he plans to make that system "free-er than it is today."

Wallace makes plain that he is "against a planned economy." That, he says, "means tyranny."

Wallace holds, first, that government should break down "all arbitrary barriers that prevent a small business man from entering a business of his choice."

"Point 2 is to see to it that new small businesses have a reasonable access to credit.

His third proposal is to make governmental industrial research available to small business.

Wallace's last point is tax relief.

Suzuki Urges Japs To Suicide Tactics

SAN FRANCISCO, April 26. (AP)—Premier Kantaro Suzuki of Japan today exhorted Nipponese soldiers on Okinawa island to use suicide "human bullet" tactics to defeat the American invaders.

Suzuki, in the broadcast monitored by the FCC, said the Okinawa fighting gave the Japanese their "golden opportunity" to turn the tide of battle, and predicted the Americans would "flinch" before the "special-attack (suicide) spirit" of the Nipponese.

Tokyo radio said Emperor Hirohito had approved Suzuki's selection of 13 advisers to the cabinet. They included business men and industrial leaders. Some had been advisers to the fallen Koiso government.

The emperor also received Chang Ching-Hui, premier of the Manchurian puppet government. Chang brought a personal message from Emperor Henry Pu-Yi of Manchuria, and told the Japanese ruler the sight of American warplane damage done Tokyo made his "heart ache."

Municipal Utilities Contribute To Funds

CHICAGO, April 26. (AP) — Municipally owned electric utilities contribute from one-sixth to one-fourth of their gross revenues to city operating funds in place of taxes, the international city manager's association reported yesterday.

Contributions average more than 29 per cent in 18 council-manager cities and more than 50 per cent in eight cities, including Brownsville, Texas.

"But Mr. Johnson next door got a telephone!"

If you're waiting for telephone service . . . you expect to be served in your proper turn. That's the way we see it, too. If someone seems to get a telephone out of turn, we may get a question like this:

"Why does Mr. Johnson next door get a telephone? He just moved in yesterday, and I've waited for months!"

Here are possible answers.

1. "Mr. Johnson's telephone has been moved from his former address elsewhere in town."

2. "Mr. Johnson asked us for telephone service before you did, and his turn came just when he moved."

3. "The use of Mr. Johnson's telephone is vital to work directly essential to the war, or to the health and security of the community."

There is no special treatment for anyone who asks us for a telephone, except as provided in the government order covering wartime telephone service. We gladly fill each application in its proper turn, whenever we can get the equipment to do it. Thanks for your patience.

Oklahoma Private, Jap Officer Have Midnight Wrestling Match

By MAC R. JOHNSON
United Press Staff Correspondent

ABOARD A U. S. HOSPITAL SHIP, Okinawa, April 26. — A Japanese officer chewed a sizeable chunk out of the right ear of an Oklahoma private during a midnight wrestling match on the steep slopes of an Okinawa hill before the Marine stabbed the Nip to death by three hilt-deep blows with a hunting knife.

Occurred April 5

The Marine was Pvt. Charles W. Smith, 29, Holdenville, Okla. The action occurred at 12:30 a. m. on April 5th but the story could not be released until Smith's next of kin had been notified that he had been wounded.

A nurse aboard the hospital ship was dressing Smith's wound while I was present and I can say the Nip could not have been of the uneven, bucktoothed variety. The half moon missing from the top of Smith's ear was as even as if a toothpaste ad girl had bitten into a piece of cheese.

"We were dug in on the tree and brush covered military crest of a ridge," Smith said. "The Japs were infiltrating that night

"One Nip got into a foxhole next to mine and slashed one of my buddies between the eyes with a saber. They threw him into my hole.

Saber Raised

"Just then a flare lighted the scene and I could see this Nip standing at the edge of my hole with his saber raised to hit me. I lunged up and grabbed his right arm and knocked him down.

"I had my knife out and stabbed him twice in the chest and as we rolled over I stabbed him once in the back," Smith said.

"We rolled down the hill," Smith said, "and I lost my knife. This Nip had fastened his teeth in my ear and I couldn't pry him loose.

"Then he went limp. I guess he died from those knife blows. But the bullets were whistling over us so I rolled over and kept the Nip on top of me. Our own men had heard us rolling down the hill and figuring it was Nips they were firing away at us.

"One of my friends crawled up to us and put a .45 slug through the Nip's head to be sure. Then we went back to our holes.

"Boy, that Nip and I sure locked horns," Smith ended.

Terrified Germans Frantically Seek To Escape Russians

KOSSERN, Germany, April 26 (AP) — Thousands of terrified German civilians frantically tried to get through the American lines on the Mulde river today to escape the advancing Russians, who are nearing a junction with the U. S. First Army.

There is no escape for them, however, as orders have come down the line that German civilians are not to be permitted to pass through.

Not even the tears of a blonde, blue-eyed woman, who said she was a princess of Solms-Lich, cousin of the Prince of Hesse and a distant relative of the British royal family moved the guards.

"Why are you so afraid of the Russians?" Maj. Roy Jameson of Ranger, Texas, asked the princess and her husband.

Both shrugged and the princess replied, "we hear such things of the Russians. We hear they kill people."

"Did you ever hear of Buchenwald?" they were asked.

"Yes" said the princess, but there were only German political prisoners there, enemies of the Nazis.

Given a brief fill-in, the princess said "we had nothing to do with that."

But she and her husband were not permitted to cross.

Among other of the guards, Pfc. John E. Johnson, Bonham, Tex., said "the panicky Germans are doing everything possible to cross.

Slaton Man Among Yank Sailors With British Fleet Units

(By The Associated Press)

ABOARD BRITISH FLEET CARRIER, Western Pacific.—The U. S. Navy assigned a number of men to work with the British Pacific fleet, but Lt. (jg) Willard Parker of Dubuque, Ia., wasn't one of them. He just drifted into the job.

The American fighter pilot was rescued by a British destroyer March 27 after two days at sea on a rubber lifeboat. He had floated down from the vicinity of Okinawa where he was forced to water-land his carrier-based Hellcat during the pre-invasion strikes on that island.

The destroyer had gone off course searching for the crew of a downed British Avenger crew when it sighted Parker's boat.

Americans assigned to the British fleet are doing mainly communications liaison work.

Lt. Jim Fatlon, Sayville, N. Y., has that job aboard a British destroyer. "I like it fine," he said. "Everything is peaceful and quiet."

Chief Radio Mechanic Charles F. Caesar, West Palm Beach, Fla., went all the way from Miami to Sydney, Australia, to join the British ship. His work keeps him busy, but "I'm having my tea and rum and not complaining in the least."

Other Americans aboard include: Radioman 1/C Hugo W. Mosser (Route 2, Box 16) Slaton, Tex.

Various Rolls May Be Baked From Basic Sweet Dough

(EDITOR'S NOTE: During April home demonstration women in Lubbock county attended food preparation schools directed by Miss Clara Pratt. A number of dishes prepared at the sessions will be presented on the food page from time to time.)

Basic Sweet Dough

2 cakes compressed yeast
2½ c. milk scalded and cooled
½ to 1 c. butter or fat
2 t. salt
1½ c. nuts, raisens, or candied orange, if desired
¼ to 1 c. sugar
2 to 4 eggs
1 lemon rind and juice
½ t. nutmeg, mace or cinnamon
About 8 c. flour

Scald milk and cool. Cream together butter, salt and sugar. Add beaten eggs, lemon, spice, milk and yeast. Add flour and beat. Add more flour to make a soft dough. Knead until smooth, keeping it somewhat softer than for bread. Cover and let rise to double in bulk. When double in bulk, shape at once or knead down and let rise again about ½ hour.

Cinnamon Rolls

When dough is light turn onto floured cloth. Roll gently into rectangle ¼ inch thick, 15 inches wide, any length. Brush with butter and sprinkle with sugar and cinnamon. Roll up as for jelly roll, pressing down last edge firmly. Cut into 1 inch slices. Place close together, cut side up, in shallow greased pan. Cover, let rise to 2½ times original bulk. Sprinkle tops with sugar and cinnamon. Bake about 25 minutes in moderate oven, 350 degrees.

Swedish Rolls

Roll out as for Cinnamon Rolls, brush with butter, and sprinkle with sugar, a dash of cinnamon and chopped nuts, raisens or citron. Roll up, cut in 1 inch slices, and finish as directed under Cinnamon Rolls.

Tea Rings

Prepare as for Swedish Rolls. Curve long roll into ring, joining ends. Place in greased pan. Cut gashes 2 inches apart almost through dough. Turn slices partly on side to form star. Butter top. Let rise until doubled. Bake in moderate oven about 30 minutes. Frost top and sprinkle with chopped nuts.

Baked Spareribs And Sauerkraut

3 pounds spareribs — kraut
1 onion chopped — Salt and pepper
1 quart sauerkraut — ½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce

Wipe spareribs with a damp cloth. Dredge lightly with flour. Season with salt and pepper. Sprinkle onion over top. Place on rack in roasting pan and roast at 325° one and one-half hours. At the end of the first hour place sauerkraut over the spareribs, adding a little water if kraut is dry. Serve with pan gravy to which one-half teaspoon Worcestershire sauce is added.

New Orleans Sundae

U. S. To Treat POW According To Geneva

WASHINGTON, April 26. (AP)—Notwithstanding mistreatment of American prisoners by Germany and Japan, the War department reiterated to Congress today its determination to abide by the Geneva convention covering prisoners of war.

Brig. Gen. R. W. Berry, deputy assistant chief of staff, told the House military committee the Geneva convention was a part of the supreme law of the United States and so long as it was, the department had no choice but to abide by it.

The department, General Berry added, is bound by the convention unless Congress orders otherwise.

General Berry was the first witness as the committee started a general investigation of prisoners of war.

General Berry told the committee approximately 390,000 German, Italian and Japanese prisoners are in this country in addition to 1,737,500 held outside the United States. Almost 2,000,000 of the total are Germans.

If unmolested, insects would, at their rate of multiplication, overrun the world in a comparatively short time.

DELICIOUS DISH—A delicious dish for these winter-spring days is asparagus on toast with cheese sauce. Make a cream sauce of 2 tablespoons of butter or margarine, 4 tablespoons flour and 2 cups milk. When thickened and smooth add one-half pound shredded American cheese and stir until it is melted. Season to taste with salt and pepper. Place each serving of asparagus on two toast points and cover with a generous amount of hot cheese sauce: 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, 2 tablespoons flour, 1 cup milk, 1 cup shredded American cheese, salt and pepper. Make cream sauce with butter or margarine, the flour and milk. When thickened and smooth, add the cheese and stir until it is melted. Season to taste.

Some Would Make It Agricultural State

Strict Control Of German Industry Favored In U. S.

American Institute of Public Opinion
By GEORGE GALLUP, Director

PRINCETON, N. J.—The approaching end of the European war finds the country in a mood to deal firmly, even severely, with German industry after hostilities cease.

The experience of two world wars started by Germany within hardly more than a generation has led the majority of American civilians to advocate strict supervision over German industrial output, with manufacture of armaments rigidly forbidden. One person in every four would go even farther and either destroy the industry of the Reich, making her largely an agricultural state, or have the Allies take over the operation of German factories and run them ourselves.

GALLUP

These sentiments are revealed in a coast-to-coast survey by the Institute, which found that only four persons in every 100, or 4 per cent, believe the proper policy is to help promote German industry and encourage it to try to be equal with other countries again.

The poll found interesting differences of attitude between people in this country who have had college training, and people who have had only a grade school education or less. In general, the college-trained group was found to be less in favor of drastic punishment of German industry.

The question in the poll was:

"What do you think should be done with German industry after the war?"

The replies fell into these chief categories:

Close supervision and control	36%
Destroy German industry, make her mainly agricultural	13
Take it over ourselves and run it	10
Promote it, encourage Germans to build up their industry	5
Do nothing, not our concern	4
No Opinion	13

Educators and statesmen will be especially interested in noting the variation in opinions as expressed by voters who have had some college education, voters who have had high school training only, and those who had a grade school education only, or no schooling.

	Coll.	High School	Grade School or No School
Supervise	71%	60%	36%
Destroy	6	12	15
Take it over	9	10	19
Promote	3	5	4
Do nothing	3	5	4
No Opinion	7	8	15

The percentages above add to more than 100 because a few people named more than one alternative.

The poll did not include men in the armed forces, whose opinions on the treatment of Germany may or may not coincide with civilian opinion. Military regulations do not permit polls among servicemen.

In California oil heaters are placed at regular intervals throughout fruit groves to diffuse heat when frost threatens. Many crops are saved in this way.

Children Need Milk In Diet

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the second in a series of articles on feeding the pre-school child, prepared by Miss Reuby Tom Rhodes, graduate of the Tech home economics division and dietitian at St. Mary's hospital. Others will follow on this food page).

SINCE milk is the food which nature provides for the nourishment of young, it is not difficult for us to realize the importance of its inclusion in the diet. Nutritionists agree that one quart of milk a day is the quantity which is most satisfactorily utilized in the day's plan.

That milk is a perfect food is a popular fallacy, for it is low in quantities of certain vitamins and minerals, especially Vitamin C and iron. It is a good source of the B Vitamins, Vitamin A, calories, protein, and calcium. The most important single value of milk is in its abundance of calcium which provides for bone and tooth formation at this period when these functions are more important than they will ever be. Growth is likewise assured by the quality and quantity of protein provided.

Inclusion of a quart a day in the child's diet is possible if menus of the following type are used:

Breakfast:
Orange Juice
Scrambled Eggs
Buttered Whole Wheat Toast
Jelly
Milk

Dinner:
Broiled Bacon
Baked Sweet Potatoes
Buttered Green Beans
Apple and Carrot Salad
Bread and Butter Sandwich
Grape Nut Custard
Milk

Supper:
Cream of Pea Soup
Whole Wheat Crutons Butter
Graham Crackers
Milk

Although pasteurization is responsible for the destruction of 15% of the Vitamin C content of milk, it is to be preferred for reasons of sanitation. It is simple to increase quantities of citrus fruits and other sources of Vitamin C to compensate for this loss.

Support Prices On Hogs Are Extended

DALLAS, April 26 (AP) — The War Food administration said today it had extended support prices on hogs to include all good and choice butcher hogs up to 300 pounds. The former weight range limit was 270 pounds.

The increase in weight range was due to a more favorable feed situation and need for more fats and oils, WFA said. It followed a recent increase in support prices on good and choice butcher hogs to $13 per hundredweight, Chicago basis. WFA officials said this support price will continue until Sept. 1, 1946.

Hike In Truck Load Limit Passes; Soldier Vote Proposal Advances

AUSTIN, April 26. (AP) — Final passage of a bill raising the truck load limit, and approval by a House-Senate conference committee of a proposed compromise constitutional amendment to facilitate soldier voting, marked legislative progress on important measures today.

The House finally passed, 73 to 65, and sent to the Governor for signature a Senate bill raising the maximum gross truck load limit from 38,000 to 48,000 pounds.

Soldier Vote Plan

The soldier vote proposal still must be submitted to the House and Senate. The resolution calling for submission of the constitutional amendment, adopted by the free conference committee, is the outgrowth of a number of proposals along this line that have been offered to the 49th legislature.

If approved by two-thirds votes in both branches of the legislature, the amendment to be submitted to the people next Aug. 25 would provide that nothing in the constitution shall be construed as requiring persons in the armed forces or Merchant Marine to pay a poll tax as a prerequisite to voting, in time of war or for one year thereafter.

Regulars Not Involved

This exception would not apply to members of the regular or professional Army, and would apply only to those "otherwise qualified" as voters. This would exclude service men and women under the age of 21.

A bitter fight over old-age assistance legislation was brewing in the Senate. Sen. James Taylor of Kerens was attempting to write in a $30,000,000 ceiling on the amount of money the state may appropriate for old age pensions, aid to needy blind and to dependent children.

Chinese coolies who helped build bases for the B-29 Superfortress, have their own name for the Jeep. Their written characters, translated literally, call a Jeep, "Four wheels with 1000 uses."

Violation Of Park Agreement Denied

AUSTIN, April 26. (U.P.)—J. V. Ashe, chairman of Texas state parks board, and executive secretary Frank D. Quinn today both denied violating an agreement for use of Longhorn state park for white mental patients.

State Sen. A. M. Aiken, jr., Paris, in debate over an appropriation to fix CCC buildings at the park for the patients, had charged the park board and specifically Quinn with "agitating" opposition to the plan after it had been agreed upon between the parks board and state board of control.

Quinn, telephoning from East Texas, said after the compromise was reached he accepted the action of the park board and mentioned the matter to no one, and made no suggestions, and expected to carry it out.

Ashe said no one connected with the parks board suggested or requested that the appropriation to fix up the buildings be made to the parks board instead of the board of control.

Missing Sugar Cause Of Firemen's Trouble

ENID, Okla., April 26 (AP) — The phone rang at the fire department and a woman's voice first gave her name and her address.

Firemen manned the trucks and started for her home before she frantically explained that there was no fire. She merely wanted to know why she hadn't received her canning sugar.

Day Of Victory To Be Proclaimed By Chiefs Of State

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, Paris, April 26(AP)—The chiefs of state of the principal Allied powers, and not Gen. Eisenhower, will proclaim the day of victory in Europe, just as they are to announce shortly the junction of the Russian and western Allied armies in Germany.

There is no general expectation here that the V-E day announcement is near at hand. It is known that considerable influence is being brought to bear to prevent a premature celebration.

There is confidence that Germany will be smashed as a military power by the anniversary of D-Day, June 6, less than a month and a half away. But the majority of correspondents at supreme headquarters believe there is little likelihood of ending the last desperate resistance in the far northern and southern pockets or redoubts by that time.

The United States contains less than seven per cent of the world's population, and occupies only 5.9 per cent of the world's land surface.

Yank Observers Watch Reds Cross Elbe But Flares Get No Response

By ANN STRINGER
United Press War Correspondent

WITH U. S. FIRST ARMY, Beyond The Mulde River, Germany, April 23. (Delayed)—Two artillery observers flew over the Russian lines today and saw Red Army soldiers crossing the Elbe river.

They saw two large motorized Soviet columns—one snaking its way across the Elbe and the second pouring westward. Advance elements of one were entering the flaming town of Riesa, 25 miles from the First Army front lines.

Westernmost Advance

Riesa is due east of Leipzig and 20 miles northwest of Dresden.

The Soviet crossing of the Elbe is the westermost advance to date by the Russians, their first bridgehead across the Elbe.

The artillery observers were Maj. Harry Bush, Auburn, Ala., and Maj. Charles Babcock, Vineyard Haven, Mass.

They said Riesa was in flames, with huge pillars of smoke billowing up.

"A long column could be seen moving along the east bank of the Elbe opposite Riesa and across the river northward, and entering the city. The city was flaming, apparently from an artillery barrage which hit it before the bridgehead was made," Bush said.

No Answer To Flares

"We fired three flares but received no answer," Babcock said.

"There was another long column moving westward. We could see the column stretching east as far as the eye could see, at least 10 kilometers (6¼ miles), and packed solid."

Babcock said they flew over the city about a half hour, coming down to almost the rooftops. At that low altitude, however, they drew small arms fire.

"Either they were trying to warn us away or they thought we were Germans in a captured plane, for the column was undoubtedly Russian," Bush said.

Many Small Vehicles

"There were many small vehicles racing up and down the road. They looked like American jeeps. Just west of the city we saw traffic moving along small roads and off roads—apparently troops going into bivouac."

The two said they did not dip their wings at the columns "because we were afraid they might think we were peeling off for an attack."

"We had planned to give them a friendly buzz—until they shot at us," Bush said. "That changed our minds."

Generous Man Nearly Gets A Friend Shot

OKLAHOMA CITY, April 26 (AP) Police Lt. Chick Faris bought five salvaged Army raincoats and almost caused one of the friends to whom he gave the garments to be shot.

An FBI agent told Faris one of the coats had "POW" (prisoner of war) painted on the back of it.

Bishop Selecman Is President Of Council

CHICAGO, April 26. (U.P.)—Bishop Charles C. Selecman, Dallas, former president of Southern Methodist university, was elected president of the executive council of Methodist bishops today.

Other officers included: Bishop Titus Lowe, Indianapolis, Ind., vice president; and Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam, New York, secretary. Also elected to the executive committee were Bishops James H. Straughn, Pittsburgh, and Wilbur E. Hammaker, Denver.

Bishop Selecman, who was presiding bishop over Oklahoma and Arkansas from 1938 to 1944, succeeded Biship H. Lester Smith, Columbus, O., retired.

The four day conference was attended by approximately 35 effective and retired bishops.

Bishop Oxnam was absent from the session to attend the enthronement of the Archbishop of Canterbury in London as a representative of the federal council of churches of which he is president.

Violation Of Stolen Property Act Charged

OKLAHOMA CITY, April 26. (AP) — Edward Thomas Freeman will be tried in Muskogee on a charge of violating the national stolen property act which alleges he obtained $33,000 at Durant, Okla., and $17,000 at Vernon, Tex., from Mrs. Lucy Aymond, Alexandria, La., through a confidence scheme, special FBI agent D. A. Bryce announced last night.

Freman was arrested here and failed to post $50,000 bond set by U. S. Commissioner Paul Showalter, before whom he was arraigned on a fugitive warrant.

Officers Named By Publishers Group

NEW YORK, April 26. (AP) — William G. Chandler, an executive of the Scripps-Howard newspapers, today became president of the American Newspaper Publishers association at the organization's annual meeting.

David W. Howe, business manager of the Burlington, Vt., Free Press, was elected vice-president; Norman Chandler of the Los Angeles Times was reelected secretary, and Edwin S. Friendly, vice president and general manager of the New York Sun was reelected treasurer.

Linwood I. Noyes of the Irionwood, Mich., Globe, retiring president, was named a director for two years.

Under ANPA custom, an official of the organization said, the vice president succeeds to the presidency two years after his election as vice president.

Elected to fill the expiring term of directors were:

E. M. Antrim, business manager of the Chicago Tribune; Js Gray, publisher of the Monroe, Mich., News; F. I. Ker, publisher of the Hamilton, Ont., Spectator, and William F. Schmick, business manager of the Baltimore Sun.

Elected to succeed directors who resigned were:

Charles P. Manship of the Baton Rouge, La., State-Times and Advocate, succeeding George C. Biggers of the Atlanta Journal, and B. N. Honea of the Fort Worth, Tex., Star Telegram to succeed Ted Dealey of the Dallas, Tex., News. Both were elected for one year.

Two Mummified Bodies Found

ST. LOUIS, April 26. (U.P.)—Discovery of two mummified bodies, one that of a negro propped in the cob-webbed corner of a deserted building, today brought to four the number of such cases in the St. Louis area within a week.

The negro, known in his neighborhood as "Jim Fields," died 25 years ago. The second body was that of "Deaf Bill" Lee, who made a catch-as-catch-can living as a Mississippi river fisherman. He died in 1915, and since then his body has lain in an Alton, Ill., funeral home, unclaimed by relatives.

Burial Of "Maud"

These disclosures followed closely the burial of "Maud," unidentified woman whose shrunken body for 40 years lay in an outmoded wooden coffin in a local funeral parlor. Later yesterday, the body of Francis Schlatter, described as a "chemist and lecturer" was found in another funeral home. He died in 1922.

The strange story of the negro mummy was told by Edward E. Murrell, a retired undertaker. He said that "about the time of the first world war" a negro undertaker brought the body to the funeral parlor of his brother "to wait for relatives." The relatives never came.

Body Not In Coffin

Two years ago, he said, the brother's establishment was demolished. The body was not in a coffin," Murrell said. "It is standing in a corner behind some packing boxes."

Police are investigating.

Charles Conner told the Star-Times he helped move the equipment and declared he put three bodies into the now-abandoned building—that of the negro, a negro woman and a negro baby.

Murrell, however, denied there was more than one body.

Stay-Order Issued In Genecov Case

AUSTIN, April 26. (AP)—The Supreme court has issued a stay-order until July 9 in the case of A. S. Genecov of Tyler, remanded to the custody of the sheriff of Dallas county to serve a sentence for contempt of court.

Tunnel Locations Decided At Houston

HOUSTON, April 26. (U.P.)—The Harris county commissioners court decided today that the two tunnels to be built under the Houston ship channel will be located at Pasadena and Spillman island.

The decision followed closely on the heels of a statement by City Manager John N. Edy that Houston still favored selection of Fidelity island for location of one of the tunnels.

The commissioners selected Pasadena and Spillman island upon motion of Hugh A. May, precinct 2 commissioner.

OPA Brings Over 99 Per Cent Of Nation's Meat Under Rationing

By GWEN MORGAN
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, April 26. — Price Chief Chester Bowles today brought 99½ per cent of all meat under rationing in order to spread more evenly civilian supplies expected to drop another six million pounds in May.

Beginning Sunday and continuing until the start of the next ration period June 2, all meats except mutton will require red points, including cull and utility grades of veal and lamb and all grades of less popular cuts of veal and lamb such as breasts, shanks, necks and flanks.

Other Changes Given

Other changes in the meat and fat rationing program for May will be increases of one to two points per pound for most cuts of lamb and veal and one point for most beef steaks; decreases of one to two points on beef roasts and other cuts of beef; increases of four points for margarine; and two points for grade one cheese.

Butter and hamburger remain unchanged at 24 and 6 points per pound. So do ration values of lard, shortening, cooking and salad oils.

The expanded program for May puts meat rationing back where it was a year ago before most meats were made point free. Since then point values have been gradually restored until in April 94½ per cent was back on the ration list. Today's action makes it 99½ per cent.

The only meat that remains unrationed is some five million pounds of mutton.

Even Distribution Sought

Bowles said the adjustments were necessary to distribute the available meat supply as evenly as possible "during the period of very short civilian supplies."

He estimated civilians would have six million pounds less meat in May than they did in April, but said there should be improved distribution of what there is as a result of OPA's newly-announced meat control program.

The plan calls for expenditures of $34,000,000 to insure meat producers against loss, increase the amount of federally-inspected meat available for civilians and stamp out the black market.

In another move yesterday aimed at increasing the supply of lard the War Food administration extended hog support prices to include good and choice grade animals weighing up to 300 pounds. Heavy hogs provide more lard.

Give Chance At Share

Bowles said the return of most remaining meats to rationing would keep point increases of more desirable cuts "at a minimum" and "give every person the best chance possible to get his fair share."

He estimated that during May there would be a little more veal, lamb, mutton and pork than in April but that there would be nine million pounds less beef.

He said increased use of margarine necessitated raising its point value from 8 to 12 points a pound in order to keep consumption within the limits of civilian supply. Butter, he added, will be slightly more plentiful in May.

Bowles said the estimated supply of cheeses for May would be 56,000,000 pounds, the same as for April.

The ration point value goes up from 10 to 12 points a pound for all the so-called group I cheeses and for all products containing 30 per cent or more of cheese types included in group I.

Group I cheese include:

Cheddar, colby washed curd, soaked curd, swiss, brick, muenster, edam, gouda, blue, gorganzola, Monterey, high moisture jack, grated dehydrated, and the following "Italian type groups":

Provolone, Parmesan, monte modena, asiago (soft), romano, asiago (medium), and:

"Any cheese containing more than 10 per cent butterfat by weight, manufactured by any variations of the respective processes for the type of cheese listed, which do not materially change the nature of the finished products."

Yanks Who Meet Reds Face Kissing Ordeal

MOSCOW, April 26 (AP)—While the world awaited an announcement of a link-up of American and Red Army forces, Muscovites worried a little about a Russian custom—of kissing one another at a meeting.

An engineer questioned near Red Square said that no matter where the link-up takes place "it will be one of the greatest moments of our epoch."

"The only thing that worries me," he said, "is that we Russians usually kiss one another. This may seem strange to Americans, but I suppose everything will be all right on such an occasion."

Several Held In Argentine After 'Extremist' Plot Is Discovered

BUENOS AIRES, April 26 (U.P.)—A number of persons were held in custody today following discovery of an extremist plot which the government said was designed to nullify Argentina's recent action in international policy.

The action referred to presumably was Argentina's declaration of war on the Axis and its signing of the Chapultepec act.

A government communique issued last night described the plotters as thoroughly reactionary, although they attempted to give their activity a semblance of a democratic movement.

A detachment of troops moved into the Palermo district of Buenos Aires from the Campo de Mayo Army base, as a precautionary measure, against possible disturbances in connection with the fall of Berlin," the communique said.

Resignation Reported

(Authoritative reports reaching Montevideo from Buenos Aires said that Vice Presient Col. Juan D. Peron, Argentina strong man, had submitted his resignation Tuesday but that no action had been taken yet by the government.)

Peron defended his social reform program in a speech yesterday before a meeting of the inter-American economic institute in honor of the late President Roosevelt.

The communique did not identify or give the number of persons held in connection with the plot, although the socialist newspaper, La Vanguardi, said its editor Americo Ghioldi had been arrested.

The General Workers' federation meantime issued a statement describing the plot as an attempt by the "Nazi-Fascist Alliance and representatives of the most reactionary elements of capitalism" to take over the government. The attempt was now "definitely under control," the statement added.

Ralls Man Adds 2nd Battle Star To Ribbon

AN EIGHTH AIR FORCE AERIAL RECONNAISSANCE STATION, England—M/Sgt. Roy H. Chapman, 26, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Chapman of Ralls, Tex., has added a second battle star to his theater of operations ribbon. It signifies participation by the Seventh Photo Reconnaissance squadron in the Normandy campaign. His first star represents the group's participation in the air offensive over Europe.

Sgt. Chapman is a laboratory chief for one of the photo squadrons which comprise the group commanded by Lt. Col. George W. Humbrecht of St. Louis, Mo. The group is one of Brig. Gen. Elliott Roosevelt's 325th photo wing units. He entered the Army May 19, 1941, and has been in the Europeah theater of operations since November, 1943.

Hale County Man Now Assigned At Monterey

U. S. NAVAL SECTION BASE, Monterey, Calif.—William E. Patterson, boatswain' mate second class, USNR, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin C. Patterson, Olton RFD, Plainview, Tex., is presently assigned to this West coast naval base as assistant dockmaster.

Patterson, a veteran of 31 months duty in the Navy, served 21 months at an advanced base in the South Pacific before being assigned to the mainland. He was recently transferred here from the Navy section base at Eureka, Calif. He and his wife, Mrs. Gwendolyn Patterson, also from Plainview, are temporarily residing in historic and scenic Monterey, which was settled centuries ago by the Spanish Dons.

"We like it here but it isn't like Texas," the young couple asserted. Patterson's duties consist primarily of keeping small patrol craft in shape for their task of guarding the California coast.

Meadow Flier Receives His Third Cluster

AN EIGHTH AIR FORCE BOMBER STATION, England — First Lieutenant Richard V. Turnbough, 24-year-old Meadow, Texas, pilot on an Eighth Air Force B-17 Flying Fortress, has been awarded the third Oak Leaf Cluster to the Air Medal for "meritorious achievement" during bombing attacks on Nazi military and industrial installations and in cooperation with Allied ground forces. The award was presented by Col. Charles B. Dougher, commanding officer of the 94th Bomb Group. Lt. Turnbough is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Turnbough of Meadow, Texas. He was a student before entering the Army Air Forces.

Nuernberg, Once Nazi Dream City, Now Is Great Heap Of Ruins

By WADE WERNER
Associated Press Staff Writer

NUERNBERG, Germany. — Here lies Nuernberg, once the dream city of Nazidom, today a fantastic, fearsome nightmare of gutted great architecture, medieval memories of disemboweled churches— the deepest pit in the German gehenna.

The torn, charred carcass of the old city within its ancient walls is recognizable — barely — because the remnants of remembered landmarks are still standing.

Looking at these landmarks amid the smoldering embers, one remembers why the Nazis chose it for their annual party congress. Old Neurnberg was the embodiment of German dreams and traditions through the centuries; upon it the Nazis superimposed their own traditions.

Amazing Dreams

Many and amazing were their dreams, and some of them came true—at least partly and for a while.

Here it was that Hitler dreamed aloud in 1936, inspired by the rumbling of new German tanks over Nuernberg's cobblestones and the drone of Goering's new bombers overhead:

"Yes, if I had the Ukraine . . . if we had the Urals!"

He got the Ukraine eventually, but the Urals remained a mirage.

Here the Nazis dreamed of an Aryanized Europe and wrote their dreamings into law — the ruthless Nuernberg anti-Jewish statutes. That dream also was partially realized — but it lies among smoking ruins now.

Nuernberg's ancient castle is in ruins, so also are the dreams of empire Hitler dreamt there. Nine years ago I walked through halls and corridors of its stately interior, past portraits of one German emperor after another until finally I passed a likeness of the last Hohenzollern Kaiser Wilhelm II—then I stepped onto a little balcony to meet Germany's new imperial genius — Hitler himself.

The long walk past those many emperors to the most ambitious of them all was an impressive build-up in the best Nuernberg Nazi style. Today I could see no trace of that balcony. The beflagged streets through which the fuehrer rode are ashes now.

NEWS SAID SQUELCHED

LONDON, April 25. (AP) — Samuel Silverman, Laborite member of Parliament, charged today that the "British government deliberately kept from the public the truth about German concentration camps" for six years before the war, in hopes of appeasing the Germans.

Lt. James C. Hurley Wins Fourth Cluster

AN EIGHTH AIR FORCE FIGHTER STATION.—"For exceptional meritorious service in accomplishing with distinction numerous aerial operational missions over enemy territory," 1st Lt. James C. Hurley, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Hurley, of Idalou, Tex., has been awarded a fourth Oak Leaf Cluster to his Air Medal. An oak leaf cluster signifies an additional award of the same decoration.

HURLEY

Lt. Hurley flies a P51 Mustang in the high scoring 352nd Fighting Group which has destroyed over 650 enemy aircraft, both in the air and on the ground. The group recently received the coveted War department Distinguished Unit Citation "for extraordinary heroism, determination, and esprit de corps in action against the enemy." The decoration accompanying the citation is a gold framed blue ribbon worn on the right chest, the only decoration so worn.

Lt. Hurley, a former pilot, graduated from Lorenzo High school in 1940 and worked for the Carlsbad Caverns, N. M., before entering AAF.

Bronze Star Awarded To Sudan Soldier

WITH THE FIFTH ARMY, Italy — Pvt. Aubie L. Humphreys, Sudan, Tex., recently was awarded the Bronze Star for meritorious service in combat.

He is serving on the Fifth Army front in Italy as an ambulance driver in a medical battalion with the 10th "Mountaineer" Infantry division.

Although enemy artillery fire made driving extremely dangerous, stated the award citation, Humphreys drove all day bringing litterbearers to forward positions and returning to the rear with wounded. His devotion to duty was highly commended.

Humphreys, now 20, entered service in May, 1943. His next of kin is Mrs. Lena M. Humphreys, route 2, Sudan.

Crosbyton Girl In The Marines Is Known As "Fireball" To Mates

CHERRY POINT, N. C. — Like her native state Texas, Marine Pfc. Eva Nell Barrett, of Crosbyton, is a big gal, standing 70 inches in her stocking feet. She has the typical soft, slow drawl of all Texans.

In the Marine Corps when you're from Texas the nickname "Tex" is hung on you usually and it most often sticks. She's an exception. She's called "Fireball."

"Fireball" loves the life of a Marine, especially her job assignment. Although she misses her horse, she says driving in the transportation department at this Marine Corps Air Station is the next best thing.

The Texas woman Marine is a real "sho-nuff" cow-girl, too, for she lived on a cattle ranch with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Barrett, near Lubbock for 18 of her 20 years. She can ride and rope like a man.

Sports? She's no mean tennis player, having participated in several amateur tournaments in the Lone Star State. She's strictly the athletic girl with team sports high on her popularity list. "Fireball" is also good at her favorite indoor pastime, roller-skating.

Her three brothers are in the service and she wanted to help them. Bill, a Marine starr sergeant, was in the action on Iwo Jima and was safe when she last heard from him. Al is an Army second lieutenant in India and Pat is a seaman first class in the Navy stationed on Guam. She enlisted on April 7, 1944, at El Paso, Tex. She went to "boot camp" at Camp Lejeune, N. C., and then attended motor transport school there.

"Fireball's" burning ambition is to become a lawyer and a good one. She got the idea while working as a legal stenographer in Ralls, Tex., before enlisting. When the war is over, she's going back to school to achieve her goal.

Ambitious Telephone Program Outlined

ST. LOUIS, April 26. (AP)—The Southwestern Bell Telephone company tonight announced a goal of 165,000 new farm telephones to be installed in the five years following the war.

Shields R. Smith, general manager of the company, said completion of this program would result in three times as many farm telephones as there now are in the six-state area, including Texas and Oklahoma.

Anton Pilot Awarded Air Medal In England

AN EIGHTH AIR FORCE FIGHTER STATION, England.—For his performance in combat sorties over German territory, 2nd Lt. Madison H. Newton, 22-year-old Texan, has been awarded the Air Medal. Lt Newton, son of H. B. Newton, Anton, Tex., was cited "for meritorious achievement while serving as a pilot of a fighter airplane in sustained combat operations over Germany and German occupied countries. The courage, coolness and skill displayed by Lt. Newton reflects great credit upon himself and the Armed Forces of the United States." He is assigned to the 359th Fighter Group and before going into the Air force, was a pre-medical student at Texas Tech.

O'Donnell Soldier Is Promoted To Sergeant

WITH THE 12TH AAF IN ITALY—William C. Taylor, son of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Taylor, O'Donnell, Tex., has been promoted to sergeant. Overseas since February, 1943, Sgt. Taylor is an airplane mechanic with a veteran fighter group of the 12th Air Forces 22nd Tactical Air command attacking installations in support of Allied ground troops in Northern Italy. Sgt. Taylor's outfit participated in the Egyptian-Libyan, Tunisian, Sicilian, Italian and French campaigns and has been awarded three War department unit citations for outstanding performance of duty.

SPUR MAN RETURNING

WITH THE FIFTH ARMY, Italy Pfc. Fred D. Springer of Spur, Tex., is returning home on a 45-day furlough from the Fifth Army front in northern Italy. Springer, an air compressor operator, has been overseas more than 30 months with the 401st Engineer Combat battalion. He participated in the invasions on North Africa and Sicily and the battles of Kasserine Pass, Tunisia and Cassino, Italy. His battalion aided in the assault on the Gothic Line. Springer's father, William B. Springer, lives at Spur.
