Texas Demos Told To Make 'Militant' Party In Address

Missourian Opens Western Campaign In State Where Democrats Will Meet To Name Standard Bearer.

DECLARES FOR RIGID ENFORCEMENT OF LAW

Says He Learned Through Heartaches of War Not To Renounce Man Because of Race Or Religion

(By Associated Press) DALLAS, Feb. 20.—Democrat were called upon to unite in a "militant" party by Senator Reed of Missouri in laying down a platform here tonight calling first for "the return to honesty in government."

In the state where the party will elect a presidential candidate next June, the Missouri democratic candidate opened a western campaign before an enthusiastic audience which jammed the city auditorium. Senator Reed was introduced by T. H. McGregor of Austin as a "worthy" presidential candidate for Texas, but the Missourian departed from his prepared address to disclaim personal achievement in the interests of harmony and "purging" the government.

Religion No Barrier Departing from his speech again, the Missourian was cheered by the Texans as he said he had learned "through the heartaches of war never to denounce a man for his race or his religion."

He laid aside his address also to pronounce his views on law observance as he declared for strict law enforcement.

"If we have bad laws," he said, "it is our business to see that they are repealed according to the constitution framed by our fathers. We have the right to our own opinions of laws, and it doesn't follow that because a law is passed it is necessarily a just law."

"But while laws are laws they must be enforced by every man who

Selection of Jury In Helms Case Is Begun Yesterday

Now Fear Verdict of 250 May Be Exhausted Before Jury Is Completed For Eastland Trial.

(By Associated Press) EASTLAND, Feb. 20.—Picking of a jury to try Henry Helms, on the charge of robbery in connection with the holdup of the First National bank of Cisco, was begun in district court here this afternoon. Although 250 veniremen were called from which names are to be selected, a jury, it is likely that it will be necessary to call a special venire. The first four men called this afternoon escaped serving. Two were challenged by defense attorney J. Lee Gearty, who exhausted two peremptory challenges, and two were excused when they asserted they held conscientious scruples against inflicting the death sentence in a robbery by firearms case. Helms pleaded not guilty. His counsel entered three motions this morning which were overruled by Judge G. L. Davenport; one asked that the indictment be quashed, the second sought a continuance and the third asked that testimony given before the grand jury be turned over to defense counsel. The state is asking the death penalty. What defense will be offered

Texas Woman Plans Flivver Drive To Win Election As U. S. Senator

Mrs. Minnie Cunningham Is Out-to-Tell the Voters all The Facts; She Will Make Wide Campaign.

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Writer
WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—Texas, which elected America's second lady governor, may decide to present with the first elected lady senator. Anyway it will have the chance.

Mrs. Minnie Fisher Cunningham has gone home to tour the state in her little flivver on behalf of a senatorial candidacy recently announced. She will have plenty of opposition for there were at least six candidates when they were last counted. But if she wins in the Democratic primary, which is equivalent to election, the first elected lady senator will know what it's all about.

She'll Be Boss After Ma Ferguson was installed as governor of Texas, her man Jim was supposed to be the real governor. But Mrs. Cunningham would be senator all by herself. Incidentally, she was an active participant in the fight on Jim Ferguson which led to his impeachment; in the old days when Jim was governor in his own name.

In her campaign, Mrs. Cunningham will give Texas a word picture of the whole Washington game. She knows enough about it to feel that part of the picture has been carefully concealed from the back-home gas.

"I want to tell them about congress, the White House, the lobbyists and all the rest," she said before the press. "I want our people to know what a senator can do for them and what a senator can't do for them."

"If I can help it, no future campaign will be fought on clan or anti-clan, or wet and dry, while the people are sold out to special interests."

Will Hit Lobbyists She intends to link up farm relief with the tariff, tell voters about investigations disclosing the connections of federal commissioners with lobbyists, deliver into the confirmation of poor public servants in executive sessions of the senate and go after abuses of the lobby privilege. She plans to campaign on the theory that a woman who feels she has a contribution to make has a right to run for office on the same basis without consideration of her sex.

Texas has a runoff primary—the two candidates polling the most votes run it off in a second election

(By Associated Press) CHICAGO, Feb. 20.—After a year's absence, Col. Charles Lindbergh returned to the air mail tonight, flying his old route between St. Louis and Chicago.

He landed in Chicago at 7:46 tonight, covering the 200-mile route in 2 hours and 33 minutes of flying time without incident, except for unusual delays at the stopping points, caused by heavy volume of mail, virtually 100,000 pieces being distributed between the five mail planes.

A crowd of more than 6,000 persons awaited the flyer at the Chicago municipal airport, but turned away disappointed when Lindbergh landed unannounced and climbed into a truck and was away without anyone of the crowd catching a glimpse of him.

All-Day Meeting Of First Baptist Women Yesterday

Visits Made During Early Part of Day; Afternoon Program Is On Missions; Reception Thursday.

Observing Visitation day in the morning, following this with lunch and a social hour at noon and a business and program meeting in the afternoon, women in the First Baptist church attended an all-day W. M. S. session yesterday. This is a regular observance in the society program.

A reception is to be given Thursday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Atkins on Broadway, by the W. M. S., honoring the Rev. and Mrs. W. A. Bowen. Pastors of other churches in the city and their wives are to be invited to appear in the receiving line. It was announced, and in addition to members of the First Baptist church, other friends of Mr. and Mrs. Bowen are to attend the reception.

Twenty-four visits were made during the morning by women. The afternoon program was a mission lesson and was presented by Circle 5 of the society. Mrs. E. W. Provencher was the able leader, having for her subject "National Dangers and Opportunities." Mrs. Provencher made two talks during the afternoon, one on "The Desire for Happiness" and the other on "Our National Highway Signs."

Mrs. Malone spoke on "The Desire for Happiness" and the other on "Our National Highway Signs." Mrs. F. B. Malone made an interesting talk on "Two Dangers to School Children" and this was followed by an intercessory prayer, led by Mrs. J. L. Howington. "True Patriotism" was the subject chosen by Mrs. J. E. Alexander for a talk and Mrs. C. A. Paulger spoke on "Sabbath Observance." The temperance and law enforcement was discussed by Mrs. W. H. Porter after which Mrs. W. A. Stahl led a prayer for guidance. "Changing Conditions - Negroes and Immigrants" was discussed by Mrs. O. M. James, after which Mrs. J. J. Bonelle spoke on "The Ways of Holiness" and Mrs. W. M. Lawrence read a poem, "Roby Anniversary Ode." Miss Francis Stahl spoke on "Our Union is Marching On." The closing song was "America."

In accordance with an annual custom, it was recently announced that this society would serve a banquet for seniors in the high school who are members of the Baptist church, but the members decided yesterday to ask other church societies to cooperate in serving a banquet to all members of the class.

Beauty!

How and Why

TO KEEP IT BOBBED OR LET IT GROW?

Not so long as the great question was "Shall I bob my hair?" Today the bobbed haired sisterhood is wondering whether fashion has really given her mandate that the hair shall be worn long. Such are the compensations of time. The obstructionists and snare-patters have already ceased railing about the sinfulness of cutting off the long tresses, when fashion apparently swings to the opposite side.

Her decree will be obeyed reluctantly. Women have grown accustomed to the trimmed, clean-lined, and beauty of the bob.

Fear of its disarrangement is always present when the hair is worn long, whereas the passing of a small comb a few times through the bobbed locks set the mind at ease once and for all on that point. The bob belongs to the simple and somewhat boydenish dress of our period. With the more formal and hedged styles, another type of hairdressing probably will come into being.

Next: Long hair is often untidy.

THE WOMAN'S DAY

By Allene Sumner

A woman who signs herself "Ignorant" writes me—

"Can you suggest some books for women's clubs study which will give us most of us mothers, an idea of the origin of the custom of marriage, how the lack of it has worked out in other races, its sociological meaning, etc? Our children know these things as a matter of course and make their own decisions from knowledge. But most of us mothers just inherited all the old beliefs and can neither discuss nor argue anything with our own daughters because we have nothing but tradition and prejudice to fall back upon. Why signs now when 'free love,' suggested polygamy, community care of children, and all the new ideas are in the air, shouldn't club women get some intelligence on this subject before studying the art of the primitives or 'cannibal music'?"

HERE THEY ARE: Sure enough, why not? Try a new book called, "Motherhood and Its Enemies," by Charlotte Hal-dane. "The Right to Be Happy," by Mrs. Bertrand Russell. "The Book of Marriage," by Count Hermann Keyserling. "Companionate Marriage," by Judge Ben Lindsey. "The Dance of Life," by Havlock Ellis.

GREAT STUFF This letter is one of the most encouraging signs of the times which has come my way for a long time. The chasm between much discussed "modern youth" and its elders has been waiting for this bridge—the parents' desire to really "know things" and argue on that basis instead of continuing to accept "because it's so and it's always been so."

IT'S "WHY" THAT COUNTS There isn't a doubt in the world that when the club women have acquired their background their conclusions will be just about what

LES MISERABLES

A powerful drama of the heart of an ex-convict. Of evil habit triumphing over a long-suffering conscience. Of the scummed bread of poverty-stricken France — the convict, the gutter-rat, surging with power to awaken laughter and move to tears. As only Victor Hugo's sympathetic pen could tell it.

Matadors Tame Buffaloes For First Time; Score 39 To 29

It's a Long Lane That Never Turns, Tech, Joyful Says

Heralded Offense of Canyon Quint Met by Superior Defense and Counteracted by Offense.

The old adage, "It's a long trail that doesn't turn," came true last evening as the fighting Texas Tech Matadors realized their fondest dream and defeated the highly-heralded stampeding Buffaloes of West Texas State Teachers college, 39 to 29, for the first time since the Matador has made his home on the South Plains. The Matadors reduced the thundering stampede of the Buffaloes to a gallop, and then to a weary dog-trot.

The T. I. A. A. leaders never once during the exhibition led the Torador hoop artists and only on two occasions did the Palo Duro Herd tie the game up.

From the initial whistle to the final one Victor Payne's floor men paced the guests. Captain Lester "Al" Jennings led both the Matadors and Buffaloes in the scoring game, flipping eight goals from the field and adding three more points from the foul line for a total of 19 points. Lower range pivot man for Samuel D. Burton's trained herd, trailed Jennings with five field counters and four from the free toss line for a sum of 14.

While In There
The big scoring combination that has been taking games from all sections of the state and which has scored nine straight victories over the Buffaloes in previous encounters was smothered before a superior defense last evening and the Pecos guards worked untiringly to check the visitors' drive. Gilbert "Dope" White, hustling guard for the homeboys, was in the middle of practically all the ill-fated attempts made for the hoop by the Burfs. Then, too, the most surprising feature of White's work was the fact that he started the entire game with but two personal fouls and to climax matters sunk a field goal. Jim Kerr, another of Payne's big attractions, came out of the game early in the last period due to excessive fouling. Another "Hemp" guard, worked untiringly to check the visitors' drive. Bullfighters too was checked from the name by reason of four personal fouls. McWilliams, little fiery battler and one of Payne's strongest reserves, came to the front and handled Jim Kerr's position in a creditable manner.

Walker Finds Basket
Percy "Hemp" Walker, Halsonne Walker, timely flash for the homeboys, finally found the little iron hoop and hit the net five times in the mixup. Walker's shots were from all angles of the floor and swished through the basket, hitting nothing but the bottom. Aside from his scoring feature Walker's floor services in carrying the ball through the stiff Bull defense culminated in added scoring as he fed the Matadors teammates the ball under the hoop.

The game was the most colorful the local fans have been privileged to witness this season and the largest turnout of the collegiate fans swarmed in the gymnasium to give their favorites their utmost support by numerous and continued roars of applause. The Buffaloes, too, were represented on the sidelines as the W. T. S. T. C. girls' pep squad donned in their flashy regalia, stood by their defeated Buffaloes to the end.

Last Game Tonight
This evening the concluding curtain for the 1928 basketball performances will be drawn as the Scarlet and Black basketballers turn in their last game for the season. Sam Burton's thundering Herd from the North Plains seek to add another victory in the Matadors' last exhibition for the year, while Vic Payne's recruits will attempt to climax the season's work with another victory over the highly touted Teachers.

It was estimated that more than 1,000 fans filled the arena for the Matadors' Tech assembly hall and it is anticipated that even a greater attendance will turn out for the Matadors' concluding number.

HAHN VICTOR

Makes Comeback After Defeat by Conger

NEW YORK, N. Y., Feb. 20.—Forty-eight hours after his sensational defeat by Ray Conger at Kansas City, Lloyd Hahn of the Boston A. A. returned to the boards tonight and logged a hollow victory in the Baxter mile, feature of the New York Athletic Indoor Carnival, for the fourth time in five years.

Greeted by a chorus of cheers mingled with some jeers, Hahn stepped out and speedily drew away from three rivals. He held the lead from the crack of the gun and won by 25 yards from Sid Robinson of Mississippi A. and M. College, who barely beat out Glen Elliott of the University of North Carolina in a finishing spurt. James Kennedy of the Newark A. C. was fourth and last.

It was a procession for Hahn who was clocked in the unimpressive time of 4:21 4-5.

Valuable Relics Are Added To Plains Historical Collection Now At Canyon

Primitive Tools, Once Used In Crosby County Feature Latest Contributions; Branding Irons Used On Early Ranches Items of Interest In Exhibits

CANYON, Feb. 20.—A number of very valuable relics have been added to the collection of the Panhandle-Plains Historical society recently.

W. D. Lamar, formerly of Crosby, now of Milap, Texas, has given three old plows to the museum. They include a walking plow, a Georgia stock and a walking sod plow. These were all used in Crosby county in the days of its first settlement, and are very, rude implements. They came to the historical society through Percy Lamar of Crosbyton, son of one of the pioneer settlers.

Gives Branding Irons
R. B. Smith of Mt. Blanco, Crosby county, has given the society a number of branding irons. One of these is the D.L.A. which was established in the early eighties at Blanco Canon. Another brand was the "M-Bar," which was the brand of T. M. Montgomery who now lives at Floydada. The Two-Buckle branding iron which belonged to the Kentucky Land and Cattle company which established its ranch in '35 was also in this collection.

Mr. Smith also gave a stump iron of the Half Circle-X. R. B. Smith was the first white child born in Crosby county. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Hank Smith, pioneers of this section.

The Historical society also has a picture of the Smith family which was made at Colorado City just after the railroad reached that point.

Lubbock Players, Protested, Ruled Eligible to Play

E. J. Lowery, Director For League In County, Makes Edict After Ruling Of Roy Bedichek.

E. J. Lowery, director general of the Lubbock County Interscholastic League, last evening ruled the players of the Lubbock high school, who were questioned in a formal protest filed by Lloyd Sweeney, coach of the Dalou Wildcats, eligible for basketball with the Lubbock high school team. The ruling was made after Sweeney's protest was acted on.

In the protest filed by Coach Sweeney he alleged that Helen Moody, Cecil Kelsey, and Horace Kerr were ineligible as they all resided nearer to Abernathy, an accredited school of 15 units, than to the Lubbock high school, stating that Abernathy, was a county line district, and according to Interscholastic League ruling would be ineligible. The rule involved states that a player who desires to go to an accredited school is eligible provided he goes to the nearest accredited school to his home or to the nearest affiliated school in his home county.

Mr. Lowery wired Roy Bedichek, director general of the Texas Interscholastic League, the following telegram: "Dalou protests game played with Lubbock, Lubbock played two men from Escadado school district and one from Beeton district. Both schools are unaffiliated and in Lubbock County. The players questioned live near Abernathy school, which is in Hale County, but a part of the Abernathy school district is in Lubbock county. Lubbock certified to the men on the rule that they could play in the nearest school in the home county and Lubbock is the nearest affiliated school. Wire eligibility collect." signed E. J. Lowery.

Mr. Bedichek's answer was: "Under facts your telegram players eligible section thirteen article eight," signed "Roy Bedichek." "Since receiving the telegram from Mr. Bedichek and as director general of the Lubbock Interscholastic League I rule that the players in question on the Lubbock Basketball are eligible and furthermore refuse to appropriate further funds for settlement of protests of needless nature." Mr. Lowery told the Avalanche this night.

The A. A. U. didn't just know whether to let Herr Doktor Peitner trot in this country or not. Von Steuben trained lots of soldiers at Valley Forge, but he was a professional German general and really should have been suspended.

Take a Look at Your Tongue

If you aren't feeling just right, go to the mirror and look at your tongue. If it's coated, your stomach, liver or bowels aren't working properly. That's a bad sign. Better get a bottle of Tanlac right away and give your system a thorough toning up. Many thousands of sufferers from all kinds of digestive ailments have written us that Tanlac has revitalized them.

Here, for example, is a letter from Mrs. W. R. Smith of 607 Anselman St., Corpus Christi, Texas: "For years I had nervous indigestion and got so weak I spent many days in bed. But Tanlac made me digest everything and left me with energy to spare."

That coated tongue tells you what your least exertion tires you out; what you have pain in the bowels, gas, sour stomach and dizzy spells; why you have no appetite and can't sleep. Try Tanlac and see how much the first bottle helps you. The cost is less than 2c a dose.

Tanlac contains no mineral drugs. It is made of berries, herbs and roots—nature's own medicines for the sick. Get a bottle from your druggist today. Your money back if it doesn't help you.

LOOK TO THE FOUNDATIONS

With all his experience and wisdom as a ruler, Solomon never looked far enough into the future to see a time when people would be ruled by a democratic government instead of the theocratic ruler under which he was crowned King of Israel.

So when he said, "Where there is no vision, the people perish," this Proverbialist meant the lack of vision on the ruler's part, and not the lack of vision among those ruled.

Times have changed since Solomon's day. In nations where they still have kings and courts, the people are given a larger voice in their own government than the Proverbialist would have believed possible.

Even old China has forsaken the theocratic idea of government, and though Japan still calls its emperor the "Son of Heaven," the practical affairs of government are administered by modern assemblies, bureaus and courts.

Solomon's government embraced three branches: the priesthood, the king and the judges. In practice the king, although anointed by the high priest, was the final authority in all save questions of spiritual law.

Contrast this simple scheme of government to that which prevails in democracies. Remember that the governmental power has been transferred from one ruler to the people themselves—and the need of vision, which Solomon laid down as a fundamental for rulers, becomes the more strongly emphasized.

The change in governmental form is the prime reason why there has grown up among democracies an insistence upon educational systems which may and should equip the people for self-government.

So great has been the change since Solomon's day, when one-tenth the income of the people was given to religious purposes, that now the largest single item in the democracy's tax-expenditures is for education.

Yet, strangely, among democracies that are willing to meet the costs of schools because of their function in relation to self government, one finds a vast degree of indifference to how the money given for them is spent or administered.

form is right. So there is widespread indifference to the selection of the persons entrusted with the system's operation.

Foresight in the selection of those who will administer any branch of the government honestly and wisely, is a fundamental to prevent waste and ultimate ruin.

If vision on the ruler's part was needed in Solomon's time, how much more widely diffused today must be the vision to preserve the interests of the people and their institutions.

Where there is no vision, the people perish.

CURING THE DOPE FIENDS

There is shortly to be introduced in congress a law to create an asylum or sanitarium in which to treat drug addicts who are convicted of crime, instead of sending them to the penitentiary.

It would be well if we could possibly be accomplished to take care of, treat and restore all drug addicts at the expense of the government and a treatment compulsory on all who are addicts, whether they are convicted of any crime or not.

It is history that sooner or later these poor degraded, diseased down and out in prison or almshouses and those who do not do that end it in the river or with a bullet.

Some of them squander large fortunes within a few months and are found dead among the rags that are left of their former finery.

But a great majority of them become charges on public charity or drains the treasury of the country in their trials on criminal charges.

It seems that nothing but bitter disappointment, following sad experience, will ever prevent some of the states wanting to go into the publishing business.

What the state should do is to furnish free text books and buy them under contract in large quantities from the regular publishers, who in that way could sell the state all the books it needs at half of what it would cost the state to print them.

That group includes representatives of the Louisiana-Pacific Railroad company, which is considering the enterprise; officers of the Gulf and West Texas Railroad company, and delegates from several chambers of commerce.

OUT OUR WAY—

LOOSE CHANGE. BY WILLIAMS

SO THINK WE

We think the response that the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce received from other cities of this section to be present at the annual C. of C. banquet, there must exist a friendly feeling toward our city, that she has been trying to build and maintain through all the years of her existence.

We think that possibly if every person who does not believe in capital punishment, that he should be made to work in the mines or in the fields, or in some other way that would be a punishment.

We think that if it is true that cancer oil killed 17,000 in the United States last year, it would be well to have a law that would make it a crime to sell or give away cancer oil.

We think that this country faces the most promising future that any country could and with Lubbock situated right in the center of this great rich agricultural belt, and close enough to the new oil field that will in the very near future be opened to the southwest, there is nothing that can prevent this year yielding us a great harvest.

MAKING GREAT MISTAKES

It seems that nothing but bitter disappointment, following sad experience, will ever prevent some of the states wanting to go into the publishing business.

Flying In Our Great Generation

Speed, safety and cost are the factors that will determine whether the systematic movement of people and goods by mail will play an important part in the generation in which we are living.

The first factor, speed, represents today the outstanding advantage that the airplane possesses as a mode of transportation.

Man has already flown at a speed of 300 miles an hour. It may seem fantastic to us to conceive of traveling communally at that speed, but the history of the past, and especially the history of aviation, is evidence that the fantastic of today becomes the commonplace of tomorrow.

vertising and dramatizing the air mail service. Approximately 100,000 pieces of mail were dispatched here on the Lindbergh flight. This shattered all records. The volume was so great that five planes were required to carry it. A sixth mail plane carried movie men.

Lindbergh went aloft in two of the planes and flew around Lambert-St. Louis field before he took off at 4:25 p. m. in a new Travel Air plane. He planned to change planes at Springfield and Peoria, the two regular stops, so that all the mail would be personally flown by him.

Crowd Sees Take-Off. A crowd estimated between 1,500 and 2,000 was at the field to witness the take-off.

The first plane to leave was piloted by Thomas P. Nelson, a Chicago-Cleveland route flyer. He left at 4:08 p. m. Phil Love, an old air mail buddy of Lindbergh, hopped off at 4:18 p. m. Then Lindbergh took the air simultaneously with "Bud" Curney, one of the regular pilots.

Lindbergh took as his passenger, Frank H. Robertson, president of the Robertson Aircraft corporation, holder of the air mail contract. Love took Harry H. Perkins, secretary-treasurer of the company. Lindbergh and co-pilots will make the return flight from Chicago tomorrow.

The official count of pieces mailed here was 99,300. They weighed about 1,950 pounds. The envelopes carried a special cancellation stamp, a horse shoe with the words "Lindbergh again flies the air mail." Most of the envelopes will be treasured by their recipients as souvenirs of the return of the great flyer to his old service which he left a year ago to prepare for his trans-Atlantic flight.

Eve Responsible Men's Fashions Due to Women

FORT WORTH, Feb. 20.—Men would be wearing a big leaf if he had not known his Eve, in the opinion of Fred Volland, Topeka, Kan., past president of the National Association Retail Clothiers and Furnishers. Volland was the principal speaker here today at the annual convention of the Texas Retail Clothiers and Furnishers association, and the Men's Apparel club of Texas.

"Women direct the styles of dress for men," Volland said. "Men's styles are the reflex of the color and fashion that women have. She, in a subtle way, impels him to dress better than he would if left to himself."

The most radical change in the style for men, it was pointed out, was the loss of a whole inch in the width of the trouser leg. The most radical change in accessories is the underwear. The track pants combination dominates and the colors are a riot of the most brilliant that can be imagined. Silk underwear now is the vogue for men.

Rules For Lobbyists

Recommend Registration to Senate Committee

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20 (P).—Compulsory registration of lobbyists was recommended to the senate today by its judiciary committee, which approved the Caraway bill, making such provision.

Under the Caraway bill, lobbyists who failed to place their names and connection with the senate secretary and the house clerk would upon conviction be fined not less than $100 or more than $1,000 and imprisoned in "a common jail" for not less than one month or more than 12 months.

Senate Approves Bill On Property

House Alien Property Measure Passes Without Recorded Vote In The Upper House.

(By the Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—Loaded down with amendments which promised it a long stay in conference, the house alien property return bill went through the senate today without a record vote.

It provides for the liquidation of all counter-war claims between the United States and Germany over a period estimated at eighty years and for the payment of awards to American claimants by the joint claims commission within a forty-year period.

In addition, the bill clears the way for the return of the property seized from Austrian and Hungarian nationals upon deposit by those outstanding American war claims against them.

Seeks Legislative Curb Senator Roberts is the author of the proposal for restricting production of cotton by enacting legislation taxing farmers who plant more than fifty per cent of their acreage to cotton, or exercising the state's police power to prohibit excess cotton planting, in the interest of soil conservation.

Continuing the keynote address of the conference that legislative control of cotton acreage is the one and only practical remedy that can be applied, Senator Roberts declared:

"If the men assembled here have the fortitude to enact legislation now in session to pass this law and that they will return to their homes and bid other legislatures to pass similar laws hope will arise among the planters and there would be such an advance in the price of cotton immediately as has not been seen for years."

Jury Selected

At Last the Hickman-Hunt Trial Gets Started

HALL OF JUSTICE, LOS ANGELES, Feb. 20 (P).—After three and one half days of a struggle to pick a jury to hear the murder trial of William Edward Hickman, and Wesley Hunt, charged with shooting to death C. Ivy Tom, a druggist, during a holdup, a jury was selected and sworn in today.

The light for an alternate jury continued this afternoon. One hundred and one talesmen were called to the jury box and summarily rejected before the jurors were selected.

The selection of the jury came after a spirited court battle when the defense attorneys decided to use all of their peremptory challenges after their motion to challenge an entire panel was disallowed by the court.

An old-fashioned corn cob fight—indicative at least, that diversions of the "good old days" in one respect are not entirely extinct—resulted in a fractured left arm for Clifton Kilpatrick, 11-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Kilpatrick of near Brownfield yesterday.

The corn cob fight, however, deserves only indirect blame for the accident. The arm was broken when the boy fell 25 feet from the top of the barn which was being used by him as a makeshift fortress.

An additional $8,000 was yesterday pledged by members of the First Methodist church congregation to the $75,000 church building fund. This brought the total pledged so far to $12,500. The money is to be used for building a Sunday school annex and for remodeling the present church edifice.

The West Texas State Teachers college up Canyon way, not only produces basketball players, but it likewise lays claim to some of the prettiest co-eds to be found not only in West Texas, but anywhere. There were about twenty of them, all good looking, in one group here last night. They composed the Canyon girls' pep squad and were here to cheer their team in its game with Tech.

Uniforms of maroon and white, Buffalo colors, distinguished the Canyon girls.

They're getting all stirred up over the reports from Eastland that a horned frog existed for 31 years, though sealed in a cornerstone and without benefit of food and water. The old timers state emphatically that the frog was placed in the stone 31 years ago and state just as emphatically that it was alive when taken out Saturday.

Zoologists in New York and other points in the east—eminent men—scoff at the report. They've never seen one of such a case, therefore, it's impossible.

request of Mrs. Kimbell, who said she wanted to talk over domestic difficulties. He had been informed that her husband, Lawrence said, had been linking her name with his, and being greatly distressed by the fact, had agreed to the meeting. He emphasized that there was anything improper in the taking of a room or in their conduct after reaching it.

The witness then described the "loud knocking" at the door as a man describing himself as "Mr. Jewel, employed by Mr. Kimbell" sought admittance. Mrs. Kimbell stepped into the bathroom when the knocking was heard, Lawrence explained, but came out after the man known as Jewel had admitted he was her husband.

"I'll settle with you later," Jewel told him, Lawrence testified. Eight days later he filed suit against Lawrence asking $50,000 for alienation of affections.

Peccuniary transactions between Lawrence and the Kimbells, both husband and wife, occupied a part of the testimony.

Marguerite had found dirt and sand on the kitchen table in the Croy home after the county attorney and the youthful county judge had been there. Croy and Mathers admitted accompanying Claude Andrews, confessedly implicated in the bank robbery, to the spot where they found a bag of money buried in the ground. They returned $2,179 to the bank and were accused of retaining $5,000.

Andrews, who has been held in the Carter county jail at Ardmore, refused to testify today after Hansen had declined to guarantee him immunity if he gave self-incriminating testimony.

Not Allowed to Talk Miss White and Mary Birch, a girl friend, were not allowed to testify whether they saw money in Croy's attic. Hansen had said that White in a previous statement, had told of seeing rolls of bills in two jars, and of counting more than $2,000 in one jar, shortly after the two county officers had returned a portion of the loot to the bank.

THE "CANARY" MURDER CASE

THE STORY THUS FAR
Vance believes Skeel was innocent of the murder of Margaret Odell...

He shifted his eyes. "I am not a married man; my emotional life has not been stabilized as it were; and I am constantly coming in close contact with hypersensitive and overwrought people...

CHAPTER XXXIII
Doctor Lindquist winced and considered the matter at some length.

"And if I admit that my affection for Miss Odell was other than paternal—what then?"

Markham accepted the question as an affirmation. "You were intensely jealous of her, were you not, doctor?"

"Leaving that point for a moment," answered Markham non-committally, "will you give me more specific information as to your whereabouts Monday night?"

"Most instructive," Markham nodded his head appreciatively. "I am to assume, then, that you were infatuated with—or, let us say, amorously attracted to—Miss Odell, and that on occasions you exhibited the intimate psychological corollary of jealousy?"

"I considered that my note to you covered that question satisfactorily. What did I omit?"

"You may assume what you please. But I fail to understand why my emotions are any of your affair."

"Mrs. Anna Breeden she is the widow of the late Amos H. Breeden of the Breeden National Bank of Long Branch."

"Had your emotions not led you to highly questionable and suspicious acts, I would not be interested in them. But I have it on unimpeachable authority that your emotions so reacted on your better judgment that you threatened to take Miss Odell's life and also your own."

"That is correct."

"The doctor's normally pale face seemed to turn yellow and his long spidery fingers trembled over the arms of his chair, but otherwise he sat immobile and rigidly dignified, his eyes fixed intently on the district attorney."

"And was Mrs. Breeden the only witness to your presence at the sanitarium during those hours?"

"I trust," added Markham, "you will not augment my suspicions by any attempt at denial on the part of Vance. He is watching the man closely. Presently he leaned forward."

"I am afraid that is so. You see after ten o'clock at night I never ring the bell. I let myself in with my own key."

"I say, doctor, what method of extermination did you threaten Miss Odell with?"

"I took a newspaper cutting from a gold-edged letter-case and handed it to Markham. He looked at it with a reproachful look. 'I want to know what your idea was in putting Lindquist on his guard about the night nurse. Your brain isn't at par this afternoon.'"

"You think perhaps I threatened to strangle her?" His words were vibrant with the intensity of his passionate anger. "And you would like to turn my throat into a noose to hang me? Paugh!"

"I did not put a little fright into him, didn't I?" Vance grinned complacently. "Whenever your antagonist begins talking exaggeratedly about the insanity of your notions, he's already decuced hot under the collar."

"He paused, and when he spoke again his voice had become clearer. 'It is quite true I once inadvertently attempted to frighten Miss Odell with a threat to kill her and to commit suicide. But if your information is accurate as you would have me believe, you are aware that I threatened her with a revolver. It is the weapon, I believe, that is conventionally mentioned when making empty threats. I certainly would not have threatened her with a knife, even had I contemplated so abominable an act.'"

"The pastor was active in both not to be wheedled into wearing falsely. No, Markham, I deliberately put him on his guard. Now he'll have to do something before we question Miss Pinckle. And I'm vain enough to think I know what it'll be."

"True," nodded Vance. "And it's rather good point, don't you know?"

"The fact that he avoided all reference to the nurse shows that she, in addition to serving as a method of securing funds for community activities the banquets have given the Floydada business men an opportunity to visit the rural districts and become acquainted with the people in the Floydada trade territory. There is always a demand for more tickets than can be sold and the size of the auditoriums are the only reason the clubs do not make more money."

"The doctor was evidently encouraged by Vance's attitude. He again faced Markham and elaborated his confession. 'A threat, I presume you know is rarely the forerunner of a violent deed. Even a brief study of the human mind would teach you that a threat is prima facie evidence of one's innocence. A threat generally is made in anger, and acts as its own safety-valve.'"

"I suffered deeply; and she made no effort to mitigate my sufferings. Indeed, I suspected her, more than once, of deliberately and perversely torturing me with other men. At any rate, she took no pains to hide her infidelities from me. I confess that once or twice I was almost distracted. And it was in the hope of frightening her into a more amenable and considerate attitude that I threatened her. I trust that you are a sufficiently discerning judge of human nature to believe me."

"I am sure will, sir. Good idea. 'I sure will, sir. Good idea. 'His machine looked no good for Miss Pinckle. 'A cloud of apprehension spread over Doctor Lindquist's face. 'Forgive me if I say that I am insensible to the sanity of your cavalier methods.' His tone betrayed only contempt. 'May I hope that for the present your inquiry is ended?'"

"I think that will be all, doctor," returned Markham, politely. "May I have a taxicab called for you?"

Lundgren To Head Band At Floydada

Bandmaster and Directorate Re-Elected in Recent Meeting; Organization To Enter Contests

FLOYDADA, Feb. 20.—Every pupil Lundgren has been re-elected to direct the Floydada municipal band for another year. The election of the bandmaster and the directorate board was held recently and both the present leader and the entire board was re-elected. The re-established board of directors consists of Ed Bishop, Burt Bedford, C. M. Wilson, and J. C. Wester.

Prof. Lundgren has been with the Floydada band one year and in that time has developed a forty piece organization that ranks with the best in this section. With less than three months preparation this band entered the contest at the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention held in Wichita Falls and was awarded third place. One of the recent achievements of the bandmaster was to secure U. S. Army regulation uniforms for the entire band. Prof. Lundgren declares the band will enter the convention contest to be held this year in Fort Worth and will give some close competition to the best organizations present. Concerts and minstrels will be given by the band in an effort to finance their own trip to the convention.

DAILY MARKETS

COTTONSEED OIL. NEW YORK, Feb. 20. (AP)—The cottonseed oil market was moderately active and irregular today. March was relatively easy, touching a new low for the season on a renewal of liquidation before first notice day. Refining interests brought nearby positions and sold later months. The advance in the distant positions was due to covering and commission house buying, with the steadiness of crude oil, lard and grains. Final prices were 5 points lower to 9 net higher. Sales 25,200 barrels. Prime crude 7.75; prime summer yellow spot 9.25; March closed 9.09; May 9.48; July 9.75; August 9.88; September 9.94.

CHICAGO GRAIN. CHICAGO, Feb. 20. (AP)—Bulging prices at Liverpool and reports of famine conditions in Russia gave decided strength today to the wheat market here. Despite a big increase of the amount of wheat on ocean passage, export purchases of North American wheat today totaled about 1,000,000 bushels. Closing Chicago quotations for wheat today were 1-2c to 1-4c net higher, with corn 1-8c off to 1-4c up, oats unchanged to a shade lower and provisions at 5c to 15c advance. Notwithstanding corn selling on the part of spreaders who were buying wheat, the corn market sympathized with wheat strength. Favorable weather for the movement of corn had only a transient bearish effect, and was counterbalanced by reports that country roads are in bad shape. Oats were dull but steady. Provisions worked higher with corn and hogs.

NEW YORK COTTON. NEW YORK, Feb. 20. (AP)—Realizing sales attracted by an early advance in cotton were absorbed by moderate setbacks today and the market was very steady in late trading. May selling up from 18.15 to 18.28 and closing at 18.27. The general market closed firm, at net advances of 11 to 16 points. The opening was steady at an advance of 9 to 12 points, active months showing net advances of 13 to 15 points in early trading on covering and buying by the trade or commission houses. This demand evidently was promoted by the relatively steady showing of Liverpool, and a more favorable view of conditions in the cotton goods trade. It appeared to be readily supplied on the advance to 18.10 for March and 18.18 for October, and the market eased off during mid day under pre-holiday realizing or liquidation and liquidation of March contracts in preparation for the probability of notices in the market here on Friday. March sold off to 17.98 while October declined to 18.07, which carried the market back to within a point or two of Saturday's closing quotations. The March liquidations however, appeared to be mostly in the way of switching to later deliveries, while there was trade buying of the near months which absorbed small offerings otherwise at a slight widening of the difference and the afternoon market firmed up again. March sold back to the best price on the morning, while some of the later months made new highs for the day in late trading, July advancing to 18.32. Closing prices were

WALL STREET. NEW YORK, Feb. 20. (AP)—Further liquidation developed in today's stock market which lost ground for the third successive day. Sporadic rallies developed in various sections of the list but many of them fell flat. A sprinkling of issues closed 2 to 4 points net higher. While selling pressure was particularly severe against some of the specialties, the offerings did not approach in magnitude those which accompanied the decline last week. The day's sales ran just over 2,500,000 shares. Although it was generally conceded that the selling movement was inspired by conditions within, rather than without the market, a few outside developments contributed to the prevailing bearish sentiment. These included the publication of an unemployment survey, the reduction in dividends on Laclede Gas and White Motors and unconfirmed rumors of a further tightening of collateral requirements by banks.

FORT WORTH LIVESTOCK. FORT WORTH, Feb. 20. (AP)—All classes of cattle here today opened the week's trading at steady to strong values. The supply was comparatively light. Sales in the slaughter division ranged from $10.80 to $12.50. In the bull division thin heifers sold from 5.50 to 6.60, and heavier ones 6.00 to 6.50. Cows were steady to 15c higher with spots as much as 25c higher. The top price for the day was 8.25 in carlots. The usual supply of small lots, however, sold from 8.00 to 8.50. Canner cows sold from 4.50 to 5.00 and canners 5.00 to 5.50. Yearlings and heifers sold up to 12.25. In the calf division a few stocker calves sold at 11.00 to 12.00. The supply of sheep was light, and few sales were reported. The hog market advanced from 10 to 15c. The top price was 8.15.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON. NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 20. (AP)—An early advance was followed by a moderate reaction in the cotton market today which in turn gave way to a rally in response to better spot news. May traded up from 17.90 to 18.07 and closed at 18.05. 19 points net up. The general market closed steady at net gains of 8 to 19 points. Trading was mostly of an evening up character in advance of the double holiday here tomorrow and Wednesday.

WOOL MARKET. BOSTON, Feb. 20. (AP)—The spotty character of trading in the wool market is due in part to the distribution of stocks. Domestic wool of medium grades are very limited and the 58 and 60s have become quote restricted. A fair selection of 64s and finer wools are still available, but the demand for these is slow, with the selection being improved by moderate receipts 60s foreign wool. Imports of foreign combed greasy wools at Boston last week amounted to about 2,000,000 pounds. Nearly two thirds of the total was over 60 grade.

Began His Career As Poor Newspaper Reporter Col. Robert Stewart, Whom Senate Wants To Jail,

Death on farm near Cedar Rapids - Iowa

Learned persistence as a newspaper reporter

Successful lawyer and politician in Pierre, South Dakota

Commanded troop of Rough Riders at San Juan Hill

Arrested by senate during oil probe

ROBERT W. STEWART

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20 — Six years ago, when Robert W. Stewart was basking in the acclaim that had been accorded his rise from a penniless newspaper reporter to chairman of the Standard Oil company of Indiana, someone asked for his formula for success. "It's up to you," replied Stewart. "You can go just as far as your ambitions will carry you. Ignore any code which condemns the making of money, or teaches that wealth is a disgrace, that success is a sin."

In Oil Scandal Now.
Today, Stewart awaits possible punishment for his refusal to tell a senate committee what he might know about the alleged profit-taking in a deal with the now infamous and defunct Continental Trading Co. (Ltd.) of Canada. His ambitions have carried him into the malodorous tangle of the Teapot Dome scandal. He has found that, in the eyes of the implacable United States senate, certain kinds of wealth are indeed a disgrace; certain forms of success may suspiciously resemble a sin.

And that, it might be added, is no arrant nonsense. "Colonel Bob" followed his formula for success not only by making money for himself, but by materially aiding the thousands of employees of his company. For years he has been identified as one of the staunchest advocates of "democracy and humanity in industry."

Gave Them Representation.
He was one of the first executives in industry to introduce an employees' representation plan. All the workers were made members of councils; there were higher councils attended by the delegates they chose; at still higher councils, employers and workers were equally represented.

A stock selling campaign was put on among the employees by Stewart. He increased the list of stockholders from 4,600 to more than 12 times that number. He made it possible for the $14-a-week office boy to purchase several shares.

Stewart used to take his directors with him on tours where the company operated. At meetings of employees, he would inquire: "Are there any tank-wagon drivers here? If there are, stand up." There always were tank-wagon drivers there, so they would stand, looking sheepish.

Just wanted you to meet T. J. Thompson, your general manager," Stewart would say. "He used to drive a tank-wagon 40 years ago."

"Now, are there any mechanics here?"—and Stewart would introduce a director who used to be a mechanic's helper.

Aided Ambitions.
It was all very stimulating to the imaginations and ambitions of the workers. They liked Colonel Bob's methods, and they liked Colonel Bob. They enjoyed the idea of being stockholders and gloried in the solemn council meetings which his humanitarian genius had created. For some reason, yet unsolved they have never filed an accounting suit to determine what became of the much-discussed $3,000,000 in Liberty bonds. But perhaps their restraint may be interpreted as a symbol of loyalty to the "big boss" who actually has bettered their financial conditions.

Worker His Way.
Ambitious for more education, he journeyed east and entered the law school of Yale, where he worked his way by reading and night-time study until he entered Cornell college, from which he graduated in 1886.

C. Roberts of Lubbock were slightly injured. The younger girl suffered bruises and possible internal injuries. The older one was badly damaged.

His first job with the Standard Oil company came when he acted as its counsel in a South Dakota case. Soon afterward began the military career which was to bring him the title of "colonel." He joined Roosevelt's "Rough Riders" in the Spanish-American war, he became a major and commanded one troop at San Juan Hill. After the war he reorganized the South Dakota national guard and was appointed colonel of the Fourth Regiment.

In 1907 came an offer from the Standard Oil company, so he went to Chicago to become its general attorney. Two years later he became general counsel and in that capacity made his first appearance before a senatorial investigating committee.

Recently under fire of the public lands committee, Stewart was so up-stage with his questioners, so sharp in defining what he considered their legal rights, that he was promptly arrested by an irate senate.

But in that first investigation, and a second in 1923, he was so earnest in his co-operative testimony, so outspoken in his progressive ideas, that he left Washington a national figure.

It is said that in 1918 directors of the Standard Oil company of Indiana created the position of chairman of the board of directors just to give Stewart a chance at the executive side of the business. Whatever the circumstances, Stewart got the job and has held it ever since.

In the natural course of his career, Stewart has become a millionaire. Whether any of his wealth originally was part of the $3,000,000 "slush fund" said to have been raised by Harry F. Sinclair, the investigating committee intends to find out.

"I Appreciate Lucky Strike" says George M. Cohan, America's Stage Favorite

"Good old Luckies! We've been pals for years. And like an old friend they treat me well. No irritation to my throat and no coughing. And I appreciate Lucky Strike—the full body tobacco with the toasted flavor that's been the same since that day we met."

Prominent Tobacco Auctioneer says:
"The Cream of the Tobacco Crop" goes into Lucky Strikes
"As a Tobacco Auctioneer, I have noticed that when a particularly choice pile of tobacco is offered for sale that buyers of The American Tobacco Company are always interested, for evidently their instructions are to buy nothing but 'The Cream of the Crop'."

"It's toasted"

No Throat Irritation—No Cough.
