

Feasibility Work Due in October

Meeting Called to Explain Progress of Salt Fork Dam

Two developments, both optimistic, on the development of the Salt Fork Dam were announced this week by John Coleman, chairman Collingsworth County Water Control district.

A public meeting has been set for Tuesday, September 29, in the county court room at 7:30 p.m. when officers of the water district will explain the present status of the dam and what is planned to ward securing it.

In the second development, G. M. Barkley, area engineer for the Bureau of Reclamation, Oklahoma City, announced that engineers will be on the ground to begin the feasibility study between the middle and last of October.

Mr. Barkley stopped in Wellington a short time Thursday. He was accompanied on this trip by Bob Redfield, geologist of Austin; Norman Flagg, assistant to Barkley and Fred Windham, head of the engineering division at the Oklahoma City office.

Flagg probably will be in charge of the work here, Barkley said. Speaking of the Monday meeting, Coleman said:

"We want to acquaint the public with the facts on how the directors are proceeding, what has been planned, and what must be carried out for progress on the dam."

Coleman expressed the hope that a large crowd would attend. Barkley said while in Wellington the engineers study will be made both from the standpoint of the proposed Greenbelt Dam being built and of its not being built.

He expressed the opinion that the quality of the water in the proposed Salt Fork dam northeast of Wellington would preclude it from being used for a municipal supply, but it was pointed out to him that it was not being sought for that purpose.

Mr. Barkley said that from two to eight men will be working on the feasibility study and Wellington will be their headquarters for the entire time.

graphs to be used in the study are on order and as soon as these are received, the engineers will be sent into Wellington.

Meeting with the Bureau of Reclamation men were Coleman, Clyde Drake, a member of the board, and Paul Spillman.

After leaving Wellington, the men checked Salt Fork in the Dodson and Quail areas.

Leader to Publish College Student List Next Week

A list of area college students and the schools they attend will be published in next week's edition of The Wellington Leader.

Families of college students, especially those who did not attend a college last year, or those who are changing colleges, are asked to call The Wellington Leader by Monday, September 28.

Since the list from last year will be revised, the Leader staff is especially interested in changes from last year, including graduation and name changes due to marriages.

Co-operation of all readers, both those in the rural communities as well as those in Wellington, is asked to make this college listing as complete and accurate as possible.

Begin Work on 1960 Extension Program Monday

Farm and community leaders of the county will meet with Extension Service agents Monday, September 28, to lay the groundwork for the 1960 program in Collingsworth County.

Miss Kathryn Potter, county home demonstration agent and Bob Lynch, county agricultural agent, will direct the meeting, which will be in the county court room at 7:30 p.m.

This is an open meeting and anyone interested in Extension Service work in this county is invited, Lynch said.

John Coleman is chairman of the program building committee, Gus Gooch of Dozier vice chairman and Mrs. Emil Kersten secretary-treasurer.

Those attending Monday night will be organized into committees to work on specific portions of the 1960 program.

"This is the meeting where we want the people of the county to bring out their farm and home problems as they relate to Extension Service work," Lynch said. "It is the suggestions and discussion of this meeting that is the basis of our program of work next year. By knowing ahead of time

Drilling on Wildcat Test Down to 3868

Drilling on the wild cat test 7 miles northwest of Wellington had reached 3,868 feet Monday, September 21, according to Glen Bacon, drilling contractor.

Drillers began hitting the granite wash at 3750 feet, 500 to 1500 feet deeper than it is generally found in this section.

Bacon said that so far nothing significant had been found. He did have interesting information on the drilling of the well. For one thing, the dolomite formation, through which the well was drilled from 1800 to 2800 feet, is more than he has gone through on other wells, Bacon said.

It has been an unusually expensive well to drill, he added. More than $10,000 worth of drilling mud has gone into it, along with such items as 20 tons of cottonseed hulls, a trailer load of saw dust, 10 sacks of hog hair, cedar chips, rice hulls and two commercial products salt jell and aqua jell.

Between 1600 and 1700 feet, drilling was through pure salt-salt of a commercial quality if it weren't so deep in the ground.

Funeral Here for Mrs. Elisha Brewer of Bovina

Funeral services for Mrs. Elisha Brewer, who lived in the county 51 years, were held at First Baptist Church Saturday at 2 p.m., with the Rev. O. D. Holton, pastor of Quail Baptist Church, officiating.

Mrs. Brewer died at 3:30 a.m. Thursday, September 17, at the home of a daughter, Mrs. Ira Wellborn in Bovina after three weeks illness. She had moved to Bovina about three years ago.

Pall bearers for the service were G. H. Hopper, Zook Thomas, Bill Williams, Avis Derryberry, M. D. Phipps and Bill Langford.

C. W. Roberts to Have 98th Birthday Friday

C. W. Roberts, one of this area's very earliest settlers, will celebrate his ninety-eighth birthday Friday, September 25.

"He is doing fine now," Mrs. Roberts said. "He goes up and down stairs several times a day and sometimes goes outside and sits in the sun."

There will be no party this time, only dinner with the immediate family attending.

Mr. Roberts remains alert and interested in the happenings of the world and of his friends.

He especially enjoys reminiscing with members of his family of his earliest years here, for on October 23, he will have lived here 73 years.

September 12 also marked the 16th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Roberts. She is the former Mrs. Alma Solomon of Fort Worth.

Mr. Roberts was born in Tennessee but his parents moved to Illinois, their former home, when he was small. He was 12 when the family came to Fort Worth by wagon—before that city had a railroad and when there were only two restaurants. His father bought one of these.

Mr. Roberts brought his lumber with him to build his house when he came to Collingsworth in 1888. First he settled in the Fresno area and later obtained extensive property holdings here.

He has remained unusually active and it was only about five years ago that he quit driving his car.

Thousand Bales Ginned as Cotton Harvest Opens Through County

Collingsworth County's cotton harvest moved into swing two to three weeks ahead of schedule as growers prepared to harvest what will be for some of them the best crop in years.

By Tuesday night, ginners reported to The Wellington Leader that approximately 1,000 bales have been ginned.

How much the county will make is still a guess, but men familiar with the cotton situation estimate as high as 24,000 to 29,000 bales.

Hot, dry, southwest winds that hit last week caused whole fields to open within a matter of days, leaving farmers without pullers to get it out.

Dodson and Arnett schools have dismissed, and in the Dodson area, the harvest will be in full swing by late this week or early next week, ginners report.

At Dozier, on the other hand, pulling has just started, according to W. E. Marchant, manager of the Paymaster Gin.

The county is short hundreds of pullers for the crop, but growers are not waiting. Several thousand acres have been defoliated. Dick Sweat of the Farmers Co-op reported and many other growers are preparing to spray. This is the earliest that cotton has ever been sprayed here, as this usually takes place a little ahead of frost, in the latter part of October.

Owners say they will strip their crop as soon as it all opens.

Seven mechanical pickers are operating around Dodson, three of them owned by growers of that area. This year also marked the introduction of picker-type cotton, characterized by an open boll and quick maturity. Most of this cotton is of the Rex variety, according to Ed Crowder of the Farmers Co-op Gin.

"Farmers figure they can take depreciation and everything and still figure on harvesting their cotton for $10 to $12 per bale," he said. Hand pulling this year is costing around $40 per bale.

Mechanical pickers now in operation there are picking around a bale of cotton per hour.

Both Crowder and Marvin Winn of the Davis Gin report that boll weevil damage has been heavy. "But it didn't knock us out of a crop like we thought it would for a while," Crowder added. Winn pointed out that most of weevil damage is east and north of town, but infestation extends to about mid-way between Wellington and Dodson, where it appears to have stopped.

Spraying has not been especially effective and some farmers report as much as $30 per acre tied up spraying.

Around Dodson, dryland cotton will average from one-third to a bale per acre and irrigated cotton up to two bales.

Quality of this year's crop is exceptional.

Wynn said he had reports back on cotton that had 1-3/32 inch staple and a considerable amount of 1-1/16 inch. The price on the longer staple this week was from 36 to 37.3 cents per pound. Most of the cotton is grading middling and strick middling.

Dick Sweat of the Farmers Co-op pointed out that this week, ginners began using the new cotton classing station at Memphis, where samples remain 24 hours in a humidifier to restore moisture. This alone is expected to bring a considerable amount of money to Collingsworth County growers.

Between 58,000 and 59,000 acres should be harvested and estimates are for a half bale average county-wide. Barring disaster, the county will harvest around 1200 acres that was hailed out last year and more that was in the soil bank.

Quail Chorus to Sing at Fair on Rural Youth Day

Quail high school girls chorus will sing at the Rural Youth Day program of the Tri-State Fair Saturday, September 26, at 10 a.m., in the sales arena at the Fair Grounds. The program will be televised.

The Texas Extension Service and State Department of Education extended the invitation to Mrs. Lowell Wells, director. The chorus will sing as the FHA chorus, as all girls are also members of the Future Homemakers of America.

Included on the eight minute program will be a medley of Texas Songs, "Eyes of Texas," "Don't Fence Me In" and "Texas, Our Texas." This is a special arrangement with an accordion interlude. Judith Ann Wilson will play the accordion and Alma Tidwell will accompany the group as pianist. Mrs. Wells will direct.

"FHA State Song" will be directed by Brenda Don White with Billy Evelyn Lowe as accompanist.

"America, Our Heritage," is a patriotic number directed by Mrs. Wells with Judith Ann as accompanist.

Mrs. Monty Mitchell, homemaking teacher, is assisting with plans and will accompany the group to Amarillo. Two area FHA officers are in the Quail group, Brenda Don, song leader and Judith, pianist.

There are 34 members of the chorus: Bonnie Jean Brim, Evelyn Brim, Linda Brown, Cordelia Harris who is the president, Jackie Hill, Rose Mary Horton, Linda Jenkins, Virginia Kennedy, Jan Langford, Billie Lowe, Cheryl McGill, Sherry McGuire, Pauline Matthews, Ann Ruth Messer, Rita Ann Moody, Amelia Morgan, Betty Moseley, Patsy Norman, La Rita Patterson, Patti Patton, Ann Phillips, Jamie Ross, us, as all girls are also members.

NATIVE GRASS COMES BACK

Herbert Bearden here checks the kill in a pasture where he earlier mowed sage brush. He reported he was amazed at the comeback made by the native grasses. "Part of the pasture was mowed once and part twice, and the kill was good. This is a three-year program and at the end of that time, I think almost all of the sage brush will be killed out," he commented.

Brush Control Work Hits Peak This Year

During 1959 Cooperators of Salt Fork Soil Conservation District have done more brush control work than has been done in the last 10 years combined, Fred Squyres, work unit conservationist of Soil Conservation Service, reported this week.

Approximately 9,500 acres of brush has been brought under control with the assistance of the Great Plains Conservation Program and the Agricultural Conservation Program.

For the first time, Shinnery oak was sprayed with silvex and good kills have been reported in almost every instance. Grasses have done amazingly well in coming back on land once covered with shinnery.

Harry Franks and Hugh Grogan, in the north edge of the district, state that after spraying, their grasses have produced beyond all expectations and that it is better than they have seen in their entire lives on this land. It is far better than grasses on unsprayed pastures.

Mesquite has been controlled in large acreages this year by bulldozing it out. John, Dan and Rusty Henard all have bulldozed mesquite, as did Bill Jones.

Sage brush control has been by both spraying and mowing and good results have been obtained by both methods.

Herbert Bearden and George Brewer have mowed sage this spring and the native bluestems have recovered and made seed.

The 1960 spraying season will see the introduction of a new non-drift spray, Squyres said. It is about the thickness of hand lotion, according to spraying companies who do this type of work.

Harry Campfield Guest Speaker for Rotary Club

Harry Campfield of Memphis, district superintendent for Continental Oil Company, was guest speaker at the Rotary Club luncheon Tuesday, September 22.

He was introduced by Rev. Frank Weir, program chairman.

Visiting Rotarians were State Senator Andy Rogers, Bill Sager, H. W. Shirley and Doyle McKinney of Childress; H. B. Hill and B. Ball of Amarillo; Bill Eller; S. B. Bal of Amarillo; Bill Eller and John Holton of Wellington.

Mrs. C. A. Rudy, Long-time Area Resident, Dies

Mrs. C. A. Rudy, who settled in the Plymouth community almost 50 years ago, died in Smith Rest Home Tuesday, September 15, at 8:10 p.m. She had been in failing health for several years, but she became critically ill only Tuesday afternoon.

In 1946, when her husband retired from farming, the couple moved to Wellington and Mrs. Rudy lived here until about a year and a half ago, when she again returned to Plymouth.

Funeral services were conducted at Samnorwood Baptist Church Thursday at 3 o'clock, by the Rev. Russell Pogue of Petersburg. Burial, was in the Plymouth Cemetery by Kelso Funeral Home.

Pall bearers were Albert Oldham, Guy Lindley, Oliver Young, Tom Cunningham, Henry Rogers and Robert Young.

Mrs. Rudy was born Kate Johnson on July 1, 1880 in Savannah, Georgia. While still young she came with her family to East Texas, and was married to Mr. Rudy at Carthage January 4, 1905.

She had been a member of the Baptist Church 32 years.

Before coming here 49 years ago, Mr. and Mrs. Rudy lived at Throckmorton.

In the Plymouth and Lutie areas, where she lived, she was active in community and neighborhood affairs.

Mr. Rudy predeceased her in death May 1, 1958.

Surviving Mrs. Rudy are four

District Red Cross Workers to Meet Here

The Panhandle Association of Chapters of Red Cross will hold the annual meeting in Wellington Tuesday, September 29, when chairmen and workers from 26 counties gather here.

Riley Dunson, chairman of the Association, said the meeting will be in the county court room, beginning at 1:30 p.m.

John Gikes, Pampa, Gray County Red Cross chairman, will be the principal speaker.

A round table discussion, with Mr. Libba Shotwell, executive secretary of the Gray County chapter, as tentative leader, will follow Gikes talk.

It is at these annual meetings that chapter workers bring their problems for discussion and work out plans for the coming year.

Special emphasis is given the annual fund-raising drive, for which plans are already being laid in some of the individual chapters.

Officers serving with Dunson are Mr. Pope of Borger, vice-chairman and Mrs. Euma Lee Moores of Pampa, secretary.

Rape Charge Filed Here

A charge of rape has been filed against Bill Aldridge, a Wellington negro, who is being held in Memphis jail in lieu of $4,000 bond, Sheriff John Rainey reported.

The case involves incest with the man's 15-year-old daughter, the sheriff said.

Arrested here last week, he was given a lie detector test in Amarillo Wednesday and following the test, made a statement admitting his guilt, Rainey continued. The man waived an examining trial.

The complaint was signed by Sheriff Rainey on information furnished by the girl's grandmother, Thula B. Porter.

Firemen Win at Canadian

A team from the Wellington volunteer fire department placed third in the pumpers race at the Panhandle Firemen's Convention in Canadian recently.

Their time was 23.2 seconds. The contest is based on the time required for a team to unroll 100 feet of fire hose and hook it up to the fire hydrant.

Team members were Toots Breedlove, Raymond Fike, Bill Black, Jack Needham, Charles Gibson and Loyd Harper.

A team from Dimmitt placed first in this contest and one from Sunray was second.

Mrs. Harwell Breaks Shoulder

Mrs. Tom Harwell fell at her home Thursday, September 17 and suffered a broken left shoulder and arm. She was leaving the house at the time of the accident and had turned to lock the door and fell on the outside steps.

She was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital where she remained until Saturday then was moved to the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Harwell where she will be until she is able to be at home alone.

According to a daughter-in-law, Mrs. Elmo Harwell from Altus who was staying with her Tuesday, she is doing as well as can be expected and is up part of the time.

Strong Class A

Rockets Tackle the Pirates Here Friday

Lefors Pirates make a raid in Rocketland this week, and Wellington gridmen may have more trouble repelling them than they had counted on.

At least this is the prediction Wellington scouts bring back to Coach Lindsey.

The game will be played Friday, September 25, at Powell Field beginning at 8 p.m.

The Pirates have a new coach this year, Ed Lehnick, who has fused the group into a wellrounded team that works together and has performed impressively against opposing teams.

"We don't know much about the Pirates, except that they are a lot stronger than the team we played last week," Coach Lindsey said.

The Pirates have a ground attack that is built around their 160 pound fullback, Junior Taylor. They also have an unusually effective passing attack.

As a whole, the Pirates are smaller than last year, but they are more experienced than the 1959 edition and play harder than most Lefors teams have played in the past.

Last week, the Class A Pirates lost to Sunray by only one touchdown, and Sunray is reported to have one of the strongest Class A teams in this part of the state.

Coaches Lindsey and Mc Odell still have Bill Estes and Gary Holliman on the injured list, although Estes is working out this week. Lindsey said that due to the nature of his ankle injury, he will be slow developing back to normal capabilities.

Gary West or Burl Lowe will probably see considerable service at fullback Friday night.

The probable starting lineup for the Pirates:

James Blain	end	153
Kenneth Fields	end	144
Bill Phillips	tackle	162
Doug Burgess	tackle	140
Gary Smith	guard	135
Wayne Timms	guard	130
Jerry Carpenter	center	160
David Lewis	quarterback	146
Danny Wilmon	halfback	139
Scott Dunnam	halfback	147
Head Coach Ed Lehnick.

Capital Export to Europe Means Tougher Competition

The Houston Chronicle

There is much food for thought in American private industry's increased spending abroad for new plant facilities. A McGraw-Hill study discloses that new money for plant equipment and property abroad this year will be about $2,143,000,000, an increase of 5 per cent over 1958. A like expenditure is anticipated for 1960.

Aside from the increase itself, and probably more important is the big shift in investment to Western Europe. More money now is being spent on new facilities in Europe than in Canada and Latin America combined. This is a reversal of a long-time trend. In 1957, by contrast, 44.4 per cent of such capital exports went to Canada, 21.3 to Latin America, and 25.3 per cent to Western Europe.

This dramatic shift is accounted for by the new and more favorable conditions created by the European Common Market. Capital naturally flows to the points that are most hospitable and where prospects for profit are most favorable.

This trend cannot fail to cause misgivings to both domestic industry and labor. Placing more modern, automated plants in countries where labor is highly efficient, but where labor costs are considerably less than in this country is going to make it harder for domestic industry to compete with imports.

In less developed countries, like the Latin American, most of the increased production from American owned plants would go into the domestic markets of those countries, raise the standard of living, and have comparatively little effect on the American market. But since Western Europe is already highly industrialized, a great part of its future production increase will find its way into the export market to compete with American exports, and some of it even into the American home market.

American goods, produced at our high costs, are likely to find the going increasingly tough.

There's No Room for Complacency Over State's Financial Condition

Recently Texans began paying the new taxes levied by the Legislature to wipe out the state deficit. The new taxes have been estimated to bring in $187,000,000 during the next two years.

Texans should not, however, develop any complacency over the state's financial condition, thinking that everything is rosy and there will be no further drains on the individual pocketbook.

The state is finishing the current biennium about $3,000,000 in the red. It was estimated that if the Legislature had not levied new taxes, the state would have gone into the red nearly $200,000,000 during the next two years. When the Legislature did pass the tax bill, most citizens appeared to feel that the problem was solved.

It isn't. Veteran members of the Legislature are predicting privately that the state may be around $200,000,000 in the red by 1961, despite the tax bill. They contend that the new tax bill is not going to bring in as much additional revenues as anticipated. They contend, also, that spending is going to be much bigger than has been estimated. There are many intangibles, especially where schools and welfare are concerned.

This situation would exist even if the Legislature is not called into special session again, to do more appropriating. But it is almost certain that the Legislature will be recalled, probably in January, to act on requests for higher salaries for school teachers, other increased school spending and higher welfare grants for the aged, the blind and dependent children.

Gov. Price Daniel has said that if he recalls the Legislature to act on the Hale-Akin proposals for increased spending, he will submit recommendations for raising the money. This in itself could mean another $100,000,000 to $200,000,000 to be raised.

Add to the Hale-Akin spending the fact that a deficit is anticipated by veteran legislators under the existing tax and spending laws.

That makes the picture pretty dismal for the Legislature which convenes in January, 1961.

This, certainly, is no time for complacency on the part of Texas taxpayers.

A new category for certain auto accidents sprang up this week in the proceedings at Town Court. The one under discussion, an official said, was obviously "not intentional." That was just so no one would confuse it with those which are.

CROSSROADS REPORT

I recall there was lots of talk just before Khrushchev invaded the U.S. as to how much he would learn about us lovable American people.

But my pro-us neighbor says it don't seem like this is hardly working out as advertised, on account of the Red Boss is doing considerable more telling than listening.

Says maybe when he signed up for this educational tour, somebody forgot to tell him who was supposed to get educated.

I see where Congress voted to override Pres. Ike's veto of their billion-plus public works, or legislative job insurance bill.

Which my ever-anti neighbor says could mean the people's proxies are practicing up to repossess the country-running job they have been sub-letting to judicial, executive and bureau domineers.

But says more likely the boys pulled their rank on the public works bill on account of each one figuring if he wants to get sent back to Washington he had better bring home a dam or two.

I see where it's said that some folks down in Argentina are re-visiting the custom of dueling to settle their arguments.

My west-born neighbor says he can recall when people carried the tools for it and ironed out many a dispute with instant duels.

Says the results were kind of messy but conclusive, and the custom encouraged a high degree of tolerance and self-restraint in people generally, and especially among the slow drawers.

I see where a Dr. Overstreet says anybody who is against public housing, TVA, foreign aid, and other social cathartics is mentally sick.

My reperussing neighbor says he has tested himself by the good doctor's formula, and somebody had better come here with a strait-jacket.

Says, though, he is kind of looking forward to a quiet future in a psycho corral, and he hopes he gets furnished with big stacks of income tax forms to cut his paper dolls out of.

I see where Constitution Week has just been held, but my smut-cultured neighbor says studying old dated works like the Constitution, the Bible, etc., is pretty yoke-lish.

Says hep judges and preachers have been trying to bring these documents up to date, but what they really need is complete re-writing by modern authors in modern language, to fit modern customs, thinking and practice.

Even, he says, if this progressive move got them barred from the U.S. mail.

I see where the Russians got their figures just right on windage, elevation, lead, etc., and shot a claim stake up to the moon.

My sentimental neighbor says he is afraid now that the Reds own the moon they are apt to put an iron curtain around it and let romance die out.

But he could be worrying very unduly about this, on account of the junior high school has just about replaced the moon as a family starter anyhow.

Production of Grass Seed Grows in Area

Co-operators of Salt Fork Soil Conservation District have harvested large quantities of native and introduced grasses during the late summer.

Bob Glenn harvested a 90-acre field of an improved variety of the native side oats grama. This type of grass does well on a wide variety of the soils in the Salt Fork SCD, Fred Squyres, work unit conservationist of Soil Conservation Service reported.

Dennis Holland of Dodson also has harvested side oats grama and reports a good yield of top quality seed.

Several hundred acres of native grass mixtures, predominately side oats and blue grama, have been cut by John R. Henard, Rusty Henard and Glenn.

Switch grass has been cut for feed by several co-operating farmers. John Harper, a mile north of Wellington, had an outstanding field of Caddo Switch grass that yielded a large amount of combine run seeds, Squyres said. Others who have harvested switch grass are L. A. Gilmore, Earl Patterson and Claude Groves.

Several new grasses will be harvested in the district for the first time.

Claude Groves will have several acres of Caucasian bluestem, a grass that came originally from Southeastern Europe and which is similar to the King Ranch Bluestem. It can be used for hay, grazing and erosion control.

"Woodward sand bluestem on the Earl Patterson farm is showing great promise and a fair yield of this seed is expected," Squyres said. The seed was irrigated and fertilized. The seed was furnished to Patterson by the Salt Fork SCD for a seed increase plot.

Patterson also recently planted a sod-forming bluestem called Gardo bluestem. This grass forms a sod much like buffalo.

Others grasses that will be harvested, or have been, in Salt Fork

I Saw... by Virginia Robey

Omer Mullen of Shinnery saw the Bobcat picture in The Wellington Leader and remarked that bobcats had killed two of his wife's big blue geese lately. Each would weigh around 20 pounds. They followed the cats by their footprints.

Lou Ann Pyburn was buying a gift the other day for the new baby of a pen-pal in England. The two have corresponded since their school days. They have never met, although they almost did while Lou Ann and Alton were doing Armed service duty in Germany. "I know her lots better than I do frequently," she remarked of the English girl.

In a new steak house in Dimmitt the other day, the waitress asked, "Didn't you work for The Wellington Leader, and do you still work there?" It was Mrs. Essie Helyey who used to live here and still owns land at Rolla. She's lived in Dimmitt for a number of years and wanted to know all about Wellington People.

At a service station in Tulia, a truck drove up carrying J. K. Fulton's Quarterhorse mare, Slipper Laura, to the Amarillo Show. Reserve champion in the show here, she was wearing her Wellington show blanket. Fulton lives at Lubbock.

Spencer and Beatrice Coleman and young Kelley Elizabeth are settled at College Station, where Spencer will take his master's degree in electrical engineering. Now this was the field in which he taught Army officers during his stint as a lieutenant at Albuquerque, but not one bit of this last-minute information can he use in his thesis—almost all of it is marked classified by the Army.

Farris Cornelius of Dodson who works at Sullivan Hardware and Furniture is out and about after being stung severely by red ants, but a few days ago he still wasn't able to work. And a short time back young John Elmer Hightower of Dodson was visiting his grandparents at Vinson, stuck his hand in a hollow tree where he thought a squirrel was and grabbed a wasp nest. Both had to have medical treatment.

This is the season when organizations begin money making projects. Around here, the surest way is to raffle off something. But there is a United States postal law that says raffles, bingo games, etc., cannot be mentioned in newspapers, letters, or anything that goes through the mails, nor can tickets be sent through the mail. Local laws have nothing to do with this. It's federal. An excellent explanation is given in a short article in this month's Good Housekeeping. Personally, we think it's a good way to raise money, but we just can't run a story about it.

Mr. and Mrs. Billy Lockhart and daughter, Tammie of Weatherford, Oklahoma, were here for the week end with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sandy Parsons, Jr. and Mr. and Mrs. Travis Lockhart.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Baten and two daughters and Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Lynch and two sons of Memphis were supper guests of Sheriff and Mrs. John Rainey Friday and attended the Wellington-Memphis football game. Baten is Hall County sheriff and Lynch is the Texas Ranger stationed there.

Visiting in Dimmitt Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. M. L. James. They were guests of a daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Jones, Luvette and Harry. Another daughter, Miss Ina James of Amarillo, also visited with the group.

Plant the Seed

where you expect to Reap

★ Sow your trade dollars where you can share in the whole harvest

IT'S what you might call a commonly recognized agricultural principle that if you want to do your harvesting on a particular piece of ground, that's the place to sow your seed.

Using the same general type of reasoning, it is obvious that if you want to harvest a nice crop of prosperity . . . in the form of better business, a better job, a better community in which to live . . . it's advisable to plant your trade dollars where they will produce growth for you, rather than for somebody else.

✓ The homes we live in . . . the jobs and businesses which support us . . . the schools and churches that teach our children and enrich our lives . . . the convenient stores and service establishments that supply our everyday and emergency needs . . . none of these were built, nor are they supported by the dollars that are spent in some other community or city.

Road Department and Commissioners Agreement Given

The commissioners court recently drew up the following agreement setting forth the duties and requirements of the court and of the road administrator for the county's operation under the unit system of road administration.

High points of the agreement are:

It shall be the policy of the county to operate the county road department in accordance with the provisions of the optional county road law of 1947.

The road administrator will provide the court with maps showing all county roads, to be classified by the court, and all bridges and culverts.

The court will deliver into custody of the road administrator all road equipment, tools, machinery, etc. The administrator shall see they are properly cared for and that minor repairs are made (up to $500 for maintainers, and $100 for all other equipment.)

At each regular meeting, the administrator shall present the court a proposed program of work, and the court shall make such changes as it feels is to the best interest of the county.

An accurate record of expenses shall be kept, with costs classified in accordance with the budget. The yearly report will show the average cost per mile of county roads.

Salaries of road employees were set: Maintainer operators, $300 per month, all others not to exceed $1.50 per hour. Maintainer operators shall do other duties when not operating maintainers.

The court may inspect work of the preceding month after each regular meeting of the court.

Holidays set up for the road department are New Year, July 4, Thanksgiving and Christmas.

If the county is engaged in a disaster program, the road administrator will construct those projects in accordance with plans and specifications as nearly as possible within the estimate furnished by the commissioners court, however the administrator shall not be required to do the paper work necessary for getting federal approval and pay, instead he shall spend his time supervising the construction and maintenance of county roads. It is understood he shall take time off to do his required office work.

In event of emergency road work, the court will meet in special session to amend or defer the program of work set up at the regular meeting to the end that the administrator may do the necessary road work. Individual commissioner shall see that minor road repairs are done in such emergencies.

No individual commissioner shall deal with any road employee except for purposes of inquiry and that after working hours.

The commissioners court will seek the cooperation of the post office department and school authorities in regard to changes in mail and school bus routes.

Ten days vacation for employees who have worked year was approved.

The commissioners reserved the

Grahams Attend Brother's Rites

R. E. Graham, H. G. Graham and Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Graham were called to Greenville to attend the funeral of Walter E. Graham on Wednesday, September 9. Mr. Graham, 83, died on Tuesday. Unable to attend was another brother, Cleve Graham, who was with his critically ill son-in-law, Jack Bryan, in Corpus Christi.

This was the first death in the family of eight brothers and one sister and Mr. Graham was the only one of the brothers who has not at some time lived in Collingsworth County. He has visited here a number of times.

Walter Graham is survived by his wife and one daughter. The brothers and sisters, in addition to the four here, are Jim Graham of Lockney, Lawrence Graham and Oscar Graham of Fort Worth, George Graham of Greenville and Mrs. Willie Alexander of Pampa.

The elements that make our bodies strong come from the soil; to stay healthy we must keep our soil healthy.

Why we built two cars for 1960 . . . as different as night and day

On October 2—for the first time in Chevrolet's 49-year history—you will be able to walk into your dealer's showroom and see two totally different kinds of cars. ■ One is the conventional 1960 Chevrolet, brand new in appearance and more beautifully refined and luxurious than you can imagine. ■ The other is unlike any car we or anybody else ever built—the revolutionary Corvair, with the engine in the rear where it belongs in a compact car. ■ We'd like to tell you why we built two such different cars, how we built them—and for whom we built them.

Why two kinds of cars? Because America itself has been going through some big changes in the past few years. Our cities have been straining at their seams. Traffic is jam-packed. Parking space is at a premium.

And our suburbs have spread like wildfire. People are living farther from their work, driving more miles on crowded streets. There is new leisure time—but more things to do. There's a new standard of living—and more need for two cars in the family garage.

In short, America's automobile needs have become so complex that no one kind of car can satisfy them completely. That is why we at Chevrolet, keeping tab on these trends, have had a revolutionary compact car in the planning stages for more than nine years.

Thus, when we decided three years ago to prepare for production of such a car we were ready to build it the way it should be built. There was no need for a hasty "crash" program that would create only a sawed-off version of a conventional car.

That is why the two cars you will see in your dealer's showroom October 2 will be two entirely different kinds of cars. One is the conventional '60 Chevrolet—brand new in beauty, with new space inside, new spirit under the hood, a new feeling of sumptuousness and luxury never before attained by any car in its field. There is great V8 power linked with new thrust, plus Chevrolet's superb 6-cylinder engine. It is a traditional car that comes even closer to perfection—in silence, in room, in ease of control, in velvety ride—than any other car we have ever made.

The other is the Corvair, a compact car that is astonishingly different from anything ever built in this country. It has to be—because this is a six-passenger compact car, with a really remarkable performance . . . a car designed specifically to American standards of comfort, to American traffic needs.

The engine is in the rear. Among the basic advantages resulting from this engine location are better traction on a compact 108-inch wheelbase and a practically flat floor. But to be placed in the rear, the engine had to be ultra light and ultra short. So Corvair's engine is totally new—mostly aluminum and air cooled; it weighs about 40 per cent less than conventional engines. It is a "flat" horizontally opposed six—so it is only three cylinders long . . . and that leaves a lot more room for passengers.

Another weight saving: like modern airplanes, the Corvair has no frame; the body-shell supplies it great structural strength . . . it's a welded unit that is virtually rattle-free.

The ride is fantastic. But to get it we had to design independent suspension at every wheel; conventional springing would give a compact car a choppy ride. Right now we'll make one prediction: no other U.S. compact car will ride so comfortably, hold the road so firmly and handle so beautifully.

Now there are two kinds of cars from Chevrolet—because it takes two kinds of cars to serve America's needs today. If you love luxury—the utmost in luxury—and if you want generous interior space, breath-taking performance, automatic drives and power assists—then the conventional '60 Chevrolet may be your choice.

If easy parking, traffic agility and utmost economy are high on your list—then you should seriously consider the Corvair. But the best thing to do is to look these two new cars over at your Chevrolet dealer's . . . take them out for a drive. It may be that the only logical choice for your family between two cars like this is—both. They make a perfect pair.
