Japs Plan Devastation Of Nanking

Great Britain Warns Fascist Powers On Rearmament

Germany, Italy Rapped In Talk Before League

British Foreign Secretary Eden Says Britain To Lead Race If Other Nations Don't Cease

(By The Associated Press)

GENEVA, Sept. 20.—British Foreign Minister Anthony Eden, tempering his severity with a note of conciliation, warned the Fascist powers tonight that Britain is committed irrevocably to a policy of rearmament unless other nations cease competing for supremacy at arms.

Speaking before a League of Nations assembly which had voted government Spain out of its council for the next three years, at least, Eden struck a note of mingled hope and pessimism. Despite the dark picture he painted and his implied rebukes at Germany and Italy, he emphasized Britain's determination still to strive for peace.

PLAN FOR MUSSOLINI'S VISIT

BERLIN, Sept. 20. (AP)—Propaganda Minister Joseph Goebbels today exhorted Berlin's 4,000,000 inhabitants to participate in a "great wave of jubilation" when Premier Mussolini of Italy comes here for an official visit.

Beginning next Monday, Il Duce will spend three days in the capital.

Emphasized British Hopes

Significantly, his listeners believed, the British foreign secretary emphasized British hopes for peace when he touched on Spain.

Eden, mindful of "many good reasons to be satisfied with the economic history of the past year," envisaged trade as a road to international harmony.

"Indifferences of political ideology," he declared, "need not stultify economic cooperation or even prevent political tolerance."

Demands Are Attacked

Eden left little doubt that his warning was addressed primarily to Germany and Italy. He attacked their demands for colonies and access to raw materials.

His pledge of Britain's peaceful purposes was coupled with his statement of willingness to agree to reduction, and limitation of armaments, the most encouraging notes

Militia On Guard In Trial Of Negro

(By The Associated Press)

MARSHALL, Sept. 20.—Guarded by steel-helmeted National guardsmen, Henderson Young, negro youth, went on trial here today on an indictment charging criminal assault on a Longview woman last Aug. 21.

A jury in which farmers predominated was selected during the afternoon, after which testimony was started. Douglas Reed, the victim's husband, was the first witness.

Because of the tense feeling prevailing as the trial got under way, Judge W. H. Strength requested that no testimony be printed until the trial was ended.

The negro, indicted with his brother Roscoe, entered a plea of not guilty. The trial of the second negro was scheduled to get under way with completion of the present trial.

The brothers were indicted separately for robbery by firearms of Mr. and Mrs. Reed and criminal assault of Mrs. Reed. The alleged offense occurred while the Reeds were traveling from Longview to Arkansas. The state charges whiterobed negroes forced the couple to stop near Hallsville and at pistol point took $144 and a watch and attacked the woman.

Allred Orders Militia

The Texas militiamen were ordered on duty by Gov. James V. Allred upon request of peace officers at Marshall. Four officers and 16 enlisted men under Capt. Ray C. Allen, 72nd brigade, headquarters company, with bayoneted rifles scrutinized closely the crowd. Capt. Allen questioned all who entered the courtroom.

Before selection of a jury started, Judge Strength overruled a defense motion to transfer the case of Henderson Young to a juvenile court on the ground he was under 17.

Senator O'Mahoney's Home Town To Be FDR's First Stop On Northwest Jaunt

By D. HAROLD OLIVER
Associated Press Staff Writer

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Sept. 20.—President Roosevelt will open his West coast speaking trip with a train platform talk Friday morning at Cheyenne, Wyo., home town of Senator O'Mahoney (D-Wyo) one of the leading opponents of his Supreme court enlargement plan.

A tentative itinerary for the two weeks swing announced at the summer White House late today also enlists two more appearances in Wyoming the same day, one at Wendover and the other at Casper. The President will spend an hour in the latter city and may make a drive through the town.

To Visit In Canada

The trip also includes a visit by naval destroyer from Seattle to Victoria, British Columbia, where the president and his official party will be luncheon guests Sept. 30 at the mansion of Lieutenant-Governor Eric W. Hamber.

The president already had announced he would speak Oct. 5 at Chicago on his return trip.

Secretary Marvin H. McIntyre said except for an address at Bonneville dam, on the Columbia river near Portland, Ore., Sept. 28, the president would deliver "no formal major" speeches.

He added some senators and other local leaders probably would board the ten-car special en route.

The president will leave here at 2 p. m., central standard time, Wednesday, traveling via Chicago and Omaha, but making no appearances until the train reaches Cheyenne at 9:30 Friday morning, local time, where he stops for half an hour.

He reaches Casper about 4:30 p. m., the same day, then proceeds overnight to Gardner, Mont., by way of Binnings and Livingston, Mont., arriving at Gardner next Saturday morning.

Here the party will detrain for a

Allred Starts Work On Tax Message

AUSTIN, Sept. 20. (AP)—Governor James V. Allred's message to the tax-raising session of the legislature opening next week began taking form tonight.

He expressed the hope it would be completed by Friday or Saturday.

State Treasurer Charley Lockhart meanwhile reported that the general fund deficit again had soared past the $12,000,000 mark. He said it was $12,012,779, an increase of $310,000 since Sept. 4.

Allred has indicated he will ask the legislature for $7,500,000 more in taxes each year to start trimming the deficit and another $7,500,000 for social security services. He has espoused heavier imposts on producers of natural resources and on big corporations, particularly public utilities and oil pipe lines.

Haul Of $1,500 Cash, Rings Is Made In City

Late Monday night police and members of the sheriff's department had received no tangible clues into the methodical burglary either Saturday night or early Sunday morning into Hanna Pope & Co. building at 1111 Broadway in which burglars escaped with five expensive diamond rings, two plain rings, two watches and an estimated $1,500 in currency.

The burglars knocked the knobs off two big safes. The company had no burglary insurance.

In Building Sunday

D. B. Pope, jr., treasurer of the company, was in the building Sunday afternoon and noticed there was no money in the cash register, but was not alarmed, believing it had been removed by another member of the firm.

Police spent most of Monday taking pictures and fingerprints and probably will complete that part of the investigation this morning, it was indicated.

Going through accounts, currency, cash, and other valuables, intruders dumped what they did not elect to take with them and escaped from a balcony with their loot, using a barred window as a ladder to the alley.

Employing systematic methods that apparently stamped them as "professionals with an inside knowledge of building plans," the burglars climbed from the alley to the store roof by a telephone pole. With a brace and bit, they bored approximately 24 holes in the tar and gravel roof, broke through and kicked out a metal ceiling section 14 inches below, showing their knowledge of the building by avoiding by an inch or so cross-section joints in the restricted space in which they made their entry.

A slight slip-up, however, caused them to have to kick out another strip of metal ceiling. The opening

SANTA FE, N. M., Sept. 20. (AP)—Climaxing a brief but bitter off-year election, New Mexico's electorate tomorrow votes on ratification of five proposed amendments to the state constitution, which would permit unlimited tenure of state and county offices, set up an absentee ballot law, increase pay of legislators and provide a $1,250,000 institutional bond issue.

Farmers Pour Corn Into Market Monday, Running Price Down

CHICAGO, Sept. 20 (AP)—The farm belt poured 207 carloads of corn, the biggest volume in months, into Chicago today to take advantage of the high dollar a bushel speculative price.

Shipments were mostly of corn produced in 1936, causing a further collapse in the price of September corn in the "corn deal" on the board of trade, but grain traders viewed them also as a forerunner of a flood of new corn soon to come, presaging a possible revival of the United States' export trade in the commodity.

Administration Planning For Acreage Cut

Limitations With Which Farmers Will Have To Comply To Get Benefits Announced Monday

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—The Roosevelt administration set out today to hold next year's acreage of major crops below the 1928-37 average.

Officials announced limitations with which farmers will have to comply to obtain federal benefit payments under the existing soil conservation act.

Must Have Control Law

At the same time, they declared congress must enact new crop control legislation to insure effectiveness of the program.

"In the absence of other legislation," said Secretary Wallace, "normal weather conditions over several seasons again will result in the accumulation of burdensome surpluses."

H. R. Tolley, chief of the Agriculture Adjustment administration, added that any large group of farmers might upset the goal of the conservation program if they decided they could make more money by spurning government payments and planting all the acreage they pleased.

Congress Has Agreed

Congress already has agreed to give new farm legislation right-of-way at its next meeting, which may be a special session called by President Roosevelt this fall, or the regular session starting next January.

Wallace and other administration leaders believe the law-makers could back up the present program with some marking quota system or tax, to establish positive production control.

Would Serve Wallace's Plan Also

Tolley said the "goals" or acreage limits set up under the conservation program could serve also under an "ever-normal granary" sys-

Warships Much Better Equipped Now For Fighting Subs; Destroyers' Y-Guns Toss 'Ash Cans' Carrying 300 Pounds Of TNT

(By The Associated Press)

WARSHIPS on anti-piracy patrol in the Mediterranean are much better equipped to detect and combat submarines than allied destroyers were during the World war. But the modern sub, likewise, is much better prepared to protect itself.

On the side of the pirate chasers, naval experts here point out these developments since 1918:

1. Improvement of high-frequency sound detectors and direction finders by which surface craft can detect and locate submarines.
2. Improvement in the accuracy of depth bomb setting.

Depth bombs—sailors call them "ash cans"—are, in fact, the one effective weapon against a submerged submarine.

Timing Device A Secret

Cylindrical metal cases, they look much like five-gallon paint drums but are loaded with 300 to 400 pounds of TNT or other high explosives.

They can be set to go off at any desired depth of water. The United States navy keeps secret the exact nature of its bomb-timing device, but water pressure is most commonly used to set off the explosive.

Depth bombs can be either rolled overboard off the stern of a destroyer or shot from Y-guns. These are slingshot-shaped, double-barreled cannons mounted astern on the deck of the sub-chasing destroyer. They shoot two bombs at a time over opposite sides.

Destroyer Fights Sub

Checking the sub's location every 10 to 15 seconds by sounder devices, the destroyer plows the water directly overhead, laying a barrage of depth bombs in her wake.

A direct hit by a depth bomb is almost certain to sink a submarine, navy men say, and a bomb exploding within 100 feet will probably put the sub out of control.

But submarine improvements since the war have about kept pace with the advances in sub-fighting weapons.

Submarines today are much faster than the German U-boats which almost succeeded in throttling England. And they can duck under more quickly, go deeper and stay under longer.

Sub's Big Advantage

A modern sub can stay under water 72 hours, compared with 24 hours in 1917, and can go down to 300 feet below the surface, while the World war U-boats dared not dive below 200 feet.

The sub's big disadvantage is that in clear water her dark shadow shows on the surface even from 100 feet below.

This is an "ash can"—the navy's name for a depth bomb. A steel barrel filled with TNT, it can be adjusted so that water pressure will set it off at any desired depth. A direct hit is almost sure to sink a submarine.

This is a Y-gun—the cannon which shoots depth bombs over the side of a sub-chasing destroyer. Powered with gun-powder and mounted astern, it tosses two bombs at a time—one from each barrel. Two bombs are shown now in position. A bomb-dropping destroyer travels at top speed, because where a bomb is dropped . . .

Chinese Capital City Is Goal Of Bombing Raids

U. S. Ambassador Is Forced To Move From City; Third Raid Made; Navy Issues Warning

By C. YATES McDANIEL
Associated Press Staff Writer

NANKING, Sept. 20. — United States Ambassador Nelson T. Johnson and his staff evacuated the embassy tonight to take refuge from Japanese air bombs aboard an American patrol boat in the Yangtze river.

Johnson reluctantly transferred the embassy to temporary quarters aboard the Luzon after Japan's navy had warned that Japan intends to devastate the Chinese capital. All other foreign embassies remained, at least temporarily.

U. S. TO SEND DELEGATE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20. (AP)—The United States agreed today to send a representative to the League of nation's advisory committee convening tomorrow night to consider the Sino-Japanese conflict.

At the same time, the United States informed the league it could not say to what extent it would be able to cooperate with the committee until informed about the functions it will be expected to perform.

Follows Third Air Raid

Evacuation of the United States embassy staff began after the third Japanese air raid on this city of more than 1,000,000 population within two days.

The raid, in which 40 homes were demolished and at least 40 civilians were killed, beat Japan's own deadline, noon Tuesday, set in a warning to Americans and other foreigners to flee Nanking.

Vice Admiral Kiyoshi Hasegawa, commander-in-chief of the Japanese third fleet in Chinese waters, urged that the United States and other foreign warships move "at least 11 miles upstream." Japanese officials declared Japan would not accept responsibility for loss of foreign life.

Leaving Post Under Orders

Johnson supervised hurried packing if embassy documents and material preparatory to moving up the Yangtze to Wuhu, about 30 miles from Nanking.

The decision to move the United States embassy staff from danger came after Johnson conferred lengthily this morning with his subordinates while the roar of Japanese air bombs dinned across the city.

Temporarily Afloat

(State department officials at Washington emphasized that the staff's removal did not mean that the embassy was abandoned but only that it was temporarily transferred afloat.

(Johnson's staff at Nanking includes six United States foreign service officers, an American clerk and 13 Chinese employes. The main

The 61-year-old former Spanish-American, Mexican and World war veteran fell with seven bullets in his body and Mrs. Taylor's three brothers immediately surrendered to Patrolman Jeptha Tracey. Tracey said that Roy Garr admitted firing the fatal shots. He with Jack and Dr. E. S. Garr was placed in jail.

Better Cotton Seed Will Be Discussed Here Today In Meeting At Hotel Lubbock

Lubbock county farmers and cotton men interested in improved cotton seed will meet this morning in the Hotel Lubbock at 9:30 o'clock to hear discussed better seed by extension service experts.

County Agent C. C. Jobson has invited all farmers, ginners, buyers brokers, oil mill and compress men and land owners to the meeting.

K. J. Edwards of College Station, district agent leader, is to preside. He is making a tour of this section.

Three Speakers Scheduled

Speakers will include: E. A. Miller, extension agronomist; F. E. Lichte, cotton gin specialist and Roy F. Sanders, bureau of plant industry.

The men have been making talks to farmers over the South Plains and will continue their work until Saturday, Monday morning they spoke to Lynn county farmers and in the afternoon to Terry county men.

To Explain Losses, Penalties

The experts will show, it was explained, how farmers by use of poor seed, have lost thousands of dollars annually. Poor seed means poor cotton, short staple, low grade. Buyers penalize producers of this type of cotton, as untenderable cotton brings a low price, way down under tenderable cotton.

This afternoon the speakers will be in Levelland; Wednesday morning, Morton; Wednesday afternoon, Muleshoe; Thursday morning, Amherst; Thursday afternoon, Plainview; Friday morning, Silverton; Friday afternoon, Floydada and Saturday morning, Crosbyton.

Man Being Held At Austin Said Wanted In Carson Torch Death

The suspect, booked here as J. C. Moore, had been in jail since June on an assault to murder charge. He and four other prisoners made an unavailing attempt last week to escape.

Suggestions Are Made On Black

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—Washington, while awaiting some word from Associate Justice Hugo L. Black on his alleged membership in the Ku Klux Klan, is receiving a flood of suggestions for dealing with that situation.

Much depends, of course, upon what Black himself has to say upon his return from Europe later in the month. To date, he has studiously avoided reporters and declined to comment.

The proposal most frequently discussed, and one resting upon the assumption that the case against Black has been proved, would have the president demand that the justice resign. Several critics of Black have suggested this.

On the other hand, some prominent persons have gone to the defense of Black. Senator Reynolds (D-NC), said he voted for Black's confirmation and would do so again "because I know he is honest and able."

American Legion Called On To Fight Battle For Democracy, For Liberty And For Peace; Annual Convention Opened In New York

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—In the high emotion of two decades ago, the American Legion was called today to fight again—for democracy, for liberty, and for peace.

Twenty thousand men, ninteen years out of the khaki of an older and a more stirring day, sat in Madison Square garden's lofty auditorium to open their annual convention—and the memory of a war president dead now this half a generation was stirred again in what the speakers said.

Lehman Extends Welcome

Governor Herbert H. Lehman of New York welcomed them.

As Woodrow Wilson had cried out to them twenty years ago that they must "Make the world safe for democracy," Lehman summoned them anew to an old campaign:

"For God and country"—he quoted the legion's constitutional preamble—"We associate ourselves together to make right the master of might; to promote peace and good will on earth; to safeguard and transmit to posterity the principles of justice, freedom and democracy."

"America gasps in horror," he said—in what seemed an echo of the keynote of Legion Commander Harry Colmery's denunciation of attempts to foster Nazi principles in this country—"when it sees great groups of people abroad persecuted solely because of race or

Variety Of Subjects Is Discussed At Local Church Women's Meetings

The Women's Angle

By Harriet Tarver

FROM the assistant director of the American Hair Design institute, recently returned from Europe, comes the news that practically every chic woman in Paris, London and Vienna is wearing her hair short and sleek on the back of the neck. When the institute was invited to represent American hairdressers at the Paris Exposition this summer, all the styles they sent over were short.

Reports were that the American styles are largely responsible for the vogue of short hair, because they created a furore among the European women, who insisted their hairdressers copy the styles.

So the college girl and young matrons may prepare to sacrifice the shoulder length curls that were last season's pride and joy and move them to the tops of their heads, where in the form of pompadours, clusters, waves and bangs they'll duplicate the onward and upward movement of the mad, new hats.

SUPREME D'OURSINS

OBJECTORS to the difficulties of pronouncing "hors d'ouvres" will be rendered hors de combar by the addition of a new French name to the list. The new sea food appetizer is called "supreme d'oursins," a fish paste made from sea urchins at St. Pierre, the tiny French island colony in the North Atlantic off the coast of Newfoundland. A little will have to go a long way, since forty-five sea urchins are required to fill a single one-ounce glass jar. Only the coral or meaty part is used, and the taste is said to be decidedly new.

"ST. LOUIS BLUES"

THE high honors heaped upon the 'St. Louis Blues" were not predictable when it was composed in 1913. William C. Handy, who composed "Memphis Blues" and "Beale Street Blues" in addition to the famous "Saint Louey" number, conceived the idea for his indigo tribute to St. Louis ten years before it was written. Strolling along the river front of the city looking for a job, he heard the melancholy chants of negro levee workers. He decided to transpose the plaintive, simple beauty of the songs into orchestral music.

"St. Louis Blues" was first scribbled on a cigar box. Handy had planned to publish the work on his own account and wanted 10,000 copies, which would have cost $100. But he had only $20 in cash. After some delay he found a Cincinnati printer who turned out the copies on the strength of a $20 deposit. He sought to interest the photograph companies but they told him blues was a fad that would soon die.

It was a long uphill battle for Handy. Evenutally, several blues singers used it in their acts and little by little it began to gain recognition. It was not long before it was sweeping the country. Up to this year more than a million copies of the piece had been sold.

It is now definitely an American classic—the only blues that it.

EPIDEMIC OF COLDS

THERE is a slight epidemic of colds sweeping the city, which may be attributed to the wide range in the temperature during the day. What to wear remains a problem so long as the mornings are chilly, the mid-day and afternoon warm as summer days, and while shortly after the sun goes down the air grows chilly again.

With care one could avoid taking cold. It's easier to prevent a disagreeable head cold than it is to get rid of it. Taking care not to cool off too quickly after coming in from a brisk walk, wearing a light weight coat, drinking several glasses of water daily, watching the diet and the general health are reliable standbys which will not fail you if you observe them.

Malodorant Placed In Lines Of West Texas Gas Company In Lubbock Monday

Obnoxious Smell Can Be Detected

Chemical malodorants were infused into the natural gas system of West Texas Gas company from 7 to 8 o' clock Monday morning and, it was estimated, any leak in the city would be noticeable 18 hours later.

Officials indicated the malodorant, required by legislative enactment, would be placed in all lines of the company not otherwise affected today. By midnight tonight none who subscribes for service of the system would have a gas leak without becoming aware of it by virture of an obnoxious smell.

Several calls were received from persons who, whether they had gas leaks or because they had opened gas cocks for tests, had smelled the chemical now mixed with gas. Officials of the gas company said the number was so relatively light there was indication of decidedly few leaks.

Persons who detect unusual odors had been asked through notices from the gas company to call their plumber and to inform the gas company office.

Ernest Trial Is Begun Monday

Trial of W. E. (Bill) Ernest, former Lubbock city and county officer and a onetime candidate for sheriff, got under way Monday afternoon in 99th district court, Judge E. L. Pitts presiding.

Ernest is charged with murder while driving when drunk, the case growing out of an automobile accident near Wolliforth last February 14, in which Mrs. Lena Belle Bollman, of Floyd county, received fatal injuries.

Witnesses heard Monday afternoon were Bordwine, 20-year-old blond waitress and night club hostess of Oklahoma City; R. C. Isbell, a tinner; and Sam Wolfe, garage mechanic, of Monahans. The woman testified that Ernest had drunk intoxicants prior to the accident and both she and the men testified that they had seen the motor car driven by Ernest "sideswipe" the machine in which Mrs. Bollman was a passenger. They said the car in which Mrs. Bollman was riding overturned; that the Ernest car ran into the ditch beside the highway but was guided back onto the highway and continued toward Lubbock.

District Attorney Burton S. Burks and Assistant Victor H. Lindsey said that prosecution testimony probably will be completed before noon today. Approximately a dozen names were called as defense witnesses. L. G. Matthews, attorney of Flaydada, is assisting as special prosecutor in the case. Owen McWhorter and L. A. Howard of Lubbock are attorneys for the defense.

Members of the jury are Dick C. Weaver, Lubbock route 2; W. D. Boone, Shallowater route 1; V. E. Railsback, Slaton route 2; F. L. Harrist, Lubbock route 4; W. J. Bell, 1413 Avenue D; Russel Osborn, Idalou; B. A. Carter, 2001 Twenty-sixth street; A. T. Peterson, Slaton; J. D. Womack, Lubbock route 6; J. B. Parrack, Lubbock; L. F. O. P. Garner, charged in county court and the justice court of Walter Davies with swindling with worthless check, posted a bond of $250 set by Judge J. J. Dillard of county court upon arraignment. Pope Pool swore to the complaints before Allen. Both charges were based on checks aggregating $10 written on a Lubbock bank.

Hugh Jordan, negro, entered a plea of guilty of a charge in county court of carrying a pistol and was sentenced to jail for 30 days and assessed court costs by Judge Dillard.

A charge of aggravated assault against J. W. Phillips of Slaton was filed in county court. Late Monday the man had not been arraigned. His wife swore to the complaint.

The sheriff's office held a negro who had escaped the Huntsville penitentiary about 10 years ago after being sentenced to 99 years imprisonment for the slaying of an Austin negro woman and shooting her mother.

"Sleppy" Jessie Taylor, as he had been known to authorities here, positively was identified by picture and fingerprints as the missing Van Turner. Taylor was arrested by Cap Moore of the sheriff's office after the negro several days ago was accosted by the slain woman's brother, said Chief Deputy Jas. P. Posey. A trap was set for Taylor by the deputy sheriffs after they had talked with the woman's brother.

Bond was being arranged for a negro, who police said, had stabbed another negro man Saturday night. The wounded man was believed in serious condition.

Hunt county authorities Monday transferred to Greenville Everett Jones, about 19, arrested here Friday night for investigation of attempted car theft and found after a check of fingerprints to be wanted at Greenville on a charge of car theft. He had broken jail there Aug. 22.

George Stringer, deputy sheriff and special officer, arrested the man. Fingerprints proved identical with those of Jones sent out from the Public Safety bureau at Austin.

V. E. Johns, about 23, of McLean, was fined $50 and court costs in the justice court of B. F. Taylor at Abernathy on a charge of road law violation. He was driver of an automobile which was in collision with another occupied by Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Burdine of Hereford.

EVELYN CHANDLER, figure skater: "What an asset good digestion is! I smoke Camels during meals and after. They do help to keep my digestion in order."

GENE SARAZEN, golf champion: "I've walked, I guess, thousands of miles around golf courses with Camels. They never throw my nerves out of tune."

JOANNA DE TUSCAN, fencing champion: "I enjoy smoking so much—and I find that with Camels I can smoke often. Camels don't give me ragged nerves."

FRED McDANIEL, Texas rancher: "Me and Camels have been getting along mighty fine now for over 15 years. I never saw the beat of Camels for tastiness."

HERB LEWIS, Detroit ice hockey star: "I go for Camels in a big way. After an exhausting game—extra periods and all—they give me a 'lift.'"
CAN PEOPLE REALLY TELL THE DIFFERENCE IN CAMEL'S COSTLIER TOBACCOS?
The Best Answer is This...
Camels are the Largest-Selling cigarette in America

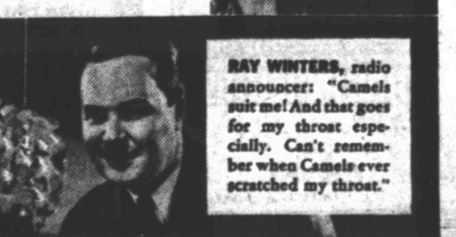

OTIS BARTON, underwater explorer: "After a dive in the 'bathysphere'—or any time I'm tired—I smoke a Camel. I get a 'lift' with a Camel."

IRENE SHERWOOD, shopper: "Noon-time is one of my busiest times. That's why 'for digestion's sake—smoke Camels' means so much to me."
Year in and year out, Camel pays millions more for finer tobaccos. And smokers do appreciate the added pleasure this means to them!
CAMEL'S use of choicer, costlier tobaccos has been the subject of much discussion. The question has often been raised as to whether or not people could tell the difference.
The way smokers feel gives the answer! Camels are the largest-selling cigarette in America...or the world.
If you are not a Camel smoker, perhaps you, too, would enjoy a cigarette with a richer, cooler taste. Turn, then, to Camels. Put them to the severest test—smoke them steadily. As you enjoy Camels, you'll realize how true it is that there is no substitute for costlier tobaccos.

Outbattle Cards To Hold Margin Over Chi Cubs

(By The Associated Press)

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 20.—The New York Giants maintained their 2 1-2 game National league lead today by outslugging the Cardinals for a 10 to 3 victory in a game which saw each side wallop six consecutive hits in the first inning and three members of the Gas House gang banished to the clubhouse.

The victory was Carl Hubbell's 20th of the season.

The Cubs went into the game 2 1-2 games behind the league leading Giants, and needed the victory today to get set for the start of their crucial three-game series with the pace-setters tomorrow.

Cooper Loses To McCamey; Plays Ropesville Friday

McCAMEY, Sept. 20 (Special) — Cooper put up a stubborn fight here Saturday night before it fell before McCamey, 21 to 7.

Cooper held a 7-0 lead at the end of the first quarter. Hilton climaxed a 70-yard drive to score for the visitors. McCamey came back strong with passes and runs to finally triumph.

Ropesville will play host to Cooper Friday night in a conference game.

Cats, Injuns To Begin Tonight

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 20. (AP) —The task of attempting to return the Texas league baseball championship to Texas for the first time since 1934 rested solely with the Fort Worth Cats tonight on the eve of the final Shaughnessy playoff series with the Oklahoma City Indians.

The Indians and the Cats—survivors of the opening round of playoff games—open their four-out-of-seven series here at 8 o'clock tomorrow night.

To the team winning four games in the series will go the league pennant, won by the Indians in 1935 and by the Tulsa Oilers in 1936, and the right to meet the champions of the Southern association in the Dixie Series.

A record-breaking crowd of 11,275 paid customers watched the Indians and their southpaw ace, Jack Brillheart, shut out San Antonio's Missions, 2 to 0, in the deciding game of the semi-final series here yesterday.

At Forth Worth, the Cats nosed the defending champion Tulsa Oilers, 5 to 4, in the final game of the other first round series.

After two games here, the two clubs will move down to Fort Worth for the three games, if that many are needed. Sixth and seventh games, if necessary, will be in Oklahoma City.

Raider Machine Polishing Up For Longhorns; Allen Plummer On Injured List

Hopes that took a nose dive Saturday afternoon hadn't been entirely resuscitated after yesterday's football grind at the Texas Tech field. At any rate the moods and dispositions of Coaches Pete Cawthon and Duchy Smith did not serve as substitutes for the sun, which stayed hidden most of the afternoon.

These hopes were for a good showing by the Techs against University of Texas next Sautrday in the shadow of the state capitol. Fans who had entertained more optimistic hopes lowered them to the "good showing" variety after the Red Raiders failed to impress in their season opener against the Arizona State Lumberjacks.

Added to Cawthon's worries yesterday was the incapacitation of big Allen Plummer, plunging halfback and demon passer. Plummer turned up with a batch of sore ribs, and it was feared that one or more might be cracked.

Anti-Fumble Practice

Much attention was paid yesterday to polishing a bunch of plays designed especially for the Texas conflict. Inability of the Red Raiders to hold the ball in scoring territory, which proved a source of great worry to coaches and fans alike Saturday, brought on a lengthy session of anti-fumble treatment yesterday.

There was a session of passing, and of pass defense, with Coach Berl Huffman's freshman squad, which also has a game this week, sending his huskies against the varsity boys, Dudley Aiken, Bob Holmes, Ed Smith, Gene Barnett and Plummer did the passing. Varsity lined up against frosh for a long tackling practice. Tech linemen bumped shoulders against the heaviest first year men on the field in a gruelling, smashing blocking drill.

Leave For Austin Thursday

As for team and individual spirit, it's still out there. The athletes, while more serious than usual, showed a heap of hustle and the "get Texas" cry predominated.

There'll be a hard workout today, possibly a scrimmage, and maybe another Wednesday. The club will take it more lightly Thursday afternoon before boarding the train for Austin. They will go via Dallas, and expect to reach Austin early Friday afternoon.

A special train, carrying students and townsmen, is tentatively scheduled to leave Friday night.

Coach Huffman and his Picadors will leave early Thursday morning for Greenville, by bus. They play Nick Dobbs' Wesley college team Friday afternoon.

Jacobs Predicts His Carnival To Outdraw Heavyweight Fight

NEW YORK, Sept. 20. (AP)—Given a break by the weather man, next Thursday night's carnival of champions at the Polo Grounds may outdraw last month's Tommy Farr-Joe Louis heavyweight scrap, both in attendance and gate receipts, Promoter Mike Jacobs predicted today.

A very large evening of fisticuffing is promised. For the first time in ring history, three world's champions will lay their titles on the line on a single program and just to add spice to the festivities, there will be another joust with half a champion involved.

Top spot on the program goes to the lightweight tilt between Lou Ambers, the titleholder, and Pedro Montanez, spectacular Puerto Rican knockout specialist.

One Not Recognized

Next in interest in the 15-rounder in which Chicago Barney Ross seeks to defend his welterweight crown against the challenge of Ceferino Garcia, young Filipino from the Far West.

The third champion to do his stuff will be Sixto Escobar, bantamweight titleholder, who will be pitted against Harry Jexra of Baltimore, twice victor over Escobar in over-the-weight matches.

Jacobs originally advertised four title bouts, with Marcel Thil of France, European middleweight champ, going against Fred Apostoli of San Francisco, but the New York State Athletic commission spiked this by refusing to recognize the winner as world's champion. Freddy Steele of Tacoma is recognized as boss of the 160-pound division in this country, so the best Apostoli can gain by beating Thil is the latter's European title.

CAPTAINS STEERS SATURDAY

AUSTIN Sept. 20. (AP)—Jud Atchison, rangy halfback, will captain the University of Texas Longhorns in their season opener Saturday against Texas Tech's Raiders.

Lubbock Expects To Find Slaton Cats No Setup

Feeling quite frisky after their experience of last Friday night the Lubbock Westerners bedeviled each other with passes, blocks and tackles in a spirited drill yesterday.

Coaches Chapman, Keyes and Ayers did not join in the merriment, however, calling attention to the ills of over confidence and the fact that the Slaton Tigers won't recoginze the "class" difference next Friday night. Slaton is in Class B, Lubbock in Class A, but the latter knowledge won't bring the Tigers to their knees in "give up" fashion Friday.

The Tigers, who played a couple of season of Class A football, come here for a go with the Westerners Friday night at Tech Field, and they'll bring all their supporters with them.

Tough Games In District 1

Lubbock's brothers in District 1, Class A, also are looking forward to a tough weekend, for various reasons. The road looks dark for the Bulldogs of Borger and Plainview, and they must pour on the power. For Amarillo and Pampa, winners last week, coaches must fight against over-confidence.

The Sandies demonstrated that it's all hooey about Amarillo being "weak" this season by defeating Clovis, N. M., 19 to 7 on Saturday. Clovis was figuerd, in some parts, to give the Sandstorm a licking, but the Sandies still have enough left after losing their head coach and a lot of valuable men from last year's championship squad to make it more than interesting for the balance of the District 1 membership.

Borger, Plainview Lose

Pampa's Harvesters again indicted another "big three" race in the district by knocking over Childress 25 to 6, although little had been heard but gloomy accounts from the Harvester camp.

Plainview and Borger took wallopings in their season debuts, Electra taking Borger 12-7 and Quanah blasting Plainview's high hopes, 27-0.

Lubbock's 40-0 victory over Cisco established the Westerners as a threat, but coaches refuse to look at it that way.

Amarillo gets Childress at Butler Field next Saturday, and the Sandies are favored to steam roller the Bobcats. Pampa will have a harder time of it Friday night, entertaining the Capitol Hill team of Oklahoma City. Polytechnic of Fort Worth, which defeated Vernon last week, comes to Borger for a night game Friday.

Slaton Getting Set

Over at Slaton, the one-time "traditional" foes of the Westerners are preparing to make history repeat. Under the coaching of Stumpy Hamilton and Jimmy Neely, the Tigers mopped up on the southern teams of District 5-B last year, and barely lost to Littlefield in the district championship game. Hamilton believes he has a better team this year than last. To start the season, the Tigers rolled over Olton, 45 to 0, without putting out a whole lot of energy.

Slaton is getting set this week for Lubbock. Anything can happen.

Longhorn Baseball Player Recovering From Wound

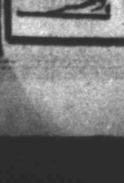

HEARNE, Sept. 20. (AP) — Robert (Cotton) Evans, University of Texas baseball player, was recovering today from a head wound inflicted by a stray bullet Friday.

He was treated at a Bryan hospital and released immediately. Evans, home for the week-end, was assisting high school football Coach Louis Cochran at Wood field when he was struck by the bullet.

NEW BROWNFIELD PASTOR

BROWNFIELD, (Special)—H. C. Brown of Slaton is the new pastor for the Assembly of God church here. He has moved here and succeeds the Reverend McClure, resigned.

Horton Smith Bows To Guldahl In Western Open Championship

CLEVELAND, Sept. 20. (AP)—Ralph Guldahl, of Chicago, the husky 25 year old National Open champion, banging out a par 72 defeated Horton Smith, also of Chicago, by four strokes in an 18 hole playoff for the 37th annual Western Open championship today.

The pair tied at 288 for the regulation 72 holes which ended Sunday, but Smith didn't have a chance today as he sprayed 13 of his 18 tee shots into the rough and lost six strokes to par on the first eight holes.

Guldhal, in repeating for the championship which he first won a year ago at Davenport, Ia., with a 274, aided by a 64 on the last round, because the first man in history to win the National open and Western open the same year.

Guldahl climaxed his year at Oakland Hills, Mich., a couple of months ago, by breaking the National Open record to win with 281. Since then he finished second in the Hershey and Canadian opens. His next tourney is the International match play Wednesday at Boston.

As Smith explored practically all the rough and most of the traps today, Guldahl plugged along close to par, going under even figures on but three holes and losing a stroke on three others.

Clay Hits 47 Targets To Cop Skeet Honors

A. L. Clay was high scorer at Lubbock Skeet and Gun club's weekly shoot, breaking 47 of 50 targets Sunday afternoon.

Following Clay were: Jack Allred, 46; Walter Shields, 45; and Lawrence Banks, 42.

In regulation trap shooting, J. D. Dudley of Floydada was high with 47 out of 50. A. L. Clay came in second with 45 and Tex Edens third with 42.

The club expects another large crowd of competitors and spectators to be on hand again next Sunday.

Hubbers Upset Forsan Hopes To Win, 2-0

Lefty Jerry Blanchard made certain that the Forsan Oilers kept away from the plate Sunday afternoon, even though his mates were long enough about giving him effensive support. Two runs in the eighth chapter allowed the Hubbers to win, 2 to 0, in one of the tightest affrays of the season.

On the hillock for Forsan was Max Beard, another cunnythumb, who turned a neat bit of hurling throughout the game.

Bill Holloway, veteran outfielder, came through in the clutch, after two were out in the last half of the eighth to blast a ringing single which scored Winfield Breedlove and Lefty Bettes, breaking up the ball game and giving Blanchard a well-earned victory.

Blanchard settled down and pitched great ball Sunday, giving up only three scratch hits, striking out 13 batsmen and taking part in a double play. Except at bat, where he was a total loss, striking out three times, Big Jerry turned in a nice job. He clicked well with his battery mate, and vice versa. Catcher Lingle, who appeared considerably improved.

Beard's Hurling Deadly

Beard had the Hubbers going his way for seven innings, and when he did get in trouble once or twice his hands came through to chop down Hubber advances. Beard gave up 8 hits, keeping them scattered except for the three important ones in the eighth inning. He whiffed the Hubbers a dozen times, striking out Charley Presley, Andy Anderson and Blanchard every time they came to the plate, and didn't allow a single pass.

Blanchard retired the first seven men to face him, striking out five. He walked two in a row then, but one of them was forced at second and the next man struck out. He allowed not a single hit for four innings. In the fifth, Beard bunted one to R. D. Prather, playing third for the Hubbers, and beat out the throw for an infield hit. Loper, Forsan leftfielder, followed with an infield hit to short. Anderson, playing the position for the first five innings, failing to handle the ball in time for a putout, although no error was made. Two had struck out, however, and Cramier, centerfielder, was a strikeout victim to end the rally.

Loper Gets Another

Loper got another infield hit in the eighth for the third and last safety off Blanchard. None of the hits left the infield. A double play killed this rally, however, Blanchard handling Cramier's attempted sacrifice nicely to throw out Loper at second. Breedlove, replacing Andy at short, whipped to Bettes, catching Cramier.

Holloway singled for Lubbock in the first inning, but two were out, and Thompson forced Holloway at second. Lingle led off the second with a double to left center, but Prather, Presley and Anderson struck out, in order. Bettes advanced to second on an error and a wild pitch in the third, but got no farther. The Hubbers went down in order in the fourth and fifth. Bettes singled in the sixth but was thrown out at the plate, trying to score on an overthrow to second. Jack Thompson made it to third in the seventh, but was tagged out by Jake Morgan after "losing" his foothold on the sack. In the eighth, Breedlove doubled, Blanchard struck out, Ballard flew out to left. Bettes came through with a single to right, went to second on a throw to third. Then Holloway's sizzling single that whistled past Tommy Hutto's ear at first, and the game was as good as over. The visitors went down in order in the 9th.

Faithful Texas University Followers Look To Bible To Elevate Steer Team

By HARRY GRAYSON
Sports Editor, NEA Service

Dana X. Bible . . . "The Eyes of Texas" are upon him.

CLEVELAND, Sept. 20.—"D. X. will straighten 'em out."

That's what football friends and foes alike of the University of Texas say. They're referring, of course, to Dana Xenophon Bible and the Texas Longhorn football team, which lingered in utterly strange territory—the Southwest Conference basement—these last two seasons.

Bible was the answer to every faithful Texas ex's prayers—a solid man, a good football coach, a master diplomat, and possessor of a "name" potent enough to command a 10-year contract at a top salary. Thus was settled the teapot tempest which raged at Texas since football began.

Texas was the "graveyard of coaches." Texas coaches were here today, gone tomorrow—but not up. No U. T. football coach ever progressed to a better job. Usually they dropped out of the game altogether, as has young Jack Chevigny, latest victim of the wolves, who traded grid togs for a lawyer's toga.

For the first time since 1893, University of Texas fans are entirely satisfied with their coach. There was no trouble before that date, because there wasn't any coach.

The old place won't seem the same without the surging, shifting undercurrent of trouble that has run through the Longhorn football situation forever.

Bible has 13 lettermen, only a few of them potential stars, and several rather promising sophomores for his first Longhorn team. With double-tough clubs like Arkansas, Texas Aggies, Texas Christian, Southern Methodist, Rice and Baylor playing in the same league, a coach needs more than that. He needs sympathy; also luck, a handful of miracles, and a good double-barreled shotgun.

Longhorns Are Better But Not Champions

Hugh Wolfe, who ran through the Minnesota Gophers 93 yards for a kickoff-touchdown and sprinted 40 against Louisiana State for the tying score last year, will play quarterback. He will weigh in at about 200. In track, he runs the 100-yard dash.

There may prove to be something to Ray Keeling beside 240 pounds of muscle, etc. Minnesota observers called him one of the best tackles to appear on Gopher Field last season.

Bible suspects that he has potential greats in Sophomores Lewis (Bullet) Gray, a ripping fullback, and Beefus Bryan, 170-pound three-gun left halfback.

The line is a bit slow, the backfield anything else but. Bible believes that the defense will be all right, but that those ponderous linemen may gum up the attack.

Texas will have a better team than last year, but that doesn't guarantee a championship. It doesn't even guarantee anything better than the tie-for-last the Longhorns got in '35 and '36. To repeat: The Southwest is a tough league.

Bible may learn what it means to have a losing season. He has never had one.

Starting at Mississippi college in 1913, he produced a .750 ball club. Ever since his teams have finished with better than .500 records.

No Winning Season At Texas Since '34

Texas hasn't won half its games since '34, when Chevigny's charges staged a thundering upset at Notre Dame and finished tied for second with S. M. U. behind Rice in the Southwest conference.

The Longhorns last won the championship in 1930, under Clyde Littlefield. This man, whom Chevigny succeeded after a bad '33 season, is back as "B" team coach and scout.

Bible declines to comment on his chances this year except for the rather indefinite remark: "The current will be pretty strong, but we hope to make headway."

Another stock remark: "We hope all groups will get into a close huddle, and all come out with the same signal!"

It is hard to pin "the Little Colonel" down on potentially embarrassing points, such as naming all-star or all-time teams, predicting scores, listing "best" coaches, and so on.

Even the rest of the Southwest conference bosses were glad to see Bible back after an eight-year absence. Dana X. established his great reputation at Texas A. and M.

"It will make things tougher, but an honor to play against him," explains one Southwest conference rival.

Plainview Poloists Beat Locals, 10-5

Lubbock poloists bowed to the crack Plainview quartet by a 10-5 count at the fair grounds Sunday. Three of the invading players overshadowed the play of other riders.

Vernon Bradley, Marvin Shurbet and Lloyd Phillips divided honors in the victory for the visitors. Clyde Blair, other Plainview rider, was in the saddle for his first taste of match competition. Phillips bagged 4 goals for the winners, Shurbet and Bradley scoring three times each.

Not far behind the Plainview aces was Murphy May, riding at No. 4 for Lubbock. Bob Hester and John Cooper fired accurate shots from time to time. Claude Hurlbut, No. 1, scored two goals, as did May.

Plainview took an early lead that Lubbock could never overcome. Not until the fifth chukker did the local four display a scoring punch. They tallied three times to get within shouting distance of the victors.

The Lubbock team is trying to arrange for a contest with the fast New Mexico Military institute crew.

Special Payment Is Announced

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—Administration leaders said today the 1938 farm benefit program should help return to grass many acres in the Great Plains that should never have been plowed.

H. R. Tolley, chief of the Agricultural Adjustment administration, said "an innovation" in next year's program announced by Secretary Wallace was offer of a special payment of 50 cents an acre for "restoration land."

This land was described as land on which corn, wheat or other cultivated crops has been grown since 1933, and is designated by county AAA committees as "unadapted to cropping."

"This makes it possible for farmers to set aside land that should never have ben put into crops for a return to grass," Tolley said.

Tolley said limits on amount of land that might come under this classification had not been determined and probably would be decided by state and county AAA groups.

Entries Coming In For Fair

Construction of 50 additional stables for race horses and of an addition to the Agricultural building and improvements to the race track are nearing completion for the Panhandle-South Plains fair which opens Monday, according to announcement of fair association officials.

Entries thus far received, the report continued, indicate that despite the enlargement of stable facilities by approximately 50 per cent, more space will be in demand than can be supplied. Latest of the entries to be filed was by C. E. Deahl of Panhandle, who will bring a stable of five entries.

New Entries Received

Interest in advance of the fair, officials said, has surpassed that ever previously shown in every department. Among the latest entries are H. B. Daviss of Lubbock in several classes of the swine division; and George P. Lillard of Arlington, who will have 80 head of hogs, competing in Hampshire, Poland-China, Duroc Jersey, spotted Poland-China and Chester White breeds. He also will send a pen of Berkshires, for which no special division of the fair has been provided.

Although advance entries in such divisions as cattle, swine and agriculture have been few, they are considerably more numerous than has been true at previous fairs. Usually, the entries are not filed until owners actually arrive with their exhibits.

Takashi Kitaoki Suggests That He Just Be Called Plain 'Kid'

WACO, Sept. 20. (AP) — Takashi Kitaoki wearily suggested that you just call him "Kid."

Since he entered Baylor university he has had quite a time getting his tongue-twisting name over to his new classmates. Introductions were complicated by the insistence of some that he spell out his Japanese names. In self defense he suggested everybody call him plain American "Kid." He holds an A. B. degree from the University of Hawaii.

NOT TO ADD NEGROES

DALLAS, Sept. 20. (AP)—Because of vigorous protests, the city council has decided to reconsider an order to add negroes to the police force as an experiment. The council had planned to have negro cops patrol sections of the negro settlements.

Hundreds Of Cotton Pickers, Majority Of Them Mexicans, Arriving Here For Season

Lubbock streets Monday were crowded with hundreds of Mexican cotton pickers who arrived here in the morning from down state. They flocked down town after making camp and began a series of purchases at local stores to fit themselves for the job of picking a record South Plains crop of cotton.

One section of the army of pickers came up the Caprock by way of Sweetwater, Snyder and Post; the other via Big Spring, Lamesa, O'Donnell and Tahoka.

From Lubbock they will scatter out over the territory. Many remained in other towns down south, especially those who have been here before and who have worked for farmers in Dawson, Lynn, Garza and Scurry counties.

This year's invading army is expected to be the largest this area has known.

Sunday the highways were filled with trucks, bringing couples, families and even small communities here. There were all kinds, sizes, shapes and forms of trucks.

They came in trailers of all kinds, in pick-up bodies, in cattle and cotton trailers, in house trailers and about every other known kind. Some had household goods piled up high, with the babies and youngsters packed in between bedding, chairs, etc.

They were, for the most part, young people. In the large trucks were to be seen young couples, with an occasional grandfather. They stood up in the bodies, hanging onto the sides and laughing and having a good time. As they passed by, or were passed by other truck loads, there was an exchange of greetings. Each group seemed to know the others.

Persons arriving Sunday night reported highways all the way down to San Antonio and beyond, filled with trucks of pickers.

Many families camped alongside the road Saturday night. Lubbockites leaving early Sunday found many camps breaking up. Sometimes there were several cars parked together.

At Post Sunday night, between the main street and the Santa Fe depot were at least a dozen cars parked together. The riders were prepared to camp there for the night. A fire was going, tents were up or being set up for the night and everybody was happy.

The visitors were colorful in more ways than one. The olive tan of the faces was heightened by the colorful clothing. The women wore bright colored slacks and shirts, with colored handkerchiefs tied around their heads or necks. The men preferred loud shirts and handkerchiefs to the more somber hues. Their trousers were mostly coveralls.

Indications are there will be enough cotton pickers for the season, at least to start with. Bolls are opening rapidly, hot weather of the past week following the rains having caused them to open up, showing the white lint.

Nothing To Get Excited Over

ONE of The Avalanche's Washington correspondents recently commented that Congress is not likely to get very excited over the Chicago Times' disclosure of Nazi organizational activities in the United States. And while we have no more use for Hitler than we have for Stalin, we don't think the public—at least the West Texas segment of the public — is very excited over it, either.

Twice in the last seven years Congress has investigated propaganda activities of foreign groups, and neither time did its own findings stir it to enact any sort of remedial legislation. The congressmen just don't seem to think that these activities really menace the country much.

In that stand Congress is probably quite right. The ordinary citizen unquestionably hates to read of active groups which take their orders and draw their inspiration from Rome, Moscow or Berlin; he is apt to forget that such groups cut very little figure in our national life.

After all, there are 130,000,000 people in the United States. If ten or twenty thousand of them go haywire on Hitler, Stalin or Mussolini, it doesn't really make very much difference.

There are plenty of us left to convince even the wildest radical that in any abortive attempt on our government he would result in his being smacked down!

The Ladies And Our Wealth

FROM the brilliant, searching pen of Isaac F. Marcosson, The Morning Avalanche notes that women control 70 per cent of the nation's wealth and has just about come to believe the old saw that it's the woman "who pays and pays!"

Writing in the American magazine, Mr. Marcosson reports on a survey which he has just completed. Citing figures to prove feminine financial dominance, he concludes that if women are not running the industry and politics of the nation within the next generation or two it will be simply because they fail to realize their own power. He writes:

"It may startle the atavistic males, to learn that women are today beneficiaries of 80 per cent of the nation's $104,500,000,000 outstanding life insurance, on which $2,000,000,000 is being paid out each year. Any insurance company will tell you that women are outliving the men. The private wealth of the nation is only $280,000,000,000, and women already own enough of that to make the he-Titans tremble. But the women don't know it. Today 15,000,000 stockholders own the corporations of America, and nearly 49 per cent of them are women. In some of the seasoned corporate institutions the women stockholders outnumber the men. Sixty-five per cent of the $14,242,800,000 of mutual savings bank accounts and 40 per cent of the titles to all homes are in women's names. On top of all this, women control 85 per cent of the country's buying power."

Women likewise came through the 1929 crash better than the men did. They came through better, Mr. Marcosson holds, because "being for the most part more conservative than men, the majority held preferred stocks. Fifty-four per cent of the preferred stock in 39 leading corporations is held by women. Of the A. T. & T.'s 640,991 stockholders, for instance, 364,178 are women. In United States Steel, men own 3,725,365 shares; women 3,013,242. Women measure largely in the General Motors list, rolling up a total of 152,512 stockholders as compared with 170,115 men. And so it goes. The men may soon be trying to amuse themselves while their wives are busy at a board meeting."

That, fellow males, is something to think about!

With Our Contemporaries

"Talkative Tillie says every husband-auditor has learned that net dresses plus net hats plus net hose equal gross first-of-the month bills," J. C. Smyth points out in the Scurry County Times.

* * *

"Lots of politics brewing these days," Jep Craig says in the Texas Spur. "It's not so many months now until the pot begins to boil and if advance reports are any indication there will be a hot time in the old county next summer."

The One-Minute Sermon

Thus saith the Lord, Let not the wise man glory in his wisdom, neither let the mighty man glory in his might, let not the rich man glory in his riches:

But let him that glorieth glory in this, he understandeth and knoweth me, that I am the Lord judgment, and righteousness, in the earth: for in these things I delight, saith the Lord.—Jeremiah, IX, 23 and 24.

EXPLANATION OF CARTOON

THE MOUNTAIN OF A SINGLE NIGHT

Jorullo, a volcano 1600 feet high in the state of Michoacan, Mexico, rose from the surrounding plain in a single night on Sept. 29, 1759. The perfectly level plain showed no signs of volcanic activity until that September night, when the earth was shaken by a violent earthquake. In the morning, the frightened inhabitants found that a long chasm was the result of that earthquake. Along the line of that chasm six volcanic cones had formed, the tallest of which was 1600 feet high and named Jorullo. The volcano was active until 1860, since when the activity has greatly diminished. There are a number of hot springs in the vicinity, which is covered with lava fields and volcanic rock. The southern slope of the mountain is covered with luxuriant vegetation extending to the summit.

Murder On The Bluff... By Esther Tyler

SYNOPSIS: The mysterious shooting to death of Jude Blinshop, my old flame, opens our stormy weekend at Farrington Bluff, home of Michael's aunts. After a series of strange attacks, we find the body of Michael's mad father below the bluff. Aunt Martha is shot in the shoulder, then nearly drugged to death with sleeping powders. The Skipper, Mike's tall, tweedy younger aunt, disappears and Cook takes dope. William, the chauffeur, proves an ex-convict. I eavesdrop on Cook, William and Annie the maid, who are talking against Higgins, the butler, then I quiz William.

Chapter 40

What About Higgins?

"You'd better answer questions, all of you," I said at last. "How did you manage to get here, William? Did Cook arrange it?"

"No. I told you once, Mr. Blinshop did. Cook's been here a long time. She got Annie this job when they sent me up. And then—I just happened to get here. I might have known there'd be some hitch to a break like that!"

"Did anyone here know that you were related?"

William shook his head. "I didn't want to take no chances."

Every word he uttered dovetailed with a wild idea forming in the back of my mind. Right then, it seemed too bizarre to be true, but I was to think better of it.

"What did you do with those letters?" I said.

"What letters?" His face was bewildered.

"Don't be a fool," I snapped. "We searched your room just now and found the letters from your warden and from Mr. Blinshop. A few minutes later, when we came back, the letters were gone. What did you do with them?"

William's face was twisted in terror.

"As God's my judge, Mr. Wells," he said, "I didn't have no such letters."

I lost my temper. "You had them or someone in your family did. I saw them. This won't get you anywhere. The first policeman who comes into this house can have you identified. Where are they?"

"Do you know what he's talking about?" William turned dazedly from Cook to Annie. They both shook frightened heads. "What—what was in them, sir? Where was they?"

"They were in your driving cushion, "I said. Slowly, as accurately as I could, I repeated their contents. Before I was halfway through, my bewilderment redoubled. As surely as I was sifting there, not one of the three had ever heard my words before. It was insane and pointless. They had absolutely nothing to gain by denials. William voiced the conclusion that was formulating in my own mind.

'It's Crazy!'

"Somebody put 'em there! Put 'em there and then swiped 'em."

"Did you ever have such letters?" I demanded.

His eyes clouded. "I don't know. I had references from the warden and Blinshop once, but I forgot what I done with them. I—think—I showed 'em to Miss Barbara when I got this job and then chucked 'em. It's crazy."

It was all of that. I turned to Cook.

"How long have you been down here?" I inquired.

"Huh?" Cook's heavy jaw dropped and then snapped together. "In this kitchen? I come down with Willie to git him some supper."

"Has she been here ever since?" I directed the question at William.

His face darkened. "Sure, she's been here. What do you think? You needn't try to pin anything on her, too."

"I'm not trying to pin anything on anybody," I said patiently. "I'm trying to find out what happened. Two people are dead, and if we don't want to be in their shoes, we've got to find out what happened. We won't find out anything until everybody tells all he or she knows."

I paused to gauge the effects of my words. It was considerable.

"Now," I said quietly, "did either of you straighten up William's room after we searched it a few minutes ago? No one can hold it against you if you did. It will just keep us from running up any more blind alleys."

"No," said William earnestly, "I swear I didn't!"

Annie's negative was thin and wavery but Cook's came forth torrentially.

"Very well, Cook," I said curtly. "Annie, did you leave Miss Farrington alone—even for a second—after William came downstairs?"

Annie answered without the slightest hesitation. "Nor, sir. Not for a second even!"

Only Higgins Could—

One point was settled then. Almost anyone in the house might have placed those letters in William's room, but there was only one person who could have removed them—Higgins. Everyone else was carefully checked. Unless the Skipper was in the house! Or either Gay or Michael was withholding them for a purpose. The only purpose that I could imagine for such an act was to conceal the fact that either had put them there.

I picked my words slowly. It was important that William should tell me all he knew about Higgins without being frightened into withholding any information. I wanted to know what he had been on the verge of telling the others when my blundering entrance into the kitchen cut him short. I had constantly in mind the fact that either William was a felon or William had served three years in jail rather than give information about someone else.

"We're all in the same boat," I said. "Either we catch the culprit redhanded or one of us is apt to become his third victim. And another one of us is pretty certain to be tried for these killings." I didn't point out which one of us. I left that to William's imagination and he got the point. His hands clenched convulsively. "What have you people noticed about Higgins?" I inquired as casually as I could. "To my mind he is the only person who has had access to William's room recently."

In the heavy silence it seemed as if my attempt had failed. Just as I was about to try again, William spoke.

"He's been funny," he said. "Long before you and Mr. Michael came he was funny—jumpy. Used to go roaming around the house at night and nearly went crazy if you caught him at it or asked him a question." William paused uncertainly.

"That wouldn't hang a man very high."

"Maybe not. That first night—the night you folks got here—he acted almost nuts. Had Cook in such a fuss about the dinner, it's a wonder you got anything to eat at all. Laid me out in fine style for not bringing home some stuff from the drug store, when I'd already told him I couldn't get it unless Miss Judith's train was late. Made me go all the way back to town after it.

"And then, when Annie and Cook was both downstairs, I heard him talking in his room. Thinks I, 'The old boy's gone screwy.' So I knock at his door. And was he wild! Told me he was reading poetry out loud and I'd better mind my own business if I didn't want to start looking for a job. Threatened to knock me down. Can you tie that?"

The net of evidence closes in on Higgins, tomorrow.

TEXARKANA, Ark., Sept. 20. (AP) Two new producers were added today to the rapidly growing south Miller county oil field.

The Freeman W. Buford-A. A. Capps No. B-1, section 14-20-28, came in yesterday at an estimated flow of 1,000 barrels daily.

The Freeman W. Buford—G. G. Gerald No. 1, section 15-20-28, had a 700-barrel flow.

The wells, just above the Louisiana line, extended the new field to the southeast and southwest.

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT'S family and friends—who take their cues from "the chief"—are unbelievably bitter against Hugo L. Black for failing to warn F. D. R. beforehand that he once rustled around the corn patches in a white sheet.

They suspect that Mr. Roosevelt needs badly to extricate himself quickly and nimbly from his tragi-comic dilemma. The President privately plans to give the associate justice a chance to explain and clear himself. If he can't, you may look for a public demand for a resignation. Politicos who knew the Alabama man's stubbornness and determination are betting that he will refuse to surrender his $20,000 job and prospects for a lifetime pension.

The Black affair provokes amusement rather than concern in the capital's clubs, cocktail rooms, political headquarters. Almost everybody recognizes that Mr. Black, like every Alabama man engaged in private or political business in those days, had to go along with the gang. But it's no laughing matter at the White House, which fears the repercussions may destroy the Roosevelt influence on all fronts—political, legislative, economic.

TRAPPED: The Rooseveltians are particularly sore because the sensational expose leaves them open to the indictment that they are politically maladroit—to speak frankly, dumb.

Why nobody warned the President to investigate these charges is a mystery even among F. D. R.'s closest friends. Ten years ago, as head of the New York World bureau at the capital, New Deal Publicist Charles Michelson was writing daily stories labeling Mr. Black as a klan sympathizer. Secretaries Early and McIntyre, as ex-newspapermen, were acquainted with the former Senator's Alabama affiliations. As a henchman of William G. McAdoo in the 1924 battle over the klan at Madison Square Garden, Attorney General Cummings must have had his suspicions. Yet nobody dared to warn his beloved boss to watch his step—or to question the Senator after Copeland raised the question on the Senate floor.

The Black appointment was due directly to two Roosevelt qualities which are constantly involving him in major difficulties—his irritability and his impetuosity. Even his friends agree to that somewhat reluctantly. He ached to retaliate against Southern statesmen who had wrecked his program, so he chose for the highest judicial honor a man from their own country. And he did it on the spur of the hot moment, taking nobody into his confidence. The result is Black.

FEAR: New Dealers—and other folk—have been running to fashionable economic doctors for diagnoses of the anaemia prevailing in Wall Street. The explanations have ranged from fear of a foreign war to doubt over the government's financial stability.

Anti-Roosevelt experts offer another reason after poring over charts describing the market's rise and fall. They note that an upturn set in about June 12, when it became apparent that the President would lose his battle for court reform, for a wages-an-hours measure, for compulsory crop control, for government reorganization, etc. They read more than coincidence into the two developments; they suggest that big and little investors began to buy because Roosevelt's stock was dropping. They looked for that oft-promised "breathing spell."

It was on August 14th that the market started its present decline. That date, curiously, came only a few days after the nomination of Hugo L. Black to the Supreme court, and after dispatches from Hyde Park picturing F. D. R. as in a fighting mood. Whether right or wrong, the conclusion seems to be that the market doubts center around the White House rather than the Yellow Sea or the Mediterranean. They're more afraid of Mr. Roosevelt than of Hitler, Mussolini and Tokio's war lords.

PATHOS: Recent events have furnished scant reason for smiles around the White House, but the political plight of an old friend—Al Smith—has produced a spirit which approximates merriment.

His pro-Copeland speech provoked off-stage remarks and headshakings at a cabinet meeting—the first held in many weeks—and aroused as keen an official interest as the latest news on the Black expose, war in the Far East and Wall Street's New Deal pains. One cabineteer who listened in on the radio confided that, in his opinion, "Al was pathetic!"

NEW YORK
By James McMullin

ON the list of those present at the now famous meeting of Robert E. Lee Klan No. 1 on September 2, 1936 (featured by the alleged prominent participation of Hugo Black and Bibb Graves), appears the name of Walter S. Brower, "klan giant." The latter office was equivalent to sergeant-at-arms.

Mr. Brower now occupies the post of special assistant to the Attorney General of the United States in charge of the eastern district office in Foley Square, New York City. He is a close personal friend of Attorney General Homer Cummings.

Besides his Department of Justice job, Mr. Brower was chosen about six months ago to act as a special mediator in the labor problems of a certain New York industry at the handsome salary of $17,500 a year. He was not required to give up his government connection. Who chose him? That's the best part of it—the Men's Clothing workers, a union with an overwhelmingly Jewish membership.

HAUNT: Mr. Brower was formerly active in labor circles in Alabama and has never shown any signs of racial or religious bias. His selection for the mediator post proves that. Nevertheless the situation has its ironic aspects.

An added angle that draws a chuckle is that he was passed upon for the Department of Justice appointment by the usually sharp-eyed Assistant Attorney General Joe Keenan, who is a Catholic.

Now that the ghost of the klan has been raised, it may haunt others in public office to their discomfort. Governor Clifford M. Townsend of Indiana, who has publicly demanded the scalp of Senator Fred Van Nuys because the latter opposed the Supreme court reform, is reported by reliable and well-posted sources to have been an organizer for the Klan when the order was riding high. The same applies to Pleas Greenlee of Indiana, member of the new Bituminous Coal commission.

AMATEUR: In the early days of the New Deal, when legislation to cage Wall Street's bulls and bears was a live topic, many and hot were the diatribes against those fiends in human form who indulged in the nefarious practice of selling short. It was generally assumed that this peculiarly "immoral" form of speculation would be drastically regulated by law—if not, indeed, eliminated entirely.

Now it turns out that the Federal Reserve margin rules, as they stand at present, give short sellers of high priced stocks an enormous edge over buyers. You must put up about $5000 margin nowadays if you want to buy 100 shares of U. S. Steel. To sell the same hundred shares short requires amargin of only $1000. The higher the price of the stock, the greater the difference in favor of the shorts.

It is true that the margin advantage is on the buying side in the cheaper stocks. All short sales require a 10-point margin regardless of price—100 per cent on a $10 stock—50 per cent on a $20 stock, against a straight 55 per cent on buy orders at any price. But the point is that market trends are usually dominated by the "blue chip" issues—and three has been plenty of short selling in Big Steel, Chrysler, American Telephone and others of their ilk in recent weeks.

Nobody could seriously contend that the Reserve board intended to favor the bears when it drew up these rules, but the effect in the same as if it had. New York anti-New Dealers caustically growl that htis is what happens when amateur architects are allowed to draw the blueprints for a skyscraper.

Letters To The Editor

Your Voice Is As Loud As Our Own

THE SHAME ON TEXAS

Editor, The Avalanche: We have been considering the fundamentals of democracy and the policies of the New Deal and I believe they harmonize.

But now I wish to direct attention to a branch of democracy that makes a foul page of Texas History, viz., the mess we have instead of the Old Age Pension law we thought we were voting for. That is what the candidates called it when they were running on the proposition. But after election they called it Old Age Assistance. That gives a better excuse for skimping. Now it is "Necessitous" Old Age Assistance, doled out to the pauperized ones in accord with previous style of living, cutting out those who have relatives somewhere drawing a salary and cutting those with property, though the property may not pay its taxes and interest. It is being suggested that further cutting could be done by requiring each recipient to mortgage his property to the state. It was suggested by an official that it might be best to disfranchise those old citizens. It is shocking to think of how brutal some Texans can treat those old folks the people voted to honor.

The "need" for that law was to society as a step to economic recovery in offering more prosperity to the workers by having the non-workers provided with means to buy what the workers produce and to uphold our social standards. We had progressed in producing efficiency to where only two-thirds of the workers were needed to produce all that could be sold. The other third was turned out to starve. But starvers could not buy and the rest of us came near starvation for lack of profitable market.

Our leaders, saving both human heart and brains, though called "Brain Trust," planned for those not needed to work to be supported by the more frotunate workers to make them boost our market and not degrade our society. In reality, it was for social self defense rather than for charity.

But we exercised a decent sense of social duty in choosing to place in that group of honorably supported non-workers our venerable old folks who have already worked enough and thus brighten their sunset by relief from anxieties about making their living or being a burden to relatives.

Now our officials who can't hear the voice of the people for the noise of business, mostly Big Business, keep asking "where can we get the tax to pay every 65-year-old a pension?" One safe place is a part of the tax Big Business takes from the people in high rates with which it pays salaries greater than our nation pays its President and profits that make millionaires of many Texans. The people is the goose that lays the gold that runs business. If too much of her wealth is taken in tax by government or business without returning some to her health and happiness the goose will soon exhaust and so will business. If the expense now being paid to spy on how our old folks spend their little dole were spent on a spy system for finding out how much tax business is taking from the people above sufficient for reasonable salaries and profits over expenses, no doubt but a plenty could be found to take back justly in a profit-tax sufficient to pay all the pensions the people have voted. If any should be lacking for old age pensions, a 1 per cent general retail sales tax would be easy, just, and sufficient.

Here are samples of the way the administration is working "successfully" to cut down old age expense here and it is about the same every where. Many feeble old couple with no means of living are cut off because they have children drawing salaries, though those children have needy families of their own. One old crippled man was cut down when he paid some of his little dole on delinquent tax to save his house from sale. Another old man made him an ice box and bought ice to keep his milk and butter during those awful hot days. He was advised that ice is too much of a luxury for old age assistance to furnish. Those old folks live in constant dread of being cut off, or down.

Yet one of our prominent senators is boasting about how liberal Texas is to her old folks. And another senator, the one that claims the honor? of introducing the dole-according-to-previous-style-of-living idea, was lauded for a speech he made to a church body censuring the people, especially their organizations, for demanding so much that requires taxes. Of course he had in mind the tax for old age pensions which our officials gagged at and deliberalized, forgetting about the liberal official salaries the people voted of which they swallowed every cent without a frown. Churches that lend prestige to that kind of attitudes cannot hold the confidence of the people.

It takes much of the old folk's fund to administer the present "assistance" law. The pension law we thought we were voting could be administered by the county commissioners and state officials with but little extra expense.

They don't seem to like for people to organize and demand their needs and rights like business does. But that is our only hope. Let us go about it and try to get a better consideration given our old folks.

And equal sum given each 65-year-old to spend as he desires from the best old age fund that can be provided would be more satisfactory to them, not cutting down any already fixed.

Facts do not justify the claim that "Uncle Sam" will cut his part if Texas does not cut down on the old folks.

Will P. Florence,
Slaton, Texas.

TARZAN'S QUEST No. 62

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

Gupingu pointed slyly to the ceremonial gourd and whispered to the woman who was preparing the beer. Then he left with her his strange herb concoction and walked toward the palaver of warriors. He caught Udalo's gaze and nodded. The chief clapped his hand.

Women came, bringing food and drink. The ceremonial gourd was presented to Udalo. He raised it to his lips. His throat moved, as if he were drinking, but none of the liquer passed his lips. Muviro, however, took a long gulp and passed it to the next Waziri.

When all the strangers had drunk, food was set before them. Muviro did not eat. Instead, he was looking, glassy-eyed, at his men. What had gone wrong with his eyes? Everything was blurred. His warriors sat with stony faces, their bodies weaving drunkenly.

Muviro's brain whirled, but he retained enough sense to realize that he and his men had been betrayed. He staggered to his feet, seized his long knife and whipped it from his loincloth. "Kill!" he cried. "We have been poisoned." Then he lurched and fell.

LIVESTOCK

19—Livestock For Sale

We feel that our duty is to satisfy both buyer and consigner. To do this, we must get cattle in when the market is the hottest.

We expect to have the best sale Friday, we have had. Last Tuesday, due to wet weather, we had only 300 head; but not a hoof was passed out, which shows that our market was good.

An unusual amount of inquiries from out-of-town buyers are coming in concerning our Sale Friday. If you have cattle we can assure you a nice profit on all that you consign for Friday's sale.

We expect best heavy calves to bring from $8 up and good cows $7 up. Bring us your cattle. We can get them sold for as much or more than you expect.

DROP TO NEW LOW LEVELS

NEW YORK, Sept. 20. (AP)—Stock market leaders dropped to new low levels for the past 21 months or longer today, although extreme losses of 1 to 9 points were cut down or cancelled by a slow last-hour rally.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was off .6 of a point at 57.1, bottom mark for this index since Jan. 21, 1936. At its worst the average was down nearly 2 points. Transfers totaled 1,550,350 shares compared with 814,050 last Friday.

Rails ended slightly higher on balance as some observers voiced the opinion increased freight rates on basic staples probably would be granted by the interstate commerce commission as an offset to the loss of emergency surcharges at the close of the preceding year.

Motors came back briskly when forecasts were heard in automotive manufacturing centers that 1938 sales and production should equal if not exceed those of 1937.

Although steels were on the losing side, they were doing much better when the final gong sounded notwithstanding a drop of more than 4 points in this week's mill operations.

Cotton..

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 20. (AP)—Cotton lost more than 50 cents a bale on most positions today under moderate selling and lack of sustaining support. The close was steady at net declines of 9 to 15 points.

Prices were on the downgrade throughout the session although the selling was not aggressive at any time during the day.

Persons who brought recently on the theory that the Gulf storm might reach the belt and damage the crop, liquidated their contracts on official predictions that the disturbance would miss the growing region.

Weather conditions over the belt were ideal in most sections although the week-end brought showers in the central and eastern portions where hot, dry conditions were said to be needed. Temperatures were above normal in the west and slightly below along the east Gulf coast.

October closed at 8.72, Dec. at 8.70, Jan. at 8.74, Mch. at 8.85@8.86, May at 8.96, and July at 9.03. Spots were steady and middling closed at 8.70, or 15 points net lower. Sales totaled 15,933 bales.
MKTS—WALL STREET

AVERAGE PRICE

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 20. (AP)—The average price of middling cotton today at ten southern spot markets was 8.59 cents a pound; average for the past thirty market days 9.32 cents a pound.

NEW YORK REEPORT

NEW YORK, Sept. 20. (AP)—Under the continued weight of southern hedge selling cotton eased into further new low ground today. December sold off from 8.71 to 8.63 and closed at the low with final prices 9 to 11 points net lower.

The market opened two to five points lower with steadier Liverpool cables failing to influence sentiment in the face of a week-end accumulation of selling orders from the south. Foreign and trade interests were again outstanding buyers, but demand was still on a scale down basis. While these buying orders were quite large and furnished considerable resistance to offerings they were slowly filled upand other buying was restricted.

To the thousands sitting still and quiet in the great auditorium, General John J. Pershing, the commander of the A.E.F., the legendary "Black Jack" to a million doughboys who never saw him, sent his greetings, after his old men had presented him—across three thousand miles of water—with his old colors.

There was a rush of old sorrow again as memoriel services for the war dead were broadcast to the convention from Arlington national cemetery at Washington.

Estimated 230,000

But outside the hall, and after this first, grave session was over—there was such a gusty air of playfulness and lusty celebration as this old city had not seen since Armistice. Two hundred and thirty thousand more legionnaires were there.

The high spot late today and tonight—still speaking of gayety with official sanction—was the Eighth Avenue parade of the Forty and Eight—40 hommes et 8 chevaux—in vehicles of incredible shapes, sounds and manners of locomotion.

Outside all this, the strictly unofficial celebration was of such a quality and caliber that the residents of this city were about ready to abandon one of their oldest and proudest boasts: New York can take it.

Grains..

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO Sept. 20. (AP)—In brisk trading with unusually wide fluctuations, September corn today fell 5½ cents, then ran up 6⅜, but again tumbled, closing 2¼ cents net lower.

Uncertainty prevailed as to whether some of the larger traders who have been short of supplies to meet their contract obligations to deliver huge quantities of corn this month had yet extricated themselves from market difficulties. This uncertainty was emphasized temporarily by the circumstance that only 126,000 bushels reduction of the amount of uncompleted September contracts was officially shown today to have been accomplished Saturday, whereas a much bigger decrease was expected to be revealed.

At today's close, the corn market as a whole was varying from 2¼ cents lower to 1¼ cents higher compared with Saturday's finish, Sept. $1.02¼, Dec. 63¾@63⅞, May 64¼; Wheat 1 cent to 2⅛ up, Sept. $1.04⅞, Dec. $1.05@$1.05⅛, May $1.06⅞@1.07, oats unchanged to ¾ advanced, Dec. 30¾@30⅞, and rye showing ¾@1¼ cents bulge. Provisions results were unchanged to 32 cents lower.

Wheat and rye averaged lower at first in sympathy with action of September corn and because of rains in drouth areas or Argentina. Besides, Liverpool wheat quotations, due 1⅛@1½ cents down, closed today 2⅜a2¼ cents off. Later, however, buying both of wheat and rye developed on account of indications that export interests were on the purchasing side of the market, and also as a result of rallying tendencies shown by the stock market. The best gain in wheat was made by September delivery, which rose to $1.04¾ at the last as against $1.01¾, the day's bottom.

FORT WORTH REPORT

Britain's Warning

in a speech that dwelt on the idea that "peoples of the world seem as far as ever from attaining peace."

Presents Pregnant Danger

Eden pleaded that foreign participation in Spain's war "presents a pregnant danger for the peace of Europe."

Of Germany's demands for colonies, he said, "the problem of raw materials is not primarily, even substantially, one of colonies. All colonial territories taken together produce only about three per cent of the world supply of raw materials."

Turning to the measures to which Britain has resorted in the face of a steadily rearming world, Eden said:

Rate Without Precedent

"The British naval personnel is being expanded at a rate without precedent in our country in time of peace.

"At the same time, the program for expansion and re-equipment of our air force is going forward with the result that a formidable increase in our offensive as well as defensive power is being effected, while the equipment of our land forces has proceeded with increasing momentum.

Earlier, 52 states gave the Madrid-Valencia government only 23 of a necessary 32 votes to declare her re-eligible for a seat in the council.

Loss of the Spanish seat resulted in part from the Spanish government's failure to give a South American bloc satisfactory assurances that their refugees would be evacuated from Madrid legations and embassies.

Spain's defeat does not affect her stand as plaintiff before the league against Germany and Italy on her charges that they are intervening in the Spanish civil war. Her legal status as a member of the league was not impaired.

The Peruvian island of Chincha, in the Humboldt Current, has a cormorant population estimated at 5,600,000.

Army Planes Visit Port Here Monday

Last of 18 pursuit planes flown by students of the pursuit section of Kelly field had left Municipal airport at 3 o'clock Monday afternoon after refueling and contacting persons here interested in learning aviation and entering the flying school.

The stop here completed the first leg of a flight to Lubbock and Fort Sill, Okla., night stop. The planes began arriving shortly before noon.

Flight was under direction of Major Hart, chief of the student pursuit section at Kelly field. The group will go to Amarillo today and later will stop at Roswell, N. M., and El Paso.

Observation and attack groups will fly to Lubbock within a few days, coming on separate dates, and the remainder of the pursuit section will land here, "reversing the route and coming from El Paso," flight officials said.

Program On Crops

tem like that which Wallace urged unsuccessfully at the last session of congress.

The granary plan is designed to stabilize supplies and prices of farm products by government loans on the surplus of major crops. Rigid crop control would be provided for use when stored supplies became so large they threatened to depress prices.

The 1938 conservation program sets definite limits on the amount of major crops and especially of corn, cotton, tobacco, potatoes, rice and peanuts, which may be produced without disqualifying the farmer for benefit payments.

A national "goal" or acreage limit was established for all major crops at 275,000,000 to 290,000,000 acres. This compares with an average of 305,000,000 acres in the 1928-37 period.

This national goal will be split into state, county and individual farm "goals." Special goals on the six crops will be divided similarly.

Burglary In City

made through the roof was directly above a clothing cabinet, which prevented their dropping directly onto the low-ceiling balcony.

They made their way down balcony stairs and went into the southeast corner of the main floor, where they knocked the knob of a safe cleanly, punched out the combination and calmly, without leaving more than smudged marks that could have been made by a handkerchief or gloves, opened the safe and abstracted the diamonds owned by Mrs. Earnest T. Pope, wife of the store's president.

Next, they made their way to the front of the store, climbed the stairs to a balcony where the bookkeeper and cashier's department is, and knocked another safe in the same way they had opened that on the ground floor.

All money found was taken from the front balcony safe.

No merchandise apparently had been removed, said the store owners.

Entry was made 20 feet from the south wall of the building, bordering on the alley, and two feet from the Sears Roebuck & Co. building immediately to the westward. Discovery of the breakin was made when store clerks appeared for work Monday morning.

Japanese Bomb Chinese Capital

embassy is maintained at Peiping, the former capital of China.

Some Nanking officials expressed resentment at Johnson's decision, contending that he should have remained as a gesture of loyalty and sympathy for China's cause in the conflict with Japan.

Others Warn Japanese

British, Russian, German and Italian officials stayed, at least temporarily, and British and French naval commanders warned the Japanese that they would be held to strict account for any loss of life or property damage suffered by their nationals.

Admiral Harry Yarnell, commander-in-chief of the United States Asiatic fleet, advised the Japanese that the Luzon and Guam would protect American lives and property. In a note to Hasegawe, he requested the Japanese admiral to instruct his raiders to "avoid" United States vessels at Nanking, declaring it was "necessary for American warcraft to be there."

Warships To Remain

French and British naval commanders also declared their warships would stay in the Yangtze off Nanking so long as their embassies remained open or their national needed protection.

The British told Hasegawa that the Japanese ultimatum left them too little time for compliance. They added that Japanese had been given marked maps, indicating the location of the British embassy and there was, therefore, no need for them to leave Nanking.

For three hours, droves of Japanese planes came over in relays, bombing the city almost continuously and inflicting the heaviest damage of any bombardment of Nanking in the undeclared war.

Headquarters Their Objective

Apparently, their objective was the headquarters of the central Chinese government. But they missed. Five bombs demolished 40 dwellings, killing instantly at least 40 civilians and wounding an unknown number of others.

Anti-aircraft batteries on whom fell the brunt of the defense against the air raiders, brought down one Japanese ship in flames. Chinese pursuit planes that chased the invaders miles outside the city were reported officially to have accounted for three others.

Prepare Aerial Defense

Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek and his military aides calmly faced the Japanese warning of more bombings to come. Elaborate anti-air raid defenses have been created for the capital and an emergency plan drafted to move it elsewhere if Nanking becomes uninhabitable.

Officials intimated, meanwhile, that Nanking has an air defense trump still to play. They asserted that the inactivity of central Chinese air squadrons in the past two weeks has been due, not to reverses, but to the desire to conserve its strength for defense, especially of the capital.

Suggestions On Case

ment on the charges levelled at his only nominee to the Supreme court, made it obvious several days ago that he expects some sort of statement from Black.

Apart from the proposed demand for Black's resignation, a second suggestion, advanced by Senator Wheeler (D-Mont.), would have the chief executive appoint an impartial commission to investigate the evidence and reach a conclusion on the charges.

Canvassing House Sentiment

A third idea, is the uncommon course of impeachment. Chairman O'Connor of the house rules committee has said that, by request, he is canvassing house sentiment with regard to such action, but has not said what he has found it to be.

A fourth idea, unrelated to the Klan charges, would have the court itself apoint a lawyers' committee to determine whether Black is technically eligible for court membership. This suggestion was made by Patrick Henry Kelly, a Boston attorney.

And a fifth course, not so much a proposal as a prediction made in some quarters, is that nothing more be said by Black, or by the president. Mr. Roosevelt apparently will be on the West coast when Black returns. Under present plans, he will not be back in Washington until after the court has held its first session.

Fire Prevention Week Planned

Plans for the most extensive observance of fire prevention week in Lubbock history Oct. 3 to 9 were perfected Monday at a meeting at the chamber of commerce of the city fire prevention board and members of Lubbock Insurance exchange.

The campaign will have the objective of maintaining Lubbock's record for seven consecutive years in which it has been on the honorable mention list of the national fire prevention committee. Last year, Lubbock placed second among cities of its population class in the United States.

To Hold Poster Contest

One feature of the activity this year which has not been included in previous campaigns will be a poster contest for school pupils, in which a first prize of $5, a second of $3 and seven of $1 each will be given by the insurance exchange. Posters will be displayed in show windows of the city.

Pupils of the city will, as in years past, be the key figures of the entire drive. Inspection blanks will be distributed to all children except those in Senior High school and through them, the campaign will be carried into the homes. Children likewise will be given special instructions relative to the elimination of hazards. W. B. Irvin, school superintendent, will have charge of that feature of the drive.

Firemen To Have Part

City firemen also will play an active part. They will hold special demonstrations and, directed by Chief W. E. Twitty, will make inspections of business houses and make recommendations relative to hazards.

Talks before civic clubs, distribution of pamphlets and radio addresses also will figure in the drive.

Attending Monday's meeting, additional to Irvin and Twitty, were Cecil Casey, Rufus Scarbrough and Marion Sanford.

Secretary Of State Of Wyoming Visits Here On Monday

Dr. L. C. Hunt, secretary of the state of Wyoming, and Mrs. Hunt visited briefly Monday afternoon in the residence of Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Bizzell of 1919 Fifteenth street.

Dr. Hunt, a boyhood friend of Bizzell, has been acting-governor of Wyoming several times, including the past three weeks. He and his wife left Lubbock for San Antonio and a national convention of secretaries of state, after which they are to visit in Mexico City by invitation of Mexican president.

Dr. Hunt came into prominence nationally last year when he submitted to surgery so that bone from one of his legs could be grafted to a son's legs.

Host Of Clowns To Be Here With Russell Bros., Circus; They're Spice Of Show

A COLUMN OF COMEDY

Clowns fill the same place in a circus program as cartoons and comic strips in a newspaper. Clowns and comic artists do, in fact, use much the same technique.

The similarity is explained by Tony Leonari, producing clown with Russell Bros. Circus, to be on the Panhandle-South Plains fair grounds next Monday and Tuesday.

"Like the cartoonist," says Mr. Leondri, "the cricus clown must express his idea in the simplest terms possible, so that the spectator will 'see the point' at a fleeting glance. The fewer words the better. The day of the talking clown is past. The clown today must be a master of pantomine, most difficult of all the expressive arts.

"The circus clown, like the cartoonist, draws his ideas from current events and from the amusing foibles of human nature. He resorts to the same means as the caricaturists; he exaggertes and distorts but does it with skill that permits that which is depicted to be recognized at once."

Mr. Leondri received a letter last winter from a middle western lad seeking a job as a clown. The boy was sure he would make good because, he wrote, he was "always acting crazy and making my friends laugh." Mr. Leondri's reply was kindly but not encouraging. He explained that "acting crazy" hight be amusing to one's friends but utterly pointless to strangers. Clowning, he told the ambitious young man, is an art far removed from merely "acting the fool."

Clowns must have ingenuity and originality, because they must create their own "gags." And, like fingerprints, no two clowns are ever alike. It would be an unpardonable breach of ethics for one to copy another's makeup.

Senators Are To Tour Farm Belt

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—A turn around the country to view agricultural conditions will take a senate committee into 17 states within the next month and a half.

Committee members will study the farmers needs at first hand with a view of recommending new farm legislation at the next session of congress.

One group of five senators—Smith (D-SC), Thomas (D-Okla), Bankhead (D-Ala), Ellender (D-La) and Moore (D-NJ)—will take the southroute through the cotton belt.

The second group—Senators McGill (D-Kan), Pope (D-Ida), and Frazier (R-ND)—will cross the northern states.

To Join in Conferences

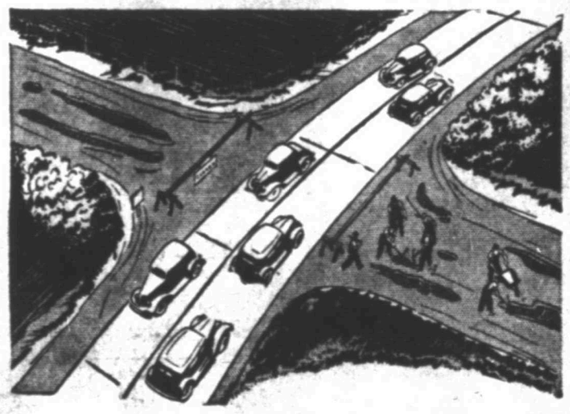

Both committees will join in four conferences at the end of their tours, at Oklahoma City, Memphis, Springfield, Ill., and Jefferson City, Mo. Those interested in farm legislation have been invited to present their views at the meetings in various towns.

The itinerary for the southern tour is as follows: October 15, Louisville, Ky.; 18, Winston-Salem, N. C.; 22, New Orleans; 25, Houston, Tex.; 26, Dallas, Tex.; 27 Oklahoma City; 28, Memphis; 29-30, Springfield, Ill.; Nov. 1, Jefferson City, Mo.

The western group will hold one of its hearings in Oklahoma City on Oct. 28.

"PAYING FOR DEAD HORSES"
never builds a good highway system!

ROADS that need constant reconstruction keep the taxpayer always "paying for dead horses." Year after year his taxes are paid, yet there's little money for new highways, widening, grade separations and other permanent improvements.

What a difference when each year's program includes new concrete highways! Reports from 21 states show that concrete costs far less to maintain—$88 to $465 per mile less per year—than other surfaces.

As you get more concrete and less inferior roads, annual maintenance costs are cut, releasing more and more funds for new roads, arterial streets, bridges and grade separations.

Even in first cost, concrete saves money over other pavements of equal load-carrying capacity. Concrete carries you safely and comfortably and with low cost for gas, tires, and car repairs.

Demand concrete for your roads.

Retirement Plan To Be Explained

So that teachers of Lubbock, Texas Technological college, and Lubbock county may better understand the Teachers' Retirement system, a representative from the Austin office of the Teachers' Retirement system will speak in the auditorium at Senior High school at 7:30 Wednesday evening.

The representative is coming to Lubbock on the invitation of Dan W. Powers, president of the Lubbock Classroom Teachers' council. Mr. Powers said so many teachers were withdrawing from the plan because they did not understand that he wired Austin for information. The Austin office told Mr. Powers they would have a representative in Lubbock to answer any questions on Wednesday evening.

Although the meeting Wednesday evening will be a business meeting of the Lubbock teachers' group, Mr. Powers asks that all teachers interested feel free to be present.
