Will Make Awards For Committee Work

Local and county committeemen who have had charge of the cotton sign-up campaign in the cotton producing states during the past several weeks will be awarded certificates of public service as a partial reward for their unselfish work and for their aid in helping to bring about better prices for the staple.

"The labor of these men has been worth much more than the small amount of money paid them to cover their actual expenses," says Cully A. Cobb, chief of the cotton section of the agricultural adjustment administration. "The local committeemen occupy a very responsible position. He must be sure that each grower meets the requirements of his reduction contract and he must insist on absolute equality in handling the contracts. He must be fair to the grower and to the adjustment administration."

Mr. Cobb said county and community committeemen have rendered a type of service that will last far beyond the immediate present. They are cotton growers themselves and therefore will receive the benefits of the adjustment program but in addition, they are assuring their neighbors and friends of greater net returns from their farm operations.

It is expected that these committeemen will take the lead in forming the county control associations in which each grower who has signed a contract will hold membership. County extension agents will assist the committeemen in setting up the associations and teachers of vocational agriculture in the high schools will also have an important place in this work. Through night classes and at meetings in the local schools, the work of the control associations will be outlined and discussed that they may function efficiently and smoothly.

Fire In Walton Home Tuesday

Commendable recognition goes to the Portales fire department in their efforts to extinguish all blazes—even when it's hailing.

Tuesday afternoon during the heavy hail storm, a report came to the station, and the firemen, non-irascible, and possessing an unlimited amount of intestinal fortitude, braced the hail storm to the H. C. Walton home, where lightning had caused a small blaze.

Firemen arrived in time, despite their bruises of the next day as a result of hail stones striking them, characteristic to a fireman's life. Upon reaching the Walton home it was discovered that the blaze had been extinguished. No damage was done, excepting that the flash burned out the meter.

Mrs. Lokey and daughter, Theresa, of Lubbock, Texas, visited in the J. G. Cox home Sunday afternoon.

NOW FOR A GREATER PORTALES

The road to recovery has turned, and we are now on our way. The old home town must be forgotten.

The slogan, "A Greater Portales" should be adopted at once.

The Normal College is soon to open and this means more citizens for Portales.

It has been estimated that this alone will bring in more bonifide residents; sufficient to swell the city's population by another 500 people.

But unless we are on our toes and working together for a greater Portales, the going will be hard and rough.

By laying aside all local prejudices and jealousies, and working for the common good to all, marvels can be accomplished.

It is going to cost you time, effort and money before the results being to show.

In the long run, you, Mr. Citizen of Portales, will reap the results.

A good way to begin is to make your home more attractive. Plant flowers, improve your lawn, paint your house and all buildings, clean up the alleys, and make the city of Portales shine like a bright new silver dollar.

You will feel better and have a brighter view of the outlook of your city.

DO NOT CUBS THE NEIGHBORING TOWN

There is entirely too much cussing of the neighboring towns.

This applies to Portales, as it might well apply to any community in the nation.

Every town or city must fight for existence, as the town that lays down on the job, will loose to the more progressive community.

Instead of cussing the neighboring town, see what you can do to make your own town a better town in which to live and do business.

Do your bit to make it a friendly town, so that when the people from the rural communities come here to market their produce and to lay in their supplies, will feel this friendly spirit, and come back.

Cussing the neighboring town will not accomplish results.

If your neighboring town is edging in on your trade, study the situation, and see if it is not partly your fault.

See if at some times you have not been as friendly with Mr. Farmer and Mrs. Farmer as you might have been.

A friendly understanding between the farmer and the city dweller, will eliminate many of the difficulties that have been a draw back to your community.

REFORESTATION FOR PROFIT

The federal government is spending billions of dollars to stabilize business.

They are taking thousands upon thousands of acres out of production.

They are turning back to forests much of the marginal lands.

In the Black Water draw there are thousands of acres of state and Federal lands, which if planted to trees would soon return a handsome profit to the government, besides at the present time it would provide employment to many men.

This looks like one of the projects which the cities of Clovis and Portales should both get behind and through the representatives in Washington bring it to the attention of the department of the Interior, and have it designated as a forest reserve.

It would be a great help to the control of soil erosion, especially by the prevailing winds.

At least it is a matter that should merit a little sober thought and consideration.

THE SPECIAL SESSION

The special session of the New Mexico legislature now in session at Santa Fe is supposed to complete all work and adjourn Thursday of this week.

It is to be hoped that they accomplish more than the last regular session accomplished.

The direct primary law, will not be passed, as the members have determined that the selection of candidates by the primary system, would not get the right officials.

The democratic party platform at the Clovis convention pledged a direct primary law.

The party has failed in fulfilling its pledge, and it looks like they will fail at this session.

Party pledges are of little consequence to politicians, but those who keep their ears to the ground for the public opinion, will see the handwriting on the wall, and it will not be many years until the public will throw in discard any politician who does not keep faith with the party and with the public.

MITCHELL VINDICATED

The news that President Roosevelt is planning to inaugurate a new government agency under which practically all aeronautical activities, both government and private, will be operated, is a startling bit of information, but it loses all interest when compared to the announcement that Brigadier General William Mitchell may head the new department.

There, if you please, is a bit of choice news. Not so many years ago Mitchell, as chief of the air division, had the fortitude to tell the United States army and the country at large, just what he thought of the aviation corps. To say that he created a furore among official ranks, both army and civilians, is to put it too mildly for true appreciation.

But that furore did not result in action to remedy the conditions which Mitchell set forth in his charges. Instead, army officials busied themselves in securing a court martial and in getting Mitchell out of the way.

And out of the day he has been until the present.

Now, it appears, the tables have turned and the man who once condemned American air preparedness, is about to be placed in charge of all aviation activities of the country.

And why not? Events of the past few weeks have strangely proven the truth of Mitchell's charges. Private airmail contractors were deprived of the mails and the army was suddenly thrown into the breach to handle an emergency no different, after all, than what would have ordinarily been expected of it in the event of attack by a foreign power.

What has resulted the past few weeks is a very unfortunate and tragic fulfillment of Brigadier General Mitchell's predictions of but a few years back. The army's training and the army's aviation equipment has been found to be deplorably inefficient.

And now the cards appear to carry for Mitchell a complete vindication and more, a chance for him to take the helm and make of the United States air corps a protective agency such as he fought for back in the balmy days and which he has continued to fight for ever since being retired for having had the fortitude to voice the basic needs of his country. Humboldt Star, Kinnemeca, Nev.

When Uncle Sam drives an individual out of business by selling below cost of production, who pays the taxes of the "evicted" business man? Ask us an easy one. The consumer is the "last man." He pays it.

Some things worth remembering: The value of time, the pleasure of working, the worth of character, the influence of example, the dignity of simplicity, the power of kindness, the success that comes from perseverance, the obligations of duty, the virtue of patience, the wisdom of economy, the joy of originating, and the profit of experience.

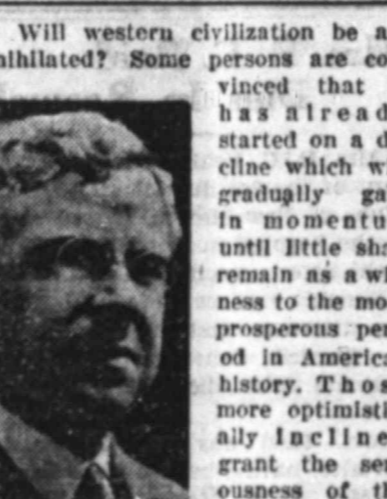

The pendulum will swing back quicker for the fellow who advertises than it will for the one who holds off until business gets to booming again.

Intelligence is what you get from home. Common sense you must develop yourself. Learning is what you obtain in school. Knowledge is what the world hands you. Judgment comes only with the years. Experience is a bitter medicine administered by life itself and must be taken with a bit of conscience. Wisdom is a phantom often chased but seldom overtaken. Success or failure are a matter of opinion. Reputation is the golden scale. Contentment the final objective.

ODD THINGS AND NEW—By Lane Bode

HOW TO BUILD By LEONARD A. BARRETT

Will western civilization be annihilated? Some persons are convinced that it has already started on a decline which will gradually gain in momentum until little shall remain as a witness to the most prosperous period in American history. Those more optimistically inclined grant the seriousness of the present economic disorder, but have sufficient faith in the moral integrity of the country to convincingly affirm that all will be well again. Out of all past depression periods we have successfully emerged and this one will prove no exception to rule.

Perhaps it will help to clarify one's attitude toward this disputed problem if we ask, what do we mean by civilization? The dictionary defines the word "as a condition of organization, enlightenment and progress." Civilization, then, is a condition of organized society. Without society we cannot have a civilization. The social group is the prime requisite and upon its enlightenment, moral, intellectual and spiritual, does civilization depend.

This is quite a different point of view from that one which makes the security of civilization depend upon skyscrapers, automobiles, airplanes, banks flooded with money, palatial ships, marble palaces, or whether United States Steel or American Can goes up ten points or drops twenty, or the regulation of the tariff.

All attempts to perpetuate a civilization upon these terms is already doomed, as witnessed in the fall of the Roman empire. It is like building a house upon the sand which soon falls because it is not able to withstand the fury of the wind and storm.

Civilization is an outward expression of the inner soul of a nation. Its security depends upon spiritual qualities and not upon size, bulk, weight or speed. What we need to do is to cultivate a deeper faith in the moral order of the universe and through its expression in our daily toil, build a house upon the foundation of integrity, righteousness and justice. Civilization is a condition of life and not a label tower of stone or steel.

Bank Night In Albuquerque Is Ordered Halted

Estimated 4,000 Tickets Sold Here Last Night, Theaters Packed Beyond Limit.

"Bank night" has been stopped at the Kimo, Mess and Rio Theaters in Albuquerque by the management of that string of movie houses according to the Albuquerque Journal, which says:

"C. E. McSwain, manager of the Kimo-Mesa-Rio chain of local theaters, announced Tuesday evening that upon request of District Attorney Tom Mabry the Bank Night, featured every Wednesday night, had been discontinued.

"The feature would have been discontinued after this week to comply with the NRA code, McSwain said, but he had stopped it a week earlier to comply with the request of the district attorney's office.—Santa Fe New Mexican, April 11.

State Poultry Firms Comply With New Code

A list of New Mexico poultry firms complying with the hatchery code has been released by the National Hatchery committee with headquarters at Kansas City, Mo. The list includes 14 chick hatcheries and one chick dealer, says W. M. Ginn of the New Mexico State college.

Hatcherymen and breeders are showing a keen interest in the success of the hatchery code. Baby chick buyers are expected to show more interest as fast as they learn the advantages of the code for the chick buyer and the egg producer.

All eggs set must average at least 23 ounces to the dozen and no individual eggs shall weigh less than one and five-sixths ounces. Chick advertisements are being checked for correctness. The term "200 egg strain" will not be allowed because it is unlikely that all of the fowls will lay 200 eggs as the term indicates. Many of the rules are expected to eliminate much advertisement which sounds good and yet has no definite meaning. According to reports from various parts of the country, there will be very few surplus chicks this spring. The department of agriculture is anxious to avoid ruinous surpluses in agricultural products. It has been possible to go directly to the producers of corn, hogs, cotton and wheat, but it would be difficult to deal directly with every producer of poultry and eggs. It is hoped that the hatchery code and the new code for poultry and egg dealers which is being formed will avoid an overproduction of poultry and eggs during the coming year, which should benefit all poultrymen.

New Mexico firms which have applied for compliance certificates are: Pecos Valley Trading Co., Hatchery, Roswell; Pleasant Valley Poultry Farm, Gallup; Pringle Poultry Plant, Deming; James M. Pettigrew, Mesilla Park; J. H. Halley, Dexter; Blue Ribbon Hatchery, Carlisbad; Clovis Hatchery, Clovis; Inez Hatchery, Causey; Nicholson's Hatchery, French; Talman Bros., Aztec; Wicks & Son, Clovis; Las Cruces Electric Hatchery, Las Cruces; Gamble's Hatchery, Tucumcari; Ravel Bros., Albuquerque. The first 14 in the above list are hatcheries, the last is a dealer in baby chicks.

If interested in helping the recovery program you may patronize these firms obeying the code and report any violation to your state chairman, W. H. Hortonstein, Roswell, New Mexico.

PUBLIC HEALTH

Conducted by Dr. J. R. Earp, Director, New Mexico Bureau of Public Health.

HYGIENE B. C.

The law of Moses, says Sir Geo. Newman, is "Mosaic in origin and texture." By this he means to refer to the several traditions of hygiene which are incorporated in the Pentateuch. Undoubtedly the hygiene of the old testament borrowed some of its wisdom from Babylon, some from Egypt, and some, through Egypt, from the ancient Minoan civilizations which date back around 3,000 years B. C.

The reader of Leviticus will find rules for the diagnosis of infectious skin diseases, which are all included under the term leprosy, rules for the isolation of the patient, and the disinfection of his clothing and his home. He will find rules for maintaining a clean and sanitary camp and rules for the protection of water and food from contamination. Note that flesh foods liable to infestation with parasites are forbidden as unclean.

The hygiene found in the Vedas the religious books of the Hindu faith, dates back to some 1,500 years B. C. It specializes rather in personal hygiene than in public health. Its strict doctrine on personal cleanliness was taken over intact by the Mohammedans and is responsible for the zeal in bathing found among the religious people of the East to this day. It is perhaps unfortunate that the Hindu wisdom on personal cleanliness is not combined with the Mosaic wisdom on protection of water supplies. That is a synthesis left to modern hygienists to incorporate in a modern code.

How well those ancient people used the little knowledge that they possessed. If we took like advantage of even a half of the modern knowledge of hygiene how different this modern world would be.

More Terracing In Eastern Part of New Mexico

Farmers of Eastern New Mexico are showing more interest this spring in terracing than in previous years, says G. R. Quenberry of the New Mexico State college. County agents in dry land counties are now spending all available time on running terrace lines.

The retirement of wheat land and other acreages in the adjustment program is making many acres available for terracing at a season the farmer can find time to do the work. Previously, much of this land has been in crops at this season of the year and not available for terracing.

Some of the lands already terraced and flooded are growing good crop of alfalfa and large yields of other crops. Grain sorghums, corn, and similar crops on terraced land, when planted in contour rows, are showing large increases in yield! 100 per cent increases are not uncommon.

Farmers are learning that as they take acreages out of production they should prepare the remaining acreages more carefully as well as protect the non-cropped areas from weeds, erosion, and depletion. Terraced and contoured land is fully protected from water erosion and does not blow as badly as other lands. When put into a permanent crop of grass or legumes, it improves.

The adjustment program will permit farmers of non-irrigated land to plant acreages of alfalfa, sweet clover, crested wheat grass, or brume grass. These crops serve admirably as soil improvement and erosion control crops and offer possibilities in non-irrigated sections for permanent pastures and hay plants when planted on the contour in terraced fields. These same crops, when planted on sloping land that is not terraced, have not given very satisfactory yields. They have survived and in occasional wet years given reasonable yields when planted in rows.

Vincent Cox and Emmitt White who are attending Lubbock Tech spent the week end with their families in Portales.

Jack Turner and Dr. William LeMaster spent the week end fishing below Hagerman and returned with 13 pound cat fish.

IRISH PATATOES

Many farmers who are planning to plant Irish potatoes this year will disinfect their seed by the use of the acid-mercury treatment.

1. Add 6 ounces of mercuric chloride to 1 quart of commercial hydrochloric acid (muriatic acid). It will dissolve in a few seconds.

2. Measure out 25 gallons of water in a non-metallic container (wooden barrel, tub or concrete tank.) A metal container may be used if painted with asphaltum paint. The solution will corrode metal.

3. Pour the quart of acid containing the mercuric chloride into the water and stir thoroughly. The solution is now ready for use.

4. Dip the potatoes in the solution and allow them to remain for 15 minutes after which they are removed and not cut and planted immediately, should be spread out and allowed to dry. Do not store treated potatoes while they are wet. This is likely to injure them.

5. Twenty-five gallons of the solution are enough to treat 40 bushels of potatoes; after treating 40 bushels of potatoes, add to the solution one ounce of mercuric chloride in 3 ounces of acid and enough water to raise the level to the 25 gallon mark.

6. The diluted treating solution is not strong enough to injure the hands. The strong acid should, however, be handled with care.

7. Remember that mercuric chloride is a poison and the solution should never be allowed to remain where children and livestock have access to it.

Phone Companies Need No Franchise

ROSWELL, April 16.—Possibility that the Mountain States Telephone and Telegraph company might be able to operate in any city in New Mexico without a franchise was seen here today by L. O. Fullen, local telephone company attorney, on the basis of an opinion received from Federal Judge Collin Neblett in the suit brought against the company by the city of Roswell.

Fullen has received by mail a copy of Judge Neblett's opinion upon which will be based final judgment after attorneys in the case have filed certain findings of fact requested by the court.

Judge Neblett advised Fullen that under a state law passed in 1909 the company had the right to come into any town in the state reserving to the towns and county boards the right only to say where the poles and lines will be placed.

The opinion, Fullen said, is very far reaching because it means "that no telephone company has to have a franchise from any municipality to operate."

The city of Roswell brought suit against the company about two years ago seeking to enjoin the phone company from using the streets and alleys without a franchise for the city. The franchise held by the concern expired many years ago.

A controversy over rates caused the suit when the telephone company allegedly declined to reduce its rates as requested by the city.

In Santa Fe Judge Neblett explained that final judgment in the case has not yet been entered and will not be until the attorneys have furnished him with additional information he has requested. The opinion he mailed to the attorneys however, will be used as the basis for his final ruling.

Delegates from the Portales Business and Professional Woman's club to the state convention of the organization will be Mrs. Ed J. Neer, president; Mrs. H. H. Buchanan, board member; and Mrs. Ross Trapp and Miss Lorena Cutler, representatives of the club.

DELINQUENT TAX ACT IS KILLED BY SENATE BILL

The death knell of senate bill 144, the 1933 delinquent tax collection act which stirred up a state-wide wave of fury and against which a referendum has been invoked, is written in SB 32, introduced by the finance committee in the senate Monday.

The present law is repealed and a substitute proposed.

"The 1933 act was misrepresented," said Chairman T. E. Mears, of the finance committee. "It never did mean that a man who had not paid his taxes was to be thrown out of his home the day after the sale of property for delinquent taxes, the second Monday in June. The 1933 act would give possession to the purchaser only at the end of two years after the tax sale. However, in order to avoid any further misunderstanding we clarify this point. The committee's bill leaves no doubt as to its intent in this respect. As a matter of fact the man whose property is sold for taxes has two years and seven months to redeem it; the date of the tax sale is changed from the first Monday in June to the first Monday in December."

The bill does away with the necessity of the county treasurer's sending out by registered mail notices of delinquency. The notices are still required, but they may be sent by ordinary mail. The change is desired to save expenses.

All property not sold at the tax sale goes to the state. This is a provision of SB 144 that it retained. However, in connection with this, the delinquent taxpayer is given another chance to redeem his property, said Mears. When the tax commission offers his property for sale he is to be considered a preferred bidder if he offers the amount of the delinquent taxes, interest and penalties as the purchase price.

The new bill also provides that he is to be given 90 days' notice before the expiration of the two-year redemption period.

There is a provision for the sale of small tracts on which taxes are delinquent for four successive years provided the land is abandoned. The county commissioners are to appraise it and the county treasurer to sell it at the price they fix. This applies only to property on which the taxes amount to less than $25 for any one year.—Santa Fe News Mexican.

PUBLIC FORUM

PURE DEMOCRACY

To my friends of Roosevelt county who have solicited me to offer myself as a candidate for Commissioner of District 1, I feel the following explanation is due you as to why my name will not appear on the ticket in the democratic primary of May 19, 1934.

Hence, this statement: After studying the situation thoroughly for some time and giving all available facts due consideration, I reached the decision on Monday afternoon, April 16, to enter the race for the above mentioned office. Immediately following this decision I set out to make the proper arrangements, which of necessity, brought me in contact with our county chairman and secretary. After talking with these men I learned that my name would not be placed on the ticket unless I signed a statement to the effect that I had voted the Democratic ticket straight the last general election, which I had not done and so informed them. I was told that the ruling was necessary in order to purify the party.

Now, here is the point I desire to make: The act of signing this false statement would have purified my Democracy and rendered me eligible to a place on the ticket. But by being honest about the matter, said action made me unfit to be mentioned on the democratic ticket. What price honesty!

I have been a democrat all my life, and here's my pledge for a different kind of democracy here in Roosevelt County.

—Frank Greathouse.

R. E. McAllister of Delphos is reported very low with pneumonia.

FINANCIAL CONDITION OF ROOSEVELT CO. SCHOOLS

Distribution of the 20 mill levy by the State Tax Commission indicates that next term the schools of the county will be short of present depression budget, $116,875.

The budget for the present school term is $193,593. Experience has proved this budget inadequate to meet the minimum needs of a rapidly growing school enrollment.

Six mills left for schools, after county and state needs are met, as required by law, will produce $40,777 on the valuation of last year. This amount plus the state apportionment, $35,938, makes $76,715, the approximate amount of next year's school budget, unless the legislature finds other sources of revenue, a three-month term is indicated.

Tobacco Tax Aids Schools

All Revenue Proposed to Go for Education; Same Rates as in Former Measure.

The tobacco excise tax, one introduced in the house and one in the senate, fixes the same rates as the act which was snowed under a referendum in 1929. It was drafted from that law, reading the same except for the dates, and changing the reading that all the revenue goes to schools now instead of just the penalties as before.

In the house bill the secretary of state handles the stamps and licenses and in the senate bill the task falls on the tax commission.

The rates:
 Cigarette papers one per cent for 50 or less, also tubes.
 Cigars $1 to $10 per thousand depending on weight.
 Cigarettes $1 per 1,000.
 Package tobacco one cent an ounce or fraction of ounce.
 Wooden boxes of 200 pounds, six cents a pound.

The house license fee is $5, the senate $10, for a dealer to engage in selling any of the taxed products.

Sen. Taylor E. Julien's tobacco tax bill sets up the following rates:
 Cigars, weighing not more than three pounds per 1000, $1 per 1000; more than three pounds, $10.
 Cigarettes, $1 per 1000.
 Smoking tobacco, snuff, fine cut chewing, all cut and granulated, shorts, refuse of fine cut chewing, refuse scraps, clippings, cuttings, sweepings and all other kinds not otherwise provided for and sold in packages, 16c per pound and in the case of packages containing less than an ounce, 1c per package.
 Cavendish, plug and twist tobacco sold in wood packages not exceeding 200 pounds in weight, 6c per pound.
 Cigaret papers made up into packages, books, or sets, on each 50 papers or fraction thereof, 1c and on papers made up into tubes, 1c for each 50 tubes.
 Retailers are required to get annual licenses from the state tax commission. The fee is $10.
 The tax commission is to furnish tax stamps.—Santa Fe New Mexican.

THE NEW PIONEER
BLAZING A TRAIL
THROUGH THE WILDERNESS
Hardy spirits of today are undismayed in the face of a wilderness of "collapsed" business structures. They know it is only those of "little faith" who fail to pull through; that now, if ever, opportunity beckons to men of energy and ideas... We believe in pioneers of 1934. We want the chance of talking to one of exchanging opinions, of lending support. Won't you accord us the pleasure of an interview.

I ANNOUNCE MY CANDIDACY
For Re-election
... to serve you in the future as I have in the past. I will continue to furnish you with every step-saving, time-saving and money-saving device worldly practical, and base my candidacy on the qualities and courteous service you, as the public, have received from me in past years.
... My record shows that no competitor has ever neared my attainments since my inauguration, which is ample proof of my ability.
... THANK YOU,

Milk Shortage Unlikely Under Adjustment Plan

Consumers need have no fear that the dairy production adjustment program which farmers in New Mexico and other states are now considering, will create a milk famine or even a shortage of milk for children and other consumers in the cities, according to officials of the agricultural adjustment administration.

As a matter of fact, consumption of fluid milk in cities should be increased rather than decreased by reason of the fact that the plan calls for an expenditure of $5,000,000 to provide milk for underfed children, it was pointed out.

The proposed reduction from the 1932-33 sales quotas would come primarily out of the surplus milk supplies and would not exhaust that surplus. Statistics compiled by the agricultural adjustment administration show that farmers producing for nearly all the larger cities are now forced to sell from 10 to 40 per cent of their milk as surplus for manufacture into butter, cheese, evaporated milk and ice cream mix. Farmers get much lower prices for this milk than they do for that sold as class 1.

Another point that should be kept in mind is that the plan seeks to hold gross sales of dairy products about where they are now. The reduction that is sought is from the high average of 1932-33. Without such a reduction there is the threat of a flood of milk that would further undermine dairy prices, drive herd owners out of business, and leave consumers facing a real worry as to future milk supplies.

It is estimated that at least 100 million pints of milk and perhaps more could be supplied to undernourished children with the $5,000,000 would be spent in transferring cows to needy farm families that are now without adequate milk and food supplies. This would increase rather than decrease the present use of milk by the consuming public, it is pointed out by agricultural adjustment administration officials.

Congressional Reflections

BY DENNIS CHAVEZ
Congressman From N. M.

There are a great number of governmental agencies and bureaus which were conceived and created since the beginning of the present administration which because of their great number and the shortness of time in which they were organized, their functions are not so clear to other than students of governmental agencies. They are also referred to by initials which adds more to the confusion. I am going, therefore, to undertake to clarify this complication somewhat, in this limited space, which may enable readers to understand better the functions and objectives of some of these agencies. If, however, I do not refer to some particular one you are interested in do not hesitate to write me and I shall be glad to furnish more detailed information.

The Farm Credit Administration (FPCA or FCA) was the result of the consolidation of the following government agencies into a single agency, Federal Farm Board, Federal Farm Loan Bureau, Regional Agricultural Corporations of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, Crop Production Loan Office, and Seed Loan Office of the department of agriculture, and also the functions of the secretary of agriculture under all provisions of law relating to the making of advances or loans to agricultural producers, including loans for the purpose of forming or increasing the capital stock of agricultural credit corporations.

The Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC) was organized October 16, 1933 and the capital stock fixed at $3,000,000, and is owned jointly by the secretary of agriculture and the governor of the Farm Credit Administration for the use and benefit of the United States. Its affairs are managed by a board of eight directors, named in the executive order under which the corporation was organized. This corporation has authority to buy, sell, and deal in agricultural and other commodities and to loan or borrow thereon; to assist in crop reduction and marketing programs; to store, handle, and process commodities of all kinds, and to do many other things in connection with existing relief plans.

The Federal Emergency Relief Administration (FERA, FERC, or FCRWA) was created by congress and approved May 12, 1933. The act provided for the cooperation by the federal government with the several states and territories and the District of Columbia "in revealing the hardship and suffering caused by unemployment, and for other purposes." The Federal Surplus Relief Corporation and the Federal Civil Works Administration are administered by this agency.

The National Recovery Administration (NRA) was created on June 16, 1933 and is designed to encourage national industrial recovery and to foster fair competition. This act created as the existence was recognized of a national emergency productive of widespread unemployment and disorganization of industry, which burdens interstate and foreign commerce, affects the public welfare, and undermines the standards of living of the American people. The machinery for accomplishing the purposes for which this agency was created is through the submission of codes of fair competition by associations in different trades or industries which will lead to the elimination of unfair trade practices and which will relieve unemployment through the shortening of weekly working hours and increasing purchasing power through increased minimum wages. Such codes of fair competition are expected to be submitted voluntarily by trades or industries. After the approval of the codes they become the law under which all members of the trade or industry shall operate. The act which created this agency shall cease to be in effect and the agencies established thereunder shall cease to exist at the expiration of two years after the date of its enactment, or sooner if the President shall by proclamation or the congress shall by joint resolution declare that the emergency recognized by the act has ended.

Some of the other agencies are Agricultural Adjustment Administration (AAA), the Federal Emergency Administration of public works (PWA), Consumers' Advisory Board (CAB), Dairy Marketing Corporation (DMC), Federal Home Loan Bank Board (FHLBB), Home Owners' Loan Corporation (HOLC), Subistence Homestead Division (SHD).

Senate Votes 15 to 7 for the Sales Tax Bill

SANTA FE, April 17.—The senate of the New Mexico legislature in special session here Tuesday night passed the "business" or sales tax, 15 to 7, after spending nearly the entire day on the question. Two senators changed their nays to ayes to permit the bill to carry the emergency clause, a two-thirds majority vote being required.

The vote came after Gov. A. W. Hockenull, who supported the measure, appeared before a caucus of democrats after executive sessions, caucuses and deliberations had occupied nearly all day.

An amendment was offered by Senator Tackett excepting food-stuffs from the bill, but this lost on a viva voce vote.

In the debate during the bill, with Senators Julien and Torres speaking against the bill, Senator

VOTE ON SALES TAX

The vote by the senate on the "business" or sales tax:
For:—
Coe, Hendricks, Jackson, Jones, Lee, Mears, Mullis, Schiele, Starr, Thaxton, Vigil, Vogel, Wilson.
Against:—
Adele, Atwood, Craighead, Fleming, Julien, Olivas, Quintana, Tackett, Torres.
Changing from nay to aye: Craighead, Julien.

Thaxton said the "democratic party is on the spot in Colfax county, not because of the party but because of the powers that be, who insist on keeping a ranking democrat against whom affidavits enough are on file in one office in the state capitol to send him over the road. Either they are prejudiced or evidence." He did not mention any names and speculation was rampant as to what person he referred to.

Meanwhile, the house, through its committees, spurned two of Gov. Hockenull's measures.

The house appropriations committee rejected the world fair exhibit appropriation bill, but after battle it was laid on the speaker's table without prejudice for further consideration. The judiciary committee reported unfavorably on the state insurance fund plan, to have the state carry its own insurance. This provoked a considerable discussion, which grew personal. The bill finally was killed by the committee report when a roll call to table the motion to adopt was lost, 19 to 33. Later Howard succeeded in getting the bill laid on the speaker's table without prejudice.

Lack of printed bills has caused a number of house measures to be put over on the calendar from day to day.

Macy Orders Arrest of Hiway Employee in Bridge Burning

SANTA FE, April 14.—State Highway Engineer G. D. Macy has ordered dismissal forthwith of an employee of the department at Socorro who has said was responsible for loss of a timber treated bridge near that place by fire.

Macy said Detective H. C. Martin of Santa Fe and State Patrolman Miller had discovered the worker had mistated his part in the fire and second that the department either better get men more interested in their work than to burn a $10,000 bridge or the department better quit trying to maintain roads and bridges.

Macy said the man had been told not to burn weeds near the bridge because of the high wind, and that he had been ordered to another place on the road to work. He disregarded these orders and started the weed fire anyway, Mr. Macy said, and burned the bridge.

Governor Holds Conference On Business Tax

SANTA FE, April 16.—Fate of the business tax was before a group of legislators and Governor A. W. Hockenull at a conference in the governor's office Monday night.

The bill may come up for action Tuesday. It is understood that the government is not in accord with all provisions of the bill and called in the legislative group to try to iron out his objections.

It is understood that the governor believes some rates in the bill are too low and should be raised, especially the two per cent rate on potash, oil and gas.

Belief that the business tax will be passed continues to grow in the senate.

Senator T. E. Mears, chairman of the taxation and revenue committee, said residents of his section were not generally in favor of the bill, but were willing to accept it as an emergency measure on the condition that it would continue in its present form only until June 30, 1935. He said he believed this represented fairly well the sentiment over the state.

If the business tax, or some other form of taxation, is adopted which will return sufficient revenue to keep the schools open, there will probably be no measure introduced to enable local taxing districts to vote to levy taxes in excess of the 20 mill limitation, it was said Monday.

Several senators, including Floor Leader Fred Wilson, stated that need for such a measure would be obviated by enactment of a revenue bill which would care for the needs of the schools.

Operation of the chain store tax until July 1 will mean at least $253,628 in taxes from the chain stores alone, according to information given Senator C. F. Vogel, sponsor of the chain store tax, by State Comptroller Juan Vigil.

The tax is due from the chain stores on that date.

"This is a very conservative estimate," Senator Vogel said, "and the probability is that the actual revenue received will be nearer to $300,000."

He predicted that the tax will yield approximately $400,000 annually from all sources. To date the comptroller has collected $60,000 from small business establishments, he said.

Mrs. A. B. Foreman and daughter, Miss Agnes and Mr. and Mrs. Steve Foreman left Thursday for a visit to relatives at McQuinn and Duke, Okla.

Ed C. Sisk of Albuquerque, representing the New York Life Insurance Company, was a business visitor in Portales Monday.

Haste Urged in PWA Contracts

WASHINGTON, April 15.—Repeating his demand for speed in submitting contracts for non-federal projects, Secretary Ickes, public works administrator, said Sunday allotments for $130,000,000 would be cancelled if the agreements were not returned speedily. Ickes said contracts for 2,000 of the 2,345 projects authorized for political sub-division had been sent out.

The administrator said if contracts were completed the public works administration was ready to pay loans and grants "as soon as the money is required for work actually done."

Direct employment on the 2,000 construction sites will amount to 45,500,000 man-days of work for all classes of labor, it is estimated, and indirect and industrial employment resulting from production and transportation of materials will exceed that figure.

Man Arrested in N. M. Says He's Aide of Dillinger

PASADENA, Calif., April 16.—Jack Morris, returned here from New Mexico to face robbery charges, has confessed he was the driver of the automobile used by the Dillinger gang in several of its bank robberies, but the Pasadena police say his story would be interesting if only true.

"Morris is trying to get transportation back to Chicago, where he knows he can establish an alibi, and thus be free of the robbery charges here," said Charles A. Betts, chief of the detective bureau. "He's talking about killing two policemen and a night watchman, and nobody charged with robbery is going to admit anything like that."

Morris is accused of holding up a card game here. He was arrested in New Mexico, placed in the Gallup jail, escaped and was tracked down by Indians and arrested again. Also accused with him is William Woodrow.

Fruit Prospects Good for County

Prospects are good for a fruit crop in Roosevelt County this year and those who have apple trees should remember that it is impossible to raise a satisfactory apple crop unless they are sprayed for the control of codling moth worms.

The New Mexico experiment station has studied the codling moth in this state for a number of years and has come to the conclusion that the following six spray schedule is the best for this state. Following is the schedule recommended:

First spray: When 90 per cent to 100 per cent of the petals have fallen and before calyx closes.

Second spray: 18 days after first spray.

Third spray: 42 days after second spray.

Fourth spray: 20 days after the third spray.

Fifth spray: 20 days after the fourth spray.

Sixth spray: 20 days after fifth spray.

The above schedule has been worked out to take care of the different broods of worms that are hatched out throughout the summer, and this schedule is based upon a close study of the codling moth for many years.

The spray consists of arsenate of lead, 2 pounds to 50 gallons of water.

In the spring of each year grape growers in this vicinity are usually given trouble by a small worm that feeds upon the grape blossoms and small fruit. This worm occurs practically every year about the time the grapes bloom and if attention is not given to its control most of the crop will be ruined. Many times severe damage will have been done before the presence of these worms will be noticed. These worms are very easily controlled by spraying with arsenate of lead or calcium arsenate, but the spraying must be done in time if satisfactory results are to be obtained. Grape growers are therefore urged to watch their grapes very carefully and at the first sign

Full Time For Postal Workers

WASHINGTON, April 16.—Curtailed mail deliveries and payless furloughs for postal workers will end May 1 because better business has raised postal revenue.

Postmaster General Farley revoked the provisions of an order of March 2 that took away the fur-of these worms spray the foliage and the blooms thoroughly. Many times an entire crop will be practically ruined in two or three days time if attention is not given to this control measure.

lough privileges and slashed the number of mail deliveries. He gave as the reason: "Improved business conditions throughout the country have resulted in a substantial increase in postal revenues during the months of February and March and offer prospects of continued increases." Starting May 1, residential sections of cities will receive two instead of one mail delivery daily. Business areas will get mail four instead of three times, and mixed districts three instead of two times a day. Window service also will be back on longer hours.

Rev. Sizemore, Rev. and Mrs. Chapman and children and Mr. and Mrs. Taylor McCasland were guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Kelso Tuesday evening for supper.
