Dockray-Bryan Wedding Heads Social Affairs Here During Week-End

The Woman's Angle

BY BLANCHE E. BEAN
Avalanche Woman's Editor

THE other day we took time off to commend the co-eds at Texas Technological college on their Cotton Day and the campaign out there to promote the wearing of more cotton on the campus. Thursday evening they had a style show which indicated some of the possibilities of cotton. Judging from the models, there is nothing wrong with the fabric when it comes to wearing qualities.

• • •

All we need now is plenty of spring sunshine to make the lighter fabrics desirable.

• • •

THE FLOWER EXCHANGE

HERE is a note for the Flower exchange: Mrs. Carl Henninger, 2111 18th street, has two or three dozen strawberry shrubs that she will give away. She needs some dahlias and chrysanthemums and would like to effect an exchange if she can.

• • •

We've received a lot of inquiries about the exchange now that spring has come back again. Anyone having plants or seed in excess and those who have particular needs may list them here.

• • •

IT MUST BE FUN

IF all the reasons for wanting a divorce were laid end to end they would reach around the world innumerable times.

• • •

Instead of patching up their troubles and trying to make a go of matrimony, it seems that many couples find some point for disagreement and then rush immediately into the courts. It must be a lot of fun to be married and getting divorces and all that sort of thing. Ennui killer, as it were.

• • •

TODAY'S CHILD

IF the children of this generation grow to manhood and womanhood without any moer preparation for this thing we term life than the generation of this day, there is something radically wrong with the theories that thousands of people are propounding today and there must be little in pedagogy.

• • •

The days when children were seen but never heard are distinctly in the past. Today's child is encouraged to act natural—to enter into conversation with his elders in order that his mind may develop and in order that his complexes may not be inferior. He is the subject of endless study and programs are mapped always with his welfare in mind.

• • •

The Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teacher associations, which has amassed a membership of thousands of men and women since its organization a few years ago, is an example of the unity of thought and action for child welfare. The stated aim of this organization—the welfare of the child is held ever uppermost. Nation, states and towns co-operate in a program designed to study the child and to promote his welfare, his actions, his developments in school and out, in order that he may have every advantage the schools and the homes can offer.

• • •

The thought given consideration by the majority of parents today is how the child can be most benefitted. School curriculums are constantly changed for the comfort of the child and in order that the individual needs may be met rather than the needs of the children as a whole.

• • •

It may be that we are coddling today's youngster too much; that we are, as some are inclined to believe, giving him too many advantages and demanding too little of him in return; that we are stifling his initiative and aggressiveness and making a parasite of him.

• • •

These things may be true but educators and leaders in these child welfare movements think otherwise. Their observations of today's child and their comparisons of him with the child of other days lead them to believe that he is better equipped with knowledge to meet his everyday problems inside the school room and out. They do not claim that all of this is going to produce super men, but they simply believe that the man produced will be better able to find his niche in the world in which he finds himself.

• • •

To this end, parents are being educated, too. That is a large part of the parent-teacher program at such conventions as the one conducted during the last few days in Lamesa.

• • •

Progressive schools have their parent-teacher associations which join in the programs of the national and state organizations in order that parent and child may receive a maximum benefit.

THE NEW HATS

THE smart thing in hats now is the belting ribbon hat. It is an excellent suit hat for it is smart not only in solid colors but in combinations of dark and light—the dark to match your suit, the light to match your blouse. Black and navy with pink or white are important combinations. The tweed fabric hat is still good fashion with your tweed coat or suit.

PATENTED PROCESS BRINGS OUT FINER FLAVOR IN COFFEE

Controlled Roasting Gives Hills Bros. Coffee Flavor No Other Coffee Has

As everybody knows, the flavor of coffee varies according to the way it is brewed. Especially disappointing is the result when coffee stays on the fire too long or is taken off too soon.

Similar unsatisfactory results can occur in the roasting of coffee. If the blend is roasted too long or not enough there is a noticeable difference in flavor between the two lots. Even with watchful care such variation is exceedingly difficult to prevent when coffee is roasted in large quantities.

Realizing this, Hills Bros. originated and patented a continuous process which roasts coffee a few pounds at a time, instead of in bulk. The quantity of coffee passing into the roaster does not vary. The speed of operation and the temperature remain the same with the result that Hills Bros. Coffee is absolutely uniform and has a flavor no other coffee has.

Hills Bros. Coffee never "goes stale" because it is packed in vacuum. By this process air, which destroys the flavor of coffee, is taken from the can and kept out. Ordinary cans, even if air-tight, do not keep coffee fresh. Ask for Hills Bros. Coffee by name and look for the Arab—the trade-mark—on the can. Sold by grocers everywhere.

Ellsworth Is Club Speaker

Business On Upgrade And Will Reach High Point Within 20 Months, Speaker Tells Members Of A. B. C.

"Production and consumption of materials, buying and selling, or, in ordinary jargon, business, in the United States, in Lubbock and in the world is on the rise and it will be back to normalcy sooner or later, but not as soon as those of optimistic outlook on the surface imagine," J. O. Ellsworth, professor of agricultural economics and farm management at Texas Tech, said yesterday in a brief address to members of the Lubbock American Business Club in the regular weekly luncheon meeting.

Professor Ellsworth illustrated his talk on past, present and future business conditions by special charts and grafs arranged to show the rise and fall of business during the past one hundred years. Going back to the Napoleonic era, Ellsworth attempted to show that at more or less regular intervals business took a turn for the better or worse. The charts showed that there was a shift once about every 40 months. There would be a period of what is known as normal or "good" conditions and then a fall, storm and sunshine. The charts showed that the present "low" conditions had dropped lower than any previous time, but the upward trend was certain. "It will not be within a week, a month or possibly a year, but within the the next 20 months business will reach another high point," Ellsworth said.

Four new members were introduced at the meeting yesterday. They are W. L. "Crip" Gclightly, Texas Tech basketball coach; Buck Weaver, assistant manager of the local branch of Southwestern Bell Telephone company; C. E. Luce, traffic officer, and Collier Parris, sports editor of the Avalanche-Journal.

President C. A. Sheffield displayed to the club a silver loving cup given the city of Lubbock by the national Clean-up and Paint-up association of New York. Lubbock won the cup, the only one in Texas, as a result of the combined efforts of the four civic clubs in pushing the clean-up campaign.

Winfield Watkins was unanimously elected manager of the A. B. C. baseball club and ordered to meet with other managers of the Lubbock City Baseball league next Thursday night to assist in drawing up a schedule for the season.

Truck Line Bill Upheld By Allred

AUSTIN, April 10. (AP)—James V. Allred, attorney general, today held that the bill to prohibit a railroad from controlling an intrastate bus or truck line was constitutional.

The bill, by Rep. Terrell of Alto, received a minority committee report. An effort was made to insert its provisions in one of the truck regulation bills it was invailing. Some of the opponents, however, said they took that position because they did not believe it had any place in the bill under consideration.

The opinion held that the bill applied only to intra-state lines and therefore was not an interference with interstate commerce. Allred stated further that the bill was in line with the state constitutional provision making it unlawful for a railroad company to control a competing line.

For a soapy, sudsy bath—use Mel'o

LIKE to have plenty of suds when you're bathing? Then don't bathe in hard water—city water as it comes from the faucet. Soap combines with the hard water, and forms a dirty ring around the edge of the tub. That's scum. And that's certainly not pleasant.

Hard water can be made soft. Just put Mel'o in the water and you have a very remarkable cleaner, with or without soap. Then watch the soap lather! Then watch the suds come! Then watch the scum go! Have you discovered how much more effective Mel'o makes soap? Get three cans today at your grocer's, for the kitchen, the laundry and the bathroom.

Oil Proration Is To Remain

American Petroleum Institute President Predicts That Proration Of Oil In Some Form Is Due

ENID, Okla., April 10. (AP)—An address prepared for delivery todayy to the state chamber of commerce by E. B. Reeser, Tulsa, president of the American Petroleum Institute, said proration of oil in some form was due to remain in effect for many years.

"If the states abandon their present legal, orderly ratable taking of oil, then another form, based on the law of the survival of the fittest, must ensue," the address stated.

Mr. Resser was unable to be present but his address was to be read.

There are 300,000 small wells, most of them of the "stripper" variety, that must be cared for in the interests of the industry as a whole, in Reeser's opinion, and their plight is causing perhaps the greatest concern to the industry at this time.

"We hear much to the effect that the independent producer is passing from the picture", Reeser's prepared speech said. "This is perhaps true, but instead, more individuals than ever before are taking in personal interest in the oil business through their investments.

"Bankers are carrying more loans that ever on collateral whose value is based on the welfare of the oil industry."

While advancing no cure for the ills of the industry, Reeser's address indicated the American Petroleum Institute would pledge itself to support the oil states advisory committee to reach some solution.

No Bond Will Be Given Man

Victor Miller, Charged With Conspiracy To Commit Felony In Another State Is Denied $2,500 Bond

LAREDO, April 10. (AP)—Victor Miller, alias Charles Schwartz, also known as "The Count," charged with conspiracy to commit a felony in another state, was denied an application for $2,500 bond this morning when District Judge J. F. Mullally decided to refer his petition to Federal Judge T. M. Kennerly.

Judge Kennerly will hear an application for writ of habeas corpus for Miller here April 20. The charges against him here were brought in connection with the alleged extortion of $50,000 from Joseph Rosenblum, Laredo onion buyer, in New Orleans in February, 1929. Attorneys for Miller several days ago obtained a continuance on the district court charge, pending disposition of the habeas corpus application by Federal Judge Kennerly.

Attorneys for Miller claimed he was extradited from France to face grand larceny charges in Massachusetts and that under terms of an extradition treaty with France, he could not be tried on another charge until the Massachusetts case had been disposed of.

Blow To American Cotton Is Expected In Russia Increase

MOSCOW, April 10. (AP)—Plains of the Soviet government to increase Russia's cotton over 80 per cent in 1931 will deal something of a blow to the country's imports from America if the plan is realized.

Nearly 6,000,000 acres will be planted to cotton in Russia in 1931, according to present plans. This is a 50 per cent increase in acreage over 1930 and the government hopes, by the use of fertilizers and better equipment to increase the crop 80 per cent.

Genius

THERE is a way modern youth has, when cautioned against wanton wasting of the powers of youth, of optimistically philosophizing that "Youth must have its fling." "You are only young once," and "Enjoy yourself while you can."

An old age ever has said, "If I was young again," "What sublime heights I could have attained had I not misused youth's potentialities," "What a pity youth cannot survive the years."

Which philosophy, that of youth or old age, is the most fallacious and most tragic? Can anything be more tragic than misguided youth?

True "some of the rarest flowers are latest in bloom" in vegetable life as well as in human life, but the early blooms have all summer in which to be admired. Old age is the frost which nips the late buds and blossoms in the garden of human existence. No age like youth can so well appreciate fame and success, but youth can only recognize fame in the garb of toil and that garb is ever unpopular with youth.

In centuries past it was not infrequent that mere youth occupied the highest positions in the circles of literature, military tactics, drama, art and society. There was nothing so amazing about precocity and prodigies. How different from today when precicity is nothing short of the devine spark of genius and a world calloused to a youth of dissipation and indolence never dreams of a youth fired with active ambition.

When F. Scott Fitzgerald as a college youth of 19 won recognition as a writer of short stories a reading public did not vision midnight oil, years of study and writing or such a thing as ambition, but cried in one voice "The day of genius has not yet set." When here and there across this broad nation one or two of the millions of American young men win prestige and prominence a worldy-wise nation winks one eye and sets its tongue to wagging about "pull." "luck" and "nerve."

Doting American fathers and mothers caution aspiring offspring against "wasting youth's hour of play and pleasure." American educational methods train young men and women to begin the struggle during the third decade of their lives, and youth of the United States take their parents and instructors at their word and postpone the job of making their fame and fortune until there is a total exhaustion of excuses and alibis for further hanging on to parental incomes.

There is some grounds for the modern belief that precicity is genius. It is genius for work, if the accepted dictionary definition of the word "genius" is a supreme native endowment.

FOOD FOR PESSIMISTS

Actual count must show that the number of lemon squeezers and squeezers of sweet damsels is only exceeded by the number of those whose dour lives are consecrated to squeezing the joy out of life.

Now the piping hot cup that cheers but violates neither commandment nor amendment is under fire. A physiologist warns the past warning and overwarned public that hot coffee, tea, soup or other liquids are injurious to the stomach. Verily, Schopenhauer would have been prophetic if man surrendered his steaming soup on a cold day, his hot cup of coffee at breakfast and his tea or coffee at dinner. What a lukewarm existence this is becoming with the physiologists blowing both hot and cold, condemning iced drinks in summer and hot ones in winter.

Formerly one of the advantages of growing up was that there would be nobody to tell you that which tasted good wasn't good for you and that which wasn't good to the taste was good for you. Now doctors and professors are robbing adulthood of even this blessing.

Practical Health Problems

SINUS INFECTION

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the last of two articles by Dr. Fishbein on infected sinus.

By Dr. Morris Fishbein, Editor Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine

A person with chronic infection of the sinuses is likely to wonder what the possibilities are for his relief. Dr. Lee M. Hurd is convinced that people with chronic sinusitis never recover without treatment.

Many of them have low-grade infections in which surgical treatment is not advisable, and these patients can be helped by drainage, frequent washing, and the application of various antiseptic substances.

In other cases, however, the infection of the sinus persists to such an extent that it involves danger to surrounding tissues. Cases are known in which the sight of an eye has been lost because of infection in a neighboring sinus. There are other instances in which the infection extends from the eustachian tubes to the ear and thus involves the mastoid process. The constant inhalation of pus may set up bronchitis or pheumonia. The continous slight fever results in a loss of vigor and in disturbances of digestion.

There are even cases in which loss of memory or neurosis has occurred because of the constant infection and irritation. It has been well established that an infection in the nose may be carried by the blood to other parts of the body, resulting in serious inflammations of joints, infection of the heart and the kidneys and even meningitis.

In children, chronic infection of the sinuses may be associated with enlarged adenoids and tonsils. The removal of the adenoids and tonsils may eliminate the source of the infection and end the trouble. At the same time, it should be emphasized again that correction of the diet to include a proper amount of vitamins A, B, C and D is of important.

There are, of course, cases in which the same child may have an enlargement of the tonsils and adenoids and associated with this a sensitivity to various protein substances. Obviously attention to both conditions is necessary if complete recovery is to be secured.

In older people, when the antrum is involved, the large sinuses on each side of the nose, it may be necessary to remove all infected teeth in relation to the antrum and to clean out the infected bone at the roots of the teeth. An opening into the antrum from the mouth permits drainage and the healing of the diseased membrane.

If such measures fail, it is possible to employ a surgical procedure, which involves a wide opening of the sinuses or even complete obliteration; such methods are, however, so delicate that they should be undertaken only by those especially competent and then after the most careful consideration.

Speed Is Depicted

BY CHARLES P. STEWART
(Central Press Staff Writer)

WASHINGTON, April 10.—President Hoover and the Red Cross function with especial energy in the face of a sudden emergency. A moment when others are fairly paralyzed by the unexpectedness of some great disaster, and flabbergasted by the utter lack of preparation seems to be just the moment when the president's head is the coolest and the machinery of the Red Cross hits most accurately on all cylinders.

Herbert Hoover

The promptness with which the White House rose to the Nicaraguan situation, the promptness with which it stirred the navy department to action, the rapidity with which the Red Cross mobilized its resources and expedited plans for the immediate aerial transport of skilled direction to the scene of the Central American catastrophe were beautiful and wonderful.

Of the friction and squabbling which marked the dispatch of assistance to Arkansas and other drouth-parched regions in the United States a few weeks ago there was not a trace.

From Mr. Hoover and John Barton Payne down to the most unimportant of their assistants the spirit evidently prevailed that thousands of people were suffering under overwhelming misfortune, that haste—without confusion—was as essential to them as relief itself, that the occasion was not one for the waste of a moment for consideration of questions of expense. The watchword was, "If funds already provided are inadequate, there are plenty more."

It sounded curiously in comparison with the arguments listened to not long ago in connection with problems involved in carrying American drouth victims through the fag end of the winter—with the ever-recurring suggestion, "It is all very well to talk about relief, but these farmers must not be pauperized."

* * *

So much for the demonstration which the Nicaraguan tremblor has afforded.

The earthquake promises, likewise, to furnish an excuse to cancel orders for the recall of United States marines from the little republic. Of the 1,300 still there, arrangements had been made for the withdrawal of all except some 500 by June 1.

In this matter Mr. Hoover has given repeated indications of sympathizing with those who oppose the employment of American armed forces on such duty if it can possibly be avoided.

* * *

Nevertheless, there are obvious influences in favor of the leathernecks' retention in full present or increased numbers in the Central American field. These influences already are advancing reasons against any modification of the existing occupation. Were congress in session, the president would find supporters on Capitol Hill for his program of reducing the marines' strength in Nicaragua to a minimum. In the lawmakers' absence, however, the pressure on Mr. Hoover to revise his plans may prove more difficult for him to resist.

FAMILY REUNIONS

Family ties are said not to be as close as they used to be, and yet many families are having reunions where a large number of near and distant relatives are gathered together. Interest in genealogical research is said to be increasing, and many people want to learn who their ancestors were and where they came from, and the desire to know the members of one's old family tribe will never disappear.

An obstacle in the way of such associations is created by the scattering of families all over the country. Where a family formerly settled down in its home town or near by, the present generation is likely to to scatter all over the land, and some may go to foreign nations. Yet as people travel more easily than formerly, many may come from distant points when the tribe holds its powwow.

It may be said that the tie that holds these distant relatives together is not close, since the people who assemble in an annual family gathering may never meet elsewhere, and may not feel any particular congeniality of temperament. And yet anything rooted so deeply in old traditions as the ties of family relationship must still be much of a power.

Back in old history people looked to their families for protection. Tribe fought against tribe, and if you were attacked and your safety assailed, your government might not be able to do anything for you, but your kinsmen would rally and beat off the tribe that menaced you.

Those old times of tribal warfare are happily gone forever. But the members of a family tribe now can reflect that they no doubt share certain traits handed down from common ancestors. Hence they should have ideas in common, and when they get together they should have important elements of congeniality that run deep in their natures.

STYLES AND ECONOMICS

A professor with academic degrees attached to his name has come forward with the theory that there is an odd relationship between feminine fashions and economic conditions. Short skirts, he says, have always been worn during eras of prosperity; in times of depression gowns lengthen.

This statement seems to be one of those outlandish dictums which occasionally eminate from academic halls. There would seem to be more point in the professor's theories if he reversed them. It takes more cloth and more sewing to make dresses with long, full skirts than knee-length, skimpy ones. If national economic conditions are to be affected surely merchants and manufacturers should profit more when style arbiters rule that skirts shall be long.

THE TOUCH OF NATURE

One touch of nature makes the whole world kin—and one touch of discomfort or mishap makes a whole crowd jovial and friendly. The psychology is the same in both instances. When responsive chords are touched they vibrate in unison. The touch of nature as a kinship maker is well established, and the effectiveness of discomfort as a maker of jovial friendship can be observed at almost any time and place.

A sudden downpour that sends the crowds scurrying to cover makes for pleasant exchanges that would not be thought of by the same individuals under ordinary conditions. A mishap routs austere staidness and cold aloofness and brings onlookers together in common interest.

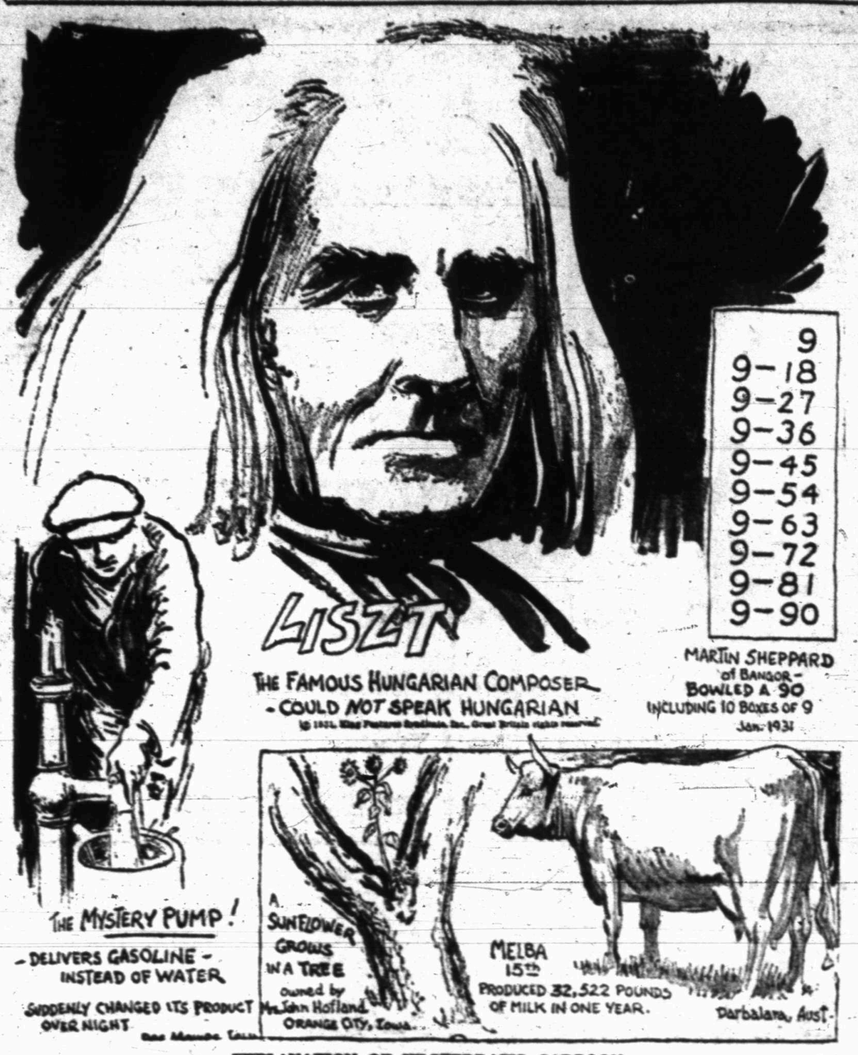

In such breakdown of barriers, the sense of humor asserts itself. Men and women laugh with each other at their discomfiture. This is a saving grace to a saving response to discomfort, that cynics might hold would logically lead in the other direction.

A THRILLING MYSTERY STORY + by MILES BURTON

READ THIS FIRST:

On a night of London fog, Thomas Herridge, expert cracksman, stole the famous Hardway diamonds — and yet when he was discovered by the police they were not in his possession. Sir Edric Conway, assistant police commissioner, sets Inspector Brooks on the trail, but the detective's dead body is delivered to Sir Edric in a packing case. Young Dick Penhampton, a friend of Sir Edric's, takes the trail. Disguised as a down-and-outer, Dick visits a hangout know as the Margate Jetty. He wins the confidence of several suspects and tells them he is looking for a job. They promise to tell their boss. The next day a messanger arrives to see Dick and his companion, known as Jerry.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

The urchin, who had resumed his whistling, subjected Dick to the same careful scrutiny which he had bestowed upon Jerry. The result seemed to satisfy him, for he raised his hand in a mock salute. "Evening, Captain," he said pleasantly. "You're wanted over yonder in Wapping. Corner of Creek Street." And without waiting for a reply, he ran off.

Dick returned to the back kitchen. "I'm off after my job, Evans," he said. "I can't say when I shall be back, but you had better stay in these rooms till you hear from me. I'm not going to tell you any more, so that if anybody comes here and asks you where I am, you can truthfully say you don't know."

"Verry good, sir," replied Jerry. And then, rather longingly: "You don't happen to be going anywhere where there's a chance of a scrape, sir?"

"No, it shaan't come to that yet," said Dick. "If it comes to scrapping, I'll take you with me."

He set off to walk sharply in the direction of Wapping, with a pleasant thrill of anticipation. He had guessed that the three men whom he had met on the previous evening were not what they seemed. They were either detectives, or members of some criminal gang who haunted the Margate Jetty for a definite purpose. And it seemed to him highly probable that the latter assumption was correct. It was difficult to understand why three police officers should be necessary to watch so insignificant a public house.

If they were members of a gang, then it was highly probable that he was on the way to learn something. Whether that something would be of any use to him in his quest for the murderer of Inspector Brooks it was impossible to say. But if he played his cards well, he believed that he might at least gain some knowledge of the personnel of the underworld, a very necessary step upon the path which he had marked out for himself.

Creek Street proved to be a narrow throughfare, lined on both sides by squalid looking houses, leading off Wapping High Street. There were not many people about when Dick reached the place, and he looked in vain for any of his acquaintances of the previous night. He turned the corner and slouched up the dark street, eagerly scanning the shawods for any sign of those who had sent him the massage. Reflecting that he had no instructions as to which corner was intended, he walked the whole length of the street, till he reached the farther end, and found himself on the outskirts of a lobyrinth of gloomy dwellings, among which meandered evil-smelling alleyways, dimly lighted by infrequent lamp posts. Here he rested for a few minutes, propped against a wall his hands in his pockets and his head sunk upon his breast, the very picture of worthlessness.

From out of the darkness came a man, sauntering toward him. He might have been one of his acquaintances of the Margate Jetty; Dick could not tell for certain. The man passed him so closely as to brush against him. "You've wanted at Number 45," he said, without raising his head or pausing. "Open the door and walk in."

Without a word Dick began to walk slowly back along Creek Street. Number 45 turned out to be even more dilapidated than its neighbors. The plaster with which it had once been faced had fallen away in great irregular patches, exposing the grimy and irregular brick-work beneath. Not a pane in any of the windows was whole, they having evidently served as targets for the youths of Wapping. The door, level with the pavement, had long ago lost all vestige of paint and seemed to hang precariously upon its rusted hinges. It was easy to see that the house was untenanted and condemned.

With a rapid glance round him, Dick pushed open the door. It yielded to his touch, with a melancholy creaking. He found himself in utter darkness, but guessed that he was in a narrow passage. The whole place reeked of damp and of disuse; Dick fancied that he heard the scuttling of rats somewhere around his feet. He felt a sudden urgent desire for light, for anything to reveal the horrors by which he felt himself surrounded. But, true to the part which he was playing, he had not brought even a match-box.

He advanced cautiously a few steps along the passage, testing each creaking board with his feet before he trusted his weight upon it. The house seemed empty, and he stopped suddenly, fearing that he might be advancing into some trap. And, as he did he heard the voice.

It was impossible to tell the direction from which it came. It echoed, hollow and menacing, among the bare walls and uncarpeted floors. But the tone of it was harsh and imperious, the tone of a man who is accustomed to have his orders obeyed without hesitation or ques-

To Stabilize Oil Industry

Interstate Restrictive Compact Approved By Administration; Hopes Pinned On Campaign

WASHINGTON, April 10 (AP) — Stabilization of the oil industry stood forth today as the aim of an administration approved crusade in producing areas for an interstate restrictive compact.

Hopes of the government and the oil states were pinned on the campaign for the agreement, which will be waged by the oil states advisory committee, headed by Cicero I. Murray of Oklahoma City.

Plan Commended

The compact plan, laid before the federal oil conservation board and President Hoover by the oil states' group yesterday was commended at the White House and by members of the board as the way to confine supply to demand.

The advisory committee will continue its activities as counsellor to the industry and the ten leading producing states while the latter work toward the agreement, which would limit proportionately the production in each.

Admonished by Secretary Wilbur, chairman of the federal oil board, to get together for constructive effort and to avoid "playing politics," the oil states committee will meet the producers at St. Louis April 14 at the annual session of the American Petroleum institute.

Confidence Voiced

Cheered by the results of the conference, Wilbur and Murray joined in expressing confidence efforts to ogtain voluntary cooperation from varied interests would succeed.

Meanwhile, the federal agency made ready to continue its work in an advisory capacity—to which it is limited—by cooperating where possible and through a special economic committee, which will issue from time to time estimates of oil, gasoline and oil products required by the nation to help guide the industry.

Murray's group asked that the committee, which prepared a report from the session here, be continued. The states' representatives announced these reports would be used in planning their advisory regulation, but might be revised.

During the conference yesterday, R. H. Smith, Tulsa oil operator, called for federal regulation, contending state regulation would not solve the problem, which he likened to the liquor industry before prohibition, citing the national scope of the oil industry.

Quells Controversy

A controversy over the part played by imports in heaping trouble upon the industry was quelled quickly by Wilbur, who said it would take 20 years to trace down the blame for what had gone before.

Steps for the interstate compact will require approval of the states' legislatures, then ratification by congress to become effective.

Wilbur, commenting on this, pointed out that the members of oil states' committee represented the commonwealths and were appointed by the governors and not by the industry.

"They represent the forces within the state for control of waste and for the protection of the public and state interests through conservation laws," Wilbur said, adding:

"In my judgment, these improvements if successful will lay the basis for a compact between the oil producing states which will be presented to the next congress for ratification.

"In the meantime, there is a prospect that the independent operator can be preserved and that with increased stability conditions will improve so that the steady production of established small wells will not be permanently lost to the nation."

The meeting with the oil states' group, Wilbur said, "bids fair to inaugurate substantial results in the conservation of oil, oil products and in the prevention of monopoly in the oil industry."

Dallas Company Successful Bidder For Grollman Store

Perkins Dry Goods store of Dallas bought the stock and fixtures of the C. H. Grollman store at an auction Friday morning. The sale was made by W. D. Girand, jr., trustee in bankruptcy. The Dallas company's bid was the highest made in more than an hour of active bidding. It was $14,800.

The stock inventory was announced at $25,813.25.

No announcement was made following the sale in regards to the disposition of the stock by the successful bidder.

Plumber Is Arrested To Face Charges; Body Found In Well

PRESIDIO, April 10. (AP)—J. B. Thomas, plumber, charged with the murder of a man whose body was found in a well near Presidio six weeks ago, was arrested early today at his home near the city after a search of several weeks. Constable C. O. Smith placed him in jail awaiting the arrival of Sheriff Joe Bunton from Marfa.

The presence of Thomas at his home was discovered by a neighbor, who disabled the plumber's automobile to prevent his escape in it and notified Constable Smith of his whereabouts.

International Sunday School Lesson

General Topic: THE PRODIGAL SON
Scripture Lesson: Luke 15:11-24

BY DR. J. E. NUNN

11. And he said, A certain man had two sons:

12. And the younger of them said to his father, Father, give me the portion of thy substance that falleth to me. And he divided unto them his living.

13. And not many days after, the younger son gathered all together and took his journey into a far country; and there he wasted his substance with riotous living.

14. And when he had spent all, there arose a mighty famine in that country; and he began to be in want.

15. And he went and joined himself to one of the citizens of that country; and he sent him into his fields to feed swine.

16. And he would fain have filled his belly with the husks that the swine did eat: and no man gave unto him.

17. But when he came to himself he said, How many hired servants of my father's have bread enough and to spare, and I perish here with hunger!

18. I will arise and go to my father, and will say unto him, Father, I have sinned against heaven, and in thy sight:

19. I am no more worthy to be called thy son: make me as one of thy hired servants.

20. And he arose, and came to his father. But while he was yet afar off his father saw him, and was moved with compassion, and ran, and fell on his neck, and kissed him.

21. And the son said unto him, Father, I have sinned against heaven, and in thy sight; I am no more worthy to be called thy son.

22. But the father said to his servants, Bring forth quickly the best robe, and put it on him; and put a ring on his hand, and shoes on his feet:

23. And bring the fatted calf, and kill it, and let us eat, and make merry;

24. For this my son was dead, and is alive again; he was lost, and is found. And they began to be merry.

Golden Text:—There is joy in the presence of the angels of God over one sinner that repenteth.—Luke 15: 10.

Time:—The three parables of this chapter were spoken in January, A. D. 30, in the closing three months of Christ's ministry.

Place:—Perasa, the region east of the lower Jordan.

Parallel Passages—These three parables are found only in Luke.

Introduction.

"Luke's fifteenth chapter is one of the most precious in all the Bible. It is made up of the three parables of the lost and found,—The Lost Sheep, the Lost Coin, and the Lost Boy. These are three priceless pictures of redemption. They constitute the parable trilogy of the gospel. They are the triptych of salvation. All men are lost, and the Son of God came to find them. These wonderful little stories represent Christ to the human heart more definitely and glowingly, perhaps, than any other portion of the Bible, even the fifty-third chapter of Isaiah."

"A picture painted by Jesus himself of God in heaven waiting for you and me." Lindsay. "It sweeps the whole circle of theology."—Snowden. The parable is the Master's dramatic way of saying, 'God is love.'"—David Gregg. "The whole experience of the Christian life for nineteen centuries is its living commentary."—Bishop Lang.

"We call it the parable of the Prodigal Son; it might with equal propriety be called the parable of the Bereaved Father, for the whole story crystallizes about that name, repeating it, in one form or another, no less than twelve times."—Henry Burton.

The Lost Sheep, Luke 15: 4-7.

The special point of this parable for the immediate occasion was the contrast between the one sheep lost in the wilderness and the ninety-nine safe in the fold. "'Lost' is the word that describes life as it is; 'found,' is the word that describes life as it ought to be."—Rev. T. Calvin McClelland, D. D.

The Lost Coin. vs. 8-10.

The second parable of the Lost and Found pictures a woman who owned ten silver coins, each worth about sixteen cents, the wages of a day of common labor, and so equivalent to $1.50 or $2.00 with us.

The Lost Boy

The third of this trilogy of parables is the best-loved and most famous of all Christ's parables. An evangelist in the home-land or a missionary in a foreign land will begin his work with this parable. No other story has so much of the gospel in it, exhibit so much of the heart of Christ. It is "the pearl of parables."

The Story Itself.

"The Story of the Lost Son," "How a Saddened Father was glad," "Jesus' Picture of the Heavenly Father," are some other titles that have been given it. It is another of the priceless treasures for which we are indebted to Luke alone, though it gathers up and reflects many teachings of our Lord that are scattered through the Four Gospels. Like the parable of the Good Samaritan it is an incomparable specimen of the perfect, ideal short story. Notice its conciseness; which, however, detracts not at all from the literary elegance.

The Purpose of The Parable.

This parable is meant to do two things: (1) to reinforce the truth taught in the parables of the Lost Sheep and the Lost Coin, that God loves the sinner and that there is joy in heaven over one sinner that repents; and (2) to portray the human experience of sin and redemption. And so it is not only a lesson in the love of God but also in human responsibility in the matter of sin and salavtion.

"Father, Give Me The Portion." vs. 11-13

What sort of man would make such a prayer? (1) A self-centered man. "Give me" was on his armor. He was thinking only of himself, forgetful of any obligation he might have at home, of any service he might render to his father. His idea was that his father and the world owed him something, and he was out to get it. That is a true picture of sin. It is essentially selfish. The thing that Jesus had to combat and against which he was always preaching was selfishness. It was the secret of every step that led the prodigal to the waste and shame of his life.

Self Indulgence Works Evil

A natural accompaniment of selfishness is an overestimate of things. The prodigal was a materialist. "Give me the goods" was his prayer. The summon bonum of life was self-indulgence, and the way to find its joy was through wealth. Wealth is always a temptation. In the hands of a man wholly surrendered to God, but in love upon service, it is not an evil but a blessing, but in the hands of the selfish man it is sin's readiest weapon. As it proved in the case of the prodigal, "the love of money is the root of all kinds of evil." What do we want of life? Beware if the real prayer of the heart, the pursuit of life, is "Give me the goods."

The Result Of His Prodigality

1. Want. A strange coincidence that a famine should have come just when he had spent all; but it is no strange coincidence that sin reduces men to want, and that is what our Lord was saying. He was giving the natural history of sin. There comes a time when a sinful man has nowhere to turn in the far country of sin. Famine is as sure as life. 2. Loneliness. Although he was hungry "no man gave unto him." From day to day the grunt of the swine was the friendliest sound he heard. 3. Disgrace. He became a swineherd, the most degraded work of the land, and disgraceful in the eyes of Jews.

"He Came To Himself." vs. 17-19

He saw himself as he was, a man who had made shipwreck of his life, who might have been at that moment in his father's house an honored son with every need satisfied, instead of perishing with hunger in a foreign land. Two words indicate his new thought about himself, (1) "I have sinned." How far away he had gone before he saw the truth! (2) "No more worthy." One is reminded here of our Lord's parable of the Pharisee and the publican, and his word of grace concerning the prayer of the humble. When men thus see themselves in the light of truth, they are getting near the kingdom of God.

"He Came To His Father." vs. 20-24

Someone has said that nobody is ready to come to Christ wholly until he has seen Christ to be his whole dependence. When in his despair he came to himself, the the prodical saw only one gleam of hope and that was in the direction of his father's house; and he responded. He said, "I will arise and go to my father."

1. In the father's house he found love for his loneliness. It was with full knowledge of the tender love of God ready for every penitent that Jesus drew the picture (verse 20) of the father, the compassion, and running, and embracing and kissing.

2. He found honor for his shame. The best robe, the signet ring, the shoes proclaimed his complete restoration to sonship in the father's house.

3. He found plenty for his want and joy for his misery. The fatted calf was killed, and with the feast came joyous music and dancing. "There is joy in heaven over one sinner that repenteth."

Special Lessons

1. Lost—Found. The chapter ends on its keynote. We are not told how the scribes and Pharisees received the parable, but they must have seen themselves in the older brother; and indeed that harsh character finds a likeness in ourselves whenever we do not fully share Christ's joy in the finding and winning of lost souls."

2. "If you are bent on using your life and resources for what you fondly dream will make you happy without God, God will let you take your way. God never places his almightiness between a man and the perdition to which he is wedded. He who made you free will leave you free."—Rev. Henry Batchelor.

3. "In the best robe we may see illustrated the doctrine of justification, the robe of Christ's righteousness, in which the soul is, as it were, clothed. The ring, as containing the signet or seal, may well be regarded as symbolizing the sealing of the Holy Spirit. The shoes, used only when walking or at work, assured the son of the privileges of service, and yet that in serving he should be free."—Canon J. Denton Thompson.

PILLS ARE OFTEN DANGEROUS

Most laxatives have to be taken in ever-increasing doses. Otherwise, they lose their power. The body needs roughage.

One of the most natural ways to obtain this roughage is by eating a delicious cereal: Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. Read what Mr. Albert F. Parker of Massachusetts has to say:

"I am 52 years old and have put in years suffering from constipation. Bought all kinds of pills and drugged myself with them and awoke lots of mornings with a headache.

"Haven't taken one pill since I began on Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. I am now feeling the best I have felt in 20 years."

Two tablespoonfuls of ALL-BRAN daily are guaranteed to give relief. At your grocer's, in the red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Needed Exercise

Store Man Always Accommodating

OMAHA, Neb., April 10. (AP)—"Mayybe," said Mark Lorig, South Omaha store owner today, "They needed the exercise."

His comment had to do with the visit of the fire department to his place yesterday.

There was a small hole burning in the awning on which he was about to toss a bucket of water when a stranger tapped him on the shoulder.

"Where," he asked, "is the telephone."

Always accomodating, Lorig set down his bucket, directed the stranger to the telephone, and returned to find the hole considerably increased in size and the fire department clanging down the street.

Curiosity got the better of Lorig. He looked at the fire apparatus and then at the stranger.

"Who," he asked one of the firemen, is he?"

"Oh," said his informant, "Don't you know who that is. Why he's another fireman."

A COLLEGE COLUMN

By MARSHALL FORMBY, TECH CORRESPONDENT

TO SELECT TEAM

Practice is being held for the rifle match to be held between Texas Tech and Texas School of Mines on April 20 by the rifle club students of Tech. The El Paso team will arrive here April 19 for a short practice that afternoon. Five members will comprise the squad and probably an alternate will accompany the regulars.

The Tech team will not be selected until April 18, according to L. W. Chapman, president of the rifle club. Several students are candidates for one of the five positions on the team.

ENGINEERS NAMED OFFICERS

Dean William J. Miller of the Tech school of engineering was named vice-president of the Texas branch of the Society for the Promotion of Electrical Engineering organized last week at a meeting at Texas A. and M. college at College Station. Professor Carl Lars Svenson, head of the Tech department of drawing, was chosen as Tech's representative to the executive council.

An A. and M. professor, Dr. Gleskie was chosen head of the newly formed branch. Schools represented at the gathering included Texas Tech, Texas A. and M., Texas university, Rice Institute, Southern Methodist university, Texas Junior A. and M. college at Arlington, John Tarleton college and the College of Arts and Industries.

Several of the Tech faculty members had parts on the program during the two day meeting.

ALL-COLLEGE TONIGHT

Tech students will make merry at the all-college dance at the college gymnasium tonight at 9 o'clock. Frank Stone and his Collegians will play.

Prices for admission will be $1 for stags and seventy-five cents for couples.

TO PUT OUT PAPER

Students in the Tech school of home economics will issue the next special edition of the student newspaper, The Toreador, according to Frank Emison, editor. The paper, which will be out Thursday, will contain special information about that school of the college and concerning students in that school.

The special editor has not yet been announced.

MAY TRANSFER FEE

Students wishing to transfer their $5 library deposit to the staff of the college annual, La Ventana, for a 1931 book may do so now, according to F. M. Coker, business manager of the publication. These deposits must be transferred within the next few days, however, in order that a sufficient number of books can be published.

Upon entrance in the college each year, each student pays a $5 library deposit which he gets back at the end of the year, provided he has misplaced no library books. Under the transfer plan, arranged by the annual officils, the students sign the deposit over to the staff in exchange for a book.

The books are usually delivered about the last week of the school year and the library checks up on the students, pasting the names of students owing fines. These fines must be paid before the annuals are delivered.

NO STATE CONTEST

As only two colleges in Texas signified their intention of entering when five is required, there will be no state oratorical contest in May at the University of Texas at Austin as was previously announced, according to word received by Miss Annah Jo Pendleton, acting head of the Tech speech department, this week. Tech was one of the two schools preparing for the meeting.

A $50 award will be given the boy making the best oration on any subject he desires. The state contest had called for an oration on, "Peace." Students entering must be enrolled in some speech course or members of some speech club. No seniors are eigible.

RELAYS ARE TODAY

With more than 500 entries listed and 39 schools of West Texas and New Mexico participating, competition promises to be keen in the contests on the Tech athletic field today. Sponsored by the Tech athletic department, the first annual relays will get under way at 10 o'clock this morning.

Five special events precede the relays which start at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon. All contests will be run off according to scheduled time.

Special prizes have been provided by the various business concerns of Lubbock for the winners, high point men and runner ups. The program is under the direction of Coach "Dutch" Smith, of the Tech athletic department.

PLAN BANQUET

April 30 was the date decided for the 1931 senior banquet at a recent meeting of the class, according to Floyd Wooldridge, Plainview, class president. A committee was appointed to work out plans for the event.

Other plans for graduation were worked out at the class gathering.

TO GIVE TEA

Approximately one hundred high school students attending the high school tournament here today will be entertained with a tea at 4 o'clock this afternoon by the Tech Latin club, S. P. Q. R. The tea will be held on the lawn south of the administration building and President Paul W. Horn and Dean J. M. Gordon will make special talks.

Miss Nina Opal Davies is president of the Tech organization which is made up of students enrolled in the Latin department.

LIVE IN PRACTICE HOUSE

Five senior home economic co-eds majoring in vocational home economics make up the family in the practice house on the campus this term. Only seniors are allowed to live in the house with Miss Jomie McCrery, head of the foods department, and the group is changed each term. Actual practice in home management is experienced during the term's stay.

The five include Misses Gertrude Poole, Gertrude Peters, Pauline Hargrove, Sue Flache and Maetta Maunts.

Many Expressions Received From Political Leaders All Over The Country; Tributes Are All High

(By The Associated Press)

Tributes to the memory of Nicholas Longworth came yesterday from people of high position in all corners of the country.

Praise for his legislative talents mingled with expressions of sadness on the passing of a friend. President Hoover mentioned his "happy character, his sterling honesty, his courage in public questions" in calling the death a loss to the nation.

"The house lost a distinguished and able speaker," said Vice-President Curtis.

The affection in which he was held in Washington was evidenced by the way Republicans and Democrats joined in eulogy. Representative Garner, leader of the minority in repeated attacks on legislation supported by Mr. Longworth, sent this word to Mrs. Longworth from his home in Texas:

"In Nick's passing the entire congress has sustained a personal loss. My public service will hereafter lack that which his friendship gave. No one can take his place in my affection. Mrs. Garner and I extend our love and sympathy to you and Paulina."

The house Republican leader, Representative Tilson, predicted history would know Mr. Longworth as "one of the greatest speakers of the house."

"I knew him intimately for more than 20 years," he said; "and in all that time never observed any act which could be attributed to selfish interests or to motives other than the purest patriotism."

Calvin Coolidge said:

"The passing of Speaker Nicholas G. Longworth is a shock to all the country. His acquaintance was wide, his service had been long. Few men in public life had so large a circle of enthusiastic friends. This blessing came to him because he was able and friendly.

"In his leadership of the house he was quiet, firm and effective. Both sides of the chamber held his decisions in respect because of their fairness. His discipline always had an air of fraciousness in it which compelled loyalty without resentment."

William G. McAdoo, former secretary of the treasury, said: "The whole country, without regard to party, will deplore the death of Speaker Longworth.

"I feel a deep personal grief that he has gone and, with his many friends, I pay tribute to his great qualities and the patriotic service he uniformly rendered to his country."

Senator Norris of Nebraska: "The death of Speaker Longworth comes as a severe shock. For 30 years I have enjoyed a personal friendship with him. For several years in the house of representatives we were usually found on the same side of public questions. Later on our political views took up in different directions although our friendship remained the same. I most sincerely regret his death."

More Production Is Seen By Board

WASHINGTON, April 10. (AP)—The farm board faced a new barrier today in its drive to reduce the surplus of domestic wheat.

Piled high in front of it was an estimated production of 644,000,000 bushels of winter wheat, 40,000,000 more than last year.

This bumper crop was seen as a nullifier of the board's success in obtaining a 3 per cent reduction in total acreage planted, both winter and spring.

Should normal weather prevail and a normal yield be harvested, the total 1931 production would be 865,000,000 as compared with 851,000,000 last year.

Such an indicated production possibly would create another emergency in view of expected large world carryovers and only a slight reduction in world acreage exclusive of Russia which has said it would increase its plantings.

A 20 sesterce, a Roman coin of 200 B. C., about the size of a grain of corn and containing gold value at 40 cents, was sold recently in London for $60.

Deadline Is Set For Applications

Applications for farm loans must be mailed in time to be received by the farmers seed loan office in Fort Worth not later than April 20, B. Shannon, in charge of the farm loan office, stated riday.

This deadline has been set by secretary of agriculture, and state and branch offices of the seed loan organization have been notified of the ruling, Mr. Shannon said.

Receives 303 Checks

A total of 303 checks aggregating $51,341.95, representing an average of $169.44, had been received at the Lubbock office through Thursday according to Mr. Shannon. The average had dropped, Mr. Shannon said, because later applicants had not asked as much.

Decisions of the state bureau on 37 applications sent from here has not been learned, and the local bureau had 25 applications ready to mail upon approval of the county committee, Mr. Shannon said.

Wheat in Texas north of Amarillo and all through the Oklahoma Panhandle and the southwestern section of Kansas is in "good condition" according to George E. Lance of Morton, former newspaper editor of Cochran county, who returned yesterday from a trip into those sections.

"It looks good all the way north of Amarillo," he said. "It is in good shape and should make a big crop."

Mr. Lance went on a business trip, expecting to be gone for about a week. Instead he was "snowbound for nine days up in southwestern Kansas" he said.

"I was only a bout 50 miles from where those children lost their lives in the school bus," he said. "The school was just over the line in Kansas from Colorado, It was between Hugoton and Ulysses.

Mr. Lance reported great activity in Boise City. "I recall the town when it had only 250 people," he said. "There are now about 1,600 people living there.

"The Santa Fe is building its yards and laying out its terminal and getting ready to extend the Colmar line. Boise City is going to be a good town. They have the court house square paved and each street for three blocks on either side of the square."

PUBLIC NOTICE!

Montgomery Ward & Co. has filed a complaint with the Federal Trade Commission against Unfair Tire Advertising!

...Newspaper and magazine advertisements are being published throughout the country in which nationally advertised tires are compared with a "mail order" tire ...We have been asked if the "mail order" tire referred to is our RIVERSIDE. The reason for this is obvious. Ward's is the oldest mail order house in America. So, when anyone says "mail order," most people naturally think first of Montgomery Ward & Co. No! the tire referred to is not Ward's Riverside!

RIVERSIDES

Are Equal to or Better Than ANY Tires Made Regardless of Name or Price!

Montgomery Ward & Co. is one of the largest distributors of automobile tires in the world. And for 19 years, Riversides have been one of the best known tires in the industry. Millions have been sold. They are made by one of the largest rubber companies in America. They are built to the most rigid tire specifications known. They are the finest quality it is possible to produce. They are backed by the fairest, squarest guarantee ever written, and they sell for less than other nationally known tires of equal quality. These sound like extraordinary claims. But they are facts. And Montgomery Ward & Co. stands behind every word.

The big tire companies have found it impossible to meet Riverside quality at Riverside prices—so most of them now sell what are known as "second quality" tires at the same price we charge for Riversides, a first-quality tire! Furthermore, a recent check disclosed that close to 90% of all the newspaper advertising of the leading tire companies is being devoted to their second-quality tires. Why? Evidently to confuse the reader. The reader notes that the prices are the same as Riversides, and assumes that the quality is the same. But the nationally advertised tires offered at Riverside prices are not equal to Riversides in quality. Always compare QUALITIES as well as PRICES. The table at the right lists some of the best-known first-quality tires that compare with Riversides in quality. YOU compare the prices!

As an example of how you save —note the price on this popular size Size 29x4.40/21 $4.95

Nearly 350 Athletes Here To Attempt New Marks; 39 High Schools Represented In Meet

Admission To Carnival Is Free To All Visitors; Preliminaries To Start At 10; Other Events This Afternoon

BY COLLIER PARRIS
Avalanche Sports Editor

On ya mark! Get set! Bang!

Nearly 350 track men, representing 39 high schools, will be straining at the barrier this morning as the familiar words above are uttered by Chief Starter Del Morgan and First Assistant Bill Keeling.

Everything is set for the first Texas Tech High School Relay carnival. After weeks of preparation and work on the part of Russell T. Smith, Tech coach and promoter of the relays, after $300 in trophies have been subscribed by Lubbock business men and after nearly 600 entries have been listed for participation, the stage is set. The track is in fine shape. The lanes are lined off, the hurdles repaired and the distances measured.

Opens at 10 This Morning

The first gun will be fired at 10 o'clock this morning and at that time more than 100 boys will begin a series of elimination races in the 50-yard and 100-yard dashes. Later in the morning preliminaries will be held for the other special events, 220-low hurdles, high jump and javelin throw. Finals will be held in the afternoon along with all relay events, five of them.

There will be no admission charges for the games today. The public is invited. With some of the crack high school tracksters in the state on hand some records are likely to fall today. No entrance fees are charged the participating teams.

Relays at 2:30 O'clock

The relays, beginning at 2:30 this afternoon and concluding at 4:30, consists of quarter-mile, half-mile, mile, medley and special medley races for the four-men teams.

The Lubbock Avalanche-Journal is offering the leading prize, a $50 28-inch victory trophy, combined cup and statuette, to the winning team. Other prizes include a silver and oak plaque given by the Tech Athletic Council for the second winning team, a large pennant given by the Caprock Emblem company for the third place team, and an imposing array of trophies for individual winners and winning relay teams.

Three high point men will be given special awards. The Anderson Jewelry company will give a wrist watch to the first high point man, Lubbock Hotel to give a wrist watch to the second high point man and Hebert's Jewelry will give an award to the third high point man. The Tech Bookstore will give a fountain pen and pencil set to first and second winners in the 50-yard dash special event.

The chamber of commerce has subscribed approximately $100 for the purchase of silver cups and statuettes for relay team and other special event winners. The winner of each special event will receive 10-inch silver statuettes and runners up will be given 9-inch loving cup. The winning team in each of the five relays will be awarded 10-inch silver statuettes and second place teams will receive loving cups. All trophies will be suitably engraved and will be given at permanent possessions.

Dunlap And Parks Advance To Final Pinehurst Battle

By The Associated Press.

PINEHURST, N. C., April 10.—George T. Dunlap, jr., New York golfer and intercollegiate champion, and S. M. Parks, Pittsburgh linksman won their semi-final matches today to enter the finals of the 31st annual North and South amateur tournament tomorrow.

Dunlap, the medalist, a Princeton star, advanced handily at the expense of J. B. Ryerson, Cooperstown, N. Y., who annexed a series of titles in the Florida tournament season. The score was 4 and 3.

T. Sutterfield Tuller, Newport, R. I., gave Parks more trouble in their semi-final contest, but the Pennsylvanian played the steadier game on the back nine to win 2 and 1.

Buck Stanton Arrives At Spudder Camp For Action

WICHITA FALLS, April 10. (AP)—Buck Stanton, regular Spudder first baseman in 1928, arrived here today from the camp of the Browns to resume his former duties at the initial sack in Witchita Falls. He replaces E. K. Martin, brilliant left-hander, whom the Spudders doubtless will send out on option. Martin, a former Texas Aggie, has been regarded as the best rookie prospect in camp.

NORFOLK, Va., April 10. (AP)—The Giants and White Sox closed their annual spring barnstorming tour in a stalemate today, each with seven victories, when the Sox walloped two New York pitchers for 19 hits and won, 11 to 7. The rivalry will be renewed in games at New York tomorrow and Sunday.

Earl Frasier, Texas League recruit kept the Giants well in hand until the eighth, when he was relieved by Moore. Orr and Leach homered for the losers.

Experts Say Cards, Mack Will Repeat

Votes Show 41 Out Of 60 Favoring Athletics

By ALAN GOULD
Associated Press Sports Editor

NEW YORK, April 10. (AP)—On the theory that one good term of office deserves another, the Philadelphia Athletics and St. Louis Cardinals have been picked by the experts to lead the big league baseball parades again this season.

Tabulation today of the fifth annual consensus conducted by the Associated Press revealed the world's champion Athletics were the choice of 41 out of 64 sports writers to lead the American League race for the third successive year.

Cards Voted Winners

The Cardinals, with a slightly smaller but nevertheless convincing majority, were selected to win in the National League by 35 of 66 experts.

The ballots represent the opinions of the war correspondents associated with every major league club, as well as the judgment of other close newspaper observers.

As an indication of the belief that the races in both leagues will be closer, especially in the National, the favorites in the 1931 consensus received considerably less pronounced support than was the case of a year ago.

Picked A's Last Year

The Athletics justified the choice of 60 out of 365 critics in 1930 but the Chicago Cubs, picked by 54 out of 66 to win, handed the experts a severe jolt. The winning Cardinals were selected in advance by only two observers.

This season's balloting has indicated Washington as the chief rival of the Athletics, with the Chicago Cubs and Brooklyn Robins picked to have the best chance of upsetting the champion Cardinals. The two New York clubs have been ranked as outside choices in each league.

Here's the order of finish predicted in each league by the consensus:

National: St. Louis, Chicago, Brooklyn, New York, Pittsburgh, Boston, Philadelphia and Cincinnati.

American: Philadelphia, Washington, New York, Cleveland, Detroit, Chicago, St. Louis and Boston.

Prexy Hammond Says Transfer Of Indian Franchise Called Off When Buyer Fails To Come To Desired Terms

SAN ANTONIO, April 10. —(AP)—While the air was charged, surcharged and recharged with deals and rumors of deals for the sale and transfer of the San Antonio franchise in the Texas baseball league today, the Indians under Claude Robertson went through with their daily workout in League Park, unperturbed, specializing in batting practice as they are preparing for their opening games in the Texas league to be played in Galveston next Wednesday and Thursday.

In the meantime, Homer Hammond, president of the San Antonio club announced that the deal for the sale and transfer of the franchise had been called off.

"Not enough money," said Hammond, referring to the negotiations, in which he said the prospective purchaser "couldn't meet my price."

Further than saying that the offer to buy came from an oil man, Hammond would not reveal his identity nor place of residence, nor would he discuss the plans of transfer that had been under consideration.

Fighting Irish Go Ahead With Grid Training

"Carry On" Is Watchword Over Campus And In Dressing Room As Anderson And Chevigny Continue Practice

(By The Associated Press)

SOUTH BEND, Ind., April 10. —The unquenchable sipirt of Knute Rockne hovered over Notre Dame's practice field today as 320 of the Fighting Irish resumed spring football training, interrupted by the tragic death of their beloved leader last week.

It was decided yesterday to continue the spring training grind, after Mrs. Bonnie Rockne, widow of the late coach, urged that Rock would have had it so. It also was decided that it would be voluntary, but every man who had reported to Rockne when the spring call was made, reported to Heartley "Hunk" Anderson and Jack Chevigny today, to carry on.

Immediately after the session the Rev. Charles L. O'Donnell, president of Notre Dame, announced that Anderson, a star lineman under Rockne, would serve as head coach next year, with Chevigny, a backfield ace, as his first assistant. Anderson's title will be "head coach," Father O'Donnell said.

"Not a Head Coach"

"There will never be a head coach but Rockne at Notre Dame," Father O'Donnell told the members of the squad. "Hunk" Anderson will be in charge, but he will be the senior coach, and Jack Chevigny the junior coach. Rockne cannot be displaced as head coach.

"The eyes of the football world are on Notre Dame. It wants to know what Notre Dame will do without Rockne. You will answer. So carry on."

"Carry on," has become the watchword of Notre Dame. The managers caught up the cry today and from every bulletin board on the campus and in the football dressing rooms, it stared at the players.

There were no dressing room speeches by the coaches. None was necessary, with nothing more than an affectionate pat on the back of each man as the squad filed out. Anderson sent them on to the practice field.

STEERS EVEN SAINT SERIES

DALLAS, April 10. (AP)—The Dallas Steers of the Texas League closed their six games series with the St. Paul Saints of the American Association here today with a 3 to 1 decision, ending the series at three all.

Lou Garland, rookie speed ball artist, went the entire route for Dallas and pitched six hit baseball. He never allowed a hit the first four innings. It was easily the best played game of the series.

BRAVES AND SOX AT HOME

BOSTON, April 10. (AP)—The Boston Braves and Red Sox arrived home today and completed arrangements for tomorrow's opening game of the city series at Fenway Park, home of the American League club.

McKechnie announced Bill McAfee, his University of Michigan pitching prospect, would start against the Sox with the veteran Al Spohrer receiving. Collins' pitching choice was Ed "Bull" Durham with Charley Berry catching him.

BROWN HOLDOUT REPORTS

ST. LOUIS, April 10. (AP)—Pitcher Warren (Rip) Collins, the St. Louis Browns' only holdout, signed a one-year contract late today. He had been a stubborn holdout due to a cut in his salary, reported at $2,500. Terms were not announced. Although he missed the training trip, Collins said he was ready to pitch now, having worked out in Texas.

Gene Sarazen beat Horton Smith 23 strokes in the La Gorce open golf tournament at Miami, Fla.

Barnes And Vines Play Net Finals

Vines Beats Sutter As Lott Falls To Texas U. Star

(By The Associated Press)

HOUSTON, April 10.—Ellsworth Vines, the lean Californian, and Bruce Barnes, Texas university's ace, drove through to the finals this afternoon in the River Oaks Country club's first invitation tennis tournament, where nearly everybody expected them to fall.

Vines, seeded third, won in straight sets from the number one seeded player and favorite, Clifford Sutter of New Orleans, 6-3, 6-4, 8-6, while Barnes defeated iron jawed George Lott of Philadelphia, 1930 Davis Cup player, in a long and lusty battle through five sets finished in the half light of semi-dusk, 1-6, 6-1, 3-6, 7-5, 6-4.

The two dark horses meet Sunday to have it out. Tomorrow will be given over to the doubles.

STEER NETTERS BEAT DRAKE

AUSTIN, April 10. (AP)—Dr. Penick's University of Texas Longhorn racqueteers, minus the services of two of their stars, Bruce Barnes and Earl Taylor, added another scalp to their long collection here Friday afternoon when they decisively defeated Drake University of Des Moines, Ia., in two straight singles matches and one doubles event.

FOREHAND IS TEMPLE COACH

TEMPLE, April 10. (AP) — George Forehand, Jr., was appointed head coach of the Temple High school by the school board here late yesterday. He succeeds Bill Henderson. Forehand has been coach at Reagan Junior High school for the past two years.

Playing two seasons with a team of mediocre rating, Troy Donnell has been high scorer of the Texas Intercollegiate cage loop.

Possibility Of Frnka's Stay As Lubbock High School Head Coach Seen At Board Meetin

Athletic Committee And M. H. Duncan To Call Frnka Into Conference Today; Resigned Coach Makes No Statement

While there is a continued likelihood that he will take a post at Greenville High school next fall there is still a possibility that Head Coach Henry E. Frnka will be back at the helm of the Fighting Westerners of Lubbock when football season rolls around.

At a called meeting of the school board, held at Lubbock sanitarium late yesterday, directors of the education system here studied the Frnka situation anew and heard there was a possibility that Frnka might remain.

Dr. J. T. Hutchinson, president of the board, said the athletic committee composed of C. E. Maedgen, E. L. Robertson, R. F. Bayless and Superintendent Duncan would call Frnka into conference at some hour today.

In the meantime Frnka, who after five years as coach here announced Tuesday night that he would take the head coach's position at Greenville, had no statement to make.

While he would prefer to remain in Lubbock details of the contract offered him by the superintendent were not agreeable, he said. Friends of the coach believed last night that today's conference would result in Frnka's staying in Lubbock.

The NUT CRACKER

BY COL JOE O'GOFFY

NEW YORK, April 10.—I have decided that the only way the baseball campaigns in what I have dubbed "the national pastime" can be run this year is by completely remodeling the first division.

After talking with all the big league managers, the only conclusion I could reach was that there will be seven teams in the first division in each league this year. That leaves the Red Sox and the Cincinnati Reds as the only occupants of the second division.

In the National League, five teams will win the pennant, necessitating a playoff that will run along until about Thanksgiving. The other three teams, automatically, should be occupants of the first division of course, but Cincinnati, by default, will be unanimously awarded undisputed possession of the cellar.

Of course, a lot depends on the pitching. If McGraw doesn't get the pitching Brooklyn may win the bunting. If the Brooklyn hitters fail to function, the Cardinals may sneak in. If the Cards have injuries, that probably will let the Cubs win. If the Cubs don't get along with Rogers Hornsby, the Pirates are sure to win unless the Braves are better than they look.

In the American League the Senators are pretty sure to win if something happens to one of Mack's star pitchers, Grove and Earnshaw. Mack hasn't much chance, though, if the Yankees come through for Joe McCarthy. The Yankees have to come through for Joe or you can almost bet that the Cleveland Indians, barring a slump, will grab the gonfalon. Detroit ought to be in there, too.

Buy Meat That Is Grown At Home!

Eat South Plains Meats

Residents of the South Plains of Texas were amazed at the high quality and superiority of South Plains raised meats at a recent Meat Show. Many of them declared a future preference for just that meat labeled South Plains killed, cured and packed. Many have yet to learn the advantages they will derive from DEMANDING this home fed meat.

Consumption of South Plains feed stuffs will do a lot to stabilize feed prices here on the Plains as well as to inspire farmers and cattlemen to go into the meat business on a bigger scale, consequently creating commerce in a much healthier year 'round condition. All together, now, lets make an effort to consume as much South Plains meat as it is possible.

But I happen to want a man who can pass for a gentleman and can speak like one. Is it so long since you were a gen- tleman that you have forgotten the art?"

"I don't talk altogether like the average cockney, do I?" replied Dick truculently.

"No, your speech is in your fav- or, certainly," said the voice. "That is why I agreed to receive you. It would not surprise me, however, if your idea was to go straight to the police when you left here, in the hope of cadging some reward from them. Believe me, you have my full permission to do so. But, if you will take my advice, you will do nothing of the kind. Such a procedure might have a most damaging effect upon your health."

There was a suggestion of such menace in the voice that Dick shud- dered in spite of himself. But be- fore he could reply, the voice con- tinued.

I believe, however that some of the men who obey me have been unfortunate enough to get on the wrong side of them, and they might resent any communica- tion between you and their natural enemies. I have frequently been amused by the results of their re- sentments."

Cotton — Downward Trend Seen In Cotton — Livestock — Opening Active With Slow Close — Grain — Wheat, Corn And Oats All Strong

Cotton

NEW ORLEANS COTTON
NEW ORLEANS, April 10.—(AP) — With fair activity the cotton market today developed a downward course of prices during the morning session but recovered fully later.
Cables were decidedly worse than due and this was responsible for a weak opening with prices 9 to 11 points down. The market continued to ease off after the start on a renewal of May liquidation as well as on selling based on the generally favorable weather in the belt and later on bearish week-end statistics, particularly the disappointing mill takings. All months declined 23 points from the previous close. In the early afternoon there was some improvement on shorts covering and in sympathy with a better stock market and in the late trading the market became active and prices recovered to the early decline and a little more, gaining 22 to 23 points from the lows, and closed a point or two under the best the general market showing 3 points net up for the day to 1 point down.

NEW YORK COTTON
NEW YORK, April 10. (AP)—A continuation of the selling which developed in cotton here yesterday afternoon, sent prices for all positions into new low ground for the movement during today's early trading.
July contracts sold off to 10.32, making a net decline of 34 points and a decline of 166 points from the high price touched on the rally of late last February. This price seemed to attract increased buying and covering, however, and there were rallies later, with July selling up to 10.43 and closing at that figure. The general market closed steady at net declines of 1 to 5 points on all months except next March which was a point above yesterday's closing quotation.

OIL OPERATOR DIES
WICHITA FALLS, April 10. (AP)—John A. (Uncle John) Watkins, veteran Wichita Falls oil operator and land owner, died at a hospital here today. He had been active in oil development here since 1913. He owned the Watkins shallow pool south of Iowa Park and other producing acreage. He was 70 years of age.

Stocks Hover Over Undercurrent Of Heaviness; Late Rally Aids Little

BY JOHN L. COOLEY
Associated Press Financial Writer
NEW YORK, April 10. (AP) — Stocks hovered over an undercurrent of heaviness today. A rally in the last hour helped considerably, but it was temporary and final quotations were high irregular, with small gains slightly favored.
Rails pulled the market lower during the forenoon. However, the mid-day resistance of the industrials gave the shorts an excuse to cover and carrier issues not only retrieved their early losses but developed net gains here and there. A late bear drive against Westinghouse, which had been soggy all day, and Bethlehem Steel turned the market down again in the last few minutes. One compensating factor was the dullness, for volume contracted to 1,500,000 shares, one of the year's smallest turnovers.

Earlier, members of the "commission" had completed the composite repot frrom studies upon different phases of the dry law prepared by 22 prominent women.
Among the authors were Mrs. Gifford Pinchot, wife of the Pennsylvania governor; Commander Evangeline Booth of the Salvation Army, Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, woman suffrage leader, and Mrs. Irving Fisher, wife of the Yale economist.
"These organizations," Mrs. Peabody said at the dinner, "have taken action in their own delegated bodies repeatedly and with increasing strength in favor of the Eighteenth amendment."
Mrs. Peabody told President Hoover "children are women's chief industry," adding "they know they can count on you, Mr. President, to preserve, support and defend this part of the supreme law of the land."

of Texas Tech, welcomed the convention members to the Tech campus and Lubbock.
In his lecture Dr. Zimmerman pointed out that all modern problems, such as prohibition, unemployment, immigration, and other questions being placed before the American people today, are the results of the materialistic development of the individual, while sacrificing the social and intellectual side. "Too long has the doctrine of success been the motive of our lives," Dr. Zimmerman told his audience, "'tis time that we accepted St. Paul criterian as to what a man should be: that he have the ability to love, to have charity, and to be able to suffer long."

"Friend" Arrives For Visit But Makes Exit With $241

AUSTIN, April 10.—(AP)—Bib Barker, secretary of the Texas senate, believes in leaving the latch string hanging from his door as a bid for his friends to come and enjoy his hospitality.
The only trouble is that his hotel room doesn't have a latch string, but Barker did leave his door unlocked last night, so that a friend could come in and spend the night with him.
The "friend" arrived all right, but not the one Barker was expecting and carried away his wallet and $241.

Then speculative sellers executed a sudden reversal of their market position, and a general rebound ensued.
Corn closed nervous 1-8 to 3-4 cents higher, wheat unchanged to 7-8 up, oats a shade to 7-8 advanced, and provisions unchanged to 7 cents off.

New Land Will Soon Be Broken

Five thousand acres of new land will be broken out this spring in Cochran county, according to J. R. Ward, of Lehman, a member of the county commissioner's court, said while here yesterday.
"There are a lot of new people coming into the county but not as many as in other years," Mr. Ward said. "Quite a few people in Morton and Lehman who own land over the county are breaking it out for planting."
The season is good in the county according to the commissioner. Farmers believe that with sufficient rain they will be able to raise the largest crop they have ever had.
Much regret has been expressed over the failure of the Continental's oil test south of Lehman to materialize into a producer, Mr. Ward said.

Robbery Charges Filed In Dallas Against Four Men

DALLAS, April 10. (AP) — Four charges of robbery with firearms were filed here today in connection with the report of John M. Robinson, Oklahoma City oil operator, that he was lured to Dallas from Longview last Monday night to "buy oil leases" and was robbed of $1,500.

Vernon was charged yesterday with theft by conversion of $1,000 negotiable stock taken from Miss Mildred Douglas, city welfare department legal aid worker. Miss Douglas claimed she turned the stock over to a man to trade for oil leases and that he disposed of the stock and converted the proceeds to his own use.

Prisoner Is Not Wanted In Texas

The only charges against him here are three forgery and passing charges. Bexas county will not spend money to extricate him, Calhoun said.
According to advices from San Francisco, he was arrested with R. L. Pringle, who was said to have been returned to San Antonio.

President And Cabinet Hide

Portugese Government Being Conducted From Within A Fortified Barracks With All Protection

LISBNN, Portugal, April 10. (AP)—President General Carmona and members of his cabinet today conducted the Portugese government from within the third artillery barracks, a virtual fortress, protected by barbed wire entanglements, machine gun and artillery emplacements.

Troops guarded public buildings and occupied strategic points in Lisbon and Oorto in an obvious effort to prevent spreading to the mainland of the revolt which has overturned the Lisbon authority in Madeira and yesterday flared in the Azores, another east Atlantic island group belonging to Portugal.

News of the Azores revolt was contained in cablegrams received by the premier, one from Lieutenant Aragao y Mello as head of the movement at Angra Do Heroismo, capital of the Azores, on Terceira island announcing that the island had decided to sever relations with Lisbon. A similar but unsigned cablegram was received from San Miguel, largest of the group's nine islands.

Despite these portentious developments, an official bulletin stated that all was quiet in the colonies and islands except in Madeira. After a long secret session in its barracks quarters the cabinet announced that work on the harbor at Funchal was to be rushed, this unexpected announcement coming just when the city was waiting for some word of the expeditionary force which has been sent to Funchal to down the rebel Junta in charge there.

While stationed in the barracks the president and cabinet have placed themselves virtually in the hands of the third artillery, a model iron brigade which has an unbroken record of distinguished service to the republic from the time of its organization. Some business is being carried on from the regular government offices but decrees and other matter must be sent to the barracks for signature.

Lives With Bullet In His Heart

There are few persons who have experienced the sensation of a bullet piercing their heart and living to tell the tale. Virgil Bennett, 18, right, above, of Halls Summit, Kas., is one of them. A shot from a rifle, accidentally discharged by his brother, Darrell, 13, left, entered just below Virgil's ear, was deflected down and inward, through the esophagus to the heart, where it imbedded itself into the outer lining of his heart. Since the bullet started no infection it was allowed to remain there, where it has sealed itself. Physicians at Kansas City, Kas., where Virgil was taken, say the bullet never will cause him the slightest trouble and his life expectancy is the same as if he did not carry a projectile in his heart.

Many Acres Of Land Terraced

Railroad Agent Reports That 600 Acres Were Terraced In Section During Period Of Demonstrations

More than 600 acres of land in 25 counties was terraced and some lines run on considerably more than that acreage, during the tour of the Fort Worth and Denver City's agricultiral train, which began the middle of February and closed at Lubbock April 3.

"We had 28 counties to visit and we were 'frozen out' in three places," M. B. Oates, agricultural agent, said during a discussion of the work of the train. "There were four or five evening meetings where we did not get to hold them for one reason or another.

"I counted an attendance of 3,715 farmers at our meetings. "We held 22 farm demonstrations," he said. At some of the places we had two tractors and two graders at work and at others we had four."

"We certainly had splendid support on the part of county agents. We could not have held our series without them."

Mr. Oates estimated an average of 25 acres was terraced at each demonstration. Some of the acreage ran as high as 50 and 60, where it was possible to get three or four graders.

SIGNS YOU NEED BLACK-DRAUGHT

Good Way To Treat Common Complaints Mentioned By Two Southern Men.

Mr. Hubert Bailey, of 97 North Bradford Street, Gainesville, Ga., says that a few years ago he suffered from indigestion and heartburn. "My tongue would get coated, and I would have a bad taste in my mouth," writes Mr. Bailey. "I had gas pains.

"I knew I must take something to overcome this condition. My mother told me to try Black-Draught, which I did. After I had taken a few doses, I felt much better. The gas pains would stop, my mouth would feel clean and my food would taste much better. I know Black-Draught helped me."

"When I feel bloated, and have headache after meals," says Mr. George Chevalier, of Gulfport, Miss., "my method of taking Black-Draught is to take from a pinch to a level teaspoonful in my mouth, dry, and wash it down with about half a glassful of water, regulating the dose according to the situation by taking more or less, according to how I feel.

"I usually take a dose on going to bed, when needed, and am relieved next morning." NA-918

Application Is Denied By I. C. C.

WASHINGTON, April 10. (AP)—The interstate commerce commission today denied and application of western trunk line railroad and a group of states and cities for reopening and modification of the revision of class-freight rates in western trunk line territory.

On May 6, 1930, the commission revised western rates upward but did not make them high enough to meet the wishes of the railroad companies. Shippers in the territory, however, thought they were too high.

The rates orginally were to have gone into effect February 1, 1931 but later the commission postponed the effective date until June 15.

Meanwhile the railroads west of Chicago and east of Denver applied for reconsideration and higher rates.

Today's order closed the proceeding and it is expected that the rates will become effective on June 15.
